"FLYING TIGERS" SMASH 40 JAP PLANES

MANY CHANGES FOR LADIES' AND CHILDREN'S WEAR

Interfere as Little as Possible With Style

TO HELP PREVENT SUPPLY SHORTAGE

MONTREAL, March 24 (CP)—Sweeping changes in women's and children's wear, designed to conserve supplies of materials but to interfere as little as possible with style, were announced here today by the Wartime Prices and Trade Board. The announcement was made in a press release here.

J. A. Klein, the Board's Administrator of women's misses' and children's wear, said that the order strikes at "cloth over cloth," or the manufacture of jackets, coat hoods, capes and such items as additional and unessential attachments to dresses and other forms of clothing.

Though the order becomes effective immediately, its application to Spring and Summer style goods will not start until June 1. Thus, manufacturers presently producing Spring and Summer lines will be allowed to continue such production until that date. This means that from the Canadian woman's point of view, the new "Victory" clothes will not be seen in shops until the Fall.

Mr. Klein said that the Order was designed to "prevent the development of a very acute supply situation." He added that there was no immediate shortage of supply and normal buying by Canadian women would help to make it possible "to clothe everyone indefinitely."

The Order limits the hems and sweeps of all styles of garments. It rules out bodices attached to the tops of skirts and replaces them with waist bands. It limits the sizes of belts and restricts to nine the number of buttons that may be used on any one dress. Matching underslips and bell sleeves are "out" and each dress may have only one zipper with a maximum length of nine inches in daytime dresses and 13 inches in evening dresses.

Prohibited by the Order is the manufacture of lounging pyjamas, housecoats for children up to size 14, two-piece kiddies' pyjamas up to size six, and dance sets. The use of ruffles or frills on the bottom of nightgowns and slips is also banned.

On separate skirts, the Order forbids patch pockets and limits zippers to seven inches in length. The colors for such zippers are restricted to black, navy, tan, brown or white. In the case of special made-to-order garments, the only variations in measurements permitted will be those necessitated by the actual physical requirements of the individual.

In addition to manufacturing restrictions, the Order lists a series of other regulations for manufacturers.

Manufacturers must reduce their expenses for "styling by one third of the amount spent in 1941 and they must cut sample ranges one third. They must not sell on approval and they must not share with retailers in any save National Advertising and then only on a controlled scale. The Order also forbids manufacturers to demonstrate or promote sales of goods by establishing a personal representative in any retail store.

Two U.S. Destroyers Presumed Lost Near Java

WASHINGTON, March 24 (AP)—The Navy reported tonight that the United States destroyers Pillsbury and Edsall have been missing since early March in waters around Java and must be presumed lost.

The time at which the vessels were last reported and the scene of their disappearance indicated they probably were trying to reach Australia after the Japanese, in the Java Sea battle, had established domination over the waters around Java.

BRITAIN'S COAST AGAIN POUNDED BY HUN BOMBERS

Danger of Invasion Looms; Tides Favorable

SCORCHED EARTH POLICY PLANNED

By WILLIAM B. KING
(Associated Press Staff Writer).

LONDON, March 25 (Wednesday) (AP). — German bombers again attacked the Southeastern coast last night and early today. Following up Monday night's assaults which were the most destructive since the major raids of 1941, the Nazi airmen dropped bombs on several moonlit areas but preliminary reports said damage was slight and there were no casualties.

British bombers, counter-attacking across the Channel with an escort of fighters yesterday afternoon, attacked a power station at Comines, Northwest of Lille, France, and other objectives, the Air Ministry said.

Seven British fighters were lost in the sweep, while only two Nazi fighters were destroyed, the communique said.

Monday night's assaults were aimed at Dover and two other coastal towns.

On the eve of the invasion season—when Channel tides are favorable for a seaborne thrust — Britons frankly were concerned lest Hitler, driven by desperation, might launch his threatened all-out assault upon this heart of Empire. (Also see "Warns," page 10.)

Such an attempt, it was reasoned, might open with a blow like last night's in an attempt to blast a bridgehead for German troop barges.

If invasion comes, a "controlled and directed" scorched-earth policy will be carried out.

It was pointed out that the destruction could not be carried out with the same thoroughness and severity as in Russia, because of civil and military considerations dictated by the limited area of the British Isles.

Huns Guide Building of New Airdromes Near Turkish Border

MOSCOW, March 24 (AP).—German engineers have supervised the construction of 24 new airdromes and 90 landing fields in Bulgaria near the Turkish frontier, Tass News Agency reported today in a dispatch from Istanbul.

Further German and Bulgarian troops were said to have been moved to the border, and strategic highways were being pointed toward Turkey.

OCCUPATIONS ON RESTRICTED LIST ARE ANNOUNCED

Men 17 to 45 May Not Do Restricted Work Unless Permitted

MAY APPLY TO SERVICE HEADS

OTTAWA, March 24 (CP)—The Government has designated a list of "restricted occupations" in which no man may take employment unless he is not between the ages of 17 and 45 years inclusive, has been discharged from the armed forces, or has been rejected for service because of physical unfitness, it was disclosed today by Prime Minister Mackenzie King.

However, any person may apply to the National Selective Service officer for permission to enter into such restricted occupations "and such National Selective Service officer may grant or refuse such permission," the Order said.

The action was taken, said the Order-in-Council tabled by Mr. King, because "there is a growing scarcity of men available for service in His Majesty's Armed Forces and for employment in the war industries."

The "restricted occupations" designated in the Order were described in the preamble as "occupations which are relatively unessential or can be satisfactorily filled by women or men who are beyond the military age or are physically unfit for service with the armed forces."

These are the "restricted industries."

"Bookkeepers, cashiers, stenographers, typists, clerks, office appliance operators, messengers, salesmen and sales clerks, taxicab drivers.

"Any occupation in wholesale or retail trade, advertising and real estate.

"Any occupation in or directly associated with entertainment, recreational or personal service, including but not restricted to theatres, film agencies; motion picture companies; clubs, bowling alleys; pool rooms; sports; barbering and hairdressing; domestic service; dyeing, cleaning and pressing; hotels and lodging houses; laundering; restaurants, cafes and taverns, funeral service, baths, guide service, shoe shining.

"Any occupation in the manufacture or production of: "biscuits, confectionery, cocoa; bread and bakery products; aerated and mineral waters and other beverages; liquors, wine, beer; rubber products; tobacco, cigars, cigarettes; leather and fur products; textile products; furniture and upholstering.

"Photography; printing, publishing and engraving; radios, refrigerators; washing machines and vacuum cleaners; jewelry and watchmaking; pottery and china; soaps, and toilet preparations and articles; mattresses; musical instruments; barber and beauty shop equipment; cameras and films; sporting goods; games, toys and novelties.

"Any occupation in the repair of clothing, boots and shoes, furniture and household equipment, jewellery or watches, musical equipments."

USE OF RECLAIM RUBBER BARRED BY NEW ORDER

Pucks, Tennis Balls, Toys, Hose and Heels Hit

FREEZE STOCKS NOT IN PROCESS

OTTAWA, March 24 (CP) — Munitions Minister Howe announced tonight a "sweeping new order" curtailing use of reclaim rubber.

At midnight last night the manufacture of hundreds of articles using reclaim rubber was halted and no more such rubber now may be processed except by permit or for essential war suplies, the statement said.

Alan H. Williamson, Supplies Controller, has frozen all stocks of civilian reclaim rubber not in process, pending issuance of permits for its use for essential civilian goods.

Manufacturers, advised of the new order, were told "the Controller will issue permits on application authorizing use of reclaim for purposes for which the use of crude rubber now is authorized for essential civilian items."

The new order, approved by R. C. Berkinshaw, Chairman of the Wartime Industries Control Board, says that "after midnight, March 23, 1942, no person shall, except under a permit in writing issued by the Controller, start in process any rubber reclaim, ground scrap, crumb, springs, or ground uncured scrap containing fabric, for other than defence projects or for the making of munitions."

Under previous orders affecting use of new crude rubber, hundreds of civilian articles could no longer be made. The new order, now shuts off completely the manufacture of many other articles for which reclaim rubber was suitable.

Hockey pucks, tennis and lacrosse balls, children's rubber toys, rubber fly swatters, mats, matting, garden hose, rubber soles and rubber heels, are some of the articles which will no longer be manufactured.

Under the new regulations processors of rubber, both crude and reclaim, are permitted to make only a few civilian articles regarded as absolutely necessary to the health and industrial life of the country.

These include:

1. Medical, surgical and laboratory supplies, and druggists' sundries for the feeding of infants and care of sick persons.

2. Protective clothing, gloves, and footwear for such essential services as police, firefighting, commercial fishing, mining, lumbering, merchant marine, decontamination, and where necessary for workers in the dairy, canning, acid, and electrical industries.

3. Articles for industrial machinery, hard rubber and sponge rubber products and compound latex for industrial equipment and for the repair of industrial plants and mines, fire departments, transportation companies and other public utilities.

4. Component parts, not otherwise specified made wholly or partly of rubber for incorporation in articles of various kinds, if the controller has first stated in writing that rubber is necessary in their manufacture.

5. Rubber compounds for the making of wire and cable.

6. Suction and gasoline hose.

7. Essential plumbers supplies.

8. Tires and tubes of seven inches or more in cross-section for other than private passenger cars. (No passenger car tires are being made.)

9. Tire repair materials other than tire repair kits.

10. Camelback for retreading.

11. Automotive parts, if the controller has first stated in writing that the use of rubber is necessary in their manufacture.

12. Rubber cement for the shoe trades.

13. Staple black lines of waterproof footwear.

14. Jar rings and sealing compounds for canning foods other than beverages.

Bicycle tires for new bicycles may be manufactured, but the rubber released for this purpose will be limited to the average amount used monthly from June 1, 1940, to May 31, 1941. Bicycle tires for replacement may be made on a quota of .60 per cent of the monthly average during the same period.

Snowstorms could be seen both North and South of the City and there were slight falls several times during the day in the city.

