ALLIES CAPTURE PONTELANDOLFO

Tiny British Subs Cripple Tirpitz in Narrow Fjord

LONDON, Oct. 11 (CP)—British midget submarines, penetrating the heavily-guarded Norwegian hideout of the German Fleet, have crippled the mighty battleship Tirpitz and left her apparently immobilized.

Three of the small subs—a hitherto undisclosed British weapon—are missing. A group of the submersibles, 1,000 miles from home, threaded their way some 50 miles into narrow Alten Fjord, through mine fields and heavy patrols, to attack the Tirpitz Sept. 22, an Admiralty announcement disclosed today. They attacked the Tirpitz beneath her waterline.

The size of the raiding force was not disclosed but the announcement said three submarines had failed to return and there was a possibility some of their crews had been captured by the Germans.

The Admiralty said it was impossible to assay the damage at the time of the attack, but reconnaissance photographs taken three weeks later showed the 35,000-ton pride of the Nazi fleet had not moved from her anhoorage and oil spouting from her great tanks had spread for two miles.

Details on the size and complement of the "Fighting Ships" shows British Class ment of the little craft were not announced. Jane's authoritative "H" training submarines of 410 to 600 tons with a complement of 22, but presumably the midgets are a lot smaller.

The announcement stressed that to reach the hiding place of the Nazi warships the submarines were forced to operate more than 1000 miles from the nearest British base.

Two days after the attack, the Germans announced officially that a thrust by midget submarines had been repulsed and that prisoners had been taken.

The 15-inch guns of the Tirpitz had been a menace to Allied North Atlantic shipping since February of 1942 and for the last several months she had been closely guarded in the snug fjord some 200 miles North of the Arctic Circle.

The raid, coupled with the Home Fleet's invasion of fjord waters near Bodoe on Oct. 4 when American carrier-borne planes hit German shipping, was viewed here as signs of a new Allied naval air aggressiveness as part of possible efforts to drive the invaders' fleet from Norway as a preliminary to a wholesale invasion of Europe.

Portugal May Cede Naval Bases to Allied Fleets

BERNE, Oct. 11 (AP.)—Allied warships are policing the waters off the Azores, Portuguese Islands in the Atlantic, a reliable source said tonight, and there were unconfirmed rumors that Portugal would cede naval bases to the Allies.

A dispatch from Madrid, where interest has been manifest as to Portugal's recent strengthening of her military establishment, said the report of the ceding of bases was heard there, but was not verified.

Two Big Armies Poised on Volturno

By RELMAN MORIN
Associated Press War Correspondent

WITH THE 5TH ARMY ON THE VOLTURNO FRONT, Italy, Oct. 11 (AP)—Two large armies tonight faced each other across the narrow, twisting length of the Volturno River awaiting the signal that will touch off one of the biggest battles of the war.

American artillery has been hammering enemy positions along the North bank of the floodswept river without cessation during the last three days. The Germans reply, usually during the night hours, with some of the heaviest type shells.

The town of Pontalone, some three miles North of the River, was blazing from end to end, columns of smoke rising high. The artillery still was shelling the town.

The site of the coming valley is a cup-shaped valley almost ringed with hills. We hold the Southern and Southeastern slopes. The Germans are entrenched solidly in the North.

Suggest One Authority to Control Airways

LONDON, Oct. 11 (CP) — On international authority with wide powers to regulate all post-war air transport between Foreign countries—but leaving alone air routes linking countries under the same flag, such as the British Empire—was recommended today by three of Britain's leading industrial organizations.

Under the plan—outlined in the Joint Air Transport Committee report of the Association of British Chambers of Commerce, the Federation of British Industries and the London Chamber of Commerce—International air services of the Empire and the United States would be based on parity in terms of a mutually acceptable yardstick.

Announcement of the report came while representatives of Britain, the Dominions and India met here in the first Empire air conference, presided over by Lord Beaverbrook, Lord Privy Seal.

After the first meeting a brief statement said the "conversations are continuing." Munitions Minister Howe, one of the Canadian delegates would not amplify the announcement. The agenda for further talks is believed to have been drawn up at this session.

ALLIES DEVELOP BIG DRIVE IN THE BALKANS

At Least Dozen Hun Divisions Engaged; Bombings Extensive

SEA FORCES AID

By EDWARD KENNEDY
Associated Press War Correspondent

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN ALGIERS, Oct. 11 (AP) — By land, air and sea the Allies have gradually developed an offensive in the Balkans until it has become a companion campaign to that in Italy.

With Allied Air Forces on both Northwest Africa and the Middle East scorching the Germans in Greece, Crete and the Dodecanese Islands, and Greek and Yugoslav Patriots battling them on land, the Balkan fighting today is more extensive than at any time since the British evacuated their expeditionary force in the Spring of 1941.

At least a dozen German divisions are engaged in an effort to hold fast in the dark and bloody mountains.

A communique issued in Cairo by the Yugoslavs disclosing that Italian naval units had aided the Partisans by shelling the Germans along the Adriatic Coast indicated that a sea punch has been added to the Allied effort.

For the sixth straight day Allied Air Forces carried a sizzling attack to the enemy in Greece and the islands of the Aegean Sunday and took an increasing toll of German air strength in that area, Allied Headquarters announced.

American heavy bombers again made a 1,500-mile round trip without fighter escort to blast the Nazi air base at Tatoi, just outside Athens, and the airfield at Araxos at the Northwestern tip of the Peloponnesus while R.A.F. bombers joined in the assault on the opening night by striking at other airfields at Maritza and Calato on the Island of Rhodes in the Dodecanese.

At Tatoi the big bombers ran into 20 to 30 Nazi fighters, but shot down four of them, set huge fires in the hangars, exploded a fuel dump, and scattered ruin among parked planes. At Araxos they smothered the barracks and runways with rapidly-exploding bombs.

Fisherman Dies, 3 Feared Lost in Oregon Storm

PORTLAND, Ore., Oct. 11 (AP.)—One fisherman was known dead tonight and three others were feared lost in a storm that raked the Oregon coast Sunday night.

The body of Earl Olson, Burns, Ore., was found aboard the battered tuna boat Jackie J., washed ashore at Nelscott, Ore., today. Unreported and believed to have been aboard the boat when she put out for Nelscott last week were another crew member, Everett Munson, and the skipper, Jess Odlum.

The pilot house and fishing equipment of another tuna boat was found washed ashore near Camp Clatsop, Ore.

Western States' Gas Coupons Value Cut by Gallon

WASHINGTON, Oct. 11 (CP) — The Office of Price Administration today cut the value of gasoline coupons in the far Western United States from four to three gallons, effective tomorrow.

The curtailment order is effective in the States of Washington, Oregon, California, Nevada, Idaho, Montana, Wyoming, Utah, Colorado and Arizona.

Union Urges Resignation of King Gov't

VANCOUVER, Oct. 11 (CP) — District Council One of the International Woodworkers of America (CIO) was on record today as urging the immediate resignation of the Government of Prime Minister King and the calling of a Federal election.

The Council endorsed this stand at a meeting last night in a resolution which charged the Federal Government had "refused to take Labor into its confidence by giving equal representation with employers on the many important war boards."

The resolution also charged the Government with "complete failure to take decisive action to oblige anti-Labor employers to live up to their own declared policy," and said this was in marked contrast "to the speed with which Labor Minister Humphrey Mitchell compelled our armed forces to act to break the Halifax Dockworkers' strike."

It said "these actions of the Government are destructive of national unity so necessary to successful prosecution of the war and are seriously impairing our war effort by undermining morale. "Therefore, be it resolved that this meeting of delegates from all Canadian locals of the I.W.A., representing 12,000 workers in British Columbia, demand the the Government tender its resignation and go before the people in an election forthwith."

The action came while more than 900 spruce loggers were idle at eight camps in the Queen Charlotte Islands. The loggers seek to have three companies recognize the I.W.A. as their official bargaining agency. Mr. Justice J. E. Richards of Winnipeg is in Vancouver as a Federally-appointed commissioner in an attempt to settle the dispute.

The loggers stopped work last Friday but are remaining at the camps.

Two Killed in Coast Accidents

VANCOUVER, Oct. 11 (CP.) — Two persons died in hospital over the Thanksgiving weekend from injuries suffered in accidents.

Harry H. Barnes, 77, struck by a street car on a downtown street Sunday, died five hours later. Wallace Adams, 13, messboy on the C.P. SS. Princess Elaine, succumbed in hospital today from injuries suffered Friday when he fell down a baggage elevator shaft at a Vancouver pier.

NAZI ROCKETS TOO LATE TO SAVE AIR FORCE

500 Fighters Downed in Eight Days; Hun Force Shrinking

PLANTS SUFFER

By ROBERT N. STURDEVANT
Associated Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Oct. 11 (AP)—The Nazis' airplane rocket guns, which hurl jagged chunks of metal at Allied bombers, were invented too late to save the German Air Force, it appeared tonight.

On the basis of official claims, the Germans lost at least 500 fighters in air battles during the eight-day Allied offensive ended yesterday.

This loss, weighed against estimates of 600 to 700 fighters a month as Germany's current production, leads to the conclusion that the Nazis will find it increasingly difficult to get the fighters on which to put rocket armament.

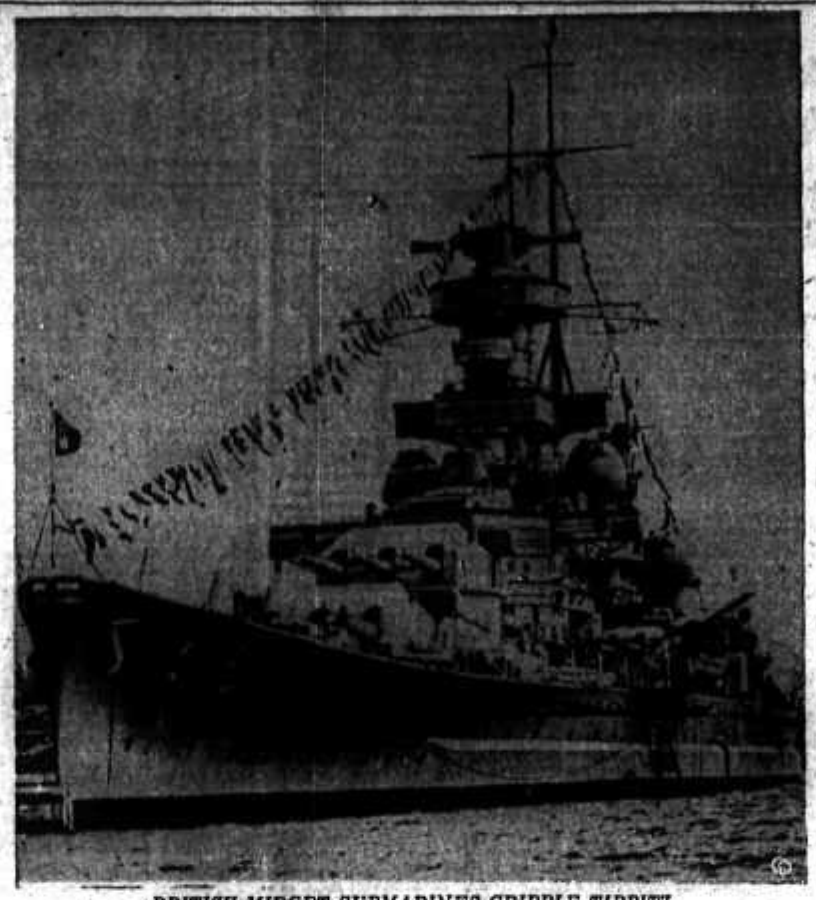
The Allies, moreover, have concentrated on the German airplane factories in order to cut into the Nazis' basic fighting force.

The two main German fighters are the Focke-Wulf-190 and the Messerschmitt-109.

In August and October heavy-bomber formations from the Middle East and Northwest Africa blasted the Messerschmitt factory groups at Wiener-Neustadt, South of Vienna, while British-based American heavies hit the Messerschmitt plant at Regensburg in Southeast Germany, which has been said to produce possibly 75 per cent of all German airplane propellers.

Next came the Focke Wulf assembly plants last weekend. Aerial reconnaissance has shown vast destruction at the Marienburg plant in East Prussia where, it is estimated, half of the Focke Wulfs are assembled. The Focke Wulf parts plant T Anklam also suffered serious damage.

The plants turning out fighters at Hamburg, Stetin, Bremen, Berlin and Rostock also have been pounded.



BRITISH MIDGET SUBMARINES CRIPPLE TIRPITZ

A group of British midget submarines groped their way through a Norway fjord to find the big Nazi battleship Tirpitz and send torpedoes racing into her it was announced yesterday. The big ship was apparently immobilized. Above is shown another Hun battleship, the Scharnhorst.

Russians Smash Way Into Gomel Suburbs

By JUDSON O'QUINN
Associated Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Oct. 11 (AP)—The Red Army crashed into the vital rail suburbs of Gomel today, threatening to flank the entire 200-mile German line in White Russia and snap its link with the Middle Dnieper River, where Soviet forces spilled on Westward through three widening holes established on the West bank, Moscow announced tonight.

(Russian troops "already have penetrated the outer defences of Kiev," Ukraine capital on the Dnieper, the BBC said. It also quoted Berlin as reporting heavy Russian attacks in the Nogaisk Steppes on the Northern approaches to the Crimea.)

A communique broadcast by the Moscow Radio announced the Red Army's seizure of Novo-Belitsa, a rail junction suburb of Gomel on the East bank of the Sozh River just across from the main prize, whose railways radiate to Warsaw, Minsk and Mogilev.

