150 BRITISH, NAZI PLANES IN AIR BATTLE

Ironside Promoted; Succeeded by Brooke

Gort Made Inspector General; Moves Follow Out View Man With Experience in France Should Head Command

By PAT USSHER—Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, July 19 (CP Cable)—General Sir Edmund Ironside was promoted to field marshal and succeeded as Commander-in-Chief of the home forces by Lt.-Gen. Sir Alan Brooke tonight in a series of War Office promotions designed to place the army on the best footing to resist the threat of invasion.

General Viscount Gort who commanded the British Expeditionary Force throughout the Battle of Flanders and the epic Dunkerque evacuation was appointed inspector general to the forces in training.

Field Marshal Ironside remains on the active army list, available to act in an advisory capacity or to assume a new command.

The promotion of Gen. Brooke, who served a part of the first Great War with the Canadian forces, reflects the view that it is essential the home forces should be under control of a general with immediate experience of command in France and Belgium. He commanded the second corps of the B.E.F. in fighting there.

He was general staff officer second grade, Royal Artillery, attached to the Canadian Corps, in 1917-18.

General Brooke, who will be 57 July 23, will take the rank of acting general. He has been serving as general officer commanding the Southern command, which will be taken over by Lt.-Gen. C. J. E. Auchinleck, formerly commander of the Meerut district in India. General Brooke won the D.S.O. in the First Great War.

Maj.-Gen. H. R. Alexander, the officer to whom Gen. Gort handed over command of the few remaining troops in Dunkerque when he returned to England, was gazetted today as a lieutenant general.

Gen. Auchinleck was commander of the Allied military forces at Narvik at the time that Northern Norwegian city was captured from the Germans and of the subsequent withdrawal.

Gen. Brooke is a member of a Northern Ireland family known as the "fighting Brookes." He was born at Bagueres de Bigorre in France. He played a large part in the mechanization of the British army. Because of his all-round knowledge of gunnery and mechanization he earned the nickname of "Wizard."

He was commander of a mobile division in 1937 and 1938. He won recognition for his direction of the second corps against Germany's mechanized forces in the recent campaign in Belgium and France.

During the First Great War he served with the Canadian and Indian forces. In addition to the D.S.O., he was mentioned in dispatches six times and was awarded the Belgian Croix de Guerre. Reputed to be the inventor of the barrage map for direction of artillery barrage fire, he commanded an anti-aircraft corps in 1938 at a time when Britain was preparing to meet the crisis that preceded Munich.

Gen. Brooke has a keen sense of humor, is an ardent sportsman and one of the best shots in England.

1-3 Odds Against Nazis All Right With R.A.F. Fliers

New Scheme to Spot Nazi Raiders Is Developed

By DREW MIDDLETON

WITH THE ROYAL AIR FORCE SOMEWHERE IN ENGLAND, July 19 (AP)—"Give us odds of 1 to 3 against Jerry, and we're all right. One to two is a setup."

A young officer of the Royal Air Force dropped that remark with quiet confidence today.

The brains of the R. A. F. guided by reports of wide-ranging pilots, have newly perfected a system of spotting marauding German aircraft, plotting their positions and swiftly mobilizing the sky fleet on which the aerial defence of Britain will rest.

Aided by experiences in France and Flanders, the R.A.F. has resisted to collect a great number of planes at any one airfield. Instead, it has emphasized the necessity for gathering a large defensive force in the air over any given area.

Thus the appearance of 50 German planes over a zone patrolled by half a squadron of R.A.F. Hurricane fighters would within 15 minutes bring, perhaps 24 fighters to defend the area.

"That's all we need," said a young flight lieutenant, an Austrian, whose family was driven out by the Germans. "Our men have confidence in their machines and their leaders."

"They (Germans) don't seem to have changed any," he said, "and so far I haven't seen anything of Jerry's widely-heralded new defence of bombers, which is supposed to consist of a circle of fighting planes flying around the bombing formation at top speed.

"They may try it, but it's not as easy as it sounds, because it gives us a chance to break into the centre of the bomber formation."

This officer, who has accounted for six German planes, said the British Hurricane fighters are "the best in the war".

The biggest flight he has yet encountered, he said, was a swarm of 100 to 150 Heinkels and Messerschmitts which attacked a British convoy.

"We went after them with six Hurricanes which had been on patrol, and on my honor, we scattered them. But as always the need is for more planes."

War Chemical Plant to Produce Ammonia in Western Canada

OTTAWA, July 19 (CP). — A war chemical plant to cost approximately $9,000,000 will be erected "somewhere in Western Canada" as part of the explosives program of the Government, it was announced tonight. This particular unit of the scheme which will embrace developments of major importance in the Empire, will produce ammonia and ammonia derivatives.

War Heads Seek to Coordinate Appeals

OTTAWA, July 19 (CP) — A scheme for consolidation of public appeals for funds may be considered by the war services department when its present work on registration plans is completed, it was stated tonight.

Officials said it was probable a plan would be worked out whereby such organizations as the Red Cross, the Y.M.C.A., Canadian Legion, the Salvation Army and the Knights of Columbus, might unite their efforts in a single campaign to obtain perhaps as much as $8,000,000.

Cappos was patrolling on a speeder when struck by an engine running light. He was taken aboard the engine and taken to Grand Forks.

Officials here said he was about 65 years old, with only a few months left before retirement.

Plenty of Work Awaits Crerar, Back in Canada

By FRANK FLAHERTY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA, July 19 (CP) — Plenty of work awaits Maj.-Gen. Henry Duncan Graham Crerar, Vice-Chief of the General Staff, who arrived today at an Eastern Canadian port en route to the capital to take up his responsible duties at National Defence headquarters.

In assuming this new post General Crerar brings to defence headquarters the knowledge and experience gained in seven months of intimate contact with the War Office in London and the British High Command.

The post of Vice-Chief of the General Staff is a new one. In it General Crerar will relieve Maj.-Gen. T. V. Anderson, Chief of the General Staff, of much of the onerous detail devolving on him.

General Anderson has been at his desk steadily and often seven days a week since the start of the war. From now on he will be able to devote more time to the primary function of his appointment, advising the Minister of National Defence on technical military matters. He will have more time for consideration and discussion of matters of major policy.

Lt.-Gen. A. G. L. McNaughton, Commander of an Army Corps in England, who led the 1st Division overseas and General Crerar went through the last war as artillery officers. Both at different times served as counter-battery officer for the Canadian Corps.

URGES STRICTER WATCH ON BORDER, TRAILS USED

CLOVERDALE, B. C., July 19 (CP)—Urging stricter control of border points East of here, Reeve John Hunter of Cloverdale said today that trails across the international line are used surreptiously at night.

"There are seven trails or roads passable by automobile in this area, and we have reason to believe the trails are used during the night hours," he said.

France Not to Look West Again

VICHY, France, July 19 (AP)—Foreign Minister Paul Baudoin declared tonight France has disclaimed all responsibility for "whatever may happen" following the severance of diplomatic relations with Britain. He did not elaborate on his statement. (The embassy at London was closed today).

The newspaper Paris-Soir described future French foreign policy as "neither sentimental nor humanitarian but realistic." It added:

"Until now France has looked toward England and America. That will not happen again. France will be European and continental."

HITLER SPEECH LITTLE CHANGED SAY FRENCH

Creston Priest Named Chaplain; to Report to Artillery Camp at Shilo

CRESTON, B.C. — Rev. J. H. Fitzgerald of Holy Cross Church, Creston, has been notified of his appointment as chaplain with the Canadian Expeditionary Forces, with the request that he report at the artillery camp at Shilo, Man., near Brandon.

The appointment was made by Rev. Father Nelligan, head of the Catholic Chaplain Service, subject to the approval of Most Rev. Mar- M. Johnson, D.D., Bishop of Nelson.

Father Fitzgerald has had previous chaplaincy service. He was engaged in similar work for some years at Stony Mountain penitentiary, Manitoba, during his five-year stay in Winnipeg, where he was professor of mathematics at St. Paul's College, University of Manitoba.

He came to Creston two years ago from St. Paul's College to take charge of Holy Cross parish, in succession to Rev. Maurice Cooney.

Father Fitzgerald's work here has been exceptionally successful. Due to largely increased attendances the congregation was compelled to move about a year ago from the oldtime Holy Cross church on Victoria Avenue to an enlarged house of worship created by transforming the new parish hall on Barton Avenue into a Church.

His efforts in connection with C. Y. O. activities locally as well as at other points in East Kootenay have been equally successful. He is also head of Creston Senate Credit Union, the first of these organizations to be organized in the B.C. interior.

AN EASTERN CANADIAN PORT, July 19 (CP).—A torpedo sank the companion ship of a freighter which landed 27 Polish refugees here yesterday, it was learned today.

The women, who arrived safely, went immediately to a convent here, and had little to say about their trip, beyond revealing that they had limited quarters on the Polish ship which brought them.

Convent sisters said the arrivals might be more ready to discuss their trip when they had recovered from fatigue and strain.

Byelections to Be Held Aug. 19

OTTAWA, July 19 (CP) — The Prime Minister's office announced tonight byelections will be held Aug. 19 to fill the four House of Commons seats of Carleton, Waterloo North and Kingston in Ontario and Saskatoon in Saskatchewan. Nominations will be held Aug. 12.

The vacancy in the Kingston seat was created by the death June 10 of Hon. Norman Rogers, Minister of Defence, in the crash of a Royal Canadian Air Force plane at Newcastle, Ont.

The elevation of Hon. W. D. Euler, former Minister of Trade and Commerce, to the Senate brought about the vacancy in Waterloo North while the death of Dr. A. B. Hyndman, Conservative, left the third Ontario seat, Carleton, vacant.

The vacancy in the Saskatoon seat was created by the death April 1 of Rev. Walter F. Brown, United Reform candidate.

Eight New Fires at End of Record Week

Eight new forest fires were listed in the Southern Interior Friday—the easiest day in a week in which 321 were reported, a record for the Nelson Forest District in number of fires occurring in one week.

Four new fires in Nakusp district were spotted when E. W. Bassett, Assistant Forester, was accompanied by Percy Young, Nakusp Ranger and James McDonald, Creston Ranger, in an airplane survey of the district. A Consolidated Mining & Smelting Company plane was used in a circle tour over the Arrow Lakes, Cranbrook, Moyie River, Creston, Salmo and Trail.

One of the new fires was on Heller Creek in the Yahk Forest Reserve, and a crew was en route to it Friday night. Another fire was reported on Tracy Creek, East of Wasa.

In Nakusp District four new fires were reported, one high on Kuskanax Creek and three on Half-Way Creek. These were probably fires set by lightning storms but unreported until the plane flight was made.

Grand Forks reported a fire on Lynch Creek, a tributary of the North Fork of the Kettle River, to which a crew was sent; and a fire near Christian Valley which was already under control.

Condition of old fires was about the same, with a number of crew reductions.

Nazis Lose Four Bombers and Six Fighting Planes

Five British Fighters Missing; Nazis Pound at Shipping and Harbor; Dogfights Over Channel Result; Nazi Points Hit

By PAT USSHER
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, July 19 (CP Cable).—More than 150 German and British planes took part in two big battles off the Southeast coast of England this afternoon, the Air Ministry announced tonight.

It said that nearly 70 Nazi bombers and fighters were engaged in the first fight, and more than 50 in the second. Ten German planes, four bombers and six Messerschmitt fighters, were shot down and many others damaged. One German plane was destroyed at another point, making their losses for the day at least 11. Five British fighters are missing.

The first attack was directed at a British convoy; the second at a South coast harbor.

Hurricane and Spitfire pursuit ships and anti-aircraft guns hotly engaged the Germans and a series of dogfights broke out over the English Channel and subsequently over the French coast between Calais and Boulogne.

On the offensive side, Britain's bombers maintained thier persistent attacks on key enemy objectives.

Concentrations of barges near Rotterdam, shipping in Boulogne harbor, and warehouses at Le Havre, were attacked in daylight Thursday. Objectives in other raids included the Krupp munitions works at Essen, oil and airplane factories. Four British bombers are missing.

Enemy raiders dropped bombs in Scotland and Wales, causing some casualties.

A British destroyer played a large part in these dogfights, fighting off a swarm of German aircraft which dived to ring it with bombs. It shot down at least one German plane, and was not damaged itself.

R. A. F. planes chased the Germans off to the French coast where an intense engagement was fought between Calais and Boulogne. Watchers on the English coast saw big splashes off the French shore as at least four crippled planes hurtled into the sea.

The Air Ministry in announcing destructive raids over Germany and German-subjugated territory, said that bombs struck part of the Krupp works at Essen and a big explosion "made evident the success of the attack."

A German plane bombed and machine gunned the British Trawler City of Aberdeen at a point only 17 miles off the Irish Southeast coast today.

The bombs did not strike the trawler but the force of their explosions caused the vessel to spring a leak. It reached shore in a sinking condition and was beached. The crew was saved.

The Air Ministry said:

"In one dogfight three Hurricanes became separated from the rest of their squadron. Sighting a formation of about 20 Messerschmitt fighters the British pilots each singled out a Nazi machine and attacked. Two of the Messerschmitt 109s were shot down, one diving into the sea in flames.

"The third Messerschmitt 109 was hit by one Hurricane pilot and then attacked by another Hurricane which fired several hundred rounds of machine-gun bullets into it at close range. The crippled Messerschmitt, rapidly losing height and with one wing on fire, was last seen only a few feet above the water.

"Two Spitfire pilots saw 12 Messerschmitts at 13,000 feet. In spite of the fact that they were outnumbered six to one the Spitfire pilots dived to attack. One chased his Messerschmitt down to 3500 feet, but had to break off the engagement when another Messerschmitt 109 got on his tail. Turning about the British pilot attacked the newcomer head on and the Messerschmitt was set on fire.

"The opposing fighters flashed by each other and their wing tips touched. The Spitfire pilot felt his machine shudder and is confident that the Messerschmitt crashed into the sea."

ALL EXPLOSIVES UNDER CONTROL

OTTAWA, July 19 (CP) — Under authority of the War Measures Act, the Dominion Government moved tonight to place all explosives in Canada under rigid control.

An order-in-council gives the Government complete authority over possession, sale and safekeeping of such materials, stipulating that no explosive authorized under the Explosives Act can be sold by other than a licensed magazine and outlining regulations covering the issue of permits.

Within 15 days all magazine licences must furnish a return to the chief inspector of explosives of the Mines and Resources Department showing the quantity of explosives in their possession, purpose for which they are held, and provisions made to safeguard them.

Operators of mines and quarries, by far the largest users of explosives, will need only one purchase permit a year under the new regulations, except when otherwise directed by the chief inspector. Bona fide employees of these and other industrial enterprises making use of authorized explosives are exempt from the regulations while engaged in the performance of their duties.

Permits for the purchase of such materials must be obtained from officers of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, Provincial Police, Provincial Inspectors of Mines or the Chiefs of Police of municipalities.

Here is a story of what they are doing, told in no order as to precedence, but in a graphic picture of a city at work to help a nation and an Empire:

Canadian Legion Finds Its Part in War Increasing; Recruiting Major Interest

An increasing part is being played by the Nelson Branch of the Canadian Legion. As veterans who served in the First Great War, their convictions are strong, their experience is valuable, and their desire to "finish the job" is evident.

Beginning with the Canadian Legion War Services drive for funds, the Nelson Branch raised $631.50, exceeding its quota by $131.50. From that it stepped into a wide sphere of action, one of its chief interests being recruiting. It assisted the authorities in recruiting for the Veterans Home Guard by taking applications and lending its facilities for initiation of medical examinations. Later it assisted many recruits during the days they were waiting to be accepted.

HELP DEPENDENTS

An important contribution since the outbreak of the war has been to assist dependents of enlisted men who for many reasons had difficulties or were late in obtaining separation allowances. Another department of service, related to and yet apart from that given to dependents, is the "personal service" offered to each recruit wherein the Legion undertakes to see to any difficulties which might arise at home while a man is on active service.

Lately the Legion has served as a receiving depot and forwarding agency in the appeal of the Department of National Defence for field glasses, having sent to military headquarters 24 pair that citizens turned over.

Each draft of recruits out of Nelson has received gifts of cigarettes and so on, and the Legion has presented cigarettes on behalf of Mayor N. C. Sibbs when his worship was unable himself to see drafts leave and make the presentations personally.

Wives, Mothers, Sweethearts of Enlisted Men Knit Comforts With 111th Auxiliary

Organized before the outbreak of hostilities, and expanding since as the need for its services expanded, is the Women's Auxiliary to the 111th Field Battery, composed of wives, mothers, sisters and sweethearts of enlisted men, together with interested women who hold associate membership.

