Hold 54 After Terrorist Cleanup

Troops, Spitfires Raid Malaya Hideouts After Widespread Attacks; Capture Child Slayer Suspect

SINGAPORE, July 25 (CP)—Police at Selangor tonight captured four alleged killers and at least 50 other suspected insurgents after British troops and rocket-firing R.A.F. Spitfires made their widest comb-out of Malaya terrorist hideouts.

The men held include a young Chinese suspected of belonging to a gang of ambushers who last week fatally shot 10-year-old Bobby Downey, first European child casualty in the last two months of Communist-inspired lawlessness among Malaya's tea and rubber plantations.

Police flying squads and four columns of troops converged onto a 45-square-mile area of jungle near Semenyih, 25 miles South of Kuala Lumpur, in their search for terrorists.

They went into action at dawn in the wake of rocket-firing Spitfires which made repeated strafing raids on fox holes suspected on hiding terrorists.

In the Semenyih District, troops shot dead a Chinese gunman and destroyed 16 huts belonging to insurgents. They met no resistance and suffered no casualties.

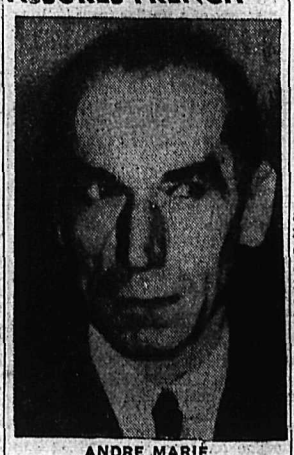
Police entering the village of Simpoh after an aerial strafing found the bodies of two Chinese, an adult and a child. They set fire to a house believed to be a terrorist meeting place.

As the search went on the terrorists were believed to have retreated deeper into the jungle country.

Terrorist attacks during the night covered three states. Five Chinese and a police constable were among the victims.

MARIE WINS VOTE OF CONFIDENCE

Will Form Gov't Without Reds, De Gaulle Followers ASSURES FRENCH



ANDRE MARIE

By LOUIS NEVIN

PARIS, July 25 (AP)—Andre Marie became Premier of France Saturday night with a vote of confidence from the National Assembly.

He will form a Government uniting all parties except the Communists and the extreme Right Wing followers of Gen. Charles De Gaulle.

"My Government will be a stable Government which will restore the confidence of the people of France in their institutions," Marie told the Assembly. He is a moderate Conservative of the Radical Socialist Party.

There are 620 deputies in the Assembly. An unofficial tally gave Marie 370 votes, with about 200 against him and the rest abstentions.

He told the Assembly France must look forward to the day when the European recovery program must end.

TO PRESENT GOVERNMENT TUESDAY

Marie spent all Sunday thrashing out the proposed financial and economic policy of his prospective Finance Minister, Paul Reynaud, an Independent Republican, with the leaders of the Socialist, Mouvement Republican Populaire (right wing), and radical parties, which he hoped to include in his National Union Government.

Reynaud, premier at the time of the French collapse and before that finance minister, is asking special powers as essential to effecting France's recovery.

Marie, thin and ailing from his two years in Buchenwald concentration camp, left the Assembly immediately after his election for the Justice Ministry Office he occupied in the government of Robert Schuman who resigned last Monday.

The Assembly was called to meet Tuesday afternoon so he could present the complete government.

Half-a-dozen centrist parties spent the week pooling their strength to give Marie more than the 311 votes he needed in the National Assembly

SHERIFF SHOT, TWO NEGROES SURRENDER

HAZELHURST, Miss., July 25—The District Attorney in Hazelhurst has announced the surrender of two negroes who were sought in connection with the shooting of Sheriff Julius Harper. District Attorney L. C. McClaren said that the pair have been removed to an undisclosed jail for safekeeping.

McClaren announced that Ferman Fulgham, about 20, surrendered Saturday afternoon, and that Ferman's father, Johnny Fulgham, about 60, Saturday night. Said the District Attorney:

"I am glad we got through this thing without any trouble."

McClaren said a third (Negro) man, who had been sought with the Fulghams, was found to have had no part in the shooting and the search for him was abandoned.

Sheriff Harper was shot attempting to arrest a Negro after an altercation with a white storekeeper and his wife. The woman said she was slapped by the Negro who had drawn a knife on the man

Friday night the posse entered Turkey Creek Woods near Dentville. Afterwards 50 to 75 armed Negroes went into the woods on the opposite side of the creek. Both groups were armed with rifles, shotguns and pistols. They remained lined up during the night.

At daybreak the posse divided into three sections. One pressed into the woods. Another group surrounded the cabin of an elderly relative of the hunted Negroes. A third began searching Negro homes over the area.

The Negroes scattered through the woods.

At least a dozen Negroes were taken to jail at Hazelhurst for questioning and "safekeeping."

Around 8 a. m. the community approached normality. Negroes appeared on the roads and went about their business, and the posse dwindled to about 15.

Two of the white posse were accidentally wounded during the night when they approached the house of a white man who mistook them for prowlers and opened fire.

PERCH LANDS WITH 275 D.P.'S

HALIFAX, July 25.—The United States transport Marine Perch arrived in Halifax at noon today with 275 displaced persons aboard. The immigrants will be accommodated on board special trains drawn up on the pier alongside the boat.

Late Saturday, the Perch's sister ship, the Marine Flasher, arrived in Halifax with 200 immigrants.

Most of the new arrivals are domestic farmers.

DISCOUNT NOTES IN BOTTLE AS SEARCH CLUE

MIAMI, Fla., July 25 (AP) — Another clue to the disappearance of jockey Al Snider, formerly of Calgary, was declared false Saturday.

The United States Coast Guard studied five notes in a bottle signed "Al S" and said they probably were the work of a prankster.

"LIKE A BUCK ROGERS ROCKET SHIP, SHOOTING OFF RED FLAMES"

ATLANTA, Ga., July 25—Two Eastern Airline pilots in the United States are telling a weird story about a mysterious plane that went streaking through the dark skies shooting off red flames.

"It was like a Buck Rogers rocket ship."

The two pilots are Captain C. S. Chiles, and Pilot J. B. Whitted, both residents of Atlanta, Georgia. This is the story they tell:

They were flying before dawn this morning, when near Montgomery, Ala., they sighted a strange object in the skies ahead of them.

To quote Chiles: "When it came nearer to us, within better sight, its fuselage appeared to be about 100 feet long, and about four times the circumference of a B-29 fuselage. It had two rows of windows, an upper row and a lower. Red flames were shooting 25 to 50 feet out of the rear of the strange aircraft. There was a blue glow underneath the fuselage. The plane appeared to be doing between 500 and 700 miles an hour. It was heading towards New Orleans.

"When it got alongside of us," Pilot Chiles said, "it pulled up with a tremendous burst of flame out of the rear. The flames were so bright, they blinded us for a second. We could see the strange craft for only a few seconds. It had no wings. It semed to have an upper deck and a lower deck, and it was fully lighted inside. We saw no occupants."

Chiles said there were 20 passengers on his plane at the time, but only one was awake and saw the strange "Buck Rogers" plane.

Air Force officials in Washington said they could shed no light on the mysterious craft.

And at New Orleans, the Civil Aeronautics Administration said it new nothing whatever about the incident.

Wallace Named by Progressive Party

Senator Glen Taylor Is Running Mate; Peace With Russia AGAINST DRAFT

PHILADELPHIA, July 25 — Henry A. Wallace accepted the Progressive Party's nomination for president Saturday night in a speech in which he suggested that American troops be withdrawn from Berlin.

Wallace declared:

"If I were president, there would be no crisis in Berlin today."

Wallace made his acceptance speech before a crowd of almost 35,000 in a flood-lighted Philadelphia baseball park.

Greeted by cheers that virtually rattled the stands, Wallace shouted that American policy in Germany was born of lust for power and profit. The former Vice-President asserted that Berlin already has been given up politically, and he added: "We can't lose anything by giving it up militarily in a search for peace."

Wallace's nomination, with Senator Glen Taylor as his running mate, has been assured before the convention started. The Idaho Senator made his acceptance speech first. Taylor drew cheers when he came right out with a prediction of victory in November.

In addition to the speeches last night by Wallace and Taylor, the crowd heard an appeal for a march on Washington to fight charges against Communist leaders. Representative Vito Marcantonio of New York made the appeal, setting August fifth as the date for the march on the capitol.

The platform drawn up for the Progressive Party was formally adopted today.

It calls for peace with Russia, repeal of America's draft law, repeal of the Taft-Hartley Act, destruction of all atom bombs and full equality for Negroes and all minority Americans. The platform also calls for Government ownership of large segments of American industry.

Besides its own pledges, the platform uses about 1000 words to show how bad it considers the Democratic and Republican parties to be. The Wallace platform says that both the Republican and Democratic platforms were "conceived in hypocrisy and lack of principle, and deserve nothing but contempt."

It was a screaming, paper-throwing, singing audience that howled a welcome to Wallace as he circled the baseball park in a shiny new car, and made his way to the speaker's platform. Convention Chairman Albert Fitzgerald had a hard time quieting the throng so Wallace could get started on his speech.

DISSATISFACTION OVER PLATFORM

By DOUGLAS B. CORNELL

PHILADELPHIA, July 25 (AP)—The new Progressive Party voted Sunday to pin on Russia and the United States "joint responsibility" for avoiding war and then refused to take any stronger punch than that at the Soviet Union.

National convention delegates nailed into the platform a statement that:

"Responsibility for ending the tragic prospect of war is a joint responsibility of the Soviet Union and the United States."

Then they defeated a proposal to include a declaration that:

"Although we are critical of the foreign policy of the United States, it is not our intention to give blanket endorsement to the foreign policy of any nation."

The convention was in its final session, trying to erect in final form the platform on which Henry A. Wallace will stand as its presidential candidate.

Even as the platform for "peace, freedom and abundance" was submitted to the delegates, signs of dissatisfaction with parts of it appeared.

Pennsylvania delegates were barred from making any attempt to obtain a party promise for government ownership of the coal industry.

RAGING WIND RUINS CRANBROOK EQUIPMENT HOUSE

CRANBROOK, B.C., July 25—Purple clouds broke into thunder and raging wind which in five minutes demolished the big new East Kootenay Equipment warehouse under construction. The 150 by 60 foot structure was of cinder brick on three sides, open to the South with corrugated iron roof. The wind which was southerly lifted the roof and North and West ends of the building collapsed.

The building was being demolished Sunday, preparatory to rebuilding.

LONDON, July 25 — The symbolic eternal flame of sportsmanship has reached the approximate half-way point on its journey from historic Mount Olympus in Greece to London.

One of the relays of runners carrying the flame passed today through St. Maurice — an ancient Roman town in the Rhone Valley. The flame will be used to fire the torch at the 14th modern Olympic Games, which open in London next Thursday.

Rising U. S. Living Costs First Thing on List for Congressmen

By CLYDE BLACKBURN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, July 24 (CP) — United States living costs are heading for the stratosphere and it will be a matter of political fortunes whether the brakes are applied by Republicans or Democrats.

Congressmen reluctantly come back to their Legislative tasks Monday, recalled by President Truman in his speech to the recent Democratic convention.

First thing to hit them will be the latest living costs indices showing a record-breaking increase over 1939.

Tuesday the President will present his program for the special Legislative session, calling for enactment of some of the promises, common to both party platforms.

It is a question whether he will make a forthright demand for power to control prices and wages or merely instruct Congress to do something to stop inflation and let the legislators decide the method.

Politically it may be assumed Truman will prefer to place the onus entirely upon the Republican-controlled Congress.

For similar reasons, some Republicans probably prefer not to do anything about it until after the elections. Price and wage controls will not be popular.

CANNOT ESCAPE CONTROLS

There seems little likelihood that the country can escape the imposition of stiff inflationary controls in the near future.

Republicans are confident they will be in control of both the White House and Congress after next Jan. 20 when the President is inaugurated.

If, by that time, no inflationary controls have been invoked, a Republican administration headed by Governor Thomas Dewey of New York probably would hasten to do something about it.

