DEATHS, INJURIES IN RIOTING

Indonesians and British Clash After Truce

By RALPH MORTON

BATAVIA, Nov. 2 (AP) — Sharp encounters with Indonesian extremists broke out in Batavia today after heavy fighting at Magelang was halted under a temporary truce negotiated with the aid of President Soekarno of the "Indonesian Republic."

Fighting in the capital began in Indonesian Headquarters behind the Hotel des Indes, and snipers fired machine-guns for an hour before British Seaforth Highlanders restored order. Casualties on both sides were believed light, said the Dutch news agency Aneta.

R.A.F. IN ACTION

R.A.F. planes again strafed Indonesian forces battling British Indian troops in Malegang before the truce was achieved. The planes also dropped supplies to the British forces at the naval base of Soerabaja, where a spokesman said the situation remained "very delicate."

Aneta quoted pilots returning from Soerabaja as saying they saw fighting in progress by the light of huge fires raging in the naval base city.

In Magelang, 180 miles Southeast of Soerabaja, British and Indonesian representatives were conferring.

DUTCH HANDLE BANDITS

Dutch forces were reported able to cope with roving unorganized bandits from East and Central Java in the outskirts of Batavia. The Dutch estimated their number at approximately 30,000. They were making no concentrated attacks but fighting in packs of a few hundred.

Canada's Voice Heard at Youth Conference

LONDON, Nov. 2 (CP Cable)—Canada's voice was heard today for the first time at the International Youth Conference when Ernest Nix of Edmonton urged the 600 delegates representing 64 countries to continue their fight against remnants of Fascism and other forms of tyranny "whether organized or unorganized."

He declared:

"The youth of the world must be prepared to sacrifice as much for the new goals of peace as for the goals of war. The decisions which governments and peoples make now will set the pattern of life for years to come."

Mr. Nix said 1,000,000 Canadians are faced with the problem of employment and employment was indivisible from future peace — the corner stone in the reconstruction of world society.

"During the last years," he said, "the national income and production of Canada have been doubled. We mobilized all our energies for victory. We now are determined to achieve maximum production and a rising standard of living for our country."

Mr. Nix drew applause when he said young Canada are anxious that Canada's foodstuffs and industrial products should help in the reconstruction of devastated countries of Europe.

Pierre Juneau, Montreal, is arranging for some of the Canadian delegates to attend a students conference in Prague after the London meeting.

FINED FOR CARRYING WEAPON

NORTH VANCOUVER, B.C., Nov. 2 (CP)—Arthur Cornish was fined $100 or six months in jail after he was convicted in police court today of a charge of carrying an offensive weapon.

Compromise Ends Packers Strike Threat

WINNIPEG, Nov. 2 (CP) — The threat of a crippling Dominion-wide strike of 12,000 workers in Canada's meatpacking industry was removed today when union and company officials reached an agreement in the ninth day of their conference.

Mr. Justice S. E. Richards, Government-appointed mediator who presided over negotiations, announced that "the strike has been averted." A settlement has been made between the United Packinghouse Workers of America (C.I.O.) representing employees of 19 meatpacking plants, and officials of Canada's three major meatpacking companies — Swift Canadian, Burns and Company and Canada Packers.

In the House of Commons Labor Minister Humphrey Mitchell announced that the basis for settlement was a 45-hour week in place of the present 48-hour week, with an increase of 4½ cents an hour in present rates.

"MITCHELL INACCURATE"

However, E. B. Jolliffe of Toronto, counsel for the Canadian section of the C.I.O. attending the conference, declared that Labor Minister Mitchell's statement was premature and did not present exactly what was agreed upon.

"A preliminary settlement has been reached," said Mr. Jolliffe, "but Mr. Mitchell is rather inaccurate."

Mr. Mitchell's statement said the companies and the union had agreed to make a joint application to Regional War Labor Board for the wage increase. Mr. Jolliffe denied this, stating that "we still have to discuss with the Government its share of responsibility for implementing the settlement . . . As far as the union is concerned the settlement is not concluded until implemented."

L. A. Forsythe of Montreal, counsel for the companies, agreed with Mr. Jolliffe that there "was a distinct understanding between the parties that the details of settlement would not be released until a method of implementing the agreement was settled."

The agreement reached by the union and companies represents a compromise. Original demands of the 12,000 workers in 19 plants across the Dominion were for a 40-hour five-day week with a 30 per cent overall increase in pay.

The final settlement was similar to a counter-proposal by the companies offering a 45-hour week with an hourly pay increase.

POWERFUL JEWISH BRIGADE ON REVIEW IN PALESTINE

POWERFUL JEWISH BRIGADE IN PALESTINE: The eyes of the world are on Palestine today as the fight for a Jewish homeland has been revived. There have been threats of a Jehab (holy war) that would set the entire Near East ablaze. But the Jews, too, have power. Here is a view of the Jewish brigade, formed before the war, with British authorization to defend their settlements. It is more powerful now than ever. Picket Lines Grow at Windsor After Clash With Officers

By The Canadian Press

Fast-breaking developments in the 52-day strike of automobile workers at Windsor, Ont., brought new tension on labor fronts today, despite word from Winnipeg that the threat of a strike among 12,000 packinghouse workers apparently has ended.

Scenes around the Ford Motor Company of Canada plant in Windsor were described as more "like a mardi gras than anything else" with picket lines growing steadily in a solidarity demonstration following announcement by Attorney-General Leslie Blackwell of Ontario that all available provincial police are being sent to Windsor.

The 10,000 workers were called on strike by Local 200 of the United Automobile Workers of America (C.I.O.) but labor sources said last night strike action might spread to include workers in all U.A.W. plants in the Windsor area. Such action would involve about 30 plants employing 12,000 workers in which U.A.W. Local 95 is organized with about 8000 members.

The joint policy committee of Local 195 was reported in conference on the possibility of calling its members out on strike.

Following the announcement by Mr. Blackwell that provincial police had been ordered to Windsor to maintain law and order and to protect Ford Company property against destruction which might cause loss of life, it was learned authoritatively in Ottawa that the Royal Canadian Mounted Police was providing approximately 125 men to assist the provincial police at Windsor.

POLICE, PICKETS CLASH

Decision to send provincial police apparently came as a sequel to yesterday's first open clash between pickets and Windsor police. Official reports said there were no injuries in the clash and that no weapons were used by police as Chief Constable Claude Renaud, acting on Windsor Police Commission instructions, led 15 policemen in an unsuccessful attempt to smash an opening in closely-massed picket lines.

Meanwhile new efforts at settlement of the strike at the Federal Wire and Cable Company in Guelph, Ont., called Aug. 16 and affecting about 300 employees seeking union security provisions, were made known in Toronto by C. H. Millard, national director of the United Steelworkers of America (C.I.O.).

Millard said he is advising the Federal Government the union's acceptance of a proposal to negotiate the dispute before a government-appointed umpire whose decision on points of disagreement would be final and binding on all parties.

Farris Sees Hope for Peace in World Court

VANCOUVER, Nov. 2 (CP)—Another world war could only result in the destruction of civilization, but the world had at its hand today world court and security council powers which could prevent nations from resorting to arms, Chief Justice W. B. Farris said in an address to the Law Society of British Columbia tonight.

The chief justice was guest of honor, on the eve of his departure for the South, of the law society, at a dinner. He has been ordered by his doctors to take at least two months' rest.

"The atomic bomb can never be controlled by scientific discoveries," he said. "And another world war can only result in the destruction of civilization."

"It was evident at the United Nations conference at San Francisco," he said, "that the delegates there realized — even before the atomic bomb was revealed—that discoveries would be such that another war meant the destruction of mankind.

"While at times it appeared that the conference might break down, delegates realized it must not and that machinery must be set up to ensure peace in the future.

"This machinery was set up in the charter and statute of the new world court."

The present charter and statute, he explained, differed from the League of Nations in that under the old league there was no machinery for settling of disputes between nations other than legal disputes which might be referred to the court.

"As a rule," he continued, "wars are brought about not over a legal dispute, but over political disputes, or by ignoring all laws—as in the case of the great war just ended.

"Under the new charter, a security council is set up to take over where the court leaves off. The security council has been given powers to take any and all steps which may be necessary to prevent war and maintain peace."

50 Men Search for 13-Year-Old

VANCOUVER, Nov. 2 (CP)—Up to 50 men who helped in the search last September for four-year-old Dianne Blunt will comb bushes tomorrow and Sunday in the vicinity of the East-End home of Bobby Martin, 13, who has been missing since Monday.

Edwin F. Arnett, who organized the civilian search for little Dianne, whose battered body was found in an unused garage, has asked friends to assist following an appeal from Duncan E. Martin, discharged veteran and father of the missing boy.

Snow, Blizzards Chill Prairie

WINNIPEG, Nov. 2 (CP) — This Winter, meteorological experts at Ottawa predicted would be colder than last year, seems to have already arrived on the Western Prairies.

Heavy snowfall fell during the day over a wide area extending from Regina on the West, to Sioux Lookout, Ont., on the East.

The Pas had a blizzard sweeping snow into drifts at 30 miles an hour, but visibility which was zero during the morning, improved later in the day.

Winnipeg was blanketed with about one-half inch of snow with temperatures ranging just below the freezing point.

In Alberta, which had seen snowfall a few days earlier, temperatures at some points flirted with zero, Lethbridge was expecting the temperature to drop to three above tonight, while in Red Deer early morning had seen the mercury at five below zero.

The weather man predicted generally fair and cool in all Prairie Provinces for Saturday.

"Storm in Teacup" Says Victoria Mayor

VICTORIA, Nov. 2 (CP)—Mayor P. E. George of Victoria tonight described as "a storm in a teacup" the argument arising in Vancouver as to how administering "power boards" should be appointed if the municipalities of Lower Vancouver Island and the Lower Mainland decided in favor of taking over British Columbia Electric Railway assets within their boundaries.

He expressed belief such boards should be set up as corporate bodies, unable to draw upon municipal funds.

Coast, 5 Units Attain V-Loan Goal

VANCOUVER, Nov. 2 (CP)—Coast and suburban divisions went over the top together today and at same time five more units reached their goals as B.C. Yukon area chalked up another banner day for the Ninth Victory Loan.

An investment of $7,823,550, biggest since the opening day of the campaign, boosted public and armed forces subscriptions to $64,413,350, within nine per cent of the primary provincial objective of 70,500,000.

In addition to Coast and suburban, Vancouver division shot up to 96 per cent of her $31,850,000 quota.

Coast stands at 102 per cent with total investments at $2,260,100.

Armed forces shot up to 334 per cent of their $1,500,000 quota.

Three leading units in the province are Alberni District-West Coast, 124 per cent; North Vancouver, 122 per cent; and Vancouver South 113 per cent. Prince Rupert is the first major city to go over the top, reaching $700,000 quota.

Happy Lad Not Knowing It May Be Last Birthday

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 2 (AP) — A five-year-old leukemia victim, Eugene Totaro, happily rocked to and fro on a new hobby horse today, unaware that doctors expect his birthday today may be his last.

After two weeks' hospital treatment, the boy was sent home recently — to die. Doctors, reporting the disease incurable, give him but a few weeks to live.

13-Year-Old Can't Buy $40,000 House

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 2 (AP)—A judge refused to permit Peggy Ann Garner, 13-year-old movie actress, to buy a $40,000 house yesterday, saying it was too expensive and too fancy. Superior Judge Henry M. Willis directed that 25 per cent of the young acress' current weekly earnings of $1000 should be put into a trust fund, instead of an unproductive investment.