Actually it has outgrown its name, for its affiliations now go much further than the 111th. It was active before the war, assisting the 111th Battery when it was a Non-Permanent Militia unit. When recruiting started its membership grew rapidly and its work even more rapidly, for it is dedicated to providing comforts for soldiers from this district. Knitting needles click incessantly as its members work for their men.

A shipment now ready of 21 pairs of socks—probably each with a package of cigarettes tucked in—ready to be forwarded to district boys in England is typical of its work. Last Fall it sent barrels of apples to the 111th at Edmonton, and at Christmas a parcel was forwarded for each man. Shipments go forward each time sufficient goods are on hand.

With general recruiting lately, and men going into many different units, the Auxiliary had added to its membership the wives, mothers and sweethearts of these men. Today it holds a tag day to raise money for more wool.

In addition to actually preparing comforts and cakes and cookies for the men in khaki, it has played a smaller but important part in extending help to relatives of these men.

Nucleus of 111th wool funds was a donation of $50 from the family of Colonel Kemball, who gave his life at Vimy Ridge in the First Great War.

At private picnic teas of members at Lakeside Park it is raising funds to buy War Savings Certificates.

Church Organizations Knit, Sew, Give Money

Women and girls of Nelson churches have entered into the war effort wholeheartedly.

In Trinity United Church all the organizations, such as the Woman's Association, Junior Woman's Association, Women's Missionary Society, and so on, have done Red Cross sewing and knitting since last Fall. There is no actual Red Cross group within the church as most of the women are members of the Nelson Red Cross Society or some other war work group, and it is felt that to form such a group within the church would be duplication. One or two representatives of the church go to the Red Cross work rooms and take supplies to the church societies.

At St. Paul's United Church, the Woman's Association has done sewing and knitting, and the Excelsior Club meets once a week at the Refugee Work Rooms to knit and sew. The St. Paul's Boys' Choir gave $40, proceeds from its final season concert, to the refugee fund.

The Ladies' Aid of the Scandinavian Church meets Thursay at the rooms of the Nelson and District Red Cross Work Committee to assist in sewing. They are planning a tea later, from which proceeds will go to the Red Cross.

The Service Club and Woman's Association of the Church of the Redeemer in Fairview both have done sewing and knitting for the Red Cross. The Girls W.A. turned over a sum of money to the Red Cross from a recent tea.

Clubs within St. Saviour's Anglican Church have been doing sewing and knitting for the Red Cross and several of the women have signified their intention to take refugee children into their homes if and when the children come from England.

The Bethel Tabernacle Missionary Society has also done sewing and knitting and made medical supplies such as bandages for the Red Cross. Most of these supplies have been sent direct to missionary fields.

City "Carries on", Keeping Employment Up

Nelson City Council is making one of the most important contributions—operating the City normally, maintaining employment to the limit of its ability and so helping to keep essential funds in circulation—in general "carrying on." In addition to the employment created by its normal public works program, the Council proposes to extend work still further should ratepayers indorse its $40,000 waterworks bylaw next week. This would provide not only local labor, but work and wages also in the plants of the manufacturers supplying material.

Another important contribution—in which the City led the district—was to assure those men leaving permanent jobs that their jobs would be waiting for them upon their return—and to arrange that their superannuation payments should be maintained.

The City purchased $10,000 of the Dominion's first war loan, shortly after the outbreak of the war.

Girls' League Members Rent Bicycles to Aid

A hard-working and enthusiastic band is the newly-organized Junior Girls' War League, sponsored by Mrs. J. H. Argyle. The members are busily engaged knitting wristlets, socks and hot water bottle covers.

Two of the girls are raising funds by renting out their bicycles, a real sacrifice during the fine weather, and two others are cutting lawns. The girls are anxious and eager to do anything to contribute to the war effort.

Money raised and knitted articles are to go to the I.O.D.E. war fund, A recent candy sale netted $2.60 for this purpose, Mrs. Argyle said. Miss Claire Hughes is President of the organization.

Junior Chamber to Help Registration

Nelson Junior Chamber of Commerce will make its first direct, major contribution to the war effort when national registration of men and women is inaugurated. The entire membership has volunteered to serve as deputy assistant registrars.

Foreseeing opportunities of service, the Junior Chamber resolved at the outbreak of war to hold itself in readiness for any call. It dropped fund-raising activities, supporting the Chamber out of membership fees and weekly contributions, while its members made personal contributions to drives by other organizations and assisted in them. Its present plan is to cooperate where its help is requested, said Robert Foxall, Chairman of the Special War Services Committee.

Knights Columbus Raise $850 for Army Huts

About $850 has been raised by the Nelson Council of the Knights of Columbus for the Order's Army huts fund, L. H. Choquette, Chairman of the canvassing committee, reported.

The Knights in the last war did splendid work through their huts, providing places of recreation and comforts for the men overseas. During the present war huts have been established in Canada and in England.

Catholic Women's League Helps Red Cross

Catholic Women's League members, while not taking an active part in the war effort as a unit, have volunteered their services for Red Cross work. Members individually are listed as Red Cross workers, and some made application to take refugee children into their homes before this plan was suspended in Great Britain, Mrs. R. Lunn, President, said.

OTHERS TO RALLY

Other Catholic Church organizations are also planning to rally to the call. Rev. M. J. Cooney, one of the directors of Nelson Catholic Youth Organizations, said:

"The C.Y.O. as yet has not taken an active contributory part, but is contemplating doing so in the near future."

Finnish Relief Committee to Help Canada

"We feel now we must work for Canada in our own war effort" stated Mrs. H. Saare, President of the Nelson Finnish Relief Committee. The Committee has not made any direct contribution to the Canada's war effort, but the Vancouver Council, with which the Nelson body is associated, has made a "considerable donation" to the Canadian Red Cross. Through public donations, dances, concerts and other various means the Nelson workers raised nearly $500 for Finnish relief.

Any further funds raised now, it is expected, will be used to help Canada.

Norwegian Committee Gives to Red Cross

The Norwegian Civilian Relief Committee, originally organized to raise funds to send to war-stricken Norway, has donated over $50 to the Nelson Red Cross Society.

Mrs. Ole Anderson, President, explained because of the difficulty of contacting proper authorities in Norway after it was overrun by the Nazis, it was decided to present the funds raised in their brief campaign to help Canada—" and we were glad to do it."

Soroptimists Sew for Refugee Children

By conducting a sewing room, where members meet weekly to sew for refugee children, the Nelson Soroptomist Club, is cooperating in Nelson war work. The Club is also working in conjunction with the Nelson Red Cross Society, being represented in that organization by Mrs. C. W. Tyler.

A $150 contribution to the Soroptimists Club of Canada war ambulance funds was also made recently, Miss Nancy Dunn, President, stated. Through its international organization, the American Federation of Soroptimists Clubs, the Club is making a further contribution.

Joymakers, Eagles, Have Cigarette Fund

The Joymakers Club and Eagles Lodge, combining in a whist drive and dance in the Winter, provided over $17 worth of cigarettes and tobacco for recruits who had enlisted. The Joymakers Club gave $15, proceeds from a dance staged in February, to the Salvation Army for war purposes.

The Eagles Lodge donated the use of the Eagles Hall on several occasions for patriotic affairs. These included a dance during the Winter staged by the Norwegian Relief Fund Committee when Germany attacked Norway.

ORCHESTRAS GIVE SERVICES

A number of Nelson orchestras have donated their services to organizations raising funds for war services.

Refugee Committee Makes Plans to Take Care of Children Evacuated From Britain

An organization formed recently which had planned extensive work in the district had its plans "nipped in the bud" when the British Government recently announced the postponement of the child evacuation scheme. This was the Nelson and District Refugee Committee, organized at a large public meeting at the City Hall June 27.

Headed by Dr. G. A. C. Walley as Chairman, the Committee had arranged to take care of a large number of children. Auxiliaries at Willow Point, Sheep Creek, Ymir; the West Arm, including Longbeach, Sunshine Bay and Harrop; South Slocan, New Denver and Nakusp, had joined the committee. Groups at other district points had been contacted.

Sport Plays Part; Benefit Games Staged; Number Athletes in Active Service Force

Sport in Nelson has taken a prominent part in the war cause. An intercity softball game was played between Savoy Hotel and Salmo June 30, with proceeds going to Red Cross, and the Nelson Maple Leafs played a Red Cross box lacrosse benefit game in Rossland Dominion Day. The Senior Baseball Club had scheduled a benefit game with the African Zulu Giants, but negotiations fell through and the game failed to materialize. However the baseballers plan to stage a benefit before the season ends.

Softball has contributed most players to active war service, Ted Bialkowski, Jack Gray and "Slim" Elliot having enlisted from the City Senior League, and Jack Clements from the Church circuit. Clements, League President, was one of the founders of the league in 1939. Don Lazier enlisted soon after the war broke out. Besides softball he was also active in golf and basketball. Gray was also prominent in basketball, being one of the top men in league scoring in 1939-40. The lacrosse team lost Doug Blais, high-scoring rover, early in the season at a time he was leading the team in scoring. Blais also was a softball and hockey player.

Board of Trade Buys $400 War Certificates

A $400-purchase of war saving certificates issued was a major contribution of the Nelson Board of Trade.

Members have cooperated on nearly every City war organization, lending their aid where needed, and now are taking a leading part in the war savings stamps and certificates sales promotion campaign. While a representative committee was formed for this work the Board sponsored and organized the drive.

The drive has proved "highly satisfactory", stated E. A. Mann, of the Board, Chairman of the War Savings Committee and Nelson representative on the B.C. Committee.

Gyros Sell War Stamps; Rotarians Pledge Aid; Kinsmen May Give Regatta Receipts

Heading activities of the Nelson Gyro Club is the plan to sell War Savings Certificates. The Club's convention fund of nearly $500 has been turned over to the purchase of stamps. Of this, $100 worth have been bought and distributed to the members to sell.

V. C. Owen, who has charge of the committee handling the stamps, reported the sales were going exceedingly well and said more stamps would be bought for redistribution when the present supply was finished. The remaining $400 of the fund has been left in the bank for the time being but will probably be utilized for further purchases.

The Rotary Club has pledged itself wholeheartedly to assist in the War Savings Certificates drive.

Kinsmen propose donation of all proceeds of a projected Labor Day regatta to the war effort. It is proposed that admission to the regatta be by purchase of War Savings Stamps. This would operate on the same plan as that worked successfully last Monday by the motion picture industry of Canada.

Scouts Help Other Bodies; Guides Active

Pledged to do their utmost, Nelson Boy Scout troops and the 32nd I.O.D.E. Company of Girl Guides have given their time and effort to other City organizations working in the war effort in various ways.

In more or less "behind the scenes" work as ushers at patriotic concerts and programs, messengers for the Red Cross, Refugee Committee, and other war organizations the Scouts have made their contribution.

The Guides made an individual contribution recently, raising over $17 for the Empire Guides ambulance fund. Besides this, individual Girl Guides are putting their spending money into war stamps, are knitting for the Red Cross, and are helping to make clothing for refugee children.

Nelson Nurses Registered for Service but in Meantime Buy Bonds, Knit, Roll Bandages

Nelson Graduate Nurses Association is making its contribution by assisting in the Home Nursing Classes of the Red Cross Society, assisting the Red Cross work committee, and by voting its surplus funds to the purchase of war saving stamps and certificates Miss Helen Tompkins, President, said to help the work committee, the nurses are knitting, rolling bandages and preparing dressing, work to which they are particularly suited by their professional training.

Too, the graduate nurses of the Kootenay Lake General Hospital are registered on the Nelson Disaster Relief Committee, a committee of the Red Cross Society, and are registered for war and emergency work at home and overseas, Miss Vera B. Eidt, Superintendent, recalled.

Red Cross Raises $13,712; Many Units Are Helping Make Hospital Supplies, Comforts

Nelson Red Cross Society's contribution to the war effort has been a leading one. In a subscription campaign early in the war actual cash donations totalled $5787, while pledges, to be subscribed within the year, totalled $7925, bringing the campaign total to $13,712.

The workroom has been a major activity of the Society and several shipments of goods have already been sent to provincial headquarters at Vancouver.

The shipments included large quantities of socks, sweaters, blankets, hospital bed gowns, pneumonia jackets, triangular bandages, abdominal binders, Hampton bed pads, mattress pads and pillow cases. Shortly Red Cross workers expect to participate in the preparation of clothing for war refugees.

DISTRICT AUXILIARIES

A great contribution, both in finances and in work, has been made by the various Auxiliaries throughout the District, special units, and work groups. Auxiliaries are located in Willow Point, South Slocan, Blewett-Bonnington, Erie, Sheep Creek, Salmo, Ymir, Thrums, Queen's Bay, Procter, Sunshine Bay and Balfour, while a West Arm Auxiliary takes in Longbeach and surrounding territory. Junior Auxiliaries are organized both at Willow Point and at Nelson and have bene doing some fine work.

The Society also has several work units affiliated with it. These include the Fairview unit, St. Saviour's Pro-Cathedral, United Church, Scandinavian, Wohelo Club, Nurses units and the Red Cross Shop group.

Besides its other work, the Society has collected and contributed used clothing to the Refugee Clothing Committee, founded by Mrs. T. W. Brewer. This committee repairs and improves useable clothing.

I.O.D.E. Gives $500 to Help Buy Bomber

While a contribution of $300 to the national I. O. D. E. bomber fund, for the plane presented last week to the Air Force, was one of the standout war contributions of Kokanee Chapter of Nelson, it was only one phase of its work.

It has collected quantities of clothing for refugees, and has sent a large number of books and magazines to men on active service. About 125 pairs of pyjamas and bed jackets have been made for the Red Cross. Other work, including sewing, knitting and so on, has gone to provincial headquarters to be forwarded from there.

Salvation Army Funds Aid Men in War Areas

Contributions totalling $2400 so far have been received in the Salvation Army's Home and War Services drive, and contributions are still coming in at an encouraging rate monthly from pledges.

Most of the money going to the Army war services is used for huts and so on in Canada and in actual war areas. In the retreat from Dunkirk the Army lost vast quantities of supplies.

The army has aided considerably recruits without funds waiting to be sent to their various units.

Teachers Offer Help in National Registration

School teachers of Nelson, with teachers throughout the Province, have offered their services to the Dominion for the national registration of men and women.

Some staff fund surpluses have been used for purchase of war saving stamps, in one case given the stamps as prizes.

Institute May Work for Women Territorials

Nelson Women's Institute may introduce a new branch of work —preparation of comforts for the Women's Auxiliary Territorial Service in which 40,000 women are serving in Britain, information is now being sought.

The Institute has given $100 to the Red Cross and $25 to the Canadian Legion for war services; and has operated a cutting school for its members to enable them to aid the Red Cross to better effect. Most of its war work to date has been through the Red Cross.

THEATRES RAISE $918

Nelson theatres, in the national drive in which admission was by purchase of war savings stamps, raised $918 for the Government.

MELBOURNE, (CP) — Aubrey Sweet, nine, has forwarded 19 shillings ($3.35), the result of a year's savings, as his contribution to the Australian Comforts Fund.

Spain Reasserts Claim for Mighty Mediterranean Fortress

General Franco of Spain, probably backed by Germany if reports that Nazi soldiers crowd Spanish cities are true, will have a costly campaign if he attempts to attack the Rock of Gibraltar, which guards the entrance to the Mediterranean. The caverns and tunnels of the big fort, carved out of solid rock make the defenders almost impervious to air attack. Although Gibraltar is an ancient fortified point its defences have been thoroughly modernized and it is equipped with the latest and the most powerful weapons. Gibraltar was annexed to the Spanish crown in 1502, after the Moors had lost it. In 1704 it was captured by a combined force of British and Netherlanders, and the Prince of Hessedarmstadt, fighting for the Archduke Charles of Austria, the Spaniards besieged Gibraltar, without success, for three years and seven months—from 1779 to 1783.

CANADA BUSY KEEPING SOLDIERS FED ON WHOLESOME MEALS

305 Tons of Butter Is Three Month's Supply for Troops

OTTAWA, July 12 (CP)—Responsibility for the feeding of all the armed forces in Canada, which each month consume tons of butter, meats, cereals and jam, belongs to the foodstuffs section of the Munitions and Supply Department, referred to at times as Canada's greatest housekeeper.

Like any group of healthy, hard-working youth, Canada's growing family of soldiers, sailors and flyers works up a big appetite during each day's operations, and comes back clamoring for its three husky meals.

Some idea of the gargantuan appetite of the army, navy and air force can be grasped from a Supply Department statement that 305 tons of butter were purchased to feed Canada's armed forces during the three months ended June 30.

Like any conscientious housekeeper, the Supply Department has its hands full in buying the best quality products and seeing that its boys get well-balanced meals and plenty of pure, wholesome food.

Every product must come up to specifications based on Government standards, and supplies are reckoned in tons and gallons instead of pounds and quarts.

