

Germans Thrown From Wreck Melitopol Street

By JUDSON O'QUINN
Associated Press Staff Writer
LONDON, Oct. 15 (AP)—Russian soldiers blasted the hard-fighting Germans from the wrecked buildings of Melitopol today in hand-to-hand fighting and charged seven miles down the railway from Zaporozhe in a major battle for a breakthrough at the Northern door to the Crimea, Moscow announced tonight.

More than 4,000 Germans were killed in the area, comprising about a 95-mile front from South of Zaporozhe to Melitopol in the Southern Ukraine, a communique said.

CLAIM DAM BLOWN UP
Part of the battlefield was reported flooded by the Germans who said they had destroyed the rebuilt Dnieper Dam, a few miles from Zaporozhe, in an attempt to stall the attack. The Russians, however, made no mention of the dam.

More than 2000 Germans were reported killed in Melitopol as Soviet gunners moved through buildings by building and street by street.

The Moscow midnight communique supplement made no claim that the town had been captured but it fell appeared imminent as another column moved up on the town from the Northeast.

Northward at Zaporozhe the last remnants of German troops were cleaned from the river's East bank and at least 1900 were reported drowned in the Dnieper as they sought to escape.

Other Russian columns fighting their way Southward along the railway that leads through Melitopol to the Crimea captured six isolated places and five railway towns, including Fyvent, 17 miles Southeast of Zaporozhe.

More than 1000 Germans fell, 22 tanks were destroyed and 20 trucks captured before the end of the day in that sector, the bulletin said.

Soviet planes bombed German airbases, damaging or destroying 25 Nazi planes on the ground while shooting down 16 in air combats.

Stubborn fighting also raged on the middle Dnieper where German counter-attacks withered before Russian guns at the bridgeheads on the West bank of the river North and South of Kiev.

German attempts to bomb temporary bridges across which the Russians were pouring supplies were thwarted by Soviet fighting planes.

In the White Russia fighting the German forces made several counter-attacks south of Gomel trying to force the Russians off the Western bank of the Sozh River. After more than 800 Germans were killed the Russians moved up to improve their positions, Moscow said.

British Patrols Clash With Japs
NEW DELHI, Oct. 15 (CP)—British and Japanese land patrols have clashed near Maungdaw, about 100 miles Northwest of Akyab, in the Arakan sector of Burma, a communique announced today.

Increased activity on the part of British troops along the Burma front since the end of the Monsoon season a few weeks ago, was climaxed when a Japanese column attempted to surround a British patrol but was driven off, the communique said.

This was the second ground clash in the Sittoung area in recent days, a Japanese communique reporting 24 Japanese killed in a previous incident, and the Japanese reporting the repulse of a British landing party.

The communique also said other British patrols and levies have successfully ambushed enemy parties in the Chin Hills and in the Sumburam areas.

4,000,000 Germans Have Been Killed
GOSPORT, England, Oct. 15 (CP)—About 4,000,000 Germans have been killed in this war, or more than twice as many as were killed during the First Great War, Lord Selborne, Minister of Economic Warfare, said today.

Powerful New Landing Force Strikes on Coast

By EDWARD KENNEDY
Associated Press War Correspondent
ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN ALGIERS, Oct. 14 (AP)—Reeling from sledgehammer frontal assaults by the Allied 5th Army and their Western flank menaced by a powerful British landing force, Nazi defenders of the Volturno River line fell back toward Rome today in some of the fiercest fighting yet seen in the Mediterranean War.

"The enemy's position hourly is becoming more desperate and he will obviously be forced to pull out from all the low areas near the river," a military spokesman declared on the basis of news direct from the three-day-old battle.

Streams of Allied troops, tanks, artillery and anti-tank guns poured across the Volturno on scores of makeshift bridges as assault teams consolidated their hold on high ground overlooking the vital Capua bridgehead. Gains East of Capua averaged from two to five miles, an Allied announcement said.

