Cost-of-Living Index Unchanged

Rents Remain at January Level; Food Prices Edge Up Tenth of a Point

OTTAWA (CP)—The consumer price index remained unchanged at 115.7 during January.

Food prices edged ahead slightly, but the shelter column, which includes rents, remained unchanged for the first time in many months.

The consumer price index is based on 1949 prices equalling 100. Before January, the yardstick had declined three months in a row, each successive drop smaller than the other.

PORK, COFFEE UP

Higher prices for coffee and pork products outweighed a few other scattered decreases to push the food column up one-tenth of a point to 115.7, first rise in five months.

Shelter remained at the peak of 125.4 established in December.

Another tenth-of-a-point rise showed in the column "other commodities and services" which increased to 116.5. Higher prices for hospital room rates, soap and taxi fares offset lower prices for automobile tires.

The household operations column also remained fixed at the December peak of 117.5. Price declines for appliances, furniture and textiles were balanced by other scattered advances.

The clothing column dropped by one-tenth of a point to 110 as prices eased for men's and women's wear.

Report from Victoria

BY JAMES K. NESBITT

VICTORIA—Everyone in the House waited with interest to hear CCF Mr. Harding of Kaslo-Slocan. He's one of the best debaters in the House, perhaps the very best. He causes lots of fun, but he always gets his points across. He's never bitter; he sandwiches his barbs into a big smile, a merry chuckle. Mr. Harding Thursday started off by saying he really works in the interest of the premier and the government. That's Mr. Harding's great ambition in life, Mr. Speaker, to make the premier a good premier and his government a good government.

He said the premier is his very good friend, and he knows the premier accepts his criticism in the spirit in which it is offered — kindness and generosity. The premier smiled, but seemed a bit doubtful. However, he likes Mr. Harding as Mr. Harding likes him, but, naturally enough, has no intention of paying any attention to Mr. Harding.

"I'm very interested in seeing that the Premier gets on a good, steady course and stays there," said Mr. Harding, with a gallant courtesy.

"When are you coming over here?" asked the premier, with equal gallant courtesy.

"I know the premier wants me to," said Mr. Harding, "but I'm half afraid I'd get rotated."

Everybody laughed at this. It was in reference to the premier calling the firing of Mr. Shantz and replacing him with Mr. Matthew, a rotation in deputy speakers.

Mr. Harding was in a most gallant mood. When he looked cross at Mrs. Arsens he became almost a Sir Walter Raleigh. A lot of the oppositionists, you see, have snickered at the government because it sometimes changes its mind. These members say it's a second-look government. Mrs. Arsens had said the day before she's glad to support a second-look government. That shows the government is broad-minded, said Mrs. Arsens.

Mr. Harding made note of this, said that of all the members in the House, Mrs. Arsens is the only one, absolutely the only one, Mr. Speaker, he likes to take a second look at. Mrs. Arsens blushed becomingly, and it must be said she looked pretty enough to have a third or fourth look at. However, said Mr. Harding, downing his moon-struck ideas, while he likes a second look at Mrs. Arsens, when it comes to taking her advice, oh, Mr. Speaker, that's another matter.

Mr. Harding said the premier can never make up his mind, is always flying kites to test public opinion. "Are you a mind reader" asked the premier. "Well, Mr. Premier," said Mr. Harding, "I've been here long enough to read your mind part of the time," said Mr. Harding. "No wonder you have such nice, clean thoughts," said the premier. "I always have nice clean thoughts of you, Mr. Premier," said Mr. Harding.

Mr. Harding then got along to tell Social Crediters they're like a bunch of school children who haven't done much homework recently and he would bring them up to date, would review the whole situation. So Mr. Harding did, and in a few moments, Mr. Gaglardi got up and said: "Please teacher may I leave the room." Mr. Harding said "Yes, of course," but a minute later teacher Harding wanted to talk about public works. "I shouldn't have given him permission," said teacher Harding. Mr. Gaglardi was out of the room quite a time, so Mr. Harding went home to Kaslo-Slocan and discussed the needs of the people up there.

Kaslo-Slocan Road Needs Aired in House

VICTORIA (Special to the News)—Randolph Harding, (CCF — Kaslo-Slocan) spoke strongly in the legislature Thursday against toll bridges and roads.

He pleaded for black-topping in Kaslo-Slocan. "We have no black-topping in our whole district, with one or two exceptions near the towns and villages," Mr. Harding said. "We feel it's high time we received some of the black-topping appropriations."

He specially mentioned the road from South Slocan to Slocan City and said it should be standardized and black topped this year.

The Balfour-Kaslo road, too, he said, is in dire need of standardization and black topping.

Roads badly needed or in need of fixing he listed as Nakusp Hot Springs, Edgewood to Robson, Lardeau, and from Nakusp to Arrowhead. The Monashee, he said, should be kept open and improved.

When he finished asking for roads, Mr. Harding pleaded for more electrification in Kaslo-Slocan. He mentioned the areas of New Denver and Kaslo.

LAST ON LIST

Growing a little annoyed with the government, Mr. Harding thundered: "We're the last to get good roads, we're the last to get electrification, we're the last to get good schools."

Mr. Harding had many complaints. Kaslo-Slocan, he said, has no dentist, and that he said, is a disgrace. The people have to go to Nelson to see a dentist and that takes time and money.

But came a chance to have a dentist, Dr. Banks of Calgary, in Nakusp. But the Dental College refuses to give him a license to practice.

"It's a foolish licensing system that prevents men of this calibre from coming to B.C.," Mr. Harding said.

Dr. Banks, Mr. Harding said, wants to live in Nakusp because he wants to get away from a heavy practice in Calgary.

He said Dr. Banks has the best recommendations and excellent qualifications, but he would have to write an examination and that would put him to months and months of research.

"I think that some government action should be taken regarding this dentist," said Mr. Harding.

Drug Addiction Said Spreading

VANCOUVER (CP) — A veteran Vancouver narcotics detective said Thursday drug addiction, formerly confined to Vancouver on Canada's west coast, is spreading west to Victoria and Nanaimo on Vancouver island and north to Prince George and Prince Rupert.

Detective Rex Cray said continuing police pressure on addicts here forced them to move first from the downtown area to the suburbs and eventually to neighboring towns.

He estimated the daily drug turnover in Vancouver at "between $10,000 and $15,000."

He made the statement in an interview as investigators embarked on a three-year project aimed at curbing drug addiction in Canada.

The investigating team is headed by Dr. George H. Stevenson, formerly professor of psychiatry at the University of Western Ontario.

As Dr. Stevenson began his work at Oakalla prison farm, he said "for the first two years, we will interview groups using drugs and persons exposed to drugs in prisons or elsewhere but not actually using drugs." He calls the project "factors contributing to drug addiction in British Columbia."

Polio Alters Queen's Plans

MELBOURNE, Australia (CP) — State Transport Minister Patrick Coleman announced Thursday that polio outbreaks have forced a change in the itinerary of a two-day tour of Victoria state by Queen Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh.

This announcement, a few hours before the scheduled beginning of the visit, was followed by a statement from the royal train that the Queen had approved modification of her Western Australian tour later this month, for the same reason.

Coleman said the royal couple would not be exposed to residents of two country towns, Castlemaine and Maryborough, where polio has been reported.

Instead, the minister announced, the blue and gold royal train will only slow down as it passes through both these farming centres in the northwest of the state.

Use Dogs To Trace Marijuana Traders

KINGSTON, Jamaica (AP) — Police fighting to stamp out the marijuana trade on this island are going to get some help from specially-trained police dogs. Police Commissioner Reginald Michelin said the dogs are being taught in England to detect the presence of marijuana by its smell. Three Jamaican policemen have gone to England to learn how to handle the canine detectives.

Sight Restored To Both Her Eyes

By FRANK CAREY

WASHINGTON (AP)—Two corneas have been successfully transplanted, in a rare operation, to restore virtually normal sight to a woman whose vision was a blur from childhood.

Mrs. Samuel B. Jones, 40, of Augusta, Ga., one of the few persons ever to have such an operation on both eyes, said Thursday that her vision had been so bad "that I could pass my own mother on the street and wouldn't recognize her."

But now, she said, she can discern people's features clearly and "see trees and leaves for what they are rather than just a blur of green."

She owes it all, she said, to the skill of Walter Reed Army Hospital surgeons, and to the eye corneas "donated" by an air force colonel and an army master sergeant — each of whom had one otherwise healthy eye removed because of a tumor behind it.

She now has 20-20 or normal vision in the right eye with the aid of glasses and 20-40, which is close to normal, without glasses. The left eye, second to be operated on, is expected to yield fully-normal vision, at least with the aid of glasses.

B.C. HOTEL EXECUTIVES TO MEET HERE

VANCOUVER (CP)—J. E. Bengert, president of the B.C. Hotels Association, is en route to the Interior to attend meetings at Trail and Nelson to discuss the province's new Liquor Act.

Decisions regarding new liquor outlets will be made by the association at these meetings, Mr. Bengert said.

Mr. Bengert will be accompanied by three directors, J. Costock, A. Reacco and Kenneth Campbell, Jr., son of Kenneth Campbell, former hotel operator of South Slocan. They will be in Trail Friday night and Nelson Sunday. District hotelmen have been invited to both meetings.

$325,000 SCHOOL BUILDING BYLAW

VERNON (CP) — A money by-law to authorize a $325,000 school building program is expected to be submitted to ratepayers early this summer. Cost to the city would be about $90,000, with the federal and provincial governments sharing the remainder. The prposed program includes two new elementary schools and additions to three others.

When he brought the 75-pound lion cub home, he immediately started out to show the cat who was the boss. Kuchta found out—he's nursing scratches and cuts and said, "Monte goes back, even if I get only $100 for him."—AP Wirephoto.

Three Groups Talk Differences . . .

Sons Admit Violence Unchristian, Learn School Stand Unchanging

For the first time representatives of Sons of Freedom, Orthodox and Independent Doukhobors have been brought together for a face to face discussion, it was learned Friday.

The outcome of the Nelson meetings:

1. An acknowledgement from the Sons of Freedom that all violence was contrary to Christianity and basic Doukhobor tenets.

2. A definite knowledge that all Sons of Freedom children must go to school; that it would be better if they went willingly, but from the government's view there were no reservations in this stand.

At the meeting of 30 persons, with Rev. Allan Dixon as chairman, and attended by Col. F. J. Mead, representative of the federal department of justice, School Inspector J. J. McKenzie and Doukhobor co-ordinating committee field representative Emmett Gulley, the sect members were advised that they could have their own schools, that the government would be satisfied with a modified curriculum taught by qualified teachers, Russian or otherwise. But the children must attend school.

Orthodox Doukhobor representatives declared their early leaders had set the precedent for attendance at school. Peter Lordly, it was pointed out to the gathering, had understood before leaving Russia that education was compulsory in Canada and had declared it good. Peter II had actually established numerous schools and instituted a rule that to belong to the majority orthodox group members must send their children to school.

The Reformed Sons of Freedom leader, S. S. Sorokin, had privately and publicly supported the need for education and attendance of children at schools, the Sons acknowledged. Nevertheless they maintained the position that others were wrong and their stand was the true Doukhobor position.

Education and school attendance, it was pointed out to them, was common among all Christian people including other pacifist groups. All 16,000 Orthodox and Independent Doukhobors acknowledged the need; only their 2000 stood opposed.

Inspector McKenzie reportedly told the group children of parents now in prison were enjoying the classes at New Denver and in fact were asking eagerly for regular courses as addition to the modified curriculum existing there.

The Sons complained that their chances for relocation were hurt by a reputation as lawbreakers; they asked that the government advise other countries where they might relocate that they were not lawbreakers, but merely were activated by religious principles. They were advised, according to reports of the meeting, that their record was in their own hands, and if they wished it to appear clear they must act to make it so.

Consultative Group's Suggestions Ignored Says Kaslo-Slocan MLA

VICTORIA (CP)—A member of the legislature from the interior predicted Thursday that "in all probability" 1954 will be the worst year on record for Sons of Freedom problems.

