Attempt on Pasha's Life Fails; 10 Killed

45 Outbreaks Rock Morocco, 27 Reported Injured; Heavy Guard Around Palace

KARRAKESH, Morocco (Reuters)—Ten persons were killed and 27 injured here Thursday in riots after an unsuccessful attempt on the life of the 81-year-old pasha of Marrakesh, an official announcement said Thursday night.

The dead include one of the guards of El Glaoui, the pro-French pasha whose car was held up by a crowd of demonstrators as he left the French residency after a call on the new French resident-general, Gilbert Grandval.

The condition of seven of the injured was described as "very serious."

The fire brigade was summoned to the scene of 45 outbreaks during the day. Scores of demonstrators were arrested.

GUARD PALACE

A cordon of white-gowned Berber guards ringed the pasha's palace after Thursday's assassination attempt.

The Berber tribesmen, ardent supporters of the pasha, were brought here Wednesday to reinforce local police who feared pro-nationalist disturbances in connection with Grandval's arrival here during the day.

Moroccan policemen, under the direct control of the pasha, also were mounting guard outside the palace walls and on the rooftops of Arab houses with orders to shoot at demonstrators.

Grandval came to visit the pasha after restoring calm in Casablanca where 63 people were killed in recent rioting. Die-hard settlers, resisting the new, more liberal French policy, lynched some Moroccans in the big port after a Bastille Day bomb outrage. Moroccans rioted in turn, setting fire to buildings.

Grandval has declared firmly that he intends to carry out the government's policy.

Two buses were set ablaze during the riots here.

SHOPS SACKED

Stores and cafes were sacked by groups of young Moroccans who swarmed down the narrow streets brandishing flags and shouting a demand for the return from exile of the former sultan, Mohammed Ben Yussef. The French deposed Ben Yussef for alleged pro-nationalist sympathies.

Worker on 60,000 Volt Switch Killed

An electrical utility man doing maintenance work on the West Kootenay Power and Light Company's high tension switch yard at South Slocan came into contact with 60,000 volts Thursday and died four and a half hours after in Kootenay Lake General Hospital.

Dead is Albert Ernest Marshall, a resident of South Slocan and employee of West Kootenay for the past 16 years.

He fell from 15 to 20 feet to the ground from the switch on which he worked. His fellow worker, journeyman electrician Del Yost, jumped and was taken to hospital with a sprained ankle.

The short caused "considerable disturbance" in the power plant, disrupting power to Trail smelter briefly.

Details of the cause of the accident were not known by West Kootenay officials Thursday night.

Mr. Marshall was rushed to hospital by West Kootenay ambulance after receiving care from First Aid man James Street. The accident occurred about 11:20 a.m.

An inquest into the death has been called. It was the first such fatal accident at WKP & L Company in more than 10 years.

SCHOOL TRUSTEE

Mr. Marshall, who was well known in South Slocan and the Slocan Valley, joined West Kootenay in 1939 as an electrician, working first on construction of the Upper Bonnington power plant extension. He had worked since then at South Slocan plant.

He was chairman of the Board of Trustees for School District 8 for a number of years.

His father, Ernest Marshall, rushing to the hospital to see him, was involved in an accident on the sharp corner at the Western edge of South Slocan. His car and one driven by Jack Knight of Saskatoon sideswiped one another causing between $200 and $300 damage. No one was hurt.

Surviving Mr. Marshall are his wife and two daughters, Teresa and Noralee.

Aged Not Getting Proper Care in Nursing Home Says Former Head

MELFORT, Sask. (CP) — The former superintendent of a new $1,000,000 provincial government nursing home here says it is a "million-dollar front behind which the aged and infirm are improperly cared for."

J. R. Fernets, who says he was fired by Welfare Minister J. H. Sturdy because he insisted upon more staff, said in an interyiew Thursday the CCF government "is trying to keep a showplace for the public at the expense of nursing care."

Premier T. C. Douglas said in a statement that the trouble "might not be the lack of staff nearly so much as a failure to utilize the staff on an efficient basis."

Mr. Fernets said he had received complaints from relatives that one of his elderly "guests" had been left unattended for 13 hours in a wheelchair and that others—unable to help themselves—had been forgotten for hours in lavatories and bathtubs.

A government employee for nine years, he termed his staff "entirely inadequate." He had 26 nursing attendants and eight registered nurses for 150 patients, while in a Saskatoon home 24 nurses and attendants cared for 98 patients. Regina had 22 attendants for 68 patients.

Of his 150 guests, 66 were bedridden and 38 were totally incompetent, requiring complete medical care.

FOUND IN SNOW

One 80-year-old man wandered away from the home recently and was found in an alley by RCMP, he said. Last winter, others had slipped away and were discovered walking aimlessly in the snow in bare feet.

Some had fallen out of bed and lay unnoticed while the only night attendant in each of the home's two wings made his rounds. On one occasion an elderly guest was found dead beneath a bathroom partition and another dead beside his bed.

The food storage room was so hot that canned goods exploded and cereals became wormy, Mr. Fernets added.

Mr. Sturdy said earlier that the superintendent was replaced because he refused to accept a transfer to Regina. The refusal was "tantamount to dismissal," the minister said.

Several Melfort organizations, including members of the CCF constituency association, have protested Mr. Fernets' dismissal. Dozens of letters have been sent to Premier Douglas protesting the action.

Staff members at the Melfort home have written a protest to the Saskatchewan Civil Servants' Association.

Mr. Douglas said in his statement the "fact that Mr. C. R. Henderson, who now is in charge of the home, has found the staff quite adequate seems to vindicate our decision to move Mr. Fernets."

Mr. Douglas said that after the superintendent's complaint of insufficient staff, "the treasury board agreed to some additional staff but not as many as Mr. Fernets had requested."

BOY CHASES BEAR

CROWN POINT, Ind. (AP) — A 13-year-old boy wielding a shovel entered a cage and drove away a 100-pound honey bear that had attacked an attendant at the Crown Point Zoo Thursday. The attendant, W. C. McCord, 64, was mauled severely before the boy, Randall Froedge, a part-time helper, forced the bear to retreat. He was taken to a hospital and treated for lacerations on one leg. McCord had entered the bear's cage to remove some uneaten food.

To Impress Tourists

FORT ST. JOHN, B.C. (CP) — A horseman, complete with horse, entered a cafe here recently, ordered a drink for himself and his steed, then paid and left.

There was no excitement among the local people or police. It happens all the time.

The show is a regular affair staged by safe-owner Bob Anuus for the benefit of tourists headed for Alaska.

Parliament Thursday

By The Canadian Press

Howard Green PC—Vancouver Quadra) charged a gross blunder was made in planning Port aux Basques harbor facilities for the William Carson ferry.

Conservative and CCF members joined in attacking Harold C. Banks, Seafarers' International Union president, as a "labor racketeer" who should be run out of Canada.

Transport Minister Marler said ways of assisting the Canadian merchant marine are under active consideration by the cabinet.

Mr. Marler admitted last summer's liquor supply for the government's Arctic patrol ship C. D. Howe "does seem rather large."

Senator F. W. Gershaw (L—Alberta) said Canadian doctors are not a stumbling block to any plan of national health insurance.

Sproule Creek Discovery Made

A new field of radio-active ore has been discovered, this time close to Nelson.

Stan Bates of Nelson, formerly of Calgary, representing Rory Syndicate of Calgary, has informed the Chamber of Mines of Eastern B.C. that he has staked 50 claims in the Sproule Creek area near Taghum because of radio-active responses he obtained by using scintillator and geiger counter instruments.

He sent specimens of the radio-active ore to Calgary, and learned Thursday morning that his company was very satisfied with them. The company will subsequently send a geologist to do exploratory work on the claims. Mr. Bates was instructed to go ahead with his staking.

Samples of the ore were left with the Chamber of Mines by Mr. Bates.

Further announcement is expected on assay and geologist's reports.

YOUNG SAILOR SOCKS ADMIRAL

PLYMOUTH, England (AP) — Why did the sailor sock the admiral?

And why did he choose to do it on parade in full view of outraged officers and astounded shipmates?

Shaken to its core, the Royal Navy Thursday called in a psychiatrist to help get the answers.

The sailor—a 22-year-old Scot not yet named officially—is to appear before a preliminary investigating court today. Meanwhile, he is in a cell at Devonport royal naval barracks.

40 BUILDINGS FALL TO HURRICANE

ST. THOMAS DIDYME, Que. (CP)—More than 40 buildings, including 15 homes, were destroyed Wednesday night when a hurricane with winds up to 80 miles an hour ripped through this farming area 160 miles northwest of Quebec.

Communications with the rest of the province were restored late Thursday after the storm mowed down telephone and telegraph poles for miles around this small Lake St. John community.

No fatalities were reported in the 20-minute storm but at least seven persons were slightly injured by falling trees and other debris.

CAR INSURANCE RATES MAY FALL IN SASK.

SASKATOON (CP)—There is a possibility automobile insurance rates will be reduced again next year, Leonard James, public relations officer for the Saskatchewan government insurance office, said Thursday.

He said that despite a slight increase in accident claims this year, damage claims still were below the figure budgeted for.

KEEP DACHAU OPEN

MUNICH (AP) — The Bavaria state government has rejected a proposal to close the Dachau concentration camp to the public. The district of Dachau proposed that 10 years after the war the camp, now a memorial to victims exterminated in its furnaces, should be closed. Minister President Wilhelm Hoegner ruled that it should remain open lest the horrors of Nazism be forgotten.

DR. E. J. ACKLEY, using the "Marion Method," is helping Mrs. Robert Logston recover from polio. Mrs. Logston came to the Immaculate Conception Clinic in North Kansas City, Mo., May 16. According to Dr. Ackley she is doing fine and is about ready to leave the hospital. The Marion Method said Dr. Ackley, was founded by a Roman Catholic nun who spent her life in a cloistered infirmery where she developed the technique for treating certain structural disorders. Dr. Ackley offered to prove in a public demonstration that the method, when applied in acute stages of polio, would restore the victim's health completely.

Bennett "Very Happy" Over Celgar Move

VICTORIA (CP) — Premier Bennett said Thursday the government is "very happy" to get the Celgar Development Co. forest project under way in the Kootenays.

Mr. Bennett was commenting in a press conference on charges of Liberal leader Arthur Laing that granting of a 857,000-acre forest management licence at the Arrow Lakes to Celgar was an "absolute outrage" in view of Chief Justice Gordon Sloan's inquiry into the forest industry.

"This government will accept full responsibility for all its actions," the premier said.

There had been no opposition to granting the licence and "we mustn't hold back development of the Kootenays" despite the Sloan commission.

Commenting on the Liberal leader's statement, he said "even the Liberals are laughing at Laing."

The premier said Celgar will spend "several millions" in development of mills other than the $30,000,000 pulp mill called for in the management contract.

One reason for favoring the licence, Premier Bennett said, was to see construction of the first pulp mill in B.C. away from tide-water.

The premier called the original plans of a $65,000,000 integrated development, announced by the company, as "mostly Liberal propaganda."

Liberal Leader Arthur Laing Calls Celgar Forest Licence an Outrage

VANCOUVER (CP) — Liberal leader Arthur Laing Thursday described as an "absolute outrage" the award of a forest management licence to the Celgar Development Co. in the Kootenay area.

"It's a case of giving the province away in great big chunks to great big companies," Mr. Laing said.

Granting of the 857,000-acre tract to the pulp and paper firm was announced in Rossland Wednesday by Lands Minister Sommers.

Mr. Laing said the Social Credit government's action was an "absolute outrage" in the light of a hearing being conducted by the chief justice.

Mr Laing said the government should have waited for Chief Justice Gordon Sloan to complete his royal commission inquiry into B.C.'s forest industry before granting the licence.

"I hope the people of B. C. will realize now what is going on. If anything was wanted to prove Gordon Gibson's statement that 'money talks' they have it now."

Deane Finlayson, the provincial leader of the Progressive Conservatives, said he felt the government should have waited for the Sloan Royal Commission report before granting the licence.

"The amount of forest involved is considerable," he said, and the Sloan inquiry "might reveal something in this area which should be contained in this contract."

Bennett Would Give Ottawa Lion's Share of Highway Costs

VICTORIA (CP) — The federal government will be asked to pay 95 per cent of the cost of the entire trans-Canada highway system and 50 per cent of the cost of all major provincial roads.

At a press conference today, Premier Bennett said British Columbia will make the request at dominion-provincial talks in the fall.

The premier said the senior government should pay 100 per cent of the trans-Canada highway, but added that highway construction comes under the jurisdiction of provincial governments. By paying five per cent, provinces could control construction.

