Purge of Red Ranks Expected in Poland

Gomulka Gives 6-Hour Policy Speech; Ouster of "Progressives" at Hand

By COLIN FROST

WARSAW (AP) — Polish Communists are expected to purge their ranks gradually of those members who demand too much independence.

The United Workers Communist party's full central committee has been involved in prolonged debate on the six-hour speech delivered to them Wednesday by party leader Wladyslaw Gomulka. If they reach any decision, there has been no word of it.

But party sources express belief Gomulka's demand for an end to dissension must mean a thinning out of the membership. Those marked for ouster probably include the "progressives," who want more freedom than Gomulka is able to give; the so-called Stalinists, who oppose any relaxation of policy toward peasants and Roman Catholics, and those thousands of Communists who failed to rally actively in defence of the party as the sole leader of the country.

INTELLECTUALS UNHAPPY

Party intellectuals — those who were excited by evidences last fall of revolt from total Moscow domination—seem disappointed in Gomulka's speech. These elements, who played a big part in bringing Gomulka to power in October, dislike his all-out attack on revisionism, a Communist term meaning a shying away from the central political authority of Moscow.

They also dislike his demand that the workers' councils set up in factories since October be subjected to the supervision of the Communist - controlled trade unions. The councils were a device —similar to a system adopted in Tito's Yugoslavia — to give the worker a feeling of participation in management.

Gomulka denounced certain writers and editors as revisionists who endangered "socialist development." Such deviations, he said, tend to "disarm the workers."

CELLS SUPREME

On the subject of workers' councils, Gomulka served notice that party cells in factories must remain the leading political force "in organizing the struggle of the working class and intelligentsia for a higher technical level and better production." This imposition of party authority on the councils appears to reflect a fear that the councils might contain the germs of a political opposition.

WHEN A CAR decides to drive in to a cafe for service this is what happens. Stools were broken off and plate glass smashed along with other equipment as the car of N. J. Nixon of Toronto plowed into the cafe of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Wake and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Ruston at the junction of the Southern Trans-Provincial and Radium-Kingsgate highways. Mrs. Nixon noticed the unattended car rolling and in an attempt to stop it stepped on the accelerator instead of the brake. — Townman Photo.

Sobbing Cheer Breaks From Onlookers as 23-Hour Ordeal Ends

MANORVILLE, N. Y. (AP) — Seven-year-old Benjamin Hooper Jr. was taken alive Friday night from a 24-foot well where he had been entombed for 23½ hours.

Weak movements and the flicker of his blue eyes signalled the miraculous survival of the youngster, for whom hope had been all but abandoned hours earlier.

He tumbled into a newly-dug well in the backyard of his father's Long Island home at 7:30 p.m. Thursday night. It was 7:10 p.m. Friday night when rescurers heart breakingly fustrated through most of the day by landslides— finally broke through to his side from a rescue shaft.

In a few more minutes, Benny was taken from the dark, cramped well bottom by Sam, Woodson, a Negro rescue worker. Said Woodson, beside himself with joy:

"I was the happiest boy alive when I saw his blue eyes."

Dr. J. H. Kris, the attending physician, said at 10:30 p.m.: "The boy's condition is good. He is able to talk and asked for food. He has taken some food. Everything is on the up and up."

"His pulse is good — normal. He's warming up. His feet are still cold, but his temperature is getting back to normal."

The physician said: "He was frozen stiff when taken out— his jaw was clenched and we could not get it opened at first."

Benny, his color good and his eyes open, was taken by ambulance to a hospital at nearby Mastic Beach, N.Y.

There a doctor said he was conscious and "called for his mommy."

"He's doing all right," the physician added. "I think he'll be all right."

The boy was suffering somewhat from exposure. He was put in an oxygen tant for the night.

Dr. Joseph F. Kris put an oxygen mask over the boy's face as he was brought out. A reporter asked:

"Is he still alive?"

"Yes, thank God," the physician replied. Then, forgetful of everything else, Dr. Kris grabbed the reporter's hand and wrung it in elation.

FATHER COLLAPSED

Several hundred persons looked on at the climax to a feverish night and day of rescue efforts. From their throats came a horase half-shriek, half-sob of exultation as it dawned on them that Benny had survived.

"It's a miracle, it's a miracle," sobbed one unidentified bystander over and over again.

Benny's father, who had worked with rescuers until he collapsed, then came back to keep vigil beside the well, shouted almost incoherently:

"He's alive, he's alive."

Then the elder Hooper dashed wildly for his house to tell the news to Benny's mother, almost prostrate with grief and a growing hopelessness.

Just before the boy was brought out, a rescue worker had reached him and touched him. But when the man emerged from the well, he said:

"I believe he is dead."

HOPE GONE

The father had taken this news with a sober nod of the head. But almost before Hooper had felt the shock of it, a voice rang out from the rescue pit:

"The boy is opening his eyes."

The wonder of the rescue was enhanced by the almost utter lack of hope that had nagged rescuers as they toiled toward the trapped boy. Sand had drifted down on him and at one point not even the beseeching tip of an upward thrust hand was visible to rescue workers from the top of the well.

But strong suction pumps drew out some of the sand, and the hand became visible again.

Originally, rescuers had dug a parallel shaft 12 feet away from the well. Then they tried to cut across horizontally at a level with the lad's body.

But when landslides repeatedly blocked their progress, they considered abandoning the shaft and attacking the well directly, a manoeuvre of utter desperation that might well have cost the boy his life.

UNIQUE PIPE

At the last moment, however, they reverted to their original tactics, with the aid of an ingenious device furnished by the U.S. Atomic Energy Commission.

The nearby Brookhaven national laboratory sent four gamma ray shields, each about 4½ feet long These were scaled to fit neatly one inside the other. They could be expanded and contracted like an old-fashioned collapsible metal drinking cup.

One by one, in descending order of their size, the shields were forced through the sand from the bottom of the rescue shaft toward the well.

As the workers toiled, there was every indication that death had outpaced them.

There had been no sign of movement from the well bottom in hours. Benny lay wedged in almost total immobility in the damp pit, with only the thin rays of a flashlight from above as a beacon of hope against overwhelming terror.

DUG WITH HANDS

About 5:30 p.m. rescuers reported they were within three feet of the boy.

But now their working quarters were so cramped that shovels were useless. With bare hands, in relays, they scooped out the sand. Lack of oxygen forced them out of the pit at intervals.

Shortly before 7 p.m. they were only eight inches away from the boy.

Then suddenly they broke through.

From 2 a.m. on Friday, there was no sign of life from the bottom of the well. Hooper pleaded in vain for some response that would indicate his only son was still alive.

Dr. Kris fed oxygen through a tube to the bottom of the well for hours, determined to give the entombed lad every chance for survival. But even he grew despondent toward mid-afternoon and said:

"It's possible but very improbable that the boy is still alive."

Still there was no giving up.

Hooper, a 33-year-old highway department truck driver, had sunk the well to augment his water supply. About 7:30 p.m. Thursday, he detected signs that he was approaching water level.

He hurried toward his house to get a length of pipe.

Benny, trailed by a playmate from next door, Michael Malinaro, also 7, took after his father.

Thoughtlessly, Benny leaped across the mouth of the well. For an instant, he seemed to have made it as he teetered on the far rim of the pit. But then the loose sand on the well's lip gave way.

Distress Signal May Be From Sub

LONDON (AP) — A British naval vessel was ordered Friday night to proceed immediately across the North Sea to the position of a marker buoy possibly used as a distress signal by a stricken submarine.

A Danish ship, the Mary north, reported sighting the flashing buoy 110 miles northwest of the Dutch island of Terschelling. The captain said he presumed it has been released from a submarine.

British air ministry officials at first said they were "virtually satisfied" that the object, reported giving off flashing signals and emitting smoke, was a marker dropped by an ocean survey plane.

But later the officials said they were "no longer certain" of this explanation. Naval authorities ordered the fisheries protection vessel Bramble to head for the scene. The Bramble was expected to reach the area early this morning.

The Danish ship had reported it was standing by the buoy after hearing "knocking in the engine clarified further. room."

6500 Aluminum Workers Strike

ARVIDA, Que. (CP)—Approximately 6500 Aluminum Company of Canada workers went on strike Friday to back demands for a master contract to cover nine of the company's plants in Quebec province.

The master contract was given as the main reason for the strike by the National Metal Trades Federation (CCCL), although a wage increase and a shorter work week also form part of the workers' demands.

The strike followed a breakdown Thursday in negotiations which the union and the company have been carrying on for nine months in an effort to reach a new collective bargaining agreement.

Gov't Control Of Press Rejected

By WALTER DAVIS

LONDON (Reuters) — The government Friday night firmly rejected all proposals for government controls of the press to raise its standards.

The government also dismissed a proposal for subsidizing of newsprint by the state.

Both Conservatives and Laborites let loose a flood of opinions in the House of Commons on ways to cleanse Britain's national newspapers of pornography and crime stories.

But in the windup of the exuberant debate, Joint House Under-Secretary Jocelyn Simon, speaking for the government, said "even a surfeit of cheesecake is more palatable than a gag" on the press.

The House then agreed without a vote to a private motion urging the newspaper industry to make a "Vigorous effort" to maintain a high standard of conduct.

W. Kootenay Exhibition Plans Well Under Way

It's full speed ahead for this year's West Kootenay Exhibition.

Executive and committee heads were announced Friday and officials said organization of the popular district show is proceeding rapidly.