Randolph Harding (CCF—Kaslo-Slocan) said in the throne speech debate in the legislature that the Freedomite situation could be "more serious than ever before in B.C.'s history." He said this opinion was shared by many in the area.

He said the government was "procrastinating and timid" in its Doukhobor policy. It had not reached the basic problem and had only taken "bits and pieces" from a "dandy program."

He said the government has been "pressurized" into dropping a recommendation that would have made land available for Doukhobors at Adams Lake, Kamloops.

He asked Works Minister Gaglardi, who is member for Kamloops, if he would support relocation at Adams Lake if it was agreed that it was a solution to the problem.

"Absolutely not," the minister replied and in turn asked if the member thought relocating the Doukhobors en masse to Adams Lake would solve the problem.

"Not entirely," Mr. Harding replied, but added that there were thousands of Doukhobors in the southern interior of B.C. and that if 1500 radicals were moved, the remainder would settle down.

Mr. Harding said the government should stop recruits from joining the Sons of Freedom from the ranks of Orthodox Doukhobors. The government was not following the recommendations of the Doukhobor Consultative Committee.

Mrs. Lydia Arsens (SC—Victoria) suggested immediate action be taken to reduce the amount of carbon monoxide in domestic gas.

Mrs. Arsens concluded her speech in the throne debate in the legislature which she started Wednesday with a suggestion for a point system to guard citizens from newspaper mistakes.

She said she understood the proposed government gas act dealt only with installations.

Some years ago the monoxide content of domestic gas was between six and eight per cent but now it was 18.6 per cent in Victoria and 25.8 per cent in Vancouver.

A person could be saved five hours after losing consciousness after inhaling domestic gas containing six to eight per cent but could die in two minutes after inhaling gas containing 25.8 per cent.

Mrs. Arsens asked the legislature to send a resolution to the federal government asking for some action on comic books. She said she had received a flood of complaints about crime and horror comics.

She said there seemed to be a group "of highly organized gangsters who are determined to demoralize our children and to affect them mentally . . . they call themselves news-agents."

Whites Resent Attempts to Make Peace With Mau Maus

NAIROBI, Kenya (Reuters) —Angry muttering by white settlers sharpened into an attack in legislative council Thursday over the government's plan to negotiate with Mau Mau leaders through "General China", a captured terrorist chief.

The leader of elected white members of the legislature council, Michael Blundell, complained during a debate that he had not been consulted about the plan in his capacity as a member of the governor's executive council.

He said he understood a small sub-committee of the executive council had dealt with the decision and said this was "completely improper."

RECORD OF MURDER

He said that the record of "General China" was one of murder, butchery and arson, and the ordinary citizen would conclude the government had become a party to brutality, filthy oaths and murder by dealing with him.

One member, Humphrey Slade, declared: "Even if this unholy plan succeeds and some terrorists do surrender, the price we shall have paid will have been too high."

Bank Laws Revised

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada's new banking law defines, for the first time, the powers of the 11 chartered banks to make loans to the country's booming oil industry.

A bill revising the Bank Act, a redrafting which takes place every 10 years, was introduced Thursday in the Commons.

It permits banks to lend money on the security of oil and gas in the ground or in storage, on petroleum mineral rights and production and storage equipment.

The measure also doubles the minimum amount of capital which new banks must have before going into business. Mr. Abbott said the provision has not been changed since 1890.

The minimum requirement of subscribed capital stock would be increased to $1,000,000 from $500,000 and the requirement of paid-up capital to $500,000 from $250,000.

There are two other major changes, which have been forecast in legislation already before Parliament.

One parallels an amendment to the National Housing Act, permitting banks to lend money on home mortgages under a government-administered insurance plan.

The second parallels an amendment in the Bank of Canada Act to give the central bank more control over cash reserves of the chartered banks.

CLOSES BOOK SHOP . . .

Says Dollar Idolized Rather Than Culture

BALTIMORE (AP) — Siegfried Weisberger, convinced that "The age of the boob is upon us," is closing his Peabody bookshop still stocked with 100,000 volumes nobody wants to read.

"I predict very dark days for America," said the old friend of H. L. Mencken.

"Everyone in the cities used to look up to the doctor, the lawyer, the professor. They were idols," he continued.

"Today—they all look up to the business man."

He gestures with ferocious eloquence and brushes a bit of cigar ash from his tweed vest.

This is the kind of talk one used to hear in this basement beer stube from Mencken, the writer . . . the musician . . . the scholar . . . the critics of the 20s.

But now Siegfried, his shaggy mustache bristling and his bright blue eyes seeming to spark is heading for the country, a farm in New Windsor, Md.

ONLY DOLLARS

"The people don't want books and ideals and culture. They only want dollars."

Siegfried believes in the Magna Carta, the Bill of Rights, H. L. Mencken, German music and philosophy.

He despises all forms of censorship and official meddling. He was once fined for serving beer to a 20-year-old Yale man, horrendous enough in Siegfried's eyes, but the final profanation was this—the detectives checking his place didn't even remove their hats.

As you enter this musty shop with a 32-year history you are confronted with a scene of scholarly chaos.

If there are counters, they are invisible beneath an avalanche of volumes ranging from collections of Bach madrigals to cook books.

There are lithographs of an early 1900 flavor on the walls in no particular arrangement at all and a cartoon or two bearing Mencken's signature.

In the rear of the shop is its heart—the beer stube. Tables are tossed about in proximity to the sturdy old bar and the room is dominated by a stone fireplace.

There is a piano. The atmosphere is conducive to good conversation, romance or song—take your choice.

Argentina Rival For Grain Markets

OTTAWA (CP)—Argentina looms as a major threat to Canada in the fight for world grain markets in 1954.

W. F. Hillhouse, Canada's agricultural secretary at Buenos Aires, says in a report to the trade department that Argentina "may be expected to provide strong competition in the international grain markets this year."

Mr. Hillhouse's report, published in the department's magazine, Foreign Trade, says that Argentina's wheat crop, which failed in 1952, recovered in 1953 and may even increase this year.

RECORD SEASON

WINNIPEG (CP) — More grain than ever before poured into western Canadian elevators during the 1952-53 marketing season.

Revised statistics released Thursday put the total of primary western deliveries at 844,600,000 bushels to establish the season as the greatest in Canadian grain history.

RUSSIA SAYS WEST PLOTTING WAR

MOSCOW (CP) — Russia today accused the United States and Britain of plotting a new war in Europe and attempting to secure world domination by means of the North Atlantic pact and the European Army Treaty.

Soviet Foreign Minister Vyacheslav Molotov made the charges in a long statement reviewing Russia's stand at the recent Big Four conference in Berlin. It was printed today in the official newspaper, Pravda.

Oil Workers In Agreement

VANCOUVER (CP) — Agreement on a new wage contract was reached here Thursday by Standard Oil Ltd. and an Oil Workers International Union (CIO-CCL) strike committee.

If approved by the employees, the settlement would provide a two-year contract with a 4 per cent wage increase this year, retroactive to August, 1953, and another 2 per cent next September.

The union committee announced it would recommend acceptance to the membership at a meeting Monday night.

It was reported that the agreement will be a pattern for settlement of disputes in three other lower mainland refineries where strikes have been threatened. Negotiations are continuing between the union and Shell, B.A. and Imperial Oil.

A walkout scheduled for 8 a.m. Wednesday was averted late Tuesday night.

Royal Bank Is Top Money-Maker

OTTAWA (CP)—The Royal Bank of Canada was the top money-maker among Canada's chartered banks in 1953.

Its net profit was $8,635,000. The Bank of Montreal came second with $7,043,000. Barclays Bank (Canada) trailed at the end of the list of 10 banks with $18,000.

Pope's Recovery Reported Slow

VATICAN CITY (AP)—The Pope passed his eighth consecutive "fairly good" night and his slow progress toward recovery continues, Vatican sources said Thursday.

The informants said the amount of solid food given the 78-year-old head of the Roman Catholic Church is slowly being increased. This consists of small portions of fruit and rice. However, most of the Pope's diet still is semi-liquid.

Thirty-eight days have passed since the first announcement Jan. 25 of the pontiff's illness, tentatively diagnosed as gastritis.

Board To Study Union Head Layoff

TRAIL (CP) — An arbitration board will open hearings Monday on the layoff by the city of the president of the Trail and District Civic Workers' Union, J. J. Scanlon. The union contends that Scanlon was laid off shortly after the union filed a pay rate grievance on his behalf.

DOLLAR UNCHANGED

NEW YORK (CP) — Canadian dollar was unchanged at a premium of 3 9-16 per cent in terms of U.S. funds. Pound sterling was unchanged at $2.81 7-16.

MONTREAL (CP)—U. S. dollar closed at a discount of 3 13-32 per cent in terms of Canadian funds, up 1-32. Pound sterling at $2.71⅞, was up 3-16.

PGE Right-of-Way To Be Cleared

VANCOUVER (CP) — Tenders for clearing the Pacific Great Eastern Railway right-of-way will be called for here tomorrow, PGE officials announced Thursday.

To be opened March 12, they will cover clearing and "grubbing out" the 25-mile stretch between Squamish, B.C., at the head of Howe Sound and Horseshoe Bay.

And in This Corner . . .

VANCOUVER (CP)—William H. Littlemore, 22-year-old swamper, today faced four police charges for packing a lethal lunch. Police who searched his home found two lunch buckets containing six revolvers.

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—The Optimist Club lived up to its name Wednesday night when 12 persons braved a blinding snow storm to attend the annual ladies' night dinner at a downtown hotel.

The speaker's topic: "Capitalism—can it weather the storm?"

NEWARK, N.J. (AP)—Bill Bailey carried his pet skunk into the internal revenue office here Wednesday, seeking to claim the animal as a dependent.

The bureau's cashier, Mrs. Carolyn Adubato, saw the skunk and got ready to head for anywhere else—until Bailey assured her his pet had been deodorized.

Bailey's trip was to no avail, however. He didn't get a whiff of sympathy from the bureau, which informed him that hobby expenses are non-deductible.

ALBUQUERQUE (AP)—The internal revenue office has sent back the calendar a taxpayer sent in instead of an income tax report. On the 1953 calendar, day by day, were notations like these: "Hauled wood—$5, feed for horse—$5, fishing today—no work." Officials urged the man of good intent to file an ordinary return.

CHICAGO (AP)—A transformed juke box was put into operation at opening of lenten services at the Austin Westminster Presbyterian Church Wednesday night.

Hidden in a basement corner, it sent forth its spiritual message through a special loudspeaker in the chapel upstairs. From the control board in the chapel, members may dial their choice of 24 favorites, including a meditative sermonette cut on record by the pastor, Dr. Clarence E. Showalter.

Vancouver General Staff Man To Be Kootenay Lake Hospital Manager

A member of the administrative staff of Vancouver General Hospital will become administrator of Kootenay Lake General Hospital.

Chairman of the board J. W. Graham announced Thursday on behalf of the directors the appointment of T. Gordon Reed as successor to Lyall Cruickshank, secretary-manager for the past six years. Mr. Cruickshank tendered his resignation Nov. 19, 1953, agreeing to continue in the office until a new appointment could be made.

The appointment is subject to confirmation by the new board of directors for 1954-55 after a period of six months.

Mr. Reed spent his early years in Kaslo and Rossland, attending elementary schools in the two centres between 1932 and 1939. After graduating from John Shaw High School at Nanaimo in 1942 he obtained his Bachelor of Arts degree with first class honors in economics and political science in 1947. His master's degree was received in 1949 at Cornell University.

He was a research director with O'Brien Advertising Limited, Vancouver, before undertaking an administration course at Vancouver General Hospital and becoming in 1952 assistant to the construction co-ordinator. His duties have included assisting in the planning of renovations, alterations and new construction in the hospital's building program and rotation service as administrative officer.

Mr. Reed, 29, is married and a member of the United Church.

The Day in the House

By JAMES K. NESBITT

VICTORIA — Once more the throne speech debate bogged down. What to do about all the long speeches drives MLA's most out of their wits. But the long speechifying goes on.

