No Reason for Delaying Sommers Case Says Bonner

VICTORIA (CP) — Attorney-General Robert Bonner said Friday he knows no reason why proceedings in the Sommers bribery case should be delayed.

He was commenting on the request for a remand made in Vancouver police court Thursday by prosecutor Stewart McMorran.

Mr. McMorran said he wanted to discuss the case with Mr. Bonner and needed more time to study the evidence and interview witnesses.

"I don't know why he would have to talk to me," the attorney-general said. "He has all the evidence.

"As far as I am concerned the prosecution will go ahead in the normal way."

Mr. Bonner said a "large basic research staff" had been made available to the prosecutor to help prepare and interpret the evidence.

Mr. Bonner arrived back Friday from the federal - provincial conference in Ottawa.

Told by reporters that Alfred Bull, counsel for one of the defendants in the conspiracy case, had said he couldn't understand the reason for the delay, Mr. Bonner replied:

"Frankly, I can't understand the delay either."

Veterans Minister's $259 Million Budget Approved by House

Brooks Reports No Waste in His Department; Plans No Spending Cuts

OTTAWA (CP) — Veterans Minister A. J. Brookes says he has found no waste or extravagance in his department and doesn't expect to find any.

He made the statement in the Commons Friday a few minutes before the House approved his department's $259,390,000 spending program for the fiscal year ending next March 31.

The spending estimates were debated for one hour in the morning and 2½ hours in the afternoon. Mr. Brookes spoke for about five mniutes replying to questions asked by members during the debate.

The House then approved the multi-million-dollar program in six minutes. The estimates of three other departments — post office, secretary of state, and mines and technical surveys—also have been approved. The postal estimates were approved at the pre-election session last spring.

Replying to Walter Tucker (L-Rosthern), Mr. Brooks said the government was proposing no amendments to the veterans estimates to reduce expenditures. State Secretary Ellen Fairclough and Mines Minister Paul Comtois also had previously reported no expenditure cuts in their departments.

Liberals have been reminding Conservatives of their election campaign promises to reduce waste and extravagance in government operations. Each minister bringing his or her estimates before the House has been queried on this point.

Except for some supplementary estimates brought in by the Progressive Conservatives this session, practically all of the new government's current spending program was mapped out by the previous Liberal administration before the June 10 election.

At the opening of Friday's sitting, the CCF tried unsuccessfully to have the House set aside its scheduled business and debate Canada's agriculture situation. Hazen Argue (CCF - Assiniboia) wanted the House to consider the "continuing crisis" in agriculture which he attributed to increased costs and falling income, but his motion was ruled out by Speaker Roland Michener.

NO TAX HINTS

During the Commons' question period, Finance Minister Donald Fleming said the government is considering whether to reduce the 10-per-cent sales tax on automobiles. However, he gave no clue what his decision might be.

Before the veterans estimates were passed, Mr. Tucker said they might be handled more quickly if the minister indicated whether he proposed changes.

"If he finds the estimates satisfactory and there is no waste or extravagance... that might facilitate their passage,," Mr. Tucker said.

Mr. Brooks replied that no changes were proposed and added: "I might say at once that I have not found any waste or extravagance, but I did not expect to find them in this department."

The department dealt almost entirely with pensions, war veterans allowances and similar things.

"There is not any chance for waste and the money spent for our veterans could not in any way be considered waste or extravagance."

Mr. Brooks reiterated that the government plans to establish a war veterans committee at the next session of Parliament. However, he did not indicate whether a prmanent committee is planned.

Landlords Grab Pensioners' $9

VANCOUVER (CP) — The mayor's office said Friday some Vancouver landlords have already raised their rents $9 to correspond with a new increase in federal old-age pensions.

Charles Sutherland, secretary to Mayor Fred Hume, said he has received at least a dozen complaints from pensioners saying landlords took all of a $6 increase granted last July and of the latest $9 increase.

The newest increase is expected to be included in pension cheques received next Saturday. Federal pensions then will be $55 a month.

Said Ralph Coles, president of the old age pensioners organization: "We have had many discussions with the government about these landlords, but apparently nothing can be done."

Sputnik I May Land Sunday

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP)—History's first rocket - satellite may tumble to its doom Sunday morning.

The final stage rocket that thrust Sputnik I into orbit Oct. 4 over Russia is in its last hours, the Smithsonian Astrophysical Observatory reported Friday.

Dr. Fred L. Whipple, observatory director, emphasized that it is impossible to predict at this time where and when the rocket satellite might make its flaming plunge toward earth.

Four Burned Bodies Found

HOPE, B. C. (CP) — Police recovered the bodies of four men Friday from the charred ruins of a shack two miles from here. They said the men, all in their fifties or sixties, were burned so badly they may never be positively identified.

RCMP said the abandoned shack apparently was destroyed when a wood heater exploded. The shack was about half a mile from the Canadian National Railway track.

A hunter, Walter Payment, discovered the bodies Thursday afternoon. Police said the men are believed to have been transients who sought shelter in the shack. A coroner's inquiry is being held.

Dog's Body Found But Six Still Being Sought

PRINCE RUPERT (CP) — The body of a collie dog has been found in the tangle of mud and trees following a landslide here a week ago, but there is still no trace of six bodies missing in the ruins of three homes buried in the slide.

The search for the bodies of Mr. and Mrs. John Murray, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Perry, George Henderson and John Vandal continued Friday.

The dog, whose body was found Thursday, was owned by a Mr. G. Leserte, whose whereabouts are not known. He is not believed to be a slide victim, however.

France Readies Atom Bomb

PARIS (CP) — The French weekly magazine Enterprise said Friday France will test at atomic bomb next spring.

A defence department spokesman said "we can't confirm it." The department has declined to comment on similar reports that France intends to add atomic weapons to her arsenal.

The magazine said work on a French A-bomb began in 1956. It reported that the speed with which France has been able to construct a bomb has surprised Britain and the United States.

A successful explosion would give France entrance to the exclusive bomb club, now open only to the United States, Russia and Britain.

Indian Girl Found Dead in Auto

INVERMERE — Elizabeth Veronica Joseph, 21-year-old daughter of Camile Joseph, Kootenay Indian Reserve, was found dead in a car about 8 p.m., Thursday.

The car had previously been stopped by police who apprehended driver William Wills of Athalmer. An impaired driving charge has been laid. The arrest followed a drinking party.

Later the other passenger in the car, Joseph Williams, phoned RCMP to say the woman in the rear seat was dead. Death is believed to be from natural causes but RCMP are investigating. An inquest opened Friday night and was adjourned.

PC Suggests Rent as Down Payment to CMHC

TORONTO (CP) — A plan which would let young couples with families buy homes with rent money as down payment has been suggested to Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation, a Progressive Conservative member of Parliament said Thursday night.

William Beech told his constituents in York South a group of his colleagues in the House suggested the scheme to encourage home ownership.

"At the end of five years young people who had proved to be good tenants would be allowed to purchase. All rental money paid in would be considered a down payment. From then on regular mortgage payments would include the usual carrying charges."

DOLLAR LOWER

NEW YORK (AP) — The Canadian dollar was ⅛ lower at a premium of 3 3-16 in terms of U.S. funds; a week ago 3 29-32 per cent premium. The pound sterling was 1-32 lower at 2.80 21-32.

MONTREAL (CP) — The U. S. dollar closed Friday at a discount of 3 3-32 per cent in terms of Canadian funds, up 5-32. Pound sterling $2.71 15-16, up 7-16.

Auto Firms Plan Layoffs

TORONTO (CP) — Canada's three biggest car manufacturers, hit by dropping sales and public uncertainty over the government's excise tax policy, begin wide-scale layoffs next week.

General Motors of Canada Ltd. and the Chrysler Corp. of Canada Ltd., announced scheduled production slow-downs Friday. Ford Motor Company of Canada had announced last week 2400 employees would be laid off in December.

A total of 16,400 workers at plants in Windsor, Oakville and Oshawa will be affected.

Chrysler President Ron W. Todgham, in his statement from Windsor, said "widely - circulated but unsubstantiated rumors stated that a reduction in the excise tax on cars is imminent. The effect of this report has been to bring a complete halt to the shipment of cars from Canadian manufacturers to the dealers."

General Motors said a further decision on its shutdown will be made when the government's policy is known.

PLYWOOD PRICE CUT

PORTLAND (AP) — The price of plywood was cut $4 Friday to $68 a thousand square feet by Weyerhaeuser Timber Co. The Oregon Journal predicted other producers will announce similar cuts by early next week.

Eisenhower Asked to Resign

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower was asked Friday by Democratic representative Clayton Powell of New York to "withdraw immediately" as the nation's chief executive.

Powell, one of three Negro members of the House, made public this telegram he sent to Eisenhower:

"Your recent illness distresses me deeply. As one who respects your life and devotion to our country, may I respectfully request that you withdraw immediately.

"I know that we in the free world need your leadership and the luster of your prestige name, but you have given your all, all your life, and I am positive that you are now entitled to spend the balance of your life relaxed and happy with your loved ones.

In the meantime, my prayers."

They were arrested in statewide demonstrations Wednesday against the constitutional provisions for religious freedom.

The demonstrators — many of them teen-agers — are members of Dravida Kashagam, a political organization of Hindu descendants of India's aboriginal Dravidians.

Grey Cup Arrivals Quieter Than Usual

Carnival Spirit of Last Year At Vancouver Seems Missing

By BRUCE LEVETT
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO (CP) — The usual confusion of Grey Cup weekend rolled toward a peak Friday but much of the color and crash of previous years was missing.

The western bands which traditionally turn Union Station and the hotel lobbies into marching color and hammering sound were absent. Most of the arrivals on the Grey Cup special trains and planes trooped into hotels quietly.

One theory was that Winnipeg fans weren't too confident that their Blue Bombers would knock over the formerly invincible Edmonton Eskimos to win their way into the Grey Cup football classic. When they did, the fans were unprepared. Another was that the influx of Hamilton suporters would not arrive until just before game time. Hamilton is 40 miles west of Toronto.

Compared with the bone-crushing crowds in Vancouver for the 1955 game and the impact of confident, white - hatted Albertans here last year, Friday's pre-game color was a little drab.

SUBDUED BY COMPARISON

Compared with 1948, when Calgary Stampeders turned the football weekend into a carnival of pretty girls, horses and chuck-wagons and cooked flapjacks on street corners, Grey Cup 1957 is a subdued affair.

The confusion was the same as every year.

The Toronto Musicians Association announced that Frank Kerr, conductor of the Winnipeg Bomberettes band and drill team will lead his 90 precision-marching girls into the stadium after all—but behind the HMCS York band.

Norm Harris, secretary of the association, said Mr. Kerr, due in Saturday morning on a CNR special, will be sworn in as a member of the Winnipeg Musicians' Association to allow him to lead the Bomberettes in their eight-minute display before game time.

The Bomberettes' band—youngsters who have played for the girls at Winnipeg games all year—will have to watch from the stands.

