TIDAL WAVES TAKE GIANT TOLL

Covered Exploding Grenade to Save Men, Awarded V.C.

OTTAWA, April 1 (CP)—C.S.M. John Robert Osborn of St. Vital, Man., and Norfolk, Eng., has been posthumously awarded the Victoria Cross for bravery at Hong Kong, Defence Headquarters announced tonight. He is Canada's 15th Victor Cross winner of the Second Great War.

A First Great War gas casualty, Csm. Osborn, member of the Winnipeg Grenadiers, cooly stood in a Hong Kong shell hole tossing back Japanese grenades before sacrificing his life to another one. It was the first Canadian V.C. deed of the war as the action was accomplished back in December, 1941, more than six months before Lt.-Col. Cecil Merritt of Vancouver won the Empire's highest award at Dieppe

OLDEST V.C.

Csm. Osborn was 42 at the time Hong Kong fell and thus was the oldest Canadian V.C. of the war. He came to Canada after the First Great War in which he was gassed fighting with a Royal Navy Division.

Csm. Osborn, who had railroaded, farmed and been on relief in Western Canada, stubbornly rallied his Doughty Company for a last ditch stand Dec. 19, 1941. Time and again he picked up flying Jap grenades being hurled at his position and threw them back at the enemy with a reckless disregard for his own safety.

Finally a grenade fell too far away and he only had time to smother it. It exploded just as he covered it and he was killed. His body stopped the flying shrapnel from seriously wounding any of his companions.

One of Sgt. Osborn's men, now Sgt. John Pugsley of Winnipeg, survived the grenade attack and the long internment in a prison camp. At Winnipeg he said of his sergeant's deed:

"It was the bravest thing I ever saw a man do."

SURROUNDED BY JAPS

Sgt. Pugsley said that Csm. Osborn "deliberately" covered the grenade with his body when he saw he had no time to heave it back at the enemy. The position of the little Canadian company was surrounded by Japanese at the time.

"Our ammunition was running low," continued Sgt. Pugsley. "Enemy fire was terrific. Machine-guns, mortars, grenades and small arms fire peppered us from every angle." It was in these circumstances that Sgt. Osborn acted, first to use the enemy grenades to reinforce ebbing Canadian ammunition and finally to smother the live grenade he didn't have time to throw.

The award means that Canadian servicemen have won V.C.'s in every major theatre of the war—at Dieppe, in the Mediterranean, on the Western Front and in the Battle of the Atlantic.

The citation, as published in the Daily Express said: "Company Sergeant-Major Osborn was an inspiring example to all throughout the defence which he assisted so magnificently in maintaining against an overwhelming enemy force for over 8½ hours, and in his death he displayed the highest qualities of heroism and self-sacrifice."

A total of 174 V.C.'s previously have been awarded for Second Great War actions.

REVEAL OTHER NAZI GROUPS STILL A THREAT

20 Per Cent of Plotters Escape Weekend Roundup

PRESS HUNT

By RICHARD A. O'REGAN

FRANKFURT, Germany, April 1 (AP)—British and American Intelligence officers, pressing a manhunt for remnants of the powerful Nazi underground movement smashed in Sunday's spectacular mass raids, disclosed today the existence of several other subversive Nazi groups plotting against the Allies in occupied Germany.

While Sunday's raids broke the back of the most sinister Nazi group yet to reappear, intelligence officers in the American Zone indicated this was only the beginning.

(The smashing of the Nazi plot was disclosed in a joint weekend announcement from the British and American sources at Frankfurt, headquarters of the American Zone, and Herford, centre of the British Zone.)

SEEK REMNANTS

"Operation nursery," meanwhile, continued, Counter-espionage agents, working night and day, hunted for remnants of the group headed by 32-year-old, one-armed Axmann, one-time leader of the Hitler Jugend (Youth Movement). About 20 per cent of the target suspects had left or fled their addresses before the agents struck Sunday.

Axmann's group, remnants of which were being sought both in Germany and Austria, probably was the most dangerous of all the German subversive movements, a high-ranking intelligence officer said, but he added that other groups existed which also based their long-range plans upon resurgence of Nazi ideology rather than upon active resistance.

HOUSING SHORTAGE

Found living in an "out of order" telephone booth in New York was 21-year-old, 45-inch Helen Magna. Helen was glimpsed through the open door of her "apartment" as she ate her breakfast comfortably ensconced, her night things on the door knob, her pin-up boy's picture above the telephone. Helen has been here three days.

50-Foot Walls of Water Batter Hilo, Estimate 300 Victims; Naval Garrison Island Inundated

By The Associated Press

Towering tidal waves generated by a mighty sub-marine disturbance crashed against the shores of Hawaii, Alaska and Central California Monday, leaving a possible 63 persons dead and miles of wrecked homes, waterfront buildings and ships in their wake.

Worst hit by the terrific walls of water was the once-beautiful city of Hilo, Hawaii, where rescue squads dug the bodies of 37 victims from the wreckage. Navy officers there estimated deaths might total 300. The waves, 50 feet above normal water level, ripped over the beaches into nearby homes.

The centre of the wave was believed to be the Western tip of volcanic Unimak Island, Alaska.

North Pacific shipping was warned to be prepared for waves 90 feet high. A recurrence of the crushing tidal rush was believed possible.

Latest figures placed the toll in Hawaii at 46 known dead. From five to 10 men were lost when the wave enveloped an Alaskan lighthouse. One life was reported lost on the California shore, which escaped with relatively light damage.

B.C. COAST ESCAPES

There were no reports of the tidal wave hitting the British Columbia coast.

Every island in the Hawaiian group was hit and widespread property damage was reported, especially at Hilo, on the island of Hawaii. There a ship was torn from its moorings, buildings were damaged and a bridge wrecked. One large structure was swept off its foundations.

Terrified witnesses said the waves ranged up to 25 feet above high-tide marks. Cars on coastal roads were engulfed.

Little East Island, on French Frigate Shoal 450 miles Northwest of Honolulu, was inundated, the Coast Guard reported. The fate of its small naval garrison was unknown.

LOWLANDERS FLEE

Heavy damage was reported from Hawaii, Maui, Kaui and the leper colony island of Molokai, where several beach homes were washed out to sea and lowland residents fled to higher ground.

Major damage on Maui centred at the Kahului naval air station. Beach residences of wealthy islanders were badly damaged, and Maui police estimated property losses at "hundreds of thousands of dollars."

LIGHTHOUSE DESTROYED

In Alaska, the district Coast Guard officer at Ketchikan reported a tidal wave, preceded by an earthquake, had destroyed the Scotch Cape lighthouse with all its personnel. The lighthouse stood at the entrance of Unimak Pass, guarding the entrance to the Bering Sea from the North Pacific.

The Army Signal Corps in Seattle said its Adak station had a report of a tidal wave at Fort Randall, near Unimak, but had no details.

The navy warning, based on the tidal wave at Unimak, said the centre of the tidal wave was undetermined but "believed to be at latitude 55 North, longitude 164 West."

California appeared to have escaped the full force of the tidal disturbance.

The giant waves which crashed on Central California beaches, however, terrified beholders and carried at least one man to his death. The elderly victim was one of two men strolling on a beach at Santa Cruz, South of San Francisco, when a great wave rushed upon them. The other man escaped.

Huge waves also were reported at Half Moon Bay, South of San Francisco, and at Bolinas and Point Arena, North of San Francisco. Some points reported property damage.

A 10-foot wave hit the Oregon coast at Charleston, at the entrance to Coos Bay. No damage was reported.

At Seattle, Howard Coombs, associate professor of geology at the University of Washington, said he believed the tidal disturbance originated in a submarine earthquake of major intensity in the Aleutian area. He estimated the wave was travelling at a speed of 400 to 500 miles an hour.

DISTURBANCES OF OCEAN FLOOR CAUSE WAVES

By the Canadian Press

Destructive waves such as struck Hawaii and Northern Pacific points Monday are commonly called "tidal" waves. Actually they are properly seismic sea waves, since they have their origin not in the tides but in underwater disturbances of the ocean floor.

Such waves are not uncommon in the Pacific, since it is largely ringed with a seismic belt.

The waves are of two types, one being caused by a subsidence of the sea bottom, the other by an upheaval. In the case of the former, the waters recede, then rush back upon the shore violently. With the latter, there usually is no warning ebb.

Extremely destructive waves have been experienced in Japan, Chili and elsewhere around the Pacific.

Vessels at sea, even directly over the centre of the disturbanc, usually are in little or no danger.

RESCIND ORDER GOVERNING DETENTIONS

Other Prosecutions to Depend on Investigations

END WIDE POWERS

By DOUGLAS HOW
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA, April 1 (CP)—Prime Minister Mackenzie King today announced revocation of famed Order-in-Council 6444 under which suspects in a Russian network of spies were detained and questioned in secrecy but he did not eliminate the possibility of further detentions presumably by normal processes.

Further prosecutions, he told the Commons, "will depend upon the opinion of the legal authorities as to what further informations should be laid."

The Royal Commission would be issuing another report, "possibly in a week or fortnight."

GAVE WIDE POWERS

Order-in-Council 6444, passed Oct. 6, 1945, was based upon the sweeping powers of the War Measures Act. It was the legal instrument that permitted R.C.M.P. squads to seize 13 persons—11 men and two women—last Feb. 15 and hold and question them without counsel for weeks. They now face charges under the Official Secrets Act of 1939 and the Criminal Code.

The total rose to 15 later when Fred Rose, 38, Labor-Progressive Member of Parliament for Montreal Cartier, was detained in Ottawa and Dr. Allan Nunn May, 34, in England.

The most sweeping powers of the order were contained in the lines which impowered the Minister of Justice to order "that any . . person may be interrogated and—or detained in such place and under such conditions as he may from time to time determine" and that such person would "be in legal custody."

The Prime Minister said no persons now were held under its provisions and that "those who were have all been examined."

The Prime Minister said the order-in-council had been revoked by issuance of another, numbered 1262 and bearing today's date.

He read a letter from Commission counsel advising that "particularly in view of the various prosecutions now pending and that in such proceedings much evidence is necessarily being made public, we have advised you that it will not be necessary to request further orders under P.C. 6444."

The counsels are E. K. Williams of Winnipeg, Gerald Fauteux of Montreal and B. W. Mundell of the Justice Department. The Royal Commissioners are Mr. Justices R. L. Kellock and Robert Taschereau.

Milk Pasteurization Advocates, Opponents Argue in House

VICTORIA, April 1 (CP)—Milk, the second of two contentious fluid subjects of discussion in British Columbia—the other is chlorination of water—provoked two spirited debates in the Legislature today when even the C.C.F. opposition was divided.

Debate began on a motion by Hon. Frank Putnam, Minister of Agriculture, for second reading of the bill to empower the City of Vancouver to enforce, if it desired, pasteurization of milk from Grade "A" dairies.

E. E. Winch, (C.C.F.-Burnaby) opposed the measure on the ground that it would rob producers of the incentive to cleanliness and sanitary conditions in their dairies. Long an opponent of pasteurization, Mr. Winch said it had been proved that while the process destroyed certain bacteria harmful to health, it also destroyed some that were beneficial to it.

DOCTORS PROTEST

His remarks brought protests from two of the three medical men in the House, Dr. J. J. Gillis (CLN-Yale) and Dr. F. W. Green (CLN-Cranbrook) and arguments across the floor of the House that brought the speaker's bell into frequent use.

Louis Lebourdai (CLN--Cariboo) thought there should be provision for pasteurization only when it was requested.

Two C.C.F. members, J. H. Corsbie (Peace River) and Randolph Harding (Kaslo-Slocan) supported the bill—with a qualification by the former that there should be no relaxation in present standards of production and inspections.

A second milk debate came on second reading of the bill to place control of marketing of milk under a one-man board. Mr. Putnam said the measure was designed to meet the situation when Dominion controls are removed. The matter had been discussed with the trade, which wanted administration to be governed as a public utility, as provided in 1944, but under a separate board to be named by the producers.

SEES DANGER

Harold Winch warned the Government it was moving into "dangerous economic territory in giving to one man the authority to say to a farmer that he could or could not prduce milk." Speaking of the "almost monopoly control" of the Public Utilities Commission, Mr. Winch maintained that a vital food such as milk should not be governed by one man.

Smallpox Cases Increase; No New Deaths

SEATTLE, April 1 (AP)—Smallpox cases in Seattle increased to 24 today, but there have been no deaths for several days and the sore-armed city breathed more easily as the mass vaccination program reached its peak.

Five persons died from the disease. One of the cases among the 24 had the disease so lightly he was confined to his home. The others had been taken to the quarantined county hospital. One, a nurse, had recovered and been released.

City health officers estimated 60 per cent of Seattle's population had been vaccinated by tonight, leaving 200,000 unprotected or immune due to recent vaccinations. The program was continuing, with fire stations as centres in the city and schools as county vaccination headquarters.

At the order of the Canadian Quarantine Service, no passengers were being permitted to board Canadian Pacific Railway ships or Black Ball Lines ships in Seattle for Vancouver and Victoria, B. C., unless they could show a certificate of vaccination within the year. Both lines had physicians at their terminals to provide vaccinations.

VACCINE DELAYED

VANCOUVER, April 1 (CP)—Immunization of thousands of Vancouver citizens against smallpox, scheduled to resume today, will be delayed for at least one day.

Reports earlier today said that a plane, carrying sufficient vaccine to treat 17,000 persons, was scheduled to reach Vancouver shortly after noon, after being grounded for a time at Lethbridge, Alta.

However, airlines officials reported the vaccine was not on board the plane which has reached Vancouver.

They expect the vaccine will arrive on the flight scheduled to reach Vancouver at 11.50 p.m. but expected to be somewhat behind schedule, due to weather conditions.

Municipal Bodies Given Authority Over Building Permits

June 1 Deadline for Applications for Wartime Housing Construction

By JACK WILLIAMS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA, April 1 (CP)—The Dominion Government, in a new move to channel building materials directly into housing, today gave municipalities broad authority to cancel or refuse building permits for construction jobs considered non-essential.

Reconstruction Minister Howe announced the action, taken by order-in-council, in the Commons and at the same time served notice on municipalities that the Government corporation, Wartime Housing, Ltd., was prepared to continue construction of low-rental homes for veterans but a deadline of June 1 was set on application from municipalities.

Mr. Howe said frankly that wartime construction controls had been disregarded once the war ended and it had been considered impossible to judge from Ottawa whether proposed construction projects in various parts of the country were essential.

The Government was prepared to continue maintaining an equitable distribution of available materials to various parts of the country but final disposition would rest with municipalities.

'Should the municipality decide to use its building materials to build motion picture theatres or other places of amusement, that municipality can hardly complain if a shortage develops in materials for construction of houses," he added.

The order provides:

"Every municipal body and every officer, employee or agent thereof having authority in relation to building permits shall, in the exercise thereof during the present calendar year, have power:

"(A) To refuse to issue a permit for the erection, alteration or repair of any building or structure;

"(B) To revoke, cancel or suspend any permit which may have been issued for the erection, alteration or repair of any building or structure."

