Terrorists Burn Two Homes, Hall

Freedomite Hall at Appledale, Glade Homes Destroyed; Bonner Awaits Special Report on Attacks

Fire-raiding terrorists added two homes and a community hall to their list of burnings in the Slocan and Glade areas early Tuesday morning. Thirteen other homes were set ablaze Sunday.

It was the second night of fear for the residents of Appledale, where three houses occupied by Sons of Freedom were destroyed Sunday.

In the Tuesday morning attacks, a meeting hall owned by Sons of Freedom was burned to the ground at Appledale in the Slocan Valley, and the homes of Pete and Alex Repin, brothers, were destroyed at Glade.

Meanwhile, RCMP investigating the Sunday fires said that police patrols arriving on the scene of a blaze minutes after it started at Perry Siding found the occupants fully clothed and removing furniture. The patrol officers had seen the fire break out and were on the spot immediately. RCMP had declared Monday that the Sons of Freedom were responsible for the arson attacks.

Tuesday morning's incidents followed the Sunday pattern—coal oil was flung on the doors of the buildings then set alight. The community hall fire broke out about 2 a.m. in the rear of the small frame building and was spotted by a guard at the Appledale schoolhouse. He notified the store guard at Appledale who in turn summoned police.

VICTORIA — Attorney-General Robert Bonner said Tuesday he will have a report on the new outrages before the end of the week. The report will come from members of the government-appointed consultative committee.

Mr. Bonner said his department had anticipated the new wave of terrorism.

"As a result we have in the field now police and other facilities which make it unnecessary to take further action at the moment," he said.

"We are waiting advice from the police and committee members who are assessing the problem."

In addition to reporting on weekend uprisings, the committee members will inform the attorney-general of the Doukhobors' reaction to a plan for re-location in Costa Rica.

Mr. Bonner said he does not plan sending further police into the area "at the moment," because reinforcements were stationed there two months ago "in anticipation of trouble."

TO FREE SWETLISHOFF

VANCOUVER—Peter Swetlishoff, convicted arsonist reported near death in the B.C. Penitentiary as the result of a 32-day fast, may soon be released to thwart any move by the Sons of Freedom to make him a martyr.

Swetlishoff, convicted of taking part in terrorist raids in 1949, was sentenced to three months in prison in February, 1950, but has refused to accept his freedom since his term expired. During the three years he is reported to have fasted frequently.

Now his brother, William, plans to place him in the care of a Russian faith-healer in the Fraser Valley. The brother said Swetlishoff is too weak from his fasting to exercise any judgment.

Prison officials denied he was near death from self-inflicted starvation, but said he had existed on a mild form of forced feeding.

They said it was "contrary to policy" to allow any prisoner's health to decline by a refusal to eat.

Swetlishoff's condition was described as "good."

Communist Leaders Attend "Gathering of Clan"

Four Killed as Airliner Crashes in Cascades

Rescuers Fight Cold, Darkness 16 Hours to Free Survivors From Fuselage; 3 of 25 Still Missing

SEATTLE (AP)—A chartered airliner loaded with servicemen crashed into the snow-covered Cascade Mountains before dawn Tuesday, killing at least four persons. Rescuers fought desperately 16 hours later trying to free some of the 18 reported survivors from the wreckage.

Five of the survivors have been rescued but others still were in the battered fuselage of the DC-3 twin-engined plane.

Cold and darkness hampered the rescue workers. The temperature was expected to drop below freezing at the crash site during the night.

Three of the rescues were effected by helicopter as men and machines were pitted against the deep slopes of the mountains, the trees and snow.

Shivering and pain-wracked occupants of the plane who rode out its plunge through hundreds of yards of trees waited about small fires built near the wreck scene or curled up in sleeping bags dropped from the air.

Crews, including doctors from McChord Air Force base and experienced mountain rescue workers, were with the bruised and broken men who were en route to Seattle aboard the Miami Airline DC-3 which crashed 40 miles Southeast of Seattle.

Cmdr. Robert T. Norris, a Coast Guard officer at search headquarters in the little town of Selleck, said the number of known survivors had been reduced from an earlier count of 19 on the basis of reports from helicopter pilots.

Norris said the tally leaves three unaccounted for among the 25 on the plane when it crashed into a heavily-forested ridge after one of its engines failed.

22 SOLDIERS

Passenger lists released in Washington carried the names of 22 soldiers. The plane carried a crew of three, including a stewardess. She was rescued in the afternoon after a gruelling trek down the snow-covered mountainside.

Norris said it had been established definitely that the pilot and co-pilot were killed in the smashed nose of the plane, which apparently hit the earth after a heavy growth of towering trees provided a cushion for the crash.

One man was able to walk away from the wreckage after the crash. He was Pte. Odell Matthews of Washington, one of the soldiers.

SNOWING HARD

The stewardess, Mrs. Adra Long, 28, of Berkeley, Calif., said it was snowing hard when the plane ran into its trouble.

"Suddenly the sign flashed for the passengers to fasten their safety belts," she related. "I realized something was wrong. When I awoke after the crash, I was still sitting in my chair. It had been thrown clear of the plane."

Matthews said: "I only fastened my safety belt in the nick of time. Before I left the scene to try to get help, I built a fire near the plane. I was all by myself."

Served the Purpose, But What a Waste

HUNTINGTON, W. Va. (AP) (AP)—It was the handiest liquid around, so four cops—doubling in brass as early morning firemen—used 3.2 per cent beer to help douse a fire at a drive-in restaurant. The blaze was almost out by the time firemen arrived.

A fireman noted that the policemen were using one of the best fire extinguishers in the world. Beer foam is composed largely of carbon dioxide, used in most extinguishers.

Roads Program Being Pushed

VICTORIA (CP)—Contracts for British Columbia's multi-million dollar public works program are being awarded at a fast pace.

It was reported here Tuesday that total contracts awarded may reach $25,000,000 within a month.

"We are pushing these projects as fast as our engineers can get plans and specifications ready," said Public Works Minister P. A. Gagiardi. "We want to take advantage of every day of good construction weather."

Bids for 251 miles of road paving throughout the province at an estimated $3,000,000 must be in by April 20 and 23. Bids have also been called for construction on the Trans-Canada Highway.

Forks Fire Accidental

Grand Forks sawmill blaze last week was accidental, RCMP said at Nelson Tuesday. The fire, which damaged a wall in the sawmill, was investigated by police, Grand Forks fire chief, and an insurance official.

It is believed a red hot filing fell from the saw filing room above the wall and into sawdust insulation between joists.

Commenting on a report in a Coast paper stating that an unknown man fled from the sawmill after the fire broke out, police said a patrol car circled the area before entering the mill grounds and saw no one in the vicinity.

Seek Killers of 4 Teen-Aged Soldiers

FORT HALL, Kenya (Reuters)—A score of fighting patrols are engaged in a manhunt for a Mau Mau gang which killed four 'teen-age white soldiers in a thick jungle 40 miles West of here.

Every available white and African soldier and policeman is taking part in the widespread "operation Vengeance" to root out the gang which killed the first white troops in the six-month Mau Mau emergency.

JET TWO MINUTES LATE

LONDON (Reuters) — The second British Comet jet airliner to make the 20,500-mile London-Tokyo round trip arrived back here Tuesday only two minutes behind its three-day, 20-hour time-table. Jet service on the route, longest commercial flight in the world, was inaugurated last week.

CBC To Modify Radio Rules

OTTAWA (CP) — A. D. Dunton, chairman of the CBC board of governors, told the Commons broadcasting committee Tuesday that some modifications will be made in proposed new radio regulations now before the board.

He said in reply to a question from Donald Fleming (PC—Toronto Eglinton) that the controversial regulations—to which private radio stations have objected strongly — would not be made effective in their present form.

The proposed regulations were issued in October last year as a basis for discussion between the 11-member board and interested groups. They contained the first proposal by the board to regulate the Canadian content of radio programs.

The Canadian Association of Broadcasters, to which most privately-owned radio stations belong, has objected particularly to a regulation that would require stations to devote between 30 and 45 per cent of weekly broadcast time to Canadian programs.

Mr. Dunton gave no hint as to which of the proposed regulations would be modified. He said the modifications had not been drafted. Informal discussions still were going on among the parties.

In reply to a question from Rev. E. G. Hansell (SC — Macleod), Mr. Dunton said one regulation must be "considerably modified or dropped altogether."

He referred to a regulation which would ban broadcasts by anyone "who solves or purports to solve personal, moral or social problems or questions . . . unless the program format had been approved . . . by the corporation."

Mr. Hansell suggested this regulation might hamper clergymen from discussing social and moral problems.

LOVELORN ADVICE

Mr. Dunton replied that the idea was only to stop programs of advice to the lovelorn, or to worried or disturbed people. There was no intention of limiting discussion of social and moral problems.

However, the wording of the regulation appeared to be poor and some rewording would be necessary.

Mr. Hansell also objected to proposed regulations against soliciting funds, particularly as applied to churches which weren't among the groups exempted from this regulation.

Mr. Dunton said established churches in Canada have no difficulty in obtaining permission from the CBC to broadcast appeals for funds. The regulation was aimed at preventing recorded broadcasts of appeals for funds coming from outside Canada.

Mr. Hansell said another regulation banning broadcasts of "any abusive comment on any race, religion or creed" was not clear.

26 Kikuyu On Trial For Murder

By RONALD BATCHELOR

GITHUNGURI, Kenya (Reuters) — Twenty-six Kikuyu tribesmen, handcuffed and clad in tattered rags, sat before a red-robed Supreme Court judge in a converted cow-shed here Monday to face trial for Mau Mau murder.

The Africans, three-foot wide cardboard identification plaques tied to their chests, pleaded innocent to the specific charge of murdering Penina, fourth wife of headman Charles, at a village called Magina.

Penina was one of at least 74 men, women and children massacred by the terror sect during its punitive raid against pro-British Kikuyus in the uplands district March 26.

The accused are the first of 185 Kikuyus due to stand trial for the massacre.

PC Raps Lack Of Air Defence

OTTAWA (CP)—Maj.-Gen. G. R. Pearkes VC, Progressive Conservative military critic, has charged that Canada has no air defence and won't have for many months.

He criticized virtually every major phase of the defence program after Defence Minister Claxton predicted in the Commons Tuesday that the three-year $5,000,000,000 rearmament drive largely will be finished on schedule and that military production lines will be slowed so they can be kept in operation longer than planned originally.

ENDICOTT BUYS HEADQUARTERS

TORONTO (CP)—Just back from Moscow, James Endicott, chairman of the leftist Canadian Peace Congress, says he used his $25,000 Stalin Peace Prize to buy a headquarters for Toronto's "peace" workers, a three-storey house in the University district of midtown Toronto.

Record Vote Expected At South Africa Polls

CAPETOWN (CP)—Prime Minister Daniel Malan's followers were conceded a slight edge on the eve of South Africa's general election today.

A record 1,500,000 voters—all but 50,000 of them white—may turn out to choose between the extreme nationalism and racial segregation of Malan's Nationalist party and the somewhat more moderate policies of the pro-British Commonwealth United party led by Jacob Strauss.

The deciding factor probably will be 25 or 30 marginal constituencies where a swing of the floating vote could settle the issue.

The Nationalists say they are confident of boosting their 12-seat majority among the assembly's 159 seats because they have promised yet tougher policies towards the non-white millions.

The opposition United Front refused to make any official guesses. But its leaders said privately the best they hope for is a hairline victory.

The outgoing government had 85 seats, the opposition 73, comprising 64 United party, six Labor, and three natives' representatives. One seat, normally Nationalist, was vacant.

Only 135 constituencies poll today; two Nationalists including Malan and 18 United party candidates were returned unopposed and there will be one by-election later. The natives' representatives' seats are decided in separate elections. There will be straight Nationalist-United party fights in 127 constituencies.

CANADIAN DOLLAR DOWN

NEW YORK (CP) — The Canadian dollar was down 1-32 premium of 1 21-32 per cent in terms of U.S. funds Tuesday. Pound sterling unchanged at $2.81 11-16.

U.S. Urged To Aid Seaways Project

WASHINGTON (AP)—Brig.-Gen. B. L. Robinson, deputy chief of army engineers, estimating United States cost of the proposed St. Lawrence seaway at $88,047,000, says it would be a "serious mistake" not to join with Canada in its construction.

Robinson, first witness as a Senate foreign relations sub-committee began new hearings Tuesday on legislation to authorize the controversial seaway, said it would have strategic value to national security and to "our present and future economy."

Manitoba to See Rain-Making Tests

WINNIPEG (CP) — Broad tract of Manitoba farm land 200 miles Southwest of Winnipeg will be the testing ground this Spring for the first scientific rain-making ever attempted in Canada.

Lloyd McSorley, farmer of Deleau, Man., said Tuesday that farmers in 13 centres in a tract of 6400 square miles are forming local organizations to canvass for funds for the scheme.

Revealing Atomic Secrets Treason Under Code Change

BEARDED, British-educated Jomo Kenyatta, seen above, has been given a seven-year sentence at hard labor for master-minding the Mau Mau cult's bloody campaign to drive all white men out of British colony of Kenya Sentenced at Kapenguria, South Africa, by a British colonial judge, 59-year-old African received the maximum sentence on charges of Mau Mau membership and conducting the terrorist campaign. Five others accused of membership in same cult and of assisting Kenyatta in managing the campaign were each given seven years' hard labor. —Central Press Canadian.

OTTAWA (CP)—Giving a foreign state major military or scientific information — such as atomic secrets — would become treason in Canada under a Criminal Code change recommended Tuesday by the Commons' criminal law committee.

