Bulganin Urges Withdraw Forces From Germany

WASHINGTON (AP) — Soviet Premier Bulganin, in a letter to President Eisenhower made public Friday night, called on the United States, Britain and France to join with Russia in withdrawing some of the armed forces from Germany.

"This would undoubtedly prepare the ground for more decisive steps in this matter," Bulganin said in a letter dated June 6 and delivered here Thursday.

Enclosed in the letter, as made public by the White House, was the Soviet Union's May 14 statement announcing Russian plans for reducing the size of the Soviet armed forces by 1,200,000 men.

Bulganin's letter to Eisenhower declared the United Nations disarmament sub-committee, which has been trying to solve the disarmament problem for years, actually "is retaring progress in this matter."

He said "it is difficult to expect" any "concrete results in the area of disarmament in the very near future," as a result of these talks.

"NEW APPROACH"

The Soviet leader proposed what he described as "a new approach."

He said that, until such time as an international agreement on disarmament is reached, each country should take "concrete measures for reducing armaments" on its own.

As a starter, he proposed that the United States, Britain and France join with Russia in cutting back the size of their armed forces in Germany. He cited the Soviet proposal to withdraw 30,000 men from East Germany, and said:

"The withdrawal from Germany of the said number of Soviet troops does not solve the question entirely.

"This measure of the Soviet government is only the first step.

"However, we base our thinking on the premise that if the governments of the United States, England and France, which have their troops on German territory, would for their part also take steps to reduce their armed forces in Germany, then this would undoubtedly prepare the ground for more decisive steps in this matter."

Dispatches from abroad said Russian notes also were sent to Britain, West Germany and a number of other governments. It was conjectured their contents were similar to the letter sent to Eisenhower.

PARTY FOR DIKE WORKERS

Creston Celebrates Easing Of Flood Threat

CRESTON, B.C. (CP) — Citizens of this flood-besieged community threw a party Friday night as the Kootenay river level dropped still farther from its rampaging peak.

The river level fell about five inches Friday to 24.35 feet, down more than three feet from the record 27.75 feet peak.

A party for civilian dike workers Friday night was a follow up to one given some 150 army troops the previous night by farmers of the district.

Meanwhile, rivers in the Squamish area 40 miles north of Vancouver were reported rising at the rate of a foot an hour under a continuous, heavy downpour.

Affected were the Squamish, Mamquam and Stawamus rivers.

The Mamquam was reported to be covering a road two miles from Squamish and was eating away the approaches to a vehicular bridge. A railway bridge was also threatened.

Logging companies in the area were blasting logs and debris away from all bridges and moving equipment to higher ground.

All other rivers in the province were reported to have dropped in the last 24 hours.

The Columbia, which threatened the mining town of Trail, dropped some 16 inches in one day upstream at Revelstoke. Drops of two and one inches respectively were recorded at Castlegar and Trail.

Drug Addiction Course Suggested

PRINCE GEORGE (CP) — A proposal that preventive instruction on drug addiction be offered in the high schools of the province was made Friday by the B.C. Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Delegates attending the 20th annual convention of the Junior Chamber adopted a resolution asking the department of education to include in the high school curriculum a course explaining the harmful effects and results of drug addiction.

The resolution, submitted by Cloverdale unit, was opposed by representatives of smaller communities, who claimed the course would tend to encourage drug addiction in communities where no such problem at present exists.

Rain Threat to Strawberry Crop

VICTORIA (CP) — Continual rain and damp weather since the start of June threatens to ruin a $400,000 bumper strawberry crop in Saanich.

Picking has been brought to a standstill throughout the Saanich peninsula and mould has started to spread through crops.

Herbert Bickford, president of the Saanich Fruit Growers' Association, said today the industry already has lost between $100,000 and $150,000 as the result of the rainy weather.

"It will ruin the whole crop if it continues much longer," he said. "Even green berries are turning mouldy in the fields."

House Defeats Censure Motion Against Beaudoin

OTTAWA (CP)—The House of Commons ,split on party lines, voted 109 to 35 Friday to defeat an unprecedented motion of censure against Speaker Rene Beaudoin made a week ago by Opposition Leader Drew.

The 44-year-old Speaker sat motionless, showing no emotion, as the House voted—Liberal and Social Credit parties to sustain him, and Progressive Conservatives and CCF parties to back the motion that the Speaker's actions in the momentous gas pipeline battle had subordinated the Commons rights to the government's will.

As he rose and spoke the traditional words: "I declare the motion lost," a storm of desk-thumping from Liberal ranks thundered out.

The vote was an affirmation of confidence by the majority.

But Mr. Drew indicated that, to the Conservative party, the decision did not clear the air.

"Something ugly has come into this House," he said as he spoke just before the vote to end the debate which has continued intermittently through 11½ hours on four days this week.

" . . . This Parliament cannot be the same again."

The relationship of members among each other and with the chair had been affected. There could be no return to "that easy relationship and mutual understanding" until a new Parliament was elected.

Mr. Drew indicated the censure motion need not come to a vote if Prime Minister St. Laurent would give assurance of an early election.

Mr. St. Laurent made no reply.

DOLLAR LOWER

NEW YORK (CP) — Canadian dollar was 1-16 lower at a premium of 1 9-32 per cent in terms of U.S. funds. Pound sterling unchanged at $2.80 15-32.

MONTREAL (CP) — The U. S. dollar closed at a discount of 1 9-32 per cent in terms of Canadian funds, down 1-32. It took 98 23-33 cents Canadian to buy $1 American. Pound sterling $2.76 13-16, up 1-16.

$100 Million Damage At Niagara Plant

NIAGARA FALLS, N.Y. (AP)—Stunned officials of the Niagara Mohawk Power Corporation counted their company's loss at $100,000,000 Friday as they searched almost hopelessly for some remnant to salvage from the wreckage of the once — mightly Schoellkopf power station.

The 360,000-kilowatt power plant, largest hydro-electric station in the Niagara Mohawk system, was knocked out late Thursday by a series of giant rockfalls from the lip of the 220-foot-high Niagara river gorge.

One company employee was swept to his death and about 40 others fled for their lives as two of the huge station's three sections tumbled into the swirling river.

The calamity was believed caused by a seepage of water into crevices behind the face of the gorge and in the back wall of the power station itself.

CAUSE UNKNOWN

The cause of the seepage was not known. One expert said a minor earthquake might have been the root of the trouble.

Still poised on the edge of the precipice above the wreckage was the station's terminal building, which also houses penstocks which fed water to the generators at the base of the gorge.

The other third of the power station-proper was not immediately threatened, although water was flowing through it 10 feet deep.

"It looks bad, virtually submerged," said Charles A. Wick, administrative vice - president in charge of the company's western division, who estimated the damage.

A team of geological experts were called in with the co-operation of Governor Averell Harriman. They will attempt to determine the exact cause and to suggest remedial action.

At the scene of the series of three rockfalls, Niagara Mohawk engineers feverishly sought ways of stopping the flow of water through the wreckage of the plant.

They shut off part of the flow controlled by steel gates. They started building a log barricade in the powerhouse forebay to shut off more. They started drafting plans for a huge coffer dam to be built within the next three weeks at the intake two miles above the falls.

The latter measure will seal off all water from the Schoellkopf site.

The company began the gradual restoration of power in Niagara Falls, an industrial city of 100,000, within two hours of the collapse. Nearby steam plants, facilities in the central division and the Ontario Hydro-Electric Power Commission supplied the needs.

MACDONALD GETS TWO MORE YEARS

VANCOUVER (CP) — John Keith MacDonald, now serving four years for theft of $44,500, Friday was convicted of bigamy and sentenced to a concurrent two-year sentence.

MacDonald, 47, was convicted earlier of stealing the money from his post office at Britannia Beach in December of 1954. He was captured near Toronto last April. The bigamy charge was laid by RCMP shortly after his conviction.

Milk Prices Going Up

VICTORIA (CP) — An increase in the price of milk to Vancouver Island and Lower Mainland consumers was termed "unavoidable" Friday unless a solution can be found to the acute shortage of cattle fodder in B.C.

This warning was given provincial officials during a two-day meeting with B.C. Federation of Agriculture Directors who approached the government for assistance.

Try to Track Down Submarine

HALIFAX (CP) — Ships and planes were searching an area 130 miles off the Nova Scotia coast for "a possible submarine contact" late Friday, but no identification had been made at dusk.

A usually reliable source said it was believed to be a Russian sub, but naval officials said this was only speculation. "We're not even sure it's a submarine," they said.

An RCAF Neptune patrol plane reported what it suspected to be a sub early in the day and the navy dispatched the aircraft carrier Magnificent and the destroyer escort Huron to the scene. The ships were outside the harbor on routine exercises when they were dispatched.

No, No, Dad's Day's a Week Away

Don't let our Father's Day editorial of Friday get you in a tizzy. There's still another pay day before you have to shop for that fishing rod, tie or lawnmower for the man of the house. The News was just a week ahead editorially, that's all. Just how the rumor got around that tomorrow was D-Day is hard to say, probably some impatient father doing some wishful thinking. Actually, it is a fortunate mistake, for now there'll be an extra week for remembering the forgotten man.