Kimberley Tops V-Loan Goal

Kimberley Friday joined other Kootenay-Boundary centres over the top in the 9th Victory Loan.

Some 1589 V-bond savers of the new city have invested $385,500 in Canada's financial win-the-peace effort. Kimberley's minimum target was $385,000.

One of the largest purchases of the last few days was made by the Kimberley and District Memorial Society, in the form of a $25,000 subscription, representing the prizes guaranteed in the Society's draw.

380 Injured in Anti-Zionist Displays, Egypt

Arabs Stage Balfour Day Strikes in Syria, Palestine, Lebanon; British Give Warning

By FRED KRIEG

CAIRO, Nov. 2 (AP)—Shouting, rioting anti-Zionists fired a synagogue and smashed Jewish stores today in wild clashes in Cairo injuring at least 380 persons, and unverified reports said seven persons were killed in Alexandria.

Riots flared in Port Said, Mansura, and Zagazig, Egypt, while planned "Balfour Day" strikes and demonstrations protesting against making Palestine a Jewish national home were staged by Arabs in Palestine, Syria, and Lebanon.

British officials listed 290 civilians and 90 police injured in Cairo. Reports that seven persons died in Alexandria's riots could not be confirmed immediately.

ARREST LOOTERS

The Egyptian Prime Minister, Nokrashi Pasha, appealing to the people to be calm, said "there are no signs that more events will occur" and "the people will resume business tomorrow."

Maj.-Gen T. W. Fitzpatrick, Acting Commandant in Cairo, said the situation was regarded as "well in hand" tonight, but Cairo police remained out in full force. Sudanese troops, armed with long whips, also stood at strategic points. Gen. Fitzpatrick said 150 persons, mostly looters, were arrested.

Steel-helmeted police fired into the air, used tear gas and swung clubs trying to disperse the crowds who seethed into Cairo streets on the 28th anniversary of the Balfour note promising the Jews a national home in Palestine.

SERVE ULTIMATUM

In Palestine, where Balfour Day coincided with an announcement that Field Marshal Viscount Gort had resigned as High Commissioner because of his health, disturbances accompanied a country-wide Arab general strike.

The British Government through Colonial Secretary Hall served an ultimatum to terrorists in Palestine's Jewish community that unless there is a cessation of the "dastardly series of outrages" in the Holy Land, negotiations for settling the Jewish problem will be halted.

Mr. Hall referred to yesterday's organized attacks on Palestine's transportation system that cost five lives and wounded at least eight persons.

Gen. Fitzpatrick said the Cairo rioting was kept from spreading to the European parts of the city. Foreign establishments in the riot area also were attacked.

King, Queen Plan Visit to Dominions

LONDON, Nov. 2 (CP Cable)—A Buckingham Palace spokesman tonight confirmed reports that the King and Queen hoped to visit each of the Dominions but added: "It is a hope for the future. No arrangements have yet been made."

Bomb Disposal Blasts Shake Coast Section

VICTORIA, Nov. 2 (CP)—Two sharp explosions late today caused anxiety among residents of Victoria and nearby Esquimalt and Royal Oak, in Saanich district, until Royal Canadian Navy officials announced that the blasts were caused by bomb disposal operations.

Windows in Esquimalt were broken and buildings in downtown Victoria shook. The blasts also were felt at Royal Oak, five miles away, but no damage was reported there.

Test Rocket Bomb

Here are two stages in the firing of a V-2 rocket bomb from the mainland of Europe in a test conducted by British engineers. The rocket was reconstructed by British experts from pieces gathered from many parts of Europe. It was fired at a designated target, 150 miles out in the North Sea. The experiment was pronounced a success. At bottom V-2 is shown in place, ready for firing. At the top, the rocket soars straight towards the stratosphere leaving a trail of fire, a split second after it was fired by electric impulse.

Charge U. S.-Drilled 6th Fighting Reds

BY SPENCER MOOSA

CHUNGKING, Nov. 2 (AP)—A Chinese Communist dispatch charged today that the Central Government's new 6th Army, equipped and trained by Americans, is in action against the Reds along the Southern section of the Tientsin-Pukow railroad.

It was the first accusation that American-drilled and supplied Chinese troops were involved in the current strife.

Previously the Communists had expressed open irritation over the employment of United States transports to take Central Government forces to Chinese Communist "liberated areas."

The Chinese 6th Army fought the Japanese in Northern Burma ahead of construction crews building the Ledo Highway.

Along sections of the North-South railroad between Peiping and Hankow, which parallels the Tsientsin-Pukow railroad to the East, the Communists said large scale fighting is in progress.

Communist sources told of a "great offensive" by the Government aimed at opening the Peiping-Hankow line for unrestricted movements of Gen. Chiang's armies to North China and Manchuria.

SAYS JAPS AIDING

The Reds charged that two brigades of Japanese troops were cooperating with Government forces in one sector.

A Government spokesman in the 12th War Zone said between 100,000 and 120,000 Communists, fully equipped with artillery, were closing in from the Northeast and South of Kweisui, capital of the rich Suiyuan Province in Inner Mongolia.

Kweisui is under siege, Chinese dispatches reported today.

The dispatches said the city was in grave danger and that thousands of inhabitants were pouring out in hurried flight.

Gen. Ho Lung, one of the most able Red Commanders, is leading the attack, the dispatches said, as the Communists seek to widen their Suiyuan holdings and bar any overland movement of Central Government troops from China North into Manchuria.

If It's a Cold Winter Blame the Sun Spots

OTTAWA, Nov. 2 (CP)—Weather experts at the Dominion Experimental Farm took a long look at their maps and charts today and then agreed more or less that this Winter will be cold—colder at least than last.

Dr. R. E. DeLury, Government astronomer, blames it on sun spots. While emphasizing that nothing was ever certain about the weather, he theorized that increased cloudiness induced by sun spots should mean increasingly cold Winters for the next four or five years until solar disturbances enter a new phase.

Correspondent Harassed, Bullied Cajoled and Haunted by Houseboy

By HAL BOYLE

TOKYO, Nov. 2 (AP)—I am being haunted by a grown-up Atabrine pill with black hair. He is a Japanese Hotel room boy named Tetuo Umeza—18 years old and about three inches taller than the hub of a jeep.

One week ago the hotel management assigned him to clean my room and now I can't scrape him out of my life. He has left the room momentarily and that has given me this chance to slip the word of my plight to the outside world. Help! Help!

It is all my own fault. It began seven days ago when there came a knock on the door and Tetuo poked his head in. He was singing an old Japanese folk song and sounded like a porcupine with ingrown quills. He was laden with mops, brooms, rags, brushes and a pail of water.

GIVING CANDY BIG MISTAKE

He did such a good job of cleaning up my room that when I got back I gave him a candy bar. That was my big mistake. Tetuo immediately adopted me, engulfed me with Japanese terms of praise, and at once set out to become my honorable valet, my honorable slave, my honorable mother and father, my patron and my business counsellor.

For seven days now I have been trying unsuccessfully to break out of this amber ocean of devotion. He is worse than seven times seven devoted wives.

He is punctilious about his duties. Once I sneaked into bed before he could complete his nightly chore of turning the sheet and he gave me a frustrated look as though I had stabbed him in the back.

CAN'T LIE IN BED

Tetuo won't let me lie abed in the morning now—"must creen room, must creen room"—yet I can't leave until he finishes polishing my shoes. Otherwise he looks so sad that I get that creepy, guilty feeling. I have to fight him off to keep him from tying my necktie, and he absolutely refuses to let me indulge in my favorite nasty habit—wearing the same shirt two days in a row.

Be Sure New Teaching Methods Worthy Before Exchanging for Old, Teachers Counselled

"It is harder than it ever was to be a teacher today; this is the melting pot, the most critical stage.

"It may be that we have pushed the pendulum too far in the opposite direction, that now is the time to push it back a little."

On this note was ended a brilliant speech by Dr. Henrietta Anderson, teacher of psychology and Vice-Principal of Provincial Normal School, Victoria, before more than 250 teachers and guests at a banquet of the West Kootenay-Boundary Teachers' Convention held at the Canadian Legion Friday night.

The banquet was one of the concluding events of the Convention, for only two sessions are planned Saturday morning to close a fast-moving three-day gathering. A dance followed the banquet and card games were also enjoyed.

Dr. Anderson took her listeners over a range of teaching methods and urged that teachers weigh carefully modern ways to make sure that a worthy "exchange of lamps" had been carried out in substituting new ways for old, as she discussed carefully her topic, "New Education Lamps for Old.'

SEES NEED BETTER TRAINING METHODS

"I feel that perhaps you should let your head soar into the clouds, but that you should keep your feet firmly on the ground. Cling resolutely to the few lingering remnants of respectability of old classrooms," she urged.

That better methods of training teachers was required was one of her beliefs.

She wondered if in making changes in teaching methods one mistake had not been made. The changes had been made for all children, but did they suit all children, she asked. She would be willing to take grammar or literature out for 75 per cent of the children, but not the other 25 per cent. The other 25 per cent, she felt, had suffered as a result. It must not be assumed that because a new system had been found, that it was going to be all right for all pupils. The brighter pupil suffered in this new dispensation, tood.

"You are the people who can do something about it; by battering at the gates," she told the gathering.

OLD THINGS NOT ALL WRONG

There was evidently something wrong with the "old lamps", but she asked that the teachers be not too heavy in their denunciation of old school methods. She thought wrong the view that because new things had been discovered, that everything that was old was necessarily wrong, foolish or stupid.

In the newer outlook "we must beware of adopting a number of cliche or claptrap sayings that, boiled down, don't have much meaning."

There was a considerable amount not good in new schools, and probably the search was for the best of the old plus the best of the new.

One of the "lamps we've changed" was the change of slant from one of the academic to the new activity outlook. Everybody had had to learn whether they liked it or not. "But," she warned, "don't run away with the idea that the pupils like all the new things." She recalled the story of the boy who asked his teacher "Is this the day we have to do what we like?"

HOMES, CHURCHES SHARED JOB

It was said that the old school did not develop the whole child, that the modern school did. She asked her listeners to remember that in the old days there was not the same need for it, that the home was functioning then. She emphasized the word "functioning." The church was functioning then too. There was not the same need to develop the whole child.

She recalled that her own parents felt that she wasn't educated if she hadn't learned music. She had to learn to play whist. All this was part of her social training, and so it wasn't necesary for the schools to do what they were doing today; they didn't have the same burden.

The schools were stereotyped, academical, their methods now replaced by activity programs. That did not necessarily mean that the modern pupil was more worthily employed. That was the intention, but she had seen classrooms today where such was definitely not the case.

"If we don't get lamps that burn better and brighter than the old ones, then we had better search for somthing that does," she said. The mere word activity was not necessarily the answer.

While a great deal of the teach- the student of old was subjected to was bad in many ways, there was no getting away from the fact that the student knew things beyond peradventure.

"We want to be jolly sure when we use new methods that we still finish up with a little balance in the bank." Useful learning was much more necessary today, the pupils really had to have something when finished.

She would be quite willing to cast out the old for the new if the old was replaced with something worthwhile.

The change in disciplinary methods from chastisement to counselling was a "worthy exchange of lamps." Chastisement did not do a very effective job, but Dr. Anderson said she was quite willing to agree with a noted teacher and psychologist who said that child nature being what it is, it might be wise to keep a strap hanging in the cupboard just in case.

Chastisement, however, was hurtful to the dignity of an adolescent and the change in methods here was excellent. There must be care in selecting the people who do the counselling. She did not feel that anyone was qualified of doing it just because they had been through Normal School. It took experience to guide the steps of the young. Only when teachers had lived through the vicissitudes themselves were they in the position of counselling effectively.

