Rebel Leader Asks U.S., Russ Aid

Russ Explanation Fails To Stem Bulganin Rumors

BERLIN (AP)—A Soviet embassy explanation failed Monday to check growing rumors that Premier Nikolai A. Bulganin is about to be pushed aside in a continuing Kremlin power struggle.

The embassy spokesman in Communist-ruled East Berlin indicated Bulganin is being left out of a Soviet delegation to East Germany this week because the visit is concerned principally with economic questions. The spokesman denied the Soviet premier was off the Bulganin-Khrushchev visitors' team because of ill health.

A Moscow announcement disclosed during the weekend the composition of the Soviet delegation which is flying here Wednesday. Bulganin, constant travelling companion of Soviet Communist boss Nikita S. Khrushchev was not included. The next ranking member of the delegation is Anastas I. Mikoyan, the Kremlin's senior economic export.

NORMAL DUTIES

The Soviet embassy spokesman was asked if Mikoyan was substituted for Bulganin for political reasons. He replied:

"The main things to be discussed are economic questions, and therefore Mikoyan has been included in the delegation."

In Moscow, Bulganin went about his duties as usual. He met with a Tokyo group calling itself the Japanese Council for Prohibition of Atomic and Hydrogen Weapons.

In addition, Bulganin showed up at a reception given by a visiting Syrian delegation in Moscow. With him, Moscow Radio said, were Khrushchev, Defence Minister Georgi Zhukov and other Soviet leaders.

There has been no suggestion as yet that Bulganin has been pushed out of the Kremlin hierarchy.

NOT CLEAR

But these developments did little to clear up the growing mystery of his present status.

Most Western experts in this divided city hold to the view that Khrushchev dropped the B of the team because the Communist boss is pushing the premier downward, if not completely out.

3 Byelections Set for Sept. 9

VICTORIA (CP)—An order-in-council was signed Monday setting Sept. 9 as the date for provincial byelections in three British Columbia ridings.

Nomination day in the ridings —Burnaby, Delta and Cariboo—is Aug. 29.

There was a possibility that two provincial leaders would be candidates. Liberal Leader Arthur Laing was considered a likely candidate in Delta and Progressive Conservative chief Deane Finlayson may run in Burnaby. Both were defeated in last September's general election.

The Burnaby seat was made vacant by the death last January of veteran CCF member Ernest Winch. Cariboo became vacant in April with the death of agriculture minister Ralph Chetwynd. Delta had been represented since 1952 by speaker Thomas Irwin, who resigned this year to contest and win the Burnaby-Richmond federal seat in the June 10 election.

Present standing in the legislature is Social Credit 37, CCF 9, Liberal 2, Labor 1, and three vacant for a total of 52.

In making the announcement Monday, Premier W. A. C. Bennett told reporters he would take "a limited part" in the campaign.

CHIEF U.S. DELEGATE Harold Stassen, left, and Secretary of State John Foster Dulles appear cheerful at the London UN disarmament conference, where Dulles made his open skies proposal. Dulles proposed that all of the United States, all of the Soviet Union and most of Europe be exposed to aerial and ground inspection as a safeguard against sneak nuclear attacks.

Hiroshima Notes Day of A-Bomb

HIROSHIMA, Japan (AP) — A reborn Hiroshima today marked with bells, sirens and prayer the 12th anniversary of its atomic destruction.

Thousands gathered in Peace Memorial Park for the traditional ceremony—a moment of silent prayer for world peace and release of doves at 8:15 a.m., the instant of war's first atomic bombing Aug. 6, 1945.

The populace gathered around the white stone cenotaph at the spot where the bomb exploded. The monument is surrounded by a green, 30-acre park at a place where it was once said grass would never grow again.

A list of 145 names was added formally to that of 59,853 confirmed dead.

Note to 29 Countries Names U.K., Sultan Aggressors in Oman

CAIRO (Reuters)—Arab League envoys have been called to an extraordinary meeting today to "formulate a unified plan to help the Imam of Oman in the struggle against British imperialism."

The league secretary-general, Abdel Khalek Hassouna, who announced he had called the meeting at the league's Cairo premises, earlier described the situation in Oman as "grave."

The imam, the leader of Oman rebels, today appealed to Russia and the United States to stop the fighting between the rebels and the sultan's forces.

The appeal came as the British-supported sultan of Muscat and Oman proposed to mount a counter-attack on the rebels with the aid of British troops.

The appeal, handed over to the American and Russian embassies here, asked the two countries to help in "putting an end to the aggressive acts of the British forces against the people of Oman."

(As the appeals were made, reports from Oman said British forces were concentrating at Ibri to support an expected attack by the sultan's forces on the rebel headquarters at Nizwa).

The appeal to Russia and the United States was signed by Prince Sal Ibn Issa el Harty, deputy to the Imam of Oman. El Harty has been acting as spokesman for the imam in Cairo since the revolt started.

El Harty sent identical notes to President Eisenhower and Russian President Klimenti Voroshilov.

The note said that ". . .We, in the name of the Imam of Oman . . . ask you to stop the British government at the point which it has reached and to forbid it from interfering between us and the sultan so that the blood of old men, women and children does not flow.

"For we were not the aggressors but the sultan, who with British aid and after being incited by them, violated the convention, occupied Oman and attacked us without any forewarning. . .

The Arab League note was sent to league members and to the 29 nations who attended the 1955 Afro-Asian conference at Bandung, Indonesia.

Hassouna said the situation in Oman was "grave." He described the British reasons for intervention as "too weak to require refutation."

Batista Faces War of Nerves

HAVANA (AP) — Rebel leader Fidel Castro opened a war of nerves Monday against the government of President Fulgencio Batista.

Apparently beaten in an attempt to topple Batista through a country-wide strike, Castro's followers broke in on private telephone conversations throughout Havana, shouting:

"We have taken the presidential palace." "Long live Fidel Castro."

Meanwhile, Castro's rebel radio broadcast appeals for workers to stay away from their jobs and gave them instructions on how to make Molotov cocktail bombs. Eleswhere the rebel supporters spread rumors that Batista had been ousted.

But government reports from all the provinces on this island republic said everything was normal. The government said there is a general back-to-work movement.

Weekend Death Toll Hits 75

By The Canadian Press

Canada's weekend fatalities rose to 75 Monday with automobile accidents accounting for 47.

It was civic holiday weekend in most of Ontario and some other communities across the country.

The Canadian Highway Safety Conference had predicted a total of 50 traffic deaths.

A Canadian Press survey from 6 p.m. local time Friday showed that 24 persons had been drowned and four were killed in other mishaps. The survey period ends at midnight Monday.

Quebec had a total of 30 deaths, the highest in Canada.

Ontario reported 29 deaths, B.C. reported two.

Jordan, Syria Rift Mended in Handshake

AMMAN, Jordan (AP)—Jordan and Syria, feuding Arab neighbors, seemed to have buried the hatchet Monday after a weekend of military threats.

A statement issued after a meeting between Foreign Minister Samir Rifai and Syrian Charge d'Affaires Ahmed Rahbi said the two countries shook hands in the hope "that a new page will be opened in brotherly relations . . . for the good of Arabs."

Pro-Soviet Syria announced Saturday that it had received a threat of military attack from Jordan if the Syrian press did not stop a press campaign against King Hussein and his Hashemite kingdom.

BLAMES U.S. POLICY

The statement issued Monday said tensions arising from the press attacks had been removed.

But Syrian Foreign Minister Salah Bitar told a press conference in Damascus Monday the United States was behind what he called Jordan's "warlike ultimatum" Saturday.

He said U.S. Middle East policy was based on "sparing no effort to make the Arabs forget Israel's threat by means of creating inter-Arab disputes."

He added it was "not strange that this American policy backs some Arab governments to threaten to use force against other Arab countries."

EXAGGERATED PROTEST

Jordan has denied issuing any ultimatum. She has said Syria was exaggerating a protest.

In the last three days, the two nations—pledged to defend each other in an Israeli attack—manoeuvred in an atmosphere of emergency.

500,000 Boxes Apples Shipped

KELOWNA (CP) — More than 500,000 boxes of Okanagan apricots have been shipped so far to fresh markets, officials of B.C. Tree Fruits said Monday.

Another lot of more than 6000 boxes are in the process of being loaded.

Officials said apricots will be shipped daily this week and the "apricot phase" of the current fruit year will be completed next weekend.

U.S. To Cut 60 Ships From Fleet

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. Navy Monday announced an economy cut of 60 ships from the active fleet. But, it said, some of the loss in fighting strength will be made up by new warships now nearing completion.

Largest of the warships to be put into reserve is the battleship Iowa. Twenty-six other combat vessels are included in the number scheduled to be laid up, all by December.

Withdrawal of these vessels from the Atlantic and Pacific fleets followed earlier orders from the defence department for the navy to reduce its manpower by 15,000 and to share with the other services a reduction in maintenance and operating spending of more than $500,000,000.

The U. S. Navy now is operating about 975 vessels of all categories and had planned to increase the size of the active fleet to 983 by June 1958.

Hell Hath No Fury...

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The Robert Smallfields are divorced but ex-wife Wilma doesn't approve of Robert dating other women. She proved it by ramming his brand new car eight times Sunday night.

From a jail cell where she was taken on a charge of asault with a deadly weapon, the tearful Mrs. Smallfield said she did it all for love and that she wanted only to frighten him.

Smallfield said that when Mrs. Smallfield spotted him, she was in her big 1949 model.

"She made a U-turn and came at me, and I knew she was out for blood," he told officers. "I took off."

She overtook him in traffic, rammed his 1957 hardtop model from behind, caught up with him again at another intersection and let the car have it from an angle.

After he had taken several more swipes, Smallfield, a mechanic, retreated to his place of business, and while he was trying to get to a telephone to call police, he said, Mrs. Smallfield tried to pin him against a wall. Failing in that, she grabbed a board and took out after him. He jumped in his car and fled.

The Smallfields, married 17 years, were divorced last February. Both are 42. He is under order to pay her $60 monthly. He told police he has been renting a room from his former mate for $12 a week, but figures he had better move now.

VANCOUVER (CP) — A thief posing as a television serviceman drove off with a $350 TV receiver.

Mrs. C. B. K. Van Norman told police she left her cook, Wong Soon, alone in the house Saturday. Later a man in a white coat called and said he'd come to fix the TV set.

"I'll have to take it to the shop," the man told Wong Soon.

The unsuspecting cook helped the self-styled repairman carry the set to a truck.

"No plans are at present being made for Princess Margaret to visit Canada."

PROTESTANT CHURCHES URGE HALT TESTS

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP) — Representatives of most of the world's Protestant, Orthodox and Anglican churches Monday urged governments to halt nuclear bomb tests as a trial bid for peace.

Nations should take the step alone if necessary, the Christian leaders said, to try and break up the atomic arms race.

In a major, long - deliberated action, the World Council of Churches said a suspension of tests by any government conducting them could pave the way for international agreements banning the bomb.

Flood Damage Estimated At $2 Million

THETFORD MINES, Que. (CP)—Damage estimates ran as high as $2,000,000 following a heavy weekend rainstorm which sent normally-placid streams on a rampage through six Eastern Townships counties.

The De la Marre River 10 miles northwest of here claimed the lives of a mother and her three children Saturday night.

The floods were described as among the worst in the history of the Eastern Townships. They created havoc within a 30 to 40-mile radius of Thetford Mines—in the counties of Lotbiniere, Megantic, Frontenac, Wolfe and Compton.

Civic authorities estimated it would take more than a month for their communities to get back on their feet. Damage to roads, railway lines, farms and homes is expected to run high.

Slemon No Stranger To Work, Long Hours

By DAVE McINTOSH
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP) — Air Marshal Roy Slemon, a dapper 53, has a capacity for work equalled by few men in the defence department, where long hours are not uncommon.

He told a reporter not long ago that in his more than four years as boss of the RCAF he had found time to have lunch outside his office only eight times, excluding occasions when he had to entertain visiting dignitaries. His lunch usually consists of a sandwich at his desk as the work goes right on.

Air Marshal Slemon, whose entire adult life has been the air force, was named last week as deputy commander of the new combined operational headquarters of the Canadian and United States air defence commands at Colorado Springs, Colo.

