British Report Led to U-Boat Chase by Destroyer Greer

U.S. Warship Trailed Submarine Until It Fired Torpedoes Says Navy's Report; British Plane Spotted U-Boat

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14 (AP). — The attack on the United States destroyer Greer by a submarine off Iceland last month took place when the Greer went in search of a submarine whose presence was reported to it by a British plane, a report from the Navy disclosed tonight.

The report was sent to the Senate Naval Committee and made public by Chairman David Walsh.

The report included a statement by Admiral Harold R. Stark, chief of naval operations, which said that the Greer, while en route to Iceland with United States mail, passengers and some freight, "was informed by a British plane of the presence of a submerged submarine about 10 miles directly ahead."

"This British plane," Stark's statement continued, "continued in the vicinity of the submarine until 1052 (10:52 a.m.) when she departed.

Prior to her departure at 1052

"Acting on the information from the vicinity of the submarine.

She dropped four depth charges in the British plane the Greer proceeded to search for the submarine and at 0920 she located the submarine directly ahead by her underwater sound equipment.

"The Greer proceeded then to trail the submarine and broadcasted the submarine's position. This action, taken by the Greer, was in accordance with her orders, that is, to give out information but not to attack.

"The Greer maintained this contact until about 1248. 'During this period (three hours 28 minutes), the Greer manoeuvred so as to keep the submarine ahead.

"At 1240 the submarine changed course and closed with the Greer.

"The disturbance of the surface and change in color of the water marking the passage of the submarine was clearly distinguished by the Greer.

"At 1248 an impulse bubble (indicating the discharge of a torpedo by the submarine) was sighted close aboard the Greer.

"At 1249 a torpedo track was sighted crossing the wake of the ship from starboard to port, distant about 100 yards astern.

"At 1256 the Greer attacked the submarine with a pattern of eight depth charges.

"At 1258 a second torpedo track was sighted on the starboard bow of the Greer distant about 500 yards. The Greer avoided this torpedo.

"At this time the Greer lost sound contact with the submarine.

"At 1300 the Greer started searching for the submarine and at 1512 the Greer made underwater contact with a submarine. The Greer attacked immediately with depth charges."

Stark went on to report that the result of the encounter was undetermined.

He said that "The action taken by the Greer was correct in every particular in accordance with her existing orders."

The Naval Committee's report also included questions addressed to Navy Secretary Frank Knox by Walsh and answers by Stark. In these questions and answers it was brought out that the incident took place about 175 miles Southwest of Iceland in the path of communication between American ports and Iceland, and within the zone where Germany announced on March 26 that vessels are subject to destruction.

U.S., Argentina Sign Trade Pact

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14 (AP).—The United States and Argentina tonight signed at Buenos Aires a reciprocal trade agreement — the first comprehensive commercial arrangement between them since 1853 —designed to improve trade relations during the present emergency and afterward.

It is the 12th trade agreement to be concluded by the United States with American Republics.

Under it, Argentina grants concessions to the United States on 127 products which in 1940 accounted for about 30 per cent of the total United States exports to Argentina —about $32,000,000 out of $106,000,000.

These concessions take the form of reductions in tariffs or agreements not to raise tariffs.

LISBON, Portugal, Oct. 14 (AP) —The British freighters John C. Holt and Saint Clair have been sunk in an attack on a convoy, it was reported today when 80 survivors were landed here from the Portuguese steamship Carvalho Araujo.

The survivors, arriving from the Azores, said the ships went down last month.

Lend-Lease Facts Given Reporters

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14 (AP).—Following up his announcement that the United States is rushing supplies constantly to reinforce the "brave defence" of Russia, President Roosevelt said today he saw nothing in the military situation to raise doubts about the success of the Lend-Lease program.

As reporters crowded into his oval study for the semi-weekly press conference, the President recounted to his students these new facts and figures on the aid program:

Lend-Lease supplies were sent last month to Great Britain, China, South American nations, Poles and Norwegians to the total of $155,000,000.

This was about three times the average monthly figure for the last six months and compared with a total for the six months of $246,000,000.

Including articles and services in the process of manufacture or accomplishment, September's total Lend-Lease aid was $200,000,000.

Of the original $7,000,000,000 Lend Lease appropriation, only five per cent remains unallocated.

Sells 24,000 Pairs of Shoelaces on Bet

VANCOUVER, Oct. 14 (CP) — Clifford Layte of Lawrencetown N.S., was in Vancouver today after a hitch-hiking tour across Canada during which he sold 24,100 pairs of shoelaces to win a bet of $500.

Layte, crippled with rheumatism for 37 years, left Lawrencetown on April 29, 1940, after a friend bet him he couldn't sell 25,000 pairs of laces on the trip. When he sells 900 morepairs he will go back home and collect the money.

Halifax Ship Agent Cleared of Charge of Giving Information

HALIFAX, Oct. 14 (CP)—Magistrate R. J. Flinn today dismissed a charge of transmitting shipping information to the United States, in violation of the Defence of Canada regulations, against Col. A. N. Jones, Halifax shipping agent.

A charge lodged by Royal Canadian Mounted Police had accused Col. Jones of telephoning to New York "information with respect to certain captains of ships which ships formed part of a convoy . . . proceeding to the sea from the Port of Halifax . . ."

The Magistrate said he was satisfied that Col. Jones had no intention of aiding the enemy in transmitting the message.

Norwegian Whaler May Have Hit Sub

REYKJAVIK, Iceland, Oct. 14 — (AP).—The crew and passengers of a Norwegian whaling ship told today how their dingy old craft, now carrying supplies to Britain, survived a direct hit by a German torpedo, may have sunk the attacking submarine, and then outlasted a gale to limp into port here with a huge hole in her side.

The storm had separated the converted whaler from her convoy.

CANADIANS TAKE PART IN ATTACK ON NORSE COAST

Southern Germany Hit by Air Raiders at Night

COASTS POUNDED

BERLIN, Oct. 15 (Wednesday) (AP).—British air raiders dropped explosives and incendiaries on several cities in Southwestern and Southern Germany during the night but caused only immaterial damage, German sources announced today. Two raiders were reported destroyed.

LONDON, Oct. 14 (CP Cable).—British and Canadian fliers carried the war in the air to the Norwegian coast and into the skies of occupied France today despite a curtain of anti-aircraft and cannon fire that tore gaping holes in their planes.

It was a continuing offensive that went on round-the-clock.

One young Canadian Sergeant-Pilot returned to his base with cannon holes in his wing from a tussle with Messerschmitts, a rent in his fuselage and his instruments shattered, shrapnel tore off the heel of his flying boot, but he was unhurt.

Overnight the Royal Air Force bombed Duesseldorf, Cologne and other objectives in Western Germany and shipping and port facilities along the Netherlands and the French occupied coasts. The Air Ministry said five planes were lost in this fourth consecutive night assault on the Reich.

By daylight Beaufort aircraft of the Coastal Command attacked German supply ships in low clouds off the Norwegian coast, hitting two and forcing the crew of a third to take to the boats.

A fourth enemy supply ship was attacked off the Norwegian coast late in the day. She was hit by a torpedo from a Beaufort aircraft of the Coastal Command.

New Allowances for Dependents

LONDON, Oct. 14 (CP Cable). —A Government white paper today announced increased allowances for dependents of servicemen effective on the first payday in November.

After reasonable commitments, such as rent, are met, the allowance will be 16 shillings (about $3.20) weekly for a wife and 16 additional shillings for each family unit. Two school-age children are considered a unit.

The maximum commitment allowance for rent, insurance instalments and similar essential expences will be £3 (about $13.35) instead of the present £2.

Families with a high pre-war living standard will be able to claim increases to £1 for each unit and higher commitment allowances up to a £3 maximum.

The new provisions allow also a £10 maximum for emergencies such as illness and funerals.

CRISTOBAL, Canal Zone, Oct. 15. (Wednesday)—(AP).—Dr. Arnulfo Arias, ousted President of Panama, came ashore from the steamer Cefalu shortly before midnight and surrendered to Panama police, who immediately started with him for Panama aboard a special railroad car.

Earlier Arias attempted to come ashore but was prevented by Canal Zone police acting under United States authority.

Action to Meet Demand for War Industry Hinted

OTTAWA, Oct. 14 (CP).—Too many jobs for too few men is Canada's present-day problem and officials said tonight that increasingly severe action to meet it was to be expected.

Dominion Bureau of Statistics figures and warnings that non-essential industries may soon lose some of their labor force for more important duties point to the growing gravity of the situation.

Officials said the problem is more serious than that existing during the first great war. Previous to the last war immigration was heavy, with 1,108,000 persons entering the country in the three years 1911-13. In 1936-38, only 44,000 immigrants arrived.

"Migrants of special skill may come into Canada from the United States, but the industrial activity of that country may be expected to require all of its available labor," the Bureau of Statistics said. "During the last Great War certain Allied countries imported Chinese labor, but it is unlikely that this will prove a solution for Canada."

Officials said the number of wage-earners at work was estimated at more than 3,000,000 compared with 2,161,000 in March, 1939, when unemployed wage earners were about 494,000. The number at work had risen to 2,505,000 in Sept. 1939 and to 2,805,000 in Sept. 1940.

Possible sources of labor supply to keep the war industry machine moving have been studied by Federal officials. Apart from finding more actual workers it may be necessary to make more intensive use of existing forces, including lengthening of hours.

Badges to Be Issued to Discharged Men, Those Not Accepted by Forces

OTTAWA, Oct. 14 (CP). — National Defence headquarters announced tonight that identifying badges will be issued to men who have been honorably discharged from the navy, army or air force after service in the present war and to those who have offered themselves for enlistment but have not been accepted.

The badges will be known as the "war service badge, 'general service' class" and the "applicant for enlistment badge."

The war service badge will be issued for wearing with civilian clothes to all persons who have "honorably ceased to serve on active service in the naval, military or air forces of Canada, regardless of the length of service, and without restriction to the place of service," a Department statement said.

The applicant for enlistment badge will be issued also for wearing with civilian clothing and the following persons will be eligible to receive it: "Persons who have voluntarily declared their unqualified willingness to serve in and beyond enlistment by reason of their not possessing, due to no faults of their own, the necessary qualifications then required for enlistment in the naval, army and air forces of Canada."

The regulations set forth that every badge shall bear a serial number of identification, that they will be issued only to persons within the required enlistment age limits who have voluntarily made a sworn statement of their willingness to serve anywhere required.

Should they not have been accepted by the naval or air forces on account of not possessing the qualifications for enlistment, they will be required to present themselves in the army in order to be eligible.

Persons whose ineligibility for enlistment is due to "deformity, disability or disease which is obvious" will not be entitled to the applicant for enlistment badge.

A certificate will accompany the issue of the badge and any person wearing it will be required at all times to be in a position to produce the certificate as proof of his right to do so.

Regulations for the applicant for enlistment badge contain the following paragraph:

"The aforementioned certificate shall be surrendered when called for by the Minister of National Defence pending examination to ensure that the said certificate remains in the possession of the person to whom the badge was issued, and if he is then found to be eligible for enlistment in the naval, army or air forces of Canada, the certificate shall be withheld and the badge will be surrendered."

Interpreting The War News

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON—Associated Press Staff Writer

As the second week of Hitler's massive drive in Russia ends, there is a notable return to sweeping generalizations in Nazi war bulletins. This tends to back up London and Moscow reports that the great attack is slowing down.

The staggering Berlin statement that 3000 Red army divisions, the equivalent of 6,000,000 men, have been destroyed since the start of the German-Russian war is typical. Three million Russians have now been captured and substantially as many more killed or wounded, the Germans contend.

If that is true, two thirds of the 9,000,000 troops with which Russia was credited at the outset of the war have been put out of action. Yet she is still offering bitter resistance on a 2000-mile front from the Arctic to the Sea of Azov.

Add to these alleged losses all the vast accumulation of war gear for the 6,000,000 fighting men and there would seem to be no possibility of halting the Nazi encirclement of Moscow, or of seriously delaying German occupation of the Donets Basin and seizure of the Rostov prize in the South.

