Iraq to Stay In Baghdad Pact

Nuri Says Opposing Voices Only Aiming at Iraq's Destruction

BAGHDAD, Iraq (AP) — Squaring off to bitter opposition from other Arab states and Russia, Premier Nuri Said declared Sunday night Iraq will stay in the controversial Baghdad Pact.

In an 11,000-word address over Baghdad radio, the 68-year-old strongman reaffirmed Arabic determination to fight against communism and Zionism.

He was speaking to the public for the first time since the British-French and Israeli invasion of Egypt plunged his nation into crisis chiefly because of Iraq's membership with Britain in the Baghdad Alliance. Other member states are Iran, Pakistan and Turkey.

With his hand considerably strengthened by the British - French withdrawal from Egypt, Said launched into a spirited defence of the Baghdad Pact of 1955, declaring:

"I stand here and challenge all the prejudiced people and alarmists to point out a single loophole in the pact which could be exploited against Arabs and their interests."

Said claimed the chorus of opposition of Iraq chiefly aimed at membership in the Baghdad Alliance but "simply and solely to destroy Iraq" and put it at the disposal of others.

REVIEWS PACT HISTORY

In a long review of events leading to the signing of the Baghdad Pact in February, 1955, the premier said he had been previously rebuffed by Prime Minister Nehru of India and President Nasser of Egypt in attempted formation of a defensive anti - subversive alliance.

The premier said in March, 1954, he proposed on a trip to New Delhi that Nehru join a defensive neutral bloc with the Arab states, Pakistan, Afghanistan and Turkey. He said Nehru rejected the idea because it was "India's desire not to provoke communism along the extensive frontiers" and because the Indian Army was "barely sufficient" to maintain order in a country with 3,000,000 Communists.

He said that in September the same year in Cairo he proposed redrafting the Arab security pact with a view toward bringing in the United States and Britain.

Nasser, occupied with his own problems with the British, put him off, saying he was free to "adopt such means as would safeguard Iraq against dangers."

Although there is strong sentiment in Iraq for full U. S. participation in the northern tier alliance against Soviet aggression, Said's speech contained no such appeal. Nor did he say when he would renew co-operation with Britain in the pact. Iraq refused to attend pact meetings with Britain following the invasion of Egypt.

The message, made public Sunday by TCA President G. R. McGregor, reads:

"I have heard with deep concern of the tragic loss of the Canadian airliner in the Rocky Mountains. Please convey my sincere sympathy to all the relatives of those who have lost their lives."

Edmonton Greets 36 Refugees

By PAUL SABOURIN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

EDMONTON (CP) — A 16-year-old girl from Budapest and her fiance were reunited after many anxious weeks of separation as the girl and 35 other refugees — the first group to arrive in Edmonton — stepped off a Canadian National Railways train here Saturday.

Lajor Kun, 20, who arrived from Hungary three weeks ago and is now employed as a latheworker, was at the station to greet his attractive bride-to-be, Karin Kovacs.

The prospective groom said "they had been engaged several months prior to the revolution, but when trouble started, there was no more question of marrying right away."

"I hope we will get married as soon as possible," said Karin.

The horrors of the Budapest insurrection were still deeply etched in the faces of the 33 men and three women in the group.

But they smiled and nodded wearily as about 100 Hungarian-born residents of this city welcomed them in their native language.

"Canada is good to those who are good to her and it is our wish that you will find every happiness here . . ." said Alberta Welfare Minister R. D. Jorgenson as he adressed the newcomers through an interpreter.

The refugees, including two married couples, one with a 12-year-old son, 29 single men and two unmarried women, paused briefly at the station before going to Immigration Hall, where they were assigned living quarters in city homes and at the hall.

KILLED BY CAR

ST. ALBERT, Alta. (CP)—Alex Brittain, 57, was killed Saturday night when struck by a car while crossing the highway near his home in this town 10 miles northwest of Edmonton.

ALTHOUGH THEY ESCAPED Red rule in Hungary, Dr. Miklos Gergely and his fiancee, Anna Vag, find there is red tape even in Canada. Applying for a marriage licence two days after arriving in Toronto, the young couple find they will have to wait to see if residence and other requirements can be waived. Dr. Gergely operated by candlelight on 350 wounded Hungarians in a Budapest clinic during the height of the rebellion.

Israel Holds Line in Sinai

By ROBERT TUCKMAN

TEL AVIV (AP) — Maj.-Gen. E. L. M. Burns said Sunday Israeli troops now holding a line in Sinai, 31 miles east of the Suez Canal, will pull back farther this week.

The Canadian commander of the UN Emergency Force in Egypt made the announcement after a 60-minute talk at Lydda Airport with Maj.-Gen. Moshe Dayan, Israeli chief of staff.

He said he could not divulge now how far the Israelis will retire or when the withdrawal will be completed.

Israeli sources, seeking guarantees that Egypt will never again use that desert frontier region as a base for raids on Israel, have indicated the time of the final withdrawal depends on political developments.

RAIDS START AGAIN

A raid by Arab mauraders from the other side of Israel Saturday night pointed up the urgency of the frontier security problem.

Burns told newspaper men Yugoslav police units entering Sinai from the Suez Canal zone are under orders not to advance closer than five kilometres (about three miles) from the Israeli line.

"Some Egyptians are repairing roads" in the territory vacated by the Israelis, Burns said, but the Egyptian return to Sinai "is not a matter for me to discuss here."

Dayan said reports of Israeli planes flying constantly over Yugoslav troops on Sinai were "not accurate." But he said Israeli Piper Cubs flew over the Yugoslavs once or twice by mistake.

Most of Port Said In Hands of UN Force

By LEONARD LEDDINGTON

PORT SAID, Egypt (AP)—British forces, buoyed by a last-flying battle against Egyptian guerrillas, got set Sunday with their French allies for a final withdrawal from Egypt.

Victors in the biggest engagement waged in Port Said since the cease-fire orders went out Nov. 7, the British troops quietly withdrew behind a four-mile-long stretch of barbed wire ringing the Port Said beachhead.

They continued to hold only a thin, two-block-wide strip along the Mediterranean. Across the harbor, the French packed up in the Port Fuad area. Their ships were waiting.

There was a little doubt at this stage that all was in readiness for finally writing off the British-French invasion. Most of Port Said was already in the hands of the United Nations Emergency Force. Egypt assembled more than 1000 police at Ismailia, 45 miles south of Port Said, for assignment to this restive city.

The time for the final withdrawal was not announced.

UN sources indicated it might come Tuesday or Wednesday.

WILL ADMIT POLICE

Lt.-Gen. Sir Hugh Stockwell, commander of the British-French task force, hinted his men might still be around Thursday, but did not say so explicitly. Perhaps with tongue in cheek, Stockwell announced he has agreed to a UN request to allow 350 armed Egyptian police into Port Said Tuesday and 350 more two days later "if the first contingent behaves itself."

A spokesman at El Ballah, the UN headquarters, said British "discrimination against some nationalities," including Egyptian, was holding up the entry of some newspaper men to Port Said, but all would be given free access to the city Wednesday except for an enclosed area near the port.

The climactic battle came by moonlight in the dark streets and alleyways of Port Said, northern gateway to the Suez Canal. British tanks and infantry joined in the onslaught against the guerrillas.

A grenade slaying of a British officer Saturday night sparked prompt retaliation by the dwindling forces of Stockwell, who had warned that continuation of the Egyptian attacks could lead to "really violent action."

Ten Egyptian men were captured in the operations, completed at 2:30 a.m., and British officers said some others were killed — "we're not sure of the number." The only British-French casualty was the British officer, ambushed with grenades while on patrol.

About 250 British riflemen and a company of tanks took part in the fiercest engagement.

Nehru at White House For Talks With Ike

By SPENCER DAVIS

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower and Prime Minister Nehru of India, mixing ceremony and easy-going informality, Sunday began their long awaited talks covering a full spectrum of world ills from the Suez Canal to Communist China.

