RAIN FALLS ON LOWER MAINLAND, FIRST TIME IN 58 DAYS

VANCOUVER, Aug. 12 (CP) — It rained on the British Columbia lower mainland today — the first time in 58 days.

A shower at 8:30 a.m. officially ended the record dry spell, the first measurably rainfall since June 13. Had it come an hour later it would have been into the 59th day.

Later in the day, some sections had rain for an hour, but nowhere was it sufficient for parched farmlands and fire-stricken forests.

A "rain rally" was held in a downtown auditorium during the afternoon as bright sunshine flooded the city, and in many churches prayers for rain were heard at morning services.

Amateur rainmakers spinkled dry ice from a plane over some sections of greater Vancouver yesterday afternoon, seeding cloud areas, but the "test" didn't produce any downpour as hoped for by its sponsors.

Cooler weather aided nearly 4000 firefighters in the tinder-dry forests.

Already, 8000 acres of timberlands have been fire-ruined, but the flames have been blocked from new areas by man-made fireguards.

British-Iranian Session Cancelled

By ROBERT B. HEWETT

TEHRAN, Iran, Aug. 12 (AP) — British-Iranian oil talks got a setback today.

The negotiators cancelled a session at which Britain had planned to submit a new proposal for settlement of the dispute over nationalization of the rich Anglo-Iranian Oil Company, more than half owned by the British Government.

A source close to the negotiations said the meeting was called off because Iranian officials had expressed privately their coolness to the proposals prepared, but not yet submitted officially, by Lord Privy Seal Richard Stokes.

It was believed that Britain, warned in advance of Iranian opposition, would revise its proposals in hope of reaching an agreement.

Stokes, it was reliably reported, had ready a plan to eliminate the name of the Anglo-Iranian Oil Company from Iran, but keep British managerial control of the oil fields and refinery.

This apparently was the key point in the negotiations. If this point were accepted by Premier Mohammed Mossadegh he would be backing down from his nationalization law which throws A.I.O.C. out of Iran and turns operations over to the new National Iranian Oil Company.

An informed source said Stokes' proposal had been communicated to Mossadegh privately and he had turned thumbs down.

Montreal Engineer, T. C. Gibbons, Dies as Car Leaves Road at Sanca

CRESTON, B.C., Aug. 12 — A noted hydraulic engineer, Thomas Clyde Gibbons, 36, of Montreal died when his car rolled off the highway at Sanca bridge, 25 miles North of Creston, Saturday night. His wife, Mrs. Alice Mary Gibbons, was unhurt.

The car left the road about 10:45 p.m. on a curve just before reaching the bridge, it was reported. It went down the bank about 25 feet. Door on the driver's side was found open and Mr. Gibbon's body was found about 15 feet away.

Three other cars were in the vicinity, all four cars having come from Kootenay Bay after crossing Kootenay Lake. It was reported that the car driven by Mr. Gibbons attempted to pass the car ahead, then fell back again. On pulling back into the right lane, the car apparently struck the soft shoulder of the road and rolled down the bank.

One of the four vehicles in the group was an ambulance driven by Vincent Carberry of Trail, and another was driven by P. Heasman of Vancouver. Mr. Gibbons died as he was being placed in the ambulance.

Two nurses from Creston Valley Hospital, Miss Joan Smith, R.N., and Miss Emily Valisser, were also at the scene, and took Mrs. Gibbons to Creston. She remained at the home of Miss Smith Saturday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Gibbons were returning to their home in Montreal from Whatshan power plant near Needles, B.C., where Mr. Gibbons had been doing some work for the B.C. Power Commission. Former residents of Australia, they have been in Canada only six months.

An inquiry will be held and and the body will be forwarded to Montreal.

H. I. S. Methods Creating Problems for B.C. Hospitals

Widely-divergent problems were reviewed by two Nelson district hospitals Saturday but both were traced to the same cause — financial administration by the B.C. Hospital Insurance Service.

The Legislature's eight-man select standing committee, drawing near the close of a three-week inquiry tour of the province, sat at a two-hour public session here to hear representations from the Kootenay Lake General and Kaslo Victorian hospital boards, together with three individuals airing special problems.

George Turner, chairman of the Kootenay Lake General Hospital board, told the committee the Nelson board approved of the hospital insurance theory "in the main" and believed it could be made to work, but that so far, not enough consideration for local hospital problems had been taken into account.

He said the $19,256 cut in the 1951 operating estimates had "unduly penalized" the board, which had lways "made every effort to play ball" with B.C.H.I.S. by refraining from "padding" its estimates.

"Our estimates were not prepared to stand a slash of that nature which makes it very difficult to handle unforeseen expenditures. Requests for salary increases, for example, cannot be dealth with this year because of the restrictions placed on us by the budget."

Increases were due for many of the hospital staff at the present time and it was difficult to get new staff at the present rates, he added.

Trained nurses here were paid $180 a month while those in adjacent hospitals received $200 and the board would be faced with the question of an in-line revision within a week or two, Superintendent Marjorie Whitmore pointed out.

Asked by Opposition leader Harold Winch if it could be said that the staff, in a sense was thus subsidizing the operation of the hospital, Mr. Turner answered there was "some merit" in that suggestion.

NO DECLINE IN HOSPITAL OCCUPANCY

cent occupancy, but the average had risen to 87 per cent and had exceeded the 70 per cent figure every month this year except one, Mr. Turner said. At present, there was no vacancy, he added.

This had meant higher operating costs than had been anticipated, especially at this time of the year, usually slack when the staff could normally take holidays without being replaced. With peak occupancy a full staff was needed at all times the chairman said.

Secretary-treasurer Lyall Cruickshank told the inquiry board the B.C.H.I.S. had owed the hospital about $30,000 at the end of 1950 because of slow payment of accounts. The bulk had since been paid but the hospital had been left with about $3000 for which the H.I.S. waived responsibility, he said.

He cited several cases where the hospital had been left with large accounts because H.I.S. refused to pay them. The Nelson hospital had received much better service when the H.I.S. had a branch office here, he said.

Mr. Cruickshank told the board the hospital had taken in 83 non-registered patients (those not covered by B.C.H.I.S.) this year, representing eight per cent occupancy and accounts of $5400.

Some inquiry board members expressed surprise at the high occupancy figure of 96 beds, having been informed the hospital would accommodate only 79.

Inadequacy of the hospital in view of the present over-occupancy and the fire marshal's report, was referred to by Mr. Turner. Already taxed to the limit, bed space would be further reduced if extensive revamping ordered by the fire marshal were carried out.

Asked by Mr. Winch if the hospital was beyond repair, he replied that for the purposes of modern, efficient hospital operation it would be.

Told of the hopes for a new hospital and the anticipated battle on a money-bylaw plebiscite, Mr. Winch told hospital board members he was confident that "you can call on any member of this (inquiry) board for help on that plebiscite."

LOW OCCUPANCY

The Kaslo Victorian hospital faced a very different problem from that of the Nelson hospital, Charles Lind, board chairman, revealed. A 30-bed hospital, it was faced with a mounting deficit because of lack of occupancy.

The occupancy was 25 per cent below the estimates average and the B.C.H.I.S. had recently informed them they would be paid on a patient-day rate of $9.46 rather than the monthly budget figure. With sub-normal occupancy, fixed costs raised the actual per diem cost for the hospital to almost $12, Secretary-Treasurer W. H. Tonkin pointed out. The deficit to the end of July stood at $3900.

Mr. Lind was puzzled to know why the H.I.S. should be paying on a patient-day rate because the hospital was down in occupancy.

STUDY PROMISED

Further study of the Kaslo problem was promised by committee chairman Sydney Smith, M.L.A. for Kamloops, when the inquiry board stops off at Kaslo on its way to Nakusp on Wednesday.

Individuals making representations were Sydney Hutchinson of Harrop and three Nelsonites, Harry Hill, W. H. Foster and George Pease. Mr. Pease agreed to make his submission in writing.

The board, which will sit in Cranbrook and Fernie today, is comprised of Mr. Smith, Mr. Winch, Capt. D. J. Proudfoot, M.L.A. for Victoria, Don Brown, M.L.A. for Vancouver-Burrard; H. J. Welch, M.L.A. for Comox; Walter Hendricks, M.L.A. for Nelson-Creston Arvid Lundell, M.L.A. for Revelstoke, and R. C. Steele, M.L.A. for Omineca. Secretary of the committee is Maurice Hesford, chartered accountant.

SAVINGS BONDS INTEREST UPPED

Seek to Encourage Savings to Beat Inflation in Canada

OTTAWA, Aug. 12 (CP)— The Government announced tonight that the interest rate on its Fall issue of Canada Savings Bonds is being increased to 3½ per cent.

In the five previous issues of savings bonds, the interest rate has been 2¾ per cent.

The announcement also said the limit on individual holdings is being boosted to $5000. The limit was $2000 for the first issue, following the Second World War and $1000 for subsequent issues.

Both moves obviously were aimed at encouraging personal savings as part of the government's anti-inflationary program.

However, it was not immediately clear what effect the higher interest rate would have on rates on other, and particularly non-governmental, securities.

One economist said the fact there was a limit on the amount of bonds an individual might buy erased any possibility that the move might have widespread implications.

The bonds, the sixth of the series, will go on sale Oct. 15. They will be dated Nov. 1, 1951, and will mature 10 years and nine months from date of issue. Previous issues have matured in 10 years, with a straight interest rate of 2¾ per cent a year.

The new issue will carry 10 interest coupons of 3½ per cent. The first coupon will be payable Aug. 1, 1953.

If the new bond is cashed before the first coupon becomes due, interest will be paid at the rate of two per cent a year calculated to the last full month. After Aug. 1, 1953, interest will be paid at the coupon rate of 3½ per cent a year for each full month which has elapsed since that date.

The Finance Department, announcing the changes, said Finance Minister Abbott could be quoted as saying the new features "make the new bond the most attractive security of its kind ever offered.

"They reflect," the statement went on, "the government's determination to encourage personal savings as an important and constructive influence in helping stabilize the Canadian economy at this time."

One effect of the new features, it said, "is to offer increased yield to those who hold their bonds for longer periods, while still giving a good return to those who may need to cash them early to meet emergencies."

Flying Officer Carl Friberg, who is well known in the Kootenays, has been promoted to the commissioned ranks and transferred from Edmonton to Air Force Headquarters, to lead the Central Band of the Royal Canadian Air Force.

Flying Officer Friberg enlisted in the R.C.A.F. in 1941 as an Aircraftsman. 2nd class, and now holds Canada's top Bandmaster, position.

His 55-piece band was heard in Rossland, Trail and Nelson on July 1, in a special broadcast with the Marine Band of Washington, D.C., over the CBC and NBC networks.

Flying Officer Friberg led Rossland's Golden City Band for four years, and the Maple Leaf Band for one.

Former U. S. Press Secretary, S. T. Early, Dies

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12 (AP) — Stephen T. Early, who served as press secretary to Franklin D. Roosevelt all the 12 years of the new deal, died Saturday of a heart attack at the age of 61.

President Truman, in a statement, said Early gave the best years of his life to public service.

In recent years Early had been vice-president of the Pullman Standard Car Manufacturing Company.

In the days before the First World War, Early was one of the Associated Press men who covered the State-war-navy beat.

It was then that Early became acquainted with Roosevelt, who was assistent secretary of the navy.

In the First World War, Early became machine gunner and was a caiptain when the war ended.

