Rescue 51 of 69 From Stricken Plane

LONDON, Oct. 14 (CP)—In a dramatic struggle against mountainous seas, rescue crews tonight transferred 51 of the 69 persons aboard a huge Boeing flying boat, wallowing approximately 820 miles East of Newfoundland, and then abandoned operations to avoid losing the rescue ship or capsizing the downed flying boat.

Capt. Paul Cronk, skipper of the United States Coast Guard's weather ship Bibb, from which rescue operations were being directed in the face of tremendous waves and gale force winds, said in a broadcast he and the plane's captain, Charles Martin, had agreed to suspend rescue work until daylight as there was "danger of colliding with the plane and sinking it instantly, or losing the boat."

When rescue operations were suspended, 18 persons were still aboard the flying boat, which made a forced landing at 5:05 a.m. EST. A message from the Bibb at 9:25 p.m. EST said those waiting to be transferred were in no danger.

AWAIT DAYLIGHT

Cronk said that weather which had rolled up waves "two storeys" high had moderated somewhat "and we hope with daylight to make a mighty good attempt at saving the rest of these people."

The flying boat was forced down while en route from Shannon Airport, Eire, to Gander, Nfld., after exhausting its fuel while battling heavy headwinds. Captain Martin then taxied the plane three miles to the Bibb.

Two persons were injured during the rescue operations. One passenger, the Bibb's skipper said, suffered cuts on the head.

City, District To Send Food Gift To Britain

Mayor T. H. Waters Tuesday night announced that Nelson and District would donate a wedding gift of food to Great Britain in honor of Princess Elizabeth's wedding. Similar gifts are planned by scores of cities across Canada.

Citizens may conribute by donating canned foods which will be shipped immediately to Britain, the Mayor said. Donations are to be collected by Boy Scouts and Girl Guides, or are to be left in containers which will be placed in grocery stores. Cash donations will be received at the City Hall. The campaign will continue until Oct. 31.

"Every single can of food will help the situation in food-short Britain," Mayor Waters declared.

SAYS U.S. REDS PLEDGED SELVES TO TREACHERY

Agent Posed as Communist Member For Six Months

PORTLAND

SEATTLE, Oct. 14 (AP)—A Portland, Ore., police officer and former "undercover agent" testified in Federal court today that members of the Communist Party in Portland have pledged themselves to turn against the United States in event of war with Russia.

The officer, Merriel Bacon, who said he posed for six months as a member of the Communist Party in Portland, was called as a witness at a hearing in the application of Mrs. Hazel Anna Wolf for citizenship.

The application of Mrs. Wolf, a native of Victoria, B.C., is opposed by Raymond S. Sullivan, naturalization examiner.

Questioned by Sullivan, Bacon said he had attended a Communist school for party members.

The hearing was highlighted by charges that a character witness for Mrs. Wolf had taken part in Communist activities.

Sullivan contended Mrs. Wolf "failed to prove her attachment to the principles of the constitution . ."

MAY APPEAL COURT RULING ON BILL 39

VANCOUVER, Oct. 14 (CP) — R. J. McMaster, counsel for United Steelworkers of America (C.I.O.) said today that striking steelworkers may appeal Chief Justice Farris' decision which declared the Industrial Conciliation and Arbitration Act constitutional.

He added that if the appeal was made, a stay of proceedings would be requested in the action against more than 100 workers charged with illegally striking.

A.F.L. Vote Body Blow to Lewis

Miners Chief "Walks" Out as Executive Council Candidate When Labor Law Stand Opposed

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 14 (AP)—The convention of the American Federation of Labor administered a crushing defeat to John L. Lewis tonight by voting to wipe out its 13 vice presidents in a move to make the entire Federation eligible to use the National Labor Relations Board.

The action came after a stormy and prolonged fight on the convention floor which saw the A.F.L.'s top leadership direct a bitter attack against Lewis, head of the United Mine Workers, on his stand against signing non-Communist affidavits as required by the Taft-Hartley Law.

LEWIS QUITS EXECUTIVE

The floor battle, which at times developed into heated personal exchanges, precipitated another of the famous Lewis "walks."

The mine workers chief told the delegates he would not be a candidate again for the Executive Council if the resolution was passed. This means Lewis' voluntary withdrawal from the Federation's ruling body.

The momentous issue came on recommendations of the Convention Law Committee. The Committee report recommended adoption of action previously taken by the Executive Council which would abolish the offices of the 13 vice presidents and leave only President William Green and Secretary - Treasurer George Meany as Federation "officers."

This was to permit the A.F.L. officers to sign non-Communist affidavits for A.F.L. federal unions which have no national officers of their own.

DIRECT OPPOSITION

Lewis said he interpreted the proposed amendment to the A.F.L. constitution doing away with the offices of vice president as "bowing" to the Taft-Hartley Act, which he urged the convention to fight.

Despite Lewis' statement that the United Mine Workers would not "run" with the rest of the convention, the miners' chief gave no further indication that he intended to withdraw the 600,000 members of his Union from the Federation.

Death came to 56 persons in accidents across Canada as thousands celebrated the Thanksgiving Day holiday weekend, a Canadian Press survey showed today.

The list included 24 deaths in traffic accidents, 12 by drowning, six by asphyxiation, five by fire and three each by falls and hunting accidents.

REQUISITION BUSES TO BUCK STRIKE

France Calls for Volunteer Drivers As Walkout Widens

NEW THREAT

PARIS, Oct. 14 (AP)—The French Government took energetic measures to break what Premier Paul Ramadier called a "political" strike of Paris' Communist-led subway and bus workers which began spreading tonight to other industries.

While millions of Parisians struggled home from work after having walked, hitch-hiked and bicycled to their offices this morning, the Government requisitioned 300 private buses to operate a "minimum" transport service throughout the capital.

The Government also issued a country-wide call for volunteer drivers to operate the fleet of buses and available trucks and private cars, promising free transportation to Paris and 600 francs (about $5) a day to the volunteers. It also sent 1500 army trucks to transport passengers and posted placards about the city urging strikers to return to work.

JOIN STRIKE

But the walkout began to spread when workers of two sections of the Renault Auto Factory voted unanimously to lay down their tools at the urgings of delegates from the Transport Workers Union.

In the Lyon region, the Building Workers Union voted to strike for higher wages and in sympathy with the Paris walkout.

The Independent Union of Subway Workers demanded an 11-per-cent wage increase and an advance on future wages.

Other threats to Socialist Ramadier's Coalition Government, just five days before municipal elections, rose with the announcement French Merchant Navy sailors would strike Thursday if their demands for wage increases and salary advances equal to the transport workers were not granted.

REDS, DEMOCRATS EVEN IN ITALIAN VOTING

ROME, Oct. 14 (AP)—Final returns indicated today the Christian Democrat Party and the Communist dominated People's Bloc each had won 27 of the 80 Municipal Council seats at stake in Sunday's city elections.

Only a handful of voters—less than 1 percentage point—separated the two giants of the 1947 Italian political arena. The remaining ballots were divided among parties ranging from the moderate Left to avowed adherents of Fascism.

With the close result, it seemed likely that the new Council—like the one elected last November—would be deadlocked over the choice of Mayor.

HOPES FOR VETERANS' LUMBER PRIORITIES

VANCOUVER, Oct. 14 (CP)—Don King, President of the B.C. Lumber Manufacturers' Association, said today that the British Columbia lumber industry was being made the "whipping boy" for the failure of Reconstruction Minister Howe to supply building materials to veterans.

Replying to statements made by Mr. Howe here Saturday that he would "flood the market" unless the B.C. industry took "more responsibility for the needs of the people of the province," Mr. King said, the important news in Mr. Howe's "outburst," was that there "now is plenty of lumber in Eastern Canada."

"It is to be hoped," he added, "that this sudden appearance of lumber in Eastern Canada will mean that Mr. Howe will reconsider his refusal to grant veterans' priorities."

Blast Unexplained

NANAIMO, B.C., Oct. 14 (CP) — A mystery blast, felt here at 10:10 p.m. Sunday, remained unexplained today.

No authorities have been able to trace its source, but a fisherman reported a "flash" over Gulf waters as the explosion occurred.

Naval authorities reported the Ontario and Crescent on training cruises in Gulf waters and the blast may have been from a night gunnery practice broadside.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14 (AP) — Rules for "meatless Tuesday" were relaxed today to allow Americans to eat liver, kidneys, brains and other by-products and still conform.

PICKETS RIDE TO COURT IN SPECIAL TRAM

Few Go Back to Jobs In Quebec, More Walkout in Alberta

SOME AGREEMENT

By The Canadian Press

Montreal's injunction - defying picketers held the centre of attention Tuesday in the month-old packinghouse workers' strike, 136 of their number riding to court in a specially-chartered street car for the greatest mass arraignment in the history of Montreal courts. Bail was fixed largely from $5 to $25.

There were reports in Montreal and Hull of a trickling back to work but in Edmonton 300 workers at Gainers, Ltd., plant walked out to join 1200 striking employees of Swift Canadian, Burns and Company and Canada Packers in that city.

In Toronto, Ontario Labor Minister Daley announced two of the three major strikebound packing companies have reached an agreement with the United Packinghouse Workers of America on "procedure for disposing of the matters in issue."

Mr. Daley said Canada Packers and Burns agreed to a settlement formula at a meeting Sunday, but the third company, Swift Canadian, had refused to accept the terms.

NEW ARRESTS

Following up their attempts at relay picketing Thanksgiving Day when 124 men and women were arrested, the United Packinghouse Workers of America (C.I.O.) Tuesday sent only a "token force" of 12 Montreal pickets to the plants of Canada Packers and Wilsil, Ltd., which last week obtained the no-picketing injunction. The 12 were quickly arrested.

Canada Reluctant In Agreeing To Partition

LAKE SUCCESS, N.Y., Oct. 14 (CP)—Canada today lined up with the majority of United Nations members supporting the plan to partition Palestine as the basis for discussion of methods for solving the Jewish-Arab problem in the Holy Land.

Justice Minister Ilsley presented Canada's general policy late this afternoon, saying that as between the majority partition report and the minority recommendation for a federalized state, his delegation had "somewhat reluctantly" been led to accept the former.

Canada's experience over many years with the problem of two separate races had been solved by the federal state system, he said.

The Palestine Committee, like other U.N. committees today, adjourned without making any decisions.

There was another outburst in the Political Committee when Russia's Andrei Vishinsky repeated his warmongering charges against the United States and drew from Australia's H. V. Evatt the comment that these charges were growing "stale."