Wednesday S. C. Mrs. Arsens of Victoria didn't have time to finish, so she had to continue Thursday, which meant that Liberal Mr. Gibbs of Oak Bay couldn't speak Thursday, but had to put it off until Friday.

All this is most frustrating, especially to the Premier, who, as Minister of Finance is restless to get the first Bennett budget (prepared by Gunderson) into the house.

FALSE ECONOMY

Mrs. Arsens noted that the present economy is a false one, that it depends, she said, on war and the threat of war for prosperity. This made a great hit with CCFers, for they talk that way too. Good gracious, was this collusion between SCers and CCFers? The CCFers were overjoyed to hear Mrs. Arsens talk thus. "Come on over, come on over" they said, with politically wolfish glints in their eyes. Mrs. Arsens refused to be whistled at. She tossed her pretty head and looked the other way. Don't worry, she said, all will be well—some day there'll be a Social Credit government in Ottawa. As long as there isn't the poor SC government in B. C., is badly choked, said Mrs. Arsens.

SC Mr. Price of Vancouver Burrard made a neat speech, paying much attention to Vancouver which any Vancouver member worth his salt should do. He said Vancouver is doing fine and dandy with its roads and streets but that the highways to and from the city are terrible, a monstrous disgrace, worst in all North America.

He wished to goodness the province would do something about them.

It's all very well, said Mr. Price for up-country MLAs to cry for more roads. They do it so well, they're so sorrowful about their awful roads that Mr. Price admitted he's often moved to tears. But, much as he feels sorry for them, leave us be practical, Mr. Speaker. Leave us give the best roads where the bulk of the cars are, where live the bulk of the people who pay for the roads all over the province. Mr. Price, being a staunch Vancouverite, intimated very strongly that it's far, far more important to have good roads close to Vancouver than way back of beyond.

It was Mr. Price who, at last spring's session, was the bad boy of Social Credit, so bad, so individualistically defiant that he stood up with the combined opposition to beat his own government. Well, it must be said to the credit of Social Credit that he wasn't purged. Most other political parties would have seen that such a rebel didn't get the nomination for the next election once a rebel—one never knows.

WONDERFUL

However, on Thursday, Mr. Price was a very good boy indeed. He looked at the speech from the throne, prepared by the government and he found it wonderful, simply wonderful. Why, Mr. Speaker, it's he best speech Mr. Price ever heard of, what with benefits for many and taxes down for all. A wonderful Social Credit throne speech, Mr. Speaker.

Nine Members Installed In Junior Chamber

Nine new members were installed by Nelson Junior Chamber Thursday evening with L. S. (Flip) Filipelli, regional director from Trail, doing the honors.

Mr. Filipelli before installing the members told them of the Jaycee organization, its aims and accomplishments.

One of the main ideas of the movement is self development of members. With it goes the "development of your city, district and country. If you are going to get ahead in life it is what you do in your spare time that counts.

"While in the club you help form ideas and then carry them out. From this you are developing not only yourself, but your surroundings.

"One learns to talk before a crowd, which in turn aids you in talking to your boss without shaking at the knees.

"Last but not least there is fellowship in the club which means a great deal to anyone."

Those installed were William Apostoluik, William McIvor, Arthur Nelson, Earl Bradshaw, William Stoddard, James Brooks, Ray Wallace, William Hunter and Rex McConnell.

President Henry LeMoigne congratulated the members.

LEGION CRIBBAGE TOURNEY OFF TO FINE START

The race for high cribbage honors in the Legion tournament is under way and already several section winners have been declared.

The series, which has 24 entrants, is divided into eight sections with three players to a section. In the first round a player must play two opponents with the best of three games being played with each man.

After the section winners are decided then a quarter final round will be played off with a two-out-of-three game series deciding the winner. In the semi-finals a best-out-of-five series will be played and then in the final the man who wins four out of seven will be the champion.

Lee Hyssop, with two straight wins over Tom Dawson and Jack Argyle, captured section one, while other section winners were Oscar Anderson, who downed both Frank Hufty and Jack Kennedy in section 6. Jack Brinley took section 7 with wins over Harold Mayo and Gordon Strong and Jimmy Madden took section 8 with wins over Howard Kelly and Vic Grundy.

In the other sections the winners are not yet decided but those holding a slight lead are Bob Simpson with a win over Bert Topham, Frank Kennedy with a victory over LeRoy Strong, Carl Locatelli with a win over Joe Mitchell and Bob Kenzie and O. Collis each with a win in section 4.

How Newcomers Can Be Aided Told Trail Meet

TRAIL — The legal meaning and sociological meanings of a Canadian citizen were explained by Dr. W. G. Black, Dominion citizenship officer in B.C., addressing a meeting of the Trail Citizenship Council at City Hall Thursday evening. Immigrants coming to this country can be made to feel citizens right away, Dr. Black, a former Trailite, said. It was important that the newcomers participate as quickly as possible in Canadian activities.

Congratulating the members on the formation of a citizens council, he said there were several ways in which it could help, one by acting as in information service. The new citizen needed more than anything else information on how to become a citizen and direction to where information could be obtained.

He told of the case of a mother of a family here for three years before she knew she could apply for family allowance. Newcomers want to feel that they are wanted and will be accepted.

Some oldtimers would not accept newcomers and some were "downright churlish" to them, but for every one of these there were a thousand of the other kind with genuine friendliness.

The speaker gave an instance of four fundamental concepts of good citizenship in the broken English of a Chinese immigrant answering a question before taking papers." What will you give to this country? What will you give to this country? "Work hard, work good, help the country, help the other fellow," was the reply.

Dr. Black, who is leaving for Vancouver Friday, suggested an annual citizenship ceremony and a folk festival as projects for the Trail group along with giving information service.

Jaycees to Hold Cleanup Week

The Nelson Junior Chamber of Commerce voted to hold a clean-up week some time in the near future with everyone getting into the act.

James Brooks, chairman of the paint-up, clean-up committee, put numerous ideas before the meeting Thursday evening in the Roundup Room. The members also added new ideas which the committee will delve into.

The project should be a club performance and not one for just the committee, it was stressed.

Ideas to be given consideration include the painting of fire plugs, garbage tins and the lower section of lamp posts on city streets.

Ronald Cooper told the meeting members of the public should come into the picture and find a chore to do. "We can approach the public to do a job and we will do one. If we could find a small home owner with an unpainted house, maybe we could paint it as a project.

"Merchants should also be asked to help, sprucing up windows or having signs painted."

Flip Filipelli of Trail said that in the Silver City Jaycees had taken it upon themselves to paint such buildings as the Salvation Army or the Institute for the Blind.

Bill Stoddard reported the Means and Ways Committee were going ahead with plans to hold a showing of sport pictures but still sought the Ministerial Association's approval of a Sunday afternoon showing.

Guests at the meeting were Flip Filipelli, Gordon Sandborn and Charlie White, all of Trail.

Model Planned for $350,000 Building For Kootenay Handicapped Children

TRAIL—A meeting held here by the Handicapped Children Society heard a report from Peter Melwood, district organized, who hoped to form a branch in Nelson within the next month.

Mr. Melwood has visited 42 organizations in the district with encouraging results. It is planned to have a model made of a proposed $350,000 building. Discussion took place on two possible sites for the location of the home. One site mentioned was at Balfour and the other was about 30 to 35 acres, six miles from Nelson.

About 50 persons enjoyed the showing of travelogue films, after which refreshments were served.

Explains Larger 1953 Surplus

City of Nelson revenue exceeded expenditure in 1953 by $328,874.65, C. F. Hunter, city auditor, said Thursday in clarifying report of the 1953 financial statement.

The excess was distributed as follows:

Capital expenditure, $191,870.13.

Deposits in sinking fund account, $116,674.06.

Working capital, $20,830.46.

Total surplus for year, $328,874.65

Surplus in 1952 was $233,284.38, being $95,590.27 less than 1953.

Mr. Hunter explained that any transfer to sinking fund reserve did not affect the operating profit for the year.

The municipal department now prefers all capital expenditure, and sinking fund deposits, to be charged to revenue, he said.

Working capital he defined as that which is easily turned into money —accounts receivable and merchandise, and this figure, $20,330.46, is regarded as the city's surplus.

To Extend City Limits 3 Blocks

CRANBROOK—Letters patent officially extending the city limits three blocks south to Boundary Road between Third and Eleventh Avenues have been issued by the lieutenant-governor and received by the city. The addition will increase the city's assessment rolls for 1955 by about $24,000 in land value and $33,000 in improvements, but for 1953 property owners in the area will pay only the unorganized territory land and improvements tax.

Still to be discussed by the city council is a proposed $100,000 bylaw to service the built-up northern section of the addition with streets, sidewalks, electricity, water and sewer where they are not already available.

Moves To Penticton

GRAND FORKS—J. Cliff Hamilton, Dominion potato inspector, has been transferred to the Penticton office after being in Grand Forks for the past two years. His inspection area still includes Grand Forks. Mr. and Mrs. Hamilton and son Dale moved to Penticton around the first of February.

JOHN NIAGARA Talks about:
EXTRA MONEY—would it help you RIGHT NOW?
This is the time of the month when bills come in bunches. Our own experience is that the postman occasionally brings a few too many . . . but there just isn't enough in the pay envelope to cover every bill. If you are in the same fix, then . . . how would you like to get yours cleared away? Well, you can—with a Niagara loan. We've a choice of loan plans at Niagara and many people can borrow up to $1500. Payment plans, up to 24 months, give you time to get back on your feet. Your family is protected because your loan is covered by a life-insurance policy, that costs you not one penny extra. But that's not the only plus you get at Niagara for, if you compare, you'll find that on many amounts our rates are lower. A Niagara loan is a clean-cut way of looking after too many bills instead of just worrying about them. If a Niagara loan would help you put your budget back in shape . . . just drop in or call.

How To Earn $10,000

Now that Canada's senators have voted themselves an increase in yearly pay from $6000 to $10,000, it will occur to the average citizen that they should set about earning this emolument. The House of Commons originated the bill to hoist the parliamentary stipend. It was suggested that the senators might modestly reject all or part of the raise, seeing that they have no election expenses, enjoy life tenure and do less work than MPs. Evidently, as the Toronto Globe and Mail puts it, the senators thought little of this idea.

There are no doubt some senators in whose eyes the sum of $10,000 is peanuts. The taxpayers' point of view is different. Nearly all of them would regard $10,000 a year, guaranteed until death do us part, as handsome recompense for any public service. The public, not unreasonably, wants value for the money and is not sure that value is being received.

This doubt primarily is due to the fact that not many people have any idea what Canadian senators do with their time. Obscurity, says the Toronto paper, is one of their most notable characteristics. Leafing through the Parliamentary Guide's current list of the elderly politicians occupying Senate seats, the most striking thought that occurs to the mind is that, except for a handful, one had forgotten them or never heard of them. Not one Canadian in a thousand could name ten senators.

This is not wholly the fault of the senators themselves. One trouble, the paper explains, is that they are not given enough to do, partly because the idea of entrusting important legislative work to an appointed Second Chamber is out of fashion. Yet by the terms of the British North America Act, the Senate and the House have the same law-making powers, except that money bills must originate in the Commons. Despite this rough equality, the Senate is much less active. To take a recent example at random, the House sat for 108 days in the session of November, 1952, to May, 1953, while the Senate sat 59 days; and some Senate days are a matter of a few hours or minutes.

What can be done about this situation? How can the senators be enabled to earn that $10,000, as, no doubt, all of them are eager to do? Short of a complete overhaul of the Canadian political system, the obvious answer, in the view of the Eastern paper's analysts, is that the Senate should be given larger responsibilities by the Government of the day, in the initiation of bills and in committee work. There is, however, a condition precedent to any such move. This is that the Senate should gain in public esteem.

At the moment it consists almost exclusively of superannuated members of one party—the Liberal party—and is regarded by many citizens as merely an encumbrance. Even though this verdict may be unjust, it is certain that the public will not think well of an enlargement of the Senate's influence until it is made more representative—not merely of all parties but of the diverse interests of the public—and includes, like the House of Lords, people of distinction in science, the arts, literature, education, law, warfare and so on. It is in the quality of the appointments that Senate reform must begin.

