Miners' Strike Action Condemned in Commission Report

EDMONTON, Nov. 23 (CP).—The Royal Commission investigating wage demands of Alberta and British Columbia miners, members of District 13, United Mine Workers of America, today declared in its report that "it unanimously condemns the methods adopted by the U. M. W. A. in the existing circumstances" surrounding the Union's action in calling the men on strike. The report, directed to Hon. Humphrey Mitchell, Federal Minister of Labor, and the National War Labor Board, confirmed its findings and directions, under its powers as a Regional War Labor Board, directing payment of a $1-a-day increase, retroactive to Nov. 1 to miners "not above the rank of foreman or comparable rank" and two weeks' vacation with pay after 12 months' employment. The findings and directions of the Board were released yesterday.

The report, made public today by Mr. Justice O'Connor, Chairman of the three-man commission, said the Commission made a "determined effort to secure a reconciliation by the U. M. W. A. of their intention to go on strike" and added that "in the opinion of the Commission, the action of the U. M. W. A. was ill-conceived, unwarranted and against the national interest."

The Union executive called the strike while the Commission was sitting in Calgary, against what was termed by miners' leaders as the "dilly-dally methods" of the Government. The men asked for pay increases of $3 a day, vacations with pay and time and one-half for overtime. The Commission's findings did not touch on the time-and-one-half demand.

Dealing with the $1-a-day increase, the report says that "notwithstanding its findings that the applicants have brought themselves within Section 25 of the War-time Wages Control Order, the Commission frankly admits that the increases actually recommended are in the nature of a compromise necessitated by the action of the miners at the outset of the winter season and the shortage of coal reserves in the West."

"It sympathizes with the efforts of those responsible for the application to better conditions in the industry but unanimously condemns the methods adopted by the U. M. W. A. in the existing circumstances."

Representations were made by the Western Canada Bituminous Operators' Association that "they cannot be a party to any voluntary increase in basic wage rates" but the report says "the directions of the Commission will necessitate an increase in the selling price of coal, or financial assistance to the operators to keep the mines open."

The Commission asked mine owners to submit statements, showing the financial position of the companies involved and the operators' claims for price increase or subsidy. "We are not satisfied that these claims are all sound, but if established they would appear to justify a price increase of 40 cents a ton to the selling price of coal," the report adds.

The existing wage rates of the 8900 miners, the report says, were established by mutual agreement May 13, 1938, effective Dec. 9, 1938. April 11, 1940, a supplementary agreement was entered into with respect to a cost-of-living bonus, and on Aug. 26, 1941, a further supplementary agreement was made revising cost-of-living adjustments.

"Each of the supplementary agreements confirmed the 1938 agreement in all other respects, and the agreement of April 11, 1940, contained a clause providing for the continuance of the agreement as amended for the period of the war and one year thereafter, and for such further period as would bring the agreement to expiry on March 31," the report adds.

The report says the U. M. W. A. rely on the provision in the original contract providing that "in event of a national emergency the economic situation will be subject to review..." This was done by the agreements of April, 1940, and Aug. 26, 1941, and "no new emergency has developed since the economic situation was last reviewed..."

"It is common knowledge," the report adds, "that inflation is one of the great risks of war, and the Dominion Government, in an effort to control inflation, put a ceiling on wages and on prices. It recognized, however, that arbitrary rulings of general application might work hardships in individual cases, and provision has been made to deal with specific applications, where an inequality in the wage structure is claimed. The U. M. W. A. to justify its demands has endeavored to bring itself within the provisions of the War-time Wages Control Order which sets the ceiling on wages..."

The Commission found the annual earnings of miners in Alberta was lower than those earned by coal-mine workers in Nova Scotia and quoted figures showing that in Nova Scotia the average annual wage was $3488.30 while in Alberta the miner earned $3115.30. The average time worked in Alberta mines was 220 days while in the Nova Scotia mines the average was at least 268.

10,000 Killed...

Big Bombers Tear Berlin Apart

By ROBERT E. STURDEVANT Associated Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Nov. 23 (AP).—Passing the record for the heaviest aerial attack in history, the R.A.F. and U.S.A.F. engulfed Berlin last night with more than 2000 tons of high explosives and incendiary bombs thundered down from 1000 bombers.

Mile upon mile of the world's third city, from downtown Berlin to its outer suburbs was smashed by the bombs—toppling the total of 2800 tons dropped in the raid which laid waste to Hamburg.

First hand accounts from Berlin correspondents of Stockholm newspapers told graphically how destruction ran through the heart of the city, wrecking government buildings, and foreign legations.

"Berlin never can recover from this blow," the Aftonbladet quoted its sources as saying.

Industrial areas still burning from the heavy raid last Thursday night were smashed again. Strong formations of daylight bombers roared across the English Channel to add further weight to the growing Allied effort to wreck the Reich by aerial assault.