The old idea of condemnation had also been replaced, with consideration now to the fore. Lengthy and considered judgment was required. It was not wise to meet problems in the classroom with snap judgment.

There were those who swung the other way, believing the child to be angelic, but this, she felt, was a stupid point of view. She refused to blind herself to the fact that the child was still just a child and refused to impute to the child some sort of judgment that no child had.

Trying to place on a young child responsibility nature hadn't prepared him to meet was the start for juvenile delinquency. In high schools today there was much more carnal knowledge than in the past, many boys and girls did not know how to treat the opposite sex. This was the lamp that must be trimmed well and kept burning brightly.

MAKE REPLACEMENT WORK

She often wondered if chastisement wasn't more potent. Two means, fear of the Lord and social ostracism, had been effective measures. They may have been wrong, but they worked. She asked that it be made certain that whatever replaced them worked. Her generation had done well, she thought, and it had emerged with a higher sense of duty than the children of today.

Schools today were very concerned with social living. Students were not fully rounded out unless socially happy. She would say that autocracy had been taken out and democracy put in, but she wondered if all knew what was meant when they glibly spoke of democracy, or aristocracy. She wondered if "a real aristocracy" of the best people in the world could be developed in this country, the very opposite of the old autocratic rule. She wanted to be sure youth would fit better into the social structure.

Her generation had been more law abiding, but it was easier to be good in those days. She recalled that in her first 20 years she had not gone outside after dark, but it had not seemed a hardship, because all other girls were also kept in. It was easier to be good, and it was easier for parents and teachers to handle children.

She would like to be sure that in self expression the schools training was getting something that tended towards better balance, citizenship, respect of law and order.

She often thought people looked on professions as white collared jobs. In teaching, people were professing ability to hand on to children the cultured heritage of the past; teaching them to live a fuller life. If they were not doing this, they were not really professors.

Trail Unit 105 Per Cent of Bond Quota

TRAIL, B.C., Nov. 2—Trail District reached 105 per cent of its Ninth Victory Loan quota when yesterday's sales were totalled, giving all units substantial increases but Castlegar with 116 per cent, Trail and Rossland with 107 per cent each and Fruitvale with 101 per cent remained the only four sub-units to have passed their minimum objectives. Grand Forks with $19,350 to raise, Greenwood-Boundary with $16,200 short still remained behind their individual quotas.

The C. M. & S. internal canvass added another $12,250 yesterday to reach 114 per cent of its quota. Only other internal canvass over the top was that of the Tadanac municipal employees with 112 per cent. The West Kootenay Power employees almost doubled their total yesterday, but remained $21,050 short of their goal.

B.C. Gains in 9th Loan Race

OTTAWA, Nov. 2 (CP) — With Canada's Ninth Victory Loan forging ahead toward the end of the second lap on the three-week drive for $1,500,000,000, British Columbia was reported by Loan Headquarters tonight to be still leading the inter-provincial competition.

The West Coast Province had marked up 82.01 per cent of its general sales and payroll deduction objective, gaining nearly a full percentage point over its closest rival—Nova Scotia—on the basis of cumulative sales to Thursday night.

Nova Scotia reported 80.16 per cent, followed by Prince Edward Island with 67 per cent, Alberta, 64.53; New Brunswick, 60.62; Ontario, 59.39; Manitoba, 58.97; Quebec, 56.64 and Saskatchewan, 42.60.

AHEAD OF SCHEDULE

The National total was boosted to $895,871,750 by Thursday's sales of $103,674,400 and the loan was well ahead of a schedule which would show $1,000,000 by the close of business Saturday, the two-thirds point in the campaign. At this stage of the eighth loan, only $750,953,550 had been suscribed in a drive which eventually netted more than $1,500,000,000 on an objective of $1,350,000,000.

Sales to individual purchasers were $53,631,550 Thursday, compared with $40,320,900 in the previous loan, and brought the total to $454,894,500 of the $800,000,000 quota for this section of the loan.

Calgary and Edmonton, with identical objectives of $7,700,000, continued their race with Calgary well ahead at 66 per cent, compared with Edmonton's 52. Other Alberta cities: Lethbridge 111 per cent, Red Deer 78, Medicine Hat, 69, Wetaskiwin 41, and Drumheller 39.

The visit of the Canadian frigate, HMCS Grou, to Ocean Falls, B. C., spurred the Howe Sound paper town's Victory Loan drive. Officers and men of the ship topped their quota by 500 per cent and Capt. B. Johnson declared the Grou open for inspection during her stay at Ocean Falls.

Non-Striking Lumber Workers, Operators Attain Settlement

PORTLAND, Ore., Nov. 2 (AP)—America's hope for new houses brightened today as the non-striking half of the Northwest's lumber workers reached a compromise settlement with operators on wage demands.

The C.I.O. International Woodworkers of America, who have kept the logs rolling during the 40-day-old A.F.L. strike, accepted Big Fir operators' offer of a 12½ cent hourly increase, half the union demand. It ended the danger of a C.I.O. strike, which members had authorized if necessary.

But the striking A.F.L. charged that "the C.I.O. rank and file have been sold down the river by the low settlement," and declared they would continue their demands for a $1.10 minimum.

The C.I.O. asked originally for a $1.15 minimum and a 25-cent hourly wage increase. Both unions have been demanding a uniform minimum throughout the industry. More than 60,000 A.F.L. lumber workers are out.

Cruickshank Sets Pace at Richmond

RICHMOND, Va., Nov. 2 (AP)—Bobby Cruickshank, a threat in tournament golf for 30 years, set the pace in the $10,000 Richmond Invitation Golf tournament today with a par-equalling 71, a stroke better than any of the big-name professionals could manage over the windswept Hermitage Country Club course.

The lead of Cruickshank, professional at the Country Club of Virginia here, may be of short duration, for when darkness settled over the course with some of the field of 177 golfers unable to complete the first 18 holes, Frank Kingle, of Linden, N. J., was three under par through the 15th hole. Kringle and a dozen or so others will complete their first rounds early tomorrow.

A stroke back of Cruickshank, among those to finish, were Ben Hogan, of Hershey, Pa., Ed (Porky) Oliver of Wilmington, Del., Ky Laffoon, of Chicago, Jimmy Hines, of New York, and Willie Goggin, of White Plains, N. Y.

Scores of 83 for today's 18 holes were enough to qualify golfers for the second 18-hole test tomorrow and 102 had equalled or beaten this figure when darkness put an end to the play. Fifty leaders will play in the final 36 holes on Sunday.

Slammin' Sammy Snead, of Hot Springs, Va., encountered trouble and had to post a 74.

TOAST and TEA
BY J. V. McARTHUR

George Wharton Petter in his reminiscences tells a story of Calvin Coolidge who was at the time vice-president, and was staying in the Willard Hotel in Washington. One night there was an alarm of fire which brought all the guests down into the lobby. Even after whatever fire there was had been put out they were detained by the zealous firemen. Coolidge became impatient. He started upstairs but was halted by a fire-marshal, who asked: "Who are you?" To this Coolidge replied: "I am the vice-president," and he proceeded up a few steps. But the fire-marshal looked after him doubtfully for a moment, then ran up after him and stopped him again. "What are you vice-president of?" he demanded suspiciously. Mr. Coolidge drew himself up and replied: "I am vice-president of the United States." "Then come back down again," retorted the fire-marshal, "I thought you might have been the vice-president of the hotel."

Closely Guarded Meyer Busies Self With Defence

By WILLIAM BOSS
Canadian Press War Correspondent

AURICH, Germany, Nov. 2 (CP Cable)—Maj.-Gen. Kurt Meyer has lots of work to do in the next four weeks and guards from the Royal Winnipeg Rifles under Maj. Art Russell of Winnipeg will see to it that nothing distracts him.

Faced with a charge of murder, the former commander of the German 12th S. S. Division—and his counsel—will need a shrewd argument to reply successfully to the case which Lt.-Col. Bruce Macdonald of Windsor, Ont., has spent months preparing.

It is evident Meyer will use every means to justify an action he admits having taken. He goes on trial Nov. 28 on charges of responsibility for execution of 48 Canadian prisoners of war.

Col. Macdonald has placed Capt. Wady Lehman of New Westminster, B.C., German-speaking member of the war crimes investigating staff, at Meyer's disposal as confidential interpreter. Like Marshal Goering, Meyer feels an interpreter is more important than the best counsel.

Capt. Lehman refused today to discuss two interviews he has had with Meyer in his cell, feeling this would constitute a breach of confidence. He observed, however, the S.S. general was completely poised and never once lost his composure.

He spends most of the day staring at the wall and at six snapshots resting on its concrete sill.

The snapshots show an attractive wife and three blond children. They are the articles Lt.-Gen R. P. Clark, commander of the Winnipeg Rifles, allowed him to retain from his personal kit.

There are no blind spots in the six-foot-wide by 12-foot-long cell into which guards peer every second of the day. A medical and dental examination Wednesday established that there is no poison vial or weapons secreted about his body while the constant watch militates against an attempt at suicide.

Meyer revealed during his brief appearance Wednesday before Col. Clark that he understands some English, though insufficient to follow an ordinary conversation. He does not attempt to engage the guards in conversation, however.

Senator McLean Suggests Negotiations to Bring Newfoundland Into Confederation

By R. K. CARNEGIE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA, Nov. 2 (CP)—Senator A. N. McLean, Liberal member of the Senate for New Brunswick, suggested in an interview today that Canada should not only start negotiations to bring Newfoundland into the Dominion but make deals with Denmark to acquire Greenland and with France for the Islands of St. Pierre-Miquelon in the St. Lawrence River.

"I talked informally with prominent men in Newfoundland about their island joining the Dominion and there is no doubt in my opinion they are intending eventually to make a change," said Senator McLean. "It is not logical they continue in a colonial status."

He said there were some things that made Newfoundlanders look with favor on joining the Dominion. They would obtain the advantages of old age pensions and family allowances and would have the resources of Canada to help in the development of Labrador, its minerals, forest and waterpower assets. Canada could be a great help in promoting Newfoundland's trade in outside markets.

NEWFOUNDLAND RICH IN RAW MATERIALS

"Newfoundland," he said, "is very rich in raw materials and everyone knew these are going to be even more valuable in the post-war period than before the war. Canada could afford to be very generous as regards terms to Newfoundland if the latter would give consideration to joining confederation."

Two or three decades ago, the Senator said, Newfoundland was favorably disposed to negotiate joining Canada but unfortunately they were not given the encouragement at that time to which they were entitled.

"One of the chief objections of the Dominion at that time, we believe, was the debt of Newfoundland which was less than $100,000,000," he said. "However Canadian ideas on money have changed radically in recent years and the Dominion spent far more than $100,000,000, I understand, on defence projects in that colony during the war. The United States spent several times that amount but it has 99-year leases and Canada has not."

Negotiations should be opened up with France, Senator McLean thought, for the purchase of St. Pierre-Miquelon. Canada was in a better position than France to develop these islands both for defence and economically and they were strategically important for the defence of Canada.

"Canada should certainly negotiate for Greenland," he continued. "Denmark is a long distance away and Canada could look after and service Greenland much better than Denmark."

Green Sees Raising of Army as Immediate Need; Lacroix Suggests Independence From Britain

By GEORGE KITCHEN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA, Nov. 2 (CP)—Howard Green, Progressive Conservative member for Vancouver South, in the Commons today warned the government that it would face a "tremendous" job in raising men for the post-war reserve army—the force upon which Canada's survival as a nation might rest.