The amendment would provide penalties up to the death sentence for transmitting such information when it could be used against the safety or defence of Canada, whether or not she is at war. The death sentence already is mandatory for helping an enemy during hostilities.

In approving the provision, the committee reinserted in the code, in somewhat changed form, a clause the Senate had taken out of the government's original proposed revision of the code. The Senate had recommended that communicating this type of information in peacetime be removed from the "treason" category and made subject to a penalty of 14 years in prison.

Justice Minister Garson told the committee it is the government's view that under present conditions treason can be committed by giving information of a special character such as that on atomic developments.

"There should be something in our code that covers a matter which, in our view, is the worst kind of treason," he said.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A television producers says actor Mickey Rooney sold him a $28,000 home so leaky he had to move out during heavy rains. Producer Richard Lewis and his wife seek $14,000 damages in a suit filed Monday against the actor and his former wife, Martha Vickers.

Nelson Sea Cadet B. C. Coronation Representative

A Nelson Sea Cadet has been chosen to represent B.C. at the Coronation June 2 and attend the naval review at Spithead June 15.

Settimo Zanon, 16-year-old High school student, along with 11 other Cadets representing each Canadian province, will sail on HMCS Magnificent to attend the Coronation.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Zanon, 214 Gore Street, he has been a member of the Hampton Gray, VC, Cadet Corps for over two years.

The young cadet is active in school affairs, and is minister of finance in the school parliament, a member of the Bomber basketball team and active in track events.

Candidates from each Cadet Corps in the province were selected on a merit basis by local committees and each candidate was then interviewed by representatives of the Navy League from Vancouver headquarters.

The trip includes a coach tour of England and Scotland before the coronation, time to visit friends and relatives and a Coronation review at Spithead before sailing for home June 16. The group will be guests of United Kingdom Navy League.

English Cities Adolescents Compared to Those of France

By BRUCE HUTCHISON

ROUEN, France — On a ough Channel crossing today n English steward kindly arned me against the rapaty of the French race. "Reember, sir," said he, pausing his skilful ministrations mong several hundred vionntly seasick Britons, "that e franc is worth nothing, bsolutely nothing, but the renchmen still want it. If u give them a hundred, ey'll ask for two hundred, d if you give them two hunred, they'll want four, so be reful."

Since landing on the soil of Nordy, which supplied some of basic elements in the Canadian aracter, we have been careful careful, indeed, of our francs t we landed in one of the oldest darkest, cheapest and most deatful inns in France.

My wife, a diligent student of mathematics and foreign currencies, calculates that our dinner cost us $175 but I reckon it at a dollar and a quarter a head, which is dirt cheap for six courses, topped by a cup of coffee attached to an individual silver percolator and stronger than alcohol.

The waiter, in any case, would have been worth the money. He had lost one eye in the first war and the other regarded us with a glistening charity when he learned that we were Canadians. As he knew only one word of English, the word "good," and as we knew about three of French, we got along fine.

An Opulent Feeling

Everything was "good." Including, of course, the food. And the free entertainment which we offered to a roomful of Frenchmen, who lingered over their wine to watch us politely — that also was good. Finally, when you pay 2000 francs for dinner it gives you, regardless of the value of currency, a fine sense of opulence. You feel like a millionaire.

Rouen, of course, with its innumerable church towers, is one of the oldest and most famous cities of France. It was here, in the cathedral of carved stone lace, that France tried Jean d'Arc and, down the street in the marketplace, burned her as a witch. Many other notable deeds were performed in this capital of Normandy, the last being an American bombardment in the second war, which wrecked half the town and left the gutted cathedral unsafe for occupancy.

Only yesterday we had wandered through Canterbury and, the day before, observed the pointed granite finger of Salisbury pointing sternly to salvation. Beside Rouen those ancient English cities appear adolescent. They were built by Norman architects and stonemasons after they had long learned their trade in France. Rouen is one of the original homes of Gothic art, which crossed the channel with the Conqueror, love child of a Norman king and a peasant girl. And many parts of Rouen have changed little since those days.

From this grimy and fascinating hotel room I look out on a street which must have been built well before Canterbury or Salisbury, when London was hardly more than a Roman village. The beamed houses lean together, list drunkenly sideways and almost touch across the street at the roofs. Yet they are still in use.

About six feet away, on the other side of the street, a French family, in an immaculate little parlor, is sitting moodily over a bottle of red wine, the head of the house gesticulating earnestly as he addresses his sons and daughters, the aged wife placidly sewing. (Why is it, in this country, that the young all seem homely and the faces of the old are beautiful?)

A window box, precariously suspended on an outside wall contains tomorrow's dinner, a formidable array of lettuce, cabbage, cheese, oranges and a bouquet of tiny daffodils. Directly below is a respectable drinking resort where a group of working men apparently spends the evening over a single glass of wine and a sober discussion of public affairs.

Jean d'Arc herself, I suspect, was the last guest in our room. It, too, has changed little — a monstrous carved bed with a mattress undulating like the Rockies, a mirror 10 feet tall, a vast wardrobe cupboard used, no doubt, to conceal superfluous corpses in the old days and a newly-installed electric light of three candlepower. But, as I say, it is delightful, the proprietress (a lady who probably posed for Van Gogh) treats us like her own children or pitiable English lunatics, and her two strapping sons have tried to educate us in the politics of France.

These lads learned English from British officers in a German prison camp, whereas the school system of Canada, a bilingual country, could not teach us French in years of study.

Now No One

Even from our disordered conversation it is possible to sense the shape of the shadow hanging over modern France. De Gaulle, the young man said, had been the great hope but he had turned out "too dangerous." Now there was no one. No big man. No Clemenceau, Poincare or Briande. No Churchill or Roosevelt. France, they complained, was governed by little men.

Were they not afraid of a man on horseback? Ah, but yes, of course. Nevertheless, for five years or so, until the nation found its feet again, it must have a strong man. And looking out at the ruins and the empty squares of Rouen they argued that the government was too slow, politics too confused and nothing was getting done.

What about the French Communists? "Pouf!" said the elder son with a contemptuous flick of the fingers. The Communists were really nothing. Such things came and went, you understand.

Rouen has seen much larger scourges—the English of the Black Prince and the fifth Henry, the Maid burning on her heap of faggots, the Germans, the American bombardment. But the family across the street still sits undisturbed around its little bottle of red wine.

And in This Corner . . .

LONDON (Reuters) — Two men lost interest this morning in today's British budget. Their tax troubles were over.

They are William Foyle, a construction worker, and George Meakin, electric welder, both winners of $210,000 in soccer sweepstakes.

Each forecast correctly eight drawn games in last Saturday's professional soccer games.

Such winnings are not subject to income tax in England.

Foyle, 55, and his wife have brought up a family of seven children, five of whom now are married. Meakin, 35, is single and lives with his parents.

TORONTO (CP)—When Dr. James H. Craig, former dean of the Anglican diocese of Calgary, arrived last Friday with his wife and family of three, he found it would be a week before his furniture got here from the West.

Meanwhile, he had to find furnishings for the vacant eight-bedroom rectory where he and his family will live while he serves as pastor of Grace Church on the Hill.

His parishioners got busy as soon as they learned of the family's plight. Some laundered the Craig's clothing, others prepared meals in their own homes and took them to the rectory. A nearby school provided beds and chairs, and tables were brought in from the church.

"We were told in Calgary we wouldn't like Toronto," Mrs. Craig said, "but so far we've met nothing but kindness."

Dr. Craig was rector of Cathedral Church of the Redeemer in Calgary and dean of the diocese of Calgary when he accepted an appointment to the Toronto church in January.

APRIL 22 TO 29 PROGRAM . . .

Nelson Waterfront To Be Cleaned Up in Arbor Week

Nelson's waterfront is going to be the object of an all-out Spring cleaning.

City Council Monday night extended the annual Arbor Day to Arbor Week, April 22 to 29, and the main drive will be on the waterfront.

The cooperation of the Dominion and provincial public works departments, property owners along the waterfront, and city departments, will be enlisted.

The city will be taking advantage of one of the lowest water levels in years, Mayor Joseph Kary, who sprang the idea, pointed out.

A waterfront clean-up, he said, was long overdue. Abandoned pilings, buildings and equipment not only were unsightly, but constituted a hazardous condition.

The cost, the Mayor felt, would not be too great if all businesses and departments put their backs to the project.

"It's not good enough to let the present condition go from year to year."

His suggestion received immediate support from other Councillors.

The city should set the example, Alderman Arthur Foster said.

"I'm all for it,' agreed Ald. Elizabeth Wallach. "I've been ashamed of our waterfront for years."

Ald. T. H. Bourque went one further than the Mayor. He felt the city should demand removal of wreckage and dumpings, such as the remnants of SS Nasookin, and this method will be used where appeals for cooperation fail.

The usual Arbor Day was increased to a week to permit the extensive waterfront clean-up, and to give city trucks enough time to make city pick-ups.

P. E. Stromstead, City Pioneer, Dies

Per Erik Stromstead, 81, one of Nelson's early settlers, died Tuesday morning in Mount St. Francis Infirmary.

Mr. Stromstead was born in Stromsund, Sweden, in 1872, and in 1901 came to Canada and the Nelson district, where he was first employed in the Hall Mines smelter, then located where Nelson's new housing project is being planned.

During the following years he became well known for his excellent stone masonry. He also became active in the logging industry, and established a record for cedar pole making by cutting and peeling 54 cedar poles in one day.

He was predeceased by his wife, Hilda Theresa, in November, 1942, and is survived by a brother, Edward, in Seattle, two sons, Edward and Arthur, and two granddaughters, Joan and Terrie, all in Nelson.

Interment will be in Nelson Memorial Park.

RCAF Band Here In May

The Royal Canadian Air Force Band will be in Nelson May 13. Sponsored by the Air Cadet League of Canada, Squadron 561 of Nelson, the band will stage a parade through Nelson and give an open air concert at Lakeside Park if the weather is favorable. If not, the concert will be held in the Civic Centre arena.

ESTIMATES TO BE ANNOUNCED IN TWO WEEKS

City Council is finalizing its 1953 estimates this week.

Councillors will be meeting Thursday night to complete the work of numerous budget meetings in past weeks, and may come up with the answers next week.

"We may call a special meeting to bring down estimates next week," Mayor Joseph Kary said. "In any event, it won't be later than April 27, next regular meeting night."

Amalgamation Proposed For Upper Fairview Area

While the local amalgamation spotlight is being focussed on Rosemont, a similar proposal is being made by a group of residents in upper Fairview.

The Upper Fairview group is seeking city help in drawing up a petition which would be circulated among approximately 250 property owners.

The proposition, although only in the very formative stage at present, would possibly lead to incorporation with the city of an area from Eleventh Street North to the present city boundary between Sixth and Seventh Streets, and a considerable area Westward, and might take in a portion of the Gyro Park area at present outside city limits.

The site of the new senior high school which will be built in upper Fairview would be included.

While the area is at present largely residential, many of the homes having been built in the last few years, there would be one major industrial concern, Kootenay Forest Products, Ltd.

The benefits which would accrue to the residents in the area if amalgamation goes through, would have to be considered on a long-term view.

"We don't expect improvements overnight," a spokesman said Monday. Water would be a subject for early consideration, but more immediately, residents seeking amalgamation, feel householders need protection by building restrictions and fire department service.

It is understood that, if a majority is gained on the petition, the group will ask the city for an assessment scale which would increase in ratio to the improvements over the years.

The amalgamation proposition was borught to light at Monday night's Council meeting, when Ald. T. H. Bourque said he had been approached by the residents for city assistance in drawing up the petition.

As the Rosemont petition is in the process of being prepared, the upper Fairview one may be drafted at the same time.

Councillors pointed out that the city would require a description of the area, and all information regarding the number of property owners, assessments, etc.

Tree-Pruning Policy Defended by Coventry

Alderman J. H. Coventry, chairman of City Council's parks committee, had a rebuke at Monday night's meeting for the critics of his department's tree-pruning program.

He ran the gamut of the history of Nelson's boulevard trees, misfakes which have been made in the past in their maintenance, and his department's views for the future.

The remarks were prompted by a letter from E. C. Wragge, protesting against the "destruction and mutilation" of shade trees on Nelson streets.

"It is to be hoped that the committee responsible for this vandalism has some plan to cut the butcheress skeletons and replace them and the trees cut down entirely with some species of ornamental trees. If so, such plan should include looking after the young trees and not leaving them, like those planted on Stanley Street some years ago, with no protection or attention whatever, with the sorry results that may be seen today," Mr. Wragge wrote.

50 YEARS OLD

The parks committee chairman reminded Council that the majority of the present shade trees were planted 50 years ago, and that Nelson, along with other cities whose trees are of the same age, is faced with the problem of replanting.

Fifty years ago, the city provided the trees, and householders planted them. There was not the variety available then that there is now.

When the money is available, the city should replace its boulevard trees, he said.

In the meantime, it is impossible to let them grow as high as they are growing, and interfering with power and telephone lines, he said. The electrical superintendent had advised him that if branches so much as touch wires, radio reception is seriously affected.

Other Councillors backed Mr. Coventry in his views on the hindrances of overgrown shade trees. There were numerous examples in the city of where tree roots had heaved sidewalks, and of damage to sewer pipes.

In addition, Mr. Coventry said, there are double the number of shade trees there should be on most boulevards.

The department was also attempting to rectify past errors in pruning. It was the custom in former years for electric light departments, the public works department and the B.C. Telephone Company to hack at the trees.