Cockneys To Restore Bow Bell

LONDON (Reuters) — London's proudest Cockneys, the pearly kings and queens, will deck themselves in plumed hats and pearl-studded robes Sunday to launch a fund drive for the ancient church whose bells made them Cockneys.

Goals of their drive is to restore the ancient St. Mary-le-Bow Church so that its bells can once more determine just who in London is a real Cockney and who isn't.

The pearlies will march in procession to a special service at St. Mary-le-Bow church to open a 'Cockney week" fund drive throughout the world.

The Cockneys, renowned for their ripe accents, inhabit the tradition-rich east end of London and have long looked down on the rest of the city. The test of a true Cockney is one born within the sound of the Bow bells.

But for 15 years, since German bombers blasted the ancient church and shattered the dozen bells, there have been no peals from Bow and therefore no real Cockneys born.

Of the £150,000 needed, less than half has been raised so far.

Still Patrol Columbia Dikes

PORTLAND (AP) — The Columbia basin flood threat diminished still more Friday as streams continued slow drops from earlier high levels which flooded thousands of acres and cost three lives in the past several weeks.

Dike patrols maintained a constant watch for weak spots in the levees which must withstand steady pressure until the rivers drop below the danger point. Many dikes have weakened from the constant pressure.

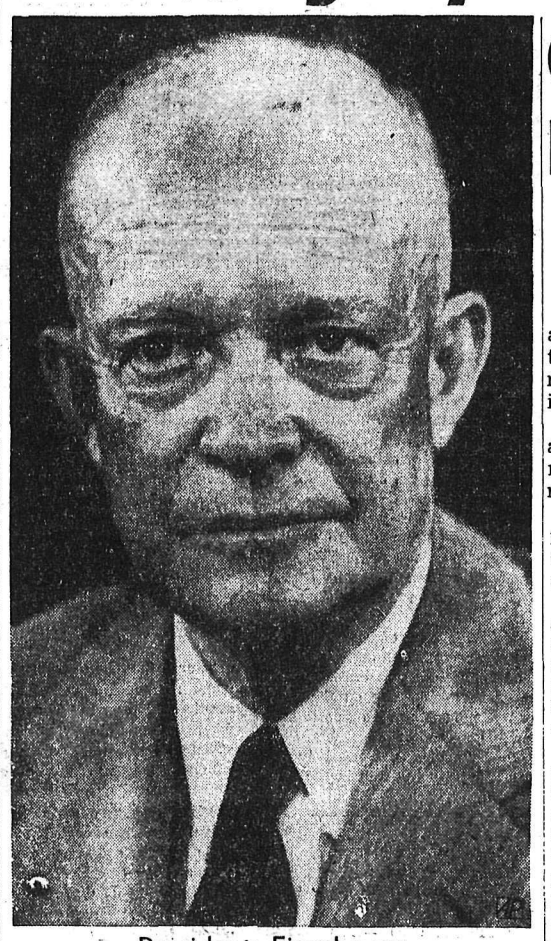
The upper Columbia crest moved downstream into eastern Washington, causing slight rises, but the lower Columbia channel is expected to handle this without trouble. The lower Columbia crested earlier in the week just below 27 feet at Vancouver, Wash., about 12 feet above flood stage.

Eisenhower Stricken...

Doctors Considering If Surgery Necessary



President Eisenhower

Condition Reported Not Critical; 13 Doctors Conferring

By J. W. DAVIS

WASHINGTON (AP) — Thirteen physicians held a consultation early today at Walter Reed Hospital to determine whether to operate on President Eisenhower to relieve an obstruction in the lower portion of his small intestines.

Presidential press secretary James C. Hagerty called a press conference at the hospital at 12:37 a.m. (EDT) to notify reporters that the consultation had begun about midnight.

He reported that a third X-ray had been taken to help the doctors reach "a determination on surgery."

Hagerty's announcement came about 24 hours after Mrs. Eisenhower had notified Maj.-Gen. Howard Snyder, the president's personal physician, that Eisenhower was suffering from stomach distress.

The attack came in the president's bedroom at the White House. Early Friday afternoon he was taken to the Walter Read Army Medical Centre by stretcher and ambulance.

SATISFACTORY PROGRESS

Hagerty repeated to reporters as the extraordinary midnight consultation was in progress that the doctors regarded Eisenhower's condition as "progressing satisfactorily."

He said the 13 doctors, plus their assistants put their heads together in the presidential suite on the third floor of the sprawling hospital's main building.

Asked whether Eisenhower was getting any treatment, Hagerty replied, "There have been no sedations—other than that, I can't answer."

As to whether an operation would be performed immediately if the doctors decided upon one, Hagerty said he did not know, that this was a matter for the doctors to decide.

Hagerty was asked whether any thought had been given to the exercise of presidential power should Eisenhower's attack keep him in hospital for some time.

"Not at all," he replied.

NOT CRITICAL

Again Hagerty was pressed by reporters to say whether Eisenhower's condition could be described as "critical."

He repeated what he had said earlier—that the doctors had told him it would be wrong to say the president is in a critical condition.

Friday night the doctors reported that "there is no indication for immediate surgery" and the president's condition "is progressing satisfactorily."

Bulganin, Tito Get Big Welcome

LENINGRAD, Russia (Reuters) —Jostling crowds fought police, army and navy cordons near here Friday in a wild effort to break their way through to President Tito of Yugoslavia and Soviet Premier Nikolai Bulganin.

Scenes without precedent in Moscow occurred when the Russian and Yugoslav leaders visited the summer palace built by Czar Peter the Great in 1725 at Peterof, 15 miles from here. An Marshal Tito got a drenching from a trick fountain in the palace grounds.

The biggest surprise was the warmth of the welcome given to Bulganin, paying his first formal visit to Leningrad since he became premier in February last year.

The cheers for him were bigger than for Tito. Crowds chanted "Bulganin, Bulganin" and "Long live comrade, Bulganin."

Ike's Illness To Color Election?

By DOUGLAS B. CORNELL

WASHINGTON (AP) — However serious or slight it may turn out to be, President Eisenhower's latest illness can be expected to have an impact on the 1956 campaign wars.

Even if the president recovers swiftly, the issue of his health might very likely become an increased talking point in the campaign. How it might affect the attitudes of voters is anybody's guess. Up to now they have been pretty much inclined to ignore presidential health as an election issue.

If the illness should prove severe and prolonged there would inevitably arise the big question as to whether Eisenhower would stay in the presidential race. He has said that he would not remain in the presidency if he ever felt he wasn't physically up to handling it.

If it ever should come to that, the door would be open for a historical battle-royal among Republican aspirants including such men as Vice-President Nixon, Senator William F. Knowland of California Governor Christian A. Herter of Massachusetts and others.

Alberta Gov't Gets Clean Bill of Health

EDMONTON (CP) — Alberta's Social Credit government has been cleared by the Mahaffy royal commission of opposition charges of mal-administration. The commission's report was released at a press conference late Friday.

Premier E. C. Manning said in a statement issued at the press conference:

"The commission's findings are most gratifying to the government. They fully vindicate our position and completely refute the opposition's false and unwarranted accusations that members of the government and the legislature and civil service were guilty of abusing their office for personal advantage or gain."

The commission's report said it was satisfied that the method of calling the tenders and awarding contracts for highways construction had "complied with all statutory requirements," with the exception of two highways contracts.

The commission said that in these two cases the contractor was allowed to start work before all of the papers involved were signed.

The commission said that the same thing happened in the awarding of a bridge contract.

"It is fair to state, however, that in each of these three cases no money was paid to the contractor until the required securities had been given and the contract signed by all the parties," the report says.

Woman, Mentally Ill, Admits Killing Husband

VANCOUVER (CP) — A mentally - ill woman confessed she killed her husband by setting fire to their home while he slept May 30, two witnesses told a coroner's jury here.

The jury found that John Nordstrom, 61, died a homicidal death by carbon monoxide caused by the fire.

Dr. John Morris Coles said he examined the victim's wife, 36-year-old Kathleen Nordstrom, at hospital after the early morning fire in suburban Richmond. He quoted her as saying:

"I waited until he was snoring loud.

"I got up and set the kitchen curtains on fire with some matches. Then I took off out the back door and ran until I fell in a ditch."

Mrs. Nordstrom, described as an epileptic and diabetic, is in a mental hospital.

Raft Travels 150 Miles Since Sunday

HALIFAX (CP) — The raft l'Egare II reported its position as 390 miles east of Halifax Friday as it continued to drift toward the Gulf Stream which four French adventurers hope will carry them to Europe.

This was the first time since Sunday the sailors, who left here May 24 were able to give their position.

LITTLE CURRENT, Ont. (CP) —Bold-as-brass Assignack township, which last week threatened the federal government with seizure of five buildings in lieu of unpaid taxes, may get its money in the form of a grant, Reeve George Bishop said Friday. In reply to the municipality's announcement that it had signed warrants of seizure, he said Ottawa has written indicating its intention to pay a grant.

