U.S. Suggests Early Multi-Power Talks

Russ Levels Trickery Charges at West; Demands Complete Abolition of Tests

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The United States offered Thursday to enter immediately into multi-power talks on control of outer space missiles. The offer was ignored by the Soviet Union, which accused the West of trickery in disarmament negotiations.

U.S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge told the United Nations "We must not miss this chance" to harness for peace outer space missiles "which can blow us to bits."

But Soviet Foreign Minister Andrey Gromyko, speaking after Lodge in the UN's 82 - country political committee, made no specific mention of control of missiles. He declared the Western powers are "still unwilling to reach any agreement." He added:

"For that reason we call upon the governments of the U. S., Britain and France to accept an honest and mutually acceptable agreement. It is time to put trickery aside and stop making a good face when the game is lost."

TOUGH SPEECH

The Soviet foreign minister delivered one of his toughest UN speeches in recent years. He rejected the western proposals put forth at the London talks of the UN subcommittee on disarmament and stood on previous Soviet proposals which put priority on immediate and unconditional abolition of tests of nuclear weapons.

Lodge said that outer space missiles, "like atomic energy can serve the purpose of peace or it can be used to blow us to bits."

He added that the United States has proposed the setting up of a technical committee to work out an inspection system to ensure that objects sent into outer space serve peaceful and scientific purposes exclusively.

"If there is general agreement to proceed with this study on a multi-lateral basis," he said, "the United States is prepared to join in this initiative without awaiting the conclusion of negotiations on the other substantive proposals."

Lodge said nuclear tests could be suspended immediately if there was in existence a treaty "for initial measures of disarmament."

No Holiday For Schools

VICTORIA (CP)—H. L. Campbell, provincial deputy minister of education, indicated Thursday night B.C. school children will not get a holiday to honor the queen's visit to Canada.

Mr. Campbell was questioned on B.C.'s stand after it was announced by Manitoba and Ontario that students would be given a holiday Tuesday to mark Queen Elizabeth's visit.

"We haven't any information on that at all," he said in a telephone interview, "but the minister's latest statement was that it was highly improbable."

Education Minister Leslie Peterson was not available for comment.

Sandys Would Pool Brains

BRIGHTON, Eng. (Reuters) — Defence Minister Duncan Sandys Thursday urged the United States "in the light of recent developments," to allow American and British scientists to pool their brains.

Speakers at the opening day of the Conservative party's annual conference blamed lack of Anglo-American co-operation for Russia "pipping the West" on an earth satellite and the intercontinental ballistic missile.

Sandys recalled that the exchange of nuclear weapon information is banned under the U.S. McMahon Act.

"We regret very much we should now be duplicating the effort of rare scientific brains in this field," he said.

As the conference opened here, the foreign office announced in London that Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd will confer with U.S. State Secretary John Foster Dulles during the Queen's visit to Washington.

DOLLAR HIGHER

NEW YORK (CP) — The Canadian dollar was 3-32 higher at a premium of 3⅜ in terms of U.S. funds Thursday; a week ago 3 5-32 per cent premium. Pound sterling was 1-8 lower at $2.80 1-8.

Ducks for Queen

PRINCE ALBERT, Sask. (CP) — Twenty-one mallard ducks were flown to Ottawa Wednesday for serving to Queen Elizabeth when she dines with Prime Minister Diefenbaker next week.

The prime minister had asked two Prince Albert hunters, Leo Brenner and Gordon Lund, to produce the duck dinner. On a two-day hunt, they shot 60 ducks. Twenty-one were selected, dressed, and quick frozen.

For good measure, the Prince Albert sportsmen also included three Prairie chickens, two ruffed grouse, and two moose roasts.

"We want the Queen to have a real good feed of our Saskatchewan wild game," said Mr. Brenner.

Rocket Gives Brighter Light

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Soviet earth satellite was outshone by its third-stage rocket in North American skies Thursday.

An observation team at New Haven, Conn., reported sighting the rocket, which gave the satellite the final thrust on its spin around the world, at 3:23 a.m. MDT.

Scientists credited the team with providing the first visual fix on the rocket in the United States since last Friday's launching. Both the rocket and the radio-equipped globe it carried into the outer atmosphere are considered satellites as they orbit the earth.

Dr. J. Allen Hynek, director of the optical tracking crew at the Smithsonian Institution's astrophysical observatory at Cambridge, Mass., said the rocket is larger than the globe and reflects a brighter light.

Hynek estimated the two satellites are about 700 miles apart, with the third-stage rocket in the lead because it probably has dropped to a smaller orbit.

Two Try to Photograph Sputnik

By CHUCK MORROW
Canadian Press Staff Writer

NEWBROOK, Alta. (CP) — The cameras of astronomers Arthur Griffin and Jack Grant will point toward the north again early today in another attempt to record on film the movements of Russia's wandering earth satellite, Sputnik.