It will be his responsibility, with Gen. Earle Partridge of the U. S. Air Force, headquarters commander, to work out detailed plans for complete co-ordination of the RCAF and USAF fighter commands in event of a Russian air onslaught on North America.

Air Marshal Slemon is understood to have been one of the prime movers for a combined headquarters. He had his knuckles rapped by the former Liberal government two years ago for saying publicly that establishment of one supreme command for the defence of North America was inevitable.

Language Problem Sparks Strikes

COLOMBO, Ceylon (Reuters) — Another round of sitdown strikes threatens to hamper the government in its search for an answer to the language problem that will satisfy both the Sinhalese-speaking majority and the Tamil-speaking minority.

The trouble came to a head last year when Premier Solomon Bandaranaike, in his efforts to replace English as the official language, ruled that Sinhalese should be spoken throughout the land.

The plane, powered by a 1-5 horsepower motor, has a four-foot fuselage and six-foot wingspan.—(AP Wirephoto).

COUPLE GUILTY OF EXTORTION

VANCOUVER (CP)—A man and his wife were found guilty in police court here Monday of extorting $2350 from a real estate agent. They will be sentenced next Tuesday.

Magistrate Oscar Orr said Leonard Gordon Uttley, 32, and his wife, Mona Lorraine Uttley, 34, parents of four children, were guilty of "a ruthless sort of crime."

The couple had been charged with extorting the money over a period of a year from W. Gordon Vague, 49, by threatening to tell police he had made improper advances on Mrs. Uttley.

Magistrate Orr said an unusual feature of the case was that the Uttleys signed statements typed by Vague saying they would give up "further demands and threats" as receipts for the money he handed over.

CIVIL SERVANTS PROTEST ANTI-STRIKE BILL

NEW DELHI (Reuters) — Hundreds of police guarded the Parliament buildings Monday as 2000 civil servants demonstrated against the approval of an anti-strike bill.

The lower house of Parliament in a first reading voted 224 to 54 for the bill will 15 abstentions. The bill will receive its final reading today.

The government of Prime Minister Nehru seeks special powers to declare illegal all strikes in essential services, with imprisonment and fine for anyone organizing or taking part in them.

The bill is prompted by a threatened strike for more pay of some 500,000 civil servants, including post office, telegraph, telephone and civil aviation employees due to start Thursday midnight.

Equality Prime Requisite In Red States, Says Tito

By SIDNEY WEILAND

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (Reuters)—"Complete equality" is required in the relations between Communist states, President Tito said Monday.

Tito's speech, stressing the need of national freedom and the right of a country to determine its own internal social order, was the first since he met Soviet Communist party chief Nikita Khrushchev in Romania last week.

Without a basis of equality among Communist states, it is impossible for them to play a role in aiding international understanding, Tito said.

Tito said Yugoslavia's struggle for equal rights in international life never had been separated from efforts toward establishing the closest links between all the countries of the world and their independence.

"We have always considered a policy of coexistence as the best means of securing our national existence in a permanent manner and for the realization of broad international co-operation."

"We are convinced that it is possible to solve progressively the problems which represent a threat to peaceful development through common efforts and through the active engagement of all peoples and countries, making it thus possible to remove the difficulties resulting from the division which separates the present world."

Jailed on False Pretences

PRINCE GEORGE (CP) — Rev. Robert A. Jenkins, former minister of St. Andrews Lutheran-Presbyterian Church here, was sentenced Monday to a year in jail on a false pretences charge.

BALTIMORE (AP)—When Raffles, an overgrown fox terrier, left Houston, Tex., by plane Saturday she knew she was in a family way.

Raffles had to change planes in Chicago and that's where she gave birth to eight pups. The airways people called a vet who found Raffles and her new litter in good shape and okayed continuation of the trip to Baltimore.

Between Chicago and Baltimore, Raffles produced seven more pups—a grand total of 15. There was no extra charge by the airline for either Chicago ground arrivals or their airborn brothers and sisters, all of which were doing nicely when the plane landed here Sunday night.

JACKSON, Mich. (AP) — A freedom bid by two southern Michigan prison inmates failed because one was too fat.

Robert E. Crouse, 23, and Cletus R. McKeon, 24, tried to escape from the world's largest walled prison Sunday by crawling out through a narrow pipe hole in the basement wall. McKeon made it, but Crouse got stuck halfway. His yells for help brought guards running.

They caught McKeon.

DARTMOUTH, N.S. (CP)—Councillor E. M. (Spud) Beazley says fish chowder will be served free during the celebration of this harbor town's 207th birthday Wednesday.

"In the West," said Mr. Beazley, "they dish out free flapjacks and a 'howdy, stranger' with their rodeos. We're going to substitute chowder and a 'hi, neighbor.'"

The navy will help make the chowder and the army will dish it out.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Mrs. Patrick Shupe says fire shot out of the faucet of her bathtub while she was bathing.

Didn't Pass Cars

A. J. Cherry of Nelson, fined and his driver's licence suspended for six months when he appeared in provincial court on an impaired driving charge last month, did not "pass" 50 cars between Bonnington and Taghum as reported by RCMP at that time. Police clarified their information Monday, stating that the 50 cars, six of which were reportedly to the side of the highway, were coming towards Cherry. Previous information implied Cherry had overtaken the cars.

Two Fined

Fines totalling $25 and costs were levied Monday by Police Magistrate R. S. Nelson in two cases. Both pleaded guilty.

J. A. McGregor of Nelson was fined $15 for speeding on Latimer Street on his motorcycle. Carl Bystrom of Nelson was fined $10 for driving in violation of his driver's licence.

Bystrom's licence restricts him to driving vehicles with mirrors on both sides reflecting 200 feet to the rear, also not to driving more than 45 miles per hour. He did not have the required mirrors.

City To Prepare Hospital Bylaw

City Clerk C.W.R. Harper was instructed Monday night to prepare a bylaw to raise $161,861.61 to help complete the new Kootenay Lake General Hospital with four storeys and 130 beds as originally planned. Bond interest, set at 5¾ per cent, might raise the amount to about $167,000.

District ratepayers have been asked to raise $197,830.84. Mayor Joseph Kary said Hospital Improvement District trustees do not have to go to the people unless they wish. City ratepayers must vote on the question.

Total required to build, equip and furnish the originally-planned structure is $2,445,762, including $50,000 for a nurses' residence. Mr. Harper said "time is of the essence" in preparation of the bylaw since the KLGH society board of directors has only about seven weeks to sign a contract with Cloverdale Construction if they wish the work done at existing prices.

Mayor Kary said "many organizations," also private individuals, have offered to contribute furnishings and equipment, and allowance was made for them before the hospital board decided it needed the extra $360,000. He said funds provided are "not nearly adequate" for furniture and equipment, but Ald. C. F. Blakeman, who represented the city at a special hospital board meeting July 29 which approved the requests for additional funds, said he thought the $360,000 was planned to cover a "large percentage" of the costs. Mayor Kary said there is "never any ending" to the need for hospital furniture and equipment.

Mayor Kary expressed support of the hospital board's undertaking, and hoped the bylaw would pass. Cost of the bylaw, including printing bonds, advertising the bylaw, and voting expenses, would be about $700, Mr. Harper estimated. A commission would also have to be paid to the company selling the bonds.

The five and three-quarters per cent interest rate was decided after the mayor reported on discussions Mr. Harper and he had Monday with banks and investment companies, who agreed the money market was "tough" now, and suggested about five and one-half to five and three-quarters per cent interest.

Council Jottings..

Mayor Joseph Kary was back in the chief magistrate's chair when City Council met Monday night. The Mayor, fresh from a summer vacation, presided over a long and busy session that included discussion of a proposed money bylaw for completion of Nelson's new hospital, heard complaints and handled a full agenda of municipal business.

Alderman C. F. Blakeman had served as acting mayor during Mayor Kary's absence.

Appreciation for the use of the old post office building for the annual flower show was expressed in a letter received at city council Monday night. D. R. Grahame, secretary - treasurer of the Nelson Garden Club, said the club found the room "ideal" for display of flowers. The flower show was part of the week-long celebrations that marked Nelson's diamond jubilee.

Request from a distribution company to submit a design for a mayoral chain of office was turned over to the Chamber of Commerce on the suggestion of Mayor Kary, who said the Chamber had done considerable research into obtaining a mayor's "collar" for Nelson. Letter from R. Morrison of the B and M Distributions Ltd., offered to submit an appropriate design, and suggested that the "forthcoming B.C. centennial could be enhanced by your chief magistrate wearing the traditional symbols of high office on such occasions."

Repairs to a sidewalk and permission for two access ramps were requests contained in a letter from Peebles Motors Ltd. A letter, referred to the finance committee for recommendation, asked sidewalk repairs be completed on the southwest corner of the garage, and sought permission to continue the entrance ramp from the street over the sidewalk to facilitate traffic egress. It also made application for permission to cross the sidewalk and to ramp up from the street to sidewalk level for 15 feet to give access to the southwest corner of its adjoining car lot.

Town Planners' Study Approved for Trail

TRAIL—City Council Monday approved proceeding with a year-long comprehensive study of Trail by town planners.

The survey, to cost $9000, will be 25 per cent financed by the municipality and 75 per cent by Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation, a federal government agency. The survey is subject to provincial government approval.

The study involves three steps (1) urban renewal study (2) urban redevelopment study and (3) area development study. The first step would take about a year after which there would be no obligation to carry on. It would be two years before the recommendations of the planners would be presented to city council.

Monday night's decision followed a meeting last week when council discussed proposed plans with Professor H. Peter Oberlander, University of B. C. planning expert, and associate Reginald J. Cave.

Councillors generally expressed approval of the plan.

Sons "Condemn" Maloff Report

A mass meeting of Sons of Freedom at Krestova Sunday "condemned" the report of John Maloff of Saskatoon, representative of Orthodox Doukhobors of Saskatchewan who visited the New Denver dormitory school last month.

A Freedomite spokesman said Monday night that they questioned also that Maloff had been sent to the New Denver on behalf of Saskatchewan Doukhobors. Eighty-eight Freedomite children are confined to the B.C. government-operated institution because their parents have refused to send them to public schools. Maloff following the visit that the children appeared happy and well cared for.

The meeting, which the Freedomite spokesman said was attended by 800 to 900 persons, heard a report of a Sons' delegation which recently visited Victoria seeking release of children from the New Denver institution. He said the delegation reported "no success," that they had been "turned down" by the welfare and attorney-general's departments.

The meeting was also the occasion for the Freedomites annual "Declaration Day."

Plans for future meetings on the subject of the children's release were not discussed, it was stated.

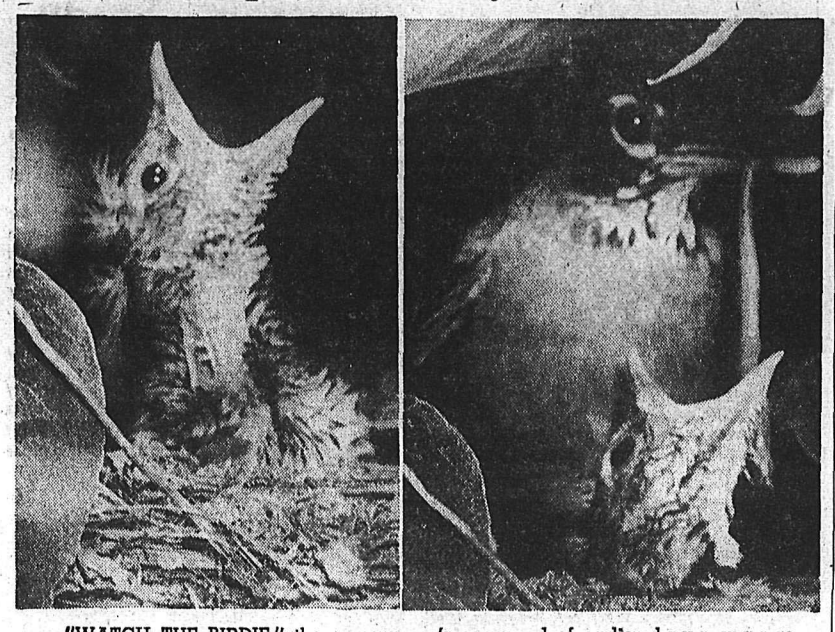
Photography — Strictly for the Birds



"WATCH THE BIRDIE," the cameraman's command of earlier days, was reversed this season in Kimberley when photographer Charlie Wormington took up bird-watching and bird "shooting", shutter style, catching this young robin in various stages of growth. "Where's my grub?" open-mouthed fledgling cries in picture at left, and mother comes instead with a delectable worm.