Both leaders expected the discussions, ending Wednesday night, could help bridge over past misunderstandings between the two nations and lead toward common ground on at least some of the issues facing them.

The president, standing bareheaded, greeted the prime minister from the steps of the White House north portico, and welcomed him "to this land—and to this house."

Nehru, wearing his familiar white Gandhi cap and a red rose in the buttonhole of his dark overcoat, said he had been "looking forward to this visit for a long time."

After a brief talk the president and the 67-year-old Indian leader, who was accompanied by his daughter, Mrs. Indira Gandhi, had luncheon together in an informal family-style gathering in the family dining room of the White House.

The informality of this gathering was in contrast to the full military honors with which Nehru was greeted upon his arrival at Washington International Airport.

Before leaving aboard Eisenhower's personal aircraft the Columbine, Nehru had a 45-minute discussion with Prime Minister Eden—the first meeting between the two premiers since the crisis in the Middle East and Hungary broke out.

At a press conference after his arrival here, Nehru said he hopes for better relations between the United States and Communist China but he is not going to Washington to mediate in any particular matter. He will also talk with Canadian leaders.

ST. NICHOLAS DAY, December 6th, traditional gift-giving day in advance of the Feast of the Nativity in Hungary, was "Little Hungary" in the U.S. observed at Camp Kilmer, N.J., Little Julius Doboa, seven, awakens in his army cot to find St. Nicholas indeed has been there. His shoe was placed at the side of the bed, according to custom, and was filled with candies, and a bag of switches as a reminder against misbehavior. Because of its religious significance, St. Nicholas Day has been banned in Hungary under the Russian regime.

Hungary May Gain Status of Poland

By ENDRE MARTON

BUDAPEST (AP) — There was talk here Sunday night that a political development in Hungary similar to that achieved in Poland might come before the end of the year if order is restored and the Russians withdraw from the streets.

It was difficult to tell what tomorrow might bring, but it appeared the strikes in Budapest were at an end.

Political quarters do not minimize the difficulties of breaking the present political stalemate. But with Premier Janos Kadar being held firmly in the saddle by the Russians, there was some belief the Kremlin might acquiesce in a solution similar to that in Poland.

In Hungary, this probably would mean non - Communist political parties would accept the leadership of the Communist party and be willing to run together on a single ticket.

Such parties exist only on paper today, but efforts are being made to reactivate the Smallholders and the Petoefi (former National Peasant) parties. It has been rumored that talks through unidentified mediators with various Communist politicians deported to Romania with former Premier Imre Nagy have taken place.

The fact is that Kadar would need support from more popular Communists such as Geza Losonczy, minister of state in the Nagy cabinet, or Zoltan Szanto, veteran anti-Stalinist, both in exile in Romania.

Judge Overrules Clause in Will

VANCOUVER (CP) — Mr. Justice H. W. McInnes of the British Columbia Supreme Court declared racial discrimination has no place in Canada when he overruled an anti-Jewish clause in a will Saturday.

"I view with disfavor the power of testators to control from their grave the choice in marriage of their beneficiaries," he said.

Alfred Hurshman, who died here Jan. 7, 1955, left an estate valued at $162,000. He willed a life interest to his wife, Mary, and on her death half of the residue was to go to his only child, Georgia, providing she was not the wife of a Jew.

A month before the will was made the daughter married Ivan Mindlin, a Jewish medical student in Winnipeg.

In a written judgment Saturday, Mr. Justice McInnes ruled that Mrs. Mindlin is entitled to her half share, about $80,000, despite her marriage to a Jew.

KILLED BY TRAIN

EDMONTON (CP) — Police identified the body of a man found Sunday at the Canadian National Railways yards in Edmonton as that of John Gushta, 26, a CNR fireman.

Police said Gushta was struck by a train while walking home from work.

Still No Sign Of Lost Airliner

VANCOUVER (CP) — Slightly improved weather allowed nearly 20 aircraft to resume the search Sunday for a Trans - Canada Air Lines North Star plane missing for a week with 62 persons. No clues to the airliner's fate were discovered.

Samples from an oil slick found on Chilliwack Lake were brought by helicopter to Vancouver where laboratory technicians will study them to determine if they are from the missing airliner. Trappers said the oil slick has been on the lake for the last few days.

RCAF commercial airline, RCMP and civilian planes ducked through holes in the clouds to get brief looked at sections of the mountainous area around Hope, about 100 miles east of Vancouver, where the big airliner is believed to have gone down.

Sqdn. Ldr. George Sheahan, searchmaster, joined the hunt himself, and on his return to Vancouver said the planes were getting through the clouds "in spots." He said "it is quite risky as when you get in a narrow valley you have to turn and get out in a hurry when the clouds close in fast."

The search was still centred around Silvertip and Cheam Mountains.

ISRAEL FREES CAPTIVES

CAIRO (AP) — Twenty - two wounded Egyptian prisoners of war arrived Sunday from Israel. They came in two Italian planes by arrangements with the International Red Cross.

B.C. Voters Okay $9 Million For Schools, Civic Projects

By The Canadian Press

About $9,000,000 worth of school construction and civic projects were approved Saturday by district voters in B.C. municipal elections.

However the largest project of them all, a $5,600,000,000 greater Victoria school by-law, was rejected. The referendum needed a 60-per-cent affirmative vote to pass but received only about 56 per cent — 7,063 in favor and 5,660 against.

In the only contest for reeveship in the off-year, West Vancouver deposed its incumbent in favor of a newcomer.

Russell Richards polled 1,851 votes against 1,792 for Reeve John Richardson.

Voting was light generally with an estimated 30 per cent of the electorate going to the polls.

In the municipality of Matsqui, a bare 20 per cent of the 4,500 registered people voted.

In the aluminum centre of Kitimat, however, where a foot of snow fell during voting hours, 75 per cent of those eligible voted to pass more than $500,000 in by-laws and a $2,250,000 school construction referendum.

Other major expenditures approved:

A $2,444,000 school expansion program in Richmond; $1,573,000 school program in Kamloops; a $645,000 sewer project in neighboring North Kamloops; a $791,000 school project in Mission district.

Residents in the Chilliwack area returned a split vote on whether to apply for a municipally-owned natural gas distribution system or give the franchise to the B.C. Electric Co. — subject of heated controversy for the last year.

City residents who voted Thursday rejected the municipal-owned system 583 votes to 605. But the district carried the referendum by the heavy majority of 1,007 to 792.

In the Okanagan district of Glenmore, residents favored the natural gas franchise 72 votes to none against.

In most cases, incumbent councillors were returned to office.

Robot Decides Drinker's Capacity

PARIS (Reuters) — French manufacturers Sunday introduced a "robot barman" capable of mixing martinis in proportion to the strength of the drinker.

The robot, which resembles a gasoline pump, contains a built - in photo - electric cell which measures the customer's height, reflexes, and weight before delivering its drink in a glass through a slot.

The robot also serves a variety of drinks, including milk and fruit juice for those who fail to measure up to martini strength.

Parents Fail to Save Youngsters

KETCHIKAN, Alaska (AP) — Two little boys apparently died in their parents' arms Saturday as the father and mother swam ashore with them after a skiff upset in icy waters.

They were Charles, 3, and Douglas, 1½, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Warren Stanley. The deaths were ascribed to drowning.

The family was rowing to its home on Clover Pass when its boat took water from a wave 200 yards offshore, Stanley reported. A second wave swamped them.

Each parent took a child under an arm, struck out and reached shore safely. The father ran to the nearest home to get aid for them and his wife, who is expecting a third child, but the children could not be revived.

The package contained a dead mouse.

OWEN SOUND, Ont. (CP)—A correspondent for the Owen Sound Sun-Times painted a gloomy picture of farming operations with this item:

CANTERBURY, England (AP)—Brought into court Friday on four charges of embezzlement, milkman Richard Atkinson, 31, pleaded guilty—with an explanation. This was the explanation:

After misappropriating money from his milk route on Oct. 20, he fled to France, was attacked and robbed in a Paris hotel, joined the French Foreign Legion and was sent to Algiers. After 10 days of service he deserted, stowed away on a German ship, was arrested in Marseille and turned over to British authorities. While being taken to Paris, he escaped and managed ot obtain emergency papers for a trip to England.