Other localities were seized in the Gomel sector as the Russians steadily hurled back the Germans on the Northern edge of the Pripet Marshes.

CONVERGE ON VITEBSK

Two hundred miles to the North other Soviet troops converging on Vitebsk, the upper anchor of the Axis White Russian defence line, raced through 40 more villages.

Dispatches reaching here said there was a possibility the Germans already were pulling out of Kiev as successful Russian crossings North and South of the Ukrainian capital imperilled the city, which already is under fire from Soviet big guns mounted on the Eastern bank just across the Dnieper.

"Our divisions have penetrated far beyond the river," said a front correspondent of Moscow's Pravda, "and have captured the defence zone of the Germans along the river and dozens of settlements on the Western bank."

The smash into Novo-Belitsa made Gomel's fall an imminent possibility. Such a development would dissolve Germany's Southern defence anchor in White Russia and open the way for a drive on the capital at Minsk.

It also would leave the Germans only a circuitous route across the Pripet Marshes connecting their sagging Northern and Southern fronts. That route is the Zhlobin-Mozyr-Korosten railway 45 miles West of Gomel, the last lateral Axis-held line short of the Polish border.

In the North, Russian troops were less than 20 miles rom Vitebsk and North of that sector other units were plunging toward the Latvian border through the shattered German line at Nevel.

The Red Army in capturing Gomel's Eastern suburbs killed 3000 Germans and cleared the left flank of the Sosh River opposite that vital rail hub in lower White Russia.

A broadcast communique said 1000 Germans were killed in "fruitless" enemy counter-attacks, seeking to stem the Russian surge beyond its three initial Dnieper River bridgeheads.

The Soviet units converging on Vitebsk killed 1300 more enemy troops, capturing huge quantities of equipment, and freed 40,000 Russian civilians "whom the Germans were forcibly driving to slave labor in Germany," the communique said.

SINK TRANSPORT

At the Southern end of the front Soviet Black Sea fleet airmen struck a "blow on an enemy port," presumably in the Crimea, which is now threatened from two sides by the Russians, and sank a 2000-ton enemy transport and 11 barges and cutters, the communique said.

A total of more than 5300 Germans fell on all fronts during the day, the bulletin said, 58 planes were shot down, and scores of enemy tanks and guns were captured or destroyed.

United Appeal for Manpower Aid for Mines Mooted

VANCOUVER, Oct. 11 (CP) — Hon. E. C. Carson, Provincial Minister of Mines, addressing the annual meeting of the B. C. Progressive Conservative Association here Saturday said mining departments in all provinces are contemplating a united appeal to Federal authorities to ease man[illegible] restrictions on mining operations.

"Federal au[illegible]ies are not giving the mining industry a fair deal," he said. "At the start of the war we had 27 gold properties operating in this Province. Today there are only seven.

"Operators only asked that they be enabled to carry on so that they would be in a position to provide full employment as soon as the war is over. But the Selective Service would not provide the men necessary."

Metals mines were also in a serious position, the Minister said. Their production had been cut in half due to the manpower shortage.

Allied Bombers Plaster Japs in Pacific

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN SOUTHWEST PACIFIC, Oct. 12 — (Tuesday)—(AP.) — Making their fourth 2400-mile round trip flight from an Australian base, American-manned heavy bombers unloaded 25 tons of explosives and started huge fires among docks, fuel and oil depots at Makassar, Dutch Celebes.

The raid was staged Saturday night and all the big bombers returned.

Off the Southern tip of New Ireland, a heavy bomber last night set a medium sized enemy freighter afire some hours after Australian Beaufort bombers either sank or seriously damaged a 2000-ton cargo vessel in the same waters.

The Japanese Air Force raided the Allied base of Buna, New Guinea, 14 enemy planes causing minor damage Sunday. One raider was brought down by anti-aircraft fire.

On New Guinea, where Australians are advancing toward the enemy base Madang, advance patrols caught up yesterday for the first time with Japanese rear guards near positions in higher ground North of the Ramu River Valley. Meagre reports from the front said the Japanese patrols fell back.

French Start Dealings With Russians

By JOSEPH DYNAN
Associated Press Staff Writer

ALGIERS, Oct. 11 (AP)—Gen. Charles de Gaulle has taken the first step in turning his followers and probably the post-war French Government definitely toward Russia, with the Russians reciprocating by intense cultivation of the present French leadership.

Further on the political front, it was announced Saturday that Alexander Bogomolov, Russian delegate to the French Committee of National Liberation, and Edwin C. Wilson, American member of the new Allied Politico-Military Mediterranean Commission, had arrived in Algiers. Bogomolov is the former Soviet representative to the Allied Governments in London.

De Gaulle's statement during a speech in Corsica that the Mediterranean is a pathway for "a natural alliance with powerful Russia" preceded disclosure that Bogomolov would bring a large diplomatic mission.

Andrei J. Vichinsky, Russian member of the Mediterranean Commission, is expected here soon, and is said to be bringing a staff of 20 to 30 persons.

The combined chiefs of Vishinsky and Bogomolov would number, by these accounts, more than 50 political, military and economic experts. Such a large number would reflect the importance Russia attaches to friendly relations with the French Government.

Threaten Whole Nazi Line Along Volturno

By NOLAND NORGAARD
Associated Press War Correspondent

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN ALGIERS, Oct. 11 (AP) — Fighting their way Northwestward from Benevento through sticky Italian mud, Lt.-Gen. Mark W. Clark's American and British forces have captured Pontelandolfo and thrown into jeopardy the entire Nazi defence position along the flood-swept Volturno River North of Naples.

Seizure of Pontelandolfo, 12 miles beyond Benevento, placed the Allies astride a main highway which winds Westward to the Mediterranean Coast North of Volturno. The Nazis either must meet this threat successfully or soon resume their full-scale withdrawal toward Rome.

Pontelandolfo, on the Eastern bank of the Volturno where it turns Northward, is in the mountainous country between that stream and the Tammaro River and about six miles North of one bend of the Calore River.

Allied patrols were reported skirmishing with the Germans on the North bank of the Volturno, but no immediate effort to cross the stream in force was expected. German artillery was concentrated to lay a destructive fire on the more obvious crossings of the swollen river.

Ordinarily the Volturno is only waist deep, but recent rains have sent water racing between its steep 10 to 15-foot banks. The winding stream varies from 100 feet to 200 yards in width.

Fleets of medium, light and fighter bombers the same "flying artillery" that was used with devastating effect in Tunisia—bombed and shot up dozens of enemy gun positions along a 40-mile front.

(The United Nations Radio at Algiers reported that artillery duels were raging across the Volturno and that the Nazis appeared to be massing for a counter-attack. There was no indication where the enemy might be preparing to launch such an attack.)

On the Adriatic end of the Italian fighting line Gen. Sir Bernard Montgomery's British and Canadians of the 8th Army were reported slugging their way slowly forward against intense opposition, averaging gains yesterday of between two and three miles along the Biferno River.

(William Stewart, Canadian Press War Correspondent, in a dispatch datelined With the 8th Army in Italy, reported that Canadian troops pushed across a valley West of a town while there were signs of a German withdrawal to a new line. He said French-Canadian troops formed the vanguard of the drive.

"Troops, from a Western Canadian formation gained an important crossroad objective without encountering opposition. This was in contrast to an earlier action for a crossroads in which Western Canadian troops had a sharp battle before driving the enemy back from well-defended points.)

The advance up the backbone of Italy, which resulted in capture of Pontelandolfo, helped straighten out the V-shaped battle line across the Peninsula. In this drive the Allies also seized the smaller localities of Campolattaro, Fragneto, Reino and Casaldoni.

While laboriously bringing up heavy artillery and armor before assaulting the Nazis across the Volturno, Gen. Clark was reported to be confident of the 5th Army's ability to surmount this latest barrier to Rome in comparatively short order.

Safecrackers Make Big Haul in Coast Cabaret

VANCOUVER, Oct. 11 (CP.)—Safecrackers, holdup men and burglars staged a minor crime wave in Vancouver during the long Thanksgiving weekend, escaping with a total of $2644 in cash and quantities of furs, jewelry, ration books, gas coupons and other articles.

Biggest haul was made at the downtown Cave Cabaret where yeggs blew the safe and escaped with $2000 cash. Wong Bing Won was held up by two men, one of them armed, on a downtown street Sunday night and robbed of $81.

Two other holdup men attempting to raid a Pacific Street confectionery, scuffled with a customer, R. J. Downie, when he interfered, beating him over the head with a pop bottle. They fled without loot but Downie went to hospital where stitches were taken to close a head wound.

CHERSO ISLAND CAPTURED BY YUGOSLAVS

Say Island Controls Whole Coast of Northern Dalmatia

ACTIONS SPREAD

LONDON, Oct. 11 (CP.)—The Yugoslav Liberation army claimed tonight the capture of the important island of Cherso, which commands the entrance to the Gulf of Fiume, and said it controlled the whole coast of Northern Dalmatia except for the German-occupied fort at Zara.

he 30-mile long and 8-mile wide island of Cherso is 25 miles East of the Italian naval base of Pola at the head of the Istrian Peninsula and 20 miles South of Fiume which the Partisan forces of Gen. Drug Tito say they have under direct attack.

Capture of Cherso was announced in a communique broadcast by the free Yugoslav radio.

In addition to holding the Northern Dalmatian coast, the Yugoslav patriots said they had occupied all of the myriad islands along the coast.

The Partisans said the Germans were falling back in the Susak area, just across the bridge from Fiume.

Other fresh successes announced by the patriots as their forces were engaged in wide-spread operations along the whole Northeastern arc around the shores of the Adriatic and along railway lines leading from the coast to German supply bases and railroad junctions in the interior, were the capture of Bijeljina, 75 miles South of Vinkovci and about the same distance West of the former capital at Belgrade, the town of Kamnica near Brecica in Slovenia and the Slavonian town of Cacen on the Zagre-Vinkcel railway.

The taking of Bijeljina was especially important for its command of the plains approaching Belgrade.

German forces, encircled at Ogulin during fierce fighting for the Ogulin-Karlovac-Zagreb railroad, were said to be fighting desperately to avoid annihilation.

Roundabout reports from Rumania indicated a new wave of arrests there which were said to have nipped in the bud a movement to overthrow the Government of Premier Ion Antonescu in favor of one more friendly to the Allies.

The Yugoslav victories were reported to be so severe a setback for the Nazis that the Algiers radio said the German Commander-in-Chief in Yugoslavia was dismissed.

Report TCA Plans Two Atlantic Flights Each Week

MONTREAL, Oct. 12 (Tuesday)—(CP.)—The Gazette in a newspaper story today under an Ottawa dateline says that Trans-Canada Airlines officials are planning two trans-Atlantic return flights each week and are "winterizing" big Lancaster-type aircraft for the job.

The story says: "Following the record performance chalked up Friday night by TCA fliers who took a Lancaster plane from Dorval to a Scottish airport in less than 13 hours, it was revealed that two more Lancasters are in Canada being 'winterized', for the hard crossings between November and April. When they are ready the schedules will call for two planes each way weekly and it will be operated probably next month.—

"Production of a trans-oceanic cargo plane is expected to begin in the Dominion before the end of the year. A start has been made on the design of a four-motored transport plane.—"

U.S. Company Heads Jailed for Sabotage Violations

CLEVELAND, Oct. 11 (AP) — Federal District Judge Emerich B. Freed today sentenced the National Bronze & Aluminum Company's former President, John L. Schmeller, and the latter's two brothers, Edward and Frank, to 10 years each in a penitentiary after a jury convicted them of violating wartime sabotage laws.

The jurist also imposed fines of $10,000 each on the three industrialists, refused to permit their release on bail, and denied motions for new trials.

The brothers, the company and four lesser officials were charged with "knowingly, wilfully, unlawfully and feloniously" making castings "in a defective manner" "with reason to believe that their act might injure, interfere with and obstruct the United States and its associate nation Great Britain in preparing for and carrying on the war." The jury acquitted the company and the four minor officials, and convicted the Schmellers on one industrial sabotage count.

ALLIES MUSTER FOR NEXT PACIFIC DRIVE

Bougainville May Be Next Major Objective

EXPECT BATTLE

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN THE SOUTH PACIFIC, Oct. 12 (Tuesday) —(AP)—Bougainville, strongly-held enemy island base at the Northern end of the Solomons, apparently is the next major objective of United States forces clearing the Japanese from this island group in the South Pacific.

With its surrounding bases in the Buin-Faisi area, Bougainville is one of the last defensive islands in the perimeter the Nipponese constructed around Rabaul, their strongpoint on New Britain, to the Northwest. Unofficial estimates place the number of enemy troops on Bougainville at 40,000 to 50,000.

Complete control of the Central and Southern Solomons came with occupation of Kolombangara Island, announced yesterday by Allied headquarters.

It is regarded likely, Nipple reported, that the Japanese will make a strong stand at Bougainville, Bougainville, with its large air base at Kahili on the South coast, and its harbor on the East coast at Kieta, is of great strategic importance. With it in Allied hands, a mighty pincers operation could be launched against Rabaul.

Australians punching Northward through inland New Guinea toward Madang cleared another route to that enemy coastal base by wiping out a stubborn rearguard blocking a road.

Vichy Sends 1600 Men to Cope With Saboteurs

BERNE, Oct. 11 (AP) — The Vichy Government has dispatched 1600 mobile guards to the Haute Savoie region in an effort to cope with sharply increased sabotage which has imperilled German communications, an agency dispatch to the Tribune de Geneve said today.

The Vichy action followed a Paris announcement that the Nazis had shot 50 hostages Oct. 2 in retaliation for sabotage.