Later after he had rejoined the Associated Press Early scored a notable beat on the death of President Harding at San Francisco.

He went to the White House in 1933 and it fell to him to announce the bank closings of the early Roosevelt days, various big new deal projects, the attack on Pearl Harbor Winston Churchill's visit to America in 1941 and Rposevelt's death.

He stayed on for a while at President Truman's request, to smooth the way for Truman.

2 Drown at Vancouver

VANCOUVER, Aug. 12 (CP) — Two persons were drowned today when an 18-foot power cruiser suddenly filled with water and sank.

Dead are Mrs. Lillian C. O'Neill, 52, of Hillside, B.C., and a 24-year-old youth, whose name was withheld pending notification of next-of-kin living in Newfoundland.

Kaesong Talks Fail Again on Buffer Zone

By DON HUTH

MUNSAN, Korea, Aug. 13 (Monday) (AP) — Allied and Communist truce delegates failed today for the 13th straight session to unlock the thorny issue of a buffer zone for Korea.

An Allied spokesman said today's meeting was "an unproductive session."

The meeting at the truce city of Kaesong lasted one hour and 20 minutes. Delegates called another round at 11 a.m. Tuesday.

Each side went into the meeting sparring for a soft spot in the other's stand on a demilitarized zone. None was apparent.

Allied observers thought they detected a more conciliatory attitude when the Reds charted the conflicting demands on a map.

The meetings had teetered for three days on the brink of collapse until Sunday's session. Then North Korean Lt.-Gen. Nam Il, senior Red delegate, acceded to a formal United Nations request for a map.

The 30-by-48-inch was closely studied at U. N. advance headquarters Sunday night. For the first time the Reds had put on paper their concept of:

1. The present battle lines.

2. The 83th parallel which the Reds insist be the buffer demarcation line.

3. The U. N. Command's "original and generalized" proposal for a demilitarized zone.

However, Peiping Radio maintained a stiff attitude. An English-language broadcast quoting its Kaesong correspondent said no progress can be made unless the Allies "give up their absurd and arrogant proposal and give serious consideration to the just and reasonable proposal of our side."

It said Nam sternly reproached the U. N delegation Sunday for persisting in the demand for a buffer zone inside Communist positions.

Vandals Invade Cloverdale Church

CLOVERDALE, B.C., Aug. 12 (CP)—Vandals left a scene of havoc and destruction today in the Lattimer Road Anglican Church.

Church records were torn from a locker; the pulpit Bible was ripped apart; pictures were snatched from the walls and smashed, and hymn books ruined.

Rev. J. Dalton, the pastor, said he could not give an estimate of the actual financial loss, but he said:

"The terrible thing is that someone should do a thing like this. It could be the work of a fanatic."

Motorists, Here's Food for Thought

George Turner, Chairman of the Kootenay Lake Hospital Board, coined a safety slogan Saturday that might well be put into service on district highways.

He was outlining conditions at the Nelson hospital before the Legislature's eight-man inquiry board, in the course of which he mentioned that occupancy was very high at present. So high that at that moment there was not one bed available.

"I dont know what we'd do if there's an accident this weekend," said George. "It mightn't be a bad idea if we put signs out on the highway saying 'Drive Carefully—There Are No Beds in the Hospital.'"

French Politician Shot by Wife

ORLEANS, France, Aug. 12 (AP) —A promising young French politician who only 24 hours earlier won a post in the new French cabinet was shot to death by his pretty brunette wife today after he told her he wanted a divorce.

He was Pierre Chevallier, 42, who was named secretary of state for technical education, youth and sports in the cabinet of Premier Rene Pleven. Police said his wife, Yvonne, confessed to firing five shots from a revolver that killed him. She was formally charged with murder tonight.

Chevallier was mayor of war-devastated Orleans and a hero of the French resistance movement during the Second World War. In private life he was a physician. She was a former midwife.

Koreans Celebrate Liberation This Week

PUSAN, Korea, Aug. 12 (AP) — The church bells and air raid sirens of this provisional of the Republic of Korea will ring out at noon Aug. 15—the sixth anniversary of the liberation of Korea from the Japanese and the third birthday of the republic.

The war-racked infant republic will mark its anniversary of freedom after 40 years of Japanese rule with a review with tanks, planes and other weapons combined with mass prayers for the war dead, killed in the bitter war with the Reds.

The North Koreans on the other hand, plan a celebration Aug. 16 keyed to the theme that Russia liberated Korea from the Japanese.

FIRE HAZARD STILL HIGH

Lightning Causes 30 Small Fires; Re-Open Cascade Road Today

Only six large fires were still burning this weekend, all of them at least partially under control, but fire fighters are still busy quelling a rash of lightning fires started by electrical storms late Saturday and early Sunday.

Forest Service officials described the hazard as still "moderately high" throughout the area and forest closure restrictions still hold.

Rains were not general in the forest district Saturday although .2 inches fell in the Nelson local area. Only light scattered showers were felt in the Grand Forks and Rossland districts while none was reported in other parts of Boundary district.

The critical fires of last week, those at McRae Creek and Santa Rosa Creek, are now completely under control as are others at Invermere and Canal Flats.

Forestry officials expected the Cascade-Rossland road would be re opened some time this morning following closure of almost a week.

Biggest blaze at present is in the Yahk River area where almost 300 men were still working on a fire guard in an effort to confine it. It was hoped this would be accomplished some time today.

The lightning fires, estimated at over 30 in number, were causing transfer of fighters from the Grand Forks area to Castlegar and Nelson districts. Isolated and small, the attention of about five men is required to cope with each of the blazes. None were yet serious and a general rain would douse all of them, forestry officials ventured.

Steamer Aground

BOSTON, Aug. 12 (AP)—The excursion steamer Nantasket went aground on Peddock's Island in dense fog today with 827 passengers aboard.

All passengers were removed by Coast Guard boats shortly after the craft's plight was discovered by a searching Coast Guard vessel.

The boat was reported in no immediate danger. The Coast Guard expected to float her with the assistance of a commercial tug.

No One Killed in Streamliner Wreck

FOUR OAKS, N.C., Aug. 12 (AP) — A fast Miami-to-New York streamlined train carrying more than 500 passengers was wrecked today with three cars flying down a 20-foot embankment. But nobody was killed.

"The most miraculaus thing I've ever seen," said Dr. Watson Wharton. "The steel cars saved the passengers."

Nine persons were taken to hospital and scores were treated for cuts and bruises, but many of the 25 ambulances which converged on the scene went away empty.

B. C. Liquor Commissioner, Kennedy, Dies

VICTORIA, B.C., Aug. 12 (CP)—Liquor Commissioner W. F. Kennedy, 63, died in hospital here, following a severe paralytic stroke Friday.

Mr. Kennedy was born in Ontario and went to the Okanagan as a child of three with his parents. He grew up in Vernon and in his late teens was a cowhand on the famous Coldstream ranch.

Later he entered the lumbering business in the firm of Neil, Cryderman and Kennedy. He was prominent in Vernon as a school trustee, Alderman, President of the Board of Trade and the Athletic Association.

In 1927, Mr. Kennedy became Conservative M.L.A. for North Okanagan in a by-election caused by the death of Dr. E. J. Rothwell, of 1928. He was reelect in the general election of 1928 in the Tolmie Conservative landslide.

In 1930 Mr. Kennedy resigned his legislative seat and later was appointed to the Liquor Control Board, then composed of three men. In 1932 the three-man board was discontinued and he became sole commissioner.

Fought Shooting Battle With Police

LAMASTRE, France, Aug. 12 (CP) — A 50-year-old farmer who held 50 policemen at bay for two days while he barricaded himself in the attic of a farmhouse, surrendered quietly Saturday night.

After police, crouching behind heavy steel shields, fired tear gas shells into the house, Charles Seignol quietly walked down the attic stairs and was led away singing the First World War marching song "Madelon."

He and his wife held the law at bay since Thursday when he fought a shotgun battle with his brother, Camille, over the ownership of the house.

Both were wounded, but Charles, the elder, crawled back into the house and barricaded the doors and windows.

Canadian Scouts In Austria See Torrential Rains

BAD ISCHL, Austria, Aug. 12 (Reuters)—Thirty-two of Canada's King's Scouts, experts in the forests and on rivers are fast becoming specialists in a new field—"mud-scouting".

Torrential rains for the last three days have turned the seventh world Boy Scouts jamboree camp into a sea of ooze, with the Canadian contingent getting the dirty end of the stick every time.

And in This Corner . . .

MOSCOW, Aug. 12 (AP) — Victor Suslov, evidently a man with a passionate love for fragrant blooms, was called to account today for putting his pansies, forget-me-nots and roses ahead of tractor production.

Suslov, director of a new tractor factory at Minsk, was taken to task by Izvestia, the government newspaper.

Izvestia objected not only to Suslov's gardening activities, but said he also took most unorthodox measures for cleaning windows in the plant. He solved the problem by having the plant's fire brigade knock out the dirty panes.

This is the way Izvestia put it:

Comrade Suslov, all in a dither over preparations for receiving the minister of the auto and tractor industry, Comrade Khlamov, ordered hundreds of workers away from their lathes and assembly lines.

He put them to work planting pansies, roses and other flowers and decorating the factory itself. The men built sanded paths and splashed silver paint over waste cans.

But while the factory was being transformed into "a living garden," tractor production dropped.

The roof went unrepaired over valuable machine tools. Tools rusted in the shops, where workmen were busy putting flowers in bases and pots.

GALESBURG, Ill., Aug. 12 (AP) — George Goff of Farmington near Galesburg says that so far as he is concerned, the grass on his lawn can grow and grow.

While mowng the lawn Saturday he nipped off the end of the first finger on his right hand. He had it treated by a doctor and returned to his mowing. The dressing on the finger got in Goff's way, and in attempting to remove it he fainted.

VANCOUVER, B.C., Aug. 12 (CP) — Gerald H. Carly of San Francisco, wanted to hear some Scottish bagpipe skirling and bought a ticket to the concert and got into quite a jam.

He didn't know that he'd bought the only ticket sold because sales stopped when the Seaforth Pipe Band cancelled the concert and sailed for an appearance at the Festival of Britain.

When he was seen trying doors at the concert hall, suspicious neighbors phoned police. Two prowler cars appeared suddenly.

"This sure is a queer country," said Carly after producng satisfactory identification and satisfying the constables that his intentions were good.

His money was returned with apologies.

Another pipe band concert is coming up, but he said he isn't interested.

$12,912,000 in Retail Sales . . .

Survey Stamps Nelson as Rich Market; Better Earnings Factor

(Special to the News)

NEW YORK, August 8 — On the basis of money earned in Nelson in 1950 and the amount spent in the local retail stores, the city takes its place as one of the richer markets of Canada. This is shown in the new, copyrighted survey of buying power, prepared by Sales Management, covering every section of Canada and the United States.

The high scale of business activity in Nelson is indicated by the $12,912,000 chalked up in the local stores in sales. This figure, an increase from the $11,684,000 retail business of the previous year, was well over the citys quota. It represents .1430 per cent of the Dominion's business—more than the .0643 per cent that should be produced locally on the basis of population.

The chief factor in the bigger spending locally was the better earnings of Nelson families. The data shows that the 3000 families in the city had a net disposable income, after taxes, of $9,639,000. It represented an average income, obtained by straight division, of $3213 per family.