"I believe his story," said the policeman who arrested him again in Dover Dec. 6.

The judge bound Atkinson over for sentence next month.

NEW BRUNSWICK, N.J. (AP)—Landlord William J. Wade of Edison Township will get his back rent—but at the rate of five cents a week.

Judge George R. Morrison set the rate Thursday for payment of $190 to Wade by Florence Carhart, operator of a dance studio.

It will take Wade 73 years and four weeks to get the entire sum.

Authorities said Mrs. Carhart had been deserted by her husband and was having trouble supporting her three children. Wade had been in court for five years trying to collect.

$200 Donation By ACT Starts Pot A-Boiling

When the Salvation Army's Christmas cheer kettle made the first of its traditional yuletide appearances on Baker Street Saturday, it wasn't empty.

Nelson branch of the Associated Canadian Travellers started the pot boiling with a $200 donation.

The presentation to Lieut. G. Grice of the Salvation Army citadel here was made by A. McDonald, president, and B. H. Kearney, a director of the Travellers' branch. The cheque was turned over just before the kettle appeared on the street.

By giving to the Army's Christmas appeal, the Travellers have departed from practice of previous years. The contribution takes the place of their party for underprivileged children.

"We feel that the Salvation Army knows better than we do those people who need help at Christmas time," Mr. McDonald said.

Barkerville to Open Museum

BARKERVILLE, B.C. (CP) — This town site of a mining camp in the days of the Cariboo gold rush nearly 100 years ago, will lose a general store soon but will acquire a museum.

George Kelly has operated the store—art of the Kelly Hotel — for several years but plans to terminate the business.

The building is all that remains of what once was a thriving business section that included several shops, cafes and two hotels.

Mr. Kelly intends to convert his place into museum to house relics of the gold rush. Many of the items to be shown are the property of the Kelly family and have been handed down from generation to generation.

Mr. Kelly's decision to convert his store into a mueum results from an increase in tourist traffic and the numerous requests he has received for information on the early days of Barkerville.

It is expected that tourist interest will rise to new pitch during the 1958 British Columbia centennial observances.

GAY CHRISTMAS PARTY AT MOUNT

Local entertainers and entertainment groups visited Mount St. Francis Sunday evening to give the residents and staff an evening of dancing and singing at the annual Christmas party.

Organized by the Uphill Circle Auxiliary to Mount St. Francis and contributed to by Nelson organizations, the party featured carol singing, recitation and dancing, and Santa Claus, on leave from the Fire Hall, distributed fruits and nuts to those for whom the evening was planned.

Downstairs, the ladies gathered around a Christmas tree in the large lounge, and upstairs, the men congregated in their equally festively decorated meeting place. Outside guests were ushered in to the festivities by Mrs. E. M. Jones.

Hume school pupils, under the direction of Rex Leowen presented a short pageant.

Outsiders joined in the carol singing, which was bolstered bass-wise by students from Notre Dame College, and accompanied by Geraldine DeGirolamo. Rev. J. N. Allan gave a song, and visiting square-dancers from the St. Saviour's Gingham Swingers softshoed their art, called and swung by J. G. James.

Neil Baker recited for the groups, and Donna Delong, accompanied by Louise Scott, presented a dance.

Mrs. J. DeLucrezio and Mrs. J. Lang were hostesses. President of the Auxiliary is Mrs. W. D. Hall.

Curlers Plan Mixed Event

Excellent ice conditions are reported by the Nelson Men's Curling Club so far this season. Curling interest is said to be at a "real high," and defaulted games at a minimum.

Only flaw is that a few "runs" have developed in the ice during the last week. Members formed a work party Sunday to wash and flood all sheets, so that the ice is expected to regain top shape soon.

Answering many requests, Club officials hope to arrange a two or three-day mixed spiel during the Christmas week, similar to one held last week. No club draws are scheduled between Christmas and New Year's.

Selkirks Win ABC Opener

CRANBROOK — Cranbrook Selkirks opened the Alberta-British Columbia Intermediate Hockey League schedule here Saturday night with a 10-3 win over Michel-Natal Coal Kings.

A tie for second place occurred when Eddie Hearn and Art Waldie picked up 122 points to match the total of Jim MacDonald and Bill Bishop. Bob Thompson and Al Larsen had 120 points.

A women's doubles tourney was originally scheduled, too, but only six contestants turned out. They occupied the afternoon competing among themselves.

White Gift Money To Help Orphans

An overflow congregation of parents and children attended the White Gift service Sunday morning at St. Paul's-Trinity United Church. Praise was led by the Girls' Choir, which sang 'What Child It This?" and "Shepherds Shake Off Your Drowsy Sleep", under Mrs. L. S. Gansner, with Merlin R. Bunt at the organ. Members of the Senior Choir were seated in the front of the Church.

While the offering was being taken, members of the Sunday School, under general superintendent Mrs. L. G. Gatley and other staff members lined up in the side aisles to deposit their White Gifts in a manger in front of the pulpit.

The money will be used to help support two French war orphans, Jean Claude Kiss and Josette Rignet, also to help with United Church mission work in other lands.

Jean and Josette were adopted by the former St. Paul's congregation. Jean is about 15, suffers with tuberculosis, and Josette was three when adopted some years ago. She was ill, and was staying with elderly guardians.

Rev. E. Donovan Jones gave the third in a series of special Advent messages, "Sparks From The Fire," as well as an illustrated lesson specially dedicated to the boys and girls.

Familiar Christmas Scenes Displayed on Roofs of Homes

The spirit of Christmas became more evident in Nelson over the weekend as home owners began creating beautiful outdoors displays.

Prancing reindeer drawing Santa Claus in his sleigh look almost lifelike under a floodlight on the roof of the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Maynard, 207 High Street.

A big tree, gay with lights and tinsel, shines from the porch of Mr. and Mrs. Kerby Grenfell's home at 818 Vernon Street, and the windows of their home are ablaze with lighted decorations.

Mr. and Mrs. Arvid Schneider, 1011 Front Street, are again displaying the manger scene on their roof, made effective at night with flood lights. Another display looked for annually is that of Ald. George Eckmier, 407 Nelson Avenue, who has outlined the front of his home in lights. A gay tree stands in a picture window.

Sunday's sunshine drew scores of adults and children to the woods for Christmas trees.

Council Meeting Last for Two Aldermen

Two veteran aldermen, Ald. Arthur Foster and Ald. W. S. Smith, will sing their swan song as members of the Nelson city council meet tonight.

Ald. George Eckmier, whose term also expired this year, was re-elected for another two years at civic elections Thursday. George Mermet and William S. Ramsay will take the place of Ald. Foster and Smith.

Ald. Foster served council for six years, and was chairman of the finance committee. Ald. Smith first took civic office in 1949, and headed the electric light and power committee.

Pearly "Royalty" Honor Princess

WINDSOR, England (Reuters) — London's pearly kings and queens—junk dealers who traditionally wear suits decorated with mother-of-pearl — mingled with royalty here Friday as special mourners at the funeral of Princess Marie Louise, 84-year-old grand-daughter of Queen Victoria. The pearly kings, in their shining uniforms and peaked caps, and their wives, wearing the equally traditional gaudy ostrich-plumed hats, travelled from London on a special train to attend the service.

Woman Battles Delinquency by Opening Young Bowling League

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP)—A housewife here has her own way of battling juvenile delinquency—she runs a bowling league for youngsters.

Mrs. Arthur S. Flewelling, a bowling enthusiast from her youth in Regina, hit upon the scheme three years ago.

"I went to every school in the city, talking to the principals and to the children. I had plenty of co-operation and the first Saturday morning there were enough youngsters on hand to fill all the alleys."

