To Recall Envoys From Spain

Could Still Retain Embassies in Madrid; Reject Recommendation For States to Break With Franco

LAKE SUCCESS, N.Y., Dec. 9 (AP)—The United Nations Political and Security Committee today adopted a Belgian recommendation that all members immediately recall their ambassadors and plenipotentiaries from Franco Spain.

The same amendment, adopted by a 27 to 7 vote ,with 16 abstentions, recommended that "if within a reasonable time there has not been established a Spanish Government drawing its authority from the consent of the citizens, the Security Council will continue to consider adequate measures to be taken in order to remedy the situation."

Under the Belgian recommendation, member countries still could maintain their embassies in Madrid under charges d'affaires. Thus, the resolution did not go so far as the Political Committee's sub-committee, which had recommended that the individual member states break relations with Franco Spain.

The sub-committee resolution had been rejected a few minutes before by a tie vote of 20 to 20 in the 54-member committee.

DROP AMERICAN PROPOSAL

At thesame time the committee rejected an American proposal that the United Nations invite the Spanish people to establish their eligibility for U.N. membership by bringing about the ouster of Franco.

The Belgian amendment was inserted in the main Spanish resolution in place of the defeated clause calling for rupture of relations. The committee then approved the entire resolution by a vote of 22 to 5, with 20 abstentions.

The resolution now goes to the General Assembly for final action.

The Belgian recommendation also proposed the U.N. Security Council would consider further action in the case if, after a reasonable time a Spanish Government had not been established "drawing its authority from the consent of the citizens."

Following the meeting, Jose Giral, Premier of the Spanish Republican Government in exile, said he was "satisfied."

Canada voted for the Belgian proposal as finally approved by the 54-member committee.

Escott Reid, speaking for the Dominion, said during the debate on the Spanish issue that his Government could not vote in favor of debarring Spain from membership in specialized agencies. The Canadian U.N. delegate said the Dominion saw no practical advantages to such a course.

Accuse...ain of Attempting to Groom New Fuehrer

MOSCOW, Dec. 9 (AP) — The Communist Party newspaper Pravda today accused "reactionary forces" in Britain of attempting to groom a new fuehrer as a successor to Adolf Hitler on the eve of international discussions on Germany's future.

The newspaper said Kurt Schumacher, Social Democratic Party leader in Germany's Western zones, had been singled out as the new fuehrer, and now was being received in London as a "victor and a conqueror." It added that the British Government itself had greeted him as a "dear guest."

(Schumacher, in Britain as a guest of the British Labor Party, said the allegation that he had ambitions to become a fuehrer "is so far beside the point that it is difficult to regard it seriously."

("I have a feeling that in certain quarters in Moscow I would be forgiven for being a fuehrer, but never for being a Democrat," he told a reporter. Schumacher denied that he was a tool of the democracies.)

The accusations were contained in an article written by David Zaslavsky, political commentator, who said that reactionaries were rallying to Schumacher "in order to undermine at the foundation the brith of a new German democracy."

"We see a new fuehrer for Germany being made," the article said. "He is being created on the eve of international discussion of the German problem. This fuehrer is being modelled immediately after the conclusion of an agreement on economic unity of the British and American occupation zones."

Zaslavsky accused Schumacher of heading the persecution of Communists in the Western zones and said he used the "most disgraceful methods of Goebbels."

Form New Cabinet In Egypt

CAIRO, Dec. 10 (AP)—Mahmound Fahmy Nokrachi Pasha, who Sunday became Premier of Egypt for the second time in less than 10 months, formed a new cabinet today, retaining for himself the portfolios of the foreign affairs and interior ministries.

The new cabinet is composed of six members of Nokrachi Pasha's Saadist Party and six members of the Liberal Constitution Party.

The two parties form a majority in the Egyptian Chamber of Deputies which recently gave Ismail Sidky Pasha, who resigned, the premiership Sunday because of ill health and differences with Britain, a vote of confidence on his negotiation with Foreign Secretary Bevin to revise the 1936 British-Egyptian treaty.

Reliable sources said Sidky Pasha, a political independent, broke with Britain over demands that British troops be allowed to march through Egypt to the Sudan, at any time. Sidky Pasha, in a statement before his resignation, denied a report that he and Mr. Bevin had "agreed to give the Sudan the right to separate from Egypt."

TO DISCUSS GERMAN PEACE IN MOSCOW

Sessions to Open March 10; Want Real Settlement

FULL REPORT

NEW YORK, Dec. 9 (AP)—The four-power Foreign Ministers Council decided tonight that its next meeting—on a German peace settlement—should begin in Moscow March 10, after Foreign Minister Molotov of Russia assured State Secretary Byrnes of the United States that the conference could be fully reported to the world.

In accepting Mr. Molotov's invitation to meet in the Russian capital, Mr. Byrnes made clear, according to persons in tonight's council session, that he still had no intention of going to Europe for another round of peace-making unless he is convinced that real progress can be made on a German settlement.

Mr. Byrnes and Foreign Secretary Bevin of Britain urged Mr. Molotov to agree here in New York to the appointment of Deputy Foreign Ministers who could hold hearings for smaller European and other countries and get their ideas on the fate of Germany prior to the Moscow meeting.

Indicating the possibility of a break in his resistance to this procedure, Mr. Molotov said he would consider fully the desirability of appointing deputies to work on both German and Austrian settlements before the New York meeting ends late this week.

Mrs. Popoff, and her husband, K. Popoff, a former lieutenant in the Russian Navy, are engaged in farming and business, operating a large farm near Slocan City. They have two married daughters. She served on the Board of the British Columbia Women's Institute for a number of years.

MAY HOLD PRISONERS OF WAR IN CANADA

OTTAWA, Dec. 9 (CP) —Retention of German prisoners of war in Canada to bolster the Dominion's labor supply has been under consideration by the Federal Cabinet, it was learned today, but it was not disclosed whether a decision has been reached.

One source indicated to the Canadian Press that plans were going ahead on the understanding that some of the remaining 2200 prisoners in the country were to stay in Canada, but another high official said Cabinet had not yet made up its mind finally.

Expectation was that any prisoners retained would be employed in farm work. It was known the government had been under considerable pressure to keep as many as possible of the prisoners in the Dominion to augment the scarce supply of farm labor, a problem which was underscored here at last week's meeting of the Dominion-Provincial Farm Labor Conference.

A sharp shortage of loggers in the Canadian woods also has been evident following the removal of about 10,000 of the prisoners from this industry to return to their homeland. Lumbering officials say just about this number of additional men now are needed for Winter woods operations.

However, it was not indicated whether any prisoners to stay in Canada would be diverted into lumbering. Most of the remaining captives engaged as laborers have been working on farms, many in Ontario where they have worked for their keep and a few cents a day for cigarets and other minor luxuries.

Still Search for U. S. Airmen Missing in Lololand

SHANGHAI, Dec. 9 AP) — The almost forgotten team from the U.S. Army Graves Registration Section is still attempting to check rumors that five American airmen are being held in captivity in Lololand in Southwest China. The rumors first were circulated in August, and the team moved to its base in isolated Sichang early in September.

Map Out Plans for Historic Canadian Citizenship Week

OTTAWA, Dec. 9 (CP) — New Year's Day, 1947, will have historic significance as the day on which Canadians assume full-fledged citizenship, and civic bodies across the country are laying plans for ceremonial celebrations of Citizenship Week, Jan. 5-11.

Sponsored by the Citizenship Branch of the State Department, a national ceremony will be held in Ottawa Jan. 3 in the white stone Supreme Court of Canada Building, with Hon. Thibaudeau Rinfret, Chief Justice, presiding and representatives from the nine provinces attending to receive their Canadian citizenship certificates The proceedings will be broadcast over a CBC national network.

In the week following, all provincial capitals and other cities where there is a wide representation of various racial groups will conduct similar celebrations.

Dr. H. M. Tory, head of the Canadian Citizenship Council, today reported interest shown in the proposed ceremonies from Charlottetown to Victoria "is a strong indication of Canadian unity without which our nation can never be truly great."

CEREMONIES AT COAST

Ceremonies are planned by Charlottetown, Halifax, Fredericton, Quebec, Montreal, Toronto, Welland, St. Catharines, Windsor, Sudbury, Winnipeg Saskatoon, Regina, Edmonton, Vancouver and Victoria.

While the ceremonies will vary in various centres they are expected to follow fairly closely a pattern suggested by the Citizenship Branch. This program begins with an assembly of citizens, with a parade of the colors and the singing of "O Canada," and possibly pageants or musical programs designed to illustrate the unity in diversity of Canadian life.

Part two of the ceremony would be presentation in court of citizenship certificates to new Canadians, and part three a civic reception giving the new citizens opportunity to meet representatives of Federal, Provincial and civic Governments and representatives of school and community organizations. Special church services also will mark the week.

The New Citizenship Act, passed at the last session of Parliament include native-born Canadians, British subjects domiciled in Canada, brides of Canadian servicemen and all those who now possess naturalization certificates for the first time, Canadian citizens are declared also to be British subjects.

Also for the first time, it will recognize the right of women to decide their own nationality. Previously women have been classed as persons under a disability and automatically assumed the nationality of their husbands. Canadian women marrying foreigners may retain their Canadian citizenship if they wish.

Women marrying Canadians and non-Canadians who served in the Canadian armed forces outside Canada qualify for citizenship after one year.