This was higher than the $3190 earnings per family in British Columbia as a whole. The figure is an arithmetical average, it is pointed out.

The fact that the volume of sales locally is greater than the total income indicates that Nelson is the center of a large trading area.

A guide to the relative economic position of each community is given in the survey by a "quality of market" index. This compares the individual city's potential, based on population, income, sales and other factors, to that of the rest of the country. Nelson's index is placed at 146, or 46 per cent above the general average.

Youth Parade Surpasses Hitler's Shows

BERLIN, Aug. 12 (AP) — More than 1,000,000 blue-shirted girls and boys, chanting loyalty to Stalin and hate for the West, staged a giant parade in East Berlin today in a propaganda show that outdid Hitler's biggest spectacles.

The high point of the 14-day communist world youth peace festival came to an end after nine hours of steady marching past the reviewing stand.

Western precautions against violent incidents were unnecessary. Not a stone was thrown in anger all day.

Tonight in a windup of oratory, Walter Ulbricht, East Germany's spade-bearded "little Stalin" threatened sabotage, strikes and "ultimate ruin" if Western Germany rearms for Western defence.

"Let the imperialistic West German regime learn from the past," shouted the little communist deputy premier from Saxony. "Let them learn from Hitler's disaster and also from the Korean war."

CALLS FOR SABOTAGE

He called on Communist youth of West Germany to sabotage Western defence by inciting "all manner of strikes."

The Russian-controlled East German News Agency said 2,000,000 youths participated in the giant demonstration — 1,500,000 who marched in the parade and 500,000 who acted as the cheering section. Western observers thought the figures were somewhat exaggerated.

The marchers and cheering sections kept up a steady din of shouting "Long Live Stalin," "Ami, Go Home" and "Ami, Get Out of Korea."

Coming in seemingly endless waves many abreast the paraders carried floats, banners and caricatures lambasting President Truman, Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower and the West German leaders, Chancellor Konrad Adenauer and Socialist Kurt Schumacher.

Labor Prepared To Battle Hollinger Strike

TIMMINS, Ont., Aug. 12 (CP)—A union leader said Saturday that Canadian labor stands ready to battle the hard rock mining industry over the Hollinger Gold strike, called to enforce demands for wage increases and union dues checkoff.

The strike of some 1600 workers in the world's biggest gold mine goes into its sixth week tomorrow. There has been no indication of either side weakening on the key issue—whether the mine will deduct union dues from pay checks of union members.

The hint of a wider battle came from Leo A. Behie, International representative of the striking United Steelworkers of America (C.I.O.).

"We are of the opinion that this fight is not headed by Hollinger but by J. Y. Murdoch, President of Noranda Mines, Limited, and also a director of the Hollinger," he said. "If they want to make it an industry fight we'll make it a fight between the mining industry and the whole trade union movement in Canada."

Stalin "Stood Up" Western Leaders

NEW YORK, Aug. 12 (AP) — William Hillman, Mutual Broadcasting System news commentator, reported today that Premier Stalin "stood up" Winston Churchill and President Roosevelt at a Big Three meeting in 1943.

Roosevelt revealed this in confidence to a small group of newspaper men, including Hillman, at an off-the-record conference at the White House, the commentator said in a broadcast.

Roosevelt, Churchill and Stalin met twice during the Second World War, in 1943 at Tehran and at Yalta in 1945.

BEGINNING OF SUSPICION

The full story of the Russian leader's snub was not told in the broadcast.

Hillman said, however, that it marked the beginning of suspicion in Roosevelt's mind that "the Russians were not only going to be difficult, but that they would become offensive and hostile."

Hillman's story of the Stalin snub said Roosevelt and Churchill had been trying for months to arrange a meeting of the Big Three to discuss common war problems.

A date was fixed for a rendezvous.

Two weeks before the conference date, Roosevelt and Churchill asked where Stalin would meet them.

Moscow didn't reply.

"The day of the rendezvous came—but no Stalin," Hillman said.

"Roosevelt and Churchill fumed and got madder . . .

"Then suddenly 24 hours after the day selected for the Big Three to meet, Stalin returned to Moscow and explained he had been busy at the front."

Calgary's First Attempt to Rival Hollywood Becomes Historic Item

CALGARY (CP)—The handsome hero leaned over and kissed the heroine as she casually produced her trusty guitar and played a tune to the wire-supported moon over Lake Louise.

Then, as the sun sank slowly, they rode away together to the Calgary Exhibition Grounds.

The scene was Calgary's first movie set. The date: 1927.

It was Calgary's lone entry into the motion picture business—a rootin'-tootin' epic called "His Destiny."

All that remains of it now is a brilliantly-colored booklet describing the "stupendous story of the foothills of Alberta" that was "sincere and convincing, abounding in thrilling surprises."

Neal Hart, the cowboy glamor man of the '20s, was the star. He was also the director and in the movie was called upon to stop a wild horse stampede.

HOME TOWN STARS

The rest of the cast was home town talent. Joe Big Plume, chief of the Sarcee tribe, played an Indian chief.

Inspector James Spaulding of the R.C.M.P. was a Mounted Police Inspector. And somehow, Viscount Willingdon, then Governor-General of Canada, appeared in publicity as the Governor-General of Canada.

One of her accomplishments in the film was riding a democrat—the wagon, not the political adherent—down the streets of Calgary to a ranch.

The sun porch of the Palliser Hotel was one of the screen ranch houses. The City Court House was another.

But as the booklet put it, "His Destiny was more than a picture; it was grim reality that arouses every human emotion and causes amazement at the startling situations that follow in rapid succession."

The only trouble was that it was too grimly real and amazing for the patrons.

Forest Research Outlined, Nakusp

NAKUSP, B.C., Aug. 12—There were 11 visitors at Nakusp Rotary meeting. They were: Mr. Worth Chapman and Cyril Edgington of Nanaimo; Ronald Jordan, H. Jeal, J. Parent; G. H. Gardner, Bert Gardner, Dr. Joe Gardner and Hunter Gardner of Vancouver; Willard J. Keys; Mr. Mazril, Dept. of Mines and Technical Surveys.

Dr. Gardner of the Vancouver Research Branch of the Dominion Forest Branch, was guest speaker. His subject was "Forest Products and Forest Research."

He said it was not necessary to stress the importance of Forest products in this area, where the whole economy depended on it. B.C. forests were crops which if carefully managed, would last indefinitely.

By adequate research the Dominion Government made sure forest products were used. "This was the day of integration," the speaker said. The idea was to use the maximum amount of that tree, use what is now wasted. Burners are seldom seen in sawmills today. Every bit of the product is used.

The Government research is a long range, basic one. One must find out what wood is; the characteristics of the various species. Two laboratories are maintained, one in Vancouver and one in Ottawa. They are divided into four sections.

Dr. Gardner urged his audience to support forest products research. It is important to have people aware how important natural resources are; to know that something is being done to utilize it.

E. Kootenay Coal Output Higher

NATAL, B. C., Aug. 12—Taking the province of British Columbia as a whole during the month of June, as compared with the same month a year ago, there was a slight increase in coal production, a little more than 1000 tons having been mined in June 1951 than was taken from the coal seams in June 1950.

June this year production totalled 156,698 tons, while June last year it was reported as 155,628 tons.

The East Kootenay district showed an increase of nearly 4000 tons this June. total tonnage mined being 108,338 tons as against 104,199 tons in June 1950.

A breakdown shows that the big producer, Michael Collier, produced 71,882 tons, Elk River Colliery 24,706 tons of coal and the Hillcrest Mohawk Collieries (which is mining in this area) 11,740 tons.

Michel also produced 13,696 tons of coke.

South Africa Has Peace-Time Army

PRETORIA (CP) — With the return of Defence Minister F. C. Erasmus from the recent defence talks in London, South Africa for the first time in its history has peacetime military commitments outside its borders.

The extent of South Africa's commitments and the contributions she will make to the general defence of the Middle East are of course military secrets. But observers believe South Africa should be able to make initial contribution to Middle East defence at least as large as that it was making at the end of the Second World War.

The Union now has the largest and best-equipped armed forces it has ever had in peace-time. The Nationalist Government led by Dr. Daniel Malan, with the co-operation of the opposition has maintained and expanded the efficient war machine that the late General Jan Smuts created in the teeth of Nationalist opposition in the war years.

Mr. Erasmus himself has no doubts about the ability of South Africa to meet its new commitments, and he has stated that the union's plans have commended themselves to the two powers most closely concerned, Britain and the United States.

ARMY SET-UP

The Union defence force is made up of a permanent force, with an armored brigade group as its hard core, an active citizen force and a Rifle Commando organization.

The action citizen force has no exact equivalent in other parts of the Commonwealth, but resembles the British Territorials. Part-time training in it is compulsory for every fit white youth from the age of 17 to 25. Active citizen force units also train in the air force and the navy.

GREAT EXPANSION

The South African Air Force and navy provide the two most striking examples of the Union's present preparedness, compared with 1939.

At the outbreak of the Second World War, the air force consisted of a bomber squadron flying obsolete machines. The Union now has 15 squadrons with modern aircraft and men who have learned the latest techniques of air warfare in Korea.

In 1939, South Africa's naval forces mustered three officers, 13 men and no ships.

The South African Navy now has 16 ships, including a destroyer recently bought from Britain, 70 officers and more than 700 men.

With white South Africa united behind the defence policy of the Government, the potential manpower of the land forces is greater than it was in either of the two world wars.

Windermere, Golden Dist., Awaits New Public Health Nurse

INVERMERE, B. C., Aug. 12—The new Public Health Nurse for the Windermere and Golden school districts will arrive in the valley near the end of August. She is Miss Frances Hewgill, a graduate of the Winnipeg General Hospital and the University of Toronto. She worked for two years with the V.O.N. in Winnipeg and two years with the V.O.N. in Amerhurst, N.S.

Since coming to B. C. she has been on the Public Health staff of the Soquitlam-Ioco-Moodie district.

Miss Hewgill will take over the Public Health work in this area from Mrs. Vern Marshall who three years ago inagurated the service in the Windermere and Golden school districts. Mrs. Marshall resigned early last year but as no new nurse was available she continued her duties to a limited extent.

MAIN LINE REOPENED

CARTIER, Ont., Aug. 12 (CP) — The Canadian Pacific Railway's main transcontinental line, blocked since Thursday night when a freight train was derailed at Benny, was reopened today.

Two giant C.P.R. cranes cleared the 200-yard stretch of track, nine miles West of here, where 28 cars of a 60-car freight train left the track, shortly after midnight. By 4:30 a.m. new track had been laid and cleared.

Cranbrook District Crops Reported in Good Condition

CRANBROOK, B. C., Aug. 12 — Though harvest in this part of East Kootenay will be later than usual, wheat has headed well after abovenormal June precipitation and five weeks of steady hot sunshine. Cold wet June weather has reduced the length of straw in grain crops but otherwise fields are in good condition. This district has had no hail damage this season.

Raspberries, believed a total loss for several weeks after the sharp late May frost, recovered better than was expected, and though also later than usual are yielding fairly well in the Cranbrook District. The May frost appears to have badly damaged the wild huckleberries which are sought after in hills in the district at this time of year. It also ended any prospect of an apple harvest.

SECOND CROP UNLIKELY

Second alfalfa crops appear to be doing fairly well, but second timothy harvest appears unlikely. Hay yields were fairly good in the first harvest which was two to three weeks later than usual. Most hay in Cranbrook vicinity was harvested mechanically this year, with equipment raking, pressing and baling in a single operation, turning out brickshaped fodder for economical storage. Yield of hay in this district will continue to be insufficient for Winter local needs.

