TAX FORMS TO UNTANGLE "HERETOFORE RATHER COMPLICATED CALCULATIONS"

OTTAWA, Jan. 30 (CP) — Some of the most comforting words since income tax was nothing but a dark twist in somebody's mind fell upon Canadian ears today. They were:

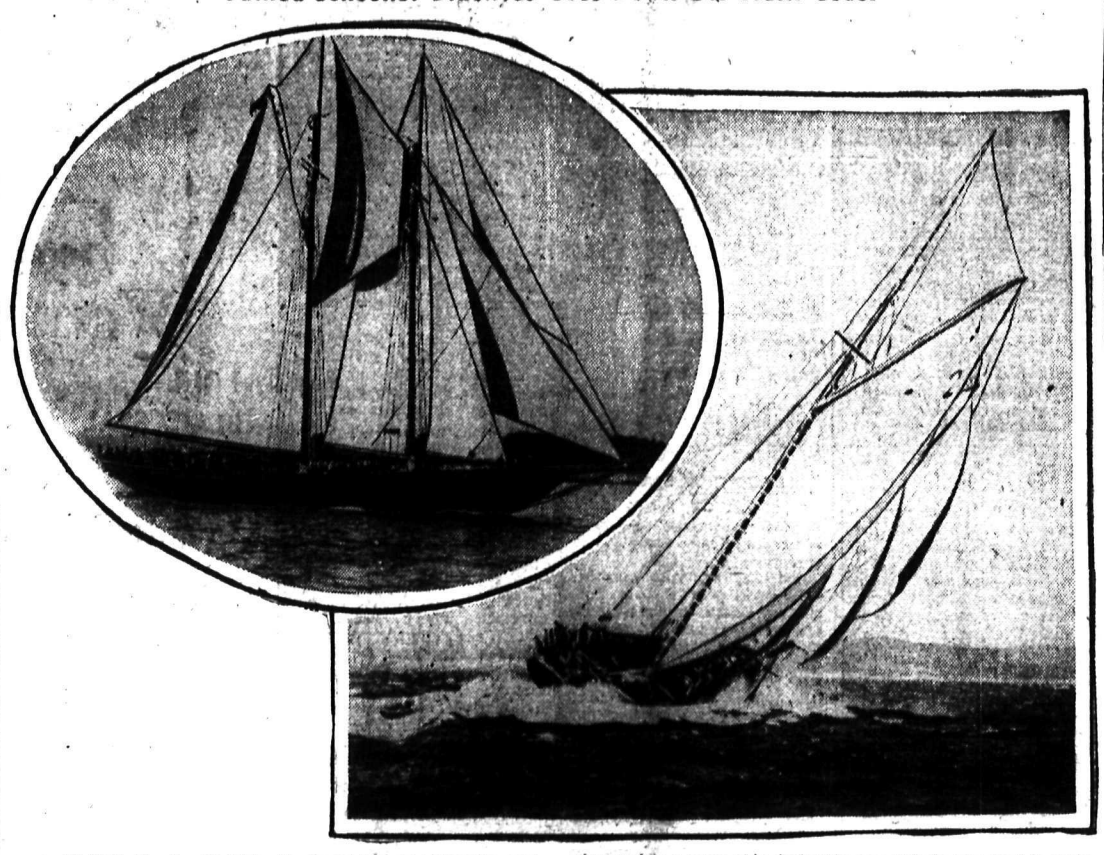
"For practically 99 per cent of the taxpaying public new (income tax) forms dispense with substantially all calculations of tax."

Eliminated were "the heretofore rather complicated calculations." With that Revenue Minister McCann announced that the forms for 1945 income were being distributed across Canada.

They were, he said, two in number. They would be available at district income tax offices and at post offices within the next few days.

The first form, generally speaking, is for those making less than $3000 and the other for those making more than that. For the first category the exact tax is shown in a table. For the others the tax is stated on a minimum of a range of income with a stated percentage of the income above the minimum range to be added to the dollar statement contained in the table.

Famed Schooner Bluenose Goes Down Off Haiti Coast



TAMPA, Fla., Jan. 30 (CP)—The famed schooner Bluenose, once a crack Canadian racing vessel, has been lost off the coast of Haiti, her owners were notified today.

George F. Milliken said he was notified the vessel struck a reef Monday and sank Tuesday. Her crew of eight was rescued.

Built in Nova Scotia in 1921, the two-master was used first as a racing vessel in international competition. She held many racing records and defeated the best Maritimes and New England rivals.

The ship's likeness appears on the Canadian dime and the Canadian 50-cent stamp.

The Intercontinental Shipping Corporation converted the schooner into a cargo ship during the war and she was used in trade between South and Central American ports and Tampa.

The Bluenose, then pride of the Nova Scotia fishing fleet, in October, 1938, successfully defended the title and International Fishermens' trophy, which she has held with the exception of one year since 1921, in the 1938 best of five series against the Gertrude L. Thebaud, American challenger.

In 1923, the trophy was held jointly by the Bluenose and the Columbia of Gloucester. The Bluenose after winning the first of the 1923 series, was disqualified for cutting a buoy in the second race and was withdrawn from the race.

Argue Occupation of Tax Fields

By D'ARCY O'DONNELL
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA, Jan. 30 (CP)—Argument as to which tax fields should be occupied by the Federal Government and which by the Provincial Governments was reported tonight to have developed at meetings of the Co-ordinating Committee of the Dominion-Provincial Conference.

Nova Scotia and New Brunswick were said to have asked the Federal Government to state flatly it would relinquish such taxation fields as gasoline, pari-mutuels, electricity, amusement and other taxes which before the war were regarded as Provincial.

The Dominion authorities were said to have "hedged" about making such an undertaking and to have indicated they want every field of taxation the Federal Government now holds.

Delegates said it was hard to judge whether any progress was being made, because new fields were explored constantly. One delegate said he thought current discussions would extend into next week and later there might be an adjournment until next Summer.

"The situation at one time looks bright for a compromise and at another time it is dark," said one Provincial leader. "Today's discussions seemed to me utterly futile. All the Provinces want to get back some of their taxation fields, but some take a stronger stand than others. We just cannot come to any agreement until the Dominion is prepared to leave some of those fields."

NO COMMITMENT ON INCREASE

Another Premier said the Dominion was taking a cautious position. While Federal authorities had hinted they were prepared to increase the per capita grant from the original offer of $12 no definite commitment had been made.

It is know Premier Angus Macdonald of Nova Scotia has asked constitution revision so taxation rights of Federal and Provincial Governments would be clearly defined.

Mr. Macdonald was said to believe the constitution gives the Federal Government the right to enter any field of taxation, direct or indirect. He wanted assurances, if the Provinces agreed to surrender to the Dominion exclusive rights on personal income, corporation and inheritance taxes, there would be no further Federal invasion of direct taxation fields.

Premier Maurice Duplessis of Quebec was understood to favor the Ontario counter-proposals which suggested the Provinces share with the Dominion income and corporation tax fields, but take over exclusively taxes on successions, gasoline, amusements and other direct levies.

However, Mr. Duplessis has told conference newspapermen he still has an "open mind" on the proposals and counter-proposals.

One delegate said discussions would be long-drawn. He pointed to the Dominion's offer to assume responsibility for employable unemployed. While this proposal was favored in industrial provinces it was opposed by agricultural provinces. The Federal offer did not cover self-employed persons such as farmers who might lose their source of income.

SAYS DIEPPE AIDED D-DAY INVASION

Achieved Object as Reconnaissance in Force—Williams

Not Successful Raid

LONDON, Jan. 30 (CP Cable) — One development of the costly Canadian-led attack on Dieppe in 1942 was the "conception of floating harbors and the brilliant surprise landing on the open beaches of Normandy," says Francis Williams, former British Controller of news and censorship.

In "Press, Parliament and People," just published, the man who is now public relations adviser to Prime Minister Attlee, says: "Knowledge essential to the invasion and without which D-Day would have been impossible had been acquired; practical experience of how difficult it would be to capture a great harbor and establish an invasion bridgehead had been gained."

Mr. Williams in his official capacity attended meetings before every combined operations raid where Lord Louis Mountbatten, then Chief of the Commandos and his planning staff described the purposes of each attack.

DESTRUCTION NOT OBJECT

With the benefit of this background, Mr. Williams makes the following assessment:

"It was by far the largest and longest raid undertaken; a reconnaissance in force, the main purpose of which was to find out what would happen when a great port was attacked."

"Its object was not so much the destruction of strongly-held enemy positions, although it was hoped to do that, but the acquiring of knowledge; knowledge of the extent of the German defences in the West, of how far it was possible to batter down those defences by sea and air bombardment, on whether it was possible to land on a heavily-defended shore with insufficient large tanks and guns to break through the shore positions and capture and hold a port large enough to be of use to an invading force, and whether the landing and other craft designed by combined operations were suitable for their purpose in every respect.

CASUALTIES HEAVIER THAN FEARED

"In the result, casualties were heavier than had been feared, particularly among the Canadian troops of whom there were 3350 killed, wounded or missing out of a total 5,000 employed.

"Defences of the port were found to be of so formidable a character that it was impossible for the tanks which were landed to break through them in force and capture the town.

"Although some of the secondary objectives, notably the provoking of the Luftwaffe to battle in which very heavy losses were inflicted upon it, were achieved, the raid, regarded as a raid, was not successful.

"But as a reconnaissance in force it had achieved its object."

New High in Lumber Output Indicated

WINNIPEG, Jan. 30 (CP) — D. D. Rosenberry of Ottawa, Federal Timber Controller, told the annual convention of the Western Retail Lumbermen's Association here today indications were lumber production in Canada would reach a new high in 1946.

In addition, the estimated 400,000,000 to 500,000,000 feet used each war year directly or indirectly for war purposes would be diverted to civilian use and less lumber would be exported than for years.

Despite this, he warned, shortage of many lumber items probably would continue because of the heavy demand.

It was necessary to retain lumber controls because otherwise a major portion of the Canadian output would go to export markets which were paying a higher price than obtainable in Canada.

At the same time the export demand for Canadian lumber was extraordinarily high and lumber was one of Canada's major exports. Both the domestic consumer and the export market had to be protected and this could best be done by controls.

Delegates from Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta are attending the two-day meeting.

Skipper, Who Raced and Won With Bluenose, and Saved Her From Auction Block, Takes Loss Philosophically

LUNENBURG, N.S., Jan. 30 (CP) — Harry Capt. Angus Walters, who was skipper of the famed fishing Bluenose when she sailed and won five international fishermen's schooner race series against Gloucester schooners, tonight accepted the news the big fisherman had been wrecked off Haiti philosophically.

She was launched in 1921 and stood up remarkably under constant hard use, her former skipper said as he took time out from a curling match to receive word the Lunenburg-built vessel was gone.

Although she was never defeated in championship contests, the Bluenose was edged out by her bitterest rival the Gertrude L. Thebaud, in an exhibition series in 1930.

The Bluenose was sold to the West Indies Trading Company Ltd. of Halifax in 1942 and operated between West Indian Islands and United States ports with freight cargoes. Her rival, the Thebaud, had joined her in this trade a year or two later.