Education May Get Boost From Industry

By FORBES RHUDE
Canadian Press Business Editor

TORONTO (CP) — Education seemed to be the greatest concern of Canadian industrialists as they met here in the three-day annual meeting of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association which concluded Friday.

The concern was whether there will be enough trained people — engineers or technicians or what not—to take care of the needs of Canada's many projects, and particularly whether there will be enough for the development of the future.

As to the present — there just aren't enough. As to the future, the situation will deteriorate unless something is done soon.

If what the various speakers said means what they seemed to mean, then universities and other educational institutions may expect greater support than industry has ever seen its way clear to give before.

T. A. Rice of Hamilton, retiring president, suggested that something of a Russian five-year plan should be set as a target for the number of graduates required by a specified time.

Crawford Gordon Jr., president of A. V. Roe Canada Ltd. said his company was paying for the cost of a national conference on scientific and engineering manpower which will be held Sept. 10-11 at the Seigniory Club, Que.

Dr. Sidney Smith, president of the University of Toronto, said:

"Business gifts to education should be regarded not as charitable donations but as the essential cost of doing business and staying in business

Thomas E. Dewey, former governor of the state of New York, pointed to a far greater need than that of Canada alone.

He said the free nations of the world must give leadership to the underdeveloped countries of the forld which now are independent, and not allow them to fall by default into the orbit of communism.

This, he said, would require "hundreds of thousands of people" trained in all the arts of modern finance and industrial management.

And in This Corner...

BINGHAMTON, N.Y. (AP) — Under some circumstances it can be construed as disorderly conduct if you take off your shirt while painting your garage on a hot day.

A school teacher from suburban Conklin discovered that Thursday and paid a $10 fine after pleading guilty.

WHITEFIELD, Me. (AP) — Mr. and Mrs. Rostilaw Klukowski, who bought a farm here six weeks ago, got a real taste of country life Thursday.

Mrs. Klukowski was weeding the garden when a yearling buck deer strolled out of the woods behind her and licked her elbow. The woman ran into the kitchen. So did the deer.

The friendly animal stayed for two hours, accepting bread and carrots from Mrs. Klukowski's hand. He finally wandered out of the house.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The daily coffee break at the office should be joined by the "think break."

An associate professor of psychology at the University of California, Harrison Gough, made that proposal Thursday.

He says workers should be granted a "think time — as much time as is allotted for coffee breaks — so that they can sit down and think out their problems without interruption."

Then, when they get back to work, Gough continued, "their minds will be free and they'll know what they're doing."

CCF Speaker Blames Capitalism For "Sad Condition" of World

"The exploitation of the people by capitalism has brought the world to the sad condition it is in today," Mrs. Laura Jamieson said in addressing a CCF gathering of close to 40 in the Nelson Legion Hall Friday night.

Mrs. Jamieson, juvenile judge in Burnaby for 11 years and long-time active member of the CCF party, criticized the capitalistic society in North America from economic, social and cultural levels.

"There is a psycnology at work in North America today which is sometimes invisible," she said. "It is buy! buy! buy!" Mrs. Jamieson commented that the young people "are the targets of big business."

"Capitalism has set up our standard of living as a god. It is killing the creative power of the individual and the ability to form character. That is why our mental hospitals are filling faster than we can build them," she said.

"CAN'T WAIT"

"Capitalism will destory itself in time but we can't wait, that long," she continued. "We won't get socialism unless we work for it."

Mrs. Jamieson pointed out to the members that "legislatures are our front line of attack. It is there we must put our front foot forward. But the CCF has aims far beyond political power," she said.

She went on to comment on a number of current provincial, dominion and international questions.

Speaking on the recent trans-Canada pipeline issue at Ottawa, Mrs. Jamieson stated that for five years at least the Canadian government has been trying to get Canadian capital to build an all-Canadian pipeline.

"Our Canadian capitalists won't risk such a venture. Instead they go to Venezuela where labor is cheap," she said. "These Canadian capitalists are pikers. They are letting the country down. They talk about patriotism but what does it mean when they won't back up their country's enterprises with the money earned from the Canadian people," Mrs. Jamieson stated. "Capitalism is a piker's fraternity."

Lack of planning for municipal and provincial growth was also criticized by Mrs. Jamieson who stated that the CCF party has always advocated planning. "For years our members have been urging the government to plan and train planners, like the program in Saskatchewan, but little or nothing has been done about it," she said.

She criticized the bad planning in the Fraser Valley and suburbs of Vancouver and in Creston. "As long as we are making a profit out of land, planning is one hundred per cent more difficult," she said.

SOCIAL DUTY

Mrs. Jamieson also spoke of the colonies now in revolt in the Middle East and stated "We socialists have known for a long time that the colonies were going to someday revolt. Those people won't take exploitation forever," she said. "We share with those people who are in revolt." She stressed the great social duty of the Western nations to reduce the great want of the three-quarters of the world population who "have to go to bed hungry."

"We must hammer at the government to join the World Food Bank which Canada has previously refused to join," she said.

Mrs. W. A. Tickner was chairman.

CELGAR APPOINTMENT

A. E. PENNEY

Wentworth Brown, vice-president and general manager of Columbia Cellulose Company, Ltd., and Celgar Development Company Ltd., announces the appointment of A. E. Penney as manager of pulp manufacturing for the two companies.

Mr. Penney will be located in Vancouver. He will be responsible for the pulp manufacturing operations of Columbia Cellulose at Prince Rupert and will work on the development of plans for the proposed new pulp mill of Celgar at Castlegar.

Later he left La Tuque to become manager of pulp and paper manufacturing in the operations of the Brown Company at Berlin, New Hampshire, where he remained until joining Columbia Cellulos and Celgar.

Mr. Penney has had experience in the manufacture of high quality sulphate and sulphite pulps, the latter including dissolving pulps.

Anglican Synod Backs Resolution Condemning Industrial Schools

PENTICTON (CP) — A charge that industrial schools make "little or no contribution to the . . . rehabilitation of neglected and unwanted children" was made at the meeting of the Diocesan Synod of Kootenay.

The charge was one of two resolutions endorsed at the meeting.

Introduced by Rev. Canon W. J. Silverwood of Nelson, the resolution urged "that the Synod give support to the Canadian Legion, Parent-Teacher Association and Women's Institutes in asking the provincial government for the establishment of suitable homes for girls or boys who are not material for the girls' or boys industrial schools, inasmuch as such schools are not desirable and make little or no contribution to the reformation and rehabilitation of neglected and unwanted children."

A second resolution endorsed at the meeting agreed that parents should have the last word regarding religious instruction in schools.

POST OFFICE BUSINESS UP

CRANBROOK — Volume of business at the Cranbrook post office in May came to $59,577.57, postmaster E. T. Girling reports, up substantially compared with the total of $52,084.50 for the same month last year.

Unemployment insurance stamps sales were $3511.56 which was considerably less than the total for last May, $3985.06, due to the earlier closure of woods operations for spring runoff. Revenue from postage stamps and meters more than compensated for this drop at $4575.88 last month, compared with $3907.16 for last May.

Money orders purchased at the post office were slightly up at 2872 transactions, and money orders paid also slightly up at a total of 818.

Approaches to the Kootenay River bridge on the 30-mile Elko-Roosville link between Montana and the Southern Transprovincial Highway are still closed while Kootenay flood season is on, and traffic is still being re-routed between these two points by way of Phillips Canyon.

Central Slocan Shows Lag in Power Interest

TRAIL — The response to the canvass of prospective power customers in Crescent Valley, Slocan Park, Passmore, Vallican and Slocan City has generally been good, but many prospective customers in Winlaw, Appledale, Perry Siding and Lemon Creek have not yet contracted to take service.

J. D. McMynn, assistant to the general manager of the West Kootenay Power and Light Company informed The Daily News Friday that what appears to be a lack of interest in contracting for electrical service in the central portion of the valley could prevent the project from becoming a reality.

Kootenay River Still Going Down at Bonners, Creston

CRESTON (CP) — Dropping levels of Kootenay Lake and the Kootenay river combined today to make things easier for Creston.

Soldiers, rushed into the stricken area when the waters began to rise, made preparations to withdraw. About 50 pulled out Thursday and 50 more are due to leave today.

At Bonners Ferry, the Kootenai river dropped to 33.1 feet Friday and the 1956 flood fight appeared to be over.

"We're buttoning the thing up until next year," said James Graves, the boundary county extension agent. He said the flood control office here would be closed this afternoon.

The Kootenai, which flooded nearly 20,000 acres of rich farm land in a three-week siege, was expected to drop to the 31-foot flood level within 48 hours.

A footbridge has been constructed across Goat River to fill the gap created when the White bridge collapsed under rampaging high water. Vehicle traffic, however, is still being routed via Canyon.

The footbridge is welcomed by residents who have had to detour 13 miles.

From Boswell it is reported that storms of the last few days have been washing the highway banks along Lewis Bay and there were rumors the highway was in danger.

The public works promptly brought in a big power shovel and now has several trucks hauling rock to strengthen the banks around this big bay. The lake is up to the highway in many places.

