No Separate Deal For H-Bomb Tests

Suspension Cannot Be Isolated From Disarmament Phases, Russia Told

LONDON (AP) — The four Western powers on the United Nations disarmament subcommittee told Russia Wednesday suspension of hydrogen bomb tests cannot be isolated from other phases of disarmament.

Emphatic statements by Britain, Canada, France and the United States followed a question by Soviet delegate Valerian Zorin whether the West has imposed new conditions for suspending H-bomb tests.

Zorin said U.S. State Secretary Dulles implied in Washington Tuesday that a test suspension would depend on prior agreement on other issues, including an air-ground inspection system. Zorin asked whether this interpretation is correct.

NO NEW CONDITIONS

Each of the Western spokesmen assured Zorin he had interpreted Dulles correctly. But they denied emphatically that any new condition was involed.

The Western delegates said this stand has been made clear since the disarmament negotiations started March 18.

U.S. representative Harold E. Stassen said the West is willing to suspend H-bomb tests on the first day that any disarmament treaty becomes effective.

But Stassen declared the same treaty would have to include provision for a cutoff in nuclear weapon production, a reduction in conventional weapons and military manpower and an effective air and ground inspection system to guard against surprise attacks.

Russia has often accused the West of blocking a test suspension by tying it up with other conditions.

McElroy Named Defence Head

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower has named Neil McElroy, one of the leading soap salesmen in the United States, to succeed Charles E. Wilson as defence secretary.

The nomination went to the Senate before the resignation of Secretary Wilson reached the White House.

Presidential press secretary James C. Hagerty said Wednesday that McElroy will work with Wilson for the remainder of this month "to get acquainted with his job."

McElroy cannot take over the $25,000-a-year job until his nomination is approved by the Senate. To give their approval, the senators may insist that the industrialist dispose of some of his stockholdings.

In addition to being president of Procter and Gamble Company, McElroy is a director of General Electric Company and the Chrysler Corporation—posts which suggest he has some holdings in these two big defence contractors.

Laing To Run

VANCOUVER (CP) — Provincial liberal leader Arthur Laing announced Wednesday he will be a candidate for the liberal nomination in a byelection Sept. 9 in Burnaby riding.

The byelection is one of three in British Columbia scheduled for that date. The other two are at Delta and Cariboo.

No U. S. Envoy For Hungary

VIENNA (Reuters) — The United States state department has informed Hungary that no new American minister will be appointed to Hungary, a Hungarian foreign ministry spokesman said in Budapest Wednesday according to Budapest radio.

The last American minister designate to Hungary, Edward Thompson Wailes, left Budapest last February on orders from Washington without presenting his credentials.

He had arrived in Budapest at the time of the uprising last fall.

Announcing the decision at a press conference Wednesday, foreign ministry spokesman Laszlo Gyaros said "Hungary considers this American decision as a further unfriendly step."

Moscow Molly Has Pal

By DAVE McINTOSH
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP) — Moscow Molly has a new male fellow broadcaster.

Listeners report that the new propagandist's voice sounds like that of CBC television announcer Larry Henderson.

Moscow Molly is the name northern residents of Canada have given to the Russian woman who reads in English the Red version of the news on the nightly broadcast which Moscow beams at the Canadian Arctic.

Travellers recently returned from the Arctic say Molly now has a male companion and the two read alternate items during the 7 p.m. broadcast.

In some remote sections of the Canadian Arctic the Moscow broadcast is the only one the inhabitants can pick up. But they tune in mostly for laughs.

Listeners say nearly every disturbance in Canada, such as a picket line fracas or juvenile gang fight, is referred to by Moscow radio as a "food riot."

One listener estimated that, according to Moscow Molly and her colleague, there have been 10 major and four minor food riots in Canada in the last year.

But northern listeners were grateful for one piece of news last winter: Moscow radio was prompt with results of the Stanley Cup hockey games.

RETURN FROM EUROPEAN TRIP — Comedian Red Skelton and his family leave their plane at Idlewild Airport as they returned from a three-week tour of Europe. Skelton took his son, Richard, 9, a victim of lukemia, to Europe to give him a chance to see some of the places he had read about. Skelton said he left London abruptly because of criticism of his tour by what he termed a "scandal sheet." Below Red and Dick on plane ramp are his wife and daughter, Valentine, 10.

Harkness, Comtois Named; External Affairs Kept by PM

By JOHN LeBLANC
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP) — Prime Minister Diefenbaker changed the lineup of his 47-day-old cabinet Wednesday to give the important agriculture ministry to westerner Douglas Harkness and also brought in his third Quebec province minister.

Paul E. Comtois, 61, first Conservative to capture Nicolet-Yamaska since it was formed in 1933, became minister of mines and technical surveys and the first member to enter the new Progressive Conservative cabinet without parliamentary experience.

The new mines minister — a business administrator, farm specialist and municpal mayor—brought the number of cabinet members to 18 including the prime minister, with three regular ministers doubling as acting ministers for three portfolios.

Mr. Harkness, 54, who until Wednesday was acting agriculture minister as well as minister of northern affairs and national resources, will give up the resources portfolio shortly, after the completion of certain projects and negotiations he has started. He is a cattleman and has represented Calgary North in the House since 1945.

EIGHT ASSISTANTS

In a series of formal announcements, the prime minister also made public the names of eight parliamentary assistants and a chief government whip for the Commons. And he told reporters:

1. He has no present plans for giving up the external affairs portfolio, which he has held since his government took office June 21.

2. The unfilled portfolios of health, defence production and citizenship and immigration will remain in charge of the present acting ministers for the time being.

3. A health minister will be named in time for the parliamentary session opening Oct. 14, taking over this portfolio from Veterans Minister Brooks.

4. Justice Minister Fulton will remain acting citizenship and immigration minister into the parliamentary session.

5. Appointment of a defence production minister is "not in contemplation." Mr. Diefenbaker did not elaborate on this oral remark. Works Minister Green is acting minister.

NEW JUDGE SEEN

6. The prime minister hopes to make a number of judicial appointments soon, including the filling of the Prairie vacancy on the Supreme Court of Canada caused by the death of Mr. Justice H. G. Nolan of Calgary.

7. Six more parliamentary assistants will be named next week, bringing the number up to the maximum 14 allowed by present legislation. The Liberals had 12 at dissolution.

Wednesday's batch of parliamentary assistants—the first to be appointed by the new prime minister—was headed by John A. Charlton, 47, as assistant to the agriculture minister.

Commons member for Ontario's Brant - Haldimand since 1945, the farmer-veterinarian had been a leading Conservative farm spokesman in that time and in recent years had been head of the party's agriculture committee.

LIKELY MINISTER

As a member of the party's so-called "shadow cabinet" when the Conservatives were in opposition, Mr. Charlton had been regarded as a virtual certainty for the farm portfolio had Mr. Diefenbaker decided to go against custom and appoint an Easterner to the job held for the last 22 years by Saskatchewan's Rt. Hon. James G. Gardiner.

The other assistants:

Labor — Arthur Maloney, 37, prominent Toronto criminal lawyer and freshman member for Toronto Parkdale.

Health — G. Ernest Halpenny, 54, a manufacturing chemist and new member for London.

Mines — Raymond O'Hurley, 47 - year - old timber estimator, who took Quebec's Lotbiniere riding from Liberal veterans minister Hugues Lapointe.

Defence—Marcel Lambert, 37, who won Edmonton West from the Liberals following the retirement of mines minister George Prudham before the June 10 general election.

Trade—Thomas M. Bell, 34, a lawyer who has represented St. John-Albert, N.B., since 1953.

Transport—Angus R. MacDonald, 55, a merchant and new member, who won Nova Scotia's Antigonish-Guysborough from the Liberals.

Public works — Clayton W. Hodgson, 60, a lumber company operator who has represented Victoria, Ont., since 1945.

CHIEF TORY WHIP

As chief Conservative whip, Mr. Diefenbaker named L. Elston Cardiff, member for Huron, Ont.

He succeeds A. Clair Casselman of Grenville-Dundas, Ont., who gave up the job because of indifferent health.

As of now, the cabinet setup gives Ontario a representation of five members — three from Toronto; Quebec and British Columbia three each, and the other provinces one each. This counts in Mr. Diefenbaker as Saskatchewan's representative.

RETAINS EXTERNAL POST

In discussing the possibility of his own retention of the external affairs portfolio, Mr. Diefenbaker surprised observers here who had expected him to lay down this exacting job as soon as possible.

His predecessor in the portfolio—Hon. L. B. Pearson — had taken on such assignments as the presidency of the United Nations General Assembly and membership on the NATO "three wise men" committee that explored the uestion of non-military co-operation among the NATO members.

However, Mr. Diefenbaker in talking to reporters Wednesday said:

"I was appointed as minister. And, looking back over the years, I see that with the exception of Mr. St. Laurent (former prime minister) the prime minister has invariably retained that post."

DOLLAR LOWER

NEW YORK (CP)—The Canadian dollar was off 1-16 at a premium of 5 29-64 in terms of U.S. funds; a week ago 5 15-32 per cent premium. The pound sterling was off 1-32 at $2.78 9-32.

Prince Laughs As Boat Conks Out

COWES, England (Reuters) — Prince Philip and son, Prince Charles, were towed to the waterfront here Wednesday when their speedboat broke down.

Two boatloads of press photographers watched the incident and followed the boat to the landing stage.

Hundreds on the shore saw the speedboat slow down and stop. Prince Philip tinkered with the engine for some time but finally hailed a passing motorboat for a tow.

Queen To Balmoral For Vacation

LONDON (Reuters) — The Queen left by train Wednesday night for Balmoral, her Scottish residence, to begin her summer holiday. She was accompanied by Princess Anne.

Wearing a green and white silk summer dress with white accessories, the Queen acknowledged the cheers of a crowd of 2,000 at Euston Station with a smile and wave of the hand.

She arrived at the station only one minute before her train was due to leave.

Prince Philip and Prince Charles, who are at Cowes, Isle of Wight, for the Cowes regatta, will travel to Balmoral this weekend.

Against Suez Surcharge Dues

LONDON (Reuters) — World shipowners meeting in London declared Wednesday that they would oppose "most strongly" any attempt to cover the cost of clearing the Suez Canal by a surcharge on shipping fees.

The cost — $10,882,000 — has so far been met by loans from 10 shipping countries and repayment plans are now being considered by the United Nations.

Ike Asks $500,000 To Fight 'Flu

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower asked Congress Wednesday for $500,000 to enable the public health service to get set for any outbreak of Asian flu.

He also asked authority to use about $2,000,000 of public health service funds against such an epidemic if it begins to develop.

Surgeon - General Leroy E. Burney said last week "there is a very definite probability" of a large U.S. outbreak of the disease this fall or winter. He said he does not enticipate a high death rate.

Low Prices, Big Surplus, Hurt B.C. Copper Mines

By DAVID ROWNTREE

VANCOUVER (CP) — The glint is wearing off British Columbia's copper-mining future.

It sparkled most more than a year ago. The price was high and so was optimism.

Today, the falling price threatens to force the province's biggest producer to close down. Already, shrinking returns have been one factor in the closure of another property, B.C.'s second main copper source last year.

From its heady height of 45 cents a pound in the fall of 1955 and the spring of 1956, the price of copper has dropped 28½ cents. This low figure was announced Tuesday in New York by Phelps Dodge Corporation, the second largest copper company in the United States. Other firms followed the trend bringing the price in Canada—taking into account the premium on U.S. funds—to about 27 cents a pound.

A month ago Britannia Mining and Smelting Company said it may have to close its rich mine at Britannia Beach, 30 miles north of Vancouver on the shore of Howe Sound.

"We're trying to get the union order to operate a few more to take a 15-per-cent wage cut in order to operate a few more months and see what will happen to copper prices," said mine manager G. C. Lipsey.

"We're going to shut down unless they take a little less money for a while."

APPEALS TO OTTAWA

Mr. Lipsey said at the time no deadline had been set. The International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers (Ind.) has refused to agree to the thinner pay packet and has gone to Ottawa to urge the federal government to set a floor price for copper, zinc and lead and make it work by stockpiling these metals.

With the exception of a small mine at Greenwood, near Phoenix and about 150 miles east of Vancouver, the rest of the province's copper output is a by-product of other mines—lead, zinc and gold.

The future looked good a year ago when the Highland Valley area, centred on Kamloops in the southern interior, was the centre of a big prospecting drive. Phelps Dodge, Kennecott and other important American companies are behind some of the survey outfits.

"When the price gets below 30 cents," Mr. Lipsey of Britannia said, "it's murder."

Consumption—inflated by stockpiling and after the Korean War—ran ahead of supply from 1950 on, mining men explain. North American strikes in Chile and Africa to look ican producers were spurred by for new sources. A glut followed. Until demand can absorb the present supply, new mines are not likely to be opened.

LINEMAN INJURED AT CASTLEGAR

TRAIL, B.C. (CP) — A 29-year-old lineman employed by West Kootenay Power and Light Company is in fair condition in Trail-Tadanac Hospital following an accident at Castlegar Wednesday.

Polio Epidemic Threatens in Britain

LONDON (Reuters) — Figures reported here Wednesday night show Britain is threatened by her worst polio epidemic in seven years.

For the first 30 weeks of this year, there have been 2105 cases, 749 more than for the corresponding period last year, and more than in any year since 1950.

At least three provincial towns reported the disease is reaching epidemic proportions in their areas.

Senate Passes Rights Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate took the historic step Wednesday night of passing a civil rights bill for the first time in more than 80 years. But the effectiveness of the measure was sharply disputed. The vote was 72 to 18.

The bill now goes back to the House of Representatives for consideration of Senate changes which, while they forestalled a threatened filibuster by Southern legislators, have raised the threat of a presidential veto.

The House could accept the Senate measure and send it to President Eisenhower for his signature. Or, as seemed more likely, it could send the bill to a Senate - House conference committee in an effort to work out a compromise.

OPPOSE BANKS' CITIZENSHIP BID

MONTREAL (CP) — Strongly-worded opposition to Hal. C. Banks' bid to become a Canadian citizen figured Wednesday in the start of a hearing of the controversial labor leader's application for citizenship.

Mr. Banks, American - born head of the Canadian branch of the Seafarers' International Union (CLC), appeared before Judge Paul Fontaine in the Court of Canadian Citizenship.

After sitting for two hours, Judge Fontaine adjourned the hearing to Aug. 16.

Four actions of protestation were tabled against Mr. Banks' application.

They described Mr. Banks as a "tyrant and a bully." They testified he should be deported chiefly on grounds that he is a convicted felon who had faced numerous criminal charges in both the United States and Canada.

And in This Corner . . .

CHARLESTON (AP) — Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Null said the exterminator destroyed the termites as requested. The only trouble was that the house was destroyed, too.

The Nulls filed a $25,000 suit Tuesday against the West Virginia Terminix Co. and an employee, Frank Leach.

Leach went to the Null residence April 2 to spray for termites. The couple said he sprayed a chemical beneath the house while a pilot light was burning in a floor furnace.

The chemical spray ignited and the house was destroyed in the resulting fire, the Nulls said in their suit.

WEST LOOE, Eng. (AP) — A woman complained to the telephone company Tuesday that a shark was monopolizing the public phone booth near her house.

LONDON (AP) — Moscow radio reported today that the Soviet Union has produced a "milkionairess."

New Store Hours Said Terrible for Tourists

A "tremendous" tourist business here was foreseen Wednesday by R. D. Barnes, honorary secretary of the Nelson Chamber of Commerce. He said efforts should be made to encourage tourists here because Nelson is "tremendously short" of other business.

His remarks were made during a discussion by Chamber executive members of the new Monday store closing regulations. Mrs. R. H. Bradley, a store owner, said the agreement on Monday closing was the "first time" members of the Nelson Retail Merchants' Association had "co-operated."

City legislation provides for half-day closing, but many stores intended to close Monday mornings as well. At least one of these stores now is open Monday morning, according to Mrs. Bradley.

Mr. Barnes called the new regulation "something terrible," and told of a recent instance when a Spokane woman came to Nelson on the weekend to make a special purchase, but had to return empty-handed because of Monday store closing.

