Americans Set Up New Base in Ellice Islands

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, April 23 (AP)—American forces in the South Pacific have set up an advance base several hundred miles nearer Japan's mandated island fortifications in the Gilbert Group, the United States Navy Department disclosed today.

The base, a communique revealed, is located on Funafuti Island in the Ellice group, which lies roughly midway between American bases in the Fiji and Samoa Islands and enemy positions in the Gilbert group about 1000 miles to the Northwest.

The time of the American move into the Ellice group was not divulged. A Naval spokesman said the occupation was unopposed by the enemy. It was generally assumed here that if the Japanese had been in the islands at all they were in very small numbers.

The disclosure of the American advance was made in a report of an attack by enemy bombers. The report said that during the early morning of April 22 a group of enemy bombers "raided Funafuti, United States occupied position in the Ellice Island group. The attack caused 'light casualties to personnel' and minor damage to installations.

The communiqué also reported a series of air actions in the Solomon Islands which lie about 1100 nautical miles West of the Ellice group. On Wednesday night heavy bombers and medium torpedo bombers made the first reported attack on Poporangi in the Shortland Island area of the Northwestern Solomons and started many fires, two of which were visible 40 miles away.

About the same time, torpedo bombers attacked an enemy cargo ship near Sula in the Shortland area and the Navy said it was believed hits were scored on the vessel. Enemy fighter interception, however, prevented conclusive observation of results. All U.S. planes returned from this action.

Earlier on Wednesday fighter planes strafed Japanese positions in the Bougainville Strait area of the Northwestern Solomons and enemy installations near Cape Alexander on Choiseul Island were bombed.

The communiqué made no mention of enemy positions in Samoa and the Alaska Island in the North Pacific. Most naval authorities were of the opinion Funafuti would serve as an outpost for the main American positions in Samoa and the Fijis. In line with this possibility some authorities suggested the occupation might have been effected many months ago.

The main American line of communications with Australia runs generally South from Hawaii to Samoa and then generally West to Australia. A study of the map indicates that the base on Funafuti is one of a series of forward outposts lying between this main line and the strong enemy positions in the Gilbert and Marshall Archipelagos.

The descriptions of Funafuti available here suggest it probably is not large enough to support and offer cover for installations of large size. It is on the Eastern reef of the Ellice group and is 4 1/2 miles long. Its width varies from 30 to 150 yards.

U.S. Withdraws Most of Finland Legation

By EDWIN SHANKE
Associated Press Staff Writer

STOCKHOLM, April 23 (AP)—Most of the United States Legation staff at Helsinki left the Finnish capital by plane for Stockholm suddenly today in what was seen by observers here as the beginning of a "war of nerves" to force the Finns to abandon the war on the side of the Axis.

Clerks withdrawn from the Helsinki Legation were assigned to duty in Stockholm, but Robert Mills McClintock, Charge d' Affaires, remained in Helsinki. The American Minister to Finland, H. F. Arthur Schoe Seid, was called to Washington last December and has not returned.

The Berlin radio said a special plane bearing the Legation staff reached Stockholm in mid-afternoon. It said political circles in Stockholm regarded the move as "the last preparation for a rupture of diplomatic relations between the United States and Finland."

A strict censorship was clamped on all political dispatches out of Finland.

(Unofficial quarters in London said they had known for some time that the United States was increasing its pressure on the Finns to get out of the war and make a separate peace while there still was time. Such a withdrawal, they said, would have an important psychological effect on Italy, another wavering German satellite.

A dispatch from Helsinki said the Finns appeared "surprised and concerned" over the American action and expressed the hope it "would not mean a final breach of relations."

Reliable informants said the Germans had demanded of Finland that she definitely sign up with the Axis and reopen military action against the Leningrad-Murmansk railway, which carries lend-lease supplies to the Russians.

Of a total population of 3,200,000, Finland has between 300,000 and 500,000 in military service. She is believed to have suffered casualties of approximately 100,000 in the war with Russia. A tenth of the country is in ruins.

While Finland in various ways has indicated that she would like to get out of the war, she claimed to be so exhausted economically that she is forced to depend on Germany for food and to borrow from Sweden to pay for half the food she receives.

R.A.F. Looks to Day of Joint Tokyo Bombing

LONDON, April 24 (Saturday) (CP)—Winston Churchill denounced today the "cold-blooded" execution of United States airmen by the Japanese and declared the R.A.F. "earnestly look forward to the day when they will be able to fly side by side with their American comrades to attack Tokyo and other cities of Japan."

The Prime Minister said in a message to Gen. H. H. Arnold, Commanding General of the American Air Forces—

"I have heard with indignation of the cold-blooded execution of your airmen by the Japanese. This barbarous and unattractive action reveals in a peculiarly significant manner the fear the Japanese have of having munitions factories and other military objectives in their homeland bombed.

"I cannot resist sending you this message to assure you that the R.A.F. earnestly look forward to the day when they will be able to fly side by side with their American comrades to attack Tokyo and other cities of Japan and strip this cruel and greedy nation of their power to molest the civilized world.

"We shall certainly claim for our airmen a full share in this task, which, however long it takes, must be thoroughly done by the combined force of both our peoples."

London Guns Heard During Brief Alert

LONDON, April 23 (CP)—London was under a brief air raid warning tonight and for a time planes were heard from the centre of the city and anti-aircraft fire was heavy. The all-clear followed shortly.

Some casualties were caused in a West Midlands town bombed by a single raider.

RUSS HURL 200 BOMBERS AT PRUSSIAN CITY

Report Insterburg, Railway Centre, in Flames

LOSE PLANE

LONDON, April 23 (CP)—A striking force of 200 Russian long-range bombers battered the East Prussian railway centre of Insterburg, on the German trunk supply line to the North Russian front, for more than two hours last night and left the entire city in flames, a special Soviet communique said tonight.

It was added that a single bomber was lost in the sixth raid of the big Russian aerial offensive from the East which started April 10 with an attack on Königsberg. It was the first time the Russians had concentrated on Insterburg. Previous targets were Danzig and Tilsit.

Two hundred planes is the largest number the Russians ever had mentioned using in the new wave of raids keyed with the R.A.F. and U. S. aerial onslaught to keep Hitler's citadels under fire from both sides.

The raid was announced in a special communique which said the raid lasted more than two hours.

"Many configurations of military and industrial targets in the city resulted from bombing and at the end of the raid the entire city was enveloped in flames," said the communique. "The fires were accompanied by numerous powerful explosions.

"All our planes but one returned to their bases."

OFFICER DIES AS OTTAWA BUILDING BURNS

$100,000 Estimated Damage; Lose Battalion Records

OTTAWA, April 23 (CP)—A typhoon fire gutted the Regal Building in downtown Ottawa early today and took the life of Col. F. B. Inkster, 59.

Origin of the spectacular blaze was unknown. Damage was estimated at more than $100,000.

Col. Inkster was last seen slumped against a background of roaring flames as he stood at a fourth floor window.

"Goodbye boys, I'm finished," he said. Then he disappeared.

More than four hours later, while part of the building still was ablaze, firemen using an aerial ladder found his body on a lounge in the officers' mess of the 4th Reconnaissance Battalion, Princess Louise Dragoon Guards, on the fourth floor.

The fire caused total loss of all records of the battalion whose headquarters were in the building, situated at the corner of O'Connor and Queen Streets. An investigation by the Army and Ottawa Fire Department was launched.

A search of the charred interior showed that Col. Inkster was the only one to lose his life.

In the building shortly before the fire broke out at 1:40 a.m. were Col. Inkster, Sgt. J. Paulin, Royal Canadian Ordnance Corps, Capt. Alex McClelland and Gdsm. W. B. Kilgour. Capt. McClelland left the building before the fire started.

Sgt. Paulin discovered the blaze. He was on the fourth floor at the time and made his way down one storey. He could go no farther. He went to a window and jumped to some telephone wires, slid along them to a post, and then dropped to the ground.

Kilgour was on the ground floor at the time and had no trouble escaping.

MYSTERIOUS BLAST WRECKS HOUSE

MONTREAL, April 23 (CP)—Two persons were treated for shock late today after two mysterious explosions blew a hole 24 feet square in the wall of a house on Notre Dame Street East. ## 20 Big Transports Loaded With Troops, Gas Fall

Land Forces Crack Open Three Rommel Salients; Planes and Artillery Heavily Assault Mountain Positions

By WES GALLAGHER
Associated Press Staff Writer

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN NORTH AFRICA, April 23 (AP)—Allied artillery barrages and determined infantry attacks cracked open three salients in Marshal Rommel's Tunisian bridgehead today, and fighter pilots celebrated another smashing aerial triumph in their destruction of an entire fleet of 20 mammoth six-engined German transport planes loaded with troops and gasoline.

