New Atomic Shell Has A-Bomb Force

Trees Splintered, Boxcars Tossed Like Match Boxes by Explosion

By BILL BECKER

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—America's "Atomic Annie"—the giant 280-millimetre cannon—has successfully fired a nuclear shell in a major move forward by the United States in the international atomic arms race.

The brilliant burst, ushering in a new phase of artillery warfare, was fired exactly on schedule Monday with deadly accuracy at a target area seven miles from it on Frenchman Flat.

It was hailed by defence leaders and congressional spokesmen as a spectacular addition to the growing U.S. stockpile of atomic weapons.

The projectile — 11 inches in diameter, perhaps less than three feet long and weighing about 1000 pounds — exploded with a force virtually equal to the standard A-bomb of 20,000-ton TNT power that leveled Hiroshima. Railroad boxcars were tossed like matchboxes and 50-foot trees were splintered by the blast.

FIRING A SUCCESS

Both Defence Secretary Charles E. Wilson and the chairman-to-be of the joint chiefs of staff, Admiral Arthur Radford, pronounced the firing a success.

Representative W. Sterling Cole (Rep. N.Y.), chairman of the joint atomic energy committee, declared flatly:

"They have concentrated into capsule form what once filled an entire bomb bay."

Two combat battalions of 2525 troops moved out of trenches 5000 yards from the blast and took the battered "enemy" installation several hours later.

The target area centred on a quarter-mile section of the flat which included a grove of trees, a diesel locomotive and most of the 14 railroad cars under test, and military equipment including tanks, planes and guns. Some of the boxcars and equipment appeared to be scattered as far away as a mile and a half from the centre of the target area.

The army reported there was no damage to the gun.

MRS. ANN BOND, 63, stretches in her bed as she rac[illegible] her day after spending her 10th night in the open. She moved herself and furnishings out of her apartment in Los Angeles to a place across the street in protest against a rent increase from $45 to $75 per month, and she reported "I'm enjoying sleeping outdoors so much I'll have trouble ever living in a house." Neighbors have been supplying her with her meals and many passersby wave a cheering greeting to her on their way to work.

Storms, Floods Play Havoc In North England, Scotland

Mud Slides Maroon Holidayers in Buses, Trains, Farmland Inundated

GLASGOW (Reuters)—Storms swept Scotland and northern England Monday, causing widespread flooding and other damage, while London shimmered in the hottest late-day weather in nine years.

Veering eastward, the storms were expected to continue to London and eastern England, cutting short the mounting heat wave.

Thousands of Whitsun holiday vacationers were marooned in trains, buses and steamers. Roads were blocked by mud slides, buildings were flooded, telephone wires were cut.

Mountain lochs overflowed and raging water raced down through culverts to flood wide areas of farm land.

Spreading southwards to North Wales and Western England, the storms stopped play for two hours in the amateur golf championship at Hoylake. A deluge sent 20,000 visitors diving for shelter at Blackpool, popular seaside resort in northwest England.

Thunderstorms in north Wales caused three failures in the BBC Welsh radio services. It became so dark in Conway that people had to switch on their lights.

Heaviest rainfall was recorded at Lochaber in Inverneshire — 2½ inches in four hours. The storm began there at 2 a.m. and it was still raining 14 hours later.

MINE WASHES IN

At West Worthing, on the south coast, sun-bathers idling on the beach were sent scuttling for a different reason. A large, spiked wartime sea mine came floating along the sea front, missing one of the pier piles by inches.

Police cleared the beach, evacuated hotels and secured the mine to a breakwater until disposal squad arrived to explode it.

NEW YORK (CP) — The Canadian dollar was 1-32 of a cent lower at a premium of 19-32 per cent in terms of U. S. funds today. Pound sterling unchanged at $2.81⅝.

STERLING HIGHER

MONTREAL (CP) — The U. S. dollar today closed at a discount of 19-32 per cent in terms of Canadian funds, up 1-32. Pound sterling $2.79 13-16, up 3-16.

1000 HEAR 4-PARTY DEBATE

Laing, Finlayson, Webster, Bonner Speak at Luncheon

VANCOUVER (CP) — The June 9 provincial election campaign swung into high gear Monday as top officials of the four major parties hooked up in a rousing debate before the Ad Sales bureau of the Vancouver Board of Trade.

More than 1000 members and guests attended the luncheon to hear the debate.

On the platform were three party leaders—Arthur Laing of the Liberals, Deane Finlayson, Progressive Conservatives, Arnold Webster, CCF — and Attorney-General Robert Bonner, representing Social Credit.

In his 10-minute speech Mr. Bonner chided the other parties for "staging an attack upon the government, the like of which has never been seen before in this province."

The province has two roads it can follow, Mr. Bonner said, "to the left — and no one knows what that will lead to—or unite behind the only free enterprise party, and the only one with a chance to form a majority government."

Mr. Webster told the assembled businessmen that private industry need have no fear of the CCF, "as long as it recognizes its social responsibilities.

"Private business must realize it is only the trustee of the people's affairs."

WINCH PRAISED

Mr. Webster praised former CCF leader Harold Winch for leading "20 years of good service in opposition."

Mr. Laing criticized Social Credit monetary theories.

"Their funny money theories would throw a burning faggot on every business in B.C.," he said.

Charging that this election is unnecessary, Mr. Laing said: "It would be more appropriate of political business of the people had been conducted instead of political business during the last legislature."

Mr. Finlayson accused Social Credit of attempting to centralize power, "yet democracy depends on decentralization."

"The only justification for the Social Credit party is their money theory, yet the party leaders in this province have never made it clear how they stand on that issue," Mr. Finlayson said.

Advance Polls Dates Named

VANCOUVER (CP)—Advance polls for all British Columbia voters who will be out of the province on election day June 9 will be held June 4, 5 and 6.

Election officials said the advance poll is not to be confused with absentee voting.

No Word From Everest Party

NEW DELHI (Reuters) — There has been no word yet of the success or failure of the weekend attempt by the British party trying to scale Mt. Everest, highest peak in the world.

Two teams of mountaineers were to have made an assault on the last mile, but if the expedition's radio has broken down or is jammed atmospherics, it will take days for the news to come out by runner.

The party was last reported at its advanced base camp, 2000 feet below the summit of the 29,000-foot peak. Because of the devious route to be covered, the climbers would have to cover at least a mile to reach the top.

U. S. Promotes Coronation Sales

NEW YORK (AP) — The Coronation theme is thumping a merry tune on United States cash registers. Nearly 400 stores, in some 270 cities, in every state, are participating in Coronation promotions—featuring British merchandise as a tie-in with the June 2 Coronation. And a number have already reported royal profits from the royal theme.

"It's the biggest campaign to sell British goods ever launched in America," said Duncan M. S. Mowat, chief executive of the British Trade Promotion Centre in New York. "And we are confident that it will prove highly successful for both British manufacturers and American merchants."

PC Demands Bennett Apology

VICTORIA (CP) — An Oak Ba[y] Progressive Conservative threaten[ed] legal action Monday if he d[oes] not get a public apology from Premier Bennett for a statement he made last Thursday.

Frank Partridge, campaign leader for former Progressive Conservative leader Herbert Anscomb in last year's election, said the Premier should apologize for a statement "otherwise further action in the matter is considered necessary."

Mr. Partridge said Mr. Bennett made the statement during the question period at his election rally here Thursday. He said the statement was "scandalous, vicious, untrue, entirely uncalled for and unnecessary."

Meanwhile, Mr. Bennett, informed of the demand for an apology said: "I am a little surprised at Mr. Partridge's attitude, after all he has been heckling all Social Credit meetings."

"I made the remark with a smile and it was part of the banter."

PUBLISHER DIES

TORONTO (CP)—Theodore Fay Pike, 67, general manager of Longmans, Green and Company, and responsible for publishing many books written by Canadians, died Monday. He had been associated with the publishing business in Canada for 38 years.

Report from Victoria

BY JAMES K. NESBITT

VICTORIA—The people of the vast, beautiful Kootenay country take their politics more seriously than people anywhere else in the province.

Or, at least, in last June's election they turned out to vote in greater numbers than elsewhere.

The Kootenay country was well above the overall provincial average — which was 68.53 per cent.

Let us look at some of the Kootenay ridings, where the people set such a good example to all the rest of the province:

Nelson-Creston, 75.25 per cent of the registered voters went to the polls.

Columbia riding, 76.41 per cent; Cranbrook, 77.02 per cent; Fernie, 79.29 per cent; Kaslo-Slocan, 72.9 per cent; Rossland-Trail, 78.38 per cent; Grand Forks-Greenwood, 73.18 per cent.

Yes, a splendid record—though, of course, it could have been much better. But compare it to the great city of Vancouver — there the percentage ran as low as 51.22, and only as high as 64.93 per cent.

In the by-election in Columbia riding last November, however, when Attorney-general Bonner was elected, interest dropped a little — from 76.41 per cent in the general election of June, to 66.39 per cent. Perhaps November weather can be blamed.

* * *

B.C.'s first election after it joined Canadian Confederation was a piece-meal affair. The elections in the various ridings were not all held the same day. Victoria led off, and then, for weeks, the other ridings held their elections. There was no party politics in those days, however, so the band wagon idea couldn't very well prevail.

MARA AND TODD

The first election after Confederation was in Victoria Oct. 16, 1871, and it wasn't unti lthe Legislature met in February of 1872 that the public knew the membership of the House, listed as follows: Victoria city—J. F. McCreight, attorney-general and Premier, Dr. James Trimble, Simeon Duck and Robt. Beavan; Victoria district—Amor deCosmos and Arthur Bunster; Esquimalt—Hon. A. Rocke Robertson, Colonial Secretary, and Henry Cogan; Cowichan—William Smithe and J. P. Boothe; Nanaimo — John Robson; New Westminster—J. C. Hughes, William J. Armstrong; Yale—Robert Smith, James Robinson, Charles Semlin; Lillooet—T. B. Humphreys, J. T. Jamieson; Cariboo — Joseph Hunter, Cornelius Booth; Kootenay —J. A. Mara and Todd.

Surely there has been no more colorful politician in all B.C. history than Amor deCosmos. The more one looks into his life the more fascinating and extraordinary it becomes. After the first election in Victoria district, according to The Colonist, "Mr. deCosmos' thanked the electors for returning him and burst into a flood of tears, which choked his utterances for some minutes."

Amor, the minute he was elected, started campaigning for the Premiership. The Colonist, though founded by him, by that time had completely turned against him, he having long since sold his interest in the paper.

To deflate deCosmos in his ambition for the Premiership, The Colonist ran the following: "Mud Bay—exclusive to The British Colonist—The following named gentlemen will be gazetted as Ministers immediately, if not sooner; Provincial Secretary and Premier, Hon. Amor deCosmos, salary, 800 pounds; Chief Commissioner of Lands and Works, Hon. Amor deCosmos, salary, 800 pounds; Attorney-general, A. deCosmos, salary, 800 pounds; First Minister (without portfolio), M. deCosmos; second minister (without portfolio), deCosmos.

"This intelligence may be re-lied upon. The gentlemen will enter upon the discharge of his duties when they are called upon. They are all able men."

Whether this scorn did it or not, deCosmos did not achieve the Premiership that time. John Foster McCreight became the first Premier; deCosmos made the Premiership, however, Dec. 23, 1872. There is no record as to whether or not he burst into tears upon hearing the good news.

Coast Dogs, Cats Die of Poisoning

VANCOUVER (CP) — Police reported Monday that two dogs and two cats have been poisoned since Friday in south Vancouver by meat smeared with strychnine.

Two other dogs were saved by a veterinarian. Parents in the neighborhood feared that a child might fall victim to the poison.

Churchill Pro-Israel Speech Angers Jordan

AMMAN, Jordan (Reuters)—The tiny Arab kingdom of Jordan turned sharply on a traditional friend when Parliament protested Monday against the "anti-Arab" policies of Prime Minister Churchill of Britain.

A statement approved unanimously by Parliament rapped Churchill for "praising" Israel in his foreign-policy speech of May 11. It said the tone of his speech was anti-Arab.

The Churchill speech, in addition to assuring the Israeli of "fair play," said the supplies of British aircraft to Arab countries would place Israel "at an unfair advantage."

In a speech to Monday's session, Prime Minister Fawzi Mulki said Jordan joins with the other countries in fighting for "freedom against colonization and foreign influence." He left no doubt he was referring to Britain in his remarks.

Mulki called for Arab unity in opposing the "Zionist peril," and said the dispute with Israel is the joint concern of all the Arab countries.

He said no outside power could force a solution to the differences with Israel that failed to preserve Arab rights, and added: "Every Jordanian is a soldier on the frontiers."

The protest came against a background of rising Jordan-Israel tension and growing Arab unity.

Jordanian leaders told the United States secretary of state, John Foster Dulles, when he visited here May 15, that the Arabs resented the former Truman administration's policy of supplying arms and money to Israel.

LAND REDISTRIBUTION

RANGOON (Reuters)—Ten million acres of land will be distributed free to landless peasants in Burma in the next two years under a 10-year plan announced by the government Monday. Thakin Tin, land nationalization minister who spent two months in China and Russia last year studying land distribution, said the 10,000,000 acres would be taken from "non-agricultural holders" and redistributed during the current year.

Coronation Babes to Receive Souvenir

OTTAWA (CP) — Canadian babies born Coronation Day, Tuesday, June 2, will receive a personal souvenir from Governor-General Massey.

The souvenir will be a small silver spoon bearing an appropriate inscription.

An announcement from Government House Monday said this would be a personal gift from His Excellency "in commemoration of the Coronation of Her Majesty Queen Elizabeth."