THROUGH STUFFINGS in succeeding weeks, the young robin was almost as big as its maternal parent when the photographer returned for this picture. Both gave him glassy-eyed stares.

SURPRISE! YOUNG ROBIN had flown the coup when the photographer went back a few days ago for another progress shot. Empty nest, somewhat tattered, can be seen in lower left hand corner almost hidden by leaves. That ended series for photographer Wormington, who takes special interest in naturalist's subjects.

Hang Money on Wall in B.C. Bar

UCLUELET, B.C. (CP) — They hang money on the walls in Bill Fraser's bar in this lonely fishing village.

It's the Ucluelet Lodge, centre of after - dark activity in the largest troller port on the west coast of Vancouver Island.

Bartender Fraser says most people are surprised when they first spot the wall of the bar tacked over with currency of every denomination.

But the "wallpaper" is the community's way of collecting money for charity.

"When a fisherman or a logger comes in with a cheque to cash, say for $153," explains Bill, "he picks up the $150 and tells me to pin the three bucks on the wall."

Loose change from the tables is stacked along a ledge. When a charitable group comes collecting, the wall is cleared and the customers start all over.

80 Cowboys To Compete In Stampede

INVERMERE — The Second Annual Stampede of the Lake Windermere Stampede Association promises to be the largest stampede ever held in the Columbia Valley. To be staged Friday and Saturday, August 23 and 24, at the new David Thompson Memorial Park in conjunction with the East Kootenay Fall Fair, it offers a minimum of $1000 in prizes including all entry fees.

Indications are that there will be more than 80 cowboys participating. Many are expected from Calgary and Prairie points, Montana and other border points and throughout East Kootenay to attend the two-day fair.

Extensive improvements have been made to the stampede grounds. The sprinkler system installed this year will eliminate the dust hazard. Additional corrals have been built and considerable fencing has been completed.

There will be a yearling steer competition for boys under 14.

Last CF-100 Jets Reach W. Germany

BADEN - BADEN, West Germany (Reuters)—The last of four squadrons of Canadian-built CF-100 twin-jet all-weather fighters to join Canada's NATO forces in Europe have arrived here after completing the last leg of their flight, 1,600 miles from Keflavik, Iceland, in three hours and 20 minutes.

An RCAF spokesman said he could not disclose the number of aircraft which had arrived. But he added that he had heard nothing further about one plane of the squadron which disappeared in the Sept-Iles area of Quebec's north shore Thursday, first day of their flight from North Bay, Ont.

The squadron made two landings on the way—at Goose Bay, Labrador, and at Keflavik.

The first three of the four CF-100 squadrons, part of Canada's NATO commitment in Europe, arrived in Europe between last November and May. The four squadrons are replacing American-built F-86 day fighters.

The squadron was led on the flight by Wing Cmdr. R. E. McBride of Woodstock, N.B. His observer was Flt. Lt. J. A. Tullock of Woodstock, Ont.

The changeover of the four squadrons from day to all-weather fighters was made at NATO request.

Chessman Hid MSS In Carbon Paper

SAN QUENTIN, Calif. (AP)—Caryl Chessman, condemned convict - author, hid the outlawed manuscript of his new book between sheets of used carbon paper, the San Francisco Chronicle said Monday.

The Chronicle said Chessman typed the 160,000 word manuscript of The Face of Justice on carbon paper. Then he hid the manuscript carbon among five boxes of used carbons. Repeated searches of his cell failed to uncover the manuscript.

Chessman, who also wrote best seller Cell 2455, Death Row and Trial by Ordeal, said he would never tell how the manuscript was smuggled from his San Quentin prison death cell and sent to his New York agent.

Warden Harley O. Teets had forbidden him to write the third book for publication.

A Los Angeles jury in 1948 convicted Chessman, now 36, on 17 counts, including two of kidnapping with bodily harm, a capital offence in California, attempted rape, perversion and robbery.

A recent U.S. Supreme Court order for a new hearing on his charge that the official transcript of the Los Angeles trial was "prejudicially incomplete and inaccurate" resulted from his long fight to escape the gas chamber.

Trail Maple Leaf Band To Play At Kelowna Regatta This Week

TRAIL — The breezes which blow across the Okanagan Lake at the annual Kelowna Regatta will waft the merry notes of Trail's Maple Leaf Band to the large holiday crowd attending the colorful sports event. The Band leaves for its fifth appearance at the Regatta Thursday.

The Band, which was founded in 1917, is now the pride and joy of Bandmaster William DiPasquale, the seventh conductor since its inception.

There are at present 45 members. Actually, there are two bands, junior and senior. Age groups in the junior band range from nine to 15 years, while the senior band has members ranging in age from 15 to 50. There are seven majorettes.

It takes hours of practice and lots of wind to produce a pleasing note in the Maple Leaf Military Band. If you don't think so, ask any one of the Band members.

The Band is well known to Trail and district residents, who have heard and seen it play at Gyro Park, hockey games and special concerts at the High School.

All members are looking forward to their trip to the Kelowna Regatta where they will represent the City of Trail.

The Band is not unfamiliar with travel, having travelled to Vancouver, Kamloops, Penticton, Calgary, Fernie, Cranbrook, Nelson and Spokane. The Band accompanied the Allan Cup winning Hockey Club to Calgary in 1938. Emilio Pisapio a charter member and now manager, has been instrumental in arranging many of the trips.

Anyone passing the small Colombo Hall Monday nights is likely to hear the Band practicing. There are extra practices these evenings as the trip to the Regatta nears.

Says Khrushchev Pledged Syrian Security

DAMASCUS, Syria (AP) — A pro-Socialist newspaper says in a dispatch from Moscow that Soviet Communist party boss Nikita Khrushchev has guaranteed Syrian security.

The dispatch to the Daily Alrain Alam quoted Khrushchev as telling a Syrian government delegation "You can be sure Syria's security is guaranteed. The Soviet Union will not allow or tolerate any aggression against Syria."

The Russian leader made the statement when the delegation headed by acting Syrian Defence Minister Khaled El Azm "referred to Israel and colonialist anti-Syrian aggressive intentions," assistant chief editor Jubran Korya wrote.

Korya said Soviet Premier Bulganin and Defence Minister Marshal Georgi Zhukov were present when Khrushchev gave the assurance at a recent Kremlin meeting.

Communist nations have been supplying military equipment and advisers to Syria since shortly after Egypt closed an arms deal with Russia in 1955.

PIGEONS RETURN FROM EDMONTON

VICTORIA (CP) — Three more racing pigeons returned to Victoria over the weekend after three weeks of flying from Edmonton.

Bert Owens Monday said two birds came in Saturday and another completed the 600 airline-miles distance Sunday morning.

The new arrivals bring the total finishers so far to six out of 16 that were released July 21 in Edmonton. First to finish was a two-year-old hen that made it in 47 hours and five minutes. The second came in seven days later on July 29 and the third followed Aug. 1.

"I don't think all of the remaining 10 will make it into Victoria but I wouldn't be surprised to see about five more get here," Mr. Owens said.

Mr. Owens set the pigeons off on the record trans - mountain distance to obtain top breeders for his team of 44 racing pigeons.

"About one in a thousand birds can make that distance. The first one obviously came straight in but the others stopped off to feed and get their bearings," he said.

The flight of 16 was equally divided between yearlings and two-year-old birds. The present six arrivals held up that ratio, although it is unusual for yearlings to fly so far.

Mr. Owens has one bird in his flock that flew in five trans-mountain races, four times from Lethbridge, a distance of 490 air miles, and once from Edson, Alta., some 470 miles.

The Edmonton-Victoria trial was the longest attempt in Western Canada through the mountains.

Patronage Not Wanted

We suppose there has always been a certain amount of patronage in the government services. It is a perfectly natural thing to give a friend a job if there is a job vacant. It is only when those holding them are turned out of jobs to make room for others that it becomes patronage of the worst sort.

Just how many people might be in favor of patronage it is difficult to say but there are always a few who look to their party to do something for them when it comes to power.

During the years when the Liberals were in power and there was no change of government, little was heard of patronage. It is usually when there is a change of government, that the talk of patronage raises its head. If there is, or has been patronage, the extent of it is always a guess since there seems to be no records kept.

The current state of prosperity also does much to curtail patronage. There are so many jobs which pay far better in private industry and there are few people who cannot find opportunities outside the government service. It was understandable, therefore, that a British Columbian, Mr. Howard Green, Minister of Public Works, should have written orders that patronage in his department should be eliminated. He has lived in an atmosphere where patronage was not to be tolerated and certainly has not flourished. It is also sound commonsense. It can surely do the department no good to have dismissals and replacements even if we were to believe that a "good Conservative" is a better government worker than a Liberal.

Sense of Responsibility Necessary on Highways

"We associate and publicize the fact that large areas are the scenes of murder, crime and vice — because of publicity, the city murderers and gunmen are protrayed as terrors stalking by night, but as we look at statistics for the past 28 years, we find in that period there have been 152 murders committed in the City of Toronto, or an average of five homecides a year, and if we analyze the modus operandi, we find the victims have been shot, drowned, beaten, stabbed, strangled, and poisoned," writer John Chisolm, Chief Constable for the City of Toronto, in the current issue of Health Magazine, official publication of the Health League of Canada.

"Then we have that modern piece de resistance, from the standpoint of news, the child sex friend, who, believe it or not, has been responsible for the deaths of only two children under 14 years of age in the same 28-year period! In the same 28 years approximately 350 children under the age of 14 years have been killed in street accidents, mostly by motor vehicles. Against our 152 murders in 28 years, over 1900 persons — two battalions — have been killed in traffic accidents in our city streets — —an average of between 65 and 70 persons per annum!"

He points out that progress has been made in making cars and highways as safe as possible, but that similar progress has not been made where it counts most — in the man behind the wheel.

"I believe that a sence of responsibility and duty towards one's fellow citizens is a paramount quality whichm ust be developed if we are to accomplish any worthwhile results in highway and traffic safety," he concluded.

Divorce Rate Said Dropping

The divorce rate is dropping because of a growing maturity among younger people following ten years of social and economic change.

Albert Q. Maisel, in an article in Reader's Digest titled, "Divorce Is Going Out of Style", reports that the rate today is barely half the 1946 rate. And, he says, it still is falling.

Maisel explains that a whole series of social and economic changes have quietly combined to provide a firm new foundation for family life. He says today's young people have become "economic optimists" because they have not had to cope with a major depression.

As a result, he says, the average age at marriage has dropped by nearly two years since 1940.

The typical bridegroom of 1957 has just celebrated his 22nd birthday; his bride has a few months to wait for her 20th. Today's newlyweds embark upon matrimony while still pliant and adaptable.

Another cause of the stability of today's marriages is the drop in sexual incompatibility. Maisel says there is less fear, prudery and ignorance of sex and that nearly all modern couples enter marriage with a far better understanding of the physical and psychological aspects of sex than their parents ever had a chance to obtain.

The author says that nearly 70 percent of all colleges and some high schools offer courses in marriage and family relations and that young people also have available at least half a dozen competent books on marriage from which to learn.

In addition to marrying younger, today's couples—because of the current prosperity—feel no need to postpone childbearing "until things get better."

Maisel says that 20 years ago 55 out of every 100 women were past 25 when they had their first baby; today only 38 out of every 100 delay that long. And since three out of five divorces occur among people without children, the current crop of young family-builders has provided itself with the best possible marital insurance.

Power of a Word

As he sentenced three youths for stealing gasoline, Magistrate J. A. Hanrahan, of Windsor, declared that fear of being called "chicken" had led more youths to the reformatory than any other word in the English language.

It was a theory of the late Dr. C. T. Currelly, of the Royal Ontario Museum, that the rise of Mussolini and of Italian belligerancy would not have taken place if the sneering words "Dago" and "Wop" had not been used. Call a man, or a nation, a disrespectful name, he said: impute inferiority, and the man or nation is fired to accept the challenge come what may. How stupid, Dr. Currelly would say as he spoke of Italian art and civilization, to pin labels and to asperse a nation.

