REDS STAGE DESPERATE FIGHT IN UKRAINE

U.S. Harboring 12 British War Craft

Warspite, Carrier in for Repairs and Supplies

LIST SUBMARINE AND OTHER SHIPS

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Sept. 19 (AP)—The presence of 12 British war vessels in United States harbors—among them the 35,000-ton battleship Warspite—was revealed by the Navy today in the first major modification of Anglo-American publicity policies since such ships began coming into American ports for repairs and supplies.

The decision to give out this information and follow it up with similar reports in future apparently was designed to enable both Americans and Britons to comprehend the full extent of naval assistance being given Britain by the United States under the Lend-Lease program.

The Navy statement listed the names of the 12 vessels and the ports in which they are. The Warspite, completed in 1915 and armed with 15-inch guns, was reported at Bremerton, Wash. Why she is there and the extent of her damage, if any, were not disclosed, nor were such facts given about any of the vessels, listed as fololws:

Aircraft carriers: The sister ships Illutrious and Formidable, both of 23,000 ton, finished in 1940, 735 feet long and normally carrying 1600 officers and men each. They are at Norfolk, Va.

Cruisers: The 4850-ton Delhi and the 5450-ton Dido at Brooklyn, N.Y.; the 9100-ton Liverpool and the 7215-ton Orion at Mare Island, Calif.; and the Asturias, which Navy officials said is a "converted cruiser", at Newport News, Va.

Submarine: The 260-foot Pandora at Portsmouth, N.H.

Smaller vessels: The corvettes Nasturtium and Primrose at Charleston, SC.; and the Menestheus, described as a coastal minesweeper, at Baltimore.

Along with its modification of policy, the Navy listed half a dozen restrictions regarding British ship information. Among these it was specified that "Information as to methods employed in any operation in which the ship may have been engaged shall not be published."

Rear Admiral A. J. Hepburn, Chief of the Navy's Public Relations Bureau, made plain at a Press conference that the 12 ships listed are by no means the only British vessels anchored in United States waters but that they are the only ones which, as the official statement said, "may be regarded as cleared for publicity" at this time.

CONTROLLER DIES

OTTAWA, Sept. 19 (CP) — Frank H. H. Williamson, 58, controller of the National Parks Bureau, Mines and Resources Department, died today.

Company Rejects Mediation Offer

VANCOUVER, Sept. 19 (CP)—F. E. Harrison, Western representative of the Federal Department of Labor, said today an agreement proposed by him for settlement of the three-week-old strike of employees of the Pacific Bolt Manufacturing Co., Ltd., had been accepted by the strikers, but rejected by the company.

Mr. Harrison said he had no other immediate plans for settlement of the dispute in which the employees seek recognition of their union, the Vancouver Metal Workers' Union, Local No. 1, an affiliate of the Canadian Congress of Labor. The plant, manufacturers of nuts and bolts used by local shipyards, has been picketed since the strike began.

Mr. Harrison said his proposals called for recognition of the Vancouver Metal Workers' Union by the company, but without closed shop conditions.

MacKinnon Tells of Canada's Push

BUENOS AIRES, Sept. 19 (CP Cable).—Trade Minister James A. MacKinnon of Canada today told a British Society luncheon that the Dominion is fighting "because we believe that everything which free men value and cherish is in peril."

In Argentina with Canada's trade mission to Latin America to conduct trade talks, Mr. MacKinnon told his audience: "We cannot judge by other than past actions, and it seems an impossible thing that we, in this hemisphere, would be allowed to pursue our way in peace without pressure in regard to finance or trade if those responsible for spreading the present reign of tyranny in Europe were to be successful in the venture they have undertaken."

Mr. MacKinnon described Canada's war effort, her voluntary declaration of war, the development of her armed forces and war industries.

"There is no reservation and we continue to share the fight against aggression to our full measure and capacity," he said.

POLISH SCHOOLS ABOLISHED BY GERMANS

LONDON, Sept. 19 (CP Cable)—The Polish Telegraphic Agency reported today the German authorities have issued a decree abolishing Polish primary and public schools in Eastern Galicia. The agency said the Poles will be permitted to have schools for professional education only and at least 60 Polish families will have to apply for permission to open such a school. Jewish schools will be banned altogether.

RAID ON MOSCOW FAILS REPORT REDS

MOSCOW, Sept. 20 (Saturday) (AP)—One German plane bombed this Soviet capital during a raid last night and today, but other raiders were driven off by anti-aircraft fire and Russian night fighters, it was announced today.

There was no damage, the communique said. The city was under alarm from 11:40 p.m. to 2:20 a.m.

Coal Strikers to Return to Work; New Ship Threat

WASHINGTON, Sept. 19 (AP)—The strike in captive coal mines was ended today by an agreement for the 44,000 striking miners to return to work while negotiations continue between the operators and the United Mine Workers (C.I.O.) on a contract.

At the same time, a threat of a strike in the cotton and rayon bleaching and dyeing industries was made by the C.I.O. Textile Workers of America

George Baldanzi, Executive Vice-President of the union, said hoarding of certain materials in hope of higher prices is threatening widespread unemployment. He asked Leon Henderson, price administrator to investigate, and said the union would call out its members unless this was done.

In maritime circles, meantime, there was widespread apprehension that a general strike affecting all merchant shipping might arise from disputes between seamen and ship owners over war bonuses.

The Sailors' Union of the Pacific, it developed, has made demands on the Pacific American Shipowners' Association for higher bonuses for travel in war zones. Three West Coast ships were tied up in New York as a result. Eleven other vessels previously had been held in ports by a strike called Saturday by the Seafarers' International Union (A.F.L.) over the war-bonus question.

Nova Scotia to Elect on Oct. 28

HALIFAX, Sept. 19 (CP). — A Provincial general election will be held in Nova Scotia October 28, Premier A. S. MacMillan announced tonight. The last election was held June 29, 1937.

The Premier, who leads a Liberal party of overwhelming strength in the Legislature, said in a statement the Government was "of the opinion the general situation as respects the war makes the immediate future more convenient for the purpose of a general election rather than the early Spring or Summer of 1942.

A five-year mandate was given Millan said "the tradition of the in the 1937 election, but Mr. MacLiberal party always has favored appeals to the electorate in four years, rather than awaiting the expiry of the legal five years"

GERMAN GARAGE SET ON FIRE BY FRENCH IN PARIS

Fire Follows on Death of Two by Nazi Firing Squad

10 IN INCIDENT

By ROY PORTER
Associated Press Staff Writer

VICHY, Sept. 19 (AP)—Defying a rigorous curfew clamped down by the Nazis, and continued executions of "hostages", 10 men tonight set fire to a German Army garage in a Paris suburb and made good their escape.

Less than 18 hours after two Frenchmen, whom the Nazis described as Communists, had died before a Nazi firing squad for anti-German demonstrations, the men set fire to a German-requisitioned garage on Boulevard Gouvion-St. Cyr, near the Porte de Champeret.

A passerby saw the men leave the garage as it burst into flames.

This was the second garage to be burned by Frenchmen. A similar fire took place Sept. 6, the day the first three "hostages" were executed by the Nazis in reprisal for attacks on occupation forces.

The new incident came as rigid restrictions were put into force in the occupied capital and whole of the Seine Department surrounding it.

A German Command announcement described the two persons executed as Communists.

The newest victims were Raymond Gandon and Eric Louis Texier, who were condemned by a German military tribunal for "aid to the enemy by taking part in Communist demonstrations directed against Germany."

At the same time French authorities in Paris sentenced the elderly valet of former President Albert Lebrun to a month in jail for "insulting remarks" about Marshal Petain.

Controller Ready to Discuss Better Plan for Conserving Gas

TORONTO, Sept. 19 (CP).—G. R. Cottrelle, Federal Oil Controller, said today he is "quite ready" to discuss with the oil companies "or anyone else" any better plan for conserving gasoline and oil than the order cutting dealers' supplies 25 per cent monthly from their July totals.

Mr. Cottrelle said inequalities have arisen from the order but on the whole the plan was working out well.

Some station operators had complained that some stations, catering to Summer trade, were approaching their slack seasons and because of this, gasoline supplies based on July deliveries would be in excess of their requirements.

SUGGESTS CHANGING LIGHTS TO REPLACE CITY BLACKOUTS

LYNN, Mass., Sept. 19 (AP)—A lighting expert today asserted that blackouts hide cities as effectively as an ostrich hides himself by burying his head in the sand, suggested, instead, a changing pattern of bright lights could be a successful substitute.

Dudley M. Diggs of Schenectady, N.Y. a General Electric lighting expert, in a paper presented at a lighting engineers' convention, declared that events in Europe proved the failure of the blackout theory.

LONDON, Sept. 19 (CP Cable)—Six Canadian airmen, one a member of the Royal Canadian Air Force, have been decorated for daring attacks against the enemy, it was announced today.

Citizens Answer Call for Aluminum With Barrage of Pots, Pans and Scrap; Bulk of Donations Is Expected Today

Citizens of Nelson and District Friday night answered the call to arms in the national aluminum drive with a barrage of pots and pans, kettles and other scrap.

In eight sections of the City, separately, but simultaneously the opening gun of the drive to collect every available bit of aluminum scrap was sounded at 7:00 p.m. as collections parades moved off to cover every home. If there was no actual starting gun, there was every other kind of noise, for the collectors in trucks beat a terrific din with pots and pans, with sounding bugles and bells—and even with bagpipes.

"RESPONSE GRATIFYING"

The big corral on Baker Street, bulging at the sides, was half filled, and a large pile was made in the Junior Chamber Salvage Committee headquarters as the trucks after a two-hour drive dumped their loads. Some citizens brought their own contributions to the corral, not waiting fo the trucks.

"There, that ought to help pan Hitler," said one woman, who, aided by a husky male, dumped a half sack of pots and pans into the bin.

Up and down the streets from 7:00 p.m. to 9:00 p.m. went the trucks, with the workers sounding a call to citizens to bring out their aluminum scrap. And the answer was gratifying.

"The citizens have responded wonderfully to the appeal," Chief of Police G. R. Bone, Chairman of the Collection Drive, stated. "Friday night's results were most gratifying."

However the drive is not over, and today Rosemont will be covered, and children will bring their scrap to the Civic Theatre to gain admission to a free show. The bulk of the alfuminum is expected to enter the bins then.

LOTS OF HELP

There was plenty of help for the drive. Members of each seven city organizations, Women's Auxiliary to the Active Forces, Women's Training Corps, Board of Trade, Junior Chamber of Commerce, Rotary Club, Kinsmen Club and Gyro Club each covered a section. Aiding them were members of the Kootenay Kilties Band, Boy Scouts, buglers and others.

The scrap is needed by Canada's plane industry to build the bombers and fighters to "pan" Hitler, and all that collected in the national drive will be sold to refineries. The proceeds will go to the Red Cross.

Mosher, President of the Canadian Congress of Labor, said in a statement today that the order-in-council making strikes in war industry illegal unless a majority of the workers affected vote in favor of strike action will "have the effect only of increasing discontent and distrust in the minds of the workers, and thus hindering the war effort."

Mr. Mosher called for "a reconstruction of the entire labor policy of the Government."

Admit Pressure at Kiev While Nazis Claim Its Capture

Say Nazis Reach One Gate, but Fighting Rages on as Men Thrown Into Inferno; Mohammedans Called on to Rise

By HENRY C. CASSIDY—Associated Press Staff Writer

MOSCOW, Sept. 20 (Saturday) (AP).—The Red Army was reported today fighting desperately to stem a German tide sweeping through the Ukraine and Russia admitted the troops were hard pressed at the ancient Ukrainian capital of Kiev.

The bitter fighting extending from the Arctic to the Black Sea was "particularly fierce at Kiev," was all the Soviet communique told of the titanic struggle swirling about that city.

In the far North near the Arctic port of Murmansk the communique said "heavy losses" were inflicted "on three German SS battalions (Hitler's Elite Guard) and two Alpine Chasseurs Regiments."

The 136th and 137th Alpine Regiments suffered 3000 casualties, including 1000 dead, the communique said and identified the SS battalions as the "Fuehrer", "German" and "Death".

Recapitulated German air losses for Tuesday and Wednesday were put at 157 with 52 Red aircraft destroyed.

Russian dispatches pictured the conflict for Leningrad still raging indecisively, with the Red Army position improving somewhat on the central front and at beleaguered Odessa.