Completing consideration of army estimates in the $1,365,000,000 war appropriation bill, Mr. Green said Defence Minister Abbott should inform the Canadian people at the "earliest date possible" what was planned for the reserve army and tell them how Canada's "new and important" position in world affairs affected this force.

Mr. Green spoke after Wilfrid Lacroix, Liberal member for Quebec-Montmorency, called for the use of voluntary methods in the raising of a large peacetime force and said he was not opposed to a well-disciplined army whose size was in keeping with the country's population and financial position.

At the conclusion of the two addresses, just before the supper adjournment, the House finished detailed examination of the $1,068,170,527 army estimates and then turned to air force estimates.

STUDY CRIMINAL CODE AMENDMENTS

Justice Minister St. Laurent told the House amendments to the criminal code designed to deal with the wave of crimes of violence now sweeping the country were under consideration.

In his remarks on the future reserve army, Mr. Green said the "tremendous" development in weapons during the war had made the defence of Canada a "far more difficult and pressing problem" than it ever had been. Another problem was the fact Canada would be under commitment to the United Nations security organization.

He described as "even more serious" the statement earlier this week by President Truman that the United States, Britain and Canada were, in effect, the trustees of atomic force.

"All these developments mean that we must give the most careful consideration to the development of our defence forces," he said.

Canada must remember what happened after the first Great War, when the Canadian corps, the best equipped and most efficient fighting force in the conflict, came home with a "wonderful" record and then was "terribly weakened."

AN IMMEDIATE JOB

"We do not want to have the same development take place after the war. The government should be warned against sliding back to the 1939 outlook, and there are signs that that is the trend."

The official Opposition believed it would be a difficult task to raise nearly 300,000 men for the post-war active and reserve armies, and a job which should not be left to the future.

One of the biggest jobs would be to obtain the support of the Canadian people who even today were not in the "proper frame of mind." It would require "very strong" leadership to enlist the support of the people in raising the force.

SHOULD SEEK INDEPENDENCE

In his address, Mr. Lacroix suggested Canada should aim at her complete independence from Britain, and also urged the government to grant general amnesty to all deserters in view of the reasons behind desertions and the needs for labor in the forests and on farms.

Mr. Lacroix, who broke from the Liberal ranks when home defence troops were sent overseas and then returned his support to the party in the June Federal election, said some people were demanding Canada use conscription to raise a first-class peacetime military force.

Maintenance of a large peacetime army would mean further steps toward imperialism and he felt Canada's policy should be oriented toward gaining her complete independence from Britain. Then Canada could march side by side with the United States and go forward toward full development.

He had always been opposed to war and militarism and he wondered if Canada might not play the same role as Switzerland played in Europe during wars. Canada was not rich enough or sufficiently populated to take part in global conflicts.

The upkeep of a large peacetime military force would mean continued heavy taxes and controls. The burden would fall on the low salaried workers and businessmen would not be able to operate properly because of controls and taxes.

Slocan Continues Loan Drive; See Big Final Effort

Slocan sub-unit anticipates a large increase in subscriptions during the last two days of the 9th Victory Loan campaign, Nelson headquarters said Friday.

Frank Broughton, Slocan Chairman, and W. E. Graham, Slocan City, reported they were continuing their efforts to get over the top as quickly as possible.

Applications from Japanese are showing a satisfactory increase in subscriptions over previous loans, it was reported.

Urges Nelson Unit to Keep Up Drive

Victory Loan Headquarters at Nelson has been urged by M. F. Wardhaugh, Chairman of General Sales for B. C.-Yukon Division of the National War Finances Committee, to extend its efforts to keep the Division in front. In a telegram, he said that the Division was leading all Canada in the general canvass and "with your help we shall stay in front."

To Leave by Air for Talks in Washington

CLEMENT ATTLEE

LONDON, Nov. 2 (CP)—Prime Minister Attlee and his party will leave by air Nov. 8 for the forthcoming talks in Washington with President Truman and Prime Minister MacKenzie King on atomic energy, it was announced today.

An airliner will carry the entire party, which probably will number about 15, and probably will make the journey to the American capital non-stop. The aircraft is expected to arrive in Washington in time for breakfast Nov. 9, with the atomic-energy conversations opening at the White House Nov. 11.

Mr. King is to leave Nov. 4, ending a stay of more than a month in the United Kingdom. He will sail aboard the liner Queen Mary, landing at New York, and probably will go directly to Washington from there.

It was said in informed quarters that the British Government made a last-minute decision not to include in the mission the group of British scientists engaged in atomic energy research in this country. It is understood Mr. Attlee will rely upon Sir John Anderson, chairman of the Atomic Energy Committee and himself a distinguished scientist, to furnish expert opinion.

It was reported in official circles last night that Mr. Attlee will urge sharing of the atom-bomb secret among the United Nations. A source close to the Prime Minister said he would emphasize the possibility of industrial gains which might be effected through internationalization of atomic research.

FIGHTING BETWEEN INDONESIANS AND BRITISH FORCES CONTINUES

By RALPH MORTON

BATAVIA, Nov. 2 (AP)—Peace was restored in the Magelang area at noon today by a temporary truce which followed a night of sharp fighting between Indonesian extremists and British Indian troops, during which RAF planes again strafed Indonesian forces.

Elsewhere in central and Eastern Java conditions were reported generally improved, although the situation at the naval base of Soerabaja was described as "very delicate".

Col. C. H. O. Pugh, commander of tthe British garrison at Soeramaja, succeeded in effecting the evacuation of 1500 Dutch nationals—mostly women and children — and a similar number were expected to embark tonight.

At Magelang, British and Indonesian leaders were reported conferring during the truce, effected with the aid of Dr. Soekarno, President of the "Indonesian republic", whose cease fire orders previously had been ignored by the extremists. Outcome of the negotiations remained in doubt.

The RAF strafing during the night enabled Gurkha infantry to reoccupy additional areas in the town, which is about 260 miles Southwest of Batavia, and reduced danger to the hospital, previously reported under fire by the Indonesians.

A British commentator said the fighting involved extremists apparently out of the control of Dr. Soekarno, President of the "Indonesian republic," and added that a peaceful solution depended upon whether the extremists would obey Soekarno's instructions to cease fighting.

Dr. Soekarno's republic issued a statement, meanwhile, saying the republic would hold a general election in a few days as "a proof that for us the wishes of the population form the basis and are the guiding principle of social reconstruction."

The statement did not say how the elections would be organized.

Allied headquarters announced that Brig. A. W. F. Mallaby, who was killed Tuesday was shot while attempting to cooperate with Indonesian nationalists to enforce a cease fire order in Soerabaja.

The announcement said that during a lull in the fighting two Indonesians came to Brig. Mallaby's car, which was flying a white flag, and called out. Brig. Mallaby leaned forward to find out what they wanted and was shot, dying instantly.

Speakers at Panel Discussion Offer Many Solutions to Juvenile Delinquency Problem

A general return to the churches and Christianity, social assistance, more recreation centres, and the right kind of supervision and environment, were suggestions made by speakers at a West Kootenay-Boundary Teachers' Convention panel discussion on the topic, "What are we doing about juvenile delinquency?" held at the Junior High School, Friday afternoon.

Six speakers were present at the discussion, which was open to the public. Dr. M. A. Cameron was chairman. The speakers were J. W. Smith, Nelson Social Assistance Worker; Parker Williams, Trail Magistrate; E. Kelter, Nelson Recreation Leader; Mrs. T. J. S. Ferguson, Nelson parent; Rev. A. Stewart, Nelson Minister; Dr. H. Anderson, Victoria educationist.

LARGELY NATURAL SAYS SMITH

Many important issues were raised during the discussion. J. W. Smith, Regional Superintendent of the Social Assistance Board, said his department felt that those most concerned with juvenile delinquency should take heart as it was almost wholly a natural thing.

"It is not," he said, "some mysterious malady for which we must find some new and miraculous cure."

Juvenile delinquency had received a tremendous amount of public attention since the beginning of the war, and it had now reached the stage where the name might be applied to any problem in which a child was involved, he said.

"Delinquency has increased throughout the war years, largely in centres where there are war industries and in boom towns and where there are large concentrations of our army and navy personnel."

There were no definite figures in Canada, but in the U.S.A., from 1940 to 1943, delinquency in boys had increased 11 per cent and in girls 38 per cent, Mr. Smith said, and in alleged delinquency cases received in the Children's Court in New York, there was an increase of 50 per cent in cases where boys were involved, and an increase of 100 per cent in girls' cases. There was only a very slight increase in the smaller communities.

THREE LEVELS OF ATTACK

"In any community there are organizations on three levels to meet the problem," Mr. Smith continued. There were the schools, churches and leisure time organizations, secondly, there were welfare organizations, the social assistance board, and others; while thirdly there was the court, which aimed at the correction of problems.

There were home-made remedies for lessening of the trouble, he thought. The educational forces should build up a resistance against temptation in children, on the same lines as a medical program for resistance against disease.

MAINTENANCE OF HOME

Telling what the Social Assistance Branch was doing in B. C., Mr. Smith said it had seven branches dealing with welfare in the province, one of these dealt with child welfare, and among other things, dealt with adoption.

Every effort was directed toward keeping the home together in these cases, Mr. Smith said. When the children had a natural mother, the Board thought she had more to give the child than a very good foster-mother.

The Social Assistance Branch felt that delinquency should not be dealt with by the branch or a judge alone, but by every person in the community. In conclusion, he asked his listeners to remember that "a decaying nation starts with the adults and not the youth."

KELTER DESCRIBES CIVIC CENTRE

The Civic Centre in Nelson, and the various activities that went on in the Centre were described by its director, Ed Kelter. He thought that delinquency was on the increase due to lack of supervision, and he also advocated more censorship on movies and on radio programs that were not, as he put it, "wholesome for kids".

A recreational program, he thought, was the answer to preventing juvenile delinquency after school hours and on holidays. He told of how the Pro-Rec movement started in Vancouver and spread through the Province. The only trouble was lack of leadership, he said, and in 1936 a practical training school in leadership was started and had carried on ever since. There were 30,000 active participants in the movement in the Province until the outbreak of war.

Parker Williams of Trail, magistrate and judge of the Juvenile Court, thought prevention was the only adequate method of dealing with the problem. Children should not be treated as adult criminals, and should not be dealt with as offenders but as requiring help and guidance.

In most juvenile problems in court the case would be adjourned, or a fine would have to be paid, or the child would be placed in the care of a probation officer. He thought the most effective way was to deprive the child of going to the movies for a month, or other punishments along similar lines. He thought an industrial school should only be used as a last resort.

He suggested that teachers acquaint themselves with the Juvenile Delinquency Act, and that they report all cases of delinquency or tendencies to delinquency to the proper officers.

They should also teach the children the difference between informing and "squealing". The police, he said, were more interested in preventing delinquency than "nailing" the delinquents.

A different note was struck by Mrs. T. J. S. Ferguson of Nelson, who gave her views on the situation as a parent.

"Where parents fail", she said, "is in their difficulty to see their children in a detached manner."

FIRST SIGNS NOT NOTICED

She thought teachers could help in that respect. The first signs of delinquency were not noticed as a rule. Sin, she said, did not come in an ugly guise.

Parents, she said, needed less of an adult outlook on life. They should not depress a child or fail to feel his buoyancy and zest for life. Some adults lacked a sense of humor and an understanding of children. It was important to let children play and express themselves.