It will not be necessary for parents or guardians to apply for the souvenir. Names and addresses will be obtained from the family allowance board records, and the spoons will go forward automatically in gift boxes.

Union Asks LRB Investigation

VANCOUVER (CP) — Demands for a full investigation of the labor relations board and a reversal of its decision decertifying AFL Electrical Workers Union as bargaining agent for 300 B.C. Electric gas workers was demanded by the union Monday.

The union received word of the decertification Saturday, after the LRB said the union did not cover gas workers in its constitution.

George Gee, union business agent, said the LRB was more subject to company influence than to the will of the workers.

"Reversal of their earlier decision can only be attritbuted to inefficiency and weakness . . . which is apparently giving in to pressure from the BCE," he charged.

He said the union had called on Labor Minister Lyle Wicks for an investigation.

LONDON (Reuters) — Workers have uncovered the ruins of an ancient Slavonic village while excavating a basement near Pilsen, Czechoslovakia, it was reported Monday by the Czechoslovak news agency. The agency said the village was discovered after the workmen came on a clay jar containing about 1500 coins from the 10th to 12th centuries A.D.

VERONA, Italy (AP)—Two passenger trains collided at a switch on the outskirts of Verona Monday night, killing four persons and injuring 32 others, five of them seriously. Railroad officials said the trains were locals arriving from Bologna.

U.S. Makes New Proposal To Break Truce Deadlock

MUNSAN (CP) — Boycotted for the first time by its South Korean delegate, the United Nations command Monday submitted a secrecy-shrouded new prisoner-exchange proposal to end the Korean armistice stalemate and asked the Reds to consider it during a week-long recess.

It is likely vital decisions now must be reached in world capitals—notably Moscow and Peiping — rather than at Panmunjom.

The two-hour session was conducted in a news vacuum. Terms of the allied offer were not disclosed.

A Communist communique said the allies asked the talks be off the record "for the sake of free discussion." The Red communique, broadcast by Peiping radio, also said the UN asked for a recess until June 1.

The South Korean delegate on the allied truce team boycotted the Monday meeting, apparently because he could not accept parts of the new UN move.

SERIOUS RIFT

Maj.-Gen. Choi Duk Shin's action in remaining behind at Munsan was the first indication of a serious rift between the UN command and the South Korean government. A source close to the Korean government said Choi stayed behind on orders from President Syngman Rhee and because he could not subscribe to the allied proposal.

The South Korean cabinet has scheduled a meeting at which President Rhee may disclose his objections.

The South Korean government in a statement Sunday declared it would fight on alone if an armistice were signed which left the country divided and Chinese Communist troops still in the country.

Couple Gets Refund On Extra Licence

VICTORIA (CP) — The provincial cabinet has ruled on the case of the extra marriage licence.

It seems a Vancouver man bought a marriage licence last March 31 in Vancouver. His bride-to-be, apparently taking no chances on losing her man, also bought a licence and the couple were married at Oliver.

The groom later applied for a refund on the Vancouver licence.

The application had to go to the cabinet which now has passed an order-in-council authorizing the refund—$5.

Dutchman Has Little Faith in Germany's Reformation

By BRUCE HUTCHESON

ROTTERDAM — At 11 a.m. on May 14, 1940, Rotterdam was one of the finest cities of Europe — well-planned, solid, clean, in the painstaking Dutch fashion. At noon it was a ruin. Hitler had launched the first instalment of his blitz against the West.

As that famous story was told me by a sad-eyed waiter in a newly-built restaurant, hundreds of German planes "came in like pigeons" only five hundred feet above the defenceless city. Their target had been carefully pin-pointed in advance. The centre of Rotterdam must be wiped out clean and it was, in the painstaking German fashion.

The Dutch authorities, said my informant (who had witnessed these events at first hand) were warned in advance that the blow would fall at noon if Holland refused to surrender. But the clocks of Berlin were an hour in advance of those in Rotterdam. So the Luftwaffe appeared exactly 60 minutes ahead of the schedule as understood in Holland.

The centre of Rotterdam was still filled with people and thousands of them died, how many nobody knows, in the West's first experience with mass civilian bombing.

From the huge restaurant which has risen from those ruins we could see Hitler's signature over several square miles. It is not, however, the same signature that marks Hitler's own capital.

New City Rises

Berlin is still a shambles and will remain so for years to come. The Dutch have removed every last shovelful of debris from Rotterdam and left the heart of the city empty, flat and clean. There a new city is slowly rising and no longer in the Dutch fashion. Instead, the new Rotterdam will be probably the most modern city in the world. The postwar shops, offices and apartment buildings represent the latest dream of architects — stark, functional, glittering with glass and more like Fifth Avenue than Holland.

The waiter surveyed this titanic labor wistfully. What, he asked, was the good of it? The Germans had come and they had been driven back, but the Russians would come in due time also. "In about two years, I think."

Many Russians had visited the garnish new restaurant in the last year or two. "They tell me," said this survivor of the blitz, "it is best I should learn the Russian language. I will need it. So they say. But it is not so."

The little man drew himself up in the military posture learned as a soldier of the Dutch army. "We are free," he cried. "We will fight for our freedom again. The Russians are crazy, like the Germans. They will find out!"

They Were Terrible

This man knew the Germans. When they first occupied Holland, he recalled, they were "correct" and treated the people well. At the first sign of defeat their manner changed. "They were terrible." Out of Rotterdam alone they took some 30,000 men to labor in Germany, every able-bodied male between 21 and 40 years of age.

They took the waiter also; loaded him on a cattle car and carried him into the heart of Germany. "But in two days I am back again in Rotterdam. Oh, it was not hard. In the day I hid. At night my people carried me in trucks. But again they catch me and again I am back. This time, three days. Then I hide good in my sister's house and they do not catch me again. But the town is burned."

As a first experiment in wholesale destruction the Luftwaffe dropped little high explosive on Rotterdam, only enough to smash up the buildings and prepare them for a rain of incendiaries.

Throughout four days the fire moved across the city and back again and when it died down at last no Dutchman could imagine how this massive wound could ever be cured. Thirteen years later there is no sign of conflagration, only the vast and empty space surrounded by the new buildings.

"We try," said the waiter, "to forget. We never forgive." I remarked that the ruin of Berlin far exceeded that of Rotterdam. "Yes," he replied, "I have seen Berlin. Well, they asked for it. It is no matter."

Quiet Bitterness

These words were spoken quietly with a bitterness unimaginable in America or Britain. The Dutch people's hatred of the Germans, their blood relatives, is a shocking thing to see. They seem to have no faith in Germany's reformation. "They will try it all over again," a hotel keeper near Utrecht told men, "when they find their new Fuehrer."

In answer to my questions he commented unfavorably, in a glum Dutch manner, on most of the peoples of Europe. Do the Dutch, I asked, like anybody? "Only themselves," he said. But he added generously that the Canadian army had used his hotel as a brigade headquarters and the Canadians "were quite clean." He would not say as much of any other race.

Holland in the spring tells the visitor little of the war years. It is perfect, like a picture book, as always, with windmills against the sky, innumerable fat cows in the fields (the pregnant one all carefully wrapped in blanket(s), tulips stretching in crimson and purple acres to the horizon, tables loaded with food (cold ham and cheese for breakfast), all the houses glistening in primary colors like toys just out of the store and some bulbous canal boat meandering through every farmyard.

It is impossible to realize that Hitler's armies moved across this land, that the Dutch flooded it in an act of national suicide or that, only a few months ago, it was inundated over a large area by a North Sea gale.

But then it is impossible to realize how Holland lives at any time, these millions on a green postage stamp which would fit comfortably into the Red River Valley, the Okanagan or the Niagara peninsula. Only the Dutch could endure here. From wars and floods innumerable they have learned their own grim method of survival.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Cream Puff the black bird wants her worms served cut up and on a plate. Otherwise she flies into a tizzy.

"I'm afraid civilization has throttled her instinct," said Mrs. Sarah Sloan today. "The poor bird would starve if I didn't cut up her worms and serve them on a plate."

Connie Sloan, 9, rescued Cream Puff after the bird fell out of a nest. Now six weeks old, the blackbird takes a daily shower bath under a lawn sprinkler and dries herself in the heat vent of the Sloan's refrigerator.

The Sloans tried releasing her to return to the wilds. She returned at feeding time. Now she ventures on daily flights but returns when Mrs. Sloan rattles a spoon in a dish.

BRISTOL, Pa. (AP)—Somebody yelled "watch out" and Richard Straffe, 20, turned around Sunday to see a motor-boat bearing down on him.

Straffe—who was standing in the middle of a parking lot—tried to jump out of the way, but the motor boat pinned him against a car.

After treatment at hospital the bewildered youth was told the circumstances of the weird accident.

The boat was on a trailer pulled by a truck. The trailer broke away and crashed into a car, jarring loose the boat which skidded off the carrier towards Straffe.

CARDIFF, Wales (AP)—"Teledu," which in English dictionaries means "the stinking badger of Java and Sumatra," is the new official Welsh word for television.

In the Welsh language it means "recording at a distance."

"Teledu" was announced Sunday as the winner in a competition held by the BBC, which had been unable to sell the Welsh on "radlunio," or "radio pictures."

Work on Air Harbor To Begin in August

The Federal Public Works Department is ready to commence work on the Sea Plane Harbor for Kootenay West District here.

A letter from the local public works representative, Douglas G. Male, advised council Monday that funds cannot be released until a water lot is acquired. "No action will be taken in construction," the letter stated, "until the waterfront is cleared of boathouses, floats, etc."

City council will advise occupants of boathouses on the city walks that leases which terminate July 15 will not be renewed. Walks, occupants will be advise, will have to be cleared by July 31. Mr. Male will be advised that the foreshore will be cleared by August 1 and ready for work to commence.

Appropriations were made by the Federal Government for the project this season. It is hoped work will commence as soon as possible. Council has waived 1953 rentals of boat houses. Rents already paid will be refunded.

Reformed Sons Committee Loses Ground to Lebedoff Followers

KRESTOVA—Reformed Sons of Freedom Committee, although somewhat weakened, still continues supported as representative of Stefan S. Sorokin followers.

Approximately 200 radical Sons rejected the 35-man executive committee at a meeting here Sunday as internal strife among the sect again came to the fore.

Increased attendance at the meeting indicated an increase in John J. Lebedoff's followers, still greatly outnumbered by followers of spiritual Leader S. S. Sorokin. Lebedoff meetings earlier this month numbered little more than 100.

Lebedoff, who had been making his home in Hillcrest, Alta., following his release from Oakalla, has been almost continuously in Nelson and Krestova before May 8.

At a meeting a week ago approximately 100 Lebedoff followers urged dissolution of the Consultative Committee, feeling their work had been completed.

Anton Kolesnikoff, who accompanied Emmott Gulley, representative of the American Society of Friends on the Consultative Committee, to Costa Rica seeking land for emigration, maintained faith in both the consultative committee and the Reformed Sons committee. He told the meeting they were wrong in rejecting them.

Krestova was the scene of seven fires Saturday night shortly after an announcement by Premier W. A. C. Bennett on a new Doukhobor policy that called for compulsory registration of vital statistics and school attendance from the sect.

The Sons comprise less than 2000 of the 10,000 Doukhobors in the Kootenay-Boundary area.

One non-Doukhobor source said the Sunday decision means the Freedomites "are back to mob rule similar to 1949 and 1950, when burnings and nude parades reached unprecedented heights." Sorokin was a main influence in bringing order. This seemed an exaggeration in view of the small group in the opposition to the committee for reformation, but there seemed little doubt that the situation was worsening.

Earlier, it was learned that two members of the sect plan to move their families from Krestova because they fear violence.

Council Jottings

Nelson City Council dealt with four bylaws at its Monday meeting. Alderman W. S. Smith last week gave notice of motion to reserve the Front Street property adjoining the ball park for a park site. The bylaw was given three readings.

Bylaw 1194, naming the Fairview ball grounds Queen Elizabeth Park was given three readings.

Three readings were also given bylaw 1193 designating a triangle of land at the intersection of Chatham and Front Streets as a playground to be known as Chatham Street Playground. Property was obtained by the city through tax sale.

First and second readings were given Street and Traffic Bylaw amendment No. 1191 and discussion of possible changes held. Bylaw will come up for final reading at next Council meeting.

TRAFFIC CONTROL

Turning on the red light, possibility of three lanes at intersections to allow easier right and left turning and possibility of completely automatic control in turning on traffic blinker lights, were discussed.

Dimming of lights was a matter of "common courtesy" Mayor Joseph Kary pointed out in a discussion on lowering auto headlight beams in the city.

Dimming of lights was required by law and council urged that citizens be informed they are breaking the law when they fail to do sd.

* * *

Permission was granted the Church of the Redeemer Sunday School group to hold i' annual picnic at Lakeside Park.

An application by Joan Stromstead for the position of swimming instructress at Lakeside Park for the summer months was referred to the Parks committee. Miss Stromstead held that position last year.

* * *

Poor condition of the concrete sidewalk at the head of Baker Street was referred to the Works Superintendent and City Engineer for a report.

Nelson's Senior Maple Leaf Hockey Booster Club's request for an advertisement in the water show program was referred to the finance committee with power to act. The show is scheduled for July 19 and is under the auspices of the Nelson Power Boaters Association.

* * *

J. T. Mowatt who has offered the city $1400 for two lots at the foot of the Vernon Street wall, will be advised by council that no lots will go on sale before the wall is completed.

* * *

The sidewalk on West Silica Street is "not dangerous", the public works committee reported to council Monday. "There are a lot of sidewalks around the city that are worse," it was reported. The recommendation to "leave the walk for the present" was upheld. No allotment for this work was included in 1953 estimates. A report on the walk had been asked earlier.

