Winnipeg C.C.F. Member See... Of Depression; Must Make Eff... B. C. Coalition to Be Saved—Bea...

WINNIPEG, Feb. 17 (CP) — The Press recently h... ried "alarming information," regarding British Colu...bia's economic position, and there are "signs on the horizon" that a coming depression is a possibility, Lloyd Stinson (CCF-Winnipeg) said today during the Throne Speech debate in the Manitoba Legislature.

Mr. Stinson referred to Press comment to the effect that industry in B. C. had suffered the loss of a traditional outlet for its goods—lumber being a notable example—because Britain, short of American dollars, was trading within the sterling area.

He said there are some political difficulties in the way of united action by B.C.'s Coalition Government to meet difficulties facing the province. Manitoba is in a similar position.

"The political situation, therefore, is unsettled to say the least. No one can tell what the outcome will be. I'll venture one prediction, that before very long there will be a permanent union between the Liberals and Conservatives all across Canada.

Despite every kind of difficulty, the Manitoba Government will try to remain in office, Mr. Stinson said. "That is their objective, not good government—not the welfare of the people of Manitoba."

"This Government can't pull itself out of its lethargy and complacency at all," said Mr. Stinson in referring to a report on post-war planning made in 1946.

Premier D. L. Campbell rose to ask why no mention was made of the work which had been done. Mr. Stinson replied he was not in a position to make it.

NO PLACE FOR PARTY POLITICS LUXURY

VICTORIA, Feb. 17 (CP) — The Coalition "party" is doomed to defeat in the near future unless those who wish its continuation take a more active interest in British Columbia civic, provincial and Dominion affairs, a Government Member declared today.

Charles T. Beard (Coalition--Esquimalt) said present-day politics did not allow "the old luxury of party politics."

"While the Coalition 'part' has many disadvantages," he said, "these in a great measure are offset by the freedom allowed in caucus where each member is permitted to express his opinion, following which the Coalitionists go into the House as a team."

The Member said he believed "that the people should be told officially from month to month briefly how things are progressing or deteriorating."

"If we want to give better Government we should meet a week previous so that the Cabinet may know what the majority of the people think and want," Mr. Beard said.

MAY ELECTION?

VICTORIA, B.C., Feb. 17 (CP)—Speculation the British Columbia Coalition Government may call a late May election was prominent here.

Sources said a March prorogation to allow two months for campaigning might be planned.

(The Vancouver News-Herald said in a newspage story an election before June 1 appeared almost a certainty but quoted C.C.F. Members as saying they would delay any move to prorogue early.)

Premier Byron Johnson has turned aside Opposition proddings, seeking an election date. The C.C.F. Party has maintained this will be an election year. They termed the premier's policy address "a political bribe." Since, they said, it offered vast expansion plans in an election year.

Some Government Members have said an election should be held this year before the $90,000,000 expansion program is started.

...ON OVER-$1 BUYS ONLY IS BEARD PLAN

Contends Levy Fair When Inequalities Are Corrected

OVER 3 PER CENT

VICTORIA, Feb. 17 (CP) — The three-per-cent sales tax should be eliminated on all purchases under one dollar, Charles T. Beard (Coalition--Esquimalt) said in the House today.

As applied at present, the Member said, the tax is more than three per-cent on low priced articles and is really a tax on two taxes—added transportation costs and merchants' mark up price.

The Government should explain to the people in more detail exactly what they are contributing to, Mr. Beard said. To say that "big business" is contributing in a large measure is merely clouding the issue, as the manufacturer passes on the extra tax to the consumer.

The Esquimalt Member, however, stood stolidly behind the sales tax. When real inequalities were corrected, he said, it would be the fairest tax measure ever passed. It was in every sense of the word a contributory scheme which has been wanting for generations.

Sam Guthrie (CCF--Cowichan-Newcastle) asked why the Government did not obtain more revenue from the H. R. MacMillan lumber interests and Consolidated Mining and Smelting Company to provide funds needed for its program of expansion. He hoped the tax would be cut to one per cent or repealed.

If the C.C.F. took over the Government, Mr. Guthrie said he personally would strive for its repeal or at least to exempt basic necessities of life.

Pressed by Government members as to the C.C.F. policy, the Up-Island Member refused to commit the party, saying he was giving his personal views.

Opposition Leader Harold E. Winch interjected that he thought he had made the C.C.F. policy clear before. However, he would make his party's position on the sales tax clear later in the session.

Coryell Slides Spill 8 Freight Cars; Rains Spread Havoc Through B. C.

Motorists, C.N. Passengers Marooned; Damage High

Plows Buck Drifts to Free Train; Weather Keeps 5000 Coast Loggers Idle; 2 Feet of Water in U. S. Town

By GEORGE BRIMMELL
Canadian Press Staff Writer

VANCOUVER, Feb. 17 (CP) — Snowslides and floods—aftermath of yesterday's rains—today spread havoc throughout British Columbia. Rail, highway and telephone communications were badly disrupted.

Highlights:

1. A Canadian National Railways main-line passenger train is snowbound with 50 persons aboard at Stroud, B.C., 114 miles East of here. It was due here yesterday morning. An additional 150 persons, mostly motorists, are also marooned.

2. Victoria is reeling under its worst flood in 26 years. Damage to the lower part of Vancouver Island is expected to exceed $100,000.

3. Desperately needed supplies are being flown to 10 families isolated at a logging camp near coastal town of Powell River.

4. Telephone communications with the rest of the country are seriously cut and are barely being maintained.

5. The Trans-Canada Highway is still flooded at Flood, B.C., by giant snowslides. It will not likely be cleared until Saturday. One slide 30 feet deep, 300 feet long.

PLOWS TO RESCUE

Rotary snow plows are slicing through monster drifts in the Fraser Canyon, which starts about 100 miles East of here to rescue the C.N.R. No. 1 train from Montreal.

The train's passengers have an adequate supply of food, railway officials said, and are suffering no discomforts apart from the delay. Due here at 9:20 a.m. yesterday, the train will not arrive until sometime tomorrow.

Railway crews have worked day and night since to extricate the train. However, recurring fresh slides have delayed operations.

On Vancouver Island, meantime, preliminary surveys of damage left in the wake of fast receding flood waters indicated at least $100,000 will be required to repair and rebuild roads, drains, ditches and embankments.

The flood was the worst since 1923.

LOGGERS IDLE

Still idle in the "worst logging Winter in 20 years," were at least 5000 loggers in Coast towns.

The crazy weather pattern extended as far North as Dawson, Yukon Territory. Although the snowfall is the deepest in several years the weather has been mild.

From South Westminster, 12 miles South of here, however, comes one note of hope. Flash lightning observed by residents is interpreted as a sign of early Spring.

CONNELL FLOODED

SEATTLE, Feb. 17 (AP)—Severe floods struck Eastern Washington today as plunging temepratures and a cessation of rain eased flood threats in the Western half of the States.

In Oregon, heavy rains, swept in on a gale that struck the Northern Coast, put coastal streams over their banks. Johnson Creek was roaring across lowland areas in suburban Southeast Portland, and in many Oregon districts highways were under water—some as much as four feet.

The worst flood in the history of Connell, Wash., sent two feet of water down the main street and flooded half the town's basements. Businesses closed and residents went out to build dikes to halt the rising water. At Ritzville, in Eastern Washington, basements were flooded and several families were removed from water-surrounded homes.

In a 24-hour period ending this morning Western Washington rainfall totals were heavy with Port Angeles recording 3.04 inches; Bellingham, 2.49 and Tacoma 1.92.

CHICAGO, Feb. 17 (AP) — A cold, snowy storm today cut short a brief taste of mild weather in the Northern Plains area of the United States.

The Weather Bureau predicted 10 below zero near the Canadian border of Montana and North Dakota by tomorrow morning. And winds of 35- to 45-mile velocity foretold new trouble for drift-fighting forces in the Dakotas and Northeastern Wyoming.

Slocan Highway Blocked

Kettle Valley Turned Back, But Expect 10 Slides to Be Cleared Today; Buses Held Up

Eight freight cars were swept from Canadian Pacific Railway tracks by two slides at Coryell, about 28 miles East of Grand Forks at 2 a.m. Thursday. The cars dropped 200 feet into deep snow.

The accident was a freak, and fortunately, no one was injured.

Things happened quickly. First, a slide halted the 31-car train. Then a slide descended into a section of the train behind the engine and first two cars, carrying away four cars. The second slide missed the next 11 cars, took with it four, and left the last nine cars.

As a result, the Kettle Valley Passenger train from the Coast, due to arrive in Nelson Thursday night, had to turn back, and this trip was cancelled entirely.

It was necessary for the No. 11 leaving here to go to Castlegar only, and to return as an East-bound local No. 12.

In all, ten slides came down at Coryell in a one-mile area.

By Friday morning at 8 the lines were expected to be clear at Coryell, so that the next passenger train from the Coast would arrive Friday night.

Canadian Pacific telegraph lines were thrown across the slide area to restore service as far as Princeton. Service West of Princeton, however, is out.

CAPE HORN SLIDES

Suides covering a three to four mile stretch at Cape Harn, four miles North of Slocan City cut off Silverton and New Denver from highway transportation from the South Thursday.

The slides were reported to have come down Wednesday night, and were not expected to be cleared until between noon and 6 p.m. Friday. Two Provincial Public Works machines were working from both ends.

Removed Thursday was a slide one mile South of Silverton which stopped freight trucks going between Silverton and Slocan City.

Dangerous driving conditions suspended Greyhound Bus travel entirely Wednesday. No buses arrived at or left the Nelson depot, but Friday regular runs were expected to be resumed.

CLEAR BLOCKADES

The Nelson-Nelway highway to Salmo was opened at noon after Wednesday's closure due to slides. A few slides at the "Black Bluffs" were also cleared by late afternoon. A number of slides at Coffee Creek on the Nelson-Kaslo road were removed as well.

Unless there was a heavy freeze overnight, the main district roads would be fairly fit for travel Friday, a Public Works official at Nelson said.

Slush was experienced on most of the highways, but on the Kootenay Bay to Creston pavement icy conditions necessitated sanding.

BUS JUST KEEPS TRUNDLING ON

Amazes Observers; Again First To Break Trail

FEW DELAYS

It seems that the only bus service operating in the Nelson District Thursday was the demonstration service being staged to give Nelsonites an opportunity to decide whether or not they like bus service well enough to see it installed here.

While traffic almost came to a standstill due to the sudden thaw following heavy snowfall, the Twin Coach being used in the demonstration steadily ground out the miles over the entire uphill and Fairview route, for the second day breaking its own trail.

Three veteran bus drivers of this District rode the bus on one of its rounds. The response:

"I'm glad I'm here to see it, because I wouldn't have believed it."

Drivers Tom Alton and John Carlson, ignoring the headshakings that preceded the first run at 6:25 a.m., climbed aboard and "just drove." The big bus "just went." It broke through the eight or nine inches of "hardpan" snow, another few inches of melting snow beneath, grabbed hold of the road and sailed by stalled car after stalled car along the entire route.

ONLY MINOR DELAYS

There were some minor delays. On two runs the bus quit trying to climb Robson Street behind the Junior High School but that was all. The other delays were caused, once again, by overcrowding, and by stalling of other cars to obstruct the bus.

Students paid no heed to the request that they get aboard the bus, or street car, in the vicinity of their homes, and once again crowded the Fifth Street stops.

The schedule was adhered to until 1:25 p.m., when it went behind partly due to overcrowding and partly to a delay on Stanley Street, caused when an auto on the tracks held up the street car, which in turn held up the bus. To catch up, people were put on the street car and the bus turned around.

On another occasion, the street car was held up by a stalled car on Front Street. The bus barely squeezed by, and the driver took aboard as many street car passengers as he could to help out the situation.

