Killings Reported as Greeks Vote

By L. S. CHAKALES
ATHENS, March 31 (AP)—Clashes between Communists and Greek Government forces left possibly 20 persons dead today in the region of storied Mount Olympus, while first returns from the country-wide election indicated the left wing had failed in its campaign to have voters boycott the polls.

Skies were sunny throughout Greece and voting in many places was heavy, with order prevailing in most of the country.

It was the first parliamentary election in more than 10 years. Russia had opposed holding the election at this time, refusing to send observers, and Left-Wing parties declined to put up candidates.

(The British-American-French mission observing the election announced in London it would issue April 10 its report on the freedom and fairness of the polling. The announcement said the Allied representatives could issue their report only after they had sifted reports from observer teams throughout the country.)

SEE LEFT-WING LOSS

Some observers said the heavy voting was a decisive defeat for the Left Wingers, who had urged voters to stay away from the polls on the grounds that the Populists, dominated by Royalists, were planning a coup to return King George II to Greece.

All British forces and Greek troops except those voting and the military police were confined to their barracks. Greek-manned armored cars which patrolled Athens streets Saturday were not on duty today.

Soviet First to Pay UNO Assessment

Council Awaits Iran, U.S.S.R. Reply on Bid for Information

DEVOTION SIGN

NEW YORK, March 31 (AP)—Soviet Russia, whose delegate walked out of the United Nations Security Council last week in protest against hearing the Iranian case before April 10, tonight notified the United Nations it had paid its United Nations assessment of $1,725,000 in full.

BOYCOTT FOR IRAN CASE ONLY

A member of one delegation who withheld use of his name said of Russia's financial action: "I think we all would like to consider it as a sign of continued Russian devotion to U.N.O. and that we will soon get over this temporary absence."

The Russians here have made it clear they walked out only on the Iranian case. They have continued to participate in sessions of the council's committee of experts on procedure.

Trygve Lie, secretary general of the United Nations, who last Friday dispatched the request for more complete information to the two governments, announced tonight the cable from Moscow, dated Saturday March 30, read:

"On instructions of the Council of Ministers of the U.S.S.R. I have the honor to inform your excellency that the Soviet Union's contribution to the working capital fund of the organization, $1,725,000, has been transferred on 31st March by the State Bank of the U.S.S.R. in the amount of the United Nations Organization to the Federal Reserve Bank, New York."

The cable was from Andrei Vishinsky, Russian Deputy Minister of Foreign Affairs.

NO WORD

There has been no announcement of the progress of the request from the council for more information from Russia and Iran by the time the council meets at 11 a.m. E.S.T. next Wednesday, but it was noted the Russian cable announcing the allocation of funds to the United Nations is dated the day after the council initiated its request.

The entire working capital of the United Nations has been set at $25,000,000. The United States was allotted the largest amount—$8,153,000, of which she has paid $500,000 thus far.

The British share was $3,692,750, of which Great Britain has paid $300,000.

The following countries have paid in full: Belgium, $332,000; The Netherlands, $337,000; and Norway, $169,000.

The principal activity in United Nations circles during the weekend was adoption by the council's committee of experts, with Russia assenting and participating, of rules for the conduct of business of the council.

Andrei A. Gromyko, Russian delegate today paid two brief visits to the Soviet consulate general building, official Soviet headquarters in New York.

ASSOCIATES MAKE CANADA 'MOST IMPORTANT NATION'

SCHUMACHER, Ont., March 31 (CP)—Dr. R. C. Wallace, principal of Queen's University, Kingston, Ont., last night told a Queen's alumni meeting that Canada is the most important nation in the world today because she is kin to Britain, cousin to the United States, and geographically a neighbor to Soviet Russia.

TURKEY, IRAQ SIGN PEACE PACT

ANAKARA, Turkey, March 31 (AP)—An official announcement confirmed today the signing of a friendship treaty by Turkey and Iraq. The statement said the treaty was an "instrument of peace" and would become effective as soon as it was ratified by parliaments of both countries.

POSES HOT PROBLEM FOR UNO SECURITY COUNCIL

Here is a map of the area involved in the Russian-Iranian crisis before the Security Council of the United Nations Organization in New York. The shaded area is Azerbaijan, where Russians maintained troops, although they were supposed to have withdrawn them on March 2. Location of the oil that troubles the Near and Middle East waters can be seen with the candy-striped oil pipelines running to the Mediterranean.

SEES ARTIFICE MAKING IRAN CASE UNO BLOCK

MOSCOW, March 31 (AP)—The Soviet newspaper Pravda asserted today that the Iranian problem has been "artificially turned into a stumbling block in the way of successful and fruitful activity" of the United Nations Security Council.

The article, written by Pravda's international reviewer, commented: "How strange it is that some members of the Security Council on this question took a more irreconcilable position than the Iranian Prime Minister Qavam. He considered it possible to postpone it for 14 days if it was found necessary to discuss the question at all in the Security Council."

The Soviet press commented on a wide variety of international matters as follows:

1. The Government newspaper Izvestia said all available information indicated the new British-Transjordan treaty was a first move in a careful plan for "creation under English protection of a huge Arabian Federal state in the Middle East."

2. Izvestia's expert on Middle East affairs discussed a recent Turkish-Iranian pact which he said heralded a rapprochement indicating "that preparations for formation... a Turkish-Arab bloc become more and more active."

3. The international reviewer of Pravda said the Chungking newspaper Minyu had published a "false" story that "between the Soviet Union and the Chinese Communist party there seemed to exist a secret agreement."

4. The Soviet trade union journal Trud said trade union membership in Saxony and Thuringia in the Russian zone of Germany totalled 3,140,000 while in the entire American zone at the end of January there were only 453,000 trade unionists.

2,600,000 CHILDREN IN POLAND TO BE 'TERRIBLY SUBNORMAL FROM UNDERNOURISHMENT'—HOOVER

HELSINKI, March 31 (AP)—Herbert Hoover arrived today from Warsaw to study Finland's food situation.

WARSAW, March 31 (AP)—Herbert Hoover said Saturday the food situation in Poland was the worst he had seen thus far in Europe, and that study by American experts showed "over 2,600,000 children to be terribly subnormal from undernourishment."

He reported his American Commission investigating European food conditions found in Poland that "5,000,000 children should have more food and more appropriate food at once."

The former president in a statement said he found the Polish food situation "far worse" than that of Italy, but expressed hope that if needy countries were able to get through until the next harvest, "then the wolf at the door would go away, at least for awhile."

"This is the worst situation we have seen so far, in every respect," Mr. Hoover's statement said.

Saskatchewan on Track of New Enterprise

REGINA, March 31 (CP)—Resources Minister J. L. Phelps told the Legislature Saturday that Saskatchewan's C.C.F. Government was investigating "every avenue with a view to additional enterprises" and research in such ventures as utilization of timber products, development of lignite coal, wider use of clay products and expansion of sodium sulphate industry was being carried on.

The Minister made the statement during committee discussion of Natural Resources Department estimates of $1,358,550 which were passed at the Legislature's first Saturday night sitting.

The Minister said a commission was to be appointed to inquire into the possibilities of Saskatchewan's fishing industry. It probably will be headed by Dr. R. S. Rawson of the Biology Department of the University of Saskatchewan and would report on the possibility of making the industry self-sustaining.

Gus McDonald, an official of the Nova Scotia Cooperative Fishing Association, is coming to the Province to confer with Saskatchewan fishermen regarding the possible soft fishers cooperatives in the Province.

Health Bill Progresses
In committee of the whole the House reported progress on a voluminous bill consolidating the Province's legislation with regard to municipalities and another measure regarding health services.

The latter provides for the setting up of health regions in the Province where residents through their own decision could establish facilities such as hospitals and clinics. These facilities would later fit into the Government's Province-wide health plan it proposes to effect by stages, with the first step being taken next January with implementation of Province-wide hospitalization plan.

