Soviet Leaders Scorn West Plan

Khrushchev Believes No System of Arms Control Would Be Effective

By ROY ESSOYAN

HELSINKI (AP)—Nikita Khrushchev Thursday rejected as useless Western proposals for control of disarmament. As for plans to set up a test aerial inspection area in the Arctic, Khrushchev said the Soviet Union found this "quite comical."

Khrushchev, the Communist party secretary, made the statement at a press conference just before he and Premier Bulganin wound up a week's tour of Finland.

Khrushchev dusted off an old Soviet proposal for establishment of international inspection posts in Russia, the United States, Britain and other countries in order to facilitate agreement on banning of tests of nuclear weapons.

Khrushchev's statements were noted with interest because of new disarmament proposals the United States intends to present to the Soviet Uunion as a "first step" agreement. Harold Stassen, the U.S. disarmament negotiator, is on his way to London to disclose the proposals formally to the five-nation UN subcommittee on disarmament.

In general the proposals call for reduction in size of conventional forces, establishment of at least one aerial inspection zone in the Arctic, and possibly putting a halt to manufacture of atomic weapons.

SAME OLD SONG

But Khrushchev, in his remarks to reporters in Helsinki, made plain he is putting prime emphasis on an old Communist demand—immediate abolition of nuclear weapons tests. He said Western proposals to control disarmament and production of nuclear weapons are only a "screen to mask plans to continue the arms race."

Khrushchev also took a dim view of prospects for another summit conference at this time. He said:

"We are ready to meet at any time, any place, but the time is not ripe now . . . what must be known in advance is whether all the parties involved are ready to reach an agreement, not just sit down at the conference table."

Khrushchev was asked these questions, submitted in advance of the press conference:

"What are the prospects for disarmament and how important a role does mutual confidence play in their solution? Can the problem of disarmament be solved if the major powers look on each other like gangsters?" Khrushchev's replies:

"Disarmament is possible only with mutual confidence, particularly among the great powers which possess the biggest armed forces and nuclear weapons. As long as there is lack of mutual confidence the problem is difficult.

CONTROLS INEFFECTIVE

"It is claimed that a system of control would facilitate a solution because, supposedly, a system of control would solve all problems. But no system of control can solve the problems of disarmament because it cannot prevent any state from planning aggression if it wants to. No system of controls can prevent the hiding of atomic and hydrogen weapons or their clandestine production.

"Even the most extreme advocates of control admit that it is one thing to speak in favor of it and quite another to allow inspectors into their plants and arsenals.

Britain's Exports Soared in May

LONDON (CP) — Britain's export drive rolled into high gear in May, exceeding the £300,000,000 mark for the first time in the country's history.

The board of trade said in a provisional statement May exports totalled £302,900,000, exceeding by almost £6,000,000 the previous record figure set last March. Imports, however, totalled £374,000,000, leaving a trade deficit of £59,700,000 after taking into account re-exports to the value of £11,800,000.

Fines or Prison For Ridout

TORONTO (CP) — Real estate broker George H. Ridout was convicted of infringement of the Real Estate and Business Brokers Act and given the option of fines totalling $12,000 or six months in jail.

Ridout was found guilty on 12 separate counts involving the removal of $123,400 from the trust account of the firm he headed until it entered bankruptcy some months ago. The company had been described as one of the largest real estate operations in North America.

Realtors, trust accounts contain money paid as deposits by persons buying houses or other property.

MP Pensioners Stand To Lose

OTTAWA (CP) — The members of Parliament pension fund may take a beating as a result of Monday's general election.

Sixteen MPs became eligible for pensions of $3000 a year for life through either retirement or defeat at the polls.

In addition, 18 others qualified for partial pensions after serving in more than two Parliaments but less than the period required for the full superannuation. To get a full pension members have to have served only a few months short of 17 years.

Among the latter is Bona Arsenault, Liberal defeated in Bonaventure, an insurance executive who master-minded the pension plan several years ago.

The list of full pensioners—provided they apply for the payments—includes four cabinet ministers who were defeated at the polls: Trade Minister Howe who announced Thursday his retirement from politics, Finance Minister Harris, Revenue Minister McCann and Veterans Minister Lapointe.

It also includes three defeated parliamentary assistants, J. Watson MacNaught, fisheries; Robert McCubbin, agriculture; and Gib Weir, Liberal whip and parliamentary assistant to Prime Minister St. Laurent.

Terror of Commons, C.D. Howe Retiring

By DAVE McINTOSH
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP) — Bushy-browed, lantern jawed Clarence Decatur Howe, Liberal government "minister of everything" Thursday announced his retirement from the political wars.

The commander of key ministries in the Liberal administration for 22 years told reporters before entering an all-day cabinet meeting "I'm a retired politician."

Thus in four words he summed up his defeat by CCF candidate Douglas Fisher in Port Arthur in Monday's general election and his decision to have done with parliament.

Parliament may not see his like again for a long time. At 71, he is as hard-driving as he was when he came out of New England as a youth to amass a fortune in Canada before he was 40.

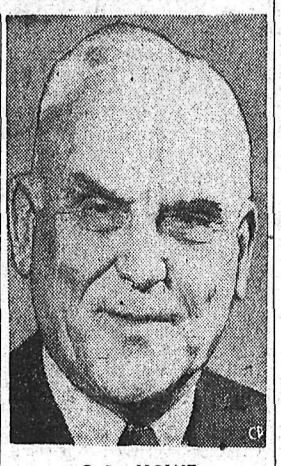
The broad shouldered boss of the trade and commerce and defence production departments became a legend in his own time.

COULD BE TERROR

Outside the Commons he can be—and usually is—charming and polite, except with some recalcitrant industrialist who, he thought, might be holding back Canadian economic progress by blunder or faint heart.

In the Commons, when aroused by some attack on his actions or policies, he could be a terror to his political foes.

Clutching the front-row desks either side of him, his jaw thrust into the centre aisle of the Commons, Mr. Howe sometimes resembled a many-gunned tank, spewing fury in all directions.



C. D. HOWE

If his opponents did not quail before him, they often had a grudging admiration for his stout defence of his actions. They sometimes called him a "dictator" and were called in return "twirps" or small, carping men who had no experience running the big show.

Mr. Howe seemingly had little or no desire to become prime minister. For him, the economic advance of Canada was enough.

Mr. Howe has been Prime Minister St. Laurent's chief lieutenant since 1948. He has been responsible for such enterprises as Trans-Canada Air Lines, Atomic Energy of Canada Ltd., Polymer Corp., and the Canadian Wheat Board while at the same time bossing big government departments.

Rothschild Pays Debt After Death

By KEN METHERAL
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON (CP) — James Armand de Rothschild, the French-born millionaire who became a British subject by way of the Canadian Army, has paid the "debt" he felt he owed his adopted country.

It was announced Wednesday that the British government had collected £7,570,029 in death duties from the estate of the monocled member of the international banking family. He died last month at 78, leaving a fortune of £11,622,759.

Today relatives said de Rothschild deliberately avoided taking steps to avoid dodging death duties. He could have dodged them by giving the bulk of his fortune to his wife and other members of his family at least five years before his death.

"He did not believe in getting out of taxes," said Mrs. Miriam Lane, a relative. "He used to say that if you chose to live in a country and you were very rich, then you had to pay the taxes that country demanded, including death duties. He was a man of very strong principles. I am sure that is why he did not take advantage of the five-year clause."

DOLLAR HIGHER

NEW YORK (CP) —The Canadian dollar was 1-16 higher at a premium of 4 15-16 in terms of U. S. funds Thursday: A week ago 4 31-32 per cent premium. The pound sterling 1-32 higher at $2.78 15-16.

Many Hungarians Finding Jobs

VANCOUVER (CP) — The great majority of Hungarian immigrants in British Columbia have now found jobs, P. W. Bird, immigration department superintendent here, said Thursday.

Only a few hundred of about 6,000 Hungarians who came to this province are still looking for work.

Toll Bridges May Become Free

VICTORIA (CP) — Premier Bennett said Thursday he will ask for federal payment of half the cost of toll bridges in B. C. if the next government is formed by the Progressive Conservative Party.

The premier said if the proposal is accepted, all toll bridges in the province will become free.

Vancouver Remembers Fire 71 Years Ago

VANCOUVER (CP) — In less than an hour 71 years ago, Thursday, Vancouver was burned to cinders. It was the great fire of June 13, 1886.

Shortly after the sun came up, a breeze swept in from the southwest. A blaze wiped out the west end and then spread to what now is the downtown section. In 45 minutes the settlement was razed.

More than 250 were left homeless and scores were injured. Eight bodies were recovered and damage to property was estimated at more than $1,000,000—a staggering sum in those days.

NEW COLUMN ON COOKING TOMORROW

For our women readers (and maybe some men) The Nelson Daily News is starting a new weekly feature on cooking. The first of these articles entitled "Cooking Can Be Fun" will appear in tomorrow's issue.

Our columnist is Mary Moore of Hamilton, Ont., who conducts similar features on the culinary arts for papers across the country. Her son-in-law is Capt. H. C. Pitts of Calgary, formerly of Nelson, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. Pitts of Castlegar, whom she recently visited.

Besides her home-tested recipes, Mary Moore will give Daily News readers an added service through her "You Wanted To Know . . . " column. Questions on cooking and related home-making problems will be welcomed.

France Reverses Canal Policy

By DAVID REID

PARIS (Reuters)—France got a new premier and a new Suez Canal policy Thursday which again opens the waterway to French shipping.

Maurice Bourges - Maunoury, 42, was confirmed as premier by a slim margin in an early-morning vote in the National Assembly.

The Radical spent a busy day conferring with leaders, selecting personnel for his government and defining policy to bolster France's economy and to keep Algeria in the French family.

After a conference between Bourges - Maunoury and outgoing premier Guy Mollet, the foreign ministry announced the government has reversed its Suez policy and will permit French ships to use the 103-mile canal.

France kept a lone boycott of the canal after the other western nations, organized in the Suez Canal Users Association, said May 13 they would permit their ships to use the reopened route.

A foreign ministry spokesman said the payment of canal dues will be made in transferable sterling.

LETTER LED TO LIBEL ACTION

The libel action against J. N. MacBeth, Kinnaird auditor, which was dismissed in assize court at Rossland Wednesday was based on a statement in a letter written by Mr. Macbeth in 1955 that $920 is purported to be supported by 'paper' of Mr. H. L. Crysler that may or may not, be worthless," Mr. Crysler told the Daily News Thursday. He was not village clerk at the time.

In November, 1955, the Kinnaird village commission reported an audit by Mr. Macbeth had disclosed a cash shortage of $1576 in village funds and the letter referred to by Mr. Crysler had dealt with this. It said:

"Of this amount," totalling $1576.36, $920 is purported to be supported by 'paper' of Mr. H. L. Crysler that may, or may not, be worthless."

In the same month, Village Commission Chairman A. A. Lambert reported that the shortage had been discovered by the then newly appointed auditor, Mr. Macbeth.

Mr. Crysler was village clerk in 1950 and 1951, then was auditor until Dec. 31, 1954. Mr. Macbeth became auditor in 1955 and is still in that position.

The story Thursday had described Mr. Macbeth as former Kinnaird auditor, incorrectly," and said he was appointed to investigate alleged irregularities amounting to $920 in village funds two years ago while Crysler was village clerk for Kinnaird."

Mr. Justice J. O. Wilson Thursday found the letter was written on qualified privilege and bore no malice.

Joseph Coyne to Be Married This Month

OTTAWA (CP) — James E. Coyne, 47-year-old governor of the Bank of Canada and chairman of the board of governors of Ottawa's Carleton University, is to be married in Winnipeg, his native city, June 26.

Mr. Coyne will marry Mrs. Meribeth Stobie Riley of Winnipeg, widow of the late Sandford Riley.

St. Laurent Parries Questions Till After Meet With Diefenbaker

By ALAN DONNELLY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP)—After five hours of cabinet meetings Thursday the big question remains unanswered: Will the Liberals try to remain in power or hand over the government to the Progressive Conservatives?

Prime Minister St. Laurent dropped no clue to reporters as he emerged from the cabinet chamber in late afternoon and said the cabinet, dealing Thursday with "routine matters," will meet again today.

But although he gave no definite indications of Liberal plans, the atmosphere was that of a government tidying up matters before quitting.

Mr. St. Laurent did say he hopes to arrange a meeting today with Conservative leader John Diefenbaker to deal with "the unprecedented situation with which we are all faced."

Neither the Conservatives, with 100 MPs elected Monday, nor the Liberals, with 103, command an absolute majority in the 265-seat Commons.

ARRIVES TODAY

Mr. Diefenbaker arrives by air from his Prince Albert, Sask., home today and Mr. St. Laurent said they will arrange "to get together and have a chat."

The prime minister parried all questions aimed at determining whether he will resign, after nearly nine years as prime minister, and turn over office to Mr. Diefenbaker.

He was asked who will represent Canada at the Commonwealth prime minister's conference opening in London in 13 days.

"I can't tell," he said. "There is nothing I can give you."

Would the decision he made solely by the Liberals or jointly with Mr. Diefenbaker?

The prime minister said the reporter was going beyond "where we are now."

Normally, a prime minister retiring would not announce the move before informing the governor-general. When asked whether he will see Mr. Massey today, Mr. St. Laurent replied: "Nothing has been arranged."

But a meeting with the governor-general could be arranged at a moment's notice.

HOWE OUT

Mr. St. Laurent said the cabinet had been "dealing with a lot of routine matters" which were urgent and required government action.

One of these was a civil service salary increase.

He indicated the government had decided to put through the raise. It was not contentious and an early announcement would be made by Finance Minister Harris based on Civil Service Commission recommendations.

During the election campaign, Mr. St. Laurent said he would grant the increases if he received another mandate. Thursday he said federal employees had to be dealt with in the same way "good employers" would deal with their workers.

The day's proceedings also brought an announcement from Trade Minister Howe, 71-year-old cabinet stalwart for the last 22 years, that he has reached the end of his political career.

About 50 reporters and photographers crowded outside the cabinet chamber on the second floor of the Parliament buildings' East Block for the close of the morning and afternoon sessions.

Cabinet ministers, nine of whom were defeated Monday, smiled and a few made quips.

"There's pretty near as big a gang here as we got votes," said Agriculture Minister Gardiner, re-elected with a narrow majority in Melville, Sask.

"We're certainly getting plastered with photographs," Mr. Howe said with a grin.

As the morning meeting broke up, a little group of government secretaries and officials stood in the downstairs hall and gave a round of applause to each minister as he left the building.

Commission To Tour CPR Facilities

OTTAWA — The Kellock Royal Commission adjourned hearings here today in preparation for its tour of Canadian Pacific Railway facilities across Canada and sittings to be held in Toronto, Winnipeg, Calgary and Vancouver during June and July.

The commission headed by Mr. Justice R. L. Kellock of the Supreme Court of Canada is hearing the dispute between the CPR and the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen over the railway's plan to remove firemen from freight and yard diesels.

The first session of the commission away from Ottawa will be held June 18 to June 20 in the Senate Chamber of the University of Toronto at Toronto.

To date proceedings have filled more than 7500 pages of transcript with testimony from 54 railway and union witnesses. Nearly 270 exhibits have been filed with the tribunal which is in its 12th week of sittings.

Eaton Appeal Dismissed

VANCOUVER (CP)—The appeal of Gerald Eaton, 52, against a murder conviction and death sentence in the slaying of eight-year-old Carolynne Moore was dismissed here Thursday by the B. C. Court of Appeal.