UNIFIED BRITISH AIR-BORNE UNIT FOR OFFENSIVE

Glider Regiment Is First to Come Into Corps

WILL EMBRACE SECRET TROOPS

By LOUIS V. HUNTER
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, March 24 (CP Cable)—A War Office announcement today on formation of an Army Air Corps gave Britons a new hint that their military leaders have carefully laid plans for streamlined offensive action against the Axis.

This newest unit in the Nation's mighty striking force, which one day will be used to sweep the enemy from occupied territory, includes a regiment of glider pilots whose existence was disclosed in the announcement which said all air-borne troops are being brought under one command.

The glider regiment, obviously designed primarily for invasion purposes, is the first to be brought within the scope of the new corps, created by Royal Warrant to simplify the administration of Army air-borne units.

The corps eventually is expected to embrace many "secret" troops and naturally will include air-borne infantry troops.

Authorities were silent on other aspects of the new corps but military observers said it was doubtful whether it would include an Army Air Force. The Royal Air Force could be used as a protective screen in any operation in which units of the Air Corps participated.

British glider troops have not been in action yet but for some time have been in training. They are not to be confused with parachute troops which have been used twice—once in Italy and again recently when the radio-location station was destroyed at Bruneval, France.

Together, the glider troops and paratroops will make a team hard to stop, observers predicted.

Woodsworth Ashes Sprinkled on Gulf Waters at Coast

VANCOUVER, March 24, (CP)—The ashes of James S. Woodsworth, pioneer Canadian Labor Leader and founder of the Co-operative Commonwealth Federation, were committed today to the waters of the Pacific Ocean as he had wished.

From a cabin cruiser, the "Fourth Estate" owned by Mr. Woodsworth's son, Charles, the ashes of the Canadian Socialist were sprinkled by members of his family in the Gulf of Georgia, just outside English Bay between Stanley Park and Jericho.

Mr. Woodsworth's ashes were taken aboard the cruiser after a brief private funeral service.

Memorial services at leading Canadian cities will be held Sunday to honor the C.C.F. Leader.

Catch Jap Pilots Running to Planes in Surprise Attack

On Burma Land Front Chinese Are Furiously Attacked Only Seven Miles Below Toungoo in Week's 40 Mile Push

KUNMING, China, March 24 (AP)—"Flying Tiger" pilots of the American volunteer group smashed 40 Japanese planes at the Thailand airport of Chiengmai today in a dawn attack which caught the Japanese by surprise, it was announced here.

Dropping from the sky at 7 a.m. the United States airmen caught the Japanese pilots as they were running to the cockpits of their planes and pumped 3500 rounds of ammunition into both grounded planes and personnel.

Seven Japanese planes were seen bursting into flames, and the remainder of the planes were riddled with machine-gun bursts, dispatches said.

Most of the Japanese pilots were reported hit.

But the enthusiasm of the returning pilots over the success of the raid was dampened by the death of their squadron leader, Jack Newkirk.

His plane was seen crashing near the Japanese air field at the end of a low dive, and his mates believe that a burst of machine-gun fire from a Japanese gun mounted on a parked truck near the air field got him.

Newkirk, one of the most daring A.V.G. pilots, was awarded the British Distinguished Service Order earlier this month for his spectacular exploits over Burma.

"It won't be easy to find his equal," said Brig.-Gen. Claire L. Chennault, A.V.G. commander.

Recalling their departure from the United States, a close friend related:

"When we pulled out of San Francisco he told his bride of a few days 'this is not exactly like a vacation.'"

VIOLENT BATTLE

LONDON, March 24 (AP). — Chinese troops holding the Allied left flank in Burma were violently engaged tonight by the Japanese in an area only seven miles below the important position of Toungoo, toward which the enemy had advanced 40 miles up the Sittang River in a week's operations.

A communique from Chinese general headquarters announced this sharp forward movement upon the barrier to the approaches to Mandalay and the left anchor of an Allied line stretched Westward to Prome, on the Irrawaddy South of the central Burmese oil fields.

It was also revealed that the defenders were without local air support. However, Allied aviation was elsewhere in heavy and effective action, principally against the rearward bases of Japanese air power, and the enemy in turn was striking with heavy force.

Around Toungoo, the fighting was bloody an dinconclusive.

"Casualties were heavy on both sides," said the Chinese communique. "The Chinese forces have the situation well in hand."

E. M. Little to Head Selective Service, Canada

OTTAWA, March 24 (CP).—Appointment of Elliott M. Little, Associated Director of the Wartime Bureau of Technical Personnel, to a newly-created post of Director of National Selective Service was announced in the House of Commons today by Prime Minister Mackenzie King.

Associated Director for National Selective Service will be Paul Goulet.

Mr. Little had been prominently mentioned for the director's position before Mr. King spoke. His work during more than a year in the technical personnel bureau has been of similar nature, although on a smaller scale, to that called for by his new post.

Mr. Little will have the "administrative responsibility for the direction and coordination" of the Government's selective service policy, Mr. King said.

Use of Cloth in Men's Clothing Now Restricted

MONTREAL, March 24 (CP). — The Wartime Prices and Trade Board today issued an amendment to its order of March 5 restricting the use of cloth in the manufacture of men's clothing which will result in restrictions going into effect at midnight tonight.

No manufacturer of ready-to-wear or made-to-measure clothing can receive any orders after midnight for old-time suits, but he will be given until May 1 to cut out the material for the suits. Any outfits not completed by that date must be cut along the newly authorized lines.

Gift-to-Britain Bill Passes; Two Post-War Committees Established

OTTAWA, March 24 (CP)—The House of Commons today passed the $1,000,000,000 Gift-to-Britain Bill and constituted two special committees on matters relating to the welfare during and after the war of men in the armed forces.

One committee is charged with responsibility for reviewing the administration of canteen funds and recommending legislation providing for their distribution either during or after the war. The other is charged with the general problem of post-war reconstruction planning and rehabilitation.

The House also approved one of Agriculture Minister Gardiner's wheat policy bills in committee of the whole. It amends the Prairie Farm Assistance Act to bring the measure in line with the increased initial wheat price of 90 cents a bushel proposed in another bill now before the Agriculture Committee.

Conservative House Leader Hanson and other Opposition members, including Mr. Coldwell, urged Mr. Mackenzie to make a general statement of the Government's post-war reconstruction policy before the reconstruction committee was set up. The Minister said he had intended making such a statement but would make it to the Committee.

He preferred, he said, not to occupy the time of the House when more urgent business—Finance Minister Ilsley's money bills—required attention before the Easter recess.

Extensive studies had already been made by committees of citizens and 30 major reports on various phases of the problem would be submitted to the Commons Committee.

Jap Bombers Smash at the Philippine Defenders; Jap Motor Column Raided

WASHINGTON, March 24 (AP).—A furious renewal of the battle of the Philippines was reported today by the War Department, with the Japanese launching a major air assault against Corregidor and Bataan and American-Filipino troops springing a successful attack on an enemy motor column at Zamboanga on the Southern island of Mindanao.

The Japanese losses in the Mindanao fighting were heavy, the Department said, but the attacking troops lost only one soldier.

Floating mines have been encountered in large numbers in Philippine waters, the Department's communique added, apparently sown by the Japanese in an attempt to disrupt inter-island shipping.

The enemy may have adopted this device as a result of the dramatic trip of General Douglas MacArthur.

The aerial assault on Corregidor and Bataan, in which 54 heavy bombers participated, appeared to be the start of the long-expected enemy attempt to silence the island forts at the entrance of Manila Bay and drive the American-Filipino forces from Bataan.

Buildings Using Oil Asked to Change to Coal Where Possible

OTTAWA, March 24 (CP)—British Columbia users of fuel oil for heating purposes have been instructed under the order of Oil Controller G. R. Cottrelle to have oil heating equipment converted to use of coal by June 1 where such conversion is possible, it was learned authoritatively tonight.

The Order applies to hospitals, churches, apartment buildings, office buildings, banks, theatres, public buildings, hotels and also will affect industrial plants under certain conditions. Industrial plants may continue to use fuel oil only when production processes require the use of either oil or gas.

The Order was made because of a shortage of fuel oil on the West Coast due to naval and other essential requirements.

Mr. Lacombe will be able to resume his seat tomorrow afternoon.

Mr. Lacombe has been in conflict with the House rules on many occasions since he left the Liberal ranks to sit as representative of his own "Canada" party as a protest against the manpower plebiscite.

Huns Hurl 600,000 Reserves Into Battle; "No Substantial Changes"

MOSCOW, March 24 (AP) — The Germans have hurled 600,000 reserves into a massive but futile effort to wrest the initiative from the Red Army, the Russians reported tonight, and a special announcement said 18,000 of the enemy had been killed on the Leningrad front alone.

More than 38 newly-arrived Nazi divisions were declared to be taking part in fighting raging from one end of the front to the other with battles in some areas as savage as any witnessed in this war.

But despite this gigantic effort by the Germans, tonight's regular Soviet communique said tersely that during the day "no substantial changes occurred at the front."

The subsequent special announcement said the 18,000 Nazis were slain from March 9 to 22 on the Leningrad front by Red Army units which captured enormous stores of booty.

In this area during the same period it listed 86 German planes destroyed.

The regular communique said that 31 planes were destroyed along the the entire front yesterday against 15 Soviet losses.

Units of the Soviet Fleet operating in the Barents Sea were credited with sinking a German submarine.

VANCOUVER, March 24 (CP) — Spokesmen for both the logging camp operators and the loggers themselves said here today that British Columbia's logging industry has been hit by the most serious shortage of loggers since the First Great War.

Nigel Morgan, International Representative of the International Woodworkers of America, said skilled men are needed most in the Queen Charlotte Island camps where airplane spruce for war factories is being produced.

A spokesman for the logging camp operators estimated that between 600 and 700 men are needed for logging camps immediately.

100,000 Munitions Workers Needed . . .

Sweeping New Measures Affect Civilian as Well as Military Age Groups

Compulsory Training to Include 21 to 30 Year Age Group . . . Civilians Between 17 and 45 May Not Be Employed in Non-Essential Industry Without Permission . . .