Herman Danielson (L—Arm River) was asked by Speaker Tom Johnson to withdraw a question he made earlier in the Public Accounts Committee which was ruled unparliamentary. The member had asked regarding certain payments to an employee of the Government and had said "I want a straight answer"—a statement Premier Douglas submitted implied he was "getting crooked answers."

After considerable debate Mr. Danielson withdrew his statement.

Viscount Gort, V.C., "Tiger" of British Army, Dies

LONDON, March 31 (CP)—Field Marshal Viscount Gort, V.C., 69, who commanded the British Expeditionary Force in France and the retreat from Dunkerque early in the Second Great War, died today in Guy's Hospital after a long illness.

A former chief of the British Imperial Staff and a distant cousin of the King, Lord Gort resigned as commander-in-chief and High Commissioner for Palestine last Fall because of ill health and came to London for treatment. He underwent an operation in November and "recently" suffered a relapse, an announcement said.

PEER AT 16
Born July 10, 1866, he succeeded his father as the sixth Viscount Gort in the Irish peerage at the age of 16. He was educated at Harrow and Sandhurst Military College.

A descendant of a long line of warriors, Lord Gort had been a professional soldier since he was 19. His energy and reputation for courage won him the army sobriquet of "The Tiger."

He served with distinction during the First Great War, winning the Victoria Cross, the Empire's highest gallantry award, in 1918, after he was twice wounded.

He was a brevet-major when the war ended in 1918.

ARMY'S TOP MAN
In 1937, when Leslie Hore-Belisha, then War Secretary, was casting about for a leader to reshape Britain's armed forces to meet modern requirements, Lord Gort was promoted over the heads of some 30 senior Generals to the army's highest post, that of chief of the Imperial General Staff.

The first meeting between Viscount Gort and Mr. Hore-Belisha was unconventional. Both were on holiday in Switzerland. They collided while skiing.

HEADED FOR FRANCE
In 1939 he headed the British Expeditionary Force in France and later played a major role in the desperate rearguard action which saved 325,000 British and thousands of French soldiers from entrapment at Dunkerque.

On his return to Britain he became Inspector General of the British home forces for training, and in April, 1941 was named Governor and commander of Britain's rock fortress of Gibraltar.

In May, 1942, he was sworn in as Governor and Commander-in-Chief of the "most bombed spot on earth," The island fortress of Malta in the Mediterranean.

Lord Gort assumed the difficult post of High Commissioner and Commander-in-Chief for Palestine in October, 1944. He was elevated to the rank of Viscount of the United Kingdom last November. He had held the post for 18 months.

Prime Minister Attlee paid this tribute to Lord Gort: "He rendered great services to his country. His outstanding courage and resources in the face of all dangers and difficulties were an inspiration to those he commanded and to the nation."

Bullets Fly as Allies Raid Homes in 200 Towns

Uncover Threat in Underground Plot Against Allies in Germany

By RICHARD A. O'REGAN
FRANKFURT, Germany, March 31 (AP)—British and American raiding parties have searched homes in 200 towns in Western Germany and Austria in rounding up about 1000 Germans suspected of Nazi plotting, military authorities said tonight.

American intelligence officers said no reports of injuries to 7000 Allied combat troops and counter-espionage agents had been received.

Gun exchanges were reported to have occurred in several towns and villages between Allied soldiers and individual Germans who were taken into custody for questioning in connection with the most dangerous threat to Allied security uncovered in occupied Germany since the war.

An official United States Army Headquarters announcement said the manhunt of Nazi men, women and youths suspected of underground plotting against the Allies was "carried out without unusual incidents." The Army authorities added, however, that the announcement was based on incomplete reports.

Virtually no resistance was offered the raiders by the majority of those seized.

FRANKFURT, Germany, March 31 (AP)—The Nazi underground movement which Allied authorities said today had been smashed had these principal aims:

1. To set up an economic organization with a network of business contacts throughout Germany. Ultimately this organization was expected to wield great power in German economic affairs.

2. To exercise long-range subtle influence over German politics along the lines of the Fuehrer principle, in preparation for seizing power in any national Government of the future.

BEVIN AGAINST USE OF FORCE TO GAIN ENDS

Proposes UNO Setup to Settle Economic Problems
SEES AGREEMENT

BRISTOL, England, March 31 (CP)—Foreign Secretary Bevin called on the world's big powers Saturday night "to leave behind the method of negotiating under duress" and proposed the United Nations establish "proper machinery" to settle economic rivalry.

Without mentioning directly the Russian-Iranian dispute, Mr. Bevin told a meeting of Transport Union members: "It is improper to negotiate or attempt to negotiate or obtain concessions by a great power out of a little power by means of occupying the country with forces."

PROPOSES AGREEMENT
Describing the use of force as "19th century imperialism," he proposed an agreement among the United Nations "that whatever happens we will not use armies to settle our disputes."

"Imperialism," he said, must "be left behind and I believe that a solution will be found and the principle will be accepted that those of us who represent the great powers will do that."

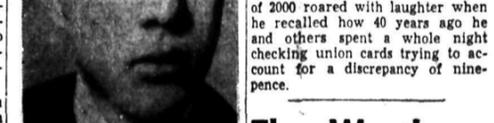

"I think we shall have to leave behind the method of negotiating under duress, but that carries with it a further step.

"Where vital raw materials are concerned that may be a cause of great powers getting into conflict. Then, we must establish proper machinery to deal with that vital economic problem and not by the old methods."

Commenting on the disagreement in the Security Council—but avoiding mention of Russia—Mr. Bevin said that "if there is a disagreement, that does not mean you have to have a war or a serious quarrel."

Mr. Bevin's appearance before the Bristol transport workers' festival was a night of memories. His trade union colleagues and the audience of 2000 roared with laughter when he recalled how 40 years ago he and others spent a whole night checking union cards trying to account for a discrepancy of nine-pence.

Taxi Pitches Over Granite Road Wall as Steering Gear Goes Wrong; Damage Is External; Driver Unhurt

Very slow speed of his taxi, and great good luck in addition, led George Lepinski, a driver for the B.B. Taxi, escape without discoverable injury, when something went wrong with the car's steering apparatus, and he diagonaled across the Granite Road, at 10:30 Saturday night, and pitched off the retaining wall a few hundred feet west of the Nelson city limits, to the rocky declivity below, trees that the nose of the car broke off cushioning the fall.

At the time of the accident Lepinski was returning to town from taking some passengers about a mile out of town on the Granite Road.

The car was returning on the upper side of the road when he discovered that it would not respond to the wheel.

"Well, Lepinski, this is it!" he said to himself, as the car bore to the left toward the brink of the tall retaining wall.

TREES CUSHION FALL

When the car, after breaking two trees, slid about 50 feet down the declivity, the driver crawled out without difficulty, made his way up the rocky slope East of the retaining wall, and was picked up by a passing motorist and brought in to town, where he communicated with the Highway Patrol section of the B.C. Police, an officer going out at once to make an inspection.

Sunday Lepinski went to Kootenay Lake General Hospital for an X-ray examination, but no injuries were found.

The car was lowered by cable Sunday afternoon to the C.P.R. tracks, by a service company, and brought in by a service car for repairs. Before it started on its way Manager Frank Eberle tried it out, after the service company freed the steering gear of an obstruction, and found it could proceed under its own power.

Damage, confined to the outside of the body and the grill, was estimated in the neighborhood of $300. It was a 1946 model that had run less than 8000 miles.

At high speed, it is thought, there would have been a tragedy, and the car completely wrecked.

Whitepaper May Reveal if Further Sacrifice Expected of Britons

By STUART UNDERHILL
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, March 31 (CP Cable)—A whitepaper on the whole food situation which the British Government plans to issue Tuesday before the House of Commons debate on the subject Thursday may provide a clue to the pattern of relationships between producer and consumer countries in the coming months.

Food surpluses today are like "money in the bank" and those fortunate enough to have them find themselves in an envious bargaining position. There are those who will make supplies available on a purely humanitarian basis but it cannot be forgotten that in the eyes of the British Government, the most important international problem at present is the feeding of famine-stricken sections of the world.