"A Shambles of Horror"

By DOUGLAS LOVELACE

HILO, Hawaii, April 1 (AP)—Hilo was a shambles of horror today as rescue squads dug bodies of 37 victims of today's tidal wave from the slimy wreckage and rubble.

No one knows how many dead there may be in this once-beautiful little city. Navy officers here estimated 300 lost their lives when the terrific wall of water swept out of the Pacific and rolled up onto the beaches. Many were swept out to sea and scores were reported clinging to wreckage of their homes, trying to regain the shore.

CLING TO DRIFTWOOD

On high ground this afternoon stood weeping friends and relatives waiting to hear what other names had been added to the death list. Troops patrolled the wrecked waterfront, and would not permit anyone near the wreckage of buildings levelled by the rushing tons of water.

C. R. Ferdun, school principal said many people were clinging to driftwood and timbers in the waters offshore.

38,611 VETS GET OUT-OF-WORK BENEFITS, MONTH

OTTAWA, April 1 (CP)—Unemployment insurance was paid to 3001 veterans in February and in the same month 38,611 veterans received out-of-work benefits from the Veterans Department, it was stated in a return tabled today in the Commons for E. B. McKay (CCF-Weyburn). In January 3024 received unemployment insurance and 25,409 out-of-work benefits.

Unknown Benefactor Saves Regina Dogs

REGINA, April 1 (CP)—Regina's dog drama had a happy ending today when an unidentified citizen purchased licences for unlicenced dogs of Mrs. Lena Cascon who said she could not afford the tags but threatened to oppose the "licence or death" ultimatum passed by the City Council on the dogs two weeks ago.

Purchase of the two licences gave three of the woman's dogs a new lease on life. Previously another unidentified benefactor had provided the money for one licence.

Mrs. Cascon said the dogs were pets of her two sons who were killed overseas.

TAFT EXPECTS LOAN TO BE OKAYED

WASHINGTON, April 1 (AP)—Senator Robert Taft (Rep.-Ohio) said today his "guess" is that the proposed $3,750,000 loan to Britain will be approved this week by the Senate Banking Committee. He emphasized he had not polled his colleagues.

Hon. H. A. Bruce Steps Down for Veteran

OTTAWA, April 1 (CP)—Speaker Gaspard Fauteux announced tonight in the Commons that Hon. H. A. Bruce, Progressive Conservative member of the Commons for Toronto Parkdale, has resigned his seat.

The resignation of Dr. Bruce, former Lieutenant-Governor of Ontario, creates the first vacancy in the 245-seat Commons, elected in the Federal general election of June 11, 1945.

Dr. Fauteux said he will issue a writ tomorrow declaring the Toronto seat vacant.

Dr. Bruce outlined the reasons for his resignation in a letter read to the Commons by John Bracken, Progressive Conservative leader.

Dr. Bruce's letter recalled he had not intended to run as a candidate in the 1945 general election but had yielded to Mr. Bracken's suggestion that he do so.

He only consented to be a candidate, Dr. Bruce wrote, because it offered an opoprtunity to "render some actual war service," with so many younger men absent on active service. Now, however, the war was over and the situation was changed. He was happy to step aside to make way for a younger man, preferably a veteran.

Dr. Bruce wrote that he had found Parliamentary life both "satisfying" and at times "exciting".

Resignation of Dr. Bruce, 77 years old, reduces the Progressive Conservative representation in the Commons to 65 seats. Other party standings are: Liberals 126; CCF 28; Social Credit 13 and others 12.

Dr. Bruce served as Lieutenant-Governor of Ontario from 1932 to 1937 and was first elected to the Commons in the general elections of 1940. He was Ontario representative at the coronation of King George and Queen Elizabeth in 1937.

INFANT'S BODY FOUND IN LOCKER

NE WBEDFORD, Mass., April 1 (AP) — The body of an infant was found today in a locker in a railway waiting room. Medical examiner William Rosen said the body was so extensively decomposed he could not pronounce cause of death. It was contained in a suitcase and wrapped in newspapers and part of a woman's dress.

Slack-Garbed Cat Driving Miss in Commons Gallery

LONDON, April 1 (Reuters)—Miss Irene Swash, 22-year-old tractor driver in the women's land army, today was the first woman in slacks to sit in the House of Commons visitors gallery since the Speaker, Col. Clifton Brown, lifted the two-day ban imposed by the sergeant-at-arms on females in trousers.

Miss Swash came to the House with a land army deputation to lobby for better conditions for the land girls.

DIVORCE FOR BUSBY

LOS ANGELES, April 1 (AP) — Busby Berkeley's fifth marriage—all to screen actresses—ended in divorce today when Marge Pemberton, 22, whom he married last May, obtained a decree on cruelty grounds from the 50-year-old film dance direction. His previous wives were Esther Muir, Myrne Kennedy, Clair James and Myra Steffens.

Hair Curler, Dryer in Step With Rocket Age

TORONTO, April 1 (CP) — There's a new machine on exhibit at the annual hairdressers' convention today which may revolutionize civilization.

It's a hair dryer, a thing that dries hair as it curls it. The point is, it works fast. Instead of waiting outside the beauty parlor for an hour and a half for your wife you'll have to wait only half an hour.

Business girls will be able to get their hair done and eat too, on their lunch hour.

POPE TO BROADCAST

LONDON, April 1 (Reuters)—The Pope is to broadcast on the food situation next Thursday, Vatican radio announced tonight.

Norwegian Press Calls for Saving of War Marriages

OSLO, April 1 (Reuters)—British wives of Norwegian soldiers and sailors are applying at the rate of six or eight a week for visas to return to Britain, and the Norwegian pess is urging a "general mobilization of goodwill" to save the wartime marriages.

Housing shortages are the wives' chief complaint.

The authorities have engaged British-born Irene Hjersing, experienced wartime welfare officer in Scotland, to act as adviser.

She said today: "I appeal to wives and mothers-in-law to appreciate the difficulties and show understanding. Since I started this work many divorces have been avoided. Difficulties are due to differences of experience and style of living. The authorities are taking energetic action to be helpful."

$1-A-YEAR MAYOR DIES

JACKSONVILLE, Ill., April 1 — (AP)—Edgar E. Crabtree, 76, who served as mayor of this Southern Illinois community of 20,000 for eight years at a salary of $1 a year and kept his yearly checks as souvenirs, died Sunday. He was elected mayor in 1919 on a platform of "no pay, no politics, everything for the good of the city."

COURTENAY, B. C., April 1 (CP) —James Etter, five, son of A. Etter, a Union Bay logger, was fatally injured today when struck by an automobile.

Witnesses said the boy was playing on his wagon when a wheel came off and the wagon swerved directly into the path of the car. He died in hospital a short time later.

HEAR RUSSIAN REASSURANCE OF DESIRE TO WORK WITH UNO

By EDDIE GILMORE

MOSCOW, April 1 (AP) — Two foreign representatives in responsible diplomatic posts said today they have received strong though unofficial reassurances of the Soviet Union's intention to remain a working partner in the United Nations.

There also has been evidence of this intention in the daily Moscow press and in the opinions of prominent lecturers on public platforms during the last few days.

One such lecturer, Alexander Leontiev, well known as a commentator on world affairs, said the Soviet Union would throw all its weight toward obtaining a firm peace, security among peoples and application of democratic principles "in relations between countries large and small."

CHARGES WAR OF NERVES

But this lecturer, whose remarks at the crowded Hall of Columns were published today in the Communist Party newspaper Pravda, added these charges:

1. That a war of nerves was being directed against the Soviet Union.

2. That the foreign press was developing "an anti-Soviet campaign of slander, lies and untruths against Russia which at times approaches hysteria."

3. That there are propagandists for a new war abroad.

4. That an "imperialistic trend" is developing in contemporary world politics.

5. That certain quarters in the United States still were attempting to employ "atomic diplomacy" to bend the world to American will.

M. Leontiev, expressing what appears to be a widely-held Russian opinion, said there were two trends developing in the world—the groups who want to stand on international decisions and the groups who want to impose their will upon others. He left no doubt that in the latter classification he included the present position of the United States and and Britain in the Security Council meetings in New York.

"The war was hardly over," he said, "when the reactionary American press came out with idle talk that the domination of international affairs in all corners of the hemisphert should belong to America and that she should 'consolidate' her moral leadership all over the world."

Legion Statement on Nelson Housing Situation Calls It "Deplorable"; Castigates City Council for Status

Executive of Nelson Branch of the Canadian Legion has authorized publication of the following statement of its Housing Committees in connection with the lack of housing accomodation for ex-servicemen in Nelson.

The Canadian Legion feels the time has arrived when a frank statement on the deplorable housing situation in Nelson, so far as it affects ex-servicemen and their families, should be laid before the public.

As in most cities, there is a serious shortage of houses for rent in Nelson. Nobody is to blame for this as it is the natural result of the war. This condition, however, chiefly affects the ex-service man and his family, as they are the people who on their return to civil life have to search for a place to live, and have to take any makeshift acommodation.

In other B. C. cities, such as Penticton, Kamloops and Kelowna, the Government has already constructed 100 houses for veterans at low rental. Most of these houses are completed, and are now ocupied by veterans.

Let us explain how this building program came about. The Federal Government, recognizing the plight of the returning veteran in regard to lack of housing, set up a Government organization known as Wartime Housing, Limited, to build low rental homes for married veterans. The City has to make application to them for the houses. The City provides the lots, and signs a contract with the Government containing the following conditions: The Government will pay the City the usual taxes covering fire and police protection, sewers, water service, etc. The houses contain two, three or four bedrooms, and rent to the veteran from $22 to $30 per month, according to size. After 13 years the City has the option of purchasing these houses from the Government for $1000 each. In the meantime it is understood the veteran may purchase the house from the Government on long terms at an easy rate of interest. This appears to be a good deal all around, for the Government, the City and the veteran. The opportunity was grasped a year ago by Kamloops, Kelowna and Penticton, with the result the houses are now built and occupied. In those Cities it is apparent the people were really interested in the welfare of their veterans on their return home.

SAYS LETTER DIDN'T REACH COUNCIL

New let us consider the record in Nelson. One year ago, on April 2, 1945, the Legion wrote the City of Nelson at some length urging the formation of a Citizen's rehabilitation Council, such as already existed in other cities, to help in the re-establishment of the veteran, with particular emphasis on housing, which was the most serious problem. The City Council knows nothing of this letter, as it never reached them. From April to November nothing was done, but in November, as the result of pressure, a meeting was held at the City Hall when a Rehabilitation Council was elected under the Chairmanship of Mr. T. H. Waters.

This Rehabilitation Council was composed of business men of the City. Their first job was to make a survey of the housing conditions. This was completed, and about 80 applications were received from veterans for the low rental homes which it was intended we would ask Wartime Housing, Limited, to build under contract with the City. Of these 80 applicants, 18 were living with parents, six in hotels, 5 in one-room apartments, 32 in two-room apartments, 13 in three-room apartments, and 8 could get no accommodation in town and had to live during winter in summer cottages some miles away.

SAYS NEED SOFT-PEDALLED

The Rehabilitation Council then requested the City Council, in November, to make application to Wartime Housing, Limited, to construct 50 houses. The City Council did no such thing, but they did write a letter to Wartime Housing asking for certain information, and in that letter they soft-pedalled the need for houses to rent, and indicated a preference for houses to be built under the National Housing Act which all of us are familiar with in pre-war years.

It had already been pointed out to the City that not one in a hundred of our veterans could build under that Act, as, after buying furniture and what they needed to establish a home, there was no money left to make a first payment on their own home. Their great need was a low rental home, which could only be provided under Wartime Housing, which the Government has specially provided for the benefit of the veteran. We believe it is the duty of everybody to make an effort to see these benefits reach the veteran.

In January, matters progressed further. Mr. Davidson, representing Central Mortgage Corporation connected with the National Housing Act, came to Nelson to investigate housing. We understand he met the Mayor and other officials, and after some discussion he made his report to Ottawa to the effect that the housing shortage here was much exaggerated, and that the building of 50 houses, as recommended by our Rehabilitation Council, was unwarranted.

VETERANS NOT HEARD BY ENVOY

There are 450 veterans who are Legion members, but they had no chance to be heard, as no Legion official or representative was invited to the meeting.

In late January the Rehabilitation Council was asked to make another survey, which they had already done in November. Applicants for houses were required to fill in questionnaires, which called for a lot of personal information which many veterans did not feel like giving, but in spite of that, 66 married veterans applied for houses. When this second survey was complete, the three housing committees, from the City Council, Legion, got together, and jointly they recommended to the City Rehabilitation Council, and the Council again that 550 houses be built by Wartime Housing, Limited. Under this pressure the City Council then passed a resolution to apply for these houses. The following is a copy of the letter sent by the City Clerk dated Feb. 13, 1946.

"Referring to your file of the 21st. ulto., I have to advise that the Council has passed a resolution asking that Wartime Housing, Limited, draw up their contract to provide for the construction of 50 houses in Nelson, and under separate cover we are forwarding the questionnaires completed by ex-servicemen, together with synopsis made up by the City."

No attempt was made to describe the bad housing conditions which exist, nor to make a case that would assist the veteran. We do not have a copy of the synopsis made up by the City, but it would be interesting to see how it reads. Their letter certainly indicates no great anxiety to see that our veterans are provided with low rental houses. There the matter rests at the present time.

LEGION PLAYING LONE HAND NOW

The Canadian Legion is now playing a lone hand in Ottawa in an effort to get some action, but they have been placed at a very great disadvantage by Mr. Davidson's adverse report, on which the veteran was denied any opportunity to be heard. His report, you will note, is in direct contradiction of the finding of the three housing committees and of the resolution of the City Council itself.

We have put before you the record of the past 12 months. What is your reaction? Is it not natural that the feeling of the veteran is, the City Council will not make an all out effort to get these 50 low rental houses built? Many of them believe that there are powerful interests in Nelson who desire to keep for themselves the building and renting of houses, and who are by no means anxious to see 50 low rental homes going up. Their business must come before the welfare of the ex-serviceman. The record of the past year makes it abundantly clear the City is not making the effort put forward in other cities to solve the veterans' housing problem.

We might go further and say we canont see one thing they have done for the ex-serviceman. Even the Welcome Home Committee, which has been working for the past year, has not been supported to the extent of $1. This organization has been kept going by the I.O.D.E., Red Cross, W.A. to A.F., Women's Institute, Canadian Legion and service clubs. Possibly the projected Welcome Home banquet for our veterans may make up for the deficiency.

TOAST and TEA
BY LA MARE

Thoreau wrote: "There is nothing so sanative, so poetic as a walk in the woods and fields, even now, when I meet none abroad for pleasure. Nothing so inspires me and excites such serene and profitable thought. The objects are elevating. In the street and society I am almost invariably mean. No amount of gold or respectability would in the least redeem it—dining with the Governor or a member of Congress. But alone in distant woods and fields, in unpretending sproutlands or pastures tracked by rabbits, even in a bleak, and to most, cheerless day like this, when a villager would be thinking of his inn, I come to myself, I once more feel myself grandly related, and that cold and solitude are friends of mine. I suppose that this value in my case, is equivalent to what others get by church-going and prayer. I come to my solitary woodland walk as the homesick go home. I thus dispose of the superfluous, and see things as they are, grand and beautiful."