PARKED CARS WORRY

One of the worst difficulties was posed by cars parked on uphill streets. The drivers "barely got by" in some cases. In one case, a car parked right in the tracks formed by the bus.

Gus Erickson of Interior Stages Ltd., Trail, which seeks the City transportation franchise, said that in 13 years of driving or riding on buses he had never seen worse conditions.

He and W. R. Hubka, District Manager of Twin Coach Company, Fort Erie, Ont., paid tribute to the efforts on the City's part to keep the roads clear under difficult conditions.

Meanwhile, the Committee formed Wednesday to campaign for bus transportation in Nelson, met again to formulate its plans. Its program will include a public meeting shortly at which the public will be given an opportunity to question the "Fact-Finding Committee."

DENIES COST RUMORS

A rumor that the demonstration was costing the City a large sum, was dispelled at this meeting. Mayor T. H. Waters said that the trial was being sponsored by the Twin Coaches Company at no cost to the City. Only the wages of the drivers and the cost of the fuel for the bus were being paid.

The Mayor again took occasion to explain the City power situation.

"While the new installation at the City Power Plant was going to double the capacity of electrical production, this did not mean to say that the City would have an unlimited amount of power for all time as the present demand, both industrial and domestic, would within a short time again bring about a scarcity such as existed at the present time."

It was announced that the 12:22 p.m. bus leaving Ward and Baker, up, is to be discontinued owing to the heavy load carried on the 12:05 bus.

GENERAL ENDS MUNICH SPY TRIAL SECRECY

Orient Express Waiter Handed 20-Year Sentence

PROBE ORDERED

By RICHARD K. O'MALLEY

MUNICH, Feb. 17 (AP)—A United States Military Commission, officially ordered to be less secretive about its spy trials, today sentenced a waiter on the Orient Express to 20 years at hard labor.

By order of Maj.-Gen. Maxwell Taylor, the Commission disclosed the conviction and sentence and identified the slender, brown-haired prisoner as Frontisek Klecka, 31.

Klecka is one of 20 persons rounded up by the Army last November on charges of being members of a Czechoslovak espionage ring. He claimed French citizenship, but said his wife lives in Czechoslovakia. The Orient Express is a crack international train that runs from Paris through such strategic cities as Strasbourg, Stuttgart, Munich, Salzburg, Vienna and Budapest.

ORDER PROBE

Gen. Taylor, Chief of Staff of Army ground forces in Europe, issued the authorization for naming of defendants and announcement of the findings after Gen. Lucius D. Clay, the United States Commander in Germany, ordered a probe of the Commission's plan for absolute secrecy in two of the five trials scheduled.

The Commission, headed by Brig.-Gen. John L. McKee, refused to specify Klecka's nationality, but an interpreter said Klecka spoke in Czech in protesting the conviction, declaring: "I am not guilty."

The Army's public information service put out a statement that Klecka was sentenced "for espionage." A few minutes later, the announcement was corrected to delete the word "espionage" and substitute the words "violation of military government ordinance No. 8."

That ordinance covers "acts prejudicial to the security or mission of the United States forces," communication of information "which may be dangerous to the security or property of allied forces."

PRICES LEVELLING SAYS TRUMAN

WASHINGTON, Feb. 17 (AP) —President Truman today declared his belief that current price drops are only the levelling-off that everybody has been looking for.

He coupled the statement at a press conference with an emphatic renewal of his call for a $4,000,000,000 tax increase.

The President spoke confidently of the business outlook.

He said he thinks personally the business situation today is nothing to be alarmed about, but a levelling off.

Budget Wednesday

VICTORIA, Feb. 17 (CP) — Finance Minister Herbert Anscomb, confined to his home with lumbago, was back in his seat today in the House. His budget will be brought down next Wednesday if present plans are carried out.

Seek Standard Clothes Labels

OTTAWA, Feb. 17 (CP) — A housewife called for standardized labels on clothes today so that, among other nuisances, "you don't have to try on everything from size 14 to 18 when you want a new dress."

She was Mrs. F. E. Wright of Port Credit, Ont., President of the *Canadian Association of Consum*ers, who appeared before the Senate Banking Committee to approve a Government bill that would provide for the true description of commodities sold to the public.

The same bill met opposition from the Canadian Manufacturers Association in its proposal to create national trade marks for commodities which producers could use if they wished and if their goods could come up to the required standards.

*Mrs. Wright argued that the con*sumer must be informed just what she is getting, particularly when cartels, unknown products and other factors were complicating matters. The Association hoped for better grading and labelling. It wanted standard sizes of shoes and clothes, standards of quality, and it wanted the name of the manufacturer on the label.

It wanted something that would give a hint that a sheet will shrink and which will indicate authentically hat a size six dress will fit a six-year-old child.

H. W. MacDonald, counsel for the C.M.A., said the Association was "doubtful of the practical soundness and workability of the proposed national trade mark." There would *have to be thorough inspection sys*tem which "might prove a decidedly costly business."

There also was the problem whether the mark would denote high or average quality and the injury that would be done to a com*modity which could not qualify* but would still be good value for the money it cost.

M. W. Mackenzie, Deputy Trade Minister, testified that no costly inspection service was contemplated. Past experience indicated that in*vestigations would largely be based* on complaints.

The committee adjourned without decision.

PARIS, Feb. 17 (AP) — High ranking representatives of 19 European Recovery Program areas agreed today to set up a brain trust to speed the revival of this continent

Foreign Ministers, Economic Ministers and top officials of the areas met for more than two hours on the recommendations of a special Ministerial Committee. They agreed to set up an Executive Council of Cabinet rank, headed by Paul-Henri Spaak, Premier and Foreign Minister of Belgium.

PRO-WESTERN WEIZMANN IS ISRAEL LEADER

Zionist Scientist Takes Oath; Ben-Gurion Premier

THOUSANDS CHEER

JERUSALEM, Feb. 17 (AP) — Dr. Chaim Weizmann today was inaugurated as the first President on the young State of Israel in a ceremony filled with ancient Hebrew symbolism.

Thousands of spectators lining Jerusalem's streets cheered and wept for joy as they viewed the procession held for the 84-year-old scientist who has devoted a lifetime to the Zionist cause.

Weizmann took the oath in the Jewish agency building before the recently elected Israeli Parliament. The 120-member Parliament named him President last night on the first ballot after adopting a new constitution.

Weizmann is pro-western and outspokenly anti-Russian in his views.

*The provisional Israeli Govern*ment, headed by Premier David Ben-Gurion, resigned in accordance with the procedure laid down in the new constitution. Weizmann will ask Ben-Gurion to form a new government.

*As Weizmann entered the Cham*ber for the ceremony today, the shofar (ceremonial ram horn) was sounded. Joseph Sprinzak, 63, Speaker of the House, administered the oath in its Hebrew form.

Weizmann stood before a huge portrait of Theodor Herzl, founder of the World Zionist Organization. Herzl died 45 years ago, but his dream of a Jewish homeland inspired the men who brought Israel into being.

SIAM FIGHTS RED DANGERS

BANGKOK, Feb. 17 (Reuters) —A state of emergency will be proclaimed in Siam within the next 24 hours "to combat the growing Communist menace," Prime Minister Pibul Songkham announced today.

Songkram added that Siam has agreed to a British request to seal the Siam-Malayan frontier, scen of an anti-Communist drive in the last few days.

The emergency measure is intended, he said, to combat the growing Communist threat to Siam from latest developments in neighboring countries.

The countries bordering Siam are Malaya, Indo-China and Burma. Though there is no common border with China, Chinese territory at one point comes within 100 miles of the Siamese frontier.

Nelsonites Abandon Cars to Slush; Fight Worst Conditions in Years

This was Nelson's thaw picture Thursday:

Temperatures were the highest since Nov. 13; the thermometer ranged up to 44.5 degrees.

Driving conditions were the worst in years; garage towing equipment was kept continually on the jump tugging cars from snowbanks.

Practically all City Public Works Department crews plus an extra gang of six men were engaged in snow and slush removal.

Householders swung shovels ridding roofs and eaves of their dripping cargo—and the air in many cases became even milder as words flew with disappearing shingles.

Many car owners walked to work, or tried out Nelson's new demonstration bus, after leaving their cars in garages to avoid extreme driving hazards.

Pedestrians hedgehopped water and slush-filled gutters; and dodged spray from passing cars.

And everywhere it dripped!

Bogged down in slush and banks of melting snow, drivers found travelling conditions the most difficult in years. Cars often sank in slush up to the wheel hubs. By Thursday night Public Works crews had most streets cleared, and with temperatures dropping to freezing, they were expected to be open Friday.

"BEST THEY COULD"

In a full day of snow removal "employees did the best they could with the equipment they had", Mayor T. H. Waters said Thursday night. "They were severely handicapped in that the City did not have enough trucks to cope with the situation".

Driving conditions were no respecter of personages. Even the Mayor's car was stuck, and had to be dug out of a snow bank. "Never in my 25 to 27 years driving have I experienced such difficult conditions", he avowed.

In Fairview as many as 25 cars were parked on Nelson Avenue at noon and in the evening as drivers walked to their homes.

Many left their cars in their garages.

With seven trucks and four plows out on the streets, streets were "pretty well" cleared, City Foreman Robert Hickey said. None was closed at any time, but conditions were poor all over the city, "particularly in the uphill area".

There were numerous flooded basements in both the business and residential areas, and roof troubles were many.

Citizens who were turning off taps in the belief that mains would no longer freeze, were warned to "turn them back on". The ground was still frozen, and lines could "freeze right up again".

The thaw caused no trouble to the Electrical Department, except "in getting around", and little trouble to the Water Department.

Controls End, Public Restraint Saved Price Chaos—Gordon

MONTREAL, Feb. 17 (CP) — Gradual lifting of wartime controls coupled with public restraint helped Canada avoid violent price disturbances in the post-war period, Donald Gordon, Deputy Governor of the Bank of Canada, said here tonight.

While it could not be said that all deferred demand had been met, the post-war increase in retail sales seemed to be levelling out.

CALGARY, Feb. 17 (CP)—Canadian military engineers may work on large civilian projects to gain experience, Col. H. W. Love, director of works and accommodation for the Canadian Army, said today.

He said that the engineering corps hoped in the near future to have its officers gain experience in such big projects as the Fraser Valley dyking scheme, on big dam projects, highway building and other large scale engineering works that would benefit them in any future large scale war.

WORLD RECORD FOR EMPLOYMENT

CALGARY, Feb. 17 (CP) — Prairie Provinces last fall established a world's record for employment, Fred White of Winnipeg, National Superintendent of the Unemployment Insurance Commission, said today.

Mr. White, in Calgary to attend* a two-day meeting of the Prairie Regional Employment Committee said less than 1.3 per cent of the labor force in the three Prairie Provinces was unemployed last Fall. He said that was the lowest rate of unemployment ever recorded in any country in the world. Canada as a whole had an unemployment rate of three per cent of her entire labor force at that time.

"Alberta, Manitoba and Saskatchewan should have no trouble in absorbing every worker physically able to work this Summer," Mr. White said. "Although the number of unemployed in the three provinces has now increased 6000 from the same period of 1948, this is mainly due to the long cold spell."

There now were 38,000 persons unemployed in the West out of a total labor force of 900,000. This year's peak unemployment figure would likely be slightly higher than that of 1948.

Nelson Bartenders To Arbitration

International Bartenders Union, Local 707, will go to arbitration in their wage dispute with the Nelson Hotelmen's Association. A Conciliation Board which concluded sittings here Thursday, failed to reach an agreement.

Asking an increase to $48 a week, the Union turned down an offer of $44.50. Present wages are $40 a week.

All bartenders in Nelson are classed as "combination" men, able to work both at the bar and on the floor. Two rates of pay are in effect in cities where both combination and floor men are employed.

Conciliation Board was in session for two days under Conciliation Officer A. C. A. Baker of Kelowna. Bartenders' Bargaining Committee comprised Jack Brinley, L. R. Robertson, George LaPointe and A. G. Bush.