Bowling sessions for children from 10 to 17 re-opened for the third season a few weeks ago and Mrs Flewelling found her 65 boys and girls of last year had swelled to almost 100.

Mrs. Flewelling, who believes the way to keep children out of mischief is to give them something to do, says:

"I love it, and I'd hate to give it up. Perhaps it's because I have children of my own, and because I can see what benefits these bowlers are getting, week after week."

Apart from keeping them off the street, she feels it helps them participate in a sport as opposed to "side-line activity" such as movies and television.

YOUNG HELPERS

Mrs. Flewelling's sons, 11-year-old Bobby and Gary, 13, both are bowlers and in addition they help their mother keep the league records.

"I keep all their scores in a permanent record, and figure out their averages," she said.

Mrs. Flewelling has been asked to expand her program to several other alleys in the city, but she says she finds it hard enough to keep up at one.

Every newcomer gets special lessons from Mrs. Flewelling and "they really take them seriously."

The bowlers pay 50 cents for three strings, a slightly reduced rate arranged by the bowling alley management.

Right now all the bowlers are working their hardest as Ronald Boyarchuk, manager of the alleys, has promised to take four teams, 20 bowlers, to Toronto in April to compete in the Ontario junior and intermediate five-pin bowling tournament.

TRAIL — Consolidated Mining and Smelting Company has opened 40 homes for Hungarian refugees the Kimberley Hungarian relief organization has announced.

About $30 was realized from a public appeal. Many offers of clothing bedding, and furniture were also reported.

Next date on which Hungarian refugees can be expected in Trail is Dec. 20.

Offers Eye as Christmas Gift

VANCOUVER (CP)—A Christmas gift awaits some blind person — an eye.

William Johnson, 40, Saturday offered his left eye as a gift for a blind person.

"I want to share my sight with someone who cannot see," he told a reporter. "I have travelled around the world and have seen almost everything."

Eye specialists say they do not believe there is a surgeon here who would remove the eye.

"He might have an accident and lose the sight of his second eye," said one specialist.

Johnson doesn't agree. "It's a free country. If they won't take it in Canada I will give my eye to someone in the United States."

Eight days ago he was married. His bride agreed before their marriage that he could give his eye to a sightless person.

The bullet struck Blackmore in the chest. He was dead soon after his arrival at hospital.

Milk Prices Up Two Cents Per Quart at Coast

VANCOUVER (CP)—The price of delivered milk will go up two cents a quart today, an official of Vancouver's largest distributor said Friday.

Lyle Atkinson, manager of Dairyland division, Fraser Valley Milk Producers Association, also announced that wholesale milk to stores will be increased by three cents a quart.

The increase will bring the price of standrad milk delivered to the home to 24 cents a quart.

Other milk distributors are expected to increase their prices shortly.

Mr. Atkinson said every cost factor in milk production had risen sharply since the last price increase in 1951.

"These increases in cost have not been passed on to the consumer but have been absorbed by the indsutry and the burden has become too great," he said.

The announcement followed the signing of a new wage agreement between Vancouver dairies and their truck drivers.

The agreement gave members of the milk sales drivers and dairy employees union, local 464, a $15 monthly increase retroactive to March 1.

Will Appoint Commission To Look Into Okanagan Market Conditions

VICTORIA (CP) — The B.C. Cabinet has agreed to set up a Provincial Royal Commission to investigate marketing conditions for Okanagan fruit growers.

Agriculture Minister Ralph Chetwynd said the commission would be set up early in the New Year.

He added that he had "two or three people" in mind as commissioner and the choice would not necessarily be a judge.

Returning from Ottawa Monday Mr. Chetwynd said the federal government was willing to assist B.C. in probing the fruit industry but would not set up a federal royal commission to investigate marketing conditions outside B.C.

Victoria Rejects $5 Million School Referendum

VICTORIA (CP) — Greater Victoria ratepayers, at city and municipal elections, turned down a five-year, $5,600,000 school construction program.

The referendum needed a 60 per cent affirmative vote to pass, but received only about 56 per cent.

School board officials, while "naturally very disappointed," said the question will be put to ratepayers again at the earliest possible time.

The officials said the rejection of the bill will mean early re-instituting of the shift system in Greater Victoria schools.

The Victoria vote last Thursday, released with municipal results Saturday night, was only 52.8 per cent in favor of the program. Saanich also turned it down with a vote of 50 per cent. It was barely endorsed in Oak Bay with 60 per cent and passed in esquimalt with about 64 per cent and in View Royal with 77 per cent.

School officials said tne loss of a year in starting the program means the shift system in secondary schools for "the next five or six years."

All expenses of the show were undertaken by Rex Colmer and the theatre management and the crowd attending was fairly large considering winter weather. UBC Plans Course For Baby-Sitters

VANCOUVER (CP) — An evening course for baby-sitters is planned by the University of British Columbia extension department as part of its evening class program, beginning January.

"We feel that there is quite a need for this type of course," said Mrs. Alice Lindenberger, director of the evening extension program, "as so many baby-sitters, particularly teen-agers, have no training at all in this field."

She added: "But it isn't restricted to teen-agers, nor is it primarily for them. It's to train any untrained person who will be doing baby-sitting.

"It would cover first aid, baby care, and how to cope with almost any situation that might arise."

Strong Medicine Required for Careless Driver

The Alberta Safety Council reports that traffic deaths in that province in the first eleven months of the year totalled 243, with 239 in 1953 the worst full year on record.

In Victoria, Superintendent of Motor Vehicles George Lindsay said last week's traffic safety campaign was of no use at all. Final returns for the "safe driving week" showed nine people died on provincial highways, 140 were injured and there were 488 accidents.

The figures given are appalling. They should make such an impact on the minds of readers that they should be moved to consider their own driving and resolve to make it better and safer, but such does not seem to be the case. No matter how the seriousness of the traffic situation is put before the public the toll of death and injury continues to rise. No pre-holiday campaign seems to have any effect and, as has been shown, nor do special "safety weeks."

There must be reasons why these campaigns of education fail. It is more than probable that many drivers do not read. It is perfectly true that Canada is a literate nation in the sense that all can read, but the fact is evident that many do not.

Of those who do, there are many who read without understanding, who read the statistics of traffic accidents without being able to relate them to themselves and on whom they make no impression.

On others the very frequency of such appeals to safe driving become wearisome. They are bored with the constant admonitions to drive safely and the toll of dead and injured arouses no interest in their minds.

If driving accidents affected only the one who drives, it would be an easy matter to allow them to suffer for their own folly. Unfortunately by far the number of victims of traffic accidents are innocent persons who are either passengers, persons in other cars or pedestrians. Against the careless driver they are helpless.

It is against these as individuals that the drive should be made. Many of them show their irresponsibility in small ways. They speed in restricted zones, cross double lines or dodge in and out of the traffic line. When such individuals are brought before the courts it should not be only a matter of a fine, but it should be brought home to them that their conduct is indicative of a dangerous attitude of mind which can lead to accidents.

It may seem unduly harsh, but suspension of licences for infractions of safety rules might be more effective than fines. We should not allow those who are contemptuous of the regulations to be a danger to others.

Business Up, Why not Market?

People who own stocks may be pardoned for being puzzled as to what makes the stock market tick.

A great many companies have been reporting record business and earnings. A Financial Post tabulation of 38 companies last week showed net profits up 15 per cent for the first nine months, third quarter profits seven per cent higher.

On page 13, a composite picture of the expectations of senior executives of leading Canadian corporations shows that the majority are budgeting for higher sales and as good earnings or better in 1957.

But Canadian stocks have fallen 17 per cent from early August to the end of November, based on the DBS index of 96 stocks.

There are several reasons for this seemingly contradictory action of the market:

1. Tight money has caused interest rates to rise. Investors can get the most attractive yields in years from bonds, and they naturally demand higher yields from stocks, too. This depresses prices on stocks as a result.