Vishinsky's opportunity came when he rejected as "a farce" the U.S. resolution for creating a committee of the whole General Assembly to sit the year around.

Thieves Net $1000

VANCOUVER, Oct. 14 (CP) — Thieves, burglars and pick-pockets obtained loot totalling nearly $1000 including a large amount of cash, here during the weekend.

One safecracking attempt was unsuccessful. All the safecrackers got for their efforts was several bottles of beer which they consumed while loading the safe with explosives.

The safe was in the office of the London Hotel beer parlor. Waiters uniforms and an overcoat were used to muffle the sound of the explosion, which failed to open the strongbox.

Among the heaviest cash losers was G. J. Jorgenson, who reported thieves broke into his basement suite and stole $80.

Hunter Crosby

Crooner Bing Crosby sips coffee amid the tall timber of Canada's Jasper National Park after a day of hunting during his recent vacation. Bing proved himself good with a gun as he bagged a moose, a bighorn and a mountain goat, and grew a fine crop of whiskers while he was at it.

Fire Destroys Taghum Lumber Company Mill

$100,000 Blaze Believed by Owners To Be of Incendiary Origin; Mill In Pend d'Oreille Area Also Razed

TAGHUM, B.C., Oct. 14—A pre-dawn blaze completely destroyed the Taghum Lumber Company Ltd. mill at 5 a.m. Tuesday, causing damage estimated at close to $100,000. Suspected by the owners to be an incendiary fire, it swept the entire premises, demolishing buildings, equipment and stacks of lumber.

Flames were sighted at this small centre five miles West of Nelson by George Kalmakoff, an employee who lives at the mill. Fires seemed to rip through the floor, Kalmakoff said, adding that he believed there were two fires.

By 6 a.m. the planing mill was a mass of flames. The structure, operated by the Burns Lumber and Coal Company of Nelson, and valued at a replacement cost of $80,000, was beyond saving when a small truck from the Nelson Fire Department arrived on the scene. Water was pumped from Kootenay River into the railway-side blaze.

Daily output of the mill was 20,000 feet board measure, and it employed 20 men. One of several mills in the district owned by the same Company, its equipment had been recently electrified.

Full insurance was carried.

G. K. Burns, a partner of the firm, said that the fire "looks very suspicious," but it was "too early to know anything definite." Company officials said they suspected arson. Guards placed at the mill after the burning of the Boundary Sawmills, Ltd., mill at Midway, May 10, had been taken off duty only a couple of nights ago.

Fire Chief G. A. McDonald of Nelson declined to comment until he had made an investigation.

Cars travelling the highway between Trail and Nelson stopped at the small town to watch the blaze. It was an inferno. Pillars of smoke, glowing red from flames, climbed hundreds of feet into the sky. Fire, despite streams of water pouring from hoses, seemed to rage uncontrolled over the 100-yard stretch. Piles of lumber were either destroyed or heavily fire-damaged. Cost of lumber lost alone was $20,000.

No delay was encountered by Canadian Pacific Railway traffic. Three cars at the mill siding were removed to South Slocan and were undamaged.

The C.P.R. fire car used occasionally to fight forest fire was taken to the scene and the water tank used to help prevent the flames from spreading.

Tuesday morning also saw the first sitting of the Commission to investigate into strife among the District Doukhobor settlers. Special Commissioner Judge H. J. Sullivan of New Westminster opened the hearing in South Slocan to hear briefs from orthodox Doukhobors and members of the Sons of Freedom sect as well as from municipalities and interested public bodies.

INVESTIGATE SECOND SAWMILL FIRE NEAR TRAIL

TRAIL, B.C., Oct. 14—Lazareff's mill located some 20 miles Southeast of Trail in the Pend d'Oreille was burned completely to the ground this morning at about 7:15 a.m.

The fire was first noticed by Luke Elabey, a resident in the district who aroused E. A. Thompson and George Stark, two neighbors, but they could do little to check the fire.

Incendiarism is strongly suspected.

The legal title to the small semi-portable mill is believed to be involved although William Lazareff of Trail is said to have the largest share.

Operations have been closed since the fatal accident Oct. 8, when M. W. Kanigan was killed.

Corporal MacKay of the Provincial Police is investigating the fire.

SWIMS UNDER FLAMING OIL TO RESCUE MAN

Mercy Plane Brings Burned Seaman To Coast Hospital

TUG EXPLODES

VANCOUVER, Oct. 14 (CP) — A mercy plane which landed today from Britain River on the shores of Jervis Inlet, B.C., 70 miles North of here, brought a badly-burned seaman to hospital and revealed a tale of heroism.

William Blank, 35, was in "good" condition in hospital with injuries received when his tug boat was demolished in an explosion which blew out windows 100 yards away.

Pilot Dennis Denroche, who flew Blank here, said an unidentified tug boat operators, seeing the man swimming around in a sea of flaming oil, dove in and swam underwater, pulling the injured man to safety.

BUYERS CROSS BORDER FOR MEAT

Canucks, Americans Pass Each Other On Shopping Tours

LOGGERS HIT

VANCOUVER, Oct. 14 (CP) — Canadian and United States border officials tonight reported increasing traffic both ways, Canadians going South to purchase meat and shortening and Americans journeying North to buy eggs, butter and other food items selling at prices lower than in their own country.

Cause of the two-way traffic was given as President Truman's food saving appeal to the United States and the strike of United Packinghouse Workers of America Union (C.I.O.) in Canada.

Traffic through the border town of Huntingdon, B.C., was reported "about three times" that of last year.

Comparing the situation to wartime buying tours of Americans crossing the border to obtain meat, one official said: "With the meat strike on here, the shoe is on the other foot.

"Canadians apparently are paying high prices to bring home the bacon."

LUMBERMEN WORRIED

Increasing concern was expressed by logging camp operators in the heavily-timbered Harrison Lake district 80 miles East of here.

Most of the larger camps, with their own cold storage plants, have been able to manage with supplies received before the strike.

However, smaller camps, dependent on local butcher stores, were reported growing short and some buying livestock on the hoof.

A survey of 15 Vancouver butcher stores showed that 12 had no meat and little poultry left on the shelves, with three still stocked with enough meat to finish out the day.

William Symington, Union spokesman, said no action would be taken against truckers handling meat slaughtered in A.F.L. packinghouses in Calgary, despite the fact that such meat was declared "hot" by C.I.O. packers.

"That," said Mr. Symington, referring to the A.F.L. Truck Drivers' Union, "is their business."

Tropical Hurricane Blows Out to Sea

HATTERAS, N. C., Oct. 14 — (AP) — High winds and abnormal tides lashed the North Carolina banks today as the tropical hurricane which left a multi-million dollar trail of crop and property damage across Florida appeared to be blowing out to sea.

The centre of the storm, which the Weather Bureau said would register wind up to 80 miles an hour, was scheduled to pass Cape Hatteras and move out over the Atlantic.

Despite the gusty winds and high tides, little damage was expected by residents of the sparsely-settled Carolina banks.

Florida, meanwhile, continued to count its storm damage, caused principally by floods following torrential rains accompanying the storm. Thousands were reported homeless in Hialeah and Miami Springs as flood waters continued to rise.

ALLOCATES BRITISH COAL

LONDON, Oct. 14 (CP) — Fuel Minister Hugh Gaitskell, in his first Press conference since he took over that department from Emanuel Shinwell, today announced a Winter allocation plan aimed at meeting British industry's "full consumption requirements."

After Sir Stafford Cripps, Minister of Economic Affairs, told more than 100 newspaper men that industry must be given 24,250,000 tons of coal during the six Winter months which began Oct. 1, Gaitskell described the four-point Winter program as:

1. "Industry must come first and our plans for both coal and coke recognize this."

2. Domestic consumers may expect about the same coal as last year but substantially less coke.

10 PER CENT CUT NEEDED

3. Unless industry is to suffer, non-industrial consumption must be at least 10 per cent below last year's level and "I would not rule out the possibility of compulsory cuts on non-industrial users."

4. The plan does not provide for any exports of coal beyond ship bunkers and a small allocation for Eire. Britain plans to export at least 6,000,000 tons next year but "I cannot make provision for this yet."

Action Soon To Balance Trade

By D'ARCY O'DONNELL
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA, Oct. 14 (CP)—Up-to-date reports on Canada's financial relations with other countries were given to the Cabinet today by Finance Minister Abbott amid speculation action soon will be taken to boost exports to the United States or to cut down Canadian spending across the border.

With heavy Canadian buying and spending in the United States eating avidly into this country's wartime stockpile of American dollars, it is generally agreed here that Government action will have to be taken to stem the trend of the adverse trade balance.

To political observers the question appears to be what action can be taken that will meet the situation effectively with the least disruption of normal activities. The Cabinet will have the final say, but likely will base its decision on recommendations made by Mr. Abbott and his six financial experts.

Mr. Abbott, who returned last week from financial talks in the United Kingdom, has spent long hours with his experts going over particular problems, but nothing has been disclosed on the outcome of discussions.

DUCK HUNTING JUDGE SEES SPEEDING BALL OF FIRE AT DAUPHIN

DAUPHIN, Man., Oct. 14 (CP) — A ball of fire "about the size of a tennis ball and travelling at a terrific speed," today was reported seen over this Northwestern Manitoba town by Judge E. J. Heaney of the Winnipeg Juvenile Court and C. D. Bates of Dauphin, while duck hunting Monday.

It grew in size till it seemed to reach the dimensions of a small football and although at a considerable distance from them lit up the surrounding landscape, they said. "Suddenly it exploded, throwing its fragments in a forward direction."

At first the two were inclined to believe it was a meteor but as it had no tail they dismissed this theory. They could not estimate how far away it was and said they heard no explosion.

Swedish Aviator Breaks Into Mental Hospital, Flees With Woman Patient

STOCKHOLM, Oct. 14 (AP) — Swedish police reported today that Lieut. Thorsten Akrell, 34-year-old aviator, had broken into a Stockholm mental hospital yesterday, freed a scantily-clad young woman patient, Mrs. Louise Forsell Kaage, 25, and fled with her to Norway in a light sports plane.

The plane made a forced landing in a mountain meadow near Kongsberg, and the couple now is held by Norwegian authorities for extradition to Sweden, the announcement said.

Mrs. Kaage, attractive blonde, and author of a best-selling mystery story, wore only her hospital garments when she escaped from the institution with Akrell. He had disguised himself in a white doctor's coat.

