Harassed Ramadier Resigns Premiership

Steps Out After 10 Months of Crises; Blum Likely Successor; Guards to Forestall Violence

By LOUIS NEVIN

PARIS, Nov. 20 (Thursday) (AP)—Premier Paul Ramadier resigned last night after 10 months of almost continual political, economic and Communist-inspired labor crises, and left the way open for Leon Blum or some other middle-of-the-road leader to attempt to form a new coalition government.

As Ramadier resigned, it was estimated that 500,000 workers were on strike throughout France. Special security guards were posted in Paris where Communist-led walkouts threatened to develop into a general strike. Guards were on duty in other key cities to prevent possible violence.

Ramadier's ministers remained in office temporarily to carry on the fight against the deteriorating labor situation. These included Georges Bidault at the Foreign Office, Robert Schumann at the Finance Ministry and Edouard Depreaux at the Interior Ministry. Depreaux has jurisdiction over the National Police.

It was expected the ministers would continue in their jobs during President Vincent Auriol's negotiations to find a successor to Ramadier.

Blum, 75-year-old Socialist colleague of Ramadier, was believed the likeliest choice to undertake the task of building a new government. Guy Mollet, Socialist Party secretary-general, said yesterday Blum had consented to accept the premiership.

Twice Premier before the war and head of the interim government that prepared the way for the inauguration of the Fourth Republic early this year, Blum kept temporarily in the background. His "caretaker" government ended last Jan. 17 when Auriol appointed Ramadier premier.

(See also story on page 8.)

The 60-year-old economist and lawyer's resignation came after two weeks of political negotiations carried on before a background of growing social and economic strikes.

A riot last week in Marseille was followed by a wave of Communist-led strikes which have tied up France's coal mines, automobile factories, Mediterranean ports and threatened to develop into a general strike in Paris.

COMMISSION WITNESS THREATENED

"Not Afraid" Says Sons of Freedom Secretary TO NANAIMO

GRAND FORKS, B.C., Nov. 19 (CP) — Reports of new arson attempts and threats of murder were heard today before the Sullivan Royal Commission seeking a solution for the strife-torn Doukhobor colonies in British Columbia.

The first grim note came when School Inspector C. E. Clay reported to Commissioner Judge H. J. Sullivan that the $25,000 Fruitova, B.C., school, had been damaged by fire of incendiary origin early today.

Later, Florence Pozdnikoff, Secretary of the Sons of Freedom, told of threats made against her life because she had submitted an "arson list" to the Commission two weeks ago.

"I have heard threats that they are going to kill me. I am not afraid. I stand for truth."

Florence, pretty, 21-year-old dark-haired wife of a Sons of Freedom leader gave the Commission a list at the South Slocan hearing of 360 names of persons allegedly connected with acts of terrorism in the Kootenay Valley.

MORE EXPLANATIONS

"I just made the list," she said. "Their comrades made the names known. There will be more explanation about the names. I stand for truth."

Judge Sullivan told her to pay no attention to the threats. "If anything happens to you, the person responsible will be run down and punished."

ADJOURNS

Following the two-day hearing here, sessions were adjourned to Nanaimo, B.C., where evidence will be taken beginning Dec. 4. Later, the Commission will return to the Kootenays for sessions in Nelson, Castlegar and South Slocan.

School Holiday, Full Program for Radio Stations

In honor of the Royal wedding today of Princess Elizabeth, future Queen of England, and His Royal Highness, Philip Mountbatten, Duke of Edinburgh, at Westminster Abbey, schools across Canada will be closed for the entire day and radio stations will remain open 24 hours to bring first-hand accounts of the ceremonies.

CKLN Nelson and CJAT Trail broadcasted through the night, the marriage service, being heard direct from London between 3 and 5 a.m. A one-hour re-broadcast of the ceremonies will be aired over both stations at 9 p.m.

Nelson school children, meanwhile, enjoyed a mid-week holiday, some classes holding "Royal Wedding" parties Wednesday afternoon.

Japanese Oranges First Since 1940

SEATTLE, Wash., Nov. 19 (AP)—Two cargoes of Japanese oranges amounting to 110,000 bundles will be discharged in Vancouver, B.C., for distribution in Canada, an American Mail Line official announced today.

The shipments will be the first to the West Coast since 1940. One vessel is due Nov. 27, the other Dec. 8. The first cargo will be shipped by rail to Eastern and Central Canada and the second to Western Canada and British Columbia.

DISTRIBUTORS TO SEEK EASING IMPORT CURBS

Christmas Tables to Suffer From Fruit, Vegetable Embargo 30 P.C. CUT

Turkeys there will be, but other delicacies — cranberries, Satsumas and tangerine oranges and their like—will probably be missing items on the Christmas table was the word from Nelson wholesale firms Wednesday.

They were reviewing their plight in the maelstorm of the Government's austerity program which has prohibited imports of a wide range of commodities including foodstuffs.

Heads of fruit and vegetable wholesale firms here stated that they would lose 30 per cent of their business if the restrictions were maintained. The 30 per cent represents the turnover of fruits imported from the United States and the main supply of fresh fruits and vegetables sold during the Winter.

It was disclosed that officials of the larger distributors of fruits and vegetables with branches here planned to present their case at Ottawa sometime this week in an appeal to have restriction lifted or Government adoption of more moderate means to realize restoration of the United States dollar shortage in Canada.

Some 12 tons of fresh vegetables are imported by one local firm alone. While the bulk of the shipments are distributed in the Nelson market district from Greenwood West to Cranbrook and Kimberley East, a small percentage is held back for storage. It was estimated that present stocks would last up to two weeks and that turnover of commodities coming in on the quota restrictions could supply the local market.

Dealers had not yet felt the pinch of short supplies but foresaw greater dependence on the district farmers for tubular vegetables.

HIGHER PRICE FOR YULETIDE BUTTER

VANCOUVER, Nov. 19 (CP)—Wholesalers today reported a two cent a pound increase in butter prices to 64 cents a pound. A similar increase was announced last week.

Dealers say they expect butter prices may go even higher before Christmas.

SEATTLE, Nov. 19 (AP)—Shipping sources reporte dtoday that Sweden's failure to follow through on a contemplated 16,000-ton fruit order, due to complications of the international financial and economic situation in Europe, has been a setback for Pacific Northwest growers.

Shippers said Sweden undertook last June to take 16,000 metric tons of apples and pears from the United States—approximately 575,000 boxes of apples and 145,000 boxes of pears. Three-fourths of the apples and all of the pears would have been from Pacific Northwest orchards.

But to date Sweden has issued import licenses for only 1000 tons, with no assurances that this order will be increased.

"Ethereal, Classical, Dewy White" Are Words for Elizabeth's Gown

By JOAN CAPREOL

LONDON, Nov. 20 (Thursday) Reuters) — Princess Elizabeth stood at the high altar in Westminster Abbey this morning beside Lieut. Philip Mountbatten in an ethereal, classical wedding dress of dewy white satin, sparkling with thousands of crystals and seed pearls.

With a full court train 15 feet long, the dress was inspired by a botticelli painting.

The Princess was an all-white bride, with an all-white retinue of eight bridesmaids.

Her dress was made of 15 yards of rich, ivory, duchesse satin and is cut on classical lines with fitted bodice, long, tight sleeves and full falling skirt.

The ban of secrecy on the wedding dress, imposed by the Princess herself, was lifted for reporters today—only a few hours before the Royal wedding.

EMBROIDERED WITH SEED PEARLS

The dress was made by Norman Hartnell, dressmaker to the Queen. Private detectives guarded the swank West End salon night and day.

(The Associated Press said that a Palace official had stated the gown cost "something under £200 ($800" but AP correspondent Glenn Williams said it looked considerably more expensive to him.)

The broad heart-shaped neckline of the bodice is delicately embroidered with seed pearls and crystal in a floral design. From the pointed waist-line, formed by a girdle of pearl-embroidered star flowers, the swirling skirt is hand embroidered in an exquisite design representing garlands of white York roses carried out in raised pearls entwined with ears of corn minutely embroidered in crystals and oat-shaped pearls.

Alternating between the garlands of roses and wheat and forming a final border around the entire hem of the skirt, are bands of orange blossom and star flowers applique with transparent tulle bordered with seed pearls and crystal.

The train of transparent ivory silk tulle falls from the bride's shoulders and is edged with grauated satin flowers, finally forming the deep border at the end of the fan-shaped train.

A reversed type of embroidery from that used on the wedding gown is introduced on the train by the use of applique satin star flowers, roses and wheat, further encrusted with pearl and crystal embroideries.

The Princess' two cousins, Prince Michael, five-year-old son of the late Duke of Kent, and Prince William, elder son of the Duke of Gloucester, also five, wearing Royal Stuart Tartan kilts, were to carry the train.

Princess Elizabeth who chose the dress from 12 sketches Hartnell made for her, wore a voluminous bridal veil of crisp, white tulle held by a tiara of pearls and diamonds.

Standing beside her tall bridegroom, the Princess appeared taller than usual. Her ivory satin-draped sandals had higher heels than she had ever worn before. The open-toe back and side effect was finished off with a silver buckle, studded with small pearls.

Gowns of the eight bridesmaids, including Princess Elizabeth's sister, Princess Margaret, are in ivory silk tulle, in a design inspired by pictures hanging in Buckingham Palace.

NO NEW LOOK

Princess Elizabeth will give a lead to short skirt advocates in her going-away ensemble. When she leaves for her honeymoon she will wear a coat and dress with a hem-line of her customary length just below the knees.

Her travelling coat of mist-blue velour cloth has soft revers and rounded shoulders. A gently flared skirt gives fullness and inset bands across the coat front are held with three buttons as far as the waist.

Under it she will wear a simple dress of crepe in the same soft blue with a cross-over bodice draped to the left hip with three inset panels in the skirt.

Report Attempt To Burn Fruitova School

GRAND FORKS, B. C., Nov. 19—(CP) — Police today were called to investigate a report that an attempt had been made early in the morning to destroy by fire a $25,000 school at Fruitova, B. C., a Doukhobor district, three miles West of here.

Apparently the fire was brought under control before it caused extensive damage.

