War Program to Strain Canada to Utmost Says Ilsley; Urges Harmony

OTTAWA, Feb. 4 (CP)—Canada's war program this year will demand "the extreme limit of what this country can do," Finance Minister Ilsley warned the House of Commons today, speaking in the debate on the address in reply to the Speech from the Throne.

Mr. Ilsley was critical of sections of the Press and "certain spite-inspired, hate-inspired" enemies of Prime Minister Mackenzie King.

He made a plea for moderation, reasonableness and restraint and expressed the belief that the Opposition and Government groups should and could work together in harmony and understanding.

Other speakers at the short Wednesday sitting were T. L. Church (Con., Toronto-Broadview), Clarence Gillis (C.C.F., Cape Breton South) and J. A. Marshall (N.D., Camrose).

Mr. Church said he opposed the conscription plebiscite but the others did not make a stand against it although strongly criticizing the Government on several counts.

Mr. Ilsley said he was surprised by the "confusion of thought which existed in the country on the plebiscite and the extent to which thought had been submerged by emotion."

"Even after allowance is made for extravagance of language due to byelections, I can hardly believe that such words as these should be used about a policy which appears to me natural, honorable and desirable—such words are cowardly, dasterdly, contemptible, shameful, humiliating and crowning indignity," he continued.

"Some of the Press and certain spite-inspired, hate-inspired enemies of the Prime Minister have simply let themselves go. They have let themselves go in a way that will make them ashamed in future months and years."

LONDON, Feb. 4 (CP Cable)—Amid a flood of speculation about the future of Sir Stafford Cripps, former Ambassador to Moscow, the Daily Sketch in its column "Inside Information" said today he would enter the Government in a capacity "which will come as a complete surprise." The column said Sir Stafford had declined to become Minister of Supply.

Why Securities Act Detrimental Not Yet Explained—Putnam

VICTORIA, Feb. 4 (CP) — The Mines Committee of the Legislature is not as yet considering a probing of the "Securities Act," nor a full scale investigation into the operations of the Act, Frank Putnam, Chairman said today.

Representations had been made to the members of the Legislature that the Act stands in the way of development of mines in British Columbia, "without intimating in what way it does stand in the way of development and without giving any instances where it has," Mr. Putnam said.

"The Mining Committee merely asks that those who allege the Act does stand in the way of development to be more explicit and state whereln it is detrimental to the mining industry, giving instances if any," Mr. Putnam said.

174 CASUALTIES, HEAVY LOSSES IN PLANES AT JAVA

But Installations at Port Suffer Little in Jap Raid

AMBOINA ISLAND FIGHT CONTINUES

BATAVIA, N.E.I., Feb. 4 (AP)—The defenders of Java, acutely aware of a possible Japanese invasion, tonight grimly counted 174 casualties and "very considerable" fighter aircraft losses after yesterday's two-hour assault by more than 70 bombers on Soerabaja, the Allied bastion which has replaced Singapore as an offensive base.

Japanese losses "were presumably eight fighters and two bombers."

However, the Netherlands command said Soerabaja's port installations suffered little in the destructive initial raid, and also reported ground troops still were resisting bitterly against the Japanese landing forces on Amboina Island, N.E.I.'s second most important base, far to the northeast between Celebes and New Guinea-u Islands.

A high military official in Batavia said the Indies still held 50 jungle-hidden air fields on Borneo Island—the apparent base for Japanese raids on Soerabaja to the south. He told the Aneta Agency that the Japanese "haven't even spotted these fields from which we can keep up a spirited guerilla warfare which will cost the enemy dear."

The Indies said their troops still were fighting the Japanese near Balik Papan. The official who told of the 50 airfields still held in Borneo asserted also that the important south coast of Bandjermasin, 120 miles across the Java Sea from Soerabaja, still is under Indies control despite repeated air attacks.

He said the native Dyak warriors would be obstacles to any inland Japanese penetration of Borneo.

"The Dyaks don't like strangers," he said.

Negroni, Struck by Truck, in Hospital With Cuts in Head

Louis Negroni, 311 Vernon Street, received heat cuts when struck Tuesday night on Vernon Street by a truck driven by Fred Hinitt, 316 Kokanee Street. Negroni is in Kootenay Lake General Hospital for treatment.

The man was crossing the Vernon Street backstop at an angle when he was struck.

LONDON, Feb. 4 (CP). — The British Broadcasting Corporation tonight quoted the captain of the 7000-ton steamship Ocean Vanguard, first vessel of her kind built for Britain in the United States, as saying he found the ship "speedy enough to keep up with the fastest convoy."

The ship arrived today at a British port after a stormy Atlantic crossing. Her cargo included aircraft, canned foods, hides and meat.

B. C. Legislature Handles 38 Bills

VICTORIA, Feb. 4 (CP)—Thirty-eight bills, all of a brief character, were handled by the British Columbia legislature today. The measures included five enactments, 16 second-readings, 16 introductions and first-readings and one bill killed in debate when second-reading was refused.

Measures taken to enactment included bills to amend the collection agents' licensing, mineral, placer mining, wills and notaries act.

Maximum Prices Set for Tea and Hosiery

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4 (AP) — The United States Government set maximum prices today for tea and nylon hosiery.

Ceiling orders required wholesalers to charge no more for these commodities than the prices which prevailed last Oct. 1 to Oct 15, which the price administration said were considerably below present levels.

BRITISH MANAGE TO GET OUT SUPPLIES

CAIRO, Egypt, Feb. 4 (AP).—British forces formed a new defence line in the Libyan desert today as the Axis advance notably slowed down.

In the withdrawal, the British succeeded in carrying back vast stores which had been built up in anticipation of a further Westward drive.

One big convoy of 150 trucks, for example, went out and snatched materials almost from in front of the German's eyes.

ROMMEL TAKES DERNA, ALL BUT 150 MILES COAST

British Still Fight Off Huns South of Derna

By EDWARD KENNEDY

CAIRO, Egypt, Feb. 4 (AP)—Derna and all but 130 miles of the Libyan Coast have been lost by Britain in the swift two-week offensive of Field Marshal Erwin Rommel's Axis forces, it was understood here today.

But, while falling back rapidly in the coastal regions, Britain's armored columns, strongly supported in the air, were still engaged along the inland bypass near Msus, 120 miles Southwest of Derna, in what today's communique described as "offensive activities."

"Our 4th Division during the night of Feb. 2-3 successfully completed their withdrawal from the last covering positions around Derna and rejoined our main forces," said the communique.

Military commentators interpreted this to mean Derna had fallen in a bold encircling thrust by Rommel's armored divisions two days ago.

The succinct communique allowed for little interpretation of what had happened on the coast since then, for it only went on to tell of the operations of the mobile troops in an area lying East and Northeast of Msus and 70 miles Southeast of Bengasi, now in Nazi hands.

At Derna, Rommel was in position to continue his rapid drive along the coast toward Tobruk, 95 miles East, a prize which escaped him in his first counter-offensive last Spring when an Imperial force holed up there and hung on for seven months.

On the other hand, he could turn inland with the objective of cutting off the armored British forces on his flank.

But, given sufficient force, it was apparent that the British forces too were in a position to execute a deadly encircling blow from Msus.

NAVY BILL BOOSTED OVER $26 BILLION

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4 (AP) — The House of Representatives agreed today to accept Senate increases in the Navy Appropriations Bill, boosting the total to $26,695,265,474, largest in history.

The conference report then went to the Senate for approval.

RED ARMY ROLLS ON TO SMOLENSK IN MIGHTY PUSH

2800 More Huns Fall, Over 50 Planes Downed

PIERCE SOUTHERN DEFENCE SYSTEM

By EDDY GILMORE

MOSCOW, Feb. 5 (Thursday) (AP)—The Russians declared officially today that 2800 more Germans had fallen on the snowy battlefields far West of here on the road to Smolensk, and that the Red Army still was rolling ahead in its mighty Winter offensive despite fierce resistance by fresh Nazi troops.

A Soviet communique announced the occupation of several more unidentified localities in this steady march, including two strongly fortified points. At one of these points, 1800 Germans fell after being outflanked, and at the second 1000 were killed outright, the communique said.