But it was at Kiev that the position of the Russian forces was gravest. A communique announced that German shock troops had penetrated to one gate of that historic capital of the Ukraine, but said the fighting was roaring unchecked, with the Nazis recklessly hurling new men and equipment into the inferno.

As the Germans thus pressed farther Eastward and nearer to the vast territories inhabited by Mohammedans, the chief of that religion in the Soviet Union called upon all Islam to rise up against the "devastation of Fascism."

There are about 235,000,000 Mohammedans in the world, unnumbered millions of them living in the Soviet districts of the Crimea, the Urals, the Caucasus and in Asiatic Russia.

S. A. Lozovsky, Vice Commissar for Foreign Affairs, told a Press conference that heavy Rumanian losses had eased the pressure on Odessa, but said the Germans apparently had sent in some reinforcements in response to a warning from Rumanian General Ion Antonescu that the Rumanians could not continue the offensive unaided.

BERLIN, Sept. 19 (AP). — The Nazi High Command claimed tonight that the German Ukrainian offensive had occupied the Provincial capital, Kiev, reached and overrun Poltava, 200 miles to the East, and was striking toward Kharkov, 80 miles beyond in the industrial Donets basin.

A series of spectacular successes was claimed by Hitler's Eastern headquarters which also put total German casualties to the end of August at 402,865 against Russian losses of more than 3,600,000 to date.

(British estimates of losses in the war on the Eastern front are 3,000,000 Russians and 2,000,000 Germans).

Kiev, a city of 846,293, the third largest in the Soviet Union fell during the morning.

EVERY U.S. FARM TO HELP DEFEND PROGRAM

CHICAGO, Sept. 19 (AP) — A door-to-door canvass of every farm in the United States, asking producers to gear their 1942 crops to the defence program, will be completed by Dec. 1, a Federal farm leader said today.

Wayne H. Darrow, information chief of the U.S. Department of Agriculture, told 400 Midwest agricultural agents the campaign to increase the nation's food output would be carried into the farm home by a questionnaire, to be filled out by 7,000,000 farm families.

NO ALUMINUM FOIL FOR COMMERCIAL PRODUCTS

OTTAWA, Sept. 19 (CP) — No aluminum has been released for rolling into foil for packaging commercial products since December of last year, G. C. MAN HANGS FOR MURDER

MONTREAL, Sept 19 (CP) — Gordon Campbell Smythe of suburban Verdun was hanged early today at nearby Bordeaux Jail for the murder two years ago of his aged landlord, Jean Baptiste Beaudry.

Smythe was twice convicted of the murder of Beaudry, whose battered body was found in the basement of Smythe's home.

Mexico Invites Nazis to Leave

MEXICO CITY, Sept. 19 (AP)—German and Italian nationals are being advised officially to quit Mexico, authorized circles said tonight.

This was learned after an announcement that President Avila Camacho had asked Congress to adopt immediately a bill providing severe new penalties for fifth column activities in Mexico.

Several hundred Germans and Italians along with other Europeans were said to have been advised that their tourist permits had expired or that, when they did expire they would not be renewed.

The newspaper Excelsior also reported this development, but said old established residents and political refugees would not be molested.

Coast Gunman Kills Druggist

VANCOUVER, Sept. 19 (CP).—With a description as their only clue, Vancouver police tonight enlisted the aid of other Lower Mainland forces in a hunt for a youthful gunman who shot Frank Fawcett, 72-year-old druggist in the back last night and fled from the scene with $3 in cash and some codeine tablets snatched from the drugstore shelves.

The description was provided police by John Alexander, 18-year-old university student, who with a companion noticed the bandit loitering in front of the Fawcett's suburban drugstore before the holdup.

Police found the bullet which killed him had entered his back and emerged near the collar-bone, leading them to believe the druggist was running to the door to give an alarm when he was shot.

Alexander described the man as curly-haired, about five foot ten inches, about 130 pounds and 35 years of age.

Police said description of Fawcett's slayer tallied closely with that of a gunman who held up Bert A. Emery, a customer and a messenger boy in another suburban drugstroe, two hours before Fawcett was shot.

20 New Polio Cases

WINNIPEG, Sept. 19 (CP). — Twenty new cases of infantile paralysis and two new cases of sleeping sickness in Manitoba were reported to health authorities today. Totals for the two epidemics that began three months ago are 860 infantile paralysis cases and 449 sleeping sickness cases.

Interpreting The War News

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON—Associated Press Staff Writer

The fall of Kiev, announced by Hitler's headquarters, is a staggering blow to Russia. It lends vivid coloring, if confirmed, to Berlin assertions that Red Army resistance is swiftly crumbling from the Moscow Front all the way to the Black Sea.

In the light of the bitter resistance of both Leningrad and Odessa under close siege for weeks, the quick fall of Kiev is almost unbelievable.

That the city was in grave danger was clearly indicated by Moscow even before the Germans proclaimed it had been encircled by Nazi North and South army groups which met at a point 125 miles East of Kiev. Moscow had already admitted the Germans were hammering at the gates of the city itself.

Just where the break through into the city came was not clear as this was written. The closest point of German approach previously reported was at Chernigov, 70 miles up the Desna River. With the Desna defence line North and East of the city breached at that point, the Chernigov-Kiev railroad down the East bank of the Desna offered opportunity for an attack from the rear on the city.

With Kiev fallen, however, the plight of Red Armies estimated at half a million strong or more in the great trip the Nazis have sprung is very grave. Even if the reporter junction of German armies far East of the city involves no more than armored spearheads, escape of Red troops from the trap seems problematical. Russian forces still presumably manning Western defences of the city beyond the Dnieper are in even a worse plight.

Lacking details it is difficult to estimate scope or strategic effect of the blow dealt Russian resistance as a whole. The prime element in Moscows hopes of balking the German drive toward Rostov and access to Caspian oil fields had been more or less of Russia's armies and people, showing portrayed by the stubborn defence of Leningrad and Moscow.

The quick succession of startling victory claims bulletined from Hitler headquarters held another ominous note for Russia and Britain. Swift capture of Poltava, a long stride Southeast from the Kiev area toward Kharkov, second ranking Ukrainian industrial centre, was reported.

That opens a new flanking route for the Germans to sweep into the Donest River basin, still far Eastward of indicated Russian defence lines on the left flank. And down the Donets and along the Lower Don lies a menacing threat to Rostov and to prime Russian oil supplies from Baku fields.

That Hitler hopes capture of Kiev will prove the beginning of the end of Russian resistance goes without saying. His victory bulletins were interspersed with other officitl statements asserting that Russian dead and prisoner official statements assert 4,000,000 on 90 days of combat while German losses in the first 60 days were around 250,000, including wounded.

This obviously was designed as a build-up for home consumption to allay German public concern over the probable blood cost of the vast new offensive Hitler had announced.

Pending some clarification from Moscow or London as to just what happened at Kiev, it is diffcult to assess the strategic effect of this greatest Russian disaster of the war. There is at least a possibility Kiev was sacrificed in order that the main body of its defenders could escape Eastward before the Nazi trap closed. That does not seem probable, however, with the Nazi steel ring reported gripping all rail and road outlets from the city Eastward.

Williscroft Is Refused Dismissal; Decision Reserved After Hearing; Accused Puts Onus on Officer

TRAIL, B. C., Sept. 19 — "I am frankly amazed that a five cent stogie should be the cause of so much trouble," stated George Williscroft of Trail and Nelson, accused of obstructing an officer in the performance of his duty, during his defence testimony before Magistrate Parker Williams, Friday morning.

The case opened for its second day Friday morning, and after a morning and afternoon hearing, during which William Ramsay, Manager of the Trail Rink Company, Dr. T. J. Muir, Trail dentist, Alec Bremner and Mr. Williscroft gave evidence, Magistrate Williams reserved decision until Sept. 26.

The case opened before Magistrate Williams Thursday afternoon, when statements were heard from Constable Gordon, of the Trail City Police, and Rudolph Moen, employee of the Trail Rink Company. F. H. Steele, Acting Chief of Police, prosecuted and C. B. Garland of Nelson acted as defence counsel.

What might be termed the "case of the five cent cigar" originated in the Trail rink Sept. 9. During a semi-final playoff lacrosse game between the Rossland Redmen and the Nelson Maple Leafs.

Evidence given by Moen and Constable Gordon Thursday afternoon was that Mr. Williscroft entered the rink with a lighted cigar, contrary to a prohibitive ruling against smoking, and that when Moen asked Constable Gordon to see that the cigar was put out, Gordon and Mr. Williscroft became involved in a struggle, which eventually resulted in the accused's arrest on the charge of obstructing.

DISMISSAL REFUSED

Testimony of Mr. Ramsay and Mr. Bremner Friday morning ended the case for the prosecution, and an appeal for immediate dismissal on grounds of technical weaknesses, claimed in the evidence of the prosecution, was put forward by Mr. Garland, but after considerable discussion, during which Mr. Garland, Magistrate Williams, and Chief Steel conducted resumes of the case as far as it had already proceeded, Magistrate Williams ordered continuance of the hearing, stating Mr. Garland's reasons for dismissal were "cutting the line too fine for the average man."

In his appeal for dismissal, counsel referred to Constable Gordon's admission that he arrested Williscroft because he obstructed him while he was ejecting him from the rink, rather than when he put out Williscroft's cigar.

Further, Mr. Garland stated, Constable Gordon had also stated that he would not have ejected Williscroft had not the accused swung at him after Gordon had snubbbed the cigar. The accused had not hit the constable, and Mr. Garland referred to the question, put to Gordon at that time, as to why he had not then let the matter drop, as the cigar was out.

Magistrate Williams then ruled the distinction regarding the actual reason for the arrest, too fine, pointing out that it was one thing to argue out the matter coolly in court, and another to be able to use the same discretion under the circumstances indicated.

"My client had his right of action taken away from him after his cigar was out. If action was necessary, why the ejection and arrest? Why not a summons, instead of a struggle?" Mr. Garland asked, pointing out that the accused in any case, was not committing a felony, but a misdemeanour at most.

OFFICER'S ACTION UNAUTHORIZED

Gordon might have charged him with attacking him, but as far as the obstruction was concerned, the constable was doing something which he was not required by law to do. There was nothing in either the Criminal Code, the Provincial Statutes, or the City Bylaws, which had authorized Constable Gordon's action.

He then quoted section 35 of the Criminal Code to the effect that a police officer hadn't the right to arrest a person without a warrant if the person was committing an offence prohibited by law, and stated that the section in no way applied to the present case.

Magistrate Williams didn't think it was reasonable to expect the average person to use that much discretion under the circumstances of the case in hand, to which Mr Garland replied that he would expect a great deal more from a police officer, who should be well disciplined, than from an average man.

"All he had to do was to see that the cigar was put out, but I do not think the 'manhandling' should be condoned. My client was swearing in public because he considered the officer was doing something he had no right to do," he said.

Chief Steele stated that, according to Gordon's testimony, nothing would have happened after Williscroft had been put out of the rink if the accused had not continued his verbal abuse and attacked the officer.

"Naturally he was not going to take that, and he used no more force than was necessary," he stated.

WILLISCROFT HAD DUTY

Magistrate Williams, although admitting that he expected a police officer to have a little more balance in procedure than the average man, he also expected that other man to have good judgment. Williscroft had been asked politely, according to Gordon's evidence, to put his cigar out, and if the accused had acted reasonably the incident might not have occurred, but as it was, he felt that the accused was to a certain extent the author of his own misfortune.

He did not think it wise of Gordon, under attack, to walk away, stating that a certain amount of prestige had to be maintained by an officer entrusted with keeping law and order.

"I can't put the onus of abuse of common sense on one side," he stated, adding later that he considered that Gordon had a perfect right to evict Williscroft after he had refused to put out the cigar.

"Even after the cigar was out?" questioned Mr. Garland.

"Yes, I cannot make myself cut that point too fine, although I realize you have a point there," the Magistrate concluded, and the case for the defence proceeded.

Dr. Muir, defence witness, related how he met Mr. Williscroft and the two men had proceeded to the rink.

The first indication of any trouble was when he noticed Moen pointing out Williscroft to Constable Gordon with his thumb. Williscrofts back was toward him, and he was standing about three feet away at the time Williscroft and Gordon were in conversation; and the only remark he heard was Gordon saying, "Well, I'll put you out." Then he saw Gordon make a lunge at Williscroft's hand.