Provincial Police were at the scene and unavailable for immediate comment.

The Fruitova school was the scene of a bombing attack in 1931 during one of the Doukhobor fire-protest demonstrations.

BELIEVES GOLD MINING PLAN NOT SOLUTION

VANCOUVER, Nov. 19 (CP) — A survey by the Vancouver News-Herald said today that British Columbia mining men find that the plan of Finance Minister Abbott to revive the gold mining industry is in the right direction but does not go far enough to attain the objective of greatly expanded production.

Under the Federal assistance plan, with its $7 an ounce subsidy, B.C. gold mines may benefit more in proportion to those in Eastern Canada, but spokesmen for the industry said Mr. Abbott had not provided a "complete solution."

The News-Herald said: 'For an industry faced with a 50 per cent increase in costs, the prospects of $7 an ounce more on new production over and above the quantity produced in the year ended June 30, 1947, does not appeal as a complete solution. . . .

"Companies just starting production, it is expected, will get $42 an ounce on all gold production. . . . This higher return should also help properties with proven ore bodies of commercial grade to finance for early production. It will be of less assistance in the case of new prospects because of the three-year limitation on the $7.00 higher price an ounce. Because of the risks involved, backers of a new gold mining enterprise would require a longer period of an assured price level. It usually takes most of a three year period to bring a new mine to the production stage."

B. C. mines may benefit more than Eastern ones because the West Coast manpower shortage was more severe and mines were closed down by a strike in the latter half of 1946.

VANCOUVER, Nov. 19 (CP) — Workers in British Columbia gold mines will seek to share in higher prices if the Federal assistance plan proves successful.

Harvey Murphy, District President, United Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers Union (CIO) said today contracts will be reopened if there is an increase in the price of gold. Present wage contracts contain a clause authorizing such a move.

Final decision will be taken at the unions district convention opening here Dec. 1.

Britain, Happy With Princess, Forgets Woe

Old-Time Pageantry Comes Back to Party-Making London for Wedding of Elizabeth and Philip

By NORMAN CRIBBENS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON Nov. 20 (CP)—London—dirty, foggy, bomb-scarred and austere—today celebrated a tradition she has known and loved for nearly 1000 years—a royal wedding with all its pomp and circumstance.

To Britons everywhere the event was enough to make them forget rations, hard work and the grey aftermath of war.

Tense and jubilant—with groups of Londoners singing "Every Nice Girl Loves a Sailor" in honor of the bridegroom—the ancient metropolis prepared for the nuptials to come within hours of stately Princess Elizabeth and dashing Lieut. Philip Mountbatten of the Royal Navy.

It was like old times to pageant-starved Britons. Not since the coronation of the Princess' father and mother as King and Queen in 1937 had there been such a show.

True, the wedding was geared to Britain's austerity program and elaborate public show was out of the question.

But all the elements of the traditional picturesque royal wedding — dating back to the second Norman king, William Rufus — were there: The sumptuous, 600-pound wedding cake; the visiting kings and rulers, statesmen and diplomats, the gay procession in antique royal carriages from Buckingham Palace to famed Westminster Abbey; the colorful, flashing uniforms of the household cavalry; the comely Princess in her magnificent wedding gown; and finally, the solemn, age-old ceremony of joining together in holy wedlock a princess and her consort.

In the London cold, many hours before the ceremony, faithful spectators were staking out claims on curbsides along the route of the wedding procession which starts at 5 a.m. C.S.T. Over a million, it was estimated, prepared to watch the royal wedding procession.

After traditional ceremonies, the Princess, decked out in royal splendor, was to walk down the aisle of the abbey on her father's arm to marry Philip.

DUCHESS OF EDINBURGH

Louis Wulf, authoritative Press Association Court Reporter, said tonight he had learned that "Princess Elizabeth, after her marriage, will in all probability be known as Princess Elizabeth, Duchess of Edinburgh."

Only a few people were at the 25-minute rehearsal of the procession to the altar Wednesday night. After the principals left, Scotland Yard detectives made a last-minute search of the cloistered church. Then it was sealed.

The entire wedding service, with the exception of the marriage lines (the duration of which was represented by a 10-minute silence) was performed.

The Princess looked unusually nervous and a little pale. She preceded her fiance through the massive carved oak doors, then, after a brief consultation with Abbey officials, they walked quietly, side by side, up the long main aisle stretching through the nave to the choir and high altar.

Along with the roster of royalty on hand were the highest prelates of the Church of England — the Archbishops of Canterbury and York who, in full canonical robes, was to carry out the wedding ceremony.

The opening hymn, "Praise My Soul the King of Heaven," was sung several times to achieve the maximum effect and much attention was given to the performance of the Lesser Litany and the old Scottish metrical Psalm 23 which was included at the request of the Princess.

At the Abbey half of the distance leading from the railings to the Gothic West door which the bride would enter was to be lined with sailors, soldiers, members of the Auxiliary Territorial Service, and other service groups.

The Grenadier Guards, of which the Princess is colonel, also was to be represented on the royal pathway to the Abbey. The King's Guard with the King's color and a band of the regiment was to be mounted in the quadrangle of Buckingham Palace and in the West door of the Abbey there was to be a guard of honor consisting of the tallest men in the First Battalion of the Grenadier Guards.

Inside the Abbey, the Honorable Corps of Gentlemen-at-Arms, in red jackets and dark blue trousers striped with gold, were to take their places in the latern and in the choir.

Wednesday night was "party night" in London with jubilant throngs jamming the pubs. Happy-go-lucky crowds on the streets were whooping it up with noise-making devices.

Philip left a stag party at 2 a.m. to snatch a few hours of sleep before the wedding, nine hours away at that time. Princess Elizabeth retired shortly before midnight when the floodlights in front of Buckingham Palace were turned off.

FIRST SQUATTER

The first squatter on the procession route was Mrs. Mary Conwell, a Wallington, Surrey, school teacher who set up her "pitch" opposite the Abbey early Wednesday afternoon.

Elderly Mrs. Elizabeth Neame of suburban Ealing, complete with a basket of food she hopes will last until noon, claimed the choicest spot outside of the Palace.

One woman had pressed close to the automobile carrying the Princess and Philip from the Abbey and cried: "God bless you both—I hope the sun shines for you."

BRIDEGROOM DUBBED DUKE OF EDINBURGH

Philip Restored To Royal Rank By King's Award MOVE SURPRISES

LONDON, Nov. 19 (AP) — The King tonight awarded the Dukedom of Edinburgh to Lieut. Philip Mountbatten and decreed that the young naval officer shall be known henceforth as "His Royal Highness."

Thus it was "His Royal Highness, the Duke of Edinburgh," who was wed to Princess Elizabeth, heiress presumptive to the throne.

Restoring Philip to the royal rank he renounced when he surrendered the Princedoms of Denmark and Greece to take British citizenship, the King also made Philip the Earl of Merioneth and Baron Greenwich.

Simultaneously the King awarded Philip the Order of the Garter, one of the United Kingdom's highest decorations, and one which the Princess received only a short time ago.

He also was invested as a knight. Kneeling before his future father-in-law in the privacy of Buckingham Palace, he was touched on each shoulder by a naked blade held by the sovereign.

AHEAD OF WINDSOR

Philip's elevation to the style "His Royal Highness" raised immediately the question of where he will stand in the order of social precedence at state functions.

The present order of male precedence is: the King, the Duke of Gloucester, third in succession to the throne, the Duke of Windsor, the Duke of Gloucester's two children, Prince William and Prince Frederick, and the two young sons of the Duchess of Kent, the Duke of Kent and Prince Michael.

There was no authoritative guidance but responsible court informants said Philip may follow the Duke of Gloucester, which would place him a step ahead of the Duke of Windsor.

Britain's dukes not of royal blood are styled "His Grace."

SURPRISE DECISION

The King's decision to prefix "His Royal Highness" was a surprise to most well-informed persons at court. They had expected Philip would be given a princedom as well as a dukedom, which would have given him a status closer to that of his bride.

Following this line of speculation court informants had said the King would have in mind the experience of Queen Victoria's consort, Prince Albert, who felt some resentment because his royal helpmate so far outranked him.

As a duke Philip will be empowered to sit in the House of Lords.

The Dukedom of Edinburgh, one of the King's highest ducal titles, was originally created in 1764 for Prince William Henry, whose elder brother became King George III.

Crew Resumes Search for Plane At Edgewood

With a lifting of the weather in the Edgewood District, the search for the R.C.A.F. photographic plane presumably down in that area has been resumed. A party of three men is working over some of the ground that might have been missed when the search was first started a month ago, it was reported from Edgewood Wednesday.

Earlier in the week storms in the mountains forced abandonment of the search. At that time four crews were out.

Even more snow has fallen on the summits surrounding the locality in which it is thought the plane went down. An average of four feet of snow at present covers the entire range, and the mercury has been dipping down to zero nightly.

Eight Seats for Canadian Newsmen

LONDON, Nov. 19 (CP)—Eight Canadian reporters have been allotted seats in Westminster Abbey for the Royal wedding, the Empire Press Union said today. Total allocation for the Commonwealth and Empire is 24.

Canadian seat-holders are Norman Cribbens, The Canadian Press; Charles Nichols, Southam newspapers; Mary Bishop, Sifton newspapers; Evelyn Tufts, Halifax Herald; Howard Clegg, Montreal Star and Montreal Standard; Jack Karr, Toronto Star; Margaret Aitken, Toronto Telegram; Claire Wallace, Montreal Gazette and Thomson Dailies.

Australian newspapers have been allotted seven seats, South Africa three, New Zealand two, India two, Pakistan one and the colonies one.

Half a Ton of Foodstuffs Packed For Wedding Gift From District

Well over 1000 pounds of foodstuffs, for Nelson District's wedding gift of food for Britain, have been packed by the workers who volunteered to assist Mayor T. H. Waters in the project. The parcels will go to Nelson in Lancashire.

Packing, carried out at the Scout Hall under supervision of Mrs. H. H. Currie, is just about completed. A total of 50 parcels, about 350 pounds, packed Tuesday, brought the total to about 250 parcels, weighing nearly 1500 pounds.

