

First Veterans Get Keys to New Homes Here

Nine Houses of 50-Building Project Opened to Occupants After Public Ceremony; Need for 25 More Claimed

Mr. and Mrs. Jack G. P. Greenwood and their two-year-old son Barry entered a brand new house on DeLoraine Street Tuesday afternoon, to be the first of Nelson's veterans' families to take over one of the 50 Wartime Houses under construction here.

A large gathering thrilled with the Greenwoods as they trooped in to inspect the gleaming interior of the new home.

The key to the house was presented to Mr. Greenwood, Air Force veteran, by Mayor T. H. Waters, after brief remarks by C. A. Cattell, Administrator for Wartime Houses, and S. J. Newell, President of the Canadian Legion.

Eight other homes are ready for immediate occupancy and others will be in rapid order.

Symbol of U.S. Industrial Genius... FORD DEATH RAISES SPECULATION ON EFFECT ON GIANT INDUSTRY

DETROIT, April 8 (AP) — The United States today mourned the passing of Henry Ford, a symbol to all the world of American industrial genius.

Hailed by his cohorts as the father of mass production, he died quietly of a cerebral hemorrhage late Monday. He would have been 84 next July 30.

By chance, a flood had converted his modern home at the time of his death into a fireproofed, kerosene lamp-lit building, strangely reminiscent of the quiet world of his birth.

His body will lie in state Wednesday in Greenfield village, not far from the little red brick building memorialized as the home of his first crude horseless carriage.

A public funeral service will be held Thursday at St. Paul's Episcopal Cathedral on Detroit's Woodward Avenue, the street which echoed the startling sound of his first automobile half a century ago.

He will be buried beside his mother and father at a private ceremony in the little Addison Ford Cemetery near Greenfield village.

As news of his death flashed around the world, speculation arose as to its effect on the $200,000,000 industry he founded with a $28,000 investment in 1903.

Industry circles concede that his passing will have little effect on the Ford Motor Co. since it has been firmly managed by 29-year-old Henry Ford II, who took the reins from his aging grandfather in 1945.

MARRIED 59 YEARS It was assumed the elder Ford's personal fortune of upwards of $200,000,000 will go to his widow, Clara Bryant Ford, who was with him when he died. They were to have celebrated their 59th wedding anniversary and her 80th birthday Friday.

paid him $2.50 a week, less than his room and board. So he augmented it by working nights.

From the time young Ford took a reporter with him for a ride in his first gasoline-buggy, he remained a newsboy and controversial figure, his fame gradually spreading.

Among many high points in his life were his successful battle in the Seiden patent suit in 1911 which thrust his introduction into the auto industry; his introduction in 1914 of the unheard-of $5-a-day minimum; his 1915 peace trip to Europe in a futile attempt to halt World War I; and his post-war battles with Wall Street for outright control of the Ford Company.

DETROIT, April 8 (AP)—Henry Ford II, whose grandfather died Monday, stands alone today at the age of 29 atop one of the largest industries in the United States.

As head of the Ford Motor Co., he had the advantage of personal tutelage from the 84-year-old Henry Ford before he died.

With the Ford Motor Co. since 1941, he began at humble jobs but left to join the United States Navy. He was released as a Lieutenant-Commander upon the death in 1943 of his father, Edsel, then head of the company.

Henry Ford returned from retirement to direct the wartime activity of the company and young Henry became executive vice-president under him in 1944.

With the end of the war, the grandfather turned over the presidency to the grandson who has actively directed the industry since.

FIND OF LONG SOUGHT AGED COLLYER

Man Was Caught In One of His Own Booby Traps GNAWED BY RATS

NEW YORK, April 8 (AP)—The body of 81-year-old Langley Collyer was found today in his dilapidated Fifth Avenue house, in one of his own booby traps, his feet and legs gnawed by rats.

The body was found in the same room where his blind brother, Homer, 65, was found dead of a heart attack March 21. Police had removed more than 100 tons of junk from the ancient house where the brothers lived in seclusion since 1909.

Detectives said that the fact his limbs had been gnawed by rats indicated that he must have died before Homer. The hunt for him had spread through nine states, while his body ironically lay within a few feet of that of his blind brother to whom he had devoted his life.

The position of Langley's body, detectives explained, left no doubt that he was burrowing through one of the tunnels which made his house a labyrinth when the debris collapsed around him.

MYSTERIES UNSOLVED The discovery of the body ended the amazing legend of the Collyer brothers but it left many questions unanswered.

Neither brother ever had explained why, despite education, wealth and fine family background, they turned their backs on the world nearly four decades ago and barricaded themselves in the house, once a fashionable Upper Manhattan residence.

A minor mystery which intrigued police searchers was the identity of the telephone caller who touched off the original search of the Collyer home March 21 when he told police he had seen Homer's body in the old brownstone house.

Perhaps the most baffling mystery about the brothers was their motive in accumulating an extraordinary collection of junk which literally filled every room of their three-story brownstone house from floor to ceiling.

The items ranged from grand pianos—more than a dozen of them—to an antique auto, yellowed newspapers and advertising posters, and the jawbone of a horse.

UNDER A FEET OF DEBRIS Detectives who found Langley's body said it was covered by a four-foot layer of debris. An old-fashioned suitcase rested directly on his body; there also were bed stands, metal screens, boxes and cartons of paper in the collapsed trap.

Langley Collyer was a furtive little man who wore gaiters and other appurtenances of a gentleman of the 1880s. He frequently made nocturnal walks of 10 miles or more to Brooklyn to buy food for his brother.

Although the brothers' wealth was estimated at more than $100,000 by their lawyer, Langley often begged scraps of food from neighborhood stores and he declined to pay income taxes.

Always afraid of intruders, Langley had arranged the debris which filled the house in an ingenious maze so that it was necessary to proceed through most of the rooms on hands and knees. A false move brought a pile of debris down on the unwary searcher.

But one of his traps worked too well.

Man-Made Snowfall

This is the snowfall, turning to rain (center), that Col. E. S. Ellison, Portland, Ore., weatherman, said he produced by sowing dry ice pellets from an airplane above the clouds. Increase Prices Of Jams, Jellies And Marmalade

OTTAWA, April 8 (CP) — The breakfast table took another jolt from rising living costs today with a Prices Board announcement that a 10 per cent increase has been authorized — effective at once — in the maximum price of jams, jellies and marmalades.

The announcement said the move followed a Board survey of the financial position of the manufacturers of these articles, and the adjustment was necessary to offset the increased costs of labor, sugar, containers, pectin and other materials.

In the more popular types of jam the increase to the consumer per 24 fluid ounce container will be: Six cents for No. 1 strawberry and raspberry jam and Nos. 1 and 2 cherry jam; five cents for No. 2 strawberry and raspberry; four cents for No. 1 peach jam and three cents for No. 2 peach jam and Nos. 1 and 2 plum jam. Jelly and marmalade prices will increase by approximately the same amount, according to grade, officials said.

Present prices vary across Canada according to district, but average about 30 to 40 cents for a 24-ounce container of jam and 28-35 cents for the same amount of marmalade.

26 PERISH IN CRASH

CARACAS, Venezuela, April 8 (AP)—An Aeropostal Venezuela two-engine plane crashed in a mountainous region 25 miles East of here today, killing all 26 persons aboard, 21 of them high school students and three professors.

Police officials from the town of Guatire, near the scene, located the wreckage about seven hours after the crash and reported the bodies of the two crew members and the 24 passengers had been destroyed by fire.

WOMAN SANE

TRIESTE, April 8 (AP)—A three-man medical committee reported today that Maria Pasquellini, who shot British Brigadier R. W. M. De Winton to death at Pola Feb. 2, was sane. The shooting occurred on the day that Italy signed the peace treaty at Paris. The woman's trial by an Allied court had been interrupted for the examination.

Canada One of Big Three at Trade Conference

GENEVA, April 8 (CP)—Delegates to the international trade conference—where Canada, Britain and the United States will form the "Big Three"—are gathering here for the opening of the vital meeting Thursday.

Technically, the conference is the second meeting of the Preparatory Committee working to establish an international trade organization which will be a specialized organ within the United Nations. The Geneva meeting will try to decide on a charter and hopes also to bring about far-reaching tariff agreements among the committee's 18 members. These members are responsible for three-fifths of the world's trade.

By JOHN RODERICK HSINGHO, China, April 8 (AP)—The story of how a small band of U.S. Marines foiled a well-planned attempt by Chinese Communists to destroy a big ammunition dump last Saturday was unfolded here today.

Only a small section of the depot was fired by the Communists. Witnesses said it exploded with a great burst of orange light and a thundering roar that smashed windows for five miles around.

As the first U.S. newspaperman to reach this village of mud huts West of Tientsin, I learned how the Marines overcame superior numbers in a brief but furious battle which cost the lives of five of the Americans. Sixteen others were wounded. Of the 14 still in hospital one is in critical condition, the other 13 are making "encouraging progress."

Six Communists were left dead and many of their comrades fled along a blood-spattered route across the Chinchung River, eight miles to the North. A seventh Chinese—a non-participant—was killed by a stray bullet.

FIFTH COLUMN Funeral services for the five dead Marines will be held Wednesday. The Reds struck with the advance of what is suspected here of being a fifth column, since they knew in advance some of the secrets of marine communications and cut two buried phone cables.

Their apparent objective: Destruction of all the ammunition which couldn't be carried away.

Ontario River Swells To Record Flood Peak

GOOD PROGRESS IN LONG DISTANCE TALKS

Union Head Fails To Share Hope of Gov't Conciliator

"UP TO COMPANY"

WASHINGTON, April 9 (Wednesday) (AP) — Non-stop Government efforts to break the United States telephone strike deadlock continued past midnight tonight with an air of hopefulness that the basis for settlement was within reach.

Efforts centred here on talks with officials of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company and of the Long Distance Workers' Union.

WASHINGTON, April 8 (AP)—More weary hours of negotiation failed today to end the United States telephone strike and a union leader said he does not share the optimism of a Government conciliator.

Peter Manno, of the Labor Department's Conciliation Service, said there might be a settlement today in the long-distance phase of the dispute.

To this J. A. Beirne, President of the National Federation of Telephone Workers, replied: "While that is refreshing, so far the results are nil."

John J. Moran, President of the American Union of Telephone Workers, and N.F.T.W.U. affiliate, said any prompt settlement even of the part of the dispute affecting long-distance calls is "up to the company."

These calls have been the hardest hit in this second day of the first cross-country strike of telephone workers.

The Manno-Moran statements were made to reporters as Moran's union resumed negotiations with the American Telephone and Telegraph Company's long-distance division.

"GOOD PROGRESS" "Good progress" in the long-distance talks had been reported earlier by Edgar Warren, head of the Labor Department's Conciliation Service. A settlement in the long-distance division a year ago was followed by an agreement covering the entire industry.

However, even if agreement were quickly reached on the long distance part, this would not necessarily mean that the whole strike of end-of-the-line workers would end immediately.

Involved along with A.T. & T.'s long lines division is the Southwest Bell Telephone Company, largest of the Bell system units, and others over the country.

Here and there, local unions broke the generally solid front. Specially members of the Empire State telephone workers, an independent union, and its affiliates, are asking a $12 pay boost in weekly salaries the Government says now average out at $43.19.