The Bluenose was a racer and a work-horse, sailing to the Grand Banks with the deep sea fleet when she was not racing or being groomed for a competition. She also was taken by her skipper, on exhibition tours to England and Toronto.

The schooner had engines put in her hull in 1936, and had them taken out again for the international races two years later.

"MELLER DRAMA"

The engines were placed back in the vessel, and Capt. Walters said they have been there ever since, serving her well.

In 1939, Capt. Walters dug down into his own pocket and handed $7,000 over to the Sheriff one hour before the Queen of the Atlantic Fleet was to go on the auction block for money claimed for the installation of diesel engines three years previously.

"I was the only one to come to the rescue," Capt. Walters said at the time.

A signal honor was paid to the famed fishing schooner when a 50-cent Canadian stamp was issued in 1930-31 with two pictures of the Bluenose on it. One picture showed her broadside on, under full sails with one rail under water and the other was a head-on view. The dull blue stamp, considered at the time one of the most beautiful stamps ever printed, was listed by philatelists at $1.50.

The Canadian 10-cent piece also has a picture of the Bluenose on it

Doctor, Nurse Battle Drifts to Reach Children

FORT ST. JOHN, B.C., Jan. 30 (CP) — A doctor and a public health nurse were battling mountainous snowdifts tonight as they sought to reach Rose Prairie where one child is dead and others are known to be ill from what is believed to be diphtheria. They are travelling on a horse-drawn sleigh.

Kay Marshall, two, died while her father and neighbors using a six-horse team battled drifts on the 25-mile trip to Fort St. John in the Northeastern corner of British Columbia. The team finally got through with six-year-old Jimmy Marshall, Kay's brother.

Dr. George McCormack of Fort St. John said he is not sure of the child's illness but the boy is a "diphtheria suspect." The lad is reported to be doing well in hospital tonight.

On the mercy trip to Rose Prairie are Dr. G. H. Kearney and Nurse Gladys Skinner. They are carrying anti-diphtheria toxin and other medical supplies. They have skis for use if the sleigh cannot get through.

A special meeting of the Fort St. John Board of Trade has been called to frame a protest to the British Columbia Government urging immediate action to keep side roads leading to the Alaska Highway open.

VANCOUVER, Jan. 30 (CP) — Mrs. M. V. Smillie, wife of Pte. McKelvoy Smillie, said here today she is quite certain the reason her husband went AWL for 420 days in Italy was due to shell shock and loss of memory.

Reports from Alton, Hampshire, England, said Pte. Smillie told psychiatrists at a court-martial that he went AWL to remain faithful to his wife.

Today Deadline on Free Travel to Jobs

VANCOUVER, Jan. 30 (CP) — National Employment Service officials here said tonight the last chance for displaced war-workers and ex-servicemen to obtain free transportation to former homes or to points offering prospect of employment falls tomorrow.

The Federal Department of Labor order, released Dec. 3, was provided to ensure transportation for displaced warworkers, ex-servicemen and others unable to find work in Vancouver or Victoria, who desired to return to former homes or where "there is a reasonable prospect of obtaining work."

More than 1400 persons have taken advantage of the offer.

Meanwhile job vacancies in B.C. have taken a drop since last week.

Male vacancies for the week ended Jan. 24, total 4924, a decrease of 386 over the previous week. Female vacancies stand at 1714.

Scientists to Probe Arctic Wealth

By JACK BRAYLEY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA, Jan. 30 (CP) — Scientists have started investigations aimed at disclosing the untold wealth in vast uninhabited Northern wastes, eliminating the scratch and buzz of Aurora Borealis in radios, improving navigation and generally increasing man's knowledge.

First step taken by the newly-created Arctic Institute of North America—established through international cooperation by Canada, United States, Newfoundland and Denmark, but conducted as a private organization — has been the offer of two $1500 fellowships for Arctic scientific study.

This is a start in solving the secrets of the Arctic and building a storehouse of information on every aspect of that great silent area which can be used for both commercial and military purposes.

ASSOCIATE ON MUSKOX TREK

An official has declared, however, it is coincidence, rather than significance that one of the board of governors of the institute is Lt.-Col. J. T. Wilson, leader of the forthcoming army Muskox operation which will trek through 3200 miles of Canada's sub-Arctic.

"The military aspect of our work is only incidental and it might interest you to know that we hope to arrange a comprehensive exchange of information with other countries interested in Arctic research such as Russia, which already has made extensive studies in this area," he added.

Establishment of the institute was approved in bills before the last session of parliament and Congress. Headquarters were set up in Montreal where Lincoln Washburn, 34-year-old Yale geologist from Hanover, N.H., presides as director. Dr. L. M. Gould, president of Carleton College, Northfield, Minn., second-in-command of the last Byrd expedition to the South Pole, recently succeeded Dr. Charles Camsell, deputy minister of the Canadian Department of Mines and Resources.

COORDINATING CENTRE

The institute plans to leave practical work, such as establishment of weather and geological stations to government bureaus, but will work closely with international scientific expeditions and surveys that may be conducted extensively in the future.

No nationality restrictions have been placed on the fellowships which will permit study of a wide range of Arctic subjects from biology to meteorology.

In general the institute will act as a coordinating centre in North America for scientific research in connection with the Arctic and sub-Arctic regions.

Scientists hope the practical application of this program eventually will see the Arctic opened to year-round regular transport and co-incident development of mineral deposits. Study of the effect of the disruptive but colorful Northern Lights on radio communications may have far reaching effects on reducing noise and interference on regular commercial radio networks.

Investigations of magnetic conditions at the magnetic North Pole and a study of atmospherics likely will result in improving both Polar and world navigation conditions and facilities.

Denies Hess His Application to Defend Himself

NUERNBERG, Jan. 30 (Reuters) —The War Crimes Tribunal today denied Rudolf Hess his application to defend himself.

The court spent several days considering his application and in announcing its decision it appointed Dr. Otto Stahmer, counsellor for Herman Goering, to defend Hess.

WINNIPEG, Jan. 30 (CP)—Plans for a network of radio amateurs across Canada in cooperation with the R.C.A.F. are under consideration, Keith Russell of Toronto, said here today.

Mr. Russell, former director of signals at R.C.A.F. Headquarters, Ottawa, said the object is to have a group of operators trained in the use of R.C.A.F. signals procedure who would be able to cooperate with the air force in time of emergency.

TWO THOUSAND, FIVE HUNDRED WHITE MICE TO DIE

NEW YORK, Jan. 30 (AP)—Two thousand, five hundred white mice are doomed to die because nobody wants them enough to pay the price. They belong to the City of New York and were kept for anti-toxin pneumonia tests until sulfa drugs came along and rendered their services unnecessary. The health department ordered their execution because only one bid, deemed insufficient, was made when the mice were offered for public sale.

UNO Decision Follows 4-Hour Heated Debate

LONDON, Jan. 30 (CP) — In its first major action, the United Nations Security Council agreed unanimously tonight to permit Russia and Iran to settle their dispute by direct negotiation but reserved the right to request information on the progress of their negotiations at any time.

The decision climaxed a four-hour debate, sometimes heated. Andrei Vishinsky, Soviet Foreign Vice-Commisar, pounded the table at times. Foreign Secretary of Britain charged that Russia had conducted what "looked to us like a war of nerves" in the Iran case.

Later, as the attempts to reach an agreement progressed, M. Vishinsky became conciliatory and Mr. Bevin assumed a calm but direct attitude on the controversial issue.

Thus the big powers threw off the cloak of secret diplomacy and tackled their problems—and those of smaller countries—in the open.

M. Vishinsky argued that the question could be kept on the agenda only if the council believed the dispute endangered international peace and security and this, he declared, it does not do.

"The case is empty," he argued. "It is a manifestation of distrust, the same distrust which has prevented cordial relations among all nations."

S. H. Taqizadeh, chief Iranian delegate, supported by Mr. Bevin and Edward R. Stettinius of the United States, argued that the council should retain jurisdiction.

"It will not hurt the Soviet Union if it is on the agenda," M. Taqizadeh said, "and it may harm us if it is not."

But as debate developed it became obvious that the council members were agreed that Russia and Iran should be allowed to iron out their differences directly. The Netherlands, China, France and Poland all acquiesced in that.

There were times during the discussion when Messrs. Bevin, Vishinsky and Stettinius conferred, working over draft of resolutions to bring about an agreement. At times the good-humored remarks of Mr. Bevin brought a laugh from M. Vishinsky.

Iran's charge that Soviet troops in Northern Iran interfered in the internal affairs of the country by preventing Iranian forces from suppressing an uprising in Azerbaijan province was referred to by M. Vishinsky during the debate.

"REACTIONARY CLAIMS"

He said "reactionary elements" might claim the events in Azerbaijan were a "consequence of the presence of Soviet troops" but that the trouble actually arose from what he said was "the wish of the native population to attain autonomy."

M. Vishinsky said Russia "will not allow any bloodshed in this area on insufficient grounds.

Mr. Bevin stated that "on Vishinsky's admission,' 'the Iranian troops were stopped by order of the Soviet High Command.

"If they were stopped, they (the Russians) infringed the treaty (the Russian - Iranian - British treaty of 1942 covering British and Soviet forces in Iran)," Mr. Bevin added. "That is clear. What is there to negotiate about?"

POLICE NAB SUSPECTS AFTER 80-M.P.H. CHASE

VANCOUVER, Jan. 30 (CP)—An 80-mile an hour police chase landed two suspects in jail here today after safecrackers blew the safe at Western Air Command and escaped with $1700.

Police said the $1700 is missing and that a third man is believed to have participated in the robbery.

This is pay-day at R.C.A.F. Headquarters at Jericho Beach, and Police believed a large vault which balked the safe-crackers, contained about $10,000, however, air force officials would not reveal the amount.

The two men were captured after a wild chase across the city and are being held for questioning in connection with the case.

No Cut in Butter Ration, February

OTTAWA, Jan. 30 (CP) — A Prices Board spokesman said today "there definitely will be no reduction in the Canadian butter ration during February."

He made the statement when questioned on reports which said that due to a seasonal decline in creamery butter production a further reduction in the ration might be necessary. Some reports said the reduction might be from six to four ounces a week.

The situation is reviewed on a monthly basis and rationing plans have not been decided beyond February, said the spokesman.

CANADIAN MAY BE NAMED TO WORLD COURT

By ROSS MUNRO
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Jan. 30 (CP Cable)—Canada missed out by slim margins in two big United Nations appointments but it appears now that John Read, legal authority in the External Affairs Department and a member of the Canadian delegation to the General Assembly, stands a good chance of being named as a judge on the International Court of Justice.

The gray-haired, 57-year-old native of Halifax is Canada's lone nominee for the 15-member court which is an organ of the new world organization. There are 75 nominations from other countries to the court, which probably will be set up shortly.

Mr. Read has a broad knowledge of international law and Canadian constitutional problems. In various committees he exercises considerable influence in legal matters at the present assembly meeting.

In lobby talk he is boosted as a probable member of the court and it is understood delegates from the other dominions are meeting with the Canadian delegation in an endeavor to aid his appointment.