The Germans yielded their positions only after bitter resistance and time after time launched desperate tank-led counter-attacks in futile efforts to dislodge the British-American forces at key points. Allied tanks and tank destroyers joined the infantry in the drive across the flooded fields North of the Volturno and into the heights beyond, which rise to 4000 feet.

(A German communique acknowledged the Allies had "superior" infantry and tank forces on both sides of Capua.) A Berlin broadcast placed the attacking force at four infantry and one tank divisions.

The fighting also was reported raging along the coast near the mouth of the Volturno where British infantry and tanks poured ashore early Wednesday from new open-mouthed landing vessels and dug in along a canal under the protective fire of three destroyers.

This amphibious force was attempting to roll up the enemy's coastal anchor four miles North of the Volturno, where the Nazis had concentrated artillery on the dominating heights in apparent anticipation of such a maneuver.

The Algiers French radio reported that the Germans had ordered the evacuation of Italy's entire Western coast North of Ostia as a precaution against further Allied landings. Ostia is at the mouth of the Tiber River 30 miles from Rome.

Patrols of Gen. Sir Bernard Montgomery's 8th Army stabbed forward steadily in the mountainous centre of the fighting line that extends across Italy to a point just North of Terracina on the Adriatic. These British and Canadian forces were not meeting heavy and sustained resistance at any point.

Yesterday the 8th Army captured the town of Cascolera five miles Northwest of Benevento and 20 miles Southwest of Terracina. A spokesman said British and Canadian patrols were approaching the communications centres of Campobasso and Vinchiaturo.

Other villages engulfed by this phase of the Allied drive were Montescelloni, Santa Elia and Toro. (The Berlin radio reported German forces had evacuated Campobasso.)

Some of the heaviest fighting took place around the town of Casolano, a mile North of the river where it makes a Northern bend nine miles East of Capua. There German and Allied forces joined in a great battle which may decide whether the Nazis are to be routed from the entire Volturno area or whether they can hold on for a slow withdrawing movement.

No Rigid Rules... Needs in Daily Basic Diet

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M.D.

The war has taught us a good deal about foods. Note, I do not say it has taught us a great deal about the science of dietetics, but about foods. For the average North American I suppose the most poignant lesson is the number of foods he finds he can do without.

Others are the possibilities of dehydrated and concentrated rations. In connection with the latter several curious problems have been worked out. A chocolate bar has been designed to serve as an emergency measure. The size of the bar was determined by the size of the regulation shirt pocket.

In the experimental stage it was found necessary to design a bar that would not melt in the tropics — would remain solid at 130 degrees F. During the trials of various bars submitted, members of the testing committee objected to certain bars because they did not taste very palatable. They were surprised to learn that a delectable bar was not de-

Food Pattern... Easy to Keep Slim When You Eat Right

By IDA JEAN KAIN

Too many women alternately starve or stuff. They fight off 10 pounds or 50 on a diet, then promptly return to over-eating and gain them all back. Eventually this means another bout with the pounds.

But lately I have had many number of requests for a plan of eating that will keep weight at normal. I take that as a healthy sign. You can eat to keep your weight right where it should be and you don't have to diet either.

Almost all of you want to know how many calories you need. If you want the scientific facts, the average woman in sedentary work requires 2100 calories a day, and in moderately active work, 3000 a day. Frankly, I think the 3000 calorie allowance is a bit liberal. But, as you are, it isn't necessary to add up columns of figures on calories every day to keep the pounds in check. The easiest and best plan is to have a food pattern to go by.

The foods which furnish the most in the way of nutrition also help you to keep your weight at normal so it is just plain common sense to build your menus around these foods.

Milk is a food we all need. It furnishes protein, vitamins and phosphorus along with calcium and most of us don't get enough calcium. You don't have to drink milk. You can have it in soups, cereals, or in milk desserts. Your food pattern should include either a pint of milk a day or one-half pint and an ounce of cheese.

Try to have an egg every day. Eggs give you protein, vitamins and iron and iron is another mineral we are apt to be shy on. Among other things, iron helps to keep the disposition sweet. They say women particularly need it.

Be sure to have a green leafy vegetable of some kind every day. This is a very necessary food in your pattern for good nutrition and normal weight. It furnishes an abundance of iron and vitamins and is low in calories.