2. Uncertain international conditions have reduced general confidence, and this shows up in some selling of stocks, some reluctance to buy.

3. Sales of only a relatively small percentage of the shares of a company can have a disproportionate effect on share prices. For instance, a bank stock dropped 20 per cent in value from August 20 to November 30, reducing the total market value of the shares from $67.2 million to $53.8 million. The trading in this period involved less than one per cent of the outstanding shares. Earnings this year were a record.

4. Rising costs are reducing profit margins for many companies, and slowing down the rate of increase in earnings, actually cutting some profits below year-ago levels.

There is no doubt that for these and other reasons, the market drop can be explained. Some reputable analysts believe that the market as a whole will go nowhere, or possibly decline even further, for the next year or so. After that, the general expectation seems to be for resumption of the post-war climb.

However, the individual investor doesn't buy the averages. He buys individual stocks, and although no stock is immune to the effects of the general trend, there are always opportunities for profit even in a declining market.

The outlook for business generally is still very good. There are many large holders of stocks who not only are unlikely to sell for short-term reasons, but are also in many cases buying more stocks all the time.

These factors alone should help ensure that any decline will be of moderate proportions, and that the longer term trend is still up.—Financial Post.

Press Comment

Speculation about a pipeline for shipping wheat may only be part of wishful thinking to give railway management a scare, says the Winnipeg Tribune. "But it would be a reckless prophet who would predict that such a pipeline will never snake across the prairies to the head of the lakes."

A lot of questions will have to be faced when the UN takes over at the Suez, warns the Victoria Colonist . . . "and they will certainly involve a complete overhaul of Western policy, especially the policy of the United States; for it was the lack of an adequate American policy, and the resulting vacum of power in the Middle East, that mainly produced the present crisis."

Canada saved the Commonwealth in the recent crisis, the Windsor Star declares, and it adds: "When people foolishly ask who is the friend of whom, it is well to keep this in mind. By preventing the dissolution of the Commonwealth, or even its fragmentation, Canada has been the best friend of the United Kingdom. Without the Commonwealth, the United Kingdom would be relegated to the rank of a third-rate power."

A Commonwealth Need

(Victoria Colonist)

The events of the last few weeks have emphasized again the crucial need of a Commonwealth news exchange, organized on the pattern of other world telegraph and cable services.

During the height of the Middle East crisis it was very difficult for newspapers to find clear, unbiased and objective news reporting from the scene. The most reliable reports on Commonwealth action were those of British journals flown here from publishing houses in the United Kingdom. They told of steps taken in succession at New Delhi, Canberra, Wellington, Karachi and other Commonwealth centres in verbatim reports which were unbiased. Unfortunately such advices, even at airmail speeds, were from 48 to 72 hours behind events in the swiftly moving crisis.

The international tensions of the last few weeks would have been far more understandable if . . . a specifically organized and dedicated Commonwealth news service . . . had been in existence and functioning.

Canada, for all of its efforts, knows far too little about our sister nations in the Commonwealth. The same thing without doubt is true of each of them. This is not to suggest that governments do not correspond, because the reverse is true; but simply that the day-to-day news of Commonwealth lands is neither being gathered nor disseminated to the degree that it both could and should be. After all, the wider the confines of the Commonwealth, the more need of a working, practical and informed communion of minds.

Will you really enjoy your retirement... or barely scrape along?

You have probably given a lot of thought to how you would like to spend your time after retirement . . . maybe you have even figured how much income you would need to do the things you want.

Is the amount you can presently count on enough? Think how much peace of mind an extra $1[illegible] would contribute!

The question is: "Where is this extra $100 coming from?" Maybe you expect to save it. If so, it would take $30,000, invested safely at 4%, to provide a gross income of $100 monthly. Few people have the means to do this.

However, there is a simple, safe and sure way of providing for extra retirement income — a Metropolitan Retirement Program. This also provides Life insurance protection for your family in case something should happen to you before retirement. The cash and loan values in the policy can be used as nest eggs in the event of unforeseen contingencies.

Your Metropolitan Representative will show you how, step by step, you can provide for financial security during your retirement years. He will help you review the possible income from your present policies in the light of your future retirement plans and needs. You might also ask him about a Family Income rider to give added protection to your family.

Any Metropolitan Representative will welcome this chance to show that

TODAY'S BIBLE THOUGHT

And Judas . . . when he saw that he was condemned repented himself and brought again the thirty pieces of silver to the chief priests and elders . . . and went and hanged himself. — Matt. 27: 3:5.

After Christ rose from the dead Peter returned to preaching. Christ forgave Judas but humanity never has. We should forgive as we want our sins forgiven.

Sighs of Relief Go Up — Dior Keeps Hemline Up

LONDON (CP) — There were sighs of relief in the London fashion world when Christian Dior's spring collection was unveiled. Hemlines weren't as low as some had feared.

Three months ago fashion dictator Dior advocated demi-longeur skirts—ankle length. There was apprehension about this new collection, totalling 84 models. Then came the relief—the models included only three ankle - length gowns, and they were reserved for evening wear.

Nevertheless, Dior still appears to be pushing the idea of lengthening all skirts just one inch. His regulation hemline today is 14 to 15 inches from the ground.

The mass - circulation Daily Sketch, striking a topical note, says "practical Dior has abandoned the longer skirts because of the British petrol crisis."

When he launched the ankle-length skirt last summer he wanted women to look more ladylike and help bring back the feeling of a more leisurely age. He decided against it for the time being, says the Sketch, because the "idea doesn't tie up with a petrol shortage with queueing for buses and what are virtually wartime conditions."

However, Dior's latest collection is essentially feminine. Lines are curved and rounded. Shoulder lines are set low.

Dior says brilliant flame will be the foremost spring color with rose, lilac, bright navy and "whisky" tones as runners-up.

Smokies Capture 2 Games in Row

ROSSLAND — Trail Smoke Eaters snapped a four-game winning streak the red hot Rossland Warriors had built up in the past two weeks with a 2-1 victory over the Warriors before a capacity house here Saturday night.

Bill Warwick handled all the Trail scoring as he blinked the light behind Rossland goalie Reno Zanier in the first and third periods. His first goal shot Smokies into a 1-0 lead which they held until 45 seconds of the second period had elapsed, when Leo Luchini made Short work of a rebound to knot the count 1-1.

The club batted on even terms for more than 30 minutes after Rossland's score, before Warwick battled his way down the left boards burst in on Zanier and flipped a shot at the goal. It dropped through Zanier's outstretched hands for the winner.

The low score can be directly attributed to the sensational network of the two goaltenders Zanier and Earl Betker, former Kimberley Dynamiters goalie who made his second appearance in the Trail nets since joining the club Thursday.

Time and again they rose to the occasion to block labelled drives that threatened to break up the game. Neither Trail goal was on a clear shot. Both dropped behind Zanier as Warwick let his shots go from a scramble of Rossland defenders. Betker was cleanly beaten by Luchini, but it was on a direct rebound Luchini had picked up off Betker's pads. The agile custodian had just turned away a Bill Short slap shot.

Only five penalties were called by referees Bob Maker and Johnny Ursaki, four being called in the first period when at one time Trail played two men short, Trail had three of the penalties.

The victory game Smokies a 6-3 won lost edge over the Warriors fgor the year. It was their third triumph on Rossland ice.

The crowd that witnessed the free wheeling game was the largest since the Warriors made their first home appearance, bringing senior hockey to Rossland after an absence of 18 years.

The loss stopped, at least momentarily, Warriors' drive to third place in the league standings. Warrriors had pulled to within six points of the third place Nelson Maple Leafs, but are now eight points back as Leafs defeated Spokane Flyers 9-6 Saturday in Nelson.

SPOKANE, Wash. (CP) — Trail Smoke Eaters battled their way into a first-place tie in the Western International Hockey League here Sunday afternoon, downing Spokane Flyers, 8-3 in a penalty-scarred game witnessed by 5400 fans.