Next step, after Provincial Government word is received, is the appointment of an Arbitration Board, consisting of a representative for the bartenders, and one for the hotelmen. The two representatives will choose a chairman; if they are unable to do this, one will be appointed by the Government.

And in This Corner—

VANCOUVER, Feb. 17 (CP)—There was liquor on every table at the Policeman's Ball here—but it was all legal . . . in fact it was probably the most legal party in cabaret history.

The Police Mutual Benevolent Association was doubly-sure last night it had its permits in order following almost-nightly raids on "public place" drinking in Vancouver night spots.

The headwaiter at the cabaret where the party was held called it* "one of the best behaved parties" the club ever had had.

GRAVESEND, England, Feb. 17 (AP)—Alice Bolesworth became Alice Oxley and Alice Oxley became Alice Bolesworth.

They married each others brothers—Philip Oxley and Henry Bolesworth—in a double wedding.

CINCINNATI, Feb. 17 (AP)—Mrs. Dorothy Zenni, 33, was granted* a divorce today after she told the Judge George E. Kearns her husband twisted her toes until she screamed. Her husband was Ralph C. Zenni, 34.

OTTAWA, Feb. 17 (CP)—Prime Minister St. Laurent has not yet learned to dance, but it is not worrying him, he told the women's Canadian Club today.

He went to Government House Ball last night in spite of the fact that he had not been able to take advantage of the many offers to teach him dancing since he told a Niagara Falls audience of his lack of skill on the ball-room floor.

However, he said, he was able to avoid any display of his terpsichoreaan ineptness.

"I found it was much easier to side-step than to two-step," he told the women.

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 17 (AP)—Rev. Earl C. Gross yesterday tacked up the title of his Sunday sermon at his Baptist Church—and it really made things hum for a while.

The minister received dozens of telephone calls and scores of other persons dropped around to see him personally.

The title of his Sunday sermon is "House for Rent."

GREEN BAY, Wis., Feb. 17 (AP)—Many are the risks a policeman must take these days.

Board of Trade Parade Features Kaslo 51st Anniversary Program

KASLO, B. C. Feb. 17—The Legion Hall was crowded when the Kaslo Board of Trade celebrated its fifty-first anniversary with a Hardtime Dance and floor show.

The program was interspersed with dancing to music by the Lardeau orchestra.

The door prize, a ton of coal, was won by David Glaholm. There was a parade of costumes, when Mrs. R. N. W. Shillington and Mayor G. S. Baker awarded Miss W. Egger and T. Foster the prizes for the best Ladies and Gent hard time characters.

The floor show opened with a harmonica solo by G. A. Raglan who was called on to repeat. The Barber Cats, with E. J. Leveque as barber and F. Webber as his victim, brought many chuckles from the crowd. W. Hendren and Bert Webber strolled in and made up a barbershop quartet that was well greeted. E. J. Leveque as Bombo, also made a hit and was followed by Alex Jacobs in a chalk talk. He developed characters from a few strokes of his crayons, Fred Webber was his usual witty self. The Mad Russian by G. A. Raglan, The World's Worst Golfer, by F. Aydon, and E. J. Leveque as the colored gent, were appreciated, and had to repeat their numbers.

Miss Fredrick Aydon in a ballet dance, complete with veil and "sheer" gown, was graceful to say the least and was shown by the crowd that her artistic dancing was considered something rather special.

BOARD OF TRADE PARADE

The highlight of the program was the "Board of Trade Parade." With a special oschestra led by trumpeters Frank Carney and Keith Greensword with Mrs. B. Clark at the piano, the Parade opened when Thelma Logan, under spot lights, stepped from a beautiful flower, gradually opened by the lovely Fairy, who gave a charming sparkling effect in her dainty dance. At a wave of her wand, the Queen of Mines, the Queen of Lumber, the Queen of Farming and the Queen of Tourists, each with their retinue, appeared in turn, and were gracefully led to their respective stations. Each member of the Queens retinue represented a letter of the alphabet which was explained over an afplifie as the Fairy pointed to them with her wand. Again the Fairy waved her wand and five members of the Board appeared representing Kaslo. E. J. Leveque led the singing of the "Kaslo March," one of his own compositions as which time the banner of the Board of Trade was lowered.

The four lovely Queens were: Queen of Mines, Miss Jean Ringheim; Queen of Lumber, Miss Shirley Thompson; Queen of Farming, Miss Inez Lind; Queen of Tourists, Miss Heather Abey.

After supper dancing continued. Prizes were awaded for spot dances. G. Armstrong was Master of Ceremonies.

The Weather

Synopsis: The general weather pattern of cloudy skies and snow flurries was expected to continue overnight through B. C. with temperatures at or below freezing in all sections. Little change was expected for Friday but a storm which is developing about 1500 miles West of the continent may once more bring rain to the Coast by Saturday.

Inauguration Speech Still Stands—Truman

WASHINGTON, Feb. 17 (AP)—President Truman declared today that what he said about the objectives of the North Atlantic alliance in his inauguration speech still stands. In that speech he said:

"If we can make it sufficiently clear in advance that any armed attack affecting our national security would be met with overwhelming force, the armed attack might never occur."

Reiteration of his Jan. 20 speech came during the President's Press conference.

He said the American position was made clear in his inauguration address and in previous speeches and what he said at the time of the inauguration still stands.

Western European nations were reported still hopeful of obtaining American agreement to some open promise of military support in the proposed security treaty.

Too Many People in Today's Society Need Mental Adjustment-Silverwood

Far too many people in today's society are mentally ill, not in need of a strait jacket but in dire need of mental adjustment. Rev. W. J. Silverwood told Nelson Parent-Teacher Association at its monthly meeting.

These people suffer from fear, anxiety, frustration and despair, he said.

In guiding the maladjusted, the agencies of the home, school and church had to be brought into play.

In New York City alone one in 18 persons has had, is having or will have need of mental and institutional care, the Church of the Redeemer clergyman said. The Canadian Health Minister was quoted in January as saying that there are 800,000 cases under treatment for mental illness, more than the total for cancer, tuberculosis and infantile paralysis combined.

Hundreds do not report for treatment for fear of stigma.

"SHOCKING CONDITION"

"This is a very shocking condition and does reflect in general the state of society we are living in . . . some preferring not to be concerned about it go on living in a fools paradise saying all is right with society and the world.

"Surely no understanding of our problem can be satisfactory, and no remedy sought until we find an explanation of the mechanisms of bad conduct. All experts in the field dealing with the maladjusted are agreed that certain tendencies help to explain the mechanics of bad behaviour and anti-social attitudes.

"The first is that of the will to power, or the upward surge toward self-expression. Let us observe carefully that these self assertive cravings can be easily perverted and brought to an expression that is socially unwholesome.

"Then against the child's will to power cravings are sometimes intensifed by the cihld's protest against poverty and hard circumstances, personal or family relationships and conditions that create mental dissatisfaction of any sort.

"As a result of the suffering they produce, or because they curb normal self-assertion, they can easily bring about some unsocial expression of self assertion.

Another type of will to power that appears in delinquency is the anti-social grudge. It comes from the child taking emotional hostility from an earlier experience and bringing it to operate at some later time against somebody unconnected with the first occurrence. Here is a grudge, anti-social in nature, that can rapidly start a child on the highway to crime.

"Another aspect we must not overlook is that of conflicts. Mental conflicts seriously disturb the mind along with personal behaviour and these often tend to cause bad conduct. Sex is one cause of emotional conflict.

"The kind of guidance I have in mind in dealing with the maladjusted is that which steps in before the court becomes necessary. The agencies of the home, school and church must be brought into play and cooperate on the highest possible level. It is when one or all three of these fail that the course to the juvenile court becomes necessary.

"Such guidance is carried out in some places under the name of the Domestic Relations Office or the Guidance Clinic. No matter what you call it, it is a place where trouble people, young and old, can go for a hearing counsel and advice.

"I have read that in some cities service clubs and the community chest have done magnificent work in seeking and providing for such a counsellor.

"I do suggest that this is something that P.T.A.s might consider as one of their major activities. It is a service that can heal many a broken home and save many a wayward child.

"If we had the most efficient teachers in the world, and the best equipped schools, all educational efforts would be wasted on a child whose parents sabotage its training either consciously or unconsciously. It is when such a condition has arisen that the need of guidance is of paramount importance.

"Of the obvious agencies for such guidance, the home, school and church, unless the church gets better support and is given more time it will be the weakest of the three links.

"My last point is that when the three agencies fail, or fall short of their responsibility, then it is that some kind of clinic becomes an urgent necessity."

B. C. Affleck Stresses Necessity of Modern Transportation to Kiwanis

In an address to the Nelson Kiwanis Club at the Hume Thursday night, Boyd C. Affleck stressed the necessity for a better and more modern transportation system for Nelson.

Mr. Affleck stated that the street railway system first began in 1900 and was owned by a private company. In 1904, the City took over this transportation system on a four-year lease, and at the end of the four years, purchased the system at a cost of $10,000.

The question of removing the street cars and replacing them with buses came up as early as 1919 when the matter was introduced by the late C. F. McHardy. The line used to run down to the C.P.R. station, but since 1919 these rails had been taken up.

Street railway figures for the last five years showed a continual loss. During this time the loss has been $49,320, approximately $10,000 per year. These figures were increasing yearly, and although the rates were higher, fewer people were using the street cars.

This loss, besides expenditures and lower revenues was also made up by the 1 cent per kilowatt hour spent for the power of running the street cars. If this same power had been sold to individuals instead of used by the street railway system, twice as much money would have been received. Cost of electricity to the individual consumer was about 2 cents per kilowatt hour.

No matter what kind of transportation the City may have, 100 per cent perfect transportation cannot be expected on the hills in Nelson, he said.

Mr. Affleck also felt that bus transportation would be more comfortable and safer for the passengers. "We have had only one bank break in Nelson," he said, "and this was due to a street car jumping the tracks." In these cases the cars cannot do anything but go along the tracks, but with buses, they could at least turn into an alley or side street or even into a ditch, before picking up too much speed.

Mr. Affleck thought two buses would be sufficient to meet the demands of the Nelson residents. The buses could both run on the same route, but in opposite directions. The new route would also take in a greater area of the City. In the case of sightseeing trips, or transportation for High School students, an extra bus could be put into use.

OLYMPIA, Wash., Feb. 17 (AP) — A plan to put the State of Washington in the power business on the wholesale level was proposed in the Legislature today.

It would permit state ownership of Grand Coulee Dam and other power facilities, localizing control of hydro-electric resources as requested by Governor Langlie in his inaugural message.

It would set up a new policy that ownership of power sites throughout the state shall be forever in the hands of the people.

United Church At Kimberley Elects Officers

KIMBERLEY, B. C., Feb. 17—The annual Congregational meeting of Kimberley United Church, a pot-luck supper, film and singsong, was held here.

Reports of the various Committees showed the Church had a very successful year. The missionary offering was oversubscribed by all departments. The M. and M. Fund sent a total of $603 to Toronto. The Women's Association reached a new high in their financial endeavors, earning $1508 during the year, of which $1000 was contributed to the Building Fund.

Highlight of the year was the establishment of the Rock Lake Camp in conjunction with other East Kootenay United Churches. A C.G.I.T. group was formed in the Church, with Mrs. S. Stein, Mrs. G. Bonner and Mrs. N. Glover as leaders. The Church also participated in the very successful Vacation Bible School, Mrs. G. Affleck being the leader.

The Young People's Society was very active, contributing $80 to the Organ Fund and sending 150 pounds of clothing to the Church World Service.

Sunday School activities are also increased, large classes being noted in all Districts.

Election of officers for the ensuing year then followed.

Elected to the Board of Stewards: J. Noble, F. Holmes, E. Pederson, W. J. MacLean and L. Creighton. Delegate to the B. C. Church Conference: Mrs. C. Backstrom.