"The people are not swallowing it as a whole," W. R. Hunter thought. "If you're going to bring them in here, you've got to cater to them," stated Mr. Barnes.

John Learmonth said there is no bus service to Kaslo on Wednesdays, the former store holiday. It would take about 30 days to have schedules changed, he thought.

Possible six-day opening was suggested, and Mrs. Bradley felt "sure" merchants would consider any requests for a change. Chamber secretary Mrs. Elsie Christiansen said one hotel had reported it was losing business from travellers because of the new regulations.

"The day will come when you will want this industry," Mr. Barnes stated.

Harrison Reports On Foundation

W. H. Crossley attended his last luncheon meeting with the Nelson Rotary Club, at the Hume Tuesday. District supervisor with the Department of Social Welfare for Nelson and New Denver, Mr. Crossley is being transferred to a similar position in New Westminster.

Guest speaker was H. D. Harrison, who gave a complete report on Rotary Foundation Committee meetings, from which he has just returned, at Evanston, Illinois. This "truly international committee," of which Mr. Harrison is a member, is supported by six continents and offers scholarships to university post graduates throughout the six continents, thus enabling students to take advanced courses of study in a country other than their own.

This year in Rotary District 508 which includes Nelson, the opportunity for a complimentary Rotary Foundation scholarship will be awarded to some eligible young person. The one that will be chosen for this "Fellowship" award must be between the ages of 20 and 28," they must be a college graduate and familiar with the language of the foreign country to which they wish to go, it was explained.

Rotarians emphasized that the requirements for a scholarship are high. Qualifications considered in choosing a candidate not only require high academic rating but the student should also be active in extra curricula interests, including sports, theatre, publishing and debating. It was thought that competition will be strong.

Guests were George Pearsall of Trail; Norman Zacharias of White Rock, Warner Sanderman of Victoria, Edward Daloise of Rossland, Rev. Thomas Mitchell of Nakusp and Lew Harville of Richland, Washington.

Trail May Hold Vote On Time Next Month

A plebiscite may be held in Trail next month to determine reactions to adopting Mountain Standard Time all year around in West Kootenay, Mrs. W. J. VanMaarion, chairman of a committee investigating the feasibility of changing the time, told the Nelson Chamber of Commerce executive Wednesday afternoon.

Robert Foxall thought other localities would follow suit if Nelson decided on year-round fast time, but Mrs. VanMaarion emphasized her wish to promote "goodwill" with Trail, and not to adopt the new time unless the majority of West Kootenay residents favored it.

If the change is not made, West Kootenay clocks will switch back to Pacific Standard Time next month. This will put them one hour behind East Kootenay centres, who remain on Mountain Standard Time all the year.

Mrs. VanMaarion reported she had spoken to the president of the Trail Chamber, who is also chairman of the Mountain Standard Time committee of the Associated Boards of Trade and Chambers of Commerce of Southeastern B.C. Mayor L. A. Read of Trail, according to Mrs. VanMaarion, thought his council would not support a change.

Municipalities cannot sponsor plebiscites, Mrs. VanMaarion said, and she thought the Chamber would be the logical group to do the job. She hoped a meeting of municipal government heads and business representatives could be arranged while Hon. W. D. Black, MLA for Nelson-Creston, minister of municipalities, and provincial secretary, is here August 14 to 18.

R. D. Barnes suggested taking a "straw vote" when Nelson ratepayers vote on the bylaw to raise $162,000 for completion of the new Kootenay Lake General Hospital. This had been done before, and it was reported Nelsonites favored the new time.

$8800 Job Under Way On High School Grounds

Excavation work and landscaping began Wednesday morning on the L. V. Rogers High School grounds, by Associated Enterprises of Nelson who has been awarded the contract for $8819.

Two tenders were entered for the job of levelling the playgrounds, rebuilding the roadway, providing proper drainage and related construction. Associated Enterprises' tender has been submitted by the Nelson School Board to Victoria and approved by the Department of Education. The other tender was from Nelson contractor Laurence Simpson.

A. I. Collinson, Nelson School District maintenance supervisor, pointed out that this was more than a minor job of grading. Some parts will be cut down as much as 25 feet, including considerable rock removal. Some ravines must be filled as much as 20 or 25 feet.

One of the largest bulldozers in the district is working on the rugged terrain.

Bus Service Bad, Streets Poor, Citizens Untidy, Council Told

The Nelson Transit system will not make money until buses return to a 30-minute schedule, according to G.S. Mayo, 619 Mill Street.

It was the first of several subjects broached by Mr. Mayo at City Council meeting. Councillors agreed his complaints merited investigation.

Works superintendent E. E. Olson said the buses now have 45 minutes in which to complete their four-part run. He said return to 30-minute service would mean addition of another driver and another bus.

Mr. Mayo said he believed revenues would continue to decrease as long as present service is maintained. He also said that a person was liable to twist his ankle while alighting at the stop near Mr. Mayo's home. Efforts to get a stop at Latimer and Hall have been unsuccessful, he said, in spite of the fact that there were five consecutive intersection stops further uphill.

At present, "no one knows" when the buses are due, Mr. Mayo claimed. He proposed a 30-minute service with stops at every intersection, not every two or three. A lot of bus passengers are elderly, like himself, Mr. Mayo pointed out, and could not walk uphill a block or two.

Because of his inability to walk uphill, Mr. Mayo said he now has to walk six blocks to Baker Street to catch a bus to Fairview. He asked that steps be taken to make sure buses run on time, mentioning an instance recently where an NTS bus had reportedly left Baker Street a few minutes ahead of schedule.

WILL INVESTIGATE

Mayor Joseph Kary offered apologies if the council had been remiss. In regard to the bus stops, he promised, "we will take a look at that situation," with changes if thought advisable.

Mr. Mayo said he now spends about $3 or $4 monthly on taxis. Mayor Kary said pipeline installations had put the buses off schedule, but this work was completed now, and thought buses should not leave ahead of schedule. It was believed the driver's watch may have been wrong.

Stops at every intersection were "utterly impossible," the mayor thought. Mr. Mayo reminded council of an article in a national magazine some time ago praising the friendliness of Medicine Hat's bus service, which became a paying operation because of courtesies extended by drivers, such as stopping at every intersection and assisting women with parcels and children to get on and off the bus.

"We used to have bus drivers like that," Mr. Mayo said, but not now. "We'll give it another look," promised the mayor.

"What about the old post office?" was Mr. Mayo's second quary. Mayor Kary promised a decision on use of the old building, now owned by the city, before the end of this year.

SAYS ROADS POOR

Condition of city roads was his next complaint. He said it was a wonder bus springs were not broken. Mayor Kary said roads were bad in some respects, but reminded Mr. Mayo the city was going through one of the biggest public works programs in its history. Work was also being done by Inland Natural Gas in connection with laying their pipeline, the mayor added.

Ald. George Eckmier, public works chairman, said Williscroft Construction Company has a contract to repair crosscuts in roads caused by pipeline work.

The present building code was either "no good" or there were no proper inspections, according to Mr. Mayo. He said good residential areas were being turned into tenement areas.

Mayor Kary said the city used the national building code, and he would like to know if the inspections were not being carried out or were inadequate.

Council has asked people to tidy up their premises for the city's diamond jubilee, Mr. Mayo said, and he wondered why council did not set an example. He mentioned that a city employee cut grass on the boulevards with a scythe, and left the grass on the streets.

Home owners should be responsible for cutting grass on boulevards, Mr. Mayo thought. If they neglected this, the city should do it and charge the homeowners, he added.

Impossibility of hiring sufficient personnel to clean up the city was mentioned to Mr. Mayo, and Mayor Kary said he was "quite proud" of the way most citizens kept their property in order.

Nothing has been done about the sidewalk on the north side 700 block Mill Street, according to Mr. Mayo, with the result that "somebody's going to break their neck." He added, "nobody cares."

Works superintendent Olson said sidewalks were "very poor" in that area, and blamed the trouble on trees and improper construction when the walks were laid. Mayor Kary said there are no sidewalks in some parts of Nelson, and it was a question as to who should get them first. The city was now undergoing a large public works program.

Council is "very conversant" with many problems affecting citizens, the mayor said, and realized there are many problems still to be solved.

Continue Search For Fisherman

Search continued near Kootenay Bay Wednesday for fisherman William Toney of Spokane who has been missing since Sunday evening.

RCMP have still uncovered no proof of the apparent drowning on Kootenay Lake. Mr. Toney's rented boat, half submerged on the shore, with fishing tackle and lunch intact, were found Monday.

Ottawa Lab Tests Breakage

By JACK VAN DUSEN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP) — A rambling, unassuming network of buildings occupying most of a city block in downtown Ottawa houses a unique torture chamber for wood.

Here federal scientists meticulously manufacture every type of plywood and many wood products and then smash them with seemingly reckless abandon.

New packing cases containing anything from a television set to a washington machine are also put through tests at Canada's main forest products laboratory.

WIDE VARIETY

Just about every product in Canada's forest-based industry—from bits of plywood to house structures and from wood paints to techniques of wood engineering—is tested for use by the Canadian public.

A tour through the research centre, conducted by bustling Alfred Schryburt, 63-year-old wood specialist, takes the visitor through a maze of test tubes, small and massive machines, wood-drying furnaces, humidity rooms and machine and woodworking shops.

WELL-EQUIPPED

Plywood is manufactured in a completely equipped shop right from the log stage. One machine is capable of cutting strips from a log 1-500th of an inch thick.

A plywood molding press using electric heating can dry the glues in a piece of plywood in 60 seconds instead of the usual six hours and mold plywood in any shape.

Another room contains dozens of machines to determine the strength of woods by pulling, hammering, squeezing and twisting them. Glues in plywood are also tested this way.

The most striking "torture chamber," in the laboratory is a giant horizontal drum 14 feet high. Called the "hazard tester," it tosses crates of television sets, radios and stoves in about the same way a washing machine churns clothing.

SARGASSO REVISITED

Modern scientists say no sea monsters have been found in the calm, clear waters of the Sargasso Sea.

Rose Pass Trek Plans Reported

Satisfaction with arrangements for the Rose Pass trek, August 24 and 25, was expressed Wednesday by John Learmonth, chairman of Nelson Chamber of Commerce roads and bridges committee, at a meeting of the Chamber executive.

The trek is being made in cooperation with the Kimberley Board of Trade to determine feasibility of a new route to Kimberley. Several men have volunteered to go from here, and Mr. Learmonth is seeking representatives from Castlegar and Kaslo. Trails have been opened by the forestry department and guides have met to discuss the trip, Mr. Learmonth reported.

Bedding will be taken to Kimberley by bus and packed to the summit on horses. Mr. Learmonth advised taking along a rifle for protection in case a grizzly bear prowls around the party.

HEAVY FERRY TRAFFIC CONTINUES

"Bottlenecks" of traffic on the Balfour to Kootenay Bay ferry have been "pretty well taken care of now," according to John Learmonth, chairman, Nelson Chamber of Commerce roads and bridges committee.

Mr. Learmonth told the Chamber executive Wednesday some confusion had been caused lately because the highways department arranged for MV Balfour to make an extra morning trip as requested by the Chamber to take care of morning overloads, but deleted one night trip and did not change schedules on signs at ferry wharves.

Carryovers are "getting worse" on "good days," Mr. Learmonth said, adding the problem will increase as road access to the district is improved. When he was last here during the June federal election campaign, Hon. W. D. Black, MLA for Nelson-Creston, heard a request that the landing be changed from Balfour to Queen's Bay, thus shortening the route. He recommended the Chamber arrange to have surveys made by competent personnel. This has not been done.

C. W. Ramsden felt that ferry trip reports "tell the story well enough." Mr. Learmonth estimated the ferry's receipts now at between $1000 and $1300 per day.

Junior Girls At Koolaree

Following completion of the senior girls camp, over 70 junior girls and their leaders have now moved into Camp Koolaree. Because of space limitations it has been impossible to publish camp reports so far this week but junior girls camp items will be appearing in the next few days.

Council Jottings..

The illuminated "60" that glows from Gyro Park will shine over the City for the remainder of Nelson's Diamond Jubilee Year.

City Council, queried by light and power committee chairman Alderman C. F. Blakeman, instructed the electrical department to leave the sign up.

An offer by H. D. Dawson of Victoria to bear half the cost of building up a curb to eliminate a water drainage "nuisance" was accepted by Council. Mr. Dawson, a professional engineer and owner of the Annable block, suggested the sidewalk bordering the apartment building on Victoria Street be built up with asphalt so the inside edge would form a "true grade, and thus prevent the nuisance of water drainage" into the skylights of the basement suites. Council, although feeling temporary repairs were "false economy" because the entire block required rebuilding, approved the work. It would be at least two years before reconstruction of the walk could be done, it was said.

Payment of a $9087 insurance bill was approved.

Nels Leadholme of Beaver Falls was granted a licence to call on homes and clean rugs and chesterfields, and Mrs. S. L. Johnson, 806 Second Street, was granted a rooming house licence. The latter request has been approved by sanitarian Russell Davis.

Third reading of Bylaw 1258, raising councillors' indemnities as required under the new provincial Municipal Act, was approved, with Ald. McClelland objecting. First and second readings of Bylaw 1157, were approved.

Public works chairman Ald. Eckmier said arrangements have been made for a forestry expert to examine cottonwood trees at Lakeside Park.

Permission was given for city electrical superintendent A. C. VanSacker to attend a three-day course beginning September 30 at Vancouver, sponsored by a large electrical company.

The city has no dust-laying oil at the present time, according to E. E. Olson, works superintendent. He was speaking in answer to a request from H. J. Witchell, 307-A Carbonate Street, for a "good coat of oil" to settle dust in the lane by the former St. Paul's United Church. Mr. Witchell said this lane is the only access to his property.

* * *

A meeting of the committee of the whole was planned for next Monday night to discuss arrangements for the coming annual meeting of the Union of B.C. Municipalities here.

* * *

Mr. Olson will check a complaint by Ald. McClelland about a "very dangerous" sidewalk between Haldane Motors and Nelson Transfer. The works superintendent said a new sidewalk for this area is in the bylaw. Complaint about a "bad" water condition in the same area was the responsibility of the provincial government under their curb and gutter program, he told Ald. McClelland.

Six Fair Buildings Go Up at Thompson Park

INVERMERE — The new David Thompson Memorial Park will have six completely new buildings ready for the first Fall Fair at this site August 23 and 24.

The largest is the exhibition building which will house the competitive and industrial displays and exhibits and the fair office. Display booths for industrial exhibits have been snapped up but there is also space available outside the building for displays of automobiles and machinery.

The dining - bingo building is complete except for kitchen equipment which will be moved in shortly before the fair. The room will seat 150 people at a time with ample kitchen space for the serving of cafeteria meals to this number.

Two livestock buildings are under construction. They have been financed by the Windermere District Farmers' Institute.

Other buildings are for midway games and refreshment concessions.

With the construction and wiring of these buildings, the $8000 building program for 1957 will be completed. The buildings, together with well and irrigation system, fencing, purchase and survey of the land and incidental expenses will make the David Thompson Memorial Park approximately a $14,000 asset to the Valley.

Postal Business Triples at Moyie

MOYIE — The volume of business at the Moyie post office tripled last month. It amounted to more than $5000, compared with $1700 last year.

Road Closure Okayed By City

CRANBROOK — Cranbrook Cartage and Transfer Co. Ltd. application to the B.C. Forest Service for permission to close off during non-operating hours of its sawmill and logging operations in Gold Creek area the fire access road which also serves as access to the city's watershed on Gold Creek has been approved by City Council.

The lumber firm reports disappearance of supplies from its camp there, some vandalism and public negligence in fire precautions and for this reason is asking that the access road be barred to the public when it is not in use by its trucks and by city works department requirements. Barrier of posts with heavy chain and padlock is proposed to prevent traffic on this access sideroad.

Inquiry was considered by City Council from M. G. Klinkhamer and H. R. Mitchell as owners of a tract of extra-municipal land east of Cranbrook on the South Second Street extension concerning availability of city services for this area in the event of its subdivision for new housing construction. The project would require 1600 feet of main to supply the area from the city water system.