The power of the spoken word, such as uttered by Churchill, inspires men and women in mortal danger to heights of courage and to the performance of great deeds. A word, "chicken", contemptible in itself, also has power—to drive youths to contemptible acts. To deflate the meaning of this word to its proper size, to render it as harmless as a chicken, is the problem.

Reader, South Slocan—Please print opening and closing dates for the Pacific National Exhibition in Vancouver.

August 21 to September 2.

R.D., Kimberley—Would you please give me the address of the Chicago Vocational School? Also would you give me the address of other schools that teach engineering by correspondence?

Vocational Training School, Chicago, Illinois, U.S.A., would be sufficient address. The B.C. High School Correspondence Courses give instruction in engineering. Write to Dr. E. E. Lucas, 544 Michigan Street, Victoria, for full information. The Institute of Technology, Calgary, also gives correspondence courses in engineering.

T.R.N., Rossland—As we shall be celebrating B.C.'s centennial next year, I would very much like to make myself a dress and accessories of the 1858 period. Where could I get patterns, or even pictures, of women's dresses in 1858?

We presume that any magazine that carries dress designs could supply you with patterns or pictures, if you wrote explaining what you want and why. You could also write to the Public Library Commission, Open Shelf Department, Parliament Buildings, Victoria, for books on costumes.

Steady Reader, Kimberley—Would you please publish the names of companies that would buy rough, green, unpealed pulpwood? When does the annual art contest, sponsored by the magazine "Seventeen", begin and who is eligible to enter?

We suggest you get in touch with local lumber dealers in Kimberley or Cranbrook regarding pulpwood. Referring to the question about "Seventeen" art contest, we regret we have no information. Perhaps other readers can help?

V.C., Rossland — Could someone tell me where to get instructions on how to make those wool cushions with the pom-poms? You make them over a frame, I believe.

If you were to write to the editor of any of the knitting magazines, you will be able to get this information.

Reader, New Denver—Please tell me how to get the black ink marks off flour sacks.

We are indebted to Mrs. L.G.M., Salmo, for the following advice: "I have had good success by soaking them first overnight and then, in hot water. I rub any good washing soap on the writing, rinse in hot water and repeat until the ink has pretty well gone. Sometimes I leave the sacks rolled up with the soap on them for a few hours. Finally, wash in machine, bleach, and rinse well.

Bachelors They Stay

Canada, at the last count, had 422,593 more bachelors than spinsters, a snippet of news which will either cheer you or shatter you, depending on whether you are an unmarried young woman or an unmarried young man.

For the girls, this lack of balance widens the field and they should whistle for joy, unless it also means that men are caring less about marriage; for young men, it increases competition and, alas, girls will expect to be spoiled even further.

The 1956 figures of the Bureau of Statistics show that there were 1,691,761 single males (over the age of 15) in Canada and 1,269,168 single women and that the margin between the two has been widening over the past five years.

Of the whole population, of all ages, 50.9 per cent are single, but in the country areas the percentage is much higher—57.

The rise in bachelordom's ranks could be caused either by the influx of young immigrants seeking economic security before wedding bells, or simply by a tendency to stay single longer. Or both.

But, undoubtedly, there is a strong core of die-hard bachelors, the men who become realists and are not tempted by romance, the men who acquire the "habit" of being a bachelor and won't change.

Or they may believe that marriages really are made in heaven and they're just waiting for "Miss Right."

But even these die-hards fall, e.g., this gentleman in Much Ado About Nothing.

"When I said I would die a bachelor, I did not think that I should live until I were married."—Toronto Telegram.

Praises Negro Worshippers

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) — A minister from Lachute, Que., says he found real spiritual warmth in a Negro congregation here.

"They put their life and heart into their religion," said Rev. Wilson Bridge, who preached his first sermon Sunday in a 30-day exchange of pulpits with the pastor of a Negro Methodist church here.

Before he began his sermon at Little Rock Zion Church, Bridge told the congregation:

"I am told you enjoy your religion. If you want to give vent to your feelings, you go to it."

And as he preached, the congregation came in on several occasions with a deep-throated "amen" and "yes, brother."

IDEA FROM AFRICA

The minister, who came to Canada from England in 1951, said the idea for the unusual pulpit exchange came when he read that the Hood Theological African Methodist Evangelical Zion Seminary in Salisbury was open to Christian men and women of all races.

"I thought that sounded marvelous," he said. He wrote Rev. A. A. Perry of Winston-Salem, an AME official, to ask about an exchange.

"When I asked officials of my church (the United Church of Canada) if it would be all right, they told me: 'God is the same father to all. Go ahead, man!' "

The Canadian minister, here with his wife and 14-year-old son, has exchanged pulpits with Rev. E. R. Michael.

New England Gets Relief From Drought

BOSTON (AP)—Farm and forestry officials agreed that the drought which has prevailed since last May has been broken by the rain which fell in most sections of New England Sunday.

Rhode Island got its first general rainfall since last April 9. Cape Cod which had not had a substantial rainfall since May got the heaviest fall.

U.K. Newspapers Continue To Lash Altrincham

LONDON (Reuters) — British newspapers for the third consecutive day continued to fret and fume over a Conservative aristocrat's criticism of the Queen, her mannerisms and her court.

Most papers agreed that 33-year-old Lord Altrincham's remarks were exaggerated — but they did contain a grain of truth in that the palace should not be cut off from modern life.

The Oxford - educated peer stirred up a storm of angry comment here last week in an outspoken article on the Queen in the National and English Review, a small-circulation periodical he edits.

In the article, Altrincham, who calls himself a "radical Tory," described the Queen's manner of speaking as a "pain in the neck," her utterances as those of a "priggish schoolgirl."

The nation's Sunday press joined the debate with comments on the article ranging from the Independent Observer' "schoolboyish" to the leftwing Reynolds News' "refreshing."

The Liberal Manchester Guardian says there would have been little notice taken of the article "if there was not in many people's minds a notion that any criticism of the Royal Family is a sort of sacrilege."

BAD TASTE

Springing to the Queen's defence, the Conservative Yorkshire Post says there may be a case for modernizing the court, but Altrincham's personal comments on the Queen "are in exceedingly bad taste."

The Laborite Daily Herald says palace authorities "are responsible for the material in royal speeches, the fatuity of which provokes Lord Altrincham's sarcasm."

It says the Queen, who "holds the respect of the vast majority of the British people . . . deserves better support from the palace authorities who remain hidebound by dead traditions."

SINGER MUCH BETTER

Malaya Readies For New Status

KUALA LUMPUR, Malaya (Reuters)—British and Malayan representatives took the last constitutional step necessary for Malaya to receive full independence.

Eight Malayan sultans, in silver-encrusted sarongs and carrying gold ceremonial swords, gave their approval to the new constitution which goes into effect when this British protectorate gains its freedom Aug. 31.

Signing for the British government was Sir Donald MacGillivray, the high commissioner, dressed in the epaulettes and sword of the colonial service full dress.

Malaya's ninth sultan, the sultan of Johore, was away in London. His son signed the agreement on his behalf.

At the same time, the 10 men revoked the agreement by which Britain assumed a protectorate over the Malay states in 1948.

The act cleared the way for Malaya's new independence within the Commonwealth and also put an end to British rule in the area. It was exactly 90 years ago that the states became a British crown colony, a status that lasted until Malaya become a protectorate in 1948.

Some Nurses I've Known

. . . F. B. PEARCE

I see that a California woman has been saying things about our nurses. I don't know a great deal about nurses. had an aunt who was a nurse and all I can remember is that she told us of two nurses sitting talking by the patient's bedside. When the patient interrupted to ask for a drink one of them said "You get on with your dying and don't bother us." A gruesome kind of a story but then my aunt was that sort of person. We would look forward to her visits because she had a fund of ghost stories and tales which chilled our blood but we liked that, and the more horrible they were the better we liked them.

The next lot of nurses I met was in the military hospital at Grantham. I was quite well enough to leave after the minor operation but they insisted that I stay, pointing out that I should get very much better food. I must say they were considerate. They even gave me a shot of whiskey with my preoperation medicine. I went to the operation room in a very pleasant state of mind.

ENJOYED STAY

I enjoyed my stay in that hospital. There were a bunch of Australians and one lone Canadian and one day the Aussies decided to tease the Canadian. It was all in full blast when a tall good-looking RAF officer blew in and got drawn into the argument. He announced that he was a Canadian and when I pointed out that he had no accent he declared that his family had been resident in Toronto for three generations. I said that he could not possibly come from Toronto because he did not pronounce the word properly. It should be said Tranta.

He laughed and we went on with ragging our Canadian patient who in desperation quoted that pleasant little poem which begins with, "Though other lands may be as fair . . ." but I stopped him short when I said "Yes, I know. 'My own Canadian 'ome."

The only time I have ever been a patient in our hospital was when the doctor popped me in with a carbuncle on my finger. I had one for three successive years in the Summer holidays which did not increase my enjoyment of that otherwise happy period. They were such horrible things that if I had a pimple on a finger I was scared still that I had another coming.

I WON

One night when I was sleeping when I was awakened by the night nurse. I think she was lonely and wanted to talk with me. Anything for a change I suppose but she wanted to squeeze the hydra-headed monster on my finger. I refused to let her. She was a pretty litle thing and she drew herself up to all of her five feet and said, "Mr. Pearce. I'm your nurse." To which I retorted "Nurse, it's my carbuncle." And I won.

I could have told her that the probationer had squeezed it already earlier in the day. It must have been the probationers sympathetic manner for I do not recall that she was wonderfully beautiful.

But this lady from California thinks all nurses should go to university but I don't agree. I think the old probationer system turned out a remarkable fine body of young nurses and how anyone can claim that training in a hospital is "unrealistic" beats me.

Family Meal Fosters Closer Companionship

By DR. G. C. MYERS

Because of the difference in the daily schedule of the parents and older children, some families rarely can sit down for a single, leisurely meal together. Many others, who easily could, do not.

In my home, my father expected all of us to be there when the meal began and he didn't say grace until we were. I can remember feeling vexed over this exactitude — I must have been a dawdler — but now I can see the virtue of his way.

Sometimes my mother would prepare a special dish for my father, usually when the main dish of the meal was not to his liking. We children accepted this as his way.

But, except when one of us was ill, no special dish was ever prepared for anybody else. We ate what was prepared for the family and enjoyed it.

SOMETHING EXTRA

In many a family today, after the mother has prepared a delicious well-balanced meal, one or several of the children will ask her to prepare something extra for them or they may leave the table and get it for themselves. With one or several children doing this at a meal, it can be disconcerting to the dinner atmosphere, surely disheartening to the mother.

Although this may afford lots of individuality, it hampers family unity and co-operation.

With more and more children dining out, especially for lunch, when they usually choose foods a la carte, this practice at home may grow. But I would like to suggest that parents start early to discourage it and encourage more reasonable conformity at meals.

Then radio and TV have impaired best family enjoyment together at mealtime.

At no other time is there so much opportunity for companionable conversation than at meals. Believing this, some parents manage to shut out the world at mealtime.

But how can there be calm and comfortable conversation in which all members of the family participate if the TV or radio is blaring away?

SEEKS ASYLUM

LONDON (Reuters) — Istvan Adam, private secretary to the Hungarian charge d'affaires in London, has sought asylum in Britain, a well informed source said Sunday. Adam, who came to Britain about a year ago, is said to have left the Hungarian legation last month and been granted political refuge here. A foreign office spokesman refused to comment on the report.

WHEN MRS. MARY YOUNG isn't busy caring for her home, husband and two children, she uses what little spare time she has inventing such things as the butter conditioner now found in most refrigerators and a holder designed to keep a mattress in place when hospital beds are pumped up. The brain child which has received the most publicity, however, is a diagonal subway which may solve Toronto's traffic problems. Back in 1955, the housewife-turned-inventor discovered that the heaviest demand for travel to work in Toronto is not strictly east-west but in diagonal directions. She presented her plan, seen above, to the city officials who told her "it was just one of those amateur ideas that are always being presented." Now, two years later, the Metro planning board has reached the same conclusion.

Swimming Best Way To Perfect Figure

By IDA JEAN KAIN

"What shocked me into writing for help in slimming was this: My bathing suit looked so nice in the store window, but when I put it on . . . oh! I bought it anyway and hope before the summer is over I will look the way I should in the suit."