OTTAWA, March 24 (CP)—Compulsory regulations to ensure that Canadian men and women make their full contribution to the civilian war effort, and extension of the age limit for the call-up for compulsory service in Canada to 30 years, were features of the National Selective Service program announced by Prime Minister Mackenzie King in the House of Commons today.

Speaking for nearly an hour to an expectant House of Commons, Mr. King made the following announcements:

1. Men between the ages of 21 and 30 years, inclusive, will be called up for compulsory training and service in Canada.

2. Those persons engaged in non-essential work occupations may be transferred at Government request to essential war work.

3. Employers of those so drafted will be required to reinstate such personnel on release from war service.

4. Employers of personnel, even if only of 1 person, must complete registration cards listing their workers for the Unemployment Insurance Commission, even though the personnel is uninsurable.

5. Civilians may not be employed in non-essential industries without permission from Selective Service officers if between the ages of 17 to 45, except when worker has been rejected from armed services, effective as from March 23.

6. Persons engaged in agriculture may not leave to take other occupations without permission, except for seasonal work in primary industries, to take active service or compulsory service within Canada.

7. Those who have been rejected for service on physical grounds, both volunteers and those called up, to be treated with a view to physical rehabilitation for armed services.

8. Classes to be set up in co-operation with educational institutions to train men for personal management.

Heavy penalties are provided for those disobeying the compulsory clauses of the new regulations for civilian workers.

Appeal Boards will be set up to guard against injustice to individuals or firms, the Prime Minister said.

A long list of restricted occupations was set forth in Orders in Council tabled by the Prime Minister and containing the new regulations.

Those engaged in these restricted occupations will be subject to call to essential war activities and no new employees may be taken into such restricted industries except with permission, if not suitable by age or recorded unfitness for essential war services.

It was "a misconception" to assume that wartime man-power problems had to do only with raising men for the armed services, Mr. King said.

Essential civilian services must be continued and those engaged in them were performing war service "just as truly as those making munitions or serving in the armed forces," he said.

"In order, however, to free younger men for direct war service, civilian tasks, as far as may be possible, should be performed by older men or by women."

Food production was an essential war service and "the man-power required for food production must be kept available," if that branch of the war effort was not to suffer.

Mr. King said there were about 600,000 workers engaged in munition making and 100,000 more would be needed in the next 12 months.

The armed services would require approximately 13,000 for the Navy, 100,000 for the Army, and 80,000 for the Air Force, in the next 12 months, a total of 193,000 as well as those who would be called up for military service within Canada.

Mr. King explained that "National" service meant any form of service, voluntary or compulsory, which contributed directly to Canada's war effort.

"Selective" service meant the selection of men and women for the tasks by methods calculated to render the most satisfactory results.

But "Selective National service did not necessarily mean "compulsory" service. It applied also to voluntary service.

"As a war measure, compulsion is only of value where it serves to ensure a greater total effort," he said.

Jap Arrested at Rossland Taken to Vancouver

VANCOUVER, March 24 (CP).—Saburo Takahashi, 21-year-old Vancouver Japanese who was arrested near Rossland, B.C., last Thursday when police found sketches of the Warfield-Tadanac industrial area in his possession, has been brought to Vancouver by Royal Canadian Mounted Police.

Police said they had brought Takahashi here at the request of the British Columbia Security Commission.

Italians Claim 19 Warships Hit in Gulf Battle

ROME, March 24 (AP)—The Italian High Command claimed today a total of 19 British warships and merchant vessels were sunk, damaged or at least hit in an air and naval engagement that ranged from the Gulf of Sirte off the Libyan coast into the Eastern Mediterranean.

Torpedo-carrying planes, three of which were reported lost in the operations, were credited with sinking a cruiser, an unidentified naval unit and a 10,000-ton merchant ship while German bombers which joined in the attack on the convoy were said to have sent another merchant ship to the bottom.

All of this action took place in the Gulf of Sirte, the High Command said. It claimed that in the Eastern Mediterranean a British naval squadron "probably returning from the battle area" was attacked last night by Italian planes which hit a cruiser with two torpedoes and registered one hit on a large destroyer.

MacArthur Makes Promise to Give All Possible News

UNITED NATIONS HEADQUARTERS, Australia, March 24 (CP)—Gen. Douglas MacArthur, though saying "I am an old censor myself," has pledged himself to get news from newspapermen covering his headquarters rather than suppress it.

The General's promise was made yesterday during his off-the-record discussion with correspondents and it was permitted to be published today.

"My main purpose," he said, "is not to suppress news but to get news for you.

"The reason for efforts by the United States and Australia to inform the public what is going on is that if it does not know the truth its imagination operates, thereby reducing confidence.

"Silence will react against you. It therefore is a crime. It is important that the public should be told so it can summon confidence and determination of purpose in support of the war effort.

"I want your help, without which we cannot get that maximum effort needed to win.

"I am an old censor myself. What I have said does not mean that what we give out here you have to take and use or that you are limited to canned news and cannot use your brilliancy.

"It does not mean you must abstain from criticism but I hope that before you criticize you will avail yourselves of the facts. If you do you will find most criticism disappears.

"I am always glad to give you my full knowledge or opinion on any subject but as background only."

The Supreme Commander of the United Nations in the Southwest Pacific declared there has been "nothing more astonishing in the progress of this war, which is really the application of force to human nature, than the position occupied by public opinion.

"One cannot wage war under present conditions without the support of public opinion, which is tremendously moulded by the press and other propaganda forces."

Canadians Report Smooth Crossing

BY LOUIS V. HUNTER
Canadian Press Staff Writer

A BRITISH PORT, March 24 (CP Cable)—A contingent of several hundred Canadian troops and airmen and another hospital unit have arrived in Britain after an Atlantic crossing from Canada that was "just like a cruise."

The troops, which will join the swelling ranks of Canada's overseas forces, included reinforcements for artillery units and members of army service corps reinforcements units.

Personnel of the 8th Canadian General Hospital included more than 50 nurses.

The men in air force blue were mostly air crews—pilots, gunners, wireless operators and navigators.

These men will reach squadrons after a spell at personnel reception depots in the South of England and operational training with units in other parts of the country.

Besides the fliers the transports carried some ground crew men.

The nursing sisters were anxious to meet friends from Western Canada, whence most of them come. They found the crossing unexciting but said they had an enjoyable time aboard the big ships which carried them safely through dangerous areas of the Atlantic.

"The crossing was very quiet," one of them said. "It wasn't as rough as we had expected it to be. In fact it was just like a cruise."

Like the soldiers and airmen, they were looking forward to landing leave. London was the general choice of the new arrivals, most of whom wanted to see for themselves the air raid damage the Empire capital suffered.

The convoy also brought a number of Polish and Netherlands troops.

Jap Naval Man Says Offensive Must Be Taken Again for Victory

BERLIN, March 24 (AP)—A Japanese Naval spokesman was quoted by the German radio today as advocating ceaseless offensive as the key to victory and naming Australia and the Indian Ocean as areas which must be seized "as strongholds for big future military operations."

The quotation was from Capt. Hideo Hiraide, writing in the Tokyo newspaper Yomiuri, to argue against prolonging Japan's pause in attack—an interlude since the conquest of Java by which, he said, "Japan is now defensive and the Anglo-American Powers on the offensive."

"Defensive lines do not, however, lead to victory. Japan, therefore, must win the present war by offensive tactics.

"It must continue its offensive by securing the Indian Ocean and Australia as strongholds for big future military operations.

"Although over 50 enemy submarines and four out of a total of nine enemy aircraft carriers have been sunk since the outbreak of war in the Pacific is expected to reinforce his fleet this year by another 10 special carriers. The enemy will then be sure to attempt attacks from Hawaii, New Zealand, Samoa and other points."

Hiraide then discussed the opinion prevailing in some Japanese circles that the wealth of Southern regions already is entirely at Japan's disposal and that the Japanese Empire thus is invincible.

The Captain termed this a gross mistake.

"The raw material sources of the Southern regions are not yet accessible, although in Japanese hands," he wrote.

"Only when Japan is able to make a practical use of these sources will her position be invincible."

Trail Airman With 'Lucky 13' Group Overseas

AN EAST COAST CANADIAN PORT, March 24 (CP)—Superstitions don't bother these young air force members from Canada's West, as they proved by flouting a succession of "unlucky" thirteens during their training and still arriving safely in Britain with the latest contingent of Canadian troops.

Aboard the big grey transport here before they started the Atlantic voyage whose completion was announced today the boys, all sergeant wireless air gunners in the R.C.A.F., told of their experiences.

There were 13 in their group which started training at an Eastern flying field, and they stayed in hut No. 13 at camp. They graduated on Friday the 13th, traditional breeder off ill-luck, and got ready to set out for overseas on another Friday 13th.

"All that doesn't worry us a bit," the spokesman for the group said. "Right now our trigger fingers are itching, and we hope we can shoot down 13 Jerries apiece the next time Friday the 13th rolls around."

Included in the group were L. F. Kelly, of Vernon, B. C.; G. Navey, a former professional boxer from New Westminster, B. C.; W. A. Magee and P. V. Norris of the same city, and N. J. Melatini of Trail, B.C.

Keen eyed comrades of these boys came from every section of Canada, and all just as anxious for action.

AIRMEN CARRY GOOD LUCK PIECES

AN EAST COAST CANADIAN PORT, March 24 (CP)—Lucky trinkets will fly into battle with the youthful Canadian pilots whose safe arrival in Britain was announced today.

To a man the pilots denied they were superstitious, but most of them admitted they carried some good luck charm or good luck piece and averred they would have them when they finally clashed with "Jerry" somewhere in the clouds.

A pink teddy bear was the ludicrous bit of fluffy magic that protected D. C. Plaunt of Sudbury, Ont., from all evil. It was slightly battered from being carried from one training camp after another, but retained its look of a beneficient buddah on a bender.

Sergeant pilots who carried with them charm trinkets included G. A. Pothecary of Vernon, B. C.