Forty-five German planes were shot down Tuesday by the Russians who said they lost five, and seven more Nazi craft were destroyed near Moscow yesterday, the communique said.

The three zones of intense Red Army pressure, according to dispatches from the front, were:

Directly West of Moscow, where the unchecked advance that gained its headway in the capture of Mozhaisk was forcing the Nazis closer to Smolensk;

In the South centre, along the line between Kursk and Kharkov, where the Kuibyshev Radio reported the Nazi defence system had been pierced in North and South;

Deep in the Donets basin farther South, where Marshal Timoshenko's army was driving on Dnieperopetrovsk, blasting the Nazis out of each village and farmhouse.

In the Donets basin, the Russians were reported scoring heavily with one of their best-proved tactics—small, highly mobile units, including cavalry, which flanked and then outflanked the German lines to open holes for heavier blows by the Soviet infantry. One cavalry detachment was credited with overpowering German tank and artillery brigades and wiping out an entire battalion.

(The BBC said the Germans had been thrown back 18 miles South of Leningrad. Russian sources in London reported that in the Crimea some of the heaviest fighting of the seven-months war was taking place around the Nazi-beleaguered Black Sea base of Sevastopol.)

Naples Harbor Hit by R.A.F. Bombers

CAIRO, Feb 4 (AP)—Royal Air Force raiders, in an attack on the Italian harbor of Naples Monday night, hit docks, freight yards and a repair base, an R.A.F. communique said today.

Palmero also was bombed the same night, a direct hit being scored on the quay there. A "large enemy merchant vessel in the Central Mediterranean" was torpedoed by British night fliers and forced aground.

Love Says Mining Engineers Give Little Help to Mine Prospectors

VICTORIA, Feb. 4 (CP). — When estimates for the Department of Mines came before the legislature today, Thomas A. Love, (Cons.-Grand Forks-Greenwood) contended that very little encouragement was given to prospectors by resident mining engineers of the Department.

"No engineer's reports to the department in recent years have encouraged or led to investment of money in mining enterprises," said Mr. Love. "Their work in my constituency hasn't resulted in any new development in the past 25 years. If a prospector asks their opinion on a claim they are quite indifferent. They have been of little help to prospectors in my country."

Mines Minister Anscomb replied that it was the duty of a resident engineer to say either yes or no on property.

W. J. Asselstine (Lib.-Atlin) former mines minister, said an engineer "tells the picture as he sees it. If people want engineers to report favorably for the sole purpose of luring money into British Columbia, then they must get a different type of men, for our engineers won't misrepresent a property. Annual reports of the department can not be criticized."

Every engineer in the government service, Mr. Asselstine continued, could obtain employment with large mining companies at higher salaries than they now receive.

H. W. Herridge (CCF-Rossland-Trail) asked if a statement would be forthcoming on a recent conference between Premier Hart, Mr. Anscomb and oil engineers and geologists on the Commotion Creek oil scheme. Mr. Hart said a statement would be made when that vote came up for discussion.

HUGE NAVAL BILL, CHINA AID, PASSES

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4 (AP)—Almost without debate the United States House of Representatives passed and aped to the Senate today in final form a $6,500,000,000 Naval Appropriation Bill and an authorization for a $500,000,000 program of aid to China.

The unprecedented naval bill, increased by about $5,000,000,000 in the Senate, would provide 23,304 naval planes this year and would increase to the staggering total of 100,000 the number of army and navy planes for which Congress has made appropriations during the last 19 months.

BRITISH SMASH JAP BARGES ON BURMESE FRONT

Thousands of Indian Troops Bolster West Bank

By DANIEL DE LUCE
Associated Press Staff Writer

RANGOON, Burma, Feb. 4 — (AP).—British and American airmen baisted Japanese barges along the lower Salween River today as artillerymen pumped explosives across the water barrier in a steadfast defence of the approaches to Rangoon and the Burma Road.

Thousands of reinforcements, tall, lithe fighting men from India, bolstered the British and native troops holding the West bank of the jungle stream from Martaban, near the mouth, northward to Paan, 25 miles away.

An army communique reported that for two days Japanese artillery based in abandoned Moulmein had been shelling Martaban in an effort to make it untenable for the imperial troops, but the enemy "has not succeeded in his object."

"Enemy activities at Paan," the communique said, "also are unceasing and shelling is in progress in this area. We retaliated with artillery fire and by bombing their positions."

An R.A.F. communique reported additional air bombings in the Martaban sector to support the army.

I have just returned from the Salween front. While there British officers emphasized that they had yet to contend with a large scale Japanese attempt to cross the river. Numerous boatloads already have been riddled and their occupants killed or drowned, but British authorities considered some of these ventures mere feints.

Great credit in the Salween defence is given to the Indian troops who are holding an irregular front along the river, and whose marksmen have repeatedly smashed a series of Japanese thrusts.

Canada May Have to Send Men Out of Country–St. Laurent

QUEBEC, Feb. 4 (CP) — Justice Minister St. Laurent said at a political rally tonight that "not one dollar, not one man will be conscripted for anything but for the defence of the country—that does not mean that the defence will be made solely on Canadian soil."

"I pray God that it may not be on Canadian soil," he continued, speaking at a meeting on his behalf for the Feb. 9 bfelection in Quebec East. "I hope from the bottom of my heart that the enemy will never reach Canadian soil.

"The sole goal of our effort will befor the defence of the country." Because of a mutual defence agreement with the United States, however, "it may be necessary to send men out of the country."

France Owes Huns Over 64 Billion Francs

BERNE, Switzerland, Feb. 4 — (AP).—An annual statement of the Bank of France showed today that it "owed" the German Government 64,880,000,000 francs (about $1,291,600,000) and had advanced 142,507,000,000 francs (about $2,850,140,000 for payment of the costs of German occupation up to the end of last year.

Wavell Says Great Reinforcements on Way to East Front

Singapore Artillery Again Blasting Japs on Malayan Mainland; People Calm Under Heavy Bombings

By C. YATES McDANIEL

SINGAPORE, Feb. 4 (AP)—The Supreme Command, charging the defenders of Singapore to hold on at all cost, assured this besieged island today that "great reinforcements" of British and American forces are being sent to the Southwestern Pacific, and strong new hope swept through the Imperial line.

As the fifth day of the siege ran out with the Japanese invader still lying quiescent across the Johore Strait, and disposing his troops under heavy fire from British batteries, Gen. Sir Archibald Wavell declared in a special order of the day:—

Our part is to gain time for great reinforcements we and our American allies are sending to the Eastern theatre."

British headquarters summed up:

"There is no change to report in the situation. Our artillery has engaged enemy transport in Johore Bahru (just across the strait). Enemy aircraft have made a number of raids on the island, causing some damage, but few military casualties."

During the second enemy raid this morning some refugee huts were set aflame but this correspondent saw no casualties. Official announcements put casualties for yesterday at 22 killed and 90 wounded.

The bombing of the residential districts was indiscriminate. Touring the area I saw a number of damaged residences and trees uprooted and gardens plowed up. People throughout the district were shaken but I saw no casualties.

In the late afternoon I returned to town and found the usual flow of traffic as the people of Singapore started homeward after their day's work. Passing two of the larger theatres still providing movie relaxation I saw a good number of people waiting in line to see current Hollywood offerings.

Driving through the West Coast area I saw civilians packing their belongings preparatory to leaving tomorrow in compliance with an order extending the coastal strip from which all civilians and livestock are to be cleared.

Artillery batteries again blasted away at Japanese troop movements on the Malayan mainland.

Despite the sudden flurry of artillery and air activity there was no apparent lull in the Japanese were about to begin their expected attempt to cross Johore Strait.

In the tangled mangrove swamps along Johore Strait, areas which the Japanese are massing on the Malayan mainland, troops familiar with the art of camouflage masked new machine gun nests, rifle pits and gun emplacements with which every chink in the island's armor is being stoppered.

Battle hardened Imperial troops worked swiftly to instruct newly arrived reinforcements in tricks of war learned in the Malayan jungles where for more than six weeks they fought the invaders.

