Bridge Estimated At $1,500,000

Financiers' Representative Says Bridge Economically Feasible; Seeks Franchise

A bridge across Kootenay Lake's West Arm at Nelson may cost approximately $1,500,000.

Charles W. Nash, bridge-builder and financiers representative, met with members of the Nelson Chamber of Commerce Bridge Building Committee, City Council and North Shore representatives Monday morning to give this preliminary estimate on the cost of the bridge.

This figure is based on the government standard for bridges, Mr. Nash explained. Although the contours at the suggested site had been surveyed in 1941, the bed of the Arm is not known. Maps fail to indicate the sub surface strata at the present able crossing, the proposed site for bridge.

Mr. Nash felt construction of a bridge was economically feasible and was prepared to negoiate a franchise with the government on terms suitable to all concerned.

Repayment plan of principal and interest on a $1,000,000 loan would be as follows: over a 20 year period, $78,000 per year; over a 25 year period, $69,000 per year and over a year period, $64,000 per year, it was estimated here later.

Present yearly cost of operation of the Nelson-North Shore ferry has been reported at $50,000.

At a meeting of the North Shore Rate Payers Association last week it was dicided to postpone approval until further details as to toll costs and commuters rates were available. The majority felt, it was reported, $2 or $3 dollar-per-month, or flat annual rate would be acecptable.

Mayor Joseph Kary expressed an opinion that the government would see to it that tolls were not exorbitant, otherwise, the government would be "committing political suicide."

Representation will be made from the area to the government and cabinet will decide on a franchise on the recommendation of the Public Works Department.

LIE RESIGNATION UPSETS U.N. MEET

Eden Asks Lie To Reconsider and Stay On Job

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y., Nov. 11 (AP) — Trygve Lie's dramatic decision to quit the chief executive job in the United Nations drew a tirade against him from Russia tonight, sarcasm from a U.S. senator, and a request from Britain and others that Lie stay on the job.

1. Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden of Britain led in the invitation for Lie to reconsider and stay here.

2. Lie's announced reason for quitting — to remove a stumbling block to Korean peace dealings — was rejected by U.S. Senator Pat McCarran, Nevada Democrat and chairman of the Senate sub-committee which is looking into alleged U.S. Communists in the U.N. secretariat.

McCarran said in New York he believed Lie resigned because "of disclosures made and disclosures we will make in the future." McCarran said Lie's stated reasons reminded him of a thanksgiving pumpkin: "It looked good but it was hollow."

3. An interview with Lie published in three Scandinavian newspapers — in his hometown of Oslo and in Copenhagen and Stockholm —said Lie emphatically denied the McCarran inquiry influenced his decision to resign.

The Scandinavian interview quoted the secretary-general as saying he thought Russia's non-recognition of him might have stood in the way of peace in Korea and that in the long run no man could bear the kind of pressure the Russians put on him.

MOSCOW RADIO

4. Moscow radio "recognized" Lie as U.N. secretary-general — for the first time since the Russians started ignoring him in 1950 — in an abusive broadcast saying his resignation showed "his complete political bankruptcy."

Russians at the U.N. said they would wait and see who might be proposed by the Western powers before deciding what they would do as regards a successor.

World Food Stocks Not Much Better

ROME, Nov. 11 (Reuters) — The world's farmers have made a little headway in boosting farm output, but the inhabitants of densely populated areas are about as underfed as ever, the United Nations Food and Agricultural Organization said today.

The reason, it said, is that an agricultural production increase of about two per cent this year occurred mainly in commodities other than food.

Food consumption per person in under-developed and populous areas such as Southeast Asia still is substantially below prewar averages, which themselves were insufficient, the F.A.O. said.

Denominationalism Gets Bishop's Okay

LONDON, Ont., Nov. 11 (CP) — Denominationalism was defended today before the Canadian Council of Churches by Rt. Rev. G. N. Luxton, Anglican Bishop of Huron.

Denominationalism — separate identity of groups such as Anglicans and Presbyterians—means strength, Bishop Luxton maintained, and he has "quit apologizing" for it. The stronger the denomination, the stronger the whole church, he said. The trouble is that "we have been watered down so much."

C.I.O. Heads to Hold Closed Meet

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 11 (AP) — C.I.O. lieutenants met today at the bier of their late leader, Philip Murray. Tomorrow they will hold a closed session at which the labor group's future course will be charted.

Nine C.I.O. vice-presidents will confer with Allan Haywood, executive vice-president of the C.I.O., on the mechanics of electing a new president to succeed Murray.

Murray, 66, died of a heart attack in a San Francisco hotel Sunday.

It Took 7 Years To Persuade Her

LIVERPOOL, Nov. 11 (Reuters) — Mary Shepherd, a pretty 26-year-old brunette, today left here in the liner Empress of France to marry the Canadian gold-miner who has been proposing to her by post for the last seven years.

The gold-miner, Steve Makohoniuk, now is in Yellowknife, N.W.T. He met Mary at a Manchester, England, roller-skating rink eight years ago, while serving with the Canadian Army.

Mary said before sailing that she had never been very far away from her Manchester home.

Steve is to meet her in Edmonton. They will be married the next day. Steve sent her the first class fare of £86.

"I am taking a lot of woollens, because they say it is sometimes 20 degrees below zero in Yellowknife."

Atomic Electric Power Not Far Off

NEW YORK, Nov. 11 (AP) — The day of electricity from the atom at an economical cost may be coming much faster than first thought.

One leading industrial chemist, Dr. Charles Allen Thomas, president of the Monsanto Chemical Co., thinks it may be only four or five years off in the United States.

Others think Britain may have it sooner because production of electricity by present methods is more expensive there.

The current cost of building a new electric plant in England is so high that atomic-produced power would be comparatively competitive. N.S. power companies have the benefit of greater natural water and other resources.

Allies Recapture Hill 13th Time in Month

Regain Crest 2 Red Battalions Won In Dark Rainy Early Morning Hours

By WILLIAM C. BARNARD

SEOUL, Korea, Nov. 12 (Wednesday) (AP)—South Korean infantrymen in five hours of savage fighting today recaptured the crest of shell-ripped Sniper Ridge from Reds who had pushed them off last night for the 13th time in 29 days.

Associated Press correspondent John Randolph reported from the Central front that the South Koreans won back the crest, Pinpoint Hill, at 10:05 a.m. They were still battling the Reds fiercely just to the North of Pinpoint.

About 1500 Chinese Reds drove the R.O.K.s from Pinpoint Tuesday night, attacking behind a terrific artillery and mortar barrage.

It was the same sort of headlong attack that had virtually wrecked two Chinese armies—numbering up to 80,000 men—on the Central front within a month.

The battle was fought in pitch darkness. A drizzling rain and lowering clouds around the height doused Allied flares and hampered air and artillery support.

The Reds opened the attack at 4 p.m. with a mighty artillery barrage. One United States military adviser called it "the heaviest artillery concentration I have ever seen."

In the first few moments a thousand rounds of mixed artillery and mortar shells crashed down on the narrow crest of Sniper Ridge.

Before 5 p.m. two battalions of Chinese slammed into the ridge from the North, East and West.

By 9 p.m. Republic of Korea forces began withdrawing from the hill to positions on the outlying spurs of the ridge. In 12 previous withdrawals from Pinpoint, the South Koreans have always managed to cling to spur positions.

1244 CASUALTIES

In other battles along the 155-mile front, Allied troops inflicted an estimated 1244 casualties in heavy fighting from midnight Sunday until early Tuesday.

RAIN HAMPERED OPERATIONS

Rain hampered Fifth Air Force operations. Light bombers, boring through soupy weather, blasted Red front line positions. U.S. Thunderjets stabbed along the Western front at Communist buildup areas.

Gen. James Van Fleet, Eighth Army commander, told a press conference that bitter October fighting on the Central front had cut the combat efficiency of two Chinese armies by half.

Van Fleet said that the enemy "has the capability, as he has had for some time, but I do not believe he will want a major offensive."

BONN, Germany, Nov. 11 (Reuters) — Max Reimann, West German Communist leader, said here today he expected the election of Gen. Eisenhower would mean war by next Summer. He told a questioner at a press conference that the likelihood of war could be seen quite clearly from Eisenhower's latest statements. "We know what generals are like. We have generals here."

WRECKED PLANE SIGHTED ON PEAK

Thought To Be Missing C-119 Troop Carrier

ANCHORAGE, Alaska, Nov. 11 (AP)—An Alaska air command officer said tonight that search leaders are convinced the airplane wreckage sighted on Mt. Silverthrone is that of a missing C-119 troop carrier from Miami, Fla.

Maj. Joe Jeffers of the command's information section said "there is no doubt in their minds that this it it."

Although no one had yet been able to reach the 12,000-foot high crash scene, Jeffers said "it is their opinion that there are no survivors."

The "flying packet" vanished in flight Friday with 19 men aboard — five crew members and 14 soldiers.

The 435th troop carrier wing at Miami reported it was listing the five crew members as dead. Telegrams were sent to their next of kin.

Searchers aboard a C-54 sighted the wreckage yesterday high up on the 13,170-foot mountain, about 135 miles North of Anchorage.

Jeffers said search planes, trying to identify the wreckage definitely and keep an eye out for possible survivors, were able to circle directly over the mountainside on Tuesday.

Search leaders were studying the chances of a ground party getting to the spot.

France Pays Tribute to Fallen

PARIS, Nov. 11 (CP) — Premier Antoine Pinay today called on France to regain her place as a first-class power in a speech marking the anniversary of the First World War armistice.

He spoke at Rethondes, in the Forest of Compiegne, where the 1918 agreement was signed.

"The last century assigned us a great mission in Asia and Africa," he said. "This century has assigned us an essential place in Europe."

In the traditional ceremony by the Unknown Soldier's grave, under the Arc de Triomphe, President Vincent Auriol and Premier Pinay, led France in a tribute to the dead of both world wars and of the Indo-China campaign.

Paris was decked with flags of Allied countries as the president placed wreaths on the tomb and on the statue of Georges Clemenceau, First World War premier.

24th LEGISLATURE OPENS IN QUEBEC

QUEBEC, Nov. 11 (CP) — The first session of Quebec's 24th Legislature, its business program highlighted by government legislation to reduce mounting traffic accidents, opens tomorrow.

Lieutenant-Governor Gaspard Fauteux will read the speech from the throne outlining new legislation including bills to censor television programs, establish a transport department, tighten anti-margarine laws, extend rent controls and abolish Montreal's circuit court.

Rates Must Go Up To Come Down

OTTAWA, Nov. 11 (CP) — The railways said today a proposed new system of setting rail charges would result in freight rates lower than under the present basis.

Though the method calls for immediate rate increases, the Railway Association of Canada contended that eventually it would bring about economies making lower tolls possible.

The submission was made to the Board of Transport Commissioners by John L. O'Brien, counsel for the association and the Canadian Pacific Railway, as the C.P.R. opened evidence to back up the railways' application for the radical shift to the "rate-base, rate-of-return" system of fixing rail earnings.

S.S. Men Again Spread Nazism

DUESSELDORF, Germany, Nov. 11 (Reuters) — Some former members of Hitler's elite troops, are under investigation for trying to spread Nazi ideology, Franz Meyers, North Rhine-Westphalia interior minister, announced today. Findings will be published shortly, he told a press conference. He said the former S.S. men were believed to be spreading the same ideology as that of the banned Neo-Nazi Socialist Reichs party.

Mau Mau Gory Rites Continue

NAIROBI, Kenya, Nov. 11 (Reuters) — The struggle to combat Mau Mau terrorism continued today as reports flooded in of gruesome rituals and violence by the anti-white secret cult.

From Kiambu came the first report of women taking a major role in Mau Mau initiation ceremonies. Police said eight Kikuyu tribeswomen forced two youths to strip and beat them with the flat blades of heavy farm knives known as panagas.

A Mau Mau priest was given a 20-year hard labor sentence at Kiambu today, on several charges of administering the witchcraft oaths, thus advocating violence against the administration.

The government said two African forest wardens and two other Africans have been arrested and charged with the murder and decapitation of an African police informer.

In the Fort Hill district 45 miles North of here, police broke up a secret Mau Mau ceremony in which two women's faces had been slashed and the arms of a tiny girl tied behind her back. The little girl's role was unclear.

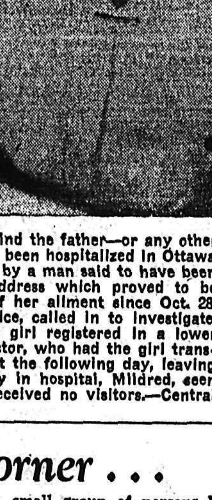
The Kiambu initiation, which took place during the weekend, resulted in the arrest of 30 Mau Mau members, including eight women.

Bevan Has 30 Ghost Supporters

LONDON, Nov. 11 (Reuters) — Labor party leaders tonight found themselves confronted with an "underground movement" of about 30 hidden supporters of leftist rebel Aneurin Bevan.

The 30 were on the losing end of a secret election for deputy leader of the party in the House of Commons, won by the incumbent, Herbert Morrison.