Yet, despite a reported new dent in Moscow's Western cordon, something is holding the Germans up all the way from Rjev, Northwest of Moscow, to Orel, Southwest of the city. Nor have they been able to exploit their successes in the South to enter the Donets Basin or lay siege to Rostov.

The terse London recapitulation of the battle scene within that 250 miles sector is illuminating but incomplete. However, it does state that the Nazis surged into Mozhaisk, mid-way between Moscow and Vyazma, but were subsequently rejected."

Mozhaisk is only 65 miles due West of Moscow. At that point the Germans made their closest approach to the Soviet capital.

Berlin probably had that incident in mind when it boasted that the outer defences of the city had been brought under siege gun fire.

For Mozhaisk is clearly a Western portal of one of the several concentric rings of defensible terrain that cover all Moscow all the way from the Leningrad-Moscow railroad in the Northwest to the Moscow-Ryazan railroad to the Southeast. Including those two railroads, eight rail-and-road lines fan out from the Moscow hub into the Western defence area of the city.

The London recapitulation accounts for only four of those eight converging routes. "Some progress" by Nazi forces pressing down the upper Volga toward Rjev is noted, although Rjev itself still appears to be held by the Russians.

The next spoke to the South is the Smolensk-Vyazma-Moscow route. Moscow admits evacuation of Vyazma, where the Germans contended they had bottled up a large number of Russians. Moazhaisk lies about 65 miles East of Vyazma. Yet the London report indicates that it was not from Vyazma, but via the Roslavl-Moscow route, farther South, that the German surge into Mazhaisk came.

If that is correct, it indicates that the Russians have succeeded in keeping open a main road East, for the possible escape of Red forces in the Vyazma pocket. The Nazi attack on Mozhaisk from the South was an attempt to snap the trap shut again.

In Critical Vyazma Area, Nazis Beaten Back for 10 Miles

Loss of Mariupol in the South Conceded by Russians; Kalinin Drive From North Serious Threat to Reds

By HENRY C. CASSIDY—Associated Press Staff Writer

MOSCOW, Oct. 15 (Wednesday) (AP).—The Germans crashed toward Moscow from a new direction today in heavy fighting at Kalinin, only 95 miles Northwest of the capital, while the Red armies of the centre reported they had beaten the Nazis back 10 bloody miles over the critical Vyazma sector to the West.

Government advices said the Germans had lost no less than 13,000 men in dead and wounded on the Moscow front on Tuesday alone. A supplement to the midnight communique asserted:

"Thousands of bodies of German soldiers, crippled tanks, lorries and motorcycles lie in anti-tank pits and at the approaches to our defences."

In the South, near the Sea of Azov, the early morning Russian communique conceded the loss of Mariupol (which the Germans claimed on Oct. 7), but it was the gigantic encirclement drive on Moscow which was of most urgent danger.

German spearheads thrust at the capital from the South, Southwest, West and Northwest—from the sector of Orel, Bryansk, Vyasma and, finally, Kalinin.

The seriousness of this latest threat was obvious from Kalinin's position, on the main trunk railroad from Moscow to Leningrad, just East of the natural obstacle of the Valdai Hills.

The city, named for Michael Kalinin, chairman of the Presidium of the Supreme Soviet — Russia's nearest parallel to a national president — is an important centre of about 218,000 population.

There and in the other theatres the Red armies fought under oath of desperation "to die here but not let the enemy to Moscow."

They were heartened in their resolve by the successes of counter-attacks around Vyazma, where the Russian position appeared generally somewhat improved.

In the raging continuance of the air war, the Russian communique recorded destruction of 89 German planes on all fronts Sunday to Russian losses of 23, and said that so far eight Nazi planes had been listed as brought down during Tuesday near Moscow alone.

S. A. Lozovsky, the official spokesman, declared in a summary that the German advance had been everywhere slowed down and that in many sectors it had been halted.

He declared that the Red armies West of the capital were far from encircled, as the Germans had claimed, that the Soviet Government was remaining in Moscow and, most important of all, that the numerical superiority of the invading forces now was diminishing.

"Fresh millions have risen to the defence of Moscow," he declared. "We know the Germans can never capture it."

Lozovsky said the order last Saturday for women, children and the aged to leave the city was issued "in order to create conditions for the entire remaining population to participate one way or another in the battle for Moscow."

"This evacuation was not a sign of weakness, but the opposite," he said, adding that many women were refusing to go because they wanted to participate in the city's defence.

Back of the battlefronts thousands of Russian civilians dug out a new defence line, twisting miles of terrain into trenches and tank traps for yet another stand that will come if the invaders break through the long-contested Soviet positions beyond.

The Red counter-thrust to the West against the German salient pressing nearest to the city was not precisely located. Russian counter-attacks were said meanwhile to be increasing in frequency; the Soviet transport system was declared to be still functioning satisfactorily; Red reserves were said to be moving up without interruption; and the Rusian Air Force was described as still in heavy action in skies far from mastered by Hitler's aerial squadrons.

A relative Russian superiority in another arm—that of the giant Red tanks which were declared to be too much for the lighter German vehicles—also was claimed.

Summing up the present results of the great German offensives, now 13 days old, the army organ, Red Star explained that Hitler's first plan —to gain a decision in a few days— had failed.

The reason, it added, was that the Nazis had required a force four to six times superior to that of the Russians for any quick and fatal break through, and this they had lacked.

BERLIN, Oct 14 (AP)—Germany's military leadership claimed tonight a total of 6,000 000 Russian soldiers had been put out of action of whom more than half were captives, and an advance by the Nazi armies of the centre which has put the outermost defences of Moscow within the range of German heavy artillery.

A special High Command communique said prisoners since June 22 "have far surpassed 3,000,000." Authorized military sources provided the estimate of 6,000,000 out of action putting it on the basis of 300 Soviet divisions of 20,000 each.

At the same time the High Command claimed annihilation of the Red armies in the Vyazma area, 125 miles West of Moscow, and said the Russian armies about Bryansk, 200 miles Southwest of Moscow, were being steadily dissolved in several so-called German "kettles."

In claiming the advanced position of the German artillery before Moscow, the Berlin spokesman admitted the Red capital's outer belt of fortifications lies a considerable distance from the centre of the city.

All N.S. Seats to Be Contested

HALIFAX, Oct. 14 (CP). — A contest in every constituency was assured today for the Oct. 28 Nova Scotia general election as nomination day proceedings launched 65 candidates of three parties into the battle for the 30 seats in the Legislature.

The Liberal administration forces placed a contestant in the running for every seat in the 26 ridings, while the Conservatives entered the field in all but the single-seat Cape Breton East District. Six Cooperative Commonwealth Federation adherents entered the lists in that party's first major bid for representation in the House.

Entry of the C.C.F. candidates developed three-cornered fights in four of the five Cape Breton ridings and in Halifax North. Only four-way races were in the four double-seat ridings, each of which had two Liberals and two Conservatives entered.

Government Considers Prospectors' Bonus—Putnam; Urges Farmers Take More Active Interest in Marketing

"I am in favor of subsidizing bona fide prospectors and this matter is under the advisement of the Department of Mines at the present time," asserted Frank Putnam, Liberal candidate for Nelson-Creston in a radio address over CKLN Radio Nelson Tuesday. He covered a wide field of election issues, and spoke of local road improvements during eight years of Liberal administration. A condensation of his address follows:

"We have a well paved highway connecting Nelson and Trail. Taghum Hill, the last link, is being completed. The road to Fraser's Landing has undergone a great improvement and is dust-free. The Minister of Public Works recently stated that diesel plant machinery has been ordered for the Main Lake Ferry. The work will be done this Winter, and in future, the Nasookin will be able to make four or five round trips daily. The superstructure will be altered so that her capacity will be almost doubled.

"In 1933 there was very little standard highway between here and Nelway, and each Spring it was impassable. For the last three years, this road has been open the year round. Twenty miles of it are standard construction and the most travelled portion, between Salmo and Sheep Creek, has been hard surfaced. This is the policy I have recommended to the Public Works Department.

HIGHWAY COMMISSION

"The fact of the matter is that we already have a commission of trained district engineers in the Public Works Department. Blueprints for commencing fifty million dollars worth of roads are available at 24 hours notice, and this work is ready as a post-war measure. In the Court House at Nelson you can see the map of the roads planned for this district. . . .

"You have heard a lot about putting the prospectors back in the hills. Do you realize that the pioneer prospectors are getting on in years? Do you realize that there are few to take their place, except the young men trained by our Department of Mines in the last six years? Do you know that one of the most spectacular discoveries of gold was made at Yalacomb by an instructor and a trainee from our 1939 Mining School?

"It has been our policy to improve roads in the mining areas, and thousands of dollars have been spent in this district assisting prospectors with mining trails. The Resident Mining Engineer . . . arranges for these trails to be built, advises the prospector as to the possibilities of his claims, and arranges for free assaying of samples. . . .

"There has been much complaint about the Securities Act. The loudest and most insistent criticism has come, no surprisingly, from certain stock brokers. I have heard no complaints from legitimate mining companies nor from investors.

"What has hurt mining more than anything in this district has been the unscrupulous and the over-enthusiastic promoter in years gone by. There are many companies and mining men who have made honest contributions to the development of mining. They have re-invested their surpluses in legitimate efforts to develop new prospects. I would like to pay tribute to them.

MARKET CONTROL

"Both the C.C.F. and the Conservatives have criticized our marketing legislation. . . . in all fairness, I am prepared to say that the administrative boards have not operated as well as they could. I think it is up to the producers to take a more active part in choosing personnel and in deciding policies. It is my conviction that the farmer will soon be able to stabilize the domestic markets and increase their share of the retail price. . . .

"The Sirois recommendations were drawn up in peacetime. They can be adopted only in peacetime, and under peacetime conditions. . . . The result of the report would have been to lower our high standards of social services and education. We are justly proud of our standards, and do not want to see them swept away. These were our reasons for not discussing the report. It was not giving British Columbia a fair deal.

"However, Premier Pattullo did ask for a wide open discussion of all Provincial-Dominion problems, and invited the Dominion to take any action necessary for the prosecution of the war. We shut no door that can not be re-opened. When the war is over, we will be ready to return to the conference table, to play our part in drafting a peacetime new deal between the provinces and the Dominion."

Granting a stay of proceedings requested by the Crown, Mr. Justice Smith in Supreme Court at Nelson Tuesday morning discharged Martha Neumann charged with theft of a calf from John Davigolo at Erickson.

The stay was requested immediately after reading of the charge, and without the defendant being required to enter a plea.

E. P. Dawson of Brown & Dawson, representing the Crown, requested the stay.

Research, Coordination Necessary for Marketing Farm Products Says Parker at Passmore, Backing Jukes

PASSMORE, B.C., Oct. 14—Howard Parker of Slocan City, Secretary of Kaslo-Slocan Conservatives, speaking in support of A. E. Jukes, party standard-bearer, told an interested audience Tuesday night that greater coordination was necessary if the present B.C. Marketing Act was to be successful.

He said that vast research was required so that the needs of each and every community could be considered and legislation applied accordingly. He referred to the difficulty encountered in endeavoring to force Doukhobors to observe regulations in selling their produce and how, by disregarding them, they cornered the open market provided by the citizens generally.

Touching on the Old Age Pensions Act, he described the party's pledge to support a cost-of-living bonus for the pensioners and the alleviation of the restrictions imposed by outmoded regulations. The party was pledged also, he said to reduction of the age for eligibility to 65 years.

BRITAIN NEEDS BASE METALS

Mr. Jukes cited Britain's need for base metals in this time of world conflict, particularly now they had lost European sources of supply.

"We in the Kaslo-Slocan are in the midst of one of the richest lead-zinc districts in Canada, probably in all North America, and we are not doing a thing to capitalize on that fact. We haven't even a programme, why, we're 'sitting on' prosperity and practically starving!"

He struck a responsive note when he forecast that politicians in Canada would be replaced by statesmen. In Great Britain, when a man was elected to a Cabinet rank he divorced himself entirely from private enterprise, and would not be allowed even a directorship in a private company receiving business from the Government.