"The situation isn't of our making," Mr. Harris said. "Varsity Stadium is a closed union shop, where no music that is not federation music may be played. The Junior Board of Trade, which booked the entertainment, agreed with the arrangement. We're bending backwards to help out."

He said he had received a telegram from "about 50" Winnipeg business men stating "We love our non-union teen - agers' band. We would love to see them on television." It asked that the ban on the band be reconsidered.

"We're doing our best to help" Mr. Harris said.

He said the Bomberettes' band, and the Winnipeg police pipe band, will be allowed to march in the Grey Cup parade immediately preceding the game. "We're overjoyed to have them."

Herridge Says Vets Turned Away At Hospital

OTTAWA (CP) — H. W. Herridge protested in the Commons Friday that male immigrants are receiving treatment at Shaughnessy Military Hospital in Vancouver but war veterans are being denied admission.

Veterans Minister A. J. Brooks said the complaint would be investigated provided Mr. Herridge gave the department particulars.

The CCF member for Kootenay West said Shaughnessy hospital was built to care for men who fought for this country. Yet needy veterans were being turned away while male immigrants were receiving hospital services, dentures and glasses.

Certain female immigrants and children were getting a type of outpatient service.

Mr. Brooks said no eligible veteran is refused entry to the hospital. However, Mr. Herridge said many needy veterans do not qualify under regulations and are prohibited from receiving treatment.

Museum Donations Still Coming In

VANCOUVER (CP) — Donations to the Maritime Museum Building Fund are still reaching city hall despite recent moves to curtail the centennial project, Austin J. Alexander, fund-raising chairman, said Friday.

He said 436 personal, 51 business and six xassociation donations have been received.

"I appeal to al lthese contributors to let city hall know before Tuesday, when city council will consider new plans for the museum, that they do not want to see this project dropped."

Shades of the Wild And Woolly West!

PORTLAND (AP)—A dozen Portland police had something to be thankful for Thanksgiving Day: The day finally ended.

They spent most of their shift Thursday puffing around after two heifers that had escaped from a railroad yard.

The ability to cope with wandering cows long ago disappeared from the force, and the patrolmen spent anxious moments edging up on the wild-eyed heifers to get close enough to toss a lariat.

But their lariat-tossing is even worse than their edging-up, and they succeeded only in sending the heifers racing on through more back yards.

The edging-up became even more ragged after one of the heifers turned on two of the patrolmen. The panting patrolmen later reported that they did not know how they did it, but they outran the cow.

One patrolman figured out what he considered a foolproof way to catch a cow. He climbed the roof of one house, dropped a rope over the side and was about to get the noose around the cow's neck, when the cow dashed off.

That was lucky. A second later and the patrolman would have been the trailing end of the flying rope.

The big hero was patrolman William E. Condra. Throwing from the confines of one yard, he got a noose over a hedge and around the neck of one of the cows. The police triumphantly hauled their catch back to the railroad yards.

The other heifer was cornered between two small buildings later.

Presley Album Gets Varied Reception

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

An album of Christmas songs and carols recorded by Elvis Presley has struck a sour note with some Canadian radio sattions.

Several stations across the country gave a resounding "no" when asked whether they would play the discs by the rock 'n' roll singer, which include such numbers as "Santa Bring My Baby Back to Me and Silent Night.

Some are undecided, and a few *said they will play only the non-*religious numbers. Other stations plan to wait for the views of their listeners before deciding.

The comments varied from "degrading" to "a good job."

Station CKXL in Calgary banned the album outright and said it was "one of the most degrading things heard in some time."

A disc jockey on CHNS, Halifax, said what while the station was considering playing parts of the discs, the "sexy overtones" ruled out Presley's version of Silent Night and O Little Town of Bethlehem.

CKOY, broadcasting in the Ottawa region, will probably play parts of the record.

A panel of four Edmonton clergymen, broadcasting on CHED's Pastor's Study saw nothing wrong in the record. They had no objection if Presley relayed a "great message of Christmas" to teen-agers.

Station CKY in Winnipeg planned to issue a daily dose of two selections three times daily. Listeners will be invited to comment after each program. The station's policy will depend on the reaction.

None of the Vancouver stations have banned that record specifically. With the exception of CKLG, they are leaving it to the discretion of the men running the programs.

Said CKLG: "We never use Presley records, and if we did we wouldn't be using that album."

Winnipeg's CJOB was just as harsh.

"We have no objections of listeners and disc jockeys want to hear it," said Geoffrey Waddington, CBC director of music. "And there are no restrictions.

DOG GUIDES WEDDING PARTY

BOISE, Idaho (AP) — A black dog guided the bride and bridegroom to the altar.

The ceremonies Thursday in the Second Presbyterian Church here united Wayne Sandberg of Burley, Idaho, and Phyllis Hagard of Gooding, Idaho.

Sandberg, who became blind six years ago, never has seen his bride. She, almost sightless, has seen him in little more than silhouette.

Both are employees of Live Inc., he as a rug weaver and she as a secretary.

Leading the way along the church aisle was Clincher, a Labrador who belongs to Bob Unterkircher, best man at the ceremony. Mrs. Unterkircher was matron of honor.

Ushers were three sightless coworkers of the bridal couple.

Twins' Appeal Dismissed

VANCOUVER (CP) — The appeal of twin 17-year-old brothers from a sentence of five years and ten strokes of the paddle each was dismissed Friday.

Robert and George Mycock were sentenced Oct. 28 by Mr. Justice H. A. Maclean after they were convicted of rape.

The girl involved in the charge against them was 14 years old. A third man, accused with the Mycock boys, has since been arrested and is awaiting trial for the same offence.

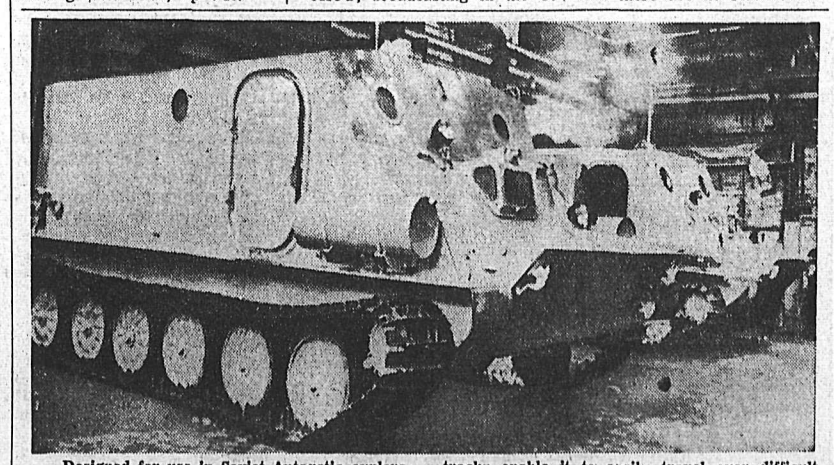
Park Reserves On Lakes, Highways Studied

VICTORIA (CP) — Recreation Minister Earle Westwood said Friday his department is considering a proposal to place a parkland reserve on B. C. lake shares.

The minister said the government was concerned that most lakeshore property on such lakes as Okanagan is falling into private hands, as well as islands in the lakes.

He said his department is working closely with Lands Minister Williston on the matter.

Mr. Westwood also released today a preliminary report on the project to create a chain of roadside parks along the Trans-Canada Highway in all provinces.



Designed for use in Soviet Antarctic explorations, these "penguin" snow vehicles stand in the Korov manufacturing plant in Leningrad. The Russians says the streamlined body and wide tracks enable it to easily travel over difficult terrain and loose snow. It is described as having a hermitically-sealled body permitting it to stay afloat in water.

And in This Corner ....

DENVER, Colo. (AP)—John Goddard, 51, is going to court next month over a hair-splitting case.

He is suing an insurance firm for $180—the cost of Goddard's red toupee. Goddard said in his complaint the toupee was badly torn when he was thrown over the steering wheel in an automobile-truck collision last year.

A lawyer for the insurance company said Goddard's policy didn't cover any damage to his head covering. Judge Mitchel B. Johns of Superior Court said they can battle it out before him Dec. 11.

NOTTINGHAM, Eng. (Reuters)—A wife whose husband sometimes took away the plug on their television set so she could not watch while he was away was granted a divorce here Thursday.

Justice Davies said the action of the husband, Maurice Bracewell, illustrated his general petty nastiness to his wife, Edna May.

NEW YORK (AP)—Only a couple of lovers spooning on a nearby stoop and a couple of drunks asleep on the sidewalk.

That was the scene as it appeared to four thieves driving up to the Meridan Knitting Mills in Brooklyn early Thursday morning. For two hours, they looted the plant of $2500 worth of sweaters and loaded the loot into their truck.

Just as the robbers were about to drive off, the lovers unwrapped their arms from each other and the drunks sprang to their feet. There stood detectives Paul Reilly, Pat Kelly, Steve Wall and Frank Shannon—with pistols.

The four surprised robbers surrendered immediately.

Jaycees Promote Winter Employment Campaign

Nine Nelson organizations, Canadian Legion, Chamber of Commerce, Gyro, Soroptomist, Rotary, Lions, Kiwanis and Kinsmen clubs and the Carptenters' Union have been selected to receive visitors from Nelson Junior Chamber of Commerce members in connection with the Winter Employment campaign. Other groups may be chosen later.

The visit will consist of a film, "It's a Crime," a short talk by a Jaycee, and discussion with aid from an official of the Nelson office of National Employment Service.

The film, a humorous treatment of the serious matter affecting all Canada, was shown at a meeting Thursday in NES office by Thomas Whitehead, National Film Board representative here, who will arrange showing to other groups. He said the film is also wanted in Cranbrook and Trail.

Jaycee Clifford Sherlock, chairman of the Winter Employment Committee, said education was needed to combat the problem. Nelson was "just one small cog in a big wheel," since the program was being followed across Canada. He thought Winter employment should be encouraged in talks with others.

Appreciation for the Jaycees taking over the project was voiced by Nelson NES manager D. M. Disney. In addition to sending men to assist, NES would provide speech assistance, he said.

JOBS SUGGESTED

"There's a Time for Everything," prepared by the federal labor department was distributed. This pamphlet outlines measures used by businessmen in other parts of Canada; doing maintenance, repairs, and renovation during the off-season; transferring staffs from slack to busy departments or divisions during the off-season; building new plants or additions in Winter; producing and stockpiling standard products in Winter; special campaigns and discounts to induce Winter work; training and/or re-training of workers in Winter; diversification of industry in communities; diversifying products in seasonal industries; liquidating vacations in the off-season.

About 25 Winter employment posters are now distributed in Nelson stores, Mr. Disney reported.

When an order is received by NES for a worker, say, to build cupboards, the employemnt service sends a man who is properly qualified, Mr. Disney said. NES had a selection process to find suitable workers, he said, adding that a selection officer may give a carpenter a trade test if desired. This test was compiled by the department of labor and the Carpenters' Union.

Successful Kinauction

"Things have never been better," J. E. Keegan, Kinauctions chairman, said after the second auction Friday night over CKLN.