A good midway has been obtained and arrangements for an arena show are being completed.

Assembling of the annual prize list is also reported well under way.

35 Awarded Citizenship

By JACK VAN DUSEN

OTTAWA (CP) — "My hearing aid is broke," Vsevold Narkevich said shyly as he stood about 10 paces from Judge Gordon McDougall to give his oath of allegiance.

The little Ukrainian chemist's wife, Nina, looked worried as she awaited her turn with 34 other immigrants in the spacious Carleton County courtroom here to become Canadian citizens Friday — Citizenship Day.

His judician frown turning to a smile, Judge McDougall instructed a secretary to go to the side of the elderly chemist and speak into his ear the oath of allegiance so he could repeat it to the judge.

One by one, voices of some faltering with emotion and unfamiliarity with the tongue of their chosen land, the other immigrants stood before the judge to hear him state the oath and repeat it after him.

B of RT Joining CLC

By JOHN LeBLANC
Canadian Press StaffWriter

OTTAWA (CP) — The Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, Canada's biggest running trades union, has decided to give up its traditional independent status and join the Canadian Labor Congress.

Informants said Friday announcement of a BRT application to the congress likely will be made next Friday at Vancouver by W. P. Kennedy of Cleveland, international president of the brotherhood.

Union sources said a vote on the question of brotherhood affiliation with the 1,000,000 - member congress is still in progress but already a pro-CLC majority has been chalked up.

The vote was described as running about 10 to one for affiliation.

Once the BRT makes its application to the congress, it will be admitted promptly, probably at a meeting in early Augus of the CLC executive council. Preliminary discussions between brotherhood and congress officials, it was learned, have cleared the decks for this.

Kootenay Centres Plan Celebrations Monday

Traditional Empire Day celebrations are slated for several centres in the Kootenays providing district residents with a varied holiday program.

Queen crowning contests will be featured at most sport days. Communities that will celebrate Monday, provided the weatherman cooperates, include Ymir, South Slocan, Castlegar, New Denver, Kaslo, Fruitvale and Burton.

The May Queen pageant at Ymir will feature crowning of queen Lorraine Murray. A big sports program is arranged and free ice cream will be distributed to the youngsters. A dance at night will wind up the festivities.

Nettie McDougal will be crowned queen of South Slocan celebrations at Campbell Field, located at the junction of Slocan highway and No. 3. She will be crowned by retiring queen Donna Mae Trozzo. Selected on the basis of ticket sales, a two-way tie resulted Friday night between Miss McDougal and Catherine Catton, with Ann Brewster, third candidate "very close." Tie was broken by dropping three tickets for the two contestants in a hat and drawing out three, two of which were for Miss McDougal.

Monday program will include races, bicycle and doll contests, ball games, and firemen's ball. Kiltie band of Nelson will be in attendance.

A parade at 1 p.m. will open the IODE-sponsored May queen celebration at Castlegar. Included in the parade will be the high school band and a majorette display. Coronation of the queen will follow.

Kaslo's May Day celebration parade is to leave the Legion hall at 1 p.m. featuring Kaslo junior Citizens band and majorettes. The queen crowning will be at Vimy Park at 2 p.m. Midway, concessions, children's sports and baseball will be other afternoon and evening attractions and a dance will follow at night.

Monday at New Denver will take the form of a children's day. Community club's program includes children's sports, a four-team baseball tournament, parade, and queen crowning, bingo, merry-go-round and a dance at night.

Fruitvale's program will also be centred around children's activities with a few for adults at recreation park. Fruitvale Recreation and Projects Society, sponsors, have put up a trophy for annual competition for high aggregate in men's open track and field events. Pony League, Little League, and senior baseball games are also on tap, as well as the West Kootenay Wrestling Championships. Dance will complete the day.

Final preparations for Burton's big day will be made at a meeting tonight.

Stumping With The Party Leaders

BELLEVILLE, Ont. (CP) — Prime Minister St. Laurent suggested Friday that Premier Frost is backing John Diefenbaker because he hopes to get a better tax deal for Ontario if the national Progressive Conservative leader is voted into power June 10.

He challenged Mr. Diefenbaker to say just how he would accomplish this, arguing that there are only two ways in which it could be done—either by raising federal taxes to increase federal payments to all provinces or by giving Ontario a bigger share of the tax pot to the detriment of other provinces.

KIPLING, Sask. (CP) — John Diefenbaker moved into his home province of Saskatchewan Friday with a renewed attack on the government's agricultural policies and a reiteration of the Progressive Conservative platform plank of flexible farm price supports.

He said here that the present basic price for top grade wheat deliveries $1.40 a bushel, is equivalent to only 50 cents in terms of depression year purchasing power.

The farmer is receiving less and less in purchasing power as the years go on, the Progressive Conservative leader said.

OTTAWA (CP) — CCF leader M. J. Coldwell said Friday night radioactivity in the atmosphere from atomic and hydrogen bomb explosions is nearing the danger point.

He appealed to Prime Minister St. Laurent to initiate a movement among the world's smaller powers to put a stop to bomb tests by the United States, the United Kingdom and Russia. It was a matter for decision by the General Assembly of the United Nations.

Mr. Coldwell said scientists agree that when a certain level of radioactivity is reached human health both now and in the future will be seriously endangered.

"And we are nearing that level," he said.

FRENCH GOV'T FIGHTS FOR LIFE

PARIS (Reuters) — The fate of the longest-lived post-war French government hung in the balance this morning as members of the National Assembly sought a compromise on Premier Guy Mollet's austerity program.

The National Assembly adjourned for a third time for lobby consultations at 1:15 a.m., after a defiant speech by Mollet.

Earlier, the assembly's finance commission threw out almost all the Socialist-led government's proposals for increased taxes to save the franc and pay for the war against Algerian nationalist rebels.

Japan Students Riot Over H-Bomb Tests

TOKYO (Reuters)—More than 1,000 Japanese police, aided by armored cars and loudspeaker trucks, Friday broke up a crowd of 10,000 college students besieging the British embassy in a demonstration against Britain's H - bomb tests.

The students carried banners reading "God save our gracious world," "to be or not to be" and an effigy of Prime Minister Macmillan which was labelled "Macmillan down to hell." Other students, who did not seem to know what the demonstration was about carried banners reading "Go home Yankee" and "Return Okinawa to Japan."

Later, the Embassy received a delegation which was promptly evicted by police when one of the leaders was identified as a student who refused to leave the Embassy grounds Thursday.

The Japanese government Friday handed the foreign office in London a protest note on last Wednesday's explosion over the Pacific.

In London, a science writer for the London News Chronicle said Friday the radioactive cloud from the test is drifting toward the western American coast. He said the direct fall-out is "thinning out harmlessly over the Pacific."

Calls for Session To Halt Purge

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The president of the Hungarian National Council urged UN Secretary—General Dag Hammarskjold Friday to call an urgent session of the General Assembly to quell an alleged Soviet vengeance purge in Hungary. A member of the group's executive committee saw Hammarskjold to present a letter drawn up by the committee and its president, Bela Varga. The document said information from Hungary shows that more than 35,000 persons have been deported to Russia since the uprising last Nov. 4.

DOLLAR UNCHANGED

NEW YORK (CP) — The Canadian dollar was unchanged at a premium of 4⅝ per cent in terms of U.S. funds Friday. Pound sterling was 3-32 lower at $2.78⅞.

And in This Corner . . .

OTTAWA (CP) — Jack Lush of Toronto was remanded a week without plea today in magistrate's court.
The charge: Driving while impaired.
The arresting officer: Provincial Police Constable Harold Beer.

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Restaurateur Sam Bookbinder says an elderly man peddling shoelaces always has managed to be in front of his restaurant when he goes to work, just in time to get a daily dime. But Bookbinder never took the shoelaces.

The other day Sam handed him the dime as usual and the oldster said:

"I don't like to bring this up, sir, but the laces are now 15 cents."

MIDDLETOWN, Ohio (AP) — Five oil lanterns burned Wednesday night at a barricade on a heavily travelled street so all might read a warning.
The warning said:
"Danger: Gas main construction. No smoking, matches or open lights."
The night passed without anything happening, however.

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — An 81-year-old man Thursday asked that a traffic ticket he received for going the wrong way on a one-way street be cancelled.

"My eyesight is so poor I couldn't see the one-way sign," he said.

400 Applaud Talented Lewiston Musicians

About 400 Nelsonites Friday night heard the talent-filled high school orchestra and band from Lewiston, Idaho, present a program of classical, semi-classical and modern music.

The audience, enthusiastic during the entire bill, brought the 90 young musicians back in two encores at the end of the 2½-hour session. Two overtures, novelty tunes, modern music and marches interspersed by horn and drum solos and a majorette demonstration, filled the program.

The orchestra, highlighted by a smooth musical string section, filled the first hour. It played an overture, along with pieces such as "The Glowworm" by Linche and "Sleigh Ride" by Anderson. Only soloist was Chester Peterson, who took the spotlight with his saxaphone for "Valse Vanite" by Wiedoft.

The music of Grofe, Anderson and Gould was among the numbers heard in the second half played by the band section. A horn quartet — David Gusseck, Gene Lawrence, Janice Smith and Donald Walker—took the front of the stage to play "The Four Horsemen" while "Bugler's Holiday" was played by trumpeters Dick Hastings, Ted Meckstroth and Janet Barbor. Accompanist for this number was J. Tannahill.