Truman is in the difficult position of having to woo the labor vote which would be alienated by wage controls. His administration supports farm prices and takes credit for the great boom in both farm and labor income increases.

Baby Bonus, Pensions Attract Newfies To Confederate

By DAVE MacINTOSH
Canadian Press Staff Writer

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld., July 25 (CP) —If Newfoundland joins Canada, she will be doing so largely for money. This is a generalization, of course, for many who voted for Confederation Thursday were voting against responsible government as much as they were for union with Canada.

But, by and large, confederates figure they would be able to make out better with the Canadian dollar than they could on their own.

Newfoundland depends for her economic existence on being able to sell a few staple products — mainly fish and lumber — in the world market. She must import nearly everything for everyday needs.

If world conditions become depressed, Newfoundland would be left high and dry.

The big drawing cards in the confederate campaign were the family allowance and old age pensions. The first provincial government, if Canada takes Newfoundand into confederation, will probably be known as the "baby-bonus" government.

There was a general feeling, even among the hard core of responsible government supporters, that Canada would take Newfoundland into the Dominion. Everywhere one heard the expression "It's over—we're in."

Governor Sir Gordon Macdonald was expected to make a statement early this week on Newfoundland's next constitutional step.

It was reported Friday that the Commission Government would recommend to Canada that she take Newfoundland into confederation.

R. A. MacKay, of the External Affairs Department at Ottawa was scheduled to arrive here today. Though no other details were available, it was presumed he would first hold discussions with the Canadian High Commission of Newfoundland.

With final results in from all but three districts, including Labrador, the referendum showed 77,295 in favor of confederation and 71,374 for responsible government. This was about 51.9 per cent for union with Canada.

About 85 per cent of the 176,000 eligible voters cast ballots.

Extend Trail Boundaries to Include Sunningdale

VICTORIA, July 25 (CP)—Boundaries of Trail have been extended to include the Sunningdale area which runs Northward from that section of the city on the Easterly side of the Columbia River.

Extension of the city limits was made by order-in-council.

An application for the incorporation of the district South of Castlegar known as Kinnaird into a village municipality is under study by Department of Muncipal Affairs officials.

WILLISTON, N.D., July 25. — A section in the Northwest corner of North Dakota was lashed by a destructive hail storm during the night.

The storm destroyed crops in a wheat-belt area 10 miles long by three miles wide, just North of Williston. The hail lasted for one hour. It was accompanied by high winds and a downpour of rain that caused creeks that had been dry to flood.

Common Beer Acts As Anaesthetic

VANCOUVER, July 24 (CP(— A new drug has been added to the dignified anaesthetic list — common beer.

Waiting for removal at slack tide, a badly-gashed British Columbia logger was in extreme pain after an axe accident. His fellow workers leaped into the breach and donated 18 bottles of beer, which the logger drank.

The beer-filled logger was brought to hospital here, where his condition is improving

SARNIA, Ont., July 25 (CP)—Members of Canadian Seamen's Union (T.L.C.) struck June 5 against the advice of the Federal Labor Department, Labor Minister Mitchell said in a letter made public Saturday.

Mr. Mitchell wrote to James Brabazon, President of Sarnia Local, United Automobile Workers (CIO) in answer to a wire criticizing the Labor Minister for his stand in the C.S.U.'s dispute with four lake shipping companies

29 Perish In Nation's Worst Air Tragedy

Holidaying Lumberjacks, Two Couples, Baby and Crew Burned When Craft Rams Quebec Mountain; Plan Investigation

GASPE, Que., July 25 (CP)—A chartered Rimouski Airlines plane crashed and burned on a fog-shrouded mountain top 12 miles from this Gaspe Peninsula town Saturday night and 29 died in the worst crash in Canada's aviation history.

Most of the passengers aboard the four-engined plane were lumberjacks returning from the bush for a holiday after work in the woods of Anticosti Island.

Also aboard were two married couples and a baby.

All men were reported to be employees of Consolidated Paper Corp. Ltd., who chartered the plane.

The two couples aboard were Mr. and Mrs. Helmut Maloney of Montreal, and Mr. and Mrs. Berth McCallum and their baby of Sandy Beach, Quebec.

All bodies were taken to the parish hall here. Dr. Rioux, District Coroner, will hold an inquest tomorrow.

The Department of Transport in Ottawa said Leon Blondeau, District Inspector of Air Regulations at Montreal, was on his way to the crash scene to open a preliminary investigation.

Ground parties who trekked across the rugged bush country to the crash scene to bring back the bodies reported most were burned beyond recognition.

Only the bodies of Capt. Emerson Mills of Rimouski, Que., the pilot, and Co-Pilot Ross Miles of Les Boules, Que., were identified.

The crash occurred near Grand Greve, about 12 airline miles from the seaside town, the plane's destination on a 50-mile flight across the Gulf of St. Lawrence from Port Meunier on Anticosti.

Early reports blamed the disaster on fog which shrouded the hilltops where Gaspe Peninsula juts into the Gulf of St. Lawrence.

Paul Lapointe, Rimouski Airlines pilot, told The Canadian Press the crash occurred about 5:30 p.m. Saturday night, about the time the pilot should have been ready to start his approach to Gaspe airport.

LOSE RADIO CONTACT

When the plane failed to reach the field and the airport control tower lost radio contact with the Dakota, the R.C.A.F. Search and Rescue Division was asked to start a search.

The wreck was spotted this morning by another Rimouski Airlines pilot, Ken Irwin. Airline officials here quoted him as saying "It's a washout."

An Airlines employee with the ground party said the wreckage was perched atop Cape Bon Ami, a cliff about 200 yards from the sea. About 100 yards ahead of the wreckage they found one wing and an emergency door.

One wing was missing and the main fuselage section was crumpled and completely burned out.

The bodies were dragged out by lumber sleds down a cow path to a country road about a half miles down the cliff from the wreck scene. As the last of the bodies were brought out tonight, volunteers from Gaspe stood at intervals along the path lighting the way with flashlights.

BIG-3 ACTION ON BERLIN CRISIS RUMORED

U.S. Willing to Open Talks, but Not Until Blockade Ends ADVISORS MEET

By WES GALLAGHER

BERLIN, July 25 (AP) — Top United States advisors on Russia and Germany met in this blockaded city tonight to map new moves in the Berlin crisis which seemed certain to result in a new Big Four conference.

Reports which could not be confirmed by official sources said President Truman, Prime Minister Attlee and President Auriol of France are planning a direct approach to Prime Minister Stalin.

Gen. Lucius D. Clay, United States Military Governor for Germany who just returned from Washington, indicated there had been a shift in the United States position on the Berlin issue, bringing it into line with the British and French positions.

Following today's meeting of top-rank American diplomats from Washington, Moscow and London, Clay told a press conference:

1. The United States has "expressed nothing but willingness to participate in discussions on German problems, but not under duress."

2. That he thought the Russians had not committed themselves so far that they could not lift the Berlin land blockade.

3. That Allied planes will continue to fly supplies to Berlin "no matter what happens in the (air) corridors."

4. That the United States would start construction work on a new Berlin airport tomorrow.

After the conference, Ambassador Lewis Douglas from London, Ambassador W. Bedel Smith from Moscow, and Charles Bohlen, the United States' State Department's Russian expert, left for London by air.

(A United States Embassy spokesman in London said plans for conferences in the British capital will not be completed until tomorrow.)

The United States, Britain and France appeared to have agreed on accepting the Soviet demand for a new conference on all of Germany. If the French are prepared to act, there are indications that new Western power action should be ready for presentation by mid-week.

There was no optimism, however, that such a conference would solve the problem.

Mystery Balloon Excites Yakima

YAKIMA, Wash., July 25 (AP)—A mysterious, silver object seen for more than five hours today in the sky over the Yakima Valley created a wave of excitement that jammed police and airport switchboards with calls.

Observers said the strange object appeared to be a large, round, aluminum-covered balloon that moved Westerly at a great height against strong prevailing winds.

Planes sent up from Yakima and Richland, Wash., were unable to track it down, although scores of persons on the ground reported they had little difficulty following its Westward progress.

Two Civil Aeronautics Administration employes, George Robinson and Don Hunt, watched the "balloon" through binoculars for two hours until it vanished at 4:20 p.m. (PDT) high over the Cascade Mountains to the West.

Robinson said the "thing" appeared to be surrounded by fog or haze in a crystal-clear sky.

Both he and Hunt, tower controller, were positive it was not a weather balloon nor an advertising blimp. They said that winds, against which it moved, ranged up to 88 miles an hour at 45,000 feet.

"Early" Shift For B.C. Loggers

VANCOUVER, July 25 (CP)—To British Columbia loggers, the early shift means "early" with a vengeance.

The screech of a strident whistle routs them from their beds at 3 a. m. and breakfast is steaming on the table at 3:15. "Noon" in the Summertime schedule comes at 9 a. m., about the time when sensible people are just bestirring themselves.

The day's work is over about 1:30 or earlier, and the loggers must bed down about seven to rest up for another brush with the dawn. He must pass up the pleasant evening hours and the trout filled brooks.

The reason—timber conservation programs. During the Summer season, when humidity is near or below the 30 per cent danger mark, the woods must close during the dangerous part of the day, regardless of production demands.

VICTORIA, July 25 (CP)—A 55-acre fire in the Gold River area of Vancouver Island has been brought under control, Forest Protection Department officials reported Saturday.

Fifteen men are being employed to patrol the area in case of a breakthrough.

3 Counties Want To Prosecute Murli Daniels

CELINA, O., July 25 (AP) — Robert (Murli) Daniels, 24, sulked in a Celina cell today as three Ohio counties—in which he and his "gun-happy" pal killed six persons in 14 days—pleaded for the privilege of prosecuting him. (See picture).

The body of his partner in the two-week spree of wanton killings, 22-year-old John C. West, was sent to Parkersburg, W.Va., for burial.

As Daniels signed a confession Friday night to the killing of four men and two women, from four different families, he told Sheriff F. Roy Shaffer of Van Wert County, who captured him:

"Maybe it would have been better if I had been shot, too. I'm going to burn, anyway."

Shaffer called a conference for early next week with prosecutors from Richland, Columbus and Seneca Counties, to determine where the young slayer shall be tried.

He will probably be released to Columbus, where the two reformatory parolees launched their bloody trail July 9 by killing Earl Ambrose, tavern owner.

RESPECTED FAMILY

Daniels, son of a respected plasterer in Columbus, first hit the courts June 20, 1941, when he was sent to the reform school for auto theft. In 1943 he and two others attacked and robbed a grocer in Pike County. His companions told police Daniels was "kill-crazy" and he was sent to the reformatory in 1944 for a one-to-25-year term. He escaped from the Honor Camp, was rearrested, and finally paroled last September.

Daniels had been working in Columbus, and the following day stole the automobile with which they roared through their short but bloody and spectacular crime career.

The career ended just a month to the day from the time they stole the car, and they left four dead men, two dead women, and four broken families — not counting their own—along the way.

Captured After Slaying

Ray Shaffer (right) at Van Wert, Ohio, shortly after a flurry of gunfire ended Ohio's greatest manhunt. John C. West, Daniel's companion, was shot to death in the gunbattle which ended a 14-day seven slaying crime career. Two police officers were wounded in the fight which brought about Daniel's capture.—AP wirephoto.

Dry Cleaning Facts By "Jonella"

Story No. 32

EQUIPMENT—Part II

Good tools make a better and easier job—in fact equipment has actually been the difference between civilization and barbarism through the ages.

Equipment enabled the German armies to sweep over the European continent during the first two years of the war when lack of equipment stymied the United Nations.

Man's mechanical progress dates from the invention or discovery of the wheel, and prior to that the Stone Age which apparently lasted for at least 10,000 years, might never have terminated, had not man discovered the use and value of metal implements as compared to those of stone.

