First To Fly Over Top of World in Single-Engined Plane

FAIRBANKS, Alaska, May 29 (AP)—Capt. Charles Blair landed here at 3:29 p.m. completing the first flight over the top of the world in a single-engined plane. He made the flight from Oslo, Norway, to Fairbanks, Alaska, in 10 hours and 27 minutes.

Blair, flying a converted flame-red Mustang fighter plane, surprised airfield attendants by flying in without making radio contact.

"I could get the beam all right," he explained, "but I couldn't send. The transmitter was out of order."

He wobbled out of the plane, then let attendants take it to a hangar for a checkup before he continues to New York City. He plans to take off from here at 2 a.m.

He stretched, and grinned:

"I sure go tired of sitting on my parachute."

Blair said "it was a very simple flight."

"I had a head wind just out of Norway and it slowed me down. I flew at 15,000 feet altitude after leaving Norway, but I crossed the North Pole at 22,000 feet.

"The temperature ranged down to 25 degrees below zero, but there were no icing conditions.

"The plane performed perfectly and I flew exactly the course I intended to fly.

"There's nothing up in that country but ice, snow and clouds.

"I started out with 865 gallons of gas. I had 175 gallons left when I sat her down here. I didn't have a bite to eat all through the trip."

The 3000 letters Blair high-balled across the Pole were taken to the Fairbanks post office to be cancelled.

The American pilot said he hoped to make New York City in a non-stop flight, but will put the plane down en route if necessary.

He was using the same souped-up single-seater Excalibur III—dubbed "The Flying Gas Tank"—in which he captured the New York-to-London non-stop record last Jan. 31.

Famed Fanny Brice Answers Last Call

FANNY BRICE

HOLLYWOOD, May 29 (AP) — Commedienne Fanny Brice died today, five days after suffering a cerebral hemorrhage.

Miss Brice, born Fannie Borach, on New York's East Side was 59.

The end came a few hours after Miss Brice, the "Baby Snooks" of radio, took a turn for the worse last night at hospital. She had been in a coma and under an oxygen tent most of the time since suffering the hemorrhage at her home last Thursday.

Miss Brice's two children, William Brice and Frances Stark, were at her bedside when she died.

Miss Brice hit fame and fortune twice in her long comic career. She was a big hit in the Ziegfeld Follies of the 1920s. Then, after one not so successful fling at radio, she began the "Baby Snooks" character in 1936. It had been a radio comedy standby ever since.

The comedienne had been in show business since she was 13, winning an amateur contest and shortly afterward going into burlesque. She changed her name to "Brice", because she said some customers mispronounced the family name "bore-act."

Miss Brice recently announced her intention to retire later this year "because it's too much work."

"Baby Snooks" was no sudden spur-of-the-moment inspiration. Miss Brice first used the precocious character in the 1921 Ziegfeld Follies and it was part of her routine in other shows.

By 1946 she was earning $6000 a week from the radio program and said: "It's like stealing; I don't have to work into it, for it's part of me."

SPECIFIC POLLING DAY MAY BE CONSIDERED FOR FEDERAL ELECTIONS

OTTAWA, May 29 (CP) — The question of designating a specific polling day for all Federal general elections may be considered by the Commons Elections Committee.

The Committee, which recommends changes in election procedure to the Commons, heard a proposal today for the abolition of the present method of Cabinet setting the date for each election.

W. D. Wylie (SC—Medicine Hat) said a certain date should be set by Parliament for an election every four years.

"The sooner we do that, the better," he advised.

Sarto Fournier (L—Maisonneuve-Rosemont), Committee Chairman, ruled discussion of the point out of order for the moment but said Mr. Wylie might bring it up later.

Tariff Proposal Would Not Likely Be to Canada Disadvantage

OTTAWA, May 29 (CP)—A Parliamentary committee heard today that tariff legislation before the United States Congress has "damaging" possibilities but that it is not likely to work to Canada's disadvantage.

Hector McKinnon, chairman of the Tariff Board, said the legislation in its original form would give Congress power to over-ride the administration's actions in effecting tariff cuts, in which Canada has a heavy stake.

But, he told the Commons Committee on banking and commerce, it is highly improbable such power would be used to take away concessions given Canada under the Reciprocal Trade Agreement Act of 1934.

British Coal Miners Trapped in Tunnel

Little Hope of Finding Men Alive Behind Thousands of Heavy Rocks

EASINGTON, Durham, England, May 29 (AP)—A violent explosion buried 78 British coal miners today behind a tunnel full of thousands of rocks. The bodies of 14 men were dragged out by rescuers and one man was taken out badly crushed and burned, but by late afternoon 63 still were entombed.

Twelve brigades of rescuers worked in teams through the tumbled rocks attempting to clear 1000 yards of blocked tunnel to reach the blast area, 900 feet underground at the large Easington coal pit.

H. E. Collins, production director of the Durham Coal Mining Division, said "we have not given up hope." But Fuel Minister Philip Noel-Baker told the House of Commons he feared it was "not at all probable" that any of the trapped men could have escaped through old tunnels branching off from the gas-laden explosion site.

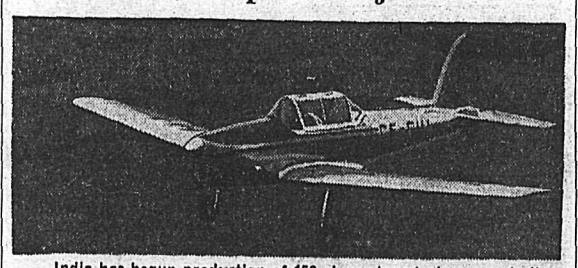
Cause of the disaster was not known.

One of the rescue workers told reporters "it is unlikely that any of the miners still in there are alive. It was terribly hot and we got some idea of the force of the explosion."

Crowds of relatives and friends waited anxiously at the pithead in a cold wind blowing off the North Sea.

The Easington colliery, one of the largest in the Durham County coalfield, is 10 miles East of the city of Durham. Part of its workings runs under the North Sea.

Canadian Chipmunk Goes Indian



India has begun production of 150 elementary trainers so similar to the Canadian-designed Chipmunk, seen above, that they may be copies. Italy's Reds Terrific Beatin

ROME, May 29 (AP)—An a Communist coalition has broke the extreme left wing hold on Italy's "Red North."

Incomplete returns today indicated Premier Alcide De Gasperi's Atlantic Pact front had given the Reds their worst beating in five years in provincial elections.

The Communists were kicked out of five provincial capital administrations they had held since 1945. De Gasperi's forces took a heavy majority of council seats in elections which ended yesterday for a third of the country. The rest of the country votes later.

Interior Ministry results in 530 of 554 provincial council seats gave the anti-Communist bloc—a combination of the majority Christian Democratic Party, the Republican, Liberal and anti-Communist Socialist Parties—336 places to 164 for the Communist-left wing Socialist bloc.

The returns intimated that anti-Communist forces will control city councils in 22 provincial capitals. The Communists hold two, and three are undecided.

The parties led by De Gasperi won the port cities of Venice and Genoa—two top prizes in the municipal elections—and three other province capital administrations which were Communist for five years.

Two contests, at Bologna and Imperia, where Communists and their left Socialist allies have majorities now, still are undecided.

Bologna, Ravenna and Rovigo were the only three of the Communist Gothic-line citadels voting this week. In the other nine, stretching from the Ligurian Sea to the Adriatic, the vote test will come June 10, when another third of the country votes.

The rest of Italy's provincial and municipal elections will be held in the Fall.

Canadian Troops In North Korea

By BILL BOSS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

SOMEWHERE IN KOREA, May 29 (CP)—Canadian troops were in North Korea tonight, after moving more than six miles into the Communist country against only slight resistance.

At nightfall they were engaged in hills at the South end of a little valley against an enemy apparently trying to deny the United Nations forces access to the plains ahead.

They were in an area where, in the words of Brig. John Rockingham, Commander of the 25th Infantry Brigade, "Maybe we cannot count so much on popular support."

Most of the day's opposition from the Communist forces was harrassing mortar fire, but Rockingham said "That's just what we need."

"Two or three bursts daily will keep us out of bad habits," he said. "Without them, there is a tendency to 'skyline' ourselves and group our vehicles."

The mortar opposition did not go unchallenged, however. The mortars were silenced by air strikes guided in by radio by Maj. Don George of Saskatoon, Brigade Signals officer.

In addition to the mortars, there were a few skirmishes in which companies under Major Gilles Lamotte of Three Rivers, Que., and Roland Reid of Montreal took part. Reid's company took two prisoners.

A total of five prisoners were taken, including two "captured" by Rockingham. Probing an area near his headquarters, Rockingham and an interpreter talked to a Korean farmer who denied seeing any Chinese. However, a little boy then pointed to a ditch where two Chinese were hiding.

Montreal to Float $15 Million Loan

MONTREAL, May 29 (CP) — Councillor J. O. Asselin, Chairman of Montreal's Executive Committee, announced today that the city will float a loan of $15,000,000 and tomorrow will ask for tenders to be opened June 11.

The loan will be floated through serial bonds dated from June 1, 1951, to Nov. 1, 1961.

The loan is being made in conformity with a bylaw for capital expenditures and is made possible through the borrowing authority granted by City Council in the last few years for a total of $97,000,000.

Laurents Hold "Open House"

Some 300 guests, including many senators and members of Parliament were guests of Prime Minister and Mrs. St. Laurent, seen above, at the first of three formal receptions held at their new Sussex Street home in Ottawa. Mr. St. Laurent is the first Canadian prime minister to reside in an official residence, comparable to Britain's 10 Downing Street, and the U.S. White House.—Central Press Canadian.

Tehran Demonstration Red Signal in Iran

By FRED ZUSY

TEHRAN, Iran, May 29 (AP) — A demonstration by 50,000 persons in Tehran today opened a Communist-front barrage against the British and Americans keyed to the explosive oil issue. Tanks and troop-trucks patrolled the tense capital.

It was the biggest Communist-front demonstration thus far in Tehran, and it was the signal for other demonstrations planned at key points throughout Iran, called by the Communist Tudeh Party as a protest against "British-American imperialism."

The Anglo-Iranian Oil Company, chief target of the demonstrators, announced it was authorizing the wives and children of its British, Pakistani and Indian employees to quit Abadan, the oil port "on leave" at company expense. Holdings of the company, controlled by the British Government, are marked for nationalization by the Iranian Government.

N. R. Seddon, representative of the company in Iran, was to see the Iranian Finance Minister tomorrow—the deadline of an ultimatum to the company to confer with the Iranian Government on how the liquidation of the firm's holdings will be accomplished.

U. S. Ambassador Henry F. Grady arranged a luncheon meeting, meanwhile, with Sir Francis Shepherd, the British Ambassador, and F. Mohammed Mossadegh, Iran's Nationalist Premier who has sparked the nationalization program. This meeting was to be the first meeting of the three together, and in view of Grady's offer to mediate the dispute, was looked upon by some as an optimistic sign that informal talks could widen into formal negotiations.

Belfast Police Hold 13 Bomb Suspects

BELFAST, May 29 (Reuters) — Spurred into action by a bomb incident Monday, police today raided the citys' anti-British quarter and detained 13 suspect terrorists as a security measure before the weekend visit of the King and Queen.

The men, believed to belong to the outlawed Irish Republican Army were rounded up under a Special Powers Act which will enable them to be held until after the four-day Royal visit, beginning Friday.

They can be held for seven days without being charged or brought into court.

A crude home-made bomb left outside a police station in Belfast started off the police hunt. Its crude fuse went out before damage could be done.

GOODS RECOVERED

VANCOUVER, May 29 (CP)— Cigarets and coffee, valued at $5000 were recovered by police today in a West end store.

The goods, believed stolen in dozens of shop-breakings in the last six months, were scattered around the shop in packages and loose piles.

The 60-year-old storekeeper was taken into custody and is held for investigation.

Lower Railway Freight, Passenger Rates Forecast

CALGARY, May 29 (CP)—Lower freight and passenger rates on Canadian railroads were seen as a future possibility by D. S. Thomson of Winnipeg, Vice-President, Prairie Region, Canadian Pacific Railway, in an address today before a Calgary service club. (Rotary).

Mr. Thomson said the conversion of railroads to a standard necessary to meet modern requirements should eventually make lower rates possible. In the meantime, however, revenue must be sufficient to permit development of facilities.

BANK ROBBED

MITCHELL, Ont., May 29 —Two armed men held up and robbed a branch of the Bank of Commerce here today in what one of the staff termed a "peaceful affair." First estimates of their loot were placed at between $8000 and $9000.

Drew Would Reconsider Plans to Increase Newspaper Postal Rates

OTTAWA, May 29 (CP)—George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader, today urged the Canadian Government to reconsider plans to increase postal rates on daily and weekly newspapers.

"At a time when democracy is threatened as it has not been threatened in centuries, there should be nothing done to limit the circulation of newspapers," said Mr. Drew.

He spoke in the Commons after Postmaster General Rinfret called for second reading—approval in principle—of a bill making a lengthy series of changes to the Post Office Act.

At the night sitting, the bill was given second reading.

Mr. Rinfret, replying to criticism of the proposed increase in rates on newspapers, said the rates were not taxes but were fees for services rendered.

Even at the increased rates the post office will collect only about $6,000,000 on the carriage of newspapers and periodicals whereas it will spend $16,000,000 to carry them. If the post office had collected enough to cover the deficit on newspapers and periodicals in the last fiscal year it would have been able to reduce the letter rate from four to three cents for all parts of Canada.

The increased rates were not confined to Canada. The United States was raising rates by 60 per cent. It was true the increase was to be spread over three years, but it had to be remembered that the U. S. post office had a deficit last year of about $599,000,000.

He would not like to see the Canadian post office operate with a proportionate deficit.

He said Mr. Drew had suggested that more be charged for the carriage of comic and similar magazines. Mr. Rinfret said the comics pay a rate of nine cents a pound compared with four cents a pound for newspapers.