Trail of '98 Traced for Kimberley Pupils

KIMBERLEY, B. C., Feb. 17—Elementary school children of this city heard an excellent address by P. Allen of North Battleford, Sask., on his recent visit to Alaska.

Mr. Allen followed the fabulous Trail of '98, paying his way by washing dishes, playing in a dance band, and working on the sewers in Dawson.

He visited Robert Service's cabin where the Poet of the Yukon spent, by his own admission, the eight happiest years of his life, 1906-1914. Mr. Allen met Mr. Service at the Yukon "Sourdough" Reunion at Vancouver last Summer, presenting him with a picture of this cabin, which is still just as Mr. Service left it.

Mr. Allen made the trip up the Yukon as a deckhand. They did not run the Whitehorse Rapids, but took the narrow-gauge railway for the 38½ miles.

Films of the famous Chilkoot Pass and many other points of interest illustrated his talk.

Kenney Opens Resources Meet

VICTORIA, B. C., Feb. 17 (CP)—Lands and Forests Minister E. T. Kenney today opened the second annual resources conference, attended by nearly 250 delegates from all parts of British Columbia.

Addresses and discussions at the two-day meeting will deal with soil, water, agriculture, fisheries, forestry, mining, power, recreation and wild life in the Province.

Mr. Kenney told delegates administration of natural resources is above all a question of proper land use.

"It matters little through which medium we view proper land use, whether through agriculture, forestry, fisheries, mining, power, recreation or wild life, since the consideration of one invariably leads to study of the inter-relationships with the others," he said.

"What matters is that we must sight our objective at the full use of a resource, consistent with the welfare of all resources and the capacity of each resource, when renewable, to produce and perpetuate itself on a crop basis."

Fred Jeffers Pulled Stumps on Baker St. in '91; Knew Mining Lore

By R. G. JOY
Historian, Nelson and District Old Timers' Association

T. F. (Fred) Jeffers, who died here Tuesday, was born July 7, 1866, in Toronto, and left there at an early age to go to Thornburg, 100 miles North of Toronto.

He worked on a farm there, and came West at 24. In 1890 he went to Portland, Ore., stopped there for seven months, moved to Coeur d'Alene a few months later, and landed in Nelson in 1891.

Fred Irvine and J. Kirkpatrick were here a few months before him. The Nelson townsite was covered with second growth, mostly bush, and the population was about three or four hundred.

As Fred related it: "There were only two or three married women when I arrived. Soon afterward several of the old timers sent for their sweethearts or wives.

"Pulling of stumps on Baker Street from the bridge to the C.P.R. hill was one of my first jobs. We went no further, out of respect for three bodies buried by the place near where the Greyhound Bus depot is located. There was a trail from the end of Baker Street to Hoguetown, or what is now called Fairview.

"I worked with Angus McIntyre at teaming, and took a team to New Denver in 1892 via Slocan City, and hauled logs for the first hotel there for T. Mulvey. It was built entirely of logs.

"I transferred by team on a raft from Slocan City to New Denver. Several tents were erected there; in fact, there were about 100 squatters. Captain Fitzstubbs reserved a townsite for the Government which prevented the squatters from building.

"I resided in New Denver for two or three years, and packed ore from the Freddie Lee Mine, a mine staked by the late Martin Fry. George Hughes, packer and mine operator, came in the Fall, also 'Dad' Allan.

"We turned our pack horses out to pasture and worked for Hughes, who got most of the contracts from the mines. We had 18 mules, six to each man. I had 12 horses, six for one man. Mules usually carried about 300 pounds, and horses, 200. We started rawhiding in the Fall. The ore was from the St. Alamo mill, and most of it was found at the grass roots.

PAYNE FIND SET OFF STAMPEDE

"I think the Payne was located Sept. 15, 1891. Eli Carpenter and his partner staked it. When he came to Nelson the news of the find leaked out. Then there was a stampede from Kaslo, Slocan City and New Denver. S. S. Bailey and Mr. Howson were among the number.

"A large number of claims were staked on the snow — the Last Chance, the American Boy, Reno and Noble Five. The Slocan was very busy, and after staying there for a number of years, I came to Nelson in 1897.

"Irwin and I prospected from Bonners Ferry through the East Kootenay up to Fort Steele, then to the Windermere and up Toby Creek across to Argenta and around Trout Lake until Fall.

"We located several claims but let them run out. Mining fell flat. The Silver Cup and the Nettie L were good mines—some very rich ore was taken from them. The Last Chance in the Slocan had 18 inches of solid galena, owned by Tomlinson. I think Dr. Hendricks of the Blue Bell had an interest in it. The Doctor was a good man in the Kootenays.

"I worked for Billy Wilson four or five years at two different times. Then I went into business myself. I sold out and went to Spokane, and came back here in 1929. I was also in Yakima, Wash.

"I have lived in Nelson since, and, incidentally, drove the second team that was hired to go to the Silver King."

"Did you know John Houston, Fred?" I asked him offhand.

"Yes, I knew him very well indeed," he replied.

Fred in his younger days was an active member of the Epworth League of the Methodist Church in Nelson. He was known all over the Kootenays as a "damn good scout" and an excellent man.

When he went to Spokane it was to operate a livery stable. As time went on, Fred saw the coming of the automobile and realized there was no more use for horses and their vehicles, so he was forced to sell out.

"Plane Brake" Theory of Nelson Man Is Reality

Some time ago R. G. Joy, Historian of the Nelson and District Old Timers' Association, gave the Daily News a story suggesting that a brake similar to the sea anchor might be used for planes.

He had in mind several parachutes being attached to the plane in streamlined containers connected with automatic push buttons. When released, they would possibly break the crash of a plane.

(If you laugh, he will take this as a compliment).

He also imagined the body and wings of the planes being covered with small parachutes three or four in tandem, in containers similar to the blades of a Garson turbine. Instead of blades, they would be walls of containers which could be automatically released.

Sequel is that in Newsweek of Feb. 7, and recently in the Nelson Daily News, appeared an illustration of a Boeing Stratajet, world's fastest bomber, being slowed down for a landing by a parachute brake. The parachute seemed to have an opening at the top, and looked similar to a sea anchor.

Swiss Aid Snow Study

OTTAWA, Feb. 16 (CP)—The Canadians and the Swiss are getting together on one problem that gives them a lot in common—snow.

The National Research Council, tackling scientific studies of snow on two main fronts, said today it had been loaned Switzerland's senior snow scientist, Dh. Marcel de Quervain to help out.

The council's interest in snow is partly rooted in the fact that it costs the country at least $20,000,000 a year to remove it from streets, highways and railway tracks but the study also is an important part of the general development of the North.

Here for a year, Dr. de Quervain is attached to the Division if Bunlding Research and has been making a tour of Western United States snow centres. Accompanied by D. C. Pearce, a Canadian physicist, he will also inspect snow conditions in Western Canada including the Rockies before returning here late in February.

"It is hoped," the council said, "That their studies will form the basis for a long-term program of research into snow and ice in Canada."

The Building Research section handles the investigation of snow and ice as materials and statistical problems such as the pressure of ice against dams. The mechanical engineering section handles mechanical problems such as snow-clearing and transport.

It has in G. J. Klein a man who pioneered Canada's snow studies and who is recognized as the outstanding authority on the continent.

FIVE JUDGES PLAY PINBALL BASEBALL, RESERVE DECISION ON SKILL OR LUCK

CALGARY, Feb. 16 (CP)—Five learned judges of the Appeals Division of the Alberta Supreme Court played a game of "baseball" today. Later they reserved decision on whether the game—played on a pin-ball machine—required skill.

Loud peals of laughter emanated from the Law Library of the Calgary Court House as the judges tried out a coin-operated pin-ball machine of the type known as the "heavy hitter." They "played ball" to see if operation of the machine was governed by skill of the player or the element of chance. The machine, one of four seized by R.C.M.P., almost a year ago, simulates a baseball game.

When the machines were seized, they were ordered confiscated following a police court hearing. The case was appealed to the District Court and the confiscation order quashed. The Crown is appealing the District Court ruling.

Fate of the machine hinges on whether results of play depend on the skill of the player or on chance. If the judges find no element of chance is embodied in the machines, the machines are not prohibited under the Alberta Slot Machines Act.

Flood Report Given Kimberley Red Cross

KIMBERLEY, B.C., Feb. 15 — The annual meeting of the Kimberley Branch Canadian Red Cross was held last week, the President B. H. Nagle presiding.

The President's report for 1948 gave a detailed report of flood activities. As there was not a branch organized in the city at that time, the Vancouver Branch swang into action, sending in some thiry marquee army tents and thousands of sandbags, a grant of $8000 was paid out for local flood emergencies, the greater amount of this going to the setting up and maintenance of "tent towns" and payment for food and supplies for flood workers.

The blood donor clinic held in August was one of the most successful in the province.

Home nursing classes were held at McDougall Hospital and Oughtred Hall in November and December, Miss G. Farquharson, Phn., instructing.

One "missing person" was located for Red Cross headquarters.

Faith in Fellowmen

SPOKANE, Wash., Feb. 16 (AP)—The biggest reward went to the loser—Mrs. Richard J. Green, who lost her purse with a billfold containing $40 last week.

She got back everything, plus a big hunk of faith in her fellow beings.

First, the purse, minus the billfold, was found by a truck driver and returned to her. Later a bus driver found the billfold, minus the $40, and returned it.

Finally, the $40 was found by a high school boy, who returned it.

Most of British Increase in Defence Budget for Machine Modernization

LONDON, Feb. 16 (AP)—Britain has proposed increasing her defence budget by almost 10 per cent to £759,860,000 ($3,039,440,000) in the next fiscal year.

This compares with estimates of £692,600,000 for the Army, Navy and R.A.F. for the fiscal year ending March 31.

Someof the increase will go for higher pay to the armed forces, but most of it, the Government announced last night in a white paper, will be used for newer equipment and modernization of present war machines.

The white paper said R.A.F. Squadrons will be re-equipped with the latest type of Jet aircraft.

Modernization of the Army's Tanks, Radar and Radio also is planned.

"The services must be ready, if need be, to fight with the weapons of today," the Government said.

It is planned to call 174,000 conscripts under the Compulsory Service Act during the next fiscal year.

Issuance of the Budget Plan coincided with some expressions of disappointment in Western Europe at the Americon rejection of any "Automatic War" clause in the projected North Atlantic Alliance.

SEE ANXIETY

Official comment here was restrained, but there appeared to be some anxiety among British Govehnment Leaders over Press reaction to an outline of the United States Senate's position Monday which gave such an indication.

"There is some concern in London," reported the Pro-Government Daily Herald, "At attempts which are being made to create the impression that the draft Atlantic Pact is being so watered down by the Americans that it will be valueless."

Condolences to Pope on Mindszenty Sentence Given by 33 Diplomats

VATICAN CITY, Feb. 16 (AP)—Diplomats of 33 countries today expressed to Pope Pius their condolences on the sentencing of Cardinal Mindszenty of Hungary to life imprisonment.

The Pontiff, in an address of gratitude, thanked the mass audience unique in the history of the Holy See's diplomatic relationships.

Speaking in French, he said he awaits the "hour when all nations put forth friendly hands to collaborate for the restoration of humanity at present torn by hatreds and discords."

Of the diplomats accredited to the Vatican who were in Rome today, only the Yugoslav charge d'affaires, Petar Benzon, failed to attend. He pleaded illness. Two years ago, Yugoslavia sentenced for 16 years another high Roman Catholic, Archbishop Alojzije Stepinac, on charges of collaborating with the Germans.

Minister Arthur Maixner of Czechoslovakia, the only other Eastern European country maintaining a diplomat at the Vatican, was not in Rome.