British military men delared that every day the Japs delayed in launching their expected assault would make the attack more difficult and more costly.

(A German radio broadcast heard last night in London said the Japanese would face a heavy task if they tried to take Singapore. "Singapore still has enough and more than enough defence potentialities," the broadcast said.)

Bar Enemy Aliens From 31 More Parts of Pacific States

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4 (AP) — The United States Government barred enemy aliens today from 31 additional sectors of the Pacific states where dams and other vital installations might be sabotaged and drastically restricted their movements in other areas there.

The Justice Department designated 24 areas in Oregon and seven in Washington from which German, Japanese and Italian nationals will be rigidly excluded starting Feb. 15. Eighty-six similar prohibited areas had been set up previously in California.

Castlegar A.R.P. Seeks Equipment

CASTLEGAR, B. C. — At a Castlegar A. R.P. Personnel meeting Monday night, it was decided by the members that very little more could be accomplished until suitable fire equipment had been obtained.

R. A. D. West, Chairman of the fire committee gave an outline on fire equipment for Castlegar. He stated that suitable equipment would cost approximately $1000 including the cost of a truck on which to mount the equipment.

A volunteer committee consisting of Mr. West, N. Oswald and S. C. Watson will look into the matter. Ways and means of raising money for the equipment was discussed.

Another general meeting will be held to discuss the raising of sufficient funds.

Manila Fibre, Rope Use Is Restricted

OTTAWA, Feb. 4 (CP). — An order restricting use of manila fibre and rope and reducing production of all hard-fibre rope and twine except binder twine was announced tonight.

Manila fibre can not be used in manufacture of rope for tying parcels and bundles or for binding trees for shipment. The order prohibits use of manila or sisal in skipping ropes and toys.

Use of manila or sisal fibre, other than twn, in the manufacture of rugs, bedding and furniture, also is banned.

Probe Report Cafe Wrecked by Seamen

VANCOUVER, Feb. 4 (CP)—Police today were investigating a report by James Johnson, owner of the Green Shade Cafe here, that some 60 Royal Canadian Naval sailors marched into the eating house last night and systematically wrecked the interior and furnishings. Police said according to one report the sailors were seeking revenge for alleged maltreatment of a fellow sailor in a cafe the previous night.

Bad Ice Sends 'Spiel to Trail; Chesser Faces Rossland Rivals Grand Challenge, Rossland Finals

TRAIL, B. C., Feb. 4—While Rossland Curling Club continues to be host to the B. C. Curling Association's current bonspiel, and as such will fete the visiting rinks Thursday night, when the Association's annual meeting will also be held, the moderating weather compelled transfer of the actual curling to Trail this morning.

Tuesday night's play was on watery ice, but it was considered that at least the Wednesday morning draw could be safely curled at Rossland. But inspection of the ice Wednesday morning showed that further play on the natural ice was impossible, so the bonspiel executive accepted an invitation of the Trail Curling Club to use its artificial ice for the balance of the spiel. An hour was lost in the transfer, but play got under way at 10 a.m. at the new site.

THREE EVENTS IN FINALS

Wednesday's curling saw the Grand Challenge reach the finals with Chesser of Trail bracketed with Finney of Rossland, after Chesser had knocked out Donaldson of Rossland and Finney had knocked out Brown of Trail.

The Rossland Cup is also in the finals, Stephens of Rossland having eliminated his club mate, Urquhart while Chesser eliminated his Trail club-mate, Brown.

D'Amour of Rossland entered the finals of the Nelson Cup, the remaining primary event, by defeating his club mate, Wright. Chesser and Brown face each other in the semi finals of this event.

Transfer of the bonspiel to Trail removed the objection of the D. MacDonald to the ice condi tons; and it remained in the spiel, to win its rounds in the Trail and Kimberley Cups.

Nelson rinks which had had extraordinarily bad luck, began to win, Farenholtz taking two games, and Bourque one.

It is expected that Thursday evening will see the consolation reached.

The Chesser Rink leads so far for the Grand Aggregate, with eight wins out of eight games. D'Amour of Rossland has an 80 per cent showing, and Finney of Rossland and Brown of Trail have a 75 per cent standing up to 7 p.m. Wednesday.

Results of Wednesday's play, all at Trail, except the final draw of the night, are as follows

Kootenay Municipalities to Ask Their Responsibilities Regarding A. R. P. Deplore District War Work Situation

ROSSLAND, B. C., Feb. 4—Civilian protection measures, salvage collections, particularly of fats, as an aid to the war effort of the Dominion, and war sub-contracts for Kootenay communities claimed the major share of attention at a lively meeting of the Association of Kootenay Municipalities in the City Hall here today.

TRAIL IS VENUE

The meeting also named Trail as the site for the net quarterly gathering, the exact date of which will be announced by the executive, accompanying the motion designating the Smelter City as the site of the May meeting was a request that the executive, in calling the meeting, invite from each municipality resolutions or subjects for discussion to be in the hands of the executive one month before the meeting. This procedure, it was felt, would assure a definite agenda.

ATTITUDE "APPALLING"

Regarding civilian protection measures from all sides were heard statements that A.R.P. committees have for some time been carrying out their programs with but scant financial or material assistance from either the Provincial or Federal Governments. Municipalities will, in view of the rapid expansion taking place within the A.R.P. groups, find themselves faced shortly with the necessity of committing municipal treasuries to definite A.R.P. expenditures unless the Provincial or Dominion will lend financial assistance. Nelson's City Clerk, W. E. Wasson, mentioned that the city receives at the present time a monthly remittance of $50 from the Provincial Government to further A.R.P. work, and that the city has also received some equipment. To support this statement, C. E. Marlatt, Tadanac Councillor, asserted that "any notions that civilian protection requirements can be fully met for $25 or $50 each month are laughable." He asserted that the A.R.P. problem must be given very serious consideration by every council man, and said that municipal authorities should not lean too much on the Provincial or Federal Government. He also stated that "the apathy of the citizens themselves towards A.R.P. work would be amusing if it were not appalling." "Let's get away from this do-nothing attitude," he said. Civilian protection rests primarily with the municipalities, he concluded.

To throw some light on the Kootenay situation in this connection, Mayor John E. Gordon, of Rossland, who presided over today's meeting, named himself, Mayor Herbert Clark of Trail and Councillor C. E. Marlatt to draft for submission to the Provincial Government a resolution designed to point out that municipalities are faced with a heavy expenditure in connection with A.R.P. work and would like a clear cut statement from the Federal Government regarding its stand in the matter and what is expected of municipalities.

HUMOR IN SALVAGE TALKS

There was a great deal of humor in discussion of intermittent appeals to the municipalities from the Department of National War Services, Ottawa, for the salvage of various materials claimed to be vital to the war effort, and more recently appeals for the collection of bones and fats. Councillor C. E. Marlatt, Tadanac, touched off discussion with a brief dealing with the various aspects to be considered before launching local or district drives for fats.

He stated that "if a shortage of soap develops we may be very glad to undertake a fats collection and it might be profitable right now were it not for the price ceiling." "If the Government wants any kind of scrap collected it should bring about a reduction in freight rates and raise the price ceiling, or alternately compensate communities handicapped by freight charges for losses incurred in collection and disposal." "Municipalities must enlist the housewives in any such campaign," he said. He estimated that approximately 2000 pounds of fats could be collected in Trail in a month and that this could be disposed of at the Oxygen Chemical Company in East Trail, he said.

Mayor Herbert Clark humorously remarked that he envisaged the citys engineering department deluged with calls for a truck to go to Milligan Hill for example, to pick up four pounds of fat and take it away over to East Trail. He also asserted that "the Government havent told us there is a shortage of fats and has not told us what to do once these have been collected. Until such time as our Government tells us the hows and whys of these salvage campaigns I am not going to get hot and bothered about them."

NO REPLY TO TENDERS

A brief discussion ensued concerning the lack of war contracts or even sub ontracts for Kootenay machine shops, wood working concerns or other plants. Ald. T. H. Waters of Nelson related how the Nelson Board of Trade went to considerable expense to supply a quotation on a Government order for wooden tables. Although this quotation was given to a Government representative, in this District especially to make a survey of plant facilities and who, in turn, submitted the quotation to Ottawa, not even the courtesy of an acknowledgement had been received.