But the mail-in poll showed that some 30 Labor members of Parliament who have not supported Bevan in public lean towards him when the vote is secret.



A POLICE SEARCH has failed to find the father—or any other relative of a three-year-old girl, who has been hospitalized in Ottawa since Oct. 8. Registered as Mildred Hall by a man said to have been her father from Cornwall, Ont.—an address which proved to be false—the frail child has been cured of her ailment since Oct. 28, and has been waiting to go home. Police, called in to investigate, learned that a man carrying an ailing girl registered in a lower town hotel Oct. 8. Later, he called a doctor, who had the girl transferred to hospital. The man checked out the following day, leaving no forwarding address. During her stay in hospital, Mildred, seen above with nurse Claire Arnold, has received no visitors.—Central Press Canadian.

U.K. Makes Russia 4-Point Offer

By NORMAN ALTSTEDTER
Canadian Press Staff Writer

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y., Nov. 11 (CP) Britain today offered four principles to Russia as a basis for settling the war-prisoners issue blocking a cease-fire in Korea.

Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden told the United Nations in Britain's first major policy address to the current general assembly that he does not despair that talks here can help towards a Korean settlement.

Vishinsky argued before the Assembly's political committee Monday that all prisoners should be repatriated. The U.N. command insists it will not use force to repatriate those prisoners who say they fear to return to Communist hands.

Eden said he believes these are the principles on which an agreement should be based:

1. Every prisoner has the right to be released on the conclusion of an armistice.

2. Every prisoner has the right to be speedily repatriated.

3. The detaining side has the duty to provide facilities for repatriation.

4. The detaining side has no right to use force in connection with the disposal of prisoners. "In other words, after an armistice a prisoner of war may not be either forcibly detained or forcibly repatriated."

Eden opened his address expressing the hope that Secretary-General Trygve Lie, who offered his resignation Monday in the interests of world peace, "can yet be persuaded to reconsider his decision." This was greeted by a loud applause from delegates.

Those mentioned most prominently as probable choices for secretary-general is Lie's resignation is accepted are Carlos Romulo of the Philippines and Assembly President L. B. Pearson, Canada's external affairs minister.

PORT ARTHUR, Nov. 11 (CP)—A small group of persons has been living in a section of this city without paying taxes for 10 years, civic officials said today.

Four homes and a garage, situated in a birch grove on city property, were discovered during an engineering department survey. All the squatters have cars and they have been cutting down the birch for fuel.

The squatters apparently have not bothered to obtain the land from the city and so are not on the assessment rolls for taxation.

Aldermen suggested eviction or an attempt to collect rents and the cost of the wood. In the meantime, they will wait for advice from the city solicitor.

World Brotherhood Future Living Tribute Says Dixon at Cenotaph

As Canadians across the Dominion Tuesday paused to remember the dead of two world wars and offer tribute and thanks for their sacrifice, Nelson citizens gathered at the cenotaph for Remembrance Day services.

Someday there will be a living tribute to the fallen in a federation of the world, Rev. Allan Dixon of Trinity United Church told Legion and Ladies' Auxiliary members, the 111th Battery and Sea Cadets who paraded to the cenotaph led by the Kootenay Kiltie Pipe Band and citizens gathered for the services.

"Somewhere on the globe, a world parliament, made up of people of the world, banded together, differences forgotten, in a brothership of man under the Fatherhood of God, will provide the peace our soldiers died for to form a living memorial."

Some men enlist for adventure, some to escape trouble at home, some as a means of existence, but the great majority join to fight for their beliefs, Mr. Dixon declared. "To all who gave their lives we pay tribute, but especially to those whose motives were highest and most sincere."

Mr. Dixon expressed hope that the president-elect of the United States, General Dwight D. Eisenhower and his colleague, General MacArthur will be able to unite the world in peace.

NOTHING TO BE GAINED

Very Rev. Frederick Monaghan paid tribute to those who went and did not return in two world wars and at present in Korea. He expressed hope that the nations of the world would realize there is nothing to be gained by war.

His worship, Mayor Joseph Kary also paid tribute to the men who laid down their lives and expressed hope for a world of peace in the near future.

Following raising of the flag at the Soldiers' Plot in Nelson Memorial Park by a party of Legion members under the command of President N. A. Brown, accompanied by a party of Sea Cadets led by Lieut. Peter Marken, 140 Legion members and Ladies' Auxiliary members marched to the cenotaph under Parade Marshal C. W. R. Harper, immediate past president of the Nelson branch.

Keeping watch at the cenotaph under reverse arms were Sgt. Major Smith, 111th Battery; Sea Cadet Zanon, H. Stewart, former enlisted R. C. A. F., and Const. Everson, R.C.M.P.

Last Post was sounded by S. J. Newell and the Lament was piped by Piper James Ritchie.

Wreaths were laid at the cenotaph by the Canadian Legion, Ladies' Auxiliary to the Legion, City of Nelson, 111th Battery, Nelson Sea Cadet Corps, I.O.D.E., Oddfellows, and Hon. W. D. Black, minister of municipalities and provincial secretary for the province of B.C.

At the annual Remembrance Day banquet held at the Legion in the evening, 240 heard Mayor Kary express gratitude to all veterans present for their willingness and courage to fight for democracy so that "we in Canada are able to live in a democratic way." Mayor Kary also asked remembrance for those "who went and did not come back," giving their lives for King and country.

TO HELP OTHERS

Zone Commander Cecil Pitt of Rossland, also speaking at the banquet, dwelt on the importance of membership in the Legion of active veterans not for their own benefit but for the benefit of those in need of assistance.

The work of the Zone Council was outlined by Zone Chairman S. J. Newell, who pointed out the Canadian Legion is more than a drinking club, standing for service.

Auxiliary President Mrs. A. D. Allen also spoke briefly.

Vice-Zone Chairman Ronald Hill of Fruitvale in addressing the banquet expressed the opinion that a membership drive would raise the prestige of the Legion with the Dominion Government.

He also spoke of present unrest and rumors of another conflict. "If all exservicemen stood behind the Legion, a great step would be achieved in preventing war.

Following the banquet, a dance was held.

New Cathedral Administrator Welcomed Here

Very Rev. Frederick Monaghan has officially taken over his duties as administrator of the Cathedral of Mary Immaculate. He succeeds Rev. W. J. Harrison, who has gone to serve the parish of Revelstoke.

Father Monaghan, 15 years parish priest at Kimberley, is no stranger to Nelson for 20 years ago he made his headquarters at the rectory here when he was on the Kaslo-Slocan-Salmo missions.

Father Monaghan preached at Masses here Sunday, and offered the High Mass at 10:30 a.m. In the evening he was guest of honor at a parish social at which a program was presented consisting of numbers by Miss Enid Prime, pianist, senior choir, girls of Grade IX, and the girls' choir of St. Joseph's Academy.

Both Most Rev. Martin M. Johnson, Bishop of Nelson, and Father Monaghan spoke briefly. G. H. Gelinas was chairman.

CARS CLASH ON BAKER STREET

Two cars received minor damage Tuesday night when a Saskatchewan car pulling out from the curb on Baker Street and an oncoming Nelson car were in collision.

Ralph Orloski of Estevan, Sask., who was pulling out from the curb, and Lawrence Smith, a Nelson youth, were drivers. Left front fender of Orloski's car and the right front fender of Smith's car were damaged. Saskatchewan car is owned by Stanley Kopec of Citlou, Sask.

The accident occurred about 10 p.m. in the 500 block. Police are investigating.

NEGRO GUILTY ON LEERING CHARGE

YANCEYVILLE, N. C., Nov. 11 (AP)—An all-white male jury today found Mac Ingram, a Negro tenant farmer, guilty of assault on a female by "leering" at her.

Judge Frank Armstrong said he would pass sentence tomorrow.

Ingram was charged with assault on an attractive 'teen-aged farm wife, Mrs. Willie Jean Boswell Webster, who testified that the middle-aged Negro father "eyed" her from "about 75 feet" on her father's Caswell County farm. Ingram denied he had criminal intentions. He said the girl was dressed in jeans and "looked like a boy" when he attempted to inquire of her where he could borrow a trailer.

Under North Carolina law no bodily contact is necessary for conviction of assault.

The woman also testified Ingram chased her across a field but did not get within 65 feet of her.

The Weather

Quesnel, Comox and Abbotsford tied for honors as the warmest spot in B.C. Sunday when each recorded a high of 55. Most other points were close to 50 or slightly above normal for early November.

A moderately strong flow of moist air from the ocean will tend to keep coastal weather showery and interior skies cloudy. However, this evening should bring partial clearing on the coast which will carry over to the interior Thursday.

Dollar Gap Is Britain's Top Problem; Production Moving Steadily Ahead

Britain is taking gigantic steps in reestablishing sound economic condition which it lost in two world wars, J. C. Ridland, British vice-consul in Spokane, told Rotarians at a luncheon in the Hume Monday.

Much of the credit is due to the indomitable spirit of the British people whose complete cooperation has resulted in speedy recovery in the economic crisis. Trade volume, Mr. Ridland said, has increased by leaps and bounds over the last few years. Establishing volume in 1938 at 100, in 1947 it jumped to 109 and in 1952 to 174. Using 1938 as 100, industrial production, too, has increased from 129 in 1941 to 144 in 1951, Mr. Ridland pointed out.

Coal production in Britain, he said, has steadily increased until today, the coal matter looks "much more hopeful" than it did just after World War II. With continuous improvement in pit mining conditions, young and able men are again taking the sub-surface work in the coal mines.

The most serious economic problem at the present time is the dollar gap, stemming from the loss of wealth and fields of production, and continuing through the difficulty of balancing trade with the United States and Canada. Britain must import raw materials for manufacture and must find markets for its produce. Britain, he said, is doing its utmost to boost exports, but the tremendous tariffs placed on British imports by the United Sates makes export to that country extremely difficult.

Mr. Ridland pointed out that the average working hours for Britons is 47 hours per week for men and boys and 42 hours per week for women.

Britain is playing an important part in the defence of the free world against communism and the British hold 19 strategic positions from Berlin to Korea.

Guests at the luncheon were Charles W. Nash of Vancouver and J. Bellene of Trail.

TRAFFIC CHARGE RESULT OF ACCIDENT

John Wallach of South Slocan Monday was fined $50 and $5 costs when he pleaded guilty to a charge of driving while his ability was impaired with alcohol. Stipendiary Magistrate William Evans imposed the fine.

Toll Plan Favored By Socred Group

At least one Nelson district organization is in favor of construction of a toll bridge across the West Arm at Nelson.

At a meeting of the North Shore Social Credit group at the home of E. Stromme, A. Heibey, president, called for a vote on the toll bridge proposal which has been raised recently.

Sixteen out of the 18 members attending the meeting signified they in favor of the plan.

A donation of $25 was voted by the group to W. Rivett, North Shore's delegate to a convention to be held at Vancouver in the latter part of November.

Capacity Crowd Thrilled by National Ballet Presentation

Thunderous applause, curtain call after curtain call awaited stars of ballet at the end of a spectacular performance at the Civic Theatre Monday night. The near-capacity crowd was thrilled and at the conclusion of Casse-Noisette applause rang out for several minutes, lauding a beautiful performance of the National Ballet Company.

Throughout the breathtaking spectacle of Casse Noisette, the audience applauded stars at the end of each dance. In the Nutcracker Prince, danced by David Adams and the Sugar Plum Fairy by Lois Smith, precision in timing, lifts and flashing pirouettes gave the ballet an exciting swift moving finale.

As it was a triumph for the performer, so it was a triumph for the sponsoring Nelson Music Festival Association.

Throughout, a polished professional touch was evident. In Les Sylphides, a mellow blue light lent an air of mystery as dancers twirled to the ever-famous music of Chopin. Exquisite costuming in filmy white and backdrops of artistic geometric designs added to the mystic appearance throughout the performance.

Joyce Hill, Lois Smith, David Adams, Lillian Jarvis, and a chorus of ballerinas displayed astonishing grace.

Act two of world famous "Coppelia," one of the most delightful spectacles of ballet, won a consistent response from the audience who showed their appreciation by heartily applauding each act.

"Coppelia" is the story of a girl whose lover falls in love with a doll. Unaware that it's a doll the lover climbs through the window in search of Coppelia. Meanwhile, Swanhilde, discovers the truth and hides in the doll shop owned by Dr. Coppelius. When the lover climbs through the window, he is set upon by Dr. Coppelius who offers him a drugged drink and the young man falls into a coma. He then brings out his favorite doll, Coppelia who is really Swanhilde in the doll's clothes. Dr. Coppelius tries to bring Swanhilde to life and the reaction is favorable. But Swanhilde, tiring of the game, knocks over all the dolls and reveals the real Coppelia wol who of course is lifeless. She runs off with her lover and leaves Dr. Coppelius heartbroken.

A Chinese doll portrayed by Robert Ito was extremely realistic. Not once did he lose his pose and moved only in a systematic manner when "wound." It was difficult to believe that the dolls, a Chinese, Negro, skeleton and ballerina doll, were in reality ballet stars. They maintained their lifeless pose throughout, moving only when wound, and then in consistent doll-like manner.