The diplomats stood in a semicircle about the Pope's ivory-and-gold throne while he spoke today. He used no notes. After he ended the discourse he came down from the throne and shook hands with and blessed each representative personally. In making the rounds he spoke in English, French, Spanish, Portuguese and German.

The formal address of the diplomats to the Pontiff was read by Carlos Arangio Velez, Colombian Ambassador who acted as dean of the corps. He said all came to express their "solidarity with all those who suffer religious persecution and are defending the fundamental freedom of mankind."

Replying, the Pope said the "historic audience reflects faithfully the thoughts and aspirations of the largest and most wholesome part of humanity."

The presence of the representatives from 33 countries was "not a verdict against the nations whose territories are the scene of such grave injuries to elementary rights of the human person," but a manifestation of sympathy for those who suffer religious persecution.

There exists a "conflict opposing the defenders of a totalitarian regime against the champions of a concept of state and society founded, according to the will of God, upon the dignity and liberty of man."

Betty to Switch To Europe Style

By SHAUN McQUILLAN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Feb. 16 (CP) — From now on, it's the continental style for Betty Mitchell, Canada's lon entry in the world amateur speed-skating championships last weekend.

The Winnipeg stenographer placed 12th out of 20 competitors in the tournament at Kongsberg, Norway, aMrie Isakova of Russian won the title.

Betty said she feels that "if there's another opportunity," she will do better when she develops the skating technique used by the Russians, Norwegians and Finns.

"The ice is better in Norway than Canada," said the tall, black haired Betty, "and I think it aided the continental style of skating.

"Anyway, the girls at Kongsberg were really tough opposition. They crouch and take long strides with a graceful rhythmic swing.

"That's the way I'm going to skate in future."

Miss Mitchel lsaid she had never seen any North American skate in similar fashion to the Europeen girls and consequently she would have to develop the new technique on her own.

The Winnipeg girl said she would like to compete in the world championships again when she perfects the new style.

Hot Foods Injure Stomach Lining And May Cause Stomach Cancers

We all know that as yet the exact cause of cancer has not been determined, but we are making great strides in this direction. What we do already know about cancer is that there are a number of factors which seem to contribute to its development. Almost half of the cancer deaths which occur are due to cancer of the stomach. With the early discovery of this condition and operation, fatalities may often be prevented. Hence, it is important to know the early symptoms of this condition. When any of them develop an immediate examination by a physician should be carried out, and this should be done without a moment's delay.

The early symptoms of cancer of the stomach include some type of digestive upset. Sometimes, sickness at the stomach and vomiting occur. The vomited matter may contain material that has a "coffee ground" appearance, which is due to hemorrhage in the stomach.

MAKING A DIAGNOSIS

An X-ray examination should be carried out immediately when symptoms of stomach cancer are present, since an X-ray study is most helpful in making a diagnosis.

Dr. Andrew C. Ivy, of the University of Illinois, thinks that very hot foods may contribute to the development of stomach cancer. Eating hot foods may injure the lining membrane of the stomach. Food that has a temperature of 122 F. or more can damage the tender tissues of the stomach wall. In certain tests made by Dr. Ivy, some persons drank liquid which was as hot as 131 F. or higher, and it is sound advice that too hot foods should not be eaten—not even sipped.

Chronic or long-continued irritation of the stomach from any cause makes it more likely that stomach cancer will develop.

LACK OF ACID

There is also some idea that a lack of acid in the stomach may be a contributing factor to the development of stomach cancer. However, this has by no means been definitely proved. The amount of acid present can be found by pumping out the stomach contents and testing it for the amount of acid present.

Cancer of the stomach is more common in men than in women. On the other hand, it is known that men form more acid in the stomach than women. This also would seem to contradict the idea that low acid would lead to the development of cancer. It has been suggested that the reason more cancer develops in men than in women may be because men are more careless in their eating habits.

Since it is known that the use of hot liquids and foods may cause stomach irritation and predispose to the development of cancer, it is suggested that such practice be strictly avoided.

Love Problems

Married at 18, Happy Wife Writes Views on Teen-Age Love Affairs

A young woman who, at 18, married her school-day sweetheart, and has been a happy wife for seven years, writes me a very fine letter about this business of teen-age romances. Her ideas are so good that I should like to share them.

This is what she says:

"The discussion on teen-age love always interests me because of my experience with it.

"Somehow I don't feel the ages of people have too much to do with the success of a marriage. Some teen-agers are more mature than their older sisters, and sometimes a woman of 30 can't make a go of her marriage while a youngster of 18 will pass her by with flying colors.

"My husband and I met at the age of 14, and from then on he was constantly in my home. At 18 we married, and now at 25 we own our own home, have two sons and are building our future together. Our love has grown with each year, and we are completely happy.

"Frankly, we give credit for our happiness to clean living; no drinking, parties, night clubbing, and, most important of all, complete loyalty to one another. It's so easy to fool around and have fun with someone else's husband or wife, but that leads to all kinds of trouble. We know some think we lead a dull life, but we don't. We make our home and happiness our centre, and I think some day we're coming out on top.

"I could go on and on, but it would always go back to our foundation, that is, love, loyalty and the will to work together in everything."

WISE LETTER

I think this is the wisest and best letter I have ever received on this debatable topic of teen-age marriage, and the writer, Mrs. T. E. C., has put her finger right on the crucial point when she says that "some teen-agers are more mature than their older sisters."

With this I am in complete agreement. If a girl of 18—Mrs. T. E. C.'s age when she married—actually is more mature than the average 18-year-old, and has the kind of ideals and standards outlined in the letter, and, moreover, if the young man she marries is equally mature, and his ideals and standards conform to hers, then there is every reason why the two should make a completely successful team in marriage.

Unfortunately, the average teenager does not have this type of maturity. Instead, she or he is apt to mistake infatuation for serious love, and is ready to leap into marriage with no clearly defined and well-thought-out ideas about it, but merely a lot of half-baked emotions. Please note that I say the "average" teen-ager; I am always ready to concede exceptions when any girl offers me incontrovertible proof that she is one.

So, let's put it this way: Any time two people, whatever their ages, enter a marriage, not just because it will be fun, or because they are temporarily carried away by their feelings, but with the determination to bring to their union "love, loyalty and the will to work together in everything," the odds are on their side.

Tasty Recipes

By IDA BAILEY ALLEN

We are glad to see cereals graduating from the breakfast category and appearing in the dinner dessert menu. Such grains and cereals as oatmeal, grape nuts, shredded wheat and puffed cereal are waiting to serve as ingredients in some of the thriftiest and most delicious dishes you have ever tasted, such as a hearty, satisfying apple dessert, nice to round out a simple meal.

APPLE CRISP

For 4 to 6 servings of Apple Crisp arrange 4 cups sliced tart apples in baking dish. Add 1/r cup water and tbsp. lemon juice, sprinkle with ½ tsp. nutmeg and ¼ tsp. allspice. Blend together 3 tbsp. flour, ¾ cup rolled oats, ½ cup brown sugar, 1/3 cup peanut butter and 2 tbsp. melted butter. Spread over the apples. Bake in moderate oven (350-375 F.) for about 40 min. Serve hot with milk or cream.

Prune Oat Whip isn't much of a name for a really nice dessert, we admit. But make it, try it, and then give it a family name, for there are sure to be requests for encores.

Remove pits from 1½ cups cooked prunes (1 lb. dried). Mash the pulp; add ¾ cup cooked and cooled oatmeal, ¼ cup milk or cream, ¼ tsp. cinnamon and ⅛ tsp. salt. Beat 2 egg whites until stiff, then add gradually 3 tbsp. sugar; continue beating until like marshmallow. Fold into the prune mixture. Chill thoroughly and serve with plain or whipped cream. Yield: 4 to 6 servings.

DELICIOUS PEAR DISH

For a delicious pear dish for 6, peel, halve and core 6 large fresh pears. Dip at once into 3 tbsp. lemon juice to which ¼ cup sugar has been added and dissolved. Dip in ¼ cup melted butter.

Roll in 2½ cups crushed corn flakes. Arrange pears cut side up on shallow baking pan. Bake at 350 to 375 F. for 20 to 25 min., or until pears are tender but not soft. Serve with a lemon cream sauce prepared by beating 1/3 cup confectioners' sugar into 1 cup sour cream, then flavor with 2 tbsp. lemon juice. The whole thing adds up to a pretty fancy and different dessert, nice enough for a real company meal.

For a quickly-prepared and good dessert, cut shredded wheat biscuit in halves lengthwise with scissors. Place half on serving plate, add spoonful of apple slices or applesauce; top with second half, and additional slices or sauce. Serve with whipped cream or with light cream to pour over.

Expect Report on U. S. Program To Aid Backward Areas

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., Feb. 17—(AP)—The United States will be ready early next week to give the United Nations a broad general picture of President Truman's "bold new program" to aid backward areas.

This was disclosed today by an American delegation spokesman. He said Willard Thorp, Assistant Secretary of State, now is in Washington drafting a speech which will amplify the program for the Economic and Social Council.

Informed quarters said no concrete program has yet taken shape. But Thorp definitely will give the Council a "preliminary" outline of what Truman had in mind.

Beauty Hints

Business Girl Needs Magic Carpet Nothing More Magic Than Dancing

The business girl needs an avocation—a leisure-hours magic carpet to whisk her "away from it all." One of the better buys in magic carpets is the modern dance, for it not only banishes boredom, but provides fun, relaxation, streamlining activity, and an opportunity for self-expression at the same time.

Mrs. Molly Lynn, instructor in modern dancing at the Washington Workshop in Washington, D. C., calls it an "occupational corrective" that attacks some of the major weaknesses of a sedentary job.

"A working girl sits all day in an office," Mrs. Lynn explained. "Then she sits on a bus, sits in the movies, and goes home and sits some more. With modern dance, she can exercise the entire body, achieve graceful posture and movement, and find release from physical and mental tensions."

BOOSTS MORALE

While you're leaping right out of workaday routine, you're also toning the muscles that will give you a 25-inch waistline. Your morale gets a boost, too—through having a skill of your own.

If the thought of topping off a hectic day at the office with an hour of spirited activity leaves you limp, listen . . .

"Girls often come in saying they are simply worn out and don't know how they're going to get through the evening," Mrs. Ida Berkowitz, Workshop Director, pointed out. "But after class they leave refreshed, and are probably better workers the next day. And once they start dancing after work, they don't want to give it up."

HOLDS APPEAL

The main emphasis in modern dance is on the creative aspects. You may feel self-conscious at first . . . but not for long. Working with a group, you soon capture the group spirit and lose any self-consciousness. And while a cut-and-dried exercise class would lack appeal, the rhythmic and creative approach to modern dance stimulates further physical activity. You WANT to exercise.

Workshop dance students range from 18 through 40-year-olds, but there's really no age limit. The group includes a number of housewives, particularly young mothers who find that an avocation helps balance their lives and make them more interesting people.

At the Workshop—a cooperative where classes include painting, drawing, sculpture, acting, creative writing, modern dance—correlation of the arts is stressed. In modern dance, for instance, you get a feeling of an art form that helps you develop a keener appreciation of the other arts.

And while you're relaxing and having fun, you're also building up a sound background if you ever want to develop the skill professionally. Who knows—an avocation may turn out to be the vocation you've been looking for.

Mitchum To Prison Honor Farm

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 17 (AP)—Robert Mitchum, who started his movie career as a cowboy, began his stay in the Wayside Prison Honor Farm by milking a cow—and expertly, too.

Denying he had ever milked, tht husky actor showed considerable skill in helping Daisy Mae, a prison farm cow, produce a bucket of milk.

Mitchum and seven other prisoners were taken to the farm yesterday from the County jail. Today the film hero begins his new job of making cement blocks. He will toil with 24 other prisoners seven hours a day.

Mitchum hated to leave his cell in the jail narcotics ward. He said he felt some of the men at the Honor Camp might resent his being in the movies. Also, "My wife came to see me every day there." She can only visit him on Sunday at the form.