700 Police, Pickets Battle; 50 Injured

Strikebound Allis-Chambers Explodes Into Riot; Milwaukee Police Arrest 56

MILWAUKEE, Dec. 9 (AP)—A roaring 20-minute street fight between 200 police officers and more than 500 pickets exploded at the electric control plant of the vast strikebound Allis-Chambers Mfg. Company today after a non-striker's automobile was overturned and burst into flames.

An estimated 50 persons, including 22 police, were injured.

Police said 56 persons were arrested during the melee. Three other cars were overturned and the one which caught fire was destroyed by the flames.

Police and pickets slugged it out toe to toe in the outburst which began as the demonstrators attempted to block workers cars from leaving the plant.

ROCK BARRAGE

Pickets met the stream of cars with a barrage of rocks. Many windshields were smashed. Police formed a flying wedge to open lanes for the cars through the massed pickets.

This latest burst of strife, marking the 225th day of U.A.W.-C.I.O. Local 248's strike, found a crowd of about 800 pickets at the firm's two dozen gates when the demonstration, called by U.A.W.-C.I.O. regional headquarters, began.

Today's clashes, latest in a series which have marked demonstrations since negotiations between the company and union broke down, took place near the electric control plant, nearly 1½ miles across the huge installation from the previous focal point at the tractor division. A demonstration there last Wednesday brought out a crowd of more than 3000 and resulted in 16 arrests and five injuries.

Issues in the strike, involving about 12,000 workers, include union demands for a 25-cent-an-hour wage increase, a union shop and control of grievance procedure.

U.N.R.R.A. TODAY GOES OUT OF BUSINESS

Adopt Canada's Solution to Thorny Problem

END BRIEF

WASHINGTON, Dec. 9 (CP) — Liquidation of the world's most ambitious humanitarian effort begins tomorrow when the Council of the United Nation Relief and Rehabilitation Administration meets here to put itself out of business.

Canada, third largest contributor to U.N.R.R.A., will be represented here by L. B. Pearson, Under-Secretary for External Affairs, who has been closely associated with the organization since it was set up in Atlantic City two years ago.

The United States has contributed more than three quarters of all money and materials administered by the organization aggregating about $4,000,000,000.

Proceedings here dissolving U.N.R.R.A. may be brief. The organization will set up a "winding-up" committee to liquidate itself.

Appropriations have been expended but there will be a movement of supplies for some months yet.

Earlier Pnited States Government officials said the State Department is considering asking Congress for $300,000,000 to $400,000,000 for foreign relief next year, with a proviso that its representatives abroad "police" the distribution.

ADOPTED UNANIMOUSLY

LAKE SUCCESS, N.Y., Dec. 9 (CP) — Canada's compromise solution for a threatened impasse over provision of relief to needy countries after U.N.R.R.A. ends its activities was adopted unanimously today by the Economic Committee of the United Nations General Assembly.

Delegates from Britain, France, China, the United States, Norway, Czechoslovakia, Brazil and Cuba paid tribute to Canada for helping to solve what the described as a thorny problem.

Canada's intervention took the form of an amendment recommending establishment of an impartial fact-finding committee to collect for donor countries "authentic" information regarding relief needs.

The committee will "study minimum import requirements of the basic essentials of life . . . survey the means available to each (receiving) country to finance such imports" and report on the "amount of financial assistance which it believes may be required" by the receiving countries.

AVERTS DEADLOCK

The Canadian proposal, presented by State Secretary Paul Martin last week, averted a deadlock which threatened to develop among countries seeking to distribute relief on a bilateral basis and those which felt an international organization should be created to succeed U.N.R.R.A.

The bilateral method was supported in a resolution, jointly sponsored by Britain, Brazil and the United States, which in effect would have enabled the donnor power to deal directly with the receiving country instead of contributing to a relief pool such as U.N.R.R.A.

Opposed to this was a group of smaller powers who wanted to maintain relief through some form of international organization. Their chief spokesman was Fiorello La Guardia, former U.N.R.R.A. Director-General.

Mr. La Guardia said today that Canada's amendment "obtained the maximum from this committee possible under existing circumstances."

2-Alarm Fire Guts Market

MONTREAL, Dec. 9 (CP)—The century-old Bonsecours Market in the Montreal business district was gutted in a two-alarm fire late Sunday night.

Firemen from a dozen stations battled the blaze, chopping away whole sections of wall to get their hose lines in the heart of the fire. Several firemen were slightly injured.

Thousands of dollars' worth of food and other stocks were soaked by water or burned.

The market was built in 1841 on the former site of the palace of the Intendant of the King of France.

For several years Bonsecours Market was the seat of the municipal government. Built in Doric style, it was a three-story building with a large dome.

Damage was expected to run into five figures.

Firemen were forced to break almost every window in the building to prevent pressure building up inside and blowing the walls apart.

Driving rain and thick slush hampered the works of the scores of firefighters who brought up heavy equipment.

Inquest Today Into Death of High School Lads

VICTORIA, Dec. 9 (CP)—Inquest into the death of six Sooke boys killed Saturday night in the 70-foot plunge of their car from a bridge across Jacobs Creek, 36 miles West of here will be held tomorrow afternoon, Coroner E. C. Hart announced tonight.

Investigation by A. L. Carruthers, Chief Engineer and Acting Deputy Minister of Public Works revealed today that the car landed 40 feet from the bridge, indicating it was travelling at an excessive speed when it sheared off 40 feet of the bridge guard rail and went through after failing to negotiate a turn at the approach to the bridge and skidding for some distance.

Police believe it was snowing at the time of the accident. None of the boys drowned, as first reports said, but all must have been instantly killed from head and internal injuries. None of the jammed bodies were in a position where drowning could have been possible, although a slight amount of water from the creek passed over the upturned top of the car.

The six boys had engaged in a basketball game at Jordan River, 20 miles farther West and were returning home when the tragedy occurred. Three other members of the team returned in another car thus escaping a similar fate.

Heroic Mother Dies In Attempt To Save Family

LEPANTO, Ark., Dec. 9 (AP)—An heroic mother and two of her children died of burns suffered in a fire that destroyed their farm home near here and brought injuries to seven other members of the family.

One-year-old Lola Adams died in hospital today, just 24 hours after the death of her 3-year-old brother, Ralph.

Her clothing burned away and her body badly seared, the 38-year-old woman, Mrs. J. C. Adams, braved the flames to rouse her family and lead them from the house. Then, seeking aid for the victims, she stumbled across a half-mile of stubbled fields to a neighbor's home, where she collapsed. She died last night.

Mr. Adams was critically burned. Six other Adams children were less seriously burned.

The fire resulted from a stove explosion.

FIRE DESTROYS ONT. ELEVATOR; $10,000 DAMAGE

LINWOOD, Ont., Dec. 9 (CP)—Fire destroyed a combined grain elevator and chopping mill tonight in this community of 250, 20 miles Northwest of Kitchener. Damage was unofficially estimated at $10,000.

The blaze also destroyed a coal shed and damaged two Canadian Pacific Railway cars in a nearby siding. Forty tons of grain and feed were lost.

Hampered by low water pressure, firemen were unable to apply water to the blaze for almost an hour and it was feared for a time that it would spread to the main section of the community 300 yards away. Hose lines were finally run to the fire from an overhanging waterspout used by the C.P.R. for watering locomotives.

Outside Nations No Right to Intervene—Franco

MADRID, Dec. 9 (Reuters)—Generalissimo Franco told a demonstrating crowd today that "Spanish interests do not clash with the honorable interests of other nations."

The demonstration was staged to show the "solidarity" of Spain behind the Caudillo's leadership in the face of United Nations opposition.

"The pacific spirit of Spain has been sufficiently demonstrated," said Franco. "But if our liberties were in danger we would resist."

"With Communism desolating Europe and 12 nations under its yoke, we cannot be surprised at the attitude of Giral (Premier of the Spanish Republican Government-in-exile) and the followers of La Pasionaria (Spanish woman Communist leader)," Franco said.

Speaking to several hundred thousand demonstrators from the balcony of the Royal Palace, Franco said:

"This great mass of people before me is a rotund answer to those who attempt to intervene in our affairs."

People from outside have no right to intervene in the private affairs of nations, he said.

"They want to take from the Spaniards the glory of their victory.

"But just as other nations want to administer their peace, so we administer our victory."

CHARGED WITH NARCOTICS POSSESSION

VANCOUVER, Dec 9 (CP)—Two men and a woman were arrested by Royal Canadian Mounted Police today and charged with the possession of narcotics in a raid on a downtown hotel.

They were Ivan Conn and Gordon Kravenia who were arrested first, and Betty Ramsey who was taken into custody later.

Police said Kravenia is already committed for trial and out on bail on an earlier charge of retaining stolen property.

The three are scheduled to appear in court Friday.

Mayor Clark Retiring As C. M. & S. Master Mechanic; L. Williams To Become Superintendent of Shops

TRAIL, B. C., Dec. 9 — Effective Dec. 17, Mayor Herbert H. Clark, is retiring as Master Mechanic of the Consolidated Mining & Smelting Co. of Canada, Ltd., Trail. Mayor Clark had earlier announced he would not seek reelection as mayor this year.

On Mayor Clark's retirement, Lloyd Williams, Assistant General Superintendent of the Alberta Nitrogen Department of Consolidated, will be appointed to the newly-created position of Superintendent of Shops at Trail, supervising all shops at Tadanac and Warfield.

R. S. Woodford of the Staff Department of the Personnel Division, will succeed Mr. Williams as Assistant General Superintendent of the Alberta Nitrogen Department.