"Removals should be referred to the parks committee, because we take the criticism," he said.

So, until trees can be replaced, the parks department is carrying out the pruning. He noted, incidentally, that trees which now look like stumps will have a considerably improved appearance in a couple of years.

The Stanley Street trees referred to in Mr. Wragge's letter were not good boulevard trees, he continued. They were too low-growing, with the result that children passing grabbed their branches and stripped them of leaves.

THE VARIETIES

What is a good boulevard tree? Aldermen asked.

"A good boulevard tree is one which will not grow higher than 25 feet," Ald. Coventry replied. Varieties especially suitable for boulevard planting were flowering plums and cherries (not the weeping kind), and laburnum.

Thomas Milburn Dies At Infirmary

Thomas Milburn, 62, a former employee of the public works department of the City of Nelson, who had made his home here for the last 45 years, died Monday night in Mount St. Francis Infirmary.

Mr. Milburn was born in Bereia, Ohio. He came to Canada in 1908, and lived in Lethbridge before coming to Nelson.

Surviving are two brothers, William in Salmo, and Robert in Vancouver; four sisters, Mrs. Isabel Mills of Nelson, Mrs. Irene Feeney of Salmo, Mrs. Annie Shotton in Vancouver, and Mrs. Mary Hutchinson in England.

SOROKIN NAMED "YASTREBOW" BY REFORMED SONS

Members of the Christian Community and Brotherhood of Reformed Doukhobors have declared Stefan S. Sorokin "Yastrebow" or the third official leader. In a wire to the leader in Uruguay, the officers of the Reformed Sons Brotherly Council stated "we, the Christian Community on April 5 at a mass meeting held in Shoreacres conferred on you the prophetically imposed title "Yastrebow" as our spiritual leader. Please accept the name."

The telegram was signed by chairman John J. Perepelkin, Nick Rozinkin, Mike W. Hadikin, William Babakaeff and Tom Shlakoff.

At the Shoreacres meeting Easter Sunday, a small group protested the declaration of Sorokin as the Christ or "Yastrebow" and 20 riotous minutes followed when flags were torn and clothing and money burned. The banners had depicted Sorokin as "Yastrebow" and the argument followed a declaration that worshipping of icons or idols, is contrary to the true meaning of Christianity.

Cominco Sets Price On Smelter Land

The Consolidated Mining and Smelting Company has set a price of $700 an acre on the seven-acre area in Rosemont it plans to make available immediately to the city for a housing site.

The area would be included in a 97.5 acre area which would become part of the city in plans for the Rosemont amalgamation.

The seven-acre area was viewed recently by Cominco and city officials, Charles Marlatt of Trail, Cominco's superintendent of property, stated in a letter read at Monday night's City Council meeting.

Any small amount of slag on the site could be pushed by bulldozer onto the land being retained by the company, he stated.

"It is understood that land in the power line right of way may be subdivided and used for garden purposes but that houses should not be built on the right of way.

"Slag pipe land being retained by the company may be incorporated within the boundaries of the city. It is also understood and agreed that you shall have the first option for 10 years to purchase, at the rate of $700 per acre, the remainder of this land from us, with the exception of that lying North of the trans-provincial highway. The consideration for this option is to be the difference between $30 and the actual taxes levied against the property by the city. It is, of course, understood that you would be unable to exercise this option until such time as the slag is removed.

"It was felt that owing to the nature of the ground, the subdivision layout should be made now for the whole area, even though the portion being retained by us may not be available for some years."

SQUATTERS

Cominco also has a plan for a number of old men living as squatters on the land the company would retain. Although the company hesitates to ask these old people to move at present as they seem happy and self-supporting, it feels the situation should not be perpetuated.

It suggests that a list of the squatters be drawn up by the city of Nelson, and that no new squatters be permitted to settle in the area. As the existing squatters leave or die, their abodes would be demolished and removed.

"You can immediately proceed with your subdivision work on the land being sold to you," Mr. Marlatt advised the city.

Council decided to thank the company for expediating the matter, and to await the outcome of further efforts.

Plans for Coronation Progress at Kimberley

KIMBERLEY — Kimberley coronation preparations got away to a good start Friday when representatives of a number of city organizations drew up plans whereby each group would be responsible for one phase of the day's activity.

By unanimous approval, all proceeds for the day will go toward a fund for erecting a cenotaph in the city and trees will be planted at the proposed site in front of the Legion building in commemoration of coronation year. W. Wilcox was chosen chairman of the coronation committee with W. Lambeth secretary and Mrs. M. Thomason treasurer.

The following jobs were allocated to service and other organizations: PA system, Kinsmen; sports, Kimberley Amateur Athletic Association; dance, Elks Club; service at cenotaph, Canadian Legion and Ministerial Association; parade and coronation coach, Rotary and Lions clubs, refreshments, IODE and Legion auxiliary; decorations, Eagles and Moose clubs; publicity, Mrs. Barbara Archibald and Mrs. A. E. Oliver.

The city will purchase 3000 flags which will be distributed to school children by the Parent-Teacher Association. The queen and her attendants will be chosen by popular vote.

Mrs. Buterman Laid At Rest

KIMBERLEY — Rt. Rev. F. P. Clark, Bishop of Kootenay, assisted by Rev. Eric Bibbey of All Saints Anglican Church officiated at the funeral of Mrs. Estelle Buterman.

A Kimberley resident since 1924, Mrs. Buterman died in McDougall Hospital shortly after suffering a cerebral haemorrhage at her home at her home on Ritchie Townsite.

Born at Wymouth, Nova Scotia, she came west to Grants Pass, Oregon after the death of her parents, to live with her aunt and uncle. In 1920 she came to B.C., and in 1924 to Kimberley, where she was for 13 years on the office staff of the Mark Creek Store. In 1942 she married Otto Buterman of Kimberley.

Mrs. Buterman was a member of All Saints Anglican Church, and of Patricia Rebekahs lodge of Merritt, B.C. She is survived by her brother, Alfred Oakes of Kimberley and a sister, Mrs. Warren Boggs of Colusa, California.

Cranbrook Miner Dies After Accident At Work

CRANBROOK — Well-known here, where he grew up, Steve Yadernuk died at Vancouver where he had been rushed following an accident in the Giant Mascot mine at Spillimachene. The body was returned to Spillimachene for funeral services and burial.

He was the oldest son of Mr. and Mrs. George Yadernuk of Cranbrook. For the past ten years he had lived in the Windermere Valley farming at Invermere and more recently at Spillimachene where he also engaged in mine work.

He is survived by his wife Mary, son Steven and daughter Mary at Spillimachene, his parents here, four brothers, William, Cranbrook, John at Hammond, Nick in Alberta and Alec in Cranbrook, and five sisters, Mrs. Mary Kibitch of Bellis, Alta., Mrs. Rose Rurellio of New Westminster, Mrs. Anne Sjoden of Hammond, Mrs. Helen Ferrier and Mrs. Katherine Atkinson at Vancouver.

49 Seek Homes In New Subdivision

CRANBROOK—Forty-nine of the requested 50 applications for consideration for a new 30-home subdivision in the Southeast corner of the city were received when the resurvey closed last week and have been forwarded to Provincial Housing Commissioner J. E. Brown. Proposed homes would be built at a cost of over $10,000 each and would be available on a rental basis only at about $65 a month.

With the total applications so close to the objective it is not certain yet whether the project will be implemented or not and word is awaited by city officials. Construction would be under a joint Dominion-Provincial-Municipal finance plan through Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation.

Feel Province Should Pay Portion Of Police Magistrates' Salaries

KIMBERLEY — Because of wide differences in salaries paid police magistrates throughout the province, the B.C. government should pay part of the cost, says one of a number of City of Kimberley resolutions being prepared for the next convention of Union of B.C. Municipalities.

The resolutions were read by City Council, but action was deferred.

The resolution would have magistrates' salaries revised every three years. Appointments are made by the Attorney-General's department.

Another resolution would seek power under the Municipal Act to levy a licence on insurance agents. At present agents are exempt from the licence if they are operating from their own homes and not soliciting business from their homes.

Another would amend the Municipal Act, requiring qualifications of a mayoralty candidate to include at least one term as alderman or councillor.

Power is sought in another for municipalities to enter into contracts for capital expenditures subject to the approval of the inspector of municipalities and for terms not exceeding five years. Money from such contracts would come from surplus.

The last resolution suggests that city and province share on an 80-20 basis cost of repatriation of parents brought back to stand trial on offences under the Children's Protection Act. Mayor Clifford Swan commented that the parents now get off scot free because municipalities are shouldered with all the costs.

New Arson Outbreaks Emphasize Need for Government Program

A level-headed determination to stick to the main problem in the Sons of Freedom situation is called for from the public. Chief concern should be with bringing the government to the point of evolving a practical program aimed at a solution to this tremendous public problem. To be sidetracked into a spate of ineffective charges and counter-charges as to who is to blame for acts of violence is to be diverted from this main objective.

Determining responsibility for the latest acts of violence is the job of the police. Full cooperation in police efforts is, of course, called for from the public. Sons of Freedom can best reveal the sincerity of their avowed reformation if they will provide the authorities with whatever concrete evidence pointing to the outlawry exists. Their charges are meaningless otherwise.

In the meantime a full scale program to fit those Doukhobors who want to remain for a part in this province's life and to aid those who seek reformation should not be balked by a misguided lunatic minority, who want neither peace, relocation or any other solution to unrest, and who indicate their position by continued terrorism.

Professor G. C. Andrew of the Consultative Committee on Doukhobor Problems has said "there is a good deal of evidence" that the bulk of the Sons of Freedom do not now want to move from their homes. This is not surprising. At one time a visitor to any Freedomite centre would be involved in a wave of discussion on relocation. That has long subsided with the delay upon delay that has hindered any really determined move in this direction. Attempts at relocation of individual groups have failed, indicating an inbred reluctance to part from the security of the family and community. Those who do want to relocate, however, should not be deterred, but assisted.

If the desire to emigrate is not now as high as it was that fact reveals once again the need for a program that will make it possible to act when conditions are appropriate for action. The new outbreak of violent acts also indicates the need for a program. The public should never allow this need to stray from its mind. Full attentions should be directed at obtaining government action. All other issues are merely diversions to the route of an eventual solution.

For Individualism

"We live too much in platoons; we march by sections; we do not live in our individuality enough; we are slaves to fashion in mind and heart, if not to our passions and appetites."

—E. H. Chapin.

Regional Planning Overriding Rights Of Small Centres

To the Editor:

Sir—Your issue of the 10th inst. contained a report of an inaugural meeting of representatives of nine West Kootenay municipalities in a movement to set up a regional planning area in the lower Columbia River valley in West Kootenay.

This movement seems to be a revival, in a slightly different form, of the "Lower Columbia River Regional Planning Area" of recent and malodorous memory, and to have one central purpose in common with it, the extension of powers now possessed by these municipalities to areas outside their boundaries, without permitting the inhabitants of such areas to have any voice in either the formation or the management of such an area.

The following partial list of the villages and hamlets involved in this proposed control will indicate in a startling fashion the widespread territory proposed to be made the victim of this entirely undemocratic treatment: Ymir, Sheep Creek, Remac, Emerald Mill, Erie, Meadows, Beaver Falls, Montrose, Columbia Gardens, Casino, Riverdale, Oasis, Genelle, Blueberry, Robson, Brilliant, Thrums, Shoreacres, South Slocan and Crescent Valley.

The inhabitants of all these communities are apparently to be treated as second class citizens who need to be ordered around by their neighboring municipalities, who alone know what is good for them. This in spite of the current very far-sighted project in Robson, entirely voluntary in its origin, to provide an alternative highway to develop back areas more efficiently. Similar progressive ideas are being developed elsewhere in the area, but unfortunately they are not under the direction of the Trail Town Planning Commission.

Entirely aside from the pros and cons of the idea of regional control of development in the district, it is axiomatic that all those citizens whose rights and interests are to be affected should have a voice in all stages of planning and operation.

BOYD C. ATTLEE.

218 Gore Street,
Nelson, B. C.

Colossal Gamble

To the Editor:

Sir—Your April 8 issue giving the financial statement of Nelson shows over $100,000 of B. C. bonds in the sinking fund. In the event of the Socreds being the next Government in B. C., will these bonds go the way of Alberta bonds, and, if so, what of your sinking fund? Likewise, your housing project in Rosemont. That, coupled with toll bridges, toll roads, Rolston formula, hospital formula, etc., doesn't appear to me to be a very bright picture.

Add to Nelson's $100,000 the millions of B. C. bonds held elsewhere, and you get some idea of the colossal gamble we take; seems we are extremely lucky that we have an election on June 9, and time to consider the economic catastrophe we might have gotten ourselves in had the Socreds obtained a majority.

If our eyes have not been opened by now, it will be a case of the blind leading the blind. Me? I can see quite well, thank you!

FRANK CARTER.

Kaslo, B. C.

Real Public Ownership

(Family Herald and Weekly Star)

When we were young, we took part in various school and college debates, and one of the favorite subjects was "Nationalization", or "Public Ownership". Since that day, curiously enough, the political doctrine of State ownership in the Socialist sense has been preached with increasing loudness and frequency, although the actual ownership of industry has been becoming more and more public every year.

Today "the man in the street" or "the man behind the plow" is the actual owner of a great number of industries besides those few which have been taken over by the Dominion, Provincial or Municipal Governments.