Kinettes were kept busy answering four phones as residents bid on —Christmas gifts and other articles, and Kinsmen were busy on stage at the Capitol Theatre conducting the auctions and looking after the Kingo game.

Walter Apostoliuk was master of ceremonies, and L. M. McBride was chief auctioneer. Assistant included L. G. Catley, Gordon French, F. W. Leno, Arnold Sherwood, Ian F. Brown, and Mr. Keegan.

Jack Bagnall arranged entertainment, and artists were Walter and Bill Khadiken of Taghum, Barry Carmen, David Carroll, and Fred Robinson of Nelson.

FORMER MRS. GRIDLEY DIES

Word was received in Nelson on Friday of the death of Mrs. F. S. Downing of Penticton.

Mrs. Downing was the former Mrs. Sam Gridley, wife of the proprietor of Gridley's — a bakery and confectionary store located on Ward Street where the Medical Arts Building now stands.

Mrs. Downing died on November 21, the same day her brother-in-law, Bert Gridley died in Nelson.

PCs Protest Higher Lead, Zinc Tariffs

Kootenay-West Federal Progressive Conservative Association Thursday added its voice to protests against a proposal by the United States to impose higher tariffs or quotas on Canadian lead and zinc coming into the U.S., and to a request for more "booster" stations in the Kootenays.

A motion to end Trans - Canada Airlines' monopoly on cross-country routes was referred to the executive committee.

Seven resolutions were presented.

The federal government will be "urged to use every effort to dissuade the United States government from imposing additional tariffs or quotas on the importation of lead and zinc into the United States and to point out to the United States government that such imposition would probably lead to retaliatory tariffs or quotas by Canada on the import of American products into Canada, including fresh fruits and vegetables."

Dependence of the majority of Kootenay residents on lead and zinc production, sale of a large proportion of Canadian lead and zinc to the U.S., and Canada's importation of "many hundreds of millions of dollars' worth of goods from the United States each year over and above the value of goods sold by Canada to the United States" were noted.

ASK "BOOSTERS"

Complaints about poor Kootenay radio reception prompted the association to seek installation of "as many booster stations as may be required to serve the riding of Kootenay West." The resolution said this could be done "at relatively small expense."

One resolution on which the meeting was undecided was a request that TCA's monopoly on trans-Canada services be discontinued since "competition is recognized as an integral part of the free enterprise system which is supported by the Progressive Conservative party." An amendment asking the federal government to study the possibility of allowing private airlines to enter the trans-Canad field, proposed by E. T. Bodard of Nelson, was turned down after several votes, and the motion was referred to the executive.

The board is presently considering an application from Canadian Pacific Airlines to enter the trans-Canada field. Application from Pacific Western Airlines to operate cross-country runs was refused some time ago, but members thought this line may wish to apply again.

"GRASS ROOTS" IDEAS

The public might think there was discord between the association and the Dominion government if the transport board took action opposite to that suggested by the resolution, thought G. B. Arnesen of Nelson. Peter Dewdney of Trail, resolutions committee chairman, thought members should not be afraid to express "grass roots" ideas.

Another resolution asked the federal government to re-exaxmine terms under which 175 houses built in 1948 and 1949 in the Sunningdale area of Trail for rental and subsequent sale to veterans "with a view to making their purchase more attractive to the occupants."

Sales began more than two years ago but have been slow, resulting in a "general deterioration of the district to the detriment of the occupants, the city of Trail, and the Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation itself."

The government was asked, in a resolution from Procter-Balfour PCs, to make "every effort" to check the "creeping inflation" shown by the fact the consumer price index has doubled since 1939 and continues to rise.

Letting all voters who will necessarily be away from their homes election day vote at advance polls, instead of the present limited classifications, and establishing enough advance polls so no voter would have to go an "unreasonable distance" to use them, was also advocated. "Past experience has demonstrated that, at federal elections, a great many voters are disenfranchised through no fault of their own by necessary absence from their homes on election day," the resolution stated.

Request from Procter-Balfour PCs for support of more humane methods of slaughtering animals was withdrawn. This is a provincial matter.

540 Rock, Roll At Civic Dance

Over 540 students, largest attendance since the Civic Centre started regular student dances a year and a half ago, attended a rock and roll affair Friday night.

Special stage performers were Creston Satellites led by Fred Verigin. Numbers included "Oh Boy", "Black Slacks", "Don't Be Cruel" and "Hound Dog". Periodically the Civic brings in a "live" orchestra or stage performance for the student dance. This was the second time this season. Next major attraction will be the Boxing Day dance.

Master of ceremonies was Fred Boates of CKLN. Other members of the Creston group were Delmont Bauming, Sandra Telford, Leslie Bishop, Bonnie Whitford, Judy Kriz and Jim Hale.

$1000 Written Off City Books

Accounts totalling about $1000 have been written off city books with council approval.

Largest amount was $792.23, charged to Inland Natural Gas Company in error when they bought the city gas plant earlier. Light accounts totalled $169.21 and gas accounts $70.15.

Accounts for light and gas incurred prior to 1957 will be kept in another file, City Clerk C. W. R. Harper said. Such "dead" accounts are sometimes collected later, he added. Councillors agreed with his observation the situation was not bad considering the city electrical department will do about $600,000 business this year.

CIVIC VOTERS' LIST PRINTED

Municipal voters' lists have been printed and delivered to the city clerk and now available for public scrutiny.

Names on the lists are accompanied by addresses of the voters, an addition over former years. The addition of addresses is a requirement of the new Municipal Act which came into force in June of this year.

Sons Celebrate "Messiah Day"

NEW DENVER — Three-day "Messiah Day" celebration by Sons of Freedom Doukhobors ended here Friday.

The Doukhobors tried to hold the celebration with their children at the New Denver Dormitory School, but the children were not allowed to be with them, so the service was held by 27 parents outside the wire fence at the school.

The Freedomites do not celebrate Christams, but mark November 27, birthday of spiritual leader Stefan Sorokin, as "Messiah Day." The celebrations last three days.

Following statement was given Friday by John J. Perepelkin, chairman, and Tim Jmaeff, member of the committee, Christian Community and Brotherhood of Reformed Doukhobors;

"Today we have celebrated the third day of Christmas and the New Year in honor to our spiritual leader, S. S. Sorokin, whom we have spiritually recognized as the true spiritual leader of the Doukhobors.

"Today was the last day being intended to be celebrated in prayer together with the children of New Denver Dormitory, the parents having pleaded with John Clarkson, the principal, who has flatly refused our request. We quote Mr. Clarkson as saying, 'Whatever you want to ask for, it's no.'"

Nomination Day Monday

Civic election nominations close Monday, and elections, where needed, will be December 12.

In Nelson there will be an election for both mayor and aldermanic office.

Mayor Joseph Kary, Ald. C. F. Blakeman, Ald. J. W. McClelland, and former alderman T. S. Shorthouse have thrown their hats into the ring.

Three aldermanic seats are at stake, being vacated by Ald. Blakeman, Ald. McClelland and Ald. Elizabeth Wallach, who is not seeking re-election. Dr. C. E. Bradshaw, presently a police commissioner, and F. A. Beresford jr. announced their candidatures Wednesday, and Mrs. W. J. VanMaarion and George Latta added their names Friday.

Terms of Mrs. Lillian Palmer and F. N. Emmott, chairman of the board of strustees, School District No. 7, expire next month. Mrs. Palmer announced her intention to seek re-election some time ago. Mr. Emmott has not indicated his intentions.

Police commissioners are now appointed by the lieutenant-governor.

W. R. Hunter, president of Nelson Associated Property Owners, announced Friday a public meeting would be held Wednesday night in the Capitol Theatre. Candidates were invited to state their views and questions would be welcome from the public, he said. Decision was made Thursday at an executive meeting.

White Gift Service Sunday

Members of St. Paul's-Trinity Church Sunday School and congregation will remember two French war orphans at White Gift Tomorrow.

During family worship, pupils will deposit gifts of money in a manger at the front of the church.

Josette Ringnette and Jean Claude Kiss were adopted about seven years ago by the former St. Paul's Sunday School and carried on by the amalgamated church.

Now about 10 years old, Josette lost both parents in the last war, and is cared for by a great aunt and uncle. Jean Claude, about 15, lost his father in the war and is tubercular, Mrs. Catley said.

White Gift Snuday is a traditional Christmas observance.

Public Relations Program Set As Goal by T. S. Shorthouse

A two-fold public relations program dealing with relationship of City Council with the citizens and between the city and its neighboring district was promised by mayoralty candidate T. S. Shorthouse Thursday night. He was making a campaign speech over CKLN.

Public relations, he said, must encompass the public, city employees, various governments with which the city has business, industries and business, but chief concern must be the public of the city and district.

He proposed to continue to press for development of the city's partnership with the district, and "to seek to identify Nelson with the needs and progress of the area on the understanding that what is good for the area is good for the city."

He thought that the day would come when Nelson would be a medical and educational centre for the Interior, the district a mecca for a great tourist industry.

Announcement of the $2,000,000 development on Vernon Street had a number of possibilities that "could be attractive". The agreement however, would require careful study to ensure a maximum amount of benefits with a minimum of expenditure. Constant awareness that citizens might one day want to develop their own city hall was required, he said.

The old post office must be renovated to requirements considered useful and to the best interest of citizens, he stated.

He promised improved bus service and immediate study of service for Mount St. Francis.

He also promised support of city expansion and town planning, and establishment of a board of park commissioners.

Mrs. Van Maarion, George Latta Up Aldermanic Candidates to Four

An aldermanic contest in the December civic elections was assured Friday when the third and fourth candidatures were announced.

Making announcements were Mrs. W. J. Van Maarion, first woman to give notice of her intention of seeking a Council seat at this election, and George A. Latta, a Nelson businessman and former school trustee.

Three aldermen are to be elected December 12. Previous announcements of intention to stand for election were made Wednesday by Frank Beresford jr., and Dr C. E. Bradshaw.

A graduate of the Edmonton General Hospital school of nursing, Mrs. Van Maarion is supervisor at Kootenay Lake General Hospital. She is senior nurse in length of service, having joined the staff in 1949, the same year she came to Nelson from Vancouver.

Active in community work during the years she has lived in Nelson, Mrs. Van Maarion is a member of the executive council of the Nelson Chamber of Commerce and recently acted as chairman of that organization's bridge opening committee. She is president of the Nelson-Creston and West Kootenay federal Social Credit Associations.

"All my life I have been interested in government and the history of government," she said in announcing her caniddacy for municipal office. "It has been my main interest."

She added: "At all times I have supported those things which I believed to be to the welfare of Nelson, above party politics, and if elected, I would work for the continued progress of this city."

Mrs. Van Maarion also said she deemed it desirable that women should serve on such organizations in order that they should have "a better cross-section of opinion and representation, considering the number of women taxpayers."

"In my capacity as a nurse and supervisor, I am used to the responsibility of making decisions."

Mr. and Mrs. Van Maarion have a young son. Her husband, who was with the Royal Canadian air crew in the Second World War, is now district representative for F. C. Myers Wholesale Hardware of Vancouver.