Orr Disbelieves Addict's Tale

VANCOUVER (CP) — Magistrate Oscar Orr told a man convicted of possession of drugs today that the court didn't believe his story about being beaten up by police.

Doal Bagstad, 24, of no fixed address, told the court "police beat me so badly I would have admitted I was Napoleon."

"I don't believe a word of it," replied Magistrate Orr, as he sentenced the man to a year in jail on the possession charge.

DOLLAR HIGHER

NEW YORK (CP) — The Canadian dollar closed Thursday 1/32 higher at a premium of 1 21/32 per cent in terms of U.S. funds. Pound sterling unchanged at $2.78 13/32.

MONTREAL (CP)—The U.S. dollar closed at a discount of 1 21/32 per cent in terms of Canadian funds, down 1/16. It took 98 11/32 cents Canadian to buy $1 American. Pound sterling $2.73¾, down 3/16.

Soviet Premier "Deeply Moved" By President's Show of Sincerity

By ALAN HARVEY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

GENEVA (CP)—President Eisenhower Thursday night electrified delegates at the Geneva conference by offering to swap "complete blueprints of military establishments with Soviet Russia as a prelude to disarmament.

In a dramatic statement—promptly hailed by Premier Edgar Faure of France as "scoring the first victory over skepticism"—the president also proposed an exchange of facilities for aerial photography between the two great countries, the U.S. and Russia.

The president thus broke new ground on this fourth working day of the "summit" talks at the Palais des Nations.

He said he had been 'searching my heart and mind for something that I could say here that could convince everyone of the great sincerity of the United States on disarmament. He then went on to make his proposals.

Faure said that if the people of the world could have been present to hear the president speak, they would have realized that something had changed on this historic day, July 21, and that the first victory over skepticism had been scored at the conference.

DEEPLY MOVED

Premier Bulganin of Russia was quoted by a French spokesman as saying:

"We have all been deeply moved by the very sincere declaration just made by President Eisenhower on what is probably the most important question before the conference."

He did not indicate, however, whether Russia would accept the Eisenhower proposal.

Eisenhower's offer, in his own words, is:

"To give each other a complete blueprint of our military establishments, from beginning to end, from one end of our countries to the other: Lay out the establishments and provide blueprints to each other.

"Next, to provide within our countries facilities for aerial photography to the other country—we to provide you the facilities within our country, ample facilities for aerial reconnaissance, where you can make all the pictures you choose and take them to your own country to study; you to provide exactly the same facilities for us and we to make these examinations, and by this step to convince the world that we are providing as between ourselves against the possibility of great surprise attack, thus lessening danger and relaxing tension. Likewise we will make more easily attainable a comprehensive and effective system of inspection and disarmament, because what I propose, I assure you, would be but a beginning."

Prime Minister Eden said Eisenhower's proposals were far-reaching and added that he had been deeply moved by the president's sincerity about world peace.

If they could be adopted, Eden said, "I have no doubt they would make a striking contribution to confidence between nations."

It was the major move of the day, and perhaps the most gripping move of the conference, which is drawing rapidly to a close. Eisenhower insists he must be home Sunday. That leaves at most only two more days for the leaders of the Big Four powers to adopt mutually, if they can, some program leading toward a relaxation of world tensions.

The foreign ministers debated through a rainy morning on how to reconcile, even a little, their clashing views on how to reunite Germany and provide an acceptable security system for Europe. They couldn't do it Thursday. So they asked and received directions to try again today.

INSPECTION STRESSED

From his disarmament proposals, Eisenhower suggested that the four leaders instruct their representatives on the United Nations disarmament sub-committee to "give priority effort to the study of inspection and reporting," which the United States considers the key to effective disarmament.

Canada and the Big Four powers are members of the disarmament sub-committee which has been meeting off and on for several years to consider disarmament problems.

Eisenhower said the sub-committee's study "could well include a step-by-step testing of inspection and reporting methods."

Premier Bulganin, chairman at Thursday's session on disarmament, asked the conference to put itself on record as recognizing the need for a nearly reduction of arms and the prohibition of nuclear weapons. As a first step there should be no more nuclear weapon tests.

Bulganin also proposed a non-aggression pact between the 15-power North Atlantic Treaty Organization and the eight Communist bloc countries which laid the framework for a rival grouping in Warsaw last May.

The Russian premier said that statements made by Western leaders were of great importance. He said he proposed that the foreign ministers work out recommendations to submit to the heads of governments at this conference and to the United Nations disarmament commission. His proposal was adopted.

Western circles hoped Bulganin might give initial Soviet reaction to Eisenhower's proposal at the conference today.

Prime Minister Eden said Britain, which now is making the hydrogen bomb, would like nothing better than to engage in a comprehensive disarmament program.

He submitted his own "modest" suggestion that the four leaders agree immediately to set up teams to inspect the military establishments of either side to a fixed depth on both sides of the Iron Curtain.

RED PLAN CIRCULATED

During the session, Bulganin circulated what a British spokesman described as a "rehash" of Russian disarmament proposals last May 10, which provided for international inspection of military establishments. Eden referred to the plan as evidence the two sides were closer to agreement than ever before on disarmament since it included commonly-agreed points.

The decision to refer to the East-West disarmament proposals to the foreign ministers followed the pattern of previous sessions of the Big Four leaders. The foreign ministers already have been asked to study and report on German reunification and European security, the first two agenda points.

Geneva Meet Not Without Humor

GENEVA (AP) — President Eisenhower has been intrigued by the white flag flown by the Swiss jeep which guides the presidential cavalcade through Geneva traffic.

Finally, an informed source said, the president asked the jeep driver:

Since you're neutral, who are you planning to surrender to?"

GENEVA (AP)—Friends report that French Foreign Minister Pinay is having trouble getting along with the Russians—he doesn't like caviar.

"These diplomatic banquets with the Russians are torture for me," he is quoted as saying. "When I was a child my parents forced me to eat fish eggs. Since then eating caviar is the cruellest punishment for me."

Argentine Gov't In State of Flux

By DOUGLAS CLARK

BUENOS AIRES (Reuters) — President Juan D. Peron Thursday night appeared caught in a tug of war for power among Argentina's armed forces as speculation mounted on his own status.

The government-controlled radio announced a shuffle of key naval officers in which the submarine flotilla commander, Capt. Louis Mallean, becomes chief of the second cruiser squadron. Taking his post in the submarine command is Capt. Enrique Plater.

Argentina's capital was set seething with rumors following reports that Peron submitted his resignation at a meeting with army chieftains Wednesday.

START TALKS ON VIET NAM

GENEVA (AP) — Britain and Russia started informal talks here Thursday on the troubled situation in Viet Nam, where supervision of the armistice stands endangered.

Prime Minister Eden and Foreign Minister Molotov, who presided over the 1954 Geneva conference which produced the armistice, talked briefly about new troubles that have flared in the divided Indo-chinese territory.

CHAMELEON LAKE

CHICAGO (AP)—Police are looking for a parrot that looks like an eagle, cackles like a duck and laughs like a human. Summerdale police blamed crows for the disappearance of Sam Duke's parrot, Eagle. Police said that crows have been invading the district and they may have ganged up on Eagle while the parrot was on the wing near Duke's home.

Duke said Eagle is a foot tall with yellow head and green body and "doesn't talk in parrot fashion." His only sounds, Duke said, are duck cackles and the human laugh.

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—A small dog who likes to live dangerously is giving the lions at Crandon Park zoo a hard time.

Attendants said the dog was passing the lions' cage one day when he noticed a lion had gone to sleep with his tail hanging through the bars.

The dog rushed over, bit the lion's tail, barked ferociously, then trotted away.

After that, the pup started hanging around the cage, biting the lions' tails whenever he saw one sticking out. The lions know him now. They roar whenever he approaches.

DETROIT (CP)—A 200-pound, six-foot man found Tuesday night was no match for 15 women members of a church congregation.

The women were attending a club meeting when Mrs. Lydia Stevens, 43 screamed, "someone is trying to open my purse."

The women chased the man and caught him before he could get through the door. They threw him to the floor, piled furniture on top of him and sat on him until police arrived. The man suffered such severe bruises he required hospital treatment.

Police held Matthew Williams, 26, for investigation of larceny.

Writing Career Ends With Death Of Mrs. Madeley

With the death in Prince George Tuesday of Mrs. Frank St. John Madeley, 46, formerly of Nelson and Longbeach, a promising career in writing was also cut short.

Her first attempt at mystery story writing had met with success. Her book, "The Shining Head", was accepted by a British publishing company, and was published only recently.

She was the former Edith Hallett, member of a prominent Nelson and district family. Born in 1909 in the old Nelson hospital, she was the daughter of the late Commander Gordon Hallett, then of Longbeach.

The Hallett ranch was one of the first in the district, and outstanding for its Cox Orange apples which were shipped in quantity to markets in the Old Country.

In 1914 the family returned to England, but came back to Canada before the end of the First World War. Another daughter, Phyllis, was injured by a bomb in the war, and died later in Canada.

Joan Hallett attended a small private school in Longbeach, and then the family moved to Nelson where she attended schools here. In 1931 she graduated from the University of B.C., and the following year received a diploma in social work, which was to make her a pioneer among B.C. social workers.

She went to Prince George in 1934, becoming the first social worker to be established there. Her territory extended from 100-Mile House, the Yukon, and the Alberta boundaries to the Queen Charlotte Islands.

In 1937 she returned to Nelson, and was married to Frank St. John Madeley in All Saints Anglican Church, Longbeach, on April 24, 1938. Mr. Madeley's father, Canon W. F. Madeley, performed the ceremony.

Mrs. Madeley went back to the Prince George district about 1949, two years later made her headquarters in Prince George, and only last year, in October, returned to Prince George.

She last visited this district two years ago.

Her death in hospital in Prince George came after a long illness.

Her mystery novel reflected her knowledge of Northern B. C. life and the experience she gained in social work. Based on a British Columbia legend, it begins with a nurse being sent to the remote outpost of Fort St. Anne to de public work among the Indians.

Mrs. Madeley is survived by her husband, one daughter, Susan, and her mother who makes her home in Medical Arts Building in Nelson.

She married Harold Wainwright in 1936 at Hedley. She and her husband moved to Salmo two years ago.

Convention Ends On Social Note

TRAIL—The seventh annual convention of the International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers (Ind.) was brought to a close this evening with a sumptuous spaghetti and chicken dinner held in the Colombo hall. It was followed by an excellent hour of entertainment under the direction of international representative Bill Booth and dancing into the small hours.

After the hard week's work relaxation and merrymaking was the order. In a brief address, newly elected Canadian national president Nels Thibault, said that it was the most successful convention ever held by the union in Canada. The success was due to the "advancement towards autonomy in Canada which created a new perspective for the growth of the Canadian labor movement and our own union in particular," he said.

Other guests introduced at the head table by local 480 president Al King, were Harold Sanderson, comptroller of Denver, Colorado; Chase Powers, international board member district 7; Mrs. Dorothy Macdonald, head of ladies auxiliary in Canada; Ken Smith of Vancouver, newly elected eastern board member; Harvey Murphy, western vice-president, district 1; Roys Stevenso, eastern board member; William Longridge, Calgary, secretary-treasurer; John Clark, Denver, Colorado, international president; Rev. # Klondike To Go, Makes Way for Enlarged Post Office Work Space

One of Nelson's landmarks and a prominent hotel of its early days will be torn down to make room for a 25 by 25 foot enlargement of the new federal building at present under construction on Vernon Street.

The Klondike Hotel has been purchased by the Dominion Government from owner Hager Renwick for the purpose.

With purchase of the property the government has provided for originally-planned enlargement of the staff working space extending behind the Klondike. It will create an L-shaped building with the balance of the newly-obtained property used for loading zones and parking.

The section was provided for in first planning of the building and in the contract with builder Laurence Simpson. It depended upon purchase of the additional land occupied by the Klondike, and $7000 was originally appropriated for this purpose.

The carrying out of the original plan will mean that a working lobby will be provided measuring 16 by 37 feet within the main rectangle and 25 by 25 feet in the leg-section forming the L.

Without this addition the space would be the same as in the present post office which has been overloaded for years. Since 1948 the post office has had to lease added space in neighboring buildings, Postmaster Wilfred Hall explained. For the past three years a garage across Vernon Street has been used for storage and parcel delivery service daily.

The area referred to is the mail entrance and mail storage space.

IN 1896

The old hotel, which has in latter years become a rental building, was built about 1896 by a Mr. Lund.