With furious fighting covering two-thirds of the Tunisian Front, this was the Allied position at dusk tonight:

1. Preceded by the heaviest single artillery barrage of the campaign, British infantry attacked the German front—Long Stop Hill, 23 miles Southwest of Tunisia.

2. First Army infantry attacked on a nine-mile front between Goubellat and Bou Arada and advanced three miles against stubborn opposition to within about 34 miles of Tunisia.

3. Gen. Sir Bernard Montgomery's 8th Army stabbed six miles North of Enfidaville along the marshy coastline, while mountain assaults to the West which resulted in the capture of Takrouna were slowed by continuous counter-attacks, approximately 40 miles from Tunisia.

The taking of Long Stop would clear the approaches to the plain and break one of the key spurs in the German defense system.

Farther South, long lines of British infantry, advancing between Goubellat and Bou Arada, methodically stormed German hill positions and pushed Axis troops back in rifle and hand grenade fighting for a distance of three miles.

This attack was aimed at the high ground controlling the plain to the South and running East from Bou Arada to Point du Fels, situated at the junction of two roads leading straight to Tunis over rolling country.

Despite the six-mile advance on the coast, the 8th Army still faces the tremendous task of trying to clear the mountains along the Enfidaville Line. The coastal advance is of little use unless the peaks West of the road are cleared.

The British infantry there is meeting its most vigorous resistance since the fighting in Egypt. German counter-attacks are almost continuous and each foot of ground gained must be fought for time and again.

However, should either the 1st Army attacks to the North break through the Germans in the mountains facing the 8th Army would be in a precarious position, with no choice except to flee for the mountain peninsula Northwest of Tunis toward Bizerte.

The 65 successful candidates for these post-graduate scholarships comprise graduates from 15 Canadian universities who will conduct research work in the coming year in 31 of these institutions.

The list of successful candidates with their home addresses, the Universities from which they graduated, the general field of research and university at which the research will be conducted includes:

Fellowships:

J. A. F. Gardner, Nakusp, B. C., University of British Columbia, Vancouver, organic chemistry at McGill.

L. Mitchell, Vancouver, University of B. C., Vancouver industrial and cellulose chemistry at McGill.

R. M. Thompson, Vancouver, University of B. C., mineralogy at British Columbia.

Studentships:

G. O. Browning, Duncan, B. C., University of B. C., chemistry at University of Toronto.

A. S. Hawker, Victoria, University of B. C., physical chemistry at McGill.

Long Stop Hill guards the pass leading from Medjer-el-Bah into the plain to Tunis. It probably is the most heavily fortified German point on the entire Tunisian front and the scene of the most prolonged and determined fighting.

"In the Cross We Know God," Says Rev. Mr. Forbes In Address at Good Friday Union Service

That Jesus came to reveal God, "and in the Cross we know God," was the message of Rev. H. Stewart Forbes when he gave the address at a Good Friday union service at the First Baptist Church. His subject was "The Rent Veil".

When Jesus died "the veil of the temple was rent in twain from the top to the bottom." In this rent veil, Mr. Forbes said, the disciples saw that the Master had given a new start and a new hope in the world's history.

Say U.S. Fliers Hurdled Defiance at Japs

NEW YORK, April 24 (Saturday) (AP)—The Daily News, in a copyrighted story from Washington, today quotes one American pilot who was captured in the raid on Tokyo and later executed as hurrying defiance at a Nipponese court with the declaration: "Sure, we bombed your damned town. And we'll bomb it again. We'll bomb it twice and three times. I'll bomb it myself as often as God will let me."

was open to the gaze of all wistful souls. Mr. Forbes described the altar of heaven in Peking, where, in the days of the empire, the emperor had worshipped heaven. Mr. Forbes said he had stood on the spot where the emperor had stood, and he had there worshipped the God of heaven and had prayed for the Chinese people in the name of Christ.

Only a 17 foot gain was registered by the lake for the 24 hours ending Friday evening, at the Launch Club gauge, the level at that time being 5.83 feet above the low water mark. This marks the end of the sensational 11 day rise, during 10 days of which the rise was never less than half a foot, nine of the days being consecutive. The cold weather of the last few days will soon affect the volume of water arriving at Nelson from the Rockies-Belkirs watershed, and there will be probably a temporary drop in level.

NAZIS SWITCH ATTACK TO SCOTLAND

Probing Defences; Heavy Casualties in One District

LONDON, April 23 (CP Cable)—Nazi bombers, apparently probing defences around Britain, switched their attack this week from the strongly-defended Southern regions to Scotland, and in a raid two nights ago caused heavy casualties among the civilian population of one Scottish district.

The Air Ministry communique merely referred to a place in Northeast Scotland. The Germans said the target was Aberdeen, fourth largest city of Scotland.

German planes flying in small numbers previously had scattered explosives in many places in the Highlands and Lowlands. Glasgow and the Clydebank have been battered but nowhere else has there been any destruction similar to that inflicted on Cardiff, Portsmouth, Coventry, Brighton and London.

The heaviest casualties were suffered in Aberdeen where at least 68 persons have been killed and 2000 houses damaged. Fraserburgh and Peterhead suffered 40 and 36 casualties, respectively.

It was in March 1941 that the Germans last struck Glasgow and the Clydebank. The bombers came over on two nights in succession. Fires raged with tremendous fierceness. There were more than 110 casualties and at least 40,000 houses damaged.

R.A.F. LAYS MINES Last night activities of the R.A.F. apparently were limited to the laying of mines in enemy waters. An Air Ministry communique said two British aircraft were missing from the mine-laying mission.

Ground Officer Saw Battle in "Test Flight"

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN NORTH AFRICA (CP)—Squad. Ldr. William S. Baddley of Tadworth, England, an R.A.F. equipment officer who had only been aloft twice in his life, went joyriding in a Beaufighter on the pilot's invitation "just on a test flight." The pilot was F.O. C. M. Ramsey, of Brixton, England.

But a half hour later the pilot got a message that a JU88 was shadowing a convoy off the Coast. He was ordered to "go and get it." The Beaufighter turned out to sea and climbed steeply. The temperature at once dropped to minus 21 degrees centigrade.

When he sighted the Junkers, he opened fire at a range of 300 feet. The German craft plunged in a steep dive with flames belching from its engine, until it crashed in the sea.

Baddley was repeatedly thrown off his feet as the Beaufighter twisted and turned, following the Junkers down. "I got knocked about a bit," he said, "but it was worth it."

MONTEAL, April 23 — W. M. Neal, Vice-President of the Canadian Pacific Railway on Thursday told the company's 73,000 employees in a private broadcast, from his office in the Windsor Station here to the entire system, that they must demonstrate by their subscriptions in the Fourth Victory Loan opening Monday "that the endurance of our civilians is as high as the courage of our fighting men."

He saw the war now as a test of staying power with victory demanding that the United Nations continue with unflagging energy.

Speaking as the General Chairman of the Committee directing the officers and employees in their drive for $5,300,000 in Canada's objective of $1,100,000,000 in this loan, Mr. Neal was heard by employees from Labrador to the Yukon. His message was carried over the most extensive private broadcast network in the history of Canadian communications to the thousands responsible for the railway's magnificent performance in transporting the men and materials needed for war and to those who direct the Company's coastal steamships and air lines.

If London's rat population keeps on multiplying the city soon may need a Pled Paper or more cats. The rat population, estimated at 1,500,000 before the war has slumped to half that number while the rats have doubled and trebled.

Dutch Fighters Act Firemen to Save Tanker

LONDON (CP)—How a Netherlands minesweeper, ignoring danger of explosions, saved a blazing British tanker which had been bombed by enemy planes was told to the Netherlands News Agency by a young Dutch lieutenant who has been awarded the British Empire medal for the feat.

In a 28-hour flight, the minesweeper, converted into a floating fire engine, doused the blaze and helped to bring the tanker home with 95 per cent of the gasoline and oil she carried and her engines intact.

"About 30 miles off the British Coast, a large tanker had been bombed by enemy planes and was burning like a torch," the lieutenant recounted. "Our minesweeper was asked to take fire-fighting material to the tanker, together with a commander and six men of the local British fire brigade."

"We set out to sea in a dark night, though the weather was calm. We could not miss the tanker because she was a real beacon. Two destroyers were keeping watch on the tanker. They were rather surprised when we appeared. When I made clear we were going to tackle her, we were warned repeatedly that many explosions had taken place on the burning ship."