United Nations authorities are cautious now about forecasting such appointments with any certainty for twice Canada failed to obtain what appeared to be likely appointments—on the Security Council and when the council agreed to support Trygve Lie, Norwegian Foreign Minister, rather than L. B. Pearson, Canadian Ambassador in Washington, as secretary-general.

It is felt, however, that the fact a Canadian was not favored by the council as secretary-general increases the chances of Mr. Read becoming a judge of the international tribunal.

So far the only big jobs Canada has received in the United Nations are membership in the Economic and Social Council and in the Atomic Energy Commission.

While the Canadian delegates did not appear to do much if any lobbying for Mr. Pearson, considering it wiser to let his case stand on merits, they were disappointed a Canadian did not get this No. 1 post-war job. Mr. Read's appointment to the International Court of Justice is the next hope.

Says Britain Should Pay Debt With Bases

ALBANY, N.Y., Jan. 30 (CP)—Canada's Wartime Munitions Director-General, William F. Drysdale, said tonight Britain should pay her debt to the United States in Western-Hemisphere bases or by any other "mutually satisfactory" settlement.

Speaking as "a private citizen," he said the "grim spectre" of debt forgiveness must not arise "in this new age of infinite threats and dangers" as it "so unhappily arose after the First World War."

In a speech to the Albany County Historical Society, Mr. Drysdale also urged closer economic and educational liaison between Canada and the United States.

Britain's obligations to the United States are and remain debts, "until they are fully acknowledged and liquidated," he said.

"Contractual arrangements for payment could be either by permanent cession or by leases of lengthened tenure of present or different lands in or contiguous to the waters of the Western Hemisphere; and—or by such other media of installment payments as are mutually satisfactory."

Is there after all, any solace and consolation in Language? It is Logan Pearsall Smith who asks the question in All Trivia, and he continues "When I am disconcerted by the unpleasing aspects of existence, when to me, as to Hamlet, this earth seems a sterile promontory, it is not in Metaphysics nor in Religion that I seek for reassurance, but in fine phrases. The thought of gazing on life's Evening Star makes of ugly old age a pleasing prospect; if I call Death mighty and unpersuaded, it has no terrors for me; I am perfectly content to be cut down like a flower, to flee as a shadow, to be swallowed like a snowflake on the sea. Express Opposing Views on Gov't Building

WINNIPEG, Jn 30 (CP) — R. J. Gourley, President of Beaver Lumber Company of Winnipeg and D. D Rosenberry, Federal Timber Controller, have different views on the success of the Federal Government's house-building activities. Both addressed the Western Retail Lumbermen's Association convention here today.

"Private builders with no priorities, no special privileges, operating under the most adverse conditions, have done the only house-building job in the last year and their activities accounted for fully 90 per cent of all new housing accommodation made available in 1945," Mr. Gourley told the convention.

Said Mr. Rosenberry: "It has been said that private industry could have provided low-rental houses as rapidly as the Government could provide them. The fact remains that this was not done and materials were being used in fantastically large quantities in cities all over Canada for speculative building. In those circumstances and in order to get immediate action, the Government undertook the construction of low-rental houses."

TORIES FIGHT HARD BUT BILL PROGRESSES

By JAMES McCOOK
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Jan. 30 (CP Cable)—The Labor Government's bill to nationalize Britain's coal industry received second reading tonight in the House of Commons after a vigorous two-day debate.

The House endorsed the measure without a recorded vote after rejecting by a vote of 359 to 182 a Conservative Party motion to throw it out. The bill thus was virtually assured of final passage.

The Labor benches loudly cheered the result and William Gallagher, the lone Communist member, shouted: "Who owns the coal mines now?"

The bill, which also provides £150,000,000 (about $675,000,000) to re-equip the mines and step up lagging production, is a major plank in the Government's socialization plan.

An excited House heard an amiable Anthony Eden, acting Conservative Leader, stand up stoutly against the measure during the day.

Herbert Morrison, Government Leader in the House, said the administration would send the measure to committee "upstairs", meaning that it would be discussed in a committee room of limited capacity.

Mr. Eden said the Government should reconsider and added that although the opposition might be weak in numbers, it would do its utmost to oppose the Government proposal.

This was taken to mean the Conservatives will fight the bill vigorously in the committee stage. Beyond that, Mr. Eden's attitude demonstrated that the Opposition does not intend to cooperate with the Government in hastening through Parliament the mass of legislation Mr. Morrison hopes to see completed at the present session.

Maj. Gwilym Lloyd George entered the debate amid cheers from the Opposition benches and laughter from the Government side. Although a Liberal like his late father, he supported the Conservatives in opposing the bill.

Canada to Extend Overseas Broadcasting

VANCOUVER, Jan. 30 (CP) — Canadian short-wave radio broadcasts, already heard with great power and clarity in Britain and throughout Europe, will be extended during the next year to South America, Australia and South Africa, A. Davidson Dunton, Chairman of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation's Board of Governors, announced here today.

"The present broadcasts can be heard in Britain and Europe better than any others from North America," he said. "We are broadcasting to Canadian service personnel still overseas, to Britain, France, Germany, Belgium, Czechoslovakia, and test transmissions to South America. And all those who listen get some knowledge, some understanding of present-day Canada."

Mr. Dunton said the funds for the C.B.C.'s international short-wave service do not come from listener's licence fees but are separately provided by the Federal Government.

The 33-year-old head of Canada's national radio outlined the growth and basic problems of the C.B.C., including the combination of scattered population, vast distances and five different time zones.

"In the last fiscal year, the C.B.C. carried 55,000 network programs. Of these, 9500 were commercial, and 45,500 were non-commercial. Of these non-commercials, 3000 came from the United States, 3000 from Britain, and 39,000 were our own, produced in Canada."

Mr. Dunton said he has never heard of any one program that everyone likes. "So it becomes a matter of trying to build a live, shifting pattern of various colors, related as closely as can be judged in number, and time, and to the varying needs and tastes and aims of the Canadian public."

He invited the public to tell the C.B.C. frankly and fully what it does and does not like to hear on the air.

Brisk competition inside Canada and from abroad, he declared, would prevent the C.B.C. from ever becoming "stodgy," even if it wanted to do so. "I think the C.B.C. is making a very considerable contribution to the growing culture of Canada, and I don't mean culture that is a tea-time subject for the few, but the living expression of the minds of all the Canadian people."

HART REPORTS PLANT USE TO BE RECONSIDERED

VANCOUVER, Jan 30 (CP)—The Daily Province in a newspage story today said Premier Hart, in Ottawa attending the Dominion-Provincial Conference, reported that Reconstruction Minister Howe today agreed the question of future occupancy of the Boeing Aircraft plant on Sea Island would be submitted again to the Cabinet for consideration

Premier Hart said Mr. Howe had promised to have the Executive Council reconsider its former stand that the building should be used by the Canadian Army for storage purposes.

Mr. Howe, explaining the Cabinet's previous decision, said the only definite proposal received from private industry had been an offer from a distillery which wanted the plant for storage space, "and their proposition was ridiculous." He added War Assets Corporation had received no other definite propositions for the plant.

In Vancouver, George Murphy of Portland, Ore., spokesman for the group that wants the building for making plywood and pre-fabricated houses, said he had placed full details of his proposals before the Regional Council of the Reconstruction Department.

THEY'VE GOT A DODO

BY ARTHUR EDSON

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30 (AP)—A newly constructed dodo roosts in the Smithsonian Institution today.

And Smithsonian scientists, every bit as proud as Dame Dodo must have been when she laid the egg more than two centuries ago, reckon it's the most complete dodo specimen in North America.

It's half real dodo (bones, that is) and half imagination helped along by careful research into descriptions written by early explorers.

The bird was put together once before, some years ago, but the scientists found later that that wasn't what the dodo really looked like, at all.

So they tore the speciman down and began all over again. They think they've got it right this time.

Dr. H. Friedmann, of the Institution's Bird Division, told a reporter today he doesn't know why man has paid so much heed to the luckless dodo.

Why, in North America alone, more than 100 birds have become extinct in modern times. Yet does anyone say "as dead as a passenger pigeon?"

No, says Dr. Friedmann, it's always "dead as a dodo."

Originally the expression was "as dumb as a dodo." Actually, Dr. Friedmann declares, it probably was as heavy a thinker as other birds.

But the awkward dodo, which looked like a pigeon and was as husky as a duck, had forgotten how to fly. And it was too heavy to run.

BLACK BALL NEW G-M WAGE OFFER

15,000 to Go Back to Jobs as Minor Disputes Are Settled

Strike Control Bill

NEW YORK, Jan. 30 (AP)—General Motors tonight served notice it was unwilling to renew any maintenance-of-union-membership in a new contract and offered again a temporary 13½-cents-an-hour wage increase — which union leaders speedily rejected.

The offer and rejection were top developments in a day which saw the number of strike-idle in the United States reduced by 15,000 to a total of 1,390,000 through settlement of a number of minor labor-management disputes.

The corporation proposed the United Auto Workers (C.I.O.) return to work at the 13½-cent raise, originally offered three months ago, during new contract negotiations.

In breaking with the union regarding membership maintenance, General Motors said a provision in the old contract "forced us to discharge 1690 satisfactory employees on the union's demand because these employees were not willing to pay their union dues.

"We are unwilling to put any such provision in the new contract."

NO CONTRACT, NO NEW OFFERS

The coporation served notice also it had "nothing further" to offer as *a wage boost until it obtains a con*tract with the C.I.O.-U.A.W. assuring "uninterrupted production" and "efficient work effort."

President Truman's fact-finding board proposed a 19½-cents-an-hour increase.

The divergent statements were issued after the first direct negotiations between the parties in more than a month in a renewed attempt to settle the 71-day strike of 175,000 production workers.

However, James F. Dewey, government conciliator who brought the parties together in renewed efforts to settle the dispute, said he was not discouraged by the results and that negotiations would be resumed tomorrow.

Meanwhile, settlement of the vast steel strike of 750,000 appeared to hinge on what price increases the government will grant for steel.

FORWARD STRIKE SUPPORT BILL

Irving S. Olds, chairman of the board of United States Steel said today a price increase "greatly in excess of $6.25 a ton" was needed to meet the 18½ cents hourly wage boost the union has agreed to accept. Most top officials in Washington have been reported favoring a $4 a ton boost and the Office of Price Administration is said to be holding out firmly for $2.50.

At the same time in Washington, a strike control bill, containing far more sweeping provisions than advocated by President Truman, was pushed to the floor of the House with the backing of Republicans and Southern Democrats.

The bill, approved by the House Rules Committee and sent to the floor for debate Thursday, would outlaw violent picketing, provide for civil suits against violators of labor contracts, subject unions to injunctions and nullify foreman's unions.

The measure, bitterly opposed by backers of labor unions, also would create a labor-management board to help settle disputes and require "cooling-off" periods for strikes and lockouts.

UNCOVER NEW CON. RACKET

VANCOUVER, Jan. 30 (CP) — Department of Veterans Affairs said today they had exposed a new confidence game operated by an ingenious racketeer in the Kerisdale District of Vancouver.