The policies of a country such as Argentina for example, may be anathema to the democracies — but 500,000 tons of Argentine wheat have been allocated to hungry India in a division of the world wheat pool and no one would like to say anything which would interfere with its shipment.

(The Government of Argentina announced Friday that the South American country had declined an invitation to membership in the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration but is committed to send all her exportable food surplus to various countries by sale or donation. The announcement said Argentina would give all possible aid to needy countries.)

WOULD HAMPER TRADE

If the Argentine wheat were not delivered to India, she would have to keep at home her peanut oil from which nutritious cheese can be made, instead of shipping it to Britain which needs it to maintain a meagre fat ration.

The whole problem of food has ramifications extending far beyond the relationship of poor countries, timid of saying "boo" to rich ones, to the Southeast Pacific but despite treaty obligations, Siamese growers are hoarding stocks because the country is flooded with currency but there is nothing to buy.

In order to get the Siamese to accept cash for crops it is necessary to give them something to buy and therefore Britain is stint-

$568 Raised by Boy Scouts on Apple Day

The 170 diligent Boy Scouts who turned out to sell apples in Nelson on Saturday, the official Boy Scout Apple Day, raised a gross amount of $568 and sold about 8000 apples. They made $10 more than in the previous year.

The First, Second, Third and Fourth Nelson Groups participated in the sales, some selling apples on the streets, others by house to house canvassing.

In South Slovan, where the Scouts were under the supervision of Scoutmaster C. H. Brand, 700 apples were sold, and gross proceeds were $300.

In Nelson Don Ure was the General Chairman, Floyd Irwin was manager of the main depot, the Hume Hotel Sample Room, and he was assisted by Eldred Evans, Ben Crawford, Jack Foggo and Cubmaster Bob Edgar.

R. W. Sturgeon and Cubmasters W. H. Bradley and Ivan Lewis were Baker Street Supervisors. Advertising Manager was Scoutmaster R. R. Brown and Scoutmaster Gordon Pickard was in charge of window displays. The Baden-Auxiliary was responsible for the shine on the big Delicious apples.

Peoples Motors and Fleming's Store in Fairview were sub-depots. Clara Loomer was manager from Victoria Street to Innes Street, and was assisted by Alderman B. C. Affleck and James Fraser. George Patey was manager of the Fairview depot and was assisted by H. J. Wittchell.

R. A. Peebles, George Patey and H. J. Wittchell handled the transportation, and the money counting and auditing was taken care of by Bob Strachan, Don Ure and Floyd Irwin.

Says Padres in Factories Would Aid Industry

WITH THE R.C.A.F. OVERSEAS (CP)—A vegetarian since he was seven, LAC Lloyd Bloom, Hamilton, Ont., 36-year-old photographer, after two years overseas service with the R.C.A.F. has gained 17 pounds on his meanness diet.

A non-smoker and teetotaler, he told his difficulties of living on canned rations last winter in Holland. Often he had to "borrow" vegetables from nearby farmers and sometimes bread would make his meal.

Opened Nov. 8, Canada Club has been the rendezvous of all ranks of R.C.A.F. personnel stationed in or around Hamburg. During December, 32,924 used club facilities. More than 6000 meals were served. The club is equipped with sleeping accommodation, writing and reading rooms, a banquet hall and a six-piece orchestra.

LOLLEST POSTS

Some of the loneliest R.C.A.F. detachments in England are radio mechanic stations, distinguished by little huts, one or two outbuildings, and numerous aerial wires on the borders of an air force station. They are the navigational aids without which aircraft would be severely handicapped.

Only visitors the personnel manning these stations receive are those bringing food supplies. A corporal usually is in charge.

Air Minister Colin Gibbon, on an inspection tour of R.C.A.F. establishments in England and the continent, said the mistaken assumption of some wives of R.C.A.F. personnel overseas that—by their own wish—husbands are not being repatriated immediately, is causing "great loss of morale and dissatisfaction in all ranks."

"A large proportion of men are being retained overseas because of service requirements only and not because they wish it," he said. In order to maintain an occupation force of 10,000, to which the Canadian government is committed, a large number of men must be held in spite of the fact they did not volunteer for the interim force, and will have to remain until it ceases to function June 30.

Sqdn. Ldr. Minto Swan, Protestant Padre of the R.C.A.F. Repatriation Depot at Torquay, Devon, said in a church magazine that Canadian industry could be improved if padres were included in factory staffs.

"Industry, with its huge numbers of personnel regimented by a wage cheque, is comparable to the services, regimented by discipline. . . . Many of the difficulties with personnel that managements must face would disappear if the padre were available. . . . It would be sound business for industry and a glorious opportunity for the church."

Sqdn. Ldr. Swan, an Anglican, has ministered in three Canadian Churches: St. James Cathedral, Toronto; St. Mary's Church, Portage la Prairie, Man.; and St. Mark's, Vancouver. Preceding enlistment in the R.C.A.F. in 1939, he was for a number of years rural dean of Vancouver.

Rescued After 300-Foot Plunge

PORTLAND, Ore., March 31 (AP)—A woman's cries for help hours after her auto plunged 300 feet from the edge of the Columbia River Highway East of here led sheriff's officers to her rescue by a rope-slung stretcher early today.

Sheriff's Lieut. Art Bellis reported Mrs. Dorothy Roper, 25, Hillsboro, Ore., in a hospital here today with a broken spine and crushed chest, was reached by disaster truck crewmen lowered by rope over the edge of the Columbia gorge wall.

Cheap Money Speeds Transition

By GEORGE MACDONALD
Canadian Press Staff Writer

MONTREAL, March 31 (CP)—Developments in the transition operations from war to peace of representatives utilities and manufacturing companies in Canada are taking a definite pattern.

First and foremost, many companies have taken advantage of the abundance of cheap money awaiting investment to introduce refinancing plans affecting their capital structure. Most of them have been able to reduce substantially their capital funded debt and to cut their fixed charges. There also have been cases where funded debt has been completely deleted through the resources of the enterprises.

So prompt has been the response of the investing public through bond-broking establishments to these schemes that in many instances refunding issues have not been advertised as formerly and have been over-subscribed on the day they became available to investors.

Some of the larger refinancing plans have been those of Winnipeg Electric Company, Saguenay Power Company, Quebec Paper Mills, Shawinigan Water and Power Company, and Dominion Steel and Coal Corporation.

On the other hand, the list of companies increasing their capital but not fixed charges is a growing one. A number have issued more shares, while others have split their stock.

Banks have restored their dividends to levels prevailing prior to a reduction in 1943 on account of tax reductions and it is estimated 50 per cent of Canada's war industries have completed the process of reconversion.

RIVER MAY GET SPUDS

ANCHORAGE, Alaska, March 31 (AP)—Hundreds of tons of Alaska's 1945 spuds must be "dumped in the river" for lack of a market. Marketing agents say the crop was unusually good last year and the unexpected end of the war brought an immediate reduction in the army market.

Lift Coal Controls

OTTAWA, March 31 (CP)—Coal control orders governing the distribution of American coal in Canada and placing restrictions on deliveries to consumers have been lifted, Reconstruction Minister Howe announced tonight.

Coal control continues but the main orders left in its jurisdiction are those concerning prices and providing administrative authority for keeping record of the fuel situation.

Announcing the cancellation of 18 orders Mr. Howe said the removal of control over the coal supply in the United States had made it difficult in some cases and impossible in others to continue the orders in Canada.

The labor situation in the United States coal fields will affect our coal supply for the coming year and in view of this and other uncertainties in the supply situation coal control will continue until the supply of coal is considered adequate to protect our requirements," he added.

One order lifted dealt with definitions of the grading of Alberta coal.

From the consumer's standpoint the most important orders to be cancelled are those which required domestic consumers in Ontario, Quebec and the Maritime Provinces to take part of their deliveries in substitute fuels.

Water Low at Slough Bridges

SIRDAR, B.C.—The water as recorded by a gauge at Slough Bridges shows a decided drop over last week. The artificial channel between Duck Lake and the Slough is quite low and much shore line has been added as a result of the lowering.