Ridiculing the Liberal assertion that smaller centres would suffer under a highway commission, Mr. Jukes pointed out that anyone who stopped to consider, knew that Vancouver had all the paved highways it needed surrounding it. The Lougheed, Cariboo and Blaine Highways were all paved. A highway commission would have no control over the streets within the City of Vancouver nor the City of Victoria, which were the responsibility of the municipal governments highway commission? No one would of these cities.

"So who would benefit from a benefit but the country districts," he observed.

Pattullo Failed to Give Trail His Promised Explanation of Stand on Sirois Conference Declares Daly

TRAIL, B.C., Oct. 14—"Premier Pattullo promised to put us on the right trail regarding the Sirois report but when he did come to Trail he was so busy with his own political machine that he omitted to give Trail an explanation," declared C. F. Daly, Conservative candidate for Rossland-Trail, addressing a Trail audience in the I.O.O.F. Hall Tuesday night.

A change in the C.C.F. policy regarding the war effort was coincidental with Russia's entry into the war, Mr. Daly charged, and warned against rushing to support a movement which "mistook motion for progress" and which promised a civil tumult by threatening to conscript wealth, industry and finance.

Conscription of wealth, Mr. Daly said, was proceeding at present and could be accomplished under the present system of government either by taxation or compulsory loans.

BANK DEPOSITS WIDELY OWNED

He refuted a statement by Harold Winch, C.C.F. leader that money had been accumulated in the Canadian banks for the benefit of the few. There was 4,100,000 savings accounts in the banks averaging $402, and 670,000 current accounts averaging $1118. The total number of all deposits was 4,800,000 representing a combined monetary total of $2,700,000,000.

Deposits of $1000 or less made up 92 per cent of the deposits and represented 27 per cent of the total wealth, and the remaining eight per cent of deposits represented 73 per cent of the wealth, he said.

This eight per cent included all accounts over $1000 and also deposits of wealth in which the people of Canada had a share, such as those of municipalities; hydro-electric power commission; school boards; credit unions; trade unions whose members shared ownership of the union funds; churches and universities; insurance companies whose 4,000,000 industrial policy holders had a stake in the deposits; railway companies, many of whose employees were shareholders; mining, industrial and other corporations whose shares were widely distributed; and wheat pools and farmers' cooperatives, all of whose members shared ownership of money on deposit.

Industrial taxation at present claimed 40 per cent, 18 per cent on the income and 22 per cent on excess profits, he stated.

WILLKIE AN EXAMPLE

He referred to the C.C.F. platform as "untried theories by untried men" and stated that the Federation had already signified its intention of refusing to cooperate with the other parties. He described Wendel Willkie's stand beside President Roosevelt as indicative of the spirit which should prevail in the present world crisis.

Mr. Daly urged a highway commission. He stated $7,000,000 had been collected from B.C. car owners and operators last year, and that the money had been turned in to pay interest on money loaned for roads built to secure previous election votes.

"Since the last war we have spent almost $50,000,000 on our roads and still owe $40,000,000," he declared.

He questioned whether this locality had received attention in proportion to taxes paid. Since the announcement of the election date $1000 had been allocated toward completion of the Deer Park road, which had been neglected for the past four years, the speaker alleged.

Before the 1937 election Mr. Hart had borrowed $3,000,000 for a road program and in January this year Mr. Leary announced $2,000,000 would be available for roads. In April this amount was split into 40 parts to be used for this election, he charged.

Apart from the Esquimault road, necessary for military reasons, four ridings held by cabinet ministers got the most "cream," $55,000 going to the Alberni district, $77,500 to Kaslo-Slocan, $50,000 to North Okanagan and $55,000 to Premier Pattullo's own constituency of Prince Rupert.

ESLING BACKS HIM

W. K. Esling, M.P., referred to Mr. Maitland's refusal to use any money from liquor interests to further the Conservative campaign.

Accusing the Liberal Government of failing to cooperate with the Federal Government, Mr. Esling stated the administration refused to repay a $5,500,000 matured treasury bill at the express request of Ottawa.

Over $2,000,00 annually had been collected in taxes from the West Kootenay district, Mr. Esling estimated.

During the past eight years motor vehicle revenue in B.C. averaged $5,500,000 compared to an average annual expenditure of $2,000,000 on roads. He condemned the 1941 budget as the most extravagant in the history of the Province. Mr. Maitland tried unsuccessfully to obtain a reduction.

The Provincial Government was indifferent to the financial problems of the farmer, he charged. Both the Federal and Provincial Government had been afraid to deal with the Doukhobor situation, Mr. Esling alleged. The Provincial Government had taken up mortgages on Doukhobor lands, but he doubted the probability of similar generosity toward other farmers.

He referred to a $10 fine recently imposed on a Grand Forks farmer for employing an unregistered Doukhobor and stated the Provincial Government was placing the onus on the individual taxpayer instead of assuming the responsibility for dealing with Doukhobors.

TOKYO, Oct. 14 (AP).—Conclusion of an agreement with Portugal for daily Japanese plane service between the Japanese island of Palau (Pelew) and Deli on the island of Timor was announced today by the Cabinet Information Board.

Establishment of the route was regarded here as an important step in linking Japan with her South Seas possessions, but was held still more significant because Timor—owned partly by Portugal and partly by the Netherlands—is in the heart of the East Indies Archipelago.

B.C. Mining Not Getting Warranted Attention Jukes States at Sandon; Norman Confident of Higher Prices

SANDON, B. C., Oct. 14 — Into this mining camp that once bustled and hummed with activity A. E. Jukes, Conservative Candidate came to tell the old timers of a platform which promised in his view, the hope of the return of at least some measure of the prosperity of former days. Speaking before a large gathering Monday night, he told them "our plea is that mining in B.C. is not getting the attention it warrants."

"Last year the mining industry ranked second in the production of wealth from natural resources of this Province. Financially, it accounted for $75,000,000 out of a total of $250,000,000 produced by the Province's four basic industries —fishing, lumbering, agriculture and mining," he said.

It had been said that removal of the 2 per cent mineral tax would not mean very much. Refuting this statement, he explained that over a million dollars would be saved the industry if the tax were removed. Formerly, he declared, the tax was deducted when Provincial income taxes were paid, but now that the Federal Government had taken over the income tax field, it still had to be paid to Victoria.

"It's as though a new tax had been assessed against the industry," he asserted, "a tax that certainly does not encourage the investment of fresh capital in our mines."

He assured the meeting that smaller districts would not suffer under a Highway Commission. To stress his point he described the highway systems of Washington, Ontario and Nova Scotia, where main arterial roads link the important centres and secondary highways branch off to surrounding settlements.

"These secondary highways," he held, "are far better than the majority of our best highways in B.C."

He said that he had been accused of being a "promoter."

"I am going to accept that as a compliment, for I believe that if there's one thing this riding needs, it's a promoter—to promote good roads leading into this area of unrivalled scenery, and to promote interest in and draw capital to our mining fields to help reestablish the people and give them the independence and freedom that is the lifeblood of this democratic country."

Mrs. Jukes, accompanying her husband on his campaign tour, declared that it was often said that "the hand that rocks the cradle, rules the world."

"I hope this isn't true," she asserted, "especially when I think of the present condition of the world. However, I don't think we women are doing our part. Every woman in British Columbia should give thorough consideration to this election and cast her vote accordingly."

Sidney Norman, mining journalist, paid warm tribute to the abilities of Mr. Jukes, and stressed his belief that higher prices would shortly prevail for base metals. He stated he had read in an Eastern newspaper that lead in the United States was now under the control of that Government and subject to priorities, a certain sign that the metal was much in demand.

Chairman of the meeting was S. J. Towgood.

Owen, Vancouver, Defends Pattullo at Nakusp Upon Sirois Rejection; Do You Want Stockbroker Asks Leary

NAKUSP, B. C., Oct. 14—Continuing the parade of Liberal oratory in supoprt of Hon. C. S. Leary, Minister of Public Works, two young dynamic speakers, Walter S. Owen and Alan T. R. Campbell, both from Vancouver, scored direct hits of criticism at past and present Conservative policies before an audience which reached a new high in enthusiasm here Tuesday night.

Taking his cue from Mr. Maitland's continual harping on the Sirois conference, Mr. Owen asserted that the conference would have failed in any event. The Conservative leader was deliberately falsifying Premier Pattullo's actions, the speaker said. Mr. Maitland never made mention that Mr. Pattullo spoke seventh in line, and that the damage had already been done, and Mr. Maitland headed the only clique which construes the Premier's stand at torpedoing the affair.

Manitoba was the only Province in favor of implementing the recommendations of that fact—finding body, Mr. Owen declared. He summed up his defence by reading a newspaper item of Sept. 10 containing the statement by Hon. J. L. Ilsley, Minister of Finance in the King Government, that it was not possible to implement the Sirois report during the war, and further, the Dominion and the Provinces were so closely in agreement that the report was not necessary.

Referring to Conservative charges that the Liberal Government had gone into the oil business in the Peace River, which should have been placed in the hands of private interests, Mr. Owen contended the people of this Province were tired of giving away their natural resources. "We have never ceased complaining about the C. P. R. receiving all the lands it did for building its transcontinental railway," he continued, and the Government of another day gave away part of British Columbia's forest wealth to the extent of $10,000,000. "Consulting geologists have given the Peace River a very high rating and we should commend the Liberals for putting a stop to sacrificing the people's wealth to vested interests," he said.

Mr. Owen reached his climax when Hon. C. S. Leary entered the hall late from attending another meeting. The audience stamped and clapped its approval when Mr. Owen described the Liberal candidate as again going to be the Minister of Public Works. He added that the present administration was a Government of ability and courage and that those very qualities were reflected in Mr. Leary.

CAMPBELL DEALS WITH MINING

Accepting the plaudits of the crowd, Mr. Leary asked his listeners to think over one thing on election day "Are you going to vote for a man who has lived among you for 35 years and will continue to do so, or for a stock broker who won't know you on the streets of Vancouver?" he queried.

Mr. Campbell, a native son of New Denver, dealt with mining, and claimed the present Department of Mines was at all times active to the needs of the industry.

"Mr. Jukes knows more about the market price of stocks than he does about the price of metals," he said.

Mr. Campbell doubted the sincerity of the Conservative candidate, who was making his appeal by promising to reopen the mines of Kaslo-Slocan within short notice.

Late Chief Justice "Great Canadian, Great Judge, Great Personal Friend" Says Mr. Justice Smith at Assizes

"He was a very great judge. In his prime he was a giant of a man with all a giant's strength and intellect. . . . In his passing we have lost a great Canadian, a great judge and a very great personal friend."

This was the tribute to Chief Justice M. A. Macdonald of the British Columbia Court of Appeal, who died Monday at Vancouver, paid Tuesday morning by Mr. Justice Smith as he opened the Fall Assizes at Nelson. It was His Lordship's first visit to Nelson since his appointment to the Supreme Court, and he spoke after he had been welcomed by E. P. Dawson on behalf of the bar in this district.

"A sense of personal heaviness hangs over bench and bar today" as a result of the death of the Chief Justice, said His Lordship.

Extending the welcome, Mr. Dawson expressed the hope "that we may see a good deal of you" and help to preserve and foster the cordial relationship existing between bench and bar in this district.

His Lordship was "grateful for your kind words of encouragement." He was "very glad to be in Nelson on this beautiful October morning." Mr. Justice Morrison had assured him he would enjoy covering the circuit, but he felt already that the assurance was an understatement.

It was inspiring to travel through Southern British Columbia to the Kootenays amid the glorious October foliage, he continued. Whatever there might be elsewhere, British Columbia possessed a great grandeur.

British Troops to Leave Teheran

TEHERAN, Iran, Oct. 14 (AP).—The British Legation announced today Britain and Russia had agreed to Iran's request for withdrawal of their troops from Teheran. The garrisons are expected to leave within 10 days.

"The Allied Governments sent forces here to do one job—expel the Germans," a Legation spokesman said. "Now that that is over there is no real reason for them to stay in the capital. The continued presence of foreign troops here has embarrassed the Iranian Government and undermined its position with the people."

Maj.-Gen. V. V. Novikov is expected to transfer headquarters of the Russian Army from Teheran to Tabriz, a rail town some 60 miles South of the Caucasion frontier.

Once the British motorized brigade here leaves Teheran the nearest British forces will be at Hamadan and Kermanshah, almost 200 miles away. A Russian force will be left within 50 miles.