In making Mr. Clark's retirement public, E. M. Stiles, Chief Engineer of Consolidated, said:

"In Herb Clark, Consolidated is losing one of the most able and outstanding men on its engineering staff. He has brought to his job the decisive personality and caustic humor that has made him the popular choice as Trail's chief magistrate. We regret his decision to retire but wish him many years of health and strength to carry out his personal-plans for the future."

Born in Tatmagouche, Nova Scotia, Mr. Clark was educated in the rural schools of the district and became apprenticed to the Robb Engineering company at Amherst. After completing his apprenticeship he followed engineering and mechanical work with many Eastern Canada and American firms.

In 1906 he came West to Alberta. He moved to Kelowna in 1907 and came to Trail the same year. He lived in Nelson for a short period before joining the Consolidated at the Snowshoe mine in Phoenix.

In 1910 he travelled to Australia, working in New South Wales for a year. Later he spent two years in Peru, South America before returning to the Kootenays. Where he has remained since.

In 1915 he was made shop foreman of the Consolidated's Mechanical Department at Trail, and in 1925 he succeeded the late Dave Gavrilik

He entered the civic arena for the first time in 1921 and was elected alderman that year. After three years service in that capacity he became mayor in 1924 and remained in office until 1930 when he retired owing to pressure of work. In 1939 he was persuaded to run for mayor again and has been Trail's chief magistrate ever since.

In addition to his duties as a master mechanic with the Consolidated and as mayor of the city of Trail, Mr. Clark has given a great deal of his time to a variety of community activities. He was Chairman of the Hospital Board for many years and is an active member of the Trail Board of Trade and the Trail Rotary Club.

TOAST-and-TEA

BY J. V. McAREE

In Far Away and Long Ago, a beautiful book with a beautiful title, W. H. Hudson writes: "When I hear people say they have not found the world and life so agreeable or interesting as to be in love with it, or that they look with equanimity to its end, I am apt to think that they have never been properly alive nor seen with clear vision the world they think so meanly of, or anything in it—not a blade of grass. Only I know that mine is an exceptional case, that the visible world is to me more beautiful and interesting than to most persons, that the delight I experienced in my communings with Nature did not pass away, leaving nothing but a recollection of vanished happiness to intensify a present pain. The happiness was never lost, but owing to that faculty I have spoken of, had a cumulative effect on the mind and was mine again, so that in my worst times, when I was compelled to exist shut out from Nature in London for long periods, sick and poor and friendless, I could yet always feel that it was infinitely better to be than not to be."

Capacity House Hears Views of Trail Mayoralty, Aldermanic Candidates

TRAIL, B.C., Dec. 9 — At a public meeting sponsored by the Knights of Pythias that Chairman R. R. Burns, former M.L.A. described as the largest meeting of its kind ever held in Trail, a capacity audience listened to two mayoralty and nine aldermanic candidates present their views on civic administration at the K.P. Hall here Monday night.

J. E. Byran, mayoralty candidate, told his audience that the present Trail ice arena was a fire trap and that he would give full support for a civic centre. He said that if he were elected he would bring all the pressure to bear possible on the Provincial Government for another bridge across the Columbia here. Candidate Bryan mentioned that he was born in Trail in 1901 and that he was "all for Trail," having watched it grow from a "slag pile" to its present status. "Running a city is just like running a business — it takes a long time to learn where the leaks are," he said. Mr. Bryan is in the fuel and transfer business.

William Thomson, nine years an alderman, opposing J. E. Bryan for Mayor, held the attention of the large audience as he explained many points brought up by the various aldermanic candidates who spoke before him. He stated that the citizens could have all the improvements they desired if they were willing to pay for them. Mr. Thompson said that the City has plans prepared and ready for practically every improvement now requiring attention. The cost of which he estimated would reach over a million dollars if all the work was carried out.

Most aldermanic candidates mentioned the necessity of another bridge. Candidate Thomson stated that the Provincial Government would not consider giving any assistance until such time as outlining districts were incorporated into the City.

In answer to a question, Mr. Thomson said that Trail would have another bridge by the time that the new proposed High School was built in East Trail. A listener asked if it was true that the City Council had changed its mind about having the C.P.R. railroad removed from the City Centre, after the C.P.R. had agreed to the removal. Mr. Thomson replied that on the contrary it was the C.P.R. that had changed its mind. R. R. Burns, the Chairman, confirmed Mr. Thomson's reply. Mr. Burns said he was a member for a senior board committee working on the matter at the time. In reply to another question, the mayoralty candidate stated that Trail town planning would be carried out on the basis of a "greater Trail."

He said there was little information to go on, as both grain elevators were burned to the ground, but he added: "Our investigation is continuing."

The fire destroyed two grain elevators at the Red River Grain Company's terminal with loss estimated at more than $500,000. There were approximately 100,000 bushels of grain in the elevators at the time of the blaze, about 750,000 empty grain bags, unloaded Saturday, also were lost.

During the Civic Elections in 1945

MAYOR STIBBS PROMISED:

(All Quotations Are From Nelson Daily News)

"FOR 1946 — LOW TAX RATE"

What Happened?

The City of Nelson Tax Rate for 1945 was 33.0 Mills — FOR 1946 the Mill Rate was 39.0 Mills — an increase of over 17 PER CENT.

"FOR 1946 — TO CONTINUE CIVIC ASSISTANCE IN IMPROVEMENTS TO SPORTSMAN PARK"

What Happened?

From information obtained from the most reliable source no improvements were attempted to this PARK.

"FOR 1946 — PROGRESSIVE STREET PROGRAM"

Now that war-time restrictions are lifted I propose that the program of street improvements be vigorously pursued and completed at the earliest possible date, which will relieve any approaching unemployment problem.

What Happened?

During 1946 no foundation work for new streets was carried out. Approximately 2½ blocks were covered with black top on which the foundation was already in place; there are within the City Limits approximately 250 blocks of soil or gravel streets — at this rate of progress it is a simple matter to figure the time that the Citizens will suffer under the present deplorable street conditions.

"FOR 1946 — STORM SEWER RENEWAL"

What Happened?

From information obtained from a most reliable source NOT ONE BLOCK OF STORM SEWER was renewed or one new block put into place.

"FOR 1946 — DISCONTINUANCE OF POLL TAX"

What Happened?

Employers were again compelled to keep this Tax from their Employees wages and certain other individuals were compelled to pay this Tax.

FORMER LUXURY LINER EUROPA SINKS AT LE HAVRE HARBOR

LE HAVRE, Dec. 9 (AP) — The French-acquired former German luxury liner Europa, re-christened the Liberte, sank in Le Havre harbor today.

The 49,746-ton transatlantic liner broke its moorings at the French Line docks in a storm and sank at noon, Agence France-Presse reported.

The liner broke loose from her moorings and hurtled across the basin in less than three minutes, smashing against the hulk of the sunken French liner "Paris."

A gaping hole was staved into the Liberte's side at the level of the machine room.

All aboard were taken ashore at 8 a. m.

All fire fighting companies in Cherbourg were alerted and stood by.

The ship sank upright in the basin four hours later. Experts on the spot said they "hoped" it could be refloated.

The sinking occurred the day after search ships found an oil spot marking the watery 1000-yard deep grave of the Submarine 23-26 which had been unreported since it left Toulon Thursday with 16 men aboard.

Like the Liberte, the 23-26 was a former German craft acquired by the French, leading to speculation whether there might be some connection between the two losses.

The Europa was built in 1928 in Hamburg for the North German Lloyd line. Earlier this year the captured liner was turned over to the French Government by the War Reparations Commission and renamed.

The Europa once held the mythical Atlantic Blue Riband, now held by the Cunard White Star Liner Queen Mary.

It had been hoped that the big ship would recompense France to some extent for the loss of the 83,000-ton liner Normandie, which was burned out in New York Harbor during the war while being converted to a troop ship.

INDIA OPENS CONSTITUENT ASSEMBLY

NEW DELHI, Dec. 9 (AP)—India's Constituent Assembly solemnly opened its first session today in the dignified atmosphere of Constitution Hall. There were 75 seats vacant—those allotted to the Moslem League, which has boycotted the body undertaking to implement the second phase of a plan to make India independent.

Police turned away all traffic and pedestrians from either end of Council House Block as 221 Congress Party and minority group delegates took their seats.

Congress President J. A. Kripalani introduced as temporary Chairman Sachchidanand Sinha of Patna, 78-year-old editor and the oldest member of the Assembly. He read messages of good wishes from Australia, China and the United States.

Congress Party sources predicted last night that one of the Assembly's first acts would be to ask the Federal Court to interpret disputed sections of the British Cabinet Mission plan for India's independence.

Representatives of the predominately Hindu Congress Party in the Assembly represent approximately 260,000,000 Hindus, while the boycotting Moslem delegates speak for about 90,000,000 Moslems.

A recurrence of communal strife which has cost hundreds of lives in Hindu-Moslem rioting in the last several weeks took place last night in Bombay, where five men were killed and 16 others injured.

The Moslems demand a separate Moslem state of Pakistan and thus oppose the present independence plan.

U.N. Committee Asks Withdrawal Outside Troops

By LARRY HAUCK

LAKE SUCCESS, N.Y., Dec. 9 (AP).—A United Nations Political Sub-Committee today wrote into its proposed arms reduction program a recommendation that member governments begin a balanced withdrawal of forces outside home borders and institute a general demobilization of all troops.

The amendment, submitted by India, also provided for an early removal of troops stationed on alien soil without agreement or treaties with the governments concerned.

The vote was 16 to 2, with Australia and Brazil dissenting.

Senator Tom Connally of the United States voted for the amendment after getting delegates to agree to the stipulation that the clause covering treaties or agreements should be written in.