Stockholm police said that although no charge had yet been filed against Akrell, "three paragraphs in the Criminal Law probably can be used against him." Mrs. Kaage could not be charged with any offence.

She is the daughter of the late John Forsell, chief of the Stockholm Royal Opera Company.

Mrs. Kaage's right hand was bitten off by a Polar bear at the Stockholm Zoo when she was a child. Early this year Mrs. Kaage suffered a fractured skull in a forced landing.

PLANNED MARRIAGE

The Stockholm Tidningen published what is described as a telephone interview with the couple in which they were quoted as saying they had hoped eventually to be married and to go to the United States.

Mrs. Kaage declared that she had entered the hospital recently of her own accord "to get a quiet room and be left alone by people to do some work.

"Instead they put me in a room with a lot of people, and I was treated in such a way I couldn't stand it any longer."

Commissioner—"We Must Ascertain Cause and Correct It . . ."

Orthodox Have "Nothing to Do" With Sons, Verigin Tells Hearing

SOUTH SLOCAN, B.C., Oct. 14—Strife among members of the Doukhobor sect and the difficulties of adapting themselves to ideals foreign to their own were emphasized Tuesday at South Slocan in the starting session of the Royal Commission probe into disturbances in the Doukhobor settlements of British Columbia.

Special Commissioner H. J. Sullivan of New Westminster officially opened the three-day hearing in the South Slocan Community Hall—taxed to capacity with Doukhobors who came from the entire surrounding district to hear the Orthodox Doukhobors open a verbal attack against the Sons of Freedom sect.

The breach between the sects was forcibly brought to the front by John J. Verigin of the Orthodox Doukhobors who declared that his members had not sung hymns with the others previous to the meeting because he doubted the "honorable intentions" behind their ritual and customs.

"It is possible to pray to God," he said, "and to shoot a man in cold blood."

Mr. Verigin, who presented a brief for the Union of Spiritual Communities of Christ, is Secretary of the organization.

Sons of Freedom, their voices raised in slow chant-like song before the opening of both the morning an dafternoon sessions, were silent during the entire proceedings.

The hearing was held 13 miles Southwest of the smoldering ruins of the Taghum Lumber Company Limited planing mill, results of the latest flareup in incendiary-plagued West Kootenay.

"We are here to investigate into the cause of recent disturbances in the province," Judge Sullivan explained, "and to recommend such remedial action as may seem fit. The nature of the disturbances is well known and is such as to cause shock and embarrassment to a great number of the Doukhobor people of the community and to cause alarm other denominational neighbors."

He added that the Canadian Government, when first told of the uprisings during the early years of the Doukhobors stay in B.C., believed that conditions would improve in time. "Today they find the same strife."

Things were worse instead of better, the Commissioner said. Depredation by fire, revealed during the hearing to have risen to a cost of $437,143 to Orthodox Doukhobors in three provinces up to 1937, was continuous in schools, churches, homes, hails, barns and factories.

MUST CORREST CAUSE

"This cannot be tolerated. We must ascertain the cause of unrest, or disrespect of neighbor's rights and laws by some Doukhobor people, and correct it."

Represented by Counsel, Donald MacDonald of Trail, Verigin cited the administration and ideals of his community, saying that members were required to send their children to school, to pay taxes and to take no part in nude parades or incendiarism plots.

Referrin gto the findings of a commission headed by Commissioner William Blakemore in 1912, he said that he recommended it as a "proper source to learn of the Doukhobor people." Two objections were all the community would voice toward the entire report.

"VERIGIN IS TH ETROUBLE"

One, he stated, was that Commissioner Blakemore had said "the real problem before the Government of B.C. is not the Doukhobors, but their leader Peter Verigin." John Verigin, a direct descendant of Peter "The Lordly," said it was general idea to attribute the problem of nudism to the former leader, despite the "simple fact that Peter isn't around any more."

Peter Verigin was killed in a train accident Oct. 29, 1924, along with eight others.

Judge Sullivan interrupted proceedings at that point to comment that Peter Verigin had been known to whip nudists and to assist in the prosecution of incendiarists.

The Doukhobor faith, however, John Verigin said, prevented the members of the Union of Spiritual Communities from accepting naturalization, and in particular from swearing the oath of allegiance.

CHILDREN ATTEND SCHOOL

While they had at first viewed Canadian schools with suspicion, believing that the subject of imperialism and nationalism was included in the curriculum which was against their beliefs, they had learned differently, the speaker said, and now the children were sent to school.

Regarding military regulations, he stated that his people came to Canada on the understanding that they would not have to take up arms. An exemption from participation in war was granted them and it was a Blakemore recommendation that this order-in-council be abolished that was their second objection to his report.

An understanding with the Government on the matter of vital statistics—Doukhobors have refused to register births, deaths or marriages — was being sought. The Government had been asked to explain the present rules.

Verigin told of the background of their refusal. In Russia, he testified, the Doukhobors had departed from the Greek Orthodox Church, which handled the registrations. In leaving the Church, they also abandoned the practice of registration.

DENOUNCE NUDISM

Denouncing nudism and incendiarism, he swore that his people had "nothing to do with it."

The fact that Peter Petrovitch Verigin had spoken against the Sons of Freedom in 1929 and that the Orthodox Doukhobors had asked a Doukhobor Commission into the "growing problem" was brought up.

"We have had nothing to do with those people," John Verigin stated. "We are not taking the responsibility for their actions. During the course of years it has been the tendency to brand the Doukhobors as a whole and blame them. We believe this tendency was responsible for the strenuous effort by Government authorities to deport Peter P. Verigin."

It was, he said, "unfortunate" that the Press was to blame for the spreading of such insinuations. He named Coast papers as carrying articles that "exaggerated" acts committed by Doukhobors. He cited a Coast newspaper headline "Douk terrorists fire on photo plane" and declared that papers were calling a "gangster from Chicago" a Doukhobor.

"They have no right to call Walter Pavlukoff, charged with the murder of a Vancouver bank manager, a Doukhobor."

Returning to the subject of allegedly firing on a plane, Verigin said that he knew the residents of Brilliant could not have done it, "because they are all members of the Orthodox sect."

At the hearing were Victor E. K. Weldie of Vancouver, Secretary to the Commissioner, and H. W. McInnes of Penticton, Counsel. P. W. Straeleff, formerly of Vancouver and now living in Nelson, acted as interpreter.

New System for Preparing Voting List Studied Here

The preparation of a voters list in the Kootenays is undergoing streamlining under the direction of George M. Philips, Registrar-General of Voters for the Province of British Columbia, who is in Nelson for two days to instruct Government clerks in the operation of the new system.

A recent Election Act, passed by the Provincial Legislature, ordered simplification of the old system of preparing voting lists. Clerks from Fernie, Cranbrook, Kaslo, Rossland and Grand Forks are in Nelson receiving instruction from Mr. Philips and a representative from the suppliers of new machinery.

The entire system of preparing the voting lists has taken a shaking up. The modernization has eliminated many of the bugbears that confronted the Government offices on election days. Mr. Philips explained Tuesday that voters will be registered simply by a declaration of status, signed by a witness. The cards, carrying all the necesary information, will be filed in cabinets which are also something new in the way of keeping voters' data.

ON PERMANENT PLATES

From the compact files will come the information which will be embossed on permanent plates which in turn will be filed for the records. When the call comes for preparation of voting lists the plates will be run through an addressograph, eliminating hiring of green help and the mistakes made by people not familiar with voting procedure.

It is expected that the voting list will also be used as a mailing file to facilitate posting notices of the location of polling stations and election dates through the medium of post cards. The files, Mr. Philips said, will also serve as a list of available jurors, doing away with retyping of the complete voting list to present to the jury committee.

Aside from the mechanical changes, the Court of Revision, which dealt with alterations in the voting list four times a year will become a permanent court in that a registrar may call a session on request to keep the records up to date at all times.

Following the completion of the course at Nelson, Mr. Philip will travel to the Okanagan where he will instruct Government employees in operation of similar machinery.

Clerks taking the course at Nelson included Mrs. Broley of Fernie, Mrs. W. McGruder of Cranbrook, C. Macdonald of Kaslo, Miss M. Kennedy of Rossland, R. Wilkinson of Grand Forks and W. Palethorpe of Nelson.

Flowers were sent to Mrs. H. E. Dill, first member to celebrate her 50th wedding anniversary.

Various members volunteered to assist Mrs. N. C. Stibbs in the clerical work of the T.B. mobile unit.

Trail To See Boxing Title Prelim

TRAIL, B.C., Oct. 14 — Boxing, on the up-grade in Trail during 1947, will receive its biggest boost here Oct. 24, when Max Turner, Coast promoter, stages a five bout card in the Trail Arena.

The promoter completed arrangements today to match Jackie Turner, the topmost contender for the bantamweight championship on the continent, with Aurel Toma, a former European bantam and flyweight champion, now fighting out of San Francisco.

Promoter Turner (no relation to the fighter) states that he has been assured that the winner of this bout will meet Dado Marino, generally recognized as North American Bantam Champion, for the title in Honolulu next February.

The fight card will also show Gerry Pittao, classy local light heavyweight in his first fight as a professional. He will square off against Hank Egli of Keremeos, a former golden gloves winner and only man to knock out Pittao when the two fought as amateurs some three years ago. Strong supporting bouts are planned.

Ice May Force Rescue Ship Back

WINNIPEG, Oct. 14 (CP) — The small Northern vessel carrying Canon John H. Turner, injured Church of England clergyman, from Moffat Inlet to Arctic Bay, near the Northwestern tip of Baffin Island, has not yet reached its destination, and an Army Air Force announcement said today that thick ice may have forced the ship's return to the Inlet.

Messages from Arctic Bay, 450 miles within the Arctic Circle, where the missionary was scheduled to be taken pending evacuation by air to a medical centre, said that ice along the ship's 50-mile route was now two inches thick, too thick to permit normal navigation for a small vessel.

Unless word concerning arrival of Canon Turner is received from Arctic Bay by tomorrow, the aircraft is then expected to fly to Moffat Inlet, a lonely mission centre 560 miles North of Coral Harbor.

Terms of Confederation Only Debatable Clause Expected at Meet

By JOHN TRACY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld., Oct. 14.—(CP)—With the National Assembly called to meet again tomorrow, observers speculated today that its twin job of determining whether Newfoundland is self-supporting and of recommending a new form or forms of government for the island will be finished in a month or two.

Most of the contentious matters which have arisen since the 44-member body was elected in June, 1946—proposals to send fact-finding delegations to London, Washington and Ottawa—have been disposed of, and the only matter left likely to cause a row is believed to be the submission of terms of possible confederation with Canada.