Chatham Folk Gather to Watch Rising Waters; England Calls in Dutch Experts; Gales Lash Ships

By GEORGE RONALDS Canadian Press Staff Writer CHATHAM, Ont., April 9 (Wednesday) (CP)—The flood-swollen Thames River early today reached a record high at this community of 17,000 persons but the rise appeared to have been checked.

The flood peak of 20 feet four inches above Summer normal, set in the great floods of 1937, was equalled a few minutes before midnight and the torrent surging towards the river mouth in Lake St. Clair 18 miles West of her continued unabated. But the rate of its rise had slackened perceptibly during the evening. Early today it had risen slightly above the 1937 record.

Although the river's level was almost imperceptibly going higher early Wednesday, officials believed the worst was over. The crest of the flood had moved irresistibly down the winding river course from North-east of London since Sunday.

Worst conditions in the city were on Thames Street just North of the Fifth Street bridge in the heart of Chatham. Vehicles stalled in 18 inches of water and a complete tie-up seemed imminent.

FARMLANDS UNDER WATER City Manager T. M. Kingston said he was certain the flood peak would have passed shortly. He called damage so far mostly of the "nuisance" type and although declining to estimate the loss, said he believed it would not be excessive.

But even the long-awaited job of "cleaning-up" was not in sight yet as residents anxiously awaited word that the flood crest had reached Chatham.

The Thames, one of Ontario's largest rivers, rises Northeast of London, Ont., and winds a tortuous path West by South towards its mouth at Lake St. Clair, 18 miles West of here. The flood peak was reached at London, 70 miles upriver, early Sunday, with the water receding after coming within inches of the tops of breakwaters that had been made higher since 1937.

Once past Chatham the river's crest will surge through low, flat farmlands. In the last 18 miles the river drops only about four feet and farmers in the rest of the peninsula between Lake Erie and Lake St. Clair faced prospect of further inundation of land that is already transformed into vast lakes by flood waters from the Thames and smaller streams.

The river had already taken one life in the Chatham area—17-year-old Frank Jubenville drowned near his Dover Township farm home—and officials cautioned against use of roads dangerously near the washout stage.

Downtown Chatham was jammed tonight and flood talk was almost the only talk. But despite the seriousness of the situation, there was a kind of holiday air about the crowds which roamed the main streets, gathered at the two main bridges and exchanged the latest rumors.

But for some, the flood was more than merely "interesting." Downtown storekeepers kept staffs busy hoisting stock as far as possible above the expected peak.

At the city's two largest hospitals, heating units were threatened. Dark water swirled around the boiler room at the Public General Hospital and there was a much-feared possibility that heat would be cut off from maternity wards. City employees were standing by with emergency pumps.

DUTCH TO HELP IN CLOSING RIVER TRENT GAP LONDON, April 8 (Reuters) — Men are working in deep, dragging mud, and many casualties from sheer exhaustion have been reported.

In the face of this huge task, Dr. Johannes Ringers, Holland's foremost hydraulic engineer, inspected a huge, yawning gap in the banks of the fen River Trent while a 60-mile-an-hour gale piled up heavy breakers on the sea between the two countries and held up transportation of the first of three giant floating Dutch cranes to be used by Dr. Ringers.

Mrs. Dick Accused in Jail Break Attempt

HAMILTON, April 8 (CP)—Mrs. Evelyn Dick, under sentence of life imprisonment for the manslaughter of her illegitimate son, today was accused of complicity in an attempt of three women to break out of Barton Street Jail last week.

"It wasn't just the three of us—Evelyn Dick was in on it too," said blonde, 19-year-old Florence Arnott, one of the three accused of attempting to break jail and committing an assault on the jail matron, Miss Arnott testified in her own defence in court.

"I thought I heard Evelyn Dick's boyfriend mentioned for help in a break—he would be waiting outside," said one witness, Olive Stewart, who testified at the court appearance of Miss Arnott, Evelyn Hamilton and Helen Rea.

Miss Arnott said: "Our plans were made but nothing came of it. It was supposed to be Evelyn Dick's job to get the keys. We didn't exactly plan to escape. We didn't exactly like Mrs. Andrews, her sarcasm, the way she treated us."

Mrs. Sadie Andrews, the matron, suffered bruises when knocked to the floor during the alleged attempted escape.

All three accused were found guilty and sentenced to 12 months in indefinite sentences to run consecutive to terms they now are serving.

Alderman Wallach New Manager For U.I.C. and N.E.S. at Nelson

Alderman George C. Wallach has succeeded J. S. Livingstone as Manager of the Nelson office of the Unemployment Insurance Commission and National Employment Service. This was announced Tuesday by W. G. Stone, Travelling Supervisor of the Unemployment Insurance Commission, who has temporarily been in charge of the office. Mr. Livingstone recently resigned to enter the lumber business.

Ald. Wallach, who has been Veterans Officer for a couple of years, was a successful candidate in Regional examinations. Mr. Stone said W. Williams, assistant to Ald. Wallach while Veterans Officer, will carry on work in the veterans' section of the office. John Robb will continue in charge of the employment section, while C. H. Higgins is to remain in charge of the insurance section.

Mr. Stone said he was asking that the same cooperation be extended to Ald. Wallach on matters affecting unemployment insurance or employment, as had been extended to himself while in temporary charge during the past month.

3 1/2-MILE BEACH 'BRISTLES WITH DEATH'

MUNDESBLEY, England, April 8 (Reuters) — A 3 1/2-mile strip of cliffs here "bristle with sudden death"—1065 land mines primed to go off at the slightest touch—Police Superintendent W. Garner told an inquest today. He gave evidence on the death of George Johnson, 41-year-old mechanic, who was killed last Saturday when he stepped on a mine.

Johnson's body, although it could be seen, could not be recovered for some time because of the minefield laid during the war as an anti-invasion precaution along this Norfolk stretch of beach.

"Don't encourage it, John—remember we sold our lawnmower with a News Want Ad!"

Mount St. Francis To Compensate Old Age for Its Disadvantages Says Bishop Johnson in Radio Talk

Portraying the trials facing pioneers in their declining years and outlining policies to be practised in realizing Mount St. Francis home for the aged, Most. Rev. Martin M. Johnson, D.D., Bishop of Nelson, issued a stirring appeal over station CKLN Tuesday night for support in the current campaign for funds. His talk was first in a series to be given this month by prominent Nelson citizens.

"Someone once wisely said 'We all like to live a long time yet no one likes to grow old.'" Growing old has its disadvantages. Health is generally not good. The old body is not what it used to be. Pains and aches are in constant attention. Boon companions have long passed from the health of friendship," Bishop Johnson said.

"Oldtimers, you have been superceded, perhaps shelved, by youth, strength and vigor. Resources are slim. If there are not warm hearts and generous children to support you the outlook is indeed drab. You are likely to be called a nuisance and must seek relief away from humanity. Alone and away from a busy world, away from all who are absorbed in their own worries and problems, you may look ahead to a few years of life but a life so vastly different from the years that rushed by you so quickly," he emphasized.

"Mount St. Francis will be operated and managed in the sound way as the other institutions of this Sisterhood such as Mount St. Mary's in Victoria and St. Martin's Hospital in Oliver. Each of these institutions has a Board of Management composed of the Sisters and laymen. The laymen represent both the Protestant and Catholic public.

"The Sisters of St. Ann, who operate most successfully a similar institution in Victoria accepted the invitation to staff and operate Mount St. Francis. These Sisters are themselves pioneers in British Columbia, having entered the Province on their errand of mercy and care for the sick in 1850. They know well the mind of the old-timer and the care and comfort to which he is entitled. Their presence is on a pledge of a personal and devoted service.

Each of these institutions has a Board of Management composed of the Sisters and laymen. The laymen represent both the Protestant and Catholic public.

"The Committee of laymen, representatives of various denominations who are promoting this campaign for Mount St. Francis, feel that they are not doing anything extraordinary. They rightly feel that Mount St. Francis will discharge a debt of simple justice. They believe that they owe a great measure of our present happy way of life to these men upon whom the years now weigh heavily," he stated.

"With these public spirited laymen I associate myself not only from a profound sense of duty but also with a profound feeling of pride. For every road and highway reminds me of the manpower the oldtimers expended in blazing trails. Every farm or orchard reminds me of their prodigious labors in clearing land or forest. Every mine I pass recalls their stamina and grit which directly or indirectly led to profitable discoveries. Each town and city owes its origin and destiny to the pioneers who were courageous and far-sighted enough to locate on its soil and wrest the promise of security.

"These prominent laymen, in building a home for the aged pioneers, are exemplifying the Christian virtues we hear so much about but so seldom witness in this atomic age."

"Management and operation of the home, designed to serve aged residents of the entire Kootenay-Boundary District, was also dealt with by Bishop Johnson.

"The Sisters of St. Ann, who operate most successfully a similar institution in Victoria accepted the invitation to staff and operate Mount St. Francis. Says Rooming House Owners Can Not Raise Rents

VANCOUVER, April 8 (CP) — A Prices Board rental official said here today that the rental ceiling increase order referred only to "self contained" accommodation, and that rooming house operators who will have to pay higher rents cannot pass the added expense on to their tenants.

Rooming or boarding house operators will find themselves sandwiched between higher costs and frozen income if this interpretation is sustained.

G. L. Monahan, President of the Apartment and Rooming House Operators' Association, said many landlords would be unwilling to offer a two-year lease because "a good tenant might become an obnoxious tenant as soon as the ink was dry."

A Board officer said that tourist camps now used as housing would be affected by the increase order, but he said that resort hotels and accommodation, apart from cottages used as permanent housing, had been freed from rent control earlier this year.

9-Year-Old Charged in Death Of Playmate

PORT TALBOT, Wales, April 8 (Reuters) — A 9-year-old boy today was charged with the murder of his 4-year-old playmate, Glyn-dwr Owen, whose body was found floating in the River Afan in the mining village of Nanty Bar, near here.

The smaller boy's hands and feet had been tied with laces from his new Easter boots. Miners, searching the river with their miners' lamps, found the child's body only 100 yards from the cottage where he lived.

When charged with the murder in the presence of his father, the 9-year-old said: "I won't do it again." He was remanded for one week in custody.

Glyn-dwr, son of a coal miner, went off yesterday to play with other children. He was proud of his new boots and showed them off to the others. When night came he had not returned home and his father organized a search party.

PREDICTS BUYERS STRIKE

TORONTO, April 8 (CP) — Mrs. Ann Arland, President of the Toronto Housewives' Association, today predicted a "buyers' strike" if prices continue to rise at their present rate.

"We know that when the controls came off that the prices would go sky-high," said Mrs. Arland, commenting on a 10-per cent increase on jams and jellies which became effective today.

Mrs. Arland has just returned from a special housewives' meeting in Winnipeg from which the women hope to form a national organization to take action as "women are up in arms about rent and other things."

B. C. Faced With Shortage of Skilled Labor

VANCOUVER, April 8 (CP) — A warning that British Columbia is faced with a shortage of skilled tradesmen has been issued by William McKinstry, Regional Superintendent of the National Employment Service here, who urged school teachers to convince parents that children should learn trades.

At a panel discussion during the B. C. Teachers' 28th Annual Convention here, Mr. McKinstry said last night, "We have to sell youth on the job of learning trades."