They said the man goes from door to door, flashing a general service discharge pin, and declaring he has been told by D.V.A. officials to find 250 warm-hearted citizens who will help finance his way through a vocational training course by paying him a "measly five cents a week."

The catch comes when he adds that the duration of the course is 2½ years—and asks for a check for $6.30 covering the whole amount in advance.

TRAPPED DOG DAMAGES CHURCH

FLIN FLON, Man., Jan. 30 (CP)—When first discovered, extensive damage to the inside of Christ Church here was attributed to vandalism, but investigation showed it to have been caused by a dog locked in the building.

Apparently frenzied in attempting to escape, the dog chewed the doors and several window frames, knocked the brass of the communion and credence table, badly bent the brass desk, chewed and scattered various valuable books and several gowns. The worst feature were multiple scratches to the highly-polished oak communion table.

Sure Slayer Had Knowledge of Dissecting

CHICAGO, Jan. 30 (AP) — The box containing the human ear mailed to the mother of kidnapped and slain Suzanne Degnan bore the scribbled threat, "will cut your ear next," Detective Chief Walter Storms disclosed tonight.

Storms said he still believes the ear, which police believe to be that of an adult male, was the work of a prankster.

He said the small cardboard box containing the ear was mailed to "Mrs. Degnan" at the home address of the parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Degnan and that the threat was penned on the box.

The box was received Tuesday and apparently postmarked at 11:30 p.m. the previous night, Storms said.

He said the writing, on the inside of the box, would be compared with the writing on the ransom note left when the six-year-old girl was abducted Jan. 7 by a killer who dismembered her body and dropped the pieces in sewers and catch basins in the vicinity of the girl's home.

The detective also exhibited four pictures of the child's dismembered body and told newspapermen police are convinced the slayer was "either a professional man or someone who knew a lot about dissecting a body."

West Coast Lumber Industry Set for Boom

By LELAND HANNUM

SEATTLE, Wash., Jan. 30 (AP)—The giant lumber industry of the United States Pacific Coast, with unfilled orders on its books totalling 700,000,000 board feet, appears to be ready to swing into high tempo as soon as weather permits.

SUFFICIENT MANPOWER NOW AVAILABLE

The current outlook for this area's major industry, as seen by the United States Employment Service, is that sufficient manpower now is available. The paralyzing lumber strike has ended, except for a few holdouts. Demand is heavy. But heavy snow in most logging areas will prevent full employment before March or April.

The closely allied industries — lumber manufacturing, pulp and paper mills and plywood mills—are running at capacity. Their manpower shortages are over.

The West Coast Lumbermen's Association, summarizing reports from its member mills, said the industry's unfilled order file stood at 738,232,000 board feet at the end of 1945, with gross stocks on hand of only 400,405,000.

The cumulative production for the 52 weeks of last year was 5,799,672,000 board feet, against 7,902,289,000 in 1944.

MEETS ONE CRISIS AFTER ANOTHER

"Since VJ-Day," the Association recalled, "the industry has met one crisis after another. It faces market conditions which defy prediction, because of scarcity of building labor and the low supply of key materials."

Crerar Says "No New Invention Has Ever Halted War"

VICTORIA, Jan. 30 (CP)—Gen. H. D. G. Crerar, former commander of the First Canadian Army, said in an interview here today while commenting on the atomic bomb, that no new invention has ever stopped war.

Asked about the possibility of the invention of the atomic bomb and rocket warfare eliminating future conflicts, Gen. Crerar said:

"No matter how horrible the weapon, it never stops an aggressor. The history of warfare and the history of Germany shows that."

There would be no two or three-year preparation for the next world conflict. It would come suddenly.

"Isolationism has been definitely ruled out," said Gen. Crerar. "Nations can't sit in their countries and be wiped out."

Gen. Crerar smiled when it was suggested that he was basing his statements on the fact that there would be another war.

"There's no indication," he said, "that war has been eradicated."

He predicted that the infantry would be as important as ever pointing out the foot-soldiers had played a major part in the Second Great War.

"The men on foot," he said, "will have to go out and clean up the bases from which the rocket weapons are fired."

Gen. Crerar expected Canada and the United States would continue working in close cooperation with regard to defence. He pointed out that total range of weapons in future conflicts was unknown adding that Germany was working just before defeat on V-3 and V-4 weapons along with a rocket bomb that would cross the Atlantic.

"Such weapons," he said, "will be taken into account in planning strategy."

Seek Solution to Crowding, University

EDMONTON, Jan. 30 (CP) —Dr. Robert Newton, President of Alberta University, said today a meeting will be held with a five-man delegation representing veterans attending the University in an attempt to resolve complaints of the staff of the two mens residences because of "congestion in the buildings."

More than 300 members of the Returned Men's Association met Monday in protest against a proposal to move them to living quarters and lecture rooms at the United States Army air base, obtained from the Dominion Government.

Start Surveys of Employment, Unemployment

OTTAWA, Jan. 31 (CP) — The Canadian and his work—or lack of it—emerged within the ranks of new statistics today as the Dominion Bureau of Statistics made public the results of its first sample survey of the civilian labor force.

The Bureau called it "the first application on a large scale of sampling techniques in the investigation of the Canadian labor market."

Its primary aims, the Bureau said, "are to obtain current information about the volume of employment and unemployment as well as the detailed composition of the labor force.

"In addition estimates will be available concerning the number and characteristics of persons not in the labor force such as housewives, students, retired persons and people who are too old or unable to work."

BY PERSONAL TALKS

The surveys, to be made quarterly, will be based on personal interviews "with responsible members of sample households," between 25,000 and 30,000 in number, or representing about one per cent of the Dominion's people. They "represent an effort to utilize modern developments in sampling technique to obtain statistical data on the characteristics of the people quickly and economically."

It is sometimes known as "area sampling" in which the country is divided into primary sampling units, then stratified, then one unit selected from each strata so, for example, one would represent the dairy farming areas of Ontario and another the wheat farming areas of Saskatchewan.

From there the selected areas were narrowed down until the proportion of households to be sampled in different areas was adjusted to yield about one per cent of the households in the area.

The week covered in the first bulletin was that of Nov. 11-17, 1945. As "employed" the survey considered anyone who worked that week or had a job or business. Housewives, students and retired persons who worked more than an hour for pay or profit were "employed," as were persons who had a job but did not work because of weather, vacation, labor disputes or because of a temporary layoff with definite instructions to return to work within 30 days.

"Employed," too, were those whose main activity was seeking work but who worked more than an hour that week, unpaid family workers on farms or in businesses and farm women who devoted more than 20 hours a week to other than work in the home.

The labor force, as a definition, consisted of employed and unemployed and represented "those who are either at work or have jobs or are available for work if they can find jobs."

4,531,000 "WORKERS"

The survey reduced that force to a number of tables. One showed that the force, covering persons older than 14, included 4,531,000 that week of whom 1,902,000 were between 25 and 44 and 1,239,000 were between 45 and 64.

The ranks of the employed included 4,364,000—3,248,000 men and 1,116,000 women. Of that total 1,094,000 worked between 35 and 44 hours, 1,654,000 between 45 and 54 hours and 1,110,000 more than 55 hours.

Agriculture accounted for 1,054,000 workers—166,000 of them women.

Of 3,308,000 non-agricultural workers 2,488,000 were paid workers for private employers .

Of 167,000 unemployed, 31,000 were women and of that same total 58,000 were between 25 and 44 and 106,000 had been seeking work between one and three months.

List of World War II Civilian Dead Find Place in Abbey Shrine

BY GORDON McKEAN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Jan. 30 (CP)—Westminster Abbey, historic burial place of Britain's great, has a new shrine. It contains the first lists of nearly 60,000 civilians killed by enemy action in the United Kingdom during the Second Great War, compiled by the Imperial War Graves Commission.

Names of rich and poor, great and humble, now are enshrined in the Abbey where princes, statesmen and poets lie, and where Britain's kings are crowned.

The shrine, designed by Sir Charles Peers, surveyor to the Abbey, is fixed to the West wall of the Chapel of St. George, close to the tablet to 1,000,000 service dead of the First Great War and a few yards from the bright poppies surrounding the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier.

The lists are in four volumes, bound by the late Douglas Cockerell in red leather. The shrine measures about three feet square on the front, and is two feet deep. One volume lies open and a page is turned daily.

The present typewritten lists will be replaced by printed or embossed lists when the record is complete. Relatives may consult duplicate lists in London and Edinburgh, at the Imperial War Graves Commission Offices.

Here are two typical entries listed under Edmonton, Middlesex. Both obviously are casualties from a flying bomb or rocket, as both occurred after attacks by aircraft ceased:

"Martin, Pamela Maureen, age four weeks; of 5 Fairfield Road, daughter of Joseph and Sarah Martin. 18th Oct. 1944, at Fairfield Road.

"Quire, Ellen Ann, age 81. Wife of Victor Frederick Quire, of 170 Durants Road; died 10th Aug. 1944, at North Middlesex County Hospital. Islington Cemetery."

Thus the Martins and the Quires, the Smiths, Joneses and Robinsons, described by the King as "all in the front line," have found in death commemorative honors beside their country's great.

Wide Power Projects for Scotland

By THOMAS CHALMERS

GLASGOW, Jan. 30 (Reuters)—Extensive schemes to harness the untapped water resources of the Scottish Highlands to provide electric power and light for industry, agriculture and homesteads are beginning to get under way.

Some of the plans were shelved during the war because of equipment shortages and because they could later provide capital schemes on which demobilized men could be employed.

P.O.W.'S LABOR

Taking the first step to get the ambitious projects started, the North of Scotland Hydro-Electric Board is pressing the government to grant labor priorities for the construction of two hydro-electric systems at Loch Sloy in Dumbartonshire and Pitlochry in Perthshire. So far the only laborers available — German prisoners of war and Polish soldiers —have begun to build roads as part of the Loch Sloy project.

When the schemes were published, it was estimated that 7000 men would be employed on construction work alone. The Loch Sloy power station is expected to be in operation by the Winter of next year and the Pitlochry station a year later.

A third construction scheme, at Loch Fannich in the County of Ross and Cromarty, will employ 500. The board's fourth construction scheme, at Cowal, was published last Monday, a scheme for Skye will be published next Monday and another for the Orkneys later.

In addition to the construction schemes a number of distribution projects have been authorized by the electricity commissioners and electricity, produced at oil generating stations until supplies from hydro-electric stations are available, will soon be within reach for the first time of many villagers and hamlets in the Highlands and islands where up until now the people have had to rely on candles or paraffin lamps for light.

Packing Time Has Started at P.O.W. Camp, Lethbridge

LETHBRIDGE, Alta., Jan. 30 (CP) —Packing time has started in earnest at the large prisoner-of-war camp here, now that more than 9500 captives in the establishment have been officially notified that they will shortly be evacuated to Britain.

A flurry of excitement flashed through the barbed wire enclosure late yesterday after captives were notified of the impending evacuation but camp authorities said there was no wild celebration.

Col. E. D. B. Kippen, camp commandant, notified the German camp leader that all captives are to be evacuated to Britain during the next several months and the news spread rapidly.

Dampening the enthusiasm of captives was the fact they are to be moved to Britain and may be expected to work there for some time before going to their shattered homeland.