* * *

A recommended list of stock parts for a new city bus totalling $556 was referred to the Transportation Committee. Parts could be brought in with the new bus if a driver is sent to bring it back thus eliminating freight, Mayor Kary said.

Record Number Students to Take Music Exams

A record number of music students from Nelson and district will take examinations here June 4-6.

More than 40 students will write theoretical Toronto Conservatory exams in rudiments, harmony, counter point, history, musical analysis, piano pedagogy, composition and general knowledge. Of the 41 exams 21 are for Grades I and II.

June 17-23 practical examinations will be held in piano, singing and violin. The five full days of examinations is the longest period Nelson has yet devoted to music tests.

A Royal Conservatory examiner from Toronto conducts the examinations.

Pupils preparing for senior grade examinations next month will be heard tonight in a recital at Trinity United Church prepared by Nelson Registered Music Teachers.

Electric Light Billing Discussed

Inconvenience of electric light bills falling due at any time during the month was questioned by Alderman George Eckmier at City Council Monday night.

Alderman Eckmier felt many missed out on the discount by the bill not falling due the end of the month and wondered if the situation could be rectified.

C. W. Reeve Harper, city clerk, explained meters were read every day and bills sent out. With the number to be read each month it would be impossible, he felt, to have the bills held and sent at the end of the month as it would throw too great a pressure on meter readers, the post office and city hall cashiers. As Nelson grew it would also be necessary to employ more meter readers. Majority of the reading was done the first two weeks of the month and bills were sent about the 15, on payday.

City Power Line Gets Crossing OK

It's merely a technicality . . . but for years the City of Nelson has been "trespassing" . . . with its power line, that is.

At 4.6 mile (West) the city's power line "trespasses" across the Canadian Pacific Railway track. The CPR has notified the city and City Clerk C. W. R. Harper Monday was empowered to sign necessary corracting documents.

Students Featured in Coronation Programs

Nelson schools will play an important part in celebrations on Coronation Day, June 2, and students will be featured throughout the afternoon performance.

Commencing at Central School at 2 p.m., a parade will make its way to the Civic Recreation Grounds for the main afternoon program. Pupils of the Hume School will portray a coronation and crowning, and grades one and two of Central and St. Joseph's school will take part in the crown dance "Living Jewels of the Queen's Crown."

The girls of the Junior High School will give a drill team display followed by a Maypole dance, "A Breath From England's Countryside," by grades three and four of St. Joseph's and Central schools.

Gymnastic feats will be performed by the Junior High School boys, and Central and St. Joseph's schools will form a Union Jack. The songs "Land of Hope and Glory" and "God Save Our Queen" will wind up the afternoon schools program. Massed choirs and bands of junior and senior high schools and the Kootenay Kiltie Pipe bands will also take part.

The program is under the direction of staffs of Central, Hume, St. Joseph's, Junior and Senior high schools.

NELSON FIRE BELL FINDS NEW HOME

Nelson's fire bell which, until last Fall, warned citizens of fire in the city, will have a new home in a Rossland church.

Offer of $100 FOB for the 400-pound veteran of many city fires, was accepted by City Council Monday night.

The bell, now stored in front of the Fire Hall, will be transferred to St. George's Anglican Church in Rossland.

The city last year failed in an attempt to sell the bell. Scrap value of the retired fire alarm was estimated then at $75.

Cranbrook Gas Business Becomes Third B. C. Plant of Montreal Firm

CRANBROOK — Canadian Liquid Air Company, Ltd., of Montreal has taken over Western Oxygen Company here, and has appointed William B. Campbell of the Edmonton branch as local manager.

The move is a major step by Canadian Liquid Air in its continuing expansion of manufacturing and distributing services.

"There will not be any interruption of present gas production and distribution to local consumers while necessary re-organization is in progress," a liquid air official stated.

Cranbrook will be rapidly fitted into the company's B. C. operations, bringing to users of industrial gases, welding and cutting processes, Liquid Air's complete manufacturing, sales distribution and technical services.

The general area to be supplied and serviced from Cranbrook is bounded on the west by Trail and on the east by Blairmore, and on the north by Nakusp.

The plant is the company's third in British Columbia and a fourth is expected to be completed this year at Kitimat—the first manufacturing plant at the site of the fabulous aluminum project. Canadian Liquid Air operates an impressive chain of plants, branches and warehouses from Victoria to Newfoundland. The company has pioneered oxy-acetylene and electric arc processes for more than 40 years.

Kimberley Fund To Be Revised

KIMBERLEY—With only $45,803 remaining in the recreational facilities trust fund set up by the Consolidated Mining and Smelting Company, Cominco has recommended that the Parks Board call a meeting of district groups to draw up a new plan.

Commensurate with the money remaining, the planning committee has recommended an $8000 grant to Chapman Camp, $4000 for furnishings for the new Oughtred Hall, and $4000 for recirculation, chlorination and heating equipment for the swimming pool, also $7082 to Marysville for construction of part of its Civic Centre.

SECOND ACCIDENT IN SAFETY DRIVE

TRAIL — The second lost-time accident of safety month at the Consolidated Mining and Smelting Company's operations was reported Monday.

H. R. McLeod of Trail was removing a finished pulley from his lathe with an overhead crane in the Tadanac machine shop. One end of the pulley stuck slightly in the lathe chuck and in attempting to free it, the other end of the pulley swung sideways, pinning his right hand against the lathe's cutting tool. He suffered lacerations on his right ring finger.

This is the first lost-time accident suffered by the trades section of the engineering division during 1953. An investigation of the accident is under way.

One of the terms is for seven months, and the other for a year and seven months, but it has not been decided whether Mr. Culley or Mr. Mahoney will take the longer term. Neither has served on the commission before.

Michel, Fernie Play to Deadlock In Pass Football

NATAL — The Michel-Natal Buffaloes Sunday battled to a 2-2 deadlock with the Fernie United Football club in a Crows Nest Pass Football League scheduled game before a large crowd of spectators.

Michel led the strong Fernie eleven 2-0 at the half when right winger Frankie Mitchell scored both well-placed goals. He was a standout for Michel throughout the game.

The second half saw Fernie come back strong to tie the game up with goals by Ewaniuk and Lockhart.

The game was played in cold weather that saw the ball hard to control because of a stiff breeze blowing. Ken McFarlane refereed.

To date the only teams in the league to yet meet defeat are Michel Buffaloes and the Lethbridge ANAF clubs.

Whiffs 15 in One-Hit Game

The Passmore fastball club, with Konkin showing great form, set the Hume team of Nelson back on their heels by shackling them to a single hit for an 8-0 win.

Morris Renwick got Nelson's lone safety.

Konkin started off in great fashion as he struck out the first eight men to face him. Before the end of the game he had added seven more to his toll.

Gorkoff and J. Voykin led the eight-hit attack on Jimmy Lowe, Hume chucker. They each collected a home run, and Konkin helped his own cause by banging out a triple in the fifth frame.

Tuesday night the Hume club will meet Salmo in their fourth game of the season. The last time these two clubs met Nelson squeezed out a 7-5 win. Hume has two wins and a loss so far this season.

Fernie Captures Baseball Opener

FERNIE — Fernie Falcons opened the Crow's Nest Pass Baseball League with a well earned 4-2 victory over Coleman Cubs before a large crowd of spectators who braved the cold weather to witness the contest.

Bill Cole on the mound for Fernie and Sandy Sandolak tied up in a tight pitchers duel that saw Sandolak give up four hits to Cole's five. Cole however had much better control and struck out 10 batters and issued two free passes. Sandolak in issuing six walks helped Fernie along to their win as they counted two unearned runs in the first few frames.

Coleman scored in the first frame when Timchina walked, was sacrificed to second and came home on Dave Pow's single to centre. Fernie in their half evened the game up when Pearce walked, stole second and scored on two passed balls.

Coleman got their second run in the third when Sandolak singled went to third on Soroff's single and scored when Fernie's shortstop Caufield let Pow's grounder go through his legs.

Fernie came back in the third to score three times when Pearce walked and came home ahead of Caravetta who got Fernie's first hit with a towering home run over the left field barrier. Caufield then singled went to third when Sandolak threw the ball into centre field in trying to get him at second. He then scored on a single by Onysko.

The game was cut to seven innings as Coleman had to leave early for another game in Michel.

BOOKIE FINED

VANCOUVER (CP) — Sydney Miller, 48-year-old mobile bookie, was fined $125 or 25 days in jail, in police court Monday. He was arrested after gambling squad detectives found betting records in his car.

"It seems they are being forced to make bets on the street," said Magistrate Oscar Orr. "It's a good sign."

The nave of Westminster Abbey, scene of British coronations, is close to 102 feet in height.

Michel-Natal Win Football Opener Against Fernie

NATAL — The Michel-Natal Buffaloes of the Crow's Nest Pass Football League, playing their first home game of the season trimmed the Fernie Beavers, a new entry in the league, by a 7-1 score before a fair crowd.

The Buffaloes took a three goal lead in the first half and then outscored Fernie four goals to one in the last half. The Buffaloes were led by youthful J. Mirkovich with two goals. Other Buffaloe scorers were H. Travis, Mchnachev, D. McFarlane, Rossi and Robertson. Robertson's goal came on a penalty kick.

The lone Fernie goal was scored by Michel fullback Balint while attempting to clear the ball. K. McFarlane refereed the match.

In other games, Fernie United split as they lost 3-1 to Lethbridge ANAF and won over Lethbridge Miners 11-0. Kimberley scored a 7-2 win over the winless Lethbridge Miners.

Ice Bylaw Waits Gov't Approval

CRANBROOK — Statutory waiting period for the endorsed $48,000 artificial ice plant bylaw is over, and it has been submitted to the deputy minister of municipalities for approval with anticipation of call for tenders within the next month. The plant will serve the Memorial Arena and Curling Rinks.

Gyro Club and Legion are providing $15,400 for necessary preliminary work at the Arena, and the Curling Club is financing and doing necessary preliminaries at its own rink.

Ratepayers will ballot again Friday, May 29 from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. on Bylaw No. 1172 which will renew the recently expired 20-year agreement between the city and the Kootenay Telephone Company for a ten-year period. The bylaw outlines rights, powers and privileges of the company with regard to its city installations, and financial arrangement between the company and the city in exchange for these privileges.

Radar Serves As Ice Detector

OTTAWA (CP) — National research council experiments with radar in the waters of Hudson Strait and Hudson Bay have confirmed that radar is invaluable to ship navigation in bad visibility through ice-infested waters.

The NRC makes one stipulation on radar for this purpose: It is successful "provided it is used wisely and its limitations are known."

Tests were conducted recently by Canadian and British transport officials aboard the icebreaker N. B. McLean during a 5000-mile voyage from Montreal to Churchill, Man.

Findings showed that in calm weather, which is usual with fog, all types of ice formation may be detected by radar 15 or 20 miles away from large icebergs, and up to a mile and a half for the smaller ice "growlers."

In rough seas and poor visibility, radar was sometimes found unreliable. But fields of tight pack-ice could be detected under all sea conditions, and openings that are at least 500 feet wide could be identified.

Legion Discusses Vets' Allowances

NANAIMO (CP) — The British Columbia branch of the Canadian Legion has a new name.

Delegates to the 21st annual convention Monday adopted: "The British Columbia and Northwest States Command of the Canadian Legion" as the title.

A large delegation from Washington is attending the convention.

The convention also debated increases in war veterans' allowances and agreed that the basic principles of the Veterans' Act should not be touched but that basic rates and allowable income should be raised to a reasonable level.

A resolution from Creston, B. C., that Legion membership be opened to Merchant Marine, sailors, war correspondents, firefighter unit members and others was defeated.

A Langley unit resolution asking the right of appeal for war veterans' allowance for those who volunteered but did not serve overseas was defeated.

Russia and Wool

When Russia attends the Australian wool auctions she is stockpiling for specific purposes Her agents bid fantastic prices for wool two years ago—and paid for large purchases in gold. They not only embarrassed the Western World in the matter of prices, but created a temporary shortage. That was when the Kremlin foresaw prolonged fighting arising from the war in Korea, Russia is again buying wool at the Melbourne and Perth auctions. She is concentrating upon best quality merinos, a type of fibre suitable for "utility clothing and blankets, rather than first class wearing apparel." That, notes the Toronto Globe and Mail, describes wool used for military purposes.

Too far-reaching conclusions from the fact that Russia's satellites have helped her bid up prices, by as much as ten cents a pound, probably should be avoided. But there is a deep economic significance in the fact that prices in New York already have risen by as much as four cents for wool tops, points out the Eastern paper. And Melbourne reports that prices may rise more before the end of the season next month.

The instance illustrates how Russia can use the technique of concentrated buying of strategic materials, wherever there is an open market, in order to create uneconomically high prices for Western World consumers. The gold Moscow uses in these transactions is not accounted for in the Western World's tabulation of available monetary metal. Russia has her own sources of supply, and issues no statistics on either production or acquisition. As her gold is not essential to the operation of her economy on the same basis as in our world, the bulk of it always is available for disrupting free world supply and price conditions.

This recurring situation offers a strong argument in favor of more closely integrated economic planning by free world Powers, says the Globe and Mail. Their plans for closer political and defence ties simply cannot be advanced without the possibility of continuous embarrassment unless their production and trade problems are speedily solved.

It should be obvious to leaders in Washington, London and in Europe that current political irritations would largely disappear if a frank joint approach was made toward solving common economic problems. For economic purposes, Russia, her satellite states and her adherents, including China, comprise a well consolidated Empire. Opposed to that solid front, we have on our side loosely allied groups of nations which are waging trade wars among themselves. They cannot agree upon economic production allocations for either basic materials or manufactured products. They agree even less when it comes to advantageous arrangements for inter-allied trade.