One order lifted dealt with definitions of the grading of Alberta coal.

From the consumer's standpoint the most important orders to be cancelled are those which required domestic consumers in Ontario, Quebec and the Maritime Provinces to take part of their deliveries in substitute fuels.

U.B.C. to Clear Land for Agriculture

VANCOUVER, April 1—Approximately 40 acres of land in the South-west corner of the U.B.C. campus are to be cleared for agricultural purposes, it was announced from the President's office.

This has been necessitated by the tremendous growth of the University during the present term and the taking over of many cultivated farm areas by army huts.

Much of the land to be cleared has been under the direction of the University Department of Forestry and is still thickly wooded.

Red Cross Returns, Lowest in District in Years, Reach $1284

Up to March 30, the total Red Cross campaign results in collections were $1284, the lowest for a good many years in Nelson District.

"This is the total up to the official closing date, but owing to late starting through sickness we are extending the campaign to April 6, one more week, and we hope the citizens of Nelson will take advantage of this and help us to reach our self-set objective of $3000," stated L. W. Sells, campaign manager at the weekend.

"We have received $122 from Sheep Creek and $50 from Procter and all other outside points are yet to be heard from."

Mrs. Doelle arranged the Sheep Creek drive, and Mrs. Griffiths for Procter.

Canvassers have been met with the statement, "I am paying through the bank." Mr. Sells said he "would suggest that you make enquiries as to whether this is still being done, as most banks discontinued this deduction at the end of last year, unless specially desired."

"The easiest way to share another's burden is to donate to the Red Cross. Have you done this? If not, will you?"

St. Paul's Notes Three Wedding Celebrations Among Members

This has been a unique week in the history of St. Paul's United Church, for on three successive days members of the congregation celebrated notable wedding anniversaries. This fact was noted by Rev. H. Stuart Forbes at the Sunday morning service.

On Tuesday, March 26, Mr. and Mrs. Alex Carrie celebrated their Golden Wedding. They have been faithful members of St. Paul's since 1895, and Mr. Carrie was the architect of the church building.

On Wednesday, March 27, Mr. and Mrs. David Smith celebrated their sixty-seventh wedding anniversary. "They came to St. Paul's in 1925, and their presence at our services are still a benediction to both minister and people," stated Mr. Forbes.

On Thursday, March 28, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Chapman celebrated their Golden Wedding. "They have come to us more recently, and we join with them in their joy."

On Thursday Mr. Chapman said that when he was leaving England his sister had said to him: "You are going to a strange land. You may some time be in need. Keep this (a gold sovereign) till such a time, and then use it."

"Canada," said Mr. Chapman, "has been good to me. I have never needed to use it. And now on this, our Golden Wedding Day, I wish to give to you this gold sovereign that I have had for 40 years." And he presented it to his bride of 50 years.

Mr. Forbes then offered a prayer "for those whom God had spared long enough to share each other's joys and bear each other's burdens."

Mrs. A. J. Bradshaw sang "With Verdure Green," from Haydn's "Creation."

The Wobelo Club attended the service, and were welcomed by the minister.

The subject of his sermon was

Sunshine Brings Out Sportsmen, Busy Gardeners

The weekend of sunshine after several days of rain brought out scores of gardeners in Nelson, a general campaign to prepare gardens for eventual spade work getting under way. Smoke from bonfires spread over the city as refuse was cleared.

The sports-minded were also busy. Alderman A. H. Allan, Larry MacPhail, N. Roscoe, Leigh McBride and Walter Wait cast speculative eyes over the Nelson Golf and Country Club links, lining up jobs for future work parties. They found the course pretty generally clear of snow.

Meanwhile, the Fairview playground was a scene of activity all afternoon Sunday as Slim Porter put Fairview youngsters through their paces in baseball practice, about 80 turning out.

She was a member of the United Church, and of the Prosperity Rebekah Lodge, No. 61 at Lawson, Sask.

Besides her daughter she is survived by one son, William J. Gibbon of Lawson, Sask., one brother, William Jefferson, Birch Hills, Sask., five grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

The regular Spring burning of trash and brush on the ranches is going ahead with many clouds of smoke dotting the ranches.

Labor Party Blackballs Failing Independent Labor as Affiliate

The actual break between the parties, however, was delayed until 1932. In the meantime, many I.L.P. leaders had moved into the Labor Party, giving their whole time to it. Included among those who switched over was the late J. Ramsey MacDonald, first Labor Prime Minister.

In 1942, the I.L.P. had 1000 branches, substantial funds and a powerful voice in the first Labor Government. Today, it has 200 branches, only three members of Parliament and its organization activities are limited.

Yet the I.L.P. has retained its vital spirit of independence of many subjects and is unwilling simply to become part of the Labor Party even when the latter is riding the waves of success.

In application for affiliation made clear that the old pride remains and the Labor Party Executive turned it down because "there no longer is room inside the Labor Party for another complete party organization with separate constitution machinery, leadership and policy."

Curtain Lifted on "Winged Wind Tunnel"

For the first time the veil of secrecy is lifted from Republic Aviation Corporation's new jet-propelled fighterplane, the XP84, following its successful flight tests at the AAF testing base at Muroc Field, Calif. The plane is powered by a new axial flow jet propulsion unit. Its revolutionary design with the air scoop in the nose caused army observers to nick-name it a "Winged Wind Tunnel." The manufacturers hope to name it "Thunderjet" after its famous predecessor, the P-47 "Thunderbolt."

Dairy and Whoy Butter Prices Will Remain at Their Present Levels

OTTAWA, March 30 (CP)—A four-cent a pound increase in creamery butter prices at all levels will become effective throughout Canada on Monday, the Prices Board announced Saturday.

The price increase came as Canadians were stretching out slender butter holdings on a four-ounce weekly ration—lowest in Canada's history—to "make do" until new supplies start appearing next month.

Loomer Acclaimed Socratic Society's Best Speaker for Year at Annual Banquet; F. Dickinson Presents Cup

Highlight of the Nelson Socratic Society's third annual banquet, held in Trinity United Church Hall, Friday night with about 50 people present was the presentation of a cup to J. C. Loomer, who had been acclaimed the Society's best speaker of the year.

Mr. Dickinson explained that any person who received the cup, did so not because of any particular privilege, but because they had worked for it. An intricate system of marking decided the outcome.

This meant that Rev. G. Gordon McL. Boothroyd, winner of the first year, and H. D. Harrison, the second year's winner, would compete with Mr. Loomer for the shield.

H. D. Dawson, toastmaster, presented a small shield to L. A. McPhail, member who made most progress during the past year, and Mrs. H. D. Dawson presented Mr. Dickinson with a small token of esteem from the members of the Society.

The first toast was to "The King." J. C. Hughes proposed a toast to the Nelson Socratic Society, with a response by V. C. Owen.

During the first two years the Society had been enthusiastically supported by its members, but lately the attendance had not been quite so good.

After explaining that most of the night's speakers had not been given much notice, H. D. Dawson asked...

League to Sound Own Knell on Note of Hope

See That Fruit of Efforts Lives on in United Nations Organization

By FLORA LEWIS

LONDON, March 31 (AP)—Geneva's sad chapter in the history of human yearning for peace comes to an end in April with the League of Nations' 21st and final assembly meeting.

But the men of Geneva who survived the years and the war they could not prevent say with pride that the fruit of their work lives on in the United Nations.

They plan to seal the story of the League in a dignified and solemn meeting—perhaps two weeks long starting April 8. There are reminiscent speeches to be made and the task of handing over the torch has practical complications.

ONLY ONE OF AUTHORS TO ATTEND

Of the small group of men whose names raised so many hopes a quarter of a century ago, only Britain's Viscount Cecil will attend the final meeting.

Viscount Cecil, now 83, helped draft the covenant with President Woodrow Wilson, but the Lloyd George Government had been turned out in Britain when the League opened, so the British statesman attended the first assembly as a representative for South Africa, appointed by Field Marshal Jan Christian Smuts.