It is learned reliably that the first batch of captives to be evacuated from the local camp will be leaving "about the middle of February."

Former Nelson Man Drowns in California

Edward O'Neill, former resident of Ymir and Nelson, and for the last five years proprietor of a grocery store and service station at Fair Oaks, Cal., was drowned on Jan. 12 while on a hunting trip near Yuba City, Cal.

He was a son of Mr. and Mrs. A. C. O'Neill now of Hollywood and from the early 1900's residents of Ymir until 1918 and until 1923 of Nelson.

He was a brother of Mrs. R. R. Brown of Nelson and of Mrs. C. A. Larson of Calgary. Other brothers and sisters are Mrs. George Hull, Patrick and Louis O'Neill, all of Seattle, and Mrs. J. C. Smith and Owen O'Neill of Los Angeles.

His father, A. C. O'Neill, was Canadian Immigration Officer who checked passengers on Great Northern trains crossing the border at Waneta.

Edward O'Neill, who was 52 years of age, was on a hunting trip with two friends and his son Pat.

Mr. O'Neill and one of his friends were in a boat which overturned. The boy Pat stripped off his clothes, plunged into the water and succeeded in bringing his father's friend and the boat to shore. The friend said Mr. O'Neill seemed to be stunned by shock from the cold water when the boat overturned, and it took some hours to recover the body.

A movement has been started to secure a Carnegie medal for Pat for his rescue of Mr. O'Neill's friend and his attempt to save his father.

Mr. O'Neill was a native of Montreal and after leaving this district went to Mount Vernon, Wash., where he was in the garage business for some years.

Montgomery himself, for devotion to duty while in action in Italy. The citation reads "It has been brought to my notice that you have performed outstanding good service and shown great devotion to duty during the campaign in North West Europe. I award you this certificate as a token of my appreciation and I have given instructions that this shall be noted in your Recod of Service."

He arrived back to Canada aboard the Louis Pasteur and was in time to celebrate VJ-Day at Natal-Michel when Germany surrendered. This unexpected award is one of the first to be received by any Natal-Michel soldiers to date although on a few occasions some have been mentioned in dispatches.

● Authorities say the difference between husky children and those who are poor eaters, underweight and nervous is often simply a matter of proper nourishment, especially an adequate supply of vitamins.

But vitamins alone are not enough. For authorities now agree that vitamins do not work alone. They work as a team with certain other food elements.

For this reason, thousands are switching to Ovaltine. Unlike mere "vitamin carriers," Ovaltine food beverage contains not only extra vitamins but nearly all the precious food elements needed for health and top vitality. These include Vitamins A, B1 and D, the important minerals calcium, phosphorus and iron, high quality proteins and quick energy fuel-food—a combination of food elements authorities agree are needed for best results.

So, if your child is thin, nervous and not developing properly, why not turn to Ovaltine as thousands are doing. Three normal meals plus two glasses of Ovaltine a day give your child all the extra amounts of vitamins and minerals needed for health and top vitality. 166

This, Vancouver, Is Really Too, Too Much

We all know what consistently lovely weather is enjoyed by Vancouver. Leo Sweeney, its energetic Tourist Bureau chief, often tells us about it, with occasional whispers to the Vancouver people to keep their lips pinned up when it snows too hard, or freezes too bitterly or rains for too long.

He even made Dean Acheson, Assistant Secretary of State apologize the other day because the Washington official made a suggestion that ice-closed Canadian ports were hampering shipments of wheat to starving Europe, which Vancouver took as a bitter affront.

Ice in Burrard Inlet? The howl from Vancouver was so loud that the radar experts that day thought that they were getting reverberations from the moon.

The fact that Acheson wasn't talking about salt water harbors but about the Great Lakes didn't make any difference. It was an opportunity to promote the knowledge that Vancouver is a wheat-shipping harbor and Mr. Sweeney went to town on it. He had the gardeners working away in their shirt sleeves, the birds singing and the flowers blooming and got the story on the press associations' leased wires, too. Mr. Sweeney should get a salary raise just as soon as Donald Gordon will okay it.

But when a Vancouver paper stretches its cooperation with Mr. Sweeney to the extent of covering up a Vancouver snowfall last Sunday by telling the world that Nelson had a temperature the preceeding day of 8 below zero we in the mild and salubrious climate of the Interior must really rise in protest. Nelson's temperature Friday night did not get lower than 22.3 degrees higher than the figure in the—should it be called slanderous?—article in the Coast paper. Just to keep the record straight, Nelson's minimum temperatures were 28.1 on Wednesday night, 25.8 on Thursday night, 14.3 on Friday night, 16.5 on Saturday night and 21.3 on Sunday night, all of course above zero.

Charged With One Offence, Punished for Another

For having a registration card other than his own, Ernest Golding was fined $500, with six months in jail as an alternative, in a Vancouver Police Court.

Arrested he had in his possession a National Registration card bearing the name of Kenneth R. Smith, and a medical rejection card from the armed forces bearing the same name.

The court was told that Golding went A.W.L. from an overseas draft in December, 1944, and had since been sought as a deserter.

So, Golding was fined $500, or six months in jail, not for the offence with which he was charged and convicted, but because of the alleged offence of desertion of which he was neither charged nor convicted. Obviously, no magistrate would have inflicted such a heavy penalty for a technical violation of the national registration regulations.

Such cases are a travesty of what we proudly call British justice. They bring the administration of the law into disrepute.

But they make it easy to understand why some of our police authorities want compulsory possession of National Registration cards continued. It makes it easy to get someone soaked for offences that might be difficult or inconvenient to prove.

If Golding is a deserter then he should be tried, and upon production of the necessary proof, punished by the appropriate authorities. As matters stand he has been punished without such proof of guilt.

The sooner we get rid of the compulsory National Registration law the better.

Lead Market Situation Is Good for the Producer

The market for lead, an important matter to Kootenay and Boundary, seems to be in an exceptionally strong position from the producers' viewpoint with prospects of an increase in the American price.

An Associated Press dispatch from New York states that American manufacturers will demand at least a million tons of lead in 1946, and that this amount will be nearly 300,000 pounds more than the United States domestic production of this metal.

The United States Government has been negotiating for foreign lead but is finding that European nations, which are also in great need of the metal, are already competing in the Mexican market.

The United States Government's stock pile of lead is dwindling. Lead quotas are being imposed, and there are repercussions in the storage battery, telephone cables, ethyl gasoline, building, chemical and paint industries.

Chief reasons for the shortage in addition to the exceptional demand is that during the war little development work was done in the mines. There was such a demand for the metal for urgent purposes that mining companies devoted their efforts to mining ore already explored.

There was no chance to do much development. Consequently proven ore reserves are low. They will not be brought back to normal until time has been given to adequate exploration and development. The second reason is that while the United States needs 12,000 men in the industry of producing lead at the present time, it has only 8000.

Press Comment

THE BRITISH IN INDONESIA

To those who have been crying out against the presence of the British in Java, it must come as a surprise to read that the Javanese are not anxious for the British to leave—not yet awhile.

On the heels of Russia's demarche in the General Assembly of UNO, demanding the probing of British actions in Greece and Indonesia, Premier Sutan Sjahrir has declared that Indonesians would prefer to have the British remain until the Japanese have been removed, since otherwise the Japs might refuse to lay down their arms.

In saying this, the Premier appears to give fullest credit to the stout British claim that they are in Indonesia merely to keep order and to disarm the Japs, in conformity with this assignment from the Allied Powers.

There is evidence that the British have been playing the game impartially in Indonesia. They have used force against the Javanese, but they likewise have sternly denied entry to Dutch forces whose presence in Java they considered likely to foment further disorders.

The British know their actions in Java are anxiously watched all over Asia, and particularly in their own colonial possessions there, and they are not anxious to lower their prestige or trade away goodwill.—Vancouver Sun.

INITIATIVE SHOWN

It is a healthy sign when private initiative begins to pick up again the plans it was forced to lay down when war intervened. In British Columbia in many different directions now there is growing evidence of developments, new starts and extensions on the industrial and business scenes. The British Columbia Electric Railway's $50,000,000 program of new work over the next 10 years was one of the first of the postwar announcements. Others are now maturing. Amongst them will be noticed and welcomed, plans by the Union Steamship Company to convert three Castle class corvettes to coast-wise passenger and freight vessels for use on this Coast.—Victoria Colonist.

POST-WAR YEARS UNEASY

It was in 1919 when the One Big Union upset the apple cart in Canada. It looks as if the same apple cart is in for an upsetting again in 1946. Post-war years are uneasy years.—Lethbridge Herald.

Today's Horoscope

You are ambitious, but are easily discouraged, and give up too easily where you might accomplish many things. You are kind, just, generous, and have an artistic temperament. Cultivate perseverance and confidence in your own ability. You are fond of children. Take it easy today, as speed can be dangerous. Put the brakes on your emotions, too, for this day. Also don't take a new acquaintance on trust.

Reader, Nelson—What is an N.H.A. Loan?

A N.H.A. Loan is made by a loaning institution at 4½ per cent to enable a person to obtain funds to build a home by way of mortgage under the National Housing Act, 1944, the major portion of which is guaranteed to the loaning institution by the Dominion of Canada.

How can this be obtained?

An applicant must apply to a loaning institution and make application for such loan and present plans for the proposed home, which have to be approved by the loaning institution and the Government of Canada.

Henry Ford began his experiments a mere boy. He was 40 years of age before he offered the Ford car to the world. His first car was completed in 1896. Until 1903 he worked quietly and experimented. He then introduced the famous "999".

Long Ferry Route May Lead to Bottleneck When Tourist Rush On

To The Editor:

Sir—I have been pleased to see that The Daily News has been continuing to carry on its campaign to obtain improved road facilities for the Interior of B. C. May I draw the attention of the public to the situation regarding the proposed new ferry on Kootenay Lake?

It would seem absolutely absurd to spend about half a million dollars to put a new ferry in service on the lake, plus the cost of two new ferry landings, and not take advantage of the shortest possible route, where the greatest service could be provided for the travelling public.

The present route takes about one hour from the time the ferry gets under way at Fraser's Landing till it is ready to land at Gray Creek. With the same cost of operation and the same amount of capital expenditure on the ferry, it could make at least double the number of trips in the same time, if operated on the much shorter route from some point in Queen's Bay to Kootenay Bay. It would seem that the engineers of the Public Works Department were prejudiced in their decision against the shorter route, as steamer captains of long experience have assured us that there would be no difficulty in making landings at these points if the proper facilities were provided. For the last 30 years a floating wharf held only by two cables without piling has been constantly in use at Kootenay Bay.

With completion of the Hope-Princeton link and the hard surfacing of the Southern Provincial Highway, tourist traffic may be expected to increase to such an extent that the longer ferry route would develop into a real bottle-neck, which the Minister of Public Works seems determined to foist on the Kootenays.

This shorter ferry route would, of course, entail the improvement of the road through Crawford Bay. This has been promised by one Government after another for the past 40 years. With the Cameron report on education becoming effective, we look forward to a consolidated school district and a graded school. This would make the improvement of our road a necessity so that school buses could operate in safety.