The Indian amendment, a clarified version of an Egyptian proposal, thus was placed in the hands of a drafting subcommittee which was to meet tonight.

The Egyptian proposal was a revised version of an earlier draft, attacked by the United States and Great Britain, which called for the withdrawal of all troops stationed outside home borders except "in cases specified by the charter." The opposition then contended that the wording was too vague and such a resolution could mean that the United States would have to pull out of its Panama Canal fortifications.

Injection of the amendment came after a political subcommittee had adopted an uncontested paragraph of the United States arms-slashing resolution calling upon all governments "to render every possible assistance to the Security Council and the Atomic Energy Commission in order to promote the establishment of international peace and collective security with the diversion for armaments of the world's human and economic resources."

Besides the Egyptian amendment, the subcommittee still had before it the problem of rectifying conflicting Russian and United States views as to whether control commissions over arms cuts and the atomic bomb should operate under the Security Council or independent of it and thus outside the veto.

Continuation of the armament debate got under way in the wake of Russia's unexpected refusal earlier today to accept a proposal for a U.N. inventory of armed troops at home.

Wants Condition Of Bridge Where Students Killed

VICTORIA, Dec. 9 (CP)—Works Minister E. C. Carson has asked that his department make a full report to him on the condition of the bridge on the Jordan River road through which a car plunged late Saturday night, carrying six Sooke High School student basketball players to their deaths 92 feet below.

A. L. Carruthers, Chief Engineer for the Public Works Department, has gone to the scene of the accident to investigate.

Rumors Fly About Princess and Prince Philip

LONDON, Dec. 9 (AP) — A weekend deluge of publicity for Prince Philip of Greece and Denmark today whetted the British people's expectation that the handsome, 25-year-old court favorite soon would become engaged to Princess Elizabeth in the "royal romance" of the year.

Three nationally-circulated newspapers devoted considerable space Sunday to Prince Philip, and a blessing on the reported engagement came from an unexpected source—Tom Driberg, left-wing Labor Member of Parliament, no admirer of the Greek royal family, who described the prince as "intelligent and broad-minded, fair and good-looking."

"It seems fair to interpret his request for British citizenship as, in part, a desire to be disentangled from Greek politics permanently," Driberg wrote in his Reynolds news column.

Prince Philip, sixth in line for the Greek throne, will forfeit his right to succeed his second cousin George II of the Helenes by becoming a British subject.

Newspaper writers stressed that Prince Philip, who served in the Royal Navy during the war, has spent most of his life in England, has English blood (he is Princess Elizabeth's third cousin) and frequently is a weekend guest at royal residences.

"It is no secret at court that Uncle Dickie—the family name for Lord Mountbatten, the Prince's uncle—is a whole-hearted supporter of the marriage," said the Sunday Pictorial, adding: "Close friends of the Princess smile and say: 'She's very young but she knows her own mind.'"

U.S. WANT STRIKE PLEDGE FROM INDUSTRIES

WASHINGTON, Dec. 9 (AP)—The United States Government today sought an iron-clad no-strike pledge from key industries in the wake of its victory over John L. Lewis in the coal strike.

Officials opened the drive in the hope that the administration's handling of the mine shutdown might persuade other unions to seek peaceful settlement of labor disputes in vital industries or risk painful unitive measures.

The initial no-strike pledge effort was directed at the public utility field. Representatives of unions and management in the gas, power, light and municipal transportation industries were summoned to a meeting today to consider a plan for voluntary arbitration of disputes without resort to strikes.

Additional "peace" meetings in other industries where strikes could imperil the country's economy are planned soon by the committee, which functions under auspices of the Labor Department.

Some labor leaders conceded privately meanwhile that the administration's stand against Mr. Lewis may discourage another round of strikes in the steel, automobile and similar major industries which have contract agreements expiring in the next few months.

Union leaders said they recognize, too, that the coal strike served to heighten the desire among many members of Congress to enact strike control legislation and laws limiting union powers.

The Labor men cite another reason for believing that there may be fewer strikes in the months immediately ahead. Most of them had expected Mr. Lewis to get a handsome wage increase for his miners.

They would have put pressure on other unions to strike in order to win similar concessions for their members.

Take It Easy On the Diet

By IDA JEAN KAIN

No use blinking, it takes more than ten times as long to lose ten pounds as it does one pound. A lucky loser might lose a pound the first day on a diet, but that doesn't mean she can lose ten pounds in ten days. And if she did, chances are 100 to 1 she would gain it all back in the next twenty days. Fast reducing not only isn't safe, but it doesn't give the system a chance to establish a lower weight level.

But one reducer is complaining bitterly because even on a strict diet she loses only three pounds a week. She writes that my stories of people losing ten pounds a week sound like a dream to her. Sounds like a nightmare to me! If anyone loses ten pounds in one week on my protective diet, she'd better get off the diet, quickly That is far too fast to fade away. There is no safe way to get-slim-quickly. There never will be. Our complainant has only twelve pounds to go to reach normal and if she will take five to six weeks to lose them, they will stay off and she will feel fine.

Another reducer implores me to warn women that the only safe reduction is slow reduction, and that you need not fool yourself imagining that if you had enough money reducing could be made easy. Her letter contained so much good common sense I'd like you to read parts of it. . . .

"Wish I had started reading and heeding your articles sooner. I've always been overweight but in good health except for lack of energy, until I decided to get thin. Then, instead of following a sane plan and going at it slowly, I fell for some smooth plan of losing 25 pounds in six weeks. So I paid a tidy sum of hard-earned cash to be put through strenous exercises every day for two hours and be made to follow a diet that seemed every day to be too little food and badly balanced, mostly raw vegetables and fruit, a little meat or egg, no seasoning of any kind, no bread or potato or milk.

"Well, I'll say nothing against the exercises, which are good, nor make a complaint about the excellent massage which was doled out for every pound lost. But it's the fast rate which they insist on your losing that I'm complaining about . . . one pound a day is their goal. I have found out that is entirely too fast to lose and I want you to warn women against it. Also tell them about the harm of taking laxatives to reduce. In this fast reducing course, three kinds of laxatives a day are advised. Well, the upshot of it all is that in three weeks I lost twelve pounds which is considered very poor, feel miserable, weak, headachy constipated and have an upset stomach. It isn't worth it. Now I'm going on a sensible plan and eat to slim down. Keep up your good work.

It is never safe to take laxatives for the purpose of losing weight. Overdoing on laxatives not only leads to inflamed conditions like colitis and spastic constipation, but indiscriminately washes out of the intestinal tract the food substances needed for repair and the smooth running of the system.

There is no get-thin-quick system that is safe.

A Trait That Develops Early

By Garry Cleveland Myers, Ph.D.

The child is born selfish. All the world is his and every other person is his servant until he learns otherwise. Yet some children do learn very early that other persons have certain rights and to respect these rights; but it is a long, tedious procedure. In all the child's guidance, one outstanding central problem faces his parents and all others responsible for his upbringing—to teach him to restrain himself and to make self-denials for the sake of other persons.

Other children help adults in this process of civilizing any child. The fine character building agencies, the school, and the home with several children, may get wonderful results at inducing a group to practice its individual members in unselfish ways.

Every parent wishes his or her child to grow unselfish and is grieved at marked signs of selfishness in their youngster. Yet all we parents will often, unawares, encourage selfishness in the child. For example, one mother wrote to ask how long she and her husband would have to go on setting an example of unselfishness toward their twelve year old daughter before she would emulate this trait in them well. I replied that so long as this child was the chief recipient of their self-denials she would only grow more and more selfish.

Who are the grown children least appreciative of their parents and most ungrateful to these parents? Aren't they the children whose parents were always making undue self-denials in order to gratify these children's wishes?

To get best results at promoting selfishness in your child begin very early. Take the baby up the minute he cries, give him anything he wants right when he wants it, amuse him as often and for as long a time as he desires. Continue doing likewise as he grows older. If you are talking to some other person stop instantly if he wishes to speak or have you do something for him that could as well be done later. No matter what you may be doing stop at once to do his bidding.

When this child begins to spend money, hand the money to him whenever he asks for it, as much as he wants—if you wish him to grow in selfishness. Never go shopping without bringing home a gift for him. When he goes with you buy him whatever he asks for. Dont train him to fit into an allowance or any kind of budget. When he wants better clothes or other luxuries get them for him; and be sure he always has anything his playmates can have, even if you must go in rags yourself. Be wholly unselfish!

As soon as he can drive a car stay home at night so he can use the family car. Walk to work or to the grocer's so he may drive to school only a mile or two away. Such are just a few of the ways of making any child very selfish. You probably know many more good ways and put them into practice.

Just a warning — don't blame your child for being selfish. Blame yourself.

Watch Out for Apronstrings

By JANE ATKINSON

Dear Miss Atkinson:

I am a girl in my late teens and engaged to a fellow from the West. He is 21.

My mother doesn't want me to marry this boy if we go to live in his state, because she says it will be too far away from her. I don't want to leave my mother because I am very close to her, but I also love this fellow very much, and he wants to live in his state.

Should I leave my mother, and hurt her, which I don't want to do, or should I tell this fellow again that I want to live in my own part of the country and just take my chance?

If you're not very careful, "Uncertain," you're going to find yourself in a lot of trouble, no matter whom you marry or where you live. For it looks very much as though your mother were one of the kind who wants to keep her children tied to her apron-strings; and that you would be just as much under the maternal thumb when you're a Mrs. as you are now as a Miss. And that would be a sad state of affairs indeed.

Did you know that one of the primary causes for divorce in this country is attributed basically to interference from in-laws? Better think that over very seriously before you give up the man you want to marry merely because your mother doesn't want you to leave her.

