Teachers Suggest 6-Point Education Finance Program

Party Politics Detrimental; Expert Sees Weaknesses, Benefits in Rolston Formula

VANCOUVER (CP)—British Columbia teachers today made an urgent plea to all political parties to keep education finance above party politics.

The annual convention of the B.C. Teachers Federation here asked the political parties to adopt a policy that would provide for a six-point program which it said would solve the financial question.

The Social Credit government was defeated on the floor of the House on its plan to change the present method of financing education. That plan, in part, would have substituted the municipalities' share of the three per cent sales tax with direct grants.

6-POINT PROGRAM

The six-point program would provide for:

A best possible education program.

Equality of opportunity in education.

Equalization of costs between districts.

Retention of local autonomy.

Expansion or extension of revenues to meet costs caused by increasing school population.

Financial relief for the areas which find themselves in financial difficulties as a result of removal of sales tax revenue.

The move is regarded as the most important one made by the 700 delegates at the four-day convention.

John Sutherland, BCTF financial expert, said party politics on education finance is only "detrimental to the public, teachers and our boys and girls in school."

ROLSTON FORMULA

Mr. Sutherland said the government's plan to finance education—the Rolston Formula—had two fundamental weaknesses: it gave no equalization of costs between districts and made no provision for expanding population.

Delegates agreed that some features of the plan were beneficial.

They agreed that funds for education should be taken from consolidated revenue and not depend on sales tax revenue; that funds for education should be given directly to school boards and not to municipal councils and that assessments for school purposes should be equalized.

But Mr. Sutherland added that these improvements could be attached to any formula on education finance."

WHEAT TERMS SATISFY —HOWE

Britain Rejects $2.05 Base Price

WASHINGTON (AP) — Terms for continuing an international agreement for stabilizing world trade in wheat were settled upon Thursday night by a substantial majority of the 46 participating countries.

The countries include importing and exporting nations.

Britain, the major importer, did not accept the terms which call for a base price of $2.05 a bushel. Canada accepted the price.

Under the present pact, which expires July 31, the maximum price is $1.80.

The proposed new agreement must be ratified by the governments of the participating countries, before it can become effective.

Under the present grain agreement, yearly quotas total about 580,000,000 bushels — or slightly more than half the wheat moving in international trade. Britain now has an import quota of 177,000,000 bushels.

The failure of Britain to accept the agreement would, of course, greatly reduce the volume of grain which would move under it.

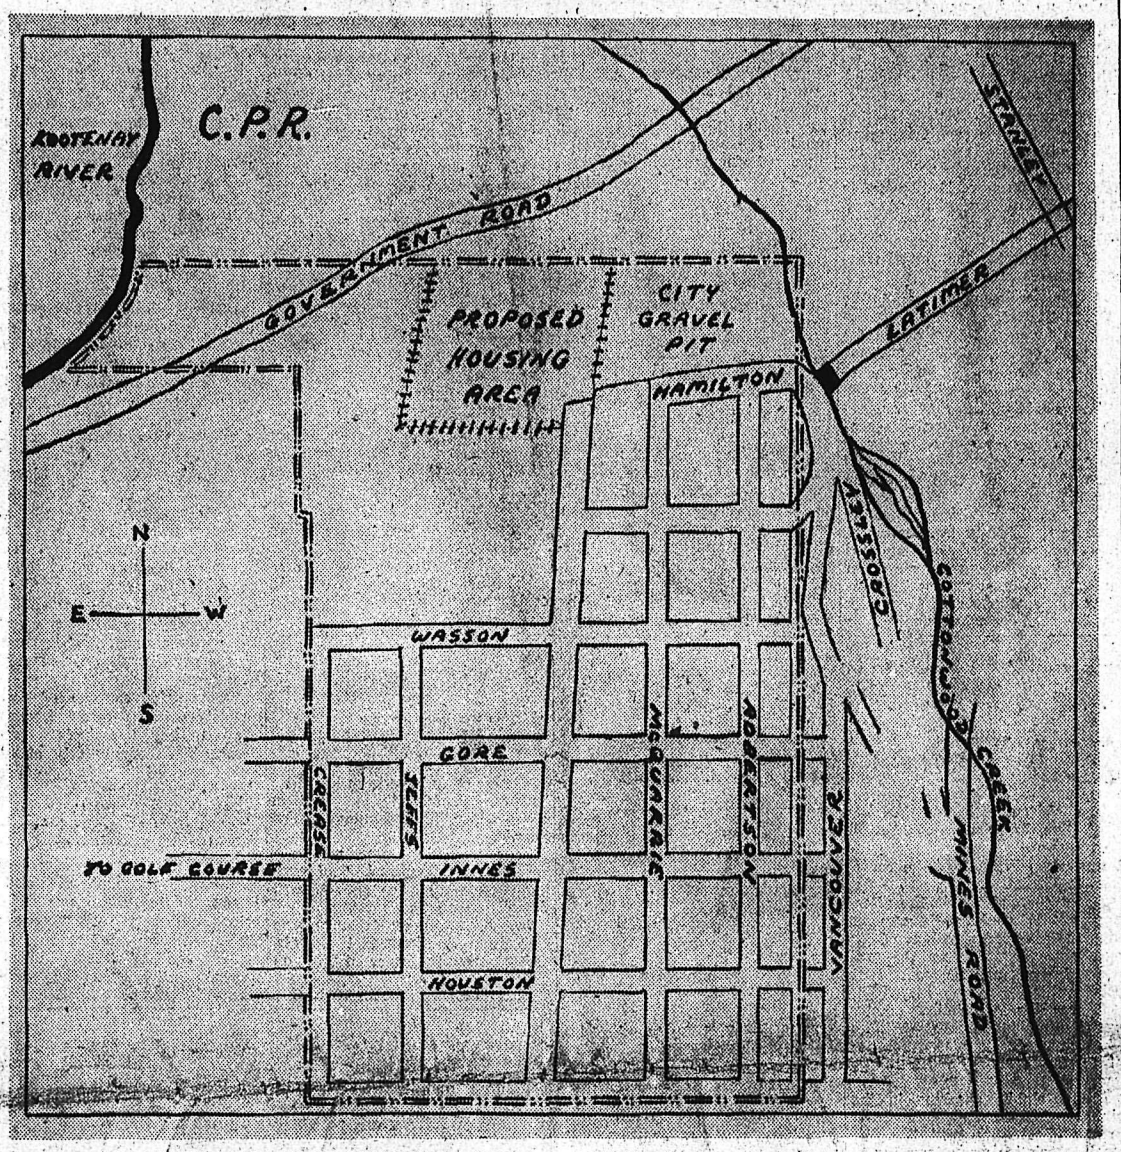
EDMONTON—Henry Young of Millet, president of the Farmers Union of Alberta, said Thursday that the proposed $1.55-a-bushel floor price under a new international wheat agreement is "not satisfactory" to his organization.

OTTAWA — Trade Minister Howe says the prices negotiated for the new international wheat agreement are "pretty good." "Our people will be satisfied."

CHALK RIVER, Ont. (CP) — Secrecy veiled discussions of some two dozen scientists Thursday as they delved into the possibility of releasing more atomic secrets for commercial power development.

CBC Boosters for District Centres

Proposed Amalgamation, First in 30 Years, Would Add 97 Acres to Nelson City



THE AMALGAMATION OF ROSEMONT with the city of Nelson, which, if it goes through, would be the first major amalgamation since Fairview joined the city in 1921, is being proposed. The 97.5 acre area is shown above in double dotted lines, and includes a site for a housing proposition which amalgamation would make possible. Following present city boundaries on the East and North, the proposed amalgamation area would be bounded by the lane between Vancouver Street and Robertson Avenue on the East, Richards Street centre on the South, and the West side of Crease Avenue on the West. A petition is being prepared for circulation among the approximately 100 property owners.—Daily News.

$60,000 Program To Provide Relay Stations at Golden Greenwood, 'Forks, Natal

OTTAWA (CP)—A. D. Dunton, chairman of the CBC board of governors, says the publicly-owned corporation plans to spend about $3,000,000 to improve facilities and radio service in many sections of Canada.

A series of low-power radio relays will be set up North of the Great Lakes, and in the British Columbia and Alberta Interiors.

These would cost an estimated $60,000 and would be established at Golden, Greenwood, McBride, Grand Forks, Lytton, and Natal in B.C.; Jasper, Bahff and Coleman in Alberta.

He outlined for the Commons broadcasting committee Thursday a series of projects, including new studios for the CBC at Winnipeg costing an estimated $1,100,000.

Studio facilities will be built in Saskatchewan costing $75,000. The CBC hoped to set up the studios both in Regina and Saskatoon, although the latter city had not been definitely decided on yet.

Mr. Dunton said the CBC also is experimenting with lower-power relays in the Edmonton area aimed at increasing the coverage from the CBC station there. If the experiment proved successful, the CBC hoped to spend $97,000 perfecting the relay system in Edmonton and also in Calgary.

MAJOR EXPENDITURES

In reply to question from Donald Fleming (PC — Toronto Eglinton), Mr. Dunton said the Winnipeg studios and a new Moncton outlet are the major capital expenditures planned by the CBC. A building of 173,000 square feet of space has been bought in Winnipeg.

In reply to questions from E. D. Fulton (PC — Kamloops), Mr. Dunton said the CBC board of governors has decided against building a $450,000 station in the Okanagan valley of B.C. Such a station would duplicate service from other points in the valley.

A survey now was being made to see if relay transmitters could be built to serve the areas of the Okanagan valley and the Kootenay district not served at the moment

Freedom for 600 Allies

MUNSAN, Korea (CP)— Rear-Admiral John C. Daniel said today that nearly 600 disabled Allied war prisoners to be returned by the Russians include Canadians, Americans, Britons and South Koreans.

Daniel said Allied and Red liaison teams hope to complete and sign Friday an agreement for repatriating the United Nations prisoners held by the Communists.

The Admiral said the Reds, during a 35-minute morning session today at Panmunjom, gave the breakdown of disabled war captives as 120 Americans, 20 British, 12 non-Koreans, including Canadians, French, Turks, Greeks and Dutch, and about 450 South Koreans.

Although this dispatch used the word "Canadians" in the plural sense, the only Canadian on the list of prisoners given U. S. armed forces by the Reds is Gnr. John Orval Jenkins of Hamilton, Ont.

Although only one Canadian prisoner is included in the official list, Canadian headquarters lists 28 Canadian soldiers as missing.

The Reds officially have offered to send home 608 Allied prisoners, all but 150 of them Koreans.

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—Andrei Vishinsky, chief Soviet delegate, today gave the UN the new Malenkov regime's blueprint for world peace. It appeared to be the same old formula he pressed as Stalin's spokesman.

After speaking 75 minutes, Vishinsky said he would have more to say later. Dropping his old time belligerence and insults, Vishinsky in calm tones told the 60-country political committee that the way to ease world tension was:

1. For the West to stop arming. "Stop stuffing weapons into your pockets and maybe the atmosphere will improve."
2. Ban the atomic bomb.
3. Dissolve the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, and abandon the European Defence Community.

Choose Winch's Successor Today

VANCOUVER (CP) — A closed meeting of 26 top men of CCF to choose a new House leader to replace Harold Winch was scheduled here Thursday night.

The selection of the 18 members of the Legislature and the party's executive will be presented to the three-day party convention which opens here Friday.

Mr. Winch, who announced recently that he would resign after 12 years as House leader and 20 as a member of the Legislature, arrived in town Wednesday after a holiday on Vancouver Island.

Mr. Winch gave financial reasons and poor health as his reasons for his resignation which will be considered by the convention Friday.

The selection of a new leader by the convention will be done Friday night.

Elevator Operators Accept Arbitration

VANCOUVER (CP)—First break in the eight-week strike of 250 striking grain loaders came Thursday when operators of the strike-bound elevators said they were prepared to accept arbitration of part of the dispute.

The loaders, members of the Grain Workers Union (CIO), are striking to back up demands for a 12½-cent-an-hour increase in wages. The operators are standing pat on last year's contract of $1.50 an hour.

Aid to Follow Treaty Signing

WASHINGTON (AP) — Chancellor Konrad Adenauer received assurance Thursday the United States will help arm West German military units as soon as the six-nation European Defence Community treaty is ratified.

This pledge was stated in a communique of conferences the chancellor has had with President Eisenhower and State Secretary John Foster Dulles.

Under the treaty, thus far ratified only by the German parliamentary lower house, Germany will provide some 12 divisions of troops.

$1 MILLION TO REBUILD OTTAWA LIBRARY

OTTAWA (CP) — Renovating and fireproofing the historic parliamentary library — ravaged by fire last Summer — will cost an estimated $1,000,000, Works Minister Fournier said Thursday in the Commons.

Its distinctive exterior will be preserved, and so will the interior as far as possible.

Mr. Fournier could give no definite information on when a start might be made on the proposed national library.

SHAMEFACED CANADA GOOSE MIGRATES BY COMMERCIAL AIRLINER

NEW YORK (AP) — You might are to heave a sigh for Winnie, he grounded gander. How ashamed m a Canada goose get?

While his comrades migrate orth in a proud V, old Winnie gs along behind — migrating by ommercial airliner.