In 1900 John Johnson and his partner Pete Nelson bought it and ran it until 1928, when Mr. Johnson died. His wife, Annie Johnson, continued to run it. It was sold in 1944 and since then has changed hands a number of times.

In its heyday it had a dining room and a saloon.

150 Enjoy "Tex" Williams Show

Approximately 150 listened to well known cowboy vocalist "Tex" Williams sing such old favorites as "River of No Return" and "Miss Molly" at the Civic Centre recreation hall Thursday night.

The entertainers were an hour late in starting their program but the crowd found it worth waiting for as they heard Jimmy Widner sing the famed "Cattle Call" and "Danny Boy" and other members of the band play other favorites.

Dickie Phillips, who was called back from appearing on the Arthur Godfrey show to make the tour, won special applause for his performance with the violin and guitar.

About 200 attended the dance which followed.

Top Mine Rescue Team Booked for Exhibition

The slickest mine rescue team in this part of the country will perform for the crowds attending the West Kootenay Agricultural and Industrial Exhibition in Nelson September 15, 16 and 17.

Exhibition vice-president W. H. Burns announced Thursday that the prize-winning Bluebell Mine team from Riondel will present mine rescue demonstrations each afternoon of the big Exhibition.

Working on a planned problem basis, with a mine model as their target, the team members will show how they would act in an explosion disaster. The realistic show will be complete with "dead" and "injured" persons.

The Bluebell experts will not only rescue the "victims" but will also apply first aid.

The 45-minute show will be staged on Civic Recreation Grounds immediately after the regular floor show performances in the arena.

The Exhibition Association has received the co-operation of the B. C. department of mines and the Consolidated Mining and Smelting Company, Bluebell Mine owner, in engaging the team. Arrangements will be made by H. W. Aitchison, mine rescue and first aid instructor, and J. W. Peck, mines inspector.

Loudspeakers will inform spectators of every phase of the demonstration, and the mobile unit of the mines department will figure in it also.

It is expected that mining machinery companies will take interest in the Exhibition sideline by exhibiting latest equipment. They have been asked to contact Mr Burns for space.

To bring mining even more to the fore at the Exhibition, the Chamber of Mines of Eastern B.C. will exhibit a model base metals concentrator and aerial tramway both in operation. The two models were constructed by Dave Norcross of Nelson, who will be at the switches of both, J. W. Florendine, Chamber of Mines secretary, stated.

Wasa Bridge, Gone 8 Years, To Be Rebuilt

CRANBROOK — With the Kootenay River flow past its peak and water level going down quickly, the Provincial Highway Department expects to start soon on construction of the new wooden bridge over the river at Wasa, replacing the one that collapsed under a loaded lumber truck eight years ago.

In the interval, access to the village and resort at Wasa from the Kingsgate - Radium highway has been by way of the Kootenay Central Railway bridge under an agreement with the CPR., which has stipulated a watchman always on duty on the railway bridge. Work will be done under supervision of Cranbrook district road engineer Ross Workman by a department crew.

Mr. Workman has received no instructions from headquarters with regard to the wooden bridge over the St. Mary's River at St. Eugene Mission, floor of which fell through under a logging truck in early June. At that time he recommended replacement of the old timber bridge, rather than repair of the rotted platform.

PROGRESSING

Two steel and concrete bridges over the Moyie River on the section between Kingsgate and Yahk on the Kingsgate-Radium road are progressing well. Contractor for the bridges is Manning Construction Company, with David Manning, Cranbrook native son, now of Vancouver, supervising the work. These are on the 8.3 miles of the Kingsgate-Radium road authorized for reconstruction this season, for which tenders closed June 28 but no announcement as to contract or work plans has yet been made.

The two miles of reconstruction of this road from Yahk Northward started by a highway department crew in late May is progressing well with more than a dozen men and a volume of heavy equipment. Section is close to the final gravelling. Satisfactory repairs of sections of broken surface along this tourist feeder road from the United States to Cranbrook have been made and tourist volume from the South is at peak, with most resorts reporting no vacancies by early evening daily.

Creston Man Named To District Post

KIMBERLEY — H. Neufeld of Creston has been appointed East Kootenay district supervisor by the Sun Life Assurance Company of Canada, and with his wife and two small daughters has taken up residence in the city.

Mr. Neufeld's territory extends from Kootenay Bay to Crowsnest and from the Canadian border to Golden and Field.

Second Atom-Sub Launched, Groton

GROTON, Conn. (AP)—The U.S. Navy's second atomic submarine, the Seawolf, went down the ways to the sea Thursday.

Mrs. Sterling Cole, wife of a New York Congressman, christened the ship, but missed hitting the bow with the traditional bottle of champagne.

As the Seawolf raced down the ways, a man aboard the submarine cracked a second bottle on the bow.

Three hours earlier, the keel of a third atomic submarine, as yet unnamed, was laid in a ceremony attended by a relatively few officials.

Sticking to Budgets . . .

Kimberley's Finances Reported in Good Order

KIMBERLEY—City finances are generally good, City Council was informed at its recent meeting; but a closewatch is being kept to keep all departments within their budgets. Trade licence collections for the first six months totalled $6065.

The city agreed to pay a monthly rental of $153 for police offices and cell block in the new Federal building. As the magistrate is satisfied with his present court room and office in the old police building, City Council decided against removal of the court to the Federal building, which would have entailed an additional yearly rental of $522.50.

Magistrate V. M. Bourne advised that court expenses will be increased by changes in the Criminal Code which make it mandatory for all evidence on a plea of "not guilty" to be taken either by a stenographer or by deposition. Previously the magistrate had noted evidence, etc., except in cases where a large number of witnesses were to be heard.

Complete information regarding signal lights for the Wallinger Avenue and Ross Street intersection has been received, and will be sent to the Department of Transport for approval and permission to install. This intersection lies on Highway 95, and if the department approves the system it will pay 50 per cent of the cost of approximately $2000.

10-YEAR PLAN

The Council will hold a special meeting next week to start preparation of an all-over 10-year expansion plan to provide space for its rapidly expanding departments.

A request was received from employees belonging to Local 1675, Electrical Brotherhood, for a meeting to negotiate an agreement to the end of 1955. This will be arranged.

A program is being prepared for the visit on August 24 of J. S. Baird, supervisor of municipalities.

Fascism Trend Said Declining

ROSSLAND (CP) — Chase Powers of Spoane, Wash., a board member of district seven of the International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers (Ind.), said here Wednesday a trend towards fascism in the United States — "exemplified by McCarthyism" — is being stopped.

"All indications show that there is a fresh breeze of democracy blowing through that country," Mr. Powers told delegates to the seventh Canadian mine-mill convention in this south-eastern British Columbia community.

Mr. Powrs said an example was the decision made in Washington this week to allow singer Paul Robeson to leave the U.S. and enter Canada for the first time since Aug. 1950.

Autonomy of the Canadian section of the Mine-Mill union would strengthen the organization on both sides of the border, he added.

The Canadian wing was expelled in 1949 from the Canadian Congress of Labor on the grounds that its leaders were Communists.

Boys Move Into YMCA Camp Minto

TRAIL—YMCA Camp Minto organizers report that last weekend saw the windup of the girls' camp and the beginning of the boys' camp. Both groups sat down to the Sunday noon meal, after which the girls officially turned over the camp to the boys, and then left for Trail.

The boys' camp consisted of Ian Burgess, Roy McLeish, Roddy Rysen, Dick Ablett, Colin Rogers, John Konkin, Robert Evans, Terry Jordan, Richard Jordan, Wayne Clayton, Stewart Irwin, Donald Johnson, Maurice Simister, Dayle McKerracher, Bob Powers, Gerry Gangur, Wayne Green, Donald Barker, Paul Kendrick, Kenneth Uzeloc, Johnny McMynn, Melvin Shannon, Dennis Powers, who planned to attend, is in hospital, but hopes to make it out to camp next week.

Cabin leaders are Bob Summerville, Jerry Dennis, Freddy Jones and Lynn Murphy.

Pat Murphy is continuing as assistant director. Idell Hanna and Doralie Vanderburg are helping Mrs. Ewing, the camp cook.

OUTDOOR PURSUITS

With the continuing hot weather, the stress is on swimming and boating. Hikes and out-trips are also very popular. The water, although cool, is very refreshing, and everybody, including the cook, has been swimming the last few days.

There is a morning and afternoon swim period of 30 minutes each; the boats are continually in use. Overnight trips and cook-outs are being planned for the latter part of the week.

The boys' camp is off to a good start of a week's happy camping.

Parents wishing to register their sons for the next two camp periods may still do so. They may call at the YMCA or phone 32.

Village Tackles Poorly Installed Septic Tanks

FRUITVALE—Only one delegation met with the Village Commissionoers at their meeting, and that was H. D. McCutcheon of the Hillcrest-Nelson subdivision.

He asked the Council if steps could be taken to have some of the existing septic tanks which are not properly installed and whose overflow goes into village ditches, causing a health hazard, corrected.

He also suggested that information and sketches of properly installed septic tanks, complete with figures as outlined in the provincial building code, be made available to each householder.

Discussions on this by the commissioners resulted in the decision to have this drawn up and distributed, particularly to those building new homes.

STREETS OILED

Commissioner Otto Schewe reported that with the exception of approximately 250 feet, all roads and streets of the village had been oiled, and that the public had made very favorable comments on the job done. A general cleanup of rocks, weeds and shrubs along the roads is being carried out. Any householder having thistles on his property is being asked to take steps now to eradicate them before they bloom.

Commissioner Schewe asked that a ban be placed on all vehicles with lugs going on the oiled roads and streets.

Commissioner Jack Nuttall reported than a general cleanup is being carried out at the cemetery.

Commissioner Patrick Rochford reported that 75 per cent of 1955 taxes have been paid, and that only 65 per cent of the trade licences had been collected. Warnings have been issued to delinquents to pay licences or face prosecution.

He also reported that he had been notified by the health inspector that one cafe had been told to make certain alterations and generally paint up or it would be closed if the work was not done within a specified time.

MORE LIGHTS

Mr. Nuttall reported that survey for approximately 25 new street lights has been completed; and that the West Kootenay Power and Light Company has assured him the lights would be installed within the very near future. This will bring to 60 the number of street lights within the village.

Unions Choose Name,

WASHINGTON (AP) — AFL and CIO leaders have agreed to name their proposed new labor federation "the American Federation of Labor and Congress of Industrial Organizations." AFL president George Meany and CIO president Walter Reuther said the agreement on a title was the last major problem in the way toward merging the two labor organizations. They said only minor procedural details remained to be worked out before the merger finally is consummated at a series of conventions in New York in early December.

SUDBURY MAN NAMED PRESIDENT . . .

New Mine, Mill Union Asks For National Health Plan

ROSSLAND — Nels Thibault of Sudbury, one of the youngest high executive officers of any trade union in Canada, was unanimously elected president of the new Canadian Mine, Mill Union Thursday. He was formerly international vice-president from Sudbury.

Others elected by acclamation were Harvey Murphy of Vancouver, Western vice - president; William Kennedy of Sudbury, Eastern vice-president, and William Longridge of Toronto, secretary-treasurer.

Elected a board member for district No. 1 (Western Canada) was Ken Smith of Vancouver, a unanimous choice. For district No. 2, Eastern Canada, is R. L. Stevenson of Sudbury, Ont. Three canvassing committee members elected were G. A. Bennett of Britannia, W. B. Sproule of Sudbury, and J. A. Brown of Calgary.

All were sworn into office by John Clark, president of the International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers.

NATIONAL HEALTH PLAN

Among the resolutions adopted was one that the federal government be called on to establish a national health plan which will grant complete coverage for all Canadians in the matter of medical, surgical and hospital care.

A second solution was to the effect that the Canadian Mine-Mill Union protest to both the governments of Canada and the United States against discrimination of trade unionists in freely crossing the border. It was also resolved that the convention go on record in support of the fight of the peoples in the territories to achieve self-government.

A resolution will demand that the government raise pensions to at least $75 a month, that the pension age be reduced without means test from 70 to 65 years for men and 60 years for women.

The Canadian government will be urged to establish a national industrial pension plan for all employees to which all employers would contribute five per cent of their profits less contributions made to pension plans established in individual industries and that employees not covered by pension plans in individual industries, at the age of 60 years, should be permitted to draw monthly pension payments under such a national plan.

A resolution asks that the income tax law be changed to provide a basic exemption for every one of $2000 with an additional $1000 for a married man and that the exemption for children be $400 for those receiving family allowance and $800 for those not, and that all medical, hospital, dental, optical, pharmaceutical supplies and funeral expenses be exempt.