Calgary Team to Spend Today in City

CALGARY, April 1 (CP)—Calgary Stampeders left tonight for Nelson, where they will stop for a day before going on to Trail to meet Smoke Eaters Wednesday in the first game of a best-of-seven final for the Western Canada senior hockey championship.

Stampeders were optimistic about their chances against the veteran Smoke Eaters and will stage a brief workout at Nelson.

Due to lack of hotel accommodations at Trail the Calgary team will sleep on the train at Nelson Tuesday night and will travel to Trail Wednesday morning. Following the game Wednesday night Stampeders will leave immediately by bus for Nelson.

TRAIL, B. C., April 1—First game between Trail Smoke Eaters and Calgary Stampeders in the best-of-five Western Canada senior hockey finals open here Wednesday night.

G. W. Wheatley, President of the West Kootenay Hockey League, and now official representative for the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association in this sector, said the second game will be in Calgary on Saturday and the third in Edmonton on Monday. Any further games will be played on the Prairies, but no definite dates have been set.

Vic Linquist of Winnipeg and Jimmy Creighton of Brandon are to referee the series, Mr. Wheatley said.

To Wire Howe About Housing

Copies of all correspondence dealing with Wartime Housing Ltd. will be given to the Canadian Legion. This was decided by the City Council Monday night after hearing a letter from the Canadian Legion which stated that there had not been enough publicity and "we would like to know where the matter stands."

On motion of Alderman B. C. Affleck, it was decided to prepare the copies. In later discussion, Ald. Affleck was told that no answer had been received to the City's latest enquiries to Wartime Housing officials in the East. It was decided to send another wire and also to wire Hon. C. D. Howe, Minister of Reconstruction.

Elias Fisher, Nelson Businessman, School Board Head, Public Worker, Dies of Sudden Heart Attack at 46

ELIAS FISHER

Nelson was shocked Monday afternoon by the sudden death of Elias Fisher, well known businessman, at 1:15 p.m., from a heart condition, 45 minutes after he was taken to Kootenay Lake General Hospital in a state of collapse. One day earlier he had seemed his usual hearty and friendly self. He was aged 46½ years.

Mr. Fisher was Branch Manager at Nelson for the last eight years, of the British American Oil Company, with which he had been connected for 19 years, being held in the highest esteem by the company and fellow employees.

Elias, or "Eli," as he was known everybody, was a member of St. Paul's United congregation, the Masonic Lodge, the Gyros, and the School Board, serving on the latter since 1941 and having recently been reelected Chairman. Active in the Junior Board of Trade until it was suspended for the war, he then transferred to the Board of Trade. A member of the Nelson Curling Club, he was known throughout the district as an enthusiastic curler, and shared in the winning of many trophies. He enjoyed hunting and fishing and loved the outdoors, a trait transmitted to his children.

Though a busy man, he could always find time for a community job that needed to be done, and his public-spirited work will be missed in many circles. He was a friend of the unfortunate, and always stressed that money was only for what good it could do. A cabin he recently built on the North Shore was a happy rendezvous for his and his children's friends.

Born Aug. 8, 1899, at Wigan, Lancashire, England, the son of the late William John Fisher and Mrs. Elizabeth Fisher, he came to Canada with the family in 1911, when it settled in Bellevue, Alta. His father later died there.

Mr. Fisher is survived by his immediate family, consisting of his wife, Eva, his daughter, Mrs. Myrtle Cooper, and his son Stanley, at Nelson; his mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Fisher, of Bellevue, Alta.; four brothers, James, Ernest, William and Edward Fisher, and his only sister, Mrs. Winnifred Wyatt, all of Bellevue; and a brother, Robert Fisher, of Kimberley. He was predeceased by a younger brother, Austin, of Bellevue, last Summer.

Urge Wider Social Security Benefits

OTTAWA, April 1 (CP)—Social security has become increasingly important to the average Canadian, Lionel Bertrand (L-Terrebonne) said tonight in the Commons.

Mr. Bertrand spoke in moving a resolution urging the government to consider the advisability of including in its social security program a system of allowances for every person, without income or means of support, who, by reason of an injury, accident or congenital infirmity, is at a disadvantage in obtaining employment or incapable of providing for his subsistence.

The allowances would apply to persons whose age prevented them from benefiting by social security legislation now in force.

M. J. Coldwell, C.C.F. leader, expressed support of Mr. Bertrand's resolution which he said commended itself to the support of the House.

Those who could not earn their daily bread and were shut in and suffered should be recognized as the responsibility of the country. When that point was reached, Canadians could call themselves a Christian nation.

FORGOTTEN GROUP

Eugene Marquis (L-Kamouraska) said there were social laws providing aid to children and providing pensions to the aged. But there was a class more disinherited than any other—that of the prematurely aged. This class was afflicted by disabilities at middle age. The principle of old age pensions should be extended to these prematurely aged.

It would not add a great deal to the budget of the Federal Health and Welfare Department. Those cripples without support were few in number.

He urged the setting up of a board of medical examiners which would examine all invalids filing claims for federal assistance.

H. W. Herridge (People's CCF-Kootenay West) said that British Columbia now was paying limited assistance to cripples, but even this assistance was relieving the suffering of invalids. He hoped the government would introduce a national scheme to further alleviate sufferings of such people.

P. E. Cote (L-Verdun) said he would have given more enthusiastic support to the resolution if it called for efforts to rehabilitate cripples as was being done in the case of war veterans.

Nelson Curlers Win at Vernon

VERNON, B. C., April 1 (CP)—The 58 rinks in the 9th Okanagan Bonspiel got away to a smooth start today in competition for two of the major trophies of the 'spiel.

Two Vancouver rinks lost out in the first round of the B. C. Box play when Roly David's quartet bowed to Harry Horton and his curlers from Nelson. E. G. Sherwood nosed out Dave Garnham in the same event. At the end of the regulation ends the Garnham and Sherwood rinks were tied and the decision went to the Vernon four on the extra end.

Earl Bennett's Vancouver rink came through the first round safely.

Tomorrow the first round of the third major event, for the Coldstream Cup, will open. Altogether six trophies are up for competition. Rinks are entered from all points of British Columbia as well as two from from Alberta. There are 17 Vernon rinks.

Strikes Hit Ports

SEATTLE, April 1 (AP)—Shipping officials here said tonight they understood the ports of Ketchikan, Juneau, Seward, Cordova and Sitka in Alaska were involved in a strike by the International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union (C.I.O.), which has about 400 Alaska members.

Saskatchewan Has Set Up 11 Crown Companies

REGINA, April 1 (CP)—Speed limit on Saskatchewan highways is set at 45 miles an hour during hours of darkness and 50 miles an hour during daylight under amendments to the Provincial Vehicles Act given second reading by the Legislature today.

Provincial Treasurer C. M. Fines said during the war the speed limit had been 40 miles an hour and because many cars were still being driven with poor tires and were not in the best of shape it was considered necessary to continue a curb on speed.

He said the maximum 50 miles an hour limit had been agreed upon by the Highway Traffic Boards of the three Prairie provinces.

Six other measures were given second reading, 13 were considered in committee and the House endorsed a motion to begin more sittings tomorrow in an effort to bring prorogation of the session late this week, probably Thursday night.

Among the measures read a second time was one extending municipal hail crop insurance protection from Sept. 15 to Sept. 30, another to establish regional libraries and one under which the Saskatchewan Cooperative Creamery Association, one of Canada's largest cooperatives, passes into the hands of the producers who organized it. Indebtedness to the government has been paid off.

Explaining the libraries measure, Education Minister Lloyd cited the success of a regional library circuit operating in British Columbia's Fraser Valley.

A return tabled by Premier T. C. Douglas at the request of Arthur Procter (L-Moosomin) showed the government has established 11 crown corporations to date.

The first was the Saskatchewan Reconstruction Corporation, set up May 8, 1945 and the last was the Saskatchewan Transportation Company, organized Jan. 29 of this year to administer the new government bus line which began operation today. It will eventually serve 300,000 miles of provincial highways.

Schools Act Amendment Bill Progresses

VICTORIA, April 1 (CP)—Described by Hon. Dr. G. M. Weir, Minister of Education, as one of the most important pieces of legislation ever introduced in British Columbia and as an outstanding milestone in education development, the bill to amend the Public Schools Act on the lines of the Cameron recommendations passed second reading after brief debate in the Legislature today.

Harold E. Winch, C.C.F. leader, said the bill was so confusing, in his opinion, as to call for rewriting of the act.

Estimating the cost of the basic program of education at $9,000,000 a year, Dr. Weir said that under the new plan local authorities' share will be about $3,500,000, at five mills on 100 per cent of assessed value of real estate, plus five mills on 75 per cent of valuation of improvements. The Province will find the remaining $5,500,000.

The Province will assume half the cost of school buildings and essential equipment, half the cost of transportation of pupils, and 100 per cent of teachers' pensions.

The bill also provides for reduction of the number of school districts from the present 650 down to 74 with boundaries of the new consolidated districts to be designated by order-in-council on a geographical basis.

SEES ERROR

Stating that the present act now contained 185 sections, to amend which a bill of 120 sections was brought in, Mr. Winch said the Government had made a serious mistake in introducing the measure as an amendment rather than a new act.

Probability of a long debate in Comittee of Ways and Means appeared when Mr. Winch indicated that the opposition would want the bill taken section by section.

Mr. Winch said "this act imposes a terrific responsibility on school inspectors — something more than they've ever had before. I am convinced that even they cannot understand this bill."

Many Grants Approved for City Organizations

An unusual number of grants to City organizations was approved by the City Council Monday night in dealing with three applications for financial assistance.

The sum of $100 was granted to the Welcome Home Service and $100 to the Nelson Musical Festival Association which is sponsoring the appearances here May 7 and 8 of the Coeur d'Alene High School orchestra and band.

Assistance will also be given the Nelson Kinsmen Club which has taken the lead in arranging a welcome home reception for service personnel. The City will share expenses with the Club. Alderman T. S. Shorthouse, speaking on behalf of the Club, said that the Club had raised $380 towards the expenses, but said that it was possible several hundred more might be needed.

The reception will be held in the Civic Centre about the 24th of this month, and from 600 to 1000 were expected to attend. A banquet was to be held for service personnel who enlisted in Nelson or left Nelson to enlist, while a dance would follow which would be open to all servicemen and their lady friends. A momento of the occasion would be presented to the banqueteers.

The Festival Association application was made by Ross Fleming. Surplus funds would be devoted to promotion of the Association and like attractions, his letter said. Also granted were his requests for erection of an elevated platform on the Civic Theatre stage and for permission to display banners on the street cars.

He said souvenir programs were being prepared for the event with names and personnel of honorary patrons to be printed therein.

Need Traffic Volume for Peace Railway

By D'ARCY O'DONNELL
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA, April 1 (CP)—Transport Minister Chevrier said tonight in the Commons that surveys made by expert engineers showed the building of a railway outlet from the Peace River district to the Pacific Coast would not be practical until traffic from the area averages at least 1,000,000 tons annually.

Mr. Chevrier spoke on a resolution moved by William Irvine (CCF, Cariboo) urging the Federal Government to open the Peace River area in Northern British Columbia and Alberta through the construction of a railway line to the Coast.

Five surveys have been made on the possibilities of building such a line, said Mr. Chevrier. The last one was made in 1945 and like earlier ones it suggested the line should not be built until there was sufficient traffic to warrant building of the project. It was estimated traffic now was about 250,000 tons annually.

COST $80 MILLION

One of the surveys estimated cost of the project at $80,000,000, said Mr. Chevrier who spoke after the resolution had been supported by practically all British Columbia and Alberta members in the Commons.

Mr. Chevrier said he could see no objection to the resolution as worded and he would accept it on behalf of the Government with the assurance the project will be given immediate consideration.

In speaking, he said he was not attempting to oppose the resolution, but was trying to outline some of the circumstances surrounding the project.

He pointed to recent statements in which Reconstruction Minister Howe hold of the shortage of steel and of housing, two things which would have to be considered in the building of railways and in the opening up of new areas. He also pointed to many statements by members calling for reduced expenditures and taxation.

Mr. Chevrier said he believed the railways might feel it would be better to coordinate existing rail and highway services than to build a railway line to the Coast. This was not the Government's view but the view of certain railway economists.

Ask Minister of Mines to Visit Nelson

Hon. E. C. Carson, Minister of Mines, is being requested to visit Nelson at his earliest opportunity, by members of the Chamber of Mines here who plan to hold a dinner for him. At a meeting Monday night Secretary F. Pennoyer was asked to write Mr. Carson to invite him to the city.

The decision to do this was made after an appeal by I. G. Nelson, that "more pep" be put into the Chamber of Mines meetings. Throughout the war years, he said, they had not had much opportunity to advertise the district.

Now that metals were profitable, and should be more so, he thought the Slocan district should be advertised more, and he mentioned that the mining operations being carried on near Nelson at present should "make the city".

People were given knowledge of mining through the Chamber of Mines meetings, and he suggested that dinners be held at which prominent mining and business men could be speakers. It was suggested that Hon. Frank Putnam, Minister of Agriculture, also be invited to one of these meetings.

Later E. Elmore spoke about the housing situation. He told the members that if more houses were built in the district it would give a greater impetus to the mining industry, and he mentioned the state of the roads not being any help to the tourist industry.

After reading letters written by officials, some saying that Nelson was not in desperate need of houses, and others stating the opposite view, he recommended that they form a resolution to be sent to the City Council supporting the Legion's demand for 50 wartime houses.

No action was taken on the matter.

Transportation Strike Affects Nearly 2,000,000

DETROIT, April 1 (AP)—Nearly 2,000,000 Detroit workers—many employed in industrial plants—were left stranded on street corners today as 5200 American Federation of Labor Motor Coach and Trolley operators struck in a wage dispute.

The walkout began as scheduled at 4 a. m. although representatives of the Amalgamated Association of Street Electric Railway and Motor Coach Employees of America and the Detroit Street Railways Department met until 2 a. m. in an attempt to find a last-minute solution for the union's demand. A union official reported the two sides "deadlocked" after the long session.

Nearly all vehicles were back in the barns an hour after the strike began, D. S. R. officials reported. A contingent of 79 Detroit Police officers and 15 from Suburban Highland Park were on duty at car barns, but no incidents or picket lines were reported.

A thunderstorm and heavy rains further hindered efforts of thousands of early shift workers to reach their offices and plants. Taxicab companies reported exceptionally heavy trade, but said no extra vehicles were available for the additional load.

Detroit school officials planned to hold classes as usual, although some 13,000 children ordinarily ride in school buses chartered by the D. S. R.

Union members asking an 18-cent-hourly raise, yesterday turned down the D. S. R's last-minute offer of a 15-cent boost. Some 2000 operators who attended a mass meeting yesterday voted for the walkout, ignoring international union officers who urged postponement of action for a week.

Grenadier Faces 19 Charges

WINNIPEG, April 1 (CP) — CSM. Marcus Charles Tugby, of Surburban St. James, a member of the Winnipeg Grenadiers, today went before a Canadian general court martial at Fort Osborne Barracks here for trial on 19 charges.