"When I answered that we were still going on, we were told, 'All right, we shall stay here to fish you out of the pond.'"

"Our minesweeper went in, manoeuvring to the windward side of the tanker so that the flames were blowing away from us. The tanker had been hit fore and aft and it was hours before we, assisted by a Dutch tug, succeeded in beating the flames."

"The tug went alongside and pumped water into the engine-room while our minesweeper put her nose against the forepart of the tanker so that we could get to close grips with the flames. The foam apparatus worked extremely well and eventually we were able to board the tanker."

"It was an unpleasant walk, as the deck plates were unbearably hot. The tug hoisted pumps on the tanker and hote was led onto the bridge. This planer movement was successful and slowly the fire died."

"Then we had to bring the tanker to port. The Dutch tug assisted by a British tug started towing, while our minesweeper fastened its hawser on the tanker's poop in order to give her steerage."

"Then the excitement began. Near the coast, a heavy tide was running, threatening to push us onto the cliffs. It was touch and go, but we managed to get clear of the cliffs by using every ounce of our power and succeeded in bringing home the tanker."

"The fight lasted 28 hours, but the results were worth the trouble, for not only was the tanker kept afloat but her engines were still in good condition and 95 per cent of the gasoline and oil she carried was salvaged."

Art Collection on Display at Amsden Home

At Mr. and Mrs. Philip Amsden's home on the North Shore, above the ferry landing, is to be seen a collection of paintings and drawings by Vancouver artists, which has been collected and despatched on a tour through the interior of B.C., through the energy and kindness of James Ames, himself an artist resident in Vancouver who visited the Kootenays last Summer on a sketching trip.

Included in this collection are works by such outstanding artists as Lawrence Harris of the "Group of Seven", who speaks weekly over the CBC on Wednesday evenings; Emily Carr, the noted Victoria artist; Chas. H. Scott, A.R.C.A.; W.P. Weston, A.R.C.A.; Ronald Jackson; J. L. Shadbolt; Bert Binning; James Ames and his son, Fred Ames. Those interested in painting and the arts will find it well worth seeing.

The works are naturally limited in size, one of the largest being a sketch in oils by Emily Carr. This, though somewhat sombre in coloring, has a vigour and spiritual feeling that is inherent in all Miss Carr's works. It depicts the forest of B. C. with which Miss Carr is so much in love. Mr. Harris' "North-east Corner of Lake Superior" has stark simplicity and a beautiful pattern and his "Mt. Moosilauke" the quality of strength and fine color. A very lovely picture is Mrs. Harris' "Bermuda Lilies", the flowers grow and breathe on the canvas.

Ronald Jackson presents a striking canvas, "Kamloops Country" with rolling mountains and a fine sky effect. "Barrard Bridge" by Ruby Shand is a well executed work in oils depicting the Vancouver bridge from below. "Athabasca Glacier" by I. W. G. Macdonald has the solidity of the mountains and the flow of the glacier plainly to be seen.

In the pencil and pen and ink drawings, there are some remarkable works by J. L. Shadbolt of which the "Adjutant's Office" will no doubt be the most popular. A full length study "Evelyn" by B. C. Binning in pen and ink is a strong beautiful piece of work. "Balerina" by Betty Ames is a fine figure drawing and there is a beautiful nude by Charles Scott.

The many drawings in pencil and black and white all show great qualities of draughtsmanship. "Wind" by Fred Ames is notable for producing the sensation of wind blowing over a grassy foreground with a stretch of sea beyond.

The exhibition is open to the public today and Sunday afternoon—admission free. Being "modern" in spirit and representative of contemporary art at Vancouver a visit is recommended.

Other exhibitors are: I.W.G. Macdonald, Faulkner Smith P. V. Ustinov, Alistair Bell, E. Miller, Ernest Harris, Peter Aspell, Mrs. Fred Ames, Miss Castle Porter.

BACK THE ATTACK

TODAY, as the war gets well into its fourth year, Canadians are again asked to lend their savings to their country.

This is a costly war. Each year, as our armed forces increase in might, and our output of machines and munitions of war continues to expand, our war costs are multiplied, too. This year, our country will require one billion dollars more to wage the battle of freedom than in 1942. This year, Canada must raise the staggering total of five and one-half billions of dollars.

Never in all history have Canadians faltered in the face of the enemy. Never has the price of freedom been too great a load to bear. And so, with unflinching courage and endurance, Canadians now will continue to put forth an increasing effort until their enemies lay down their arms in complete surrender.

This year, our armed forces will be ready to strike damaging blows against the enemy. Canadians must stand shoulder to shoulder behind the men who face the foe. Every man, woman and child must do his or her utmost. Make your dollars fighting dollars. Back the attack—buy VICTORY BONDS.

Happy About Giving Up

"Giving up and giving something." These words of Mrs. H. printed Saturday, we thought impressive.

"When I could not get Pacific Milk, what do I become a problem until I learned it is being shipped to the war."

Then she adds, "That made me feel happy. It made me feel I was giving up and giving something."

Rather striking words.

Comment . . . More About the Wife Who Took Husband's Child

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

Not long ago a letter came to this column which has brought much comment because of the unusual situation it disclosed.

An unmarried girl who was going to have a baby went to the wife of the man who was the child's father, told her the story and asked for help. The wife took the girl in and decided to adopt the child. She had no children. Her husband, a soldier overseas, while not denying the paternity of the child, declined to assume any responsibility because he claimed to love his wife.

From letters coming to this column about the unusual situation, it would seem the world is becoming increasingly tolerant. More women endorsed the wife's action in taking in the girl and adopting the baby than condemned her.

"My hat is off to this woman, I can understand why she wants to shelter this girl, and since the baby is her husband's child and she herself has no children, this little child will probably mean more to her than one she would adopt."

"I'm not a saintly person and it would not be well for any girl who is about to bear a child of whom my husband is the father, to come to me seeking protection. She would not get it, and I only hope I would be able to control my feelings sufficiently not to add to her troubles by abusive language."

"I wish I knew your correspondent who agreed to take in the girl abandoned by the woman's husband and adopt his child. That would be a friend worth having. It would be a happier world if more of us had the same divine gift of charity."

"I'm puzzled over the behaviour of the woman who opened her door to her husband's discarded mistress and agreed to adopt the child as her own."

"The woman's sister thought her conduct not quite normal, isn't she perhaps a flagellant, one who gets a certain satisfaction from scourging either body or soul, a fanatic who enjoys suffering?"

"This column is still open to readers who would like to comment on this unusual situation. We'll publish some of the letters received."

Normal . . . Film Stars Find If Doesn't Pay to Be Too Thin

By IDA JEAN KAIN

"All the girls now try to copy the movie stars who are too thin because many a Hollywood girl is trying to gain weight." And that is a bit of inside information Jane Wyman asked me to pass along to you. She says the girls are all working harder and they are finding that unless they keep their weight up to normal they can't stand the pace.

She has the two-way theory that not only are the too-thin girls too tense, but that tension makes for thinness. She herself loses weight from strain as quickly as she gains it. But she has worked out a program for putting on curves that is nothing short of unique. "I take time out for outdoor exercise," she says, "when I exercise, I have a good appetite, and that's all I need to gain."

She believes that anyone working under strain requires more than the usual amount of sleep, and when she is making a picture, she gets 12 hours' rest a night.

The Hollywood stars still photograph slim and one of the main

Nature's Way . . . One Cycle Shows How Humans Receive Iodine

By LOGAN GLENDENING, M. D.

All nature is one—at least chemically. This unity is in the form of cycles or circles. Plants, animals, soil, air, rain, rivers, oceans, germs, all these chemicals around from one to the other as an infield baseball team tosses the ball around at practice.

Your body is a little chemical plant and you catch millions of atoms a day and later toss them away to the air, to the ground, to the plants.

THE IODINE CYCLE

The mineral elements and the vitamins we need to go through a complex cycle. Take iodine. We all require a certain amount of iodine to operate. The thyroid gland which regulates our basal nutrition, depends entirely on iodine for its function. When there is not enough iodine in the food and the thyroid gland is starved, a pitiful state of bodily sluggishness ensues.

Nature fortunately has plenty of iodine. According to Fritz Kahn, from whose book "Man in Structure and Function" (published by A. A. Knopf, New York) I borrow this description, there are millions of tons of iodine in the earth.

Now note the iodine cycle of nature.

Iodine is derived from the rocks of mountains and swept down by the mountain streams into the lowland valleys. The mountain valleys are deficient in iodine and in such regions, as in the mountain valleys of Switzerland, thyroid deficiency is very prevalent. But the soil of the lowland valleys is full of iodine, and vegetables and fruits grown there will furnish iodine to you in your food. Also the milk of cattle grazing on such soil will have good quantities of iodine, as will the eggs of poultry which feed there.