During the 100-day break in the proceedings of the convention a seven-man delegation went to Ottawa to confer with a Canadian Cabinet Committee on "what fair and equitable basis may exist for Federal union of Canada and Newfoundland."

Terms under which Newfoundland might enter Confederation as a 10th Province will be submitted to the convention after the Canadian Federal byelection in Fredericton, Oct. 20.

BLOCS LINE UP

In advance of submission of the terms, opposing blocs appear to be lining up within the convention.

Although most members were elected with open minds on what forms of possible future Government would be recommended for the ballot paper in the national referendum, two distinct groups have appeared within the convention. One consists of the supporters of Federal union who believe confederation would protect Newfoundland from the shock of economic storms which blew her responsible Government away in 1934. They admit they number less than half of the convention members.

The other group largely favors the restoration of responsible Government, pointing to the fact that Newfoundland now has accumulated surpluses since 1941 totalling $28,000,000.

Many observers think that if alternatives of retention of Commission Government, restoration of responsible Government or confederation were put to a vote immediately, the Newfoundlanders would favor the Commission Government which has directed their affairs as a "benevolent dictatorship" for 13 years.

These sources say that people who once tried to live on six cents a day relief are aware that the Commission has built new roads and hospitals and has helped put fishing, once on a credit basis, on a cash basis.

Pro-confederates, without disclosing what actual terms Confederation may be, say they will swing both convention members and people around.

TOAST and TEA
BY J. V. McARTHUR

In his Farewell to Sport Paul Gallico wrote; "The only really emotional prizefighter I ever knew was Jack Sharkey, and he was therefore a bad one. He was a brilliant boxer, a good, punishing hitter and something of a master technician, a thorough workman with every known type of punch or attach, but his emotions nearly always managed to get in the way of his work. He was always bursting into tears or having hysterics, or waving his arms about, exposing his chin, or threatening to jump out of the ring—obviously a handicap. Sharkey was one of the few fighters on the big time that I have ever known who had to cook up a mad-on at an opponent or dramatize himself before he could do justice to his task. And then his emotions, hatred, rage, jealousy, pride or whatever they were, would get him into trouble."

OVER THE FENCE

By W. L. MacTavish

"The existence of fair laws on conciliation, mediation and strike votes should be recognized as safeguarding labor's interests as well as those of the public."

"There's another quote for you," said the Old Timer this morning. "It makes sense to me."

"In my experience and observation, the ordinary hard-working member of a trade union needs protection against irresponsible and fiery trades union leaders just about as often as he needs it against greedy and arrogant employers. In fact in recent years it seems to me he has needed it even more.

"I'm not criticising all labor leaders, not by any manner of means. There are labor statesmen, both in small unions and the big boys. But there are some who carry a chip on their shoulders, and holler "Strike!" whenever a trifling dispute arises. And good labor laws, based on the interests of labor and employers and the public — and don't forget the public has rights too — help to guard the interests of the workingman who doesn't want strikes except as a last resort.

"Does the workingman, or his wife and family, want to strike? You can bet your bottom dollar he doesn't. Then it seems to me he should be solidly behind a law calling for exhausting all the possible processes of conciliation and arbitration before any strike is called. Doesn't that make sense?"

MAY TAKE ACTION AGAINST COAST STRIKERS

VICTORIA, Oct. 14 (CP)— James Thomson, Deputy Minister of Labor for British Columbia, said today that reports made on the strikes of steel workers and packinghouse workers would proceed to the Attorney-General's Department and if the circumstances warrant it action would be taken against the strikers.

The reports were held in abeyance for some time while the legality of the Industrial Conciliation and Arbitration Act, which became law last May 15, was tested before Chief Justice Wendell B. Farris in the Supreme Court. Chief Justice Farris in a decision made in Vancouver Saturday upheld the legality of the Act.

The reports were on the strike of about 1000 furniture workers in plants in Victoria, Vancouver and New Westminster, and at packing plants in Vancouver and New Westminster.

Pheasant Season To Open at Creston Today

Today pheasants become legal targets for hunters on the Creston flats. From the entire district nimrods are converging towards the wheat fields at the lower end of Kootenay Lake.

For five days the old ringneck will have to keep on his toes for some of the best shots and bird dogs in the Southern Interior will be after him. From Nelson numerous parties will be on the fields by shooting time Wednesday. Some have already left and others are contemplating a hunt next week-end.

Hotel accommodation at Creston is strained by the high influx of hunters. In other years huntsmen have slept in cars for lack of lodgings and likely similar instances will occur this season.

And the bag limit is two birds, four for the trip.

Girl Found Shot To Death, Sister Beaten, Father Dying

NEWTON, Mass., Oct. 14 (AP)—A 15-year-old schoolgirl was found shot to death, her 18-year-old sister critically wounded, and their father dying of what Sgt. John H. Sheridan said was self-administered poison in their home here today.

Sheridan said that the father, Fiore d'Antonio, 42, apparently shot the younger girl, Nina, to death, and beat the elder, Mary, with a shotgun butt or a hammer. He was found unconscious in the cellar of their home.

Princess Juliana Takes Over Royal Power of Netherlands

THE HAGUE, Oct. 14 (AP)—Crown Princess Juliana was sworn in today as Regent of the Kingdom of the Netherlands. She takes over the Royal power from her mother, Queen Wilhelmina, for a period of nearly seven weeks.

The Regency will continue until Dec. 1, permitting the Queen to take a complete rest.

Juliana's oath, administered by the President of the First Chamber (the Senate), said she would be Regent "as long as the Royal power has been laid down."

High Waves Hinder Attempts To Rescue Bodies

VANCOUVER, Oct. 14 (CP) — High waves, whipped up by a strong Southeast wind, today caused temporary suspension of efforts to recover four bodies still trapped in the motorship Gulf Stream which ran onto a rocky island on the British Columbia coast Saturday night.

The Straits Salvage Company vessel Salvor is standing by the wrecked ship, ready to continue salvage operations as soon as weather permits. However, there is little prospect of work being resumed before evening, or early tomorrow, as gales are reported to be moving down the cost from the Queen Charlotte Islands.

The body of one of the five victims of the crash, that of Mrs. F. Fleck, of Refuge Cove, B.C., was recovered yesterday by a Vancouver diver, George Unwin, operating from the Salvor.

The Gulf Stream ran onto Diner Rock, about eight miles North of Powell River, B.C., Saturday night, as it sped up the coast on a regular scheduled run.

Flying Boat Lands In Choppy Sea

Forced Down After Difficulty; 69 Passengers Transferred Onto Ship

By JAMES McCOOK
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Oct. 14 (CP)—A veteran Trans-Canada Air Lines pilot's calm reply to an intercepted distress call from a giant Boeing flying boat, carrying 69 persons on a chartered flight from Britain to the United States, helped guide the craft to a safe landing early today near a weather ship in the choppy North Atlantic.

The pilot of the T.C.A. airliner, Capt. S. S. Albulet, told the Canadian Press in a telephone interview after his arrival in Prestwick, Scotland, that before he left the scene of the forced landing, a lifeline from the weather ship, the United States Coast Guard cutter Bibb, was attached to the flying boat.

(Airline officials said Albulet was a native of Regina.)

Albulet said he anticipates that the 62 passengers and the crew of seven aboard the craft, forced down due to a gasoline shortage, would be transferred safely.

(Radio reports reaching T. C. A. at Prestwick earlier indicated that Albulet had remained in the area until the transfer was completed.)

"The flying boat made a dandy landing despite a heavy sea and though they may have a bit of trouble transferring everyone I think they will be all right," Albulet said.

The T. C. A. airliner, which left Montreal at 8 p.m. last night, was 24 miles from the weather ship when radio operator Taman of Montreal heard the flying boat calling Gander, Nfld. and reporting difficulty.

Reports indicated six Canadians, including Albert E. Ritchie, 30, formerly third secretary at the Canadian Embassy in Washington, were aboard the flying boat. He was accompanied by his wife and three-year-old son, Gordon.

Other Canadians listed besides the Ritchies were:

Herbert Bateman-Cook.

Mrs. Florence Rothery, 41.

Kathleen Hayes, 32, nursing sister from Belmont, N. S.

Bateman-Cook was listed as an engineer. Mrs. Rothery was travelling with her husband and two children, all three of whom were listed as Britons.

Hometowns of Bateman-Cook and Mrs. Rothery were not immediately available.

When the flying boat reported difficulty T. C. A. intervened to relay the messages. Albulet said the flying boat had been trying to reach the weather ship but was unable to do so.

"Taman stepped in and began to relay the messages," Albulet added.

"We were just lucky with good weather and that our plane happened to be in the zone where we could hear swell when the flying boat could not."

PASSENGERS AWARE

The T. C. A. airliner then flew towards the flying boat and soon sighted it. The 16 passengers on the Canadian airliner were aware something exciting was afoot and craned to see the unwieldy flying boat in the air below them.

"We came down to about 3500 feet right above him and kept on relaying messages to the weather ship. Pretty soon the weather ship picked up the flying boat on its radar and began sending out direction messages which we continued to relay in case they were unclear to the flying boat."

The T. C. A. passengers could see that the sea was rough although visibility was clear and they watched as the flying boat went down to a risky landing.

The T. C. A. plane remained in the vicinity from 3.15 a.m. E.S.T. until 5:30 a.m. before proceeding on its course to Prestwick where it later landed.

Good Results In Rossland Mines Survey

Encouraging results are reported on the geophysical survey of Rossland Mines Ltd. holdings on the South belt, at Rossland.

Particularly on the Mayflower orebody, anomalies show the probable extension of this zone over a length of 7000 feet and checking of results obtained by means of test pits has so far shown extension over 4000 feet. Assays of samples taken from test pits in this area have returned as high as 55 ounces silver per ton, 0.4 ounces gold, 2½% lead and good values in zinc. These results are now being checked by surface diamond drilling with first results obtained reported as being equally encouraging.

WORKERS NEEDED IN CANADIAN GOLD MINES

TIMMINS, Ont., Oct. 14 (CP)—From the biggest gold mine in Canada to the smallest company getting ready to produce, men are needed in increasing numbers, the Timmins Daily Press says in a review published today.

The Porcupine area of Northern Ontario, which produces more than half the Province's gold, could employ 1150 more men today, the newspaper says, on the basis of a survey, but even with that many added, employment would not be as high as in 1941, "when gold production was at its best in Ontario."