Plan Free Medical Treatment for Unfit Trainees

OTTAWA, Oct. 14 (CP)—Young men called up for military service and found unfit because of some curable condition may soon be offered surgical and hospital treatment free of charge, an official of the Department of National War Services intimated today.

He said a plan for offering this service to men called up in order to make them fit for army duties has been worked out but has not yet been placed in effect.

The National War Services Department has complete records of all men examined so far. Through these records it will be possible to locate the men who have been rejected because of physical conditions amenable to treatment.

"It will be a voluntary thing on the part of the men," said the official. "They will be offered the treatment free of charge but will not be compelled to take it."

OPORTO, Portugal, Oct. 14 (AP).—Sinking of the British freighter Petrel, 1354 tons, by a submarine with the total loss of her 94 passengers and 78 crewmen was reported here today.

The Petrel sailed from Oporto last week to join a convoy bound for London and had as her passengers a number of prominent Portuguese.

Earlier reports had said the British steamship Avoceta, 3442 tons, had been sunk but these were not confirmed today.

Nazi Radio Ship Arrives in Boston

BOSTON, Oct. 14 (AP) — The Nazi radio expedition ship, captured by the United States Navy off the coast of Greenland after a secret wireless station had been set up there, arrived at Boston today in the custody of the naval ship Bear.

Authorities said personnel of the seized ship would be brought to the immigration station and would be subjected to the established procedure for dealing with foreign nationals brought to American soil.

The Norwegian craft was identified as the Busko.

Those on the Busko were taken aboard the Bear after entering the harbor, and the Norwegian ship itself was taken to the Boston Naval Yard.

Germans Claim Six Convoy Ships Sunk

Churchill Turns Down Debate on Russian Affairs

LONDON, Oct. 14 (CP).—Prime Minister Churchill refused to be drawn out on the question of aid to Russia at question time in the House of Commons today and declined to discuss the course of the battle before Moscow.

In a brief exchange, Emanuel Shinwell, Labor, advocate of a British diversion in the West, asked for a debate on aid to Russia.

"The honorable gentleman should not suppose," Mr. Churchill replied, "that he has a monopoly of anxiety in these matters. I do not see any reason at all for an early debate at the present time on the situation in the East.

"I think it might be detrimental. I am sure it would likely do more harm than good."

Mr. Shinwell declared "There is considerable disquiet in the country about the whole substance and speed of the assistance rendered Russia."

The Prime Minister said any statement on the German offensive "must obviously be left to the Russian High Command who are conducting their great battle."

"I should not presume," he said, "to add anything to their communiques at this juncture."

Aneurin Bevan, Labor, cut in here with a charge that Viscount Halifax, British Ambassador to Washington, had by "irresponsible utterances" in the United States given "gratuitous assurances to the enemy that they will not be attacked anywhere."

The Prime Minister deprecated "abuse of a man who is on a high mission outside this coutry," and he stuck to his refusal of a debate even in secret session.

(Mr. Bevan apparently was referring to a Press conference given by Lord Halifax upon his recent arrival at New York from London in which he expressed the opinion that Britain at present did not have enough shipping to attempt a landing in Europe).

Nazis Say 3,000,000 Russians Captured

BERLIN, Oct. 14 (AP).—The Nazi Government claimed today the total of Russian prisoners in the war in the East now has risen above 3,000,000 and is still increasing.

It further alleged that the equivalent of 300 Russian divisions at full strength had been captured, killed or wounded. According to this estimate, which assumed that each division numbered 20,000 men, 6,000,000 Russian soldiers thus have been put out of action.

Ice Sells for $80 a Ton in Alaska

ANCHORAGE, Alaska, Oct. 14 — (AP).—Winter is at hand but ice has sold in this Northern city at $80 a ton the past few weeks.

One cocktail bar operator, Walter Grohnert, found a good supply and advertises it like this: Ice 50,000 years old—pure glacier crystals. Customers seem to like it.

The ice shortage, handicapping restaurants in particular in this fast-growing city with its new army bases, Fort Richardson and Elemendorf Field, arose when supplies cut last Winter were used up. Oil reserves are also depleted and potatoes sell, wholesale, at $50 a ton.

Diesel oil and stove oil shortages have also bothered some businesses. Housewives are burning kerosene oil in stoves. R. A. Fitzsimmons, oil company representative, said the shortage was due to lack of tankers to operate to Alaska but that one was due at Steward Oct. 20.

A similar coal shortage is only temporary because a nearby coal mine was closed this Summer for an overhaul. It has resumed operations.

Two Axis Supply Ships Sunk by Submarines

LONDON, Oct. 14 (CP). — The Admiralty announced today British submarines had sunk two merchant ships and heavily damaged a third in attacks on Axis supply lines in the Mediterranean.

The announcement said a medium-sized steamship and a 3000-ton motor ship were sunk, while a ship of approximately 4000 tons was hit by "several" torpedoes and was aground at last sight.

Associated Press Staff Writer

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 14 (AP)—"In England they make things to last and this old girl has lasted . . ."

Thus proudly proclaimed Capt. Arthur George Talbot upon bringing the aircraft carrier Furious—grand old lady of the Royal Navy—into port for a face lifting and well earned rest for the 1300 officer and men who guided the aged ship through the worst that modern warfare could offer.

"She's done more for her age than any other," declared the skipper as he relaxed and related meanderings of his battered charge today. In peace time she would have been condemned for sea service. She's kept running sometimes on only one leg—a darn fine tribute to British workmanship and the men who made her."

Laid down 26 years ago as a special cruiser, the Furious played a deadly part in the First Great War by destroying the Zeppelin Works at Tonden, later was converted into an aircraft carried and is living up to her name in the present conflict in which her sister ships Glorious and Courageous have gone down.

The Navy Department in Washington announced, meanwhile, that the British corvette Polyanthus had arrived at Charleston, S.C., for repairs, supplies "or other reasons".

LONDON, Oct. 14 (CP).—Rudolf Hess, one-time No. 2 deputy of Hitler, is under guard of British non-commissioned officers "and other ranks" and gets the same rations as the guards, War Secretary Capt. H. D. R. Margesson said in the House of Commons today.

He declined to say whether Hess was "living in some villa or big house," but asserted Hess "certainly is getting no pay" during his detention since he was picked up in Scotland where he bailed out of a Messerschmitt on a mysterious flight from Germany May 10.

Nazi Arms Workers Show War Strain

LONDON, Oct. 14 (CP Cable).—The Moscow radio, heard here by Reuters News Agency, today reported serious discontent in Essen, German armaments centre which has been heavily bombed by the Royal Air Force.

"Conditions in Essen reflect the desperate strain which is felt in the German rear," the Moscow radio declared, adding a number of arrests followed an anti-Fascist demonstration in the German city a few days ago.

The workers, according to the Moscow account, also demanded an answer as to whether the war would end this year as Hitler has promised.

Grammar . . .

Correct Usage of English on the Decline

By GARRY C. MYERS, Ph.D.

"Dear Dr. Myers—I was very much interested in your column on 'Why This Slack in Grammar', but I should like to raise some questions about it.

"(1). Is there objective evidence that college students today are poorer in English and arithmetic than they were in days gone by?

"(2). If college students are poorer in these subjects today, may this not be partly or entirely due to increased college enrollment which automatically brings in students of lesser intellectual ability?

"(3). Is there objective evidence that the elementary grades of the country are shot through with the doctrine of 'incidental memory'?

"(4). You imply that the learning of grammar will produce good written and spoken English. Is there objective evidence to prove this contention? Does not the formulation of good habits of English depend more on practising correct speech and writing than upon the learning of grammar?"

MY REPLY

'Dear Professor Billings—I want to thank you for your challenging letter. You have put me on the spot.

"As you already know, I must answer in the negative to all your questions asking for objective evidences derived from adequately controlled objective tests.

"I have talked to a great many teachers, possibly the wrong ones, of exact sciences in colleges and teachers in engineering schools, who are deeply distressed over the poor English and arithmetic of many of their students; and these subjects hardly draw dull students.

BASED ON OBSERVATION

"Concerning (3), my statements were based on what I observed in classroom. In only one classroom did I see any 'boning' in the sense of individual repetition of the correct spelling of a word or basic number fact (as 8 and 9 are 17), with the word or fact being looked at by the learner; hundreds of situations in which children were tested on spelling or these number facts before the correct spelling of the word or the number fact had been learned. Frequently words were written or combinations used in 'motivated' exercises or problems before they had been mastered or studied as facts, on the assumption that the correct spelling or fact would be learned incidentally.

"Concerning (4), I contend that in addition to hearing and reading good English, the learner should profit from frequent drills in correct grammatical forms of those types most often used incorrectly, and also from acquired techniques for checking his own speech and writing critically — which good grammar teaching aims to do."

Tension . . .

Shoulder Joint Often in Trouble

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M.D.

There is nothing meaner than an aching shoulder, or the neuralgia accompanying it that goes down the arm. At least there are few things in the nature of a minor illness that are meaner.

The shoulder is one of the most complicated joints in the body and it is no wonder it gets out of whack pretty often. Three bones, the humerus, the shoulder blade and the collarbone, enter into it. A large muscle, the deltoid, fits over it like a cap to hold the joint together and also to move it, and a tendon of the biceps muscle of the arm crosses right over the joint to attach itself to the collarbone above.

BUFFER SAC IN JOINT

To facilitate the movements of these muscles and tendons, nature has placed a little buffer sac called the sub-acromial bursa between the bone and the tendons.

Inflammation of this bursa is so common that Dr. Bosworth recently studied a group of adults to see how many had evidence of present or previous disease there. When inflammation occurs, there often results a deposit of calcium or chalk around the joint, and since this can be seen in the X-ray, it gives a good enough indication of present or past bursitis.

They occur most commonly during the period of greatest activity of adult life, and especially in men.

CAUSES OF DEPOSITS

Occupations that require constant and prolonged strain on the arms foster the formation of these calcium deposits.

Among such occupations is typewriting and most women who had these deposits were typists, and they had a significantly higher percentage of them than women clerks throughout all ages in life. "Millions of years of heredity," wrote Dr. Cadman, "have not prepared the modern stenographer to keep the supraspinatous tendons stretched and under tension, on the qui vive hour after hour, day after day."

Under treatment, heat either in the form of baking or diathermy gave ultimate relief in half, and partial amelioration of symptoms in the rest of the cases. But this may be a long, drawn out affair. Surgical removal of the deposits and the bursa, a minor procedure which can be done under local anesthesia, gives immediate, certain and complete relief.

SERIAL STORY . . . By RICHARD HOUGHTON

Death at the Switch

CHAPTER FORTY-FIVE

Henry drew a sharp breath that was painful in his tight throat. He breathed to himself, "Spinelli's the murderer! He sneaked around behind King while I held his attention!"

"Hallo there!" called Spinelli. "I say, Mr. King, nobody's trying to shoot you! That was an accident."

Henry lifted himself to his hands and knees. Spinelli saw him.

"That man's crazy!" Spinelli declared, coming down the steps. Crazy with fear. He thought you crept around to the side window and took a shot at him."

"Who—who shot?" Henry was trembling. He wanted to run, but his legs wouldn't obey him.

"No one. It was another of those gun traps—set this afternoon after the sheriff was here. I went to look in through a window to see if the old man was inside the house, and it almost got me. I half suspected it would be there, and I was careful to keep my hands well in front of me to trip it before I got in the line of fire."

"You—you thought it would be there?"

"Certainly. That's what the other trap was for—to keep someone from getting into the house—not to kill Stanley King. It was set for the murderer."

"Oh! And the man who set it was Mrs. Willett's father?"

"Right. It wasn't King, or he would have known what went off. The only other one who could have fixed the gun since the sheriff was here was the old man."

"But if he set the trap for the murderer, he isn't the murderer!"

"I never said he was. Come on, let's find him. That shot will bring him from wherever he is."

They tiptoed to the corner of the house and waited, but no one appeared, and the gardens were dark and silent.

"He heard us talking," Henry whispered.

"Perhaps so. Let's look down by the garage. I think he sleeps in a room at the rear."