He said that as far as he could learn the order was eventually placed with a Winnipeg concern, who constructed the tables of wood shipped from Vancouver.

He deplored the fact that while the Nelson District had contributed money to war services, bonds, certificates, etc., so generously, it had received so little in return of what was possible.

Nasookin to Go on Ways Monday

Nasookin, main lake ferry, is expected to go on the ways at the Nelson shipyard Monday for hull repairs. The C. P. R. steamer Moyie will replace the Nasookin on the Fraser's Landing-Gray Creek ferry run, and the tug Granthall will take the Moyie run while the ferry is off.

Remodelling of the Nasookin is to follow hull repairs. It is possible she may return to her ferry run briefly after the hull is repaired and then be tied up again for the major changes that are to be made to improve her as a ferry, but this is not yet certain.

Nelson Legion to Back Plebiscite

Responding to a request by the Dominion command, Nelson branch of the Canadian legion Tuesday night indorsed the suggestion that it shouldn't support the forthcoming conscription plebiscite, but at the same time held to the plea of the Canadian legion that nothing less than "total war" would suffice.

The legion some time ago initiated a campaign calling for "total war" measures to be undertaken throughout Canada. It was emphasized that in swinging its support behind the plebiscite it was not in any manner abandoning this objective.

Frost Is Coming Out of Roads and Chains Necessary

Frost—two feet and more deep in places—is coming out of district roads slowly and while so far it has given comparatively little trouble, continued mild weather may make conditions difficult, stated Ernest Smith, District Public Works Engineer, on Wednesday.

Road conditions in the district vary widely. Wednesday morning reports were received that six inches of fresh snow had fallen on the Rossland-Grand Forks road, and that eight to nine inches of fresh snow lay on the Nelson-Nelway road at Apex, while heavier snow was reported from Sheep Creek. Plows went into action early Wednesday morning.

Mr. Smith advised that conditions necessitated chains for safe driving of motor vehicles.

Ilsley Castigates Plebiscite Foes Who Hit War Loan

OTTAWA, Feb. 4 (CP).—Opponents of the conscription plebiscite who advocate boycott of the war loan as a means of deterring the Government or of punishing it for adopting the plebiscite course were "saboteurs" of the national war effort, Finance Minister Ilsley declared today.

Such people would be the first to condemn a labor group for striking in a war industry, he said, "but their action is no less reprehensible."

Mr. Ilsley, speaking in the Commons in the debate on the address in reply to the speech from the throne, said the plebiscite was the "natural, honorable and efficient course." It had his unqualified approval.

He believed the voluntary system of enlistments produced the best results but the Government should be free to adopt whatever course an emergency dictated.

The Minister was given one of the longest ovations a speaker has received in the House of Commons during this debate.

The Government would be derelict in its duty if it did not seek release from its anti-conscription pledges at a time when the military situation permitted it.

WARMTH FOR U. S. AVIATORS

Since 1929 the U. S. army has been experimenting to find the warmest possible clothing as equipment for sub-zero flying. They have perfected a suit that is warmer than an Eskimo's bear and fox skin attire. Strangely, it is not the Northern animals that furnish the skin for this suit. The more easily-available sheep shearing has proven best, most lasting, and warmest of all. At the left is the suit for the mechanic, and at the right the suit for the pilot. The only exposed parts of the body are the eyes.

Start Moving Japs to Lumber Camps in Eastern Canada

VANCOUVER, Feb. 4 (CP) — Ninety Japanese Nationals will leave here tonight for jobs in an Ontario lumber camp, the first movement of Japanese under regulations ordering them from the defence area of British Columbia west of the Cascade mountains.

The group is composed of loggers, teamsters, trim sawyers and cooks, ranging in age from 19 to 62. They will go to Chapleau, a logging and sawmill centre 150 miles north of Sudbury, Ont., where their services are needed.

Two have wives in Japan and the others are unmarried.

Last night they celebrated their last evening in Vancouver with a Chinese dinner.

VANCOUVER, Feb. 4 (CP) — Royal Canadian Mounted Police officials said today the movement of Japanese from the defence areas of British Columbia will actually get under way "within the next few days" when 100 Japanese nationals will leave here for jobs in Ontario lumber camps.

Many Japanese here expressed the hope those who move from the province later may be allowed to send for their families and R.C.M.P. officials said they believed such a scheme might be worked out.

Tommy Shoyama, executive secretary of the Japanese Canadian citizens league—an organization representing the nisei or Canadian-born Japanese—said he understood a Government commission might be set up to dispose of Japanese property unsold before Japanese owners not Canadian citizens were forced to move. Such a committee has already been set up to dispose of the Japanese fishing boats.

Shoyama said the attitude of the younger Canadian-born Japanese toward the government proposal for a voluntary labor corps was one of co-operation, but he believed most would rather be drafted into a Canadian-Japanese wing of the Canadian army.

"We still believe we should be allowed to fight for Canada in this war. American-born Japanese have been taken into the United States army and we don't see why the same could not be done in Canada," Shoyama said.

OTTAWA, Feb. 4 (CP)—Requests for Japanese workers have come from provinces as far east as New Brunswick, this spokesman said. The requests are chiefly from lumber camps.

Any movement to eastern lumber camps would be on a voluntary basis with the lumber companies paying the Japanese the wages prevailing in the localities and part of the cost of transportation to the camps.

The Canadian nationals are being urged to join civilian corps if they do not obtain work with private employers who move them out of the defence area.

Those who are forcibly moved will be placed in one or more national parks and given work there on roads or other undertakings.

German and Italian nationals of military age also have to move out of the defence area the spokesman said. Japanese and other enemy alien women and children will be allowed to remain in the area but will not be permitted in locations vital to defence.

The spokesman said where a man was a national of both Japan and Canada, the government here regarded him as a Canadian citizen.

A.R.P. Would Cut Restrictions Upon Outdoor Lighting

OTTAWA, Feb. 4 (CP) — Air Raid Precautions officials, representing all parts of Canada, today passed a resolution to be presented to Federal authorities asking that essential services and war industries be exempted from conforming to test blackout regulations.

The resolution, passed just before a two-day conference on A. R. P. work concluded, contained the provision that all war industry plants and essential services should be required to demonstrate to Provincial authorities within 60 days of any given date their ability to conduct a blackout if necessary.

The conference, called to consider the Canada-wide lighting regulations which require the shutting off of all outdoor lights which are unattended, was under the chairmanship of Hon. Dr. R. J. Manion, Federal Director of Air Raid Precautions.

The conference resolution also asked that floodlighting and fence lighting be allowed providing it is centrally controlled and attended at all times.

Federal A. R. P. authorities will also be asked in a resolution to accept the recommendations of Provincial A. R. P. authorities with regard to lessening restrictions imposed by existing Dominion wide blackout regulations regarding outdoor lighting.

These Provincial recommendations, the resolutions stated, should be accepted unless over-ruled by military authorities.

Acceptance of Provincial recommendations, the conference felt, would give a better balance to blackout regulations with regard to the degree of vulnerability of each locality.

With regard to lighting restrictions as they affect municipal services, public buildings, large business premises and theatres, small industries, shops, apartments, private dwellings and all external lights including outdoor advertising signs, the conference suggested the different problems involved could be dealt with satisfactorily "if the principle is accepted that all lights whether interior or external be attended at all times and subject to central control."

Anti-burglary lights in premises were proposed as the only exception to this recommendation "when the illumination from same is substantially restricted to the interior of such premises."

After giving consideration to lighting restrictions as they affect railways, interprovincial transportation and communications, airways and radio, the conference adopted the following resolution proposed by a sub-committee:

Beaverbrook New Chief of British War Production

LONDON, Feb. 4 (CP).—Prime Minister Churchill created the new Cabinet post of Minister of War Production today, an assignment aimed specifically at peak cooperation between Britain and the United States, and entrusted it to Lord Beaverbrook, one of his most valued aides.