"British Columbia has the finest Apprenticeship Act in North America," he said, "and learning the trades has to be sold to parents through Parent-Teachers Associations and other organizations."

He said there was a marked lack of cooperation between occupations chosen by youngsters and their job and schooling opportunities. Many are entirely unfit for the vocations they have chosen.

Gordon Stevens, Superintendent of the Juvenile Detention Home here, asked for cooperation between school, home and juvenile authorities in pooling information about juvenile delinquency.

"It is a pity," he said, "that with so much training for professional and industrial life there is so little training for the establishment of a well-run home and the bringing up of children as good citizens."

GREEK GOV'T FORCES EVACUATE TWO TOWNS

ATHENS, April 8 (AP) — As one of the first and possibly one of the most decisive acts of his reign, King Paul of Greece was reported today to be prepared to open a mighty offensive sometime this week against Greek guerrilla forces who in the last year have reduced the kingdom almost to a state of chaos.

ATHENS, April 8 (AP) — The Liberal newspaper Vima reported today that Greek Government forces, for "strategic reasons," had evacuated the towns of Avthrinon and Pentalofos situated Southwest of Kastoria near the Albanian frontier.

The paper did not further explain the withdrawal, but declared that terrified residents of the two villages had fled to the nearest towns to seek refuge from guerrilla bands.

Other Athens papers reported that Government troops, carrying out mopping up operations in the region Northwest of Salonika, had slain 100 guerrillas and captured 50.

Y.M.C.C. Dance Aids Work For Young People

Some 300 persons attended the Young Married Couples Club dance at the Civic Centre Monday night. Proceeds will go to purchase of musical instruments for Nelson young people who are unable to buy instruments themselves.

The Club's aim is to develop a children's symphony orchestra, part of its program in reducing juvenile delinquency by providing activity for children. It also seeks to gather young married couples together in the work, and to assist any child in any talent in which he might excel.

For instance, if a boy shows interest in wood work, it is planned to help him find a shop to work in and a Club member to train him.

The Club was organized last January. President is Pat Warpuik and the Secretary Mrs. D. C. Fraser.

Strike of Calgary Printers Feared

CALGARY, April 8 (CP) — A strike of 200 employees of 22 Calgary job and commercial printing establishments loomed as a possibility today. The Calgary Employing Printers' Guild, an association of all but two of the city shops, has offered $1.10 an hour plus pay for three statutory holidays not worked, but the unions are seeking $1.15 an hour. The present wage is $1.06 2-3, with payment for holidays.

The unions have voted unanimously to reject the $1.10 offer and asked for strike permission from union headquarters, it was granted last night.

The three unions involved are the International Typographical Union, the International Printing Pressmen and Assistants' Union, and the International Brotherhood of Bookbinders, all A. F. L.-T. U. C.

The dispute does not involve Calgary newspapers, these being covered by separate contracts.

The Calgary issue is tied up with similar disputes in other Western cities. Wage negotiations are also in progress at Edmonton, Saskatoon, Regina, Moose Jaw and Winnipeg.

Find A. J. Ruelle of Rossland Died Accidentally By Gunshot

ROSSLAND, B. C., April 8 — "Accidental death" on April 4 by gunshot, was the verdict of a coroner's jury which inquired into the death of Archibald Joseph Ruelle, after 10 minutes' deliberation.

The inquest was held Tuesday morning at the City Hall, Dr. E. E. Topf, coroner, presiding. The body was viewed at Carberry Funeral Home, Trail, prior to the hearing.

Mrs. Louise Ruelle was the first witness. She told the jury of the activities in the home on the day of the accident. She said her husband got up about 6 o'clock to fix the fire and dress the two older boys, and she got up about 7 o'clock to get breakfast. Then Mr. Ruelle assisted her in housecleaning during the morning. At noon they had lunch and then he said he was going to the basement to clean his gun.

About 1:45 she called her husband and receiving no answer, she went to the basement for fuel and saw his body. She thought at first that he was ill, and then she saw a pool of blood. She said her husband was in a small room where he kept his gun out of reach of the children. When asked if she heard a report she said she heard no sound. She had lain down on the chestboard to rest, as she had been ill.

Dr. L. B. Winch told of being called by Mrs. Ruelle, who said "Something terrible had happened to her husband." On arriving at the home he found the body in a small room in the basement, face downward, in a crouched position, resting on the knees and face, and a large pool of blood on the floor. Partly beneath him and toward the right side was a .22 rifle and a gun cleaner. On examination he found Mr. Ruelle dead, and turned him

Gets 6 Months With Labor For Entering

A sentence of six months, with hard labor, Tuesday morning was imposed on Elmer Roy Heater, Alberta transient charged with breaking into and entering the Ark store with intent to steal. Heater, appearing before Magistrate William Brown in City Police Court, pleaded guilty.

The man, about 22 years old, had, he said "just broken in." Asked by Magistrate Brown "when he got the idea," he said he was walking by and decided to go in. He had, he testified, too much to drink.

Charges were laid by Deputy Chief Robert Harshaw after a Saturday night police chase when shots were fired after the fleeing suspect. His actions were reported to the police by two teen-aged youths, and he was finally captured by Constable George Finber.

Heater had been in Nelson since February, working for a short time on the veterans housing project and, latterly for a Nelson greenhouse. His home was in Ponoka, Alta., he told the court.

He will serve his term in the Provincial jail at Nelson.

Asks Permission To Build Garage On Vancouver St.

A request from M. S. Arishenoff of Nelson for permission to build a garage facing Vancouver Street was referred to the Public Works Committee by City Council Monday night.

Having been refused a previous application to build on Vancouver Street, Mr. Arishenoff explained that constructing the garage on Innes Street, which slopes at his property, would involve unnecessary ramp expenditure.

VOGUE CIGARETTE PAPERS

Molotov Agrees to Start Frontier Talks

MOSCOW, April 8 (AP)—Foreign Minister Molotov of Russia tonight agreed under Western pressure to halt the long discussions of Big Four disagreements on current German problems and to turn to other matters—the next being the question of German frontiers.

The Ministers will take up the frontier question tomorrow. In a conciliatory move, Molotov agreed to demands by State Secretary Marshall of the United States, Foreign Secretary Bevin of Britain and Foreign Minister Georges Bidault of France to drop from the plans for a German provisional government the Soviet proposal that security powers be vested in a central government.

Bevin led the fight on this. He declared that "the tendency toward creation of a police state would be dangerous."

Earlier, American sources had said that unless the Russians ceased what the Americans called obstructionist tactics the whole Conference would end soon.

These informants said a show-down was taking shape within the Four-Power Council between Foreign Minister Molotov and the Ministers of the Western powers.

The basic issue is whether the four powers must continue the discussions on current German problems, or whether they can go on to frontiers and other matters, with the possibility of eventual agreement on the Austrian treaty.

SUBJECT TALKED OUT

An American official said that the German subject had been talked out and that all views were known. He said nothing new could be said, and that if the Russians were unwilling to go on with other matters, the Conference might as well end.

Russia's proposal to permit Germany to choose by plebiscite the form of her future government was regarded by Western diplomats as an effort to offset insistent Soviet demands for $10,000,000,000 in reparations and thus win the favor of the German people.

The reparations demands, thus far blocked by the three Western members of the Big Four, have created a problem for Russia in German politics and this was regarded by some delegates as the underlying cause for the plebiscite proposal, which was rejected by the Western powers last night.

PUMPING PROPAGANDA INTO GERMANY

American and British sources declared Molotov was using Council meetings to pump Soviet propaganda into Germany, and that his speeches on the future German government were prompted more by a desire to place Russian views before the Germans than in hope of getting an agreement.

The propaganda problem of the Western powers was seen as virtually the opposite of Russians. Western opposition to heavy reparations is found to be popular with the Germans, whereas their insistence on a federalized, or decentralized, German government would require considerable explanation in view of the fact that Russia maintains that this would amount to dismemberment. Molotov has urged a tightly unified, highly centralized government for Germany.

Russ Papers Fail to Print Bevin Declaration

By EDDY GILMORE

MOSCOW, April 8 (AP)—The Russian Press failed to make any mention today of Foreign Secretary Bevin's declaration to his four colleagues last night that "we have been here for four weeks and have accomplished absolutely nothing."

This omission was felt to be most significant in view of the growing uneasiness of the Russian people—especially those in Moscow—concerning the failure of the Council of Foreign Ministers to get anywhere on German problems.

The government newspaper Izvestia devoted more than a page to last night's conference proceedings, but nowhere did it mention Bevin's remark nor refer to it in any way. The omission cannot be without reason.

The lack of progress in the council of Foreign Ministers to date has had a depressing effect of late on the Russian people and there is all kinds of wild talk around Moscow. Among the working people one can always note that there never is any talk about the U. S. S. R. attacking the United States. It's always the other way around.

State Secretary's Marshall's presence here a month now without yet seeing Prime Minister Stalin is a new American record and gives a pretty good indication of the present condition of United States-Soviet surface relations.

Meantime, the departure from New York of Henry A. Wallace for a European tour has roused considerable interest here. Many Russians feel the former Vice-President of the United States represents a growing section of American Liberal opinion and that in him lies a hope for better Soviet-American relations.

Teachers Hear Panel Discussion

VANCOUVER, April 8 (CP)—The 400 delegates attending the 28th annual convention of the British Columbia Teachers' Federation last night heard a panel discussion of hoped-for advances in the teaching profession.

"Life, after all, is all right," said Ida Dilwo, Regional Director of the C.B.C. "So you as teachers realize this?"

"We must learn how to use our leisure time," he said. "Too many of us waste too many hours running around senselessly trying to escape the bugaboo of boredom."

H. L. Campbell, Chief Inspector of Schools, called for a better job of sensitizing youth to economic conditions and for more emphasis to be placed on acquainting youth with their responsibilities.

William McKinstry, Regional Superintendent of the Unemployment Insurance Commission, urged that schools pool their information on the educational records of pupils, making it readily available to unemployment officials. He said they could then fit applicants better to jobs.

Water Runoff Troubles Pester Council

Complaint by N. B. Bradley, 414 Sixth Street, that a stream flowing down Cottonwood Street was cutting through his property, was the signal for discussion of City and Provincial Public Works relations by the City Council Monday night.

Alderman G. C. Wallace, reporting the complaint, said that about six homes were affected by the stream. City workers had attended to it previously but after they had diverted the stream it gradually swept over a larger area. Mr. Wallace also called attention of the Council to the oft-discussed runoff situation in South Nelson. This brought Mayor T. H. Waters into the picture for years to have a South Nelson faulty sewer condition corrected.

Many letters and wires have gone from the Council to Victoria asking the Provincial Government to assume the responsibility.

City Clerk W. A. Gordon joined the discussion Monday night to inform the Council that a new statute recently put into effect probably would permit new negotiations on the South Nelson condition.

In the meantime, the Sixth Street question is to be examined by Public Works Foreman R. D. Hickey.

China Plans Country-Wide Census for 1950

SHANGHAI, April 8 (Reuters)—China, which has relied on "rough estimates" of her population for more than 176 years, has decided on the first country-wide census in her modern history.

A new census law has been announced, but no date has been set for the counting of heads, expected to take place in 1950, provided civil war is over and the country unified.