Apart from all other reasons, surely farmers in a settlement of this size, after being deprived of the regular steamer service which ran when they settled in this country and invested their capital, are now entitled to a road fit for a freight truck and a school bus.

W. Fraser.

LOVE ONE ANOTHER

Love is never lost. If not reciprocated it will flow back and soften and purify the heart.—Washington Irving.

It is the very essence of love, of nobleness, of greatness, to be willing to suffer for the good of others.—Spencer.

"Love one another, as I have loved you." No estrangement, no emulation, no deceit, enters into the heart that loves as Jesus loved. It is a false sense of love that, like the Summer brook, soon gets dry.—Mary Baker Eddy.

Divine love is a sacred flower, which in its early bud is happiness, and in its full bloom is heaven.—Eleanor L. Hervey.

How shall I do to love? Believe. How shall I do to believe? Love.—Leighton.

HITLER HIMSELF ENUNCIATED THE NAZI POLICY OF EXECUTING DEPORTEES

NUERNBERG, Jan. 30 (AP) — Adolf Hitler himself enunciated the Nazi policy of exciting deportees in order to intimidate the populations of subjugated European countries, French Prosecutor Charles Dubost told the International Military Tribunal today.

crimes court a document he describ-

M. Dubost submitted to the war ed as a directive from the German High Command instructing German members of the French-German Armistice Commission to reject all requests from the French delegation or the International Red Cross for better treatment of prisoners.

This directive said the policy was ordered by Hitler, who said: "Effective, lasting intimidation of the population cannot be achieved except by the death penalty or by measures which leave the criminal's (deportee's) close relations, and the population ignorant of his fate."

The prosecution also cited an order which it said was handed down by Gestapo Chief Heinrich Himmler in April, 1945, directing that no prisoner should be allowed to fall into Allied hands alive.

One of the defendants, Arthur Seyss Inquart, former German Governor of the Netherlands, was stricken ill during the night and was absent from the prisoners' dock today.

M. Dubost, introduced a German High Command directive instructing commanders of war prisoners' camps not to observe the general convention regulation for delay in executions. The convention provides that execution of prisoners cannot be carried out until three months after the protecting power has been notified.

"For war prisoners themselves, it is more humane not to have to wait three months for their execution," the directive said.

Another document showed how the command of the German Air Force attempted to curtail Allied air attacks by placing war prisoner's camps near large German cities.

Finds Generalissimo Franco Has "No Private Life" When Delving Into It; Protected From Intruders

By DEWITT MacKENZIE

MADRID, Jan. 30 (AP) — When you set out to delve into the private life of Generalissimo Franco you soon discover that, as a friend of mine here puts it, "there is not any."

That may strike many as strange in view of the glaring black marks in the Allied books against Franco's name.

Franco lived after the fashion of a studious professor, but in the surroundings of a king. I do not mean that he is at all a humble person, for he definitely is not, but his personal wants apparently are simple. He likes hunting in Winter and fishes during his Summer vacation. Beyond that he likes to stay at home.

The Franco family—the Generalissimo, his wife and their daughter—live in the ancient town of El Pardo, 8½ miles from Madrid, in one of the royal palaces. It was there, amid the georgeous trapping of monarchy, that I had a long talk with him.

PROTECTED AGAINST INTRUDERS

It was not surprising to find the Generalissimo heavily protected against intruders. I arrived in El Pardo half an hour ahead of my appointment and used this time in looking over the old place.

Within a few minutes an alert little man popped up from nowhere, flashed his secret service badge on me and smilingly but firmly wanted to know something of my history and my intentions. Later a big squad of armed officers at the palace gate examined our car and party and passed us inside.

At the entrance were two of the Generalissimo's famous moorish mounted bodyguards sitting proudly on their horses like statues, with spiked steel helmets blazing in the sun through the tops of their turbans, and lances erect against their stirrups.

DOESN'T USE TOBACCO OR ALCOHOL

Franco looks so fit in his military uniform at the age of 55 that he might easily be mistaken for 45. This probably is partly a heritage of his vigorous African campaigns as a young officer — service which brought him a brigadier generalship at the age of 34. Another reason for his physical well being may be that he is said to be a light eater and does not use tobacco or alcohol.

Finds House of Commons Library Hasn't Books Members Want

By JAMES McCOOK
Canadian Press Staff Writer

London, Jan. 31 (CP) — The House of Commons library has five rooms—including the "Silence Room" where peace is profound—but a select committee has come to the conclusion it has not got the book members want.

The library, rich in venerable books, was found to be deficient in volumes on finance and political economy, social science, history and constitutional law, the Dominions, the Colonies, Russia and Asiatic countries.

Prompt action to make good the deficiencies was recommended by the committee. New book publication was restricted during the war and still is controlled by limited paper supplies.

Modern card index catalogues of authors and subjects were declared indispensable, and appointment of additional librarians with special qualifications who could give members advice quickly was recommended.

Secret Room: When members returned from their Christmas holiday they found additional accomodation for secretaries at No. 5 old palace yard, a three-storey building facing the House of Commons. This was the home of Henry Labouchere, "Labby", a fiery radical and friend of Joseph Chamberlain in his Liberal days.

In the old library is a dummy bookcase which gives access to a secret chamber, where a hard-pressed member sometimes may feel like hiding from delegations which harry all his tribe.

All taped: Many a new peer did not feel he could spend £100 ($450) on the robe he must wear when he takes his seat in the House of Lords. If he was more than five feet eight inches all was simple. He could borrow one of the two barons' robes in the house, made for men between five feet eight inches and six feet. In the old lush days a short peer would buy a new robe to fit him rather than staumble over the long skirts of these borrowed garments. But times have changed.

Special provision has been made for some shorter labor peers. So they could make a dignified entry the two robes available for borrowing have been fitted with tapes attached to the lining. The wearer slips his arms through the loops and adjusts the robes to any length he likes. The robes have two rows of ermine trimming, a major part of their cost.

Rossland to Have $80,000 Hotel; City Sells Site to P. Zaharachuk

ROSSLAND, B.C., Jan 29—Erection of an $80,000 three-storey hotel in Rossland was facilitated by the City Council Monday night, when, on the recommendation of the Property Committee, sale of the three building lots on the corner of Columbia Avenue and Washington Street, owned by the City, to P. Zaharachuk for $650, the amount offered, was authorized. The agreement to be drawn up by the City Solicitor will obligate compliance with the Building Bylaw.

In reporting the Committee's recommendation, Alderman H. Lefevre, Chairman, stated the Committee had interviewed Mr. Zaharachuk, who stated he proposed to build the hotel as soon as building materials were available, but that it might require a couple of years to complete. It would be operated on the American Plan.

Three other applications for building lots were received, and referred to the Property Committee for investigation and report.

SCOUTS WANT CENTRAL SITE

The Boy Scout and Girl Guide Association applied for the lot East of the Telephone Office on First Avenue. President Edgar Jamieson made a personal appeal, stating the Association had purchased the Veteran Hut at the Arch, and would like to move it into a central location, and that it planned to make it as attractive as possible. The Boy Scouts and Guides were handicapped as they had not a meeting place. It was felt that the training the boys and girls received helped to make good citizens, and that they had proved their worth in the war work they helped in, such as salvage collections, A.R.P. and clothing drives, etc.

The Rossland Transportation Co-operative Society applied to buy the lots West of its property on Columbia Avenue.

F. M. McKenzie applied for 1½ lots on LeRoi Avenue, where he wished to build a home.

ASK INFLUENCE RE ARMORY

The Rossland Arena Athletic Association asked the Council to interview the Department of National Defence and endeavor to get permission for the Association to obtain use of the Armory for community sports. Action was promised.

Two applications for business licenses were dealt with, the first from H. J. Thompson, who wishes to conduct a retail building supplies and services. This was granted. Application of Mrs. Tupper to open a Cafe on Washington Street, to be known as the Home Cafe, was referred to the Medical Health Officer and Sanitary Inspector to investigate, it being understood if their report is favorable the license will be granted.

Agrees to Operate Old Hotel as Veterans' Hostel

Present Occupants to Remain Until Council Takes Over

VANCOUVER, Jan. 30 (CP)—The 535-room old Hotel Vancouver will be operated as a veterans' hostel by the City's Rehabilitation Council, it was decided last night at a special meeting of the Council's Executive.

CANADIAN ARMY HAS CONTROL

War veterans who walked into the downtown Vancouver structure last Saturday will stay until the Council is ready to begin "clean-up" work prior to taking over the hotel. The Canadian Army has control of the building until midnight Thursday when its lease expires.

Council officials said they had been in touch with the Canadian Pacific Railway, owners of the hotel, and a new lease would be concluded today, giving them the right to operate it as a hostel. The Federal Government will meet any deficit in operating costs.

President A. P. Allison of the Council said while the present occupants would remain until the Council was prepared to take over, "we will not operate the hostel if they do not move out as their Committee agreed."

(Representative of the veterans now in the hotel agreed two nights ago to move out if the Council took over. They requested only that the Council give preference to present occupants when the hostel was opened.)

35 INCREASED TO 700 WHO WALKED IN

The 35 ex-servicemen who marched into the former hotel last Saturday because, they said, they could find no suitable living accommodation in Vancouver, now have increased to more than 700 including dependents and a number of women discharged from the Armed Forces.

Eagle Variety of Oats Tests Well at Creston

OTTAWA—An examination of the final information for oats and barley variety trials conducted in the Fraser Valley, North Okanagan and Creston areas during 1945 does not indicate any major change in varietal recommendations for the forthcoming season, says M. F. Clarke, Experimental Farm, Agassiz, B.C. Victory retains its place as a general purpose oat in all three districts provided seeding is not too late.

On very heavy soils in the Fraser Valley and at Creston, Eagle is an excellent choice on account of its short, stiff straw and high grain yield. Mention should be made of the new stem-rust resistant oat, Exeter, which has shown outstanding yielding ability for three successive seasons. This variety is medium late and very stiff-strawed, but has a tendency toward thick hulls. High total yield, however, results in a satisfactory net kernel yield.

Exeter was grown under field conditions at both Ladner and Chilliwack during the 1945 season and produced heavily. An increase in the distribution of this variety will undoubtedly occur, particularly in districts possessing a heavy soil and ample moisture, despite its tendency toward high hull content. For later seeding in all three districts mentioned or wherever moderate earliness is required, the rust-resistant variety Ajax is suggested. This variety has performed consistently well and replaced Erban in the 1945 recommendations.

In regard to barley the short-strawed, rough-awned Trebi is a good choice in the Fraser Valley. Of the smooth-awned sorts, Plush is the standard recommendation for the Fraser Valley, North Okanagan and Creston areas. In those sections of the Okanagan where lodging is not serious Byng can also be used. This is a very heavy yielding barley, but also very soft strawed.

Biggest Golf, Racing Year Ahead for Britons

BY JAMES R. CHAMBERS

LONDON, Jan. 30 (AP)—Britain is on the eve of its biggest and brightest golf and racing season.

The Professional Golfers' Association in conjunction with newspapers and various business organizations, has drawn up a program of 13 major tournaments and three open championships to be played between April and November.