Only some bulk foodstuffs remain to be prepared for shipping, individual parcels being pretty well finished. It is expected that the packages will be crated this weekend.

The workers were especially pleased with the donations from the schools. The parcels came well decorated with Christmas stickers and carried names of pupils.

R. C. M. P. Deputy Commissioner, Gagnon, Dies

OTTAWA, Nov. 19 (CP)—H. A. Royal Gagnon, 54, C.B.E., Deputy Commissioner of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, died unexpectedly in hospital here today.

Although he had been ill in the R.C.A.F. Hospital at Rockcliffe, the Deputy Commissioner's death came as a shock to friends and associates. In recent weeks he had been mentioned as being in line for the Commissionership after the retirement of S. T. Wood, the present Commissioner.

A long-term veteran of the famous force, he was born in the R.C.M.P. barracks at Regina in February, 1893.

Formerly he headed the Criminal Investigation Branch, and he was appointed Deputy Commissioner shortly after taking a leading part in rounding up suspects during the espionage investigations in February, 1946.

Deputy Commissioner Gagnon, was the man who played the major part in cracking the Soviet spy ring nearly two years ago.

Perhaps for his work on that most outstanding of all Canadian criminal cases, he received the C.B.E. from the King in July, 1946.

Tales of War Woven at 54th Battalion Reunion; Dalrymple New Chairman

Fred Dalrymple was elected President of the 54th Battalion Association at the banquet held on the anniversary of the capture of Desire trench in World War I. Mr. Dalrymple, just returned from Vancouver, was Chairman of the banquet held at the Canadian Legion Tuesday night.

Other officers elected were Major H. Turner Lee of Bonnington, Honorary President; W. A. Curran of Trail, Vice-President, and R. A. Howe of Nelson, Secretary-Treasurer.

Ven. Archdeacon F. H. Graham, who has been made a life member, is to be Chaplain.

COMRADES TOASTED

Mr. Dalrymple was assisted as Chairman by H. W. Herridge, M.P. for West Kootenay. At the banquet a toast to "Our fallen comrades" was made by Mr. Curran, E. J. Uhthoff replying. The toast was preceded by the toast to "the King," the banquet opening with a minute's silence.

Wives of the members and a number of guests were present, the ladies being introduced by members. Each member was called upon to tell a brief story of his war days. Community singing and a musical program were also enjoyed, pianist being P. G. Morley.

Speakers included Archdeacon Graham and Very Rev. F. P. Clark, Dean of Kootenay. Mrs. Graham and Mrs. Clark and Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Creech were among guests.

LOST DRUM COMES HOME

During the story telling period Claude Miller, who was a drummer in the first war, and also served in the last war, told an interesting story of his drum which was on display. He had carried it through both wars and at the end of the second war had lost it in London. The War Office had been asked to try and trace it and recently, much to his surprise, the drum was delivered to him.

A vote of thanks was extended to the Legion Women's Auxiliary for its efficient work in preparing the banquet.

Among district men attending were A. D. Carr of Salmo, B. S. Creasey of Harrop, and C. Holt, formerly of Balfour and now of Victoria.

The Auxiliary arranged 54th patches of flowers on the tables—green oblongs signifying the 4th Division and red circles for the Senior Battalion. There were eight designs to each table.

The following story of the capture of Desire Trench—an event to be ever remembered by the veterans of the famed 54th—was told by a member:

"Nov. 18, 1916 was the day on which the 54th Battalion first went into major action. Previous to this date it had been in the trenches on the Ypres sector which at that time was more or less a quiet front and a good place to initiate new troops into the practical side of warfare. Mid-September the Fourth Division moved to the Somme and arrived in Albert where the spiral of the cathedral had the figure of the Madonna and Child leaning sideways through enemy shelling.

"This place was a main concentration of British troops in the Somme and was the place where troops were fed into the trenches nearby. Intense fighting had started into July, 1916, and was continuing to the time the 54th arrived.

"It took all the courage and stamina of the men, battling deep seas of mud and contrary weather, to overcome the well-prepared and well-equipped enemy.

"Attack started in the middle of a snowstorm and eventually stiff resistance from the Germans was overcome and we held the trench until relief by another battalion 24 hours later.

"Casualties, killed and wounded were 12 officers and 200 men of other ranks, many of whom were from this district.

"When the battalion entered the Somme it was 1200 strong—when it departed it was down to 600."

Urge Increased Hospital Rates

An executive committee to recommend to the Provincial Government that hospital per capita grants be increased by at least 100 per cent was appointed at the annual convention in Victoria of the B.C. Hospital Association, W. Simpson reported to a meeting of the Board of Directors to Kootenay Lake General Hospital Tuesday night.

Mr. Simpson, Secretary of the Board, was Nelson representative at the meeting.

Present per capita rate is 70 cents daily and it was urged that "legislature be introduced as soon as possible."

Walter Hendricks was appointed new Director, replacing L. W. Humphry who died recently.

Board members continued consideration on employing a radiologist for Nelson and District.

William F. Funk Acquitted at Close of Three-Day Perjury Trial

After deliberating for more than an hour, an Assize Court jury Wednesday afternoon returned a verdict of not guilty in the case of William Frederick Funk, Fauquier lumberman, charged with perjury.

The 12 men reached their decision at the conclusion of a three-day trial, held in Nelson before Mr. Justice Herbert S. Wood, during which 19 persons were called as witnesses. Jurors were Clyde L. Hood, foreman; Fred Molton, Thomas R. Scott, William H. Goddard, E. Leeming, Clarence Ward, Alfred D. Jarrett, Joseph P. Lang, Ira Meriam, John T. Webster, Louis Coletti and Robert Welton.

Funk was accused of having sworn falsely at a Supreme Court trial in Nelson last December when he said that Ralph Rudolph Stack hauled a load of poles from Funk's camp near Fauquier to Nakusp on June 22, 1946. The Crown, represented by C. H. Hamilton of Nelson, alleged Stack did not haul the load of poles as aforesaid.

Leigh M. McBride of Nelson defended Mr. Funk's case.

"A lot of evidence has been presented in this long triad—a lot of convincing evidence," Mr. Justice Wood told the jury in summing up. The Crown must have corroborative evidence in a perjury case, and must prove beyond reasonable doubt that the accused knew the evidence he gave to be false, and that he gave it to mislead the Court, His Lordship added.

Mr. Funk, he pointed out, had stated that he still believed the statement under question that he made in the 1946 trial to be true. He did not say "I believed it to be true at that time."

His Lordship also drew to the jury's attention the importance of the charge laid against Mr. Funk. "The sanctity of the oath is the foundation of our whole judicial system," he explained.

He expressed agreement with the jury's decision after it had been announced.

Witnesses appearing for the defense Wednesday were William F. Funk, Ralph Rudolph Stack, Fauquier truck operator; Mrs. P. Funk, wife of William F. Funk; Alexander Drysdael of Fauquier; William Leonard Funk, son of William F. Funk; Henry Detta of Fauquier; John Clifford McWhirter, Fauquier logger; and Mrs. G. Devlin, postmistress at Fauquier.

Previously in the trial 11 witnesses testified on behalf of the Crown.

One divorce case, that of Jessie Helen Gamble of Lethbridge, who is petitioning for a divorce from James Stanley Garfield Gamble, Nelson painter, was adjourned because of lack of sufficient evidence. The case will come up later in the Assizes.

Use Radar To Locate Fish

By WILLIAM BOSS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

ESQUIMALT, B.C., Nov. 18 (CP) —If the Royal Canadian Navy has but three-operational vessels in service on Canada's Pacific Coast, it also has a joker up its sleeve.

Named H. M. C. S. Ehkoli, the joker, is worth millions, potentially, to the Pacific Coast fisher fleet.

Commanded by Lieut. Robin B. Haywood of Duncan, B.C., and with Lieut. C. J. Mair of Edmonton as second - in - command, the Ehkoli really is a floating laboratory.

A former mine-detector craft in the Fishermen's Reserve Fleet during the Second World War, the vessel houses equipment for a team of scientists who she takes out to sea on experiments, most of which represent attempts to improve deep-sea fishing techniques.

Radar and asdic equipment used during the war by the Navy to track down submarines and minefields have found peacetime use in locating schools of fish.

Lieut. Hayward's craft now is the sea-going lab in which scientists of the National Research Council and the Department of Fisheries under Dr. A. L. Tester improve radar's and asdic's new uses.

The scientists, based on the Dominion biological station at Nanaimo, B.C., have complete run of the Ehkoli for the practical application of their theories. She really is their ship.

Among her other duties, the Ehkoli also is an oceano-graphic vessel, equipped for the study of ocean currents and temperatures.

The combined effect of the Ehkoli's activities, it is believed, will be to help British Columbia fishermen step up their income by directing them to the best fishing areas.

For Parents

By GARRY CLEVELAND MYERS, Ph.D.

Parents Should Not Treat a Request as a Real Command

Often in this column I have tried to make clear the difference between a request and a command, in relation to the child. But judging from the letters I receive indicating that so many parents treat a request and a command of the child as if both were commands I grow discouraged at my apparent failure to have made the difference clear. I have even devoted a bulletin to the matter—"Stubbornness," to be had in a stamped envelope.

Most parents easily see the difference between a request and a command made to another adult. But when applied to children, especially young children, parents may not observe any difference at all between a request and a command and how they expect the child to respond to each.

A REQUEST

Suppose you ask a guest if she would like to take a ride with you through the park and she replied she would prefer not to go. Would you say, "Then you must go?" Would you proceed to punish her to make her go with you? If you were really a gracious hostess you would not even show any annoyance over her not wishing to go with you. Being a very highly-cultivated person you would not even feel vexed at her expressed decision.

Is this too high a standard for a parent to set in relation to a child? As a parent myself, I say it is not. Moreover, it is the only truly honest standard.

If you asked your child three or thirteen to bring you a book and he calmly replied he would rather not, and then you immediately said with anger in your voice, "You must," how is he to take you at your word? Won't he soon suppose that you are just pretending when you make future requests of him and that you will really mean it as a command? Then what hope can you have for winning his cooperation henceforth?