Left to himself, he just flaps and aps his wings and never gets off he ground.

Winnie lost his tail feathers, ther to a hunter or to a barbed-ire fence. So he was grounded nd left behind last month when s flock took off from Greenwich, onn., for Canada.

A couple of fellow-geese are reorted to have swum alongside innie, flapping their wings to try get him airborne. But Winnie ever got off the water.

Canadians set up a honk to get innie back to Canada in time for e opening Sunday of Canada's ildlife Conservation Week.

Gov. John Lodge said take him way.

Game warden Stephen Muska abbed Winnie Thursday when he waddled out of Long Island Sound to beg for food and brought him to the Bronx zoo here.

The old gander got the VIP treatment at the zoo. He got a physical checkup and a certificate of good health. Canada gave him a sort of visa — "admit one grounded goose," that sort of thing. Canadian consul-general Ray Lawson put a gold band on Winnie's leg. It was inscribed: "Winnie, U.S.A.-Canada, 1953."

Dr. Leonard Goss, the zoo's goose doctor, suspects that old Winnie is faking and should be able to fly with just wings.

Winnie kept a civil tongue in his head during his physical. Didn't make a sound.

When it was all over, he was turned loose in a cage with about 30 other aquatic birds.

When he leaves for Canada Friday Winnie will even have a baby sitter — or a goose sitter. Capt. Amos Horst of the Wildlife Restoration Foundation, Inc., is going with him to the Jack Miner bird refuge at Kingsville, Ont.

P-TAs Urged to Aid Immigrants

NORTH VANCOUVER (CP) — British Columbia Parent-Teachers Federation today was urged to help the wives of immigrants to get established in Canada.

Dr. W. G. Black, chief liaison officer of the immigration department in B.C. told the 31st annual convention of the federation that mother immigrants who stay home and have not the opportunity of men and children to learn English need help most.

"If you seek out these shy, timid newcomers and invite them to your P-TA meetings, they will come. I have seen the gladness in their eyes when they attend."

Earlier Education Minister Mrs. Tilly Rolston explained the Social Credit government's plan to finance school costs—the plan that caused its defeat recently.

A vote on a resolution seeking to prohibit past presidents of the federation from running again is expected later today.

PRESS FOR WHARF AT ARROWHEAD

OTTAWA (CP) — E. D. Fulton (PC—Kamloops) and H. W. Herridge (CCF—Kootenay West) pressed Works Minister Fournier in the Commons Thursday night to start building a new wharf at Arrowhead, B. C., on the Arrow Lakes.

The minister said there were difficulties in obtaining foreshore rights and other difficulties in getting a right-of-way from the Canadian Pacific Railway for a road across its tracks into the foreshore site.

The B. C. works department was involved.

Mr. Fulton said the project had been "delayed four years by this legal run-around."

The minister said he would look into the matter further but added "it takes a long time when we deal with these companies and governments."

It Didn't Work

VANCOUVER (CP)— Anti-Communist meetings may be successful in Toronto but John Post isn't so sure that success could be duplicated here.

Mr. Post, a Vancouver real estate man, thought he would have a meeting similar to one held in Toronto several weeks ago.

He approached Board of Trade officials, UBC faculty heads, top RCMP personnel and leading citizens and, he said Thursday, they said it was a great idea.

Then he hired a hall for the meet April 15 and lined up Ralph Pashley of Victoria, a political commentator, as the main speaker.

Now, Mr. Post reports, everyone approached by him has made excuses for not being able to attend his meeting including Mr. Pashley, who said he had to attend another meeting.

The meeting was called off.

KARACHI, Pakistan (AP)—Pakistan must import 1,500,000 tons of wheat during the coming year if she is to be saved from widespread famine, Premier Kwaja Nazimuddin said Thursday.

Marines Retake Carson Hill

By STAN CARTER

SEOUL (AP) — United States Marines Thursday recaptured a Western front hill within artillery range of the truce village of Panmunjom, knocking out more than two-thirds of 350 Chinese Communist attackers.

The Reds over-ran Carson hill in a massive assault before dawn Thursday. But pockets of Marines battled on for more than three hours until a relief column drove up the slopes and recaptured the height.

A 1st Marine division officer said sharp-shooting Leathernecks killed or wounded an estimated 220 Reds between 3:45 a.m., when two Chinese companies swarmed up the hill, and 8:35 a.m., when the Marines again reported the hill secured.

Stuff of Shakespeare's Tales Still Thrives in Stratford

By BRUCE HUTCHISON

STRATFORD - UPON-VON — Across the street om an old timbered house od a maiden lady, of mid-e age, from Portland, Ore-n. She was staring gloomily the birthplace of the great-Englishman. Perhaps she agined a little boy looking rough these harrow win-ws for the first time upon obbled lane, upon the fields Avon, demi-paradise, upon e great globe itself. A thou-nd poets, as Browning re-rked, had pried at life but ly that little boy, amid the ife, rose to be Shakespeare.

o wonder the spinster from tland was gloomy. She had come e expecting to find at least the ant flavor of Elizabethan Eng-d, a lingering whiff of Shakes-e's time. Instead, she had found tford on a Sunday evening to be a noisy horror of packed streets, honking buses, roaring motorcycles and trippers who gorged on ice cream cones or fish and chips.

The Salvation Army band assembled in the public square for its Sunday evening service but its music and its voices were drowned out by the thunder of the traffic. Amid the tumult of this Sabbath Shakespeare was quite forgotten and yet he had brought the crowds here. His fame had made a tourists' Stratford, alien to his nature and ignorant of his work.

In this town Shakespeare is not a poet. He is an industry. Stratford is not a shrine. It is a honky-tonk. On this Sabbath it is leagues closer to Coney Island than to Arden.

Mobs Surge

The American lady watched the crowds surging past the house of Shakespeare's father, without a side long glance at the miracle wrought there, and after a while she turned sadly away. In the hotel lounge I saw her writing a lengthy letter home. Doubtless, she was telling the folks in Portland that Stratford had betrayed its mighty son.

It was not like this even 15 years ago. I remember a sleepy town then and a great beamed guest house, owned by Anne Hathaway's family, where we almost accomplished an overnight leap back into the 16th century.

The owner of this house, as I recall, had made an interesting hobby of collecting the clay death masks of hanged criminals from all over the Kingdom, and he directed our attention particularly to the creased clay at the neck, the mark of the hangman's noose.

"Look," he would say, pointing to the vivid image of the death agony, "you can see how this one took the noose." If there are any simple collectors and historians of that sort left in Stratford now I could not find them among a crowd that would have choked Piccadilly Circus.

The visitors, apparently ignore Shakespeare by common consent. In his churchyard I found only one old lady, knitting by the river. The holiday-makers in their punts and canoes never paused to look at the gray steepled church. Two cranky old swans seemed to sneer down their black noses at this revolting spectacle.

And as darkness fell and most of the visitors went home in the buses, Shakespeare himself, in bronze, atop his pedestal, brooded bleakly, as well he might.

Good night, sweet prince, no angels sing you to your rest.

The hotel where I slept had been partly built before Shakespeare's birth. The walls were sagging and crooked, the beams black and mouldering. A man should sleep sound in the invisible company of such a room but the sputter of motorcycles, almost until dawn, was enough to wake the noble dead of Stratford. Out, out brief candle.

I turned on the electric light and read Macbeth, which seemed appropriate in a Stratford full of sound and fury, signifying nothing, a weekend tale told by an idiot.

Most Sacred Spot

But next morning, Stratford like Richard, was itself again, or something like it. The streets were empty of the Sunday crowd. The black and white timbered houses, like magpies, snoozed in the sun, as they have snoozed since the youth of Elizabeth. And in the churchyard all the birds were singing.

To any architect the interior of the church is severe, plain, almost ugly. To any man who can read English it is possibly the most sacred spot in England. Everyone knows that the lords and ladies of the Clopton family are buried here, in splendid raised tombs, under garish effigies, while Shakespeare lies beneath a plain stone in the floor, engraved with the famous doggerel: "Good friend for Jesus sake forbeare To digg the dust encloased heare; bleste be ye man yt spares these stones, and curst be he yt moves my bones." Protected by such a verse rests the supreme master of poetry. He would smile at that.

It may have been on just such a morning as this in 1616 that a little knot of townsmen carried the body of Shakespeare into the church, none of them knowing what they buried here.

Today another gathering—14 in all—had assembled in the church for a different purpose. A few feet from Shakespeare's grave a ruddy farm boy was married to a plump blushing girl in a sky-blue suit. The service was said by the minister just as solemnly as if Shakespeare himself were being married, and the music of the organ rolled through the little church as it rolled for how many other brides?

Here was the old story which the Stratford boy knew so well and wrote and re-wrote in countless versions, comical and tragical. Another lover and his lass had come to the church and taken their vows in the springtime, the merry ringtime with the heigh-nonny-no as bright and promising as it ever was.

So the new bride and groom rose from their knees beside Shakespeare's bones and walked laughing, out of the church into the sunshine, where a photographer awaited them. The original Stratford boy would have liked that.

5-Man Committee To Study Aspects of Regional Planning

CASTLEGAR — First step in the organization of the Lower Columbia River Valley as a regional planning area was taken at an inaugural meeting of 30 representatives of nine West Kootenay municipalities in St. Alban's parish hall here on Thursday night.

Attended by representatives of Nelson, Trail, Rossland, Fruitvale, Salmo, Tadanac, Warfield, Kinnaird, and Castlegar, with B. C. Bracewell, deputy minister of municipal affairs, representing the provincial government, the meeting decided to set up a five-man fact-finding committee. This group, when named, will investigate all aspects of regional planning organization including what teritory the regional planning area should embrace.

Having completed their preliminary survey, the committee members will make recommendations to their respective municipalities. The latter, in turn, if they are in favor of a regional planning area, will each send a resolution to this effect to the minister of municipal affairs through the fact-finding committee.

Committee members are to be chosen as follows: one representing Salmo and Fruitvale, one for Castlegar and Kinnaird, one for Trail and Tadanac, one for Rossland and Warfield, and one for Nelson.

The municipalities concerned are to forward the names of the representatives they choose to Mayor Joseph Kary of Nelson, who will then call the first meeting of the committee.

The 3½-hour dinner meeting heard an address by Mr. Bracewell, and then reviewed the regional planning regulations as set down in the Town Planning Act. The session closed with a half hour film on the need for city planning.

TH ENEED

In his talk, Mr. Bracewell gave a brief history of town planning and spoke of the need for regional planning. He said there are situations where developmnt outside a municipality's boundaries do harm to the municipality, and the municipality can do nothing about it. In other cases, "the best interests of the residents of an area might be servd by initiating or controlling crtain developments of general area significance."

"If such developments are not the affair of any particular one of the municipalities in the area," he said, "then the truth of the old saying is proved again, that what is everybody's business, is nobody's business, and nothing is done. It is evident that if economy, suitability and desirability in general community affairs is to be attained, some arrangement must be adopted so that these conditions will be overcome with co-ordinated action between neighboring authorities being encouraged and directed."

To solve the problem, Mr. Bracewell said, both the county idea and a suggested provincial-wide planning scheme had been discarded as impractical. Instead, the idea of regional planning areas was included in the Town Planning Act after considerable htought. It makes provision for municipalities in a certain area to form a board of their own appointees who will give recommendations on matters of general concern in the area, such as sanitation, drainage, water supply and distribution, transportation, parks and recreational areas, industrial sites and agricultural purposes.

NO COMPULSION

There is no compulsion whereby a municipal council has to do something if does not wish to do, he said. "There is no interference with local autonomy. The Act states that adoption of any plans by any council does not obligate the council to put them into effect by any stated or unstated time, but does prevent a council from undertaking public works contrary to such adopted plan."

He told the meeting there are now two regional planning areas functioning in B.C., the Lower Mainland Regional Planning Board in the Fraser Valley, and the Greater Victoria Planning Board on Vancouver Island. In the Fraser Valley, the costs of the board have been assessed to the various member municipalities on a population basis at about three cents per head per year. He warned, however, that such a low rate might not be achieved in other areas, where the population is more widely distributed. Annual grants have also been made by the provincial government, although there is no fixed basis for its participation as yet.

J. R. Mills, chairman of the Trail Town Planning Commission who chaired the meeting, distributed copies of the regional planning provisions of the Town Planning Act, and read them aloud.

Mr. Bracewell answered a number of questions which arose. Mayor Kary moved a vote of thanks to the Trail Town Planning Commission for sponsoring the meeting, and to Mr. Bracewell for attending.

Other Nelson representatives attending were Reeve Harper, city clerk; Alderman J. H. Coventry, D. H. T. Mollison, department of trade and industry, and Quentin Lake, city engineer.

Community Help Important In Fight Against "Cripplers" Kiwanians Told

How citizens can help in the war against "Canada's No. 1 cripplers," arthritis and rheumatism, and the progress being made by B.C. Division of the Canadian Arthritis and Rheumatism Society in battling these diseases was told in Nelson Thursday night.

Miss Mary Pack, executive secretary of the division, Vancouver, addressed Kiwanis Club at the Hume Thursday night. She is here on an annual visit "to supervise, to meet people and to try and see how we can best overcome problems" in the work of the society.