In the last two days, the tiny sphere, or the rocket that launched it finally on its around-the-world orbit — there's some argument on this point — has been photographed twice by Mr. Griffin, 31-year-old Ontario native in charge of the meteor observatory here.

Mr. Griffin said Thursday he believes his second photographs taken at about 4:50 a.m. MST Thursday, are clearer than those he took about the same time Wednesday when he snapped what may have been the first photograph taken of the satellite in flight.

Annette Weds Today

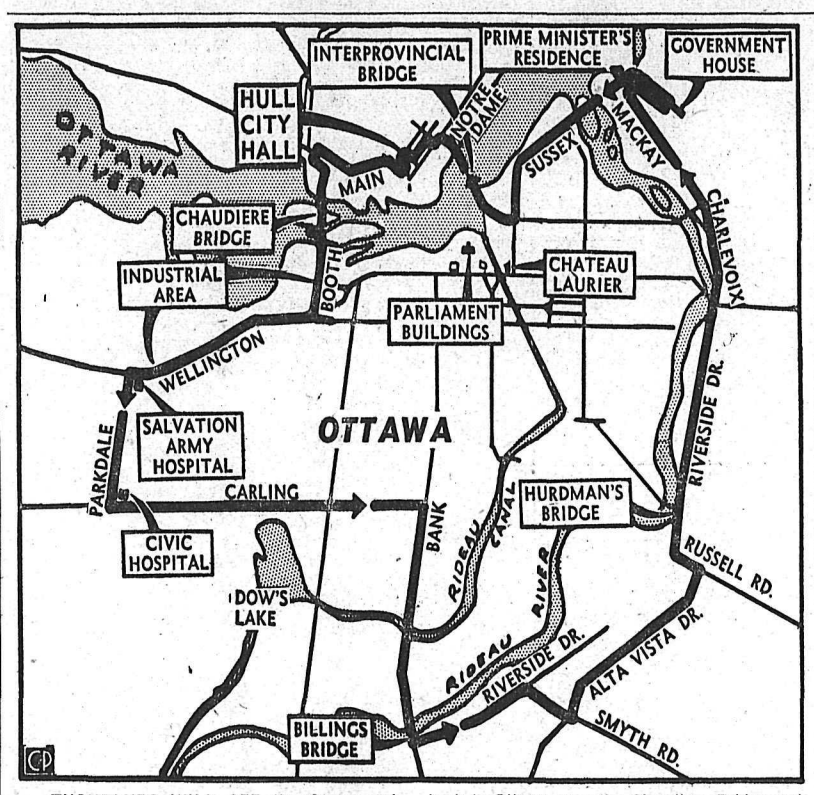
MONTREAL (CP) — Annette Dionne is scheduled today to become the first of the four surviving quints to wed.

She and finance company agent Germain Allard will marry in a small, private Roman Catholic ceremony witnessed by 20 guests.

True to the Dionnes' passion for privacy, the location has been kept well shielded from public knowledge. The romance itself has been guarded closely.

Annette, 23, met Germain, 24, at a 1955 Christmas party.

Old Age Pensions Going Up to $55



THOUSANDS WILL SEE the Queen and Prince Philip when they visit Ottawa but on Tuesday, Oct. 15, the Royal Couple will have their best chance to do a little looking themselves at Canada's capital. This map shows the route of their 15-mile tour and the places they will see. Starting off from Government House at 10 a.m., they will drive along Sussex Street past the residence of Prime Minister Diefenbaker where they will be dinner guests that evening, across the Rideau River, over the Interprovincial Bridge and into Hull, Que. After signing the Golden Book in Hull city hall, they will head back to Ottawa over the Chaudiere Bridge and through an industrial area. Patients in the Salvation Army and Civic hospitals will be able to see the Royal Couple as they drive down Parkdale. The drive down Carling Avenue will take them along a new four-lane throughway to store-lined Bank Street, then across the Rideau Canal and Rideau River to residential Riverside Drive. At Hurdman's Bridge, the Queen will inaugurate a new super-highway project through the capital, the Queen Elizabeth Way. In late afternoon, the Queen will attend a reception at the Chateau Laurier Hotel.—CP Newsmap.

Crying Towels Sold Well

NEW YORK (AP)—Minutes after the Milwaukee Braves scored four runs in the third inning of the final world series game with the New York Yankees, concessionaries began hawking "Yankee crying towels" to the customers.

They were made of cloth and carried such printed legends as "It shouldn't happen to us," and "Wait till next year." They did brisk business at 50 cents each.

Death Knell For Reserves?

OTTAWA (CP) — The first step in what may be eventual elimination of Canada's reserve forces was announced Thursday.

Army headquarters said summer camp for the 42,000-man militia will be cut out and more emphasis placed on civil defence training by the reserve army.

First reaction by senior militia commanders was dismay. Some said the militia might as well be done away with right now and added they expect reservists to quit the militia in heavy numbers.