The Tillicum Coffee Shop at Balfour was able to give service to the public during the flood situation. A temporary bridge of planks was all that was necessary to reach the coffee shop. Owing to the water reaching the electric outlet, electric equipment and lights were off. Candles were used in the dining room.

Residents affected by the rising water, were pleased to note it was also reported by Hon. Basil Aylmer of Queen's Bay, who keeps the records for the West Kootenay Power and Light Company that the Kootenay had gone down an inch in 24 hours. "We are hoping this is the peak," he said.

Nelson Choir Sings Favorite Songs At South Slocan As Season Closes

SOUTH SLOCAN — South Slocan members of the Nelson Civic Choir were hosts to the choir's final evening of the season Wednesday.

A pot luck supper was enjoyed by the 41 choir members, their wives, husbands and guests. Jack Steed led the group in singing of grace and later as retiring president, Mr. Steed thanked the Nelson guests and choir members for coming and gave special thanks to D. E. Bell, Superintendent of Plants, W.K.P. & L. Co., for making the hall and facilities available to us." Presentations in appreciation for the work done for the choir were made to Nelson Allen, choir director, and Mrs. Hugh Herbison, accompanist.

An enjoyable sing song followed, accompanied by Mrs. Herbison, with many old favorites sung both in their original verses, as well as comic parodies. Mr. Steed played referee as the gathering, divided into two groups, tried to out-sing each other's versions of "Pack Up Your Troubles" and "Tipperary". Mr. Allen then conducted the choir through several choir repertoire favorites. One effective selection was the choral arrangement of "Mary Had a Little Lamb".

Harmonies subsided, and lights dimmed for the showing of slides by Mr. Steed, a number of which were shots of South Slocan, Nelson and district scenery. The beauties of the valley took on new values as seen through Mr. Steed's camera. Effective shots of several scenes shown in the four moods of varying seasons were much appreciated by the audience.

Mr. Jack Martin, president elect, closed the evening with thanks to Mr. Steed for the fine slides and the South Slocan members as hosts.

An End to Curse of Conformity

The Pipeline Bill in its passage through the House of Commons seems to have generated a great deal of heat in that dignified body. What started out as calm and reasoned arguments on its merits, during the debate became impassioned and bitter denunciations by the opposition.

Unkind words were said of the bill, its backers and its sponsors and there were angry debates over parliamentary procedure. The government applied the closure whenever it felt it should despite the uproar and protests of the opposition, and the passage of the bill was assured.

All this will be most distressing to those who have become accustomed to the serenity of the debates in the House. They will sorrow for the lost dignity and decorum, the polite remarks and courteous replies and all the amenities of that august chamber, but there will be others who will, if not rejoice, be pleasantly surprised and pleased.

Television fans say that there is nothing so entertaining as fights, and parliamentary fights are no exception. It is unforunate that the CBC did not televise the debate. How the fans would have loved to have witnessed the angry brawls between the opposition leaders and Mr. Howe and how it might have stirred them politically.

If there is any deep seated reason for this unwonted spirit of antagonism in the House, it may possibly be because of our unbounded prosperity and growing national esteem. Like King Jeshurun of old the opposition seems to have waxed fat and kicked. It was Mr. Bumble who said of Oliver Twist when he showed an unwonted ferocity that he must have been fed meat.

Whatever meat the opposition has been eating their ferocity against the Pipeline Bill was astounding. Nor are they the only opposition which has been showing signs of ferocity. Our own provincial house during the last session was the scene of much the same rancour and opposition and our provincial opposition leaders are still blowing the trumpet which they hope will bring Mr. Bennett's walls of Jericho tumbling to the ground.

But through all the smoke of the parliamentary battle one thing emerges clearly. There is a growing sense of Canada's high destiny. There is no longer a disposition to sit supinely by while things happen, but rather to take an active part in promoting her progress. Men still have deep seated loyalties and beliefs and, when the ice of their reserve is broken, are prepared to defend them. All this is good and if it inspires men and women everywhere to openly express their loyalties and beliefs it will mean an end to the curse of conformity which has made Canadian life so drab and uninteresting.

Capsule Vacations

People can now go to a clinic and get oxygen treatments that are supposedly as good as a month's holiday.

At an "oxygen centre" in Paris, jaded Frenchmen will pay $37 for ten sessions of 25 minutes each in a transparent oxygen tent. There will be red rooms for a brisk mountain holiday; green rooms for a rest in the country; and blue rooms for the seaside.

Each room has artificial windows that overlook giant pictures of soothing landscapes. Temperatures and oxygen are regulated to give the feeling of mountain, beach or meadow.

In this age of capsules and substitutes, the announcement of an ersatz holiday is no surprise. Already we have wallpaper that looks like wood and wood that looks like wallpaper. Whisky can be aged by chemicals in minutes instead of years. (It ages the consumer at equal speed, no doubt.)

There are vitamin capsules that are nearly as good as food; book capsules that are better than books; and easy-to-digest capsule religions, prepared by experts and guaranteed not to ruffle the intellect or disturb the conscience.

In some towns we can dial a prayer by telephone. We can switch on TV and get other people to do our living and loving for us. So the capsule holiday comes as a matter of course. A few refinements may be added to it, in the shape of synthetic poison ivy, clockwork mosquitoes and a bruising machine to give the holidaymaker sore muscles.

We can be sure of one thing, however. The management won't accept any plastic imitation banknotes, no matter how crisp or smooth. They'll demand real money.

18-Year Combine

How deeply imbedded have combine practices become in certain industries is indicated by the conviction of six steel and wire fence companies. It was found they operated a price-fixing combine from 1933 to 1951 exclusive, the period which the charges covered. Each firm has been fined $10,000 and costs, and prohibited from price-fixing and other combine practices in the future.

Firms of this nature have no excuse in ignorance. All can afford legal counsel to explain the law to them. They did it deliberately, knowing that government policy and regulations have deemed combines against the public interest.

That it was in their own pecuniary interests is demonstrated by the long continuance of the practice. Prominent industrialists wouldn't break the law without such a powerful motive.—Windsor Star.

U.S. Ignorance Of Canada

(Edmonton Journal)

Canada is the United States' closest neighbor. It is also the biggest foreign market for American goods, the largest single foreign source of raw materials for American industry, the favorite field for American foreign investment, and the foreign country most often visited by American tourists. From a strategic standpoint it is more important to the defence of the United States than perhaps any other country. Yet outside a few government and business specialists, Americans have neither knowledge of nor interest in the nation to the north of them. Canadian news appears in few American newspapers; books about this country have little sale, and the average man cherishes the most astonishing misinformation about Canada's history, government, geography and climate.

Communist Gains in Burma

National elections in Burma reveal how quick Communists are to take advantage of a small country's economic difficulties.

Burma obtained independence from Britain in 1948. Four years later, in the first country-wide elections, Premier U Nu's People's Freedom League, which tries to steer a neutral course in the cold war and is strong on socialist measures at home, won 215 seats in the 250-seat parliament. The Communist-led National United Front, U Nu's strongest opposition, obtained 12 seats. In the second national election, held recently, the Communists made substantial gains. They now control over 40 seats; the Freedom League's participation has been reduced to 169 seats.

The Communists have been capitalizing on the hardships imposed upon the people as a result of U Nu's over-ambitious plan for economic development. The plan was based on the expectation that Burma's chief export, rice, would continue in demand on the world market, but the price of rice has fallen sharply. In addition, the country lacks sufficient technicians and administrators. Premier U Nu has had to seek outside financial and technical help without prejudicing Burma's neutrality in world affairs. He has turned to the Soviet bloc countries for barter agreements on rice, which have not been working out well.—Nanaimo Free Press.

Four Socialist Parties in Canada?

CCF leader M. J. Coldwell, in a review appearing recently in The Financial Post of a book about the Conservative party in Canada by a U.S. historian, concludes:

"Perhaps the principal reason for the decline of the Conservative party is that there is no longer room for two conservative parties in Canada."

Since the decline of the socialist CCF party has been even more marked, the real trouble with Canadian politics would seem to be not that it has two conservative parties, but at least three and possibly four socialist parties.—The Letter Review.

Quiz on the Freedomites

F. B. PEARCE

Since the whole question of the Sons of Freedom and schools seems to be complicated by a lack of logic on the part of some people, perhaps the following questionnaire may help many to clarify their thoughts on the subject.

Sons of Freedom as Canadian citizens.

1—They speak the English language. (Yes or No)
They have adopted Canadian customs.
They are co-operative with other Canadians.
They are obedient to the law.
They do not countenance breaking of the Canadian laws.
They assist the law where they know of crime.
They do not indulge in practices repugnant to other Canadians.

Sons of Freedom as Christians.

2—Their religion conforms largely to that of other Christians.
It produces a high type of morality.

Sons of Freedom and their children.

3—They are kind and loving parents.
They are anxious for their children to have a full life and a higher standard of civilization and living.
They are prepared to make sacrifices to enable their children to reach this end.

Sons of Freedom and Education.