That's the spirit! Curb your calories and get in and swim regularly and you can have a honey of a figure ere the summer is over. Just to show you what swimming can do for a girl's figure, take Esther Williams as a perfect example. Before Esther turned into a swimming champion, she was fired from her first job as a model because she didn't have a good enough figure.

Esther, who has these ideal proportions — bust 36, waist 26, hips 36, is enthusiastic about swimming as streamlining exercise. In this champion's opinion, swimming is the one exercise that rounds out curves as it slims down bulges. So, come on girls, get in the swim.

Any swim stroke is good, but some are particularly helpful for fixing certain figure faults. My favorite for desk workers is a smooth back stroke. The rhythmic reaching back with alternate arms and pulling smoothly through the water squares the shoulders and counteracts the continual forward bending. The back stroke tones the pectoral muscles of the chest and upper arms and also makes for a slim willowy waist and midriff. It's easy to learn this swim stroke . . . just floating with free wheeling motion. Lie on your back and circle alternate arms in a wide backward motion, bringing them down through the water in rhythmical, relaxing pattern.

The crawl reaches all the muscles. Turn your head from side to side with each stroke to tone the throat muscles and put dimples across the collar bones. The old fashioned breast stroke is rightly named for an effective curve builder. The side stroke makes for a willowy waist and streamlined midriff.

If you're not much of a swimmer, practice water calisthenics. Hang on to the side of the pool and swing alternate legs back against the resistance of the water. To tone inner thigh muscles, swing alternate legs sidewards in the water. The resistance afforded by the water makes such exercise twice as effective. And it is such a wonderful way to cool down as you shape up.

There is no strain connected with swimming. Buoyed up by the water, all parts of the body are free to move. Each set of muscles gets its allotted share of work without strain. Swimming also helps to strengthen a weak back. Of course, in such cases, fancy diving is strictly taboo.

Senior Woman Mayor Also "Most-Travelled"

By GERRY MARTIN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LEAMINGTON, Ont. (CP) — Mrs. Grace McFarland, Canada's senior woman mayor, is one of the most-travelled mayors in the country.

About 12,000 miles of travel to meet 30 out-of-town speaking engagements makes a typical year in the career of the charming brunette, mayor of this town of 8300 in Canada's "sun parlor," 30 miles southeast of Windsor, Ont.

Mrs. McFarland was elected Leamington's first woman mayor on December 5, 1951, after two years on town council. She had been deputy reeve for two years and was the first woman to sit on the town council and on the Essex county council.

"FINE TOWN"

She sums up her feelings about the town and perhaps the main reason why she is in office by saying simply "this is a nice place in which to live."

"I make no bones about the fact it's a fine town, because the record shows it's just that," she said. "We have some of the finest industries it is possible to get and our employment record is steady and good.

"We don't know what juvenile delinquency means here. We keep our children busy. Everybody helps. I can't believe that a busy boy or girl can be a delinquent."

Mrs. McFarland has a son, Dick, 22, who is an announcer with radio station CFOR at Orillia, Ont.

HUSBAND APPROVES

Her husband, Gordon, is an insurance adjuster. While his wife's job keeps her on the move, she has his complete approval of her political life.

"If he didn't approve I wouldn't be here," she said. "However, sometimes he does say he thinks he is married to an organization."

The organizations to which she belongs includes the Ontario Mayors Association of which she is vice-president, the provincial business and Professional Women's Association, the IODE and the women's auxiliary of the Canadian Legion.

The mayor admits her activities do not give her time to do all the housework she might like to do, but she does have time for her main hobby, woodworking.

"I love to work on cabinets and refinish old furniture," she said.

She declined a possible nomination as the Progressive Conservative candidate for Essex south in the recent dominion election, then acted as campaign manager for Richard Thrasher, an Amherstburg, Ont., lawyer, who won the seat from the Liberals.

A native of the Leamington district, Mrs. McFarland likes to tell the story of how she adopted her "parents."

When she was three years old her mother became ill and the little girl, wrapping her clothes in newspaper, went down the road to her mother's cousin.

"My mother died and what started out as a visit, turned out to be the real thing. At the age of 19, I was formally adopted by my foster parents."

She remarried after the death of her first husband. Her son, then in high school, immediately changed his surname to that of her present husband.

For the future, Mrs. McFarland says as far as politics are concerned, she "will wait and see."

Re-elected for her third term as mayor on Dec. 5, 1955, on her 45th birthday, Mrs. McFarland will be seeking re-election again next winter.

Pablo Casals Marries 21-Year-Old

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico (AP)—The marriage of 80-year-old cellist Pablo Casals to a 21-year-old music student was disclosed Monday by the judge who married them here last Saturday.

Casals, acknowledged as the world's greatest cellist, left San Juan Sunday with his bride, Marta Montanez of San Juan, to arrange for his Prades music festival in southern France next year.

The festival was not held as usual this year because Casals had a heart attack in April. Doctors said he recovered quickly. Casal's wife died in 1951.

Superior Court Judge Martin Almodovar of San Juan said he officiated at the quiet ceremony held in Casals' home just outside the Puerto Rican capital city.

Miss Montanez met Casals three years ago after winning a scholarship to study the cello with him at Prades.

Brideship Operetta May Be Revived For Centennial

VICTORIA (CP) — An operetta by Mme. Winnifred Lugrin Fahey of Victoria, featuring a brideship like that which brought the "king's girls" here in 1862, may form part of British Columbia's centennial celebrations in 1958.

There were about 6000 white men in British Columbia in 1862, but few white women. Arrangements were made in Britain for the emigration of boatloads of marriageable young women.

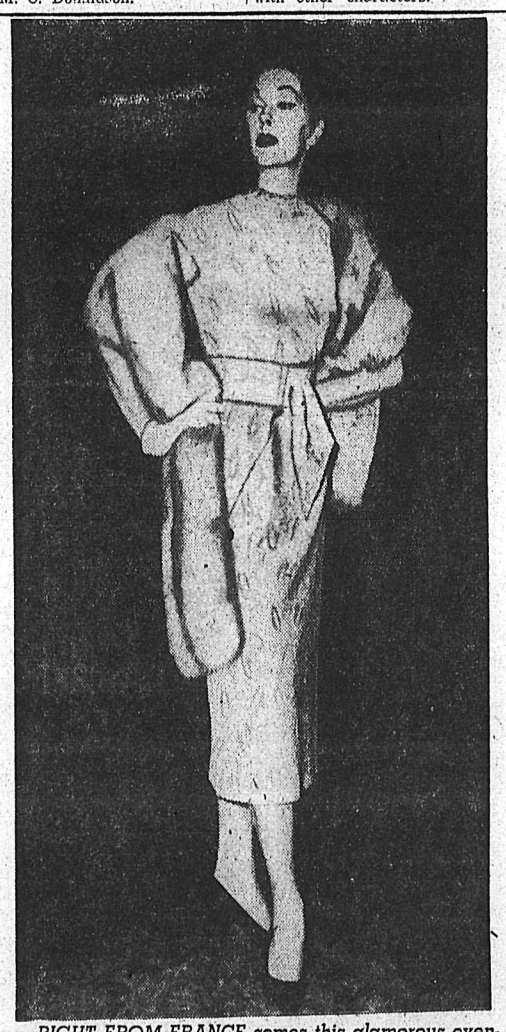
The sailing vessel Tynemouth left England in April, 1862, with 60 prospective brides who arrived here safely despite a plot to detour them during a stop at San Francisco.

QUICKLY WED

Thirty of the girls were married within a few weeks, and the others not long after. Another bevy of hopefuls, arrived on the Robert Lowe the following year, and did not long remain single.

Madame Fahey's operetta—The Bride Ship — was composed 30 years ago, and it was first produced in the ballroom of the old Vancouver Hotel in 1927. It later was staged successfully in Toronto, Guelph and Galt, Ont.

Plans for its revival as a centennial attraction next year involve a large cast. There are 14 lead parts, 20 or 30 brides and an equal number of bridegrooms, with other characters.



RIGHT FROM FRANCE comes this glamorous evening sheath designed by Tricosa-Feder of Paris. Discretely covered up and street length, it has been designed for dinner parties and theatre openings. The dress is made in a luxurious paisley pattern in platinum knitted cloth. The metal threads are knitted to the outside and the finest of wool yarn is used for next to the skin comfort. The slim frock features a high neckline and tiny cap sleeves with a waistline that is accented with an elasticized sash.

Hartnell Mum On Wardrobe For Queen's Visit

WINNIPEG (CP) — Norman Hartnell, the Queen's dress designer, arrived here by plane from London Sunday night explaining that it was not his own trip that left him exhausted, but the four made and to be made this year by his royal customer.

"Four royal trips abroad—Portugal, France, Denmark, next Canada — it's been a very busy year," he said in an interview.

Mr. Hartnell will be in Winnipeg four days and will make twice-daily appearances at showings of his designs of clothing and accessories. He will return to England from Winnipeg.

WEATHER FACTOR

He declined to discuss the Queen's wardrobe for her October visit except to say the weather will be kept uppermost in mind.

"I know all about your Indian summer and changeable fall weather," he said. "My designs will be adaptable to changes in climate."

Mr. Hartnell said he is very much a British designer, "extremely placid and conventional, establishing no vogues."

Of a current controversy over hemlines, he said only, "The kneecap is not a pretty feature."

Policewoman Says Shoplifters Are Skinflints

EDMONTON (CP) — Mrs. Eileen Finlayson, mother of three teen-agers, is a policewoman who has but one opinion of shoplifters. "They don't want to spend money."

Mr. Finlayson, one of nine policewomen in Edmonton, was an uptown department store detective for 10 years before she took her present job in the youth guidance division of the city police department.

"You hear talk about kleptomaniacs," she says, "but I never saw one, and in 10 years of store work there were only four of them who actually needed food."

She calls the light - fingered visitors who use the old shopping bag over the arm technique "sloppy." Professionals use their sleeves.

A good indication that a shoplifter is busy, says the former store detective, is an empty hanger in the clothing aisles.

Her experience has been that shoplifters keep away on days of big sales. She agrees it is possible they would go unnoticed in large crowds, but says "shoplifters like to work alone."

As a member of the youth guidance detail Mrs. Finlayson now is assisting in cases involving girls under 18 and boys under 16.

Discretion is needed in this type of work. "Many of the complaints are petty," she says. "It takes two to make a fight."

Icelanders Celebrate Gimli's Anniversary

GIMLI, Man. (CP)—Thousands of persons Monday took part in the 68th annual celebrations of Islendingadagurinn — Iceland Day—and the 82nd birthday of this small Icelandic community.

The celebrations commemorated the granting of a separate constitution and home rule to Iceland, Aug. 2, 1874 by the king of Denmark. Previously the country was a dependent and subject to Danish laws.

But to the many persons of Icelandic descent here the celebrations will bring back the history of Gimli, which on Oct. 21, 1875 became the first exclusively Icelandic settlement in North America.

On that day 285 Icelandic settlers arrived here, headed by Sigtryggur Jonasson.

Icelandic colonization in Canada began with the arrival in Quebec, Sept. 12, 1872 of Jonasson. The following year about 300 more settlers arrived and settled in the Haliburton and Muskoka districts of Ontario.

MOVED WEST

But lack of suitable land for a separate colony prompted the first arrivals to seek another home, somewhere in Western Canada.

Five men set out the next year —the summer of 1875—and decided on a plot of land on the west shore of Lake Winnipeg, 60 miles north of Winnipeg.

No preparation had been made for the arrival of the first group of 285. Before them lay a desolate lake shore and small but endless bogs inland.

Lack of shelter and an improper and milkless diet caused deaths from scurvy, exposer and starvation.

The following summer another 1,200 colonists arrived and formed an endless chain of settlements along about 40 miles of the lake shore.

RAVAGED BY SMALLPOX

The winter of 1876-77 was bitter and a smallpox epidemic caused 102 deaths.

Today there are about 30,000 persons of Icelandic decent in Canada, about 15,000 in Manitoba. Gimli, with 1,300, is the largest settlement.

The majority still follow the life of the first settlers—fishing and farming.

The grain elevator, symbol of the Prairies, is replaced here by a lighthouse on the end of a pier. Many fishing boats line the shore by it.