A fairly typical example of this condition is the Bell Telephone Company, which has more than 100,000 shareholders—that is to say, owners—of whom about 98 per cent live in

C. W. B., Nelson—Please advise some method for removing varnish which has discolored linoleums, other than varnish remover. This will not do the job.

Can other readers suggest a treatment?

Mrs. M. E., Salmo—Where can one obtain a booklet on income tax information? To settle an argument, which is lighter, a pail of dry sand or a pail of wet sand? Could you print recipe for making cider out of jam which has gone sour?

Income Tax Division, Head Office, Ottawa, for information on income tax. Sand is full of minute air-pockets, and these, when sand is wet, are filled with water—which makes wet sand heavier than dry. We do not know any recipes for making cider from sour jam.

R. C. G., Robson—Has there been any change in the wording of the Coronation Oath since the crowning of Queen Victoria? If so, please state change.

There will be some change June 2, drawn up at the wish of Queen Elizabeth II. There has been no public statement on this yet.

Mrs. G. F., Riondel—Please give me address of the doll's hospital.

The last address we had was Dolls' Hospital, Mrs. Francis Wise, 1165 West 10th, Vancouver, B. C.

Looking Backward

10 YEARS AGO

From the Nelson Daily News of April 15, 1943

The Consolidated Mining and Smelting Company of Canada is saving the British Government and the United Nations $22,000,000 a year by supplying lead and zinc at prices far below world market prices. The Trail and Kimberley institution is making one of the most outstanding contributions to the Allied cause as a consequence of the price contract which was made with the British Government at the outbreak of war.

25 YEARS AGO

From the Nelson Daily News of April 15, 1928

His Excellency the Governor General and Lady Willington will go by train to Trail Wednesday, and will spend Thursday inspecting the Consolidated smelter there. They will leave for Nelson by motor after lunch, arriving here at 3 o'clock, and will leave for Kootenay Landing by Canadian Pacific Railway steamer Thursday night.

New York Rangers, world hockey champions, have won the Stanley Cup for the U.S. for the second time in its long and colorful history.

50 YEARS AGO

From the Weekly News of April 18, 1904

There is an increased demand in Nelson for desirable residences which cannot be filled. It is about time for Nelson to have another building period, and it looks as if it were close at hand.

The Reliance Gold Mining Company, nonpersonal liability, has just been incorporated by residents of this city. The company has acquired the May and Jennie group of mineral claims, eight miles from Nelson.

Britain Concerned Over Increasing Slum Menace

By ALAN HARVEY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON (CP)—Legislative action is expected shortly to deal with Britain's growing slum menace. As things stand, some 200,000 houses decay into slums every year.

Specifically, the government attack will be concentrated on the complicated rent restriction acts, pegging the rents of millions of homes at pre-war levels. Although conditions vary, the main difficulty is that in many cases rents are too low to justify repairs being made.

Under the present set-up, there are many oddities. Two different families living in the same house may legally pay varying rents. Similarly, a person who obtained an unfurnished apartment before the war may pay about one-fifth of the sum charged a neighbor who took a flat furnished; that is to say with a few sticks of furniture.

These anomalies are caused by rent control. Another complicating factor is the system of subsidies, whereby municipal authorities pay part of the rent of new houses for certain tenants on their housing list. Where any particular person stands on this list depends on such things as length of time in the district and numebr of children.

PRIORITY SYSTEM

This system of priorities, the independent weekly, the Economist, notes, means it is "largely chance that determines whether a family lives in a dream-house or a in a grimy tenement."

Of Britain's total of 13,800,000 occupied homes, it is estimated that more than 2,890,000 are more than 100 years old, and another 4,000,000 more than 75 years old. Most of these unfit homes are located in the chief industrial centres and in the mining towns and villages, causing the left-wing New Statesman and Nation to comment:

"This decay is eating out the heart of industrial Britain; for the disease is located at the centre of our economic life, where most of the industrial working class is born, works and dies."

Apart from decay, British housing is often rudimentary by Canadian standards. The 1951 census showed, for instance, that there are 5,100,000 households in the country which have no bath.

These are some of the problems that Housing Minister Harold MacMillan and his lieutenants are expected to tackle in any new legislation. In a recent speech in the House of Lords, the lord chancellor, Lord Simonds, said: "There is no aspect of the law on landlord and tenant-relationship which is not under our urgent and earnest consideration."

25th's New Commander Has Friendly Chat With Canadians Heading Home

By BILL BOSS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

SEOUL, Korea (CP)—Brig. Jean Victor Allard, describing himself as "a new boy," arrived at Seoul today to assume command of Canada's 25th infantry brigade in Korea.

Brig. Allard, who is from Nicolet, Que., flew from Kure, Japan in a Royal Australian Air Force plane after inspecting Canadian base units there.

He was met at Seoul by Brig. M. P. Pat Bogert of Toronto, his predecessor in command. Bogert flew from the Canadian brigade area in a light aircraft.

Spotting a group of Canadian soldiers near the airstrip, Brig. Allard strolled over to meet them. They were Cpl. Jean Perron, Quebec City, of the Royal 22nd Regiment; Cpl. Bill Hill, Regina, of the Canadian Dental Corps and attached to the Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry, and Gnr. Dan Henry, Prince Albert, Sask., of the Royal Canadian Horse Artillery. All are Canada-bound.

FELLOW SYMPATHY

The soldiers chorused their delight at the prospect of going home.

"After flying over this country, I can't blame you," Allard replied. "I am one of the new boys who have come over to take over from you."

He drove with Bogert to 8th army headquarters where the present Canadian commander introduced him to Lt.-Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, 8th army commander.

INTENSIVE PROGRAM

Brig. Allard embarked at once on an intensive five-day program during which Bogert will introduce him personally to all units in the brigade. Working forward from Seoul, they are due to reach the brigade late Wednesday night.

The actual turnover of command is scheduled for April 20—the day the Canadian brigade commander may be summoned to Panmunjom to meet sick or wounded prisoners of war under the exchange agreement arrived at by the Allies and the Reds.

Brig. Bogert, whose new appointment is still unannounced, leaves Korea April 21 for Kure, where he will be documented like all other soldiers, and then continues to Tokyo. Beyond Tokyo his plans are still indefinite.

What's a Peck Among Friends?

PORTLAND (AP) — The crow who learned he could make people run by pecking at them is learning something else now.

People like it.

At least 50 of them said the neighborhood just didn't seem the same since Benny the crow was banished to the country last Wednesday. So they signed a petition calling for his return.

That is practically everybody in the neighborhood, who only last week complained that Benny was a nuisance the way he dive-bombed them, quarrelled loudly with cats and dogs, sampled garden produce while it was still in the garden, and dumped clothes on the ground by pulling clothespins off the line.

THEN CAME PEACE

Peace came when Benny was exiled to a farm 20 miles away, and the fact is that the neighbors just couldn't stand it.

So Benny is back with his owner, 73-year-old Michael Hintz, who says he has brought Benny up since he was a fledgling. That was three years ago.

Benny, apparently overjoyed at being back from the far—where there was almost no one to chase—has been on his best behavior so far. He even greeted the cat next door who was brought over for the homecoming. Benny didn't offer to bite or fight. He just acted pleased and cawed politely.

FBI Arrests Man Wanted in Canada

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP)—The Federal Bureau of Investigation announced Tuesday the arrest of one of the 10 most-wanted men on the list of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police. The man was identified as Harry W. C. Hedderson, 46.

Leonard Blaylock, agent in charge of the FBI's Buffalo office, said Canadian authorities want Hedderson in connection with the theft of $80,000 worth of gold at Sudbury, Ont., last May 29.

The specific Federal charge against Hedderson is unlawful flight to avoid prosecution in California, Blaylock said. Hedderson is wanted in connection with at least three robberies in the San Bernardine area and four in San Francisco.

Hedderson was picked up early Tuesday in a Buffalo hotel. With him was a woman identified as Rita Giroux, 32, of Arnprior, Ont. She was charged with harboring a fugitive.

Blaylock declined to discuss how Hedderson's presence in Buffalo was discovered, except to say that he was "traced through investigation" here and in California.

Capital Memo

BY JAMES K. NESBITT

VICTORIA—The political convulsion that came on when the Coalition Government fell apart in January of last year still shakes this Province.

The shakes will continue until June 9, when, perhaps, the people will elect a majority Government of some kind or other. That's the only way B. C. will get political and Governmental stability for a few years.

Last June's election cooked up a messy omelette. The Social Credit part of the mess had one more egg than any other part—and so a Social Credit Government.

Then the session, ending in history-making defeat of the Government on the floor of the House.

The convulsion goes on in the internal workings of the political parties.

Let's look at the parties this time last year, and now:

Social Credit—Leaderless; Rev. E. G. Hansell, M.P., imported to run the B. C. campaign. Now leader—Conservative rebel W. A. C. Bennett, 52.

CCF—Harold Winch the leader. New leader—Arnold Webster, 54.

Liberals—Byron Johnson the leader. New leader—Arthur Laing, M.P., 48.

Conservatives—Herbert Anscomb the leader. New leader—Deane Finlayson, 33.

What extraordinary changes—but wait a minute—we've forgotten one party:

Mr. Uphill of Fernie party—Leader last year, as since 1920, Mr. Uphill. Leader this year—Mr. Uphill.

Butler Britain's "Sugar Daddy"

LONDON (Reuters)—Chancellor of the Exchequer Butler Tuesday announced the Government plans to end 14 years of sugar rationing "soon", and as a preliminary step will increase the current eight-ounce weekly ration by two ounces May 17.

The Government subsidy will end when sugar is de-rationed.

Eggs, ham, tea and candy are the chief consumer commodities freed from controls in the last few months. Foods still rationed include meat, butter domestic cheese and margarine.

Butler said the end of sugar rationing was made possible by the purchase of 1,000,000 tons of Cuban sugar at "advantageous prices".

Butler's announcement was greeted with cheering from his Conservative party supporters and shouts of "Vote catching!" from Labor members.

Weather Cool Enough For Hot Desserts

By MARGARET CARR

Although Spring may be here, families are going to enjoy warm, filling deserts for awhile yet.

Here are a couple of quickie family desserts we think they'll enjoy.

QUICK FRUIT DUFF

One No. 2½ can fruit (see note), 2 teaspoons cornstarch, ¼ cup water, 2 teaspoons lemon juice, ⅛ teaspoon nutmeg, 3 tablespoons granulated sugar, 5 tablespoons milk, 2 tablespoons melted butter or margarine, 1 cup prepared biscuit mix, ½ teaspoon cinnamon.

Drain fruit, reserving syrup. Put fruit into 1½ quart casserole or baking dish. Blend cornstarch and water. Add with lemon juice and nutmeg to syrup from fruit in saucepan. Simmer 5 minutes or until thickened, stirring constantly. Pour over fruit. Stir 2 tablespoons sugar, milk, and butter into biscuit mix, and beat well. Drop by tablespoonfuls over top of fruit. Sprinkle with remaining 1 tablespoon of sugar combined with cinnamon. Bake in hot oven (450 degrees F.) for 30 minutes. Serve with or without cream. Serves 4.

NOTE: Canned peaches, pears, apricots, cherries or berries may be used in this recipe.

CHOCOLATE DUMPLINGS
Chocolate Sauce

Three-quarter cup brown sugar, ¼ cup cocoa, 1 tablespoon cornstarch, dash salt, 2 cups water, 2 tablespoons butter or margarine.

Combine brown sugar, cocoa, cornstarch and salt in heavy frying pan. Stir in water. Cook until mixture begins to boil and thicken slightly, stirring constantly. Add butter or margarine and mix well. Remove from heat while making chocolate dumplings.

Dumplings

One cup sifted enriched flour, 2 teaspoons baking powder, ¼ teaspoon salt, ½ cup sugar, 2 tablespoons cocoa, 3 tablespoons shortening, 1 egg, 1-3 cup milk, 1 teaspoon vanilla extract.

Sift together flour, baking powder, salt, sugar and cocoa. Add shortening, egg, milk and vanilla. Stir to blend ingredients, then beat thoroughly for 1 minute. Return frying pan to heat and bring chocolate sauce to boil. Drop dumplings by spoonfuls on chocolate sauce. Reduce heat, cover and simmer gently 20 minutes. Serve warm with cream if desired.

District Officer Guest at Denver Pythian Luncheon

NEW DENVER — Deputy Grand Chief Mrs. Grace Davis made her official visit to New Denver Pythian Sisters at a meeting in the KP hall here. Mrs. Davis, Grand Chief Dora M. Clever and Adeline Klein of Nelson were presented, with corsages by Excellent Chief Ruth Clough.

Mrs. Davis addressed the group on the order of the Pythians. Later, at a luncheon, she was presented with an engraved silver spoon.

Procter Notes

PROCTER—The Ladies' Aid of the Procter United Church held its April meeting at the home of Mrs. J. Riley. The treasurer gave a report on the recent successful tea and hot cross bun sale. Mrs. G. A. Grant was a prize-winner.

General Electric Must Pay Taxes

OLYMPIA (AP) — The State Supreme Court ruled Tuesday that the state may keep approximately a million dollars in taxes collected from General Electric Co.

General Electric paid the taxes in connection with its operation of the Hanford Atomic energy project under a $1 contract the company held with the federal government.

The company sought to recover the money on the grounds the federal Atomic Energy act exempts the company from payment of the state business and occupation taxes, the levy involved.

Attorneys for the company and the federal government argued that the company was, in effect, an agency of the federal government's Atomic Energy Commission, and, as such, was exempt from state taxes.

The company spent no money of its own — only federal money — and received $1 for its services in operating the project and government town of Richland.