Rivers empty into the ocean, so the ocean is a great reservoir of iodine. Fish flesh is therefore rich in iodine. The object in nature which probably has the most iodine is the sponge. Haddock and cod have more iodine content than any other fish. Cod-liver oil, besides its vitamin D content, is a good source of iodine.

Iodine is precipitated from the atmosphere by rain, dew and fog, so after a good rain the soil has a renewed enrichment of iodine.

Coal contains a good deal of iodine, so the smoke plume over our cities is another source. Acids attract iodine and the humus of rotting leaves is very acid, and again enriches the soil.

The cycle, you see, is really complex.

tricks is to keep their waistslines willowy. Jane's measures a mere 23 inches. (Bust 34 inches, hips 23 inches). But these girls really have good figures and Jane is sure that perfect posture is the reason. "In pictures, a girl has to carry herself beautifully and that just naturally seems to keep her figure in line."

She thinks the girl in a career has a difficult time with meals because if you eat too heartily you lose your spark. She likes a glass of milk or cocoa and a sandwich between meals. She never drinks coffee. Some other plan might work out better for you. That depends on you and your job.

Jane, who, as you know, is Mrs. Ronald Reagan, is the mother of a two-year-old leading lady, Maureen Elizabeth. Within one month after the baby arrived, she was wearing her original size dress. This is the most important time in a girl's life for exercise. Jane showed me a couple of the exercises she took and which she declares "are simply wonderful." Some of you will be glad to follow them:—

The first is to lie on your back and bring alternate knees to chest. Do this slowly and rhythmically. You can begin as soon as your doctor gives the word.

The second is to stand sideways to the wall, one hand on wall, elbow bent, other hand resting on back of hip. Now resist with hand on back of hip and pulling in with lower abdominal muscles, push forward and sideward into the wall. Repeat slowly, three times. You should be able to do this exercise after three weeks.

Memory Treasures . . . Sees Advantage in Child Learning by Rote

By Garry Cleveland Myers, Ph.D.

Hundreds of mothers who read this column have discovered in the Red Cross courses in Nutrition, First Aid and Home Nursing that they must do some memorizing. They must learn certain facts by heart, by repeating them over and over. Those who are of middle age or older may find it hard to drive themselves to do this.

Many of the younger mothers had very little practice at rote learning in school. Memorizing facts and literary gems at school was passing when they attended. Their children today do still less memorizing than they did.

OPPOSITE EXTREMES

This extreme aversion to rote learning at school is a violent reaction to the excessive rote learning of half a century ago.

The chief emphasis now is on meaning and richness of impressions. This is good if, after meaning is acquired the meaning is dwelt on long enough and repeated often enough to stick.

Indeed, the child often does not have the meaning we suppose he has, for one impression follows on the heels of another so fast that, for the average child, facts and meanings are just a "buzzing confusion."

Nor should we expect the child to have complete understanding of all he learns by heart. Especially is this true of gems from great literature.

Most of us parents with the elementary school would induce our children to store many of these selections in their memories. But without criticizing the school, many parents can inspire our children to master such treasures at home. Let us begin by reading to our young children, not neglecting parts of the Bible. They will enjoy the music of it.

For best results clean, fillet and salt fish the night before and keep in refrigerator. Don't throw away the heads, skins or any large bones. Prepare a four-quart pot with two onions sliced fine, carrots cut in round slices, and 1 quart of cold water; add heads, bones and skin let boil about 10 minutes. Put both fish, remaining onion and almond through food grinder (or chop fine) and put in wooden bowl to which is added 1-3 cup water, egg, salt, pepper, sugar and cracker meal. Mix all thoroughly until it is consistency of thick gruel. Make into fish patties about the size of a cup cake and gently put into boiling water. As it again comes to a boil, turn flame low and let simmer for 1 1/2 hours. After cooking for an hour, taste it to be certain if you have just the desired seasoning; if not add salt and pepper. Sumner Welles on Security

The world will not be securely free from war until it is prosperous and fruitful, Sumner Welles writes in the Atlantic Monthly.

I should be the last, writes Mr. Welles—to claim that economic causes are responsible alone for this or any other war. But surely it will not be doubted that what happened to the German people, and to German labor, and to the German middle class, between 1918 and 1933 had a great deal to do with the creation of the warped mentality that made it possible for a civilized people to accept a warmongering maniac for their leader.

It was therefore not only a humane sentiment, but the soundest considerations of national interest, that caused the President and British Prime Minister to formulate and the other nations to endorse, the great objectives of the Atlantic Charter: freedom from want and fear. Their common action recognizes that, until both of these freedoms exist throughout the world, neither will exist securely anywhere.

It recognizes also that in these two fields the interests of all peoples are the same. We are in the long run men together, and as men we all need food, shelter, freedom, security and peace. Together, if we are wise enough, we can have all of them; separated by hate and jealousy and war, we can have none. The fate of humankind is, in the long run, one.

Once this is understood and acted on, the peoples of the world will have a chance by their own genius and labor to create for themselves and for their children a more fruitful and prosperous civilization than man has ever before known. For the thing that has happened in our time—and which is proved again by the miracle of American industrial production in this war—is that mankind now knows enough of the methods and techniques of production, of scientific agriculture and of transport to create from the world's resources the material basis of a secure and decent life for all of the world's people.

It is because this is true—because of the advances of the last hundred years in all the sciences and techniques of production—that this century may indeed become the century of the common man.

Liberia Selective

One of the basic articles of the Liberian constitution provides that only persons of African descent are eligible for citizenship or can own land in the republic, Henry St. Villard writes in Travel Magazine. Immigration has been slow of recent years, owing to certain restrictions very properly designed to discourage Negro "repatriation" proposals which are advanced from time to time.

Those admitted to Liberia for permanent residence must be in possession of sufficient funds to afford them a fair start in a foreign land; agriculturists or those possessed of some skill which might contribute to the economic life of the country are welcomed.

Fewer than 300 white persons live in the country, mostly Firestone employees, and missionaries.

J. K. McF., Cranbrook—Is it possible to make a syrup from sugar beets grown in one's own garden?

A simple recipe to make syrup from sliced sugar beets is given by the Dominion Department of Agriculture as follows:

The roots of the beets, from which the tops have been removed, are first soaked in cold water to loosen the dirt, then scrubbed well. After washing, the crown or top portion of the root is cut off at a point below the lowest leaf scar and all green portions removed. The reason for this is that the crown contains the greater part of the salts taken from the soil, and it is desirable to have the syrup as free as possible from these salts. The green portion tends to make dark colored syrup and give it an unpleasant taste. This is also true of the skin or peel, which should be removed.

The following is a condensed summary of the recipe, based on five pounds of sliced beets:

- (1) Wash, top, peel, and slice beets to give five pounds of beets;
(2) Immerse and cover immediately with three quarters of boiling water;
(3) Boil for an hour until soft;
(4) Filter through cheese cloth and wash;
(5) Boil to half volume;
(6) Let stand overnight to allow to settle;
(7) Pour off clear solution and filter residue;
(8) Boil down to half volume again;
(9) Treat with 3 table-spoonfuls of activated carbon and 2 teaspoonfuls of Filter Cel;
(10) Filter (making sure filtrate is clear and free from carbon);
(11) Evaporate to 223 degrees F. or desired thickness.

Full details of procedure are contained in a mimeograph prepared by the Division of Chemistry, copies of which can be obtained from Publicity and Extension, Dominion Department of Agriculture, Ottawa.

R.E.D., Nelson—Is a National Selective Service permit required for temporary employment? Does unemployment insurance apply?

With very few exceptions a permit is required for any employment, temporary or otherwise, if it is for a period of more than three days in any one week. Unemployment insurance applies to nearly all forms of work except domestic help, farm labor, nurses, casual employment, etc. Casual employment is now being defined as employment for short periods by employers for other than the employer's regular business—a gardener, for example.

F. S., Rossland—When a person rents a house for five or six years and the agent wants you to move out, how many months notice should be given you by the new rent regulations?

The length of notice must not be less than three months and proper legal cause must be given.

Looking Backward

10 YEARS AGO (From Daily News, April 24, 1933)

J. C. Williams, who had a sublease on part of the mining property of the Rock Creek Consolidated Placers Ltd., exhibited in Greenwood Friday a bag of placer gold that he had recovered during the Winter weighing 17 ounces in coarse gold nuggets.