They parted the bushes and crossed the lawn. There was enough starlight to show the way. Henry wondered if there would be a gun trap at the garage.

Gravel crunched under their feet again as they passed the boundary of the lawn. The small garage building was almost buried in the blackness of the trees that sheltered it.

"Not a light," observed Henry.

Spinelli grasped him by an arm. "Sh! Listen!"

The mumble of a voice reached their ears, faint and unnatural in its tone. One man was talking — talking continuously and in a monotone—inside the garage.

Goose flesh crept over Henry. He whispered in Spinelli's ear. "He's really crazy now."

"That's not King's voice. And it's not the voice of the old man, either."

Henry didn't want to walk closer, but he didn't want to be left behind, either. He followed Spinelli to the open door of the garage, trying to be silent. The voice grew louder.

"It's a radio," Spinelli said. "Some one left the radio turned on in his car."

"But there's no car here!"

"Then it's the radio in the old man's room back of the garage. Listen! What's it saying?"

"Attention all cars! Attention all police and sheriff's officers. Henry Potter, in custody on suspicion of murder of John Ives, has escaped. He is believed to be on foot. He has no car but may steal one. He was reported five minutes ago at the Stanley King estate. Attention cars 1 and 2. Search for him there. He may be armed and dangerous. That is all."

Date-Breaking Is Not Fair to a Girl

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:

Almost a year ago I met a man eight years my senior. He paid a lot of attention to me, which I took as a job. But now, I've fallen deeply in love with him. He has taken me to luncheons and presented me with gifts of jewelry, including a ring which he values very highly.

Here's my problem: While he is above reproach in everything else, he has a habit of standing me up on some of these luncheon engagements, (which he makes in the first place) and then apologizes. I called him up and told him I'd like to return his gifts, but he absolutely refuses to accept them.

BROKEN-HEARTED

When a man breaks a date with a girl, particularly one he has made himself, he usually offers some reason with his apology. Some men, however, are so lacking in the social graces that they think the excuse is sufficient. In returning his ring and gifts you might state the reason for your action is that you object to date-breaking. Then if he confides he has been ordered to do something by his boss, instead of taking you, as proposed, to the luncheon, you might forgive and forget.

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:

I am the youngest in the family and the only unmarried child at home. One sister married about ten months ago and she and her husband still live with us. None of them ever seems to make it pleasant for me at home, and when I expect company, everything is topsy turvy and I'm just miserable.

I've been going with a young man for almost a year, and he comes to see me two or three times a week. When he doesn't come over or call on the phone, my family start nagging about how he neglects me and say that he is out with another girl, etc. My boy friend is very thoughtful and well-mannered and seems to be very fond of me. The only complaint I could possibly have is that, occasionally, when he sets a definite time to telephone and I wait for his call, he doesn' keep his promise.

Often I've thought of leaving home and taking an apartment somewhere alone, as I have a well-paying position and also have a little money which my grandmother left me. But I don't want anyone to gossip about me, besides I'm very fond of my parents and don't want to hurt them. I'm 23 years old.

BEWILDERED

Talk it over with your parents—you're fond of them, and naturally don't want to be the cause of talk in your home town on account of setting up your own establishment. No doubt your mother will take it up with your sister and brother-in-law and have them give you some consideration.

Insignia for CWAC Badges Approved

OTTAWA, Oct. 14 (CP). — National Defence headquarters announced today that Defence Minister Ralston has approved the maple leaf, the beaver, and the helmeted head of Athene as insignia for rank and corps badges of the Canadian Women's Army Corps uniform.

The maple leaf is used for the cap badge design, is included in the design of the collar badges and as a unit in the badges of rank. The Athene symbol—she was the mythical goddess of war and wisdom—forms the central design of the collar badges and uniformed buttons. The beaver is confined to rank baages

The cap badge consists of three maple leafs on a stem placed on a lozenge with beaded border on which is inscribed "Canadian Women's Army Corps." The collar badges bear the head of Athene below which the letters C.W.A.C. are inscribed on a scroll suspended by a small maple leaf at each end.

Cap and collar badges will be similar for officers and other ranks except that for officers they will be of gilt and silver, and for other ranks entirely in brass.

Canada's War Effort So Far Unfair, Inefficient and Inadequate C.C.F. National Secretary Says at Creston

CRESTON, B.C., Oct. 14—Canada's war effort so far, as directed by the Federal Government, was inadequate, inefficient and unfair; and only by adoption of principles such as advocated by the C.C.F. could it be improved, declared Lavid Lewis, National Secretary of the Cooperative Commonwealth Federation, speaking at Creston Monday night in support of Frank Frisby, candidate for the party in Nelson-Creston.

The war effort was inadequate because it failed to fulfill the three prerequisites of victory—first, total production of the materials of war without profit; secondly, sustaining morale and awakening a national spirit so a total effort could be instituted; and thirdly, awakening the spirit of the conquered peoples of Europe by setting a standard in the democracies to which these peoples could look for future guidance and help.

PROFITS AND MARKETS

The war effort was inefficient because industrial firms were more concerned with preserving profits now and markets after the war than with total output.

And it was unfair, Mr. Lewis continued, because it placed a far heavier burden on low income groups, particularly farmers, than on industrial and financial institutions.

Mr. Lewis' chief concern was the relation of provincial issues in this election to the national and international situation. He held that only insofar as attacked countries adopted socialistic principles had they been able to resist the onslaught of Hitlerism.

FAR-REACHING EFFECT

A C.C.F. government at Victoria would stimulate the interest and faith of the people far beyond British Columbia he declared.

Britain's unity was due, he said, to the rise of the labor movement. He asked his listeners whether they wanted working men to write the peace or big business.

R. G. Penson, Chairman, introduced Mr. Lewis as a brilliant McGill graduate and Rhodes Scholar, and stated he had studied law under Sir Stafford Cripps, British Ambassador to Russia.

I.O.D.E. Votes $50 for Smokes for Men Overseas, $10 Auxiliary; District Poster Project Planned

A donation of $50 to purchase cigarettes for Canadian soldiers overseas was decided upon at the Kokanee Chapter I.O.D.E. meeting Tuesday afternoon, and the Chapter will also spend another $10 on cigarettes to be donated to the Women's Auxiliary to the Active Service Forces for its Christmas parcels to soldiers from this district.

In answer to an appeal for volunteers to start work on the making of layettes and other articles for the people of Britain by the War Work Convener, Mrs. E. C. Wragge, Mrs. Emory and Mrs. S. S. Simpson offered their services. Others volunteering to work at the I. O. D. E. rooms were Mrs. T. H. Bourque, Mrs. A. L. Creech, Mrs. D. StDenis, Mrs. C. F. McHardy, Mrs. J. H. Argyle, Mrs. H. E. Thain, Mrs. McLeod, Mrs. T. A. Carew, Mrs. Henry Chester and Mrs. George Schupe.

A group of library books and a gramophone record of Swedish Folk songs had been sent to the Chapter's adopted school at Sproul Creek, Mrs. George Lambert, Educational Secretary, reported.

DISTRICT POSTER PROJECT

In place of the planned essay contest for pupils in the elementary schools this Fall, the chapter has decided to sponsor a project on "Canada's War Effort." This project, which was suggested by the school staff, will consist of 15 posters, each poster to illustrate some particular phase of the war effort. The project is open to pupils of Grade V and Grade VI of both Nelson and rural schools of the district, and any teacher desiring to enter her pupils in the contest is asked to get in touch with Mrs. Lambert. Two prizes will be awarded, $4 War Savings certificates for the first prize and $2 for the second. Mrs. Henry Chester and Mrs. L. J. Maurer were appointed to judge the project.

The importance of keeping up the home front was stressed by Mrs Leo Gansner in giving her report on welfare activities. A survey of school children needing extra milk had been made, and it was expected that the milk at the schools would be started soon.

Mrs. Gansner also made a request for used clothing, as many families in the district were in actual need of Winter clothes.

BLANKETS ON WAY OVERSEAS

Blankets made from old woollens have been shipped to Britain, 101 are en route overseas, and eight blankets given to the chapter from the factory as premiums have been shipped to Buckingham Palace for the Women's Territorial Service, Mrs. John Cartmel, Regent, stated, in reporting for the Blankets for Britain Convener, Mrs. Jack McDonald. More woollens, enough for 70 blankets and 16 baby blankets have been sent to the factory, and are being made at the present time.

Approximately $130 was realized from the series of bridge parties held in the members' homes during the month, Mrs. W. Laishley reported. The prizes were drawn for at the meeting and the first prize, a mirror, was won by Jack Reid, and the second, a pair of blankets, by John A. Ferguson.

A new office of Film Convener was created, Mrs. H. E. Thain being appointed to take charge of this new work, which will be to promote British films at local theatres.

A group of girls doing war work for the I. O. D. E. under the direction of Mrs. J. H. Argyle had donated a suit to the chapter, Mrs. Wragge reported.

Two new members were welcomed, Mrs. W. G. Harold and Mrs. L. G. Bartlett.

Mrs. Herbert Reed was tea convener and was assisted by Mrs. D. StDenis, Mrs. G. B. Russell, Mrs. W. R. Smythe, Mrs. George Schupe, Mrs. H. A. Peebles, Mrs. S. Simpson, Mrs. F. R. Pritchard and Mrs. L. V. Rogers.

Scotch Woodcocks, Welsh Rabbits and Digby Chickens

A Taghum subscriber who did not give his name but who obviously hailed from North of the Tweed, rang up The Daily News to assert that this paper wrongly stated that the woodcock in Scotland was not a bird; and that he had seen one and could vouch for its being a bird.

The error was not in the newspaper, but in the subscriber's misreading of an item in the "Test Yourself" department in the Daily News of Oct. 6. The question was asked, "What type of a bird is the Scotch woodcock?" and the answer was, "It is not a bird but a slice of buttered toast garnished with chopped eggs and anchovies."

In the same way, one might query, "What type of animal is a Welsh rabbit?" and make reply, "It is not an animal, but toast over which melted cheese has been poured."

There are woodcocks in Scotland, but they are not distinguished as Scotch woodcocks. They are the same woodcock that is known all over Western Europe and all over Eastern North America.

Similarly there are rabbits in Wales, but they are not distinguished as Welsh rabbits.

Digby, a famous Nova Scotia fishing port, no doubt has plenty of chickens, being in the Annapolis Valley, but a Digby chicken is a smoked herring.

In the same way, a Scotch halibut —as known throughout the English speaking world—is not a kind of halibut, but a large ray or skate, which has a commercial food value only in the cheapest markets.

A Golden robin is a Baltimore oriole. A Painted robin—a bird we have in this district—is a Varied thrush. A Ground robin—to be found all Summer long in Nelson's Gyro Park —is a Spotted towhee. A Swamp robin is a Hermit thrush, such as we have here, and also an Olive-Backed thrush. A Sea robin is a Red-Breasted merganser, one of the largest ducks. Not one of them is a kind of robin.

When it comes to names, we should remember that an adjective joined to a noun can take the noun entirely away from its original meaning.

Words of Challenge

"Forces of insane violence have been let loose by Hitler upon this earth. We must all do our full part in conquering them."—C. D. Howe, Minister of Munitions and Supply.

Today's Horoscope

A busy, fortunate year is presaged for today's birthday children. They should push their affairs to the utmost, but be on their guard against trickery or loss through correspondence, travel or agents. The child who is born on this date will be full of initiative and enterprise, and will be industrious, resourceful, self-reliant, firm, quick-witted, generous and very fortunate throughout life.

Words of Wisdom

It is only by labor that thought can be made healthy, and only by thought that labor can be made happy; and the two cannot be separated with impunity.—Ruskin.

Etiquette Hints

Don't talk continually about your travels. Bring them in occasionally and casually into your conversation when circumstances warrant.

Test Yourself

1. In international law what is a suzerain?
2. What is a bascule bridge?
3. What does avuncular mean?

TEST ANSWERS

1. The paramount control of one nation over another.
2. A type of drawbridge which separates in the centre, and lifts into the air.
3. Of or pertaining to an uncle.