In general, here is what you should have every day: Three vegetables, two fruits, whole grain cereal and bread, milk, an egg, plus meat, fish or fowl. Or, in place of the meat, have beans, soybeans, or extra cheese.

also learn that there are some things he must not do, some things he must not go for. Forbidding the lot not to do a certain thing doesn't lessen his desire for action. All we do as we stop him is to turn him to doing something else.

Our main problem in guiding the young child is to let the stage so that when we forbid him any specific mode of action he will choose another mode of action we approve. The more satisfaction he gains from this approved action the less, of course he will want then and later to do what we disapprove, though we never can hope to need no forbidding at all.

EXCITABLE CHILD

Moreover, the more satisfaction he gets from what he is allowed to do, instead of what he is forbidden the longer he will concentrate on the approved action. The child hearing No and Don't excessively will not continue long at any one interest. He inclines to turn rapidly from one thing to another, getting more and more excited and annoyed all the time. You may have seen tots spend hours at a stretch rushing from one thing to another like a bird flitting from bush to bush. Even some children of eight or ten do so.

This may not come entirely from ineffective control but from over-excitement and over-stimulation. Such a child will profit especially from a regular day nap and abundant night sleep. He will profit, too, from a quiet family atmosphere, silent radio, low soft voices and affection.

The first newspaper to be established in Upper Canada was the Gazette, which made its first appearance at Newark in 1793.

HARRISON-HORRIGAN

Of interest throughout the Kootenays was the marriage Thanksgiving morning at St. Mary's Church, Cranbrook, of Mary Helena, youngest daughter of Mrs. Della Horrigan of Nelson, to W.O. 2nd class Frank Arthur Harrison, R.C.A.F., youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Harrison, Cranbrook. The bride, entering the church on the arm of R. H. O'Sullivan, to the strains of the Wedding March, was gown in white silk Jersey cut on Grecian lines, floor length with beaded girdle, and short sleeves. Her bridal veil was fastened with a coronet of lily-of-the-valley. She wore elbow-length lace mittens and carried a shower bouquet of sweet-heart roses tied with white ribbon. As bridesmaid, Miss Dorothy Nicholson of Nelson wore floor-length Albee blue sheer crepe in bouffant style, with wrist-length sleeves and Peter Pan collar. Her shoulder veil fell from a Juliet cap of blue flowers, and she wore pink lace gloves. Her bouquet was of pink button mums and carnations. Rev. William Harrison, brother of the groom, performed the ceremony, and Pte. George Harrison was his brother's groomsman. Vocal music was provided by Miss Teresa Pasuc and A. Bouchard. Mrs. L. Selwyn played organ music. A wedding luncheon was held at the Harrison home on Burwell Avenue, attended by immediate relatives. White streamers and wedding bells from the ceiling centred on the bride's table, which was covered with a white cutwork cloth. Centering the table was a three-tiered wedding cake embedded in pink tapers, flanked by pink tapers and topped with miniature vase of pink sweet peas. Pink carnations graced the table at each end. The bride's mother wore a suit of navy and the groom's mother wore a rose wool suit. The bride's home was at Willow Point. She attended St. Joseph's Academy at Nelson, and also Nelson High School. She graduated from the Provincial Normal School at Victoria and taught at various West Kootenay points. The groom was born in Cranbrook and attended school there. He was with the C.M.A.S. at Trail prior to his enlistment in the Air Force. His service training was at Macdonald and Trenton, where he completed an instructor's course.

Changes Mind... Wants to Write Secretly to Her Old Love

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

Dear Miss Fairfax:

Sixteen years ago, when I was 19 I met a boy of 17 who asked me to marry him. I thought we were too young to think of marriage, but we went together for two years and then separated. I saw him with other girls, so I went out with other boys, and met the man whom I married. He was kind and thoughtful, but I didn't love him. My childhood had not been pleasant and I was glad to get away.