When you make a request of a child of any age, don't treat the request as a command. Expect the child to choose whether to accede to your request or not. Then you will have no occasion to punish, scold, or even feel vexed at his non-compliance. But if you command him, then provide the necessary means to make him obey promptly or withdraw the command and tell him you erred in making it.

FOR THE TOT

While this distinction is desirable at any age of the child, it is especially practicable with the tot from about two to five, in preventing stubbornness, promoting cooperation, even obedience in him. Furthermore, with the tot, except the things he must do as a routine, as going to bed at a regular time, aim rarely to make a positive command.

Make positive suggestions or a request concerning what you wish the child to do. But, of course, when he should stop doing something harmful to him, to other persons or to things command him to stop and give him instant adequate pain in case he does not stop promptly.

'Quake Rocks Southern California

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 19 (AP) — A gently rocking, moderately severe earthquake was felt in Los Angeles and along the Northern seacoast of Southern California Tuesday. There were no immediate reports of damage.

Dr. Charles F. Richter of California Institute of Technology described it as "good sized local shock." He timed it at 1:59 p.m. PST.

It was felt in the beach cities of Santa Barbara, Redondo Beach and Hermosa Beach, but apparently did not extend South or East. It escaped unnoticed in San Bernardino, Santa Ana and Long Beach.

Downtown Los Angeles buildings, including the towering City Hall, swayed noticeably. Dr. Richter said the centre of the disturbance probably was nearby, but could not be quickly fixed.

Wilmington and San Pedro, in Los Angeles harbor, felt the shock and there were indications that it extended to the West and North.

Exercise Can Help You "Come Alive" If Taken in Regular Small Amounts

The only hard part about exercising is starting it. It goes against the grain, so to speak. But it's mostly mental. Once you get into the swing of stretching and bending and limbering, you'll find that exercise is enjoyable and you won't want to miss a session. In a few weeks time that slack, pudgy feeling through the midriff can be changed to a nice, firm, supple feeling. Regular exercise in small amounts can help you to "come alive."

There are only a few rules to observe. One important rule is to stop exercise at the height of its invigorating effect. Never exercise until weariness sets in. Also remember that a small amount of easy exercise every day is far more beneficial than an occasional big dose of strenuous exercise.

We'll begin with the most simple exercise of all—stretching from a lying down position. First, lie on a mat on the floor and stretch arms on floor overhead. (Note, the room should not be cold. There can be a circulation of fresh air, but never exercise in a draft). Now try to make the length of your spine touch the floor, stretching gently up, but keeping shoulders and arms flat on floor. Then pull up with one arm and push down with the leg on that same side, and p-u-l-l, all along that side. Relax. Pull along the other side. Repeat once more and relax.

If you feel any strain through the lower back, insert a small pillow under the knees, but keep knees straight and s-t-r-e-t-c-h!

Position: Lying on back on floor, one leg straight down, the other knee flexed, sole on floor.

Movement: Bring the flexed knee toward chest, drawing up the hip on that side. Stretch leg out on floor, flex the other knee and draw toward chest, raising the hip slightly on that side. Repeat six counts, slowly, alternating sides.

This exercise reaches stomach and hip muscles:

HAVE EYE OUT FOR NEW COAST CHIEF

VANCOUVER, Nov. 19 (CP) — Vancouver's next fire chief already is known as "Mr. X." He will succeed present Chief A. E. Condon in 1950 but no one knows his name.

However, City Council took steps today to discover his identity. He is working in the department now and will have more than three years service left when the present chief retires in 1950. A committee was named to check through the department for a suitable man.

At present there is no first assistant chief and the second and third assistants have been ruled out because both will have retired by 1951.

BOOST FOR TEACHERS

VANCOUVER, Nov. 19 (CP) — The School Board has approved an annual salary boost of $150 for Vancouver school teachers, effective for the 1948 pay scheduled. It will mean an additional $200,000 in the salaries budget.

The Doctor

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

Few People Know About Their Sixth Sense Until It Is Lost

Most people would be very much surprised to learn that they possess a sixth sense, one of which they are never aware of until they lose it. This is the sense of balance and movement through space.

Only the man who has experienced its loss knows its importance. Without it, he seems to be living in a world of rotating objects, all of which move around him in dizzy circles in more or less degree. Either this, or he, himself, seems to be moving like a perpetual whirligig in a stationary world. Either variety of this sensation is called vertige, or dizziness.

THREE STRUCTURES

Our sense of balance is maintained largely by three delicate little structures in the inner ear known as the semicircular canal, and upset by anything which interferes with them.

In a disturbance of the ear called Meniere's disease, there is vertigo, together with sickness to the stomach or vomiting, ringing in the ears and some disturbance of the hearing in the attack. Sometimes there may also be nystagmus, a repeated movement of the eyes to one side, with a slow return to the normal position.

The exact cause of Meniere's disease is not known. However, it is thought that it may be due to an allergy, or oversensitivity to some food which is eaten, which affects the semicircular canals. Infections in the teeth, tonsils, sinuses or elsewhere in the body may also have some bearing on the cause.

MORE SUCCESSFUL METHODS

Recently, more successful methods of treating Meniere's disease have been discovered.

For example, one method of treatment is to use a diet which is as free from salt as possible. In addition, the substance known as ammonium chloride is given. Limiting of the fluids taken into the body also has been tried, and seems to bring a great improvement in a large number of cases. These three procedures decrease the fluid content of the body.

Another method of treatment consists of the giving of injections under the skin of histamine diphosphate, with the idea of lessening the allergic reaction.

COMBINATION TREATMENT

Sometimes the treatment recommended combines a number of these elements.

During an attack, the patient is placed in bed in a semi-darkened room. Some form of sedative or quieting drug is administered, and the fluid intake is limited.

Following the attack, a skin test is done by injecting a small amount of histamine under the skin. If this test is positive, it is shown by the development of a red swelling at the point of injection. Treatment is then taken to desensitize or lessen the sensitivity to the histamine by giving injections of gradually increasing doses of histamine. If the reaction to the histamine is negative, the giving of nicotinic acid, which is a part of the Vitamin B-complex may be helpful.

THESE ENOUGH SOMETIMES

In some instances, the reduction of fluids and the limiting of salt in the diet are enough without other forms of treatment.

If none of these measures is satisfactory, the giving of a drug known as benzyl cinnamate may serve to bring relief.

If medical measures alone cannot control the condition, some form of surgery may be necessary, and in a number of such cases, surgical treatment has been found to bring excellent results in some cases.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

E. J. B.: What is the cause of rough skin on the upper arms and legs? What will remedy the condition?

Answer: The roughness of the skin may be due to many causes, such as vitamin "A" deficiency, skin infection, or skin disturbance produced by allergy or oversensitivity.

Careful study by a skin specialist would be needed before treatment could be advised.

Tasty Recipes

By ALICE DENHOFF

We were discussing homemade bread the other day, and one woman said she and her husband made bread once a week, setting it at night. It was a cooperative job, the husband setting the batter at night; the wife taking over in the morning, when the bread was given its last rising and baked.

Just in case you want to try to make a loaf or so, I'll give you recipes and instructions.

TODAY'S MENU

Baked Fish — Oven Fried Potatoes
Stewed or Scalloped Tomatoes
Celery — Olives
Homemade Bread — Butter
Lemon Meringue Pie — Coffee

WHITE BREAD

One cup scalded milk, 1 cup boiling water, 1 tablespoon butter, 1 tablespoon lard or other shortening, 2½ teaspoons salt, 2 tablespoons sugar, 1 yeast cake dissolved in ¼ cup lukewarm water, 6 cups sifted bread flour.

Scald milk, add boiling water, put in shortening, sugar and salt and let cool to lukewarm, then add dissolved yeast cake and 3 cups flour. Blend thoroughly with knife or spoon, add 2 more cups flour, mix; add remaining flour gradually using just enough to prevent sticking.

Turn onto floured board or cloth, leaving clean bowl. Knead until dough is smooth and elastic to the touch and bubbles may be seen under the surface. Return to lightly greased bowl, cover with clean cloth and board or other loose cover, and set in warm place to rise to double in bulk.

To maintain even temperature during the rising, set bowl in larger bowl containing lukewarm water (80 to 95 F.). When room temperature is above 80 degrees F., keep water somewhat cooler, or simply set the bowl in a warm place where there is no draught. As soon as the dough has doubled in bulk cut through it several times with a case knife, turning dough over and over. This is important, especially when larger amount of yeast than the 1 cake is used, in order to avoid a "yeasty" taste. Divide dough in pans, each part large enough for one loaf, and knead until smooth.

Put each loaf in a bread pan, or two loaves in one pan (if more convenient), brushing between loaves with a little melted butter. Cover and let rise to double in bulk again (about 1 hour if 1 yeast cake is used), then bake 40 to 60 minutes at 375 to 425 F. If the oven is too hot the crust will brown quickly before the heat has reached the centre of the loaves. The loaf should continue to rise for first 15 minutes, when it should begin to brown, and continue for the next 20 minutes. The last 15 minutes it should finish baking.

When done the bread should shrink from the sides of pan and be easily removed. Brush bread with melted butter 3 minutes before taking from oven if a more tender crust is desired.

BRAN NUT BREAD

One egg, ½ cup sugar, 1 cup milk, 2 tablespoons melted shortening, 1 cup bran, 2 cups sifted flour, 3 teaspoons baking powder, 1 teaspoon salt, ¾ cup chopped nutmeats.

Beat egg and sugar until light; add milk, shortening and bran. Sift flour with baking powder and salt, combine with nutmeats and add to first mixture, stirring only until flour disappears. Bake in greased loaf pan with waxed paper in bottom in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) about 1 hour.

WORKMAN-MAYOR TO GREET COUPLE

By NORMAN CRIBBENS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

ROMSEY, Hampshire, England, Nov. 19 (CP) — When Princess Elizabeth and Lieut. Philip Mountbatten arrive here for their honeymoon Thursday night they will be welcomed by a Southern Railway machine shop workman, who happens to be the Mayor of Romsey.

Even now Reg Symes, formally known as Alderman R. G. Symes, is brushing up his Sunday suit in readiness for when the bridal couple step off a special train from Waterloo Station.

