Tito Calls for Troop Withdrawal

Italy Agrees to Withdraw Soldiers on Trieste Border Along With Yugoslavia

By ALEX SINGLETON

JAJCE, Yugoslavia (AP) — President Tito called Sunday for Yugoslav-Italian withdrawal of troops from the borders of Trieste's zone A as a peaceful preliminary to settlement of their explosive quarrel over the future of the free territory.

He spoke before a crowd officially estimated at 50,000 assembled in this small Bosnian village where 10 years ago he and his partisan follows organized Yugoslavia's Communist government.

In Rome, the Italian foreign ministry indicated Sunday night that Italy is prepared to agree promptly to joint withdrawal of Italian and Yugoslav troops from the sensitive Trieste border.

A statement issued by the foreign ministry after Tito spoke said that a withdrawal "could be effected in a few days—if statements made at Jajce reflect real intentions."

Tito expressed willingness to come to terms with the Italians — but not on terms dictated either by them alone or with the aid of the Big Three western powers, which have been attempting to promote a Trieste settlement.

He went farther than he has previously. He said he would pull out his troops if Italy would do likewise and "then he could proceed toward a solution." Confidently he exclaimed:

"We can always get them back there if necessary."

Earlier in the dispute, Italian Premier Guiseppe Pella had proposed limited withdrawal of armed forces — an offer which Tito rebuffed at the time.

But he conceded that it had some success in influencing world opinion.

He listed an additional condition as a preliminary for reaching a settlement at a conference which the Big Three western powers have proposed to Yugoslavia and Italy.

"Even before such a conference, it should be made clear what they (the Italians) think and what we think and thus to determine whether they insist upon the terms of the Oct. 8 decision."

In that decision, Britain and the United States disclosed determination to pull their 7000 troops out of zone A and turn the entire area over to Italy.

BERMUDA MEET 'WASTE OF TIME'

Rhee Says Big 3 Meet Hindrance in War Against Reds

TAIPEH, Formosa (Reuters)—South Korean President Syngman Rhee left Formosa Sunday after branding the coming Bermuda conference "a waste of time and energy."

The 78-year-old leader, who spent two days conferring with Chinese Nationalist President Chiang Kai-shek here, told reporters the Big Three meeting beginning Friday will only hamper, not help, the world's campaign against communism.

"I think very little of the Bermuda conference," Rhee said. "We are too busy fighting Communists. Conferences are a waste of time and energy."

Earlier he said that he and Chiang hope to bring about a conference of "all the anti-Communist leaders in the Pacific and discuss what we can do toward forming a common united front, because our enemies are very powerful."

But the South Korean president said there is yet "no definite plan" for the conference.

Rhee was asked whether Chinese Nationalist troops would be welcomed to fight side by side with South Koreans if the Korean war were resumed.

THE CARDINAL INKS super markets in Sacramento, Calif., promised 1000 Thanksgiving turkeys to citizens for old ice box doors. The offer was made because so many small children had died when trapped in old and unused ice boxes throughout the nation this year. The operation turned into an avalanche and had to be called off after two hours. In that time 4000 turkeys had been given away and company trucks are still hauling in boxes and doors.—(AP Wirephoto.)

Vietminh Head Offers To Discuss Armistice

"American Imperialism" Blamed for Prolonging Indo-China Hostilities

STOCKHOLM (AP) — The Stockholm newspaper Expressen published a cable Sunday over the name of Ho Chi Minh, Moscow-educated president of the Vietminh, offering to discuss a possible armistice for ending the war in Indo-China. First French reaction was chilly.

The published message said the Vietminh would "be ready to meet" a proposal from France and that neutral efforts for a settlement would be "welcome." It said "American imperialism" was to blame for prolonging the war.

In Paris, Marc Jacquet, French secretary of state for Indo-Chinese affairs, said the statement could not be considered a basis for opening negotiations.

"If Ho Chi Minh wants to make the same declarations officially," he told reporters, "there is no lack of means of doing so."

There has recently been strong sentiment in France for ending the costly, bloody conflict. The French National Assembly approved a resolution a month ago urging that all possible be done to get the fighting stopped. The United States subsequently began a strong campaign to persuade the French to get on with the war. The U.S. is bearing about a third of the financial cost, but has no troops involved.

There have been mumblings from Peiping radio to the effect that a negotiated peace is possible. These started as far back as Sept. 2. Red China is giving strong material support to the Vietminh.

Expressen, which said Ho's message was in response to five questions it submitted to him Nov. 5, took a dim editorial view of the Vietminh presidents' offers.

"Is it a coincidence or the result of skillful synchronization that the mild expressions from Ho Chi Minh come like an echo of the peace cooings from Moscow? The French political storms have not yet died down and the Bermuda meeting has not begun. If the intention in both cases was to spread confusion and insecurity about communism's real intentions, it could not have been better co-ordinated."

READY FOR NEGOTIATION

The cable, dispatched from the Peiping embassy of "the Democratic Republic of Viet Nam," said, among other things:

"If, having learned the lesson of these years of war, the French government wishes to have an armistice and settle the question by egotiations, the people and the government of the Democratic Republic of Viet Nam will be ready to meet the French proposal."

The Communist-led nationalists of the Vietminh call their state by the same name — Viet Nam — as that used by the French-affiliated state headed by former emperor Bao Dai. The latter, with Laos and Cambodia, comprise the French Associated States of Indo-China.

The cable added:

"If any neutral nations desire to see the war in Viet Nam come to an end and try to bring about negotiations, they will be welcome."

"Sir Walter" Freed

KINGSTON, Jamaica (AP)—The Jamaican who like Sir Walter Raleigh spread his coat before the Queen so she could cross a puddle dry shod was freed by police Sunday after doctors called him sane.

Warren Kidd was arrested at Port Royal as the Queen was about to embark for Panama. Dogging his cream-colored coat, which bore in its lapel an emblem inscribed with the words "God Save the Queen," the 35-year-old Jamaican spread it in front of the Queen and bade her walk on it.

Surprised, the Queen stopped, sidestepped the coat and went on with a smile. Kidd was hauled off to jail.

Hospital Workers Seek Wage Hike

VANCOUVER (CP)—A spokesman for the TLC hospital employees' federal union said Saturday negotiations between the union and some B.C. hospitals have broken down and conciliation will result.

Alex Paterson, union negotiator back from a round of meetings with hospital in the interior and on Vancouver Island, gave a breakdown on results.

A joint meeting between the union and representatives of hospitals at Kamloops, Kelowna, Vernon and Penticton also ended in a call for a conciliation board.

The union organizer said meetings with Vancouver General Hospital and the Royal Columbia Hospital at New Westminster will start Dec. 7.

North Vancouver General Hospital officials and the union are continuing negotiations; Burnaby hospital meetings are expected early in December, and a date still has to be set for discussions with Grace Hospital in Vancouver.

The union is seeking a 10 per cent wage increase in Vancouver, New Westminster and Vancouver Island hospitals. It wants wages in interior hospitals brought up to the Vancouver levels, plus the 10 per cent increase and 40-hour week.

Churchill 79 Today

By ALVIN STEINKOPF

LONDON (AP)—Prime Minister Churchill will be 79 today. He seems quite convinced that the finest hour of his fabulous life still lies ahead.

On entering his 80th year, Britain's sturdy wartime leader has set for himself what he believes may be the greatest task of all—to make the world's uneasy peace secure.

On Tuesday he will fly to Bermuda to suggest to United States and French leaders courses of action he hopes will ease international tensions.

The prime minister's health has been pronounced good. His physician, Lord Moran, makes the usual observation that Churchill should slow up a bit.

Smearers Aid Reds Says Truman

CHICAGO (AP)—Former president Truman said Saturday night "any politician or public figure who spreads division and distrust, who engages in smears and undermines public confidence . . . is directly aiding and abetting the Communist design."

Without naming names, Truman said "the struggles for freedom" must be preserved "against the reckless assaults of unprincipled politicians."

"We must strive to preserve it against the insidious onslaughts of fear and hysteria which are being manipulated in this country for purely political reasons."

Truman, addressing a Bonds for Israel rally in Chicago Stadium, said he does not believe that "we are losing the struggle for freedom."

But "when people become afraid to speak their beliefs, or to defend the innocent, or to explore new ideas, then freedom is in danger."

Mother, Babe Sought

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (CP) — A search for a missing mother and her infant daughter was to go into its third day Sunday in the Moose Pass area near here.

Mrs. Lila Morrison, 24, and her daughter Sheila, 15 months, left Moose Pass Friday for a 30-mile automobile trip to her parents' home in Seward. She did not arrive at the destination.

Seward territorial police said they were investigating a report that an object, possibly an automobile, had been sighted in 75 feet of water near the pass.

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (CP) — The $10,000,000 Alaska Native Service hospital here was officially opened to the public Sunday with top level ANS and staff officials as hosts.

Cold-War Brides To Enter Canada

OTTAWA (CP) — About 100 German cold-war brides will be heading for Canada within the next two months.

The army announced Friday that the first shipment of 65 German wives of soldiers in the 27th Canadien Infantry Brigade will arrive at Halifax Dec. 10. With them will be some 20 German-Canadian babies born before the 27th Brigade was rotated home on leave.

Hunter Wounded

PRINCE ALBERT (CP) — The district's third hunting accident was reported by the RCMP on Saturday.

Daniel Litwin of White Star was shot Friday in the shoulder when mistaken for a deer. He had gone into the bush to scare deer while three hunters waited behind. Police said the shot was fired by David McKeand. The accident happened in the Mayview district, about 45 miles north of here.

Also on Friday a hunter in the Mistatim area was killed when mistaken for a deer. Earlier another hunter was wounded in the thigh in the Codette district.

Fiery Bishop Dr. Barnes Dies

HURSTPIERPOINT, England (AP)—Dr. Ernest William Barnes, 79, former Anglican Bishop of Birmington and frequent storm centre of religious controversy, died Sunday.

Until ill health forced his resignation last May, Bishop Barnes was an outspoken advocate of unorthodox views.

He rejected belief in miracles.

He campaigned for euthanasia, mercy killing, and sterilization of unfit persons.

He urged church leaders to cut out from the Bible its story of the creation as related in the book of Genesis. Science had proved it could not be accepted as fact, he said.

He doubted validity of the virgin birth and Christ's physical resurrection.

These views, expressed from brilliant oratory and an incisive pen, earned him bitter criticism from many Church of England leaders and a public rebuke from the Archbishop of Canterbury, Dr. Geoffrey Fisher.

As a master of the epigram Dr. Barnes was ranked by some critics with Shakespeare and George Bernard Shaw.

Gunderson Given New Appointment

VICTORIA (CP)—Finance Minister Einar Gunderson has been appointed to British Columbia's new toll highway and bridge authority, it was reliably reported Saturday.

Mr. Gunderson declined to confirm or deny the report, but it is understood the appointment was made by order-in-council at Friday's cabinet meeting.

Mr. Gunderson was defeated in a Victoria by-election last Tuesday in his bid for a legislature seat by Liberal George Gregory.

Cabinet sources indicated a few weeks ago that the toll authority would be made up of cabinet ministers. The cabinet has power to set the salary for the three to seven members of the authority who don't have to be cabinet ministers.

Premier Bennett has declined to comment whether Mr. Gunderson will be kept on as finance minister by the Social Credit government.

"VIVA LE REINA"

'How Lovely She Is' Cry Panamanians

By GOMER JONES

CRISTOBAL, Canal Zone (Reuters)—Thousands of Panamanians ignored rain Sunday to welcome Queen Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh as the royal couple crossed the Panama isthmus.

A crowd estimated at 70,000 persons—almost the entire population of Cristobal and Colon—lined the streets of the two cities and ran beside the royal cars as the Queen and duke begin their overland crossing from the Atlantic to the Pacific coast.

The spectators surged through police cordons, shouting welcomes in Spanish and setting off fireworks the moment the Queen's car emerged in the streets of Cristobal from the pier where she landed early in the day.

"Viva le Reina" long live the Queen and "es muy bonita" how lovely she is cried the excited audience.

The Royal couple returned to the Gothic at Pedro Miguel locks to attend a church service before going on to Panama City for the British embassy reception and an exchange of medals with President Remon at the state banquet in the evening.

They sail from Balboa today at 7 a.m. for the Fiji isles of Fiji and Tonga, reported shaken by earthquakes, on their six-month Commonwealth tour.