United States Government monitors in Washington reported the Nazi-controlled Vichy Radio said Monday night that "terrorists" had caused an explosion at Potigny, in Yonne Department, that "caused casualties" and severely damaged 70 buildings, including the Pontigny Abbey.

This was flanked by matching tapers in crystal holders. Mrs. James Petrie and Mrs. Robert Anderson, Past Matrons, presided at the urns. Serviteurs were Mrs. W. A. Turner, Mrs. W. Woodhouse, Mrs. Lester Anderson and Mrs. R. Munn.

Urges Congress to Let Chinese Enter United States

WASHINGTON, Oct. 11 (AP) — President Roosevelt urged Congress today to let Chinese enter the United States and grant American citizenship to them and the Chinese already here.

"We owe it to the Chinese," he said in a special message approving legislation the House of Representatives will take up next week to repeal the old Chinese exclusion law and extend citizenship.

Record U. S. Food Output Expected

WASHINGTON, Oct. 11 (AP.)—Predictions of record-smashing food production in the United States this year now are being borne out as farmers push the harvesting of late crops amid generally favorable weather conditions, the Agriculture Department reported today.

Crop production, taken by itself, will be about seven per cent below last year's phenomenal level. But this decline will be more than offset by an indicated increase of 12 per cent in the production of livestock and livestock products, such as cattle, hogs, sheep, poultry and eggs.

To meet unprecedented demands for direct food crops there are bumper crops of potatoes, rice, beans, peas and peanuts.

The third largest corn crop on record—3,066,808,000 bushels—now is being gathered, the Department said. Last year's corn crop of 3,178,154,000 was the largest ever produced.

This year's wheat crop of 836,816,000 bushels is only about average, but stocks of the grain on farms on Oct. 1 were 56 per cent above average.

Nine Seamen From Torpedoed Ship Row Boat 2800 Miles

LONDON, Oct. 11 (CP)—Nine seamen from a Norwegian tanker which was torpedoed by a Japanese raider, sailed and rowed a lifeboat more than 2800 miles across the Indian Ocean in a 30-day voyage, the Norwegian Government rep[illegible]

Nineteen men started the voyage after the raider sank their ship six days out of an Australian port. Ten died of wounds from shell splinters and from exhaustion during the trip, the Captain said.

On the 18th day, after four had died, the boat capsized in a rough sea but the men managed to cling to the craft and right it.

During the next 12 days six more died but on the 30th day land was sighted. It proved to be Madagascar.

Man Who Offered Reward for Hitler's Capture Dies

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 11 (AP)—Dr. Samual Harden Church, President of Carnegie Institute, who gained international Institute, who gained by offering a $1,000,000 reward for the capture of Adolf Hitler "alive and unhurt" for trial by the League of Nations, died suddenly tonight. He was 85.

Church's offer for Hitler, made on behalf "of a group of Pittsburgh residents," was incited, he stated, by information that the Fuehrer was determined to strike soon on the Western front, even though the effort "cost 500,000 German lives." The offer was limited to May, 1940. Church's "information" about the Western drive by Germany proved to be correct.

Fair Weather Improves Canadian Positions In Italy's Hills

By WILLIAM STEWART
Canadian Press War Correspondent

WITH THE 5TH ARMY IN ITALY, Oct. 11 (CP Cable) — The weather turned dry and warm today on the Canadian front in the Abruzzi Mountains after several days' rain which turned the ground into a quagmire.

(Stewart apparently referred to the mountains of Abruzzi e Molise, a group of Provinces in Eastern Italy containing some of the wildest and loftiest parts of the Appenines.)

French-Canadian troops continued their drive West of a valley. They were flanked by Eastern Canadian troops with others close behind.

The French-speaking soldiers, led by a young Colonel, are on a road leading to a junction which is surrounded by high ground which affords the enemy good positions.

The advance met less opposition than during the last few days and the Germans appeared to be drawing back their mortars and guns which poured fire on the road to a town taken by Eastern Canadian troops.

Canadian reconnaissance forces entered one town to the North and patrols of a Toronto infantry regiment entered another.

In the Southern Canadian sector, Western infantry carried out patrols into four towns without meeting opposition.

The Germans are operating from some mountainous positions, using mules to carry mortars and machine guns.

The enemy forces are said to be living off the country, killing pigs and chickens. Enemy engineer parties are still effecting heavy demolition and concealing hundreds of mines in the road which they shell and mortar while Canadian engineers are at work.

The day's warm weather dried much of the mud, which lay over the Canadian area, and has eased movement and transport.

V-Bundles Body of Creston Does Fine Work

CRESTON, B. C., Oct. 11—Working unostentatiously, week by week, Creston Branch of the V-Bundles of B.C., numbering on the average about 20 members, most of them young girls, is making a steady contribution of service, that ultimately makes life more bearable for some war sufferers in Britain.

Chief source of revenue for the organization is the annual dance, in June, netting $150 to $200, most of which is laid out in materials for making up clothing.

Meeting every Monday at the club rooms, the members knit and sew, making new clothing and quilts, repairing used clothing, and so on. Wool scraps are also collected for manufacture of blankets.

Last year the Creston Branch shipped to Coast Headquarters about 1500 pounds of new and used clothing and bedding, and will do as well this year.

Apart from its main objective of aiding British war sufferers, the organization takes its part in all community war drives. In August its turn came around to handle War Savings Stamps, and its members sold $580 worth in the month. It has also contributed cash in all war relief drives in Creston for different countries, and makes a cash contribution toward Christmas parcels for servicemen and servicewomen from the Creston District.

The group has lost many good workers by removal from Creston, but always gets replacements, and carries on.

Present officers are Miss Lily Lewis, President; Mrs. A. Kemp, Vice-President; Mrs. I. Lundell, Secretary; and Mrs. H. Brimacombe, Treasurer.

Archbishop Notes Resurgence of Religion in Russia

LONDON, Oct. 11 (CP)—Back from Moscow, the Archbishop of York told a Press conference today there had been a resurgence of religion in Russia. "The terrible losses and sufferings of the war have brought again into the open what was always latent—the deep religious strain in the Russian national character," he said, adding, however, "it would be absurd to pretend that this is universal."

Japanese forces totalling 30,000 men were reported thrown into the triple drive which began Oct. 1.

LONDON, (CP.)—Mishearing of certain words has caused children to pull "howlers" during church services. A 10-year-old girl was heard to give this rendering of Third Collect at Evensong: "... by Thy great mercy defend us from all parents and dangers of this night," because she had not properly heard the word "perils". An evacuee from London who went to Devon had this version of the Lord's Prayer: "Thy will be done on earth as it is in Devon."

Unauthorized Truck Drivers Strike Ties Up War Freight

ATLANTA, Oct. 11 (AP.)—Truck line operators appealed to Congress tonight to aid in settling an unauthorized drivers 'strike that was spreading West of the Mississippi River after tying up thousands of tons of war freight in the Southeastern United States.

More than 4400 drivers and helpers were idle in six major cities. In the Birmingham district alone 1,500,000 pounds of freight were piled on docks. Other cities fringing the strike zone reported their terminals were packed with overdue shipments.

The strikers are protesting the War Labor Board's delay in its wage application.

Back Loan to Limit—Coldwell

OTTAWA, Oct. 11 (CP.)—M. J. Coldwell, C.C.F. leader, said tonight that differences of opinion regarding methods employed by the Government in conducting the war and in organizing Canada's economic and financial effort "provide no excuse for any of us in not doing all we can to make the new (Victory Loan) appeal even more successful than similar appeals in the past."

In a radio address in support of the Fifth Victory Loan, Mr. Coldwell said that as a nation Canada has suffered little from the effects of the war, and her citizens have much for which they can be "truly thankful."

"Personally, as a critic—and sometimes a severe critic—of the policies of the Government, I nevertheless urge you to make your personal contribution to the new Loan the largest you can undertake by way of cash and deferred payments.

"Apart altogether from the fact that there is no safer or more useful place to put your savings, it is important that any surplus dollars shall not be in a position to demand goods which we could do without until a later date or until the war ends."

The Fifth Victory Loan opens Oct. 18 with a minimum objective of $1,200,000,000.

Joy Tells of Forward-Looking Men of '99; Describes Godfrey Birtch, Well Known Prospector

By R. G. JOY
Historian, Nelson and District Old Timers Association

My roof is finished, and today it's raining, so I am going to take time out to pay tribute to Godfrey Birtch, and to citizens of the early days:

A friend gave me an old Tribune, one of John Houston's papers, in the columns of which appeared the voters' list as at January 7, 1899. Godfrey Birtch is on it as an assessed owner.

I note that at a West Ward meeting recorded in that issue, William Irvine was nominated as a candidate for aldermanic honors. He was nominated by John Kirkpatrick and seconded by J. O. Petersaude. At this meeting the following resolution was moved by J. Matheson, seconded by A. J. Marks, and carried unanimously:

"Whereas the affairs of the City of Nelson have for the last year been conducted in a businesslike manner, therefore be it resolved that the present City Council is entitled to the thanks of the people of Nelson; and be it further resolved:

"That we favor municipal ownership of water and light plants and the control of all franchises that in any way require the use of public streets;

"That we do not favor the issue of debentures for any purpose other than public works that produce revenue;

"That Nelson should be placed in such a position that she could offer industrial enterprises inducements in the way of cheap water, light and power, and a low rate of taxation, instead of money bonuses;

"That all public improvements should be made at the general expense and not by levy or special assessments;

"That the tax levy should only be sufficient to meet the interest and sinking fund charges on borrowed money.

"That expenditures on streets should only be made from the ordinary revenue of the City and not from borrowed money bearing interest."

"A resolution indorsing the candidature of John Houston for Mayor was then introduced and carried by a standing vote with much applause.

BIRTCH DIED AT EDMONTON

Godfrey Birtch died about three months ago. He was sick at our hospital, recovered somewhat, and went to Edmonton, where his family resided. Soon after, he died.

Godfrey was not a man who talked much; he was measured by his work; and many workings on numerous prospects in the Kootenay are monuments to his memory. Prospectors say he was of Swiss origin. He was a faithful member of the Prospectors' Association and I often passed the time of day with him. It was while reading meters at the Madden that I got the following notes from him:

"I came to Nelson in 1899, coming from the Coeur d'Alene country in Idaho, and went to the Rossland District. Morse and Bordeaux were there, also Bill Springer and Phil Aspinwall of Kootenay & Columbia mine fame. I staked the Alaska near the Kootenay and Columbia mineral claim.

"There was no Rossland then. The following season Topping and Hannah came to Trail. I prospected Red Mountain.

"I also prospected around the Silver King group, also on Hall Creek and Rover Creek. I usually wintered in Colville, Wash., coming back to Nelson in the Spring. Nelson was my headquarters.

"I located the Summit and Ore Hill mines in the Sheep Creek area. Ore from these two went as high as $320 per ton in gold. I sold them for $17,000, of which $15,000 was for the Ore Hill and $2000 for the Summit. I sold to Church and Burns. The Ore Hill was later sold to the Sheep Creek Gold Mining Company for $118,000."

Birtch told me that previous to the sale he leased the Ore Hill to a couple of green Englishmen one Winter, and they took out $20,000. He went to the farm at Edmonton—and earned $200.

"I prospected in the Greenwood country, also Camp McKinney," Birtch continued. "I remember when there were 17 saloons in that camp, it will come into its own later, for there are some fine leads there.

OWNED FOUR HOUSES

"I was in the Kootenay for 16 years, then went to the Prairie. I owned four houses in Nelson at one time. I did considerable prospecting around Salmo and went back to the Prairies in the Winter. I also prospected in the Tulameen, in the Nicola Valley."

"You are a married man, aren't you, Godfrey?" I asked him.

"Yes," he replied, "I am the father of five children, three by my first wife, who passed away, and two by the second. The family all live on Prairie farms.

"I liked prospecting. Now I am developing a claim on Rover Creek, a lead-zinc property that carries $10 in gold. It is a slate and schist formation."

Godfrey was 86 years of age when he gave me the above notes, and was regularly carrying a pack of 50 pounds nine miles to Rover Creek.

Bob Qua, another oldtimer, and Godfrey, were very friendly. Meeting Bob at the oldtimers picnic, and having our annual chat, we talked of Godfrey and other oldtimers.

"Yes, George," Bob began, "Godfrey was one of the best. He was as tough as nails but was a poor cook. He used too much grease. I don't see how he stood it.

"They say he would pitch his tent on the snow, placing some brush in it for a bed, and would make an inclined shaft through the snow to his workings, and then work all Winter. He must have been up at quite a height, something like the head of Five-Mile, when the only landmark for the cabins was the top of the stovepipe.

"I remember when he drove a team from the Prairie to Nelson. I helped him to put up his team to pasture in the old fair grounds. Later he went on to Smithers with his team."

"Didn't he prospect at the head of Five-Mile? I remember you showing me some work done by Godfrey in that vicinity," I said.

"Yes, George," Bob went on, "you remember the shaft you found when you were up with your son Arthur when he was wearing short pants!"

"Yes, I remember. It was on the Whitewater slope. I think he must have done the work about 50 years ago."

"Yes George; it was only a stringer, though."

CARRIED PACK OF 50 POUNDS

During the last year here Godfrey was very particular about the weight of his groceries. He would not shoulder his pack if it weighed more than 50 pounds. I wonder how many "Johnny-come-latelys" will be able to pack 50 pounds at 76 years of age!

"Godfrey prospected for the late Tom Moran, one of your old partners," said Bob.