One Type of Kidney Stone

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

Amino acids are the substances from which the proteins found in such foods as milk, meat, and eggs are formed, and into which they must be broken down again before the body can use them for its own building and repair jobs.

One of these is a sulphur-containing amino acid known as cystine, which is present in the protein foods of a normal diet. Ordinarily, the body uses cystine much as it uses any other of the many amino acids it must have for growth and repair of tissue.

Occasionally, however, doctors run across an individual who seems unable to utilize this substance and instead secretes it in the urine. This condition is known as cystinuria and, when it is present, stones made up of cystine may form in the kidney or bladder. These stones are oval, smooth and of a chalky-white or light-yellowish color. They are soft and can be easily cut, like a piece of hard soap. They feel slightly greasy.

If a person has a kidney or bladder stone it may be advisable to test the urine for the presence of cystine. This can be done by examination of the urine under the microscope, when the crystals of cystine will be seen. It may be necessary, when cystine stones are present, to remove them by means of operation.

However, according to Dr. C. A. Cawker of Montreal, other measures of treatment may aid in getting rid of the condition. The patient is given plenty of fluids and a search is made for infections in the teeth, tonsils, sinuses, or elsewhere in the body. If any are found, they are cleared up with appropriate treatment. The patient is given a diet rich in alkaline ash-forming substances such as mixtures of citrates and carbonates by mouth. The amount of proteins in the diet is moderately reduced. Dr. Cawker noted no harmful effects from this treatment.

Once the cystine stones have been removed, further stone formation can be prevented by following for one week of each month a high alkaline-ash and low protein diet with sufficient alkali by mouth to keep the urine alkaline.

Of course, it must be remembered that not all kidney or bladder stones are made up of cystine. In cases of other types of stones an alkaline-ash diet would not be useful, but might even be harmful. Thus, when stones occur, the physician must determine the type of chemical make-up, before deciding on what preventive measures may be best employed.

CHOCOLATE NUT COOKIES

This luscious mouthful is a cross between a cooky and a candy. The recipe uses no sugar.

- 3 one-oz. squares unsweetened chocolate
- 1 fifteen-oz. can sweetened condensed (not evaporated) milk
- 1 tsp. vanilla
- ½ cup chopped walnut meats
- Walnut halves

Melt chocolate over hot water; add condensed milk; stir until well blended; add vanilla. Stir in walnut meats; drop by ¼-teaspoonfuls onto well-greased cooky sheet. Place walnut half on each cooky. Bake in moderate oven (350° F.) 10 to 12 minutes. Remove from cooky sheet to rack immediately. Makes about 5 dozen cookies.

HONEY HERMITS

Here's another sugarless cooky. Be sure to grease the cooky sheet well, for cookies containing honey tend to stick.

- 1¼ cups all-purpose flour
- ¼ tsp. soda
- ½ tsp. salt
- ½ tsp. cinnamon
- ½ tsp. nutmeg
- 1 egg, well beaten
- ½ cup honey
- ¼ cup melted shortening
- ½ cup chopped raisins
- ½ cup chopped nut meats

Sift flour and then measure into sifter with soda, salt, cinnamon and nutmeg. Combine the egg, honey, melted shortening, raisins and nut meats, beating well. Sift the flour and spices into the honey mixture, mixing well. Drop by teaspoonfuls onto well-greased cooky sheet. Bake in a moderate oven (375° F.) 12 to 15 minutes or until done. Makes 2½ dozen cookies.

SPARKLING CHRISTMAS COOKIES

These cookies make a sparkling showing on the cooky tray.

- ½ cup shortening
- ¼ cup sugar
- ½ tsp. vanilla
- 1 egg, separated
- ¼ cups all-purpose flour
- 2 tbsps. top milk
- ¾ cup chopped nut meats

Cream shortening and sugar together until light and fluffy. Add flavoring; beat in egg yolk. Sift and measure flour; add alternately with milk to creamed mixture to form stiff dough. Roll dough between palms of hands to form small balls about 1-inch in diameter. Dip half of each ball into slightly beaten egg white, then into nut meats. Place on ungreased cooky sheet, nut side up. Bake in moderately hot oven (400° F.) 10 to 12 minutes. Remove from pan; cool on rack. Makes 3 dozen cookies.

Film on "New Faces Come Back" Considered Too Disturbing

By HELEN BANNERMAN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

A documentary of great interest to many Canadians is being shown to private audiences in a number of cities but has not yet been given general release. "New Faces Come Back," the story of the treatment and rehabilitation of servicemen who have been badly disfigured, tells its story by following the case history of an R.C.A.F. man who is badly burned in a crash.

Made by an R.C.A.F. Overseas Film Unit, the picture records the progress of the injured man through the long treatment necessary to restore his physical and mental health and his re-introduction into society. It ends as he sets sail for home. The great work in plastic surgery done by British and Canadian hospitals in Britain is recorded.

Although the film was made to help the Canadian public understand such cases, it has been considered too disturbing for general release.

Chips Rafferty, the Australian actor who is generally billed as "the Australian Gary Cooper" has arrived in New York from a visit in Toronto for the premiere of "The Overlanders," a feature picture with the force of a documentary, in which he stars.

The Australian, six feet six inches tall, with doorway shoulders, black hair and blue eyes, has led quite an adventurous life himself as cowboy, bushman and member of the Royal Australian Air Force.

The film is the story of a band of men who took 5800 head of cattle 2000 miles across Australian scrubland and mountains when a Japanese invasion threatened in 1942. Nearly all the action is out-of-doors with emphasis on breath-taking scenery.

The adventures are all taken from real life. The scorching of the earth, swimming crocodile-infested rivers, rounding up wild horses and breaking them into replace the animals which died, and the stampedes of cattle which happened in the original trek were reproduced without faking.

Harry Watt, British director who made the picture, took 1000 head of cattle, 80 horses and his actors, and went on location for eight months in the desert of the Northern Territory to complete the film.

The Trolley Coach Is the Best for Nelson

Nelson voters will on Thursday indicate their opinion as to whether in modernizing our city public transportation system we should install new street cars, gasoline buses, diesel buses or trolley coaches.

As we have to make a change, it would seem wise to establish in Nelson the most modern type of equipment, which definitely is the electric trolley coach.

The trolley coach will use our own power. We will not have to send out cash for gasoline or diesel oil which would be one disadvantage of any type of bus with an internal combustion engine.

The trolley coach has rapid but smooth acceleration, and experience has proved that it is an admirable vehicle for the hills. It has higher running speed, smooth braking, no motor noise, no exhaust vibration, it is the quietest transit vehicle, and it will get away from the difficulty of street car tracks, which interfere with traffic and make good streets virtually impossible. Our consulting engineer has recommended the trolley coach.

Trolley coaches will be in tune with Nelson's progressive spirit. They are the most popular means of public conveyance and are being favored all over the continent.

As to ultimate cost, the difference between trolley coaches, street cars or buses is not material, especially when we take into account lower operating costs, and the fact that revenue will obviously be higher if we have a transportation system which is popular with the public. In cities in which there are varied means of public transit it has been proved that the first choice is always the trolley coach. Vancouver is putting them in. So is Calgary. Seattle and Portland have had them for several years, and their popularity, efficiency and ultimate economy have been proved.

Mail Gifts Early

If a man had to move five tons of goods and had a pack mule to do the moving, he wouldn't spread the first ton's load over four weeks and make the poor beast haul four tons the last week. But that is about the way most of us treat our postmen from around this time of year until the night before Christmas.

It seems a shame, especially since we are urged perennially from all sides to shop early and mail early. Perhaps. However, the emphasis is wrong. We are advised to mail early lest our gifts arrive too late. But most of us seem to think that postal clerks will handle those mountains of last-minute parcels somehow, and that even repeated trips with arch-flattening burdens will not stay the weary couriers from the swift completion of their appointed rounds.

So it really seems no more than a humane gesture to shop early and mail early. For as things are now, what happens to the postman every Christmas shouldn't happen to a mule.

Facts, Not Propaganda On Palestine, States Silverwood

To the Editor:

Sir: This is the fourth article on "Palestine." I would thank those who have replied through your paper . . . and also the eight or more correspondents who have written to me personally. The letter of Col. Cowan interests me very much and I hope the following will enable him to realize that "Propaganda" does not enter into this matter at all.

If people are willing to accept Facts . . . evidence . . . then no epithets will alter the facts. It is not a question of anti this or pro that. The question is what are the facts. Twenty official inquiries into the Palestine problem have been held. The most impartial and intelligent attempt to outline a compromise between Arab, Jewish and British interests is outlined in the 12-man Anglo-American Commission . . . of which Judge Hutcheson was the chairman. Speaking of the personnel of this Commission Mr. Sumner Welles remarked . . . They are men of the highest integrity and character . . . whose statements by the wildest stretch of the imagination cannot be called "Propaganda." Mr. James McDonald, one of the American members of the "Commission" states . . . "That had I not read it . . . The Rape of Palestine . . . before our visit to Palestine, and our investigations in Arab countries, I would have doubted many things in the volume, which now I must admit are simply statements of fact." (Statements of fact Col. Cowan . . . not propaganda.)

A significant speech was made by Bartley Crum, member of the Anglo-American Committee of inquiry, at a luncheon meeting in Washington, D.C., on August 21, 1946. Mr. Crum speaks with the utmost frankness possible. He charges that the Jewish National Home, assured by Mr. Roosevelt, Mr. Truman, and the whole American Government has been constantly blocked and frustrated by the United States and Congress. On the return of the Commission from Palestine, Mr. Truman endorsed the report of the Committee . . . for 100,000 certificates for immigration.