The alleged offences, including collaboration with the Japanese, improper discipling of prisoners of war and retention of Red Cross parcels and assault on Allied soldiers, are claimed to have been committed at Oeyama prisoner of war camp in Japan where Tugby was imprisoned from September, 1942, until the end of the war.

The court is sitting in the same barracks where a British court held proceedings against Cpl. (Acting Sgt) John Hugh Harvey of the Royal Army Medical Corps, charged with similar offenses.

Harvey was acquitted on 20 of the original 30 counts, including manslaughter, against him, another was dismissed midway through the trial because of lack of evidence and the court announced merely about the other nine that it was submitting its findings to a higher authority for confirmation.

President of the Canadian court is Maj. Gen. H. W. Foster of Halifax and Picton, Ont., General officer commanding the Eastern command. Other officers are Lt. Cols. H. E. Murray and F. J. G. VISCOUNT ALEXANDER HOPES TO TRAVEL ACROSS THE DOMINION

"Himself and Family Are Going Bag and Baggage, Right Down to the Children's Sheep Dog and Pups"

By JAMES McCOOK
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, April 1 (CP Cable) — Viscount Alexander, a veteran professional soldier who says he has "never been a political man" today set forth in an interview his hope that during his period as Governor-General of Canada he will be able to help encourage "Canadians' awareness of their great nationality, and of their wonderful position in the Commonwealth and in the world."

Lord Alexander sails for Canada April 5 to succeed the Earl of Athlone as Governor-General.

"I hope to travel all across the Dominion," he said. "I hope to start such travelling soon—within a few weeks after I arrive in Canada, if my other duties permit. I want to meet Canadians everywhere. I want by speeches and every other means in my power to encourage Canadians' awareness of their great nationality and their wonderful position in the Commonwealth and in the world."

The soldier who the late President Roosevelt called "Alex" and who has been the intimate of leading United States officers, including Gen. Eisenhower, Gen. Mark Clark and leading British figures in the war, hopes he will be able to serve Canada by bringing many of these men, his friends, to Canada as his guests.

GOING BAG AND BAGGAGE

"You see, Canada is to be my home for these years and we are going out bag and baggage: we are going out with all our family right down to the children's sheep dog and two pups," Lord Alexander grinned.

The Field Marshal's face looked youthful as he said: "I am looking forward to it. It is what I want to do. I know I will like it. I have known so many Canadians in the war and otherwise—and they have been very easy to get on with, friendly, matey and natural."

Lord Alexander regrets that French-speaking Canadians will find he is not as fluent in French as he would like to be, mainly because of a lack of practice in recent years.

"But I will become efficient in French; on that I am determine," he said.

His three children will go to Canadian schools. Rose, 13, Shane, 10, and Brian six, were unanimous in their enthusiasm for Canada. Already the boys have indicated their preference for future military services as Shane told his father at a luncheon recently that he wanted to go into the R. A. F. and Brian said his objective was the Royal Navy.

Lord Alexander, himself the heir to a long military tradition in his North of Ireland family, was a career soldier who started in the famed Irish Guards.

Nazi Underground Plot Is Grim Warning to Those Who Would Relax the Military Occupation

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

The Nazi underground plot to revive Hitlerism in Germany, disclosed during the weekend, is grim warning to those who would relax the military occupation that the Allied task of reformation is far from finished.

It's highly significant that this revolt centered in the Hitler Youth Movement, for that remains the core of the resistance to Allied authority. The dangerous element of the German population lies for the most part within the age range of from 14 to 35.

The Youth movement fanatics represent the toughest of the human problems which the Allies have in German rehabilitation. These young people—the most vital element in the Reich—are so thoroughly indoctrinated that there appears to be small hope of persuading many of them to a change of heart. They can be kept in hand only by force, for force is their God.

But the thing cuts deeper than that. Since this age group is largely lost to the Allies, the most effective educational reform must be made among the younger boys and girls. There our main hope lies, and that is where the Allies are concentrating heavily.

When I was at the war crimes trials at Nuernberg a short time ago I reported to you that the defence of former Reich Marshal Hermann Goering and some other prominent figures was directed fully as much towards whitewashing the Hitler regime as towards securing acquittal for those in the dock. Goering is quite resigned to conviction and is devoting his energy towards vindicating his government and thereby providing propaganda for a restoration.

The Youth Movement plot is not surprising. And it isn't the last thing of its kind which we shall see, because it is natural for a beaten people to try to overthrow their conquerors.

However, these hopes can be crushed by Allied solidarity and a demonstration that we have no intention of abandoning the program of occupation until Germany is reformed. That will take at least a generation, in the view of Allied experts and it may require even longer.

Frank Oliver Aboard Uganda on First Cruise

Leading Sick Bay Attendant Frank Oliver of Nelson was aboard the cruiser HMCS Uganda during the first call of her Latin America training cruise at Magdalena Bay, Lower California, Mexico. The ship was at Magdalena for more than a week in exercises.

LSBA. Oliver enlisted in the Navy in August 1940 and was called to duty in June, 1941. He was on convoy duty for three years during the war as a sick bay attendant.

A brother, Bain, who served in the Air Force, has been discharged and is now home in Nelson. He was overseas 2½ years.

Village of Bahia Magdalena benefitted from the visit of the cruiser by obtaining the services, for the first time in years, of doctor, dentist and priest. The ship's company gave the villagers 800 pounds of used clothing. It was the first time in 11 years a priest had visited the village.

Oliver was pictured with two other crew members in the Victoria Colonist examining the inner regions of a native woman's mouth.

Represents Self as Single, Should She Divorce Him?

By JANE ATKINSON

Dear Miss Atkinson:

I am 21 years old, and have been married two and a half years.

My husband was discharged from the Navy a year ago, and six months later he joined the Army as a single man without my knowing anything about it.

Do you think I should get my divorce?

Mrs. D.D.D.

I think the first thing you should do is to find out from your husband, if you can, just what his idea is anyhow. You say so little in your letter that it would be rather rash of anyone to answer your questions with either yes or no without knowing any more about your situation.

There must be a good deal more to the matter than you have indicated. You couldn't rush out and get a divorce on just what you have told me. I have never heard of anyone being able to file suit for divorce on the ground that her husband represented himself as a single man. If you care to write and tell me more about your problem, perhaps I can give you a more helpful answer.

Your Days as an Office Worker

By IDA JEAN KANE

Office girls are prone to blame the spread on the desk chair, and go merrily along overeating. So let's see what goes on. We'll say you are average height about five feet four, and weigh slightly over 145 pounds. Naturally you want to lose 20 pounds, 12 of them off the hips.

Well, in the course of twenty-four hours, a sedentary woman uses between 2000 and 2201 calories. You are certain you don't get that many. You never eat breakfast, just a sweet roll, or toast and jelly and coffee. Chalk up 400 calories. And not having had any breakfast to speak of, you figure you are entitled to a good lunch, but you only take a sandwich and coffee, another 400 calories, and of course, dessert. A worthwhile dessert piles up 300 to 400 sugar-coated calories, technically termed carbohydrates. Carbohydrates, when not needed, are stored in the liver and some in the muscles, ready for work. So back to the office where you burn about 100 calories per hour, or 400 in the course of the afternoon. See, you didn't need the cake calories!

After 5:00 it's time to relax, so perhaps you have a cocktail or two with friends, adding another 300 calories, just relaxing. Those calories are readily burned as you can tell from the warm glow, but in the meantime the dessert calories are busily turning into adipose tissue. If you eat peanuts, which seems to be a sort of reflex action, that's more calories. Ten peanuts, 50 calories! Twenty peanuts, 100 calories . . . and so on.

Now it's time for dinner. Taxi! My, you'd think there would be more taxies in this town! but here's the bus, let's take it to Murphy's where they have hot popovers. You study the menu carefully, mentally savoring each item and finally decide on the chicken fricassee with rice and gravy. Good, isn't it? Well, maybe you will have another hot popover. No seconds on butter Oh, apple butter? Fine. My, that cherry pie at the next table looks delicious, doesn't it. What are the rest of you having, the cherry pie? Make it three. And coffee.

Later do you bowl, swim or skate, or walk briskly? Not you, on at you're tired! Besides, Gregory Peck is on at the movies.

Of course you don't eat a big dinner complete with all the trimmings every night, maybe only a couple of nights a week. But it's easy to get 3000 or 3500 calories a day, and it takes only 4000 extra calories to add up to a pound. It's quite easy to gain a pound in two weeks.

What to do? Diet? No, just get a pattern of eating that fits your calorie requirements. Eat a better breakfast, with more protein and less starch—have fruit, an egg, one slice of toast and coffee. At lunch, eat the main course but skip dessert. You don't need dessert twice a day. If you are overweight you don't actually need any. Make it a rule to have dessert every other night. At dinner, take only one starch food, and keep the dinner calories within 600 if you are trying to lose. And don't call it a day until you take a trio of exercises to whittle the middle measurements.

Open B.C.-Wide Drive for Funds to Aid Children

VANCOUVER, April 1—A province-wide campaign to raise funds for sick and crippled children through the sale of Easter seals is announced by Louis Toban, project chairman for the Vancouver East Lions Club. Seals valued at 50 for $1 are being mailed to practically every home in British Columbia.

"The need behind this campaign is undeniable," stated Mr. Toban. "For instance, the Preventorium in Vancouver badly needs a new roof. The Crippled Children's Hospital needs new equipment and modern replacements, while the Queen Alexandra Solarium is handicapped by inadequate kitchen and laundry facilities."

Sick and crippled children from all over British Columbia are treated at these institutions.

The idea of the Easter seals is to make is easy for the public to support the drive. "If every family in B.C. buys at least a dollar's worth of seals, the fund will be able to carry on all necessary work for sick and crippled children," Mr. Toban stated.

Swans Coming in at Sirdar; Hawks, Coyotes Hunting

SIRDAR, B.C.—While deer are still plentiful and causing some nuisance around ranches, the influx of wildfowl to nearby breeding grounds has dwindled somewhat.

More swans, however, are coming in from time to time, most keeping to the bays of Kootenay Lake. More geese, than duck, are among the other newcomers.

Coyotes, while not seeming to keep deer away, are much in evidence doing night hunting in quest of waterfowl along the shores of the lake.

Very prevalent are hawks. Some have taken a small toll among chicken flocks.

LOW CHARGES THOUSANDS OF TEACHERS TAINTED BY COMMUNISM

Social Credit Hopes Contest Every B.C. Federal Seat

VANCOUVER, April 1 (CP) — Solon Low, National Leader of the Social Credit Party, asserted here today the teaching profession in Canada is "seriously infiltrated by Communism" and that an "underground Fascist movement" is active throughout the Dominion.

He made the charges in an interview after arriving to attend a two-day convention of the B.C. Social Credit Association.

Mr. Low, chieftain of the 13 Social Credit members of the House of Commons and President of the Social Credit Association of Canada, declared:

1. "From personal observation I know that the number of school teachers now tainted by Communistic thinking in Canada is up in the thousands. I have no idea how many thousands of children are having their minds poisoned as a result."

2. "Communism also is seeping into the press, radio and magazines—all outlets of information."

3. "In all these professions, Communist-minded persons are in the minority, and no group despises them more than their own colleagues who are still loyal to Canada and democracy."

FASCISTS ACTIVE

4. "The security of Canada is endangered from within by Communism right out in the open and by an underground Fascist movement. The Communists are daring, vocal and arrogant because they think Russia's ascendancy in the war gained world-wide support for the Russian variety of authoritarian Government. The Fascists are in hiding because of what happened to Germany, but they are active all over Canada."

Mr. Low said Social Credit solidarity in Canada "will not be hurt in the slightest" by the action taken Sunday night in Winnipeg where Paul Prince, President of the Manitoba Social Credit Organization, announced the group had severed all ties with the B.C. Association in Canada.

Said Mr. Low: "This does not surprise me at all. Mr. Prince has refused all along to cooperate. His group represents only about 200 persons, anyway, and the number of Social Credit supporters in Manitoba who oppose him is several thousand. A great many dissident groups have sprung up, all of whom are dissatisfied with the static leadership of Mr. Prince."

DISTURBING FIND

Referring to Russian espionage in Canada, Mr. Low said the thing he finds most "disquieting" is that most of the people allegedly involved "are members of the intelligentsia, rather than the riffraff."

The 46-year-old former Southern Alberta high-school principal, Canada's youngest national party leader, offered his brief definition of Social Credit:

"It means a complete democracy wherein the full production of our country is made possible of distribution among all the people. It means free enterprise raised to the highest level—on the principle that the individual, not the state, is of supreme importance."

Mr. Low said Social Credit hopes to contest every B.C. seat in the next Federal election, "and my information is that we will be just as active in the Provincial field, too."

St. Fagan Castle, Welsh Seat of Earl of Plymouth Offered as Gift to the National Museum of Wales

By JOHN DAUPHINEE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

St. Fagans Castle, Welsh seat of the Earl of Plymouth, has been offered as a gift to the National Museum of Wales, for use as the heart of a new "field museum."

The Earl of Plymouth's generosity will make possible a 20-year-old plan of the museum trustees. Rooms of the mansion would contain period furniture from Elizabethan times to the present. As funds permit, suitable old houses of various dates and character, condemned to destruction for various reasons, would be pulled down, and rebuilt on the museum site.

St. Fagans Castle, an interesting Tudor mansion house built inside an outer wall of an old Norman fortress, forms the centre of a picturesque rural village only four miles from Cardiff. The site has been occupied more than eight centuries.

No rush: There wasn't any business boom when hotels in Scotland got back the right to sell drinks on Sunday without selling meals to go with them.

The ban on drinks without meals was a wartime measure and it was lifted without fanfare one recent weekend.

That Sunday, hotelkeepers said, was the quietest since gasoline became available for private motoring. Some blamed it on the weather; some said people didn't know about the change.

But none of the hotels was worrying much. Even in Scotland where whisky is a big industry there isn't enough drink to go around.

"We just haven't the supplies to serve motorists passing through," said one hotelkeeper in Level.

Water power: East Yorkshire is going out to sea—more than three yards of the coastline every year, C. F. Johnson, Burlington, Yorkshire, Surveyor, is worried about it.

Use Spring Produce To Pep Up Appetites

Most of us are experiencing the first twinges of spring fever these days, and appetites aren't always what they should be. But, we've found that the early spring produce does wonders toward putting zip into menus. Here are some of my favorite ways with the just-arrived fruits and vegetables.

GLAZED SPRING CARROTS

We like to serve these with broiled ham or spring lamb chops.

Scrub 18 to 20 small young carrots with a stiff brush. Cook in a small amount of boiling salted water until tender; drain. Melt 4 tablespoons butter and 2 tablespoons sugar in a frying pan. Add carrots and cook slowly, turning and basting frequently, about 10 minutes or until glazed and shiny in appearance. Serve hot. Serves 6.

WILTED SPINACH

An old favorite in many families is wilted lettuce; here's something similar, using early spring spinach.

Wash young tender spinach well; tear leaves into small pieces. Place in a hot serving dish or salad bowl. Sprinkle with salt and pepper and let stand a few minutes to wilt slightly. Heat together 2 or 3 tablespoons bacon drippings, ¼ cup vinegar, and a dash of mustard and sugar. When mixture begins to boil, pour over spinach and toss lightly to mix. Garnish with chopped green onion, hard-cooked egg slices and radishes. Serve at once. Serves 6.