Others have turned to politics, education, writing and sports.

LEGISLATURE MEMBER

Jonasson became the first Icelandic member of the Manitoba legislature. Another early settler, Wm. H. Paulson, was the first to enter the Saskatchewan government.

Byron "Boss" Johnson, became the first Icelandic - Canadian to head a provincial political party and he later became premier of British Columbia.

Stephen G. Stephasson—the federal government honored him by naming a park in Alberta in his memory—was one of Canada's better-known poets.

In sports, Winnipeg Falcons, composed entirely of Icelandic-Canadians with one exception, won the world hockey championships in 1920 without a loss in the series.

Continue Hunt For Petrov

MONTREAL (CP)—Deputy Director Lepold Trottier of the Quebec Provincial Police, investigating the disappearance of Larry Petrov, left Monday for the Laurentians to look into a report of a newly-dug grave near Lac Ouareau, 75 miles north of here.

Police said a woman reported finding what looks like a grave while berry-picking near the spot on Lac Ouareau where a man's limb was found three weeks ago.

Medico-legal experts have established that the limb came from a man fitting the description of Petrov, who disappeared while awaiting trial on a narcotics charge. He was being sought for questioning in connection with a bank robbery in suburban Outremont.

Police fear he was a victim of a gangland slaying, his body dismembered and scattered about the countryside.

Police said the berry picker reported coming on a spot where the turf had been laid aside and replaced, signifying a recent burial.

Meanwhile, police reported that blood - stained towels, socks and running shoes found in the area last week have been traced to a boys' camp. One of the campers cut his foot and abandoned the clothing.

Hailstones Damage Ontario Tobacco

BRANTFORD (CP)—Three destructive hailstorms struck the Southern Ontario tobacco-growing region during a six-hour period Saturday, causing damage estimated unofficially at $5,000,000.

The vicious storms left a trail of destruction 20 miles long and two miles wide.

Tobacco losses were estimated to range from 50 per cent on some farms to 100 per cent on others. The hailstones were described as the size of golf balls in some areas.

King Penquin Chick Dies Prematurely

VANCOUVER (CP) — A king penguin chick cut through it's shell prematurely and died Sunday after a 53-day watch by Stanley Park Zoo officials.

Alan Best, zoo curator, said the chick failed to make the crucial moment when it must stop breathing through the shell and start breathing outside air.

Meanwhile, another king penguin chick, born last Tuesday, has doubled its weight and looks as healthy as possible, said Best.

"Now that we have only one chick to look after, we will really have to coddle it to give it a chance to live."

Lorado Officially Opens Uranium Refining Mill

BEAVERLODGE, Sask. (CP) Saskatchewan's third uranium refining mill, the $9,220,000 Lorado Uranium Mines Limited Monday was officially opened at this mining centre, 600 miles northwest of Regina.

The machinery of the automatically-controlled plant, two years under construction, was set in operation by Lorado President K. S. Oliver at a ceremony attended by Saskatchewan Mineral Resources Minister J. H. Brockelbank and other government officials.

The mill will handle ore from five uranium properties in the Beaverlodge area and when it reaches its ultimate capacity of 650 to 700 tons daily, will be the largest custom mill in northern Saskatchewan. Its immediate capacity is about 500 tons daily.

Following increased output this year at the crown-owned Eldorado Mining and Refining Limited and Gunnar mills, provincial government officials estimated Saskatchewan's uranium output in 1957 will be 4,400 tons a day with a total value of $54,000,000, double last year's figure.

GOVERNMENT CONTRACT

The new mill has a contract with the federal government to sell uranium ore concentrate to Eldorado to the value of $64,480,000 by March 31, 1963.

Lorado will be immediately milling 100 tons daily of its own ore. It has contracts to mill ore for five properties at the following ultimate rates: Cayzor Athabaska Mines Ltd., 250 tons daily; Lake Cinch Mines Limited, 150 tons; St. Michael's Uranium, 75 tons; National Explorations Limited, 50 tons; and Black Bay Uranium, 25 tons.

Of these properties, St. Michael's Uranium is closed down and Lorado will be milling ore from its stockpile. National Explorations is in the process of shutting down and ore from its stockpile also will be milled in the meantime. Either of these properties may eventually resume production.

The Lorado mill is expected to fill an urgent need since the terrain in the Beaverlodge area is extremely rough and the mines in its vicinity could not deliver ore to the Eldorado mill, which so far has been doing all the custom milling in the area.

Mayflower's Trip Favored To Canada

WASHINGTON (AP) — If the Mayflower II sails up the route of the St. Lawrence Seaway to visit great lakes ports, it will do so with the blessing of the State Department.

But the future owners of the vessel wonder who will pay for the voyage.

Senator Charles E. Potter (Rep. Mich.), who last month proposed the seaway trip for the replica of the pilgrim ship, Saturday released a letter from Christian A. Herter, undersecretary of of state, endorsing the idea.

At Martha's Vineyard, Mass., Henry Hornblower II, president of Plymouth Plantation, Inc., to which the vessel is scheduled to be presented, said his group had not been consulted.

"Everyone seems to want the Mayflower," Hornblower said. "But there's been no talk of who will pay for the trips."

The state department said that once the trip becomes definite it should be co-ordinated with Canada.

The Mayflower II now is on exhibit in New York harbor. The vessel sailed from England to Plymouth, Mass., earlier this year.

Employment Puts Responsibility On Both Employer and Employee

By FORBES RHUDE
Canadian Press Business Editor

One of the results of the Second World War was to make depressions "socially unacceptable."

In 1939 the Western world—particularly North America—was still emerging from years of depression and was having rather indifferent success in re-establishing prosperity.

Then came the war and suddenly there was something for everyone to do and money was found in colossal amounts.

This sudden switch made a deep impression—even if a subconscious one—on the minds of people.

Henceforth it would be difficult to persuade them that no way could be found to keep them at work, if they were willing to work, if there was nee for the goods they could produce, and if plant and materials were at hand with which to work and produce.

The reasoning became, in effect: "If you can find money and means to fight a war you can find them to fight a depression."

Along with the switch from semi - depression to war - time prosperity were other factors; such as the heart-burnings of the depression years, the search for ways of avoiding a repetition of such a catastrophe and the revolution in social thinking which accompanied the "new deal"

FULL EMPLOYMENT

The over-all result was the adoption by governments of "full employment" philosophies and policies.

"Full employment" is, indeed, a wonderful thing—if we have accomplished it — but it is not manna from heaven which will continue to fall just because it is needed.

It puts tremendous responsibilities upon governments—that is obvious — but it also puts tremendous responsibilities upon the individual citizen—and this may not be so generally recognized.

Full employment as a policy doesn't yet mean that the world owes everyone a living. It does mean that we hope the opportunity can be provided for everyone to make a living—and that probably something will be done for anyone who can't find that opportunity.

If, however, full employment is interpreted as meaning that there must be a job for everyone, no matter how little a person puts into the job, it is pretty sure to run into a disaster of industrial inefficiencies and rising costs.

In the post-war years so far, because of a variety of dynamic forces let loose in the world, it has been relatively easy to maintain such a policy. Perhaps it may continue to be relatively easy to maintain it—then, again, difficulties may arise.

TESTING TIME

If and when the difficulties arise, that will be a testing time, not only of governments, but of the maturity of peoples.

There may be certain penalties to face up to; and there will be need of a realization that we have yet much to learn about making the magic formula work.

Governmental authorities, and others, put a lot of faith in monetary and fiscal policies—policies which will tame down excesses of activity when they seem needed, and policies which will encourage activity when it shows signs of failing.

These seem to have been used with considerable success in the post-war years, but the time of their greatest testing may lie ahead. We may have to try out many new solutions scarely apparent now.

Even the phrase full employment is not well defined. Few would say it means "no employment." In recent years in Canada, it has generally been felt that the worry point has been reached when unemployment reaches, or promises to reach, five per cent of the labor force.

Some take the view that a substantial portion of unemployment would be a good antidote to current high prices.

This thinking, however, seems to get into the realm of what is "socially unacceptable" and politically upsetting in a broad sense.

Dams Burst On Gallinas River

LAS VEGAS, N.M. (AP) — Three dams on the Gallinas River burst early Monday, sending an estimated 90,000,000 gallons of water rushing through Las Vegas and flooding homes above and below the city to a depth of up to 14 feet.

There was no loss of life reported, although damage to livestock and property was heavy. National Guardsmen and lawmen evacuated hundreds of persons from river bank homes. The river, swollen by heavy rainfall, was falling as dawn broke.

Las Vegas itself, a north-central New Mexico city of about 14,000 some 50 miles due east of the state capital of Santa Fe, escaped flooding. The river banks held well within the city.

Radio calls from rescue workers further south of the city reported the flood crest had passed the village of Lourdes 18 miles from Las Vegas with no damage.

Road communications in the area were partially disrupted as bridges washed out. Boulders "as big as desks" and giant pines ripped from their roots littered the highways.

Indians, Dodgers Monday's Winners

By The Canadian Press

Mike Garcia beat New York Yankees for the first time in more than two years Monday as Cleveland broke the league-leaders' eight-game winning streak 7-2 at New York. The defeat cut the Yanks' margin over idle Chicago to six games.

Don Larsen was the victim of the Tribe's eight - hit attack which included a three - run homer by Gene Woodling in the eighth. The former Yankee drove in five runs with his 10th homer and a second-inning single.

Garcia allowed nine hits.

Woodling put the game beyond reach in the ninth. With the Indians holding a 4-2 lead, Larry Raines and Bobby Avila singled. Woodling followed with his home run into the upper field stands.

New York tore into Garcia for two in the second inning when Larsen singled to centre with the bases full.

The Yanks put the heat on the big righthander in the seventh when singles by Larsen and Enos Slaughter and a walk to Bill Skowron filled the bases with one out. Garcia rose to the occasion, striking out Mickey Mantle and making Yogi Berra foul out to Larry Raines.

Mantle walked four times in the five trips for a total of 121 this season.

At Brooklyn the Brooklyn Dodgers scored a tie-breaking, fifth-inning run without a hit and went on to defeat New York 5-2 Monday night despite a one-man show by Willie Mays, who had four hits and drove in both Giant runs with his 25th homer.

The Giant centerfielder was a bit of a goat, too, however—with his error giving the Brooks an unearned run and bouncing out to end the game with two men on base.

The third-place Dodgers moved within 2½ games of the National League lead and within two games of second place. It was the only game scheduled.

Righthander Ray Crone, who lost his fifth in a row for a 4-6 record, gave up his only walk to leadoff man Junior Gilliam in the payoff fifth inning. Junior stole second, went to third as Mays made a great run into left to grab Gino Cimoli's long fly, and then hustled home on Elmer Valo's high infield chopper.

The Brooks wrapped it up for good with two in the seventh as young Don Drysdale gained a 9-6 record with his third victory in a row. The tall righthander gave way to Clem Labine, who nailed Mays on a 3-2 pitch, after Don Mueller's pinch infield single and Danny O'Connell's single to left in the ninth.

Mays, who also had three singles, swatted his fifth home run in six games after O'Connell had opened the third with a double. But Willie booted the lead away in the bottom of the third when Cimoli, playing centerfield for the injured Duke Snider, singled to centre and went to second as Willie bobbled the ball. An infield out and Gil Hodges' hard smash to third for a single brought Gino around for the 2-2 tie.

"Gopher-Ball" Mark for Pete

WASHINGTON (AP) — Pete Ramos, Washington pitcher, hit his first major league home run Sunday and won his eighth game of the season in an 8-4 victory over Detroit. But the record books will mark the day for another reason.

Ramos, after stroking a three-run homer to get the Senators off to a lead, gave up home runs himself to Detroit's Al Kaline, Bill Tuttle and Ray Boone.

The three blasts made it 35 home runs of Ramos this season, an all-time American League record. The old mark of 34 in a season was held by Ramos' buddy and roommate, Camilo Pascual.

BRAGAN SIGNS WITH CUBAN WINTER LEAGUE

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Bobby Bragan, who lost his job as field manager of the Pittsburgh Pirates Saturday, Monday signed a contract for a similar post with the Alemandares club in the Cuban winter league.

The pact is said to call for Bragan to receive $10,000.

The former Pirate manager is scheduled to join Alemandares in October.