The new ministry parallels the office of Donald Nelson in directing the United States' war production.

Lord Beaverbrook is succeeded as Minister of Supply by Sir Andrew Rae Duncan, until now President of the Board of Trade and Lord Beaverbrook's predecessor at the Supply Ministry.

The Presidency of the Board of Trade went to Col. J. J. Llewellin, for many years a junior minister whose most recent post was Under-Secretary of War Transport.

Praising Lord Beaverbrook in his recent war review to Parliament, Mr. Churchill said:

"We are producing twice as many and far more complicated guns as we did in the peak of 1917 and 1918. Tank production has doubled in the past six months. In aircraft production there is a steady increase not only in the numbers but in the size and quality of aircraft."

It was announced that the post of Parliamentary and Financial Secretary to the Admiralty, held by Sir Victor Warrender, has been divided into two jobs.

Sir Victor, who will be elevated to the peerage as a baron, will be Parliamentary Secretary and G. H. Hall, now Colonial Under-Secretary, will become the Admiralty's Financial Secretary.

Succeeding Mr. Hall as Colonial Under-Secretary will be Harold MacMillan who is also made a member of the Privy Council.

Ralph Assheton succeeds Mr. MacMillan as Parliamentary Secretary to the Minister of Supply.

P. J. Noel Baker, a prominent Labor Member of Parliament, enters the Government as Parliamentary Secretary to the Ministry of War Transport and will be the House of Commons spokesman for the Minister, Lord Leathers.

M. S. McCorquodale becomes Parliamentary Secretary to the Ministry of Labor, succeeding Mr. Assheton.

Meighen Accepts C.C.F. Offer on Conscription Plan

TORONTO, Feb. 4 (CP).—Acceptance for himself and the Conservative party of the principle of "conscription of men if conscription of wealth and industry is imposed on an equal basis," was announced at a meeting here last night by Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen, Canadian Conservative leader and candidate in a York South Federal by-election Feb. 9.

Mr. Meighen said "Mr. Coldwell (M. J. Coldwell, C.C.F. leader in the House of Commons) has said his party will accept conscription of men if conscription of wealth and industry is imposed on an equal basis. I accept his offer. I speak for myself and the Conservative party."

The Conservative leader said he always had favored the type of conscription of wealth now advocated by the C. C. F. and would accept any measure of conscription that would assist in winning the war.

"I am not opposed to the conscription of wealth in the terms that Noseworthy (J. W. Noseworthy, C.C.F. candidate in the York South by-election) and Coldwell are now advocating. But if you mean out-and-out Government control, that is socialism and it is nonsense. The Government can't run the farms as well as the farmer and it can't run the factories as efficiently as the man who built the factory."

Says Toronto Fire Extinguishers Were Filled With Gas

CHICAGO, Feb. 4 (CP).—Recent attempted sabotage in the Toronto industrial area was described today by E. J. Neidl, President of the American Transit Engineering Association.

"In the Toronto district in certain very, very vulnerable plants and establishments, fire extinguishers have been discovered filled with gasoline."

Neidl is electrical engineer of the Toronto Transportation Commission.

Red Cross to Send Food to Prisoners Held by Japan

TORONTO, Feb. 4 (CP) — Plans to provide 3000 tons of bulk food stuffs for Allied prisoners of war held by the Japanese have been completed by the Red Cross. The shipment will go from Australia in cooperation with the Red Cross Societies of Canada, Britain, Australia and United States.

"The Japanese Government has agreed to supply the names of prisoners of war and have established a prisoners of war information bureau in Tokyo," Dr. Fred W. Routley, National Commissioner of the Canadian Society, said. "As soon as the names of Canadian prisoners are available and an agreement reached to transmit additional foodstuffs, a ship will be dispatched from Australia."

Kimberley C. C. F. Hears Russian Talk

KIMBERLEY, B.C., Feb. 4—Kimberley C. C. F. Club had a record attendance at its second meeting on Russia on Jan. 27. The history of the Russian Revolution was discussed, the speaker stressing that conditions in Russia had been appalling and that the feudal Tsar refused to listen to peaceful appeals from his starving people. He gave orders for peaceful petitioners to be shot down and for the 65 progressive candidates elected to the Duma (Parliament) to be exiled to Siberia.

The Russian people never wanted a bloody revolution but resorted to armed force only when there was no other way of improving their conditions and that most of the bloodshed was caused by subsequent attacks from re-actionary feudal leaders and foreign interventionists trying to hold back Russian development.

Does Your Stomach Rebel After the Meals You Eat?

The bloated, heavy feeling after meals; the empty, sinking, gnawing before meals; the belching of gas and flatulency between meals; the rising and souring of food, all these, and more, fall to the lot of those suffering from stomach trouble.

Burdock Blood Bitters helps to stimulate the sluggish action of the digestive and intestinal system by promoting the flow of the important gastric juices so necessary for the proper digestion of food.

You will find when you take B. B. B. that digestion, assimilation and elimination are greatly improved by its use.

School Has Place In Building the Child's Security

By GARRY CLEVELAND MYERS, Ph.D.

For years I have entreated both parents and teachers to be patient with children and exercise due regard for them as persons.

In times of peace there were many worried and jittery children, because of worried and jittery parents and teachers. That there will be more as time goes on, until this war is over, is to be expected.

War news on the air—in some homes every 15 minutes—and constant discussions of the bad and good news; older brothers leaving home to join the armed forces and younger brothers waiting till old enough; the air charged with tensions and excitement—all help to create a trying emotional atmosphere for younger children and parents.

It's fine when children exposed to tensions and anxieties at home can enjoy a haven of release at school; unfortunate, when at school they don't find emotional security, but their already shattered nerves are subjected to more strain.

Most teachers afford a comfortable atmosphere for children. Many, indeed, are wonderful in their understanding, insight and consideration of each child as a sensitive personality. Such teachers are growing better and their number is steadily increasing.

Let us beg of the teacher to keep in mind the welfare of the children she teaches and, to this end, try to order her program and master her emotions so as to protect the children.

Posture Secret . . .

Slumping Wastes a Lot of Energy

By IDA JEAN KAIN

It's when your working hours are stretched to cover extra-career activities that you are forced to give posture its proper due. Slumping wastes energy that might not be missed in the course of a normal eight-hour day. But as you take on more and more work the steady drain gets you down.

Of course, you can't keep your mind on your work and on a set of rules for sitting and standing while doing it. The technique has to be as automatic as shorthand or typing.

Control the small of your back. When you sit in a chair or car, press the small of your back against the back of the seat. In standing, pull the hips down and under to get the same effect of pushing the small of the back out.

With the small of your back correctly controlled, your stomach is naturally pulled up and in where it belongs. You should never try to hold your stomach in. In the first place, you can't, and in the second, it is mechanically wrong and the attempt makes your hips stick out.

For good measure, make a practice of walking now and then with your toes turned in. That strengthens your arches and has a generally good effect on your posture.

Go Slowly When Father Objects

Dear Miss Fairfax:

During the Christmas holidays I visited a friend in another city. We were invited to a party at which I met a lovely girl, 17 years old. We had a great time together all evening, and I sa wher a couple of times afterward. We promised to write to each other and when I got home I did just that. She answered.

I tried to let her know how much I thought of her, but she asked me not to get serious. We wrote several letters and then she asked me not to write because her dad objected to her writing letters to me. Her dad happened to be out of town when I called at her home, and he doesn't know me; why should he object to our corresponding? I like her lots and I think she thinks kindly of me also. What shall I do?

WONDERING

As you like this girl, don't you think a little patience might be worth while. She is still living under her father's roof, so you're not likely to make any headway by disregarding his wishes.

Try to become acquainted with the family. When they see you're a good, steady boy, they won't object to your calling, and perhaps writing an occasional letter. You might be able to visit your friend in that city again, and call the girl on the phone while there. Perhaps the only objection is that you're still pretty young for anything serious.

SERIAL STORY . . . By LORENA CARLETON

Castle of Contentment

CHAPTER FORTY-FIVE

The woman who was talking ceased speaking for a moment to murmur, "Hello, Tate."