4—They object to Education as leading to war.
Would you say this statement is true as regards the North American Indians previous to the coming of Western civilization?
Have they shown any great disposition to educate their children in any other way?
Your Personal Reaction to the Problem.

4—Parents have every right to refuse to send children to school for any cause which seems right to them.
To take children from their parents is cruel to the parents.
Under what circumstances would you, while regretting the necessity, approve of this action?
To take children from their parents is cruel to children.
Is this true in the case of welfare and adopted children or only in this particular case?
Do you believe that the prejudice of parents should be considered before the good of the child?
Do you agree that the child today is sufficiently educated when he has learned to read, can write and do arithmetic?
Do you believe that every child has a right to education?
Do you think that a minority sect should defy the government?

After careful consideration of the above and having regard to the fact that the children in the New Denver dormitory school can be released to the parents if an undertaking is given that they will attend school, do you think that the action of the government is:

(a) arbitrary.
(b) unjust.
(c) cruel.

or do you think that, all things considered that its action was the best possible solution to the problem.

'Peg Druggists Act As Censors

WINNIPEG (CP)—As many as 20 per cent of the magazines, comic books and pocket editions received from distributing sources never get on the stands at the corner drugstores in Winnipeg, as a result of censoring by the local druggist.

On the suggestion of the Pharmaceutical Association of Canada, the unofficial censors hand-pick, with varying degrees of thoroughness, the incoming material and refuse to display what they consider "objectionable."

Each druggist has his own likes and dislikes, and what is barred from one news stand may appear on another.

Reaction to the system varies. Dean W. J. Waines of the University of Manitoba says it has its merits, but he favors a careful consideration that would give some basis for uniformity in standards of acceptance.

No such scale of standards was ever handed own to the druggists.

Andy Anderson, registrar for the Manitoba Pharmaceutical Association, said his organization in the past has solicited the co-operation of local distributors in helping keep the racks clean.

"One of them did become fairly co-operative," he said.

For some time no definite move by the organization has been made on magazines. It has been left up to the druggists to be "self-appointed censors," Mr. Anderson said.

Entertaining Reading In Library Novels

Fiction takes prominence in the latest list of new books in Nelson Municipal Library.

There are romances, some contemporary, others with historical settings; intriguing life stories, and new publications in the whodunit category. Among non-fiction is Sir Winston Churchill's first volume in his History of the English Speaking Peoples.

FICTION

Friends at Court, by Henry Cecil, published by Michael Joseph:

In "Brothers in Law", the author introduced his readers to a young barrister in his year at the Bar. "Friends at Court" continues the story of Roger Thursby at a later stage in his career.

Sprig Muslin, by Georgette Heyer, published by Heinemann:

The Big Trail, by Max Brand, published by Dodd Mead:

The story of Tom Fuller's life could be summed up in one word—failure. He drifted from job to job and could boast that he had been fired more often than any man in the country. So it was that Champion, who had broken out of jail and was both hunted and hunting, hired Fuller to hunt down Henry Plank. This trail led Fuller to a series of adventures which made him the most feared man in the West.

Diamonds are Forever, by Ian Fleming, published by Jonathan Cape:

James Bond surveyed the glittering doamonds that lay scattered across the red leather desk and wondered what it was all about. The quiet grey eyes watched him thoughtfully. Then M. took the pipe from his mouth and dryly gave Bond details of the assignment of which even M was afraid.

A Thing of Beauty, by A. J. Cronin, published by McClelland Stewart:

There is warmth and sympathy in Dr. Cronin's portrait of the Rector Bertram Desmonde, who was bewildered, angered, and at last entirely forgiving of the son whose strange disobedience and whose defiance of convention brought such sorrow into his own life. Quite as realistic are Emmy Bethelot, the beautiful and coolly calculating French chorus girl, the fiery Welsh artist, the rakish and unscrupulous sponger, and "Papa", a painter of tragic genius.

Girl in May, by Bruce Marshall, published by Constable, London:

A charming romance between a heroine of 17 and a hero of the same age, staged in and about St. Andrews during the Kaiser war.

The Lord of Wensley, by Ernest Raymond, published by Cassell:

The story of a young man from his adolescence during the unsettled prewar years, to his tragic end in the Old Bailey. Mr. Raymond adds one more beautifully drawn impression of London life to the long line of his novels which began with "We, the Accused".

Fear is the Same, by Carter Dickson, published by Morrow:

Jennifer Baird and Lord Philip Clavering suddenly materialize in Regency period of 1795, confused, bewildered, and haunted by disturbing memories of 1955. It doesn't take them long to discover that they are deeply attracted to each other, no matter what the century. They sense that they have escaped from some future hazardous situation, and in no time realize the same danger in events piling up so swiftly in 1795, events leading to murder.

Mary of Carlsbrooke, by Margaret Campbell Barnes, published by MacDonald, London:

The year was 1648, the Royalist armies had broken on the field, and the iron-fisted forces of Parliament ruled from Westminster. Charles the First escaped from his enemies to the safety of the Isle of Wight and came riding through Newport and up to Carisbrooke Castle. For Mary Floyd, niece of the castle housekeeper and daughter of the Sergeant of the Guard, this unexpected coming of the king was to change her whole life.

The Case of the Demure Defendant, by Erle Stanley Gardner, published by Morrow:

Perry Mason reserved judgment and came up swinging on the count of ten in the most harrowing legal battle of his career.

The Last Hurrah, by Edwin O'Connor, published by Little, Brown:

Between the Potato Famine in 1847, and 1900, four and a half million Irishmen crowded into American cities. This is their story from various angles, through various eyes, giving a great deal about Irish life and policies in America.

The Battling Prophet, by Arthur Upfield, published by Heinemann:

Some fast movement in some tight corners, in this latest Upfield mystery of the Australian spaces. A feature is the appearance of Bony's friend, policewoman Alice McGorr.

The Hidden Face, by Victor Canning, published by Hodder and Stoughton:

The story of Peter Barlow, who for two years suffered another man's punishment for a murder he had not committed. Only one man believed him innocent, and that man helped him to escape. But, hounded by police and his enemies, could Barlow live long enough to achieve his ambition of revenge?

NON-FICTION

A History of the English Speaking Peoples, Volume 1, The Birth of Britain, by Winston S. Churchill, published by McClelland and Stewart:

This is naturally a British history, but it also is very much an American, Canadian, New Zealand, Australian, Indian, South African history, a great story of our century told by a great story-teller.

Story of a Year, by Raymond Postgate, published by Oxford University Press:

Dawn broke fine almost everywhere on the first of January, 1848. This is the story of that year—a year of high hopes, deep tragedies and famous revolutions. It was also the year of the fantastic California gold rush.

The Secret of the Hittites, by C. W. Ceram, published by Knopf:

A continuation of the author's survey of archeology entitled "Gods, Graves and Scholars", this book tells of the descent into Asia Minor 2000 years before Christ of the Indo-European Hittites.

Mackay Outlines Composite Mayor

"First, you'd have a white hat," says Mr. Mackay, attending the Saskatchewan Urban Municipalities Association convention.

The next ingredients would be "the flashy jacket of Mayor L. H. Lewry of Moose Jaw" plus the puzzled expression on the face of a man like Mayor L. H. Hammond of Regina, wondering if he's a Liberal or a Social Crediter."

"A hand holding a determined frying pan would be from Ottawa's Mayor Charlotte Whitton," he added. "Put a red rose in his lapel, compliments of Mayor Fred Hume of Vancouver."

Mayor Mackay, whose all-Canadian mayor also would have a beard, sums it up this way:

"These composite patterns would give you at least a picture of originality."

By-Election Result Shock to British

TONBRIDGE, Eng. (Reuters)—Prime Minister Eden's government received a shock Friday when in a parliamentary byelection in this Conservative stronghold the government candidate's majority was slashed from over 10,000 votes to 1602.

The result of the contest was: R. Hornby, Conservative, 20,515; R. L. Fagg, Labor, 18,913.

At the general election a year ago, G. W. Williams, the Conservative member whose retirement through ill health caused the byelection, had 10 196 more votes than his Labor opponent in a straight fight.

The drop in majority was the biggest suffered by the government party in an byelection since it was returned to power.

School Work Goes On Show At Castlegar

CASTLEGAR—"Bigger and Better" are the words of H. Hyson of Robson, to describe the annual Spring Arts and Crafts Exhibition which opened Friday night at the Twin Rivers School.

Mr. Hyson, in charge of the exhibition, is ways and means chairman for the Stanley Humphries PTA, sponsors of this annual show.

Featured in the display of arts and crafts is work done by students in the Castlegar School District. From primary grades come gay murals done with wax crayons, novelty projects the children have worked on throughout the year, finger painting, and spatter work. Older grades have also entered drawings and murals, as well as interesting social studies projects, using life-like models of various subjects.

In the work contributed by the high school level students, industrial arts and home economics are well to the fore, as well as some outstanding work done by the art classes in the way of sketching, painting and pastel work.