Many of their names are high on the roster of the United Nations. Jan Masaryk, Foreign Minister of Czechoslovakia, Phillip Noel-Baker, now in London, and others, who sat beneath Jose Maria Sert's magnificent gold and spolia ceiling in the Council chamber or paced the marble corridors as the world shook in successive crises, will watch the League die.

Some live quietly in their countries, reappearing only sporadically in the course of history: Edouard Herriot, former Premier of France; Maxim Litvinov, former Foreign Minister of the Soviet Union; Leon Blum, former French Premier.

Development of CP's domestic and Empire news coverage, newspaper rationing and furthering of press freedom will be among subjects considered during the busy "newspaper week."

Officers of press news began their annual meeting Saturday and adjourned until Wednesday. Canadian Press directors met Monday and Tuesday and on Wednesday the CP annual meeting will hear the Presidential address of Senator W. A. Buchanan of the Lethbridge Herald and the report of General Manager Gillis Purcell on the CP's year.

Monday and Tuesday C. D. N. A. members will be busy in committee meetings discussing advertising policy, newspaper supply and press freedom. The C. D. N. A. Board, headed by President R. M. Cantlon of the Saskatoon Star-Phoenix, will meet Thursday, with the annual meeting set for that day and Friday.

M. E. Nichols, former vice-president and publisher of the Vancouver Province, who is retiring from the Canadian Press after many years of service as president, director and member, will be guest of honor at the annual CP luncheon on Wednesday. The C. D. N. A. annual luncheon will be held Thursday.

The Empire Press Union Annual Meeting, on Wednesday, will discuss preparations for the sixth Imperial Press Conference at London in June.

OTTAWA, March 31 (CP)—Mr. Justice F. H. Barlow of the Ontario Supreme Court Saturday dismissed motions for discharge on the return of writs of habeas corpus on behalf of Sgt. Ldr. Fred W. Poland and Israel Halperin who face espionage charges. The two men were taken into custody by RCMP Feb. 15 and made their first court appearance yesterday.

ROSE FREED
MONTREAL, March 31 (CP)—Freed Rose, Labor-Progressive member of Parliament for Montreal, was freed from custody today when bail of $25,000 was posted with the clerk of the office of the crown by City Councillor Michael Buhay.

Rose, unshaven after a night in the Montreal jail, was conducted into the crown office by Provincial Police and after the money was posted was advised by the clerk he was free on $25,000. He was ordered to report back to the court on May 3.

After Rose Buhay signed the bail bond they went into the office of Mr. Justice Wilfrid Lazure, king's court bench judge who granted bail yesterday, and the judge also signed the bond. Albert Marcus, one of Rose's counsel, apologized to the judge for the delay in raising the money and bonds yesterday which resulted in Rose having to remain overnight in jail.

RELATIVES, FRIENDS HELP
The money turned over to the CHEST COLDS Act promptly to relieve muscular aches and tightness, fits of coughing in the night. Tonight, at bedtime, rub on time-tested VICKS

Carl J. Hambro of Norway, President of the League Assembly that broke up to a fanfare of shells and bombs in December, 1939, will open the last meeting.

TRANSFER RESPONSIBILITY
The League's main task at its final meeting will be to end its own life.

It must agree to turn over to nations who still belong are no longer bound by the covenant's pledges—so that all responsibility for peace is transferred to the United Nations.

It must agree to turn over to the United Nations the stately buildings and the magnificent gifts the League acquired during its brief existence.

There may be argument about the $2,000,000 library which John D. Rockefeller gave the League. League officials agree the United Nations needs the library, which collected material from both the Allies and the Axis during the war, but they point out that it would be a hard blow to move it to the United States just after most of Europe's libraries are destroyed in battle.

The league must parcel out its assets among its members, crediting those who are in the United Nations with their part of the proceeds.

Changes in league membership over the years make this a difficult job. The Baltic states, now Soviet republics, were independent members of the league. Germany and Japan paid contributions at certain periods.

The neutrals—Ireland, Spain, Sweden, Switzerland, Portugal—belonged to the league but have not yet been admitted to the United Nations.

The league must transfer some of its services to the United Nations—control of international traffic in drugs and women, collection of world economic statistics and others.

The league must act on the controversial subject of mandates—giving mandatory states the power to turn the areas into United Nations trusteeships.

Publishers and Executives Gather for "Newspaper Week" Meetings

TORONTO, March 30 (CP)—Post-war problems of Canada's newspapers and their news-gathering co-operative will be discussed next week when publishers and executives gather in Toronto at annual meetings of The Canadian Press, the Canadian Daily News-Papers Association, Press News Limited, CP's radio affiliate, and the Empire Press Union.

WILHELM WILLING TO BE GERMAN KING; FRET'S OVER BEER, HORSES

By DANIEL DE LUCE
HECHINGEN, Germany, March 31 (AP)—Crown Prince Friedrich Wilhelm Hohenzollern, silver-haired and 65, says he's ready to serve his Fatherland if Germany ever wants a king.

"The best political system in the world is the English Parliament with a constitutional monarchy," he remarked. "If that were adopted for Germany, it would mean the restoration of the House of Hohenzollern."
"You mean the restoration of your oldest living son, Louis Ferdinand?" he was asked.
"Myself or my son," he corrected politely.

SEES NEED OF UNITY
The Crown Prince, who has forsaken his 180-room castle overlooking Hechingen for a snug villa in the town, laughed lightly at the mention of a monarchial party launched in Bavaria with Prince Rupprecht as its inspiration.

"Oh that," he said. "Rupprecht is a very decent man. A lot of people believe in him."
Guided by the simple nameplate "Wilhelm, Kronprinz," this correspondent met at his door the boyishly slender great-grandson of Queen Victoria. Dressed in brown slacks and a gray sports jacket with a green collar, the Crown Prince was neither vexed nor surprised.

Re-examining the political scene Wilhelm said:
"The Germans at the moment do not know their own mind. They talk of democracy, but even the Russians claim to have democracy, and of course that is a bad joke. For the moment I am keeping quite in the background. No visits from German political leaders, who seem to talk so much eyewitness these days."
Wilhelm added:

Strike Halts Mining of Uranium Ore

VANCOUVER, March 31 (CP)—Strike of 200 miners at Port Radou, N. W. T., major source of United Nations uranium ore for atomic power, has halted operation of Eldorado Mining and Refining Company, according to a wire received by Canadian Congress of Labor headquarters here today.

The message said that discharge of two union officers caused the walkout of the hard rock miners Friday and they said they would remain out until the men were reinstated.

Seek Slayers

WINNIPEG, March 31 (CP)—Police are pressing their search for the slayers of Johan Johnson, 48-year-old taxi driver found slugged to death early today in the Tuxedo district of Southwest Winnipeg.

Johnson's body, the back of his head battered in, was discovered at 9 a.m. by two soldiers from nearby Fort Osborne barracks.
His abandoned taxi, the upholstery splattered with blood, was left stuck in the mud about 50 feet away. Police believed it was a case of robbery, although $25 was found in Johnson's back pocket. Footprints of two men were found beside the car.
The killers are believed to be two men Johnson picked up while returning from a call about 3 a.m. Apparently he drove them to suburban Tuxedo where they ordered him to stop and then slugged him on the back of the head.
After dragging the body across the empty lot, police believed they could not start the car and were forced to flee on foot.
The slaying recalled a similar case here last September when Arthur Badger, 60-year-old taxi driver, was fatally slugged in suburban St. James. Police found footprints of two men leading from the cab which was abandoned at Portage la Prairie, while Badger was left unconscious in a ditch.

Consistency— the Parent's Best Bet

By Garry Cleveland Myers, Ph. D.

Certainty makes it easy, doubt difficult, for the child to obey necessary regulations. As you must have observed, I have, in this column, constantly hammered on the virtue of consistency, of making your word good whether it be a forbidding or a promise.

The more consistent we parents are, the more certain the youngster is of what will happen and the easier, therefore, for him to accept a decision contrary to his wishes. The less consistent we are, the more doubt in the child's mind that he will have to obey, and the harder, therefore for him to do so.

