Green-Clad Aussie Troops Push on Against Japs

By C. YATES McDANIEL
Associated Press Staff Writer

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, Australia, Oct. 2 (Friday). (AP)—Without meeting any Japanese opposition, hardened Australian soldiers made progress today through the mountains and jungles of New Guinea toward Menari, 46 miles North of Port Moresby, while Allied heavy bombers destroyed a large section of the important Wairopi bridge on the Japanese supply line, Allied Headquarters announced today.

The Japanese were being harried from the jungle and from the air by the Allied offensive in the Owen Stanley Mountains. The advancing Australians have advanced more than 10 miles over torturous terrain since they dislodged the Japanese from their advance point only 32 miles from Port Moresby.

"Ground forces continued to progress North of Nauro toward Menari," the Allied communique said today.

The communique gave no indication of the exact distances the Australians have advanced although it was considerably less than the previous day. Nauro is 42 miles North of Port Moresby and Menari is four miles North of Nauro.

BRIDGE BATTERED

Allied heavy bombers and fighters, the communique said, "executed a series of coordinated attacks on the Wairopi Bridge, which had been partially repaired during the night, making direct hits.

"A large section of the span was destroyed by high explosives; fires were started by incendiary strafing."

A spokesman said the bridge appeared to be a bottleneck in supplying Japanese forces from the main base at Buna.

The Japanese have kept up strong efforts to repair the bridge, across the Kumusi River. The Allies have been hitting at it from the air almost constantly and it was bombed four times yesterday by Flying Fortresses.

There was relatively little action elsewhere in the Southwestern Pacific area.

Headquarters said Allied fighters strafed communications and supply installations at Salamaua with cannon and machine gun fire and Allied fighters attacked barges and suplpy dumps at Buna, the Japanese base for their move into New Guinea.

In the vanguard of the Allied offenem yfortifications at Ioribaiwa fensive that had over-run strong Ridge of New Guinea and the thatched village of Nauro, 10 miles beyond, were campaigners from the Middle East, Syria and Crete.

UNIFORMS DYED

They had stolen a leaf from the Japanese tactics by the infiltration, outflanking and fanning out to rout the enemy so swiftly that he left valuable supplies in his flight. The khaki uniforms of the Aussies had been dyed green, forming fine camouflage in the rain-swept, jungle-clad mountainsides.

Australian and American Beaufighters and attack bombers made repeated attacks on Japanese positions and supply lines, centring their weight on Menair.

In the 10-mile advance from the Ioribaiwa Ridge, the Allied troops had to climb and descend 4000 feet of rough mountains, cut by only the crudest trails. Their advance was so swift, however, that the Japanese did not have time to build intermediary defences. Headquarters sources expected the advance to be slower as the Japanese were pushed closer to their supply base in the Buna-Gona area on the North coast.

The A.I.F. and militia include some of the best men sent out of Australia. They not only are well trained in warfare but they have had recent lessons in jungle fighting.

One reason for the Japanese retirement, as suggested by a correspondent in Australia, was a possible lack of ammunition, caused by Allied aerial assaults on bases and lines. Japanese strategy, therefore, might call for the shortening of their lines and the extending of Allied lines.

This observer suggested the enemy might make a stand at Menari, where concentrations of men and supplies have been observed.

Japs May Be Scouting for Willkie

CHUNGKING, Oct. 1 (AP)—A Japanese reconnaissance plane was seen scouting near Chungking for the third day today as public interest in the forthcoming visit of Wendell Willkie heightened despite the official secrecy with which his progress from Kuibyshev has been cloaked.

Authorities said no word could be expected until the announcement of Willkie's arrival—a precaution intended to safeguard towns along his route from Japanese bombing.

They said that the trip was taking somewhat longer than had been expected, but that his movements were known and there was no cause for anxiety.

The battle was reported still in progress and centering in the Nunnesib depression. British troops were said to have seized several strong points. Military observers expressed the view that the action mainly was to straighten the line and narrow the no-man's-land between the opposing armies.

F.D.R. RETURNS FROM SECRET 8000 MILE TRIP

Says Washington Far Behind Rest of Country in Spirit

By DOUGLAS CORNELL
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1 (AP)—President Roosevelt, completing today a secret inspection tour of war activities from border to border and coast to coast, expressed the firm conviction that the production in the U. S. is going along extremely well and that Washington is lagging far behind the rest of the country in war spirit.

At a special press conference, he said he had found war plants operating 95 per cent of efficiency with both labor and management travelling with all possible speed toward the goal of maximum output.

In saying that war spirit is not as high in Washington as elsewhere he cited these reasons:

1. Many members of Congress, seeking to justify their service to the war effort, are delving into questions which should be left to military experts.

2. A minority of the press and radio, which appears not to be really familiar with the country, was thinking in local terms and disseminating sententious news. While most stories are all right, he said, some do harm because they are not based on facts, and the greatest offenders are some commentators and columnists. The President declined to give specific examples.

3. Certain administration officials, who might well button up their lips. Some of these men, who do not have access to full information or possibly are publicity seekers, make picturesque speeches, he said. And sometimes they act under the impression that insufficient emphasis is being given to their particular fields.

Discussing his trip, which had been kept secret until the White House lifted the censorship veil today, Mr. Roosevelt remarked that there had been no suppression of news. The three representatives of major news services— AP, UP and INS—who accompanied him were given complete freedom he said.

The President had travelled 8754 miles in two weeks, through half the States and a sliver of Mexico. Dodging big cities wherever possible, he dropped in on 11 private war plants and on eight army, seven navy and two marine stations.

He saw soldiers, sailors and marines being toughened for battle, "wounded ships and wounded men" from battles already fought, and death-dealing war machines for land, air and sea forces rolling off assembly lines in growing volume. He observed how management and labor are trying to win the battle of production.

MORE MINERS TO GET OUT COAL DEMANDED

British Fuel Minister Declares "We Can Get Through"

By DOUGLAS AMARON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Oct. 1 (CP Cable)—Critics of Britain's coal production policy today aired their views of how to erase an 11,000,000-tons estimated deficit for the year after Maj. Gwilyn Lloyd George, Minister of fuel, expressed confidence in the House of Commons that despite the seriousness of the situation, "we can get through."

He spoke in a chamber in which the central heating was but off in line with the government's economy campaign and gave an order to the nation to produce more coal, use less and accept poorer quality.

Praising the success of the economy plan to date, Maj. Lloyd George indicated the government will try to get through the Winter without compulsory rationing, provided it receives full cooperation from consumers and producers.

David Grenfell, Labor's leading spokesman on coal problems, led the critics, whose main line of attack was that more men should be released from the armed forces or taken from industry and placed in the pits. The ministry of fuel, he said, should be careful not to rely on prospective savings "which are problematical."

He added, "get your coal in the bag (before) you weigh it . . . no one and nothing will get coal from the pits but men who go down in the mines and there aren't enough men."

Demands for more miners came from both sides of the House as Conservatives joined with Labor members in suggesting increased manpower in the mines as one solution.

Sir Arnold Gridley, Conservative also urged the recall of more miners from the forces and industry.

Mr. Grenfell declared "you cannot make war with cold feet" as he asserted 266,000 miners were trying to do the work of 324,000. He added "We may have to come to rationing but let me warn the house . . . We can break down for want of fuel in the munitions works and through poor people suffering from cold. There is nothing more demoralizing."

Prices Board to Pilot Small Business Through Regulations Sea

By JAMES McCOOK
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA, Oct. 1 (CP). — The small retailer, attempting to guide his business through the uncharted seas of wartime regulations, has a new pilot—a branch of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board.

Board officials said tonight the Management Service section of the Division of Simplified Practice has the special duty of assisting retailers with their wartime problems of price and supply, and is working with trade associations in surveying different types of retail outlets to see how they can best helped.

They cited the case of hardware stores, severely affected by restrictions in the supply of the commodities. Representatives of the section have met with hardware store operators in Ontario and Quebec, receiving suggestions and offering advice.

Drug, footwear and food surveys now are being conducted and means of assisting these branches of retail trade will also be sought.

To help business adjust itself to war conditions, the division cooperated with the Ontario Retail Hardware Association in the publication of a booklet suggesting to storekeeper ways in which they might make the best of conditions.

The storekeepers were advised to conserve items which cannot be replaced readily and to build up the sale of lines which can b obtaihd more easily from manufacturers.

Substitute lines should be considered and ideas for all substitutes passed on to manufacturers.

With new merchandise not available in various lines, retailers were advised to consider setting up a "re-sale goods department" to include the buying and selling of articles that have come into disuse or for other reasons are no longer required by customers. The storekeepers might also consider starting repair departments in their establishments, the booklet said.

Storekeepers should watch dormant stocks on their shelves and see whether someone else could see or use them to advantage. Rental services might be established so customers would have the use of articles they did not wish to buy.

Battle Sways Back and Forth in Decisive Moment

By EDDIE GILMORE
Associated Press Staff Writer

MOSCOW, Oct. 2 (Friday). (AP)—A German siege army of 300,000 men advanced slightly in the Northwestern outskirts of imperilled Stalingrad yesterday, but was forced out of another locality South of the City, the Red High Command announced today on the 39th day of siege.