Mr. Drew called for withdrawal of the legislation until the Government has had an opportunity to consider the proposed increases in charges on newspapers.

Joseph Noseworthy (CCF—York South) suggested second reading be deferred until consideration has been given to proposals for appointment of a commission or special committee to study the question of post office administration.

Enemy Suffers Major Defeat Says Ridgway

Reds Still Have Power for Offensive Despite Losses Allied Commander Reports in First Press Conference

By WILLIAM JORDEN

TOKYO, May 30 (Wednesday) (AP)—The stand of the United States 2nd Infantry Division in Korea caused the enemy to suffer "a major, severe defeat," Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway said today.

Enemy prisoners captured since April 22 "approach 10,000," Ridgway told a Press conference at his headquarters.

The supreme Allied commander returned to Tokyo this afternoon after a two-day visit to Korea. He immediately called his first Press conference since he replaced Gen. Douglas MacArthur.

Ridgway said that despite their severe losses, the Communists still have the capacity for offensive action. He said the Reds could employ five Chinese armies "whose exact strength we don't know."

The general said Communist armies could take several routes in any further drive Southward. But he said history as well as the experience of the Korean war pointed to three likely choices:

1. Along the Chorwon-Seoul and Kumhwa-Seoul roads.
2. Through the valleys to the East of Seoul.
3. Around the East end of the Hwachon reservoir along Korea's hilly central spine.

South Koreans Thrust Deepest in Drive

TOKYO, May 29 (AP)—South Korean troops rammed 26 miles inside Communist Korea today on the East coast. Virtually unopposed, they rolled into the key town of Kansong on the Sea of Japan highway for the deepest thrust of the new all-out Allied offensive.

Elsewhere along the 125-mile battlefront, Chinese-Korean Red forces had checked their headlong flight and were making stubborn defensive stands.

The Reds stopped cold a powerful Allied task force fighting up the Inje-Kansong Road toward a link-up with South Koreans on the East coast. A heavily-censored field dispatch said the Reds fought fiercely for every inch of the road.

The tank infantry column was forced to a halt 10 miles Northeast of Inje.

Against this mounting resistance, Allied tank-infantry teams in some sectors made new gains of one to four miles. But the going was tough.

The stiffest fighting occurred in the rugged hill terrain around Hwachon Reservoir on the Central front and to the West along a main road leading to the Reds' great Chorwon-Kumhwa massing area, 17 to 25 miles North of the 38th Parallel.

One Allied officer said "we think there is an entire division of North Koreans with another regiment" in the rugged hills South of Yanggu. The town is at the Eastern end of Hwachon Reservoir, and some seven miles North of Parallel 38.

(Bill Boss, Canadian Press correspondent with the 25th Canadian Brigade, reported from the Western sector that tank-led Canadian troops probed six to seven miles North of the 38th Parallel. Reuters News Agency said they were pulled up sharply before cunningly-entrenched mortar and machine-gun positions.)

From East to West, this was the situation Tuesday along the battlefront:

East — South Korean troops swept 12 miles along coast road into Kansong, 26 miles inside Korea.

East-Central — Reds battled stubbornly for the Inje-Kansong Road, halted an Allied task force pushing toward a link-up with South Koreans on the East coast.

Central — Allies fought to seal off Hwachon Reservoir area roughly seven miles North of border. Reds fighting hand to hand slowed the push on Yanggu at Eastern tip. South Korean troops reached the Reservoir's South shores. Americans fanned North, East and West of captured Hwachon on West tip of Reservoir.

West — South Korean troops forge a new bridgehead across Imjin River five miles South of border against stubborn Red Koreans and expanded it one mile. Chinese rear-guard regiments wage stiff hill fights against Americans near Yonchon, six miles inside Red Korea and the funnel to Chorwon.

The bag of prisoners from the trap North and Northwest of Chunchon fell off sharply Tuesday. An Allied officer said only remnants of an entire Chinese Army (Corps) still roamed the cut-off area.

The Eighth Army said 18,000 Chinese were killed, wounded or captured in a four-day battle South of the border along the Central front. Two Red divisions were wiped out.

Three Injured In Railway Crash

FORT FRANCES, Ont., May 29 (CP)— Three crewsmen suffered minor injuries and a shaking up tonight when a Canadian National Railways extra freight train crashed into the rear of a ballast train at Banning, 70 miles East of here in Northwestern Ontario.

C.N.R. officials said the crewmen's names were: Engineer Drennan and Fireman Murray of the extra, and Conductor Henderson of the ballast train. Initials and hometowns of the men are not yet available.

Only meagre details are available on the accident, the seventh railway wreck in Canada in the last two weeks. Tonight's wreck is the fifth on C.N.R. lines in the last week, the latest was at Daveluyville, Que., Sunday night when two were killed and one was injured. Another at Parent, Que., Thursday took six lives and injured five.

It is understood a work train, made up mostly of cars of ballast, had pulled into a siding at Banning to allow an extra freight through. But the work train was too long and the last few cars and caboose extended onto the main line.

The extra struck the drag-end overturning four cars and the caboose. A conductor in the caboose was thrown clear and landed in a nearby lake. He was reported none the worse for his plunge.

C.N.R. officials in Winnipeg said a special train from Atikokan is on its way to the scene with doctors and nurses aboard.

Civil Servants Want Reconsideration for Lower-Paid Worker

VANCOUVER, May 29 (CP)—The 8000-member British Columbia Government Employees Association, at the close of a two-day executive meeting, today rejected in part the Government's new wage proposal and requested a meeting with the Provincial Cabinet "to reconsider the case of the lower-paid worker."

A statement issued by the executive said the Government's proposal "incorporates several of the Association's requests" but that the wage increases offered to groups of lower paid Government employees "would not begin to offset the depreciation of the worker's dollar."

The statement attributed the depreciation to "spiralling inflation experienced since the last increase granted to Government employees in October, 1949."

Today's decision of the executive will be sent to Labor Minister Cates, requesting a meeting with the Cabinet as soon as possible.

The Association asked for a 15 per cent across-the-board increase. The Government countered with increases based on salary scales.

Details of the Government's offer have not been made public.

"That may come in a couple of days," an Association spokesman said.

Kemano Road Passable

KEMANO BAY, B.C., May 29 (CP)—Kemano Road, vital 10-mile link between Kemano Bay and the site of the powerhouse of the Aluminum Company of Canada's $550,000,000 project, now is passable to road traffic.

Ships may be docking at Kemano Bay in July.

In less than three months, the construction company building the road has defeated its adversaries—mountain, swamp and flood.

The road has yet to be brought up to grade and widened, but it will speed up the flow of construction materials for the camp, to be built at the power house site.

Previously this site was accessible only by tractor train and helicopter.

Rules Forbid Reading of Prepared Speeches

OTTAWA, May 29 (CP)—Speaker Ross Macdonald today reminded members that they should not read prepared speeches during debates in the Commons.

"The Commons is not a debating society nor an assembly gathered to hear the reading of lengthy essays," said Mr. Macdonald.

Last February, he recalled, he had said that the rules prohibited the reading of speeches. He wished to thank members for their cooperation in observing the rule. Few speeches were read until the budget debate started last month. Then the practice was revived, with many members reading long prepared speeches.

Amid applause, he appealed to members to observe the rules.

At the same time, he made a ruling on a point raised last week by M. J. Coldwell, C.C.F. leader. Mr. Macdonald agreed with Mr. Coldwell that irregular use is being made of the rule covering questions of privilege.

The rule should be used only to raise a question affecting the personal privileges of a member or the privileges of members generally.

LONDON, May 29 (Reuters)—Stage magician Ronald Alexander had a stooge who did a disappearing trick.

He did it once too often. He vanished with Alexander's props which had been deposited in a rail station baggage room.

The law caught up with the stooge some time ago, but today the state-run railroads suffered for their part in the off-stage trick.

A court approved Alexander's claim against the railroad for failing to guard his property properly. He had sued for breach of contract. The amount of damages will be decided later.

Knowler President Of District Farmers

ROBSON, B. C., May 29 — Douglas Knowler of Fruitvale was elected President of West Kootenay-Boundary Central Farmers' Institute at the organization's annual meeting in the community hall here today.

G. Haines of Nakusp, last year's President, was named First Vice-President, J. Cochran of Kaslo, Second Vice-President, and Kenneth Wallace of Boswell was re-elected Secretary-Treasurer.

Mr. Wallace was also elected advisory board member, with W. Shipmaker of Edgewood as alternative. Nelson Board of Trade representative is F. H. W. Chanter and Robert Foxall of Nelson is auditor.

A large number of official delegates from various Farmers' Institutes attended the meeting, along with L. W. Johnson of Victoria, Superintendent of B. C. Farmers' Institutes and E. C. Hunt of Nelson, District Horticulturist. Hon. Harry Bowman, Minister of Agriculture, and Walter Hendricks, M.L.A. for Nelson-Creston, were unable to attend.

Mr. Johnson in a short address told of the value of Central Institutes to local institutes.

In some districts only 50 per cent of locals paid a per capita tax to their central, yet all gained by the work of the centrals, he said. He felt Farmers' Institutes should be as free as possible of Government controls in order to stand on their own feet and voice their criticisms of Department of Agriculture policies.

"Farm life can and will only reach its highest peak if the people themselves have a vision of a better community," he said. "There is no social legislation that can bring this about; the achievement must come from the members of the community themselves."

J. L. Webster of the host Robson Institute extended a welcome to delegates and recalled that years ago Robson had fathered the meetings. While Robson's agricultural nature had lessened with an influx of Trail workers, it was still keenly interested in farming.

Mr. Chanter brought greetings from Nelson Board of Trade and told of plans for the West Kootenay exhibition in Nelson in September.

Luncheon was served in the parish hall by Robson Women's Institute, and its members also served tea.

Delegates were Mr. Haines of Inonoaklin Valley Farmers' Institute, G. Howie and Mr. Wallace of Boswell, J. Raine, C. E. Tutt and Mr. Webster of Robson, Mr. Cochran of Kootenay Lake, P. Romaine of Deer Park, Mr. Knowler, K. E. L. Knowler and N. Moller of Fruitvale, I. Wiebe of Renata, J. Wellwood, S. C. Course, J. Brown and H. Hudson of Balfour and Mr. Shipmaker.

Don't be HALF-SAFE

by VALDA SHERMAN

Many mysterious changes take place in your body as you mature. Now, the glands under your arms begin to secrete daily a new type of perspiration containing substances which will—if they reach your dress—cause ugly stains and clinging odor.

You'll face this problem throughout womanhood. It's not enough merely to stop the odor of this perspiration. You must now use a deodorant that stops the perspiration itself before it reaches—and ruins—your clothes.

As doctors know, not all deodorants stop both perspiration and odor. But Arrid does! It's been proved that the new cream deodorant Arrid stops underarm perspiration 1 to 3 days safely—keeps underarms dry and sweet.

Remember this, too. Arrid's antiseptic action kills odor on contact—prevents formation of odor up to 48 hours and keeps you "shower-bath" fresh. And it's safe for skin—safe for fabrics.

So, don't be half-safe. Don't risk half-safe deodorants. Be Arrid-safe! Use Arrid to be sure. Arrid with Creamogen will not dry out, and it's so pleasant and easy to apply. Get Arrid—Canada's largest selling deodorant—today!

Recreational Council is going to give tennis a shot in the arm in Nelson.

An uphill tennis court is going to be put into shape as a result of a meeting the council had Tuesday night with young residents in the area. Hope is the work will stimulate interest in the long-abandoned Fairview courts.

Recreational Council will start immediately to get bulldozer and roller work at the uphill court and after handling financial end of improvements, will turn the court over to residents for maintenance.

Fairview, Pro-Rec Director Eddie Wares said, must get a similar committee before the Council will undertake improvements to the Fairview courts.

Defence Challenges Identification Of Davidoff as Man on Bridge

CASTLEGAR, B.C., May 29—Testimony that John Davidoff was seen on the Kootenay River bridge near Brilliant about 10 p.m. on the evening his son Joe was murdered with a .303 rifle was entered at the second day of the preliminary hearing here Tuesday. Defence counsel for Davidoff questioned the ability of the witness to make a certain identification.

Mike Koochin, nephew of the accused, told the court he saw Davidoff on the bridge while crossing in a friend's car the night of the murder. The witness said Davidoff was on the upstream side near the centre of the bridge, walking towards the Brilliant side.

Koochin said he had attended a concert at Ootischenia early in the evening but had left about 9 p.m. to go to Castlegar. He and his friend were returning about an hour later when they reportedly met Davidoff on the bridge.

Asked by the Crown counsel if he had seen the man's features clearly, Koochin said, "Yes, I recognized him. He was wearing a hat and a grey suit."

Under cross-examination by defence counsel J. H. Gordon, Koochin admitted having had several "slugs" of whisky during the evening, and that the two were drinking beer on the way back to Ootischenia.

The defence suggested that the witness must have been "feeling no pain" as a result of the drinking and thus could not be certain of the identity.

Koochin had testified to driving both Davidoff and his son, Joe, home from Castlegar about 6 o'clock that evening. Asked what Davidoff had been wearing then, the witness said he did not remember.

The defence thought it "rather strange" that the witness could not remember this detail while accompanying the man in broad daylight and yet could remember a grey suit and hat in a "passing glimpse" in the dark.

Asked if he was "quite certain" the man was Davidoff, Koochin replied, "I'm pretty sure it was."

IDENTIFY RIFLE

In earlier testimony Koochin identified the .303 rifle entered as evidence as belonging to him. Another witness, diver Fred McKim, had identified the rifle as the one he found in the Kootenay River in the vicinity of the bridge on April 24, after four days of searching.

He also told of a conversation with his uncle early in March when he alleged Davidoff had asked to borrow a rifle to shoot a dog.