Additional Policing for Cranbrook Recommended to 1958 Council

CRANBROOK — Addition of a sixth man to the RCMP detachment for Cranbrook was recommended this week at the City Council meeting for consideration by the 1958 City Council when the budget for next year is being prepared. This action was strongly recommended by the RCMP commissioner in view of the volume of work handled by the detachment.

Commissioner recommendation that the RCMP be relieved of parking meter tagging was also accepted by the Council, who named R. L. DeArmond, Cranbrook recreational director, temporarily to attend to these duties until the end of November.

With fire chief James Gordon due for superannuation October 31, the meeting endorsed his apointment after that date as city staff inspector of buildings, plumbing, sewers and licences.

Assistant fire chief George Pask, who is due for superannuation November 30, was named by the meeting as city staff patrol officer for parking meters, with additional duties of collecting meter revenue and maintaining operations of the parking meters.

Application of Duncan-Miller Parking Meter Company Ltd. to install on a 90-day trial basis 10 meters which operate on one-and two-hour basis experimentally has been approved.

Golden Family Of Seven Lose All In Fire

GOLDEN — Mr. and Mrs. William McGrath and their five children lost all their possessions except the clothing they wore when fire completely demolished their farm home at Blarberry, 12 miles north of Golden on the big bend highway.

Friends here have established a depot at Nina's Specialty Shop in Golden to accept items for their re-establishment, including clothing for the five children who range in age from two to nine years.

Mr. McGrath, who operates the farm and works part-time at a nearby sawmill, was home with the two younger children when the fire broke out and was barely able to get them from the building before it was encu.fed. Mrs. McGrath and the three older children were in Golden at the time. The family is staying temporarily with Golden friends Mr. and Mrs. W. Lumsden.

Mrs. Pearson Dies, Kimberley

KIMBERLEY — Funeral services were held here for Mrs. Kate Davies Pearson, 54, who died in Kimberley and District Hospital where she had been a patient for the past month.

Rev. F. A. McPhee officiated, and interment was in the Kimberley Cemetery.

Mrs. Pearson was born at Muirkirk, Scotland, and came to Kimberley with her family in 1929 to join her husband.

Surviving are her husband, three sons and three daughters, Joe, Alex and Marion at home at Marysville, Edward in Marysville, Mrs. Helen Middleton of Agincourt, Ont., and Mrs. Euphemia Lundhal of Duncan, V.I., also a half-brother in Scotland and five grandchildren.

Injuction Granted In Fruitvale Case

ROSSLAND (CP) — Joseph Lepine of Trail was restrained Tuesday by county court injunction from trespassing and cutting timber on a tract of land at nearby Fruitvale.

The injunction was granted to brothers James and Alexander Bell, owners of the property, in a written judgement handed down by His Honor Judge Eric P. Dawson of Nelson.

Coal Company Launch Suit Against Gov't

VICTORIA (CP) — The British Columbia cabinet has granted a petition of right to the Crows Nest Pass Coal Company of Fernie to sue the government.

The mining firm sought action against the government for opening 611,000 acres in southeastern B.C. to oil and gas right bidding. The company claims oil and gas rights were included in a parcel of land granted it before 1900.

Deputy Mines Minister Dr. John F. Walker, who arrived here Tuesday night, said that regardless of previous legislation, "all petroleum and natural gas reserves were reserved to the Crown ever since the Land Act was amended in 1891."

Dr. Walker said exploration rights have been granted by the government to two oil companies to search for petroleum and natural gas fields in the Fernie area.

The case will go to the courts immediately, Dr. Walker said.

It was believed the predecessor to the company now holding the property received the land as a grant for building a railroad line. Under the old Railways Aid Act the land included liberal rights to natural resources.

City Approves Centennial Plan

CRANBROOK — The Cranbrook Centennial Committee recommendation that the Dr. F. W. Green centennial project eligible for a Home be Cranbrook's permanent 60 cents per capita grant from the B.C. Centennial Committee has been approved by City Council, and the recommendation will be forwarded to the B.C. committee.

The per capita grant to be given the approved project in each committee area totals $3652.80 for Cranbrook, conditional on the local area at least matching this amount in some way and also on completion of the project for whatever purpose it will fill by the end of the province's centennial year, 1958.

Whether the city will match this amount will be left to decision by the 1958 Council in drawing up its budget.

Three Natal Anglers Catch Big Char

NATAL — Three Natal-Michel englers, Louis (Popeye) Fontana, Charlie Anselmo and Fred (Ticky) Fontana had a successful fishing trip up the North Fork.

They caught 12 char or bull trout, three of these fish weighing 14 pounds each. Big fish to be caught in the nearby streams are getting scarcer every year.

SHOT BY FIRE

KANSAS CITY (AP)—A fire Tuesday sent James Barnes to the hospital with a bullet wound. Police said the 53-year-old man fell asleep while smoking a cigaret, setting the mattress afire. The heat exploded cartridges in a .22-calibre revolver he kept under his pillow, and the bullet entered his upper right arm.

Fruitvale Shops Bylaw Given Three Readings

FRUITVALE — Shops Regulations Bylaw was given its three readings at a meeting of the Fruitvale Village Commissioners and will be sent to Victoria for approval.

Road and lights committees reports by Commissioner Alfred Nuttall mentioned the drainage problem from the post office to the corner had been corrected, and that the road linking Hillcrest and Nelson Avenues was being finished as the buildings which had been in the way had now been moved. Cement facings were being constructed at all the culverts. He also reported that the new grader would be in by the end of the week.

Due the poor servicing of faulty streetlights, Mr. Nuttall reported that the lights committee were planning on taking this over and employing one of the village employees to do this, having him secure the necessary training for this.

Commissioner Arthur Borrow reported that approximately 75 per cent of current year's taxes had been collected and about 85 per cent of the delinquent ones. This is to the end of July and present indications are that nearly all taxes would be paid by the end of August. There are 10 delinquent trade licenses and the holders have been given 48 hours to pay or face prosecution.

Four building permits for alterations, totalling $3000 were approved.

The commissioners were informed that the X-ray Travelling Unit would be in Fruitvale the afternoon of August 23. This has been made possible through the Fruitvale Rotary Club and it was hoped every citizen would take advantage of this service.

English Buddhist Returns to West

By BRUCE RUSSELL

BANGKOK, Thailand (Reuters) An Englishman who has travelled through the countries of Southern Asia barefoot with a begging bowl is about to return to the Western ways of life.

Anthony Miles, who for four years has been the Buddhist monk Bhikkhu Mahinda, has announced he has disrobed and is considering going to either England or Australia.

Miles, 46, was born in England and emigrated to Australia in 1952. A student of Buddhism for some time, he left Australia for India in 1953 with the idea of becoming a monk.

LIVED ON CHARITY

Since his ordination in Ceylon in 1953, he says, he has travelled through Ceylon, Burma, East Pakistan and Thailand dressed in the Buddhist monk's yellow robes and living much of the time on the charity of the villages through which he passed.

"One of the reasons I have given up being a monk," he explained, "is that I did not find the religion in these countries quite what I had expected from my studies of Buddhism in Australia. Also, I got so thin on the food I could afford to buy for myself and what was offered to me that a month ago I looked nothing better than a skeleton."

Miles said that when he first became interested in Buddhism, "I felt that Buddhism answered the problems of life which most philosophies did not, and would give a man the peace of mind he sought and so seldom attained."

While he was in Bombay, he visited a number of yogis and sages. "But I did not find that they had very much to contribute as far as I was concerned.

"There is no doubt the secluded and quiet life does add much to your mental abilities and gives you peace of mind. But to live this life you must have reasonable supplies of necessities—clothing and food. If you have not got these, you find you are continually distracted from the holy life and become concerned with an empty stomach."

HUNGARIAN IMMIGRANTS SENTENCED IN SUICIDE ATTEMPT AT CRESTON

CRESTON — Two Hungarian immigrants figured in provincial court cases heard Monday by Stipendiary Magistrate Guy Constable.

Leslie Maka of Creston was placed on one year's suspended sentence for making threatening remarks to a Hungarian woman, and the woman was placed on six-month's suspended sentence for attempted suicide. Both pleaded guilty. The incidents took place about a week ago.

It was reported that Maka had been "making advances" toward the woman, and had threatened to kill her if she refused to submit. The woman allegedly swallowed a bottle of aspirins, and was taken to hospital.

An interpreter was needed.

Authorities declined to release the name of the woman.

Calgary Scouts To Paddle Canoes to Thompson Fete

INVERMERE (CP) — A group of Calgary Boy Scouts will participate in the David Thompson Sesquie-Centennial celebrations to be held in the Windermere this month.

Instead of their annual camp, several canoeloads of boys from the 27th Calgary troop will paddle their way down the Columbia River.

The Scouts will motor to Windermere and camp overnight August 16. The next day they will start their canoe trip at Canal Flat at the southern extremity of Columbia Lake, where the tiny stream that is the beginning of the Columbia flows into the lake.

Their canoes will be named and decorated in observance of the 150th anniversary of David Thompson's first visit to this valley.

The lead canoe, named "Koo-Koo-Sint"—the name given Thompson by the Indians and meaning the man who looks at stars — will have a carved head representing the explorer on its bowsprit.

Second canoe, named Charlotte T, will bear a head representing Thompson's wife; the third will represent the white trader Jacco Findlay who accompanied Thompson and the fourth will be named for the Indian warrior Kinbasket.

After exploring the Columbia at the Lake Windermere end for six days, the party will return to Windermere for the official opening of the new David Thompson Memorial Park during the East Kootenay Fall Fair and Industrial Exhibition.

On the Saturday following the fair, the Calgary boys will join Lake Windermere Scouts in a bonfire pow wow at which the guest of honor will be Kerry Wood of ReRd Deer, Alta., author of "The Mapmaker," a book about David Thompson.

Coal Miners, Families To Picnic Sunday

NATAL — The Michel local, United Mine Workers of America, will hold its annual picnic at Crow's Nest on the B.C. side of the border Sunday. For the children a complete program of races will be held, and for the adults, a horseshoe pitching contest and a bocche (Italian bowling) tournament. Plenty of free ice cream and soft drinks will be given out.

This picnic replaces the former Christmas for children.

EARLY RAILWAY

Montreal and Toronto were first connected by railway in 1856.

Queen Thanks Society for Stamps

INVERMERE — The Windermere District Historical Society, which sent first day covers of the David Thompson commemorative stamp to Queen Elizabeth, has received the following communication from Buckingham Palace:

"The private secretary is commanded by the Queen to thank the Stamp Committee of the Windermere District's Local History Society for the First Day Covers and plate blocks of stamps which they have sent for Her Majesty's acceptance."

It was addressed to Mrs. R. B. Harris who was convener of the David Thompson stamp committee.

HOMING PIGEON CALLS AT NELWAY.

NELWAY—A homing pigeon landed at the home of M. E. Winter near here, stayed a day or so, then left.

Residents of the home where the bird landed believe the band number of the bird's leg read 56-12358. They were not certain, however, because they hesitated touching the pigeon in case they scared it away.

The day after arriving at the Winters home. the bird began cooing for feed.

Up-To-Date Hospital Equipment Essential

The Hon. W. D. Black, MLA for Nelson-Creston, has offered the co-operation of his department in expediting approval of bylaws from the City of Nelson and the Hospital Improvement District to raise $360,000 for the completion of the Kootenay Lake Hospital as originally planned with four storeys and 130 beds.

The Hospital Committee feel that now is the proper time to complete the building as planned. At this time the government will contribute two-thirds of the costs, and if delayed to later years this will not be the case. They feel strongly that building costs will rise in the coming years and that the number of patients is increasing.

These are all good arguments for the completion of the building at this time, and there is also the great inconvenience it would occasion to patients and hospital staff should it be necessary to expand while the hospital is in use.

The bylaw provides for considerably more than the straight building. Much of the old equipment has to be refurbished, and this will cost in the neighborhood of $15,000. There is $28,000 to be paid for X-ray equipment and $82,000 for laboratory equipment. Of all this the government pays sixty per cent, which makes the charge to the taxpayers considerably less.

It is, of course, impossible to operate a good hospital building without the necessary and up-to-date equipment, and it appears that without this bylaw our new hospital will not be able to operate with as much success, which makes the matter of the passing of the bylaw of considerable importance to the taxpayers.

Immigration Slow-Down

Most recent estimates place potential immigration into Canada this year at 265,000 to 275,000. As 175,000 entered in the first six months, this prediction is not a reckless one.

Evidently it has had a frightening effect on the government at Ottawa. Steps have been taken to slow down the immigration pace. Those planning to come on "open placements", except from the British Isles, other parts of the Commonwealth, France or the United States, will be restricted. This category involves those who have no relations here, no sponsors or no immediate job prospects.

This decision may seem born out of weakness rather than strength. Rather than welcoming all good immigrants and trying to fit them into our economy, the government is limiting the number just when the supply of immigrants is at its best.

The reason is clear. The government fears winter unemployment. The working force has been increasing in recent months more rapidly than job opportunities. This could build up into a nasty situation next winter.

There are two sides to this issue. The slowdown will discourage many fine potential citizens from coming. Canada may lose some of them forever.

But it is not doing any immigrant, or Canada, any good to let him enter if there isn't a reasonable chance of him getting work. Large scale unemployment reacts quickly against immigration. Word gets back overseas and scares many who were planning to come.

Immigrants make work as well as take work; they are consumers as well as producers. The biggest waves of immigrants to this continent usually have coincided with periods of prosperity and contributed to it.

There may, however, be brief periods when the intake will be larger than the economy easily can absorb. This year the inflow has been unusually high (only in four years prior to World War I has Canada received more than 265,000 annually). This is due largely to the great increase from the United Kingdom subsequent to the Suez fiasco and to Canada's reception of Hungarian refugees.

An immigration policy should conform to Canada's needs and economic capacity. These needs and that capacity are not necessarily the same from year to year. There is no need to quarrel with government action which adjusts the inflow to conditions. That is, provided the over-all long-range policy is to accept as many as possible of the best type of immigrants who will contribute most to Canada.—Windsor Star.

Random Corner

By GRETCHEN GIBSON

It has been said that the "unpredictable" has had more influence on the course of history than the most carefully laid plans of mankind.

* * *

One July afternoon about two years ago, sitting in the bus at the ferry stop (while the driver waited for the chance passenger from the North Shore), I watched a man setting up a tripod.

"Perhaps a press photographer," I thought (of course I should have known better). "Wonder what he's taking?"

As if I had spoken aloud, the driver remarked casually, "There's the beginning of the bridge; they're taking the first sights."

The words startled me—so quiet a beginning for so important an undertaking—no fanfare—no excitement.

I stared at the houses across the street. There they stood, on that lovely summer day, surrounded by well-kept lawns and flower beds, and as I looked the thought about the unpredictable popped into my head. At the time there had been a good deal of talk about the removal or destruction of these houses. How impossible it would have been when they were built to predict such a thing, and who could guess what influence the enforced removal would have upon the lives of their occupants? As we started along, the man with the tripod had become in my imagination a cog in the wheel of the unpredictable, and this beginning of his work a dramatic moment in the construction of our bridge.

Now the houses are gone, and their people are living in other locations. Also, there have been many dramatic moments in the construction of the bridge—the planting of the first pier, the first clank of steel unloaded from a flat car, the first arch or triangle erected with its bright orange against the spring green of Mount Nelson—but to my mind the only moment that can compare in drama to that quiet commencement will be when those two approaching arms meet and clasp and Nelson and the North Shore are at last united. ("Wouldn't it be awful if they didn't meet!" someone remarked the other day.)

But to go back to the "unpredictable": Will it be, I wonder, the expected changes the bridge will make to our community, or the unguessable eventualities, that will have the greater influence on our future?

Editorials Criticized

To the Editor:

Sir—As a long-time subscriber to the Nelson News, may I be permitted to comment on the marked decline in the quality of its editorials?

Indeed, so trashy and misleading have been some of them lately that one might well suspect some unfriendly stranger to the district had been responsible for them.

There could be no better example of what I mean than the two atrocious blurbs appearing in your issue of Thursday, July 25, headed, "Vernon Street Can Be Made Show Place" and "Bonspiel Committee Sets Precedent."