MUIR OBLIVIOUS

He watched the lacrosse game for a minute, and then when he looked around the two men were gone. He went to the door of the rink and looked outside and heard "a very easy conversation going on."

He just heard Williscroft's voice, but no profanity was being used.

Although he noticed Gordon's arm around Williscroft's neck, he didn't near any paricular scuffle or swearing. Asked if he had made the remark, as claimed by Constable Gordon, "You'll have to put your cigar out, here comes a policeman," he denied doing so, saying the only remark he made to Williscroft was to wonder if there was going to be a game.

Chief Steele asked Muir why he was so positive that there was no swearing going on outside the rink, when he had not been able to distinguish any words.

Williscroft, the next witness, stated that from the time he and Dr. Muir had decided to go to the game until they entered the rink, about five minutes later, he had not puffed at his cigar.

WAS LETTING IT GO OUT

He was aware of the ruling regarding smoking, and had purposely refrained from drawing on the cigar in order to allow it to go out. The cigar, he said, was a special brand and went out quickly if not drawn on, and he was under the impression it was out when he entered the rink. One of the reasons he preferred the cigar was because it didn't burn away if he had to put it down unfinished, he later explained.

He handed his ticket in at the door, and, expecting Moen to tear the stub in half and return part of it, he extended his right hand with the cigar in it toward the doorman.

After a minute he realized Moen was keeping the ticket intact, and started to move on, when he heard Moen say "You can't smoke in here, Mister," to which he replied good naturedly, "O. K., brother, I won't smoke."

NO GENTLE TAP

The first intimation he had of Gordon's presence was a tap on the shoulder, "and it was not altogether a gentle tap either," he said demonstrating with a push on Mr. Garland's shoulder.

"Constable Gordon then said, 'You can't smoke in here'. That was the second time within a minute that I had been told not to smoke, and I was very much surprised. I looked up and said, 'O. K., brother, I'm not going to smoke.'" Williscroft testified.

Gordon he stated, said, "but you've got a smoking cigar in your hand. If you don't put it out I'll put you out."

"I brought it up to see if it was smoking, and was surprised to find that it was," Williscroft stated. "I turned my hand over to snub it out, but Gordon put his hand over mine and twisted it, and rubbed it out so hard that it ruined the stock."

He then turned to Gordon saying, "Jesus Christ, you didn't have to do that," to which Gordon replied, "Come with me", and grabbed him with his right arm about the neck and shoulders.

Williscroft denied he had swung at Gordon or made any threatening gesture.

Gordon's weight was dragging him down, he said, and when he objected, the Constable tightened his hold.

ATTEMPTED FLYING MARE

"I was frankly becoming annoyed and turned and ducked if Gordon had not let go he would have gone over my head," Williscroft said.

The minute he straightened up, the accused said, he was instantly grabbed, and again propelled toward the door. "I put my hand against the door jab. By that time Gordon seemed to be in front of me, and he yanked me through the door forceably, and across the sidewalk about six feet to the corner of the ticket booth."

Mr. Williscroft said he kept repeating, "What the hell is the matter with you? You don't have to do that," and tried again desperately to shake Gordon off. He put his right foot out and tried to throw Gordon, and they both went down together, Gordon on top.

"By that time I was pretty mad, and considered it altogether outrageous," he stated.

Questioned as to Gordon's statement that he had released him at the door, and that the accused had then turned on the Constable, Williscroft said that there was no interruption to the dragging, until he was choked so that he could hardly speak.

WAS NEVER FREE

"It was a continuous proposition until we were on the ground," he said, "and by that time I was pretty badly choked."

Williscroft stated he still tried to reason with Gordon, and didn't hear Gordon call Bremner for assistance. He didn't think it was required at that time, because he realized that with Gordon choking him so badly he would have to accept whatever the Constable had in store for him.

Asked if Gordon had mentioned anything about his arrest, he said the only thing Gordon had said was, "You come with me," and it was not until they got to the police station that he knew he was under arrest.

He was an hour and a half in the cell before Chief Steele arrived, and when he appeared before the Magistrate that night he had an abrasion about one eye, and marks on his forehead, and his coat was badly torn.

Questioned regarding the conversation which Gordon had stated to have occurred, Williscroft said: "I don't think any such conversation occurred. The whole thing was too abrupt, and there was no time for such a lengthy conversation."

He stated that he was not physically free to attack the officer at any time during the incident.

"I have very few quarrels, and have never tried to hit a police officer. I certainly tried to throw him off, as I felt he had no right to accost me."

Mr. Williscroft said he was accustomed to using expletives, and admitted swearing forcefully, but said his habits got the better of him because he was so annoyed.

Asked if he tried to obstruct the officer while Gordon was putting out the cigar, he replied, "I was given no opportunity whatsoever."

He stated that he had been perfectly aware that no smoking was allowed in the rink, and it was with this thought in mind that he decided to let his cigar go out while he was walking toward the rink.

During the scuffle he was not aware of what anyone else was doing, and Gordon was hurting him too much. "It was certainly painful," he commented.

He repeated that when he entered the building he hadn't the slightest idea that the cigar was not out.

Mr. Garland, in summing up the case, stated that a man in Mr. Williscroft's position must be credited with the qualities of good citizenship and good judgment, and that he had exhibited no desire to wilfully go against a common sense ruling.

He also pointed out that if Mr. Williscroft were convicted it would be a serious stigma on his character for the rest of his life.

He also spoke of the contradictory evidence of the two chief witnesses, and felt that a conviction should result only when evidence beyond a reasonable doubt had been produced by the prosecution.

Chief Steele, in summing up, based his remarks on Constable Gordon's statement regarding Williscroft's refusal to comply with the regulations.

The fact that Dr. Muir had not noticed any disturbance indicated that Gordon had not shown unreasonable. He had not abused him, knocked him down, or handcuffed him.

"The language he used to the officer is something no private citizen would stand," he said, adding that everyone was inclined "to pick on a police officer."

Had Williscroft walked away when Gordon released him at the door, there would have been no further trouble, Chief Steele said.

"Constable Gordon was doing his duty at the rink in the ordinary course of police duties, and I think he conducted himself in a very reasonable manner," he concluded.

Conservative Mine Policy Will Put Slocan on the Map, Says Walker; Roads Assure Tourists, Says Jukes

NEW DENVER, B. C., Sept. 19—Discussing mining questions at a public meeting here Friday night in support of A. E. Jukes, Conservative candidate for Kaslo-Slocan Riding, Russel R. Walker, Provincial Organizer, declared that the following out of the mining policy enunciated by the Conservative Party would place the famous silvery Slocan back on the map again as one of the greatest producers of silver, lead, and zinc in the Province.

STATE OF DECAY

He referred to the near-criminal negligence of the Liberal administration in allowing the "mother industry" of the Province to sink into a state of decay, which had locked up promising producers, depopulated mining towns and districts, and spread discontent and discouragement throughout the entire mining area.

Mr Walker remarked that the Liberal Government was making great capital out of the fact that last year's production of $75,000,000 was a record. War requirements were chiefly responsible for this gratifying total, but the truth was that the Provincial Mines Department had become as useless to the miners and general public as a brain specialist to a miner with a broken leg.

The Provincial Organizer said that the demand from the mining districts all over the Province had resulted in a sound mining policy for the Conservative Party, and one which every candidate was pledged to support. He showed that the present system of resident mining engineers was costing the taxpayer $250,000 per annum, and was producing less than nothing. New encouragement was never contained in reports by such engineers, and thus capital did not become interested, nor did the prospector and miner benefit in any way.

WILL SCRAP WASTE

The speaker asserted that such a policy of waste and inefficiency would be scrapped, with experienced and competent men chosen to carry out field work in such a manner as to afford the maximum encouragement to capital, and the fullest benefit to the man in the hills.

Many minor details would have to be worked out, said Mr. Walker, who has been engaged in mining in B. C. for many years. These details would be in the hands of men with a reputation for success, and all plans followed would have as a first consideration the benefit which would be afforded the industry as a whole.

He declared the Party's plan of industrial expansion and the development of small industries in inumerable places in the Province, should appeal particularly to a district like Kaslo-Slocan. Here he said, was mineral wealth in abundance, ample timber for all mining purposes, sufficient farm land to provide all produce required by mining camps. A common sense policy of business administration applied to government would restore prosperity to a banner mining district, and happily, enable the area to make a substantial contribution in money and materials to the war effort.

James Greer, who presided, out in introducing Mr. Jukes, that the riding should be proud of having a man of his calibre offering his services President of the Vancouver Stock Exchange, President of Gold Belt Mines, and a director of Sheep Creek Gold Mines and of Lucky Jim Mines, Mr. Jukes proved himself, through his mining interests and business usccesses, to be the very man needed for this, a mining area.

JUKES SEES TOURIST FLOOD

Confining most of his remarks during the evening to road building Mr. Jukes referred to the scenic splendors of the Kaslo-Slocan.

"But where is the publicity that would entice visitors from the United States, and elsewhere, to tour your glorious valleys and hills?" he asked. "And of what value would such publicity be with roads inadequate for the tourist travel that this area deserves — tourist travel that every responsible Government admits is one of the most profitable and enriching industries extant — an industry which benefits all within the area affected?

"Let us build roads then — not just before an election as a sop to the electors, but in a business-like way, with the good of the community at heart," Mr. Jukes proceeded. "Roads are the vital links between communities, and they should not be made political footballs, a bribe to those who support the administration, the lack of them a threat to those who waver."

"My worthy opponent, the Hon. Mr. Leary, when he was nominated last week, asserted that he was not in favor of a highway commission," noted Mr. Jukes, and asked: "Why does the Pattullo Government and its spokesmen so repeatedly stress its objection to a highway commission? Is the Government conscious of the fact that the electors are gradually realizing the necessity of a businesslike administration in the matter of building roads?"

The speaker asserted no one now employed in road building would lose his job if a highway commission was appointed. Rather, they would form a basis for the commission to build from, and far more persons would be employed in road building than at present.

Germans Will Be Stopped in Russia When U.S. Materials Start to Roll on Front Says American Newsman

ANKARA, Sept. 19 (AP)—Ralph Ingersoll, publisher of the New York newspaper "PM", who arrived in Ankara today from Moscow, said he believed the Germans may take a few more "limited objectives" in Russia, but ultimately will be stopped.

Then a mass of Americans appearing on the Russian front would be felt, he said.

He praised the Russian staff work, which he declared demonstrated its excellency by holding together a 2000-mile line against "the most efficient army in the world."

The front is actually 200 miles deep, with fighting going on all through that distance, Ingersoll declared. He described the German panzer tactics as continually surrounding Russian forces ranging from companies to division, with the Russians repeatedly sifting out of the encirclement, though often losing their equipment in doing so.

Loss of material on both sides has been heavy, he said and it is plain the issue is one of German factory production against that of United States plus the problem of delivering American products via Vladivostok and the trans-Siberian railway, via Archangel, and through Persia.

The Russians are loading entire factories on trains and shipping them behind the lines to new sites East of the Caspian Sea, Inbersoll said.

Ingersoll had an hour's conversation with Premier Joseph Stalin, whom he described as confident, direct-speaking and in good health.

The publisher said he went to Russia to find out about a lot of fears which one by one had been dissipated.

Transportation now is better than a month after war began, he said, with no sign of congestion on the railroads or on the six-lane Moscow-Smolensk highway, part of which he traversed.

There was no sign of civilian panic such as preceded the collapse of France, Ingersoll said. He found food adequate and good, "certainly in Moscow and in the army."

He rated the Moscow air raid protection as extraordinarily good, "as good now after three months of war as London had after a year, because Moscow profited by the London experience."

Bombs Thrown at German Embassy in Buenos Aires

BUENOS AIRES, Sept. 19 (AP).—Two small bombs were thrown today in front of the fashionable embassy residence of German Ambassador Edmond von Thermann during a hostile demonstration.

Von Thermann has been the object of a Congressional attack which reached a virtual demand for his expulsion from Argentina for alleged abuse of his diplomatic privileges.

Police made one arrest and dispersed a group of about 20 persons after extra police had been called out to suppress the disturbance shortly after midnight.

No damage was done the building other than stains left by a tar bomb thrown by demonstrators. Stones were also flung at the Embassy while a small fire bomb exploded about 500 feet away.