The three advances which almost comprise epochs in the cleaning industry itself may be illustrated in the three types of spotting boards which the industry have used. The first was merely an old smoothed, plain board usually of maple or walnut with which quantities of cheese cloth, a basin and brush were required. The second was a glass or enamelled surface with a spray gun activated by compressed air, used for wetting and feathering out. The third and latest development is a steam spotting board which uses steam, compressed air or a wet soap solution.

Pilot of Mystery Plane Arrested

NEW YORK, July 25.—Nine men arrived in New York by air from the Azores—to be greeted by a battery of F.B.I. agents.

The nine men had taken off in a B-17 on a mystery flight—apparently headed for Palestine. Their leader, Irvin Schindler, 32-year-old pilot of the plane, was immediately arrested by the F.B.I. Schindler was arraigned on a charge of violating the Neutrality Act by exporting an implement of war, the B-17, without a licence. He was released on $1000 bail pending Federal Grand Jury action. The charge carries a maximum penalty of two years in jail and a fine of $10,000.

Schindler's home town was said to be Miami, Fla. Two of his companions on the B-17 were ordered to Ellis Island because their papers were not in order.

The six others were questioned and finally released. They declined to say anything to newsmen.

Schindler and his eight companions took off in the B-17 about two weeks ago from the Westchester County, New York, airport. They landed in Halifax and then left—allegedly for the U.S. The plane was detained when it landed in the Azores.

TRUMAN REAFFIRMS . . .

World Control Will Lift Atomic Energy Secrecy

WASHINGTON, July 25 (AP).—President Truman reaffirmed Saturday that the United States will lift secrecy surrounding atomic energy when Russia and other countries join in a "workable" international system of control.

Until they do, however, Truman said he has directed that "every effort be made toward maintaining the leading position of the United States" in the atomic field.

He said the recent tests in the Pacific have shown the United States position in the field of atomic weapons has been substantially improved.

Truman's remarks were contained in a statement issued by the White House in connection with an Atomic Energy Commission report to Congress.

BOMBS ON ATOLL

In its report the Commission lifted the secrecy lid just a bit on the recent tests at Eniwetok Atoll to which Truman referred. The Commission let this much information out:

The "three atomic weapons of new and improved design" tested at the super-secret proving grounds in the Marshall Islands were bombs—not non-explosive weapons, as had been widely speculated.

In its fourth semi-annual report to Congress, the Commission said:

"We do not see how it would be possible under the most favorable circumstances to have any considerable portion of the present power supply of the world replaced by nuclear fuel before the expiration of 20 years."

The report indicated that the recent Pacific tests were aimed at getting greater explosive force out of atomic bombs.

The atomic officials hinted also that the tests did considerable damage to the Atoll.

As for peacetime uses of atomic energy, the Commission had this to say:

Radio-isotopes, by-products of the atomic bomb, "constitute the first great contribution of the development of atomic energy to peace-time welfare."

DISEASE TREATMENT

These isotopes, used to trace elements coursing through the bodies of humans and animals and also to treat some diseases directly, "are building up, bit by bit, a new understanding of the dynamic processes of life," the report declared, adding:

"All told, more than 1000 different isotope projects are being conducted today, and they deal, in one way or another, with every important aspect of the physical welfare of mankind."

These atomic by-products were being used for everything from measuring the friction on piston rings to treating goitre.

COMPLETE FIRST 2 ROUNDS GOLFING COMPETITIONS

First two rounds of the C.I.L. Cup and Blanche-Pollard competitions were played at the Nelson greens Sunday. Contestants of the C.I.L. Cup competition played two 18-hole matches while the women played two 9-hole games.

The competitions will continue during the week and will wind up next Sunday. Both are being played on a handicap basis.

Waterfront Damage in Storm

Slight damage resulted in Nelson and along the North Shore from a sudden storm which arose late Friday afternoon.

Although short-lived, the wind was strong enough to blow down trees and boughs over the entire area. Lakeside Park was littered with fallen branches.

Power failed along the North Shore, and was not competely restored until Saturday morning. Suppers were eaten by candlelight. In Nelson, lights flickered several times.

A boathouse on the Nelson waterfront, registered on the Kootenay Launch Club membership list as belonging to T. K. Smith of Trail, collapsed, and a boat inside was damaged. Beside it, a piling snapped off, tore down electrical wires, and narrowly missed two other boathouses.

Dewey Calls for United U. S. Stand

PAWLING, N.Y., July 25. — The Republican Presidential nominee, Governor Thomas E. Dewey, has called for a united American stand on the Berlin crisis. In a statement given out at his Pawling, N.Y., farm home, Governor Dewey asserted that the United States "must not surrender its rights in Berlin under duress."

Dewey made this statement after he had conferred at his farm home with Senator Arthur Vandenberg of Michigan, and John Foster Dulles. Dulles is the New York Governor's adviser on foreign affairs.

Political Revolt Spreads in Red Zone of Germany

BERLIN, JULY 25—A spreading political revolt is indicated in the Soviet occupation zone of Germany—a revolt against the policies of the Communist-controlled Socialist Unity Party. Both German and Soviet news dispatches outline a picture of political unrest which at some places has broken into open violence.

A new wave of arrests is rumored to have been launched against non-Communist leaders as a result of outspoken opposition in some areas. The Soviet official press disclosed that a Soviet military court has sentenced 21 Germans accused as Terrorists of attacking what are listed as Democratic organizations. The alleged attacks in the Soviet zone include bombings of political party headquarters.

The non-Communist press in Berlin said the attacks were made upon members of the Socialist Unity Party and on their headquarters.

The most intense press at the moment is directed against leaders of the Right Wing Liberal Democratic Party. The Liberal Democrats have charged that the Communists are out to liquidate even the middle class after having dispossessed big land owners and industrialists.

The American Military Government's official German-language paper (Neue Zeitung) said that numerous Liberal Democratic officials are being arrested in Saxony and Thuringia, where they have been opposing the new two-year economic plan sponsored by the Communists. New indications, in the meantime, have appeared that the Soviet occupation command and its German Communist Allies may postpone local elections scheduled this Fall.

Youth Glibly Admits Taking Part In 6 Murders; Has Only 2 Regrets

CELINA, O., July 25 (AP)—An unrepentant youth sat unconcernedly in a heavily-guarded jail cell here Saturday, glibly admitting participation in six cold-blooded murders in 14 days.

Good-looking, nattily-dressed, Robert (Murli) Daniels, 22, said he had only two regrets. He was sorry his chain-murder partner, John C. West, 22, was dead, slain by police. And he was sorry he hadn't had a chance to shoot it out with police.

Sheriff F. Ray Shaffer captured Daniels without a struggle Friday near Can Wert, O., as he slept in a new car atop the automobile-hauling truck the gunmen stole in an attempt to elude a gigantic road block.

West, the bespectacled trigger man, received a bullet between the eyes in a wild gun battle in which two officers were wounded, one critically.

While Shaffer was arresting Daniels, West jumped out of the driver's seat of the truck, crouched behind the steel door and blazed away with an automatic pistol at Sgt. L. D. Conn of the Van Wert police, who was aiding Shaffer in a road block.

Conn was wounded, but continued to fire from the ground with a sub-machine-gun, killing West. Frank Freimoth, Van Wert county game protector, had rushed to help although unarmed. He was hit in the right shoulder before Shaffer could throw him a rifle.

Conn, shot in the lungs, rallied after an operation and was reported "considerably improved" Saturday.

"If I hadn't been caught sleeping," Daniels snarled from his jail cell, "I'd have killed all those cops."

Daniels was transferred to the modern jail here from Van Wert. Sumner Walters, Assistant Prosecutor of Van Wert county, described the move as a "precautionary measure." Crowds had milled around the Van Wert jail.

Daniels last night signed a confession admitting the corn-field slayings of John E. Niebel, 50, Mansfield, Reformatory Farm Superintendent; his wife, Nolanda, 52; and their daughter, Phyllis, 21.

He said West shot and killed Earl C. Ambrose, Columbus, O., tavern owner; James Smith, a young Tiffin, O., farmer; and Orville Taylor of Niles, Mich., who was driving the automobile-hauling truck.

Both Daniels and West served terms at the Mansfield Reformatory.

Daniels, known as a "well-mannered, cheerful, soft-spoken fellow" by neighbors, had pride in his voice as he described how he shot down the Niebel family last Wednesday.

"WENT TO GET RED"

"Johnny (West) and I planned this for three or four months," he said. "We wanted to beat hell out of him (Niebel), and if they'd given me a little more time, we'd have wiped 'em all out, those——at the Reformatory.

"We really went to the Reformatory the other day to get Red Phillips (a guard) but we couldn't find him. We killed the Niebels about 1:30 a. m. I went to the door which Niebel answered, and told him our car was broken down and asked if I could use the phone. He let me in, and I covered him with my gun.

"Then Johnny came in and covered him while I went upstairs and got the women. They were all fully clothed, and we drove right through Mansfield with them. We made them undress in the car, and throw their clothes out along the road.

"We finally got to the corn field, and told them to walk in. There was no criminal attack on the women, and we didn't slug anybody. He (Niebel) told the others not to offer any resistance, and they didn't.

"I told them to line up. Then I shot him, then the girl and then the woman."

Forks Grower Recalls Disappearance Of "Spook House" Mystery Victim

GRAND FORKS, B.C., July 25 — William J. Gibbs, farmer and prominent seed-grower in Almond Gardens, Grand Forks, and Mrs. Gibbs, were close neighbors for five years of Thomas C. Hall, victim of the 19-year-old mystery murder at Calgary. They knew Hall and his family fairly intimately. Gibbs lived at 1809 Twenty-Fourth Avenue NW, Calgary suburb, and Hall lived at 1805 Twentieth Avenue. A man named Lambert lived in the only house between them. The Gibbs moved from Calgary to Prince George, and came here 14 years ago. Since that time Fred Hall, eldest son of Thomas Hall, worked at Trail smelter for several years.

The Gibbs remember the disappearance of Hall quite well. Mr. Gibbs got the loan of a carpenter tool from Hall and two days later went to return the tool, but found no person at the house. He retained the tool and went back some days later, but still no one was at the house. He never saw Hall afterwards.

Gibbs says that Hall as teamster made a hobby of plowing gardens and lawns in Summer and was well known. He saw a good deal of Hall, who had a fine team of horses. Gibbs recalls that when he went to the Hall home to return the carpenter tool he looked in the stable and although the harness hung on regular pegs, the horses were not there, and he never saw them again.

Mr. Gibbs took no special interest in Hall's family affairs. However, it was known that the boys lived with the father and their mother lived at some distance, in the Sunnyside or Hillhurst area of Calgary. The youngest son, John, would leave to live with the mother for a time, and then return again.

READ "DEATH" STORY

Mr. Gibbs remembered distinctly reading the newspaper article that told of Hall's death in an automobile accident in North Dakota. He does not know what paper he saw it in, but the story was a clipping from a United States paper. He thinks it appeared in 1930.

Mr. Gibbs had never known of Hall being in the brokerage business and regarded him as a man of moderate means only.

Seeing his name mentioned in the papers that he was sought for information concerning Hall, Mr. Gibbs went to the Grand Forks Police today and stated he would be glad to be of assistance. He is a delegate to the seed conference at Vernon on Monday.

457 Australian Runs Bring Near Cricket Tie

LEEDS, Yorkshire, Eng., July 25 (Reuters). — Australia had made a surprising 457 runs for nine wickets in an unfinished first innings by close of play Saturday night in the fourth test cricket match against England. This left Australia only 39 behind the England first innings score of 496.

It was the third day of the five-day match.

The strong Australia batting display was aided by playing conditions. All the life went out of the pitch after the first half hour and the batsmen were well on top from then on.

At close of play Ray Lindwall and Ernie Toshack were both batting confidently. Toshack had someone to run for him because of cartilage trouble.

Australia won the first two test matches and the third was drawn. Thus England can do no better than tie on the series and Australia retains the Ashes, mythical emblem of world cricket leadership. England had to win the series to take back the cricket title.