Supplies for a larder properly stocked to last one camp for a single month, according to the Supply Department, include 10 tons of corn beef, 49 tons of vegetables, 135 tons of potatoes, three tons of honey, 4½ tons of cracked and rolled wheat, 9½ tons of jam and two tons each of tea and coffee.

The Supply Department has nine buying centres across the Dominion to facilitate its food purchases. Tenders are issued specifying quantities and qualities, delivery dates and points of delivery.

FISH IN VARIETY

For example, the tender forms for fish list a dozen varieties of fresh fish, including halibut, haddock, shad, sole, and pickerel as well as fresh fillets and smoked fish. It states the exact form of each type—with or without head and fins, and other culinary details, and concludes by specifying that the quality must meet with the approval of the officer to whom it is delivered.

Milk specifications include exact standards for everything from butter-fat content to pasteurization temperatures.

All standard kinds of meat except veal are purchased, as well as canned foods ranging from butter and fruit to soups, boiled dinners and beef stews. Canned foods are largely destined for naval use, and are particularly useful on the smaller craft engaged in defending Canadian shores, the Supply Department said.

Canadian soldiers top off their meals with such items as apples, jam, raisins, corn syrup, prunes, molasses, honey and maple syrup.

Giving Students Worthy Ideals

"Dear Dr. Myers: As a leader of a Girl Guide Troop I have been able to observe children in relation to their parents.

"I teach these responsibilities that you mention and try to help the child to become a good homemaker. Some children are inspired for a time but then I notice the interest dies out. When I question them as to whether they arranged their rooms differently, or mended an article of clothing, or if they helped with laundering or cooking, the answer is, usually, 'My mother won't let me.'

"When I invite the mothers to special gatherings, the only mothers who attend are the mothers whose children complete the projects. When I discuss responsibilities of children in the home, I find that the parent objects to keeping the child indoors for home duties as their school homework takes up a lot of time and they feel they should have more time outdoors.

GOOD CITIZENS

"I have visited Parent-Teacher Association meetings and the only topics I have heard discussed are: cemetery developments, foundation garments to improve mothers' or teachers' figure or an educational travelogue talk. Perhaps these are just drawing cards to get the mothers out.

"The mothers and teachers could discuss their problems in relation to home and school and lecturers could analyze and advise. In this way there could be a better understanding between parents and teachers. Perhaps the PTA could arrange to have a study class for children, teaching them responsibilities in the home, helping them to become good citizens and maintaining good characteristics. The home is the place for such guidance, I believe.

SOLVING PARENT PROBLEMS

Pigment Lack Means Less Tan

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

Will vinegar or olive oil on the skin hasten a quick tan and prevent peeling?

Nothing will hasten tanning. Tanning is the mobilization of the pigment producing cells of the body reacting evenly to the stimulus of light. The brunettes have more pigment than the blondes and therefore tan quicker and more painlessly. Blondes have less pigment and tan unevenly—freckles, and some blondes have no pigment at all to speak of, and burn and peel and redden and suffer over and over again. There is no way to change these fundamental differences in skins; the pigmentless blondes should be protected from sunlight if they are to avoid reaction—and sometimes severe illnesses result from sunburn.

Vinegar evaporates in the sunlight and has no effect on tanning or peeling. Any non-volatile oil interferes to some extent with the absorption of light and therefore ptotects against sunburn and subsequent peeling. An oil with some dark pigment may filter light sufficiently to make tanning a slower and more even process, avoiding the unpleasant preliminary stage of burning.

Sensitivity to sunlight exists. It takes two forms. In one, hive reactions—itching and swelling occur at the point of contact. This comes on immediately and lasts a short time. In the other, there is itching, redness, secretion and scaling; it is a delayed reaction, becomes more pronounced the second day and lasts a week. Both types can be prevented with ultra-violet rays in doses just short of the amount that produces a reaction.

Is myopia due to a vitamin deficient diet?

This suggestion would seem to cause us to revise many of our present ideas about visual defects, but the evidence is reviewed with conviction by an experienced oculist, Dr. Hugh Miller. It is certainly not impossible because we know vitamin deficiency causes organic changes in the eye, particularly in the connective tissue which is the part involved in short-sightedness and astigmatism.

In questioning a large number of patients who had myopic visual defects, about their lifelong dietary habits, Dr. Miller found that fat was avoided by them, beginning in childhood and continuing into adult life. Vitamins A and D are fat soluble and Vitamin A is known to have effects on the eye, especially in forming the hard sclerotic parts of the eye. The Japanese are not meat eaters, which means fat eaters. Rice and soy beans are their staples, and it is estimated that one and a half pounds of meat to the individual annually is the average consumption of meat in Japan.

"Our greatest difficulty," said a Japanese flight-surgeon, "in getting pilots is neither mental nor emotional but defective vision." Animal experiments show that when fed on Vitamin-A-free diet, rats lose the normal contour of their corneas, and regain the normal contour when Vitamin A is added to the diet.

SERIAL STORY . . . By Oren Arnold

HAPPINESS, C. O. D.

CHAPTER FORTY-THREE

The carpenter who had been called by Bill Bailey was standing with Bill now in the great reception hall of The Oaks. He held a folding ruler, and he was figuring with pencil on a paper pad.

"The whole thing can be done for less than $100," the carpenter said. "You see, it's a short partition, and except for the one supporting post in the centre, it's hollow. It can be taken down in a half day, and put back in slightly more time. Only new materials needed will be some molding and paint."

Bill nodded. "Thanks. I'll let you know. As soon as I talk to Mr. Merrifiel about it."

Later in the day Mr. Merrifield approved removal of the partition. Making an opening there would, in effect, double the size of the reception or ballroom, which already opened onto the music room. This in turn could be enlarged by opening French doors onto the wide sun porch. Total result was an expanse of floor something like an auditorium.

Later, in a huddle with Gayle, Bill said, "We've got enough room for 800 couples now!"

"Bill!" Gayle was impressed.

"Sure! That's 1600 people. I mean we could sell that many tickets this time. They couldn't all get in here and dance at once, maybe, but they wouldn't want to. Some will just wander through the house and leave. Some will be dancing while others are outside. Quite a few will just come to the play and not to the house at all. See?"

"Yes. And that will be a lot of money, Bill—1600 at $1.50 a ticket is—is—"

Bill smiled knowingly. "Who said anything about a dollar fifty, white child? You just sit tight and let pappy handle the business. I got ideas."

"Tell me, Bill!"

He grimaced at her. "No. It takes men's brains. Me and Jeremy'll do it. No women allowed."

She struck at him, but he evaded her and ran, laughing, when she pursued. Part of the pleasure of working and living here was the constant teasing and bantering of the young folk.

As a matter of fact, Bill Bailey really did have some ideas about "The Wit to Woo." That is, about the business end of it. A week had passed now since the newspapers had announced the forthcoming play. The papers all knew Mr. Merrifield's reputation. They knew him to be generous, that he was a philanthropist, and that the amateur theatre movement in his home was purely a charity affair. They also knew him to be a sort of living legend who interested everyone in the city and even in the State to some degree. Therefore, they could well pay generous attention to any doings around him.

The upshot had been constant coverage of the social and theatrical news which Bill and Gayle and the others were creating. Not all of it was strictly "news," but was in fact speculation, because the town's columnists, especially Cholly Farrington on The Chronicle-Post, who was the most widely read, spoke almost daily of The Oaks and its affairs. Cholly rather liked "the Merrifield kids," as he called them. He liked their sincerity. He liked them because they were a sharp and pleasing contrast to the sophisticates and the pseudo-sophisticates who cluttered up much of society's upper crust. Of the latter, this trenchant observer grew increasingly tired. The Merrifield kids were a welcome, wholesome hobby for him.

Cholly especially liked to rub it in on the high hat crowd that the first party and play at the Merrifield mansion had not been "exclusive." The people present were largely middle-class youths, friends of Bill and Gayle and of the six other girls, plus the early ones who bought tickets to the play. Only 400 tickets were available; they had sold in two days.

On a morning this week, therefore, Cholly Farrington came out with what he felt was a happy scoop.

"The high hatters have gunged up on handsome Bill Bailey, et al, at the Merrifield theatre. News got around that tickets for 'The Wit to Woo' would go on sale tomorrow. It was big news—remember how the tickets for 'Maid to Measure' sold out in two days, and almost none of the elite got in?

"Okay, but the elite this time has determined to crash the Merrifield gate or else! Your humble correspondent listened in yesterday at Ye Greene Goate Club, The Gables and the Montrose, not to mention some eavesdropping at sundry night hangouts. Part of the Junior Guild and a lot of the just-marrieds in the Mariners Group have suddenly organized to take joint action. Telephones have jangled, personal calls have doubled, tongues have wagged. Wherefore, the high hats will quickly get together and buy up all tickets to 'The Wit to Woo', or at least enough to make it a strictly hoity-toity affair, tails and decollete.

"The rich crowd wants to put the squelch on Bill Bailey, who, it seems, wouldn't respond even in college to advances of the glamour gals. Bill was tops in football, tops in college dramatics; the money maidens tried to idolize him, and he would have none of them. They don't forget.

"But besides that, they just naturally want to get into The Oaks. There are rumors concerning the grandson, Jeremy—maybe he'll be a new thrill! And there is a half-century legend back of the old Merrifield estate now, built on fact and fancy. Literally everybody is willing to sacrifice pride and buy in. So when the tickets go on sale tomorrow, watch for block buying—by the town's crustiest upper crust!"

Gayle read that in The Chronicle-Post at breakfast. She called immediately to Bill.

"Great doings!" he breathed, appreciatively. "That column gets more attention than all the rest of the paper, Gayle. I hear a lot of talk downtown, too."

"Several of the reporters called yesterday," she said. "They'll be back today. With photographers."

"Make 'em welcome. They're a good bunch of fellows, on the whole. But leave most of the business talking to me, eh?"

Gayle smiled. She loved to watch Bill take charge. He was never so happy as when "managing" things, and he was plainly enthusiastic about presentation of the new play. Anyway, Gayle herself had a mass of details to attend to concerning the social part of the evening.

A garden party for 1600 people presented no small managerial task. First of all, Gayle had to plan her own course. She sat until midnight outlining her duties in detail. She decided that the other six girls should share the burden with her, and in this Bill concurred.

Today, therefore, she took the six and walked carefully about the great lawn and gardens discussing with them every detail. The gardeners would direct parking. Gayle and Jeremy and Bill and Mr. Merrifield and Mr. Weems would help receive the guests. Adele Larraway and Lola Montesa would quietly, courteously but firmly steer them through the first floor of the mansion, out the sun porch door, and around the rose walk toward the oak-canopied theatre, where Act I of the play would be presented.

"Our problems will be to make them assemble in reasonable time," Gayle predicted. "We want to start promptly at 8:30, and be done with the play before 11. Then come back to the house for dancing."

Tempe Hyde and the other three girls would assist Gayle, Bill, Jeremy, Adele and Lola in escorting the crowd from the first scene to the swimming pool, and then after Act II, to the tennis courts.

"I'm going to get six little boys in fairy costumes — brownies or something like that—to stir among the crowd and urge them to move quickly," Gayle said. "I know some youngsters who would love it. Then there's the cook's nephew, and two of the gardeners have cute sons, all under 8 years old."

This was only the start of the planning. They kept at it all day, until Bill returned from town at 5 p. m. He was grinning broadly, but did not talk. He just asked everyone to be on hand early tomorrow.

Next morning's Chronicle-Post, though, revealed what Bill had done. Cholly Farrington's column had it — in blackface type this time:

"Haw! Let me get hold of my monicle, pals! Just when high hat Society (capital S) had organized to buy up all or most of 'The Wit to Woo' tickets, Footballer Bill Bailey pulled a quarterback sneak. He announced last evening that admission would be 'By invitation only!' E-YEOW!"

Hearts of Middle Aged Men Are Not Easily Wounded

By CAROLINE CHATFIELD

DEAR MISS CHATFIELD:

I'm in the upper forties, a business woman, a widow of a wonderful man to whom I was happily married for 25 years. I have cherished his memory for a long year. In the past few months I have met two gentlemen, one a bachelor business man, a few years younger than I, the other a widower, also a business man and a few years older than I. Each of them comes once a week and would come oftener but being in business it doesn't suit me to entertain oftener. I want to be fair to both, which means dropping one, yet I know the dropped one will be deeply hurt. What is your opinion?

A GOOD COMPANION.

ANSWER:

Sister, middle-aged bachelors and widowers are proof against heart hurts administered by middle-aged widows with homes and cars and other perquisites. No doubt they can be disappointed, even stunned a bit at seeing their plans go awry. But what it takes to patch up, pump up and run along at a good rate, the species homo has't.

Even the woman who believes she can be a good companion to a husband finds it pretty difficult to carry on without the two-way switch of love. Even if she is unselfish to the point that she seeks to choose the mate who needs her most (was there ever such a woman?) she can't answer his needs unless she has a sincere affection for him. So I say she's foolish to plight her troth to any man she doesn't care for, even if he is a good business man, an attentive beau and diverting companion for one evening a week.

Says I, the widow with a livelihood, a home, a car and a happy past to bolster her, should think long before she shares the wealth, the home, the car with a gentleman that has less, or even more for that matter. A woman can subsist a long time on memories of happier days, meantime enjoying friendships with men, making up her mind beyond the shadow of a doubt that one of them is essential to her happiness. In other words she should be very sure that she can live with him and can't live without him.

Criticism . . .

Be Tactful If You Would Be Popular

By DONNA GRACE

"What can I do to be popular?" or "Why don't I have escorts as other girls do?" are questions we frequently hear.

There is a fine side to every person, even the girl or boy who is avoided by companions, and the things for them to do is to find what they have to offer. Sheer physical beauty may do for a while but genuine sincerity and good manners will make even the plain ones sought after.

We like frankness but some young persons seem to find it difficult to distinguish between frankness and downright rudeness. We are never thanked for personal criticism of others even when our criticism is well meant. We must wait until advice is sought, even then be very tactful and gentle in what is said.

Those who are at fault are usually aware of it and are likely to be sensitive about their shortcomings. For instance, don't tell your associate you dislike the way she does her hair and you have been anxious to get your hands into it to make her presentable. She may accept the well meant doing over but will dislike you for offering it in this way.

The girl who is sincerely friendly and who, like her associates, will receive the same consideration in return. She must be sure she follows the rules of careful grooming. Many a girl is shunned for little things like untidy clothes, slips that show below the hem of the skirt, shoes that shown worn, crooked heels and lack of neatness, dishevelled hair, dull teeth, soiled hands an neglected nails.

There are simple rules for grooming that any girl may learn even though she wears the most inexpensive clothes. She can easily learn to know the makeup to use an how to do her hair. She can keep her teethe well cleansed with frequent brushing and be careful to rinse her mouth with either a mouthwash or salt and water so that her breath will be sweet.

She can forget brooding about herself and learn to converse, and, if possible, have some little accomplishment. Music, dancing and, good enunciation will help to distinguish her. Good manners will make her a desirable companion.

SMALL ESTATE INSOLVENT

TORONTO, July 19 (CP).—Estate of Ambrose J. Small, once estimated at $2,000,000 and inherited by his widow, is insolvent, according to an affidavit presented to Mr. Justice E. R. E. Chevrier in weekly court today. The affidavit was made by Percy Hermant, Secretary of the bondholders of the Adelaide-Sheppard Co., Ltd., which erected the Concourse building in which Mrs. Small had an interest of $154,900 in bonds.

The Royal Trust Co., as trustee under the bond mortgage, had instituted an action for foreclosure and for a receivership against the Company and had a claim of $45,310. A recent report of O. E. Lennox, Assistant Master, directed that the trust company accept the $154,900 face value of bonds held by Mrs. Small in full settlement of this claim.

Pass Creek Man Hurt in Attack by Mother Bear

Bandages worn by Alex Makortoff of Pass Creek are the badges of a struggle with a mother bear protecting her cub. And that he is able to tell the story of the struggle he believes due to his 12-year-old son.

Makortoff and his son were picking huckleberries above Pass Creek a fortnight ago. They saw a cub bear and Makortoff endeavored to frighten it away. The cub's cry of fright brought the she-bear on the run and she attacked Makortoff.

Almost at the same time Makortoff's son, seeing his father's danger, began to scream. When, struggling on a sidehill, man and bear fell down together, the bear ran off. Men familiar with bears believe the boy's screaming was responsible, and that it saved his father's life.

Makortoff escaped with a bitten shoulder and hand, and face cuts.

Crew of Merchant Ships Arrive on Southern French Isld.

FORT DE FRANCE, Martinique, July 19 (AP)—Reports from the French island of St. Barthelmy said today that two lifeboats arrived there Wednesday with 41 men from the British cargo steamships King John and Davisian, sunk by enemy action 400 miles east.

(Lloyd's lists the davisian as a 6433-ton freighter from Liverpool, the King John as a 5228-ton merchant ship from London.)