In a situaton frankly described as Stalingrad's most decisive moment the Red Army garrison fought on in response to Joseph Stalin's telephoned command: "Hold firm! put down any panic!"

The German gain in the Northwestern industrial suburbs, the second reported in 24 hours, resulted on the sixth assault of the day, a midnight communique said:

"Only after the sixth attack did the Germans succeed in advancing a little," the communique said. "In the course of this fighting the enemy suffered heavy losses. On this sector alone our troops wiped out 900 Hitlerites."

The Russian success South of Stalingrad resulted in the cutting of German troops from a poulated place in a battle in which 300 Nazis were killed and six guns, 10 machine-guns, 15 trucks and three ammunition dumps were captured. Three enemy infantry companies were lost in German attempts to retake the point.

Dispatches late yesterday also reported the recapture by the Red Army of three Rumanian-held settlements in the same sector.

The Soviet relief offensive Northwest of Stalingrad on the German flank was still going on, but the Russians did not mention any new ground gains. Five German tanks, two artillery and three mortar batteries, however, were reported silenced by Red artillerymen.

German tanks and automatic riflemen also failed in an attemt to raid Soviet rear positions. Six more Nazi tanks and 300 automatic riflemen were reported to have been destroyed in that venture.

HOLD AT MOZDOK

The Russians said their Caucasian armies fighting at Mozdok and Southeast of Novorossisk on the Black Sea coast still were holding. Three German tanks, seven armored cars and 20 trucks with troops and ammunition were destroyed and 200 Nazis killed on two sectors of the Mozdok front, while another 500 of the enemy were reported wiped out below Novorossisk.

On the Northwestern front North of Moscow another 700 Germans were killed in unsuccessful assaults on Red Army positions.

The stalwart Russian stand at Stalingrad gratified all Russians, but sources here made no attempt to minimize the gravity of the Volga River city's position.

ADVANCE PAINFULLY

Official dispatches said the Germans were advancing painfully in the streets of the city, here a few dozen yards, there 200 yards. All around them there was the havoc and ruin wrought by 600 to 1000 German planes each day. Schools, hospitals, the public library, the University and the Palace of Physical Culture were piles of rubble; hundreds of civilians had lost their lives.

(The German High Command claimed that attacking Nazis "have driven several wedges further into the Northern part of the city" and asserted strong Soviet relief attacks from the North of Stalingrad were repulsed by counter-attack, with ly of British and American manufac-destruction of 98 Soviet tanks, moisture.

(Stockholm reports quoted by Reuters said, however, that these Russian relief attacks had broken the German defensive position at some points along the River Don Northwest of Stalingrad.)

WORKERS JOIN FIGHT

After 38 days of ordeal, factory workers who fought the civil war battle of Stalingrad, then Tsaritsin, 24 years ago, still were relieving Red Army men, and dispatches from the city were heavy with heroic detail of soldiers and civilians fighting from every ruined building, house and cellar, refusing to surrender.

The workers of two factories not only were assembling tanks under shell and bomb fire, but mechanics were manning the machines and wheeling them from the factory into the street battles.

U.S. Reaches Goal of 3 Ships a Day

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1 (AP.) — The Maritime Commission announced today that American shipyards had reached their promised goal of three ships a day by delivering 93 new cargo vessels with a deadweight tonnage of 1,009,800 in September.

This, the Commission said, was "the most outstanding ship production record ever achieved in world history."

Rear Admiral Howard L. Vickery, Vice Chairman of the Commission, said the achievement was proof shipyards could not only reach the President's goal of 8,000,000 deadweight tons in 1942 "but will have ample capacity to turn out the 16,000,000 tons set as the 1943 construction goal on the basis of available steel."

It is expected that the ban will mean a saving of 30,000 tons of transport each year.

Country Japanese Not Behind Rulers Missionary Tells Presbytery; Urge Use W.M.S. Workers in Shortage

Country people of Japan were not really with their present war-mongering rulers, Rev. W. R. McWilliams, returned missionary from Japan, told the Kootenay Presbytery of the United Church in the second day of its sessions here Thursday. He expressed the hope that Japanese Nationals in Canada would be settled where their work "could make a contribution".

Suggestions to enable points such as Castlegar, Wardner, and others, where there were no resident ministers, to be served were also heard. One means of meeting the wartime shortage of ministers, the placing of Women's Missionary Society workers in areas for which ministers could not be obtained, was advocated.

Opening devotions were led by Rev. A. A. Burnett of Greenwood. A number of other delegates arrived for the Wednesday sessions. They were Rev. and Mrs. H. J. Armitage and Miss Tate of Kaslo; Rev. W. R. Bunt of Vancouver, Superintendent of Missions; and Rev. W. R. McWilliams.

SHORTAGE DISCUSSED

Rev. S. T. Galbraith in his presentation of the Home Mission Report commended the fine work done on the Wardner field by Mr. Penny, a student for the ministry who worked during the Summer. Arrangements were suggested whereby Castlegar, Wardner, and other points where there were no resident ministers, could be served effectively. The difficulty of obtaining men under war conditions generated some discussion.

Rev. R. Stewart Forbes of St. Paul's United Church, speaking on overseas mission work, said the situation in North China was not really black by any means. It was encouraging to know, he said, that little congregations were still able to carry on in the absence of the missionaries. Forty per cent of the Government of China was Christian, Mr. Forbes said, yet only one-eighth of one per cent of the population accepted the Christian faith.

CHRISTIANS SAVE CHINA

Christians in China, stated the speaker, had been the means of putting up resistance against Japan. Otherwise China would have gone down just as France did. If there was one apologetic for Christian Missions, it was that they saved China.

Rev. A. A. Fulton, who had 10 years under Japanese rule, said he knew what would happen if British Columbia ever came under their jurisdiction. Where there was one policeman now, there would be 50, and "we would have to salute them". A rule was made that no book could be published, he said, unless the Japanese authorities had the author's name and address. Naturally this offered difficulties when missionaries introduced the Bible. Official Japanese authorities were prepared to help missionaries as far as they dare. Something depended on the way they were approached.

JAPANESE IN CANADA

Rev. W. R. McWilliams also described the work in Japan Missionaries did not ask for a life where difficulties were not present. Mr. McWilliams dealt in forceful fashion with the problems of Japanese Nationals in Canada. They were industrious work-loving people, and he hoped to see them settled where their work could make a contribution. He also said that the heart of Japan, the people in the country, places, were not really with their present rulers.

Miss Tate of Kaslo gave a graphic picture of her life in Japan, Korea and China. She dealt with the Japanese Sunday School at Kaslo, and said 196 scholars were enrolled.

Mrs. Armitage of Kaslo, President of the Women's Missionary Society of the Kootenay, advocated that the Church place a W.M.S. worker in areas where a regular minister could not be obtained.

Rev. R. E. Cribb dealt with the help given by the Publication Department of the Church. It had been a pioneer in Canadian literature, he said.

This statement was heartily endorsed by Rev. R. T. Armitage.

Devotions opening the afternoon sessions, were conducted by Rev. W.E.G. Dovey, of Ymir. He gave a fine and earnest spiritual opening to the meeting.

Rev. S. T. Galbraith presided over the Question Forum, dealing with the General Council held in Belleville, Ont., to which he was delegate. He answered many questions and spoke cogently on problems of salaries, pensions, and colleges.

START EVANGELISM

Rev. J. L. Clerihue of East Trail presented an account of missionary givings and stressed the importance of increased efforts in that direction. The evangelistic aspects of the efforts of the ministers' work were put forward by Rev. J. H. Mathews of Fernie.

"If we stressed evangelism more," he said, "we might not need to stress money-raising to the same extent."

Mrs. MacFarlane of Cranbrook spoke on the need for better environment for the young people, and she specially noted the menace of the increased number of beer parlors, and places where liquor could be obtained.

W. Spooner of Trail asserted that "If we give the people Christ they will give us the money."

Rev. W. P. Bunt visualized the general situation on the mission fields. The shortage of ministers was due partly to the demand for chaplains.

"We must see that the frontier is manned," he urged, "Each Presbytery must see the men are placed where they are most needed."

The Presbytery agreed to a series of preaching missions to be conducted by the ministers of the Presbytery. Special work in educating the people to the value of overseas missions will be done by Rev. A. A. Fulton of Creston, and Rev. H. Stewart Forbes of Nelson.

Volunteers Pour Cement Tonight for Trout Pond

Cement footings for the third trout nursery pool at the Nelson Fish Hatchery will be poured tonight. J. J. McEwen, Rod and Gun Club President, stated Thursday night that in response to an appeal for assistance in finishing the job, six men turned out, one of them a newcomer, and that by tying into the job, they accomplished a good deal.

Three of the volunteers put in forms for the footings, and the others built a rough road and hauled a cement mixer into position. The mixer was placed so that it will be unnecessary to use wheelbarrows.

Mr. McEwen plans to have gravel and cement hauled to the site today so that pouring of the footings can go ahead.

"We still need lots of help," he said, "and the more who turn out, the quicker we'll be finished. It won't be hard work—no heavy lifting, no puddling in water—but it will take willing hands to finish the job."

Border Officials to Explain Gas Ration to Visitors

Border officials have been instructed to fully inform Americans crossing the Boundary about gas rationing the Nelson Board of Trade was informed in a letter from the Department of National Revenue.