Human Boss Gland Has Full Control

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE

DENVER, Colo. (AP)—A mystery gland in the brain seems to be the real boss gland of the human body, it was disclosed Tuesday.

It even translates thoughts of love, sex, fear or hate to order other glands into action. This could explain how thoughts of love could stimulate production of sex hormones. Or how seeing sudden danger spurs adrenal glands to give you extra adrenalin, in order to fight or run.

This big-chief gland is the hypothalamus. Scientists haven't been sure just what it does, or how it works. It's been called the seat of the emotions, and apparently is involved in the strange mechanism of sleep.

TWO VITAL CONTROLS

In insect experiments Dr. Berta Scharrer, University of Colorado school of medicine, finds the hypothalamus has two vital controls.

One control, she finds, is that the hypothalamus actually produces some hormones and sends them to what, in humans, would be the back part of the pituitary gland. These hormones regulate the salt and water and fluid balance of the body.

The brain gland sends these hormones through a nerve to the pituitary, for storage, and release when necessary.

Sending hormones along nerves is a new thing.

This same nerve coming from the brain gland also has a branch line running to what, in humans, would be the front part of the pituitary gland. That part of the pituitary makes the hormones which control the sex glands, the adrenal glands, the thyroid gland.

The hypothalamus apparently decides when these pituitary hormones shall be released, Dr. Scharrer's work indicates.

The hypothalamus sends a message along the nerve to the front part of the pituitary, giving it orders. If the nerve line is cut, the front pituitary hormones are made but keep piling up. It's like a factory turning out goods, but the shipping department won't send them out until its gets orders by telephone from the boss, and the telephone line is cut.

Dr. Scharrer and her husband, Dr. Ernst Scharrer, found this evidence in work with giant South American cockroaches, one to two inches long.

Covent Garden Sells Queen's Vegetables

LONDON (AP) — The Queen is the proprietor of a truck garden which peddles carrots and tomatoes to the London public, it was disclosed Tuesday.

The vegetables are grown at Windsor Castle, where a 40-year-old Scottish gardener has transformed 30 weed-chocked acres into one of the finest truck gardens in that part of England.

David Stevenson, appointed head gardener at the castle only 20 months ago, said his yield was so great that the Royal Family and its servants could eat only 40 per cent. The rest is sold through Covent Garden, big vegetable and flower market in the heart of London.

CORONATION FLOWERS

Much of the Royal acreage went to put during the war years and the post-war period when there was an acute manpower shortage. The six walled gardens near the castle were bristling with weeds when Stevenson took over.

In addition to the vegetables, Stevenson is raising all the flowers which will be used to decorate the Royal premises during the Coronation in June. Stevenson has a staff of 28 gardeners.

Pearkes Scores Naval Program . . .

Defence Output To Be Extended Over Longer Period — Claxton

OTTAWA (CP) — Defence Minister Claxton predicted Tuesday that Canadian defence production is going to be deliberately stretched out or extended over a longer period that once planned.

But he also predicted that the three-year defence program he announced in Frebruary, 1951, will largely be fulfilled by a target date he set as June 30, 1954, and that all Canada's obligations will be met on schedule.

This version of the defence effort, given to the Commons at the opening of a military debate, wasn't shared by Maj.-Gen. G. R. Pearkes, VC (PC—Nanaimo). Before the noon adjournment halted him, he said the "rate of achievement" of the defence program is giving his party "considerable concern" and that the naval program has "slipped badly."

CAN MODERATE

Mr. Claxton said it is possible for the Atlantic Pact powers to "moderate" their efforts but that any fundamental change in their drive to build up Western strength would be dangerous.

Gen. Pearkes said the results of the $5,500,000 defence program in actual fighting men and materials were "meagre and in no way proportionate" to the large sums voted for rearmament.

Canada did not spend all the money voted to help her NATO allies, Gen. Pearkes said. She had "slipped very badly" on her naval program calling for 100 ships and 21,000 men. To date she had only 56 ships and some 15,000 men — 5,000 of them administrative and most of the ships were obsolete.

Canada's seaward defences, he said, were never in worse shape. Never had Canada's harbors been more exposed than at present. Seaward defences, in fact, were "practically non-existent" particularly for the big ports of the Pacific Coast.

Of Canada's program for NATO, Mr. Claxton said the army already has completed its one-brigade commitment, that the air force has three quarters of its air division in Europe and should have the last of four wings there later this year, that the navy will have the ships available it has promised. The deadline is the end of June, 1954.

As for the general $5,000,000,000 defence program announced in February, 1951, the government expected it would be completed on schedule "subject to one or two exceptions."

American Banker Tells World That U.S. Tariffs Are Stale, Outmoded

By FORBES RHUDE
Canadian Press Business Editor

An American international banker, addressing a group of doctors recently, used medical terms to describe the economic problems of the world, and to urge the United States to lower its trade barriers.

Robert L. Garner, vice-president of the International Bank for Reconstruction and Development, told the American Heart Association in Atlantic City:

"We are using a poultice, and are overlooking curative measures that would be both more basic and more economical.

"The world, economically speaking, is much like the human body. There is an economic heart, pumping life-giving blood to its various members. . . . A clot in the leg may immediately affect the heart; an artery severed in the foot may kill that heart if not repaired."

Mr. Garner used his economic metaphor to express what Britain and other countries mean when they tell the United States they want "trade, not aid."

URGES LOW BARRIERS

The United States, in Mr. Garner's description, is the economic heart of the free world which must immediately feel the affects of a clot or severance of trade in any part.

Urging a lowering of trade barriers by the United States, he said:

"According to some reputable analysts, our basic tariff position is still not much more liberal than it was back in the days of the Underwood tariff of 1913.

"Meanwhile, the whole position of the United States and of the world has radically altered. To base our present-day trade policies on the facts and the slogans of a half-century ago is comparable with treating modern disease problem as if we were our grandparents. We need a new attitude toward imports and toward foregin trade.

INSTANCES CITED

"We should stop thinking of foreign materials and foreign goods as unwelcome and realize that they are valuable and desirable in our economy. Let us look at foreign trade like any other trade, as being composed of transactions in which buyers and sellers benefit.

Citing instances of bans against foreign goods entering the United States, Mr. Garner said:

"An import which is small in comparison to the American market may be vital to a foreign country.

"Take Danish butter and cheese. In the past $1,500,000 or $2,000,000 worth of these products were sold annually in the U. S. The figure might grow, under favorable circumstances, a million or two larger, but this would come on a dairy market in the United States which amounts to $5,000,000,000. . . .

"However, some 12 producers of blue cheese in Wisconsin were able to have inserted into the Defence Production Act a prohibition on the import of Danish cheese on the basis that this is necessary for the security of the United States!"

Grain Strike Costs Coast Over 3 Million

VANCOUVER (CP) — Disputants in the 58-year-old grain strike at Vancouver and New Westminster appear to have adopted a "wait-and-see" attitude on an offer from Vancouver Mayor Fred Hume to mediate the strike.

Officials of the CIO Grain Workers' Union, representing the 250 grain handlers in their wage dispute, said they would probably meet Wednesday to study the proposal.

It appeared the union is waiting for an official reaction from the operators of the five strikebound terminal elevators before making an announcement.

Operator spokesmen R. H. Tupper said his group would discuss the mayor's offer "today or tomorrow."

The workers went on strike Feb. 14 when negotiation failed in demands for a 12½-cent hourly pay boost. The operators wanted to continue the 1952 contract with a basic wage of $1.50 an hour.

V's Edge Beavers 4-3; Now Hold 2-0 Lead in Finals

FORT WILLIAM (CP)—Penticton V's squeezed out a 4-3 win over Fort William Beavers Tuesday night to take a 2-0 lead in the Western Canada Allan Cup hockey finals. Penticton won the first game in Fort William by a score of 5-2.

The Beavers took a two-goal lead in the first five minutes of play, only to see the V's click for their entire quota of four goals before the first period ended. The Beavers outplayed the visitors in a scoreless second period. Fort William's last-period rally provided only one counter.

The Fort William club did, however, provide the home-town crowd of more than 4000 with a better brand of hockey than they displayed in their first game Sunday.

As in the first game, Penticton drew a majority of the 16 penalties.

Penticton goals were scored by Bill Warwick with two, Schmidt and Berry. Kyryluk, McKenzie and Antoniazzi tallied for the Lakeheaders.

Kyryluk opened the scoring for the Beavers after 25 seconds of play. McKenzie tallied a few minutes later on an unassisted effort when he picked up a loose puck in the Penticton zone.

Bill Warwick inspired the Penticton rally when he sent the puck into the Beaver net from Avison's stick. Three screen shots by Bill Warwick, Berry and Smith completed the scoring for the period and gave the V's a 4-2 edge.

Antoniazzi slapped home the final Beaver tally early in the last period while McIntyre sat in the penalty box. The game ended with six Beaver forwards in the Penticton zone fighting desperately.

Lineups:

Penticton—McLelland; Johnston, Fleming, McAvoy, Brown; R. Warwick, W. Warwick, G. Warwick, Schmidt, Defelice, Culley, Berry, McIntyre, Rucks.

Fort William—Avison; Dunville, Antoniazzi, Oakley, Brayshaw; J. Kirk, Saplywy, A. Kirk, Mackenzie, Milani, Kyryluk, Corness, Forslund, Irving.

Officials: Paul Bozak, George Cullen.

Seven Teams For Crow's Nest Pass Football

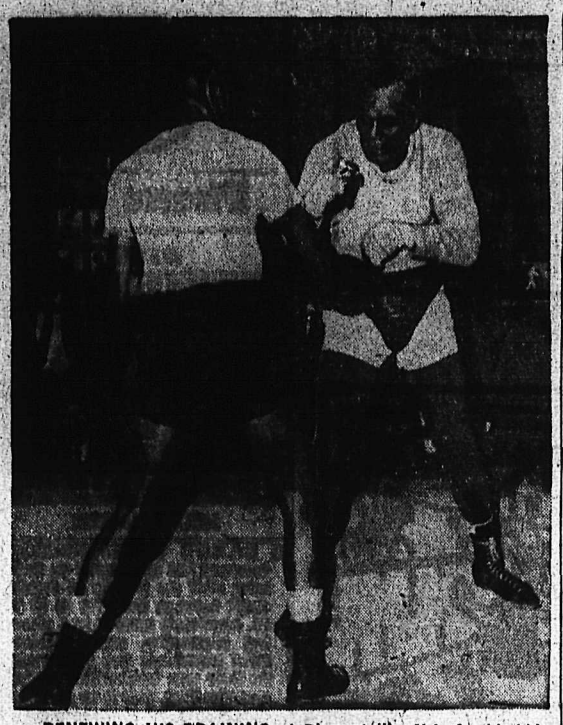
FERNIE — Lethbridge Miners and Fernie Rovers were admitted to the Crow's Nest Pass Football League at the annual meeting of the association held in Fernie.

Admittance of these two clubs brings to seven the number of teams for the league the others being Fernie United, Lethbridge Legion, Michel-Natal, Kimberley and Lethbridge ANAF.

The league should prove interesting as the Lethbridge Legion has had some great contests with the Calgary Callies for the past two years and won the Alberta title in 1951. Last year Kimberley lost out to Edmonton in the Alberta football final.

It was announced that the league would get under way the weekend of May 16-18 and that all teams would play a home and home series for the league title, then enter the cup ties for the Central and Graham cups. It was said that although home clubs would be responsible for providing referees, they will wherever possible provide a neutral official. Members of the club winning the league title will be presented with a suitable token or memento at the end of the season.

Last season's slate of officers, Ed Hardy of Fernie, president, Robert Martin of Michel, vice-president, and Leon Rushcall of Fernie, secretary-treasurer, were returned to office. Club representatives were James Pearce and Alfred Cromton, Fernie United; Robert Taylor and Alex Walker, Michel-Natal; George Ure and Edward Semensin, Kimberley; I. J. McNiven and William Chenery, Lethbridge ANAF; Alex Gardner and Jack Martin, Lethbridge Miners, and John Davie and William Wallwork, Fernie Rovers.



RENEWING HIS TRAINING at Pleasantville, N.J., for his bid to regain the heavyweight boxing title from champ Rocky Marciano, May 15, Jersey Joe Walcott does light sparring, without gloves, with one of his stablemates. The 39-year-old fighter was nearing peak condition when his scheduled April 10 title bout with heavyweight champion Marciano was postponed until May 15.

7-3 Win Gives Canadiens Two-Game Edge in Series

BOSTON (CP) — Montreal idol Maurice (Rocket) Richard scored three times for Montreal Canadiens as they virtually clinched the Stanley Cup by defeating Boston Bruins 7-3 Tuesday night to take a 3-1 lead in games in the best-of-seven Stanley Cup final series.

Canadiens need only one victory to take the cup and they could sew it up Thursday night at Montreal. The 13,909 crowd had little to cheer about as Bruins were badly outplayed.

The Bruins, with substitute Gordon (Red) Henry again in the nets, played as erratically as they did here Sunday, when they were shut out 3-0.

Richard, who has tallied seven times in the current playoff competition, bunched two of them during the final session after the desperate Bruins had cast caution aside. The Rocket's first scoring effort came at 10:58 in the opening session, about seven minutes after Lorne Davis had notched the first Montreal counter.

The other Montreal scorers were Dickie Moore, Boom Boom Geoffrion and Calum Mackay. The latter intercepted a pass in the Boston zone at 17:59, about 30 seconds after the Bruins had pulled out Henry, on a long shot into the empty cage.