The Honor farm includes such evening amusements for prisoners as movies, boxing and wrestling, a library, card playing, or a session ah the farm school.

Beef steers headed for the nation's tables jam the stockyards in Kansas City in a rush to market far beyond the normal seasonal numbers. Stockmen, uneasy over declining beef prices, reported that in some extreme cases losses ranged as high as $160 and $170 a head on feeder cattle coming into the market. Receipts—estimated at 19,000 head—included 300 carloads of grain-fed steers, the largest supply received at Kansas City in a February in the memory of stockyards officials. —AP Wirephoto.

Revive Base Metals Mines in Windermere

INVERMERE, B. C., Feb. 17 — Mining in the Windermere District is showing a revival of activity which promises to renew its reputation as a base metals area.

Gwillim Lake Gold Mines Ltd., have taken options on the Mineral King, Hot Punch and Delphine properties situated on the main branch and North Fork of Toby Creek.

These mines are accessible from Invermere, the Mineral King being 27 miles West and the Hot Punch 25 miles in the same direction.

Production will start this Spring on the Mineral King and Hot Punch group with approximately 40 men employed. C. E. Gordon Brown, the Company Geologist, has established an office at Invermere.

The Hot Punch group consists of nine claims on the North fork of Toby Creek at an elevation of 6000 feet. The controlling structure of the deposit is a strong shear which can b etraced on the surface for more than 2500 feet. Narrow lenses occur within the shear. High grade has been shipped in the past from several shafts and adits located in the shear.

The Mineral King group consists of 11 claims situated on the main branch of Toby. The ore in the group occurs as a replacement in limestone. It is exposed over a width of 10 feet or more for 60 feet in the outcrop and for a similar distance in an adit 40 feet below.

It is planned to ship medium grade lead-zinc ore from this property during development which will be directed toward the location of sufficient additional ore to erect a mill.

The Delphine group of three claims situated on the North Fork has produced high grade ore during the early years of the century. Diamond drilling will be undertaken on this group.

To Start Preparing Carr Defence

OTTAWA, Feb. 17 (CP)—Carl J. Herman, 28-year-old Toronto lawyer who graduated from Osgoode Hall Law School two years ago, arrived here today to begin preparation of Sam Carr's defence against charges arising from the 1946 Royal Commission Espionage probe.

For Parents

By GARRY CLEVELAND MYERS, Ph.D.

Teach Young Child Meaning of No And Spank if Conduct Destructive

The child who is healthy, has good routine habits, has learned the meaning of "No;" the child with parents who act toward him as one, who are calm, self-controlled and consistent, who provide him with a family atmosphere of security and love, will rarely or never have tantrums.

As a rule, the child learns to have tantrums with increasing force and frequency because he has won his way by them. He begins this learning in his early weeks or months.

Teach yourself the meaning of "No." When you tell the infant or toddler he can't have what he wants and then, later, give it to him after he has cried, screamed and worked up a violent rage, you have practiced him in having tantrums. If you are going to let the youngster have his way eventually, let him have it right away. The longer he battles to have his way the greater his victory when he finally wins.

GENEROUS AFFECTON

Work out a few definite routines for your baby or tot. You and your husband should agree on the few things this child must never do and many things he may properly do and will like to do and then let him alone. Have your physician check on him regularly.

Be generous with affection toward him when he is good. Be sure he feels he is loved and loved as much as is a brother or sister. Help him learn self-reliance physically and emotionally, and to be with other children of his age after he can walk. Read [illegible] with him and [illegible] fancy.

Out of such [illegible] often divert him [illegible] to have a tantrum and break down his resistance when he seems to be getting stubborn. You can avoid provoking rage in him if you will learn how to win his cooperation and not induce him, unawares, to be stubborn. (My special bulletin, "Stubbornness," may be had in a stamped envelope.)

ACT WISELY

Give the tot time for emotional adjustment. Don't suddenly announce, for example, "No more," but say instead, "Just two more jumps."

If you could act wisely when the youngster has his first or nearly-first tantrum, application of a shock—a sharp smack on his bare bottom or dash of a glass of water in his face—might prove effective. But if it is the fifth, tenth or the twentieth tantrum, such measures might only enrage the child more. A safer way is just to work on yourself and all other adults present to act as if nobody noticed the enraged youngster at all, making sure, of course, he does not get what was forbidden him. This is the hard way for the parent, since the good effect might not be manifest at once yet it will work eventually if the parent can have perfect self-mastery.

If the tot in a rage endangers himself physically (some do) or attacks other persons or destroys property, a quick, effective spanking might be desirable—not for his being angry, but for his dangerous and destructive acts. (My bulletins, "Tantrums" and "How to Control Your Temper," may be had in a stamped envelope.)

Make Chemical Change in Bread

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Editor

BELLEVILLE, N. J., Feb. 17 (AP)—Bread in the United States is taking a revolutionary chemical change without anyone realizing it.

The agene, a gas used for a quarter of a century to age white flour, is coming out. Substituting is an entirely new gas for aging, known as chorline dioxide.

The change is good for dogs, cats, rabbits and ferrets. It will not give them the running fits they occasionally got from the agene-treated flour.

But this new white flour doesn't do a thing for human beings, as far as science has been able to discover. The change was made on the theory that what is bad for a dog may be bad for a man. It was made despite long experiments that failed to show any human damage from agene.

VOLUNTARY CHANGE

The change was made voluntarily, by American flour-makers and their associates.

British millers, who discovered the running fits in dogs more than two years ago, have taken no such action. Their medical advisers say maybe taking out the agene gas is a bit hasty.

However, British authorities now are considering whether to give the British flour-makers two years to make the alterations.

Aug. 1 is the deadline set by the Food and Drug Administration for stopping all use of agene in the United States. Most of the big millers already have changed.

This change cannot be made overnight. Both gases, agene and the new one, are generated by machines, so that the white flour as it is ground is bathed in the fumes. The building of the new machines began many months ago. Hundreds of them are required for the entire American flour-milling industry.

Kimberley Trade Board Seeks House To House Delivery of Express; Increased Butter Quota Granted

KIMBERLEY, B.C., Feb. 17 — There was an exceptionally large attendance at the monthly meeting of the local Board of Trade. Many important matters were on the agenda.

In view of the increased population, the Board is seeking house-to-house delivery of express.

Kimberley's butter quota is to be increased due to applications made by the Board.

Reporting on the 49th annual meeting of East and West Kootenay Associated Boards held in Rossland last week, R. Stephan reported Kimberley will be host for the 50th annual. He also reported on the proposed establishment of an East and West Kootenay Tourist Bureau.

HIGHWAY WORK

Improvement of the main highway near the Black Bear Bridge has been requested, also deepening of the channel of the Mark Creek beyond the city's reconstruction work.

Ladies' and men's waiting rooms will be installed at the local tourist bureau this year. The Kimberley Library Association and the Red Cross have requested space in the building if it is enlarged.

The financial statement showed a $200 operating deficit. The 1949 budget had a proposed $1250 minimum. Dues were set at $15 for business and $5 for individual members.

Work will commence immediately on the booklet to be published for tourist information.

BUS SERVICE

Application of Star Stages to operate a bus service to Golden on alternate days to the present service, plus a special weekend service was approved.

Ten new members were introduced.

Regimentation Of The Reds

Move by Canadian Communists to withdraw their support from the C.C.F. was an interesting example of the way in which Red opinion is regimented. The Party's change of tactics was "announced" by Tim Buck, speaking with the voice of authority. It was not a decision arrived at by open discussion and a vote. It was a "line" laid down by an individual. To have their political action settled for them in this way is, of course, no new experience for Communists. Slavish acceptance of dictates from above is what they mean when they use the word "democracy". It is truly amazing that any Canadian, brought up to be a free citizen with a mind of his own, can continue his membership in a Party of this reactionary and benighted variety.

The practical effect of Mr. Buck's new line remains to be seen, but presumably cannot be very great. Canadian Communists, though dangerous in trade unions and other voluntary societies, fortunately exert small influence in politics. In few constituencies do they have the opportunity of voting for a candidate wearing their own label. If it is their intention hereafter to support only such candidates for political office, some of them will simply have to stay away from the polls, and that will be no loss to the nation. If, however, they intend to vote even when no avowed Communist is in the field, it is hard to see how they can avoid continuing to give their backing to C.C.F.-ers as the nearest approach to their own Party. True, the C.C.F. may not suit them on foreign policy, but neither do the Liberals nor the Progressive Conservatives.

C.C.F. Leader Coldwell may well be grateful that Mr. Buck has lifted his curse from the Socialists. Yet the Communist switch cannot make much difference to the thoughtful voter. When Socialism and Communism are linked in Canadian political argument, as they often are, no one ever intends to imply that Mr. Coldwell and his friends disloyally put Canada's interest second to Russia's as the Communists do. What is meant is simply that Communism and Socialism are two forms of the same economic opinion and that they work, though by different methods, toward the same kind of controlled society. As this is as true now as it was previously, the benefit derived by the C.C.F. from Mr. Buck's change of line may be negligible.

Modern Manners

There is no need to knock when you enter the door of a business office. Just open the door and walk in. This does not refer to a business office door marked "private", however.

Sees Duck Lake Agreement Endangered by Committee

To the Editor:

Sir—In your issue of Feb. 3 you printed an account of an interview between the Chairman of the Nelson Board of Trade with three members of the Nelson Fish and Wild Life Protective Association and three members of the Creston Board of Trade Fact Finding Committee.

"Fact Twisting Committee" would be more appropriate. The Creston Rod and Gun Club has negotiated a tentative contract with the Creston Reclamation Company, which agrees to the reservation of 1700 acres at the North end of Duck Lake, subject to the approval of the other Game Clubs throughout B. C.

We, on our side, agreed to the reclamation of the balance of the Duck Lake area, all of which bade fair to end in an amicable settlement satisfactory to all concerned, when this so-called Fact Finding Committee came into the picture with their high-pressure campaign, doing their best to make our Club give up our claim to the 1700 acres. I ask you, readers, Mr. Editor, would this Fact Finding Committee be making such strenuous efforts if 95 per cent of the residents of our Valley were in favor of reclamation?

Our Club is very grateful to all the game and other organizations for their loyal support in this controversy, and trust that all lovers of wild life will not allow themselves to be stampeded into changing their attitude.

In conclusion, I would like to say that with an increasing population, it is imperative that nature lovers throughout the Province work hard to establish natural sanctuaries to protect our wild life, so it will not disappear as it has done in older settled areas.

Thanking you, Mr. Editor.

WALTER V. JACKSON.
Director, Creston Valley Rod and Gun Club.

THE PLOWMAN

(Any similarity to Gray's Elegy is entirely coincidental.)

This plowman, I will have you know,
Is neither weary, tired, or slow;
But plows through snow with fiendish glee,
To block each path repeatedly.

No sooner do I have it clear
Than woe is me, who does appear?
This plowman to my passageway,
To block it for another day.

The thing that keeps me from despair
Is when the roll is called up there,
The Pearly Gates I surely know
Will not be blocked with mounds of snow,
For the plowman won't be there this time,
But shovelling coal in a warmer clime.

SHORTAGE OF WEAVERS

Shortage of weavers is one reason why rugs are still scarce and generally poor in quality. In wartime many weavers were weaned away to war work, and many of them never returned to weaving.

Questioner, Nelson—What was the snowfall this time last year, and what is it now?

Writer, Cranbrook—What is the length of time for an Editor to keep a manuscript? I sent a story away six months ago, and have not heard since, so think it must be lost, or it would have come back or been paid for on acceptance.