Casse-Noisette Act II is the story of a prince whose Kingdom of sweets provides a little girl with entertainment. David Adams and Lois Smith starred in duets and solos. Their nimble feet and graceful movement capturing the hearts of the audience.

Casse-Noisette included Tchaikowsky favorites, Danse Espagnole, Danse Arabe and Danse Chinoise. Filled with mirth, the latter portrayed by Brian Macdonald and Robert Ito in lavish Chinese costumes, drew hearty laughter from the audience.

Pianists June McBride and George Crum provided the music for the performance.

Trail Honors War Dead

TRAIL—Citizens of Trail honored the men who died in two world wars and on the Korean battlefields at Remembrance Day ceremonies Tuesday morning. On Sunday night a large audience participated in impressive memorial rites at the junior-senior high school auditorium at the annual interdenominational service.

At the cenotaph rites Tuesday, Rev. William P. Irving, president of the Trail Ministerial Association, gave a brief address and a prayer was given by Rev. J. Rogers. Canadian Legion, Army, Air and Sea Cadets, and other organizations paraded from the Legion Hall to the Cenotaph. Two minutes silence was observed and wreaths were laid.

Rev. Mr. Rogers conducted the services Sunday night, which was co-sponsored by the Legion and the Ministerial Association, and Rev. Mr. Irving gave the sermon.

Combined choirs of city churches, under the direction of G. R. John, together with the Canadian Legion band, directed by James Forsyth, led the big congregation in the traditional hymns, "O Valiant Hearts," "O God of Bethel" and "All People That on Earth Do Dwell."

The poignant ceremony of presentation and return of the colors, sounding of the Last Post, two minutes' silence and sounding of Reveille, followed by the National Anthem, completed the service.

A parade of Legionnaires and other city groups preceded the service, with both local pipe bands taking part.

Remembrance activities continued Monday night with a members' night at the Legion club, and Tuesday with the annual banquet and dance at the Legion.

JUST CAN'T QUIT HOCKEY

NEW YORK, Nov. 11 (AP) — Edgar Laprade, the Rangers' homesick hero, is due to return Sunday to help New York's National Hockey League entry.

Laprade, a Ranger standout since he won the Calder Trophy as the league's best rookie in 1945-46, decided to retire this year. He wanted to stay with his family and his sporting goods business in Port Arthur, Ont.

Today Ranger manager Frank Boucher, just back from a fruitless trip to the West coast in search of talent, talked to Laprade by phone and persuaded him to come back.

"He said he'd play for a while to help us out," Boucher said. "I don't know just what that means. He doesn't pretend to be in top condition but he has been skating and practicing with a junior team there.

Nelson A.A.'s Hear of Life of Noted Member

Jim A. visited the Alano Club Sunday. Jim A., whose colorful and, in part, tragic life history is one of spellbinding interest, related his story and experiences with clubs like Alano throughout the world. Alano is short for Alcoholics Anonymous.

Jim A. has been a member for five years. He holds an important government position. His 15-year-old son attends an Eastern college for boys and will soon attend one of the West's famed military academies. Jim A. has come a long way in five years.

But prior to that time, he was a "hopeless" drunk. So much so that a friend once said of him, "If A.A. can do Jim any good, they must be pretty good. He's the worst drunk I know."

$200,000 LOSS

The money Jim has spent on liquor and in gambling for which liquor was directly responsible amounted to $200,000.

Jim shrugs his shoulders when he mentions the figure, and thanks to the "great power, whatever it may be" for having carried him through.

"Otherwise, I would not be alive today."

Jim comes from a prominent British family, known throughout the world. The names of some of his close friends and relatives have gone down in history; some are fabulously wealthy, others big names in the movie industry and even in court.

Jim loves B.C. He has lived at the Coast for the past six years and is engaged in intensive work among A.A. groups. "There are more A.A.'s in Vancouver than in the city of London, England," he said. "There are not as many alcoholics in European countries as on the North American continent."

Jim has just returned from a European tour where he spent 80 per cent of his time addressing A.A. groups.

Jim's a quiet person, meticulous about his appearance. His careful choice of words is that of a scholar. To look at him, to know him in his present capacity would deny all the hardships and tragedies he has experienced.

"You know," he laughed, "the famed A.A. motto goes like this: One drink is too many and a thousand not enough."

Meanwhile, in Nelson, A.A. membership has jumped to 20 since its beginning in January. All members are determined to rid themselves of the craving for liquor and all but one of the 20 have done so completely. In their club room — the Alano Club — they hold weekly meetings, they listen to speakers and participate in games and other pastimes.

Slocan Street Lights Cut Off to Save Power

SLOCAN CITY — The water supply feeding its power plant reduced by this Fall's dry weather, Slocan City has cut off its street lighting service and has asked local consumers not to waste electricity.

The situation, however, is not serious, W. E. Graham said Tuesday. "We are only conserving in the event the supply goes much lower."

Slocan City's four-year-old power plant is fed by Gwillam Creek, normally in suficient flow to meet all requirements, but now running low. The plant, generating 100 kilowatts, ample for village needs, has never had a shut down for any length of time in its 24-hour-a-day, year round operations.

Mr. Graham feels that when the freeze comes, the situation will improve.

Meanwhile, he emphasized, there is no need for concern. "We'll always have lights here," he said.

New Denver's power situation is okay, Village Clerk Angrignon said Tuesday.

East Kootenay Polio Case Total at 84

CRANBROOK — Nine new cases of polio in East Kootenay during October brought the 1952 total of cases to 84, with two deaths during the month to bring this total to 14 deaths. New cases were at Fernie and Creston, which were unaffected by the epidemic in East Kootenay until last month, according to the statistical report of the E st Kootenay health unit.

Whooping cough, mostly in Fernie led communicable diseases, with 22 cases, and mumps at 19 cases, all in Kimberley was next. Venereal disease showed 11 cases, five in Fernie and four in Golden-Invermere sections.

Births in the five districts of the unit totalled 69 for the month, and deaths were below normal with a total of 11.

Sanitation services of the unit reported contamination was shown in samples of the Michel water supply taken in October.

Kimberley watershed area was inspected and lack of sanitary precautions by employees of industrial camps operating there was criticized by sanitation officers. Creston village commission has begun discussion of its water supply lines subject to possible contamination. Improved bottle washing methods were recommended to Kimberley dairies following complaints of dirty milk.

Immunization series in baby and children clinics completed during the month totalled 227. Attendance at these clinics increased to 485 youngsters in the five districts. School medical examinations have started through the district. Public health nursing services covered 407 health supervision visits to 392 homes.

KASLO—Kaslo's gala diamond jubilee celebration will be held in August of next year.

This was decided at a public meeting in city hall here, attended by representatives from various city organizations, and interested citizens.

Hand, secretary; Mrs. C. L. Richardson, treasurer; Mr. Richardson, entertainment; N. S. Miller, transportation; Mrs. A. Jardine, housing; C. A. McLeish, public relations; Mrs. F. W. Speirs, properties; Mrs. E. G. Ringheim, historical, and W. J. Hendren, decorations, with power to add to his committee.

Remembrance Day Marked at Edgewood

EDGEWOOD—The members of the Edgewood branch of the Canadian Legion and its Ladies' Auxiliary paraded to St. Agnes Anglican Church on Sunday to attend a special service conducted by the minister, Rev. Thomas Mitchell.

In his address, Mr. Mitchell spoke particularly to the veterans, as well as to the large congregation, of the emergencies and vital need of "filling the gap," reminding them of old war experiences and summing up by applying the need of "filling the gap" in our every-day Christian life in order to avoid any break-through by the enemies of the Kingdom of God.

Mount Allenby in Alberta was named after Field Marshal Lord Allenby, captor of Jerusalem in the First World War.

Fine Weather Enables Start On Bridges in East Kootenay

CRANBROOK — Continuation of good Fall construction weather has resulted in starting of the two new bridges for the new 3.5-mile section of the Southern Transprovincial highway which has been built by the provincial public works this season, six miles south of Cranbrook, to the north end of Moyie Lake.

Bridge tenders were called in late August, and successful bidder for both bridges was Marwell Construction Company Ltd. Both bridges will be of steel and concrete. Cement work with heated aggregate and water in constructing the bridge abutments at the two Moyie River crossings is under way. Piling for the steel work has been put in, and abutments will be finished this Fall if the good weather continues. However, concrete decks for the bridges cannot be properly done during frosty weather and this will be delayed until next Spring, regardless of how nearly the other bridge work is completed this Fall.

ROAD NEEDED

Road construction on this new section, under supervision of district public works engineer J. A. Dennison, has proceeded well, and reached the final stages of top gravelling in anticipation of the 1953 surfacing program. Kingsgate-Radium highway coincides with this section of the Southern Transprovincial, and south of the diversion between these two thoroughfares, contract for a new bridge in Kingsgate vicinity has been awarded General Construction Ltd. This will also be of steel and concrete.

Preparing for winter roads maintenance through Cranbrook district, public works crews have stockpiled fine gravel and sand mixed with calcium chloride for added protection for use after snowplowing on slippery stretches, and boxes of sand mixed with this chemical are being constructed alongside hills which become difficult to drive as ice accumulates.

EQUIPMENT SHED

With major 1952 road projects in the Cranbrook district nearing completion, crews have been engaged in new construction work at the headquarters near the government building where start has been made on an equipment shed. Foundation for the 80 by 40-foot building is cement on an excavation and building of the frame structure on it will wait until Spring.

The purpose is to provide covered shelter for heavy equipment such as graders and snowplows between seasons of their uses. These have been stored in the open yard until now. It will provide supplementary shelter space to the big shop and garage where equipment and vehicles in use are maintained and kept during operating season.

Beaver Falls Shop Destroyed by Fire

BEAVER FALLS — A Montrose baker lost his shop here in a sudden fire Monday morning, which left only a big brick oven standing.

J. B. Bennett, owner of the bake shop, saved only some melted lard and a scale from the ruined building. The fire started at about 8:45 a.m., just after Mr. Bennett had left the building to go home to Montrose for breakfast He had built up the fires, ready for the day's baking.

Neighbors spotted the flames, believed to have been started by the stove in the kitchen, called Mr. Bennett and the Fruitvale volunteer fire department. Firemen were on the scene in about 10 minutes, but the blaze was beyond stopping. The small one-storey frame building was completely razed, and a house next door was endangered by the flames, but saved by the firemen.

Mr. Bennett, father of four youngsters, sold the products from his bakery at Beaver Falls and through his bake shop in Trail.

He had little insurance on the building.

A Limit No Longer

A generation ago man's farthest North settlement was a little gathering of Eskimos and traders; today it is a city.

That is Thule (pronounced Thiu-li, with the accent on the four-letter syllable), 900 miles from the North Pole, on the West coast of Northern Greenland.

Owing to the critical condition of international relations around the more livable zones of this globe, men have gone up there in great numbers. Several thousand live there, amid a maze of air strips, barracks, piles of oil drums and army trucks, brought in by ships in the intervals when solid ice does not block the way.

A community of that size, serving as a base for daily flights over the pole, belies the name that was given by the early voyager, Pytheas of Massilia, to all of that area and Iceland, Norway and the Shetland and Orkney Islands. He called it Ultima Thule, the farthest limit, and for centuries no one believed that man would venture beyond it; the word Thule even got into the dictionaries as denoting a far away, mystical, unknown region, or an unattainable goal.

A change has occurred. Now it is merely a base for daily operations beyond, over the forbidding frozen expanse of the polar ice cap.

Verse

Hunting Season

The boys went into the hills this morning,
I woke them up about five or so,
And wished them luck,
"Bring back a buck;
"Just be sure it has horns, you know."

They took enough guns and ammunition
To clean up all the deer in the wood;
Some jam and bread,
Because they said:
"If we stay late it'll sure taste good."

"But we'll be bringing you steak for supper,
Or liver and onions would be okay.
And while we eat
And rest our feet
We'll give you an account of the day."

Well, after they've gone I finish the dishes,
Make up the beds and polish the floor.
Hope they didn't get lost,
Keep my fingers crossed—
Maybe I should have got meat at the store.

Long after dark, when I'm getting worried,
Picturing tragic disaster scenes,
Here come the boys—
Yes, there's a voice:
"Hey, Ma—Can we open a can of beans?"

The Nasookin—There Seems a Majesty About a Ship

By C. H. B.

As I stood looking at what is left of the once proud Nasookin I was asked, "What boat is that?" It was a sad sight to me.

There is something about a ship that differs from land transports. There seems a majesty about a ship. It seems that she is a living thing, with feeling.

I tried to give my questioner a description of what this good ship was to the early settlers. How majestic she looked all lit up on a dark night. How she would answer to the swinging of a lantern with a deep blast of her horn and then gracefully glide into the beach if there was no wharf. How the gang plank was shot out. A deckhand would run across and grab your suitcase while you scrambled up. Another blast issued, and the gang plank was pulled aboard, the great wheel churning the water as she slid back and nosed out to her course again.

Yes, she brought the settlers their mail, their food, and took their produce, cows, pigs, horses, as well as humans. She made no distinctions, black, red or white. In her middle she would be pleased to feed you, and on her upper deck, lull you to sleep.