FINE CRAFTSMEN

Proud fathers will be especially interested in the woodwork and metal work articles made in the school. The boys have done wonderful work in these departments and it is a treat to be able to view the beautiful pieces turned out—mahogany coffee tables, polished parquetry work, nut bowls, and other items. The metal work display is every bit as fascinating. The way the students can take rough pieces of metal and turn out an article of factory-like precision.

Some of the metal work displayed includes lamps, and iron sets as well as the many tools produced.

There is a display from the home economics section too. In the cooking department the girls are busy turning out their very finest biscuits and girls of the Ootischenia School have a fine display of sewing.

The exhibition will be on this afternoon and evening. Refreshments in the form of coffee, tea or cold drinks and cookies are available.

Mrs. Bannister Looks Forward To Visiting Canada

By SYLVIA HACK
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON (CP) — Moyra Bannister, artist-wife of four-minute-miler Roger Bannister, would like to get one thing straight—she's a Briton.

'Everyone things I'm Swiss," she says. "It's true I was born in Geneva, but my mother is Anglo-Irish, my father is Swedish and I took British nationality when I married last June."

Rather severely, Mrs. Bannister says reporters are pretty careless with facts. Her father is always being described in the papers as a banker, whereas in reality he's an economic adviser.

Such matters of detail apart, one of her main preoccupations as wife of the first miracle miler is coping with Roger's fan mail "On an average we get about 15 letters a day, containing the most curious requests," she said in an interview at their Kensington studio apartment. "The first few weeks were a real purgatory. Roger had 600 letters for me to answer and I replied to them all in my own hand."

CANADIAN VISIT

At first there were frequent proposals of marriage, but they gradually tapered off.

At the moment, Mrs. Bannister is getting ready to accomapny her husband on a visit to Canada. They leave by air June 17, and her big worry is what to wear. "I planned to take a woollen suit, but I hear it's almost as hot in Canada now as it is on the Riviera."

She says she is "absolutely thrilled" at the prospect of going to Canada. Her only previous glimpse of the Dominion was on a quick trip to Fort William and Port Arthur made when she was staying in Minneapolis, Minn.

The 27-year-old Mrs. Bannister, a vivacious brunette with a lively intelligence, is a painter in oils and on china plates. One of her flower pictures is on show at the Royal Academy of Art.

"I'm glad I have my painting to keep me occupied, because Roger is so busy as a house physician at a London hospital I sometimes see very little of him."

As a housewife, one of her minor worries is that her husband doesn't care for complicated cooking. "I'd like to spend hours working on some elaborate item, but he prefers simple things like a mushroom omelet."

PAINTS RELATIVES

The Bannister apartment, with a high beamed roof and a creeper-covered chalet-like porch, is in an Elizabethen courtyard boasting an immense fig tree. Walls of the flat are hung with paintings interspersed with painted plates and lithographs.

"I've done portraits of nearly everyone in the family, with the exception of Roger—he never has the time to sit long enough for me."

Miss Meachem Is Honored at Mixed Shower

Friends from Trail were among guests attending a mixed shower for Miss Norma Meachem, whose marriage will take place later this month.

The shower was held at the home of the bride-elect's mother, Mrs. F. Meachem, 314 Victoria Street, with Mrs. Fern Howard, Miss Meachem's sister, as hostess, assisted by Miss Dolores Stenberg.

An imitation wedding cake contained the many gifts. Young Brenda Howard, who presented Miss Meachem with a bouquet of roses, and Keith Howard, dressed as a bride and groom, helped unwrap the gifts. A scrapbook was also made for the future bride.

Our Father's Business

The motto of one of our Canadian Churches is: "Ut Omnes Unum Sint". As this stands in the Latin, to most people it does not mean very much. In fact, the story is told of a church in Vancouver where this motto appears in large Old English letters across the front of the chancel. Two elderly men came into the church for the first time. They looked at the writing for a long time, and one asked: "What does that say?" The other replied: "I'm not too sure, but I think it means, 'Let us all sing'."

What it does express is the desire of mankind, and the express wish of our Lord, that there might be unity and fellowship among all people. I suppose if that should come we would have something to sing about!

One of the greatest developments along religious channels in recent years is the coming together in discussion and fellowship of representatives of scores of various Christian churches of varied outlook, expression and leadership, but all of one accord agreed on the principle that Christian people all belong to one great family of which God is the Father and Jesus is the Saviour and Lord. So we have world-wide conclaves of diverse languages, colors, costumes, etc., from all corners of the globe, including portions behind the Iron Curtain, who recognize a common kinship and destiny.

Amidst all the adverse criticisms of the Church, and the problems that pertain within our church circles, let us prosper and pray for the unity of mankind, fo fundamentally, all the races of humanity are one race, and the sooner we all work together with this in mind, the better off our world will be, and the closer to God's supreme design.

Allan Dixon.

South Slocan WI's Active Past Unfolds In President's Address

SOUTH SLOCAN — The final meeting, till fall of the Bonnington, South Slocan Women's Institute was held in the W.I. hall.

Delegates to the Women's Institute district conference at Fruitvale, Mrs. C. M. Murray, Mrs. Lister and Mrs. Claremont, read their report.

Plans for entrance into the Kootenay Agricultural and Industrial Exhibition at Nelson were to be under way during summer months, with a report to the September 1 meeting.

A contribution of $5 was approved for the Mount Sentinel scholarship fund. A card will be sent to Mrs. Fenwick, W. I. member who has spent this past winter in Vancouver. Greetings also go to other old members, Mrs. Gansner, Mrs. Gray, Mrs. Oliver and Mrs. Anderson. New members welcomed were Mrs. Kennaugh, Mrs. Phillipoff and Mrs. Lindblad.

W. I. HISTORY

President Mrs J. D. Yeatman gave a talk on the Women's Institute in South Slocan. The only incorporated society in South Slocan for 37 years, it was organized June 10, 1919, with a membership of 40. The first organizers were the late Mrs. O. W. Humphrey, and the late Mrs. James MacAuley and Mrs. Yeatman, who has served a total of 17 years as president.

During the 37 years since its inception, the W.I. at South Slocan has been active in many phases of community development. Donations over the years have gone to many provincial, district and local projects, among them, crippled children, the Institute for the Blind, the Solarium, Red Cross, Nelson hospital, local schools, needy families and many, many more. Gym classes, led by Len Cutler were once a feature in the hall as well as many other lecture series and demonstrations covering a wide variety of subjects. A prize of $5 is given to the highest rated elementary school graduate in Bonnington, South Slocan schools.

A history was also given of Campbell Field, scene of recent successful Victoria Day activities by the Sports Association. In 1927 the W.I. purchased the field with assistance of L. A. Campbell, general manager of West Kootenay Power and Light Co. after whom the field is named. In 1950 the field was turned over to the South Slocan Sports Association for a token sum of $1. Six acres of the field were sold to the School Board for construction of Mt. Sentinel High School leaving an eight-acre that for the field remaining. In 1954 after installation of water system on the field the W.I. received $50 from the Sports Association. In 1956 the first May Queen for many years was convened by Mrs. W. Conkin, a past secretary of W. I. Although not active in the present day May soprts celebration, the W. I. retains an active interest in it as the sports day was a W.I. project for many years before the Sports Association took charge. The present W.I. hall management and old debts were taken over in 1943. Public Health Children's Clinics have been held regularly since 1949. The hall is a landmark of South Slocan, built first for church services of all denominations, then used as a school until the government built one, and finally for pleasure and community use for all ages.

Tea was served by Mrs. Lister, Mrs. Felardeau, Mrs. Yeatman, and Mrs. Claremont, to mothers and children of the children's clinic program and Mrs. B. Carruthers, public health nurse and guest of honor. Nurse in the district for the past two years, Mrs. Carruthers is transferring to Nelson district in the fall.

A mystery pie was the feature attraction following tea, with every guest and member the recipient of a portion of the mystery gifts. Mrs. Carruthers was presented with a bouquet of flowers.

Jets Form Clover Leaf for Luck

Thousands Greet Queen And Duke in Stockholm

STOCKHOLM (CP)—With 300 jet fighter planes screaming overhead, Queen Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh arrived Friday for the first British royal visit to Sweden in almost half a century.

The royal yacht Britannia battled fog all morning and slipped into the waters of Stockholm harbor at noon, slightly more than an hour behind schedule.

With the Britannia were the Canadian destroyer escort St. Laurent and two Royal Navy escorting craft.

As the Britannia hove into view after a four-day voyage from England, Swedish short batteries roared out a shattering salute. Overhead the skies were filled with jet planes carrying out an intricate manoeuvre in the form of a four-leaf clover for good luck.

Oarsmen clad in blue and white rowed out in the Swedish royal barge Vasaorden, a replica of the 18th-century royal barge, to bring the British monarch and her husband ashore.

The heavy fog had made it difficult for the royal yacht to thread its way through the treacherous archipelago leading into Stockholm's harbor from the Baltic sea But it lifted by the time the yacht arrived here, and the sun came out.

GREETED BY THOUSANDS

The royal couple were accompanied ashore by Prince Bertil of Sweden, who boarded the Britannia two hours before it docked here.