Heaviest demand is for skilled workers. "The need is for diligent and conscientious men who can combine large amounts of brain-power with a certain amount of brawn to become proficient and well paid in an industry that has a stern apprenticeship."

TO AUCTION OFF COAL COMPANIES IN STUTTGART

BERLIN, Oct. 14 (AP)—The United States Military Government has ordered the sale at auction of eight coal-distributing companies in Stuttgart in the first move to break up coal trusts in Germany and remove wholesalers from the control of mine owners.

If the sale—which will not take place before December — demonstrates the practicability of such auctions, 168 more coal distribution properties in the United States zone will go into the hands of new owners in the same way.

Two of the mines to be offered for sale are owned by Hugo Stinnes, one by Krupp and another by the Flick interests. All the others are owned by leading German steel and coal combines.

Bidders at the auction will be restricted to residents of Stuttgart and non-German nationals who have lost similar property in Germany through the war or are losing property because of the sales.

"Corny" may mean something less than perfect to jazz enthusiasts, but to most of us a "corny" menu is all to the good, for it means that corn is difinitely in.

White corn, golden corn, and field corn; pop corn and pod corn! Corn is what Columbus found the redskins munching when he landed on our shores whence came the word "maize" from the Spanish (like your yellow or maize-colored dress).

METHODS DIFFER

Methods of corn-on-cob eatery differ, but the important thing is the corn itself. Besides being one of our more important crops, corn is native to America, as you know. Products of the golden grain are many; they include dextrose, gold salad oil, corn syrup, cornstarch. Many ways of using corn, too, including corn pone, corn muffins, corn pudding and corn bread. So when we've had our fill of on-the-cob eating, how about trying some of these corn delights?

If the men of the house demand hearty fare even before Summer's end, serve 'em pork chops with a corn dressing.

To serve 4, combine 4 cups soft bread crumbs and one cup bran. Cook tablespoon chopped onion and ¼ cup chopped celery in 2 tablespoons fat until lightly browned; add to bread mixture with teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon pepper and ¼ teaspoon poultry seasoning, one cup drained whole kernel corn and one cu pstock (liquid from corn or milk). Mix well.

Press into baking dish (6 inches in diameter). Arrange 4 pork chops on top of dressing and sprinkle with ½ teaspoon salt. Cover and bake at 375 F. about 45 minutes, uncover and bake for 15 minutes longer.

Banana dish addicts should go for this one; Corn-Rolled Banana Scallops. For 6 servings use 6 rpie, firm bananas (all-yellow or slightly green tipped).

For deep-fat frying have deep kettle ½ to 1-3 full of melted fat or oil. For shallow frying have one inch of melted fat or oil in frying pan. Heat fat to 375 F. or until a one-inch cube or bread will brown in about 40 seconds. Add 1¼ teaspoon salt to one slightly-beaten egg or ¼ cup evaporated milk. Slice peeled bananas crosswise in pieces ¾ to one inch thick. Dip into salted egg or milk. Drain. Roll in ¾ cup corn meal.

FRY UNTIL BROWN

Deep-fat fry or shallow fry in the hot fat 1½ to 2 minutes, or until brown and tender. Drain well; serve very hot.

Lastly, how about capturing that sweet corn flavor for a relish to serve next Winter? Use 20 ears sweet corn, cut the corn from the cobs. Add 6 sweet green peppers that have been seeded and chopped, 3 chopped medium-sized onions, one chopped or shredded small head white cabbage, and 3 pints vinegar. Boil, add 1-3 cup salt, 1¾ cup sugar, tablespoon each celery seed and ground mustard, 2 tablespoons white mustard seed, ½ tablespoon tumeric, ¼ cup flour mixed with one pint vinegar. Cook 30 minutes; seal in sterilized jars.

Love Problems

A Girl of 19 Years is Too Old To Be Under Her Mother's Thumb

I would be the last person in the world to be quick to advise any girl to leave home. But there are times when that seems the only solution to an improper situation. And certainly it is far from a proper one for a 19-year-old girl to have to live under her mother's thumb.

There may be very little a growing child can do to win from a dominating mother the consideration she should have. But when a girl has come close to her twenties and still is a victim of maternal harrying, it is time for her to take a decisive stand for her own protection.

One such girl writes me that she has been going with a young man for over a year; that she loves him and he loves her, but the courtship has had to be completely secret because, if her mother knew about it, she would forbid the two ever to see each other.

"My father sympathizes with me," she writes, "but he hasn't much say, for mother is the boss of the family. If she knew about this, she would find ways and means to prevent us from ever meeting. I tried to talk to her, but she won't listen. What chance have we with a set-up like this?"

Well, the only chance that I see for her romance, under such circumstances, is for her to let her mother understand definitely that she is now of an age when she has a right to live her own life in any reasonable way, and to proceed along those lines in spite of any angry outbursts her mother might stage.

It goes without saying that she should be very sure of her position before doing this. That is, she should be certain that nothing she is doing or contemplates doing could fairly be criticized, that her conduct is above question in every respect.

If she continued to live in her parents' home after asserting her right to freedom of action, she would obviously be subjected to a constant barrage of fault-finding and reproach from her mother. If she could learn to steel herself against this, so that she was not too greatly affected by it, or, if she could plan her time so that she would be exposed to it as little as possible, she might be able to hold on until marriage freed her from the whole sordid situation.

But if she found things unbearable, then, rather than give in to her mother's unreasonable attitude, I think she should get herself a job, if she hasn't one already, and live away from home as an independent individual.

Honor and respect are not any mother's natural right. She must earn them by conducting herself in such a way toward her children that they instictively give them to her. If she does not choose to do this, then she leaves her children no alternative but to disregard her.

Ilka Chase a Firm Believer in Combining Career With Marriage

Career women and housewives have one thing in common — they all have to eat. And that seems to be a forgotten point by those who cast aspersions on careerists.

According to Ilka Chase, a staunch defender of the working girl, men are the chief offenders. "Men are mighty quick to criticize career women and just assume that they choose careers out of sheer ambition. A more cogent reason is bread and butter."

Ilka Chase is a firm believer in combining a career with marriage. In fact, she combines careers with marriages. She gaily admits that the best career a-going would be no substitute for marriage . . . or having a beau. "Why what would you do when the office closes?" she quipped.

Continuing the subject, "When two people fall in love and the woman plans to continue a perfectly good career, show me the man who will say he'll have none of it — particularly if it's remunerative." And with this remark she threw up her hands, signifying that said it all.

Miss Chase has an ebullient spirit and terrific zest for living. This is partly sheer health; she's healthy as all outdoors. And part of it comes from her assortment of careers. She is convinced that boredom is the greatest exhauster in the world. I doubt that she is often bored! The day of this interview she was writing a new book, talking at a fashion luncheon and starring in a play . . . and she seemed to be enjoying it all very much.

Of all her careers, she says writing is the hardest thing she has ever done, "but it's kind of satisfactory." Still, she wouldn't write a daily column if they gave her Fort Knox.

How does she like the new styles? Fine. "I'm sick of seeing knees . . . it's not a handsome joint at best and might well be covered up." She doubts that skirts will get too long. She is also relieved that football shoulders are out and thinks men should be far happier now to embrace women for a change, instead of just padding!

She looked a bit startled at my question as to what she does to relax, but she rallied quickly and replied that she practices relaxing deliberately, adding that she has learned to relax in small ways . . . interjecting here that one has to learn something in 150 years! (She hasn't yet reached the age when life is reputed to begin . . . I looked the date up in the almanac.)

She thinks that women in general tend to get in a frenzy when talking . . . "My Dear, you should have seen the adorable etc." . . . putting emphasis on words that call for none and going into contortions which they mistake for animation. "It's frightening," says Miss Chase.

Being tall and willowy she doesn't have to diet, but as she says . . . "Oh I've put on extra weight in my day and time, but ordinarily I never eat desserts and starchy foods . . . so the rest of it isn't so hard." See . . . good food habits?

HOUSING COSTS VS LUMBER COSTS

REMEMBER the days back in 1937 when a five-room house could be built for about $4300? Today that house costs around $8400. And because most houses are built mainly with lumber in British Columbia, lumber gets most of the blame for the increase.

Actually, softwood lumber represents only a little more than one-eighth of the cost of the $8400 house.

Study the costs as here set out from carefully-kept records of average experience.

FOR A FIVE-ROOM HOUSE

	1937 Cost	1937 %	1947 Cost	1947 %
Lot	$ 350	8.14%	$ 700	8.33%
*Lumber	610	14.17	1150	13.69
Concrete Foundation and Walk	250	5.84	390	4.63
Brickwork	150	3.48	250	2.96
Plumbing	300	6.97	500	5.94
Septic Tank or Sewer and drain tile	65	1.51	90	1.05
Electrical	85	1.97	220	2.61
Plaster	200	4.65	475	5.65

Millwork, Sash, Doors and Frames	180	4.18	400	4.76
Hardwood Floors	250	5.84	375	4.46
Carpentry and Common Labor	700	16.27	1300	15.47

Metal Work	20	.46	35	.41
Insulation	—	—	100	1.19

Contractor's Margin	250	5.84	760	9.04
	$4300	100.00%	$8400	100.00%

* Based on 12,500 ft. of B.M. of Common and 2,500 ft. B.M. of Finish Lumber

Lumber for an $8400 house today costs 13.7% of the total as against 14.17% in 1937. The cost of vacant lots, of labor, plumbing, electrical work, painting, etc., etc., have all climbed.

COST OF LUMBER IS NOT THE MAIN REASON FOR THE HIGH COST OF HOMEBUILDING. IT IS ONLY A MINOR ITEM.

Shortage of building materials have added to the contractor's costs. They have reduced his turnover in a year and have made his time and overhead chargeable to a smaller number of units completed.

This situation should gradually improve now that free market conditions have been restored in building materials.

TO MAKE HOME IN CRESTON

NEW DENVER, B.C., Oct. 14 — Knox Presbyterian Church, New Denver, was the setting for a pretty Autumn wedding October 10 at 2 p.m., when Merle, youngest daughter of Neil Tattrie and the late Mrs. Tattrie, was united in the holy bonds of matrimony to Leslie, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. Jones, Creston, by the Rev. K. Hansen.

The youthful bride, who was given in marriage by her father, was lovely in a floor length gown of net over white satin with the traditional veil embroidered with satin applique draped from a coronet of seedoicarts. She carried a shower bouquet of red roses. The bride's attendants all in floor length dresses were her sister, Mrs. A. E. Avison as matron of honor, Miss Olive Tattrie, sister of the bride, and Miss Patricia Greer, cousin of the bride, were the bridesmaids.