A lesson in drumming technique was given in a demonstration by Mike McCann, Arvin Vawter, Jack VanSise and Ross Peterson. Solos were taken by Ross Peterson, who did "A Rudimental Review," which included all 26 drumming rudiments and Jack VanSise.

Vickie Barnett won the applause of the audience with a tricky display of baton twirling in a majorette demonstration.

Announcement of a $25 music scholarship, a gift from the Lewiston band, for the L. V. Rogers High School was made by Mr. Woods. The scholarship was to be awarded as principal G H. Lee and bandleader E. Baravalle "see fit."

In expressing thanks for the scholarship, Mr. Lee said "Nelson is pleased to have these young people with us. I think such a visit across the mythical line which is seen only on paper, does more for international relations than conferences by statesmen—who are neither so subtle nor so decorative."

A dance followed the concert.

Members of the band, billeted in Nelson homes, were to return to Lewiston this morning. The visit was sponsored by the band and orchestra of the Nelson High School. Proceeds will go towards paying of expenses for the Nelson band's trip to Kelowna last week.

SPARKS FROM CHIMNEY IGNITE SHINGLES

The fire department responded to a call at 12:05 p.m. Thursday to the home of John Junger of 1507 Vancouver Street.

No. 2 pumper and the chief's car answered the call, and the fire was extinguished with about $25 damage. Sparks from the chimney had ignited wood shingles.

Columbia Power Issue Covered by Ladner

Leon Ladner, Q.C., of Vancouver, traced the development of International Joint Commission for control of rivers to a Progressive Conservative-sponsored meeting in the Hume Friday night. Mr. Ladner addressed the meeting in support of Dr. C. H. Wright, Conservative candidate in the Kootenay West, who also addressed the gathering.

In 1906 the United States in a dispute with Mexico over use of waters from the Rio Grande declared that "every nation had complete jurisdiction over the waters in their own territory." By article 2 of the same agreement the U.S. reserved to itself the exclusive control and jurisdiction of waters rising within its boundaries and were hardly aware of the Columbia River system or the great importance it would someday have, he said.

Mr. Ladner outlined his study of the Columbia River power potential which he started about a year and a half ago. With this background, he suggested the policy to the Conservative party, which they adopted. He proposed lending money to the province to develop it in order to "get money at the cheapest possible interest rate in order to get the cheapest power."

"We are not going to force control and ownership on the province that properly owns it, it is up to the provincial government to decide what it is going to do," he said. "It is a resource properly belonging to the province," he said, and declared the prime minister or anyone else had the right to take it away from provincial control.

WOULD MEET SINCLAIR

Mr. Ladner mentioned both the Hon. James Sinclair, Hon. C. D. Howe and the prime minister's positions and said he was prepared "to meet Mr. Sinclair in the Kootenays to defend his position. He described how the international control had been taken from the commission and placed on governmental level between John Foster Dulles and Hon. Lestor Pearson in 1950 by Prime Minister St. Laurent and President Eisenhower.

Chairman of the meeting was G. B. Arnesen who introduced Mr. Ladner as a "member of a pioneer family who gave their name to a B.C. town and was a grandfather of 18 grandchildren."

Dr. Wright also addressed the meeting, declaring "the House of Commons should be a place where representatives of the people can deal with problems of the day." He said a Diefenbaker government would try to reverse the trend for centralization and "would restore the rights of parliament and with it the right of the people."

He said he would advocate a standing committee to study atomic power and "would give information to the people." Dr. Wright also advocated "the maximum development of the Columbia to the lasting benefit of the Kootenays."

Odds... and Ends

by M. D. B.

Was on a jaunt up the lake the other day. That North Shore drive is certainly charming and the road so smooth. Do you remember how it was in wartime? I imagine the bus drivers and mailmen won't easily forget the pot holes and crumbled roadbed of those days. But now that drive is just about as pleasant as any hereabouts.

* * *

The road just beyond the ferry approach is pretty badly mashed up at present though, as the bridge approaches are being built up. As I came back on the late bus and we were jouncing over humps and hollows toward the ferry someone said, "Is this another ferry?" She was addressing the bus driver, so I didn't inform her about the new bridge under construction, but I hope the bus driver did.

* * *

Orchards in blossom against the blue of the lake all but took your breath away. The lake is coming up and is edging close to some cabins around nine-mile. The green comes right down to the water's edge on the south shore in most places although there was a bit of beach showing at Bealby's point.

* * *

Frost apparently has killed a good deal of the broom at two places where it used to make a lovely showing on hillsides. I imagine it was the frost two years ago that caught everybody's roses and hit nurserymen so hard, that is responsible for the sorry appearance of these once lovely bushes.

* * *

Caught a glimpse of some pink flowering trees at Blaylock's as we buzzed by and Mr. Chanter's garden is as lovely if not lovelier than usual. The natural beauty and secluded look of Hewitt Ferguson's garden is not to be overlooked and the Owens' rockery is a joy to the eyes.

* * *

There is a place on the lake side of the road — someone said it is Youngs' place—that I nearly break my neck trying to see, but always we are past it before I get a chance to really take it all in. It has some delightful rock work around it, a flagstone terrace and pool. It looks like something out of one of those homes and gardens magazines. My description of it here does not nearly do it justice, but some day, so help me, I am going to stop and have a real good look.

LUMBER YARD RUBBISH FIRE EXTINGUISHED

TRAIL — Considerable excitement but little damage was caused Friday night when a blaze broke out in a pile of sawdust, rubbish, and scrap lumber at the back of the Merry Lumber Company yard in nearby Glenmerry. The Trail fire department was called out at 7:15 p.m., and had the fire under control well before it reached the mill.

Flames and smoke were visible from downtown Trail.

LONDON (AP) — A British clothing manufacturer is doing his bit to combat payroll holdups. He has designed a waistcoat for messengers with concealed pockets that can hold 4000 one-pound notes without, he says, making bulges.

$385,000 Anglican Diocesan Drive Under Way; $232,000 Pledged

"This diocese is on the march. Who said the day of miracles has passed?" Right Rev. Philip R. Beattie, Bishop of Kootenay, told laity and clergy of the Anglican Church of Canada, Kootenay Diocese, Friday night.

Occasion was a "Loyalty Dinner" at St. Saviour's Memorial Hall here to launch the diocese's "Forward Fund Canvass," a three-week drive which aims to collect $385,000 over three years. Already eight parishes have pledged $232,500, and 20 more parishes are to be visited. St. Saviour's has pledged $50,000, and other parishes have pledged upwards of about $5000.

The drive is aimed to "make the Diocese one of the pillars of the church, not a beggar on the steps of the church," in the words of Canon A. R. Eagles of Penticton, rural dean of South Okanagan.

Canon Eagles reminded the more than 100 men who came from all parts of the diocese, extending from Princeton to the Alberta border, they were "builders," and "history is a record builder, either good or shoddy."

He traced the church's history in B.C., mentioning some of the outstanding contributions made and challenged the gathering: "Today, we here may make a substantial contribution," and reminded them, "we are only a part of a great picture," referring to the church's world-wide work.

J. S. Gilbert of Vernon thought the men had come to Nelson, many at great inconvenience and expense, because "we have the interests of our own church at heart." However, he thought it is possible to "do absolutely nothing to forward those interests" without knowing the needs.

"We are the church," he said, pointing out that problems, opportunities, and responsibilities of one church belong to all diocese churches. "We must learn to give," he stated, saying Christianity was based on giving. "God has always been giving to man."

In past, Mr. Gilbert said, the Kootenay Diocese has derived funds from the rest of the Church. "The time has come for this Diocese to stand with its hand still outstretched but giving," he challenged.

HELP SMALL PARISHES

The fund is designed to help small parishes meet their expenses, establish new churches in the areas where "tremendous industrial development is going to take place," help clergy with transportation and cars, and contribute towards Anglican Theological College, attached to the University of British Columbia, which trains Anglican ministers.

Although he conceded the drive is "a big task, a real challenge," Mr. Gilbert thought that, with co-operation from all, "It can be done. It will be done."

"We're all in this together, or we're all out together," said Rev. C. E. Reeve of Vernon, rural dean of North Okanagan. He thought it was wrong to separate things done on Sunday from things done any other day, since "these things are tied together." In a sense, Mr. Reeve thought, the drive might be called a continuation of the book of the Acts of the Apostles.

Douglas Southworth of Trail said there was a need to "challenge people," and the episcopacy, which refers to church government, is "essential to a perfect church." He cautioned against giving only "lip service" to the church, saying, "we all know the disaster of neglect."

NEED FOR PRAYER

The "day is over" when clergy should have to solicit funds themselves, Rev. E. H. Patterson of Trail said. He stressed the need for prayer and discussion before making gifts to the church, advising Anglicans to "kneel down, face God, stand up, face the world."

"Money is the energy of man," said the minister, who came to Trail last October. "The selfishness of man insulates him from the needs of other people."

"God forbid that we should go out just to get money," he cautioned, pointing out the impossibility of separating giving from worshipping and living, and of judging the generosity of your gifts against those given by others. "If you call yourself a Christian, if you are a Christian steward, then your partner is God."

Mechanics of the drive were described by James Brydon of Trail, general chairman, executive canvass committee, who chaired the dinner meeting. A preliminry survey was made of all parishes, and a paid counsellor is now visiting them to help establish "potentials." In addition to raising funds, Mr. Brydon thought the drive could bring a "great spiritual awakening."