Capt. Fritz Wiedemann, formerly German Consul at San Francisco, Calif., boarded the Japanese cargo boat Manila Maru to sail for the Far East this morning.

Von Thermann and several members of the German Embassy staff went down to see him off.

Baxter Says Canada Should Have Conscription to Fulfil 'Her Pledge'

TORONTO, Sept. 19 (CP) — A warning that "we cannot fight this war as if the war is separate from the rest of our existence," coupled with the suggestion that Canada cannot fulfil "her pledge" without conscription, was given today by Beverley Baxter, Toronto-born member of the British House of Commons, in an address to the annual conference of the National Industrial Advertisers Association.

"One can look at Hitler from this side of the Atlantic and say Germany wants to dominate. . . . They cannot do it," Mr. Baxter said, "but I wonder if they cannot do it."

"The tyrant having prostituted science . . . can keep a nation enslaved, a continent enslaved, and I am not sure it cannot keep a world enslaved. . . . We face the possibility of a great dynamic and forceful nation winning this war."

Mr. Baxter said there was a danger of Germany forcing its ideas upon the world for a thousand years if victorious, "until men may not want freedom, because they have forgotten what it is."

Mr. Baxter paid tribute to the financial and other contributions of Canada to the war effort but said "And yet, let me speak as a Canadian now, how can a nation as important as Canada . . . how can she face her pledge without conscription?

"It is not that conscription will send so many more men. Conscription has almost become in this war a declaration of democracy in itself. Conscription in Britain has been the biggest democratic influence in Britain for decades. It has worked smoothly, and has enabled Britain to face her great dangers."

He added that "The holding back of conscription must have a deterring effect on those who look closely at Canada's war effort."

R.A.F. Daylight Raids Cause Havoc in Enemy Industrial Output

By FOSTER BARCLAY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Sept. 19 (CP)— Inestimable havoc has been wrought on shipping and industrial targets by bombs dropped from low-flying Royal Air Force planes making daring daylight raids over Germany, and Nazi-occupied territory.

Reviewing results of recent daylight activities the air ministrys news service said reconnaissance and other evidence confirmed reports of Germany's heavy losses on land and sea, and revealed how accurately the R.A.F. bombed vital industries.

Detailing damage the service says that when Bremen was bombed July 4 several warehouses were destroyed and direct hits were achieved on the erection hangar of a factory making Junkers 87's.

More than 20 dive bombers were destroyed or damaged beyond repair and at least 100 workmen killed. The iron and steel works North of Ijmuiden in Holland suffered serious damage during several powerful raids. It was estimated production in the works dropped 33 per cent after large buildings were damaged badly and much devastation was spread among blast furnaces.

The harbor at Rotterdam, Terminus of coastal shipping, has suffered immensely from day and night raids. Reconnaissance planes photographed a ship of about 9000 tons lying on its side in shallow water at the quay West of Wilton's shipbuilding yards.

The engine shops and assembly hall in the yards also showed signs of direct hits. A huge hole yawned in a high structure and the effect of blasts on the buildings was obvious. Near-by a long warehouse has been ravaged by fire.

In France, the news service, said reports had been received summarizing heavy damage inflicted by accurate bombing of mines and power plants. During August it was reported that only half the pitheads at Lenz were operating and that the pitheads at Moules were forced to abandon work for 12 days.

During an attack on the steel works, at Fives, near Lille, the record office was destroyed and the workshops, boilerhouse and administrative offices were damaged. The railway aidings and storage tanks at Gosnay were bombed effectively while at Chocoues the Kuhlman Chemical Works were put out of commission for a time. Bombs also were dropped among partially-built U-boats and surface ships at Le Trait as well as the power station, boiler house, pumphouse and water installations at Ceminee.

Illiterate Boy Should Overcome His Handicap

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

"Dear Miss Fairfax:

"It seems strange to me that a young man in whom I had begun to take an interest, said nothing about enlisting. He was extremely good looking, big, blond, splendid at all sorts of sports, and was one of the most attractive boys I'd ever met.

"He had been brought to this country by his parents when he was about 10 years of age. They lived on a farm in the remote West. Among themselves they always spoke the language of the country from which they came. His father taught him, and he appears never to have gone to school.

"The young man was to go back home for his vacation. He worked on a large dairy farm here, and the proprietor thought very well of him.

"I told him if he wrote me nice letters I'd answer them. He broke down, almost wept and told me he could not read or write English; that his parents expected to return to their native country, and had never seemed to care whether he attended school or not.

"He has not intention of ever returning to the country in which he was born.

"It would not be hard for me to love this boy very much. But of course I could not marry a man who doesn't read or write. In my family we've all had high school educations; in addition to that, I've gone to a business college. He says if I won't drop him, he'll start in right away and study hard. What do you think of this case?

"UNDECIDED".

The case would not seem so remarkable to me if I did not know of many similar cases during World War No. 1, when it was alleged that nearly 25 per cent of the enlistees were illiterate. Like your young man, these included men who could read and write the language of the countries in which they were born, but not English.

These conditions started such a tremendous uproar in educational circles that much was done to avoid this illiteracy in the future.

It's hard to think of a young man, such as you describe, not having enough ambition to learn to read and write English, no matter how remiss his parents may have been in neglecting to send him to school.

Before going on with this young man, I should certainly insist that he repair the gaps in his education without loss of time.

Deafness . . .

Risk to Neglect Hearing Defects

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M.D.

An ear specialist showed me a letter the other day from a patient, which had substantially this complaint, "You took $25.00 from me and all I got for it was that you told me you could do nothing for me."

"Now," said the ear specialist, "this is exactly what I did tell him. First, begin to learn lip reading right away. Second, experiment to find out whether you can obtain a hearing aid which will be satisfactory to you."

This is practically saying the same thing as, in the words of a noted authority, "If there is the slightest risk that deafness is progressive, action must be taken to forestall social, temperamental and mental damage. Prevention is much easier and more effective than patching up after the worst has happened."

LEARN NEW HABITS

All deafness is not the same and this advice does not apply to all people but it is a tragic fact that nobody believes when he begins to get deaf, that he is ever going to get any worse. Inasmuch as progressive deafness comes on in middle life when it is difficult to form new habits and learn lip reading, the time is put off until too late to do any good.

This mental attitude that "It can't happen to me" prevents people from realizing how much hearing they have lost because their family and friends learn to raise their voices. If one of them doubts this, as a test ask the members of the family to talk in a perfectly ordinary tone of voice. Don't look at the speaker. Try hearing without benefit of lip reading at 10, 15, or 20 feet. If you are shocked by the discovery, be thankful about it. You have done yourself a great service.

HEARING AIDS

The progressive deafness of middle age can sometimes be halted in its progress. But, at best, it is inevitable. It is simply put off a few years.

Hearing aids have been greatly improved both in appearance, size and effectiveness. They exercise the function of hearing.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

P.K.—"I am 16 years old and have had rheumatic fever. I would like advice on change of climate as I have a chance to go to the Middlewestern states and I am wondering if this change will be of any benefit to me. There seems to be no change in my condition here."

Answer—I should say that the Midwest offers a good deal better climate for you than the seashore. The dampness and fog are likely to bring on attacks frequently.

G.R.C.—"Is there any danger of infection in the arm following inoculation to prevent diphtheria? I have a fear of being inoculated. I have heard of abscesses being caused by inoculations."

Answer—Infections occur only about once every 2000 cases. Of course, proper precautions must be taken.

On The Air

FIELDS AND McCARTHY RENEW FEUD

Charlie McCarthy will have special guards posted in the Hollywood studio during his broadcast tomorrow to search comedian W. C. Fields for concealed weapons when he arrives to put in a guest appearance and renew his feud of long-standing with Bergen's brash and impish youngster. The show will go on the CBC network and CKLN at 5:00 p.m. PDST.

Bad blood has existed between Fields and "Splinterpuss" ever since the former was a regular feature of the show in 1937. "He was a pestiferous gadfly," said Fields recently, "always getting in my hair."

The other day as Charlie was posing for pictures he got an inkling of what to expect when Fields shows up for the broadcastcast. Fields, no doubt, by coincidence, was at the photographer's at the same time, in spite of the distraction Charlie managed to straighten his tie and put on his best smile.

Just as the picture was about to be snapped Charlie happened to glance over his shoulder and what he saw stood his shock of red hair on end and caused great drops of resin to gather on his wooden brow. There, in close promixity to Charlie's precious wooden neck, was Fields brandin close proximity to Charlie's precious wooden neck, was Fields brandof Bergen saved Charlie from an ignominious end on the woodpile.

Completing the billing of the show will be Abbott and Costello with their funnybone-tickling comedy routines and music by Ray Noble and his Orchestra.

Child Should Be Coached at Home

By GARRY C. MYERS, Ph.D.

The average child subtracts in his own fashion long before he goes to school. Following some practice on the concept of more or less, the child is ready to begin to learn by heart the basic subtraction facts such as "4 from 9 leaves 5."

As in addition, so in subtraction, there are but 100 of the basic subtraction facts. Many children suppose there must be a million of them. How amazing it is that with only 100 simple addition facts and 100 simple subtraction facts to be learned, the average child attending the upper elementary school today does not know nearly all these facts, in spite of the hours and days of drill he spent on them.

The chief reason for this failure is that the child has repeated so many of them wrong in the drill.

No matter what your child's teacher does, you can safely help this child at home if you will get him to memorize 2, 3, or 4 of these subtraction facts an evening. Please don't let him attack more than four at most. Two or three are better. Set down the fact in a column, as 4 under 7, a line, and 3 under the line.

If your child were to learn mechanically and accurately two or three of these subtraction facts an evening, always reviewing all those he has learned up to then, he will have acquired at home what will prove of immeasurable value to him not only at school but elsewhere as long as he lives.

A sheet of all the 100 subtraction facts (also one of the 100 addition facts) may be had, without cost, by writing me at 235 East 45th Street, New York City, enclosing a self-addressed envelope with a three-cent stamp.

SOLVING PARENT PROBLEMS

Q. Why do you always insist that when a child is assigned to sit in a chair for punishment he shall do so for a definite time announced when he goes to the chair?

A. So the punishment will be effective and the child will not be tempted to plead, argue or cry violently. No use to plead or argue with a clock, nor does crying make it run any faster. Neither does a time piece ever have a headache or get nervous. It just ticks on and on in its own way without any feeling.

Takes Courage for Fat Women Make Themselves Over

By IDA JEAN KAIN

This is the second time my nomination for the "woman with the most courage" goes to a Canadian. The story is that of a slim girl who eloped at the age of 17 and who, at the age of 24, weighed 200 pounds and had completely lost her looks.

In the meantime she had had four children and there is a lot of work connected with bringing up a family, doing all the housework, and keeping a garden. She has some excuse for letting her looks slip.

Her husband is overseas with the Royal Canadian Navy and of course he is looking forward to leave, and he keeps telling her to be sure to be right there at the station to meet him. Not long ago she got to picturing the reunion and to wondering whether he would be proud to introduce her to his friends. She was afraid he wouldn't.

So she has taken herself in hand for a complete making-over. She wrote to me for the balanced menus, the caloric chart, and the exercises, and by keeping in mind how nice she wants to look when she goes to the station, she has been able to stick to her rigorous regime. In two months, she took off 30 pounds She had her hair cut, she has always worn it in a knot at the nape of her neck, and has a new permanent. And she has even made appointments for a long over-due series of visits to the dentist.

As time goes on, her program is becoming easier to follow, friends are beginning to say, "How smart you look," and "Why, you look 10 years younger!"

But, she writes, this is just the beginning. She means to keep right on with her health program until her weight and measurements are right down where they used to be. She wants to take off another 40 pounds which will make her weight perfect for her height of five, four inches. She is still a busy woman, so for part of her exercise she marches with the children and does calisthenics to the radio. She never slips a day of either diet or exercise.

FORT WILLIAM, Ont. (CP). — A speckled trout weighing seven pounds 9½ ounces, believed the largest fish of its kind taken in Ontario waters this season, was landed in the Nipigon River.

One can ready-to-fry cod fish cakes, 1 egg, 1 teaspon of baking powder, ½ tablespoon butter, ⅛ teaspoon pepper.

Drain thoroughly on brown paper and serve immediately on heated platter. Serves 4.

SHRIMP TURNOVERS

One No. 1 can shrimp, chopped, ¼ cup milk, salt and pepper, 1 tablespoon butter, 1 hard cooked egg, chopped fine, 1 tablespoon of corn starch.