The last comprehensive census was in 1972, and since then there have been only approximate figures based on post office and customs statistics, which have ranged upward from a minimum of 223,000,000 to 547,000,000.

Under the new law there must be a census every 10 years.

In the last effort to obtain an accurate estimate of the population, the Chinese Government in January 1930 year reached the figure of 456,000,000 using rough calculations varying greatly in different areas.

Agriculture Dept. Grants $500 To Nelson Jubilee

The sum of $500 will be donated to Nelson Jubilee celebration this August, by the Department of Agriculture, the City Council learned Monday night. The information was given in a letter from Hon. Frank Putnam, Minister of Agriculture. The Council instructed City Clerk W. A. Gordon to write to other Provincial Government Departments regarding possibilities of other grants.

4-Year-Old Missing On Mountains

PHILIPSBURG, Pa., April 8 (AP)—Four-year-old Jimmy Senser was missing today on the wild, windswept mountains of central Pennsylvania and weary searchers feared the little boy might be dead of exposure.

Hundreds of searchers, armed with lanterns and flashlights, braved icy blasts to continue their search throughout the night. Jimmy disappeared from his home Easter Sunday clad only in a thin undershirt and the only clues to date have been a small red sweater found on a railroad track and several footprints of his barefeet in the mud.

The area in which the boy is believed to be lost is pitted with abandoned coal holes, some filled with water.

$1,724,679 GROSS INCOME FOR HOME OIL

CALGARY, April 8 (CP)—Gross income of the Home Oil Company for the year 1946 was $1,724,679, according to the company's annual statement. During the year dividends of 15 cents per share were paid shareholders.

On May 1 a dividend of 20 cents per share will be paid shareholders on record as of April 10, 1947.

Home Oil produces more oil than any other company in Canada, the statement says. Net production after royalties was 745,482 barrels last year. The increased price of crude has enhanced the value of underground reserves, and under proper tax rates justifies drilling out of the company's proven oil sites at a much faster rate than has been carried on in past years.

Average decline of home wells during the past year was 12.3 per cent as compared with an average decline of 24.2 per cent of other wells in the field. Average daily production of home wells was 121 barrels compared with 47 barrels for other wells in the field.

TELLS MINERS TO RESUME WORK WHEN "SAFE"

Lewis Expresses Gratification at Coal Production 100,000 AT WORK

WASHINGTON, April 8 (AP)—John L. Lewis today expressed "gratification" that United States coal production yesterday was "substantial" and instructed miners to resume work as fast as each mine is certified as safe.

Lewis, President of the United Mine Workers (A.F.L.) made public a telegram he sent to each district President of the Union. It said:

"This office expresses gratification that production yesterday of re-examined and re-certified mines and strip hits was substantial.

"I confirm policy of immediate resumption of production at each mine as fast as it is certified by Federal Mine Inspectors as being in conformity with Federal Mine Safety Code."

Yesterday's production was estimated by the coal mines administration at about 32 per cent of a normal day's output.

Government officials were saying nothing on the situation. The C. M. A. said it reports last night showed 100,000 miners, including 54,000 members of Lewis' U.M.-W., digging coal in 500 pits on the first day of the scheduled safety stoppage after the union's six-day mourning period for victims of the Centralia, Ill., blast. The U. M. W. has 400,000 soft coal miners.

"A HOAX"

Describing the telegram as a hoax, Walter A. Thurmond, Secretary of the Southern Coal Producers Association, said in a statement:

"In fact, Lewis told his miners not to go back to work until a Federal mine inspector has re-examined the mines and he told his mine safety committees not to certify any operations as being safe."

"This is just another play on the part of Lewis to the country to make it believe he is lending his cooperation in restoring coal production."

By the thousands, United States miners were reported answering work whistles as crews of Federal Inspectors pressed efforts to eliminate dangers and end the current shutdowns. The stoppage started last week with a six-day period of "mourning" for 111 miners killed in the Centralia, Ill., mine blast.

Government officials were still noncommittal on the attitude they will take Thursday when the U.M.W. goes into Federal Judge T. Alan Goldsborough's court to ask for return of all but $700,000 of the $3,510,000 fines levied against Lewis and the union in connection with last Fall's 17-day strike.

Lewis and the union were convicted of contempt for disregarding a court order against the walkout. The Supreme Court subsequently upheld the contempt conviction, but ordered $2,800,000 of the fine returned if Lewis and the union obeyed the court order.

Lewis' action today conceivably could have a legal bearing on the question whether the court's mandate is being obeyed.

Seek Extension Of Alley To Ward Street

Taxpayers in the 400 Block of Delbruck and Beasley Streets forwarded a petition, read at City Council Monday night, asking for an extension of their alley from Stanley to Ward Street. The petitioners claimed that the present alley was nearly impassable in winter months.

The request was referred to the Public Works Committee.

Bus Driver Saw Truck Coming But Didn't Believe They Would Crash

SEATTLE, April 8 (CP)—Heroic rescues from the submerged North Coast Lines bus which plunged into the Duwamish River near here last night after it collided with an oil truck, taking a toll of nine lives, today were described by eyewitnesses and survivors.

The driver, Melvin D. Long, 22, Olympia, was taken to the New Renton Hospital suffering leg injuries and shock.

"I saw the truck coming at me from the East side of the highway, but never realized he would hit me," he said.

"I guess I backed out after the crash. When I came to, the bus was beginning to fill with water. So I kicked out the windshield frame-work and started to climb out."

"Suddenly I remembered there had been a man right beside me. So I went back and carried him out. We clung to some driftwood in the water until we were rescued."

Meantime, screams of the trapped victims brought aid.

"The first thing I saw was the truck going around in circles, and then I saw the bus in the water," Jack Paris said. "There were three men trying to get out of the water, so I helped."

E. J. Grubling grabbed an axe, and, after chopping a hole in the roof, helped several women out.

"I heard a little girl say, 'Don't chop me, Mister! I guess she didn't mean it!'"

He apparently referred to 6-year-old Darlene Wick, whom survivors described as a heroine in directing rescuers, but who lost her own life.

Puri Enlor, 23, said he was eating his dinner when the bus passed his place.

"A few seconds later I heard the crash. I looked out the window and saw the truck spinning around and the bus headed for the river."

"I grabbed some rope from my car and ran for the bus. With the help of others, we broke rear windows and helped two women to safety."

One woman passenger remained unidentified.

Identified dead were: Mrs. Mildred Morse, 63, Seattle Post Office employee. She was a sister of Dr. Fred Webster, Portland.

Telford F. Smith, Seattle, the truck driver.

Mr. and Mrs. Ervin Burian, Tacoma.

Eastern Radio Writers Vote in Favor of Strike

NEW YORK, April 8 (CP)—The Eastern Region of the Radio Writers' Guild voted last night to give its executive board the power to call a strike against the networks and the independent stations in the United States. It was announced early today by Roy Langham, National Executive Secretary of the Guild.

The West coast (Hollywood and Los Angeles) radio writers last night also voted to strike.

Moscow Eating Hours Tough on Western Delegates

MOSCOW, April 8 (AP)—The Russians have been unable to sell their ideas around the conference table, but they have inflicted their working hours on the Western delegates to the Foreign Ministers Conference.

These hours go something like this: Breakfast—with caviar invariably its first item—10 a.m.

Luncheon—about 3 or 4 p.m. Dinner—anywhere from 11 p.m. to 1 a.m. the next morning.

Bedtime is some hours later. This schedule almost wrecked the Western delegates at the start. But now they have adopted it and some, but not many, may even like it. It is a matter of "when in Moscow, do as the Muscovites do."

To Facilitate Sale of Houses to Veterans; Legion Asks 25 More

Standardized procedure to facilitate sale of wartime houses to veterans was outlined in a letter from the Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation read by the City Council Monday night. The Corporation will be asked for a sales agreement and a copy of the letter will be sent to the Canadian Legion Branch at Nelson.

The letter said a sales plan had been worked out whereby the tenant of a house might purchase his home with a small down payment and monthly payments. The payment would include the principal and interest, taxes and insurance. A sales price would be established and if the purchaser remained in the house in good standing for a period of five years, he will earn a reduction of 17½ per cent of the sales price.

It was not possible to instigate a sales program until houses have been completed and rented for a "reasonable period of time." It was necessary for the municipality to forward copies of resolutions passed by City Council requesting War-time Housing Ltd. to sell the houses, after which the Legal Department at Ottawa would be instructed to prepare revised agreements.

A letter from the Canadian Legion asked the Council to consider building another 25 houses. The Council decided to see if suitable sites could be found.

The Legion letter said over 100 ex-servicemen had applied for the 50 wartime houses being made available and that more applications were expected. It also suggested that if 25 more houses were built the cost down in order that the rental might be reduced as nearer as possible to the rental mentioned in the original agreement — $22.50 for a two-bedroom house. It was felt that $23.50 was too much for men in low income brackets. It was also felt the Council should adopt a more generous attitude with regard to taxes which would help towards more reasonable rent.

Accept Tender For Removal Of City Wharf

Tender submitted by C. F. McDougall to remove 250 feet of the outer end of the City Wharf at a cost of $980 was accepted by the City Council Monday night. Mr. McDougall had been asked to give an estimate by the Parks, Boulevard and Health Committee.

It is planned to fill in the area with suitable material after the structure has been removed.

Love Problems

By JANE ATKINSON

A Flirt is Attracted to a Boy Who Sees Through Her Insincerity

Dear Miss Atkinson:

I am 16 years old and really a spoiled brat, and I don't want to be one.

I've been going around hurting people. By that, I mean boys' hearts. I have stacks of boy friends and I have an awful gift of being able to get any boy I want. I get them and start them off to a romantic being. I tell them I'm in love, too. But that's only for a while until I see someone else I want.

Another bad thing is that I can get all the boys whose hearts I broke back, after I've been so awful. That is, I could get all but one. I think that's the one I really like. He is the one who has opened my eyes to all I've been doing, but he doesn't want me.

I'd do anything to stop this habit or whatever you may call it. Please don't say it's up to me to get myself out, because I've tried I also know it's my own fault. Won't you please help me?

"M.A.C."

The man a girl can't get is always the one she wants, and this goes doubly for the type of girl you are. A heartless flirt doesn't respect the boys she can get easily. But it's another story when one comes along who is proof against her shenanigans and refuses to allow her to add his reply to her collection. Then she feels the magnetic attraction that always draws the female of the species irresistibly toward a male who is stronger than she is.

You say you've tried to mend your ways, and imply that you haven't been successful. Why not? It ought not to be so terribly hard to stop being insincere and put a little sincerity into your words and actions for a change. Could it be that you're, in reality, so proud of this "awful gift" of yours for breaking boys' hearts that you're reluctant to give it up?

Suppose you begin by asking yourself—and trying to give yourself an honest answer—whether you're actually interested in this boy for what he is, or whether it may not be merely that your vanity is intrigued because your wiles won't work on him and you're determined to make him another of your victims by hook or by crook. Which is it you want me to tell you—how to make this boy succumb to your charms? Think about this for a while, and then let me know your answer.

City to Take Steps to Curb Vandalism

Damage to City and private property has been rampant late, the City Council learned Monday night, and the complaints were referred to Chief of Police, G. R. Bone. The City will post a reward for information leading to conviction of persons responsible.