Ylena turned. Forcing herself to be casual, she, too, murmured, "Hello, Tate."

With rather feeble excuses, the woman moved away and Ylena was alone with Tate.

"Trust old Mrs. Matthews to be an understanding angel. She knew I wanted to talk to you."

"But Tate, I can't just stand here in the center of the floor with you." Swiftly she stole a glance about the room. "The others have literally cleared a ring about us." She turned troubled green eyes on him. "It embarrases me."

"Then come into the library with me," he urged tensely in a low voice. "Oh, Ylena, you look so lovely and I'm so crazy about you. It makes me sick—I love you that much and, darling, I've never once given up hope. I'm going to have you yet." He broke off exasperatedly as Scott Hamilton came up and put a proprietory hand on the girl's elbow.

"We'd better be going, Ylena." She had a moment of wishing he would not be so officious before they were in the silver-green machine headed toward Ylena's apartment. "What are you trying to do, Ylena?" Console Francie one minute and break her heart the next!"

"She didn't even see me talking to Tate, and what if she had? Can't I carry on a casual conversation with an old friend?"

"You talk like a fool, Ylena. Love was fairly bursting from your eyes, right there for everyone to see."

He stopped at her shop entrance to let her out. "No thanks!" he replied crisply, to her invitation to come up for a while.

Ylena was awakened the following morning by a deafening racket on the building being erected next to the shop.

Rose answered her complaint. "You'd better be glad they're doing all that construction during the summer so your clients won't be annoyed."

"I am, in a way, but I'm a little tired of the boss being annoyed. Anyway, I'm selfish about this corner. I don't want a building next to us at all. It will ruin our southern light."

"And probably increase your business 50 per cent. Stop fussing!" Nevertheless, she, too, wrinkled her already creased forehead over the gnashing racket of cement mixers and pounding and loud voices.

A little before 3 o'clock, Ylena dressed Carlyle in a short white dotted Swiss dress and play sandals.

"Davy is coming to see you, darling. You'll have to play in your room. It's much too hot in the patio now."

She left the little girl clipping first one hair-bow and then another before her small, white-ruffled dressing table mirror. In her own bedroom Ylena ran the comb through her long blond bob and put on fresh lip rouge. Then she stepped out on the narrow grilled balcony that overlooked the street. The heat was so intense, so thick and penetrating that it almost cut her breath. There wasn't a sign of a cloud, not even a dull touch on the horizon that hinted of a sandstorm.

She started to step back into the gratifying comfort of expert air cooling, then loitering still another instant to watch the workmen on the adjoining building. Sweltering beneath the incredible, glassy-hot sun, they were struggling to put wooden forms into place. The girl watched them tie and bolt a form, then start filling it with the heavy concrete mixture. What terrible work, she thought, looking at muscles straining beneath wet, blue work shirts, and burned faces, beaded with sweat.

She knew something was wrong by the expression on the face of the big red-headed worker. Unsecure at the base, and over-balanced by the pouring cement, the form was tilting toward the street. Suddenly that look of terror left the red-haired man. He shouted and threw a bracing rope about the still-tilted form. A second man caught it. Others ran across the narrow girder to help. It was useless. They knew it even while their bodies ached with senseless exertion.

"Let go!" Ylena screamed. "Let go—you'll be dragged to the street!"

Her eyes sought the pavement below. Francie had just parked, Davy beside her. When Ylena screamed at Francie she knew the words were a strangled nothing in her throat. Yet they must not have been, because the dark girl looked up.

All in one instant, she scooped Davy into her strong arms and hurtled across the sidewalk to safety. Spellbound, yet shaking in a nightmarish lack of control, Ylena saw clawing fingers of the workmen release the rope. When she pulled knotted fists from her fiery eyes a second later, she knew that Francie was dead.

Lined with bright, exciting windows freshly stocked with today's news, the newspaper is the busiest thoroughfare in town . . . busier today than ever before.

In some windows you find news of the home town, the nation, and the rest of the world. In some you find entertainment, advice, interpretation. In others you find news of the goods and services offered by manufacturers and retailers.

Every day in the week, every week in the year, you and your family travel this busy street, looking for things that interest you . . . and finding them in both the news and advertising windows.

Practically everybody in every community walks along this thoroughfare of news and advertising every day . . . simply because the newspaper is indispensable to everybody everywhere. That's why the 37,000,000 families in the United States and Canada buy, and read, over 43,300,000 newspapers every weekday . . . over 33,000,000 newspapers every Sunday.

And because everybody is so intensely interested in the contents of the newspaper, it's easy to understand why advertisers, national and local, find newspaper space the most effective medium with which to tell their story and sell their goods.

Jack Bone Wins Aircraft Contest at Junior High

Jack Bone was the winner of the model aircraft contest Wednesday afternoon at the Junior High School gymnasium when airminded students gathered there to exhibit their handiwork in constructing model airplanes. Planes of various types and many colors glided about the gymnasium while the anxious eyes of their owners watched their flight.

The contest was an incentive to the young boys of the school to build planes, as well as to give them a chance to show their work. The aircraft were judged according to workmanship and flying power, 20 points accorded to each, and there were two sections for entries, a junior and a senior section.

JUNIOR WINNERS

The first in the junior section was Jack Bone's Lysander model, with a total of 26 points, 14 for workmanship and 12 for flight. Ivan Laughton's Hurricane followed a close second with 25 points, 10 for workmanship and 15 for flight; Jack Johnstone's Taylor Cub glided in third with 23½ points, 13 for workmanship and 10½ for flight; and John Hopwood's Harvard Trainer was fourth with 23 points, 17 for workmanship and six for flight.

In the senior section, Dalton Boomer's Taylor Craft and Fokker models were the only entries, gaining 27 points, 18 for workmanship and nine for flight for the Taylor Craft, and 25 points, 16 for workmanship and nine for flight, for the Fokker model.

The contest was arranged by V. E. Rickard, and judged by P. C. Richards, both of whom are on the teaching staff of the Junior High School.

Hosek Program to Have Music for Every Taste

After two years of study with Frank Blackford, one of Toronto's foremost violin teachers, youthful Frank Hosek of Blairmore, who is to play before a Nelson audience this week, has greatly surpassed the already remarkable skill he exhibited on his former visit to Nelson.

His program will offer music suitable for every taste from Max Bruch's "G Minor Concerto," which is a real tour de force for a violinist, to such well beloved airs as "Ave Maria" by Schubert and "Berceuse" by Godard.

Young Hosek has recently been invited to give a recital for the R.C.A.F. at Macleod, a concert in Knox United Church at Trail, and to appear shortly at Vancouver in a concert program.

Tea in the best tradition!

Canterbury brings you time-honored tea flavor . . . saves you money, too!

CATHERINE, queen consort of Charles II, was England's first tea-drinking queen. Her liking for the brew did much to popularise it, and tea became the favorite beverage wherever discriminating people gathered.

Canterbury is loyal to this fine old tradition.

It's a noble tea, this Canterbury. High in quality . . . friendly in spirit. A stalwart blend of rich-bodied young tea leaves, picked in their prime.

We think you'll like everything about Canterbury. Its hearty flavor, its keen fresh bouquet, its splendid invigoration. Best of all, you'll appreciate its low price. By ordering direct from the importer, your grocer avoids in-between expenses, and passes the saving along to you!

Another thing! You'll like Canterbury's new rigid carton. It's easier to open and close. Handier to use. The sturdy inner lining keeps out moisture, protects Canterbury's loyal flavor.

Try your first pound tomorrow with the assurance that unless you like everything about this tea, it costs you nothing!

Jones, Sir

When we read that Prime Minister Churchill received a vote of confidence of 464 to 1 from the British House of Commons, but that two of the negative party did not have their votes recorded, we receive an interesting sidelight on the way that the British Parliament does things.

In the United States Congress, when a recorded vote is called for, the roll is called, and each Congressman, or each Senator, answers in the affirmative or in the negative, and his name is ticked off in one column or the other, on the pad before the Clerk of the House.