Washington was convinced last night that excellent progress had been made by the conferences between Premier Ramsay MacDonald and President Roosevelt. Great Britain and the United States are so completely in agreement in their plans for the world economic conference that they feel it should now be held at the earliest possible date, with the opening probably between June 12 and June 18.

Three thousand unemployed men paraded through business section streets at Calgary yesterday while Government authorities prepared to remove some single jobless to relief camps and civic authorities continued enforcing the lower Summer relief scale for married men.

Today's Horoscope

The person born today has a sunny disposition and likes to be in the company of others. He or she is intellectual, reads widely and well, and chooses friends among people with similar refined tastes. The work is marked by intensity and enthusiasm. Though this person feels anxious on this morning of the birthday, he should not expose the emotions nor yield to self-pity. He or she should not believe in secret information. It may be part of a vicious plot to mislead the gullible. A new approach to a familiar subject will be welcome if he is talking with a group of friends. He should not repeat himself, however, if those present have heard his opinions before.

HOROSCOPE FOR SUNDAY

The person who has a birthday on this date is ambitious, sincere and very outspoken. You are just, wise in your judgments and an ardent lover. It does not require much to arouse your jealousy and you demand a great deal of attention from your loved ones. Be generous and kind to an unexpected guest on this Sunday and your birthday. Offer the type of hospitality that is akin to spiritual strength. Don't go to church because you want to appear religious, but because you feel the impulse to worship at a shrine that is dedicated to high ideals.

Words of Wisdom

If a man be endued with generous mind, this is the best kind of nobility.—Plato.

On the Side

By E. V. DURLING

It is necessary To be almost a genius To make a good husband.—Balzac.

Balzac also observed: "The majority of husbands remind me of an orang-outang trying to play a violin." Arnold Bennett took a more sympathetic view of the matter saying: "Being a husband is a whole-time job. That is why so many husbands fail. They cannot give their entire attention to it."

When the human progress of a nation is most marked the average height of its people is on the tall side. When a nation is on the decline and heading for ruin the average height is small. At the peak of Rome's glory, according to students of the subject, the Romans were tall. As the decline set in the Romans became smaller in stature. This could be important if true. The average height of Canadian and United States citizens is getting higher every year. On the other hand the Japs and Italians are getting smaller. I don't know about the Germans but am certainly going to look it up.

ASIDES

"Before you buy, try three places," is an old proverb. That system of shopping takes a lot of footwork. Still my girl friend tried it and reduced the weekly food budget 40 per cent, and obtained just as good, and in some instances, better food than before.—States a Baltimore bachelor: "The film camera makes a woman appear 15 pounds heavier. That's why when you see a film actress at close range she often looks like a case of slow starvation. I like women who weigh around 150 pounds, the pleasantly plump type. And so do most of my bachelor friends."

ASKING

Queries from clients: Q.—What do you think of the idea of changing the name of New York's Carl Schurz Park because Schurz was a German-American? A.—Am against it. Carl Schurz was not a German-American. He had no hyphenated streak in him. He was 100 per cent American, a close friend and adviser of Abraham Lincoln and a major-general in the Union army in the war between the States.

ALMOST CONFIDENTIAL

Thomas Jefferson invented the swivel chair and originated the waffle revealing that he was a man who liked comfort and food. Even as you and I—One Manhattan and Beverly Hills, Calif., socialist now has 500 pairs of shoes being repaired. I don't know how many shoes this young woman has altogether, but before rationing she bought about 25 pairs at a time.

SIDELIGHTS

Note some mothers are kicking because women who mind babies in the absence of the female parent are charging 50 cents an hour. Instead of being too high, it doesn't seem enough to me. It certainly is a small wage for so great a responsibility.—The synthetic rubber tires we will be able to get in 1944 will be much better than natural rubber tires.—Canada has adopted a modified "pay-as-you-go" income tax system with 50 per cent of the 1942 taxes "forgiven." When taxes are deducted by pay check it makes the average citizen tax conscious. He thinks seriously of taxes at least once a week. That's why politicians in the United States don't like the "pay-as-you-go" tax idea.

PLEASE NOTE

Our bitter campaign No. 3974-A is getting nowhere fast. This campaign is in opposition to the kiss on the cheek between bride and groom after the ceremony. The news photo of the "after wedding" kiss of Band Leader Tommy Dorsey and the strikingly beautiful Patricia Dane reveals the bride offering her cheek to the groom for the first kiss of their wedded life. Mr. Dorsey appears to be accepting this gesture humbly and gratefully. A very poor way to start married life. Mr. Dorsey should have taken the bride firmly in his arms and planted a resounding smack on her welcoming lips.

INJUSTICE

To save lumber the Government has ordered that no coffin shall be more than 6 feet 3 inches long. At the same time it is announcing that boxes of wooden matches in the future will contain 10 per cent more matches. An injustice seems to have been done to our tall citizens. How about longer coffins and shorter matches. The matches are too long, anyhow. In many countries matches have long since been made shorter to conserve lumber. A long-legged guy is crowded sufficiently and has his feet sticking out of the end of things enough during his life without making him suffer, that way afterwards.

Today's VICTORY GARDEN-GRAPH

By DEAN HALLIDAY

RHUBARB RATES PLACE IN VICTORY GARDEN

Rhubarb is a hardy perennial and should be included in even the smallest Victory vegetable garden. Six or eight rhubarb plants will prove enough for the average family.

Clumps of rhubarb roots may be purchased at a seed store if necessary, but often such clumps can be obtained from neighbors with vegetable gardens, for rhubarb plants are improved by being divided after they have become six or eight years old. To divide rhubarb plants it is only necessary to dig them up and then cut each one into several good-sized pieces with a sharp spade.

As illustrated in the accompanying Garden-Graph, have one of two eyes and a part of the roots attached to each division of an old plant. When planting the root divisions, do so with the crown about four inches deep, as illustrated.

Rhubarb is a heavy feeder and responds to generous feedings of manure or other fertilizer and to ample amounts of moisture. The first year after planting rhubarb the stalks are left undisturbed but they may be used the second year. Do not cut or break off rhubarb stalks but grasp each one firmly close to the base, as illustrated, and with a quick jerk pull out the entire stalk.

While the flower stems are decorative, do not allow them to grow, instead remove them as fast as they appear, thus conserving the strength of the plant.

Have your job problem answered by an expert counsellor. Write the Career Engineer, care of the Nelson Daily News. Only initials will be published.

What do you think are my chances of continuous work after the war? I work a lathe in a machine shop. E.A.K.

Forecasting the future is no occupation for a counsellor in these days. With so much machinery being shot at, there is a reasonable guess that machine shops all over this continent will be busy for several years.

If you make yourself a first class machinist, expert only on a lathe, you will never need to worry about being unemployed at any period of your working days. There are thousands of so-called machinists today who, because of the demand, are getting by. Foremen in every plant who check the rejects know who the real machinists are. And they know also the men they want to let out at the first call in orders.

One thing is evident, the world is entering a more specialized period than ever before so far as work is concerned. That means every man must learn to do at least one job or type of work well. Not necessarily new or different work, but the common tasks done better—that is what will count.

So it is up to you E.A.K., whether you are a "regular" or a "spare." Perhaps you know now that you can do better work than you are doing. This is a good time for all tradesmen to shake themselves awake.

Montreal Becoming One of Busiest Publishing Centres

MONTREAL (CP)—Wartime Montreal has become one of the busiest publishing centres in North America.

Cut off from its regular source of supplies in French books and periodicals—Paris—the Canadian metropolis has witnessed the rapid setting up of about a score of new publishing firms.

Not a week elapses but new books are carried away from Montreal publishing plants. They include well-known French works and reprints as well as fast expanding selection of fiction and non-fiction written by French-Canadians.

An ever-increasing number of general interest periodicals sport and illustrated weeklies, digests and women's journals written and published in French Canada, are replacing those formerly eagerly awaited in France by the voracious readers most French-Canadians are.

Most of the books published in Montreal, either reprints or original works of French writers now residing in the Americas, are simultaneously published here, in New York, in Buenos Aires and in other cities of Latin America.

Chatter From Air Mess Rooms

By ALAN RANDAL Canadian Press Staff Writer

WITH THE R. C. A. F. SOMEWHERE IN ENGLAND (CP)—Any Canadian airman who feels about the slowness of mail from home gets little enough sympathy from Pilot Officer Chelmsford (Chappie) Chapman. He is a 24-year-old bomb aimer from Hamilton and hasn't had a letter from home for 18 months.