Continuing his speech Mr. Crum says . . . 'We had encountered other shocking things as well. We knew that Mr. Truman was determined to see that the British Government measure up to their responsibilities . . . Yet, when we got on the Queen Elizabeth, the secret files of the State Department were disclosed to us. We found that every promise made by Presidents from 1920 onwards, for every practically unanimous resolution passed by Congress . . . and for the planks in the 1944 platforms of both the Republican and Democratic parties . . . our State Department advised the Arabs that nothing would be done.

Says this members of the Commission . . . "I suggest very strongly that one of the things the American Christian Palestine Committee could urge might be that an end be put to the secret communications between Ibn Saud, King Farouk of Egypt, The Husseinis of Jerusalem, and the Middle East Desk of the State Department. When Rommel was knocking at the gates of Cairo, Egypt offered no opposition . . . and British Commanders had armed Palestine Jewry to defend Palestine should Rommel be successful in his march on Cairo . . . Arab leadership was weak . . . yet the British Policy curries favor with these weak allies.

Mr. Crum says a variety of reasons was given us for this policy. One of them was that many of the Jews in Europe had been behind the Russian lines and must have been impregnated with Communism. The second was that the Arab world would turn as one man to the Soviet Union. Mr. Crum states the first reason was just not true . . . this they found after investigation.

As to the second reason, namely, that the Arab world would turn as one man towards Russia after having seen Ibn Suad . . . and King Farouk . . . and some of the Arab leaders . . . I must say that it is just about as likely that these gentlemen would turn to Moscow as that John D. Rockefeller would ask Stalin to use his good offices with John Snyder to get him a reduction in his income tax.

And so we came to the conclusion that the testimony given to the Anglo-American Commission of Inquiry by Albert Einstein was correct.

"That what had actually happened in Palestine and in the Middle East was an unholy alliance between the feudalistic systems which dominated these lands and the nineteenth century imperialism which the British Labor Party practiced abroad.

The Arabs in Palestine have attained an education far in advance of that of the Arabs in the Middle East because of Jewish efforts in Palestine. Thus the Jews are introducing into Palestine Western Democracy which must eventually have powerful influence on the entire Middle East area, and it is this that the British fear most.

This same member of the Commission states "That while our Committee was conducting its investigations our telephone lines were tapped everywhere and quite often . . . by some odd coincidence messages from the President of the United States to Judge Hutcheson, our Chairman, were delivered first to the British Consul General in Geneva. Our experience in Palestine was somewhat similiar. Our wires were tapped, our mail was opened, confidential messages from the White House were delivered to the British before they reached us. Toward the end of our visit there, they didn't even bother to reseal the envelopes."

The month before the Commission arrived in Palestine 250 Jews had been arrested for entertaining thoughts, mind you, thoughts, which were regarded as unfriendly to the Palestine policy of His Majesty's Government. Says this writer . . . I hope very much that President Truman will repeat his request and in the words addressed to our Committee by Jewish survivors, ask the British Government to "Let the living go . . ."

Col. Cowan takes me to task for mentioning Arab instigation. He might find the following interesting. An incident reported by a member of the Palestine Police force . . . he was on duty at Beisan in the Jordan Valley and noted a gathering in a Bedouin tent. An anti-Jewish address was being delivered in Arabic, but the Jewish constable was surprised to note that the Arabic was not the local dialect. He arrested the speaker on suspicion and discovered that he was an Englishman in Arabic dress (who was, of course, at once released by the police officer to whom he was turned over).

The Arab paper, Falastin, reported a similar story . . . the paper was closed for two weeks by the authorities.

I wish now to deal with speeches in the House of Commons Palestine debate, on August 1, 1946. The first speaker on this occasion is Mr. Churchill: "I have never altered my opinion that the White Paper constituted a negation of the policy which, the House must remember, was an indispensable condition of the mandate. That is the view which I hold today. At my desire, the Jewish Community of Palestine was armed, encouraged to organize, and, in fact, to play a part in the defence of the Holy Land . . . to liberate British units there. I cannot admit," says Mr. Churchill, "that we have not done our utmost to treat the Arabs in a way which so great a race deserves. It was indeed little enough that we had asked for the Jews a natural home in their historic Holy Land, on which they have the power and virtue to confer many blessings."

The next speaker in this debate is Richard H. S. Crossman. He says: "I spent 120 days meeting and talking with Jews and others in Palestine and elsewhere. I became aware of the deep unconscious anti-Semitism which there is in us, a virus, a poison, which has been puf into us by Hitler. I thought it a monstrous irony that a year after the war has finished, honorable members are making speeches forgiving the nation which killed six million Jews. There has not been a right to habeus corpus for any Jew or Arab in Palestine since the emergency regulations were introduced. They have been living under a more ruthless form of dictatorship in Palestine than the people living in the control division of Germany or Austria.

Perhaps the most outstanding speech of the debate is that of Mr. Stewart, a Liberal Member of Parliament. He followed after the speech by Mr. Morrison for the cantonization scheme for the Jews.

"It is a matter raising issues of the highest moral and spiritual importance. To me it is a matter of conscience. I have not a drop of Jewish blood in me, and I have no particular love for the Jewish people, although, like others, I have many Jewish friends. I confess," he says, "that I was shocked to read of the violent measures taken by the Government against the Jewish people in Palestine. I ask, with the greatest earnestness, whether this method is the right and only way to restore order in Palestine. Instead of swift clear action," says Mr. Stewart, "we have had a succession of delays, of subterfuges, and crass and unforgivable blunders. Is it to be wondered at," asked Mr. Stewart, "that these wretched people in Palestine are utterly desparate and disappointed? That is the fact that is causing trouble today. It is a tragedy that England's masters should trail their honor in the dust and ravage yet again their own solemn promises."

In conclusion let us not forget that an iron curtain of censorship covers Palestine. The editor of the Palestine Post has to submit every night the galley proofs that are to appear the next day, and although the authorities deny emphatically that there exists such censorship in Palestine (Mr. Crum has in his poessession galley proofs with entire lines crossed out by the censor).

To quote Mr. Crosman's speech again in the House of Commons, he says: "Palestine is now a semi-military police state. The Anglo-American Commission report describes how Palestine is now ruled without consent from either Jew or Arab." This is a relevant factor to the consideration of the restoration of law and order. At great cost to Great Britain, in men, money and material, there is being maintained a so-called rule detested by Jew and Arab alike. The terrorism, the frustration, the despair are the direct result of the decision of this Government to maintain the White Paper, though it was pledged by conference decision after conference decision to repeal the White Paper in the shortest time possible.

"We are drifting into war with the Jews, after that with the Arabs, while at the present time we are losing every friend we have in the Middle East.

"The military regime under which Palestine now chafes has been bitterly denounced by an English correspondent in Jerusalem. Writing to the English News Chronicle, he describes the searches of Jewish farming villages as ill-timed and futile, resulting only in further stirring up of public resentment.

He concludes: "It must be said, and I say it at the risk of being thrown out of Palestine, that the military authorities' attitude these days to everyone without exception is unbearably high-handed and dangerous."

At the General Synod of the Church of England in Canada, held in Winnipeg last September, the following resolution was passed (resolution 30):

"The Synod calls upon people everywhere, and particularly in our own country, to witness against race and group antipathies which delay or prevent the reception of refugees into their own countries, and to hasten their assimilation by every wise means."

This resolution is similar to ones passed by other numerous church bodies, and for my part I make no apology for bringing such a matter to the attention of the public, nor do I think it necessary to alter a single statement that I have already made.

Adventurous Life Led by Late R. D. Kennedy in Busy Career in Ranching and Mining

The following interview with R. D. Kennedy, Nelson District pioneer who died last Thursday, was written by R. G. Joy, Historian of the Nelson and District Oldtimers Association:

It was four years ago when I received a note from the Slocan Valley, asking me if I would interview Robert D. Kennedy, an oldtimer of the district for they thought that he had some history that should be set down.

This is the story he told as we sat down in a room of the Savoy Hotel, at Nelson:

"My name is Robert Duncan Kennedy, I was born in Township Erin, County of Wellington, Ont. My father was from Inverness, Scotland, and my mother was born in Scotch Block, 30 miles West of Toronto.

I was born on 29th Sept., 1868, and went to school at Erin Township.

"I was employed on the farm till I was 16 years of age. On the death of my father, I left the farm and worked for my uncles, my mother's brothers, John and George Hardy, on their farm for two years. Then I came West in 1893 to Macleod Alta.

"Did you know the Butte ranch?"

"Yes, I knew the Butte (Bluff). Buffalo bones at its base were 35 feet thick. (My eldest brother worked at that ranch for a nummber of years from 1887, R.G.J.)

"I was employed by John Holmes for two months and Dave Warnick, manager of the W. R. ranch, the head of the company was in Montreal. His name was W. R. Maccachern, who was head of the Veterinary College there. At the time I worked there, they had 40,000 head of cattle and 7000 horses.

"Did you know Red Mcleod in that country?'

"Yes, also knew him at Sandon. Red was a man's man, also a good scout.

"I left Alberta in 1895 with three cars of cattle, 64 head for Trail, B. C.

"'Did you know Blake Wilson?'

"Yes, he became Manager for P. Burns in 1896; in fact I saved Blake Wilson's life.

"We arrived at Revelstoke and shipped the cattle to Wigwam, put them aboard the S.S. Columbia (this boat was burnt the following Winter). We eventually got to Trail and delivered the cattle.