Severely Burned Man Crawls From Flames, Dies

SUDBURY, Ont., July 25—A 68-year-old American tourist was burned to death in a fire near Blind River, Ont., this weekend. The American was Albert E. Johnson of Lansing, Mich.

The fire destroyed Johnson's Summer camp on Worthington Lake 51 miles North of Blind River.

Friday evening another camp owner visited Johnson and found him repairing a kerosine refrigerator. Returning to his own camp, the man heard a call for help. When he looked back, Johnson's $6000 camp was a mass of flames. When the man returned, he found Johnson dead, about 30 feet from the blazing camp. Apparently, despite the severity of his burns, he crawled away from the flames and died almost immediately.

There will be no inquest.

FIVE KILLED AS TRUCK, BUS COLLIDE

ST. PAUL, Minn., July 25 (AP) —At least five men were killed and 14 others injured, three critically, in a head-on collision of a baseball club bus and a large truck on the outskirts of St. Paul shortly before noon Saturday. Both vehicles burst into flame.

Coroner C. A. Ingerson said it was possible a sixth man also perished. The cremated remains of at least three men and possibly four were taken to the morgue, he said.

Known dead, Ingerson said, are George Edward Treadwill, 42, of Superior, Wis., Business Manager of the Duluth Club of the Northern Baseball League, and James Greelich St. Paul, driver of the truck.

Tentatively identified as among the dead were Donald Sherer, Bob Bredwell and Gilbert Trible, all of St. Louis.

The bus was carrying 17 members of the Duluth Baseball Team, en route to St. Cloud to fulfill a playing date Saturday night.

The accident occurred as the bus and the truck met at a small rise on the highway on the North edge of St. Paul.

SEATTLE, July 25 (AP) —The crash of a bus and truck at St. Paul, Minn., killing five members of the Duluth Baseball team, brought back to the Northwest the memory of a similar tragedy June 24, 1946, which took the lives of nine Spokane, Wash., ball players.

The Spokane team's bus, swerving to avoid an approaching car, plunged down a cliff on Snoqualmie Pass and burned in the rocky canyon below. Six men and the bus driver survived.

Three players, driving by private car from Spokane to a series with Bremerton in Western Washington, missed the accident. Jack Lohrke, this year a New York Giant's player, earned the nickname "Lucky" when a telephone call took him from the bus in mid-state, just before it started up the Pass.

Baseball fans opened their hearts and pocketbooks. At Christmas time in 1946 the families of the victims received $114,805—raised through donations and benefit games.

In the Spring of 1929 the Portland, Ore., team of the Pacific Coast League had one player killed and several injured in an automobile accident. The same team lost another man in a traffic crash in midseason.

Stalin Aviation Day In Russia

MOSCOW, July 25—Today was Stalin Aviation Day in Russia. A great display of Russian air power was staged at Tushino Airport near Moscow. It started with salvos of 100 guns, followed by the spelling out of the phrase, "Glory to Stalin," in the sky by a formation of 95 planes.

This was the beginning of an aerial parade run off in three sections. In the first section, amateur pilots of the All-Union Society of Voluntary Assistance to Aviation demonstrated group flying. The second section was made up of jet-propelled planes, and the third consisted of heavy transport planes carrying parachute troopers.

The planes carried a huge red flag across the field and five Yak fighter planes piloted by women put on a stunting demonstration. The women had been decorated for war service.

The broadcast said the show emphasized what it termed "the newest aviation technique."

NEAR SPEED OF SOUND

The Russian commentator claimed that some of the jet fighters in the aerial pageant approached the speed of sound. He added that the display was directed by Stalin's son, Air Force General Vassily Stalin.

Cards 5, Tigers 3 . . .

Demore Leads Parade In Tenth Inning

After two mighty swings Louis Demore teed off on a terrific double to start the Cardinals off on a 5-3 triumph in the tenth over the Nelson Tigers at the Recreation Grounds Sunday.

All tied up, the West Kootenay Baseball League game went into the tenth 2-2 and then things started to pop. First Julie Bilesky skipped over to first, stole around to third while Cavanagh and Andy Bilesky went out swinging. Playing Coach Demore left the bench to pinch hit and hit he did. His first two efforts did nothing but feel air but the third found the apple coming down the alley and the ball was bound for far away places. Bilesky came in, and Demore was safely on second. Next man in line was Robertson who made first on a costly error for the Tigers. Demore completed the circuit on the same play for the second run. Meanwhile Robertson had thieved his way to third and was ready to move in from Jankola's only hit of the ball game.

TIGERS FIGHT BACK

Nelson made a terrific bid to get back into the running from a triple and a double. It was something to make a coach start pulling his hair. Old Warhorse Tinling, always good for extra base clouts, smashed a neat double to left field followed by Fritz Koehle's whistling triple over Demore's head, which brought in Tinling. With only one man out McKinnon settled down to some close chucking to offset the threat. Fred Madden got away a bounding grounder into the mitt of Julie Bilesky who threw him out at first in plenty of time. Coach Roy Anderson went in for Nash, but bowed out swinging and the Cards had another win to add to their ever-increasing list.

The win gave the Trailites a tighter hold on the first position, moving them three games off the second place Tigers in the West Kootenay Baseball League.

FIVE HITS

The loss was no fault of Mathers on the Tiger's mound. Mathers turned in a sparkling performance, allowing only five hits in the 10 innings, two of which were registered in the final frame. In baseball circles Mathers is quoted about the tops in hurlers in the Kootenays and judging from his throwing Sunday his supporters just aren't whistling.

As yet Mathers is not attached to any club, but takes time from his Grand Forks business to keep in shape. Besides chucking the odd game for the Tigers he has played several games in the Okanagan.

On the opposing mound Bob McKinnon in the full stretch gave out 10 hits, twice as many as issued by Mathers.

The Cards started to grind out runs as soon as the game got away. In the top of the first Terry Cavanagh, of hockey fame, connected for a single and moved to second from Julie Bilesky's hit to centre field. After stealing to the last stop Cavanagh was scored with a bunt by Red Sutherland. Next man to bat was Robertson who tallied his only hit of the engagement to bring in Bilesky.

From the second to the tenth the smelter city boys were held scoreless by the brilliant work of Mathers.

Haldane was the first man to register for the Nelsonites from Mather's single in the bottom of the third and in the fourth Madden came in from Pitts' single to knot the score.

For six innings the game hung in the balance until Demore started leading the parade across the plate in the extra inning.

Pasture for Stymie After 126th Race

NEW YORK, July 25 (AP) — Stymie, former $1500 bargain-counter plater who became the leading money-winning horse in the world, was retired from racing today. Ironically, the tough old turf veteran collected exactly $1500 in his last race.

Hirsch Jacobs, who trained the sturdy seven-year-old chestnut campaigner for his wife, Mrs. Ethel D. Jacobs of Forest Hills, N.Y., said Stymie suffered a fractured sesamoid bone in his right forefoot during the Monmouth Park Handicap Saturday at Oceanport, N.J.

Stymie finished fourth and was obviously not himself as Bayard Sharp's Tide Rips won the Monmouth. Instead of $19,850 first money, he had to settle for what to him was a paltry $1500 as he emerged lame from the 1¼-mile event. That left his all-time earnings at $911,335 and $88,665 short of becoming the first horse in history to win $1,000,000.

Jacobs said Stymie would be sent to Kentucky for breeding purposes when the injury is healed.

"It could have been worse. I've always been afraid he might break a leg some day while racing."

The Monmouth was the 11th start of 1948 for the son of Equestrian-Stop Watch, which was foaled at the King Ranch in Texas, April 9, 1941. He won four, was second three times, and ran third twice, earning $95,275, compared with $299,775 in taking seven of 19 stars a year ago.

Not the greatest horse of his day, Stymie was one of the toughest. He earned his money the hard way, a little here, a big pot there, always out there running an honest race. Always far back in the early going, he came with a stretch rush to win many of the big ones.

He won 35 races — 25 of them stakes—was second 32 times, third on 26 occasions, and was unplaced 33 times. Exterminator, racing's famed "Old Bones" raced only 100 times, while Display, termed the "Iron Horse" of his day, folded up after 103 starts.

Bosox Take Over Lead From Tumbling Tribe

By STEVE ROBERTSON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Boston's rampaging Red Sox tossed a bombshell into the tight American League race over the weekend as they took three out of three from Cleveland Indians to displace the Tribe at the top of the standings.

The Indians, who have held first place virtually since the start of the season mainly because of their ability to beat their closest contenders when the chips were down, sagged all the way to third place, leaving the Sox to fight it out with Philadelphia Athletics for the top spot.

Connie Mack's club suffered a single defeat in three starts, dropping the second game of their Sunday doubleheader with Detroit Tigers to wind up eight percentage points behind the Red Sox. The Indians are 1½ games off the pace, with a slim percentage-point lead over the fourth-place New York Yankees.

The Red Sox, who now boast a 12-game winning streak, played it close all the way, coming from behind twice to sweep their Saturday doubleheader 6-5 and 2-1 and taking a single Sunday game 3-0. Bob Feller and Bob Lemon were the Tribe's losing pitchers in the twin bill, though Lemon socked a two-run homer to aid his cause.

Boston's Sunday victory was fashioned out of a two-run triple by Bobby Doerr and a homer by Dom DiMaggio behind Joe Dobson's steady six-hit pitching. It was Dobson's 13th win of the year.

Carl Scheib, whose pinch single capped a five-run rally that gave Philadelphia an 8-6 victory Saturday, gave up four Detroit tallies in the second inning as the Tigers grabbed a 10-2 victory. Earlier, Detroit had been shackled by Joe Coleman who allowed them seven hits for a 4-0 victory—his 10th of the campaign.

THREE FOR YANKS

The Yankees had a busy weekend, splitting two games with Chicago White Sox Saturday and beating them twice the next day. Spec Shea, the fat boy of their pitching staff, won his first game in two months as the Yanks took Saturday's opener 6-2. Then the Sox hung a 10-inning 8-4 defeat on Joe Page, ace New York relief hurler.

Ed Lopat scattered nine Chicago safeties as the Yanks won 5-3 and Joe DiMaggio's two homers gave them a 7-3 edge in the two Sunday games.

Two 11th-inning tallies gave St. Louis Browns a 6-4 win over Washington Senators and an even split in their Sabbath doubleheader. Ray Scarborough pitched Washington to a 7-1 victory in the opener. The Brownies had no trouble winning the Saturday game 13-2 on a 20-hit barrage.

NATIONAL LEAD UNCHANGED

Things were calmer in the National League as first-division teams split their Sunday doubleheaders to maintain their positions. Boston Braves stayed five games in front as they lost two out of three to the third-place St. Louis Cardinals. The Red Birds virtually tied Brooklyn in second place as the Dodgers broke even in two starts.

All three Boston-St. Louis games were one-run decisions with the winning team coming from behind. The Cards needed 10 innings to take Saturday's tilt 4-3 after trailing 3-0 in the early innings. They did it again, scoring twice in the last of the ninth to take Sunday's first 6-5. A three-run homer by Bob Elliott, followed by Jeff Heath's four-bagger, gave Boston the third game, 8-6.

Danny Murtaugh's first home run of the year couldn't have come at a better time. The Pirate second-sacker lost one of Rex Barney's fast balls in the eighth inning with the bases loaded to give Pittsburgh a 7-4 decision over Brooklyn after Burt Shotton's club took a 7-6 edge in the opener.

Jackie Robinson stole home with the winning run in the first game, Brooklyn's ninth win in 11 starts since Shotton took over from Leo Durocher.

Durocher's New York Giants ran into unexpected trouble with the tail-end Chicago Cubs, splitting a Saturday doubleheader and losing Sunday's rubber game. Dave Koslo's five-hitter gave the New Yorkers a 3-0 victory but Doyle Lade, recently recalled from the Pacific Coast League, tamed the Giants 3-1 in Saturday's second tilt. A two-on homer inside the park by Eddie Waitkus gave the Cubs Sunday's game, 6-3.