One of the aldermanic seats being vacated has been held by Ald. Elizabeth Wallach, who was the second woman Councillor in Nelson's history. She is not seeking reelection.

Mr. Latta, a Nelson native, is owner - operator of Quality Produce, fruit and vegetable wholesale.

In making his announcement he said he would like to see "more co-operation among the various city departments." As a councillor he would endeavor to foster "better public relations between City Council, the general public and taxpayers."

He is a member of Nelson Kiwanis Club. Married, he has two daughters, and three sons.

Nelson Hospital Bonds on Sale

City of Nelson hospital bonds were selling well, local banks reported Friday.

The $170,000 issue was floated to pay the city's share towards finishing the new Kootenay Lake General Hospital. A bylaw authorizing the additional expenditure was passed recently by city ratepayers. This was the second bylaw on the new hospital.

Available after Monday, the bonds are being sold through A. E. Ames and Company of Vancouver, whose interior representative is M. R. Hicks.

City officials think the bonds are an attractive buy, since they offer 5¾ per cent net interest, maturing November, 1958, to November 15, 1977. Officials pointed out it had been many years since Nelson bonds have been offered at this interest. Bonds sold after the first hospital bylaw bore four per cent interest.

Murphy Welcomes Announcement

TRAIL (CP) — Harvey Murphy, western vice-president of the International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers, said Friday his union welcomes a statement attributed to Justice Minister Fulton that further talks with the Howe Sound Company, aimed at averting closure of the Britannia Mine, will be held in the spring.

"If this report is accurate," said Mr. Murphy, "Mine, Mill will be very glad indeed.

"It will mean that the federal government has arrived at some arrangement with the Howe Sound Company so that the Britannia copper mine is not closed down at this season."

COUNCIL JOTTINGS

Increase of 25 cents per hour, annual vacations of three weeks after 10 years service and four weeks after 20 years service, addition of Easter Monday to the list of statutory holidays, and other benefits will be sought by Nelson Civic Employees Union, local 339, in its 1958 agreement. Copies of the letter will be made for aldermen to study.

A declaration from Most Rev. T. J. McCarthy, Bishop of Nelson, sent through a notary public, that five city lots are occupied by Catholic schools and therefore exempt from taxation under the new Municipal Act, was approvel by City Council. As provided in the Act, the declaration states these schools are giving education equal to that given in public schools. Property was checked by assessor G. A. Butling.

Application of Dennis Klee to operate the Lord Nelson Dining Room in the Nelson Hotel, recently remodelled, was accepted. Twelve persons will be employed in the establishment.

Council will again buy Christmas trees from local Boy Scouts to decorate lamp standards. Cost is $50.

A letter from Canadian Industries of Vancouver, quoting $7 and $7.50 f.o.b. Vancouver per 100 lbs. of chemical in powder form to fluoridate water, was filed. The letter, requested by Ald. W. S. Ramsay, said the company was also negotiating with other municipalities.

ORIGINAL CONCEPTION of $2,000,000 hotel and business development for Nelson is shown above in artist's sketch. The buildings off the 300-car parking area will not be included in the project at the present time. The investors feel that at some time in the future, the community will grow to a point where it will support such an addition. In background is eight-storey hotel-office tower, cost of which is estimated at $1,650,000. Principals in financing project are E. L. Boultbee, president of Boultbee, Sweet and Company Ltd., of Vancouver, and Paul H. McClung, commercial and sales representative of the company. Architect was Gerald Hamilton of Vancouver. Below is area as it now appears. With approximate costs of construction taken into consideration, reliable estimates place the total property and improvement taxes the building owners will be required to pay annually to the city to be in the neighborhood of $30,000. From the whole area as it is now, the city receives only approximately $2300.

Busy Year for District PCs

The past year had been extremely busy for the Kootenay-West Federal Progressive Conservative Association, president Dr. C. H. Wright told members Thursday night. The association, dormant many years, "took on a new lease of life which was greatly stimulated by the federal election held in June," when the Conservative party under John Diefenbaker took over in Ottawa.

Dr. Wright, E. B. Scott of Trail, and the late M. C. Donaldson of Salmo attended the Ottawa leadership convention in December when Mr. Diefenbaker became party leader. The election campaign was a "hard-fought battle" with many helpers, said Dr. Wright, PC candidate.

He quoted figures showing the Conservatives made the largest gain of all parties in this riding over voting in the 1953 Dominion election, but said the organization had a considerable way to go. He called Diefenbaker one of the strongest and most respected leaders Canada had had recently.

Several local organizations have started or will be started soon, he noted. The Nelson group reorganized last week. Election of Mrs. Peter Dewdney and Mrs. H. W. George of Trail as president and secretary respectively of the B.C. Progressive Conservative Women's Association was also noted. Dr. Wright thanked press and radio, executive members, and those on various committees. Congratulations were extended to the executive for reorganizing the association and making a "wonderful showing" in June.

Dies in Car

NEW DENVER — Mrs. Thomas (Matilda) Allen, 56, of New Denver died enroute to Nelson by car Thursday.

Mr. Allen was driving the car about 10 miles south of New Denver when his wife's death occured. The Allens previously lived at Nakusp. Mrs. Allen is also survived by a daughter of Nelson and a son in the air force.

An inquiry is to be held by Dr. F. B. Maxfield of Nakusp.

Judge Reverses Earlier Decision

CRANBROOK — His Honor Judge H. W. Colgan in County Court here found Ray Masse guilty of a charge of impaired driving on August 24, and levied a fine of $150 and assessed court costs of $100. The decision was a reversal of the dismissal of an earlier charge in magistrate' court. Crown appeal of the dismissal was allowed and the hearing moved to County Court. D. M. Mitchell of Fernie prosecuted the charge before Judge Colgan, and the defendant was represented by Peter Graham of Cranbrook.

Slocan Board Suggests Work On Roads to Ease Unemployment

SLOCAN CITY—The Slocan District Board of Trade, concerned over unemployment in the district, has proposed a remedy to the provincial government.

Meeting here this week, the board authorized that letters be sent to the authorities stating that unemployment in this area has increased 100 per cent over that of the same period last year, and that as there is considerable road work to be done in the area, a program be instigated to give employment.

L. R. Campbell reported that the B.C. Telephone Company plans to begin work in the spring on an improved line between New Denver and Silverton, and that a more adequate service would be given in Slocan City by moving the switchboard into the post office for convenience of the operator.

A small crew of the department of highways will work on the Cape Horn section of the New Denver to Slocan City road this winter, L. Wilson told members.

Information is being supplied to the minister of recreation and conservation on required camp sites, tourist and publicity committee chairman W. G. Thring said.

The next general meeting of the Board of Trade will be the annual meeting to be held January 28 in New Denver.

The Board is sponsoring a Christmas party for members, their wives and guests, in the form of a turkey dinner, with entertainment and dancing, in Silverton December 6.

RECREATION OUTLINE

Guests introduced were Robert Stangroom of Nelson, regional consultant of the Community Programs Branch of the department of education; Ray Gould, recreation director for Trail; R. Ridley, W. McLean and D. Cameron, school teachers from New Denver, and Mr. Symansic of Winlaw.

Mr. Stangroom explained to members how Recreation Comissions are set up and the work that the Community Programmes Branch undertakes by representing the community in public recreation, by acting as an administrative authority for public recreation, and by co-ordinating exesting programs and helping local groups to draw up public services as well as providing facilities, leadership and money.

Mr. Gould outlined his duties as recreation director for Trail and showed a number of slides depicting a well organized and successful recreation program he conducts for 1400 children of the Trail area.

The Board also saw a film on modern Japan shown by Kino Shita.

City Entry in Outside Parades Fine Idea

City Council's suggestion that next year's councillors seriously consider entering a float in various district events such as Kimberley's Snow Fiesta is an excellent one.

The suggestion was the outcome of a letter from the Snow Fiesta Committee inviting Nelson to send a float to that event next February.

That the city might build a float that could be used the year round for events where the city could receive valuable publicity won hearty approval and no doubt every citizen would endorse such a plan. Such a float would help to increase the happy fraternal spirit among cities which is such a noteworthy part of life in the Kootenays. Reaching further afield, an entry in Spokane's famous Lilac Festival might be included.

There should be no difficulty in building a float. We have plenty of talent and enthusiasm. Our recent summer festivities have shown that our service clubs and other organizations are only too happy to contribute their services and skill in building one.

In all parades it is the representation from outside which takes the eye. The presence of a float from outside is in itself a compliment to the city visited. Bands, too, always get a favorable reception from spectators and there is no reason why our city band, which has worked so hard and practiced so assiduously, should not be sent to represent the city on some occasions.

Control of Careers in Hands of Young

It remains for a U.S. magazine to reveal the basic reason for the failure of the United States to keep ahead of Russia in science, the inter-continental missile and Sputnik.

In a recent editorial, The Saturday Evening Post quotes Dr. Margaret Meade and Dr. Rhoda Metraux's article on the American Association of Science study of the opinions of young people on science and scientists. As might be expected, most of them thought scientists were "brains" and that their work was dull and uninteresting. Hardly any of them wanted to be scientists or to marry one.

According to the editorial too many young Americans today do not want hard, responsible work, with little prospect of a comfortable income. "The present trend," say Doctors Meade and Metraux, "is towards earlier marriage, early parenthood, early enjoyment of an adult form of life." The husband's career and the wife's job, if any, are "subordinated to the main values of life—good human relations," which chiefly means a pleasant family and congenial friends. And nowadays, in the era of steady dating, a girl strongly influences her future husband's choice of a career.

From which it is possible to assume that the scientific future of the United States and perhaps its very survival, if we consider this last statement carefully, rests in the hands of its adolescent girls.

Conservatives Hold Own in Debate

The first session under the new government at Ottawa has been in duration long enough to indicate one fact. Prime Minister John G. Diefenbaker and his cabinet colleagues appear capable of holding their own in parliamentary debates.

Mr. Diefenbaker gave the Commons a rousing and challenging address recently. He carried the political fight to his opponents, in whatever party they may be. He placed them on the defensive.

It is important that he has proven himself in this role. The prime minister is the figure around whom his party's members rally. He must be able to rally them enthusiastically to his side.

When a new government takes office, it is on the spot. This is especially true when it lacks administrative experience—and when there is a strong opposition containing men of much administrative experience.

Liberal ranks were sadly depleted in the June election, with nine cabinet ministers biting the political dust. But the Liberals still have a strong "front bench" of proven parliamentarians.

It had been thought these might have an advantage over the less experienced men on the cabinet benches. This, however, hasn't been evident to date. Indeed, the government has shown up surprisingly well.

Mr. Diefenbaker and his colleagues have taken on the opposition members and shown themselves equal to the task. And this is evident in more than formal debate.

It has also been apparent in the question and answer period. For the most part the cabinet has been able to answer, even those questions meant to be embarrassing, in a ready manner.

If opposition members get set back on their heels a few times they become a bit more cautious. They are less apt to lead with their chins too quickly.