Reading the former, one not acquainted with the facts would get the distinct impression that the alteration of Vernon Street was something right heartily approved of, and eagerly awaited by, the Nelson populace.

In actual fact, however, the improvements (?) seem generally regarded by citizens and outsiders alike as something that has been foisted upon the taxpayers by their City Council by connivance with, and at the behest of, the "ballyhoo boys", or so-called service clubs.

The general feeling, moreover, seems to be that had the citizens been given a clear opportunity to vote yes or no on the matter, before it was too late, Vernon Street would still be beautiful.

Whether this be so or not, smug, self-righteous, but unmistakable editorial sneers at those worthy citizens who were overridden in their efforts to promote the democratic procedure of a civic plebiscite on the matter are uncalled for and obnoxious to all fair-minded people, whatever their convictions about the Vernon Street improvements (?) may be.

With regard to the Summer Bonspiel, I am quite sure that everyone was delighted to see the new committee do so well. The fact still remains, however, that they "rode to victory on someone else's horse."

Surely no sane person could possibly believe the Mid-Summer Bonspiel could have broken even had it not been for the tremendous amount of spade work done by the previous committee!

Those who instituted the Mid-Summer Bonspiel, advertised it, and brought it to the pitch of success, so that even a green committee was able to operate it this year without going in the red, performed a splendid service for Nelson as well as for curlers throughout the land.

Your slighting remarks about "diversions into the larger field of city publicity and grandiose ideas unconnected with curling", and in fact your whole effort to editorially belittle that splendid service, was in my humble opinion very low, to say the least.

Quite the crumbiest piece of journalism I can recall in all my years of reading the Nelson Daily News.

JOHN WELLS.

Nation of Shopkeepers

England, said Napoleon, is a nation of shopkeepers. And that's how the small shopkeepers of England want it to stay.

Currently, they are incensed by the spread of supermarkets, which they view as a threat to street-corner shops the length of Britain, where shopping is social and bills are paid once weekly.

Herman Kent, who is spokesman for 63,000 members of the National Federation of Grocers and Provision Traders, sees the supermarket as "the growing Americanization of our food industry" and urges: "Don't let us have sold to us American ideas."

He wants curbs put on this new (for Britain) shopping outlet.

However, Mr. Kent is on the defensive, for the British Productivity Council has stated quite clearly that one-stop shopping provided by supermarkets would increase in favor in Britain.

The Council's chairman, Lord McCorquodale, just does not agree with the little shopkeepers' appraisal of the supermarket.

In fact, he praises the Americans. The "whole drive to greater productivity" was promoted by "American generosity" in cooperating with the British and sharing knowledge.—Toronto Telegram.

Your Individual HOROSCOPE

By Frances Drake

Look in the section in which your birthday comes, and find what your outlook is, according to the stars,

For Friday, August 9, 1957

MARCH 21 to APRIL 20 (Aries)—Take things easily and they will run more smoothly. You can direct with greater effect when you appear NOT to be directing a talent to develop.

APRIL 21 to MAY 21 (Taurus)—Some unexpected situation may arise which will have to be handled adroitly. Don't act without deliberation. Jumping at conclusions could lead to trouble.

MAY 22 to JUNE 21 (Gemini)—Be careful how you spend your free time; be discriminating, too, in your choice of activities. Don't waste time on non-essentials. But do rest some.

JUNE 22 to JULY 23 (Cancer)—Be as diplomatic as possible now. Others may not feel up to par and you can help situations by easing tension, keeping discussions on an impersonal basis and talking sense spreading good cheer.

JULY 24 to AUGUST 23 (Leo)—Don't permit anything to dull your wits or damper your enthusiasm. While others relax you can move forward at double-quick time, but don't overdo things. Honest effort will bring rewards.

AUGUST 24 to SEPTEMBER 23 (Virgo) — This day calls for close attention to assigned duties. A diplomatic approach will eradicate possible tensions. Be cheery!

SEPTEMBER 24 to OCTOBER 23 (Libra) — Be your natural, pleasant, discerning self. Kind words and thoughtful acts keep order and harmony. Contentment and satisfaction can be yours through earnest effort.

OCTOBER 24 to NOVEMBER 22 (Scorpio) — Challenging an interesting influences but also tricky in spots. If you keep cool and get facts straight, however, you can achieve a great deal, possibly make new, advantageous connections.

NOVEMBER 23 to DECEMBER 21 (Sagittarius) — This day promises much good for those who maintain a constructive, productive pace but who don't overdo or become easily irritated. Review plans to make sure you are on the right track.

DECEMBER 22 to JANUARY 20 (Capricorn) — Fine Saturn influence. You should do very well if tasks are managed and allocated properly and sufficient time is given to advance planning. Avoid worry.

JANUARY 21 to FEBRUARY 19 (Aquarius) — This may not be an entirely easy day but if you are sharp and attentive you can certainly garner much of the good about. Several aspects favor both hard and easy tasks.

FEBRUARY 20 to MARCH 20 (Pisces) — Mixed influences now. Much is up to you, what your day requires, and how you fit things in. There's no need to rush or worry. Tomorrow offers new opportunity. Be serene.

YOU BORN TODAY are innately interesting, gay; also deeply sensitive and intelligent. Often I have found Leoites the funsters of the world — natural, delightful folk. You make very capable leaders in business or military fields; are courageous, daring and roundly capable and resourceful. All this, of course, if you are living true to your finer self. It is important to your health, happiness and achievement that you direct emotions carefully, curb appetites.

Birthdate of Izaak Walton, English essayist and poet; John Dryden, English poet laureate.

TODAY'S BIBLE THOUGHT

He that hath seen me hath seen the Father; and how savest thou then, show us the Father? John 14:9.

Christ did not speak his own words, nor did he perform mighty works himself, it was Gods words he spoke and Gods miracles of by the Father. He said he was the first born of many brethern. Paul did mighty works because he said it is no longer I that live but Christ that dwelleth in me. All we need do is say COME IN, to him that stands at the door and knocks.

150 Guides, Brownies At Camp Rory Season

District of Trail, Warfield and Rossland Brownies and Guides have completed a successful camping season at Camp Rory. Approximately 150 girls and adults attended the three Pack holiday camps for Brownies, one five day camp, and one weekend camp for Guides.

Brownies attended Fairyland Camps as Daisies, Black Eyed Susans, Bluebells, Buttercups, Goblins, Gnomes, Pixies, Squirrels, Bunnies and Chipmunks from the following Packs — First Trail, First and Second Warfield, Frist, Second, Third and Fourth Rossland. Brownies, unlike Guides do not camp on a competitive basis, but work on a co-operative program, each doing her best. Each Brownie received an elve figurine for her effort put forth.

Handicrafts based on the fairyland theme as well as song books, the latter giving the Brownies many new songs, singing games and dances, highlighted this year's program. Work covered was care and safety needed in fire laying and lighting, compass work and good health rules.

Swimming, the focal point of all campers, occupied two sessions each day. Miss Glenda Card of First Rossland Company, holder of swimmers and life savers badges, instructed the Brownies. Brownies qualifying for their swimmers badges were Roberta Bowcock, Carol Birkin, Pat Bantan, Dorothy Jean Cant, Shirley Simard, Mary Hutchenson, Penny Woodward, Helen Metcalfe, Jennifer Cross, Jeanne Bailey and Sandra Bayley.

Hikes, picnic suppers and a Sunday in camp meant Brownies Own Service rounded out a full program.

Guides assisting as Junior Leaders are the big sisters in the Brownie program and are invaluable to the adult leaders. The Guides attending were Kathleen Jackson, Sharon Bell, Julie Bower of the First Trail Company; Bevan Bertoia, Virginia Ianson, Jo Hutchenson, Marilyn Smith of the First Rossland Company; Joyce Owen, Claire Sankey of the First Warfield Company; Alice Haines and Frances Knowler of the First Fruitvale Company.

The final evening at camp meant fun, skits and sing-song. As singing was the highlight of the Brownies program, the Guides entertained the Brownies with the singing of traditional Guide songs.

Adult members assisting were Mrs. P. Berry, Brown Owl, Second Rossland Pack; Mrs. J. D. Ianson, Tawny Owl, First Rossland Pack; Mrs. Sam Martin, Brown Owl, First Trail Pack; Mrs. G. Wilby, Tawny Owl, First Glenmerry Pack; Mrs. R. Bertoia, Rossland; Mrs. P. Welsh, Rossland; and Mrs. H. Archibald, Warfield. Mrs. H. V. Quain, holder of pack holiday license and first aid certificate, was commandant for the three Brownie camps.

GUIDES ENTHUSIASTIC

The Patrol System and great out of doors are the basis of Guiding, and camping brought realism to the year's program. Hiking, trail laying, outdoor cooking, different types of fires, tent pitching and striking, use of ropes, knots and lashing of usable gadgets plus the comradeship of camp-fire singing were carried out at both the weekend camp and the five day camp for Guides. Mrs. Dora Flanagan, captain of First Rossland Company, was commandant for both the camps. Forty-three girls attended, comprising members of the First Rossland Company, First Warfield Company and First Trail Company. Patrol leaders were Alice Haines, April Hall, Janet Jackson and Heather Welsh.

Competition ran high and points gained were close. The winning patrol for the five day camp was Alice Hainer, Joyce Owen, Jo Hutchenson, Claire Sankey, Judy Green and Bernice Martin.

Swimming under the direction of Mrs. O. Owen was the time for real fun, and the following Guides passed for their first class swimming test; Leona Simard, Shirley Owen, Fern Mays, Virginia Ianson, Judy Green, Jo Hutchenson and Linda Green. Many second class and first class tests were passed by Guides while at Camp.

Members assisting Mrs. Flanagan at the weekend camp were Mrs. O. Owen, lieutenant of First Warfield Company; Miss Colleen Bocock, lieutenant of the First Rossland Company, and Miss Frances Thompson, First Rossland Company.

Members assisting at the five-day camp were co-leader Mrs. O. Owen, Miss Pat McMaster, Lieutenant, First Trail Company, Mrs. Jo Slywka, Mrs. Quain, Commissioner, and Mrs. J. W. Dunlop.

GOLD CORD PRESENTED

The highest award to a Guide is the gold cord, and as camp is a "must" before the cord can be presented, the setting was ideal for the awarding to Frances Thompson, First Rossland Company, of her gold cord by Mrs. Quain, the retiring District Commissioner.

As the final day neared, preparations for the traditional masquerade, skits and campfire were readied. That evening many visitors joined. A special evening it turned out to be, with the presentation of the gold cord, presentation of gifts to both Mrs. D. Flanagan and Mrs. Quain by Mrs. G. Kent and Mrs. G.L. Green on behalf of the Rossland Brownie and Guide mothers. The Rossland Local Association members prepared and served refreshments to both campers and visitors.

Canada's Military History Marked With Disagreement in Joint Staffs

By DAVE McINTOSH
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP)—For the first time in peacetime, Canada has committed troops to the authority of a single foreign power.

Officials here say this is probably the most significant factor in establishment of a supreme command at Colorado Springs, Colo., for Canadian and United States air defence forces. The commander will be an American air force general with Air Marshal Roy Slemon of the RCAF as his deputy.

This arrangement gives the American commander authority to commit Canadian airmen to battle. The chief reason is, of course, that in event of an air assault on North America there would be no time for consultation with the Canadian government on commitment of Canadian servicemen to action.

There is no definite precedent for such placing of Canadian troops under authority of a foreign power, a move which was long resisted by the Liberal government when it was in power.

However, officials point out, Canada has committed troops to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization. NATO's supreme commander presumably would consult the Canadian government before sending Canadian forces into action—if there were time.

One official laughingly commented that it might be said that Canadian commanders have more trouble than foreigners when it comes to committing Canadians to action.

DROPPED COMMAND

Canadian military history is littered with disagreements between Canadian and British commanders. Gen. McNaughton threw up command of the 1st Canadian Army in the Second World War partly as a result of disagreement with the government and the British war office over the splitting off of two divisions to fight in Italy. McNaughton wanted to keep his army intact for the invasion of Normandy.

An official army history states that Maj.-Gen. E. L. M. Burns, now commander of the United Nations Emergency Force in Egypt, lost command of 1st Canadian Corps in Italy through inability to get along with British generals.

Canadians have always fought under other than Canadian top command. In the First World War, it was two years before a Canadian rose to command the Canadian Corps in France and even then he was under British Command.

In the Second World War, 1st Canadian Army fought under Viscount Montgomery's generalship in northwest Europe and the RCAF came under operational control of the RAF.

"The situation has always been like this," one informant said. "But we have a small population and you can't expect the tail to wag the dog."

GRAND BANKS PARCHED

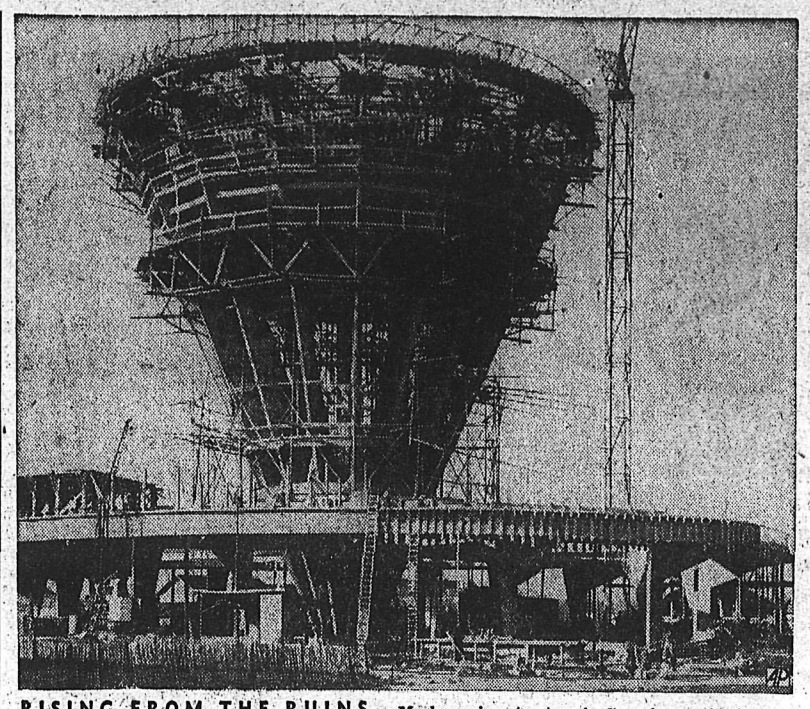
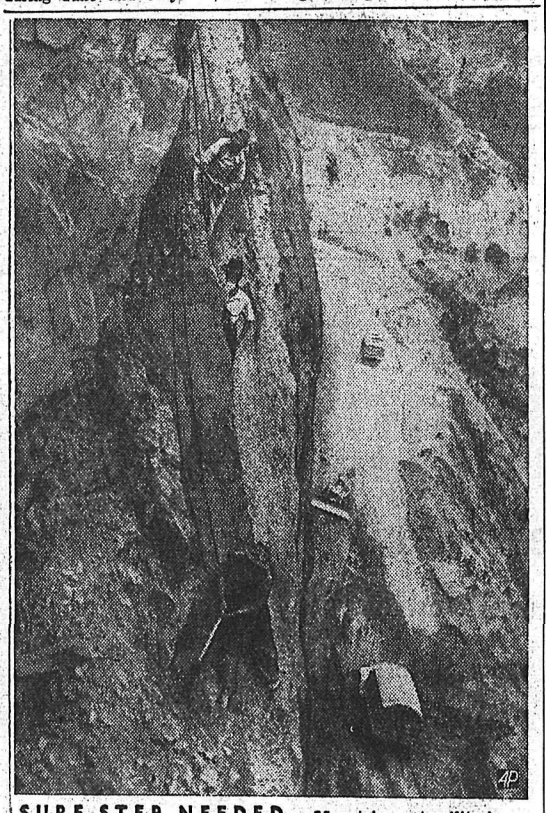
GRAND BANK, Nfld. (CP)—Reports from communities along the south coast of Newfoundland say they are parched from lack of rain. Boats and trucks are being used to haul water from one community to another. An emergency generator went into use after the river dipped too low to turn out electricity. Town officials said it rained only six days during June and July.