Courageous relief pitching by Lefty Kent Peterson, who struck out the last two batters with the bases loaded, saved Cincinnati Reds an 11-8 victory over Philadelphia Phils. Ewell Blackwell threw a five-hitter at the Phils in the second game to win 9-2.

The Phils won Saturday's tilt 7-5, Rookie Curt Simmons getting credit for the victory.

Fernie Plans Celebration For Labor Day

FERNIE, B. C., July 25—The annual Fernie Labor Day program is to include an Old Boys' Reunion, Rodeo and Carnival in addition to the usual sports lineup.

The Old Boys' Reunion followed a suggestion by Jack Wallace on the occasion of the 50th anniversary of the laying of steel into Fernie. In addition an old time dance is planned for Labor Day night. The Rotarians and the Gyros have pledged themselves to grow beards and anyone not cooperating will be subject to a fine of $5.

The Fernie Rodeo Association will hold their event on the Saturday before Labor Day. This should prove to be an added attraction as no Rodeo has been held for the past two years.

No queen contest will be held this year. Instead a straight draw will probably be decided upon.

The celebration will be handled by a joint committee of the Fernie Gyro Club, Rotary Club, Miners' Union, Hospital Society and the Canadian Legion. William Thomson is Chairman, W. Laurie Secretary and George Turner, Treasurer. Committees formed included: parade, R. Candy; publicity, V. Ball and F. Bennett; football, D. Furheaux; baseball, T. Servello; softball, N. Gill; dance, A. Van Sacker; band, E. Edgar, carnival, Gyro Club; old boys', J. Dufour.

The celebration will cover three days, from Saturday, September 4 to Monday, September 6, inclusive.

Better Golf

By SAM SNEAD

Yesterday we discussed the head position and why most good players turn their chin a bit to the right while they are in the address position. Today we explain that point further. Pictured is a golfer determining which is his master eye. Form a circle with your thumb and forefinger. With both eyes open look at some object ten or twenty feet off, getting the object in the centre of the ring. Now close your left eye. If the object remains in the centre of the ring, your master eye is your right eye. If, when you close your right eye, the object remains in the centre of the ring, your master eye is your left eye. In most people, the left is the master. So in shifting your head slightly to the right in the address position, you will not only be better able to draw a bead better on your ball, but also, as I explained yesterday, you will already have your head in the position desired without moving it throughout the backswing and the swing down to the ball.

Recreation Site, Land Exchange Discussed at Trail

TRAIL, B.C., July 25—Discussions on the proposed site for a civic centre and exchange of the city-owned cemetery in Tadanac for Victoria Park highlighted a meeting of about 15 members of the Trail Property Owners Association Friday night.

Although no decisions were made on these topics, two members of the Executive were delegated to investigate and report on the future status of the Trail rink.

Sellout Crowd To Watch London Title Bout

LONDON, July 25.—A sellout crowd of 46,000 will watch Gus Lesnivich defend his light-heavyweight title when he meets rugged Freddie Mills Monday night at White City Stadium in London.

Promoter Jack Solomons announced today that every seat has been sold, and he appealed to fans to stay far away unless they hold tickets. The return scrap between the two 175-pounders has created great interest on this side, being considered perhaps the most important fight held in Britain in modern times.

If Lesnevich can repeat the knockout victory he scored over Mills two years ago, he is considered a good bet to slug it out either with Joe Louis or Jersey Joe Walcott in September.

CONFIDENT OF LOUIS

Nat Fleischer of Ring magazine, who flew across to witness the title fight, remains confident that Louis will defend his heavy crown "just once more" if Lesnevich is the challenger.

The last time Gus fought Mills, in May of 1946, he knocked the Briton down five times in the second round and had him on the floor four more times in the 10th before the referee stopped it.

Only four seconds remained of the round when Lesnevich, both eyes nearly closed, was declared the victor. Mills and his Manager, Ted Broadribb, have complained ever since that the referee should have held off and given Mills a chance to recover in the rest period.

Main Makes Clean Sweep In Ontario Tennis

OTTAWA, July 25 (CP)— Lorne Main of Vancouver Saturday made a clean sweep of the Ontario Tennis Tournament by winning the senior singles crown 6-3, 6-1, 2-6, 6-3 from Gaetan Valois of Ottawa.

The two-fisted 18-year-old playing his last year in junior ranks, annexed the junior title Friday, when he also moved into the finals by upsetting top-seeded Don McDiarmid of Ottawa.

In the final the youngster got off to an early start and despite a valiant stand by the Ottawan closed the match in four sets.

Pat Macken of Montreal, meanwhile carried off the silverware in the women's singles, defeating Sonia Swift of Ottawa, in straight sets 7-5, 6-2. Miss Macken had little difficulty after the close first set.

The Toronto Women's Doubles team of Mrs. Ruby Fisher and Mrs. Anne Friedhoff won the final over Mrs. Louise Brown and Dorothy Hurst of Toronto, 6-4, 6-8, 7-5. The hardfought contest drew a large gallery.

The junior women's doubles was won by Pat and Diana Lowe of Ottawa, who defeated Miriam Rainboth and Joyce Felix, also of Ottawa 6-1, 6-3.

It Can Happen Here

At a recent meeting of the Communist Party in the United States, one of the leaders, Vito Mercantonio, declared that "only the Communist Party could protect this country against Fascism." Commenting on his statement, Dorothy Thompson said: "One wonders why the Communist Parties in Germany and Italy, the two strongest on the Continent, did not protect those democracies from Fascism; and why Switzerland, where Communism was illegal, avoided Fascism and war."

There cannot be the least doubt that if the Communists had been free to infiltrate into the political and social life of Switzerland before the war, that country, which borders on Germany and Italy, would have been forced into Fascism and dragged into the war. Germany and Italy were overrun with Communists after the First World War, and the result was Hitler and Mussolini—both of whom originally were Socialists. The Communists had made such headway in Germany that a Soviet Republic had been actually set up in Bavaria, and the uprisings in the Rhineland, in Hamburg and Saxony were fomented by Comintern agents.

Hitler took advantage of this situation and formed his National Socialist Party (Nazi) as an alternative to Communism. In Italy the Fascists had stamped out Communist activities in the great strike of 1920, which was followed two years later by Mussolini's march on Rome. The Russian revolution itself started with a democratic movement among the labor unions. The Bolsheviki were a small minority. G. R. Treviranus, in his "Revolutions in Russia," says: "In November, 1916, there existed no Bolshevist Party of great numbers in Russia," yet less than a year later the Bolshevists under Lenin and Trotsky were in complete control of the Government and military. Czechoslovakia is the latest example of the sudden seizure of power by a Communist minority. And it can happen in any country where Communists gain a foothold.

Speed Aids Research

With the help of fast air freight, dry ice and scientific insulation it has been possible, for the first time in medical history, to transfer heat liable products to countries 12,000 miles apart.

From the Public Health Laboratories in London a consignment of bacteriophage was flown by British Overseas Airways Corporation to the Institute of Medical and Veterinary Science in Adelaide, South Australia, thereby enabling important medical research to be carried out in Australia.

Packed in dr yice in a specially constructed carton, the consignment consisted of dried cultures of bacteria sealed in glass ampoules and bacteria sealed in glass ampoules and bacteriophage in fluid form. The dry ice was renewed en route and the carton arrived in Adelaide in perfect condition four days after leaving London.

Questioner, Nelson—Can you please find out the weight of the Sammartino trout that was entered in the Trout Derby some years ago?

The biggest catch of the 1940 season of the Kootenay Lake Trout Derby was caught by Lorenzo Sammartino of Trail. It weighed 26 pounds, 10 ounces, was 40½ inches long and was nine years old.

Mrs. A. W., Trail—Is there any chemical solution that will make wood or fabric fireproof?

Strictly speaking it is impossible to render wood completely incombustible, but an almost absolute immunity against the attacks of fire can be imparted. For immersion or imbibition the following is advised: 100 parts of ammonium phosphate, 10 parts per 1000 of boracic acid, or 135 parts of ammonium sulphate, 15 parts of sodium borate, five parts per 1000 of boracic acid. For each of these formulas two coats are necessary.

Wood, straw or textiles may be fireproofed by treating them with a solution of 10 to 20 parts of potassium carbonate and four to eight parts of ammonium borate in 100 parts of water. Wherever excessive heat occurs, this compound, which covers the substance, is formed into a glassy mass, thus protecting the stuff from burning; at the same time a considerable amount of carbonic acid is given off, which smothers the flames.

Fabrics—Ammonium sulphate, eight parts, by weight; ammounium carbonate, 2.5 parts; borax, 2 parts; boracic acid, 3 parts; starch 3 parts, or dextrin, 0.4, or gelatin, 0.4; water, 100 parts. The fabric is to be saturated with the mixture, previously heated to 86 degrees F., and dried; it can then be calendered in the ordinary way. The cost is only two or three cents for 16 yards or more of material.

P. T., Castlegar—Would you please tell me where I can send or bring a German letter to be translated into English?

German dictionaries are available at local bookstores.

Can any reader supply the above information?

J. G., Rossland—What countries were represented at the Munich Conference in 1938?

LETTER FROM BRITAIN

By EDWARD HODGKIN

Once a year, in June, the ballroom of Grosvenor House in Park Lane—one of London's largest and smartest hotels—is taken over by Britain's antique dealers for their Fair and Exhibition. More than 100 dealers set up their stalls, and the total value of goods on show is probably about four million pounds. The Antique Dealers' Fair, however, is not a show only for the man with the well-lined purse; anyone with a pound or two to spend who goes there can find something useful or ornamental for his home. The only quality that the exhibits have in common is that they are all genuine. A committee of experts "vet" every piece that is sent in and guarantee it with their professional reputation. No fake Chippendale chair or imitation Chelsea china will pass their keen scrutiny. This guarantee is one of the main reasons why each Summer the Fair draws visitors from all parts of Britain and from overseas countries.

The patron of the Fair is Queen Mary, who has always been a keen collector of antiques. Like most collectors, she finds it difficult to pass an antique shop without going inside to examine the display, and, although she admits that her own collection is now extensive and she only buys things to give away as presents, she usually makes a purchase. A friend of mine who opened an antique shop in London last year was astonished one afternoon recently when Queen Mary arrived unannounced and unaccompanied, inspected everything he had to sell, and bought a pair of silver candlesticks before she left the shop.

Humbler shoppers have been buying antique furniture during the past few years because new furniture has been scarce; and they have realized rightly that a chair or a table which has survived about 200 years' wear is not likely, in any sense, to let them down. But now there is good news for those who are anxious to have new furniture. Harold Wilson, President of Britain's Board of Trade, has announced in the House of Commons that utility furniture can be bought without the dockets which, hitherto, it has been necessary to surrender for such purchases. These utility dockets have been given to priority classes, to newly-married couples or to citizens who have never been able to replace their household goods since they were bombed in World War II. These people will still have first claim on the furniture to the extent of the units issued to them, but traders with utility furniture available will be able to supply anyone without units.

This utility furniture is good; simple, strong, and of pleasing appearance. The designs on which it was based are certain to be employed in postwar years. The same is true of Britain's utility china. This was also designed during World War II, when mass production was essential and the more fanciful lines had to be reserved for the export market. But there are few people today who would care to change the shape of the china they now use.

Before World War II one often found that teapot handles were too hot to hold and milk jugs so constructed that the milk dripped down the front and made a pool on the tablecloth. Modern utility chinaware has been designed so that this does not happen, and the days of scalding and slopping have passed without regret.

It is, I think, a great achievement that utility goods—furniture, china and clothes—have won popularity despite their name. The word "utility" has, perhaps, rather a harsh sound, like "austerity", and one or two excusable mistakes were made in the early days, during World War II, when economy schemes were being inaugurated. Men's suits, for example, were made with no turn-ups to the trousers and fewer pockets on the coat. Men were shocked and tailors were horrified, and many little conspiracies entered into to avoid these restrictions.

Apart from a few early ups-and-downs of this description, the utility idea immediately attracted Britain's people.