July heat without any precipitation finally dried up the most luxuriant range of many years, but not until the end of the month and beef cattle utilizing it are in top shape. Waldo Stockbreeders Association has named October 12 for its annual feeder cattle auction at Elko for which they are prepared to handle up to 1000 head.

Jaycees to Tell Milk Consumers Side

TRAIL, B. C., Aug. 12—Members of the Trail Junior Chamber of Commerce are launching an investigation into the plight of milk producers in the Trail District.

The Jaycees, acting as a public body, plan to study the whole problem in an effort to present a clear picture of the case to the consumer public.

Members of the Milk Producers Association are asking the distribution for a $1.45 increase per hundredweight of milk and have threatened non-delivery after Aug. 21 if their demands aren't granted.

The Jaycees will likely appoint a committee at this weekend's meeting to investigate the problems and are considering a public meeting to discuss the situation.

If the demand is granted to the producers it will amount to about a four-cent-a-quart increase in the price of milk. The Jaycees are primarily concerned with finding ways and means of keeping the retail price down.

Three Birthdays Celebrated

The seventh day of camp began early but not so bright as there were a few drops of rain in the morning. The rest of the day was windy but not wet.

Chapel, directed by Frankie, was held in the lodge.

At dinner, the campers celebrated three birthdays which occur in camp Mrs. Downie's, Joyce Larson's and Frankie Magwood's. There were two big birthday cakes and everyone exchanged gifts. These gifts were all made from things around camp and will be displayed on visitors' day.

In the softball and volleyball games, Cabin 5 was defeated by Cabin 4, and Cabin 3 was defeated by Cabin 6 respectively. Incidentally this was Cabin 4's first sweeping victory.

At campfire Cabin 6 put on an amusing skit "The Ticket Agent" and a few "revised" nursery rhymes.

Each of the cabins then sang their cabin songs.

As an extra birthday treat Faythe Toogood of Cabin 4, passed around marshmallows.

Completes Survey Job on Cranbrook Water System

CRANBROOK, B. C., Aug. 12 — Engaged last Fall to check the city water distribution system and make recommendations to improve pressure, Andrew Hunter, New Westminster civil engineer completed the practical part of the survey this week testing pressure in mains in various parts of the city. Water was shut off overnight in a large section of the city Thursday in connection with this work.

Surface inspection was done last Fall on the system from the reservoir the two miles to the city and measurement of grades taken at that time.

Detailed report is expected in a few weeks for city council consideration. Water supply at the city reservoir on Joseph's Creek remains consistently high, but low pressure problem has arisen in elevated parts of the city. Suggestion has been made that large increase in the number of city water services during the past decade is beyond capacity of a single main to satisfy. Mr. Hunter's report will indicate corrective measures for the situation.

Guerrillas, at Present, Not A serious Threat to Chinese Reds

By FRED HAMPSON

HONG KONG, Aug. 12 (AP) — Every day reports come out of Red China that guerrillas are punching the Communists groggy, especially in the South.

In the last 60 days enough confirmation has come through to establish the truth of many raids.

Wishful thinkers may make much of the rash of outbreaks, but dispassionate evaluation shows the guerrillas, at present are no more than an annoyance to the Reds.

They may become more than that, depending on several factors, including the Korean war, but it is a mistake to view them now as a serious threat to the Communists.

I have talked to a number of persons from Red China, and not one takes the guerrilla movement seriously as yet.

The buildup of a resistance area by old nationalist regular troops under Gen. Li Mi in the Southwestern province of Yunnan is the only really sizable operation that is positively known to exist.

Even this may be more in the wilds of North Burma than on Chinese soil.

A good yardstick for the extent of guerrilla work is the Chinese railroad system. China has poor communications, so that a cut rail road is a serious thing to a provincial government or even to the Peiping national Red regime.

Guerrillas have indeed blown up a few locomotives and robbed a few munitions cars, but all indications are that the trains in Red China still run close to schedule.

It will be time to sit up and take notice when raiders start smashing railroads and keeping them smashed—as the Reds used to do when they were guerrillas.

SPECIAL BUDGET IS GOV'T PLAN

Needed in Financing Of $40-a-Month Old Age Pensions

OTTAWA, Aug. 12 (CP) — A federal budget Canada's second of the current fiscal year, will be brought down by Finance Minister Abbott in the Fall session of Parliament.

Governm[illegible] source say it will be a special b[illegible]et, as opposed to the governmen[illegible] regular annual financial accounting, in the same sense as the "baby" budget introduced at the special session last September.

That budget was required because of the outbreak of the Korean war and the stepped-up tempo of Canada's defence preparations.

This one will be necessitated by the arrangements for financing the universal $40-a-month old-age pensions which go into effect Jan. 1 next for Canadians of 70 and over.

The government hasn't said yet how it plans to finance the pensions, which will add $230,000,000 a year to federal expenditures. The Finance Department still is studying the problem and is expected to recommend weekly or monthly deductions from the pay envelopes of Canada's wage-earners.

This would put the pension plan on a contributory basis and, in a strict sense, couldn't be called taxation. It would be similar to the deductions made from pay checks to finance the unemployment insurance fund.

While the deduction thus wouldn't be called a tax, one high government official said that Mr. Abbott naturally would want to give parliament an account of the country's financial standing as a background to the proposals to meet the costs of the pensions plan. He would do this by bringing down another budget.

It is considered doubtful that the Fall budget would contain any substantial tax changes in other fields. There might be some minor adjustments resulting from the tax boosts announced in the regular budget last Spring. At that time, commodity, sales and excise taxes were increased and a new 20-per-cent defence surtax was imposed on personal income taxes.

Even the remote possibility that a Korean armistice might be reached by Fall isn't expected to change the government's current budgetary policies and bring down taxes.

That conflict is costing Canada relatively little and most of the extra money being raised by taxation is being funnelled into preparations for defence abainst the overall threat of communist aggression.

Search Expanded for Missing Fisherman

WINNIPEG, Aug. 12 (CP)— Two flying American anglers still were missing in the rugged bushland of Northern Saskatchewan tonight despite an expanded R.C.A.F. search.

Five R.C.A.F. Dakotas and one Norseman, joined by a second Norseman from Lamb Airways of The Pas, Man., hunted in good weather today and reported no results.

The search for Dr. John Tasche of Sheboygan, Wis., and Miles Eikenburger of Plymouth, Wis., missing since Aug. 2 on a 296-mile flight from Lac La Ronge to Stony Rapids, now has covered almost 28,000 square miles of the rolling, lake-dotted region.

Germany Plans Royal Wedding

HANOVER, Germany, Aug. 12 (Reuters)—Citizens of this lower Saxon capital today began preparations for a grand old-style Royal wedding Sept. 4.

Queen Frederica of Greece, a member of Britain's Royal Family, probably the Duchess of Kent, and other members of present and past ruling houses are expected to attend the marriage of Prince Ernst August of Hanover, 37, to lovely young Princess Ortrud of Schleswig-Solstein-Gluecksburg.

This weekend the Royal colors of the Hanoverian House, the Guelfs, flew here for the first time in public since Sept. 25, 1866, when King George renounced his throne and his kingdom became a province of victorious Prussia.

One wall in the organization committee rooms is covered with an old Union Jack with Hanover's coat of arms, a souvenir of the time when Britain and Hanover were linked by personal union or, as people say here, "when our kings (the first four Georges) ruled Britain too."

BB-Gun Bandit Faces Examination

VICTORIA, B.C., Aug. 12 (CP)— 60-year-old John Hughes, alleged "BB-gun bandit" who attempted a fantastic bank holdup here Thursday, was further remanded to Aug. 18 in city police court. A report on his mental condition is awaited.

Hughes was arrested a few hours after a man entered the main branch of the Royal Bank of Canada, and threatened Miss Marie Beale, a teller, with an air rifle in an attempt to cash a $15,000 check made out to the "King of Kings". She refused and the would-be bandit fled, firing the gun in her direction before leaving the bank.

Russia Cracks Down on Poland

By WILLIAM L. RYAN

NEW YORK, Aug. 12 (AP) — There now seems little doubt that the astonishing show put on in Warsaw recently by Moscow big shots was a mighty crackdown on Poland, where the threat of Titoism must have been too great for the Soviet Union to risk.

A reading of Soviet Vice Premier V. M. Molotov's Warsaw speech as printed in Moscow's Pravda indicates this. The threatening words Molotov flung at Yugoslavia's Communist maverick were not, in reality, directed at Tito at all but at the Polish United Workers (Communist) Party.

Some manifastation of an independent attitude by the Polish Communist leaders must have annoyed and frightened Moscow's politburo. This now seems to be the only explanation why a parade of Soviet leaders, headed by Molotov, descended upon Warsaw no the pretext of celebrating a seventh anniversary of the puppet Communist government.

Lifted out of context the words of Molotov's July 21 Warsaw speech about Tito looked like an ominous threat to take direct action against the Yugoslavia regime. But the text of Molotov's speech indicates this was not the point.

This is what Molotov said of Tito: "Realizing that the Yugoslav people hate the hired gang of criminals which stole its way to power, it (the Tito regime) holds the power by bloody terror and Fascist rule. This cannot long continue. The people of Yugoslavia will find a way to freedom and liquidation of the Titoist Fascist regime."

But this paragraph must be considered in the light of the preceding one and the one which followed it.

In the preceding paragraph Molotov told the Poles their relations with the Soviet Union were based upon the principle of equality of big and small peoples. Inequality of relationships was Tito's complaint when the cominform expelled him.

In the paragraph which followed the Tito remark, Molotov declared "It follows from this that we must be alert in unmasking the enemies of proletarian internationalism" and must adhere strictly to principles of Leninism-Stalinism" in the "brotherly collaboration of peoples."

U. S. Price-Ceiling Violations Probed

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12 (AP) — Price Enforcement Director Edward P. Morgan said today he is investigating 50 major cases of alleged price-ceiling violations that could result in the return of $10,000,000 to the government and consumers.

Morgan said details on the 50 cases could not be disclosed at present, but he said many involve some of the largest business concerns in the country. He said one case "has possible international ramifications and involves about $5,000,00 in illegal profits."

In many cases, Morgan said, the price agency is forcing firms found guilty of violations to make restitution to customers. In others, where there is no clear method for repayment to customers money from settlements is paid to the U.S. Treasury.

To Try Falls Again

NIAGARA FALLS, N. Y., Aug. 12 (AP)—The only living survivor of a trip over the falls said today that he plans to try it again next year—only this time over the more treacherous American falls.

Jean Lussier, now 60, made it over the Canadian falls in 1928 in a giant rubber ball. He is the only person still alive among the three who made successful trips. Three others have died in the attempt. One—William (Red) Hill—was killed in an attempt last Sunday.

Lussier, said he is designing a similar rubber ball for the trip. He said he wants to go over the American falls because it has never been tried before.

There are large rocks at the foot of the American falls and they extend out far. This isn't true of the Horseshoe Falls where it's possible for the barrel to shoot out beyond the rocks.

Drugs Cure Diseased Crops

EDMONTON, Aug. 12 (CP) — A University of Alberta scientist has discovered that antibiotics — the wonder drugs which cure a host of human diseases—also cure diseased crops.