Sweden's 74-year-old King Gustaf Adolf and Queen Louise, who is the Duke of Edinburgh's aunt, greeted them on a red-carpeted stage near the palace and introduced them to Prime Minister Tage Erlander and other government officials. Afterwards, they drove off in two open carriages for a look at the flag-bedecked city. Thousands were on hand to greet them.

Minister's Hat and Peace River Products Depend On Steel Rail

VANCOUVER (CP) — Dusty track gangs will drop a steel rail into place today, linking Vancouver to the cattle lands of the Cariboo and eventually into the rich Peace River country.

The rail, to be hammered down near Horseshoe bay, 15 miles north of here, completes the $10,500,000, 40-mile extension of the Pacific Great Eastern railway from Squamish to North Vancouver and across the inlet to Vancouver proper.

And just in time.

Ralph Chetwynd, railways minister in British Columbia's Social Credit government, offered to bet a hat earlier this year that the first train would roll over the extension by June 11.

If the line is ready by Monday a self-propelled coach—technically a train—will travel the 40 twisting miles from Vancouver to Squamish and will win Mr. Chetwynd $800 in hats.

If the line is not considered ready, the railway minister will have a hefty haberdashery bill.

END LARGE HAUL

The completion will do away with the present slow method of tug-towed barges linking Vancouver to the Squamish railhead.

The grain from the Peace river area near the northern border with Alberta, cattle from the Cariboo ranchlands 200 to 300 miles north of Vancouver, and lumber and cut timber from all along the line, will move Squamish to Vancouver in something less than two hours.

Iron and coal reserves in the north will be tapped and a variety of products will flow from Taylor Flats in the Fort St. John areas as the railway is pushed farther north from Prince George, 450 miles north of Vancouver.

There, a scrubbing plant will be built to handle products after a 625-mile natural gas pipeline from the Peace River district is completed.

Railway officials say at least two freight trains a day will be required to handle a daily output of 1000 barrels of propane gas, 1000 barrels of butane and a like amount of natural gasoline. Three hundred tons of sulphur will also flow southward daily.

Going north will be huge cargoes of pipe for the gas line plus supplies for farmers, ranchers, oil drillers, miners and lumber camps.

MODERNIZE EQUIPMENT

The trip from Vancouver to Prince George will take an estimated 16 to 18 hours.

The rickety day coaches and sleepers — heated by coal stoves and which earned the PGE the nickname Please-Go-Easy" — will be replaced by modern equipment.

In 1953, railroad figures showed a gross revenue of $4,154,000 and an operating loss of $54,000. Two years later the gross revenue was listed at $6,111,000 with an operating profit of $769,000.

A quarter of a $40,000,000 loan Premier Bennett will negotiate in the United States is marked for the PGE to push the road into the Peace River area.

Floyd's Fast Hands Blow Out Hurricane

NEW YORK (AP) — Young Floyd D. Patterson stormed past the flailing fists of tireless Tommy (Hurricane) Jackson Friday night to take a giant step toward the vacant heavyweight title on a split decision in 12 furious rounds at Madison Square Garden.

Both judges voted for the 21-year-old former Olympic champion by a solid margin but referee Harry Kessler scored it for Jackson. The biggest Garden crowd in years yelled its approval of the two judges' votes.

As a result of the victory, Patterson may get a September match with Archie Moore, the light heavy champ, for the title left vacant when Rocky Marciano retired.

Patterson weighed 178, Jackson 193½.

The speedy fists of Patterson, a sharpshooter with a dazzling combination of punches, offset the flapping blows of the Hurricane whose inexhaustible energy kept him in the battle all the way.

Volterra Joins In French Double

EPSOM, England (AP) — Mrs. Suzy Volterra's Sicarelle won the Oaks Stakes for three-year-olds fillies Friday to complete an Epsom classic double for France.

Two other French horses — Marcel Boussac's Janiari and Prince Aly Khan's Yasmin — were second and third in the Oaks.

On Wednesday Frenchman Pierre Wertheimer's Lavandin won the Derby.

Goes to Vancouver

VANCOUVER (CP) — Coley Hall, owner of Vancouver Canucks in the Western Hockey League announced Thursday he had purchased Jackie McLeod from New York Rangers for $6,000.

McLeod performed for the Canucks for part of 1954-55 and registered 83 points last season with Saskatoon Quakers.

The 26-year-old right winger played two full seasons with the Rangers in the National League and parts of three others. In two seasons with the Quakers before 1955 he scored 77 and 71 points.

ALL SORTS OF SPORTS

Nelson Outlaws travel to Inchelium, Wash., for a baseball doubleheader Sunday afternoon; Nelson Maple Leafs play a single game in Trail tonight and a similar encounter Sunday afternoon at Civic Recreational Grounds; Nelson Royals of the West Kootenay Women's Softball League hope to open their schedule with a single game against Riondel at Civic Recreational Grounds Sunday afternoon.

Exclusive of those games, there is little to do. Unless, of course, you want to tour Nelson Golf and Country Club's tidy, nine-hold course in competition against Jack Fleck or Fay Crocker, the U.S. Open champions.

Another possibility would be to visit Nelson Tennis Club for a quick net game. If you can't get out to the Club, you can drop in at the submerged tennis courts at Lakeside Park. Whether you go to swim or play tennis is to your discretion.

Defending Champ Cops B. C. Senior Golfing Title

VANCOUVER (CP) — Defending chapion Peter McIntyre of Trail won the B.C. Senior Golf Championship Friday, with a tight 2 up victory over retired Army Col. Larry McCooey of Victoria in an 18-hole match-play final at Shaughnessy Heights golf course.

McIntyre, 59-year-old personnel manager with Consolidated Mining and Smelting Corp. in Trail, defeated 58-year-ol Col McCooey on the last hole in the 1955 final at Point Grey.

Friday's match was all square at the ninth hole in a match marred by a continuous down pour. Col. McCooey went one up on the 10th, but McIntyre squared it on the 13th. They played even until the 17th, which McIntyre won. He also took the 18th hole to wrap up the title.

McIntyre finished the 18 holes with an approximate medal score of 79, two strokes up on Col. McCooey.

Friend Wins 10th Game As Redlegs Retain First

By The Associated Press

Cincinnati retained its National League lead on Ed Bailey's two-run eight-inning homer that beat Brooklyn 6-4 Friday night while second-place trimmed New York's American League lead to 3½ games 9-0 on Early Wynn's five-hitter.

The largest major league crowd of the season — 50,812 — turned out at Yankee Stadium as the Indians made it 4-out-of-6 against New York this season.

Pittsburgh replaced St. Louis in second place in the NL as Bob Friend — first to win 10 in the majors this year — outlasted Murry Dickson to beat the Cardinals 2-0 in 11 innings. Chicago Cubs clipped Philadelphia 5-4 in a day game.

In other AL games, Detroit whipped Washington 7-0 as first-inning homers by Wayne Belardi and Al Kaline upped the total hit this season in Griffith Stadium to a record 61; Boston knocked off Chicago White Sox 5-3 on Billy Klaus' two-run double; and Baltimore beat Kansas City 6-3.

Johnny Klippstein won his sixth while checking the Dodgers on eight hits — including homers by Rocky Nelson, just recalled from Montreal, Duke Snider, and Roy Campanella.

Dale Long, hobbled by a pulled leg muscle, singled home the winning run for the Pirates, who bunched four of their 11 hits in the 11th. Friend now has 20 consecutive scoreless innings against St. Louis.

A three-run homer by Ernie Banks and Walt Moryn's solo inside-the-park job got the Cubs rolling against the Phils' Robin Roberts, but it was the big right-hander's throwing error that enabled the winning run to score. He was banished for arguing the decision when his toss to first struck Vito Valentinetti who had bunted.

Chico Carrasquel and Al Rosen, each drove in three runs for the Indians, who had 12 hits off loser Whitey Ford and Maury McDermott. Wynn gave only one extra-base hit — Mickey Mantle's first inning double.

Billy Hoeft won his sixth with a six-hitter against the Senators while the Tigers piled up four runs in the first inning off Camilo Pascual. Kaline's shot over the left field wall broke the record of 60 set in 1938. The left field barrier was 405 feet from the plate down the foul line in 1938, and is now 350 feet away.

Klaus's seventh-inning double, off Bob Keegan, broke up a 3-all tie, giving sore-arm Willard Nixon his second victory on a six-hitter. Ted Williams tripled home a run and singled in four trips for the Bosox. Sherm Lollar, who singled home one Chicago run, three times hit by pitches — equalling a major league record.

George Kel lhomered as Baltimore scored six runs in the first two frames. Hec Brown came in to put down a Kansas City rally in the third and checked the As' on two hits the rest of the way for his second victory.

New York Giants, breaking a three-game losing streak, knocked Milwaukee Braves to their seventh defeat in nine decisions, 7-2. Bill White and Willie Mays each homered for the Giants with reliefer Steve Ridzik the winner.

Stan Leonard Cops Tourney

MONTREAL (CP)—Stan Leonard, the golf trail to win the Quebec professional golf tournament Friday with a 36-hole score of 139, three under par.