It is too much to expect government members to be 100 per cent effective in all the thrusts and counter-thrusts of debate. But, to date, they have maintained a fair average of success.—Windsor Star.

New Industry For Crow's Nest

The economic prospects of the Crow's Nest Pass region have been enhanced by the probability that a new saw and planing mill will be established near Frank next year. The development could not have come at a better time; the Pass needs new industries to tide it over the current depression in its coal industry and to strengthen its economic base for the future. The planing mill project is already providing some employment for district people and this, combined with the hope of new coal markets in Japan and the U.S., will brighten the economic outlook of a part of South Alberta which has suffered more than its share of difficulty.—Lethbridge Herald.

Beep Prepared

The Americans are said now to be turning for help to the Boy Scouts. In the matter of space satellites they will, in future, try to beep prepared.—Kingston Whig-Standard.

Increased Commercial Building Forecast

An upsurge in commercial building across Canada resulting from easing of the present tight money situation was predicted by the president of a Canadian realty investment organization.

"Developments within the past few days both in Canada and the United States indicated that steps are being taken to ease the tight money situation that has curtailed the expansion of many phases of our economic life," he said.

"The reduction in interest rates from 3½ per cent to three per cent in four of the federal reserve districts in the United States has already had an effect on the bond market in that country and the major financial institutions in New York with whom we do business are confident this initial step will be followed by additional developments to pour additional funds into the economy of that nation," a director of the organization commented from New York.

"I am confident this move will certainly lead to additional U.S. funds becoming available for investment in Canadian real estate where a higher return and greater opportunity for capital appreciation is available for investments," he said.

"The action of the industrial development bank in Ottawa in reducing its interest rate from a high of 6½ per cent to 6 per cent will certainly be a boon to small businesses," the president declared.

"This should provide sufficient encouragement for businesses in general to proceed with urgently needed expansion plans to keep pace with the still expanding Canadian economy," he asserted.

"The tight money situation has slowed the pace of industrial and commercial building during the past few months but if these moves indicate a future trend in the attitude of the governments in both countries toward easing restrictions on available monetary supplies and I believe that it does, the next few months should see a new upsurge in commercial construction," he said.

The company has invested more than $20,000,000, mostly from U.S. sources, in Canadian real estate this year.

Silly Comparisons

Maybe people who drink, even in moderation, shouldn't. Maybe smoking is silly and harmful. These are matters for the individual's judgment and conscience; but critics of such personal extravagances should try to be fair at least so far as qualities of citizenship are concerned.

It is a common and misleading practice to produce masses of figures in attempts to demonstrate that people spend more on luxuries than they do for the welfare of their own children or their less fortunate fellows. Always the drinkers and smokers are picked out for these ill-founded rebukes, held up as horrible examples of wasteful extravagance.

This is not written in defence of drinking, smoking or any other form of self-indulgence condemned by the moralists and comparers of statistics; merely to put some of the facts straight. It was said just the other day—for the umpteenth time—that people spend more on liquor than they do on education. Nonsense. The fallacy of this line of reasoning lies in the assumption that what is paid for liquor represents its value as a commodity. In fact, of course, all but a small proportion of the cash price goes straight into the public purse. If bread were taxed on the same scale it would cost close to a dollar a loaf. Even restrained drinkers and moderate smokers pay in taxes on those two items alone a good deal more than they are taxed specifically for education or any other welfare service.

The truth of the matter is that the good people who decry drink and tobacco on moral or economic grounds are themselves riding on the backs of the people who use them. If no one spent anything on drinking and smoking, those who condemn the practices would have to stump up among them untold millions of dollars extra every year to make good the public revenue that would be lost. The size of their property taxes then might help them to appreciate how much they have been owing all these years to the people whose habits they deplore.—Victoria Colonist.

Wise Thrift

Some very good advice to municipal councils and to school boards, as it is also to governments of all levels: If they spend what they should prudently save, then that is to be deplored. But if they save what they should prudently spend that is not to be commended. A wise balance between the two is what this country needs. Politicians must remember that thrift cannot be judged solely by the test of saving and spending.—Kingston Whig-Standard.

Full-Time Non-Commercial Radio Station Marks 30th Anniversary

By BILL RATHBUN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

EDMONTON (CP)—CKUA, the only full - time non - commercial radio station in Canada, is celebrating its 30th anniversary.

The University of Alberta radio voice, born Nov. 21, 1927, has given western Canada broadcasting many "firsts," such as school broadcasts, citizens' forum programs, agricultural news and football broadcasts.

Dr. H. P. Brown, then supervisor of the university extension department's division of visual instruction, was the station's first announcer and for a decade he guided CKUA's progress.

In the early days his voice came thinly through the large spring - hung microphone in a small burlap - draped room. A hand-built 500-watt transmitter carried his words to central Alberta.

NEW QUARTERS

Today CKUA occupies new quarters atop the Alberta block of Edmonton's Jasper avenue. Its 1,000 - watt signal reaches from the Peace River country to the ranches in the south.

In 1945 the Alberta Government Telephones department assumed operation of CKUA, but the university retained the broadcast licence and call letters.

CKUA began as a dream of the extension department. Dr. Brown, now retired, said they saw "tremendous possibilities of taking the university to the people." Drama and music could also be broadcast and during the early years programs were largely aimed at the rural audience.

Such programs as the University of Alberta symphony hour, the homemakers' show, the old-timers dances and concerts from the university hospital were "the sugar-coating for the station's educational prescription," Dr. Brown said.

The symphony hour is still broadcast daily, one of the oldest continually - broadcast programs on the air in Canada.

OLD HIGHLIGHTS

The first football broadcast was a game between the Varsity Golden Bears and the Edmonton Eskimos in 1928, with a commentary by brothers from the campus' St. Joseph's Roman Catholic college.

By the late 1930s CKUA was originating programs for the new Canadian Broadcasting Corporation, such as Vernon Barford's choir.

"Alumni" of the station include the CBC's Bob Goulet and King Ganam, and Art Hiller, freelance Hollywood television and movie producer.

The station's current role is described by Jack Hagerman, station manager, as "to concentrate on good music, news, and to some extent adult education . . . to provide for the listener what other radio stations don't."

Aussies Cool To Japanese

MELBOURNE (AP)—The first visit of a Japanese premier to Australia was met Friday with solemn faces and a cool, sullen air.

The usual flag-flying reception was missing as Premier Nobusuke Kishi landed to begin a seven-day visit. Kishi is touring southeast Asian nations.

He was met here by Prime Minister Robert G. Menzies, Victorian state Premier Henry Bolte and Trade Minister John McEwen. Japanese consular officials expressed disappointment that no official welcoming flag was flown for Kishi at the airport.

MUTTERED REMARKS

As the representative of a wartime enemy who was stopped just short of invading Australia, Kishi was the target of many muttered remarks. Plainclothes security police were dispersed in a small crowd that uniformed police kept away from Kishi when he visited the town hall.

When he came out of the town hall, an elderly woman in the crowd asked, "Where is he going next?"

"The zoo," someone told her.

"They should keep him there," she said. Kishi, who speaks little English, did not hear her.

Kishi will fly to Sydney tomorrow. His party will spend several days in Australia's capital of Canberra discussing trade relations and pearling rights in Australian waters.

Sending Tartan Train to Canada

A Glasgow firm today announced plans to send a train on a 3,000 - mile whistle-stop trip across Canada, exhibiting Scottish woollens for next year's Christmas market.

Links said his firm hopes to do about £150,000 worth of business during the Canadian tour. The plan is to make a coast-to-coast trip in May, halting at all principal centres along the route He said the tour probably will take about 20 days.

Links said he hopes to have one coach of the train fitted as a television studio. Programs featuring the firm's products would be relayed by closed-circuit television to customers in other coaches.

French Fashion Models Aren't All Sylphlike

By PEGGY MASSIN

PARIS (Reuters) — French fashions are not shown only on the young, lithe and slender.

Madame Mag Cournon, the heaviest mannequin in France, who tips the scales at 230 pounds, is wearing and modelling professionally, some of the season's "sack" dresses.

"I am convinced," she says, "that women who like the shapeless shape best are those who have figures to match."

North America and Britain both cater for the larger women in stores which specialize in appropriately styled outsizes or in outside departments in the big stores. But until recently, stout French have been more or less neglected.

ALL SIZES

In the last year, however, a French club named "The Sympathetic Club" and founded by Madame Cournon has been organized to help these women cope with their various problems.

Fashion matters are foremost on the list of problems of the thousand or so members who comprise the club. Unusually tall women as well as the plump are eligible to join the club.

Madame Cournon has established headquarters for the group at the Toutmain department store on the Champs Elysees, where she is employed as a mannequin.

Psychologically, new members are impressed with one of the club's important slogans: "Every stout woman has the makings of a rubens." This thought is destined to remind each woman of the Dutch master's preference for big, buxom models, typified in so many of his great paintings.

Madame Cournon has no complex about being overweight. Like many big women, she has slender and well-shaped calves and ankles, and skims through the Toutmain salons, showing the outside collection every afternoon, on disproportionately small feet. She believes implicitly in good grooming, and her own honey-colored hair is always short and impeccably styled.

Coast Art Teacher's Work Shown, London

LONDON (CP) — Mary Harris Filer, a Vancouver art teacher who came to Britain to take up a painting career, has her second London exhibition next week. She will show 35 paintings, including charcoal drawnings and water colors, at the Kinnerton Gallery.

Among the pictures are a self-portrait and two drawings of her mother, Natasha, the artist's apricot-colored poodle, also is represented in the show, which includes allegorical portraits, landscapes and "improvizations" of Rembrandts and Titians.

Miss Filer, who received a fine arts dregree from McGill University, once was assistant professor of art education at Penn State University. She also is a gold medallist nurse and is represented by a mural at the Montreal Neurological Institute.

Pictures like this record the type of activity that to most of us is just as much a part of Christmas as the day itself.

A Picture Story of Christmas

Have you ever noticed how fast time seems to fly between Thanksgiving and Christmas? Time just speeds by because our minds and hearts are so filled with plans and preparations — with shopping and gift-wrapping — with thoughts of others, far and near.

Christmas has truly become a "season" rather than a "day." December 25th is merely the climax to weeks of anticipation and planning.

Since this has become the pattern of life for most of the families we know, we thought it a wise idea to remind you to do your Christmas shooting early.

To make your picture story of Christmas '57 as complete and true-to-life as possible, list some of the scenes you'll want to be sure of recording. Your notes might include such items as: making and addressing cards, Junior's hopeful letter to Santa, wrapping gifts, decorating the house, the postman delivering packages and mail, festive store windows and footweary shoppers, curbstone Santas, bringing home the tree and decorating it, hanging the children's stockings, the carolers on Christmas Eve, etc.

And then, of course, you'll want some special notes for Christmas Day itself: youngsters opening gifts, waffles for breakfast, holiday callers, Christmas dinner complete with centerpiece and candlelight.