Public Works Department Foreman R. D. Hickey said in a letter that rocks and brush had been piled up on streets in the uptown section, manhole covers removed, and a sidewalk grating broken. Mayor T. H. Waters also called attention to the fact that radio aerials on cars had been smashed.

Believes Women Lawyers Should Obey Court Rules

LOS ANGELES, April 8 (AP)—Judge Allen W. Ashburn tossed a hat, not his own, but a woman's, in a ring of feminine fire yesterday.

It started when Mrs. Nadia Williams, veteran lawyer, approached the Bench and asked: "May I address the Court out of turn?"

"You may not, until you remove your hat," said the judge.

Mrs. Williams doffed her black felt pillbox and proceeded, but later had this to say:

"I was embarrassed. I know my hair must have been mussed. I have practised law here 20 years, but I've never heard of any rule against women attorneys wearing hats in court."

Judge Ashburn had what undoubtedly will be the last word, at least in his court:

"Women lawyers practise on equal terms with men, and I feel they should observe the same rules and formalities in courtrooms."

NEWCASTLE, England (CP)—Miss Margaret Nicholson, 74-year-old shopkeeper, was threatened with a poker gagged and robbed of £26 by a masked robber.

For Parents

By GARY CLEVELAND MYERS

The Exciting Radio Programs Have a Bad Effect on Children

Most children of five to 12 listen for several hours a day to exciting programs on the air. Some of these programs center about murder and all sorts of violence, just as some of the movies most popular with children do. A great many of these programs are full of fear appeal. As a rule, the more gruesome and exciting they are, the more popular they are. Apparently, too, the more jittery a child is the more he enjoys the excitement. These programs generally appeal to the most primitive instincts.

Hundreds of parents write me of the obvious ill effect of these programs on their children; increased jitteriness, impaired sleep, nightmares and the like. (My bulletin, "The Nervous Child," may be had in a stamped envelope.)

For several years Mrs. Myers and I conducted forums almost daily with parents in all parts of the United States. In any group, when the radio question came up there was almost unanimous expression of concern. Only rarely did any person express belief that the typical popular program (most popular with children) was wholesome or even harmless. Now and then some parent would say his child seemed to grow hardened to the excitement; which, of course, seems possible.

Some while ago I said in this column that if the broadcasting companies really wanted to be fair to the public, especially to the children, they would call upon the American Psychological Association (perhaps together with the American Psychiatric Association) to appoint a board from among its members representing the leading colleges and universities of America, which board would attack this problem without prejudice, but with wholly scientific methods.

Until some such measures are taken you and I can't believe we are getting the truth and are not being hoodwinked for somebody's selfish gain.

Money talks. The more exciting programs naturally prove most profitable to the commercial sponsor and to the broadcasting company; and with so very lucrative returns, it is easy for the most conscientious officials concerned to believe, no harm, but even good, is being done to our children. You see our children have no powerful leaders of propaganda for them. When you and I talk out we almost feel as if we were shooting peas against a battleship.

In the meanwhile, if you are convinced that your children should not hear certain radio programs, and still have control of your children, your immediate responsibility is obvious.

Beauty Hints

Improved Nutrition Will Help Banish Blues and Build Curves

If a girl has a flat chest it's her own fault. Instead of getting down in the dumps about it, she should take a deep breath, lift her chest and go after curves. I have little patience with the young woman who wrote that she cried herself to sleep because she is flat chested, has a very small bust and feels like a social outcast. Tears are no help.

But the right program can help enormously. The pectoral muscles can be filled out and developed, the chest measurement expanded and the requisite padding put on collar bone. With these changes, the bust problem will take care of itself.

So, chest up, girls, and let's go after curves. Improved nutrition will go a long way in the right direction, for this part of your figure is greatly influenced by general health and weight, as well as muscle tone. Skin tone and posture.

No special diet is needed. But three good meals a day, with a whopping good breakfast and plenty of milk are essential. Start tomorrow morning by having a whole grain cereal with milk and cream. If possible a few chopped dates raisins or figs. Two figs add 100 calories. Four dates add the same number. Three glasses of whole milk a day add up to 800 calories.

Once the importance of good nutrition is realized and put into effect you're on the way to curves. To get them in the right spots, add a spot of exercise. That plucked chicken look across the chest is not due to lack of sufficient calories in the protective foods, but to a lack of well-toned muscle over the bones and to faulty posture. Specific exercises help build up healthy muscles tissue, and step up the circulation to better nourish the tissue in that area.

Outdoor exercise and deep breathing are sure cures. Walk for at least 45 minutes a day, with chest up shoulders relaxed and breathe with your diaphragm. When you have a chance to walk in the country, tuck a stick between the crook of the elbows and across the shoulders to pull them back into a beautiful line.

Practice just one exercise, the old-fashioned breaststroke as used breaststroke and she certainly is swimming. Grandma used the wasn't flat chested! Real swimming is the perfect exercise, but calisthenics patterned from it works wonders. Swing through the curve makers. Thrust arms out in front of chest, then separate arms swinging straight out to the sides, shoulder level, circle down and around and keep on circling for 25 counts, later 50 and finally 100 counts. Swing rhythmically and gaily. Neither the blues nor a flat chest can resist that exercise, deep breathing and an alert, buoyant posture.

Arbor Day Set For April 30

Arbor Day will be held in Nelson on April 30, it was decided by the City Council Monday night, in adopting recommendations put forward by the Parks, Boulevards and Health Committee.

The Council also approved a grant to the Nelson and District Rod and Gun Club to cover costs of glass tanks to house large specimens of Kootenay fish. The tanks will be on exhibit during Jubilee Week in August, and will later become a permanent feature at Sportsman's Park.

Also authorized were necessary repairs of approximately $350 to the incinerator and removal of all burnable wastes.

An offer from the Lawn Bowling Club to store equipment was received with thanks. The Club will be advised that a bowling green will be constructed at Lakeside Park when a site is available.

"The Authority on Authorities"

TOO GOOD TO BID HIGH

ON THE subject of pre-emptive bids, there are three main groups of thought. First are those players who love them, making them on all tempting occasions, practically any time they think they can take enough tricks to prevent heavy damage. Second, on the other extreme, are those who say they never make pre-emptive bids, original or otherwise, no matter what they hold. Third, in the middle, are those who will make them when holding combination of enough suit length and virtually no high-card strength. These players consider some hands too good for a leaping Lena high bid.

tricks by one in clubs, one in hearts, two in diamonds and one in spades, giving East and West a total of 300 points.

At Table 1, where South considered his hand good for something other than hearts—which it certainly was—the heart 9 was opened to the A. South returned his club singleton, hoping to find his partner holding the spade A. He did, and won the third trick with it, then led a club for South to ruff. That made three tricks for the defense and the diamond A was then laid down for the setter.

South's restraint and sanity at Table 1 therefore earned his side 100 points. Added to 300 which his East-West teammates scored at the other table, his team won the deal by a total of 400—just about the difference in merit.

The Doctor

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

Diagnosing Heart Disease Much Easier Today Than in the Past

The physician of an earlier era had little to help him in making a diagnosis of heart disease. He could listen to the sounds made by the suspected heart and then, by tapping with his finger over the heart area, determine to some degree how large the heart was. Other than this he had only the patient's account of symptoms and his own observant eye to guide him.

Modern science has changed all this. Today's physicians will not, to be sure, neglect these time-honored methods, but in addition, they have many other ways of confirming their diagnosis. It may be that an electrical tracing of the heart beat, or electrocardiogram will be helpful. If so, the means is at hand to make it.

Or perhaps the X-ray will reveal just the one more fact it is so necessary to have in order to get a complete picture of the patient's condition.

According to Dr. John F. Holt, of Michigan, X-ray has become increasingly important in the study of abnormal conditions of the heart, and particularly in determining when the heart has been damaged by the disorder known as rheumatic fever, since in this disease the heart is often enlarged.

There are a number of X-ray methods that are used to determine the heart size. First, there is fluoroscopy. This makes it possible to see the shadow of the heart on a screen. The doctor can

Believes Britons Should Smoke Less and Invest in Machinery

By JAMES MCCOOK

LONDON, April 8 (CP)—Hugh Dalton, Chancellor of the Exchequer, who looks well with a cigar, smokes little these days and might find his job at the country's balance book easier if others would follow his example, or switch from Virginia brands.

Everyone in the United Kingdom knows that too many precious dollars are being spent on United States tobacco when they should be invested in machinery and materials that will speed Britain's recovery. But Britons go on smoking Virginia cigarettes and here's the sad story:

Total tobacco imports in 1946 were valued at £86,822,000 ($262,488,000), of which £35,168,000 came from the United States and £4,300,000 from Southern Rhodesia, the main Commonwealth supplier. Canada sold tobacco worth £1,167,000 while Turkey and Greece together sold only £1,011,000.

Revenue from tobacco in the fiscal year just ended probably will be £425,000,000. Of £248,000,000 spent by consumers on tobacco in 1946, £408,000,000 or nearly 16 shillings in every pound went to the Exchequer.

Taxation of tobacco always has been high but even after the First World War 20 cigarettes could be bought for a shilling. Now they cost 2s 4d.

Lord Dulverton, Chairman of the Imperial Tobacco Company, said

tobacco is important to morale. Tobacco is one of the few remaining luxuries and morale will not be forgotten by Dalton in adjustments in taxation, but some action is expected to bring down the tobacco bill as expressed in dollars.

RICE AND LIVER LOAF

Two cups cooked rice, 1 pound liver 2 eggs, beaten, 1 teaspoon celery salt or ¼ cup cut celery, salt and pepper.

Put liver through the food chopper; cut celery fine, then combine all ingredients. Bake in a greased casserole or baking dish set in a pan of hot water at 350 F., for one hour. Makes 8 slices.

GRAHAM MUFFINS

One cup graham flour, 1 cup white flour, ¼ cup sugar, 1 cup milk, 5 teaspoons baking powder, 1 teaspoon salt, 2 tablespoons melted butter, 1 egg.

Sift flour, sugar, baking powder and salt together. Do not sift the graham flour. Add graham flour to white flour mixture, add milk, well-beaten egg and melted fat. Bake in a moderate oven 20 minutes in greased gem pans. Makes 1 dozen gems.

CASSEROLE OF RICE AND LIVER

One cup rice, 2 quarts water, 2 tablespoons butter or margarine, 1 pound liver (lamb, pork, calf), 1 teaspoon caramel flavoring, 2 tablespoons browned flour, 2 tablespoons bread crumbs, salt and pepper, 2 cups soup stock.

Wash the rice thoroughly, then boil in the water. Drain and mash rice smooth with butter or margarine, and add ¼ teaspoon pepper and 1 teaspoon salt. Line a well-greased casserole with the mixture, pressing the paste firmly against bottom and sides, and leaving a large hollow in center. Set in a cold place until firm.

In the meantime, boil the liver, drain, chop fine and season with salt (about ½ teaspoon). Heat the soup stock, season with caramel, then make a brown sauce with fat, browned flour and the stock; add minced liver. To brown flour, put it in a frying pan over a slow fire and watch and stir until it is evenly browned. Fill the hollow in the center of the rice with liver

Massey Sees Portraits of Self And Ancestors in New Picture

By HELEN BANNERMAN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

When Raymond Massey arrived in Hollywood this weekend to start work on "Morning Becomes Electra," he was confronted with large portraits of himself and his "ancestors" in the play ready for use on the set. Massey will play Brig-Gen. Ezra Mannon in the screen version of Eugene O'Neill's play and Rosalind Russell will be seen as his daughter.