The flower girl was little Miss Maureen Jones of Creston, niece of the groom. Orrin Plumb of Creston was best man for his brother-in-law.

Paul Paynor also of Creston and brother-in-law of the groom acted with A. E. Avison, brother-in-law of the bride in ushering.

Mrs. A. L. Levy played the wedding music and during the signing of the register Mrs. J. Baskerville sang "O Promise Me."

A reception for some 65 guests was held at the home of the bride, the New Market Hotel. Decorations and flowers used in the church and reception rooms were in shades of mauve, yellow, green and white.

Guests were received by the bridal couple assisted by the bride's aunt Mrs. J. A. Green.

Those asked by the bride to serve were Mrs. C. Hill, Mrs. T. Steenhoff, Mrs. J. Baskerville, Mrs. McKenzie, Miss Suzie Nakayawa, assisted by Mr. Charlie Shabata and Dan P. Morgan.

Mr. J. A. Greer acted as Master of Ceremonies and Rev. K. Hanson gave the toast to the bride which was responded to by the groom. T. R. Flint gave the toast to the bridal attendants, responded to by Mr. O. Plumb. Other speakers were Mr. James Draper and Mr. John Taylor.

For travelling the bride donned a grey suit with black accessories with top coat of grey blue.

Before leaving the bride and groom presented their bridal attendants with gifts.

Wisdom Needed on Palestine Problem

The United Nations Assembly, with the thorny problem of Palestine before it for decision, now knows the views of both Jews and Arabs on the partition proposed by a UN committee. The Palestine Jews accept the scheme "sadly," "reluctantly," and as a "sacrafice." The Arabs view the plan as a monstrous injustice and are prepared to "drench the soil with the last drop of their blood" in resisting it.

One conclusion follows from this sharp conflict of opinion. If UN adopts partition, Britain will presumably not put it into effect single-handed and will perhaps not even cooperate with other Powers in doing so. Britain's wish is to terminate the mandate speedily and withdraw all forces and officials; but the British Government has promised to take some responsibility for initiating the new deal in Palestine provided it is acceptable to both Jews and Arabs. Partition is unacceptable in the highest degree to the Arabs, as their spokesman told the Assembly in impassioned language this week.

What it comes to, then, is that if world opinion, as expressed through UN, thinks there should be a Jewish state in Palestine, an independent nation with a Jewish population and government, UN will have to guarantee this new country's safety says the Toronto Globe and Mail. This may well be a job requiring military action because the Palestine Jews number about 600,000 and live in the heart of the Arab world with 45,000,000 people. The Jews declare that they are ready to defend their state if it is set up, and doubtless they would give a good account of themselves in any clash which might occur. But if there is sincerity in the Arab declaration about drenching the soil with blood, numbers would be likely to count.

As to the merits of the question whether or not a Jewish state should be created, there is little that is new to be said; but it is astounding that the Zionists should be "sad" about the partition scheme or see it as a "sacrifice." The Jewish people, with no historic rights in Palestine over the Arabs, were promised a "National Home" there by the Balfour declaration and the terms of the British mandate. By this phrase was meant a centre of Jewish culture and activity in which world Jewry might take pride. Elevation of this centre to the rank of an independent Jewish state, even with only part of Palestine under its rule, would be a spectacular triumph for the Zionist cause.

It is difficult for most people in North America to see the matter in this light because this continent has been blanketed with Zionis propaganda continues the Globe and Mail. A common conception here is that Palestine belongs as of right to the Jews and that the British check on their immigration has been a grievous wrong. It was no doubt an eye-opener to many New Yorkers to learn, from the speech by Jamal el-Husseini of Palestine, that there is another point of view. As this Arab spokesman sees it, Britain has shown gross favoritism to the Jews and perpetrated serious injustices against the Arab majority. The Arabs feel about partition exactly as Americans or Canadians would feel if UN were now considering a proposition to turn part of Connecticut or New Brunswick into an autonomous Jewish state.

Mr. el-Husseini's speech was, of course, inflammatory and unhelpful. If the Arabs were willing to show tolerance and goodwill, a small Jewish enclave in their world would do them no harm; on the contrary, it might bring them as much advantage as the large Jewish populations of New York and London have brought to the United States and Britain. But at least Mr. el-Husseini's words must have had the good effect of waking up world opinion to the fact that the Palestine problem is a real one. The world, or a great part of it, thought that Hindu-Moslem difficulties in India were a fiction invented by Britain to justify British rule, but now knows better. The same part of the world has believed that Arab-Jewish rivalry in Palestine is another British fairy-tale—but now presumably knows better. The UN debate is making it clear that if partition is adopted, the best political wisdom available and probably some military force will be needed to make the decision stick.

"HIT AND NOT HIT"

Among many other significant and telling truths, Dr. Robert McClure recently told Kootenay audiences that there were no longer "Allied and Axis" nations, or "Defeated and Victorious" countries, but just simply "Hit and Not Hit" peoples. Dr. McClure asserted that this was the only valid distinction between the peoples of today's world.

Hector McNeil, British Minister of State, recently told a UN gathering almost the same thing in other words. Said Mr. McNeil:

"Several speakers have referred to the unity of the nations that fought against Fascism and have signed for a retention of that unity. That is either nostalgic nonsense or dangerous dishonesty. We are no longer the same company of nations who fought."

Having accepted these declarations, ordinary people like me can quite easily go a step further and become convinced all over again, on excellent evidence, that the war is not over after all, but is continuing in another guise.

I know, that is a statement I have made before, but I am entitled to a retrial of my case as the lawyers say, because of new evidence.

O.K.?

Now, if you accept the fact that war is only aonther name for the introduction of physical force into an everlasting political, social and/or economic struggle—just where do you, personally, fit in?

Or is that an unfair question?

Let's look at it this way: Suppose the war had not ended with VJ-Day and VE-Day. Where would you be now?

Well, it doesn't matter much where you were before, does it? If the war was still on you would certainly be up to your neck in it—very likely on the 100 per cent conscription basis, men, materials, money and what have you.

Then, why shouldn't you and I be on a 100 per cent conscription basis right now—not to win a war, but to prevent one?

For any number of reasons. First, the economy of the country couldn't stand it, except on a rigidly regimented basis. Second, because the abolition of war depends to a great extent on a greater production and distribution of the world's goods, which wouldn't materialize on any 100 per cent conscription plan.

But isn't it a good idea, once in awhile, to remind ourselves that but for the grace of God and the valour of thousands of young heroes we would—every last ne of us—be living only to serve a mighty machine of war? Isn't it a good idea to remember that a wide misunderstanding of the plans of the peacemakers, or a wide indifference and apathy, will inevitably lead to the total conscription of everything we ever had or hope to have? And wouldn't it be a good idea for each one of us, individually, to conscript just a portion of our time and energies, in time of peace, to the extension and wide understanding of the kind of living which will eventually outlaw the introduction of force into our human squabbles?

It doesn't much matter where you put that conscripted time, if the purpose and the heart are right. It might be used for your lodge, or your service club, or your church, or moral rearmament, to technocracy, or any one of a dozen other group activities. Just be sure that the energies you are using and the time you are giving are furthering something which leads away from war. A sufficient number of self-conscripted people, dedicated to the proposition that war shall be no more, are the tools the statesmen need to do the job.

A 10 per cent conscription of your activities today may save 100 per cent conscription for you and yours tomorrow.

Headline "Misleading"

To the Editor:

Sir—I would like to call to your notice, and to your readers' attention, the press report by John LeBlanc, on the top left side of your issue of Oct. 10, page 1.

It was headed "New C.C.L. fight over C.C.F."

The heading is very misleading so far as the facts as revealed are concerned. That is, after a person got down and struggled through the two columns of incoherent drivel written by Mr. LeBlanc.

Whom do you fellows think you are trying to kid? Or is it just another herring to catch the unwary, and make them think the C.C.L. and C.C.F. are having a great, big, lovely battle?

As far as I can see the C.C.L. and C.C.F. are just getting a little closer together, through sensible debate, and putting their respective cards on the table.

I would gather by Mr. LeBlanc's smoke screen that he must be what we call a real reactionary.

I hope that any of your readers who have a copy of the Nelson Daily News for Oct. 10 will go back and read this report again.

I trust the foregoing will rate a small corner on your Letters to the Editor page.

J. A. Mennie, Kimberley, B.C.

Today's Horoscope

You have very definite ideas and a matter-of-fact way about you, but you lack enthusiasm and imagination. You are a cautious person, conservative, and have a goodly amount of business ability. You enjoy good literature, are fond of nature and seek the society of cultured people. You have many friends and are devoted to your family. Vibrations are adverse for this day. Trouble through groups, competitors or associates may be expected. Pressure may be brought to bear. Protect your business standing. On the other hand, you may expect a busy, important and, on the whole, successful year, but beware of quarrels and accidents. Avoid erratic conduct. Gain will come to you in various expected and unexpected ways. Born on this day a child, while being clever and capable, will be critical, fault-finding and hasty-tempered, attributes likely to somewhat impair success and popularity.

MUSIC

Music resembles poetry: in each

The direct relation of music is not to ideas, but to emotions—in the works of its greatest masters, it is more marvelous, more mysterious than poetry.—Henry Giles.

Music is the harmony of being; but the music of Soul affords the only strains that thrill the chords of feeling and awaken the heart's harpstrings.—Mary Baker Eddy.

Although the spirit be not master of that which it creates through music, yet it is blessed in this creation, which, like every creation of art, is mightier than the artist.—Beethoven.

Movie Gossip

Easy to Turn Down $150,000 or So When You're Working Just for Fun

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 14 (AP) — Loretta Young was listening to her agent recite the plot of a forthcoming movie for which a major studio was eagerly seeking her services, when he finished, she shook her head and smiled. "No thanks," she said. That's how easy it is for her to turn down $150,000 (more or less).

Loretta now is finishing "Rachel" and she told me: "I haven't found a story which would induce me to work until next year." This is an unusual attitude in these trying times when many actresses are eager to work at anything. But Loretta explained:

"Several years ago I was stewing over a role which I was going to do, but didn't want. 'Look,' said Tom (Lewis, her husband), 'you're not working to clothe the kids or buy the food or pay for the house, because I provide those things. The only reason you should work is because it's fun.' And that's the way I've looked at it ever since."