The Aftonbladet gave a preliminary estimate of 10,000 persons dead and injured. Berlin admitted "a very large number" killed and injured.

There were two attacks, said the Stockholm Aftonbladet correspondent. The first came early and when the all clear was given people swarmed from shelters. They hardly had reached the streets when the sirens screamed a second time. Thus many were trapped outside shelters and the casualty toll mounted.

The force consisted almost entirely of four-engined bombers. Taking off from Britain in the late afternoon for their 600-mile journey, they delivered their first attack at 8 p.m.

Stockholm dispatches said the headquarters of Albert Speer, Minister of Munitions, were destroyed. They were located between the destroyed Aftonbladet office at Brandenburg Tor and the French embassy building on Pariser Platz.

It was from Speer's office of 200 rooms that he directed Germany's war production, for which he is responsible.

How crippling this blow might be to the Speer and other administrative centres, was difficult to say because Propaganda Minister Goebbels previously had ordered the evacuation of Berlin and at least some sections of Government offices also had been moved.

Lancaster and Halifax squadrons of the RCAF joined in the massive attack, delivering for their part what was described in a Canadian communiqué as the "heaviest attack yet made on the German capital."

All the districts of the city of 5,000,000 as well as the suburbs were damaged and particularly heavy devastation occurred in the centre of the capital near Unter Den Linden, Alexander Platz and Friedrichstrasse, said a Zurich dispatch.

Twenty-six bombers were lost in the great Berlin raid and subsidiary operations which included Mosquito bomber attacks on Western Germany and minelaying in enemy waters. Four Canadian planes are missing.

Returning pilots said despite a solid cloud overhead they could see for 30 miles the "great sea of flames and explosions" in Berlin.

Berlin today is covered by a huge black cloud of smoke, Swedish correspondents reported.

"We have had horrible hours," messaged the Stockholm Aftonbladet correspondent from Berlin. "Berlin burned throughout the night. Great sections of dwelling quarters, including workmen's areas, a flaming sea of fire. A great number of Government buildings were hit."

It was officially estimated in London that the bomb load dumped on Berlin last night raised the total weight loosed on the German capital thus far in 1945 to around 10,000 tons, compared to the 7500 tons dropped on London during the Battle of Britain when the heaviest raid was 450 tons.

Swedish dispatches said the centre of the city suffered heavily. Several foreign legations and embassies in the diplomatic quarter, including the Swedish legation, were burned to the ground.

The following districts were listed damaged: Siemensstadt, where the great Siemens electrical works are located; Spandau, Wilmerdorf, Neukölln, Lichtenberg, Pankow. Many of these areas were hard hit by previous raids.

Communication between Stockholm and Berlin was difficult today. First reports said transport in many sections of Berlin had broken down and electricity and gas services interrupted.

Returning pilots reported the cloud cover over Berlin was so thick the Nazis were unable to send up any night fighters or operate search lights. Instead they just poured flak through the overcast.

Improving Tourist Resort Accommodation

The Pacific Northwest has nothing much to boast of in its tourist resort accommodation. It cannot, with a few notable exceptions, hold a candle to what is offered in California. Some good work has been done on the Olympic Peninsula by the Regional Resort Keepers' Association, but generally in British Columbia, Washington and Idaho the accommodation that is offered is second rate or worse.

In Southeastern British Columbia we have the excuse that there is insufficient volume of travel, but there is plenty of evidence that larger volume does not necessarily produce better accommodation. The Cariboo Highway is an example. Its roadside resort accommodation even when the highway was crowded with tourists was never very attractive. The example can be multiplied by others all over the Province. Tourist promoters in the state of Washington have the same complaint.

British Columbia's Government Tourist Bureau is awake to this lack in our attractions for tourists and is studying means of encouraging the development of better resort and recreational facilities in the province. To assist in this direction, it has just been announced by E. G. Rowbottom, Deputy Minister of Trade and Industry, the government at the next session will introduce legislation to provide for inspection of camps and resorts. It is not the intention to go as far as the grading of resorts, but to concentrate on good sanitary arrangements, safe water supply, cleanliness and so on.

The results are bound to be good. The fact that an official is inspecting resorts will in itself have an effect stimulating to better accommodation for automobile tourists. He can also advise as to improvements, drawing from his experience of successes elsewhere.

Grading is a problem. In the United States they have had, as have we in Canadian provinces, various regional organizations which have attempted to grade according to standard of accommodation. It has not worked out. A regional organization is over-inclined to give recognition to places whose owners contribute to the kitty. Nor is the regional organization very continuous in its efforts. A grade "A" resort today may next year be allowed to run down, yet retain the insignia of quality. In the United States the American Automobile Association, the Three A's, solved the problem by taking over the job. It sent inspectors all over the country and they impartially graded according to quality, without regard for local influences. The plan is working well. Perhaps we in Canada will have to come to a similar plan. To have grading done by a nation-wide organization of automobile owners is obviously preferable than for a government to undertake a task of such obvious political difficulty.