GREEN BEANS IN MUSHROOM SAUCE

Here's a good way to stretch a pound of new green beans so it will serve six.

Cook green beans in boiling salted water 20 minutes or until tender. In a saucepan, season a can of condensed cream of mushroom soup with 1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce and a little grated onion. Thin with liquid from beans, if desired. Heat soup, stirring until smooth. Add beans and heat through. Serves 6.

RHUBARB UPSIDE-DOWN CAKE

Most families go for upside-down cake, but they'll consider it a special treat when it's made with rhubarb.

Arrange 3 cups diced rhubarb in a well-greased 8"x8"x2" cake pan. Sprinkle with 1½ cups sugar combined with 2 tablespoons corn starch. (I like to use half brown sugar and half granulated.) Mix up your favorite plain or sponge cake recipe and pour over rhubarb. Bake in moderate (350° F.) oven 30 to 40 minutes or until done. Invert on rack to cool. To serve, cut in squares and top with whipped cream.

Future Depends on Inflation Check—Truman

WASHINGTON, April 1 (AP)—Stabilization Director Chester Bowles told the American Retail Federation today that by mid-1947 "the great bulk of our price control task will have been completed." But Rep. L. Crawford (Rep.-Mich.) asserted there will be no end of price control if the Office of Price Administration is kept in being as long as there is excess buying power and high employment and wages.

The convention also received a message from President Truman declaring the United States is on the threshold of an era "in which we can enjoy the highest standards of living this nation has ever dreamed of." That standard, his message said, "means good returns for business, for workers and for farmers."

"That is our goal, but to reach that goal we cannot now relax our vigil against the inflationary forces which threaten the stability of our economy; if we fail we will never pass the threshold of that bright future toward which we all look ahead."

Commerce Secretary Wallace said in a speech that the Government "must not, and it need not, try to get full employment by means of a controlled economy."

"I recognize fully," he continued, "that if we want people to produce we must give them reasons and incentives to produce and adequate reward for their achievements."

TO ASK RESORT OWNERS TO TAKE UP FIRST AID

VICTORIA, April 1 (CP) — The B. C. Government Travel Bureau will recommend that resort owners throughout British Columbia take an active interest in first aid work by enrolling in the St. John Ambulance Association.

This action was decided on at a meeting last week of the B. C. Tourist Council.

The meeting felt that resort-owners could afford a much-needed service and protection to the travelling public by qualifying in first aid work.

VANCOUVER, April 1 (CP)—Nanaimo Army Camp, largest wartime training area on Vancouver Island, will close April 14, it was announced here today by headquarters officers of Military District No. 11.

The closing will end the 5½ year history of a camp that grew from a small tent area in the fall of 1940 to become a complete infantry brigade centre before the war ended.

It's Navy All the Way

It's navy all the way for Spring, first choice alike of women who have costumes specially designed for them, and of career and college girls. Ethel Smith, that enchantress of the electric organ, makes colorful, exciting music, but when it comes to clothes she goes in for monotone outfits. Here she is, ready for Spring. The navy blue satin suit is designed to accentuate Mis Smith's tiny waistline. The slightly flared skirt is topped by a beaded blouse of pale blue crepe. A fluff of pale blue ostrich trims the navy blue satin bonnet. Blue suede shoes and gloves and a blue satin envelope bag conclude this attractive outfit.

Soft Coal Stoppage Begins for 400,000 Miners With Termination of Contract, Steel Affected

PITTSBURGH, April 1 (AP)— A work stoppage by soft coal miners of the United States, backing up the traditional "no contract, no work" policy of the American federation of Labor United Mine Workers, began today for 400,000 workers whose collective bargaining contract expired at midnight.

CALM SETTLED OVER FIELDS

Calm settled over the coal fields. President John L. Lewis of the union, said there would be no picketing. Rationing of coal was started on government orders to insure supplies for urgent uses. The stoppage in production, if prolonged, threatened to disrupt the country's reconversion program. Already, one major steel company announced it would have to bank 20 blast furnaces.

The beginning of the work stoppage found members of the union ready for a holiday anyway—their annual celebration of April 1 in honor of John Mitchell, one of the union's earliest presidents, and to commemorate the 48th anniversary of the eight-hour day. Actually, the effects of the strike therefore will not be felt until tomorrow.

President Lewis' principal demand from the coal industry is the establishment of a health and welfare fund for miners, to be created from an assessment on each ton of coal produced and to be administered by the union. The operators balked. The National Coal Association said such a "royalty payment would make Lewis "a dictator more powerful than any America has ever known."

Lewis refused to discuss other major isues of wages and hours until the welfare fund question is settled.

Hope was held out that the stoppage would be brief. Operators and union representatives remained in Washington to continue negotiations.

Principally affected are the pivotal coal producing states of Pennsylvania and West Virginia, employing one-half of the soft coal miners.

The government took over control of shipment and distribution of soft coal under orders of the Solid Fuels Administration. Retailers were directed to distribute supplies only to such consumrs as gas plants hospitals and householders having less than 10 days' supply, and industrial concerns with less than five days' supply.

TO HEAD YOUNG PROGRESSIVE CONSERVATIVES

OTTAWA, April 1 (CP) — E. E. Fulon of Kamloops, B.C., was elected president of the Young Progressive Conservatives Association Saturday, following a two-day meeting held in conjunction with the Dominion Progressive Conservative annual meeting.

The Young Progressive Conservatives passed resolutions condemning the government for "violating the rights and liberties of Canadians" in its spy investigation; urging that veterans in urban areas be given advantages similar to those extended under the Veterans Land Act, and asking federal aid for education without interference in administration.

WIDE SUPPORT FOR PEACE RAIL OUTLET

By D'ARCY O'DONNELL
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA, April 1 (CP)—An almost perennial resolution urging the government to build a railway outlet from the Peace River District of British Columbia and Alberta drew support today from Western members of all party affiliations as the Commons devoted its sitting to private members' business for the first time this session.

The resolution was moved by William Irvine (CCF-Cariboo) and drew support from M. J. Coldwell, C.C.F. leader; Howard Green (PC-Vancouver South); Thomas Reid (L-New Westminster); W. F. Kuhl (SC-Jasper-Edson); J. M. Decliene (L-Athabaska); Arthur Smith (PC-Calgary West); Maj. E. D. Fulton (PC-Kamloops), and Lt.-Col. Cecil Merritt V.C., (PC-Vancouver Burrard).

Mr. Irvine said every political party, including his own, had promised to build a rail outlet from the Peace River District to the Pacific Coast but the governments which gained power had done nothing about it.

Mr. Coldwell said Canada could not hope to hold such a rich area as the Peace River District if she did not develop it. He felt the line should be operated by the Canadian National Railways. But if the line proved unprofitable at first parliament should remember that it had placed the burden on the railway and should not criticize the operation.

Mr. Green, supporting the motion on his own behalf and on that of the Progressive Conservative Party, urged the government to throw out the out-dated idea that no another mile of railway should be built in Canada. Railways were needed to meet the country's expansion.

Mr. Kuhl said he had been asked by Solon Low, Social Credit leader and member for Peace River, to support the project. Mr. Low was unavoidably absent from the House.

Mr. Kuhl said any such outlet was primary for the purpose of serving the people of that area and if proceeded with would improve the economic standards of the people by lowering the costs of transportation.

VALUABLE RESOURCES

Mr. Duchene said a railway outlet to the Pacific would serve not only the Peace River District but also the whole of the Northwestern areas. He said Canada had vast and valuable deposits of oil and coal in those areas.

Many years ago he had asked Canadian Pacific Railway officials if they were interested in developing lines in Northeastern Alberta and Northwestern Saskatchewan. They said they were not interested but five years later they were seeking charters for those very lines.

Mr. Smith said Progressive Conservatives in Alberta were "most heartily" in favor of the resolution.

Col. Merritt said those who had spoken on the matter were Westerners but they spoke as Canadians.

He noted that Mr. Irvine had expressed preference for a government-built railway. He personally did not care who built the line as long as it was built.

The government should not feel the demand was for a unprofitable railway to serve just one area. It was part of a vast program for the development of all Canada.

If settlers could be assured of adequate transportation facilities the great Northern areas soon would become populated.

Mr. Coldwell said the project was a matter of "national concern." The area involved contained vast riches and yet only a sparse population.

Canada should have a program to open up that Northern country because a nation could not hope to hold such a rich area if she did not develop it.

The average amount of electricity in a lightning flash is far less than the amount that can be charged into a storage battery.

An Empire Scientific Conference

An Empire Scientific Conference, to be opened by His Majesty the King, will be held in London, Cambridge and Oxford in June and July. While the greatest good will has always existed between those engaged in scientific research in different parts of the Empire, collaboration has been largely restricted to a discussion of particular problems in pure and applied science between individual workers in narrow fields. The war brought into being the British Commonwealth Scientific Office, one of whose tasks was to survey the broad problems of wartime science as they arose in different parts of the Empire, so that the approach to the United States for the interchange of scientific opinion might be coordinated. Within the Empire, the scientific problems of peace, both technical and academic, are however no less pressing than those of war. There are, for instance, urgent questions of medicine, especially tropical medicine, agriculture, nutritional science, and the world fishing industry, while in the more academic field, radio communications and cosmic rays present problems which can only be solved by joint efforts in all parts of the globe.

Imperial scientific collaboration was first put on an official basis with the foundation of the Imperial Institute in 1878. The outstanding example of a centralized organization working for the benefit of the whole Empire is the Council of Imperial Agricultural Bureaux formed in 1929 to administer bureaus in Britain which act as clearing houses for information on such subjects as soil, science, animal health and forestry. Since 1942, the Dominions have had scientific representatives in London, and United Kingdom scientists have been working in Ottawa. In 1941 a British Central Scientific Office was set up in Washington to facilitate scientific exchange with the U.S.A. When the office was reinforced by missions from all the Dominions, the name was changed to the British Commonwealth Scientific Office. A proposal from the Dominions' missions that cooperation should be continued in peacetime and something like the B.C.S.O. set up in London, will be one of the matters to be discussed at the coming conference.

The latter is the outcome of wartime visits by Professor Hill to India and Sir Henry Tizard to Australia and Canada, which were followed by the appointment by the Royal Society of a committee to consider post-war Empire scientific collaboration. At the Royal Society's conference the scientists will discuss their problems as individuals, but this will be followed by a Commonwealth Scientific Official Conference to discuss collaboration on scientific matters of direct interest to the Commonwealth Governments. The latter conference will be organized by three United Kingdom Government departments—the Department of Scientific and Industrial Research, the Agricultural Research Council, and the Medical Research Council. Concurrently, the Imperial Agricultural Bureaux will be holding a review conference.

CONTENTMENT

Contentment is natural wealth, luxury is artificial poverty.—Socrates.

Happiness consists, not in possessing much, but in being content with what we possess. He who wants little always has enough.—Zimmermann.

You traverse the world in search of happiness, which is within reach of every man; a contented mind confers it all.—Horace.

Better is the frugal intellectual repast with contentment and virtue, than the luxury of learning with egotism and vice.—Mary Baker Eddy.

Against diseases the strongest fence is the defensive virtue, abstinence.—Herrick.

ON THE SIDE

By E. V. DURLING

What though the unequal lot
To some makes sweet,
To some makes bitter dole;
Though life gives way and sinks
Beneath your feet,
Should that dismay the soul?
Be like the bird that, on the branch at rest
For a brief moment, sings;
For though the frail branch bends beneath her breast
She knows that she has wings.
—Hugo.

From boyhood on, lanky fellows, usually sensitive souls, have a tough time of it. They are saddled with such nicknames as "Stretch" and "Stringbean," and suffer from a repetition of the corny crack: "How is the weather up there?"

Upon reaching manhood they are confronted with the claim that men with long legs rarely live to a ripe old age. Their comfort is ignored in street cars and buses, as the distance between the seats is never long enough to accommodate their legs. They have a hard time finding clothes that will fit them. To add to the distress of the lengthy fellows a captious female celebrity recently observed as previously quoted here: "Long-legged men make poor lovers." The sad part of it is this opinion, or a somewhat similar one, may be widespread among the female of the species, as witness the following excerpt from a communication from a young woman of Los Angeles: "I would not say that tall men are exactly poor lovers. I would shade that a trifle and say they aren't as good as the shorter men."

SIDELIGHTS

Am asked who wrote the song "Fancy You Fancying Me." That is by the British songwriter, Bert Lee. . . . "A dog loves his folks—a cat loves the property," writes a Long Islander. "Take a cat to a new home and she is never satisfied. She gets catty about it and makes her owner's life miserable."

MOTHERS-IN-LAW

A course of instruction on how to get along with a mother-in-law. That is what was made available to English girls who married during the war and were about to sail to this country to meet their husbands' folks. A bit of expert advice on how to get along with a mother-in-law might be of great value to all brides. At present only one wife in 40 is really on good terms with her husband's mother. One young woman, who gets along well with her mate's mama, says a bride can get off to a good start by immediately addressing her mother-in-law as: "Mother." Later on she says it is an excellent idea to continually ask the mother-in-law for advice on how to bring up the baby.

STARGAZERS

Virgos (Aug. 24-Sept. 23) make the best secretaries. They are intelligent, shrewd, discerning and practical. Are capable of giving the boss good advice. Stand for no funny business during office hours. More Virgo secretaries marry the boss than those of any other sign. Taurus (April 21-May 21) are only good as secretaries for men in colorful and interesting activities; such as film or stage producers. The dull, insipid routine of the average business office drives a Taurus girl wild. Is of an affectionate nature. If she likes her employer is not above giving him a good morning kiss. Leo (July 24-Aug. 23) women make brilliant secretaries but rarely stay long in one office. They suffer from wanderlust; not only change jobs but cities. The Leo girls are very clever in looking after their own interests. They usually achieve success by getting in right with the right people. Or so claim the stargazers.

ASKING

Query from client. Q. How about the famous pets of famous people? Can you name a few outstanding examples? Did any great man have a duck for a pet as I have? A. Don't know of any celebrity who had a pet like yours. However, Dante had a cat that held a candle for his master while the latter wrote. Dante Gabrielle Rossetti, poet and painter, had a pet elephant which he kept tied up in the front yard of his London home. Of course, you know about Byron's Newfoundland dog "Boatswain" and Elizabeth Barrett Browning's cocker spaniel "Flash." The owner of the celebrated and unbeaten British race-horse, "Eclypse," an Irishman whose name escapes me, had an unusual parrot. During the races, in which the master's thoroughbred figured, this remarkable bird would peer at the horses coming down the stretch and shriek: "Eclipse first, and the rest nowhere." This parrot could also recite the Twenty-third Psalm in very solemn and impressive fashion.

WIVES STRIKE

Disgruntled British home managers, who believe a housewife should be paid a regular salary by her husband, are threatening to strike. The husbands, unmoved by the threat, say if their wives revolt they will call upon "strike-breakers" to handle the household duties. Some husbands have further enraged their wives by audibly viewing with pleasure the prospect of having a comely blonde or brunette strike-breaker take over the domestic duties. Other husbands say they will handle the job themselves. This latter action might present the most danger to the future peace of mind of a home manager. A clever husband might approach the household tasks with such a degree of efficiency that he would finish the work in half the time his wife takes to do it. His wife would never hear the last of that. Her future protests as to the hardships of housework would fall on unsympathetic ears. That would, indeed, be a tragedy.