Symes became Romsey's first Labor mayor only last week and is the only Labor member of the Town Council.

His first act was to appeal to townsfolk to give the royal couple "the privacy that most young people expect at this time in their lives."

"That is what we expected ourselves . . . The least we can do is to give privacy to two very nice young people who are, after all, just like ordinary folk in this matter."

Cheerful with his ruddy complexion and bright smile, Symes goes to work early most mornings and usually quits at 5 p.m. Thursday, however, he will hurry home after lunch and change.

Delicious "SALADA" TEA BAGS Convenient

"An important part of my diet ever since my first bottle has been Crown Brand Corn Syrup. Now, that may be all right for a little character like myself, but let me tell you, these grown-ups sure are lucky what with Mom serving them Crown Brand Corn Syrup with so many of their dishes. And she uses it in her baking, too, as a sweetener. I can hardly wait until I'm old enough to have some hot waffles or pancakes smothered with delicious Crown Brand. If it's as good as it is in my cereal—mmmmm!"

For years doctors have recommended the use of Crown Brand Corn Syrup as a satisfactory carbohydrate acting as a milk modifier for bottle-fed infants.

. . . Canadian Title Ban Is Unfair . . . Time to End Discrimination

Now that Prime Minister Mackenzie King has accepted at the hands of King George VI, a membership in the second most exclusive order in the British Empire—its roll of members is limited to 24, and he is only the second Dominions representative to be named—we know where he stands on the subject of honors bestowed by the King.

We know this, because the King's wish must have been communicated to him beforehand, and he must have signified willingness to be guided by the Sovereign's pleasure; otherwise the membership would not have been conferred.

Perhaps Canada's House of Commons will now have the courage to inform King George that it feels he should not consider himself bound in the slightest by that silly Nickle resolution placed on the House Journals during World War I.

The Nickle resolution, fathered by a private member, W. F. Nickle, of Kingston, a lawyer by profession, a Conservative in politics, a strong campaigner for the utmost war effort, and a man of high ideals who enjoyed universal respect, set forth that it was the desire of the House of Commons that His Majesty—at that time, King George V—should confer no more titles on Canadian citizens.

Unfortunately—as I view it—this resolution was adopted, and almost by default, as Sir Robert Borden's Union Government gave no guidance, for it bent all efforts toward one goal only, and because most private members did not care to go on record against it for fear of being accused of not being democratic.

Personally, I am strongly against government imposed by individuals.

Constitutionally, an individual cannot introduce legislation imposing taxation. The great bulk also of national legislation must be government sponsored.

Across the line, to the South, the individual may originate any and every kind of legislation, and it is a terrible weakness in the American system.

NOT CANADA'S VOICE

But this crank proposal by Nickle, the faddist, though accepted by the House of Commons, through cowardice, I believe, hadn't the slightest title to be considered the voice of the Canadian people.

If it had been embodied in a bill, and the measure had passed both Houses of Parliament, and received the royal assent, it would have been entitled to full weight, even though "sprung" unannounced on the country.

Yet, for 30 years, this brash and unjustified expression of opinion has remained on the House of Commons Journals, and has debarred Canadians from a form of recognition accepted in every corner of the Empire, with the exception of a couple who received knighthood on the recommendation of Prime Minister Bennett, those particular recipients being respectively a chief justice of Canada, and the discoverer of insulin, Dr. Frederic Banting.

The reason the resolution has operated is that Canadian Prime Ministers have declined to recommend Canadian citizens for titles. Prime Minister Bennett, in departing from the rule, pointed out that the resolution did not even purport to speak for Parliament, but only for one House.

I have long been intending to write about our letting a faddist, who is long since dead, dictate this injustice to Canadians who have given great national service in some field or other, from statesmanship, war leadership, land or business development, education and letters, to discovery and invention.

Rescinding of that unfair and discriminative resolution is long overdue.

The last shred of logic for this discrimination is gone with the acceptance by Prime Minister King of a royal honor that differs from simple knighthood only in being more exclusive and in adding another suffix to his name instead of a new prefix.

PRIME MINISTER ATTENDS SERVICE

The Prirme Minister spent the remainder of the day dealing with correspondence and seeing friends. Tomorrow, wearing morning dress and a silk hat, he will sit with other United Kingdom and Commonwealth statesmen at the wedding of Princess Elizabeth and Lieut. Christmas Nuts Arriving at City Wholesale Firms

The first allotments of Christmas nuts were received at city fruit and vegetable wholesale houses this week. A considerable supply of almonds, brazil nuts and filberts has been accumulated, it was reported.

Receipts of fresh fruits was said to be normal during the week, but dealers foresaw a slowdown of turnover when the newly instituted Government quota restrictions on fruit imports from the United States became evident. All fresh fruits were placed on quota restrictions by the Government adoption of an austerity program to restore Canada's reserve of United States dollars.

rFesh meats were in good supply while eggs were reported to be in short supply. Shipments of smoked meats are still under par but other lines of meats were abundant.

Grain dealers received one car of hay, one of straw and one of feed during the week.

PEDIATRICIANS RECOMMEND WHEAT GERM CEREALS

A prominent child specialist on the staff of one of the country's largest Children's Hospitals gives this advice: "Many of us, including our children, eat too little thiamine or Vitamin B_1. This is because we use too much sugar and low thiamine cereals.

If we would use whole-grain cereals instead, we would get plenty of thiamine, and in addition we would add valuable amounts of several other of the B Vitamins and of iron to our diets.

Another advantage of using generous amounts of the whole-grain products is that the cellulose in them helps to prevent constipation."

Fur Conservation Opens New Vista

Providing occupational opportunities for large numbers of Canadian Indians, and looking to the permanent restoration of the basic industry of this country, the Department of Mines and Resources, through the Indian Affairs branch, has made great strides in an extensive program of fur conservation.

Indicating the progress made in just one phase of the nation-wide scheme, the Department has under lease, with the cooperation of the Governments of Quebec and Ontario, more than 45,000,000 acres in these two Provinces. These areas comprise seven beaver preserves, three of which have been brought into production, set aside as the exclusive trapping grounds of Indians.

Remarkable results have been obtained on preserves in Quebec and Ontario, not only as regards the considerable improvement in the economic status of the Indians who take advantage of the trapping plan, but also in the steady increase in the numbers of beaver, which in many areas were facing extinction only a few years ago.

Figures speak for themselves in describing the importance of this program. One hundred trappers on the Nottaway preserve at the South end of James Bay trapped a crop of 1009 beaver during the 1946-47 season, and the sum of $31,546 was realized from the sale of the pelts. Eight hundred and fifteen beaver were trapped on the Abitibi presere last season, the Indians benefiting by an amount of $30,751 when the furs were disposed of on the market. On the Ontario preserve at Kasagami 772 beaver were trapped last year, the sales increasing the funds of the Indian band to the extent of $18,625.

A fourth preserve, at Grand Lake Victoria, Quebec, has been in continuous operation since 1928. Due to the fact that at that time the supply of beaver had not been depleted, careful management has permitted an annual average crop of more than 1000 animals. Last year's crop brought returns of $30,000 when sold by the Indians on the open market.

Indian Affairs officials speak highly of the fine cooperation received from the Indians in the development of the preserves plan, pointing out that in many areas the natives themselves had practised conservation methods for many years. The attitude of the Indians toward the trapping program has been well expressed by an old chief, who said, "This is just like money in the bank."

This program has unlimited possibilities for future expansion, since the only requirements for the successful rehabilitation of beaver are running water and deciduous trees, both of which exist in quantity in this vast Dominion, and the continuation of the careful policy of conservation. By limiting the catch of individual trappers to a definite quota in relation to the total beaver populations on the preserves, the Indian Affairs Branch has assured a steady growth in the numbers of these valuable fur-bearers.

The Helicopter

Few developments in the field of aviation have fired the public imagination or aroused its enthusiastic interest like the helicopter. One reason is that it is something the individual can visualize in his own back yard and fit into his dreams of life in the not-too-distant future.

The helicopter has not developed as swiftly as the general public believes. Igor Sikorsky made his first helicopter model in 1901, although it was nearly 40 years later that he succeeded in getting one to fly. Its development was shrouded in wartime secrecy, so that the helicopter eventually burst upon the public as a laboratory miracle which gave the illusion of overnight success. Since the war this unusual machine has demonstrated its competence in so many difficult assignments that it is already regarded as the answer to a myriad of still cumbersome and costly transportation problems.

We in British Columbia have particular reason to follow the development of helicopter flight with keen interest. Its capacity for vertical ascent and descent, permitting landings in the smallest clearings, promises to make accessible the most remote parts of our interior. Its ability to hover over a fixed point for relatively long periods will permit the use of magnetic mineral detectors with an accuracy heretofore impossible and make it ideal for such purposes as aerial survey. Its efficiency as a rescue medium has already been established.

The Kiev-born inventor Sikorsky established himself as one of the foremost aviation authorities of the world long before his vertical flight achievement. He has devoted his energies to the field of aviation from his boyhood, inspired by the stories of Leonardo da Vinci's attempt to design a flying machine. His present eminence is the result of nearly 50 years of application, fed by a vivid imagination which saw always beyond the limits of the moment's accomplishment.

Inflation

By SAMUEL PETTINGILL

In the Spokesman-Review

Once there was a farmer who raised corn, and a man who raised hens but no corn. The hens said, "No corn, no eggs." So, the man agreed to work for the farmer one day a week for $5 a day, and the farmer agreed to sell corn to the man for $1 a bushel. They paid each other off every time with the long green. The farmer paid the man $5, and the man paid the $5 back to the farmer for five bushels of corn which he wheeled home to his hens in a barrow.

After a while the man said to the farmer: "Everything's going up, and I regret intensely to inform you that I can't work for less than $6 a day."

The farmer said, "I understand. But you understand that everything is going up with me, too, and I regret intensely to inform you that I can't sell you my corn for less than $1.20 a bushel."

The man said, "I understand." So he got $6 a day, and at $1.20 a bushel, paid the farmer the $6 for five bushels of corn.