Market for Pork

Misapprehensions that may have arisen from the fact that the new pork and bacon contract with Britain calls for lower annual deliveries than last year, are partially cleared up by the announcement of Hon. J. G. Gardiner that the Old Land is prepared to take all of this meat we can send her. This should disabuse the farmers' mind of the idea that the need for the highest possible production no longer exists.

News that Britain was contracting for only 450,000,000 pounds a year, instead of the 675,000,000 pounds under the former agreement, gave the impression that there was danger of over-production. This, of course, is not the case. An attempt is simply being made to assure economic hog-raising. The breeders are not being asked to produce at a loss, but they are asked to grow all they can profitably at the price in the contract.

The Government recognizes that the farmers are operating on a small margin, and also that there is no nation-wide standard of costs, the Windstar points out. The established price means, for some, that they cannot make a profit, while others, due to different geographic locations and certain other factors, can make hog-raising pay. These latter are being urged to keep production up to the highest possible point. The assurance is that they will run no risk of having unmarketable stock left on their hands. This, of course, should be obvious under present conditions, but at a time when the market is subject to bewildering upsets, the breeders are not to be blamed for wanting something in the way of an official guarantee.

"The Grand Alliance"

When Prime Minister Churchill referred to the "Grand Alliance of the United Nations" it caused a searching of the records for the names of the countries which have declared war against the enemy.

Thirty-three have declared war on Germany. They are:

United States, Great Britain, Russia, China, Australia, Belgium, Brazil, Canada, Costa Rica, Cuba, Czechoslovakia, Dominican Republic, El Salvador, Ethiopia, France, Greece, Guatemala, Haiti, Honduras, India, Iran, Iraq, Luxembourg, Mexico, Netherlands, New Zealand, Nicaragua, Norway, Panama, Philippines, Poland, South Africa and Yugoslavia.

All of them also declared war against Italy except India, Luxembourg, Iran, Norway and Poland.

All of them declared war against Japan except Russia, Brazil, Greece, India, Luxembourg and Norway.

India sent troops, who fought gallantly against both the Italians and Japanese, but there is no official record of India having declared war against Germany.

France is on record as having declared war against Japan through the French Committee of Liberation.

RAINBOW REFLECTIONS

When the rain has ceased
And the storm is passed
A beautiful rainbow
Is seen at last.
Across the sky
In a brilliant hue
The colors seem vivid
And close to you.
The brown is the earth
On which we toil
For our daily food
For one and all.
The green is the pasture
Where milk cows graze,
Beside the farms
On the great highways.
The blue is the waters
Of rivers and lakes,
Where wild fowl linger
And call to their mates.
The yellow is cornfields
That wave to and fro
As they ripen each day
In the sun's golden glow.
The red is the roses
In gardens so fair
Whose perfume so sweet
To us all, fills the air.
The orange of the lily
And mauve of the heather
Make a beautiful rainbow
When all are together.

REHABILITATION?

Within beleaguered State the famine came;
At once the order of humanity began
To ration of its scarcity to man:
To rich and poor alike were issued bread
In measured portions that all may be fed,
Until peace harvest came.

No wealth of gold or guile, or secret store—
Or brutal force, may gain their bolder more.
The rich, the poor, the lucky, or unfortunate,
Must all have equal right to common share.
So did the people, through their State, declare,
In war need time.

Grim foes are vanquished, war's peace harvest reaped—
Will peoples and their State, by custom steeped,
Have human welfare bound again, in chains of gold?

The richest, as the poorest, insecure
Amid the plenty, as in famine time?
Refuse the one sure cure?
Forsaking greed for gold, to all men curst—
And place the cause of human welfare first.

No law of State may ever circumscribe—
Save as the peoples daily will decide
To live, to work, to daily buy and sell—
To bound men's earthly heaven, or their hell.
—WILL STUART.

Workers Storm Doors as Morrison Tells of Mosley's Release

By ROVER GREENE
Associated Press Staff Writer
LONDON, Nov. 23 (AP).—Home Secretary Herbert Morrison, sharply heckled by some members, today described Sir Oswald Mosley, British Fascist leader, as a "man who stands for a doctrine almost universally detested in this country" but took full responsibility for Mosley's release on the grounds of ill health.

As he spoke in the House of Commons a relay crowd of at least 1000 war workers besieged the doors of Parliament, shouting "Mosley must go back to jail." Police reinforcements were called to handle the swelling ranks of demonstrators.

Sir Oswald and Lady Mosley were released last week from detention in Holloway Prison where they had been held since June, 1940. Mosley led the British Union of Fascists until he was placed in custody.

For the most part the Government benches today supported Morrison's explanation of the granting of freedom to Britain's No. 1 Fascist.