Britain To Keep Death Penalty

LONDON (Reuters)—The government turned down Thursday a demand by Labor members of Parliament for abolition of the death penalty, following the controversial hanging of beautiful blonde murderess Ruth Ellis last week.

Home Secretary Gwilym Lloyd George said he did not think public opinion had shifted against the death penalty since the House of Commons voted down a proposal to abolish capital punishment last February.

Mrs. Ellis' execution for the murder of her wayward lover was assailed as too stringent by sections of the public and press and caused renewed demands for abolition of the death penalty.

Lloyd George said he intended to try to stop the posting of execution notices outside prisons immediately after hangings. A Labor member had attacked the practice, now required by law, as "ghoulish."

REFUSE NEWSPAPER OFFER

TORONTO (CP)—The metropolitan civil defence committee rejected a proposal by a Toronto newspaper to build an H-bomb shelter in front of city hall. It supported an opposing motion by reeve C. O. Bick that if there was going to be a shelter the CD committee should erect and pay for it. The Telegram offered to build the shelter.

Work For Britons

LONDON (Reuters) — Nearly 24,000,000 Britons were at work last year — the highest-ever peacetime employment figure. The labor ministry, in its report for 1954, put the total at 23,910,000 last November, a rise of over 350,000 in a year. Unemployment by December had fallen to 256,000 — almost one-quarter fewer than a year before.

Windermere Strawberries Find Ready Markets in Resort Towns

INVERMERE — Strawberry picking is at its peak in the Windermere District during the present hot dry spell. Small fruit farming has become increasingly important as an agricultural enterprise in the valley with a steady market at Banff, Radium Hot Springs and Lake Windermere Summer resorts and stores.

Three trips weekly are made to Banff by James Taylor or his son, Joe, of Windermere, to supply the 24 cases required every other day at Chateau Lake Louise and 20 at Banff Springs Hotel. Sometimes they continue as far as Cochrane with their berry crop.

The Taylor farms at Windermere where the father has four acres in strawberries and 1½ acres in raspberries, and son, Joe, has two acres in strawberries and two in raspberries are the forerunners of what is becoming a prosperous agricultural industry.

Other farmers at Windermere, Dutch Creek, Edgewater and Wilmer are increasing their acreage each year in small fruits.

The hot, dry Summer climate in the valley is ideal for berries and the increasing number of Summer resorts and Summer homes along the lake shore have built up a steady market for local produce.

Revelstoke Sore At Celgar Result

REVELSTOKE, B.C. (CP)—Acting mayor A. W. Lundell Thursday criticized the Social Credit government for granting the Celgar forestry licence while the Sloan commission hearings were still underway.

He said the City of Revelstoke had been preparing a brief for presentation to the government in connection with the Celgar licence application. The government action in announcing granting of the licence Wednesday meant the city's case could not be heard.

"For half a century the vast timber resources in the Big Bend have held the key to Revelstoke's future and bolstered us through periods of economic gloom," said Mr. Lundell. "With the stroke of a pen we see this asset destined to pass by our doors to a manufacturing plant almost 200 miles from the Big Bend apex."

Communities Can Anticipate Social Changes as Celgar Project Develops

Castlegar is to have its pulp mill and Nakusp and Revelstoke are to have a sustained yield logging industry. This, to the people of the West Kootenay, is probably the big meaning in the final granting of a conditional forest management licence to Celgar Development Company Ltd.

To the Company, it means that the foundation has been laid for a chance at a profit-making enterprise and to the government it means a new tax source. All this, of course, relies upon the ability of the Company to arrange financing for the multi-million dollar pioneering venture. Thirty-one months provided before construction must begin on the 300-ton pulp plant gives time for this phase of the giant project.

There has been considerable impatience at the long period from first announcement in 1952 that the project was planned to completion of the company-government agreement. Actually the elapsed period is three-and-a-half years, hardly an untoward time in the perspective of an industry expected to perpetuate itself for generations. Without excuses, it has to be recognized that over a million acres of forest land were surveyed and classified, a working plan drafted and negotiation carried on with two governments during a disruptive period of elections.

Undoubtedly, new ground was plowed both in the consideration of economics and political features in devising the final plan that now has the signature of both government and company.

One of the most significant things coming from the attempt to establish British Columbia's first inland pulp mill will be the social changes that will accompany the industrial changes. Castlegar and Kinnaird have been pondering amalgamation, Nakusp has had village incorporation in mind, a bridge has been long-sought over the Columbia. Will these moves be hastened now?

A road to Nakusp Hot Springs is assured. That for years has been an objective of the many who appreciate the value of this type of attraction. Steadier populations and economies for the 10 communities in the periphery of the new activity can be expected to increase the demand for social buildings, schools, town halls, churches, hospitals, etc.

Setting aside of additional areas for public working circles—in the vicinity of Revelstoke and south of Trout Lake—has been added provision for the small logger. Whether these areas will be adequate, the man on the ground whose livelihood is concerned, will be in the best position to tell. Undoubtedly, it was the B.C. Forest Service' concern to see that there was proper provision, and, in addition, there will be new market for the products of the small mill operator entering the picture.

The management area has been set out so that its operations will not intrude on foreseeable Columbia power developments, rather, the reverse is the case. And that is the way it should be.

Regardless of the reduction in the licence area and in first announced plans—because investigation has now indicated what is feasible—the enterprise is a giant one. It will be a factor in the Kootenay transformation that has hardly yet started. It is a giant piece in the picture that is to come because this country has the resources to attract men to the hope of realizing on them.

Press Comment

Howling to Ottawa for help whenever anything unusual happens has not enhanced the reputation of either Saskatchewan or its CCF government, thinks the Regina Leader-Post. "It is rather astonishing that the government has not learned long before this that most people in Saskatchewan do not like such begging tactics. It is humiliating to realize that in other parts of Canada we are being increasingly regarded as a province of whiners instead of doers."

Pseudo-intellectuals have made the world "culture" something to be shunned, remarks the Ottawa Journal. But "it can be applied honestly and appropriately to the Stratford Festival. Here is something in our national life which all, highbrows, lowbrows, and middlebrows, may applaud. And their applause can be all the more hearty because Stratford doesn't represent something imposed artificially from the top but is something that emerged from a community, showing that culture, or the expression of it, is not something to be planned consciously, but must be a growth of itself, its roots in something deeper than blueprints by the State."

Your Horoscope

W. A. B., Castlegar—Can you furnish me with a recipe for making cherry wine?

Cherry wine: To each quart of cherry juice allow half pound preserving sugar. Small black cherries are best, but any variety will make good wine. Wipe carefully and remove stalks. Put them into stone crock, mash without breaking stones, cover, and leave for 24 hours. Drain well on hair sieve, pressing out all juice. Measure and add sugar in above proportion, cover, leave again until next day, stirring occasionally until sugar is dissolved. Pour into barrel that will hold just the amount of mixture, covering hole lightly. When it has finished working and no hissing is heard, close down tightly and leave three months, then bottle for use.

Reader, Nelson—I am shortly going to Ottawa for the remainder of the summer. Can you tell me if, while there, I could have access to folk song collections in the National Museum?

The National Museum of Canada's study collections are open to research by properly qualified students. Folk song collections include phonographic recordings of 3000 Indian, 6000 French-Canadian, and several hundred British-Canadian songs. Educational publications on these subjects are available for distribution on application to Miss I. V. Burwash, The National Museum of Canada, Ottawa, Ont.

Jack J., Trail—What would be the address of the Imperial Frontiersmen Corps headquarters?

Corps of Imperial Frontiersmen, a branch of and affiliated with the Legion of Frontiersmen. General headquarters for Canada, 199 Simcoe Street, Hamilton, Ont.; British headquarters, The Legion of Frontiersmen, 2 Territorial Centre, Penton Street, London, England.

Fernie Sees Need of a Community Chest

After considerable thought and enquiry we have come to the conclusion that it is about time that Fernie seriously considered the establishment of a Community Chest.

Hardly a week goes by without some society or organization is busily canvassing the townsfolk, not forgetting the business section, for donations to this or that admittedly worthy cause.

This appears to us to be largely a duplication of effort and time, and has the effect of giving the average person a feeling that they are always being asked to contribute cash, and that the appeals are never-ending.

We have nothing against any cause or society; we agree we should do our best to help each appeal as it comes up.

However, we do consider one big blitz campaign once a year would be received with a great deal more enthusiasm and satisfaction than an appeal every other week.—Fernie Free Press.

The Same Agreement

To make it possible for Consolidated Mining and Smelting to exploit the vast lead-zinc deposit at Pine Point, on the south shore of Great Slave Lake, it is now planned to build a railway.

The Hon. Jean Lesage, minister for northern development, is quoted by the Toronto Globe and Mail as hinting at Ottawa that the federal government is considering building the line itself.

The projected line would lead almost due north from the town of Peace River to the mouth of Slave River, a distance of 400 miles. The government is said to feel "some political necessity to show the world that Canada is able and willing to develop the vast territories she holds."

Reluctant though it may well be to add $50 millions to its current deficit to provide construction funds or to contemplate operating losses, the federal government is coming around to the view that this should be treated as a major proposal for the development of the country.

The argument that Ottawa is now advancing to support it in a policy of building the Pine Point railway is the very same argument that Premier Bennett of British Columbia has been urging on Ottawa with respect to the Pacific Great Eastern Railway and plans for its extension northward.

Back to My Old School

. . . F. B. Pearce

The English seem to be honest in small ways. A butcher's shop will show meat as Argentine, New Zealand or Australian, and goods marked down are "50 per cent of the marked price". Their sales tax is a purchase tax, which you will agree is a more accurate description, since the purchaser pays the tax.

I broke the cord to my hearing aid, which bothered my friends more than it did me. I was fortunate enough to get a new one, and while I was in the shop I looked at the newest English models. One, the salesman showed me, was very good indeed, and he said it was probably as good as mine. When I remarked that he should say that it was the best in the world, he said in effect that it was the customers' opinion of it which was important, not his. He had the agency for six aids, because, he said, what suited one person did not suit another.

Coming to Southampton we bypassed Winchester, so we took a day to visit that city. While in Canada we have our own definitions for city, in England only those old towns with cathedrals are called cities, and it was the cathedral we went to visit.

STATUE OF ALFRED

No two cathedrals are alike, so one does not tire of them. Winchester was the capital of the ancient kingdom of Wessex, and the statue of Alfred stands in the city square. In the cathedral are mortuary chests containing the bones of kings who preceded him, and the ornate tomb of William of Wykeham, the bishop who built the Cathedral, Winchester College and St. Cross Hospital.

Winchester is the oldest public school in England, and St. Cross is still as beautiful as the day it was built over 600 years ago.

The original meaning of hospital was a place where one received hospitality, and St. Cross is still a retreat for old men and where the wayfarer can, by asking for it, receive the dole of a glass of ale and a piece of bread.

Winchester is even more hilly than Nelson, and my old normal college is on one of the hills. Our principal used to say a prayer "for this and similar institutions". We used to say that the similar institutions, which are all on the same hill, were the prison, the hospital and the work house.

So we went past the prison and the hospital and the cemetery to what is now King Alfred Training College for Teachers. On the way we met the principal, riding a motorcycle. The respected Canon of the Cathedral who was principal in my day was far too dignified to do such a low thing as ride a motorbike, but times change, and the College has changed, too. It has added new buildings and doubled its enrollment, and even sunk so low as to admit women to its lecture halls. Progress is a fine thing, but progress should be controlled. There should be no scrapping of ancient traditions.

OUR GREATEST THRILL

We used to have what we called the Dormitory Cup, for which our six-a-side football teams contested. Our first eleven football team might win all its games against others, but the battle for the Dormitory Cup was our greatest thrill. We loved that cup. True, it was only an antique tin mug, which the winners ensconsced with ceremony on a beam in the dormitory. But where is the cup now? Lost; and instead of six-a-side football they probably have tennis matches with the girls.

But let us consider pleasanter things. On Saturday the college has a grand reunion. The guest of honor will be Capt. Bernard Goddard, M.A., who we called "Loppy" because of his ears. He is eighty years of age, and has survived years of teaching high-spirited boys and the campaign in Mesopotamia with, so they tell me, all his intellect unimpaired. He is to be presented with his portrait in oils, to be hung in the college hall, no doubt. It should be a great occasion, and I may perhaps meet some of those I worked and played with long ago.