Hockey Fan, Nelson—Under what circumstances in hockey is the penalty for icing the puck by a team not inferior in numbers to the opposing team, not enforced?

Rules in force in Canadian amateur hockey this season specify five instances in which a puck shot from one half of the ice to the goal line or beyond in the other half, by a team at least of the numerical strength of its opponent, is not to be brought back and faced off in the rink end spot of the team by which it was propelled. They are:

61, (a) If the puck so shot enters the net of the defending team, the play is allowed and a goal entered.

61 (b) If the shot is the result of a faceoff.

61 (c) If a player of the defending team, other than the goalie, could have played the puck before it reached the goal line.

61 (d) If the puck touch any part of a player of the defending side, except the goalie, before reaching the goal line.

61 (e) If the shot is intended as a pass to one of the attacking side but is missed.

The rule penalizing "icing the puck" was made to prevent deliberate slowing down of the game. After it was in force for many years, the deliberate avoidance of playing the puck by the defence in order to allow it to reach the penalty shot line—from its point of origin those days in the defending zone of the attacking team—became such an abuse that about 1939 the defending team was penalized for such avoidance, by the play being allowed to proceed uninterrupted.

Further exceptions in the present rules all are in the line of fairness, and of penalizing styles of play, whether of offence or defence, that slow down the game.

Puzzled, Nelson—Have been follower of this column for some considerable time and read with interest, and for the first year in many am completely lost as to how to compute my income tax, and wonder if you would help me out. My total earnings for year less donations to the Red Cross amounted to $2740.29, I am married and have one dependent son, my employers deducted the amount of $314.57 during the year, and I would like to know what income tax I would have to pay?

You would have to pay $23.35 plus 80 per cent of money received for children's allowance if any. If you do not receive children's allowance your income tax would be the straight $23.35.

THE FORGOTTEN ARMY

Many members of the old reserve army which kept itself in readiness to cope with any emergency on the British Columbia Coast for the last five years are unostentatiously shedding their uniforms and returning to full civilian life.

All that time they devoted two nights a week, their weekends and their Summer vacations to training. In this Province they numbered several battalions of a well-equipped and efficient defence force, ready to go on active service and ready to defend B.C. had the Japanese attempted an invasion of this Coast.

Many reserve men graduated to the active overseas army, others were veterans of the last war anxious to help the war effort in the best way they could, and others were of an age that kept them out of active service. By training and enthusiasm they became a valuable second line of defence.

The reserve army is not being disbanded, but it is being reorganized and most of those who stood on guard through the war years are turning in their gear. It would have been a fitting gesture and an indication of the country's gratitude had they been accorded a parade and an honorable stand-down as was done with the Pacific Coast Rangers. A special badge, medal or ribbon to honor their voluntary service would also be in order. But failing that the reserve army should know they have the thanks and full appreciation of their fellow-citizens.—Vancouver Province.

World Military Forces Dwindle in Hopes UNO to Keep Peace

By RUSSELL LANDSTROM

LONDON, April 1 (AP)—The great armies, navies and air forces of 1939-45 are melting away in a world hopeful that the United Nations will be able to keep the peace.

An Associated Press survey shows that misunderstandings, fears, unrest and the urge of independence movements have kept the military spirit alive in some parts of the world but that the general tendency is to muster out of service as many men as is consistent with national safety, retaining diminished but highly trained forces. This is especially true of smaller and more vulnerable countries which, in the event of future storms, could not long stand alone, however expanded their armies might be.

This is what is happening in the various lands:

United States — slimmed down from a peak of 12,000,000 men on V-E Day to 4,725,000, including 2,800,000 Army, 1,700,000 Navy and 225,000 Marine Corps.

Available figures for the future call for a minimum army of 1,500,000 by July 1, with 375,000 in the Pacific areas and 307,000 in European occupation forces. In prospect also is a further reduction to between 1,000,000 and 1,200,000 regulars within the year thereafter, that army to be buttressed by a national guard of 600,000.

The army airforce has a goal of 400,000 men in 70 operating groups to be brought to full efficiency by Dec. 31. At the close of 1945 the airforce had 44,782 planes.

The Navy proposes to reduce its manpower to 950,000 by July and to a permanent personnel of 500,000 by September. Admiral Chester Nimitz has asked congress for the retention of 1,079 ships with 319 major combat vessels in operation. The marines plan to reduce their numbers to 108,000.

Great Britain—By the end of 1946 nearly 5,000,000 men and women will have been released, with active strength reduced to 650,000 but with Britain ready to participate liberally in UNO Security Pool.

NEW FORCE TO EXCEED PRE-WAR

Canada—Expects to have repatriation of troops completed by August or September and demobilization finished by October or November. Entered war with army of 5000 men, and air force of under 3000 and a navy of less than 1500. This was built to an army of 495,000 air force of 250,000 and navy of 90,000. Plans post-war army of 255,000, air force of 16,100 and navy of 10,000. No decision yet exactly what forces will be available to the UNO., but Defence Minister Abbott said the permanent army would include a "striking force" of 10,000 men formed into an outsize airborne brigade, which he indicated might well be offered to the UNO.

Russia — Demobilizing several million men but keeping large proportion of officer corps on active duty. No reason to doubt she intends to keep fully adequate forces against possibility of any future upheavals and to contribute whatever force required by UNO. Has just announced demobilization of six new classes in addition to 23 classes in higher age groups previously announced. Five year plan provides for strengthening and maintaining large forces.

Australia—Armed strength which totalled 593,510 last summer expected to be cut to 133,500 by the end of June. Government will rely on voluntary enlistments to fulfill commitments concerning occupation of Japan and garrisoning of islands. Determination of future policy deferred pending peace settlements, determination of UNO obligations and private British Commonwealth defense discussions.

New Zealand — Fewer than 20,000 men under arms at home but emphasized officially that New Zealand recognizes obligations to help maintain peace. Four thousand other New Zealanders sent from Italy to Japan as part of British Commonwealth occupation force. Men still being demobilized but no decision announced regarding permanent strength of the services.

MODERN FORCE FOR INDIA

India—Demobilization of both British and Indian armies has not been hampered by recent unrest. However, British are estimated at four or five times their pre-war strength of 30,000. With the independence question presenting many imponderables, the Commander-in-Chief, Gen. Auchinleck, has been proceeding on the assumption that any future government of India would desire a modern, mechanized army. Post-war Indian army expected to be close to 300,000 or nearly double prewar strength, and modernized.

Consequently, India's own program calls for demobilization on one hand and a building up of strength on the other. Relationship to UNO wrapped up in delicate political situation.

Egypt — Britain maintaining substantial army, naval and air force of unannounced strength. American forces reduced to a few thousand in Egypt and skeleton crews at air bases in French Morocco, Tripolitania and Saudi Arabia along the global air route. Egypt increased its army by about 20,000 from 1936 to 1945, now plans an additional increase of 50,000. This is intended to discourage the argument that British forces are needed to defend Suez Sanal. Egypt prepared to contribute its share to UNO.

China— Chinese armed forces now numbering 6,000,000 to 7,000,000 will be reduced to 1,512,000 in 12 months and to 840,000 in 18 months under an agreement between Central government and Communists. Peacetime standing national force will be made up of 60 divisions of 14,000 men, 50 central government divisions and 10 Communist.

France—Has just decided not to call up the classes from 1939 to 1945, and cabinet will decide when to call the class of 1946. Demobilization rapid. On March 1 army totalled 668,000, a reduction of 200,000 from December. An additional 120,000 were expected to be demobilized by the end of April.

Italy—Immediate future of armed forces and extent of its services to UNO—of which it is not yet a member—depends on peace treaty. Army being reorganized to embrace 140,000 men, with nucleus of British-trained and equipped divisions that fought in final drive against the Germans in Northern Italy.

Belgium—Building up post-war army. After Germans dissolved the Belgium army, the only forces were a brigade of parachute troops, a unit attached to the R. A. F. and another to the Royal Navy, some 6000 men in all. As operations developed in Europe 65,000 volunteered. These are being demobilized. Rebuilding of army started several months ago. New units, together with those still under arms, make a total force of 100,000. Will be used for occupation of Germany and any other task UNO may request.

HOLLAND—Slowly reconstructing armed forces which at time of German invasion numbered 300,000. Now there are approximately 90,000 men in uniform, 20,000 of them in Indonia. 10,000 are training in Britain, and the rest are in the homeland. Reconstruction retarded by lack of equipment.

PLAN PROTECTION

Norway—Bitterly remembering sufferings under Germans, country determined to make defenses stronger than ever before. Will use conscription and streamlined, scientific techniques. Research of organization this year; 10,000 out of 24,000-man army may be sent to Germany to assist British occupation troops.

Sweden—Will retain an army of 64,000. Not yet a member of UNO.

Finland—Bound by the terms of its armistice with Russia to demobilize, it is permitted only 3000 professional soldiers plus a single class of recruits estimated at 18,000 men.

Poland—Has mustered out 50 per cent of wartime strength, and intends to keep 230,000 to protect frontiers and guarantee internal security, or approximately half of the 1939 strength. In addition some 100,000 military men supplement regular army. Feels an army sufficient to protect its borders, particularly the Western ones, will constitute a major contribution to UNO.

Czechoslovakia—Except for professional soldiers most troops that served with Russians in the East and with British and Americans in the West have been demobilized. Adhering to traditional policy of compulsory military service however, Czechs are striving to create a new army, stressing mechanization and mobility and accepting Russian methods. Political leaders say country is prepared to fulfill any UNO assignment.

Hungary—Will abide by armistice terms affecting army, but would like to have 69,000 based on conscription. Present force is 30,000. Officials assert nation would be glad to allot troops—even all of them—to the United Nations.

AWAIT PEACE TREATIES

Romania—Military future depends on peace treaty. Wants "a small, highly mechanized army of defence with a small air force equipped with the latest type bombers and fighters and almost nothing but a commercial main" service, Gen. Vasiliu Rascunu the War Minister said, adding:

"We would be proud to contribute Romanian forces to a UNO army." Total effectives estimated at between 170,000 and 200,000 reduced from war peak of 500,000.

Bulgaria — Full demobilization carried out.

Greece — Entirely without an army a year ago, now has about 64,000 men. Future undetermined and question of contribution to UNO not yet discussed.

Turkey — Still fully mobilized with a military strength of about 1,000,000. View current situation, no indication when these forces may be cut.

Portugal—Another neutral. Has been demobilizing steadily. Soon it is expected, a regular ground and air force of 30,000 plus naval protection will be enough for defense.

AVIATION NEWS and VIEWS

By EDGAR BAUMAN

NAVAL AIR STATION, ANACOSTIA, D.C.—For almost an hour we've been sitting in the darkened gymnasium of this air base watching the screens of specially constructed television sets and enjoying the somewhat eerie if not weird experience of watching a televised photo coming from a plane that was at the moment diving at the building in which the demonstration was taking place!

Two airborne television systems developed for secret wartime purposes by scientists of the United States Navy, the Radio Corporation of America and the National Broadcasting Company, have just come off of the restricted list and the press demonstration here leaves nothing to the imagination after seeing these systems of sight transmission which open extensive fields of usefulness in civilian and military activities. Even the hard boiled old timers, agreed that this was one of the most amazing spectacles they'd ever witnessed.

Naval authorities assigned a fast, high flying JM-1 Maurauder to the demonstration. It carried transmitting units capable of sending high-quality, bright and clear television pictures up to 200 miles. As we sat here and watched, the plane cruised over Baltimore, then soared on to Annapolis, picking up scenes and action along the way and transmitting the images directly to the screens arranged before us.

Then, proceeding to a rendezvous, miles away, the plane trained its television eyes on mock combat scenes that might have been duplicated in real battle only a few months ago—dive bombing, laying smoke screens, strafing, and dog fights, with the pilots executing unrehearsed commands from this room to test the effectiveness of last minute changes made necessary by the simulated turn of events as they progressed. Instantly, the screens here came alive with pictures of the action and we all became eye-witnesses of events that were actually beyond the horizon. In this manner, command posts of the future will be able to instantly see combat action in distant terrain and make immediate tactical decisions.

"RING" AND "BLOCK"

The airborne systems have been classified by the Navy with the code names of "Ring" and "Block." The "Ring" designates the type of television camera that is mounted in such a position, that the "photographer" can swing his camera in any and all directions, with the same freedom of motion as a newsreel camera, while the "Block" is a fixed camera, usually installed in the nose of the plane and focused merely by "aiming" the plane at whatever the pilot wishes to televise and transmit to his base.

During the period while the Ring-equipped plane was en route to the target area, two smaller planes each equipped with the shorter range, light-weight Block installations picked up scenes along the Potomac and over the capital, demonstrating another system of airborne television which has vast possibilities for usefulness to peacetime enterprises.

General David Sarnoff, President of RCA, declared that these airborne television systems represented monumental progress in widening television's scope of service and usefulness in civilian life. For instance, one of the most revolutionary possibilities would be television news coverage over short and long distances from planes and helicopters with transmission of instantaneous "eye witness" views of fires, floods, disasters or happier events of public interest.

"WALKIE-LOOKIE"

At this point he incidentally also mentioned the development of a "walkie-lookie" — a light weight, easily portable television camera with which a reporter might cover news events of the man on the street as readily as he does now with his Speed Graphic. Many of us tendered orders for one of 'em, including a deposit. Nothing doing—yet!

Another application would be safeguarding lives of test pilots by replacing them in experimental planes of supersonic speeds, or any planes, for that matter, in which there is an element of risk. The airborne television equipment not only can give "eyes" to the planes but can also transmit to control headquarters complete-down-to-the-second readings of the instruments and testing gear.

Also possible is the use by police for traffic control at the approach to large cities where vehicular congestion occurs because of sudden fluctuations of outgoing or incoming traffic. A television equipped police plane could keep headquarters posted on exact conditions in each area and arrangements for relief can certainly be made more quickly when the comptroller can see for himself in a screen on his desk, just what is taking place!

This is all possible because the television pick-up and transmitting equipment that once might have filled a large room was re-designed, modified and built to suitcase compactness. In fact, one entire unit, as now built by the Navy and RCA weights but 50 pounds! Out on the flight strip a few minutes ago I inspected a camera in the nose of the RCA flying laboratory and it's not much larger than the big old Graflex I used to drag around with me several years ago!

For the more technical minded I'll just mention in passing that pictures obtained in the "Block" equipment are viewed by the control operator on the screen of a special kinescope in a monitoring receiver. It's similar to that used in home television receivers. This unit produces 40 frames a second in sequential scanning with 350 lines on the receiving screen. Its transmitter has a peak output of 60 watts at 264 to 372 megacycles and special transmitting antennas have been designed for each of its ten workable channels. The receiver unit has two breadband antennas.

About half way through the demonstration one of the pilots was heard reporting that he'd spotted a forest fire several miles North of the city and that he'd circle so that we too could see it! Spokesmen stated that while these television cameras would not be able to penetrate fog, haze, or darkness, they had, however, been able to televise images illuminated by the light of a candle!