One of the most valuable achievements possible for the post-Coronation conference of all Commonwealth Prime Ministers in London would be to impress upon the whole free world that it may be tempting fate too far if we prolong our present neglect of fundamental economic co-operation.

"Masterly Inactivity" On Boulevards

To the Editor:

Sir—I suppose that, at some time or other, every woman has had a cake go flat on her. Right up to the last minute it rose and browned beautifully, and then, at the last moment, it sank in the middle. Those of you who read my letter on the Vernon Street boulevard must have noticed how flat that letter was at the end. That is because the editor opened the door and let the draught in. You see, as I had written it, the letter ended with, "Phone the mayor; his number is . . . Or phone one of the aldermen. Their names and numbers are below." It seems that, according to his editorial conscience, that is not the right thing. Well, maybe he is right; but my idea is that the average reader is a somewhat lethargic person who would read my letter and say, "I agree with that," but would be quite unlikely to look up the number of an alderman even if he did know the name of one of them.

You may have noticed, too, that for the time being nothing is to be done about the boulevards in the 500 and 600 blocks. This is what is known as "masterly inactivity". It avoids the subject in hopes that the opposition will die down through sheer weariness. It is a very effective technique, so try to keep awake for another month or two, or the election day in December.

Of course, when the 600 block is oiled you will be able to go and gloat over all those lovely cars angle-parked on it. I'm no believer in parking meters; but if there is to be free parking on Vernon, I would like to know to whom we are granting the freedom of the city. If it is Mr. Uphill who lives on Delbruck Street, I don't mind, but I'm not so sure about Mr. Takemoff who lives at Tarrys or anyone who lives on the North Shore.

So, if there is to be a survey of the meter receipts, there should also be a survey of those who are using our streets for parking purposes. Fair is fair, and if we have to pay a nickel each time we come down to shop, I see no reason why the day-long parkers should not contribute to the upkeep of the city. They are the people who caused us to have parking meters on Baker Street, anyhow.

But this is largely beside the point, which is that we must have Vernon Street beautified.

Voter, Sanca—Would you please give me some information about Arnold Webster, CCF leader, and Graeme Simms, CCF Candidate for Nelson-Creston?

Arnold Webster, Principal of Maget High School, graduated at UBC and McGill, where he took his Bachelor of Pedagogy; was exchange teacher with his wife, also a teacher, in Glasgow, Scotland. Mrs. Webster died in 1952. Mr. Webster taught for 31 years, and is on his third year at present at Magee High School. Joined CCF in 1933, and in 1935 was elected President of the Provincial Council which grew out of the socialist party of Canada and CCF clubs; was on Vancouver Parks Board 13 years, chairman for the last three. Lives in Burnaby with his two sons, aged 16 and 18.

Graeme Simms was born in Florenceville, New Brunswick, son of the late R. L. Simms, a prominent barrister at Woodstock, N. B. Is a graduate of the University at Fredericton. During the "thirties" he worked as a miner, lumberjack and farmhand. Mr. Simms came to New Westminster, B. C., in 1938. In 1939 he enlisted in the Westminster Regiment, and upon being commissioned in March, 1940, was transferred to the Carleton and York Regiment, 1st Canadian Division, then in England, served with his unit in the Sicilian and Italian campaigns until his capture in Ortona, Italy, December 13, 1943, at which time he held the rank of Major. The remainder of the war was spent as a prisoner of war in Italy and Germany. Following his release he was discharged from the army in August, 1945.

Mr. Simms married Ruth R. M. Wilson, daughter of Rev. Hugh Wilson and Mrs. Wilson of Victoria, in 1946, and moved to New Westminster, where he opened a law office. In 1948 he accepted the position of Registrar of Land Titles at Nelson and continued in that position until April, 1952. The Simms have three children, Leslie, 5, Elizabeth, 3, and John, about 15 months. Mrs. Simms served in England, France and Germany as a Nursing Sister with the RCAMC.

The Holiday Mood

Noted for their reserve and an inherent aversion to making any kind of a display of themselves, good Victorians are beginning to come out of their shells in the matter of Coronation decorations. The illumination of the Legislative Buildings at night—we trust it has nothing to do with the election—the ambitious scheme of decoration adopted by some larger mercantile establishments, and at least a first promise of flags and bunting in the residential areas, are beginning to have their cumulative effect.—Victoria Daily Colonist.

Sad Case of Jersey Joe

(Ottawa Journal)

Mr. Joe Walcott got $250,000, so we read, for that brief episode in Chicago on Friday evening, and there is a good deal of consolation in a quarter of a million dollars in cash.

Jersey Joe is an old fellow, for the prize ring, of 38 or 44 or whatever the sports writer decides to make it—Joe, like all sensible people, considers his age strictly his own affair. But he has proved once more that experience, in the rugged field of pugilism, is no match for the strength and speed of a younger adversary, Joe Louis not long ago had that proved on his own tough person; so, a little earlier, had Jack Dempsey.

The episode of Mr. Walcott was not much of a spectacle, and Jersey Joe was not the only man to be disappointed—the others had no quarter million to think about. A television watcher who looked up from the screen to light a cigarette found the fight over when his gaze returned. A radio listener who turned the dial briefly for the news came back in a couple of minutes to the fight station—and there was Joe flat on his back with his heels in the air and the voice of doom counting him out of the boxing picture.

There is always something a bit moving about the sight of a one-time champion bowing out the hard way, smashed into oblivion by somebody younger, smarter and stronger.

Views from the News Front

By J. M. ROBERTS, JR.
Associated Press News Analyst

People who have been looking to Panmunjom and the renewed Austrian treaty negotiations for a clearer understanding of Russia's intensified peace-propaganda campaign now find the waters muddied by two new statements of Russian and American views.

Russia, through another long statement in Pravda, says a Korean truce and an Austrian treaty are being held up by the allies, and so cannot be considered tests of Russian sincerity, as they have been labelled by the Eisenhower administration.

The United States, on its part, discounts in advance any possibility that the so-called "new atmosphere" will have any effect on Russia's attitude about Austria. This is a long-standing American diplomatic habit, to lay the ground-work in advance for failure of any negotiations with Russia. In this case, the "white paper" serves also to prejudge one of the very things which had been listed as one of the points where Russia could demonstrate the possible values of more general and higher level discussions of East-West differences. It not only says the U.S. will yield nothing at the Austrian treaty talks which begin in London Wednesday, but also that she expects nothing — which hardly creates an atmosphere conducive to objective assessment of Russia's loud professions of faith in the ultimate ability of the world powers to negotiate their differences.

ALL ROADS LEAD TO LONDON

By RELMAN MORIN

LONDON (AP) — Swarming crowds with Coronation fever began surging into London Monday, and they found the grey old lady of the Thames in raiment fit for a queen.

The Coronation is still more than a week away. But people already are converging on London from all parts of the globe. The atmosphere — an unusual mixture of affectionate homage and plain picnicking—is building up to proportions of a jamboree.

Heraldic beasts of gold and crimson are prowling around the ledges of many an office building in London. Along with the miles of red-white-and-blue bunting, and the countless flags, there is the gleam and glitter of the shivered lance, the cloth of gold, and the crown of St. Edward. The imagery of events in the lives of kings and queens and knights and nobles has been brought out to mark the crowning of a new Queen.

The Coronation route is solidly walled with bleachers so that the Mall, for example, which is a straight avenue to Buckingham Palace, looks like an enormously elongated football field. Wrought iron resembling tiaras arches above it.

Firestone Develops Sensational New Dri-Charged Battery

This revolutionary new Dri-Charged battery will give motorists longer, more economical service than convention batteries now in use. Developed by the Firestone Tire & Rubber Company, the battery was made possible by a new glass separator and a plastic bottle that holds battery acid indefinitely.

Upon delivery to the customer, the new Firestone Dri-Charged battery is "born" when the battery acid is poured into the battery cells. The dry battery at this time snaps to life and, from this point on, becomes the same as an ordinary wet storage battery. Demonstrating this simple process of energizing a Dri-Charged battery are E. W. Barbour, Firestone Merchandise Manager (right) and H. D. Shipman, Trade Sales Manager.

IODE Year Noted For Worthy Projects

EDMONTON (CP)—The Imperial Order Daughters of the Empire reports receipts of $861,346.97 and disbursements of $869,575.98 during 1952-53.

In a report given at the business sessions of the 53rd annual meeting of the national chapter here, Mrs. Peter Robinson, Toronto, national treasurer, said these amounts represented 929 chapters, one national, eight provincial, 32 municipal, 875 primary and 13 junior chapters.

Cash and investments on hand Jan. 15, 1952, amounted to $1,336,238.42, the bulk of which is held in trust for First and Second World War memorial scholarships and bursaries.

Mrs. Robinson reported that two study bedrooms, costing $1500 each, were endowed in London House, a residence in London, England, for British, Commonwealth and Empire students.

IMPORTANT YEAR

Mrs. R. M. Walkey, Toronto, national organizing secretary, said that the order's total membership for 1953 was 31,656.

"Coronation year should have a special meaning to those interested in the objectives and expansion of the IODE," she said.

In the report of the national publicity committee, Mrs. O. L. Robb, Toronto, said that provincial annual reports showed an increase in publicity during the past year.

The Order spent $172,938.27 on educational projects during 1952-53. Of the amount, $150,443.30 represented outlay by the provincial chapters, "the largest in the history of the order."

NEW PROJECT

Collecting and preserving of Canadian legends was a new project of the IODE, and a committee headed by Ethel Raymond, Brantford, had been set up for this purpose.

The Order expended $427,538.18 for its "national services at home and abroad" program for 1952-53.

This amount is $16,626 more than for the 1951-52 period.

Love Problems . . .

Worried Husband Example Of Perfect Caddishness

By JANE ATKINSON

For colossal egotism, for incredible arrogance and selfishness, for sheer stupidity and unmitigated gall, a letter I have just received from a man who signs himself "A worried husband" tops anything in my experience.

At a time when this man says his wife was "tied down with three small children" and his income was not sufficient to hire help for her so she could go out with him, he "became bored" and began going out with his office girl. This girl was also married but, he smugly says, was "from a different walk of life." While he does not specifically state he had an affair with her, he doesn't say he didn't, either.

"I never loved her and she knew it," he writes. "It was just something to do, and it all started when she came to me for advice and understanding. Although she ran after me, and fed my ego, I was never with her that I didn't thank God I had married a lady!"

Continuing, this husband goes on to say that when the girl began to "take too much for granted, pretending she took my jokes and teasing seriously," he came to himself—as he puts it—and confessed the story to his wife.

HE WAS SURPRISED

"I thought she would laugh it off," he says, "but she was crushed. She wanted to leave me but because of the children she has remained with me but she is not herself. She is still a wonderful mother and an excellent housekeeper but she seems to have no love or respect for me."

Now, ever since what this gallant gentleman delicately calls a "horrid mistake," his wife has been tortured with telephone calls about the affair. Some of the calls have been anonymous; some from people claiming to be friends of the other girl; some purporting to be from the girl herself.

"Once my wife got so upset she called the girl's husband, and to avoid scandal I had to meet and talk with him and pretend my wife wasn't well and so she got nervous and said things she didn't mean. This was told my wife on the next telephone call. I denied I had told the husband she was neurotic but told her if she really wasn't, she wouldn't let such a person annoy her. She immediately went to a psychiatrist, who told her that her reaction was normal and her lack of faith in me understandable. He wanted to talk to me but I'm master of myself."

"What can I do to prove to my wife that I've never loved anyone else? What can I do to get her to ignore these phone calls and love and trust me as she used to do?

In the beginning, I said this man had a superlative ego. I said he was arrogant and selfish, I said he was stupid and possessed of unmitigated gall. To this, I add that what he says in his letter shows him to be a liar, a coward and a thoroughgoing hypocrite. As for his remark that "you can't tell a man he is married to a cheat," it leaves me speechless.

All he wants on top of all this is for his wife to love him and trust him.

Personally, I can see not the slightest reason why this wife should want to go on living with such a character. If, however, she does stay with him, and if by some miracle he decides to make a sincere try to clean up this whole miserable mess—which I doubt—then I can only advise him to make an immediate appointment with that psychiatrist and see what plan might be worked out. He wouldn't go to the psychiatrist before, you remember, because, being "master of myself," he didn't need it. The only thing that he is master of is the great art of being a complete heel.

Make Miracle Meals With Pressure Cooker

By MARGARET CARR

If you're among the lucky girls who own a pressure cooker, you have a good opportunity to serve miracle meals at the drop of a hat.

You can serve the hot dishes you and your husband or roommate long for without wilting over the hot stove for an hour or more. Whoever gets home first can start the dinner preparations, and in about 30 minutes—dinner is served.

Don't be afraid of your pressure cooker. I have a friend who considers her pressure cooker a lethal weapon—to be used very sparingly. When she does use it and the time comes to reduce the pressure, she rushes outside with the cooker and sets it on the ground, then retreats to the house to await the last sputter and spurt. Even then she approaches it with fear and trepidation. If you read carefully and follow all the directions you and your pressure cooker should get along famously. Pressure cooking is precision cooking — so be a clock-watcher.

Here's a menu planned around your pressure cooker. Fix the marinated tomatoes the night before you want to serve them and chill. When you get home from the office shred the cabbage and put in the pressure cooker with the other ingredients. Warm the potato chips in a double boiler. Set the table. Make the coffee.

Hot Slaw with Weiners
Warmed Potato Chips
Marinated Tomato and Olive Slices
Rolls Butter or margarine
Lemon Sherbet (bought)
Coffee

MARINATED TOMATO AND OLIVE SLICES

½ to ¾ lb. tomatoes
6 tablespoons salad oil
2 tbsp. lemon juice
½ teaspoon salt
Speck pepper
½ tsp. dried marjoram
½ teaspoon sugar
¼ cup sliced stuffed or plain green olives.