The army also announced that the 1st Canadian Infantry Division will not conduct manoeuvres next summer at Camp Gagetown, N. B., built at a cost of $100,000,000 for divisional training.

That announcement led to speculation by army officers that headquarters of the 1st Division at Camp Petawawa, Ont., will be disbanded and that infantry brigades will work directly through army headquarters.

Hard Winter Seen For B.C. Industry

VANCOUVER (CP) — The Sun says in a survey on business that British Columbia's industry may face a hard winter.

The newspaper says top business leaders are full of optimism about the province's long-term future but they have some qualms about immediate prospects.

"Conditions are likely to remain cloudy for a year, possibly as much as three years," the paper says.

Unemployment was mounting in the lumber industry and in mining.

"Applications for benefits are up between 40 and 60 per cent over this time last year. Total employment is also up over last year because of the large working force."

A survey showed production of logs was 50 per cent below this time last year with an estimated 5000 to 6000 loggers idle. Many mines had closed with 1500 men laid off. Most had found work outside the mining industry.

Retail store sales were expected to remain high throughout the year with a drop in volume in the first six months of next year.

But on the optimistic side, looking to the long-term future, the paper quoted several business leaders:

Charles Woodward, president, Woodward Stores Ltd.: "Business will hold at pretty close to present levels and then rise again."

P. T. Sinclair, president, Crown-Zellerbach (Canada) Ltd.: "Prospects are excellent but for one to three years things will be slower."

Norman Whittal, stock broker and financier: "I'm an optimist. The long-range future is wonderful."

Gordon Farrell, president, B.C. Telephone Co.: "There's nowhere I would rather have my money invested than B.C. But the immediate future isn't so bright."

For the immediate present, stockbrokers have ears tuned to eastern markets. Business is off sharply.

"The boys are beginning to carry sandwich lunches again," commented one businessman on the slow-up in stock trading. "It's like old times."

FIRST ORE LEAVES NEW B.C. PORT

VANCOUVER (CP) — The first cargo of iron ore has been shipped from Port McNeill, B.C.'s latest deep-sea port.

The Japanese ore carrier Nisshun Maru sailed Thursday with 14,500 tons of ore from the new Empire mine at Quatsino.

The ore is shipped by truck from the mine at the north end of Vancouver Island to tidewater at Port McNeill near Alert Bay. Japanese capital is invested in the project and most of the mine's output is slated for delivery to Japanese mills.

SPOKANE (AP) — The Sunshine Mining Co. has found oil and gas in a second well near Ocean City in western Washington, a company official said Thursday.

Wilson Succeeds White as CD Co-Ordinator

VICTORIA (CP) — Resignation of three B.C. Civil Defence officials and the appointment of three replacements was approved by provincial cabinet Thursday.

Civil Defence spokesmen said there was nothing unusual about the resignations and that it was merely coincidence that they all came at the same time.

Approved were the resignations of Cathcart Bruce as director of training at provincial CD headquarters, J. Nicholson of Prince George, co-ordinator for central B.C. and E. W. White, of Nelson, co-ordinator for West Kootenay.

They were succeeded by Lionel A. Hart as director of training, W. R. Munro of Prince George and J. A. Wilson of Nelson.

Roger Peachey, Victoria area co-ordinator, resigned earlier this week. A replacement has not yet been named.

Syria Protests Turks' Actions

DAMASCUS, Syria (Reuters)—Syria has protested to Turkey against "holding continuous demonstrations coupled with provocative acts" near the border of northern Syria, it was announced Thursday.

The text of the protest, said Syria had noticed "unusually large" concentrations of Turkish troops near the Syrian border.

The protest said "several times, Turkish aircraft have violated Syrian skies."

Saud Continues Peace Campaign

BEIRUH (AP)—King Saud came to Lebanon Thursday and continued his campaign to persuade Arab countries to stop bickering among themselves.

The Saudi Arabian king appears to have made some headway toward patching up the quarrels.

Perhaps because of this, Saud got a welcome noticeably larger and warmer than ever before. A 21-gun salute sounded as Saud alighted from his plane and shook hands with President Camille Chamoun, Premier Sami Solh and other Lebanese officials.

Saud's visit follows by only two weeks his visit to Syria. He publicly rebuffed a U. S. charge that Syria's leftist swing and Communist arms buildup are endangering Middle East peace.

Since then Saud has gained considerable stature as a mediator. He brought together in Damascus the chiefs of state of Iraq and Syria. Those two countries have been quarreling for two years. Moreover, he persuaded the governments of Syria and Jordan to curb their vitriolic tirades against each other. There also has been a noticeable let-up in tension between Syria and Lebanon.

Aid to Veterans, Disabled, Blind Heads Session Agenda

By HAROLD MORRISON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP)—A $90,000,000-a-year boost in old-age pensions, coupled with increased aid for veterans, the blind and disabled, likely will top the Progressive Conservative government's legislative program to be unveiled by the Queen in the new Parliament Monday.