There were cries of dissent when C.M.R. Oliver Locker-Lampson, Conservative, asked: "Is not Sir Oswald Mosley enemy No. 1 and may I ask if he would not have been released if he had not happened to be a millionaire? May I ask if the Minister will allow five doctors from this House to examine him?" Coldly, Morrison replied: "That question with the insulting implication in the middle is hardly worthy of answer."

Morrison said he had consulted his fellow Cabinet Ministers before making the decision and declared, "This policy is not based on the expediency of making martyrs of persons who do not deserve the honor but on the general principle that these extraordinary powers of detention without trial must not be used except insofar as they are essential for national security."

He disclosed that Mosley is still restricted to virtual "house arrest" and explained the release on the ground that "I am not prepared to let anyone die in detention unnecessarily."

Morrison said that not only the would-be British fascist but "a large number" of his followers had been released.

"In view of the improvement in our national fortunes it has been possible without endangering national security to release a large number of former members of the British Union of Fascists on the ground their detention is not necessary in the present circumstances," the Home Secretary said. He added that the ban on the Union's activities still remains in force.

The improvement in the country's fortunes, he said, would not have been sufficient justification alone for release of Mosley because as fascist leader "he would have been the last to be released."

But, Morrison said, it was the unanimous opinion of the board of distinguished doctors who examined Mosley that release was essential to check his illness from thrombo-phlebitis and give any reasonable prospect of recovery from the disease which might cause his death.

Morrison said Mosley would be detained again if he broke any of the restrictions imposed upon him, or if the national situation changed. The restrictions were:

He must reside at a specified country house and not travel more than seven miles from it.
He must report to the police monthly.

He must not associate or communicate with any former British Fascist other than members of his family and his wife's family.

He must not communicate or associate with anyone with the purpose of promoting political activities.

He must not publish anything or make any speeches or give any Press interviews.

Lady Mosley was released on the same terms.

Deputy Prime Minister Clement Attlee offered to provide time for a general debate on Mosley but the House shouted him down. However more persistent M.P.s continued to heckle Morrison.

William Gallacher, the House's only Communist member, termed Morrison's explanation "highly unsatisfactory" and asked: "Can you give another case where there has been so much medical attention, concern and care shown?" It was

All Berlin Could Do Was to Cringe and Take It

By GLADWIN HILL
(Associated Press Correspondent Representing the Combined American Press)

Distributed by The Canadian Press
AT AN R.A.F. BOMBER BASE IN THE MIDLANDS, Nov. 23 (AP).

Berlin was a great sea of flames and explosions which even through a solid cloud overcast could be seen for 10 miles by fliers returning last night from what was probably the Allies' heaviest attack of the war.

The fliers, some of whom went through the London blitz and were getting their first chance to give it back to the German capital, commented that they didn't see how the city could hold out under many such bombardments.

And their success in executing the raid, despite what once were regarded as impossible conditions, pointed to only one thing: the raids are going to be continued probably in constantly-increasing force until Berlin and the Germans are through.

The R. A. F.'s remarkable pathfinder system by which the bombers arrived over Berlin to find their target plainly outlined in flares dropped by advance planes turned the once-hampering clouds to advantage.

The clouds were so thick that the Germans apparently were unable to get their nightfighters off the ground—the boys returning here didn't see a single German plane—and the enemy must have figured it useless even to try a searchlight barrage.

All Berlin could do was to cringe and take it, tossing up a great barrage of flak. From a force numbering possibly 1000 or more bombers it took a toll scarcely more than would be expected from engine trouble or other exigencies.

The bombers hit Berlin at about 8 p.m. in one of the earliest attacks yet. They took off in late afternoon from fields all over Britain, forming a great, loose procession across the sky, then tightening up over the heart of Nazidom to deliver a solid knockout punch. All the destruction was rammed home in about half an hour—or less.

It was midnight when through the static of the control tower radio came a hoarse but cheery voice saying, "U for uncle calling U for uncle calling." It was the first plane back.

In the star-speckled black sky, two of the stars suddenly swung down together toward the field. The stars were the plane's lights. They were back from Berlin.

New sidewalk on High Street had been completed, and was proving a marked convenience to residents of that section and Douglas Road, Ald. J. E. McKenna, Public Works Chairman, reported to the City Council Monday night.

Ald. George Turner complimented the Department on filling a number of holes in city streets, stating car owners would benefit considerably. This work, said Alderman McKenna, was going on all over the City as a temporary measure to put the roads in better condition for winter.

A large number had been filled in Fairview, said Acting Mayor Ross Fleming.

Request of A. L. Gustafson, 55 Douglas Road, that the City build a retaining wall in front of his property, to eliminate an eyesore, was referred to the Public Works Committee by the City Council Monday night.

Council Chamber Walls Are Much Decorated

Nelson City Hall Council Chamber will need expansion soon to accommodate decorative appendages being acquired with the Victory Loan.