Numerous overseas stars, including Byron Nelson, Gene Sarazen and the South African, Bobby Locke, are expected to compete in the British open at St. Andrews in July in pursuit of the title now held by Dick Burton, who won it on the same links in 1939.

British professionals are looking forward once more to matching their skill against the best from the United States after six years of war during which the only real golf played was for war charities.

DAILY FARE

Racing is set to come back with a rush. The program for the first half of the flat racing season provides sport for the turf fans on every day from April until the end of June, except for four Mondays.

Figures just released disclose a total of approximately £7,142,000 ($31,791,000) was bet through the totalisator at British tracks last year, during much of which the country still was at war. This took no account of the sums wagered with bookmakers at the tracks.

Bantam League Will Boost All Scoring Records

At the four-fifths mark of the Bantam Hockey League schedule, it seems certain that every scoring record for Bantam hockey or for "kid hockey" generally, set in the last 10 years at the Civic Centre Arena, will go by the boards, at the hands or "sticks" of the F.A.C. Bantam sharpshooters, led by Jimmie Todd, who was also last year's league leader and the setter of new records then, when he personally scored most of his team's goals.

Owing to Todd's preeminence, the Bantam League is the most unbalanced in Civic Arena history, as he has carried his string-mates with him, and new marks for a string, an individual player, and also for a team ,are certain in goals, assists, and total points—or nine categories. In most of the nine ,the old marks have already been passed.

Eight games have still to be played, the F.A.C., Dodgers, M.R.K., and Panthers each having three clashes coming up while the Bruins have four last-round games to play.

In the 32 games so far worked off, 13 F.A.C., 13 Dodgers, 11 Bruins, nine M.R.K. and seven Panthers have figured in the scoring, out of around 80 players that have taken some part in the games.

TOP POINT-GETTERS

Following are the unofficial player standings of the 12 boys who have made 10 scoring points or better to date, the figures being for goals, assists, and total scoring points.

	G	A	Pts
Jim Todd, F.A.C.	66	43	109
Rod Carmichael, F.A.C.	38	40	78
Ron Brown, F.A.C.	18	25	43
Laurence Ludlow, Ddgr.	22	6	28
Ken Coskey, M.R.K.	18	9	27
Brian Johnston, F.A.C.	8	17	25
Alvin Towriss, M.R.K.	14	8	22
Jack Woodall, Dodger	14	3	17
Bill Carmichael, F.A.C.	9	4	13
Buddy Mayer, Ddgr.	4	9	13
Gene McInnis, Panther	5	6	11
Louie DelPuppo, Ddgr.	4	6	10

LEAGUE STANDINGS

In the Bantam League standings, the fight at this stage, as throughout the schedule, is still between Dodgers and M.R.K. for second place, F.A.C., with 13 straight wins —and the reasonable certainty of 16 straight when the schedule is concluded—being unchallenged for the top spot. The Bruins, operating directly under the N.A.H.A., and constituted for the purpose of giving training to boys from the Pool who next season will have to play Midget, are almost necessarily at the bottom, and are therefore getting the toughest and best training.

Following is the table of standings, with also unofficial figures of total goals scored for and against each team at this stage:

	W	L	D	GF	GA	Pts
F.A.C.	13	0	0	148	16	26
Dodgers	9	4	0	53	39	18
M.R.K.	7	6	0	40	58	14
Panthers	2	10	1	22	55	5
Bruins	0	11	1	13	108	1

PASSES 160-MILE MARK IN 250-MILE SHUFFLE

BINGHAM, Me., Jan. 30 (AP)—Still shuffling along with strong, even strides, Albert Dandurand passed through here today, 90 miles from his Lewiston goal on a 250-mile snowshoe trip from Quebec to the International Congress of Snowshoe Clubs.

The Canadian Army Corporal was still optimistic that he would reach Lewiston in time for the late Friday convention opening but convention officials were less optimistic.

The colorfully-garbed Dandurand reached Jackman, 51 miles North of here, last night and resumed his trip after a few hour's rest. He was wearing a bright blue suit with a broad white sash, a blue hat with white tassel, white gloves and white mocassins.

At Jackman and at Bingham, town officials signed his "recod" book to prove he had been there. He lunched here and continued on toward Skowhegan, 70 miles from Lewiston.

Dandurand, who removes his snowshoes and walks occasionally, said he had to break snow for one 53-mile stretch in Quebec.

During the history of volcanic mountains, there may be long periods of inactivity.

Canadian Cousins Join N.H. Relatives for Nimrod's Sport

CONCORD, N. H., Jan. 30 (AP)—Uncle Wiggly and his relatives are having a lot of company this month. Sixteen hundred snowshoe rabbits from Canada were liberated in New Hampshire swamplands for hunters during the past month, the State Fish and Game Department announced today. The Department hopes to have distributed 2000 by the middle of February.

'Peg to Have Allan Cup—Sometime

WINNIPEG, Jan. 30 (CP)—Rabid hockey fans, thoughtfully immersed in the chances of district junior teams when the Memorial Cup trials roll around, have been given something else to think about.

A little man with big hockey ideas, Stan Evans, has caused a bit of eyebrow raising by saying that Winnipegs, city's only senior outfit might win the Allan Cup.

"If I can't do it this year," he says, "I'll do it next year, and if I can't do it then, I'll do it the year after."

Evans, who has fostered amateur hockey in Winnipeg for a number of years, recently took over Winnipegs, and has hopes of picking senior hockey's juiciest plum. At the same time, there are a few people who can't exactly say he won't accomplish it this season, because Winnipeg's have yet to take part in regular competition.

Evans thinks highly of Winnipeg as a hockey player producer. "The best hockey players in the world come from Winnipeg," he said, adding that "it's about time someone kept them here."

With the possible exception of Flin Flon Bombers, former members of the Saskatchewan Senior League, Winnipegs are the only Manitoba entry in the senior group playoffs. Evans said today arrangements were being made for a home-and-home series with the Bombers.

On Saturday Winnipeg fans will get a peek at the home town hopefuls when the club tackles Kenora Thistles.

Claims Rookie Will Wipe Out Cooper Memory

By BEN PHLEGAR

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 30 (AP)—Manager Eddie Dyer of St. Louis Cardinals promises that he has a young catcher who will make the fans forget Walker Cooper by the time he has played 25 games.

The youngster is Joe Garagiola, a St. Louis boy now in the army in the Pacific.

The way Dyer put it today in an interview Garagiola is short on experience, long on ability. He entered the service in 1944 after being second-string catcher at Columbus during the 1943 season.

"The kid has everything," Dyer said enthusiastically. "He's a powerful left-handed hitter, has a wonderful arm and is a smart receiver. . . . Give him a little time, about 25 or 30 big league games, and the fans will forget all about any loss we may have suffered in the sale of Cooper to the Giants."

Dyer said Garagiola probably will be discharged by mid-season under a recent War Department ruling which calls for the discharge of all men with two years' service by June 30, and "my catching worries will be about over then."

Del Wilber, another rookie catcher who comes highly recommended by Enos Slaughter and Howie Pollett, is due for an army discharge next week. Left over from last year's catching department are Ken O'Dea, Del Rice and Gene Crumling.

Dodger Midgets Swamp Panthers

Dodger Midgets completed their part of the Midget Hockey League Wednesday afternoon with a 13-1 victory over the Panthers. It was the Dodgers' fourteenth win to one loss in their 15 games. The Panthers have still to meet both F.A.C. and M.R.K. in the fifth and final playaround.

Hyssop led the Dodger scorers with four counters, Bachynski marked up three, Kennedy and Mores two each, and Stainton and Nelson one each. Kennedy gave five assists, Bachynski four, Hyssop three, and Stainton two. Brendon Hopwood tallied the only Panther goal on an assist from Swedberg.

Stainton and Bachynski were in the penalty box for the Dodgers, and Hanic, Turnbull, Swedberg and Zeznik for the Panthers.

Teams were:

Dodgers — Mair, goal; Carman, Nelson, Stainton, Mores, Trickett, McLean, R. Johnson (Bantam playing up), Staples, Bachynski, Hyssop, Kennedy.

Panthers—Dozzi, goal, Stong, Hanic, B. Hopwood, Misuraca, Zeznik, Turnbull, O. Brown, Swedberg.

Kenora Males in Whiskers Race

KENORA, Ont., Jan. 30 (CP) — The longest whiskers will win honors at the annual Kenora Snow Carnival opening Feb. 14.

More than 100 men, staid merchants and bankers, and the town's younger set, are growing beards for the whisker contest.

"Yankee" Visitor Impressed With Kootenay Scenery, Friendship

Appreciation for hospitality he received at Nelson last Summer is expressed by T. Sgt. William F. Berk, Information and Education Section, Geiger Field, Wash., in a letter to Mrs. Frederick Niven of Nelson, and in which Sgt. Berk asked that his "sentiments" be passed on to the various people he met. The letter, in part, follows:

"After living as an individual, it is difficult to be pressed, compressed and moulded to fit the regimen of Army life. After training, mud, cussing, the eternal waiting which is so much a part of military life, more training and more routine day in and day out, a fellow begins to dream of getting away for a leave somewhere, even if only for a few hours. He dreams of a place where he can be an individual and not a number, where he can order food instead of having it splashed at him, where he can converse about subjects other than military and hear other than barrack's room talk . . . in short, where he can become an individual again.

FINDS FRIENDLINESS

"It was on just such a short leave that I originally chanced to visit your city of Nelson. Besides being most favorably impressed by the natural beauty of the Selkirk scenery, the hilly residence streets and gardens blooming with a profusion of flowers, I met with a degree of friendliness which I had believed existed only in books.

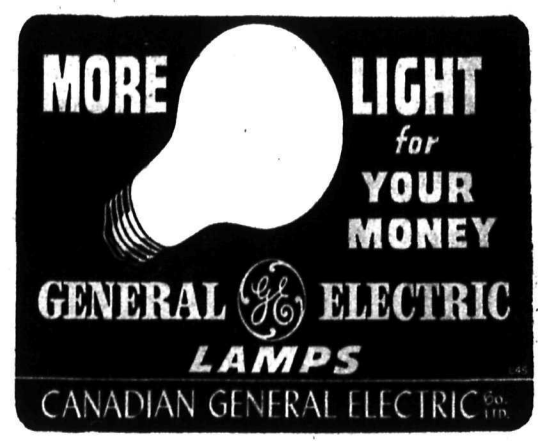
"Perhaps the friendliness was best epitomized by Mr. and Mrs. T. Temple and their son Alan. While giving me a lift in their car they discovered that I was on a trout fishing jaunt. Bright and early the following morning I was invited to go down the Arm of the Kootenay in Alan's canoe, extra tackle appeared for my use and later a tasty lunch was laid out in proportions which would have made an Army cook blush. Everybody went out of their way to be friendly. Mr. Fred Kaun drove me to Gray's Landing, Mr. J. B. Gray took special pains to mail home a piece of English china for me, the Brooks invited me to visit their Summer camp. Mrs. Kapak kept me posted as to what to see in town. Mr. Creech phoned friends to ascertain the locale of the best fishing, George Green took me out in his boat . . . and only the Kamloop trout remained aloof and disdainful of a Yankee fish-hook. And here I have mentioned only a few of the fine people whom I had the plea of meeting in your country.