The decision of the five appeal justices was unanimous. Prosecutor Graig Munro was not called to answer the arguments advanced by Norman Mullins, counsel for the accused.

Eaton is scheduled to be hanged July 16 for the beating and slaying of the child in Langley last April. He twice has been found guilty. The appeal court threw out his first conviction.

French Ships To Use Suez

PARIS (AP)—The French government has decided to permit French ships to once again use the Suez Canal, a foreign ministry spokesman said Thursday.

No announcement was made as to the date ships would begin passing through the canal.

However, the Compagnie Des Messageries Maritimes, one of France's major shipping firms, said its ships will be using the canal beginning June 21.

France has been maintaining a lone boycott of the canal since the decision of other users to send their ships through again. The outgoing government of Guy Mollet was under strong pressure to end the boycott because of the economic disadvantages it entailed.

FORT CAMPBELL, Ky. (AP)—Fourteen soldiers were killed and nine injured Thursday when a 2½-ton truck failed to make a curve and overturned on this army base.

Ainsworth Man Drowns In Boating Accident

Archie Norman McLeod, 58, of Ainsworth, drowned Thursday morning in Kootenay Lake near Woodbury Creek while proceeding from Kaslo to Ainsworth in a small boat. His body had not been recovered Thursday night.

RCMP at Kaslo said witnesses to the accident said it appeared Mr. McLeod experienced some difficulty, possibly that the boat took in water. The boat was caught broadside by a wave and flipped over.

Dr. L. D. Besecker of Woodbury Creek, closest resident with a boat, was called and arrived within three minutes. He saw Mr. McLeod come up for the last time. Search for the body and dragging of the lake failed to recover the body. Accident occurred about 8 a.m.

An inquiry will be conducted by district coroner Dr. H. H. Smythe.

Mr. McLeod is survived by his wife and two daughters in Nelson and a son in the Canadian Army in Eastern Canada. He was a part time laborer in the mill at Ainsworth and was well known in the area.

Judgment Reserved In Vernon Street Case

Mr. Justice J. O. Wilson has reserved judgment in an action against the City of Nelson by B. C. Affleck and R. R. McCandlish to prevent removal of monuments and trees on the 400 block Vernon Street.

L. S. Gansner, City counsel, argued that Bylaw 264, passed in 1914 to set the area aside for a public park, was a "nullity", and there was therefore no need for City council to repeal it. He said the John Houston Memorial and Cenotaph were highway obstructions under the 1911 Highway Act.

R. B. Allen, counsel for the plaintiffs, said the 1914 council "surely couldn't have intended" the whole block to be just a resting place for the monument, but meant it as a park. He said the monuments were not "on" the highway under Highway Act definitions, and the "plaintiffs reasonably apprehended that the city intended to destroy this site," not just to remove two trees, as witnesses had stated.

City clerk and treasurer C. W. R. Harper read minutes of the March 4 and 18 council meetings. The first minutes contained a resolution to reduce the boulevard in the 400 block Vernon Street to conform with those on the 500, 600, 700 and 800 blocks, move the Cenotaph to War Memorial Park, site of the old bandshell, and the Houston Memorial to Lakeside Park. At the March 18 meeting, Ald. W. S. Ramsay, parks chairman, gave notice of introduction of a bylaw at the next meting to repeal bylaw 264. On March 20 an injunction was served on the City to stop the work.

Ald. Ramsay, Mayor Joseph Kary, and works superintendent E. E. Olson said an article which appears March 20 in The Nelson Daily News was not entirely correct. The story was headlined "City plans to start removal of monuments, trees Thursday." Witnesses said all that had been decided was to move two oak trees of historical value to Lakeside Park as soon as possible on the advice of parks superintendent Frank Holt and Ald. J. W. McClelland in order to save the trees.

UNDERSTANDING REACHED

B.C. Highways department officials said $30,000 was available for work on arterial highways in Nelson at a meeting with City officials March 19. An understanding was reached that work would be done by the government crews since the City did not have proper equipment to move the monuments.

His Lordship asked Ald. Ramsay why it was necessary to "hack down" the trees to narrow the boulevards. The alderman thought trucks might strike the branches, also that narrower boulevards would affect the tree root systems.

A Nelson resident for 50 years "intermittently", Mr. Affleck said he contributed to the War Memorial Fund and helped plant one of the trees. About four years ago, he said, the Nelson Oldtimers' Association and the Canadian Legion petitioned council to leave the monuments alone. In January Mr. Affleck, who told of serving seven and one-half years as City engineer and four years as alderman, wrote council on behalf of the oldtimers, but, "no notice was taken of it, of course."

At a meeting of the Canadian Legion, Branch 51, Ald. Ramsay "very clearly" expressed council's intention to remove the monuments and trees, Mr. Affleck said.

Mr. Affleck recalled when the Cenotaph was built in 1922, that no one, he said, wanted to put it anywhere else, and "we don't believe that public opinion has changed since then." The Houston Memorial was built in 1916.

QUESTIONS NEED

Mr. Affleck was "certain" moving the oak trees at any time of year would be a "death sentence." He also questioned the need to widen the road on the 400 block, since he said it is wider than the road two blocks down.

Mr. Affleck said it was "reported to me" the Women's Institute booth at Lakeside Park had been removed to provide a site for the Houston Memorial. City officials testified they planned to put the oaks near the monument, but Mr. Affleck claimed this would be putting them in a "gravel bar", which is not a type of ground oaks survive well in.

R. A. Howe, Canadian Legion member, a Nelson resident for 57 years, testified Ald. Ramsay "couldn't guarantee" if the new location would be a last resting place for the Cenotaph. Another oldtimer, Ross Fleming, told of writing to Hon. W. D. Black, MLA for Nelson-Creston, who said the matter belonged to City council, not the provincial highways department. Mr. Gansner said the letter represented Mr. Black "presuming to instruct us as to the law."

First witness called by Mr. Gansner was Ald. Ramsay, who said it "certainly was not my intention" to give Canadian Legion members the impression council was going to do the work, but rather to outline plans with particular relation to the Cenotaph. He told Mr. Justice Wilson the highways department "didn't want the boulevard there at all."

Mayor Kary said he was "surprised" to see the wording of The Daily News story on March 20, and that a statement published March 29 tried to put over council's position to the people. "I have always endeavored to give our people an honest answer," His Worship said.

Boy Missing

A 13-year-old North Shore boy who was put in a foster home by juvenile court authorities after he broke into several homes and caused about $800 damage, including burning of a canoe, has been missing since Wednesday morning from his foster home at 1002 Hoover Street. Welfare authorities had arranged to take the boy to a ranch Thursday.

The boy, wearing a blue blazer and corduroy pants, and carrying his school books, told Mrs. E. W. Warner, with whom he was staying, he would see her at noon then left for school about 8:30 a.m., on Wednesday. About 9:30, B. B. Crawford, principal of the Junior High School, called as per arrangement to find out why the boy had not arrived at school.

Court authorities are "quite concerned" about the boy, whose family came from England a few years ago. City police and RCMP have been asked to watch for him.

Mrs. J. L. Grieve is new president of the Nelson Little Theatre. Mrs. Grieve has been active in Little Theatre work since she was in Winnipeg at the University of Manitoba. Later she was an acting member of the Victoria Theatre Guild and the Vancouver Little Theatre.

Kiwanians To Donate Blood During Drive

Nelson Kiwanis club members will attend the Red Cross Blood Donor Clinic in a body after the first day of their annual nut drive Monday night. This was decided at the club's meeting at the Hume Monday night.

President W. B. Christie said he had been asked by Mrs. Stanley Morris, in charge of blood appointments, to remind members that the clinic was to be held on Monday and Tuesday. It was decided that the various teams would meet at the Canadian Legion after sections of the town had been canvassed in the nut drive, to donate blood. Team members will also wear tags promoting the clinic.

Andrew Russell is chairman of the nut drive, which this year is in support of the purchase of an electrocardiograph for Kootenay Lake General Hospital.

It was also decided to write to City Council to determine if the $50 peddlers' licence to be paid to the city could be turned back into the sale proceeds for the cardiograph.

Films on water sports and the Fraser River salmon run were shown by Russell Davis, a member.

The club's dinner was provided by the Kiwanis Hostess Club and secretary Bernard Kelly was instructed to write the club a letter of thanks.

Junior High Concert Tonight

Concerts by the Nelson Junior High School bands and choir will be given tonight and tomorrow night in the school auditorium.

The program has been drawn up to suit a wide variety of tastes in music. There will be classical, semi-classical and novelty numbers.

A large aggregation of young instrumentalists and vocalists will take part. Besides the 56-member senior band and the girls' choir of 35 voices, there will be the 88-member junior band. V. Y. Bryant is band conductor and M. R. Bunt leads the choir.

Senior band selections will include "All Through the Night," "Crusaders' Hymn," "The Three Bears," "Syncopated Clock", "My Hero" and others. The Girls' Choir will be heard in songs of various kinds such as "Song of the Music Makers," "Evening Prayer," "Christopher Robin," and others.

Proceeds will go to the band to help buy uniforms, Mr. Bryant said Thursday.

3-Car Accident

An accident near South Slocan involving three cars was reported about 4 p.m. Thursday but particulars could not be obtained from RCMP in Nelson Thursday night.

LIONS VICE-PRESIDENTS

Vice-residents of Nelson Lions Club who took office when club officers were installed this week were first vice-president Frank Beresford, second vice-president Arthur Irving and third vice-president G. F. Hartridge. Names and positions were switched in Thursday's paper.

HALF-YEAR PAYMENT

A story in Wednesday's paper said a quarterly payment to the Nelson Volunteer Fire Department had been approved. This should have been $2250 for one-half year.

B.C. Baptists Install New Slate of Officers

Rev. Dr. C. G. Stone of Fairview Baptist Church, Vancouver, installed officers of Baptist Churches of B.C. meeting in First Baptist Church Thursday evening. Francis Hadley became past president, with Rev. R. F. Filer becoming the new president.

Other officers elected at the afternoon session and installed at the evening session were Major S. Hensen, first vice-president; Mrs. Newland Phillips, second vice-president; Rev. G. E. Bonney, treasurer; Rev. Horace West, secretary; Mrs. W. Worsfold, treasurer, Baptist Women's Missionary Society; and Mrs. P. N. Whitley, financial secretary, BWMS.

Dr. Stone directed the new executive that they "had a ringing call to go forward in the service of God in this part of His vineyard."

Rev. W. T. MacDonald, general secretary of the Baptist Union of Western Canada, gave the concluding address of the convention, last night with the convention coming to an end this morning after a final business session and the holding of a Communion service by Rev. K. Imayoshi, pastor of First Baptist Church where the four day convention has been held.

"To be enthroned, Christ must be enthroned in you and in me," Mr. MacDonald told his congregation. "Christ has no hands but our hands to do His work today. We must give serious consideration to enthroning Christ in our lives today."

Discussing the role of stewardship in His Church he asked them not to fail as good stewards of Christ's work and praised them because the Baptist Church in Western Canada had doubled their giving in the past year. But he exorted them not to ignore the needs of the senior citizens or the needy if Christ was to be enthroned. He called upon them to give "immediate action to have a superannuation set-up" for Baptist ministers not only in Western Canada but all across Canada.

Mr. MacDonald also praised them because the Baptist Church in Western Canada with one-eighth of the membership of the Church had provided one-third of the missionaries going into the mission fields of India, Africa and Bolivia. This was a good record to maintain, he suggested.

Following a banquet in the evening, Rev. H. C. Wilkinson presented color slides on the Grande Ligne Mission where he is general secretary. The mission is just outside of Montreal and is a bilingual parish where students attending the mission speak both French and English.

At an earlier session of the convention, Rev. G. E. Bonney, secretary, reported on the spiritual and physical growth of the church in B.C. F. G. Shears, treasurer, reported a balance of $91,028.59.

Mr. Bonney also reported on Home Missions and Settlement work. Rev. R. C. Standerwick, who is in charge of this work, was unable to attend the convention. The speaker commended Mr. Standerwick for the "very good" work he had done in this field.

Queen Judging Starts Tonight

Two big nights of entertainment, highlight of which will be choosing of a Nelson diamond jubilee queen, Saturday night, start tonight at the Civic Centre arena.

Bingo will be a feature both nights and the Junior Hospital Auxiliary is to present a fashion show.

Twenty-three are in the race for jubilee queen.

Bid for Property

A bid of $2285 by Gordon Fraser, 1104 McQuarrie Avenue, for city property occupied by the old street car barns at Kootenay Street and Hall Miles Road, was inadvertently omitted from Wednesday's edition.

The property has been sold to F. H. Johnson, 204 Chatham Street who bid $3000.

Car Drops 150 Feet, Driver Hospitalized

Nick Swetlishoff of South Slocan received cuts, bruises and lacerations Thursday when the car he was driving, went off the road at Beasley Bluffs and rolled an estimated 150 feet down an embankment.

The car was completely demolished, RCMP said. Swetlishoff is in Kootenay Lake General Hospital where his condition is considered good.

Trail Gets Safety Award

TRAIL — A special award Thursday evening was made at a dinner to Mayor L. A. Read for the City of Trail for establishing a record of 910 days without a fatal accident.

The award was made by George Lindsay of Vancouver, superintendent of Motor Vehicle Branch. Members of council, representatives of Warfield, Tadanac and the RCMP were present.

A similar award will be made in Nelson today.

'Phone Service Soon For Bonnington Asked

SOUTH SLOCAN — Installation of telephone service for Bonnington, requested at the same time as South Slocan service, will again be asked of the B. C. Telephone Company.

The enquiring organization, the South Slocan School and Community Club, states that it favors speedy installation of 'phones at Bonnington because the two communities are so closely related in activities. South Slocan has its new telephones.

The club's final meeting of the term was well attended. Discussion took place on film choices for the next fall film showings, a report on the Mount Sentinel high school scholarship fund was heard. G. Penniket, Scoutmaster, asked for assistance for a Scout camp to be held by the local troop at the end of June.

MRS. ASKEW ELECTED

Election of officers for the next term, commencing in September, took place. President is Mrs. R. Askew; vice-president, Mrs. Weist; secretary Mrs. Peniket, and treasurer Mrs. E. Wallach. A vote of thanks to the retiring executive was replied to by retiring president Jack Steed who is leaving the community.

Program of the evening consisted of a series of games and contests after presentations of pictures of South Slocan to six members of the club, who are leaving the community. H. E. Dahlquist, principal of Mount Sentinel High School made the presentations to Mr. Steed, R. Dean, and Miss M. Kennaugh, teachers; and Mrs. Kennaugh, Mrs. E. Box and Mrs. E. Trozzo. Mrs. R. Kennedy read a poem written for the occasion.

Five Girls Seek Title of Rose Queen

KINNAIRD — The names of five girls to contest the title of Rose Queen here have been announced. They are Miss Maureen Lipsett, Miss Martha Konkin and Miss Ruth Shewchuk, of Castlegar, and Miss Mildren Raine and Miss Dawn Waldie of Robson.

The candidates were chosen by the staff of the Stanley Humphries High School for their scholastic ability. They will be judged at a supper to be given in their honor by the Kinnaird Improvement Society. Judges for the event will be Mr. and Mrs. H. Dixon, Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Graham and Mr. and Mrs. J. Maurice of Trail, Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Marshall of Blueberry Creek, and Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Wadey of Kinnaird.