Port Moresby Is Again Under Fire

MELBOURNE, March 24 (CP)—Japanese airmen made their second big attack in two days on Port Moresby, outer island outpost of Australia's Northeastern defence, sending over two waves of bombers protected by fighter planes today.

The bombers first centred their attack on the New Guinea port's airdrome in a persistant effort to wipe out combined Australian and American air forces which have made Japanese positions in this area costly to maintain.

Then they attacked targets near the town while navy zero fighters sought to drive off defending planes.

Prime Minister John Curtin, who announced this, the only military action on the whole Australian front today, said no damage or casualties so far had been reported from the raid and added that one of the raiders was damaged by anti-aircraft shells and probably was unable to get back to its base.

Following yesterday's strong attack in which 19 heavy bombers dropped 67 bombs about the Port Moresby airport, it appeared the Japanese were concentrating their remaining air strength in the Northeastern island area to knocking out this objective.

The Japanese, from their landing places at Lae, Salamaua and Finschhaven on the Northeastern New Guinea coast, have been reported moving inland up the Markham River, possibly for an attempted land attack on Port Moresby from the North, but there was still no further word of this expedition today.

Four Airmen Die As Planes Collide

WINNIPEG, March 24 (CP).—Four airmen attached to No. 5 bombing and gunnery school of the Royal Canadian Air Force at Dafoe, Sask., were killed, another was seriously injured, and a sixth man escaped unhurt, when two training planes collided in mid-air six miles from the school's airdrome yesterday.

The dead are: Sgt. Pilot Harry Nacum, Montreal, pilot of one of the planes. Lac. D. F. Hood (1705 West Broadway) Vancouver; Lac. G. G. J. Hower, Allentown, Pa., U.S.A.; Lac. E. P. Harris, Speers, Sask. Seriously injured: Lac. C. G. Harris, Speers, Sask. Uninjured: Sgt. Pilot W. M. Haggart, pilot of the second plane.

Army Air Corps to be Formed

The order brings all Britain's airborne troops into one unit, a step which is expected to be started by placing glider troops under the new command.

Whatever your washing method . . .
you need Sunlight's "EXTRA-SOAPINESS"
for those extra dirty parts

As no doubt you know from your own wash-day experience, the very dirty parts of clothes are by far the most difficult to get really clean. Any cleanser—powders, flakes or bar soap—will remove the ordinary dirt. But wherever grime is concentrated you can't do without the Sunlight Soap method of washing clothes.

Sunlight safely gets the dirt from the extra soiled parts because of its "extra-soapiness," which enables you to get right at the stubborn dirt at once. There is no need to rub the soap hard. Just a light touch is sufficient to leave a thin film of Sunlight in contact with the dirt; sufficient, too, to remove the last tiny speck of grime. Women who use the Sunlight method have found it the easiest, safest and most thrifty way of getting clothes clean and white.

With household cleaning, as well as washing, Sunlight's "extra-soapiness" gives real help. A touch of Sunlight wherever dirt is troublesome loosens it instantly and removes it completely. And Sunlight is as gentle to your hands as it is to the finest fabrics. It is all good soap right through.

You can't do without

The R.C.A.F. Flashes Over The Channel To Challenge The Luftwaffe

Pilots and observers of an R.C.A.F. bomber squadron overseas study their "target for tonight" under the guidance of the Wing Commander at the extreme left. Soon they will take off once more to pound the Hun. The big, long-range bombers strike far into Germany while swift "Hurry-bombers" hit at occupied France.

Ground crews play a vital role. Here, two corporals give this Hurricane its final tune-up before a raid. Proclaimed a "Fighting Falcon" by its insignia, the swift aircraft carries bombs as well as guns. Corp. H. Robertson, Verdun, Que., checks the oil gauge as Corp. L. Lang, Toronto, assures engine performance.

Astride the nose of a "Hurry-bomber" — a Hurricane fighter equipped for low level bombing — Corporal T. Ryland, of Winnipeg, adjusts the propellor pitch.

Above the clouds the vigilant Spitfire maintains constant watch over his flock of "Hurry-bombers," protecting them from the marauding Messerschmitts as they streak a few feet above the English Channel to blast targets in occupied France.

Sgt. L. C. Bray, D.F.M., Bronte, Ont., pilots a huge Wellington bomber. He and his co-pilot won the D.F.M. when they brought their flaming aircraft safely home.

"Bundle of grief" being prepared for the Nazis. These two armourers have fused this bomb and are securing the tail fin in its proper position. Then they will load the sensitive "egg" under the wing of the vicious "Hurry-bomber" behind.

Ready to take off, a Canadian airman climbs into the cockpit of his "Hurry Bomber". Under the protection of Spitfires these aircraft sweep in at low level to drop their bomb loads, then revert, with guns blazing, to their role as fighter craft.

As this big Wellington bomber reaches its target area Flight Sgt. George Fowler, of Victoria, N.B., inserts a flare into the flare-chute so that the observer up in the nose of the aircraft may set his sights and send the heavy load of destruction hurtling true into the heart of a German factory, dockyard or other target.

All down but one. This group of "Hurry-bomber" pilots anxiously scan the horizon far over the airfield. Then there was a distant throb from the aircraft and the last man swept in to a landing. Afterwards there went to headquarters the welcome report — "None of our aircraft is missing." (Official R.C.A.F. photos)

Householders and Business Places Must Have Protection Against Raids

VICTORIA, March 24 (CP)—today the British Columbia Government will compel all householders and business establishments to provide adequate protection against air raids and that sweeping powers had been vested in the Advisory Council on Air Raid Precautions.

The Council will handle all matters dealing with civilian protection, leaving the Government to deal with major issues or matters of public policy, the Premier announced.

It will draft uniform requirements for homes and buildings to assure adequate air raid protection and will distribute $50,000 set aside by the Government to assist municipal areas in financing ARP Units.

Power is given the council to revise and increase requirements for highly industrialized areas and administration of all communication facilities in the Province is vested in it. Private communications will be set up between essential services, the military and ARP headquarters and the equipment will be guarded against bombing and incendiarism.

The Council will set up a uniform system of training for all ARP workers to include the interchange of officials if necessary during a period of emergency.

Headquarters of the Council will be moved into a fire-proof building in Vancouver, from which all windows will be ripped out and the space cemented in.

The civilian protection branch of the British Police will also function under direction supervision of the council, the Premier said, in urging all citizens to give the council full support.

"I cannot too strongly urge citizens to get behind the advisory council and support it in all its undertakings," the Premier said.

Soldier Takes Onion Overseas as Bait to Meet English Girls

AN EAST COAST CANADIAN PORT, March 24 (CP)—Determined to do their bit in the struggle, tough Canadian soldiers and fliers whose safe arrival in Britain was announced today sailed from this port on a night as gloomy as their mood was jubilant.

Crowded on the transports with these grim but happy fighters headed for unknown battlefields were army nurses, about 30 in number, and a few civilians making the trip in connection with war-time duties.

Only complete unit in the miscellaneous movement of reinforcements was the No. 8 General Field Hospital, headed by Col. H. Gordon young, D. S. O., M. C., a former well-known surgeon in Moose Jaw, Sask.

Dental officer for the unit was Capt. R. D. Reid of Saskatoon while stock keeper, or quartermaster, duties were looked after by Lieut. R. R. Pinder, also of Saskatoon. Youngest of the officers was Capt. S. Young of Moose Jaw who joined the unit on the completion of his internship in Vancouver General Hospital.

Nurses in the hospital unit were also drawn mainly from the Western provinces.

Air force personnel made up the bigger part of the movement. Young men whose wings still looked newish on their tunics were crowded into nearly every cabin and passageway in the transport. Their one fear was that they would get seasick.

One group of Westerners bunking together for the trip included Sergeant Wireless Air Gunners T. B. Phillips of Drumheller, Alta., George Powell of Swan River, Man. and Hugh Pincock of Winnipeg. Right next to them were four British Columbia boys, Sergeant Air Gunners, Wallace Adams, Bill Magee, Pete Norris and Gordon Navey all of New Westminster.

Most of the boys had packed in their knapsacks sugar and silk stockings as "get acquainted" aids with the English girls. But Pte. D. W. Sturley of Toronto, a handsome soldier complete with tricky moustache, went them all one better.

Wrapped in a piece of fine cloth he had as his bait one onion, a giant of its species.

"I will give this to the girl after I meet her, not before though," he said, wrinkling his nose.

No Refuge From Love

CHAPTER EIGHTEEN

Burton Whitworth laid his newspaper aside and reached for his pipe. "Has Molla heard any word from Kurt Wilhelm yet?"

Tay, lounging deep in the sofa shook his head. "Nope, but she took a screen test this afternoon, just in case you're interested."

The match his father was about to strike froze in midair. Agatha Whitworth sat up straight in her chair.

Neil only raised an eyebrow, slightly.

"A screen test!" Agatha exploded. "That's absurd."

"Nothing absurd about it, mother," Tay said. "She IS beautiful, you know, and she HAS received a lot of publicity."

"Publicity—ugh. Even the word is nasty, and besides, the right people don't aspire to careers in the motion pictures."

"No? How about Cobina Wright, Jr. and a couple of others of our so-called set?" Tay inquired blandly.

"I don't care to discuss it," Agatha said acidly. "Really, it is of no great concern to me. I merely was expressing an opinion."

"One with which you no doubt expect us to concur," Burton Whitworth added dryly. Then, turning to Tay, Can't say as I'm surprised, but how did she make out?"

"She won't know for a few days, I guess. Y'know, I almost hope she doesn't make it," he added thoughtfully.

"You're showing some sense now," his mother snapped. "And it's high time, too."

Tay laughed. "But not for the reason you're thinking."

"So—she's going to take a stab at it," said Neil, folding his arms behind his head.

Tay looked at him curiously. "You sound as though it isn't news to you."

"It isn't, exactly. She happened to mention to me a short while ago that this Bryan gent was trying to interest her in that direction."

Tay laughed again, but it was a short laugh, almost forced. "It gets me the way you get in on the know so soon."