Windermere Gypsum Deposit Over Million Tons, Company Estimates

INVERMERE, B.C., July 26 — Columbia Gypsum Products Incorporated mine at Windermere was visited by nine members of the Spokane Valley Chamber of Commerce new industries committee, inspecting the "mountain of gypsum" the committee said they found the claims of the company well justified.

Keen interest in the potential million dollar industry in the Spokane Valley which will follow construction of the pulverising plant prompted the trip.

The committee reported "literally a mountain of pure gypsum which shows every indication of being one of the largest deposits in the West." Company officials conservatively estimate the deposit as being well over a million tons.

The gypsum will be hauled nine miles to Lake Windermere station and transported over the Kootenay Central to Cranbrook hence to Spokane where the processing plant will convert it into gypsum board, lath and soil conditioner. The mine is 190 miles from Spokane.

A three mile road from the quarry to the main highway which has been under construction is nearing completion and production at the mine will begin shortly. Very little overburden covers the deposit which will be quarried by the open face method.

The first two carloads shipped will go to Canadian plants for production classification, company officials say. Sample assays show an exceptionally high grade gypsum having only 15 per cent impurities. Further assays will be taken as the work progresses.

$600,00 SPOKANE PLANT

It is planned that more than $600,000 will be spent at the Spokane Valley site for the pulverized, calcined and fabricated into gypsum board, lath and soil conditioner. A 100 ton-per-day calcining kettle costing $64,000 will be erected to process the plaster. One of the major items of construction following erection of the pulverising plant will be the board and lath plant involving an expenditure of $350,000 This will be the first such plant in the Northwest company officials stated. Offices will also be constructed at the plant site.

Accompanying the Chamber of Commerce officials on the trip were Gypsum Company men including James O'Dowd, Design Consultant, Sarkas Terzian and G. S. Livingstone of Nelson, and E. E. The MODERATE MAN

A moderate man is temperate in his thinking . . . in his actions . . . in his convictions . . . he is moderate in all things.

He has the respect of his family, his friends and his associates. He is, in short, a contented and a happy man.

And when an occasion calls for the use of whisky, he is a man who knows, as The House of Seagram has so frequently pointed out, that he has an obligation to himself, and to his community . . . it is, to drink moderately or not at all.

Men who Think of Tomorrow Practice Moderation Today!

Goldwyn Seeks Young Actress to Take Part in "Roseanna McCoy"

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, July 23 (AP) — Samuel Goldwyn is seeking a young stage actress to replace Cathy O'Donnell as Farley Granger's teammate.

Only a few weeks ago, Goldwyn was hailing the O'Donnell-Granger duo as his greatest love team since Vilma Banky and Rod Laroque. Then the executive and Miss O'Donnell encountered some differences of opinion and her contract was ended "by mutual agreement."

Plans are still going ahead for a Sept. 1 start of "Roseanna McCoy," a backwoods story which was to start the romantic pair. Goldwyn's casting director flew East this week to hunt for a new girl.

MARXES MUM

Harpo Marx tells me he and his brothers are making no statements about their retirement as a team after their current "My Blonde Heaven." That's something new for the boys, who are often forecasting their break-up. They will do a picture based on their lives after this one. Harpo says their changed attitude has something to do with a letter from their uncle, veteran actor Al Shean. He signed it, "82—and still looking forward to next week."

S. Slocan Church Auxiliary Notes 35th Anniversary

SOUTH SLOCAN, B. C., July 25—A special service was held in St. Matthews Church on Sunday evening to commemorate the 35th anniversary of the Women's Auxiliary of the Diocesan Board of the Kootenays.

The Rev. W. J. Silverwood officiated and gave an eloquent address on the missionary work of the W.A., taking for his text "The love of Christ can straineth us" which is the W.A. motto. Mr. Silverwood asked the congregation to stand for a moment's silence in memory of three faithful members, who had passed away, Mrs. F. H. Russel, Mrs. G. Topliss and Mrs. T. White. Special hymns were sung with Miss M. Murray as organist.

Following the service a reception was held in the Parish Hall when fifty guests were entertained by the members of the W.A.

Mrs. P. O. Bird, President of the branch was in charge of the proceedings which opened with community singing led by Mrs. J. Batley, with Miss Murray as accompanist.

The three original members of the W.A. whose names were still on the books were Mrs. J. D. Yeatman, the first president, Mrs. Turner Lee, the first secretary-treasurer and Mrs. O. W. Humphry, all life members of the W.A., also Mrs. R. J. M. Power and Mrs. Collingwood Gray, charter members.

Mrs. Yeatman spoke of the organizing meeting held at the home of Mrs. T. A. Wheildon, when the Rev. J. R. Kennedy, our first Vicar of the Parish was chairman, how she had been interested in W.A. work in Toronto through her mother's association with the Auxiliary.

Mrs. Turner Lee spoke of the interest she had in W.A. work through the years from the first meeting it had been her great pleasure to meet the members when the meetings were often held at their repective homes and in a busy home life, you might not have met them otherwise. The object and aim of this W.A. had been of special interest to her all through the years.

Mrs. Lee later gave an interesting recitation by request.

Mrs. Bird in her speech of welcome said she was glad to see so many there showing their interest in the W.A. She told a few things done in missionary work in helping the church with a grant of $40 a year towards the block assessment a $10 parcel of food to a clergyman in England, a $30 outfit for an Indian schoolgirl in Saskatchewan and the monies sent away to help educate missionaries families who have so often to be left behind.

Apart from missionary work they have supported the Red Cross drive, the Save the Children Fund and the Flood Relief Fund.

They gave to the public address fund which is used in the community. The W.A. sponsored the clearing of the church, the flowers for the altar and the decorations at the various festivals.

The arrangements for the enjoyment of the guests were delightfully carried out. The tea tables set down the centre of the hall was very inviting centred with a silver basket of lovely crimson roses and gleaming silver appointments on a white damask cloth.

Mrs. Yeatman and Mrs. Humphry poured tea for the first part, followed by Mrs. Turner Lee and Mrs. G. N. Brown.

Mrs. Bird was general convener of arrangements for the evening.

Mrs. J. Murray being in charge of refreshments with Mrs. Greavison and Mrs. H. James assisting, the serving aides were the Misses Molly Murray, Marjorie Greavison, Doloret Loewen, Doris Greavison and Diana Davis.

"We are gathered in the spirit of prayer, praise and thanksgiving to thank God for 35 years of W.A. activity in this Parish and community, and, too, in a spirit of reverence and deep gratitude for those who have served faithfully as W.A. members," Mr. Silverwood said.

He recalled the purpose of the W.A., its growth in Canada, and its contribution to the missionary work and effort of the Church.

"Looking over its record, it is not difficult to see at once the reason for its place and achievement in the life of the Church," the clergyman stated.

Supplies Climax To Fall Fashions

By DOROTHY ROE

NEW YORK, July 25 (AP)—Adele Simpson, a designer always to be counted on for laughs, supplied a fitting climax to a week of Fall fashion previews by unveiling for the visiting fashion press her "madrigal suits" with matching "Gainsborough pants."

These are knee-breeches, draped in the Gainsborough Blue-Boy manner, in wool jersey to match the suit blouse. In zero weather they should be most comforting.

Miss Simpson also made headlines with her swashbuckler suits, with box or belted jackets and her directoire silhouette, shown in silky broadcloth in woods green, black, smoke gray and brown.

She introduced a new fashion in the form of chiffon-weight wool broadcloth "trottsur" dresses, planned for wear with furs. These also come in dark, rich Victorian colors.

The irrespressible Adele brought gasps from the spectators with her "breath-taker" neckline, which is slashed to the waist, and may be worn open as far down as the wearer wishes, or completely closed.

"Double action" suits consisted of dress and jacket. With jacket on, the suit can be worn discreetly for business or shopping. With jacket off, the one-piece beneath can go proudly to dinner or the theatre.

ADDS BUMP SILHOUETTE TO FALL FASHIONS

By DOROTHY ROE

NEW YORK, July 25 (AP)—The "bump silhouette" is Claire McCardell's contribution to the general entertainment of the fashion scene for Fall. This is an effect achieved by hip flanges on the careless collegiate fashions for which this light-hearted designer is noted.

She has experimented this year with new fabrics with a mid-Victorian air. Among these are ribbed wool jerseys which don't sag, light-weight tissue worsteds, iridescent-looking woollens achieved by weaving two colors of yarn, part wool failles and old-fashioned wool challis.

Highlight of the collection is a tremendously-full camel's hair coat lined in tie print and worn with or without a sash belt, with a matching camel's hair skirt and tie print blouse.

New this Fall is her "rudder silhouette," which is what the name implies — a rudder flange in back that looks as if it might enable the wearer to take off in a high wind.

The double Victorian cape also is shown in red wool, with a high collar.

Koolaree Echoes..

Happy Day No. 9—Ole Sol is really strutting his stuff to wind up the camp in good hot style, much to the pleasure of the boys. Ideal for swimming and boating and that healthy coat of tan every boy likes.

The first aid class was concluded by the teaching of the Shaeffer method of artificial respiration, in cabin competition on visitors day the boys did very good work tying their knots and slings in good style.

This has been a high day in camp, the swimming gala being the feature of the afternoon with Denny Goddard's Cabin One emerging victor with 83 points; Cabin 7, 51; Cabin 4, 38 points. High points among the boys were Bruce Routley, 34; Chris Sorenson, 32; David Murray 21.

Diving was won by Murray, Sorenson, Aikman, Routley and Robinson.

Free style race: Dafoe, Sorenson, Routley, Cook and Murray.

Dish pan race: Wade, Sorenson, Horswill.

Broom race: Routley, Rosling and Lindlay.

Broom joust on rolling log: Lindlay, Routley, Magwood, Robinson.

Boat race (sans oars): cabins 7, 1, 4, and 6.

Relay race: cabins 4, 1, 7.

The highlight of the event was certainly the diving and more particularly the jousting in which some of the losers were the best riders. Ian Bryden must have been a broncho rider the way he hung on; the surprise was Georgie Robinson spilling Chris Sorenson a much heavier lad. Routley's battling three contestants to make the finals and losing to Lindlay was outstanding.

This event brought Cabins One and Seven into a tie for the camp championship, it just means the boys will really dig in tomorrow for the wind up. Cabin 7 were the victors in the volleyball schedule.

Pow-wow-night at campfire is always a high spot, when Chief Umga Agawa Ackacha (Freddie Robins) descends on the camp assisted by his bodyguard Jim McDonald and Ken Dimock appropriately garbed. On this auspicious occasion the boys must address the Chief by his proper name.

When making any speech at the campfire or else suffer the consequence of facing the mountain to receive a coarse on the seat of instruction.

Many challenges were offered and accepted to the amusement of all. Rooster fighting, Indian leg wrestles, follow the moon with your nose, see the stars, tip a penny in the funnel were among the offerings. All in good fun some got damp or received the paddle. Among those who learned "The Song My Paddle Sings" were Merv Rowlands, Gord Hunter, Bruce Routley, Neil Perkins, Johnny Magwood. Solos were sung by Jimmy Anderson and Conrad Smith. A night to be remembered by all the campers, then quietly they formed their friendship circle to close a perfect camp day and sing "Taps" before sinking into deep slumber for the night.

After Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament, the campers assembled within the newly constructed recreation hall, to initiate it with a boxing card. The spacious hall was deeply appreciated after a heavy rainfall cancelled the campfire. The boxers showed fine form and provided some bright entertainment for the campers for the evening. After the sixth bout the campers were privileged to have the recent Louis-Walcott fight rehearsed before them, in which "Joe Louis" Godderis Ko'ed "Jersey Joe" Chaluk

The boys who won the coveted Camp Lourdes crests were Denis Edgar, Don Scott and Lino Muto of Nelson. Congratulations were extended these campers for their active portrayal of the camp spirit of "the other fellow"—these crests are difficult to win.

Millions From Buyers To Pay for Steel Workers Raise

CLEVELAND, July 25 (AP) — Last week's sharp increase in steel prices will cost consumers an amount running "into hundreds of millions of dollars," the magazine Steel says today.