The letter from the Department stated it was difficult to obtain definite information on this case, but Border officials had been instructed to explain gas rationing fully.

Road to Lardeau Would Cost $225,000—Hart

To build a road from Shutty Bench to Lardeau would cost $225,000, and "no funds are available at present for so large an undertaking" Premier John Hart has informed the Nelson Board of Trade. The Board recently proposed to him that the road should be built with Japanese labor as a means of keeping the Japs employed.

In the belief that the Japanese are a federal responsibility, the Board will now endeavor to find out whether the Dominion Government will contribute to their employment on such a project.

Premier Hart's letter and a letter from Frank Putnam, M.L.A., giving similar information, were received b ythe Board Council at its luncheon meeting Thursday. Mr. Putnam also stated that at the time the Japanese started coming to his distric he arranged a Vicoria fo ra road camp on the Nelson-Nelway route but before it could be established this section was made a protected area and the project had to be abandoned.

Mrs. McGauley at Castlegar for 19 Years

ROSSLAND, B.C.—Funeral of Mrs. Katherine Theresa McGauley, of Castlegar, wife of R. E. McGauley, will be held Saturday at Rossland. She died Wednesday in Mater Misericordiae Hospital, Rossland, after five months illness.

Born in Woodriver, Neb., in 1879, she went as a child with her parents to Montrose, Colo., and then to Hartline, Wash., where she attended school.

On January 3, 1900, at Hartline, she was married to Robert Ernest McGauley. They lived afterward in Sheridan, Wash., Seattle and Northport.

About 22 years ago they entered Canada and settled at Castlegar. Except for two years at Slocan City, Castlegar has been the family home since.

Nelson Women See Bear in Apple Tree on North Shore

An apple-loving Bruin interrupted a Wednesday afternoon stroll along the North Shore, of two Nelson women.

Mrs. William Brown and Mrs. Albert Brown, her daughter-in-law, returning from Willow Point, turned in at the E. C. Wragge Summer home. Just as they were about to enter the grounds, their attention was attracted by an apple tree shaking violently and apples falling to the ground. Watching, they saw a brown bear descend the tree, regard his handiwork, and, apparently dissatisfied, climbed up the tree again to shake down more apples. On his second descent he turned to view the unexpected visitors.

The visit was abandoned.

There have been reports of bears and numerous deer doing damage to North Shore orchards. Recently a cougar was reported to have been seen farther up the Shore.

Aliens in Canada May Become "Declarant" Citizens to Join Army

OTTAWA, Oct. 1 (CP).—Extensive changes in Canada's naturalization, immigration and recruiting regulations to place friendly aliens within the compulsory service draft law, were announced today.

These will make all aliens except those from enemy countries liable to the same call-up now applicable to Canadian citizens, affecting an estimated 30,000 men between the ages of 19 and 40.

Aliens from the United States and from those countries engaged in training their own nationals in Canada will have the option of serving under their own flags.

Neutral aliens and those whose countries are not training forces in Canada or who are "stateless" will be required to serve in the Canadian forces or, if they refuse, to face the penalty of deportation when such is physically possible.

Today's announcements supplement that of War Services Minister Thorson, made yesterday, in which it was announced that henceforth the compulsory service laws would apply to aliens.

In effecting these changes the Government has amended the naturalization laws to permit aliens to become "declarant" citizens without completing five years' residence before applying for naturalization. This conforms with the United States laws.

By an amendment to the Recruiting act such "declarant" citizens, if their declaration is accepted, become automatically subject to the compulsory service laws but acquire no citizenship rights until they have completed the naturalization procedure.

But aliens will be liable to call for compulsory service whether or not they have made a declaration of desire to become citizens.

The only privileged aliens will be those from enemy countries. They have become "declarant" citizens.

This opens the way for enemy aliens who are at heart loyal to Canada and desire to accept obligations as citizens to place themselves under the compulsory service laws.

This "declarant" provision becomes effective January 1, 1943.

OTTAWA, Oct. 1 (CP).—Aliens serving in Canada's forces overseas in future may become Canadian citizens at the discretion of the Secretary of State without waiting the required five years, an External Affairs spokesman announced today at a Press conference.

An Order-in-Council has been passed under the War Measures Act relaxing the naturalization laws for the benefit of aliens who enlisted in Canada's armed forces and have gone overseas. It will not apply to aliens who are serving in Canada.

Under the Naturalization Act, no person can obtain naturalization until they have lived in Canada five years. They have to apply to the courts and a judge passes on their eligibility, after which the Secretary of State has discretion as to whether he will permit them to become citizens of this country.

The new Order-in-Council will provide a short cut. Aliens in the overseas forces will apply to the Secretary of State for naturalization papers and the Minister may grant their request if he sees fit—regardless of how long they have lived in this country.

The step is an appreciation to the aliens who have joined Canada's fighting forces. Officials said, however, that the machinery for granting this privilege has yet to be set up, so the aliens must wait a few weeks at least before their applications can be handled.

Freeze All U.S. Train Passenger Schedules and Ban Special Trips

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1 (AP). — Director Joseph B. Eastman of the Office of Defence Transportation, today ordered the "freezing" of all United States railway passenger schedules and ruled out the operation of special trains to football games, races and other sporting events.

The order, effective October 4, restricts railroads to the passenger train schedules existing on September 26, forbids the running of any special passenger trains or the addition of new trains to existing schedules.

It also bans the running of extra sections to regular trains unless such sections have been run at least 20 per cent of the time during the last 90 days to handle the normal flow of passenger traffic.

Also, under the order, no railroad may operate a passenger train which includes a car "chartered to, or the use of which by prior arrangement is restricted to an individual or group of persons travelling together."

This would rule out special cars, or cars chartered to baseball teams or travelling orchestras. This prohibition, however, does not apply to cars used by railroad officials or employees on railroad business.

OTTAWA, Oct. 1 (CP).—Railway travel restrictions ordered in the United States today are more widespread than those now in effect in Canada.

Restrictions have been applied to excursion rates on Canadian railways, and in a recent statement Munitions Minister Howe called for a reduction of all unnecessary travel and suggested that organizations should cancel conventions to ease the strain on overtaxed railways.

Lord Lovat, Commando Chief, Makes Blistering Attack on Labor Peer's Article in Collier's

LONDON, Oct. 1 (CP).—Lt.-Col. Lord Lovat, veteran of Commando raids on Lofoten, Boulogne and Dieppe, carried his slashing tactics to the floor of the House of Lords today with a blistering attack on Lord Strabolgi, Labor Peer.

"Bunkum" was the Scottish Peer's description of Lord Strabolgi's article in the September 22 issue of Collier's magazine, entitled, "What Is Wrong With the British Army?"

"The sentiment of this article is the sentiment of an irresponsible politician making cheap capital out of men in the forces who are unable to except through an unworthy mouthpiece like myself to make a suitable reply," Lord Lovat said.

Saying he commanded men from 38 regiments, Lord Lovat, who led his men into the mouths of Nazi guns during the Canadian-spearhead raid on Dieppe, declared, "If any tub-thumping politician came round and attacked their leaders' policy there would be only one answer—the nearest horse trough."

The galleries were crowded when Lord Lovat, in army uniform, arose to ask the Government whether the censor had passed Lord Strabolgi's article.

Lord Strabolgi, a former lieutenant-commander in the Royal Navy, sat alone taking notes while the Commando chieftain pictured him as "mounted on a variety of hobby-horses, careening like a knight errant across the pages of Collier's."

The article was branded by Lord Lovat as "not constructive" and he declared further that it furnished information to enemy propagandists. In addition, he asserted, it proposed to inject politics into the army.

Remarking that Lord Strabolgi seemed to think there is more democracy in the Nazi promotion system than under the British plan, Lord Lovat replied to Lord Strabolgi's assertion that Field Marshal Erwin Rommel would still be a corporal if he were in the British Army by saying that Rommel had 32 years of service before attaining the rank of field marshal.

"Reading Collier's magazine," Lord Lovat added, "one would assume that after a whiff of grapeshot he was given a baton."

The Government in effect disavowed the Strabolgi article when Lord Cranborne, answering Lord Lovat, said "I think a regrettable error was made in passing this article but we must learn by our mistakes and see that they do not occur again." Lord Cranborne is Colonial Secretary and Government spokesman in the Upper House.

The Duke of Wellington, fifth bearer of that illustrious military name, who was in uniform, said the article was "calculated to sow seeds of mistrust" between United States and British forces.

Lord Strabolgi, chief Labor whip in the House of Lords, replied to his 31-year-old critic that he did not withdraw "one single word of the article or the sentiments behind it." He added, however, that he had not condemned either the field leadership which Lord Lovat represents or the British soldiers whom he leads.

Lord Strabolgi's article in the magazine said, in part:

"Not only is the British Army still organized on a class basis, but in practice is dominated by a clique within a class . . .

"Even now it is easier for a young man of no marked ability who belongs to the right class to be commissioned and get subsequent promotion than for a brilliant natural leader of working class origin to gain advancement. But matters are improving. . . ."