Urges Unemployment Insurance Changes

To the Editor:

Sir—. . . Why should an unemployment insurance fund be allowed to swell to the unprecedented high of some $900,000,000 above all administration costs and benefits paid out? This question was put to the Ottawa House in one of the recent headlined measures of tackling the problem of unemployment. Earlier it was alluded by one of the outstanding ministers as it (unemployment) being not "drastic" but only just a bit "unpleasant". What callous thoughtlessness!

Is this fund designed to meet some future generation or is it now to be used to relieve those who have contributed and are in dire need of its immediate assistance? Surely this unemployment insurance is not an insurance upon diamond rings or other luxury valuables, but is, as its name implies, "unemployment insurance". Why all the red tape and peculiar specifications that would deter rather than allow the rightful and justifiable recipients their due share of this subsidy that was created to meet just such an emergency that exists?

Why, it would take a Philadelphia lawyer to analyze and translate the meaning of the terms contained in the act to apply to the material value of those it is supposed to assist—let alone expecting the ordinary and average worker to decifer and comply with its workable feasibility in alleviating his severed income that has brought hardship and sacrifice on himself and family.

Although I have spoken in generalities, there is much fact and evidence that could be cited if space permitted to substantiate what I have mentioned. If you don't believe this, just start asking the many people who are directly affected—and I mean start from the bottom up and not from the top down—those whose benefits have suddenly expired or the hosts of others who by various vague and perplexing reasons are not able to comply for qualifications.

Let's make this an act applicable and enforceable by immediately having it amended to meet the adequate standards that will stand the test of the present plight of those multiple unfortunate victims who find themselves without suitable jobs to meet their accumulated demands of the higher standard of living that we make so much about.

R. MASSE.

Wifely Frugality

(Owen Sound Sun-Times)

The watchdogs of the public exchequer are impressed by the talents of Madame St. Laurent as an economical housekeeper. In her role as the gracious chatelaine of the prime minister's household a tight grip on the family change purse has enabled her to turn back more than $7000 of the $25,000 which was appropriated to her for upkeep and expenses.

It is not surprising that Madame St. Laurent is a good housekeeper. Both frugality and the art of home-making are characteristics of the French-Canadian family life. And it is entirely understandable that Ottawa's custodians of the treasury would be impressed. After all, for more than 30 years the wifely touch was conspicuously absent from the prime minister's residence.

But we doubt that they have been sufficiently impressed to bring this example of household economy to bear influence upon some other departments where practical frugality in the handling of generous appropriations might warrant the same result.

Wolves and Mayors

Out of a place called Monteferrante, Italy, comes a story about the mayor, who was treed by two wolves and spent the night in that perch before he could be rescued.

Usually we're suspicious about tall tales from remote places, and largely for the reason their remoteness makes an accuracy check impossible. But as they're generally harmless stories, perhaps no worse than a variation of folk legends, they don't do any harm.

At any rate, this particular mayor is said to have been riding home on a motor scooter when he noticed two beasts running after him. That's a nice touch, about the motor scooter. True or false, it enlarges the comic angle, especially when one tries to imagine a Canadian mayor or reeve thus mounted.

In a Russian setting several generations back, that story would have had the hero riding a three-horse hitch as the wolves closed in.

But whatever the comparisons, weather and traction proved allies of Monteferrante wolves. The scooter bogged down in the snow. The wolves narrowed the gap. And His Worship took to the bush. Diplomatically, we suppose, that could be called a demarche, meaning a course of action involving a change in direction or policy.

Whether this also suggests the beasts were timber wolves, we don't know. The tale doesn't make that identification, but it may turn up in the next version.—Windsor Star.

Not as Good as They Used to Be?

. . . F. B. Pearce

Jeremiah must have been quite popular in his day and age. He was the supreme prophet of woe and it is remarkable how many people love predictions of calamity, especialy if they are to happen to others. It is surprising how many people, too, invest the past with magic and refer to the good old days as being vastly superior to the present. This is particularly so in Education. Let any gifted and brilliant writer set out to show that modern education has merits and he is doomed to failure. No one will publish his book nor if published would it be read. But let some one suggest that our schools are not what they were years ago and publishers fall over themselves to buy the manuscript, newspapers quote it, and the public says with great satisfaction, "There, I told you so."

Punch, England's great humorous paper is over 100 years old. It is a standing joke among the English that Punch is not as good as it used to be. That does not seem so ridiculous until you compare it with this story which involves the same principle.

"You know," said a trustee, "I used to ask when estimates were presented, 'Are they less than last year?' Then I realized that if they were always less than last year, soon there would be no estimates at all."

Punch for all its 100 years is still going strong and our schools—well, go and see for yourself. It is Education Week next week and the schools will be open for your inspection. You, as an intelligent person will want to go, if only to be able to understand Dr. Hilda Neatby's contention that our schools are not as good as they used to be.

REMEMBER?

To do a good job of this you should condition yourself for the experience by recalling all that you can of your own school days. Time may have softened the picture and blurred its outline but try and visualize the school without memory's romance. Then imagine yourself back in that classroom. Think of yourself as a scholar, how many times you got all the sums right and how many times all your spellings were correct, and, when they were not right, what happened. Ask yourself, too, if you were entirely happy in the class room and if learning was a pleasure or a task, a not too pleasant task, for remember, yours is the generation which was so much better than the present one.

So you go to the school well prepared to compare the past with the present. You look at the building and the classrooms, the badly over-crowded classrooms, and the lighting and think of your own school room. You look at the children and the memory of your classmates comes before you. But the picture fades quickly. You are not interested in the past but in all the vivid pulsating life before you. You wander around, you look at the work exhibits and talk to the teachers. Yes, if the teachers are wise they will put work aside and talk to you, the visitors, and tell you what you may wish to know. You will, as it were, absorb the atmosphere of the school and from that you will make your judgment.

But perhaps you do not want to sit in judgment. Perhaps you are content to believe that teachers are people of integrity honestly doing the best job they can. That is how it should be. A mutual confidence between parents and teachers that both are working for the good of the child.

Don't forget. Visitors' day. Next week.

Students' "Rag" Amuses Duke

MELBOURNE (Reuters) — Melbourne University students poked fun at the royal tour in an irreverent reception for the Duke of Edinburgh—and he loved it.

It was all part of the good old British institution of "ragging," and the Australian students spent 30 minutes showing they are as good at it as home-grown Britons.

They mocked the red-carpet treatment, stuffy speeches and bou quet presentations offered to Queen Elizabeth and the duke since they left London on their six-month Commonwealth tour last November.

Outside the university Union House, the students unrolled a moth-eaten carpet for the duke, presented him with a pair of crutches, an admission ticket and a huge silver key.

One student prepared to read a speech of welcome compressed into a summary "which will not take longer than 1½ hours to read." He threw it into the air instead and, as the pages showered around him, the duke said with a grin: "That was a good speech."

A bogus guard of honor, dressed in a weird array of garments and carrying floor mops, was on hand to receive the duke as he arrived for a tour of the university.

Later, the Queen and the duke watched 17,000 children give a gymnastic display at the Melbourne cricket ground.

Wilson Explodes In Forceful Answer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Defence Secretary Charles Wilson said today "the idea that the army is coddling Communists is just damn tommyrot."

Wilson made that comment at a press conference when questioned about the statement by Senator Joseph McCarthy that "army brass" made a "sacred cow" of a "Fifth Amendment Communist."

McCarthy currently is investigating what he terms "army coddling of Communists."

The Week At Victoria

The second week of this session has come to an end and we find that the debate on the Speech from the Throne is making fairly good progress with the end in sight by the end of next week.

The weather during the last two weeks has been like a "wild bull"—it is either blowing and raining, or raining and blowing!

Tuesday was my day to make my contribution and I dealt mostly with the Speech from the Throne but covered a few points that I thought were urgent enough to have been included in the Speech.

In dealing with the brief presented to the federal government, I expresed my disappointment that the Southern Transprovincial Highway was not mentioned. This highway must be completed, including the Salmo cut-off, to give traffic, including the heavy freight trucks, the right to go over a Canadian route. I urged that the federal government should take over the building of all our arterial highways as they do in the United States where the Federal authority builds and maintains them for two years before turning them over to the State.

I expressed my appreciation with the move to remove the three per cent tax on children's clothes and asked that it be abolished on all meals.

I was in agreement that the 10 per cent tax on liquor should never have been levied, and was critical of the way the licencing areas were set up, suggesting that they should not be any smaller than the electoral ridings.

In giving my impressions about the reduction in registration fees on motor vehicles, I asked that the reduction last year be extended to all vehicles used for private purposes which would include many small trucks and suburbans. I also requested that the licence on vehicles used for non-profit purposes and public good, such as ambulances, etc., be remitted.

TO LITTLE

The reported increase of $2.50 per month for pensions and social assistance, is to my mind, just adding insult to injury. We are hoping they will have a second look.

I urged the government to bring in the bills covering the changes in the I. C. and A. Act and Workmen's Compensation as soon as possible so we will have a chance to study them and make suggestions for changes if necessary.

The rumored change in regard to premiums for Hospital Insurance (which was started by the Attorney Geenral) is still making the rounds but I am of the opinion that this was a kite they let fly to test public opinion.

I urged the government to do something towards the solution of the Sons of Freedom problem because it was very serious and, if they did not want to take that responsibility, then I suggested that they should appoint a Committee from all parties in the House to study the matter and report at this session what action they thought should be taken.

During my talk I impressed on the government the necessity for a larger grant to the Canadian Arthritic and Rheumatic Society which society has relieved much suffering and, in my opinion, is deserving of a substantial grant.

Mr. Gibson of the Liberal party gave us the longest speech so far—over three hours, and we thought it was a filibuster.. Practically all his time was spent on the P.G.E. He asked for an investigation before it is built. I, also, urged the government to place all information before the Standing Committee on Railways for when I am voting to spend twelve million dollars I think I should know all the pros and cons before making a decision.

The rest of the week went by with many other talks by members but mostly dealing with respective ridings.

We were greatly surprised when the papers published a rumor that Arnold Webster was resigning. How it started no one knows, for at no time, has he even suggested such a move. Arnold is doing an excellent job as Opposition Leader in the House, and the type of a man who can inspire cooperation and teamwork in a group. The wish must have been father, to the thought to the person who started the rumour.

I am going to leave you now with this thought, "A little bit of hope makes a rainy day look gay."

British Toughs Wreck Centre

LONDON (Reuters) — Young toughs armed with stilettos have wrecked a £100,000 youth centre—Britain's best—built specially for them and other underprivileged 'teen-agers in the south London district of Walworth.

The wanton destruction of "Clubland" came less than five months after it was officially reopened by comedian Bob Hope, who was born near Walworth. He contributed $37,800 in 1951 to restore the club, badly damaged by bombs during the war.

Kindly little Rev. Jimmy Butterworth, Methodist minister who is founder-director of Clubland, was near tears Thursday.

In the last three weeks juveniles have given vent to a grudge against the parson who tried to be their benefactor—what kind of grudge he doesn't know. They have broken into and damaged the youth centre almost nightly.

A SHERLOCK HOLMES STORY

"The Naval Treaty"

By SIR ARTHUR CONAN DOYLE

(Published by arrangement with the estate of Sir Arthur Conan Doyle. World rights reserved. Illustrations copyrighted, 1954, by King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

"'A robbery has been committed!' I gasped. 'A document has been stolen from the Foreign Office. Has anyone passed this way'

"'I have been standing here for a quarter of an hour, sir,' said he. 'Only one person has passed during that time—a woman, tall and elderly, with Paisley shawl.'

"Ah, that is only my wife!' remarked the commissionaire. 'Then it must be the other way the thief took,' he added, tugging at my sleeve. But I was not satisfied, and the attempts which he made to draw me away increased my suspicions.

"'Which way did the woman go?' I asked.

"'I don't know, sir. I noticed her pass; she seemed to be in a hurry.'

"'You're only wasting your time, sir, and every minute now is of importance,' said the commissionaire; 'take my word for it, my ol' woman has nothing to do with it, so come down to the other end of the street.' And with that he rushed off in the other direction.