SERIAL STORY - - - By RICHARD HOUGHTON

Death at the Switch

CHAPTER THIRTY-FIVE

"You've been a big help," Jones told Mrs. Willett.

"But I don't see . . . What have I said that can help you?"

"Little things like that — like Hans Svenson lending money to Mr. Ives—sometimes have great significance in a murder case."

"Oh dear! I hope now you don't suspect poor Mr. Svenson!"

"We suspect everyone," said Jones getting to his feet and picking his hat up from the table. "Come on, Mr. Potter. There are a couple of other people I'd like to see."

As they went out of the house and down the hill toward the village Henry pondered the discoveries of the past few minutes.

When they were out of earshot of Ives former housekeeper he said, "You know, if Ives kept Mrs. Willett on starvation wages, with the promise of leaving her something in his will, she may have reason to be glad he's dead!"

Jones agreed. "She would be my Number One suspect if it weren't for the fact that we know she could not have killed him. He was killed by someone at the meeting of that railroad club Wednesday night. We are sure of that—and we know Mrs. Willett wasn't there."

"Why do you suppose at that fake seance she tried to make us think it was Spinelli?"

"That's hard to say. Why did someone plant a gun on Stanley King the night of the murder?"

"That was done by the killer to throw suspicion off himself. But Mrs. Willett wouldn't have any such reason for what she did."

"Perhaps we'd better give her credit for honestly believing Spinelli was guilty, and for fearing he was going to escape suspicion."

As they entered the village Jones hesitated a moment to get his bearings, then headed for the garage where Hans Svenson was employed.

Henry accompanied him reluctantly. "Somehow Hans doesn't fit into the picture," he objected. "What are you going to say to him?"

"We'll just have a friendly chat."

They didn't find Hans, however. The garage proprietor, his face streaked with the grease, looked up from the innards of an automobile engine to inform them, "Hans is taking the day off—as maybe you can guess! Darn this wiring! His mother went to the hospital for an operation on her eyes."

"Oh!" Jones was disappointed. "That's—too bad."

Henry put in quickly, "Then he wasn't hard up for money? I mean, things like operations are expensive."

"Sure," agreed the garage owner. He was bothered by the troublesome ignition. "I mean—hell no! Hans wouldnt worry about the money. He's happy at the chance his old lady has of saving her eyesight."

They left the proprietor swearing over his work.

Henry thought the investigation of Hans had come to a temporary standstill, but Jones announced that they were going to the hospital.

"If the doctors are operating, Hans will be emotionally keyed up, waiting for the result. It will be a good time to talk to him. He may say things he wouldn't say otherwise."

Henry couldn't imagine Hans emotionally keyed up, and he did not like the idea of going to the hospital. But he had not choice.

"You see," Jones continued, "there's a very good chance that if Hans knew he was going to get money from Ives' estate he would arrange for credit for the operation."

"Still, that doesn't make him a murderer."

"No, but it gives him an excellent motive."

Ymir Has Service for Reconsecration

YMIR, B. C.—On Sunday evening a special service was held in the United Church at Ymir, in keeping with reconsecration week. A large congregation filled the Church to capacity. Many of the school children, under the supervision of the Principal, Mr. Swansea, were in attendance. Rev. W. Dovey, who recently began his new work on the Salmo-Ymir Charge, conducted the service.

Special music was a feature of the service. Miss Nord sang a solo, Mr. and Mrs. Dovey, a duet, and Mrs. Dovey, Guy Cawley, Mr. Walsh and Mr. Dovey rendered two selections. Mrs. Craig was the accompanist.

Mrs. Neilson Favors Canada Obtaining Russian Advisors

WINNIPEG, Sept. 19 (CP).—Mrs. Dorise Nielsen, Unity Member of Parliament for North Battleford, at a public meeting here last night said the Dominion Government might well be advised to send for technical advisors from the Russian Army.

The Russians, she said, could assist in training Canadian soldiers in the methods of modern mechanized warfare.

She urged Russia be granted diplomatic representation in Canada, and that the Dominion establish a trade agreement with the Moscow Government.

Social Studies to Stress Democracy

VICTORIA, Sept. 19 (CP)—Teaching of social studies in British Columbia high schools will lay stress upon the traditions and the value of democracy it is disclosed in the revised program of studies for senior high school completed by the Department of Education. The editorial in the New York Times after Dunkerque, entitled "This Shining Thing in the Souls of Free Men" is quoted in full in the program.

Would Shoot Black Market Racketeers

LONDON, Sept. 19 (CP Cable)—A columnist in the London Daily Express, James Agate, today suggested Black Market racketeers should be shot.

"I should have no compunction in shooting them out of hand," Agate wrote. "If that is considered too drastic let us brand them with B. M.R. on the forehead and the backs of both hands."

David Low drew a pen picture of the same idea in the evening Standard. "It showed three sneaking figures —spectacular, middleman and purchaser with rats sprawling over them—lined up against a wall in front of a firing party.

"Why not?' asked the caption.

The News Chronicle reminded its readers that "Moscow shoots those who seek to prey on their fellows" and declared "the day of fines for any sort of deliberate monkeying about with the nation's food supply has passed. Only the the people from parasites."

Time Signals Go on Despite War

OTTAWA, Sept. 19 (CP).—Aloof from war is an international service—time signals—affecting every home and office and equally important to learned scientist and untutored laborer.

Dominion observatory officials said today daily international wireless time signals—one of them from Germany — are still being picked from the air to provide a scientific check on the clocks of Canada.

The signals are in conformity with international agreement and reports on their use are made to cooperating observatories. Ottawa receives daily time signals from Arlington, N.Y.; Bordeaux, France; Mone Grade, Chile; Nauen, Germany; Rio de Janeiro, Brazil and Rugby, England.

Women's Institute Here Lays Plans for Extensive Autumn Activities

Despite weather tending to keep people indoors, the Women's Institute Friday afternoon held its first monthly meeting since the Summer, to make plans for their Fall activities. Mrs. F. E. Wheeler, President conducted the business discussion.

Included in the correspondence, read by Mrs. W. Postlethwaite, was a letter from Victoria voicing an appeal for nurses who could serve in emergency. It was explained that those eligible were graduate nurses, registered and non-registered, members of the St. John Ambulance and those who had completed Home Nursing Courses under the Red Cross Society or the St. John Ambulance Association.

MAKE BABY QUILTS

Fall activities under way embrace making baby patched quilts to be sent overseas. An excellent display of quilts already handed in was made up of those made by Mrs. A. D. Emory's group, and those made by Mrs. A. Terrill. More material was bought to make large wool comforters, which are to be filled with bats of Canadian wool. These are already in full swing, and they are to be sent overseas for use in air raid shelters.

The Tag Day was reported a worth while and highly successful effort, the net amount being $136, as reported by the treasurer, Mrs. Hector Mackenzie.

VOTE DONATIONS

The ladies voted to send $10 to the Red Cross, and $10 to the Queen Elizabeth Fund.

A vote of thanks was given to Mrs. Penny and all those who helped to provide hot cocoa and cookies for the children who tagged.

The Institute also reported that over a ton of jam and preserved fruit was made in the drive by the Women's Institutes of Nelson and surrounding districts and other groups, working with the Red Cross.

Mrs. T. B. Tallyn, convener of the Baby Clinic, reported that in July 13 babies were examined, 12 in August, and two in September.

Mrs. Wheeler announced that at the next meeting the ladies would likely hear Mrs. H. H. Pitts, who has been attending a Conference of the Associated Countrywomen of the World, held at Chateau Laurier, Ottawa.

Following the meeting it was announced Mrs. J. C. Robison won a black satin cloth, donated by Mrs. Bedford, and pen-painted by Mrs. W. Campbell of Erie, Ont.

Sewing on the wool comforters was continued, and tea was served.

Like the white prayer book she carried, it had been worn by her great-great-grandmother a century and a half ago. It has been used by five generations of the family. Gardenias held the lace to her curls and marked the prayer book. Her gown was white chiffon girdled with quilting. The ceremony at which Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Scotts daughter, Gertrude Ann, was married to R. B. Proctor, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. S. Proctor, took place in St. Helen's Anglican Church, Rev. Dr. H. R. Trumpour officiating. British Envoys to Attend Reception for Shah of Iran

By DANIEL DE LUCE
Associated Press Staff Writer

TEHERAN, Iran, Sept. 18 (Delayed) (AP)—Russia and Britain will recognize the new Shah of Iran, Mohammed Shah Pahlevi, by sending envoys to his reception for the Diplomatic Corps soon, it was authoritatively reported today.

Meanwhile, Gurkha riflemen from Nepal, India, replaced Russian sentries at the Teheran Radio Station near the factory where British troops are quartered. The Red Army continued to guard other communications centres.

By agreement, the Allies will not march through the capital's business section. The tanks and armored cars that the Russians furnished yesterday in expectation of a triumphal review of Riza Shah Boulevard remained parked at the airfields and in suburban gardens.

The Red troopers included women in blue-gray Army tunics and forage caps who stopped in the picturesque bazaars for bouquets of flowers.

The Russian force appeared to be a reserve outfit by Russian standards of equipment, but its discipline, march technique and supply system impressed military observers.

132 Names Off List as Court Revision Opens

Some 132 names were struck from the Provincial Voters List for Nelson-Creston Electoral District Friday morning during a two-hour Court of Revision at the Nelson Court House.

Persons representing the various political bodies appeared before the Court, and with but one or two exceptions, every name objected to was removed. None of the objections were on contentious points, most of the names being removed because of the death, or change of residence of the registered persons.

John Cartmel, Registrar for the Provincial Voters List, as Judge of the Court adjourned the Court at noon Friday until 10:00 a.m. today, when it will be resumed at Creston under W. Linden Bell, Deputy Registrar.

Approval was received from the Provincial Secretary for the adjourned sitting, believed to be the only one in the Province. The adjournment was necessitated because of geographical conditions.

Correct Address for Air Force Mail

OTTAWA, Sept. 19 (CP)—Postmaster General Mulock drew attention today to a falling-off in the correct addressing of mail for men overseas, and in particular to those members of the Royal Canadian Air Force serving with Royal Air Force units.

As location of these men is kept by the Royal Air Force record rather than by the Royal Canadian Air Force, it is essential the fact the addressee is with a Royal Air Force unit be indicated by including the words "Attached Royal Air Force" in the address unless the number of the R.A.F. unit is known, which should in that case be given. It also helps if the indication "Royal Canadian Air Force Overseas" is given instead of "Canadian Army Overseas."

The address of men of the Royal Canadian Air Force serving overseas should include the following information If serving with a Royal Canadian Air Force unit overseas:

Number,
Rank, Surname, followed by initials,
Name of Unit (when known),
Royal Canadian Air Force
Overseas.

Example for R.C.A.F. unit:
(Can.) R1723,
Sgt. Black, J. W.,
No. 401 Suadron R.C.A.F.,
Royal Canadian Air Force
Overseas.

If attached to a Royal Air Force unit overseas:

Number,
Rank, Surname, followed by initials,
Name of Royal Air Force Unit,
Royal Canadian Air Force
Overseas.

Examples:
When R.A.F. unit is known:
(Can.) R1926,
Lac. Jones, A. N.,
No. 10 Squadron R.A.F.,
Royal Canadian Air Force
Overseas.
When unit of R.A.F. is not known:
(Can.) R2176
Acl. Smith, W. F.,
Attached Royal Air Force,
Royal Canadian Air Force
Overseas.

In the case of Royal Canadian Air Force officers the form of address is the same except that the Air Force number should be written after the name and rank of the officer.

Place-names may be used in addressing mail to officers and airmen with Royal Air Force units, but when place-names are used the name of the unit must not be given.

In the case of parcels, if a place-name is included in the address, they will be handled through the Civil Postal Service, Overseas, and there is a possibility that customs charges may be imposed, the Minister said.

Late Airman Visitors Write Mrs. Lambert; Extol Nelson Hospitality

Mrs. George Lambert, Secretary of the Citizen's Committee on Entertainment of Visiting Airmen, has received letters from Flt. Lt. R. F. Hunter and Corporal W. Gibson, voicing heartfelt thanks to their hosts on behalf of their fellow airmen, British and Australian, who were entertained here.