Latest acquisition is the huge framed painting, by Miss Harriet Keating, of the destroyer with "a bone in the teeth" which was employed in the "Replace the St. Croix" campaign in connection with the Fifth Victory Loan.

The Victory Loan campaign to date are represented by four big flags and their accompanying pennants. A fifth flag and pennant are to be added.

Placed at the south end of the council chamber, the painting of the destroyer shares the place of honor with two Union Jacks and pictures of the King and Queen.

Photos of Nelson mayors and aldermen since incorporation take up a large part of three walls of the chamber, and the Victory Loan flag and pennants are hung above them.

A wedding of interest to Nelson and Victoria folk took place in Hayward, Calif., Nov. 8 at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. R. McGinley, 3808 Kelly Avenue, when Lillian D. McGinley, their only daughter, became the bride of Ian McDonald, second son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Thomas McDonald of Nelson and Victoria. Rev. F. C. Trye of the Baptist Church, Stockton, Calif., officiated. The rooms were beautifully decorated with Autumn flowers and palms. The ceremony took place at a candle light service before the fireplace gaily banked with white mums and flanked by tall tapers in silver sconces. The petite bride, given in marriage by her father, was lovely in a gown of white broadcloth and a crown of hand made lace held in place the fragile loaned veil, worn by the groom's mother at her marriage long ago in Scotland. Her colonial bouquet was of Bouvardia and her only ornament a gold locket, the gift of the groom. Miss L. Blaisell was bridesmaid, wearing a floor-length gown of aqua sheer. The bride's brother, R. H. McGinley, supported the groom. A four-tiered wedding cake centered the bride's table. After the reception the happy couple left for a three-week honeymoon in British Columbia, to visit the groom's two brothers, and sisters-in-law, Major and Mrs. Sid J. Telegraph Field Broad, Lupton Tells Gyro Club

Today a telegraph agent was no longer just that—but was rather a communications officer, stated H. Lupton of C.P.R. Telegraph office at Nelson, speaking to the Gyro Club at its dinner meeting at the Hume Monday night. Telegrams still formed one of the main sources of revenue, but of growing importance were the "teased wires" handling communications of several types.

These included such leased wires as press, broker, broadcast and airway circuits.

The Canadian Press, leased wire between Vancouver and Nelson carried newspapers at Trail and Nelson, operating directly from the Canadian Press office and the editorial rooms of the papers.

"There are still," he commented, "a few broker circuits."

"The airways circuit, with its 'teed off' at a number of points, was described as 'red hot.' It carried always weather reports and other data by teletype. Next year, a phone circuit, operating like a brain dispatcher's phone, would also be carried."

The CBC broadcast, brought to Nelson by the B. C. Telephone Company, went out from Nelson over C.P.R. wires to Creston, Cranbrook, and Kimberley, where "booster stations" provided local coverage for these points. Grand Forks might soon have a booster station also, Mr. Lupton said.

Included in the communications, he concluded, were the highly important train despatchers' lines.

Mr. Lupton, who had charge of the program, staged a bingo game.

B. C. Poulsen, President, was in the chair.

Fred Johnson was a guest.

Several Hundred Soldiers Return

By The Canadian Press

Several hundred Canadian fighting men, including veterans of the invasion of Sicily and members of naval and air force units, have arrived back in Canada. Also coming to the Dominion were British war brides and their children, a draft of British navy men and merchant seamen, R.A.F. personnel, merchant seamen released from German prison camps, civilians from the British Ministry of Transport and a few Canadian civilians.

Majority of the returning Canadian soldiers were invalided back from Britain because of illness or injuries. The R.A.F. draft consisted mainly of newly-enlisted aircraftmen, here to train as air or ground crew.

A group of Canadian sailors came home for brief leaves. Among them was Able Seaman Arnold Schmidt of Saskatoon.

Mrs. Doreen MacMillan was an English wife coming to Canada to join her Canadian husband—Pit. Lt. Arthur MacMillan, R.C.A.F., who has been an air gunner on numerous bombing raids over Europe, and now is training to be a pilot at Winnipeg.

Among soldiers being repatriated to Canada was Pte. Jack Holmes, Vancouver, injured by machine gun fire in practice manoeuvres.

Rangers Sign New Defenceman

NEW YORK, Nov. 23 (AP)—New York Rangers, who have lost their first nine National Hockey League games this season, today signed an amateur defenceman, Roger Lager, 24-year-old, 186-pound husky who has been rejected for military service in Canada. Boston Outskates Toronto Leads for 8-5 Victory

BOSTON, Nov. 23 (CP)—Rebounding from Sunday's 13-4 drubbing in Montreal, the most humiliating setback in their 29 National Hockey League seasons Boston Bruins outskated Toronto Maple Leafs for a 8-5 victory tonight before a 10,000 crowd at the Boston Garden.

Veteran Buzz Boll, in his first game of the season, started the Bruins off on the right foot early in the opening period, when he scored without assistance.