When, for instance the tot, three is told to stop some annoying or destructive act, he may wait for the second, fifth or ninth commanding before he stops. Perhaps he says to himself, "She's not mad enough yet. I'll wait till she yells louder." He even may wait for two or more shrieks.

But when at last he is sure the danger time has arrived, he quits, though as he does he may cry violently or fly into a rage. Had he known that the first word was final he would have stopped with little or no emotional disturbance.

In case this tot is to sit in a chair for punishment and just told to sit there till you say he may get down, the doubt in his mind about the length of the sentence challenges him to plead, argue or throw a tantrum, figuring he can make the penalty shorter, and often he succeeds. But, if on being sentenced, he is shown where the long hand of the clock will be when he may get down all doubts should be removed, with the result that he by and by will take such punishment stoically and profit from it.

Jim is 12. You go with him to the amusement park. He has no fund of money of his own for such occasions, and you make out no budget for him before you leave home. He sees many things he wants to have and do. You give him a quarter. Soon he runs to you for more money. You give him 20 cents but it doesn't last long. You argue with him before you grudgingly give him 15 cents more.

As the evening drags on he keeps on begging for more money, both he and you more vexed at each other, with strained relations all the rest of the evening. If, instead, this lad at the beginning had been given a definite sum with the understanding that he would have to get along with this amount, there might have been a very happy evening for him and you. Besides, he would have gained good education from weighing and choosing from among the attractions in accordance with what he had to spend.

Also, this principle applies to the use of the car. Fortunate the youth who knows without doubt the date on which he may have his first driving experience or the times he may use this car later. Think of all the needless irritations of parents

She Craves a Little Excitement Occasionally

By JANE ATKINSON

Dear Miss Atkinson: I've been married five years to a man eight years older than I am, and I'm now 23. We have three children. I don't believe I ever really loved him. When he's away I almost despise him, but when he comes home I get a certain feeling, which I don't believe is love. He provides for us and I never want anything.

"Is it because he's eight years older than I feel this way? Or is it that I can't get over yearning for a good time—something which I don't have very often? I don't want a lot of excitement but I do crave an occasional outing. I've even thought of divorce. What do you think of my case?"

Restless

The difference in your ages doesn't account for your feeling toward your husband. I think that can be attributed to your youth. Your youth also is reflected in your desire to have a little excitement.

I hope you'll heed a little old-fashioned advice which I'm going to give you. Many women would give almost anything for a good home with a husband who provides for her and the children. If you're worried over lost opportunities of youth, think of your children—centre your life in them. Give them a happy home. A woman with children is no longer a free agent.

You're Only as Young as You Feel

By JDA JEAN KAIN

Way back there, someone deduced that the years a woman subtracts from her age are not lost. They are added to the ages of other women! This seems to be the case with two well-known sisters, both movie stars. The younger one remarked that if her older sister got any younger, she (the younger) would soon be the oldest. But, coming closer home, I recall that when I was reluctant to pass my thirtieth birthday, my younger sister remarked that our ages seemed to get closer together every year. That fixed me. I never tried it again.

That same actress in an interview said frankly that she was thirty-seven and didn't care who knew it, but she wished they would keep the records straight. Well, the reporter checked, just to keep the records straight, and found she is forty plus and apparently does care who knows it.

But it isn't only out in Hollywood that women like to keep their age a secret. It seems to be universal. I'm told that some women even lie about their age to their doctor. I've often wondered, pretending to be younger, makes a woman feel any younger, say when she is all by herself? If it does, then well and good, to my way of thinking it's only how young you feel that counts.

If you feel young at middle age, then you've got something.

Age is a process of wearing out and tearing down. Without doubt the right food habits help to extend the duration of the feeling-period. The foods that furnish the material to make good the wear and tear positively will keep anyone younger longer. That's the reason certain foods are termed "protective" because they protect against the ailments that hasten old age.

The list leads off with milk because of its high assimilable calcium and phosphorus to make good the wear and tear. Green leafy and yellow vegetables are high on the list for their mineral and vitamin content; fresh fruits, particularly oranges and grapefruit, for vitamin C, which plays a role in keeping the arteries young. Complete protein is needed daily to provide for the replacement and tissue repair necessitated by this same wear and tear of the life processes on the tissues. The complete proteins are milk, cheese, eggs, meat, fish and fowl.

Most certainly the amount of food

That great favorite, the printed frock, is back again and is lovelier than ever. This dress is fashioned of crepe in a black and mimosa yellow "fountain" print. It is a wrap-around model with softly draped deep armholes and sleeves, and a modified square neck, the sort of dress that is a wardrobe backbone.

eaten is a big factor in keeping young during middle age—for one thing, to prevent the spread, but more important, because too much food shortens life. But too much of what kind of food? When you come to think of it, almost no one overeats of the protective foods; it's more likely to be of fats and pastries. The more fruits and vegetables and dairy products that can be included within the calorie allowance for activity the better your chances of warding off old age.

One woodchuck may eat as much as two pounds of greens in a day.

Rogers Hopes Politics and Acting Mix; Katharine Hepburn Remarks She Can Go Back After Year With No Damage Done

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, March 30 (AP)—Do politics and acting mix? Will Rogers Jr., hopes so.

Late this Fall young Rogers is scheduled to portray his father in Warner Brothers' movie version of the humorist's life. Before that time he will be campaigning for the United States senate.

"I don't see why it wouldn't work," he remarked. "After all, it isn't that I'm an actor. I'm not. I merely intend to do this one picture and then quit. And all the money I get from it will go to charity."

A former congressman, Will said his only acting experience was in high school and college plays.

Young Rogers is extremely reminiscent of his famed father. He has the same twinkle, the same unruly hair, the same slouchy walk.

Asked if his roping was up to his father's standard, he answered: "No I'll have to do some work on it. Dad always told me I would be sorry I didn't practice."

The other day Katharine Hepburn remarked how she can stay out of pictures for a year or more and then come back with no damage to her boxoffice.

"The people don't forget easily," she said. "You'd be surprised how they remember stars who have been established for 10 years or more."

British Ronald Colman will play the Bostonian lead in "The Late George Apley," a film version of John Marquand's novel. Wonder what Boston will think of that casting?

Miracle Materials

Part of the Spring sartorial scene is occupied this season by wonderful new fabrics and weaves, including the marvelous new one, denier Penemah rayon. This miracle fabric that looks like silk yet launders as easily as cotton is one of the major developments of our great Canadian mills. It is used for a delightful daytime or travel outfit. The dress is of Arabesque print design, and has a skirt of flowing fullness. The cape, which has a circular shoulder yoke, is lined with the dress, print, as is the hood.

Many Listeners Enjoy Quiet Hour of Music

Music-lovers, in large number, were present Sunday afternoon at St. Saviour's Pro-Cathedral to listen to a Quiet Hour of Music when the Boys' Choir, under the leadership of Mrs. James Fraser and Miss Enid Eiter, F. E. Wheeler, at the organ, W. Penman, violinist, and Miss Mary Jarvis, vocalist, gave a program that was much appreciated.

Following the opening number by Mr. Wheeler, the Choir sang the hymn, "I Cannot Tell," to the Londonderry Air, Bill Dawson, Derry Pollard, Ken Cooper and Michael Fraser each singing the solo parts with great sweetness.

The program was as follows: Organ, "Meditation" by Flager; Johnson, "Autumn"; Andante Religioso, Kuhlau; Festival Prelude, Wallace—all by F. E. Wheeler. W. Penman, violinist, played "Meditation de Thais" and the "Berceuse from Jodelyn"; and Miss Jarvis sang "I Will Lift Up Mine Eyes," Vernon Eville; "The Lord's Prayer," Malotte; "I'll Walk Beside You," Alan Murray; and Liddle's "Abide With Me." Miss Jarvis' rich voice, used with dramatic power combined with perfect control, held the audience spellbound—and her beautiful rendering of "Abide With Me" was deeply moving.