Since we were in a sense "in the cockpit" of the Navy Block plane, it was quite a sensation for many of us to watch what seemed to be a perilously close approach to the chimneys of a nearby power house. A crash seemed absolutely unavoidable. A young Navy announcer mentioned over the public address system that "an illusion of closeness is created by these cameras, but they're really quite a bit higher than they seem to be." Then realizing that the Secretary of the Navy was present, as well as Admirals, and other high ranking officials, a split second later, he quickly added, "Sir"!!

Corporal Held In Search for Escaped Convict

CALGARY, April 1 (CP)—Corporal R. J. (Tiny) Morgan of the Canadian Army was arrested at Currie Barracks here today and police said the soldier is being held in connection with a search for Ralph J. V. Selz who escaped from prison in California in May, 1945. Selz had served nine years of a life sentence for first degree murder when he escaped.

Morgan will be brought before City Judge J. M. McDonald this afternoon for extradition proceedings. John S. Mavor is acting for the State of California.

The arrest by the R.C.M.P. came as a shock to Morgan's mess-mates at Currie Barracks where the 31-year-old corporal has been a part-time education instructor since last Summer. His officers described him as "a brilliant man," and said that he spoke four or five languages.

Ralph J. V. Selz, alias Ralph Sells, alias Slipton J. Fell, alias Charles Oliver, alias Ralph Jerome Sells, was convicted of first-degree murder at Redwood City, Calif., on March 12, 1936, and sent to San Quentin Penitentiary to serve a sentence of life imprisonment.

On May 23, 1944, Selz was transferred to the California Institution for Men at Chino, Calif., and it is understood here that he made his escape from the institution.

CLAIMS ACCUSED SAID HE LIKED JAPANESE

WINNIPEG, April 1 (CP) — Five Winnipeg Grenadiers testified today at the general court martial of CSM. Marcus Tugby of that regiment that they had seen him slap or strike Allied prisoners of war in Oeyama camp in Japan.

The 29-year-old warrant officer faces 19 charges of collaboration with the enemy, obtaining more than his share of Red Cross parcels, improperly depriving fellow prisoners of Red Cross comforts, stealing, improper exercise of disciplinary power, assault and striking prisoners.

The sixth witness heard was Maj. H. M. S. G. Beadnell of the British Army staff, Ottawa, who was captured at Singapore and arrived at Oeyama in June 1944. He said at no time after about the end of 1944 had he authorized Tugby to carry out any punishments.

He quoted Tugby as saying he liked the Japanese and Japan and would like to stay there after the war.

errific total of 339 goals -game season, F.A.C. in mes scored 171, just over 71 is just half of 340, of actual total was short goals. Dodgers, in 1943-44, scored 134 out of a total of 201 scored in 30 games. As the Dodgers played in one game out of every two, and F.A.C. in one game out of every 2½, these figures cannot be compared, but they mark the top team scoring performances yet recorded in Nelson Bantam hockey.

A feature of the F.A.C. scoring was the remarkable number of assists marked up, only four below the figure of the goals—167 assists on 171 goals. Nothing like this has been recorded before. The great majority of the F.A.C. goals were produced by combination play, most of them had assists, and many had double assists. For example, 20 of the goals scored by the string of Jimmie Todd, Roddy Carmichael, and Ronnie Brown involved all three of those players, and were good for 40 assists; in other words, those 20 goals represented 60 scoring points, which throws light on the terrific F.A.C. total of 338 scoring points, out of the league total of 609.

NINE STRING RECORDS

Nine new Bantam string records were set by the Todd-Carmichael-Brown string, with 106 goals, 91 assists and 197 points in 12 games; 126 goals, 114 assists, and 240 points in 15 games, and 136 goals, 119 assists, and 255 points in 16 games. These marks supersede the 1943-44 Dodger-Bantam marks for the string of Vernon Miller, John Bachynski and Joe Staples, of 73 goals, 52 assists, and 125 points in 12 games; and 92 goals, 67 assists, and 159 points at the 15-game distance; and, in the case of 16 games, the 75 goals, 66 assists and 143 scoring points of the 1942-43 F.A.C. Bantam string of St.Clair Duffy, Guilford Brett and Earl Duffy.

All of these are also new "kid hockey" marks as well. They take rank over the Miller, Bachynski, Staples Bantam mark of 73 goals and the Duffy, Brett, Duffy Midget marks last year of 71 assists and 143 points, in 12 games, and of the Duffy, Brett, Duffy Midget marks of 93 goals, 94 assists, and 187 points in 15 games. And of course the new 16-game marks have no challenge to meet from the Duffy, Brett, Duffy 1942-43 Bantam 75 goals and 68 assists, nor the Dodger Bantam 159 points at 15 which beat the F.A.C. Duffy, Brett, Duffy Bantam 143 at 16.

TODD SETS NINE MARKS

Jimmie Todd added to his personal laurels nine new individual records, three at each distance, sharing one with his string-mate, Roddy Carmichael. He broke his own goal records set last year, of 33 goals in 12 games, 46 goals in 15 games, and 48 in 16 games—he had 54 in 18 games last year—with his current 62, 67 and 71 goals at the first three distances named. In assists he broke Miller's Dodger Bantam marks of 31 and 41 in 12 and 15 games, with his new 35 and 44 at those distances, and added a new one of 46 assists at 16 games. In total points he knocked out Miller's 53 and 67 with his 97 and 111 in 12 and 15 games, and pegged a 117 at 16 games. His joint record with Roddy Carmichael is his 44 assists in 15 games. Roddy, one of the best "assisters" in the recent league, was just one assist behind Todd at both 12 and 16 games, with 34 and 45 at those two distances.

"Kid hockey" player marks superseded by the new ones are 31 assists in 12 games, jointly held by Miller, Dodger Bantam, and St.Clair Duffy, F.A.C. Midget, and Duffy's 56 points as a Midget; and in 15 games, Miller's 41 assists, and Duffy's 76 Midget points. Todd's marks at 16 games are of course for "kid hockey" too.

Altogether, the F.A.C. Bantams have hung up 27 new Bantam marks connected with scoring.

A Dodger Bantam record of 1943-44 still intact is that of having the entire "Big Six" at the top of the column of individual standings, comprising the team's first and second strings. In the current case, the F.A.C. top string comprises the "Big Three," after which top scorers of other teams appear. Todd of course leads in all scoring categories, with Roddy Carmichael second, and Brown third in assists and points, while Keith Coskey, M.R.K., is third in goals.

1 POINT SEPARATES 5 "BAD-MEN"

In one respect, the five teams composing the league ran almost a neck-and-neck race, in time lost in penalties. Only 17 minutes separated the worst and the best behaved. Dodgers served 72 minutes, Panthers 65, Bruins 64, F.A.C. 56, and M.R.K. 55. The total, 312 minutes, was over five hours of player time lost.

Every team also had one or more candidates for "bad-man" title, and only one minute separated the first five candidates. D. McLean, M.R.K., and G. Choquette, Panther, share the title with 19 minutes each, while J. Woodall, Dodger, J. Burgoyne, Bruin, and Keith Coskey, M.R.K., were breathing down their necks with 18 minutes each. The F.A.C. candidate, B. Johnston, who had 16 minutes, was only a step behind. Four others, from three teams, ranged from 10 to 14 minutes.

Following are the individual records of 69 players who got on the score sheets for goals, assists, or penalties, out of close to 90 who participated in the schedule:

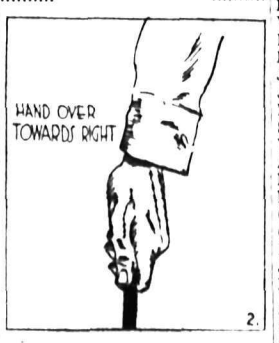
Better Golf



By SAM SNEAD

As pictured here, the left hand grips the club an inch, or possibly two, below the top of the handle. It is important to notice that the club is gripped in the fingers and not in the palm of the hand. Control lies in the finger grip. Not in the palm grip. The reason for what seems to beginners to be the peculiar grip used on a golf club is that the ball at which you're going to swing is resting on the ground. And you can't hold a golf club in a palm grip—which is a baseball grip, because of that fundamental difference between golf and baseball. Now notice that the left forefinger is extended a bit down the shaft. The reason for this is that it provides club control and leverage at impact because the heel of the left hand on the shaft put whip-lash into the club, as you'll see if you try it. The heel of the left hand levering the club handle opposite to the force applied by the looped forefinger of the right hand, provides the golf club with the whip—cracker effect.

Hand Picks Yanks for A.L. Flag

By JACK HAND

FLORENCE, S. C., April 1 (AP)—No use April fooling yourself about the American League, you might as well pick the New York Yankees and be done with it.

Joe McCarthy's pitching is the one doubtful thing. Spud Chandler is the only proven chuker, but he looks good for a 20-victory season.

Take that outfield of Charlie Keller, Joe Dimaggio and Tom Hamick and an infield built around second baseman Joe Gordon and shortstop Phil Rizzuto with George Stirnweiss, the 1945 batting king at third base and Nick Etten on first. You can't beat that.

Boston hasn't the over-all power of the Yanks, but the Red Sox have Ted Williams and more pitching too. Tex Hughson figures to be the pitching ace, but Dave (Boo) Ferriss, the 21-game winner in his freshman year, rookie Mickey Harris and Jim Bagby, acquired from the Indians, should help.

Most managers think Detroit's vital infield weakness will be costly to the champs.

Right now we have to place the Tigers behind New York and Boston.

Washington has the pitching. The return of Buddy Lewis, Stan Spence Mickey Vernon and Cecil Travis and the acquisition of Jeff Heath should give the Senators enough punch to rate a pennant chance.

Putting Cleveland in fifth place, is risky business, for Bob Feller, Allie Reynolds, Steve Gromek and Red Embree rank potentially as the league's best mound staff. However, manager Lou Boudreau has outfield miseries and infield uncertainties.

Luke Sewell's St. Louis Browns may be hard pressed to stave off Chicago for sixth place.

The White Sox have been strengthened by the return of Luke Appling and Td Lyons. They rate seventh in front of Connie Mack's Athletics. Philadelphia has good pitching—including Dick (not hit) Fowler of Toronto and Phil Marchildon of Penetanguishene, Ont.—but little or no punch in its batting order.

Ott Not Fretting Over Loss of Three to Mexico

MIAMI, Fla., April 1 (AP)—Manager Mel Ott of New York Giants was grim but not too disturbed today after the departure of the three "Mexican jumping beans" who quit to play ball for bigger cash South of the border.

Ott didn't seem to fear any more kangaroo hops to the Chili circuit, but indicated that some of the offers had been tempting.

John (Bud) Kerr, 23-year-old Giants shortstop for the last two seasons, disclosed he had turned down an offer of $55,000 for three years plus a $5000 bonus from the Mexican syndicate.

Ott was at least mildly smouldering about the three who jumped camp.

"If that's the way those three felt, I'm glad to be rid of them," Ott said.

The trio—Second Baseman George Hausmann, First Baseman Roy Zimmerman and Pitcher Sam Maglie—were ready to leave at once by train en route to Laredo, Tex., where they will sign their Mexican contracts.

"And pick up a nice fat bonus for signing," said Maglie. "That bonus, I might say, is more than my salary would have been this entire year with the Giants."

Ott declared the loss of the trio, summarily dismissed by President Stoneham of the Giants Sunday night after they admitted they had been negotiating with the Mexican Baseball League, wouldn't bother the team.

HEADS TURF ASSOCIATION

Uncle Mike Sets $100 Tag on Fight Ducats

By TED MEIER

NEW YORK, April 1 (AP)—Promoter Mike Jacobs, who should know what the traffic will bear, announced today a top price of $100—the highest official price in boxing history—for the June 19 heavyweight return 15-round title bout between Champion Joe Louis and Challenger Billy Conn at the Yankee Stadium.

In announcing this 300-per cent increase over the $25 he charged for ringside seats for the first Conn-Louis scrap at the Polo Grounds in 1941, Jacobs also fixed a scale of $50, $30, $20 and $10, all taxes included, for secondary seats.

Uncle Mike indicated several months ago he anticipated a sellout of $100,000 and a record gross gate in excess of $3,000,000.

"I won't have any trouble selling the tickets," he declared at the time he first announced the date for the eagerly-awaited battle between the Detroit titleholder and the Pittsburgh dandy. "Why I've already got scores of blank checks here. All I've got to do is write in the amount when I've decided on the price."

Only once before—and that unofficially—has $100 been charged for a heavyweight title bout. When Jack Dempsey and Gene Tunney met in their second fight in Chicago in 1927 Promoter Tex Rickard set an official top of $40, but was reported to have sold the first three rows at $100.

Several fights in the era of the "Golden Twenties" brought an official $50 top and likely more in the hands of speculators. These included the Dempsey-Jess Willard fight at Toledo in 1919; the Dempsey-Georges Carpentier set-to at Jersey City in 1921 and the Max Schmeling-Paulino Uzcudin meeting at the Yankee Stadium in 1929. The first Dempsey-Tunney meeting at Philadelphia in 1926, when Dempsey lost his title and which drew a record attendance of 120,757, was scaled from $27.50 down.

Information in each case was laid by Sgt. R. R. House.

FAVORITE COMES THROUGH

BOWIE, Md., April 1 (AP) — Bringing fair weather and his Louisiana form to Bowie race track, Bernard Seroys' Hillyer Court romped to a five-length victory today in the Bayard Purse before a surprising crowd of some 21,000 out to welcome the return of racing to this Southern Maryland course.

Hillyer Court, four-year-old chestnut son of Ariel-Latch Key, broke on top and with Jockey W. L. Johnson in full command led all the way in this mile-and-70-yard event for four-year-olds and up.

The crowd made Hillyer Court the odds-on favorite.

Baseball Briefs

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., April 1 (AP)—St. Louis Cardinals made a box office check today and found a new record attendance of 51,753 customers paid to see the spring exhibition games played here by the Red Birds and New York Yankees. The old record was 47,835.

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla., April 1 (AP)—Brooklyn Dodgers now have Pete Reiser, Cookie Lavagetto, Augie Galan and Billy Herman out of commission and none may be able to appear in the season's opening game. Reiser's injury is described as a separation of his collarbone and breastbone in his right shoulder. Herman is out with a sacroiliac back, Lavagetto is laid up with calcification in the region of his right elbow and Galan is being treated for a pulled tendon in his left forearm.

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., April 1 (AP)—Philadelphia Phillies manager Ben Chapman announced that pitcher Lee (Buck) Ross, purchased conditionally during the winter from Chicago White Sox, has been returned to the Sox.

ORLANDO, Fla., April 1 (AP)—Gil Coan, rookie Washington senator's outfielder, is beginning to show the form that made him a sensation in the Southern Association last season. Recovering from foot ailments which kept him idle this spring, Coan tripled yesterday in the Senators' 11-4 loss to Brooklyn Dodgers.

MIAMI, Fla., April 1 (AP)—With the season's opener just 15 days away, four important members of New York Giants still are on the ailing list. Shortstop Bill Rigney and pitcher Harry Feldman won't be out more than a few days but infielder Mickey Witek and outfielder Sig Gordon may be idle longer.