Ready with this outline of the more obvious activities, you'll be better prepared to catch the pictures that just "happen." And, speaking of preparedness — don't be caught short in your reserve stock of film and flashbulbs.

Don't wait until December 25th to open the shutter of your camera—do your Christmas shooting early and picture all the fun and excitement of the most magical season of the year!

Poetic Fans Boost Bombers

EDMONTON (CP) — A 60-foot good luck telegram with about 2,000 Edmonton names attached will be delivered to Winnipeg Blue Bombers' dressing room before they meet Hamilton Tiger-Cats for the Grey Cup Saturday.

The football fans also are sending this message: "You are big in heart, a fighting crew. We pledge our support to you, in this, your great and glorious test, to prove the Cup should stay out West."

Cooper, Merv Rose Eliminate Homegrown Rivals in Adelaide

ADELAIDE (AP) — Top-seeded Ashley Cooper and Mervyn Rose won the South Australian doubles tennis championship Friday from Mal Anderson and Neale Fraser in a lack-lustre final which showed that Australian selectors still have a problem finding the proper Davis Cup doubles combination. The score was 6-4, 6-4, 5-7, 0-6, 6-0.

Fraser disclosed afterwards he pulled a back muscle in the third set and had to play the rest in pain. He said a doctor advised the injury is not serious.

The match proved the left-handed Rose is a cinch to play the doubles. Now the question is who should be paired with him, Anderson or Cooper.

On comparison of performances in this final and that of two weeks ago at Sydney, Rose and Anderson apparently are the better tandem. They won the New South Wales championship, then were split for this tournament.

Tomorrow Anderson and Rose clash for the singles crown and the controversial Rose, who has been out of the good graces of Australian tennis officials the last few years, can throw the Davis Cup situation into a turmoil by beating the young Queenslander.

In the women's doubles final, Angela Mortimer of Britain and Daphne Fancutt, wife of South Africa's Trevor Fancutt, defeated Dulcy Young and Marie Martin of Australia, 6-3, 6-2.

Miss Mortimer plays Lorraine Coghlan for the women's crown tomorrow.

Argonauts Draft Junior Fullback

TORONTO (CP) — Ron Brewer, fullback with Parkdale Lions, is the first draft choice in the Big Four football union's first annual draft of junior Big Four players.

Brewer, whose 63-yard, last-quarter touchdown run gave the Lions the Canadian junior title last weekend against Winnipeg Rods, was chosen by Toronto Argonouts who had first choice by virtue of their last-place finish this season.—

The first six selections were of Parkdale players and 13 of the 24 juniors drafted were members of the junior championship team.

Ottawa's first choice was tackle Bob Day. Montreal selected halfback Ed Mitchell and Hamilton took quarterback Mike Davies.

Kingston Club Adds Eight Against Russ

KINGSTON, Ont. (CP) — Coach Bun Cook of Kingston CKLCs announced Friday that eight players from other teams in the estern division of the Ontario Hockey Association's senior A series will be added for the exhibition game with Moscow Selects here next Tuesday. This will make it more of an eastern Ontario all-star team than a Kingston squad.

Kingston's last - place position in the series and a seven - game losing streak precipitated the strengthening, although club directors agreed to add some players when the game was first announced.

The SHORT CIRCUIT

By JOHN SHORT
Sports Editor

Gus Adams silenced his critics Thursday night.

The little guy, under the gun from all quarters as blame was being placed for Nelson Maple Leafs' wallow in the mud of decisive defeat, blocked 40 shots in a classic display as Leafs broke free of their chains with a 4-2 victory on Trail ice.

This, however, is not a story about Gus Adams, or an attempt to find out why the little fellow with the big talent is so subject to ups and downs.

It is aimed at two other little guys, two little guys who did as much as Gus—or any other Nelson player—to end the streak. These same two little buys throughout their careers have received little of the credit due them, perhaps because of their lack of stature, perhaps because of their workmanlike efforts, and perhaps because the glory goes to the goal-scorers.

Ernie Gare is one. Shorty Malacko is the other. Everybody knows of Ernie's battle against the "injury" jinx and everybody knows of his eternal struggle to prove a man is only as small as his heart and that it is the size of the man inside that counts.

* * *

Shorty's case is also dotted with setbacks. He has been injured but not as often as Ernie; he has been sidetracked because of his size, at least as often as Ernie.

And he, like Gare, is proving that little men are only little men when they accept their lack of stature as a lack of other, more important, attributes.

On the ice, Shorty is less obstrusive than his partner but no less effective. He plays wherever and whenever needed, lending steadiness and experience whenever and wherever needed. If anyone wants to see the benefit of Shorty's assistance, a peek at Cliff Shockey wouldn't be out of line.

The big farm boy is, slowly but surely, coming along. Malacko is a big, but quiet, reason.

* * *

In Trail Thursday night, Ernie and Shorty were united with Shockey on the forward line, with Shorty at centre and Ernie on the right side. Ernie was not expected to play. His hip, injured in Spokane, combined with the confusion of keeping house for himself and three children, all but washed him out.

Before the game, Ernie admitted he could hardly walk.

After the game, Ernie wasn't sure whether it was his sore hip or tripping over children's toys that handicapped him. When Mrs. Gare returns from hospital with the couple's fourth child, Ernie will be glad to see her for more than one reason.

If she's able, maybe she'll help him clean up the house. As Gare told all who would listen on the way home Thursday night, "I haven't been house-keeping. I've been living there."

Short's briefs: Well, the rumor bug lifted his ugly head again Friday. Nelson hockey club president Norman Stibbs told a radio audience that the club faces a deficit of something more than $2000. It's to Norman's credit that he didn't threaten to fold the club, as certain youngsters on the club have already heard those rumors too often.

If the club folds, then let's not allow anyone to say that the fans of Nelson—all of us—quit on the players. As you know if you've seen more than one game this season, the players haven't quit on us.

TORN LIGAMENTS FOR LEAF LEADER

DETROIT (CP) — Team captain George Armstrong of Toronto Maple Leafs suffered torn ligaments in the right knee in Thursday night's National Hockey League game with Detroit Red Wings which ended in a 3-3 tie.

Armstrong was injured when he was bodychecked by Bucky Hollingsworth early in the second period. He is expected to be out of action for three or four weeks.

ED SIMMS NAMED MOST VALUABLE CANUCK IN ORFU

KITCHENER, Ont. (CP) — Ed Simms of London Lords, 23-year-old halfback from Calgary Stampeders intermediate team, has been voted the most valuable Canadian player in the senior Ontario Rugby Football Union.

Secretary George Schmidt announced he won by a single point over halfback Dave King of Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen. Simms will receive $200.

Whittal Fourth Flyer In WIHL's "Top Ten"

Spokane Flyer rookie winger Lloyd Maxfield picked up a goal in Spokane's 4-2 victory over Rossland Warriors Wednesday night to move into a tie with Adolf Tambellini for third place in the Western International Hockey League race.

Leading the Trail sophomore and the flittin' Flyer are Lee Hyssop, Wendy Keller and Mickey Maglio, members of Nelson Maple Leafs' "Atomic" Line. Hyssop and Keller are tied for first place with identical records of 11 goals and 16 assists for 27 points, with Maglio three points behind.

Another Flyer rookie, centre Bryan Whittal, moved into the top ten along with linemates Dave Gordichuk and Tick Beattie with a pair of assists.

NBA Advocates Compulsory Retirement of "Hurricane"

RACINE, Wis. (AP) — The National Boxing Association Friday asked all member states to advise promoters not to book heavyweight Hurricane Jackson for future bouts. It said Jackson is in danger of serious physical injury if he continues fighting.

Gilbert H. Jackson, NBA president, said the Hurricane's manager, Al (Lippy) Breidbart, will be told that the association "strongly urges the voluntary retirement" of the heavyweight.

Shortly after Jackson was knocked out by Eddie Machen in San Francisco recently, the state of California suspended Jackson permanently.

Jackson said the NBA "would prefer that the boxer retire of his own accord rather than face the stigma of enforced retirement.

Convenience Flag Meets Objection

LONDON (CP) — Tom Yates, secretary of the National Seamen's Union, said Friday his union strongly opposes the use of a flag of convenience by a shipping company involved in a wage dispute.

He was commenting on the action of Canadian National Steamships in transferring its strike-bound vessels to Trinidad registry.

Yates also is chairman of the Trades Union Congress, parent body of Britain's labor movement, but he emphasized that he was speaking for his own union alone and that the matter had not come before the TUC executive.

Urges Debate On Seaway Tolls

ST. CATHARINES, Ont. (CP) Shipping spokesman John J. Mahoney Thursday night demanded a public debate before the Canadian government enters any international agreement on tolls for the St. Lawrence Seaway.

The manager of the Dominion Marine Association spoke at a meeting of 65 businessmen from the Niagara Peninsula, sponsored by the Ontario Paper Company.

He said:

"No binding commitment should be made, no rigid policy adopted either by the Seaway authority or by the government until the people of Canada from coast to coast have been given the chance of expressing their true feelings either by parliamentary debate or by some other method which the government may see fit to institute."

Tolls would raise prices, hence damage Canada's export markets and thereby affect all Canadians.

In the United States there were other rail and water routes available and at the same time American east coast ports and American railways were asking for the "highest possible" tolls.

"Our dependence on the Seaway as a trade route is of vital concern to all Canadians while it will not be a matter of great national importance to the United States if the seaway should be crippled by high tolls."

Three Forwards Likely To Join Leafs Tonight

Nelson Maple Leaf officials, still less than ecstatic with the club's makeup despite their impressive 4-2 victory over Trail Smoke Eaters at Cominco Arena Thursday night, have made arrangements to ice three new hockey players for tonight's visit of Rossland Warriors to Civic Arena.

Harvey Nash, Bud Ronquist and Andy Drobot, the first pair from Kimberley Dynamiters, and the other from Cranbrook Selkirks, are expected to arrive in time to help Leafs in their quest for revenge.

In the Nelson camp are a lot of injured spirits over the 12-1 disgrace Leafs absorbed on their most recent visit to the Golden City. One man in particular, galloping Gus Adams, is eager to avenge himself for the indignities he suffered as a crew of Warriors intend on scalps made Gus and his mates wish they had stayed home.

Drobot appeared in a Nelson uniform for one game last season and although he wasn't up to the form local fans had expected — partially due to a lack of conditioning —he missed two good chances to score. Andy's first appearance last season in the Western International Hockey League was in the garb of Spokane Flyers.

But Andy's ability to put the puck in the net didn't compensate for his lack of experience although the hard-shooting forward had led his junior league in scoring the year previous.

Nash and Ronquist both appeared here against Nelson in an exhibition game last year. They showed as well as any of their better-known mates, and at the time Pat Egan said he wished the boys had seen him before agreeing to spend the season in Kimberley.

A victory tonight for Nelson, combined with a Trail victory over Spokane, would slice the Flyer margin to two points with Leafs two points ahead of Trail and Rossland. Before game time, Leafs are six points out of first place, and two points out of third place.

With the hoped-for debut of the three young forwards, Scotty Cameron, Leaf coach, will be forced to juggle his lineup, but it is not now known who will sit out.