It all depends on a number of circumstances: the temperament of the Editor or his reader, the kind of publication—daily, weekly, monthly, quarterly—and, last but not least, the stamped, self-addressed envelope which the author should enclose. Most editorial offices are fairly prompt in making decisions, especially if they publish daily or weekly issues. Monthly and quarterly magazines must keep contributors waiting longer, and generally the longer the better, though the delay cannot necessarily be always regarded with optimism. As for payment, there is no hard and fast rule. Either a month after acceptance or a month after publication is the general rule—and if the magazine is a monthly, and payment is after publication, you will realize an author has often to wait a long while for the check.

Believes U. S. Would Join Battle If Major Conflict Developed

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press News Analyst

State Secretary Acheson has entered the warm debate over the projected North Atlantic Alliance with the declaration that the United States proposes to make it an effective security pact.

This followed Monday's Senate discussion which demonstrated that there was strong opposition for the United States to making any pledge which would lead other members of the Alliance to expect American armed aid to be automatic in case they are attacked. That is to say, the opponents wouldn't pledge the country to war in advance of the event, but would make the decision when the crisis arose.

Because of this there is uneasiness among other prospective Alliance members who want absolute assurances of American aid. The countries concerned are Canada, Britain, France, Belgium, The Netherlands and Luxembourg. Norway and Denmark also are considering joining, and there might be others.

NO REAL DIFFERENCES

Acheson emphasized that "there are no real differences in regard to the objectives which this Government is seeking to accomplish." He cited President Truman's inauguration speech as a principal statement of American policy. Truman then said the primary purpose of regional defence agreements under the U.N. Charter "is to provide unmistakable proof of the joint determination of the free countries to resist armed attack from any quarter."

The signs now are that the prospective members of the Alliance will have to be satisfied with this clear declaration of determination.

One inevitably recalls the world-rocking debate over this same issue in the United States Senate back in 1920. That body then refused to ratify the German peace treaty mainly because it included the Covenant of the League of Nations. The Covenant in turn contained an article pledging the signatory Powers "to respect and preserve as against external aggression the territorial integrity and existing political independence of all members of the League. The Senate wouldn't swallow that.

But when the Second World War came, the United States was on the firing line without having committed herself in advance. Most observers believe self-interest, if nothing else, would again see her on the battlefront should a major conflict develop.

MEN'S FASHIONS TURNING TO BACK ACCENTS, TURNED-UP COLLARS

By MARILYN LAMBORN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO, Feb. 16 (CP)— Men can quit laughing at women's clothes.

At a male fashion show here, men wore the pants all right, but they borrowed a few feminine tricks when they pulled inspiration from the past, adopted the high, turned-up collar and —so help us— had fullness pushed to the back.

But with men the style is dubbed "the bold look," or more, exactly, "rugged in a dignified way."

"To make business men's leisure a pleasure," the third annual Canadian Men's Apparel Fair last night presented large patch pockets—often as many as four—on the jacket, mustard-yellow vests with brass buttons and deep-toned sweaters. There were dashing shirred yokes set in jacket-backs down to a wide half belt and big, floppy collars to sit up for stormy weather.

Plus fours and posh plus-eights will try a come-back on golf links.

Another touch borrowed from feminine style books is the "sling coat," a sports number which can be worn somewhat as a cape when arms are thrust through straps and the sleeves let dangle. This "sling" was in a black and white checker-board pattern.

For the successful businessman, dignity and ultra conservatism is the clothes keyword. Shoulders will be narrower and more natural, but the rope shoulder will give a square effect.

Long jackets will add inches to height while a trimmer cut will accentuate and draw in the waistline.

To the tune of Clair de Lune, the models wearing evening clothes walked the runway. Highlight was a set of tails about 16 inches from the floor, a white peaked collar and full evening coat with gathered fullness in the back to give it an "old look, theatrical touch."

U. S. CUSTOM OFFICERS PLEAD FOR LET UP IN MAILING LIQUOR PARCELS

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16 (AP)— The United States Customs Service thinks gratitude is a fine thing, but it wishes foreigners would quit mailing liquor to their American friends.

Reporting it had seized "hundreds" of one- and two-bottle mail parcels recently, the Customs Service pleaded for a let up.

Acting Commissioner Frank Dow urged Americans with friends and relatives abroad to advise them that alcoholic beverages simply can't be sent through the United States mail.

Dow expressed the belief that kindly motives and ignorance of United States postal laws combined to produce the beverage barrage.

Nevertheless, stern duty requires customs mail examiners to "detain" —and later destroy—the packages unless the persons to whom they are addressed go through an extensive and expensive release procedure.

European countries were the principal points of origin for the wine, brandy and liquor packages, although some have been coming from Canada and Mexico.

Remove Bonds On Br. Guiana Amerindians!

By BURCHELL O. WILLS

GEORGETOWN, British Guiana, Feb. 17 (CP)—"Western civilization" —radios, penicillin, safety razors and four-speed tractors—soon may remove the bonds of segregation from British Guiana's 15,600 Amerindians.

For years the Amerindians, aboriginal Guianese, have lived on Government-sponsored reservations as protection against disease and inter-tribal warfare. Given reservation rights, they were extended general protection in dealings with other residents of the colony.

Government officials say they realize segregation can not be terminated overnight. It will take years. However, their long-range plan is to introduce Western ways to the primitive natives scattered along the Brazilian and Venezuelan borders.

The seven Amerindian tribes, speaking seven distinct languages and dialects, are located on 14 reservations ranging in size from one to 4500 square miles.

Authorities intend reducing the number of reservations to three. Recommendations of Phillip Storer Peberdy, Amerindian welfare officer, have influenced the Government's decision to streamline this jungle civilization, discovered by Sir Walter Raleigh late in the 16th Century.

Peberdy's first act was to hack through miles of untravelled jungle on a survey to determine detailed proposals for guiding the Amerindians to greater economic and cultural advancement.

So far, the Government has not released details of the modernization scheme. However, reliable sources believe it includes introduction of suitable cultural and local administrative facilities. Under this policy, the colony's reservations will be regarded as temporary sanctuaries.

Eventually, Amerindians on reservations and their tribal brothers will take their places in the general life of the community.

OTTAWA, Feb. 17 (CP)—Government Officials have no reason at the moment to belive there will bt any interference with the United Kingdom buying Canadian wheat with Marshall Plan dollars. It was learned today.

No action has been taken up to the present which would lead to the belief that the United Kingdom will be hondicapped in completing her contract to buy 140,000,000 bushels of Canadian wheat at $2 a buchel in the next crop year.

TERRITORIES AS 11TH PROVINCE POSSIBLE, SENATOR CONTENDS

OTTAWA, Feb. 16 (CP)—Russia's development of Siberia indicates that Canada may yet welcome her Northwest Territories as a new Province, Senator W. A. Buchanan (L—Alberta) told the Senate today.

He cited that possibility in answer to those who contend that Union of Canada and Newfoundland will mark the last addition of a new Province.

Senator Buchanan also advocated that some of the Newfoundlanders who have opposed Union be named to the Senate by the Government.

Senator Buchanan said inclusion of Anti-Union Newfoundlanders in the Senate would give recognition to the viewpaint "of a very important element." It would mean a departure but it would be to the advantage of Parliament and in this instance it could well be done.

Russia's development of Siberia indicated possibilities of what Canada might do with her Northland. She had only tapped the resources of the N.W.T. "The cauntry should encourage the development both of the North and Newfoundland.

"With Newfoundland, our future should be greater than ever," Senator Buchanan said, "It should be a boon not only for the island but for Canada as a whole."

He said some Newfoundlanders had proved sturdy citizens of Western Canada.

If Canada were to have a poet Laureate it would certainly be Prof. E. J. Pratt of the University of Toronto, a native of the island. But he was only one example of the men it has already contributed to Canada.

He predicted that Confederation would bring a new phase of Newfoundland development quite equal to anything in the past.

In 1833, the Royal William, a Canadian ship, was the first vessel to navigate the Atlantic entirely under steam-power.

70-Game Schedule Planned in N. H. L.

TORONTO, Feb. 17 (CP)—A 70-game schedule for the National Hockey League instead of the present 60, is seen as a possibility next year by Conn Smythe.

"I think we can work in five more games at home and the same on the road," the President of Toronto Maple Leafs said yesterday in an interview.

"It will help to take care of the present demand for tickets. We cannot accommodate all who want to see the N.H.L. teams in action under the present set-up and an extra five games at the (Maple Leaf) Gardens may be the answer to the problem."

With a 70-game schedule, Smythe foresees the necessity of extra players for each club. Leafs would carry four forward lines and six defencemen.

No Sporting Spirit in European Hockey Wolves Claim at Series

By WILLIAM BOSS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

STOCKHOLM, Feb. 17 (CP)—Some members of Canada's Sudbury Wolves say the sporting spirit has disappeared from European hockey if the present world championship series is any sample.

Four members of the Wolves, in a bull session in their hotel room in the small hours of this morning, all claimed that factors other than play alone helped shape the present plight of the Canadians in the World Tournament—one loss and one tie for two games in the round-robin six-team finals.

Defenceman Joe Tergesen, goalie Al Picard and forwards Joe di-Bastiani and Tom Russell of the Wolves displayed mixed emotions over their plight.

The European refereeing to date has persuaded the quartet the Europeans have decided that the world championship won't return to North America at any price. A year ago R.C.A.F. Flyers won the world crown for Canada by defeating Czechoslovakia.

The Canadian players say the refereeing has been inconsistent and although the players have been told that Canadian Amateur Hockey Association rules govern their play, such rules have not been allowed, specifically in the case of interference.

They say the same type of play will sometimes be penalized and sometimes allowed by the same referee.

Russell said: "It's reached a point now that we are afraid to fight for the puck."

ABUSE DIFFERENCES

The Canadians also charge that the European referees abuse language differences. Tergesen claimed that one official, who in the dressing room spoke fluent English, made out on the ice that he did not understand the language.

Tergesen added: "Perhaps we do play rougher than the Europeans but that's no reason to be penalized for a play which the Europeans can get away with."

Reinforcements In Playoff Hockey Discussed

By AL VICKERY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

WINNIPEG, Feb. 17 (CP)—With playoff time coming up in Canada, a big question among hockey men is: "Are reinforcements at playoff time necessary?"

"Yes," says C. J. Boyle of Fort William, President of the Thunder Bay Amateur Hockey Association.

"No," says J. J. McFadyen of Galt, Ont., President of the Ontario branch.

And both sides are getting plenty of support with the two Coastal Associations — British Columbia and the Maritimes — siding with the "Ayes". And the majority of the rest voting "Nay."

When the C.A.H.A. held its semi-annual meeting recently in Winnipeg, delegates then voted in favor of strengthening "deserving" branches when they went into interprovincial play, with the result that the Maritime, Thunder Bay and British Columbia representatives can add players from within their own branch.

Last year, Port Arthur Bruins, with three borrowed men, won the Canadian junior title, downing Ontario's Barrie Flyers in four straight games in the final.

Backed by Frank Sargent of Port Arthur, a life member and former President of the C.A.H.A., Boyle explained:

"The main reason we apply for reinforcement for our juniors is that the Lakehead, with a population of only slightly more than 60,000, is supporting four Junior A Clubs, while much larger centres such as Regina and Winnipeg are only supporting one and three, respectively.

"Too, we regard Thunder Bay as, with periodic exceptions, a non-importing branch, while others import consistently from without and within their branch . . . Another reason is that before reinforcements were permitted, Thunder Bay junior hockey was almost relegated to Class B, and we always held the fear that eventually it would be."

NEED PRIVILEGES

McFadyen is opposed to playoff reinforcements, but "I believe something can be worked out to give Thunder Bay, B. C. and the Maritimes special privileges before the season opens, either by allowing them more branch-to-branch transfers or extending the date for branch-to-branch imports.

"We are all aware that B. C. and the Maritimes are poor developing branches, while Thunder Bay is a good developing branch but handicapped by a small population and with very few teams to draw from within their branch."