RIFLE MISSING

He said Davidoff had returned the rifle a few days later and that "as far as I knew" the rifle had been in his bedroom closet until the day Joe Davidoff was shot when Koochin said he had found it missing that morning before leaving for work.

He said he had made inquiries of the rifle of Alex Plotnikoff that day, but could not recollect any conversation with Davidoff on the subject.

SECOND INTERPRETER ASKED

Early in the afternoon proceedings, a heated controversy arose when defence counsel A. G. Cameron took exception to the interpreter's version of a statement by Mrs. Mary Argatoff.

The witness had been questioned by the Crown as to the time her daughter Polly had arrived home from work the evening of the murder. Mrs. Argatoff replied in Russian and the interpreter translated this reply to have been "about seven o'clock."

Mr. Cameron asked for a repeat of the question and the Russian reply, this time in greater detail, was translated to mean "before eight o'clock."

The defence counsel then turned to a Doukhobor in the gallery and asked his interpretation of Mrs. Argatoff's reply which was then given as "after seven o'clock."

Meanwhile, the interpreter, Capt. Vladimir Pogoreski, began to question Mrs. Argatoff, apparently in an attempt to clarify her answer.

Cameron then made strenuous objection to Stipendiary Magistrate W. H. Taylor that the interpreter was not interpreting accurately and that it was "highly improper" for him to put private questions to the witness.

Following a brief adjournment to help clarify the matter Pogoreski was put on the stand. The interpreter said he had given the Russian phrase quoted by Mrs. Argatoff its literal Russian translation, "before eight o'clock." Evidently, he said, the same words in Doukhobor usage must mean "after seven o'clock."

He said he had been endeavoring to interpret according to the standards of the "best" Russian literature, and gave examples of how Russian as spoken by the Doukhobors had been corrupted by the addition of Caucasion, Turkish and English words.

Mr. Cameron charged that Pogoreski had been "guessing" at Doukhobor meanings and that although he was apparently a Russian scholar, he was "incapable" of interpreting the Russian dialect spoken locally.

He then asked the magistrate to adjourn the hearing until the interpreter had been replaced.

Crown Prosecutor Leo S. Gansner was of the opinion that it was Russian and not a dialect being dealt with. He pointed to the qualifications of the interpreter, born and raised in Russia. However, he was willing to accede to the wishes of the defence if the Magistrate so desired.

Magistrate Taylor then called another adjournment, after which he told the witness, Mrs. Argatoff, to stand down until another interpreter could be found.

The Crown was then given permission to proceed with witnesses not requiring an interpreter.

Several important witnesses were heard during the day, including the deceased's 14-year-old brother Billy and his 16-year-old cousin Willie Koochin, both of whom slept in the same room with the corpse, apparently unknowingly.

RADIO GOING

Both testified to going to the concert at Ootischenia the evening of April 16. Joe was said to have decided not to go because "it was too far." The concert was held about a mile from the second Austrov village where the three lived with the accused.

Billy Davidoff told the court he had come home from the concert to find the house in darkness, Joe apparently asleep in bed, and the radio at his bedside playing. He did not turn on the lights, but said he could see his brother's bed by moonlight.

He said he went to bed immediately but could not sleep because of the radio. He "hollered" to his brother twice to turn it off, and getting no reply, got up and turned it off himself.

Willie Koochin, their cousin, said Joe appeared to be asleep when he came home "about midnight." He had gone right to bed without turning on a light, sleeping in the same bed as the corpse.

He did not touch Joe's body during the night, and remembered nothing until morning when he awakened. He noticed Joe wasn't breathing, felt his face, and found it cold. He then dressed and went to tell Mary Lebedoff, a neighbor.

Billy Davidoff testified he had arisen before his cousin that morning and that both occupants of the other bed appeared to be sleeping. He made his breakfast and left for school before Willie Koochin had awakened, he said.

He testified he had learned his brother was dead from Alex Plotnikoff who caught up to him on the way to school. A few minutes later he met his father and told him of the report. Together they proceeded to Brilliant to telephone the R.C.M.P., Billy said, then had returned home where they waited for the police.

NO SHOT HEARD

Neither witness reported hearing a shot during the night. Two young neighbors, Polly and Fred Argatoff, reported spending the evening at home but likewise could not recall hearing a shot or a disturbance of any kind.

Both testified that Davidoff, "a second uncle" had eaten supper at their house and had spent the early part of the evening there.

William Goresky, pay-roll clerk at Wm. Waldie & Sons, was called by the Crown to give evidence on the accused's earnings there last year. He had worked seven-and-a-half months in 1950, earning a gross of $1150.58 and a net of $981.99, the witness said.

The second day of the hearing, like the first, was held before a packed courtroom in the Legion Hall. The crowd comprised almost entirely of Doukhobors, stood several deep at the back of the hall to hear the proceedings.

About 20 more witnesses are to be heard which indicates the hearing is likely to extend into Thursday. Sixteen witnesses have been heard to date.

Robson-Edgewood Road Link Asked By Central Farmers' Institute

Future of Communities Depends On Transportation, Says Brief

ROBSON, B.C., May 29—A resolution calling for immediate construction of a road from Edgewood to the Southern Trans-Provincial Highway was passed here today at the annual meeting of West Kootenay-Boundary Central Farmers' Institute.

Other resolutions called for Dominion and Provincial Government subsidies for Arrow Lakes boat service, a "more reasonable" maintenance of existing highways in the district, and a reduction of fee for farm tractor licences from $10 to $5.

The resolution asking for the Edgewood-Robson road was prefaced by what the sponsors considered a brief owing to its length. The link would shorten distance by road from Nelson to Vernon by 70 miles, and cut 90 miles off distance from Trail to Vernon.

The preamble stated:

"The Lower Arrow Lakes from Arrow Park South has for many years suffered from lack of adequate transportation, having to depend on a twice weekly steamer service subject to cessation owing to ice and low water conditions, plus a truck service to Nakusp with an overnight stop, and the transfer of freight and express to the Nakusp-Nelson line. These conditions have made it unprofitable and in many instances impossible to ship perishable commodities to our natural market of Trail and Nelson.

"The Arrow Lakes have a wealth of natural resources, excellent farm land for mixed farming, especially dairy farming, fruit and poultry, logging, cedar poles, pulp wood, tourist attractions, hunting, fishing and two prospective mineral areas of merit, Burton and Lightning Peak.

"Logging and the cutting of poles have in the past, and to a limited extent at the present time, still provide an extra source of income to some of the farmers. This has been the cause in many cases of a farm becoming run down, owing to lack of adequate attention. However, in many instances it has only been possible for the farmer to retain his original investment by these means.

"Today with the stands of timber within reasonable distance of the settlements already cut, together with increased royalties, the fact that very few horses are used on farms, has with few exceptions, done away with this supplementary source of income.

TAXES INCREASED

"The consolidation of schools, as necessary as it was, has however, increased school taxes to over double their pre-consolidation levels. The rise in freight rates, farm machinery prices and other commodities necessary to a farmer, including fertilizer, have increased the cost of production excessively, when taking into consideration the lack of adequate transportation for produce produced under these conditions.

"As much as we appreciate the Monashee highway to Vernon, it does not provide the residents of these communities with a market for their produce, except to a limited extent for cattle and hogs.

MILK MARKET

"The cheese factory at Edgewood provides a market for milk at approximately half the price paid for fluid milk. Considering that Trail and Rossland are in short supply of fresh milk, and that milk shipped in from the Fraser Valley to these points does not meet the requirements of the Department of Health, a market exists for fluid milk from the Arrow Lakes once transportation is provided. We cannot stress too strongly the undeniable fact that the only satisfactory market for produce from the Arrow Lakes is the industrial population of the Trail-Nelson area.

"The argument is used that the cost of a road South is excessive for the small population it will serve. This argument will hold good for many years to come if transportation is allowed to remain as it is for this area. Unless development takes place many people who have invested capital and many years of hard work to build these communities, may have to seek a living elsewhere.

"Prosperity for the Arrow Lakes, the development of its resources, only awaits the building of a market road South."

The meeting also endorsed a resolution from Renata Farmers' Institute asking for a road connecting Edgewood and Robson via Renata.

Apportioning of a subsidy for Arrow Lakes steamer service to ensure uninterrupted service was asked, moved by Deer Park Farmers' Institute and seconded by Renata. Lacking road transportation, the district depended on the service for shipments of produce, especially fruit, the resolution stated.

"Highways in the district have been allowed to deteriorate to a lamentable degree," Kootenay Lake Farmers' Institute resolution asking for more reasonable maintenance, stated. The situation was not only detrimental to residents, but to tourist business. "Reasonable maintenance" would be a minimum effort for the comfort of the travelling public and the prosperity of those affected.

The present fee of $10 for farm tractor licences was excessive in view of the facts that the equipment was used for tillage and harvesting only and operated on highways only occasionally, Inonoaklin Valley Farmer's Institute resolution stated. Registration fee should not exceed the price charged for the licence issued at the time the tractor is registered.

WANT 10 DAYS WITHOUT CO-INSURANCE

There was also a suggestion from Balfour Farmers' Institute that co-insurance charges under the B.C. Hospital Insurance Act should not be started until after a person is 10 days in hospital.

"This would give those who are patients for a short time a chance to make use of their hospitalization fees already paid and would encourage patients to be discharged before co-insurance fees are charged," The suggestion will be sent to the B.C. Hospital Insurance Commission.

The meeting also endorsed sending a letter to the Department of Public Works at Victoria asking immediate survey of an emergency trail from Deer Park to Syringa Creek.

It appeared the "missing link" from Syringa to Edgewood would not be built for some time, P. Romaine, Deer Park delegate said, so volunteer workers had blazed three possible routes for an emergency trail.

The department had stated that when the route was clear of snow a survey would be made. The route had been clear for two months and there had been no action.

An emergency route was a necessity, it was pointed out, in event of illness or accident requiring medical attention. In recent Winters the community had been isolated by ice conditions on Arrow Lakes.

ELECTRIFICATION

The matter of supplying electricity to areas of the Arrow Lakes in a comprehensive rural electrification scheme also received considerable attention. The secretary, Kenneth Wallace of Boswell, was instructed to send a letter to the B.C. Power Commission asking service if at all possible for areas not expecting to receive power from Whatshan. These include Nakusp, East and West Arrow Park, Burton and Graham Landing.

It was reported mail service to Arrow Lakes points had been increased from two to three times a week by plane.

In a discussion of problems arising from soil erosion caused by runoffs from highways and roads, W. Shipmaker of Edgewood agrees to contact the deputy minister of public works as several places reported experiencing difficulty in obtaining satisfaction locally.

Many districts had had difficulty with livestock roaming loose both within and out of pound areas and resultant property damage. L. W. Johnson, of Victoria, superintendent of B.C. Farmers' Institutes, in speaking of statements that cattle had been deliberately turned loose to graze in a pound area in instances, said changes would be made in the Pound Act and that the matter of penalties for deliberate trespass would be given serious consideration.

He asked Farmers' Institutes to send him suggestions for improvements to the Act within the next three months.

Mr. Johnson also told of difficulty in obtaining pound keepers, and said that without these men, controls were useless. A question of feasibility of branding livestock to establish ownership was raised, and Mr. Johnson said that in view of the enormous amount of paper work which would be involved in devising individual brands and sale and re-sale of animals, such a method of identification would be impractical.

Douglas Knowler, Fruitvale delegate, said that on information he had received it was illegal for a farmer to slaughter cattle for his own use unless he was the owner of a registered brand. This aroused much discussion, and Mr. Johnson was asked to investigate the matter and pass along further information before any action was taken by the Farmers' Institutes.

The meeting endorsed sending of a letter asking a high licence fee for owners of scrub bulls in order that it be made unprofitable for farmers to keep them. Feeling was that this would help improve quality of cattle.

A motion which would have asked B.C. Department of Agriculture to grant $200 to each Central Farmers' Institute rather than the present $10 to each local institute, was defeated.

"X" Substance Halts Growth of TB Germ

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE

CHICAGO, May 29 (AP) — A natural "X" substance in human bodies that halts the growth of TB germs was described today to the Society of American Bacteriologists.

The material, as yet unnamed, was found and purified by Dr. Rene J. Dubos, Dr. J. G. Hirsch, and W. B. Schaefer of the Rockefeller Institute for Medical Research, New York.

It may be a main explanation for a big puzzle about tuberculosis — why more people don't get sick with it. By adult life, from 50 to 90 per cent of people in cities show signs of having been invaded by TB germs. But relatively few become actively sick. The spread of the germs is checked in their bodies.

The "X" material possibly increases resistance of the infection, Dubos said. In test tubes, it halted the growth only of tuberculosis germs.

The substance is found in human and animal lungs, lymph glands, kidneys and spleens, with much less of it in the lungs than other organs. It possibly is carried by white blood cells to the site of the TB infection, and released there to combat the germs, he said.

The "X" stuff can be obtained relatively easily from beef kidneys and spleens. Studies to determine its possible usefulness are underway.

Research to learn whether certain vitamins could help humans recover from TB was reported by Drs. L. W. Hedgecock and R. H. Hubble at St. Louis University School of Medicine.

Mice fed food deficient in vitamin D died at a greater rate from TB than mice on a normal diet, they found. Those lacking a "B" vitamin, inositol, or vitamin K, or vitamin E showed increased resistance to TB.

Mice lived longer on diets with big amounts of five different B vtiamins — pyridoxine, thiamin, niacin, pantothenic acid, and biotin.

Rossland to Study Civil Defence Role; To Correct Time Waste in City Work

ROSSLAND, B.C., May 29—At the Rossland City Council meeting Monday night Council was advised that Trail-Tadanac is designated a target area for civil defence. Mayor J. R. Corner is to go into the matter of precautions in cooperation with the City of Trail.

The subject of a travelling dental health clinic for school children in this district was discussed on inquiry from the union Board of Health.

On Council's request for a man to come to Rossland to assess the city, the B.C. Association of Assessors informed the Council that their request will be brought up at their June meeting.