Sqdn. Ldr. Charles (Dusty) Dowle, D.F.C. of Leader, Sask., after completing a tour of operations in Hampden bombers has started his second cycle, piloting Wellingtons in the squadrons commanded by Blanchard. The first operation of this squadron, one of the latest to join the Canadian Bomber Group, was the "pranging" of the Loriet submarine base.

"I knew the target well," said Dowle, "because I bombed it way back in November, 1941." More dope on the Blanchard squadron: Pn. Bert Millward of Sherbrooke, Que., who went to Loriet as second pilot to Dowle, is a former grammar school teacher who looks like actor Fred MacMurray's twin brother. First bomb the squadron dropped after it went operations went down towards the Loriet docks, the work of Pn. Reggie Hunt of Montreal. Dowle's bomb aimer. Sgt. John Lemke, a fruit grower at Summerland, B.C. before he became a bomb aimer, says, "the fruit we're dropping now sure isn't good to eat."

Ft. Sgt. David Lowther of Moose Jaw tells a story of a dinghy which instead of being a great help came close to spelling his doom. Coming back from a raid on Essen gunfired raked his Lancaster bomber, hit the mechanism which ejects the dinghy. It wrapped itself around the plane's tail and the bomber went into an uncontrolled dive. There's a rumour about it though—the dive proved to be a good evasive action because when the plane finally came out of it the fighter that whacked the Lancaster was no where around. Lowther got a leg wound out of the scrap but it wasn't serious.

Canadian Flier Rescued From Sea

WITH THE R. C. A. F. IN ENGLAND (CP)—After an hour in the water, Sgt. Robert James Gourlay, 26-year-old Spitfire pilot of Long Branch, Ont., was rescued by a Walrus amphibian of the R.A.F. Air-Sea Rescue Service 10 miles off Laird Point in the English Channel.

Gourlay bailed out when his engine failed while on a patrol. But just before jumping he called up on his radio telephone to give his position and the Walrus was dispatched immediately.

"After that hour in the icy water the young Canadian was pretty well done in when we hauled him aboard," said his rescuer, Pn. F. O. Dimblebee, an Englishman.

It was the first time Dimblebee had landed on the sea to pick up anyone. "It was easy enough putting her down, but getting off was a bit tricky because there was a heavy swell," he said. "However, I made it at the fourth attempt after taking about two miles."

RACE CAR TRUCK NOW TAKES MILK SALT LAKE CITY (CP)—Here's a motorized parallel for the old wheeze about the racehorse that graduated to a milk wagon in its old age.

Ab Jenkins, Salt Lake City's racing driver-mayor, has donated to a dairy a huge truck he used to haul the Mormon Meteor; the cat with which he has smashed numerous distance driving records.

Age-Old Easter Customs Differ in Many Lands

By ADINE BEAGHAM Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO (CP)—Easter's the time for eggs, so the song tells us, but do you know why? And did you know that this year Easter falls on the latest date possible?

With Christmas and Whitsuntide, Easter is one of the three great feasts of the Christian Church—with Easter the greatest. Celebrated at first at the same time as the Jewish feast of the Passover it was eventually decided that it should be on the first day of the week, the day that Christ rose from the dead.

Then there was trouble with the vacillating calendar and disputes arose which continued for hundreds of years. Finally, Constantine, the first Christian Emperor of the Romans, grew tired of the bickering and neatly laid down the law.

Constantine had a canon passed at the Council of Nice in 325 A.D., that Easter should always be the first Sunday after the full moon which happens upon or next after the 21st of March. He added that the first full moon should happen on a Sunday, then Easter would be the Sunday after.

While corrections in the Gregorian calendar in 1582 helped settle the date of Easter it was not until 1752 that Great Britain and Ireland and British possessions got into step in this matter. Some of the churches of the Eastern nations still persist in another date.

For many years there had been a pagan feast in honor of Spring, personified as a maiden called Eostre and somehow Easter came to take on the gay Springtime customs of the pagan feast which gradually died out. Some sources say the name Easter came from the Saxon word Ostre which means rising. And then, of course, there developed all sorts of folk-lore and traditions down through the ages.

Among the traditions is the association of colored eggs with the festivities. Folks who would find Easter incomplete without Easter eggs, little realize that long ago in Persia the egg was used to symbolize the beginning of a new life—the young chick breaking his bond of the shell symbolized Christ's shattering the power of the grave and attaining the life everlasting. In another part of the world egg-rolling was the custom and that symbolized the rolling away of the stone from the mouth of the grave. The association of rabbits with Easter celebrations is possibly of folk-lore origin. It arose from an old folk-lore superstition that used to make little nests of green moss, the garden on Easter Eve and on Easter Morning they would bury to see the lovely colored eggs that the rabbits had laid there for them.

There is an old rhyme in England: "At Easter let your cloth be new or else be sure you will rue." Thus the wearing of a new garment on Easter was a way of obtaining good luck. Constantine had a hand in this custom too. He instituted midnight watches on Easter Eve and it is said he wore red apparel and so new and unusual that everyone would seem poor clad beside him." But the people began to dress up too, and so this custom had its beginning. Another old saying assures the wearers of new Easter bonnets that they will have happiness in love!

IN OTHER LANDS

In Portugal at Easter, the people exchange cornucopias full of stuffed almonds. Mexico's Easter marked by festivities including bull fights, plays, gala clothes, music and laughter following the fashion of the Spanish celebration. In Mexican shops are little sugar lambs decorated with garlands of bright paper flowers.

The bells "fly back from Rome" that in the days of peace—and children rush into the garden to try to see them. As they scan the skies, adults scatter bonbons on the ground and say, "You are too late to see them—they've passed as dropped bonbons under your noses." Poor France, what joy they see or their children find the Easter tide!

There used to take place in Alexandria Nevsky Square, Sofia, Bulgaria, a custom which perhaps was one of the loveliest of all Easter traditions—a Spring night, just before midnight, and thousands of people gathered, waiting in the darkness with unlighted candles—then midnight chimes peeling forth—"Christ is risen," the Bishop would proclaim as the people lit their candles. And they would answer "He is risen indeed," and save the candles for good luck in the coming year.

Senior R.C.A.F. (W. D.) Officer Was Early Recruit Coming Through Ranks

By MARGARET ECKER Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP)—Once upon a time, way back in the Fall of 1941 when the R.C.A.F. (Women's Division) was shiny new, there was a wavy-eyed, green recruit at Manning Depot in Toronto who skinned her knees shinning into an upper bunk in the barracks block and who was spoken to severely on parade on occasion for not having her buttons bright enough.

Aw 2 Walker, Willis, sometimes forgot to salute section officers on the street—and in fact made all the blunders the average airwoman rookie makes.

There's a Squadron Officer instead of a woman Second Class in front of Willis Walker's name today, and she has just become senior staff officer of the whole women's division in Canada. But she's still the same, friendly, merry young woman and 11,000 airwoman and officers will tell you from the bottom of their hearts that she's a "good type"—air force-use for a grand person.

A Montrealer, Squadron Officer Walker before her last promotion was officer commanding No. 7 Manning Depot at Rockcliffe near here. Every week a class of 80 to 200 new recruits got their fix: taste of Air Force life there and the same number was graduated from basic training to go on active service.

Basic training is no picnic. It takes a lot of adjustment to make a civilian into an airwoman. But when the little rookie struggled making her bed the Air Force way, fell over her feet on the parade ground trying to learn drill and took her introduction, she had the consolation that the rest of the O.C. had followed the same path. The new recruit knows that her squadron officer always pilots "matrons"—and it makes basic training a lot easier, somehow.

The recruits can also know that Willis Walker behind her big executive desk in R.C.A.F. Headquarters moves them in spite of her important new post.

HUSBAND A PRISONER

It didn't take the Air Force to teach Squadron Officer Walker what war is. On her desk at the picture of a handsome young man in Black Watch uniform. That's Capt. David Walker, who was taken prisoner of war at St. Valery-en-Caux in June, 1940, just after Dunkerque.

He's in a German prison camp but his wife is carrying on the job. And she's sure that she and every other girl in uniform will be a better wife for having seen active service.

Life in the Air Force is going to be a wonderful background for marriage," she said. "A marriage is going to mean so much more, because of the experience the man and woman have shared together in uniform. A girl who has been in the service will be able to understand her husband better—because she'll know what he's been through."

world. Life isn't going to be easy then."

The war has been the background for the squadron officer's own marriage. It was in Montreal in July 1939 that the daughter of Col. G. Mrs. A. M. Meege married a handsome young side-de-camp Lord Tweedsmuir, late Governor General of Canada.

The officer took his bride home to Scotland for a wedding trip at they had been back in Montreal only four days when war began. Cap. Walker rushed back to Scotland to join his regiment. He joined the Red Cross transport corps to do her share. Then she discovered she could go to England so she followed him across the submarine-infested Atlantic.