Brief reports from Fort de France did not mention what type of vessel sank the British freighters, but their sinking revived recent German claims that sea raiders are at work in undisclosed areas.

Both ships reported sunk have been trading between Britain and the West Indies.

STEP UP GOLD PRODUCTION

Producing Canadian gold is one of the ways of helping to win the war, for under the world's monetary standard, gold is a war metal.

Considered in this light, pushing of gold operations in the Nelson district and elsewhere is a patriotic duty.

On this subject the Financial News of Vancouver observes:

"There is good reason to believe that the managements and the shareholders of British Columbia gold mines will respond to Hon. J. L. Ralston's urgent request that, insofar as possible, they step up production to give Canada more purchasing power for war purposes.

"Some of the major Canadian mines have been advancing their producing schedules materially so that they may meet a national emergency.

"Even at the risk of departing from what is strictly good mining practice, it is desirable that gold mines of Canada should produce more now.

"Of one thing the gold mine owners can be sure—if Germany should become, through war action, the dominating commercial and political power of the world, 'managed currency' of totalitarianism, not gold, would become the medium of exchange and gold would be of value mainly as a precious metal rather than as a medium of settling international balances.

"That is merely the commercial implication.

"The thousands of shareholders who own individual gold mines in Canada must remember—if there is any necessity to remind them—that freedom is beyond price, can not be calculated in terms of dollars, cents or bars of gold.

"Physical properties, wealth of all kinds are a means to an end in our way of living, very fine and desirable things in themselves but to be expended without question when survival of our British race and our British way of living in an atmosphere of freedom, justice and human dignity are at stake."

A HINT FOR THE RESEARCH COUNCIL

Nutritional value of some of our humble insects may yet be investigated by the Canadian Research Council if the council accepts all the hints given by Parliament.

Mr. Hansell, one of the new members of the House of Commons, who has been quick to go to the rescue of the Government, when criticisms of it have been made, was himself in deep distress recently, and took the House into his confidence, on one of the occasions when it was in Committee of Supply on Health Department estimates, the department presided over by Hon. Ian A. Mackenzie. The matter under debate was the $174,565 vote for the Food and Drugs Branch, and Mr. Hansell, after listening to various particulars and comments, brought up his own intimate and rather painful case. The Hansard account is as follows:

"Mr. Hansell: We have been talking with respect to the Food and Drugs Act, and have considered foods put into cans and bottles, and foods otherwise packed. I have a question I should like to ask which may sound a little foolish. Perhaps I should know more about the Food and Drugs Act, but I am wondering if that act has any relationship whatever with the cooking of foods in restaurants. I assure the committee that this is not a foolish question, because I happened to find a cockroach in my soup not long ago. Surely there is something wrong when we talk in terms of pure foods, and at the same time find cockroaches in our soup.

"Mr. Pouliot: Perhaps it was a pure cockroach.

"Mr. Hansell: There are many medical doctors in the house who perhaps would say that there is some nutriment in cockroaches; I do not know.

"Mr. Howden: There might be, if you had enough of them.

"Mr. Mackenzie (Vancouver Centre): The tragic situation to which my Hon. Friend has referred is the responsibility of the Provincial and Municipal authorities."

And with this callous disclaimer of Federal responsibility, the vote went through. In Hansard language: "Item agreed to."

It is now up to Premier Hepburn, and the Ottawa Municipal authorities, to safeguard conscientious legislators who have soup portions down-town. If they can't be induced to act, the Research Council might be prevailed upon to consider the problem sympathetically.

To preserve proportion in this matter, it may be noted that the Food and Drugs Branch in the last fiscal year examined 28,050 samples of food and drugs in its six laboratories, and inspected 50,573 shipments of foods and drugs at customs ports of entry, in addition to performing other duties.

WHAT THE PRESS IS SAYING

THE GESTAPO MOVES IN

"Jews and foreign political refugees are in mortal terror. Thousands of refugees from Nazi rule in Poland, Czechoslovakia, and Austria were caught here. Some are hiding in the woods around Paris or in the cities to the South, and the Germans are closing in inexorably on them."—Frederick C. Oechsner in a United Press dispatch from Paris.

The civilized world stands aghast before the operations of the malign mentality exemplified in this dispatch. Why are these victims of Nazi oppression thus hounded? Is it from mere motives of revenge and malevolence? The democracies were the only refuge for those liberty-loving individuals who refused to change their thinking to conform to that of tyrants, and for the religionists whom National Socialism persecuted. Those unable to put an ocean, or even the English Channel, between them and their persecutors found asylum in freedom-loving France—but even that is now gone. — Christian Science Monitor.

SOMETHING NEW ON AIR

Approximately 45,000,000 radio sets in the United States are said to be on their way out as the result of the development of "FM," or "frequency modulation," and some $75,000,000 worth of transmitting equipment will also have to be scrapped to make way for this improvement over the present 'amplitude modulation."—Brandon Sun.

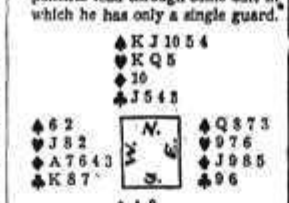
CONTRACT . . . By Shepard Barclay

ATTACK AND DEFENSE

JUST AS a boxer protects himself the best he can while also trying to attack his opponent successfully, a No Trump declarer must guard himself against the run of a dangerous suit while he is trying to build up the tricks he needs. One of the greatest perils that can threaten a No Trump contract is that of letting the opponents lead through some suit in which he has only a single guard.



(Dealer: South. East-West vulnerable.)

South	West	North	East
1 ♥	Pass	1 ♠	Pass
2 ♣	Pass	3 ♣	Pass
3 NT

This hand furnished a beautiful example of sound bidding gone wrong. The first trick consisted of the diamond 4, 10, J and Q. A brief glance told South his contract was a cinch. So he promptly laid down his spade A and finessed the 10. When East won this with the Q, he switched to his diamond 9 and, as a consequence, the contract was set.

South had really only one danger against which to protect himself. That was the possibility that East might get into the lead. Any finessing should have been toward West, who could not lead through the diamond K, but only up to it.

If the declarer had gone to the dummy with a heart on the second trick and then finessed clubs, no power on earth could have prevented him from making overtricks.

If two automobiles collided head on, travelling at the same rate of speed, greater impact results than if one automobile collides with a slower vehicle.

AGAINST ATTACK

Russia has appropriated the largest defense estimates in her history, 57,000,000,000 rubles. It would be unfair to blame the Soviet Union for looking after her defenses. She can never be sure that Rumania, Hungary, Afghanistan or Iran will not attack her. Having in mind the threat from Finland, she has to play safe!—Windsor Star.

VERSE

"Togetherness"

Go out in the sun, if you are worried or anxious,
God's great out-of-doors is ever waiting;
Swing wide the gate of your heart —be pious,
Watch the miracle of growth.
The growing things have their lesson.
Something to tell your soul,
"All things work together,
For good of those who love God.
All things, why worry even in stormy weather!"

To live a fruitful life, there is a guidance
For us, by lowly listening
We shall hear the rightword—not by chance;
It's God's grace which goes before,
Who sustains us in all good things;
Help us keep our child heart: the door
That opens, Thy Kingdom here on earth.
Let us pray without ceasing for togetherness,
In family life, our national life (their soul so dearth!)

In both gardening or a fruitful life,
Instructions are found in books, in the wonders of nature,
Both tell us how to overcome strife.
Morning glories growing everywhere.
Such wondrous plants easily raised,
Quick growing, succeeding anywhere,
Called the stranger of the garden, can be a menace,
(Like fear and worry in our life) if allowed to creep in;
It will choke out other plants, if let go its pace!

We can't make a garden unless we sow good seed
In rich and fruitful soil;
No life is fruitful unless marked by good deeds.
We can't create our mind,
Out of chance weeds or seeds,
We must ever be on the alert to be learned and kind;
Truly the Heavens declare His glory;
God's great out of doors, the wonders of nature;
The sky reflects the Heavenly blue of the Morning Glory.

TROUT LAKE'S AULD LANG SYNE

Where the towering mountains rise their crest
O'er that placid mountain lake,
With wind-swept sides since start of time,
There stands the famous Winslow Mine.

'Twas on their high, forbidding slopes
Walter Scorgie had high hopes.
He lived on bacon, beans and wine,
And he ate the porcupine.

But fortune changed, gold was found,
And miners then went underground;
From morning, noon till night they toiled,
Under a shift boss who was hard-boiled.

And now the Winslow mill : It stands
On that weathered, beaten slope,
And all the country far and near
Is filled with joy and hope.

"So here's a han,' my trusty friend,
And gie's a hand o' thine;"
We'll wish them all the best of luck
"For the days of Auld Lang Syne."

TODAY'S HOROSCOPE

A caution is necessary for those whose birthdays are today. They are advised to beware of deception and sharp quarrels with friends of the same sex. A stranger will aid them, and the stars incline to courtship. A child born on this date will have a very strong, turbulent desire-nature, and be difficult to understand. Self-control should be inculcated early. Artistic ability is probable.

HINTS ON ETIQUETTE

In taking a month's cruise tips should be given at intervals of, say, two weeks, instead of waiting until the end of the voyage, as is usual on transatlantic voyages. A reasonable standard for such fortnightly tips would be the amount which would be normally given for the same service on a transatlantic voyage.

HOROSCOPE FOR SUNDAY

A busy, active year is ahead of today's birthday children. They will meet with promotion (especially if connected with military affairs), success and popularity. Born today a child will be sociable, kind-hearted, refined, artistic and musical but occasionally inclind to go off at a tangent. A fair measure of success is predicted for such a one, nevertheless.

THE NAVY'S PRAYER

In all things the navy has style and a way of its own. It is seen even in the prayer used only by the navy at divine service, and in the course of centuries millions of officers and men must have been familiar with its words since the day, nearly 300 years ago, when "the fleet in which we serve" was first ordered to pray "that we may be a safeguard unto our most gracious sovereign lord King Charles and his kingdoms, and a security to such as pass on the seas upon their lawful occasions." The dignity and beauty of its language (said to have been composed by Sanderson, Bishop of Lincoln) has earned it a place among the chosen passages in the "Oxford Book of English Prose."—Manchester Guardian.

EXODUS 17:11

A BIBLE STORY BROUGHT UP TO DATE

In the Good Book of old,
There's a story we're told,
Of a brave man who sat on a hill;
Amidst war's alarms
He held up his arms
And his army put faith in his skill.

For he had a scheme
Of promoting the thing,
And he thought of a way how to win.
If his strength would not fail,
His men would prevail;
For guidance they counted on him.

All that long day
They battled away,
First his men, then the foe, would prevail;
Till shorn of his strength, the arms failed at length,
But this does not finish the tale.

Some friends of his knew what they must now do,
And grasping his hands held them high;
His men saw the sign, and broke through the line,
And were victors when evening was nigh.

Today it's the same, only Churchill's the name,
We've got to be there by his side
To hold up his hands, what'ere he demands,
And by his good council abide.

We cannot all go and with guns meet the foe,
But our help to the cause must not fail.
While some have sent sons, and some paid for guns,
There's war saving stamps up for sale.

So God Save The King, and God Bless The Queen
And bring peace to the war-stricken lands.
For our lads in the fight we will pray day and night
And help to aid Britain's lone hands.

The Potter's Wheel.

"Then I went down to the potter's house, and behold, he wrought a work on the wheels. And the vessel that he made of clay was marred in the hand of the potter: so he made it again another vessel."—Jeremiah, 18:3-4.

And life is like that potter's wheel,
And men are plastic clay;
The potter's hand may make or mar
Where human will has play.

Could man be man without the will,
The power to make a choice?
The will to hearken or refuse
To heed the "still small voice"?

A consecrated hand and lip
Are what God seeks in man;
A willing human fellowship
To share redemption's plan.

And such cannot be made offhand,
For character must grow,
With power to choose 'twixt right and wrong,
To answer yes, or no.

Why all the varied ills of earth
That oft make life a bane?
Why not an Eden filled with mirth?
Why poverty, and pain?

The tempter and that Eden tree
Each played a leading part
In making of the man to be
One "after God's own heart".

Could honesty and honor be
Without the tempter's price?
Could purity a virtue be
Without the lure of vice?

The victories we fail to win,
The wars we fain would ban,
May be the major factors in
The moulding of the man.

So may the wheel of Time revolve,
And I be plastic clay,
And may the Master Hand evolve
My vessel by his sway.

WHERE TO LAY BLAME

The pacifist chickens of the democracies have now come home to roost. What we see today is the logical and inevitable consequence of the peoples of the democratic countries having listened with approving smugness to the shoddy imaginings of the mealy-mouthed brotherhood (and sisterhood) whose vapourings and nitwit stupidity were held before us as the acme of commonsense and wisdom.

Having said so much, we shall for the moment ignore them. But, it ought also to be said that in looking for the scapegoat upon which to place responsibility for the present state of affairs, the democratic peoples need not go far. Undeubtedly the grand old game of blaming this person and that group of persons will be played to the limit. That's a waste of time and effort. All Mr. J. Canadian Citizen has to do, when searching for the man and the woman who is wholly and solely to blame, is to walk to the nearest mirror and look into it. He will see there the reflection of the individual on whose shoulders lies the entire responsibility.

And that is that. —Legionary.

Hitler Threatens Destruction If His "Offer" Rejected

Hitler Says Conscience Will Be Relieved of Terrible Things to Come if Britain Does Not Listen to "His Reasoning"

BERLIN, July 19 (CP)—Hitler came out with his long expected "peace offer" to Britain today, threatening that if it were not accepted the British Empire would be destroyed.

He repeated the Nazi idea that the Churchill Government will flee to Canada, "once the German offensive begins in earnest against the British Isles."

"There is no ground for the prolongation of the war," the Nazi leader declared in advancing "one more appeal to reason in England." He did not say what Germany expected Britain to do in reply to the "offer" but indicated that Germany envisages only a "German peace."

He claimed that he was speaking not as victor demanding capitulation, but as victor proposing a reasonable peace.

As in previous speeches, Hitler began his address with a long preamble assailing the Treaty of Versailles, which has been his excuse for all the Nazi depredations of the past.

Hitler said "derision and mockery" greeted his October offer of peace to Britain.

As a result, he said, France now is "down and out."

"The terrible misery which has come over the French people . . . the misery of fugitives and evacuees . . . need not have come," he said, "as my offer was aimed at nothing but peace."

Hitler said "Churchill has begun to bomb civilian population in Germany—and added:

"Thus far I have hardly answered this bombardment . . . but when my answer comes it will be terrible for millions of people . . . Churchill should for a change believe me this once."

Millions of German men, Hitler said, are "yearning to take part in the final battle against the enemy . . . even mothers who have made sacrifices before are willing to sacrifice the last . . ."

Hitler said Churchill might regard his "appeal to reason" as a sign of war. But, he added:

"I have relieved my conscience toward the things that will then come . . . that is, if this last appeal to reason is unheeded by England."

He said the end would mean only the "complete annihilation" of one or the other of the two adversaries, and he knew, he declared, this would be Britain.

He asserted that "British statesmen apparently have no conception" of the destruction which would be visited on Britain in a fight to the finish.

"But one thing is sure," he exclaimed. "No Churchill will be left" in that case for the "rehabilitation" of Britain.

The "people left behind in London" after the assault, shouted, would have ideas entirely different from those of the Prime Minister and his colleagues.

Touching on Russo-German relations, he claimed that these have been "fixed once and for all by a clear delineation of interests."

Hitler said his policy had been based on a twofold aim; real friendship with Italy, and a similar relationship with Britain.

It "would have been a boon" to the world if England had accepted, he said.

Hitler said he "never intended to annihilate or even to harm" the Empire of Britain.

The Kroll Opera House was a sea of brown uniforms sprinkled with the field gray of the army. Count Galeazzo Ciano, Italian Foreign Minister, arrived 15 minutes before Hitler and was given a seat in the diplomatic box.

"Once more I will attempt to be a prophet," said Hitler, prophesying that a "world Empire will be destroyed" unless Britain listens to "reason."

He assailed "Jewish capitalist warmongers," blaming them for the war.

"No other statesman dared to propose a solution such as mine to the German nation," he said.

"On September 2 the conflict might have been averted. Mussolini made a proposal for peaceful negotiations. . . . It was only the British warmongers who wanted war."

MORE DOCUMENTS

On June 19, 1940, a German soldier found a "strange document" which led to other documents of the Supreme Allied War Council, he claimed.

These documents showed, Hitler alleged, that the British and French planned to use the small countries to their own ends.

Finland, the Balkan States and Belgium were among those nations which were to be used for their own purposes, Hitler said.

"These same criminals were responsible for leading Poland into war," he declared. He recalled he had "warned" Britain and France after the Polish campaign "not to continue this war."