Bishop Beattie reminded the gathering of the charge given by Jesus to Simon, "feed my sheep."

Goodwill messages were read from Venerable Archdeacon B. A. Resker of Castlegar, en route across Canada on his way to England; Venerable D. C. Catchpole of Kelowna, who was unable to attend the meeting because of other duties, and Most Rev. W. L. Wright, Archdeacon of Algoma, Ontario. Dinner was served by the women of St. Saviour's. Rev. Canon G. W. Lang of St. Saviour's offered grace.

Negotiations Continuing for Jubilee Show

Difficulty of booking an outside show is holding up the Jubilee Week program, Arthur Foster, program chairman of the Diamond Jubilee and Centennial Celebrations Committee, told E. T. Bodard, chairman of the Mid-Summer Bonspiel Committee, Friday.

Mr. Bodard said this delay is holding up work to be done by his committee. He also asked when financial arrangements would be known, so his committee can start on prizes. Tentative budgets have been submitted by committee chairman, and finance chairman T. C. Lambert hopes to have an overall budget real soon.

Booking of a pantomine circus had to be cancelled, because the agent found the show would not be available for the celebrations. Negotiations are now being carried on to obtain another act.

Honorary secretary E. J. Leveque said the Vancouver Symphony Orchastra has enquired about including Nelson on a province tour itinerary next year.

William Cliffe Passes at 78

A Kootenay resident since before the turn of the century, William Cliffe, 78, died Friday at his Ymir home.

Mr. Cliffe was born in Windsor, Ontario, and educated in Brandon, Manitoba. With his parents, he came to Sandon in 1894 over the Narrow Gate Railway. His father was publisher of the first Sandon newspaper.

An ardent hockey, football, and lacrosse player, Mr. Cliffe was a mill operator in the Molly Gibson, Bluebell, Payne, Greenwood, Lucky Jim, and Whitwater mines. He retired in 1946, moving to Ymir.

Surviving are his wife, the former Josephine Bennett, whom he married in 1915 at Spokane; and two step-brothers, Herbert of Sault Ste. Marie, Ontario, and Osborne of Winnetka, Illinois.

Herridge Continues Campaign

H. W. Herridge MP, has visited the Kalso-Slocan area and Creston-Riondel area in his current campaign tour. He will be in Nelson this weekend and attend the Fruitvale Sports Day on Monday. He will be addressing meetings in Procter Saturday, Salmo Tuesday, Willow Point Wednesday, and South Slocan Friday.

CCF Committee Rooms are now open in Suite 3, second floor, Royal Hotel.

Hall To Be Opened at Youth Festival Today

GRAND FORKS — Official opening of the new church hall of the Union of Spiritual Communities of Christ (orthodox Doukhobors) takes place here this morning.

This will be a highlight of the three-day annual youth festival, which will bring thousands to Grand Forks.

The opening ceremony will be followed by a Russian banquet, and choirs and theatrical groups from the Kootenay-Boundary will perform during the afternoon and Sunday. There will be a display of arts and handicrafts such as paintings, wood carvings, shawl and flower making throughout the festival.

The hall is in the final stages of completion. It is a meeting place and banquet room.

Lees Elected To Rossland Council

ROSSLAND (CP) — Only 12 per cent of the eligible voters turned out Thursday to elect Arthur J. Lees to city council to finish the unexpired term of James C. Meak, who has retired.

Lees polled 124 votes compared with 62 for his only opponent, William S. Aiken. One ballot was spoiled. Only 187 Rossland residents of 1549 eligible exercised their franchise.

Ball Games To Be 'Denver Feature

NEW DENVER — New Denver's Victoria Day celebrations Monday will give ball fans in the district some exciting action.

Promptly at 9 a.m., the New Denver Kinsmen Little Leaguers will play the Silverton Little League squad. The two teams have been evenly matched in regular league play.

During the remainder of the day, four top teams will battle for prize money. The crowd-pleasing Nelson Outlaws, the hard-playing Nakusp club, the Fruitvale Junior A's and the local favorites, who have yet to meet defeat on a Victoria Day field, New Denver-Silverton, are the teams entered.

The New Denver-Silverton pitching staff will be strengthened by the return of Tom Pearson, who last year pitched a no-hit, no-run ball game against Nakusp.

Cranbrook Doubles Grant To Library

CRANBROOK—City Council, after hearing an outline of the Cranbrook Public Library basis of appeal for doubling of its annual grant this year to $1000, has approved the request and the amount will be turned over to the Library Association. Library Commission treasurer W. L. Irvine, and East Kootenay Public Library regional librarian Howard Overend put the appeal before the Council.

Trail Chamber to Send Delegation

TRAIL (CP) — The Trail chamber of commerce is not satisfied with a letter from highways minister Gaglardi expressing regret at delay on the proposed Rossland-Sheep Lake road. The chamber, after hearing Mr. Gaglardi's letter Thursday, decided to send a delegation to visit either Mr Gaglardi or premier Bennet.

Socreds Launch Campaign in Kootenay East

INVERMERE—Kick off in the Social Credit campaign in the Windermere district came Thursday night at Edgewater with R. O. Newton, MLA, for Columbia, speaking in support of James Chabot, Social Credit candidate for Kootenay East.

Referirng to a speech of James Byrnes, Liberal candidate, in Invermere May 10 when Mr. Byrne said that B. C. received 82 million dollars more from the federal government in 1956 than the province gave in revenue, Mr. Newton said: "This is inaccurate."

He quoted Hansard April 9 in reply to a qnestion of Tom Goode, M.P., concerning the amount of money spent in B.C. during the last fiscal year, showing that the federal government collected $110 million more than it spent in B. C. last year.

Mr. Newton said that the C.C.F. party with its platform of "complete nationalization" is "fading away." It was evident that that was not what the people wanted because the C.C.F. was losing more seats in each election he said.

Mr. Chabot in his first speech stressed the Social Credit policy on old age pensions and slated the failure of the Liberal government to look after the pioneers of the country. He criticized the present policy of allowing only one trucking franchise through Kootenay Park Banff-Windermere Highway and reminded his audience of the 1951 promise of Robert Winters that there would be open trucking through the park.

UBC PROFESSOR TO STUDY TRAIL OVERCROWDING

TRAIL (CP) — H. Peter Overlander, associate professor of planning at UBC, will be engaged by the city of Trail to study overcrowding in West Trail and recommend a remedy.

He also will be asked to make recomendations on the future town planning of all vacant land within the city limits.

These steps were assured Thursday after an extensive tour of the city by the professor with members of council, the town planning commission and representatives of Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation and the CPR.

Prof. Overlander will submit his recommendations to city council together with an estimate of costs. City fathers indicated they likely would implement any ideas proposed by the UBC professor.

Missing RCAF Plane Sighted From Air

HALIFAX (CP)—The RCAF announced Friday the missing plane that carried a New Brunswick cabinet minister and two other men to their deaths last January has been found.

The air force said wreckage was sighted from the air Thursday night. A spokesman said the bodies of Municipal Affairs Minister T. Babbitt Parlee, Howard Smith and pilot L. C. Russell, all of Moncton, N.B., were in the wreckage.

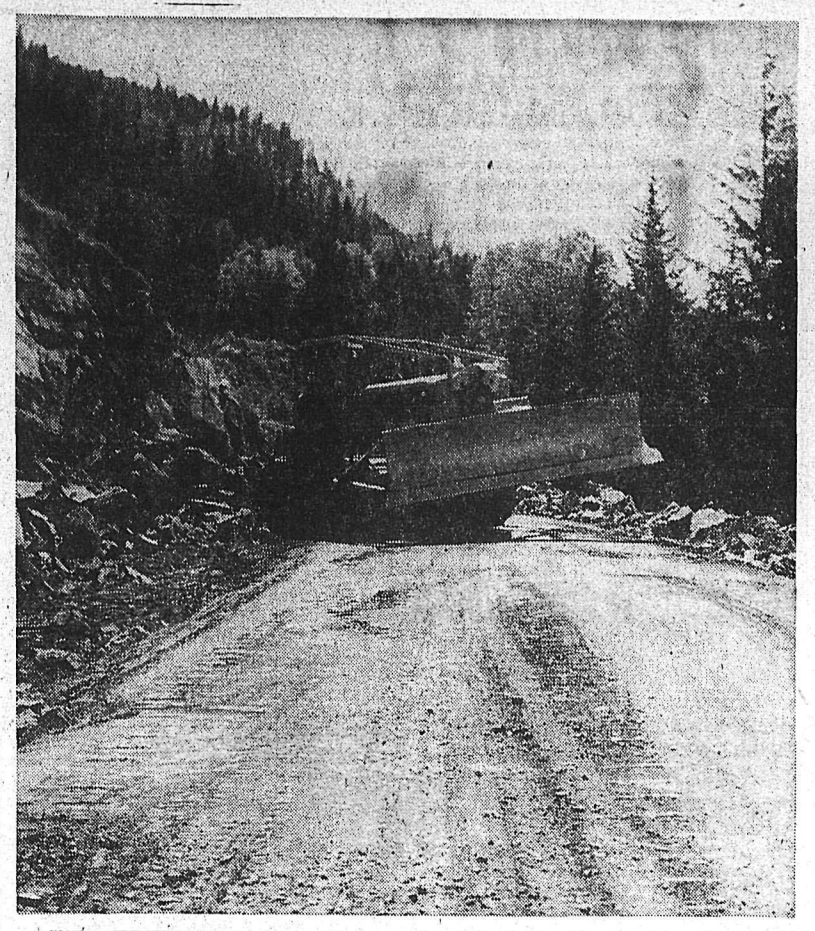
The wreck was found about 14 miles west of Harcourt, N.B., in a heavily wooded district.