Henry was rushed back into action, only to be humiliated again as Richard zig-zagged down the middle line and slapped in a close-up shot after being set up in centre ice by Elmer Lach.

Again ignoring his ankle injury, goalie Gerry McNeil, who turned in a 3-0 shutout here Sunday, kept the Bruins blanked until 18:22 in the opener, when cagey veteran Woody Dumart set up Dave Creighton directly in front of the net.

Captain Milt Schmidt and Jack (Moose) McIntyre were the other Boston scorers, after Canadiens had pulled into a commanding 5-1 lead early in the final period.

Summary:

First period — Montreal, Davis (St. Laurent, Mackay) 3:23; Montreal, Richard (Harvey) 10:58; Montreal, Moore 16:40; Boston, Creighton (Dumart) 18:22.

Penalties — St. Laurent, Johnson.

Second period — Montreal, Geoffrion 18:58.

Penalties — Toppazzini (2).

Third period — Montreal, Richard 5:33; Boston, Schmidt (Labine) 7:23; Boston, McIntyre (Creighton) 16:25; Montreal, Mackay 17:59; Montreal, Richard (Lach, Olmstead) 18:27.

Penalties — Mackay, Armstrong (double minors).

UMPS TO HAVE EYES EXAMINED

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — Let's not have any more nasty remarks about the eyesight of baseball umpires!

Marshall Ariss, president of the Ontario Intercounty Umpires Association, said Tuesday that when the Intercounty League season gets under way there'll be a pair of professionally-tested optics behind every batter in the league.

Arrangements had been completed to have every Intercounty umpire undergo an eye test by an optometrist. The association would be sure that every man had "average or better" eyesight.

Tulyar's Fate Not Decided

DUBLIN (AP) — The future of Tulyar, the $700,000 race horse, is likely to be settled within the next 24 hours.

A private meeting between members of the Irish National Stud and the Irish government will make the final decision.

Tulyar is scheduled to stand as a stallion at the Irish National Stud when his racing days are over.

The four-year-old colt's English trainer, Marcus Marsh, said Tuesday he had not been given any news regarding Tulyar's future.

"If it is decided to keep him in training, his first race will probably be the Coronation Stakes at Sandown Park, near London, at the end of next week," he said.

Irish racing circles feel that Tulyar will not race again.

They say that the national stud could not afford to risk a defeat for the horse which, as a three-year-old, was unbeaten when he ran in the colors of the Aga Khan who sold him for £250,000 to the stud.

Soccer Trophy Cup That Cheers

LONDON (CP)—The football association cup, Britain's most coveted team trophy, will be charged with 11 pints of champagne—one for each of the victorious players—at the close of the final at Wembley Stadium May 2.

More than 2,000,000 soccer fans have already attended the long-drawn elimination series and some 100,000 more will swarm into Wembley bowl for the duel of the last two surviving clubs, Bolton Wanderers and Blackpool.

The cup the Queen will present to the winners is the third edition of the original, offered as a prize when the competition was inaugurated in 1871. The first trophy, valued at £25, was stolen from a shop window in Birmingham in 1895, when Aston Villa, six times winners of the cup, were the holders. The second reproduction was presented to Lord Kinneard in recognition of his services to the sport, and is still in the family's possession.

The present trophy was produced at a cost of £50 in 1911, but the football association requires winning clubs to insure it for twice that amount. It was made by silversmiths in Bradford and by a novel twist of fortune it was first won by Bradford City who defeated Newcastle United, successful finalists for the last two years.

STRONGHEARTED MEN

When the tankard was entrusted to the safekeeping of Portsmouth during the last war, the club loaned it for exhibition purposes to raise funds for a local hospital. Throughout this period the cup was closely guarded by Portsmouth police and as an expression of gratitude for a job well done a club official filled it with 11 pints of beer. But when it was collected next morning it was discovered that the beer had not been touched.

Drinking beer on the premises was against regulations.

Later Portsmouth deposited the trophy in the vaults of a bank. During a heavy bomb attack by German night raiders the bank was hit and it was feared the cup had been destroyed. The following day it was learned that the bank manager, Jack Tinn, a lifelong soccer fan, had taken the cup home with him as a precautionary measure. He sat with it in the basement of his house until the "all clear" was sounded.

Triple A League Opens 52nd Year

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — The "new" American Association opens its 52nd season today with an afternoon baseball game at Kansas City and three night games at Indianapolis, Toledo and Louisville.

The triple A league is "new" in the sense of the team switches during recent weeks that sent last year's association pennant winner, Milwaukee, into the National League and the Milwaukee team to Toledo. The former Boston Braves took over Milwaukee for the senior major league.

Toledo, the weakest town in the association in recent years, lost its old representative in mid-season last year when the franchise was transferred to Charleston, W. Va.

The American Association expects approximately 50,000 fans will see the 1953 openers.

Kansas City will be playing host to Minneapolis in the only day game.

In the evening encounters, Charleston visits Indianapolis, Columbus plays the former Milwaukee Brewers, now the Toledo Glass Sox, at Toledo, and Louisville will have St. Paul as its guest.

TENNIS GROUP TO ORGANIZE

An active season is planned this year by Nelson Tennis Club. Annual meeting will be held Thursday night, Laurie Lefeaux said Tuesday.

Acting in the absence of Bob Cornwall, last year's president, Mr. Lefeaux said it was hoped to have a larger membership than the 88 players enrolled last year. The distance to the courts at the golf course was probably holding down the membership, but the courts are in good condition and there is hope of obtaining courts closer to the City.

Clubs Not Responsible For Injuries to Fans

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Baseball clubs are not responsible for injuries suffered by fans hit by batted and thrown balls unless negligence can be proved, the Superior Court of Pennsylvania ruled Tuesday.

The court reversed a jury verdict which directed the Philadelphia National League club to pay damages to Mrs. Reba Schentzel of Allentown, Pa. She was hit by a batted ball in Shibe Park, Philadelphia.

The Superior Court judges said a spectator at a ball game "voluntarily assumes the risk of being struck by a batted or thrown ball," adding:

"It is clear that the plaintiff did not expressly consent to accept the hazard. However, consent may be implied from conduct under circumstances."

Counsel for Mrs. Schentzel had argued that it was the ball club's legal duty to provide exceptional precautions toward women patrons, "many of whom are ignorant of the hazards involved in the game."

KIMBERLEY — Mrs. G. Wilson was elected president of the Kimberley Ladies Golf Club at their annual meeting.

Others elected were Mrs. D. Young, vice-president; Miss Kay Fowler, secretary; Mrs. P. Elliott, treasurer. Committee conveners were Mrs. E. F. Barnes, entertainment, Mrs. J. Wightman, house; Mrs. Leich, tea; Mrs. R. Redding, tournament.

The opening day for the ladies has been set for May 1.

WARTIME REMEMBRANCE

OSLO (CP) — The Norwegian Air Force has opened a new vacation hostel in southern Norway, commemorating the aid received in Canada and the United States in the last war. The recreation hall is dedicated to the late Col. Ole Reistad who commanded a Norwegian training camp in the Muskoka region of Ontario.

Langlois, Micell Bout Tonight

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — The fourth-ranking middleweight Pierre Langlois of France, and the fourth-ranking welterweight, Joe Micell of New York, will meet for the second time Wednesday night in the nationally-televised 10-round main event at Miami Beach auditorium.

Micell, tough, 24-year-old ex-soldier from New York's lower east side, outpointed Langlois in their first meeting last July in Brooklyn.

Chris Dundee, promoter of the fight in cooperation with the International Boxing Club, forecast a capacity audience of 3900 and a gate of $11,000. The fight is scheduled for 10 p.m. EST over the CBS television network.

Langlois is a 7 to 5 favorite to even the score with Micell. A welterweight when he lost to Micell, Langlois now is a full grown middleweight. He gave up his French welterweight title to campaign in the middleweight ranks.

The Frenchman plans to leave the United States after his fight to campaign in Europe for promoter Jack Solomons.

Ruled Off Tracks For "Fixing"

TORONTO (CP) — Jon Perron and Harry (Swabby) Swartz, former jockey's agent and jockey, have been ruled off Ontario tracks for life by a ruling of the Ontario racing commission.

Perron was described as "Mr. Fix-It" in the Ontario racing scandal, working with Swartz to fix races by bribing jockeys. They both were fined and sentenced to jail terms following the breaking of a jockey ring during the Fort Erie meeting in 1951.

Strikes 'n' Spares

In the Ladies' Variety Club May Wells took both the single and aggregate honors when she rolled a 314 and a 672 aggregate. Gwen Macrone, a teammate, scored a 650 aggregate. This same team, the Handicappers, took the team honors with a single of 1078 and an aggregate of 2711.

This was the final draw for the league that saw the Rum Dums capture top spot with 22 points, followed by the Handicappers with 16, Laffalots 15, Pinboy Pets 14, Deadend Kids 13 and the Amigos 10.

Leading the league in average was Gwen Macrone with a 197, followed by Billy Moore 179, Gladys Oslund 175, Doris Halliday and May Wells 172 each, and Rose Dahlsten 171.

In the Men's Commercial League Jimmy Reisterer took top honors with a single of 303 and an aggregate of 799. Team honors went to the Queens with a single of 1043, and to the Civics with an aggregate of 2805.

Scoring in the 600's were Ross MacSorley 699, Steve Herbrik 692, Joe Sikorski 689, Mickey Maglio 628 and Benny Schneider with 614.

In the Mixed Commercial League Bill Horner took the singles with a 318 while Bob MacDonald took the aggregate with a 750. Horner had an aggregate of 721, Lorraine May was tops for the women with a single of 263 and Lena Koehle captured the aggregate with a 652.

Team honors went to the Superiors with a 1173 single and a 3042 aggregate. Bowling in the 600's were Fred Koehle 693, Bruce Malcolm 653, Frank Beresford 668, Clyde Mills 642, Archie Macrone 619, Joe Sikorski 612, Larry MacMath 641, Bob Bennett 671, Hank May 681, Thelma MacKenzie 604, Ollie Kelly 623, Jack Todd 612, and Palm Horner 605.

In the Government League Rose Paulson took the single honors with a 223 while Dodie Sparks won the aggregate with a 606. For the men it was Jimmy Melville taking the singles with a 262 and Art Boyce nabbing the aggregate with a 618.

Others bowling in the 600's were Jimmy Melville 613, and Jimmy James 611.

Isabel Locatelli took both the singles and the aggregate honors in the Mixed Commercial League with scores of 238 and 625. Arvid Schneider with a 295 single led the men in that department while Yo Hamakawa took the aggregate with a 726. Dyne Macrae also appeared in the 700's with a 715. Bowling in the 600's were Doug Hall 611, Ernie Trozzo 603, Ev Macrae 606, and Arvid Schneider 607.

Lemon of Indians Pitches 1-Hit Game

By WILL GRIMSLEY

NEW YORK (AP) — A 10th-inning home run by a Milwaukee rookie and a one-hit pitching performance by Bob Lemon of Cleveland Indians provided the highlights Tuesday as the major league baseball season got off to a full-scale start before disappointing crowds.

Cold, raw weather cut attendance in the east and a snowstorm in New England forced postponement of the Boston Red Sox opener with Washington.

The Milwaukee rookie is Bill Bruton, who thrilled a sellout crowd of 34,357 at Milwaukee by hitting a 10th-inning home run to beat St. Louis Cardinals 3-2.

It was the home debut of the transplanted Braves, bringing big league ball to the city for the first time in half a century.

Lemon, ace of the Cleveland staff, pitched his one-hitter as the Indians downed Chicago White Sox 6-0 before the day's largest crowd, 53,698. The only hit off Bob was a single by Minnie Minoso in the first inning. Lemon also hit a home run.

New York Yankees, bidding for their fifth straight pennant, got off to a wobbly start as Alex Kellner of Philadelphia A's shut them out 5-0 on five hits. It was the first opening-day defeat for the world champions since 1947.

Only 23,534 turned out to watch the Yankees bow to the Athletics. There were just 12,433 of the Dodger faithful at Ebbets Field where Brooklyn's National League champions opened their campaign with an 8-5 victory over Pittsburgh.

The Dodgers relied on an old success formula, the relief pitching of Joe Black and home runs by Roy Campanella and Duke Snider to beat the Pirates on four-run outbursts in the fourth and fifth innings.

The Dodgers' perennial National League rivals, New York Giants, got off on the right foot by trimming the Phillies at Philadelphia 4-1. Airtight pitching by Larry Jansen and a two-run homer by Bobby Thomson turned the tables against the Phils' Robin Roberts, a 23-game winner last year.

In the other National League game, Chicago Cubs edged Cincinnati Reds 3-2 when a throwing error by third-baseman Bobby Adams set up a two-run double by Ransom Jackson in the eighth. A crowd of 21,222 attended at Chicago's Wrigley Field.

"POP" MAYNARD, 31-year-old captain of the Tinsley Tigers, world marble champions, is shown as he demonstrates a shot to U.S. service men and women at a practice game in Grosvenor Square, London, Eng. "Pop" Maynard's team beat the U.S. Navy team by a score of 38-11, teaching the latter that marbles, in Tinsley Green, is a man's game. Whereupon Seaman George M. "Smitty" Smith challenged "Pop" to meet him in the ring for individual honors. Then "Smitty" gave the sailors a boost by beating the world's marble champion in a match for the best of 13 marbles.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE—Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X E
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

B. C. Power Surplus Reported

VANCOUVER—B. C. Power Commission officials are predicting a surplus of $325,000 on their operations for the year ending March 31.