Parcels Arrive for Hong Kong Prisoners

LONDON, Oct. 1 (CP Cable).—A Reuters News Agency dispatch today said thousands of tons of parcels for British war prisoners had arrived in Hong Kong aboard the repatriation vessel Kamakura Maru.

TORONTO, Oct. 1 (CP).—Canadian Red Cross officials said today the shipment of parcels reported to have arrived at Hong Kong for British war prisoners included 34,000 food parcels for the Canadians captured there last December.

Besides the food, the Canadian Society sent 106 cases of drugs, cigarets and dehydrated vegetables and fruit juice for the use of the Canadians.

Nazis Claim 161 Allied Ships Sunk, September

BERLIN, Oct. 1 (AP).—The German High Command claimed today that German submarines and bombers sank 161 British and American merchant ships totalling 1,011,700 tons during September and damaged 22 others.

In addition, a communique declared, German surface warships and U-boats sank six destroyers, two auxiliary cruisers and three motor torpedoboats, and damaged three destroyers, while German planes sank one cruiser, five destroyers, several patrol escort vessels and numerous motor torpedo boats and landing boats.

(No announcement of losses even approximating this extent has been made by British and American authorities, and numerous recent naval victory claims have been declared officially to be false or greatly exaggerated.)

The High Command said U-boats "operating off the mouth of the Orinoco River (Venezuela), in waters off Freetown (West Africa) and off Newfoundland, as well as in the central part of the Northern Atlantic" had sunk 126 merchantmen totalling 689,200 tons during September.

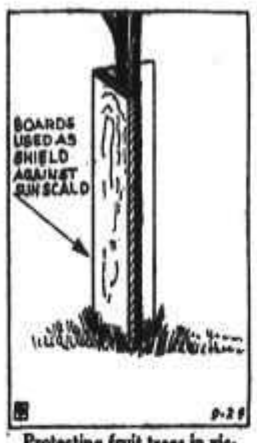
Protect Newly Planted Trees

BY DEAN HALLIDAY

Newly planted trees often need protection from sun scald until they have become acclimated to their new location.

If the tree has been growing in a nursery row where many have been planted close together, thus shading each other, it may need protection against sun burn when planted in the open.



Protecting fruit trees in victory gardens

As illustrated, the best way to prevent "winter injury" or sun scald to newly planted trees is to nail two boards together at right angles to each other, then placing them on the south side of the tree. This shields the trunk of the tree from the burning rays of the sun.

Wrapping the trunk with burlap is another effective way to combat winter injury. These wrappings should be left in place for at least two Summers. Sun scald weakens a tree and invites borers.

SERIAL STORY.....By Marie Blizard

MARK'S WIFE

SYNOPSIS

Barbara Wister, former actress, finds herself a widow at 27, when her husband,

Mark, a newspaperman-turned-author, dies in South Wintridge, the small town in which they had taken up residence. Because they and the townspeople had practically nothing in common, there has been only one person sympathetic with her. He is

Dr. Tony Bradshaw, young physician of the town.

Miss Addie Bradshaw, Tony's aunt keeps house for him, and takes care of his office. Owner of the big mill in town is wealthy

Tom Kilcran.

Yesterday: Barbara idly thinks of the triangle formed by Tony's house, her own house, and Stormwold, the big Kilcran mansion.

CHAPTER SIX

Stormwold glistened in the morning sunlight. The copper-colored roof and the white painted brick, the brass knocker on the big black door all seemed to shine as if they had been washed by the chauffeur, Fleming, who was washing a smart tan roadster that stood in the gravel drive back of the garage that had once been a carriage house. Even the shrubs had a clean-swept look, now that the gardeners had raked the leaves and were burning them in fragrant fires at the edges of the rolling terraces. A maid in starched pink morning uniform opened windows in a room on the second floor. A houseman with a green baize apron over his striped waistcoat opened the black door and took a handful of mail from the box beside it.

Curtains were flung wide in another window on the upstairs floor and a girl appeared there, her scarlet sweater making a bright accent against the white brick and black shutters that framed her. The sun caught the glint of her shoulder-length hair that was like corn silk and it lighted her finely chiseled face. She looked out eagerly, scanning the countryside to which she had been a stranger for more than a year. Like a puppy, she sniffed remembered scents and her face was young and eager for the briefest moment before resuming its expression of cool arrogance as a voice spoke from the bed:

"Parker!"

The girl, Pamela, turned from the window. "It's not Parker. I brought your tray up. It's after eleven."

"Oh, it's you, Pamela." Her mother's voice contrived somehow to sound both petulant and cold. "Where's Parker?"

"When last seen she was headed for the garage, where, I expect, she's encouraging the new chauffeur with demure glances."

She crossed the room and threw herself full-length on a chaise lounge covered with pale blue satin. She wore a white silk shirt and jodphurs, and her scarlet sweater was flung over her shoulders and tied by its sleeves beneath her firm chin. There was a small scarlet bow in her hair. She looked rather like an elongated little girl in boys' clothes—until you looked at her face. It was a young replica of the face of the woman in the Empire bed, and its expression was contemplative as her gaze rested on her mother.

She said, "Parker is a bright lass. She picks up the—shall we say the manners?—of her betters."

"Don't be insolent, Pam," her mother answered. She slipped a chiffon breakfast jacket over her lace gown and made a mound of pillows at her back. They were covered in sea-green and pale blue satin, her colors, she thought with pleasure.

She reached for a long-handled mirror on the table beside the bed and looked into it with satisfaction while she drew off the tulle bandeau that covered her ash-blond hair. Thirty, she thought, I don't look a day over thirty, even in the morning light. And she was very nearly right. Another woman would have given her thirty-five. She was forty-two.

Pamela took a cigaret out of a white jade box and lighted it. "I wasn't being insolent," she said, "I think I meant to be insulting."

Her mother put down the mirror and gave her a long glance. "Did you?" she asked. She poured coffee into an egg-shell cup and pushed the sugar toward the back of the tray. "Any particular reason?"

Pam sat up abruptly and squashed out her cigaret. She said evenly, "The moment of reckoning, or something, seems to be at hand, Claire. I think perhaps we might try talking things over."

"There isn't anything to talk over. You know why I've brought you home. I've been perfectly honest with you."

Doctors View New Developments in Medical Science

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

The annual meeting of the American Medical Association is for most doctors in North America the greatest post-graduate educational opportunity of the year. The lecture sessions in every branch and specialty of medicine present papers which represent the newes discoveries and investiations.

A feature of the session, the scientific exhibit, has grown during the last few years until it is really first in educational value.

ACTUAL EXHIBITS

These exhibits, entirely non-commercial in character, are set up by private doctors to show the work they have been doing in their home town hospitals, clinics or laboratory.

A doctor hears of some treatment given in a far away city; he would like to go see it for himself. But he hears of five or six of these during the year; and when he gets to the American Medical Association meeting he finds that they all have been brought together under one roof.

Most of these lectures and exhibits are too technical to attempt to recount for a lay audience. Some of general interest at the 1942 session were:

BALLISTOGRAPH

The Ballistograph—a sort of bed table, very finely balanced and sensitive which records the pulsations of the heart. The old doctor of the last century used to have a trick of diagnosing a certain kind of valvular disease of the heart by the rhythmic shaking of the patient's bed. The ballistograph makes a record of this nature which has been scientifically analyzed.

As the blood is pumped headward by the heart the whole body is jolted just as from the kick of a gun. Not only heart diseases of various kinds, but the effect of exercise, drug action, fever, blood transfusion, etc. can be recorded.

Dissolving kidney stones without operations is a still persistent hope of patients. A method of doing this developed in Boston was shown. But unfortunately for the hope of patients it cannot be undertaken by mouth, but is injected by instrumentation into the kidney pelvis.

Immersion foot is one of the diseases developed in this war, as trench mouth and trench kidney developed in the last. It is the result of long exposure to cold, damp and water while adrift at sea in open boats. Immersion foot is similar to frost bite, in the lack of movement, along with cold, constricts the blood vessels of the legs.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

V. V. A.—Does spitting up blood necessarily mean tuberculosis? I had my lungs x-rayed a year ago and there was no sign. Since then I've had a baby and have been very run down.

Answer: Spitting of blood means tuberculosis in 98 per cent of cases. It may be an early sign. Pregnancy activates an early tuberculosis.

Hints for Housewives

By BETSY NEWMAN

Stuffed Green peppers make an appetizing method of using left-overs of meat and vegetables. If you haven't any left overs and would like to serve green peppers stuffed anyhow, try this tomato-liverwurst stuffing. Mother can prepare most of this menu early in the day (the dessert the day before) and go gaily off to her war duties.

TODAY'S MENU

Tomato-Liverwurst Peppers
Baked Potatoes
Buttered Parsnips
Lettuce or Cabbage Salad
Butterscotch Icebox Cake
Coffee

BUTTERSCOTCH ICEBOX CAKE

1 package butterscotch pudding, 2 cups milk, 1 cup whipping cream, 2 dozen ladyfingers.

Pour contents of package into top of double boiler; add milk gradually, stirring constantly. Cook over boiling water until thickened, about ten minutes, stirring all the while, then cook six minutes longer, stirring frequently. Cool, stirring occasionally. When cold stir in whipped cream. Arrange layer of ladyfingers on bottom and sides of one-quart mold or one-loaf pan lined with wax paper. Turn half the pudding into mold, cover with ladyfingers; turn remaining pudding into mold and top with another layer of ladyfingers. Chill twelve to twenty-four hours in refrigerator (not in freezing unit). Unmold to serve. Serves six to eight.