Further discussion was held on the matter of water for Mountain View Cemetery if two-inch pipe does not give sufficient water supply. Four-inch piping could be installed if easements can be released. If four-inch piping is used, the yearly rate to the City of Trail would be higher.

Mayor Corner spoke strongly on complaints he had received of city workers wasting time on the job. He stated that the taxpayers' money was not to be wasted, that the roads and sidewalks in Rossland were in bad shape and with a thirty-five man work crew more should be accomplished than was being done. He realized, he said, that the city foreman could not be 35 places at once and commended him on his work, but said there was laxity somewhere.

A special meeting will be called of the board of works to discuss this further in order to correct the situation and so keep up the maintenance of the city.

A motion was passed to donate a large "City of Rossland" cup to the Golden City Fall Fair. This cup is to be presented yearly to the boy or girl sixteen years and under for handicraft.

The chief commissioner, deputy chief commissioner, provincial and deputy provincial commissioners attended. Mrs. D. E. S. Wishart of Toronto, Chief Commissioner, was chairman.

The program will concentrate on first aid, home nursing, child care, fire fighting and emergency cooking. Obedience to orders will be stressed.

The conference said that while Guides may not be used as messengers in emergency, they may be employed to care for groups of children. They also may have to meet emergencies in their own home in the absence of adults who are on duty.

IN SANDON'S EARLY DAYS . . .

Pioneer Recalls How Railway Played Samaritan to Station-Moving Engine

SANDON, B. C., May 29—In the early days of Sandon, the Great Northern Railway had a branch line running from Kaslo to Sandon known as the Kaslo-Slocan or K. & S. A switch at the Payne Mine opened the rails which climbed high on the hill above Sandon and on to Cody, where there was a small community settled around the Noble Five Mill.

Along this line was the Reco Siding, where ore from the Reco mine was brought down by packhorse in Summer, and rawhide in Winter, and loaded on to the K. & S. freight cars. It was a narrow gauge railway, burning wood, and all along the right of way from Sandon to Kaslo were huge piles of cordwood. When necessary to get up steam, the train stopped, the crew got off and threw wood into the tender—very often assisted by the passengers.

The Canadian Pacific Railway also had a line into Sandon coming from Rosebery and when they built their station, a dispute arose with the K. & S. who claimed they were building it on K. & S. property.

One morning, a pert little K. & S. engine ran into Sandon, threw a heavy rope around the incompleted C.P.R. station, and dragged it off the property, and then skittered back to Kaslo.

The C.P.R. then built its station across the street, between its own tracks, and peace was restored. I was not here when this happened, but the above story is the way I have been told it many times.

Time passed on and about 1905, a few years after I came, the K. & S. passenger train was caught in Sandon by a heavy slide behind it at the Payne mine. At the same time the other engine was caught between two slides along the line. The rotary snow plow was in Kaslo, and no engine. So a light trestle was built down what is now known as Towgood's Hill, rails were laid on the trestle, and the K. & S. engine and tender let down by ropes onto a C.P.R. flat car at the foot of the hill, and the C.P.R. engine wearing a broad smile across its front, pulled its subdued little rival, with all the fight knocked out of it, on its way back to Kaslo. From Rosebery it was barged to Slocan City, hauled by rail to Nelson, and then barged to Kaslo, where it took hold of the rotary plow and went to work on the slides. Some days later it turned up again in Sandon with the plow, the line all cleared behind it.

Ducking slides all Winter, closing of the mines it served, and falling revenues forced the Great Northern to abandon its Slocan branch, but it gave great service all the years it was here.

War Behind Lines Curbs Dope Fiends

TOKYO, May 29 (AP) — While United Nations troops battle to destroy the Communist forces, army medics behind the lines are waging a relentless fight against drug addiction.

They say they are winning.

The medical authorities deny published stories that use of drugs has become a major problem among troops in Japan and Korea.

Maj.-Gen. Edgar H. Hume, Surgeon General of the Far East Command, expressed surprise when informed such stories had been circulated. "No such major problem exists," he said.

Hume said admissions to army hospitals of drug addicts were "normal and about the same as experienced in any civilian hospital in the United States."

FEET BIGGER, SHOE PRICES HIGHER

VANCOUVER, May 29 (CP) — It's not a secret any longer, feet are getting bigger all the time and shoe prices higher.

And the big feet are not confined to men. Women, too, are stepping out in larger shoes.

The "trade secrets" were revealed at the two-day Western regional conference of the Canadian Shoe Retailers' Association.

"Both men and women take several sizes larger today than they did years ago, veteran salesman John Grieves of Vancouver told the conference last night.

"But the women don't mind admitting it," he said. "They like comfort now that they can get it in style."

For the ladies there was this fashion hint: Red is a coming color for shoes, especially what is known to the trade as "ombre red."

"But black is still stylish," said Mrs. Elizabeth Hammond of Vancouver, who is public relations director for the industry.

The problem of higher prices was outlined by Laurence Savage, manufacturer from Preston, Ont.

"Prices will not be coming down," was his warning. "Material costs remain high."

He blamed it all on sky high costs of labor and leather.

The shoemen can forget some of their worries during the conference and follow the style trend.

There is a bevy of pretty models to show the latest shoes and there is no shortage.

Fifty manufacturers have 5000 pairs of shoes on display.

Movie Gossip—

Congressional Probe Into Red Activity Injures Film Business

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, May 29 (AP) — What affect has the Congressional investigation of Communism in Hollywood had on the film business?

For one thing, a few hours' testimony in Washington can endanger or even wipe out an investment of $1,000,000.

That is what happened when Larry Parks told the House of Representatives Un-American Activities Commitee that he had once been a Communist but had drifted away from the party. His words made a risky venture out of what had appeared to be a box-office winner—a film called "Love Is Better Than Ever", in which Parks co-starred with Elizabeth Taylor.

M.G.M. which invested about $1,000,000 in the picture, has announced it has no plans for the release of the film. The studio is carefully watching straws in the wind to find out what the public's reaction will be toward Parks. Some, including members of the Congressional Committee, say Parks should be forgiven.

DEFINITE LOSS

A definite financial loss because of the investigation was suffered by R.K.O. and Producer Irving Allen. The independent producer made "Slaughter Trail" with Howard Da Silva in one of the leading roles. After Da Silva refused to answer the Committee's questions as to whether he was a Communist, he was decided to delete his scenes from the picture.

Re-shooting with Brian Donlevy in the part played by Da Silva will add $100,000 to the film's cost.

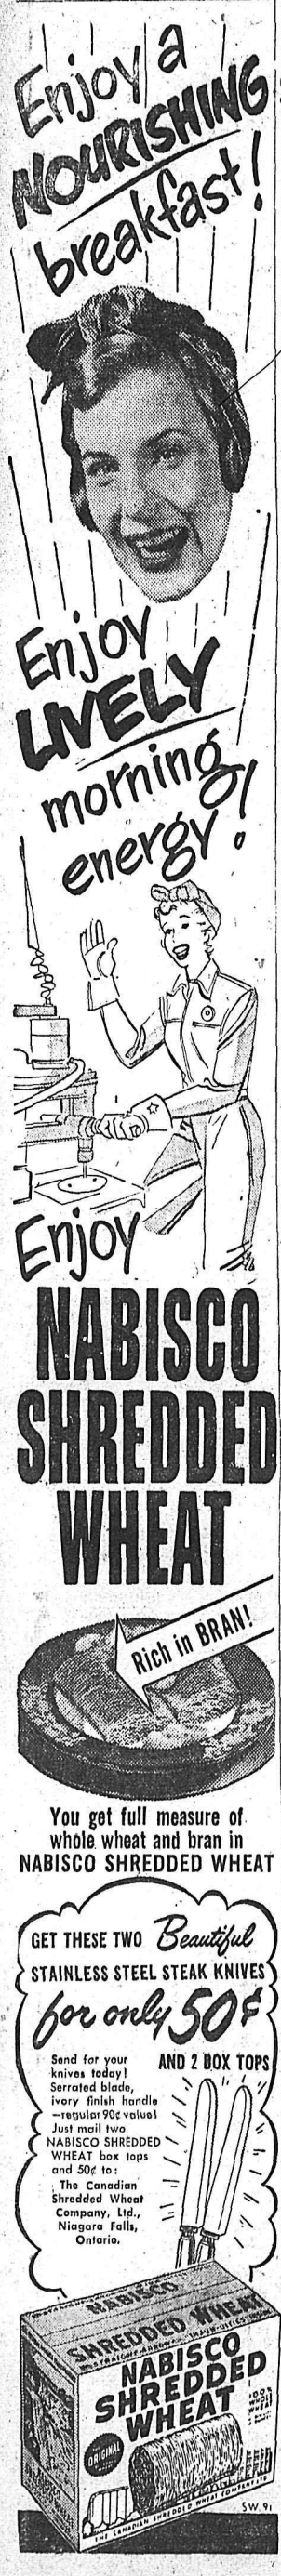
Another financial repercussion concerned Director Frank Tuttle, who told the committee he had been a Communist but later quit. His producers had planned for him to direct a couple of pictures in Vienna but reported their backing had withdrawn after the publicity about Tuttle.

OVER-ALL EFFECT

George Murphy, one of the industry's leading spokesmen, believes that publicity about movie Reds is one of the reasons the movie business has not been very good.

"I think the investigations have had a bad effect on movie business," he said. ". . . People I meet in tours through the country ask me what we are doing about 'all those Reds in Hollywood.' They . . . . think the whole town is involved.

"I think it is time for the good Americans in the industry to combat the bad opinion that the Communists have brought on Hollywood. . . ."



Hypnotic Cures In Drug Store

MIAMI, Fla., May 29 (AP)—A stranger walking into Ralph Pearson's drug store any night in the week would be amazed, to say the least, at some of the queer antics there.

What would you think, for instance, if you saw a man flying an imaginary warplane, another at the soda fountain kissing a woman who wasn't there, and a girl posed as the Statue of Liberty?

Regular customers are never surprised. They know it's just Pearson practicing his hobby of hypnotism.

Besides having fun, Pearson accomplished a lot of good by putting people in trances. He has cured several of the smoking habit.

"I'm losing a lot of my cigaret business," he says. "But I don't mind. Most of the smoker's I've cured are young people who shouldn't be smoking, anyway."

One schoolgirl told Pearson she hated school.

"I hypnotized her and quietly suggested while she was in a trance that school was a good thing and she should enjoy it," he recalled. "After I woke her up, I said, 'How's school going lately?' 'Fine,' she said 'I can't wait to go in the morning'."

A young man who was about to lose his job because he overslept every morning, now wakes up at 7 a.m. daily on the dot, Pearson claims.

"Too bad I can't hypnotize myself," the druggist added. "I stay up so late hypnotizing people, I'm too tired to get up in the mornings."

The druggist has attracted so much attention with his hypnotism, nobody watches the television set in his store any more.

"We'll either have to sell the store and go into the hypnotism business or stop this stuff," said Mrs. Pearson. "It's getting to be a three-ring circus around here."

$2,170,000 ROYALTIES FOR BRITISH

LONDON, May 29 (AP)—British engine makers got $2,170,000 in royalties and licence fees from American manufacturers who built British designed jets in 1950, the Chancellor of the Exchequer, Hugh Gaitskell, told a questioner in the House of Commons today.

He said earnings in 1951 are expected to "show some increase" over 1950.

DAMAGE SUIT DISMISSED

VICTORIA, B. C., May 29 (CP)—A $1000 damage suit over injuries to a race horse Hindu Prince, allegedly received in shipment to Sandowne Race Track at Sidney for training, was dismissed by Judge H. H. Shandley in County Court yesterday.

Owen Lloyd, co-owner of the colt with Mr. and Mrs. C. Horner Harrison of Saanich, claimed damages on the ground that the Harrisons shipped the colt to the race track without his consent.

Judge Shandley ruled that there was no agreement between the two parties stating that the colt could no be moved without consent.

The republic of South Korea before the invasion of June, 1950, produced 90,000 tons of coal monthly.

Denies M.L.A.'s Tried "In Absentia" By Organized Labor

VANCOUVER, May 29 (CP) — Charges raised by six M.L.A.'s here that they have been tried "in absentia" by organized labor were denied tonight by one of Labor's spokesmen.

President Tom Alsbury of the Trades and Labor Council voiced the denial in a radio broadcast dealing with refusal of the six provincial members to attend a Labor rally on hospital insurance.

The rally, scheduled for tonight, was cancelled when Attorney-General Gordon Wismer, Leigh Stevenson, Reg. MacDougall, Don Brown, Allen McDonell and Jay Gould declined to appear on the platform.

They charged in a letter that they had been tried "in absentia" for voting for hospital insurance premium increases and that Labor's campaign was "CCF-inspired."

"As they are all honorable men, I will not question their reasons or their motives," Alsbury said.

"But their action raises an important point—can their action be reconciled with our Canadian concept of Democratic procedure?

"Labor is an important section of the community. The three labor bodies, two of which have no political ties, asked these members to "Is that refusal in accord with the method and spirit of Canadian Democracy? I leave the question to you.

"Surely, governments must be prepared to explain and persuade if they expect to win public support. That is plain common sense.

"It is, moreover, the plain duty of those who have accepted the responsibility of public office."

Alsbury was joined in the broadcast by his Trades Council Secretary, R. K. Gervin, one of two Labor Aldermen on City Council.

Parents Censored For Care Of Children

MONTREAL, May 29 (CP)—Parents got a verbal spanking today from Quebec's Minister of Health.

Addressing the opening luncheon of the Canadian Public Health Association convention and the Quebec Society of Hygiene and Preventive Medicine, Dr. J. A. Paquette appealed for continued emphasis on public health education. Then he became a bit indignant.

"People love children but parents go on filling their youngsters with candy and soft drinks and keep them up late, with the excuse that it's good for them to have what they want," he said.

"People have to be told over and over again what they should do to maintain health," he said further. "They don't care about health until their health is threatened.