Minor Hockey Roundup

Blackhawk bantams took over second place in the local league as they defeated Rangers 4-2 at Civic Arena Wednesday afternoon.

Hustling Kenny Dewar potted both Ranger goals with Atwell earning an assist on Dewar's second marker.

Jimmy Turner and his linemate Mike Laughton supplied Hawks' offensive power with each netting a pair. Wilson picked up two assists, Laughton and Peters one each.

Canadiens took over sole possession of second place in the Pee Wee League as they edged Bruins 2-1 Thursday. The game was marked by some good goaltending by Ted Unraw of Bruins and Freddy Zaitsoff of Canadiens.

Little veteran Bobby Steed opened the scoring for Habs early in the first on a pass from McLachlan. Johnny Fink potted the equalizer for the Bruins with Ludlow assisting.

In the second Donny Wah whistled the winning goal in from the blueline on a double relay from Steed and McLachlan.

Warriors moved ahead of Hornets in Midget League play Tuesday with a 6-2 victory. Warriors scored three goals in the opening frame, one in the middle stanza and two more for good measure in the third.

Hugh Hooker was up to his old tricks, potting a couple of goals to pace the winners. Singles went to Dave Carol, Dave Neilson, Daryl Brown and Bennie Arcuri, with the latter also drawing an assist.

Dean Carmen and Carl Hennig were goal getters for Hornets with Lipsack and McMasters earning assists.

Blackhawk bantams tightened their hold on second place in the bantam league with a 6-3 win over Bruins Friday afternoon. The winners scored two goals in the first period, one in the second and three in the third.

Bruins' loss left them well down in the league cellar.

Glen Wilson paced the winning Hawks with a hat-trick and an assist. Jim Turner, Bob Rothery, and Stan Smith potted the other goals.

For Bruins Quenton Maida, Don Amatto and Jim Cain tallied a goal each. Maida, Elser and Bubas, were credited with assists.

Ski Slants

By Slitzmark

We are all very pleased that word has come to the effect that the further improvement of Nelson Silver King Ski Club has been accepted as Nelson's Centennial Project by the powers at Victoria.

This means we will soon receive approximately $6000 from Victoria, a great help, but when you consider that necessary machinery that has to come from the United States is going to cost $7682 and our cable $2000, excluding the drive unit, we are still not out of the red.

However, to qualify for the government grant, we must raise a matching amount in Nelson. If we can do this, by the end of the season we should end in the black.

All members will be expected to help raise this matching amount, so when you are telephoned, please don't tell us you can't help.

This is important, and won't require much of an individual's time.

Also, we must not let up on the work at the ski hill. This Sunday is a most important day. With enough help, there's no reason why we cannot complete all work on the towers and be ready for setting up the machinery when it arrives.

All but one of the intermediate towers have to be braced, and the upper tower must be bolted in place. We have also to put the bull-wheel frame on top of the upper tower. This will be quite a job as it weighs 1000 pounds and has to go 17 feet up.

There is also plenty to do on the lower shed and clearing; hope all you folks who have been out the past few weekends will come again.

BALTIMORE (AP) — Jockey Robert J. Martin was given a 12-year suspension by the Maryland state racing commission Friday on charges of touting. The suspension was the second in six years for the 29-year-old Baltimore-born rider. It followed a racing commission hearing at which an Elkridge, Md., business man testified he had placed four bets of $500 or more for Martin during the last year.

ROSEN STAYS RETIRED

CLEVELAND (AP)—Al Rosen, retired third baseman, told General Manager Frank Lane of the Cleveland Indians Friday he plans to stay retired.

Lane recently met with Rosen to see whether the former Indian was interested in returning to the club. Rosen said he feels it is in the best interest of his family and his future in the securities business to stay out of baseball.

The medal is awarded to persons who demonstrate in their lives qualities which distinguished St. Francis Xavier, 16th century Jesuit who is the patron of the University.

Burnaby Charmer "Miss Grey Cup"

Guessperts Favor Ticats On Day of Grey Cup Game

By W. R. WHEATLEY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO (CP) — Two powerful ,capable teams went through their final workouts Friday for the football classic that annually sends all Canada into something of a mad dither.

Winnipeg Blue Bombers and Hamilton Tiger-Cats will settle it all today — the new ownership of the prized Grey Cup — and end all the forecasts, convictions and guesses by hordes of experts and semi-experts.

The teams meet on Varsity Stadium field at 1 p.m. EST (10 a.m. PST). They finished their preparations quietly — far from the whoop-de-doo that is part and parcel of the Grey Cup game. Even the words Grey Cup seem to have become a state of mind.

HOLD LIGHT DRILL

The Bombers went through a light drill—their second since arriving by plane from Winnipeg Thursday—on a big field adjacent to the Guild Inn, 15 miles east of downtown Toronto.

The Ticats drilled on their home field, then were given a mighty send-off by Hamilton fans who will pour into Toronto today to add noise to all the excitement.

Both teams were confident. So were their coaches, Bud Grant of the Bombers and Jim Trimble of the Tiger-Cats.

The weather man and the experts still weren't sure where they stood in their respective vocations. The weather man, getting into the spirit of the betting fraternity, said there's a better than 50-50 chance rain or wet snow will serve a stormy accompaniment to the expected stormy game.

The experts were almost split down the middle with their opinions and forecasts. They lined up about in proportion to the 7-to-5 betting, take your choice but give the Tiger-Cats 6½ points.

ACTION FOR CRIPPLES

Coach Grant was expected to dress his full quota of 12 imports, the injured and all. There was a good chance that all the Bomber cripples, including four more seriously hurt, will see action — and plenty of it if they are not further injured.

It was the western final, in which the Bombers defeated Edmonton Eskimos, that took a heavy toll.

Of the 16 Canadian homebreds for the 28-man squad that can be dressed for Grey Cup play, coach Grant was undecided Friday night in one instance. He hadn't made up his mind whether to dress Gene Wlasiuk, a safety man, or Ron Meadmore, a defensive end. The Bombers brought along 32 men.

Coach Trimble was almost certain to go along with the same squad that so thoroughly squelched Montreal Alouettes in the Big Four final for the eastern title. Trimble's men are virtually free of injuries, a situation that has been a factor in making the Ti-Cats favorites.

Vaughn Rallies To Top Tiger

NEW YORK (AP) — Willing Willie Vaughn of Los Angeles finished strong Friday night to earn a unanimous 10-round decision over Ralph (Tiger) Jones of Yonkers, N. Y., at Madison Square Garden. Vaughn weighed 161, Jones 160.

An 8 to 5 favorite, Vaughn outsped and outpunched the aggressive but slowed-down Tiger, especially during the last five rounds. In the eighth the taller Californian staggered Jones with a series of rights to turn the tide his way.

Referee Teddy Martin had it 7-3, judge Frank Forbes scored it 5-3-2- and judge Bert Grant made it 6-4, all for Vaughn. The Associated Press had Vaughn in front 6-3-1.

BROWN, LOPES PRONOUNCED FIT

CHICAGO (AP) — Lightweight champion Joe Brown and challenger Joey Lopes were pronounced physically fit Friday for their 15-round title bout at Chicago Stadium Wednesday night.

The two little scrappers were briefed on Illinois boxing rules after their physical examination at headquarters of the Illinois state athletic commission.

Dr. Irving E. Slott, commission physician, reported that Brown's right hand, broken in 1956 when he won the title from Bud Smith at New Orleans, was in good shape.

Chairman Frank Gilmer, recalling the 10-round draw between Brown and Lopes in a non-title bout here last August, said he is confident of a "clean, hard-fought, wonderful contest" Wednesday night.

Weights were not announced but Brown said he now weighed about 137½ pounds, or 2½ over the light weight limit, and Lopes said he weighed "133 or so."

The official weigh-in will be on Wednesday.

ZURICH, Switzerland (AP) — A blind draw will determine the four groups of the World Soccer Cup finals in Sweden next year Kurt Gassmann, secretary - general of the World Soccer Federation, said Friday.

Referee Uses Judgment To Govern Game-Timing

By BERNARD DUFRESNE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO (CP) — Officials of today's Grey Cup final huddled with their Canadian Rugby Union bosses Friday to iron out some of the interpretative kinks in the rules.

The meeting in the hotel room, with representatives of the opposing football teams in the classic — Hamilton Tiger-Cats and Winnipeg Blue Bombers — in attendance, agreed to follow CRU rules.

This may mean that the game, scheduled to start at 1 p.m. EST (10 a.m. PST) may take close to 2½ hours, instead of an average of about one hour and 50 minutes in western league games. The reason is that the clock may be stopped more often than is usual in the west.

WINNER GETS OPTION

Referee Paul Dojack of Regina will toss a coin at midfield at about 12:30 p.m. Team captains Steve Oneschuk of Hamilton and Buddy Tinsley of Winnipeg will call the toss. The winner will have the option of kicking or receiving.

The loser will elect which end of the Varsity Stadium field — north or south — his team wants to defend in the first quarter.

At the halftime kickoff, getting the third quarter under way, the team that lost the toss at the start of the game will automatically elect whether to kick off or receive the ball. The other squad will have choice of ends.

Dojack said after the meeting Friday between his team of six officials and CRU and team representatives that he will have discretion to stop the clock or let it run between plays.

As a general rule, however, he will signal time - out for such things as discussions with the team captains, injuries, penalties, out-of-bounds plays, scoring plays, changes of possession, long gains, and substitutions.

He described "a long gain" as just about anything beyond 10 yards.

Senator Director Directs Blast at Baseball Leader

WASHINGTON (AP) — C. Leo de Orsey predicted Friday that baseball is headed toward antitrust regulation and said the sport is "gravely in need of leadership."

De Orsey, outspoken director of the Washington Senators, attacked Commissioner Ford Frick in a personally-issued statement in which he declared the game "has a lot at stake" in the major-minor league meetings at Colorado Springs next week.

Forecasting Congress will apply the antitrust laws to baseball he said "the extent it does this will be measured in some degree by what baseball really does."

De Orsey, a Washington tax attorney elected to the Senators' board of directors' last winter, stirred baseball authorities months ago by contending the sport was "big business". Since then the House antitrust subcommittee has investigated operations in baseball and other pro sports to see whether any new anti-monopoly legislation is needed.

The Supreme Court has exempted baseball from antitrust statutes but ruled the professional football is covered.

Commenting on the Dodger and League territory, De Orsey said "this taking over the sovereign powers of eminent domain by club owners and their utter disregard for the law of the land will not set well with the legislators."

De Orsey said Frick had "the effrontery" to tell Congress in effect that baseball's own rules governed club contracts with players under 21.

"I say to the baseball men — get leadership, and if you think you already have it, arouse your leadership, correct your draft and waiver abuses, correct your bonus player situation, ask Congress to legislate not to broadcast in minor league territory, and show Congress that you mean to again erase from baseball vocabularies, such as Judge Landis (former commissioner) did, such words as: 'under the table deals' and 'actions punishing honest teams.' "

Goalie Sparkles As Moscow Wins

NORTH BAY, Ont. (CP)—Moscow Selects evened their Canadian tour record Friday night with a 6-3 win over North Bay Trappers.