Miss Pack paid tribute to work being carried out by the Nelson committee in helping to supply comforts and needs for the clinic here. Car owners providing lifts to the clinic for patients made it possible to treat three times as many persons as would otherwise be possible. While the mobile unit visited many patients, still the clinic equipment provided more effective treatment.

It was community assistance of this nature that was required, she said. Extremely important was acceptance by the community of those patients seeking to re-establish themselves in normal life. Many had a horror of meeting people after lengthy treatment. Knowing they are handicapped, but wanting to do a full-time job, they shrank from contact with the outside world. But many had been accepted and were doing splendid work. She told how one girl at the Vancouver rehabilitation centre had been trained to type perfectly although able to use only two fingers, and was now working steadily.

A truck driver who had thought he would never work again because of a severe case of arthritis, and who lost heart, made a comeback after nine months' treatment, took a correspondence course, and was now an X-ray technician.

Here was an example of how a patient could be raised from the drags to a self-respecting human being. The community's attitude was important in helping patients to gain self-reliance.

HOPE IN RESEARCH

Miss Pack told also how research programs in the national and provincial fields were making great strides and "a glimmer of hope" in efforts to find the cause of the crippling diseases was now seen. Scientists were trying to find what caused the breakdown of the natural cortisone in the human body, for this once found, they would be in a position to help the thousands of sufferers — there being an estimated 30,000 in B.C. alone.

If assisted in early stages, many now were being saved from crippling and thus from becoming indigents, the stage usually following crippling, and in turn the taxpayers were saved money. Miss Pack outlined various phases of the society's work and showed pictures of the Coast rehabilitation centre.

Liberals Urge Government to Curb Terrorism

VANCOUVER (CP) — "Strongest possible action" by the government to curb terrorism in the Kootenay region of B.C. was urged Wednesday by B.C. Liberals.

The one-day convention of the Liberals in Vancouver said the action should be taken at once to protect the citizens of the area.

The Liberals said residents of Grand Forks, Greenwood, Nelson-Creston, Rossland-Trail and Kaslo-Slocan ridings "regard with extreme gravity the present dangerous situation arising out of the lawlessness."

LONDON (CP) — Prisoners at Wormwood Scrubbs jail entered 50 pictures in a prison art competition, after taking instruction in evening courses. Warders reported that only two were of the "pin-up" type.

The fur trade was Canada's first industry and remained so during the early years of exploration and settlement.

Wildlife Films Attract 700 Youngsters, Adults

The Nelson Fish and Wildlife Protective Association could well be heartened Thursday by the interest taken in its free film showings in Capitol theatre.

About 400 children in the afternoon and 300 adults and teen-agers at night attended showings of six excellent color films on the outdoors, hunting and fishing and on conservation.

It was the Association's major contribution to National Wildlife Week, honoring Jack Miner, father of the conservation movement in America.

John Dolphin, speaking in the absence of Mayor Kary pointed out in the opening remarks that the local Association was attempting to further the aims of the conservation movement, and to heed Jack Miner's saying that "God put the birds and animals here for man's use and control."

He called on sportsmen to obey game regulations, to avoid waste and wanton destruction, and to support the Nelson Fish and Wildlife Protective Association.

Films, shown by Jack Teague, were "Blue Geese", depicting geese hunting in the Southern United States; "Holiday at Waskesiu", pointing up the attractions of the Prince Albert national park in Saskatchewan; "One Day's Catch", a film on angling in Eastern Canadian sport fishing waters; "Realm of the Wild", a first-class film on wildlife and feeding problems in United States national forests, and filmed by the forest service of the U. Elgar Tour for Warfield Boy.

TRAIL — Ten-year-old David Carroll of Warfield has ben chosen to train with B.C.'s famed Elgar choir for its tour of Canada and the United Kingdom next year. He is the son of Mrs. Mary Carroll of 615 Dickens Street and the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Cleeton.

The grade five pupil of James L. Webster School, was chosen last February by C. E. Finlayter, Elgar choir conductor, and confirmation of his final acceptance was received by Mrs. Carroll Thursday.

TOUR IN JUNE

He has been a voice pupil of Mrs. W. G. Small for the past year and a half. Previous to that he studied singing in Kamloops for over a year. He also has five years piano lessons.

The tour will take place from June until September in 1954. Starting next June David will take four trips to the coast to rehearse with the choir.

Safety Practices In School Labs To Be Checked

TRAIL — W. E. Lucas, school inspector for school district No. 11, has been asked to investigate safety practices in chemistry laboratories in schools throughout the district.

The investigation was called Wednesday at a meeting of the board of trustees after a report of a chemistry lab accident had been heard.

The report stated a student of J. Lloyd Crowe high school, 17-year-old Norma MacDonald of 1546 Pine Avenue, was burned about the face and neck when splashed with nitric acid. Her sweater and skirt were also damaged, the board was informed.

Letters in regard to the accident were heard from the girl's father, from the chemistry instructor and from A. E. Allison, principal.

The board also took action on another accident at J. Lloyd Crowe high school. Report on the accident stated that a girl student had slipped on the heavily-waxed corridor floor and broken an elbow. Decision on the matter was referred to the property committee.

Other minor accidents were reported at Laura J. Morrish school, McLean school in Rossland, Fruitvale school and the Rossland high school.

A letter of commendation was directed sent to the James L. Webster school for its donation of $150 to various charitable organizations. The money had been raised through the school's annual Spring program.

April 27 Deadline for Voter's Registrations

CRANBROOK — With the provincial election set for June 9, closing date for registration of voters to qualify for the lists for that election is April 27 and work of preparing the lists in this district is under way.

In last June's provincial election approximately 1600 of Cranbrook Electoral District listed voters failed to ballot. During the past few weeks cards were mailed to them at their registered addresses with instructions to return the card if the voter wishes to remain registered. Some of these cards have been returned.

Remaining 7400 listed persons who did vote last June will receive cards reporting they are still listed within the next two weeks. Unlisted voters who are residents of the electoral district, have been six months in the province, a year in the Dominion, are citizens of 21 years or older can register at the government office.

Additional registration offices will be opened prior to the date of list closure at points in the electoral district such as Kimberley and other places where the expected registration warrants.

THE PLAY'S THE THING in many district schools these days as student players brush up on entries for the West Kootenay Schools Drama Festival to be held for the first time in Grand Forks April 23, 24 and 25. The young actor and actresses shown here are in the cast of Aristophanes' "Women in Council," one of two one-act plays to be entered by the Stanley Humphries junior-senior high school at Castlegar, and are, left to right, Muriel Scott of Robson, Donna Muirhead of Kinnaird, Annette Zarchikoff of Castlegar and Douglas Burrows of Kinnaird. A total of 21 plays are expected to be staged in the course of the three-day festival.

Logging, Mining Top Windermere Industries

Interesting information on the Windermere district has been compiled by the Regional Development Division of the Department of Trade and Commerce of the Government of British Columbia.

Population for the area comprising No. 4 Windermere School District (Brisco to Canal Flat) is estimated at 1950 in 1949 and 2000 in 1950.

The altitude is listed as 2850 feet at the Windermere airport.

Principal industries are listed for the present time as logging, milling, mining, tourism and Christmas tree sales.

Under forestry the booklet records 33 active sawmills and six planer mills employing approximately 300 men on a yearly basis. The most important species cut are fir, spruce, larch, lodgepole pine, balsam and cedar. The most important minor products are Christmas trees and railroad ties. The forest industry in the area is estimated at $2,250,000 for 1950. Last year some 260 cars of lumber were shipped to Western Canada, 65 to the United States, 90 cars of slabwood to Western markets.

The area's economic dependence on forest industry is estimated at 40 per cent.

MINING

Under mining the mines recorded are the Paradise Mine (Sheep Creek Gold Mines Ltd.) and the Giant Mascot (Hedley Mascot Gold Mines Ltd.) and the Columbia Gypsum mine. Approximately 120 men are employed in the mining industry and it is estimated that 25 per cent of the area's economy is dependent upon mining. (Note: These figures compiled before the closing of the Paradise Mine).

Under agriculture mention is made of the beef cattle industry with approximately 2000 head of cattle raised; sed potatoes — some 100 acres used for seed industry, dairy farming — sufficient for local supply and the tourist trade.

It is estimated that the area's economy dependency on agriculture is approximately 10 per cent.

TOURISM

Under tourism it is estimated that 25 per cent of the area's economy is dependent upon this industry. The area from Canal Flat to Radium Hot Springs is well equipped with resorts. The Dominion government has a $1,000,000 aqua-court at Radium which will greatly increase the tourists to this area.

At present the tourist industry is operating on a 90 cabin day season, but the development of resorts, improvement of roads and increased publicity is making the area a vacation center.

Nations Will Be Concert Feature

A special feature in the concert will be daring gymnastic feats performed by the tumbling club. The Canadian Legion band No. 170 will be in attendance.

A Cause That Helps All of Us Needs Our Help

Cancer under early treatment is curable. The organization that carries out the great work of education that makes symptoms of cancer recognizable to the public generally so that medical aid can be sought in time is the Canadian Cancer Society. That one phase of their work in British Columbia alone last year cost $29,081; this year it is estimated to cost $35,000, all of which must be provided by the people of the province, who are the beneficiaries.

Public education is regarded as one of the big and most effective weapons against the disease that shows no regard for station or wealth, but is a danger to every group. However, the other phases of the society's work that are as important, including research, welfare, assistance of the national program and additions to health centres. It is to the credit of British Columbians that they have one of the most efficient cancer treatment and research centres in the world. Part of the $200,000 it is hoped to raise in this year's financial drive now under way will provide $57,000 to complete payment of construction costs of the $725,000 B.C. Cancer Institute wing opened in 1952. Government grants cover operating expenses and equipment costs of the Institute, but make no provision for building construction.

One of the most beneficial services is that provided through the Society's welfare fund. This publicly-supported fund insures that no one requiring care need go without cancer treatment. In B.C. last year 135 patients were assisted in meeting treatment costs. The fund will continue this work to the extent of at least a $25,000 expenditure in 1953.

The public is often critical of science because so much of its achievement is abhorted to the mechanics of destruction. But in the medical field we have science's credit side. Provision of a Cobalt-60-beam therapy unit, the third to be brought into use in Canada, at the B.C. Institute is the direct result of Canadian scientists' atomic research. The mustering of all of science's advances against cancer to the aid of its victims is the work of the Cancer Society. Support of the Cancer Society is the duty of all of us.

Spirit of Hope

True hope is based on energy of character. A strong mind always hopes, and always finds cause to hope, because it knows the mutability of human affairs, and how slight a circumstance may change the whole course of events. Such a spirit, too, rests upon itself; and is worthy of emulation. Hope awakens courage, while despondency is the last of all evils; it is the abandonment of good—the giving up of the battle of life with dead nothingness. He who can implant courage to the human soul is the best perceptor.

?Questions? ANSWERS

Open to any reader. Names of persons asking questions will not be published. There is no charge for this service. Questions WILL NOT BE ANSWERED BY MAIL except where there is obvious necessity for privacy.

Interested, Salmo—To settle an argument, is 60 years or 75 years the diamond wedding anniversary?

60 years.

Reader, Trail—Will you please repeat recipe for potato wine, or Australian brandy?

If this wine is bottled and stored for a year, in taste and potency it resembles a matured and mellow brandy. If it is not bottled, but tasted after three or four months of maturing in barrel or stone crock, it is a pleasant "dry" wine of sherry-like clearness. Well-scrub two of the largest potatoes obtainable, or three smaller ones. Do not peel, but grate into tub or pan into which you have put a gallon, or rather more, lukewarm water. Stir, then add a pound of grain, two pounds seedless raisins, four pounds Demerara sugar, and rather less than half a pound of yeast. No boiling is required. Cover and leave for three weeks, stirring every day. Strain into barrel or stone bottle and close down, as usual, when all fermentation is over.

Mrs. K., Creston—Can you give me the address of Horrockses' Fashions?

Horrockses' Fashions (Canada), Ltd., 1115 Sherbrooke Street, West, Montreal, P.Q.

Reader, Cranbrook—What is the verse beginning: "Let me live in my house by the side of the road"?

"Let me live in my house by the side of the road
Where the race of men go by;
They are good, they are bad, they are weak, they are strong,
Wise, foolish—so am I.
Then why should I sit in the scorner's seat,
Or hurl the cynic's ban?
Let me live in my house by the side of the road
And be a friend of man."

From "The House by the Side of the Road," by Samuel Walter Foss.

For More Breathing Space

So much is said during a Legislative session at Victoria that many good ideas get lost in the flood of political oratory.

A good idea has come from Bert Price, member for Vancouver Burrard. He has pointed out that Vancouver has not enough breathing space.

He is right, of course, despite the fact that we have plenty of beaches and the magnificent wilderness is not far off.

A city the size of Vancouver—and growing all the time—needs more open spaces in its crowded central area. We have Stanley Park, of course, and Victory Square. What we need is a few more parks, no more than a block square, to provide breathing spots—places where people may pause amid the busy scene. Tourists complain that, compared with older cities, they find in Vancouver very few places to rest their limbs weary with sightseeing.