Such seasoned Boston operators as Busher Jackson, Bill Cowley and Her Cain were so inspired by Buzz's feat that each of them drove two pucks through Goelle Grant and the other Boston tally was provided by Don Gallinger.

Although Bert Gardiner, the Boston netter was under heavy pressure most of the game, his teammates managed to break loose enough to score twice in the first session and three times in each of the others.

Defenceman Babe Pratt figured in all but the fourth of the Toronto tallies. In addition to scoring with Gus Bodnar's assistance, Pratt set up tallies for Lorne Carr, Jackie Hamilton and Jack Ingoldby.

Rookie Ted Kennedy became the other scorer by caging teammate Mel (Sudden Death) Hill's rebound with less than eight minutes remaining.

Lineups: Toronto — Grant; Morris, Pratt; Bodnar; Carr, Davidson. Boston — Gardiner; Clapper, Hollett; Cowley; Boll, A. Jackson.

Toronto subs — McDonald, Hill, Kennedy, Ingoldby, Johnstone, Hamilton, Boothman, Webster. Boston subs — Gallinger, Guidolin, Cain, Crawford, Wilkinson, H. Jackson, Colledine, Schera.

Referee — Bill Chadwick. Linesmen — Bill Cleary and Ag Smith. Summary: First period—4, Boston, Boll 2:00; 2, Boston, H. Jackson (Crawford, Colledine) 3:55.

Phillies Head Barred for Life for Gambling

CHICAGO, Nov. 23 (AP)—In the most drastic action of his 22-year regime, Kansas Mountain Landis, Commissioner of Baseball, today barred William D. Cox, President of the Philadelphia Phillies, from baseball for life for gambling on games in which his club was involved.

Landis ruled Cox was "permanently ineligible" to hold a baseball office hereafter, either in the major or minor leagues.

After the ouster had been announced, directors of the Phillies, meeting in Philadelphia, elected a 27-year-old former Duke football player, Robert R. M. Carpenter of Wilmington, Del. President, succeeding Cox, Carpenter's father, an executive of the E. I. duPont de Nemours & Co., purchased all of Cox's stock, the exact amount of which was not revealed.

Landis stated Cox had resigned as President and Director of the Phillies three days after the Commissioner had ordered him to appear at a formal hearing on charges against him in New York next week.

Cox refused to attend the scheduled meeting, writing Landis that he had "decided to devote all of my time to my number business, essential to the war effort."

NEW WESTMINSTER, B. C. Nov. 23 (CP)—After almost three weeks of campaigning the lineup of the new Pacific Coast Senior Hockey League is beginning to take definite shape with R.C.A.F. Seaworks out in front, a point ahead of Victoria Navy followed by Victoria Machinery Depot and Vancouver St. Regis. New Westminster Lode-stars and Nanaimo Army are tied for the cellar, probably more by bad luck than bad playing.

St. Regis, with something of the earmarks of a high-priced N.H.L. outfit, back-checked like fends last night to hold Victoria's Navy to a 1-1 tie in overtime in one of the best games of the season.

Sullivan Tin Important in War Effort

VANCOUVER, B. C.—Cassiterite, the ore of tin, is recovered from the tin tailings of the Sullivan mine in southwestern British Columbia and is a casiterite-bearing pegmatite has been reported near the headwaters of McDougall Creek, Lardreau.

The only tin production in Canada is at the Sullivan concentrator of the Consolidated Mining & Smelting Company of Canada, Ltd., at Chapman Camp. The tin produced is far from sufficient to meet Canadian requirements, which in peacetime amounted to about 3000 tons annually.

On the basis of present operations production from the Sullivan will approach 500 tons of refined tin per year which is equivalent to 10 per cent of Canada's peacetime need.

With tin declared a strategic metal by the Metals Controller, the Sullivan contribution, though small in comparison to that of the world, assumes an important part in the Canadian war effort.

Christmas Trees Begin to Move in Windermere

CRANBROOK, B. C.—Shipping space has finally been made available for the new hundred thousand Christmas trees in the Windermere Valley bundled and tagged ready for shipment which for a time appeared doubtful. Contracts were let and filled in plenty of time, but trees shipped to wholesalers. Gradually the yards are being cleared now.

Lumber operations in the Windermere Valley are on the increase as district operators, handicapped by the labor shortage and difficulties of securing additional equipment, strive to keep up to orders.

Simon Monaghan, one of the valley's chief operators, recently added a new portable mill unit to his extensive operations. It is to be put to work on the Canadian Pacific Railway recently contracted to produce a large number. The new unit is located east of the crossroad above Athlone.

The Elliott Brothers at Wilmer are also extending their sphere of activity in that vicinity. Their addition is a new logging camp for which they are constructing the buildings at present a few miles west of Wilmer. They have also added a new three-truck to their hauling equipment lately.