From an Oldtimer's Notebook

By R. G. JOY

Historian, Nelson District Oldtimers' Association

The pioneers held their picnic at One-Mile Park, where water, chairs, benches, etc., provided by the owners of the park, were all purchased by a pioneer council at the suggestion of one of the first mayors, the late Frank Fletcher, a provincial land surveyor and land agent for the CPR.

I remember a group of pioneers at one of our Oldtimers' Association picnics, most of whom are now gone. Bill Wasson came sauntering along, and in a slow monotone told us of how Nelson council bought the land and rights of the present site of Lakeside Park, whose scenery will soon be graced by a bridge. Mr. Wasson said that Frank Fletcher (who, by the way, was from Rochester, Kent, England) came to the council and told them there was a piece of land, near One-Mile Point that would in the future make a good park for the people. The council purchased the park for about six or seven hundred dollars. Many a family has blessed those who by their foresight have made life more enjoyable during the hot weather.

FIRST IN NINETIES

The first picnic I attended was in the early nineties, and was provided by the ladies of the Presbyterian Church. At that time most of them were from Ontario: Mrs. A. Shaw, Mrs. John Hamilton, Mrs. John Bell and Mrs. Baxon Bell. Attending was Mr. Aikenhead, then in charge of a drygoods store in the Carney Block building on Baker Street, on the site now known as the Nelson Hotel. At the picnic there was a swing made up on the bough of a tree; somebody tied a rope to the bough and went wandering and failed to return. Mr. Aitkenhead looked up at the rope and asked how the knots could be untied. The men evidently were too heavy, the ladder being taken away. A young Englishman who had enjoyed the hospitality of the pioneers looked up, saying, "Shall I try?" "Yes, go ahead." He grasped the rope and went up hand over hand, and then to the next, and soon the rope was on the ground. He went along the bough and came down. He will never forget the apple turnovers that the ladies gave him that day. We then walked our way to our various homes, and thus ended a very happy day when Nelson and its oldtimers were young.

When I mentioned the Carney Block, a frame building in which one of the earliest butcher shops operated, I recalled a man who sold tea and coffee for a number of years in the same block. His name was Loring. His son Frank was a Nelson High School pupil. There was a large hall above the store where spelling bees were part of the entertainment. I arrived late one night, and a young fellow announced that he would help entertain. He placed a colored handkerchief around his neck and a cowboy hat on his curly hair and sang. The first 15 verses did not take very well, and somebody shouted out, "Many more?" "Twelve more," said the cowboy, and he held the floor till they were finished. The audience was rocking with merriment at the audacity of the boy singing 27 verses. The youth could not get in another program for some time.

H. Selous, Mr. Dixon of Applewhaite, J. McPhee enjoyed the fun. Mrs. W. J. Goepel sang her always favorite song, "Daddy".

Coast Women's Charge Accounts in U. S. Worry Vancouver's Merchants

VANCOUVER (CP)—Retail merchants in Vancouver are concerned about the tourist business. Not about the tourists who come to British Columbia from the United States, but about the people in this province who cross the border on shopping sprees.

Attractions for United States shoppers in B.C. include import duty concessions on China, silver, woollens and linens imported from the United Kingdom.

Canadians going across the border buy mainly clothing, shoes, costume jewelry, drugs, variety goods and electrical goods. Figures for last year are not available but in 1953, $16,000,000 worth of goods was declared by returning Canadians as having been bought in Washington state.

FEAR AMOUNT INCREASING

That was a 26 per cent increase over 1952. Merchants fear the total for 1954 will be higher, because the B.C. sales tax was increased from three to five per cent last year. And the $16,000,000 figure of course did not include undeclared goods—items perhaps worn by the returning Canadian or concealed from the customs.

Many Vancouver women hold charge accounts at stores in Seattle and Bellingham, Wash. One credit jeweler in Seattle sends circulars to families in this province offering credit accounts with no down payment.

Storekeepers here say no other large western Canadian centre is located as near to United States competition as Vancouver.

Through their trade associations, retailers urge stricter checks by customs officers. They want more women officers to pay closer attention to women's apparel.

They also have appealed for reduced duty charges and lower Dominion and provincial sales taxes. Many retailers believe the price edge and greater selection of merchandise are the two main reasons shoppers cross the border.

Counting Caribou Noses From the Air Not as Easy as it Sounds

REGINA (CP) — Two provincial government biologists have reported following an aerial survey that about 30,000 caribou from the barren lands winter in northern Saskatchewan.

Tom Harper and Bob Ruttan covered nearly 50,000 square miles of the rugged forest and rock country during April as part of an overall survey of northern Canada's caribou population. A complete report on the survey results is expected late this year or early in 1956.

Caribou were seen singly or in groups of 200 and more, with the greatest concentrations in the Wollaston-Reindeer lakes region. Some had already migrated back to the Northwest Territories.

"Our biggest worry," said Harper, "was the fear of missing caribou in concentrations."

DIFFICULT WORK

Skimming across the country at atlitudes ranging from 300 to 700 feet, it often was difficult to distinguish caribou from natural land formations and next to impossible to see them on glare ice under bright sunlight, or in heavily-wooded areas.

"When we found a herd, we had to work fast," he said. "Sometimes our plane scared the caribou. This would cause them to mill about, like ants on an anthill, making counting difficult."

Harper said the caribou had been migrating northward about two weeks before the count started. Then the caribou suddenly reversed their northward trek about two days before the count started, and two days after it was under way, again reversed direction.

This uncertain behavior was believed caused by an early warm spell.

Two animals shot for health-checking purposes showed no signs of serious disease, though they were thin. Their poor condition was attributed to heavy crusting of snow in northern Saskatchewan last winter, making it difficult for the caribou to paw down to food.

VICTORIA (CP) — Sir Seymour Howard, Lord Mayor of London, will visit Victoria August 31 as guest of the chamber of commerce. Sir Seymour is flying to B.C. as a guest of Canadian Pacific Airlines. He will stop at Whitehorse, Y.T. and Kitimat, before coming to Vancouver Island.

AIR STEWARDESS NOT OBSOLETE AT 30, BOARD SAYS

OTTAWA (CP) — Is an airline stewardess obsolete at her 30th birthday?

"No," says a three-man federal conciliation board, firmly and unanimously.

The board issued its ruling Wednesday in a dispute between Canadian Pacific Airlines and the Canadian Air Line Flight Attendants' Association representing about 70 stewardesses on CPA runs.

It rejected a company claim that CPA, which has been signing new hostesses to contracts that can be discontinued at their 30th birthday, has the "right of management" to lay down retirement age for the nurse-trained stewardesses.

This, the board said discreetly, is a subject to be negotiated.

Meanwhile, it proposed a $7-a-month increase in stewardesses' pay which would make the maximum $318 and the minimum $231.

Speaking of accessories, we now have an attractive selection of Novelty Belts in stock ranging from 49c to $3.95. One of these will do wonders to an otherwise plain and unattractive garment.

This year the long torso dress has hit a new high in popularity. If you are one of the lucky people who can wear this style, we suggest you use mercerized broadcloth. This makes up beautifully and comes in a wide range of colors—both plain and plaids.

The regular price of the plaids is $1.29, but we are offering these to you at a special price this week of only 99c. Be sure and make the CUSTOM SEWING CENTRE your headquarters for all your Sewing Requirements.

Fisher-Gibson Marriage . . .

Wedding of Interest In Nelson, Rossland

ROSSLAND — A lovely Summer wedding took place in St. George's Anglican Church in Rossland, when Elizabeth Gael, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Murray Gibson, became the bride of Stanley Thomas Fisher, only son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Elias Fisher of Nelson. The church was decorated with white double syringa and white daisies, with white tulle bows marking the pews. Rev. Dudley Ritchie officiated at the wedding, and Mrs. W. L. Inkster was organist.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a full-length gown of imported bengaline taffeta, with deep V neck, short sleeves and fitted bodice. The full flaring skirt featured a gathered fullness at the back, and a double row of narrow piping at the waistline. Her pillbox headdress, trimmed with a double row of seed pearls, secured her waist-length veil of silk illusion net. A gold set cameo necklet, which had been a gift of the groom's father to his mother on their wedding day, was the bride's only jewellery accent. She carried a cascading bouquet of white spider 'mums and green ivy.

Mrs. R. J. McAllister was matron of honor, and Miss Barbara DeLong of Kingston, Ont., and Miss Carol Steeper of Tacoma, Wash., the bride's cousin, were bridesmaids. They wore identical ballerina-length gowns of slate blue dacron, with short sleeves and lowcut neckline, inset with a band of self-material. Styled on princess lines, impressed inverted pleats gave fullness to the skirts. They wore a plateau type headdress of green leaves with a cluster of roses at the back, and carried cascading bouquets of pink chrysanthemums and green ivy.

Mr. David McInnes of Merritt was best man, and Mr. John Hopwood of Nelson and Mr. Grant Gibson, the bride's brother, were ushers.

A reception for about 150 guests was held at the Rossland-Trail Golf and Country Club. Here, the three-tiered wedding cake, topped with a miniature vase of flowers, was garlanded with maidenhair fern, intertwined with pastel shaded flowers, and flanked by ivory tapers in crystal candelabra. The tea table, covered with a filet lace cloth, was decorated by French bouquets of pink roses, violas ad blue delphinium intertwined with maidenhair fern in crystal epergne.

Mr. D. D. Morris proposed the toast to the bride.

The bride's mother wore a champagne rayon-finished linen afternoon dress, and a braided straw hat en tone trimmed with irridescent sequins, and a corsage of gardenias. Mrs. G. S. Cooper of Nelson, sister of the groom, assisted in receiving the guests. She wore a navy blue sheer afternoon dress, with white trim, topped with a white jacket, white accessories, and en corsage pink carnations.

Serviteurs were Mrs. Loring McIsaac, Mrs. R. Miller, Mrs. Harold Fargey, Mrs. F. Hutchison, Miss Janet Montgomery of Vancouver, Miss Jane Tyson, Miss Joan Ortner and Miss Mary Wadd of Trail. Pourers were Mrs. R. Clark, and Mrs. L. M. P. Davison of Trail.

For going-away, the bride donned an oyster linen box-jacket suit, with hat and gloves en tone, and shoes and bag of avocado green. Her corsage was of bronze baby orchids.

After a honeymoon motor trip to Montana, Idaho and Banff, the young couple will make their home in Rossland, where Mr. Fisher is on the teaching staff of the Rossland High School.

Out-of-town guests at the wedding included the bride's grandmother, Mrs. G. M. Gibson, Vancouver; her aunt, Mrs. R. W. Stark of Renfrew, Ont.; her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Walker of Nelson; the groom's aunt, Mrs. J. Whitehead of Vancouver; Mr. and Mrs. B. E. Hurdle, Kimberley; Mrs. J. H. Morris, Edmonton; Mr. and Mrs. C. Ward, Mr. and Mrs. G. S. Cooper, Mr. and Mrs. John Hopwood, Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Hopwood, Mr. R. B. Morris and Mrs. T. J. S. Ferguson, all of Nelson; Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Banaigan of Robson; Mr. and Mrs. L. Hammond, South Slocan; the groom's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. R. Fisher of Kimberley, and Mr. Tom DeLong of Vancouver.

Five-Point Program Approved by Baptist World Alliance, London

LONDON (AP) — The Baptist World Alliance Thursday unanimously approved a five-point program to combat "the menace to freedom, basic human values, even Christianity itself."

The resolution was submitted and approved at the alliance's jubilee meeting in Albert Hall, attended by some 8,000 delegates from many parts of the world.

Before considering the resolution, the delegates heard the Gospel preached by a Russian Baptist minister, Rev. Alexander Karev of Moscow.

The resolution contained these five principles:

1. "That the right to be free is a gift from God to all men of whatever race."

2. "That a man's right to choose or change his faith must be preserved, as well as his liberty to dissent or to make objection because of conscience's sake."

3. "That toleration is not enough: That freedom to worship is not enough. As Baptists we seek not to be tolerated but to be accepted everywhere as equals in Christ with all the privileges and responsibility of loyal citizens. What we desire for ourselves we would secure for others, both for Christian believers and non-believers."

4. "That real religious liberty guarantees not only freedom to worship privately and publicly, but the right to teach, preach, publish and advocate, openly and without hindrance, the Gospel of Christ, or other religious convictions."

5. "That our churches must be free from the interference of the state, that all our churches should, so far as their principles permit, abide by the laws of the state and loyally co-operate with the civil authorities in helping to create a community in which freedom of the press, speech and assembly and social righteousness, will be assured."