"We have to hammer home the simple truths: don't eat too much don't drink too much, don't amuse yourselves too much, get a reasonable amount of sleep."

The Quebec Health Ministry's budget had increased from $5,900,000 in 1944 to $38,000,000 in the last year, said Mr. Paquette, and he knew of no other country or province which had so rapidly stepped up its health work.

"This is all the more remarkable because we in this province were not always at the top," he said.

When he took over the portfolio as Quebec's first Minister of Health, he recalled, "our mortality statistics were far too high—and I hated that kind of championship."

Anybody Want a Cheerful Soldier?

By JIM BECKER

WITH THE U.S. MARINES IN EAST-CENTRAL KOREA, May 29 (AP)—I had a Communist Chinese soldier on my hands today. I thought for a while I would have to take him home with me. Only by subterfuge was I able to rid myself of him.

I found him this morning. You might even say I captured him.

There he was cowering in the bushes as I walked by. He stood up with his hands raised and smiled.

I took him to my jeep and put him in the front seat. He never made a move and he never stopped grinning.

First I stopped some marine infantrymen coming down the road.

"You want a prisoner?" I asked.

"What would we do with him?" one asked.

After about a mile, I passed a prisoner of war processing point for a battalion.

I stopped, motioned to my captive to wait, and went inside.

There was a corporal sitting on a box. In the back were a batch of forlorn-looking Chinese in assorted uniforms.

"I've got a prisoner outside in the jeep," I told the corporal.

"Who are you?" he asked.

I told him.

"We only process prisoners captured by our own battalion. Take him back to the rear," he said.

A short distance down the road I passed a regimental command post. I drove right inside.

There was a P.O.W. stockade but I knew they wouldn't want junior.

So I drove right up to the S-2 (intelligence) tent. I motioned to the laughing lad to follow me. He came along quietly.

I circled around to the rear of the tent, looked carefully in all directions and then opened the flap and shoved my captive, still grinning, inside.

I hope they have better luck getting rid of him than I did.

Canadian Poster Bids Scotsmen To Attend Church

ABERDEEN, Scotland (CP) — Walk down University Road here and you will be confronted by a large Canadian poster.

Depicting a tiny country church it bids: "Come to church—every life needs an altar and faith for testing times."

The posters were presented to Britain when a British billposting company could not get permission to buy them in Canada.

From many parts of Britain, requests for copies are reaching church officials in Aberdeen. Authorities believe the posters will help boost the recent "back to church" movement.

Princess Patricias Represented At War Correspondents' Funeral

PUSAN, Korea, May 29 (CP) — Lieut. Joseph Levison, 21, Canadian Public Information Officer from Sydney and Halifax, and Derek Pearcy, 25, war correspondent for Reuters News Agency and the Australian Associated Press, were buried today in the United Nations cemetery at Pusan.

They were killed when their jeep struck a Communist land mine Northeast of Uijongbu, North of Seoul, Saturday — the day after Pearcy's 25th birthday.

A party of British troops fired a salute and a bugler sounded "The Last Post" at the end of the simple services. Levison's funeral was conducted by an American chaplain and Pearcy's by a British chaplain.

War correspondents and representatives of the United States Eighth Army, the Commonwealth Command, and the British and Australian delegations in Pusan attended.

Lieut. K. R. Mattocks of the Princess Patricias — the unit Levison was attached to—also attended. Levison, a native of Sydney, had served on the editorial staff of the Halifax Chronicle and the Halifax Herald. He went to Korea with the advance party of the Patricias last December.

Pearcy was the 14th Allied correspondent killed in the Korean war. Three others are missing and two are prisoners.

IODE Okays Scholarship Restriction

SASKATOON, May 29 (CP) — Candidates for First World War Memorial scholarships of the Imperial Order Daughters of the Empire may be men or women who must remain single during the tenure of the scholarships.

This recommendation today was approved by the 51st annual meeting of the I.O.D.E.

The policy of receiving applications for them every year will be continued.

The first recommendation was to clear an ambiguous clause revised in 1947 to permit veterans who had married during the Second World War to take advantage of the awards.

The policy of making an award for one year only, with the understanding it might be awarded for a second year if progress reports were favorable, was considered preferable to an outright two-year award.

The action was taken after the First World War memorial report was given by Mrs. W. D. Detwiler of London, Ont.

Current low interest rates, coupled with the increased value of the post-graduate scholarship, has made it difficult to finance the memorial, she said.

It would not be possible to grant one in each province every year if it hadn't been for interest accumulated during the war years when scholarships were not awarded.

Mrs. Detwiler said expenditures are exceeding receipts. A saving might be made by withdrawing railway fare grants to students of the four Western Provinces. This would mean an extra scholarship at least every four years.

TRIBUTE

Delegates stood in silent tribute as Mrs. Detwiler read the names and records of scholarship recipients for 1951-52.

Present holders:

Alberta—Keith Johnstone; British Columbia—Peter Remnant; Manitoba—John Madden; New Brunswick—Fred Cogswell; Nova Scotia—Earl Frederick Guy; Ontario — William Herbert Dray; Prince Edward Island—Chares Stewart Read; Quebec—John Lesie Harrison; Saskatchewan — John Mitchel Stedmond.

All now are taking post-graduate work at British universities.

Canada's 27th Nears Strength

OTTAWA, May 29 (CP)—Rapidly approaching full strength, units of Canada's 27th Brigade, being raised primarily for service in Europe, will be moving into training centres soon, an Army spokesman said today.

Latest reports are that 5539 men have been recruited for service with the 27th. Each of some 40 units across the country is aiming initially at recruiting a company — around 140 officers and men — and as these companies near completion their personnel will move to the main training centres.

Between 5500 and 6500 men are needed for the brigade group, but the recruiting drive which opened May 7 will continue indefinitely, the spokesman said. At least as many more men will be needed later as replacements.

U.K. Utility Clothing Up in Price

LONDON, May 29 (CP) — Price increases in Britain's utility clothing scheme, effective this month, mean that most family budgets have to be trimmed still further. It's either that, or shabby clothes.

The latest 20 per cent increase on outer garments for men and boys followed a similar increase in women's wear. And almost everyone in Britain wears something "utility." The scheme covers everything from underwear to furs, clothing for everyone from dockworker to big business executive, bridal wear and evening clothes.

Started in 1941, the plan was designed to bring clothing of a certain standard within the reach of all. Utility clothes are free from the heavy sales tax applied to most luxury goods.

This does not mean bad design and bad workmanship. The Government specifies the quality of materials used, width of hem and seams and even the number of stitches to the inch of sewing. Every article must meet the specified standards. Now "utility" has become an integral part of the British economy.

NO DIFFERENCE

Top-grade utility articles hold their own in the best clubs and restaurants. Many are indistinguishable from similar "non-utility" wear on which a 33 1/3 or 66 2-3-per-cent purchase tax has been paid.

From a bad wartime beginning when the utility marking "CC41" meant clothes as dull as their name, with bad design and poor finish, the scheme has widened to include most of Britain's best-known couturiers.

Now you can buy utility reproductions of designs by Hartnell, the queen's dressmaker, and many other of London's big ten of fashion. Five members of Paris' haute couture bring up-to-date French designs within the scheme. A new firm, the "Couturiers Associes," was started in London for this purpose.

At a recent London meeting Lord Hollenden, head of a large group of companies, said: "It is astounding how high the British clothes standard really is. In recent years the average woman has become much better dressed."

Butter or Lemon Fillings For Melt-in-Mouth Tarts

By MARGARET CARR

We had a letter the other day asking us to print a recipe for a nice gooey butter tart filling.

We have one that fills the bill to perfection, we think, together with two other tart fillings of which we are very fond. We want to mention particularly lemon chess filling that is quite new, to us, anyway. We thought these tarts were exceptionally tasty.

BUTTER TARTS

¼ cup butter
1 cup brown sugar
2 eggs
1 cup currants
1 tablespoon lemon juice

Cream butter and sugar together very thoroughly. Add well-beaten eggs, then currants and lemon juice. Line tart tins with paste and fill three-fourths full with the mixture. Bake in a hot oven (425 deg. F.) 15 to 18 minutes. This recipe makes 12 to 18 tarts, according to size.

LEMON CHESS FILLING

1 cup seedless raisins
2 eggs
1 cup granulated sugar
1 tablespoon flour
1 teaspoon grated lemon rind
2 tablespoons lemon juice
¼ cup milk
⅛ teaspoon salt
2 tablespons melted butter or margarine
½ cup chopped nuts
Pastry for tarts.

Rinse and drain raisins. Beat eggs and gradually beat in sugar. Blend in flour, lemon rind and juice, milk, salt, butter, raisins and nuts. Turn into pastry-lined tart tins and bake in a hot oven (425 deg. F.) 12 to 15 minutes. This also makes an excellent filling for an eight-inch pie.

PECAN TARTS

3 eggs, beaten slightly
1 cup brown sugar firmly packed
½ cup dark corn syrup
¼ cup butter or margarine melted
½ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 cup coarsely cut pecans
6 to 8 unbaked tart shells.

Blend eggs, sugar, syrup, butter, salt and vanilla. Add pecans. Pour into tart shells. Bake in a moderate oven (375 deg. F.) until filling is no longer liquid, 25 to 30 minutes. When tart is shaken filling appears solid.

Love Problems . . .

SHE SHOULD FORGET SHE'S "IN LOVE WITH DRUNKARD"

By JANE ATKINSON

Dear Miss Atkinson:

What would you say if I started my letter by telling you that I was in love with a drunkard?

It breaks my heart to see him that way and he knows it. That's why he doesn't ask me out any more We've gone out a couple of times and he knows that I don't go in for that sort of thing, yet I know he cares for me.

Now I have found out that he has been going out with other girls because he says at least they are company to him.

What do you think I should do? I know that I won't change my way of living to his, but I hate the thought of losing him forever.

Miss P.

Dear Miss P.:

What I would say when you tell me that you are "in love with a drunkard," is that unless he shows some signs of wanting to overcome his habit, you should break off with him completely. You say you don't want to "lose him forever," but I can assure you that if he keeps on the way he is going, to lose him forever would be the very best thing that could possibly happen to you.

If he doesn't ask you out any more my advice to you is to let it go at that. If he does ask you again, or indicates that he would like to do so, made it very plain that if you go out with him you expect him to stay away from liquor.

If he fails to do this, let it be the last time you go. Make your position quite clear and then stick to it. You say you know he cares for you. If he really does, he will show it by taking steps to cure himself of this disease before he hurts you really badly.

I.O.D.E. Told Word "British" Going From Commonwealth

SASKATOON, May 29 (CP)—A trend toward omitting "British" when speaking of the Commonwealth of Nations was criticized at the national convention of the Imperial Order Daughters of the Empire.

The critic was Mrs. J. D. Detwiler of London, Ont., National Educational secretary.

Discussing her annual report on the education work of the order, Mrs. Detwiler referred to a letter she had received from a Minister of Education in one of the provinces. It had contended there was no need to use the word British when referring to the Commonwealth.

Mrs. Detwiler said she wondered if Canadians had an inferiority complex and were anxious to impress their independence on the United States.

"Don't we know our history and what the British Empire and Commonwealth have done?" she asked. She said she hoped the loose association of the Commonwealth would be the same stabilizing force the old Empire was in the world.

Mrs. J. A. Argue, president of the Manitoba Chapter of the I.O.D.E., expressed her thanks to other delegates of the Order for their help during the Manitoba flood last year.

Mrs. John Chipman of Toronto, National President of the Order, was presented with an engraved compact at a picnic supper by Mayor J. S. Mills of Saskatoon on behalf of the city.

Yellow Ombre Mousseline

By PRUNELLA WOOD

Lanvin

Castillo, recently of New York, and award winner in 1950 from Neiman-Marcus, is back in Paris, associated with and designing with Lanvin. Here is one of the beautiful gowns in his first Paris collection in years, which made its debut at New York's Knickerbocker Ball at the height of the town season. The delightful model, really a great dress, is made of mousseline de soie in ombre yellow to vibrant, dark orange, with multiple crinoline skirts beneath, in the characteristic Castillo manner. Self fabric worked into narrow braids makes shoulder straps and belt; self fabric makes the gloves—one yellow, one orange.

Stripes Feature Collection

PARIS, May 29 (Reuters)—Stripes are the theme of Jaques Griffe's mid-season collection.

They are cleverly handled for occasions all through the day, from beach to the most formal evening dresses, and range from the narrowest pin stripes through broad prison bars into brilliant Roman striped sashes.

Turkish Harem pyjamas appear for beach wear. Models in stripes or bright island prints are accompanied by full, solid-toned skirts or matching Terry-cloth coats.

Pique, shantung and linen strike the keynote for street wear. Simple, easy-to-wear dresses show a tendency towards full or circular skirts.

Soft shades of lilac and gold tones predominate with a smattering of gay cotton prints.

For late afternoon and evening, lace appliques are often the only relief on otherwise classically-simple chiffons and organdies.

A large portion of Marcel Rochas' new collection has been designed by Madame Rochas. Her partiality for stark white with black accents is noticeable throughout.

White suits in gros-grain or shantung are worn with black blouses. One is worked in quipure lace over a white background.

Beige, sand and off-gold shades are also stressed for mid-Summer wear. They are favored with either black or white.

Accordion pleating shares top honors with sunburst pleats. This lends the illusion of fullness without sacrificing line.

Better Roads for Kootenay-Boundary

Earth-gouging machines, dynamite and the ingenuity of men are making better highways for British Columbia. Daily News photographs on the Nelson-Euphrates road building provided readers last week with a closeup of the obstacles and of the new standards that make B. C. road-building a $70,000-a-mile proposition.

Old methods are going by the board in the highway construction program that has been developed in the last several years. No longer does building of a highway mean simply laying a sketchily-drained surface over the old horse and buggy routes. No longer do natural obstacles necessarily mean inconvenient twists and doglegs. Resurveys are straightening routes, machines and new methods are overcoming obstacles, and new standards are bringing British Columbia's highway system up to rival the long-vaunted roads to the South.