"But I was after him in an instant and caught him by the sleeve. 'Where do you live?'

"'16 Ivy Lane, Brixton,' he answered 'But don't let yourself be drawn away upon a false scent, Mr. Phelps. Come to the other end of the street and let us see if we can hear of anything.'

"With the policeman we both hurried down, but only to find the street full of people coming and going. There was no lounger who could tell us who had passed.

"Then we returned to the office to search the stairs and passage without result. The corridor which led to the room was laid down with a kind of creamy linoleum which shows an impression very easily. We examined it very carefully, but found no outline of any footmark.

"'Had it been raining all evening?'

"'Since about seven.'

"'How is it, then, that the woman who came into the room about nine left no traces with her muddy boots'

"'I'm glad you raised the point. It occurred to me at the time. The charwomen are in the habit of taking off their boots at the commissionaire's office, and putting on slippers.'

"'That is very clear. There were no marks, then, though the night was a wet one. What did you do next?'

"'We examined the room also. There is no possibility of a secret door, and the two windows are quite thirty feet from the ground. Both were fastened on the inside. The carpet prevents any possibility of a trapdoor and the ceiling is of the ordinary whitewashed kind. I will pledge my life that whoever stole my papers could only have come through the door.'

"'How about the fireplace?'

"'They use none. There is a stove. The bell-rope hangs from the wire just to the right of my desk. Whoever rang it must have come right up to the desk to do it. But why should any criminal wish to ring the bell?'

"'Certainly the incident was unusual. What were your next steps? You examined the room to see if the intruder had left any traces?'

"'There were none.'

"'No smell?'

"'Well, we never thought of that.'

"'Ah, a scent of tobacco would have been worth a great deal to us!'

"'I never smoke myself, so I think I should have observed it if there had been any smell of tobacco. There was absolutely no clue. The only tangible fact was that the commissionaire's wife—Mrs. Tangey was the name—had hurried out of the place. He said that it was about the time when the woman always went home. The policeman and I agreed that we should seize the woman before she could get rid of the papers, presuming that she had them.

"'The alarm had reached Scotland Yard by this time, and Mr. Forbes, the detective, appeared to take up the case with a great deal of energy. We hired a hansome, and in half an hour we were at the Tangey address. A young woman opened the door, who proved to be Mrs. Tangey's eldest daughter. Her mother had not come back yet, and we were shown into the front room to wait.

"'About ten minutes later a knock came at the door, and here we made the one serious mistake for which I blame myself. Instead of opening the door ourselves, we allowed the girl to do so. We heard her say, 'Mother, there are two men in the house waiting to see you.' An instant afterwards we heard the patter of feet rushing down the passage. Forbes flung open the door, and we both ran into the back room or kitchen, but the woman had got there before us. She stared at us defiantly and then, recognizing me, an expressing of absolute astonishment came over her face.

"'Why, if it isn't Mr. Phelps, of the Office!' she cried.

"'Come, come, who did you think we were when you ran away from us?' asked the detective.

"'I thought you were the brokers,' said she, 'we have had some trouble with a tradesman.'

"'That's not quite good enough,' answered Forbes. 'We have reason to believe that you have taken a paper of importance from the Foregin Office, and that you ran in here to dispose of it. You must come with us to Scotland Yard.'

"Though she protested, a four-wheeler was brought, and we three drove back in it. We made an examination of the kitchen, and especially of the fire, to see whether she might have made away with the papers during the time that she was alone. There were no signs, however, of any ashes or scraps. When we reached the Yard she was handed over at once to a female searcher. I waited in agony of suspense until she came back with he report. There were no signs of th papers.

"Then for the first time the hor ror of my situation came in its ful force. Hitherto I had been acting and action had numbed though But now I had leisure to realize m position. It was horrible! Watso there can tell you that I was a ner vous, sensitive boy at school. though of my uncle and of his col leagues in the Cabinet, of the sham which I had brought upon him, my self, and everyone connected with me. What though I was the victim of an extraordinary accident? No allowance is made for accident where diplomatic interests are a stake.

"I don't know what I did. I have a dim recollection of a group o officials crowding round me, eh deavornig to soothe me. One o them drove down with me to Waterloo, and saw me into the Woking train. I believe that he would have come all the way had it not been that Dr. Ferrier, who lives near me was going down by that very train The doctor took charge of me, and it was well he did, for I had a fit in the station and before we reached home I was practically a raving maniac.

"You can imagine the state o things here when they were roused from their beds by the doctor's ring ing. Poor Annie and my mother were broken-hearted. Dr. Ferrier had heard enough at the station to be able to give an idea of what had happened. It was evident to all tha I was in for a long illness, so Harrison was bundled out of his cheery bedroom, and it was turned into a sick-room for me. Here I have lain for over nine weeks with brain fever: If it had not been for Mis Harrison here and for the doctor' care, I should not be speaking to you now. She has nursed me by day and a hired nurse has looked after me by night. Slowly my reason cleared, but it is only during the last three days that my memory has returned. Sometimes I wish that it never had.

"The first thing that I did was to wire to Mrs. Forbes, who had the case in hand. He came out, and assures me that, though everything has been done, no trace of a clue has been discovered. The commissionaire and his wife have been examined in every way without any light being thrown upon the matter.

"Suspicions then rested upon young Gorot who, as you may remember, stayed overtime in the office that night. His remaining behind and his French name were really the only two points which could suggest suspicion; but I did not begin work until he had gone. His people are of Huguenot extraction, but as English in sympathy as you and I are. Nothing was found to implicate him in any way, and the there the matter dropped. I turn to you, Mr. Holmes, as absolutely my last hope."

(A highly hush-hush interview with a most noble lord and an early morning "cloak-and-dagger" burglary attempt are high spots on the intricate trail of that vital treaty in tomorrow's Daily News).

Travellers Part With Nine Dogs

LAMPMAN, Sask. (CP) — Three weary young people have reached a haven on their uncle's farm in this southeastern Saskatchewan district after journeying 700 miles alone from Cranbrook, B.C., with a pack of yapping pet dogs in tow.

The trio, identified as Beatrice Audrey and Ernest Jewell, started out last week from Cranbrook with 11 dogs, all of a mongrel breed of Pekinese.

The children gave their ages as between 18 and 22 but reporters who met them along the way said they were obviously much younger.

Their troubles were not over when they reached Estevan. Their uncle told them they would have to get rid of all but two of their dogs before they could come with him to the farm.

STILL TROUBLED

They pondered the problem on a hard bench at the Estevan railway station. It took them 12 hours to sell or give away the surplus dogs. Then their uncle welcomed them to his farm.

Mr. Forsythe, the uncle, who is married with one child at home, said Thursday that he is quite willing to have his three charges remain at his farm "indefinitely."

But more of the dogs have got to go, he said.

Mr. Forsyth said the youngsters have "a great attachment" to their pets. But the dogs would have to be reduced to "no more than two and one if possible.

He said the trio have a "rambling nature."

Dyking Program For Nicomen Isle

VANCOUVER (CP)—A $75,000 dyking program to halt the erosion of rich farmland on Nicomen Island in the Fraser river was revealed by J. L. MacDonald, provincial government dyke commissioner at Pitt Meadows, B.C.

The island, which has lost an estimated 100 acres of land to the encroaching waters of the Fraser river, is threatened with the loss of almost half of its 8000-acre area.

Mr. MacDonald said dykes on the island will be strengthened by piled rock brought from a nearby quarry.

Cost of the project will be shared by island farmers and the provincial and federal governments.

Newlyweds To Live at Castlegar

TRAIL—The communion railing of St. Francis Xavier Church in Trail was adorned with bouquets of gladioli, tulips and daffodils for the wedding ceremonies uniting Anita Maria, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alex Smecher of Robson, and Arthur William Nixon, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Nixon of Blueberry Creek.

Rev. Father O'Carroll officiated at the ceremonies and there were an organist and choir in attendance. The pews were marked for the occasion with white satin ribbon.

The charming, blue-eyed brunette bride wore a gown of traditional white, with a strapless satin bodice buttoned at the back with tiny satin covered buttons, and topped by fine Chantilly lace with lily point sleeves and mandarin collar embossed with irredescent sequins.

A gold cross enhanced the keyhole neckline of nylon net. Her heavy satin skirt was topped with two billowing tulle skirts. The Chantilly lace was repeated in a front peplum tapering to the train, and in a white panel attached to the back seam. A lovely fingertip veil of lace, held by a fluted crown, completed her ensemble. With her bouquet of trailing red rosebuds and hyacinth florettes, the bride carried her mother's First Communion Prayer Book.

The three bridesmaids, Miss Dawn Waldie of Robson, Miss Muriel Stewart of Castlegar and Miss Doris Smecher of Trail, cousin of the bride, each wore an ankle length gown of warm red, heavy satin, topped by two very full net overskirts. Tiny rhinestone centred florettes of the same color trimmed their strapless bodice, headdress and attractive sleeve net boleros. Each also wore a rhinestone necklace and earrings, gifts from the bride and groom, and carried bouquets of white carnations and red rose buds.

Ushers were Dale Elmore of Nelson and Joseph Babana and Robert Daily of Trail.

RECEPTION AT TWIN RIVERS

Following the ceremonies there was a reception of some 100 guests at the Twin Rivers Hall in Castlegar where a four-tier wedding cake, embedded in pink tulle and scattered pink and blue florettes centred the bride's table. Flanking the cake, which was topped by a large wedding bell, orange blossoms and lily of the valley, were two tall pink tapers surrounded by bouquets of pink and white carnations.

Miss Marion Nixon, sister of the groom, and Miss Linda Franco, aunt of the bride, poured tea from an attractive silver tea service that occupied the end of the table.

Assisting in the reception of guests, the bride's mother chose for the occasion a navy blue afternoon dress with navy accessories, and a corsage of pink roses and carnations matching the flowers on her hat.

The groom's mother chose an afternoon dress of navy blue taffeta with navy accessories and a corsage of pink roses and carnations.

Following the reception, the newlyweds left for a two-week honeymoon at central U.S. and West Coast points. For her going away outfit, the bride donned a two-piece Bengaline suit with navy accessories and a corsage consisting of a large double gardenia.

On their return Mr. and Mrs. Nixon will make their home at Castlegar.

St. Laurent's Daughter Makes Canada Popular

By WILLIAM STEWART
Canadian Press Staff Writer

COLOMBO, Ceylon (CP) — Mrs. Hugh O'Donnell, youngest of Prime Minister St. Laurent's three daughters, is running her father a close second at spreading Canadian goodwill around the world.

The attractive, 38-year-old wife of a Montreal lawyer has been her father's close companion, family counsellor and sometimes his personal representative during the dozens of functions in seven countries visited so far on the Canadian leader's goodwill tour.

She has made friends for Canada wherever she has gone.

At Bonn, West Germany's capital, while the prime minister was occupied with state matters, Mrs. O'Donnell was guest of honor at a dinner given by Mrs. T. C. Davis, wife of Canada's ambassador there, for the wives of other diplomats and of members of the Canadian embassy staff.

At Gros Tenquin, France, she was the luncheon guest of Mrs. W. Weiser, wife of the group captain who commands the RCAF station near the German border.

Mrs. O'Donnell chatted with the large group of wives of RCAF officers, visited the trailer where Mrs. Weiser is raising three children, and talked about the problem of children's muddy feet.

HAS TWO CHILDREN

The prime minister's daughter has two adopted children of her own.

Whether she mixes with Canadians abroad or the people with whom Canada wants friendly relations, Mrs. O'Donnell has been in the limelight.

Though world-touring on a tight air schedule means living out of suitcases, Mrs. O'Donnell has had to be turned out tastefully for half a dozen different daily occasions.

She mounted a camel without qualm in Karachi, Pakistan's capital, and got up on an elephant at Botale, a village 40 miles from the capital of Ceylon.

At New Delhi, it was life in a luxurious presidential palace.

Jack Sigsworth lives on Shaver's Bench in Trail with his wife and four children in a house upon which he did considerable work himself. He makes many of his children's toys. He is here seen working in his well-equipped basement shop. —Louis Fryling photo.