Snow or rain made no difference to her. She just stuck her nose into it and went on at the command of the man at the wheel. A lot of fine men guided her.

She had a good appetite. How we used to love to watch her mouth open for more black food, and to see the shining engine as it thrust its great arms out to turn the wheel.

Many were the good tales told by prospectors in her spacious lounge, too.

If we were sick, she took us to the hospital. She took us to be married. And to many a new-born she frequently gave the first voyage of life.

But she, like so many of her officers and crew, has finished her work. However, she and her crews will linger on in the minds of those left who were proud of her. That is what that "thing" there used to be. Goodbye, stranger.

Can't All Be Professionals

Let's not delude ourselves. The man who sweeps the floor is still the janitor, even though now he's called the "superintendent". The garage mechanic still fixes cars, although he may be a "doctor of motors", in white apron and all.

The business man is still a business man, regardless of how many fancy titles he has, or what his particular schooling may have tried to make him.

A recent letter to The Post comments that the graduate of a university commerce or business course cannot receive a beginning salary commensurate with that of a newly graduated lawyer, accountant or doctor. "The college-trained business youth should receive parallel consideration," says the writer, who himself holds a top-ranking post in Canadian life.

But do the so-called "professionals" receive higher beginning salaries because of the cloak of professional respectability enshrouding them, or because the supply of them is too small to face the demand for their services?

More likely it is the latter.—The Financial Post.

Royal Family Grows

At 26 years of age Queen Elizabeth is head of a family of 40, most of them connected, by blood or marriage to some of the other 400 descendants of Queen Victoria, writes Mollie McGee from London, England, in the Canadian Home Journal.

The article, titled: "British Royalty: The World's Most Complex Family," claims that "contrary to predictions at various periods, British Royalty has not died out; in numbers it has increased. And it is still closely connected with nearly every other European royalty, whether on or off a throne."

Certain important changes have taken place since the days when royalty's marriage to a commoner could be set aside. In the reign of George V, the King permitted his cousin, Princess Patricia of Connaught (who gave her name to a famous Canadian regiment) to marry a commoner and bestowed his blessing on the marriage of his second son to Lady Elizabeth Bowes-Lyon, now the Queen Mother.

It was George V, too who, during World War I, inaugurated the House of Windsor, when six of Queen Victoria's descendants fought for England while five grandsons and a half a dozen great-grandsons were mustered on enemy rolls.

Collector, Trail—How often do British postage stamps change the portrait?

If you mean how often do they bear the portrait of a different individual, the answer is only when a new sovereign comes to the throne. As the years pass, new stamps are frequently issued, bearing the latest portrait of the sovereign.

J. L., Nelson—Has Canada a special group to trace saboteurs? We have been told the R.C.M.P. do this, but doubt it.

In Canada a special branch of the R.C.M.P. follows up every report, rumor or established fact of sabotage.

J. M., Creston—I would be glad if you could print recipes for "spiced currants" and "pickled peaches".

Spiced currants: Four quarts currants, two pounds sugar, one pint vinegar, one teaspoon whole allspice, one teaspoon whole cloves, two teaspoons cinnamon. Wash and stem fruit, combine sugar, vinegar and spices, and boil five minutes. Add fruit and cook until mixture is thick and clear. Seal in sterilized hot jars. Makes about five pints. Frozen currants can be used, or dried currants, soaked overnight.

Pickled peaches: Six pounds peaches (frozen), or dried peaches soaked overnight, two ounces stick cinnamon, broken, one ounce whole cloves, three pounds sugar, one pint vinegar, one cup water. Peaches must be peeled. Dip in hot water and leave a few minutes if fruit has not been previously peeled. Tie spices in bag. Combine sugar, vinegar, water and spices, and boil together until clear, about 15 minutes. Add peaches, only enough at one time to fill one jar, and cook till tender. Repeat until all are cooked. Pack in sterilized jars, fill with hot syrup, and seal.

Today's Bible Thought

Today and 2500 years ago people have usually the kind of leadership they want and deserve. Leaders sometimes arise because they flatter and make false promises, and stir up prejudices. We should elevate just and honest and intelligent men and follow them, and avoid the charlatans.

O my people, they which lead thee cause thee to err, and destroy the way of thy path.
—Isaiah 3:12.

From an Oldtimer's Notebook

by R. G. JOY

Remembrance Day! Yes! We remember those last great wars. Then came peace and rejoicing because of victory over what the selfishness of human kind may call "the law of the jungle."

I suppose that law means "an eye for an eye."

We heard that wonderful rendering of the service for Remembrance Day by Andrew Allan o Vancouver. We heard the sounding o the Last Post.

We remember Armistice Day in Nelson when for the first time the school children, fraternal societies and representatives of our churches, gathered at the cenotaph to help us remember that we too shared a responsibility. We were there at the cenotaph to remember many that we knew in youth and strength, who had a good outlook on life, unsullied by bitter experiences.

There was one who nearly 2000 years ago laid down His life we are told, that we may remember that He took upon Himself the form of man that He could know and suffer the adversities and sorrows of mankind.

I remember a humble Chinaman who, when I asked him, "what is the trouble in China?" His answer was "too many rich, too many poor."

Then came another war when Japan fought China and the same Chinaman, a humble laundryman, starting the conversation, complained about the injustice of wars.

I answered, "Well, John, if you have something precious in your home you guard it with all your might, asking aid from the law of the land, but if you get careless with your treasurer there are many who will take it away."

Later the Nationalist party of China was formed and Sun Yat Sen established a new government and now another party called "Reds" are in power. We are told that Communism is a danger to the world's peace, that it behooves us to make ourselves strong. If not a stronger power will come and take our castle. We are told that Communists have no God. We may quote "only the fool has said in his heart, there is no God."

The Christian churches are endeavouring to unite and follow the teachings of Christ, "bear ye one another's burdens," and preach the gospel of our Saviour.

I remember the late bishop of London, Bishop Ingram, giving us a sermon at St. Saviour's Pro-Cathedral some years ago. It was very interesting, pleasing to the ear and bringing back the memories of the old land. In the evening service a young student, (an aide to the Bishop) took the pulpit and preached the gospel. His words came to us similar sermon given by the late faith in what is good. I remember a giving us hope and increasing our Rev. Gordon Calthrob, of St. Paul's Cathedral in London. He came to St. Paul's at Margate where I was a young chorister. I went home and wrote down his words in a scribbler (exercise book in England.) Perhaps someday I will copy it for use in my column.

Remembrance Day, yes. It brought memories of the past — and then the radio service ended. Then came a commercial, rendering about vacuum cleaning. It rather spoiled the sentiment, but fully illustrates that commerce is essential. Let us conduct it so we will not say there is no God.

Police Break Up Mau Mau Meet

NAIROBI, Kenya, Nov. 11 (Reuters)—Police smashed in the door of a private home today and broke up a secret Mau Mau ceremony in which two women's faces had been slashed and the arms of a tiny girl tied behind her back.

Twenty men were arrested. The raid took place in the Fort Hall district, 45 miles North of Nairobi.

Police gave no explanation for the attack on the native women. They were not members of the Kikuyu tribe, from which the anti-white Mau Mau cult draws its membership. There was no accounting, either, for action against the little girl.

Mau Mau notices pinned to dead dogs have warned African men, women and children against co-operating with white men in the British drive to crush terrorism in this colony.

CATCH LEADER

Another Mau Mau ceremony was broken up near the Fort Hall railroad station, and 11 Africans arrested. The ringleader was caught in the act of stripping necklaces and other native jewelry from Africans as their contribution to the cult.

In a third incident at Fort Hall, an African was shot in the shoulder while resisting arrest.

Police spotter planes today made wide sweeps over the thick jungles in search of Kikuyu tribesmen who have vanished by the thousands from their reserves since the emergency was declared 22 days ago.

Across the Tanganyika border, about 135 miles South of Nairobi, police rounded up 120 Kikuyu tribesmen. Of the group, 31 were on the Kenya "black list" of Mau Mau suspects.

Sir Edward Twining, British Governor of Tanganyika, said in Dar Es Salaam there were signs the Mau Mau cult was spilling over the Kenya border. All suspects would be deported, he said.

Ottawa to Permit New Policy on Competitive Regional Airlines

MONTEBELLO, Que., Nov. 11 — (CP) — The Canadian government has adopted a new policy to permit "a reasonable amount" of competition among scheduled regional air services, Transport Minister Chevrier has announced.

Trans-Canada Air Lines, however, will continue to have exclusive operations in its present trans-continental air services, he said in a speech delivered at the opening luncheon of the three-day convention of the Air Industries and Transport Association of Canada.

Mr. Chevrier said that following the Second World War competition had to be "virtually eliminated" to allow operators to build up regional businesses.

"However, with the substantial growth of traffic within Canada it is no longer necessary to insist on monopoly conditions with regard to regional scheduled services, and government policy will not forbid the gradual development on a regional basis of a reasonable amount of competition between scheduled air services."

Changes in this direction would be gradual and "related to maintenance of conditions which will establish a sound economic position for the operators."

Government policy would also continue to support development of non-scheduled services, particularly in the development of the north.

PACIFIC FLIGHTS UNCHANGED

Emphasis in international routes was on the establishment of good Canadian scheduled services.

"In the Atlantic area generally these will be provided by Canada Air Lines and within the Pacific area generally they will be provided by Canadian Pacific Air Lines."

Recent extension of services by the government-owned T.C.A. to Germany "by no means represents the end of T.C.A. expansion abroad." Establishment of new routes abroad, however, would be slow because of the problems of making bilateral air agreements with other countries.

"In some cases our plans for extension of Canadian routes may well be seriously delayed if not actually prevented by inability to make arrangements with other governments."

Mr. Chevrier listed recent fiscal changes by the government, lifting tariffs on certain types of imported aircraft, permitting operators to obtain loans from the industrial development bank and allowing them faster depreciation on aircraft for income tax purposes.

These changes would strengthen the financial position of Canada's commercial aviation.

"We now have considerably more twin-engine or larger transport aircraft in the hands of the commercial operators of this country than we had two years ago," said.

"The importance of this, both from the economic and military point of view, cannot be underestimated."

The resignation of Trygve Lie as Secretary-General of the United Nations has opened up a new field of indecisiveness and turmoil during an assembly session which was already sorely beset.

Few were surprised at Lie's announcement, his decision having been told to some and rumored among others last Summer.

It was agreed, too, that he was not being driven out by the attacks of members of the United States Senate committee investigating communism among Americans in the secretariat, or the trouble in the U.N. budget committee, where his operating funds were cut and he was accused of being "imperious." The decision was made long before these attacks.

Nor was Lie's own explanation, that he feared his relations with the Russian delegation might be an obstacle to settlement of the oKrean war, acceped wholly at face value.

His explanation was taken by U.N. observers as an overestimation of his position, which is one of administration, not mediation.

Nobody has been mentioning Lie as an obstacle since Korean negotiations have been transferred from Panmunjom to the U.N.

Indications are that Lie's action traces, as much as to anything else, to the idealistic attitude which he brought to the job, and subsequent disillusionmen over the East-West split which prevents the U.N. from doing what was expected of it.

Whether an effort to replace him will cause another big fight in the U.N. depends largely on the attitudes adopted by Russia and the United States.

If a big fight does develop, it will just about change this session from general assembly to general wrangle. The Korean fight has hardly begun. France is boycotting discussions of her colonial interests. South Africa walks in the shadow of an unexpressed but ever-present threat to quit the U.N. completely over its intervention in her racial problems. Seldom have so many potentials for disruption plagued the organization at once.

Churchill Scores Russian Policy, Hails Recent Eisenhower Election

By MICHAEL NEWMARCH

LONDON, Nov. 11 (AP)—Prime Minister Church, speaking in London's ancient bomb-scarred Guildhall, hailed the election of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower as President of the United States and urged France and Germany to get together for the cause of European unity.

Churchill said "there has been no doubt that thus far it has been the policy of Moscow—for reasons which are obvious—to prevent an agreement from being reached" in Korea.

Saying that the Communist world gained an advatnage in tying down large proportions of U. S. and United Nations resources in the Far East, he added:

"That is why the Kremlin ordered the original aggression to begin and that was why, after President Truman had effectively marshalled the United Nations to repel it, so-called truce tolk have dragged out over more than a year.

"It is a convenient way of dispersing the strength of the free world and preventing or at least delaying the building up of a secure defence against the subjugation of Western Europe.

SALUTES EISENHOWER

The British leader voiced unqualified support for the U. S. refusal to force U.N. prisoners of war in Korea to return to their Communist-ruled homelands. Churchill said he was anxious for peace in Korea, but not "at the price of dishonor."

"It would be a dishonor to send thousands of helpless prisoners of war back by force to be massacred by the Chinese government, which boasts it has actually rid itself of 2,000,000 of its own people."

Churchill spoke at a banquet ending the inauguration of Sir Rupert de la Bere as new Lord Mayor of the City of London.

In his salute to president-elect Eisenhower, Churchill assured him that Britain would work with him "to the utmost limit of our strength for those great causes which we have guarded and cherished in ever greater unity as generations have rolled by."