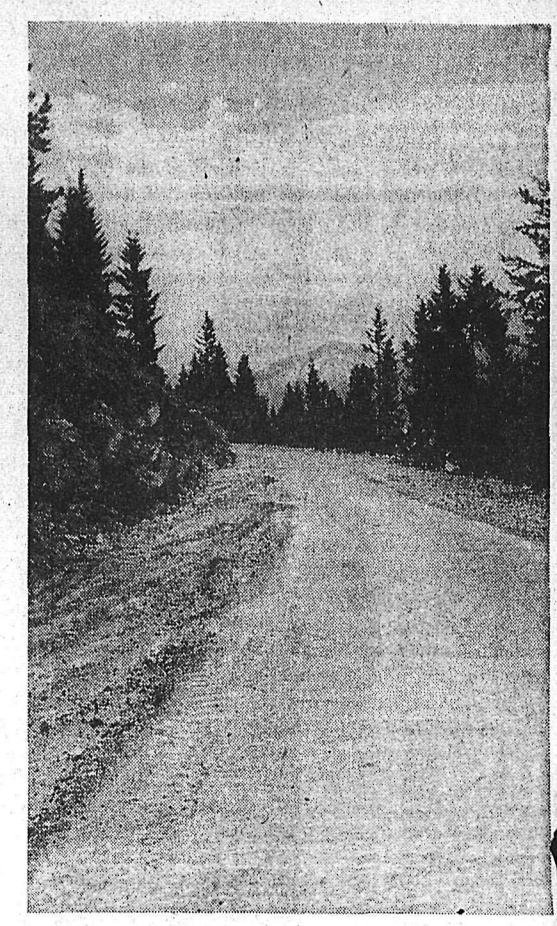
BLOOD DONOR CLINIC IN CRANBROOK NEXT WEEK

CRANBROOK—The semi-annual visit of the mobile blood clinic of the Red Cross has been set for Thursday afternoon and evening at the United Church. New volunteers are especially being sought this year.

One Cranbrook donor is scheduled to receive a scroll at the clinic marking his 22nd blood donation. He is V. E. Gummer of Mount Baker School staff who started his blood contributions in 1943 when he enlisted in the Canadian Army and has contributed regularly at headquarters or mobile clinics ever since then.

The two mobile clinics here in 1956 totalled slightly more than 600 bottles of blood for processing and distribution for routine hospital emergency needs in the Southern Alberta Division which also include East Kootenay.





VAST IMPROVEMENT has been made to a portion of the Southern Transprovincial Highway along the east shore of Kootenay Lake between Gray Creek and La France. Department of highways crews have carved into narrow rocky strip to widen and straighten the road. Strip where a Greyhound bus plunged off highway in icy weather has been doubled in width. A landmark of the area, the famous "Rock Cut" through which construction gangs in 1929 and 1930 hacked new highway has been eliminated. George Oliver of Gray Creek has the distinction of having worked on both jobs. Picture at right shows to what extent widening has taken place at both sides of blacktop. —Daily News photos.

Much of Canada's Fibre Owed To Presbyterian Church, Speaker Says

KINNAIRD — The Presbyterian Church in Kinnaird was dedicated to the glory of God by the Presbytery of Kootenay of the Presbyterian Church in Canada meeting here for a two-day session.

The congregation participated in the service responsively as the Moderator, Rev. R. M. Pollock of Creston, intoned the liturgy of dedication. The sermon was preached by Rev. G. A. Johnston, of Cranbrook, who said:

"Often our great heritage is forgotten in times of discouragement, but if we look back to the fathers of our Church with faith in Jesus Christ, we need not be fearful."

Mr. Johnston gave an historical outline of the history of the Presbyterian Church in Canada, and factors that have often beset its growth. He pointed out that though many times set back, the Church has always strengthened and continues to give its witness to the people.

"Much of the fibre and the nature of this country is owed to the Presbyterian Church," said Mr. Johnston. "A nation is what it believes. What do we believe? That God is sovereign in all men's lives whether or not they think so. God is sovereign in all his creation, and man's chief end is to glorify God. God is revealed to us in Jesus Christ, and in this His claim is the prior claim on man. Secondly we believe in recognizing that sin is deep seated and disastrous and that only in Christ is there hope for us. Thirdly, we believe that Salvation is the free gift of God by His Grace, and that alone and not our works. God's love is constant, and not capricious and is free to all men in Christ. A nation and a people with these things for their creed are peoples with a conscience and a true sense of right and wrong. This Church is dedicated tonight with this in mind, and is raised as a witness to this community."

The congregation joined in singing Psalm 27, "We Love the Place O God," and "The Church's One Foundation Is Jesus Christ Her Lord." The choir from the First Church in Trail led the music and rendered "The Lord's My Shepherd" (Crimmond) as the anthem with descant sung by Miss Mary Ferguson. Mrs. MacIntosh sang the solo "How Lovely Are Thy Dwellings." Mrs. J. M. Young led the choir. The Moderator conducted the service. L. Jackson read the Lessons, and D. A. McKellar voiced the prayers.

The Presbytery met the next day for further session where extended evangelism in the Kootenays was thoroughly discussed for future planning. The next meeting will be in Creston on May 31 in St. Stephen's Church for the purpose of inducting Mr. Pollock as the called minister of the congregation.

Besides the Moderator and Clerk Rev. J. N. Allan of Nelson, those in attendance were Mr. Johnston, Rev. E. McKinlay of Kimberley and Rev. J. M. Young of Trail.

Elders in attendance were J. M. Boyd of Creston, W. Thompson of Nelson, J Waldie of Castlegar, J. M. Macbeth of Kinnaird and A. Murray of Trail. The catechist for the Slocan Valley, Mr. McKellar, and the student minister for Kinnaird, Mr. Jackson, were also in attendance.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States government Thursday paid off more than $1,000,000,000 of the national debt. It now stands at just under $272,500,000,000, or about $1,593 for every man, woman and child in the country. This is the lowest point since April, 1954.

10 Firms Submit Bids For Cutoff Contract

Ten bids have been received by the department of highways at Victoria for first construction at the west end of the Salmo-Creston cutoff.

Call for tenders issued at the beginning of May and opened Thursday in Victoria was for construction of 4.11 miles at the Salmo end. No contract has been awarded as yet, however.

P. F. Law and Company, which is at present working on the east end, submitted the low bid in the amount of $372,629.

Other bidders were as follows:

Jamieson Construction Co Ltd. $443,443; Hassel Bros. Ltd. $496,000; Peter Kiewit and Sons, Vancouver $406,071; Pooley Bros. Ltd. $421,243; The R and L Construction Co. Ltd. $511,031; Mannix Ltd. $411,002; Premier Construction Co. Ltd. $432,328; Interior Contracting Co. Ltd. (Penticton) $375,626; and Fame Brick Construction Co. $418,909.

"Mac" Ferguson Rites Today In Alberta

PROCTER — Although not a resident, a frequent visitor to Procter during the last five years, John MacMillan (Mac) Ferguson died this week in Kootenay Lake General Hospital. He spent the past two summers here as the guest of Mr. and Mrs. C Ferguson, and had arrived this Spring when he was stricken with a heart attack. He spent the past month in the hospital in Nelson.

Mr. Ferguson was born at Battersea, Ont., in 1891 but lived most of his life in Southern Alberta. He farmed near Carstairs until his retirement in 1952. As a boy he remembered Rev. T. J. S. Ferguson of Nelson (no relation) ministering at Carstairs and Didsbury. He marked his 66th birthday on May 8 in the hospital complete with cake, flowers and gifts.

Mr. Ferguson was a bachelor. He leaves four sisters, Mrs Emma Robinson, Miss Mabel Fenton, Mrs. Harvey McCool and Mrs. T. McVvor, all of Calgary; three brothers, Elmer of Carstairs, Charles F. of Procter, and Angus J. (Jack) of Vancouver and a number of nieces and nephews.

Mr. Ferguson made many friends in Procter while visiting his brothers Charles and Jack who then operated Ferguson Bros. store. He was an ardent fisherman and scarcely a day passed when he was not out in a boat or fishing at the Narrows. He caught many fish in the five to eight pound class, but never realized his dream of getting "one of the big ones."

He was a member of the United Church in Carstairs where burial will take place today. His brother and family have left to attend the funeral.

Captain James Cook sailed all around the Antarctic continent in 1772-74, inspiring many future expeditions.

Empire Day Honors Faith and Courage

That great Victorian poet, Lord Tennyson, who showed so much prevision in many things, accurately described the growth of the British Empire when he spoke of "freedom broadening down from precedent to precedent".

The old Empire has gone, and in its place we have the Commonwealth, and an exact description of the Commonwealth is impossible to make. At the best it seems to be a strong but intangible bond between the independent nations of the old Empire whose ways all seem to lead in the same direction.

The old Empire with all its faults and its many glories has gone, and it seems pointless to celebrate Empire Day until one remembers that the Empire was but a steppingstone to greater things, and that it was the faith and courage of our fathers which brought us the things we cherish, freedom and justice.