OUT TO GET ROOSEVELT

The impression on thoughtful voters is that too many of the Republicans in Washington are moved primarily by spite. Anything which Mr. Roosevelt advocates is sure of their unyielding opposition. They do not stop to ask if it is wise or advantageous to the nation. His blessing is enough to damn it in their eyes. In a world crisis this is the most ineffective possible opposition. If it is continued it will force countless Republicans in the country to reject the leadership of the party's spokesmen in Congress.—New York Herald-Tribune.

A special annuity of £10 a year is granted to every recipient below commissioned rank, with an additional £5 a year for every bar, such bar being added for additional acts of bravery which would have entitled the recipient to the Victoria Cross if he or she had not already received it. In the event of an annuitant being unable to obtain a livelihood on leaving the Service, the amount of the annuity may be increased to £50.

YOU ARE MY SUNSHINE

First verse:

The other night, dear, as I lay sleeping,
I dreamt I held you in my arms,
When I awoke, dear, I was mistaken,
And I hung my head and cried.

Chorus:

You are my sunshine, my only sunshine,
You make me happy when skies are grey,
You'll never know, dear, how I love you,
Please don't take my sunshine away.

Second verse:

I always love you and make you happy,
If you will always be the same,
But if you leave me and love another
You'll regret it all some day.

Third verse:

You told me once dear you really love me,
And no one could come between,
But now you've left me to love another,
You have shattered all of my dream.

Fourth verse:

In all my dreams dear, you seem to leave me,
When I awake my poor heart pains,
So won't you come back and make me happy,
I'll forgive you, I'll take all the blame.

Burns Claims, Herridge Theories, Discussed by Bloomer Re Castlegar

To the Editor of The Daily News:

Sir — Having a knowledge of Castlegar ever since it was just a name and a water tank stop for the C. P. R., I am always interested in any news pertaining to it. So when I read that at the recent meeting in Trail held by Hon. Mr. Hart, Mr. Burns in his introductory remarks stated that he (Mr. Burns) had concentrated his efforts on the Castlegar Highway, with a consequent increase in population of from 200 to 1200. I thought, "Very nice if true."

"But what of the work of the Castlegar Waterworks Company without which there would not have been the increase Mr. Burns so modestly claims as due to his efforts on the highway, which highway was incidentally started by a Conservative Government, when the late James Schofield was member for this riding? This I can vouch for as I was one of the people signing the petition for its opening, rail and water connection being the only means of communication between the two places at that time.

Mr. Burns also claims that he had a sidewalk built from the Ferry to the School house. The sidewalk is good as far as it goes, but it is far short of the School (about 1000 feet) and if the Government paid for it to reach the School, then it has not received what it paid for.

Coming back to the Water Works Company, this company was formed by a number of residents of Castlegar who, knowing that the C. P. R. intended to close down the service it was giving to about 20 houses, and, knowing that there were a number of people who would like to come here if water was available, decided to do what they could to provide it, and the present company, giving service to close on to 200 houses at the present time, was formed.

Now this Company is composed entirely of local residents, some of whom, having but little cash to put into the project, gave of their labor, receiving shares in the company in return; others, having saved a little from the results of their labor, and thus becoming capitalists in a small way (very small), furnished the cash wherewith to purchase the pipes, tank, and pumps necessary to such an undertaking.

Then comes along the C. C. F. candidate, Mr. Herridge, saying that the idea of people receiving dividends was wrong, and should not be. This, coming from a spokesman for the party that claims to champion labor, does not sound consistent. How are these people to be paid, if not by dividends? Would the socialist-minded candidate simply take over the works, and say to the workers: "Get out, this is not yours, but belongs to the state." I judge, after hearing him over the radio, that is what he would say if given the chance.

Will he get the chance? Not if the labor men get down to hard thinking about the matter and refuse to be led astray by a will-o'-the-wisp which would bog them down in a morass of unknown depth.

To my mind, the only real way to overcome a lot of our political troubles is to bring in proportional representation. Then we would not hear so much about minority governments.

T. L. BLOOMER.

Castlegar, B. C., Oct. 14, 1941.

Says That Maitland Benefitted From the System of Patronage

To the Editor:

Sir—R. L. Maitland, leader of the Conservative party, alleges that the Liberals are maintaining a vicious patronage system.

But I would like to point out to the readers of the Daily News that huge sums of public monies have found their way to Mr. Maitland's pockets.

I refer to two questions asked in the House of Commons, Ottawa, by Tom Reid, M.P., for New Westminster, on Feb. 19, 1936. Mr. Reid demanded to know:

(1) What lawyers and law firms, if any, of the City of Vancouver, British Columbia, were retained by the Federal Government of Canada during the period from August 1, 1930, until December 31, 1935.

(2) Sums paid by the Federal Government and all departments thereof to each such lawyer and law firms.

Mr. Reid's questions were answered by the issuance of a return called "Sessional Paper No. 183; Reference No. 9; Mover: Mr. Reid" on April 9, 1936.

That return shows Mr. Maitland, head of the law firm Maitland, Remmant & Hutcheson, received a total during the five year period of $23,074.07 but cheques totalling $22,838.75 were made out to Mr. Maitland personally for fees and disbursements.

Gen. J. A. Clark, K.C., another Conservative, came a poor second on the list. He received $13,589.10 for fees and disbursments, but the return states of this amount, $5337.56 was still owing to Gen. Clark at Dec. 31, 1935.

Other lawyers, too numerous to mention here but both Conservatives and Liberals, received amounts from $1000 down to $10.

Of course, the Conservatives under Hon. R. B. Bennett were in power during this period but in face of the above facts, Mr. Maitland is sidetracking the voters of this Province by accusing the Liberals and the Liberals alone, of maintaining an alleged patronage system.

HOW MUCH OF RUSSIA'S INDUSTRIES HAS HITLER TAKEN?

The shaded area on the map represents territory already overrun by German troops. Russia has lost important peacetime industrial centres, especially in the Dnieper River district. So far they have defended the important industrial centre of Leningrad and are now meeting threats on the Donets industrial basin, and the Moscow district. The Caucasus oil fields are still far from the front. It will be noted that while some peacetime industrial centres are threatened, or have been taken, the main Soviet war industries are far back. All Russia's planes are made in the Moscow district. Tanks are made at Stalingrad and Chelyabinsk. The Germans have seized virtually no Soviet armament industries, though when the lower Dnieper district fell, the Soviet Union lost about inum.

Dutton Hopeful as Team Rounds Into Condition

PORT ARTHUR, Oct. 14 (CP)—New York Americans of the National Hockey League are rapidly rounding into shape at their Fall training camp here and Manager Red Dutton is feeling more confident than he has in years.

In practice, the forward line of Harvey Jackson, Fred Thurrier and Mel Hill has shown mid-season passing ability. Dutton expressed pleasure at the way Hill, formerly of Boston Bruins, has fitted into his new surroundings.

He's going great guns," commented the fiery Amerk boss.

The Murray Armstrong-Lorne Carr-Buzz Boll line impressed during practice scrimmages. Armstrong looked particularly good at centre as his passes slid across the ice in crisp and accurate fashion.

Andy Branigan, young defence star from Winnipeg who started last season with Springfield Indians of the American Hockey League and finished the Winter with the Americans, won Dutton's praise with his all-round polish.

Three of the seven surviving amateur tryouts at the American camp were slated to leave for their homes tonight as Dutton concentrated on grooming his regulars for the coming N.H.L. campaign.

Those scheduled to leave were George Weaver, Ken Ullyot and Keith Allen, all of last year's Saskatoon Quaker juniors. Camp gossip said Ullyot might play for the Washington Ulines of the American Hockey League this season but nothing definite could be confirmed.

Those asked to stay at the camp at least for a while longer were Garth Bush of Regina Rangers, winner of the Allan Cup last Spring, Wall Koster of Winnipeg and two Lakehead juniors, Steve Wochy and Joe Gollat.

The Jockey Club of Miami, Fla., will run stake races and distribute $600,000 in prize money at its Winter meeting in Hialeah.

Louis Pronounced OK for Army Service

CHICAGO, Oct. 14 (AP) — Joe Louis' ring opponents already know it, but his draft board physicians announced today that he's in good health.

The heavyweight champion was pronounced physically fit for army service after an examination.

The date of Louis' induction will depend upon the number of men ahead of him on the draft list.

Patrick Players Turn on Power

WINNIPEG, Oct. 14 (CP).—Manager Lester Patrick of New York Rangers National Hockey League team today looked over his 17 players — 11 professionals and six rookies — at the Amphitheatre and said "this bunch looks like a Ranger team should look, with plenty of speed, aggressiveness and fight."

"I've never seen a Ranger squad so fast and full of energy so early in a training siege," he said as the players skated to the dressing room after the second day's workout.

Coach Frank Boucher stepped up the pace and sent his charges, including Captain Art Coulter who checked in this morning, through an hour of fast skating and stickhandling.

Patrick, who yesterday warned that no professional veteran is certain of his job on past performances, was impressed. He said "the veterans seem to realize they cannot afford to 'coast' if they expect to hold their jobs this season."

Ruel Signed for Three More Years by Chicago Sox

CHICAGO, Oct. 14 (AP).—Harold (Muddy) Ruel, St. Louis barrister whose highly profitable sideline is baseball, signed a new three-year contract today as coach with the Chicago White Sox.

Terms of the agreement were not divulged, but a conservative estimate of his 1942 salary would be $10,000.

Ruel, one time catcher for Walter Johnson, has received praise the past few years for his work with White Sox pitchers. Moundsmen rejuvenated by Ruel's magic touch include Thornton Lee, who won 22 games this season; Ed Smith, Johnny Humphries, who pitched three straight shutouts late this season, and Buck Ross, all obtained in baseball's bargain basements.

Grizzlies Hoping for Dry Weather

VANCOUVER, Oct. 14 (CP) — Greg Kabat and his Vancouver Grizzly football squad — along with many a Vancouver football fan— hoped tonight for a dry field for tomorrow night's final test of coast football strength against Winnipeg Blue Bombers who pasted the Grizzlies 17-0 here Monday.

Many football experts believe Grizzlies—new to the Western Interprovincial Football Union this year—might make a better showing against the powerful Bombers if the weatherman would cooperate. The Vancouver squad has played in the rain in every home game so far this year, one of which they won by a 7-6 score against Regina Roughriders for their only victory of the season.

Skies tonight indicated that the weather might clear for the second Grizzly-Bomber clash.

No predictions came from either football camp. Kabat, the ex-Winnipeg star who came West this year to coach the Grizzly squad, was noncommittal about Grizzlies' chances in the second contest.

Hawk Stars Come Off Injury Lists to Join Scrimmage

HIBBING, Minn., Oct. 14 (CP)—Chicago Black Hawks of the National Hockey League held their first hockey scrimmage today and Manager Paul Thompson said he was satisfied Bill Carse, Johnny Mariucci, Bill Thoms and Art Wiebe, all of whom lost considerable playing time last year because of injuries, are again sound of body.

Carse missed 26 games, Mariucci 2 and Wiebe eight during the 1940-41 season and Thoms, leading Hawk scorer, was out of all five Stanley Cup matches in which the Black Hawks participated.

Mush March, starting his 15th season as Chicago's right winger, appeared as active as ever.

The Black Hawks will go to Minneapolis for three days' practice and an exhibition game.

Equipment Man Sent to Backfield as Lions Run Short of Talent

DETROIT, Oct. 14 (AP)—Detroit Lions, desperately in need of backfield talent for their National Football League game Sunday against Chicago Bears, today recruited as a fullback Steve Belichick, 190-pound dispenser of uniforms and towels.

Belichick, Lions equipment manager, played fullback at Western Reserve.

Coach Bill Edwards said the move was occasioned by injuries to backs Lloyd Cardwell and Ned Mathews.

Advancement of Belichick was said to be the first move of its kind in professional football since Arnie Herber graduated from clubhouse boy into a vital role with Green Bay Packers.

Big Fullback Seeks to Make 1000-Minute Mark for Methodists

DALLAS, Oct. 14 (AP)—The hard rock of Southwest Conference football moves into the stretch this week in his drive to give 1000 minutes for the glory of Southern Methodist University.

Preston (Presto) Johnston, 195-pound line-cracking fullback, has yet to miss a game because of physical disability in 803 minutes of play.