The determination with which Public Works Minister E. C. Carson is pushing the progressive program is bringing within sight the day when British Columbia will see hard-surfaced travel ribbons spanning the Province from West to East. While emphasis is on the main West-East routes, areas of greatest development are far from being neglected in the comprehensive program. And when roads are built they are being made to measure up to the same high standards of the main highways.

Over $21,700,000 will be spent in this Province's public works program this year. Of this, $17,700,000 will go into new highways. Before the year is out, if plans can be adhered to, another 280 miles of paving will be added to the 326 miles accomplished in 1950. Over 65 miles of this new surfacing will be in the Kootenay-Boundary, where 83 miles were surfaced last year. There is scarcely a section of this vast territory that will not see road improvement in the coming season.

Good roads are good economics. They speed the Province's and the nation's commerce, they add to its pleasures and recreation, they invite the tourist. Mr. Carson is to be congratulated on the continuance of a sound program.

Appearing in a television show, Margaret Truman sang, played the piano and danced. Either she is a very talented young woman or she is trying to confuse the critics.

Argues for Study Of Monashee Route as Cascade Alternative

To the Editor:

Sir—A few weeks ago the folks in the Lardeau country tried out a plan to inveigle the Provincial Government to give them a much-needed road. How did they do it? They followed the implicit instructions set forth in Luke 18: 2 to 5, inclusive. They got results at once.

The question of roads is a pressing one, and when a community petitions (why they should have to petition, I do not know) for a market road, they usually get the answer: "There is no money for that."

Now, roads aren't built with money. They are built of the same material as the mountains through which they pass. By adding machinery and manpower, behold, a road.

But the road must be paid for. How does a farmer recover money invested in a hay meadow? You answer: "He sells hay and takes out a portion of the receipts at regular intervals to pay for the meadow." Right. Then why, when natural resources are taken to market, is not a portion of the receipts from their sale turned into the Provincial treasury for roads and social service? There, in our vast natural resources, is the wealth that pays for roads, education and social services. Social Credit evolved the working plans.

Turning back to the Lardeau road—thanks to our uncensored press we were told where the money came from for the prompt action there. It was money that had been set aside for other roads. Rather a startling revelation, too—for it reveals to us that even the roads built into mines or timber limits are paid for out of taxation! Other roads aren't paid for. They are built under a debt-creating system. We pay the interest on the debt thus created from generation to generation. Even after the road is abandoned, as in many cases it is.

(Editor's note—The money for the Kaslo-Lardeau link was provided from a Department of Mines money vote for mining roads. It was not from money set aside for "other roads". The Mines Department fund is for the express purpose of providing roads to open up potential and existing mining areas, and the Lardeau certainly has just claim to be considered a source of potential mineral wealth. Mining development is already under way there.

(Mrs. Slater must see the justification of a Government department investing in a potential mining area from her own proposition. Just as the farmer takes a return from money invested in his hay field, the Provincial treasury reaps a return for investment in a mining area from the taxation of mineral producers. It is merely a case of the people investing their own money, through a Government agency, in the progress of a district, in the possibility of creating more jobs and more wealth.)

The most exasperating circumstance in interior road service is the failure of the Government to avail itself of the Monashee Pass route instead of the impossible Rossland-Cascade route. From Rossland to Cascade there are three summits to surmount. All of them are in the known snow belt. When the motorist finally attains the first summit, he has 18 switchbacks to drive before reaching the valley, where he begins the ascent to summit No. 2. (From all the money that has been spent on this route the number of switchbacks may have been reduced. Let the motorist count them and report.) Arriving at Penticton, where the traveller turns on to the Hope-Princeton highway, he has driven more than 167 miles (road map mileage).

The Monashee has but one summit. It is not in the belt known as "the snow belt". It can be maintained the year 'round with approximately the same equipment that maintains the road between Nakusp and Slocan Park.

If the Provincial Government would construct about 24 miles of road from Renata to Edgewood, and give Renata the road South that she so certainly deserves, there would be a market road from Castlegar to the Okanagan (to Lumby, where paved road begins):

1. With a driving distance of approximately 110 miles;
2. One summit only to cross;
3. Serving the Arrow Lakes, and Inonoaklin farm centres;
4. And serving the same people that the Cascade route serves, but with an easy all-year-'round route to Vancouver. From Lumby to Penticton (Hope-Princeton highway) it is about 65 miles on paved highway.

This route would be a market road as well as a top tourist attraction. It would contact all agricultural districts of the Arrow Lakes. It has been mooted for years, but the Hon. Mr. Turnbull dismissed it in a recent speech with the remark that it "would serve only the comparative few" who live in the Arrow Lakes. He either doesn't know his geography or is misinformed. It would serve everyone who is now served by the Cascade route—they have the U.S. route as alternative anyway—plus the Arrow Lakes and North Okanagan.

Boards of Trade from the East who moot the Southern route have surely never been informed of the geographical advantages of the route from Castlegar to Lumby via Edgewood. This letter is written in the hope that all interested Boards of Trade will investigate this proposition.

Also, it wouldn't do any harm if every one of the "comparative few" in the Arrow Lakes who read this would write or wire Mr. Turnbull about our need for this market road.

MARTHA S. SLATER.

Worried, Nelson—Does drinking whole milk cause overweight?

Overweight is caused by overeating of starches, fats, even certain fruits, such as grapes, bananas. Milk, being a complete food, should be taken in lesser quantities if fattening dishes are eaten. Milk supplies phosphorous and is rich in vitamins.

The crowd of about 1000 persons who went to the Recreational Grounds Saturday afternoon to witness a balloon ascension and parachute descent by Professor Conkey, were provided by that daring aerialist and the vagaries of the air currents with one of the most thrilling sights that have been witnessed in Nelson, the parachute man receiving a cold bath in the lake and narrowly escaping having to swim for his life. Without realizing he was being carried out over the water, the aerialist continued to perform gymnastics until he was hundreds of feet in the air.

From an Oldtimer's Notebook

by R.G. JOY

HISTORIAN, NELSON AND DISTRICT OLTIMERS ASSN.

Some of our oldtimers were interested in the various articles pertaining to the history of Creston. The steamship picture, the Mudhen, raised some controversy.

We were convinced that the only Mudhen steamer was originally known as the Midge. It was transported to Canada from England via Atlantic steamer then placed on a flat car for East Kootenay. From the C.P.R. rail it was transported by Indians and whitemen to the Kootenay River and was used by Ballie Grohman to eventually reach the West Arm of Flatbow Lake the original name of Kootenay Lake. Dick Fry was on board the Midge on the voyage to Luna Creek, later named Grohman Creek.

Oldtimers remember Luna Park which was a favorite spot for campers. The park was part of the flats on Grohman Creek. You may have read the story of the Midge being tied up on the upper reaches on a Cottonwood tree at high water, and when the water lowered, the Midge was hanging by the rope and looked like a toy from Noah's Ark.

On another occasion the Midge was left on the mud flats and before it could be put into the water mud had to be dug out to the hull. The Midge then changed her name to Mudhen.

Captain Davis, a Welshman, was then known as Mudhen Davis, and to the Indians the Moose. Davis used the boat for transporting freight to Nelson and it is very likely that he tied up his Mudhen boat at the mouth of Ward Creek. We know of a story of Mudhen Davis getting into a fight with a roughneck at the International Hotel, site of which was on the Southwest corner of Vernon and Stanley Streets. Captain Davies used science and later exclaimed that his opponent evidently knew nothing of Marquis of Queensbury rules.

Looking at the picture of the steamboat, pictured in the Daily News recently, the boat had some characteristics of the Kokanee, the Kuskanook and the Idaho.

ABOARD THE S.S. NELSON

My old partner W. E. Coles (Billy), and I were reminiscing about steamboat days in the early 90's. If he had stayed with steamboating, we would be reading about Captain Billy Coles, instead of Captain Billy Seaman who was mate at the time that he was getting his experience on board the steamship Nelson. The writer worked under Mate Billy Seaman for two hours in 1893.

Now we will set down Billy's stories of some of his experiences on the steamship Nelson from 1893 to 1894.

Steamship Nelson's officers were Captain Short, Capt. Hayward and Capt. McMorris. Both Capt. Short and Hayward possessed captain's papers of United States origin and McMorris acted under Canadian papers.

When the Nelson was on a voyage, Capt. Short was captain, Hayward was pilot and McMorris was purser. Billy said they left Kaslo at 6 a.m. for Bonners' Ferry. "Unloading freight and then across the Kootenay River, to load up 24 cords of wood for fuel, we left at 2 a.m. for Nelson."

Billy remembered in the Fall he landed at Fry's landing. So much snow had fallen that it came down the river making six feet of slush in the water. You can imagine the sternwheel battling with that.

It took us six hours before the Nelson could get under way. Ira Sweet was engineer, J. S. Allan, late of Rosemont, was acting second engineer. Ira Sweet was soon played out, because of so many orders by means of bells ringing from the wheel house, "go ahead" and "back". I imagine this went on for six hours; Jack Allan at that time in his prime, and a very powerful man, was able to stay till the boat made way and left at 2 a.m. for Nelson.

"George", said Billy, "at one time there were 1000 tons of ore waiting at Kaslo and more coming down by George Hughes' four-horse team and wagons from the Slocan district. We only had an average of 12 hours sleep in three days. We were unloading freight and we also stopped to get wood for fuel.

One afternoon at Kaslo a special trip was to be made. Capt. Troup was on board and the men were standing around at Kaslo. Then Capt. Troup said to the mate Billy Seaman, "why don't you put the men to work?"

Billy Seaman replied, "they have been working for nearly six days without sleep and they are tired out."

Capt. Troup said; "of course they are. Put the men to bed and you go up town and hire another crew."

There were lots of men in Kaslo. Most of them disappointed prospectors, having used up their grub stake, were glad to take the toughest job in the Kootenays as deck hands on lake steamers.

Panic Sweeping Silk Markets

TOKYO, May 29 (AP)—Panic is sweeping Japan's textile trade. Eighty per cent of the silk and rayon mills have suspended operations and many wholesalers were nearly broke.

Wholesale Association officials blame the crash on excessive speculation since the Korean war. Quotations were pushed to unrealistic figures.

Raw silk quotations have skidded from 3000,000 yen ($833) a bale in late February to 183,000 yen ($508). Rayon yarn has fallen from a March high of 526 yen ($1.46) a pound to 270 yen (75 cents).

Officials predicted the mills and wholesalers would lose about 12,000,000,000 yen ($33,333,333) in the crash.

Views From the News Fronts

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE

CHICAGO, May 29 (AP)—In the polio season, June to September, it seems wise to postpone vaccinations of children for whooping cough or diphtheria, unless there's an outbreak of those diseases.

The vaccinations may increase the chances of a child's coming down with polio.

New evidence for this bit of medical advice was described today to the Society of American Bacteriologists by Drs. Albert Milzer, Milly A. Weiss, and Katherine Vanderboom of Michael Reese Hospital, Chicago.

The advice stems from studies in British and Australia. Doctors found that more children under 5 years old developed polio within a month after vaccinations for whooping cough and diphtheria than non-vaccinated youngsters.

The journal of the American Medical Association has suggested it may be advisable, when possible, to postpone such vaccinations in the polio months. An exception may be babies getting whooping-cough vaccine at the age of three or four months. The babies are probably not exposed to polio virus anywhere near as much as other children.

Evidence that cockroaches could be one carrier of polio virus, possibly transmitting it to humans, was reported by Dr. Robert G. Fischer, University of North Dakota, and Dr. Jerome S. Syverton, University of Minnesota.

They fed roaches doses of virus, including one strain of virus that caused human polio. The roaches eliminated the virus in their dropping.

The roaches eliminated the virus for as long as 15 days.

Welcomed to Canada!

Readying for their Canadian tour, which began on May 24 in Toronto and ends on June 20 in Montreal, England's famed Fulham soccer team arrived in Quebec, where they were greeted by their skipper, Jim Taylor, seen with Sam Davidson, right, treasurer of the Dominion of Canada Football Association. Taylor, England's centre half, played for his country against Portugal and then flew to Montreal in time to greet the club upon their arrival in Canada.

Montreal All-Stars Tie Fulham Team

MONTREAL, May 29 (CP) — Goalie Sillia Sandrin turned in a spectacular performance as Montreal All Stars tied the Fulham English First Division eleven 2-2 tonight in an international soccer match before 5000 at the Montreal Baseball Park.

The game was played on a wet field in intermittent rain.

The Montreal team took a 2-1 lead in the first half on goals by Bohdan Kluchnyk, right outside, and Johnny Sinclair, right inside. Bedford Jexxard, centre forward, tallied Fulham's only goal of the half. Jimmy Bowie, right inside, scored the tying goal in the last half when Fulham had complete control of the play. Almost all of the second-half play was in the Montreal end.

Kluchynk booted his goal at the three-minute mark after taking a pass from Jack McMahon. After 32 minutes Jexxard kicked a quarter shot that just went under the crossbar.

Montreal's second goal, by Sinclair at 43 minutes, was the picture goal of the game. He dribbled the ball in close on goaler Ian Black and beat him with a quick kick to the rgiht corner.

Bowie's goal came after five minutes of the second half, shortly after Sandrin had been stunned by a kick to the stomach. He was completely fooled on Bowie's shot from about 35 feet out.

Fulham next plays in Edmonton June 2, returning to Montreal June 20 when Fulham meets Celtic of Glasgow, Scotland, in an exhibition game.

8 to 5 Odds for Charles Tonight

By JERRY LISKA

CHICAGO, May 29 (AP)—Cincinnati's Ezzard Charles, a willing, if not pulverizing, heavyweight champion, will defend his title against an old ring acquaintance, light-heavyweight champion Joe Maxim of Cleveland Wednesday night at the Chicago Stadium.