Among his other points were:

1. Britain is anxious to help the new Egyptian government of Premier Mohammed Naguib and "negotiate with them on friendly terms."

2. Britain, which long held aloof from Jewish aspirations in Palestine, now recognizes Israel has come to stay in the Middle East

Indignant Scot Ends Serenade

WITH THE COMMONWEALTH DIVISION IN KOREA, No. 11 (Reuters)—Dance music from Communist loudspeakers no longer sounds across the Korean sector patrolled by members of the Scottish Black Watch Regiment.

The Communists thought it would be a good idea to make the men homesick by playing the Scottish reel, "De'il Among the Tailors".

That proved too much for a proud Scot who commanded an artillery company.

"Och, the saucy devils," he cried. "I'll give them a devil of a different sort."

With a brisk barrage of 25-pound shells, he halted the serenade. It hasn't been heard since.

Raising Red Flag Brings Prison Term

RIO DE JANEIRO, Nov. 11 (CP) —A sailor accused of raising the Russian flag on a Brazilian warship was sentenced today to six years in prison.

The sentence, imposed on Jose Pontes Tavares, was the heaviest of nine passed under a Brazilian law outlawing the Communist party.

"A very valuable citizen"

When a bank manager was transferred recently a group of citizens wrote the bank in tribute to his sense of public service:

"During the time he was here, we found him to be a very valuable citizen. He always took a deep interest in our community, so we feel we have lost a valuable asset. However, we feel sure that his replacement will be made with a man of similar calibre."

A bank man, by the very nature of his work, becomes part of the life around him. During his training in various branches, and as he takes on growing responsibilities, he learns more and more about people and how his bank can help them. And he brings to his community his personal readiness to serve in any way he can.

McDougall-Morr Rites . . .

Newlyweds Leave on Trip to California

One of the season's loveliest weddings was solemnized in the Cathedral of Mary Immaculate Saturday at 11:30 a.m. when Dorothy Evelyn Morr, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Morr of Cloverdale, was united in marriage to John A. McDougall, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. C. F. McDougall.

Rev. Father A. L. Anderson officiated at the double-ring ceremony.

The bride, given in marriage by Mr. V. A. Duckworth, was exquisite in a gown of white transparent velvet designed and made by herself. Her fingertip veil was held in place by a matching headdress, also of white velvet, and she carried a cascade bouquet of red roses and white carnations.

SISTERS ACT

The attendants, Miss Shirley Morr and Miss Jean Morr, sisters of the bride, were in identical gowns of ruby velvet with matching velvet hats. Their cascade bouquets were of golden chrysanthemums.

Mr. Raymond Halbecque, supported the groom, and the ushers were Mr. T. Waters, Mr. D. V. McDougall an Mrs. C. T. Mangant.

During the signing of the register, Rev. Father L. McKenzie sang, accompanied by Miss Enid Prime.

The bride's mother wore a navy tailored dress with accessories en tone, and a corsage of pink roses. The groom's mother wore silver grey taffeta with black accessories. Her corsage was of red roses.

The reception was held at the nurses home of Kootenay Lake General Hospital, where the bride is a member of the staff. The guests were received by the bridal party, the moth of the bride and parents of the groom.

Mr. Don Hunter proposed the toast to the bride. Sisters of the groom, Mrs. Duckworth and Mrs Mangan, poured, assisted in serving by Mrs. Hunter, Mrs. Waters, Miss Kit Johnson, Miss Bobby Neal, Miss Marjorie Young and Miss Mary MacDougall.

For travelling the bride donned a copper brick gabardine suit with navy accessories and navy top coat.

On their return from a honeymoon spent in California, the couple will reside at 607 Mill Street.

District Woman Active at 80

EDGEWOOD — The 80th birthday anniversary of Mrs. George Jones—"Nan" as she is called here — was an outstanding event.

Born in Buckingham, England, she held the position for 31 years of nurse in the family of Canon Coates. There were seven children in the family, and "Nan" was nurse to each in turn.

In 1934 she came to Canada, following the Coates family even after all the children were grown. Alex Coates of Whatshan, Harold Coates, postmaster at Edgewood, Percy Coates in Revelstoke and Cecil Coates in Vancouver are brothers she nursed.

Although four score years, she cannot receive the old age pension, as she has not lived in this country 20 years, but as far as Nan is concerned, "the Lord has provided so far and always will."

Nan runs the Sunday school in St. Agnes Church, is a member of the Ladies' Auxiliary to the Canadian Legion branch here, and is an active member of the Church Helpers.

A birthday party dinner given by the Legion branch auxiliary was a feature of the celebration.

Women for Key Cabinet Posts

WASHINGTON, Nov. 9 (AP) — A top woman Republican leader said recently that President-Elect Dwight D. Eisenhower has given assurances that he will appoint women to key government posts, possibly including the cabinet or "little cabinet."

Mrs. Ivy Priest, director of the women's division of the Republican National Committee, told a Press conference she intends to recommend the appointment of a woman cabinet member.

Up to now, the only woman ever to sit in the cabinet was former secretary of labor Frances Perkins, appointed by the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Others have served in the so-called "little cabinet" which includes such posts as the secretaries of the army and navy and assistant secretaries of the various departments. In that category, Mrs. Anna Rosenberg is the present assistant secretary of defence.

Publicity Stories of Glamorous Starlets Not Always Truthful

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 11 (AP)—Starlet Lori Nelson is the despair of her studio's press agents. She tells the truth.

Lori, 19, refuses to go along with the usual nonsense. A prompter inquired: "Didn't the studio head discover you while you were playing in a Little Theatre?"

"Nope," she replied blandly.

"Then didn't he see your picture in a San Fernando Valley newspaper?"

"Don't be ridiculous," she chided. "I did some Little Theatre work, but not very much. I got an agent, and he brought me to the studio. The talent man sent me over to see the dramatic coach. She showed me how to read some lines. The executives evidently liked it, and I was signed."

TRUE TALE

And that, friends, is how 99 out of 100 starlets are signed, their publicity notwithstanding.

Lori is said to be an expert rifle shot and a whiz at jujitsu. She learned to shoot in her early days in New Mexico? Does the jujitsu come in handy with Hollywood wolves?

She punctured these myths, too. "I left my home town of Santa Fe when I was 5," she explained. "So I couldn't have learned there. The truth is that my father is an auxiliary sheriff's deputy. Since he does not have a son, he took me along when he went to rifle practice. And he also practised his jujitsu with me."

As for throwing Hollywood wolves over her shoulder, Lori was frank to admit she hadn't dated any.

Lori so far has appeared in a few films in her two-year stay there, including the Ma and Pa Kettle Series. But a great deal of her time has been devoted to huckstering pictures on a tour for Compo, the industry's public relations drive.

Winlaw will be the home of William Hugh Sutherland and Shirley Ann Mould, who were married in the First Presbyterian Church here recently, Rev. L. S. VanMossel officiating.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Henry Mould of Vallican, and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Hugh Sutherland of Nelson.

The bride chose a gown of nylon with a lace bodice, a flowered headdress with a fingertip veil, and elbow-length gloves. Her mother's locket and chain and a bouquet of traditional red roses, completed the bridal picture.

Miss Irene Mould, her sister, wore a pale blue nylon gown with a blue flowered headdress, as bridesmaid. She carried a bouquet of pink carnations.

Mr. Laurie Bruce Sutherland supported his brother, and two other brothers, Allen of Trail and Ted of Winlaw, ushered the guests. Mr. Mould gave his daughter in marriage.

A wedding dance was held at the Appledale hall by friends of the couple, and a reception was held for 40 friends and relatives at the home of the bride's parents, where the bride's table was centred by a three-tier wedding cake.

Before leaving on a wedding trip to Coeur d'Alene, Missoula and Spokane, the bride changed to a blue taffeta dress with grey accessories.

Junior Red Cross At Peak Strength

TORONTO (CP) — The Canadian Junior Red Cross now has reached a peak membership of more than 1,000,000 school children.

"In these troubled times," says Dr. Muriel Uprichard, national director of the Society, "it is inspiring to know that so many Canadian school children have so thoughtfully pledged themselves to helping others." Since its founding by 15 pupils in a rural school at Northgate, Sask., in 1917, the organization has contributed almost $3,000,000 through its national and international activities.

Wall Just a Start on Vernon Improvements

Reconstruction of the retaining wall on Vernon Street may be only a first step in a general improvement program for Nelson's second important business street.

This was indicated at Monday night's Council meeting when Ald. T. H. Bourque proposed angle parking for the street.

The city has already decided to eliminate its boulevard between Josephine and Hall Streets on Vernon in favor of a centre strip containing light standards, to give more room for traffic in that block.

Alderman Bourque suggested that this be done also in the two blocks between Hall and Cedar Streets, to help solve the city's "serious parking prob.em" in the Civic Centre area.

An alternative suggestion was trimming of the boulevards to a width of three or six feet, making them into flower beds or lawn alone.

Reduction of their size would enable the city to effect angle parking in these blocks. The only place where this is already in effect is on the North side of the 700 block; elsewhere and even there, there isn't enough room for this form of parking, whereby many more cars can be placed in an area than by parallel parking.

ALD. T. H. BOURQUE
. . . a parking solution?

NEXT YEAR PERHAPS

As the public works department is booked up with jobs until Winter sets in, the public works and parks committee will the remainder of this year delve into all angles of improving Vernon Street.

When the retaining wall is finished, paving will be necessary in that area, and may be carried Eastward on Vernon, if the boulevard and parking questions are settled. These would be projects for next year if the incoming Council is in favor of them.

'Phone Rate Hike Protested

In line with the action of other municipalities, Nelson is opposing the B. C. Telephone Company's proposed increase in rates.

Council Monday night decided to send a letter to the Board of Transport Commissioners which will hold a hearing shortly, opposing the proposed increase on the following grounds:

1. Two rate increases were imposed during recent months.

2. The application of the Company indicates that the increase is to be used for capital for the installation and development of equipment whereas the city is of the opinion that such capital should be provided by shareholders in new share capital or loans from chartered banks.

3. The additional revenue paid by subscribers would become taxable in the hands of the federal government and the city does not feel that the subscribers in B.C. should be caused to subscribe to taxation to this extent as compared with Alberta where telephone service does not contribute to federal taxation.

Council also endorsed action of the Union of British Columbia Municipalities in assessing municipalities affected, including Nelson, on a pro rata basis, for the cost of joint opposition by the U.B.C.M. and the provincial government against the proposed increased on a fifty-fifty basis.

WATER RATES TO BE REVISED

City Council is contemplating revision of the city's water rates.

A proposed new rate structure is being submitted to the Public Utilities Commission, and if approved, will be put into effect by Council.

Although the proposed changes would bring an increase in revenue, it is understood that not all classifications of consumers will pay increased rates. Details of the proposed schedule will be announced by the city later.

CHAMBER SEEKS ANOTHER GRANT

Nelson Chamber of Commerce has asked the City for a further grant for publicity purposes.

City Council Monday night referred the request to its Finance Committee.

The Chamber asked for $1500 at the beginning of the year, and has been given two grants of $500 each.

Gov't to Consult City On Post Office Plans

The Dominion government so far is going along with the city in its plans for taking over the post office building as a city hall.

The Dominion government has announced it will build a new post office building here, and when it was learned its plans called for demolition of the present stone structure at the corner of Vernon and Ward Streets, City Council raised a hand.

Nelson has been long in need of new city hall quarters, both from lack of space and age of its city hall, and looked to the post office as a possible way of avoiding eventual city construction, if the money could be raised.

Now, the city has received assurance from Ottawa that it will take no action until the city has been consulted.

And, Mayor Joseph Kary told Council Monday night, the Dominion architect from Vancouver who visited Nelson recently, was in favor of the proposition.

The architect saw no reason why post office construction plans could not be applied to land adjacent to the present post office building.

This would mean the Dominion government would build between the post office and the Klondye Hotel. It already owns a former garage building next to the post office.

TERMS UNKNOWN

There have not, as yet, been any discussions as to the terms by which the city might acquire the post office building.

But Council feels the building would suit its purposes, with certain renovations.

Ald. George Eckmier, chairman of the public works committee, and Quentin Lake, works superintendent, in a tour of the building, found it fireproof, the alderman reported. "The stairways are all that could burn."

It contains ample space for offices, two large vaults which could be used for storing valusable city records, a basement which will hold up to 50 tons of coal, and a good heating system, in addition to living quarters for a janitor.

RATEPAYERS CONGRATULATED ON BYLAW VOTE

Nelson ratepayers Monday night were congratulated for making the vote on the recent city school bylaw the largest ever received here on a money bylaw.

Mayor Joseph Kary, in paying tribute to the representative vote at Monday night's Council meeting, praised the work of organizations such as the Junior Chamber of Commerce which conducts "get-out-the-vote" campaigns at voting times.

Ald. T. H. Bourque told Council that nearly 100 companies eligible for a vote on money bylaws have no appointed agents on the voters' list. In some cases, managers have left Nelson anywhere from two to five years ago, and replacements have not been named.

The Jaycees worked last year on this phase of getting out a large vote, Mayor Kary reminded the alderman.