RISING FROM THE RUINS — Mushrooming structure in Caen is a water tank and the hub of an administrative center within the ancient Norman city ruined during last war.



SURE STEP NEEDED — Mountain goat agility is a requisite for workmen smoothing side of cliff to prevent rains from causing landslides on new Colombian mountain highway.

Business Spotlight . . .

Mr. Average Man Sees Inflation, Deflation as Causing Headaches

By FORBES RHUDE
Canadian Press Business Editor

Today's inflation is difficult to assess.

It is difficult to say to what extent it is due to an undesirable rise in prices and how much to a wider range of activity which requires an increased amount of currency.

Let us take an extreme case of deflation—the opposite of inflation.

Let us imagine that through some process of financial legerdermain — or of the depression—the buying power of the dollar was so increased that $1 would buy as much as the current $100 . . .

That would mean that a man who today earns $500 a month would earn $5 a month in buying power.

It would mean that a car which might be purchased today for $2,500 could be bought for $25; or that a house which might be purchased today for $15,000 could be bought for $150.

It would also mean that an article which today might be bought for $1 would cost one cent; and that a newspaper, for instance, which sells for five cents, would sell for one-twentieth of a cent.

NEW MEANING

In such a situation the word "dollar" would take on a new meaning of relatively astronomical heights and the word "cent" would take on the same meaning as the word "dollar" today.

Obviously, in such a situation, our present coinage of dollars and cents would be inadequate for the convenient transaction of business and we would have to issue coins in terms of fractions of cents.

Or, take a less extreme example out of living memory. Take the man who in the early years of the century made, say, $75 a month.

Such a man, in those days, was relatively prosperous. He could own his own home and live in what were considered comfortable circumstances.

Would it have been practicable, however, to have held his salary at $75 a month and enable him to have added all the things that in the meantime are considered necessary to a good standard of living?

It seems unlikely that it would have been practicable unless, through extraordinary circumstances, prices had dropped further and the value of his $75 had been still further increased.

USING ALL

For, chances are, he was living up to his $75 in buying the conveniences of his day—without adding automobiles, radio and television, electric refrigerators, washers and dryers and scores of other items considered ordinary conveniences today.

Assuming, however, he received moderate increases to his $75, without the dollar's buying power changing, perhaps he could buy all these things.

But, again, we must ask: Would all these developments and their marketing have been practicable in terms of early-century dollars?

There may be answers to such questions but they seem to be rarely considered.

Given such instances, the advocates of continuing inflation may ask:

What is the difference between regarding, say $2, $5 or $100 in the same fashion as we used to regard $1, and regarding one cent in the same fashion as we used to value $1? Isn't it a matter of what monetary terms we get used to?

These questions and examples are not intended to under-estimate the dangers of real inflation, but only to illustrate some of its complexities.

For, beyond doubt, the greatest danger to the average person in these post-war years has been and is inflation—the erosion of the value of his work in terms of what it will buy.

Empire Loyalist Fined For Slap

By HAL COOPER

LONDON (AP) — A slap heard round the world added fresh fuel today to the fuss over the peer who criticized the Queen.

On the receiving end of the blow was 33-year-old Lord Altrincham, the blue-blooded magazine editor who sent eyebrows and tempers soaring last week with an article panning the public speaking, interests and advisers of Queen Elizabeth.

On the delivery end was 64-year - old Philip Kinghorn Burbridge, a small but doughty retired merchant seaman.

Police who rushed up after the one-blow incident outside a broadcasting studio Tuesday night ordered the ex-sailor to tell it to the judge in Bow Street criminal court today. Burbridge was charged with insulting behavior.

MADE MORE SQUALID

The court fined him £1 when he appeared this morning. Magistrate Sir Laurence Dunne said: "Your action only made a most unsavory episode more squalid. In a case like this, it is the weight of public opinion that counts, and not making a brawl of it."

Burbridge, said he earned £7 a week as a representative of the League of Empire Loyalists, told the magistrate:

"Such actions are foreign to my nature. Due to the scurrilous attack by Lord Altrincham I felt it was up to decent Britons to show some resentment.

"What I feared most was the overseas repercussion and the publication in the American newspapers."

Earlier he had told reporters: "I did what Prince Philip wanted to do but couldn't."

After today's court hearing, Burbridge said:

"I have made the gesture and I think there are millions who would like to have done the same."

He also told reporters that he has to look for a new apartment.

"My landlady doesn't seem to like so much publicity," explained the short, bespectacled bachelor.

The loyalists league's deputy chairman, Austen Brooks, indicated the organization will repay Burbridge his fine.

"I travel around the country just trying to stir up some interest in the work of the league," Burbridge said as he walked away from the court building. A woman ran up, seized his hand and said, "let me congratulate you."

Thousands Greet Russ Leader In E. Berlin

BERLIN (CP)—Russia's Communist party boss, Nikita Khrushchev, arrived in East Berlin Wednesday for a one-week tour of restive East Germany.

Missing this time was his usual travelling partner, Premier Bulganin, who stayed in Moscow, increasing Western speculation that his days as premier may be numbered. Instead, First Deputy Premier A. I. Mikoyan accompanied the party chief.

Thousands of East Berliners, summoned by their Red rulers, turned out along the flag - bedecked streets to greet the nine-man Russian delegation.

Khrushchev and his party flew through cloudy skies in a TU-104 jet airliner into East Berlin's suburban Schoenefld Airport. The Russians then took a special train to the East Berlin railway station, where a massive welcoming ceremony was staged.

MNY GUARDS

Thousands of Communist security guards lined the rail spur from Schoenefeld and the railway station. East Germany has seethed with anti-Communist student and worker agitation since last year's Hungarian uprising.

Western correspondents were shepherded on special buses to the railway station by Communist officials to observe the Khrushchev arrival.

Few details of the purpose of the trip by the Soviet party chief, whose trip here followed talks with Yugoslavia's President Tito, have been released by the East German government.

TALKS WITH STALINIST

Khrushchev is expected to confer with Walter Ulbright, boss of the East German Communist party and long opposed to Tito's policy of "national roads to socialism." He has been considered a "Stalinist" in intra-Communist battles.

Allied officials also look for a dressed - up rehash of Moscow's previous proposals on German reunification to result from Khrushchev's visit.

All signs point to a Russian gesture aimed at swaying West German voters. On Sept. 15 they elect a new parliament and decide between Chancellor Konrad Adenauer, a staunch advocate of the alliance with the West, and socialist opponents favoring greater neutrality in East-West politics.

Harkness To Look At North Schools

OTTAWA (CP) — Northern Affairs Minister Harkness hopes soon to take a first-hand look at the educational system in Canada's north which comes under his administration.

The minister, attending a reception for more than 40 Roman Catholic priests who are principals in schools in the north, said he would like to get away on his projected inspection trip this month. But pressure of government business in Ottawa might prevent that.

Mr. Harkness envisioned a flying trip of possibly 10 days, visiting various points in the Northwest Territories where white, Indian and Eskimo children are taught together in classrooms administered by the northern affairs department.

World Council Hopes To Talk With Pope

By GEORGE W. CORNELL

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP)—Protestant and Orthodox church officials have decided to undertake a broad inquiry into problems of religious liberty, and may seek direct talks with Roman World Council of Churches, dele-

In a turbulent session of the Catholic leaders, gates Tuesday night threshed through a mass of proposed resolutions — several aimed at the Roman Catholic Church — and tossed them all out.

Instead of issuing pronouncements, the council's policy-making central committee decided to put its diplomats to work.

"Other means can be much more efficient than general statements," said Lutheran Bishop *Hanns Lilje of Hannover, Germ*any. "Negotiations, correspondence, and personal visits can often produce more results."

But there was a verbal tide as the meeting, on the eve of its adjournment, pondered what to do about areas of reported friction on religious matters — particularly in Roman Catholic countries.

STUDIES OF PROBLEM

It finally was on a motion by the Archbishop of Canterbury that the churchmen approved this course:

"That the executive committee be asked to arrange for studies to be made of the problem of religious liberty arising in Roman Catholic and other countries."

The Anglican prelate said the step might lead to "a direct approach to the Roman Catholic Church about matters which arise between us."

IMPROVED RELATIONS

Bishop Lilje said he had been in Colombia just a few weeks ago, and that the Catholic suffragan bishop and the foreign minister of the new government had given assurances of improved Protestant-Catholic relations.

"We want to help, not just blame," Bishop Lilje said.

Launching the broad inquiry not just into a secular concept of freedom but into man's God-given freedom of faith "might be the most powerful contribution ever made in the debate between the Protestant and Catholic world."

Dr. Baillie said he would expect the effort to include consultations with Pope Pius.

Add A-Activity To Dynamite

By JOHN E. BIRD
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP) — Atomic radioactivity—deadly in large doses—has been added to dynamite to make it safer to handle.

The federal mines department has perfected a method of adding an active but harmless quantity of radioactive antimony in the dy*namite mixture* while it is being manufactured. Miners and others handling the explosive thus can use a Geiger counter to locate sticks which have failed to explode or have been lost or misplaced.

The department hopes the development will sharply reduce the number of accidental deaths and injuries from dynamite explosions. Most accidents occur in mines and quarries and in logging, farming and construction.

In 1955, 112 accidents in Canada involved explosives, mainly dynamite. Twenty-two persons were killed and 119 injured. Deaths in the 1952-55 period totalled 111 and 554 were injured.

Many of the accidents in mines are caused by so-called "bootlegs," sticks of dynamite which fail to explode. Sometimes they are not detected and explosions occur when miners accidentally drill into them.

Most accidents of this type could be prevented if manufacturers adopt the idea of making dynamite radioactive.

Officials of the mines department said the antimony isotope is inexpensive and no health hazard. It contains only sufficient radioactivity to last over a reasonable period of storage before being used.

After the dynamite explodes the force of the blast dissipates the radioactivity. However, a Geiger counter can pick up radioactivity from an unexploded stick.

Department officials said there is no health hazard because the quantity of radioactive antimony required amounts to only four parts for each 1,000,000 parts of dynamite.

Toronto Exchange Looks Into Aconic Paper Loss

TORONTO (CP) — Shares of Aconic Mining Stock opened at $2.75 on the stock market, a gain of 75 cents over Tuesday's close.

Toronto Stock Exchange officials said they are continuing an inquiry into the circumstances which caused the paper loss of more than $20,000,000 in the stock market value of Aconic.

At one time, within 15 minutes, Aconic lost $8 a share.

Trading was quiet during the session's first two hours, with the stock opening at $11, climbing to $11.37½ and then drifting down to $9. But shortly after noon the price fell to $1. It recovered a bit later, to close at $2, a decline on the day of $9.37½.

GERMAN DEAL

Some Toronto traders said they didn't think the cause of the decline was short selling. Rumors circulated that a contract between Aconic and a German firm, Klockner-Humboldt-Deutz of Cologne, had created a problem.

Last January, soon after a new group gained control of the company, it was announced that it had arranged with the German firm to build a $16,000,000 iron-ore concentrating plant at Natashquan.

The German company was said to have agreed to pay 80 per cent of the plant cost and be repaid in shipments of iron concentrate produced at the property.

Aconic officials said Tuesday there has been no change in those plans.

J. E. Fauquier, a company vice president said that as far as the company is concerned the physical operations were never better.

He said "it looks like a lot of people could be ruined" but he could not understand what had happened.

"RAIDED FROM MONTREAL"

"We were raided from Montreal, as near as we can figure it, but we can't understand why."

The loss had "nothing to do with the mine," he said.

C. J. Butler, company manager, said he though5 heavy "shortw intems4 r)4ad developed i Aconic stock, in which speculators had sold shares on the expectation the price would go down. When the price did not drop immediately the speculators dumped blocks of shares on the market to cut the price, he said.

"A tremendous short interest has been built up over the last few weeks," he said. "Their new offerings couldn't be absorbed and the stock broke."

The loss was the sharpest in a stock in any single session in the memory of exchange officials.

British Troops Close In On Imam of Omam

By ROSS BIRTWISTLE

MANAMA, Bahrein (Reuters) British troops, backing up the sultan of Muscat's forces, swept past the palmfringed village of Izz and closed in on the town of Nizwa, held by the rebel Imam of Oman.

The advancing forces marched by starlight from the tiny oil-prospecting town of Fahud, 80 miles from Nizwa. They occupied Izz—15 miles from Nizwa—soon after dawn.

Brig. J. A. R. Robertson, directing the combined operation, said he planned to move on from Izz to Firq, three miles from Nizwa, before making a final dash to the rebel capital itself.

Describing the advance as a desert warfare action, he told corresponents: "The whole object is to reinstate the sultan's forces in central Oman and at no time will British troops supporting the sultan's regiments enter any town or village."

The rebel strongholds were softened up before the advance by several days of rocket and cannon attacks by RAF Venom jet fighters. The attacks were confined to military targets.

OFFER SAFETY

Villagers were warned that no harm would come to them if they did not resist today's advancing forces—made up mainly of British - led Trucial scouts, troops of the sultan's personal army and men of the Cameronians.

The rebels are surrounded in the mountains with Trucial scouts patrolling from Ibri to the Buraimi oasis, Robertson coming in from the west, and the sultan's Muscat army coming up the road from the east.

A spokesman said in Bahrein Wednesday night that several hundred of the nine tribes loyal to the sultan will form an occupation force to "stabilize the area after ground forces reach Nizwa."

It was estimated that the force advancing on Nizwa numbers about 700, excluding the Muscat army coming up in the rear.

The rebels are estimated by the sultan's British-born foreign minister, Neil Innes to total 1500 with a fighting force of about 600.

Canadian Stocks' Sales Hit Record High Spots

OTTAWA (CP)—Net sales by Canadians of outstanding securities reached nearly $40,000,000 in May, the bureau of statistics said Wednesday.

The total was the largest monthly net inflow since September, 1950, when the inflows were largely the effect of expectations of changes in the exchange rate.

The month's figure compares with about $22,000,000 in April and $34,000,000 in May of 1956. It was made up of net sales of $11,000,000 to the United States, $18,000,000 to the United Kingdom and $11,000,000 to other overseas countries.

Trade in outstanding Canadian securities accounted for $26,000,000 of the net sales balance in May. Residents of the U.K. were the biggest buyers, and the sales balance of $18,000,000 was fully represented by Canadian common and preference stock.

"This unprecedentedly large net trade in stocks with that country compared with $12,000,000 in April, being larger even than that which resulted from trading in stocks in July, 1956," the bureau said.

Residents of other overseas countries also added to their holdings through trade in oustanding Canadian issues. The net sales balance of $11,600,000 was nearly double the April figure and included about $7,000,000 of Canadian stocks. But there also were net sales of Canadian bonds, principally corporate obligations.

In contrast to the result of trading with overseas countries there were small repurchase balances with the U.S. in respect of both Canadian stocks and bonds, resulting in a capital export from Canada of about $3,000,000.

Need $3 Million To Expand Geology Depts.

SASKATOON (CP)—A survey of space and facilities needed by the geology departments of Canadian universities estimates that $3,000,000 will be needed for additional space in the next 10 years, plus $500,000 for extra equipment.

The survey has been completed by a special committee of the National Advisory Committee on Research in the Geological Sciences.

Most geology departments in the 12 universities examined are at present under-staffed, said the report.

It was estimated that an increase of 25 to 50 per cent in staff will be needed by 1947 to handle the expected student enrolment.

An average increase by 1967 of *80 per cent of the number now en*rolled as students was forecast.

The committee said that obtaining financial support for the training of geologists is of concern not only to Canadian universities, but also to the mineral industry that is in need of trained personnel.

The survey was conducted among university departments which train 80 per cent of geologists and geological engineers graduating yearly in Canada.

Cave-In Closes Ont. Highway

TIMMIN (CP)—The collapsing roof of an abandoned mine shaft opened a 10,000-square-foot hole in the earth 20 feet from a busy highway early Wednesday but no one was injured.

Provincial police sealed off the highway—No. 101, the main route into this Northern Ontario mining town—and the highways department began dulldozing a makeshift road through nearby bushland.

The cave-in occurred about 7 a.m. The earth disappeared over an area measuring 100 feet on each side.