"And if she's successful—then what?" the elder Whitworth broke in, "Hollywood, eh?"

"I suppose, so," Tay said, "unless I can talk her out of it."

"Taylor your not getting yourself into any involvements with the girl, are you?" Agatha looked at him sharply.

"Involved? Say, that's the second time you've asked me that." Tay grinned. "A rather pleasant involvement, I'd call it. No harm in playing the good neighbor, or the big brother, is there?"

His father snorted audibly. "Big brother!"

Neil grinned and the general effect only deepened the lines about Agatha's mouth. There was something she had to do and there was no use wasting more time.

Agatha Whitworth had her chauffeur drive her into town the following night. When she got out of the car in front of the small brownstone house on East Tenth Street she eyed it with evident displeasure.

"I should be out in less than an hour, Harris," she said. Wait, please."

Agatha rang the bell and was admitted by Mrs. Cassidy.

"I'm calling on Miss Glendon; she's expecting me," Agatha said.

"Oh, yes. Miss Glendon said I should send you right up. It's the second room to the left, right at the top of the landing."

She paused for a moment in front of the room, her nuckles poised over the door. Then, as though making up her mind once and for all, she knocked.

Don't Let Pride Stand in Way of Making Up Again

BY BEATRICE FAIRMAX

Dear Miss Fairfax:

My girl friend and I went together for about four and a half years. While I was away at college she began running around with different boys. I became angry and we had arguments about it when I came to visit her on weekends.

We finally broke up and I walked around in a daze for several weeks. I pleaded with her to forgive me, but she won't believe me when I say I won't act that way again.

She has moved away now, and I haven't seen her for several months. But, Miss Fairfax, I love her and want her back. I've also heard that she still cares for me but is too proud to make up. What can I do to straighten out this difficulty?

X Y Z

Oh, you youngsters who let foolish pride stand in the way of reconciliation. Don't be silly. If she doesn't live clear across the continent, surprise her again at her new home on one of these weekends and tell her—you'll know what to say—that you just want to make up and be happy again. Quarrels lead to so much unhappiness.

Hints for Housewives

By BETSY NEWMAN

There's always a bright spot in any situation—or nearly always. One of the high spots in food shortages and substitutes for the food stuffs we are used to, is that housewives will discover a lot of new and interesting recipes, and also that many of the substitutes are really better for us than the articles we are in the habit of using. Molasses, for instance. Molasses is a rich source of iron and of calcium too. Today I am giving you some more molasses recipes to help you save on white sugar.

TODAY'S MENU

Pan Fried or Broiled Fish
Rice with Tomatoes
Greens Cucumber Pickles
Molasses Cookies or Soft Gingerbread
Coffee or Tea

RICE WITH TOMATOES

1 cup uncooked rice, 1 large can tomatoes, 1 large onion, 1 teaspoonful brown sugar or corn syrup, 1½ teaspoons salt.

Wash rice well, then drain; add other ingredients, cutting the onion into small pieces, mix well and steam 1 hour.

MOLASSES COOKIES

¼ cup fat, ½ cup boiling water, ½ cup molasses, ½ cup brown sugar, 1 egg, 2½ cups flour, 1 teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon baking powder, ½ teaspoon soda, 1 teaspoon ginger, 1 teaspoon cinnamon.

Put fat in mixing bowl, pour boiling water over it, and when fat has melted stir in molasses and sugar, next the unbeaten egg; blend well. Sift flour, salt, baking powder, soda and spices together, stir into liquids in bowl and mix well. Drop by teaspoonfuls on greased cookie sheet and bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) for from 12 to 15 minutes.

SOFT GINGERBREAD

1 egg, ½ cup brown sugar, ¾ teaspoon soda mixed with 1 cup sour milk, 1¾ cups flour, 1 teaspoon ginger, 1 teaspoon baking powder, 1 teaspoon cinnamon, ¼ teaspoon salt, ½ cup New Orleans molasses, salt, ¼ cup New Orleans molasses.

Break egg into mixing bowl and beat; add sugar and beat thoroughly; add milk and soda and next flour sifted, measured and sifted again with other dry ingredients, and beat again. Add molasses and melted fat. Beat all thoroughly before putting into cake pan. Bake for ½ hour in shallow, paper-lined pan.

People who have colds may find that, with more Vitamin A, colds will be less severe and will not last as long. This is why doctors may prescribe fish liver oils during the Winter months for they are a good source of this vitamin.

The fact that 34 per cent of the people studied in a diet survey showed a deficiency of this food component makes it doubly important to include it in Canadian meals.

Vitamin A foods to include in menus are: (1) dark green vegetables, especially leafy ones such as spinach and parsley. White or blanched leaves of the same vegetable do not have as high values. Because of this the darker outer leaves of lettuce, cabbage and celery should not be discarded.

(2) Yellow fruits and vegetables such as apricots, peaches, carrots and squash.

(3) Liver and kidney.

(4) Butter, cream, cheese and whole milk.

(5) Tomatoes and egg yolk.

Daily requirements of Vitamin A may be obtained by one serving of yellow or green vegetables plus any one of the following: One serving of liver, two ounces of cheese (which means two one-inch squares), three glasses of milk, three cubes of butter (one inch square) or one serving of tomatoes.

While heat is very destructive to some vitamins, notably vitamin C, vitamin A is little affected by cooking except by the high temperatures of frying which are destructive.

The following recipe combines both a green and yellow vegetable:

PARSLEY CARROTS

4 cups shredded carrots
1 tablespoon minced parsley
¼ cup boiling water
2 tablespoons butter

Cook carrots in boiling water for 15 minutes. Keep closely covered. Remove cover and add butter. Cook for five minutes. Add parsley and serve.

Shred carrots in lengthwise strips as they are a long-celled vegetable and less vitamin value will be lost if they are prepared in this way.

KIMBERLEY

During the evening games were played and a dainty lunch was served. Miss Edna Dolson wheeled in a prettily decorated buggy containing many useful gifts for the guest of honor. Guests were Miss Irene Countryman, Miss Gladys Miller, Miss Irene Riddell, Miss Eleanor Sortome, Miss Christina Miller, Kay Dolson, Mrs. V. Augustine and Mrs. J. A. Dolson.

Mrs. D. Sastela and daughter spent the weekend in Cranbrook.

Dr. R. S. Woodsworth left last week for Vancouver where he was called by the serious illness of his father.

Mrs. William Pratt returned home from Barrie, Ont.

Mrs. Ralph Westgate and son left for Vancouver to join Mr. Westgate, who is in the Canadian Army.

Australia Jubilant

From a mood of grim facing of grim facts, and of organizing to meet them, with the feeling of having her back to the wall and effective help none too certain, Australia is now in a hysteria of jubilation, with the arrival of General MacArthur, and of American troops and equipment, the pledge of the fullest possible aid from the United States.

The convoys were on the way to Australia's shores long before Prime Minister Curtin made his appeal to President Roosevelt.

If Australia is to be invaded by the Japanese colossus—a colossus because of many years preparation for this stroke at seizure of Asia — then the Island Continent will be a battle-ground, where the tide may be turned against the invader.

And if the intended invasion is abandoned, then Australia will be the base from which the Japanese war machine will be attacked.

It is to be hoped that Canada will be represented in that conflict by more than just the products of its war factories. Canada is a Pacific country, and her participation should be proportionate in some degree.

Just now Prime Minister Curtin is distributing expressions of warm appreciation of help extended, to the United States and to Britain. It is to be hoped that Canada's assurances of substantial help have been conveyed, to our sister Dominion.

Press Comment

DEATH OF A HERO

This may be a premature obituary. The cables have not brought word of the passing of General Sir George Jeffreys, K.C.B., K.V.O., C.M.G., but it is doubtful that he could have survived the latest blow, in view of his reactions to what had gone before.

As reported in the London Daily Mirror, "with memories of the Nile expedition, and Khartum, still fresh in his mind," the general uttered a grave warning in the House of Commons.

"He had learned that it may be necessary for our fighting men to be under the command of foreigners—Gen. Jeffreys heartily approved of the apointment to supreme command of General Wavell. He was British. But did the House realize that our sailors are now taking orders from an American? The General's voice shook. 'I have a very poor opinion of American admirals,' said the general, 'yet we expect our men to obey them.'"

It will be seen from this account of the London newspaper than Gen. Jeffreys was very low in his mind, saved only from collapse by the fact that, although the navy had gone to the dogs, the army, thank God, was still under a British commander. The transfer of Gen. Wavell from supreme command in the Southwest Pacific to a post in India must have been the last straw that broke the camel's back. It is a reasonable assumption that this hero of Khartum and the Nile expedition is now at rest; and with him, one may hope, the Old School Tie. — New Westminster British Columbian.

ARE SOME STILL LAGGING?

once to investigate charges by Robert R. Guthonce to investigate charges by Robert R. Guthrie, who has resigned as chairman of the War Production Board's textile, clothing, and leather goods division, that he and his immediate associates were hampered in their task of conversion to war effort by a continuance of the business-as-usual attitude in some quarters.

Mr. Guthrie speaks of "the resistance of representatives of the affected industries now working within the WPB." This evidently means some of the dollar-a-year men whose positon of exposure to divided loyalty already has been criticized by the Truman investigating committee. Yet it is difficult to propose a satisfactory substitute for these men, since the Government must have experience and the experts can scarcely cut all peacetime ties.

The situation of the intermediary becomes less difficult when the industry concerned is fully convinced of the necessity to convert promptly and fully to military demands. The automobile industry perhaps was not fully convinced until the loss of rubber supplies made it pointless to manufacture cars. But once begun, that conversion has moved rapidly in the motor industry because it was concentrated among a comparatively small number of producers. Since then, the process has been introduced in the industries making refrigerators, radios, typewriters, and other mechanisms dependent on metal supplies.