The Boys' Choir, which also sang "Jerusalem the Golden," and "Jerusalem," was made up of the following members: Peter Godfrey, David Barrett, Bill Dawson, Douglas Richards, Bobbie King, Shaun Erb, Barry Bishop, Ken Cooper, Michael Fraser, Adriant Watson, Ted Cooper, Derry Pollard, Dick Fraser, Tony Banks, Bill Stringer and Scott Owen.

"Reality" Is Subject of Lesson-Sermon

"Reality" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in All Churches of Christ, Scientist, Sunday. The Lesson-Sermon included the following passages from the Bible: "For all that is in the world, the lust of the flesh, and the lust of the eyes, and the pride of life, is not of the Father, but is of the world. And the world passeth away, and the lust thereof."
1 John 2: 16, 17.
Among the selections from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, was the following: "Reality is spiritual, harmonious, immutable, immortal, divine, eternal. Nothing unspiritual can be real, harmonious, or eternal."

Need 85 Per Cent Vaccination to Halt Smallpox

SEATTLE, March 31 (AP)—Two new cases of smallpox, described as "light" by Dr. Emil Palmquist, City Public Health Officer, were reported here today. The drop in the number of new cases did not warrant a slackening in vigilance, Dr. Palmquist warned. "We expect to have more cases," he said. "There still are a lot of susceptible people. "And this thing will keep going until at least 85 per cent of the people have been vaccinated."

15,000 A DAY

Vaccination slowed somewhat at public buildings today. Vaccinations reached 15,000 a day late last week and this figure will probably be topped considerably tomorrow when the city's 26 fire stations will be prepared to take all comers. Twenty-three definite and "suspected" cases of small pox were isolated in King County Hospital.

BLOCK TRAVEL

Canada has barred all persons travelling from Seattle to Victoria, B. C., by boat who are unable to show a certificate attesting they have been treated within the last year. No restriction has yet been placed on persons crossing the border at Blaine, Wash., by train, bus or private automobile. The first person cured of the disease was discharged from King County Hospital Saturday. She is Miss Myrtle Schumacher, a nurse, who plans to return to duty Monday. The disease has claimed five lives here.

NEED TEACHERS TO COMBAT "DISEASE OF NAZISM"

HAMILTON, March 31 (CP)—Novelist Nora Waln said in an address Saturday there is a great need in Germany for the right kind of teachers, social workers and Christian missionaries to treat and care for children and adults infected with "the disease of Nazism which lots of the war has not cleared from many German minds."

Australia possesses an extraordinary variety of birds, including vast flocks of brilliantly colored parrots and cockatoos.

They buy seven quarts of milk, allow the milk to go sour and then convert it into one pound of butter. But the scarcity continues. One chain store had 100 pounds of butter yesterday but sold it in half-pounds in less than 10 minutes.

Diseases Whose Spread Must Be Guarded Against

In an Epidemiological Bulletin issued by UNRRA, Editor Knud Stowman discussed at some length the diseases prevalent in Japan. Of diphtheria he said:

"According to reports by Japanese civilians to the Pacific Office of the Chief Surgeon, U. S. Army, diphtheria has become the most important epidemic disease in Japan. Tokyo City reported 3109 cases during first eight months of 1945. As far as epidemic diseases are concerned, diphtheria was the leading cause of death in the Japanese army stationed in Japan, causing 331 fatalities during the first half-year 1945. The Japanese navy, too, had its share—769 cases during the first six months of 1945. Diphtheria is not a new disease in Japan. It has caused from three to five thousands deaths in the whole country during each year of the inter-war period, which is equal to the German diphtheria mortality as far as up to 1933. As in Germany, there has been a steady increase in both incidence and mortality between the two wars."

Cerebro-spinal meningitis is almost equal in importance to diphtheria, and its incidence has greatly increased during the war, according to Mr. Stowman. Typhoid fever has also been very prevalent in Japan, and bacillus dysentery was a major health problem for the Japanese Army. There is no plague or cholera in Japan and up to the war there was no typhus, but the Japanese Navy had quite a serious typhus outbreak in March 1945. "TB" is a common occupational disease of industrialized Japan, and malaria is fairly widespread, as in the tropics. In general, it can be concluded that Japan did not succeed in maintaining her pre-war state of health, which already had several weak points, Mr. Stowman pointed out. As in Italy, the military downfall was preceded by backsliding of health conditions, and the disintegrating element of disease made itself felt also in the armed forces.

Diphtheria, which reached epidemic proportions in a large part of central and Northern Europe in 1942 and 1943, continues to be the leading epidemic disease and is still increasing rapidly in both Finland and Germany, another U.N.R.R.A. Epidemiological Bulletin reported. In Holland diphtheria has become one of the chief causes of death, as far as infectious diseases are concerned, second only to tuberculosis. France, Czechoslovakia, Belgium and Austria continue to have high morbidity and mortality rates from diphtheria. Only in Norway has the diphtheria wave reached its peak and begun to subside. The United Kingdom and Hungary have been able to continue methods of immunization in use prior to the war, and have a comparatively low number of diphtheria cases.

The Greek National Tuberculosis Association formed in May, 1945, is now in active operation with the Regent of Greece as patron, according to a report received from Dr. J. B. McDougall, British specialist and head of the tuberculosis section, health division, U.N.R.R.A. Greece mission, and published in Epidemiological Bulletin No. 20. The Greek Tuberculosis Association will be the first of any in the liberated countries of Europe to become affiliated with the International Union against Tuberculosis, which in pre-war years had its headquarters in Paris. The Greek Association will encourage local medical men to do research on "TB" problems peculiar to Greece, such as the incidence of T.B., and its clinical behavior in malaria-stricken areas.

Adventurous Capital Creates Progress and Payrolls

The Calgary Albertan says that the C.C.F. People's Weekly is gravely disturbed over the fact that oil companies are risking hundreds of thousands of dollars to develop Alberta's oil resources. Commenting on the granting of large reservations for oil exploration the C.C.F. paper says: "Unfortunately, the people whose resources are being alienated from them appear to be undisturbed by what is happening. They do not appreciate the tragedy of the situation. They apparently are not troubled over the fact that their wealth is being drained away from them into the coffers of the great oil companies."

In reply to this "naive and ridiculous criticism," the Albertan points out that the people's resources are not being alienated from them, since the companies are merely obtaining a guarantee that all their work and expenditure is not going to be done for some other company's benefit. The reservation gives them the first opportunity to apply for a drilling lease, but it does not guarantee that if oil is found the company will be able to drain it all away for its personal benefit.

The Albertan might also have pointed out that if no reservations had been granted to enterprising private companies and individuals for the exploration of the mineral resources of Alberta, those resources would never have been developed. An enormous amount of private capital has been expended in exploring for minerals throughout the Dominion, and the greater proportion of that capital never brought any return to the investors. But it led to the discovery and development of mineral deposits, and the eventual establishment of our great mining industries.

It is nonsense to say that the country's "wealth is being drained away into the coffers of the great oil companies," for that wealth is being constantly distributed in wages and salaries to thousands of people who are employed directly or indirectly in the oil industries and their numerous avenues of distribution and service.

Pay Tribute to High Principles of R. L. Maitland

To the Editor: Sir—Re our leader, Hon. R.L. Maitland, K.C., who today has passed away: In his first campaign as leader of the Conservative Party in British Columbia, he announced to the public that the next 10 years of his life would be his best, and he was prepared to give them to his country if elected. When the Pattullo Government met defeat at the polls, the first public man to give a statement was R. L. Maitland, and he then called for a union Government of all parties, and his policy was then formed—as it was at his death: his country came first and his party second. Few leaders have ever caused their policy to become manifest more clearly than our leader, Mr. Maitland, and like Mr. Roosevelt of the U.S.A., he died at his work. He will be mourned by the people of British Columbia. "A leader has gone from us." C. W. Roach, President, Salmo Valley Conservative Association, Salmo, B.C., March 28, 1946.