At St. Valery-en-Caux, a few days after the fall of Paris a large force of British soldiers was captured and for three long months Mr. Walker did not know whether his husband was dead or alive. She is come back to Canada before it learned he was a prisoner of war.

AN EARLY RECRUIT

But the long days dragged as when the women's division of the R.C.A.F. was formed she rushed enlist. She was among the first to enlist to wear the Air Force blue and in October 1941 she was at Manning Depot, Toronto, scrambling in upper bunks and struggling with Air Force lore.

Fresh Taxation in South Africa

CAPE TOWN, (CP)—The new budget of Hon. J. H. Hofmeyr, Minister of Finance and Education, includes a 15 per cent increase in income tax and a super-tax increase in the gold mines contribution from 23 to 25 per cent, also an increase in the excise profits tax from 13 shillings, six pence to 13 shillings in the pound.

There will be an increase on dividends paid to overseas shareholders of from one shilling to one shilling six pence in the pound and value increases in customs and excise duties on beer, spirits, cigarettes and tobacco. Postage is raised from the half price to two pence and a levy of 12 1/2 per cent is imposed on telephone accounts.

The foregoing increases with existing taxation are expected to realize more than £100,000,000 ($150,000,000) in 1943-44. Defence expenditures for the coming year are conservatively estimated at £96,000,000 ($220,000,000) which the finance minister hopes to raise £48,000,000 ($220,000,000) from revenue and the remainder from loans. It is emphasized that South Africa's loan positions remain sound.

$300,000,000 BUILDING JOB LONDON (CP)—F. C. R. Douglas, presenting estimates to the London County Council, said about 1,000 new houses would be required in London after the war, costing about $400,000,000 to replace bomb-damaged houses and slums.

Oshawa May Be Short Two Players Tonight

TORONTO, April 23 (CP)—Injuries may force the loss of two starry Oshawa players when they meet Winnipeg Rangers here tomorrow night in the fourth game of their best-of-seven series for the Memorial Cup and the Canadian Junior Hockey title, Coach Charlie Conacher of the Oshawa Generals said tonight.

The two are Frank Bennett, ace defenseman, and Chuck Sobers, speedy winger, both bothered by knee ailments. They were important factors in the two victories Oshawa has gained in the series.

"Whether they play is entirely up to themselves," Conacher said. He added he felt no reason to be overly optimistic about his club's chances, though "we look for a great battle, that's for sure."

Bob Kinnear, Winnipeg Coach expressed confidence his team could lead off the series and said the Western youngsters intend to throw the game wide open from the start.

Meanwhile, officials said Maple Leaf Gardens was sold out this morning for the game and there was a good chance a new junior attendance record would be established.

Customers Like Count Fleet After Workout

LOUISVILLE, Ky., April 23 (AP)—Derbyville had its first look at Count Fleet in action today—and climbed right on the bandwagon. The way he did his bit convinced the neighbors that he has all the answers for the Kentucky Derby May 1 and maybe a few extra for the Preakness and Belmont after that.

He stepped out on a muddy Churchill Downs track and churned along for three-eighths of a mile in a snappy 30 3-5 seconds.

What's more important, his cut left hind foot is healing rapidly. The Count will follow up this morning's short trip with a longer run tomorrow, probably a mile or more.

His splash today was the but number of a day that saw such other Derby doings as the arrival from New York of Slide Rule and Twosee, thereby completing the Derby field; a couple of fair mile workouts by Gold Shower and Modest Lad, and the possible withdrawal of Seven Hearts from the list of probable starters.

Seven Hearts is owned by J. Graham Brown, the Louisville Hotel Proprietor. He has been troubled for a long time with a split in his foot.

It looks as if 11 others are going to race against the favored Count May Day.

Cup Hockey Fever Grips Calgary for Game Tonight

CALGARY, April 23 (CP)—Hockey fever is intense in this city with Ottawa Commandos and Victoria Army being scheduled to stage the third game of the 1943-44 Allan Cup finals here Saturday night. Advance bookings were so brisk that women ticket holders were given their first chance of picking up reservations this morning. The standing room only sign was put up within three hours. Due to recent fire regulations about 400 balcony seats at the arena will not be sold and this limits the capacity to about 6500 persons.

Victoria Army players arrived in the city today and during the afternoon indulged in what their Manager Lt. Bud Ray stated was the most grueling workout of the entire winter. High strung, as they naturally are following 4-3 and 6-4 setbacks at Winnipeg and Regina respectively, the Western champions did an unusual amount of body checking and carried their sticks high, and this resulted in ample spills for the players and an abundance of thrills for the railbirds. Elmer Kretzer came out of the practice with a cut forehead, due to a crack by Pinky Melnyk.

For fear that the high altitude here might affect them Commandos remained over in Regina and are not due to arrive until Saturday morning. They will have a light meal shortly after booking in at the hotel.

A's Shut Out Boston Red Sox 5-0

PHILADELPHIA, April 23 (AP)—Philadelphia Athletics, with Russ Christopher and Luman Harris combining to hurl shut-out ball, chalked up their first victory of the youthful 1943 baseball season today by whipping Boston Red Sox 5-0 in the only game played in the Major Leagues.

Christopher, charged with the A's first defeat against Washington Senators last Tuesday, yielded all six hits cracked out by the Sox before weakening in the eighth. With one out, he passed Ulysses Lupien and Rookie outfielder Ford Garrison.

Connie Mack promptly waved him to the showers and called on Luman Harris to squelch the rally. Harris, who started the season's inaugural, did just that, holding the Sox hitless in the last 1 2-3 innings.

The Athletics jumped on Joe Dobson for eight of their nine hits and five of their runs. The other tally was scored at the expense of Lou Lucler, Rookie right-hander up from Louisville.

Bobby Doerr did the only real thumping for the Sox. He drove out two doubles, one in the first with two out and the other in the third with Pete Fox astride first base. Fox tried to score but was nipped at the plate.

Ananix Holds Wings to Five Hits as Newark Wins 5-1

NEWARK, N. J., April 23 (CP)—Long Tom Ananix, making his International League debut, rattled Rochester Red Wings to five hits here today while his Newark teammates collected 10 to romp to their second straight victory by a 5-1 score.

Ananix, a southpaw who served previously with Oakland in the Pacific Coast League and Birmingham, held the Wings to only one hit in the first 2 2-3rd innings and lost his chance for a shutout in the sixth because of wildness. Two passes and a single by Joe Black drove in Rochester's tally. In all, Ananix dished up seven walks and struck out five. He had support of three double plays reeled off in the first four frames.

Writers Razz Ranger Coach for His Alibis

By CHARLES EDWARDS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO, April 23 (CP)—Toronto sports writers gave Coach Bob Kinnear the needle because of his explanation for Winnipeg Rangers' defeat in the second game of the Memorial Cup hockey final with Oshawa. Kinnear claimed publicity given his players after they won their first game went to their heads.

Ed (Toronto Star) Fitkin commented: "Ring Lardner's Alibi like was 'strictly from corn' compared to Western hockey officials and their ability to conjure up excuses to cover defeats in Memorial Cup play. We've been deluged with such fantasies as difference in atmospheric conditions, the change in drinking water, the heat of the Gardens or wrong underwear. We always liked the underwear alibi best."

"It was foisted on us by Edmonton Roamers the year Taylor and his Oshawa mates bilized 'em with 'soaked ice' strategy. After dropping the first two games by 6-4 and 12-4 scores, baffled Edmontonians came up with the reason. 'It's the long underwear our kids are wearing. It's so hot in the Gardens it begins with."

Dodgers to Bar Press From Dressing Room

By WHITNEY MARTIN
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, April 23 (AP)—The Press will be barred from the Brooklyn Dodgers' dressing room after games and forced to cool its heels in an anteroom waiting for the Athletics to speak to the scribes.

Dodger President Branch Rickey makes the whole idea sound reasonable and beneficial to all concerned. And, as the relations between ball players and the Press now stand, he's right.

"I venture to say," says Mr. Rickey, "that in 26 years I never have entered the clubhouse of a team after a losing game. To do so would be to scrape the scab off sores and leave someone bleeding."

"Most of the clubhouse fights occur within 10 minutes of the end of the game; most of them within two or three minutes. The players are keyed up, haven't had a chance to cool off. They aren't ready for interviews."

"This system might work out pretty well, barring the chance that a player brought in to the Press room might suffer a sudden attack of lockjaw when confronted by a room full of inquisitive gents as under the most favorable circumstances you have to use a stirrup pump to get anything out of the average ball player.