But there has been no rude jolt to separate the manufacturers of household linens, coats, hats, shoes, men's suits, women's dresses, and children's rompers from their usual markets. Moreover, the textile and clothing industries are divided among so many thousands of producing units that the organizing of their effort is difficult. Various branches and concerns in these industries have been absolved by Mr. Guthrie from responsiblity for the condition he alleges. But as to the rest, there should be quick investigation and action, for the country cannot tolerate any hanging back or wasted time where the supplying of its soldiers is concerned.—Christian Science Monitor.

J. E. K., Vernon—Would you please give me the address of the Victoria Optical Company of Toronto?

Victoria Optical Company, Dept. W-11, 273 Yonge Street, Toronto.

C. A., Ymir—Is there any truth in the rumor that if one doesn't buy a car licence before March 31, he will not be able to obtain gas ration coupons?

No, there isn't any truth to this rumor, but you must have a car licence before ration coupons can be obtained .

G. S., Appledale—Could you tell me what firms are making bored wooden irrigation pipes in this district?

P. Harms at Renata used to make such pipes and may be still doing so, but no other firm in the Kootenay makes them. You might write the Board of Trade at Vancouver, as there are several firms at the Coast engaged in this business.

C. F., Nelson—What is the pay of a Major in the Canadian army?

A Major in the Canadian army receives $7.75 a day.

M. H., Trail—Could you please tell me where the new Dominion Magnesium plant is located? I believe it has just been opened.

It is against the Defence of Canada Regulations to publish the situation of munitions plants. If wishing to obtain employment in the plant write Dept. of Munitions and Supply, Ottawa.

G. P. F., Fernie—Supposing National Defence Tax as deducted at source of income exceeds the taxpayers' liability to his government, will the government refund the amount overpaid and to whom would one make application for refund?

If National Defence Tax has been overpaid apply to Norman Lee, Inspector Dominion Income Tax, 739 West Hastings Street, Vancouver.

What rate of National Defence Tax is deductable from the pay of a single person whose income does not exceed $1200 per annum and of one whose income does exceed $1200 considering that he shares the total support of a father, a mother and two dependent children on a fifty-fifty basis with one other person?

The rate of National Defence Tax on $12000 income is 3½ per cent, and exceeding $1200 is 5 per cent or 3½ per cent if taxpayer maintains self contained domestic establishment and actually supports therein someone wholly dependent on him and connected with him by blood relationship marriage or adoption. You do not mention the relationship of the family you are helping to support therefore we do not know if you culd claim a credit for them as dependents.

A taxpayer may claim credit at the rate of $20 per anum in respect of each dependent in the following categories:

(a) Own children, step children, grand children, legally adopted children and brother and sister of the taxpayer, if under 21 years of age;

(b) Same as above over 21 years of age and parents and grandparents of the taxpayer, if dependent upon the taxpayer by reason of mental or physical infirmity;

(c) Children maintained by the taxpayer in Canada under cooperative scheme sponsored by the Governments of the U. K. and Canada for children brought to Canada under the Government plan.

A tax credit is not allowed in respect of the one dependent on whose account taxpayer has already been granted householder status.

Tax credit is not allowed for a dependent niece, nephew, brother-in-law, sister-in-law, father-in-law or mother-in-law.

To be accorded householder status, or to be allowed any credit in respect of dependents ,an employee must complete and file Form National Defence Tax 1 in duplicate with his employer.

Assuming the cost of transportation rates to and from work (at the lowest rates available) is approximately $150 per annum, may one claim income and/or National Defence Tax exemption on monies so expended?

No.

Today's Horoscope

Today's birthday child is a careful planner, precise in action and thought, and diligent effort should win him success. He or she is thrifty, in fact, at times a trifle overcautious. Frankness and loyalty gain many friends, and the married life is, or will be happy. During the year mixed influences will prevail. If this person avoids excessive expenditure, quarrels, impulsive actions and hyper-sensitiveness, he or she will progress. Take care of the health. Born on this date a child will be likely to fret and worry unduly, which may affect the nervous system. Calm and poise should be early cultivated, and extravagance and hasty temper checked.

Gas Defence of Canadian Corps

By LIEUT. W. E. AUSTIN

LONDON—A highly mobile, compact combination of the medical and chemical sciences forms the basis of the Canadian Corps' defence against poison gas.

The No. 1 Canadian Chemical Warfare Defence Laboratory is a completely mechanized unit that can enter the fighting lines if necessary to carry on its specialized duties. It is a purely protective unit. Its purpose is to find protection for the army against whatever type of chemical warfare agents the enemy may use against us.

LORRY "LABS"

Working independently, yet highly coordinating their efforts, are the two chief laboratories of the unit. These laboratories, the Medical and Chemical Labs, are set up in converted office lorries. Both are equipped with work benches, running water and sinks, electricity for lighting and power, gas for Bunsen burners, compressed air and vacuum pumps.

The Medical Laboratory is completely equipped for the clinical examination and treatment of gas casualties. Information gained in this manner is often sufficient to identify a gas or type of gas, even if a sample has not been obtained. The stretcher bed which runs along one side of the interior of the Medical Lorry also serves as the examination table and within easy reach of it are the various instruments and supplies which the medical officer needs, such as oxygen mask, oxygen cylinder, metabolism bag for collecting breath samples, miscroscope, blood examination apparatus, etc.

The equipment carried in the Chemical Laboratory is for the chemical identification of war gases, whether they be picked up on the ground, obtained by air sampling, or are the contents of enemy chemical warfare weapons. All the equipment necessary for ordinary chemical anlysis is to be found in the lorry ,packed away in drawers and cupboards in such a manner that glass equipment will not be broken in travelling over rough country.

FUME CUPBOARD

Another feature of this lorry is the fume cupboard, in which lethal chemicals can be examined without rendering the air in the laboratory dangerous to the workers.

This Laboratory unit was designed and organized by Major I. M. Rabinowitch, R. C. A. M. C., who in peace time was Associate Professor of Medicine at McGill University and Director of the Department of Metabolism at the Montreal General Hospital.

Acting Officer Commanding the Laboratory is Capt. G. H. Gribbins of Winnipeg, who took over when Major Rabinowitch was detailed for special work at the War Office. Gribbins is also Technical Officer of the Laboratory. He is a graduate in chemical engineering from McGill and prior to entering the army worked for Canadian Industries Limited, Beloeil, Quebec.

Chemical Officer of the Laboratory is Captain L. B. Macpherson of Halifax, who for the five years preceding the war was in the Banting Institute, Toronto. He is a graduate of Acadia University and has post-graduate experience at the University of Toronto. Macpherson also holds the appointment of Corps Chemist.

Another chemist working in the laboratory is Lieutenant W. L. Archer, attached from an infantry regiment. Archer enlisted just prior to graduation in chemistry from the University of Western Ontario and has been with the unit for some months.

Sergeant W. E. Duncan, Hamilton, Ont., is the Laboratory Technician. Duncan worked at the Public Health Laboratories of the Hamilton City Laboratories for 14 years and is a qualified medical techologist.

Sergeant H. B. Hart, Ottawa, is unit quartermaster; Sergeant A. Cecl, Smith Falls, Ont., is sergeant-clerk, and L.-Cpl. E. A. Murray, Halifax, is in charge of transport.

Australia Would Be Rich Prize

Australia, the island continent, would indeed be a rich prize for the Japs—if they could get it. Its 2,974,581 square miles contain many natural resources, including gold, silver, tin, lead, coal and copper. In addition, Australia has a large agricultural production, being the greatest wool-producing nation in the world. This map shows in detail the geography of Australia, the centres of its natural resources and agricultural products, and the location of principal naval and air bases, highways and railroads.

Canadiens Blast Detroit 5-0 to Tie Up Series; Benoit Is Scorer

MONTREAL, March 24 (CP). — Canadiens moved back into definite contention for Stanley Cup honors here tonight when they defeated Detroit 5-0, to even the best-of-three game series at one win apiece. The teams clash in the third and deciding game at Detroit Thursday night with the winner qualifying to meet either Boston or Chicago in the semi-finals.

Showing a decided form reversal over the first game which they lost in Detroit by 2-1, Canadiens got a first period lead and from there on was never headed as they picked up two more goals in each of the last two periods.

Detroit tried desperately to do something in a scoring way in the last period, but Canadiens checked like leeches and when Joe Benoit broke loose from a pack to score, that took all the fight out of the Red Wings.

Kimberley's triumphant Dynamiters, newly-crowned B. C. Senior Amateur Hockey champs, passed through Nelson Monday night en route to Saskatoon after fresh hockey honors. At Saskatoon they are slated to meet the Quakers, Saskatchewan titlists, in a Western Canada semi-final.

The Dynamiters captured the B. C. crown by defeating Royal Navy team two games out of three at Victoria. They took the opener of the Provincial series 5-2 Wednesday, dropped the second 4-5 Friday, and took the tail-ender 3-0. They left Victoria Sunday morning.

Athletes Seeking Pro Jobs Now Need Special Permission

OTTAWA, March 24 (CP). — Athletes are likely to have professional ambitions curbed under one of the manpower orders-in-council tabled in the House of Commons today by Prime Minister Mackenzie King.

Sport is included among the "restricted occupations" which may not take men between the ages of 17 and 45 as new employees unless special permission is granted by selective service officials ,or unless the men concerned are medically unfit for military service or have been discharged from the armed forces for medical reasons.

One spokesman tonight interpreted this as prohibiting men now engaged in amateur sport from turning professional if they are within the age limits. It will not affect the status of men now engaged in professional sport.

"For 15 years I got along in professional hockey without getting into too much trouble," declares Dit Clapper, "and then I had to get my ears pinned back by an amateur . . . I tried to put over some of my stickhandling wizardry on those Ottawa Senators in Ottawa. . . . I thought I was doing pretty well . . . There I was steaming along, stick waving, but with my head down. . . . Suddenly I hit one of the girders in the rink. . . . At least that's what I thought and when I came to, I was in the Bruin dressing room. . . . The boys told me I had collided with Van Daele, and Ottawa defenceman. . . . I wish those ambitious young amateurs would have more respect for a veteran," concludes Clapper with a sly chuckle.

In the history of boxing, only five contests have attracted million-dollar gates (exclusive of radio and motion picture rights), and Jack Dempsey was a participant in all of them.