HOBBLE SKIRT COMES IN AGAIN

NEW YORK (AP)—A 1955 version of the hobble skirt, designed by Ceil Chapman and named the Castle Walk, is a sensation of New York's Fall fashion showings.

Ceil, known for cocktail and evening gowns beloved by all female television stars, dramatizes this return to the modes of the First World War in spectacular fuchsia, lemon, mauve and gold lame satins and brocades. The skirt is draped peg-top fashion about the hips, hugs the ankles in back and is slit to the knee in front. This makes it possible to walk or dance with ease, and yet preserves the hobble-skirt look.

Gasps and applause greeted these sensational styles when they were presented to members of the visiting fashion press.

Novice Lifesaver Must Know Rules

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

Quick action is necessary to save a person from drowning. At the same time, thoughtful action is required to save a would-be rescuer from drowning, too.

Weigh the chances of your success, before dashing into the water to swim to the rescue. There are other measures which are probably just as effective and usually much safer.

The Red Cross and other organizations recommend:

If the victim isn't too far from shore, try to reach him with an oar, a pole or long branch. If he's too far out for that, toss him a floating object such as an oar, a large piece of wood or a ring buoy. Maybe you can heave a rope to him.

Row out to him in a boat, if one is handy. Don't waste too much time looking for one, though. When the boat reaches him, pull him aboard over the stern. He may upset the craft if he clambers over the side.

ARTIFICIAL RESPIRATION

The victim may be unconscious and he may not be breathing. In such an event, apply artificial respiration while rowing ashore, if there is someone to assist you. In case you don't know how to apply artificial respiration, it will probably help if you just compress the victim's chest at regular intervals.

Once ashore, let someone who knows how begin artificial respiration. Don't waste any time trying to drain water from the victim's lungs. You'll bring out little if any.

COVER THE VICTIM

Prevent loss of body heat by covering the victim. Give him hot coffee when he regains consciousness. Don't, however, force any liquids down his throat while he is unconscious.

Keep the victim lying down for some time until a doctor comes or until he feels that he can get up again. Then watch him to make sure he has full possession of all his faculties. It is best to take him to a hospital for a checkup if there is no doctor on the scene.

Disneyland As Seen Through the Eyes of Parents and Children

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Child's eye view of Disneyland!

Now that the adults have turned in their reports on Walt Disney's splendiferous playground, it might be well to hear the kids' reaction to the place. After all, the joint was built for them.

The guinea pigs are Nancy Thomas, 7 this week, with a lively interest in bugs, books and boys, in that order; and Janet Thomas, as resolute a 3½-year-old as you'll find.

The two subjects were immersed in the lore of Disneyland via the mass media of TV, newspapers, comic books, etc. Due to the Wednesday night TV shows, Walt Disney has become virtually another father to them, and one they consider much more attractive, at that.

Nancy and Janet stood wide-eyed in the town square of Main Street, U.S.A., and took in the fabulous sights. All around them were the oldtime stores and buildings in the ⅝ths scale, which made the place seem more like the girls' kind of world. They were asked if Disneyland looked the way they expected.

PEOPLE SURPRISED HER

"No," Nancy replied. "I didn't expect all these people."

It was true. All the pre-opening propaganda showed the Disneyland streets empty. There was no reason for her to anticipate the crowd which poured into the place.

Janet spotted the ancient horse-drawn fire wagon pulling out of the firehouse. "I wanna ride the horsey," she said.

They were walked down Main Street, past the dazzling sights of the ice cream parlor, the penny arcade with shooting gallery, the silent movie house that advertised such TV stars as William S. Hart, Mabel Normand and Gloria Swanson.

"SAVED" FROM HIPPO

On to Adventureland, and now the girls' eyes began to grow bigger. They hopped aboard a river boat and peered at the sights that went by.

"Look out!" shouted Nancy as a ⅝ths-size plastic hippo swam menacingly toward the boat. She was fascinated by the munching giraffe, yawning crocodiles and chattering monkeys, and feared we would all be dunked in the waterfall (the boat swerved at the final moment).

In Frontierland, the girls saw someone they recognized — Davy Crockett. "And his pal, Charlie Russell," Janet added. Fess Parker and Buddy Ebsen, looking somewhat brainwashed by the clamor of thousands of kids, came over to see the girls.

FANTASYLAND BEST

Next came Fantasyland, and the girls agreed with Walt that this was the best of all. They wanted to try all the rides, but settled for the Peter Pan Fly-Thru.

"Close your eyes until you round the corner," said the man as the girls settled into the tiny galleon. They clamped their hands over their eyes. When they looked again, they were sailing out the window of the house. They zoomed over London, narrowly missing Big Ben, and headed for the second star to the right. Soon they were over Never-Never Land.

The girls were tireless; not so their parents. Tomorrowland would have to wait until tomorrow.

Trouble at Conferences Is Not Always Political

By EDDY GILMORE

GENEVA (AP) — "Please, madame," wailed the voice of a distressed housekeeper at one of the Western Big Three villas, "what am I going to do for dinner table space? The Russian gentlemen are so broad, you know."

The conversation was telephonic.

"I left you extra leaves," replied the owner of the villa who, along with several other Genevans, have moved out of their villas and turned them over to the heads of government here for Big Four talks.

"I stuck in the table leaves," said the harassed housekeeper, "but there's still not enough room."

"How many gentlemen are you trying to seat?"

"Six Russian gentlemen and eight of our people."

"Fourteen," said the lady from Geneva. "Those extra leaves will do it. I've seated 14 many a time."

NOVEL PROBLEM

There was a pause on the telephone.

"Have you ever seated six Russians?" asked the housekeeper.

The villa owner admitted she had never faced this problem.

"They're different," explained the housekeeper. "They're so broad."

"But how do you know they won't fit?"

The housekeeper confessed she'd done a dry-run by calling in the gardener and having him sit down six times as a Russian.

"Then look in the second cellar pantry," suggested the villa owner, "and you'll find still another leaf."

Of the six Russians who usually make up the Soviet dining parties, only Andrei Gromyko is built along slim lines.

Nikita Khrushchev, Premier Bulganin, Marshal Zhukov, Foreign Minister Molotov and interpreter Oleg Troyanovsky are large of leg and chest and broad of back.

"And," said the housekeeper, "Mr. Khrushchev needs a lot of room. He gestures."

Seeks Canadian Coats of Arms

By ALAN HARVEY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON (CP) — Wanted from Canada: Any real, honest-to-goodness coats of arms.

The request is from the 400-year-old College of Arms, Britain's link with the days of chivalry. It is holding a "modern" exhibition next year, with emphasis on the 17th and 18th centuries, and it would be pleased to borrow authentic examples of heraldic work from Commonwealth countries, including Canada.

What it has in mind are patents and paintings of arms, arms engraved on silver, reproduced in stained glass or enamel, stamped on bookbindings, carved in wood or sealed in wax. Also sought are pedigrees from the college records, illuminated or engrossed.

QUERIES FREQUENT

"There must be many interesting exhibits in Canadian homes," said a college official. "We receive possibly as many as 500 enquiries from Canada in a year, mainly from persons of English descent whose families were granted coats of arms."

Through some three centuries, it was explained at a press conference, the college has been combing through its records in answer to queries. Now the college's 400th anniversary is coming up, and officers felt that the link between the college and "the great communities overseas" is the one that should be stressed at these celebrations.

In invoking the generosity of overseas donors, officials recognized the difficulty of distinguishing between imitations and the real thing. Finally, it was decided to leave it to newspaper men to put it across that the college doesn't want a "flood of second-rate stuff."

Heraldry roughly dates from the 12th century. Grants of arms were scarce before the 16th century but when the practice became widespread the need for control brought the college into being.

The college stands in drab Queen Victoria St., London, E.C. 4, and officials, with their feeling for history, often hanker for the days when they had their own barge and private gardens overlooking the Thames.

WOULD BAN CRIME FROM FRONT PAGE

PARIS (Reuters) — A group of deputies in the National Assembly have introduced a bill to ban crime stories from the front and back pages of French newspapers and periodicals. An announcement said the bill would also forbid details and photographs of the crime itself on pages where crime reports were allowed.

'Peg Man Holds Rare U.K. Honor

WINNIPEG (CP) — Osman Vaile lives quietly in suburban Fort Garry as a caretaker. But in his native Gloucester, England, he is accepted as a select and privileged citizen.

A blue and gold badge which the 69-year-old caretaker wears on his lapel identifies him as a Freeman of Gloucester. It places him among the select group of Gloucester natives to whom the honor has been passed down as a birthright since feudal times.

Mr. Vaile said there are only about 200 Freemen of Gloucester in the world, and he believes he is the only one in Canada.

The term Freeman is applied to one who possesses the freedom of a city or borough. Some 30 royal liberties were granted to the Freemen of Gloucester, beginning in the reign of Henry II in 1155 and extending through the reign of Charles II in 1672.

SPECIAL PRIVILEGES

Under a charter granted by Henry VIII Mr. Vaile and his wife Doris can occupy living quarters at Alms House, London road, and Gloucester, rent-free for as long as they wish. Since he is over 60 Mr. Vaile is entitled to a pension for himself and his wife from a fund established in 1946. But he would have to live in Gloucester to collect it.

Under his rights Mr. Vaile can communicate directly with the Queen should some problem arise which only she can settle.

Mr Vaile went to Gloucester last year to claim his title. He took the oath of allegiance before Mayor Howard Gibson of Gloucester and his name was entered in the Freeman's register.

The title cannot be bought or sold and when Mr. Vaile dies his son Arthur, a steamfitter in Win*nipeg, must go to Gloucester to* claim his birthright privilege.

However, Mr. Vaile has no plans to settle in Gloucester; he and his wife prefer Winnipeg.

RN Seaman Takes Poke at Admiral

PLYMOUTH, England (AP)—A Royal Navy seaman was held Thursday for taking a poke at an admiral.

The incident occurred aboard the navy maintenance ship Berry Head as Vice-Admiral John Eaton was inspecting the crew at fire drill.

The admiral staggered back from the unexpected blow and his hat sailed over the side into the sea.

A navy statement said: "A rating assaulted the admiral and has been detained pending medical examination and investigation."

The seaman's name was not disclosed.

Report of Air Crash

LONDON (Reuters)—A government inquiry has blamed "errors of judgment" on the part of the pilot as a contributory cause to the crash of a British Overseas Airways Stratocruiser at Prestwick, Scotland, last Christmas Day. Four crew and 24 passengers died when the airliner overturned on landing. The report of the inquiry, while referring to "errors of judgment" of Captain William Stewart, 46, now living in Montreal, made plain that no "wrongful act or default of any person or party" had caused or contributed to the crash.

Sailor's Life Can Be Lucky

BARRINGTON PASSAGE, N.S. (CP) — A 75-year-old sea captain who ferried munitions in Canadian ships during the First World War, and sailed under the U. S. flag in the Second World War, considers himself a lucky man.

Capt. Norman Smith of this Nova Scotia south shore fishing port says: "I've sailed over a lot of salt water, but I was never shipwrecked, and torpedoed only once."

A German torpedo smashed through the engine room of the 3000-ton freighter Sonia during the First World War. All but two crew members managed to reach the nearby Nova Scotia coast.

Capt. Smith admits he had a risky trade taking cargoes of explosives from Canada to Britain between 1914 and 1918. "It was bad stuff," he said. "We always sailed without a convoy.

MISSED 1917 DISASTER

"I remember we left Halifax only two days before the explosion of 1917. That sort of thing brought home a little more forcibly the kind of stuff we were handling."

He volunteered for service on the outbreak of hostilities in 1939 and was given command of the Arctic suply boat Belle Isle.

When the U. S. entered he war, the Belle Isle and Capt. Smith worked on under the American flag. Through the war years he sailed the Arctic sea lanes assisting in establishment of weather stations whose work was valuable in moni*toring enemy submarine positions* and supply weather reports.

Capt. Smith was born at Woods Harbor, N.S., and at 15 signed on the Saint John, N.B., schooner Wild Wood which he joined at Philadelphia. He sailed for Australia Christmas Eve, and says "I was so home-sick that I hid in the bosun's locker and cried for hours."

At 18 he had obtained his second mate's papers and at 22 wrote his master's papers after long hours of evening study. His first command was the Burnham Wood, sailing out of Saint John, to ports in the Far East and Australia.

British Newspapers Worked Up by Duke of Kent's Third Car Crash

LONDON (Reuters)—The Duke of Kent's third car crash in just over a year is threatening to develop into a minor storm involving the 19-year-old cousin of the Queen and the War Office.