A total of 1601 votes were cast recently on the city's bylaw authorizing the borrowing of $496,000 toward Nelson school district's big school construction program. Council gave final reading to the bylaw.

NURSES REQUEST LATE BUS RUN

A late bus service for nurses coming off duty at Kootenay Lake General Hospital at midnight has been asked.

Nelson chapter of the Registered Nurses' Association of B.C. requested the extended service in a letter read at Monday night's City Council meeting.

The Mayor and aldermen, on advice from the Transportation Committee on the effect such a service would have on costs and the present shift basis of the municipal bus service, decided that under the present circumstances they are unable to meet the request.

MINNEDOSA, Man. (CP) — Neighbors of Victor Mansbridge, a patient in a Winnipeg hospital, turned out with four tractors and one-way discs to do all the Fall work on his farm. They finished in a day and a half.

Council Jottings

In a meeting which lasted three and a half hours, shorter than usual, Council Monday night passed judgment on several matters of interest to citizens.

Mayor Joseph Kary and three aldermen, W. S. Smith, T. H. Bourque and George Eckmier made a bare quorum for the pre-holiday session. The next regular meeting will be held Monday.

• • •

Notice of termiantion of agreement December 31 was received from the local of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers. A meeting will be arranged by the city at a later date.

• • •

A request from the Parks and Recreation Association of Canada, that the city join the organization, was referred to Council's parks committee. The membership fee would be $10.

• • •

Twin Coach of Canada, Ltd., will do its best to deliver Nelson's order of a gasoline bus before Christmas.

Ald. W. S. Smith, chairman of the transportation committee, informed Council. He was quoting a representative of the firm who was in Nelson recently.

• • •

Nominations for the forthcoming municipal elections are to be taken in the city hall.

• • •

The Councill was appointed as a court of revision to revise and correct the 1952-53 voters' list, the sitting to be held Saturday at 10 a.m. in the city hall.

• • •

The city will take an advertisement in Sun Directories, Ltd., for $125.

• • •

Council accepted an invitation from the Junior Chamber of Commerce to attend a dinner meeting November 21. Committee chairmen will report on various projects undertaken and completed this year.

• • •

The public works committee was given power to act on a request from W. E. Smith that the city remedy a hazardous sidewalk condition in the 600 block of Gore Street.

McCloy Warns of Nazi Revivals

BONN, Germany, Nov. 11 (AP)—John J. McCloy warned in his final report as United States High Commissioner to Germany that neo-Nazis and extreme nationalists "might form a combination willing to set Germany off on another disastrous adventure".

He added, however, that the majority of Germans have no desire to see a revival of the totalitarian state and the West German political parties appear able to control the threat.

McCloy's observations were made in a report to the U.S. State Department covering his three-year term in office. McCloy retired last July, but the report was not made public until today.

The former High Commissioner's words were underlined by the results of Sunday's local elections in three key West German states. A surge to the Right in these elections swept several former Nazi bigwigs back into office.

COVENTRY, England (CP)—The fund established by the Canadian College of Organists to defray the cost of the organ in the new Coventry Cathedral was over-subscribed. A total of $40,000 has been turned over to the Cathedral Reconstruction Committee.

Civilian Pilots, Ham Radio Fans, Subject to EPA

OTTAWA, Nov. 11 (CP) — The Canadian Government has armed itself with power to clean out Communists and Red sympathizers from among civilian fliers and radio operators.

The official Canada Gazette has disclosed that the Cabinet has made one of its rare uses of the Emergency Powers Act.

Under an Order-in-Council it gave Transport Minister Chevrier power to cancel the licences of civilian pilots and radio operators if they are linked with subversive organizations. He can also refuse to issue licences under the same conditions.

A Transport Department spokesman said the move tightens present regulations which provided no way of cancelling pilot licences except for aeronautical reasons, such as inability or inadequate equipment.

Rita Agrees on Settlement Plan

PARIS, Nov. 11 (AP)—The lawyers for Rita Hayworth and Prince Aly Khan today agreed on a settlement whereby Aly will set up a trust fund for the estranged couple's 3-year-old daughter, Yasmin. But they would not say how much money is involved.

The actress had instructed her lawyer to ask for $3,000,000. This was shortly after she filed divorce proceedings in Reno, Nev., about a year ago.

Press reports have speculated that the fund for Yasmin may yield $50,000 a year, but there was no confirmation from the lawyers. The Prince set up a $3,000,000 fund for each of his two sons by a previous marriage.

City Endorses Planning Move

Endorsation of a resolution asking the provincial government to establish a Lower Columbia Basin regional planning area, was given by City Council Monday night.

The resolution came as the result of a meeting in Trail recently under sponsorship of the B.C. division of the Community Planning Association of Canada.

City Council's representatives at the meeting, Mayor Joseph Kary and Ald. George Eckmier, told Council that a regional planning area embracing West Kootenay communities from Kootenay Lake to the Cascades and from the Slocan to Salmo could be of future benefit.

"In view of the expansion seen for this area, technical advice could be of great help," the Mayor said.

For municipalities conducting planning on their own, it was a costly business, but not necessarily on a group basis.

"If the government is asked to set up this planning area, an estimate of the cost can be obtained, and the municipalities can proceed from there."

Bigger and Better Things for 1953

By The Canadian Press

Canada's record national production is exceeding all estimates this year, but trade forecasters predict even bigger and better things next year.

The 1935 gross national product—sum total of all goods and services produced — is expected to exceed this year's output, now estimated at a peak $22,750,000,000. The original government forecast for 1952, made early this year, was $22,500,000,000.

Capital investment—at a peak $5,200,000,000 in 1952—is expected to go even higher in 1953.

SPENDING IMPROVES

Consumer spending, strong now after sagging in the first half of 1952, is likely to make new gains.

And 1953 exports to the United States, Canada's top customer, are expected to be buoyant, offsetting a less reassuring outlook for sales to other parts of the world.

Summing it all up, says Dr. O. J. Firestone, the Trade Department's economic adviser, "prospects for 1953 are for a continuation of a high level of economic activity and a gross national product exceeding that of 1952."

MIXED OPTIMISM

Dr. Firestone did some crystal-gazing when he spoke before the Montreal Institute of Investment Analysts recently. He mixed optimism with caution and with a touch of unpleasant realism—somewhere along the line, Canada's spectacular postwar expansion may lose momentum.

The first sign, he says, will be on contractors' drawing boards. And some of those drawing boards are not so busy as they once were.

". . . New large-scale resources development and industrial projects are not being planned on the scale that we have become accustomed to in recent years," he notes.

"True, there are some major projects in the offing, such as the St. Lawrence Seaway and the Bersimis River hydro project in Eastern Quebec announced recently.

"Then, there will be new developments that we do not know about today. The point I want to make is that we cannot assume a continuous expansion of our economy at the rapid rate of the postwar years —at some future date the expansion may slow down.

BRIGHTER FUTURE

"An advance indication of this slowing down—even ahead of anticipated capital expenditures which include large outlays for projects already under way—might be a falling off in project planning."

Meanwhile, the more immediate future looked generally bright. There might be some sag in the economy, but this likely would be overcome by a general bulge—the same kind of bulge years, brought national income to the highest level in history and made the Canadian dollar the strongest in the world."

City Asked to Curb Fairview Speeding

City Council Monday night was asked to take immediate action to control speeding in Fairview, especially on newly-paved streets.

The request, which came from the executive of the Hume School Parent-Teacher Association, was referred by Council to the Police Commission.

City Objects to Certification Bid

City Council has opposed an application of Local 2454 of the United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners of America to be certified as the bargaining authority for carpenters, joiners and millwrights employed by the City.

The City has given the following reasons for opposing certification:

1. The City employs no joiners or millwrights, and has no regular employment for a single carpenter.

2. Nelson Civic Employees' Federation, Local 339, has already been certified by the Labor Relations Board as bargaining agent for all employees other than firemen, policemen and electrical workers.

The City's submission will be taken into account in the Labor Relations Board's investigation of the application, Council has been informed by the Board.

City's Road Tax To Be Abolished

The poll tax went last year, and now the road tax is on the way out in Nelson.

City Council Monday night gave two readings to a by-law which will repeal the City's road tax by-law. Revenue from road and poll taxes has been $1400, and collection work has been difficult.

Nelson took a cue from other B. C. municipalities last year when it repealed the poll tax. Many at that time also eliminated the road tax.

Council also gave final reading to a by-law setting aside a Falls Street area as a playground.

Power Plant Output Continues to Rise

Nelson power plant output is still going up, City Council members noted at their Monday night meeting.

The report for October showed production increased 11.28 per cent from that of the same month last year, climbing from 2,122,400 to 2,362,000 kilowatt hours. The average load gained similarly. The peak load was up 14.43 per cent from 4850 to 6500 kilowatts, and the minimum load rose 3.7 per cent from 1350 in October, 1951, to 1400 kilowatts, but station service dropped from 11,900 to 11,800 kilowatt hours.

B. C. Gold Miners Face Desperation Without Larger Federal Subsidies

OTTAWA, Nov. 11 (CP)—Canada's gold mining communities have appealed to the Federal government for bigger gold-mining subsidies to avert what they called a "perilous" economic situation threatening the future of 132,000 Canadians in mining areas.

"Pioneers we are, but we have no inclination to become nomads," a delegation said in a joint brief submitted to Prime Minister St. Laurent and his cabinet.

The 32 representatives from mining towns in British Columbia, Yukon, Manitoba, Ontario and Quebec said that the rigid official price for gold and the climbing Canadian dollar is threatening to close many gold mines.

BRIDGE RIVER PLIGHT

An indication of the industry's plight was the situation facing communities in the Bridge River Valley of British Columbia, the spokesmen said.

"The 2500 persons in these communities are completely dependent on gold mining for their living. Because the valley is 50 miles west of the Pacific Great Eastern Railway all freight, supplies and personnel must be transported 50 miles over a mountainous road.

"The lowered value of gold has placed the mines maintaining these people in difficulties. Closure of these mines would necessitate the mass evacuation of the people in the valley to some other centre.

POSSIBLE TOTAL LOSS

"It is certain that many of them could not pay their way out of the valley, and for those who own their own homes, their investment would be a total loss. Many of the people have lived in these communities for 20 years."

The situation in that B.C. area, said the representatives, was acute but it was not untypical of the situation facing most other mining communities across the country.

Before the coming of the railways, Lake Champlain was the principal route between Canada and New York.

Churchill Against Sending British Minister to Korea

LONDON, Nov. 11 (Reuters) — Prime Minister Churchill told the House of Commons today he does not think there would be any advantage in sending his minister of defence, Earl Alexander, to Korea with United States president-elect Eisenhower.

He was speaking in response to members' questions prompted by the Eisenhower's announcement that he would go to Korea soon.

Churchill said he believes any policy changes Eisenhower may propose "should be discussed in the usual manner through the foreign office and also, if necessary, between heads of governments."

Replying to questions from Labor and Conservative members on whether he would nominate Alexander to accompany Eisenhower, the prime minister said that no invitation to send a British representative to Korea had been received.

Blue Ribbon to United States

NEW YORK, Nov. 11 (AP)—The Duke of Sutherland arrived today with the Atlantic "Blue Ribbon" trophy and said the English people "feel pleased" that the United States won it from them.

"They feel it's your turn," the Duke told newspaper men.

The Duke arrived aboard the United States Lines flagship, the United States, which won the award, know nas the Hales Trophy, with a record-breaking Atlantic crossing last July.

The gold and silver trophy, five feet high, will be presented at a dinner aboard the vessel Wednesday night.

The United States swept past Bishop's Rock off the English coast last July 7 to compete its record west-east crossing in three days, 10 hours and 40 minutes.

Thas was 10 hours and two minutes faster than the previous record set 14 years earlier by the Queen Mary.

STATE TROOPERS are seen filing into a cell block at the Menard Penitentiary at Chester, Ill., after 363 rioting prisoners gave in to an ultimatum issued by Governor Adlai Stevenson to surrender or be stormed upon by State troopers. Seven guards, held as hostages and threatened with death if any armed force sought to rescue them, escaped unharmed after their harrowing ordeal, which lasted for five days. Listing bad food, late mail as some of their complaints, the rioting prisoners demanded the complete acceptance of their grievances by the Governor before they would release their hostages. However, Stevenson flatly rejected their demands, and in turn began a "get tough" policy himself.—Central Press Canadian.

TORONTO, Nov. 11 (CP)—Fluoridation of water, talked of in Toronto as a means of preventing tooth decay, was opposed by the Christian Scientists today on the grounds that it is a method of community medication in a letter received by city councill. Frederick Boorer, on behalf of the religious sect, said there were differences of opinion as to the effectiveness of fluoridation. He suggested putting the question before the public in a plebiscite.

Peiping Radio Gives Hint to New President

TOKYO, Nov. 11 (AP)—A Peiping broadcast said today President-elect Eisenhower could do nothing about ending the Korean war unless "U.S. ruling circles" abandon "their preposterous proposal for forcible detention of war prisoners."

In its first reference to Eisenhower's forthcoming trip to Korea, Peiping asserted "Eisenhower's ambiguously worded promise to end the Korean war enabled him to win a majority of votes."