The win was the second in two nights for the Smokies and the second loss in as many nights for the Flyer who took a four-point lead into Saturday night's game in Nelson.

The teams played on even terms in the first period but after that Trail not only dominated the play, but also most of the 72 minutes in penalties issued jointly by referees Al Toikko and Ed Robins.

Penalties included game misconducts to Buddy Bodman and Rockey Crawford of Spokane and Bill Warwick of Trail, a 10-minute misconduct to Bill Warwick, majors for fighting to Dave Gordichuk and Harry Smith, and misconducts to playing coach Grant Warwick and Harry Smith of the Smoke Eaters in the dying seconds of the game.

The contest, a close duplicate of Spokane's 6-1 win over Trail two weeks ago, saw Harry Smith and Gordichuk clash in a regulation three-minute bout at centre ice in the second period.

Players and officials formed a circle and let the two players fight it out, minus sticks and gloves, for slightly more than three minutes. The referees failed to announce their decision except for major penalties.

Rocky Crawford, acquired by Spokane from Vancouver Saturday, opened the door to the game misconducts when he slugged Trail's Bill Warwick as Warwick skated past the Spokane players' box. Actually Crawford made a mid-air tackle that landed him on top of Warwick. Buddy Bodman joined his teammate, Crawford, and all three were banished from the game.

The game required three hours and 20 minutes to complete. About 20 minutes of that time was used up while the Trail club obtained treatment for Earl Betker.

Betker twisted his ankle. He returned to finish the game.

When the clubs weren't fighting or Trail collecting 49 of the 71 minutes in penalties, Bobby Kromm was leading the scoring attack with three goals. Rearguard Joe Conn added two and Mike Shabaga, Cal Hockley and Bill Warwick one each.

Spokane's marksmen were Frank Kubasek, Lorne Nadeau and Gordichuk.

Keller Sparkles as Nelson Ends Losing Streak at Four

Willing Wendy Keller ignited the spark that burst into complete flame at Civic Arena Saturday night as Nelson Maple Leafs conquered Spokane Flyers 9-6 to write finis to a four-game losing streak in Western International Hockey League wars.

Keller scored two goals, set up linemate Garth Lipsack for two more and assisted on Marsh Severyn's first goal of the WIHL season as he played his most outstanding game since Red Koehle's departure from the right wing position the redhead filled so ably.

The crew-cut kid from Wilkie, Sask., whose brother Ralph is currently carrying the Keller name through Western Hockey League competition under the banner of Vancouver Canucks, slid his second goal of the game past Jaunty John Sofiak early in the third period after a Flyer outburst had threatened to erase the four-goal lead Leafs had constructed in the first frame.

Transplanted defenceman Ernie Gare, whose initial appearance of the season on left-wing at Spokane Wednesday night netted him a second chance, moved the puck over to Wendy, whose sliding shot clipped the inside of the post.

The tally restored Leafs' margin to two goals after the high-powered Flyers had reduced the lead from 4-0 to 5-4 with a tremendous second period outburst. Archie Gaber, skating with the style that earned for him the title "Citation" earlier this season, battled home the eventual winner less than two minutes later, moving Leafs beyond reach of Flyers' closing rush.

Tick Beattie and Art Jones — the WIHL's leading scorers — sliced Leafs' margin to two goals with more than five minutes remaining but Gare and Keller combined to set up Lipsack for the final goal of the game at 17:05.

HYSSOP IN FORM

Captain Murray Parker, playing-coach Pat Egan and Lee Hyssop added Leafs' other tallies, Egan's coming on a wicked drive that snagged the inside of the post with Sofiak beaten all the way. Parker's tally, first of the game, was a blast from the right point that deflected off Larry Plante's stick.

Hyssop drew the assist on Parker's marker, then fired a pass from the corner that mounced besind Sofiak into the gaping cage. Severyn's tally was the most surprising, perhaps even to the rugged Severyn himself.

He pounced on a rebound off Keller's hard drive and hoisted a backhand high into the rigging. It was a fitting climax to a wierd three-day session in which Severyn, Egan, Keller and Mickey Maglio (who picked up two assists and generally played a sound game) rolled 85-feet down a steep embankment Wednesday afternoon and played in Spokane Coliseum Wednesday night as Leafs were beaten 5-2.

CASTOFF COUNT ONCE

Jones scored twice and drew two assists to further bolster his WIHL scoring lead. Beattie, Carl Cirullo, Dave Gordichuck and Western Hockey League castoff Rock Crawford tallied once apiece.

The Nelson power play functioned in a manner reminiscent of its early-season effectiveness. When Carl Curillo and Tom Hodges sat out penalties 75 seconds apart in the first period, Leafs scored two goals. Keller's first goal came with Jones in the sinbin.

Jones' first goal, likewise, came with Flyers shorthanded. Plante was in the box for having crosschecked Art Krowshuck across the face in the second period and 21 seconds before he was due to return, Jones deposited the puck behind Gus Adams.

LINEUPS

Casares Paces Bears to Easy Win Over Lions

CHICAGO (AP)—Fullback Rick Casares ripped off 190 yards including a 68-yard touchdown run Sunday, powering Chicago Bears to a 83-21 victory over Detroit Lions and the Western Division title in the National Football League.

The triumph hoisted the Bears into a championship game against New York Giants at New York Dec. 30.

It was sweet revenge for the Bears and the 225-pound Casares, Only two weeks ago the Lions had humiliated the Bears 42-10 at Detroit and limited Casares to 45 yards in 11 carries.

It was a rough, tough ball game in which several players were ejected for fighting and a free-for-all developed in the fourth quarter with players, fans and police engaging in the melee.

The big battle featured Bear quarterback George Blanda and Lion tackle Gil Mains and held up play several minutes.

The 25-year-old former Florida star bettered the Bear mark of 1,004 set by Beattie Feathers in 1934.

U.S. OLYMPIANS SNAP WIN SKEIN OF LOS ANGELES

CHICAGO (AP) — The U.S. Olympic basketball team proved its right to the title of world champion in winning the Chicago Stadium pre-holiday tournament.

The undefeated Olympians handed San Francisco's defending U.S. collegiate champions an 83-52 setback Saturday night after blasting Santa Clara, 97-57 in the first round.

San Francisco ran its victory string to 60 by beating Loyola 67-48 in the opening round.

Dons' victory string is still intact since the game was an exhibition.

MELBOURNE (AP) — Shirley Fry of St. Petersburg, Fla., defeated Althea Gibson of New York Saturday in the final of the women's Victorian singles tennis championships, 4-6, 9-7, 8-6.

Bathgate's Brace Sets Back Habs; Howe Hits 326-Mark

By The Canadian Press

The New York Rangers pinned Montreal to the third rung in the National Hockey League standings Sunday night when Andy Bathgate blew the game wide open with a pair of goals in the final minute at New York to humble the Canadiens 4-2.

It was the underdogs' night. At Chicago, the Black Hawks, shored up by Nick Mickoski's two goals, trounced the Red Wings 3-1. Only Toronto Maple Leafs played true to form—bowing 4-2 at Boston before a four-goal onslaught by the Bruins in the second period.

The night's play left Boston leading the circuit with 39 points, followed by Detroit with 36 and the Canadiens with 35. New York, Toronto and Chicago follow in that order.

The Canadiens, who had been unbeaten in five games and had visions of possibly taking over the NHL lead Sunday night, counted on Jean Beliveau's goal in the first period and Bert Olmstead's follow up of Floyd Curry's rebound in the second.

WIN NO. 2 FOR NY

It was only the second victory over Montreal this season by the Rangers, who now have played eight games without defeat at Madison Square Garden. They last lost Nov. 14—to Montreal.

Bathgate slashed home a long poke at 19:08 of the third period to break a 2-2 tie and 27 seconds later performed the hat trick with a blast at full stride that zipped past an unprepared Jacques Plante in the Montreal net.

Bathgate's first goal, at 6:03 of the second period, had pulled the Rangers into a 1-1 tie.