The royal welcome to Panama began with the roar of American military planes and the boom of shore artillery when the Gothic landed its passengers at Cristobal.

U.S. army, navy, air force and marine detachments were drawn up for review on the landing pier as the Queen set foot on the American Canal Zone for her first visit to foreign soil since the coronation.

Big Four Meet Not Before Jan.

By SCOTT RANKINE

WASHINGTON (Reuters — It now is expected that the United States wil go along with Britain and France in agreeing to a Western foreign ministers meeting with the Soviet foreign minister in Berlin early in 1954.

The Western foreign ministers will be preoccupied in December with an important meeting of the council of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

It wil be impossible, therefore, to hold a Big Four conference before January. It may be thought desirable, however, to hold the conference before the French Assembly formally considers ratification of the European Defence Community treaty in February.

The U.S. state department views the proposed Big Four foreign ministers conference without enthusiasm.

DULLES APPROVES CANADA STAND

OTTAWA (CP) — The external affairs department Sunday welcomed State Secretary Dulles' refusal to press Canada to relax conditions under which American espionage investigators may question Igor Gouzenko.

Mr. Dulles told William Jenner, (Rep. Ind.) chairman of the Senate internal security sub-committee: "I believe that the Canadian government is on solid ground in insisting that it should be the final judge of whether or not its interests are involved."

IWA, Lumbermen Meet Today

PENTICTON, B.C. (CP) — Top negotiators for union and industry gather here Monday in an attempt to settle the two-month-old lumber strike in the southern interior of British Columbia.

There were no reports of new wage offers in the strike which has tied up an estimated 9000 workers in the northern and southern interior. The number is divided evenly between the two areas.

A total of about 3000 International Woodworkers of America (CCL-CIO) unionists, also evenly divided, has been on strike since October.

With a basic wage of $1.29½ cents an hour, the IWA is seeking an 18 cents an hour increase.

NEW LIQUOR VENDING SYSTEM IN AT COAST

VANCOUVER (CP) — A Vancouver liquor store will be the guinea pig for a new system of selling liquor that, if successful, may become province-wide.

The idea is to speed service and reduce customary lineups.

A card-index system will be introduced at the store. As well as speeding up service, it is hoped it will improve stock-keeping and possibly cut operating costs.

A customer now lines up three times to make a purchase — once to have an order slip filled, a second time to take it to a cashier and again to pick up his purchase.

Under the new system, a person will have to line up only once if purchasing liquor or wine and again only if purchasing just beer.

For every bottle of liquor or case of beer on the stock shelves there will be a perforated index card placed in a slot below the shelves.

The system will eliminate the present writing of individual orders.

It is understood the cards will be returned daily to Victoria where they will be run through automatic tabulating machines for fast totals. For every sale recorded, the store's supply will be replenished.

The new system starts here today.

ZURICH (Reuters)—Sir Benegal Narsing Rau, former Indian representative to the United Nations, died early today at the age of 66.

Rau was widely regarded as one of the leading figures of his generation in the spheres of diplomacy, statesmanship and constitutional law.

Six Foreign Ministers Ask European Community Pact

THE HAGUE (AP) — The foreign ministers of six West European nations, taking a long stride toward confederation, called Saturday for formulation of a complete "European community" treaty within the next four months.

The treaty is envisaged as a platform for the eventual political, economic and military integration of France, West Germany, Italy, Belgium, The Netherlands and Luxembourg.

The foreign ministers instructed their deputies to write the text of a community constitution by March 15 and submit it to a ministerial meeting in Brussels March 30.

In the final communique of the three-day session, the ministers stressed their decision to place the future of European union in the hands of the electorate as soon as the projected treaty is put into effect. This would be done through direct popular elections to fill the lower house of the proposed community's common international parliament.

SINGLE TRADE AREA

The ministers set their economic sights on the creation of a single trading area in which goods, services, persons and capital could move freely. The goals included full convertibility of currencies, removal of quota restrictions, and gradual elemination of tariffs among the six member states.

The proposed community would provide a political cover for West German rearmament and the enlistment of German manpower for Western defence through the European Defence Community treaty. It would also incorporate the existing Schuman coal-steel pool of these same six nations.

This development, plus reports of "encouraging progress" in a talk between French Foreign Minister Georges Bidault and West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer on the Franco-German dispute over the Saar, could cheer proponents of European union, particularly in France. Bidault and Adenauer met after the conference wound up.

But another parallel development appeared to reduce the EDC's chances in Italy. Italian Premier Guiseppe Pella appealed to his colleagues for at least moral support in Rome's dispute with Yugoslavia over control of Trieste. Pella indirectly warned the Trieste issue might delay ratification of the EDC treaty. He said ratification would be "greatly facilitated" if the Trieste question was settled.

JET MISSING

TORONTO (CP) — The RCAF said Sunday a Vampire jet fighter is missing on a training flight and is believed to have crashed in Lake Ontario near Whitby, 20 miles east of here.

Jaywalkers Make Moscow Traffic a Nightmare

By BILL BOSS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

MOSCOW (CP) — A Canadian traffic cop would go crazy in this Soviet capital.

Jay-walking seems to be one form of deviationism a people's democracy will tolerate.

In glaring defiance of a red traffic light an Intourist guide made me join several hundred Muscovites in a battle of wits and legs against automobiles and trucks.

One thing about Moscow traffic is that it hugs the edges and leaves the centre clear. Pausing breathless in the centre of the road, I said:

"In some cities of my country you'd never get away with this. You might even have to pay that policeman a fine."

TOUGH ON MOTORISTS

"Well," she said, "in my country we don't have fines. Only motorists have to obey traffic lights."

It's a noisy, running battle in this classless democracy between the "haves" — with cars — and the "have nots." Neither side of the battle is pleasant. In one half-mile drive the chauffeur stopped three times to shout unprintable Russian at pedestrians who had their own ideas about the right-of-way.

Veterans here say Moscow's traffic increases daily. Most vehicles are trucks and the Russian version of 1950 American cars. Three years ago the state-operated taxi stand outside the Metropole Hotel had three cabs. Today it has 23.

Everybody seems in a hurry. There is a visible purposefulness, almost a severity, about the people in the streets, the underground, the restaurants and stores — especially so working days.

RELAX ON SUNDAY

But on Sundays Muscovites take time off to stroll the streets and window-shop. They look relaxed. Soldiers, uniformed civil servants and the ordinary citizens, wife on arm and children by the hand, jostle good-humoredly in throngs that recall an Easter Sunday in Canada.

Clothing style seems to emphasize utility and warmth, not smartness in the Western sense. The temperature last Sunday was 30 degrees, and there was snow on the ground. A guide supplied by the government's Intourist bureau asked me to notice that everyone was warmly clad.

Most men wore black or navy-blue overcoats, apparently of a standard substantial weave. Some had leather jackets or windbreakers, others quilted jackets like those worn by Allied prisoners of war released by the Communists at Panmunjom, Korea, last summer.

Footgear ranges from ordinary shoes to black calf-length Cossack boots. The usual hat in this weather is of black cloth with tied-up fur ear-flaps, but there are also peaked cloth caps and some fur shakos.

Most women wear woollen cloth coats and some have furs. Variety shows most in headdress, which varies from felt and fur hats to peasant-type shawls or "baboushkas" tucked around the head and under the chin.

IMPRESSIVE STREETS

Moscow's main streets, linking a series of plazas and squares, are impressive. They are incredibly wide: The width of Ottawa's Confederation square, half as wide again as Portage avenue in Winnipeg or Victory square in Vancouver.

The guide gave astronomical figures for the number of houses and streets of old Moscow demolished to make way for the new thoroughfares. Dominating several areas are stylized skyscraper office buildings and apartment blocks, each topped by a spire supporting a gigantic hammer and sickle. More are under construction.

Finding one's way about Moscow is an acquired skill. All the signposts are in Russian. Policemen give foreigners the same matter-of-fact help they give Russians.

Near the Kremlin one must walk in prescribed paths. A blast of a militia man's whistle and a wave of his arm bring errant walkers back into line.

Militia men guard public buildings and police street intersections. They stand watch in mid-block, too, and usually seem to have a telephone handy.

As far as I know I have not been followed anywhere.

And in This Corner . . .

LONDON (Reuters)—A former street corner Santa Claus has claimed success in the first skirmish of his one-man war against the whiskered, red-robed gentleman.

Ernest Pendrigh, 54-year-old Australian, maintains Santa is in fact an "ugly old scoundrel" who both frightens and spoils the kiddies. His anti-Santa campaign opened this week with installation of a Christmas "fairy queen" in the children's department of a suburban London store.

Children deserted Santa, at the other end of the floor, to get a kiss from the frilly fairy, becomingly played by a 22-year-old model. Ernie, a photographer as well as a former street Santa, turned out glossy records of the meetings at 65 cents a child.

"I think children enjoy seeing a pretty fairy queen more than a big bearded man with hairy hands," said Pendrigh. "I have seen lots of children run screaming when they see Santa Claus."

PARIS (AP)—Lloyd H. Cornwall, the man who introduced an exotic dish called "corn on the cob" in France, has been made a knight of the Legion of Honor.

The award was presented to him Friday by André Mutter, French veterans minister, at a banquet at the Paris post of the American Legion of which Cornwall is commander.

Cornwall, a veteran of the First World War who married a French girl and settled on a farm near Paris, began growing sweet corn in 1924. At first he had to give it away. Now he supplies more than three-quarters of the sweet corn consumed in the Paris area.

Cornwall had to surmount European prejudice against a food still widely considered fit only for animals.

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — A Memphis matron who saw steam rising from the roof shingles after a shower telephoned the fire department:

"I think my house is on fire, but I'm not sure. Just send a small engine."

LONDON (Reuters)—Reserved for Miss E. Forrest of London and companion: Two seats on the first commercial passenger flight to the moon.

A voucher for the seats was awarded to Miss Forrest Saturday in a competition held by London's new daily newspaper, the Recorder.

Entries came in from throughout the world after the newspaper's readers were invited to say in five words why they would like to fly to the moon.

Miss Forrest's winning entry was: "The Elizabethan spirit of exploration."

Some other women contestants had another reason: Shortage of men on earth.

Jumbo Pass Would Serve Added 75,000 . . .

Liberals Back Move for Nelson, Trail Federal Buildings, Survey

More support for the construction of Federal buildings in Nelson and Trail including the proposed new Nelson post office came from the annual convention of the Kootenay West Liberal Association Sunday. A resolution in connection with this pointed out that commencement of this work would alleviate "widespread unemployment" in both these areas.

A meeting of the Nelson Liberal Association Saturday asked the Federal Public Works department to take "immediate steps" towards construction of the Nelson post office.

Frank Abbey, president of the Lardeau and District Liberal Association, dealt with recent proposals from the Lardeau district and others in connection with obtaining a survey of the Jumbo Pass route as an alternate to the present Big Bend Highway section of the Trans-Canada Highway No. 1.

Choice of the Jumbo Pass, it was pointed out, would give access to the Trans-Canada Highway to about 75,000 people of the southeastern portion of the province who are now many miles from this important artery.

In addition, it was said that the proposed route would serve everyone that the present Big Bend route takes care of. It was felt that the greatest number of people in the province should be served and that strategic and defense objectives should be noted when a new route is chosen providing that such a new route is feasible from an economic and practical standpoint.

The meeting unanimously endorsed the resolution of the several Boards of Trade and Chambers of Commerce who had requested at least a preliminary survey before any definite route is chosen.

The Hon. P. A. Gaglardi, Provincial Minister of Public Works, came under fire for statements he allegedly made recently that Ottawa had instructed the province to go ahead with the Big Bend regardless of the possibility of flooding over 90 miles of this route if and when a proposed giant hydro-electric plant becomes a reality at Mica Creek.

President H. D. Harrison read a letter from the Hon. Robert Winters, minister of public works at Ottawa. The letter said in part: "With regard to a statement that Ottawa had issued instructions to the province, I may say that Mr. Gaglardi well knows that Ottawa does not issue instructions to any of the provinces with regard to the construction of the Trans-Canada Highway.

"My exchange of correspondence with reference to the Big Bend portion was tabled in the House of Commons and is a matter of public knowledge. Any interpretation of Mr. Gaglardi's should keep this in mind."

BY-ELECTION "TEST"

Satisfaction was expressed in the recent results of the Victoria by-election by the meeting which regarded the election as a test of strength of the Social Credit party in British Columbia. It was decided to send a letter of congratulations to Mr. Gregory, the victorious candidate.