In line with Prime Minister Diefenbaker's election promise to increase aid to Canada's 900,000 pensioners, informants say it is almost certain the monthly payment, hoisted by $6, to $46, by the former Liberal government earlier this year, will be pushed up by the Conservatives to $55, another $9.

The increase would become effective immediately after parliamentary approval, perhaps by Nov. 1.

RECORD HIGH

It would raise total federal pension outlays to a record high of $560,000,000 annually. When all other social welfare payments are included—such as family allowances and health grants—total federal welfare costs would be well over $1,000,000,000.

The central government pays the full shot for the current $46-a-month pension paid to all 70 and over. About 800,000 get such cheques. Another 100,000 get similar payments made to the needy in the 65-69 age category, with the cost shared 50-50 by the federal and provincial governments.

Payments to the blind and disabled and to veterans likely will be scaled up in line with the general pension increase. Those groups were included in the general increase granted by the previous Liberal administration, effective last July 1.

Needy blind and disabled now receive a maximum $46 a month. Provincial governments pay 25 per cent of blind pensions and Totally-disabled war veterans get $150 a month if single and $200 if married. A war widow receives $115.

FIRST SESSION

No other major social welfare increases appear likely for the fall session, the first for the new government. But Mr. Diefenbaker will be entering Parliament with a minority government, holding only 111 of the 265 seats. He may perhaps give sympathetic consideration to splinter party proposals to gain their support.

For instance, the CCF which holds 25 seats has proposed an old-age pension of $75 a month and CCF deputy leader Stanley Knowles says the party feels the payment should be not less than $60.

The CCF also wants mental and tubercular patients included in the federal hospital-insurance scheme. It is not likely that either of those two issues would result in a new general election, but it is possible the Conservatives may agree to the TB and mental inclusion.

The scheme, introduced by the previous administration, calls for federal-provincial sharing of costs for providing diagnostic service and standard hospital care.

Ghana Accepts U.S. Apology

ACCRA, Ghana (AP) — The foreign ministry announced Thurs. it has accepted a U.S. government apology for a color-bar incident involving a Ghana cabinet minister visiting the United States.

K. A. Gbedemah, minister of finance who had been attending the World Bank meeting in Washington, was turned out of a restaurant in Dover, Del., Monday, because of his color.

"We were very much worried when we first heard of the incident, but became relieved when President Eisenhower invited Mr. Gbedemah to breakfast," a ministry statement said.

A spokesman added: "I think the whole affair is now forgotten."

U.S. Ambassador Wilson Flake expressed his personal regret to the ministry Wednesday night.

Meteorite Fragments Pounding Satellite

LONDON (CP)—Moscow radio said Thursday night that meteorite fragments in outer space are crashing into the Soviet satellite but apparently causing no serious damage.

"The artificial satellite now is being bombarded by micro-meteorites," the Moscow broadcast reported.

No major meteor body large enough to stop the satellite has yet crossed its path Moscow said.

The real danger period will come in the three-day span beginning Oct. 20 Moscow said.

ONE THREAT PASSES

That is when the earth and the satellite will pass through meteor debris left by the Halley comet.

The Soviet baby moon zoomed past one danger deadline foreseen by British scientists Thursday. British astronomers said debris of the Giacobini - Zinner comet held a threat to Sputnik.

Moscow radio said some of this debris undoubtedly was nicking the body of the satellite and its trailing carrier rocket but a special microphone will register such collisions in the future.

A leading British astronomer said that the artificial moon might return to the earth intact.

Professor A. C. B. Lovell mentioned this possibility as the baby moon completed its seventh day of whirling around the world at 18,000 miles an hour.

Lovell is in charge of the world's largest radio telescope at Jodrell Bank in Cheshire, England. He said there are three possibilities for the satellite's future: First, it might evaporate; secondly, it might come down in small pieces.

He added: "Thirdly, it is just conceivable the Russians have stolen a bigger march on the West by finding some means of constructing this satellite so that it will come through the atmosphere intact and land."

Russian scientists said the satellite is likely to go on girdling the earth 16 times a day for an undetermined period — "maybe a week, a month or a year."

Slocan City May Become Village

SHELLEY FOUND NOT GUILTY

VANCOUVER (CP) — A Supreme Court jury Thursday found Norman Walter Shelley, 28, not guilty of attempted murder by reason of insanity.

Shelley had been charged with trying to murder Mrs. Donna Jean Berry, June 8, 1953, in a city hotel room.

Mr. Justice Alan Maclean ordered that Shelley be held in custody "at the lieutenant-governor's pleasure."

"I agree with your verdict," the judge told the jurors.

The court had been told by five doctors that Shelley was an epileptic and had a psychopathic personality.

SLOCAN CITY — This historic centre, the smallest incorporated city on the North American continent, is likely to revert to village status.