The Canal Flat slab supply of a quarter of a million cords of fuel wood in the ends and lumber waste from Canadian Pacific Tim and Timber operations which went in a new level about 40 miles south of the Windermere Valley. The Solid Fuel Control office project of bringing this fuel pool for stockpiles in the cities of Western Canada is not yet operating.

50,000 Ounces of Gold Indicated at the Gold Belt

VANCOUVER, B. C.—Gold Belt mine in the Sheep Creek camp, which has produced 70,000 ounces of gold valued at more than $3,000,000 since milling started in October 1938, is at present closed down despite indications that it will be capable of producing at least another 50,000 ounces. The mine and mill were closed in September of this year when labor supply due to war conditions became so short that it was inadvisable to attempt to continue production.

The operation of the gold mines of the Sheep Creek camp has maintained a substantial payroll during the past decade and the expenditures for mining supplies, foodstuffs, clothing, etc., have been a big factor in the prosperity of the nearby City of Nelson. Under normal conditions the company employs about 140 men, about half of whom support families.

In a typical year for example, before manpower shortage became a factor, Gold Belt produced 600,000 in gold. Of this some $300,000 was distributed chiefly in the region in wages and supplies.

Canadian Corps in Italy Probably Will Fight as Part of 8th Army

By ROSE MUNRO
Canadian Press War Correspondent
LONDON, Nov. 23 (CP Cable)—The Canadian Corps now formed in Italy will probably fight as part of the British 8th Army when it goes into the line.

It is no secret that Gen. Sir Bernard Montgomery is a strong supporter of Canadian troops and it is likely that the Commander of the 8th Army was one of the first persons to urge the Allied Command to form a Canadian Corps in Italy.

Now that the Corps has been formed it seems hardly likely that they will not be under his command. Lt. Gen. H. D. G. Crerar, Commander of the Canadian 1st Corps in Britain, is commanding the Canadian Corps in Italy. It is logical he would work with Gen. Montgomery, for they were close friends in England and Gen. Montgomery has expressed great admiration for Gen. Crerar's leadership.

Since the start of the war Gen. Crerar has been, in turn, senior officer at Canadian Military Headquarters in London, Chief of the General Staff at Ottawa, a Divisional Commander in Britain and Commander of the 1st Corps.

With a Corps in Italy, the Canadian Army is going to make one of its big efforts there but other equally well-trained Canadian formations in Britain are slated for important tasks in the invasion of Western Europe.

It now appears that the Canadian Army is not going to confine itself merely to one campaign. A large commitment has been made in the Mediterranean theatre but for four years Canadian leaders have had their eyes on Western Europe and it is in this second-front campaign that contributions may be even greater than in the South.

Disclosure that a Canadian Corps now is in Italy would indicate at least another division was included in the recent large contingent to arrive there. This would still leave some divisions in England and a large number of Corps and Army troops and base installations.

Will Replace Mud With Blacktop

ROSSLAND, B. C., Nov. 23—City Clerk J. A. McLeod, was instructed by the City Council Monday to write informing the proprietor of the Rossland Apartments on Second Avenue that the City planned to lay blacktop in front of her premises in the Spring. This followed the reading of a letter of complaint stating one tenant had left and a great deal of extra labor was required to clean the mud from the hall, owing to the City having removed the board walk fronting the property.

Smith Chairman of Engineers of Eastern B. C.

Ernest Smith of Nelson, District Engineer for the Department of Public Works, was elected Chairman when the Eastern District of the Association of Professional Engineers of British Columbia held its annual meeting at Tadanac Tuesday. He was also elected delegate to the annual meeting of the Provincial Association in Vancouver December 4.

Elected to the Advisory Committee for 1944 were F. S. Peters, A. C. Biddings and H. S. Fowler, all of Rossland; W. J. Tindale of South Slope; and H. D. Dawson of Nelson. Roy Pollard of Nelson was re-elected Honorary Secretary.

Mr. Smith was instructed to extend an invitation to the Provincial President and Registrar to visit the Kootenays during the year.

Twenty engineers, representing Rossland, South Slope, Trail and Nelson, attended the meeting. F. S. Peters, Chairman for the past year, was in the chair.

British Troops Had Left Samos

CAIRO, Nov. 23 (AP)—A special Middle East communique announced today that British troops had been evacuated from the island of Samos several days ago.

The communique said "all British and Greek and a proportion of Italian troops have been evacuated without loss from Samos together with a large portion of the civil population. This evacuation was carried out several days ago."

The German High Command communique today claimed that 6000 troops were made prisoners on the Samos and said those evacuated had gone to a neutral country, presumably Turkey.

Beer Ration Cut in Ontario

TORONTO, Nov. 23 (CP)—The Ontario Liquor Control Board today issued a statement announcing that gallons of beer available for sale in hotels and clubs would be sharply restricted while quantities available for individual purchasers in brewers retail stores would be cut from 36 to 24 pints a month.