Producer Dudley Nichols signed Massey in New York some time ago and commissioned the portraits from painter Martin Lewis at the same time. The cinematic family art gallery is painted with casein in monochrome so that the movie camera will not be bothered with reflections, as would be the case with shiny oils.

REVIEWING

Dick Powell snarls right out of the book in his latest hard-boiled role in "Johnny O'Clock," a swell crime melodrama in the Hammett-Chandler tradition. The plot revolves around a crooked gambling racket which sprouts corpses when one of the boys wants his cut and a hat-check girl gets to know too much.

Powell plays the junior partner in the outfit whom the babes go for, the babes being Evelyn Keyes, the sister of the murdered girl, and Ellen Drew, married to the senior partner.

Worry About Health of Coal Miners' Children

GLACE BAY, N. S., April 8 (CP)—Those store-counter milk bottles with the wartime "Milk for Britain" slogan are on duty again collecting pennies for "Milk for Glace Bay Babies" as townspeople of the strike-bound colliery area worry about the health of children.

The Kinsmen Club put the bottles back into peacetime service after Dr. T. J. Khattar, town medical officer, expressed fears of the effects malnutrition would have upon children whose miner fathers have been payless since the coal strike started seven weeks ago.

The results of miners' families going on short rations in this area where the coal industry is the sole source of livelihood for thousands was noticed early in the strike by Mrs. Russell McPhee, President of the Catholic Women's League, whose organization decided to do something about it.

Helpers were rounded up, C.W.L. funds were used and a soup kitchen was started up in St. Ann's school serving hot soup to the younger children at recess.

"We found that they really did need it," said Mrs. McPhee, the wife of a coal company electrician. "When the children came to school in the morning they were lifeless, pale and lackadaisical, but the teachers noticed the difference in their school activity after the soup was served."

The C. W. L. has been serving free soup to as many as 350 children a day for the last four weeks. Now other organizations of the colliery towns are scheduled to discuss establishment of canteens with milk and hot soup in all Glace Bay schools where 6000 pupils are enrolled.

"Even with strike relief miners with large families couldn't possibly keep going," Mrs. McPhee said.

CONSCRIPTION BILL NO THREAT TO LABOR GOV'T

By JAMES MCCOOK
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, April 7 (CP)—British politicians are excited over the tangled situation created by the Government's conscription bill but talk of a general election or of the administration's fall generally is being taken with many grains of salt.

Conservatives for months have been warning the country: "Be ready; the Government may call an election or fall at any moment."

During the February fuel crisis when the Government was under fire from its own back benches there was a gleam of a possibility to sharpen this warning but now most political observers say that the Government, with 393 members in the House of Commons, is safe until the next "crisis"—and that the conscription bill isn't a crisis.

SEEK RETURN OF HOISING SYSTEM IN STREET CLEANING

Claiming that dust raised by sweeping refuse from City Streets in Summer months is "discouraging and harmful to business houses," the Nelson Retail Merchants Association, in a letter read at City Council Monday night, asked that the previous system of hoising be adopted.

Members of the Association took "strong objection" to the method of sweeping streets on grounds that dust settled in stores.

The request was referred to the Public Works Committee.

The Noisy Shrimp

One of the most unusual undertakings of the war—the identification of noises made by fish—is amusingly described by Milton B. Dobrin in the Technology Review. Not long after Pearl Harbor, noise from fish had been found to interfere with underwater listening devices.

What one such expedition discovered off the Pacific Coast was that the snapping shrimp not only produced a crackling noise in shoal waters, but its sound was "in the ultrasonic portion of the acoustic spectrum."

Off the Atlantic Coast the noisiest fish were croakers, drumfish, toadfish, hogfish and catfish. But it is of some interest that paval experimenters were unable to find much noise in the Atlantic North of New Jersey.

What was learned in this fashion may some day be turned to commercial account by fishermen. But it is of present interest as showing, in one limited field of endeavor, some of the demands that the war made upon the ingenuity of scientists.

The Inventor of the Zipper

Dr. Frank B. Jewett once remarked in an address delivered at New York University that he had often thought "how infinitesimally small would have been the chance of any man or group of men, except the one who actually had the idea, planning to invent the common zipper."

Judson's first patent goes back to 1891, his second to 1893, his last to 1905. Mr. Frederico would give much to know more about Mr. Judson, and so would we, in view of Dr. Jewett's high opinion of the zipper. Like most good inventors, Judson was pacific. He invented apparatus for street railways, engines and variable speed transmissions and clutches for automobiles and machines to make his zippers. When he filed his application for the zipper, the Patent Office was unable to find any anticipation, which is remarkable and which again bears out Dr. Jewett's conclusion.

Sartorial Likes and Dislikes

New York's swankiest tailors have been reminded once again that most men abhor the idea of being different from their fellows in appearance. The Merchant Tailors and Designers Association had suggested a canary-yellow dinner jacket, brown trousers and ecru shirt.

The opposition to the proposal appears to have been violent and unanimous. Grover Whalen, one of Manhattan's "best dressed" men and the city's official greeter, declared "it's just plain ridiculous."

least those who wear dinner jackets at all regularly—into canary-yellow outfits, we would agree. If, however, the intention were to introduce color and variety into men's evening attire, we would applaud.

But no, men just will not move a shade away from the present unrelieved black-and-white.

A woman will moan with anguish if she discovers her new dress, or even a reasonable facsimile, on another woman. A man will perspire with embarrassment if he finds he's worn a white tie when every other man at the party has on a black one.

While the men chant "the more we are alike, the happier we'll be," the women sing "there's just one dress in the world for me."

SHIRTS AND STUFF

Some people think the shirt shortage is tough; others think the short shortage is tougher. From my point of view it is just about a standoff. I'm only glad that I never got the nightshirt habit. If I ever run out of pyjamas one of my old union suits will do as well.

Speaking of nightshirts, I wonder how many sons of new veterans are wearing old service shirts for nightshirts? After World War I my dad's rough khaki flannel service shirts served as nightshirts for all five of us kids for years. I can still remember the feel of that itchy flannel as I stuck an apprehensive toe between ice-cold sheets at night.

Maybe that is where I got the hard collar habit. I must have developed some deep, subconscious fixation for an itchy shirt, for I don't feel sartorially complete without the feel of starch around my neck.

I seem to be among the last of the Mohicans, but still in mighty fine company. Henry Singer, who knows his haberdashery, classes me with two or three of the Kootenay's more promising bankers and a certain Nelson Sheriff. Henry says—and I have proved it by experience—that only those stores with an abiding love for ancient tradition still carry the detached collar type of shirt.

Most of my friends in the men's wear business have a high respect for my taste, but occasionally I detect efforts to wean me from my addiction to extra collars. When this happens I know the clerk for an upstart, an impostor without a real love for his high calling—and I cut him dead. For me there can be no substitute for a collar which allows you to swing your neck as if it were hung on a swivel, even if the starch does cause ingrown hairs.

There is no love like an old love, and I could never bring myself to look at myself in a mirror in an attached-collar shirt, not to mention these sport shirt monstrosities.

Besides, darn it, you ought to see the wear I get out of one small collar.

Hospital Ideal Site for Women's Home

SIR—As a subscriber to your paper, will you please favor me by inserting my few following remarks in reference to Mrs. W. R. Nelson's letter March 29th? She has brought to the attention of your paper, and I would say to the City Council and the citizens of Nelson, the importance of such a home for the aged women.

For this purpose she has wisely proposed the present Kootenay Lake General Hospital when its day of usefulness is ended for the purpose for which it now operates.

This I consider a most worthy thought and deserving of every support. It appears to be a golden opportunity when the day comes when this property is available to establish just such a home. The location is ideal. It is centrally located and most convenient.

Such an undertaking would go down to the future credit of this City and something that any corporation might be proud to boast about in owning and providing such a home.

This site adjoins the tourist park which is well-treed, and also open space where older ladies would be pleased to wander. It stands also in the shade of our noted Gyro Park.

Who are more worthy of our kindest thoughts and every possible comfort than the aged and honorable mothers who have given their best to their families and in too many cases have kept so little for themselves.

Nor should the grandfathers be forgotten. Nelson, B. C. J. SPEER

NAZIS FILTER INTO BRITAIN

The British Government's proposal to import German workers will alarm those who are concerned about the reported strength of the Nazi underground. The decision to disperse a large number of German women as domestics throughout England is a matter of some concern because it has been found that German women have had an insidious influence on some of the British and American troops.

Unless great care is taken in selection, the importation of Germans into England may help strengthen the Fascist elements now reorganizing in Great Britain. Members of the House of Commons last year expressed alarm about the resurgence of such groups since the war ended. Recently the British Union of Fascists, headed by Sir Oswald Mosley, held a number of meetings. Mosley announced that his movement would resume the program interrupted by the war. His followers are again spreading anti-Semitic and other hate-inciting propaganda. Anti-racial slogans have been smeared on buildings and hooliganism has reappeared at their meetings.

Before the war, the British Union of Fascists was reported to have maintained close contact with Nazi Germany and Fascist Italy. Nazi and Fascist literature was reprinted in English and distributed. During the war leaders of these groups were interned, but have since been released. They have resumed anti-racial, anti-labor and anti-Soviet demonstrations and the spread of such literature. Among the imported Germans they will probably find a not inconsiderable number of supporters with experience in such activities.—Toronto Star.

New Act Allows Saskatchewan Civil Servants to Take Part in Politics

REGINA, April 8 (CP) — The possibility of a Saskatchewan civil servant running against the Provincial Treasurer in an election can be realized through a new public service act today receiving plaudits and cat-calls alike from employees of the C.C.F. Government.

The controversial clause of the act, which outlines a new set-up for the Province's estimated 5900 employees, was passed late in the recently-prorogued Legislature session after a mild 20-minute debate.

It provides, in effect, that civil servants — barred from politics elsewhere in Canada — may take an active part in political affairs and be given 30 days leave to become a candidate for public office.

The act does not detail whether a civil servant would be forced to resign in the event of success as a political candidate but public service administrators said it was understood that would be the case.

Other clauses rule that no public servant shall be compelled to take part in political undertakings or use his authority to control political actions. Nor may he engage in any form of political activity during working hours or take part to the extent of impairing his "usefulness."

The new provisions reverse those of the old act which forbade civil servants taking part in any partisan election or contributing to campaign funds. Civil servant sources said, however, that many had unofficially taken active parts in political affairs.

Federal employees also are ruled out of political affairs. Those favoring the concession, echo Provincial Treasurer C. M. Fines' statement in the Legislature that it was time civil servants had the same political rights as others.

He said a British Labor Government official advised him that demands for similar rights are being pressed in Britain. Public service officials note that the act also calls for a new competitive system of entrance to Government service based on latest scientific methods. Only the Federal and Manitoba Government services had comparable organizations which could wipe out the "spoils" system.

Those voicing disapproval of the new clause recall Opposition Leader W. J. Patterson's arguments that it could lead to more rather than less politics in the Civil Service.

He contrasted conditions in Britain where civil servants could not vote and in the United States where political machines were made up largely of public servants and called for a balance between the two.