Hobbyist Intends to Enjoy His Retirement

TRAIL—"I like to do things with my hands."

With this remark, Jack Sigsworth placed on the table a model airplane carved out of metal, an elaborate toy steam shovel, also cut from metal, and pointed with pride to a lamp in one corner and a metal lathe in another, all made with his own hands.

"A recent magazine article," he continued, "pointed out that idleness in retirement is a No. 1 killer of the aged. I intend to be prepared for this emergency and, at the same time, my efforts will supplement my pension."

A glance around the trim, bright basement workshop revealed motors and machines totalling close to a value of $2000; equipment necessary to sharpen almost every type of tool and implement.

"I'm still paying for those things by sharpening tools, lawnmowers and circular saws," Jack explained. "I first started out with a bench-vise and equipment for sharpening saws. Then I realized that expansion and developing a properly-equipped shop would require a major investment, but I took the step. Now I have a fully-automatic hand-saw re-toother and circular saw sharpener as well as two machines for lawnmowers, one for grinding cutting bars and the other for grinding the reel blade to conform to the blade of the adjusted cutter bar. I can now handle all types of hand and power mowers."

Jack lives with his wife, and four children, David, Billie, Judy and Gwen, on Shaver's Bench, in Trail, in a house of which he built the foundation and did considerable finishing work. He has no aspiration to go in full-time on his part time occupation although his basement shop expansion increased his work by over 200 per cent during the past year.

"There is not enough business to make it a full-time occupation," he will tell you. "I have 19 years with Cominco, the last 10 as a compressor operator. When the day comes that I must retire I shall be able to supplement my pension and keep my hands and mind occupied. In the meantime, I hope to be able to help my children get a little better education than I had. Education and occupational instruction are important things in the lives of children. They must be taught to think and to use their hands."

Around the KOOTENAY in Sport

By LEN WALKER

Who, in the form of Spokane Flyers, is on first? No, who is on third, and when, in the form of the Smokies, is on first. No, when is at shortstop and why, in the form of the Dynamiters, is on first. How, in the form of the Leafs, is at second—we think.

This take-off on an old joke will indicate the confusion that arose when I was informed that our WIHL statistics, already revised, were wrong.

But I'm not alone—even the heads of the various clubs and the league vice-president appear to be in the dark.

It seems the home and away averages are only worked out for the purpose of determining which team gets the extra game in the playoffs. If this is so, then I don't know why Nelson should worry because last season's playoff with the Flyers saw them get the extra game, which didn't help them one bit.

It would appear that representatives of both Trail and Nelson were again taken for a ride at this year's annual meeting.

This is a horrible thought, because here we are at the home stretch only to discover that instead of having an even league, Spokane and Kimberley have the best of it as they have more home games on the average than they do away. Maybe this is the answer why they have played so few games away from home—they don't need them.

The farce will end only when the league officials decide the teams should all play the same amount of games.

We might as well face the truth—we give Spokane more games so they can pay better players to beat us with. It may not happen this year, but it did last season.

The league heads might also see that the last place club is left out of the playoffs. It will be argued no profits can be made. We say, stop and think before you pay out large sums for amateurs. This might help a club financially.

* * *

With various teams in the past holding nights for players when something was given to them in appreciation for jobs well done, it might be well for Nelson to consider holding one for the two Koehle boys, Fritz and Red.

These two boys, reported to be receiving much less pay than others on the club, have throughout the season pleased the fans no end with their style of play.

* * *

They tell us that the league standing at present has Kimberley first, followed by Nelson, Spokane and Trail. . . . See the Leafs sporting new sweaters. . . . One fan said he thought they got them because they wanted to be distinguished from the Penticton V's come playoff time. The V's did have the same uniform on their trip here.

Rumor factory: Should you wish to try a hand at being a statistician the following facts may be an aid to you, or they may even baffle you more.

1. Should Trail beat Spokane on Thursday, Nelson will automatically cinch second place (but a tie could result).

However, should Trail beat Spokane and also beat Kimberley on Saturday, and Nelson lose both at Spokane, Trail would be tied with Nelson.

From unofficial sources, close to those in the know, should a tie occur, the second place would be decided by the best goals for and against record. In which case Nelson would take second place as they have a much better record.

2. Should Spokane win Thursday Nelson would require only a tie against them at Spokane to guarantee the second place.

3. Should there be a tie Thursday, Nelson would still require a tie at Spokane. This appears queer but when you examine more closely a tie would drop Spokane average but Nelson would remain unchanged. A tie for Nelson against Spokane would drop Spokane the same but bring Nelson up.

4. The playoff percentage averages, as presented before namely as being definitely decided Kimberley, Nelson, Trail and Spokane still hold true, though only deciding the extra venue.

5. From all appearances, it looks like Kimberley plays Spokane; Kimberley has game venue; Nelson plays Trail, Nelson has venue.

The Army offers a healthy and vigorous life. A career soldier like Mr. Gardner, at 48, can put many men years younger to shame in physical fitness and stamina. He has made parachute jumps and proudly wears the paratrooper's wings. Excellent medical and dental care help look after the health and well-being of our soldiers.

As for opportunities, look at the wide choice of skills and trades a man can learn. What other organization will give him such excellent training and pay him for it at the same time? These days promotions can come very fast. There are hundreds of career soldiers who came from the ranks to become senior N.C.O.'s and officers.

There is plenty of travel, challenge and interest for the Canadian soldier these days. Manoeuvres and duty in all parts of Canada, including the Arctic regions! Active service in Korea and Germany! The job of helping to defend Canada is as big as this country and as scattered as the threatening points of aggression.

This is a Proud Life!
Challenging, Rewarding

RSM OWEN GARDNER, PPCLI

"To young men who want to serve Canada and at the same time ensure themselves an excellent and secure future, there is no better life than the Army. The Army is an honourable, noble profession."

These are the words of RSM Owen Gardner, a man who knows just about everything there is to know about life in the Canadian Army. He joined the Canadian Army 31 years ago as a drummer boy. His experience includes years of service before the outbreak of war in 1939 and a fine record from 1939 to 1945. In achieving the rank of Regimental Sergeant Major in the famed Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry, he has become a famous figure in the Canadian Army, respected and admired by the thousands he has served with and helped to train.

A well read and interesting individual, he owns one of the finest classical record collections in Calgary. But RSM Gardner's first and greatest interest is the Army, a figure of awe and respect for all young soldiers who meet him.

One More Win Gives Alberta Fifth Title

EDMONTON (CP)—Matt Baldwin's Alberta powerhouse crushed Quebec 16-4 Thursday night before a crowd of 5000 in the ninth round of the Canadian curling championships to move within one game of giving Alberta its fifth national championship.

Baldwin has one game scheduled today — against New Brunswick — and a win will give him the championship. Saskatchewan, which defeated Newfoundland 19-9 Thursday night, must win its remaining two games while Baldwin loses his one contest in order to tie. A loss by Saskatchewan will give Alberta the title.

A win by Alberta would keep the championship in the West for its 20th year. It was won in 1953 by Ab Gowanlock of Manitoba.

Saskatchewan, skipped by Garnet (Mac) Campbell, had a comparatively easy time disposing of the R. J. Kent foursome from St. John's. The Newfoundland foursome is in last place with eight straight losses. Saskatchewan has six victories and two defeats.

Manitoba, skipped by Jimmy Welsh of Winnipeg, got its third victory against five defeats when they disposed of Northern Ontario, piloted by Don Groom of Sudbury, 9-7. Northern Ontario is in fifth place with a 5-4 record.

CLOSE GAME

New Brunswick, skipped by A. T. McCully of Moncton, scored a close 12-9 decision over Ontario, skipped by 71-year-old Ross Tarlton. The victory gave New Brunswick a 4-4 mark and moved Ontario to third place with five victories and three defeats.

The Reg Piercy rink from Halifax went to last rock to edge British Columbia's E. C. (Bung) Cartmell rink from Vancouver 13-11. Nova Scotia has won five and lost three and B.C. has won four and lost four.

Quebec, skipped by W. R. Tracy of Arvida, was never in the game against Alberta and went to the sixth end before scoring one point. They got another single on the ninth and one on the 11th and another on the 12th.

Quebec couldn't find the proper weight and was off the broom on many of its take-out shots while the Baldwin squad operated like a machine. Tracy gave his best showing on the 11th end when, with Alberta counting five, he drew to the button to cut out the Alberta rocks and score one.

Baldwin didn't play his last stone. He held the rock as he came out of the hack and slid five feet across the hog line before releasing it.

EIGHTH ROUND

In the eighth round Thursday afternoon, a 71-year-old curling master from Hamilton, Ont., handed Alberta their first defeat.

Ross Tarlton led his Ontario rink to a thrilling 8-5 victory over the seemingly-invincible Baldwin, who at 27 is the youngest skip competing.

Ontario was in second place with a 5-2 record, along with Saskatchewan which defeated British Columbia 10-7 in the eighth round. Northern Ontario, defeated 12-7 by Nova Scotia, has won five and lost three and British Columbia has won four and dropped three, the same as Nova Scotia.

New Brunswick, which defeated Newfoundland 16-6 in the eighth draw, has a 3-4 mark, and Prince Edward Island, which lost 10-9 to Manitoba, has won three and lost five.

Quebec had a bye on the eighth draw and has won two and lost five.

Manitoba has two victories and five losses and Newfoundland has suffered seven straight defeats.

With the score standing at 3-2 going into the third frame, Bill Ramsden, Bill Reeves and Ralph Luke tallied for Flyers in quick succession. Trail rallied for three counters in the last three minutes but failed to get the equalizer.

Leafs, Wings Tie 3-3; Bruins, Canadiens 1-1

By The Canadian Press

Ted Lindsay's goal with less than five minutes to play gave the league-leading Detroit Red Wings a 3-3 tie in a rectic National Hockey League game Thursday night with Toronto Maple Leafs.

In the only other game of the night, Boston Bruins made slight headway in their battle for a playoff berth by gaining a 1-1 tie with Montreal Canadiens. The split enabled the Bruins to break a fourth-place tie with the idle New York Rangers.

Toronto's opening goal, a screened shot by defenceman Jim Morrison at 19:53 of the first period, ended the Leafs' long famine on Detroit ice. It was their first goal here in six games this season and the shutout streak, which dates back to last season, had run 352 minutes and 51 seconds.

At Boston, Woody Dumart put the Bruins ahead in the sixth minute of the second period when, with each side shorthanded, he slammed a 15-foot backhander through the open side of the Montreal net.

Trail Intermediates Dump Nelson 5-3 to Take Two-Goal Advantage

The Nelson Legionnaires fought gamely throughout 60 minutes of hockey before bowing 5-3 to the Trail Intermediates in the first game of their two-game total goal series at Civic Arena Thursday evening.

Boomer Rodzinyak was a standout in the Nelson net and saved the Legionnaires on many occasions with brilliant saves.

The game was a clean, fast encounter that saw only three penalties handed out by Referee John Lang with Nelson serving two and Trail one. Rodzinyak received one of the penalties for tripping Syl Benedetti, sitting out the two minutes.

Legion wasted little time in denting the Trail twine as Les Hufty took a pass from Herb Lovett and beat McDonald at 46 seconds.

Nelson held the lead until late in the frame when Trail broke through for three quick goals.

Ken Stanton sent Trail into a 4-1 lead early in the second only to have Nelson get back into the game when Johnny Bachynski and Lovett scored.

Louis Secco finished off the scoring when he beat Rodzinyak at 18:10 of the second.

The clubs fought through a scoreless third frame showing a crowd of 300 fans some good play.

The second game will be played in Trail on Sunday.

Summary:

First period —1, Nelson, Hufty (Lovett) :46; 2, Trail, Kwasney, (Stanton) 16:35; 3, Trail, Christenson (Hyssop) 18:31; 4, Trail Grishuk 19:05.

No penalties.

Second period—5, Trail, Stanton (Kwasney) 6:25; 6, Nelson, Bachynski (Sjoberg, McClenaghan) 8:40; 7, Nelson, Lovett 11:22; 8, Trail, Secco (Christenson) 18:10.