As soon as information is received from the B.C. Department of Municipalities, city council will arrange for a plebiscite on the matter, Mayor R. G. Warner said Thursday.

A few months ago some citizens sought information on the possibilities and advantages of becoming a village. Mayor Warner arranged with J. D. Baird, supervisor and deputy inspector of municipalities, to come to Slocan City Sept. 28, following the Union of B.C. Municipalities convention in Nelson.

At a well attended meeting, Mr. Baird explained the details and advantages of the 400 population centre being a village. Because of the difference it would make in taxes and for other reasons, most residents indicated preference to revert to village status.

There were some citizens who, in view of the coming of improved power and road facilities and the uniqueness of being the smallest North American City, favored retaining city status, but generally the advantages of becoming a village won favor, Mayor Warner believed.

6000 IN '90s

Slocan City's interesting history dates back to the early nineties. The mining rush of those days saw it with a population of 6000.

It was incorporated as a city in 1900, three years after the first train arrived. It once supported 16 hotels.

Prior to World War I when there were many small mines operating, a union entered the picture and higher wage demands forced some mine operators to close. Drop in ore prices in 1919-20 furthered its deterioration.

During World War II, moving of thousands of Japanese from the Coast to the Slocan gave the city another financial lift. Many Japanese still reside there.

Unlike many centres which boomed in early mining days and have fallen, Slocan City has not become a ghost town. In recent years it has developed a new look. Many old disreputable buildings have been torn down. Among its new buildings, which might be taken as a yardstick of its future possibilities, are a firehall, in which city offices are located; B.C. Forest Service buildings, post office and high school.

At present the city's Centennial Committee is discussing plans for improvements to their park on Slocan Lake as their Centennial project.

BLETCHINGDON, England (Reuters) — Both the bride and bridegroom fainted in church here Wednesday as the bishop conducted their marriage service.

The bridegroom, Rev. Henry Daubney, 40, Anglican rector of this village of 490, dropped first.

A few moments later, his bride, Constance Jill Biddington, 30, flopped down beside him.

Bishop Harry Carpenter tarried a while till the bridal couple revived.

Then the wedding went on.

LONDON (AP)—A judge ruled Wednesday that a woman who marries a keen golfer or fisherman had better just get used to the idea and stop thinking about divorce.

Justice Gordon Willmer rejected a divorce petition by Mrs. Irene Dickens who complained her husband Edward went fishing four evenings a week and spent the rest of his spare time preparing bait. In other words, she said, he neglected her.

"A woman might marry a keen fisherman or golf addict," said the judge, "but that is one of the things which come within the phrase 'for better or for worse.' "

VICTORIA (CP)—A hard-working thief who fumbled his safe-cracking bid made off with a $400 dictating machine from Stewart and Hudson Ltd., Wednesday night.

He failed to break into a six-foot safe that wasn't even locked until he pushed the door shut while removing the handle and hinges.

"Of course, he may have been just practicing," J. W. Anderson, accountant and office manager, said.

Mission Tapes Sputnik Signals

MISSION CITY (CP) — Signals from Sputnik 1, Russia's earth satellite have been successfully taped in Mission City.

Ed Marler, amateur radio enthusiast living on Hurd Road, made the recordings. He found the signals increased sharply in tone at times, when the satellite was estimated to be directly overhead.

See where the Japan Space Travel Association is selling land on Mars. Can't you just see those first space travellers landing on Mars with their deeds clutched in their fists all prepared to set up housekeeping on an acre or two on the red planet? What I'm wondering is, how are they going to explain to the Martians that their slips of paper entitle them to a portion of their planet.

* * *

Just think, perhaps on Mars there is an association selling acres of Earth to the Martians. Why I'd like to see any Martian step off my property, check his little slip of paper and say, "Yes, this is the piece of land I bought," and try to settle down on my 30 by 120. Why, I'd dump him in the lily pool.

* * *

See where Trail Rotarians are planning a tree-planting campaign. More power to them, I say, for the reforestation program that has gone on in and around Trail in the past 25 years or so has certainly made the desert blossom as the rose.

* * *

It being a particularly wonderful day Wednesday and my day off I persuaded a friend to go walking with me. A great thing—walking—especially along sun-dappled ways with crisp leaves crackling underfoot. We hung over the railing of the Rosemont bridge, to marvel at the depth of the chasm and admire the cool green moss in its shadowed depths. Fallen leaves of red and yellow jewelled mossy ledges and rocks washed clean by the spring torrent.

* * *

There was not much water going over the falls and what there was, spilled from one narrow cleft to send its long lacy pattern of bubbles and foam cascading out like a bridal veil. On the lower side of the bridge a mountain ash tree also peered down into the age-old gash in the rock, its leaves and berries aflame in the sunlight.

* * *

We wandered around the new subdivision over there admiring the new homes—the ones with gardens and landscaping established and the ones still in the building. They certainly have a view down the lake! And speaking of this view, I hope you were fortunate enough to see the sunset—a splash of vibrant color in sky and lake surrounded by purpling hills and shore-shadowed water. It was the bonus of the day.