The continuation of the Kootenay Liberal News was also endorsed. This publication will be issued monthly to all members of the Liberal Association and other who are interested in receiving it.

Harry D. Harrison was re-elected president of the Kootenay West Liberal Association and P. C. Stewart of Trail was chosen as secretary. Vice-presidents chosen were Frank Abbey of Lardeau, representing Kaslo-Slocan; E. W. White of Nelson, representing Nelson-Creston, and Harold Farghey of Rossland, representing Trail-Rossland.

Narrow Escape For Family From Fire

TRAIL — A fire causing $700 or $800 damage started about 7 a.m. Sunday in the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Chobanuk, 701 Cells Crescent in Sunningdale.

The fire, which started in the children's bedroom, possibly in the closet, destroyed a considerable amount of clothing. A Tadanac fireman, Archie McTeer, living close by, was returning home after shift and noticed the flames and smoke pouring from a window. He rushed over just as Mrs. Chobanuk and her three boys Eric 8, Terry 6, and Rickie 7, were coming out of the burning building.

Mr. Chobanuk was at work at the time. Rickie was heartbroken at the loss of his new Cub uniform.

Robert Smith, living next door, was aroused by the screams of the children. After making sure everyone was out of the burning house, he connected up his garden hose, and with Mr. McTeer's assistance, proceeded to control the flames until the arrival of the Trail fire department.

Mr. Smith is still recovering from burns he received about two or three months ago when he dashed out of another neighbor's house with a pan of burning wax to prevent a fire. The wax exploded in his face just as he threw it away.

Representatives from the C.M. & S. Co., and mining companies are expected to attend. R. J. Craig and I. Elias of the B.C. Compensation Board, silicosis branch, will also be present.

An extensive program, including educational and social functions, has been prepared by the Northwest Mining Association, Davenport Hotel being the centre of operations.

Family Escapes Injury When Car Overturns

PROCTER — A Balfour family narrowly escaped injury near here Sunday morning when their car struck a soft bank at the side of the road and overturned. Damage to the late model car is estimated to be between two and three hundred dollars.

Fred May, his wife and children were approaching Procter when their car swerved and nosed into the bank about one half-mile out of town. The impact apparently caused the vehicle to flip over on the road.

Passing motorists stopped to give assistance while Mrs. May and her children were driven to the home of Mrs. N. Dosenberger. A number of residents who gathered at the scene righted the overturned car.

Yule Activities For Boys' Choir

St. Paul's Boys Choir is busy preparing for several appearances during the Christmas season. On November 29, ten of the boys will contribute the musical items on the first of the Sunday evening programs, "Questing Time" from St. Paul's Church.

These 10 recently sang in Trail for the Women's Musical Club and will repeat some of their program from that occasion.

The full choir of 50 boys will sing Christmas music at the morning service at St. Paul's on December 20. They will also sing carols at Kootenay Lake General Hospital and Mount St. Francis on the afternoon of Boxing Day, Dec. 26.

The issue of the Choir's 21st anniversary booklet, last December was met with wide acclaim from members of the choir, resident as far apart as Labrador and Alaska, England and Korea.

Mrs. T. J. S. Ferguson, boys' choir leader for 21 years and author of the booklet, has received many congratulatory letters from near and far.

ICY ROADS CAUSE $200 ACCIDENT

Slippery road conditions were believed the reason for an accident near Salmo Saturday that caused about $200 damage to a Nelson car.

Only occupant of the car was the driver, Douglas Hall who was uninjured. The car is believed to have skidded on ice at a corner about a mile and-a-half from Salmo and gone over the bank.

Nakusp Potatoes Harvested For Sale Later In Season, Agency Explains

The statement that Nakusp farmers "are forced to harvest potatoes with no hope of sale" is entirely without foundation, states A. Pallay, district representative of the Interior Vegetable Marketing Board.

Mr. Pallay was commenting on a story carried last week under a Nakusp dateline outlining the potato situation in the area.

"True, the prices for farm produce this year are disastrously low," said Mr. Pallay. "In order to move our produce we have to be competitive in price and quality. Even with present ruinous prices we are getting the highest possible net return to the grower through orderly marketing. Nakusp growers have the same privileges as do growers in this district.

"Seed potatoes, which constitute a large portion of potatoes grown in Nakusp, are not controlled by the Interior Vegetable Marketing Agency. The producer can find his own market if he so desires.

"I have contacted the growers concerned and they want to go on record as saying that they are in favor of orderly marketing through the Agency. They have harvested all their potatoes in preparation for sale later in the season."

Mr. Pallay also said that the local growers had the local market to themselves and were protected from outside competition by the freight rates into Nakusp. He realized, however, that the local market was limited due to present economic conditions.

Key To New Trail Citadel Goes To Army

TRAIL—The new Salvation Army Citadel in downtown Trail was officially opened Saturday afternoon when Mayor E. G. Fletcher handed the key to the $52,000 building to Brigadier R. W. Gage, in charge of the Salvation Army in British Columbia.

Service at the opening was conducted by Lieut. J. D. Barr, officer commanding Trail Corps, and music was provided by the Salvation Army Band.

The oil-heated building measures 125 feet by 73. A two-storey structure it has a full basement. Kitchen and quarters for the resident officer are on the ground floor.

Work on the citadel was started on August 8. For the first time in Trail re-inforced concrete raft foundation was used to overcome the problem of securing footing on great depths of slag. The building is literally floating on top of the slag on a strong platform of reinforced concrete slabs and beams.

Liberals Urge Post Office Action; To Encourage Youth Membership

Nelson Liberals will ask the Federal Government for action on the proposed new post office, it was decided at the annual general meeting in the Legion Hall Saturday afternoon.

After thorough discussion, a resolution was passed asking the Minister of Public Works in Ottawa "to take vigorous steps to ensure early commencement of this project."

Delegates from the Nelson Liberal Association meeting were instructed to press for the endorsement of this resolution at the Sunday meeting of the Kootenay-West Liberal Association.

Members attending Saturday's meeting decided to encourage those under 21 to take an active part in local Liberal activities. It was felt that since many of this age group have received or will receive the franchise, they should take an interest in the Association if they were so inclined.

Other discussion centred on encouraging district persons to join the Nelson Liberal Association. It was noted that the Salmo-Ymir area would ultimately have a local of its own as that district advanced.

The Rt. Hon. Louis St. Laurent was chosen honorary president while the honorary vice-presidents named were the Hon. James Sinclair, minister of fisheries and Arthur Laing, MLA, B.C. Liberal leader.

Re-elected president of the local association was Fraser Tees. Vice-presidents selected were Leo S. Gansner and Roy Hunter.

Chosen for the executive committee were Stanley Morris, George Kirby, Ben Sutherland, Leo S. Gansner, Gordon Burns, A. K. McAdams, E. V. White, P. Marken, W. W. Ferguson, George Mermet, William Burns, N. R. Sardich, K. Jensen, R. A. Peebles, H. D. Harrison, A. H. Allan, W. N. Ferguson, W. W. Maybank, F. C. Heembrock and D. Morgan.

A secretary-treasurer will be appointed by the Executive at a later date.

All Baker Street U-Turns Banned

No U-tufns may be made at any intersection on Baker Street by motorists, it was announced over the weekend.

City police are notifying the public today that the intersections at Railway, Falls and Hendryx streets have been placed under the no U-turn ban as part of the campaign for more orderly traffic on the main street.

Recalling that it took some time to educate motorists to the fact that Kootenay and Hall streets intersections were made no-U-turn last year, Chief Robert Harshaw said that for a few days warnings only would be given to motorists continuing to make U-turns on Baker street at any intersection.

Eagles Honor Proudfoots

Some 80 members of the Fraternal Order of Eagles and Ladies' Auxiliary held a reception Saturday evening in honor of Mr. and Mrs. D. H. Proudfoot, who had recently celebrated their golden wedding anniversary.

On behalf of the Fraternal Order of Eagles and Ladies' Auxiliary, H. Talbot, president, and Mrs. W. P. Kidwell, president, presented the couple with corsages and an occasional chair.

Bingo was played and refreshments served at which time an anniversary cake, decorated by one of the Auxiliary ladies, was cut.

Singing and dancing was also enjoyed by all. F. Eberle took pictures of the occasion.

Mr. and Mrs. D. H. Proudfoot's son, wife and daughters were also present.

LONDON (CP) — School mistress K. Gordon Ewn of the Tulse Hill district complained children pass examinations in English but do not speak or write gramatically outside school — because the learners don't fit their lessons to their usual modes of expression.

Grand Forks, Castlegar, Greenwood, Natal To Get Repeater Stations

East and West Kootenay by the end of December will boast five new CBC repeater stations. Each unit costs $5000 to $6000.

A "booster" station is nearing completion at Natal, construction of one at Grand Forks is scheduled to start December 7, another will be built at Greenwood, by the end of December one at Castlegar is expected to be complete, and the Golden repeater will start operation early in December.

The blind stations, which pick up CBC broadcasts and transmit them to local listeners, will be modern versions of one already installed at Creston, Cranbrook, Kimberley and Fernie.

Special telegraph wires must be strung from Crow's Nest to Natal station, from Grand Forks to Greenwood and from Nelson to Castlegar to service the areas. Longest line will be from Nelson to Castlegar, 24 miles.

Difference between a "booster" station and a local station such as Nelson's CKLN is that it has no studio, and it is of extreme low power, about 20 watts. Only the straight CBC programs can be carried. Stations are made up of a special aerial, counter poise or special buried ground, special poles and transmitter which arrives assembled from the factory.

C. W. Bailey, CPR Telegraph inspector of communications at Nelson, is supervising the work.

The Grand Forks station, which will pick up CBC programs and transmit them to the district, will be built at the CPR station in West Grand Forks, about a mile from the city.

Materials for the pick-up station arrived a week ago and with arrival of delayed poles, antenna and tubes, all is ready for construction.

Seventeen men are working on the projects.

Special conditions in East Kootenay make it highly unfavorable for general radio reception from any distance, and repeater stations at Creston, Cranbrook and Fernie installed several years ago have given these centres satisfactory access to CBC service. Repeaters at Golden and Natal were authorized some time ago, but actual installation has been delayed because of priority of radar equipment installations of the federal government.

$260 Raised in March Dimes So Far

NATAL — Pythian Sisters, Alexander Temple, No. 18, of Natal-Michel, in support of the March of Dimes for the sick and crippled children's hospital have reached the half way mark in their annual March of Dimes.

Last year about $385 was realized This year the quota is $500 for Natal-Michel and district.

Chairman Mrs. Agnes Phillips of Michel reports $262.50 has been already collected.

CPR Reduces Nakusp Rates

NAKUSP — The Canadian Pacific Railway Company has introduced a five per cent reduction in freight rates.

The following are the new rates into Nakusp from Vancouver, based on the shortest route by way of Revelstoke and Arrowhead. Class 1: $2.50; 2: 2.15; 3: $1.70; 4. $1.30. The rate from Nelson to Nakusp is 1: $1.14; 2: $.95; 3: $.73; 4: $.56. These are L.C.L. rates.

Carload lots are based on mileage travelled. Very few things are brought into Nakusp in carload lots.

NEW CCF LEADER in Ontario, Donald C. MacDonald was raised in Cranbrook and was a candidate for Kootenay East in the August federal election, won by Liberal James Byrne. He was formerly treasurer and national organizer of the party.

Interest Roused In Outburst Of Claim Staking

CRANBROOK — Unusual mining activity along the highway south of Cranbrook has aroused interest here. In the past couple of months 32 claims have been staked on both sides of the southern transprovincial highway from the Kimberley road junction to Eager, and claims have been recorded at the provincial government office. They cover mineral rights at the north end of the airport.

Recording the claims were William P. Hammond of Penticton, and John M. Greenaway, K. C. Campbell and Bernard A. McKay, all of Vancouver. Staking program is reported to have followed a recent geophysical survey in this area carried out by the Dominion Department of Resources and Development which had several survey parties in various types of work in East Kootenay during the summer months.

Recorders are required to do $100 worth of assessment work on their claims each year to retain them.

LIONS PLAN TURKEY SHOOTS, SELL TB STAMPS

INVERMERE — The Lake Windermere Lions Club has its seasonal activity in full swing with plans to keep members busy until well into the New Year.