So on this holiday we should at least spare a passing thought to the glories that have been and remember that we too must contribute to progress by preserving the things they gave us by our own faith and courage in our great destiny within the Commonwealth.

More Pressing Matters Need Attention

The assiduity with which Cabinet ministers court our favor by referring to what they will do to help us with our power projects in the future is very flattering. It gives us a sense of importance when they say that the development of the Columbia will rank with the St. Lawrence Seaway in importance.

But all that glory is yet to come. It will possibly be ten years before any dams are built on the Columbia, and in the meantime there are other things less spectacular which need the attention of the politicians.

Our forest products are not moving as they should. It may be that this is because of the Federal government's tight money policy, but there is far too much unemployment in the industry, caused by a reduction of home building.

As the recent royal commission demonstrated, fruit growing, which is an important part of our provincial economy, is not in a good condition. The return to the growers has been so far below normal as almost to qualify it as a distressed industry. Often fruit and vegetables from the United States are sold at prices with which our growers cannot possibly compete. Some tariff revisions may be necessary for our growers to enjoy an equitable profit. These are matters of immediate concern

Rhodesia Removes Import Restrictions

The substantial sales to the United States and Canada of copper, chrome and other base metals produced in the Federation of Rhodesia and Nyasaland have led to removal of a great many of the former restrictions on dollar imports. Canadian exporters now have free access to this market for most products they want to sell, according to a report written for "Foreign Trade" by W. J. Millyard, Canada's trade commissioner in Salisbury.

To visualize the market potential of the Federation, the Canadian exporter should keep in mind that the approximately 300,000 Europeans in the area have a standard of life comparable to that of Canada. In the background is an African population of 7,000,000, rapidly emerging into a Western way of life, with an expanding purchasing power. In general the Europeans control the principal industries of the country, and hence the market for capital goods lies with them. The big market for consumer goods, simple though they may be, lies with the Africans. However, import restrictions remain on a number of products, particularly consumer goods such as clothing, textiles and electrical appliances.

The mines, the textile industry, construction, electrification and road-building are all forging ahead, offering opportunities for a diversity of supplies. There is plenty of competition in this market and selling by long range is virtually hopeless. The exporter should sell through the first-class agency firms located in Salisbury, in Bulawayo, Northern Rhodesia, and in Nyasaland.

It's Been Said

Fashion is only the attempt to realize art in living forms and social intercourse.—Oliver Wendell Holmes, American poet and author.

New Opportunity

Britain, says Rt. Hon. R. A. Butler, home secretary, "intends to be a nuclear power." He meant it in dual sense that Britain aims to make herself as secure as nuclear armament will permit, and at the same time use the harnessed atom to rejuvenate her economy.

She has excellent prospects of success in each, and especially in the field of nuclear development for commercial purposes. Britain reached the heights by knowing how to make the most of her opportunities. The first great chance came when it learned there was a new world to win. Atomic energy's as yet unmeasured possibilities offer another.

Up to the time Columbus discovered America it seemed to be Britain's lot to continue as a small insular state. Then the prospect opened that opportunities unlimited awaited even a small nation that could sail the seas and claim what was beyond. She had the seamen, and the materials for ships worthy of them. Her first ventures upon the seas had more of piracy than exploration in them, but from that rude beginning came the march of empire that went around the world.

Lately events have reduced her physical holdings largely to the original islands, but again a new horizon opens. Let no one discount her competence to make the most of this renewal of opportunity, whatever the competition. John Bull is an expert at fighting back.—Windsor Star.

99.83 Mill Rate

Regina ratepayers were profoundly shocked the other day to learn the city commissioner had presented to city council the 1957 estimates which would call for an over all mill rate of 99.68 mills.

Many felt the present rate of 89 mills to be high enough but the proposed rate would mean an increase of 25 per cent on general city rates. — Regina Leader-Post.

Voting For "Old Line" Said "Great Injustice"

To the Editor:

Sir—Would you accept this as a reply to your editorial in this paper dated May 15, 1957?

To follow your proposal and vote only Liberal or Conservative at the next election would be to do the Canadian people a great injustice.

Now that the four main election platforms have been announced, it is obvious that the policies of the two "old line" parties are truly "old line", for they do not embody the requirements of a government prepared to meet willingly the social necessities of today. Anything that isn't done willingly isn't well done.

The lack of action by these two parties in spite of the obvious necessity of these requirements brought about the formation of the CCF party in the '30s: If the CCF is a splinter group of Liberals, then they are a splinter that flew a long, long way off. Liberal opportunists do not admit this relationship, but rather lay claim to it as a means of gaining respect.

The unhappy condition that existed in this province's politics a few years ago should be a lesson to us from coast to coast. The Conservatives and Liberals at that time showed a willingness and natural capability to coalesce when neither was able to muster sufficient support from the people. Such ethics, I believe, bothered the conscience of some of their own members who were trying to be true public servants.

Should we forget this lesson so soon?

If we must revert to a two-party system, then I strongly advise that we elect the party that puts the people's requirements first, and the natural outcome of that will be good business.

R. H. CUNNINGHAM.
Crescent Valley, B. C.

Sales to "Third Countries" Rise

The total volume of Canadian exports to markets other than the United States and the United Kingdom has nearly doubled since prewar and Canada now supplies a larger proportion of total imports of these countries than in former years. This statement, part of an analysis of Canada's exports to the so-called Third Countries, appears in the current issue of "Foreign Trade", the Department of Trade and Commerce fortnightly magazine.

Comparing the seven largest of these markets in 1937-38 with 1954-55, Japan has moved up from second to first place, Germany from fourth to second, and Belgium from fifth to third. Increased shipments of grains are largely responsible for the higher rank attained by these countries. Norway moved up from eighth position to fifth and the Netherlands remains in sixth place.

In contrast, Australia has dropped from first to fourth place and New Zealand from third to 15th. The current dollar values of our exports to Australia and New Zealand have increased, but the volume has declined and the share of total Canadian exports accounted for by these countries has been cut by two-thirds.

Europe, traditionally our largest market outside of the United States and the United Kingdom, holds first place in both periods. There have, however, been significant shifts in the relative importance of other areas. Because of the declining relative importance of Australia and New Zealand, Oceania has dropped from second to fifth place and increased exports to Japan and India have brought Asia up from third to second place.

The volume of exports in the major commodity classifications has increased in each case; foods have more than tripled, industrial materials have increased by about 50 per cent, but highly manufactured products rose only 2 per cent. Foods now account for 55 per cent of our total exports to Third Countries compared with 34 per cent prewar.

Watch Your Language

ACQUIT (a-KWIT): Verb transitive—To discharge, as a debt; to pay off; to set free or discharge (from an accusation, obligation or burden); to pronounce not guilty; to exonerate; absolve; to conduct oneself, as, the soldier acquitted himself well. Origin: From Old French from Latin—Quietare, to appease.

Report Three More Deaths From Polio

OTTAWA (CP) — Three more deaths from polio have been reported so far this year than there were in the corresponding period last year.

The health department said Friday seven deaths were reported up to May 11, compared with four to that date in 1956. However, the number of polio cases reported declined to 33 from 52.

Deaths this year were one each in Nova Scotia, Quebec, and Alberta and four in British Columbia. The report makes no effort to relate reported cases to the Salk immunization program.

London Talks Look Hopeful To Stassen

WASHINGTON (AP) — Harold Stassen, returning from London, said Friday Russia and the Western powers are seriously trying to negotiate a "partial" disarmament agreement providing for a cut in arms, manpower and defence costs and for an inspection system.

Stassen made clear that the "first step" goal in the United Nations talks is more than creating a test zone in which there would be international aerial inspection of Soviet and Western territories.

Stassen's consultations here are expected to produce important new decisions on United States policy for negotiating with the Russians.

The London talks were suspended Thursday until May 27. They involve the U.S. Britain, Russia, Canada and France.

Mrs. Martyn President Of Hume School PTA

Mrs. M. A. Martyn was elected president of Hume School Parent-Teacher Association Wednesday night. The election of officers for next year was the main item of business at the final monthly meeting held in the school's activity room.

Other officers elected were: J. M. Morley, honorary vice-president; Mrs. J. S. McIntosh, vice-president and publicity; Mrs W. Cushner, treasurer; Mrs. A. L. Fermin, secretary; Mrs. W. Brock, Mrs. W. L. Carter and Mrs. Paul Berekoff, ways and means; Mrs. B. D. Balderston and Mrs. R. H. Procter, social; Mrs. G A. Clark, membership and magazines; Mrs. K. D. McRae and Mrs. G. L. Webb, program; Mrs. W. W. Wait, health; Mrs. E. B. McLean, sunshine; Mrs. E. Irwin, pianist.

A vote of thanks was given the outgoing executive which has been headed by Mrs C. H. Jones.

Winning the attendance award for the seventh consecutive time brought Miss Irene Albrecht's grade 2 room a $5 gift from the organization. Last year Mrs. Della Irwin's grade 3 room received a similar reward.

The program was of special interest to parents of children entering school next fall, and of those whose sons or daughters will be leaving Hume school for Junior High School. Miss Agnes Jerome, grade 1 teacher, directed her talk to the former, and B. B. Crawford, Junior High School principal, was concerned with the latter.

"With some children there is a real problem of adjustment between grade 6 and grade 7," Mr. Crawford said. He mentioned that the counsellor service at the school helps to bridge the gap between the school systems.