TOMATO-LIVERWURST PEPPERS

6 medium-sized green peppers, ¾ pound ground beef, 1 tablespoon melted shortening, 2 tablespoons minced onion, 3 tablespoons chopped parsley, 1½ cups soft bread crumbs, 3 tablespoons melted butter or shortening, 1½ cups chopped liverwurst, ¾ cup cooked tomatoes, ½ teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon pepper, 3 tablespoons buttered crumbs

Remove slice from top of each pepper; cut away seed core and membraine, and pre-cook in boiling, salted water for five minutes. Drain. Saute meat in one tablespoon hot melted shortening in heavy frying pan. Combine onion, parsley, soft crumbs, three tablespoons melted butter or shortening, liverwurst, sauteed meat, tomatoes and seasonings, and fill peppers with mixture; top with buttered crumbs and meat drippings. Bake, covered, in baking pan containing about one-quarter inch water in moderately hot oven (400 degrees F.) for twenty minutes or until peppers are tender. Remove cover to brown crumbs. Five to ten minutes. Serves six.

BLITZED HAMBURGER

A Delicious New Wartime Dish

GRIND UP finely 2 lbs. of round steak; add 2½ teaspoons of salt and ⅛ teaspoon of pepper; blend in 2 eggs, first beating them well. Then add 1 tablespoon of H. P. Sauce. Make sure that this mixture is well blended, then shape into 10 patties, each about 3½ inches wide. Cook on grill, turning them over until done. Serve in toasted hamburger buns.

The tablespoon of H. P. Sauce will add a delicious flavour to these hamburgers. H. P. is a thick, fruity, famous English type sauce and is a grand appetizer for many kinds of food including meats, fish, eggs, salads, stews, soups, relishes, gravies and sandwiches. Use it in the kitchen and on the table.

Smedley Reads Paper in the Wrong Order—Misses Meeting Perry

W. H. Smedley, Nelson garageman of long standing, is going to check on his newspaper reading sequence. He missed a good thing last weekend, and he's been "dogonning it" ever since.

About two weeks ago he received a bundle of old country papers—papers that have been coming to him for years. Copies, in fact of the Loughborough Echo, a Leicestershire weekly of which he recalls tha the gave away the first copies when it was established. He recalls catching his hand, as a lad of 11, in the hand feed press when the first issue was being printed. He gave up feeding the press to hand out the new paper.

Sunday night, mulling about for something to read, he came upon his latest bundle of the Loughborough Echo. And the first item he saw on the first paper he opened was a story about Hon. H. G. T. Perry, British Columbia's Minister of Education.

Mr. Perry was born in Whitwick, Leicester, as a lad attended the same school that Mr. Smedley attended, and his brother Samuel is well known in that area now in connection with the home guard, the British Legion, and "local government circles."

Mr. Perry was sending greetings to his old home after being interviewed in Victoria by an author of those parts, Bernard Newman, who had been visiting Canada and the United States on government business.

"It would be nice to meet Mr. Perry, and talk abou. the old home," Mr. Smedley thought.

Monday morning he picked up his issue of the Daily News and again found a familiar name—that of H.G.T. Perry, B. C.'s Minister of Education who had been in Nelson Saturday night as presiding chairman at the sitting of the B. C. Rehabilitation Council.

Rumor Clinics

Launched last winter largely at the instigation of Frances Sweeney, a blue-eyed Irish girl, who was distressed at the defeatist gossip, the Rumor Clinic in Boston has since tracked down and exposed hundreds of alarm-spreading stories, according to an article in the September issue of Reader's Digest.

The Boston Herald, which has sponsored the clinic, invites everyone hearing rumors to write them down and mail them to the clinic, whose investigators promptly get busy. Shortly afterward both rumor and answer are printed in the Rumor Clinic column, posted on bulletin boards and distributed widely through many channels. Spreading morale-eroding rumors is a form of sabotage which collapses when publicly faced with the facts—or lack of facts.

Boston heard, the article points out, that the "dumb navy" launched a new battleship and then discovered there wasn't an anti-aircraft gun on the entire ship. The clinic explained in its column that most warships are launched before guns are installed. Another rumor had hundreds of soldiers crowding Boston hospitals who had been returned from Australia insane and suffering from terrible living conditions. The fact, published by the clinic, was that 47 soldiers had been returned to Massachusetts for mental care; not one of them had come from Australia.

Before The Herald's column is printed, proofs are checked by the army, navy and F.B.I. to prevent enemy agents from using the column for purposes of their own.

Rumor clinics can be set up all over the country. They require no complicated organization—"the Boston Clinic works efficiently with a handful of determined, intelligent volunteers, a courageous newspaper and a thin, far-flung line of sharp-eared scouts."

L. B. South Slocan—Will you please tell me if it is possible to get an overseas badge of the last war to replace one which was lost some time ago?

At the time of issue it was stated there would be no issue of duplicate medals or of duplicate discharges. But small replicas may be ordered from F. W. Beaton, Military Tailor, 377 Granville Street, Vancouver. Incidentally, anyone wearing a medal without authorization is committing a criminal offence.

S. D., Nelson—What is the distance from Windsor to London, England?

In a straight line about 3300 miles.

B. A., Castlegar—Is it permissible to send sugar overseas in parcels?

Yes. Sugar may be sent in this manner, but it must come from the sender's own ration card.

K. P., Trail—I would like to know how much income tax I have to pay on a salary of $16 per week. Does the cost of living bonus go on before or after the tax is deducted?

If you are single and have no dependents, you would pay $1.37 weekly, of which 95 cents would be savings. If you have one dependent, and are single, you would pay 25 cents, which would all be savings. If you are married, you pay nothing at all. The cost of living bonus is added before the deduction is made for taxes.

Reader, Creston—How would I go about getting a copyright on a book recently written?

Under the new Copyright Act, copyright in an original work is obtained through authorship without performing any formalities. If you wish to obtain a copyright you may apply to the commissioner of copyright, Ottawa, for information and a copy of the act. The cost of registration is $3 for each copyright obtained. For a copyright in the United States you must comply with all the requirements of the U. S. Copyright Act and register the work at Washington.

"The 42ers"

You have to watch this man Kaiser. Building 10,000-ton ships in twenty-four days (or is there a new record this afternoon?) and setting Washington back on its heels with cargo-plane propositions are just a few of his activities. Witness his invasion of New York.

Mayor LaGuardia complained the other day that the Big City had too many unemployed. It had been slighted in the allocation of war contracts. Mr. Kaiser read this claim with interest; imediately his agents set up a hiring office, recruiting 20,000 New Yorkers to go on special trains to the world's speediest shipbuilding yards. This is the vanguard, he says. More will go later, possibly 50,000 women.

Experience doesn't matter—"We have to teach them anyway. Why, we even had to teach ourselves. We never built ships before."—The result has reached police proportions. On the first day, Kaiser agents hired 1200 by four in the afternoon when the jam in he street became so great, the authorities stepped in. Kaiser's men wanted to stay open all night and accommodate the crowd, but that seemed a little startling to Eastern officials. Apparently, despite the emergency and the enthusiasm of the clerks-who-would-be-shipbuilders, Mr. Kaiser is to be limited to doing business in the regular hours.

A decade ago it was a favorite editorial pastime to survey the prairie dogs of the West and to speculate on just what or who else was to populate those lush lands, those model cities, to say nothing of the fabulous acres the engineers were conjuring with their gargantuan electro-reclamation projects. Today, perhaps, we are seeing part of the answer.

For we wonder what will happen after the war when these thousands of New Yorkers must decide whether to remain in those wide and very open spaces, or in those wonderful valleys near the sea, where grow the best (no arguments, please) apples in the world, or to return to their bright Baghdad-on-the-subway, with its undeniable attractions.

There wil lbe influences at work. The West Coast real estate man is to be reckoned with almost as much as the climate. New York offers fewer cozy bungalows and garden tracts for the working man. It may not, to these thousands, seem to offer the warm, open friendliness of the West.

It may be in time that we shall look upon 1942 as the year when another great westward migration began. The Pacific Coast may one day count among its pioneers the 42ers, as well as the 49ers.

Today's Horoscope

A love for peace and harmony, a sunny disposition and even temper characterize those who have birthdays today. They avoid conflict. Quarrels make them feel depressed. Literature and music interest them. They are devoted to their loved ones, who in turn, esteem them. They are advised to exercise restraint and tact in dealings with the public, employers, solicitors and agents in the next year. They should also guard against quarrels. Some good fortune will then come their way. The child who is born on this date will be desirous of fame and social prominence, which will probably be realized. There is, however, some danger of reversals through his or her own erratic actions.

Etiquette Hints

Don't berate your butcher or grocer because he doesn't have the foods you are used to getting. There's a war on and there are shortages, and it isn't his fault if he can't get the articles as he could last year. Treat him with courteous understanding and sympathy. The attitude in his customers will help make his lot a little easier in a difficult world.