By 'n' by, the man said to the farmer, "Things have gone up still more, and I can't work for less than $7.50 a day." The farmer agreed that was fair, but told the man that things had gone up still higher with him, too, and he'd have to get $1.50 a bushel for the corn, The man agreed that that was fair, also. And both of them said, "Prosperity is here. Gosh, now we are getting ahead." The man was getting $7.50 a day—the farmer was getting $1.50 a bushel—and the hens were getting five bushels of corn, same as always.

And so things went on until the man got $10 a day, and the farmer got $2 a bushel. And the man gave the farmer the $10 for five bushels of corn just the same as before. And the hens kept right on laying—even on Thursdays!

And the man told his wife, "Ain't it wonderful, $10 a day!"

And the hens kept clucking away on five bushels of corn.

And the statisticians down Washington way said, "Ain't it wonderful? National income at record levels!"

And the politicians said, "Ain't it wonderful?" and bragged that they had done it, and everybody felt so good and prosperous that the man and the farmer voted for the politicians.

And that is how it was, "egg-sactly." The man got three times as much for the eggs but paid three times as much for his shoes, and the music went round and round.

• • •

This raises the question whether commodities and labor have really risen at all. In the above case, isn't it true that one day's work still buys five bushels of wheat; and the farmer can still hire a man for five bushels of wheat? The wheat is worth no more in labor, and the labor is worth no more in wheat.

So what has happened? The value of the dollar has gone down, both in terms of wheat and labor. Men sweat and farmers grow wheat, but neither make dollars. Who manufactures dollars? The Government. So if dollars, or francs, or marks, are cheap, is it the fault of the farmer, the laborer or the Government?

Inflation is the overproduction of money. Prices are the result of inflation. Not the cause. Prices are the penalty for the cowardice of politicians.

Yet in every inflationary period, as in Germany in 1922, the people always think that groceries, etc., are rising in value, whereas money is simply getting cheap. So they blame business, or labor, or the farmer, as the value of their bonds, or insurance, or savings melts away. They never blame the real culprit, the Government, until it has ruined them.

THIRTY DAYS HATH NOVEMBER

A calendar watcher—a slightly higher form of life than the clock watcher—looked thoughtfully at the sheet for November. Five Sundays, with no work to be done by him. Five Saturdays, with no obligation to come to the office. Three holidays—election day, Armistice Day and Thanksgiving—which were off days for him, if not for all. Total working days for November, 17; total idling days, 13. Whereupon he muttered a few words which were understood by those standing near to be, "Let us then be up and doing." But they might have been, "All work and no play makes Jack a dull boy."—New York Sun.

W. A. T., Nelson—Will you please publish in the Questions and Answers column the method used for awarding points to decide the standing of county teams competing in first class cricket in England?

County Championship cricket matches in England last three days and the winning team scores the maximum number of points—12. If the match is drawn, four points are awarded to the team holding the lead on the first innings. In the event of a tie on the first innings in a drawn match, each team is awarded two points. If through bad weather the playing time is reduced to two days, six points are awarded to the team holding a first innings lead, a decisive result being unlikely. A team holding a first innings lead, but losing the match does not score any points.

"The Authority on Authorities"

OUTSMARTS HIMSELF

WHEN several players at the table get smart on the same deal, trying to outfox one another, it is pretty sure that some one of them will outsmart himself. Unorthodox bidding by even one player is likely to land one side or the other in a final contract different from the normal. So when several resort to it, the result is likely to be that somebody gets badly burnt.

It had been an unsatisfactory evening of little hands for East, who was so delighted by the nice holding dealt him this time that he decided he would make sure of closing out this one final rubber. That's why he started with 2-No Trumps instead of the conservative 1-Diamond.

Having advertised a fine hand, he caused South to determine to interfere so as to upset the opponents' equilibrium. With a perfect hand for escaping from trouble if it befell him, he bid his void suit, clubs. West, trusting his own partner's strength, made an honest bid of his spades. North decided he could safely finagle and cut in with 3-No Trumps. East's double confirmed the fact that he had a really good hand. South proceeded with his own monkey business in rebidding clubs, but he was shown up by West's double. When that came around, South at last bid his real suit of hearts.

Now that the secret was out, East decided he would rather make 5-Diamonds than set the hearts. That bid tickled South, who now had won the maneuvering and doubled. East played the hand so badly that he was set four tricks, costing him 1,400 points. After the spade 3 to the 8, 9 and A, East led the diamond 2 to the 4, 7 and J. South ruffed a club, the spade 7 brought the J and Q, the heart 3 caused the A to kill the K. The spade K won the 10, the club 5 to the 9 was ruffed and later the heart Q won a trick.

Movie Gossip

Red Skelton Would Like to Try Television; Doesn't Like Movie-Making

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 19 (AP) — It took Red Skelton eight years to find out that he doesn't like movie-making. Eventually he intends to give up films for a career in television.

Eventually means four years hence, because that's how long it will take him to run out his MGM contract. He has tried to escape his pact, but the Culver City execs have said no.

Red has tried every field of entertainment, starting in a medicine show at 10 and rising through showboat stock, minstrel shows, vaudeville, circus, burlesque, night clubs and pictures. He explained his beef with the latter.

"They are not believable enough," he said. "For instance, in 'Merton of the Movies' I escaped by running under the seats of a movie theatre. Folks ask me how I did it. I couldn't tell them.

"In this picture I escape by inflating surplus life rafts in the path of some thugs who are chasing me!"

Skelton said he wants his work to be understood by all, "like Chaplin's comedy in the silents; everyone could believe his pantomime."

"The Fugitive" (RKO) ranks as one of the most beautifully photographed pictures but ranks lower as entertainment. It is a moody, sombre story of the persecution of a priest (Henry Fonda) in a Latin country. With villians less black and a pace less leisurely, the film could have been as great as its photography.

Fernie Council Prepared to Tax Beer Parlors, Take Charge of Tax Sales

FERNIE, B. C., Nov. 19—The City Council moved and passed the readings o fthe bylaws which prepared the way to empower the Council to tax beer parlors and take charge of tax sales within the City of Fernie.

The delegation from the Curling Club requesting use of the Roaring Rink for the coming season ran into trouble. As it now stands the rink was acquired by the City at a tax sale as of September 30 and is now subject to legal advice, which at present is to the contrary. As a result the curlers will not be able to have use of the rink until some further action of permission has been taken or received.

A lengthy discussion took place when Dr. George Leroux approached the Council for an increase in the medical contract covering treatment to invalids. The matter was left in abeyance for further discussion.

$260 IN FINES

The Police report for October showed fines imposed and paid totalled $260, with costs of $44.

The application for two trade licences was held in abeyance pending further information.

The report of the Fernie Rotary Skating Rink Committee was accepted. The amount of $327 balance was turned over to the City.

A letter was received and read from the Triangle Advertising Co., requesting permission to place waste paper containers on the City streets. No action will be taken until representatives from the company have been met and further information received.

The City agreed to assume the costs of the printing of the Remembrance Day programs.

Additional accessories for the newly acquired Trac-Tractor were ordered to be bought.

Accounts for the month of October totalling $7106 were passed for payment.

Bandit in Hospital After Daring Holdup

MONTREAL, Nov. 19 (CP) — Two bandits are still at large and a third is in hospital today following last night's daring holdup of the swank Chez Ernest Cafe on downtown Drummond Street shortly before midnight last night, when two customers were wounded and a third injured.

Frank McCormick, prominent Montrealer, wounded by the bandits, was reported by hospital officials to be improved. Last night the 42-year old father of two children was reported "in a dying state" but early today they said his condition was "good." He was shot twice, one bullet lodging one inch from the heart.

McCormick and Graham Rutherford, 22-year-old son of the President of Rutherford Lumber Ltd., were both shot as they tried to resist the two gunmen. A third member of the group, waited outside in a taxi.

Challenge U.N. Right To Split Palestine

LAKE SUCCESS, Nov. 19 (CP) — An eight-power "Arab" sub-committee on Palestine today formally challenged the authority of the United Nations in any attempt to partition the Holy Land into separate Arab and Jewish countries.

The challenge was contained in the report of a sub-group appointed to present the Arab viewpoint to the 57-power Palestine Committee of the General Assembly. All of this sub-group's membership is Arab or Moslem or both.

The report was submitted as a nine-power sub-committee put the finishing touches on a complete plan to partition Palestine.

The "Arab" group recommended that the Assembly postpone action on the Palestine question until the International Court of Justice could clear up legal points raised by the Arab countries. This would mean an indefinite delay on a final Palestine solution.

This action came as delegation sources indicated that the proposed Palestine partition is going to be sharply criticized by the United Kingdom, which finds little merit in it.

One British source described the plan, hammered out after weeks of negotiation, as "an Alice-in-Wonderland scheme" and shook his head when asked if Britain would be satisfied with at least its main principles.

The plan is predicated on a considerable degree of co-operation from Britain, which holds the Palestine mandate, until her troops are withdrawn by next Aug. 1, as scheduled.

The British approach to this problem has consistently been this: Britain will not share in the enforcement of any Palestine settlement which is not acceptable to both the Jews and Arabs.

The proposed partition plan is certainly not going to be acceptable to the Arabs. So if the United Kingdom stands by this policy, as she likely will, she won't have much, if anything, to do with implementing the new plan.

The United Kingdom also strongly opposes the suggestion in the plan that the mandate be ended at a date to be agreed upon by the commission in consultation with Britain, with this date approved by the Security Council.

The United Kingdom maintains it will end the mandate when it alone decides. The British delegates argue that Britain has administered this mandate for more than 20 hard and difficult years and the British Government will determine, without interference, when it will give it up.

BRITISH SHIP RESCUES MAROONED MEN

HALIFAX, Nov. 19 (CP) — The Norwegian whaling craft Olaf Olsen has rescued 41 survivors of the 43-man crew of the British freighter Langleecrag from Sacred Island off the Northern tip of Newfoundland the Department of Transport Marine radio reported today.

Immediately after picking the ship's survivors from the isolated spit of land where they had been marooned since the 4909-ton Langleecrag ran aground early Saturday, the whaling craft headed for the Grenfell Mission post at St. Anthony where the crew members will be admitted to hospital.

Two men were drowned when the Langleecrag hit the rocky shore and broke in two during an early morning storm and most of the others had frozen feet.