Peel tomatoes; slice into ½-inch slices. Combine oil and next 5 ingredients. In small bowl, arrange layer of tomatoes; sprinkle with a few olive slices; pour on part of dressing. Repeat. Chill. Makes 2 or 3 servings.

HOT SLAW WITH WEINERS

4 cups coarsely shredded cabbage
½ lb. weiners cut in half lengthwise.
2 tbsps. butter or margarine
3 tablespoons brown sugar
3 tablespoons lemon juice
½ tsp. celery seeds
1 tsp. salt

Place rack in pressure cooker; arrange all ingredients, in order given, in cooker. Cover. Bring pressure to 15 lbs. Cook 2 minutes, reduce pressure instantly, as manufacturer directs. Makes 2 servings.

Mari Blanchard, Hollywood Starlet, Still Interested in Law Career

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Mari Blanchard is one actress who doesn't worry about what will happen when fame passes her by. She plans to pursue a career in international law.

Mari was well on her way to a degree in international law a few years ago at the University of Southern California. She planned to pick up her sheepskin after a two-year course as an exchange student at the University of Panama. But something changed all that."

"During vacation I tried to get a job with an import-export firm," she commented. "I figured that would be a good background for my international law. They offered me $25 a week. I could make more than that in one afternoon by modelling.

"I figured there wasn't much sense in trying to get into diplomacy or international trade at my age. They just don't take anyone seriously in that line until he or she is 40 or more. So when an offer came from Harry Conover to come to New York, I left school."

STILL KEEN ON LAW

One thing led to another. The first thing was a bubble bath ad which led to her being sought by Hollywood. She sat out a Paramount contract and is now at Universal-International.

"But I plan to go back to law," she vowed. "You can't expect to last forever in Hollywood; very few actresses can make the transition past 40. About that time I'll quit and go back to school to finish up."

But supposing she gets married?

"I'll still go ahead with my plans" she remarked. "I think it's very important for a wife to have a field of interest for herself. It makes her a more interesting person."

TOO BUSY FOR FAMILY

Mari said she is much too busy right now for international law or a family. After a slow start, her career is getting off the ground.

She recently appeared with Victor Mature in "Veils of Baghdad," in which she gets her first co-starring billing. Right now she is slinking through "Son of Sinbad" for Howard Hughes. Her studio has another Arabian Nights epic lined up for her.

Guards Rescue President's Widow . . .

20 Japanese Women Haul Mrs. Roosevelt From Car

TOKYO (AP) — Twenty Japanese women waving Communist banners today manhandled Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt in downtown Tokyo when she refused them an interview the newspaper Yomiuri reported.

The newspaper said the widow of the late U. S. president was rescued by Japanese guards and was uninjured. Mrs. Roosevelt was not immediately available for comment.

DRAGGED INTO STREET

Mrs. Roosevelt, now on a tour of Japan, was dragged from an automobile outside the labor ministry building.

The newspaper said that when Mrs. Roosevelt's automobile pulled up in front of the building, the women, led by an American-born wife of a Japanese, clamored for an interview.

The ringleader of the group was identified by the newspaper as a Mrs. Fujikawa, 41, born in the U. S., who came to Japan before the war.

The newspaper identified Mrs. Fujikawa as a member of the Communist party.

Yomiuri said Mrs. Fujikawa was active in last year's anti-American riots on May Day.

Files show that an American-born woman, Mrs. Hannah Reichenberg Fujikawa, a native of New York City, took part in the May Day riots.

Chinese Students to Get Russ Textbooks

LONDON (AP) — Moscow radio announced Monday that Red China's students soon are going to be studying the same lessons—but in Chinese — as the scholars in the Soviet Union. A broadcast said a "mass translation" of Soviet textbooks into Chinese will be carried out by Russian-speaking experts "of the higher education establishments" of China.

STEVENAGE, England (CP) — Mysterious telephone faults in exchanges in Hertfordshire were solved when engineers discovered thieves had taken more than 3500 yards of overhead wires from poles.

THE ATOMIC MUSHROOM CLOUD took this spectacular shape as it arose from desert floor on Yucca Flat, Nev., at the AEC proving grounds. Delayed three days due to unfavorable weather, it was detonated from a 300-foot steel tower. Anglican Defends Royal Family

PLYMOUTH, England (CP) — A Church of England clergyman Sunday dismissed recent criticisms of the Duke of Edinburgh's Sunday polo playing and Princess Margaret's public smoking.

Rev. Anthony Rouse said in a sermon delivered at this naval base's royal citadel garrison church that "this narrow attitude is not that of the Church of England."

Rouse added that "we should all think of what we owe to the Queen and the Royal Family for the example they set by regular attendance at church."

He also said that the Queen's husband regularly attends church, showing his duty to God, and day by day does his best to serve his fellow men." He was referring to a statement that a Free Church of Scotland assembly where a speaker said "the empty plaudits" of those attending Sunday sport, "even the polo fields" contribute nothing to the stable British institutions, including the Crown.

"The attitude of these two churches cannot be substantiated in the New Testament," Rouse added.

Vacant Seats Blamed on Spivs

LONDON (AP)—With only 11 days to go before Coronation Day, the signs are there'll be an estimated 2000 or 3000 empty seats along the procession route the Queen will take from Westminster Abbey to Buckingham Palace.

The gaps in the crowds will be where they hurt most — in the stands and balconies set aside for overseas visitors bringing dollars to Britain.

Unless there's a last-minute rush from abroad—unlikely because of transportation difficulties — the June Coronation will not be the sell-out the authorities hoped for months ago.

BLAME THE "SPIVS"

It's the small time operators—the London "spivs" trying to cash in on the thousands of Americans coming here for the Coronation—who have been caught with most of the unsold seats on their hands.

These are the seats that cost all the money — one mushroom agency has been asking as much as £70 for a position jammed in a third-storey window. Others are tucked neatly away behind trees or statues or perched on top of buildings with only a bird's eye view of the route.

Gangsterism Threatens Canadians Says RCMP

OTTAWA (CP) — The RCMP is concerned about a possible growth of gangsterism—organized crime — in Canada.

The national police force cites two factors for this anxiety:

1. A United States anti-crime drive which may chase some big-time criminals across the border.

2. Expansion of Canada's population providing richer pickings for hoodlums.

The RCMP view is set out in a revised edition of its publication "Law and Order in Canadian Democracy," a 273-page book on crime and police work. Originally published in 1949, it now has been brought up to date.

Dealing with the sharpened crime problem caused by growth of population, the book says that organized crime by its very nature must breed in thickly populated areas.

And, in gangster parlance, the heat is on across the border. To many of the harassed criminals in the U. S., our country with its wealth and growth, must seem to offer new and safer fields for their rapacity.

Canadians are inclined to be a little smug about the relatively small amount of gangster activity in this country, the RCMP observes. But any satisfaction should be tempered by the fact that this is only a matter of degree.

"For it," it says, "we have our own sordid story of organized crime, of drug rings, of smuggling, and bootlegging gangs, of betting syndicates, of chains of brothels, of gang murders.

"We have, too, the correlative story of bribery and corruption, without which very few gang rackets can exist."

"Given only a lowering of the standards of legislative bodies, courts and police; given the slightest leeway for corruption and above all, given a falling-off of public vigilance and morality," the RCMP says, "the vicious elements that create the problem could and would become a very real and firmly-entrenched threat to our national well being."

Britons Warned to Expect Dry Summer

LONDON (CP)—Weather-buffeted Britons are in for a dry summer it's been predicted.

The grim news comes from Ritchie Calder, science editor of the News Chronicle, who mercifully allowed some of the bright sunshine of spring to soak in before predicting a severe drought.

He says some places will be hard hit, because the fog, hail, flood and tempest of the vile winter just passed were accompanied by a 60-year record dry spell. Nor was there much snow to recharge lake and river reservoirs.

It's impossible to say how badly the country's natural water stocks are depleted, Calder says, because the government suspended the inland water survey. The economizing move will save a farthing a head, about $140,000, he claims, against a potential drought loss of millions of pounds to industry and agriculture.

FM Spreads Among Mexican Cattle

MEXICO CITY (AP)—Officials of Vera Cruz kept up the slaughter Monday of cattle infected with foot-and-mouth disease as the United States flew in experts to help war on the new outbreak of the dreaded animal plague.

The U. S. closed its borders Saturday to Mexican cattle shipments after the disease broke out anew. Cattle shipments north across the border had been resumed only nine months ago, following an earlier, five-year epidemic.

The new flare-up involved some 500 cattle in Gutierrez Zamora—scene of the last known appearance of the disease in August, 1951. The region is 375 miles south of Brownsville, Tex.

All herds in the infected area were quarantined. Sick animals were being killed and buried. The slaughtering started Sunday.

On July 23, 1904, Sir Henry Joly de Lotbiniere opened the Fraser River Bridge—the first bridge to span the mouth of the Fraser and provide a direct rail and road link to the United States.

B.F. Goodrich Tubeless Tire

Because IT HAS NO TUBE

It may save your life...

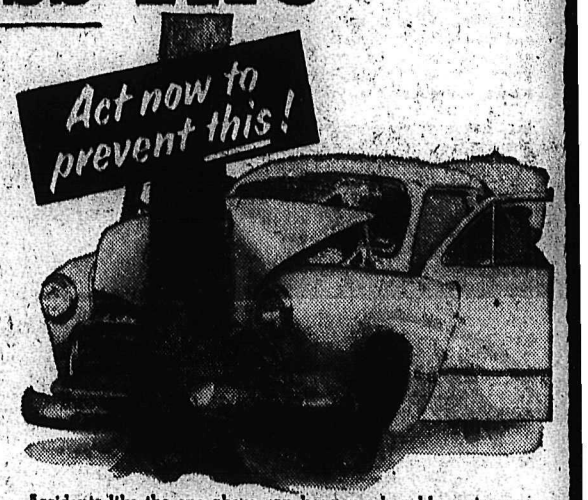
The B. F. Goodrich LIFE-SAVER Tubeless Tire gives you maximum protection against the hazard of blowouts and dangerous skids, that frequently result in serious injury, and even death.

It can save you trouble...

The B. F. Goodrich LIFE-SAVER Tubeless Tire seals punctures on running wheels . . . protects against the annoying trouble caused by flat tires.

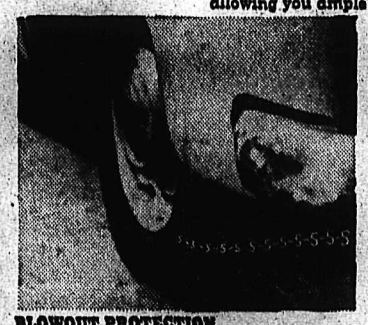
It will save you money...

The B. F. Goodrich LIFE-SAVER Tubeless Tire provides greater safety than any tire and tube, yet it costs less than the conventional safety tire-tube combination.



Accidents like the one above can happen when blowouts occur—that's why you owe it to yourself to find out about the extra protection in B.F. Goodrich LIFE-SAVER Tubeless Tires. Most blowouts are caused when the inner tube explodes through weakened or broken cords. But, because it has no inner tube, a LIFE-SAVER Tire changes a sudden, dangerous blowout to a safe s-s-s-slowout—allowing you ample time to stop your car safely, with perfect control.

PUNCTURE PROTECTION
A gummy rubber compound under the tread immediately seals around puncturing objects, and permanently seals the hole when the object is removed. Inconvenience and delays are eliminated.



BLOWOUT PROTECTION
Instead of a tube, the LIFE-SAVER has a patented inner lining that's part of the tire. In event of damage there's no sudden blowout, only a small break in the liner, a s-s-s-slowout that lets you stop safely.

SKID-PROTECTION
The LIFE-SAVER tread is cross-cut into thousands of tiny grip-blocks. At 30 miles per hour on wet roads, it stops you a car length quicker than regular tires . . . and gives you longer mileage too.

Your B.F. Goodrich dealer now has the B.F.Goodrich Tubeless Tire ...it can be your LIFE-SAVER.

Norwegian Plane Takes 52 From Oslo to Tokyo

TOKYO (AP) — A Scandinavian Airlines plane landed at Tokyo international airport Monday night, completing the first commercial flight from Europe to the Orient via the North Pole region.

Carrying 41 passengers and 11 crew members, the DC-6B came down after a 12-hour flight from tiny Shemya Island at the end of the Aleutians.

The plane was in the air 37 hours on its flight from Oslo, Norway.

It left Oslo Saturday and stopped in Anchorage, Alaska, overnight.

The polar route covered 6683 miles, about 3000 less than conventional routes.

The craft's 41 passengers are assigned to relieve workers at the Norwegian field hospital in Korea.

Name Soap Firm On Resale Issue

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada's new anti-combines commission has reported that the Montreal branch of Procter and Gamble Co. of Canada Ltd. twice allegedly broke the law on resale price maintenance.

Under that trade practice, banned by Parliament in 1951, a supplier would order a wholesale or retailer to resell goods at a fixed price, sometimes threatening to cut off supplies if that order was not obeyed.

The three-man Restrictive Trade Practices Commission, in a 28-page report to Justice Minister Garson, said Montreal regional officers of the big soap company for a time cut off supplies to the Dealers' Supply to maintain certain prices, but the name of the threatened wholesaler was not disclosed.

The commission, headed by C. Rhodes Smith, former attorney-general of Manitoba, emphasized two pertinent facts:

1. The attempt to enforce resale price maintenance was done under the direction of R. E. Goudrea, Montreal district sales manager, without the knowledeg of head office at Toronto. When the general management was told of the situation, it took steps to make sure the attempt was not repeated.