The winning girl will be crowned by the retiring Rose Queen at the 12th annual Rose Bowl. She will receive $75 scholarship to aid her in furthering her education.

Arrangements for the decoration of the ball are well in hand.

The banquet will be held June 20, with the dance the following night.

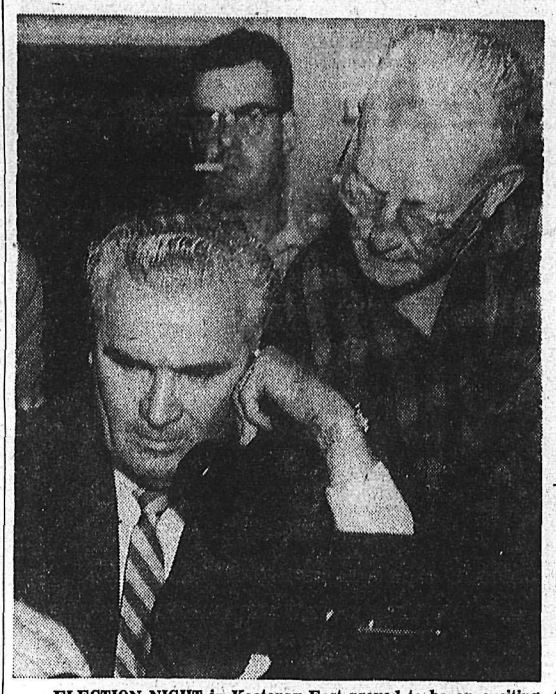
On Kootenay East Election Scene



ELECTION NIGHT in Kootenay East proved to be an exciting time for candidates of three parties. James Byrne, Liberal, on telephone in picture at left, came out in front in his bid for re-election to Ottawa. CCF candidate Howard Day, who placed second, and Social Credit standard-bearer James Chabot, a close third, gave him competition. These are scenes from committee rooms in Kimberley as election returns were pouring in. With Byrne are James Stewart and William Schorlemer. Picture at right was taken at CCF committee room, and shows Leo T. Nimsick, MLA for Cranbrook, with his wife, left, and Mrs. Isobel Johnson.

Returns Near Completion In Two Kootenay Ridings

Official returns are expected to be complete next week in federal election voting in the ridings of Kootenay West and Kootenay East.

F. J. Plester, returning officer for Kootenay West at Trail, said Thursday that the armed services vote was expected to be received from Ottawa today or Saturday.

Otherwise, there were only about four polls in isolated places to be heard from in the riding itself. New totals Thursday were: H. W. Herridge, CCF, 9534; Donald Brothers, Social Credit, 5350; W. J. McLoughlin, Liberal, 2626; and Dr. C. H. Wright, Progressive Conservative, 3500.

With only one small poll not yet heard from, Kootenay West totals place James Byrne, Liberal, about 500 votes ahead of the second place candidate Howard Day, CCF.

Latest figures are: James Byrne, Liberal, 4468; Howard Day, CCF, 3970; James Chabot, Social Credit, 3916; and Murray McFarlane, Progressive Conservative, 1971.

Partisanship was not on the side of the home-town candidate in Kootenay East. Voters in Kimberley, the home of James Byrne, favored school teacher Day from Waldo; Byrne, on the other hand, polled his greatest number of votes in Cranbrook. James Chabot, who lives in the Windermere Valley, gained hefty support from voters in the Creston-Wynndel area.

Totals from the 14 polls in Kimberley were as follows: Byrne 726, Chabot 449, Day 967, and McFarlane 339.

Previously unannounced returns from Kootenay East are as follows, with only Beavermouth left to report:

Arrow Creek—Byrne 14, Chabot 23, Day 11, McFarlane 0.

Canyon—Byrne 42, Chabot 70, Day 43, McFarlane 14.

Erickson Camp—Byrne 7, Chabot 3, Day 4, McFarlane 2.

Forde—Byrne 7, Chabot 4, Day 2, McFarlane 0.

Jostad and Nelson Camp—Byrne 3, Chabot 2, Day 2, McFarlane 1.

Kinbasket Lake—Byrne 5, Chabot 2, Day 2, McFarlane 3.

Leanchoil—Byrne 5, Chabot 2, Day 0, McFarlane 2.

Lamb Creek—Byrne 8, Chabot 2, Day 1, McFarlane 0.

Mineral King—Byrne 16, Chabot 13, Day 1, McFarlane 4.

Moberly—Byrne 4, Chabot 8, Day 7, McFarlane 1.

Newgate—Byrne 8, Chabot 17, Day 14, McFarlane 2.

Nohell's Camp—Byrne 8, Chabot 5, Day 3, McFarlane 2.

Ta Ta Creek—Byrne 14, Chabot 12, Day 19, McFarlane 2.

Wilmer—Byrne 12, Chabot 73, Day 6, McFarlane 11.

Here are some of the late returns in Kootenay West:

Ferguson—Brothers 0, Herridge 8, McLoughlin 0, Wright 0.

Marblehead—Brothers 0, Herridge 6, McLoughlin 2, Wright 0.

Pend d'Oreille — Brothers 4, Herridge 2, McLoughlin 3, Wright 2.

West Creston — Brothers 46, Herridge 8, McLoughlin 2, Wright 1.

Now's Time for Hydro Project, Board Told

INVERMERE — Windermere District Board of Trade waded through a heavy agenda at the June meeting, with keen discussion on a projected airstrip for the district, vital need for a home of elderly citizens and the usual pre-tourist season distress about the condition of highways leading to the Valley.

It was reported that Board of Trade action has resulted in a safer ararngement for the spotting of railway cars at Lake Windermere station crossing. Care are now spotted several lengths back from the crossing to allow better visibility.

A highlight of the meeting was the report of Dr. F. E. Coy, delegate for the Trade Board at the B.C. Chambers of Commerce meeting at Vancouver. Dr. Coy gave a comprehensive account of the business of the sixth annual conference with special emphasis on the Columbia hydro development.

Dr. Coy said he is convinced that hydro electric power will never be as valuable as it is today because of the expanding possibilities of atomic power. He stressed the immediate need of the Board of Trade and Chambers of Commerce concerned to pull together for the best hydro development of the Columbia River.

Dr. Coy was asked to prepare a brief which could be circulated to other Trade Boards concerned.

The Board of Trade will take a summer recess but executive meetings will be held as usual and all Board of Trade members are invited to attend the executive meetings.

PRINTED ADVERTISING UP 6 PER CENT

Spending by national advertisers in four classes of print media increased 6.65 per cent in this year's first quarter.

A total of $19,193,813 was spent by 27 industry groups in daily newspapers, magazines, week-end publications and farm papers, it's reported by Marketing, Canadian advertising and sales weekly.

Biggest gain in the quarter was made by daily newspapers, up 11.15 per cent for a billing of $10,102,134. Week-end publications gained 4.48 per cent (total of $3,536,534); magazines were up 1.37 per cent ($3,814,908); farm papers dipped slightly, down 1.13 per cent ($1,740,237).

Strongest month for rate of gain was January, when spending rose 13.1 per cent to $4,621,891. In February, the increase was 9.46 per cent ($6,295,928), while March slackened to a gain of 1.43 per cent ($8,275,994).

Marketing's figures are based on advertising linage audits by Elliott-Haynes Ltd.

KIMBERLEY—Elaine Margaret Rae, infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Rae of North Vancouver, and granddaughter of Mrs. Lowcay of Kimberley, died at the Coast. Great grandparents of the child are Mr. and Mrs. W. Kirchin of Creston.

$350 Given to Handicapped

CRANBROOK — Lions Club meeting this week reported substantial net proceeds from its recent car Liono, with the financial statement not yet complete. Immediate gift of $350 was made from proceeds to the Cranbrook branch of the Kootenay Society for Handicapped Children and a further $250 to the Canadian National Institute for the Blind of which $100 will be reserved for local use, and the remainder goes to the national fund.

Milo Fabro of Kimberley, president elect for the Lions international zone covering East Kootenay and northern Idaho was special guest at the meeting to serve as installation officer for the new Cranbrook slate of Derry Appleton, president, Ron Bailey, Wilton Reilly and Ingvar Grand, vice-presidents, Ray Meredith secretary, Merrill Sproule liontamer, and Bob Barr tailtwister.

George Jealous is past president.

Club's program of community assistance has not yet been drawn up with seven projects under discussion. Club policy of maintaining an immediate financial reserve to assist local people confronted by sudden disaster will be continued.

A Challenge for the Boy Student

The winner of the high school awards for Grade XII is a girl, Miss Ruth Bambrick, and from the fact that she has consistently led her grades through high school it is plain that she is an outstanding young person. But in all the awards girls took most of the honors. As the principal, Mr. Lee, said of the lone boy who appeared on the platform, it was very pleasant to see him appearing there, but there were not enough coming up.

To most people the question will be why there are not more boys taking the honors in the High School? It is a question which should be asked, and to which there should be an answer.

The people most nearly concerned are the parents, the teachers and the students.

The attitude of parents may have much to do with the matter. If they are the kind that boast that they do not want a brilliant student in the family, but rather would have one that is average, then the student will oblige by not extending himself to be anything but C grade.

It can be presumed that the teachers do their best to encourage the boys, but not even the best of them can conquer the universal attitude of mediocrity which the boys consider desirable. There can be little blame attached to teachers, much of whose time is spent with boys who do not do their homework.

For the fact is plain that the boys are not wholeheartedly interested in their studies. Where the girls consistently take home quantities of books, the boys are seldom to be seen carrying one home. Their aim is simply to pass with as little work as possible.

The high school years should be the formative years when boys learn to put forth their utmost efforts in learning and prepare for the discipline of adult life. To leave high school does not mean that they become entirely free agents. There is still much which is unpleasant to be done and much to be learned. The prizes in life do not go to the average student, but to the one who is prepared to learn all life's lessons well. Unless they wish to be average students, with average pay, all their lives, each must put forth his best efforts.

But in their attitude towards scholarships, boys are traitors to their own sex. They are conceding without a struggle that the girls are better than they are. This no one will believe to be true. The remedy lies in their own hands. They must discard a wholly false belief that it is beneath their dignity to study and regard their studies as a challenge to excel.

What Has Happend To Low-Rent Housing Project For Aged? Asks Canon

To the Editor:

Sir—I am anxious to resurrect and create interest in what appears to be an almost forgotten project, namely, the low rental housing project for senior citizens. Much time and work was devoted to this project by the former Rector of St. Saviour's Pro-Cathedral.

From various sources the question is constantly asked: "What has happened to this proposed scheme?" Certainly we have here a worthwhile Centennial project which could be undertaken by the efforts of one or all of our service clubs, or an effort on the part of the city.

I am concerned, Mr. Editor, along with Alderman Mermet, that the parcel of ground on Victoria and Kootenay Streets (behind the Bank of Montreal) be put to better use than that of a parking lot, of which we have a goodly share in the city.

What better spot than this for three or four small units for some of our senior citizens? So I write these few lines in the hope that something will be done to complete a project which was surveyed long ago, a project which could be of lasting credit to the city in its centennial year, and which would indicate that the welfare of some of our older people is far more important than parking lots.

REV. CANON W. J. SILVERWOOD.
Nelson, B. C.

Open House Abroad

Never underestimate the power of the American house. It is known to cause American males to bustle about mowing lawns and hanging screens, and American wives to hover over washers and burnish kitchen floors quite beyond the fondest dreams of wax manufacturers.

Now domicilium americanum is making its début overseas via trade fairs and government exhibits. Its effect abroad is frequently amazing.

In Ceylon, for instance, the People's Capitalism display being circulated by Washington was given a proper enough welcome. But the thing that really caught the Singhalese imagination was a sample setup of an American home interior. Visitors bounded about from foam rubber sofas to electric equipment, obviously delighted to try out, rather than just read or look at, a display.

In Poland, meanwhile, an American house was having just the opposite effect. According to a Polish newspaper, the presence of a $22,000 "worker's" house at the Poznan trade fair was giving some Poles an edifice complex. They felt, apparently, that it was far beyond their means, and therefore about as tasteless an exhibit as a display of Harry Winston diamonds in the Bowery.

Taken together, these contrasting cases provide a pretty good measure of what is effective, useful showmanship in American displays abroad. If exhibits are entertaining, educative, and graphic, without any hint of condescension or braggadocio, they can make more impact than any number of statistical summaries and polemics on American life. The widespread success of model trains, Cinerama, and typical home layouts is clear proof of this.—Christian Science Monitor.

Nelson High School Graduates Congratulated

To the Editor:

Sir—In view of the fact that there was so much speculation as to the trend the high school graduation parties might take, I thought it only fair to extend a little credit where credit is due.

Hats off and a bow from the waist to the graduation class of 1957!

Ours was the party immediately following the graduation dance, and the conduct of the young people was beyond reproach. They were quiet and well mannered. Not a thing was spilled, not a glass was broken, and at least 75 per cent of them came and thanked my husband and me personally.

It was fun having them all. If these are the young people in whose hands our future rests, we haven't too much to worry about.

I would like to wish each one a happy and successful future.

MRS. H. A. D. GREENWOOD.

While Children Suffer

Some people believe that fluoridation is a bad word. Others may think there is something worse. For instance—99 per cent of children reaching Grade VIII having tooth decay.

That is a report a combined meeting of the Canadian and Ontarion Public Health Associations received from Dr. H. K. Brown, dental consultant to the Dominion Department of Health and Welfare. The dental division of the department, he said, had examined 60,000 children and had come to that conclusion—99 per cent of children in Grade VIII have bad teeth.

Ninety-nine per cent of children suffer from bad teeth because, for one reason or another—none of them scientific and none of them in the public interest—fluoridation has been opposed and withheld.

Fluoridation will not prevent bad teeth in all cases. But, declared Dr. Brown, it has been proved that a community can reduce the incidence of tooth decay by two-thirds by the simple, safe and inexpensive method of fluoridating the community water supply.

What Dr. Brown has said, other authorities have also said. There is not one major medical, dental or public health association in the country that disagrees. They have all endorsed fluoridation. They have, as it were, given it a medical, dental and public health certificate testifying to its merit. But others have talked about poison, mass medication, democracy, legal rights, a Communist plot, heart disease, brain disease, cancer, the liver, the bones — one MPP in Queen's Park has filled Hansard with an 18-page recital of the evils of fluoridation. His business is insurance, which, of course, qualifies him to tell the medical and dental authorities of the country that they don't know what they are talking about.

Refugees Unclaimed

Oskar Helner, Austria's Minister of the Interior, points out that 35,000 Hungarian refugees are still waiting in Austrian camps for visas to settle in new countries.

Then thousand of them, practically all wanting to go to the United States, will remain after the Inter-Governmental Committee for European Migration finishes its present resettlement program.

They will impose an added drain on the economy of Austria. Refugees from Balkan countries already total 2.5 per cent of the whole population.

Austria has done much for the Hungarian refugees, more than a fair share, says Mr. Helner. She will not cast aside responsibility for them, but she feels that the United States should admit them.

The United States barred further immigration by Hungarian refugees last month when the total reached 31,500. The President had originally invited 20,000 only.

Mr. Helner feels that the extra few thousand "would not hurt" the United States, which is "rich and healthy and has a gigantic economy."

Canada will have admitted 28,000 Hungarian refugees by this summer, according to Immigration Minister Pickersgill. There is no limit, but entry has been slowed down because of difficulties of absorption.