Says Washington Depreciating Dollar

(From article by Samuel B. Pettengill)

The fact is that the unorganized millions are being squeezed by administration catering to pressure blocs. The President told his Charlie McCarthy senators to kill the Smith bill, twice passed by the house, which would have gone far to prevent the inflation he now worries about.

He gave the war labor board the green light to raise wages in war industries to the highest level of all times. In self-defence, the farm bloc in congress said:

"You can't hold down farm prices unless you hold down wages."

And so, John Public, the forgotten man, has been getting it where the a got the chicken. The cost of living since January 1, 1941, has risen about 18 per cent. Most of that increase is directly due to government policies.

The people we hire to govern us cry out to high heaven against a sales tax. Yet they have in effect imposed a sales tax of 18 per cent on everything we eat, drink or wear.

Looking at it another way: Every life insurance policy in force on January 1, 1941, if cashed today, would buy 18 per cent less food and clothing than then. In short, a $1000 policy is worth only about $820 as compared to January 1, 1941. There are 65,000,000 persons whose lives are insured. Their savings are being slowly washed away.

A few years ago, "social security" was the "best news of the century" as Mr. LaGuardia called it. It was an extension—and a good one—of life, health and accident insurance principles. Some 50,000,000 wage earners are now in the system.

The same thing is happening to social security cards as to life insurance policies. As inflation creeps up, the cards lose value. The wage earner and his wife become less secure. Yet the basis of the social security system is a stable dollar. Unless the government pays you back in dollars that will buy the same size market basket of groceries as the dollars you paid in, you will have been short changed—by your own government. The process is now underway.

Press Comment

NO HEMP-LEAVES, BY REQUEST

"Without binder twine there would be famine in the midst of our bumper crops, because the crops could not be harvested. The farmers who grow the food we eat must have hundreds of millions of feet of binder twine for their harvesting machinery."

The warning is from the Office of War Information, Washington. Hemp is binder-twine fibre, and hemp can be grown in North America. The U. S. Department of Agriculture planted thousands of acres to hemp this year, to obtain seed with which to plant hundreds of thousands of acres for binder twine next year.

Canadian Departments of Agriculture cannot plant any hemp at all. Neither can any Canadian farmer. The Department of National Health's Narcotics Division won't licence hemp growing in Canada, and without a licence it is a crime to grow hemp. Reason: the Narcotics Division fears somebody might smoke a hemp cigarette and get the marihuana habit.

Any dying of famine in Canada for lack of binder twine for the crops will be glad to know that Col. Sharman, head of the Narcotics Division, Ottawa, is satisfied. We all die pure.—News, Toronto.

WE ALL MOULD PUBLIC OPINION

The majority of Canadian citizens are on the march again. With heads erect, eyes front, their ranks are skirting past luxuries and non-essentials, on their way to purchase the new Victory Bonds.

Every man and woman in that parade is performing an extra war service for his country. He is setting a powerful example that will attract other citizens into the ranks of the majority.

In these war days, we can no longer afford to spend any more than is absolutely necessary for good health. Our sailors, soldiers and airmen are crying for every other penny of our earnings to make their striking power more and more potent. Every time any one citizen answers that cry—resolutely turning his back on the temptation to buy something he doesn't really need—his example helps materially to create solid public opinion.

When we shut out our short-sighted selfish inclinations so that we can buy Victoryy Bonds, we not only take a direct part in the war. We perform an invaluable service in crystalizing a strong united Canadian voice that shouts, "Nothing matters but victory!"—Labor Leader, Toronto.

NOT SO HARD IF—

Of M. J. Coldwell, M.P., R. J. Deachman writes in the Montreal Gazette: "The majority of his supporters are farmers. The program of the C.C.F. is—Socialism. Not one farmer in a hundred believes in Socialism. It must be hard to lead a party with a platform in which the majority repudiates the main plank." Not so hard, maybe, if you can get 'em to stick their heads in gopher holes.—Windsor Star.

FIVE IN ONE

War produces novelties, among them the diplomatic oddity of one envoy being ambassador to five nations and attending to his duties to all of them without going out of town. Anthony J. Drexel Biddle Jr., ambassador to the governments-in-exile of Norway, Holland and Poland, and formerly ambassador to Belgium, has been promoted from the status of minister to Yugoslavia and Greece to full ambassador. All these governments being located in London, one Biddle now is five ambassadors.—San Francisco Chronicle.

The hypocrite was a man who stole the livery of the court of heaven to serve the devil in.—Pollock.

Cadets Learn How Sub-Hunting Blimp Behaves

Cadets who will serve as officers aboard submarine-hunting blimps of the U. S. Navy when they complete their course, are shown at the naval air station, Lakehurst, N. J., learning by means of a model how a blimp behaves. The weight suspended from the model forward, is shifted about and effects are noted. This is a lesson in aerostatics, a "must" subject for lighter-than-air cadets.

A training blimp is about to go aloft while in the background three others are awaiting their call to land.

HE WANTS TO CALL OFF THE WAR

This spirited battle took place at Port Washington, N.-Y., when the Women's Defence Cadets of America fought off a force of "invaders" composed of members of the New York State Guard. The Cadet lost her gun, but that didn't hamper her fighting one bit.

"KILL" NAZI U-BOAT

Navigator of a Royal Canadian Air Force Hudson bomber which polished off a U-boat off Canada's East coast is P/O. G. E. Francis, of Stellarton, N. S., above. Details of four such attacks have been revealed by Air Minister Power as examples of work done by Coastal Patrol Squadrons.

NEW FLYING SCHOOL TOWN IN ITSELF

Beyond this training bomber, first to land at the new Centralia, Ont., Flying School, can be seen glimpses of the crowd which attended the official opening by Air Vice Marshal G. O. Johnson. This school, in which flyers will be taught to handle giant British bombers, is said to be the last word in flying schools.

Cardinals Stage Dazzling Speed To Tie Up Series

By JUDSON BAILEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 1 (AP)—Showing the same speed and grit that won them the National League championship, St. Louis Cardinals today tamed New York Yankees 4-3 before 34,256 fans in another breath-taking chapter of the 1942 world series. They left for New York tonight all even with the American League powerhouse.

The Redbirds simply run their way to victory with probably the best dazzling show of sprinting the Yankees ever had seen. They had to win more than offset New York's slugging which was climaxed with a tremendous two-run homer by Charley Keller to tie the score momentarily in the eighth inning. Held to only six hits by big Ernie Bonham while the Yanks pummeled Johnny Beazley, the Cards' 23-year-old rookie sensation for 10, St. Louis scored twice in the first inning, again in the seventh and finally won the game with a thrilling rally in the last of the eighth.

Speed figured in every one of the Cardinal runs but never more so than with the score tied and the pressure on in the eighth.

Jim Brown and Terry Moore were easy outs but Enos Slaughter slammed a scorching liner to the deepest corner of the right field and slid headlong into second for a double. Phil Rizzuto let the throw slip a few yards away from him and while he was trying to locate it Slaughter dashed safely to third.

Before the smoke had cleared Stan Musial, the rookie who had a chance yesterday to be a hero but failed, dashed a ground single directly over second base to bring home the winning run.

BONHAM SHIPS

Much of the responsibility for the Yankees' defeat could be charged to the fact that Bonham, the great control artist who walked only 23 men during the entire American league season, gave a base on balls to the first batter he faced.

Bonham threw three balls to Brown before he got a strike across to start of the game and Brown ultimately was passed. It was a costly mistake because Moore laid down a sacrifice bunt on the first pitch and when the big Yankee ace threw to second trying to head off the run, Brown beat the throw and both runners were safe.

Bonham got the next two hitters out, but W. Cooper sliced a double over second base and the ball skidded tantalizingly all the way to the wall in right centre, both runners racing home.

Bonham settled down and allowed only two hits for the first six innings, the other being a single by J. Hopp in the fourth.

Hopp rounded first and Cullenbine sought to trap him with a throw to Buddy Hassett. But as soon as Hopp saw where the ball was going he set sail for second. Hassett fumbled the throw, when it arrived, and no play was made on Hopp.

Hopp also caused trouble in the Seventh when he shot another liner to right for what might have been the same sort of play.

Hopp again rounded first and the crowd taunted Cullenbine to throw to first but this time he kept the ball ahead of the runner. It didn't make any difference as it turned out as George Whitey Kurowski followed with a triple.

YANKEES MAD

This hit infuriated Manager Joe McCarthy and his Yankees because it was a liner so close to the left foul line that when the ball bounced out of Keller's glove it landed a few inches in foul territory. But Umpire George Magerkurth ruled it a fair ball, apparently judging that it was fair when Keller charged into it on a dead run.

This boosted the Cardinal lead to 3-0 and at the same time it seemed all that Beazley would need. The young right-hander had been hit intermittently, the Yankees getting runners on base in every one of the first five innings, but he worked himself out of these jams with the help of some fancy fielding by his teammates.

Then in the eighth, the bombers blasted.

Cullenbine hit a grounder which Brown managed only to knock down and it was scored as a single. Joe DiMaggio came through with a line single to right to bring Cullenbine home.

Then Keller connected with Beazley's next pitch and the ball sailed high and far over the right field pavilion to knot the score.

Beazley fanned Joe Gordon to end the inning, but had another narrow escape in the ninth.