2. Mr. Goudreau, whose territory took in all of western Quebec and the Maritimes including Newfoundland, allegedly entered the price maintenance practice to protect a purcasing system whereby small independent retailers could buy the company's products at prices almost as low as the chain stores.

But the new commission, set up last November, took a stern view of any violation of the law—no matter for what reason.

"However fair and sincere may have been the motives which directed Mr. Goureau's attitude and action, we do not think that they may be, invoked as a justification for contravening the prohibition enacted by Parliament."

KKK Walks Again In Negro Area

CLEVELAND (AP)—For the second time in five days there has been an attack here on the homes of Negroes living in neighborhoods where whites also live.

The latest incident was a bombing, before dawn Sunday, of the home of Rev. Smith E. Ware, 48, a former Baptist minister.

The blast of dynamite shattered five plate glass windows, pushed radiators from walls, and buckled part of the foundation.

The dynamiters also were after Ware's next-door neighbor, Lee V. Malloy, also a Negro. But the fuse on the bomb they put on his porch was faulty and the bomb did not explode. However, the blast at Ware's house smashed 27 window panes in the Malloy residence.

In a neighborhood just two miles away, someone last Wednesday threw a bottle containing a note through a window in the home of Mrs. Dolores Johnson, 36.

"Get out of this neighborhood," said the note. "The next time it will be a bomb." The note was signed: "KKK".

Greatest Gasoline Development in 31 Years!

TCP Shell-discovered additive, now blended into Shell Premium Gasoline puts an end to the greatest cause of power loss. Actually boosts power up to 15%, spark plug life up to 150% by counteracting the deposit on spark plugs and in combustion chambers.*

Though you may not realize it, the chances are that your engine is delivering far less than its original horsepower.

This is because, in the average engine, deposits constantly "build up" on spark plugs and in combustion chambers. These deposits actually "short circuit" your spark plugs causing them to misfire. They may also cause pre-ignition of the combustion mixture—resulting in severe knock. This is especially true when accelerating, climbing hills, or driving on the open highway.

This condition exists in the majority of cars on the road today.

To overcome this condition, Shell research discovered a fuel additive TCP. Blended into Shell Premium Gasoline, TCP stops the short-circuiting effects of the deposits on spark plugs and in combustion chambers. This means, for the average motorist, a power boost of up to 15%, an increase in spark plug life of up to 150%, plus an increase in gasoline mileage!

Shell Premium with TCP is the most important advance in gasoline since the discovery of tetraethyl lead in 1922.

New and old engines benefit

If you have a new car, particularly one with a high compression engine, Shell Premium with TCP is essential if you want it to keep on delivering its original power for the normal life of the spark plug. But high compression or not, Shell Premium with TCP keeps it working like new.

Owners of older cars also benefit. Even if your car has gone thirty thousand miles or even more, your engine can get back much of its original power by the use of Shell Premium with TCP.

Shell Premium with TCP quick to act

So rapidly does Shell Premium with TCP counteract the deposit on spark plugs and in combustion chambers, that you'll feel your engine's had a tune-up before you've finished the second tankful. You enjoy that new car pep again.

Now in Canada—but only at your Shell Dealer's

TCP was originally developed by Shell research for aviation fuels and until now has been largely restricted to military aircraft.

Today, Shell Premium with TCP is available in this area, but only at Shell Service Stations.

Veterinarians Fear Anthrax

CHICAGO (AP)—The American Veterinary Medical Association warned Monday there is danger of new flareups of anthrax in areas where the disease took a heavy livestock toll in 1952.

The association said, a new outbreak already has occurred in Franklin County, Kansas, one of the hardest hit sections last summer. Five herds in the county were quarantined in the latest outbreak.

The association said the Kansas outbreak is believed to have been caused by anthrax spores which remained on the ground from the 1952 epidemic. It added that the same situation may occur in other localities.

"One of the chief difficulties in controlling anthrax is the fact that the spores can lie dormant in the soil for years, then cause new outbreaks," a spokesman said.

Bird-Watchers Check Lark's Rising Habit

By KEN BOTWRIGHT

GLANTON, Eng. (Reuters)—After sleeping in for three years, the lark has again won back its title as the earliest early bird.

About 700 bird watchers through the world—including 400 in Britain and a few in the United States — proved that Sunday. They got up before the lark just to find out exactly what time it does rise and sing.

The survey was organized by Noble Rollin, head of the world bird research station at this pretty Northumberland town in the north of England.

The previous three surveys showed that the lark, instead of being the earliest riser in the bird world, had become a sluggard. The curlew, wood pigeon and the pheasant had all sung their dawn chorus before it.

UP AT DAWN

But Sunday the lark must have heard the rumor going around that it was a sleepy head. For through the British Isles, at least, it and its kinfolk were up at the first glow of dawn.

The earliest lark in Britain sounded off at 3 a.m.

The bird-watcher who heard it sing at Northampton reported: "It was so early I nearly dropped my notebook in amazement."

Rollin himself noted the order in which birds greeted the day hereabouts: Lark, 3:11 a.m.; redstart, 3:30; song thrush, 3:44; blackbird, 3:30; robin, 3:48; goldcrest, 4:13; willow warbler, 4:29.

Reports from listening outposts scattered as far away as Connecticut, Japan and India will take weeks to come in.

Industry, Agriculture Vie For Supremacy in Manitoba

By ART BRYDON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

WINNIPEG (CP) — Belching industrial smoke stacks are competing with waving fields of wheat on Manitoba's economic horizon, but agricultural products keep the cash registers clanging.

The provincial gross industrial production tops agriculture by a steadily increasing margin but Dominion bureau of statistics figures show three of the top five industries are based on agriculture.

The gross value of manufactured products in 1952, was an estimated $596,000,000. The agricultural product was $351,294,000.

Heading the list is the slaughtering and meat packing industry followed in order by needle trades, railway rolling stock, butter and cheese and flour milling.

WINNIPEG THE HUB

The manufacturing centre of Manitoba is Winnipeg, where 35 per cent of the industry is concentrated. Greater Winnipeg is the fifth city in Canada in the number of employees engaged in manufacturing. It is also a financial centre with a higher value in checks cashed per year than the next nine major cities combined.

More men's work clothes are produced in Manitoba than anywhere else in Canada.

The Dominion Government index lists 165 categories of industrial production of which metropolitan Winnipeg has entries in 121. Forty-per cent of the goods are sold in the province, 20 per cent go across Canada and a start is made on export trade.

The young petroleum industry is rapidly gaining strength as production rises. From just over $1,800,000 in 1939, it has boosted production to almost $12,500,000 in 1950.

PACKING HOUSE CENTRE

Greater Winnipeg is the second largest packing house centre in Canada and is the principal home in Western Canada of the slaughtering and meat packing industries.

An estimated 60 per cent of the cattle, sheep and hogs slaughtered in Manitoba are raised within the province.

The general industrial boom in the province shows in other ways. There were 55 new firms located in Greater Winnipeg in 1952 and another 16 in the first four months of 1953. Construction values jumped from just over $3,000,000 in 1942 to almost $46,000,000 in 1952.

Juvenile Clubs Paying Off

MONTREAL (CP) — It's 17 years since a Montreal police officer with a soft spot in his heart for youngsters in trouble decided that the leader of a tough street gang could be developed into a sports captain.

That decision is still paying dividends. The police juvenile clubs here are credited with giving Montreal a remarkably low juvenile delinquency record.

It was in 1936 that assistant inspector Ovila Pelletier first was struck by the number of youngsters running into trouble with the law. He found these youngsters were full of energy and intelligence and were letting off steam in the wrong direction.

HELPED YOUNGSTERS

He obtained permission from his superiors to form clubs for youngsters. The first members were recruited on street corners.

Spotting youths with a lot of time on their hands and nothing interesting to do, police would ask them: "How would you like to play in a baseball league?" If it was not baseball, it was hockey or swimming that was suggested.

The response was terrific.

Police officers dug into their own pockets to buy sports equipment, and the league of "kids and cops" was launched. The police athletic fund and the city took an interest and extended financial assistance.

The best of equipment and coaches were placed at the disposal of the youths.

The end of the purely experimental period came when inspector Pelletier was given facilities for a 15-minute talk over two Montreal radio stations.

In the two weeks following his broadcasts 34,000 youngsters called at police stations throughout the city to apply for membership in the juvenile clubs. Since then, public drives have been held annually to finance activities.

CHANCES are you have, because practically everything we eat—grains, vegetables, meat, milk, eggs—contains aluminum. This is not surprising, since one-eighth of the earth's crust is aluminum.

Aluminum is most readily available commercially, however, in the form of bauxite ore. Coast Actress to Appear in N. York

LONDON (CP) — Canadian actress Barbara Kelly will leave for New York May 29 to appear as guest artist on radio and television.

Miss Kelly is to appear in six performances of "What's My Line?" popular British television feature which originated in the United States. Dorothy Kilgallen, who appears regularly in the American version, will come to London to appear in the British program.

The feature involves efforts by a panel of experts to identify the unusual occupations of selected guests.

Miss Kelly also hopes to visit Toronto to discuss an offer from the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation regarding a projected show in Canada next year. The program would star Miss Kelly and her husband Bernard Braden, who form a popular team in British show business. Both are from Vancouver.

Canadian Exports Show Big Drop

OTTAWA (CP)—Britain, Europe and Latin America slashed purchases of Canadian goods in April, leading to a big $47,500,000 drop in Canada's exports for the month.

Fourth consecutive monthly decline, exports for April dipped to $304,700,000 from $352,200,000, a drop of 11 per cent in volume and three per cent in price, the bureau of statistics reported today.

In the first four months of 1953 shipments slumped by a total of $135,300,000 to $1,218,700,000 from last year's high of $1,354,000,000.

Only significant gain was in shipments to the United States which rose to $192,200,000 from $184,000,000 last year.

Britain cut her purchases of Canadian goods by $28,100,000, reducing them in April to $47,500,000.

Exports to Latin America dropped by more than $10,000,000 to $16,324,000 from 26,745,000; and to continental European customers declined by $6,000,000 to $22,000,000 from $28,000,000.

Exports to all other countries declined to $11,058,000 from $15,806,000.

Riviere du Loup was so named because of the many timber wolves there in earlier days.

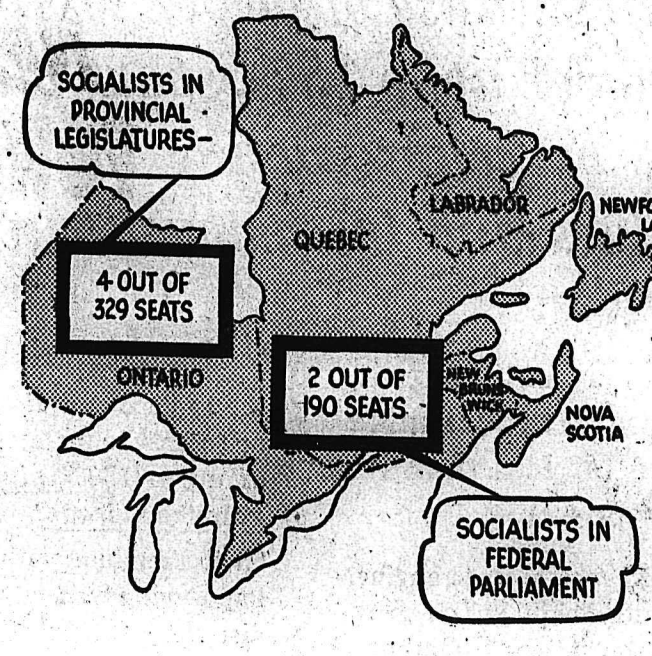
HOW EASTERN CANADA REJECTED THE SOCIALISTS

... and forged ahead industrially



There are 11,000,000 out of Canada's 15,000,000 people living in Ontario, Quebec and the Maritimes.

These Canadians elected only two Socialists to the Federal Parliament at the last election. Two seats out of a total of 190.

In Provincial Legislatures of the East there are 329 seats. Socialists today hold 4 of them.

Thus of 519 legislative seats, Federal and Provincial, the C.C.F. holds only 6.

In the last Provincial elections in Ontario, NOT A SINGLE SOCIALIST WAS ELECTED TO THE LEGISLATURE FROM THE HIGHLY INDUSTRIALIZED CITIES OF TORONTO, HAMILTON AND WINDSOR.

For British Columbia, it is worth noting that the East is experiencing the greatest boom in its history—it is getting the kind of investment capital that spells progress.

Around the KOOTENAY in Sport

By LEN WALKER

Fans, who aren't getting in on the boxla follies of 1953, just don't know what they're missing.

After watching the latest edition of Mayhem at the Opera Saturday night, I came away from the Civic Centre quite convinced that I had seen everything. I had just witnessed all variety of sports—except swimming—thrown into one.

For wrestling fans Art Choquette and Trail's Robertson gave everything to be desired; for the fistic fans, Robertson and Conn Armstrong gave it all they had. For the track fans Maglio, Mayo and Jerome showed speed galore and for anyone interested in diving this feat was performed by Norm Exner when he elected to take the high dive over Rudy Martini rather than plow through him. After watching both goalies dance from one side of the net to the other some fans even came away convinced that not only boxla has returned to the Kootenay, but the Big Apple as well.

Tony Merlo's performance between the pipes for Trail was worth the price of admission alone. He not only played almost flawlessly, but his passes forward were sights to behold. His lone dash down the length of the floor brought hurrahs from the crowd and had he scored Leafs would have looked slightly foolish.