The annual sale of Christmas tuberculosis stamps has been undertaken again by the Lions and stamps have already been distributed under Convener Lion Vaughan Kimpton.

Three idoor turkey shoots are also lined up, the first to be held at Ivermere November 28 and 29, the second at Edgewater, December 5 and 6 and the third at Canal Flat December 12 and 13.

The Evening Circle of Trinity United Church at Invermere will be in charge of refreshments for the Invermere Turkey Shoot.

The Lions are forming plans for a scholarship for a Grade 12 Windermere District student and a committee will work out details. Plans for these events were made at a dinner meeting at which 26 Lions were present.

Logan James Atwood of Edgewater was inducted as a new member.

Installs TV Set

Experts Said "Can't Be Done", Slocan Man Proves It Can

SLOCAN CITY — The "experts" told him it couldn't be done — Slocan City was too far away from a television station — but Lloyd Sherwood, amateur radio technician wasn't to be stumped.

He purchased a $400 TV set then spent many hours experimenting.

Today the radio enthusiast and his neighbors are enjoying "the shows" although they are somewhat hampered by "snow" on the screen.

With purchase of additional equipment later on Mr. Sherwood hopes to have clearer reception even though the set is located 100 air miles from the nearest TV station at Spokane.

Enquiry Casts No Light On Cause Of Kaslo King George Hotel Fire

KASLO—Exhaustive enquiry at Kaslo by B.C. Fire Marshal W. A. Walker failed to disclose the cause of a disastrous fire which totally destroyed the King George Hotel Sept. 26.

A. Macdonald acted as interrogator throughout the hearing.

James Allan of Nelson, representing Turner, Meredith and Company, insurance adjusters of Vancouver, as first witness stated he was instructed by telegram to take charge of fire loss adjustment after the Kaslo landmark was destroyed. He gave detailed information on the amount of insurance involved on both the hotel and personal effects of Gary L. Laughton. A detailed list of personal belongings was given Mr. Macdonald at his request.

W. J. Hendren, Kaslo fire chief, testified on actions taken by the brigade from the time they were called to the scene of the fire until he left around 6 a.m.

In his opinion the fire was caused by "combustion of accumulated gases in the stoker-hopper."

Mr. Bennett of Bennett Limited at Nelson said the company had installed 80 or more stokers in the district and could offer no explanation for the fire.

Mr. Staubacher testified insurance had been place about 12 months before he became co-owner of the hotel.

Mr. Staudacher did not know if Mrs. Staudacher was in her room on the second floor at the time of the fire. His wife was inside the hotel and he didn't see her until she was handed down to him by helpers from the fire escape during the blaze.

Questioning of Mrs. Eve Laughton who was near breakdown was stopped by the fire marshal.

Mr. Walker in summing up said it is a necessary thing in my department to investigate fires of unknown origin and he ruled that "this fire would have to be recorded as fire of unknown origin."

Mrs. Staudacher, who was in the witness room during the hearing, was not called to testify. She told Mr. Walker she was inside the hotel at the start of the fire and had heard two explosions and would like to testify.

Further evidence, however, was not necessary, Mr. Walker said.

Why the High Food Prices?

Is it time for an inquiry into the widening rift between rising retail food prices and the declining farm prices? The latest report on the cost of living index suggests that it is. The cost of living has been going up steadily for the last half year, and the rise, says the Dominion Bureau of Statistics is mainly due to higher food prices.

In spring the consumer was hopeful that the cost of living had leveled off after a six-month decline in the index. But it was not to last. Consumer prices in the United States have followed a similar trend and are now at a record high. But in both countries, retail food prices have been soaring while wholesale farm prices have been dropping. As a result, Ezra Benson, the U.S. secretary of agriculture, has ordered an inquiry into the spread between farm and retail prices. Such an inquiry could profitably be made in Canada.

Few farmers today believe they are getting a fair return for their work. Are the middlemen making too much? An inquiry should throw some light on that delicate question. If food prices continue to rise, there will continue to be demands for wage increases, and as long as wages continue to rise, manufacturers will continue to increase the retail cost of their products. Carrying the load as always is the man at the end of the line, the consumer.

The Third Asset

Of the various ailments from which Canada suffers, the worst is underdevelopment, which is bound up with underpopulation. There is scarcely a problem bedevilling this country — from high freight rates to high taxes, from a surplus of wheat to a scarcity of houses—that cannot be traced back in whole or in part to the fact that there aren't enough people in it.

Unlike many other nations, we have vast natural resources. Unlike many other nations, we can get capital simply by asking for it. These two assets are bringing Canada—not all of it, but much of it—a great development. But that development, even in British Columbia, where it is spectacular—is not nearly as great as it should be. The reason is that we lack the third asset which puts the other two to full use—a large, diversified pool of manpower and womanpower.

For the Rustic Life

To The Editor:

Sir—Re. finance explanation by Hon. W. D. Black in Nov. 26 issue.

Have read explanation by Mr. Byron Johnson, and the Vancouver Sun report of 21st inst. on the Editorial page.

Hon. E. M. Gunderson in his letter via Hon. W. D. Black in explanation of finances, says, quote, "Suppose you borrow, say, $20,000 by way of a mortgage to buy a farm" unquote.

Jolly good idea, there are some lovely farms in the Slocan, Shutty Bench and around Creston, and in the Nelson News ads.

Happy farming Mr. Black!

Yours for the rustic life,
FRANK CARTER.

Election Costs And the Law

Every member-elect is liable to a penalty of $500 for each day he sits in the House of Commons without having provided the returning officer with a statement of his campaign expenses. As about 100 members were in default after the 1949 election, and sat throughout the eight sessions of that Parliament, the amount collectively owing might, in event of prosecution, have wiped out the national debt.

The Dominion Election Act requires all campaign receipts and expenses to be handled by the candidate's official agent, and all accounts to be paid within 30 days after the successful candidate is declared elected. The agent must within two months after that declaration transmit a detailed statement of expenses to the returning officer, who in turn must publish within 10 days a "summary". If a candidate does not make such a return he "shall not after the expiration of such time sit or vote in the House of Commons." If prosecuted he may be disqualified for five years from being elected, from voting, or from holding any office under the Crown.

There are saving clauses. He may sit in the House "after such return has been transmitted" or after "allowance of an authorized excuse". This latter out saved T. M. Cayley, late Liberal MP for South Oxford, $25,000 penalty when he was taken to court in 1927 for failure to publish his expenses.—Toronto Telegram.

Chill Winds Of Civilization

That business about "don't be in the doghouse' is nonsense. There's no better place in the world.

The dogs of this country wag their tails a bit, and juicy bones and some 60,000 tons of dog food a year fall into their plates.

Alas, however, there's trouble ahead.

The chill winds of civilization are blowing in the doghouse door. Schools to train dogs have been springing up. Fido can no longer be illiterate. And the other day a "Dog Obedience Training Club of Greater Victoria" was registered with the B. C. Government.

Until recently, being literate to a dog merely meant raising pups. But now for Fido, the "three g-r-r-r-r-s" are becoming the "three r's".

To be a carefree dog is a good life. But to be an educated one wouldn't be much better than being a human.—The Financial Post.

Ugh

The royal proclamation summoning MPs "to our city of Ottawa for the Despatch of Business" will be conveyed, presumably by smoke-signal, to an unprecedented number of Indian chiefs. There are a couple recently honored: Chief Eagle from the Starblanket reserve in Saskatchewan, and Chief Ganawendjged (He keeps us well) of the Ojibway tribe at Cape Croker. Then there are Chief Sky, another Ojibway, from the Lakehead; Tsikum-Ina (Thunder Chief) from Melville, Sask.; and the greatest chief of all, Sweetgrass, of the Athabaska Crees.

In case their paleface designations are not familiar, the four first listed are John Diefenbaker, Hon. Paul Martin, Rev. Dan McIvor and Rt. Hon. J. G. Gardiner. That fifth one, with many scalps at his belt, when off the reservation is known as Louis St. Laurent. Doubtless there are other honorary redmen among those summoned to the Ottawa longhouse. Most of them, evidently, will sit with Chief Sweetgrass.

There is a tradition that wise men of Indian tribes, sitting in council, preserve long silences, uttering "Ugh!" at infrequent intervals. This would seem to promise well for reduction of futile debate at Ottawa powwows. Unfortunately, Hansard discloses that such is not the case. For example:

Mr. McIvor: As an Indian chief I congratulate the minister for the statement that 75 per cent of the Indian population have been X-rayed.

Mr. Martin: As an Indian chief, I thank you.

Mr. Carroll: I should like to ask the minister . . .

Mr. MacDougall: If you are not an Indian chief then don't enter this debate.

Mr. Harkness: As just an ordinary Indian I should like to make a remark. It is simply "Ugh."—Toronto Telegram.

Civil Servant's Role

(Ottawa Journal)

With Mr. J. W. Pickersgill's ideas of the proper role of a civil servant given at the opening of Carleton College's School of Public Administration, all who understand our parliamentary system must agree. Civil servants, he said, must not attempt to take responsibility for the policies they carry out; responsibility belongs to ministers. "Any public servant who attempts to assume that responsibility is not a good public servant." Nor should public servants publicly defend or promote policies. "Like children, they should be seen, not heard."

This is good, proper doctrine; something The Journal has held all along. Public servants, whether members of the permanent civil service, or heads of commissions, boards or bureaux, have no business telling the public what it should or should not do in the way of policy; no business in admonishing it or exhorting it or lecturing it in support or non-support of any public course whatsoever.

Underwater TV Outfit Has Grand Time Spying On Deep-Sea Fish

By JOHN VAN DUSEN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP)—It used to be that life in a goldfish bowl was the ultimate in lack of privacy. But now the experts are peeking—by television—on piscatorial affairs in Canada's lakes and streams.

The scientific scanning is being done by an underwater TV outfit developed by the National Research Council. The set is in such demand that the NRC can't get it back to its laboratories for overhaul and improvement.

Officials of the Canadian wildlife services say the uses of the new device in the study of fisheries "are limited only by the imagination."

ELIMINATES GUESSWORK

For instance, it is taking much of the study of lake fisheries out of the guesswork area. Limnologists—the men who study freshwater fisheries—used to have to content themselves with taking fish and chunks of riverbed to their laboratories for observation.

Now, they can sit in a boat and, looking at a TV screen, watch the fish as they breed and go through teh other life processes.

The NRC's television, which took a year to develop and was first put to practical use in 1951, consists underwater of a barrel-like and waterproof unit that is lowered under the surface.

A cable connects it to viewing screens in a boat on the surface. Observers watch one screen, while another may be hooked up to a movie camera that records the sights.

The idea of using such a unit in fishery research occurred to Dr. V. E. F. Solman, chief biologist of the wildlife service, after hearing of the Royal Navy's success with a similar device in locating the sunken submarine Affray in September, 1951.

CLEAR PICTURE

The Affray sink in the Thames estuary, and the Royal Navy and private enterprise co-operated in developing underwater television to separate it from other wrecks on the bottom. On the navy's TV screen, the Affray's nameplate was readable.

Since the Canadian unit went into operation, it has been used in a wide variety of studies. Last fall, the limnologists operating in Lake Minnewanka in Banff National Park were able to study spawning of lake trout in areas as deep as 80 feet.

There have been tests in Lake Ontario, and a study was made of the bottom of Kingston, Ont., harbor. Other studies were made in the Rideau River and the Rideau lakes in and around Ottawa.

Arrangements have been made to have the unit make its debut this month on the NBC television network in the United States.

While the machine is opening up vistas previously closed to the human eye, the NRC scientists are not satisfied with it. For one thing, the unit is too bulky and heavy and requires a 30-foot vessel on the surface to handle it.

The NRC officials are hoping to streamline it as to weight and ease of handling, and they also want to improve the underwater lighting and other facilities. They wish the people using it would let them get it into drydock for a while.

Idaho Telephone Network Completed

COEUR D'ALENE, Idaho (AP)—The General Telephone Co. has virtually compelted its North Idaho customer toll dialing network with the addition of Cpeur d'Alene and six neighboring exchanges.

The system, first of its kind in the northwest, permits customers to dial long distance numbers in other network cities on their own telephone without going through an operator.

About 11,000 telephones in north Idaho will be in the network by midnight.

The newest additions cost $750,000, General said.

UN Pushes Anew Armament Cut

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—The United Nations General Assembly called for new efforts to reduce the world's armaments and suggested this might be done by private talks among the big powers, Saturday.