The Canadian practice is to stand for a recorded vote. Those for the affirmative stand in their places, and as the Clerk ticks off a member's name on the division list, his name is called out, and he resumes his seat. Then the nays are called for, rise to their feet, are ticked off on the pad, and the tally is handed to the Speaker to announce.

But in the British House, if there is to be a recorded vote, the members leave the chamber, and pass through one of the two voting lobbies on their way back. The affirmative side has two tellers, and the negative side two tellers, a teller for each lobby. Thus, as the members pour through in single file, the opposing tellers tick their names off. It is said that in a critical division, those who have taken their seats watch to see which pair of opposing tellers hand in their tally to the Speaker first, for this is usually the mark of the losing side. It is said that Gladstone, in his premierships, used to expertly slip out, and be about the first member to vote, thus getting quickly back to his seat on the front bench, actually a pew, where he would write letters endlessly on his knee pad until the vote was announced. Under the system thus described, the tellers are "paired," that is to say, they themselves do not vote. In the case of this vote of confidence, there were three members of the Independent Labor Party, or "I.L.P." who would have liked to vote against the motion offered by Mr. Churchill, but their group had to supply two tellers, thus reducing their "recorded" voting strength to one.

Some months ago there was a somewhat similar division, on the Government's handling of the war, and there were four men in the opposition. As two had to be tellers, to act with two from the Government side, only two of them had the pleasure of walking down the opposition lobby and being ticked off as voting against the Government.

Readers of The Daily News who recall the motion picture, "Goodbye Mr. Chips!" will remember the public school scene of the "monitor" ticking off the names of the boys as they left the quadrangle for the town, each boy smartly and respectfully giving his name as he darted past for his few hours of freedom. Considering the contribution the great "public schools" of England make to British public life, it is easy to imagine some of these same boys in later life giving to the Parliamentary tellers the same kind of snappy "Jones, sir," "Smith, sir," "Brown, sir," for the Parliamentary record.

Today's Horoscope

The next year of those who have birthdays today opens with obstacles and difficulties in business and domestic affairs but, provided they avoid impulsive actions, even under great provocation, it will end with happiness and success in character, these folk lack practicality in action and are dreamers rather than doers. They should put more spirit into their work, and be careful of their choice of friends. A highly gifted and most successful child will be he or she who is born on this date, more especially in the arts, and specifically if born late in the day. In character such a child will be good-natured, active and ambitious, but argumentative and possessed of excellent reasoning faculties.

A. S., Cranbrook—A mahogany finished desk was recently spoiled by applying an oil stain. Now that this stain has been removed with paint remover, some of the original stain remained. What should I use to make it all one color again? The wood now has several different shades.

Bleach out the remainder of the stain with a hot saturated solution of oxalic acid. Apply it liberally, and allow to remain over night. Rinse with clear water and allow to dry. If the grain of the wood has been raised, smooth the surface by rubbing with fine sandpaper. Wipe off the dust with benzine (being careful of fire), then finish as desired.

Polling Institute on Moving the Japanese

To the Editor of The Daily News:

Sir—As we know, there is some talk of bringing the Japanese at the Coast into the Interior.

I do not know if details of the proposed plan are yet available, or even if details will be made public before the plan is put into execution; but I do feel it is a project that should receive the most earnest consideration, not only of public bodies in the Kootenays but of the general public.

The result of this movement, if it should take place, in anything but a very temporary form, might profoundly affect the unborn and moral life of this district for generations to come, and should at least be considered in all its aspects by the body of the people it is likely to affect.

I might say I am writing the Secretary of the West Kootenay and Boundary Central Farmers Institute asking him to obtain the wishes of the executive in this matter.

Press Comment

HIS ONE HOPE

Marshal Petain obviously is in no mood to turn over the French fleet or African bases to the Axis. Not even the promise of release of hundreds of thousands of French prisoners of war, as the quid pro quo, seems to have influenced him in the least. Nor is this altogether surprising; he knows how little can be placed on the word of the New Order's architect. What the outside world is not permitted to know, however, is how soon—if at all—Admiral Darlans' influence will rule Vichy.

One point about France's unhappy condition seems clearer now than at any stage since the black days of 1940. It is that even if German troops were to overrun the whole of the country, and do their worst, the French people could suffer little more than they are suffering. And what an opportunity still remains for Marshal Petain to strike a blow for his country! He could board an airplane, fly to North Africa, set up a new government, issue a call to his compatriots to rally round him—and they would follow.

It may be too late in the day to expect such a turn in the affairs of Vichy. But perhaps Marshal Petain is at last persuaded that no matter how many concessions he makes to the gang in Berlin, the release of more than 1,000,000 Frenchmen is a forlorn hope. Hitler needs the labor of these men; he is not likely to run the risk of turning them loose in their native land. The aged Marshal may remember at long last that he put much store on his soldier's honor when he assumed control at Bordeaux and capitulated to the Fuehrer.—Victoria Times.

PARTISAN OPPOSITION IN BYELECTIONS

Two Federal by-elections are pending. In South York, Mr. Arthur Meighen, leader of the Federal Conservative party, is seeking a seat in the House of Commons. In Welland, Mr. Humphrey Mitchell, newly appointed Minister of Labor, is seeking endorsement. In the former constituency the Liberals, with true sportsmanship because of the political conditions of the time, have decided not to oppose Mr. Meighen. In Welland the Conservatives will not oppose Mr. Mitchell. In each constituency, however, there will be a contest. The C.C.F. party, which regards partisanship as superior to all other considerations, has candidates in the field. In neither constituency, according to all indications, has this party a chance of success, not even a ghost of a chance. In these two by-elections, as in British Columbia, the C.C.F. continues to display a partisan spirit. It is important that Mr. Meighen should be in the House of Commons for it is there that he can best exercise his leadership of the Conservative party. As for a new minister appointed to a strongly entrenched Government in a time such as this it would be an act of courtesy to allow him to be elected to the House of Commons without opposition. That is the desire of the Conservatives. The C.C.F. by its attitude in these two constituencies will accentuate suspicions already aroused because of the nature of utterances by its leaders.—Victoria Colonist.

TRY WALKING

Among the effects of the tire rationing may be a revival of walking for pleasure. Now that the Sunday afternoon spin amounts to expensive indulgence, strolls in the city or hikes in the near-by countryside may be the worthwhile substitutes.

The result can hardly be anything but beneficial. Admittedly a car is a great help both on outings and in doing errands around home. But a great many of us would be in better shape physically if we did more walking to work and for recreation. And from the standpoint of enjoyment almost any person gains a far greater appreciation of the beauties about him by a leisurely walk than by a hurried glance through the car window.

Possibilities for walks in and about Cedar Rapids are both many and inviting. There's a bracing effect, for instance, in a brisk tramp through the snow in the city parks or along the river. When spring comes there will be green hillsides to explore, winding country roads to follow, reborn fields to admire. The rich abundance of summer and the brilliance of autumn are in no way better understood than by an intimate jaunt through them on foot.

Most things have their compensations. If the shortage of rubber means that more of us will use our own resourcefulness in taking advantage of Iowa's outdoor treasures, we have not lost in the exchange. — Gazette, Cedar Rapids, Iowa.

1933——THEN AND NOW——1942

Many and startling have been the advances made in naval aircraft in the past decade. Nelson Scribe Has Air Force Food O.K.

Don Fleming, former Nelson News sports writer now in Edmonton with the R. C. A. F., is back in the groove already, writing for the Manning Pool Airman, self-styled "Canada's most influential weakly." Fleming, only away from his desk a trifle over a week, has sent to Nelson an Airman containing two of his stor- ies, an interview with the Manning Pool's Catholic Padre, and a story on a Manning Pool Hurricanes—R.C.A.S.C. Rockets hockey game bylined "Thank to Act Scoop Flem- ing."

The former Nelson scribe is all het up over the meals served in the Air Force too. He writes "a typical dinner has good soup. Then often two choices of meat burdened with vegetables and gravy, always one kind of pie, and all the bread, jam, honey and marmalade (can even have all or some of each) you could desire, and a choice of tea, coffee milk and chocolate milk. . . WHEN MOUNTAIN SHEEP WELCOME MEN

To help them through severe Winters when natur- al food is difficult to obtain, mountain sheep in Kootenay National Park are sometimes fed by the Game Branch. Above sheep are pictured as they arrived at the feeding ground for a meal. The photo was taken by Alex Sin- clair, Nelson, Acting Inspector in charge of B Game Division.