Hawks' Second-Period Three-Goal Drive Leads to Win From Boston

BOSTON, March 24 (CP). — Chicago Black Hawks evened their Stanley Cup playoff series with Boston Bruins tonight, unleashing a three-goal second-period attack that led to a 4-0 victory in the second game of the best-of-three series. Boston won the first game 2-1 in overtime in Chicago Sunday. The third game will be played here Thursday night.

The Hawks, whose chances were discounted sharply when a sinus attack put big Earl Seibert, their outstanding defenceman, out of action, were superior most of the way.

Bill Moslenko opened the Chicago scoring during the fourth minute of the second period by backhanding in a puck after taking Carse's well-aimed pass at the edge of the crease.

Chicago's second and third tallies were registered within seven seconds by Alex Kaleta and Bill Carse, the latter scoring fom the Boston penalty line.

While the Bruins were attacking in full force during the seventh minute of the last period, Bill Carse intercepted and dashed back with Kaleta and George Allen trailing. They had only the two Boston defencemen to beat when they crossed that Boston blue line. After fooling these rivals with some beautiful passing, Allen jabbed through Goalie Frankie Brimsek for the final score.

The winner of the series will advance against the victor of the Detroit-Montreal series.

Attendance was 14,200.

Lineups:

Boston: Brimsek; Crawford, Shewchuk; Cowley; Wiseman, Concacher. Subs: A. Jackson, Hiller, Cain, H. Jackson, Hollett, Smith, Bruce, Martin, McGill.

Miss Helen Cook has had charge of the training of both groups since Miss Eileen MacDonald enlisted in the women's section of the Royal Canadian Air Force.

Rangers Rip Through Shaky Leafs to 3-0 Victory; Henry Earns Shutout

NEW YORK, March 24 (CP). — New York Rangers, recovering the form that carried them to the National Hockey League championship, today roared through a surprisingly-unsteady Toronto Maple Leaf team for a 3-0 victory in the third game of their Stanley Cup elimination hockey series.

The victory left Leafs still ahead 2 in games, achieved by victories at Toronto last Saturday and 4-2 here Sunday. The fourth game will be played at Toronto Saturday night, the fifth here Sunday.

A recovery of form by the line composed of the Colville brothers and Alex Shibicky held the difference between the two teams on the night's play. This trio scored two of the goals, by Shibicky and Mac Colville, while the other went to Stan Kuntz, the Ranger rookie whose play was so uncertain in the first two games that the Rangers considered benching him for this one.

The young Ranger goalie, Jim Henry of Regina, fully earned the shutout—only the second of his one-season professional career—particularly in the third period when he just got a foot to a snap shot by Johnny McCreedy.

MacMitchell won the event by three yards over Gilbert Dodds who had beaten the New York boy at the A.A.U. championships, thereby clipping MacMitchell's winning streak at 19. The winner's time was 4.08 seconds, six-tenths of a second off his own world mark.

LETHBRIDGE, Alta., March 24 (CP)—Lethbridge Maple Leafs, who finished a poor second to Calgary Stampeders in regular A.B.C. Senior Amateur Hockey League play this season, rolled along the 1942 Allan Cup trail here tonight by defeating Calgary 3-1 in the sixth game of what was originally to have been a best-of-five final. The game played 90 minutes to a 2-2 draw Monday to force tonight's game on Lethbridge ice.

Youthful Lethbridge forwards set a dizzy pace against Stampeders and went ahead 1-0 in the opening period. After a scoreless middle frame Leafs made it 3-0 before Les Thirlwell notched Calgary's lone goal to save the Stampeders from a shutout.

Negrello, Pringle and Rimstad scored the Maple Leaf goals with Boesch, and Maher getting credit for assists.

CONTRACT . . . By Shepard Barclay

GIVE AGAINST ANOTHER

WHEN TWO principles seem to come into conflict, with both in operation at the same time, it is necessary to weigh one against the other and select that which seems the more important in the particular circumstances. Ordinarily, if you hold an ace in the hand which plays just after the dummy, and you see the guarded king of that suit face up on the table, you like to wait for somebody else to lead the suit, so you may knock off the king. But there are occasions, especially when the suit is trump and the dummy is in position to ruff losers of some short side suit, when it is better to lay down that ace and another trump, to prevent a couple of ruffing tricks.

(Dealer: West. Neither side vulnerable.)

West	North	East	South
Pass	1 ♦	2 ♣	2 ♠
3 ♣	3 ♦	4 ♣	4 ♠
Dbl

East just naturally handed this contract to South on a silver platter. West led the heart A and, upon getting the Q from East, offered a second heart, which the J won. Almost without taking a look around, East led his heart K, and his first chance to set the contract was gone. South ruffed this, led the club A and another club, which he trumped with the dummy's spade 7, offered the last heart from dummy and East foolishly ruffed low with the spade 5, South over-ruffing with the 9, ending all chance to set it at all. The last club was then ruffed with the spade K, two diamond tops were taken and the diamond 2 ruffed with the spade 10. East had to use his now blank A on the spade 4, and the last two tricks went to the Q and J.

When East won the second heart, his play should have been the spade A and then the 5. By so doing, he would have prevented any club ruffs. By ducking one diamond, South could have used that suit later to discard club losers, but that very duck would have been the setting trick. Even after the first club ruff, when dummy led the fourth heart, East still could have beaten it by ruffing with his A, instead of the 5, and then returning the 5, which would have left South with a losing club he could not ruff.

Tomorrow's Problem

(Dealer: East. Both sides vulnerable.)

What a terrific deal! How should it be bid?

THE "SUIT-DRESS" IS NEW

Marian Martin

It's a dress, but it looks like a suit, and gives you that same well-groomed look. It's Pattern 9013 by Marian Martin and so very economical to make. See how trimly the blouse is fitted at the front waist by means of slashes; see how slim the two box skirt panels make your hipline look—stripes or checks accentuate this effect. And the extended shoulder seam — so smart this year—makes your waist and hips seem smaller too!

Cripps to Meet India Political Leaders Today

NEW DELHI, India, March 24 — (CP) —Undaunted by the outwardly reserved attitude of India's Moslems, Sir Stafford Cripps today swung into a strenuous schedule of conferences aimed at solidifying the country's diversified opinion in favor of a single plan of self-government in a time of peril.

Tomorrow the representative of the British War Cabinet is expected to begin a round of critical meetings with the Indian political leaders themselves.

Mohammed Ali Jinnah, a leader of India's minority of 77,000,000 Moslems, told his followers they should reserve judgment on Sir Stafford's proposals and be prepared "to face all consequences if any scheme detrimental to the interests of Moslems is enforced."

Jinnah, President of the All-India Moslem league, reiterated after the British announcement of plans for post-war Dominion status for India that his group would accept no solution of the India problem which did not provide separate and autonomous Moslem and Hindu states.

Food Rationing to Be Governed By U. S. Conditions

By JAMES MCGOOK
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA, March 23 (CP)—With the United Nations commited to assist each other in food supply as well as in armaments, indications were seen in informed quarters today that food rationing in Canada would be governed by conditions beyond her borders.

Officials in touch with the food situation said they could see no immediate indication of a need for further rationing regulations beyond those restricting the per capita use of sugar to three-quarters of a pound per week. But they warned the swift-moving international situation might change this opinion in short order.

Sugar rationing was applied in Canada not because of a shortage within the Dominion but due to the loss of United States sources of supply in the Pacific. Dominion authorities were agreed the Dominion should be associated with its nearest neighbor in the United Nations group in the conservation of supplies and consequent economy in shipping.

Urges Canadians to Walk More

OTTAWA, March 24 (CP)—Munitions Minister Howe, in his radio address last night on the oil and rubber situation, outlined this four-point program urged upon Canadians by the Dominion Government:

"1. Use your car only when absolutely necessary; keep your speed down to 40 miles per hour. Take great care of your tires.

"2. Share your car with your neighbors and fellow workers, so that a minimum number of cars may be on the road at any one time.

"3. When you are shopping, carry your purchases home in order to cut down deliveries by motor car.

"4. Whenever possible, walk your work and your play. S using taxis, buses and street c whenever you can so that these s vices may be used by those w really require them."

Nelson Asks Time Limit to Abolish Overtime Pay

WASHINGTON, March 24 (AP)—The War Production chief, Donald Nelson, asked Congress today to give him a 30-day time-limit to obtain voluntary suspension of double pay for overtime through agreement with leaders of United States organized labor before enacting legislation on the matter.

He promised the House of Representatives Naval Committee that he would ask for legislation himself then if he was unable to obtain that agreement, but simultaneously entered opposition to suspension of Federal maximum hour legislation and a ban against closed shops in industries handling army and navy contracts.

B.C. May Mine Asbestos in the Chilliwack Area

(By W.D. Martin in Financial News)

British Columbia may have its own asbestos industry. This would be an important contribution to war industry in the West in view of the fact that asbestos for all purposes now has to be brought from Quebec at high transportation cost. Western Asbestos Mining Company, a private company headed by W. A. Ross, who has had considerable mining experience, has an asbestos property at Jones Creek, 23 miles East of Chilliwack. Reports on the asbestos indicate that it is suitable for a number of purposes where a fibre is not required to be of the spinning type.

The material is suitable and will be used in the manufacture of wall boards similar to asbestos cement sheets, asphalt-asbestos flooring and tile in varying colors, asbestos lagging for boilers and insulation materials, plastic asbestos cements, etc. Ground and processed the material is of the asbestine type and is used largely in the manufacture of paints. It is said that the paint industry is particularly interested in this B. C. product. Asbestine is also used in the roofing and plastic industry.

Western Asbestos Mining Co. is arranging to bring from Eastern Canada a number of men experienced in the asbestos industry to assist in placing the undertaking on a satisfactory operating basis.

READILY ACCESSIBLE

The deposit is near Laidlaw about 80 miles East of Vancouver.

The known length of the workings is about half a mile, following the line of Jones Creek.