Jones spoke to the group on rehabilitation work and coordination, as director of the local "piloting" committee.

Mr. Disney reported that the group was quite interested and indicated that they would favor such a rehabilitation program in Nelson.

Tuesday night Mr. Disney assisted by W. C. Leahy of Nelson showed the film to Nelson Kinsmen Club meeting. It was well received there also. President M. A. Martyn stated that they would certainly be willing to co-operate especially since their club is active in polio rehabilitation and similar work.

Trail Kiwanis Officials Hear Nelson Fire Talk

Kiwanis International division lieutenant-governor Clayton Stewart of Trail and five members of Trail Kiwanis Club executive heard some stern advice on fire prevention in Nelson Thursday night.

The group had come to the weekly meeting of the Nelson club to present a certificate of incorporation as a society to the Nelson members and to participate in inter-club discussion. Fire Chief E. S. Owens was also there to deliver a Fire Prevention Week message.

The Trailites were Sam Konkin, president; Ken Hughes, president-elect; and Fred W. Doubt, Ralph T. Garland and Norman J. Backus, directors. Mr. Doubt is a former Nelson Kiwanian.

Mr. Stewart handed over papers to Frank Eberle, who has been Nelson chairman in arranging for the club's incorporation, and gave the certificate to president W. B. Christie. He explained that incorporation meant club members could not be held personally liable in the event of an accident during any function they sponsored.

Mr. Konkin extended an invitation to the Trail club Oct. 19, when Pacific Northwest governor Mel Dennis would conduct a general induction of new members in division clubs. A dinner, program and dance were planned. At least seven Nelson couples would attend,

FIREMEN CO-WORKERS

Fire Chief Owens explained why so much emphasis was being placed upon fire prevention. He said visits of the firemen in connection with this work were "bothersome" to many establishments, but the men were performing their duty under provincial and city laws.

"We try to place ourselves on the basis of a co-worker," not as "knowing everything," but in a desire to reduce the cause of fire. Firemen found it more difficult to deal with the public in this work than in "fighting the largest fires."

"They just don't like to see us on the premises, in many cases," he said.

Main prevention program in Nelson was directed to the children, who took manuals home to study, thereby increasing their ability to read, but also prompting their parents in conducting safety practices at home.

Fire fighting today was a science, a profession. No longer did firemen just throw water on fires. There was much to be studied — hydraulics, first aid, oxygen therapy, pumping operations, driving, and so on.

He urged members to remember that "every time the firemen go out, it's a gamble. We pay the highest insurance premiums." The club also visited the firehall.

Mrs. McPherson Passes at 81

Mrs. Isabella McPherson died at the age of 81 at Mount St. Francis on Thursday.

She was born at Valentine's Cove in Antigonish County, Nova Scotia, in 1876. She came west and was married in Trail to Dugald McPherson who was a carpenter for Consolidated Mining and Smelting.

They moved to Nelson in 1937. Her husband predeceased her 12 years ago.

Survivors are one brother, David MacDonald at Valentine's Cove, N. S.; one nephew, Leo Roberts at Valentine's Cove; and one neice, Mrs. Neil Campbell at Detroit.

'Flu Cutting Down Nelson Schools' Enrolments But Not Thought Serious

Although 25 per cent of L. V. Rogers High School students have been absent this week because of influenza, the situation is not considered too serious and some of the principals feel it should not be referred to as an epidemic.

Rogers High School is the worst hit this week with 22 per cent to 25 per cent of their enrolment absent. Rogers had about 12 per cent absent the middle of last week and toward the end of the week it appeared the worst was over.

The situation at St. Joseph's is also worse than last week with approximately 10 per cent absent. Central Elementary had practically none absent last week but are missing 10 to 12 per cent this week. Hume School had only four per cent or five per cent out of school last week and an estimated five per cent to seven per cent this week, just slightly higher than average absenteeism throughout the year.

In most schools the ill effects were not obvious in any particular age group or class. However, South Nelson Elementary had almost half of their Grade One pupils absent. Their Grade Six has been only about 10 per cent absent and the other grades were also affected only slightly, though the situation seems to be gradually getting worse with roughly 20 per cent absent throughout the school. There were practically none missing school last week.

At Junior High there were very few absent last week and about 15 per cent staying home this week.

MILD CASES

Dr. A. W. L. Vogelsang of the Selkirk Health Unit stated that most of the children that have been absent the last two weeks definitely have had some form of influenza. He explained that the symptoms are similar to Asiatic 'flu. Local cases are generally mild. He said that there is no laboratory proof that the current sickness is actually Asiatic 'flu, although it may be in some way related to it.

"The schools at Trail were not closed because of the severity of the disease," he said, "but rather because their attendance was not large enough to warrant teaching."