No Penalties.

Third period—No scoring.

Penalties—Rodzinyak, McClenaghan, Klitt.

CANADIAN TEAM FEELS UNWELCOME IN EUROPE

STOCKHOLM (Reuters) — Canadian team manager Don Preston angrily declared Thursday that Canada should not enter any future world ice hockey championships in Europe, because "we do not feel we are welcome here."

Preston, managing Toronto East York in the world championships here, added: "If I had my way, it would be the last time Canada will send a team over to Europe."

Referring to Swedish newspaper complaints about Canadian rough play, Preston said his team has had more injuries since coming to Europe than during a whole season at home.

"Sticks are used for any purpose in Europe. That is one thing we have learned here," he said.

Canada's worst injuries came during her smashing 8-0 victory against highly-touted Sweden. Harold Fiskari tore a ligament in his right knee and Doug Chapman, suffered a broken jaw.

The "rough Canadians" inflicted their worst casualty Wednesday, when West German centre Marcus Egen had five teeth smashed. Egan told newspaper men the injury was not the Canadians' fault.

But Sweden's biggest newspaper, the Liberal Dagens Nyheter, disregarded Egen's statement and called it the Canadians "worst crime in a match which has increased their deep-seated unpopularity here."

Canada, Russia Share First Place Tie 5-0

STOCKHOLM (AP) — Canada warmed up Thursday for the two key games of the world hockey tournament by running up a 20-1 score against Finland, the highest thus far in the 10-day competition.

The victory boosted Toronto East York into a first-place tie with Russia in the eight-team round-robin series. Both clubs have 5-0 records with two more game to play, the last being a meeting between the Canadians and Moscow Dynamos on Sunday, closing day of the tournament.

Each club has a formidable opponent to overcome today before their climactic meeting.

The Canadians must dispose of Czechoslovakia, beaten only by Russia in five starts and needing a victory to remain in the running. The Dynamos face Sweden's defending champions, the remaining member of the tournament's "big four." Finland and Germany, both also-rans, complete the day's schedule.

ONE OF CLEANEST

The Swedes stayed in the running Thursday night by blanking Germany 4-0. Norway climbed out of the cellar in the day's third game, edging Switzerland 3-2 for her first victory in six attempts.

The Canada-Finland game was one of the cleanest of the series. Only two penalties were imposed, one on each side.

The Canadians scored almost at will, running up a 7-0 lead in the first period, adding eight more in the second against Finland's lone reply by centre Teuvo Takala, and easing the pressure somewhat as they tallied five more in the last frame.

LEADING SCORER

Right-winger Moe Galand, a 23-year-old graduate of Oshawa and Stratford in the Ontario Hockey Association's Junior A League, scored seven times to establish himself as the tournament's leading marksman with 14 goals. Vladimir Bubnik of the Czechs had been the previous leader with 11.

Pups Invade Okanagan

The Notre Dame Rups left Thursday for the Okanagan where they will engage some highly-rated Okanagan high school squads. The Pups have scheduled encounters with Kelowna and Penticton, with the possibility of a contest with Oliver.

On this jaunt to the Okanagan, the Pups will carry with them a 15-2 won-lost record. In their tune-up games for the Okanagan series the Pups walloped the Cranbrook and Kimberley high school cagers The Pups' probable starting lineup will be: guards, Leo Smith, Ray Paris; centre, Gene Godderis; forwards, Gordon Guidi, Bud Godderis. Ready for action will be the fast-improving second stringers. For this series the Pups will be counting heavily on their ace pivot man, Gene Godderis, who has been going great guns lately.

ALBERTA LOOKS TO SKIP BALDWIN

EDMONTON (CP) — Alberta's hopes for a fifth national curling championship are pinned on a young fellow who many believe to be about the hottest shot-maker to curl a stone in more years than they can remember.

Matt Baldwin, at 27, is the youngest skip competing in the Canadian curling championships here. He has backed up Alberta's hopes by knocking over such veterans as Winnipeg's Jimmy Welsh and going for seven straight victories before being bumped by 71-year-old Ross Tarlton of Hamilton, Ont., in the eighth round Thursday.

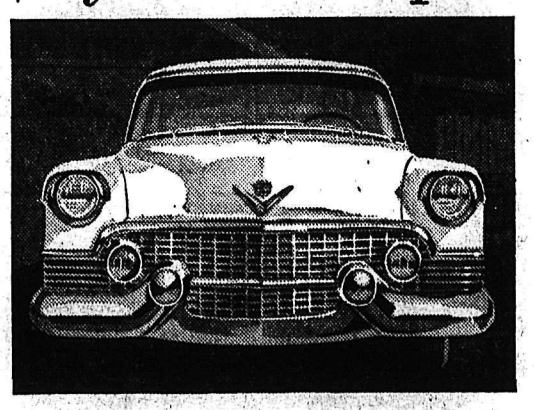
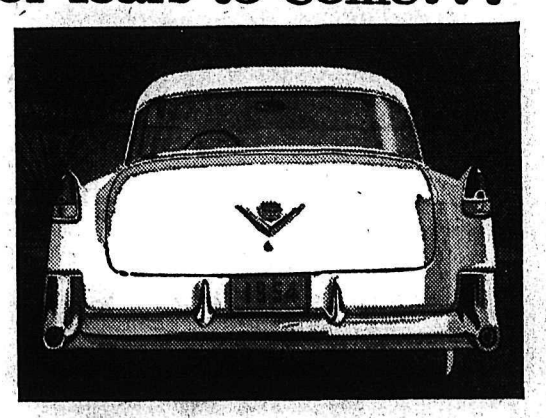
Presenting the
1954 CADILLAC
A General Motors Value
Styled to be Copied for Years to Come...





...and as Thrilling to Drive as to See!

The new "Standard of the World" is now on display in our showroom. It is not just a new model, but a wholly restyled and re-engineered Cadillac—new from its more massive grille to its more distinctive rear deck.

It is lower and longer in silhouette ... more modern and graceful in its body lines ... and with greater majesty and dignity in every detail. Beyond question, it is destined to influence the design of motor cars for years to come.

Matching this new exterior beauty, and adding their own full measure of glamour and graciousness to the car, are Cadillac's luxurious new interiors—more generously proportioned and more beautifully appointed than ever before ... and executed in a dazzling array of gorgeous new fabrics and leathers.

And, what is even more remarkable, this wonderful new Cadillac is as thrilling to drive as it is to see!

Its advancements in performance are legion ... and encompass virtually every phase of motor car operation.

A great new 230-horsepower engine has added new power and responsiveness. A vastly improved Hydra-Matic Drive provides even greater smoothness and flexibility. Advanced Cadillac Power Steering, now standard equipment on every model, brings with it a whole new concept of steering and handling ease. And new Cadillac Power Braking* has introduced wonderful new motoring safety and conveniences.

This greater Cadillac beauty—and this finer Cadillac performance—are available for 1954 in three series of motor cars ... the remarkable Series 62, the distinguished Fleetwood Series 60 Special and the magnificent Fleetwood Series 75. And, of course, there is the beautiful Eldorado.

The inspiring Cadillac is in our showroom now—awaiting your critical inspection. We cordially invite you to see and drive Cadillac at your earliest opportunity.

You will find dramatic proof that—once again—Cadillac has provided the standard by which the world's motor cars must be judged.

Market Trends

NEW YORK (AP) —Prices advanced with railroads and oils providing the inspiration for the rise.

Canadian stocks gave a mixed appearance. Leading the stocks higher was McIntyre. It was followed by Canadian Pacific, and Dome Mines ahead.

TORONTO (CP) — Prices were mixed in moderate trading toward the close of session.

Industrial losses and gains were in balance with most changes small as papers, steels, foods and manufactures led a lower trend.

MONTREAL (CP) — Prices continued to move downward in slow trading.

Dominion Bridge and General Dynamics each moved off one point at 80 and 40, respectively. Aluminum lost and Seagrams was softer.

Miscellaneous industrials, utilities, papers and steels were weaker.

LONDON (Reuters) — Prices shook off the effects of the recent long account and hesitancy gave place to more active conditions. Practically all sections were firm and gains were spread over a wide field. Gilt-edged however, remained quiet and held around previous levels.

Appointed CPR European Manager

MONTREAL — Harry Arkle of Montreal has been appointed European general manager for the Canadian Pacific Railway with headquarters at London, it was announced here Thursday by C. E. Jefferson, vice-president of Traffic for the CPR.

Mr. Arkle, who now holds the position of general freight traffic manager, succeeds the late J. C. Patteson, C.M.G. Mr. Arkle will take over his new duties on April 1.

Born and educated at Gateshead-on-Tyne, England, April 7, 1893, Mr. Arkle came to Canada when he was 18 years old, and entered the CPR in 1912, as a clerk in the freight traffic department at Winnipeg.

The newly-appointed European general manager was married to Nell V. Coventry of Avonmore, Ont., at Winnipeg on Sept. 15, 1928. Mrs. Arkle attended Queen's University and is a graduate of the University of Toronto school of optometry.

Mr. Arkle is a member of the Manitoba club and St. Charles Country Club, Winnipeg. He is also a member of the Canadian Club of Montreal and the Canadian Railway Club.

Int. Chamber of Commerce Gives Business Men Views on Problems

By FORBES RHUDE
Canadian Press Business Editor

MONTREAL (CP) —Businessmen kick but don't do enough about it, D. B. Cruikshank of Ottawa, president of the Canadian council of the International Chamber of Commerce, said Thursday.

His two-year term of office, he said in an address delivered to the council's annual meeting, had given him much pleasure but it had not been strewn with roses all the way.

"The Canadian business man," he said, "is ever ready to complain of governmental restrictions and interference in the conduct of private economic undertaking.

"However, he is not nearly so willing to give expression to his own thinking and take action on behalf of himself and other private business men.

"The International Chamber of Commerce provides Canadian business men with a mechanism to give expression to their joint view on economic and commercial problems and to contribute work on the phase of the problems which may be closest to each."

The Canadian council had sent 32 delegates last May to the international chamber's biennial congress in Vienna, the largest Canadian delegation to a congress since the organization was formed after the First World War.

There, before nearly 1500 delegates from 34 countries, the Canadian delegates presented to a world audience their council's views "regarding the desirability of free markets for primary commodities, as well as our views on the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade."

Other council activities included a memorandum last year to President Eisenhower's commission on foreign economic policy (Randall commission,) which had expressed Canadian business's view of United States policy in tariff and general economic matters.

Carl Bergithon, general manager, said several new members have joined from the West, and added:

"We need a larger representation from the west, which plays such a large part in the Canadian economy, both agriculturally and industrially."

Babson Stresses Importance of Health of Business World Success

(Editor's Note: Roger W. Babson's Authentic Statement is brought to Daily News readers weekly. While the well known economic expert deals largely with business life on the United States scene, it is being published by the Daily News because of its general interest.)

BABSON PARK, Fla. — People must have employment and wages in order to buy, but they must also be free from worry in order to do good work and get promoted. This is so self-evident that it needs no discussion, but I want to write now of something much deeper.

I have not been feeling well for three weeks. Although I was not confined to my bed, yet something caused severe pain in my back and legs. I just could not do any constructive work and I began to worry, which I never do when feeling well. I, therefore, am now in Florida for a few weeks. This column however is not an advertisement for Florida, although I am very fond of its climate.

My purpose rather is to say that being independent financially and free to come and go, I am not dependent upon any job or salary. If, however, I were, and obliged to go to the office each day, I would not have given my company "value received" for my salary. Worse than that, I probably would have made mistakes in judgment which would have caused the company financial loss.

CAUSES LOSSES

Yet, there must be hundreds of important executives and thousands of foremen and tens of thousands of workmen, salesmen, and clerks who are dragging themselves to work when they ought to be home in bed. They do this partly not to lose their pay; or—if they are executives—not to have the word get around that they are not well. As the prosperity of every business depends largely on the decisions made by executives, foremen, and others, such "half sick" men and women can cause their companies much loss.