He said he was "abused" as a coward because of these peace proposals; thus this "capitalist clique of warmongers, with a personal stake in the war," caused the conflict to continue.

"While this Anglo-French war clique was seeking ways to extend the war and rope in new participants, I was working to build up my own forces.

"Along about March, we learned of the intentions of the Allies to get bases in Finland for movement into the Baltic and to obtain access to Swedish and Norwegian mines.

"The conclusion of peace between Russia and Finland caused these intentions by the Allies to be temporarily withheld."

However, plans were taken up by the Allies a few days later, Hitler went on, to pursue the Northern campaign. Germany learned of the plans, he declared, because of the "verbosity of that First Lord of the Admiralty (Winston Churchill), now British Premier," and French Premier Reynaud.

The dispatch of mine layers to Norwegian waters, Hitler's story continued, removed any doubt of the British intention to occupy Norway.

REVIEWS THE NORWEGIAN CONFLICT

He then reviewed the opening of the conflict in Norway. He claimed Germany moved in only after British forces had tried in vain.

"Successful execution was possible only by the fine work of the three divisions of our forces, the navy, land force and air force.

"The air force, which was often the only means of transport, surpassed itself in every respect.

"The British fleet was finally obliged to yield before the attacks of German dive bombers and evacuate. . . .

"Air-landed troops," he said, provided the first occupation of many places. He said Norwegian troops gave "very brave defence" but he ridiculed British troops, asserting that they were poorly trained and equipped and "definitely inferior in every respect."

"The word Narvik will be immortalized as a symbol of the National Socialist Reich," he asserted.

"It is a pity that Chamberlain's Grenadier Guards . . . did not make contact with the German troops."

THE LOW COUNTRIES

Turning from Germany, he took up the Low Countries. Germany, he said, had few troops on the Belgian frontier while large concentrations of French tanks and troops showed France was preparing to move on Germany through Belgium.

"There was such a concentration of signs pointing to a movement of French and British troops through Belgium and Holland that I discussed the developments with the army and made minute plans to offset such an attack."

Telephone messages between London and Paris showed the British and French were preparing to attack early in May, he alleged, and so "I gave orders to attack" on May 10.

"GERMAN INFANTRY BEST"

Praising the German soldiers of the "new Provinces taken into the Reich" showed equal valor and thus helped make possible "the glorious victory."

"The command of the new German army," he said, "must be considered much better than the command of yesterday."

Naming generals in charge of the units participating, he brought cheers from the Reichstag in each case. The taking of Paris, he said, was not envisioned in the original plans. After Paris fell, he said, the operations on the Swiss border and encirclement tactics made possible the crushing of the French army.

"In this war, the German infantry has shown itself to be what it always has been, the best infantry in the world," he continued.

"In this war, the German tank corps has won a place in hitsory. . . . All other troops deserve the highest praise.

"As for the air force, at dawn on May 10, thousands of fighter planes and dive bombers swept down on enemy air bases. In the space of a few days our air supremacy was established and it never was relinquished."

Hitler gave these as the reasons for his speech:

"The necessity to open up to our own people an insight into the historical rareness of the events which we are experiencing; to thank our soldiers and to attempt to direct one more—and this time the last—appeal to reason."

TRANSLATION MADE WHILE HITLER SPEAKS

NEW YORK, July 19 (CP) — An official translation of Hitler's speech today was read to the English-speaking world at the same time Hitler was talking—the Nazis using this technique on a Hitler speech for the first time.

Kurt Schmidt, described here as Hitler's official translator, read the speech in English. On the wavelengths carrying the speech to North America, and presumably on those taking it to Britain, Hitler's voice faded while Schmidt read. Previous speeches by Hitler were broadcast direct, a translator breaking in regularly with a brief summary in English of what Hitler had said.

BRITAIN'S ANSWER

LONDON, July 19 (CP) — The first reaction in London political circles to Hitler's speech today was that Britain stands by Prime Minister Churchill's June 4 declaration to Parliament to fight on "for years if necessary" until Hitler is finally beaten.

These sources said the peace ultimatum had been expected since France surrendered, and that Britain's answer—given in advance—lay in seizure of the French fleet, the speedup of arms production, air force attacks on Germany and elaborate defence preparations.

CANADA'S LUMBER INDUSTRY THREATENED BY BRITISH DEMAND

OTTAWA, July 19 (CP). — Britain's dependence upon Canada as her sole means of timber supply has threatened to disturb the Dominion's lumber industry, H. R. MacMillan, Timber Controller, told a gathering of representatives of the industry from all parts of Canada here today.

Mr. MacMillan described the situation as "emergent" and pointed out military and mining requirements, in the form of pit props, were of immediate importance.

Nazis Say Terrific Damage by R.A.F.

NEW YORK, July 19 (AP) — The British Broadcasting Corporation declared in a broadcast reported by National Broadcasting Company today that Germans arriving in Turkey had admitted terrific damage had been inflicted by the Royal Air Force on factories in the Rhineland and that the German population is in a state of nervous tension because of continual raids.

The announcer said an eyewitness reported that Essen, Ruhr Valley city famous for its munitions plants, had been damaged so severely that work had ceased in that district.

BRITISH FLEET GUARDS SUEZ

LONDON, July 19 (CP)—Britain's Eastern Mediterranean battle fleet has become, in effect, the Board of Directors of the vital Suez Canal, still technically under the management of a French-controlled operating company.

The "international waters" of the canal that cuts 5500 miles off the sea route from the Atlantic East to Asia remain guaranteed to all vessels able to pay the toll in gold.

But Britain's great, gray naval sentries stationed close to the approaches judge which ships may pass through the 104.5-mile sea level waterway that splits the land bridge between Africa and Asia.

London sources say the canal continues in normal operation, except for vast reduction in its traffic, and the dues that are collected find their way to a London banking account.

Actual headquarters of the Suez Canal Company which operates under Egyptian franchise are in a rambling, twin-towered building on a Paris side street. The directors are 21 Frenchmen, 10 Britons, and one Netherlander.

British sources explain that a decision will be reached later what to do with the funds collected as wartime canal toll.

Britain's own shipping has been ordered to go around Cape Horn instead of using the canal. Minesweepers are kept busy clearing out mine fields in the Eastern Mediterranean, and any merchant shipping through the Mediterranean would be in dire peril.

Italy's entrance into the war cost the canal its second best customer in recent years. Britain is the largest user. One of Italy's demands, before and during the war, has been for at least a share in control of the canal.

Gov't. Positions to Be Held by French Born of French Father

VICHY, France, July 19 (AP).—A decree of the French Government proclaimed today that no one, high or low, henceforth may serve in any capacity in French local or National Government or any public service unless he is French born or a French father.

The decree was displayed widely in the press following a night meeting of the Cabinet.

Only exceptions listed in the decree were for persons who served in French armed forces in the World War or their direct descendants.

All persons who do not fill these requirements have been notified of their immediate discharge, with indemnity for their years of service. If they have served 15 years or more they will be pensioned.

The order extends to judical administrations and all military as well as civil posts.

Yesterday the Papal Nuncio, Monsignor Valerio Valeri, Dean of the Diplomatic Corps, headed a group of diplomats on their first visit to Chief of State Marshal Philippe Petain.

Says Bank Helped Saskatchewan but Refused Alberta

OTTAWA, July 19 (CP). — Hon. Solon Low, Provincial Treasurer of Alberta, threw the Commons Banking and Commerce Committee into a momentary tumult today when he claimed the Federal Treasury had refused loans to his Province while aiding Saskatchewan, and had thus contributed to Alberta's default.

This was interpreted by several members as a charge of discrimination by the Federal Government, which Hughes Cleaver (Lib. Halton) declared "I do not believe for one minute."

Mr. Low said he was not charging discrimination but that the Bank of Canada had refused Alberta, while at the same time, under similar circumstances, had helped Saskatchewan meet a bond maturity.

Mr. Cleaver said the Federal Government had agreed to help all Provinces if they would enter into a Loan Council scheme. Saskatchewan agreed but, he said, Alberta had "elected to default."

The arguments came during Mr. Low's recital of Social Credit administration of Alberta while the Committee was considering the application of that Province for a Dominion charter to operate a provincial bank.

Accuses U. S. Gov't. of Non-Interest in Silent Propeller

SEATTLE, July 19 (AP)—Professor F. K. Kirsten of the University of Washington today criticized the Government's "lack of interest" in his cycloidal propeller invention, which he claims would revolutionize American air defence and which, he asserted, has already been perfected and is in use by the German navy.

The propeller, on which he has worked for years and which operates on the principle of an egg beater, would enable war planes to take off, fly and land without noise, he said.

"The Government is spending thousands of dollars for parachute troops, but with this plane they wouldn't need parachutes," Professor Kirsten said.

"A cycloidal plane could land at night, unload troops and be gone before the enemy knew anything about it. A silent plane, flying at night, would be hard to detect."

Britain Will Need War Materials of U. S. When Nazis Launch Offensive

LONDON, July 19 (CP)—Britain's armed forces have enough guns and munitions to defend this island fortress, but military men emphasized today the necessity for vast stores of war materials to make Britain the sally port for an offensive which "will win the war."

Looking beyond the battle for Britain, imminence of which is brought home each day by persistent Nazi raids, the army foresees the day when its troops will launch a counter-stroke against Germany.

For this blow, British and neutral military men declare, the army must be supported not only by the output of Britain's own factories and arsenals but by every gun, bullet, shell, tank and plane that can be bought from the United States.

"At present," one officer said, "we are confident we have enough to hold Britain if need be."

It is clear the army's feeling that the war may be settled in battle on the continent follows the lead of Prime Minister Churchill, who declared last Sunday Britain must prepare for battle "not only for 1941 but for 1942, when the war will I trust, take a different form from the defensive . . ."

This has been taken by all three fighting services as the keynote of their determination to settle accounts, as a naval officer expressed it, "for Dunkerque, Narvik and our toll in civilian lives and homes from bombing."

"Germany will attack us," one military man said. "It will be a bitter battle in which she will lose enormously in men and materials. We expect such losses ourselves.

"We must make certain that when Germany is battered and worn after weeks and perhaps months of fruitless warfare against this island we will have fresh guns, great stores of ammunition and hundreds of tanks and trucks to throw into an offensive of our own.

"This is the day we will need everything we can buy from the United States. Possession of it will bring us much closer to final victory."

Guns of all types are used in Britain now. To cover the coasts and important positions, and for other novel purposes. For instance, airfields which might attract German Junker 88s, the troop-carrying planes, are covered by batteries of heavy guns many miles away.

Landing of the first German plane would be the signal for a terrific bombardment which, artillery officers declare, would churn the field into ruin, destroy the plane and kill the men aboard.

Creston School Assessment Placed at $46,650; New Mill Rate Set at 20

CRESTON, B. C.—Ratepayers of Creston Valley United School District voted $46,650 for the 1940-41 operations of the Junior and Senior High School at Creston and 18 rooms of elementary schools at Wynndel, West Creston, Huscroft, Arrow Creek, Camp Lister, Canyon, Erickson and Creston.

The gathering was in charge of Col. E. Malandaine. A considerable number were opposed to the voting of this amount, but a motion by W. J. Craig to reduce it by $3000 was lost by a standing vote of 13 to 30. The meeting, however, was not so mindful of the purse strings when a motion was submitted to appropriate $650 for the conduct of the School Band. This item was favorably considered by a vote of 45 to 12.

The trustees' request was for $46,000 which will necessitate a tax levy of 20 mills, which is an assessment increase of one and a half mills over 1939-40, when an 18-5 mill levy was all that was required.

The statutory reports were submitted and approved with a minimum of discussion, with the exception of the estimates, where chief objection was taken, seemingly, to a raise in teachers' salaries from about $17,000 the past year to $18,038 for the present school year. Raises of $100 a year had been granted Principals Graham and Marriott, as they had not shared in some salary boosts given the year previous.

Retiring Board Chairman S. A. Speers reviewed briefly the past year's operations, pointing out that Creston now had the best Junior and Senior High School in the Interior. Due to these superior facilities the attendance at the High school was higher than the average for the Province, and on an attendance basis the cost of operations was below the average for British Columbia.

Four candidates offered for election to the new Board of Trustees to fill three vacancies. H. A. Powell and H. S. McCreath were elected for a three-year term, and Donald Bradley was elected for one year. Donald K. Archibald and Hilton Young make up the Board of Management for 1940-41, with Roby B. Robinson reelected Auditor.

The auditor's report was presented by Mr. Robinson and adopted with little discussion. The estimates were submitted by Trustee D. K. Archibald, and in a considerable discussion of these much miscellaneous advice was proffered the new Board, including the restoring of the teachers' salary schedule to last year's level, and the doing away with the home economics and manual training classes. The new board was also advised that with the inspector visiting the schools twice a year there was no need for a supervising Principal, and by restoring him to the regular teaching staff the salary of one teacher would be saved.

It was intimated that a saving might be made by having bus terminals at Arrow Creek, West Creston, Wynndel, Camp Lister and Canyon, and save the double trips now necessary with the bus headquarters at Creston.

Chairman Malandaine spoke in appropriate terms of the services rendered by Trustee Frank H. Jackson, whose death occurred in April. The meeting stood at a minute's silence in respect for him.

Goering Marshal of Greater Germany

BERLIN, July 19 (AP).—Hitler today named Field Marshal Hermann Goering "Reich's Marshal of Greater Germany" and promoted a number of other officers of the high command.

Col.-Gen. Walter von Brauchitsch, Commander in Chief of the German army, and Col.-Gen. Karl Rudolf Gerd von Rundstedt, Commander in Chief of Poland, were made Field Marshals.

B. C. Gov't. Will Ask Widening of the Unemployment Bill

VICTORIA, July 19 (CP).—Widening of the National Unemployment Insurance Bill so that more British Columbia workers can be brought under its shelter will be asked by the Provincial Government.

Premier Pattullo announced today that Hon. George S. Pearson, Minister of Labor, will leave for Ottawa immediately with this end in view.

"We would like to see the scope of the scheme extended, so long as it does not jeopardize the main structure of the plan," the Premier said.

"We realize there are difficulties in the way, particularly in regard to the lumber industry, but we want to see it as wide as possible without injury to the main scheme."

The National Bill excludes workers in the lumbering, fishing and agricultural industries, as well as domestic service and transportation. By the nature of B. C. industry this leaves a large proportion of wage-earners here outside the scheme.

The premier's decision was announced after a cabinet conference on the terms of the new bill.

Because of the nature of the plan the Premier said it was thought best to have a personal representative on hand to discuss details. One or two Provincial officials faproblems will accompany Mr. Pearson.

CIVIL SERVANTS MAY NOT GET PAID WHILE ON TRAINING SERVICE

OTTAWA, July 19 (CP). — Mr. Justice T. C. Davis, Deputy Minister of War Services, intimated today that civil servants attending military training camps will probably not receive their regular civil service pay. No decision has been reached yet on this question.

He considered that men in training would be paid on salary by the government if seemed improbable that they might expect to receive a second salary from the same source.

FAST ITALIAN CRUISER SUNK

LONDON, July 19 (CP Cable)—The Italian cruiser Bartolomeo Colleoni has been sunk in the Mediterranean by the cruiser Sydney of the Royal Australian Navy, it was announced today by the Admiralty.

The Colleoni was the first Italian cruiser lost in the war. It had a displacement of 5069 tons and was armed with eight six-inch guns. It carried two aircraft. At its trials the Colleoni, which was launched December 21, 1930, did 40 knots, making it one of the fastest warships in the world.

The Sydney, which is officered and manned by Australians, also is a six-inch gun cruiser of 6080 tons, but has a speed of only 32.5 knots.

Since Italy entered the war the Italian navy has lost at least 14 submarines and three destroyers, in addition to the Colleoni. Despite Mussolini's persistent claim that the Mediterranean is Italian property, his big ships have spent most of the time lurking in harbor or refusing battle with the British Mediterranean fleet.

The Sydney was named after the Australian warship which sank the German commerce raider Emden at Cocos Island in the Indian Ocean in the First Great War.

The Colleoni had a normal complement of 500 men. The Admiralty communique stated that a British destroyer rescued 230.

The Admiralty statement:

"A British destroyer rescued 250 survivors from the sunken cruiser."

Eire Calls for 400,000 Volunteers

DUBLIN, July 19 (CP).—Eire, using full-page newspaper advertisements, called today for "at least 400,000" volunteers for the armed forces.

Army officials say "an attack may be expected at any moment." Members of the Dail have urged: "Everyone who can walk should join the army."

Col. Liam Hayes, Adjutant General, said he wants 10,000 men, fit and strong, within a week.

Present enrolment is about 190,000, for all forces. The regular army's strength approximates 70,000.

Army manoeuvres were held today—predicated on the theoretical landing of parachute troops.