"Yes, Tom told me he located a ledge in his old name in the vicinity of the Whitewater on Rover Creek, a short distance West of Nelson. The Whitewater was one of Monte Davis' ventures. This had nothing whatever to do with the Whitewater in the Slocan, located by Joe Mahoney, now 84."

Several parties have been looking for the source of the wonderful float found on Rover. Prospectors figure the float was deposited by a huge glacier and only the Good Lord knows how far it travelled."

"Well, George," Bob went on, "Prospecting is not what it used to be for the oldtimers. Then you could sell a prospect for a few hundred dollars to get a grubstake."

"I think companies will have to train their own prospectors. In fact, I understand there are a few in the field now. They tell me that Jack Mulholland is out scouting for one company, looking for tungsten."

"Why, I thought they had all they wanted. Perhaps he has come in now."

"I would like Jack to strike something once more, Bob."

"Yes, so would I, George. But the glamor is gone. Companies will not take a chance. They want a mine already developed."

It was getting dark. Most of our conversation took place on one of the seats in the Park. Bob and I were enjoying the stillness of the scene after the Old Timers' picnic was over. During the afternoon I was informed by Mr. Wasson that we have to thank Mayor Frank Fletcher, at that time C.P.R. Land Agent, for Lakeside Park. Frank told the City Council there were about 4½ acres of land for sale by the Lake, and that in future years it might be important for the citizens of Nelson to have a bit of the lakeshore for a park. The Council bought it for a very small sum. Hats off to the foresight of the late Frank Fletcher, an early Mayor of Nelson.

1. Check Inflation Each Week
Underinflation is the greatest enemy of tire life—have your tires checked every week, regularly.

2. Drive Slowly
High speeds use an excess amount of gasoline and greatly reduce tire mileage.

3. Stop and Start Slowly
Quick stops and starts tear off tread rubber and wear off miles of normal tread wear.

4. Take Curves Carefully
Rounding curves at high speeds can double the weight on the outside tire!

5. Avoid Rough Roads
The constant pounding on the tires on rough roads causes fast tread wear.

6. Check Alignment
Misaligned wheels cause tire to be dragged sideways and tread rubber is literally scraped off the tread at every revolution of the wheel.

7. Adjust Wheel Brakes
Have your brakes checked regularly to avoid grabby brakes which result in spotty and excessive tire wear.

8. Straighten Wheel Rims
Bent rims are often the cause of blowouts.

9. Don't Ride Car Rails
Streetcar rails help cars to ride more smoothly but create excess tire wear on the outer shoulders of the tire.

10. Rotate Tires Regularly
Rotating tires every 2500 miles in the manner illustrated at the right—using the spare—can increase tire mileage 25%.

11. Don't Bump Curbs
Running into curbs usually results in a bad break or ruined tire.

12. Have Tires Inspected Regularly
Besides spotting minor cuts and breaks, your Firestone Dealer can tell if your tires are receiving abnormal wear and advise you how to correct it.

Despite any optimistic reports you may hear about the tire situation in Canada, the plain fact is that the next six months are going to be the most critical of the war.

For that reason it is the patriotic duty of every Canadian car and truck owner to redouble his efforts to conserve rubber and make his tires last as long as possible.

Careful driving, regular inspection and preventative service are the secrets of long tire life. None of them cost much, but if properly used your tires will give you thousands of extra miles of service.

No matter what brand your tires may be, put them in the care of your nearest Firestone Dealer today. He has the skill, experience and equipment to be of definite help to you and will do everything in his power to prolong the life of your tires.

Need New Tires?

If you are eligible to replace tires, your nearby Firestone Dealer has the necessary application forms; will furnish the required Inspection Report and do everything he can in assisting you to obtain a Tire Ration Permit.

Supervise Child Until Controlled

By Garry Cleveland Myers, Ph.D.

Many children, especially tots, need more supervision than they get illustrated by the following letter.

Dear Dr. Myers—I have two little boys, one 6 years and the other 4. The 6 year old one hardly ever causes the trouble, but the little one is always into something. He plays around the neighborhood with a little girl younger than he is. What those two don't get into isn't worth mentioning.

SCARED HIMSELF

"The other day they even hung on a milk truck, the little girl let go but my little boy hung on, scared to death, and the driver was too, when he heard him screaming. Now that the scare is over, he would probably try it again. I have spanked him, put him to bed, kept him in the house, scolded him, tried talking nice to him but to no avail.

MORE SUPERVISION NEEDED

If you wish to bring up that tot as a good citizen, you will have to supervise him more closely. You should not have this youngster out of your sight until you have established effective control over him. You waver from one mode of treatment to another. Have a definite plan and follow it to the letter.

Let less important things go — and all else is less important—till you have trained him to respect your directions. Until then, always be right with him when he is out of doors.

Q.—If your child at four years of age or ten chose to use the left hand would you try to change his handedness?

A.—If I were sure never to annoy him in doing so, gentle efforts at persuasion might properly be used. But in as much as one would hardly stop at suggestion or persuasion, it would be safer not to tamper with the child's handedness. There is no proof, however, that shift of handedness will do any harm if it be done without any annoyance whatsoever to the child.

Neglect . . .

Wife Feels Just Like a Slave

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

Dear Miss Fairfax:—We've been married 16 years and have four children, ranging from 15 to 7 years. My husband doesn't care for his home, because he goes out all the time but never takes any of us. He is earning a good salary, and for the past three months has been playing cards and the horses every weekend, and doesn't come home until Sunday noon.

When I mention it to him he says he enjoys himself and that it's none of my business. I thought marriage was a 50-50 proposition, but I can't understand my husband.

I do all the housework, take care of the children and try to keep myself looking up-to-date, and when my husband comes home he doesn't have to do a thing. I even take out the trash barrels and keep the cellar clean. Why can't he have some consideration for me? I feel just like a slave. .

M.M.

Men like your husband don't know what they're missing. To completely neglect his family is to let his children form unsympathetic judgments against him which will carry over from their youthful memories until the time when he, no longer young, would be glad to have their affection and consideration.

Don't let this situation get you down. The fact that your children must depend on you entirely for parental affection is laying up treasures for you in the years to come. If possible, engage in some activity outside the home. Join the Red Cross or enlist as nurses' aide if your younger children will be properly cared for while you're engaged in this work. Sometimes these blind men have their home sight restored.

Above Normal . . .

Safe for Teen Aged to Reduce If They Need To

By IDA JEAN KAIN

"Mother won't let me" is the wail of the 'teen age girl who wants to reduce. Maybe she is right. You should only reduce if your weight is above the number of pounds you are entitled to. At your age, curves put your health on the plus side, and make you prettier too, so don't try to be too thin.

However, being plump, and being fat, is not the same. If your weight is far in excess of normal, like the thirteen-old who weighs 165 pounds, you should do something about it. That something is not "diet" as much as it is to change your eating habits.

You can learn to like the foods which keep you feeling fit but do not make for fat. If you get the right food habits now, you'll never need to worry about your weight.

You 'teen age girls can eat a lot of calories if you are active. Of course, if you're lazy that's a different story.

If you are overweight, you have taken more calories than you have needed and the only way to reduce is to draw on some of these stored calories for energy. You can cut down to 1200 or 1500 a day and include in this number all of the food you need for health and growth. You must concentrate on what you should eat; 3 glasses of whole milk a day, an egg, green and yellow vegetables, three fresh fruits, a whole grain cereal with milk, four slices of whole grain bread and butter and lean meat, fish or fowl or cheese. While you are trying to get your weight down, leave out all cake and pie, cookies, extra bread and butter, fat part of the meat, gravy and extra mayonnaise. And you must keep way from candy and sodas and all in between meal calories.

During your 'teens and twenties, play at some active game or sport. It will help you to grow up to be a beauty, with normal weight and lovely measurements and a superb posture. Here are the Radio City Rockettes tossing a big ball around on the sun deck, for fun and exercise.

Young Baby Is Susceptible to Whooping Cough

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M.D.

My morning paper carried the picture of some babies being treated at the weekly immunization clinic of the Banning Homes project. I gather this is a community movement to make for better health. If so, it is a most intelligent one.

The babies all look very little and young and this graphically answers the question I get all the time, "How old should a baby be when it is time to prevent whooping cough by vaccines?" It shocks some people when the answer is "six months." They think the baby is too young and frail to stand it, but Nature is lying in wait for the baby and doesn't think six months is too young for it to go through a debilitating and dangerous siege of whooping cough itself, so we can afford to imitate nature and also to circumvent her more malignant moods.

The fact is the newborn baby is susceptible to whooping cough probably earlier than it is to any other disease. The mother's blood protects the newborn from contagious disease, but doesn't seem to confer much whooping cough immunity.

Up to six months the baby doesn't "catch" whooping cough because it isn't likely to be exposed, but after that it is a common occurrence.

The newborn baby naturally leads a sheltered existence. So does the child up to the age of five or six. He makes contacts from outside his own family circle, but relatively few. But when school starts, he goes into a room with all sorts of new people, coming from all sorts of new places, and he begins to brush up against them in many an intimate manner—in fact, to put it bluntly but so you can understand it, all sorts of germ swapping begins.

GOOD PREVENTIVE

Whooping cough is one of the most dangerous of the hazards of babyhood. I think we can say now that the modern whooping cough vaccine is successful in preventing the disease in a large number of cases. I was not always persuaded of this, so when I recommended it this recommendation has the added value of a converted skeptic.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

C. M. B.: A woman of 50 years had an attack of angina. Is the heart impaired? Should she have an electrocardiograph taken? Is it O.K. for her to take a cocktail? Is walking permitted?

Answer: An electrocardiograph would show how much heart muscle damage there is. A cocktail is good for her: it is relaxing. Some walking all right, but it depends on how much it tires her.

VERNON MISS WEDS BURTON MAN

A quiet wedding took place in Nakusp, B. C., Oct. 6, when Martha Rebecka May Parker of Vernon became the bride of Emanuel Gotlieb Glaeser of Burton. Rev. O. Grondahl of the United Church at Nakusp, performed the ceremony.

The bride, who wore a travelling costume of navy blue with wine accessories and a corsage of Talisman roses, was attended by Mrs. H. W. Stones as Matron of honor, while the groom was supported by H. W. Stones as best man.

After the ceremony a wedding breakfast was enjoyed at the Nakusp Ice Cream Parlor.

The table was tastefully decorated with pink mums and Autumn fruits with the wedding cake forming the centre piece. Later the young couple left for a short honeymoon to be spent in Nelson, Trail and Vernon, and on their return will make their home at Zincton, B. C.

ORANGE FILLING

2 tablespoons flour, 4 tablespoons cornstarch, 4 egg yolks, well beaten, 1 cup sugar, ½ teaspoon salt.

Mix smooth in double boiler, add slowly the following, stirring constantly:

MURRAY GOODWIN'S eyebrows shot up towards his receding hairline. "What? What's this? Who said that?"

"I did. The Postum you just ordered. You're looking at me as if you are sure you are not going to like me. You think I'm just a substitute for tea and coffee, don't you?"

Mr. Goodwin recovered his eyebrows and voice. "Well—yes. If I hadn't been warned to cut down on tea and coffee, I wouldn't be trying you."

"Let me tell you a thing or two, Mr. Goodwin. I'm no substitute. I have a very special flavor of my very own. Millions of people call me their favorite mealtime drink."

"What brought on all this success, may I ask?"

"I was going to tell you anyway. I'm all wholesomeness. No harmfulness. Nothing to upset nerves or digestion. Add that to my tempting flavor—and you've got good reason why I've become one of the great mealtime drinks."

Mr. Goodwin didn't say a word. He was busy drinking the Postum. A pleased smile settled over his face.

To the waiter he said, "M-m-m—I really have discovered something. I'll have another cup of Postum."

P. S.

Postum is economical (less than a cent a cup) and easy to prepare. Two forms—Instant Postum, made instantly in the cup simply by adding boiling water or hot milk; Postum Cereal Beverage, made like coffee in pot, percolator or glass coffee-maker.

Thanksgiving Renews Courage Trinity Told

Harvest Thanksgiving Services were held in Trinity United Church Sunday and were largely musical. At the morning service the choir rendered the anthem, "Praise the Lord O My Soul," by R. Smart with violin obligato by Miss Daisy Norris, and Mrs. D. D. Townsend, sang the soprano solo, M. Fitzgerald's "We Thank Thee". The Remembrance Guild had arranged fruit and flowers appropriate to Thanksgiving at the front of the church.

Rev. Gordon G. Boothroyd, pastor, described the conditions of the first Thanksgiving, observed by the Pilgrim Fathers in 1621. He showed that their sense of thankfulness for small mercies grew out of the hardships they endured in order to lay the foundations of freedom and happiness, not only of themselves, but of their children after them. They found that the act of giving thanks filled them with confidence and courage to face and overcome new adversities.

Herein Mr. Boothroyd saw the value of Thanksgiving in wartime, when people could say with St. Paul, "I thank God and take courage."

At the evening service the choir rendered the anthems, Elvey's "Re joince in the Lord," and Bach's "Jesu, Joy of Man's Desiring", with violin obligato by Miss Norris.

A large representation of former members of Camp Koolaree from various parts of the Kootenay was in attendance.

The sermon was in answer to the first question placed in the new Question Box in the church. "What is the difference between Religion and Christianity?"

Mr. Boothroyd pointed out that religion in some form had been among men from earliest times and in every part of the world. Man was either building an altar or tearing one down and building another. Christianity, he said, was one of the great religions of the world, and had much in common with these, but far surpassed them in moral and spiritual grandeur because of the uniqueness of the great Founder. People found no fault with Christ, but they were bewildered when followers of Christ failed to show truly Christian qualities, said the speaker. Even Thanksgiving could be a pagan orgy, or a season of Christian fellowship.