Apprehension Of Retirement

. . . F. B. Pearce

A great many people seem to be interested in retirement these days and to look forward with something like apprehension to the time when they will no longer be working.

Much of this has been brought about by the publicity which it has received, and one wonders how those who retired in previous generations fared. That is something no one seems to have considered.

There have always been those who, when they retired, were quite content to do nothing but in most cases they had some minor hobby which kept them reasonably happy.

Planning for retirement seems a good thing except that most men are so busy doing their day's work that they have no time to think of it. That is not always a bad thing for when they find themselves with nothing to do necessity spurs them on to finding something to occupy their time.

If the retired man is looking for work to augment his scanty income social standing in the community has a lot to do with the kind of work he will want to do. One cannot imagine an ex-teacher becoming a junk dealer for example and yet that occupation might be most interesting. I am told it is quite lucrative, too.

LITTLE CHOICE

So, unless the retired man changes his name and moves to another community, his choice of new jobs is very restricted.

Of course, the community will gladly furnish him with honorary and unpaid jobs but he does not want those. Indeed, when a man retires he is apt to change his outlook to many things. He no longer wants to engage in good works. He does not want to take his once-active part in service club work or the church. He is quite content to leave these things to others. They seem to have been bound up with the active working part of his life and when he retires they seem to have lost their importance.

He revolts against social duty and does not see why he should do things because others expect it of him. He does not want to be on committees, he does not want to go to gatherings where there are speeches and he does not want to be involved in arguments of any kind. He has retired and he wants to order his own life. That is something which he could not do in the days of his active working life.

INTERESTING WORLD

All this sounds selfish but it is the natural sequence of life. Childhood is the period of rapid growth and the absorption of ideas, manhood the time when all our major activities are bound up with our work and when that finishes there should be a period for contemplation when one can enjoy watching the battle of life without entering into the conflict.

The world was never more interesting than it is today. The many new advances in science and technology and the general improvement in life can be fascinating to the observer. The changes in our political thinking and the changing status of nations in the world and all the numerous social advances open a world of new ideas to any who choose to think of them.

But even without these there still remain the ancient fundamental things of life, sunrise and sunset, the changes of the seasons, green grass and multi-colored flowers and all the world of nature to gladden the hearts of those who at last have time to enjoy them.

DOESN'T SHOW

NEW DELHI (AP) — Two U.S. scientists reported the monazite sands of Kerala in South India are radioactive, and the people there should be suffering ill-effects from long exposure. MARCH 21 to APRIL 20 (Aries)—A fine day for mental work, unusual projects, entertainment, outdoor sports, worthwhile hobbies. Sensible caution urged in personal affairs, venturesome activities.

APRIL 21 to MAY 21 (Taurus)—A friendly, though not exciting, day generally and, while healthy sports and outdoor activities are encouraged, common sense should direct them. New opportunities indicated.

MAY 22 to JUNE 21 (Gemini) — This should be a happy, propitious time for you, with your Mercury, and also Jupiter, in grand aspects. Mental work, hobbies, essentials, good entertainment highly sponsored.

JUNE 22 to JULY 23 (Cancer)—A delightful outlook for you and your interests. Give special attention to family matters, children's interests and charitable affairs. Accent your personal charm; use ably your God-given talents.

JULY 24 to AUGUST 23 (Leo) — An interesting and stimulating day. The unusual, the purposefully daring favored — but of course not reckless action. Gains are possible in business and finance through sound action.

AUGUST 24 to SEPTEMBER 23 (Virgo) — Similar to Gemini now. An amenable day for essentials and for artistic interests. Writing, secretarial work, painting, matters connected with the home among strongly sponsored activities.

SEPTEMBER 24 to OCTOBER 23 (Libra)—A day for work and play, good humor, fun and health-promoting activities. Without straining or neglecting daily tasks, you can have a joyful, happy time with family, good friends.

OCTOBER 24 to NOVEMBER 22 (Scorpio) — Mild influences now will become fine strong ones within a few days. Colorful, diversified activities are indicated, favored. You can help make this a highly productive period.

NOVEMBER 23 to DECEMBER 21 (Sagittarius) — A fine outlook. Practical matters are equally favored with delicate, artistic and social interests. Don't permit trifles or the idiosyncrasies of others to dampen your enthusiasm.

DECEMBER 22 to JANUARY 20 (Capricorn) — Put worry and pessimism behind you; join the parade of happy "do-something" folks. There is always a brighter outlook, a surer chance for gain for those who go forward with confidence.

JANUARY 21 to FEBRUARY 19 (Aquarius) — Repose is a good thing but don't permit it to become boredom. Spice rest with activity and you will realize the value of proper balance.

FEBRUARY 20 to MARCH 20 (Pisces) — This day promises new advantages, new avenues to occupy your fertile mind. Even difficult situations should be handled easily. It's nice to have a stimulating day such as this. Forward, with faith!

YOU BORN TODAY are never at a loss for bright, cheery words, good ideas, interesting suggestions. And you usually have self-possession, strength of will, the courage to stand by a friend, to oppose a foe. Remember, no one loses by listening to sound advice, constructive criticism. The most intelligent heed the voice of experience. You have much talent to cultivate and use daily for your own and your family's good. Train your will to concentrate with patience, consistency. Pray always for God's guidance. Spend some free time with music.

China Incident Not Expected To Be Serious

WASHINGTON (AP) — United States Navy officials today described as an isolated incident the shots fired by a Communist Chinese shore battery Wednesday at an American plane which they said apparently strayed off course and was damaged slightly.

They expressed the opinion, based on early dispatches, that the incident is not likely to produce any significant military repercussions.

The navy announced Wednesday that the plane, flying from the carrier Hornet, was "fired on and slightly damaged by Communist Chinese antiaircraft" in the area of the Formosa Strait.

"It appears that the aircraft concerned was to the westward of its plotted position, being about eight miles off the course when it was fired on," the navy announcement said, adding that the plane, otherwise unidentified, was on a routine training fligh.

First word of the incident came from Peiping Radio, which said in a broadcast heard in London that the Hornet and four destroyers, sailing from Hong Kong, "invaded part of the South China Sea within the territorial waters of China."

The Communists said four Nationalist Chinese planes joined the American planes, and two of them were shot down.

American Pays Ancestor's Bill In Britain

LONDON (AP) — Joseph M. White came over from the United States to check on his British ancestors—and got stuck with a little bill amounting to $5.60 that's been kicking around unpaid for for the last 329 years.

Rev. George Oaklay, vicar of St. Mary's parish church in London's Willesden section told how he finally settled the account, a little matter of a christening and a burial that have been on the church books since 1628.

He said White showed up and announced himself as a direct descendant on his mother's side of Sir William Roberts, a knight of note in Willesden some three centuries ago.

The vicar made the most of his opportunity. He showed White the church register with an item entered in 1628, during the reign of Charles I, recording the christening and subsequent burial of William Roberts, the young son of Sir William Roberts.

Squeezed neatly between the two entries in the old church register was the notation: "Sir William paid nothing for this child's christening or burial."

The visitor from Baltimore insisted on squaring the account. The vicar said £2 would be just fine.

And so the church accounts are balanced.

MRS. FRANK HAYWARD of Vancouver wore an Indian sari when she showed slides of India and addressed B.C. Baptist convention. Her son, Rev. David Hayward, is a missionary in India and the Haywards, Sr., are going to go there shortly to live for a year. The sari is eight yards long and is worn over a satin underskirt known as a lunga, with velvet jacket, both in a rich rose color. It is of finest silk, woven with silver threads. Styles change yearly. This is the latest fashion with square neckline and three-quarter length sleeves. The sari remains the same, and is always held in place with one brooch on the left shoulder. —Daily News photo.

Council Disapproves Of Beauty Contests

MONTREAL (CP) — The International Council of Women put its foot down Wednesday on beauty contests.

Some 450 delegates from 35 countries agreed to try to influence public opinion against the "exaggerated importance attributed to beauty contests."

The women, meeting here for a 10-day triennial conference, plan to work in their own countries to encourage the young to compete on a "higher level for moral and intellectual ideals."

Their plan of action was contained in one of a number of resolutions passed by the international council Wednesday. The conference, which concludes today, has been devoted largely to private committee meetings since it opened last week.

SEEK ACTION

In other resolutions, the delegates dealt with pornography and prostitution. They appealed to women's organizations around the world "to work against pornographic publications which destroy the morals of youth and degrade women."

The council also carried a resolution re - affirming its "consistent belief in the principle of the equal moral responsibility of men and women in matters of sexual morality."

The motion urged national councils of women to reconsider problems arising from prostitution—"in particular to recognize that the man is as responsible for the practice of prostitution as the woman."

Several resolutions were devoted to the need for improving the status of women in general and workin women in particular.

Argenta, Kaslo Students Honored on Graduation

KASLO — A graduation banquet and dance were held in the gymnasium of the Kaslo School in honor of the graduates of Kaslo High School and Argent High School.

The Kaslo graduates are Ruth Aldous and Colleen Kennett. Those from Argenta are Sylvia Tarr and Charles Boyd.

The gymnasium was decorated in an outer space motif with the school colors, yellow and green, playing a prominent part. On one wall was a mural of a crater throwing eerie yellow light on planets, space ships and enormous figures complete with space helmets, each one bearing the name of a a graduate. A huge silver space ship with yellow and green streamers billowing from its exhaust decorated the centre of the ceiling. The stage was decorated with baskets of flowers with a suitable message of good wishes to the graduates, made of yellow roses across the front. The banquet tables followed the same motif with small men from Mars holding place cards. Kaslo School has always been proud of the originality of its graduation banquet decorations and much favorable comment was expressed on this year's effort.

Malcolm Watson, Students' Council president, was chairman and welcomed the guests.

Grace was said by Rev. Dr. H. K. Johnston. Toasts were proposed by the graduates: to the Queen by Sylvia Tarr, to the Department of Education by Colleen Kennett, to the School Board by Charles Boyd and the PTA by Ruth Aldous. J. Humphries of Kaslo teaching staff proposed the toast to the graduates and Joan Carpenter, a member of the Grade 11 class, to the parents.

The guest speaker was Eric Caldicott of Riondel, chairman of the board of trustees of the Kootenay Lake School District. He told the graduates how fortunate they were to be going out into the world when indications were for such a prosperous era ahead for Canada. He reminded them of the rewards of unselfish service towards others and their obligation to take part in organization and projects which had as their object helping others. He concluded with congraulations and good wishes to the graduates from both schools and expressed pleasure that the Argenta pupils had united with those from Kaslo in a combined operation.

Inspector H. Abbott of Creston replied to the toast for the Department of Education, Dr. Johnson, PTA president to the toast to that organization, Charles Boyd replied for the graduates and his father, R. Boyd, replied for the parents.

Entertainment was provided during the program by a piano solo by Joanne Drayton, a vocal solo "I pass by your window" by Carol Ringheim, a monologue by Irma McLeod and several violin solos by Charles Boyd. Rex Potter was accompanist.

The banquet was served by the PTA members.

After the banquet a dance was held.

New Denver

NEW DENVER—Mr. and Mrs. John McLaws and three children returned from a holiday in Vancouver and were accompanied back from Penticton by Mrs. McLaw's mother, Mrs. J. Hall, who will visit them.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Marsh of Whatshan were visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Crellin.

Mr. and Mrs. James Draper and Mr. and Mrs. L. R. Campbell returned from Newport, Wash., where they attended the international conference of Knights of Pythias Lodges.

George Kent has returned from Vancouver.

Mrs. Isabel C. Pendry returned from Newport, Wash., where she attended the international conference of Knights of Pythias Lodges.

QUEEN'S BAY — Mrs. Selma Erickson of Vancouver has arrived to take up residence in her home here. Her daughter, Mrs. S. W. Palmer of Whitehorse, Y.T., and her seven children are staying here with Mrs. Erickson. Four of the children are attending school in Nelson.

FIRST NELSON GUIDES ENTERTAIN GATHERING

Skits, games and displays of semaphore, knots and first aid made up the entertainment when members of the First Nelson Girl Guide Company held their annual mother-daughter night Tuesday at the Guide hall.

Headed by Susan McAdams, a committee of five Guides planned the affair, served, greeted and introduced guests and cleaned the hall in order to qualify for hostess badges. The group included Brenda Palmer, Joyce Lefeaux, Jeanne Hollington, Frances Hyrtzak and Karen Gibson.

Invited guests were the mothers of the Guides, Nelson Girl Guide Association members, members of the newly-formed Third Nelson Company and Miss Greta Curwin, retiring district commissioner.

Several awards were made during the evening. Those receiving second class badges were Donna Drew, Frances Hyrtzak, Jeanne Hollington, Joyce Lefeaux, Brenda Palmer, Diane Taylor and Jill Grieve.

At the conclusion of the evening members served refreshments from a long tea table decorated with multi-colored spring flowers and sparkling tea services.

Famous Glamor Girl Dies In New York

NEW YORK (AP)—Peggy Hopkins Joyce, glamor girl of the 1920s whose marital ventures brought her fame and fortune, died Wednesday night of throat cancer. She was about 64.

At her bedside was her sixth husband, Andrew C. Meyer, a retired banker.

Miss Joyce was first married at the age of 16, and soon after shone on Broadway as a blonde beauty in the Ziegfeld Follies and Earl Carroll's vanities.

Publicity attended her marriages and divorces, especially when she broke up with her third husband, Stanley Joyce of Chicago, a multi-millionaire lumberman. Details of her divorce suit against Joyce disclosed that he had given her jewelry valued at $1,400,000, a Florida home with a marble swimming pool and a villa on the French Riviera.

A DOMESTIC PET

During the course of journalistic ventures—she wrote a novel and an autobiography, covered the Ruth Snyder-Judd Gray murder trial as a reporter, and conducted a newspaper column—Miss Joyce penned:

"The modern woman is a domestic pet which can be nourished with cheques, which can be tamed with jewels, and of which one can be rid of with alimony."

Although engaged some 50 times, Miss Joyce once said an inviolate rule of her philosophy was: "Don't keep a man guessing. Men don't like to be harried or confused."