People who have come back to Vancouver after a few years' absence express amazement at what they call the "opening up" of the city, as a result of the disappearance of the old Hotel Vancouver.

The large "breathing space" thereby created reveals vistas that were hidden before. There is no longer that crowded-bearing-down feeling that was experienced in that area previously.

The City Fathers should not be too utilitarian-minded; esthetic values are worth preserving.

Perhaps in the meantime, the Provincial Government might set a good example by putting out some benches in its Court House square.—Vancouver News-Herald.

Gov't Printing More Costly Than Private

The estimate for printing and stationery is $2 million during the coming fiscal year, against $1.6 million during the present fiscal year, and $168,000 before the war. Are we to believe that there is no waste and extravagance here? No such belief is encouraged by the statement of the Queen's Printer, that it costs his department $32 to do a job which private business does at a profit for $14.—Toronto Globe and Mail.

Encourage the Family Doctor

More and more, in our day, there is a tendency toward specialization in medicine. Doctors like to specialize because they feel they can give better service that way, because the remuneration is better and because they can have some control over their hours of work. The general practitioner has no control. He goes when he is sent for.

All the same, the medical profession sees a danger in over-specialization. If every doctor were a specialist there would be nobody to refer patients to specialists; so specialization would fall of its own weight. There is, therefore, a movement on foot to encourage the general practitioner and to improve his status and his professional competence.

This Fall, in British Columbia, an Academy of the General Practice of Medicine is to be set up and general practitioners will be encouraged to accept its rules and avail themselves of the facilities it will provide for post-graduate study.

The new academy should do two things, both in the interests of the medical profession and of the people who depend on the profession's services—that is, everybody. It should guide young graduates into general practice and provide a broader base for those of them who will eventually become specialists. And it should help to keep in being that old institution, the family doctor, who was not only a physician and surgeon but an adviser in all sorts of ways and a dependable family friend.

—Daily Province.

"None of the Men Were . . ."

Grammar is a wonderful tool—like a buzz saw—when it's kept under control, an excellent servant—like Old Dobbin—when not overworked. In other words, it has its place in the general scheme of things.

A scholarly New York legislator discovered a phrase in a law which read, "Who to Be Cited." Whereupon he introduced a bill to change the "who" to "whom". The bill, doubtless, went through the prescribed readings, was duly engrossed, referred to committee, brought to the floor, passed by the Lower House, then by the Senate, and Governor Dewey signed it. But not without protest:

"The grammatical error occurs only in a section heading, and aside from the question of precise usage there is no problem as to clarity or construction of the statute. Although I am impressed by the laudable erudition, the bill in other respects is wholly unnecessary. . . ."

All Loyal Subjects Rotary Told

It was reported in the Monday issue of this newspaper that the plans for the evening Coronation celebration call for a British motif throughout to the exclusion of people of other racial groups who are citizens of Canada and subjects of Her Majesty the Queen of Canada. The news story said that the Rotary Club, which is in charge of this part of the Coronation program, felt it should be confined to a British atmosphere.

While we appreciate that the Rotary Club did not arrive at this decision in any haphazard manner, and that it undoubtedly has some reason for its stand, nevertheless this newspaper is of the opinion that such a decision is not only wrong but grossly unfair to those thousands of loyal subjects of the Queen who live in this area but whose racial background is not British.

There is no intention of arguing that a folk festival of the size and excellence of the Rotary's United Nations Festival should have a part in the Coronation celebration. That is too much to ask and would be much too long. However, we do believe that any program which recognizes only our British connections would be entirely incomplete and something of an insult to those many fine Canadians and loyal subjects of the Queen who happen to have had antecedents in countries other than the British Isles.—Kelowna Courier.

Can't Get Something Without Giving Something, Teen-Ager Told; Core of Rottenness Here Calls for Action From All

To the Editor:

Sir: It is good to see a teenager come out flatfooted and say what she thinks, unafraid of criticism, and it is good to see you publish such youthful—and by no means faulty—opinions.

But, you know, Miss LaPlante, there is quite a lot being done for Nelson youth. There are Scouts, Guides, Cubs, Cadets and various youth groups organized by the churches. There is a model plane club; there are hockey facilities and Pony League Baseball. Many adults are putting in some very hard work on these projects. And a great many more adults think there is far too much being done for and by Nelson youth.

Nevertheless, perhaps you are right, perhaps there is ample opportunity for delinquency in Nelson, and perhaps there are many young people who would sooner be delinquent than belong to any organization or group which demands some giving as well as receiving from its members—or which insists on a pattern of behaviour requiring some self-discipline. You cannot get something without giving something. The trouble is that most of the giving is done with money and when one is out of money — well, you've had it, unless you can get another handout from someone. It could be earned, of course, but that's only a last resort.

After all it costs money to go to the show, or to a dance, or to see a hockey game; and someone pays for the gas (we'll forget about tires, oil, etc., etc.) when the old man's car is used for "just driving around" —quite apart from the various and frequent refreshments required.

Say a teenager speeds down the highway and gets caught. Any drink? No, just the rush of wind in his hair and the irresistible surge of power in his control. Take his licence from him. That will teach him. Six adults, men and women, stagger out to their car. Crash, it backs into the one behind it; crash, as it scrapes the one in front; squeal, as another car swerves to avoid its sudden emergence into the traffic stream. Perhaps the driver gets home unharmed and uncaught; but if he is caught for causing a more serious accident he is fined—and can come back for more. In other words, the adult can set the example but the teenager must not follow it. The adult can be utterly indifferent, but the teenager must obey all the rules.

So you don't want to start anything, Miss LaPlante? Why not?

You've courage enough to rush into print—can't you do more than take pen to paper? Perhaps, after all, you have started something.

Nelson does need a youth centre. It needs the combined interest of all interested groups working together with a common object in view: a summer swimming pool in Lakeside Park, a baseball diamond in Fairview are not the only answer. A year-round youth centre is necessary, where swimming, games, dances, hobbies, etc., can be enjoyed at minimum cost through co-operative effort and planning. An addition to, and for, the rearrangement of the present Civic Centre facilities could easily provide such a need.

Then, when the facilities have been provided, seek out and eradicate the hard and vicious core of the rottenness which does exist in Nelson, as in all other cities. It is not serious yet in this lovely city of ours, but the straws don't blow about without a wind and the influences at work are insidiously increasing. Youth in Nelson is being given every opportunity for delinquency as well as considerable opportunity to avoid it. Drinking parties, and worse, are going on not only in the imagination of a few. Such indications as exist should be taken as seriously as the first pain which may warn of cancer in the human body. But, to bottle it up successfully, other outlets for healthy teenage energy must be provided—and not with monetary profit as the chief motive.

It has to be recognized that the modern home or apartment does not provide an outlet for youthful vigor. The small family, the small home, shorter working hours, both parents working—and each with a thousand and one interests outside the family—have all combined to *break up family unity and self-*reliance which was once the greatest source of strength of any community.

We have attained a standard of living second to none. We are privileged people living in a free and incredibly rich country. But you cannot get something for nothing. To have privileges it is necessary to assume responsibilities. Surely we are not so blindly selfish as to grab all we can get and care nothing for those who follow? On the one side there is discontent and bickering; on the other the priceless asset of good, decent, healthy citizens of the future.

Let us assume our responsibilities adequately. Now.

How Much Milk for Koreans Represented In Money Wasted by Teeners? Do Something For Selves Says One Who Faced Problem

To the Editor:

Dear Miss LaPlante and your teenage friends,

What is the matter with you teenagers? Why, nothing, except you've been spoiled rotten with too much money and publicity, until you've gotten a false notion of your true degree of importance in the scheme of things.

I wonder how many Korean children could be supplied with milk on the money spent by North American youth on soft drinks? Or how many Europeans could be decently clad on the amount wasted by teenagers on unnecessary and over-expensive clothing? Not that you care.

Whatever makes you think that by the time your parents and other citizens finish buying you a new high school and the community a new hospital, there'll be any money left for a recreation centre? Or do you feel that should have been built first? But you've probably never heard of taxes.

Why do your small brothers have to have fancy uniforms and a whole staff of adults before they can play ball? And why do you have to have a fancy recreation centre in order to have recreation?

Some of us Nelson "old folks" remember way back about thirteen years ago when we faced the same problems you do. We obtained the use of a rickety old workshop, got together an orchestra consisting of three boys who played an accordian, violin and guitar, and began to have organized parties. The music was probably terrible and the floor was rough, but we had a lot of fun. We called ourselves the "Uphill Club" and elected officers and a refreshment committee. The girls supplied the cake and sandwiches and everyone helped in the coffee brewing and dish washing. We cleaned up the place, washed the windows and decorated with money raised by a box social. We had Sunday ball games at the city fields, weiner roasts, a hike to the Silver King and even rented the Oddfellows hall and put on a successful dance. Never once did we expect or require adult supervision. Because we were on our own we felt responsible for the good name of our gang. Of course there was the odd person who became a problem but we dealt with them ourselves. The main complaint in the neighborhood was the terrific noise we made on the streets at midnight. (Of course we thought they were "old cranks" to make a fuss.) But we did nothing we couldn't have done under supervised recreation. We welcomed our parents if they cared to look in on us, but they seldom bothered after they saw how well we made out on our own. At last the building was in danger of collapse and we moved our parties to the friendly home of one of the boys. Towards the end of two years our gatherings nearly all became farewell parties as the boys and girls got jobs or joined the armed services until at last there were no more.

Most of us felt as you do in those days, Nelson was dead. There was nothing here for excitement just a lot of old people. And most of us left. I wonder why at least three quarters of us came back?

Exactly what is it Nelson hasn't got that you want, kids? Make up your minds and then get some initiative and do something about it yourselves.

Canada Recruits Overseas Bandsmen

LONDON (CP)—The Canadian Army, short on native sons with a flair for militarty music, is taking up the slack by recruiting bandsmen in Britain and continental Europe.

In London, it was announced today that Canadian forces have recruited 18 bandsmen, mostly former British Army men. Another 14 will be enrolled this month and 20 others will be processed to determine whether they are suitable.

In The Netherlands, a special Canadian Army panel investigated the credentials of 46 musically-gifted Dutchmen who want to don Canadian khaki.

Under an arrangement, the Dutchmen sign contracts for three or six years. They retain their Dutch nationality but have the option of becoming immigrants to Canada after their period of service expires.

N. Korea Frees 7 U.K. Subjects

TOKYO (AP) — The Pyongyang radio has announced that the North Korean government freed seven British subjects for repatriation to Russian representatives at Antung in southern Manchuria.

The announcement was made by the North Korean foreign ministry.

The broadcast, monitored here, identified six as:

The British minister to Seoul, a British vice-consul in Seoul, the first secretary of the British Seoul legation, a correspondent, a missionary and a Salvation Army worker. The seventh was not identified.

The radio said the North Korean government has "agreed with the Soviet request of March for the release of the seven."

Radio press monitors said the broadcast identified three of those released as Vivian Holt, British minister to Seoul at the start of the war; George Blake, vice-consul; and Philip Deane Michael Gigantes, war correspondent for the London Observer and International News Service.

Other names were not available.

The broadcast listed them as the first secretary of the British legation in Seoul, two missionaries and a Salvation Army worker.

Commonwealth to Plan for PoWs

SEOUL (AP) — British Commonwealth officials Thursday announced plans for care and transportation of Commonwealth prisoners who may be released by the communists in an exchange of sick and wounded captives.

A spokesman said aircraft of an Australian transport squadron will fly the Commonwealth repatriates to Iwakuni, Japan. They will be taken to the Commonwealth base hospital at Kure for treatment.

The only Canadian listed in the United States armed forces list of prisoners obtained from the Reds is Gnr. John Jenkins of Hamilton, Ont.

Here Are Suggestions For Spring Tea Tables

By MARGARET CARR

This is a good season for teas and luncheons. The spring flowers, even if most of them are from the florist shop, make us think of the party we have been putting off for so long. A beautifully appointed tea table filled with dainty and delicious food solves refreshment problems simply. And the food here is dainty and delicious.

ASSORTED SANDWICHES

Cream Cheese-Onion Spread

Soften three-fourths of a package cream cheese with two tablespoons mayonnaise, mix with ¼ teaspoon grated onion and pinch of salt. Spread between fingers of whole wheat and white bread. It makes one dozen finger sandwiches.

Devilled Egg Spread

Finely chop three hard-boiled eggs. Blend in ¼ cup mayonnaise, 2 teaspoons prepared mustard, 1 teaspoon horseradish, ¼ teaspoon salt, ⅛ teaspoon pepper. Spread on rounds of white bread, sprinkle with chopped parsley and top with crescents of bread. Makes one dozen sandwiches.

Chicken Spread

Mix 1¼ cups chopped cooked chicken, three tablespoons mayonnaise, 1 tablespoon lemon juice, ¼ teaspoon salt and dash of pepper. Spread on squares of white bread and roll over opposite corners until they meet. Hold together with toothpicks. Roll up in a damp cloth until ready to serve. Garnish with sprigs of watercress. Makes one dozen sandwiches.