VALUE OF EXERCISE One man's exercise is another man's ruination. Some active fellows whose obituaries tell us that they were "prominent athletes" from their earliest years, die in their 40's and 50's—but so do some sedentary chaps who never did anything more strenuous than wield a knife and fork. Did exercise kill the one, and lack of it the other?—Ottawa Journal.

Verse

PLANE TRIP You leave the airfield early Just as the sun rises high; Stretched upon your easy chair You climb towards the sky.

Through the air you fly with ease As cloud patterns shift to and fro; On the green and gold checkerboard Of the farmlands far below.

While sitting by your window Just as comfy as can be; The river like a ribbon gleams As it winds its way to the sea.

You rest awhile in your cabin. Then join in a rubber of bridge; When suddenly you gaze right down On a snow-capped mountain ridge.

Then over the mighty forests The plane speeds with all its might; Until your place of landing And bright city comes in sight.

Down the big plane glides with ease, Lowers smoothly to the ground; And as it comes to a final stop, Its au revoir to friends all round.

R.K. Crescent Valley—Will you please give me some information on raising rabbits for wool? (1) The best breed. (2) Would field carrots have the same food value for rabbits as table carrots?

(1) Angora rabbits are the breed used for wool production. (2) Field or table carrots should be equal value for rabbits except the white variety. Yellow carrots would have a much higher vitamin content. (3) Here is a list of fur-bearing rabbits and information about them:

Fur-bearing rabbit—Havanas, weight 6 pounds. In color a rich, bright brown over entire body, head, feet, and ears, with under color of pure pale grey. The coat should be short, fine and silky. The brown should be even, with a sheen on it that shows both green and dark pink as the light crosses the back. The fur is used as a substitute for beaver.

Champagne de Argent (French silver)—Weight, 7 to 10 pounds. The young are born black and do not show full coat until about five months old. The fur is silvered all over, with very little waste. The under-color of the fur is a rich clear blue-black intermixed with black and white hairs. The outer covering is a rich, even silvering all over the body, presenting a sharp, bright, silvery appearance, and the coat should be soft, dense, silky and smooth, lying loosely on the body.

Chinchillas—Weight, 5 1/2 to 6 1/2 pounds. The fur should be about one inch long and very soft and dense. In color it should resemble the wild Chinchilla animal, and this color should extend over the entire body, feet, head and ears. The under-coat is a full, soft, slate blue, and each hair consists of alternate bands of grey or slate blue, with a number of hairs ending in a black ticking, giving a surface effect of light and dark grey and blue bands, blending into each other.

Himalayan—Weight 4 pounds. A small, slender, neat-looking rabbit, pure white in color, except for rich, velvety-black markings on nose, ears, eye-circles, feet, and tail. The young are born white and show markings when a few days old. The coat should be fine, short, silky and glossy, greatly resembling ermine, for which it is used as a substitute.

Lilacs—Weight, 7 pounds. A medium, compact animal, with an exquisitely soft, fine, and dense coat, which lies close to the body and should be of an even, pinky dove color down to the roots of the fur. The eyes are also dove colored to match fur and show ruby red in the eyes.

American Blue—Weight, bucks, 9 pounds; does 10 pounds. In a good specimen the color is a rich, clear, slate blue, uniform over every part of the body, and as deep as possible. The coat should be entirely free from foreign colors, and should be dense and of soft, fine, silky texture.

Blue Beavers; Black Siberian. Steel, White, black and Blue Flemish Giants; and Stables are also fur-bearing rabbits.

Brush of Priest From Tiny Church Works Magic on Canvasses

VINELAND, Colo., March 31 (AP)—To the few hundred residents in the crossroad community of Vineland, Father Michael deAngelus is the quiet Catholic priest who conducts mass in the little church of St. Therese. Fellow clerics know him as a brilliant artist whose paintings adorn cathedrals on two continents.

Striking Biblical scenes and portraits of church dignitaries by the 60-year-old painter-priest hang in the Vatican and in the royal household of Prince Umberto of Italy. A few months ago Father deAngelus came to this little farm village in the fertile flatlands of Southeastern Colorado, where in virtual seclusion he continues to lead, teach and, of course, paint.

In the tiny upstairs apartment where he works are a half dozen completed canvasses. On the easel still unfinished, stands his latest work, "Christ and the Children." The new painting possesses the same qualities which dominate all of Father deAngelus' work—a deep blend of rich colors and sort of gentle dignity.

PAINTED AT NINE Father deAngelus was born near Rome in historic Anagni, the city of Popes, and was reared in a deeply devout atmosphere. Five of his sisters became nuns.

He made his first brush stroke when he was nine. His absorbing interest then as now, was in religion. He entered the priesthood almost as soon as he was graduated from Gregorian University in Rome, and for more than a decade ministered in Anagni, where at one time he had a parish of 20,000.

Fifteen years ago Father deAngelus came to the United States and subsequently held pastorates throughout the East. He came to Colorado a year ago because of his health, and in January settled among the handful of Italian truck-gardners in Vineland.

When an idea for a painting comes to him, the priest says, he pencils it on scraps of paper. He then paints a 10 by 12-inch miniature and from that develops a full-size canvas. Since he first began to paint more than 50 years ago, Father deAngelus never has produced a painting on any theme except religion or the church.

"That," he says quietly, "is what comes from my mind and my heart."

Conservative Association Concludes Meet With Adoption of 25 Resolutions

OTTAWA, March 31 (CP)—The Dominion Progressive Conservative Association concluded its annual meeting here Saturday with the adoption of more than 25 resolutions, some of them calling for the lifting of wartime controls and the lowering of income taxes.

The meeting urged the immediate lifting of ceiling prices on farm and ranch products. "We are opposed in principle to continuation of other wartime wage and price ceilings and restrictive controls," said a resolution. "With very few exceptions we demand their immediate removal."

Other resolutions called for: 1. Abolition of the need of applying to War Labor Boards for wage increases of less than 60 cents an hour, or less than five per cent of the present wage or salary. 2. Steps to encourage Newfoundland to join the Dominion.

3. Provision for a member of parliament to represent the Northwest Territories. 4. Removal of the Dominion three per cent war tax on gasoline. 5. Establishment of a Dominion Natural Products Marketing Act and a Board of Livestock Commissioners.

6. Direct sale of surplus army vehicles by War Assets Corporation to Canadian farmers. 7. The lifting of the restrictions of the export of cattle to the United States. 8. The enactment of farm floor price legislation in the event of a sharp decline in prices. 9. The raising of income tax exemptions to $1200 for single men and $2000 for married men. 10. Establishment of a national labor code and efforts to have the provinces accept such a code. 11. Increase old age pensions to all persons at 65 without a means test. 12. The organization of defence forces which could defend Canada to the best of their ability and fulfill any commitments assigned by the United Nations Organization. 13. The continued cooperation of the forces of the Commonwealth and the United States. 14. The broadening of veterans' legislation to provide better treatment of war veterans and their dependants and to extend benefits to such groups as the merchant marine, fire fighters, auxiliary services and others. 15. Completion and maintenance of Trans-Canada highways by Dominion-provincial cooperation. 16. Enactment of legislation to prevent the withholding against the public interest of patents of invention from industrial use. 17. Improvement of legislation aimed at dealing effectively with

Gov't House Readies for New Governor-General

OTTAWA, March 30 (CP)—There's a subdued bustle of activity these days at Rideau Hall, the Canadian Governor-General's big house at the entrance to Rockcliffe Park, as the servants polish off the last of spring cleaning and pack their bags to return to Britain.

There are between 20 and 30 indoor servants employed at the Big House and about 20 are brought from England by a new Governor-General when he takes office. Field Marshal Viscount Alexander will have a large group of servants from butler to kitchen maid, in his retinue besides his staff of land and what it costs persons in other parts of Canada to travel over an equivalent distance.

22. The granting to women of more opportunities to play a larger part in the administrative life of the country.

23. Equal pay for equal work. 24. Extension of the provision of the Prairie Farm Assistance Act to all parts of Canada. 25. Adoption of a comprehensive body of social security measures in a unified system.