The surplus will be held in a stabilization reserve and can only be used to maintain or reduce rates in districts where it originated.

Number of customers increased from 45,493 to 49,255 in the 11 months to the end of February and power production increased 39 per cent over the same period in 1952.

Power consumption per capita has also increased, the Commission reports. Commercial users averaged 568 kilowatt hours per month compared with 516 for the previous fiscal year.

Average costs dropped from 2.84 to 2.37 cents per kwh.

Work will begin immediately on the Buttle Lake storage dam and the Puntledge Development near Courtenay.

Market Trends

NEW YORK (AP) — Demand for steels coaxed prices a little higher. Gains ran[illegible] two points, while losses were small.

Canadian [illegible] were mixed. Canadian Pacific eased ¼. Distillers Seagram lost ⅝ and International Nickel remained unchanged. Dome Mines gained ⅛; McIntyre added one point.

TORONTO (CP)—Prices improved slightly from early lows toward the close, but continued weak.

A wide list of losses in steels led industrials lower, and foods, banks, liquors, retail stores and manufacturing companies joined the decline.

MONTREAL (CP)—Trading was mixed in afternoon dealings, with a slight tendency toward the downside.

Price changes in either direction were held to minor fractions with the exception of Noranda, dropping one point to 72½.

LONDON (Reuters)—Despite the budget and settlement day operations, which combined to restrict activity, most sections were firm.

Gilt-edged issues showed rises throughout the list. Among industrials several small gains were widespread on hopes of taxation relief.

Calgary Livestock

CALGARY (CP)—Trade on the Calgary livestock market was only moderately active, with 811 cattle and calves on offer, of which 320 were held over. Good to choice butcher steers were steady at the week's decline of around $1.

Good to choice light butcher steers, $18 to $19.

Good to choice heavy butcher steers, $17 to $18; common to medium, $15 to $17.50.

Good to choice butcher heifers, $17 to $18; common to medium, $14 to $16.75.

Good to choice fed calves, $16.25 to $19; common to medium, $17 to $18.

Good cows, $13.50 to $14.50; common to medium, $12 to $13.25; canners and cutters, $9 to $11.50.

Good bulls, $13 to $14; common to medium, $11 to $12.50.

Good stocker and feeder steers, $18 to $18.75; common to medium, $16 to $17.75.

U.S. Prospectors Anxious To Come To Canada

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada, one of the world's biggest uranium producers, is being "swamped" with inquiries by Americans who want to prospect in the northland and tap some of the big money.

Dr. A. H. Lang, chief of the radioactive resources division of the Geological Survey of Canada, told the Commons atomic energy committee Tuesday that a lot of the would-be prospectors don't know the "facts of life."

Most believed that they can come into the country, grab a geiger counter and discover a big uranium mine that will land them a fortune.

That wasn't the case. Uranium was the "easiest thing in the world" to find in Canada, but the essential factor was to find deposits that were big enough and accessible enough to mine profitably.

A. Wesley Stuart (L—Charlotte), noting the big American interest, questioned whether American prospectors are bound by the same regulations as applied to Canadians.

Dr. Lang said they are. They could stake claims but the government controlled their production in the same way as control was exercised over Canadains.

Howard Green (PC—Vancouver-Quadra) wondered why there should be such a "rush" by prospectors when indications are that there isn't much money in the uranium business.

Dr. Lang said there are "rewards" for those who hit the right kind of uranium. It was true that for every successful and profitable mine there were about 200 or 300 unprofitable discoveries, but there was money in the business for the professional people who knew the facts of life.

Mr. Green said he also was "amazed" when he was told by a previous witness, W. J. Bennett, president of the Crown-owned Eldorado Mining and Refining Company, that though there were some privately-owned uranium mines in Canada, none had yet come into production.

Dr. Lang said that was true in the sense that none of the ore from the privately-owned mines had reached Eldorado which does the refining.

But there was one mine in the Northwest Territories and two in the Beaverlodge area in northern Saskatchewan which were in the process of extracting ore. These mines, however, were small.

Dr. Lang said the really important uranium discovery is at Beaverlodge but there is a discovery of pitchblende in the Gaspe area which indicates that there might be something of importance there, too.

"I wish I had a man to go down there and make a detailed investigation, but so far I haven't been able to get one," said Dr. Lang.

PM Would Boost Canadian Sales

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister St. Laurent urges Canadian industries to concentrate on top-notch designing in the drive to boost sales of Canadian goods.

There must be cooperation, he says, among industries, retailers, schools and professional designers if Canada is to meet successfully the tough designing competition of such countries as the United States, Britain, Sweden, Switzerland and Italy.

Mr. St. Laurent, along with Trade Minister Howe, officiated Tuesday night at the distribution of "design merit awards" covering 46 household and office products, winners in Canada's first annual industrial merit competition.

The competition, to develop designing talent and reward products of outstanding design, was opened to products manufactured in Canada, but designed either by a Canadian or outsider. Several hundred entries were made.

Mr. St. Laurent, in his speech, said it was "gratifying" to note that in the open competition 37 of the 46 winning articles were created by Canadian talent—and only nine were from other countries.

Winners get the right to use a special design merit seal or label on their products or on advertising matter used to promote sales.

Winning entries ranged from toasters and floor polishers to bicycle horns and desk lamps. Thirty-six manufacturers and 27 designers helped in their production. All of them were given certificates, handed out by Mr. Howe.

Two of the designers, Peter Cotton and Alfred Staples, hitch-hiked all the way from Vancouver to get their awards.

Is It a Shock To Wake Up?

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE

SALT LAKE CITY (AP)—Do you feel that just waking up is a real physical shock? Science finds you may be right.

The evidence comes from a brilliant new method of measuring the amount of potent hormones turned out by your adrenal glands.

It finds these glands put out a surge of hormones when people wake up to face a new day.

Any kind of stress or shock — like cold, fear, anger or the invasion by germs—does exactly the same thing to these glands which lie astride the kidneys. They turn out more cortisone and some other hormones to help you meet the stress.

At the same time your number of white blood cells, which fight infection, drops for awhile.

It isn't yet proved that just waking up is a stress that kicks up hormones. There may be some other reason for the higher level of hormones when the alarm clock goes off or you naturally come awake.

This is just a sidelight, though, to the deeper significance of the new method of measuring these vital hormones in the blood. The test was developed by Drs. Leo T. Samuels and Don Nelson of the University of Utah medical school, and described Tuesday to science writers visiting research centres in a tour organized by the American Cancer Society.

It is a good new test to detect border-line cases of Addison's disease, caused by worn-out or withered adrenal glands. This can be treated by giving extra cortisone.

Receives Medal For Bravery

EDMONTON (CP) — The Canadian Institute of Mining and Metallurgy has awarded its 1953 medal for bravery to Donald O. MacLennan of New Aberdeen, N.S., for rescue work after a gas explosion.

The blast occurred in the No. 20 colliery of the Dominion Coal Co. at Glace Bay July 9, 1952.

The Institute's Barlow Memorial Medal went to Dr. James B. Mawdsley of the University of Saskatchewan for his paper on uranium in Northeastern Saskatchewan. The paper was judged the best on geology published by the institute in 1952.

Frank K. Correy of Grimsby, Ont., was awarded the President's Gold Medal for the best student essay.

2nd Amendment To "Kickbacks" Report Introduced

REGINA (CP)—A second Opposition amendment to the Crown corporation committee's report on insurance commission "kickbacks" was introduced in the Saskatchewan Legislature Monday night following defeat of an earlier bid for a change in the report.

An Opposition attempt to turn the investigation of the charges over to a judicial commission was defeated 34 to 9. CCF members opposed the amendment and the Liberal Opposition supported it.

The opposition then moved a 15,000-word second amendment which declared Michael F. Allore, general manager of the Saskatchewan government insurance office, received "secret commissions" and that similar charges against Provincial Treasurer C. M. Fines have "not been disproved."

The Legislature debated this amendment during the night sitting but adjourned before a vote was taken.

The second amendment would reverse the decision set down in the Crown corporation committee report which said the charges against Mr. Fines and Mr. Allore were "wholly unwarranted and unfounded."

Joseph Rawluk, former managing director of Financial Agencies Ltd., set down the charges in an affidavit which alleged his firm paid insurance commission "kickbacks" to Mr. Fines and Mr. Allore both denied the charge under oath in the four-week investigation which followed.

J. W. Horsman (L — Wilkie) moved the Opposition's second amendment. Opposition leader Walter Tucker was speaking on various points in the amendment when the debate adjourned at 11 p.m.

Mr. Horsman said that when Mr. Rawluk changed his evidence it was "terrible" but when Mr. Allore changed, his evidence there was nothing wrong. He said Mr. Fines had also changed his evidence when he denied knowing Mr. Rawluk and later admitted giving him a hide with two friends.

Alex Cameron (L—Maple Creek) said Mr. Rawluk's charges had been described in the committee report as being set down in a "so-called affidavit." The report implied this had been done so an action could not be taken against Mr. Rawluk for perjury.

But, Mr. Cameron said, last year 31 government members had sworn out affidavits concerning mineral resources concessions. He asked if the government members would suggest there was a sinister motive behind all these affidavits.

"I cannot believe the report was written for any other purpose than to whitewash the whole investigation," he said.

Mr. Tucker said the committee report read like a "lawyer's brief" to exonerate people. The amendment, he said, was designed to give a "balanced view."

He said the report thought it significant that he had not made Mr. Rawluk's affidavit public for nine months. However, the last Legislature was dissolved and he was not even a member when it was shown to him. He had brought it before this body at the earliest possible date.

The amendment took 1½ hours to read.

Petrochemical Plant Is Opened

MONTREAL — Canadian production of 20,000,000 pounds annually of two basic industrial chemicals began Tuesday when Mrs. Louis St. Laurent, wife of the prime minister, officially opened Shell Oil Company of Canada's new petrochemical plant at Montreal East.

In the cafeteria-auditorium on Shell's 320-acre refinery site, Mrs. St. Laurent pressed a switch. Three-quarters of a mile away, pumps in the new plant began filling a 6600-gallon tank car with the first isopropyl alcohol produced in Canada. The plant will also convert isopropyl alcohol into the equally important chemical, acetone.

Drawing its raw materials from refinery units nearby, the Shell petro-chemical plant is the first in Canada to produce these two basic chemicals for such varied industries as synthetic textiles, medicine and paint manufacture.

Hon. Douglas Abbott, Minister of Finance, attended the opening and F. A. C. Guepin came from London, England, to officiate with W. M. V. Ash, president of the Shell Oil Company of Canada. Mr. Quepin is managing director of the Royal Dutch-Shell group, in charge of their world-wide chemical activities.

Isopropyl alcohol is important in production of pharmaceuticals, medicines, cosmetics; in making lacquers, cleaning compounds, in plastic and other industrial processes. Acetone is a major and basic solvent used to extract clorophyll, waxes and fats; produce other products as varied as rayon, cordite and nail polish.

Castlegar Airport In Red Last Year

The Castlegar airport administration ended 1952 with a deficit of $1850.

The financial statement for the year ending December 31 was received by City Council Monday night, and referred to its airport committee for study.

Nelson and the villages of Castlegar and Kinnaird, have a three-way stake in the airport, and have vastly improved it with federal government assistance, over the past few years.

Receipts last year were $12,449 in grants, including $11,249 from the federal government, and municipal contributions of $1200 ($800 from Nelson and $200 each from Kinnaird and Castlegar), landing fees of $1942 and $3000 from Canadian Pacific Airlines which uses the airport the year round in its Vancouver-Calgary operations. There was a bank balance of $512 from December 31, 1951.

Expenses included $15,378 for field construction, $2139 for maintenance and snow removal, and other expenses of $388.

Although the airport administration has December landing fees of $58 and balance of a federal government grant of $1250 receivable, a loan payable to CPA of $3000, a $2 bank overdraft and accounts of $156 are outstanding.

CREDIT UNIONS PLAN "SCHOOL"

The monthly meeting here of West Kootenay chapter of Credit Unions was attended by representatives from Trail, Rossland, Fruitvale, Castlegar and Nelson.

Arrangements are being made to hold a school of instruction at Castlegar May 2, at which officers of the Credit Unions will be given instructions in Credit Union management.

A full day of panel discussions and an evening of entertainment will be on the agenda. Members and officers from all parts of West Kootenay will be in attendance.

POWER OUTPUT UP

The Bonnington hydro-electric report for March showed an increase in all departments but one over March of last year. The one decrease was in the station service KWH which this year was 12,810 compared with 13,900 last year, a decrease of 7.8 per cent.

Total KWH generated was 2,437,450, a 12.97 per cent gain over last year's 2,157,500. The average load also showed the same percentage increase, 3,276.11 KW as against 2899.86. The peak load showed the largest increase 17.58 per cent or 5350 KW as against 4550. There was only a slight increase in the minimum load—1550 as against 1500.

Moves Advanced For Conciliation

Efforts are being advanced toward bringing about agreements between the city of Nelson and two unions whose members are city employees.

In negotiations for a collective agreement between the city and the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers (local 1003), the first hearing of the conciliation appointed recently will be held in the Nelson Court House jury room April 21 at 10 a.m. The public may attend, Mayor Joseph Kary pointed out at Monday night's Council meeting.

The B.C. Labor Relations Board has advised Council that in negotiations between the city and the Nelson Civic Employees' Federal Union (Local 339), it has appointed as a conciliation board A. R. Dahlstrom of Trail, chairman; William Evans of Nelson, the city's nominee, and A. Burton of Trail, the union's nominee.

No date for this hearing has been set as yet.