SUNSHINE CAKE

1 cup margarine
2 tablespoons hot water
3 cups sifted cake flour
3 teaspoons double acting baking powder
1½ teaspoons salt
1¾ cups sugar
¾ cup milk
2 teaspoons vanilla
4 eggs.

Blend margarine and hot water in a large mixing bowl and cream until light and fluffy. Sift flour, baking powder, salt and sugar over margarine. Add milk, vanilla, and two eggs. Beat 300 strokes with a spoon or 2 minutes on medium speed of electric beater. Add remaining 2 eggs and beat 300 strokes or 2 minutes on electric beater. Turn into a greased and floured 9-inch tube pan. Bake in a moderate oven one hour or until done. Allow to cool 10 or 15 minutes and remove from pan. Frost with a lemon icing.

LEMON ICING

2 unbeaten egg whites
1½ cups sugar
¼ teaspoon cream of tartar
3 tablespoons water
2 tablespoons lemon juice.
Yellow food coloring.

Place all ingredients in top of double boiler. Mix well. Place over rapidly boiling water and beat constantly with a rotary beater for 7 minutes. Remove from fire. Add a few drops yellow food coloring and beat until thick enough to be spread.

Pythian Sister Tea Has Gay 'Wild West' Theme

CASTLEGAR — A colorful April Fool's tea was sponsored by the Pythian Sisters in the Twin Rivers Hall here. Members were gowned in old fashioned costumes, depicting the days of Buffalo Bill, Jesse James, Clementine and Kit Carson.

The serving table was enhanced with blue, red, yellow and white candles in frothing beer bottles which served as candlestick holders, accompanied by glass mugs on either side. A musical covered wagon and brown jug, each playing "Little Brown Jug" and a gentleman doll dressed in tails and derby hat added to the theme. Bean pots at each end of the table were presided over by Mrs. H. Horne, Mrs. I. Forgie-Thompson, Mrs. C. Fraser and Mrs. A. Saunders.

Mrs. G. Santano, Mrs. J. Randall, Mrs. W. Hubert, and Mrs. G. Wanless were serviteurs. Their tea tables were centered with "Buffalo Bill" covered wagons, in which little old fashioned ladies sat. The tea cloths were decorated with gold picks, spades, shoes and guns.

Mrs. J. Sherbiko in appropriate gypsy costume, was fortune teller.

In charge of the bake table were Mrs. J. Gemmill, Mrs. O. Lightle, and Mrs. J. Townsend, who was dressed in gentleman's costume, complete with tails, derby and moustache.

Mrs. W. Saunders and Mrs. C. Wanless were in charge of the candy table. Receiving the guests was Mrs. V. Jones.

In charge of the kitchen were Mrs. L. Grunerud, Mrs. T. Ratcliffe, Mrs. C. Bradford, Mrs. M. Blaihut and Mrs. V. Sorensen. Mrs. H. Sommers was general convener.

Coast Flowers Sold at Balfour Guild Tea, Sale

BALFOUR—About $70 was realized from an annual Ladies Guild Easter sale and tea in the Woodland Hall here. Guests from Harrop and Longbeach attended the affair and Mrs. F. E. Boyce contributed a choice variety of violin selections during the tea hour. She was accompanied on the piano by Miss Roberta Stevenson of Harrop. Mrs. Scott won the contest prize.

The hall was beautifully decked with daffodils and narcissus shipped from Vancouver Island for the event by a former Balfour resident, Mr. Holt. Sale of the flowers at the close of the tea helped swell the church fund.

Mrs. E. Noakes was in charge of the bake table and potted plants. Mrs. H. Hudson presided over the sale table and Mrs. M. Wellwood sold children's stuffed toys. H. Hudson operated the Dutch auction and sale of flowers while Mrs. E. A. McGillivray, Mrs. W. H. Saunders, Mrs. L. Sweeting, and Mrs. J. White convened tea.

Kaslo Hospital WA Seeks Project

KASLO—Mrs. H. R. Abey was hostess to the Victorian Hospital Ladies Auxiliary meeting at her home with Mrs. J. R. Tinkess as co-hostess.

The treasurer's report showed a fair balance on hand with all outstanding accounts paid. Mrs. Johnson asked to be relieved of hospital mending duties for the auxiliary, and the auxiliary regretfully acceded to the request. It was reported that children's pyjamas had been made and delivered to the hospital. Annual hospital day May 10 will be observed. The group will seek a special project—something needed at the hospital—and make it their objective. President Mrs. G. A. Browell thanked all members who donated prizes and refreshments for the annual Easter dance. Mrs. J. Russell Tinkess of Vancouver and a former member of the auxiliary was welcomed.

BRIDGE CLUB MEETS

FRUITVALE — Mrs. F. Gordon and Mrs. W. Duncan were the top scorers when Mrs. D. Shorting was hostess to members of the Circle Bridge Club at her home. There were two tables in play.

A social hour followed with the hostess serving refreshments.

HARTLEY WINTNEY, England (CP) — Farmer's wife Mrs. Mona Huxham has trained her 18 prize-winning poodles, some of which will travel to competitions in Canada this summer, to help round up cattle. "If anybody thinks poodles are useless decorations they should watch my team," she says.

How Your Boy Lives in NATO German Barracks

By BILL BOSS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

HANNOVER, Germany (CP)—A typical day in the life of a Canadian soldier in Germany includes a lot of training, plenty of good food and ample time for recreation.

Well-constructed, centrally-heated barracks built for the German Army before the war house Canada's NATO brigade.

Some rooms are double, occupied usually by corporals or lance-corporals. Most sleep four and there are dormitory-type rooms sleeping as many as 10.

Sergeants and officers have their own quarters, lounges and dining rooms.

Most have bought themselves electric irons and the men are immaculate when they leave barracks.

UP AT 6 A.M.

A typical day would go something like this:

6 a.m.—Reveille, blown on a bugle. Fall out into the corridor in pyjamas and answer roll call.

6:30—Breakfast. One morning this consisted of tomato juice, corn flakes, fresh milk, sugar, grilled egg, bacon, bread, butter, marmalade, coffee with canned milk. Service in the mess is cafeteria style.

Canadians get the full British ration scale plus 25 per cent and added supplements.

Fresh milk is trucked from Denmark every two days, and the ration includes Danish hams, fresh fish, frozen beef and pork, New Zealand butter and seven eggs a week. British troops get four. There is cheese on the table at every meal. Canadian items such as honey, peanut butter and tomato ketchup also are included.

READY FOR INSPECTION

7:00—Make bed. Clean room for inspection by platoon or company commander.

7:30—First parade. Platoon commander's instructions for the day.

8:00—Parade-square drill.

9:00—Weapons training, or perhaps PT or swimming.

10:00—NAAFI break. They go to the canteen, buy coffee three cents and buns or doughnuts three cents each.

10:20—Resume weapons training.

LUNCH MENU

12 noon—Lunch. One noon this was chicken rice soup with croutons, salisbury steak with gravy, mashed potatoes, buttered carrots, fresh milk, rice pudding, bread, butter, tea with canned milk.

1:15—Parade-square drill.

2:00—Recreational sports or education. Most of the brigade is below grade eight education standard and 10 hours' instruction weekly is ordered. The subjects are reading, spelling, arithmetic, geography. This usually is finished about 4:30.

5:00—Supper. One day this was beef and barley broth with toasted croutons, fried liver with gravy and lyonnaise potatoes and green peas, currant cookies, canned fruit, bread, butter, tea with canned milk.

By 6 p.m. the soldier has fed and changed and is ready for his evening. More recently arrived men head for the bright lights downtown. Those longer here have found little pubs not far from the barracks.

UNIT CANTEENS

Beer-drinking in unit canteens is popular and enthusiastic.

However they spend their evenings, most men manage to be back in their barracks blocks in time for the pyjama-clad roll call at 6 a.m. How they get back into the lines is strictly their own business.

Socreds Scored On Dismissal Of Mrs. M. Scace

VANCOUVER (CP) — Dismissal of Mrs. Muriel Scace, editor of "Effective Living," was criticized by British Columbia teachers at their convention here.

D. L. Pritchard, chairman of the B.C. Teachers' Federation Curriculum Committee, said Mrs. Scace, contributed "most able, valuable and conscientious service" to B.C. education.

Mrs. Scace, secretary of the department of education's curriculum revision committee, was dismissed as part of the Social Credit government's economy wave.

VOTE OF THANKS

"Effective Living" came under fire from a Social Credit private member during the recent sitting of the house.

Mr. Pritchard said Mrs. Scace was not dismissed because of "Effective Living."

She edited many other textbooks and without her services, "the department now will be even more short-handed than ever."

Later the convention passed a vote of thanks for "the valuable services rendered by Mrs. Scace," despite objections from the floor that "we are, in effect, censuring the government for getting rid of her."

Medical Officers Ready for PoWs

IN KOREA (CP) — Two Canadian officers are slated for an important role in medical arrangements for Commonwealth sick and wounded prisoners if and when the wounded are exchanged, The Canadian Press learned Thursday.

In addition, at least one Canadian brigadier, probably Brig. Jean Allard of Nicolet, Que., will attend the Panmunjom exchanges to welcome the returning men to freedom. Brig. Allard takes over command of Canada's 25th brigade April 20 from Brig. M. P. Bogert of Toronto.

Lt.-Col. Roy Smiley of Winnipeg will head the Commonwealth medical team located at the 121st U. S. medical evacuation hospital at Yongdongpo, that part of Seoul South of the Han River.

Maj. Jim Watson of Chilliwack, B. C., commands the British Commonwealth hospital in Seoul where the prisoners Lt.-Col. Smiley's team removes from American channels will be treated, pending air evacuation to the Commonwealth base general hospital in Kure, Japan.

The prisoners will stay in Kure, until able to withstand the trip to their countries.

Russian Cruiser To Naval Review

MOSCOW (AP) — The British embassy says Russia will send the cruiser Sverdlov to participate in the Coronation naval review June 15.

The ship is named for Jacob Sverdlov, first president of the Soviet Union.

This is believed to be the first time the Russians have agreed to send a ship of such size to take part in a review in foreign waters.

WINS BRITISH EMPIRE MEDAL

OTTAWA (CP) — Sgt. A. W. Graham, 40-year-old Toronto father, has won the British Empire Medal for risking his life to save a young soldier in danger of being blown up by a hand grenade. Army headquarters today said the award —an unusual one in peacetime — was made to Sgt. Graham for "an act of outstanding courage" during training in July at Niagara-on-the-Lake, Ont. The Toronto Scottish NCO shoved an unidentified rifleman to safety when a live grenade the rifleman had thrown failed to clear a parapet.

These days most people work under pressure, worry more, sleep less. This strain on body and brain makes physical fitness easier to lose—harder to regain. Today's tense living, lowered resistance, overwork, worry—any of these may affect normal kidney action. When kidneys get out of order, excess acids and wastes remain in the system. Then backache, disturbed rest, that "tired-out" heavy-headed feeling often follow. That's the time to take Dodd's Kidney Pills. Dodd's stimulate the kidneys to normal action. Then you feel better—sleep better—work better. Ask for Dodd's Kidney Pills at any drug counter. 53

Adenauer's Ottawa Visit May Revive Meyer Case

OTTAWA (CP) — Konrad Adenauer comes here next week as the first German chancellor to set foot on Canadian soil. There is every indication he will be greeted warmly by a government keen to get his views on European developments.

From the Canadian standpoint, the chance for a general comparing of notes transcends any specific issues because there are no major problems between the two countries. But the 22-hour visit, starting next Friday, could raise difficult questions.

TO DISCUSS REFUGEES

Whether the Chancellor raises them or not remains to be seen. However, Canadian representatives are likely to be prepared to discuss such specific matters as the admission of recent refugees from communism and the Kurt Meyer case if Mr. Adenauer or his party of 10 raise them. Some officials doubt that the Meyer war criminal case will come up.

The 77-year-old head of the Republic of Germany is expected to see Immigration Minister Harris and may discuss the question of the stream of refugees who have been fleeing East Germany in large numbers. He has proposed that Canada take many of them as immigrants on a temporary basis.

Canadian officials feel there is no really adequate way of making security checks on their political leanings until they have been in West Germany for some time. Only a few have been granted permission to come to Canada.

Mr. Adenauer has been asked, too, by his Christian Democrat party in the province of Lower Saxony to take up here the case for release of Johannes Neitz, a former sailor serving 21 years for shooting a Canadian prisoner of war.

He is one of two war criminals held at Werl, Germany, in Canada's name. The other is Maj.-Gen. Kurt Meyer, former Hitler youth divisional commander held responsible for the shooting of 18 Canadian prisoners.

The Adenauer government has asked that Meyer be released. The current official stand is that both cases will be placed before international tribunals to be set up when the treaty giving West Germany virtual autonomy becomes law.

That is months off.

Mr. Adenauer also is expected to discuss trade and the situation arising from the fact that Canada sells considerably more to that country than she buys there. He now is in Washington for talks with President Eisenhower.

Quiz Programs Give Headaches to Kind-Hearted, Weary Librarians

SASKATOON (CP)—Radio quiz programs—the kind that involve sending answers by mail—are not winning any friends at the Saskatoon public library.