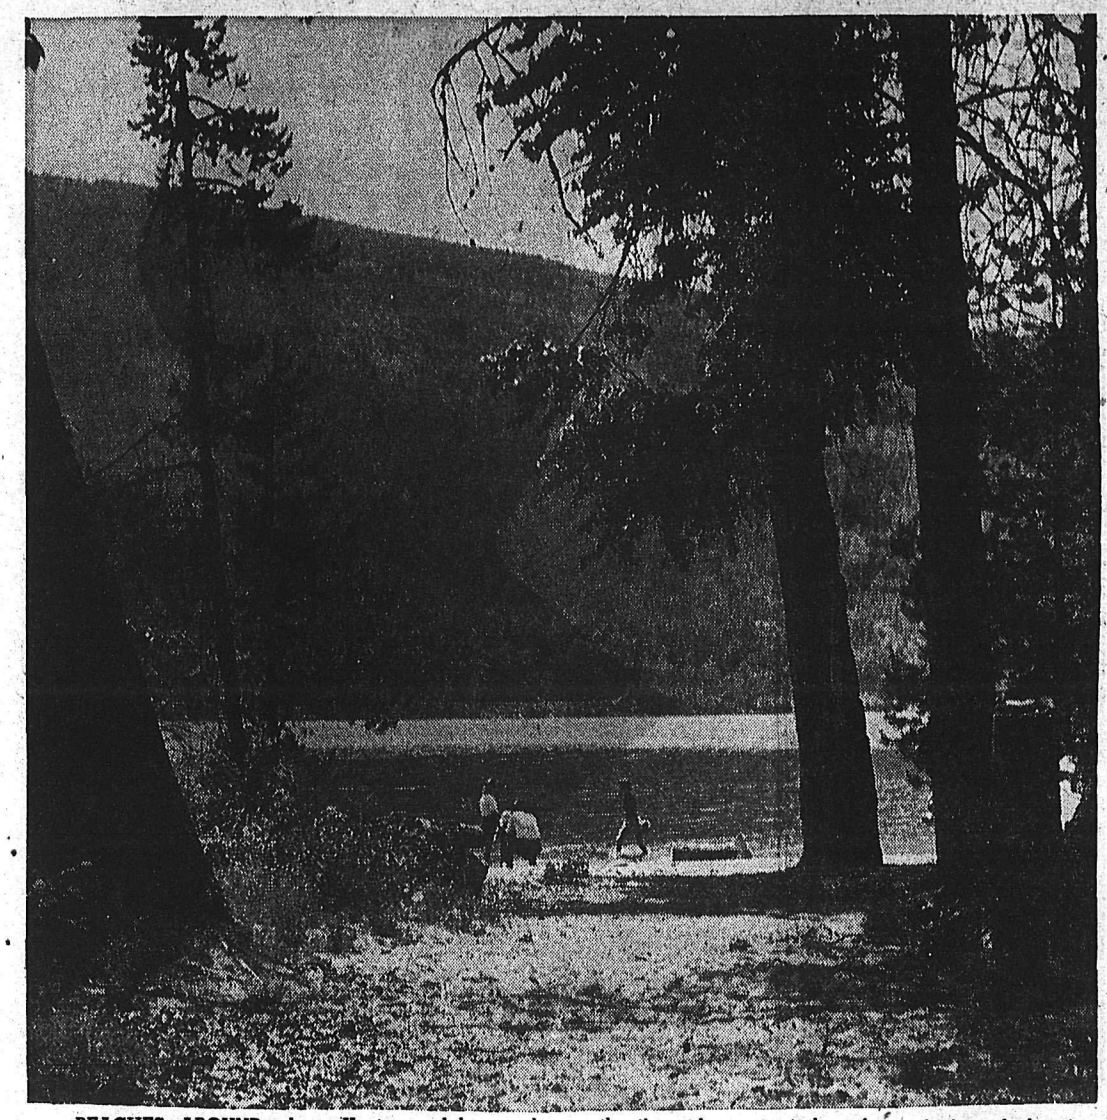
WHAT TO DO... for a fun-filled vacation WHERE TO GO...



BEACHES ABOUND along Kootenay lakes and rivers, affording many hours of pleasure to tourists and short-term holidayers. U.S. Visitors Impressed With Beauty of Kootenays

Mr. and Mrs. Barnes of Oakland, California, returning via the Kootenays from a motor trip to Banff, "really enjoyed the beauty" of the area.

Like many other tourists, Mr. and Mrs. Barnes were impressed with the abundance of water and trees in Interior British Columbia. This was their first time through the Kootenays though they had visited the B.C. Coast on previous occasions.

Their trip included stops at Banff, Lake Louise, Calgary and Nelson.

Father, Son "Envoys" for Nelson Area

The Frank Beresfords, father and son, make an ambassadorial team when it comes to publicizing Nelson in other parts of th Continent.

Whenever they go on a trip, they take along pamphlets on Nelson and district from the Chamber of Commerce and distribute them along the route.

Next week, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Beresford jr., their two daughters, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Ebdon and Mr. and Mrs. Henry Stevenson will be leaving for the International Lions Clubs convention in San Francisco. Each will be travelling different routes, and each will be spreading the word about Nelson's holidays attractions.

Mr. Beresford said Thursday that both he and his father make a point of picking up pamphlets on Nelson before they leave on any journey.

"I leave them mostly at restaurants, motels, hotels and service stations," he says. "I don't leave a batch; I dish them out myself to any people who happen to be around."

There's a ready response to the pamphlets(whether out of curiosity or because they are free. Some six weeks ago Mr. Beresford took about 150 pamphlets to Colville.

"As soon as I handed a couple out, everyone began asking for them," he says, "and in about 15 or 20 minutes all of them had been distributed."

Plays To Be Staged

PROCTER — Two one-act plays will be presented in Procter Hall Saturday sponsored by the Procter Centennial Committee. A program of musical items will round out the entertainment. Secretary-treasurer of the committee is Mrs. C. Fitchett.

VALUABLE TRADE

Pakistan's export of sporting goods in 1956 reached a record figure of nearly 12,000,000 rupees, up 58 per cent over 1955.

City Responsible For Maintenance, Supervision of Parks

In an attempt to protect voluntary organizations who donate playground equipment to the City from being sued along with the City in case of personal injury or damages, the City will now assume responsibility for maintenance and supervision of park structures.

This decision was made on recommendation of the city's insurance agents after Ald. W. S. Ramsay, parks committee chairman, and Ald. Elizabeth Wallach attended a meeting of the Nelson Gyro Club to discuss the condition of Gyro Park.

Ald. C. F. Blakeman said tourists had suggested cutting brush in the Park to give a better view of the City. This was turned over to the works department.

"MOUNTAIN CLIMBER" at Lakeside Park is as popular with tourists' youngsters as it is with Nelson district children. Jack Edwards of Edmonton, en route to the Coast for a holiday with his family, watches clambering exploits of Patsy, Margaret and Jackie Edwards, and Bentley Douglas, top man on totem pole. They stopped briefly at home of Bentley's parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Douglas, 1124 Stanley Street. Mrs. Bentley and Mrs. Douglas were class friends in Edmonton.

Crossing Ocean On Mayflower Turned Out Tough On Sailors

NEW YORK (AP)—Sailing the 17th-century style floating antique, Mayflower II, for 5,000 roundabout miles across the Atlantic was no Sunday school picnic. Even the captain felt seasick "a good deal of the time."

Writer Maitland A. Edey, who made the crossing as a crew member, tells what it was like in the current issue of Life magazine. There were many moments of beauty and nostalic drama, but they were mixed with much druery, inconvenience, dirt and tedium.

Skipper Alan Villiers, Edey wrote, "had no illusions about the ship he commanded, and he was frank about her imperfections. He had his quarters in the high narrow stern of the ship, and whenever there was any kind of sea running, the motion up there was excessive. It was like living in the top of an elm tree and it made him feel seasick a good deal of the time.

A FOUL SPOT

"'This bloody ship,' he would growl at breakfast whenever he had spent a particularly rough night in bed. "That bloody cabin of mine. It's the worst in the ship. Can't get out of bed without breakin' your bloody head, bustin' your flamin' shoulder. Never saw such a ship for things fallin'. Put them on the floor and still they fall'."

It was cold in the northern latitudes when the Mayflower left England April 17, and the Mayflower II soon caught a fair wind and scooted southward for 11 days.

The 22 crew members aboard ate their meals in the "tiller flat," a cramped, low-ceilined room housing the steering mechanism.

"It became a foul spot," Edey said. "All the dirt, slop, greasy water, stenches from the galley and miasmas from the diesel generator seemed to collect there as in a sink. And they stayed. The tiller flat became slimier day by day. At its entrance hung a small sign:

"50-50 club members only.

"This alluded to the 50-50 chance of arrival given the Mayflower by a British newspaper.

"Food for the tiller flat came down a compaionway from the galley above, sometimes carried, sometimes dribbling down the steps if a heavy sea was running. In time these steps became greasy and difficult to navigate."

Things got better as the ship bore onwards toward the tropics.

It picked up the trade winds for the southern route Atlantic crossing. (The original Mayflower followed a route far to the north).

As soon as the weather turned warm, the crew took to eating their meals on deck. Later, when it got really hot, they slept on deck as well.

Steering the square rigger was a difficult and strenuous task.

All too often, until they gained experience, the helmsmen found themselves with the sails taken "aback." This meant the ship had swung so far the wind began blowing on the wrong side of the sails. Then it would start to drift backward, bringing a withering comment from the captain.

WEIRD SIGHT

As the Mayflower neared the U.S. it again encountered ships in the sea lanes. One night the Australian oiler Tide Austral passed close by.

"We put on a show for her, lighting three flares so that our entire ship suddenly flashed into view, glowing with an unearthly light, surging along in a cloud of smoke . . . from the deck of the Tide Austral it must have been fantastic.

Her captain radioed to us:

Constable Wickens Returns To Duties

Constable K. C. Wickens of Nelson RCMP returned to work Wednesday night after an absence of several months due to an injury.

Mr. and Mrs. Wickens and young son were returning from a hockey game in Rossland about 2 a.m. January 16 when their car was involved in a collision with a Great Northern train near Salmo. Mrs. Wickens was taken to Kootenay Lake General Hospital with a fractured neck, and Mr. Wickens suffered a fractured kneecap. The boy was not hurt. Constable Wickens also received treatment at Shaughnessy Military Hospital in Vancouver.

U.S. on Trail of Raw Russian Fur Smugglers

MONTREAL (CP) — United States treasury investigators hope to track down what they believe may be an organized ring smuggling raw Russian furs across the border.

Working here with the RCMP, the T-men are looking for raw white fox furs reported filtering into the U.S. from Montreal and Winnipeg.

Treasury investigator J. C. Fawcett said "most of the illegal entry, we think, is being made of furs labelled as being caught in Canada, or some other non-Iron Curtain country."

The furs entered Canada legally and were not stamped individually as to origin.

Mr. Fawcett said "enough of them have crossed the border so that they are beginning to have an effect on the American market."

Population Between 20 And 65 Rise Numerically

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada's population under 20 years of age increased both numerically and proportionately between 1951 and 1956.

The population 65 years of age and over rose numerically but proportionately showed a slight decline.

The bureau of statistics Wednesday published final 1956 census figures of population by five-year age groups and sex. Total population was 16,080,791 compared to 14,009,429 in 1951.

Persons in the active working age, 20 to 64 years, rose substantially in numbers but declined in proportion to the total population.

BIGGEST INCREASE

Biggest increase was in the age group five to nine years which jumped by 409,228 or 29.3 per cent to 1,807,053 to account for 11.2 per cent of the total population in 1956, compared to 10 per cent in 1951.

Reflecting continued high birth rate trends, the population under five increased by 261,454 to 1,983,563, representing 12.3 per cent of the total population, same ratio as in 1951.

Reflecting continued high birth rate trends, the population under five increased by 261,454 to 1,938,563, representing 12.3 per cent of the total population, same ratio as in 1951.

Total number of children under 10 thus increased to 3,790,616 representing 23.5 per cent of the total compared to 22.3 per cent in 1951.

Proportion in the 10-14 group increased to 8.9 per cent from 8.1 with a numerical gain of 303,811 to 1,434,594.

UNDER-20 POPULATION UP

Reflecting the low birth rates of the depression years, the 19-24 group declined in proportion to 14.2 per cent from 15.4 despite a numerical gain of 144,798 to 2,291,411.

The population under 20 increased in proportion to 39.6 per cent from 38 per cent in 1951.

The 25-64 group decreased proportionately to 45.7 per cent from 46.5 but increased numerically to 7,320,232 from 6,525,826.

The population 65 and over increased by 157,665 or 26.6 per cent to 1,243,938 but declined proportionately from 7.8 per cent to 7.7. proportion of children under five and British Columbia the largest proportion in the group 65 and over.

Top U.S. Secret Equipment Said To Have Caused Deformed Babies

BRIDGEPORT, Conn. (AP) — A lawyer claimed Thursday that at least a dozen American soldiers who worked on a top-secret wartime tank experiment are either sterile or have fathered deformed children.

The lawyer said the 100 members of the tank ordnance company which worked on the project were warned that exposure to rays from the equipment could make them sterile. He said he only had information on about 30 of the soldiers, but about half of those had reported some trouble.

"The instances of sterility, malformations, and deformed children were just tremendous."

TO BLIND ENEMY

The New York Daily News, which first reported the story in a copyright dispatch from Washington, says Army Secretary Wilber Brucker has been asked to make a full investigation. The request came from the former company commander, Marshall White of Chicago.

The News says the experiment consisted of mounting brilliant arc lights on tanks to blind enemy gunners. The operation was carried out in the 9th Armored Division which was fighting along the Rhine in 1945.

About 456 of the tanks were sent into action, The News says, but they had only limited success in combat and the idea was dropped.

The News added that the lights were 13,000,000-candlepower carbon arc lamps, and "there is strong reason to believe that something more than carbon arc was involved."

HAD NO CHOICE

Lyddy gave these facts about the four men he represents:

John J. Zawesz, 42, now a carpenter: His wife had three miscarriages, then delivered a child with a cleft palate. They have no other children.

Peter Decerbo, 35, a bottling firm worker: One miscarriage, and one child, a girl of seven, with a club foot.

Harold Saunders, 38, a plastics firm executive: Two miscarriages then a child with a cleft palate and a hare lip, then two apparently normal children.

Joseph Vanacore, 42, a postal worker, who says he found out from a doctor in 1950 that he is sterile. He says he twice applied for compensation but was turned down.

Lyddy said the men "were assigned to this."

"They had no choice in the matter. They were told by the army that over-exposure to the rays from the equipment could produce sterility."

TO NEGOTIATE FOR LAND FOR ROAD TO CHLORINATOR

Negotiations will be held with the Sentinel Sand and Gravel Company to obtain a portion of land and easements for roads and power lines across other land near Anderson Creek intake for construction of a plant to house water chlorinating machinery, according to works superintendent E. E. Olson.

Mr. Olson said it is planned to construct a building with inside dimensions nine by 12 feet, of building blocks.

Beck Presents His Side of the Case

By E. Q. ANDERSON

SEATTLE (AP)—"I go to bed at night and I never wake up until morning. . . . I've been in this for 40 years and whatever happens doesn't bother me."

It was Dave Beck, president of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters, speaking. He had called reporters in to present his side of a controversy over investment of union funds.

But after that had been disposed of, the discussion came around to more personal things, such as his decision to retire as union boss following unfavorable tertimony at hearings held by the Senate rackets committee and charges of income tax evasion filed against him.

URGED TO STAY ON

Beck said he had wanted to retire a year ago but that other teamster officials had persuaded him to stay on.

He said 95 per cent of his decision to not seek re-election is the ill health of Mrs. Beck.

"My wife reads this stuff and it bothers her. I don't want to go through a continuous dogfight. I've reached the time when I'm entitled to say to hell with it." He pointed out that he will be 63 next Sunday.

He predicted that "this hysteria" would die down.

FRIENDS DIDN'T HELP

A reporter asked him if he "felt hurt" over "this ruckus."

The husky labor leader paused, took a deep breath, and said:

"I don't feel hurt over what happened in Washington but I feel hurt over what happened in my own community."

"I felt hurt because of all the people I helped finance their projects not a ----- ----- one said 'We never had that experience with Dave Beck.'"

Beck seemed resentful that benefactors of his charities have not come publicly to defend him.

"Why don't you check with the American Legion who I helped get $15,000, or the YWCA ($15,000) the YMCA ($17,000) the Children's Orthopedi Hospital ($15,000) or Bellarmine High School in Tacoma ($19,000) or a lot of other groups?"

NO "FRONTS"

As to anyone buying property in his behalf, "Nobody fronts for me."