The British freighter Empire MacCalum, a baby flag-top, arrived off Sacred Island early today and started rescue operations at dawn but as they lowered their lifeboat it was smashed by heavy seas and the mercy task was left to the tiny Olsen.

Details reaching here were scant but Marine Radio said the two men lost had been drowned when the ship ran aground.

20 CRASH TO DEATH IN SWEDISH PLANE

30 Aboard Ship Returning Military Fliers From Africa

10 INJURED

ROME, Nov. 19 (AP)—A chartered Swedish freighter plane carrying 30 persons, including 20 Swedish Military Airmen, crashed today in the mountains near Salerno and Swedish diplomatic sources said 20 persons were killed.

The plane was en route home from Addis Ababa, where the 20 military men and four others had delivered a group of B-17 planes sold by Sweden to Ethiopia.

The Swedish Foreign Office in Stockholm announced the death toll, adding that 10 were injured. The military airmen on board were four captains, nine lieutenants, three non-commissioned officers, two mechanics, one electrician and a maintenance engineer.

ALL SWEDES

An official of the plane's owner, the Traffic-Tourist-Transport Company of Stockholm, said the plane also carried six other persons and a crew of four.

"As far as we know," he said, "all were Swedes."

Col. Ingvar Berg, leader of the Swedish Ferry Squadron, was not aboard.

The flag at the Swedish Legation was dropped to half staff and a representative left the scene.

The United States Consulate at Naples said 19 were dead and that five of the injured were in serious condition.

The Italian Red Cross and firemen went to the wreckage.

Some of the dead were declared mutilated beyond recognition.

The plane was a Swedish Bristol freighter, owned by the Traffic-Tourist-Transport Company of Stockholm, Swedish authorities in Stockholm said. It was chartered to return the Swedish Military fliers from Africa. All the fliers were officers of the Swedish Air Force. They had left Sweden Oct. 30.

MAN FOUND DEAD WAS SEEKING MISSING WIFE

NANAIMO, B.C., Nov. 19 (CP)—Police disclosed today that Henry H. Phillippsen, found dead in his automobile near Alberni, B.C., Tuesday, was in search of his missing British war bride who disappeared from her Black Creek home Sunday.

He was in Nanaimo Monday when he asked police to start search for his 27-year-old wife, Margaret.

Phillippsen's body was found in his parked car, and he was believed a victim of monoxide poisoning. An autopsy has been ordered. In the car was a scored-off list of hotels presumably used in the search for his wife.

He told police here that his wife was wearing a three-quarter length, dark cloth coat over a blue suit. She has shoulder-length dark brown hair.

Blum Agrees to Try New Gov't

By ROBERT EUNSON

PARIS, Nov. 19 (AP) — Leon Blum, veteran Socialist statesman, has agreed to try to form a new government, a Socialist spokesman announced today as France writhed in the grip of spreading Communist-led strikes.

Military trucks rushed flour to Paris to assure the capital of its bread supply, endangered by a millers' walkout. All France's 114,000 coal miners were on strike. Mediterranean ports were tied up by transport walkouts. The nationalized automobile industry was paralyzed by work stoppages. All sought increased pay. The Government of Socialist Premier Paul Ramadier was the target of he concerted attack.

Informed sources said Paul Reynaud, Independent who was the last Premier of the Third Republic, had given up his effort to form a cabinet because he could not muster sufficient Socialist strength without alienating sectors of the extreme right needed for his voting strength in the National Assembly.

The announcement of Blum's decision was made by Guy Mollet, Secretary-General of the Socialist party. He declared that France had permitted herself to be divided into two groups and that if Civil War should come, it would be "as bad as it was in Spain."

"The aim of the Leon Blum Government will be to safeguard Republican institutions in order to avoid civil war, whatever may be the risks," Mollet said.

ALL SOCIALISTS?

He added in answer to questions that Blum's cabinet might be all Socialists, but did not elaborate.

Blum, 75-year-old veteran statesman, formed a caretaker coalition government of all Socialists last December during the transition to the Fourth Republic, after unsuccessfully trying to bring in the Communists. He served as Premier and President until the middle of last January, when Vincent Auriol, a Socialist, was elected President.

Heels were first used on low shoes in 1862.

CONFIDENCE IN DALTON

LONDON, Nov. 19 (Reuters) — Prime Minister Attlee attended a Parliamentary Labor Party meeting in the House of Commons today to hear Hugh Dalton, former Chancellor of the Exchequer, give his own account of the budget leakage which led to his resignation.

After Dalton had addressed the meetin, the members unanimously passed a resolution placing on record "its full confidence in Hugh Dalton and assuring him of the high regard in which he is held by his Party colleagues."

However, after the meeting it was learned that the Government intends to introduce a motion in Parliament for debate this week, probably tomorrow, calling for appointment of a select Committee to inquire into the circumstances of the leak, which Dalton made to the accredited Parliamentary correspondent of the London Evening Star a few minutes before he addressed the House a week ago.

KIMBERLEY, B.C., Nov. 19 — With both Kneeshaw and Quigley playing good games in the opposing nets, Kimberley Dynamiters tonight made it three wins in four games played against Spokane Spartans. Kneeshaw in particular made some great saves and only his brilliant work between the posts prevented the score from being much larger.

McLellan opened the scoring for Spokes on a pass from Nadeau 8:15. Kimberley evened it up one minute and 10 seconds later on a goal by Sullivan assisted by Swaney. At the 15:06 mark Dynamiters went up on a goal by Hryciuk with Millor and Swaney getting assists. In this period Kneeshaw was kept busy by the Sullivan, Sanderson, Calles line who showed some nice passing.

ONE PENALTY

Ursaki got the only penalty of the game for slashing.

Spokane with the Ursaki, Petrucci, McLellan line showing up well and Sammy Quigley some interesting moments in the Dynamiter nets in the second period. Kimberley went ahead 3-1 on Sam Calles' goal from Sanderson at 3:21, but Ursaki's goal from McLellan at 7:10 kept the Spartans within striking distance. However at 12:23 Dynamiters went ahead 4-2 with Buzz Mellor sinking a shot on a passout from Bill Hryciuk, with Frank Sullivan also getting an assist.

Ezinicki Check Perfectly Legal Hales Campbell

By W. R. WHEATLEY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

MONTREAL, Nov. 19 (CP)—Wild Bill Ezinicki of Toronto Maple Leafs was exonerated by President Clarence Campbell of the National Hockey League today in the latter's report of his investigation into charges by New York Rangers that Ezinicki was deliberately rough in his body check which 11 days ago resulted in a slight concussion to Ranger Edgar Laprade.

The N.H.L. prexy's investigation followed receipt of a formal wire of protest against Ezinicki's play from Frank Boucher, Manager-Coach of the New York Rangers after the Nov. 8 game between Leafs and Rangers in which Laprade was hurt.

The President's statement made no mention of a request by Manager Conn Smythe of the Leafs that Boucher be fined for action not in the best interests of the League, and his statement by implication ruled this out.

ISSUES VERDICT

Mr. Campbell summoned the referee and linesmen who worked the game, viewed the motion pictures of the Nov. 8 play and then, early today, issued his verdict:

"The investigation shows there was no indication of a deliberate injury to opponents by Ezinicki as charged by Boucher," said Mr. Campbell.

"Reports of the officials show that the check by Ezinicki to Edgar Laprade was perfectly legal and not a charge. The injury to Laprade was caused by Ezinicki's stick but with Laprade striking the ice as he fell."

Thus was the hard-thumping, always-boring Ezinicki put in the clear for his never-say-die type of play, particularly on the night of Nov. 8 when the injury to Laprade and Boucher's subsequent protest had the Winnipeg golfing hockeyist in the limelight as a so-called bad-man of the icelanes.

The officials of the Toronto-New York game, Referee George Gravel and Linesman Ray Getliffe and Sib-Mundey, reported to President Campbell as soon as they could after Boucher's charges were laid by telegram.

After listening to them, Campbell viewed moving pictures of the game. He said the pictures substantiated the report of his officials.

Open Bout Probe

By MURRAY ROSE

NEW YORK, Nov. 19 (AP)—The District Attorney's office started its investigation of the Jake Lamotta-Billy Fox fight today by questioning Bobby Gleason, former ring second for the Bronx Bull.

Gleason, manager of former lightweight Champion Phil Terranova, is a well known second and has a gymnasium in the Bronx where Lamotta usually trains.

Fox was not in the middleweight boxer's corner Friday night in Madison Square Garden when Lamotta was stopped for the first time in his pro career. Referee Frank Fullam halted the bout after 2:26 of the fourth round of the 10-rounder while Lamotta was being pummelled. In losing, Lamotta maintained his record of never having been floored.

The District Attorney's office kept mum on what happened today, merely announcing that Gleason was questioned.

Meanwhile the State Athletic Commission was conducting its own inquiry of the fight, the strange betting tions of the odds and the "fix" rumors that swept through boxing circles the day of the match.

PATERSON DONS CROWN AGAIN

LONDON, Nov. 19 (AP)—Stewards of the British Boxing Board of Control, who recently deprived Jackie Paterson of his world flyweight title, announced tonight they have rescinded their decision and will recognize the Glasgow fighter as the champion.

The Board also restored Paterson's British and Empire crowns. He was stripped of all three titles July 30 for failure to defend his world championship against Dado Marino of Honolulu July 16.

Philip an Ace Performer

By BILL MACKLIN

LONDON, Nov. 19 (AP) — Lieut. Philip Mountbatten will be a first string addition to the sporting team of the Royal House which he joins tomorrow by his marriage to Princess Elizabeth.

A six-footer with an athletic build, Philip won honors as a sportsman in school and has the ability to keep up with the reputations of his father-in-law and his royal uncles.

At his school, Cheam, he set a record for boys under 12 years old by high jumping three feet, 10¼ inches. He was on the school cricket and field hockey teams and won the school diving championship.

He likes yachting and sailed his own boat to the Orkney Islands before he was 18.

He was an instructor in swimming and played cricket and soccer for the camp team from Corsham, where he was stationed until last week with the Royal Navy.