The hole it left was estimated to be 200 feet deep.

The abandoned shaft belongs to the Pamour mine.

The cave-in resulted from the collapse of one of these pillars, just east of the highway.

Mine spokesmen said they now fear the other two pillars — one stands immediately beneath the highway—would buckle under the shift in stresses. The third column is under the west side of 101.

Russian Colonel Held In U.S. Spy Charge

NEW YORK (AP)—A man described by federal officials as a Soviet Russian colonel of intelligence masquerading as a Brooklyn artist was indicted Wednesday as the topmost Russian ever arrested as a spy in the United States.

The penalty, if he is convicted, could be death.

The officials said the man, Rudolf Ivanovich Abel, 55, is the highest ranking Soviet national ever arrested in the U.S. as a spy.

They said he was a colonel in the Soviet state security service and that he headed the service's spy activities in the United States.

The indictment returned by a federal grand jury in Brooklyn said that from 1948 to this year he obtained and transmitted information relating to the national defence of the United States. Four other men were named in the indictment as co-conspirators but not as defendants.

He was arrested in a New York City hotel June 21 by immigration agents and taken to an alien detention centre at McAllen, Tex. He was given a hearing and ordered deported but the spy charges blocked his departure.

Federal officials said Abel entered the U.S. from Canada in 1948.

Officials said his base of operations was a photographic studio across the street from the Brooklyn federal courthouse, where a grand jury returned the indictment against him.

The indictment charged that Abel conspired to 'activate as agents within the United States, certain members of the armed forces who were in a position to acquire information relating to the national defence of the United States."

Whether this alleged attempt was successful was not indicated.

The indictment said the studio was for making microfilms of information for transmission to Soviet Russia.

It said Abel and the alleged conspirators hollowed out coins, pens, pencils, bolts, handcuffs, earrings and similar articles so they could be used as containers for the transmission of the microfilm.

They further used short wave radio for receiving instructions and sending information, the indictment said.

It said the ring was interested particularly in information "relating to arms, equipment and disposition of the U.S. armed forces and information relating to the atomic energy program."

Hamlet Wears Plaster Cast

STRATFORD, Ont. (CP)—Montreal actor Christopher Plummer returned to the Stratford Festival stage Tuesday night wearing a hip-to-toe cast and carrying a blackthorn cane. But he made the audience forget the hindrance as he played the title role in Shakespeare's Hamlet.

Plummer has been sidelined since he broke a bone in his right foot while playing the near-gymnastic role of Sir Andrew Aguecheek in Twelfth Night July 30.

He used the cane for most of Tuesday night's performance and wore a sole of fibre class to cushion the impact of the cast on the stage. The cast was painted the black of his tights and with his acting the limp was absorbed into the role.

His audience was even oblivious of the handicap during the duel scene in the last act.

Meanwhile, the festival announced that three Russian actors, due in Canada last week, are expected to reach Montreal Friday although the external affairs department said confirmation is still being awaited from the Soviet Embassy in Ottawa. Planning director Tom Patterson said he has received word that the actors now are en route from Moscow.

This Company Hires Only Disabled Workers

By PAUL COLVEY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

MONTREAL (CP)—A Montreal company, believed to be the only one of its kind in Canada, is proving that a disabled person can be a productive worker.

The company—Unlimited Skills Incorporated — is unique in the fact that it hires only disabled workers.

It was founded in 1956 when a group of business executives met with Harry Ward, co-organizer and secretary of the Canadin Paraplegic Association, to discuss the problem of helping disabled people.

SPECIAL ADVISERS

Mr. Ward, himself a paraplegic, was named full-time manager of the firm. A number of business executives were appointed to help the new company in an advisory capacity. Heading the group is Harold W. Royl, sales manager of Curtiss-Wright of Canada.

Describing the company as a "product of the times," Mr. Ward said in an interview:

"Medical science has done its part to keep paraplegics and other disabled persons alive. Now it is up to society to make them self-supporting citizens."

Mr. Ward, paralyzed since he was wounded in France in the Second World War, says the main purpose of Unlimited Skills is "to supply wages to disabled persons."

However, he stressed that the firm is a private competitive company and not a charitable organization. "We are not a 'sheltered workshop,' and those working here must produce."

WAGES INCREASED

After 15 months of operation Unlimited Skills has paid $52,000 in salaries and has recently increased wage rates to 80 from 75 cents an hour. "Admittedly the pay is low, but is more than unemployed disabled persons receive from charity or get working in 'sheltered workshops'," said Mr. Ward.

The ideal situation is to train people here and then place them in industry," he says, "but the problem is to convince industry that disabled workers are productive employees, and to get trained workers to leave the more 'sheltered' conditions at Unlimited Skills."

"At the present time we have 30 people working here and have managed to place 16 in industry. However, there are 300 other 'employables' among disabled persons in Montreal."

Operating in a reconverted factory, the company takes on such jobs as collating, packaging, sorting and mechanical and electrical assembly to keep going.

VALUABLE EMPLOYEE

Mr. Ward rates Harold Goodridge, a mechanical engineer partially crippled with arthrities, one of his most valuable employees.

"We would be lost without him in the machine shop," he said.

Mr. Ward cites only two requirements for employment at Unlimited Skills—physical disability and a sincere desire to do a job.

Mr. Ward's hope is that Unlimited Skills or similar companies will be put on a national basis, even in small towns.

He also hopes to see a separate community set up for disabled persons. He has asked the city of Montreal to set aside 500,000 square feet of land in Montreal north for that purpose. The disabled persons themselves would build their homes and factories and support themselves.

Aim To Prove Film Scandal Tales Untrue

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The prosecution said it intends to prove that Confidential and Whisper magazines hired "women of the night" to entice Hollywood stars into compromising situations and then to supply information for lurid stories.

The case which the state of California proposes to present against the scandal magazines and their alleged Hollywood representatives was outlined before a superior court jury of seven men and five women by Assistant Attorney-General Linn.

The magazine and Fred and Marjorie Mead are being tried on grand jury indictments charging conspiracy to publish lewd and obscene material and publishing defamatory material constituting criminal libel.

Linn said he will present evidence to prove that the magazines "operated through private eyes and women of the night to make contacts with prominent people around Hollywood and create situations."

"The magazines' stories specialized in embarrassing situations and situations which depict the lewdest sort of thing," Linn told the jury.

"They specialize in ancient and forgotten sins which were blown up by innuendo into fanciful tales of the present."

"They would pick up an individual's slip from the straight and narrow and depict this as his way of life."

Defence Counsel Arthur Crowley, in his opening statement to the jury, said he intends to show that the magazines' stories "are true and there is no malice concerned."

"The stories are not innuendo," he said. "We try to play down innuendo. The stories we don't print are a lot worse."

Denies Dominion Steel For Sale

MONTREAL (CP) — Dent C. B. Lang of the Dominion Steel and Coal Corporation said today "no offer has been received by the company and tomorrow's meeting is a regular meeting of the board."

He had been asked to comment on published reports that the DOSCO board meets tomorrow to discuss an offer to buy the giant industrial empire.

"I have been very much disturbed by the publication of such statements," said Mr. Lang. Reports earlier linked a German firm and A.V. Roe with a transaction. Mr. Lang denied those reports.

Said Mr. Lang of the special-meeting report: "The only people in our company who could have made such a statement were the secretary and myself. Neither of us did.

"As of nine o'clock this morning no offer has been received by the company. There have been rumors that an offer might be made but if so it has not reached us."

Wild Monkeys Still Free

NORTH WALES, Pa. (AP)—The last survivors of an army of wild monkeys, escapees from a biological laboratory, were still at large here today.

They were gallantly holding out against superior forces. But their ranks were thinned by capture and death. The solid front had been dispersed into guerrilla forces and they were being relentlessly pursued.

The clash between animals and humans started Tuesday when the 49 rhesus monkeys escaped from the Merck Sharp and Dohme research laboratories and swarmed through this community of 3,000 in suburban Philadelphia.

It wasn't long before calls began to bombard the police:

"I was hanging out the wash when all of a sudden this monkey comes swing down the clothes lines and. . . ."

"I was in the kitchen. I was washing the dishes when this hairy face pops up at the window. Scared? Why I almost dropped my best platter."

JUST LIKE JUNGLE

"He came swinging right through the trees in the backyard. You know, hand over hand, just like you see in those jungle movies."

A posse of lab workers, police and 50 gleeful children joined the hunt. The laboratory employees wore heavy clothes and carried nets. Police carried rifles. The youngsters acted as "beaters" to scare the monkeys into the nets.

By today all but 19 had been accounted for. Ten were recaptured and police shot 20 others. All were found within a mile of the plant. Those shot, a laboratory spokesman said, were high in trees and couldn't be taken alive.

The laboratory official said the monkeys recent arrivals from India, were to have been used in the production and testing of polio and influenza vaccines. He said none of the animals had been inoculated with any virus.

Says Authoress Leans To Right

PEIPING (Reuters) — Fellow authors here have accused Ting Ling, China's greatest living woman writer and a Communist party veteran, of rightist thoughts and anti-party activities for many years.

The 52 - year - old novelist, a party member since 1931 and who once had a poem written to her by Mao Tse - tung, chairman of the republic, is the most prominent person yet thrown up by the current anti-rightist drive against those who have questioned socialism or the leadership of the party.

Newspaper reports say: "In October of last year, when an anti - Communist wave made its appearance in the international scene subsequent to events in Hungary, a part of the people in China was affected as well.

"Ting Ling and Chen Chi Hsia (her chief associate, another woman writer) thought that the time had come to launch a counter-attack against the party because 'the present time is very advantageous to us.'"

Mounties Consolidate Hold on Second Slot

By The Canadian Press

Continuing to supurb pitching — and five runs in the second inning —the Vancouver Mounties coasted to their fourth straight Pacific Coast League victory with a 6-1 win over the Sacramento Solons Tuesday night.

Morrie Martin became the first Vancouver pitcher to win 12 games for a record of 12-3.

The veteran left-hander, who owns' the league's best earned-run average, allowed six hits struck out six and walked only one.

Owen Friend blasted a 380-foot home run in Vancouver's second inning. It was good for two runs and the Mounties took three more off Sacramento's Roger Osenbaugh in that inning.

Los Angeles manager Clay Bryant meant business when he warned his starting pitchers they could expect no relief from the weak Angel bull pen — even against the Pacific Coast League leading San Francisco Seals.

In Tuesday night's double loss to the Seals, Bryant squirmed in the dugout as Babe Birrer was slapped for eight hits in losing the opener 5-0 and as Ralph Mauriello was tagged for 10 in the 8-2 nightcap loss.

Bryant Squirmed, but not once did he so much as send a relief pitcher to the bull pen as the Seals buried the Angels under a barrage that put San Francisco 4½ games ahead of second-place Vancouver.

Hollywood dropped to fourth by losing 3-0 to the Seattle Rainiers. Seattle's Dick Aylward batted in all the Rainier's runs with a homer —his first of the year—and a single.

San Diego moved ahead of Hollywood into third by beating Portland in both ends of a doubleheader 4-1 and 6-0. The Padres' 20-year-old Gary Bell allowed but six hits in winning the opener.

R. W. Smith pitched four-hit ball in winning the seven-inning opener for the Seals against Los Angeles and Tom Hurd gave up the same number of blows in winning the nine-inning nightcap. Marty Keough homered inside the park for the Seals in the first game and Bill Renna and Jack Phillips homered for San Francisco in the closing contest.

Bud Podbielan was the winning pitcher in Seattle's victory over Hollywood, his second shutout against the Stars. He allowed only four hits. Umpire Emmett Ashford had to separate the Rainier's Maury Wills and Hollywood shortstop Leo Rodriguez, who mixed it up after Wills attempted to break up a double play.

San Diego unleased an 18-hit attack in its second win over Portland. All the Beavers could manage against the Padres' Dick Brodowski, who won his 10th victory, was five hits.

Stockholders Guaranteed Big Profit

NEW YORK (AP) — The Wall Street Journal reports in a story by Thomas O'Toole from Jersey City that Horace Stoneham, owner of the New York Giants, had told his stockholders:

"When we go to San Francisco, we'll make money. I can almost guarantee a net profit of $200,000 to $500,000 a year." Net profits were $22,860.89 in 1956.

The journal reporter attended the meeting which was barred to the press but not to him because he held a proxy.

"If we don't get out of New York," Stoneham was quoted, "we're going to lose money and all the good cities will be gone."

Stoneham told the stockholders at Tuesday's meeting in Jersey City that he expected to receive a formal "letter of intent" from San Francisco officials within a week.

The Giant office Wednesday said Stoneham could not be reached. Club officials said they did not know if Stoneham had received the "letter of intent" that Mayor George Christopher said he mailed Tuesday in San Francisco.

Birdie Favors Eastern Club for NL Laurels

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Manager Birdie Tebbetts figures if St. Louis, Milwaukee and his Cincinnati Redlegs play each other to a standstill from here on in, Brooklyn could retain its National League championship.

Birdie admitted Tuesday night before the fourth-place Reds lost to the Braves 4-5 that there are some ifs ands and buts to his theory, but on one point he was emphatic.

"If a western club wins it," he said, "it will be a great club because it will have to eliminate the other two."

Birdie, whose team dropped five games behind Milwaukee, pointed out the three western contenders play each other in nearly half the remaining 50 games. The Braves climbed over St. Louis into the NL lead Tuesday night.

Actually, the Braves have a total of 23 dates left with Cincinnati and St. Louis, 12 of them at home, while the Cardinals and the Reds each have a total of 21 games left to play against the Braves or each other.

Brooklyn, on the other hand, has only 13 games left with the three western teams. Second division clubs will supply the third-running Dodgers with most of their opposition in the days ahead.

Wimbledon Doubles Champ Has Interesting Theories

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Wimbledon doubles champion Gardnar Mulloy says he's convinced an athlete's eyes fail him before his legs give out on him.

"First thing to go is an athlete's eyes," said Mulloy. "He just thinks it's his legs."

Mulloy, former tennis captain and coach at the University of Miami, has just returned here from Denver to take up residence and go into a mapping and guiding business.

The 43 - year - old Mulloy who teamed with Budge Patty, 33, to win the doubles crown at the last Wimbledon tennis tournament in a surprise victory said the share in the triumph "traces back to remembering something Bill Tilden told me 20 years ago.

"Tilden was in his 50's when I asked him, 'how can your legs hold up for you to move around so well on the court at your age?'

" 'Son,' Tilden said, 'some day you'll learn it's not the legs that cause a well conditioned man trouble first—it's his eyes.'

"Suddenly it dawned on me," Mulloy said. "I couldn't see the ball — not quickly or sharply enough. So I began wearing glasses when I played. After I got used to the specs, my game improved 50 per cent.

"And get this—as soon as my reflexes and coordination improved, my legs no longer bothered me."

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN

CHICAGO (AP)—A field of 100 men pros tees off today at Tam O'Shanter in search of the end of the rainbow—a $50,000 pot of cash and a $50,000 exhibition contract.

The biggest bonanza in golf awaits the winner of the "world championship" after 72 holes of the most pressurized shooting the game affords.

Defending champion Ted Kroll predicts a score of about 277-11 under par for the 6,915 - yard course—will hit the jackpot.

Kroll won with 273 last year, which matched Ben Hogan's 1951 record low total for the "world" tourney.

NO GUESS ABOUT WHO

"I think it will take about 277 this time, but I wouldn't venture a prediction on who will win it," said Kroll. "there is quite a group right at the peak of the game. Sam Snead, Gene Littler, Dow Finsterwald, Doug Ford, Roberto de Vincenzo, Paul Harney, Fred Hawkins and Bill Casper—they all are hitting the ball well.

"Littler especially is going great. He has improved ever since the Flint Open in June. He is swinging as well as he ever did and is in top form.

In the last round of the All American at Tam Monday when Littler equalled a course record of 63 to vault to second money of $2,300 with 277. He fired a 66 in a pro-amateur event Tuesday at Chicago's Edgewater Club.

ONLY ONE DID IT

De Vicenzo, who spent most of Wednesday trying to correct a slice with his woods, was the All American winner with 273 good for $3,500. But only once since the Tam jamboree has been on a 72-hole basis, has the All American winner gone on to win the "world" title. Lloyd Mangrum did it in 1948.