After distributing papers containing information about the Junior High School, Mr. Crawford explained several items in detail. He itemized the fees to be paid and the equipment needed. He also mentioned the lost and found service.

In order to familiarize students with the Junior High School, they will visit the school at the end of June, he said. He also mentioned that school will begin next fall on September 5 for present district students.

Miss Jerome explained the things which mothers can do to help next year's grade 1 students She said that each child should be able to print his name with a capital first and small letters after, count and recognize numbers to 10, cut out pictures and color pictures.

READ TO CHILDREN

Parents can read to children to enlarge their vocabularies, and they can check baby talk and lisping, she said.

"Children must be taught to realize their place in the universe," she said. Grade 1 pupils usually think they are the most important people in the world and are hesitant to accept the teacher's authority, she explained.

"All children do not progress at the same rate of speed," she told her listeners. "Don't blame the slow child." She concluded by saying that I.Q. tests will be given in une to facilitate matters when the children begin school in the fall.

The evening concluded after Miss Constance Smith returned to members the ashtrays and dishes which they modelled at the previous meeting. The finishing stages had been done by Miss Smith.

Couple Married Here To Make Home In Calgary

Sheila Valerie Middleton of Calgary and John Walter Bachynski, son of Mrs. P. Wirstiuk and the late Mr. M. Bachynski, were principals in a nuptial ceremony performed in Cathedral of Mary Immaculate by Rev. Father Monaghan.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, was charming in a gown of white net and chantilly lace over satin. The dress was styled with lily-point sleeves and the bodice was trimmed with irridescent sequins and pearls. The headdress, similarly trimmed, held a fingertip veil of illusion net. Her jewelry consisted of a pearl necklace and earrings, gifts from the groom. Lily of the valley and iris mingled in the bridal bouquet.

The bride was attended by her sister, Mrs. D. A. MacDonald as matron of honor, Miss Helen Murray and Miss Joanne Eddie as bridesmaids, and by her niece, Miss Elaine MacDonald, as flower girl. Sheath dresses of crystal charm with cummerbunds continuing into floating panels at the back of matching chiffon, were worn by the senior attendants, Mrs. MacDonald's dress being beige and the bridesmaids' dresses turquoise. Their hats were of the same materials. The flower girl's dress was in the same material in turquoise. The flowers of the members of the bride's entourage were bronze snapdragons, yellow tulips, and narcissus

Mr. Frank A. Bachynski was best man, and Mr. Joe M. Bachynski and Mr. Stan W. Bachynski ushered.

Hymns were sung by the High School Girls' Choir as the wedding music.

The bride's mother wore a pale blue and grey striped dress with white accessories and a corsage of purple and white hyacinths. The groom's mother was in navy blue lace, with white accessories and a corsage of pink carnations.

The wedding breakfast was held at the home of the groom's parents, and the reception took place in the evening in the Cathedral Hall, with about 250 guests attending. Father Monaghan proposed the toast to the bride, and the best man gave the toast to the bridesmaids.

After a honeymoon in Spokane, Mr. and Mrs. Bachynski will take up residence at 2429 30th Avenue, S. W., Calgary.

For going away, the bride wore a light blue suit with brown accessories and an orchid corsage.

NEW DENVER—L. D. Irwin of Normetal, Que., was the guest of his brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Irwin. He left for Qualicum Beach, to visit his father, J. J. Irwin.

Our Father's Business

There is an old legend that every time a sinner is converted, the angels of heaven enter his name in the margin of a large Bible, opposite the Bible passage which brought him to faith. If that legend were true, how many of the redeemed of all ages would have their names inscribed opposite John 3, verse 16: "For God so loved the world that He gave His only-begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in Him should not perish, but have everlasting life."

John 3, 16 is God's love letter addressed to every member of the human race And it was delivered by none other than Jesus Christ Himself. Nowhere else in all literature has the entire plan of God for the salvation of the human race been so beautifully and so briefly stated.

God loved the world so much — in spite of its sin and wickedness— "that He gave His only-begotten." Get that ! Christ is speaking, and He calls Himself God's "only-begotten Son." There was none other before Him, and there will be none other after Him. He was the Father's "only-begotten."

"That whosoever believeth in Him should not perish." The Gospel offer is all-inclusive. It makes no difference who you are, you are included in that "whosoever."

And notice the single requirement: "whosover believeth in Him." Believe that He is your Saviour, that He died to suffer the punishment of your sins, and you will "not perish." But you will "have everlasting life." That was the end and aim of Christ's purpose on earth: to win souls for heaven. Every soul that trusts in Him for salvation is assured a place in the Father's House above. John 6, 40-47.

Have you ever read John 3, 16 in its context? Take your Bible and read the entire third chapter of John and see how clearly it reveals the way of salvation. You will see that this entire chapter is God's love letter to us

REV. CARL J. HENNIG.

LIBERALISM PREFERS PERFORMANCE TO PROMISES. The Liberal record is one of progress and growth. Canada's expansion and prosperity are visible -- in population, jobs, homes, factories. And while these are achievements of the Canadian people, the assurance that they will be maintained lies in able, experienced government--in sound policies at home and abroad. This is truly Canada's century, but the best is yet to be. Twenty-two Liberal candidates offer B. C. an opportunity to increase this province's influence in directing Canada's future. Whether cabinet minister, former member or newcomer, your Liberal candidate stands pledged to policies which have been good for Canada -- policies which enjoy the nation-wide confidence essential to our continued prosperity and security. Let's not gamble with what we have and cherish.

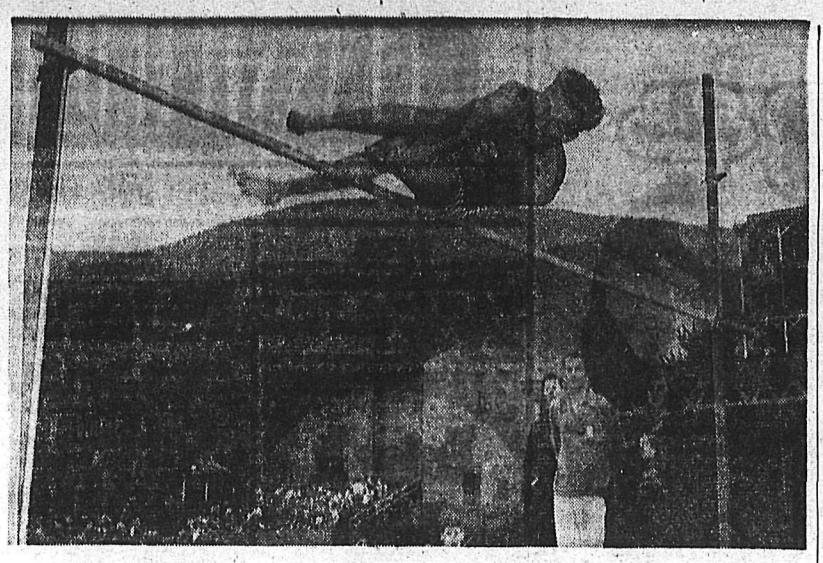
No Torn Retina In Score's Eye

CLEVELAND (AP) — Doctors got their first clear look into Herb Score's injured right eye Friday, and saw that the retina is not torn nor detached, but it is swollen.

They could not say yet if the injury will affect the vision of the 23-year-old southpaw pitching star of Cleveland Indians. It depends on how the swelling responds to treatment in the next few weeks and if there is any injury to the deeper layers of the retina which are not visible.

Friday, Dr. Charles I. Thomas, an eye specialist and team physician Dr. Donald A. Kelly said the hemorrhages have cleared and they could report "a definite amount of retinal edema (swelling) in the central or muscular area "



Adding five points to the total gained by his house in Friday's first L. V. Rogers High School track and field meet is Earl Farenholtz as he clears the high-jump bar at 5'1". Earl was only one of an estimated 150 participants in the three-hour competitions and is eligible along with winners of all other events to enter the West Kootenay track and field meet at Castlegar next week. — Daily News Photo.

T. R. Wilson Trophy Tourney Starts Sunday

Arnold Sherwood tees off Sunday morning in company with Harold Mayo, Bud Cooper and Bruce Latremouille in search of his second successive victory in the annual T. R. Wilson handicap-match play tournament at Nelson Golf and Country Club.

To speed up play, tee-off times will be at intervals of 10 minutes with two matches being played simultaneously in each foursome. Sherwood's group, second-last to leave the tee, leaves at 9:10.

First group teeing off has Carl Locatelli opposing Red Koehle and Tom Mansell facing John Melville at 8:10.

Sherwood's victory last year was won under an arrangement of three-quarter handicap His chances of repeating have undergone a change for the worse due to the change from three-quarters to full handicaps.

Finals will be played next Sunday afternoon in both top-flight and consolation-flight competition. Two rounds will be played Sunday with another pair to follow Monday. First-round losers drop immediately into the consolation bracket.

Golfballs will be awarded to any golfer registering a birdie two on the fifth hole. "And," Bruce Latremouille said, "for any player scoring a hole-in-one."

THE DRAW

8:10 a.m.—Carl Locatelli vs. Red Koehle; Tom Mansell vs. John Melville.

8:20 a.m.—D. H. McKinnon vs. Rolly Brown; George Barefoot vs. Fred McKay.

8:30 a.m.—Bill Wicken vs. Ode Odegard; John Morey vs. Bernie Clarkson.