Leonard, former Vancouver Marine Drive professional, outclassed a starting field of 57 and was the only man under par when play ended.

Leonard shot a par-71 in the morning round and cracked par by three strokes in the afternoon.

The win gave Leonard top money of $700, along with the Dow Trophy, and places him at the top of the eight-man team that will represent Quebec in the interprovincial match here Sunday against a team of Ontario pros.

Little Rudy Huot of Royal Quebec, who kept pace with Leonard's par-71 in the morning, fell off to a 76 in the afternoon and finished second with 147, eight strokes behind the leader. His prize money was $500.

Canadians, Yanks In Little League World Series

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa. (AP) — Eight teams from Canada and the United States will compete in the 10th annual Little League world series here Aug. 22, 23, and 24.

Entries for the series are to be selected in elimination tournaments during August. Morrisville, Pa., won the 1955 series.

EXPECT 200,000 TO TEST CHAMPS

ROCHESTER, N. Y. (AP) — A turnout which the Professional Golfers Association expects to hit 200,000 will try to beat the United States' two open golf champions—Jack Fleck and Fay Crocker—in national golf day competition today.

A golfer can match shots with the champs by paying $1 and playing his own course. He matches his score, minus handicap, with that of Fleck and Miss Crocker.

The two champions will play their rounds at the Oak Hill Country Club here, scene of the men's U. S. open championship next week.

The course has a par of 35-35 —70.

Players having better scores than the champs will receive medals inscribed "I beat Jack Fleck" or "I beat Fay Crocker", depending on the sex.

Proceeds are to be used for worthwhile golf projects and charitable interests.

Pafko Best Milker On Milwaukee Team

MALISON, Wis. (AP) — Andy Pafko, Milwaukee Braves outfielder, got more than a gallon of milk from a patient brown Swiss cow in two minutes Friday to win a milking contest on Wisconsin State Capitol Square here.

More than 500 persons attended the contest in connection with the national June dairy month celebration.

CRICKET SEASON OPENS TODAY

Nelson Cricket Club opposes Trail Cricket Club this afternoon at Civic Recreational Grounds in the first contest of the season for the local aggregation. The locals were scheduled to play Vernon on Trail's Tadanac pitch, a short while ago, but the game was postponed because the grounds were under repair.

The game is being played in Nelson because the grounds at Tadanac are still unplayable.

Gibson, Brough In Final Round

MANCHESTER, Eng. (AP) — Louise Brough of Beverly Hills, Calif., and Althea Gibson of New York gained the women's singles final Friday in the northern tennis tournament and will meet for the title today.

Miss Brough beat Jean Forbes, 16-year-old South African 7-5, 6-3, then polished off Mrs. Dorothy Head Knode of Forest Hills, N.Y. 6-3, 6-3.

Miss Gibson eliminated Shirley Fry 6-3, 6-8, 7-5.

Lewis Hoad of Australia gained the men's singles final by defeating Ian Vermaak of South Africa 6-3, 6-3. He plays Jaroslav Drobny of Egypt for the championship.

Shoulder Numb As Al Triumphs

TORONTO (CP) — Al Balding swallowed four cortisone pills to deaden the pain of a sore right shoulder Monday and fired a sizzling five under par 131 for 36 holes to win the $3500 Ontario Professional Golfers' Association championship at his home Credit Valley course.

Balding, one of Canada's most successful men on the U. S. winter golf circuit, scored sub-par rounds of 65 and 66 for first-prize money and the Dow trophy.

Two strokes behind was Bob Burns. He collected $500.

Littler Leading Round-Robin

NEW ROCHELLE, N.Y. (AP) — Gene Littler and Billy Maxwell, two of the most stolid, silent golfers in the business; rugged, steady-shooting Ted Kroll and Fred Hawkins, the low man on Thursday's totem pole, methodically destroyed par and their opposition Friday in the second and third rounds of the $15,000 Round Robin golf tournament.

At the end of the second day—with two uncertain rounds to go in the 90-hole man-against-man test—it was the unswerving Littler on top with a plus 34 count as his early rivals faded.

This new power lawn mower will mow lawns, sweep up or mulch leaves and clippings, trim and edge, and cut grass or weeds of any height

Secret of its remarkable performance is an entirely new design, using high-speed, twin cutters and four tiny safety blades Inside each cutter are wide support wheels on which the mower rides.

This new type of mower won't scalp a lawn, no matter how bumpy or hilly It cuts over edges and along walls or fences just as easily as on a wide lawn It cuts a broad, 20-inch swath in any kind of grass, and through weeds of any height.

Farmers Resent Express Story

LONDON (CP)—C. P. Hansen, president of the Saskatchewan Farmers' Union, has written to the Daily Express to protest against a dispatch which the British newspaper published alleging that Canadian farmers were burning wheat because they could not sell it.

In his letter, Hansen says the story creates a "false impression." "I have lived in western Canada all my life, and have never heard of a single incident where wheat has been used for fuel."

Hansen says the most annoying thing about the story, which carried a Toronto placeline, was its contention that Britain has to "pay through the nose" for bread. "A comparable loaf of bread is cheaper in your country than in Canada," says the letter.

Odds ... and Ends ... by M. D. B.

At the Imperial Bank we get a glimpse of things to come as some of the remodelling peeps out from under its wraps and what you can see looks good.

* * *

The old J. P. Morgan corner is surrounded by scaffolding in preparation for stuccoing of its upper reaches.

* * *

Went poking around at the bridge site and came across the decompression chamber for the divers — it contained a couple of cot springs and inside at the far end was a sign that said "Do not spit." I didn't.

* * *

The old Grant Hall is up on dry dock at present getting a coat of paint. Remember when the Valhalla and the Moyie, Kuskanook and Nasookin were also familiar sights in the shipyards?

* * *

When I was quite small and out in a rowboat at dusk I used to hate going around the old paddle wheels — they always looked awfully spooky to me then — just like the old Walton boat building shop (no torn down) did.

* * *

There is a new game at the park these days in case mothers are wondering how come their youngsters are coming home soaked to the skin. It is water cycling. The boys are finding it great sport to wheel their bikes through the flooded park kicking up a great spray the while. I have a hunch some bikes are going to be out of commission shortly, for it reaches right up to the sprockets in spots.

* * *

It does look odd to see all the picnic tables sitting there with water around their feet and the tiny youngsters' swings with their bottoms just a few inches above the water. The teeter-totters also splash in the stuff to the youngsters' delight and the mountain climber is surrounded by lake as well.

* * *

The "Films Under the Stars" sign is likewise rising out of the water, I imagine that "The Cruel Sea" will be shown shortly — water you think?

Recruit Miners From Britain

LONDON (CP) — Britons are showing interest in a Canadian campaign to recruits 800 men willing to work in Canada as hard-rock miners.

The first group has already sailed for Canada and it is expected the remainder will have been selected by September from more than 2000 applicants in Britain, Scandinavia and Germany.

Interviews are being conducted by F. G. Ramsay, Lancashire-born personnel manager of the Canadian Metal Mining Association, who left Britain for Canada 46 years ago. Ramsay tells the applicants bluntly that the jobs, though offering high pay by British standards, are not soft ones.

Those chosen will work underground mining gold, silver, uranium and copper in most Canadian provinces from Ontario to the west coast.

FINAL DECISION

Ramsay finds most potential workers ask questions about money though one applicant was worried by the fact that the nearest mines to Toronto, where he has friends are nearly 400 miles away.

"What do you do if your wife doesn't want to go?" one man was quoted as asking Ramsay.

"You don't go, son," he answered.

Mice Take Over Australian Town

TOTTENHAM, Australia (CP) —The 800 residents of this central New South Wales town have abandoned cunning for violence in their battle against an army of mice.

Millions of mice moved into Tottenham several weeks ago and refused to move on.

"People have started taking on the mice with sticks and stones, as well as traps and poison," said Tottenham's only policeman, Constable Crossingham.

"At a friends' place the other night I saw a woman cut off their tails with a carving knife. They were sitting in a row on the mantlepiece with their tails hanging down. The mice scampered off when their tails fell to the floor."

Crossingham said people were killing the mice in thousands every day, but it did not seem to make much difference to the numbers.

"They eat our food and they get in our beds and babies' cots, but they haven't bitten anyone," he said.

Need By-Law To Enforce By-Law

WINNIPEG (CP)—The City of Winnipeg was swept by a crime wave May 24, but not one of the thousands of culprits was hauled off to jail.

The crime; Letting off fireworks without prior permission from Mayor George Sharpe or city council—a violation of city bylaw No. 15859.

The regulation was passed a few years ago when council decided that fireworks, as well as the discharge of firearms, were calculated to disturb the peace of Winnipeg citizens.

Since the bylaw was passed, only a few community clubs have applied to Mayor Sharpe for permission.

Ald. David Orlikow convinced civic health committee here this week that something should be done about the situation.

The committee will check to see how other provinces handle the problem.

What about the present bylaw? Obviously it's unenforceable," said Ald. Orlikow.

is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.