In his letter to Mrs. Lambert, Flt. Lt. Hunter says that the boys dropped right back into harness on returning to Medicine Hat. "Perhaps," he says, it is as well, because there is less time to pine for the lovely times we had at Nelson."

He continues: "Before we came, perhaps we all wondered a little how we should fit into the general scheme, but the really hospitable way in which you all received us removed every possible doubt whatever.

FLT. LT. HUNTER IMPRESSED

"We couldn't help being impressed by the spirit of youth that seemed to prevail everywhere, the ideal atmosphere for a holiday. We felt at home so quickly and seemed to fit in with the routine of our hosts and hostesses, that we felt as though Nelson had been our home for a long time.

"One thing which we appreciated tremendously was the way in which everything possessed by the Nelson people was made readily available to us. They did everything possible to make our stay enjoyable.

"I remember on the golf course all four without exception vowed they would take up golf on return to Medicine Hat. It must have been the beauty of the scene influencing them, because I notice that the sight of a brown scorched piece of prairie has made them break their vows.

"It it hadn't been for the fact of having plenty to do, there would have been very little to relieve the eye back here. There seems absolutely nothing to attract one's attention after leaving glorious lake and wooded mountain behind.

"The view of Nelson from the golf course, with the lake as a background and the mountains behind topped by Kokanee, is one which will live long in our memories.

BEST HOLIDAY EVER HAD

"It wasn't until we left all this beauty and good fellowship that we fully realized how wonderful it was. We all agreed that it ranked about the best holiday we had ever had, and felt quite sick about going back and away from it all. There seems something very final about a ferry crossing—something severing the bonds between folks left behind.

"Should you meet anyone who is in any doubt about whether we enjoyed our visit to Nelson, tell them we think it is the finest place for a holiday we've struck, and although we had a fair round of activity we feel that we didn't exhaust half the possibilities.

"In closing I express on behalf of the four of us and of all R.A.F. Medicine Hat generally, heartfelt appreciation of the efforts you have made to make our memories of Canadian hospitality very pleasant ones."

CPL. GIBSON SPEAKS FOR PALS

And again from Medicine Hat comes another letter expressing thanks from a group of airmen who found the same heartwarming welcome awaiting them when they spent several days at Nelson. Corporal W. Gibson, in writing to the citizens of Nelson, says:

"I am thanking you on behalf of all my pals who have had the pleasure of sharing your most generous hospitality of the past week. I am sure that it has excelled all our imagination, the wonderful way in which everything was so thoughtfully arranged, even before our arrival. The reception was so comforting that we felt "at home" the moment we arrived. Since then it has been one picturesque dream that will live in our memory for many years to come.

"HEAVEN IN THE HILLS"

"Your city has a wonderful setting among those ever welcoming hills, we are all so sorry that our holiday here couldn't have been much longer, so that we could have still further enjoyed your 'heaven in the hills'.

"Our hosts and hostesses have been perfect, and I am certain that our humble thanks do not do them justice. The way our parties were arranged and carried out was magnificent, and the spirit that was shown was grand.

"We thank you all once again from the bottom of our hearts, and may I say that we all would like the opportunity of entertaining you at our homes in England, should such an occasion arise. May I now close in saying cheerio, and not good-bye, as we hope that at some future date we shall renew our friendship."

Presbyterians to Commemorate 50th Year of Congregation's Founding Here

In 1891 a small band of the pioneers of Nelson gathered in a tiny building on Baker Street, that was both school and church, to worship under a Rev. Mr. Rogers. They were the first Presbyterian congregation. This weekend, 50 years later, the present congregation of the First Presbyterian Church will gather in its own Church on Victoria Street to commemmorate that event, the founding of the Presbyterian congregation in Nelson.

ANNIVERSARY DINNER

Rev. Frederick G. StDenis, Minister of Mt. Pleasant Presbyterian Church at Vancouver and formerly of Trail, will be in charge of both morning and evening anniversary services Sunday, and will also officiate at a Sacrament Service in the afternoon.

Formal observance of the anniversary will be made in a short ceremony during an anniversary dinner Monday evening. Short addresses by Nelson oldtimers and others will feature this ceremony. J. B. Gray will be Chairman.

A fine anniversary booklet has been prepared, recalling the progress of the sturdy congregation since that first service 50 years ago, listing the present officers of the Church and of its various organizations, and giving the program for the commemoration.

A Worthy Substitute

Down in Spokane they have a very useful institution known as the Athletic Round Table, which has a dual function—to create favorable publicity for Spokane, and to lend a helping hand to sport.

Its novel publicity schemes, of which a sample is the annual "wailing contest" for football coaches, have secured newspaper space in every corner of the North American continent, and the financial aid it has afforded to various sport enterprises which needed a lift over the hump has in many cases been "just what the patient needed."

One of the latest instances of this organization's broad activity occurred in connection with the recent championships at Wichita, Kan., of American semi-pro baseball. From all parts of the United States, the district winners go to Wichita, to compete for national honors.

A semi-pro team from DeSmet, Idaho, a hamlet described in an Associated Press story as boasting a population of 69, was district winner for the corner of the map South of our Kootenay border, but naturally the trip to Wichita, for which it was eligible, was beyond its means. So the Athletic Round Table dipped into its chest, and made a grant that enabled the team to make the trip to the great jamboree.

It was one more case where it helped a weak organization or an infant movement "over the hump."

One of India's Greatest Sons

(From Toronto Star)

One of India's greatest sons is dead at the age of 80, Sir Rabindranath Tagore. Some will rank him next to Gandhi, whom he greatly admired. In versatility, however, he had no peer. He was not only India's outstanding poet, but a philosopher, musician, painted, dramatist, author and educationist. The Shantiniketan school which he established in 1901 became an international university. Visva Bharati, recognizing no class or religious distinctions. He turned over his estates to it, and when he won the Nobel Prize for literature in 1913, the £8000 award was devoted to its upkeep.

This Hindu mystic, the grandson of an Indian prince, has probably done more to interpret Indian thoughts and aspirations to the world than any other individual. His affection for his native land led him, in 1919, to repudiate the knighthood which had been conferred upon him four years earlier. He did so as a protest against the methods taken to suppress disturbances in the Punjab. A great humanitarian and a champion of social reform in India, he did not despair of his country's future. "The clouds," he said, "have blotted away the stars, and we wonder when the dawn shall begin. For we are humble and suffer and bear the burden of power, and hide our faces and stifle our sobs in the dark. But the morrow shall be ours."

Such metaphors were characteristic of the man—a man whose sensitive awareness of the beauty of the earth and the universe, and whose consciousness of God illuminated all that he wrote. He believed, as Elizabeth Barrett Browning did, that "earth's crammed with heaven, and every common bush afire with God." He said of Americans, on one of his visits to this continent: "You do not commune enough with yourselves, nor do you go apart enough to commune with the Almighty." Tagore knew that "God, the Great Giver, can open the whole universe to our gaze in the narrow space of a single lane." His communion with nature tinged his metaphors:

"Life is but a dewdrop on the lotus leaf.'

"In the world's audience hall, the simple blade of grass sits on the same carpet with the sunbeam and the stars of midnight."

"Dawn sleeps on the shadowy hills. The stars hold their breath, counting the hours."

"My heart, the bird of the wilderness, has found its sky in your eyes."

"As the mission of the rose lies in the unfoldment of the petals, which amplies distinctness, so the rose of humanity is perfect only when the diverse races and the nations have evolved their perfected distinct characteristics, but all attached to the stem of humanity by the bond of love."

For beauty of expression, nobility of sentiment and loftiness of aspiration such utterances can hardly be excelled.

Dust of Gold

"But I say unto you, that every idle word that men shall speak, they shall give account thereof in the day of judgment. For by thy words thou shalt be justified, and by thy words thou shalt be condemned." Matt. 12:36, 37.

A good definition of an "idle word" is "a word that has not work to do." How many words we speak needlessly that have no good constructive work to do. Maybe our words are running down an absent member. May God forgive us and give us the strength to only speak the good we know of others. My Grandmother quoted this verse to me years ago.

"Every idle word that men shall speak, they shall give account thereof." It frightened. It is the kind of verse that one would rather forget, than try to live by. What a different place our homes, our city, our country would be if our words were strong and kind, always.

E. T., Robson—Could you give me full information on the battles in which the Graf Spee, Altmark and Jervis Bay took part?

The German pocket battleship Admiral Graf Spee, after a fight with the British cruisers, Exeter, Ajax and Achilles, put in, disabled, at Montevideo, Paraguay, on December 13, 1939 with 36 of her crew dead and 60 injured. She also had on board 62 British seamen taken from the merchant ships which had been captured and sunk. They were freed in Montevideo. The Graf Spee left her dock in Montvideo at 6 p.m. December 17, steamed down the River Plata, halted three miles offshore, where the Commander, Captain Hans Langsdorff, and all the survivors of the crew went aboard waiting tugs and barges. At 7.25 p.m. the Commander standing in a launch with his officers, pressed an electric button and blew up the battleship. The warship was destroyed on orders from Berlin. Captain Langsdorff shot himself to death December 20, in the naval arsenal at Buenos Aires. The Graf Spee survivors were interned by Argentina.

The German steamer Altmark, with 299 British seamen prisoners in the hold, which had been transferred to her from the Graf Spee, off Montevideo, was captured Feb. 16, 1940, by the British destroyer Intrepid soon after passing Bergen, Norway. With a prize crew aboard the Altmark was heading for the open sea when Norwegian warships intervened. The Norwegians ordered the prize crew off the Altmark and restored the ship to German command, in territorial waters in Joesingfjord. There the vessel, a little later, was again seized by the crew of another British warship, which overpowered the German crew in an hand-to-hand encounter, liberated the prisoners, and landed them in Leith, Scotland. Six of the Altmark crew were killed in the combat; two died later of wounds.

The armed merchant cruiser, Jervis Bay, was sunk by a German pocket battleship in the North Atlantic November 5, 1940, in defending its British convoy of 38 ships. While the Germans announced that eight of the convoy were sunk, all but three of the 38 eventually made port. The armed merchant man closed with the pocket battleship and kept it engaged in battle while the convoy scattered.

President Roosevelt and Winston Churchill when they met off Newfoundland made an Atlantic charter. Could you tell me the eight facts of this charter?

The eight points on which Prime Minister Churchill and President Roosevelt said they based their hopes "for a better future for the world" are, in brief:

No aggrandizement.

No territorial changes imposed by force.

Restoration of sovereign rights to those who have been deprived of them by force.

Equal enjoyment by all nations of world trade and raw materials needed for prosperity.

Improved labor standards, economic advancement and social security for all.

A peace assuring safety and tranquillity the world over.

Freedom of the seas to all.

Abandonment by all nations of the use of force and disarmament of aggressive nations pending establishment of general security.

Respect the Water

"Drowning, like the great majority of the 382 rescues we have made at the beach where I have been lifeguard and captain of guards for the past five years, is absolutely unnecessary!" writes James W. Danner, in a recent issue of the Rotarian magazine. "Unnecessary, because all these were caused by either recklessness, or plain disregard of common sense."

Pleading that you 'save your life yourself," Danner points out that even lifeguards are not supermen, and 99 per cent of their work is enforcing the rules of common sense that people ought to observe without coercion. If more people would use it, then the other one per cent, rescues, would be totally unnecessary.

Eight rules for self-protection are given, but the last one is the safest: "Respect the water! The more I see of it, the more I respect it. Water is stronger and more tireless than the strongest swimmer. Yet every day I see bathers take chances that a veteran lifeguard wouldn't think of taking except to save a life."

Today's Horoscope

The next year will be a propitious one for business for those whose birthday it is. You may safely deal with agents, property and antiques, also travel. Beware, however, of attempted sharp practice, hasty conduct, excessive expenditure and litigation. For the child born on this date it is promised that he or she will be fortunate with property and dealings with elders, but should avoid law and ecclesiastical matters. Moderation in diet is also advisable.

HOROSCOPE FOR SUNDAY

Provided those who have birthdays today exercise caution in speech and writings, a most successful and happy year is portended for them. Financial gains, beneficial changes, and possible inheritance, are foreseen. Born on this date a child will be remarkably clever and ahead of its time, genius in some form being manifested. An erratic temper is foreshadowed, however, also renown and great success.

Etiquette Hints

Pulled into position, but not yet lowered into place on the rails on which it will operate is the new 90-foot turntable at the C. P. R. roundhouse at Nelson. It replaces a 70-foot turnable and will make it possible to use bigger engines on this division.