There are seven games ahead for this iron man of S.M.U. football. He could easily break the 1000 mark if used all the way.

As a sophomore he scored 50 points. As a junior he got 36. This season he has made 21 although used little except against Fordham at New York.

Johnson Lines Up Eight More Players

LAKE PLACID, N.Y., Oct. 14 (CP)—Coach Ching Johnson said today he would add eight more players to his team before moving on to Washington where the Ulines will open their schedule in the American Hockey League.

Johnson said negotiations are under way which will bring six players from Montreal while two more will be purchased in the United States.

Frank Jones Goes to Coast for Work

Frank Jones, a Nelson boy who has had a try at practically every sport in town, left the Lakeside City Tuesday afternoon for the Coast to look for employment.

Jones was a regular with the Nelson Maple Leafs this past lacrosse season, holding down a defence berth.

Badminton Will Start Two Trial Weeks Thursday to Decide for Coming Season

The shuttlecocks begin to fly again at the Civic Centre Thursday.

It will be the opening night of the 1941-42 season of the Nelson Badminton Club, and though badminton play is assured for the balance of this month, the turnouts during that time will decide whether the club will be carried on this year.

The playing strength of the club has suffered considerably through enlistment and members leaving for wartime employment. The club needs a good live membership, especially among the seniors, though the juniors seem enthusiastic about the coming season.

For the present Denis Crowther and Bill Ramsay, two of the club's executive standbys, will guide the club until something more definite is lined up. Ron Andrews, though he is visiting here from the Coast at present, was President last year, but has since moved back to Vancouver.

"It would be a shame to let badminton slip out of the picture," stated Mr. Crowther. "We have the best accommodation for this sport in the Interior of the Province, and plenty of fine talent as well. Everybody, including beginners, is welcome to come out during the next two weeks, before things are organized and fees are set."

Juniors start play as usual at 5 in the evenings Tuesday and Thursday, and seniors at 7. Juniors also have Saturday afternoons again and seniors Sundays.

Sport Principles for Nation's Guide Urged by Garden President

TORONTO, Oct. 14 (CP). — Col. John Reed Kilpatrick of New York, President of Madison Square Garden, urged that principles of sportsmanship be applied to international relations in an address today at the annual pre-season luncheon of Toronto Maple Leafs Hockey Club.

"If nations were guided by the concepts of sports in their relationship with other nations, this world would be a far more pleasant place in which to live," Col. Kilpatrick told the gathering.

Col. Kilpatrick told the players that in these days of stress Canada could provide no better ambassadors of good will to the United States than the athletes performing in professional hockey teams across the border.

To Commemorate 50 Years of Basketball

NEW YORK, Oct. 14 (AP) — A nation-wide program to commemorate the 50th year of basketball and raise funds to erect a memorial to the game's inventor, the late Dr. James Naismith of Almonte, Ont., at Springfield, Mass., was announced today by Roger L. Putman, Mayor of Springfield and chairman of the Naismith Memorial Committee.

The golden jubilee of basketball will be inaugurated in Madison Square Garden with a two-day tournament, Nov. 19 and 24, in which four high ranking club teams will participate.

An all-star game also is scheduled for the Chicago Stadium Nov. 29.

Zivic Named to Fight Cochrane at New York

NEW YORK, Oct. 14 (AP) — Fritzie Zivic of Pittsburgh, former welterweight boxing champion, today was named by Promoter Mike Jacobs to replace Red Cochrane, 148-pound king, as the opponent for Ray (Sugar) Robinson in a 10-round non-title bout at the Garden Oct. 31.

Cochrane declined the fight since his manager, Willie Gilzenberg, is under a six months suspension in this state for instructing his fighter to hold back during the early rounds of his recent fight with Lew Jenkins.

Usually a big league baseball club has to draw an annual attendance of 400,000 to make a little money. Some of the clubs which are geared higher need 800,000 customers. Detroit, because of its big payroll and luxurious set-up, needs about 850,000 payees to get an even break.

Kootenay Junior Softball Is Off

TRAIL, B.C., Oct. 14—The West Kootenay Junior Softball playoffs for the Blaylock Bowl have been cancelled because of the lateness of the season.

The announcement was made today by Pete Shields who has replaced Gerry Thompson as trustee of the trophy. The entry from the Kimberley Hi-Grades had already been cancelled.

Trail Red Devils won the trophy last year.

Joe Medwick hit in 12 consecutive games for Brooklyn during which he banged out 26 hits in 58 trips for an average of .448.

Michigan Team Scored by Scribe

LANSING, Mich., Oct. 14 (AP)—The Michigan State News, campus publication of Michigan State College, in an editorial today criticized the football policy of the University of Michigan and declared "They can't be accused of character building down there."

The editorial under the by-line of Tom Greene, Managing Editor of the State News, brought a statement from Clark L. Brody, member of the State Board of Agriculture, governing body of the college, that he would inquire into the publication of the editorial. He said he considered some intemperate language had been used.

Bitter football rivals, Michigan State has lost its last four contests to Michigan, the last time by a 19-7 score in the first game of the year for both schools.

Greene's editorial bore the caption "Let's All Sing H——l to Michigan, the Champions of the West!"

The article opened with a statement accusing the University of Michigan of a lack of courtesy in this year's game between the two schools at Ann Arbor, declaring failure of the Michigan band to play State's Alma Mater at the half was "an arrogant sneer."

The article asserted Michigan sent tickets to the game to Michigan State which gave spectators an unsatisfactory view.

Three Recruits Sign Detroit Contracts

DETROIT, Oct. 14 (AP)—Detroit Red Wings today signed three rookies to contracts as Manager Jack Adams continued to send his squad of 40 through two practice sessions a day in preparation for the National Hockey League season.

The recruits are Johnny Holota of Guelph, Ont.; Jerry Brown of Edmonton, and Defenceman Cully Simon of Brockville, Ont. Holota is 21 years old, Simon 23 and Brown 26.

It was believed Holota would start the season with the Wings as utility man. The other two rookies quite likely will go to Detroit farm clubs at Indianapolis, Ind., or Omaha, Neb.

St. Louis Flyers Start Training

PORT ARTHUR, Oct. 14 (CP).—Headed by Manager John McKinnon, the vanguard of St. Louis Flyers, American Hockey Association champions, are here preparatory to opening Fall training.

They are Ed McAneeley, a goalie from Humboldt, Sask., Nick Becker and Clifford Culling from Kendal, Sask., and William Cairns from Regina.

Four other Flyers, Centre Freddie Hergert from Calgary, Goalie Alex Wood from Ottawa, and the Smith brothers, Nakina and Winkle, are expected to arrive tonight or tomorrow.

Mitchell expects to practice once daily for the first three or four days, stepping up to two sessions daily thereafter. The camp will break up Nov. 2.

Among other amateurs expected to report is John Kukkula, Port Arthur-born defenceman, who played last Winter with Yorkton Terriers in the Saskatchewan Senior League, Allan and Robert Powell from Swift Current, Sask.; Donald Robbins from Yorkton, Sask.; Douglas Taylor, Windsor, Ont.; John McEvoy, Ottawa, and Bud Cashner, Regina.

Welland Calls In 14 Youngsters to Hockey Training

HERSHEY, Pa., Oct. 14 (AP) — Cooney Welland, newly-appointed coach of Hershey Bears, today called skating practice for 20 players he has assembled at the training camp of the American Hockey League Club.

Six of those on the ice, engaged in skating without sticks and in medicine-ball tossing, were members of last year's Bears. The 14 others are ambitious youngsters, seeking berths with the Bears or the parent club, Boston Bruins, National League champions and Stanley Cup holders.

One of the youngsters is Dave Bauer, 16-year-old brother of Bobby Bauer of the Bruins' Kraut line. A lightweight, only 135 pounds, Dave hopes to catch on with the Bears for seasoning.

There are four Regina youngsters, three of them members of last year's Junior Generals of that city: Cyril Blegler, 18, and Lloyd Gronsdal, 20, right wingers, and John Lancien, 18, defence. The fourth Regina boy is Frank Mario, 20, who played centre and right wing with Regina Rangers, Allan Cup champions.

Also at the camp are Jack McGill, Edmonton centre player who played for Nanaimo Intermediates last year; and Chuck Milliman, defence of Stratford, Ont., and Calgary.

Of last season's Bear players, those on skates today were Nick Damore, goalie; Bobby Kirk, left wing; Wally Kilrea, centre; Hank Lauzon, defence; Howie Mackie, right wing, and Rogers Jenkins, defence.

Of the remaining members of last year's team, Welland expects Gordon Pettinger, centre, Orville Roulston, defence, and Vinc Germann, right wing, to report shortly, and also Kilby MacDonald and Jack Riley, purchased from New York Rangers.

TWO-PIECE FROCK IS NEWS

Marian Martin

PATTERN 9763

Fashion dictates the Two-Piece Frock—to make you look slender, to mix-and-match with the rest of your wardrobe! Marian Martin designs the smartest two-piecer of all, Pattern 9763. The jacket buttons crisply down the front, with a set-in belt that hugs your waist. The sleeves may be cut short instead of long. The skirt has just enough flare, and it's easy to make, too, with only four sections. If you like, you may also make a very good-looking one-piece shirtwaist frock from this pattern instead as shown. Either version looks well in wool or crepe, either one fills that "fashion must" for smart street wear; both are easy to make with the Sew Chart!

Pattern 9763 may be ordered only in misses' and women's sizes 12, 14, 16, 18, 20, 30, 32, 34, 36, 38 and 40. Size 16, jacket and skirt, requires 2⅞ yards 54 inch fabric. ½ocCr

Send twenty cents for this Marian Martin pattern. Be sure to write plainly your SIZE, name, address and style number. Send your order to The Daily News, Pattern Department, Nelson. Pattern will be sent to your home within 10 days.

R.A.F. Attacks Axis Gas Trucks in Libya

CAIRO, Oct. 14 (CP) — Long lines of gasoline trucks bringing up fuel for the Axis forces on the Egyptian-Libyan frontier were attacked yesterday by Royal Air Force planes of the Middle East Command.

"A large number of trucks" and their trailers were destroyed in the attack, carried out between Tripoli, the principal port of entry in Western Libya, one of the Axis bases behind the front.

R.A.F. bombers also attacked oil storage facilities at Piraeus, the port of Athens, Greece, thus extending the campaign against Axis oil supplies. Fires were started in this raid.

Says Italians Would Welcome Invasion

LONDON, Oct. 14 (CP Cable) — David Edge, a British singer who returned from Italy in an exchange of prisoners, told the overseas club today that before he left for Britain an Italian general asked him to try to persuade the people of England to do everything possible to invade my country."

Edge said the general explained he considered this "the only way in which we will get rid of the German overlordship which is now squeezing the life out of the Italian people."

B. C. POTATO CROP CUT BY HEAVY RAINS

VICTORIA, Oct. 14 (CP) — The potato crop of British Columbia has been reduced 30 per cent by recent heavy rains, according to H. S. McLeod, Dominion Government potato inspector here.

Mr McLeod said prevalence of the flea beetle, which has come from Washington State, has also hit the crop.

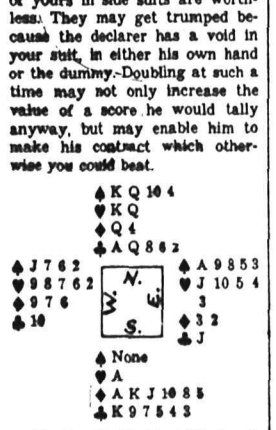
CONTRACT . . . By Shepard Barclay

BEWARE OF LONG SUITS

IF THE BIDDING is at all strange, indicating the probable possession of extremely long suits by your opponents, you may find during the play that any honors of yours in side suits are worthless. They may get trumped because the declarer has a void in your suit, in either his own hand or the dummy. Doubling at such a time may not only increase the value of a score he would tally anyway, but may enable him to make his contract which otherwise you could beat.



(Dealer: South. East-West vulnerable.)