Some Government employees, whose number has grown more than 1700 in the last three years, said the new clause might be discussed when the Civil Servants Association renews its union contract with the Government next year.

NEW TELEPHONE BILLING SYSTEM in Effect With Your Next Bill... Growth of the B. C. Telephone Company has necessitated the adoption of a new billing system in order to assure utmost efficiency in the rendering of telephone bills. It will go into effect with your next bill. This new system, known as Rotation and Machine Billing, is used by many of the larger telephone, water, gas, power and electric light companies. It is designed to overcome the many difficulties encountered by our accounting and business office staffs in rendering all telephone bills at the beginning of each month. Subscribers will benefit by receiving their telephone bills more promptly. How You Will Be Billed... Instead of one billing date, subscribers' accounts will be divided into six billing dates—that is, bills will be issued on the 1st, 6th, 11th, 16th, 21st and 26th of each month, according to the area in which the subscriber receives telephone service. Exchange service and directory advertising will be billed one month in advance, beginning with the date of the bill, as at present. Long distance calls, inter-exchange calls and measured service will be billed for one month ending the day preceding the billing date on the bill. Your Next Bill... Your next bill will be a "transition bill" to adjust your account from the old system to the new. Please read it carefully, as it will show your billing date and other information about your account under the new plan. BILLING AND DISCOUNT DATES... The following will be the regular billing and discount dates for Nelson under the new system: Billing Date: 16th of Each Month. Discount Date: 3rd of Each Month. BRITISH COLUMBIA TELEPHONE CO.

Defending Canucks Slap Toronto

Wins 6-0 in Stanley Cup Opener

By SYD THOMAS
Canadian Press Staff Writer
FORUM, MONTREAL, April 8 (CP)—Backed by some of the goal finding that won Bill Durnan the Vezina Trophy four years in a row, the world champion Montreal Canadiens rode through Toronto Maple Leafs for a 6-0 whitewashing here tonight before 12,320 fans. The victory gave Canucks a 1-0 lead in the best-of-seven Stanley Cup final and put them past the first hurdle in their defence of the trophy.

In the second session when Wild Bill was chased again after he hooked Richard into a crashing spill. Reay put Canadiens two up then, taking Glen Harmon's sharp pass to bang one that trickled under the Turk as he lay flat on his back. From there on, Leafs couldn't stem the tide and Richard made it 3-0 a minute and a half later as he rapped in O'Connor's goal mouth pass.

Though the Lynn, Kennedy, Meeker line gave Canadiens plenty of trouble whenever they were on, Canucks added three more in the third to sew it up. Allen steered in Bouchard's slow blue line shot with a flick of the wrist, Reay coasted in on a combination attack with Allen and Bouchard and in the dying minutes Jimmy Peters carried in and slipped the rubber to Johnny Quilty who sent out a pass from behind the net for Chamberlain to poke home.

Linesups: Toronto—Broda; Morton, Thomson; Apps; Ezelnicki, Watson. Subs—Stanowski, N. Metz, D. Metz, Kennedy, Lynn, Meeker, Stewart, Kluba, Boesch, Barilko, Bell (sub goalie).

Montreal—Durnan; Lamoureux, O'Connor, Richard, Blake. Subs—Leger, Harmon, Reay, Allen, MacKay, Quilty, Peters, Chamberlain, Macey, Eddolls, Ferras (sub goalie). Referee—Clancy. Linesmen—Babcock, March.

Summary: First period—1, Montreal, O'Connor (Leger) 2-0. Penalties—Thomson, Lamoureux (2), Bouchard, Ezelnicki.

Second period—2, Montreal, Reay (Harmon) 5-0; 3, Montreal, Richard (O'Connor) 9-0. Penalties—Quilty, Ezelnicki, Eddolls.

Third period—4, Montreal, Allen (Bouchard) 5-0; 5, Montreal, Reay (Allen, Bouchard) 11-0; 6, Montreal, Chamberlain (Quilty, Peters) 18-0. Penalties—None.

Royals Are Quebec Champs

OTTAWA, April 8 (CP)—An anytime goal by Gerry Plamondon of the Ottawa Royals a 2-1 victory over Montreal Senators tonight, gave the Royals the Quebec Senior League championship and right to meet Sherbrooke in the semi-finals. The Royals took the best-of-seven series in two games to two.

Giesebrecht put the Senators up late in the first period and Malone knotted the count a minute later, setting the stage for Plamondon's pay-off counter.

Grimm Enthused Over Touted Scouts' Rookie

CHICAGO, April 8 (AP)—Clint Huggins, the fabulous rookie who today in a crack-down without precedent in the game. The two stars, first women ever to receive such drastic treatment from the American body, were deprived of their amateur status because of a letter sent by Mrs. Cooke's husband, Elwood Cooke, to clubs here and abroad offering to display the pair in exhibition matches at fees ranging from $350 to $500.

Miss Betz, holder both of the United States and All-England championships, was notified by cable at Monte Carlo of her suspension, pending final action by the executive committee of the U.S. L.T.A.

BARRED FROM PLAY As the latter body is not scheduled to meet here until September, Miss Betz will be unable to compete either in the Wightman Cup matches against England this Summer or to defend her national title at Forest Hills late in August.

Miss Betz told The Associated Press in Monte Carlo Monday that she had "not yet made up her mind" whether she would turn professional, and she would not, in any case, reach a decision until she returned to the United States. She said she planned to take a 10-day vacation in Switzerland.

Although the records show that men amateurs have been suspended on numerous occasions, in the United States, President Ward said he believes this marked the first suspension of a woman.

The most recent suspension of male stars occurred in 1940, when Gene Mako and Wynne Sabin were ruled out indefinitely for violation of the "eight-week rule" which forbids an amateur to receive expenses for longer than that period in any given year. Both subsequently turned professional.

Coast Baseball Starts Second Week of Play

By BILL BECKER
Associated Press Sports Writer

The old story of youth vs. age headed into another chapter today as the Pacific Coast League began its second week.

The San Diego Padres (6-1) and San Francisco Seals (5-2)—both a balanced mixture of ex-major leaguers and promising rookies—led the parade. The difference, a glance at the records reveals, is that the Padres' opening spurge was largely the work of veterans, while the Seals were putting the accent on youth.

The Padres, who try to keep rolling at Portland's (3-4) expense, relied mainly on the booming bats of former Cincinnati outfielders Max West and Dain Clay. West led all P.C.L. regulars with a .576 mark, his eight hits including three homers. He drove in seven runs, Clay six on a .321 average, embracing two boundary belts.

Lefty O'Doul's defending championship Seals, on the other hand, were paced by Charley Henson, rookie first sacker from Salt Lake City, who cuffed out 13 hits—most in the circuit—for an even .500.

Another ex-Salt Laker, outfielder Joe Brovia, batted .333, while Neill Sheridan, a slightly more experienced young Seal, supplied two homers, nine runs batted in, and a .345 average.

The Seals entertain Jimmy Dykes' Hollywood Stars, starting tonight. The Stars showed fair power, blasting out five homers although dropping a 3-4 series to Sacramento.

Los Angeles (4-3), perhaps the League powerhouse, with nine home runs in the first seven games, will try to get more mileage on their blows against Casey Stengel's Oakland A's, who got off to a stumbling start (1-6) against San Diego.

Seattle's Rainiers (2-5) will try to improve their standing at the expense of Dick Bartell's Sacramento Solons (4-3) at Sacramento.

Suzanne Morrow, Probable Successor To Barbara, Wants Medical Career

By JAMES KNACK
Canadian Press Staff Writer

BARBARA ANN BUT SHE WANTED TO MEET Viscount Alexander who this year congratulated the champions, "so I had to win a title."

Unlike Barbara Ann, this five-foot, three inch Miss does not devote full time to the blade art. She acquires her grace and skill in three hours daily practice compared to eight hours for the world champion. Although it could easily wreck her skating career, Suzanne is an avid rider and skier.

Donning skates for the first time only eight years ago on Doctor's orders, she then frail child rapidly discovered her new talent. In three years of competitive skating she won four titles, including the Canadian Junior Ladies Crown.

DECISION ON ROBINSON BEFORE WEEKEND

NEW YORK, April 8 (AP)—Jackie Robinson, the first Negro to break into modern organized baseball, may know before the end of this week, whether he also will become the first Negro to reach the major leagues since Moses Fleetwood Walker played for the Toledo club of the American Association in 1884.

Still the property of Montreal Royals of the International League, Robinson will wear a Royal uniform when Brooklyn Dodgers engage their farm club in a two-game series at Ebbets Field tomorrow and Thursday.

Although President Branch Rickey of the Dodgers refuses to comment, it is virtually certain that the answer whether Robinson will last the season with Brooklyn or Montreal will be given before the championship campaign gets underway next Tuesday.

ED SANDFORD, PLAYING CAPTAIN OF ST. MIKE'S WINS MEMORIAL TROPHY

TORONTO, April 8 (CP)—Big Ed Sandford, playing captain of the St. Michael's College Majors, for the fourth successive year winners of the Junior O. H. A. championship, has been awarded the "Red" Tilson Memorial Trophy for outstanding hockey performance and general all-round ability for his team during the regulation season.

The trophy honors the memory of "Red" Tilson, outstanding junior player for the Oshawa Generals, who died in the Second World War.

Sandford's play-making around centre ice and his sound leadership won him the honor.

Advisory Directorate To Game Commission Sought by Sportsmen

A long-sought goal of sportsmen — an advisory directorate to the Game Commission — will be advocated at the forthcoming convention at Harrison Hot Springs, J. J. McEwen, President of the West Kootenay Rod and Gun Clubs Association said at Nelson Tuesday.

Representatives from the various districts have been or will be instructed as to the nature of the resolutions they will convey to the convention.

The trend of resolutions from this district will be towards conservation. Representatives are J. J. McEwen and A. L. McPhee of Kaslo.

Mr. McEwen recently made a tour of clubs in the West Kootenay to sound out the proposals of these clubs to meet the problems arising out of existing conditions in each district. It is intended that the action of the convention will be provincial in aspect and that no one club will fight for local projects.

A number of resolutions were drawn up at a zone meeting at Castlegar Thursday, and are as follows:

1. An improved guide system whereby the revenues from licenses and other incidentals will go towards promotion of game facilities in the province. The resolution is directed at air traffic into virgin game lands. Fear has been expressed that if hunting and fishing parties were allowed to fly into the heart of the breeding grounds the game population would consequently suffer. An improved guide system will be advocated to take the parties in by other means than by air traffic.

2. A move to educate the public to the values of wild life in the light of the revenues and pleasure that can be derived from a province stocked with fish and game. The Provincial Government will also be approached to allot more money to the Game and Fisheries Departments for the same reasons.

3. Guides will be asked to exercise conservation themselves to prevent depletion of game and fish resources.

4. A youth training program will be inaugurated to teach the values of sportsmanship to the future conservationists. In the past years, game authorities feel, the younger hunters have committed "murder" in their eyes and thus it is hoped that the situation may be improved by the proposed step.

5. Problems arising out of pollution of the waterways will receive special attention as investigation by game authorities show that more damage to fish life is caused by water pollution than by any other agency. It has been also pointed out that refuse from logging and mining operations constitute practically all of the pollution.