"I went to Rossland and got a job at the Le Roi mine, worked half a shift."

"What was the trouble?"

"Too much of a change, powder, smoke, gas etc. Met Pat Burns next day. 'What are you going at next, said Pat to me. I am going back to Calgary. 'No you don't, said Pat. 'I want you to go to Sandon with 160 head of cattle, they are to get out of Cherry Creek, Okanagan, and then down Fire Valley.'

"Say Joy, did you know Mexican Juan?"

"Yes, a good man; he handled the first mail route in the Kootenays in company with Blake Wilson. John Houston wrote in one of his early papers that you could always depend on Juan to bring the mail on time. "I understand that Blake Wilson came here to look after Joe Wilson's interest in the Kootenays?

Then Kennedy described the death of Joe Wilson on Kootenay Lake."

"Yes, I have the story in my historical records,' I said.

"I can tell you more though. Have you heard of cattle milling, going round and round when in a storm, or in the current of a river?

"Yes." I missed some milling of cattle in the Lardo River, was too busy in my tunnel. Tom Lambert saw them and gave me a description."

"Joe Wilson was aboard a barge with a cargo of cattle. They milled, resulting in the death of Joe.

"Well Dunc we are now with the cattle in Fire Valley."

"Before we started for the river Pat Burns said to me, "Stand by Juan's judgment in crossing streams, if he advises you not to cross, stay till he is ready to go."

"Juan was a good man, no better," said Dunc.

"The cattle were to go to Nelson for distribut ni oeW.raTbRoK"steh.' for distribution. We arrived at Castlegar (or was it Sproats Landing) and got the cattle on the railroad, making for the Slocan River, we stopped all night and made a fire on the track to keep them from going back to the starting point.

Blake Wilson wanted us to cross that night, but Juan said the water was too high.

"Next morning we put them across to the cut bank where the wagon road is today; the cattle were leg and foot sore. We put them over 20 to 30 at a time.

"We eventually got up to Ward's ferry, where now is the fishing pool. They could not make the crossing, tried three times, Juan wanted a train from Nelson, but Blake Wilson who had joined us at Castlegar, said no, and the third time the cattle get milling (going round and round till they drown). Blake took the lower side of the cattle. He was crowding them, then they got Blake in the center and he went under. I got alongside of him, he was bewildered and pulling on the check rein, result he had pulled so hard on the check rein that the horse's head went under and they turned somersault and then under. I got the check reins away from him and tied on the beast's neck and headed him for shore, he landed safely.

"Some horse, aye, Dunc."

Yes, they were all good saddle horses, we had five, so we could change: all the cattle went back to the other side.

"Juan got the train. Alex Dow was the engineer. We pulled into Nelson. It was about the year 1895. We unloaded them down a chute into a corral that was situated where the Kootenay Valley Dairy plant now stands."

"We stayed in Nelson eight to 10 days, then Juan and I put 60 head of cattle on the old S.S. Alberta for Kaslo. We then drove them to Three Forks. We left Kaslo at 6 a.m. and arrived at Three Forks at 8:30 the next morning. Weather was bad, sleet, rain and snow, and very cold.

"I met Jim Sproule while on the way with the cattle, he worked on one of the cattle ranches at Macleod. Sproule Creek is named after him.

"I went rawhiding for Sandy Mann. It was three miles to the Ivanhoe Mine, the first trip I made up the hill with Pat Burns, he had an interest in the mine."

"On the down trip we will take two shovels, said Pat".

I had no experience in braking same and when we came to the turn in the switchback I shot into the bush; then Pat showed me how to brake, you place the shovel partly through your legs, sit on the shovel and go, when you want to brake you pull on the handle and the shovel will bite into the snow and slow its passenger down.

"I then went rawhiding, I helped to haul 860 tons of ore down from the mine to Sandon and had about 2300 pounds of ore in a laced up hide (a horse was attached to this hide so that his heels would not contact, then he would do his best to get away.

"He was headed for the switchbacks and was soon on his way to Sandon; we had good horses and good ore; I was rawhiding unto March month, "Divil of a job", there was a slide part of the way and it became a nuisance, so Joe Gillis, his foreman with his gangs of men made post holes every 25 feet or so. They were made so that air could permeate a tunnel and being very cold the tunnel froze solid.

"The camps were on the ridge and wind would soon start the snow from the cornice or comber and rolling down, soon would cause a slide. The tunnel acted as a snowshed similar to those on the C.P.R. in the Rockies, the slides going over.

"I also worked for Archie Currie and Pete Clemens, Ontario boys who had a sawmill at the lower end of Sandon I worked there three weeks. Bruce White wanted me to work at the Slocan Star, after that I went to the Ruth mines, both good mines, worked there 9 months.

My partner was Nick McKian, who was killed at the Argenta mine at Lardeau when he was blacksmithing for Bill Hannah. Then I worked at the Dewdney and Vancouver group."

"Did you prospect at all Dunc?"

"Yes and still retain my interest in a group of claims on Lemon Creek. The Piedmont was added this year, the group was staked when a trip was made by Bob Cooper and Jack Helpin in 1892 from the North Shore of Kootenay Lake opposite Nelson to New Denver.

(This is unwritten history till now, the property is six miles up Lemon Creek), — R.G.J.

"What kind of mineral have you Dunc?"

"Lead, zinc, silver and one sample went 1¼ per cent nickel from Tacoma Smelter."

"You must have copper."

"Yes, copper also."

"Then I went packing and freighting in the Slocan, our firm was known as Kennedy and Cameron; packed from the Black Prince to New Denver. Then I went ranching, got 165 acres at South Slocan."

"Did you meet Eli. Carpenter?"

"Yes, I was in Slocan City, there was rope across the street, Eli walked up and climbed same and gave me an exhibition of tight rope walking."

"I am told you were deputized to do a dangerous job in Turner Valley."

"It wasn't much, there were 3 or four rustlers cutting hay on Holmes' place and I was sent up to run them off same. Then I was deputized to go to Owen's ranch in the foothills, again rustlers were stealing hay for their rustled cattle. This time they tried to bluff me by holding their guns at me. I told them that I was deputized to serve a warrant on them, which I did. The N.W.M. Police got them later."

Linoleum can be cut and handled more easily if first placed in a warm room or sunlight for a few hours.

To Consider World Champ Sculling Race

TORONTO, Dec. 9 (CP) — Elwood Hughes, General Manager of the Canadian National Exhibition, said today that when the time comes for arranging the program of the 1947 exhibition he will consider the idea of a world's championship sculling race between Canada and Australia and possibly England.

Mr. Hughes said he hadn't given the matter serious thought as yet but he had discussed it casually with Bobby Pearce of Hamilton, Ont., holder of the world's sculling title and now a lieutenant in the Royal Canadian Navy at Halifax.

Pearce, Australian-born, said earlier at Halifax he would be willing to meet Evans Padden of Australia at Toronto next year if such a match could be arranged but he would prefer to see a race among Australia, Canada and England.

Bobby said, however, that he would like to step aside and see someone else represent Canada. For the race between the three countries he suggested his protege, Jack Gaudaur, who played football with Toronto Indians of the Ontario Rugby Football Union, could represent Canada against Eric Phelps of England and Padden, newly-crowned Australian champion.

A Sydney dispatch said Padden might go to Canada next year to race Pearce.

Mowers Back With Red Wings

DETROIT, Dec. 9 (AP) — Goalie Johnny Mowers, who had trouble regaining his hockey legs after three years in the R.C.A.F., is returning to regular action for Detroit Red Wings.

Manager Jack Adams announced tonight that Mowers will be in the nets against New York Rangers in the Madison Square Garden Wednesday night.

Mowers played in two games early this season but wasn't satisfied with himself and asked leave to concentrate on training. Winner of the Vezina Trophy in 1942-43, he served with the R.C.A.F. from April, 1943, to August, 1946.

Return of Mowers as regular goalie means the benching of youthful Harry Lumley, who became one of the N.H.L.'s steadiest netminders while willing in for Mowers. Lumley will remain with the Red Wings.

OFFER TO BUY CINCINNATI REDS

CINCINNATI, Dec. 9 (AP) — A group of 12 business men today offered to purchase Cincinnati Reds from owner Powel Crosley, Jr.

Leonard H. Shallat, a lawyer representing the group known as the Cincinnati Athletic Activities Syndicate, said the offer was mailed to Crosley and that the organization plans to incorporate for $1,000,000.

Shallat said as soon as Crosley manifested any interest in the offer, his organization was willing to post a check for $30,000 as evidence of good faith.

Shallat said his organization was prepared to purchase Crosley's entire holdings in the baseball club, said to be 3200 of the 6000 outstanding shares of stock.

Moon Resigns

EDMONTON, Dec. 9 (CP) — Reg Pep Moon of Edmonton, referee in the Western Canada Senior Hockey League, said today he had tendered his resignation to league officials.

In making the announcement Moon said he had communicated his decision to quit to members of the Edmonton Exhibition Hockey Board Committee with the information that he is forwarding a similar letter to D. P. McDonald of Calgary, President of the W.C.S.H.L.

"Too much free advice" was the reason advanced for his resignation to the Exhibition Board officials.

TRAIL 'BUTCHERS PLAY LEGION HERE TONIGHT

Boosted considerably by their victory over the first-place Trail Juniors last week, the Nelson Legion Intermediates will be endeavoring to rack up another win Tuesday night, this time against the Carpenters of the Smelter League.

The Woodbutchers, who are in second place in their league, may play without the services of right-winger Tommy Dunn, recruited by the senior Smokies. However, they will bring over a top netminder in Walt Malahoff. Walt will no doubt give Nelson sharpshooters plenty of trouble.