But if a friend or a relative had a chance to make a good investment he saw no reason why he shouldn't loan them the money for it. He said "It's a lie that money comes back to me."

Then the question came up of his use of the fifth amendment, constitutional protection against self-incrimination, at the Senate rackets committee hearings. "If you answer one question, you have to answer them all and you may drag in other people . . . I acted on the advice of my attorney."

At All-Time High Record

OTTAWA (CP) — The 1957 federal election cost the public treasury about $7,000,000 an all-time high, election officials estimate.

This compares with $5,850,000 in 1953 and $4,400,000 in 1949. It is more than double the $2,800,000 cost of the 1930 vote.

The public treasury cost covers pay of returning and deputy returning officers, rental of polling boths, printing of ballot papers and voters' lists, enumerating voters and cost of taking the service vote.

This is aside from the millions of dollars laid out by candidates and political parties in campaign expenses.

Drop In Deaths Boosts Chinese Population

By DAVID CHIPP

PEIPING (Reuters)—A leading Chinese economist says that if China's population continues to increase at its present rate, there will be nearly as many people in the country by 2007 as there are at present in the whole world.

Prof. Ma Yin Chu, 76-year-old economist at Peipin University, has predicted that the population of China in 50 years will be 2,600,000,000. The estimated population of the world today is 2,636,600,000.

At present, about one-quarter of the world's population is made up of Chinese. The latest figures available from the state statistical bureau in Peipin ive the population, including overseas Chinese and those on Formosa, at the end of 1955 as "more than 630,000,000."

DEATH RATE CUT

It is officially estimated that the natural increase is about 15,000,000 a year, which means that the population by now must be in the region of 650,000,000.

Some observers here believe that this is an under-estimate and that the population is rising even more rapidly than is officially stated. Some believe that it may even be approaching 700,000,000 already and this figure would seem to be borne out to some extent by Prof. Ma's predictions.

The extraordinary rate of natural increase, which logically will about not only by the huge rise in an impressive decline in the death rate, particularly among infants.

BIRTH CONTROL PROGRAM

though the government only recently has admitted that its interest in birth control is something more than just regard for the health of mothers and children, it has been worried for some years by the problems of population.

The birth control campaign which has been launched is receiving all the attention which a Communist organization can give to movements of this kind. Exhibitions on birth control are front of store windows which have been given over to realistic displays of methods and equipment, books and pamphlets are distributed free, and the clinics are overflowing with people seeking advice.

Not Likely To Postpone PMs' Meeting

LONDON (CP)—Official sources said Thursday there is little chance of the forthcoming conference of Commonwealth prime ministers being postponed.

They were commenting on a suggestion in The Times proposing a postponement because Commonwealth prestiage may be reduced if a number of prime ministers are unable to attend the conference, which opens June 26.

Prime Ministers Sidney Holland of New Zealand and Johannes Strijdom of South Africa have announced they will not attend the meeting, but will be represented by deputies. The premier of Ceylon, Solomon Bandaranaike, is in political difficulties at home and may be unable to attend.

The suggestion for postponement followed the result of Monday's voting in the Canadian federal election. Neither of the two big parties, the Liberals or the Progressive Conservatives, obtained a clear majority, leaving the political future unclear.

Warn Catholics Not To Attend Graham Crusade

NEW YORK (AP) — Roman Catholics are being warned again about attending evangelist Billy Graham's crusade in Madison Square Garden.

The new warning, second in seven weeks, comes from Rev. Richard Ginder, editor of Our Sunday Visitor, a national Catholic weekly.

Father Ginder says some Catholics have mistakenly taken the view that their church has given Graham's preaching "a mild sort of approval."

To correct such assumptions, he is publishing an editorial on the subject in next Sunday's issue of the church publication saying:

"We are tolerant and friendly to Billy Graham and company just as we are to the Lutherans, Presbyterians and Jehovah's Witnesses.

"However, our tolerance and friendliness exist only at the social and civil level. It stops dead where religion enters in."

The first warning was sounded April 24 by Rev. John E. Kelly, director of the bureau of information of the National Catholic Welfare Conference.

He described Graham as a purveyor of false doctrines whose teachings were "a danger to the faith."

MILTON, Ont. (CP) — Feeling bright and cheery, on her 102nd birthday, Mrs. G. A. Hemstreet is Milton's oldest resident.

Ont. Nylon Plant Claims Air Pollution Control

By FORBES RHUDE
Canadian Press Business Editor

BANFF, Alta. (CP) — A scientific battle against air pollution has apparently been won at the nylon plant at Maitland, Ont., of Du Pont Company of Canada.

A technical 29-page paper on the matter—a sort of textbook in itself for those faced with similar situations—was read to the current annual meeting of the Engineering Institute of Canada by H. R. L. Streight of Du Pont's engineering department.

The battle began when the plant was in the design stage, with the result that by the time operations began, the amount of contaminating matter sent into the air was, in the words of Mr. Straight, "low and safe." He added:

"The experience gained has convinced us that air pollution from a complex organic chemical plant can be controlled.

ABSORPTION SYSTEM

He summarized results of the intricate study as follows:

"Air pollution was reduced by designing the boiler-house stacks for adequate dispersion of flue gases and by developing and installing an absorption system for almost complete removal of oxides of nitrogen in effluent gases."

His paper, describing how this result was arrived at, was packed with chemical formulas, equations and graphs, and was typical of some two - score presentations which are being made at the institute's three - day annual meeting, Wednesday to Friday.

J. C. Langford, manager of engineering and maintenance, Canadian Chemical Company, Edmonton, also presented a paper on pollution—in this case of pollution of surrounding water by industry.

"The methods used to render innocuous domestic sewage," Mr. Langford said, "are not usually effective with industrial wastes and new methods must be devised to handle them, the development of which tax the total range of available technical skills.

"Government agencies have not as yet established fully criteria for control of industrial disposal in all locations and it is an essential responsibility of industry itself to take a leading part in eliminating and controlling pollution in an effective manner."

The costs involved in proper control, Mr. Langford said, constitute an economic factor which may affect seriously the choice of plant location and influence process design.

His paper outlined the manner in which his company, at a cost of some $500,000, has tackled the problem at their plant at Edmonton.

CHALLENGE OF PIPE LINE

A paper by A. L. Berry, principal pipe line engineer, Westcoast Transmission Company, and B. L. Moreau, production engineer, Pacific Petroleums Ltd., outlined the many things involved in Westcoast's 650-mile natural - as pipeline from the Peace River area to the international boundary near Vancouver.

It involves, in addition to the main line, 130 miles of gathering lines and 80 miles of field-gathering lines.

It involves, too, a 1,675-foot suspension bridge — 125 feet longer than Vancouver's Lion's Gate Bridge—across the Peace River.

A floating bridge across Okanagan Lake which will replace the Kelowna, B.C., car ferry was described by W. Peusch, Vancouver design engineer.

It will be two miles long, including approaches, and has a half-mile floating section in the middle borne by reinforced concrete pontoons.

This solution was decided upon when it was found that underlying materials were not suitable for either a suspension bridge or a rockfill causeway.

A paper by Lou Osipov, another Vancouver design engineer, described the Oak Street and Middle Arm Bridges which will replace the old Marpole swing span over the north arm of the Fraser River at Vancouver.

Mr. Osipov said that costs have been lower than those originally estimated, indicating that the design used was an economical one.

Both the Kelowna and Vancouver bridges are being built by the British Columbia toll highways and bridges authority.

A paper by J. P. C. McMath, department of electrical engineering, University of Manitoba, and Paul Shane, system supervisory engineer, Manitoba power commission, described the mercury-vapor street lighting introduced by the commission in 1953.

The paper stated that mercury vapor lamps have a light output two and one - half times greater than the larger incadescent lamps, per unit of power supplied.

Kellock Commission To Study Rail Operations in European Countries

OTTAWA (CP) — The Kellock royal commission investigating the CPR diesel dispute announced Thursday it will study rail operations in France, Switzerland, The Netherlands and the United Kingdom during August.

Mr. Justice Kellock of the Supreme Court of Canada, head of the three-man commission, said the CPR and the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and enginemen (CLC) have submitted considerable evidence about rail operations in some Western European countries.

As the commissioners regarded it essential to make on-the-spot observations of al operations regarded by the disputants as material "it appears necessary for them to use the (summer) recess period to view the material in European and remaining domestic locations."

The commission ended its Ottawa hearings Wednesday. It plans to hold further hearings in Toronto June 18 to 20, Winnipeg June 27 and 28, Calgary July 3 to 5 and Vancouver July 12 and 13.

In September the commission views operations in the Kettle Valley of British Columbia's mountain area before returning to Ottawa for final hearings.

Representatives of the CPR and the union are being invited to be present at the on-the-spot studies here and in Europe.

Second Mayflower Docks at Plymouth, Massachusetts

PLYMOUTH, Mass. (AP)—Mayflower II, replica of the original pilgrim ship, ended her long voyage from Plymouth, England, Thursday.

She entered the harbor shortly after 9 a. m. MDT, towed by a U.S. Coast Guard craft and surrounded by a fleet of yachts and other small craft.

Skipper Alan Villiers had furled sails just outside the harbor before attempting the narrow channel up to the mooring basin prepared for Mayflower off historic Plymouth Rock.

Dark skies and hazy weather detracted from the spectacle from a spectators point of view. Church bells pealed a welcome as the 92-foot bark appeared around Gurnet light, marking the harbor entrance.

54-DAY VOYAGE

Mayflower's arrival marked the end of a 5,000-mile, 54-day voyage re-enacting the historic trip of the pilgrims in 1620.

The 180-ton square-rigged bark swung into a mooring buoy at Provincetown, on Cape Cod, Wednesday, and at dawn Thursday set her sails for the 24-mile trip to Plymouth, where the Pilgrims set foot on the new land.

Cmdr. Alan Villiers, a native of Australia who skippered the replica, said the only trouble experienced on the 53-day trip was a cracked boom during a storm.

He said the boom was lowered to deck and repaired. "Altogether," he added, "Mayflower II sailed with a fair wind."

ESCORT OF YACHTS

All 22 members of the ship's company wore pilgrim costumes but none was allowed ashore at Provincetown. Crew members include one Canadian, CPO Charles Church of Falmouth, N.S., representing the Royal Canadian Navy Sailing Association.

Two members of the crew were taken off in a helicopter before the Mayflower reached land. They appeared on a New York television program Wednesday night.

It was at Provincetown that the original Mayflower made landfall 337 years ago, but the Pilgrims remained there a month before proceeding to Plymouth.

The re-enacted trip also varied widely with the pilgrim trip of 1620 in another major respect—Mayflower II entered Provincetown harbor under the tow of a coast guard vessel.

Villiers acceded to the urgings of the trip's promoters and the Plymouth reception committee to stay as close as possible to a set timetable.

So, rather than linger only a few miles from the goal until the wind shifted, he reluctantly accepted the tow for 25 miles.

Mayflower logged 5,000 miles—2,000 more than the original Mayflower—because Villiers chose to take a southerly route to take advantage of the trade winds and then come northerly on the favorable gulf stream.

That strategy paid dividends in that the replica made the voyage in 53 days, compared to the 66 it took the Pilgrims.

INLAND NATURAL GAS

Starts flow this fall — to serve 44 B.C. communities

Natural Gas is significantly associated with the rapid development and economic growth of Canada.

Inland Natural Gas Company will soon be supplying Peace River natural gas to industries and thousands of households in the presently high-cost fuel districts of Nelson, Trail, Penticton, Kelowna, Vernon, Kamloops, and the interior area of British Columbia.

Gas sales for the first year are indicated at 5.9 billion cubic feet and are expected to increase to 13.3 billion cubic feet annually within five years.

To cover final costs of constructing the extensive transmission and distribution system, the company has issued $15,000,000 in First Mortgage Bonds to mature 1982.

These bonds carry the high coupon rate of 6 per cent, occupy the senior position in the company's corporate structure, carry an effective sinking fund, and may not be refunded by the company before 1974 by the issue of other funded obligations having an interest cost of less than 6% per annum. They therefore provide an excellent medium for safe and rewarding investment.

We, as principals, offer these First Mortgage Bonds, which are available in denominations of $500 and $1,000, at a price of 100 to yield 6 per cent.

A copy of the prospectus of Inland Natural Gas Company Limited is available from any of our offices upon request.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:
A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

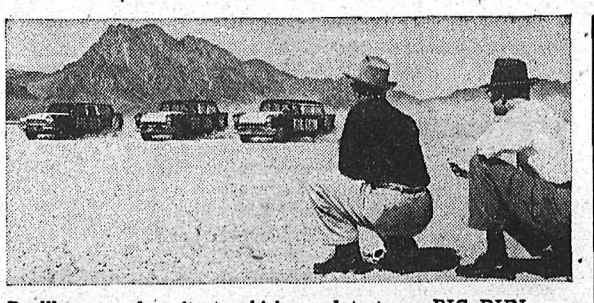
New RPM SUPREME Motor Oil halts engine wear!

Now—exclusive new DETERGENT-ACTION COMPOUND keeps engines so clean, guards them so well, cars last years longer!

Deep in the Yukon Territory BIG RUN cars made short work of steep mountain grades. The reason: RPM SUPREME Motor Oil cuts friction drag between moving parts. This increases usuable horsepower as much as 15%, gives fast starts in any weather, makes possible gas savings up to 1 gallon in every 8! And even in bitter Alaskan cold, new RPM SUPREME kept engines clean and free of sludge!



Broiling sun doesn't stop high-speed tests, as BIG RUN cars are timed over dry desert lake bed. Temperatures soared to 110 degrees but all three engines came through unharmed, because RPM SUPREME gives as good or better hot-weather protection than heavy oils do!

Today, after more than 51,000 miles under all extremes of weather, the engines use less oil than when brand new!

West Kootenay Women's Tourney Starts at Kaslo Club Tomorrow

Seven members of Nelson Golf and Country Club have registered for the annual West Kootenay Women's Golf Championship tourney which begins at Kaslo tomorrow.

Officials of the host Kaslo club have been quoted as a trifle perturbed over the reduction in entries from many Kootenay clubs. Joan Sutcliffe, Dede McBride, Jocelyn Morey, Doreen Allan, Margaret Benson, Barbara Longden and Peggy Jack will represent Nelson in search of the crown won last year at Trail by Ruby Stone.

Nearly a dozen Nelson women competed last year, their proximity to the scene of the tourney allowing them to leave in the morning and return at night. To play in Kaslo, Nelson women have made arrangements to remain over.

Recreational Director's Summer Program Thriving

Recreational Director Joe Johnson reported Thursday that the inclement weather during the past week handicapped his program but did not halt it completely.

Biggest damage done by the rain was that tennis lessons begun by Russell Hawes Monday were slowed right down. Hawes has taught in Nelson and district before and was formerly one of British Columbia's top competitive net stars. Lessons will continue until further notice.

In preparation for the busy swimming season anticipated hereabouts, especially since the Civic Pool is expected to be ready for use during July, Johnson has made arrangements to start dryland swimming drills for pre-school youngsters.

Every day from Monday to Friday, classes will be held at the following times:

Uphill grounds—10 a.m.; Civic Recreation Grounds — 11 a.m.; Lakeside Park—2 p.m.

Mrs. Gerhard Renk, who swam for Germany in the 1948 Olympic Games, will tutor the students.

Joe was obviously satisfied as he spoke of the reception afforded his summer program so far. Of 1000 forms printed for distribution among children and teen-agers, none remain.