Affection was another important item in rearing children, and they should not be brought up in an atmosphere of unrest and distrust. The training of children was largely done at home, and Mrs. Ferguson thought the home life should be adapted to the needs of the child.

She spoke of the habit some parents had of sending their children to the movies regularly. "This should be a treat, not a habit," she said.

Juvenile delinquency she thought, was really adult delinquency, and adults should make a pattern for their children to follow.

"We must live by a moral law if we would have our children live by it", she said.

Juvenile delinquency required a Christian answer, Rev. A. Stewart, Presbyterian minister of Nelson, told the audience.

"Unless Christian ethics and principles are practised in every department of life, the Church of Christ is seriously handicapped in its work," he said.

MONEY BEHIND CRIMES

A fundamental belief in money, he thought was behind many crimes. Each generation was led to believe that money was a test of accomplishment and success.

He spoke of "the aggressive nature of our general ways of living," and said that as an alternative to this adults should have general regard for the welfare of society as a whole.

The low standard of business ethics, and fraudulent advertising, he said, all led young people to think "he is the most successful who can create the most favorable impression with the least regard to truth."

The way in which dishonesty in business relations, and bribery in private business were tolerated, he thought, must be a factor in the education of many. To prevent crime he thought more should be done than treating the persons who were already criminals.

School had a large part to play in preventing juvenile delinquency and guiding the child in the correct ways of living.

RETURN TO CHURCHES

"If people generally would return to the churches it may be there would be a consequent reestablishment of all that Christian conduct and thought can mean," he concluded.

Dr. Henrietta Anderson said the educators whole point of view on the idea was prevention. They were more interested in the "high-chair stage" than in the "electric-chair stage."

A teacher had to take a child with the nature he had brought with him. The school had also to work with the environment of the child and had no control over it.

She thought the decreasing size of the family had something to do with the juvenile problem. In the days when homes housed larger families, she thought the home was a better, happier place. She thought the increase in female delinquency was due to the much earlier sex maturity age of little girls.

To aid prevention, teachers should make a closer checkup and case study of the bases in the classrooms, she said. In some schools the character of the child was made in Grade 1.

SHOULD UPHOLD THE HOME

In the spiritual realm, she thought the teacher had a marvellous opportunity. She spoke of how the children looked up to the teacher, and the example a teacher could set to her class. A school must uphold the home, she said, and not belittle it.

Dr Anderson said the Bible was the only book she knew that contained all the answers. She upheld Magistrate Williams' suggestion that young teachers should see others about their problems, such as the school boards and the local children's court.

"The best job you can do," she told the teachers, "is in the way you live, speak and act, and show the pupils exactly where you stand." They should find out the reasons why children went wrong and get at the back of them.

Teaching, she said, should be a grand and glorious privilege and not a burden.

B.C. Would Take Over Power, Not Services

VICTORIA, Nov. 2 (CP)—In view of the apparent misunderstanding on the part of various municipal representatives in connection with the proposed acquisition of the transit and distribution systems of the British Columbia Electric Railway Company, limited by them within their boundaries, Premier John Hart today issued a statement once again clarifying the government's position in the matter.

In a telegram to Mayor J. W. Cornett of Vancouver, the Premier stated that in connection with the proposed plebiscite he wishes to reiterate, "The government, as already stated on many occasions, while agreeable to taking over the production and development of the power to supply municipalities, will not take over and operate the transit lines, distribution systems, gas, and other operations within the Lower Mainland utility districts and the Greater Victoria utility districts as outlined in the Gilman report."

He further stated that "the government will assist in the financing of the purchase price by issuing its own bonds for the whole project and accept from the municipalities concerned their bonds for the respective sums of the part of projects taken over by them."

"The Commission recommended in the Gilman report to administer such operations within municipal boundaries must be appointed and maintained by the cities and municipalities and the cities and municipalities must take full responsibility," the Premier added.

Mr. Hart stated that the government has not moved from the position it took when he first announced its policy during the course of an address to the Legislature Feb. 10, 1943, when he said in part that:

"The government is not prepared to take over and operate the transportation system in Vancouver or Greater Vancouver, neither is it prepared to undertake the distribution of electricity in those areas. The same applies to Victoria and Greater Victoria.

"However, should these two centres desire to own their transit systems and the right to distribute electricity within their boundaries, the governmen will give consideration to any proposal they have to make."

"While it might be a very opportune time for Vancouver and Victoria to acquire the rights and charters of this company, the government is not suggesting that they do so; but, as I said before, if that is their desire and they approach the government every assistance will be given in connection with the financing of such a scheme."

Win or Lose New York Gets Fancy Cut

By SID FEDER

NEW YORK, Nov. 2 (AP)—They laughed when State Senator John J. Dunnigan, father of New York's modern racing law, predicted six years ago that some day the Empire State would take $10,000,000 annually from the gees-gees under the mutuels, and that betting would hit $200,000,000 a season.

The 1945 campaign of beating the horses—and vice versa—winds up its regular run tomorrow. And when they add up the score it looks as if there'll be a fancy $450,000,000 betting total for the year, and the State bankroll will get a shot in the arm of something like $30,000,000 from it.

There is the usual two-day United Hunts meet next week and an eight-day victory program for charity still to come. But the regular 144-day season puts the lid on with tomorrow's getaway card at the war-shifted Empire City-at-Jamaica meeting, headed by the $50,000 Westchester Handicap.

Nelson Legion Asks City Council to Deal With Wartime Housing; Asks B.C. to Retire Superannuates

That Nelson's civic authorities should proceed without further delay, to utilization of Wartime Housing, Ltd., to secure provision of new houses in Nelson to meet the needs both of men already returned, and of the still larger number yet to return, from overseas, was the expressed opinion Thursday night of Branch No. 51 of the Canadian Legion. There was a widespread feeling that the City Council had been dilatory respecting a housing shortage that had been clearly foreseen. A 50-unit project, some members suggested, would be reasonable for Nelson, to meet the actual and prospective need.

The following resolution addressed to the City Council was adopted:

"Whereas members of the armed services on returning home are finding it impossible to secure suitable housing accommodation, and are forced to stay in hotels, auto camps, and single rooms in private houses with no cooking facilities; and

"Whereas during the next few months a great many more men will be released from the services, many of them arriving here with wives and children, which will further aggravate the housing shortage; and

"Whereas the Federal Government has set up an organization known as Wartime Housing, Limited, under which municipalities may arrange for construction of houses for ex-servicemen with funds advanced by the Government,

"Be it therefore resolved, that the Nelson Branch of the Canadian Legion, numbering about 400 veterans, urge our City Council to immediately start negotiations with Wartime Housing Limited, with a view to early construction of houses for the use of returning ex-service men and women."

PREFERENCE FOR VETERANS

Problem of employment for the returning veteran who left school to enlist, and who therefore had no job waiting for him, as Dominion legislation provides in the case of those who left employment to enlist, was much discussed, a problem that is particularly acute in Nelson, which has few local industries, was debated at considerable length.

It was asserted that the Provincial Government, among other employers, was retaining in service some employees who had qualified for superannuation. The CPR, it was also stated, had discontinued that war practice, and was now insisting on retirement at 65. While utilization of superannuated persons or persons qualified for superannuation was important to the war effort during the period of labor shortage, its continuance under present conditions was only aggravating the job shortage, speakers contended.

The following resolution on this subject was unanimously adopted:

"Resolved that the Nelson Branch ask our Provincial Government for preference in employment for ex-service personnel, and also request the Government to retire immediately all their employees who are entitled to superannuation and who have reached the retiring age, and that the practice of granting such employees extensions in service beyond the retiring age, be discontinued, in order to make room for young ex-service men."

AID TO BUSINESS VETERANS

That the Government grants and loans available to the qualified veteran desiring to enter into business were so circumscribed as to fail of their object except when only a very small initial investment was required, was asserted by some members, and a particular instance was given. Various proposals regarding larger advances were made, and it was suggested that the veteran wishing to start in business should be eligible to aid to an equal extent with those going on the land or getting an education.

This latter idea won general support, and it was resolved "that a more equitable arrangement should be made for the benefit of the ex-service man going into business for himself, making the aid to him be on a comparable basis to the legislation already enacted for the veteran who takes advantage of benefits of the Veterans' Land Act or small holding, or university training."

This resolution will go to the Provincial Command, with a view to being placed eventually before the Dominion Government.

It was reported the Legion Hockey team proposed at the last meeting, had been formed, with 18 enrolled, and that it would play in the Nelson Juvenile-Intermediate League, and would probably also play inter-Legion games with the Trail and Rossland Legions, each of which planned to have two teams.

Twenty-nine new veterans were accepted for membership.

INDIANS MOVE UP WITH BEACHES

TORONTO, Nov. 2 (CP)—Toronto Indians moved into a first-place tie with idle Toronto Balmy Beach by defeating Windsor Rockets, 14-2, here tonight in an Ontario Rugby Football game that Rockets contested all the way. Beaches and Indians have clinched the Union's play-off berths.

Outcharged along the middle throughout the first half by a fighting Windsor line, Indians were lucky to come through with a slim 3-2 lead on a placement by Annis Stukus. They took charge in the third quarter for two touchdowns that left Windsor still without a victory in seven league starts.

$15,000 DAMAGE DONE BY FLOODS

STEWART, B.C., Nov. 2 (CP) — Floods caused by torrential rains did $15,000 damage in this district during the last three weeks.

One bridge at Bitter Creek with a span of 154 feet was washed out and several other bridges suffered minor damage. The power plant here, owned and operated by Northern B.C. Power Company, suffered extensive damage when the wall of a canyon in which the water is stored collapsed.

War Assets Made Responsible for Equipment

OTTAWA, Nov. 2 (CP)—As a result of criticism over the destruction of wireless equipment by the Air Force War Assets Corporation now has been made responsible for dealing with all surplus equipment, Air Minister Gibson said tonight in the Commons.

He said this when questioned by G. H. Castleden (CCF-Yorkton) about destruction at Penhold, Alta.

He said some time ago the Air Force destroyed some equipment which was directed to be destroyed by the Corporation. He had stopped that and made War Assets Corporation completely responsible. If the Corporation wished to use Air Force manpower that could be done but only under the direct supervision of War Assets Corporation.

The wireless equipment destroyed was that carried in planes and which operated off the engines. It could not be used elsewhere. It was in need of repair and its value was not worth the time and money required to make repairs. It was said to have some educational value but War Assets Corporation had ample stores of the same articles in good repair for any possible educational use.

Mr. Castleden said apparently large quantities of equipment were hauled to Penhold from other stations. He wondered why freight charges were paid.

Col. Gibson said some strange stories had developed about the incident. One was that the scrap was covered up with bulldozers. This was not correct. Another was as to the value.

MATTHEWS OBJECTS

He had received a call from Calgary asking if the value was $60,000.000 and had answered that was "nonsense." The value of the material when new was about $600,000 but the models were antiquated and had been outmoded by later models.

J. H. Matthews (CCF-Kootenay East) said it was time a stop was put to some of the things going on.

"Equipment is being destroyed and destroyed deliberately to keep it from passing into the hands of people who can use it," he said. "Fairmile boats were being practically given away."

"Westminster With Own Plant Stands to Lose on Deal"

NEW WESTMINSTER, B.C., Nov. 2 (CP) — Either the Provincial Government or the municipalities and cities should acquire sole ownership of the assets of B.C. Electric —there should be no dual control as at present advocated in the Gilman report, Mayor William Mott of New Westminster said in an interview today.