City Bus Revenue Down Last Month

Revenue from Nelson's municipally-owned bus transportation system decreased slightly in March.

Revenue was down from $3549 in March last year to $3488, and the number of passengers decreased from 43,587, to 43,208. Although the buses covered 6879 miles last month, 1484 more than in March, 1952, fuel consumption was down from 1935 to 1629 gallons.

Bus-Stop Bench Proposal Made

A proposal for erection of advertisement benches at city bus stops, was presented to City Council Monday night.

M. J. Roblin, Baker Street, was asking permission to erect the benches, which would have concrete foundations, board seats and plywood backs, dark green in color, and would be placed so as not to block sidewalk traffic. The advertising, to be painted on the backs, would be soliciated among business firms, one to a bench, on a yearly contract basis.

Such benches are on numerous cities in Canada and the United States, and are appreciated by the public, particularly by elderly people, the applicant stated.

He applied for permission to install two benches side by side at Baker and Ward Street bus stops.

The Mayor and Aldermen found objections to erection of the benches in certain parts of the city, especially at most downtown bus stops, owing to lack of sidewalk space, and felt the city should have the right to remove any benches which were not maintained.

Mayor Joseph Kary, while he felt the benches might have merit, said he was opposed to "cluttering the city with advertising."

The matter was referred to the chairman of the public works committee, and the initial step may be the erecetion of a few demonstration benches.

3 Firms Bid For Gas Works Land

Three bids were received by City Council Monday night for property near the gas works which has been advertised for sale.

The city is selling a portion of six lots on which stands the gas storage tank, which is to be replaced by a surge tank and pumps. The 75-foot frontage is on Railway Street, next to the gas works control building, and runs West to a depth of 150 feet. Upon sale, there would be arrangements to remove two other tanks, asphalt and oil containers, and relocate them, as they encroach slightly on the 75 feet for sale.

Wiginton Motors Ltd. submitted a bid of $3000 for the 75-foot Railway Street frontage, stating it intends to use the site for automotive garage buildings.

A bid of $3150 was received from Charles Ross, who said he would use the lots and gas tank to store equipment. Dismantling of the upper tank would comply with fire chief's regulations, the city would retain an easement through the property, and would be given 250 days to remove the other tanks.

Kenyon and Company, building contractors, the only other bidder, in offering $3000, indicated to Council it would begin construction on a new plant for the manufacture of millwork if it were the successful bidder. This firm, which was represented at the Council meeting, stated it would erect a fireproof building 50 by 80 feet which would "add materially to secondary industry" in Nelson.

Stipulations were that the city remove gas storage tank by May 31, although this deadline might be extended, that the purchaser would move oil and asphalt tanks and set them up in a new location, and the bid also contained easement provisions and sought permission to cross city property for access.

Council referred the bids to its finance committee for a report.

PROPANE SOLD DOUBLES

Although the propane purchased in March was only slightly higher than for the same time a year ago the amount sold was almost double, City gas department's report shows.

There were 16,701 gallons purchased compared with 16,141 a year ago, but 9298 gallons were sold compared with 4174. The amount of propane used in gas manufacture was 8919 as against 8612, and the amount in stock a little less with 11,904 as against 16,775.

In the gas department gas output showed a slight increase. Amount made was 1678MCF as against 1550 MCF. The output showed a small increase 1680 MCF to 1544 MCF.

Parking metre maintenance showed 75 repaired with 23 parts used while a year ago there was 29 repaired and 27 parts used.

GETS CHURCH SENTENCE

BINGHAMPTON, N. Y. (CP) — An 18-year-old girl who pressed a lighted cigaret against a deputy sheriff's neck during a scuffle has drawn a suspended sentence under orders to attend church every Sunday for six months. "It will do her far more good than a jail sentence or a fine," Justice Ford Mulford said. The girl, Helen Searles, was convicted of assault.

Oats Embargo Would Be Blow to Canada

WINNIPEG (CP) — A United States embargo on the import of Canadian oats would be a blow to Canada's production, J. E. Brownlee, president of United Grain Growers, said Tuesday.

He was commenting in an interview on the statement in Washington Monday by Agriculture Secretary Ezra Benson that oats imports might be restricted because of depressed domestic prices.

U.S. imports of Canadian oats from Aug. 1, 1952, to Feb. 28, 1953, totalled 33,419,000 bushels.

Mau Mau Kill 6

NAIROBI, Kenya (AP)—Fanatic Mau Mau tribesmen killed four white men and two African policemen Monday night in this terrorist-plagued British East African colony.

The four whites, members of the Kenya Regiment, were killed when a gang of about 100 from the bloodbath secret society attacked a platoon in the Fort Hall district.

A gang of 12 Mau Maus shot the African policemen to death at a roadblock they were operating near Nairobi.

Police Shot Wounds Burglary Suspect

VANCOUVER (CP)—A 20-year-old burglary suspect was wounded in the leg by a ricocheting bullet fired by a police officer here today.

The youth, identified as Thomas Laverick is in good condition in hospital. He has been charged with breaking and entering the Fraser Box Company plant.

Police were called when an official of the box factory was aroused by an alarm inside the building. Officers posted around the building saw a man come out and flee on foot.

Constable M. C. Stanton gave chase and fired two warning shots which the suspect ignored. Constable J. R. Page joined the chase, shouting a warning to halt, then fired a shot. The bullet ricocheted and struck Laverick high on the leg.

Pavlukoff Appeal Postponed To May

VICTORIA (CP) — Appeal of Walter Pavlukoff against the death sentence imposed on him April 1 by Mr. Justice A. M. Manson, will not be heard in Victoria as scheduled.

B.C. court of appeal, which Tuesday began a new session here, considered the Pavlukoff case as its first issue, and decided to traverse the appeal to its next Vancouver sitting.

The appeal will be heard there late in May. The necessary appeal books will not be ready until May 15.

Pavlukoff was convicted of murdering Vancouver bank manager Sydney Petrie Aug. 25, 1947. He was sentenced to be hanged June 23.

$7000 For Widow of Polish Immigrant

Senator Denies Recession Risks

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senator Homer Capehart (Rep. Ind.), replying to Democratic suggestions that the Eisenhower Administration may be heading the United States toward a depression, said Tuesday the country's economy is on a sound footing.

Capehart, chairman of the Senate Banking Committee, spoke out after a new Democratic blast at higher U.S. bond interest rates.

Capehart said he sees no factors in the present economic situation that should bring any recession and none indicating any increase in inflationary pressures.

"Payrolls are the biggest in our national history, the Government still is spending about $1,000,000,000 a week on the defence program, and while farm prices have dropped, they seem to have levelled off," he said in an interview.

However, Senator John Sparkman (Dem., Ala.) joined eight other Democrats and independent Senator Wayne Morse of Oregon in declaring that a boost in interest rates on Government bonds, ordered by Treasury Secretary George Humphrey, already is operating to tighten credit for farmers and small business men, and may bring an economic recession.

Hitch-Hikers Held By Fargo Police

FARGO, N.D. (CP)—The federal Bureau of Investigation Monday entered the probe of a case involving two Canadians held in connection with the theft and wrecking of a motor car early Sunday.

Harry Mitchell, 19, of Winnipeg is in jail and Robert John Tate, 23, also of Winnipeg, is under police guard in hospital, where he was taken after the accident. He is expected to be released from hospital soon.

Police said the car was taken at Moorehead, Minn., and overturned while speeding around a corner. Neither of the Canadians was charged.

Police said Mitchell told them he and Tate were picked up while hitch-hiking by a third person driving the car. He said the driver abandoned the vehicle after the crash. Police said the two men were arrested in a field near the accident scene.

Ducks Unlimited to Feed Frozen Birds

PINCHER CREEK, Alta. (CP) — An estimated 2000 wild ducks, frozen on slough ice 1½ miles West of here, are being fed until the current cold spell ends.

The ducks, migrating North, were caught by the unseasonal cold spell. It was 20 above Tuesday in the Pincher Creek region 50 miles West of Lethbridge and the weather man could see no indication of a break.

As soon as it was learned that the ducks' wings were frozen into the ice, the Pincher Creek Fish and Game Association made arrangements with Ducks Unlimited to have the birds fed.

Calgary Offers $5000 Award for Murderer

CALGARY (CP) — City Council Monday raised to $5000 the amount of reward offered for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the murderer of Mrs. Geaharda Middlestadt.

Mrs. Middlestadt was the victim of a brutal sex slaying March 7 and all leads to the murderer have so far proved unsuccessful.

Worthwhile Reward

SYDNEY, Australia (Reuters) — A prospector who discovered a uranium deposit worthy of "further investigation" will receive £1000 tax free. The government says the reward will be increased if the value of the deposit is proved.

Olafson Socred For Lillooet Riding

LILLOOET, B.C. (CP) — Conrad Olafson will contest Lillooet riding for the Social Credit party in the June 9 provincial election.

Mr. Olafson, Ashcroft hotel operator, won the nomination on the third ballot at a meeting here.

Western Outfit For Akihito

KAMLOOPS, B.C. (CP)—Note to Emperor Hirohito:

If you see a young man walking to the palace wearing a white stetson (10-gallon capacity), a leather jacket and cowboy boots with leather burning, don't call out the imperial guard.

That'll be your son Crown Prince Akihito, wearing the gifts presented to him Tuesday on the station platform at Kamloops in British Columbia, Canada.

Full-throated shouts of "banzai" greeted the 19-year-old heir to the Japanese throne as he stepped out of the special car bearing him East on his way to the Coronation of Queen Elizabeth.

Speches of welcome were delivered by Dr. Edward Banno, president of the local chapter of the Japanese-Canadian Citizens' Association and Mayor J. E. Fitzwater.

DELIGHTED PRINCE

A crowd estimated at 300 persons gathered to bid welcome to the prince.

Delegations waited on the prince from Okanagan Valley points — Kelowna, Vernon, Chase and other municipalities.

The leather jacket given the prince has a 22-carat gold medallion with the name of "Kamloops" on it and the cowboys boots have distinctive leather burnings.

The prince expressed his "thousand fold" delight at the gift and shook as many hands as it was possible for him to do in the half hour stop.

Victoria Names 3 Candidates

VICTORIA (CP)—Mrs. Lydia Arsens, William N. Chant and Percy Wright will be the Social Credit candidates for the three Victoria City seats in the June Provincial election.

They were nominated Monday in a 4½-hour sitting at which Ald. Waldo Skillings lost his bid for nomination.

Mrs. Arsens, wife of a city restourateur, and a former Alberta school teacher, ran for a city seat on the Social Credit ticket last year.

W. N. Chant is a former Alberta Cabinet Minister, while Percy Wright is assistant city clerk.

Manning Asked to Deliver Lothian Lectures, London

EDMONTON (CP) — Premier Manning will deliver the Lothian lectures in the United Kingdom this Summer.

The 44-year-old head of Alberta's Social Credit government will speak on the economic development of Alberta and the West in Westminister Hall, London, June 11, Edinburgh June 15 and Liverpool June 16.

Mr. Manning will be in Britain for the Coronation.

The lectureship is in honor of the late Marquess of Lothian, British ambassador to the United States early in the Second World War.

The English-Speaking Union invited Premier Manning to deliver the lectures. It will be the first time they have been given.

Anonymous Letters Not Sent by SCS

VANCOUVER (CP) — An official of a society to aid Chiang Kai-shek's Formosa government denied Tuesday that his organization has sent threatening letters to Chinese opponents.

Peter Ham, secretary of the Save China Society, said the letters may have been sent by "someone attempting to sabotage our efforts."

Mr. Hem said the Society was formed in Vancouver's Chinatown to give moral support to the Nationalist Government and funds if necessary.

Threatening letters were received by several Chinese who refused to sign a petition pledging such support.

Serve Sandwiches In Calgary Parlors

CALGARY (CP) — The Alberta Hotel Association intends to serve sandwiches in Calgary beer parlors in accordance with amendments to the Alberta Liquor Act even if non-union help has to be engaged, Fred Thomson, executive secretary of the association, said in a statement Tuesday.

He said AHA directors had considered the report that members of the Beverage Dispensers' Union, local 265, decided Sunday night they would not serve food in Calgary beer parlors.

VICTORIA (CP)—Two additional night liquor stores—one each in Vancouver and Victoria—will be opened Friday, Attorney General Robert Bonner said today.

The move is reported to have been prompted by complaints about traffic congestion in both cities in the vicinity of the night stores.

CP Pays Tribute To Clifford Sifton

TORONTO (CP)—Five transfers of membership in The Canadian Press, national news-gathering co-operative, were reported to CP's board of directors which concluded its two-day meeting Tuesday.

One new application was approved, bringing the total membership to 92.

The transfers, involving changes of CP representation among existing newspaper members, are: Saint John Times-Globe to Stuart D. Trueman; Trois-Rivieres Le Nouvelliste from Emile Jean to Raymond Dube; Woodstock Sentinel-Review from Gwyn Kinsey to John E. Slaight; Saskatoon Star-Phoenix (morning) from the late Clifford M. Sifton to Eric Knowles; Lethbridge Herald from Senator W. A. Buchanan to Hugh F. Buchanan.

The new membership, effective Sept. 5, brings into membership Progres du Saguenay of Chicoutimi, Que.

Directors paid tribute to the late Clifford M. Sifton, who died in February at the age of 34. D. B. Rogers of the Regina Leader-Post in moving a resolution of regret referred to Mr. Sifton as one of CP's youngest and most promising members, a man friendly and generous, who strove constantly to better the position of his craft and of the newspaper men who worked with him.