Veteran Fullback Rejoins Roughies

REGINA (CP) — Fullback Moe Martin has signed a contract to play his fifth season with Saskatchewan Roughriders of the Western Interprovincial Football Union, team manager Dean Griffin announced.

Martin is the seventh homebrew holdover to come to terms with Riders. The club has also signed four new Canadian players and 17 imports, 13 of them newcomers.

Veteran Pro Jim Demaret Leads Open Rivals By Pair

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — Jimmy Demaret, a 47-year-old grandpa with an eager putter, fired a two-under-par 68 for the early first-round lead Thursday in the U.S. Open golf championship, rocked by a violent storm and the abrupt withdrawal of Ben Hogan.

The youthful-looking Kiamesha Lake, N.Y., professional, a three-time Masters champion, sank a 40-foot chip and rolled in putts of 35 and 15 feet to take temporary charge over the world's best shotmakers at the Inverness Club.

At the 18th he pitched a beautiful iron shot from the rough to within eight feet of the pin but the bid for his fourth birdie of the round died less than an inch from the cup.

Demaret finished in bright sunshine after a tempestuous morning which saw a violent thunderstorm, with winds of 50 miles an hour, blow tents and sheds over the course.

LEADS WARD

Earlier Hogan, a four-time winner and a favorite for his fifth, had shocked the tournament by announcing he couldn't play. He said he was plagued by a recurrence of an old backache and was unable to swing a club.

With part of the field still on the course, Demaret had a two-stroke lead over Marvin (Bud) Ward of San Mateo, Calif., 44-year-old former U.S. amateur champion, who had a 70.

Tied at 71 were Peter Thomson, three-time British open champion from Australia, Donald Whitt, little-known 26-year-old pro from Alameda, Calif.; and Stan Leonard, a 44-year-old internationalist from Lachute, Que.

EXTRA HAZARD

Five players were tied at 72. They were Fred Hawkins of El Paso, Tex.; Mexico City's Roberto Devincenzo, Babe Lichardus of Hillside, N.J., Clarence Doser of Rockville, Md., and Jack Fleck of Rochester, Mich., the 1955 open champ.

Although Inverness' 6919 well-soaked yards played much easier than expected, particularly because of the softened greens, not all the pros found the par-70 course a paradise.

Ed Furgol of St. Andrews, Ill., 1954 champion, took a costly eight on the 451-yard 17th yet finished with a commendable 75.

The storm delayed play for more than an hour and was so severe that the defending champion, Cary Middlecoff, a late starter, said two falling trees barely missed his car as he drove to the course.

PROVINCIAL JAYCEES LAUD CRANBROOK FOR TRACK MEET

CRANBROOK—The recent annual provincial Junior Chamber of Commerce meeting at Kelowna solidly endorsed a Cranbrook Jaycee resolution that chapters through the province undertake sponsorship of local annual track meets to provide a field of competition for outstanding athletes no longer eligible for high school or college competition.

Cranbrook Jaycees are supporting this proposal by sponsoring their first annual meet here June 29. It is open to competitors anywhere and a general invitation has gone through community centres to points in West Kootenay, Okanagan, Alberta, northern Idaho, Washington and Montana. College and school athletes are also eligible for competition.

Events will be various distance sprints and longer runs on the quarter-mile track, straight relay and medley relay witih medals for individual winners, and a trophy put up by G. E. K. MacDonald for the athlete winning most points Entry fee has been set at one dollar, and entry deadline June 25. Accepting entries is Donald C. MacDonald of the Cranbrook Jaycees.

Undertaking by other Jaycee chapters through the province of similar annual meets was proposed by the Cranbrook delegation with the purpose of developing these toward district and eventually provincial finals open to competition by the non-school track athletes at present lacking any field of competition.

Brock Ostrom will be track recorder for the Cranbrook meet and Donald MacDonald track director.

Hefty Import End In Argonaut Fold

TORONTO (CP) — Henry Reeves Hair, an end who played with Georgia Tech in 1951-53-54, has been signed by Toronto Argonauts of the Big Four Football Union, Managing Director Lew Hayman announced.

The 25-year-old Hair, six-foot-four and 217 pounds, is in the United States Army but is expected to be released in August.

He is the 20th new import who will report to Argos for pre-season training in mid-July.

AMATEUR STATUS ENDANGERED IF EXPENSES TAKEN

TORONTO (CP) — An official of the Royal Canadian Golf Association said Wednesday any amateur golfer accepting expense money for taking part in a golf match at Flint, Mich., is liable to lose his amateur status.

An international match for amateurs is scheduled for Flint June 17.

In Winnipeg, George Knudson, one of Manitoba's top amateurs, said Tuesday he will not take part in the match. He said he had been invited but had learned his amateur standing would be in danger if he accepted expense money for the trip.

The RCGA officials said he did not know whether the other three Canadian amateurs invited to take part in the tournament will go to Flint. They are Gary Cowan, Kitchener, Ont., Canadian junior champion, Don Doe, Granby, Que. and Nick Weslock, Windsor, Ont.

Solons Upset Leaders; Mounties Still Close

By The Associated Press

With a virtual monopoly on the Pacific Coast League basement—19 games off the pace—the Sacramento Solons evened their series with the San Francisco Seals 1-1 by knocking over the loop leaders 2-1.

Outfielder Albie Pearson's three-base error with two out in the last of the ninth Wednesday night let in two runs and lost the Seals the game, which had gone scoreless until the top of the ninth when San Francisco picked up a run, also unearned.

Hollywood's George Witt hurled a sparkling three-hit, 5-0 shutout over runner-up Vancouver. Jim (Mudcat) Grant helped San Diego into a fourth place tie with Los Angeles by striking out 13 Angels on the way to a 3-1 triumph. And reliefer Duane Pillette starred for Seattle as the Rainiers put down the Portland Beavers 2-1.

Nippy Jones launched the final frame Solon attack with a single after one man was out. Jim Westlake flied to Pearson in deep right for the second out. When Al Heist followed with another fly, Pearson ran in front of Marty Keough to make the catch but dropped the ball as the tying run scored and Heist raced to third. Harry Bright slashed loser Tommy Hurd's first pitch into left centre to score Heist.

Hurd, who was trying to walk Bright purposely but came too close, had allowed only one Sac runner to reach third before the final inning. Joe Stanka yielded seven hits in winning his third against three losses.

Witt was never in trouble against the Mounties, who trail San Francisco by half a game. He gave up a double and two singles, struck out five and walked two.

Bill Hall's bases-loaded single scored the Stars' first two runs in the third inning. Joe Duhem tripled in the sixth to score two runs and Bill Causion singled in another as he boosted his league leading batting average to .336.

Grant's 13 strikeouts for San Diego's Padres raised his total to 63 in 61 innings this season and gave him his third victory against three defeats.

Preston Ward's third homer of the year featured the Padre scoring as Grant held the Angels to goose eggs until the seventh when they pushed over an unearned run.

At Seattle, Pillette came on in the third inning for Russ Meyer, who had pulled a muscle, and limited Portland to three hits the rest of the distance. Each team scored once in the first inning. Pillette singled home his own winning margin in the sixth—after a single and a base-hit bunt.

TWO CANADIANS JOIN OTTAWANS

OTTAWA (CP) — Ottawa Rough Riders of the Big Four Football Union Wednesday anounced the signing of homebrew holdover end Bud Korchak and guard Marv Bevan.

Korchak, a placement kicking specialist, came to Ottawa from Montreal Alouettes halfway through the 1956 season. He previously played with Winnipeg Blue Bombers of the Western Interprovincial Football Union.

Hogan's Withhdrawal Joins With Storm To Create Havoc

By WILL GRIMSLEY

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—The abrupt withdrawal of Ben Hogan and a violent 50-mile - an - hour windstorm struck the 57th national open golf championships with almost simultaneous force Thursday, throwing the opening round into wild confusion.

Hogan, a four - time winner of the tournament and a favorite to take a fifth, dejectedly pulled out shortly before his scheduled tee-off. He said a backache, which has bothered him since 1946, had come back with such painful agony that he couldn't swing a club.

The tight - lipped master from Fort Worth, Tex., was stricken Wednesday night and tried to doctor himself with ointment and hot pads. He showed up early Thursday for his start but suddenly felt sharp pains.

A Toledo doctor, out on the Inverness Club course as a spectator, was summoned to the locker rooms. He suggested an hour's delay in Hogan's starting time to permit diathermy treatment. The U. S. Golf Association gave him 54 minutes. Hogan was taken to a downtown clinic and then brought back to the course where he dressed and went to the practice tee.

VIOENT STORM

After hitting a few shots, he turned to the officials and said, "I don't think I can make it."

A savage thunderstorm struck a few minutes later, catching 75 of the 162 contenders on the course and forcing suspension of play for an hour and 10 minutes. Winds scattered the official starting tent over the No. 1 tee and blew down several temporary structkres.

Special details had to hold supports of the press tent to keep it from blowing away. Many of the greens were submerged.

The day's weather developments were overshadowed, however, by the withdrawal of Hogan, the amazing athlete who came out of a near-fatal automobile accident in 1949 to turn his string of Open triumphs to four, two masters and the British Open at Carnoustie.

He had whipped himself into condition for this new bid for No. 5, a goal never reached by the great Bob Jones, and had built himself into a confident frame of mind.

OLD AILMENT

The 44-year-old Hogan said he had been bothered by the back ailment since 1941 at Orlando, Fla., and it had no connection with his automobile accident.

"The doctor calls it neuritis but I call it a cold," he explained. "It has bothered me off and on for some time. The last time was at the Greenbrier tournament last month."

Hogan said the pains intensified when he tried to hit the ball and he didn't believe he would have been ready even if given a longer delay.

"I could not have hit a three-iron shot about 140 yards," he said. "I couldn't have reached the par four greens at all. I don't think I could have shot 90."

Asked if he would try again next year, Hogan, his face grim, replied:

"Yes, I will."

The SHORT CIRCUIT

By JOHN SHORT
Sports Editor

NOBODY ASKED ME, But . . .

New York Yankees are still the best team in the American League, and will prove it in time to enter the World Series again.

Tony Anthony will defeat Yvon Durelle tonight in their televised light-heavyweight bout, but the fighting French-Canadian will make a better showing than did Gordon Wallace in his recent fiasco with the lanky New York Negro.

Von McDaniel's pitching performance against Philadelphia Phillies Thursday night did not immediately qualify him as a front-line starter, but St. Louis Cardinals front-office men can't be blamed for visualizing the day when he lines up beside brother Lindy to form a one-two brother combination.

* * *

In any list of athletic marvels, the name Ben Hogan must be included among the top 10.

Nelson Outlaws this season are playing the most crowd-pleasing baseball of their history.

Mickey Mantle will win the American League triple crown because Ted Williams is too old and Al Kaline, the only other possibility, is too young.

Bob Hesketh is Canada's most consistently brilliant sports columnist but for good old fashioned reading I'd rather pick up Ted Reeve's meanderings any day.

* * *

Johnny Temple is the man Birdie Tebbetts would call on in almost any given clutch situation, offensive or defensive, to keep Cincinnati Redlegs close or to put them ahead.

If New York Yankees were first instead of second at this point, Art Ditmar would not be nursing a sore jaw today, and Larry Doby's hand wouldn't be paining him.

With all due respect to Bobby Shantz, doesn't Granny Hammer rate the call, thus far, as comeback of the year?

With Dennis Riggin standing in the wings, isn't Terry Sawchuk still on a spot?

Is there a better defensive fighter in boxing today than Orlando Zulueta, and if there is, name him.

* * *

When picking under-rated baseball players, doesn't the name Willie Jones make you wonder how come he has never received his due credit?

On television last Saturday, didn't Al Cicotte look as if he might be what the Yankees need and have always come up with in the past—a rookie pitcher who's likely to add 10 games to the win total?

Charley Maxwell is hitting in a vacuum, with six homers in his last six games, and very little recognition of the fact.

Frank Lary will win 20 games again this year for the Tigers, but without Billy Hoeft at peak efficiency, the Tiger mound brigade is no better than fourth best in the AL.

* * *

Proof that a catcher is the key man on a ball team can be seen by the recent article in a national magazine about Sherman Lollar, because last year, when the White Sox were trailing New York, Lollar was still a good catcher, but not worthy of mention in the "slicks."

If Vinegar Bend Mizell comes through for the Cards, they may surprise a lot of people, because the hard-throwing hill-billy has (or had before he went into the army) enough stuff to beat any team in any park on any given day.

Can you think of a better left-handed pitcher game in and game out than Billy Pierce, and isn't he at least the equal of Herb Score, although perhaps a little less spectacular?

Brawls Break Out in Major Leagues

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Staff Writer

The two pennant races exploded in a Hellzapoppin' afternoon of combat Thursday which saw the New York Yankees move within four games of Chicago's White Sox with a 4-3 victory over the American League leaders after the Milwaukee Braves had muscled back into the National League lead with an 8-5 victory over Brooklyn.

Chicago's Walt Dropo and Larry Doby and Yankees Billy Martin and Enos Slaughter were ejected in a wild first inning of fist swinging and tongue wagging at Comiskey Park as the Yankees won the series 2-1 and handed 10-game winner Billy Pierce his third defeat.

At Brooklyn, where the Braves took a half-game NL lead as Pittsburgh completed a four-game sweep over Cincinnati by beating the Redlegs 3-2, Dodgers pitcher Don Drysdale and Braves' shortstop Johnny Logan got the heaveho after a brawl that had everybody in the act.

The defeat dropped Cincinnati from first to third, six percentage points behind the Philadelphia Phillies, who moved into second place with an 8-1 victory that ended the St. Louis Cardinals' winning streak at eight games. Brooklyn fell to fourth, a game behind, with the Cards back in fifth, nine points shy of Dodgers.

New York defeated the Chicago Cubs 7-4 in the other NL game.

In the other AL games, where Ted Williams' bat provided the only fireworks, Detroit moved into third place with a 2-1 decision over Baltimore as the Boston Red Sox, powered by Williams' three home runs, whipped the Cleveland Indians 9-3.

A wild pitch by Yankee starter Art Ditmar that just missed Doby started the fuss in Chicago. The 6-1, 182-pound Doby charged, swung and sent the 6-2, 185-pound right-hander sprawling. Dropo and Slaughter then mixed it up and Martin started jawin' with Doby.

American League President Will Harridge sat in on the 28-minute melee.

RIVERA HOMERS

When they got around to playing baseball, Jim Rivera poked a two-run homer for a 2-0 Sox lead in the second inning. But the Yankees scored one in the third—the first run off Pierce in 26 innings—and then ended the little lefty's search for an eighth consecutive victory with a three-run fifth on doubles by Gil McDougald and Mickey Mantle and singles by Bill Skowron and Andy Carey. Sherm Lollar homered for the other Sox run in the eighth.

Williams drove in five runs with his 15th, 16th and 17th homers of the season—the third three-home run game of his career and the second this year. Frank Malzone drove in three other Red Sox runs with a homer and double as Tom Brewer won his seventh on the fourth try. Early Wynn lost it for a 7-7 mark. Williams' third shot was off reliever Bob Lemon, making his first appearance since pulling a leg muscle May 24.

The Tigers scored in the sixth, on Charlie Maxwell's sixth home run in six days and J. W. Porter's Texas League double. John Tsitouris, a 21-year-old righthander who reported from Charleston of the American Association after the game had started, won in his first major league appearance, a 2 1-3-inning relief job.