Men Fit for Hockey Should Be in the Army, Says Justice in Long Ruling

REGINA, Sept. 19 (CP). — Saskatchewan hockey players liable for military training who have contracts with clubs in the United States will not be granted passports by the Saskatchewan Divisional Board under the National War Services Act.

Mr. Justice J. F. L. Embury, chairman of the Board, in a two-page written ruling, today announced the decision to refuse the hockey players passport rights. Board members unanimously concurred in the ruling.

Mr. Justice Embury's statement said:

"The simple fact is that these young men are professional hockey players and have made contracts with certain hockey clubs or organizations to play in the United States. As against that we have the fact that Canada is at war and young men are required for the armed forces. This call is being made through the Press and radio day after day.

"These young men are between 19 and 24 years of age; they are physically fit. They are the class one would expect to rally to the colors. They are the class the army needs. It is regretted that they have turned a deaf ear to their country's call for the purpose of carrying on in their occupation of professional hockey.

"It is astonishing that the public continues to patronize public exhibitions of professional athletics by young men who should be in the army.

"The public for the most part exhibit little patience and sometimes intolerance with conscientious objectors who refuse to bear arms for their country because of a belief that violence is against the example and teaching of Christ. Yet they continue to patronize contests by these young men who have neglected to volunteer for their country's service without any such reasons.

"United States today is not at war, yet they have conscription and are calling young men into their army of this very class. What are the people of the United States to think if the Government or a public board such as this authorizes such young men to leave this country?

"Some of these young men are immediately callable under the provisions of the National War Services regulations, and to grant them leave would be tantamount to giving them postponement. Others are not in that class, not immediately callable, but are of military age. The same consideration applies to them. If they are fit to play hockey they should be in the army," the ruling concluded.

Dodgers Taking No Chances When They Meet Phils

By TED MEIER
Associated Press Sports Writer

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 19 (AP) —Incredible as it sounds, the last-place Phillies, 51½ games out of first place, may blast Brooklyn Dodgers right out of the torrid National League pennant scramble during a five-game series that opens with a doubleheader at Shibe Park tomorrow. If they do it will be the third time in 15 years they have helped the Cardinals win the pennant.

On paper the downtrodden Phils, already beaten in 102 games and fresh from dropping four in a row to Cincinnati, do not rate a chance with the Flatbush Flock—but the Dodgers have scored only one run and made but five hits in their last 16 innings against the Phils.

Furthermore, the records show that the Phils, who are not as bad as some believe, have a habit of playing championship ball against pennant contenders.

Manager Leo Durocher today announced he was taking no chances. His two best pitchers, Kirby Higbe and White Wyatt, the only 20-game winners in the league, will toe the mound in tomorrow's twin bill.

Against these aces Acting Manager Hans Lobert of the Phils plans to start the veteran Cy Blanton, with his screwball, and youthful Southpaw Frank Hoerst, who tossed a four-hitter at the Dodgers and beat them 4-1 the last time Brooklyn played at Shibe Park.

NEW YORK, Sept. 19 (AP). — Banging his way up toward a shot at the lightweight championship, Skinny Ray Robinson, the Harlem Hammer, flattened Maxie Shapiro, little local East Sider, in three rounds in Madison Square Garden tonight for his 24th straight victory as a professional. Robinson weighed 135¼, Maxie Shapiro, 133¾.

Big Increase in Duck Population

NEW YORK, Sept. 19 (AP). — Hunters will be glad to know that everything will be perfectly ducky this Fall.

Ray Benson reports that all it will be necessary to do is aim in the general direction of the sky and let loose. There will be about 85,000,000 ducks, and a fellow who can't hit one of them has no business toting a shooting iron.

Benson is Executive Secretary of Ducks Unlimited, Inc., the organization which takes an annual census of the duck population and always arrives at a pretty accurate figure, give or take a few million.

Last January the United States Department of the Interior took its Winter census and estimated the crop at between 70,000,000 and 75,000,000. Ducks unlimited now has completed its Summer pond-to-pond survey in Western Canada, and allowing for the ducks not at home estimates a 10 to 15 per cent increase, which leads to the final estimate of close to 85,000,000.

This is the highest total in seven years In 1934 there were only 30,000,000 ducks left on the continent.

Durocher Fined, Umpire Checked On for Rumpus

By JUDSON BAILEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Sept. 19 (AP)—The indescribable Dodgers had the National League still travelling and talking in circles today trying to clean up the debris from yesterday's storm in Pittsburgh.

Manager Leo Durocher was fined $150 for using some virulent language to Umpire George Magerkurth and the big umpire, in turn, was being investigated for spouting the same sort of invective.

Bill Klem, supervisor of the league's umpires, came here from Pittsburgh this morning and returned to Philadelphia this afternoon, along with President Larry MacPhail of the Brooklyn club, in an effort to track down the truth.

In announcing Durocher's stiffer-than-average fine, League President Ford Frick said:

"This closes the books on Durocher, but we are going to find out what happened under the stands and there may be some further disciplinary action tomorrow."

He admitted that Magerkurth's own conduct was also subject to question and said Klem would interview Umpire Stewart as well as the Brooklyn players in Philadelphia, where the Dodgers were waiting out an open date.

The players understood to be involved included Whitlow Wyatt, Dolph Camilli, Pete Coscarart and Joe Medwick.

Whirly Has Chance to Gain Place Today

NEW YORK, Sept. 19 (AP) — Whirlaway has a date to pick up some loose change at Belmont Park tomorrow, and with it he'll move into third place on the all-time list of racing money winners.

Four other three-year-olds were named today to go with the champion in the 49th running of the Lawrence Realization, but despite Whirly's defeat by War Relic at Narragansett a week ago, none of these appeared to be in his league as a galloper.

As a result, he figured to be about a 1 to 8 shot. The stake involves some $15,000 or more, and that amount, added to the $324,611 he already has won, would boost Warren Wright's whirlwind from fifth place up past Gallant Fox and Equipoise. This will leave only Seabiscuit with his $437,730 and Sun Beau with his $376,744 still in front of Whirlaway.

NEW YORK, Sept. 19 (AP). — Hopes of New York Yankees for having Outfield Charley Keller available for the World Series got a big lift today.

The home run slugger who suffered a chip fracture of his right ankle a few days ago, showed up at Yankee Stadium and walked around on the turf.

He said the tendons hurt a bit, but that he was sure he would be ready to play in the series.

Snead Takes Lead in Invitation Tourney

Cardinals Defeat Cubs to Reduce Idle Dodgers' Lead to Half Game

By HENRY B. JAMESON
Associated Press Sports Writer

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 19 (AP)—St. Louis Cardinals, who for two hectic weeks have been hanging on to the shirt tails of Brooklyn Dodgers by a few frazzled threads, pounded out a 3-1 decision today over the troublesome Chicago Cubs in the first of a four-game series that may make or break their flag hopes.

They made only eight hits, but they were hard and timely blows that left the impression the Cards had come out of their woeful hitting slump.

Since the Dodgers—and all the other major league teams—were idle today, the victory reduced Brooklyn's lead to half a game and shoved the shaky Cards another step along the rocky home stretch.

Gumbert, who came to the Cardinals from New York Giants in June, pitched steady seven-hit ball in earning his 11th victory and fifth straight. Except for the fourth when Bill Nicholson, Babe Dahlgren and Lou Stringer cracked him for singles after two were out he never was in any real jams.

Nelson, Trail Girls in Ball Final Sunday

Nelson and Trail Girls rep teams will wind up their West Kootenay Championship battles at Trail on Sunday, weather permitting. That same proviso, "weather permitting," has been hanging over outdoor sports programs throughout the District for over a month, and last Sunday the series would have been ended but the weather just wasn't permitting.

However if the game is played, a win is all that is needed by either team to take the seven game series, the District title and the Daily Province Cup that goes with it. Each team has won three games. The Lakeside lassies are the defending champs, and if they take the series it will be the third in succession and they'll have the cup for keeps.

The tussle is slated for 3:30 p.m. at Victoria Park.

For the deciding game Coach Carl Locatelli will take over Rosa Stewart, Georgina Eberley, Alice Gillett, Louise Coletti, Isabel Locatelli, Elvera Matheson, Eleanor Maglio, Lillian Hickey, Amy Beatt, Marie Stangherlin, Mary DelPuppo, Doreen Sinclair, and Laura Nelson.

Phil Kuntz of Nelson will go to Trail as an umpire.

LEADERS IN REP RACE

Following are the averages of the four girls among whom the winner of the Lauriente Cup for leading the Trail Reps in batting in the West Kootenay playoffs will have to be found:

	Ab	H	Pct.
Hazel Benoit	31	16	.516
Mary Cronie	20	10	.500
Jeanne Kendall	23	11	.478
Nellie Minton	32	15	.469

One other girl, Helen Rothery, has a .500 average for her one hit in twice at bat, but could hardly win on participation that at most could not exceed two games in seven.

Joe Louis Nears Peak for Battle

GREENWOOD LAKE, N. J., Sept. 19 (AP).—Joe Louis indicated he is reaching the peak of his form for the defence of his heavyweight crown against Lou Nova at the Polo Grounds, Sept. 29, when he put more dash into the boxing part of his workout today.

Babe Ritchie was the first of Louis' sparring partners to feel the champ's power when he stopped a left hook and went down. Joe then went a round each with George Fitch, George Nicholson and George Higgs, with Fitch giving Louis plenty to do but receiving plenty in return.

The champion weighed 205 after the workout, which included work on the small bag, rope skipping and floor exercises. He plans the same drill tomorrow and Sunday before taking another day of rest.

Softball Games Rained Out, Trail

TRAIL, B. C., Sept. 19 — The second game of the Trail Men's Senior Softball finals, between the Trail Mercos and the Castlegar Millionaires, which was to have been played here, Friday night, was rained out.

The first game Wednesday night resulted in a 5-3 win for the Mercos.

Rain also interfered with the Junior Boys Softball semi-finals, Thursday night, which would have marked the second game between the East Trail Scorpions and the Trail Indians. The Indians won the first encounter, 6-4 Tuesday night.

If so, the people who pay for advertising today would like to know what it is.

After all, they are experts at bringing down costs. And that is what brings down prices.

The best proof that advertising is the cheapest way to find customers is—so many people use it successfully.

DRESS HAS UNUSUAL SCALLOPS

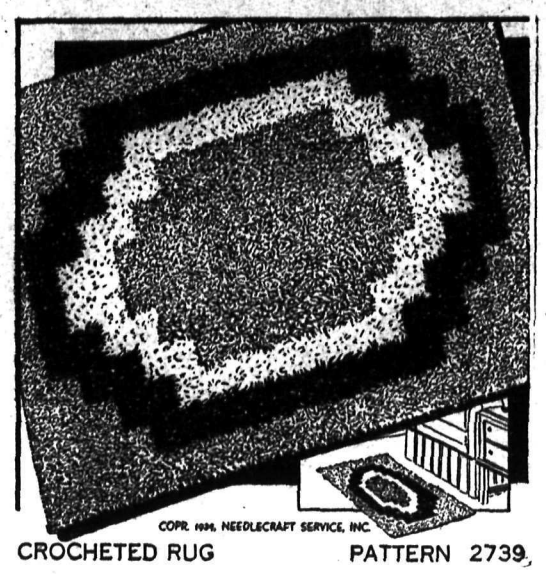
Marian Martin

PATTERN 9742

For work "on the home front" this slenderizing new frock—Pattern 9742 by Marian Martin—is pretty as well as pratical! You'll never tire of the spirited scalloped buttoning at the front — see how it's continued down past the waistline to curve right into the front panel of the skirt! The short sleeves are slightly scalloped, too, in keeping with the design, and a long sleeve version is included. Darts and an optional half-belt at the back nips in your waistline becomingly. Use sprightly colored ric-rac to call attention to the unusual lines of this stay-at-home frock which is so easy to make with the clever Sew Chart to help you. A blithe "chintzy" print like the one shown would be a gay, appropriate choice.

Pattern 9742 may be ordered only in women's sizes 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46, 48 and 50. Size 36 requires 3⅞ yards 35 inch fabric.

Send twenty cents for this Marian Martin pattern. Be sure to write plainly your SIZE, name, address and style number. Send your order to The Daily News, Pattern Department, Nelson. Pattern will be sent to your home within 10 days.