Red Wassick in the third frame fell heavily near the Trail goal, and although he made another appearance in the final canto, in an attempt to check a Trail player, he went into the boards, twisting his knee. He had to be helped from the floor. It was reported later that the leg was sore but that he would not be out of action long. He's a stonewall against the speed merchants no matter how fast they are going, when Red stops them, it's all over for that play, at least.

Harold Mayo, who like Max Bentley, the more aches and pains he has the better he plays, was a work horse throughout the game. He was not the offensive threat of past efforts but he was a checking fiend at times. There was little doubt the Bears were out to stop him and time and again he was met by two Trail men.

Reg Lott, who didn't appear at the rink until near the last half, was given a big hand by the crowd His appearance made a big difference to the Leaf showing.

Early in the third, Lott scored a beauty of a goal only to be pulled down from behind by Gryschuck. The play was called, Gryschuck given a penalty and the goal disallowed. This drew roars from the fans who believed the goal should have been allowed, or at least a penalty shot for Lott.

* * *

It appears from this perch, that Nelson coaches have a lot of work cut out for them.

The Leafs lacking direction due mostly to their disrupted lines, did show they are like other Nelson teams in so far as spirit is concerned. But alas and alack, one can not win games on spirit alone. The time has arrived, when the team is going to have to settle down to practice with steady lines. Then players will know where a linemate will be when a pass is made. Defence and goal-tending can't hold the club together. For my money, I did like to see the forwards organized into lines that will be intact.

Things Saturday became so disorganized that Reg Flemming, who has had no practice and played only one game this season, stripped for action at half time. He certainly helped out in stopping the Trail forces.

Stan Morris, who was unable to attend, and Horace LaPointe were sadly missed, but we cannot get away from the fact that the Bears with their small crew played the better game and deserved their win.

Seven in Row for Tribe; Whip Bears

ROSSLAND — Rossland Redmen Monday night made it seven straight as they won a close decision from the Trail Golden Bears 17-15 in a West Kootenay Lacrosse League contest in Rossland arena before 750 shivering fans.

The game was a close affair that saw Bears trailing most of the way only to come back in the final stanza with a scoring flurry that tied up the game at the 11:10 mark. Marcus Smith, the old reliable, came through with the equalizer.

From this point on the LaFace boys took over and two goals by Jack LaFace within a minute sewed up the game for the league-leaders.

The game was fast from the start. The referees kept the players moving at all times.

Redmen, who seem to have the knack of getting off to a lead in every game, did it again. They took a 4-2 edge in the first quarter and by the time the half was reached they advanced this lead to 10-7.

In the third quarter Trail, with some sparkling play by Bob Moffatt, outscored the home club five goals to four and then in the final canto their desperate bid to overcome the rampaging Redmen nearly paid off when Bob Kendall tied the game up at 15-all.

Jack LaFace broke through for two goals within a minute to give the Redmen their seventh straight win. They have yet to taste defeat in the newly-formed league although they have had close calls with both Trail and Nelson.

Nine penalties were called by referees George Anderson of Trail and Exner of Trail. Trail received seven, most being called for the player being in the crease. Ray Dominici of Rossland sat out five minutes in the final canto for a deliberate high sticking that produced blood. The game, although one of the fastest, was relatively clean with no uprisings.

Sox Down Yanks 14-10

By The Canadian Press

In the American League the pitchers had a rough night, particularly at New York where the Yankees and Boston Red Sox set a major-league record for the length of a nine-inning game as they struggled three hours and 52 minutes before the Sox won 14-10. The old record of 3:38 was set by Brooklyn and the Giants last September.

Boston starter, Maury McDermott, who cracked out four hits in four trips to the plate, was the winner but needed relief as the Bombers rallied in the late stages. Six Yank pitchers paraded to the hill.

Chicago White Sox came from behind twice in another slugging bee to beat St. Louis Browns 7-5, handing veteran Harry Brecheen his sixth straight loss.

All the damage was done in the first inning as Washington Senators downed Philadelphia Athletics 6-3, Rookie Frank Fanovich loaded the bases with walks before getting anyone out and the Nats sewed it up with five runs in the opening frame.

The National League had more slugging fireworks under the lights as back-to-back homers by Jackie Robinson and Roy Campanella in the eighth inning finally nailed down an 11-9 victory over Philadelphia Phils.

In the nightcap of the twi-night doubleheader at Milwaukee, Brave hurler Max Surkont broke another major-league mark by striking out eight consecutive Cincinnati batters before rain halted play at the end of four innings.

Nelson Youth Gives Up Coronation Trip to Compete in Rowing Classic

Crew racing must be quite a sport to draw a fellow away from a free coronation trip to England with the Vancouver Kitsilano band. But Jim Carney has chosen competition with a UBC crew in the Pacific Coast championships over a trip overseas.

Jim is a Nelson boy, son of Dr. and Mrs. J. J. Carney who live on the North Shore.

Attending the University of British Columbia, he is a member of the Ubessey newspaper and slated for the job as sports editor of the paper. He gave up the trip to England recently so that he could win a place on the rowing squad in the championships at Newport against Oregon, California and the University of Southern California.

In a letter home recently Jim said that practicing for the event was like being in a baseball spring training camp. From morning until night it is just eat, sleep and row.

At 6:15 in the morning the crew starts out to row 10 miles after which they have breakfast, take a nap and then have lunch, after another short rest they are out on the water once again for another gruelling rowing effort.

Stan Musial Most Consistent Hitter

By The Canadian Press

Every spring the experts start writing off St. Louis Cardinals, pause, remember Stan Musial still plays for them and pick them for a first-division finish in the National League. And they are almost always right.

Stan, the Man is probably the most consistent hitter in the game today. He hasn't had a batting average under .300 in his 11 years in the majors. He practically owns the league batting title and has led almost every offensive department at one time or another. He even won 18 games as a pitcher in the minors when he was 18.

The remarkable thing about this spring is that the Cardinals got off to a fast start, even though Musial was in one of his rare hitting slumps. And now that Stan is beginning to behave normally at the plate, the Red Birds are a truly formidable threat.

Any lingering doubts that Musial is in form were dispelled Monday as he hit two homers and a single, walked twice and drove in six runs to lead his club to a 14-8 victory.

Schoendienst, currenet batting leader of the league, had four safeties and Bilko drove in four runs with a homer and two singles.

Another of the league's ranking sluggers, Ralph Kiner, slammed the 300th home run of his career with two teammates on base, but it was in a losing cause as New York Giants mauled three Pittsburgh pitchers for a dozen hits and handed the lowly Pirates a 6-3 setback.

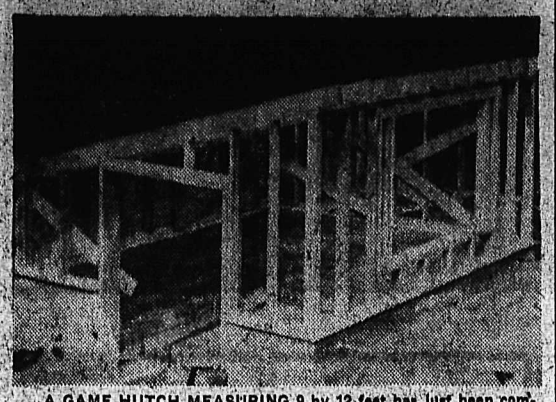
Delegates Attend Game Convention At Chilliwack

Three members of the Kootenay Branch of the Fish and Game Council left Monday for Chilliwack where they will attend the B.C. Fish and Game Council meeting and Game Commission Convention in that centre.

J. R. Bailey, treasurer of the Council, M. F. Edwards of Trail and Dave Shaw of Nelson are making the trip to the coast.

The Fish and Game Council meeting will take place today with the Commission Convention taking place on Wednesday and running through Saturday.

GAME HUTCH FOR SPORTSMAN PARK



A GAME HUTCH MEASURING 9 by 12 feet has just been completed by members of the Fish and Wildlife Protective Association and turned over to the B.C. Game Branch. Frank Elsener Cops Individual Honors at Trail Track Meet

Castlegar Junior and Senior High School ran off with the grand aggregate trophy in the annual west Kootenay-Boundary schools track meet held in Butler Park at Trail when they amassed a total of 163 points.

J. Lloyd Crowe high school of Trail took second place and the Nelson High School third, in the meet that saw 11 centres participate.

Joe Zieban and Paul Zanit led the Castlegar crow with some fleet-footed running, Zieban captured the senior 880 as well as the mile run placed second in the senior pole vault and the 880 medley relay, while Zanit scored first in the intermediate boys 100 and 220 yard dashes and the medley relay.

The individual star of the day-long meet was Frank Elsener of Nelson who accounted for one-third of Nelson's 85½ points. He won the senior boys shield after placing first in the 100, 220, broad jump and medley relay. His individual marks showed that he broke the tape in 11 seconds in the 100 yards, in 22.5 seconds in the 220 and soared 18 feet, 5½ inches in the broadjump.

10 FIRSTS

In taking the event Castlegar romped home with 10 first, nine seconds and as well as taking the aggregate trophy they also captured the junior girls shield and the intermediate boys shield.

Second place J. Lloyd Crowe school; winners of the event last year, had eight firsts and seven seconds.

Other schools in the order of finish were Trail Junior High (76 points), Rossland high school (42¾ points), Nelson junior high (25¼ points), Salmo (20¾ points), New Denver (9 points), South Slocan (5½ points), Fruitvale (5½ points) and Slocan City 3 points.

Three Tournaments Planned . . .

Laurie Lefeaux Heads Tennis Club, Ed Kelter on Courts Sunday

At a meeting of the Nelson Tennis Club Sunday afternoon at the courts in Rosemont Laurie Lefeaux was elected president for the season.

An attendance of 25 players, both new and old, was on hand for the meeting and an afternoon of play, although the weather was a little on the cold side.

George Gelinas was elected treasurer and Mrs. Mary Hunter secretary.

With the attendance of many new members, interest for the game is growing in leaps and bounds and when play commenced on Sunday after the meeting there was a constant scramble to get on the two courts available. A third court, undergoing a rebuilding job, is expected to be ready for play by mid-June. With the addition of this third court the club will have all courts in excellent condition, and it is anticipated that they will be in use constantly throughout the remainder of the tennis season.

One of the highlights of the day was the guest appearance of Ed Kelter, communities recreation program consultant for this district who was in the West Kootenay on a survey from the Coast. He showed great style in taking time out to give a few lessons to the beginners.

LAURIE LEFEAUX
. . . newly elected president of the Nelson Tennis Club for 1953. He is well known in tennis circles as both a player and supporter of a move to get juniors interested in the sport.

Laurie Lefeaux said on Monday that it is hoped this season to have the three big tournaments, the men's, ladies' and mixed doubles, played off at an earlier date. With the large number of entries for these events two of them are expected to be played in Trail where they have many more courts.

He said that in years past tournaments have been delayed until the close of the season. In an effort to avoid this it is hoped that some sort of an arrangement can be found that will possibly spread the three tournaments throughout the year.

NO MORE RACING FOR DARK STAR

NEW YORK (AP) — Dark Star, surprise winner over Native Dancer in the Kentucky Derby, has turned up with a leg injury which has ended his racing career, owner Harry F. Guggenheim announced Monday.

Guggenheim, master of the Coin Hoy Stable, said his prize runner turned up after the Preakness last Saturday with a bowed tendon.

The colt will be turned out at Port Washington this summer, the owner added, and then will be retired to stud in Kentucky in 1954.

FINED $100

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Pitcher Russ Meyer of Brooklyn Dodgers was fined $100 and suspended for three days by National League president Warren Giles Monday as the result of his hot dispute with umpire Augie Donatelli in Sunday's game with the Phillies here.

A X Y D L B A A X B
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Market Trends

NEW YORK (AP) — Trading was narrowly mixed.

Railroads were well ahead of other major dvilsions. Some oils did better than average.

Canadian issues showed little change.

TORONTO (CP) — Prices weakened toward the close.

Industrials, base metals and western oils were mixed as golds weakened.

MONTREAL (CP)—An irregular trend prevailed in light afternoon dealings.

Senior metals, carriers and papers turned lower. Senior oils and banks were a little better. Steels, utilities and miscellaneous industrials followed a mixed price path and beverages held steady.

The London Stock Exchange was closed for Whit Monday.

Says U. S. to Fight Higher Gold Price

WASHINGTON (AP)—Representative Claire Engle (Dem., Calif.) said Monday the Eisenhower administration probably will continue to oppose an increase in the price of gold, now pegged at $35 an ounce.

Engle has proposed legislation to provide for a free market for domestic newly-mined gold. He contends the gold mining industry will go completely out of business under high production costs and the present price of gold.

MERINOS FETCH BIG PRICES, AUSTRALIA

SYDNEY, Australia (Reuters)—Buyers paid more than the equivalent of $20,000 for two Merino rams at stud sheep sales here Monday.

When 4800 guineas ($10,720) was paid for a ram from Haddon Rig stud, it was accepted as a world record, but 80 minutes later a ram from Bundesmar stud brought 300 guineas ($705) more.

Latin America Could Solve Paper Shortage

PETROPOLIS, Brazil (AP) — Latin America's vast forests may some day help solve the world's newsprint shortage, experts here believe.

But before that goal can be achieved, the continent's pulp and paper industry will have to undergo a $700,000,000 expansion program.

That's the gist of a report made public by the economic commission for Latin America which has completed an extensive survey of the region's pulp and paper resources.

"Latin America in general and most of the individual countries have sufficient fibrous resources not only to meet their domestic requirements but also to contribute, through exports, to the reduction of the world shortage of paper and raw materials for paper," the commission found.

The pine forests of Latin America alone are capable of meeting the entire needs of the region although they cover only five per cent of its total forest area, the survey says.