Mr. Boothroyd said the parable of the Good Samaritan illustrated the difference between formal religion and true Christianity. "Let us work for the day when 'basic Christianity' is the religion of the whole world," he concluded.

R.C.A.F. Band to Help Rossland Loan Drive

ROSSLAND, B. C., Oct. 11—The R.C.A.F. Band from Edmonton will include Rossland in its itinerary, and is scheduled to arrive here late Saturday afternoon. WEEKLY WARTIME FOOD HINTS

Martha Logan, Swift's famed Home Economist, whose weekly cooking column is a regular feature of this page. Look for these valuable hints every Monday

by Martha Logan

Simmering's the Secret

You get the most from meats in groups C and D by slow, moist cooking

The bones in meats give extra value in meat stews. These extend the appetizing meat flavour and make the most of its nutritional essentials by combining with other foods.

Meat stew is a time saver, too. It is as good, or better, served the second day—may be cooked at any time and reheated at the dinner hour. Wide variation can be obtained by different seasonings and different combinations of vegetables.

SEVEN TIPS FOR STEWS

1. Cut meat into uniform pieces.
2. Coat with well seasoned flour.
3. Brown meat in fat.
4. Add just enough liquid (water, vegetable stock, tomato juice) to cover meat.
5. Cover closely and cook at simmering temperature. Never boil.
6. Add vegetables just long enough before serving to cook.
7. Arrange attractively on platter or in casserole.

For instance, try
SAVOURY STEW WITH VEGETABLES:—

2 lbs. stew meat (Beef, Veal or Lamb)
Flour
1½ tsp. salt
¼ tsp. pepper
2 tbsps. dripping
2 onions chopped
2 cups tomatoes
3 cups boiling water
2 bay leaves
4 stalks celery cut in 1" pieces
1 green pepper diced
4 carrots sliced
Potatoes quartered as required.

Cut meat in small cubes, roll in flour seasoned with salt and pepper, brown in hot fat with the chopped onions. Add bay leaves, tomatoes and boiling water. Simmer with bones if they came with the meat for 1 to 2 hours. Remove bones, and add celery, green pepper and carrots, and potatoes. Simmer till vegetables are done. Serves 6 to 8.

Julia says—
Here's how with fall vegetables

I FOUND, long ago, that fall vegetables can really be both good and different! Take parsnips and rutabagas, for instances. If your family hasn't been too keen about them before, they might like them this way. I know my family does, and they're inclined to turn up their noses at them served in any other way. Here are some suggestions for those two fall vegetables, and others too:

CANDIED PARSNIPS—Wash and scrape or peel parsnips, and cook whole or cut in halves lengthwise. Cook covered in small amount of salted water, about 30 minutes or until tender. Drain, sprinkle with brown sugar, salt and pepper, and bake in moderate oven about 15 minutes, basting parsnips once or twice with hot water and meat drippings. Serve as you would sweet potatoes.

SPICED RUTABAGAS—(This goes for turnips, too). Wash and slice rutabagas, and cook covered until tender in just enough hot, salted water to create a steam, about 15 minutes. Drain and mash and season with salt, pepper and a little ground cinnamon and clove if you like.

CAULIFLOWER SALAD — Wash cauliflower, and separate into tiny flowerlets or chop coarsely. Add raisins, chopped apple, chopped nut meats and marinate in a tart light dressing. Serve on a bed of shredded spinach. This really tastes better than it sounds!

STUFFED SQUASH — Use small individual squashes like Danish. Split squash, remove seeds and parboil in salted water until almost tender. Drain and fill cavities with chopped, cooked meat and tomato mixture. Bake in hot oven (400° F.) for about 30 minutes or until squash is thoroughly tender and meat mixture is heated through.

We Get Satisfaction Out of Our Victory Bond Holdings

Second to the patriotic necessity of raising funds for the prosecution of the war, the strongest argument for the purchase of Victory Bonds by those who have not been investors in any former issue, is that canvassers find that the easiest person to sell is the man or woman who has bought Victory Bonds in one or more of the first four campaigns.

Only in times of stress, in times of urgent need, such as the present when we must destroy the enemy or be destroyed, do the majority of us become bond-buyers. When this war began, the Government bond was unknown to most of us. It was one o fthose mysteries we left to the banks, the insurance companies and the large investors. Few of us had ever seen a bond. Few of us realized the effect of interest earnings or enjoyed the clipping of coupons—just as good as cash—every six months. Few of us realized that it was possible out of our incomes to become holders of securities which would place us in the investor brackets, and give us that much to be desired cushion of cash upon which to fall back if the need arose.

Today it is different. Most of us have bought Victory Bonds. We have discovered how by setting aside money out of income we can fairly rapidly pile up a nice little nestegg for the future in interest-bearing bonds.

Hence, when a canvasser approaches one who has become a bond holder during the past Victory Loan campaigns the question that arises is usually not whether there will be a further purchase but only as to how much the subscriber can buy. And that amount is nearly always greater than the figure which first comes to mind. We have learned not only that it pays to put accumulated savings, whether a small amount or more, into Victory Bonds, but that it is not so very difficult to save by instalment for a larger amount.

Implications of the Four Freedoms

President Roosevelt's "Four Freedoms" were freedom of speech, freedom of worship, freedom from want and freedom from fear. The Trades Union Congress in Britain, representing more than 6,000,000 workers, has passed a resolution which embodies "Four Decencies"—these, it is said, being "a little closer to the average man than the loftier 'Four Freedoms.'" A dispatch to the New York Times which is referred to in the Toronto Star summarizes these wants of the British workers as:

1. A decent home.
2. A decent job.
3. A decent education.
4. Decent social security, which means cash to pay the doctor, and an independent old age.

Number 1, 2 and 4 may be considered a specific application of the principles involved in two of the Roosevelt "Freedoms"—freedom from want and freedom from fear. A decent education is also vitally important, and there should be state aid, if necessary, for those who show special aptitudes which justify special courses of advanced study. All four "Decencies" are well within the minimum requirements of a civilized human being, yet in countries which boast of their civilization these have been denied to vast sections of the population.

It is interesting to find that Henry A. Wallace, Vice-President of the United States, has also been listing postward needs of the world, and has added seven "Freedoms" to the President's four. The first three Wallace "Freedoms" cover ground identical with that comprised in the "Decencies" of British Labor, namely:

1. Freedom from worry about a job.
2. Freedom from worry about a dependent and poverty-pinched old age.
3. Freedom from unnecessary worry about sickness and hunger.

The other "Freedoms" regarded as desirable by Mr. Wallace are:

4. Freedom from strife between workers and business men, between farmers and business men, and between, workers and farmers.
5. Freedom from strife between the races and creeds.
6. Freedom from fear of bankruptcy caused by over-production of necessary materials.
7. Freedom for venture capital, and for inventors of new ideas, to expand production of needed goods without fear of repressive cartels, excessive taxation or excessive government regulation.

There will always, of course, be disagreement as to what constitutes excessive taxation and excessive government regulation. If necessary materials are not to be over-produced, that, it would seem, must involve regulation by the government. If the security demanded by the first of these three "Freedoms" is to be realized, there will have to be sufficient taxation to meet the state's share of the cost. But it is encouraging to find men everywhere, men in office as well as men in offices, men in ministries as well as men in factories, studying the question of a better postwar world and how a new order fairer to the masses of the people may be brought into being.

TALE OF INSULIN

When the Japanese took Shanghai they seized all drugs, including a supply of insulin on which about 500 diabetics were dependent. A Glasgow chemist, A. N. Walker, came to the rescue, despite the probability that the Japs, if he was detected, would do away with him and his assistants.

There was no apparatus of the kind needed, that is no centrifuges, no filterpresses. Walker therefore used muslin bags, just as a housewife does when she makes jelly, and big glass bottles instead of vacuum pans. His only assistants were Chinese coolies. Though he had no experience in making insulin, he found in volume ten of the Reports of Connaughts Laboratories, Toronto, the information that he needed.

The first step was to bribe a Chinese meat inspector to divert enough beef pancreas daily. This was in itself dangerous because the Japs had commandeered all meat. From seventy pounds of pancreas thus obtained Walker made an alcoholic extract every day, concentrated this and kept the temperature low to prevent decomposition. Since the alcohol came from stocks controlled by the Japs, it had to be recovered after use.

After working ten hours a day for ten days Walker and his coolies got an alcoholic concentrate. But the equipment necessary to test it was not at hand. The director of the German medical school lent what was needed and Walker finished the job. A Korean biologist with Japanese sympathies tested the product, approved it, standardized it and then reported the proceedings to the enemy. Asked for instructions, Tokyo decided that the work might continue, provided that Walker handed over a large part of his output. Walker then went ahead on a larger scale. When he was repatriated Shanghai had a plant big enough to produce all the insulin that the city would need for the duration of the war.—New York Times.

M & S TO DO UNWINDING TOO?

Some are reading the lay of the political cards as suggesting that when the time for action comes, Hon. C. D. Howe, provided his health and his political fortunes hold out, will head up the Cabinet portfolio of postwar reconstruction for Canada.

These prognosticators say that reconstruction will call for much of the same kind of activity as Munitions and Supply has been engaged in during the war; that Howe and his present corps of engineers and technicians are big scale see-ers and do-ers; that part of the reconstruction job will be disassembling the structure that M&S has built up; that here we have a machine to do the unwinding as well as the winding up process.

Canadians who will have to go on providing the money for the reconstruction program as they have done for the war are likely to have some strong reservations and questions in their minds about such a setup.

The desperate necessities of war overshadow other considerations; inevitably tend to create a somewhat reckless zeal for production and for supply. Does such experience fit men for wise leadership of our nation toward peacetimeg oals?—Financial Post.

SHACKLED PRISONERS

It is only natural that the shackling of prisoners of war, and most particularly our own men in Nazi hands should arouse indignation. It is exactly the kind of subject to bring down questions in Parliament, and it has done so both in Ottawa and Westminster. Our Prime Minister has, however, said about all he can when answering that the Government concerned feel they have taken all the action they can usefully take now, and that what action should be taken after the war will be for the Government and Parliament then to decide.

Protests between belligerents naturally do not receive much sympathy from the recipients. A nation in the wrong will always be stubborn. In this instance reprisals were objected to by many of our own people and certainly did little good; the Germans have no tenderness for their own men who are no longer effective. To persist in protests may only make things harder for our men. The Germans are aware that we intend to impose penalties on all war criminals as soon as they can be brought to trial. The continued shackling is distressing, but nothing much can be done about it—yet.—Saint John Telegraph-Journal.

Licences must be obtained for inexperienced employees 18 years of age or over at above rates. The minimum for experienced employees 18 years of age or over is $12.75 a week; 35 cents an hour; $1.40 a day. A female grocery store clerk is entitled to the compulsory cost of living bonus which is one per cent of the salary up to $25 a week.

A. T., Nelson—How can I get rid of cockroaches?

To get rid of cockroaches, dust the shelves, tables, floors, runways and hiding places frequented by the cockroaches with commercial sodium fluoride, a white powder obtainable at most drug stores. It should be applied by means of a dust gun or blower. A special article on how to combat cockroaches may be obtained on request to the Publicity and Extension Branch, Dominion Department of Agriculture, Ottawa. Sodium fluoride is poison to humans and animals.

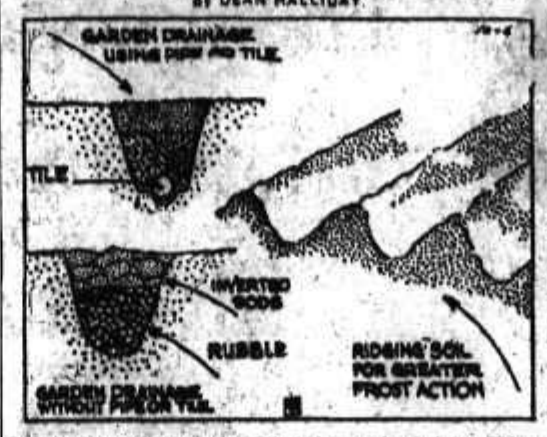
WRONG CHOICE

Peerless Annabelle, the Serpentine Dancer, made the mistake of her life back in 1896. That was when Edison was experimenting with the Kinetoscope, the pioneer movie device, and because Annabelle used 110 yards of filmy white material in her costume, she made a good subject. For her posing, she was offered $15 or an interest in the Kinetoscope. She took the cash. The cameraman had the same offer, and took the interest. He made millions.

So says the Annabelle that was, now Mrs. E. J. Buchan of Chicago, now 65, still blonde and with only a sprinkle of gray hairs. She began her career as a dancer in a small Chicago theatre in 1896. Next door, Sandow the Strong Man was being exhibited by Florenz Ziegfeld. Later, she danced in Ziegfeld's Follies, was the original Gibson Bathing Girl, selected, she says, by the artist himself, and also was the original Nell Brinkley Girl.

Today's VICTORY GARDEN-GRAPH

By DEAN HALLIDAY



PREPARING VICTORY GARDEN SOIL FOR NEXT SEASON

Nearly every Victory gardener is making plans for a bigger and better vegetable garden for next season. And many tasks can be accomplished this Fall which the busy gardener will find difficult to crowd into next Spring's work schedule.

This is the time to improve the soil for next season. If the Victory garden soil proved troublesome this year because it was a heavy clay type, the chances are it has become water-logged and will never give adequate garden results until it has been properly drained.