Marlene Again The One To Beat

By W. R. WHEATLEY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

MONTREAL (CP) — Marlene Stewart Streit, ready to defend her Canadian ladies' open amateur golf championship, led the qualifying round in a breeze Monday with a four under-par 73 and stamped herself again as the one to beat when match play starts today.

Closest to her was Mrs. Maurice Glick of Baltimore, Md., with par 77 followed by Marjorie Burns of Greensboro, N.C., with 78, and Mrs. Charles F. Spalding of Greenwich, Conn., with 79.

A fourth American entry among six who started — Mrs. Norman Woolworth of New Canaan, Conn., qualified easily with 84. Jean Bell of Cleveland missed qualifying with her 93.

There was a parade of Canadian girls from 81 to 90, the last qualifying figure which brought about a five-way sudden - death playoff.

CALGARY GIRL BIDS

Mona Norup of Calgary won the playoff spot at the third hole. Two withdrew from the sudden-death playoff, Heather Lawrence of Clear Lake, Man., and Sandra Luchuk of Smiths Falls, Ont.

Miss Morup, a junior, and Mrs. Graeme Pyke, Montreal veteran, each took par five at the first hole while Kathy Newton of Cleveland took a six and was eliminated.

The remaining two parred the second. At the short par-three third Mrs. Pyke three-putted the green for a four and Miss Morup was down in par three.

Marlene fired her 73 Monday with the same machine-like golf that gave her the Canadian ladies' close title last Saturday for the seventh straight time. She has won the open title four times in the last six years.

ESKS DOWN LIONS 14-11

VANCOUVER (CP) — Edmonton Eskmos scored a 14-11 victory over B. C. Lions Monday night for their second victory in the three-game exhibition football series but it was a touch and go battle all the way.

There was no scoring in the first quarter and the two WIFU clubs each scored converted touchdowns in the second quarter.

In the third quarter Lions picked up a field goal and a single for an 11-7 lead and it appeared the Lions might upset the Grey Cup champions who lost in their last appearance here last Sept. 24.

Delay Works To Advantage Of Belgian

BRUSSELS (AP)—Belgium unexpectedly won the Davis Cup European zone tennis finals Monday when Philippe Washer defeated Italian Nicola Pietrangeli 6-4, 3-6, 6-8, 7-5, 6-2.

The Belgians will face the winner of the U.S.-Philippines match for the right to challenge Australia for the trophy in December. Dates haven't been set.

The United States completed a 5-0 route of Brazil in the American zone final Sunday at Brookline, Mass.

Washer had to stage a rally to beat Pietrangeli in the final match, which was interrupted Sunday with the Italian leading 4-6, 6-3, 8-6, 1-2.

The interruption obviously played in favor of the Belgian. He is 10 years older than 23-year-old Pietrangeli. Washer, leading in the fourth set, had a tough time saving his advantage and preventing the Italian from bringing a quick decision.

The victory gave Belgium a 3-2 edge in the best-of-five series. The Belgians last represented Europe in the inter-zone matches in 1953 when they were beaten by the United States at Brisbane, Australia.

8-5 Win for Mcs Ties Series 2-2

Mc & Mcs evened the Babe Ruth playoffs at Queen Elizabeth Park Saturday evening with an 8-5 win over the K.C.s. The K.C.s won the opening game a week ago. The second game was called at the end of the third with the K.C.s leading. The third game last Saturday's went to the Mc & Mcs getting an 8-5 verdict. The next game of the series is slated for this evening at Queen Elizabeth Park.

In Saturday's contest southpaw Doug Florio, although yielding eleven hits, kept the big guns of the Cubs silent and that actually spelled the difference between the two clubs. He walked one batter and hit on. Kieth Fredrickson on the mound for the Cubs gave up nine hits but five of them were doubles, Mike Ingledew getting two, Larry Threatful two and Douglas one.

Swimmer Loses Strait Bid by 1,500 Yards

VICTORIA (CP) — A young California swimming instructor making her second marathon attempt failed by less than 1,500 yards Monday in her bid to become the fourth person to conquer Juan de Fuca Strait.

But 22-year-old Myra Thompson of San Francisco shattered endurance records for the 18.3-mile Victoria - Fort Angeles, Wash., crossing in the second annual $10,000 junior chamber of commerce mass swim.

One of 17 starters, Miss Thompson was in the water 16 hours 17 minutes—beating by far the record of 12½ hours. She was less than a mile from shore at one point. Changing tides forced her back out to sea.

Miss Thompson received $2,500 for covering the greatest distance. Had she completed the swim she would have been given $5,000. Second prize of $1,250 went to Amy Hiland, Long Beach, Calif., 12 hours 36 minutes; third, $750, Billie Benedict, Victoria, 12 hours 21 minutes; and $500 to Jene Perle, Long Beach, 10 hours 21 minutes.

FIELD CUT DOWN

Changing tides and shifting winds eliminated seven swimmers in less than 3½ hours after the start here Sunday. They were Allan Small, Victoria; Douglas Rivette, Victoria; Anita Long, Victoria; Fred Rogers, San Francisco; Bruce Holmes, Victoria; Albert Black, Atlantic City, and Jason Greganos, New York and Greece.

Within another six hours, the field was narrowed to four with the elimnated of Toufi Blake, San Francisco; Paul Herron, Sacramento; Charles Grover, Roxbury, Mass.; Anna Burian, Vancouver; Janice White, Detroit; and Ben Laughren, Victoria.

Jene Perle, Long Beach, dropped out with severe cramps an hour later after holding the lead almost six hours.

Of the original 17 starters, only three — all women — were left; Miss Thompson, Amy Hiland and Billy Benedict.

After 12½ hours Amy Hiland and Billie Benedict were pulled into the boats.

"I was thinking about the $5,000 first prize (if she completed the swim). I was thinking about the people who were rooting for me, too. I was cold," Miss Thompson said.

Gold Cup Record Falls Twice

SEATTLE (AP) — The Gold Cup qualifying record was broken twice Monday as the first of the 20 speedboats expected to enter Sunday's main event here began qualifying runs on Lake Washington.

Miro Slovak, a Czech airman who fled to the West and became a speedboat pilot, pushed the Miss Wahoo to a record of 112.344 miles an hour over a three-mile course.

But the record was shortlived. Two hours later Bill Stead drove Edgar Kaiser's Maverick at an average of 117.054 to top Slovak's mark.

Favored Netsters Still on Top

TORONTO (CP)—Favorites, including Toronto's Don Fontana, Montreal's Henri Rochon and Vancouver's Paul Willey brushed aside opposition Monday in the third day of play in the Ontario open tennis championship.

Rochon defeated L. St. Pierre of Toronto 6-1, 6-1 and W. Warren, of Toronto, 6-1, 6-0.

Willey, a member of the Canadian Davis Cup team, had no trouble dusting off Toronto's Don Green 6-2, 6-2.

Second ranking player in Canada, Don Fontana whipped his clubmate, young Phil Cate 6-3, 6-1.

Kicken got Kimberley's lone counter.

In Cranbrook, the Town Rovers defeated Michel 2-0.

Saturday's results in opening games of the Crahan Cup round-robin home-and-home series were: Cranbrook 0 Michel 1 at Michel, and Fernie 2, Kimberley 6 at Kimberley.

All four clubs are tied in the competition with two points each gained from a win and a loss.

PETE IN SEATTLE FOR TITLE BOUT

Rademacher said he thinks his chances are good against Patterson, the world champion.

The fight, 2½ weeks away, has been blasted by Floyd Stevens, president of the NBA and several others as a mismatch. Rademacher has never had a professional fight.

Patterson is expected to arrive about 10 days before the bout.

De Vicenzo Takes All-American Title

CHICAGO (AP)—Roberto de Vicenzo Monday won the $25,000 all-American golf championship at Tam O'Shanter with a closing 70 for a 15-under-par 273. Gene Littler, closing with a record-matching 63, took second with 277.

The victory, Roberto's second in five tournament starts this year, was worth $3,500. It set up the 220-pound pro, who now registers from Mexico City, among the $101,200 world championship starting at Tam O'Shanter Thursday.

Stan Leonard of Lachute, Que., shot a fine 69 Monday, one lower than the winner. He finished in an eighth-place tie with 71-70-74-69—284. He was even with little-known Tom Talkington of Michigan and just ahead of Arnold Palmer and Cary Middlecoff.

The 34-year-old de Vicenzo, who had hauled away more than $13,000 in his five appearances at Tam and finished third twice, had a cool 36-34 final round. He hooked his 70 to previous trips of 69-64-70 for the 15-under-par 273. It was the second lowest 72-hole tally since the meet was inaugurated, matching the 273 of Ted Kroll's world card last year and Ben Hogan's world effort of 1951.

The record, however, is 269 by Byron Nelson in the 1945 all-American.

De Vicenzo became the first foreign player to win any of Tam's titles since South African Bobby Locke's victories in 1948 and 1950.

Roberto's win, boosting his winnings for the year to $10,090, was slightly overshadowed by the closing round of Littler, who took second money of $2,300.

His nine - under - par figure matched the competitive record of Lloyd Mangrum set in 1948 and if broken would have been worth $10,000.

Needing an eagle two on the last hole to shatter the record, Littler pulled out a wedge from about 120 yards away. His ball hit in front of the pin and skidded to a stop 2½ feet away. He dropped the putt for a birdie and a round of 33-30—63.

Sam Snead rolled into third place with a final 36-35—71 for 278 and $1,800.

Wing Jet Wins

SARATOGA, N.Y. (CP) — Merrick Stable's Wing Jet captured the 83rd running of the Flash Stakes before a record opening crowd of 16,408 Monday as Saratoga began its annual four - week meet.

Wing Jet, under Willie Lester, came from last place among 12 juveniles to win by 1½ lengths over Counter Spy. Louis d'Or was third.

Wing Jet, paying $60.80, $17.20 and $6.80, ran the 5½ furlongs on an "off" track in 1:07 3-5. His share of the gross purse of $17,975 was $12,550.

Williams Has Chance To Reach .400 Again

NEW YORK (AP)—With a .389 batting average and less than one third of the season remaining, Ted Williams stands a good chance of finishing over .400 for the second time in his brilliant big league career.

But the 38-year-old Boston Red Sox' outfielder will have to improve on his performance against the Washington Senators.

The Red Sox are scheduled to play 12 of their remaining 51 games against the seventh-place Senators. And in their first 10 meetings, Williams managed to collect only 10 hits in 34 times at bat for a .294 mark. Against the rest of the teams in the league Williams is well over the .300 mark.

Williams who batted .406 in 1941 and has captured the American League title four times, has hit safely in his last 13 games and 24 of his last 25.

In last week's games, Ted streaked at a .538 pace. He had 14 safeties in 26 tries and increased his average 13 points.

Mickey Mantle of the Yankees remained in second place. He climbed 16 points to 3.68 with 13 hits in 21 at bats.

CLOSE BATTLE....

In the National League, Hank Aaron of Milwaukee and Stan Musial of St. Louis are competing for the lead. Aaron, last year's champion, is batting .337 to Musial's .333. In last week's action, Aaron slumped five points with six hits in 24 trips while Musial, a six-time kingpin, dropped one point.

Dick Groat of Pittsburgh still is in contention with a .329 mark.

Roy Sievers of Washington gained considerable ground in the American League home run and runs batted in races. He took over the RBI lead with 79 and tied Williams for the top spot in homers at 30. Sievers drove in seven runs and walloped six circuit blows last week.

Mantle is second in both categories with 29 homers and 75 runs batted in.

Musial drove in eight runs to move into the No. 1 position in the National League with 85 RBIs, two more than Aaron. Aaron has hit the most homers, 31.

Recreation Is Job Of Ottawa Quartet

By JACK VAN DUSEN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP) — A four-man staff operating from a one-time boarding house in central Ottawa runs what may be the biggest recreation association of its kind in North America.

English - born Arthur Sykes, manager, and Al Hern, sports director from Montreal, are helped by two office workers and many volunteers in operating the "RA", the civil service recreation association.

The association has as members 11,000 of the capital's 30,000 federal workers.

"And we're trying for another 5000 this year," said Len Hill, president of the association and one of the hundreds of volunteers who do 95 per cent of the work of the association.

Mr. Hill, 53-year-old Ottawa-born chief of personnel of the House of Commons staff, has served 14 years on the elected 24-man board of directors of the association. He is in his second year as president.