Many newspapers are asking why news of the crash last Friday was kept secret for six days. And two newspapers suggest that royal pressure will be exerted on the duke, seventh in line of succession to the throne, to curb his love for fast sports cars.

The duke's accident occurred early last Friday when his car crashed upside down in a ditch as he was driving back from a late party in London. He was injured, and now is in hospital at the Royal Military Academy at Sandhurst, where he is a cadet. He is expected to be up soon.

Last June he crashed with another car and suffered head injuries. Last November he hit o tree blown down across the road. His hands were slightly cut.

MAY IMPOSE ROYAL BAN

The Daily Mail says: "The Duke of Kent may come under a Royal Family edict banning him from car driving until further notice. Or he may not be allowed to drive unless he is accompanied by an experienced driver."

The political correspondent of The Daily Mirror says several members of Parliament want to raise the matter in the House of Commons to find out why "the authorities went to considerable length in keeping the story of the accident quiet."

The News Chronicle also reports that some MPs are "perturbed by what they fear are official attempts *to conceal the full facts of the acci*dent."

Picks Team To Break Cup Tie

By HENDERSON WARD
Canadian Press Staff Writer

MONTREAL (CP) — Jim Skelton, tall, curly-thatched captain of Canada's latest Davis Cup entry, went strictly by the book Thursday in picking his tennis players for matches in a cup tie starting today against the British West Indies.

Named in the draw to compete for Canada in the singles matches were Toronto's Lorne Main and Bob Bedard, Sherbrooke, Que., the country's first-and-second-ranked players. Playing captain Ian McDonald and Frank Mott-Trille will go for the West Indies.

Skelton, from Vancouver, who won't play in the tie, made an agreement with McDonald not to announce their selections prior to the draw.

Main and Bedard, mooted for the singles since speculation on who would play started here about a wek ago, are both veterans of Davis Cup matches.

Skelton said he had not seen his players in action as much as he would have liked, and had to rely largely on past performances for his choices.

EXPERIENCED PLAYER

With 18 cup matches in six years under his belt, Main stands on a record of eight victories and 10 defeats. Bedard has seen action in two previous series and has a record of one win and four setbacks.

For the West Indies, only McDonald has had Davis Cup experience. He lost to Gardnar Mulloy of the United States in a second-round tie in 1953.

McDonald and Mott-Trille will also form the B.W.I. doubles team to compete against Main and Henri Rochon, 31-year-old Montreal ace who missed making the Davis Cup team last year for the first time since 1946.

In the opening event today, Bedard will face McDonald. Main will meet Mott-Trille in the second match. The doubles match is scheduled for Saturday with Main vs. McDonald and Bedard vs. Mott-Trille in the final singles Sunday.

Rees To Pilot Ryder Cup Team

LONDON (AP) — Dai Rees, 42-year-old Welsh professional, was named Thursday captain of Great Britain's Ryder Cup golf team to play the United States at Palm Springs, Fla., Nov. 5-6.

"I am not forecasting the result of the match but I think we shall do as well, if not better, than any time since the war," Rees said. "We shall be able to use our own British-sized ball there for the first time."

Rees said he would leave for the United States next Thursday to compete in the all-America tournaments in Chicago.

The British ball is smaller and heavier than the American.

Yankee's Lead Whittled to One Game by White Sox

By The Canadian Press

The go-go Chicago White Sox slashed the New York Yankees' American League lead to one game Thursday by coming from behind for a 9-6 victory. Fine relief pitching by Millard Howell saved the day.

Bob Kennedy's two-run double was the big blow of Chicago's three-run spurt in the seventh to break a 6-6 tie. The Yanks knocked out Virgil Trucks and scored four runs in the first inning.

Howell, acquired from Memphis in June, won his third in seven days, allowing only two runs in 10 2-3 innings.

Cleveland also picked up a full game on the Yanks, moving within three games of the pace by downing Washington 4-3 in 10 innings. Vic Wertz' pinch double tied it up in the ninth and singles by Al Smith and Larry Doby won the game in the 10th, snapping Washington's five-game winning streak.

DETROIT WINS

Detroit shaded Baltimore 1-0 on Billy Hoeft's six-hitter against Hector (Skinny) Brown. Frank House's seventh-inning homer was the only run of the game.

Frank Sullivan, with Ellis Kinder's help, tumbled Kansas City to a 10th straight defeat, 4-3, while the fourth place Boston pulled to within four games of the Yankees. The A's three runs in the seventh were their first in 16 innings against the Red Sox, who scored their markers in the fourth with three hits and an error against loser Bobby Shantz.

The National League "race" remained a figure of speech with Brooklyn rolling along 13½ games in front of the runnerup Milwaukee Braves. The Dodgers clipped Chicago 4-1 as rookie Don Bessent won his second straight start and Milwaukee thumped Pittsburgh 5-3 on homers by Hank Aaron and pitcher Warren Spahn.

MAYS HITS 29TH

New York edged St. Louis 6-5 on an infield grounder in the eighth on which pinch runner Ruben Gomez sped home from third ahead of Red Schoendienst's throw to the plate. Willie Mays and Sid Gordon hit home runs for the Giants and Don Liddle pitched brilliant relief ball after Sal Maglie was knocked out in the second inning. It was Mays' 29th homer.

The Dodgers' game was 1-0 most of the way with the Brooks leading by a run that was forced in when Jim Davis walked Don Zimmer with the bases loaded in the fourth. The Brooks hopped on reliefer Hal Jeffcoat for three more in the eighth. Bessent, 24-year-old St. Paul grad, lost his shutout bid in the ninth when Ernie Banks hit his 27th homer.

Spahn's homer at Pittsburgh came with two on in the sixth and the Braves trailing 3-2, assuring him of his eighth victory. Lino Donoso was the loser.

Philadelphia Phillies, the hottest club in either league, made it 10 straight by rallying to beat Cincinnati 5-3 and take over fourth place in the NL. Gus Bell hit three solo home runs for the Redlegs—but flied out with two men on base to end the game. Roy Smalley's bases-loaded single knocked in two of the Phils' three runs in the eighth that overcame Bell's 3-2 lead. Reliefer Jack Meyer got the decision, with Gerry Staley, also in relief, the loser.

15 To Try Ontario Swim

TORONTO (CP)—Fifteen swimmers have agreed to enter the Canadian National Exhibition's swim across Lake Ontario in September, George Duthie, sports manager of the CNE, said Thursday.

The first five finishers will share the $25,000 prize money, Duthie said.

Among applications received are those of Shirley Campbell of Fergus, Ont.; Bert Thomas of Tacoma, Wash., who became the first person to conquer the Strait of Juan de Fuca two weeks ago; Brenda Fisher from Grimsby, England; Cliff Lumsden of Toronto; Gerda Olson of Simcoe, Ont.; Mrs. Ann Merawa, a 36-year-old housewife from Vancouver; Tommy Peddler, 40-year-old native of Belleville, Ont., and four long-distance swimmers from the Egyptian army.

The first finisher ashore on the Canadian side of the 32-mile distance will receive $15,000, Duthie said. The second finisher will get $5000, the next will receive $2000. There will also be a bonus of $1500 to the first woman to finish.

Continue Polio Fight

NEW YORK (AP)—The National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis Wednesday announced grants of $1,652,741 for polio research and support of respirator centres. "The fight against polio is not over," said Basil O'Connor, president of the organization for which Dr. Jonas E. Salk developed his polio vaccine.

Sorry Swaps-Nashua Race Not Sooner

NEW YORK (AP) — Sunny Jim Fitzsimmons said Thursday he wished the Aug. 31 match race between Nashua and Swaps would be held today.

The trainer of Nashua, who will be 81 Saturday, said the Belair Stud three-year-old colt "is as ready as he'll ever be this minute."

Nashua is at Saratoga Springs, N.Y., where he was shipped after winning the rich Arlington Classic last Saturday at Chicago. His owner, William Woodward, Jr., said Nashua would skip the Travers and Saratoga Cup at Saratoga next month in order to train for the $100,000 winner-take-all match with Rex Ellsworth's Swaps at Washington Park, Chicago, Aug. 31.

"Now, I don't know. We'll have to change his training schedule," said Fit zafter the match race was announced.

The Aug. 31 race will be the second between Nashua and the California three-year-old, Swaps, who beat the eastern star by 1½ lengths in the Kentucky Derby.

Westrum Off With Finger Injury

NEW YORK (AP) — New York Giants Thursday lost the services of catcher Wes Westrum for two weeks when the 32-year-old backstop suffered a fractured ring finger on his right hand. He was hit by a foul tip off the bat of outfielder Wally Moon of St. Louis Cardinals in the second inning.

STUKUS PLUMPS FOR MORE GRID INTEREST

KELOWNA, B.C. (CP)—Canadian football clubs must increase their efforts to sell the gridiron pastime to Canadians, Annis Stukus said Thursday.

The coach of B.C. Lions of the Western Interprovincial Football Union said in an interview that only by winning new fans could clubs across the country continue to improve the standard of football.

Loss of any of the five WIFU clubs or the four teams making up the eastern Big Four would seriously hamper the two leagues.

In the east Ottawa faced financial difficulties after a poor season last year both on the field and at the gate.

He said "rumors keep cropping up" that Toronto Argonauts and Montreal Alouettes were considering switching to a league mainly comprising United States professional clubs.

Loss of Toronto and Montreal would be a serious blow to Canadian football, he said. The playoffs in a pro league containing Canadian teams would tend to overshadow the Grey Cup game in much the same way as the battered Allan Cup took second place to the Edinburgh Trophy in the hockey world.

He said that should Montreal or Toronto obtain a franchise in an American league, the remaining Big Four teams would probably join WIFU clubs in an inter-locking schedule with each western club making an eastern swing and eastern clubs making a western trip.

Ball Club May Lease Capilano Stadium

VANCOUVER (CP) — A special City Council committee Thursday prepared a tentative agreement to lease Capilano Stadium here to an unidentified Pacific Coast League baseball club.

Local promoter Coleman E. Hall Monday assured council the club would come here if there is agreement on the stadium.

In Oakland, Calif., Tuesday, Brick Laws, president of Oakland Oaks, said he would be interested in transferring the club's franchise to Vancouver.

One clause of the provisional offer is that the city would take five per cent of all gate and concession receipts as rent. The club originally proposed five per cent on gates only.

Under the lease the council would agree to spend $60,000 to increase seating capacity to 10,000 from 7500.

Alderman George Cunningham Thursday suggested the city offer to build a roof over the stadium to increase the club's chances of success. His suggestion was defeated after committee chairman Ald. Earle Adams said the $90,000 roof would be wasted if the team failed to draw crowds.

Nelson Royals Win 8-6 Over Rossland Royals

The Nelson Royals continued their win streak Wednesday evening defeating the Rossland Royals 8-6 in Rossland.

A four-run second inning sent the Nelson team on its way to their sixth win in their last seven games. The other game was a 4-4 tie against Trail last Monday.

Pat Ozey started the game going for the winners opening the inning with a single. One other single by Flo Kelly and two walks provided the runs. Again in the second the Royals scored with two runs crossing the plate as Geordie Procter and Ozey hit safely.

The winning run came in the fifth and then the Nelsonites salted the game away with one more in the seventh.

Verda Pratt on the mound for the Royals held Rossland at bay for three innings after allowing them two runs in the first. They counted single runs in the fifth and sixth and wound it up with two in the seventh.

Dorothy Wallace counted three runs for Nelson as she led the hitters.

Pratt struck out eight and walked one while Joyce Molyneaux on the mound for Rossland struck out two and walked four.

MARTY MARION GETS 2-YEAR GO WITH WHITE SOX

CHICAGO (AP) — Marty Marion, who took over as Chicago White Sox manager on a "test" basis for just this year, Thursday was given a new two-year contract by the club.

Marion, former star shortstop for St. Louis Cardinals, replaced Paul Richards as White Sox pilot late last season when Richards moved to Baltimore Orioles.

General manager Frank Lane said Marion's contract for 1956 and 1957 will make him "the highest paid White Sox field manager from a standpoint of base pay."

The figure was not announced, but Marion is believed to be getting between $25,000 and $30,000 for the current season.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE—Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A M X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Stage Dawn Raid On Alleged Still

MONTREAL (CP)—A 30-man police squad Thursday staged a dawn raid on an alleged "blind pig" in what officers described as an attempt to find those responsible for wrecking four Montreal night clubs in two days.

Police said a gang of hoodlums caused extensive damage in raids on the uptown El Morocco and Downbeat Clubs, and on an alleged "blind pig".