6. The control of waterways by dams and irrigation projects has been a constant detriment to fishing grounds and it is the hope of the convention to set up machinery to make allowances for the fish life of any waterway on which future controls are to be constructed.

7. Allocation of rearing ponds and bird hatcheries will be governed by need of restocking.

8. The appointment of a biological expert will be urged to insure scientific study into all matters that may confront the Game Commission in years to come.

Market Trends

CHICAGO, April 8 (AP) — Grain future prices dropped as much as 7 1/2 cents at the Chicago Board of Trade on reports that President Truman had called a special Cabinet meeting for tomorrow to explore the general price situation.

TORONTO, April 8 (CP) — Mining stocks led the move backward on the Toronto Stock Exchange today on a broad front and in many instances for substantial losses while industrials eased off slightly. Bids were weak and offers became more urgent in the golds as the day wore on to roll up an aggregate volume of about 1,000,000 shares.

MONTREAL, April 8 (CP) — Slightly easier tendencies prevailed in mainly quiet trading up to the final hour on the Stock Exchange and Curb Market today. There were a few strong spots, but most securities were generally fractionally weaker.

WINNIPEG, April 8 (CP) — Weakness at Chicago was reflected in rye futures trading on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange today. There was some liquidation and thin support and trade was moderately active.

NEW YORK, April 8 (AP) — An early attempt to bolster today's Stock Market failed to attract many adherents and a subsequent burst of selling tumbled most leaders fractions to 4 or more points.

VANCOUVER, April 8 (CP) — Mines were off on the Vancouver Stock Exchange while oils and iron were slightly too and industrials eased up.

Labor Spokesmen Protest Vigorously About Rental Increases; Real Estate Men Would Raise it 40 Per Cent

By The Canadian Press

Labor spokesmen today were on record with vigorous protest against the new Federal order permitting a 10 per cent increase in domestic rentals. Real estate men countered that to permit construction of new homes for rental the increase should be nearer 40 per cent.

Domestic rents—for houses and apartments—have long been frozen at the level prevailing on Oct. 11, 1941. The new Federal order gives the first opportunity for increases by landlords.

Pat Conroy, Secretary-Treasurer of the Canadian Congress of Labor, said at Ottawa that the government move had "taken another slice off the real earnings of Canadian workers."

At Vancouver Daniel O'Brien, Regional Director of the C. C. L., warned that increased rents in conjunction with a 49 per cent rise in food prices since 1939, and new restrictive labor legislation, would bring an immediate demand for wage increases.

The C. C. F. Government of Saskatchewan has no power to use its price control act to prevent rent increases, said Attorney-General J. W. Corman at Regina. The rent control section of the act could be proclaimed effective only when the Federal Government withdraws entirely from rental control.

Hasten Mapping Of Canada

OTTAWA, April 8 (CP)—Canada's 40-year-old mapping program is being speeded up to keep pace with the growing surge in development of her Northland and other sections of thin population, officials said today.

Since the early years of the century only about five per cent of the Canadian vastness has been covered with one-inch-to-the-mile scale maps and 30 per cent by the less helpful one-inch-to-four-mile maps.

Most of the country has been covered by aeronautical charts for flying purposes but these cannot be considered ordinary maps.

Army headquarters, one of the segments concerned with the enormous task ahead, said the responsibility rested largely with the Defence Department's Army Survey Establishment and with the Topographical Survey of the Mines Department. But there are others involved, too.

In some cases, control and topographic work has been done by surveyors of either main survey for the mutual benefit of each while all of the printing required is done by the army. Information is also received from the Dominion Lands Survey and from the Hydrographic

The real estate operators' viewpoint in Toronto was expressed by H. J. Rogers who said that residential rents would have to rise 40 per cent over present levels before it would be worthwhile building houses to rent. He pointed out that the wholesale price index for building materials now was 181.5 points compared with 89 points in 1939, on the basis that 1925 equals 100.

Clarence Mahon, President of the Real Estate Exchange, said there was little hope the 10 per cent increase would induce more people in Western Canada to rent homes. He also stressed the huge increase in building costs.

One spokesman for tenants was Clarence Rosenhek, Honorary Legal Adviser to the Montreal Tenants' Association, who said the increase would "hit the vast majority of tenants much harder than the government thinks" and would "spark new industrial wage demands and new economic dislocation."

As far as property owners are concerned, W. J. Eclair, President of the Property Owners' Association of Canada at Ottawa, said that the increase was "satisfactory so far as it goes."

Only one section of the community welcomed the announcement without reservations. These were hotel operators, who nevertheless were cautious in statements regarding increases in room rentals. Generally across the country an increase of 10 per cent in room rates seemed likely.

Map Service in connection with legal surveys and coastal charts. Making a map, a spokesman said, is a "long, difficult job" and, although air photography and modern equipment have provided a few short cuts, there is no easy way.

Before a surveyor goes into the field, the area to be surveyed was photographed from the air by the R.C.A.F. This year, the air force would photograph 700,000 square miles of uncharted territory.

To cover a one-inch-to-the-mile sheet, about 12 flights of 30 photos each were necessary.

To locate the correct position of the photo on the earth's surface, interpret the detail, show the relief, insert details such as power and telephone lines and classify roads, was a laborious process and the area that took only a few hours to photograph might take four or five experienced men more than a year to produce a finished map sheet.

ROYAL FAMILY SPEND QUIET DAY IN SALISBURY

SALISBURY, Southern Rhodesia, April 8 (Reuters)—Spending their second day in Salisbury, most Northern city which they will visit during their South African tour, the Royal Family had no engagements today. The King went riding this morning for the first time during the tour.

Before leaving Thursday for the Victoria Falls, the King and Queen and the Princesses will attend a conference of chiefs of the Kaffir tribes.

Yesterday the King opened the 1947 session of the Southern Rhodesian Parliament. Princess Elizabeth was presented with a diamond brooch, to which all Southern Rhodesian children subscribed, as an advance birthday present. She will be 21 April 21.

Princess Elizabeth and Princess Margaret accompanied the King on this morning's ride. Later the Queen went shopping in a Salisbury Department store. She made a number of purchases including gifts to take home.

City Advised West Kootenay Unable To Provide Power During Plant Changes With Present Equipment

Difficulties in providing power to the City if required during extension of the Power Plant, were outlined in a letter from L. A. Campbell, President and Managing Director of the West Kootenay Power & Light Company Ltd., read by the City Council Monday night.

Mr. Campbell said he did not feel the Company could undertake the supplying of power from a transformer bank now available at Upper Bonnington, "taking your load conditions and the age of the transformers into consideration."

A. C. R. Yull, Consulting Engineer, had asked Mr. Campbell if power could be supplied from the West Kootenay 60,000 volt line which runs through Nelson. But it was found after complete investigation that the line capacity was not sufficient to take care of the City's power requirements. Even if the capacity were sufficient it would be necessary to put in stepdown regulating transformers as the voltage would require to be regulated above voltage "which we normally carry at No. 2, Upper Bonnington."

Mr. Campbell suggested the City consider the capacity of "your existing lines from your Upper Bonnington plant to Nelson, and whether or not they are of sufficient capacity to take care of the increased load which you expect to have above what you are pecking on the said lines at the present time." He advised that the matter be taken up with the City Engineer for suggestions after "necessary calculations as to whether or not your existing lines are able to take care of whatever additional power you may require above your existing load."

Alderman B. C. Affleck, who is to visit Vancouver shortly, was asked to interview Mr. Yull as to the situation.

In another letter, Mr. Campbell noted the decision granting the City the right to use 1428 cubic feet of water per second at the plant and contended this was all the water the City could use under the "existing line-up." He stated that the Company reserved the right to control water going through the "stop log checks" and that "we have a right to measure the water as used by the City."

Mr. Campbell said he was drawing "this to your attention before you go to any great expense as it may change your plans as now outlined." He wished to have the matter straightened out "as we do not wish to be placed in a position to request the Water Rights Branch to have the water measured and regulated." The letter will be acknowledged.

Truman Plans Visit to Ottawa

By CLYDE BLACKBURN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, April 8 (CP)—President Truman is planning for a visit to Ottawa which will be in sharp contrast to his last trip to Canada.

He will be the second United States President to visit Canada's capital while in office and no doubt will receive a welcome comparable to that given the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt when he spent a day in Ottawa in the late Summer of 1943.

Truman has had little experience with Canadian hospitality but he has been there and enjoyed it, too. He was with an army of American Legionnaires who swarmed over into Windsor, Ont., for a celebration when that body held its annual convention in Detroit in September, 1931.

Then he was ex-Captain Harry Truman, a combat veteran of the First World War, ex-haber-dasher and, at the time, a Missouri County Court judge.

Three years later he was elected to the United States Senate where he remained until he was elected Vice-President in 1944.

He will go to Ottawa, unless something intervenes, probably late in June. He has had personally delivered invitations from Viscount Alexander, Governor-General of Canada who visited the White House in February, and by Prime Minister Mackenzie King on more than one occasion.

Two United States Presidents have had close associations with Canada. They were William Howard Taft and Roosevelt.

Taft maintained a Summer home in Murray Bay, Que., for many years and it is still owned and used by his descendants, including his son, Senator Robert A. Taft of Ohio.

But Taft never went there during his term as president. In those days it was not considered proper for a president to leave the United States while in office unless for serious reasons.

Roosevelt spent his vacations at the family Summer home on Campobello Island, New Brunswick, and it was there he was stricken with the attack of infantile paralysis which made him a cripple for life.

He visited Canada on a number of occasions while President, including his two trips to Quebec, in 1943 and 1944, for conferences with Winston Churchill.

In 1938 he went to Kingston, Ont., for an honorary degree and made the speech that placed the United States by Canada's side in common defence of the Western Hemisphere should Canada be threatened by a foreign invader.

Prospectors Take To Air In Search Of Minerals

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK, April 8 (AP)—Prospectors for strategic minerals are taking to the air to combat the threat of the United States becoming a have-not country.

A helicopter-borne magnetometer hovering above tree tops has traced in one hour mineral deposits in an area that a ground party previously had surveyed magnetically in 70 days.

Louis Shattuck Cates, President of the American Institute of Mining and Metallurgical Engineers, described this as "the most revolutionary development in geophysical prospecting."

Cates, who is also President of one of the United States' largest copper producers, the Phelps-Dodge Corp., said a "combination of devices" will henceforth aid the chances of finding further mineral reserves. He cited particularly the "ultra-violet light, the electrocope, the Geiger-Mueller counter and various geophysical methods of which a combination of the electric and magnet probably affords the most comprehensive data from which to draw conclusions."

It is this combination which the airborne magnetometer utilizes to plot not only the presence, depth and location of magnetic minerals, but also the position of faults, signals and rock layers, almost as graphically as a fluoroscope does the bony structure of man.

Hans Lundberg of Lundberg Explorations, Toronto, said in an interview that "there are miles and miles in this country where dirt and sand hides the ordinary surface indications miners have come to look for in their search for ore."

"The airborne magnetometer," the Swedish geophysicist said, "quickly and accurately penetrates this covering and indicates as well as any outcropping the structure and content of the earth's crust."

First helicopter magnetometer test surveys for minerals were made last Summer in Ontario and Quebec, and the results checked accurately with ground surveys.

Lundberg said United States and Canadian authorities are considering plans for a geophysical survey of both countries with airborne instruments.