CROCHETED RUG PATTERN 2739

CROCHETED RUG GIVES LIFETIME OF WEAR SAYS LAURA WHEELER

Just squares crocheted in an easy stitch that forms a pile, make this rug. It's useful in any room and you'll be proud to show it as your work. Pattern 2739 contains directions and a chart for making rug; an illustration of it and stitches; color schemes; materials required; photograph of section of rug.

Send twenty cents for this pattern to The Nelson Daily News, Needlecraft Dept., Nelson. Write plainly pattern number, your name and address. Pattern will be mailed to your home within 10 days.

CONTRACT . . . By Shepard Barclay

FAVOR THE 4-4 SUIT

A MAJOR suit containing four cards in your hand and the same number in your partner's usually is the best declaration in which to play a deal, whether at a low contract or a high one, and regardless of whether the game be rubber bridge or duplicate. A longer suit, containing the same total number of cards between the two hands, usually is better to have on the side to furnish discards. Seldom should No Trump be preferred if you have any distribution other than the balanced 4-3-3-3, since with any other you can usually count on a ruffing trick which could not be gained at No Trump.

(Dealer: South. East-West vulnerable.)

South	West	North	East
1 ♠	Pass	2 NT	Pass
3 ♥	Pass	4 NT	Pass
5 ♥	Pass	5 NT	Pass
6 ♣	Pass	(?)

Several users of the Blackwood Convention did that bidding in a duplicate tournament. In some cases the North player then bid 6-No Trumps, reckoning that with his great honor strength the side probably could take just as many tricks at No Trumps as at hearts.

In each of these cases the lead was the diamond 9 to the 10, K and A. Followed then the spade K, A and Q, whereupon a trick was given up to the spade J and the rest of the tricks were won for a total of four in spades, four in hearts, three in diamonds and one in clubs. Note that it would have been unsound for the declarer, with seven spades, to finesse against the J.

Where North, holding four cards of his partner's heart suit, went to 6-Hearts, he took all of the tricks. He was able to ruff the fourth spade and won an obligatory diamond finesse, a club having been led originally

The heart declarers made seven, scoring 210 points for tricks, plus the game and slam bonuses, whereas the No Trumpers got only 190 for tricks and so were beaten.

Your Week-End Lesson

With East-West vulnerable, if North passes as dealer and East bids 1-No Trump, what action by you in the South is most likely to pay you a profit on the hand below, and why?

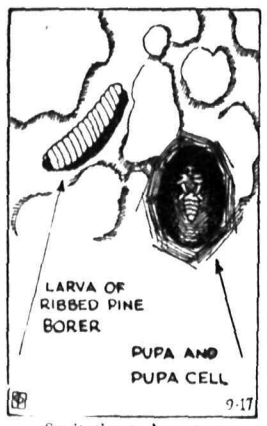
Sanitation for Healthy Trees



Sanitation to keep trees healthy

By DEAN HALLIDAY

Sanitation is an important item in the growth of healthy trees. Tree tools should be disinfected for tools frequently carry disease from one tree to another.

As shown in the Garden-Graph the ribbed pin borer is frequently found under the bark of dead pine trees or in partly rotten pine bark. This insect is one of many which breed rapidly in the dead wood. Therefore, dead wood and leaves which also carry diseases and insect pests should be removed from under healthy trees and be destroyed by fire.

When wood is saved for burning in the fireplace, it is advisable to strip off the bark as this is where many insects hide and breed.

Firmer Tone in Winnipeg Wheat

WINNIPEG, Sept. 19 (CP). — A good export demand for Canadian flour, mill buying and purchases made by United States interests gave wheat futures on Winnipeg Grain Exchange a firm tone today. Final quotations were unchanged, October wheat 72½ cents, December 74⅛ and May 78⅝.

Although hedging sales were more liberal than in recent sessions the reported export sale of flour, equivalent to more than 1,000,000 bushels of Canadian wheat had a bullish effect.

Coarse grains lost earlier advances posted due to light offerings. Mills, however, took oats on the recessions, shippers purchased barley and a good export demand for Canadian rye followed the reported sale of a cargo of Canadian rye to Portugal yesterday. Near the close all coarse grains, except flax, were only fractionally below yesterday's final prices. Flax on a few selling orders crashed more than four cents from the opening quotation.

SAFETY!

IN the interests of safety, the importance of utmost care in the handling and use of explosives cannot be stressed too strongly! C-I-L is endeavouring to assist in the promotion of safety-consciousness by issuing a series of Posters which highlight some of the more important precautions that should always be observed. These are intended to emphasize recognized safety measures in the use, handling, transportation and storage of explosives.

It is hoped that the conspicuous display of these Posters, in locations where they cannot fail to be seen by those engaged in blasting operations, will serve as a continual reminder of safe and proper methods.

Defence Output Held Up by Private Groups Says Officer

YOSEMITE, Calif., Sept. 19 (AP) —Oragnized basic industries have been restricting United States defence production in order to avoid prospective overproduction after the war, Thurman Arnold, Federal Anti-Trust Enforcement Officer, told the California Bar Association in a speech prepared for delivery today.

For the past 10 months, Arnold said, defence work has been hampered by powerful private groups, including a few "strategically located labor unions", working for their own "selfish" motives.

Salmon Pack Hits New High Record

ASTORIA, Ore., Sept. 19 (AP).—The silver horde of salmon fighting up the Columbia River was a golden Cascade for hundreds of fishermen and cannery workers in the unprecedented first week of the Fall season.

Many gillnetters looked at their accounts and saw they had earned $1000 and more in the week; cannery workers, battling to keep up with the flow of Chinooks that spread deep over the floors, earned from $60 to $100 in the first seven days.

The cash income continued today but on a lessening scale.

There has been nothing like it in the history of commercial fishing on the Columbia and it took 24-hour shifts and all the volunteer labor—at top wages—that could be found, to do it.

Use of C.I.O. Confuses Canadian Congress

OTTAWA, Sept. 19 (CP) — Although the Congress of Industrial Organizations no longer operates in Canada some Canadian local labor unions continue to speak of themselves as affiliated with the C.I.O., Norman Dowd, Secretary of the Canadian Congress of Labor, said today.

This use of the term C.I.O. by such local unions and by others is annoying to officials of the Canadian federation who think it confuses the Canadian labor picture. They say use of the term persists despite the fact the Canadian Committee for Industrial Organization, the counterpart of the C.I.O. in the United States, went out of business a year ago.

Since then, Dowd says, Canadian locals of unions which, in the United States, are affiliated with the C.I.O., have been affiliated with the Canadian Congress of Labor.

Mediterranean Is Next Battle Front Says U. S. Secretary

JACKSON, Mich., Sept. 19 (AP) —John J. McCloy, Assistant United States Secretary of War, declared here today the Germans have 300 divisions totalling 9,000,000 to 10,000,000 men under arms and that perhaps 100 of these are yet to be thrown into the battle of Russia.

In a speech prepared for a meeting of the Michigan Bar Association, McCloy said it was probable hostilities would spread to the Mediterranean Sea, Spain and North and West Africa.

Today, he asserted, the war's hottest flame is bruning before Leningrad and the rich donets basin of Russia, but tomorrow you may almost be sure that it will be flaring up in the Mediterranean, in Spain and in North and West Africa."

Pleads Guilty to Inadequate Plates

TRAIL, B. C., Sept. 19—L. A. Sims of East Trail pleaded guilty, before Stipendiary Magistrate E. L. Hodge in Provincial Police Court, Friday afternoon, to driving a motor vehicle with inadequate carrier plates. He was fined $10 and costs.

Constable Hugh Lindsay, of the Provincial Police, Fruitvale, prosecuted, stating that he had checked the accused while he was driving on the Fruitvale Highway.

Pay Income Tax by Instalments; Must Begin Now

The Dominion Government has provided a method of payment of future income tax out of income, which is enabling thousands to shoulder the burden of increased income tax without financial embarrassment.

To gain the benefits of this installment payment plan, the first installment of 1941 tax must be paid in September, 1941, that is to say, in this month.

Those who paid the tax for 1940 will pay one-twelfth of the 1940 total during each of the last four months of this year, and in January they will estimate their total tax payable at the new rates. By subtracting from this the amount already paid, and dividing the remainder by eight, they will know how much to pay each month during the eight months of 1942, January to August inclusive.

These taxes must be collected to provide for the war effort. The Government anticipates a record volume of business in tax offices during September, in dealing with those who wish to take advantage of this modern, sensible way to discharge their obligations. Only by commencing to pay in September can this plan be followed.

Japanese Build New "Great Wall"

SHANGHAI, Sept. 19 (AP) — Travellers reaching Shanghai from the Chinese interior said today a new great wall is being constructed by the Japanese army with forced Chinese labor in an effort to bar Chinese armies from Eastern Hopeh and Shantung Provinces.

The wall, they said, runs South from Tientsin West of the Tientsin-Nanking railroad, and a section 100 miles long already has been completed by about 100,000 Chinese workers.

Prices Drop in Montreal Trade

MONTREAL, Sept. 19 (CP). — Issues sank from fractions up to two points as a broad wave of liquidation hit the Stock Exchange today. Down in industrials were General Steel Wares, Foundation, United Steel, Gypsum, Algoma Steel, Asbestos, Canada Cement, Canadian Car and the Alcohol issues.

Smelters was better but Nickel and Noranda lost ground.

C.N.R. Earnings Gain

MONTREAL, Sept. 19 (CP).—Canadian National Railways reports net earnings of $5,171,732 for August, compared with earnings of $3,668,181 for the same month last year, an increase of $1,503,551.

Net revenue for the first eight months of 1941 totalled $42,196,254, compared with $24,040,849.

Germans May Cash Vancouver Bonds

VANCOUVER, Sept. 19 (CP) — City Comptroller Frank Jones said today that Vancouver taxpayers possibly are contributing unwittingly to Hitler's war chest through Vancouver bearer bonds seized in the Fall of France, Belgium, the Netherlands and other countries.

The comptroller said the fact that bearer bonds are not registered in the name of the owner gives the Nazis an opportunity to clip the coupons and send them out of Europe through Spain to be cashed in the United States.

He said life insurance companies have asked the city council to obtain power from the legislature to cancel sterling bonds payable in London and re-issue to them bonds payable only in Canada. The proposal will be discussed at the forthcoming meeting of the Union of British Columbia municipalities at Harrison Hot Springs next week.

Japanese Claim to Have Crossed Sunkiang River

SHANGHAI, Sept. 18 (AP) — Japanese Army spokesmen claimed today a major offensive is under way Southwest from Hankow along the shores of Tungting Lake and in the vicinity of Yochow, where the Japanese were said to have crossed the Sunkiang River.

Preliminary operations ended yesterday were claimed to have led to the death of 4200 Chinese.

The spokesman declined to reveal the objective of the offensive but expressed the wish the Chinese wont' burn Changsha again as they did in 1938 or carry off supplies, as in 1939."

The party had long talks with Maj.-Gen. P. J. Montague, Chief of Canadian Military Headquarters, Maj.-Gen. Victor Odlum, Commander of the 2nd Division, Maj.-Gen. C. B. Price, Commander of the 3rd Division, and Senior Officers, obtaining a close insight of the Overseas Army.

Russia War News Hits Grain Prices

CHICAGO, Sept. 19 (AP).—Wheat prices tumbled 2½ to 3½ cents a bushel today as selling increased after midsession.

Grain brokers said war news from Russia and the statement of Bernard Baruch advocating legislation which would place a ceiling over the entire price structure were factors stimulating the selling.

Wheat rallied almost a cent from the extreme lows due to late short covering but prices finished 1¾-2⅝ lower than yesterday, December $1.20½-¼, May $1.24¼-⅜.

Other grains reacted with wheat, rye leading the decline. Rye was 2⅜-3 lower than yesterday, corn ⅞-1½ down, December 81⅞, May 87-86⅞; oats 1⅛-1⅜ down and soybeans unchanged to 1½ lower.

It is apparent from the decisions arrived at by the Executive of the West Kootenay Lacrosse Association, that this game is to be considered the 2nd game in the playoff series. Rossland's protest against the first game that was won by Nelson has been upheld. Therefore, Rossland having won the second game played, is considered to have won the first game in the series.

Nelson must win tonight to stay in the game. The boys have had an uphill battle to stay in this series and your presence at the game will be appreciated.