Librarian J. S. Wood, after suffering in silence for a long time, let loose with a blast against this particular form of radio fare.

His trouble is that many persons who listen to quiz shows and get swept away by rosy visions of wealth for only a box top and the correct answer seem to think they can get that answer immediately from the public library.

"No sooner is the morning quiz over than the telephone starts ringing," he complains. "For the next few hours we're doing nothing but supply the answer to the contest."

PUBLIC SERVICE

Mr. Wood says the library staff believes it their duty to answer all questions to the best of their ability. But contests are bringing things to a stage where most who have legitimate requests are being denied service due to blocked telephone lines.

There is an added problem. The variation in questions with the resulting variation in answers doesn't do the library's reputation any good.

Mr. Wood cites an example:

"Somebody phones and asks what is the highest peak in North America. We answer Mount McKinley. Then somebody phones and asks what's the highest peak in the Rockies. We tell them.

"The next persons asks what is the highest peak in the United States; then someone asks what's the height of Mount Robson.

"Now we have better things to do than sit around and listen to quiz programs and we haven't any idea what the question on the program actually was. So maybe we've given the persons calling four different answers. You can see it's doing us no good."

Mr. Wood says someone once asked the library to find out the names of all the entertainers who were born on the seventh day of the seventh month. But the "last straw" was the person who asked: "Can you give me the names of Donald Duck's nephews."

Mr. Wood added a note of irony to his declarations.

"None of the prize-winners ever offered to share their loot with us," he said. "But they'll blame us if we don't give them the right answer."

U.S. Bans Public Weapons Display

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States defence department has banned public demonstrations of new weapons and equipment, in a move to tighten secrecy and apparently to curb rivalry between the services.

A recent announcement said the decision was made for reasons of economy and security and because the demonstrations "are not in the public interest at this time."

It was not clear what effect, if any, the order would have on future tests with atomic or hydrogen "hell" bombs. Reporters have been admitted to some of the recent atomic tests in Nevada.

Two Royal Houses United In Luxembourg Wedding

LUXEMBOURG (AP)—A fairy-tale royal wedding united the reigning houses of two-thirds of the Benelux countries Thursday before notability of 11 European countries. Some 140,000 persons stood outside the church.

In twin civil and religious rites, the grand duchy's heir apparent Prince Jean and Belgium's Princess Josephine Charlotte, sister of King Baudouin, were married.

Jean, 32, is slim, dark, moustached and a Second World War soldier who fought with Britain's Irish Guards to free his homeland from the Nazis.

Someday he will succeed his mother, Grand Duchess Charlotte, as reigning monarch of this rich tough tiny realm of 300,000 people and valuable coal, steel and iron industries.

His bride, daughter of ex-King Leopold and the late Queen Astrid, is 25, blonde, blue-eyed and attractive.

They have known each other since childhood.

The papal nuncio, Msgr. Fernando Cento, wearing a golden mitre and a golden cape, performed the ceremony at Luxembourg cathedral.

The bride's simple but impressive white organdy dress was covered with lace.

Holland's Queen Juliana — third royal partner in the Belgium-Netherlands-Luxembourg military-political alliance forged after the war-headed the noble guests. They included three kings, three queens, a grand duchess, an archduke, 40 princes and princesses and a score of counts and countesses.

Of the royal assemblage, though, only three — Juliana, the bride's brother Baudouin, and Grand Duchess Charlotte — still are reigning.

Outside a vast assemblage packed the capital's decorated streets to see the newlyweds and the glittering array of noble guests drive from the ceremony in open cars.

The wedding, in addition to being welcomed politically, had caught the public fancy.

Private civil rites in the ducal palace — attended only by the couple's families and royal guests — preceded the church ceremony. Luxembourg's laws require the double ceremony.

After a honeymoon trip to Italy, the newlyweds will take up residence in a 25-room mansion, 15 miles outside Luxembourg city.

Gives Credit to Soldiers for Canada's Name

WINNIPEG (CP)—Labor Minister Gregg said Wednesday night that Canadian forces have been largely responsible for the goodwill which most of the world shows towards Canada today.

He was addressing about 300 veterans of both world wars at the 18th annual Vimy dinner and Canadian Corps reunion, sponsored by a branch of the Canadian Legion.

"A great deal of the goodwill Canada enjoys came about through the battle character, the cheerfulness and the friendliness of our forces" in two world wars and the Korean battle, Mr. Gregg said.

The Canadian Corps at Vimy in 1917 set the pace for the offensive to follow, he said. "This first major test of Canadian forces on the offensive played an important role in Canada's march to nationhood."

The first railway mail service in the West was carried over the Winnipeg-Brandon line in 1882.

Greece Flattens Feeble Drachma.

ATHENS (AP) — A 50-per cent devaluation in Greek currency was announced Thursday by Coordination Minister Spyros Markezinis in a broadcast.

Markezinis literally knocked the bottom out of the drachma which now will be pegged at 30,000 to one United States dollar. Previously it was 15,000 to $1 (U.S.)

Hammarskjold Reaches N. York

UNITED NATIONS (AP) — Dag Hammarskjold, recently elected secretary-general of the United Nations, arrived in New York Thursday by plane from Stockholm.

He was greeted by Trygve Lie, retiring UN secretary-general, and other high-ranking UN officials.

Hammarskjold, a 47-year-old diplomatic-economist, will be installed Friday by the general assembly, which elected him to a five-year term in the $40,000-a-year, tax-free job.

Brother-in-Law Of Peron Dies Of Bullet Wound

BUENOS AIRES (Reuters) — Juan Duarte, brother-in-law of President Peron who broke with the Argentine ruler this week over economic policy, was found today with a bullet through his head.

Duarte, brother of the late Eva Duarte Peron, was 39. He was found in his apartment by his chauffeur.

Duarte quit his job as Peron's secretary on Tuesday, saying he did not feel able to carry out the president's new policy on wages and cost of living. Peron is cracking down on black-marketeers and Wednesday night announced an all-out attack against persons he accused of smearing his regime.

Four other ministers have quit for the same reason as Duarte.

Trail Recreation Group Gets $65,000 Donations

TRAIL — At a meeting Wednesday night of the Trail District Recreational Projects Society it was reported that an increaseo f $23,000 per year in donations has been the result of the latest campaign drive. This 'encouraging" figure brings the total amount of contributions to $65,000 per year.

ARENA WORK

The program of projects was covered and G. R. McMeekin stated that the installation of the refrigeration equipment for the complete memorial centre is finished except for the laying of pipe. Reconversion of the rooms above the foyer in the arena is almost completed and the painting is expected to be under way this weekend. He also reported that the working drawings have been received from architects McCarter and Nairne and partners on the kids' rink. The original plans called for a rink 147 feet by 68 feet. The plans have been revised to allow an extra two feet in width to accommodate a rink 147 feet by 70 feet.

Bids have already been submitted to the Recreational Society for the steel construction on the kids' rink. An order will be placed this month for the delivery of steel by the end of August. This steel will be for the lower section of the memorial centre. Foundations will soon be under way on a voluntary labor basis.

EXPENSE HIGH

Due to considerable expense entailed in the various projects of the society this year to date funds have not been alloted for the lighting of Jubilee Park. Further investigation into the possibility of modifying the present design for floodlights for the park is being carried out.

Both the Warfield and Sunningdale areas have been allotted sums of money to carry on their present recreational projects. Chairman C. H. Wright stated that in a meeting with the City Council on Tuesday they were informed that if space could be supplied for a public library in the memorial centre, the City Council would be in favor of supplying a library. However until such space is made available no formal commitment will be made by them.

COAL PRODUCTION AT FERNIE DOWN

FERNIE — The Crow's Nest Pass Coal Co. Ltd. reported a drop of 18,122 tons in production in March 1953, as compared with March, 1952. Coke produced increased by 536 tons. A drop in orders is blamed for the lower production. The mines at Elk River and Michel are working four shifts a week instead of the five shifts a week prevalent for many years. Complete figures follow:

COAL	March 1953	March 1952
Elk River	25,453	25,668
Michel	59,631	77,538

During discussions on Tuesday and Wednesday, the union presented its demands to the company, the most important of which was an increase of 20 cents an hour to be made up of a wage increase and fringe benefits, a number of which were detailed. The company presented a demand for withdrawal of the 10 cents increase granted in June, 1952, and changes in some clauses of the agreement. The company's demand is being referred to the union membership at meetings in Trail, Kimberley and Calgary.

Views from the News Front

By J. M. ROBERTS, Jr.
Associated Press News Analyst

The United States may be preparing to throw some balls of its own into the new peace game begun two weeks ago by Russia. But it is not going to do anything which might confuse the issue of a truce in Korea.

Considerable confusion has been created by reports from Washington that the administration has plans for a divided Korea and a United Nations trusteeship for Formosa.

This apparently is due to the fact that the kicking around of ideas and policy making are two different things.

The whole objective of policy is to achieve a truce and then get down to work on peace. Conditions of the truce itself and the atmosphere under which it might be completed will have an important bearing.

It would hardly seem likely that the U.S. and the United Nations could ever get away from the idea of a unified Korea. There is quite a possibility, however, that once having stated this stand in peace negotiations, it would then be used for bargaining purposes.

The Western allies, for instance, have never recognized the German-Polish border arrangement, the Iron Curtain in Germany, or in Austria. They are just facts that persist from year to year. A similar condition could apply to Korea.

The idea of a UN trusteeship for Formosa is even less concrete. It was considered long ago. But now Formosa is the seat of the Nationalist government which holds a place in the council. There is a possibility that under changed conditions Red China might be permitted to enter the UN but there is no intention to make a government-in-exile of the Nationalists.

When the White House says these ideas have not been "considered" it means, of course, that they have not been handled in the UN security council and by the president of orders of business.

What is happening is that policy makers are casting about constantly in all directions. The recent Russian peace feelers obviously require counter-feelers, if for no other purpose than to determine the depth of Kremlin intent and reaction.

There is a strong tendency in U.S. diplomatic procedure to keep things concentrated on the particular point at issue of the moment. But, if a truce is attained in Korea, the subsequent peace conferences may prove to be an open field for the introduction of ideas about all the Asiatic manifestations of the East-West conference. Peace terms in Korea might well involve, and be involved in, peace terms for Indo-China.

Mr., Mrs. Diamond Leave for Montreal

TRAIL — Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Diamond will leave Trail today for Montreal where Mr. Diamond will attend the annual general meeting of the Consolidated Mining and Smelting Company of Canada Ltd. on April 28.

Blacktop for Vernon-Kamloops

VERNON — Vernon-Kamloops Highway will be paved right through by the end of 1953, according to L. Hugh Shantz, Socred MLA, who has returned from Victoria to his home and business in Vernon. The section of the old highway between Vernon and the end of Swan Lake, now undergoing repairs, may also be paved, he added.

Miles of reconstruction and hard-surfacing for roads serving vegetable and orchard hauling in the Swan Lake section are on the books for this year, Mr. Shantz declared.

Work has begun on reconstruction and surfacing of roads in Oyama. The government has made a grant of $1000 to Coldstream Municipality to help develop the road linking Kalamalka Lake and Highway 6 at the Coldstream Ranch. The municipality is putting up a like amount.

Considerable work is promised for the Monashee highway in the vicinity of the junction of Sugar Lake road and Highway 6, and also for the Enderby-Mabel Lake road.

Mr. Shantz believed it was possible that the joint arterial highway 6-97 through the city of Vernon itself would be brought up to standard this year.

$1 Million for Highway 16

SMITHERS — Upward of $1,000,000 will be spent on Highway 16, in 1953. Smithers Chamber of Commerce was informed in a letter from Works Minister P. A. Gaglardi.

The letter answered a protest to the minister following the chamber's March meeting.

Mr. Gaglardi wrote:

"I am very sorry that the information given out or taken from my written speech has been a bit misunderstood. This government will be spending upward of $1,000,000 on Highway 16."

Mr. Gaglardi told the recent B.C. Highways and Tourist Travel conference the 493 miles of Highway 16 will cost about $50,000,00, and said this year's expenditure includes about 26 miles of paving.

Smithers folk, figuring mileage and government plans, said it would take another 19 years to complete the highway.

Peron Delivers Fiery Speech

BUENOS AIRES (AP) — Argentine President Juan Peron says new price ceilings will be posted Friday and he will use the army, if necessary, "to enforce prices with gun butts."

In a fiery country-wide radio broadcast Wednesday, Peron also promised to jail any profiteers. He blamed opponents, domestic and foreign, for the failure of producers to send meat to Buenos Aires and for a rise of nearly 50 per cent in the last two weeks in all other food prices.

Star Soccer Players Off to Argentina

LONDON (Reuters)—Early next month a party of star footballers will leave London on a 25,000-mile tour of South America in an effort to regain some of the soccer prestige England lost during the world championships in Brazil in 1950.

The team has not yet been selected but the best will be chosen for the tour.

Since the world championship, England beat Argentina 2-1 at Wembley, London, and a successful South American tour would do a great deal to raise England's prestige.

The English team will play the Argentine, Uruguay, the world champions, and Chile. On the way home, it will face the United States, one of the teams who surprisingly beat them during the matches in Rio.