Odds are 8 to 5 that Charles, 183, will repeat what he has done three times previously—prove the better and more aggressive boxer for a decision over the 181-pound Maxim. Both have more style than sting in their punches.

This eighth title defence in 23 months by Charles will be pretty much a television show. The Stadium is expected to draw some 12,000 patrons contributing a gate of around $125,000. A brewery paid $100,000 for Video rights.

Both warriors went into seclusion today in fine fettle after comparatively uneventful training efforts in which Maxim boxed 250 rounds. Joey's marathon sparring session is understandable. The 29-year-old Clevelander hasn't met a worthy foe since he knocked out England's Freddie Mills 16 months ago for the light-heavyweight crown.

Charles, turning 30 next July, on March 7 nipped the challenge of Jersey Joe Walcott at Detroit.

Should Maxim dethrone Charles, Joey must vacate his light-heavy crown and give Ezzard a re-match within 90 days.

Charles gets 40 per cent of Wednesday's net gate and Video returns. Maxim's share is 20 per cent of both.

NEW YORK, May 29 (AP) — Jimmy Cannon, New York Post columnist who is in Chicago to cover the heavyweight title fight between Joey Maxim and Ezzard Charles, caught some of the pennant fever sweeping the windy city.

His dateline on a story about the amazing White Sox today read:

"First place, Illinois."

Richest Rookie Signs Contract With Indians

By BUD SPRUNGER

CLEVELAND, May 29 (AP) — Baseball's newest and richest rookie, a draft-eligible pitcher named Billy Joe Davidson, flew here today with his new boss, General Manager Hank Greenberg of Cleveland Indians.

A big, freckle-faced 18-year-old southpaw from Oak Ridge Military Academy in North Carolina, Davidson had just signed an Indian contract that supplied him with better than $100,000.

The figure was announced in Detroit by Marsh Samuel, publicist for the Indians. Greenberg himself, hailing Davidson as a "new Bob Feller", said he got the biggest bonus in baseball history.

This beat the reported $100,000 previous record paid pitcher Paul Pettit of Pittsburgh Pirates. Greenberg took the word of his scout, Col. E. P. Holt, president of the prep school where Davidson just graduated.

Sources close to the club estimated the bonus at $120,000.

After the plane landed, Davidson told a reporter: "I was 18 on May 5. I have just registered for the draft. I hope to get in one season before I go into the army."

The Indians are talking of trying out Davidson with the club for about two weeks. However, Greenberg insisted he soon will head for the Indians' farm team in San Diego (the Padres) for seasoning.

Just about every club in the majors bid on Davidson.

He pitched 13 victories in 15 starts as a semi-pro and rep pitcher, often striking out 18 or 20 a game.

"My average," Davidson said with complete aplomb, "was 17.5 strikeouts a game."

STARTED IN LIVING ROOM

"It's the Bob Feller story all over again," chuckled the jubilant Greenberg. "This kid was taught by his father to pitch. He started out teaching him to throw in the living room of his home in Marion, N.C.

"Then, when he got big enough, he trained him out in the back yard."

Cleveland's Feller also started with the Indians as a green kid after long, patient training by his late father, in Van Metre, Ia. Feller received no bonus for signing.

Lindsay, Bates Win Kimberley 10-Pin Bowling

KIMBERLEY, B.C., May 29 — Weekend 10-pin bowling in Kimberley was highlighted by the Elks Bowling Club-sponsored tournament in which 26 players took part. The competition was of the men's doubles, round-robin variety. Cranbrook was represented by two teams.

Winners were Edgar Lindsay and Hugh Bates with L. Cimolai and Jim Kelly runnerups. All are from Kimberley. Edgar Lindsay took the high singles, and once more teamed up with Hugh Bates in the team high total.

Kimberley Opens Fastball League On Weekend

KIMBERLEY, B.C., May 29—Sunday evening Kimberley's three team City Fastball League will open its 1951 season with the Kimberley Hotel meeting Globe Hotel. The third team in the loop, now a "hotel" league, is the Canadian Hotel, which will see action for the first time Tuesday evening. The league was originally planned as a four-squad affair, but lack of managers cut one team out.

Joe Moore, one of Kimberley's best known fastballers, will handle the Kimberley Hotel team, while Harry and Bob Brown will split the managing chores for the Hotel Canadian. Former Kimberley and Cranbrook baseballer and fastballer Walt Gelling will handle the "Globe."

A secondary league, the Mill League, consists of nine teams and is already in action.

Schedule for June City League:

June 3—Globe vs Kimberley
June 5—Kimberley vs Canadian
June 7—Canadian vs Globe
June 10—Canadian vs Kimberley

Kadees Win on Mitchell Error

CRANBROOK, B.C., May 29 — Young Bobby Meredith, Kadees rookie pitcher, muzzled Mitchells heavy artillery and backed by errorless fielding Kadees beat them tonight 3-2 in the killer of the City Softball League to date.

Third inning 2-2 tie lasted to the sixth when a Mitchell error passed the winning run by Doug Nelligan.

Mitchells left eight on base, Kadees three. Center fielders Glen Killins and Alec Yadernuk were outstanding in the field.

Kadees	200 001 0—3	8	0
Mitchells	101 000 0—2	8	2

Batteries — Meredith and Denny Nelligan, Red Stevely and Allie Hughes.

Umpires — Art Bouchard, George Haras, and Charley Kram.

Trail Nine Here Today

Eric Bishop's explosive Trail Smoke Eaters Baseball club will play their only likely game in Nelson before their mid-June trip through the Prairies when they encounter Nelson tonight.

The Smokies who have power to burn, form an impressive club on paper, and want nothing more than to wallop Nelson before entering their tournament, having been clubbed 8-5 in the Fruitvale tourney.

The Smokies have plenty of mound strength, with three southpaw and three righthanded hurlers, all of whom are capable chuckers. Locals Irv. Lavorato, Joey Jankola, Pete Boisvert, and Joey Monaldi have been supplemented by imports Al Byman and Tom Jenkinson.

Shortstop Kenny Nicol from Winnipeg was the big gun against Nelson at Fruitvale, batting a perfect four for four, while another big newcomer, Catcher Ivan Spees clubbed a couple of homers when Trail cleaned up top money at the Creston tourney.

Besides these catches, Bishop has the cream of Trail district ball players to field an imposing club.

Long hitter Red Wassick will return to his first base post to meet the Smokies. Former Nelson student Bob Pitts, who is playing for Calgary Buffs this year, covered first base for the Niners in the previous tournament encounter with Trail.

Righthander Les Hufty, who has been bothered by a swollen thumb and a boil under his shoulder, will likely get the starting assignment with southpaw Jimmy Todd, who has credit for two of Nelson's three games, ready for action.

Strikes 'n' Spares

In the Lil Abner League Friday night, it was Lorraine DeGirolamo who scored ladies' honors with a 318 single and a 701 aggregate. For gents, Al Herchuck took high single of 302 and aggregate of 836.

High team single was the Capps' 5605 and high team aggregate, the Yokels' 1328. Other high aggregate scorers were Doug Hall, 741; Beryl Elsmore, 673 and Bob MacDonald, 637; Gil Johnson 629 and Matt Shuchuk 625.

34 Probable Starters Set for Derby Today

EPSOM, Surrey, England, May 29 (CP)—Barbed-wire barricades and nervous stable boys tonight guarded 34 probable starting three-year-olds in the Derby, Britain's greatest racing classic, which will be run over 1½ miles at Epsom Downs tomorrow.

The elaborate precautions were taken earlier this week to discourage any big-time gamblers who might want to "get at" a powerful rival. No one can remember when a Derby field was so evenly matched as this one.

Between 500,000 and 1,000,000 persons will spill over the rolling Epsom Downlands for the carnival that is derby day. The Queen and Princesses Elizabeth and Margaret will watch from the royal box. The King, recuperating from a mild attack of influenza, won't be there.

Ki Ming, owned by Chinese restaurateur "Lucky Bill" Ley On and winner of the Two Thousand Guineas early this month, is almost certain to be the favorite at post time.

Ki Ming was listed as the choice at 7 to 1 in the final odds callover at the Victoria Club in London tonight.

Some experts, however, doubt his ability to stay over Epsom's curving, up-and-down course.

The experts aren't agreed on any one horse and some have frankly advised their followers to make the selection with a pin.

Reason for their timidity is the poor calibre of English three-year-olds this year.

In the last week betting sentiment has drifted toward some of the French entries, on the theory that if England's are so bad, France's must be better. Le Vent, Le Tyrol, Nyangal and Raincheck have all come in for fair support.

Three American-owned colts are entered but the experts don't give them much chance.

Racing in American colors will be William Woodward's Turco II, Mrs. Josephine Bryce's North Carolina and Ralph Strassburger's Le Tyrol. Only one American-bred colt — Iroquois in 1881—has won the derby in its 171-year history.

If all 34 three-year-olds start it will equal the record derby field of 1862. The prize money will be a record, too, by British standards. The winner will get the equivalent of $51,561. An Irish hospital sweepstakes is based on the result.

In the final callover Marcel Boussac's Nyangal moved into second choice at 100 to 9. Le Vent, Mrs. Marion Glenister's Arcot and Aga Khan's Fraise du Bois, were listed at 100 to 7.

20 Countries Entered in Olympic Winter Games

OSLO, Norway, May 29 (Reuters) —Twenty countries have entered for the 1952 Olympic Winter Games in Oslo, the Norwegian Olympic Committee said today. A final entry of more than 30 countries is expected, with a total of about 1000 competitors.

IT'S MEN'S NIGHT TONIGHT AT GOLF CLUB

Nelson Golf and Country Club is taking up the men's night proposition which has been working successfully with other clubs.

Dynamiters Postpone Plans for Next Season

KIMBERLEY, B.C., May 29 — A large turnout at a general senior hockey meeting unanimously backed a motion by Harry Brown that a final decision on Kimberley Dynamiter's plans for next season be withheld till after the June 16th Western International League meeting.

Election of officers was also postponed till the present executive returns from the coming league meeting.

Wertz Ruins Lemon's Perfect Game Chance

DETROIT, May 29 (AP)—Vic Wertz was the villain today as Bob Lemon of Cleveland Indians nearly pitched the first perfect no-hit, no-run game in the major leagues in 29 years.

Wertz, the first batter in the eighth inning, blasted a home run. He was the only Detroit Tiger to reach base as the Indians won 2-1. It was homer No. 8 for Wertz.

Charlie Robertson of Chicago White Sox pitched the last perfect game in the major leagues April 30, 1922. Lemon, winningest pitcher in the American League last year, had pitched a no-hit game here in Briggs Stadium three years ago. Today, only one ball, besides Wertz' homer, had hit possibilities.

Lemon won his fourth game against five defeats with Al Rosen driving in both Cleveland runs. The big righthander struck out seven, men, five of them swinging.

Of the other 21 batters who faced him, 13 grounded out, six flied to the outfield and one lined to the infield.

One of the first to congratulate him after the game was Big Luke Easter who snared a line drive from the bat of Pat Mullin. That was the only other hard-hit ball.

The Indians touched Bob Cain and relief pitcher Hal White for only six hits. Cain lost his fourth game against two wins.

Cleveland scored in the fourth inning when a Detroit double play attempt failed. With one out, Larry Doby scored from third as Rosen beat the relay to first. In the eighth, Snuffy Stirnweiss singled, Doby doubled him to third and Rosen drove him home with a long fly.

BALTIMORE (AP) — Baltimore Orioles announced they have bought Howie Moss, International League home-run specialist, from Springfield in a cash deal.

Ottawa Tenement Blaze Leaves 35 Homeless

Remains of an abandoned tenement house in central Ottawa are shown after it burned to the ground, simplifying the work of wreckers who were to demolish it, to make way for the new Mackenzie King bridge. The blaze jumped from the tenement house, known as "Hasty Row", to a two-story building across the street inhabited by 35 persons, now homeless. The fire is believed to have been caused by leaking gas pipes.

Market Trends

NEW YORK, May 29 (AP) — Rails and oils headed trading was quet.

The advance pushed into a range between $1 and $2 a share among leaders. Losers were in a small minority.

Canadian issues were mixed. International Nickel was up ⅛, Hiram Walker was up ⅝, and Canadian Pacific was up ¼. McIntyre was down ½ and Distillers Seagrams slipped ⅛. Dome Mines were unchanged.

TORONTO (CP) — Prices advanced for the second straight session.

They edged upward throughout the day but the increase was not as rapid as yesterday's upsurge. Trading was again extremely quiet. Volume was about 1,050,000 shares.

Base metals eased at the opening and then mustered enough support to show a majority of issues ahead. Consolidated Smelters, Falconbridge, International Nickel, East Sullivan and United Keno Hill added fractions while Labrador, Noranda, Normetal and Silvermiller weakened.

MONTREAL (CP) — Ssecurities moderately extended Monday's late rise as the session progressed. Trading improved after a slow start.

Industrial advances towards the close ruled over a wide front and ranged from small fractions to as much as 1½ points. However, the bulk of them were on the narrow side.

LONDON (Reuters) — Hopes of a compromise in the Iranian situation helped the undertone but there was little improvement on the surface.

Oil shares were better where changed, with Anglo-Iranian around 5 3-16, and tobaccos were firm in quiet industrial trading.

FEEDER PIPELINE FOR EXCELSIOR OIL PLANNED

EDMONTON, May 29 (CP)—The Imperial Pipe Line Co. Ltd., today announced plans for construction of a gathering system and feeder pipe line for the Excelsior oil field 20 miles North of Edmonton.

Construction of the pipeline network, to feed Excelsior crude oil to the company's Redwater-Edmonton pipeline, is expected to start next month.

Nine miles of six-inch feeder line will be required to link the Excelsior gathering system to the 16-inch Redwater - Edmonton line. About five miles of two to four-inch pipe will be needed for the initial gathering system. Eight pumping units will be established along the gathering network.