When you consider that thousands of companies are suffering losses, for this reason, it shows how poor health and worry must affect the entire business of the country. If you are unemployed, it may be due to your health, or to your boss's health. In other words, if he were "up to snuff", the company might not have needed to lay you and others off. So much for that. Now some statistics on the direct cash cost of illness and accidents.

The U. S. Health Information Foundation reports that during the past full year, 22,000,000 families of these United States as individuals paid out over $10,000,000,000 for medical and dental care. Furthermore, this was in addition to what the federal government and the States expended. Of the above $10 billion, $2 billion went to hospitals, nearly $5½ billion to doctors and dentists, 1½ billion for medicines, and over $1 billion for other practitioners, nurses, etc.

Most of the people treated got well, although they lost both time and money. But a good part of this expense was absolutely thrown away—for there were nearly 100,000 deaths, largely from automobile accidents. In addition, millions of others were injured by accidents, such as traffic accidents—1,350,000 drownings—6800; home falls— 20,000; industrial accidents — 15,000; burns—6400; firearms—2500; etc, etc. These figures are supplied by the National Safety Council. I wonder how many readers of this column will be included in the 1954 figures?

The politicians and welfare experts are constantly raising the legal age at which young people can go to work. Now they say that all should have a college education. At the same time, industry is retiring more people between 60 and 65 years of age. Today the number of people over 65 years is one in 12; in 25 years it will be one in nine. But where is the money coming from to give the young people 22 years for education and play, and the old people pensions?

The truth is that somehow (through more taxes or higher prices), these millions of young and old must be supported by those between 22 and 60-65 years of age. The latter must also supply the $10 billion mentioned above. This makes the cost of sickness, youth, and old age far more important than the cost of coffee!

Jack-of-All-Tapes Not Really Scotch

How did tight-sticking Scotch tape acquire its name?

It was an American, an ex-professional banjo player who invented it and a group of early automobile painters who are credited with naming it.

The brand name "Scotch" is believed to have originated during the 1920's when the new product was used first as a masking tape in automobile shops. In those days the manufacture applied glue only to the tape's outer edge and were nicknamed "Scotch" by the painters for being so stingy with the adhesive. Even after more glue was applied and the tape stuck better than ever, the nickname stuck to the tape.

The first Scotch-brand tape was made of heavy opaque paper, coated on one side with a mixture of glue and glycerin and rolled up with a cheesecloth liner to keep it form sticking together. It wasn't until the inventor had discovered an adhesive which permitted the tape to peel off the roll without the aid of a liner that the product's usefulness was extended.

OTTAWA (CP)—The government has bought 276 sets of skates for the armed services at an average cost of $17 since the start of 1952.

A departmental reply Thursday to questions asked by H. W. Herridge (CCF—Kootenay West) said the skates cost a total of $4633. Of the total, 240 pairs went to troops in Korea and 36 to the military college at St. Jean, Que.

Ontario Expects Snow Flurries

TORONTO (CP)—A huge digging-out operation was under way throughout southern Ontario Thursday as a four-day storm which took nine lives and crippled transportation, blew itself out.

Only snow-flurries were expected for most of the area where Wednesday 40-mile-per-hour winds whipped snow into eight and 10-foot drifts, isolated communities, disrupted communications, and stranded hundreds of motorists.

SNOWPLOWS WORKING

The provincial highways department reported snow plows, many of which were inoperative during the storm because of heavy drifting and zero visibility, were back in operation. Some plows were transferred by railway from unaffected areas to the snow-beleaguered districts.

Telegraph and telephone repairmen reported some progress in repairing lines torn down by the blizzard. However many rural lines are still down.

HEART ATTACKS

T. Joseph Hall of Ayr near Kitchener became the ninth storm victim when he suffered a heart attack while pushing his automobile. Three other persons died in traffic accidents when automobiles skidded off slippery roads. Four other persons died of heart attacks shovelling snow and one woman was struck by a train during the snowstorm.

Ice-sheeted streets in Toronto contributed to one of the worst traffic tangles in the city's history. Cars moved at five miles an hour.

Lower House Okays Yoshida's Budget

TOKYO (AP) — Japan's dominant lower house Thursday passed Prime Minister Shigeru Yoshida's austerity budget which boosts defence spending while slashing many other government expenses.

The vote showed 303 right-wingers of three parties lining up against 143 Socialists and splinter party members to give Yoshida's finance bill an easy victory.

The budget calls for almost $2,800,000,000 for fiscal 1954-55. This is about $82,000,000 less than last year. Included in this year's figure is £653,000 for a nuclear reactor furnace.

Light Moments In the Senate

OTTAWA (CP)—Tom Reid never lost his Scottish accent nor his appreciation of the pipes. His bagpipe music can be heard echoing along the corridors of the Parliament Buildings almost every night.

This nightly bagpipe concert was suggested in the Senate Thursday as the reason the 67-year-old New Westminster, B.C., senator does not receive all the parliamentary records to which he is entitled.

Senator Reid complained to Solicitor Ross Macdonald, government leader in the upper chamber, about not receiving copies of printed reports on committee meetings.

Senator Macdonald said other senators don't seem to have this problem. Perhaps Senator Reid could borrow them from another senator.

VENTURES POSSIBILITY

"Possibly he did not get his copy because the person desirous of delivering it heard that music emanating from his room and did not dare to knock on the door," interjected another Scotsman, Senator John T. Haig, PC leader. He offered to lend his copies.

"It is a good sign of intelligence when the sounds proceeding from my room are called music," replied Senator Reid in an accent probably as broad as the day he emigrated from Scotland to Canada at the age of 23.

"I would have thought in those circumstances two copies would be delivered to the honorable senator," added Senator Macdonald, Toronto-born son of a Scotsman.

Queen To Choose Site for Statue of Loved Father.

LONDON (AP) — Plans for a £100,000 statue of the late king George VI, to be erected in a "noble setting" in London, were disclosed Thursday by trustees of the £1,630,000 King George VI Foundation.

Another £985,000 will be spent on training and recreation for British youth and £440,000 will go for adult recreational and welfare projects, the announcement said.

Funds for the foundation were raised by public subscription after the king's death February, 1952.

A booklet giving details of how the money will be used said Queen Elizabeth has approved the appointment of William McMillan as sculptor of the statue. McMillan also created the statue of the late King's father, King George V, which stands in Calcutta.

The booklet said the site of George VI's statue will not be disclosed until the Queen, now touring the Commonwealth, has approved it.

Architect of the statue's setting will be Louis de Soissons, who designed the new British foreign office.

FUND ALLOCATIONS

The largest allocation from the fund is £500,000 for the leadership training project for young people.

Its purpose will be to enable voluntary organizations to "develop and extend leadership training for boys, girls and adult leaders."

Other allocations include:

For a national youth recreation centre scheme £400,000. It will be used to develop existing play centres and build new ones.

For youth hostels, to be open to young people from overseas as well as those of the United Kingdom, £85,000.

For an old people's recreational club development scheme, £200,000.

For a general adult recreational club scheme, £200,000.

For a social service scheme for old people, £40,000. It will assist in training of those engaged in their care and welfare.

Guests Flee From Boston Hotel Fire

BOSTON (AP) — Approximately 500 guests fled from the Parker House, some of them down ladders when fire swept the fifth floor of the renowned 14-storey hotel in the heart of downtown Boston early Thursday.

Joseph C. Fitzpatrick, 47, of Coral Gables, Fla., was reported to be the only casualty of the blaze. He was taken to hospital suffering minor burns and smoke inhalation after fire-fighters assisted him down a ladder from the fifth floor.

Most of the guests fled into the lobby, dressed in hastily-donned overcoats over night clothing. Others took refuge in nearby all-night restaurants.

Deputy fire chief Edward Gaughan estimated damage at $4,500 and said it started among decorative jewelry stacked in boxes on the fifth-floor corridor in preparation for a sales show.

Motorists Shelter In Stranded Bus

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—Two London women told the story of a blizzard-stranded bus that proved a warm haven for bogged-down motorists near Chatham.

Mrs. Pearl Conner and Mrs. H. T. Thornton said bus driver Clayton Merritt of London kept the motor running all night to keep the bus warm for his 34 passengers and several motorists who took refuge with them, including a man and woman with seven children.

Two youths with a jeep brought gasoline from a service station in Chatham as the bus motor ate up two gallons an hour.

The only food in the bus was six dry doughnuts which had to last from 6 p.m. to 10 a.m. In the morning a neighboring farmer invited the whole group of stranded passengers into his house for breakfast.

Coffee Thieves Rife In Brazil

RIO DE JANEIRO (AP) — Coffee thieves are operating in Brazil, production land of the scarce commodity. During the sound and fury of the pre-Lenten carnival a gang backed a truck up to a central warehouse and made off with 60 bags valued at $3900.

Law Traps Man Without Country

BALTIMORE (AP)—The freighter Trojan Seaman sailed Thursday from Baltimore with Charles Slanina, 56-year-old Austrian-born seaman, still aboard after a last desperate attempt to re-enter the United States.

Without a country he wants to call home, Slanina finds himself trapped in a maze of immigration laws, changing political boundaries and costly mistakes dating back more than three decades.

Slanina dejectedly told his story over a cup of coffee in the small messroom of the Trojan Seaman.

STARTED WITH MISTAKE

It all started with a mistake, "a bad mistake I made."

"I came over here in 1922 from Czechoslovakia and jumped ship. I worked as a machinist in New York for a long time before I took out my first naturalization papers.

"But I was scared. Scared to get my second papers and try to become a citizen because I thought I might get deported.

"So, I did nothing, now look where I am."

BECAME SEAMAN

In 1930 he returned to his homeland, was a minor government official for a time and two years later shipped to the United States as a merchant seaman.

He returned to the sea in 1942, when merchant seaman were needed in the Second World War, because, "it was sort of a patriotic thing."

With a passport renewable each year from the Czech consulate in New York, Slanina said he was told he could get his citizenship if he spent five years actual sailing time on U. S. ships.

Then the McCarran immigration laws became effective, and Slanina, without a valid visa or passport, was refused re-entry. He's been aboard the Trojan Seaman ever since.

"So, here I am," he said with a shrug.

"I don't want to go to Czechoslovakia. No place else will take me."

The owners of the Trojan Seaman, already fined $1000 for docking here with Slanina aboard, have tried to pay him off and let him go. They are subject to an additional $1000 fine every time the ship docks in the U. S. with him aboard.

Slanina says he probably will have to leave the vessel when it arrives in Spanish Morocco in a few weeks. From there he will probably go to Tangier, an international port, "and hope I get a visa to somewhere—Nassau, where my wife is, Yugoslavia, anywhere."

To Protect Babies From Headache Pills

OTTAWA (CP) — The federal health department intends to take steps to protect babies from illnesses resulting from headache pills.

Health Minister Martin told the Commons Thursday his department's experts have been closely following reports of infants suffering serious illnesses from the tablets.

"The department is taking steps to ensure that appropriate action will be taken to correct the situation by all means available," he said in a tabled reply to questions asked by Stanley Knowles (CCF—Winnipeg North Centre).

Mr. Martin added that some persons are allergic to different kinds of drugs.

"The size of the dose makes little difference to an allergic individual," he said, "and the dangers to such persons cannot effectively be prevented by regulation."

Mr. Ross Retires, Mr. Ross Takes Over

OTTAWA (CP)—Mr. Ross, the federal government's apprenticeship expert, has been succeeded by Mr. Ross.

The new supervisor of trades training in the labor department is Stewart Ross, 62, formerly of Windsor, Ont.

His predecessor, now retired, is Joseph H. Ross, 66, of Calgary, former director of vocational training for Alberta, who held the job on a temporary basis after superannuation from his Alberta post.

The two are not related.

Ont. Minister To Study B.C. Indians

TORONTO (CP)—Ontario's Welfare Minister W. A. Goodfellow will fly to Victoria Sunday to study how British Columbia handles its Indian affairs.

Mr. Goodfellow, who is chairman of the Indian committee of the Ontario legislature, has been invited by the B.C. government to attend meetings of its Indian committee next week.

He will report back to the Ontario legislature's select committee on Indians which is due to make a report to the legislature shortly.