FRIENDS ENJOYED VISITS

"Since that first visit more than a year ago, I have made several other fishing trips, all limited to only a day or two due to the exigencies of Army life. A number of these times I brought with me other Army friends to whom I had boasted about the beauties of Nelson. They, in turn, generally became as enthusiastic as I was about your town and its people.

"I am sure that many another Yankee traveler has enjoyed himself as much as I did, but I thought that you should know about it. Travelling in Mexico, the United States, South America and Hawaii, I have seen many a picturesque and beautiful scene, but when you couple scenery (fishing) and genuine friendliness in a town, then you have indeed an unbeatable combination. It is my sincere hope that your community will not allow such an unusual spirit to diminish.

"May I, through this medium, express my thanks to all of you, and wish you as well as your city of Nelson, the best in 1946."



RIGHT OUT OF THE AIR!

WE are not exaggerating when we say that ELEPHANT BRAND high analysis CHEMICAL FERTILIZER came out of the air. Here's the story:

About 1928 our research chemists were given the job of finding ways to utilize the waste sulphur gases from our smelting operations. First, they took these gases out of the air and made sulphuric acid; next they took nitrogen from the air and hydrogen from water and made ammonia. Ammonia added to sulphuric acid makes AMMONIUM SULPHATE, a valuable chemical fertilizer. The addition of phosphate rock makes AMMONIUM PHOSPHATE, the fertilizer that has proven so good for Canadian fruit and grain crops.

That, in brief, is the story of the birth of a Canadian industry which to date has paid out $13,000,000 in wages and salaries and now provides jobs for nearly 1,000 Canadians.

There is nothing unique about this story. It is just typical of what hundreds of others have done and are doing across Canada—from the individual who decides to go into business for himself to the large company spending millions on a new plant. Both mean greater prosperity and more jobs. Both are possible because the majority of Canadians believe in free enterprise.

EXTERNAL TRADE IN 1945 OVER $4 BILLION

OTTAWA, Jan. 30 (CP)—Value of Canada's external trade, excluding gold, amounted to $4,853,199,000 during 1945, a 7.4 per cent decline from its all-time high of 1944, the Dominion Bureau of Statistics reported today. The balance of trade was in Canada's favor by $1,681,649,000, compared with a favorable balance of $1,724,200,000 the preceding year.

Pouring of Nitro at Turner Valley Begins

CALGARY, Jan. 30 (CP)—Pouring of 5000 quarts of nitro-glycerine in Turner Valley has begun, according to reports this morning. All equipment including aluminum tubing, marbles, nitro pilot tube, and complicated shooting apparatus, was in place in the bottom 400 feet of 6900 foot hole Tuesday evening. The steel tubing had been polished and run.

This morning the hole was ready to begin receiving the nitro. Pouring of the 5000 quarts is expected to be completed sometime tomorrow, with the explosion scheduled for a few hours later.

The Guinea pig well is West Flank No. 2, a mile and a half North of Longview, just off the main road in Turner Valley. After the blast the well will have to be cleaned out. It may be two or three weeks before the results are known. If nearby wells are affected, it is thought, that production would increase very soon after the explosion.

If the experiment is a success it will mean that many exhausted Turner Valley wells will have a new lease on life; it will mean in effect the rejuvenation of an oil field, the first in history.

Market Trends . . .

NEW YORK, Jan. 30 (AP)—Steels and selected industrials advanced fractions to a point and more in the stock market but there were about an equal number of losers.

CHICAGO—The unfettered May rye swung briskly up and down in light futures trading as all other grains, except oats, held tightly at ceiling prices.

May rye, only ceilingless grain delivery in any of the pits, fluctuated over a range of around four cents a bushel most of the time.

Oats were off fractionally most of the day, but the May delivery held at the Government-fixed 81-cent ceiling.

TORONTO—Gold, industrial and Western oil stocks showed a margin of losses over agins at the end of the exchange session. Base metal issues had a surplus of gains over losses and some issues of the group changed hands in volume. Turnover for the day was around 2,400,000 shares.

MONTREAL—Trends were steady to irregular in trading on the stock exchange and curb market. In the indices, banks moved up and utilities, industrials, papers and golds were depressed.

VANCOUVER — Mines remained steady while oils slipped on the stock exchange. Sales were 102,147 shares.

WINNIPEG — Rye futures prices on the grain exchange gave an irregular display and fluctuated widely with light flurries of buying and selling.

New seasonal highs were recorded at one stage of the trade, with offerings increased in the latter part of the session as October fell the full five-cent limit.

At the close prices were 3⅛ to 5 cents lower with May at $2.21, July $2.13¼, Oct. $1.77½.

Trading was moderately active.

Export business in Canadian wheat was the disposal of 525,000 bushels to the United Kingdom. No other sales were indicated.

LONDON—Fractional gains predominated on the stock market. Outstanding were British funds with gains up to 3-16 in fairly active trading after the announcement by the Chancellor of the Exchequer regarding protection for gilt edged issues.

MONTREAL—Province of Quebec obligations were in demand at higher levels but the balance of the high-grade list was firm but inactive.

UNO Nominee Is Veteran Trade Union and Labor Leader

BY STANLEY HELLEUR

LONDON, Jan. 29 (Reuters)—Trygve Halvdan Lie, Norwegian Foreign Minister unanimously nominated today by the United Nations Security Council for the post of U.N.O. Secretary-General, is a veteran trades union and labor leader.

The 49-year-old lawyer, son of an Oslo cobbler, left university in 1919 to become secretary of Norway's Labor Party and in 1922 began an 18-year stretch as legal advisor to the trades union congress.

Mr. Lie, an athletic youth, starred in tennis and skiing and also showed an early leaning toward politics. Only the laws of his country prevented him from starting his parliamentary career before the age of 30, then the minimum age for a Norwegian member.

He started accumulating a political background at 16 when he was named leader of Norway's Social Democrat Youth Movement "I don't suppose I ever really have had a rest from an office," he once said.

A hefty man with a chubby, boyish face, Mr. Lie gained his first cabinet post in 1935, when he was named Minister of Justice in a Labor government. When war threatened in 1939 he took over as Minister of Trade and Supply, a vital post in time of blockades, and built up vast reserves of emergency supplies.

When the Germans invaded his country in 1940, Mr. Lie was the last cabinet member to leave Oslo for London. At the time he was organizing the transfer of vital army and civilian supplies from south and north.

At the same time he issued an order bringing Norway's 4,000,000-ton merchant fleet under government control, a characteristically swift, decisive move which proved valuable to the Allies as the war continued.

His wife and two daughters went with him to London but most of their life in exile was darkened by fears of what might happen to nine-year-old Metto, the third and youngest daughter, who was staying with her grandmother at the time of invasion and could not escape.

Each time Mr. Lie broadcast to his countrymen there was the threat of "retaliatory measures" against Metto. Finally she was taken to Sweden by the underground movement and escaped to Britain.

ISSUE ORDER OF NATIONAL BANK HOLIDAY

RIO DE JANEIRO, Jan. 30 (AP)—Provisional President Jose Linhares issued an order today extending through Friday a national bank holiday originally decreed last Thursday, when bank workers throughout Brazil went on strike. The strike now is in its sixth day and attempts at settlement of demands for salary increases have reached an impasse.

Quebec Issues Special Licence for Diplomats

QUEBEC, Jan. 30 (CP)—As a result of suggestions put forward by various cultural organizations to improve relations between Canada and foreign countries, the Provincial Government has given the necessary instructions for a special automobile licence to be used by all consuls and diplomatic representatives in Quebec Province, it was announced today. The plates will bear the letters DPL, the conventional sign adopted by many diplomatic representatives in the United States.

Juvenile Sent to Coquitlam for Car Thefts

One juvenile was sentenced to the Juvenile Industrial School for boys, and two others were remanded until Feb. 4, when they appeared before Magistrate Parker Williams in Trail Juvenile Court on car theft charges. All three juveniles were aged 15 to 16.

The charges arose from car disappearances in Trail and Nelson recently. A car belonging to Oscar Van of Columbia Gardens was reported missing from Tadanac one day, and was recovered on Falls Street, Nelson, by Nelson City Police the day after. The day this car was found, C. D. Stallwood missed his car from the CPR station at Nelson, and this was afterwards discovered at Park Siding by Salmo Provincial Police.

The sentenced boy confessed to stealing the cars. The others said they went for a joy-ride.

NEBRASKA CITY, Neb., Jan. 30 (AP)—Raymond Bossung, Nebraska City night policeman, heard several youths were circulating a petition asking his removal from office. He found the youths, whom he recently had picked up on traffic charges, and they had the petition. The policeman signed it.

First 800 Miles the Toughest —and Chilliest

CHURCHILL, Man., Jan. 30 (CP) The first 800 miles will be the toughest when the men of Muskox start their 3200-miles Northland trek Feb. 14.

From Churchill Northwest to Baker Lake and Cambridge Bay, the expedition commanded by Lt.-Col. P. D. Baird of Montreal will cross perhaps the chilliest chunk of country on the continent.

"Chilliest" is used advisedly. Sqdn. Ldr. P. M. Millman, co-ordinator of research on exercise Muskox for the RCAF, has drawn up a complicated "wind chill" chart which combines temperature and wind velocity in measuring loss of heat per unit per hour.

The chart shows the highest average "wind chill" is recorded at Chesterfield Inlet, about 400 miles North of here and base of an Arctic Circle area from which weather reports seldom are received.

The "wind chill" chart gives a peak figure of 1900 for Chesterfield Inlet which is in the same general weather zone as Baker Lake and Cambridge Bay. Churchill has a "wind chill" figure of 1800, higher than Aklavik and Coppermine which are shown at 1700, Yellowknife 1600 and Fort Norman 1500.

Sqdn. Ldr. Millman, astronomer formerly with Dunlap observatory in Toronto, says he believes the chart gives a true picture of chill conditions because it does not rely solely on temperature.

The Andes mountains lie across more degrees of latitude than any other range.

Staticless Radio Listening on Tap for Vancouver

VANCOUVER, Jan. 30 (CP)—Canadian Broadcasting Corporation will build a 250-watt frequency-modulation trahsmitter in Vancouver "as soon as possible" and it will be redy when FM receiving sets become available to the public next Fall, it was announced here today by A. Davidson Dunton, chairman of the CBC Board of Governors, at the conclusion of the Board's three-day conference.

What it means is that Vancouver listeners this year will hear for the first time, science's wonder-working new staticless radio.

Mr. Dunton said the 250-watt transmitter will operate in conjunction with the present standard-broadcasting or "aplitude modulation" facilities of station CBR, the CBC's big basic outlet in Vancouver.

"We realize 250 watts is not a great deal of power," Mr. Dunton said, "but it will give us a start, anyway, and will give the public a chance to become accustomed to FM." Power of CBR's standard-broadcast transmitter is 5000 watts.

Unofficially it has been reported the first FM receiving sets, probably combined with AM, will go on the market next Fall. It is expected they will cost much more than present radios.