The scientist—Dr. A. W. Henry—told farmers attending the annual University Plant Science Department visitors day Saturday that actidione will cure smut in grains.

Actidione is produced from the same organism which produces streptomycin, an antibiotic used in curing many human diseases.

Dr. Henry said he soaked smut-diseased oats in a solution of 10 parts of actidione to 1,000,000 parts of water.

None of the treated oats showed smut Saturday.

Dr. Henry used farmer's seed drill samples of oats collected by district agriculturists. He said 90 per cent of several hundred samples collected were diseased with smut.

"The project still is in an experimental stage," Dr. Henry said, "but it shows complete control of oat smut—one of the most difficult of plant diseases to control by seed treatment."

He said antibiotics would be much safer to use than mercury compounds which may farmers now use.

Chinese Reds Jail 17 Catholic Priests in Renewed Attacks

By STANLEY RICH

HONG KONG, Aug. 12 (AP) — Communist police jailed 19 Roman Catholic priests, closed 12 of Peiping's 17 Paris centres and put all the rest of the city's 80 foreign missionaries under house arrest in simultaneous raids July 25, church sources reported today.

Describing this as "the most frontal attack yet" made against the church in China, the sources predicted similar action against Catholics and other Christians throughout Red China.

The Reds have been conducting a campaign for an "independent" Catholic church, having no connection with the Vatican.

The new direct drive apparently is intended to force the people to accept this red "church" or none.

The information of the latest arrests came from Catholics arriving this British colony from Peoping. These sources said those arrested in Peiping July 25 included Father Harold Rigney, former rector of the Catholic Fujen University and the only American missionary still in Peiping.

Other reported seized included Father Joseph Miners, a German professor at Fujen University; another unidentified professor; the German Bishop Constans Kramer, of Luanfu diocese; the Belgian Father Van Vooli, head of the Legion of Mary in North China; A Frenchman and 13 other Germans.

Meanwhile, the Reds themselves disclosed their campaign against church-run orphanages had extended to Hainan Island, off the South China coast.

The pro-red newspaper Ta Kung Pao said Hainan authorities were investigating charges that 2293 orphans had died of ill treatment at the St. Paul's orphanage on Hainan since 1940. It said the French nuns Joanne Lace and Connie Rosari were in charge. The reds accused five Canadian nuns of a similar charge a few months ago.

The establishments accused actually are not orphanages in the usual sense but receiving stations which take in dying waifs from the streets.

Josephine Baker, Toast of Paris, Conquers Hollywood

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 12 (AP) — Josephine Baker, longtime toast of France, made a triumphant debut in Hollywood this week netting $24,000 in a one-night performance.

The American Negro singer's performance contributed a considerable amount to the Damon Runyon Memorial Cancer Fund, which is show business' principal charity. The sepia performer displayed her songs and talents in a one-night performance before the cream of Hollywood society at the Showcase Night Club, Mocambo.

VIDEO PLANS

The television networks are making big plans for their prize comics to do their shows from this end of the continent starting this Fall. But no decision has been announced yet on a pesky problem: the time differential.

For instance, if Jimmy Durante does this show to be seen by the Eastern audience at 8 p.m. Saturday, it would be 5 p.m., here. That's not a good viewing time for Pacific coasters.

Since the larger Eastern audience is always favored, it appears that the shows will have to be filmed and shown at a later hour for Westerners.

Menticide

Some form of protection should be provided among nations to shield individuals from the kind of concentrated mental manipulation that seems to go hand-in-hand with modern forms of tyranny, thinks the Ottawa Journal. Genocide is now recognized as a crime, but "menticide" or "brainwashing," as the process of mentally "softening up" a victim has been called, should also be recognized for what it is—a criminal act as evil as any other.

Many of those who have been subjected to such mental malpractice have testified that they received no physical mistreatment beyond hours of questioning, no sleep, glaring lights, and the overpowering suggestion that they were utterly at the mercy of their interrogators. Under such conditions even the strongest human will has been broken, confessions of guilt obtained where there was no guilt, and the victim made to doubt his own inbred moral and intellectual convictions.

A group of psychiatrists guided by Dr. Joost Meerloo of New York City suggests that training in autohypnosis would afford a measure of protection against such criminal action, claiming that in the state of hypnosis there can be immunity to pain, hunger, and mental intrusion.

Yet, says the Journal, here the remedy partakes dangerously of the nature of the crime. It was said of Jesus: "This fellow doth not cast out devils, but by Beezlebub the prince of the devils." He Himself, however, drew a sharp line between the mental manipulations of the exorcists of that day and His own spiritual practice when He said: "Ye shall know the truth, and the truth shall make you free."

The truth cannot hypnotize anyone, maintains the Journal, including the one who knows it. Truth itself is God, the source of strength and freedom of mind beyond human conceiving — or destroying. Throughout Christian history men have been able to demonstrate this in some degree under agonizing extremities of mind and body. Ultimately they will have to turn radically from the frail human will to a scientifically understood higher power if they would find themselves invulnerable to every form of humanly willed "menticide."

STOCKPILING?

Glancing over a list of defence contracts issued by Canadian Commercial Corporation, we were momentarily puzzled by one for $13,135 awarded to the Department of Finance. It was for medals and clasps. Quiet contemplation provided what we think must be the answer. The Mint comes under the Department of Finance. And the Mint stamps out the metal from which medals and clasps are made. Whether or not Mr. Abbott's department is stockpiling we don't know.—Napier Moore's Scratch Pad.

LEFT ALONE

Far too many children, left alone, are losing their lives in fires, declares the Hanover (Ont.) Post. "There will always be fires, which are definitely accidents, and there may be children who lose their lives in such fires through no fault or neglect of anyone. But there are too many cases when children are reported as alone in homes where fire breaks out, and who lose their lives by being burned to death. The law can be strict in such an instance. But it does not go far enough."

TIME FOR "HANDS OFF CANADA"

The Commie line for Canada, as laid down by front man Tim Buck, is precisely what one would expect the Red fifth column to advocate. Hands off Korea, it says in effect, meanwhile committing the farce of denying that Russia is involved in the coup attempted there. It's about time Tim Buck and his crowd got a counter-warning, "Hands off Canada!"

—Windsor Star.

CONFUSING WORDS

The English language becomes more confusing every day. Noticed in one of our coming event adlets where a local dance band was announcing "mello" music. Possibly this meant "melodious". Surely it wasn't intended for "mellow", which is defined as "soft, tender, or well-matured".—Barrie (Ont.) Examiner.

Shave and a Haircut?

America's barbers, nettled a bit by public criticism of increases in the prices of haircuts and shaves, explain they are affected by inflation the same as everybody else.

In New York City haircuts have been raised from $1 to $1.25. Charles Lewis, head of a barbers' supply house, says a barber's expenses have more than doubled in the last decade and that increases in costs have averaged 35 per cent in the last year. Taxes, rents, union dues and other costs have increased in addition to supplies.

One Gotham barber says his net profit on an investment of $125,000 was only $2,000 in the first nine months of this year.

The public is irritated by price increases of any kind but is vexed most when long established charges for services are increased.

But there is no commodity or service that is proof against the irrestistible impact of inflation. — A Reid.

Mrs. F., Kaslo—Have you a recipe for tennis lemonade?

To three lemons allow one quart of boiling water and from four to six ounces of sugar. Wipe lemons and peel rind very thinly taking only yellow part. Put this into a jug, with the sugar and strained juice, pour the boiling water over, cover and stand until cold. Strain and use as required.

Worried, Salmo—Is fire-damp caused by water? Our cellar is wet and damp and we wonder if it might catch fire.

Fire-damp has nothing to do with humidity or moisture, the term "damp" being derived from the German "dampf", meaning vapor. Fire-damp consists of a poisonous vapor met in mines and often the cause of explosions.

Seeking Causes

Although medical science has made tremendous strides in the past twenty years it has not been able to keep pace with the terrific increase in mental and nervous disorders, a meeting was told in Guelph, Ont., by Dr. F. Baugh, medical superintendent of Homewood Sanitarium.

He said that in comparison with the 30,000 patients in Canadian mental hospitals twenty years ago when he began his career in medicine, this figure has doubled despite improvements in hospital equipment and knowledge.

"Instead of crying for more hospitals," he said, "we should be driving toward finding the causes. We are too inclined to pay too much attention to symptoms instead of getting at the root of the trouble."

He added that there was definitely some significance in breast-feeding infants and the effect on the infant's later life. By experiment and investigation it was proved that breast-fed infants generally grow up with a clear outlook on life, are cheerful and courageous. On the other hand, those with little or no breast-feeding generally developed psychoneurosis.

From this, Dr. Baugh said, it would appear that persons who had not been breast-fed babies generally had a frustrated attitude toward life. They felt themselves to be inadequate and not able to cope with their environment. Usually they sought for a physical cause to explain this inadequacy.

In some cases they sought a refuge in alcohol.

"In general, breast-feeding is a good personality builder," he added. "If mothers listened to the dictates of nature fewer child psychologists would be needed. Obedience to the natural laws of the Creator is essential to physical, mental and moral health."

"BRANFERD" PROTESTS

A contemporary of scholarly inclination notes that some authorities derive the name of Ottawa from the Indian word atawa. Maybe that's why so many radio commentators and others pronounce it that way. But from what corresponding word is Tronna derived? Or Branferd, for that matter? Oh, and about atawa, it means "extinguish", so let the residents of the Capital make of that what they can.—Brantford Expositor.

POTHOLES IN ENGLISH

The English language is full of potholes for the young, so perhaps there is some excuse for the 9-year-old Wirral schoolgirl who made a gallant attempt at a new past tense. "Mum sprang-clean the kitchen yesterday," said she, "because we're getting a new carpet for it on Saturday."—Manchester Guardian.

Warned Hubby She Was Still Around

TORONTO, Aug. 12 (CP) — Mrs. Amada Boucher admitted firing a shotgun through a window of a neighbor's house where her husband, Joseph Alphonse Boucher, was visiting. But a charge against her of shooting with intent was dismissed today.

"She just wanted to let her husband know she was still around," said Crown Counsel David Humphreys.

Probe Syndicates In Brewery Plan

VICTORIA, B. C., Aug. 12 (CP) —Operators of three syndicates concerned with a plan to establish a brewery in the Yukon are being investigated by the Attorney-General's Department, it was disclosed today.

J. Stewart Smith, Superintendent of Brokers, revealed the investigation, when he announced that a newly-formed company, B. C. Yukon Breweries Ltd., has been granted a limited registration to issue shares.

Purpose of the registration is to protect the interests of people who invested in the syndicates, Mr. Smith said, and does not permit the sale of stock to the public.

The company will be allowed to issue 145,000 shares in trust to Raymond J. Casson. The shares are to be held in escrow.

The three syndicates under investigation are the B. C. Yukon (Lake of the Woods) Brewery Syndicates No. 1 and No. 2, and the Yukon (Vancouver) Brewery Syndicate.

World Council Decides Against Vatican, Moscow

GENEVA, Aug. 12 (Reuters)—The World Council of Churches has decided it would no longer be a practicable policy to invite the Vatican and the patriarch of Moscow to join in a world appeal for peace, it was announced today.

The Council had seriously considered seeking the support of "churches outside its membership in issuing a general appeal for peace," General Secretary Dr. Villem Visser 'T Hooft said.

But the Council "will not fail to watch for opportunities of cooperation on concrete issues, where there is some promise of a fruitful intervention on just grounds," he said.