LONDON (CP)—The Brewers Society has given to the Government as a contribution to the war effort the advertising space it booked in London and Provincial newspapers.

New Japanese Gov't. Will Work Closely With Axis

TOKYO, July 19 (AP)—The inner Government of the new Konoye Cabinet reached a decision today on relations with Italy and Germany, and informed quarters claimed that it calls for a closer working arrangement with the Axis.

These sources said the question of whether the Netherlands East Indies and French Indo-China would be taken under "protection" still was unclarified.

It was considered certain that Japan first will attempt to reach an understanding with Berlin on any action in the South Seas.

Premier Prince Fumimaro Konoye and the other three of his inner Government — Ministers of Navy, War and Foreign Affairs—held a long conference in which they reviewed the entire field of proposed new diplomatic policies.

The subjects touched on included relations with the United States, Great Britain and Soviet Russia, Konoye said in an announcement tonight.

"I cannot at present announce details of the conference, but I say that complete agreement reached," he added.

Japan under her new totalitarian type Government will remain friendly with the United States will not lean over backward improve this friendship, it appears today.

The Foreign Office spokesman Yakichiro Suma, told a Press conference that Japan's desire friendship with the United States would not be decreased even though the new Government should strengthen relations with Germany and Italy.

"Politics are not maintained mathematical formula," he said. "We are friendly with all nations. We have been the party wanting better relations with the United States. We already have our cards on the table, and have been waiting for six months for an American move."

Suma at his Press conference declined to comment on the renomination of President Roosevelt.

Missing Canadians Believed Prisoners

By SAM ROBERTSON
(Canadian Press Staff Writer).

LONDON, July 19 (CP Cable).—Six members of the 1st Canadian Division who have been missing in France more than a month are believed to have fallen into enemy hands.

Three of them are privates and the others sappers who were with the Royal Canadian Artillery. They became detached from their units when the vanguard of the division landed in France in the middle of June just as Paris was surrendering to the Nazi juggernaut.

It is not known whether they were taken prisoner or were removed to French Hospitals after being wounded. If the latter is the cause they are probably German prisoners by now.

The missing are Privates R. J. Creighton of an Eastern Ontario battalion, G. Thompson of a Central Ontario Regiment and N. W. McBugney of the Royal Canadian Army Service Corps.

The sappers are C. Jullen, F. P. Huichinson and G. R. Cooper.

A number of others also were missing when the units which reached shell-blackened France returned to England. However, they since have managed to rejoin their units or have been otherwise located.

Skyscrapers Safe During Air Raid

NEW YORK, July 19 (AP) — The safest place in an air raid is within a steel-framed skyscraper.

This statement and evidence to back it comes from building authorities in New York City.

Two European examples are cited in News and Opinion, publication of the Building Trades Employers' Association of the City of New York. Both are of North American cities. In Madrid, the 20-story telephone exchange of the International Telegraph and Telephone Company withstood constant heavy shelling and bombing for 18 months.

In Rotterdam, damage to ordinary five-story business buildings was terrific, but singularly a 20-story new steel frame apartment building escaped.

Engineers say that the old type of building, which includes all Europe's historic structures, is known as the monolith. This means that the walls support the entire weight of roof, floors and contents.

It means also, in terms of bombing, that a hit which damages a wall may collapse the whole structure.

The articulated skyscraper is an endless steel skeleton, every part of the frame united by steel rivets, by welding, to every adjoining part. This results in what engineers call distribution of load.

Bomb demolition of a lower wall will not necessarily bring down the upper sections. Each part of the building is capable in a measure of standing alone.

Steel not only is a tough material but is elastic. It resists stresses in all directions.

LONDON, (CP)—A weed-killing railway train here has been converted into a mobile fire fighting unit with a squad of six men to deal with air raid and other fires in emergency.

Second Relief Wins Softball Title at Salmo

SALMO, B. C., July 19—Coming through with a sensational late-inning surge, Second Relief Rams made it two in a row in their Salmo Valley Softball League final series with Salmo by ringing up a 14-11 victory. The Relief thus takes the best of three series for the title held the last three years by Kootenay-Belle.

The teams went into the ninth inning all square with 11 runs apiece, but triples by Fairhurst and Reid, sandwiched by singles by Waloshyn, who had homered earlier in the game, and Phillips, pushed-in three runs for the ball game.

Each team used two chuckers, Rusty Gibbons being rushed in a hurry to aid the faltering Gordon Moir, in the ninth inning. Earl Rickard went five innings, and when he walked Anderson, the first man he faced in the sixth, for his seventh base on balls, Hal Bergstrom went in. Rickard fanned two, Bergstrom four, and Bergstrom walked three. Moir walked seven and fanned two.

HIT HARD

The winners pounded out 18 blows, 16 of them off Gibbons, while Rickard gave up seven hits, and Bergstrom, hurling fine relief ball, yielded but two. Rickard hit a double for the Relief for their only other extra-base hit, and Hamberg homered and Esche hit a double for Salmo.

Singer to Fairhurst furnished a double killing for the winners in the eighth.

Japanese Assault New York Writer

SHANGHAI, July 20 - (Saturday) (AP).—Hallet Abend, correspondent for The New York Times, was assaulted in his apartment last night by two Japanese who seized several pieces of manuscript after demanding "all his anti-Japanese writings."

The United States Acting Consul-General, Richard P. Butrick, protested to the Japanese Consul-General, Yoshiaki Miura, demanding an apology, compensations and assurance against repetition of the incident.

Abend said that two Japanese, armed with pistols and with their hats pulled low over their eyes, invaded his apartment in Japanese-occupied Hongkew, beat him on the head, twisted his elbow and forced him to his knees.

He said that in demanding his "anti-Japanese writings," they asked especially for "insulting telegrams" about Maj.-Gen. Saburo Miura, the commander of the Japanese gendarmes in Shanghai.

The assailants finally left with nine pieces of fiction and 364 manuscript pages of a biography of General Frederick Townsend Ward. Abend said this was the fourth time in three years that ruffians had broken into his home.

British Papers Spurn Ultimatum

LONDON, July 20 (Saturday)—(CP).—British newspapers today published Hitler's speech, which they called an effort to drive a wedge between the Churchill Government and the people. The papers were unanimous in spurning Hitler's "peace ultimatum."

The Daily Mail said Mr. Churchill "received a special translation with expert comment on the speech soon after it was delivered, and obviously he will study it carefully."

The Herald, which said Mr. Churchill probably would give a reply next Tuesday in the House of Commons, commented that Hitler's speech was "a false lullaby of appeasement," against which President Roosevelt had warned 12 hours previously.

The Times commented:

"Hitler in effect admits that his offer of peace is purely perfunctory by attaching to it no indications whatever of terms on which peace is possible. Presumably any terms that he would now propose would be based on acquiescence and co-operation in the so-called 'new order' for Europe. Mr. Roosevelt said, his new order is a mere relapse into tyranny.

"We can do no other than fight the last extremity against it."

A BROADGUAGE VIEWPOINT. . .

After We Have Won the War Then Empire Security Must Be First Consideration—Blaylock

A comprehensive post war defence program for Canada and an uncompromising and hard-boiled attitude in dealing with potential enemy nations, were advocated by S. G. Blaylock, President and Managing Director of the Consolidated Mining & Smelting Co. of Canada Ltd. in a speech to the Trail Canadian Club. He urged Canadians to place national security foremost and to insist that this policy be carried out.

Mr. Blaylock declared that the British Empire had been caught napping at the outset of the war, and warned that it should not be allowed to drift in to so perilous a position again.

Urging vigorous, independen action to place the Dominion in a position to help the Empire in the event of another crisis, the speaker condemned the Government's relief policy and proposed that it be abolished in favor of compulsory military training.

Cheers greeted Mr. Blaylock's assertion that "We can take it for granted that evensutlly Britain will win the war, and it is with respect to the future that I want to give you a few of the ideas that have been uppermost in my mind in regard to the precautions that we should take not to allow our Empire to drift into such a perilous position as it did after the last war."

PICTURE GREATLY CHANGED

He had planned to come to the Canadian Club with a simple message, Mr. Blaylock said. Several weeks ago, when asked if he would address a meeting he had had no conception to the tragic turn the fortunes of war would take. Now, he said, the picture was changed materially. The rapid and disastrous destruction of the French Empire, and all that it meant to the world, had left Britain alone, forced to carry on the struggle against Germany single-handed.

Though Britain was now forced to carry the whole of the burden, the result had been to weld the Empire into one big unit more completely than ever before.

"The Empire is determined to carry on to victory, and unquestionably will do so. Defeat cannot be considered for a moment by the British people. Unlike the Germans who have not developed much of a background in tradition, freedom, individual rights, what is known as 'playing cricket,' etc. the British have through the centuries become so saturated with these ideas, that they cannot and will not conceive that any other method of living is possible for them."

While the whole conflict was now left on Britain's doorstep, "our Canadian Government is showing that it has made up its mind—I may say at last—to carry its full share of the load," the speaker continued.

As proof of this assertion Mr. Blaylock cited the budget brought down by the Finance Minister recently. It had been, he believed, received with satisfaction by almost everyone and he felt that Canadians could now feel that they were "going to town" on the war.

"I am sure the Government will feel the country more and more behind it as it takes up more responsibility. We will have to give much but I am sure there will be no complaint. Unquestionably we are going to be broke when this war is over. But I am sure there is not one of us who would not rather be broke than lose the war."

DON'T BE TOO TRUSTFUL

Mr. Blaylock favored strong defences rather than gentlemen's agreements in safeguarding the country.

"Gentlemen's agreements are alright when you are dealing with gentlemen. But after this I think we should have an acid test to determine what nation is a gentleman."

After the First Great War British statesmen had been too sane Mr. Blaylock was of the opinion. They had thought the millenium was around the corner. Some had opposed war preparations in the belief that wars were instigated by capitalists as a scheme to make money.

Declaring this idea was ridiculous the speaker pointed out that in the last war casualties had been proportionately far greater in British moneyed families than among the working people.

"That gives the lie to the theory that war is brought on by the upper crust," he added.

Mr. Blaylock contrasted Canada's military unpreparedness with the increasingly high standard of living and felt that too much had been spent in increasing that standard and too little in protecting its security. Though democracy was probably the most inefficient form of Government ever devised, yet countries which had followed that form had undoubtedly achieved the highest standard of living, including not only the greatest amount of personal freedom, but the greatest amount of personal possessions and better living conditions, higher education, and so on.

The higher a man's standard of living rose, the higher he wanted to push it. Mr. Blaylock said. Too much of the proceeds of the nation were spent in increasing that standard, he believed.

He recalled conditions 20 years ago when people had got along comfortably on a simple scale.

MUST HAVE MORE

"Now we are not satisfied: we must have more. To the young man who refuses to use a small car, but wants a high priced automobile or an airplane, I say this: 'Watch your step lest you wake up under a dictatorship, pushing a wheelbarrow'."

The war had forced all members of the British nation to realize that they were partners, Mr. Blaylock continued. Conscription of wealth had been cheerfully accepted in the British Isles. Canada had accepted sacrifices in the same spirit.

"In the last few months we have seen all classes of society agree to give everything they had to the comon cause. If after the war we can maintain some of this spirit to the extent that all classes will agree to give a proportion of their wealth to the safeguarding of the nation, and insist that all Governments keep the national safety as the first plank in their platform, we will never again have to go through what we have been going through now and what is still to come.

"By the time this war is finished, practically the entire world will be bankrupt with the possible exception of the United States. Tremendous debts will have to be worked off. Much of the industrial equipment will have been destroyed and will have to be replaced. Working hours will be longer; wages may be high or low as they are only relative. It is this period of reconstruction which is going to try us even more than the war itself."

Preparations for post war reconstruction should already be under consideration, the speaker suggested. Some of these steps, he said, were self evident. Labor and capital should try to form a definite partnership in industry, indicating that interests were identical in almost every case—a base wage alone being the only place in which this might not follow. Mr. Blaylock maintained that the Government should encourage legislation to bring capital and labor together, rather than to separate them.

CHANGE LONG DESIRED

"This undoubtedly would cause quite a change in our industrial set-up but it is a change that we have been working towards for a great many years in the Consolidated company.

"I am afraid that a great many of our workmen and citizens do not realize how far we have travelled in that direction. In the last couple of years we have had a lot of propaganda directed against this system. This propaganda has not paid any attention to the truth beyond picking up a catch phrase and distorting it. However, they are powerless to change the facts. These facts will prevail and we will again have the same happy family, or happier, than we had before this element started to work. The system depends on the mutual respect and confidence between management and men for its success and for the comfort of all. For the time being some of the confidence and trust have been shaken. Other disturbing elements have also added to the general uneasiness. I am sure every one of us has felt most unsettled and under a severe strain for several months. This situation was much the same in the last war.

IMPORTED THEORIES

"Many innocent theories were brought out of the dust bin, revived and started off with a flourish. Most of these things came in from other countries and again most of them tended in some way to hold up the Empire war effort.

"These things will be swept up and thrown back in the dust bin where they belong. What we are concerned with now is not changing our Government while we are crossing a dangerous stream, but doing our utmost to win the war completely and quickly. After the war is won, it will be time enough to examine all these theories as we see fit."

As an immediate condition accompanying the present struggle, Mr. Blaylock saw increased wages with increased production and increased purchasing power in consequence. If purchasing power were not withheld, he continued, prices would skyrocket and in the end the wage earner would get less for his money than before. This had been pointed out by the Finance Minister in providing the public with the opportunity to aid in financing the war by buying War Savings Certificates.

"After the war there is bound to be a retrenchment, or depression, and its extent is going to be gauged by the extent to which we have held down the cost of living. Investment will assist in rehabilitation," he said, in advocating the purchase of War Savings Certificates.

WORST TO COME

Mr. Blaylock praised citizens for their spirit in accepting the fact that sacrifices were inevitable. The Federal budget had been severe, he declared. "But cheer up, I'm sure the next one will be worse."

In this connection the speaker congratulated the women for their energetic execution of war work. Their sincere effort, he said, was heartening. They had stepped out at the beginning of the war at the same tempo they had achieved after four years of organization in the First Great War.

Mr. Blaylock touched on the refugee problem as it would likely affect Canada. He felt the removal of children to the Dominion should be encouraged and he predicted that the exodus of children from the British Isles would in the near future reach far greater proportions than conceived at present.

Lashing out against politicians whom, he charged, had opposed and delayed railroad amalgamation in Canada, Mr. Blaylock believed the problem was one for timely consideration. Besides the tremendous saving that would result from eliminating duplication, the move would release men badly needed in Canadian industries during wartime.

"In 1932 the Duff Commission told the Government that $70 million a year could be saved by consolidating the Canadian railroads. If only $40 million could be saved it would help greatly. The cry that has blocked this move before has been the cry that it would put men out of work. That was a political excuse, and both parties were to blame. If this consolidation could be put through in six months, it would free many men for industrial production. This duplication is positively shameful," he said.

RECRUITING PARTY TO ENLIST IN PEACE RIVER

CALGARY, July 19 (CP).—Lieut.-Col. Louis Scott, district recruiting officer, Military District 13, will leave Calgary this weekend for the Peace River Country with a recruiting party and medical board to enlist men for the newly formed 10th field company, Royal Canadian Engineers, the 4th division petrol company, Royal Canadian Army Service Corps and for infantry units.

Hard, Desert Army Ready for Italians

Ready to meet and smash any Italian drive against Egypt or British possessions and protectorates in the Near East and Africa, is a tough and well-trained army composed to a large extent of New Zealand and Australian troops. They have been joined by French and Polish officers and men of the French Near East forces who refused to accept Germany's armistice terms. At top left a Bren gun crew of New Zealanders is pictured in action sweeping the skies above the desert from a sandbagged gun-pit. At right turbaned troops from British India race across the sands in a Bren gun carrier, one of the most useful of mechanized weapons over desert terrain. Below, a field regiment of the Anzac artillery prepares gun positions and camp sites in the open desert.

First Case of Encephalomyelitis at Creston; Veterinarian Warns Farmers to Vaccinate All Horses

A warning to West Kootenay farmers to have their horses vaccinated at the earliest possible opportunity against encephalomyelitis was issued by Dr. J. D. Macdonald, Provincial Veterinary Inspector, in Nelson Friday.

A horse at Creston had been stricken and probably died by night, he said. It was the first case in the Kootenays since last year, and he hoped to block the disease before it could spread to other animals.

While the Government was not issuing any free vaccine or doing any vaccinating this year, farmers could do it cheaply themselves he said. The small expense incurred would doubtless prove its value if some horses in the district were to contact the disease.

The horse at Creston was one of a few not vaccinated last year. It was on the farm next to that where another horse died of the disease last year.