WORDS EXCHANGED

Drysdale and Logan got into it in the second inning, after Billy Bruton's second home run had given the Braves a 4-0 lead. Drysdale hit Logan with a pitch and the two exchanged words as Logan strolled to first base. Logan then charged the mound to set things off. Both were ejected.

The Dodgers broke Bob Trowbridge's two-hit shutout spell with three runs in the sixth, two on Gino Simoli's homer, then tied it four-all on Peewee Reese's third hit, a seventh-inning single. The Braves, shut out by reliever Ken Lehman, then tagged Clem Labine for four in the eighth, with Carl Sawatski's three-run homer the clincher.

Bob Friend six-hit the Redlegs for his fourth victory, striking out seven as the Pirates won their fifth in a row. A bases-loaded sacrifice fly by Gene Baker beat Hal Jeffcoat in the ninth, breaking a two-all tie produced by Don Hoak's second home run of the game for Cincy.

Whitey Lockman and Ray Jablonski tagged two-run homers as the Giants scored five in the second to beat Dave Hillman. Red Schoendienst also homered for New York.

TOUGH TONY FIGHTS YVON FOR TV FANS

DETROIT (AP)—Yvon Durelle, a commercial fisherman who holds the Canadian light-heavyweight boxing championship, and Tony Anthony, who hopes to land the world title, clash here tonight in a 10-rounder at Olympia Stadium.

The Canadian abandoned his nets when the opportunity came to meet Anthony, No. 1 contender for the title held by Archie Moore.

"I'm losing money, but this is a big opportunity," said the 27-year-old veteran from Baie Ste. Anne, N.B. "Moore is ready to be taken and if I beat Anthony I figure I'll be the guy to take him."

Despite Durelle's confidence, his 22-year-old opponent is a 3-to-1 favorite.

A two-time Olympic fighter, Anthony has won 30 of his 34 bouts, 23 of them by knockout. He is unbeaten since he graduated from the middleweight ranks.

"I can't afford to look bad," said Anthony, who will have a four-inch height advantage. "Maybe I'll take some punches, but I think it'd be a mistake to stick and run. I have to try to beat him good."

Durelle has had five fights this year, winning four and losing on a third-round knockout to Clarence Hinnant. The record books show he has 40 victories in 56 bouts. One fight was called "no contest", there was one draw and 14 defeats.

"I've really had about 135 fights," he said. "The people who make up the record books never heard about a lot of my early fights in Canada. Actually I've been fighting for 12 years now."

Torgeson Traded For Dave Philley

DETROIT (AP) — Detroit Tigers traded first baseman Earl Torgeson to Chicago White Sox Thursday for Dave Philley and an undisclosed amount of cash.

Torgeson, 33, has been in the major leagues since 1947.

Philley, appeared in 21 games with the White Sox this season and has a batting average of .309.

Thumping Theodore Leads Candidates for Classic

NEW YORK (AP) — Ted Williams' name leads all the rest in the first returns of the vote for the American League all-star team.

The 38-year-old Boston slugger who has played in 13 all-star games tops both leagues with his vote total of 15,255 in figures released Thursday by the office of baseball commissioner Ford Frick.

New York Yankees' Mickey Mantle is giving Williams the closest battle with 14,755 votes.

Stan Musial of St. Louis Cardinals is the leader in the National League balloting with 12,465 votes.

With the exception of the pitchers, the starting lineups will be selected by vote of the fans as announced periodically from Frick's office. The American League all-stars meet the Nationals at St. Louis, July 9.

Early returns in the American show three Detroit Tigers, two New York Yankees and one each from Boston, Chicago and Cleveland leading.

Play Safe While You Drive!

Keep alert—chew gum

Avoid traffic jitters and driving drowsiness. Chew gum while you're behind the wheel. Chewing helps relieve strain and tension—helps keep you feeling fresh and alert for safer driving.

Chew any brand of gum you like but chew while you drive. Naturally, we recommend refreshing, delicious Wrigley's Spearmint Gum—for lively, satisfying flavor and real chewing enjoyment.

No Two People Alike Say Writers

MONTREAL (CP) — Writers, male or female, should write about "the man in the street" and not make him too sordid, two women writers say.

Mrs. Steinvor Ellinsen of Oslo, Norway and Mrs. Katherine Roy of Montreal traded impressions of the writing trade when they met during sessions of the International Council of Women triennial conference here.

Mrs. Ellinsen, a newspaper writer and economist who has also written a novel and two social studies, said she wished young writers would write "more idealistically." The new writers tended to copy each other in realism.

"All people are different," she said. "It's very wrong for young people to want to be just like someone else—they even want to write like someone else. I think they do it to get a feeling of security but it means that they do not see how individual people about them are."

Her own novel was called From Nine to Four—the Norwegian office worker's typical working day—and was about ordinary people.

Mrs. Roy's first novel Lise is included in a display of Canadian novels at the ICW's convention headquarters here.

She, too, said she believes in writing about the ordinary person. The fault of young writers is that they seemed to think writing about sordid people and going into every detail of their lives is artistic, she said.

"The first definition of art is 'a believable interpretation of life' but that doesn't mean making it seem ugly," she said.

The women, both grandmothers, agreed that the only way to find out if one has any writing talent is to write. Both started early and worked for newspapers and magazines.

Mrs. Roy worked for the old Montreal Standard magazine and has written for several newspapers while Mrs. Ellingsen still writes for an Oslo daily newspaper and proudly displays a press card describing her as a "gentleman" of the press.

Council Jottings..

Sagging fortunes of Nelson Transit System continued to sag in May. Figures, with May, 1956 comparison totals in brackets, were fuel used, 1529 gallons (1773 gallons); miles run, 5633 (6440); passengers carried, 27,087 (34,203); and revenue, $2109.49 ($2704.47).

Garage and transportation chairman Ald. G. E. Mermet said it is hoped to work out a proper schedule when Dutton-Williams Brothers have completed laying gas pipes.

City officials will make further checks to find out who is responsible for maintenance of sections of View Street. A. L. Freebairn, district highways engineer, B. C. Highways Department, sent a copy of a letter to J. W. Bagnall, who had petitioned for improvements to View Street outside the City limits. The letter said, that, according to the 1930 "Gazette," the department was responsible for that part of View Street outside the City limits, southeast from the junction with Selby Street. Mr. Freebairn said it was hoped to reconstruct View Street southeast from Morgan Street this year to provide access to new hospital property.

Ald. W. S. Ramsay and his parks committee have been given power to act on setting aside a portion of the Nelson Memorial Park for burial of cremation remains. Officials of the Thompson Funeral Home informed Council that, until now, cremation remains have been buried in plots owned by the survivors. However, they now have a family wishing to bury cremation remains who do not own other cemetery property. It was felt they should not have to buy a regular-size plot, since cremation burials take less space than other interments. Councillors noted that some municipalities put cremation remains in buildings.

May figures for the Bonnington Generating Station showed "quite a substantial increase" over those for the same month in 1956. Figures, with May, 1956, totals in brackets where applicable, are: total output, 3,214,420 kilowatt hours, station service, 7450 KWH (10,300 KWH); net output, 3,606,970 KWH (2,622,600 KWH); average load KW, 4320 (3525); peak load KW, 7000 (5900); minimum load KW, 1940 (1700); and 30 minute average peak, 6916 KW (10,300 KW).

Works superintendent E. E. Olson will make a survey later in the year to see if anything can be done to help eliminate inconvenience caused at the Greyhound bus depot by Spring and Summer rains.

Western Canada Greyhound Lines officials said there had been trouble ever since the Nelson depot was opened, and the bottom part of the building, which contains rest rooms and a dining room, is sometimes put out of service during heavy rains. He asked if anything could be done to improve the size or flow of sewer pipes to take care of floods.

For the convenience of businessmen and others who might wish to park their cars for several hours, 10-hour parking meters have been installed on the east side 500 block Hall Street, and on the east side of Kootenay Street from Victoria to the lane. These meters take only five cent pieces, stated City clerk C. W. R. Harper, while other new meters being installed in town work on both five-cent and one-cent coins. Mr. Harper also said that, if a person parked his car for three hours, for example, but drove away before the three hours were up, was liable to lose his space and unexpired time to some other motorist. Two-hour meters have been installed on the 700 block Vernon Street and the 400 block Hendryx Street, especially for the convenience of those going to the Medical Associates Clinic.

EMPHASIZE PERFECTION OF GOD'S CREATION

The completeness and perfection of God's creation was emphasized at Christian Science services Sunday.

"God the Only Cause and Creator" was the Lesson-Sermon topic. Bible selections read included the following from Jeremiah (51:10): "The Lord hath brought forth our righteousness: come, and let us declare in Zion the work of the Lord our God."

Readings from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy included the following: "No wisdom is wise but His wisdom; no truth is true, no love is lovely, no life is Life but the divine; no good is, but the good God bestows."

The Golden Text was from Revelation (4:11): "Thou art worthy, O Lord, to receive glory and honour and power: for thou has created all things, and for thy pleasure they are and were created."

To Investigate Businesses' Parking Problems

Several complaints from businessmen about parking facilities have been turned over to Ald. G. E. Mermet, garage and transportation committee chairman, to investigate.

W. W. Bennett of Bennett's Limited said putting a parking meter next to their loading zone on Stanley Stree twould give "no access to the back of our building for loading heavy equipment or for getting in coal to our coal bin." Works superintendent E. E. Olson said this was not so.

Chris Trkla protested installation of a parking meter on Hall Street, near his Nelson Hotel. He said the lane behind his establishment is often blocked by milk trucks and other vehicles, particularly in the morning, when a great many hotel guests leave.

Beacon Motors said installing two meters in the centre of a driveway to part of a lot facing on Vernon Street owned by Stevenson's Machine Shop, which the motor company rents for customer parking and used car sales, would make the lot useless to them, since the owners use the back of the lot to park their own equipment. They asked that one meter be installed to one side of the driveway. The company said they had removed the fence around Stevenson's lot and put in three gates.

City police have been asked to enforce loading zone restrictions after Ald. Elizabeth Wallach reported that Kootenay Laundry and Dry Cleaners were taking up space for several cars on Baker Street with their zone. Space would be cancelled if the signs are not erected by the next council meeting.

Last year, according to Mr. Olson, the laundry management and management of the Savoy Hotel asked for a 44-foot loading zone, (22 feet each) but this was turned down. Mr. Olson gave the laundry one week to put up signs, but this had never been done. The works superintendent said other businesses are also violating the restrictions.

Approval was given to installation of two 12-minute meters on Josephine Street outside the Imperial Bank.

PARKING FINES

Seven men were fined $1 and $3.50 costs each Tuesday when they pleaded guilty to parking meter infractions before Magistrate R. S. Nelson in city court.

Written pleas were received from Dennis Colman, G. R. Norris, Hugh Herbison, Wayne Blackwell and G. V. Jones of Nelson, also Ronald Mirkovich of Salmo. William Patterson of Nelson appeared in person.

J. F. Joyce of Nelson paid $10 and costs for speeding Friday on Front Street. He pleaded not guilty, but was found guilty.

Odds... and Ends

by M. D. B.

Like every other babbling brook I have a dry season when I simply can't find a thing to say. I hate to miss writing you for fear you will feel I am neglecting you and yet to write and say nothing seems as bad. I haven't decided which is the lesser of the two evils.

* * *

Well, I had hit such a spot, and probably my friend in Trail realized my difficulty, for along came a much needed letter to tide me over till inspiration strikes again. My friend has taken exception to the fact that I called that wasp that is building a nest on my fence a "he" and has taken time to set me right.

* * *

Apparently all the male wasps and workers die in the Fall and the females hibernate, to start a new colony in the spring. Not only that, he informs me it is only the females and workers that have stings. He adds, "This knowledge doesn't help much as you can't readily tell one from the other." I had a notion when that one peered out at me from that little grey sphere that "she" had an ace up her sleeve and wasn't bluffing. At any rate it should be a good nature study — though of course I might get stung.

* * *

My friend also observes that the wasp taught man how to utilize wood pulp for making paper. Certainly their funny little homes are marvelously constructed and a wasp must have to do a lot of chewing before the structure is completed.

* * *

A friend of mine who is working in a mine up in the Lardeau said, "Boy, you ought to come up to the Lardeau if you want to meet characters!" He mentioned John Muca, who lives at Goldhill and worked on the railroad until it was taken out. Mr. Muca makes violins and having no horse from which to get horsehair for the bow he makes the bow out of a carefully finished piece of wood. "And he can scrape music out of them too," my friend added, "Nothing fancy, mind you, but it's music."

* * *

Another fellow he marvels at is John Dumontelle, a Frenchman who lives at Poplar. Mr. Dumontelle thinks nothing of walking the 30 miles to Kaslo. "He just starts walking and walks till he gets there," he said; "and when he has finished his business in Kaslo he walks back home — even if he has to walk through the night." It is refreshing to hear about characters who go about their own way of life, come change or progress, don't you think?

Curling Club Should Help Pay Increased Costs, Commission Feels

At its recent meeting, the Commission considered a letter from the club protesting the $3300 rent for 1957-58.

On the basis of 175 members, the commission said rent would only be about $20 per member, and "it would appear that a club fee of $30 would cover both rental and club costs." This conclusion was made after a meeting of the commission with club delegates.

Compared to rates charged for curling in other centres, the commission felt $3300 a "very reasonable fee for curling." The club's letter to the commission stated they could not pay the rent because they couldn't increase fees. From this, the commission "can only conclude that the Nelson Curling Club is not willing to assume any responsibility towards paying a greater share of the expenses involved in operating the Curling Rink as a unit of the Civic Centre."

The commission said the club's letter has "handed the whole problem over to the Civic Centre Commission. If the club is prepared to agree that all labor costs and the costs of all materials have risen steadily, then the Civic Centre Commission feels the Curling Club will have to admit that it is not realistic to expect club fees to remain at the level they have maintained for the past five or six years."

Club officials feared any "increase in fees would appreciably reduce membership," but the commission pointed out "this concern has not prevented other adult forms of recreation from substantial increases in cost to members during the last few years."

Commission officials are "anxious" to work out a suitable agreement. However, it felt club officials must also be prepared to make some effort towards coming to some agreement.

School Cabinet Introduced

Pat Clark, acting prime minister this year at L.V. Rogers High School, introduced Bernie Monteleone, prime minister designate for next term, at Awards Day in the high school auditorium Wednesday afternoon. Student Clark took over the office upon the illness of prime minister Dinham Drew last January.

Mr. Monteleone then introduced the members of his cabinet as follows:

Barbara Moore, minister of finance; Gordon Niehaus, social affairs; Donald Dunstan, records; Mike Borch, athletics; Tom D'Aquino, internal affairs; Jim Carter citizenship; and Judy Seaby, minister without portfolio.

Gordon Niehaus announced that the school hoped to "start a new tradition" this year in presenting a picture to the school of the graduating class. He explained that the pictures had been taken and would be presented Friday.

G. H. Lee, principal of L. V. Rogers High School, said he "had one last word to the grad- them on their exemplorary behaviour after graduating exercises last week and suggested they could make this example a tradition. He noted that he had received "one very complementary telephone conversation and as yet no adverse criticism at all."

$50 SPEEDING FINE

Henry Wasilenkoff of Glade was fined $50 and costs for speeding on Baker Street on the night of June 9. He appeared before Magistrate R. S. Nelson in city court and pleaded guilty.