In all, $101,200 will be distributed in the men pro section of the "world." Second place is worth $10,000, third $5,000 and the list tapers off to $100 from 61st through the 72nd position.

A field of 20 women's pros will shoot for a $6,000 top prize in a purse of $15,000. Patty Berg, who took the All American for the fifth time Monday with a 2-under-par 302, will aim for her fourth "world" title.

Heading a field of 12 men amateurs are defending champion Ward Wettlaufer of Buffalo, N.Y., and crooner Don Dherry, the All American winner.

Clifford Ann Creed of Poelousas, La., will try to add the "world" title to her All American championship against 11 other women amateurs.

Official Bid Made For Boxla Finals

TRAIL (CP) — Western International Lacrosse League has made a bid to host the 1958 Canadian junior lacrosse championships in Trail.

League president Lloyd Murdock said in Trail Tuesday the Canadian Lacrosse Association and the B.C. Centennial Committee are considering the offer and so far seem to be interested. Nothing definite can be expected until details such as arena rentals can be worked out.

The WI Lacrosse League, which has the Trail Cubs and Rossland Warriors as junior entries this year, would handle details for the Canadian finals of the Minto Cup.

Tiger-Cats Rally for Victory In Exhibition Grid Encounter

HAMILTON (CP) — Hamilton Tiger-Cats scored three touchdowns in the final half to down Toronto Argonauts 25-9 in a Big Four football game at Civic Stadium Wednesday night before a crowd of almost 14,000 fans. Down 7-6 at the half to Hampton Pool's scullers, Tiger-Cats scored an unconverted major in the third quarter and two more in the final 15 minutes.

Each of Hamilton's three majors was masterminded by a different Hamilton pivot. Nobby Wirkowski fired a 26-yard aerial to Steve Onechuk in, the third quarter as he led the team down the field in a brilliant passing display. Bernie Faloney marched the Ticats along the ground as he piled Cookie Gilchrist and Ralph Goldston into the line and sneaked over from the one.

Mal Laughton, an 18-year-old quarterback fresh out of high school, gave the fans a thrill by leading the team to a touchdown in five plays. He completed four passes in four tries and completed the march by hitting Michigan State end Jim Hinesly with an eight-yard pass. Billy Graham converted only one Ticat touchdown.

32-YARD TOSS

In the first half Bernie Faloney tossed 32 yards to Ed Macon for a major while Tom Dublinski barged over from the one for Argo's only score. Bart Moll converted. Argo's other two points came when Rick Potter nailed Cam Fraser in the end zone for a safety touch.

Hamilton's wingline, led by Vince Scott, John Barrow, Harvey Achziger and Pete Neuman, held Argos ground attack to a mere 138 yards.

Hamilton's running attack netted 255 yards as Cookie Gilchrist, Ralph Goldston and Gerry McDougal piled up huge gains. In first downs Hamilton had a 24-21 edge.

Argos used three quarterbacks. Tom Dublinski, Dave Doane, and Gerry Doucette. The double-blue played their best ball behind the field generalship of Dublinski as they more than held their own with the "dubber" tossing strikes. Dublinski completed nine of 13 passes for 177 yards.

CALAIS (AP)—Cramps in both legs Wednesday forced 45-year-old steel worker Gustav Adolf Brickner, of Charleroi, Pa., to give up a lifetime ambition to swim the English Channel.

Brickner, father of five, said he thinks he was about 11½ or 12 miles across the channel when his legs gave out.

"I'm not sure of the exact distance, though. The fellows in the boat with me only spoke French and I had trouble understanding them."

Up until the time cramps forced him to quit Brickner said he was "going for a record."

One Upset Marks Opening Of Junior Title Chases

By JACK VAN DUSEN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP) — Top-seeded players coasted through the opening rounds of the Canadian junior tennis championships Wednesday with only one favorite spilled by an underdog.

Milt Hess of Winnipeg, runner-up in the Manitoba boys singles and seeded fourth in that event, here, wilted under the fire of young Dennis Crotty of Montreal. Crotty, a two-handed, unseeded player, ousted Hess 9-7, 6-2 in a second-round match.

Players from across Canada began matches in the closed — Canadians only—part of the 10-day tournament. Matches are held on the 16 courts of the Rideau Lawn Tennis Club.

U.S. PLAYERS EXPECTED

Court experts from the United States and Bermuda are due here during the weekend for the open tournament due to start Monday.

Harry Fouquier of Toronto, top-seeded in the boys ranks, sailed through the second round with a 6-2, 6-1 win over Hubert Emond of Aylmer, Que. The Toronto player later hurt his right hand during some friendly, off-court jousting with fellow competitors, and lost 6-0, 6-0 to Tom Bell of Montreal in a second-round match of the junior men's singles.

Phil Johnston of Ottawa, finalist in the Quebec boys singles, was elimnated by Bob Jacob of Toronto 8-6, 6-2, in another second-round match.

Mike Belkin of Montreal, top-seeded in the juvenile boys, eliminated John Langford of Ottawa 6-1, 6-2 in the first round to continue as favorite.

John Bassett, favored to take the top event of the tournament, the junior men's singles, knocked out Louis Leprohon 6-0, 6-1 in the second round.

TOP JUNIOR WOMAN

The top junior woman competitor, Ann Barclay of Vancouver, ousted Ann Irvin of Ottawa 6-2, 6-2 in her first game.

Nicole Gagnon of Montreal, top player in the girls juvenile singles, moved ahead in her title hunt when Faye Urban of Windsor, Ont., defaulted their first match.

Della Freedhoff of Toronto, top-seeded in the girls singles and a favorite in the junior women's, won her opening matches in both events. The Toronto miss eliminated Laragh Nealin of Ottawa 6-2, 7-5 in the girls and Sharon Smith of Edmonton 6-1, 6-2 in the women's.

Mc & Mcs Take One-Game Lead With 3-2 Win

Mc & Mcs took a one-game lead in the Babe Ruth League playoffs at Queen Elizabeth Park last Tuesday evening with a 3-2 win over K.C.s. The game was exceptionally good considering it was played during a steady downfall of rain with a muddy infield.

The pitchers, winner Cyril Saviskoff of the Mcs and Don McLean of K.C.s, were stingy with their hits, allowing each team six.

Mcs scored a run in the first and the winning run in the sixth when Mike Ingledew homered with one aboard. K.C.s' two runs runs came in the last half of the fifth when pitcher McLean homered with one on.

Mike Laughton picked up a ground-rule double in the second for the Mcs while Hugh Hooker bagged a double for the K.C.s in the sixth.

WEBB AVENGES RECENT DEFEAT

CHICAGO (AP) — Chicago's Spider Webb, No. 6 ranked middleweight, turned loose a terrific seventh-round attack Wednesday night to capture a split 10-round decision over Charley Joseph of New Orleans at the Chicago Stadium.

Webb thus avenged a June 18 defeat by Joseph, No. 8 middleweight contender, which ended a 20-bout victory string by the Chicago fighter.

Referee Bill Doty voted for Webb 49-42 and judge Frank Clark called it for the Chicagoan, 48-43. Judge Howard Walsh voted a 45-45 draw. The Associated Press card had a 47-47 draw.

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—A little mongrel dog died Tuesday when she raced into a burning house to save her four pups which had already been removed to safety. Mrs. Louis Latien said her dog, Tiny, apparently did not know the pups had been moved to a shed behind the house.

Chicago Cubs Trip Cardinals To Help Braves Build Margin

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Staff Writer

The Milwaukee Braves moved into a 1 ½-game lead in the National League race Wednesday night, walloping Cincinnati 12-2 while the seventh place Chicago Cubs again put the blocks to second place St. Louis, defeating the Carinals 5-1.

The New York Giants rolled from behind with five runs in the ninth inning to defeat Brooklyn 8-5 and push the third place Dodgers four games behind. Don Newcombe, last season's top winner, lost his fourth in a row for a 9-10 record.

Fifth place Philadelphia, now seven games back, and Pittsburgh were not scheduled.

In the American League, the Washington Senators scored all their runs in the ninth for a 3-2 victory over the New York Yankees, whose first place bulge was reduced to six games as Chicago's second place White Sox beat Kansas City 7-0 behind the two-hit pitching of Jim Wilson.

TED UPS AVERAGE

Third place Boston, with Ted Williams upping his batting average to .389 again, defeated Baltimore 5-2 in 11 innings. The Detroit Tigers beat Cleveland 4-1.

Gene Conley, winning seven of his last eight decisions, gained a 7-5 record with a seven-hitter as the Braves rapped five Redlegs pitchers for 15 hits. Wes Covington belted a pair of home runs, one a two-run job, and Red Schoendienst hit a three - run triple. Brooks Lawrence was the loser for an 11-9 record as the fourth place Redlegs, now six games behind, lost for the 10th time in 12 games with Milwaukee this season.

Walt Moryn, Bob Speake and Dale Long swatted solo home runs for the Cubs, who have won five in a row for the first time since 1955. Dick Drott, a rookie righthander, won his 10th with Dick Littlefield's relief help. Littlefield came on with the bases loaded and one out in the eighth, and got pinch - hitter Walker Cooper to hit into a double play. Stan Musial drove in the Cards' run with a second-inning single that made it 2-2. Speake then rapped his 12th homer, off loser Herm Wehmeier, in the fourth.

THREE-RUN HOMER

Pinch - hitter Hank Sauer swatted a three-run homer that hauled the Giants from behind against Newk, who then walked winning reliever Marv Grissom before giving way to Clem Labine. Newcombe, who was 27-7 last year, had not lost 10 in one season since 1950 when he was 19-11. Roy Campanella had four singles in four trips and drove in three runs for the Dodgers. Charlie Neal singled and tripled for the other two, with all five off starter Johnny Antonelli.

The Nats got to Tom Studivant in the ninth as Roy Sievers, sidelined by a swollen instep, hit a pinch single ahead of Eddie Yost's sixth home run. Two singles, a sacrifice and Art Schult's sacrifice fly brought the winning run across. Sturdivant didn't allow a hit for six innings and had a two-hit shutout until the ninth.

Hank Bauer hit his 12th home run in the first inning and Mickey Mantle rapped his 30th, tying Williams and Sievers for the AL lead, in the ninth. Bud Byerly won it in relief for a 2-0 mark against the Yankees.

TOPS AL SHUTOUTS

Wilson, a 35 - year - old righthander who had blanked the A's on three hits last April, gained his 12th victory and fifth shutout, tops in the AL. He gave up a leadoff double to Billy Hunter in the first, and a fourth-inning single to Irv Noren, who was erased by one of three White Sox scored six in the third on four walks, a hit batsman and but three hits. Earl Torgeson and Jim Rivera had two-run singles in the frame.

Williams, who was 2 - for - 5, singled with two out and scored the tie-breaking run as the Red Sox scored three in the 11th. He scored from second as losing pitcher Connie Johnson sat on the ground at first base arguing with umpire Ed Hurley, who ruled Johnson had failed to touch the bag after taking a throw from first baseman Bobby Boyd on Mickey Vernon's grounder. Williams also doubled home two runs in the first. Frank Sullivan, now 10-6, allowed only six singles in going all the way, as did Johnson.

Billy Hoeft, a 20-game winner a year ago, gained a 4-6 record with a six-hitter for the Tigers. He struck out 10, walked none and had a one-hit shutout for six innings. Detroit bagged it with three in the first against John Gray.

Before plunging into the water at Owen Sound for a 15-mile contest against some of the world's best swimmers, Cliff Lumsdon of Toronto, the pre-race favorite, receives a good-luck kiss from Marilyn Bell, conqueror of Lake Ontario, who fired the starting gun for the Owen Sound marathon. Cliff, who has won more marathons than any of the other entrants, weighed 198, 12 pounds less than his usual swimming peak.

Marlene Stewart Ousted

By W. R. WHEATLEY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

MONTREAL (CP)—Mary Gay of Calgary touched off the upsets with the biggest of all Wednesday in the second round of the Canadian ladies' open amateur golf tournament when she defeated champion Marlene Stewart Streit on the 19th green.

The dethroning of the little champion from Fonthill, Ont., who never before has lost to Mary in match play, left the scramble for the title wide open.

The end came at the extra hole after Marlene fought her way back from a two-hole deficit by taking the 17th and 18th and squaring the match. At the extra hole, a 495-yard par five, she played a poor third shot and Mary took the hole with a par five.

TWO AMERICANS OUT

Marlene's startling setback came as something of an anti-climax to the defeat of two of the four American entrants by Canadian girls.

Betty Stanhope of Edmonton knocked out highly rated Mrs. Maurice Glick of Baltimore, Md., 2 and 1, and Janet MacWha, of suburban St. Lambert eliminated Mrs. Norman Woolworth of New Canaan, Conn., by the same margin.

The two Americans left for today's quarter-finals are Marjorie Burns of Greensboro, N.C., and Mrs. C. F. Spalding of Greenwich, Conn.

The tall, bespectacled southern girl eliminated Judy Darling of Montreal, 19 - year - old Quebec senior and junior champion, 5 and 4.

Joyce Alston of Ottawa, whose game has been improving in every round, carried Mrs Spalding to the 18th before losing one up.

ALL-CANADIAN PLAY

In the remaining matches, each an all - Canadian affair, Roma Neundorf of Toronto eliminated 19-year-old Mary Ellen Driscoll of Saint John, N.B., 3 and 1; Rae Milligan of Calgary took a 4 and 3 decision from Mrs. Robert Lyle of Montreal, and Elva Carrol of Hamilton won 2 and 1 over Mrs. E. Hedstron of Toronto.

Marlene was an almost prohibitive pre-tournament favorite to win her fifth open title in seven tries. Mary Gay has been runner-up three times, twice to Marlene and once to Edean Anderson of Helena, Mont.

Mary has been a sad loser, no closer than 9 and 8 in the three finals.

MADE MOST OF LAPSES

In her play Wednesday she made the most of Marlene's lapses. The champion played her poorest game of both the ladies' close tournament, which she won last Saturday, and the two rounds of the open.

Her putting was erratic and three times she hooked her drives when ordinarily she is down the middle. Most of the time she was outdistanced in her drives by Mary.

"It was just one of those things," she said afterward. "I just wasn't playing well and that's too bad because I have always beaten Mary in match play.

"My putting was bad. Even when I sank a 16-foot putt at the sixth I didn't have any idea at all where the ball was going.

"When I squared the match at the 18th I felt I would win. I said to myself, 'I can make that first hole (the 19th) in four.' And what did I do? It took me four to get on the green."

Marlene, who will go to Sacramento, Calif., in about a week to defend her U.S. national title, said she will remain in Montreal a day or two.

Betty Stanhope took a three-hole lead over Mrs. Glick at the turn and had the match under control the rest of the way. She had a medal 35, three under par going out.

OLDEST WOMAN

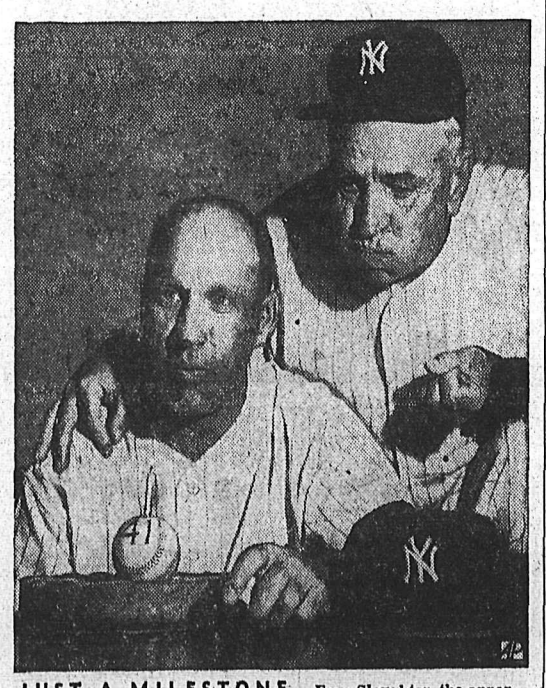
LUTON, England (CP) — Mrs. Hannah Taylor recently celebrated her 107th birthday in this Bedfordshire town. She has two great - great - great - grandchildren and is believed to be Britain's oldest woman.