The first batches of influenza vaccine are now arriving in B.C. but it may take some time before it arrives in this district. Because of the limited quantity available, careful planning and selection of eligible persons is necessary which also slows down the program, it was stated.

Hunting Favorite Sport 'Of East Kootenay

CRANBROOK — Predominance of hunting as the chief adult sport interest in East Kootenay was outlined at the Junior Chamber of Commerce meeting by game biologist Glen Smith.

He said records showed half the adult male population have hunting licences each fall, and that the big game resource in this area is second only to Africa in the world. His talk was on the invitation of a Jaycee committee headed by Frank Neads which proposes the Cranbrook district should sponsor an annual late September sportsmen show accenting what the district offers in game and fish.

The Jaycee committee will meet next week to consider a program of exhibits and activities for such a show, and will enlist organizations interested in arranging and sponsoring it.

On the basis of Keith Dixon's low gross score, Cranbrook Jaycee's retained the McIntyre Any-Sport Trophy in competition with Kimberley and Creston Jaycees. The public speaking course which Jaycees sponsored last year will be repeated this year for members as part of the semi-monthly meetings, with James Nelson as chairman.

Sale of 350 B.C. centennial licence plates in the area by Cranbrook Jaycees was reported.

Special speaker at the meeting was James A. Byrne, MP, who spoke on some of the problems in national affairs which will confront the coming session of parliament.

The meeting elected R. S. Cram as new association president, William Schorlemer, vice-president, Mrs. John Wardrope, secretary and James Buchanan, treasurer.

Triumph For The Bird

LEEDS, England (Reuters)—A Solomon-like judge has cured 83-year-old Charley Rawnsley of keeping a bird with a nine-inch wing span in an eight-inch-square cage.

In police court Wednesday, Judge Ralph Cleworth beckoned to the cramped cells below the court and told Rawnsley: "You go down there until the court rises and see what it is like to be confined."

An hour later, Rawnsley emerged and said: "I don't like it. That's the last time I shall ever have a singing-bird in a cage."

The court ordered the bird, a European linnet, confiscated and the cage destroyed.

Canyon Socreds Discuss Road Work

TRAIL (CP)—RCMP are looking for a man who fired a shot at a vehicle driven by a Trail woman.

Mrs. Gordon H. Turner told police that a man fired at her jeep Wednesday as she was returning home after taking her children to school.

About two miles from the school, she heard three whistles and a loud noise and smelled burning rubber. Mrs. Taylor stopped the vehicle and got out with her five-year-old son.

The woman told police she saw a man, armed with a rifle, standing on a nearby hilltop. He motioned to them but she left the jeep and ran with her son to a neighbor's.

A bullet hole was found at the back of the jeep and a bullet was recovered from the spare tire.

The incident took place in the Hanna Creek area.

Cranbrook Tourist Camp Has Good Reason

CRANBROOK — Closure of the City Tourist Camp is scheduled for mid-October, with an excellent season reported. Manager S. T. Craig will continue as caretaker at the camp for the winter months in exchange for living quarters, water and light.

Trailers wintering in the park will be charged a monthly rental and will be responsible for their own utilities arrangements.

R. L. Dearmond, who has been city officer for parking meter checks for the past two months, has completed these duties to start rink management work. A new appointment for meter check is pending. Some 50 parking violation tickets are reported outstanding and the city clerk was instructed to proceed with prosecutions toward collection of the dollar fine.

Postmaster R. E. Fennessey's request that the meter by the post office at Baker Lane be removed to facilitate mail trucks access to the delivery door was granted. Application of a property owner in the first block south of Baker Street on Eighth Avenue for removal of one meter to provide access to a vacant lot which could be used for sleeper parking was tabled for further information.

Shift of the present compulsory truck route from the arterial highway at Baker Street North on Van Horne Street to Third Street North, altering to join the highway at Fourth Street North is being considered by the City Council.

A provincial public library request for continuation of use of its present East Kootenay Regional Library headquarters on East Baker Street until the end of the year was approved. The city plans to locate its works department headquarters in this building in 1958.

Provision of a power line extension by the city to the site of a battery-operated flashing beacon Southeast of Cranbrook maintained by the Department of Transport for airport night guidance is under consideration on a cost sharing basis.

Cancel Agricultural Conference for '57

OTTAWA (CP) — The annual federal - provincial agricultural conference won't be held this year —the first time the meeting has been called off since the Second World War—the agriculture department announced Thursday.

"With the agreement of most of the provinces and the major farm organizations, the customary Dominion - provincial agricultural conference of agricultural officials will be cancelled this year," the department said.

A main reason given for the conference cancellation is that agriculture ministers from all provinces spent two days here a couple of weeks ago in closed meetings with federal Agriculture Minister Harkness.

The ministers are believed to have been given some advance indication of the agriculture program the new Progressive Conservative government plans to propose to Parliament.