Despite appeals for unanimity, the Soviet bloc abstained. Soviet delegate Andrei Vishinsky contended the resolution was too general and that it failed to give the UN disarmament commission enough guidance.

The vote was 54 to 0, with five abstentions.

The assembly ejected Soviet amendments which called for recommendations by next March 1 for substantial reductions in the armaments of the big powers and for prohibition of atomic and hydrogen weapons.

The majority has insisted that the problem must be tackled by stages, beginning with a verified census of armaments and armed forces.

30,000 Miles of Goodwill for Canada

NORTH AND SOUTH of the Equator . . . on both sides of the Atlantic . . . in half a dozen different languages . . . the Seagram Collection of Paintings of Canadian Cities is making front page news for Canada.

Spanning three great continents, the International Tour of the Seagram Collection is telling Canada's story of achievement as it never has been told before—interpreting our country to the peoples of other lands in the graphic idiom of a language always and universally understood.

And everywhere this airborne art gallery has touched down—for a brilliant formal preview and a one-to-two week public showing—the response has surpassed the most optimistic hopes held by The House of Seagram when it commissioned the painting of fifty-two portraits of Canadian cities by distinguished Canadian artists and planned to send the canvases on their 30,000-mile goodwill flight.

Hundreds of columns of newspaper comment and pictures, scores of radio and television broadcasts, newsreel films and animated public and private discussions all testify to rapidly mounting interest in Canada and friendly receptiveness towards all things Canadian. Already more than 60,000 persons have studied the paintings and carried home brochures reproducing the paintings of the twenty-two Canadian cities in full colour.

More important, these new foreign friends have carried away vivid personal impressions of Canada as a great and growing country — a land of tremendous natural and industrial resources and remarkable human resourcefulness.

Every province has a waiting list for telephone service

In Canada every province has a waiting list for telephones.

The demand for telephone service has been greatly accelerated in recent years by higher incomes and the development of "telephone consciousness." This has strained both publicly owned and privately owned telephone resources in Canada as it has in most other countries in the world.

Now almost every business man and family wants a telephone. In British Columbia the problem is particularly acute, since this province is growing faster than any other. Despite this, B.C. now ranks second of the Canadian provinces in number of telephones per 100 population, while Vancouver is the second city in Canada by the same index. More and more people and businesses are coming to British Columbia and with them come requests for more and more telephones.

One third of the B.C. Telephone Company's 300,000 telephones were installed within the last five years. Between 1948 and 1953 this company has put in an average of 20,000 telephones each year.

It's true that B.C.—just as every other province in Canada—does have a waiting list for telephones. However, to meet this demand, a record program of expansion and improvement has been underway for some time and is continuing. Right now $25 million is being spent for expanding service in the largest program of development in B.C. Telephone history.

Air Force Unit That Never Bombs Or Shoots Functions In Germany

RICHARD K. O'MALLEY

WIESBADEN (AP) — There's a United States air force unit stationed near here that will never shoot down an enemy jet or bomb an enemy target.

The USAF Fourth Epidemiological Flight has one mission: to prevent disease.

A little outfit with a big name, it always has planes at its disposal to spray DDT or to carry flight personnel to danger spots where epidemics threaten to cripple the defence effort.

U. S. personnel at Nourasseur, French Morocco, were having malaria trouble recently. The Fourth went to work. A short time later Arabs in the area were kicking up a fuss about minnows in the water wells.

ALWAYS SOMETHING

The Fourth sprayed a mixture of DDT and oil over mosquito-breeding potholes, but native wells were another problem because DDT isn't potable. Harmless minnows were the answer. Stocked in the wells by the air force, they snapped up mosquito larvae, thus killing off the greatest source of malaria before it got started.

Arabs are accustomed to the minnows now. But another problem has come up; a lot of minnows are ending up in Arab stew pots.

Meanwhile the Nourasseur malaria problem has been whipped.

The Fourth is a powerhouse of scientific talent. Capt. John O. Wells, Jr., flight commander, holds a medical degree from Tulane University and a master's degree in public health. Lieut. Lawrence A. Irvine, a graduate bacteriologist, is working for his doctorate in Germany. Lieut. Donald H. Hamburg is a veterinarian. Other ranks are made up of trained technicians.

PROBLEM DISAPPEARS

Their regular area is continental Europe, but they are called in wherever needed. Some time ago a U. S. airbase near Manchester, England, was having too much dysentery. Officials suspected food handling was the cause.

The Fourth flew to England and put on a touring show to demonstrate how food should be handled, checked dish washing and plumbing facilities, talked with civilian employees and made pointed recommendations.

The dysentery problem disappeared.

'Peg Polio Plague Said To Be Largest Known In World History

WINNIPEG (CP)—This year's polio epidemic in Manitoba which struck nearly 2300 persons and caused 82 deaths is believed to have been the largest in world history.

An interim report to Health Minister F. C. Bell by the polio technical advisory committee said "we know of no polio epidemic in the world of similar magnitude."

The 2300 cases were 120 per cent more than in Manitoba's largest previous epidemic—1011 in 1941.

The total provincial incidence was nearly 300 per 100,000 population, far higher than any previous rate in Canada and any known world figure, the report said.

The committee said despite the large number of cases with respiratory paralysis, the total fatality rate of 3.5 per cent has been lower than in comparable epidemics in other areas in 1952 and 1953.

The committee credited the low rate largely to effective means of treatment at King George hospital in Winnipeg, based on excellent experience in last year's epidemic.

Thirty per cent of those affected were over 20 years of age, and 62 per cent of the cases had paralysis. About 13 per cent needed treatment in respirators.

SENATE TO HEAR INSANITY AS DIVORCE BASIS

OTTAWA (CP)—The Senate divorce committee, for the first time in parliamentary history, has decided to hear a divorce petition on grounds of incurable insanity.

Hitherto, the committee has heard only petitions claiming adultery. However, the committee will consider the petition of a Quebec man for a divorce from his wife who, he says, is incurably insane.

After several discussions, the committee is understood to have reached the decision because the man has no other recourse in law since Quebec province has no divorce court.

Divorce for Quebec and Newfoundland residents has been handled by Parliament, in the former case since Confederation and in the latter since Newfoundland entered Confederation in 1949.

A divorce authority said that there is no law which states that the grounds for parliamentary divorces must be adultery. But during the years, the grounds have been established by custom as adultery to obtain divorce and non-consummation of a marriage to obtain an annulment. Petitions for annulment are rarely made to Parliament.

Wandering Airwoman Fined, May Be Dropped by RCAF

VANCOUVER (CP) — Airwoman Margaret Isobel Burton, 28, who surrendered to the RCAF recently after being absent for 18 months, was summarily tried, found guilty of being absent without leave and fined $40 Saturday.

Wing Cmdr. D. C. S. Macdonald, commanding the RCAF Sea Island station, said he had recommended her release from the air force for unsatisfactory conduct and that his recommendation will be studied by headquarters in Ottawa.

He said a decision is expected early next week.

Airwoman Burton vanished from the RCAF station at Aylmer, Ont., April 15, 1952 and so far has given no explanation of her movements since then except to say she had been "all over the North American continent" since then.

She was arrested at the home of her foster parents, an aunt and uncle, in Victoria on her return from California a week ago.

Britain, Burma Seek New Agreement

LONDON (Reuters)—Britain and Rangoon Monday for a new defence Burma will begin negotiations in agreement.

The foreign office said Saturday the two governments have been examining the replacement of the Anglo-Burmese defence agreement which came into force Jan. 4, 1948, with Burma's independence. Burma gave a year's notice last January to terminate this agreement. Concerned with transitional stages arising from withdrawal of British troops from Burma, it now is considerably out of date.

Erskine, Parnell Top Pitchers

NEW YORK (AP)—Brooklyn's Carl Erskine and Mel Parnell of Boston Red Sox, two of major league baseball's 20-game winners last season, moved well up among the lifetime pitching leaders as a result of their fine performances.

Erskine, who finished with a 20-6 record for the Dodgers, shows an over-all slate of 71 victories and 34 setbacks (.676) for his six years in the National League. He ranks second to the Giants' Sal Maglie's (.699) 72-31, figures compiled by The Associated Press showed today.

Parnell now is second in the American League to the Yankees' Vic Raschi. Mel, with 21-8 during the last campaign, has 111 wins and 59 defeats for .658 while Raschi, 13-6 last year, shows a gaudy .706, with 120 triumphs and only 50 losses.

Creston, Bonners Winners in East Kootenay Basketball

CRANBROOK — Stalling desperately in the last minute of the last quarter won the Creston Seniors a hard-fought basketball game over the Cranbrook Hornets at Cranbrook. The score was 66-64. Clapp was high scorer for the local with Bob Wigan pacing the Creston Seniors in the penalty-ridden game.

Also in East Kootenay International League basketball play, Bonners Ferry racked up another win at home by decisively defeating Kimberley All-Stars 60-33. Ray Kelson led the winners with 15 points and Kimberley's Anderson scored 13.

Around the KOOTENAY in Sport

By JACK KAVANAGH

If it were not for their inability to win games on the road, the Dynamiters would be leading the WIHL by a city block today.

If you're looking for consistency, then the Dynamiters have it in the "we can't win away from home department." It isn't the lack of chances that has kept the club from winning on the road this season. Twice they have tied games when they should have won. Spokane tied one game in the last minute of play and in their first game in Trail the Smoke Eaters squared the count in the late stages of the contest.

So far this season the Dynamiters have only managed to salvage two points on the road out of a possible 20. Very disgusting to the Kimberley fans. It's been a number of years since Kimberley hockey addicts were treated to a team that could win on foreign ice.

The Dynamiters have powerful sticks at home, but elsewhere they lose their prestige.

Larson couldn't give an explanation for the club's poor showing away from home last Friday in Trail when they suffered a 13-3 trimming, except perhaps that the club was trying too hard to score and not giving Earl Betker the protection he should have had.

"Trail was red hot," he said.

The 5-4 defeat in Nelson Saturday was excusable after one glance at the penalty parade. Kimberley served eight and Nelson one. The Maple Leafs were a tired crew after a gruelling road trip, but a shot in the arm like this helps considerably.

Penticton fared a little better on Tuesday. They only received 12 penalties to Nelson's four.

The Dynamiters are the most erratic team. They tie Trail 3-3 in one game, lose the next 13-3. In Spokane they share a 2-2 contest and the next night fall on their faces 13-4. To top it off, they turn around and hand Spokane three straight lacings in Kimberley.

Well, I've dodged the subject long enough. My face was plenty red when the Maple Leafs racked up three victories on their recent road jaunt. I underestimated the Leafs, and now congratulate Coach Willie Schmidt and his battling crew for a splendid showing.

When I returned from the Okanagan trip with the Dynamiters I wrote in my column in the Cranbrook Courier and the Kimberley News that the Okanagan League was highly over-rated.

After watching the Leafs in action in Kimberley I went out on the limb and stated the Leafs would be so far in the WIHL basement on their return from the Okanagan they would have to have fresh air pumped down to them.

The ever-improving Leafs accomplished a feat which I thought was impossible.

I eat my words.

Every time a turtle makes progress his neck is out. So with a reminder that any resemblance between this writer and a turtle is coincidental, accidental and irrelevant out goes our neck again as your scribe is trying to make progress.

I still predict the Nelson Maple Leafs will have to use the elevator to get out of the WIHL basement for their Christmas dinner.

If I'm wring I'll let my fellow scribe Len Walker push me up Baker Street in a baby carriage (clothes and all).

Noticed also where Walker is up in the air over the Dougie MacDonald case.

Evidently Len didn't give the MacDonald case much studying. MacDonald lived two years in Kimberley before he decided on playing hockey in London for two years. This spring he left the Old Country and checked his stuff through to Kimberley. On his arrival here he found the job situation up in the air and was promised work as soon as the new fertilizer plant went into operation. Meantime he shoved off for Nelson where his wife hails from with the intentions of returning. His job came through and now Walker calls the Kimberley Dynamiters' executive bandits.

I talked to MacDonald during the summer bonspiel and he was all worked up about coming back then. Dougie has a good job in Kimberley and is happy even if he was cut off the Dynamiters roster last week.