South	West	North	East
1 ♦	Pass	2 NT	Pass
4 ♣	Pass	5 NT	Pass
6 ♣	Pass	7 ♣	Dbl

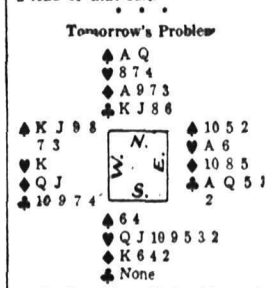
What a sad story this deal was for East, who counted on taking one trick with his spade A, and therefore decided that a double was a good way to shoot for top on the hand in a social duplicate. West decided to lead his spade 6, so that the 10 forced the A, and South ruffed.

From there on South could run five more tricks in clubs, six in diamonds and one in hearts. He even held two more heart tops and two spade tops, which he of course could not use, as 17 trick-takers can never take more than 13 tricks unless you change the rules of the game.

East should have considered himself amply warned by the bidding to keep his mouth shut. After South's 1-Diamond, a bid like North's 2-No Trumps would normally be followed by only 3-Clubs, as that would be sure to stay open. But South had made the rare bid of a jump after a jump. This would have made anybody think the two suits were of at least five cards in length. When North then went soaring to 5-No Trumps and South bid 6-Clubs, that should have made it sound like a couple of six-carders, plus a singleton and a void. East's double was very bad in those circumstances, especially since it might have made his partner think he wanted to trump diamonds and so might have caused a lead of that suit.

• • •

Tomorrow's Problem



(Dealer: East. Both sides vulnerable.)

How many tricks should South take on this deal, playing at 4-Hearts, if the defenders offer him a perfect defense?

Sheep Creek Gold Up Cent in Quiet Trade

VANCOUVER, Oct. 14 (CP) — Few price changes were registered during light trading on Vancouver Stock Exchange today. Transfers totalled 17,000 shares.

Privateer Gold at 53 and Sheep Creek at 91 both gained a cent and Bayonne closed fractionally higher at 5. Unchanged were Golconda at 6, Premier at 75 and Premier Border at 2.

Home Oil slipped a cent to 2.30 while Model at 17½ gained a fraction and Mill City remained unchanged at 7. Other oils and base metals were inactive.

Declines Marked in Wall St. Trade

NEW YORK, Oct. 14 (AP). — Prolonged tension over the outcome of the battle for Moscow impaired the stock market's resistance today after a spotty rally in the early proceedings. Declines predominated at the close.

Canadian stocks were slightly off. Walkers declined ⅛ and Distillers Seagram ½. In the bond market Canada 4s were ¼ point lower.

Firmer Undertone at Chicago Close

CHICAGO, Oct. 14 (AP). — Late rallies in cotton-seed oil and soybeans following announcement by Senator Bankhead (D.-Ala.) of plans to call a conference to urge loans for these commodities imparted a firmer undertone to all futures just before the close today.

British Wheat and Sugar Stocks High

LONDON, Oct. 14 (CP Cable). — The Ministry of Food announced today that Britain's stocks of wheat and sugar have "reached a state where it is no longer necessary to build up any more reserves."

Wheat stocks are larger than at any time since the outbreak of war, arrivals having formed a much larger proportion of actual loading in exporting countries than the Ministry had anticipated.

"This means we will be able to devote shipping to more attractive foods than these bulk commodities and the nation will benefit in a greater variety of diet," the Ministry added.

SIX MONTHS HARD LABOR ON BLACK MARKET CASE

LONDON, Oct. 14 (CP).—Maurice Friedlander, 47, a London general agent, today was sentenced to six months' imprisonment at hard labor and fined £300 ($1335), when convicted on "black market" charges of offering for sale 46,800 tins of fruit at prices above the official maximum.

In another case, Joseph Collier, 23, an army deserter, was sentenced to three years after pleading guilty of stealing goods which eventually found their way onto the black market.

Large Liberal Reception at Nakusp for Popular Wife of Works Minister; Mrs. Leary Reminisces on Girlhood

NAKUSP, B. C., Oct. 14—To honor Mrs. Florence Leary, wife of the Minister of Public Works, lady members of Nakusp Liberal Association and others entertained at a large tea here Tuesday afternoon.

Voted the best reception yet held in Nakusp, the keynote of which is Mrs. Leary's popularity, the affair lent itself, to a tangible expression of gratitude to "Florence" for the sincerity of purpose behind her every endeavor to promote the welfare of the people of, Kaslo-Slocan riding.

A profusion of Autumn leaves and flowers arranged in the "V-for-Victory" symbol added a solemn note to the gathering, and reflected the artistic ingenuity of Mrs. Frank Rushton, convener of the tea, and her helpers in making the affair a most interesting event.

Pouring from a V-shaped table were Mrs. Jordan Williams, mother of Mrs. Leary; Mrs. G. H. Gardner, Sr., Mrs. R. Islip and Mrs. F. Dagleish. Assisting in serving were Mrs. N. A. Herridge, Mrs. G. McIntosh, Mrs. D. Chadwick, Mrs. O. Salstrom, Mrs. H. Tyeman, Mrs. J. Dolman, Mrs. E. Munn, Mrs. J. Harris, Mrs. G. Gill, Mrs. J. Norris, Mrs. Karsten and Miss C. Salstrom.

Mrs. J. Parent, Sr., and Mrs. R. Buerge received the guests.

TELLS ANECDOTES

Several amusing anecdotes were related to the informal gathering by Mrs. Leary, particularly about the turn of the century, when the Arrow Lakes district began coming into its own. Her father, the late F. W. Jordan, settled at Nakusp in 1893, she said. When a child, she was sent to the old All Hallows school for girls at Yale, B. C., and a fond recollection to this day was the crossing of the Fraser River above Yale in the original "Cariboo Bucket"—a dangerous contrivance used for ferrying miners and Indians across the river. The frail cable structure of the invention gave passengers a never-to-forgotten experience.

Subsequently Mrs. Leary went to Nelson, and became a nurse-in-training at the Kootenay Lake General Hospital during the last war. When the new hospital was erected, she became the first probationer.

Kaslo-Slocan will always be "home" to Mrs. Leary for in its environs she derives great pleasures from outdoor life—gardening, fishing, hunting and riding.

MRS. C. S. LEARY

Recalling scenes from British Columbia's political history, which she had witnessed, Mrs. Leary declared that the late Mary Ellen Smith, President of the Council in the John Oliver Government, had "sown the seeds of true Liberalism in her fight for social legislation," and further, "set the precedent for women to play a vital role in shaping our way of life for the future, and the work of reconstruction and planning when our soldiers return home from a glorious victory."

Mrs. Rushton, in her opening remarks, described Mrs. Leary as a "campaigner comparable to her husband." She told her listeners that "Florence" was a regular attender at the debates and discussions on the floor of the Legislature and had a vivid understanding of British Columbia's economic problems.

Edmonton Petitioner Granted Divorce at Nelson Fall Assizes

Alice Helen McCoy of Edmonton on Tuesday was granted a decree absolute, with costs, dissolving her marriage to Albert Henry McCoy of Rossland. Her petition for divorce was presented to Mr. Justice Smith at the brief Fall Assizes at Nelson, and following the submission of her own evidence and that of Joseph McDonell the decree was granted. No respondent was named.

C. H. Clegg of Clegg & Clegg, Rossland, acted for Mrs. McCoy.

Nelson Rotarians May Sponsor Ice Revue This Winter

The Nelson Rotary Club is considering holding an ice revue this Winter, but A. B. Gilker, who heads the organization committee, told the club Monday that it will be up to the Rotarians to aid the Nelson Figure Skating Club in developing talent.

Mr. Gilker pointed out that the Figure Skating Club would supply the basis of an ice revue. At least one international star would be brought in to serve as the feature attraction, with Trail and Nelson skaters filling out the revue.

Mr. Gilker said that the Vancouver Rotarians have had great success with affairs of this kind. There has been good results at Vernon, where the first year a Vancouver professional was employed for the Winter to teach the kiddies the fundamentals and to polish off the more experienced. Vernon Rotarians guaranteed the pro his salary, but they did not have to pay anything, as teaching fees more than made up his salary. Toward the end of the season the well known Mrs. Fraser was also brought in.

Temple Explains Courses and Value of School Cadets at Rotary Luncheon

The value of cadet training in high schools and a description of its extensive courses was presented by Roy Temple, of the Nelson High School teaching staff, to members of the Nelson Rotary Club at their weekly luncheon meeting at the Hume Hotel Monday.

Although the views of the parents and even the Government vary considerably, "the purpose of Cadets is constant in the minds of the students," Mr. Temple said. In this training they see a chance to "play soldier", accept responsibilities, handle rifles, in other words, "to be a man". Mental, moral and physical training is given the boys to fit them in case of national emergency to take their place in the fighting forces.

Cadet training, Mr. Temple explained, is voluntary in schools, except in British Columbia.

He told the Rotarians how the Cadet Corps were organized direct from Ottawa, the Nelson corps' designation being No. 1700. Canadian militia is now divided only into active and reserve, and cadets are in that reserve. Of course, of that 1700, many have in the course of time disbanded.

The officers in the Cadet Corps hold commissions directly from Ottawa, and their honorable discharges show that they have had commissions. This training, when a cadet enlists in active service, helps him to start as an N.C.O.

Cadet drill in all its phases is compulsory in B.C. schools from Grade X to Senior Matriculation inclusive, and now down to Grade VII it is compulsory to teach the boys squad drill at least.

INTERESTING COURSE

"There is real educational value in cadet training now," Mr. Temple said. 'It used to be drill, drill, drill with a very little rifle work. Now the course excites a tremendous amount of interest, and the boys are keen about it."

Mr. Temple said that the course consisted of physical training, signalling, map reading, first aid, field and woodscraft, scouting and patrolling.

Last year Cadets were made compulsory after the school term commenced, and as a result in the case of Nelson, only one of two physical periods could be utilized for the training. This was exclusive of an awkward squad after school for backward trainees. Now there are two periods a week, and it simplifies things greatly for proper instruction.

Likewise there has been a tremendous change in the manner of instruction. Now all instructors use the same methods as in the army. The cadets are first shown the entire drill in whatever phase is being taken, then it is broken up into portions, and the students learn it by numbers, and finally the instructor calls for the time allowed, and the students go through the drill.

CADETS TEACH CADETS

Mr. Temple said he teaches his officers, and then they in turn teach the other Cadets. In this way, respect is built up through the ranks.

There is now a movement to allow credits for the Cadet training as in other provinces, in view of the fact that the Cadets, especially the officers, spend a "terrific amount of time" on the course. At present no credits are awarded, though the course is compulsory. This training could be taken in lieu of any subject with the exception of English and History. There are also prospects of organizing Air Cadets in the schools.

Dummy rifles which were expected to be provided by the Government failed to arrive last year, so the boys themselves made their own rifles, mostly outside of school hours. The School Board was interested in buying cheap maple from a fire, and the boys made their own stocks and attached solid iron barrels.

Mr. Temple explained the courses taken by officers at Victoria and at Camp Sarcee, Calgary, which he has attended. He said that Ottawa was expected to go ahead with a scheme of affording school instructors lots of opportunities to attend these camps themselves, instead of the indifferent system of the present time.

There is a thorough inspection of Cadet Corps each year. The examining army officers are in the background except when physical education is being taken. Not everything in the course is attempted in the inspection, but the instructor has to furnish the examiners with a program.

Lt.-Col. George A. Hoover, who introduced the speaker, said that the bulk of the success of the Cadet movement in Nelson was due to the untiring efforts of Mr. Temple with the boys. He had taken special courses in connection with this work at Victoria and at Sarcee during his Summer holidays, and the results that Mr. Temple had produced with the Nelson Cadets, Mr. Hoover said, were wonderful.

Ald. C. W. Tyler, thanking Mr. Temple, was pleased that the City had a man fully qualified like Mr. Temple who gave his time up at all hours to instruct the Cadets.

J. R. McLennan, President, was in the chair.

LONDON COOKS ARE WAR-MINDED

LONDON (CP). — The pastry cooks have become particularly war minded a reporter says after a recent tour of the better known shops. "Confectioners are not content with making sham white icing covers for their wedding cakes," he writes, "but they are producing all sorts of ornaments such as silver balloon barrages, white bomber and fighter planes, tanks, anti-aircraft guns and other war kit to replace the sugar doves and gilded cupids of peacetime."