The company plans to form a subsidiary to handle the manufacturing and marketing of asbestos products. Directors, in addition to Mr. Ross, the President, are Willard D. Greysell, F. J. Barber, H. L. Welbery, Harold Freeman and William Cooper.

Market Trends . . .

LONDON, March 24 (AP)—The tone of prices in the stock exchange remained firm although business was light.

British funds tended higher and foreign bonds were quiet.

NEW YORK—A boiling market in secondary rail bonds—the turnover was one of the largest since 1937—helped selected stocks to absorb a little of the rising steam.

Motors and specialties were particularly favored. Gains, running to two points here and there, were trimmed in most cases at the close and minus signs were plentiful. Transfers of around 400,000 shares, however, were the best in a week.

TORONTO—A few Golds suffered considerable losses, carrying the index for the group down close to a point for the day to a new low for nine years.

Lake Shore weakened 30 to a new low at 7.35. Kerr-Addison hit a new low at 3.00, off 30 and Preston 20 to 1.65.

Base Metal shares displayed more firmness than other groups. Prices were down narrowly for Senior Oils and Utilities.

MONTREAL — A few leaders changed their positions in desultory trading on the stock exchange up to the final hour.

VANCOUVER, — Oil shares attracted the majority of trading interest. Few prices changes were registered as transfers totalled 6,300 shares.

WINNIPEG—Minor export business and routine transactions came into trading and Winnipeg Wheat Futures closed unchanged with May at 79¼A cents a bushel and July at 80⅝B.

Export of approximately 300,000 bushels of wheat presumably worked to the United Kingdom was reported during the session.

Fair trade in oats was noted in the coarse grain pit.

CHICAGO — Borrowing strength from cotton and securities, all grain futures turned sharply higher, with the exception of corn.

We Will Have Enemy Subs in Gulf of St. Lawrence This Summer Says Admiral

By FRANK FLAHERTY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA, March 24 (CP)—Enemy submarines and possibly a supply ship may be expected in the Gulf of St. Lawrence during the coming summer, two of Canada's Senior Naval officers stated at a Press Conference here today.

Rear-Admiral G. C. Jones, Commander-in-Chief, Atlantic Coast, making one of his rare visits to Naval Service Headquarters met reporters in the office of Vice-Admiral Percy Nelles, Chief of the Naval staff and discussed Naval affairs on the East Coast.

Admiral Jones said he did not think the Germans had a submarine supply ship in the North Atlantic now as it was not practical at this time of year. They might have one somewhere in the South and might have supply ships in the North Atlantic later in the year when weather conditions would be more favorable. It was perfectly feasible for the submarines now operating off the Atlantic Coast to leave Bay of Biscay ports, cross the ocean in two weeks, spend another two weeks on this side and then return home.

"We will have submarines in the Gulf of St. Lawrence this Summer," said Admiral Nelles, "and they could place a supply ship there."

The Admiral said Canadian aircraft would have a good chance to knock such vessels off but said it was quite feasible for them to come and operate there as the Gulf is a large body of water.

"Relations between the three services (Navy, Army and Air Force) were never better," said Admiral Jones, discussing liaison and cooperation on the East Coast.

The Admiral said he had not yet had much experience with the unity of command recently announced which makes Maj-Gen. W. H. P. Elkins of the Army, Commander-in-Chief on the East Coast. Gen. Elkins was away last week and he himself was away this week.

The 47-year-old Admiral said one of his chief difficulties is finding trained staff officers for shore administrative jobs. He attributes this to lack of Naval Cadet training in Canada from 1923 to the start of the present war.

CAPE TOWN (CP) — The unsatisfactory state of South African soldiers' pay records was described by Auditor-General H. P. Smith in his report to the House of Assembly as seeming to be "confusing worse confounded."

Tentative dates for the camp were July 26-August 9. Rev. W. A. Lewis of Creston, Rev. A. F. Kenney of Penticton, Rev. H. E. Robertson of Abbotsford and Rev. E. W. Robinson of Victoria also attended.

Joseph Flagel of Ymir Passes

Joseph (Joe) Flagel, Ymir resident for 11 years and formerly of Nelson, died at his home Tuesday. He had been in failing health since February, 1941.

Born in Austria June 12, 1884, he came to Canada with his parents in 1901. The family settled in Grayson, Sask., and Mr. Flagel remained there until 1924 when with his wife and family he came to British Columbia. For six years before moving to Ymir, he resided at Nelson.

Mr. Flagel was employed at the Reno Mine for two years as diesel engineer and later at the Goodenough mill. When the Goodenough closed he went to Flin Flon, Man., and it was there he became ill, and he returned to his home. In addition to his employment with mining companies, he carried on a number of leasing operations on his own.

Surviving are his wife at Ymir, five sons, Jack at Vancouver, Math, William, Gus and Edward, all of Trail; and three daughters, Mrs. A. Errington and Mrs. Rose Shutek at Trail, and Mrs. Al Coles at Post Falls, Idaho.

Tobacco Fund Orders Are $21

Overseas Tobacco Fund orders were swelled $21.50 by Nelson and District Citizens in the past week. Orders placed during March amount to $67.

Persons wishing to send smokes or tobacco to men overseas may do so through this fund. Orders may be placed at many Nelson retail stores, and these are collected weekly by a committee of the Women's Auxiliary to the Active Forces and forwarded to Victoria. Cigarettes and tobaccos are shipped in bulk to British Columbia House, London, and individual parcels are dispatched from that centre. In the event of any losses at sea replacement is made without cost to the sender.

Value of building permits issued in Canada in 1941 was $135,301,519 as compared with $113,005,206 in 1940.

Torpedo Hit Scored on Italian Warship

LONDON March 24 (CP)—An Italian battleship was hit by "at least" one torpedo in an action in the "past few days," the Admiralty announced tonight.

One British merchantman had been sunk by Axis air attacks in an air and sea fight centring around passage of a convoy to Malta in the last few days, Axis claims to have sunk British warships were denied.

(The Italian High Command claimed today that a British cruiser another naval unit and two merchant ships were sunk and 15 other vessels hit in a battle ranging from the Gulf of Sirte into the Eastern Mediterranean.)

The British communique said the fight started Sunday afternoon when the British convoy escort beat off an Italian cruiser squadron. The Italians returned later the same afternoon with at least one battleship.

"From short reports so far received it appears our forces carried out most gallant and determined daylight torpedo attacks on strong enemy forces, and one Italian battleship was seen to be hit by at least one torpedo."

The Italians withdrew and made no further naval attempt on the convoy, but a sudden gale delayed the convoy's arrival at Malta and gave Axis planes a chance to make a series of heavy attacks Monday.

Full details were still being awaited, but it said "enemy claims to have sunk British warships are without foundation, although one merchant ship was sunk by air attack."

Oil Shortage May Delay Conversion of the Nasookin to Diesel; Controller Asks Continue Steam While Possible

Because of the shortage of oil amid Canada's pressing war needs, conversion of the steamer Nasookin from steam to diesel power may be delayed for some time.

Frank Putnam, M.L.A. for Nelson-Creston, stated in Nelson Tuesday that a request had been received by the Department of Public Works directly from the Dominion Oil Controller to delay the installation of diesel engines, and to continue operating on steam as long as possible.

How best this request can be met will be determined in the next few days as the steamer undergoes complete inspection.

The Nasookin, now on the ways at the C.P.R. shipyards, will probably be launched today, and repairs will be continued while she is afloat.

"Hull repairs below the water line have been completed, and this work has passed the Dominion steamboat inspector, but there is still some work to be done above the water line," Mr. Putnam stated. "This work and additional inspections will be carried out during this week. Until these are completed we cannot be sure exactly what will be done."

Interpreting The War News

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON
Associated Press War Analyst

Renewed Nazi bombing of England's Channel coast, including the Dover bridgehead, has probably achieved one result sought by Berlin. It has revived apprehensions that Hitler may attempt an invasion.

To the extent that this resurrected invasion spectre serves to lessen Anglo-American aid to Russia in the critical weeks ahead, it would be a distinct advantage to Hitler. For there seems good reason to believe that events to come in Russia will go far to shape the pattern of the war as a whole for this year.

There is meagre detail as to the actual battle contours in Russia. Unofficial advices indicate, however, that the Russians have driven deep thrusts above and below the wide centre battle perimeter and are threatening both flanks on the Nazi line.

Rumor credits Russia with massing new armies in both areas, Northeast of Smolensk and Southwest of Kharkov, for simultaneous attempts to lop off the right and left arms of a German attack.

London reports of German armies strongly on the move again lend color to speculation these Russian stabs may have forced Hitler into premature offensive action. It will be weeks before weather conditions free his massive mechanized forces for the swift action for which they are designed.

Northeast of Smolensk the Russians are credited in Scandinavian reports with having brought up fresh armies to launch a final drive at vital German communication lines.

Southward and under cover of the siege of Kharkov, the Russians are reported to have thrust a second drive almost to the banks of the Dnieper near the Kremenchug crossing.

If they lack the power to drive either of these dangerous wedges forward to exploit their Winter victories fully, the Russians will have failed to attain decisive results. The real test both of their strategic design and their new armies is now at hand.

Of the two most Westerly Russian spearheads, that to the South seems most immediately important. It is aimed at cracking the Nazi grip along the Sea of Azov coast East of the Rostov doorway to the Caucasus and its oil wells. A Russian victory or defeat there would alter the whole war pattern very quickly.

Warns Germany May Attempt Invasion Soon

LONDON, March 24 (CP)—Sir John Anderson, Lord President of the Council, warned today that Germany may attempt to over-run the British Isles in the Spring and told Britons they must do everything possible "to drive out and destroy the enemy."

Speaking in the House of Commons he urged citizens to "do everything they usefully can under responsible direction to defend their hearths and homes and their native land" if the enemy comes to these shores.

"The first essential is that except under definite orders, everyone should stand firm so as to avoid those refugee movements which proved so disastrous in the Fall of France," said Sir John, a Member of the War Cabinet.

He said "Invasion Committees" had been set up in many parts of the country with the duty " to survey local problems and see how their needs will be met."