As a general rule tigers kill during daylight and leopards at night.

Expresses Hope That Dominion Gov't. Will Lead Canadian Forest Management

FORT WILLIAM, April 1 (CP)—Hope that the Dominion Government will take the lead in the management of Canadian forests, was expressed today in an address to the Fort William Canadian Club by Paul Kellogg, general manager of the Newsprint Association of Canada.

Mr. Kellogg referred to creation of conservation of forest resources, said that although the forests are owned by the Provincial Governments it is impractical for the Provinces to assume full responsibility for their management.

"Most Provincial Governments haven't the funds to underwrite the measures that are required," he said, and "even if the Provinces were financially able, the result would be a group of autonomously controlled strips of forest land, unnaturally bounded by Provincial border."

Mr. Kellog refferred to creation of the Forest Insects Control Board last Fall when Reconstruction Minister Howe said creation of the Board was the first instance the Dominion had taken the lead in trying to organize an effective joint attack on a serious forest problem and that ""it must not be the last".

"With fervency and hope, the entire pulp and paper industry echoes Mr. Howes' sentiments," Mr. Kellogg said. "Only thus can all Canadians continue to share the wealth."

Nelson $30,015.08; Waneta $454.58; Cascade $115.23; Midway $12.22; Carson $5.16; Nelway nil.

Bruin's Bauer Retiring

MONTREAL, April 1 (CP)—Montreal Canadiens, one game up in their best-of-seven series with Boston Bruins for the Stanley Cup, staged a light workout at the Forum today in preparation for the second game tomorrow, while the rival Bruins took a rest.

Canadiens squeezed out a 4-3 overtime victory in the first game Saturday night and in the opinion of fans the teams staged one of the best games, playoff or regular, seen here in many a year.

Big news around the Boston Camp today was the report that Bobby Bauer is playing his last season. Bauer, it is reported, has told Manager Art Ross he plans to retire after the playoffs and go into the skate manufacturing business with his father-in-law in Kitchener, Ont.

If he holds to his plans it will break up the famous Kitchener line of Bauer, Woody Dumart and Milt Schmidt, one of the most feared threesomes in the National Hockey League before the war.

All three served overseas with the R.C.A.F. and were slow in finding their form on their return this season. They really have been flying in the playoffs, however, and gave Canadiens many anxious moments Saturday night, with Dumart scoring one Boston goal.

Market Trends

NEW YORK.—Scattered stocks managed to attract a little support in the market although many neglected leaders slipped into losing ground.

MONTREAL—Paced by papers most divisions were firmer in trading on the stock exchange and curb market.

VANCOUVER — Mines made large advances on the stock exchange while oils were up fractionally and industrials remained quiet. Quatsino led activity in the session with a turnover of 63,130 shares while Dentonia led the more expensive stocks with sales of 50,000 shares. Sales off all stocks in the trading were 246,476 shares.

TORONTO — Trading speeded and prices tightened over the board on the stock exchange. Cheaper golds featured. Volume was around 3,000,000 shares, the heaviest in months.

CHICAGO—A sharp run-up in May rye at Winnipeg swung traders reluctantly over to the buying side here most of the time and prices were bid substantially higher.

Oats, which opened slightly weaker in a slow trade, also met a fair demand along with rye.

Wheat and corn held again at ceiling prices of $1.83½ and $1.21½, oats finished unchanged to ½ cent up, rye unchanged to 2½ up, barley unchanged to ½ up.

Cash grain: wheat: No. 2 red and hard, 1.82 nominal, ceiling; corn: No. 2 yellow 1.19 nominal, ceiling; no oats; rye: No.2 reported 6 to 12 cents plus May, nominal; barley: malting, 1.25-1.43* nominal.

WINNIPEG—A strong trend was displayed for rye prices in moderate trading on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange today and at the finish prices were 3¼-⅛ cents a bushel higher.

Buying by local and American interests was in evidence throughout the session and the purchases coupled with light offerings boosted May to $2.17 bid, July $2.33 and Oct. $1.95⅝.

Exporters reported a light trade in flour to the United Kingdom but no figures were announced.

LONDON—Trading on the stock exchange dropped to record lows with the budget and international affairs exhibiting an adverse influence.

MONTREAL (CP)—Adjustments were upward in light transactions on the bond market. The high-grade list held firm with turnover small. The Ninth Vics were improved a bit.

VANCOUVER TO BE DRINKING UNTREATED WATER

VANCOUVER, April 1 (CP) — Vancouver wil lbe drinking untreated water in two or three days.

The chlorination machines were turned off at midnight last night as the federal authorities relinquished their wartime control of Vancouver's water supply and as the Greater Vancouver Water Board exercised its right to order the water treatment discontinued.

But, Dr. E. A. Cleveland, chief commissioner of the water board, said today that it will be two or three days before unclorinated water runs out of the kitchen tap. The actual time will vary in each district, depending upon the number of little-used water pipes.

Dr. Stewart Murray, Vancouver's medical health officer, said the public's demand for vaccination against smallpox makes the public opposition to chlorination hard to explain.

He declared that the successful battle of the anti-chlorinators was "a step backward" and described the removal of chlorination as one sure way of increasing a potential danger to the public health.

Leonard Suggests International Pro Golf Team Match

VANCOUVER, April 1 (CP) — Stan Leonard, professional at the Marine Drive Golf and Country Club, thinks a team match between United States and Canadian pros would boost interest in the game in this country.

The long-hitting former Canadian P.G.A. champion suggested in an interview today that an appropriate place and time might be Winnipeg and just prior to the open tourney in the Manitoba capital this Summer.

Leonard said that he has written Earl Morris of Montreal, tournament manager for the P.G.A., making the suggestion.

Helium, found with natural gas, now enables deep sea divers to remain under water for as long as six hours.

Two Ways to Solve Jap Problem, —New Canadian

The "Japanese problem" in Canada may be solved in one of two ways, stated the New Canadian in an editorial, "By deporting them or dispersing them across Canada. Government policy has apparently been to deport a large section of them and thereby make the problem of dispersal that much easier. But forcible deportation without clear justification is something that should not be allowed in a country professing to be a democracy.

"A fair solution to the present problem would be to deport all those who still wish to go," the article said. "If it is deemed advisable to deport others, they should at least be given a fair trial. Those remaining in Canada should be encouraged, not forced, to move out of British Columbia.

"It is an important fact that most British Columbia evacuees are not rooted in that province, but are living in temporary centres under make-shift conditions. They would be glad to settle elsewhere if given a decent opportunity.

"It is necessary, furthermore, for the government to show its good faith by removing the unnecessary war-imposed restrictions on Japanese Canadians, such as restrictions on their rights to purchase property, to operate businesses, to move freely etc.," it read.

"And finally, the government may well contemplate some plan of aiding the evacuees' problem of securing housing in Eastern Canada."

FOREIGN EXCHANGE

NEW YORK, April 1 (CP)—The Canadian dollar was down ⅛ at a discount of 9 5-16 per cent in terms of United States funds in closing foreign exchange dealings today. (Ottawa Foreign Exchange Board rates 9.09-9.51 per cent discount.) The pound sterling was unchanged at $4.03½.

Farewell to Arms for Alexander Soon

By JAMES McCOOK
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, April 1 (CP Cable)—Field Marshal Viscount Alexander—one of the war's great soldiers—said in an interview today that when he reaches Halifax April 10 in civilian clothes his "farewell to arms" will be completed and he will be ready to assume his duties as Governor General of Canada.

But his Field Marshal's uniform with its seven bright rows of ribbons will go with him to Ottawa and he expects that in his travels across the Dominion there will be occasions when he will put it on—for instance, when he once again meets comrades of the Canadian forces who served under him in the United Kingdom and in the Mediterranean theatre.

Two aides-de-camp from the United Kingdom will go with the dashing, Irish-born officer who succeeds the Earl of Athlone as Governor-General, he said today. They are Sqdn. Ldr. A. H. H. Tollemache, his secretary, an RAF veteran awarded the George Cross and Maj. M. V. Milbank, his comptroller, already in Canada, who served with the Coldstream Guards and won the Military Cross.

Apart from his duties in Canada, Lord Alexander said he looked forward to sports. At 53, he said he considered he was getting "pretty old for serious skiing" but he added that he would take it up again and "my children will love it."

He will take with him his rifle and shot-guns, hoping to have the opportunity for some hunting. He will buy his fishing tackle in Canada on the assumption that Canadians know best what their fish will take.

Painting is one of his hobbies and he is "keen" to see what Canadian artists are doing.

CO-ORDINATE WORLD RELIEF AGENCIES

Equalized Food Output, Distribution Long-Range Aim

HEADS TO MEET

By CLYDE BLACKBURN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, April 1 (CP)—Coordination of all international emergency relief agencies by the United Nations Food and Agriculture Organization, was announced today by Sir John Orr, F.A.O. Director-General.

Thus the first permanent United Nations Organization to be established—it was completed at Quebec last Fall—will take over a major immediate task as part of its long-range aims to help equalize food production and distribution throughout the world.

TO HOLD MEET

First important step in these coordination efforts will be a meeting of Food Ministers or their equivalent from all the United Nations to be held in Washington May 20.

For that meeting the F.A.O. hopes to have completed a "world balance sheet" on food which a board of experts has been working on since the F.A.O. completed organization in Quebec last Nov. 1.

This document will give details of normal world food production, the existing food situation, and the possibilities for production in 1946, 1947 and 1948.

SEEK IMPROVEMENTS

At the conference the food representatives will study the balance sheet and survey the possibilities of each country to improve production and distribution. They will seek to remove transportation bottlenecks and recommend methods for achieving greater efficiency in production and distribution.

Eventually the F.A.O. hopes to devise means whereby the responsibilities now being borne by such emergency organizations as the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration, the Combined Food Board and such agencies restricted as to area and term of operation, may be continued as long as the need exists.

Populists Claim Win; Say Counting Biased

By L. S. CHAKALES

ATHENS, April 1 (AP) — The Ministry of the Interior tonight suspendid counting of votes in Sunday's national elections after a leader of the Right-Wing Populist Party, which clamied a victory at the polls, declared the Government's figures were biased.

Constantin Tsaldaris, chief of the Royalist division of the Populists, said he believed the Government's figures were biased and that the Populists would announce their own figures. He did not elaborate.

Before stopping the count, the Ministry reported 510,445 persons had voted in 1550 of Greece's 3200 voting stations.

The Populists received 269,498 votes in the latest count, the Ministry announced; the National Bloc 118,740; the middle-of-the-road Liberals 72,390; and the Zervas Party 22,907.

The Communist and Left-Wing groups had refused to put up candidates or participate in the election and had urged a boycott of the voting as a protest against what they charged was a "Royalist coup" to return King George II to the throne of Greece.

WANTS BRITISH WITHDRAWN

Secretary-General Partsalides of the Left Wing E.A.M. (National Liberation Front) told newspapermen tonight that the Allies who sent observers must denounce the elections.

He demanded the formation of a "democratic entente" government, the holding of what he described as free and honest elections and the immediate withdrawal of British troops from Greece. He declared the presence of the British troops was not compatible with the holding of free elections.

Perfects Tractor Wheel Guide, No Human Driver Needed

SUDAN, Tex., April 1 (AP)—F. O. Masten, one of the largest farm operators in Northwest Texas, has perfected a tractor wheel guide that steers the machine without a human driver. If the guide jumps a furrow, power is cut off automatically and the tractor stops. An attendant "riding herd" on the pilotless machine must start it again. Otherwise the tractor operates untended.

The guide consists of a tandem arrangement, with an old-type tractor wheel guide and a disc coupled to the bar about three feet ahead of the front tractor wheels.

Spring on a large scale on part of Masten tried his device this his 16,000 acres of farms. On one 420-acre field, he said he cut man hours from 1180 in 1945 to 35. Tractor hours were reduced from 985 to 429. Labor costs were cut from $590 to $17.50. He used three tractors last year, and one this year, reducing equipment costs from $7605 to $2924.

The tractor was operated day and night and required only one night servicing.

Masten said that a single tractor equipped with one of the drives can plow 25 acres in 24 hours. One man riding a tractor or truck can keep four tractors in operation in the same field at once.

IN MEMORIAM

TAYLOR — In affectionate remembrance of a loving son and brother, Archibald Elliot Taylor, aged 21, who passed away in Kimberley Hospital April 2nd, 1937.

I lost a son with a heart of gold,
Dearer to me than wealth untold,
Unseen by the world he stands
by my side
And whispers "Don't cry mum, death can not divide"
Happy, Smiling, always content,
Loved and respected wherever he went:
Always thoughtful, willing and
kind,
A beautiful memory he left behind.

IRAN BACKS AMBASSADOR AGAINST CLAIM

Says Fully Qualified to Speak for Country at Council

REPLIES AWAITED

By LARRY HAUCK

NEW YORK, April 1 (AP) — The government of Iran gave unqualified support of its ambassador in the United States today amid mounting speculation over Moscow's reaction to the request of the United National Security Council for a full report on the Iranian issue.

Iran's statement, from Premier Ahmed Qavam to Secretary-General Trygve Lie, apparently was in response to earlier Russian claims that Ambassador Hassein Ala was not familiar with the latest developments in the situation. M. Ala presented Iran's side to the Council last week immediately after Russia's dramatic walkout.

Spokesmen made it clear that the statement was not Iran's answer to the Council's appeal for a full report under the joint request to Moscow and Tehran.

There was no indication here or Moscow as to Russia's next step in view of the Wednesday morning deadline on the bid for information. Ambassador Andrei A. Gromyko remained in the city, but refused to answer queries.

In his message, Premier Qavam said:

"Hussein Ala has been and continues to be fully accredited and qualified to represent Iran in the matter concerning Iran now before the Security Council and in any other matters concerning Iran which may come before the Security Council requiring Iranian representation. This accreditation will remain valid until further notice."

An Iranian spokesman said he thought the statement was directed at those who said Ala did not enjoy the full confidence of his government.

Nelson Maple Leafs Guests of Rotarians

Nelson Maple Leafs were guests of the Rotary Club at their weekly meeting Monday at the Hume Hotel. Mayor N. C. Stibbs gave thanks to the team and Herb Peacock briefly gave each of their histories. Songs were sung, and a special one for the players, "For They Are Jolly Good Fellows," and cheers were given them.

Several speakers thanked the boys for their fine work during the season, saying that this has been one of Nelson's best years in hockey.

Len Bicknell, speaking for the oldtimers of the Leafs, thanked the Rotarians and expressed his desire to see the players stop here next year. If there was something to keep them it would be worthwhile and he could assure them that it was the best place in the world.

Manager Leo Atwell also thanked the Rotarians, Herb Peacock for his "unbeatable" aid to the club and the Hockey Booster Club which raised the finances that had put things across. There was no finer bunch of fellows with no better team spirit, Leo said.

The Rotarians also heard from Sam Brown, the Leafs trainer, who said that the fellows had their heart and soul in their hockey.

On the business side, four new members of the Nominating Committee were elected, J. M. Morley, H. D. Harrison, H. Peacock and W. Motion, to join John Erb, D. McGregor, F. A. Jewett and H. A