JUST A MILESTONE — Enos Slaughter, the apparently ageless outfielder, is joined by Manager Casey Stengel in Yankee Stadium party as the baseballer noted his 41st birthday.

Yesterday's Answer

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it: A X Y D L B A A X R is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Says Foreign Students Agree To Return Home When Studies Finished

OTTAWA (CP)—An immigration department official said Wednesday it is possible that some West Indian students studying at Canadian universities have been told they will have to leave Canada.

However, he said no such instructions would be issued by the immigration department merely because the students are West Indians.

The official was commenting on a statement Tuesday by Sir Grantley Adams, premier of Barbados, at the Couchiching, Ont., conference on international affairs. Sir Grantley said West Indian students at the University of Toronto and Queen's University, Kingston, Ont., have been told the time is drawing near for them to return home.

The immigration department official said all foreign students studying in Canada, enter the country as non-immigrants. Before they can enter they must be accepted for enrolment by a recognized university, have sufficient funds to pay for their tuition, perform their studies successfully and agree to return home after completing their courses.

Any foreign students who fail to meet any of these conditions would be told to return home, the official said.

The official said immigration headquarters does not keep records on foreign students told to return home because this is the responsibility of regional immigration offices.

Army Link Keeps Messages Moving Through Northland

EDMONTON (CP)—If you want to send a message anywhere in the northland, the Canadian Army helps to get it there.

The Royal Canadian Corps of Signals with operational headquarters in Edmonton for 34 years has handled communication by wireless with the Northwest Territories and the Yukon. Through it, messages can extend as far as Thule in Greenland.

Edmonton is linked with 18 stations in the far north, and they carry weather reports, military messages and commercial communications. The northern stations are divided into primary and secondary units. The latter receive messages from isolated outposts and relay them to a primary station for transmission to Edmonton.

If the messages from the north are of a commercial nature, they are given here to the CPR or CN telegraphs. If they deal with aircraft movement, they go to the air traffic control tower at the Edmonton airport. And on military matters the system here can hook up with the army's cross-Canada network.

BIG EXPANSION

While the RCCS celebrated its 53rd anniversary last October, its northland system has been in effect only for 34 years. It started on Oct. 20, 1923, when Dawson and Mayo Landing in the Yukon were joined by the first wireless link.

The following year saw construction of a relay station at Fort Simpson, N.W.T., and a terminal at Edmonton to link Dawson and Mayo with the rest of Canada.

The system gradually expanded and when gold and uranium were discovered in the Northwest Territories in the 30s, the need for rapid communication became even more important.

Market Trends

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market changed its script and advanced for the first time since July 12.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks rose $1.10 to $182.40, with industrials up $1.70, rails $1.60 and utilities 10 cents.

Canadian issues on the New York exchange closed mainly on the upside. Hudson Bay mining added 2¼; International Nickel was up 2½ on 9,000 shares; McIntyre Porcupine gained 1; and Canadian Pacific was up ½. Losers included Aluminium Ltd., off ⅜ on 21,000 shares.

TORONTO (CP) — The stock market received some buying support in the final few minutes Wednesday and many earlier losses were wiped out.

Aconic Mining Corporation, the main interest for most traders, closed at $2.95, a gain of 95 cents over Tuesday's last price which was a drop of $9.37½ from that day's opening quote.

Calgary Power lost five points at 69 on a light volume.

International Nickel gained 1¾ points to 87½. Hudson Bay, although trading ex-dividend, added a point at 56.

MONTREAL (CP) — Outstanding losses were noted among industrials as the Montreal stock exchanges ended moderate trading Wednesday.

Oil issues showed sharp declines as McColl fell 3 points to 73 and International Petroleum dropped 3⅝ to 47¾ while Interprovincial Pipe Lines was down a point at 49. In a weak utilities section, Calgary Power tumbled 5 points to 69 while Power Corporation was down 2 points at 69.

Ont. Minister Owns Bible Aged 294-Years

BLENHEIM, Ont. (CP) — A 294-year-old Bible which in its early days was chained to a Dutch pulpit to prevent thieves making off with it is the valued possession of Rev. Gordon J. Spykman.

The Bible was printed in Dutch in Leyden in 1663. It is in the 1632 state translation, similar in Dutch church history to the King James Version in English.

A prized possession of the minister in this Western Ontario village near Chatham, the book is bound in wooden covers, topped with leather, and has copper clasps. It has a spot for attaching the chain. Six inches thick, with pages measuring 11 by 16 inches, it weighs 25 pounds.

The early history of the Bible is obscure, but Dr. Spykman says it probably served as a family Bible after it was made obsolete by smaller pulpit Bibles. About 150 years ago it was brought to northern Michigan by Dutch immigrants.

Dr. Spykman found it discarded in a farmhouse attic while working there as a student minister. He says that apart from its 25-pound weight, most modern Dutchmen would find it heavy reading because it is printed in old Dutch with many letters no longer in use. In style it is quite close to the modern Dutch translation.

MRS. AMERICA BROKE

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—Mrs. Frances Cloyd, 29, Mrs. America of 1949, returned to her mother's home Tuesday. She had been missing since Monday. She told police she had driven to the Los Angeles area and had slept in her car, and attributed her disappearance to distress over financial problems.

Floor-Layers Vote To Strike At Coast

VANCOUVER (CP) — Two hundred floor-layers here have voted to strike next Monday unless their demands for retroactive pay are accepted.

They want pay retroactive to April 1 on an agreement granting a 38-cent-an-hour increase over two yars. Present pay is $2.22. The 14 firms involved have offered the pay increase only from the date the contract is signed. A strike would affect construction on stores, apartments, schools and other buildings.

190 HOUSES FOR OTTAWA

OTTAWA (CP)—A private company plans to build 190 three-bedroom, low-rental housing units in west-end Ottawa, Mayor George Nelms announced Tuesday. They are to be rented at about $70 a month to persons earning $4,000 a year or under. The $2,500,000 enterprise will operate under the National Housing Act.

Sells Wood-Working Idea To Russ

Ont. Company To Help Build Archangel Mill

TORONTO (CP) — An Ontario lumber company which developed a new woodworking method has sold the idea to the Soviet Union with Canadian government approval and plans to help the Russians build a mill to put the process to work.

R. W. L. Laidlaw, president of Great Northern Woods Company, Limited, of North Bay, Ont., said the deal was negotiated last October when a party of touring Russian lumbermen stopped off at North Bay.

The new method is a bonding process in which low-grade pieces of lumber, formerly discarded as scrap, are glued or jointed end-to-end and side-to-side. The finished boards are used in this country and the United States for interior trim and panelling.

Mr. Laidlaw said the Russians didn't appear to have decided what to use the finished product for. They had mentioned its structural possibilities, he said, but nothing further was known.

Mr. Laidlaw said the language barrier obscured several points in talks with the Russians at North Bay so engineer T. H. Chapman went to the Soviet Union to find the answers.

WEEK IN MOSCOW

He spent a week at Moscow and Archangel, on the White Sea coast of North Russia where the plant will be built.

Mr. Laidlaw said Great Northern will order $500,000 worth of specialized woodworking machinery, mostly from Canadian companies but partly from the U.S.

It will ship the machinery to Archangel and a party of Canadian engineers will follow to design and lay out the plant. Mr. Laidlaw said the building would cost an additional $500,000 by Canadian standards.

Great Northern expected the Archangel mill would be finished by August, 1958. The Canadian engineers would spend from two to three months in Russia.

Wheat Yield Below Normal Expected

WINNIPEG (CP) — The Free Press says in its preliminary crop estimate that Prairie wheat fields will produce a crop of only 292,000,000 bushels this year.

The paper says that due to prolonged dry weather and intense July heat, sharply reduced acreage and sub-normal yields in Saskatchewan and Alberta will account for the third smallest crop since the drought of the 1930s.

A below-normal wheat yield of 13.7 bushels an acre in Saskatchewan has reduced the Prairie average to 15.1, well below the 18.3 average of the last 10 years, the paper says. Last season an over-all yield of 25.3 bushels an acre resulted in a Prairie wheat crop of 516,000,000 bushels.

The Free Press estimates that oats output will be only 241,000,000 bushels compared with 396,000,000 bushels in 1956, and that the average yield for the Prairies will be 29.3 bushels an acre compared with the 10-year average of 33.8 bushels.

The paper says an average 24.9 bushels-an-acre barley yield will result in a crop of 215,000,000 bushels compared with 269,000,000 last year.

Flax is expected to yield 7.9 bushels an acre in the three provinces. Large acreage will result in a crop of 27,500,000 bushels compared with 34,500,000 bushels in 1956.

Rye production of 6,800,000 bushels, with an average yield of 13.9 bushels an acre, will be slightly below the 6,843,000 bushels turned out last year, the Free Press said.

SPINACH PLANTS

The edible green spinach plant is believed to have originated in Persia and was introduced to Europe during the 15th century.

Scientists Test Another Bomb

ATOMIC TEST SITE, Nev. (AP) — Atomic scientists unleashed the fury of an atomic explosion high over the Nevada desert Wednesday with a bright orange flash and a stunning shock wave.

The blast — much postponed—was detonated at 5:25 a.m. PDT.

The force of the blast—equal to 20,000 tons of TNT—ripped an unmanned navy blimp from its mooreings in the blast area. The blimp was dashed to the ground 10 miles away.

The explosion was detonated from a balloon tethered 1,500 feet above the test site. This shot, code-named Stokes, was open to reporters.

They viewed the explosion from News Nob, 10 miles from ground zero. The shock wave shook the correspondents and some 500 military observers as it rumbled past with a thunderous roar.

In Las Vegas, Nev., some 80 miles to the southeast, the glow of the bomb's fireball lit up the sky brighter than the rising sun. It was visible for 10 seconds.

Today's shot—12th in the current test series—came just one day after the 12th anniversary of the 1945 bombing of Hiroshima, Japan.

Pacifist demonstrators who came here in an effort to halt nuclear tests watched from off the test site as the Atomic Energy Commission fired its latest shot.

Eleven of the demonstrators were arrested Tuesday for trying to enter the restricted site. They were later released.

Odds . . . and Ends

by M. D. B.

While visiting some friends the other day they were showing me their color shots of the jubilee parade and were of the opinion it was the best they'd ever seen here. Friends of theirs from Calgary and Edmonton said it was the best parade they'd ever seen. This caught my friends a little off balance, for they thought our parade would be rather tame compared to those to be seen in larger centres. But no, they said in the bigger centres the parades are so commercialized you don't really enjoy them. I thought this worth passing on to all those who made our parade such a success.

Friends of mine who are growing a new bit of lawn now realize what I went through (you remember when I grew my grass) and are discovering the joy of watching it gradually sprouting up. I gathered that until then they had not really understood what a momentous occasion it could be when you put your head down by your knees and looked along the ground surface to see that fine green fuzz appearing. It's like a young boy waiting till the soft down on his cheek is ready for the razor.

* * *

In the "News" mail the other day was a postcard from a man requesting one of our papers to add to his collection of 3157. He says he has papers from all the 48 States, 193 from Canada and 25 from foreign countries. I couldn't help wondering where on earth he keeps them for that would be a veritable mountain of newspapers.

* * *

Something that bothers me is the way the show music is pitched for huge theatres so that when it comes to our modest building it nearly blasts our eardrums to bits. I keep wondering if there isn't some way of turning it down a bit. The other night at the beginning of one of those wide screen affairs it started out with such a blast the whole screen danced and it continued to shake the whole place with its voice of mighty things to come. If it didn't happen so often I would not bother mentioning it, but it seems every one of these "epics" has a musical score meant to level mountains and open great fissures in the earth. Oh, me!

Signs of Fall: the maple keys are nearly to the size where you small boys can make whistles of them and the vine at the end of Baker Street is beginning to turn red. Anybody notice Summer along the way?

Claims Canada's Fish Spread Disease In U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Representative Victor Knox (Rep. Mich.) says diseased fish imported from Canada are ruining the reputation of Great Lakes fish.

"It is apparent that these infected, grubby and diseased fish are coming from the Canadian inland lakes, particularly from the Alberta and Saskatchewan area," Knox said in a speech prepared for delivery in the House of Representatives.

He added that reports from the Michigan Fish Producers Association indicate that this is "ruining the fine reputation of the Great Lakes commercial fishermen as well as destroying their market, not to mention the health of the consumer."

Knox said the federal Food and Drug Administration has informed him that it is impossible to inspect all fish entering the United States.

"It is time something was done to safeguard the American public against a market of inferior fish infested with parasitic worms and to protect those fishermen producing a high-quality product.

"It is my understanding that high - grade Canadian producers, especially the Great Lakes fishermen, are equally concerned about these inferior imports of fish which are unfit for human consumption."

Knox said the inferior fish coming across the border include white fish, lake trout and other food species.

M. R. Stephens, enforcement director for the Food and Drug Administration, informed Knox that his agency has requested criminal proceedings be brought against a Detroit firm importing fish from Canada.

"The alleged offences . . . consisted of the interstate shipment of ciscoes and white fish infected with parisitic worms," Stephens said in a letter to Knox. "Our information indicates that the fish were produced in Canada.

"The fish themselves were seized and destroyed last year. The offences which occurred in February, March, and August of last year were discovered as the result of one of the special investigations with which we supplement our routine examinations of fish when imported."

Crackdown On Bad Driving To Continue

VICTORIA (CP) — A province-wide crackdown on "irresponsible and inconsiderate drivers" will continue in an attempt to halt B.C.'s rising highway death toll, motor vehicles superintendent George Lindsay has stated.

Mr. Lindsay said driving was a privilege and that licences would be suspended for unsatisfactory records "even if such a move means a driver loses his job."

Suspension of driving licences of offenders for the first seven months of 1957 totalled 1,631, an increase of 63.6 per cent from the same period in 1956.

Court suspensions were up 56.0 per cent, while letters of warning were sent to 68.1 per cent more drivers.

The crackdown will continue as long as highway deaths spiral, Mr. Lindsay said.

Of the 107 persons who lost their lives on B.C. highways in the first six months of this year, 34 were drivers, 34 passengers, 33 pedestrians, five cyclists and one riding a sleigh.

French Finance Minister Stays

PARIS (Reuters) — Finance Minister Felix Gaillard, who had threatened to quit the government if his austerity budget was not adopted, emerged from a key ministerial meeting after having obtained agreement for his program.

Prime Minister Maurice Bourges - Maunoury announced full agreement on the economy plan between the government and the 37-year-old Gaillard.

Rene Coty, the president of the republic, flew back from vacation for a full cabinet meeting on the issue.

Gaillard, nicknamed "Mr. Rock" because he will not give way on his austerity plan, insists on cutting 600,000,000,000 francs ernment spending in his budget to put the country's finances on a firm footing.

He has to find a way to pay for essential imports for an expanding industry out of savings and profits. The defence minister has already agreed to cuts in his military budget provided there is no let-up in the Algerian effort.

Vancouver Seeks Early Action On Unemployment

VANCOUVER (CP)—City Council has asked the provincial government to "plan something now" to cope with threats of serious unemployment next Winter.

The council also instructed Ald. J. W. Cornett to place a similar request before the executive committee of the Canadian Federation of Mayors and Municipalities in Eastern Canada this Fall.

Ald. Anna Sprott, proposing the motion, quoted reports that unemployment in Vancouver may reach 60,000 next Winter.

"I am alarmed at this prospect," she said. "It is double the unemployment we had last year."

"In previous years we have left this until too late in the year. We should take steps now."

$150 Million Dam Proposed For Columbia Near Richland

KENNEWICK, Wash. (AP) — A proposal to build a $150,000,000 power dam on the Columbia River eight miles north of Richland has been announced by Owen Hurd, manager of the Benton County public utility district.

Hurd said an application for a preliminary survey permit has been filed with the Federal Power Commission.

He said 16 other utility districts belonging to the Washington public power supply system have been invited to join in the proposed project — a move he added would reduce the total cost and lessen the risk.

Hurd suggested the proposed project, to be called Ben Franklin Dam, would take 12 to 18 months to build and would have a capacity of 450,000 kilowatts.