Philip also has a fondness for speed. He drove his own sports roadster from Corsham to London to court the Princess and once, driving alone, went off the highway at high speed.

SHARP WITH DARTS

Many an Englishman has found out at the expense of a pint of beer that Philip is a sharpshooter at darts. He also plays "skittles," a game something akin to bowling.

As the husband of Princess Elizabeth, Philip probably will become a turf fan. She is a racing enthusiast, received a yearling filly as a wedding present and is expected to register her own colors.

With all his sporting prowess, Philip will have to go some to match the pace of the royal family. The King is a crack shot and his favorite sport is hunting ducks and upland game birds. As Duke of York, the King excelled at tennis and competed in the Wimbledon championships of 1926.

The Duke of Windsor was the family's star golfer. He won the captain's prize at the Sunningdale course in 1930 and has scored several holes in one.

Both the Duke of Windsor and his younger brother, the Duke of Gloucester, are horsemen. The Duke of Windsor won several point-to-point steeplechases when heir to the throne.

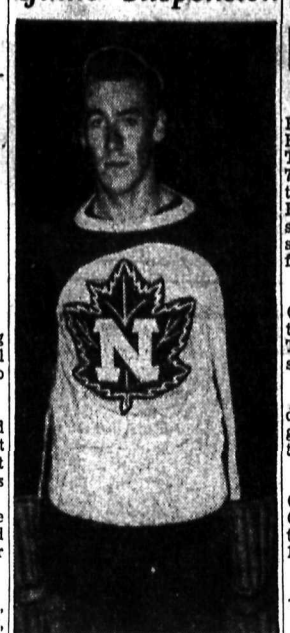
Game Suspension



DENNY HUDDLESTON

Denny Huddleston, Nelson Maple Leaf defenceman, won't be in uniform Saturday night when Kimberley Dynamiters play here. The six-foot rearguard received a one-game suspension for his part in the argument that occurred when Jesse Seaby was injured during play around the goal in the game against Spokane here Saturday. Protesting the delay in blowing of the whistle to stop play, Huddleston made vigorous protest, drawing a 10-minute misconduct penalty, then was given a match penalty when he roughed up Referee George Sparrow.

The suspension was given because the defenceman had molested an official, League President W. A. Duckworth said Wednesday. A firm stand had to be taken to protect ice officials, he said, and League protection for the referees would continue.

The offence was the second in the Western International League this season for Huddleston, who was given a match penalty in Spokane early this month by Spokane Referee Galipeau, who charged the Nelsonite struck him during a melee.

Officials were hard to obtain, Mr. Duckworth said, in emphasizing the necessity for protecting the referees.

Referee Sparrow, following the incident Saturday night, said he had not realized Seaby was injured, for the goalie had his back to him, and he was watching the play closely. At the time, Spokane had made a play into the Nelson net zone, but was fighting to retain possession of the puck behind the net at the time Seaby went down with a badly cut eye. The rule book states that in event of injury of anyone on the defending side, the whistle must be held until the opposing side has completed its play on the goal.

Farmers' Strike Threatened if Demands Not Met

SASKATOON, Nov. 19 (CP) — Threat of a new non-delivery strike of grain by farmers loomed today on the Western horizon following a warning last night by Carl Stimpfle, President of the Alberta Farmers' Union, that unless certain conditions were met by the Federal Government he would recommend such action to the Union at its Edmonton convention Dec. 22.

Alternative to a Federally-appointed National Grain Marketing Board for farmers and elimination of the Winnipeg Grain Exchange was organization for next year of a non-delivery strike of grain alone, he told a meeting of the United Farmers of Canada, Saskatchewan section.

It was feasible only to have a non-delivery strike of grain as there were too many "headaches" connected with halting deliveries of other farm commodities, he said.

An estimated 50,000 Western farmers last year suspended deliveries of agricultural produce between Sept. 6 and Oct. 7 as they sought parity between farm costs and returns.

Mr. Stimpfle said he did not like strikes, but in a society organized as today, the farmer had no alternative but to get together and use the same weapon recognized by the society as legitimate for organized labor to use to enforce just demands.

The responsibility for the strike last year was thrown on the Union's membership, Mr. Stimpfle said. A ballot taken then showed 88 per cent of the farmers wanted the strike. A recent ballot showed that only two farmers out of 21,000 who voted wanted the Winnipeg Grain Exchange kept open.

496 M.P.H. Flight Sets Record

LONDON, Nov. 19 (Reuters) — Group Capt. John Cunningham's speed of 496.88 miles an hour in a DeHaviland Vampire jet fighter plane over a 100-kilometre (about 60 miles) course at Lympne, Kent, Aug. 31, has been recognized as an international record by the Federation Aeronautique Internationale, the Royal Aero Club announced today.

Feels Butter Requirements Will Be Met

VANCOUVER, B.C., Nov. 19—R. C. Smellie, President of the National Dairy Council of Canada, told the Washington State Dairy Associations at a meeting here today, that despite the tremendous increase in consumption since the end of rationing, he was confident that the Canadian dairy industry would be able to meet all normal butter requirements during the Winter months. He said that in all the present controversy over higher prices for dairy products, consumers should not forget that low wartime prices were possible only because large sums of money had been paid out by the Government in the way of producer and consumer subsidies. The speaker said that withdrawal of these Government payments and higher production costs had necessitated the readjustment of price levels, and that present and future prices were largely in the hands of consumers. Although in accordance with the Government's decision, prices were now determined by supply and demand, profits to the industry were not abnormal, said Mr. Smellie. He pointed out that in October consumers bought nearly four million pounds more butter than in the same month last year. "Fortunately, however, the open fall months and higher prices to dairy farmers has resulted in a substantial increase in production, and apart from temporary local shortages in the late Spring, Canadians should have no difficulty in buying all the butter they need," he stated.

"Canadians are among the world's largest users of milk and milk products. The average consumption of butter in the peak year was 33 pounds for every man, women and child, and that was more than double the average United States consumption. All this butter was produced and consumed in Canada, and accounted for nearly one half of our total milk production." These were reasons why butter production and distribution were important in the Canadian national economy.

The very fact that dairy products were an essential food, placed an obligation on everyone connected with the industry to make its products available at the lowest prices consistent with high quality and good business practices, said Mr. Smellie. Over the years the industry had demonstrated its ability and efficiency in meeting ever-growing demands of Canadians for all dairy products, and, he felt, would continue to do so.

Elizabeth's Wedding Gown And Her Bridesmaids Dresses

Here is the first picture of what Princess Elizabeth's wedding gown will look like. On the right is one of the bridesmaid's dresses. Both dresses were designed by Norman Hartnell. The wedding gown is a princess gown of ivory duchess satin cut on classic lines with fitted bodice, long tight sleeves and full falling skirt. The broad heart-shaped neckline of the bodice is embroidered delicately with seed pearls and crystal in a floral design from the pointed waistline formed by a girdle of pearl embroidered star flowers, the swirling skirt is gloriously hand-embroidered in an exquisite design inspired by paintings of Botticelli, representing garlands of white York roses carried out in raised pearls entwined with ears of corn minutely embroidered on crystals and oat-shaped pearls. Alternating between the garlands of roses and wheat and forming a final border around the entire hem of the skirt, are bands of orange blossom and star flowers applique with transparent tulle bordered with seed pearls and crystal. A full court train, 15 feet long, of transparent ivory silk tulle attached to the shoulders, is edged with graduated satin flowers, finally forming the deep border at the end of the fan-shaped train. A reversed type of embroidery, as used on the wedding gown, is employed on the train by the use of applique satin star flowers, roses and wheat further encrusted with pearl and crystal embroideries. An ethereal voluminous bridal veil of crisp white tulle is held by a tiara of pearls and diamonds. The bridesmaid's dress, right, is a diaphanous gown of ivory silk tulle, inspired by the pictures of Winter-Halter Tuxen and other celebrated paintings at Buckingham Palace. It is designed for each of the eight bridesmaids. The tight-fitting bodice of gathered Tulle is shirred down the centre front, and the shoulders are swathed with a deep fichu of pearl spotted with tulle bordered with a delicate trail of applique white satin syringa. The bouffant Victorian skirt of billowing white tulle is scattered with clusters of syringa flowers in applique satin, embroidered especially to repeat a similar effect to the embroidery of the bridal train.

Market Trends

NEW YORK (AP) — Stocks ex- tended their bounce from recent lows completing the fifth successive session without a setback.

MONTREAL (CP) — Papers as- sumed bullish proportions as many of them posted gains of a point or more on expanded turnover. Mines were comparatively quiet and se- lected issues were easier.

TORONTO (CP)—Losses outnum- bered gains by five to one in the gold list in a complete reversal of yesterday's trend with volume down to the level set in the last few weeks of trading. Industrials were raised on a strong newsprint list and weak utilities and steels.

LONDON (Reuters)—Led by an early rally in kaffirs, a better tone prevailed.

CHICAGO (AP) — Feed grains were in demand and prices moved up moderately in all deliveries with the exception of the nearby wheat contracts.

WINNIPEG (CP)—About 700,000 bushels of wheat were allocated to the United Kingdom.

VANCOUVER (CP)—Mines con- tinued to trade heavily but did not establish any definite trend. Oils slipped slightly while industrials edged forward.

DOW JONES AVERAGES
30 industrials—182.17, up .46.
20 rails—48.04, up .26.

"Oft in the stilly night
Ere slumber's chain has bound me"

Makes very good reading but it is no fun to lie awake hour after hour shuddering at the recollection of sins committed, of errors in judgment, of fancied wrongs and magnified troubles.

It may only be the result of an unwise or excessive quantity of food or beverage before retiring, or possibly a fatigue from over-work or worry. It may only be a temporary condition BUT it may also be a forerunner of something serious.

Do not resort to harmful or habit-forming drugs. Consult your physician at once and with the help of some of the new and modern chemical combinations he will show you the way to a happy, normal period of rest. And, by the way, don't forget to bring your prescription to

The Oder and Rhine Rivers flow through some of Germany's richest industrial and farming areas.

About 250 people are killed and about $10,000,000 worth of property is damaged by tornadoes which occur in the United States each year.

As early as 1909 the United States and Germany had the anti-aircraft guns.