Mayor Mott in objecting to the report dealing with the public ownership of light and power in British Columbia argued that the Provincial Government, through its agency, the B.C. Power Commission, would take all the cream and the municipalities and cities would have the skim milk.

In respect to New Westminster's particular case which is different to other municipalities in that it operates its own electric distribution plant, Mayor Mott said, "New Westminster stands to lose everything by the Gilman report while other cities and municipalities do not know whether they will lose or gain."

Cranbrook took a big jump to 63.4 per cent of its $328,000 quota on 485 applications. Creston came back into third place with 57.2 per cent of its $260,000 quota on 272 applications, while Fernie spurted up to 55.1 per cent of $295,000 quota on 253 applications. BOEING FORCED TO LAY OFF 672 BECAUSE OF DECISION

SEATTLE, Nov. 2 (AP)—The Boeing Aircraft Company here has been forced to lay off 672 workers in the last week because of a labor arbiter's decision that the company cannot transfer employees from non-union work to work under union jurisdiction, officials said today. Another 302 were laid off because of the resultant "work jam." The layoffs may total 1800 workers by next week unless an early settlement is reached with the Aeronautical Mechanics' Union, the company said.

Trade Board Endorses Abolition of Tolls on Alexandra Bridge

At its Friday luncheon at the Hume Hotel, the Nelson Board of Trade endorsed the resolution of the Hope Board of Trade urging the abolition of the toll charges on the Alexandra bridge at Spuzzum across the Fraser River canyon.

The Hope Board pointed out in a letter that the tolls were placed in effect upon completion of the bridge ostensibly to pay for its construction, but the Board complained that though the bridge has been fully paid for during the ensuing years, the tolls still continued. The letter stated the belief that it was the only piece of road built by Federal, Provincial or Municipal taxpayers' money and maintained by taxpayers' money, in the Dominion of Canada and the United States on which toll charges were collected.

Ald. A. H. Allan said that he personally, as well as many other Interior autoists, preferred to travel to the Coast along American roads whenever possible, and contended it was not fair to have the local people in that district pay a dollar every time they used the Yale bridge.

Dawson to Attend Provincial Air Meet, Penticton

H. D. Dawson will represent Nelson at the Second Provincial Air Conference sponsored by the B.C. Aviation Council Nov. 8 and 9 in Penticton, it was decided by the Nelson Board of Trade Council Friday.

Among those attending the conference will be Hon. C. D. Howe, Minister of Reconstruction; A. D. McLean, Controller of Civil Aviation, Ottawa; D. W. Douglas, President of Douglas Aircraft, Santa Monica, Calif.; Dr. E. Waner, Head of Interim Council, International Civil Aviation Organization; H. J. Symington, President of Trans-Canada Airlines; Grant McConachie, Manager of C.P. Airlines; S.-L. A. W. Canter, President of the Air Cadet League of Canada; and R. A. Keith, Editor of "Civil Aviation."

Mr. Dawson reported to the Board of Trade on a meeting of the B.C. Interior Aviation Council in the Okanagan in late September at which Kootenay, Okanagan and Coast delegates attended. He told of a survey which was conducted through the Interior to determine the probable number of potential air travellers, tourist opportunities, mail carrying, and the rapid freighting of fruit and other perishable local products.

Mr. Dawson said that a representative of Brisbane Schools, Vancouver, pointed out that no centre should expect direct financial returns from its airport, but rather that it would come from increased business for the city. Landing facilities should also be free at any airport, because the resulting benefits of more business would more than offset revenue derived from charges for using the field.

Gold Fish Hooks Found in Gold Field Oldtimers Learn

Nelson and District Oldtimers Association at a recent meeting studied an interesting account in the current Western Miner of an organized hunt for lodes in Colombia, South America.

It told of the organized hunt for lodes in country once known as one of the richest placer mining areas in the world. The searches are meeting with success. It is a well known fact that placer miners seldom bothered to look for the source from which the gold came, the story said.

One old prospector brought in a sample that was broken from a ledge and placed in an old sack. When it was assayed it went $2000 to the ton.

Gold fish hooks have been found in the streams near there and must have been used in the long ago. There is a reproduction of a photo showing quite a number of the gold fish hooks. They are very plain, with just a point, but no barb. The eye for the line is just turned down.

Citizenship Urged on Ottawa by Board Trade

A resolution of the Nelson Board of Trade and endorsed by the 1944 meeting of the Associated Boards of Trade of Eastern British Columbia stressing the need of establishing Canadian citizenship will be sent to Ottawa, it was decided at the Board of Trade Council luncheon Friday.

The resolution deemed it essential for the development of a spirit of national consciousness in Canada that immigrants should be assisted in becoming assimilated into Canada's national life and declared that the assimilation of immigrants would be promoted by requiring them to obtain a knowledge of Canadian traditions and system of government.

The resolution asked that "the Dominion Government be requested to enact legislation so as to provide:

"1. That all applicants for naturalization be required to pursue a course of studies with periodic examinations covering (a) the elementary facts of Canadian geography, historical background and current events; (b) the development of democracy in English speaking countries with emphasis upon the rights and responsibilities of Canadian citizenship; (c) the organization and principal functions of the Government of Canada as well as of the provinces and local units.

"2. That upon the applicant having passed the required examinations and the authorities being satisfied as to his desirability as a citizen he appear in court to receive his naturalization papers in the course of an appropriate ceremony."

The Yugo-Slavia Election

It is observed in London that any suggestion that the resignation, now officially confirmed, of Dr. Subasic, the Yugoslav Foreign Minister, could be explained by his recent illness, would appear to be dispelled by the fact that Dr. Sutej, Minister without portfolio, has also resigned. These resignations follow that, seven weeks ago, of Dr. Grol, who was Vice-Premier in the Tito Government. Mr. Subasic, the former Ban of Croatia, Mr. Sutej, of the Croat Peasant Party, and Mr. Grol, a Serb Democrat, are the three statesmen who proceeded from London to Belgrade to enter Marshal Tito's Government of National Unity when it was formed last March on the basis of the Tito-Subasic Agreement. It was on the understanding that the principles laid down in the Tito-Subasic Agreement, including that the guarantee of the four freedoms would be carried into effect, that Mr. Sutej and Mr. Grol entered Marshal Tito's Government.

Mr. Grol resigned as a protest against the structure and complexion of Marshal Tito's electoral law, which is to govern the elections to the Constituent Assembly, fixed for Nov. 11. Mr. Grol maintained that the law would muzzle the true voice of the people.

It has been known for some time that Mr. Subasic does not approve the existing Yugoslav regime, which he considers does not fulfil the promises held out when the Government of National Unity was formed. Mr. Subasic is not satisfied, in particular, that free elections and other democratic usages are assured.

At Yalta, in February, 1945, the United Kingdom, United States and Russian Governments agreed to recommend the formation of a Yugoslav Government on the basis of the Subasic-Tito Agreement. At Yalta, again, the three Governments, in their declaration on liberated Europe, pledged themselves to support the formation of "interim governmental authorities broadly representative of all the democratic elements in the population and pledged to the earliest possible establishment, through free elections, of a Government responsive to the will of the people."

The resignation from the Tito Government of its three leading moderate members evidently constitutes a serious crack in the edifice. It remains to be seen how far that crack will affect the foundations, in other words, the basis which had the approval of the United Kingdom, United States and Russian Governments.

British Work Fast In Restoring Hong Kong

Both during and since the war, the fighting services of the United Kingdom have undertaken huge tasks in clearing and rebuilding docks, ports, airfields and railways in many parts of the world. In Hong Kong harbor, one of the greatest shipping centres of the Far East, 268 Royal Marine Engineers, specialists in harbor work, are clearing navigation channels, docks of wrecks and obstructions, and repairing shore installations.

A month's work was accomplished in a fortnight when "A" Company, working in Sydney harbor, converted the motorship Shirrabank into their own accommodation and supply ship. This is the company which restored Le Havre docks and they will be able to cope with any aspect of reconstruction. Their equipment includes bulldozers, lorries, mobile worshops, mobile three harbor boats and all necessary three harbor boats an dall necessary supplies. "A" Company naval lighterage party, equipped with launches, pontoons and diving gear, is already at work in Hong Kong harbor.

The amenity ships of the Pacific Fleet will accommodate the naval shore parties assisting it rebuilding Hong Kong and Singapore and other South Pacific ports. Cargo holds have been turned into workshops and storage space. It is planned also to instal electric cable removed from Hong Kong by the Japanese.

RAF Airfield Construction units are not often asked to tackle the repair of obsolete railways; but after weeks of night and day work, the Kowloon-Canton Railway is working again. Tracks and bombed bridges have had to be repaired, tunnels shored up, and two locomotives put into running order.

Wing Commander Mortar, in charge of the company, said they first found and repaired two old engines. The track itself, though neglected, was not badly damaged; but two tunnels had been blown up and temporary repairs had to be made. On their first run to China border, they were told by local guerillas of some trucks on a nearby siding. These were hitched to the rear of the train and the journey to Fy Poo completed. Next day they began a daily service to Canton, running the engine on wood till a Japanese fuel dump was discovered. The first official run was made to bring back sick evacuees from new territories.

A British staff officer, indicating the future importance of Hong Kong in civil aviation, has stated it is hoped very soon to build a modern airfield able to handle every type aircraft, including the latest jet propelled types and compete with any airport in the world as a traffic centre. Although at present the airport is small, regular services are already maintained with India, China, Singapore, Tokyo and Australia. Hundreds of passengers have been ferried to all parts of the world. Among incoming passengers have been civil servants, doctors and other experts essential to speedy rehabilitation of the colony.

The Cost of Collecting Income Tax

Cost of Dominion Income Tax collection which was 2.95 per cent in 1935, dropped to what was probably an all-time low in the fiscal year 1943, when the percentage cost was 0.39.

Heavy increase in the total sum collected naturally had the effect of reducing percentage cost of operations of the department.

Then in the fiscal year 1944 it rose to 0.49, and in the fiscal year ending March 31 last to 0.84.

That percentage costs are rising has significance as it suggests that as complications in Income Tax laws and regulations have increased, so have increases in staff become necessary, though abolition of compulsory savings in 1944 was a factor in reducing intake.

As rate of taxation falls we can expect heavy additional increases in percentage costs of collection.

The amount of auditing yet to be done, work which the department could not undertake during the labor shortage of wartime years, is tremendous. That will also have tendency to increase costs.

Abolition of taxation on the low brackets of income, which would remove many thousands from the tax rolls, and simplification of the Income Tax laws, would materially cut collection costs. Both Great Britain and the United States have so raised basic exemptions as to take all Income Taxes off those with low incomes.

MERCHANTMEN

By the end of 1945, it is estimated, the United States will control no less than 62 per cent of the world's merchant ships of 2,000 gross tons and over, against 16 per cent in 1938, says The London Economist.

The American merchant navy will not only be large, but it will consist mainly of new vessels.

The world's total tonnage will exceed the pre-war tonnage by 20 per cent; if the 2500 Liberty ships—these are slow and expensive to operate—are excluded, the world's tonnage would be 24 per cent below the pre-war tonnage. Unless international trade sinks to an unexpectedly low level, a substantial tonnage of Liberty ships are therefore likely to remain in commission for some years.

W. W., Nelson—What will remove water glass from stone crocks?

The water glass deposit on the stone crocks may be removed by the use of a mineral acid, which may be purchased at a drug store. Hydrochloric acid is the one used most often in the household. If purchased in the concentrated form it is corrosive, so care should be taken not to get it on the skin or clothing.

Curious, Kimberley — How much sleep should a school-boy of 15 get?