A broadcast recorded here was quoting at length from an article in People's Daily, official organ of the Chinese Communist Party.

"Eisenhower," said People's Daily, "must prove to these Americans immediately that he is not an utter fraud. However, unless U.S. ruling circles change their policy in Korean negotiations by abandoning their preposterous proposal for forcible detention of war prisoners, Eisenhower cannot offer such proof."

People's Daily called Eisenhower a "bloodthirsty warmonger" and said that "Wall Street resorted to a deceptive method of 'rotation' by taking Eisenhower out of the army to replace Truman."

Serve Yourself Idea for "Pubs"

VANCOUVER, B. C., Nov. 11 — (CP)—All-night liquor stores, free lunches in beer parlors and the customer's privilege of pouring his own shot of whisky at a bar are among the proposals offered by British Columbia citizens to a commission of inquiry that wants to know how they would prefer to do their drinking.

The three-man commission, which will present its findings to the Spring session of the B. C. Legislature, was set up by the Social Credit Government after a plebiscite last June favored sale of liquor by the glass on a local-option basis. The commission was asked to look into the best methods of establishing more liquor outlets.

Members of the commission are H. H. Stevens, a Federal Cabinet Minister in two Conservative administrations and President of the Vancouver Board of Trade, chairman; Dean Cecil Swanson of Christ Church (Anglican) Cathedral, Vancouver, and George Home, Secretary of the B. C. Federation of Labor.

Since its appointment in September, the commission has held sittings at Vancouver, on Vancouver Island and at Prince George.

COMMENT BY STEVENS

The Fort George Social Credit Association suggested that the Government own and operate cocktail bars. Ten Vancouver men formed what they call the Pub Committee for Public Betterment and urged a graded system of licences for various establishments which might sell liquor—hotels, night clubs, restaurants, resorts and so on. The Pub Committee said that if a publican tossed away garish Neon signs and installed more comfortable chairs, his licence fee should be lower.

The "pour-your-own" proposal came from Patrick Gibson, a witness whose views were termed "very refreshing" by Mr. Stevens.

"You don't know what you're getting when they serve you a drink now," Mr. Gibson said. "A man should be able to buy his drink, have the bottle set upon the bar and pour it himself."

TV Blamed for Nail-Chewing

TORONTO, Nov. 10 (CP) — Constant watching of television has caused an outbreak of thumb-sucking and nail-chewing among children, Dr. Kyle W. Preis of Baltimore said today.

Visiting Toronto for the Great Lakes Othodontists Society meeting, Dr. Preis said these unconscious habits could lead to serious dental trouble.

He advised parents to study their children as they watched the television screen. If they noticed such habits as leaning on a hand on one side of the face for long periods, they should take steps to correct it.

"Various popular articles have done great harm in confusing parents about the habit of thumb sucking," Dr. Presis said. "But we can definitely say at this stage that thorough investigation has proved constant thumb-sucking in growing children to be one of the main causes of abnormal dental conditions."

British Member Startles House

LONDON, Nov. 11 (AP)—A Conservative Member of Parliament shocked the House of Commons today by declaring that the old British custom of taking time out for a cup of tea was "completely crazy".

Brig. Ralph Rayner said hard-working Germans, Belgians and Americans don't do it, and neither should Britons.

"We just can't afford such things as tea breaks, they cause a very serious loss all over the country," he declared.

This was too much for tea-drinking J. T. Price, Labor, who asked: "And what contribution has fox-hunting, in which I believe the Brigadier is interested, made to the national economy?"

Air-Service Planned South America to Asia

SEIGNORY CLUB, Que., Nov. 11 (CP) — Plans for a new Canadian enterprise in transporting Orientals between South America and Asia were disclosed at the meeting of the Air Industries and Transport Association.

The new service still hinges on obtaining air agreements with some of the South American countries, but G. W. G. McConachie, president of A.I.T.A. and head of Canadian Pacific Airlines, expressed confidence it will develop into a lucrative business for Canada and Canadian aviation.

What C.P.A. seeks is a once-a-week service running from Vancouver to Mexico City, Lima, Peru, and Rio de Janeiro. This, Mr. McConachie said in a press conference attended by Mr. Chevrier and John Baldwin, chief of the Air Transport Board, would mean Canada would have the first convenient carrier joining Asia with South America.

USE GIANT PLANES

This alone would mean a trade business for Canada of better than $2,000,000.

For the Asia-to-South America service C.P.A. plans to use DC-6B aircraft, capable of carrying 66 passengers.

Difficulty for Orientals in travelling between Asia and South America on existing carriers, Mr. Baldwin explained, is that there is no through route and transit visas are difficult to obtain in some of the countries, particularly in the United States. C.P.A. would offer a direct, through route which would eliminate these difficulties.

In his luncheon address, Mr. Chevrier outlined government policy on commercial air line development and indicated that while this may be subject to gradual change, it will still not envisage federal subsidies, such as those given commercial air lines in the U.S., Britain and other countries.

Canada had "proven, sooner than any other country in the world, that commercial aviation can stand on its own feet."

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (CP) — Competition from highway and rail traffic threatens to close the 327-mile excursion voyages on the Gota Canal from Gothenburg on the North Sea to Stockholm on the Baltic. The route has been a tourist attraction for 120 years.

Coronation Doo-Dads Meet Disapproval

LONDON, Nov. 11 (AP)—Critics had a preview today of souvenirs intended to dazzle coronation visitors next June.

On many of the doo-dads are pictures of the Queen that make her look like many different women.

"According to one bust, she is a slant-eyed high cheekboned eastern goddess type" says the Daily Mirror. "A plaque makes her a matronly 41-year-old with an out-of-date hair style." The Queen is 26.

The exhibition was arranged by the Council of Industrial Design which rejected some offerings and gave others a certificate of good taste.

One rejected piece was an ash tray in which stands a figure of the Duke of Edinburgh with open mouth ready as a rest for a burning cigaret.

Engine On Display

SEIGNIORY CLUB, Montebello, Que., Nov. 11 — A unique display of aircraft products turned by 13 Canadian manufacturers was officially opened at the Seigniory Club where Air Industries and Transport Association is holding its annual meeting.

One of the highlights of the exhibition, the second to be held at the A.I.T.A. annual meetings, is a full-scale model of a British turbo-prop engine which will power the new "Britannia" transport plane.

Bevan Defeated Despite Support

LONDON, Nov. 11 (Reuters)—Aneurin Bevan, leader of the Labor party's left-wing rebels, today lost a bid to become deputy party leader but drew surprising support from Socialist members of Parliament.

Publication of a postal ballot showed that Herbert Morrison had been reelected to the post by a vote of 194 to 82.

This was the biggest parliamentary support to far disclosed for Bevan in an open test of strength with the moderates of the party. Heretofore he has average abo 50 supporters.

Bevan draws support from tho who share his view that Britain attempting too much in her rear ament program, and being too s servient to the United States.

The result of the vote indica that some Labor M.P.s favor Be even though they don't adver the fact in public.

Around the KOOTENAY in Sport

By LEN WALKER

CASTLEGAR—The Castlegar Dominoes, so I have been informed, have given up the idea of entering a team in the Trail Basketball League this season. The reasons given by those in charge of the team are, firstly, the lack of interest shown by players in and around Castlegar; secondly, the men at the head of the local team are still very much dissatisfied with the financial arrangements set forth by the league commissioners.

My remark last week to the effect that Castlegar did not agree with financing the Trail League caused somewhat of a stir around these parts. I would like, at this time, to thank the gentleman who so kindly sent me a nice letter, along with a copy of the rules and regulations. After reading them over very carefully as he instructed me, I still find myself in agreement with the local team on several counts.

I can't help but think that it would be doing a lot for the sport if teams and all concerned would set to and develop the game further in this district rather than trying to make a fortune out of it.

Basketball could be a great sport for this district and I do believe that if everyone were to get together and work for the betterment of the sport rather than worrying about making money, they would find that the fans would turn out in droves for there are a lot of good hoopsters in the surrounding districts.

* * *

Hear and There . . . Had a letter from former sportsman around these parts, Lorne Marshall, last week and he tells me that both he and Wally Day have been working out steadily on the basketball court at the air base in London, Ontario, where they are attending officers' training school in the R.C.A.F. Wally, you will remember, played last Winter with the Motors crew of Trail in the Trail Basketball League while Lorne was a member of the Castlegar Dominoes of the same league. . . . I see by the Press that an old sidekick of mine, when I lived in Kimberley, Jimmy Sommen by name, has once again completed another successful season running kid baseball in that city.

The school for boys and girls wanting to learn the fundamentals of basketball continued last Saturday with a turnout of 150 enthusiastic kids . . . See Johnny Ross, who is attending Calgary Tech, in Castlegar for the weekend and he tells me that the basketball over there in Alberta is really high class ball . . .

* * *

N.H.L. Chatter . . . Turning to the National Hockey League for a few moments, we see that history once again has been made. Nels Stewart's all-time scoring record has finally been surpassed after having stood for a good many years. "Rocket" Richard, after failing to break the mark in three or four games, finally shot the all-important goal in a game against Chicago Saturday night. I for one believe that the Montreal Canadiens' star winger will, before hanging up his skates for good, surpass the 400 goal mark. Regardless of just how many goals the "Rocket" does end his career with, it will be a good long time before any other player will come anywhere close to the mark. The closest active player in the league today is Max Bentley of the Toronto Maple Leafs, who has amassed a total of 230 goals. The only player who looks to have an outside chance of scoring more than 300 goals before coming to the end of his career is Gordie Howe of the Detroit Red Wings.

Well, just to get into the swing of things, I might just as well go on record with my prediction on the finish of the teams in the N.H.L. For first place I will string along with last year's champs, the Detroit Red Wings, followed by the Montreal Canadiens, Toronto Maple Leafs, Chicago Black Hawks, Boston Bruins and New York Rangers. If I so happen to be correct when the league is completed, then I will be able to say, "I told you so," but if I happen to be wrong, which can happen to sports scribes—and often does—as well as fans, then I'll forget I ever wrote this.

HERE'S A WHOPPER! . . . George Holmes of Creston caught this beauty in Kootenay Lake. It measured 29½ inches in length and weighed 11 pounds. A small Gibbs Stewart was the lure George used at the end of an eight-pound test leader.

FOOTBALL AND THE PREMIER

WINNIPEG, Nov. 11 (CP)—An 18-year-old youth last night stole the limelight from Premier E. C. Manning of Alberta.

Photographers and reporters gathered at the runway at Stevenson Field for the arrival of flight five of Trans-Canada Air Lines from Toronto.

Mr. Manning, wearing a light topcoat, stepped off the plane, hesitated on the top step almost expectantly, look around then moved on down the stairs.

No one around the plane made a move.

Finally, a smiling youth stepped to the door, and everyone went into action. Flash bulbs popped and reporters started asking questions.

He was Gerry James, starry halfback of the Winnipeg Blue Bombers, who was flown in to replace an injured player in today's Western Football final here.

Bruins Hold Leafs Scoreless

BOSTON, Nov. 11 (CP)—Boston Bruins scored four first-period goals this afternoon and coasted to a 4-0 victory over the second-place Toronto Maple Leafs. A crowd of 7861 National Hockey League fans sat in on the Remembrance Day contest.

Joe Klukay, Real Chevrefils, Hal Laycoe and Fleming Mackell counted the early goals and the inept Leafs never recovered.

It was goalie Sugar Jim Henry's third shutout of the season and his second over Toronto. The Bruins, who moved over idle Detroit into fourth place in the standings, have beaten the Leafs three times in four starts.

Smokies Start Drive For Coach's Release

TRAIL — Trail Smoke Eaters have led off a drive to raise $2000 required to obtain release of Coach Moe Young from Boston Bruins. The senior club is donating $500 and a collection will be taken at the hockey game here Thursday night.

Young has been placed on the Bruins' suspended list and is therefore subject to banning by the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association. The sum of $2000 is sought before the deadline of Nov. 22, the date the C.A.H.A. is expected to bar the coach from organized amateur hockey.

Decision to raise the money was made by several hockey fans after the Smoke Eater executive informed Tacoma Rockets' manager-Muzz Patrick that the club was unable to pay the $2000 at this time. The parent Boston club demanded the money as part return on an investment made in Young when he played junior hockey with the Regina Pats and later with the Tulsa Oilers of the now defunct United States Hockey League.

By no means an unusual situation the National Hockey League club is merely acting in their own safeguard when they ask that they be paid for Young's release. Feeling that the ex-Tacoma star has many years of hockey left, the Boston organization which has the support of all professional hockey bodies, realizes that once the release has been granted they would be in no position to prevent Young from becoming a member of another team.

Caught squarely in the middle of the situation is the youthful Trail mentor. Unable to purchase his own release he must either sit out of hockey until the suspension is lifted or return to Tacoma. Since Young has no intention of returning to pro hockey ranks the local executive felt that a more reasonable payment might be made. This was turned down by Boston whose stipulated sum is far out of the reach of the local club.

Since the payment of the $2000 would permit Young to act as both player and coach, his energetic supporters feel that any effort they might make on his behalf to be well worth while.