Trail Bears Check Redmen's Winning Streak With 18-11 Second Half Win

TRAIL, B. C., July 19—They did it. The Trail Golden Bears checked the Rossland Redmen's five straight winning streak to widen the gap between Bear's lead and the Redmen's second place position in the West Kootenay Lacrosse League when they beat them 18-11 at Trail Friday night.

It was the best game played in Trail this season and the largest attendance of the year thrilled to its exciting plays. A large number of Rossland boosters attended, their lusty cheers resounding through the battle.

It was either team's game until half time as the score board blinked tie scores and one-goal leads alternately. The score was 4-3 in Trail's favor at the end of the first quarter, but at half time Redmen were out in front 8-7. With bared fangs the Bruins unleashed a series of flashing combination attacks on the Redmen's teepee and clicked on almost every try. They were five markers up at three-quarter time. Continuing the pressure in the final quarter they increased their lead to win by a comfortable margin of seven goals.

Both Sam Sapronoff of Rossland and Louie Moro of Trail, respective net minders, were hard-pressed all through and won rounds of applause.

Canada Referred to by Hitler in Offering Peace

BERLIN, July 19 (CP).—Hitler spoke of Canada in two passages of his speech to the Reichstag today, offering Britain a "last chance" for peace.

Here are the passages:

1. "From Britain I now hear only a single cry, the cry not of the people but of the politicians, that the war must go on. I do not know whether these politicians already have a correct idea of what the continuation of this struggle will be like. They do, it is true, declare they will carry on the war, and that even if Great Britain should perish, they would carry on from Canada. I can hardly believe that they mean by this that the people of Britain are to go to Canada. Presumably only those gentlemen interested in the continuation of their war in Britain and the people in London will certainly regard the war with other eyes than their so-called leaders in Canada. . . ."

2. "Only a few days ago Mr. Churchill reiterated his declaration that he wants war. Some six weeks ago, he began to wage war in a field where he apparently considers himself particularly strong, namely, air raids on the civil population, although under the pretense the raids are directed against so-called military objectives. . . . Until now I have hardly had any reprisals. That does not mean this will be or is my only reply. I know full well that our answer which will come one day will bring upon the people unending suffering and misery. Of course, not upon Mr. Churchill, for he no doubt will already be in Canada where the money and the children of those principally interested in the war have already been sent. . . ."

"I have tested over 1200 head of cattle in the Rossland, Trail, Nelson, and Slocan Valley districts and there isn't a sign of T.B. in any of them," stated Dr. J. D. Macdonald, Provincial Veterinarian Inspector, in Nelson Friday.

"There is nothing wrong with any of the dairies supplying milk to Nelson," he said.

Dr. Macdonald commented on the cleanliness and general good conditions of barns he had inspected.

Second Reading for Insurance Bill; Hanson Advises Men to Head Plan

OTTAWA, July 19 (CP). — National compulsory, contributory unemployment insurance hurdled the first main obstacle in the House of Commons today when the bill was given second reading and referred to a select committee of 15, without dissent or vote.

On motion of Hon. Norman McLarty, Minister of Labor, the measure was moved for second reading at the start of today's sitting.

The measure now will be subject to public examination before this committee which, starting Monday, will hear representations from labor and industrial organizations.

Conservative Leader R. B. Hanson led off the debate with some recommendations to the Government; he nominated Hon. Gordon Harrington, former Nova Scotia Premier, as a good choice to head the Commission which will administer the scheme.

Mr. Harrington was head of the short-lived Commission created by the Bennett Government in 1935 after passing of an Unemployment Insurance Act, later judged unconstitutional by the Privy Council.

The Conservative Leader also nominated Tom Moore, President of the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada, "or some one of his type," to serve as Labor's representative on the Commission.

A plea that the House be kept in session until the Unemployment Insurance Bill became law was made by Angus MacInnis (C. C. F., Vancouver East). His group would facilitate passage of the measure.

Paul Martin (Lib., Essex East), who gave a commentary on many of its details, said the Canadian Manufacturers' Association had indicated it proposed to resort to any legitimate means of preventing enactment of the measure in war time.

Make-up of the committee to which the bill will be submitted was criticized by A. W. Neill (Ind., Comox-Alberni) who has labored for years to have an unemployment insurance scheme initiated. He held labor was inadequately represented.

Mr. Neill urged also that the act be made to include loggers and lumbermen, fish cannery workers who worked about 10 months a year, those engaged in water transportation the year round on the Pacific coast and domestics.

J. A. Marshall (N. D., Camrose), asked that agriculture be also included.

R. W. Mayhew (Lib., Victoria), contended the bill was not sufficiently inclusive in the occupational groups covered by the plan.

Brooklyn's Rabid Dodger Fans Give Umpire Reardon the Razzberry

Among all the rabid baseball fans in this old universe, those who cheer the Brooklyn Dodgers are the most hysterical. Every play the Dodgers make is cheered in Ebbett's Field, lair of the Dodger troupe, and conversely every play by the opposition is greeted with a rising wave of jeers. And umpires—well they're just natural targets for the scorn and derision of Brooklyn fandom. "Beans" Reardon, one of the better men in blue was simply asking for trouble when he called out Brooklyn's Coscarart (left) in a Dodger home game, and if you think he didn't get it, look at the photo on the right. Dodger fandom is giving Reardon everything it's got in the way of the razzberry and even the arbiter's broad shoulders must have quailed under the storm. The fact that Coscarart was clearly out is just incidental, for to make matters worse the opposition was the hated New York Giants. Cuccinello is the first-baseman tagging Coscarart.

Tigers Strengthen Top Place Hold; Yanks Beat Indians; Dodgers Beaten

By The Canadian Press

Thornton Lee held Washington to five hits yesterday as the Chicago White Sox raided Walter Masterson and Joe Krakauskas for a dozen hits and a 9-1 American League victory.

Detroit Tigers consolidated their grip on the top rung by abutting out Boston Red Sox 4-0 behind the seven-hit pitching of veteran Tommy Bridges.

Roar of the onrushing New York Yankee machine sounded louder as the world champions pulverized Cleveland Indians 15-6 to sweep the three-game series.

The victory, however, was not without its cost. Lefty Gomez caught a terrific drive off Roy Weatherly's bat on the heel of his hurling hand in the fourth inning and was painfully injured. It is doubtful if the veteran will pitch again for several weeks.

Johnny Berardino's homer with one on in the ninth inning supplied the winning margin as St. Louis Browns snapped a 14-game losing streak in beating Philadelphia Athletics 9-7.

New York Giants beat Pittsburgh Pirates 5-2 for their fourth win in nine National League starts on their current Western swing. Hal Schumacher won his seventh victory by batting in three runs with a triple off Rip Sewell in the fourth when the winners made all their runs.

Chicago Cubs pounded out 17 hits off three Brooklyn pitchers to put a sudden halt to Dodger dominance 11-4 in the final of their three-game series.

Outhit 14-8 Boston Bees bunched four safeties with two Cincinnati errors in the seventh inning to defeat the first-place Reds 8-7. The Reds remained three games ahead of Brooklyn as Chicago defeated the Dodgers.

St. Louis Cardinals snatched both games of a doubleheader from Philadelphia in late innings, winning the first 3-2 and the second 5-3.

"Red" Tullock will try his arm against the Nelson Seniors again Sunday afternoon, and if his three-year record of nine victories in 10 tries stands up under the fire of Nelson's heavy artillery, the Indians will add to their first-place advantage.

However, the difference between the three league teams is even slimmer than the standings indicate, for each of Nelson's four defeats were by one run, the Indians accounting for three of them. "Lefty" Mydansky, who bore the brunt of last week's defeat at the hands of the Indians, may be seen in action again.

The lineups follow:

Henry and Lew to Be Paid; Mead Given Suspension

By SID FEDER
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, July 19 (AP). — The State Athletic Commission cleared the way today for Henry Armstrong and Lew Jenkins to get paid for their fight Wednesday night, and Promoter Mike Jacobs immediately announced plans for a return match between the two in Madison Square Garden September 27.

The Commission, which had held up the fighters' purses without giving any reason yesterday, cleared up the "mystery", and then soothed its ruffled dignity by pinning a 60-day suspension on Eddie Mead, Armstrong's Manager, for an unimportant row over hand bandages.

The Commissioners explained they held the purses only because they wanted Welterweight Boss Armstrong and Lightweight Champion Jenkins to post forfeits of $2000 and $1,000 respectively to make the next defences of their titles in this State. Promoter Jacobs immediately returned to his office and mailed the forfeit money to the fistic fathers.

The Commissioners, after weighty thought, decided Armstrong must fight for his 147-pound crown "on or about" Oct. 16 and Jenkins must put his lightweight title up around Nov. 11.

Both fighters agreed to a re-play of Wednesday's fight in which Armstrong stopped the Texas thin man in a six-round thriller. Conditions would be the same—12 rounds, non-title with both coming in under 140 pounds.

Commission Chairman John J. Phelan said he cracked down on Mead because the Manager had refused to let his fighter go into the ring yesterday if the Commission insisted on removing the bandages already on Henry's hands. Mead explained he and Manager Caplin had a private agreement concerning the amount of bandages to be used, and the Commission held this amount was in excess of its rules.

Right Fielder Mel Ott of the New York Giants, coming all the way from first, slides safely into third on Second Baseman Tony Cuccinello's single to left in the first inning of the first game of a doubleheader between the Giants and the Philadelphia Phillies at the Polo Grounds, New York City. Merrill May covers third for the Phillies.

Mydansky Going Good on Mound

"LEFTY" MYDANSKY

"Lefty" Mydansky, veteran of many baseball wars in the Kootenay and Alberta, may be given the starting pitching assignment against Trail Indians here Sunday afternoon when the two teams meet in a West Kootenay league game.

Mydansky, who once had a fine chance to break the big time with the Red Sox before his arm went back on him, has compiled a remarkable earned run average of 1.13 a game. He has allowed only three runs of the earned variety in 24 innings, and has appeared in four games. In each of those games the big Southpaw retired voluntarily in favor of Ray Humble, after pitching five frames of two, and seven in the others. So far he has struck out 16, walked three and hit one. His earned run average is bettered only by Humble who has a .910 mark. He won two games and lost one, by a single run.

Catholics, Savoy Start Softball Playoff Sunday

C.Y.O. and Savoy Hotel will battle it out Sunday afternoon after the senior baseball game to decide possession of first place in the Nelson Men's Softball League. It will be a sudden-death playoff game to decide which team will draw the bye into the league final series. The loser will go into a best of three semi-final series with Hume Hotel, starting the following Friday.

The Catholics and Savoys finished in a first place tie in the league schedule, the last game of the schedule ending in a 4-4 tie. Their previous meeting resulted in a 7-6 victory for the Hotelmen.

The same batteries will be used in the recent draw game — Jack Fisher and Denis Ball for Savoy and Les Trainor and Pete Kuntz for the Catholics. The remainder of the lineups follow:

Savoy—Jim Cherrington 1b, Jimmy Niven 2b, Sid Ball ss, Bill Kapak 3b, Art Hill, Glen Scribner, Wilbur Bentz, Archie Hardy, George Russell and Eric Packenham, outfielders.

C.Y.O.—Carl Locatelli 1b, Ernie Beland 2b, Lawrence Selinger ss, Eugene Maglio 3b, Armando Maglio, Jimmy Eccles, Louis Maglio, Rev. Edward Doyle and Andy Selinger, outfielders.

Hockey Player Is Killed by Lightning

MOOSE JAW, July 19 (CP). — Kenneth Davidson, 24, well known hockey player, was instantly killed by lightning last night.

When the bolt struck Davidson was sitting on the steps of a restaurant at Scout Lake, 22 miles South of Assiniboia. He was seated between two companions.

Davidson played rugby football for Moose Jaw Maroons, being a member of two junior championship teams, was a member of the midget juvenile and junior Canucks Hockey Clubs, and played two seasons with Regina Vics in the Saskatchewan Senior League.

Joe Louis, at 26 years, may hold the heavyweight championship for quite a few more years, if past records mean anything. . . . Here's the list since John L., giving the age when the title was won and the age when the champion was beaten: Sullivan won at 23, lost at 33. Corbet won at 26, lost at 30. Fitzsimmons won at 34, lost at 37. Jeffries won at 24, retired at 31. Burns won at 24, lost at 27. Johnson won at 30, lost at 37. Willard won at 31, lost at 35. Dempsey won at 24, lost at 31. Tunney won at 28, retired at 31. Schmeling won at 24, lost at 26. Sharkey won at 31, lost at 32. Carnera won at 26, lost at 27. Baer won at 26, lost at 27. Braddock won at 30, lost at 32. Louis won at 23.

Keglers from Ohio monopolized the spotlight at the American Bowling Congres championships, recently held in Detroit, Mich., with G. Pallage, 40-year-old Akron office worker, taking most of the bows on his entry into the pin topplers' hall of fame with a perfect 300 score—the seventh in the 40 years of Congress history.

Ojibways Junior Champs Annual Camp at Koolaree

OJIBWAYS CROWNED

As Happy Day No. 10 draws to a close, so does another glorious camp for the Junior Boys. This morning everyone was up bright and early to take physical jerks, flag raising and breakfast. We had our last project and Bible groups. Rev. W. J. Silverwood talked to the boys in Bible group.

Then we had our softball semi-finals between the Omahas and the Ojibways to see who would meet the Kootenais in the final. The Omahas were beaten by the third place Ojibways 14-11. The game was thrilling all the way.

A swim was enjoyed by everyone. Dinner was sure a swell one. After dinner we had tent inspection and the Ojibways had set a record by winning it every single day of the camp.

After a short rest period, all the braves went on a treasure hunt. There were 12 clues all together. The highly coveted treasure was found by Jack Neil of Cabin 3. He received 10 points for his cabin and two chocolate bars.

Everyone was feeling hot after the hunt so they went in for a swim.

SOFTBALL CHAMPIONSHIP

In the championship softball game between the Ojibways and the Kootenais. The Kootenais won 16-9 to take the game and the championship. By the time softball was over it was time for the campfire. Fred Robins led the boys in songs and then the Ojibways put on a play called "Sue's Message." The scribes read humorous reports of the camp activities.

By this time it was decided to start the closing ceremony. Fred Robins presented K's to the camp champions, the Ojibways. They received a big blue K for winning the championship of the camp, and a small red K for two more championships. The Abenackies received a small green K for winning the aquatic meet; the Omahas a small green K for the track meet, and the Kootenais a small green K for the softball championship. Additional K's were awarded to the nurse, Mrs. Short, and her daughter, "Billy" Short.

CHAPEL SERVICE

After the awarding of the K's we all went over to the chapel for a short service at which the leaders said a few words to the boys. Then everyone returned to the campfire and had cake and cocoa.

We had our last friendship circle and went to our last sleep for this year at Koolaree.

Sports Roundup

By EDDIE BRIETZ
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, July 19 (AP). — Sallies in the fistic alleys:

Don't be surprised if the Manassa Mauler is really through this time. That back injury he suffered in Detroit is no joke. . . . Mrs. Kate Jenkins said "Lew's mistake was that he grew a little careless when he had Armstrong where he wanted him." (We musta missed that). . . .

TODAY'S GUEST STAR:

Wilbur Wood, New York Sun: "Henry Armstrong isn't half the fighter he used to be and Lew Jenkins isn't half the fighter he was supposed to be."

Suffolk Downs got off to a bad start (because of the weather) but is now about a quarter of a million ahead of the same time last year. . .

If the Dodgers win the pennant, they may play their world series "home games" in Yankee Stadium, where about twice as many customers can buy tickets. . . Baseballers are still chuckling over the wire Lefty Gomez sent to Georgie Selkirk the day Twink was benched here during the White Sox series. It read: "Sorry you're not in the line-up." . . . and it was signed "Thornton Lee". . . .

Safe bet: That during his basketball coaching career out at the Coffeyville, Kas., High School, Wendell Willkie employed a 'fire department" offence.

TENNIS TIDBIT

C. H. DeYoung of Halifax brought suit recently against a tennis club because its members were forever hammering balls into his yard, flattening his phlox and causing him "substantial discomfort and inconvenience." . . . The judge, evidently not a forehand filbert, awarded him $100.

No baseball team in the history of the game ever has won a pennant without a first rate catcher, either as an actual player or as a manager. This would indicate that topflight catching is one of the most important phases of the national game. Several catchers have made good managers, among them Connie Mack, Mickey Cochrane, Gabby Street, Ray Schalk, Gabby Hartnett, Bill Carrigan and Del Baker.

Turfmen who claim horses on tracks in New York State are required to pay a 2 per cent sales tax to the state.

Husky Australian Wins First Round in Chicago Open

CHICAGO, July 19 (AP). —A husky star from 'Down Under" —Big Jim Ferrier of Australia —threw the heaviest punch today as a surprisingly strong amateur contingent gave the professionals a rousing battle in the opening round of the $5000 Chicago open golf championships.