Bill Dickey led off with a single and Tuck Stainback was sent in to run for him. Buddy Hassett crashed another single into right and Slaughter made the most magnificent throw of the series, sending a strike to Kurowski in time to catch Stainback sliding into third.

Seattle Needs One Win

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 1 (CP) Seattle advanced to within one victory of winning the Pacific Coast Baseball League playoff series today by beating Los Angeles 5-3. It was the Rainiers third straight win in the best of seven series. The teams meet here again tomorrow in the fourth game.

No runs, no hits, no errors, none left.

Eighth inning—Cardinals

Brown was thrown out by Gordon. After getting the count to three and two, T. Moore drove a tremendous fly into centrefield but DiMaggio took it with a running catch.

Slaughter slammed a liner into the deepest right field corner and stretched it into a double with a head-long slide and when Rizzuto fumbled Cullenbine's throw for an error Slaughter got up and raced to third.

Musial smacked a ground single directly across second base to score Slaughter and the crowd went wild. Walker Cooper flied to Cullenbine in right centre. The scorer ruled the Card's run was earned.

One run, two hits, one error, one left.

Ninth inning—Yankees

Brown ran far over to his left to knock down a grounder by Dickey but could not make a throw and it was ruled a single. Stainback ran for Dickey. Hassett singled to right and Slaughter made a great throw to Kirowski to catch Stainback sliding into third.

Ruffing batted for Bonham. Ruffing flied to Slaughter. Marion then threw out Rizzuto.

Canadian Army Wins Track and Field Meet

SOMEWHERE IN ENGLAND, Oct. 1 (CP)—Though their British Army competitors raced to first place in seven of nine events, Canadian Army track and field athletes outscored them 35-30 on a point basis in a recent meet held for the benefit of the British Red Cross.

The British Army's most impressive victory over the Canadians and a mixed British team was in the mile event captured by Cpl. Sydney Wooderson, world outdoor champion.

The British Army won all but the running broad jump in which Capt. J. Kerr of Kitchener, Ont., placed first, and the high jump won by Sgt. S. R. West of the Royal Air Force, competing for the mixed team.

Interpreting

The War News

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON

Japanese troops which "sit on New Guinea", as Hitler put it in his Berlin broadcast, probably do not wholly share either his confidence that "they will get all New Guinea into their possession" or his scornful contempt for General MacArthur.

It is conceivable Japanese leadership is more concerned immediately over extricating its mountain-climbing forces on New Guinea to what begins to look like a MacArthur prepared trap, than with ways and means of taking the whole island.

There is no doubt that the Japanese attempt to take Port Moresby by crossing the Owen Stanley range from bases on the North coast of New Guinea has backfired. Whether the Jap retreat northward is actually an attempt to withdraw to the bomb-battered beach heads of the expedition for a sea evacuation or a withdrawal to less exposed defence positions is not yet clear. Surrender of Nauro Ridge without a fight, permitting an almost unopposed Australian advance of another 10 miles, has the look of an escape effort in which the prime factor is speed at the price of abandoned stores and installations.

New Guinea development tend to explain to this writer something that greatly puzzled weeks ago. The first word of the Japanese breakthrough by way of a 6000-foot mountain pass to begin a descent upon Port Moresby came from MacArthur's headquarters, not Japan. That was on Sept. 10. It said Australian defenders on the heights had been outflanked both North and South of the gap, the enemy driving into a point on the South flank of the bridge.

It seemed a perilous stab. Japanese forces had penetrated the tremendous mountain barrier where only jungle trails were available and ultimately were within 32 miles of Port Moresby. Yet the MacArthur bulletin was quite bland about it. It was obvious that the General had not thrown heavy reserves into action to hold the Pass despite his readily available superior forces and shorter and less difficult lines of communications. It invited the conclusion that he had some other defence design.

The obvious weakness of the Japanese thrust was its extended supply lines. They ran from Buna beach head more than 100 miles over narrow trails and through rugged country. Every manpower replacement, every gun or round of ammunition, every pound of food for the troops at the front had to make that passage over the pass. And every foot of the way as well as the sea approaches to Buna was under relatively close-range bomb fire.

MacArthur's recognition of that weakness was promptly demonstrated. His air force began a harrying attack on those supply lines that has never let up. His planes combed the sea approaches. It is reasonable to guess that Jap losses in trying to maintain the threat to Port Moresby by by that route were out of all proportion to the gravity of the threat itself.

If it turns out that Tokyo has ordered withdrawal and evacuation, risking a Japanese Dunkerque, there will be justification for the thought that actually this, like the Milne Bay action was a MacArthur made trap. In effect, he offered just enough resistance in the mountain passes to lure the foe on.

A sea withdrawal by the Japanese from their New Guinea beachheads would require concentration of an umbrella of fighting planes to protect embarking troops and their shipping from Australian-American bombers primed to deal with them. And to provide that air protection from carriers, not from close-up shore bases as was the British protection at Dunkerque, would seem to be all but impossible for the Japanese.

For that reason if no other, the Japanese withdrawal seems likely to be to get to defensive positions supported by much shorter communication lines. Even so the sting has been taken out of that Nipponese enterprise.

Casualties Bound to Come With New Industry Laws Says Ilsley

SEIGNORY CLUB, Que., Oct. 1 (CP).—Finance Minister Ilsley told the Canadian Chamber of Commerce Convention here today the Federal Government has determined on a vigorous program to curtail the less essential use of labor, and will carry it through "even if it means business casualties."

"Naturally we will be as fair as we can and as reasonable as possible but we must take drastic steps quickly, and I would be misleading you if I suggested that this program is going to involve as little pain as, say, the price-ceiling policy," the Minister said.

"The fact of the matter is that we must expect casualties now on the home front as well as overseas, and while we shall take every step we can to keep these casualties down and to see that the permanent harm is reduced to the minimum, we must not flinch at the prospect.

"We must take the offensive if we are to win this war, and offensives invariably are expensive."

Mr. Ilsley said he wished to emphasize the "unpleasant" necessity of cutting down the use of labor outside war industry, and to assure his hearers that there was no alternative. He invited the cooperation of businessmen in working out with the Wartime Prices and Trade Board, National Selective Service and other agencies the most effective means of bringing about the reduction in the use of labor with the least possible injury to the consumer, to the workman, and to business.

Peden and Bergna Maintain Pace

MONTREAL, Oct. 1 (CP)—Leadership in Montreal's six-day bicycle race was still held tonight by Torchy Peden of Victoria and Cy Bergna of Paterson, N.J.

As the marathon moved toward the end of its fourth day, Peden and Bergna had covered 1588 miles and won a total of 556 points. Rene Cyr of the Joliette Regiment, Debert, N.S., and Angelo Debacco of Newark remained tied with the leaders in mileage but had only 319 points.

The American team of Bill Anderson and Charlie Logan was a single lap behind with 322 points.

Benoit, Dame Receive Hockey Calls

TRAIL, B.C., Oct. 1 (CP)—Joe Benoit and Bunny Dame, members of the Montreal Canadiens in the National Hockey League, said today they had received notice from Manager Dick Irvin to report in Montreal for pre-season practice.

Benoit said he would leave next Monday or Tuesday. Asked what offer he had received he said he would have to wait until he got to Montreal to find out.

Dame said he wouldn't leave unless he received better terms than those offered him.

White Sox Win Second Game

CHICAGO, Oct. 1 (AP)—The White Sox made it two in a row in the Chicago City Series here today when they whipped the Cubs at Wrigley Field, 9-5, before a small gathering of 3320.

Lou Warneke was driven to cover with a four-run barrage in the eighth inning after the White Sox had moved up to a 5-5 tie in the previous round. Eddie Smith started for the American Leaguers but was knocked out in three innings as the Cubs took a 3-3 lead. Joe Haynes then took over for the White Sox and hurled shutout ball the rest of the way. Don Kolloway led the 11-hit White Sox attack with a homer and three singles to tally four runs and drive home two more.

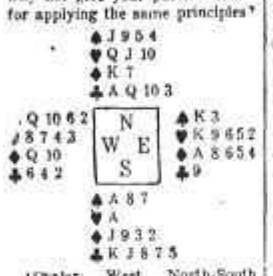
WHAT IS HIS LEAD?

WOULD YOU lead your partner's first-bid suit against the declarer's 3-No Trumps if you held only a singleton in it? Most especially, would you do it if he had bid two suits? You would not be very likely to, would you? If you even held singletons in both of his suits, wouldn't you be likely to lead the unbid suit or suits? Then, why not give your partner credit for applying the same principles?



(Dealer: West. North-South vulnerable.)

West	North	East	South
Pass	Pass	1 ♥	Dbl.
Pass	2 ♠	3 ♦	3 NT

At several duplicate tables, West bid 2-Hearts over South's double, as the pairs used such a bid as indicating weakness but a good fit and a desire to impede the opponents. But, where the West hand was passed, as recorded above, which happened at two tables, a point in play developed immediately upon West leading the heart 3 against the No Trump game.

Dummy, of course, put on one card of the sequence, and it was East's turn. At one table, he played the K, and so assured the declarer making his contract. That declarer led to the club A, cashed a second and third heart trick, ran four more clubs and scored the spade A for his ninth trick.