It is the idea of the thing that rankles a little. That is, if there were any waiting to be done, the ball players, by the very nature of their work and their debt to the Press, should do it.

After all, the Press literally feeds the ball player. If the Press decided abruptly to print no more baseball news, baseball would give one feeble gasp and promptly expire. The game depends upon the free publicity it gets.

Greco to Meet Terry Young, New York Fighter

NEW YORK, April 23 (AP)—Wanted: one lightweight champion. That's all the National Boxing Association needs to make its list of world title holders complete. In the Association's quarterly ratings, released today, the lightweight throne is left vacant, with Sammy Angott and Beau Jack listed as the logical contenders. The winners of a bout between those two, it was stated, would be recognized.

Rated as an "outstanding boxer" in the lightweight division is Pte. Johnny Greco of Montreal and the Canadian Army. Greco meets Terry Young of New York in Montreal May 8 in a bout for the benefit of the Canadian War Fund. Another Canadian, Jackie Callura of Hamilton, is the featherweight champion.

Young Howie Morenz Heading for Famous Dad's Spot on Canadiens

By OWEN SHANNON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

MONTREAL, April 23 (CP)—There's a game little youngster making his way upward in the hockey world, and when he gets to the top he will find a spot waiting for him with Montreal Canadiens of the National Hockey League.

Howie Morenz, Jr. is the lad, and under the tuition of Brother Paul, Coach of the Montreal Canadiens High School team, he is making great strides in fulfilling his ambition—that of taking his father's place in the Canadiens' lineup. Like his dad, he plays centre.

When Howie, Sr. died in 1937, officials of the Canadiens Hockey Club laid aside No. 7 and declared that sweater sacred to his memory and to this day the number has been missing when the habitan's have played.

If the day should come when Howie Jr. wears the red, white and blue jersey, Number Seven again would be back in circulation, for it is felt that the best way to commemorate the memory of the late Howie Morenz is to have another Howie Morenz carry his number along the ice lanes.

Howie, Sr., weighed 180 pounds and measured five feet nine inches, so that the younger Howie has far to go before he equals his dad in size. Howie, Jr. is 16, and weighs 135 pounds and is five feet seven inches.

"Because he is small, the youngster is not too anxious to make a sudden jump into the professional ranks. He maintains that he will try to break into big-time hockey the slow way."

"Too many young fellows have been knocked out of the game in their first year because they took the step too soon," he says.

"Before dad died, he gave me plenty of advice about the pitfalls that dot the career of a hockey star, and I'm going to remember his words. I hope to get a chance with the Canadiens in about four or five years and of course I would like to be given Number Seven."

Tommy Gorman, Manager of the Canadiens, is pleased with the showing made by the lad and hopes to give him a trial in another two years, despite Howie's wish to come along the slow trail.

"Howie plays hockey just like his father," Brother Paul says, "and is a natural skater with that same little hop in his stride that made Howie, Sr. famous."

Industry is helping win the war...
Industry must help build a peacetime world

Today, all industries must produce as never before—must speed the output of food, tanks, planes, guns, ships and other instruments of war—must conserve vital supplies—that we may win quickly a decisive victory.

Tomorrow, all industries must continue to produce—beating swords into plowshares—to prevent world-wide unemployment leading to ultimate economic collapse.

If the world is to prosper, there must be the same cohesion among the United Nations during the transition period and thereafter as now exists during the world-wide conflict. Internal stability here and in other nations can be gained and maintained only by sustained industrial production and by interdependence.

The people of this country, in common with the people of other lands, will prosper materially and spiritually when this war is ended but only if plans world-wide in scope are formulated promptly for A JUST AND DURABLE PEACE.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 23 (AP)—Army life is doing wonders for Private Max Baer.

At 34, the former heavyweight champion feels so invigorated he is talking of a future ring comeback and mentions a fight with Joe Louis in the same breath.

Incidentally, he was on the verge of signing an attractive Hollywood contract when he chose to become an inductee in the United States Army.

Baer is stationed at McClellan Field, Sacramento, as boxing instructor.

THE ORDER OF EVENTS
SUCCESS OR failure of a large proportion of all contracts depends not so much upon what moves are made as upon when. Changing the order of events ever so slightly can alter the entire situation. Probably the hardest factor of all to master in bridge is the element of timing, which is frequently a very delicate proposition. Set rules can not be laid down except in a general way. Their application depends on study of the several elements involved to figure out just how to fit them together.

What kind of hand did East have for his double? That was the question confronting South, a deep-thinking declarer, when the spade lead rode around to him. He decided to seek to build up some heart tricks for discards, since the clubs might be badly touched, and so would use the dummy's trumps as ruffing entries instead of trying finesse toward either of his own suits.

So, after ruffing the first trick, he laid down the club A, and was both gratified and shocked by the falling of the singleton K. Instead of leading a club then for an immediate ruff, he went after the hearts at once, sending the 10 to East's Q. The latter returned a spade to be ruffed by the diamond 5, then the club 5 was led, West ruffing with the 8 to force the A. The heart K, covered by the A, was ruffed by the diamond 7 and the club 7 led. West using his diamond 10, too high for the dummy to over-ruff. Another spade was led, the dummy ruffing with the diamond 2 and South trashing a club.

Now came good hearts from dummy. East, not wanting his diamond honor caught, discarded and South threw off clubs for two successive tricks. This left South only his best three trumps. Thereupon he led the diamond 6 from dummy, and East's guarded Q was trapped. It was pretty play.

Harrop Ferryman Saves Child From Drowning

HARROP, B. C.—At about 5 o'clock Thursday afternoon, Bernard Tarasewich, 2½-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Tony Tarasewich, fell off the Longbeach ferry approach into the lake while playing there with his wagon. Loan Campaign to Use All Publicity Means

By personal contact, by Press, by radio, by film and by every other means available, residents of Nelson District will be urged in the next three weeks to "Back the Attack" by lending their money for victory—to back the men and women in uniform with Victory Bonds, on the basis that "Victory depends upon us all."

The campaign opens Monday with the ceremony of raising the Nelson pledge flag as the feature of the opening day. Also features of opening day will be the showing of three war films to the Rotary and Gyro Clubs, and locally-arranged radio programs over CKLN.

Victory Loan salarman on Monday will start their drive to sign applicants for bonds. Teams conducting internal canvases, such as the Kootenay Engineering Company plant at Brilliant, will also start their drive.

Nelson unit has a quota in this campaign of $700,000. Of that Nelson and immediate vicinity is called upon for $355,000; Kaslo for $30,000; Nakusp for $38,000; New Denver for $42,000; and Salmon for $35,000.

JAPS MURDERED PRISONERS IN BURMA AREA

Report Men Unfit for Work Bayoneted to Death

LIST CASUALTIES

By WILLIAM MCGAFFIN Associated Press Staff Writer

NEW DELHI, April 23 (AP)—Official sources declared tonight that the Japanese "murdered in cold blood" a substantial number of British and Indian prisoners of war captured on the Burma front.

A spokesman said there was "authentic eyewitness evidence" for this fresh disclosure which comes on the heels of President Roosevelt's announcement that some of the American airmen captured during last April's Tokyo raid were executed.

Escaped prisoners, the spokesman said, declared that "the Japs are using British and Indian prisoners of war to carry supplies" and that "those unfit for work were bayoneted to death."

The bayonet was used, said the spokesman in quoting the prisoners, rather than a more humane bullet in order to conserve ammunition.

Asked whether Britain proposes retaliatory action, the spokesman said that would do no good, explaining:

"The Japs don't care. The Jap attitude is that a prisoner of war is as good as dead for he never will be able to go back to Japan. He is in permanent disgrace."

Simultaneously it was announced that Indo-British casualties in the four-month campaign on the Arakan front in Burma totalled 3514

Threatened Meal Famine Over; 4 Cars Arrive

Meal famine that threatened the Kootenay as a result of the stop of through freight service at Kootenay Landing bridge has been averted.

Four carloads of meat due at the beginning of the week had to be diverted via Spokane and Grand Forks, and arrived in Nelson Thursday night, instead of Monday.

Supplies of meat in stores in Kootenay centres reached a low ebb Thursday, so low in the Slokan that butcher shops closed, and almost as low at Trail and Rosland. Nelson's position was not so serious, but many shoppers Thursday had to accept what the stores could offer rather than what they wanted.

With the arrival of the four cars Thursday night, meat wholesalers on Friday faced the task of doing a week's work in one day. By Friday night they had supplies on hand to Trail, Sheep Creek, the Boundary and the Slokan, and they planned to supply Nelson stores today.