More moveland quotes:

I found Rosalind Russell making up for her role as a murderess in "The Velvet Touch." . . . "But I thought you were going to do a comedy as your first independent production?" I said. "So did I," Roz answered, "I read dozens of comedy scripts and many of them had clever premises. But none had solid plots like 'His Girl Friday' or 'My Sister Eileen.' They don't make them like that any more."

Robert Mitchum, who is constantly beefing about working too hard: "After this picture I'm reserving a berth in a sanitarium." . . . Robert Ryan, happy about playing heels: "I was a good, clean-cut guy for five years in pictures and I got damned tired of it". . . . William Holden, complaining that he'd like a picture without uniform or period costumes: "I haven't been in civvies since 1941."

On the "Station West" set an assistant asked Jane Greer: "Are you dead in this scene?" Jane: "Dead? I've been dead since 10 o'clock this morning". . . . When Tom Drake balked at doing "Hills of Home," M.G.M. retorted that it wasn't merely a Lassie picture. Tom's doing it, but he still says, "With Lassie and color, what else could it be?" . . . Ella Raines was telling about her stunt of having breakfast in New York, lunch in Chicago and dinner here. "Shucks," said her husband, flier Robin Olds, "I make the round trip in a day."

Sights and sounds:

Audrey Totter reading a trade paper item, "Aubrey Totter will visit his parents in Joliet". . . . Al Jolson, Oscar Levant and Lauritz Melchoir singing "Yes, We Have No Bananas" at a radio rehearsal. . . . Dick Haymes and Tony Martin asking each other in the U-I commissary "When do you start?"

Anne Baxter thinking her new car was stolen, then finding out a studio cop moved it to a safer place. . . . Elizabeth Taylor showing off the poodle she brought from England. . . . Clark Gable knee-deep in plane schedules on the "Homecoming" set and looking as though he'd like to be anywhere but in a movie studio.

LONDON (CP)—There were 1,658,000 automobiles on Britain's roads last May 31, 112,000 fewer than the same date in 1939.

"The Authority on Authorities"

YOU CAN BE TOO RICH

THERE is such a thing as being too rich—if not in dollar terms, then certainly in high cards. If you hold so many trick-takers in your own hand that you can be sure your partner hasn't a thing of value, the power of your own holding may shrink to futility. There are two kinds of plays which the declarer can then employ to bring about your undoing—the throw-in and the squeeze. He may even use both of them against you and thus beat you out of a couple of tricks which your side could have taken if your partner had any of your big cards.

"The worst experience I ever had at a bridge table," said West after he had been both squeezed and end-played on the one hand.

When he led the club K, South took a look at the dummy and noticed two probable losers in hearts, one in diamonds and two in clubs, a total of five. But he avoided two of them by playing West for every card of importance which was out.

Disliking to set up the club Q, West did not now lead a second club, but switched to the spade 8. South cleared trumps then in three rounds and led the club 6. With no point in holding up and noting that the dummy's Q was now established, West took this with the A and returned the 4. It was his only way to avoid leading from his honors in the red suits. South discarded his heart 10 on the club Q, then led to the now blank heart K. West took it and for once found a lead which was not distasteful to him, the heart Q, which South ruffed.

Then came the hardest blow of all, as South led his last three trumps. West discarded the best way possible to him, but it did no good. As the last spade was led, South held his two diamonds and dummy the A-9 plus the heart 9. West wouldn't set up the heart by discarding the J, so blanked his diamond K. The diamond 4 to the A dropped it and the Q got the last trick.

Sox Release Ruffing, Lee

CHICAGO, Oct. 13 (AP)—Charles (Red) Ruffing, 43, former New York Yankee pitching star, and 40-year-old pitcher Thorton Lee today were released unconditionally by Chicago White Sox of the American League.

Both were incapacitated with injuries most of last season, when Ruffing had a 3-5 record and Lee won three against seven defeats.

Ruffing, acquired by the White Sox after he suffered a broken knee cap with the Yankees last year, tops all major leageu pitchers in World Series victories with seven, having played in as many series, all with the Yanks.

Lee, who led the American League in earned-run average and complete games in 1941 when he had a 22-11 record, came to the White Sox from Cleveland in 1936.

Mosienko Injured In All-Star Game

TORONTO, Oct. 14 (CP) — A sombre note of tragedy today marred the stirring spectacle of last night's first annual National Hockey League All-Star game—a rip-roaring battle between the League's 1946-47 All-Stars and Toronto Maple Leafs in which the dream team came from behind to edge the Stanley Cup champions 4-3.

Billy Mosienko, the dashing right wing of Chicago Black Hawks, is in hospital with a fractured left ankle which may keep him out of hockey for the season. The 25-year-old speedball from Winnipeg suffered the injury when checked by defenceman Jimmy Thomson of the Leafs, another native of Winnipeg.

President Clarence Campbell of the N. H. L. described the accident as unfortunate. But he did not anticipate it would affect plans for an annual match on the eve of the scheduled season between the league's All-Stars and its Stanley Cup champions.

He looked on the accident as a severe blow to the Chicago Club, already short on manpower. It came on a clean play which brought no penalty.

First Public Skating Today

This afternoon the strains of the world waltzes will guide the first skaters of the season around the Civic Centre Arena.

And tonight the wheels of the hockey mill will begin to grind. This year's operation is one of the most ambitious ever undertaken by the Nelson Maple Leafs and if an early start at practise means anything, this is it.

First public skating for adults is from one to three in the afternoon followed by a children's session from four to six.

At Trail the Smokies will also hold their first tryouts today. The session Wednesday will be more or less a counting of heads, the first serious workout to take place Thursday night.

Spokane Spartans opened their pre-season camp in the Washington city Monday night under the direction of Joe Benoit and Rene Morin.

Outsider Captures Canadian Championship

LONG BRANCH, Ont., Oct. 13 (CP) — Charlie Hemstead's four-year-old filly Brown Hostess held on to win by a head today in the 10th renewal of the $4500 Added Canadian Championship for all ages, feature of the holiday program at the Long Branch race track.

Ridden by Les Stroud, Brown Hostess covered the 1 1-16 miles of the handicap for Canadian-owned horses in 1.46 1-5 over a good track. The Oshawa Parkwood Stable's Moldy, winner of the King's Plate last Spring, closed fast to take second place by a length and a half over R. W. R. Cowie's Yellowknife.

Brown Hostess, an outsider in the betting, returned $27 for a $2 winning ticket. Moldy and J. Kemp's Mugwump had been established popular choices.

A Thanksgiving Day crowd of 20,000 saw the racing in which the longest-priced winner was F. McLean's Royal Stand, victor in the first race at $55.20 for $2. Jockey Bob Fisher and E. Roy each rode two winners.

SWAP TAYLOR FOR GUIDOLIN

DETROIT, Oct. 14 (CP)—Manager Jack Adams of Detroit Red Wings announced tonight the Wings have traded Billy Taylor, centre from Oshawa, Ont., to Boston Bruins for Armand (Bep) Guidolin.

The official announcement of the deal, hinted at by Adams several weeks ago, was made 24 hours before the Red Wings open the National Hockey League season here tomorrow against Chicago Black Hawks.

The 21-year-old Guidolin will be used as a reserve left-winger against the Hawks, who are minus the services of Billy Mosienko, injured in the All-Star game at Toronto last night. Guidolin scored 10 goals and 13 assists last year and has a four-year league record of 49 goals and 70 assists.

Taylor has had 6½ years in the league, for a total of 83 goals and 164 assists. He was slow getting in condition this season although various practices indicated he still has his speed. Taylor came to Detroit from Toronto Leafs in exchange for Harry Watson.

"We are building a young team," said Adams tonight. "Taylor is 28, Guidolin only 21. We are none too strong at left wing. We think the trade is a fine one for the Wings."

COBBLER WINS

NEWMARKET, England, Oct. 14 (AP) — The Cobbler, an unbeaten colt, today won the six-furlong Middle Park Stakes, known as the "Two-Year-Old Derby" and regarded as an important test for entries in next year's classic races.

He fought off a powerful challenge from Dorothy Paget's Birthday Greetings to win by a head and collect top money of £2000 ($8000). Birthday Greetings had been beaten only once before.

TORCHY PEDEN SEVENTH IN BIKE MARATHON

CHICAGO, Oct. 14 (AP) — The team of Mike Abt of Chicago and Charley Bergna of Paterson, N.J., today continued to pace the field with 217 points at the 750-mile mark of the six-day bike race.

Tom Saetta of Brooklyn and Sam Rinella of Alameda, Calif., held second place followed by Jules Audy of Chicago and Rene Cye of Montreal.

Torchy Peden of Victoria, half of one of 10 teams entered, was in seventh place.

Record Turnouts For Big Time Ball

By JACK HAND

NEW YORK, Oct. 14 (AP)—Major league baseball attendance climbed to an all-time high of 19,954,832 in 1947, it was disclosed tonight in an unofficial count showing an eight-per-cent increase over the 1946 paid total of 18,534,444.

New York Yankees again led the field with a paid attendance of 2,200,369 but, despite their pennant victory, did not match the major league record of 2,265,512, set by New York's third-place team in 1946.

National League figures hit a high of 10,390,289, representing an increase of 1,477,027 over last year, and the American's 1947 turnstile total of 9,564,543 represented a decrease of 56,639 from the 1946 gate.

Five National League teams, Brooklyn, New York, Pittsburgh, Boston and St. Louis, and three American League clubs, Cleveland, Boston and Philadelphia, drew more people through their gates than ever before.

Pittsburgh's increase was the most remarkable as the new Pirate owners, with Hank Greenberg and Ralph Kiner as the bait, passed last year's total by 524,485 with a final count of 1,283,602, although finishing seventh.

All National League teams, except Philadelphia and Cincinnati, hit the 1,000,000 mark and the Phils and Reds were both in the 900,000 class. The Phils, the lone team failing to match the '46 gate in the National, still had their second best mark in history, 906,868.

BROWNS LOW

St. Louis Browns were the one sore spot in the major league picture. Stumbling along in the cellar with several crowds below the 1000 mark, including one night game, they finished with only 332,608. That was more than 500,000 behind the next lowest team.

KELLY IS BOSS ANGEL AGAIN

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 14 (AP) — Big Bill Kelly, who managed the Los Angeles Angels to the Pacific Coast League pennant and the post season Governor's Cup, was handed another year's contract today—with a raise in pay.

President Don Stewart of the Angels announced the re-signing of Kelly, but declined to disclose the amount of his paycheck or any increase involved.

The 1947 season was Kelly's first in Triple-A baseball. He came to the Los Angeles club, which is owned by the Chicago Cubs, from Davenport, also a Cub farm.