Instead of three heart tricks, the declarer got only two at the other table, due to East's simple card reading. With the 2 in sight to him in his own hand, the heart 3 lead was bound to be either a singleton or fourth-best. He reasoned that, if it was a singleton, it would not have been led, hence it was a fourth-best. So declarer held one, surely the A. East therefore played his 6 and the A won. The K later killed one of dummy's two other heart honors, and the defenders beat the contract because South could score up only eight tricks before his real trouble began.

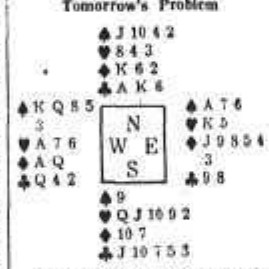
Tomorrow's Problem



(Dealer: East. North-South vulnerable.)

What is the sound way for West to play for 3-No Trumps on this hand, after North leads the heart 8?

Canada Makes Explosives From Wood

Several million dollars annually are now being saved in the manufacture of certain types of military explosives produced in Canada by the utilization of Canadian wood pulp as a source of cellulose instead of importing cotton linters.

Wood cellulose has been used in Canada for a good many years in the manufacture of cellophane, and rayon, but it is only since the beginning of the war that research and development has been undertaken to adapt wood pulp to the manufacture of nitrocellulose, the base for certain types of high explosives required for military purposes, according to the September issue of C-I-L Oval.

The use of cellulose-bearing wood pulps, quite plentiful in Canada, has not only eliminated the importation of cotton linters from the U.S. thus effecting a considerable saving in foreign exchange but has also considerably reduced the raw material costs without in any way impairing the quality or effectiveness of the resultant product.

One Canadian wartime explosives plant has been operating on wood pulp for over a year, while two others have been using this domestic type of cellulose exclusively now for six months and two months respectively. Canada, therefore, is one of the first of the United States to adopt large scale production of military explosives from her own domestic supplies of chemical wood pulps.

A.F.L. Metal Union Friction May Impede C.I.O. Merger

TORONTO, Oct. 1 (CP)—Internal friction in the American Federation of Labor raised another obstacle today to the possible consummation of an organic merger with the C.I.O.

Harvey J. Brown, President of the International Association of Machinists, disclosed he had demanded representation for metal trades unions on the A.F.L. Negotiating Committee and, failing that, had served notice on the Committee it had no authority to give the C.I.O. negotiators even a tentative commitment of any kind in behalf of the machinists or any other metal trades union.

The issue may go to the floor of the A.F.L. Convention which opens next week.

Metal Laden Ships Sought Shelter During Lake Storm

PORT ARTHUR, Ont., Oct. 1 (CP)—In the first heavy blow of the season, 14 large ships, downbound with cargoes of iron ore, last week were forced to seek shelter in the harbor here.

They inched their way into Thunder Bay from the open waters of Lake Superior and anchored until the weather cleared.

Sheep Creek Gold Purchases Paradise Mine

INVERMERE, B.C.—The Paradise mine, near Invermere, has been sold to Sheep Creek Gold Mines, Ltd., it is reported.

C. E. Marr of Spokane, President, successor to the late Hon. Rolf Bruhn, and H. E. Doelle of Sheep Creek, Managing Director, were in Invermere this week examining the property.

It is understood that arrangements are being made to clean out the underground workings with a view to complete examinations by engineers.

The Paradise, a silver-lead-zinc property, had not been operated since 1929, when it closed during the depression.

It was discovered in 1896 by Tom Jones and two other prospectors, and sold in 1901 to Messrs. Hammond and Bruce, the latter the late Hon. R. R. Bruce, under the name Paradise. In 1925 Mr. Bruce sold it to the Victoria Syndicate Ltd. of Conniston, Ont., a subsidiary of the Mond Nickel Co. It was operated by the Victoria Syndicate until 1929.

In 1927 and 1928 approximately 100 men were employed at the mine. Nearly a million dollars has been spent on its development at various times.

Desert Positions Captured by British Attack

CAIRO, Oct. 1 (AP)—The British 8th Army attacked and occupied Axis positions on the central sector of the Egyptian battleground yesterday, capturing several strong points in the Munassib depression and resisting all counter-attacks, headquarters announced today.

Latest reports indicate the operations are continuing.

The move was undertaken, it is believed here, to straighten the El Alamein line and close the distance between the two forces.

It was the first aggressive action of any importance by either side for several weeks. The attack started early in the morning after artillery preparation.

BOARD APPROVES INCREASE IN B.C. MILK PRICES

OTTAWA, Oct. 1 (CP)—Recommendations for maximum prices for grades of milk in British Columbia areas have been approved and sent West, Wartime Prices and Trade Board officials said today.

(Members of the Nanaimo Dairymen's Association said yesterday that all supplies of fresh milk delivered in the city would be cut off today if the Prices Board refused to permit increases in the current price scale.)

Board officials said that the Nanaimo and other British Columbia milk price and supply questions had received full consideration and decisions had been transmitted to Board representatives at Vancouver.

Officials said they believed the acceptance of recommendations from Nanaimo dealing with a maximum price for grades of milk would avert any cut-off in supplies. Prices of from 13 to 14 cents a quart will be permitted for milk, depending on butterfat content.

Nazi Supply Ship Sunk Off Netherlands Coast

LONDON, Oct. 1 (CP)—British light naval forces torpedoed and sank a medium German supply ship last night from a convoy intercepted off the Netherlands port of Terschelling, the Admiralty announced today.

It said the Royal Navy lost a motor gunboat, but that casualties in the engagement were not heavy.

R. Jellett Heads Commerce Group

SEIGNORY CLUB, Que., Oct. 1 (CP)—R. Jellett, 61, Vice-President of the Royal Trust Company, Montreal, today was elected President of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce. He succeeds D. G. McKenzie of Winnipeg.

Other officers include: Vice-Presidents C. E. Anstie, Vancouver; Councillors, John Johnson, Victoria

Wealthy, Gravenstein Apples, Late Pears Being Picked; Soft Fruits Nearly Over, States Hunt

Wealthy and Gravenstein apples, and McIntosh Red where they are available, are now being picked in the Kootenay-Boundary. Plums are about over. Peaches are nearly cleaned up. Early pears are near their end and Winter pears are beginning to move.

This summary of the current Kootenay tree fruit situation was given Wednesday by E. C. Hunt, District Horticulturist.

Weather conditions in the Spring resulted in a greatly reduced apple crop for this area, he stated. The continual rain prevented proper pollenization of blossoms, and either washed off spray or prevented its application at the proper time. As a result of lack of pollenization a great deal of the bloom failed to form fruit; and the effect of rain at spraying time was widespread scab infestation. Macs suffered particularly from scab, Mr. Hunt said. In one or two areas late frost nipped the blossoms.

But the picture was not all dark, he added. Livestock feed grew well throughout the year, and many landowners cut greatly increased tonnages of hay. The recent weather had been fine for seed harvesting. Many garden vegetables prospered.

Market Trends . . .

LONDON, Oct. 1 (AP)—The stock market closed generally firm today.

British funds were maintained. Industrials finished firm with home rails holding gains established earlier in the session.

NEW YORK—Rails in today's stock market and steam-road issues, on average, speeded up to new high territory for the year to date.

Buying stepped into airlines and other selected industrials. Gains, running to 2 or more points for favorites generally were well maintained near the close.

Wall Streets still were more or less inflation-minded notwithstanding the Wage-Price Bill passed by the Senate.

TORONTO—Following a three-day dive to lower levels golds on the Toronto Stock Exchange practically came to a standstill today.

Dome advanced fractionally and Wright-Hargreaves and Preston added 10 and 3 cents.

MONTREAL— Selective leaders showed strength up to the final hour.

Montreal Power was ahead at one time and Brazilian backed up.

VANCOUVER— Minor advances were shown in the mines.

Privateer gained ½ at 25½. Premier gained 1 cent at 38.

WINNIPEG—Wheat trade in the pit was on a light scale and prices were unchanged to fractionally higher. There was no trade in October wheat which held at 90 cents a bushel.

Export of Canadian wheat to the United Kingdom was estimated at more than 750,000 bushels.

CHICAGO—A grain market advance based on Senate passage of anti-inflation legislation which would raise commodity loans granted by the Government to producers was short-lived today and late profit taking reduced or erased the gains.

Two Fighters in Dogfight Chase Off Axis Planes

CAIRO, Oct. 1 (AP).—Two long-range British fighters plunged into a formation of Axis bombers over Matruh yesterday, shot down three and returned safely to their base, a communique announced today.

The dogfight took place, the bulletin said, during an increase in enemy aerial activity, which included attacks by dive-bombers and fighter-bombers. British bombers also were active. Two planes are missing from the day's operations.

Allied planes also attacked the Axis airdrome at Sidi Haneish and the enemy bases of Tobruk, Salum and Bardia Tuesday night.

ROME, Oct. 1 (AP).—British infantry, supported by tanks, launched an assault on the southern flank of the Egyptian battlefront yesterday, the Italian High Command reported today. It claimed the attack was thrown back "after rather heavy losses."

The Italians asserted two British planes were shot down over the Axis supply base of Tobruk and credited German fighters with destroying another over Malta.