8:40 a.m.—Doug Disney vs. Curly Garland; Terry Panton vs. Gren Bill.

8:50 a.m.—Vern Miller vs. Ivan Laughton; Tillie Mores vs. Bob MacDonald.

9:00 a.m.—Gordie Olson vs. John Bennett; Bill Haldane vs. Walter Apostoliuk.

9:10 a.m.—Arnold Sherwood vs. Harold Mayo; Bud Cooper vs. Bruce Latremouille.

9:20 a.m.—Leo Atwell vs. Dunc Jamieson; Bill Day vs. Mickey Maglio.

Hitting Spree By Bonus Boy Boosts Marks

NEW YORK (AP) — Reno Bertoia is the talk of the American League because of his sensational batting spurt.

After portions of four years with Detroit Tigers, he owned a .186 lifetime batting average. Before Friday night's game with New York Yankees, he led the league with a .398 figure.

To add an extra twist to his success story is the fact that he has been taking tranquillizer pills to help him relax.

FEELS RELAXED

"I take two about a half hour before each game," he said at his hotel. "I don't know whether the pills help or not. They certainly don't give me any surge or power or anything like that.

"Whatever it is, I feel more relaxed. Maybe I have more confidence because I have been doing good at bat. Every day my confidence in myself is built up a little more."

Sunday Practice Supplants Game

Nelson Outlaws will not open their home season with a double-header this weekend. They will not even open their home season with a single game.

In fact, due to the fact they have no place to play because of the condition of the baseball diamond at Nelson Recreation Grounds, they will not open their home season at all.

Colville Air Force Base Radarts were expected to furnish the opposition in an exhibition double-header, but Ron Nash reported yesterday that Colville Eagles will open Outlaws' home season next weekend with a twin-bill to open the International Border Baseball League season.

However, the entire club will practice at Queen Elizabeth Park at 1 p.m. Sunday.

Monday, the club travels to New Denver for a four-team tournament to feature the Victoria Day celebrations.

Cougar Coach Says Club Will Re-Enter

VICTORIA (CP) — The coach of the Victoria Cougars said Friday the club plans to re-enter the Western Hockey League.

His statement came only a few hours after the club's withdrawal was announced.

President Al Leader of the WHL announced in Vancouver Friday morning that the Cougars had withdrawn.

But coach Colin Kilburn, later in the day, said here: "Victoria is too good a city to be without professional hockey. Plans are being made to reorganize the club and re-enter the league."

Withdrawal from the WHL would end a 45-year history for the Cougars. The team first played under the name of the Senators in 1912, under the guidance of hockey's Silver Fox—Lester Patrick

The Cougars lost $28,000 last season after drawing only 90,000 fans in 35 home games. The season before, there was a $10,000 deficit.

Star Outfielders Both Disciplined

CHICAGO (AP) — President Will Harridge of the American league fined outfielders Ted Williams of Boston Red Sox and Mickey Mantle of New York Yankees $25 each Friday for bat-throwing incidents. Williams was disciplined for flipping his bat towards the dugout Wednesday in a game against Detroit at Boston.

Mantle was fined for tossing his bat in a May 10 night game at Baltimore.

British Cricket

LONDON (Reuters) — Results of Friday's cricket matches:

Lancashire 254 and 32 for no wickets. Scotland 114. Match drawn.

Glamorgan 146 and 222 for 5. Essex 396 for 7 declared. Match drawn.

Leicestershire 189 and 107. Hampshire 217 and 80 for 1. Hampshire won by 9 wickets.

Nottinghamshire 179 and 228. Warwickshire 180 for 9 declared and 185 for 7. Match drawn.

Derbyshire 330 for 7 declared. Royal Air Force 139 and 400. Match drawn.

Cambridge University 225 and 258. West Indies 366 for 6 declared. Match drawn.

Sherbrooke, Que. — Armand Savole, 138, Montreal, outpointed Pat McCoy, 135, Galway, Ireland 10.

C. Horwood Paces House A To Track and Field Win

Strong showings by intermediate competitors at Civic Recreation Grounds Friday afternoon propelled House A into a narrow victory over the other three houses that comprise L. V. Rogers High School.

Intermediate boys and girls accounted for 69 of House A's 114 points, seven more than House B, with strong support from its senior entrants, could garner. House C, with 70, was third, with House D drawing down 38 points for fourth place.

In the first annual L. V. Rogers High School House Track meet—it was cancelled last year due to the confusion of moving from the old high school—records were set in every event. Winners are eligible for the West Kootenay meet at Castlegar next Saturday.

Big gun in a record-setting was Colin Horwood of House A. He started his victorious mates off on the right foot with an easy victory in the intermediate 220-yard dash, and followed it with triumphs in the shot put and the 100-yard wash as well as anchoring the successful 440-yard relay team.

JUDY SEABY SHARP

Each classification—intermediate and senior boys and intermediate and senior girls—had at least one double winner. Judy Seaby, another House A intermediate, romped to victories in the 100-yard dash, the 75-yard dash and the broad jump. She anchored House A to a victory in the girls' relay

Double triumphs were recorded by Audrey Mae Elmes of House D in the senior girls 75 and 100-yard dashes, and by Ken Halsey of House B in the senior boys 100 and 220. He was also instrumental in House Bs victory in the senior medley.

The mile, always a feature at high school meets, saw Warren Jarvis of House D come from behind to overhaul Gord Kleef of House A on the final turn. House Bs Don Holmes roared past Kleef and at the finish was inches from Jarvis. Holmes possibly blew his chance at victory when he attempted to pass Jarvis on the bend thus running yards further than his rival, who held to the inside lane.

WOMEN'S NOXON CUP TOURNEY THIS WEEKEND

Women's annual golf tournament at Nelson Golf and Country Club for the Noxon Cup will start this afternoon at one o'clock. Nine holes will be played today in the three-quarter handicap event and play will continue at 10 a.m Sunday.

First round draw Saturday:

G. Bradley vs M. Cooper at 1 p.m.; F. Melville vs P. Jamieson at 1:10; B. Hesketh vs B. Wicken; at 1:20; E. Brown vs C. Maglio at 1:30; E. McGregor vs M. Clark at 1:40; J. Morey vs I. Locatelli at 1:50; M. Peck vs bye, B. McKinnon vs bye.

Meeting of Kings May End Arab Feud

By E. S. ROSENTHAL

LONDON (Reuters)—King Saud of Saudi Arabia's just-concluded visit to King Faisal of Iraq appears to signal the end of a savage quarrel between their two families that split the Arab world for generations.

It could lead to a new political alignment of Arab states.

The 55-year-old Saudi Arabian monarch is the son of the late warrior-king Ibn Saud, who drove Faisal's great grandfather out of Arabia in 1924 after a 10-year war.

Ibn Saud was leader of the Whabi, a strict Moslem sect founded in the 18th century. Faisal's grandfather, Sherif Hussein of Mecca, headed the rival Hashemite dynasty.

The importance to the Arab world of ending the bitter feud was stressed in Baghdad this week by King Saud. He told the mayor of Baghdad that "solid unity between the Saudi and Hashemite families is most essential for tpe good of and the interests of Arabs everywhere."

RULES TWO THRONES

The Hashemite dynasty now rules two thrones—Iraq and Jordan. King Hussein of Jordan is the 21-year-old great grandson of the former sherif.

The two main protagonists of the family feud are dead. The sherif, driven out of his kingdom by Ibn Saud, died a broken man in 1931. Ibn Saud died four years ago.

Now the sherif's great grandsons, the two "boy kings" Hussein and Faisal, look with friendship to Ibn Saud's oil-rich son.

Hussein in particular needs financial aid now that he has overpowered a leftist government which had been flirting with Moscow. He was invited to join the talks in Iraq but politely turned them down, possibly so as not to antagonize Egypt and Syria.

The historic family feud had led Saudi Arabia to turn to Egypt for a friend. Now Saud's hatchet-burying mission to Baghdad could bring a major Arab realignment.

U.K. H-Bomb Test In Megaton Range

LONDON (AP) — Britain announced Friday night that her first hydrogen bomb test explosion in the Pacific was "in the megaton (1,000,000 tons of TNT) range."

The bomb was fired in the Christmas Island area of the Pacific Wednesday after being dropped from a Valiant jet bomber.

Aubrey Jones, British minister of supply, said:

"The detonation took place high in the air above the sea in an area carefully chosen to avoid any danger to inhabited areas and to be as far away as possible from normal shipping lanes and air routes.

"Careful search before the test showed that the area was clear of all shipping."

Pearson Favors Chinese Trade

PENTICTON, B.C. (CP) — External Affairs Minister Pearson Thursday night advocated trade with Communist China as a weapon against communism.

"Diplomatic recognition is one thing but sale of Canadian products abroad is another," he said. One way to fight communism was to sell Asian countries food and non-strategic materials, thereby bringing Asian peoples closer to the West.

Mr. Pearson ended a one-day tour of the Okanagan Valley before heading to Alberta for a four-day, seven - speech engagement. He addressed some 3,000 persons in his four speeches at Kamloops, Vernon, Kelowna and Penticton.

"The whole of Asia has awakened and is on the march," he warned his Penticton audience, "and if we don't show them sympathy and understanding they may march the wrong way. We had better get as close as we can to the masses of Asia."

It would be foolish to sell China supplies that could be used against Canada, but "we should look at the problem from the supply of surplus agricultural products to these countries."

It may bring us closer to weakening communism in those countries."