Boys and girls between the ages of 14 and 16 require about 10 hours of sleep.

T. L. M., Trail—Would a tin roof affect a wireless receiving set?

It would, and therefore should be well insulated.

L. M. T., Ymir—What was the horoscope for September 6, 1945?

Horoscope—If this is your birthday, you are modest, conservative and sympathetic. You take pride in doing your work well. You have a forceful, energetic nature, but are often influenced by others—especially in matters of the heart. Spread cheer with a happy smile today, and you will gain friends and feel in a good mood yourself. Optimism can win what you want far more quickly than a dark outlook upon life.

"Nelson Has Fun"

Under the heading: "Nelson, B.C., has Fun in Recreational Centre", the Port Arthur News-Chronicle says:

The City of Nelson, B.C., with a population of some 6,000, is claimed to have one of the lowest rates for juvenile delinquency of any town or city in British Columbia. The people there, asked to explain, point to their program of recreational activities—in which 2,500 are said to participate each week.

The fact that the city, whose residents work in the mining, lumbering, fruit growing and railway industries, built a $285,000 recreational centre is widely known. What they do under the guidance of their recreational director has been summed up this way: they have fun, they promote lacrosse and dances, dramatics and soccer, baseball and banquets, badminton and basketball, to mention only a few. The recreational plant from which all this fun is directed and where it is centered is owned by the city, operated at a profit, and the profit is plowed back—into more recreation.

The layout of the recreational centre includes an auditorium seating 1,000 people, a gymnasium, library and smaller rooms for club meetings. Adjoining is a skating rink with room for 3,000 spectators. In another building are five sheets of curling ice operated the year round. On another side is a civic stadium for baseball, rugby and track and field events.

All of which is a reminder that Port Arthur, with a population of some 25,000, while it has some of the recreational facilities included in the Nelson layout, such as a skating rink, a curling rink, though not owned by the city and not able to operate the year round) is sadly lacking in most of the other features. We have no gymnasium, we have no civic stadium or any other kind of stadium unless we can bring ourselves to look at the Queen Street corner lot as a stadium, and we have no civic auditorium.

In one thing at least, however, we are no worse off than Nelson. In a description of the B.C. city's recreation layout there is no mention of an indoor swimming pool. Port Arthur has no indoor swimming pool either.

What we do have here right now, is a committee which has been at work on plans for a recreational building and civic auditorium layout here since early in the year. Their work has been beset by many difficulties, but they have made some progress.

Do what you must with full confidence in your abilities as you know you can.

HOROSCOPE FOR SUNDAY

Prudent, practical and methodical—that is you if you are celebrating a birthday today. You also are cautious in action and thought, and scrupulously honest. You are an accurate, efficient worker. You will bring sincere love and devotion to your marriage. Radiant vibrations on this date should stimulate you to the enjoyment of life. Your inner self can have as much joy today as the external one, so enjoy your church services, family life, and social pleasures.

Words of Wisdom

Fame is the scentless sunflower, with gaudy crown of gold; but friendship is the breathing rose, with sweets in every fold.—Oliver Wendell Holmes.

Etiquette Hints

When two or more are talking and another enters the room, don't abruptly stop talking. The newcomer may think the talk has been about him.

The wedding recessional at a church wedding is like this: First, bride and groom, maid of honor, bridesmaids (in pairs) and ushers (in pairs). The best man usually removes himself quietly through the vestry door if possible, after the ceremony, to help the bridal couple safely into their car. If he takes part in the bridal procession, however, he walks with the maid of honor.

Cameron Tells Nelson Audience of B.C. Educational Finance Plan Giving Equal Opportunities to All

Outlining a flexible scheme which would enable every child in British Columbia to receive the educational benefits open to any other pupil, regardless of where he lives in the province, Dr. Max Cameron of the Department of Education, University of British Columbia, told a large audience in Nelson Thursday night of his findings and opinions resulting from his enquiry as a one-man Royal Commission into educational finance for this province.

His address was the high light of a session of the West Kootenay-Boundary Teachers' Convention open to the public in the Capitol Theatre.

Dr. Cameron pointed out the many difficulties in equalizing the tax incidence of the cost of education. The problem had two important phases—the severity of the burden on land and improvements, and the inequality in the division of responsibility as far as the incidence of taxation was concerned.

PROPOSED HIGHEST BASIC STANDARD

In his report to the Government, completed in August, he urged the establishment of a basic educational standard that would be the highest in the Dominion. This included the adoption of basic salary schedules for teachers with appropriate increments, an extensive financial participation by the Government in the provision of other school costs, the payment in the form of bonuses for those teachers with special added responsibilities such as school principals, and finally, bonuses for teachers in isolated districts.

Dr. Cameron first reviewed for his hearers the situation as he found it in 1943-44. The system of education in the province cost $11,600,000 during the year, which represented a cost of 10 cents an hour per pupil. He said it looked a large sum in a lump, but it was not very great in relation to the task before it. He explained that one-third of the sum came from the treasury of the government, which was spread to achieve equalization as much as possible, that is, helping the poorer districts most. The other two-thirds was derived from real estate taxation.

He granted that the present system was unsatisfactory, but in its present form it was still among the best on the continent. However, they wished to remove all the inequalities as best they could, since every child was born equal to any other; therefore there should be equal opportunities for pupils at all schools.

3 ACCEPTED PRINCIPLES

Dr. Cameron said he worked from three initial principles which were generally accepted—that provision of schools at root was a provincial responsibility, the system of financing and administration should give equality of opportunity, and education in the province should remain to be handled by local people, such as through school boards.

"Schools should be adapted to local people," he stated. "People shouldn't get the idea that the government is doing something for them, but rather that they are doing something for themselves."

The speaker wished to explain away various arguments against financing of education through property taxes. Most of the resentment stemmed from misunderstanding, he said, since the mechanics of property taxation were not well understood. The argument that those who did not own property did not pay school taxes, was unfounded. Their contribution would come from their rent, as in all business transactions, since, for example, a grocer would set his margin of profit at such a figure as to enable him to comfortably pay his property taxes.

He said that because it was important to have local control of schools, then of course there had to the local support of schools.

UNIVERSAL BASIC TAX

His answer to the equalization problem was that there should be first of all a uniform basic tax of 5 mills on the total of all land throughout the Province, no matter where located, and on 75 per cent of the assessed value of improvements on the properties. At the present time, various school districts were paying anywhere from one mill to 40 mills or more. The rest of the educational financing would come from provincial grants, which would cover 80 per cent of the costs evenly throughout the Province.

He said the basic scale for public school teachers was $1000 to $1650, and for high school teachers from $1300 to $2170 depending on increments. Any locality that wanted to pay more, could and would, he asserted. In the cases of the isolated districts, they had to pay more to attract teachers.

This plan would entail the abolition of the personal property tax in rural areas for school purposes.

HUGE SCHOOL DISTRICTS

Another phase of Dr. Cameron's report had to do with the formation of large school districts, which would reduce the present total of 650, to 76 large districts, and 16 small ones. The Nelson district would be enlarged to include the area to Procter, Bonnington, and down through Salmo and Ymir to the Boundary. This would enable all children in this district to have access to equal educational opportunity; the standards in the rural districts would be the same as in Nelson itself.

Dr. Cameron also dealt with the difficulty at arriving at unit figures for building and transportation costs but said that the Government would assume 50 per cent of the responsibility.

C. R. Mattice, President of Nelson Teachers Association, who was chairman, told the public audience of the theme of the convention—"educating for new horizons". He said the spirit in which the horizons were being broadened and extended was illustrated by the subjects covered during the convention. He stressed the necessity of educating the public before educational reforms could be achieved.

Mayor N. C. Stibbs and F. A. Jewett of Nelson, Inspector of Schools, welcomed Dr. Cameron back to the city where he graduated from High School, and they also greeted the visiting teachers.

A musical program consisted of piano solos by Jack Glover and Miss Beverley McCosham, violin selections by Bill DeRidder, and vocal renditions by Don Brown. Miss Margaret Gerrish and Mrs. T. J. S. Ferguson were accompanists.

Witnesses Curse and Scream for Death of Yamashita

By DEAN SCHEDLER

MANILA, Nov. 2 (AP)—Chinese, Filipino and Spanish witnesses who hysterically cursed the Japanese and screamed for the death of Lt.-Gen. Tomoyuki Yamashita, kept the war criminal trial of the former Philippines commander-in-chief in continual turmoil today.

Members of the prosecution staff and interpreters both were required to quiet a Chinese woman whose four-year-old son had been snatched from her arms and repeatedly bayoneted.

The woman testified she lost nine of the 12 in her family, had seen women and children slain when 39 Chinese were herded into a lumberyard and murdered last Feb. 10.

Scenes "so bestial it is hard to find words to describe them," were related by witnesses of the mass slaying of from 500 to 1000 civilians who had taken refuge in the Manila German Club the same day.

Spanish Francisco Lopez, former film company representative in the Philippines, shouted that all Japanese soldiers were "sadists and beasts" as he testified Yamashita's troops poured gasoline over women's head and set them afire, made sport of young girls for the entertainment of other Japanese at a club and then raped one of the girls after she was dead.

Another Spaniard, Jose Maldonado, described the tossing of a hand grenade into a bathroom where the Japanese had locked up all the men of a group of 50 who sought refuge in a certain home. Five were killed and many maimed.

Details of the slaying Feb. 13 of Albert C. Delfino, Venezuelan consul, along with his wife and foster son were related by a witness who said they and six others were tied, marched into a room of their home and shot. The house was burned. The victims were all robbed before they were slain, the witness said.

CYCLING TROUBADOR COVERS 11,250 MILES TO ENTERTAIN SERVICEMEN

VANCOUVER, Nov. 3 (CP) — After covering 11,250 miles by bicycle to entertain servicemen during the last three years G. Harrison Randall of Fredericton, N.B., plans to stay in British Columbia for a month or two. During his stay Randall will be adding to his total of 750 shows performed under his own and Canadian Legion auspices.

Randall's stage show includes a one-man trio in which he plays the piano and two harmonicas simultaneously. He also sings and does impersonations and "hill-billy stuff" on request but specializes in "jive."

His last jaunt was a 1100-mile trip through the mountains from Lethbridge, Alta., to Vancouver, which took him two weeks but his average day's run is 128 miles.

SPENT $5 ON BIKE

Rejected from military service, Randall became a cycling troubadour in May, 1942 and travelled 4500 miles on his own giving shows throughout Eastern Canada before joining the Canadian Legion War Services in 1943. His longest day's ride was a 22-hour trek in sub-zero weather between Regina and Dundurn, Sask., during which he went without food for 12 hours.

"I didn't want to stop in case it started snowing and then I would really have been stranded," says Randall.

Randall is a self-taught pianist and knows more than 1800 pieces by memory.

His bicycle is equipped with one of the original tires but the other gave out after 10,000 miles. Upkeep of his machine has cost him five dollars for the entire tour.

Randall's next trip, scheduled for January, will take him home to Fredericton, by way of Hollywood, Florida and the Atlantic coast. It's just a short pedal this time—only 9000 miles.

VIOLENCE GREETS SHERIFF'S MEN AT COAST

VANCOUVER, Nov. 2 (CP) — Violence flared briefly today as Sheriff Frank Keil carried out the first eviction in Vancouver since last July when evictions were frozen by a Federal Government order.

One woman and two men were slightly injured in a short battle which developed when Sheriff Keill and his deputies pushed past pickets posted around the home of G. Y. Chen, a Chinese sign-painter. The arrival of city police quelled the disturbance.