As illustrated in the accompanying Garden-Graph, pipe or tile drainage is the method most commonly used for garden drainage. This year when it is almost impossible to purchase pipe, and difficult to obtain tile, an effective method of drainage calls for the digging of trenches, as illustrated, and then filling them in with rubble which permits the water to run off. The rubble should be about nine inches in depth and, if possible, covered with a layer of old sods turned upside down.

Any area of the garden which has not been planted with a cover crop can be ridged, as illustrated. This method exposes larger areas of the soil to the action of frost. Freezing results in breaking up the soil into fine particles making it more porous. Ridging is done by shovelling the soil into hills or "ridges" from six to eight inches high.

U.B.C. Lab Will Bloodtest 300,000 Birds of New Season

NEW WESTMINSTER, B. C. Oct. 11—Blood testing of poultry flocks is proceeding rapidly at the University of British Columbia laboratory under Dr. S. N. Wood and his staff. The laboratory capacity has been increased to take care of 4500 blood samples daily.

The British Columbia Department of Agriculture now has three inspectors working in the Fraser Valley under the supervision of G. L. Landon, District Agriculturist at New Westminster. They are Fred Wilkinson of Langley Prairie, Leslie Coles of Cloverdale and John A. Smith of Penticton. Okanagan Valley flocks are being done by H. E. Wahy, District Agriculturist at Salmon Arm, and Vancouver Island flocks by J. R. Terry.

Indications are that a possible 300,000 birds will be tested this year as compared with 200,000 in 1942. In addition to the British Columbia Department, the Dominion Department is blood testing about 100,000 birds in R.O.P. flocks. This will make a total of 400,000 birds in the Province of British Columbia this season.

This is due to an increase in the number of flocks supplying British Columbia hatcheries, and also to the large number of flocks shipping hatching eggs to hatcheries in Alberta, Saskatchewan and Manitoba.

Most of the blood testing is being done in the Fraser Valley, but considerable increases are recorded in the Okanagan Valley and Vancouver Island. Flocks are also being tested at Prince George, Grand Forks and other interior points.

YOUR BANKS are more extensively regulated than any other Canadian business.

Canada's ten Chartered Banks are subject, under the Bank Act, to the most thorough-going regulation. For instance:

The annual audit—conducted by Chartered Accountants appointed by the banks' shareholders—is submitted to the Department of Finance. The Department may call for further special audits, and in addition maintains regular inspections of the banks' affairs through the Inspector-General of Banks, who is obliged by law to examine the banks' books at least once each year.

Then there are monthly returns to both the Department of Finance and to the Bank of Canada. The Minister may also call for special returns at any time.

All this in addition to the Bank Act's extensive regulations covering such phases of banking operation as reserve requirements, types of transactions permitted, interest rates and note issue.

These regulations are for the purpose of safeguarding your savings and guiding the operations of the banks as an essential element of our national life.

Canadians Battled Through Rain and Mud to Grab Firm Positions Along River Sector

By WILLIAM STEWART
Canadian Press War Correspondent

WITH THE 8TH ARMY IN ITALY, Oct. 8 (delayed) (CP Cable)—Canadian troops fought their way through rain and mud to all important heights along a valley today and gained firm positions along the length of the river line.

(Stewart's dispatch did not name the river but dispatches from Allied Headquarters at Algiers Oct. 9 said the British 8th Army, to which is attached the Canadian 1st Division, was battling German Panzer divisions around Termoli North of the Biferno River in Eastern Italy.)

One unit mounted high ground Southwest of a river junction and captured a hillside town. These troops were accompanied in this difficult push by other units which drove toward another town also important on the river line position.

An infantry formation from Western Canada continued to advance in the face of stout opposition. British armored forces moved in to strengthen the sector where the Canadian and British flanks meet and the Canadians brought up more artillery to pound the Germans who are employing mortars and guns all along the line.

Mule teams appeared on the mountainous Canadian front with pack trains which will help defeat the problem of supplying troops in weather which has converted all open ground into a bog.

The weather became warmer and clear Friday after three dark days and three rainy nights which slowed up the Canadian advance but failed to halt it. Except for a one-day break, the troops have been drenched by nearly a week's rain.

The German opposition has been the first of any stoutness since the Canadians landed in Italy Sept. 3 and some troops, particularly the French-Canadians, have been under fire as heavy as they met at any time.

(In a delayed dispatch, dated Sept. 4, Ross Munro, Canadian Press War Correspondent who has returned to London, reported the first Canadian unit to land on the mainland of Italy, hit the beach at 4:15 a.m., Sept. 3, and went from the beaches to occupy Reggio Calabria, capture the airfield South of the City and take 800 Italian prisoners and 35 artillery pieces in the first day. The unit was commanded by a lieutenant-colonel from Toronto.)

MORTAR FIRE HEAVY

The French-speaking troops, who led the main thrust out of the Western door of the valley, were hit by mortar fire which the well-concealed Germans delayed firing from deep trenches. The famous regiment was also submitted to heavy mortar fire after it captured an important ridge. A similar bombardment was laid on troops in the South. Another unit, moving up the road by night, came in contact with a dozen German armored vehicles and fought a deadly engagement in the blackness.

The Germans lobbed shells into the riverbeds where detours around destroyed bridges were necessary. However, a Canadian artillery concentration of field and medium guns and jeep towed 75s, was more than an adequate answer to the enemy artillery and helped drive the Germans from one position after another.

The Canadian guns were dug in valleys around the hillside and, mud or no mud, the gunners from many parts of the Dominion were working overtime packing high explosives into the enemy defences.

The gunfire goes on all day and often through the night the sound of explosions rolls through the mountains like thunder. Enemy guns and mortar fire also added to the noise of battle.

In addition to their mortar fire, which now is the backbone of German resistance, the enemy is resuming heavy mining of roads and ground, particularly spots suitable for Canadian camp areas. Dozens of mines are being dug from the roads by hard-worked Canadian engineers who also rebuild destroyed bridges and maintain detours where the surface has been churned into deep mud by rain and transport movement.

The soggy ground beyond the roads over which the Canadians had been toiling has imposed difficulties not only on the fighting men but also on their supply columns that have to keep them fed and stocked with ammunition. The services, however, are standing up to their job as well as the troops whose fighting spirit is invariably restored by a hot meal when it has been taxed by tough conditions.

No Developments on New Labor Policies Expected This Week

By C. R. BLACKBURN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA, Oct. 11 (CP) — Conflicting reports of radical new labor policies being prepared by Prime Minister Mackenzie King and his Cabinet colleagues remained unclarified by official pronouncement last week, and latest indications are that there may be no public developments this week.

For weeks there have been persistent rumors that the Government was about to adopt a family allowance policy to relieve the pressure on low income families with many dependent children.

Today it was learned from a reliable source that this advanced proposal may be dropped entirely, although it was one of the recommendations to the Government from the Liberal Federation meeting here a week ago.

But it is known that the Government has been occupied to a great extent with this and kindred problems with a view to reaching agreement on a formula that might be expected to make labor happier without damaging the price controls or embarrassing industry.

As a guide to these efforts the Government has had before it the majority report of the National War Labor Board, and the minority report presented by J. L. Cohen, of Toronto, who was ousted from the Board because of his attitude to Government labor policy.

It has also the more recent document—the 18-point program of the National Liberal Federation—which made radical recommendations for family allowances, collective bargaining, a contributory superannuation fund and other proposals to benefit the working people.

None of these documents has been officially released to the public.

From unofficial sources the report was that the Ministers were struggling with the complex problems of family allowances, compulsory collective bargaining, the strain placed on the prices ceiling by rising living costs and demands for higher wage levels, and a general proposal for a labor code.

Latest reports from sources close to the Government are that the Government's policy now planned would make it advisable that Provincial Governments be consulted, and this would mean more delay in reaching any conclusion.

CRANBROOK, B. C.—This city's canvass on behalf of the Salvation Army Red Shield drive for home front work so far has amounted to $950, over half the East Kootenay quota of $1500.

Reports from other cities of East Kootenay have not yet been received. Canvassers in Cranbrook were members of the school staffs and of the Gyro Club under the chairmanship of C. J. Frederickson.

Aged Woman Holds on to Life to See Boy's Decoration

By J. G. GRAHAM
Canadian Press Correspondent

AUCKLAND, N. Z., Oct. 11 (CP.)—One of New Zealand's most poignant war incident occurred recently.

Living just long enough to handle the Victoria Cross won by her grandson, Mrs. Makere Ngarimu died the day after the coveted award for valor was presented by the Governor-General, Sir Cyril Newall, to the father of the late 2nd Lieut. Ngarimu.

The Maori woman—she was 75—became ill the day before the presentation ceremony on Wednesday. She was exhorted to hold on to life until she had seen her grandson's decoration.

News of her illness was kept from visitors so there would be nothing to mar the great presentation ceremony of speeches, songs, dances and feasting, staged with all the traditional color of the Maori races.

As soon after the presentation as possible the decoration, first V.C. to be awarded to a Maori soldier, was taken to her deathbed.

Smiling, she touched the Cross and said, "Now I am happy to join my grandson," she died soon after.

The young soldier won the posthumous award at the Tebaga Gap in Tunisia last March 26.

Cranbrook Telephone Operator Retires

CRANBROOK, B. C.—Mrs. Minnie Egan, who has been night operator for the telephone company here for 26 years, has retired from service. Her retirement was marked by a party of former and current telephone operators who made her a presentation in appreciation of her work.

She began her services in 1917 for the Kootenay Telephone Lines Ltd. Eleven years later this company was bought by the B. C. Telephone Company and she continued her position as night operator under the new management until her retirement.

"I want him home"

"WHEN I read the war news my heart keeps saying: 'Hurry! Hurry!' They can't finish it up fast enough for me.

"Some of our boys have been over there nearly four years, I know, and Jim has been gone only eighteen months. But I want him home—soon, soon!

"I just can't sit still and wait. So I've got myself a war job. And when I'm not working, I'm planning, and that keeps my mind busy all the time.

"When the war loans come along I buy all I can, and every month I figure out how much we have cashed away between us, and I write to Jim and tell him how much it is, and how we'll start out all over again after the war.

"I tell him about the little house we'll have—the shiny kitchen—the living room with a great big cosy chair—and the garden—I want hollyhocks all along the back fence—oh, I dream up the whole thing—

"I live on as little as I can, now, to help hurry things up, and so we'll have more money than we ever thought of having when he comes home. The way I feel these days I believe I could sell a lot of Victory Bonds. All I would say would be, 'I've got a husband overseas, and I want him home . . . soon.' Surely people would understand that."

Yankees Blank Cards 2-0 to Win Crown

By JUDSON BAILEY
Associated Press Sport Writer

SPORTMAN'S PARK, St. Louis, Oct. 11 (AP)—New York Yankees re-established their supremacy in baseball today by conquering the desperately struggling St. Louis Cardinals 2-0 before 33,872 fans for their fourth victory in five games of the 1943 World Series.

It was the 10th world championship for the bombers from the Bronx and the clincher was delivered by two of the veterans who have shared the spoils of many of those previous triumphs—Pitcher Spud Chandler and Catcher Bill Dickey.

The 36-year-old Dickey, one of the greatest backstops in the history of the game, decided the final skirmish in the sixth inning with a two-run homer that landed on the roof of the right field pavilion, 325 feet from the plate.

It was a mighty blow to climax a illustrious career of Dickey, who has been on nine Yankee squads in the World Series starting as a rookie in 1928, and it helped Chandler, 34-year-old dean of New York's mound staff, to his second success in the series.

Without this hefty home run the last contest of the classic might easily have gone either way in spite of the shutout pitching of the Georgia right-hander, for Chandler was pelted for 10 hits and was kept in almost constant trouble by the Cardinals.

At the start of the duel it was Mort Cooper, ace of the Cards, who appeared invincible as he struck out the first five batters he faced and he was going strong in search of a repeat victory over the Yanks right up until the time Dickey clinched the winning ticket.

He had retired the first two batters in the top of the sixth when Harley (King Kong) Keller, an example in futility during most of the series, topped a ball that rolled into right field for a single.

On the sixth pitch Dickey hammered out his homer and that was the ball game, although there were three other trimmings for the fans, whose presence brought an attendance record of 277,312 for a five-game series.

Altogether the Yanks made just seven hits and Dickey's clout was only his fifth of the series, but it was his fourth with men on bases and the third which drove in runs.

The Cardinals used every effort Manager Billy Southworth could conceive to stave off defeat. They made two changes in their outfield, subbing Johnny Hopp, and Debs Garms for Harry Walker and Danny Litwhiler, and they tried to stir up their old base-running style of speed and thunder.

In the first inning they got two runners on base with one out on an infield single, a sacrifice and a walk, but they couldn't break through.

In the second inning they put two on with none out as Ray Sanders singled and banged into Shortstop Frank Crosetti to make him drop the ball on a double play attempt on Hopp's bouncer, but again it was to no avail.

Walker Cooper singled with two out in the third and was thrown out trying to make it a double.

A single and walk gave the Redbirds two runners with none out in the fourth and they came up with one hit in the sixth and seventh stanzas and two each in the eighth and ninth. Yet for all the good it did them they might just as well have been held hitless, for Chandler managed to tighten down and suppress every threat.

The Yankees also made several gestures at Cooper and his successors on the mound, Lefty Max Lanier and Murray Dickson, the right-hander who was given leave from the Army for the series after he had been supposed to enter military service a week before the series started.

Following Cooper's spectacular feat of striking out the first five New York batters, coming within one of the series record, he walked Nick Etten on four straight pitches and a bad throw by Catcher Walker Cooper trying to catch the runner off first let him reach second.