During my marriage ceremony, my mind wandered to my boyhood sweetheart, and his face appeared before me all the time, so I felt that I married him instead of my husband. It was all right for a year, but then I couldn't stand my husband any more. He wasn't the kind, thoughtful man I married.

I wrote to my first sweetheart he met me and we discovered we loved each other. He upbraid me for marrying before I had given him another chance. He swore I'd be the only one he'd ever love, although he might marry someone else, which he finally did.

He's in the service now, but I still send him birthday cards and want to correspond with him. Do you think it would be the correct thing to do? I don't want to make trouble, but I thought if I wrote to him in service, no one need ever know. We love each other very much.

Large was operated on today at the Vancouver General Hospital. Dr. D. E. Starr who attended him said, "There is a fair chance that Bert may play again next season, that is if he takes it easy and does nothing strenuous."

"Bill" Pfeiffer Out to Push Trout Project

Champing at the bit and impatient to get construction swivings at Sportsman Park before winter sets in, William (Bill) Pfeiffer has come back to Nelson from Los Angeles. Early this year he "pulled freight" after years in Nelson and district, intending to make his home with a sister in California. But the call of Nelson was too strong, and he has come back. As one of the keenest workers last year when the Nelson Rod and Gun Club initiated the trout nursery pond project in conjunction with the Provincial Hatchery, his first question when he returned was "Well, how far have you got it along?" His purpose now is to speed the voluntary work on the project, and he'll be out pushing the boys to make a job of the remaining ponds and the water system to be installed.

Jackie Mann Out With New York Rookies

WINNIPEG, Oct. 15 (CP)—New York Rangers of the National Hockey League went into their second day of pre-season training here today augmented by their ace right-winger, Bryan Hextall.

Hextall, who hails from Poplar Point, Man., and winner of the N.H.L. scoring crown in the season 1941-42, checked into Ranger headquarters last night hale and hearty and his presence featured the club's workout today.

His arrival brings the number of veterans in camp to five. Other seasoned campaigners are Ott Heller, for 13 years a standout on defence; Gordon Davidson, another defenceman, and Grant Warwick and Bill Gooden, both forwards.

Another new arrival at the camp today was Billy Warwick, Grant's younger brother, who played several games for Rangers last season while serving with New York Rovers in the Eastern U. S. Amateur Hockey League. The younger Warwick is a left winger.

Coch Coach Boucher has been pleased with the performances turned in by several rookies in initial scrimmages. He's very high on Jack McDonald, a 200-pound rightwinger with a blazing shot. McDonald played with the New York Rovers last season, and was with Portage la Prairie Terriers when they won the Canadian junior championship in the Spring of 1942.

Okanagan Backs Game Clearing House Suggestion

Support of a suggestion for the establishing of a Central Provincial clearing house to aid in uniting the efforts of game bodies has been agreed upon by the Vernon and District Fish and Game Protective Association, according to a letter from President E. W. Frowse received by J. J. McEwen, West Kootenay Rod and Gun Club President, at Nelson Friday. The plan would also put the clearing house scheme on a share-the-cost basis.

The suggestion is one forwarded by McEwen at a Protective Association convention at Princeton early in the summer, and favored by both East and West Kootenay Rod and Gun Club Zones.

The plan is for B.C. game bodies to hire a secretary through which correspondence on projects of the various clubs requiring the support of others throughout the Province could be directed. Circular letters and resolutions could go out, and replies be received and compiled on a business-like, economical basis.

Broda Picked Up by Police, Sent to Army

TORONTO, Oct. 15 (CP)—The Canadian Army today conscripted 23-year-old Walter (Turk) Broda, for seven years Toronto Maple Leafs goalkeeper in the National Hockey League.

Royal Canadian Mounted Police removed the stocky, 190-pound athlete from a Montreal-bound train on the outskirts of Toronto just a few minutes after midnight and took him to Stanley Barracks. Broda's National Selective Service call-up notice had expired last night at midnight.

There was no official clarification of circumstances under which Broda failed to answer his calling notice before the expiry time. It was known, however, that the round goalkeeper had been wavering for some days between enlisting in the Army or the Navy in Toronto. It was understood that he had finally decided to join the Army here and play for the Toronto Army hockey team this year.