The Excelsior field embraces 23 producing wells. Forecast 1951 production for the area is 2200 barrels of oil daily.

"Leaching" Plant For Port Radium

Construction is expected to be completed by the end of this year, with operation planned to start early in 1952.

Port Radium is on the East shore of Great Bear Lake, about 900 air miles North of Edmonton.

British Columbians Accepting Hospital Insurance Effort—Wismer

VICTORIA, B.C., May 29 — Attorney-General Gordon Wismer expressed the view Monday that the people of B. C. appear to be accepting the Government's plan to put hospital insurance on a sounder financial base.

That was his impression on a two-week tour of Interior districts addressing meetings on hospital insurance and other Government matters.

Mr. Wismer completed the tour last Monday prior to flying to Ottawa for a conference on old age pensions from which he returned to Victoria over the weekend.

The speaking tour took the Attorney-General through the Cariboo, Kamloops area, Salmon Arm, Revelstoke, North Okanagan, Vernon, Armstrong and Kelowna.

"We had good meetings and the people seem to have accepted the Government's proposals," he said.

Mr. Wismer said the interest people were taking in political affairs these days was encouraging, and he was impressed on the tour by the tremendous growth being seen in the portion of the Interior he visited.

At Quesnel, for instance, he saw five new mills which have been constructed in the last year.

VANCOUVER (CP)—After a 45-minute struggle Jack Young of Vancouver caught a nine-pound Kamloops trout at Little River. He was using light tackle while fly-fishing at the mouth of the Adams River.

Alleged Illegal Transfer Lands Four in Court

WINNIPEG, May 29 (CP)—Four Winnipeggers are being sued by the Attorney-General of Canada in connection with the alleged illegal transfer of land and property to hinder and defraud the Government.

A claim was filed today in Court of King's Bench against Saul Scharfstein, his wife, Tillie, a brother, Albert Scharfstein, and Morris Leverhant on behalf of the Government and creditors of the two brothers.

It was alleged that two transactions each involved $20,000 transferred property of the Scharfstein brothers to Mrs. Scharfstein and Leverhant for a nominal $1. This had been done while the pair each was indebted for $70,000 or more for income tax and excess profit tax.

The claim asks the court to declare the transactions null and void and that the property be reconveyed to the brothers.

Both were originally found guilty of more than 30 charges of tax evasion and ordered to pay a total of $144,450 in fines and penalties in Provincial Police Court.

An appeal to County Court this year won them a reduction of $130,000 in these amounts.

War Years Wreck German Families

BONN, May 29 (Reuters)—Six years of war, 3,000,000 "superfluous" women and 10,000,000 refugees in West Germany have left deep marks on German family life.

One marriage in six in West Germany today ends in divorce. They are more frequent in towns than in the country.

Marriages between 1942 and 1944 have proved the least stable. Nearly half of all war-broken marriages have lasted less than 10 years.

The presence of children has little effect upon the durability of marriages, say German statisticians who find that 38 per cent of broken marriages are childless, compared with 43 per cent before the war.

Divorces are private affairs; nothing may be published about them in the press.

Statisticians estimate that about one-half of all married Germans are unfaithful to their wives. Even among women there is much more unfaithfulness than before the war.

An increasing number of married women, estimated at between 10 and 16 per cent, are unable to bear children, while three per cent of all babies are born dead.

Canada's Expense Allowance Scored

OTTAWA, May 29 (CP)—It's a "disgrace", said Leonard Stick (L-Trinity-Conception) last night, the way Canada looks after the Parliamentarians she sends to United Nations meetings.

The Newfoundlander raised the point as the Commons External Affairs Committee discussed departmental matters.

Mr. Stick criticized the $7-a-day out-of-pocket expenses granted to men who go with the U.N. delegates as advisers. They get the $7 and their hotel bills, not including meals, are paid.

M. J. Coldwell, C.C.F. Leader and a Parliamentary adviser at the last U.N. General Assembly, said the advisers are out money if they do any entertaining at all and most of them had to.

Joseph Bradette (L-Cochrane), Committee Chairman, didn't think Mr. Stick's effort to put through a recommendation for larger expenses for Parliamentary advisers would be a good move. He was sure the impact of the discussion would reach the proper ears without formal action.

King's Sister Sells Furniture for Debts

LEEDS, England, May 29 (Reuters)—The Princess Royal, sister of the King, must sell some of her furniture to help pay death duties for her husband, her agents said here last night.

Four years after the death of her husband, the sixth Earl of Harewood, the 54-year-old Princess will see some of her treasured possessions auctioned off next month.

The Earl was estimated to have left almost £1,000,000. Already one of the family homes and 14,000 acres of land have been sold.

Case of the Six Wise Canines

WEST HARLEPOOL, Durham, England, May 29 (AP)—Six wise dogs with a special air of innocence met up yesterday with the three wise magistrates of West Hartlepool.

The three wise magistrates stared sternly at the six wise dogs and sought to determine which one—or more—was the culprit—or culprits—that liked an occasional nip of human leg.

But the six wise dogs are six remarkably identical Collies belonging to George Roberts, and they sat with a calm and satisfied air while their owner said he couldn't tell which was the one to be punished.

Ernest Raddle, who complained to the police that he was on the receiving end of one of those occasional nips, said he didn't know which it was either.

The three wise magistrates stared sternly at the six dogs, and the canine sextet looked back happily with waggish not-me airs that betrayed no one.

So the three wise magistrates conferred quietly for a few moments. Then Magistrate W. T. Hogg announced they had arrived at a solution.

The court, he informed the owner of the six wise dogs, was ordering that THE dog must be kept under control.

"And it is up to you to decide which one it is," said the Magistrate.

Rescue Four From Drifting Launch

VICTORIA, B.C., May 29 (CP)—Four persons were rescued off a small power boat Monday after it hit a deadhead near Trial Island and smashed its steering gear.

Rescued were Mr. and Mrs. Ian Black, Vancouver; Pat Berry and Jack Taylor, Victoria.

Witnesses said the motor vessel Mardred was proceeding from the Oak Bay boat house to the Inner Harbor when its steering gear was wrecked and the craft drifted in circles near Trial Island.

Taylor, an ex-navy signalman, used the boat's seachlight to signal a passing freighter, which acknowledged his distress signals.

In the meantime, the Trial Island lighthouse-keeper noticed the boat was in trouble and got in touch with the Navy, which in turn phoned the R.C.M.P., who phoned the Oak Bay Police. The police notified Victor Hirst of the Oak Bay boat house. Hirst towed the damaged power boat to the boat house.

Civil List Grants Income to Princess

LONDON, May 29 (CP)—Princess Margaret will be entitled to draw an income of £6000 a year after her 21st birthday Aug. 21.

As an unmarried person, with no dependents, she is likely to be left with little more than £2500 after income tax.

But Princess Margaret already has a private income of her own. Some time ago she inherited £20,000, tax fre, from the Hon. Mrs. Richard Greville.

From this and her civil list income, plus any allowance from the King, the Princess must meet her own expenses, including entertainment, gifts to charities and clothes.

Oullette Penned Warning to Youth When Waiting to March to Gallows

VANCOUVER, May 29 (CP) — Joseph Arthur Oullette, 23-year-old slayer of two Chinese market gardeners, died on the gallows today at Oakalla Prison Farm here.

"Thanks very much," he said to his guards as the hangman placed the hood over his head. "Be sure and look after all the boys and keep them happy."

The trap was sprung shortly after 6 a.m., at 6:18 he was pronounced dead.

He blamed the drinking of a quart of whisky for his "reversion to savagery" in the slaying of the gardeners.

He was arrested in Vancouver Nov. 26, 1949, three days after the murder of Mah Sing, 60, and Lee On, 70.

Oullette was convicted in May, 1950, of the murder of Mah Sing and sentenced to die. Later he was granted a new trial, but was again convicted in September, 1950. He appealed to the Supreme Court of Canada which dismissed the appeal May 17.

VANCOUVER, May 29 (CP)—Joe Oullette left a message today for "the young men starting a life of crime."

He penned it in the death cell at Oakalla Prison Farm while he awaited to pay with his life for the slaying of two Chinese market gardeners.

Joe, only 23 years old, died on the gallows and his message was released by prison officials.

"I am writing this because I've been through it all and I feel that I should pass on what I know, that someone will see what is wrong with crime . . .

"I'm just the fellow who should tell the rest about the wrong way of life as I've had the experience.

"I started out young. The first thing I ever stole was a pair of ice skates; then it got worse, until now I have only a few days to live. You see, kids, if you play you must pay not only on earth but the Lord shall punish also if you do not obey his law as well as man-made laws. I've not only broken man's law but God's law as well.

"I've always lived my life my way and never thought how wrong I was . . .

"If you must have money the best and easiest way to get it is by working for it." Oullette said he had wanted easy money "and you see what I got . . . there is no one to blame but myself."

And, the last message ended:

"Thanks fellows for listening to this and I hope it helps you, if not in believing then in leading an honest life."

Association Formed in Canada to Develop Two-Way Trade With U.K.

By FORBES RHUDE
Canadian Press Business Editor

The Canadian Association of British Manufacturers and Agencies has been formed in Canada for the development of United Kingdom-Canadian two-way trade.

It is a final step in the co-ordination of existing organizations which have been working for the same purpose. Its formation is announced by L. J. B. Forbes, of Toronto, its first President.

Headquarters will be in Toronto, but is planned to develop a country-wide network as soon as practicable. one of the declared purposes of the new organization is:

"To foster good relationships between British manufacturers and purchasers and consumers in Canada of British-made goods, and to assist in resolving differences that may arise between a British manufacturer and a Canadian purchaser."

The British Trade Centre in Toronto will be the executive instrument of the Association and will also provide for continuing the policies of the Dollar Sterling Trade Board, on the Canadian side, and the Dollar Exports Board on the British side.

The Dollar Sterling Board has been reconstituted in Canada as the Dollar Sterling Trade Advisory Council and the Dollar Exports Board in the United Kingdom will be reorganized along similar lines.

The following have been elected to the council of the new organization:

Mr. Forbes; C. Garfield Abbey, Montreal, and George H. Crane-Williams, Toronto, Vice-Presidents; A. M. Brown, Thomas C. Harrington, Thomas Oakley, J. M. Paterson, James I. Simpson, C. H. Wilkins and J. F. F. McQueen, all Toronto; J. D. McKeown, J. S. Langlands, D. MacCallum, Ralph B. Chillas and J. B. Hartley, all of Montreal.

John L. Bonus is General Manger and Secretary and Hugh D. Scully, formerly Canadian Consul General in New York, is Canadian advisor. Stuart C. Legge is Secretary of the Dollar Sterling Trade Advisory Council.

In case any one is puzzled by the initials L. J. B. Forbes, the new President, they stand for Louis Jex-Blake Forbes, in honor of Louisa Jex-Blake, first woman graduate in medicine of Edinburgh University, a friend of his mother.

No information was available about his proposed weekend visit to Northern Ireland.

Yesterday the King decided to cancel plans to attend the Derby at Epsom Downs with other members of the Royal Family tomorrow. The Queen, Princess Elizabeth and Princess Margaret will attend the flat-racing classic.

Judgment Reserved By Privy Council

LONDON, May 29 (Reuters) — Judgment was reserved today by the Privy Council's Judicial Committee in the special leave appeal brought before it by Bennett and White (Calgary) Limited, an Alberta construction company.

The appeal hearing took five days.

In July, 1946, the company was granted a contract for construction of two tunnels in connection with the St. Mary's Dam project.

The company's appeal challenged the validity of an assessment to tax personal property made in 1947 by the respondents, the Municipal District of Sugar City No. 5.

A finding that the assessment was invalid was affirmed on appeal in Alberta but was reversed in Canada's Supreme Court.

Bridesmaid Dies In Car Accident

WETASKIWIN, Alta., May 29 — (CP)—A car carrying a wedding party from a photographer's studio to the wedding reception overturned a few miles West of Wetaskiwin last night.

A bridesmaid was killed and the bridal couple — married only an hour—went to Wetaskiwin hospital suffering severe shock.

R.C.M.P. officers said the bridesmaid, Mrs. Lillian Louise Ward of New Westminster, B.C., was suffocated when trapped in the overturned car. The newlyweds were Keith and Esther Babb.

The driver of the car, Ronny Babb, said it struck a deep rut and skidded into a water-filled ditch. He suffered a possible nose fracture and shock.

Hospitals Urged To Face Dangers

OTTAWA, May 29 (CP)—Even large cities like Montreal, Toronto and Voncouver will need help from other cities if they are atom bombed, a civil defence expert said today.

"Even the largest urban area in Canada with thorough mobilization of local resources of personnel, supplies and facilities would require considerable assistance from other areas to deal with the problems created by an atomic burst," said Dr. K. C. Charron.

Other speakers were Maj.-Gen. F. F. Worthington, Civil Defence Co-Ordinator; J. H. Roy, Superintendent of L'Hospital Ste. Luc, Montreal; and Col. J. N. B. Crawford of the Defence Department.

Gen. Worthington said to build a civil defence organization requires time more than money.

Mr. Roy urged all hospitals—the Council is a federation of hospital associations across Canada—to "seriously devote themselves to a careful study of their resources and facilities" until specific directions are given hospitals as to their responsibilities in time of national emergency.

Col. Crawford discussed casualties which might be expected from an atomic bomb explosion. In a city with a population of 10,000 a square mile, if a bomb fell without warning there would be 6800 dead and 750 living casualties within a radius of a half-mile.

J. Adonis Starts Prison Sentence

HACKENSACK, N.J., May 29 — (AP) — A red-faced Joe Adonis started a two to three-year prison term yesterday, the first in his long career as a mystery underworld figure. He was also fined $15,000 and suspended an additional four to five-year prison term.

Similar sentences were imposed on four of Adonis' associates, all charged with operation of a $1,000-000 dice gambling setup in Bergen County, across the Hudson River from New York.