The Intermediates hope to have several new players turning out along with their regular lineup. The game starts at 9 p.m.

FIGHT MANAGERS OFFER PRAYER FOR MIKE JACOBS

By SID FEDER

NEW YORK, Dec. 9 (AP)— The Fight Managers' Guild—sometimes known to the artists of the Malaprop as the Fight Managers "Guilt"—held its annual beefsteak last night, and although more than 100 of the 33-per centers were on hand, no one was cut up except the steak.

To make the affair all the more gala, everything was on the cuff. The Guild Treasury picked up the "Tab."

There was serious moment in the festivities when all hands rose to offer a brief prayer for the recovery of boxing promoter Mike Jacobs, fighting for his life after being stricken with a cerebral hemorrhage and acute heart attack.

First Photos of Beach-Head Landings Since the War

Supported by the Fifth Fleet bombardment guns, bombs and strafing by army, fleet and marine aircraft, the landing by the Second Infantry Division, Sixth Army, involved 12,000 men. Though it was a "nice kind of war" with nobody shooting back at them, the troops played their respective roles in grim seriousness. They plunged through the surf near Oceanside, Calif., from hundreds of landing craft, amphibious tanks and tractors, and charged the beaches as other Allied servicemen had done at Anzio, Normandy and Pacific islands.

Sixth Army troops spearheaded by amphibious forces landed on Laiso Canyon Beach and stormed inland to rid Southern California of theoretical enemy forces. The landing marked the end of "Operation Duck," and the start of "Operation Oil-skin" in the joint U.S. Army, Navy amphibious forces, Pacific and air force, training exercises which began with seizure of San Clemente Island as "a staging area."

Three hundred and thirty-four Italians were killed in reprisal for a bomb attack in which 32 German troops lost their lives in Rome. Von Mackensen, former commander of the German 14th Army in Italy was found guilty.

Sells for $8 More Than 37 Years Ago

FLESHERTON, Ont., Dec. 9 (CP) —Thirty-seven years after he had made the original sale, auctioneer William Kaitting yesterday put up for auction a cutter and sold it for $30—eight dollars more than it brought in 1909.

Market Trends

NEW YORK,—The stock market put on one of the fastest and broadest rallies of the year in the wake of the coal truce, although dealings eventually tapered and extreme gains of one to six points were trimmed in many cases near the close by quick profit taking.

LONDON—Trading on the Stock Exchange was quiet but firm on the cheerful news of the ending of the United States coal strike.

TORONTO— Mining groups and industrials recorded wide gains. Industrials added better than two points. Volume bettered the 2,000,000-share mark.

MONTREAL— Taking their cue from Wall Street, traders promoted a wide range of securities to higher levels. Some issues did not hold at their best ranges owing to profit-taking. All pivotal divisions were higher in the indices except golds, which were down a bit.

VANCOUVER—Trading was fairly active. Base metals were up slightly while industrials remained unchanged. Golds were higher and oils were stronger.

Investigate Deaths Of 11 Persons Who Died in Fire

SASKATOON, Dec. 9 (CP)—Coroner W. Oliver of Saskatoon today launched an investigation into the death of 11 persons in the Barry Hotel fire here early yesterday. Six jurymen viewed the bodies, visited the scene of the blaze, and then adjourned sine die to await the inquest hearings.

As the hotel interior continued to smoulder, both police and fire departments began to prepare reports of the worst hotel fire in Saskatchewan's history. However, it was not expected they would be completed for several days.

From city hospitals, where 18 persons injured in the fire were recovering, came word that all the patients were improving.

Only one, Albert Scheider of Saskatoon, was listed as in serious condition. Mrs. Scheiber also is in hospital, but her injuries are not considered severe.

Victoria Police Seek Pay Boost

VICTORIA, Dec. 9 (CP) — A 15-cent an hour wage increase and a five-day 40-hour week in line with new agreements in many local industries, headed requests of the newly-formed Victoria City Police Federal Union which were given favorable consideration by the Police Commission at negotiations here.

At the conclusion of discussion, Mayor Percy George, head of the Commission, said he welcomed the negotiations 100 per cent.

George Wilkinson, Secretary of the Victoria and District Trades and Labor Council, who acted as spokesman, stated definitely that the members of the union will not participate in sympathetic strikes. That was part of the constitution and bylaws of the union. Also no person holding allegiance to any national or international body hostile to the government would be admitted to membership in the union.

The report lacked official confirmation.

(Maps show Devdelija to be about two miles within Yugoslavia.)

Recommends Brain Operation For Staley

CALGARY, Dec. 9 (CP)—The Calgary Albertan in a newspage story today said Dr. W. R. Read, Phychiatrist, who recommended a "frontal lobotomy" brain operation for Donald Sherman Staley sentenced to hang Dec. 18 at Lethbridge, said in an interview the operation was "worth a try."

Staley was convicted of the murder of six-year-old Donnie Goss of Calgary.

In a Detroit dispatch last week the Associated Press described a similar operation on a cigar-smoking morally degenerate woman, and reported the operation gave her a "new outlook" on life.

During Staley's trial Dr. Read advised the court he considered the operation "worthwhile to attempt a cure." He suggested theraphy, possible shock treatment, and the "frontal lobotomy" operation.

In the interview Dr. Read said the Detroit operation was the same he recommended for Staley. "It's just an experiment, but it's worth a try since we have no other known treatment of value." During the trial Dr. Read testified it was probable Staley was insane in a legal sense.

The Detroit dispatch said the operation severs the connection between the part of the brain responsible for planning and carrying out desires and other parts of the nervous system which translates them into action.

The thought content is unchanged but if successful the push to translate abnormal ideas into abnormal actions should be eliminated.

Asked whether such an operation would yet be possible in Staley's case Dr. Read said: "I don't think so. It would appear all of the doors have been banned."

Urges British Farmers to Increase Production With Assured Markets

By JAMES McCOOK
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Dec. 9 (CP-Cable) — The Labor Government now is making clear to British farmers that they must increase production after they have been given a system of assured markets and guaranteed prices based on established production costs.

Labor spokesmen readily agree that farmers are individualists who are unlikely to respond as readily as some other sections of the community more accustomed to organization, to suggestions for action as a group in changing their methods or to accepting orders from government agencies. Government tactics will be:

1. To have government agencies and advisers seek to change farming methods for the better by example and demonstration rather than by compulsion. Thus in certain areas farmers would be persuaded to grow crops to which they have not been accustomed by a procedure likely to involve government demonstration fields and representatives to show inquiring farmers what the development of such crops would mean to their income and labor requirements.

2. To appeal to farmers' pride and patriotism—a recourse which was considered as effective as higher prices in raising wheat, barley and oat production nearly three times during the war. Wartime potato production doubled and supplies of fresh milk were increased greatly following patriotic appeals.

Hugh Dalton, chancellor of the Exchequer, as custodian of the National moneybags, said in a weekend address that increased home food production would lessen Britain's dependence on dollars for her requirements from dollar countries such as Canada and the United States.

"Half our import costs and a large part of our dollar expenditure is for food," said Mr. Dalton.

"More homegrown food means immediate relief to dollar expenditure and to hard-pressed transport facilities. Unless we can secure relief in this way, we shall have to do without other things which we need so badly to speed up reconstruction."

Subsidies of more than £180,000,000 ($760,000,000) annually on home produced food are among major contributions made to the support of British farm prices and production.

GRANTED STAY OF EXECUTION UNTIL APPEAL HEARD

Rescue Girl, Fed Up With Living, From Niagara Gorge

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., Dec. 9 (CP)—Police and firemen rescued Mary E. (Betty) Delaney, 19, from an incline in the Niagara Gorge where she became wedged behind a tree after a plunge from the river bank. She was taken to hospital with a possible fracture of the skull, brush burns and injuries to the left elbow.

Police quoted the girl as stating she was "fed up" with living and wanted to go into the river. They said she battled with her rescuers to "complete the job" but was finally brought up the steep bank in a basket.

BRIDGEND, Wales (CP) — James Davies, 23, of Nantyfyllon was committed for trial on a theft charge after evidence whisky, gin, port, rum and wine were found in an organ at his home.

WESTBY, Wiltshire, England (CP)—The councils of Westbury and Warminster plan to oppose Portland Cement Company's plan for a £800,000 ($3,200,000) plant in the Westby hills.

To the Electors:—

I am standing for election as Alderman on Thursday, Dec. 12th.
At this time, I take great pleasure in submitting the following to you for your consideration:
I have been a resident of Nelson for twenty-three years.
I have practiced my profession as an Accountant for the past seventeen years.
I will do my utmost to further the interests of Nelson as a progressive City.
Your support will be greatly appreciated at the polls.
Yours Truly,
J. J. HUNTER,
Candidate for Alderman

Mayoralty Campaign

For political expediency my opponent promises you everything under the sun, at the same time he is going to lower the tax rate.

To intelligent people this statement must appear ridiculous, because it is an economic impossibility to give back to the people any more than you take away from them, but it is within the power of the Council to give value for monies received. I feel that this has not been so as evidenced by the fact that no major public works have been started or completed recently.

H. H. Hinitt
Mayoralty Candidate

WERE YOU

UNPREPARED
During the Cold Snap the Past Week?

The recent weather across the country no doubt caught many motorists unprepared. However, you can protect yourself against further motor troubles if you will bring in your car now and have it completely winterproofed.

You need lighter oil and grease, a good battery, anti-freeze . . . and a general tuneup of the motor and ignition will make easier starting.