Also noticed, Walker sat in on the Kimberley-Spokane game while in the mining camp and thought we were exaggerating the point that Betker turned in a stellar performance. I don't know where Len was seated, but he must have seen Betker boot out drives from the sticks of Rozzini, Ramsden, Johnstone and Scott. I'd admit the game wasn't a crowd pleaser, but what does Walker expect Betker to do, stop puck with his teeth? Anytime you hold Spokane to one goal, the goaltender is hopping.

Spokane had an off night, but one could see the Dynamiters in action down at Spokane before he starts to criticize.

Dynamiters Outclass Leafs; Smokes Edge Spokane Flyers

KIMBERLEY — Some 1200 fans saw Kimberley Dynamiters trounce Nelson Maple Leafs in a Western International Hockey League game here Saturday night.

Dynamiters outplayed the Leafs all the way and only some great puck blocking by Boomer Rodzinyak in the third period prevented Kimberley from running the score into boxcar figures as they poured into the Leaf zone.

The clubs battled to a 1-1 draw in the opening period with Kimberley surging ahead 6-1 in the middle frame and adding an insurance marker in the final period.

Buck Kavanagh, Gordie Andrea and Don Campbell sparked Kimberley with two goals apiece and Cal Hockley firing in one. Bill Haldane ruined Earl Betker's shutout chances by potting the Leafs' lone counter.

Betker treated the local fans to a great display of goaltending by rationing the opposition to three goals in the last four home appearances.

Big Gordie Andrea not only slapped in two goals, but broke up many Leaf rushes at the blueline. Don Campbell, who has been sidelined for most of the season with an injured knee, came up with a sparkling performance, scoring two goals and coming close on a number of occasions.

The contest also featured a boxing bout between George Barefoot and Sully Sullivan. Sullivan handed Barefoot a terrific bodycheck which the Nelson rearguard resented. He charged Sullivan as he was skating towards the players' box. The fans booed Barefoot long and loudly.

Nelson scored the first goal of the game at 10:40 when Haldane knocked in Lee Hyssop's rebound. Kavanagh squared the count on a power play at 15:52 by banging in Hockley's rebound.

Dynamiters discarded defensive hockey in the middle canto and the move proved effective as they whipped in five unanswered goals. Hockley started the parade at 3:06 on a passout from Buzz Mellor, and his goal was the signal for the Dynamiters to cut loose. Kavanagh scored the second goal by slapping in a shot while parked just outside the goal crease. Andrea's goal at 7:05 was a lucky one, with the puck bouncing over Rodzinyak's stick. Nelson turned on the power while having a four to three-man advantage, but failed to tack up a goal. Campbell and Andrea scored two quick goals in the final minutes.

A rugged third period saw only one goal scored, with Campbell the lamp lighter on a shot that never left the ice at 6:40.

Cal Hockley played inspiring hockey all night wrapping up one goal and two assists. Ernie Gare and the veteran Haldane carried most of the Leafs' freight.

Referees Sutherland and Calles called a total of eight penalties, five going to the Leafs.

Lineups:

Kimberley — Goal, Betker; defence, Andrea, Jones, Craig, Sullivan; forwards, Kavanagh, Hockley, B. Mellor Red Mellor, Bell, Campbell, McNiven, Lilley, Tatchell, Larson.

Nelson — Goal, Rodzinyak; defence, Kerneghan, Gare, Pasqualotto, Schmidt, Barefoot; forwards, Hyssop, Lowe, Haldane, Appleton, R. Koehle, McKay, Maglio, McDonald.

Summary:

First period—1, Nelson, Haldane (Lowe, Hyssop) 10:40; 2, Kimberley, Kavanagh (Hockley) 16:52. Penalties: Schmidt, Andrea.

Second period — 3, Kimberley, Hockley (B. Mellor) 3:06; 4, Kimberley, Kavanagh (Hockley, B. Mellor) 4:50; 5, Kimberley, Andrea (Larson) 7.05; 6, Kimberley, Campbell (Lilley) 18.02; 7, Kimberley, Andrea (McNiven) 19.39. Penalties: Larson, Pasquallotto, R. Mellor, Maglio.

Third period — 8, Kimberley, Campbell (Sullivan) 6:10. Penalties: Bell, Pasqualotto (2), Sullivan and Barefoot (major), Schmidt (minor and misconduct).

SPOKANE (AP) — Trail Smoke Eaters Saturday protected their hold on first place in the Western International Hockey League by edging Spokane Flyers 3-2 here.

Playing-coach Moe Young scored the winning goal on a pass from centre Mike Shabaga with almost three minutes gone in the third period.

Trail led 2-1 at the end of the first and Spokane scored the lone goal of the second in the clean but hard-fought game.

Young, while scoring the winner, was also outstanding defensively.

Gordie Sinclair and Terry Cavanagh scored the other Trail goals while Gino Rozzini and Bill McNally scored for Spokane.

Trail plays Spokane again today. A double win would have given Spokane the loop lead.

Summary

First period — Spokane, McNally 3:55; Trail, Sinclair (Bursaw, Shabaga) 9:03; Trail, Cavanagh (Corrado) 17:38.

Penalties — Reeve, Corrado.

Pups In Fifth Straight Win

Notre Dame Pups trounced Nelson High School Bombers 60-22 to stretch their basketball winning streak to five straight games at Civic Centre Friday night.

The smaller Pups made up for a lack of height with a barrage of unerring set shots and an almost unpenetrable defence.

Sparking the Pups were Gordon Guidi with 18 points and Ray Paris with 16. Their pivot man, Gene Godderis, set up the forwards for a great per centage of their field goals, and also collected eight points. Bud Godderis also chalked up eight points.

On the Bomber squad, Settimo Zano was impressive, but the Bombers were outplayed throughout the game. They could not cope with the tight defence of the Pups and when they did squeeze through, their shooting was erratic.

Notre Dame will be out for victory No. 6 when the Pups clash with the Cloverleafs Wednesday night.

Trail Intermeds To Tour Japan

TRAIL — Confirmation that Trail intermediates would represent Canada in a tour of Japan next March was given here Sunday.

Doug Grimston of New Westminster, immediate past president of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association, and Dr. Mel Butler of Kelowna, president of the B.C. Amateur Hockey Association, interviewed 30 players in the morning.

Selection of a team will be made later in the season. A total of 13 players is to be selected. The tour roster will include a player-referee, manager and a CAHA representative.

50,000 Welcome Blue Bombers

WINNIPEG (CP) — Winnipeg Blue Bombers came home to a hero's welcome Sunday night as thousands of fans jammed Stevenson field and a six-mile parade route to cheer just as if the team had won the Grey Cup.

Although Bombers lost 12-6 to Hamilton Tiger-Cats in the final at Toronto Saturday, a crowd estimated by police at 50,000 cheered them home at an airport reception, along the parade through the city and at a wind-up on the grounds of the provincial legislature.

Another big crowd greeted the players when they stopped at a suburban night club for a final dinner.

CANADIANS DRUB PACKERS 5-2

VERNON, B.C. (CP) — Vernon Canadians struck back Saturday to avenge 8-3 drubbing at the hands of Kelowna Packers Thursday with a decisive 5-2 Okanagan Senior Hockey League win over the Packers.

The victory, coupled with a 4-2 win by Kamloops Elks over Penticton V's, broke the first place Vernon-Penticton OSHL deadlock and restored Vernon's two point lead.

Royals Drub Flyers 4-1

NEW WESTMINSTER (CP) — New Westminster Royals bounced right back Saturday night after their disastrous prairie trip with a 4-1 Western Hockey League home win over the last-place Edmonton Flyers.

It was the Flyers second loss in a row on the coast and New Westminster's first win in four games.

KAMLOOPS, B.C. (CP) — Ken Ullyot's Kamloops Elks reversed their 4-2 Friday loss to Penticton V's Saturday by the same score in a rough and rugged Okanagan Senior Hockey League game.

At one point in the last period Kamloops fans showered the ice with paper and referee George Cullen said he would award the game to V's if the rain of programs persisted.

Red Wings Soar to League Top Spot

By The Canadian Press

Detroit Red Wings swept into first place in the National Hockey League with two crushing weekend victories over the helpless Chicago Black Hawks. The Wings blanked the last-place Hawks 9-0 in Detroit Saturday night, then rolled roughshod over them for a 9-4 verdict in Chicago Sunday night.

The pair of triumphs pushed them in front of Montreal Canadiens, erstwhile leaders who dropped two weekend games. The Habitants were defeated 2-1 by Toronto Maple Leafs in Toronto Saturday night and then edged 2-1 by the Rangers in New York Sunday night.

Boston Bruins turned back Toronto 2-1 in Boston Sunday night.

The weekend schedule left Detroit three points ahead of Montreal in the standings, with Toronto another point back in third place.

SHUTOUT STRING ENDS

Detroit goalie Terry Sawchuk, who had two straight shutouts before Sunday night, saw his string ended at 9:49 of the second period when George Gee connected while Benny Wolt of the Wings was sitting out a penalty. Gee got another goal for Chicago at 6:36 of the third period while Jankowski at 18:09 and Costello at 19:41 also counted. But by that time, it was too late.

The Wings, led by Dutch Reibel and John Wilson with two goals apiece for the night, had a 5-0 lead at the end of the first period.

Gordy Howe was one of five other Wings getting one goal apiece and that gave him 10 for the season as well as 29 points to maintain his scoring leadership.

Red Kelly fired a goal and two assists. Other Detroit scorers were Marty Pavelich, Metro Prystal and Vic Stasiuk.

The Rangers' victory was their first of the season over Montreal and it was fashioned on second-period goals by Bones Raleigh and Camille Henry.

IRWIN A STANDOUT

Ivan the Terrible Irwin of the Rangers did everything but score. The big defenceman broke up Canadien drives virtually every time Montreal advanced to Ranger territory. He drew a major penalty when he clouted Maurice Richard across the nose with his stick in the second period. Richard required two stitches but went on.

Then, a few minutes later, Irwin tumbled Paul Meger head over heels behind the Ranger goal and the latter's skate crashed the glass barrier protecting the box holders.

Johnny Bower, up from Cleveland Barons, had a shutout until less than three minutes were left. At that point, Bernie Geoffrion found a hole amidst a scramble in front of the crease and scored.

The crowd of 12,052 howled in glee when Raleigh grabbed a pass by Nick Mickoski at 1:55 of the second stanza and beat Gerry McNeil, a goalie who usually can beat the Rangers without his stick.

Then, with Montreal short a man, young Henry snapped a handoff by Max Bentley and Hy Buller and hit the cords at 14:28 for the clincher.

Two quick goals in the second period set up the Boston victory.

Leo Labine and rookie Doug Diesel Mohns scored the Boston goals early in the period.

Centre Rudy Migay poked the puck from under goalkeeper Sugar Jim Henry's glove 15 feet in front of the Boston net in the third period and fired into the open cage but the Leafs couldn't get the tying goal.

Labine got his first goal against the Leafs in two years by converting a goalmouth pass from Jerry Toppazzini at 6:22.

Mohns tallied at 7:22 by deflecting Ray Garlepy's long shot past goaltender Harry Lumley. Centre Milt Schmidt set up Garlepy who fired through a maze of players. Mohns, standing beside the net, tipped the puck.

The loss was only Toronto's third in 14 games.

In rattling in nine goals Saturday, and repeating the feat Sunday, the Wings rolled up the highest tally by one team this season.

Right-winger Gordie Howe and defenceman Red Kelly, with two goals apiece, helped to make goalie Jack Gelineau's return to the National League a miserable one in Saturday night's game at Detroit. There were 12,267 fans on hand.

Tiger-Cats Take Home Grey Cup

By JACK SULLIVAN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO (CP)—Hamilton Tiger-Cats parlayed a rock-ribbed defence and a great aerial attack Saturday into a 12-6 Grey Cup victory over Winnipeg Blue Bombers that probably was the best-played final since western Canada first challenged for the trophy 32 years ago.

The tension-packed football spectacle provided its greatest thrills in the last few seconds, with Bombers, behind 12-6 and sniffing a possible tie on the workman-like precision passing of quarter Indian Jack Jacobs. The game ended with three Tiger-Cat players happily clutching the ball on the ground at their goal-line and 27,328 fans trying to decide just what happened.

Jacobs, a towering gallant player in defeat, had sent Bombers winging on a 100-yard march that brought play to the Hamilton four. Then came the play that will be a conversation piece among fans for years.

Jacobs shot a bullet-like pass to the half, Tom Casey, parked on the Tiger-Cat two-yard line. The ball squirted out of his arms when he was hit by Lou Kusserow, a stand-out Hamilton defensive and offensive star all afternoon.