Polio Mother Dies After Childbirth

TORONTO, Aug. 12 (CP)—Mrs. William Miller, 25, of Peterborough, Ont., who gave birth to a six-pound girl while in an iron lung Thursday night, died Saturday of poliomyelitis.

Mrs. Miller, brought from Peterborough Tuesday, died of an "ascending" paralysis.

The child, born as Mrs. Miller was removed from the lung for less than a minute, died shortly after birth.

Authorities at Toronto Isolation Hospital reported that Mr. Miller was on his way to Toronto when his wife died.

Today's Bible Thought

Wars and turmoils incited by evil men and nations must not confuse us. God has handled that kind before. God's plans may be hardly won, but they are sure.—Do ye not know their tokens, that the wicked is reserved to the day of destruction?—Job 21:29, 30.

Marlene Stewart Golf Champion

17-Year-Old Canadian Wins 2nd Title in Week

BY W. B. WHEATLEY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LAVAL-SUR-LE-LAC, Que., Aug. 12 (CP) — Marlene Stewart, Canada's grim little golfing sensation of the year, won the Canadian Ladies Open golf championship Saturday with a hair-raising one-up victory over Grace Lenczyk of Hartford, Conn.

Under terrific pressure and her three-hole lead all but wiped out by a thrilling last-stand comeback of the former champion, Marlene refused to crack.

The Fonthill, Ont., girl calmly rapped down a 10-foot putt at the 35th to halve the hole and preserve a shaky one-up lead.

Then came the 422-yard par-five 36th, last chance for the one-time U. S. national women's champion to keep the match alive.

Both girls were short with their seconds, just below a hill that leads up to the green. Marlene pitched 15 feet from the pin, Grace 10 feet.

Marlene putted less than a foot from the cup. The 23-year-old Connecticut girl carefully lined up her putt that turned out to be a heartbreaker. The ball stopped a scant inch short. Marlene putted out and threw up her hands jubilantly. Grace walked across the green and congratulated the new champion.

It was the second national championship in seven days for the youngster from the Lookout Point Club in Fonthill, near Niagara Falls. A week ago she marched off with the Canadian ladies closed championship.

Seventeen-year-old Marlene is the first double winner since 1933 when Ada Mackenzie of Toronto turned the trick. Marlene is also the first Canadian to win the open title since the war, and since 1947 the top golfing talent in the United States has made the Canadian open a must.

Miss Lenczyk won the open in 1947 and 1948. The following year the champion was Grace DeMoss of Portland, Ore. In 1950 at Winnipeg Miss DeMoss was runner-up to Dorothy Kielty of Los Angeles, who did not enter this year.

Americans Sweep North American Tennis Final

By VIC MORRIS, JR.
Canadian Press Staff Writer

MONTREAL, Aug. 12 (CP)—The United States today made a clean sweep of the North American final Davis Cup tie to move into interzone competition against Sweden.

The U. S. team had an easy 5-0 victory over Canada, taking two singles matches Friday and a doubles on Saturday. Two more singles today were considered exhibition matches.

Winner of the U. S.-Sweden tourney will challenge Australia at Sydney next December for the Davis Cup.

Canada moved into the zone final by defeating Cuba last weekend in a similar sweep, while the U. S. team ousted Japan and Mexico, also by 5-0 victories.

The U. S. aces put the finishing touches to their top heavy victory today as Art Larsen, U. S. national champ, sailed through Henri Rochon of Montreal 6-2, 6-1, 6-3 and Lanky Budge Patty of Los Angeles coasted through Vancouver's Lorne Main 6-3, 6-3, 6-2 in the fourth singles match of the three-day competition.

Saturday, the American team of Patty and Tony Trabert slammed through Brendan Macken and Rochon 6-4, 6-3, 6-2 to win the clinching match of the best of three series. Last Friday, Trabert defeated Main in straight sets and Dick Savitt did the same trick against Macken. It was a disappointing show for about 10,000 fans that attended the three day matches as Canada's color bearers failed to come through with a set victory.

The defeat was expected but Canada was favored to cop at least one match after zipping through Cuba in straight matches.

Today's victory was just another workout for the Americans.

The biggest treat of the competition came in the Larsen-Rochon match.

His performance was superlative as he worked the little French-Canadian into a dizzy lather with his cross-court placements and tricky pin-point shots. He broke the Canadian's service eight times and flashed over six service aces against two by Rochon.

The second match between Patty and Main was dull. The 21-year-old No. 2 Canadian player was lacking in all departments as the lanky Patty scored with his heavy forehand smashes. Main was caught repeatedly into mistakes on his own backhand. He appeared to be sacrificing too much with his two-handed grip and was slow in retrieving. His play was stubborn sometimes brilliant but always losing.

He drove his two-hand crosscourt placements shot for most of his 21 placements. He recorded one ace, the same as his opponent.

Hogan, Zaharias Win World Golf

CHICAGO, Aug. 12 (AP) — In a typical scorching finish, Ben Hogan slammed a pair of 33s for a 66 today to win golf's biggest jackpot—$12,500—with a 15-under-par 273 in the Tam O'Shanter "world" championship.

Hogan, who boosted his winnings in five official tournaments this season to $20,400, trailed Jimmy Demaret, the 54-hole leader by five strokes entering the last round.

But his brilliant 33 wiped out four of the debits at 63 holes when Demaret wilted to a 37 on the first nine.

Demaret required another 37 to get home for a 74 and a 276 total. The Ojai, Calif., pro who had been in the lead through the first three rounds, wound up second to collect $5000.

Pete Cooper, from White Plains, N. Y., banged a final 69 while Bobby Locke of South Africa and his newly-found putting touch added 70, each to finish at 277 and win $2750.

Lawson Little, Pebble Beach, Calif., making one of his best title bids in years, fashioned his third straight 70 for 278 to be locked in that bracket with Clayton Heafner of Charlotte, N. C., who soared to 73. Each earned $2100.

Cary Middlecoff of Memphis, who won the Tam all-American crown last week, reeled off a respectable pair of 35s for 279 and seventh place. His swag was $1800.

Grouped at 280, worth $1650 for each, were Sam Snead and Lloyd Mangrum. Both took closing 73s.

Stan Leonard, Vancouver pro, finished three strokes over par with a fourth-round 75 for a 72-hole total of 297.

Leonard's 36-39—75, three over par, was his poorest round of the tournament.

CHICAGO, Aug. 12 (AP) — Mildred (Babe) Zaharias turned on last-round pressure for a closing three-under-par 73 and a six-stroke victory in the $6000 women's "world" golf tournament today.

The Babe, who now has won all four "world" tests staged at Tam O'Shanter courses since 1948, collected $2100 for her 298 effort over the 72-hole route.

U. S. MARKSMEN SWEEP SHOOT

OTTAWA, Aug. 12 (CP) — United States marksmen made a sweep of major events in the closing two days' shooting in the national small-bore rifle matches that wound up today at nearby Connaught ranges.

W. E. Bailey of Williamsport, Pa., retained the Canadian Open championship, posting a score of 1984 to beat out two other Americans — R. Triggs of Madison, N.J., with 1983 and A. E. Cook of Mount Clemens, Mich., with 1981.

Lieut. Gilmour Boa of Toronto, this year's winner of the King's prize at Bisley was top Canadian in the master class, taking the closed championship away from his brother, James Boa, Jr., Gilmour, who finished sixth in the master class, had a score of 1981 against 1967 for his brother.

Mrs. W. S. MacNab of Calgary, shooting in her second small-bore tournament, won the women's closed championship, posting 1973 to place third in the expert class of the championship event.

Yankees Lose Two, Indians in Top Spot

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

The Pennsylvania curfew that prevents Sunday games from continuing after 5.59 p.m. erased a five-run New York Yankee rally in the eighth inning allowed Philadelphia Athletics to score a 7-4 win in the second game of a twin bill.

The lowly Athletics also won the opener 9-5 as they sent the Yankees reeling into second place 1½ games behind Cleveland.

The nightcap ended in rain and darkness and amid a welter of confusion as the Athletics appeared to be stalling and the Yankees appeared to be trying to hurry the game along. The top of the eighth inning took 22 minutes with the Bronx Bombers sending nine men to the plate and the As using four pitchers.

Seven Yankee pitchers saw action during the long afternoon with Morgan and righthander Jack Kramer being charged with the costly defeats.

Meanwhile, Cleveland Indians took undisputed lead of the American League by beating Chicago White Sox 7-1 for the 10th straight victory.

The triumph was the 16th for Mike Garcia, who was backed with a 14-hit Cleveland attack, including homers by Bob Avila, Larry Doby and Ray Boone.

The skidding White Sox, who were pushed from first place a month ago today, now trail Cleveland by 10 games.

Boston's third-place Boston Red Sox remained within five games of first place by winning both games of a doubleheader from Washington Senators by 6-2 scores.

Bill Wight pitched an eight-hitter in winning the second game after Ray Scarborough had performed a similar pitching chore in the opener.

Hoot Evers punched a bases-loaded single in the ninth inning to break up a tie game and give Detroit Tigers a 2-1 victory over St. Louis Browns.

HITS 24TH HOMER

Roy Campanella blasted his 23rd and 24th home runs and drove in five runs to spark Brooklyn Dodgers to a 7-2 National League victory over Boston Braves.

Big Don Newcombe limited the Braves to eight hits to post his 16th victory.

His victim was Johnny Sain, who was sabotaged by poor support in suffering his 13th defeat against four victories.

Pittsburgh Pirates and Chicago Cubs traded shutouts. Murry Dickson recorded his 16th victory against 10 defeats as the Pirates won the opener 1-0.

Paul Minner stopped the Pirates 6-0 with eight hits in the nightcap. It was his sixth win against 11 losses.

SWEEP DOUBLEHEADER

Bobby Thomson and Monte Irvin drove home all the runs as New York Giants swept a doubleheader from Philadelphia Phils 3-2 and 2-1.

Irvin belted a three-run homer in the third inning to win the opener and Thomson doubled home two runs in the sixth inning to break up the nightcap.

A walk to Bob Scheffing forced in Wally Westlike with the winning run in the last of the ninth and gave St. Louis Cardinals a 4-3 victory over Cincinnati Reds.

Channel Swim Postponed

FOYKESTONE, England, Aug. 12 (Reuters) — A brisk cold wind and heavy seas today forced postponement of a mass international swimming race across the English Channel.

Twenty swimmers — 13 men and seven women — from 10 countries were due to wade in from the French side early tomorrow morning. Among them was Winnie Frances Leuzler of Toronto.

But the weatherman's outlook prompted officials to call it off for a day.

Win Helps Both Louis, Bivins

BALTIMORE, Aug. 12 (AP) — A 10-round fight here Wednesday night between Joe Louis and Jimmy Bivins is a story of today's heavyweight situation.

They never fought except an exhibition during their prime when Louis was busy 25 times defending his title and Bivins frequently ranked as a contender.

Now in the twilight of their careers they meet in what is considered an important encounter.

Important for 37-year-old Louis who has to go on winning if he's to get that comeback shot at the crown held by Jersey Joe Walcott.

Important for Bivins, too, because an upset might catapult him into line for the same chance. He has beaten Ezzard Charles.

Louis admits Bivins is the best of the eight fighters he's taken on so far in his comeback try.

The promoters of Wednesday's fight expect to draw a gate of $100,000 into the Baltimore Stadium.