Early Thursday other hoodlums, some of them firing revolver shots, raided and damaged the midtown All American Bar and Grill and the Montmartre Cafe on St. Lawrence Boulevard.

RIVAL GAMBLING GROUPS

Fitzpatrick blamed the trouble on "bad blood between members of rival gambling factions."

Police said they are uncertain how Thursday's attacks started.

Several shots were fired as the mob did an estimated $2000 damage to the All American Bar. Police said the shots were fired by the gang "just to show authority".

Koolaree Echoes

HAPPY DAY NO. 3. — Nothing the matter with the day coming up, except the getting up, but once you're up there is nothing to it. We do a few stretches then off to get our faces and necks washed. Funny how fast these items pick up dirt.

The first aid group is a keen one and the boys are doing a pretty fair job for little guys. In this group we find the McCullough brothers, Bill Irvine, Donnell Landucci, David Dahlstrom, Jack Ross, Jim Little and Duncan Sample, Gregg Thomson and David Kendrick, Ian Somerville and David McDonald.

Polishing driftwood is a very fascinating hobby and Jack Steed's group are found scraping, sanding, oiling all manner of shapes that will ultimately be candle holders, coat hooks, just ornaments. Among these chaps are Bill Fraser, Michael Piper, David Freeman, Keith Ruston, Frank Dixon and Doug Florio.

The softball games are improving now that they are getting used to each other's style of play and less arguing. Home-run kings yesterday were Clark White of Cabin 5 twice; then Jimmy Taylor of Cabin 7 got a homer and a triple. In the camp games, everybody plays, thus giving every boy a chance to get to know the game.

Today Cabin 1 went for a launch trip through the narrows and met up with Cabin 2 and exchanged with them for the hike home. In the meantime Cabin 7 was occupied with the rowboats and the rest hiked to the west end beach for a swim. The weather couldn't be better for these little guys to get in lots of boating and swimming.

At campfire the boys were shown a couple of new challenge games suitable for pow-wow night. In a practice run, Dahlstrom defeated Jim Taylor in the hand wrestle. Cabin 1 provided the entertainment with the play "The Helping Hand." The cast included Marilyn Bruce Smith, Michael Piper, David Bensted, Leslie Evans, Don McDonald, and Dick McElroy.

We've come to the end of another glorious day in which we have seen the origin of new menu items, such as Fraser and Horswill new seafood special, "Pinheads" with plum juice and milk. James Taylor appeared as editor, owner, publisher, reporter, copy boy, printer and delivery of the Cabin 7 news. In fact, he is Cabin 7. Bill Armstrong and David Brown are two guys that can really talk in their sleep with their eyes wide open, what a trio.

Then with taps we end the day. Good night, Mom and Dad.

HAPPY DAY NO. 4—The farmers of Cabin 3 pretty nearly got early morning sunstroke they were up so early, must be used to getting up with the cows and chickens. However, Mrs. Freddie didn't approve, put in an appearance and all was quiet again.

We're all mixed up this isn't Friday but it sure is fish day, for Clark White and Keith Ruston each caught two grayling and Martin Horswill one, Big Chief Freddie not to be out done went and caught himself two trbut. Now everybody can be seen checking whatever gear he has.

While the daily chores were being done the Leaders finished closing in the new flunkey quarters, and tomorrow they will put the roofing paper on, from now on the guy will have the privacy of his own den.

The big event today was the sports, with Cabin Two Mohawks emerging the champs, followed by Cabin 6 Kootenais and Cabin 5 Onondagos. Most of the events were group participation relays, with individuals as winners only in the dash and softball throw. In the dash final it was Bjorkland, Dahlstrom and Drew. In the softball throw it was Rogers, Stewart and Freeman.

The humorous events called for two-man teams to carry the dishpan full of water from the lake to a required spot at the camp centre. Another was the three-man team wheelbarrow race, two pushing and one rider—spills and thrills galore for the little guys who were the riders.

Swimming and boating is a big thing these days, and the boys are getting plenty of it. A beginners' class is operating under the guidance of Gary Brothers and John Norris. Thanks to high water the boys have plenty of logs for make-believe submarines, destroyers, crash boats or what have you. Any way you look at it, they are happy and having fun.

A rather unusual campfire. Joe German, our happy flunkey, sat in the Big Chief's chair, so Freddie just put his hat and jacket on Joe and he was it. Well, Toscanini or Sir Ernest just don't know anything about conducting great choirs or orchestras until they have seen Joe in action. He was ably assisted by the Cabin Leaders and Counsellors. The boys just loved it, and it was one of our best campfire programs. Today we celebrated the birthdays of Michael Piper, Don Armstrong, Melville Chambers, Frank Dixon, Ronnie Lawton and Frank Edey. This was done with candle-lit cakes.

The feature item of our campfire program was the great show, with Peerless as the Great Gusto Profunnyo who pulled men out of a barrel—none other than Gregg Thomson and Michael Ozelle. Then came Pauncho Jack Klemen of Greenwood as the Voice Thrower, making his voice heard from the surrounding trees, then from the tops, until his sound effects man couldn't find the ladder to get up there. The wrestlers were quite the thing; Pee Wee Dono Burt throws Don Stewart and then continues wrestling himself. The Sharpshooter Falking amazed the campers by shooting crackers out of the hands of Keith Wilson.

The boys were taught the art of Indian leg wrestling, in which Don Armstrong threw Ken Bryden in the demonstration, although Ken did whisper nicely to polite Don to gain one fall. Fraser gained two falls over Scott Hamilton.

Our scribes are doing very well, and Bill Irvine is one of the star reporters in this field, closely followed by Jimmy Taylor and Tommy Derdall. Now we must hustle along to bed. This has been a good day from start to finish, and Mother Morpheus is beckoning each and every one of us. Good night, Mom and Dad.

Black Snow Falls On Geneva Girls

By EDDY GILMORE

GENEVA (AP)—The Americans' "black snow" is swirling down on Geneva again, spoiling laundry on clotheslines and smudging the girls on downtown terraces.

"It's awful," said one. "You rub on tan oil and then this stuff comes down and makes you look and feel as if you've got a case of black measles."

And what's worse, the man who halted the dusky snowfall last year, Gen. Walter Bedell Smith, is not attending the "summit" conference.

The black flakes began descending on Geneva first last summer during the Indochina armistice conference. For a while nobody could figure the origin, but the staff fell at regular intervals on a wide area around the downtown Rhone Hotel, headquarters of the United States delegation.

A determined inquiry traced the soot to one chimney in the hotel. Some Geneva friends appealed to Smith, then undersecretary of state and acting chief of the U.S. delegation.

"BURN BAGS" CAUSED IT

This is what he found:

Several times daily and at night American security men made the rounds of delegation offices with "burn bags". Into the bags went all discarded papers—used carbons, old memos, anything on which secret information might have been scribbled.

Even the doodles of delegates went into the bag—an important item to the U.S. delegation since State Secretary Dulles is a great one for drawing strange lines and shapes while he ponders the verbal outpourings of others. The security experts said the doodles could reveal confidential matters—presumably to an expert on psychiatric warfare.

When the "burn bags" were full the security men took them to a basement furnace, chopped up the paper, and dumped it into the fire. The ash flew up the chimney, to come down on the residents of the neighborhood and their laundry.

Smith stopped the snow by having screens put in the chimneys. But he is back in the U.S. now, in private business. The security men are burning again, and nobody is screening their ashes.

Revelstoke Man To Fight Charges Of Subversive Activities in U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Counsel for William Henry Taylor said Thursday a security board has found "reasonable doubt" of the loyalty to the United States of Taylor, a Canadian-born official of the International Monetary Fund.

The lawyer, Byron Scott, announced plans for a three-way fight—in Congress, in court and through a demand for rehearing by the security panel.

Taylor, a naturalized American born in Revelstoke, B.C., has been fighting charges of subversive activity for years.

The finding against Taylor was made, Scott said, after a hearing by the international organizations employees loyalty board, set up to screen Americans on the staffs of multi-nation organizations including the United Nations.

Since the IMF is not subject to U.S. control, the decision is only advisory. Action is up to the officials of the fund itself.

Scott said this language, first reported by the Washington Post and Times Herald, is the key section of the board findings:

"The board is convinced that the employee (Taylor) has engaged in espionage and subversive activity against the United States . . . and that he was and possibly still is an adherent to the Communist ideology."

The opinion said further that Taylor "categorically denied that he had ever been a member of an espionage ring or of the Communist party, but he acknowledged his association with numerous persons who have been identified with one or both groups."

SENATE COMMITTEE FIRST

Scott said he will take up the matter with a Senate sub-committee studying U.S. loyalty and security procedures. Then he plans to appeal to the security board itself, contending that there was material in the board's findings which were never aired before the board and which Taylor never got a chance to refute.

Taylor has long fought charges that he was a subversive. He was named by Elizabeth Bentley, one-time Communist spy courier, as one of a group of persons she said were engaged in espionage.

Pacific Watchers See Fiery Ball

SEATTLE (AP) — A fiery ball plowed through the skies over western Washington and British Columbia this week, startling thousands of persons and apparently deceiving most of them as to where it landed.

Moving at tremendous speed, the fiery visitor apparently first entered the earth's atmosphere somewhere southwest of Tacoma at approximately 9:00 p.m.

SHOOTING FLAMES

It was described by one witness as green, with a blue glow, and shooting flames from its tail, heading in a northeasterly direction. Many others also saw it, but by their reports it landed in Puget Sound, "behind a nearby hill" or at various points on Vashon Island.

A few moments later, one Seattle resident insisted the meteor—if that is what it was—had broken up and fallen into Puget Sound northwest of Seattle.

The weather bureau at Vancouver, B. C., sighted it travelling north at 100,000 feet altitude—and it wasn't dripping water.

Fishermen, Try This

GARDINER, Me. (AP) — Potato chips were the ba[illegible]d rocks the tackle three your[illegible] said they used to land a go[illegible]zed bass in Tacoma Lake.

Gay Nelson, 12, Rodney Cormier, 9, and Gerry Dorr, 11, told their startled parents that they had tossed a few stale chips into knee-deep water and were surprised to see the fish swim up and begin nibbling. A couple of thrown rocks bayoed the bass and the children retrieved it.

Heart Operation Gives Wife Life

SYDNEY, N. S. (CP) — Bessie Legge stepped off a plane from Philadelphia in an early morning mist Thursday and laughed and cried as she received a rousing welcome from the scores of friends who helped save her life.

Mrs. William Legge, five pounds heavier than the 100 she weighed when she left here a month ago, returned cured of a serious heart ailment that had left her nearly helpless for two years and threatened her life.

Hundreds in this steel city had chipped in to send her to the Hahnemann Hospital in Philadelphia for the delicate and expensive operation.

HAPPY HOMECOMING

Chipper and smiling, she hugged her unemployed steelworker husband, her 17-month-old son and her parents, and said:

"I'm extremely grateful to the people who made the operation possible."

The Bailey Clinic at Hahnemann Hospital has won world acclaim for successful operations in cases previously considered beyond the aid of surgery.

President Eisenhower has dropped a blockbuster into the Geneva conference and perhaps into American politics as well.

He proposes that Russia and the United States give each other blueprints of their military installations and provide for cross-inspection by aerial photography.

Russia can hardly accept, unless she is willing to change her whole foreign policy which is based on her power of attack, but will be in an extremely embarrassing position if she refuses.

The president might find himself in an extremely embarrassing position of Russia did accept. The school of intransigence against Russian i nthe United States, fearful of being trapped if Russia is trusted in any fashion, is perhaps not large enough to kill ratification of such an agreement in Congress, but is sufficient to put up a bitter fight.

How, they can ask, will aerial inspection in Russia actually ensure that her own inspection rights will not be used to prepare the very attack which is feared, or that the Russian blueprints will be honest And those will not be the only questions.

EASE FEAR OF WAR

But the entire proposal has a wonderful appeal to that part of world opinion which fears Russia of the United States will eventually start a war which would be bound to become general.

France's Premier Faure had this in mind when he said he wished all the peoples of the world could have been in the chamber to hear the president.

By beginning with aerial surveys, the president said, "we will make more easily attainable a comprehensive and effective system of inspection and disarmament, because what I propose, I assure you, would be just a beginning."

With those words, the president took the ball on disarmament and control of atomic weapons and ran away with it.

Unveil Latest Plane

WASHINGTON (Reuters) — The United States air force Thursday unveiled its new four-engine turboprop freighter plane, the Lockheed Hercules C-130. Although most performance details of the Hercules are secret, it was reported authoritatively that it can carry 20 tons at 350 miles an hour for about 3000 miles.