VANCOUVER (CP) — A by-law to be submitted at December civic elections will decide whether Vancouver citizens will pay $250,000 to roof the British Empire Games swimming pool from taxes over a 20-year period.

City Council agreed Wednesday to a park board request for the by-law.

LONDON (CP)—The animal hostel opened at London airport four months ago by the SPCA has had more than 25,000 "guests," including birds, mice, mink, lizards—and two elephants from India.

Unions Ask Probe Of Zinc Decline

BARTLESVILLE, Okla. — The United Acid and Smelter Workers Union of Oklahoma reports that at a special meeting of a group of local unions representing some 3000 zinc smelter workers in the Tri-State region, the currently unstable conditions in the zinc industry resulting chiefly from the depressed state of the zinc market, were discussed.

As a result of this condition and the effect it is having on employment, the following resolution was adopted:

"That this special conference of zinc workers call upon their respective Congressmen and Senators to seek their support in alleviating this condition in this industry, and,

"That we further request our respective Congressmen and Senators to seek a federal investigation for the purpose of attempting to determine the reasons for this instability as it affects this industry, and to provide, as a result of this investigation, concrete protective measures designed to protect the economy of those employed in this industry."

Around the KOOTENAY in Sport

By LEN WALKER

From what I hear along the street have been taken to task over my olumn of a few days ago by Earl Warren, sports announcer. . . .

Apparently he did not relish my tatement that when a coach has een on the job three years with- ut a title, that it is time to con- der a change. He used the case f Dick Irvin of the Montreal team s an example. To this I can only nply that if he would poke further ack in the history of Irvin he ould find that Irvin left Toronto ecause it was felt that he had een there too long. Also, I might id, that money talks to a greater xtent in the National League than does here. Why, if we had the oney in our hockey club that me people think we should be ble to get we wouldn't have a orry in the world. We could prob- ly lure the whole Detroit Red Wing organization to Nelson.

One other item for which I was pparently taken over the coals as on Warren's belief I praised Wares' ability to be able to dump e puck out of his own end, but uggested he hadn't been able to ach the team to do so. If Warren ill read that column again he will nd that it read: "Many also claim hat our boys never did learn how dump that puck out of their wn end, yet Wares was a master at his." The phrase, "many also claim", significant; friend Warren would o well to differentiate between eporting and opinion. He was iffed also by the words: "Al- hough Wares proved in the past hat he was a good coach, I along ith many more can see the writing n the wall." Apparently the an- ouncer failed to read any further r he would have seen that there as no period there. It went on to ay "if only for the reason of using he same money for a playing coach ho will be playing in all or almost ll the Leafs' games." Wares is a apable player, but he was only seen in six games in the past season. The question that brings up is can a small club afford a non-playing coach?

Judging from all the talk throughout the city in past weeks, on how to get Nelson a winning hockey team, it is expected that Friday's annual meeting will be one of the largest ever held—that is if everyone who has given out with suggestions is in attendance.

The hockey executive will no doubt welcome new ideas from the fans, and this is the proper place to air your views. I would like to suggest that even if you haven't any ideas it will be a good place to spent your evening to indicate support of your team.

Here and There . . . It happens every year. Some team that almost everyone expects to cart off the silverware gets laid by the wayside. This year it was the Detroit Red Wings who took it on the chin. . . . Terry Sawchuk, Detroit's great little goaler and winner of the Vezina Trophy as the least scored upon netminder, said that he had a poor year, but would do better next season. Yet his average of 1.90 was better than his previous marks of 1.93 and 1.94 . . . Gordie Howe, who burned up the league for the scoring title and set a new record of 95 points, was, in the six play-off games, able to collect two goals and five assists, for a record of 17 goals and 17 assists in 47 playoff games.

They tell me that Ford Frick, the czar of major league baseball, sent a nice letter to the Summer Bonspiel Committee saying that he would like very much to visit Canada and Nelson for a bit of curling, but that it was out of the question at this time to accept their invitation because of the pressure of work . . . Jack Long tells me that he will be visiting Seattle shortly where he hopes to see some Coast league baseball.

Stiff Fight Awaits Beavers When Meet Vs

PENTICTON, B.C. (CP) — Fort William Beavers meet a gang of hockey players who have "been around" when they tangle with Penticton Vs in the Western Allan Cup senior hockey final.

On top of that, Vs are one of those clubs that never give up. They needed all their years of acumulated "savvy" and drive to come from behind and win their Okanagan senior final and the British Columbia final against Spokane Flyers of the Western International Hockey League.

The provincial best-of-seven final went the limit — and then some. After Spokane took a fast 2-0 lead in games, Penticton won the third and fourth was tied. Vs took the next two and needed but a tie in the seventh. But Spokane won 4-3.

Old pro Willie Schmidt fired the winner as Vs took the eighth game of the rousing, rough-tough series 4-3.

Penticton, an "apple valley" in the heart of the B.C. fruit-growing area, gets "A" for effort, winning their league and the province in their second year in senior hockey. Their 2500 seat arena was completed in time for the 1951-52 season.

Playing coach of the newcomers is Bill Carse, an ex-NHL player with Chicago and graduate of the famous Edmonton Athletic Club junior team of 1935 whose roster included Mac and Neil Colville, among others.

Carse played with Vancouver Canucks from 1945, coaching them in the 1949-50 season before moving on.

EDMONTON FLAVOR

Vs have a decided Edmonton flavor. The line-up includes veteran senior Don Culley, originally an Edmonton junior; Jim Kilburn, brother of the Western Hockey League Victoria Cougars' Colin Kilburn; and Jim Fleming, who played with the University of Alberta Golden Bears and some pro hockey.

"Scrap-iron" Schmidt played five years with New Westminster and Vancouver in the W.H.L, and bounced around the hockey world after starting out in Saskatoon.

Another ex-WHL player is Jack McIntyre who left Victoria in mid-season this year after serving with New Westminster and Vancouver.

A trio of brothers — Billy, Grant and Dick Warwick — form a solid backbone of the club. Warwick refused to report to Montreal Canadiens last year after being sold by Detroit for $10,000.

The brothers own a restaurant here, and decided to play their hockey closer to home.

Vs finished the Okanagan season in third place, winning their semi-final from Vernon Canadians, then winning the final with Kamloops Elks three games to two with two ties. They had to come from behind 2-0 scores to gain both sawoffs, the second coming in the 7th and last game.

Bruins, Dull From Layoff, Drop Stanley Cup Opener to Canadiens

By W. R. WHEATLEY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

MONTREAL (CP) — Montreal Canadiens outskated and out-hustled Boston Bruins Thursday night to take the first game of the best-of-seven Stanley Cup finals 4-2 before 13,348 fans.

Canadiens spotted the Bruins a goal early in the first period, tied the score before the session ended and went ahead for keeps in the second period with two goals. Dickie Moore, Ken Mosdell, Floyd Curry and Maurice Richard each scored for Canadiens, and Bob Armstrong and Johnny Peirson for the Bruins.

It was wide open for about half the game, then closer checking set in and finally, in the last period, both teams cut loose with terrific body-checking. In this respect, Canadiens had the befter of the argument.

The Bruins lacked sharpness, perhaps from their layoff since Sunday, while Canadiens kpt right on from where they left off after knocking off Chicago Black Hawks in the cup semi-final Tuesday.

There were frequent changes in line make-ups by both coaches. Captain Milt Schmidt of the Bruins had to miss the game because of an injury but it is expected he will be back when the teams meet here again Saturday.

Real Chevrefils was sifted from wing to take Schmidt's place, and in the second and third periods other moves from wing to centre were frequent.

INJURED TWICE

Billy Reay of Canadiens had to leave the game during the first period because a damaged ankle was injured again. Dickie Moore took over. Bert Olmstead was used as utility wing on two different lines.

During the second period, when Canadiens scored two goals, the Bruins were outplayed by such a wide margin they had only two shots on goal—both easy ones by Dave Creighton.

Rookie goalie Jacques Plante of Montreal was injured in the first period when struck in the groin by a puck fired by Hal Laycoe and retired to the dressing room for a rest.

Plante played a steady game, pulling off several sensational saves in the third period when the Bruins went all out in an attempt to tie the score.

Goalie Jim Henry of the Bruins, with far more shots to handle—37 to Plante's 20—was a particular nemesis to Boom Boom Geoffrion who blasted at least 10 shots at him.

Lineups:

Boston — goal, Henry; defence, Godfrey, Quackenbush, Armstrong, Laycoe, Martin; forwards, Chevrefils, Dumart, Klukay, Mackell, Sandford, Peirson, Creighton, McIntyre, Toppazzini, Labine, Sullivan.

Nelson Outlaws Set for Big Year

Almost 3000 miles of travel was accomplished last season by the Nelson Outlaws, it was disclosed at their annual meeting in the Civic Centre Thursday evening.

The team had made great progress throughout the year, in that they had started the season with $83.51 in the bank, and after getting equipment and paying transportation and other expenses it was found that to start this season there still remained $36.50 in the treasury.

In all 37 games were played last year and the records showed they ended with about 50 per cent victories and losses were by close scores.

Majority of the players were juniors, but they had showed a good brand of ball and many letters have been received from clubs played last season asking for return engagements. A letter from Clayton, Wash., stated they would like to open their season in Nelson with a three-game schedule. Bonners Ferry has also invited the Outlaws for a game under lights. It was pointed out that the Outlaws were the first Nelson team to play under the lights when they travelled to Bonners last year.

Albert (Major) Wallach was for the second straight year elected president. Others elected were vice-president, George Benwell; secretary-treasurer, George Lane. Executive members are Bill Gold, Tom Mansell, A. Lane, Frank Aikin and Gordon Strong. Stan Donaldson has been chosen to act on the executive for the team. Manager and the coaches will be chosen by the executive.

Lefty White praised the work done by Ron Nash. When baseball was at an all-time low in Nelson, he said, Ron worked endlessly to bring it back, and for a stretch of two years was practically a one-man executive. He reiterated the aim of the club to put sportsmanship and team spirit first. The club had operated in a self-contained manner, and those they played, as well as the fans who watched them in action, acknowledged that the members were always gentlemen. The club, said White, was a spirited outfit that played to win, but when they lost aimed to do so with good grace.

A letter is to be sent to the Civic Centre Commission asking for Tuesday and Thursday evenings for practice nights at the Recreation Grounds. It was decided to hold a practice this Sunday afternoon.

Boxla Men at Practice Grind, To Lay Floor

Thursday evening saw the second workout of the Nelson lacrosse team with over 25 on hand at the Civic Centre gym. Stan Payne, trainer, put the boys through a strenuous course of calisthenics, before they played a bit of basketball.

The squad members are taking the training seriously and more and more interest is being shown. Monday night will be the next workout with Friday set aside for the players to give a hand at laying the floor in the arena.

Fred Graves said Thursday night that C. Masi, Fred Wah, Hector McKenzie and Jack Brinley would act on the executive of the club, and Merv Horne has accepted the job of refereeing.

Boucher Blasts CAHA; Says Ruining Hockey

LETHBRIDGE (CP) — Blasting the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association as an "incompetent" body "ruining" hockey, general manager Frank Boucher of the New York Rangers says it is time the CAHA was replaced by a commission who would run Canadian hockey the way baseball is controlled in the United States.

Boucher erupted Thursday in protest against the CAHA second-vote ruling that Calgary all-star defenceman Mid Houghton is ineligible as a playoff medical replacement for Lethbridge's junior Native Sons, a Ranger farm club.

Native Sons, who lost three regular defencemen through injuries for the remainder of the season while winning the Western Junior Hockey League title, were granted Houghton after a CAHA vote. But after the WJHL all-star of the last two seasons had played only one game as a replacement, the CAHA conducted a second vote among its branches which ruled Houghton ineligible.

"I have been connected with hockey for more than 30 years but I have never heard of a decision which annoyed me more," Boucher said. "It was a sickening decision, one which could only have been made by a body as lacking in integrity and common sense as the CAHA.

"What hockey needs in this country is a commissioner, a man who runs hockey the way baseball is run in the United States.

"It is about time the public tossed these people (the CAHA) out and replaced them with a commissioner or with men who know what they are talking about and who have the courage of their convictions."

DESERVES CRITICISM

Boucher said the CAHA deserves all the criticism it gets. He noted that it did not make public the names of those who changed their minds on Houghton's eligibility.

"The CAHA is not a privately-owned organization and is therefore answerable to the public. It is duty bound to let the public know how each branch voted in the Houghton case.

"The CAHA has long proved that it is incompetent, disorganized and irresponsible. It is ruining hockey in Canada, making a laughing stock of what was once a fairly-competent body, and encouraging sports-minded people to turn to other less-hilariously-managed games."

Babe Zaharias . . .

Sport Career Spanning Two Decades May Be Over

BEAMONT, Texas (AP) — The fabulous athletic career of Mildred (Babe) Didrikson Zaharias that spanned more than two decades and included virtually every competitive sport is apparently at an end.

Mrs. Zaharias is in a Beamont hospital awaiting the result of tests being made by her family doctor, who is expected to announce that she never again can compete in big-time sports, perhaps never can participate in any kind of sport again. She is suffering from a malady reported to be of a malignant nature.