The new price schedules average more than $9 a ton, and in case of some specific products are as much as $17, the weekly reported. Coupled with "the continued rise in wage and other costs which the metal working industry is experiencing," Steel says, the higher raw material costs mean "substantial price hikes can be expected" on any article made of ferrous metals.

The article says, "increases of $10 to $20 in refrigerators, $50 to $100 in automobiles and similarly higher prices on dozens of other products would not be surprising."

NEW YORK, July 25 (AP) — International Nickel Company this week raised its refined nickel prices for the first time since November, 1946.

The new United States contract price for electrolytic nickel is 40 cents a pound f.o.b., the Port Colborne, Ont., refinery, and includes United States import duty paid by the company. This compares with a 33¾-cent-a-pound level in effect since a duty reduction lowered the price last January. Prior to that the price had been 35 cents a pound since November, 1946, when it was raised from 31½ cents.

Refined nickel prices in Canada and the United Kingdom also were boosted by the Canadian company to keep all three markets at the same level.

Tricky Ride in Columbia Rapids With U.S. Launches Told by Nakusp Miss

NAKUSP, B.C., July 25—Emery Gell of Spokane headed the motor boat flotilla in to Nakusp on Saturday evening, seven launches in all arrived. The American motorboats made a picturesque scene on the beautiful Arrow Lakes.

The boats left on Sunday morning for Revelstoke, visiting the Gates of St. Leon en route to the head of the Arrow Lake.

Miss Sidney Leary, who accompanied the flotilla gave a descriptive account of the trip from Nakusp up the Arrow Lakes to Arrowhead and thence up the Columbia River to Revelstoke, through the stretch of snags, sweepers, sand and gravel bars, rocks and ripples.

Miss Leary said:

"We left Sunday morning at 10 a.m., calling at St. Leon just long enough to get gas up then went through to Arrow head where Mr. Dickie of Revelstoke met us to take our heavy luggage by auto to Revelstoke.

A REAL THRILL

This trip up the Columbia was a real thrill and we were all ready for the "steak" dinner provided for the party when we landed.

"The evening was spent making preparations for the following days journey ahead of us to go 45 miles North of Revelstoke. On this long trip we went throuh the river's worst rapids to the historic site of boat encampment on the Big Bend.

"We were away early next morning with Emory Gell's and Clyde Stricker's boats loaded with passengers. The water was a little rough and white in places, and people from Revelstoke and the remainder of our party followed the road to watch the boats down the canyon.

PROPELLER WRECKED

Approximately 20 miles above Revelstoke, the boat I was in Mr. Gill's, struck a rock bar and twisted of recognition and for half an hour ed a propeller and shaft right out we were in precarious position as we had no power and were being pulled down with the current. However Clyde Stricker's boat came to the rescue and soon we were out of the current into a back eddy. We found ourselves stalled on an island and there we stayed for some five hours. Mosquitoes were very bad, however that was a mere detail.

The boat being fixed, Mr. Giel decided to go back to Revelstoke with his passengers and also some of ours. The rest of us climbed out of the canyon on all fours to where there was a taxi awaiting us on the road above.

Mr. Strickers and several of the men continued up stream to Downey Creek and on through Death Rapids. Our party tried to see the boat and party go through but found it impossible to get through the heavy undergrowth and the going was so tough we turned back.

"As soon as Clyde Stricker and his two companions, Dean Carmichael and Ron Dickie and the photographers of the party, which he picked up from the other side of the river were safely out we all proceeded jubilantly by car.

"On Wednesday we again took to the boats and down the Columbia River we made for Arrowhead. The boats were refueled there, and we then went up to Beaton for lunch. We again visited St. Leon on our return and had a grand beach party there, staying the night."

Miss Leary tells that in Revelstoke one of the Americans stopped a train (main line passenger train) thumbing for a ride. "It was all a joke, but when the train stopped we all ran like mad."

Thursday saw the party back at Nakusp after a most wonderful and adventurous trip by motorboat.

In the party were E. H. Gell, Mr. and Mrs. G. D. Moyle and daughter, Roy Williams, Jerry Parsons, Dean Carmichael, H. S. Hawley and Ted Bielenberg, all of Spokane; E. F. Hawley, Seattle; Ray Johnson, Seattle; Mrs. John Tompson, of Beverley Hills, Calif.; Chet Holly, Mrs. Holly, Mr. and Mrs. R. T. Williams, Gill Moyle and sister, N. Samuelson, D. R. White, Mr. and Mrs. Moyle, Earl Wood and H. E. Garmo of Richland, Wash., Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Elliot and Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Foley of Colfax, and P. Lowry and Ted Bielenberg and Clyde Stricker with Emery Gell as Captain.

M.P.'s Don't Like Beavertail Soup

THE PAS, Man., July 25 (CP) — It boils down more or less to a matter of taste.

But you could hardly blame Eddie Hong, Chinese chef at this far Northern Manitoba town, if he should get piqued at the attitude of certain British M. P.s.

Eddie is the man who first whipped up a tantalizing dish called Beavertail Soup.

The old country lawmakers don't go for it. Friday a British Legislator wanted to know why foods like beaver meat are tried on members of Parliament. He figured it may have been all right for Canadian fur traders, but he asked why the Government must try to make M. P.s eat it.

The new dish appeared unexpectedly on the Commons' restaurant menu last week.

Eddie says his specialty is "good." Of course, he's prejudiced—he invented it. But then, it was a howling success when first introduced at last year's trappers' festival here.

And this year beaver meat will be listed on the festival menu as the main banquet course. What's more, a special chef will be imported from Winnipeg to help Eddie with its preparation.

It's considered a big delicacy in the North. Trappers say it's tasty, nourishing and has a flavor similar to pork and goose mixed. The meat is rich and dark.

The Churchill Ladies' Club is a big booster of Eddie Hong's Beavertail Soup, hailed as a lot like ox-tail but then again, different."

Here's the ladies' recipe: One beaver tail, salt, lemon juice and cinnamon. Hold the beaver tail in the the tail from the flames, and cover it flame until the skin blisters. Remove with well-salted water. Cook below boiling point for one hour. Strain the broth and flavor to taste with lemon juice and cinnamon.

It may be thickened with potatoes or any of the usual thickenings.

Britain Meets Poor Response For Olympic Funds

LONDON, July 25 (Reuters)—The British Olympic Association's appeal to the public for funds to equip its own team for the Olympic Games met with a poor response, a tabulation showed today.

Less than £4000 ($16,000) was given towards equipping the British team, numbering about 350 men and 50 women. The Association will have to use every penny of its reserves to meet the estimated £8000 more needed.

However, Association officials said they hoped that if there is any profits from the Games opening July 29 a good part will be earmarked for the Association.

Thomas Rendall, Who Came To B.C. In 1889, Had Varied Career; Knew Alaska in Early Mining Days

By R.G. JOY
Historian, Nelson and District Old Timers' Association

Thomas Rendall, an oldtimer of British Columbia, told me his story of how in early life, like so many he had heard of Canada, especially of this province, because men of his native Orkney Islands had travelled and written letters home and awakened the spirit of adventure.

So he too found the urge to travel by sea and land to British Columbia.

"I arrived at the B.C. Coast in the year 1889 and obtained a job on the steamship Cutch as fireman. The captain was a hard man. The Cutch came from Bombay and it was said that the stokehole was a killer. It was reputed that eight men died on the plate while firing at different times because of the heat.

But Tommy said "I stood the heat, and in 1892 and 1893 I fired on the S.S. Islander. Then in June, 1893, I obtained employment at the gold stamp mills at Treadwell, Alaska.

W. Heddle, the eldest of the Heddle family, worked the Juni and Venus, and later took up land at Six-Mile. "Bill Heddle was quite a poet," said Tommy. "At Treadwell I slept in the next bunk to Heddle and sometimes in the night I would waken and Bill would, by the light of the candle, write and write. Sometimes I would say to him 'Why don't you get some sleep and write before you go to bunk?' And he would answer 'Well, Tommy, when I get the urge I feel I must write.'

"What are you writing about?"

"I am writing a poem on Stromness."

"These poems were all in a large book, but he would not let me read them."

"Where's that book?"

"I do not know."

Said I: "Father Althoff told me that he was in Juneau."

"Yes. I saw him around there, and one time when working at the Poorman Mine near Nelson I said to him 'I saw you several times at Douglas Island.'" The Father was pleased to be decognised.

"Say, Joy, he was a nice man," said Tommy, "and so many in the Kootenays I have heard pay the same compliment."

"Tell me something about the ore at the Treadwell, Tommy," I said.

Then he answered: "The foreman told me that the highest value on the best ore was $2.50 per ton, and some went at $1 per ton, showing a net profit of 10 cents.

"There was nothing detrimental in amalgamation in the ore. It was very clean, yellow iron and light gray quartz. When I was there the glory hole system was used, and at times huge builders would be broken off as large as a good sized house. I have known as many as 12 boxes of powder being used to bulldoze one. In fact they were bulldozing every shift. To get these boulders they would drill 15 and 25-foot holes and when the ore was broken it would be hoisted to an apex and the ore would go down both sides to be crushed in the stamps."

"Some noise, eh Tommy?"

"Worse, it was a row."

"They had electricity for the light and air for the hoist, compression and water power.

"The sea came into the mine. Most of the crew were out but when it came in horses and equipment were lost. Workmen said the rush of air was so great that the big timbers of the hoist were turned into matchwood. When the Company discovered that the roof was weak they started putting in concrete pillars, but they to were weak and too late.

STORY OF BILLY FRASER

"The Treadwell was originally a placer claim, first staked by Treadwell. He had some trouble when it got around that the ground was valuable. He heard that a move was on foot to try and jump his claim.

"There was a character at the mill who bore the name of Billy Fraser. He passed coal on the steamers in Winter and worked at the mill in Summer. Billy came from Texas. He was a Ranger down there and could handle a gun as good as the best of them. Billy certainly was tough. I do not think that Billy was his name. He had got into trouble somewhere and changed it to Billy Fraser.

"Treadwell consulted Fraser, telling him 'I want you to hold the ground for me. I don't care how you hold it. Here is a good rifle. The men will come in a boat and up the beach.'

"They came—nine men in a row boat and landed there. Fraser met them with the rifle under his arm. 'Boys,' said he, 'don't come any further. I have a deadline here and if any of you attempt to cross the line he will become a dead one.'

" 'O.K.,' the leader said, 'Billy, I know you will keep your word.' They went back to their boat.

"Billy Fraser must have had a good reputation for keeping to his word, and evidently Treadwell knew it."

Tommy told me that Fraser had two birthmarks on his body, and an arrow mark he got when he was a ranger. He had a brush with Indians and a squaw armed with bow and arrow shot an arrow into his side, and Billy, and another ranger who was accompanying him, got on their horses and rode away as hard as they could. When they got into the bush Fraser's companion jumped off his horse and helped Fraser out of the saddle, laid him on the ground, put a foot each side of the arrow and pulled. Fraser just went out for a while, but soon got the wound attended to by one skilled in such matters and was as fit as ever.

"Some time later, Billy, on entering a town, was told that a wrestler was there who was challenging all-comers. But he was no match for Billy, and the challenger was soon thrown until he wanted no more. The defeated wrestler was sore in more ways than one and told some of the citizens he would fix Billy Fraser.

"Billy met the man in one of the saloons. He asked Billy if he was heeled. (Did he have a gun?). Billy said "No, but I have one in my saddle, and I will accommodate you." Billy went across the street and was taking out his gun when the wrestler fired from the door of the saloon. He hit Billy in the chest and made a nasty wound. The crowd immediately put him into a mud bath for a week. When he got out he could not move a finger or toe for a week, and he showed Tommy the scar on his chest.

Later Billy was in a dance hall on Douglas Island when he came across a man "who would like to shoot someone . . ." Billy looked him in the eye, snatched the gun away and threw it into the salt chuck.

"Some man," said I.

"Yes, some man", said Tommy. "And he was a cheerful partner. He was a real Yankee. You know, R. G., the Yanks are very much like ourselves, but at times different.