This decision apparently was changed yesterday. Best available information was that Broda had then decided to enlist in Montreal. When he was removed from the train early today, it was reported he was in company of a Canadian Army sergeant-major believed to have some connection with the Montreal Army hockey team. This Is the Best Season for Taking Pictures for the DAILY NEWS Pictorial Edition

"The lives of fighting men and the outcome of battles depend on the utmost co-operation between all branches of the fighting forces. The same unhesitating co-operation on the home front will assure our fighting men the support they need and must have."

W. O. Churchill
PRESIDENT

ROARING INTO BATTLE, hurling shells into enemy defence positions, the Tank Troops are right at home in the high-speed warfare for which they are trained and toughened. But there comes an anxious moment when the Tank Commander heads the land battleship for a pre-arranged "harbour" to get supplies and ammunition. With enemy air-craft overhead, enemy scouts prowling on all sides, camouflage is quickly thrown up and protective guns placed in position. Out of the dusk, right on schedule, wheels a 3-ton supply lorry in the sure hands of the Army Service Corps. Sharp-eyed gunners watch all sides and into the air, while in the half light, the men work like ghostly stevedores packing away shells, ammunition clips, food, fuel and water. Brief minutes later, the job is done; the tank snorts away to battle and the Army Service lorry rolls away to keep another "Rendezvous under Fire". Modern scientific warfare demands faultless performance from both men and machines. And Ford of Canada workers—nearly 15,000 strong—give their skilful best to each operation from blueprint to final testing at Windsor, Ontario. The knowledge that the vehicles they make will serve the United Nations on all fronts is a constant challenge and an inspiration.

Contract... By Shepard Barclay

OBSERVE DETOUR SIGNS
AUTOMOBILISTS who will not observe "detour" signs are bound to come to grief sooner or later. So it is with declarers who pay no attention to doubles of their contracts and play hands the same way, when somebody has doubled them, as if there had been no double. To the sound player, the location of certain cards is marked by a business double from an opponent, and consequently the course of action is altered.

What in the world could East have for his double? Outside of the diamond suit, the only side cards of value would be the club K and the heart Q. Surely the double could not have been based on those alone. Hence East must have expected to take a trick at least in trumps, against the showing of such a terrific suit, even if he was making a bid and unaccounted for.

John Lee Smith,
Head of Pythians
Coming Tuesday

Eighteen lodges of the Knights of Pythias in the Kootenay-Boundary may be represented at Nelson Tuesday when the famous John Lee Smith, Lieutenant-Governor of Texas, and Supreme Chancellor of the Knights of Pythias, will pay an official visit to the Nelson Lodge.

The Supreme Chancellor, who is coming from Vancouver, could afford time to visit only two interior lodges, and his choice fell on Vernon and Nelson, his Vernon visit being Monday. The head of the Pythian Order is a famous orator.

Born at Chico, Wise County, Texas and reared on West Texas farms and cattle ranches, "John Lee" received a high school and college education in the United States and later did special work at the University of Poitiers, France, with honorary degrees. He was a private in the American Army in France in the First Great War.

Married on Dec. 28, 1919, to Miss Ruth V. Elrod, Mr. Smith has two sons and a daughter, the oldest son, John Lee Smith Jr., being in World War II.

Mr. Smith, a lawyer by profession, was elected County Judge of Throckmorton County, Texas—the youngest county judge at that time—in 1920, and served until 1926. He was chairman for two years of the American Legion's Committee on Americanism; and for four years (1936-40) was a member of the State Department of Education.

His career as a Pythian began when he joined Throckmorton Lodge No. 163, at Throckmorton, Texas, in August, 1916. He became Past Grand Chancellor on May 10, 1930; represented the grand domain of Texas at the Supreme Lodge conventions of 1934, 1936, 1938 and 1940.

He was elected Supreme Vice-Chancellor of the Order at Cincinnati, in August, 1940, and was elevated to the office of Supreme Chancellor at Minneapolis, Aug. 13, 1942.