A magnificent career apparently is ending where it started. It was in Beamont, where she lived 15 of her early years, that the Babe developed her athletic ability. She went to Dallas, where she was an all-American in basketball.

She became the star of the 1932 Olympic Games in which she won two events and set the world's records in both.

She became a golfer, won all the amateur titles, including the British women's championship, and then became the queen of the professionals. Only Sunday she won the tournament named for her—the Babe Zaharias Open in Beamont.

The Babe, wife of former wrestler George Zaharias, was to have gone from here to Phoenix, Ariz., for the next women's tournament but stopped off at Fort Worth for an examination for a condition that had been troubling her since she underwent an operation for hernia last spring. Dr. William Tatum of Fort Worth is believed to have described her ailment as "along the line of malignancy."

She returned to Beamont and now is in Hotel Dieu hospital where the family doctor, Dr. W. E. Tatum, no relation to the Fort Worth physician, is making x-rays and tests that should reveal within 48 hours exactly what is wrong with the great woman athlete.

Mrs. R. L. Bowen, with whom Babe and her husband stayed while in Fort Worth, said: "Babe will never be able to play golf again. She took the report that she is a very sick girl standing up."

Dr. W. E. Tatum said: "I don't know yet if surgery will cure her but I will say that she never will play golf of championship calibre again."

Mrs. Zaharias, 39, was adept in every sport—tennis, swimming, diving, bowling, fencing, polo, track and field, golf, baseball, softball, boxing and even football. She once pitched an exhibition game for the St. Louis Cardinals. She could drive a golf ball more than 300 yards.

Lethbridge Protests CAHA Houghton Ruling

LETHBRIDGE (CP)— The Lethbridge Chamber of Commerce has added its voice to the storm of protests over the refusal of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association to allow Lethbridge Native Sons to use all-star defenceman Mid Houghton as a medical replacement.

In a telegram sent Thursday to W. B. George, president of the CAHA at Kemptville, Ont., the chamber said:

"On behalf of southern Alberta vigorously protest reversal of original decision on Houghton. Request immediate reconsideration of this case. We consider whole matter has been handled in manner detrimental to Canadian hockey."

Members of the Lethbridge wing of the RCAF Association Wednesday night moved to send a similar telegram.

Senator W. A. Buchanan, (L—Alberta) a former secretary of the Ontario Hockey Association, has also protested.

Lethbridge Mayor A. W. Shack Leford, in a telegram sent to James Dunn, second vice-president of the CAHA in Winnipeg, and G. S. Dudley, secretary-manager, Midland, Ont., added another word of protest.

PREDICTS THIRD MAJOR LEAGUE

NEW YORK (AP) — Commissioner Ford Frick today predicted formation of a third major league within 10 years but warned that baseball must "decide something" about television soon.

"Very definitely there will be another major league, maybe two, in 10 years," he said in an interview. "We must have more towns represented in the major leagues."

Frick tempered his enthusiasm for the future with his warning about the TV problem, particularly network television into minor league territory.

"I think the time has come for us to make up our minds about television," he said. "If making up our minds means making an agreement, maybe we'd better do it by agreement and find out where we stand."

The majors dropped agreements on league control of radio and TV a couple of years ago when advised such rules might be in violation of federal anti-trust laws.

Frick directed his warning against any network telecasts of big league games into minor league cities.

"I don't think television hurts the individual major league club," Frick said. "If it does, that is a matter for the club to decide. But there is no question in my mind that network television that would take major league games into minor league territory would be bad. It would be extremely harmful to the minors. Without the minors, the majors could not operate."

Cranbrook Wins In 1st Day of Shuttle Tourney

VANCOUVER (CP) — Two brothers from Cranbrook upset two top-seeded Vancouver contestants at the first day of play at the British Columbia junior badminton championships here Wednesday.

Bob and Jim Corrigan upset J. Hawthorne and P. McPherson in three games, 15-4, 14-18, 15-11.

In other play:

Bill Davidson of Seattle, top-seeded in boys under 16, defeated B. Blois of Maple Ridge 15-5, 15-3.

Ken Noble and George Drew of Vancouver, were among the winners in the under-18 singles. In the girls under-18 singles Charlotte Warren of Vancouver downed Lois Bridges of Cranbrook.

CAHA Defends Houghton Ruling

KEMPTVILLE, Ont. (CP)—W. B. George Thursday night defended the decision of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association in barring Calgary all-star defenceman Mid Houghton as a replacement for Lethbridge Native Sons in the Memorial Cup playoffs.

At the same time, Mr. George, CAHA president, told Frank Boucher—in effect—to stay on his own side of the fence.

At Lethbridge, Boucher, general manager of the National Hockey League New York Rangers, termed the CAHA decision "sickening" and said it could have been made only by "a body as lacking in integrity and common sense as the CAHA." The Lethbridge juniors are a Ranger farm club.

"The CAHA are governing their own organization," Mr. George said, "and it would not be wise for me to come along and refer to the decisions of the NHL in the same manner.

"We do not interfere with their business. We look after our own."

A telegraphic vote among CAHA members on the Houghton issue, he said, was "just a confirmation of the CAHA regulations." These allow each club to sign 18 players and dress 15 for each game. No replacements are allowed except for an injured goalkeeper.

FORMER BIG LEAGUER FOUND WITH THROAT CUT

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) — Ernie Lombardi, former major league catcher who twice won the National League batting championship was found with his throat slashed from ear to ear Wednesday night.

His wife, Berice, and police said Lombardi resisted their first attempt to take him to a hospital, yelling, "let me die!"

Hospital authorities said they did not expect the 45-year-old Lombardi to live.

Outlaw Chucker Ron Brown Back From Tryout

Ron Brown, outstanding chucker for the Outlaw baseball club last season, has returned to Nelson after a tryout with the Spokane Indians under Manager Don Osborn.

Ron Thursday evening praised the work of the Spokane manager. He had the opportunity to be farmed out to Salt Lake City, Utah, to play with a semi-pro Regina club or in the Twi-Light League in Spokane, but felt he would spend another season in Nelson.

Ron, in a game here last year, was spotted by a scout for the Indians and was invited to attend their training camp this year.

Prayer Campaign Against Race Track

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — Baptists at simultaneous revivals in 70 churches here Wednesday night prayed for the Lord to thwart a proposal to build a horse race track in east Arkansas.

The campaign of prayer was aimed at the St. Francis Valley Turf Association's efforts to establish a track near Forrest City, about 45 miles west of here.

Religious leaders adopted a resolution calling for "a determined and Christian battle to win" the special track election April 21.

THREE HOCKEY DIRECTORS TO BE NAMED TONIGHT

This is a night Nelson hockey fans have been waiting for, and the Senior hockey club's annual meeting is expected to draw a large crowd.

With Frank Hufty, Stan Smith and Vincent Fink, still having one year to go on the executive it leaves three vacancies wide open and these will be filled at this meeting. A large slate of nominees is anticipated by those in hockey circles.

Post-season interest in the senior sport here is at a high unequalled in many seasons. Nelson fans, it would seem, just aren't ready to give up on efforts to build a provincial championship for Allan Cup contention.

SASKATOON (CP) Saskatoon Quakers, winners of the Western Hockey League schedule, went into the finals Thursday night with a shattering 7-0 victory over New Westminster Royals in the deciding game of their best-of-seven semi-final series.

Quakers now meet the winner of the Edmonton Flyer-Vancouver Canuck series.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE—Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the ——— are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Market Trends

NEW YORK (AP)—Trading was quiet as prices slipped lower.

Canadian stocks were lower. Canadian Pacific and McIntyre both slipped ⅛, International Nickel ⅜, and Hiram Walker 1 point. Distillers Seagram added ⅛, and Dome Mines ⅜.

TORONTO (CP)—Prices continued weak toward the close after turning lower from a firm opening.

Base metals led the losses with a drop of more than a point on the Exchange index to strike a new low for 1952-53. Industrials turned mixed from a firm morning. Uraniums and golds were also mixed. Western oils drifted slowly lower, showing a loss of about half a point on the index.

MONTREAL (CP) — A general lowering of prices resulted in a depressed tone in afternoon trading.

A few scattered issues posted gains, mainly in utilities and miscellaneous industrials groups. Papers, beverages, senior metals, senior oils, steels, carriers and banks were all on the downside. Losses were held to fractions.

LONDON (Reuters)—London was inclined to be quiet, with business restricted by the nearness of the budget.

Foreign bonds, a firm feature during the last few days, began to look a little easier.

Believe Clue to Lost Plane Found

SAULT STE. MARIE, Mich. (CP)—The civil aeronautics administration here reported Thursday the discovery of a possible clue to the disappearance in a snowstorm last November of a plane with four Alberta residents aboard.

The CAA said that fishermen found a flight jacket, a life jacket and what was believed a piece of airplane windshield in a lake 20 miles West of Grand Marais. The flight jacket was Canadian-made.

They also found men's socks, shaving equipment and a piece of what might have been an airplane door, the CAA said.

The lake is North Beaver Lake, 20 miles inland from Lake Superior. This is within the area of the plant's flight.

Flying from Edmonton to the Grey Cup game in Toronto, the plane disappeared Nov. 29 after a take-off from a Houghton, Mich., stop. It was never seen again.

Aboard were four Edmonton men —F. Lake, the pilot, and G. Edgar and B. Edgar, and D. Southerland.

To Increase Plywood Output at Alberni

VANCOUVER (CP)—MacMillan and Bloedel Ltd. have announced the productive capacity of their Alberni plywood division at Port Alberni will be greatly increased.

Company President B. M. Hoffmeister said that it is expected that about 450 additional workers will be hired in the enlarged plant and logging operations.

Ontario led all provinces in number of telephones per capita in 1951 with 29.1 per 100 persons.

Compromise On Wheat Price

OTTAWA (CP)—Representatives of 46 countries, including Canada, attempting to reach a new international wheat agreement in Washington, are reported ready to compromise on a ceiling of about $2.05 a bushel.

The Reasons Why!

LOCK-TITE CAMP BEDS
are superior to all others:

SIZE: 3' wide—6' 2" long, plenty of room for the largest man to sleep in comfort.
STRENGTH: Frame made of 1½" Angle Iron, ends made of 1" Angle Iron, welded joints. Slat steel springs, steel slats connected to each other and fastened to the frame with sturdy helical springs, nothing to catch and tear the mattress.
SHIPPING: Folds flat which makes for easy handling and storage, and convenience in shipping. Weight 42 lbs. each.
LOCKING: The LOCK-TITE device is a positive lock, and the bed will not collapse when occupied, but folds readily for shipping.

The Lock-Tite Camp Bed when used with our No. 1 Box Edge Mattress makes an unbeatable combination for "home comfort" in camp, or anywhere.

Scout Capitalizes On Russ "Peace"

LONDON (Reuters)—A British Boy Scout earned half a crown out of Russia's new "peace offensive."

Scout John Jackson knocked on the Soviet embassy door and offered to clip the embassy's hedges for a shilling. This week scouts throughout Britain are doing jobs for a shilling, commonly called a "bob," in a "bob-a-job" fund-raising campaign.

A smiling Russian secretary handed Jackson a pair of clippers and in half an hour he had done a neat job on Ambassador Andrei Gromyko's hedges.

The secretary shook the scout's hand and, with a broad smile, slipped him half a crown instead of the expected shilling.

"I really don't think I earned the half-crown," Jackson said. "They wanted me to take more."

Youth Asked to Share Queen's Dedication Oath

LONDON (CP)—Young people throughout the far-flung British Commonwealth will be invited to identify themselves with the Queen's Act of Dedication to Service at the Coronation in June.

In the United Kingdom a call has gone out from the British Council of Churches urging the country's growing generation to attend special services to be held in all churches on the evening of June 1.

Similar appeals are expected to be made by religious bodies in Commonwealth countries overseas. It will summon young people wherever they may be to keep vigil in their churches, chapels, youth organizations or clubs.

In addition, the British council's youth department is issuing copies of a special form of service of dedication. Even where no special provision can be made, young people are being encouraged to make their own personal act of prayer and dedication on Coronation eve. Prayer cards for individual use are being distributed in the British Isles by the Church Information Board.

Seattle News Camera Men Wins Top Award

"Back from Korea," shows the soldier and his fiancee on a Seattle pier amid a litter of paper cups left behind by troops dis-embarking from a troop transport.

Eden's Cold Delays Major Operation

LONDON (AP) — Surgeons postponed an operation Thursday on Foreign Secretary Eden because he has a cold. The 55-year-old diplomat was due to be operated on today for chronic inflammation of the gall bladder.

Ottawa Asked to Ban Picketing Of Retail Firms

OTTAWA (CP) — A special commons committee Thursday was asked to insert a prohibition against picketing retail establishments in revision of the Criminal Code.

The request was made by the 1200-member Canadian Restaurant Association and supported by the 32,000-member Canadian Retail Federation. The committee heard a delegation from the CRA which included G. J. Gorman, Ottawa lawyer, and George S. Hugham of New Westminster, B.C.

In a brief, the CRA said that retail establishments are particularly vulnerable to picketing. The law should provide some safeguard that retail premises could not be picketed until conciliation and arbitration machinery in provincial labor laws were exhausted.