Ferrier, who writes for a Sydney newspaper, went around Tam O'Shanter's layout in 66 strokes, six under par.

Holder of the Australian open and amateur titles, Ferries turned in nines of 34-32, getting seven birdies and going over par on only one hole. With a putter red-hot, the Australian clipped regulation figures by dropping putts from 10 to 45 feet.

A stroke off the pace was Johnny Revolta, veteran professional from Evanston, Ill., who went out in 32 and came home in 35 for a five under par 67. Willie Turness, former United States amateur champion from Elmsford, N. Y., had identical nines of 34 for a 68 which tied the effort of Dick Metz, Chicago professional. Three other pros tied at 69—Ed Oliver of Hornell, N. Y., and Ralph Guldahl and Johnny Bulla of Chicago.

Lawson Little, national open champion, had a one-over-par 73, as did Sam Snead and Ben Hogan, two of the brightest stars of the game's professional camp. Gene Sarazen, who tied Little for the open crown at Cleveland then lost in a playoff, came in with a 74.

The second 18 holes of the 72-hole battle will be played tomorrow, with the 48 low professionals and 24 low amateurs, plus ties, qualifying for Sunday's 36-hole final duel.

REMEMBER WHEN?

Pre-fight gossip gave the Welshman little chance against the Detroit negro but Farr crossed critics by staying 15 rounds. He lost the decision.

Paris Stirred by Protest Against Petain Regime

PARIS, July 19 (Via Berlin) — A rising chorus of protests against the new French regime of aged Marshal Petain is keeping Paris stirred up politically.

"A new situation requires new men," cried the newspaper Les Dernieres Nouvelles de Paris. "We demand them."

The new publication La France au Travail took the same stand.

It directed sharp criticism at the political pasts of Ministers in Petain's authoritarian Government, especially Vice-Premier Pierre Laval, and called for delay in establishing a new constitution until the "situation" becomes stabilized.

Petain's Government is understood to be negotiating with German authorities for a return to Paris from the temporary capital at Vichy.

In general, Parisian business is returning to normal, although German military police have assumed shield control of all highway traffic through French territory under Nazi occupation, where only persons with special passes now may travel.

A new decree prohibits travel between the occupied and unoccupied zones except in extraordinary cases.

Reopening of Paris banks today ended a month-long financial paralysis of the city. An order of the French Finance Ministry instructed the banks to "resume normal financial operations" permitting withdrawal of savings accounts, payment of interest and sale and redemption of Government bonds.

A moratorium on payment of commercial bills falling due before August 1 extended for another month, however, and foreign exchange dealings were not resumed immediately.

Suspension of bank withdrawals and the moratorium were ordered by the Prefecture June 26 after financial houses closed.

The Paris Bourse was expected to reopen soon.

Paris dressmakers not only are reopening their establishments, but some are getting ready to show August collections as usual.

Molyneux's said its regular Fall and Winter styles had been prepared at Biarritz and would be shown in Paris at the usual time. Bruyere's said Mme. Bruyere was returning to Paris to design her August collection.

FRANCE WARNED AGAINST FAMINE

NEW YORK, July 19 (AP)—The British Broadcasting Corporation, in a report heard here today by the National Broadcasting Corporation, said the French newspaper Le Temps has warned of the likelihood of a famine because France now is forced to live on her reserve food supplies.

The B.B.C. reported Le Temps had issued a protest against German requisitioning of French supplies.

Dutch Freighter In Canadian Port Will Be Searched

PORT COLBORNE, Ont., July 19 (CP).—The Dutch freighter, Prins Willem II, will be searched as a precautionary measure against any possible trouble, a reliable source said here today. The boat is carrying a cargo of coal.

The vessel operated by the Nieuw Amsterdam line, was taken into custody by Royal Canadian Mounted Police officers yesterday as she signalled for entry into the Welland ship canal.

The officers boarded the vessel and began removing the hatch covers. They would not talk to reporters and prevented anyone from approaching the canal wall in the vicinity of the vessel.

It is believed there are Canadian seamen among the crew, engaged when 12 members of the original crew were held in Detroit for possible deportation to a Netherlands possession.

Among the eight remaining members of the original crew, it was said a mutiny occurred just before the vessel entered port here and it was said they would be interned.

Capt. Christian A. Van Dery Eyck was quoted as saying members of the crew raised a wage dispute and attached the vessel for $1900 wages due in Sandusky, Ohio, as a pretext to avoid sailing to Canada where they feared they would be interned.

The attachment proceedings were dropped when word was received from the invaded Netherlands that the families of the crew had received the share of wages sought.

NAZIS TO ACT AGAINST MISTREATMENT OF GERMANS IN INDIES

AMSTERDAM (Via Berlin), July 19 (AP).—Germany will take action regarding alleged mistreatment of Germans in the Netherlands East and West Indies, a German spokesman declared tonight, claiming the steps would be reprisals against persons now in German-occupied Holland.

"East and West Indian authorities are responsible," he said.

"They don't understand how Europeans in the colonies have to be treated and don't appreciate the good treatment (by Germany) of Netherlands war prisoners."

FINANCE MINISTRY TO BE REESTABLISHED IN PARIS

GRENOBLE, France, July 19 (AP)—Finance Minister Marcel Bouthillier will leave for Paris on Sunday to re-establish the French Finance Ministry in its offices on the left bank of the Seine, the newspaper Le Petit Dauphinois reported today in a dispatch from the seat of the Petain Government at Vichy.

B. C. Tourist Trade Is Suffering From Propaganda, U. S.

VANCOUVER, July 19 (CP). — British Columbia's tourist trade has suffered by loss of 2626 automobiles carrying nearly an estimated 8000 United States tourists since enforcement of the passport regulations July 1, according to figures released here today by W. A. Rundle, Traffic Manager of the Vancouver Board of Trade.

Total American cars crossing into B.C. from the United States during July 1 to 15 was 2626 less than during the same period last year, said Mr. Rundle.

"There seems to be a misunderstanding, perhaps the result of adverse propaganda on the other side," he said. "Our tourist traffic committee has been giving a good deal of study to the situation, and it is apparent that a lot of Americans mistakenly think the new rules will make it difficult for them to return home from Canada."

Detailed figures of the four major ports of entry from the U. S. show the following totals for the first 15 days of July this year and in 1939: 1939:

Pacific Highway: 1940, 1829; 1939, 3143.

Huntington: 1940, 836; 1939, 1226.

Cloverdale: 1940, 460; 1939, 663.

WHISPERING CAMPAIGN DISCOURAGING TOURISTS

VANCOUVER, July 19 (CP). — Existence of a whispering campaign in parts of the United States aimed at discouraging Americans from travelling in Canada was claimed by a group of 16 tourists arriving from the United States today, led by W. H. Watson, Canadian National Railways Passenger Agent at St. Paul, Minn.

Mr. Watson said his office had been deluged with calls from people who had been told it was necessary to arm themselves with documents, including birth certificates, for entry into Canada on a visit.

More Ships Are Sunk, Say Nazis

BERLIN, July 19 (AP)—The text of today's German communique:

"German submarine warfare scored additional successes. One U-boat sank 31,300 registered tons of enemy merchant shipping space. Another U-boat succeeded in shooting a large armed merchant steamer from a strongly protected convoy.

"German fighting planes again raided with great success airports, port facilities, and military barracks in England as well as ships off the coast of Northern Scotland and the Channel. Four merchant ships totalled 12,000 to 14,000 registered tons were sunk by bomb hits. Twelve merchant ships and two petrol boats were hit, some so severely damaged that a total loss of several units can be counted.

(The only merchant ship reported attacked was the trawler City of Aberdeen, which was beached in sinking condition on the Irish coast, and only minor damage was reported.)

"As becomes known now. We succeeded July 16 in sinking an enemy submarine by bomb hits.

(No submarine has been reported lost within the past few days.)

"The German defence hindered enemy aiming of bombs in night flights over Northwest and Western Germany, thus only small personal injuries and property damage was caused. In the course of this action anti-aircraft artillery shot down three enemy planes. Total enemy losses yesterday were 12 planes and two barrage balloons. Of these planes seven were bagged in air fights, five by anti-aircraft. Two German planes are missing."

EXPLOSION THOUGHT TO BE "CHILDISH PRANK"

NEW YORK, July 19 (AP).—Acting Lieut. James A. Pyke, Bob Squad Head, dismissed today as "a childish prank" an explosion on the Fifth Avenue side of Central Park yesterday afternoon. The blast apparently was caused by flashlight powder packed into a small metal container.

War Blockade Opens Newsprint Market to Canada

OTTAWA, July 19 (CP)—Canada's newsprint and wood pulp industry, after several tough years, has come around to robust health, and a Trade Department official stated today, the war is responsible.

The blockade of the Scandinavian trade routes was given as the reason for sharp increases in sales of Canadian newsprint and wood pulp in recent months.

"Scandinavian countries, particularly Sweden and Finland, did a large newsprint trade with South America and sold large quantities of wood pulp to the United States," the official said. "Canada has taken over much of these markets."

Exports to the United Kingdom have increased for the same reason, he added.

For the past few years Canada has led the world in newsprint exports. June exports of this product were 6,413,000 hundredweight, valued at $13,168,000, compared with 4,893,000 hundredweight valued at $10,680,000 in June, 1939.

Last month's figure was the third highest in the industry's history.

During the six months ended June 30, 1940, exports amounted to 30,103,000 hundredweight, worth $68,560,000, compared with 24,302,000 hundredweight, worth $56,526,000, during the same period of 1939.

June shipments represented 98.1 per cent of capacity, compared with 97.9 per cent in May and 64.1 per cent the same month last year. Expansion in last month's shipments was mainly to the United States, which alone took 5,067,800 hundredweight.

Wood pulp exports have risen even more abruptly and for the same reason.

During June Canada shipped 2,119,000 hundredweight of wood pulp valued at $5,786,000, compared with 849,000 hundredweight valued at $1,925,000. Figures for the first six months of 1940 were 10,184,000 hundredweight ($26,589,000) against 5,534,000 hundredweight ($12937,000) for the same period last year.

U. S. Gov't. Objects to Mexican Oil Pipeline Deal

MEXICO CITY, July 19 (AP)—Mexico was reported today to have virtually completed negotiations for construction of an oil pipeline to facilitate sale of petroleum to Japan, but the deal was said to be bogging on the objection of the United States State Department to participation of a New York construction firm.

The pipeline would run across the Isthmus of Tehauntepec from Puerto Mexico on the Gulf of Mexico to the Pacific port of Salinas Cruz. It would carry 40,000 barrels of oil daily from the Gulf fields, for sale principally to Japan but also for a Mexican drive to open up markets on South America's West coast.

This would put Mexico in direct competition with California oil wells.

The Raymond Concrete Pipe Company of New York is reported to have agreed to run the pipeline across the rugged mountains of the 150-mile wide isthmus for $6,500,000, taking about a year for the job.

However, Washington's attitude appeared to present a definite hitch in the plan. The State Department is said to frown on participation of the American company because of the present unstable character of Japanese-American relations.

TORONTO MINING STOCKS LOWER

TORONTO, July 19 (CP)—Mining stocks closed narrowly lower and the industrials moderately higher today on the Toronto Exchange.

Western Oils also firmed slightly. Golds wilted in the final hour. Volume tapered down to about 100,000 shares, less than half Thursday's turnover.

Senior oils, foods, utilities, steels, beverages and miscellaneous industrials displayed more strength than weakness but few gains exceeded minor fractions.

International Nickel eased off a small fraction and minor fractions were retained by Noranda and Smelters. Waite-Amulet and Chromium lost ground.

Gains of 4 and 6 cents respectively came through for Home Oil and Commoil. Okalta also added a few cents to sell at 75. Other Western oils held unchanged.

Winnipeg Trade Remains Static

WINNIPEG, July 19 (CP).—Traders confined their activities to light operations in the October wheat future in today's dormant session on Winnipeg Grain Exchange. All prices continued unchanged at their pegged minimums of 71¾ cents a bushel for July wheat, 73¾ for October and 74¾ for the December future.

No indications of any export or mill demand were provided to encourage trading, and uncertainty as to the Government's wheat policy added to the waiting attitude.

Domestic support on the part of mill buyers provided a mild flurry in the coarse grain pit, with oats advancing as much as three cents during the session. There was also some domestic support for barley.

Cash grain traders neglected No. 2 Northern, but there was trade in small lots of the lower grades. Activity was generally light.

Narrow Changes in Hesitant Coast Trade

VANCOUVER, July 19 (CP) — Prices moved along a narrow path in hesitant buying on Vancouver Stock Exchange today. Transactions totalled 19,410 shares.

In the oils Home at 1.60 rose two from Thursday's bid while East Crest lost a fraction to 3 and Royal Canadian remained unchanged at 15. Other oils were inactive.

Grandview was the lone base metal trader but was unchanged at 10.

Corn Advance Gives Strength at Chicago

CHICAGO, July 19 (AP) — A 2-cent advance in the price of December corn, which represented the new crop, gave the entire grain market a spurt of strength just before the Hitler speech started today, but quotations later eased fractionally from the session's highs.

Wheat rose more than a cent, with some buying attributed to mills. High temperatures in the wheat and corn belts attracted attention and purchasing by previous short sellers accelerated the advance at times, but much of the strength in the new crop corn contract was based on the fact that it has been quoted at an abnormal discount by cash grain prices in view of the country holding policy.

Wheat closed ½-1 cent higher than yesterday, July 74½-¾, September 74¾-⅞; Corn ½-2¼ higher, July 63, September 60⅝-½, December 56⅝-½; oats ⅛-⅛ up.

WALL ST. FAILS TO PULL RALLY

NEW YORK, July 19 (AP)—The stock market again pulled its rallying punches today. Both buyers and sellers remained in the do-nothing ranks during Hitler's address, which tended to overshadow the political scene at home.

Backward stocks included U. S. Steel, General Motors, Sherry, American Telephone, Kennecott, Westinghouse, Phelps Dodge, Union Carbide, U. S. Gypsum, Standard Oil of N. J., and Southern Railway.

Occasional resistance was exhibited by Montgomery Ward, Douglas Aircraft, Willys Overland common and preferred, and United Aircraft.

Bonds were moderately steady, as were commities.

Dome, Distillers Seagram and Lake Shore showed fractional gains among the select Canadian issues. In the bond market Canada 4s were up 1¼ points.

Bankers Watch Gold Price Sag

ZURICH, Switzerland, July 19 (AP)—International bankers are watching the price of what gold Europe still holds on this side of the Atlantic sag steadily lower as fears of totalitarian "goldless economy" widen in the wake of German conquests.

Most bankers of Switzerland, the principal continental banking centre for Europe throughout the war, said such fears did not seem valid, but blamed them for the unsteadying liquidation of hoardings and the drop in gold price of bank notes.

The Swiss 20 franc goldpiece (containing 5.8064 grams of gold) has dropped from 33 francs ($7.50) just after invasion of the Netherlands to latest quotations of 27 francs ($6.22). The price before the war was 30 francs ($6.90).

In recent German-Swiss bank clearings, the Swiss National Bank has offered payments in gold, but these were refused. Germany, unable to send the gold overseas for purchases, preferred to take Swiss-manufactured goods.

After the invasion of the Low Countries many persons bought gold to hoard, fearing Switzerland might become involved. With that scare over they have been unloading the gold for negotiable bank notes.

The Swiss National Bank which holds more than $480,000,000 for coverage of notes is refusing to buy more gold because it would be required to issue more notes.

HOWE SOUND CO. REPORTS NET PROFIT OF $409,403

Foreign Bonds Gain

NEW YORK, July 19 (AP)—The bond market ambled along quietly today, with dealings light and price changes small.

In the foreign sector a few issues, recently sharply depressed by the European war news, recovered fractions to around 4 points.

Miner Robbed of Life's Savings $1850

VANCOUVER, July 19 (CP)—Police today sought a thief who stole $1850, representing the life savings of 50-year-old Gottfried Lehmann, with which he was about to buy a farm on which to retire.

Lehmann saved the money in 22 years of work at the Surf Inlet Gold Mine, and placed it in a trunk in his room on his arrival here. Last night he went to get the money to purchase a farm at nearby Langley Prairie, but found it gone.

ITALIANS CLAIM STEAMSHIP HIT

ROME, July 19 (AP). — Text of today's Italian High Command communique:

One of our air formations reached the base of Gibraltar in a long flight of 3200 kilometres (approximately 2000 miles) hampered by weather conditions and effectively bombed the arsenal and other military objectives.

(A British announcement yesterday said three persons were killed in this raid.)

"A steamship surprised by our planes while trying to pass through the channel of Sicily was hit by bombs, seriously damaged and then abandoned by her crew, which left the ship drifting. All our planes returned. In the Eastern Mediterranean an enemy submarine has been sunk."

(There was no confirmation of these claims from British sources.)