Sheriff's duties broke into the Chen home through the rear door. A bucket of cold water, thrown by a sympathizer, caught one of the deputies in the face, and an empty bottle sailed harmlessly out through the broken door.

A man was taken into custody by police but no charge was laid.

Joyce Chen, 11-year-old member of the evicted family was moved to a hospital in an ambulance.

A delegation of trade unionists, led by Nigel Morgan, provincial leader of the Labor Progressive Party, went from the Chen home to the Vancouver City Hall to protest the eviction to Mayor J. W. Cornett.

Gallows Tree Lane Keeps Reputation

NEWCASTLE-UNDER-LYME, England (CP)—Gallows Tree Lane in this Staffordshire town has been living up to its name. The reputation goes back centuries, but in the last two months its bad name has become worse, with four people attacked and two deaths resulting in that time.

Latest victim was William Lawler, 49, who was stabbed and died a day later. On July 26 Henry Stubbs and his bride of four months were walking in the lane when he was shot and wounded fatally.

A Russian soldier was shot on Aug. 12 and several weeks ago a young couple were attacked. Scotland Yard detectives are investigating.

High Commissioner for Palestine Resigns—Lord Gort

LONDON, Nov. 2 (CP) — The resignation of Lord Gort as high commissioner for Palestine was announced to Commons today as recent outbreaks of violence in Palestine were branded officially as a "wanton resort to force" which might nullify Britain's attempts to solve the Jewish problem.

Apparently there was no direct connection between Lord Gort's resignation and the disturbances, however. Making the announcement, George Hall, secretary for the colonies, said the high commissioner had stepped down because of ill health.

CURFEW IMPOSED

A curfew was imposed in Palestine yesterday following a night in which railways were cut in at least 20 places and explosions were set off at widely scattered points.

Street fighting broke out in downtown Cairo today, coincidental with the beginning of a general strike by anti-Zionist elements who distributed pamphlets demanding that the Jews be awakened "from their dream of a home in Palestine." Police fired shots in the air in attempts to disperse the crowds.

In Palestine, the Palestine Post said the outbursts there indicated the Jews "have gone over from defensive to offensive action" in their campaign for the lifting of British white paper quota restrictions on Jewish immigration. The newspaper said the acts represented "a new . . . step in defiance which the Jewish people were driven to proclaim because it was clear that the white paper, far from being revoked, was to be continued in force."

Mr. Hall told Commons casualties in the outbreaks in Palestine were five killed and at least eight wounded, adding that because of the widespread nature of the attacks reports on them were incomplete.

"We are satisfied that at the moment there are sufficient forces to deal with the situation (in Palestine) and I am sure the House will understand that both the Palestine police and the forces have a difficult and delicate task to perform."

Mr. Hall described the trouble as a "dastardly series of outrages" which "show evidence of very careful planning by a very considerable organization among the Jewish community." He said he had received no report yet on the number of arrests made in connection with the outbreaks.

A Jerusalem dispatch said the erection of four new Jewish settlements was begun today in Palestine, two in Galilee, and the other two in the coastal plain between Tel Aviv and Haifa.

Mr. Hall said J. V. W. Shaw, chief secretary in Palestine will administer the government in Palestine until a successor to Lord Gort has been appointed.

Lord Gort holds the rank of field marshal and is a winner of the Victoria Cross.

FOREIGN EXCHANGE

NEW YORK, Nov. 2 (CP)—The Canadian dollar was down 1-16th at a discount of 9 5-16ths per cent in terms of United States funds in closing foreign exchange dealings today. (Ottawa Foreign Exchange Board rates 9.09-9.51 pc. dis.) The pound sterling was unchanged at $4.03½.

Sale of Company Leaves 3 Courses Open to Sask.

REGINA, Nov. 2 (CP)—Authoritative sources tonight foresaw a possibility the Saskatchewan Government may follow one of three alternatives in its efforts to compel the Prince Albert Box Factory Ltd., to comply with a Provincial Labor Relations Board order requiring it to sign a collective bargaining agreement with its employees.

Premier T. C. Douglas has taken the stand his Cabinet extended the Company a "special privilege" in giving it an opportunity either to comply with the law or else show why the recommendation of the Labor Relations Board that a controller be appointed to operate the plant until the Company complied with its order should not be carried out.

C. S. Davis, solicitor for the Company, announced yesterday it had sold out to the manager, J. E. Mitchell, and dismissed all its employees. Consequently, he said, there was no point in its being represented at the Cabinet meeting scheduled for today.

The Cabinet today discussed the matter at its regular meeting, but Premier Douglas made no statement regarding contemplated action. It was understood the Government may: 1, Invoke the provisions of the Crown Corporations Act, which authorizes it to take over any company in the province and operate it as a Government-owned enterprise; 2. Expropriate the assets of the Company, inasmuch as the money paid to it by its general manager for the plant is part of its assets and may be taken over by the Government; 3. Appoint a Controller to operate the plant, notwithstanding its sale to Mr. Mitchell, its principal shareholder and President.

CALGARY BEER PARLORS HAVE NEW HOURS

CALGARY, Nov. 2 (CP)—Calgary beer parlors served "straight through" instead of on the "hourly" quota basis as the new hours for beer sales took effect yesterday. The new hours are 1 to 6:30 p.m. and 7:30 to 10 p.m.

Officials of the Hotel Association referred to the new system as an experiment which they hope to be able to carry on from now on.

Market Trends . . .

NEW YORK—Selling troubles beset the stock market during early proceedings but a late revival of investment demand brought selective recoveries in virtually all departments.

MONTREAL—Transactions maintained the active pace of trading on the stock exchange and curb market but adjustments upward were narrower generally and in some cases, notably leading Papers, issues seemed to be wavering.

TORONTO—Stocks chalked up a margin of losses over gains in operations on the exchange while trading proceeded actively. The cheaper Gold issues held the spotlight and some of them moved in heavy volume. Aggregate turnover was around 2,500,000 shares.

CHICAGO— Grain futures overcame an early downturn, bouncing back on buying and short-covering. Rye dropped around a cent a bushel early and then climbed to gains of more than a cent at times. Oats also gained fractionally and wheat steadied.

Wheat closed ⅜ higher to ⅛ lower, corn was ½ up to ⅛ down, oats were ⅝ higher to ⅛ lower, rye was ahead ½ to 1⅞, and barley was down ¼ to 1 cent.

VANCOUVER — Hedley Mascot sold 37,125 shares to lead activities on the stock exchange rsing 19 to 1.50. Sales totalled 101,017 shares.

LONDON—Shares of Cable and Wireless Limited moved up strongly on the stock market in response to the Government's plan to place it under public ownership.

WINNIPEG—In a rally after midsession, rye futures prices advanced to close 1¼-2 cents a bushel higher on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange. The December future closed at $1.73⅜, May at $1.72¼-¼ and July $1.64⅝. Both December and May futures reached seasonal highs.

In early trade the market showed hesitation on local and commission house selling but Chicago led the way for the late advance. There was buying by shippers and local interests late in the day.

Export trade was quiet. The only sale reported was a cargo of 300,000 bushels of wheat for shipment to France.

Atomic Energy Question No. 1 In King's Mind

LONDON, Nov. 3 (CP Cable)—Given access to secret documents of the British Government on the atomic bomb and other subjects during a month-long visit, Prime Minister MacKenzie King leaves Sunday aboard the Queen Mary for Washington conferences on atomic energy.

Mr. King is returning across the Atlantic with the conviction that the conference opening Nov. 11 on atomic development will be dealing with the most important question in the world today. Authorities like Sir John Anderson, chairman of the British Atomic Energy Committee, who knew of the earliest developments in association with top British scientists, have buttressed the Prime Minister's knowledge of the subject.

The British Government gave Mr. King all information available to its own ministers. Prime Minister Attlee and Mr. King had frequent talks. They will meet President Truman at Washington and it is believed they are agreed that control measures for atomic developments are essential for the peace of the world.

Apart from the viewpoint of world security, Mr. King and his colleagues are interested in the development of atomic energy for the good of mankind, with its possibilities for speedier, cheaper transportation and power.

It is evident as the Prime Minister's visit nears a conclusion that atomic developments, on which he chatted with Mr. Truman in Washington before coming here, overshadowed all other matters reviewed during his informal visit to London. The visit has not been a rest for Mr. King as a constant series of informal conversations has engaged him.

Weekly Editors Adopt Constitution

VANCOUVER, Nov. 2 (CP) — Weekly newspaper editors from all parts of British Columbia here today adopted a constitution for the B.C. division of the Canadian Weekly Newspapers' Association—which has operated without one for 27 years.

From their retiring president, Les Way of Powell River, the editors heard words of pride in the job the weeklies had done to support the war effort, and a challenge to an equal job to keep the peace.

He reminded them with pride that British Columbia's weeklies in the last year have again taken the lion's share of national awards for excellence.

J. E. Jamieson of the Armstrong Advertiser, for 13 years secretary-treasurer of the division, contibuted a report showing membership from 36 years in 1938 to 57—every single eligible weekly in British Columbia—today.

BUTTER STOCKS AT 43,256,138 POUNDS

OTTAWA, Nov. 2 (CP) — Stocks of creamery butter in nine of the principal cities of Canada at the opening of business Nov. 1 were 43,256,138 pounds compared with 42,009,568 pounds on the corresponding date of last year and 46,249,224 pounds on Oct. 1, the Dominion Bureau of Statistics reported tonight.

Putnam Favors Early Improvement of 14 Miles Nelway Highway

"Roads in my constituency will have my fullest attention since I believe they constitute the district's greatest problem," Frank Putnam, MLA, wrote the Nelson Board of Trade in answer to a query from the Nelson body regarding early improvements to the Nelson-Nelway Highway. Mr. Putnam's letter was read at Friday's luncheon of the Board of Trade Council at the Hume.

The Nelson request dealt particularly with details of the portion of the highway between Nelway, and the West fork of the Salmon River, a distance of about 14 miles. It was believed that this part of the highway would not require great expense to put it into good shape, and Mr. Putnam assured the Nelson Board that it was his intention to press work at an early date on comparatively inexpensive stretches of roads in the district.

Feel Hart Plan May Upset B.C.E.R. Deal

VANCOUVER, Nov. 2 (CP)—Vancouver aldermen expressed fear today that Premier Hart's stand on plans for public ownership of B.C. Electric Railway Co. facilities may upset the project.

By telephone Premier Hart told Mayor Cornett that two proposed utilities commissions, which would operate the B.C.E.R., would have to be selected by the municipalities concerned.

Previously, the municipalities had understood that the commissions would be selected by the Provincial Government.

Ald. G. C. Miller declared: "The government is throwing so many monkey wrenches into this (the B.C.E.R. deal) it might well wreck the whole venture.

"The proposed financial deal is rather bad.

"When the utility commission takes over it would be without credit.

"To finance anything beyond initial cost it would probably have to pay dearly to establish its credit. And that at a time it takes over a system run down physically.

"Under Premier Hart's original suggestion the government could stand behind the commission until it gets on its feet."

Ald. Miller doubts whether municipalities could get together on appointment of utility commissions.

"Already North Vancouver has been absent from our meetings and New Westminster has opposed the plebiscite. How could they all arrive at appointment of a commission?"

Ald. Charles Thompson feels the changed setup "seriously impairs the proposal."

"I doubt the deal will be attractive to the public on the understanding of the government's position given by the Premier."

Ald Willard Greyell is "disappointed" at the Premier's stand.

"It seems the proposal as it now stands would put too heavy a responsibility on municipalities.

"It is jeopardizing the whole deal."