Almost matching Bathgate's brilliant performance was the three - assist night of Ranger Danny Lewicki and the supporting role played by Andy Hebenton.

Hebenton made it 2 - 2 with a goal at 14:59 of the second period and assisted on both Bathgate goals in the final frame.

At Boston, Jerry Toppazzini, Boston's leading scorer with 26 points, fired two goals and assisted on rookie Larry Regan's goal at 1:38 of the second period which tied the score 1-1. Sid Smith had given Toronto a 1-0 lead in the first period when he skated in alone on rookie goalie Norm Defelice and lofted the puck over him into the net.

Leo Labine put Boston ahead to stay at 7:48 of the second when he jabbed Real Chevrefils' rebound behind Toronto goalie Ed Chadwick from close in.

DUFF WINDS IT UP

Dick Duff got Toronto's final goal in the third period, tipping in a 40-foot drive by Tim Horton.

At Chicago, the loss dropped Detroit three points behind league-leading Boston.

The victory halted a 10 - game winless streak for the cellar-dwelling Black Hawks. It was their fifth win of the season.

In Saturday's play, the Wings dumped the Black Hawks 5 - 1, Montreal trimmed Boston 6-4; at Toronto, the Maple Leafs defeated New York 2-1.

The Detroit game saw Gordie Howe fire the 325th and 326th goals of his NHL career.

Howe, the Floral, Sask., winger who is 28 years old, needed 10 full seasons and one-third of the present campaign to break the original record of 324 goals set by Nels Stewart upon retirement 16 years ago.

Maurice (The Rocket) Richard broke Stewart's record in the 1952-53 season in about the same span of time it took Howe.

Fetchick Wins Links Tourney

SANFORD, Fla. (AP) — Mike Fetchick of Lake Mahopac, N.Y., shot a 68 in the final round of the $15,000 Sanford Open golf tournament Sunday and won by two strokes over Frank Stranahan of Toledo, Ohio.

Fetchick scored 263 — 17 under par and only four strokes short of the professional golfers' association tournament record for the 72 holes.

Al Balding of Toronto, who won the inaugural Sanford open last year with 269, finished out of the money at 284. Balding was tied with nine others for 18th place after the opening round Thursday and never caught up.

Balding shot a two-over-par 72 in Sunday's final round.

New Sheriff of Nottingham Has Sneaking Regard for Robin Hood

By EDDY GILMORE

SHERWOOD FOREST, England (AP)—The sheriff of Nottingham looked out over Sherwood Forest and said that with the state of the woods Saturday he believes he could catch Robin Hood.

"I'm 57," he said, "getting a little bald on top and not as fast on me feet as I used to be, but so much of the forest has been destroyed that there just isn't much for Robin to hide in."

The sheriff was asked what kind of a horse he'd use to collar the legendary hero of these leafy woods.

"Horse?" he asked in surprise. "Why I've never been on a horse in my life. I'm a railway man."

The sheriff is Councillor Roland Green, a commercial representative for Britain's nationalized railways. He was elected to the office on May 28 this year.

REMAINS POPULAR

"I don't get a penny for being the sheriff of Nottingham," he explained, "but I do get a lot of letters from boys and girls who see Robin Hood on television."

"Some of them," he said, "are a little rough on me for being rough on Robin. But I love to get them just the same and I do try to answer all of them."

Sheriff Green takes a great interest in the forest as do other officials of Nottingham, this pleasant city in the very heart of Britain.

The forest, they all admit, has seen better days.

WAR CASUALTIES

The Second World War saw much of the forest used for ammunition storage. Trees were smashed and broken by big army trucks and many have been blown down by storms.

Standing in the heart of the forest is an area of giant trees in which even Robin Hood wouldn't be too proud to hide.

Biggest and oldest of these is the Major oak, more than 600 years old, its spreading limbs supported by chains to keep them from falling of their own age and weight.

The bustling city of Nottingham is growing, but it's not expanding into Sherwood Forest. Zoning laws prevent this, and county officials say it will remain a monument to Robin Hood for many years to come.

Merchants Puzzled

By WALTER BREEDE Jr.

NEW YORK (AP) — Booming production in United States factories, mines and oil fields last week contrasted sharply with lagging sales in retail outlets.

Christmas shoppers were still holding back. And merchants, who in past weeks had blamed everything from the stock market to the weather man, were unable to say why.

Total retail volumes for the week as measured by Dun and Bradstreet failed to match the record levels of a year ago.

In most other key sectors of the economy this week, the latest reports spelled "B-O-O-M" in capital letters.

Steel production was scheduled at 2,511,000 tons — the highest weekly output in history.

AUTO PRODUCTION GOOD

Total passenger car production in U.S. plants this week was estimated by automotive news at 165,234. That compared with the 1956 high of 167,516 scored the week before.

The Onassis oil tanker interests placed a $55,000,000 order with Bestlehem Steel Corp.'s Quincy, Mass., shipyard for three supertankers—one of 100,000 tons and two of 46,000 tons each.

Briefly over the business scene:

The government filed an anti-trust suit against Bethlehem Steel Corp. and Youngston Sheet and Tube Co. in an attempt to prevent the two big companies from merging . . . A federal court in Baltimore ruled that United States Rubber Co. violated no patent rights when it developed its own version of a tubeless auto tire . . . Allied Chemical and Dye Corp. and Kennecott Copper Corp. will form a pointly-owned company to produce and sell titanium . . . Plans for a $33,000,000 chemical plant in British Guiana were announced by Aluminium Ltd.

Expects Stock Market To Rally at Year-End

By RON ANDREWS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

There was little change in prices on the Canadian stock markets last week but two developments midway through the week raised hopes that a year-end rally might be in the making.

Profit-taking was the rule during the first three sessions but an advance in the last two days, sparked by the announcements, left markets in a favorable position. The outstanding news break came from Ottawa Wednesday and it could mean a long-term advance among uraniums.

The Canadian government lifted the veil of secrecy which had surrounded the uranium industry until now. Information about uranium ore reserves and production are being made public for the first time.

The other development was announced by two of Canada's four primary iron and steel producers. Algoma Steel Corp. and Dominion Steel and Coal Corp. revealed Tuesday that they have expansion plans calculated to add about 10 per cent to the country's present steel-making potential of 5,160,000 tons a year.

ANNOUNCEMENTS GOOD

Observers viewed the uranium announcement with much optimism.

They said investors now have a chance of appraising any one individual company. Before secrecy regulations were relaxed, the investor did not know whether he was making a good or bad buy on the market.

Market experts said the development probably will bring in a group of buyers who up to this point had refused to place money in something about which they lacked vital information.

Now that figures on tonnage, recovery and dollar value can be published, investors can determine the price companies receive from the federal government for their product. This had been high on the secret list.

Because of the variations in price schedules for Canadian production, observers said it isn't easy to put a dollar valuation on reserves. But they said "it is fairly safe to guess the total might be in the excess of $4,000,000,000, most of it in the Algoma basin-Blind River camp in Ontario."

Trading was quiet on the markets, especially during the profit-taking.