The 31-year-old Bivins figures he's "got a better chance now than I would have had when I was younger. You know, when you're young you get wild ideas."

Bivins is going to give away a tremendous advantage in size. He's only five-feet-nine and when he arrived last week weighed 176. Louis weighed 207 the last time out against Cesar Brion and hopes to come in Wednesday at 210.

The fight fraternity is spreading the word that Louis balked plenty before signing with Bivins, holding out for one of the less dangerous heavies.

Louis will make 42½ per cent of the gate and Bivins 17½.

Careful, Mister.... that's dangerous stuff!

Maybe you don't think that money can harm you. But nowadays, unless you handle it with care, it can make things tougher for you — and others.

If you spend it on things you think may soon be scarce or may cost more later, you will help drive prices still higher. And that will hit you where it hurts — in your own wallet.

But every dollar you save now — in life insurance, bank deposits, or savings bonds — helps keep prices down. And it can work for you in other important personal ways.

For instance, you may need money someday for an unexpected emergency. Or, perhaps, for starting a new business ... buying a new home ... sending your boy or girl to college. These and countless other plans may remain just dreams — unless you have more money saved.

In your savings plan, life insurance meets a special need. For you can use it to combine savings with financial protection for your loved ones.

So, to help keep prices down ... to provide for your tomorrows ... SAVE!

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE—Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

STOCKHOLM (CP)—Sweden is getting orders for $2,000,000 worth of hydro-electric equipment to be used in building a giant power station on the Sao Francisco River in Brazil. An order for 1560 miles of steel-aluminum cable has already been shipped.

CHARLESTON PLANS DRILLING

Slocan Charleston Mining Co., Ltd., is planning a diamond-drilling program to increase reserves in the Keystone mineral claim and to develop further tonnage in three known oreshoots in the No. 5 adit of the Charleston claim.

Considerable work was done on the Keystone claim last year with the expectation of arranging for customs milling of ore. It was subsequently found impossible to make satisfactory arrangements. Mr. McDonald says approximately 50,000 tons of ore have been indicated in the Keystone. Extension of the ore zone and development of the high grade oreshoots in the Charleston are hoped to provide both tonnage and grade to warrant the construction of a mill.

The company is hopeful regarding possibilities of the Colorado claim. The Charleston group which adjoins the Whitewater mine, two miles North of Retallack, B.C., also includes the Kingston and Corean claims.

Charles Lind, of Kaslo a director of the company, is in charge of operations.

Estella Concludes Marketing Agreement

A marketing arrangement covering the sale of zinc and lead concentrates for the portion of the current calendar year during which it is in production has been concluded by Estella Mines at Wasa, which is expected to reach the production stage in the Fall, reports the Northern Miner.

Stope preparation is well advanced in the Rover tunnel. Company statement says slashing of drifts has indicated widths to be fully as great as anticipated and in some places greater. Grade has been found to be consistent with previous estimates. Raises are being driven to connect the Estella and Rover tunnels and sub-levels will be established in the interval between. The company reports a full engineering staff and ample underground labor.

Construction of mill buildings is almost complete; all foundations have been poured and some of the machinery installed. The engines are being installed in the powerhouse. Sheds have been erected to cover ore dumps, bins and storage piles.

SHORTLY AFTER HIS ARRIVAL in Ottawa, General Omar Bradley, the U.S. chairman of the joint chiefs of staff, paid a visit to Hon. Brooke Claxton, Canada's Minister of National Defence, and presented the official Presidential Citation, which was awarded to the 2nd Battalion of Princess Pats when they were recently cited by President Truman "for extraordinary heroism and outstanding performance of combat duties in action against the armed enemy near Kapyong, Korea." PARKS CHAMPION ATTENDS HEARING

VICTORIA, B.C., Aug. 12 (CP)—Powerful reinforcement for conservationists in the Battle of Buttle Lake, Fred M. Packard, executive secretary of the National Parks Association of the United States, will appear at the public hearing to be continued here on Monday on the B.C. Power Commission's plan to dam Buttle Lake.

The veteran of many similar battles in the U.S. was invited to testify before Water Comptroller E. H. Tredcroft by the B.C. Natural Resources Conservation League.

The National Parks Association, Mr. Packard said, is an independent organization of Conservationists established over 50 years ago.

"We've had terrific contests in our determination to keep the parks inviolate," he said, "and there are eight different national parks and monuments under attack right now. We've had a remarkable success so far. We have yet to lose a battle." Glacier, Yellowstone, and Grand Canyon Parks, and the Dinosaur Park in Utah are under fire, he said.

"I'm here to help conserve the beauty of Strathcona Park because of the tremendous and rapidly growing interest in Canadian parks being expressed by U.S. tourists," he said. "People here find it hard to realize what a valuable asset they have in the parks. Strathcona Park is a jewel of Pristine Forest, something already lost in the East."

GLASGOW, Scotland (CP)—Men and women of many nationalities are learning the fine points of hotel operation at a mansion on the outskirts of Glasgow. The two-year course is followed by practical training in approved hotels.

The first steam plowing tackle designed to replace the hand plow on British farms was shown at the London Exhibition of 1851.

Altoona Shapes Up as Bountiful Ore Source for Kootenay Belle

Altoona silver-lead-zinc mine is responding favorably to development by Kootenay Belle Gold Mines Ltd., reports J. L. Trumbull, president.

The Altoona group of 12 claims is located along both sides of Carpenter Creek valley, Northwest of Sandon. This is one of seven Slocan properties under development by Kootenay-Belle in the Slocan district. In a recent visit to the company's operations, Mr. Trumbull was accompanied by two Seattle directors, A. J. Theis and J. E. Fox.

Results on two levels drifted on the Altoona vein indicate that it will be a substantial source of feed for Kootenay Belle's sink float plants and mill. On No. 2 level the vein has been followed for 140 feet with assays available on the first 70 feet. This length averages 2.54 feet wide and carries average values of 1.6 ounces silver per ton; 1.2 per cent lead and 19.25 per cent zinc. A raise to No. 1 level showed continuity of the vein and on No. 1 level assays are available on two lengths. One length of 70 feet averages 3.82 feet wide and carries 0.9 ounces silver per ton; 0.4 per cent lead and 10.1 per cent zinc. Two hundred feet beyond this 70 foot length, sampling of twenty feet for a width of 3 feet averaged 0.5 ounces silver per ton; 0.1 per cent lead and 10.7 per cent zinc, with face of the drift in ore. The 200 feet of intervening drift remains to be sampled and in some sections have shown good zinc mineralization.

Kootenay Belle's other operations include the Whitewater Mine, where work is being intensified for Winter supply of ore to the mill; Richmond-Eureka which has a new sink float plant in full operation and has found indications of excellent grade mill feed in old workings; Monitor, where indications are reported favorable for substantial production; and the Ruth-Hope, Payne and Elkhorn, all under exploration.

Jersey Mills 15,000 Tons Month

Placer Development Ltd., reports that in the three months ended June 30th, 1951, the Emerald mill at the Jersey lead-zinc mine of Canadian Exploration Ltd. at Salmo, handled 44,176 tons averaging 1.93% lead and 5.73% zinc and produced 5394 tons of concentrates for net smelter returns of approximately $802,000. In the first quarter of the year 5046 tons of concentrates were produced for net smelter returns of about $706,000.

The mill is now handling around 15,000 tons a month and it is planned that this will be increased to 21,000 tons monthly by the end of August this year.

For some months Canadian Exploration Ltd., has been carrying out diamond drilling exploration for tungsten ore outside the area sold to the Canadian government but still within the Emerald property. Results have been encouraging and drilling is being continued.

"Hospital" Near Seoul Packed With Scared, Stricken Koreans

By BILL BOSS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

SEOUL, Korea, Aug. 12 (CP)—"Typhus," said the Korean doctor, standing in the middle of the tent and its 40 or 50 wretched patients—North Koreans all.

Conducting a tour of the hospital improvised in the gigantic evacuee camp at Kunchon-Myong,fivemiles East of Seoul, he had shown the "reception room," the hospital "office" and the "operating theatre"—various applications of the ordinary packing case draped with soiled white cotton—and then gone smack into the "wards."

The more than 800 patients in the hospital were but a fraction of the camp's 61,536 occupants. A further 500 were treated the same morning —until medicines and bandages ran out—at the clinic in another part of the centre.

300 CASES

The doctor had said earlier that almost 300 of the cases were infectious diseases, but that they were in "isolation."

They were. They were in separate tents, slam-bang up against the others.

"Typhus,' he said, having led the visitor into the middle of the first tent, after the barn housing the surgical patients had been visited.

With decent haste the visitor led the way outside.

The party was at the far end of the next tent before the doctor turned and explained:

"Smallpox."

The interpreter was asked at the next tent's entrance what its patients had. The answer came: "typhoid."

VISIT ENDED

There was a smile, a nod, the visit ended.

Since the beginning of June more than 23,000 patients have been treated in this hospital, 8000 of them with communicable diseases. Amazingly, only 360 have died.

During the same period 320,000 evacuees have passed through the camp—turned out of their homes in the areas adjacent to the front, both North and South of the parallel, and told to make their way into South Korea.

As many as 8000 a day have been dusted with DDT.

The medicos sit in their offices at headquarters and "advise"; experienced disaster workers here say the Koreans must first be shown, then "advised".

Only one ,a Norwegian surgeon named Meyes,' concerned himself with the plight of the Koreans to the point of going out and doing something personally about it. He performed as many as five operations a day in Seoul city relief hospital besides doing his paper work, finally working himself into nervous exhaustion.

At Kunchon the five Korean doctors and 11 Korean nurses—several just high-school girls pressed into service—do the best they can.

Ninety per cent of the evacuees are malnutrition cases to varying degrees.

Says the colonel commanding the U.N.C.A.C. team in Seoul province: "They are really starved and in bed shape. These evacuees are in the worst condition I have ever seen. Either they were terribly treated by the Chinese or else they were too scared to go out and look for food. They even ate poisonous grasses. And between the heat and flies they suffer badly from dysentery."

There are 11 permanent-type camps like Kunchon throughout Seoul province, each with an estimated 19,000 inhabitants.

Cheese Ration Cut In Great Britain

LONDON, Aug. 12 (Reuters) — Britons will get more meat on their weekly ration from next week but they will have a cut in the cheese ration, the Food Ministry announced Saturday. The meat ration will go up by twopence worth a week to one shilling and seven pence. This will buy about two lamb chops or half a pound of steak.

Cheese will drop Sept. 9 from two ounces to 1½ ounces a week. Last time the cheese allocation was at this level was in 1948.

The Food Ministry blamed disappointing home and foreign deliveries.

LONDON, Aug. 12 (Reuters)—Potato-eating Britons had to go short this weekend.

Many housewives had to go home today with empty baskets. The shortage developed when potato diggers broke off work for last week's bank holiday.

Tito Thanks U. S. for Aid in Hour of Need

BRIONI, Yugoslavia, Aug. 12—(AP) — Premier Tito formally thanked the United States Friday for its aid in Yugoslavia's "hour of need."

At ceremonies here marking the end of the $100,000,000 American anti-starvation food assistance program, Tito also warned that Yugoslavia "must be cautious" against an invasion by the Russian-led Cominform this year.

Weight and Wallop Cause Allied Rifle Differences

By DOUGLAS HOW
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA, Aug. 12 (CP)—Canada is caught in the middle of a battle between weight and wallop in the now-celebrated split over a common rifle for the Atlantic Pact powers.