Proclaim Bevens' Day

SALEM, Ore., Oct. 14 (AP) — Pitcher Floyd (Bill) Bevens of New York Yankees will come home to a welcome just as warm as though he'd made his 8 2-3-innings no-hitter in the World Series last through the final out.

Mayor Robert Elfstrom has proclaimed Friday as Bevens Day and festivities will get off to a 7 a.m. start.

In the World Series against Brooklyn, Bevens had a no-hitter with two down in the ninth when Cookie Lavagetto rapped a double.

CHANDLER FLIPPER BETTER AFTER OPERATION

ATLANTA, Ga., Oct. 14 (AP) — Spurgeon (Spud) Chandler, pitcher for New York Yankees, was up and walking around his room at hospital here today after an operation on his pitching arm.

The Carnesville, Ga., hurler, who won nine and lost four last season before his arm began to plague him, reported that his "money-wing" feels "a lot better now."

In the operation Monday, seven scraps of cartilage and bone chip were removed from Chandler's elbow.

New N.H.L. Agreement

TORONTO, Oct. 14 (CP)—Governors of the National Hockey League today put the finishing touches to a new permanent operating agreement. It replaces a 15-year agreement reached in 1926 and extended from year to year after it expired.

President Clarence Campbell, making the announcement at the end of the closed meeting of the governors, said the agreement makes for provision of entry of new clubs into the league and for withdrawal of the present six clubs "under the terms of the agreement." He did not disclose further details.

The present six clubs are Montreal Canadiens, Toronto Maple Leafs, Boston Bruins, Detroit Red Wings, New York Rangers and Chicago Black Hawks. Mr. Campbell said the old Montreal Maroons franchise, held by Len Peto of Montreal, is still active and Peto has until next June to get ready for entry into the league in the 1948-49 season.

Don Fraser of Vancouver was elected President for the coming year, Eric Mattinson of Nanaimo was named Vice-President, Percy Simmons of Vancouver is Treasurer while George Sole of Langley and Ivan Tample were elected Executive members.

Market Trends

TORONTO (CP)—Firm industrial lists featured the market as news- prints continued a strong group with liquors and utilities following up closely. Mining stocks, however, were featureless with speculatives neglected although base metals were about even and Western oils quiet.

CHICAGO (AP)— Grain futures moved upward, led by wheat, which advanced sharply at the opening, re- covered from profit cashing and ad- vanced toward the end of the day on reports of heavy buying by the government.

NEW YORK (AP)—Stocks swung upward under leadership of steels and a wide assortment of industrials with dealings among the liveliest of the last several months.

MONTREAL (CP)— Papers con- tinued to surge forward. Other in- dustrial groups were generally firm while mines were mixed.

LONDON (Reuters)—Uncertainty dominated the stock exchange and trading in most sections was reduced to negligible proportions. There was, however, a rallying tendency to- wards the close.

Calgary Livestock

CALGARY, Oct. 14 (CP)— Trade non too active. More cattle on offer than trade can absorb. Prices weak- er in spots. About 250 head of cattle on offer this morning.

Broda's Successor Sent to Marlboros

TORONTO, Oct. 14 (CP)—Howie Harvey, goalkeeper for St. Michael's College Majors, 1946-47 Memorial Cup winners, will play for Toronto Marlboros Senior O.H.A. team this season, Conn Smythe, Managing Director of the Toronto Maple Leaf Gardens, announced last night.

Leaf protege Harvey, generally conceded as Turk Broda's eventual successor in the Leaf nets, earlier was rumored headed for the Quebec Senior League if he was not assign- ed to Pittsburgh of the American Hockey League.

Pat Boehmer, originally slated for goal-tending duties with Marlboros, was sent to Boston Olympics of the Eastern United States amateur lea- gue with whom he played last year.

A third Leaf netminder, Gordie Bell, was sold to Washington Lions of the American Hockey League.

. . . Are Those Head-Piercers Authentic? . . . That Star Story About the Rafais

Says a letter before me, of Nelson date-line:

"Dear Old Hoss—Every day I follow your ramifications in The News with interest and admiration for your long memory and variation in your subjects.

"Enclosed clipping came out of the recent Toronto Star. Some day you may be short of a ready subject. What about giving your idea of the clipping? As far as my opinion is concerned, I think it impossible, just hocus pocus. What do you think?

"Yours truly
"E. A. P——."

I'll have to ask E.A.P.'s pardon for over a month's delay in getting around to his so kindly introduced topic, as to the authenticity of a story purportedly from Portuguese India, by Ramesh Damia, on which the Star Magazine editor stuck the accurately descriptive head, "Rafais Stick Needle through Both Ears Without Drawing Blood."

Among the things the author states he saw different Rafais—a self-torture sect of Moslems—do, in the course of a morning's "exercise in self-control"—were, slicing off two inches of one's tongue, and replacing it; driving a rapier into one's stomach, and withdrawing it bloodless; piercing one's cheeks with an awl-like instrument, with three inches of blade showing through; pressing the base of one's neck against the point of a sword held hilt against the ground, until the point went through the neck and stuck out behind, the sword being withdrawn bloodless, and no wound showing on examination; hammering one dagger with another until the point of the first was imbedded vertically in one's crown a couple of inches; and putting what looked like an oversize carpet needle through one's head by way of the two ears, bloodlessly. A group of 22 men, of varying ages, went through their individual routines, the 16 not differentiated piercing or gashing their flesh in various ways, in the dawn period, all apparently suffering pain except the old fellow who had mastered the ear-penetrating exercise, and the head of the group stated they were repeated every morning and evening.

The author said it was not an instance of "mass hypotism," if such a thing existed, as it was not a case of a show being put on, but he had sought out the group in its camp in a teak forest, and was permitted to observe what was said to be a twice-daily routine, each member being engaged with an exercise suitable to his stage of advancement.

He was told by the chief that 100 years ago in Hyderabad a member was illustrating how to cut off a human head and replace it safely, by doing it to his son, and unintentionally killed him, due to the son's immaturity. When tried for murder, the man proved his contention with a goat, which he restored to unity and life after beheading. The author states he later learned from the Chief of Police of Hyderabad that the facts alleged were actually in the records.

Now for comments. It is realized of course that I am not claiming special knowledge, or special power of analysis. I have been invited to state my impressions.

HUMAN BODY TOUGH, MALLEABLE

The treatment that the human body can survive, with practice, is amazing. An acrobat can pickle his face so that a partner can stand on it, or so he can scratch a match on it. A boxer can tense his abdominal muscles so that an ordinary man driving his fist against them will hurt his arm more than he will the boxer's stomach. (I've hurt my arm that way.) An athlete in the height of training is practically unhurtable by a crashing blow or bump or fall that would disable anyone else.

American Indians underwent exquisite tortures of their own devising, in becoming braves. They hung by thongs of their own flesh, and spun themselves till the thongs broke. The Flagellants in Cervantes' time paraded Spain lashing themselves. Various native races have had fire walkers. Human flesh seemingly can be indurated to stand almost any abuse.

This would apply easily, I would think, to cases of accustoming certain tissues to certain types of penetration or even injury.

At first I was inclined to E.A.P.'s view that some at least of the described feats—the piercings of the head—must be hocus pocus, that is, either physical or mental legerdemain. But on looking up the shape of the human brain, in relation to the other parts of the head, I was interested to find that a needle thrust through the head by way of the ears would not contact brain tissue. Further, the brain is in two halves, and their dividing line is marked by a depression, much the same as that between two loaves of bread that are baked together. After seeing those pictures, I would say it would be theoretically possible for a man who was willing to stand the torture involved, to begin with a small puncture of his crown at the right spot, and by regularly repeating the process and deepening the penetration, to eventually attain considerable depth. It might even be that the dagger might be introduced gradually between the two halves where their triple protecting membranes were in actual contact. That kind of thing is done by the surgeon's knife, isn't it?

The fact of catalepsy suggests other possibilities in connection with muscular control. I have seen an acquaintance put into a cataleptic sleep, his rigid body placed with head on one chair and heels on another, and four men stand on his horizontal form.

CASE OF THE SEVERED HEAD

In recording the tale told him by the Rafai chieftain about the sect member who killed his son, the author does not say the chief claimed that a man had ever been actually beheaded and successfully restored to life. Quite possibly the only time the process was tried was the time it failed, though it seems to have worked with the goat, to the satisfaction of the British court, which was sufficiently convinced of the man's belief in his own powers, to let him off with a prison sentence.

Against the idea that a human being could be so treated and survive, is the experience of the French scientists who sought to establish whether or not the human brain retained consciousness after severance of the spinal cord. Experiment with a murderer condemned to the guillotine, who concentrated on winking—the agreed signal—failed of result.

In favor of the possibility, however, is the fact that a Russian scientist removed the head of a dog, the head retaining life and consciousness. Hugo Gernsback had an article about it. This retentiveness has been demonstrated many times with less advanced forms, such as turtles and amphibians.

As to the author's physical vision having been really mental, under the force of hypnotism, that possibility should not be rejected. India is full of "holy men," whose whole lives are spent in mental concentration. The late James Churchward, author of "The Lost Continent of Mu," and "The Children of Mu"—the children in the case being the colonies left in Yucatan, Gautemala, etc.—claimed that some of these mystics attain extraordinary power. He related being with one who seemingly turned a cane into a snake to rout an unwelcome British colonel who insisted that the mystic—a perfect stranger resting by the roadside — perform some menial service for him. When the dismayed colonel abandoned the contest of wills, the snake became a self-respecting cane again, in both Churchward's and the colonel's eyes. (This incident had nothing to do with the Mu thesis, but illustrated Churchward's contention of what could be attained by mental concentration.)

Could the entire Damia story be fiction? It could of course, but that would be pretty discreditable, in view of it purporting to be a traveller's factual account of an actual occurrence.

Bakeries Pledge To Save Wheat

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14 (AP) — Chairman Charles Luckman of the Citizens Food Committee planned to pledge the bakery industry of the United States today to wheat savings of 3,500,000 bushels a month for hungry Europe.

Meanwhile he called the 25 committee members together to report closing two other deals which he considers of major importance in the drive to conserve 100,000,000 bushels of grain this Winter. They were a 60-day shutdown by whisky distillers starting at midnight Oct. 25, and a pledge of "complete support" from the restaurant industry's National Advisory Committee, including cooperation in the spottily-observed meatless Tuesdays and eggless and poultryless Thursdays. The industry added a 17-point savings plan of its own.