SOFTLY YOKED AFTERNOON FROCK

Marian Martin

PATTERN 9975

You're busier than ever now with wartime activities, and need a frock that will "see you through" the entire day. Try a print—try scalloped yokes—try Pattern 9975 by Marian Martin that's quickly stitched at home. The bodice fullness is held in place by those pretty yokes and by little darts above the waist. Panels give you front-and-back slenderness you need if your hip measurement is larger than average. Make this dress with short or three-quarter sleeves for active wear—make it in washable crepe in one of the new leaf prints, and for a dainty touch, edge the yokes with lace, or trim the bodice with buttons—it's a pleasure to stitch it up with the Sew Chart's easy aid!

Pattern 9975 may be ordered only in women's sizes 34, 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46 and 48. Size 36 requires 3 yards 39 inch fabric.

Send twenty cents for this Marian Martin pattern. Be sure to write plainly your SIZE, name, address and style number.

Send your order to The Daily News, Pattern Department, Nelson. Pattern will be sent to your home within 10 days.

CONTRACT . . . By Shepard Barclay

SQUEEZES CAN BE EARLY

ORDINARILY we think of a squeeze as something which comes on a late trick, when a defender is pared down to just a few cards. If he is guarding a bunch of secondary tricks, however, the pressure can sometimes be applied to him early in the play of the hand. In order to retain protection against one suit, he has to get rid of his threat to some other suit. Anything he does is wrong. If he selects one alternative, you fix him in one manner; if another, then you wreck him in another way.

After the spade J lead rode to the K, the diamond A and Q showed that East could win the fourth round of that suit and that hence only eight tricks were clearly in view. Four consecutive hearts, however, made life miserable for the defenders. East was able to toss a club on one of these and still leave himself able to guarantee the side three tricks in spades and two in clubs if those suits got led. But when the last heart was led, she was ruined.

Notice that, if East, retaining three spades, two diamonds and two clubs, discards a diamond, the declarer, who had put a spade and a diamond on hearts, could run that suit for his ninth trick. If East ditched another club, blanking his K, a club lead would either force West to drop the K with his A, then lead for three spade tricks with East winding up leading into the dummy's diamonds, or else would cause East to win with his club K and then lead either spades or diamonds to give the dummy the ninth trick.

But the only remaining choice, which east accepted, was just as bad, a spade discard. South then led that suit, giving them two tricks there and two in clubs, but the club J and diamond K then had to win, making his contract. It was a complex squeeze on the seventh trick.

Swift Action on Alaska Road Bill Is Urged

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4 (AP). — Governor Ernest Gruening of Alaska told a United States House of Representatives Roads Committee today he expects that two or more highways from the United States to Alaska will be constructed to meet the demand for land transportation of supplies and war munitions.

The Governor, supporting a bill to authorize construction of a $50,000,000 international highway, said Canada has not indicated its stand on the proposal. He said immediate action is necessary and that a delay of a few weeks now might delay construction for a year.

"The situation in the whole Pacific would be changed and be more favorable," Gruening said, "if the highway was in existence."

Committee members urged that the State Department learn how the Canadian Government regards the project and Chairman Wilburn Cartwright (Dem.-Oklahoma) named a committee to confer with members of a Cabinet Committee appointed by President Roosevelt to consider the need for the highway.

Gruening and Delegate A. J. Dimond of Alaska told the Committee the War Department, which previously opposed construction of the road, now favors its construction.

Maxim Litvinoff, Russian ambassador to the United States, was born in Poland.

"Ton mile," measurement of railroad freight service, represents the transportation of one ton of freight a distance of one mile.

The U. S. Department of Labor has ruled that time lost through a blackout is not to be construed as hours worked.

Chinese Wrest Three Towns Near Yochow From Japs

CHUNGKING, Feb. 4 (AP).—The Chinese Command reported today the capture of three towns near Yochow, the Hunan Province base from which the Japanese launched their recent disastrous thrust at Changsha, and seizure of two villages on the Canton-Kowloon Railway in South China.

In the drive along the Canton-Kowloon railway the Chinese were said to have seized on Feb. 1 the station of Chengmuktou, 30 miles from the border of Hong Kong, and the nearby village of Hekma. The Japanese suffered heavy casualties in this operation.

Supplies of Singapore Pineapple Scarce; Dried Fruits Hard to Get

The oat market has advanced and it is to be expected that rolled oats in the manufactured form will be advanced in price according to wholesale row. The oats situation is handled by the government and there is no doubt that oats will advance, as did flour.

Because of the scarcity of tin in Canada, a number of sizes are likely to be eliminated, which the Government feels are duplications.

Some wholesalers report that their stocks of Singapore pineapple are almost depleted. It is not likely that new stocks will arive for some time since these come from the war zone. Dried fruits, such as prunes apricots and raisins, which are drawn principally from California, are hard to get since the United States finds that it is going to need fruit at home.

Oranges are moving well, the prices are reasonable and the quality is of the best. The apple supplies are limited, Spies and Wagners are almost all cleaned up. There are a few fancy Macs, and a few fancy Delicious are still available. The price of head lettuce is easier this week, and local vegetables remain the same.

Feeds are moving freely and the local egg supplies are good.

Car arrivals for the week are, one car of oranges, one car of flour and feed, one of alfalfa hay, one of oyster shell, one of sugar, one of salt, one of groceries and one of meats.

Interpreting

The War News

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON
Associated Press War Analyst

Despite his assurances that great reinforcements will arrive in the Southwest Pacific, Gen. Sir Archibald Wavell's appeal to allied troops there to hold their ground carries a grim reminder of the British "backs to the wall" order in France 24 years ago.

That order of the day was issued April 12, 1918 by Gen. Sir Douglas Haig, later Earl Haig. The German master offensive of that dark Spring was in full cry, with Americans yet to be tested in major action. British lines already in Picardy were crumbling and contact between the British and French armies was gravely threatened.

Gen. Wavell perhaps had that in mind even more than the first Battle of Ypres which he cited as a precedent, and the British stand at Tobruk. Now as in France in the last war and in Libya last year, he said, the mission of British Empire forces and their allies is to hold on until help reaches them.

This history repeats itself within less than a quarter century. Gen. Wavell has apparently reached the conclusion that the crisis is at hand there. The Nipponese drive to break through British Netherland American defences and sweep the Netherlands Indies, even Australia, into the Axis drag net is at its peak. When, where or how the promised Anglo-American reinforcements will arrive to thwart it, as Anglo-American-French armies thwarted the last German effort in 1918, is yet to be disclosed.

The news from other war fronts is none too cheering. The British annihilation drive in North Africa has become a puzzling retreat. Empire forces have withdrawn from virtually all the Libyan hump. In Russia there have been no claims for days of strategic towns or important rail junctions recaptured by Red armies. At least one rewon foothold in the Crimea, Feodosiya, has been lost by the Russians again.

In the Atlantic the sea warfare has spread to American coastal waters. The cost in tanker and other tonnage sunk is heavy.

Nakusp Development District Collection of Taxes Increases

NAKUSP, B. C.—At the annual meeting of the Nausp Development District F. Rushton was in the chair and N. A. Herridge acted as Secretary. The meeting discussed the re-issue of a further $10,000 worth of debentures, as the old issue matures at the end of the present war. The new board of commissioners was given the authority to reissue if it was found necessary. The bonds issued, however, will be at a lower rate of interest than the present eight per cent.

With the general uptrend of business, it was found that collection of both water rates and taxes had been increased during the fiscal year. Considerable expense had been incurred with the lowering of the pipes on the main highway, necessitated by the standardization of the said highway.

G. H. Gardner was elected Commissioner, to replace B. Parkinson whose term of office expired this year, and G. W. M. Hakeman was elected to replace H. W. Herridge who had resigned from the Board.