Also opposed to reinforcements is Jimmy Dunn of Winnipeg, President of the Manitoba Association, who feels Port Arthur Bruins' recent victories over Regina Pats in their two exhibition contests back up his statement.

"Strengthening, even at the Lakehead, should be done at the start of the season. Why, three of the four Lakehead teams are sponsored by professional organizations. And if the pros can't help build up their juniors to compete on even terms with other clubs, then they shouldn't be in there.

"We've got 72 minor teams operating throughout Manitoba, and 48 intermediate teams, compared to none at the Lakehead. I believe if they'd scout around such places as Kenora, Dryden, Fort Frances and Sioux Lookout, they'd pick up some pretty fair talent."

The British Council has awarded scholarships to 241 graduates or others of like status from 64 countries, for the year 1948-49.

Leafs Hopes Dampened By Spokes 3-1 Win

Standings:

	W	L	D	F	A	Pct.
Spokane	35	15	1	252	187	.696
Kimberley	17	19	1	164	170	.473
Nelson	17	22	0	148	168	.436
Trail	12	25	2	164	206	.333

Two third period goals by Spokane right winger Hughie Scott gave the league-leading Spokane Flyers a 3-1 win over the Nelson Maple Leafs Thursday night at Nelson. Bad shooting and good goaltending by Ron Pickell held the Leafs from winning the Western International Hockey League game which could have put them at the heels of the Kimberley Dynamiters, but instead sank them one and a half games out of second place.

Speedy Cy Rouse potted the first goal of the game at the 2:38 mark of the first period with a shot to the far corner when no one was in his way.

Nelson tried hard to even the score, with Roy Allen coming close, and their chances were increased when Ralph Luke got the gate for holding Spence Tatchell. Ron Pickell handled al the rubber handily in the Nelson power play. Raph Luke again took his place in the sin bin for elbowing Jerry Lubeck. Again Nelson applied the heat, but the puck didn't cross the line.

Pat Petrucci's penalty in the second period proved costly to Spokane, as Nelson's power play paid off with Haldane pushing the disc past Pickell on a play with Hergert setting him up. Just previous to the goal, rubber was flying at Pickell from all angles.

Nelson kept putting on the pressure, and Bill Vickers grazed the post on a screened drive.

TWO MEN SHORT

At the 18:26 mark of the sandwich session, Neil McClenaghan boarded Scoop Bentley heavily but when Bill Snider tore at the Nelson rookie, he also got the gate for elbowing. After Bentley revived from the crash, he received a chorus of boos when he said something to McClenaghan.

Less than a minute later, Carl Cirrullo and Jerry Lubeck went off the ice together, to leave both clubs two men short.

Against Nelson almost forged ahead, with both Spence Tatchell and Fred Hergert barely missing.

In the beginning of the third period, both Roy Allen and Bill Haldane got breakaways on Pickell, but neither could find the open spaces in the net.

After a goal mouth scramble, Hughie Scott backhanded an ice-shaver which nicked the post at the 10:26 point of the final canto. Scott combined again with Petrucci and caught the far corner on a clear shot.

The Leafs tried in vain to catch up in the scoring, and even put five forwards on the ice, but time ran out too fast.

The next W.I.H.L. games will be Trail at Nelson and Spokane at Kimberley Saturday night.

Lineups:

Spokane—Pickell; Blackett, Bentley; McBride; Rouse, Snider; Cirrullo, Luke, Petrucci, Scott, Rypien, Barchyn.

Nelson — Seaby; Tatchell, Barefoot; Hergert; Haldane, McClenaghan; Nelson, Bicknell, Vickers, Lubeck, Allen.

Bantams, Midgets Season's Play All but Complete

Regular games in the Bantam and Midget ranks of kid hockey in Nelson are all but complete.

Two games in which the Lions beat Fairview Athletic Club 6-0 and Panthers gave the same squad a 4-1 drubbing completed Bantam League play for the season, and playoffs will start soon. Exception is a game between Lions and Dodgers necessitated because of loss of records of a game.

The Midget League will likely end without completion of six games left to play. Completion of the playoffs will be left until the outcome of the Midget and Juvenile rep teams playoffs are known. The playoffs start Monday against Trail at Nelson.

Ski Slants

For the first time this Winter the weatherman has crossed us up. We were all set to hold the Nelson City Championship Tournament, but the last fall of snow put our courses out of shape. The date has been set back one week, so, on the 27th our junior members will have their competition followed by exhibition ski jumping.

All members are asked to turn out Sunday and lend a hand to put the jump and slalom in shape — maybe we'll even get a ride on the tow in the afternoon.

Yes sir, we have been working night and day to put the tow in running order and we hope to take a ride Sunday afternoon.

Everyone is a bit skeptical about snow conditions for skiing since the big thaw—but with a good wax job and a little tramping the courses will be plenty speedy.

We're not making and predictions about the jump, but, the boys are hoping to make close to 150 feet on the big take-off. Quite a few of our members are practising on the small jump and doing very well. With another weekend to practice, we should see some good leaps by these fellows a week from Sunday.

We hope to see a good gang out this Sunday—just a word of caution, don't use the jumping hill until it has been well packed down.

Plows Hold Up Lepine, Shearer's Dogs Win

OTTAWA, Feb. 17 (CP) — Big Bill Shearer of Norfolk, Mass., crossed the finish line of the International Dog Derby today with a totaal elapsed time 40 seconds better than Wilf Lepine of Quebec City, and was declared winner of the $1000 90-mile race.

Shearer picked up more than seven minutes on Lepine in today's heat, clocking a combined time for the three heats of eight hours, 40 minutes and 47 seconds.

Lepine's time was eight hours, 41 minutes and 27 seconds.

Immediately on crossing the finish line Lepine registered a protest that half way around the course his path was blocked for about two minutes by a highways snow plow.

Officials said there was nothing in the rules regarding such incidents but it had been agreed before the race that any time lost because of vehicles would be taken into consideration.

The judges immediately found the driver of the snow plow, and conferred with him in order to decide on Lepine's protest, however they later ruled that as no one had held a stop watch on the delay no definite allowance could be made.

Earlier the judges declared Lepine the winner of the Derby but a re-check of their figures showed that Shearer had a better elapsed time.

Would Restore Self-Government For Newfoundland

LONDON, Feb. 17 (Reuters)—The House of Lords today gave formal first reading to a private Bill seeking to restore self-government to Newfoundland, which is to be incorporated in Canada. There was no discussion.

As few private Members' Bills ever become law, the Bill, introduced by Lord Sempill, was considered a political gesture, without great significance. It is called "The Newfoundland Liberation Bill".

Named Secretary Royal Commission

OTTAWA, Feb. 17 (CP)—Appointment of George Richard Hunter, 32-year-old Winnipeg lawyer as Secretary to the Royal Commission on National Transportation, was announced today by Transport Minister Chevrier.

Every one knows that "Caterpillar" Diesel Tractors are as tough and rugged as they come. But even the most dependable machine needs a checkup regularly.

When there is a lull in the work schedule of your "Caterpillar" . . . that's a mighty good time to have it checked over, needed adjustments made, worn parts replaced. Market Trends

TORONTO, Feb. 17 (CP) — Industrials climbed steadily upwards on gains ranging from fractions to point on the Toronto Stock Exchange. Trading was slow but tended to increase late in the session as a wider list of issues chalked up gains. Base metals and Western oils brightened on scattered advances and golds firmed from early weakness.

NEW YORK, Feb. 17 (AP) — An advancing stock market had scarcely started rolling ahead when buying interest faltered.

Gains of fractions to more than a point still held a majority but in most cases the widest advances were cut down.

MONTREAL, Feb. 17 (CP) — Securities edged into higher ground during slow dealings. Mining sales were light and the majority of issues were a few cents better.

MONTREAL, Feb. 17 (CP)—Dominion long-term issues continued strong in light trading on the bond market with 3s of '62, '63 and '66 up a shade.

Other sections were about steady in dull dealings.

VANCOUVER, Feb. 17 (CP)—Renewed interest brought values to a high level in light opening activity. Base metals were featureless.

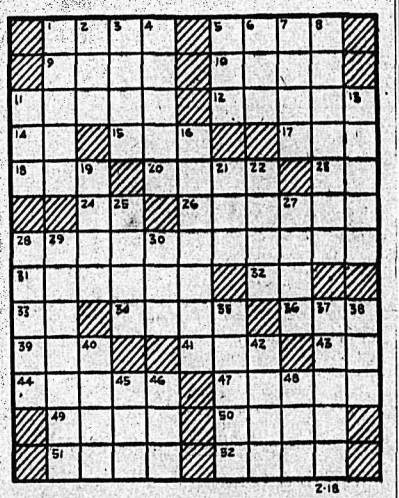
Saturday's Answer



DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE—Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Bank Manager at Invermere for 25 Years, Ashworth To Retire March 31

Arthur Ashworth, Manager of the Imperial Bank at Invermere for the past 25 years, has been notified that his superannuation will take effect on March 31.

Mr. and Mrs. Ashworth plan to reside at the Coast, probably at Victoria and will be leaving the District shortly after the end of March.

W. S. Rogers of Edmonton has been appointed Manager of the local branch. He will arrive about the middle of March to take over the position. Mr. Rogers is married and has a daughter in Junior High School.

During his residence in the Valley, Mr. Ashworth has been an active community worker and many district organizations will regret his departure. Before coming to Invermere he was on the staff of the bank at Cranbrook.

One of the earliest ways of measuring time was by burning a stick.

CHINOOK WIND UNCOVERS PANSY GARDEN

SPOKANE, Feb. 17 (AP)—Snow was piled deep over George Thompson's yard yesterday.

Then a chinook wind sliced it off.

Today, Thompson said, he found in the yard where the snow had been, a pansy in full bloom.

Reverses Evidence

WINNIPEG, Feb. 16 (CP)—James Edward Campbell, 18-year-old Rochester, Minn., youth, testified yesterday he had struck Edgar Frenette of St. Boniface, Man., over the head with his fist May 30 last during an attempt at theft.

Campbell, now serving a seven-year sentence for manslaughter arising out of the death of 28-year-old Frenette, thus reversed the evidence given at his own trial last Fall.

Campbell was flown from penitentiary at Prince Albert, Sask., after being called as a witness by Mr. Justice W. J. Donovan to testify at the murder trial of his alleged accomplice, Daniel Patrick Palso, 16. The Crown alleges Palso was implicated in the attempt to rob Frenette in his hotel.

In evidence at his own trial, Campbell alleged Palso had struck Frenette with his fist. Palso, in a written statement made June 2, said Campbell had struck the blow with a piece of pipe.

Campbell said today no weapon was used, and that he had "lied" at his own trial.

Questions and Answers

Supplied by the Fact Finding Committee
For Nelson City Transportation

Question Will present street car employees be laid off and lose their seniority?

Answer No. Employment will be provided.

Question Will proposed route inconvenience citizens whose homes are situated on the present street railway?

Answer Yes to some extent but many more people will benefit than be inconvenienced.

Question Is the proposed schedule going to be slower or faster?

Answer Faster. Thirty minutes from 6 to 10 a.m., twenty minutes from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. and thirty minutes from 6 p.m. to midnight.

Question Will the present half hour bus service be permanent?

Answer No. Two buses will be employed to provide a 20 minute service.

Question Why motor buses rather than trolley buses, when Nelson has its own power plant?

Answer The advantages are many particularly to Nelson. (1) No capital or upkeep expenditure. (2) More flexible. Nelson is growing and routes can be changed to meet varying conditions. Motor buses will release much electrical energy for industrial and domestic advantages which will be more profitable.

Question Is it not generally conceded that Nelson has plenty of electrical energy and that it costs us nothing to operate street cars or trolley buses?

Answer When our new unit is completed we will be be able to utilize the full extent of our water rights of approximately 10,000 h.p. It is the City's intention to make this extra power available for the inevitable growth of industrial, commercial and household services.