SONJA HEINIE CANCELS ICE SHOW

DETROIT, Nov. 11 (AP)—Sonja Henie, long one of the world's leading skaters, has cancelled her new ice show which was to have been shown in Detroit next week.

The former Olympics champion said prohibitive costs of playing in small arenas has forced discontinuance of her planned show. She said she would await new offers from the theatre or television.

Miss Henie and her husband, Winthrop Gardiner, Jr., reportedly invested $500,000 in the new show which had a $30,000 weekly payroll.

Eskimos Make Football History, Win Way to Grey Cup Final 22-11

By AL VICKERY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

WINNIPEG, Nov. 11 (CP)—In one of the most amazing comebacks in football history, Edmonton Eskimos today won their first berth in the Grey Cup final since 1922 by defeating Winnipeg Blue Bombers 22-11 for the Western football title.

It was a sweet victory for Frank Filchock, making his first start as a coach in the Western Interprovincial Football Union.

The Eskimos came from behind a third-quarter 11-9 deficit to win on two touchdowns by Frankie Anderson.

Esks have had their backs to the wall since the Western Interprovincial Union playoffs started. They overcame a 19-point deficit to roar back for a 42-38 win in the two-game total-point semi-final against Calgary Stampeders.

They dropped the first game of the best-of-three final 28-12 to the Bombers, but forced the series to the limit by winning the second last Saturday 18-12.

The last two seasons, Esks played the role of bridesmaids, losing out in 1950 to Winnipeg and to Saskatchewan Roughriders in 1951.

It was an alert Edmonton crew which dumped the favored Bombers today. Their charging line kept the Winnipeg offensive off balance most of the game, while quarterback Claude Arnold, teammate of Anderson's at the University of Oklahoma, passed the league champions dizzy.

The partisan crowd of 9600 crowded onto the field at Osborne Stadium as the final gun sounded to congratulate the new Western titleholders, then quietly left the park. Many appeared dazed as they tried to realize their Bombers, who won the league title handily, had come to the end of the football trail for 1952.

The 100-odd fans who travelled to Winnipeg from Edmonton whooped it up as the Esks made their way to their bus and back to the hotel headquarters.

BOMBERS START IN HIGH

It looked like Bombers would play it cosy when they took a 5-0 lead in the first quarter on kicking plays—two singles and a field goal, all by quarterback Jack Jacobs. Esks grabbed a slim 6-5 lead at the half, but were behind 11-9 at the three-quarter mark. The last quarter was all Esks as Arnold found Anderson on two passes for major scores.

All-star end Rollin Prather from Kansas State scored the other touchdown for Esks, while tackle Wilbur (Bill) Snyder added seven points on three converts, a field goal and a single. Snyder, former Los Angeles Ram, was top scorer with 13 points in the second game.

The weather was cool throughout the rugged contest, with the temperature hovering around 30. The wind was light but a smoky mist caused officials to switch on the floodlights near the end of the game.

After the game, Filchock said:

"The whole team played terrific ball. You just couldn't single out one man."

He spoke highly of his line, led by the hard-charging former Toronto Argonaut guard, Frank Morris.

FANS WHOOP IT UP

A business-like bunch of Edmonton Eskimos who took defeat in stride and came back to win, today took victory much the same way.

Winners over Winnipeg Blue Bombers in the Wsetern football final, Eskimos lost little time in cheers and back-slapping and hustled back to their hotel to get on with the next job—packing gear for night flights to Edmonton.

The 100-odd fans who accompanied Esks here were more excited than the team as they whooped it up for Edmonton and "on to the Grey Cup."

Coach Frankie Filchock, whose old reliable crystal ball came through again—he said the Esks would win although they dropped the first of the best-of-three series—said the whole team played terrific ball.

"You just couldn't single out one man," he said. "The boys did it again. That line was right in there every time.

"It was a good win and we beat a good ball team."

Still predicting victory in the Grey Cup, Filchock said he plans to dress for that game. A shoulder separation kept him out of the last two.

Either Toronto Argonauts or the Hamilton Wildcats will be plenty tough, he said.

"CAN'T BELIEVE IT"

The Winnipeg Blue Bombers ended the football season quietly.

In the third-floor dressing room at the training camp in neighboring St. Boniface, coach George Trafton sat alone in his little glass-panelled room a few minutes after Bombers lost 22-11 to Edmonton in the Western final.

Outside, the players sat around pulling tape off ankles, taking showers and being worked on by the trainers.

"I just can't believe it," the Bomber coach whispered, "but there it is."

"I congratulated Frankie Filchock right after the game," he said.

"I hope he goes all the way—the Eskimos won't disgrace the West," he said quietly, tears in his eyes.

"You'll have a Grey Cup winner next year, George," someone said. "Edmonton's been knocking at the door for a while now—next year—Winnipeg."

Nelson Downs Castlegar

CASTLEGAR — Led by Ian Corner and Bud Godderis, the Notre Dame College boys basketball club of Nelson Saturday defeated the Stanley Humphries high school boys 24 to 12 in a game played before a fair crowd in Castlegar.

Notre-Dame jumped into an early lead in the first quarter and never were in much trouble throughout the entire contest. The local lads fought gamely from start to finish.

Corner was high marksman of the evening picking up eight points while Castlegar was led by Joe Zeeban with six points. Notre-Dame led 9-4 at half time.

McKechnie Cup Game Ends Scoreless Draw

VANCOUVER, Nov. 11 (CP) — Vancouver Reps and Varsity Thunderbirds played to a scoreless draw in one of the two opening McKechnie Cup English rugby games today.

About 300 persons watched the game which was clean and hard-fought from start to finish on a waterlogged ground. Rain fell in the early part, but later on the sun came out.

Vancouver had slightly the best of the play because of the superiority of the forwards, among whom Graham Budge and Lionel Jenks were standouts. Joe Wardle and Russ Henschel starred in the backfield. Varsity played well as a team, and were always up on the ball. Twice they intercepted Rep passes and raced for the line, but each time brilliant tackles stopped them from scoring.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE—Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Canada's Oil Can Supply Future Need

CHICAGO, Nov. 11 (AP) — S. M. Blair, vice-president of the Trans Mountain Oil Pipe Line Company of Toronto, said today that Canada's crude oil production can reach a rate of 300,000 barrels daily during the Summer of 1953 and may be 10 per cent higher by the end of the year.

He told some 6000 oil and gas men at the annual convention of the American Petroleum Institute that by the end of 1953 Canada's "major oil transportation will be by pipe line."

"The three refineries on the West coast, the refineries across the great prairies, and the refining centre at Sarnia (Ont.) can then all receive their crude supplies from the Canadian prairies by way of long-distance pipe lines," he added.

Blair forecast that Canadian oil production next year should be sufficient to fill 70 per cent of Canadian needs and within the foreseeable future will equal consumption.

Capital Pays Tribute To Two Wars' Dead

OTTAWA, Nov. 11 (CP)—The massive base of Canada's National War Memorial tonight was bright and sad with color.

The wreaths that crystallize a country's sorrow for 100,000 war dead were deep around it, just as they were deep around 10,000 other monuments that emulate its vigil from one coast to the other.

They were heaped by the great and the little people of the Canadian capital as a last human gesture of gratitude in the traditional 11 o'clock Remembrance Day service for the war dead.

The first wreath was that of Governor-General Vincent Massey, placed for the first time in seven years by a civilian in dark formal clothes instead of by a soldier in the grey greatcoat of a field marshal, his predecessor, Lord Alexander.

The second was that of a mother twice bereaved, Mrs. Daniel McCann of Ottawa who acted for all the mothers of Canada.

The third was that of Prime Minister St. Laurent for the government of Canada, the fourth that of the Canadian Legion for he veterans of Canada.

The tohers came later; soldiers, sailors and airmen. There were hymns, two minutes' silence, the Last Post, the rumble of drums, the muted message of trumpets.

When it was all over, the troops marched away, probably as numerous as they have been outside the years of war. The dignitaries drove off down Wellington Street to lay the cornerstone of a monument to the survivors of war, the new headquarters of the Department of Veterans Affairs.

It was then that the wreaths began to mass around the monument. Representatives of societies, clubs, regiments, churches, unions, individuals, departments of government all came forward.

Last of all came the wreaths of the foreign embassies of many lands. Among them were names that sounded strange in this solemn setting—the names of Japan and Germany.

But absent was the name of Russia.

Teen-Agers Learn Home-Making Art

By JOHN DUDMAN

LONDON, Nov. 11 (Reuters). — Hundreds of tenn-age London boys and girls are pairing off as "man and wife" under school supervision and living for a day in a three-room apartment to prepare them for married life.

Headmaster Walter Wheeler of Thes Creek Manor School told a reporter today that each couple spends a day in the furnished apartment adjoining the school in their final year there.

The 611-student school, run by the London County Council, serves as a showcase for visiting educators from many countries.

The boy and girl start the day by making the double bed together. While the girl cooks a real lunch, her "husband" sweeps up and polishes furniture. After lunch, they wash dishes together and entertain visitors to tea.

At the end of the day, the girl takes a bath. Her husband sits by a fire and reads the evening paper. A teacher supervises the entire operation.

"There is no sex instruction," Wheeler said. "They absorb that naturally in their biology lessons. We concentrate on teaching them the art of home-making."

The 62-year-old headmaster said the course teaches boys not to become a husband who disappears into the corner tavern immediately after his evening meal.

"This course," he said, "is one answer to the rising divorce rate and the crime wave now sweeping Britain."

How do the male students take to the training?

"They positively clamor for it," Wheeler said.

Not Enough Grain To Load Ships

MONTREAL, Nov. 11 (CP)—Montreal's navigation season is in its final weeks and shipowners said today they can't get enough grain to fill waiting ships.

Some grain earmarked for Montreal delivery early this month hasn't left elevators at the head of the Lakes and there are delays in loading ocean ships.

One shipper said the situation is "the worst in years" and "we are getting too many wrong grades which are not acceptable for export purposes."

Another owner said export volume up to now has been heavy but because of slow movement from the Great Lakes elevators are far from filled.

Weather conditions will govern the closing of navigation out of Montreal. It usually precedes the final colsing down on the Lakes Canals are expected to close early in December.

CORONATION ROBE BEING PLANNED

LONDON, Nov. 11 (AP)—A firm of London costume makers—Ede and Ravenscroft, Ltd.—announced today it had been commissioned to make the robe which the Queen will wear for her coronation next June 22.

Many details about the robe are hush-hush, but a spokesman for the firm said it will be hand made of silk and satin, purple velvet with ermine tails and embroidered in gold. The Queen herself will choose the design. All materials will be of Commonwealth origin.

After preliminary cutting and fitting parts of the robe will be sent to the Royal School of Art Needlework, where experts noted for precision will do the embroidery.

The robe is worn only once. After the coronation it becomes a national treasure, to be preserved for the eyes of future generations.

14 FREIGHT CARS DERAIL, 10 LOADED

SPOKANE, Nov. 11 (AP) — Fourteen cars of a Spokane-International freight train were derailed, tore up 600 feet of track and snapped off two telegraph poles near Clarkstone, Idaho, today. No one was hurt.

The cars were in the middle of an 85-car S-I train bound for the Canadian line. Five of the 14 were loaded with phosphate rock, five with lumber and the rest were empty.

Fred Rummel, president of the road, said the cause of the accident had not been determined immediately.

Lie Resignation Meat to Moscow

LONDON, Nov. 11 (AP) — Moscow radio said tonight Trygve Lie's resignation as secretary-general of the United Nations was a revelation of "his complete political bankruptcy."

The broadcast gave the first Moscow reaction to Lie's surprise resignation yesterday. It was based on a New York dispatch of Tass, Soviet news agency.

The radio bitterly denounced Lie for his support of United Nations action in resisting Communist forces in Korea.

"Trygve Lie was shown up as an agent of aggressive circles of the U.S.A.," said the broadcast. "His efforts to help the U.S.A. to hide with the U.N. flag the American aggression in Korea gave rise to waves of indignation throughout the world."

Britain Lops Civil Servants' Payrolls

LONDON, Nov. 11 (AP) — The Conservative government lopped 14,700 civil servants off the payroll in the first nine months of 1952, it was disclosed today.

R. A. Butler, chancellor of the Exchequer, told the House of Commons this is part of a drive to cut spending to the point where Britain's sky-high income taxes can be reduced. He offered no immediate hope, however, for any slash in the present basic income tax of 45 per cent.

Nor Did He Forget

VANCOUVER, Nov. 11 (CP). —The service at the cenotaph was over. The bands and troops had marched away.

All the wreaths had been laid and the solemn crowd had straggled away out of the cold and rain.

The old man who approached was dressed in rags. He was hatless. In place of a left leg, he dragged a wooden stump. He supported himself on a cane and the shoulder of a friend, also in tatters.

The old man limped to the base of the grey granite monument. He stooped down, almost losing his balance, and placed something among the multitude of splendid wreaths.

He pulled himself as erect as he could, looked up at the inscription "Is It Nothing to You?" on the cenotaph, saluted, turned, and tapped down the street, clutching his friend's shoulder.

Lying among the wreaths was a single, tiny poppy.