The Board's statement said the changes will be effective Dec. 1 and result from problems of distribution which followed the Dominion Government order restricting sales of beer and liquor to 90 per cent of the amount sold in the 12-month period ending Oct. 31, 1942.

The statement said that the changes in hotel and club sale regulations will cost the Board $350,000 annually in revenue.

New regulations dealing with the sale of authority-holding hotels provide for payment to the Board of an amount based on the hotel's gallonage sales in the previous 12 months. The statement said that in the case of the sale of a hotel with sales of 10,000 gallons, the Commission would receive $10,000; if sales were 30,000 gallons, the Commission would get $30,000. The statement added that the purpose was to make certain that any value attached to the hotel by reason of its sales of beer would accrue to the people of Ontario.

2 New Ore Bodies Are Located at Zindon Mine

Two new ore bodies, one above and one below the present workings have been established at the Zindon Mines Ltd., property at Zindon, base metals subsidiary of Sheep Creek Gold Mines Ltd.

Henry Doelle, Managing Director, stated in Nelson Tuesday that the full extent of the new ore bodies is not yet known. They were located by diamond drilling and established by development work.

Mr. Doelle stated Zindon Mines still need additional men to obtain the production of which the property was capable. A few men were on their way to the mine, he added but still more could be employed to advantage.

The mine is now producing an average of about 225 tons a day, from which are extracted about 80 tons of zinc concentrates for shipment to American smelters.

Mr. Doelle stated the labor situation at the Sheep Creek Gold property had improved slightly. When the Emerald, Warlike Metals Ltd., tungsten mine recently was closed a few miners resident in Selkirk were released for employment at Sheep Creek. This property is the only gold mine now operating in the Sheep Creek camp, and it is on reduced staff.

A. E. Jukes of Vancouver, a Director of Sheep Creek Gold Mines Ltd., visited the property Monday and Tuesday, going to Spokane en route to Vancouver Tuesday afternoon.

Interpreting The War News

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON
Associated Press War Analyst

The first ground-hardening frosts of winter have reached West Central Russia, foreshadowing faster-paced action in the battle of the Kiev bulge. With the first heavy frosts ice-paving muddy fields, a Russian return to blitzkrieg tactics can be expected.

That should permit Red field commanders to capitalize on highly favorable circumstances born of brilliant Russian staff work. That strategic planning has definitely foreclosed the front against a German two-pronged pincer squeeze. There was no dangerously exposed Russian salient left once the Red forces were pulled back from Zhitomir under Nazi pressure. That forced the Germans into exhausting and costly frontal attacks which have been beating against the Chernyav-Korostyev segment for days with little to show for it, and with nothing to indicate that Russian armored divisions have been heavily engaged.

Patton Apologizes for Striking Man in Hospital

ALGIER, Nov. 23 (AP)—It was disclosed officially today that Lt. Gen. George S. Patton, had apologized to all officers and men of the American 7th Army for striking a soldier during the Sicilian campaign.

At the same time Allied Headquarters said that correspondents might reveal all the facts they knew of the incident which since last August has been one of the main subjects of discussion among soldiers in this theatre.

While Patton was not relieved of his command of the 7th Army and was not given a formal reprimand, he received a censure from Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower such as has seldom been administered to a commander of an army.

The story is a strange one—the story of a general who in the heat of battle lost his temper and later admitted he was wrong and made amends.

The incident consisted of this, according to eyewitnesses: Gen. Patton slapped a shell-shocked soldier in a hospital tent because he thought the soldier was shirking his duty.

The incident occurred early in August when the Sicilian campaign was in one of its most critical periods.

Patton visited the evacuation hospital and went among the wounded, trying to cheer them. He patting some on the back, sympathizing with them.

He then came upon a 24-year-old soldier sitting on a cot with his head buried in his hands, weeping. "What's the matter with you?" Patton asked, according to persons who were in the hospital tent at the time.

The soldier mumbled an inaudible reply. Patton repeated his question. "It's my nerves, I guess I can't stand shelling," the boy was quoted as saying.

Patton thereupon burst into a rage, employing much profanity; he called the soldier a "coward," "yellow belly," and numerous other epithets according to those present. He ordered the soldier back to the front.

The scene attracted several persons, including the commanding officer of the hospital, the doctor who had admitted the soldier, and a nurse.

In a fit of fury in which he expressed sympathy for men really wounded but made it plain that he did not believe that the soldier before him was in that class, the General struck the youth in the rear of the head with his hand.

The soldier fell over slightly and the liner of his helmet which he was wearing, fell off and rolled over the floor of the tent.

A nurse, intent on protecting the patient, made a dive toward Patton, but was pulled back by a doctor. The Commander of the hospital then intervened.

Patton then went before other patients, still in high temper, expressing his views. He returned to the shell-shocked soldier and berated him again.

The soldier appeared dazed as the incident progressed but offered to return to the front and tried to rise from his cot.

Patton left the hospital without making further investigation of the case.