RULE PASS INCOMPLETE

Officials ruled the pass incomplete. Casey said later in the dressing room: "I thought the tackler hit me before I got near the ball. . . . The refs didn't see it that way."

"I made my move just as Jacobs started to throw and hit Casey just as the ball hit him," said Kusserow. "It was either him or me."

Ironically, it was the first pass that Casey failed to hold all afternoon. Previously, the 29-year-old offensive and defensive half had latched onto four Jacobs' passes for 37 yards gained.

PLAY TO TIE

LISBON (AP) — Portugal and Australia played to a scoreless tie in their World Soccer Cup elimination at the National Stadium before 60,000 fans Sunday.

The finish left the crowd stunned for a few seconds, Tiger-Cat fans broke the silence with a tremendous roar as they tumbled from the stands and onto the field.

It was the 10th loss for Winnipeg teams since they first came east in 1925 and lost to Ottawa Rough Riders 24-1. Bomber teams have won the cup three times—first and most memorably on a greasy field at Hamilton Dec. 7, 1935, when they defeated Tigers 18-12 on the galloping of Fritzie Hanson, who broke a 12-12 tie with a 70-yard third-quarter touchdown.

Saturday's game climaxed a week of behind-door practices for both clubs, the usual celebrations of gaily-costumed fans from Winnipeg and Hamilton, a pre-game parade and a mad scramble for tickets that brought as much as $50 for a single just before the kick-off.

Playing conditions were ideal with the temperature in the low 40s and a bright sun bathing the stadium for much of the game.

Christmas Eve Holiday For WIHL Players

The WIHL scheduled game between the Trail Smoke Eaters and the Nelson Maple Leafs set for Christmas eve has been set ahead to December 23.

Joe Vingo, second vice-president of the BCAHA stated that both clubs had agreed to the change.

The original schedule called for the Leafs to play in Trail that evening but in order to give the players of both clubs the opportunity of spending Christmas eve at home the change was decided upon.

There will be no change in the New Years game which has become a classic to district fans. The Smokies will meet the Leafs at the Civic Centre Arena here on the afternoon of January 1.

Buck, Doe Legal Targets Next Week

December 1 to 15 has been declared an open hunting season on buck and doe deer in the Kaslo-Slocan and Nelson-Creston electoral districts.

On page 25, under the heading "Bag Limits" the following amendment is in place of bucks only. Deer over one year of age, one buck or one doe but not more than one animal in all, and bag limit for does shall only apply in districts with open season for does.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE—Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Over 500 Tourists At Chamber Mines

By E. W. FLORENDINE

On Nov. 5 I noticed a very interesting article in the Nelson Daily News headed "Businessmen Urged to Back Tourist Promotion Programs." The information contained in this article was offered for publication by Mr. Jones W. Hughes of the Vancouver Tourist Association. Mr. Hughes points out the tourist business in British Columbia amounts to approximately $63,000,000 and that one of the chief attractions is the scenic beauty of the Kootenay Lake, through the Nelson zone. He feels that first and most important is to sell local business firms on the importance of getting behind the local chambers with donations to help promote tourist business.

There is no doubt that Nelson businessmen benefit either directly or indirectly from the tourist trade and one of this city's chief tourist attractions is the Chamber of Mines, where a welcome sign to the visitor is always on display. During the tourist season, approximately 500 tourists and mining men visited the Chamber of Mines. They viewed our exhibits of high-grade ores, and received information relative to mining operations in general in the Kootenays. It is surprising how interested visitors are when shown rich samples of ore taken from such scenic surroundings with which nature has provided this city.

After visiting the southeastern B.C. chamber, a tourist from Toronto remarked that he came to the Kootenays to view the lovely scenery which he greatly admired, but he felt that his education of the Nelson district was more complete after visiting the Chamber of Mines, where he fortunately met several senior mining men who were able to relate to him actual practical experiences in connection with the mining wealth of the Kootenays.

MINING MEN VISIT

A few of our latest visitors during the month came from various parts of the province, and included old mining men such as T. E. Levasseur and other locals.

A. E. Peterson of Ferguson, B.C., called at the chamber and left rich samples of silver lead ore. He has been in the mining field a number of years and is now connected with the "Samson Mining Corporation, Calgary." Mr. Peterson claims to have discovered new valuable deposits of silver, lead and zinc properties in the Slocan and Lardeau districts. He is interested in the Dardenelle Mine properties, also the Silver Chief property.

Mr. J. W. Robinson and D. Bowin from Ainsworth called being interested in limestone properties, particularly in the Castlegar district. They were given information along the lines required and appeared quite satisfied with their visit.

WOMAN PLACER MINER

Mrs. E. Bievar of Salmon Arm called at the chamber and spent the best part of the afternoon looking over exhibits. This lady was visiting her daughter, Mrs. Galbraith, resident of the north shore of Kootenay Lake.

Mrs. Bievar informed me that she held two gold claims in the Salmon Arm and Big Bend districts; also, she engages in placer mining on the McCullough Creek and generally makes her operating expenses during favorable seasons.

She is interested in mineral deposits in the Golden district and stated that tungsten had been found in Salmon Arm but it was only in the prospect stage.

Mrs. Bievar is a student of minerology and was given samples of tungsten, etc., for her collection of ores.

TOURIST ATTRACTION

REGINA (CP) — Twenty-three per cent more United States cars entered Saskatchewan in the first five months of this year than during a similar period of 1952, the tourist office announced.

Growth Of Oil Output Affecting World Flow

WASHINGTON (AP)—Potential production of foreign oil-fields and refineries has increased faster than the rate of consumption in those countries, the Independent Petroleum Association of America reports.

The report says that for all foreign areas, exclusive of Russia and its satellites, growth in productive capacity from 1948 to 1953 exceeded the increase in consumption by 1,482,000 barrels a day. No figures were available for Iron Curtain countries.

Over the same period, expansion of foreign refining capacity has been 1,345,000 barrels a day greater than the increase in foreign consumption, the IPAA figures show.

The association declares that the surplus of foreign oil over foreign consumption has exerted 'an important influence on changes in the world flow of oil and the volume of oil imported to and exported from the United States."

Total foreign productive capacity, excluding Russia and her satellites, has increased about 3,575,000 barrels a day since the end of the Second World War, the report said. This includes suspended production in Iran estimated at 700,000 barrels daily and about 100,000 shut-in production in western Canada.

Chile Copper Solution Near

NEW YORK (AP)—Chile moved closer to a solution of its copper problems last week when three committees of Chile's Senate presented recommendations on copper policy which were expected to get speedy approval from the Senate as a whole.

Such action would pave the way for a resumption of negotiations for U.S. purchase of Chile's copper surplus for stockpiling purposes.

The committees agreed that (1) Chilean copper stocks, should be sold at 30 cents a pound—roughly the world market price, (2) future production should be sold at the market price and not at fixed prices, (3) Chilean copper should not be sold to iron curtain countries, and (4) American copper companies in Chile should be granted a new money exchange rate and revised taxation schedules.

Demand for copper in the domestic market was good last week. European demand continued at a better rate.

European buying attracted considerable quantities of foreign lead and zinc. Domestic buying of lead was down a little from the week before.

The domestic zinc price held at 10 cents a pound, East St. Louis.

The Aluminum Company of Canada disclosed in New York that it expects to start producing ingots at its huge new plant at Kitimat, B.C., next spring or early summer.

Major metals prices:

Copper—29.50-30 cents a pound, delivered. Foreign 29-30 cents, New York.

Lead—13.50 cents a pound, New York; 13.30 cents, St. Louis.

Zinc—10 cents a pound, East St. Louis; 10.50 cents, New York.

Silver—85.25 cents an ounce, New York; 75 pence, London.

Nearly $3,000,000 To B.C. From PFRA

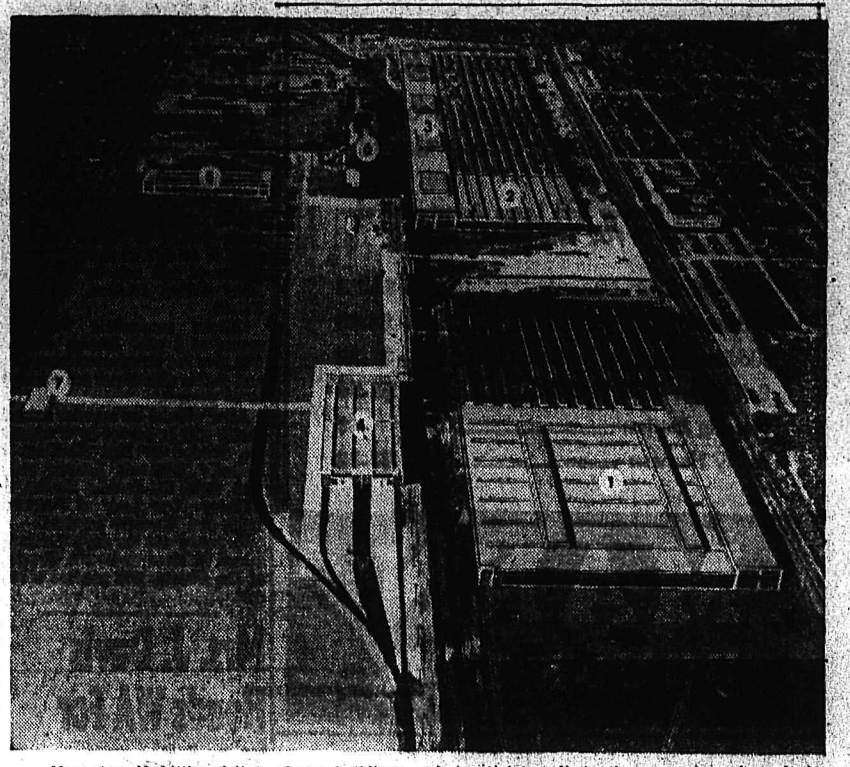
REGINA (CP) — Saskatchewan has received almost half of the $76,799,000 federal funds spent in western Canada under the Prairie Farm Rehabilitation Administration since its inception in 1935.

The PFRA annual report for 1952-53 shows that expenditures in Saskatchewan for the whole 18-year period were $37,082,000.

Alberta, where the big St. Mary's and Bow river irrigation projects have been built, ran a fairly close second with $32,200,000. Another $4,528,000 was spent in Manitoba and British Columbia got $2,986,000.

The major part of PFRA spending in British Columbia was for land reclamation and development in the interior of the southern part of the province.

MITCHELL, Ont. (CP) — The former Riverside Silk Mills plant here has been sold to an unknown buyer after being idle for almost a year, it was learned. It was reported about 60 persons will be employed when the plant re-opens.



More than 40 million dollars of new buildings and equipment are represented in the "keyed" structures shown in the above photo based upon an aerial view of the Chrysler Corporation of Canada, Limited, plant at Windsor, Ont. Sketched by the artist are the new buildings, those under construction and those which are planned as part of Chrysler's vast expansion program. Shown in the above layout are: (1) The newly announced addition, costing 21 millions, to the engine plant which is to be completed by late 1954. Unkeyed but adjoining is the present engine plant; (2) The south portion of the addition to the passenger car plant. When finished, the building will be two-fifths of a mile in length; (3) West portion of the passenger car plant addition; (4) New loading building, completed early in November, from which rail shipments of vehicles are made; (5) Proposed transport garage and experimental engineering building; (6) Power plant which is to be doubled in size and capacity; (7) New entrance gate and watchman's building.

B.C. Electric Plans $33,000,000 Expansion Program

VANCOUVER (CP)—The British Columbia Electric Company announced Saturday it would spend $33,200,000 during 1954 in a program of expansion in its electricity, gas, transit and hydro-electric developments.

President A. E. Grauer said the program will bring to $225,000,000 the amount spent on expansion since the end of the Second World War.

The 1954 plan includes expenditure of $7,150,000 to complete a fourth generating unit at Bridge River, B.C., 125 miles north of here and expansion of the La Joie dam; electrical generating and distribution facilities in the Vancouver district will cost $15,000,000, while $7,000,000 is earmarked for a 70-mile transmission line from Rosedale in the Fraser Valley to Pemberton Meadows to tie in with the Bridge River-Squamish line.

Family Interest Played Up In 1954 Automobile

By DAVID J. WILKIE

DETROIT (AP) — The auto industry is glamorizing its trucks.