TO NELSON IN 1897

"I came to Rossland in 1896 and worked at the Centre Star and in 1897 came to Nelson. Harry Aikin, Jock Ness and I used our blankets and made a teepee on the baseball grounds below where the Civic Centre now stands. Soon our combined capital was only $5 and I looked for a job.

"Looking down at the lake I saw the International steamship coming down the lake. 'I am going to see if I can et a job on her. I'll give you fellows the $5,' I said.

"I boarded her at the wharf and saw a fireman coming out of the firehole. He was a Cockney and asking him how chances were for a job, he said: 'Your chances are good. The other fireman left this morning. Mr. Gray is the chief engineer. Go and see him.'

"I soon followed his advice and put the question: 'Want a fireman? I am a coal fireman. I am afraid you are a little light. (Tommy was only about five feet high, but as tough as they make them in the Orkney Islands). 'If I don't give satisfaction, you can fire me,' I said.

"The fire box was large—four feet by—at the back. It was a hot day. I got up on deck and a big man came out saying 'You did very well. I found the steam gauge only varied by five pounds.' He was the manager of the company.

Later Tommy told me this story: "I mentioned, R. G., that the Treadwell ore was massive iron pyrites and it looked like gold to a greenhorn. At times tourists would see this yellow ore going to the mill on the conveyor. Sometimes the ladies would pinch a piece, thinking it was gold.

"When one of the mill men noticed a lady taking a large piece, she said to him 'I'll give you $10 if you'll let me take this.' 'O.K., lady,' he said, 'take it away quick.' When she got to the steamboat she was bowing to some of the passengers and the superintendent of the mine happened to be among them, and he asked her to show him the man who took the $10. She said 'Yes, but I don't want to get him into trouble.' So they went back to the mill, and she pointed out the man. He gave him a wink, and said 'Give this lady back the $10 bill she gave you. This will be a lesson to both of you.' "

Tommy told me several stories of the Treadwell Mine and his prospecting days in the vicinity of the Juno and Venus, also the Last Chance. He was mill man at Waldie's Mill at the Queen Mine, at Sheep Creek, the Poorman Mine and several mills in the country.

First Plans for August Flower Show Drawn Up

Members of the Nelson Garden Club at their July meeting in the Civic Centre made preliminary plans for their annual August Flower Show and heard a talk on composting by J. Holmes.

Preliminary plans for the Garden Club's August Flower Show were discussed by members of the club and it was decided to purchase prize ribbons and keepsakes for trophy winners. The appearance of the show will be enhanced with special containers obtained by the club for this purpose.

J. Holmes, a well known Nelson gardener told how to make a compost heap for the best results, describing materials that can be added to the general garden waste to improve the quality of the compost. He told his listeners that soil enriched with good compost produced vegetables far superior in food value than those grown on soil not treated with compost or rotted manure. He displayed fine specimens of vegetables taken from his garden, as proof of his theory.

Mr. Holmes also showed samples of cherries grown on trees which he had fertilized and treated with compost. The cherries were large and showed no signs of the little cherry disease which is so prevalent in the Kootenay area.

Doctors to Watch British Athletes

LONDON, July 25 (AP)—British doctors are planning to make guinea pigs out of the Olympic athletes. Curious to find out the effects of Britain's meat-short diet, they'll be watching how the United Kingdom's contestants stack up against teams from other countries.

The British Medical Association told the local medics to watch the Games "not only with sporting enthusiasm but also with deep scientific interest."

Britain's performers are getting the same amount of food as heavy manual workers here.

In addition to the regular thin rations of the ordinary Briton, they get these extras each week: a pint of milk, about five or six ounces of meat, a double cheese ration—a single one is about enough for four cheese-and-cracker sandwiches — and a double fat ration, a total of 14 ounces of butter and oleomargarine.

The athlete's meat ration—all of it—would provide only once weekly a steak of the quality that athletes usually like to put down twice a day.

Fake Bank Robbery Told by Teller

MONTREAL, July 25 (CP) — A fake $14,000 bank holdup by a young woman teller was disclosed today by police who said the scheme was uncovered when the girl confessed after her accomplice failed to go through with a marriage promise.

Police arrested Marguerite Morand, 24-year-old teller, and Paul Emile Cote, 23, on charges of conspiracy after the girl admitted her story of a red-haired holdup man was false.

A sum of $8000 was found cached in sealed tins near Cote's home at Sherbrooke, Que., police said.

In her original story, the woman said a red-haired gunman entered the Bank Canadienne Nationale branch at St. Jerome, Que., shortly before closing time July 14. She dashed into the manager's office, screaming that the man had made her pass $100 notes through the teller's wicket, then fainted.

Police said she was arrested and confessed after it was found the bundles of bills were too thick to pass through a slot in the teller's wicket.

The woman told police she gave the money to Cote, who had promised to marry her. After police broadcast a call for the accomplice, they were notified by Toronto police that he was being held there on charges of non-support—laid by his wife in Toronto!

Police said the pair will be arraigned in St. Jerome Monday.

Tells of Easiest Way to Make Russ Give Ground in Negotiations

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press News Analyst

A former German Foreign Office Executive who had much experience in negotiating with the Russians tells me that the easiest way to persuade them to give ground in a dispute like the current fight over Berlin is to provide them with a face-saving excuse for a change in their attitude.

That thought was given me by Dr. Erich Kordt, Professor in the University of Munich and one-time chief of the German Foreign Office Secretariat, who is visiting in the United States. Incidentally he was one of those in the plan to overthrow Hitler in 1938—a project that wasn't put into execution.

KEEP FIRM STAND

I asked if he meant that the Democracies should withdraw from their firm stand and he replied emphatically in the negative. Firmness is essential—but just provide the idea for a logical way out. He stressed the need of firmness by pointing out that lack of it on the part of the Allies was what encouraged Hitler to embark on war.

Dr. Kordt then told me of the part he played in the great drama at the time of Munich. The conference between Hitler and Prime Minister Chamberlain at Godesberg, just prior to Munich, made it clear that the Fuehrer had evil ambitions for conquest.

This strengthened the determination of Dr. Kordt and others opposed to Hitler to overthrow him.

Hitler wasn't looking for a major war at that time. He wanted a little war which would enhance his prestige, and so planned an assault on Czechoslovakia. His opponents knew this and set Sept. 28 as the date for their revolt. The day before that Hitler decided it would be impressive to march a large body of troops through Berlin and past the British Embassy. This he did with surprising results.

CHEERS FOR HITLER

The soldiers finally drew up in front of the Chancellry where nightly Hitler was accustomed to appear on the balcony and greet the great crowd which gathered to cheer him. This time, however, there were no cheers. The people had no stomach for war, and stared glumly at the soldiers.

The next morning the Nazi chief suddenly proposed the Munich Conference. Since this, on the face of it, was a gesture of compromise, it killed the chances of a successful revolt and the project was called off.

Fraser Valley Rehabilitation Work Proceeds Satisfactorily

VICTORIA, July 25 (CP)—Work of the Fraser Valley Rehabilitation Authority is proceeding slowly but satisfactorily, it has been reported to Premier Johnson.

In their report, W. L. [illegible]cken, and D. J. Baldwin state that in the next two or three weeks there should be an acceleration of the rehabilitation program.

In the meantime "while it would be fine to create a large organization to rush work to completion, we are satisfied that the majority of the people feel that the work is progressing satisfactorily," the Authority told Premier Johnson.

Work consists of getting families back to their homes, appraising damage and in getting repairs commenced.

Materials, except fir flooring, so far have been in ample supply, it is stated. Sufficient quantities of nails have been assured, other building materials and wire.

The authority reports also: "Despite the disheartening appearance of buildings and lands as the water recedes, the majority of the people affected appear to be determined to tackle the job with good will. The occasional lament, of course, is to be expected."

In the Chilliwack area 178 buildings have been assessed. For 170 the etimated repair is $53,935 or an average of $317. Thirty-two of the buildings have exceeded $500. A total of 3300 acres have been replougued.

In the Matsqui-Abbotsford District, the road to Matsqui village is open to permit traffic. The area is reportedly normally damp and recovery will be slow.

In Langley, Glen Valley now is being rapidly uncovered and appraisals are being maintained comparable to receding waters. The Barnston Island residents are back in their homes. Plowing and reseeding is proceeding.

In Surrey damage is small and repairs are being effected.

In Ladner about 20 to 25 homes are affected, 10 with minor damage. Between 300 and 500 acres suffered from seepage. Most of this has been reploughed and replanted.

Appraisal work is proceeding in Burnaby. All people, less one family, have returned home.

In Coquitlam it is anticipated that the total for rehabilitating homes will not exceed $600.

Appraisals have nearly been completed in Port Coquitlam. Cost of rehabilitation is estimated between $620 and $700.

At Maple Ridge approximate cost of rehabilitating 62 homes is about $5000 and work is well under way. Replowing in Pitt Meadows area is proceeding.

At Mission 85 homes have been appraised. Work has been started on 30. Plowing and seeding has commenced on Nicomen Island.

At Agassiz the majority of people have returned home and most herds are no their own farms. Reploughing and reseeding are progressing well. Hammersley Prairie and Harrison Mills are hardest hit.

Appraisal work has not been started in the Lytton-Popcum area.

U. S. Visitors Into Forks for Blossom Festival

GRAND FORKS, July 25—The annual Seed Blossom Carnival and agricultural field day at Grand Forks on Wednesday, July 28, is attracting many visitors from South of the International Border, where ranchers bought $100,000 worth of Grand Forks seed potatoes last year and are coming to see growing conditions on the Broadacres Ranch of P. H. Tjebbes. Mr. Tjebbles two years ago won the world's potato production crown with more than 1000 bushels to the acre.

There will be a 40-mile motor tour of scenic Sunshine Valley along roads flanked with waving bloom-capped stalks of potatoes, onions, carrots, radishes and minor vegetables, dotted with whole fields of highly-colored petunia blooms and extensive areas of the glamorous multi-coolred portuchlaca. The tour will conclude with a reception under the cooling shade of trees at the High School, where refreshments will be served. There will be words of welcome by local officials and seed experts will discuss the success and failures of the growing crops for the benefit of the growers.

Prizes will then be awarded to winners of the farm, home and garden competitions.

To wind up the day a seed blossom dance will be given at the pavilion at Christina Lake.

Speaking of a former seed blossom carnival, Agricultural Minister Putnam declared this annual event at Grand Forks to be the largest and most spectacular agricultural field day in the Province.

Sponsored by the Grand Forks Board of Trade, this year's field day is under the direction of J. F. Carmichael, District Agriculturist.

Last year 80 motors cars with more than 300 people took in the motor tour and carnival reception.

Cost of Fighting Forest Fires Remains Low

VICTORIA, July 25 (CP) — Cost of fighting forest fires in the Province this year continues to be less than the expenses the Provincial Government was put to last year.

Most of the expense this year has been in the Fort George area where 149 fires have broken out. Cost to fight them has been $18,663. The Nelson area brought the bigger expenses last year.

Of the 508 fires this year, 150 have been in the Vancouver area, which includes Vancouver Island, and cost has been $2197; 40 in the Prince Rupert area, cost $819; 100 in the Kamloops District, cost $4413; 70 in the Nelson area, cost $1735.

Seventy-six fires occurred this week; 20 were burning last week; 72 have been extinguished this week leaving 24 still burning.

"Truth" Is Subject Of Lesson-Sermon

"Truth" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday.

The Golden Text was: "Ascribe ye greatness unto our God. He is the Rock, his work is perfect: for all his ways are judgment: a God of truth and without iniquity, just and right is he." Deuteronomy 32: 3, 4.

The Lesson-Sermon included the following passage from the Bible: "Doth a fountain send forth at the same place sweet water and bitter? Can the fig tree, my brethren, bear olive berries? either a vine, figs? James 3: 11, 12.

Among the selections from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, was the following: "Truth and error are unlike. In Science, Truth is divine, and the infinite God can have no unlikeness. Did God, Truth, create error? No!"