Joe Gordon grounded out to end this business but the Yankees were right back in the next frame pressing for a run. With two out, Crosetti and Bud Metheny hit successive singles and Crosetti reached third before Bill Johnson popped up.

In the fifth, Tuck Stainback singled with one out, was sacrificed to second and raced to third on a wild pitch, but Crosetti raised a helpless fly.

Crosetti fouled off numerous pitches before going out, however, and one of these trips struck Catcher Walker Cooper on the index finger of his right hand causing a compound dislocation that forced him out of the game. He kicked his mitt along the ground in front of him in disgust as he trudged toward the dugout.

As it turned out, however, the injury to their regular catcher did not hurt the Cardinals for his replacement, Ken O'Dea, made two hits on his two times at bat, and came through with a sparkling fielding play in which he caught Chandler's pop foul with two on and one out in the ninth.

After giving up the winning runs in the sixth, Cooper pitched the seventh, putting on a runner with a walk, before being removed for a pinch hitter in the last half of the inning.

Lanier, who had been beaten by Chandler in the series opener, at New York last Tuesday, and who had returned for a starting assignment yesterday without success, came to the mound again at the beginning of the eighth inning, struck out the first batter, gave a single to Johnson and a walk to Keller, and then was saved by a double play.

In the ninth he was topped for a single by Nick Etten and a walk by Gordon with none out. After Stainback had bunted into a forced play attempting to sacrifice, Lanier was relieved by Dickson, who got Chandler on his pop foul, but issued a walk to Crosetti to load the bases before Metheny grounded out to end the inning.

The victory enabled the Yankees to catch a train back to New York, just as they had hoped, by winning three straight games since their one loss to Mort Cooper in the second game at New York.

It also meant that each player received the long end of the players' share in the Series pool amounting to $6123.20 for each member of the winning squad. The Cardinals' players shares were worth $4321.99 each.

Lay That Pistol Down, Mama Roar Yankees

By CHARLES DUNKLEY
Associated Press Sport Writer

SPORTSMAN'S PARK, St. Louis, Oct. 11 (AP.)—The victorious New York Yankees celebrated with song in their dressing room today after regaining the world championship from the St. Louis Cardinals.

Billy Southworth, Manager of the losing Cardinals, trooped in among the Yankee players to extend congratulations to Manager Joe McCarthy. White-haired Kenesaw Mountain Landis, Baseball's High Commissioner, then shouldered his way in.

Relief Pitcher Jim Turner and First-Sacker Nick Etten seized Landis, hoisting him to their shoulders and the players roared into another chorus of "Lay That Pistol Down, Mama."

Landis joined in with them.

The Cooper brothers, Pitcher Morton and Catcher Walker, charged in through the milling mob to extend their felicitations to Manager McCarthy and Spud Chandler, the Yankee right hander who took the clinching decision over Mort, 2-0.

The Cardinals clumped soberly into their dressing room.

Manager Southworth said "the boys stayed in there. I'm proud of every one of 'em. They played clean and hard and I have nothing but compliments for any of them."

Enos Slaughter, 1942 series hero and now in the Army Air Forces, remarked as he left the dressing room of the Cards: "See some of you guys in Tokyo next year."

Schmidt Hopes to See Play

By CHARLIE EDWARDS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO, Oct. 11 (CP)—Milt Schmidt, former Boston Bruins hockey star, in a letter to Vic (Kitchener Record) McKenty said the hockey season with the R.C.A.F. overseas is expected to start Nov. 1 and added: "Hope they let me play this year instead of refereeing. I'd like to play a few more games of hockey before I find myself a permanent referee. Besides I only like six men against me—not 12.

INCIDENTALLY:

Joe Krol is the fastest man in the Hamilton Wildcats backfield. Coach Brian Timmis conducted speed tests over 100 yards with Krol edging Murray Crowe by an eyelash . . . Kingston Frontenacs have some high class hockey material ready for the O.H.A. season—Red Hamill, Steve Latoski, Ron Nelson, Charlie Corrigan, Red Tilson . . . and Ottawa Commandos are not so badly shot as reports would have it. Commandos have salvaged the following from the wreckage of their Allan Cup team: Alex Shibicky, Joe Cooper, Al Barnes, Johnny Inglis, Syd Perin and Walt Murray . . . Flt. Lt. John Sewell, captain of the Penbold Soccer Club that won the Alberta Services League the past two years, has been posted to Moncton, N.B. Young Reginan Puts Away Moleskins, Heads to Bruin Camp

WINNIPEG, Oct. 11 (CP)—Al Rittinger, 16-year-old Regina youth, tonight packed away his moleskins and made preparations to take up a hockey stick.

After playing in the backfield for Regina All-Services Roughriders here today in a Western Canada Armed Services Rugby League tilt against Winnipeg United Services, Rittinger boarded a train for the training camp of Boston Bruins at Quebec City.

Rittinger played Junior hockey last Winter for Regina Abbotts, a Boston sponsored team in the Southern Saskatchewan Junior League.

Services Blast 'Riders 12-0

WINNIPEG, Oct. 11 (CP.)—Winnipeg United Services earned their first victory in the Western Canada Armed Services Rugby League here today when they scored two converted touchdowns to defeat Regina All-Services Roughriders, 12-0.

Two thousand fans witnessed the game which saw United Services team cross the Regina goal-line in the second quarter and again late in the fourth quarter. The win placed the victors in a tie for last place with Regina, both have one triumph.

Hymie Marder, a Winnipeg youth playing his second full season in senior ranks, put the United Services team ahead in the second quarter when he gobbled up Lac. Ken Charlton's fumble of Big Jim Foubister's kick on the Regina 10-year stripe to run the remaining distance to touchdown territory. Lieut. Lee Sherman, who formerly tolled for Union College at Schenectady, N. Y., booted the convert.

The two teams fought it out tooth and nail in the third quarter and for most of the fourth but Cpl. Paul Gates, a member of the United States Army stationed in Winnipeg, swept around right end from the Regina 16-yard line for the second United Services major score. Sherman again drove the ball through the posts for the convert.

McCANCE LEADS WESTERN RUGBY SCORERS

WINNIPEG, Oct. 11 (CP) — Ches McCance, star backfielder with Winnipeg R.C.A.F. Bombers, has taken over the leadership in the Western Canada Armed Services Rugby League's scoring race.

Big Chester, who played with Winnipeg Blue Bombers when they won the Dominion football crowns in 1939 and 1941 has 22 points according to statistics compiled by The Canadian Press. He has four touchdowns and two converts.

Lac. Andy Branigan, McCance's backfield mate in the Winnipeg R.C.A.F. team's lineup, and Cpl. Paul Gates, a running star with Winnipeg United Services, share second place with 10 points apiece. Both have two touchdowns.

Sgt. George Cullen, Regina All-Services Roughriders' halfback, and Lieut. Lee Sherman, husky Winnipeg United Services' kicking ace, are deadlocked in fourth spot with nine points. Cullen has a touchdown, a field goal and one convert to his credit, while Sherman has two field goals and three converts.

Toronto R.C.A.F. Gains Top Tie

TORONTO, Oct. 11 (CP.)—Toronto R.C.A.F. Hurricanes gained a first-place tie with Hamilton Flying Wildcats today by defeating Ottawa Combines 15-3 in the second half of an Ontario Rugby Football Union Thanksgiving Day doubleheader at Varsity Stadium.

In the opener Toronto Indians registered their first victory in four starts by shading Toronto Navy 14-13. The results left Navy and Indians tied for fourth place, four points behind Toronto Balmy Beach, who were idle today, and six behind Hurricanes and Wildcats.

Po. Bill Stukus, clever field general who led Hurricanes to the Dominion championship last Fall, played his first game for the airmen this season and was one of their main offensive threats. Stukus is home on leave and it is not known how long his services will be available to Hurricanes.

R.C.A.F. performed according to expectations at Molson Stadium in Montreal when they sent cellar-dwelling Huntingdon Army down to their sixth straight Q.R.F.U. defeat, 22-5. It was the second game of a holiday twin bill, which forced a three-way tie for first place as a result of Navy's 1-0 upset over Verdun Grads.

Notre Dame Heads Poll

NEW YORK, Oct. 11 (AP.)—Notre Dame ranks as the United States' best college football team today following one of the greatest shows of unanimity ever expressed in the Associated Press' weekly polls to determine the 10 top teams in the country.

Ninety-nine experts participated. Eighty-six of them marked the Irish as best. None of the remaining 13 voters ranked them lower than third.

The Irish, who bopped Michigan 35-12 last Saturday, thus received 941 votes of a possible 990, counting one first-place ballot at 10, a second as nine and giving eight points for a third-place ranking.

The leading elevens with point totals (first place votes in parenthesis)

Notre Dame (86) 941; Army (1) 847; Navy (1) 609; Pennsylvania (1) 406; Purdue 389; Duke 370; Iowa Pre-Flight 325; Southern California 309; Michigan 273; College of Pacific 125.

Mrs. Cooper Takes Over "Dad's" Duties

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 11 (AP.) — A little old lady dressed in black sat quietly at home today and listened to the play-by-play account of the dramatic finale in the 1943 World Series between the New York Yankees and the St. Louis Cardinals.

She was Mrs. Vera Cooper, mother of Pitcher Morton and Catcher Walker of the Redbirds.

It had been the duty of her husband, Robert, in the past to guide the boys along. But Robert died last Wednesday, and the boys were nervous and upset.

So Mrs. Cooper said to her sons as they left for the game:

"I'll just pack up my grips and go back home, if you lose today."

The boys laughed. They relaxed.

Her anxiety was great when the announcer explained Walker had been hurt in the fifth inning. She turned off the radio.

But Morton still was pitching. She turned it back on. He went along, escaping several difficult situations as the game progressed.

It was the sixth inning when Bill Dickey swung and the ball sailed to the roof of the right field pavilion.

She reached her hands out toward the radio, acting on the impulse of her heart to help her husky son. But the damage had been done.

The Yankees went on to win the World Series.

Well . . . of course, she wouldn't pack her bags and go home as she had jokingly threatened. The boys needed comfort now.

Rangers' Prospects Not Very Encouraging—Patrick

WINNIPEG, Oct. 11 (CP.) — Lester Patrick, Manager of New York Rangers' National Hockey League Club, said on his arrival here that prospects for Rangers this year are "not very encouraging at present." Rangers and New York Rovers of the Eastern United States Amateur League need about 3 players, he said.

Here to open his pre-season training camp, the maestro of the ice lanes said that only two regular Rangers will be back—Defenceman Ott Heller and Forward Grant Warwick.

Approximately 30 players will attend the camp, officially opening Thursday. Some players, however, will practice and limber up at the amphitheatre rink early this week.

Patrick said his club is not interested in any players who doesn't possess a passport, necessary to perform across the International Boundary.

GO IN FOR PSYCHOLOGY

NO WONDER the Marines are such terrific fighters—on the land, at sea, in the air. If you have ever watched a foursome of their best bridge players having at each other, you could easily realize what their enemies are up against. They go in for psychology in a big way. They never give an inch when there is the slightest chance to strike a blow. They co-operate with each other to the limit. And nobody can scare them out of doing what they decide they should do.

That great big fellow sitting up in the North was Lieut. Frank Sinkler, who starred as an All-American tackle at Northwestern in the twenties, and in the South was Lieut. Albert E. Haeussler, formerly a duplicate addict of New York and Brooklyn. They surely had typical Marines' bidding technique, starting so mildly and winding up under full headway just as it seemed as if the bidding was about to drop.

It was that which proved so deceptive to the opponents that they seemed to have less strength than was the case. Largely on that basis, East, Lieut. Joe Patton, from New York, read his partner as having some defensive values, and his double was to conceal their location and help make them score tricks. Reporting the hand, Lieut. Haeussler says: "Note my Barclay redouble." By that we hope he means a "percentage" redouble, because what he stood to gain by it was so much more than any loss it might cause.

Lieut. Henry C. (Hank) Ripley in the West led his club K, but this was one of the times when Al Haeussler got maximum results from his cards, as he generally does. He scored an overtrick raking in all 13 in a row.

Wall Street Trend Downward

NEW YORK, Oct. 11 (AP.)—Light selling pressure, coupled with buying timidity, sufficed to put the stock market on a generally downward drift today and leaders were trimmed fractions to more than a point.

There was little in the spot news to account for the sparsity of bids although it was obvious that even the most bullish customers inclined to keep commitments at a minimum or stand aside because of tomorrow's Columbus holiday when the country's securities exchanges will recess. Tax clouds again served to keep the ranks of conservatives well populated.

The Associated Press 60-stock average was off .2 of a point at 49.7. Only 791 issues were traded. Of these, 432 were down, 178 up and 181 without variation. Transfers of 479,585 shares compared with 558,790 in the preceding 5-hour session.

Douglas Aircraft was an exception in the offside current, getting up 1¾ while Sperry advanced ¼.

Bonds were narrow, as were major commodities.

London Market Irregular

LONDON, Oct. 11 (CP)—Trends were irregular in the Stock Market today and dealings were slow.

Industrials eased and Oils were mixed. Among Kaffirs, development issues eased and dividend payers were irregular. Home Rails were steady.

Interpreting The War News

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON
Associated Press War Analyst

A four-way Allied attack on Vinchiaturo Road junction, central communications key to the Nazi delaying stand across the Italian Peninsula, appears to be developing. It bids fair to shake the foe loose from the whole Volturno-Biferno River front in a matter of hours.