Joint production of Canada, the United States and Europe will fall short of the 1960 demand, the commission believes. But, it says, Latin America could develop a surplus supply that would make up the difference.

At present the Latin-American paper industry comprises 190 mills, most of them in Argentina, Brazil, Chile and Mexico.

Halibut Prices Take Tumble at Coast

VANCOUVER (CP) — Halibut prices tumbled on their lowest levels in years on the Vancouver and Prince Rupert exchanges Monday as landings swung into full stride.

With the arrival of the second schooner from the grounds the price in Vancouver was: 500 pounds of chicken, 14 cents a pound; 40,000 mediums 17 cents a pound; and 1500 large, 14 cents a pound.

The price was the lowest since 1948, which in turn was the lowest price since pre-war days.

DETROIT (AP) — Mrs. Mary King, who started life as an Alabama slave 110 years ago, spent her birthday Sunday in her customary fashion — puffing on a pipe and watching television. Mrs. King has lived for years with a niece, Mrs. Beatrice Hoskins, whom she reared. She said she still loves fried chicken and occasionally has "a little nip of wine."

"SOUL AND BODY," IS SERMON SUBJECT

The Lesson-Sermon read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist last Sunday was entitled "Soul and Body". It included selections pointing out that the identity of the individual is maintained by God, Spirit, throughout eternity.

The Golden Text was: "We all, with open face beholding as in a glass the glory of the Lord, are changed into the same image from glory to glory, even as by the Spirit of the Lord."
—II Corinthians 3: 18.

The Lesson-Sermon included the following passage from the Bible: "And this is life eternal, that they might know thee the only true God and Jesus Christ, whom thou hast sent." —John 17: 3.

Among the selections from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, was the following: "A demonstration of the facts of Soul in Jesus' way resolves the dark visions of material sense into harmony and immortality."

Dominion Archaeologist Here . . .

Kootenay Indian Relics Come Under Scrutiny

For the first time, the National Museum of Canada has sent an archaeologist to this part of the country for a study of Indian pre-history.

Dr. Douglas Leechman of Ottawa, senior archaeologist for the Museum, is making a reconnaissance trip through southeastern B. C., in anthropology. He is tracing the route of migration of man from Siberia to North America, and will study the way in which this part of B. C. fits into the pattern.

Between now and June 3, Dr. Leechman will investigate any vestiges of the Indians which have turned up in the Kootenays. He is interested in seeing any relics, especially stone tools, Indian paintings on rocks and Indian village sites.

Dr. Leechman is by no means new to B. C., having been on country weeklies in Merritt, Princeton and Greenwood in his earlier days in Canada.

7 Criminal Cases Scheduled for Spring Assizes

Spring Assizes, scheduled to commence here June 8, will likely be delayed about one week, Gazetted to start in Cranbrook June 3, the court will hear four criminal cases and several civil cases there before coming to Nelson.

At Nelson seven criminal cases will be tried. Five of them concern charges of arson against Paul Popoff and Nick Konkin of Brilliant. An assault case evolving out of a Creston incident and a breaking and entering with intent trial complete the criminal case list.

Five civil cases and about 15 or 18 divorce cases will also be heard. It is expected the session will take approximately two weeks. The judge for the Spring Cranbrook-Nelson circuit has not yet been named.

Freedomites And Politics

VICTORIA (CP) — The radical Sons of Freedom Doukhobors, troublemakers in the British Columbia interior for 30 years, have been thrown into the spotlight of the June 9 provincial election.

Premier W. A. C. Bennett turned the Sons into a major political issue Monday by saying that Liberal leader Arthur Laing and B. C. federal cabinet ministers "sabotaged" the government's action in dealing with the sect.

Mr. Bennett said in an interview that statements made by Mr. Laing and the unnamed cabinet ministers were the cause of the Sons of Freedom fire raids on two communities. Arson is one of the Freedomite forms of protest. Last Saturday night they destroyed seven Doukhobor homes and earlier were blamed for some 20 home-burnings and bombings.

The latest wave of arson followed a "get tough" policy statement by the premier last week.

Both Premier Bennett and Attorney-General Robert Bonner have said the forthcoming election is one of the major causes for the worst unrest in the interior Doukhobor Kootenay area in years.

TIMED ACTIONS

He said his government's constructive policy on the Doukhobor problem will not be defeated "either by the action of unlawful Doukhobors or our political enemies."

Any further action on the problem, he said, will be taken on the advice of the RCMP.

Premier Bennett said the Doukhobors had timed their unlawful acts to coincide with the election campaign.

"They've had long training in Russia and B. C. in arranging timing of their incidents," he said.

Duncan IWA Installs Poje as President

DUNCAN, B.C. (CP) — Tony Poje, currently serving a three-month prison term, was installed in absentia Sunday as president of the 5000-member Duncan local of International Woodworkers of America (CIO-CCL).

He is serving the remainder of a three-month term on a contempt of court charge arising out of action by pickets at Nanaimo during an IWA strike last July. The Supreme Court of Canada upheld his conviction several weeks ago in the action which involved activities by pickets following a court injunction.

High School PTA Names Officers

Nelson Junior-Senior High School Parent-Teacher Association will reconvene in September under a new slate of officers.

Mrs. J. G. Steadman will be president, Mrs. P. C. Richards, vice-president, Mrs. A. L. Stevens, secretary, Mrs. A. J. Crowe, treasurer, Mrs. C. R. Mattice, publicity chairman, and Mrs. James Fraser, B. B. Crawford and R. G. Richardson, program committee. Community standards will be under Stanley Payne, magazines and membership under Mrs. E. Boyes and Mrs. E. Swendson, and social conveners will be Mrs. J. A. Will, Mrs. R. G. Richardson and Mrs. N. Collett.

New executive was named at the final meeting of the term.

During the first year since its inauguration the High School Parent-Teacher Association sponsored lectures by Dr. V. Goresky and Dr. Warren of UBC on the United Nations, conducted discussions on effective living and report cards, sponsored joint Christmas Carol Singing for general funds, and the Shamrock Tea, proceeds from which are used for the bursary awarded yearly to a student or students for assistance in the ensuing year. A committee assisted actively in passing of school bylaw, and largely due to P-TA efforts, a recreational director was appointed to this district. The Junior-Senior High School P-TA joined with the Hume and Central P-TAs in sending a delegate to the Provincial Convention.

J. DeGirolamo, Miner for 30 Years, Dies

A long time resident of Nelson, Joseph DeGirolamo died Monday morning in Kootenay Lake General Hospital after a short illness.

Mr. DeGirolamo was born in Altavilla, Italy, in 1892. At an early age he moved with his parents to Brazil, coming to Nelson in 1910 where he resided until his death. He had been a well known miner throughout the Kootenay for the past 30 years.

Mr. DeGirolamo was the son of Filomena DeGirolamo and the late Carmen DeGirolamo of Nelson. He is survived by his wife, the former Mary Maglio, two children, a daughter Mrs. H. May of Nelson and a son Raymond of the RCAF stationed in Macdonald, Manitoba; and one sister, Mrs. Marguerite DeLucrezio of Nelson.

Gladys Dempsey, South Slocan Resident, Passes

Mrs. Gladys Dempsey, wife of Robert Andrew Dempsey of South Slocan, died in Kootenay Lake General Hospital Monday.

Mrs. Dempsey was born in Coleman, Alberta, in November 1910. Before coming to South Slocan she was a school teacher in Alberta.

Besides her husband she is survived by two daughters, Beverley Anne and Barbara Luella; one son, Robert Allan; and three sisters, Mrs. Frank Becker of Vernon and Mrs. Alex Watson and Mrs. Henry Dixon, both of Calgary, and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. B. Higginbotham of Calgary.

GOD'S WAYS LEAD TO LIFE SAYS VISITING SPEAKER

The Eagle hall was filled almost to capacity Sunday when a Bible discourse was given by a travelling representative of the Watchtower Society, R. G. McLuhan. Speaking on the subject, "Practical Love in a Selfish World," Mr. McLuhan defined love as the "unselfish devotion to a righteous cause."

"Love is an expression used freely in this world," he said. However, it was the love spoken of in the Bible, the practical love, that was the topic of his discussion. The Bible said that "God is love", but Satan was responsible for this selfish system. Because this was a fact, true Christians have a job—to tell of His loving way. "Love is going to be established," Mr. McLuhan said, "Selfishness is a failure and is sure to end."

Because selfish men have blasphemed the name of the Almighty God, Christians have a definite responsibility. "We must rise in defence of our God and his Word," he said. "His ways are right. His ways lead to life."

Admitting the failure of this selfish system, the speaker asked his audience, "Can any man devise a remedy that will bring peace?" and then he pointed to a solid hope that the Bible gave in God's Kingdom. "Only the Son of Man, the Prince of Peace, can establish that righteous new world. The Government shall be upon His shoulder." (Isaiah 9:6) "This will be more than a political change," he pointed out, "Isaiah 65:17, 18 tells that this change will come from the hands of the loving God."

The speaker concluded with a word of encouragement to all present to continue studying the Bible, and to put into practice the words of Jesus, "You must love the Lord your God with all your heart, and with all your soul, and with all your mind, and you shall love your neighbor as yourself.

Rosenbergs Get Third Refusal

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States Supreme Court refused Monday for the third time to intervene in the case of Julius and Ethel Rosenberg, condemned atom spies, but a new effort to save them from the electric chair was launched at once.

The couple's lawyer, Emanuel H. Bloch, announced in New York that counsel will appear before the Supreme Court today and ask for a stay of execution until the court has received and passed on a petition for a rehearing. Many such petitions are made to the high court, but few are granted.

Bloch is also planning to make another appeal to President Eisenhower for clemency. Eisenhower refused to spare the lives of the Rosenbergs last Feb. 11, saying their crime involved "the deliberate betrayal of the entire nation and could very well result in the death of many thousands of citizens."

Rosenberg and his wife were convicted of conspiring to slip atomic secrets to Russia, and on April 5, 1951, were sentenced to death by Judge Irving R. Kaufman of New York. Judge Kaufman said their acts, in his opinion, led to the war in Korea.

When all avenues of appeal are exhausted, the Rosenbergs still might escape death by telling all they know about Red spying in the United States. The justice department disclosed Saturday that it had told them that if they know any spy secrets and want to give the information to the government, such action would take into account in weighing any future clemency pleas.

Arthritis Group Calls For Volunteer Drivers

WANTED: TRANSPORTATION for patients of the Canadian Arthritis and Rheumatism Society, is the call issued by Nelson organizers. Here one of the branch's volunteer "taxi" operators, Vincent Fink, assists two patients to treatment centre.—Vogue photo

An appeal for volunteers to transport patients has been issued by Nelson branch of the Canadian Arthritish and Rheumatism Society.

Such volunteers do much to take the load off the local physiotherapist, Miss Pauline Jenkins, officials point out.

The physiotherapist drives a "bluebird car" with the Society's CARS sign, but few people realize the amount of strenuous work accomplished by her. "Her training and mission are to bring comfort, hope and often much relief to the many sufferers who look forward to her visits."

Since arriving in the district in March, Miss Jenkins has made 262 visits, including clinic and mobile visits, outpatients visited by car, and a total of 672 treatments have been given. During April alone 165 visits were made and 400 treatments given.

"In this work volunteers are badly needed to take patients to and from the clinic," officials say. One of the most willing workers in this field is Vincent Fink, and others include Mrs. Alia Bunyon, and S. C. Briard. Without their services, the physiotherapist would be unable to attend many sufferers.

Volunteers can also be of great help in the district. Miss Jenkins attends patients as far away as Edgewood, Nakusp and Kaslo.

"We cannot stress too often how greatly this work is appreciated by the people in the immediate and surrounding district," the branch heads have stated.

Also attending were Lewiston high school student-musicians visiting Nelson at the time. A number purchased the club's hasty notes to take home as souvenirs.

Britons Look Well for Austerity, Roy Pollard Tells Rotary Club

Britain's working man earns a subsistence wage, but he looks well for it.

This observation was passed along to Nelson Rotary Club it its Monday luncheon by Rotarian Roy Pollard, recently returned from a two-month holiday trip to the United Kingdom. He found Britons were looking more prosperous than when he visited them three years ago, although the amenities of life were still missing.

Much of their well-being could be attributed to extensive medical services which have aided immeasurably in the overall plan for restoring the country's economy.

The earning capacity of Britons is two-thirds that of Canadians but costs are in proportion, or perhaps a bit higher in such commodities as gasoline.

"We should continue to send help, but in just what form, I do not know," Mr. Pollard said, telling of the surprise he and his wife had received when they found foodstuffs they had bought in Canada and taken to Britain, were cheaper there. He had come to the conclusion that it was money that was shortest on the list of Briton's needs, and that most people over there were unable to save money or to indulge in any luxuries.

Mr. Pollard and his wife also found Britain in the thick of preparations for the Coronation.

Of special interest to Rotarians were Mr. Pollard's visits to Rotary Clubs in various parts of England and in Eastern Canada. At a number, Mr. Pollard spoke on Canada, its opportunities and on Nelson and its Rotary Club.

The visit exemplified the part Rotary has in spreading friendly relationships between countries, he felt. Generally he found Canadians were highly regarded in the United Kingdom and were made welcome.

The speaker was introduced by W. S. Ramsay, and thanked for his address by R. B. Allan. Luncheon guests were Robert Meldrum of Vancouver and W. Reinemann of New York.

NEW MANAGER of Nelson branch of the Imperial Bank of Canada is W. J. Ebdon, above, who succeeds G. W. Sterling who has gone to Vancouver. Mr. Ebdon, manager of the Fort Street branch of the bank in Victoria before coming here, is a veteran of the Second World War. He began his service for the bank in Edmonton in 1921.