She's not championing any rifle of her own but she's vitally interested in trying to get the U. S. and U. K. to agree on a common bullet if not a common rifle to fire it.

The U. S. and U. K. so far are sincerely and fundamentally split.

Last week's four-power meeting of Defence Ministers in Washington launched the first major effort to bridge that gap by putting the available rifles to the test under the direction of the Standing Group, the Anglo-American-French Committee of Generals which is the top full-time military body in the pact organization.

The hope is that within the next few months the Standing Group will be ready to report some success to another meeting of Ministers.

This, briefly, is the nature of the split:

The U. S. believes—even more firmly because of the infantryman's war in Korea—that the rifle of the future must pack wallop and to have wallop you must have weight. It is developing a new rifle but it won't be any lighter than the existing .300-calibre Garand which British authorities already consider too heavy and which is about one pound heavier than the .303 Lee-Enfield Canada and Britain now use.

Britain has announced plans to produce a new .280 automatic rifle and to discard the .303. The .280 is relatively light. It sacrifices weight and hitting power for lots of firepower of a type the British consider ample to kill lots of the enemy.

Canada has announced she's stopped taking U. S. Garands and that she won't ship any more .303s to Europe until she can see her way clear to chart her future rifle course. Her delegates to Washington came back highly praising the .280 and much of Canada's Bren-gun-making capacity could be turned to making it. But shes' willing to accept whichever rifle on which there is agreement. If there is no agreement, she'll have to choose one or the other, probably the American, or she may rebore the Lee-Enfields to a new calibre.

May Find Cause of High Blood Pressure

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 12 (AP)—Persons with high blood pressure have a chemical in their blood not found in blood of normal pressure.

It is the first time such a chemical difference has been found. The chemical is named pherentasin, from the Greek meaning to hold up pressure.

It is one of the bright new hopes for controlling high blood pressure, the cause of much heart trouble, apoplexy and perhaps kidney troubles.

A next step is to find a drug that will neutralize pherentasin. It could be given to people to keep their blood pressure normal. A couple of drugs that may do this are already being studied.

Pherentasin was found in the blood of almost all persons with high blood pressure. Only one person with normal pressure had any pherentasin in his blood.

Wild Orchid Bed Found in Ontario

By GERCY GHENT

A fascinating bog many acres in extent was discovered by a party of naturalists recently in the wilderness not far from Ahmic Lake in the Magnetawan River region of Ontario.

This bog was the site of an ancient lake that long ago lost its shining waters. Sphagnum moss now stretches over the site, a carpet into which the exploring naturalists sank, sometimes to knee depth, on their way to reach a tree-covered island left by the departed water.

But the chief charm of the bog was orchids—literally thousands of native Canadian orchids, the calopogan species, and of a beautiful, deep-rose color. It is an event exceedingly rare to find this species in such opulent growth and the observers were thrilled. Another lovely species, the pogonia orchids of pale pink, were also growing there in hundreds rather than thousands, but the pogonias are rarely found in such numbers.

Pitcher plants were plentiful on the bog borders. So, on many a moss-covered, rotting log and stump, were sundew plants. Both species are of the carnivorous kind, trapping insects by wily ways, entangling them beyond escape, and in due course absorbing them for nourishment.

The professionally-led amateur naturalists were students at the annual Summer Nature School sponsored by the Federation of Ontario Naturalists, and their trip was once again an outstanding success thoroughly appreciated by the more than 50 students.

At the time the writer visited the nature camp, nearly 100 bird species had been identified, and no less than 250 species of flowering plants and graceful ferns. Included in the teaching staff were Professors A. F. Coventry and T. F. McIlwraith for birds; Dr. J. H. Soper for advanced botany, and Dr. Helen Sawyer Hogg, for astronomy. All were from the University of Toronto.

DeMille, Age 70, Is Not Retiring

By JACK QUIGG

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 12 (AP)—Mr. Hollywood is 70 years old today, but bustling Cecil Blount DeMille has no intention of slowing down.

As he has for 37 years, "C. B." plans to keep on showing Hollywood how to spend millions to make more millions.

"I would like to start on page one of American history and go right down to the latest dispatch from Korea," he says.

DeMille is the descendant of Dutch immigrants who settled in the United States in 1658.

C. B.'s first stage experience was as an actor. Later he turned to writing.

He wasn't enthusiastic when a friend brought him together with Samuel Goldwyn, a glove salesman, and Jesse L. Lasky, a cornet player, to discuss entering the infant motion picture industry. He soon warmed to the idea and the trio formed the Jesse L. Lasky Play Company, capitalized at $20,000.

The firm acquired rights to the play "The Squaw Man" and sent Cecil West to film it. His destination was Flagstaff, Ariz., but it was raining when the train arrived and DeMille rode to the end of the line —Los Angeles.

In 1914, his second year in Hollywood, DeMille produced and directed 13 pictures. The Lasky Company expanded, combined with the Adolph Zukor Company and moved to the present site of Paramount Studio.

He did as much as anyone to create the impression that Hollywood is a fabulous place full of fabulous people.

Naval Engineer Says Raindrops Blast North America Into Sea

By ROBERT E. GEIGER

WASHINGTON (AP) — A navy engineer says raindrops pack the punch of an atomic bomb.

Drop by drop, he says, they are blasting North America into the sea.

W. D. Ellison says floods occur and farm land is damaged by rain because most soil conservation is aimed at preventing damage from running water, with dams, terraces and contour plowing.

Ellison says the emphasis should be placed on preventing rain from striking earth with full force.

Even in a gentle rain, he said, the millions of drops in one storm strike earth with the combined force of a bomb.

The remedy, according to Ellison, is a simple one. It is to keep the land covered heavily with grass, crops, brush, trees, even weeds.

He has close-up, slow-motion moving pictures showing how blades of plant life break rain's full force. Each drop is scattered into many tiny droplets. They trickle gently downward to the roots of plants and thence into the soil. Eventually they reach nature's great underground storage reservoirs and may be held there for use in a day of drought, Ellison says.

He estimates that in the great plains country it takes from 2000 to 3000 pounds of grass on each acre to protect range lands from raindrop damage. A great deal of this land has less than 1000 pounds of grass per acre today.

His experiments indicate that after land is covered with from 2000 to 3000 pounds of grass per acre it has reached almost maximum protection from rain.

Ellison believes the grass cover on pastures could be increased sufficiently if fewer livestock were allowed on them for a season or two, providing moisture conditions in the meanwhile were good.

On other lands, where crops are raised, Ellison says if more care were taken to keep the ground covered at all times of the year it would make a great difference in water run-off during storms.

If crops can't be kept on land at all times of the year he says the trash from previous crops, such as stubble from wheat and stalks from corn, should be left on the surface and not plowed under.

Coast Teacher Conquers Pupils' Slow Reading of Printed Words

VANCOUVER (CP) — "Word blindness," or the inability to read intelligently, is being conquered by a Vancouver high school teacher.

The strange affliction long has been a secret enemy of education, entirely distinct from the capacity to read and write. J. H. Sutherland's special course in English at the McGee High School has given hundreds of pupils, mostly about 15 years old, the ability to read effectively for the first time in their lives.

Intelligence quotients have been known to leap 30 points after the course. With their new ability to learn, formerly "stupid" students often become class leaders.

"Word blindness" is such an incredible disorder that Mr. Sutherland has difficulty convincing many parents that it actually exists. They ask why intelligent children who have gone to school 10 ears cannot learn to read, and, if they cant' read, how they ever get into high school.

Mr. Sutherland explains that the term "word-blindness" is a misnomer. About 30 per cent of all children are "sound-learners." Their memory of the printed word is associated in their minds with the sound instead of the picture.

MEMORY IS KEY

They cannot recognize words of any complicated structure and cannot learn the difference between words of similar structure. Thus the entire meaning of most sentences is lost to them.

Instruction is comparatively simple compared to the startling results. Mr. Sutherland usually enlists aid of advanced pupils who sit with new class members and help them concentrate on breaking down difficult words into syllables.

Words are repeated with increasing speed until they form a sound picture in the pupils' minds. They take dictation with every difficult word carefully sounded.

Later they gather in small groups and read to each other or write sentences on the blackboard, explaining the meaning of sentences.

Hungarian Family Commits Suicide

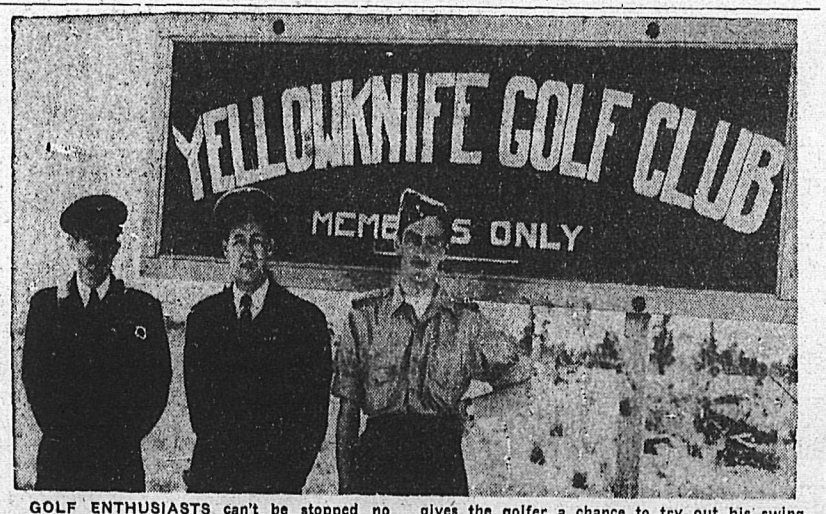
BUDAPEST, Aug. 12 (AP)—Geza and Josef Szucs, 56-year-old twins and prominent leaders in the Hungarian Jewish community, clasped hands and leaped to their deaths Saturday. Several hours earlier an 84-year-old aunt who was living with the committed suicide by taking poison.

The brothers threw themselves from the third floor of their Budapest apartment. Reason for the three suicides could not be ascertained

Both men had served as lawyers for the Anglo-Hungarian bank. Geza resigned a short time ago as Hungarian chairman of the Joint American-Jewish Relief Organization and became director of the social services section of the Budapest Jewish community. Josef was director of the National Bureau of Hungarian Israelites.

The Communist regime in Hungary has been reported evicting thousands of alleged" undesirables" from their homes in Budapest presumably to detention camps elsewhere in the country. Most are from the once influential upper and middle classes. Many were reported Jews.

LONDON (CP)—In an address to a convention of the Association for Maternity and Child Welfare, Princess Elizabeth noted that at the beginning of the century 154 babies of every 1000 died during their first year. This year the rate is less than 30 per 1000.



GOLF ENTHUSIASTS can't be stopped no matter where they go. Three members of 408 Photographic Squadron, R.C.A.F., on detachment at Yellowknife, N.W.T., are shown at the entrance to the Yellowknife Golf Club. A nine-hole course carved from the rock, sand and scrub bush and using a crashed Dakota for a clubhouse, it at least gives the golfer a chance to try out his swing. F.O. Dave Munroe, left, of Vancouver; F.O. Freddy Tupling, right, of Toronto, and P.O. Jim Fitzsimmons of Lindsay, Ont., are three who recommended the course for the next "Canadian Open" tournament.—Central Press Canadian.