Eye-appeal is emphasized in all the 1954-model commercial vehicles so far introduced. Lavish use of chrome, in interiors and exteriors, and varying colors, including two-tones, are among the characteristics of the new vehicles.

They are even finishing interiors in two tones to complement exterior finishes. This extends through the seat and door unholstery.

There are sound reasons for the beauty treatment, truck makers say. Besides sales appeal there is prestige for owners and an incentive to drivers to give the attractive truck proper care.

FAMILY VEHICLE

Equally important, the manufacturers say, is the "family interest." They explain that many small business men and farmers need vehicles that can be used for both business and family transportation.

While refinement applies more to the smaller pick-up models, it has been carried through to the heavy-duty vehicles.

There is emphasis also on increased ease for driver and passenger. Seats have been designed for comfort. Instrument panels have been made more easily distinguishable for night driving. One-piece wrap-around windshields also have been adapted to trucks.

ENGINEERING ADVANCE

Engineering advances include wider adaptation of automatic transmissions and power steering, and increased engine horsepower.

GMC trucks now have the "silent power" muffler. Two years in the making, it eliminates objectionable exhaust noise, long one of the foremost problems of the trucking industry, without reducing engine power.

Truck manufacturers this year probably will make close to 1,200,000 vehicles of varying sizes and hauling capacities.

Large-volume producers include Chevrolet, Ford, International, GMC and Dodge.

Conversion Costly

VANCOUVER (CP)—B.C. Electric president A. E. Grauer says conversion to natural gas here would cost his firm $12,2500,000 for new facilities in the first five years.

Mr. Grauer said the B.C. Electric would pay for cost of converting gas appliances from manufactured gas to natural gas, which has a higher heat content and requires smaller homes in the burners.

Farmers Study Hospital District Plan For Effect On Farm Taxes

VICTORIA (CP)—British Columbia farmers have indicated they feel the creation of hospital districts may mean the farmer will have to carry an unequal share of the cost.

The annual meeting of the B.C. Federation of Agriculture authorized its executive to "make a thorough investigation" of what effect hospital improvement districts would have on farm property taxes.

Authorization was a resolution presented by the North Okanagan Farmers' Institute which said it is apparent BCHIS officials are advocating "the formation of hospital improvement districts for the purpose of construction, equipment and maintenancing of hospitals."

Funds for the hospitals would be derived from a direct tax on land and other property at a time when farm prices were declining, the resolution said.

The investigation will discover whether hospital districts will create "an inequity as far as the amount a farmer contributes as compared within the same area."

Special consideration "is to be given to the fact that these hospitals will have to bear an additional burden in view of the present non-compulsory method of hospital insurance payments."

The federation was also instructed to investigate a formula to establish milk prices and fix milk quotas, "provided that the present price be used as the base price under such a formula."

The convention favored milk quotas, to be established by the government, and adjusted each year according to production. Government plans fixed quotas for Vancouver island.

The almost 200 delegates also endorsed a Fraser Valley Milk Producers Association motion opposing any legislation that would make workmen's compensation compulsory for farm help.

Delegates approved a resolution calling for a provincial royal commission to investigate the economic position of farmers. They rejected an amendment to change it to a federal commission.

The provincial government was urged to establish a veterinary college to help end a "serious shortage."

Buyers' Market Rules In Financial World

By WALTER BREEDE Jr.

NEW YORK (AP)—The swing to a "buyers' market" in almost everything from kitchen stoves and automobiles to petroleum and steel gained momentum last week.

Auto output fell to its lowest level of the year; steel production to its lowest point in 15 months. Freight car traffic continued to lag behind 1952; electric power output declined; business failures were higher than in any week since January, 1950.

A major factor in the decline in motorcar production was a sharp curtailment by the world's biggest auto maker, Chevrolet, which is in the midst of changing over from 1953 to 1954 models.

But stock prices rallied.

Bright spots on the economic panorama also included retail trade. Early Christmas shopping activity helped boost retail sales above the record-breaking volume of a year ago in practically all of the U.S. except in the northeast, where sales held at or near 1952 levels.

The relatively low steel production rate, 87.6 per cent of capacity, reflected a railroad strike in the vital Pittsburgh area.

Also mentioned as reasons for the slowdown were the high level of steel inventories in consumers' hands and lack of pressure from such big users of steel as the auto makers who were described as "extremely cost-conscious" and inclined to drive the hardest possible bargain.

RAIL IMPROVEMENTS

Steel will benefit from extensive improvement programs planned by major railroads. New York Central will spend $115,000,000 on improvements to its right-of-way next year; several big western roads are replacing present trackage with heavier rails.

Demand should also continue high for oil country goods. Rotary drilling activity in U.S. and Canadian oil fields in the week ended Monday, Nov. 23, soared to a 1953 high with nearly 3000 rigs in operation.

The board estimated 1953's "gross national product" total market value of all goods and services produced at $368,000,000,000, up five per cent from last year to an all-time high.

Although consumers increased their buying of food during the first 10 months this year, farmers' cash receipts for the period were five per cent below year-ago receipts, the department of agriculture reported. Farm prices in the first 10 months averaged about 11 per cent less than last year.

Hatchery Trains Smarter Fish

By JAMES A. O. CROWE

ODEN, Mich. (AP)—With fishing getting to be more and more a science, a good trout needs a college education to keep off the hook.

And, at the state trout hatchery here, he can get it. They've even hired staff of professional psychologists to stuff the faculty. All a qualified trout has to do is pass a two-months course to get his degree.

Sounds screwy, but it works. Object of the unique project is to teach hatchery trout, notoriously short-lived when released into streams, how to outwit the guy with a fishing pole and live longer.

A wild trout usually is a smart cookie. He's tough to catch. But a hatchery trout hasn't got sense enough to stay close to the bottom. He comes right up to the surface, looking for chow. He usually gets it—on the end of a hook.

TAUGHT TRICKS

Here at the hatchery, the trout learns to act more like his wild cousins. He is taught to feed on the bottom. His food is squirted through underwater chutes instead of scattered over the surface.

Hatchery undergraduates are taught not to come trustingly to the surface looking for a handout when somebody walks along the edge of the hatchery pond. They get a sharp little poke from an electric shocking device when they try it.

After it's all over, there's no blow-out, caps or gowns for graduates. They're just tagged and dumped into lakes and streams where special regulations require fishermen to report every trout caught.

COMPLETE CHECK

That's so the department of conservation will have a complete check on how the educated fish make out.

"The proof of the pudding will come next spring," says Joseph L. Bingham, a leading backer of the program for smarter fisher. "If the educated trout show a better survival rate than the uneducated, we will have proved our point."

Wheat Exports Gain In October

WINNIPEG (CP) — Exports of Canadian wheat and wheat flour during October were up 1,500,000 bushels compared with September but down sharply compared with last year, the board of grain commissioners reported Saturday.

October exports totalled 25,700,000 bushels of wheat and wheat flour compared with 24,200,000 in September and 33,300,000 last year. The total of 78,300,000 for the first three months of the current crop year compared with 94,800,000 in the corresponding period last year.

A major item in the wheat exports of 22,300,000 was the 8,700,000 bushels sent to the United Kingdom. This figure was higher than September and also October last year, and the board said the three-month total is running nearly 6,000,000 bushels ahead of the first quarter's total in 1952-53.

October flour shipments totalled 3,300,000 bushels compared with 6,200,000 last October.

Besides the United Kingdom, other major importers were West Germany with 4,100,000 bushels of wheat, Japan 2,600,000, Belgium, 1,600,000 and Israel 1,200,000.

LONDON (CP) — Olympic wrestling Ray Myland has been winning national titles for seven years. Now he's married to a judo expert who can flip him on his back with a twitch of her wrist.

U.S. Must Ease Trade Barriers

TORONTO (CP)—If the United States doesn't lessen its barriers against Canadian goods, then it is "almost inevitable that political pressures in Canada for increased protection will gather strength," says the monthly review of the Bank of Nova Scotia.

"United States competition," says the review, "is widely evident in Canada even in fields where tariffs are admittedly protective and, if the U.S. market is not reasonably available to Canadian goods, the tendency might well be to develop more diversified but less efficient industries in Canada behind added tariff protection."

Canada at present is the United States' largest customer, the review notes, buying substantially more from that country than she sells to her.

Most of Canada's exports to the United States consist of goods in raw or primary form, with comparatively little in a highly-manufactured state. If this situation continued Canada's development would be slowed and probably directed along less efficient economic lines.

Natal Man Sees Trieste On Italian Visit

NATAL — Sylvio Gris, an old-timer in Natal-Michel district has returned to his home at Natal after a three-month visit with relatives in Italy.

He made the return trip by plane leaving Natal for Calgary August 9 where he boarded a plane for Rome, Italy.

During his three month visit he spent considerable time with his brother and sister residing in Pozzo, in the province of Udine, Italy. This was his second visit to the old country. Last time he visited Italy was 30 years ago in 1923.

In Italy he visited four provinces and the much disputed seaport of Trieste. He also saw Rome, Venice and Milano.

He was accompanied by his nephew Luigi Cris on most of his visits in Italy.

While in Trieste he visited the St. Guisto and other well known churches. In Venice he visited the Square St. Marco which is regarded to be one of the finest in the world. The Palazzo Ducale jails, the churches of St. Marco and the Lido. Most of these historic places date back to the ancient history of the Republic of Venice.

In Milano he viewed the Dome of Milano, regarded as one of the seven wonders of the world. In Rome he visited the four magnificent Basilicas, also the Colossium which took forty thousand men 12 years to build. The latter is now in ruins with only a skeleton left of the once large colossium where humans and animals were set at each other before large crowds in ancient times.

Mr. Gris saw and heard the Pope when he spoke in eight languages to some eight thousand tourists in the Castel Gandolfio just outside of Rome.

Mr. Gris feels the country of Italy is rapidly progressing, especially through a building program which has been under way since the last war.

Net gain of six services during the month brought the total gain to the city system for the year so far to 80 meters. Two extra-municipal extenions were completed.

Works Superintendent Emil Erickson reported supply conditions at the city reservoir remained satisfactory though surplus runoff could not be measured because of lowering of the reservoir above the spillway to facilitate cleaning operations and removal of weeds on the reservoir floor. City water pressure was excellent at an average pressure of 99 pounds for the month.

Tourist revenue from the Municipal Tourist Camp to closure October 15 amount to $15,391.99, $13 more than for the 1952 season with units used to capacity.

The Secretary was instructed to write the Arrow Lakes Local No. 10, of the British Columbia Teachers' Federation, requesting all teachers arrange to have an X-ray chest examination. All bus drivers and janitors are also to be requested to have these examinations. This will give added protection to children as well as teachers, bus drivers and janitors.

Provision in the 1954 budget for additional chairs for Nakusp Elementary School activity room, will be made.

Many organizations have requested use of schools in the district for meetings.

Trustees were instructed to give the mater further thought and reopen discussions next meeting.

Department of Public Works equipment has been engaged to do further work on the grounds of Nakusp Elementary school. As the Department of Education will not give financial assistance for improvements to the grounds, any monies spent must come from taxation, and for that reason, only a minimum of work can be done in a year.

The addition to Nakusp Elementary school is complete. Work was carried out by T. Allen of Nakusp, with considerable saving to the Board. The project was completed for some $6000 less than original estimates.

Library filing equipment will be purchased for each school and blankets and mattresses for those schools still needing them for their first aid rooms.

Scholarships From PTA Sought

FERNIE — An appeal from Syd Crookes, principal of Fernie Schools, that the Fernie Parent-Teacher Association consider possibility of granting scholarships, was made at a general monthly meeting of the Association. The suggestion was received with favor.

A committee will be set up to review the matter thoroughly and make necessary recommendations. Mr. Crookes said that similar appeals were made to the Rotary and 3300 clubs.

Mr. Crookes gave an informative talk on pupil report cards. He stated they were a contact and an aid for cooperation between the school and the parent. He traced their origin and development from the first to the present type of report card. In a discussion which followed it was shown there could be a great deal of spread within each letter grade, for example between a top C pupil and a bottom C pupil. Another problem was the brilliant child who could obtain good marks easily, finds the work easy and soon displays a lack of interest and a desire to leave school.

The following were named to the executive committee of the Association: William S. Creamer, Pearl Herchuk, Morley Obee, Esther Whalley, Mrs. G. Robertson, Leon Rushcall, Alfred Simcoe and Mrs. E. Chappel.