The victory gave the Russian team a record of two wins, two losses and a tie against their Canadian opposition. They have three more games in this country.

They opened the tour with a 7-2 loss to Whitby Dunlops in Toronto Friday, gained a 5-5 tie with Windsor Bulldogs last Sunday, lost 4-2 to Kitchener - Waterloo Dutchmen Tuesday, then won 7-4 over Sudbury Wolves Thursday night.

All the games so far have been against senior A teams and the Selects seem to be finding it more to their liking all the time.

The hero of the game was Moscow goalie Yevgency Erkin, returning to action after a two-game absence. Erkin amazed the near-capacity crowd of 3767 as he kicked out 43 shots and turned the tide in the visitors' favor.

The Selects managed only 24 shots on Trapper netminder Denis Brodeur and Bob Mitchell and were outplayed except where it counted—at the goalmouth.

Valenti Bystrov, used sparingly before Friday night, scored twice to give the Selects a 2-0 bulge early in the first period, and the Russians never relinquished their lead.

INCREASE LEAD

Brodeur, Trappers, regular netminder, gave way to substitute goalie Mitchel after the first period but Yury Kopylov and Vladimir Novozhilov raised the score to 4-0 by the 10-minute mark of the second. Kenny Gribbons scored for Trappers at 11:02 and Tony Poeta added another at 16:29.

In the third Trappers' Stan Maxwell put his team one goal behind but Vladimir Yelizarov regained Selects' margin with a pretty goal shortly after. North Bay replaced its netminder with a sixth attacker in the dying moments but the move backfired as Novozhilov scored into the empty net.

The game was one of the cleanest of the tour. Only five penalties were called—three to North Bay and two to Moscow — and there were none of the somewhat unpleasant incidents which occurred in Thursday night's game with Wolves.

In that game, Alex Cherepanov was boarded by John Lumley and suffered a cut face. He did not dress for Friday night's game.

Russ Scientists Claim Strongest Radiotelescope

LONDON (Reuters) — Russia claimed today to have the world's most powerful radiotelescope and to be working on another 50 times more powerful.

The Soviet news agency Tass quoted Dr. Semyon Khaikin, Soviet physicist and mathematician as saying the new telescope is 130 metres (about 426 feet) long and that the area of its reflecting bowl is 400 square metres (about 4,300 square feet).

Khaikin told a radio astronomers conference here that the telescope can receive radio signals of a wavelength as short as three centimetres, or about 20 times shorter than those that can be received by the telescope at Jodrell Bank, England, reputed to be the largest in the world.

Khaikin said the new telescope could be used for studying the structure of the universe and "will make it possible for scientists to penetrate hundreds of millions of light years within the universe."

Another Soviet scientist, Professor Nikolai Basov, told Tass that a radiotelescope with a molecular amplifier which will increase its range approximately 50 times is being built in Russia.

"The molecular generator radiotelescope will lay the foundation of a new science—cosmic chemistry," Basov said.

Succeeds Breithaupt

OTTAWA (CP) — Mr. Justice John Keiller Mackay, 69-year-old judge of the Ontario Supreme Court, will become lieutenant-governor of Ontario Dec. 30, succeeding Hon. Louis Breithaupt, it was announced today.

The announcement came from Prime Minister Diefenbaker's office.

Mr. Breithaupt, 67, has been lieutenant - governor of Ontario since Feb. 18, 1952. No reason was given for his retirement but such appointments are made for a minimum of five years.

A lieutenant-governor cannot be removed except for cause within that term and retains the post beyond that time until replaced.

Before being named justice in the high court division of the Supreme Court of Ontario in 1935, Mr. Justice Mackay practised law in both Pictou, N.S., where he was born, and Toronto. He specialized in criminal law and was retained by the Crown in many important cases and also by the Dominion government in numerous investigations.

He and his wife have three sons.

Mr. Justice Mackay keeps alive his Nova Scotia connection by yearly visits to his native province. He is a frequent speaker on Scottish history and related subjects.

European Trade Talks Opened

PARIS (Reuters) — Ministers from 17 countries Friday made a first examination of the main problems facing them in setting up a vast European free trade area.

The two-day talks were under the chairmanship of Reginald Maudling, Britain's paymaster-general. The ministers will resume their talks Jan. 15 or 16.

The free trade area would be built around the six-nation—West Germany, France, Italy, Holland Belgium and Luxembourg—common market that comes into being next year.

The two big issues at the January session will concern agriculture and the future of less-developed countries.

British Salesmanship Opens Canadians' Eyes

By HAROLD MORRISON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

COVENTRY, England (CP)—The calibre of British salesmanship has often been criticized in Canada but Canadian Trade Minister Gordon Churchill says that viewpoint needs changing.

"Salesmanship in Britain is so well advanced that we in Canada may soon find ourselves trying to catch up," the Canadian trade mission leader told reporters Thursday after a close look at some auto plants in this industrial area.

The 50 - man mission, boneweary from its dawn - to - dusk daily inspection tours, continued to show amazement by the heights of British production efficiency, the happy spirit of workers and the cleanliness of plants.

This centre of the British motorcar and tractor industry went all out to make the Canadian businessmen at home. All plants in the area were thrown open to them. One motorcar company took a group in a drive over some of the roughest auto testing roads in the district.

V. C. Wansbrough of Toronto, managing director of the Canadian Metal Mining Association, said later that the ride was almost too much for his constitution.

"They're going to kill us with kindness," exclaimed John H. F. Turner of Montreal, assistant general manager of the Bank of Montreal, as the mission was escorted later to Stratford-on-Avon to see a performance of "Julius Caesar" and partake of late supper.

British reporters have followed mission members everywhere, asking when new Canadian orders for British goods will be placed.

Churchill said he expects to have something to announce Thursday night but so far he couldn't pin any orders down.

"The members are impressed with the speed, efficiency and general quality of British goods," he said. "The future looks reasonably good for a substantial diversion of orders to Britain from the United States."

Sir William Rootes, chairman of Britain's dollar export council, said the presence of the mission in Coventry made workmen more conscious of the need to increase exports.

Britain, which now exports about $500,000,000 worth of goods to Canada, wants to double shipments to $1,000,000,000.

"That's the target of the dollar export council. And we want to get started doing that right away."

Kiwanians Name Secretary

Russell Davis was appointed secretary of the Kiwanis Club by the incoming executive for 1958 at the club's meeting at the Hume Thursday night.

Mr. Davis was to have been a director, and he was succeeded to the directorship by N. R. Sardich. The moves were announced by president - elect Dr. Joseph Vingo, who is succeeding W. B. Christie.

Dr. Vingo also reported on a new officers' conference held at Spokane last Sunday. Nine Kiwanians attended.

Mr. Christie, commenting on a letter in The Daily News from C. Sherlosck, chairman of the Winter Unemployment Committee, charging lack of interest by some service clubs, explained to the members that the letter inviting Kiwanians to send a representative to a meeting did not reach the club until the night of the meeting. The club dealt with the letter during its own meeting and therefore had no time to send a representative.

Guests at the dinner were A. H. Shrieves of Nelson and Robert Bapte of Vancouver.

Queen Rehearses For Broadcast

LONDON (Reuters) — Queen Elizabeth will rehearse her first television Christmas broadcast to the Commonwealth and a make-up expert will be in attendance, the BBC announced today.

Her broadcast will coincide with the 25th anniversary of King George V's first radio message to the Commonwealth.

The Queen will speak about a minute after 3 p.m. London time —for between seven and nine minutes. On television she will be preceded by a 30-minute program narrated by Sir Laurence Olivier and beginning at Westminster Abbey. The theme will be 25 years of royal broadcasts and the changes which have taken place in the Commonwealth during that time. The radio broadcasts will have the same theme.

The Queen will be seen seated at a desk in the library at Sandringham. She will be alone.

Telerecordings of the broadcast will be flown to Canada and Australia shortly after the broadcast.

BIG ANIMALS

Irish elk, extinct for centuries, were a type of deer standing six feet high with large antlers.

Odds... and Ends ... by M.D.B.

They stood there, anticipation and expectation written all over their small faces, clinging to their mothers' hands. They looked at Santa's chair half expecting him to suddenly materialize in it before their eyes.

* * *

Suddenly there was a jingle of bells and you could almost see their ears go up like those of startled hares and their eyes grew round as saucers to see the old man himself, nylon whiskers, red corduroy suit and all. Most of the tiny people hung back gripping mother's hand the tighter and half ducking behind her skirts. With a little coaxing, however, they made their way over to the idol of all childhood to make their wishes known.

* * *

Meanwhile I struck up conversation with a jovial sort of gentleman who was looking over the toy counters, examining the inner workings of the various toys. "Don't you think Santa has lost a little weight since last year?" I asked. (The old fellow seemed to have entirely gone to pot, for the rest of him was rather young and athletic looking.) Yes, the man agreed Santa did look a trifle thinner. A lady joined us and addressing the man said he'd make an awfully good Santa, he being of quite a heavy build. "Oh," he laughed; "I'd probably say the wrong thing and put my foot in it," but you could tell he did not find the suggestion unappealing.

* * *

By this time most of the little tots had had their innings, so I screwed up my courage and went over to chat with the old gent. He was looking a trifle warm and picking up the plug to the electric fan at his elbow, he said they'd forgotten to plug it in. Well, here was my chance to butter him up a bit so I scuttled around behind his chair and found a plug. When I looked at him the next time he looked a little less the color of his suit. My little 4½-year-old friend asked me afterwards what I had asked Santa for (he had noticed me talking to him) Stuck for an answer, I had to admit I hadn't quite made up my mind. He said I'd better decide pretty soon.

* * *

Oh, I forgot, while chatting with Santa, I discovered he had just temporarily exchanged his big red fire engine for sleigh and reindeer. Now I know what I should have asked him for—a chance to slide down the firemen's pole or whatever you call that thing they use in lieu of stairs. This has been my lifelong ambition.

Foreign Office Denies Aid to Jordan Article

LONDON (Reuters)—A banner lined British newspaper report, promptly denied by the foreign office, says that Jordan has asked for a new £12,500,000 subsidy from Britain.

An Amman dispatch in The Daily Mail said Friday the Jordanians are "fed up with the Americans" because they believe U.S. aid is being given at present with strings attached.

"So in distress, King Hussein has turned once more to Jordan's old ally," the dispatch says.

King Hussein's regime last March ended an annual British subsidy of £12,500,000 which had been paid under terms of a 1948 Anglo-Jordanian friendship and defence treaty.

A foreign office spokesman here confirmed that a three-man Jordanian military mission is arriving in London Saturday, but other parts of The Daily Mail story, he said, were "incorrect."

"The facts are that three officers of the Jordan Arab army are arriving here Saturday to discuss with the war office and other government departments certain routine matters relating to residual administrative, training and supply problems following the termination of the Anglo-Jordan treaty last March," he said.