The 5th Army's crossing of the Calore River in force to take Pontelandolfo put Gen. Clark's right flank within less than 20 miles of the junction down the Tammaro Valley due South. Directly to the East on the Rome-Foggia main highway, 8th Army elements at Gambatesa were not much more distant, while to the North other 8th Army units astride the Biferno were closing in along both sides of the river with a little farther to go.

There seems no alternative for the Nazis but a quick withdrawal in the centre South of Vinchiaturo to escape an Allied entrapment. With the fall of Vinchiaturo, the enemy front would be broken, compelling withdrawal probably behind the Senagro River on the East flank and to a line based on the Gaeta-Sora Road up the Valley of the Liri on the West.

It is possible, of course, that the 5th Army break-through across the Calore is aimed at a flanking sweep Westward down the river to its junction with the Volturno and thence down the right bank of the Volturno. The upper course of the Volturno, above the Calore confluence must be crossed in that case, however, and the drive Northward instead to take Vinchiaturo in a multi-pronged pincer grip would yield larger and quicker results.

The Volturno loop offers a well protected but local line of defense immediately North of Naples. It could become a serious trap for the enemy if held too long against an Allied advance in the centre. The river comes down a valley paralleling the coast to its junction with the Calore, then flows Southwestward to the sea across the Volturno plain.

An Allied break-through to Vinchiaturo junction, where the Rome-Foggia and Salerno-Termoli highways cross at right angles, would dangerously threaten defenders of the Volturno loop with being cut off from the rear. There is much to indicate that its evacuation for some other front hold up the Allied march on Rome is in immediate prospect unless the Germans are ready to risk a major battle for Vinchiaturo.

Canada Leads Metal Exports

Now the greatest base-metal exporting country in the world, Canada will this year achieve the largest output in its history, according to the Canadian Department of Munitions and Supply. At the same time, Canada is in the paradoxical position of being short of supply of almost all nonferrous metals because the production and the stockpiles are, in effect, pooled for the use of the United Nations, an official report on Canada's wartime industrial activity discloses.

Canada is producing 95 per cent of the combined nickel output of the United Nations; 20 per cent of the zinc output; 12½ per cent of the copper output; 15 per cent of the lead output; 75 per cent of the asbestos output; 20 per cent of the mercury output and 40 per cent of the aluminum output, says E. and M. J. Metal Markets.

Because of the rising war demands, the supply position of most nonferrous metals in Canada showed no improvement in the first half of 1943. Stockpiling revealed that even the essential civilian user may go short of the more important of the metals until the war is over.

Lieut. Ken McBride Gets Baptism of Fire as Western Canadians Advance on Holly-Defended Junction

By WILLIAM STEWART
Canadian Press War Correspondent

WITH THE 8TH ARMY IN ITALY, Oct. 11 (CP Cable)—Troops from Western Canada had one of the fiercest fights on the Canadian front in Italy when they advanced on a well-defended crossroads in this area.

The Western Canadians fought against German armor and self-propelled guns for nearly 12 hours over ground much like the downs of Southern England. They came under intense machine gun and mortar fire but broke up the enemy's defence of the important road junction.

(The location of the action was not given in this dispatch presumably for security reasons, but the Canadian 1st Division, which is attached to the British 8th Army, has been fighting in the neighborhood of Termoli on the Adriatic Coast.)

The operation started in mid-afternoon when a company commanded by Major Syd Thompson of Salmon Arm, B. C., pushed up the open slopes of a hill known to the Canadians as "ten forty." It ended when dawn was near after the Canadians had fought tanks which withdrew one by one.

The audacity of the advance against well-setup German positions dominating the slopes and screening the crossroads behind probably caused the Germans to believe that much more than a battalion of infantry was moving upon them.

When the tanks rolled away, leaving the soggy, brown fields carved with deep ruts, the German machine-gunners already had fled from most of their nests around "ten forty" leaving their equipment and their dead behind.

The officers and men of the company which led the attack up "ten forty" said the Germans stuck by their guns until the Canadians were only about 30 yards away then turned tail, discarding even their helmets for the sake of speed.

But before they left they rained on the Canadians a concentration of fire which the troops said was fiercer than any they previously had experienced.

The Canadians started out for "ten forty" about 4 p.m., as the sun sank toward the ridge where the Germans had a string of machine-gun posts.

With the sun glaring in their eyes Thompson's company swung down the incline to a ravine from which a twin-shouldered hill arises. The ground was soft and sticky from the previous night's rain, making the going difficult.

MCBRIDE IN ACTION

The two platoon commanders—Lieuts. Ken McBride of Nelson, B.C. and Ted Healy of Quesnel, B. C.—were going into action for the first time as were some of their men who had come to the battalion as reinforcements. The third platoon commander was Lieut. A. L. Robinson of Kamloops. Watching the new men closely to see how they would stand up to the fighting were the tough section sergeants, veterans of the previous fighting. (Lieut. McBride is the son of Mr. and Mrs. R. L. McBride of Nelson.)

As the Canadians were within a few hundred yards of the first shoulder the stutter of a German machine-gun broke out and the men dropped flat in the mud. Mortar fire and shell fire began smacking into the soft soil on the right flank and McBride's men could see a sinkie tank firing at them from a nearby slope.

Deep, greasy mud absorbed much of the shell shocks and prevented the free flight of shrapnel. Sgts. Johnny Elaschut of Turin, Alta., Les Leedam of Courtenay, B. C., and George Booth of Vancouver kept the men moving so they wouldn't become easy targets.

Here and there piles of white rock and stubbly brush provided cover as the men inched their way forward, covered by machine-gun fire from their light infantry support higher up the hill, finally getting within range of an enemy machine-gun nest up the other hill.

LIEUT. MCBRIDE

Elaschuk said the newcomers stood up stoutly to their first test and told how the troops mounted the hill a few steps at a time. As they reached the first enemy held ridge, he said, the German gunners fled.

The Company Commander who had been out in front called back for artillery fire on the tank and mortar positions. One of the first men over the ridge was Cpl. Don Cameron, former Sudbury, Ont., boxer who gave chase to the fleeing Germans with a tommygun and had to be ordered back because of the fire from other German positions.

The Company gained the hilltop shortly before dark and the rest of the battalion came up and pushed on. The flight of tanks against self-propelled guns went on after dark along the many ridges before reaching the crossroads.

The battalion withdrew before daylight, but the Germans also left the area and the crossroads were taken the following day.

26 Hurt In Coast Crash

NICHOL, B. C. (CP)—Twenty-six soldiers and three trainmen suffered minor cuts, bruises and shock Friday when an extra Canadian National Railways passenger train collided with a ditcher train on a curve near here while the ditcher was stopped on the main line, a Railway Board of Inquiry learned today.

One of the soldiers and a trainman of the ditcher, F. D. Byers of Prince George, are still in hospital at Prince George, 28 miles West of here. All others injured in the wreck, including six of the soldiers taken to Prince George in a special auxiliary train sent to the scene, have been released.

Railway officials learned the ditcher under Conductor Harry Withiam of Prince George was operating one and a half miles West of Nichol and the crew had been warned of the extra passenger. The crew failed to notice the passage of time until a few minutes before the collision when the conductor ordered a quick run to a siding at Nichol.

The ditcher stopped enroute to pick up a warning flag and it was then the passenger overtook them and the collision occurred.

Asks Why U. S. Spent 100 Million on N.W.T. Oil Instead of Alaska

WASHINGTON, Oct. 11 (AP)—Representative Norris Poulson (Rep Calif) said today the United States Army-Navy Petroleum Board spent $100,000,000 for development of Imperial Oil Company wells at Fort Norman, N.W.T., while a 35,000-square-mile naval petroleum reserve North of Nome, Alaska, remains unexploited. He urged an investigation.

Poulson also told the House of Representatives in a speech that it should investigate corporate connections of the oil company which he described as a private enterprise.

Production of the Canadian wells, Poulson said, does not exceed 3000 barrels daily. A 500-mile pipeline, he added, had been built over "extremely mountainous terrain" to reach them whereas a pipeline to the Alaskan reserve could be readily laid.

"Why has the Board asked for and received appropriations running in excess of $100,000,000 for . . . prospecting in the most remote and inaccessible part of Western Canada not only in behalf of Canada, but in behalf of private enterprise known as the Imperial Oil Company?"

Such activities, he said, had been carried on with the provision that in the event oil was discovered the United States would pay for it at regular market prices and that title and interest to the wells would be retained by the Canadian Government and the company.

"This wild-catting with the American money for the benefit of our Allies would not be so questionable," Poulson continued, "were it not for the fact that the prospecting of the area suggested has been restricted to an established, but to date, limited productive portion of a comparatively remote oil area lying wholly outside of American territory, re-while the economically attractive United States naval reserve within 400 miles of the industrial centre of Alaska, Fairbanks, Northern terminal of the military highway, remains untested."

DiMAGGIO SUED FOR DIVORCE

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 11 (AP.)—Big Joe DiMaggio, erstwhile slugging outfielder of the New York Yankees, was sued for divorce today by the former Dorothy Arnold, screen actress who charged him with extreme cruelty.

DiMaggio, now a sergeant in the Army Air Forces, was on a short leave from the Santa Ana air base near here, and not available for comment.

Joe married the blonde actress in San Francisco Nov. 19, 1939.

Mrs. DiMaggio said in her complaint that the ball player earned more than $50,000 last year, and that they have $100,000 in community property. She asked $500 a month support and $150 monthly for their child, Joseph Paul DiMaggio III, now two years old, whose custody she asked.

VANCOUVER, Oct. 11 (CP)—Pato Consolidated Gold Dredging Ltd., reports a net profit of $1,277,894 in their annual report. The company operates five dredges in Colombia and South America. Two of these had to discontinue operations because of difficulty in obtaining replacements.

Players Split Record Poll

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 11 (AP.)—Each victorious New York Yankee received a $6123.20 "cut" of the melon for winning the World Series today and each losing St. Louis Cardinal took $4321.99.

The Yankees cut up a total of $304,892.41 of the World Series record players' pool of $488,006.74. They voted a total of $9020 in cash awards to severa lmembers of their baseball "family," including the players who are in the armed forces, and divided the rest up into 32 shares.

The Cardinals, splitting up a loser's end of $136,641.52, voted about $500 in cash awards and divided the rest up into 21½ shares.

The rest of the players' pool—$146,401.73—goes to the six clubs which finished second, third and fourth in both major leagues during the regular pennant season. The second-place finishers, Washington and Cincinnati, cut up 50 per cent, or $36,600.43 each. The third-placers, Brooklyn and Cleveland, get 33 1-3 per cent—$24,400.28 each. The fourth-place outfits, the Chicago White Sox and Pittsburgh Pirates, split 16 2-3 per cent—$12,200.15 each.

CANADIAN GUN—GIFT TO MONTY'S MEN

Four months ago, the 20,000 employees of the Inspection Board of the United Kingdom and Canada, through their War Services Fund, donated a $4300 Canadian-built 6-pounder anti-tank gun to the British Eighth Army. The weapon was presented to Col. D. M. W. Smith, of the British Army Staff in Canada, at a ceremony held in the Montreal arsenal where the gun was built. A few weeks later, it landed in North Africa, and was promptly handed over to a Troop of the Queen's Royal Regiment, as a reward for the best day's shooting between El Alamein and Tunis. When Rommel made an unsuccessful attempt to break out from the Mareth Line last March, he lost 50 tanks. Of these the Queen's knocked out 27, and the gun-winning troop bagged eight. Photo shows the gunners standing proudly at attention during the ceremony which included the presentation of the Military Medal to two of their comrades. The Canadian 6-pounder, complete with nameplate, is now one of their most cherished possessions.

Crowded Hall at Michel Greets R.C.A.F. Band

KIMBERLEY, B. C., Oct. 11—The R.C.A.F. Band from No. 3 Manning Depot at Edmonton, touring the Kootenays in support of the Fifth Victory Loan, received a tremendous reception at Michel this afternoon. The streets were crowded with people during the parade and the Concert Hall was filled to capacity. Tonight Fernie entertained the Band and the concert was attended by an overflow audience.

Flying Officer Dalphonn, D.F.M., accompanying the Band as a speaker, has had some thrilling experiences. He was shot down over France and two of the crew were killed. He was taken prisoner and spent 14 months in a German prison camp. He escaped but was recaptured and spent a considerable time in solitary confinement.

But the Germans could not hold him. He escaped a second time and after many thrilling experiences reached the Mediterranean, where he again entered the service of the R.C.A.F. Flying Officer Dalphonn is a native son of Alberta. The Campaign Organizer for East Kootenay, Jack West, met the Band at Michel.

Fishmen Take Combines to Even Series

NEW WESTMINSTER, B. C., Oct. 11.(CP)—New Westminster Salmonbellies evened up the 1943 edition of Canada's national lacrosse championship for the Mann Cup tonight by defeating the defending champion Mimico-Brampton Combines, 10-5.

Combines won the opening game of the best-of-five series Saturday, 10-9.

A crowd of 4700 saw one of the lightest games here this season. The Salmonbellies were blanked in the opening quarter and for a while it looked like a repeat performance for Combines until the Fishmen got rolling later.

New Westminster came back strong to score five times in the second quarter for a half-time lead of 8-3 and never lost control of the game thereafter. They outscored the Easterners 3-1 in the third quarter and matched Combines' two final-quarter goals.

Scoop Hayes of Combines was cut over the right eye in rough play in the third quarter, but officials said he would be ready to go when the teams meet in the third game Wednesday night.

Salmonbelly scoring honors were divided between Bert Bryant, Doug Ross and Bill Wilkes with two goals each, while Isaacs, Masters, Gimblett, Dixon and Brunskill were the Combines' scorers.