He and Jack Vinokuer, 42-year-old member of the civil service commission staff, talked of the 16-year history of the association during an interview.

Mr. Vinokuer, a native of Montreal, is voluntary editor of the monthly RA News, official publication of the association.

"The RA was formed in 1941 when the city was being flooded with thousands of civil servants here for the war and there was a crying need for recreation—and inexpensive recreation," said Mr. Vinokuer.

NOMINAL FEE

"The fees were 25 cents a year then and still are," said Mr. Hill. However, extra charges are made for special activities.

Mr. Sykes, retired from the revenue department, handles the business end of the RA from the old three-storey house on Lisgar Street which will soon be replaced by a modern $1,000,000 building on a 32-acre site in the city's southern outskirts.

The RA already has $750,000 on hand for the new headquarters, which will bring under one roof most of its 40 activities, ranging from the biggest bridge and chess clubs in Canada to curling, softball, basketball, and stamp collecting. Construction is expected to start this fall.

Activities like the yacht club, flying club and skiing club will continue to operate where facilities are at hand—Dow's Lake on the Rideau Canal, Uplands Airport, and the Gatineau Hills in neighboring Quebec.

Other activities include low-cost guided excursions to the Caribbean and Europe every year, a camera club, opera club and art club. Beauty contest is held every year to choose Miss Civil Service.

Basic fee is 25 cents a year, but expensive activities like yachting and flying involve an extra expense of about $10 a year, rarely more. The four-week excursion to Europe, which include visits to six of seven countries, cost about $600, and include transportation, meals and accomodation. The 17 - day Caribbean cruise costs $225.

The Highways

Rossland, Trail, Castlegar, Nelson Balfour, Kootenay Bay, Creston, Goatfell — good, construction three to four miles.

Goatfell, Cranbrook, Fernie, Crowsnest — fair to good, construction Mile 470 to Mile 480, Mile 483 to Mile 490.

Nelway, Vernon — New Denver, Nakusp, Needles — reconstruction at 12 Mile for three to four miles. Needles, Monashee — fair to good, construction.

Kingsgate, Cranbrook, Golden — generally good, patching blacktop.

Nelson, Kaslo — construction Balfour to Coffee Creek, rough.

Divide Inheritance With Mother

VANCOUVER (CP) — A widow in Hamilton, Ont., who was left $10 by her estranged husband, Henry McDade, will get the bulk of his estate.

McDade, a gardener, died here March 7, 1955, leaving an estate valued at $14,000, but subject to $9000 debts.

He directed that it be divided between two sons, Peter in Moose Jaw, Sask., and Henry in Hamilton, after paying his wife $10.

Mr. Justice H. A. Maclean was told in Supreme Court Monday that Peter had agreed to accept $500 and Henry had consented to payment of all his share to his mother, who makes her home with him.

Mrs. Elizabeth McDade invoked the testators' Family Maintenance Act and, with the consent of her two sons, she will now receive about $4500. She is 63.

Today's Young Men Are Dressy

NEW YORK (AP)—The young men who get to the top of the business world in a hurry seem to be a dressy lot.

The survey was conducted by the American Institute of Men's and Boys' wear to see if the young executive has been doing right by the apparel industry.

Asked how many suits each owned, the youthful bosses gave a range of 60 to three, with the average coming out at 14 3 a man —averages having a way of showing that odd decimal. They buy three or four suits a year, usually in the spring or fall.

SMART CREDENTIALS

The corporate chiefs think personal appearance is a help to them in carrying on their present tasks and also to any other man headed in the same direction. But they are much more emphatic about the part the other fellow's personal appearance plays when they are sizing him up and they stress the impact upon them of a first impression.

Getting back to their 140 wardrobes, the shirt supply ranges from 100 to 10, averaging 29 each—with 23 of the shirts plain and six fancy.

The younger president is well stocked with socks. One man says he has 100 pairs. The average has 30, with 22 of them in solid colors and eight patterned.

He gets along with 10 pairs of shoes and four hats (with one having 16).

One man has 200 neckties on his rack. The average is 65. But one executive finds 12 enough.

Mostly the top man makes do with two overcoats, two topcoats and 1.5 raincoats.

SPORTSWEAR FOR LEISURE

Living can be casual at times even on the heights. The corporate presidents own an average 3.8 sports coats, with the top number 15, and figure that one-fourth of their entire wardrobe is in the sports category. The majority never wear sports clothes to business, although 14 of them do regularly, and a few others do occasionally.

Three-fourths of them think a chest pocket handkerchief a must for proper dress. The majority own a tuxedo.

One man has 50 sets of links and studs to choose from. On average they own seven sets of male jewelry.

One president makes do with just one pair of pajamas—another needs 20—and the average is 5.8 pairs.

Well, here we are well into the first week of August. People have been leaving our office for holidays apple blossom white and returning cherry pink. Well, not exactly, for I don't think there has been enough sun anywhere in this region for that. "Ho-ho!" I say, "perhaps September will be the nice month this year." (My holidays are during the first two weeks.)

Yes, Summer is far gone and people, realizing this, will be stirring their stumps to get in a few weiner roasts and corn roasts and marshmallow toasts. Someone was telling me that weiners and corn boiled in the same kettle are particularly appetizing — I suppose this is an old trick but I haven't tasted it.

* * *

Oh, there's nothing like a bonfire on the sand with weiners falling off the stick into the ashes and sand and marshmallows burning to a crisp. There's nothing like the way the coffee boils over spewing all the coffee into the flames and leaving the tinted water behind in the pot. There is nothing like the way the fire gobbles up every stick of driftwood for miles and no one seems to notice when it needs a bit more. But aren't they fun, really!

* * *

Then someone strikes up a song and there's always somebody who doesn't mind making a fool of himself to give the bunch a laugh and someone else envious of the spotlight follows suit. And as you sit there with your front scorching, the chill night air blowing down your back and the dampness creeping up through the sand you know you're in for a bout of rheumatics, but do you care? Do you? Well, if you do you can be sure you're on the down grade — you're over the hill. Happy beach parties everybody.

* * *

A few excerpts from the daffy dictionary:

ultramarine — a marine that is really;

stomach rumble — organ music;

stool pigeon — a girl eating at a lunch counter.

* * *

By the way, you should pay a visit to Cottonwood Falls some evening. The spotlight on the falls is really spectacular.

Suggest Trial Period Before Treaty . . .

Churches Say Test Halt Would Spur Disarmament

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP)— The World Council of Churches urged Mon. that governments act on their own and stop nuclear bomb tests for a trial period as a means to spur disarmament treaties.

A meeting of the council's central committee, its interim policy making body, adopted the statement saying:

"We know that a comprehensive program for disarmament must proceed by stages, and we realize how much depends upon the deepening of confidence between nations.

"But we urge that as a first step governments conducting tests should forgo them, at least for a trial period, either together or individually, in the hope that others will do the same, a new confidence be born and foundations be laid for reliable agreements."

The meeting, representing 165 Protestant and Orthodox denominations in 50 countries, approved the document without a dissenting vote. Several, however, abstained from voting.

The Archbishop of Canterbury, most Rev. Geoffrey Francis Fisher, hailed the pronouncement as an "extremely powerful and important statement of Christianity on the whole range of the problem raised by nuclear weapons."

RCMP Remove Proposed Flag

OTTAWA (CP) — A proposed new Canadian flag flew from a Parliament Hill flagpole early Monday, but not for long. Patrolling RCMP officers, who discovered the flag, quickly removed it from a pole near the monument to Queen Victoria west of the centre block of the Parliament Buildings.

The three-foot by four-foot, six-inch flag featured a gold maple leaf with the words "Canada" in gold below it on a blue field with a three-inch gold border.

RCMP are looking for the persons who put it there. One clue is an early-morning phone call to an Ottawa radio station from a caller who said the flag was on the hill. He said he could not identify himself because he was "one of the gang that put it up."

Prince Charles Goes To Cowes Regatta

COWES, England (AP)—Prince Philip, who has taken a personal hand in seeing that Prince Charles grows up into a real outdoor boy, Monday brought his eight-year-old son here for Cowes race week. The young heir to the throne will spend the whole week at the famous fashionable regatta with his father, an expert sailor who is competing in the races.

This is Charles' initiation into sailing, though he already has been personally taught the rudiments of cricket and polo by the sports-loving Philip.

Earsplitting Applause For Canada's Mounties

SUTTON PARK, England (CP) Canada's Mounties received an ear - splitting international welcome Monday when they performed their celebrated musical ride at the world gathering of Boy Scouts here.

Some 35,000 scouts from 84 countries, to many of whom the RCMP is an almost legendary force, lined four miles of roadway inside the camp to cheer and wave to the Canadian troopers, resplendent in full-dress scarlet tunics.

The welcome was almost equal to that given to the Queen and the Duke of Edinburgh when they visited the Warwickshire camp Saturday.

The RCMP detachment, under command of Inspector J. G. C. Downey, spent considerable time riding through the various jamboree sub-camps after giving a performance in the huge camp arena. The Mounties will repeat the musical ride in the area Tuesday.

The detachment is on a five-month visit to Britain and since last May has been giving performances at horse shows and agricultural fairs throughout the United Kingdom.

Skeltons Return To New York

NEW YORK (AP) — Comedian Red Skelton returned Mon. from a three-week tour of Europe with his leukemia - afflicted son and told reporters:

"Don't ever take a sick boy on a world pilgrimage."

Although Skelton and his son, Richard, 9, struck happy poses for photographers at Idlewild airport, the father did not smile as he answered questions about certain aspects of the trip abroad.

"Everywhere we went, morning to night, there were 50 to 300 people around telling us what to do," Skelton said.

On a sudden decision in Edinburgh Sunday, Skelton, Richard and the boy's mother and sister, Valentine, 10, flew to London and caught a plane for New York.

The blood disease Richard has been suffering from has been termed incurable.

NEED URGENT AID

HONG KONG (AP) — Hong Kong's United Nations Association is appealing to the UN General Assembly for urgent assistance for the colony's 1,000,000 refugees. The association passed a resolution asking the general assembly to consider ways to provide the UN high commissioner for refugees with adequate funds at the earliest possible date to help solve housing, employment, medical, educational and other problems of Chinese refugees.

Perth Paper Agrees With U.K. Peer

PERTH, Australia (Reuters)— The morning newspaper West Australian says "blue blood may boil in England and aristocratic hands toy with horsewhips but among the wild colonial boys of Western Australia, the outspoken Lord Altrincham would currently win a popular peer competition hands down."

The newspaper was reporting results of a survey conducted here on local reaction to Lord Altrincham's criticism of the Queen.

"The feeling is now that a chink has been forced in the purple event curtain of snobbishness and hypocrisy which has surrounded royalty, the air can be cleared for a frank discussion," the newspaper says.

The West Australian quotes the president of the Australian Labor party, F. Chamberlain, as saying: "There is affection for the Queen among the people of England, but there is a growing feeling of hositility toward her "hangers-on.'

"Most of them have their heads stupidly in the clouds. They seem unaware of the social reforms that Britain and the Commonwealth have undergone in this century."

Chamberlain said the people who were attacking Altrincham most vociferously were "hangers-on" who see their own positions in danger and were "not defending the Queen but themselves."

But W. S. Lonnie, president of the State Returned Soldiers League, said: "If the object of the criticism was to weaken the link that binds the Royal Family to the people, it was a waste of time. It is a pity to see such a worthless article absorbing so much space in the world's press."

MANY POLES EMIGRATE

LONDON (Reuters)—About 94,000 persons emigrated from Poland during the first six months of 1957, Warsaw radio said. During the same period 47,602 Poles returned from the Soviet Union and 636 came back from the Western countries including Britain, Canada and the United States.

Agree To Ease China Trade

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States has agreed under pressure from its allies to ease still further its trade controls on shipments to Red China.

American representatives, acting under state department instructions, approved this move at a meeting last week of 15 trading nations in Paris.

The action frees limited quantities and types of machine tools, ships, transportation equipment, chemicals, and metal products for shipment to the China mainland.

All American trade with China continues to be banned.

Officials who disclosed the action said the U.S. had no alternative but to agree. The move, they said, followed inevitably Britain's decision May 30 to put China trade controls on a par with those on shipments to the European Communist bloc.