INDEX CHANGES

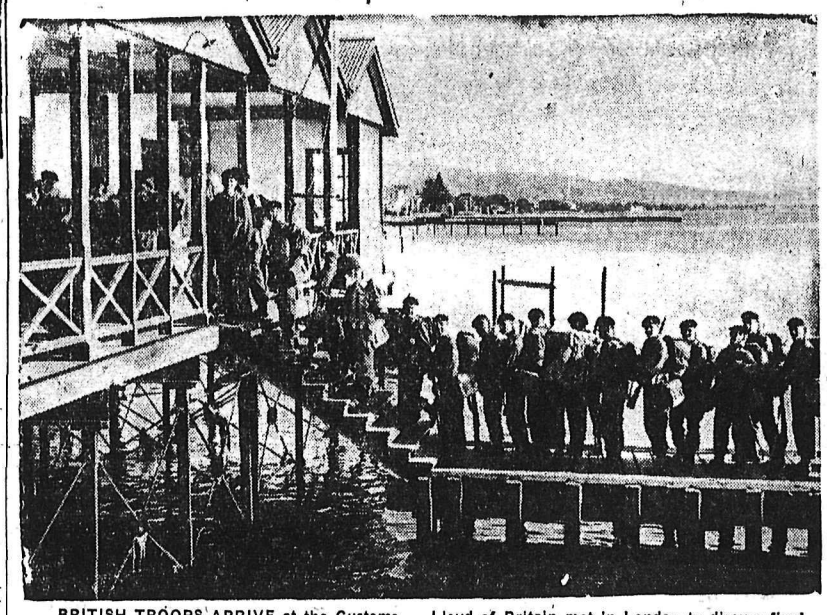
At Montreal, 257,261, industrial shares and 2,289,834 mining shares were exchanged against 442,895 industrials and 3,465,572 mines the previous week.

Index changes for the week at Toronto: Industrials up .42 to 460.15; golds up .47 to 75.38; base metals off 2.83 to 224.31; western oils off 2.36 to 148.20.

Index changes for the week at Montreal: Banks off 0.55 to 51.30; utilities up 0.7 to 135.1; industrials unchanged at 290.8; combined up 0.2 to 238.9; papers off 2.10 to 1405.48; golds off 0.27 to 73.88.

Of 824 issues traded at Toronto, 286 advanced, 398 declined and 140 were unchanged. At Montreal, 380 issues were traded, of which 110 advanced, 147 declined and 123 were unchanged.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at New York lost $1.50 to $180.10.



BRITISH TROOPS ARRIVE at the Customs House in Limassol, Cyprus, after withdrawing from Egypt in compliance with the United Nations cease-fire agreement. Solon Low Against Union With P-Cs

OTTAWA (CP)—Social Credit Leader Low said Saturday he can see no grounds on which his party could form a coalition with the Progressive Conservatives.

He was commenting on a statement made by John Diefenbaker shortly after being chosen the Conservative's new national leader.

Mr. Diefenbaker made clear at a press confreence that he has reached no decision as to whether he would favor a coalition with the Social Crediters.

Mr. Low said no approach has ever been made to him with such a suggestion. Considering all the differing views held by the two parties, he added, "there would be no ground on which we could possibly do such a thing."

Silverton Woman's Brother Passes

SILVERTON — Mrs. J. Merritt has received word that her brother, Jake Wortz, died Tuesday at Saskatoon, Sask.

FOR 15 YEARS Vince Duffy of Gaspe, Que., has been making doughnuts for CNR trainmen, and he believes that puts him in the front class of Canada's cooks. He is so confident that you'll find him in Toronto competing with nine women for the title, Canada's Best Cook. There are $15,000 in prizes in the All-Canada Bakeoff and the contestants are baking their specialties, which include strawberry cheesecake, cherry fritters, tuitti-fruitti pie, rum and butter raisin torte, lemon pie, velvet cake, fruit wreath and yeast cake with nut filling. Sampling Duffy's wares here are Alli Saving, left, and Elsie Fedunec.—Central Press Canadian.

Odds . . . and Ends . . . by M. D. B.

The holly and the ivy turn te turn, Deck the halls with boughs turn tee dee—it begins to feel like Christmas, doesn't it? All my little friends are keeping two tallies—the number of days until school ends and the number of days until Christmas.

* * *

My few notes concerning the Christmas tree foray apparently struck answering chords with several people and one young woman was saying she wished it were possible to recapture some of the fun of the business, but she pointed out that when you have all the other jobs of making Christmas, getting the tree is just another job that must be worked in somehow.

* * *

And speaking of Christmas trees, did you notice how many cars sprouted bouncy green tails over the weekend. I went out and got mine along with a few boughs for the door. I don't think anything can bring the feel of Christmas nearing, as the smell of fir and cedar boughs.

* * *

Saturday even your best friends didn't speak to you when you met them on the street, so far off in thought were they, as they really got down to business on their Christmas shopping. I swear that half the people were in that eight-more-shopping-daze.

* * *

I hope through all this hectic period we don't forget the true meaning of Christmas, but I don't think we will. We have been told "Whatsoever ye do unto others, ye do also unto Me" and I believe that this time of year most people are trying to make others happy and brighten the dark corners. Neighbors are more neighborly and folk are inclined to count their own blessings and try to bring a few to the old, the shut-ins and those less fortunate.

* * *

I know there is much talk of the commercialization of Christmas, but in my mind this is not entirely so. Most people are spending hard-earned dollars on something that they believe will make a loved one happy, and this doesn't seem so bad, really. I think a thoughtful gift is a nice way of saying "thank you" for love and friendship throughout the year.

Collective Fine Cancelled, Cyprus

NICOSIA, Cyprus (Reuters) — The Cyprus Supreme Court Saturday cancelled a £35,000 collective fine levied last June on the Greek-Cypriot inhabitants of Limassol.

Giving judgment, the judge said the fine was imposed by the commissioner without holding a proper public inquiry as provided by the emergency regulations.

The fine was imposed by Commissioner Ross Clunes with the assent of Governor Sir John Harding, following a series of anti-British terrorist attacks in Limassol.

Syria Stubborn On Oil Export

DAMASCUS (AP) — Syria will not permit one drop of oil to cross her territory until the Middle East situation returns to the status existing before British-French and Israeli invasions of Egypt, Syrian Economy Minister Khalil Kallas said Saturday.

Kallas made the comment to reporters following a 30 - minute meeting of Premier Sabri Assali and U.S. Ambassador James Moose Jr. The United States recently instructed Moose to press the Syrian government for resumption of the flow of oil across Syria by pipeline as soon as possible.

In Baghdad, Iraq, Abdul Jalil al Rawi, Iraqi minister to Syria, has left for Damascus for what informed sources said would be talks on repairing oil pumping stations blown up by the Syrian army.

Stations which pumped Iraqi oil to Mediterranean outlets were sabotaged after the British-French invasion.

May Make Deserts 'Blossom Like Rose'

MONTREAL (CP)—McGill University today announced it has been left a $2,000,000 bequest to study ways of making the world's deserts fertile.

The bequest forms the bulk of the estate of the late Maj. James Henry Brace, an internationally-known engineer, who visualized that vast irrigation schemes would some day enable the barren lands of the globe to be cultivated. His idea was that sea water, without its salt content, might be used for irrigation.

Maj. Brace died in Montreal last April, aged 85. He was born at Sheridan, N.Y., and was president of Fraser, Brace Engineering Company, Ltd.

Dr. F. Cyril James, principal and vice - chancellor of McGill, said the project was "perhaps one of the greatest ever contemplated for the well-being of mankind."

Lonely Hearts Bureau Ends In Law Courts

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — A robust, middle-aged spinster who passed herself off—pictorially — as a young blonde, has been convicted of using the mails to cheat eager suitors.

A federal court jury took less than 10 minutes to reach a verdict against Ann Gartman of Philadelphia, who, contrary to her "lonely hearts" come-on, is plump and stocky. By her own admission, quoted in court, she told male correspondents that she was 22, a beauty, and heiress to $20,000 at the age of 25 .

Until Judge J. Cullen Ganey imposes sentence, she is free on $500 bail. Maximum penalty is a year in jail and a $5000 fine on each three counts.

MADE IT PAY

Postal officials said she signed a statement admitting that she flimflammed more than a dozen men of between $3000 and $4000.

Postal inspector Thomas J. Hillegas, quoting from Miss Gartman's statement, said she made up a form which described a young woman of great charm. When a reply came along, she mailed a picture of an appealing blonde. By invitation, her keyed-up admirers then sent her bus fare to their home towns. The next step, as related in court, was for Miss Gartman to get off a letter, supposedly written by someone else, saying that she had been forced to go to Arizona for her health.

OTTAWA (CP) — About 7000 Hungarian refugees will arrive in Canada by ship or plane between now and the first week of January.