GIVE REASONS

"The reason for dropping the annual get - together is the fact that there has been a recent full-scale conference of ministers of agriculture," the department said.

"As well, the new government has received formal delegations from both the Canadian Federation of Agriculture and the Interprovincial Farm Union Council.

"These considerations, together with the fact that Parliament will likely be in session at the time and a Dominion - provincial financial and taxation conference is in the offing, brought the decision to drop the agricultural conference for this year."

The conference usually is held in December. In recent years it has run for three days and was open to the press.

It was generally considered a sort of national forum at which all agricultural problems could be discussed. The federal agriculture department presented reports to the conference on production and market prospects for the coming year.

The announcement Thursday said these reports will be published as usual this year by the department.

Diamond Addresses Final Dinner Of Commonwealth Mining Congress

HALIFAX (CP) — Canadians have received "a new view of Canada," R. W. Diamond of Trail, B.C. president of the Commonwealth Mining and Metallurgical Congress, said Wednesday night as the month-long gathering met in a final dinner.

Mr. Diamond spoke of the trans-Canada tour in which delegates visited mining projects from the Yukon to Newfoundland.

He said the highlights of the long association had been, "the friendly atmosphere, the good humor, the sustained interest and the wonderful friendships."

Dr. John Convey, head of the federal mines branch, said: "You have provided us with an opportunity to look at what is going on in our own backyard. We have talked together about mining three miles out under the ocean and 8000 feet above sea level.

"No matter how well laid our plans were, they would have fallen to the ground if it had not been for your co-operation."

An Exciting Development

The Rocky Mountain Trench, the vast resources of which are under survey by the Wenner-Gren interests, now turns out to offer magnificent opportunities for hydro-electric development.

According to a preliminary survey made by the engineers of the British Thompson-Houston Company, the Peace River can be dammed so as to produce some 4,000,000 horsepower for industrial use. The construction of this dam would involve the creation of a lake 260 miles long which would control the river and enable Alberta to make use of it for further power projects.

Much opposition to the construction of dams on the Fraser has come from salmon fishermen. Since the Peace flows north and east, it does not drain into the Pacific, and no salmon spawn in it. This fact makes its use for hydro-electric development purely a domestic matter in which no other country is concerned. This means that there should be no vexatious delays in international agreement.

Premier Bennett has announced that further surveys are to be made with the object of finding all possible sites for dams. It is believed that the potentials of this area are vastly greater than in any other part of the world—a significant matter at a time when electricity is becoming more important, with the opening of the atomic age.

If all these vast potentials are utilized, then there should be a great shift of industry and population to the north of the province. There is no telling what developments will follow the opening of this area, but certainly new towns will come into being, the projected railway down the trench will be fully utilized, and perhaps new seaports will be needed.

There is a great deal to be done before these dreams can become a reality, but the possibilities are so vast that Mr. Bennett is fully justified in his enthusiasm. It will need careful planning to ensure that all these potential benefits are not squandered and that the province will receive its fair share, but from the preliminary reports it appears evident this is a matter which Mr. Bennett is taking care of.

It is not without significance that all these exciting developments are occurring at a time when British Columbia is about to celebrate its centenary. The next hundred years should see the province reach its apogee.

Good Laws, Good Society

When senior members of the Canadian Bar admit that "an increasing number of fair-minded people complain of the delays in the courts and generally in the conduct of legal business", there is reason to hope for reforms. Toronto lawyer Arthur Kelly, QC, addressed himself to this topic at the meetings in Banff of the Canadian Junior Bar. He said that older lawyers tend to become complacent under conditions as they find them, and that as a result the responsibility for improvement in legal and judicial procedures must be accepted by younger men.

The law's delays have a history so long as to have endowed them with a sort of respectability. But modern conditions in business, in municipal proliferation, in merchandising at all stages from producers to consumers, in the use of automotive transportation, in the labor market—in fact, in most fields of human activity—have resulted not only in more litigation, but also in more cases brought by the Crown against persons and corporations. The results have been increased congestion in the courts, increased costs to those involved and, worst of all, a fairly general determination by society to experiment with extra-legal methods.

Sometimes these evasive tactics are successful to the extent that they are not detected. More often trouble ensues at some point. In either case respect for the law is weakened, enforcement and correction become more costly, and society is forced to assume burdens which proper law and efficient judicial processes are designed to prevent.

The legal profession has as much to gain as citizens in general from success of the program which Mr. Kelly has outlined for young lawyers. And the profession might with profit go somewhat beyond the points enumerated by him. There is, for instance, the tendency of legislatures to tinker with legislation which has been either disallowed by Ottawa or found to be ultra vires by the Supreme Court. When legislation is found to be incompetent for any reason, attempts to find legislative detours to the same end should be discouraged.

Mr. Kelly was well within bounds in asking members of his profession to use pressure on legislatures for measures to facilitate streamlining legal and judicial procedures. But it is equally their duty to influence lawmakers against adding bad law to the statutes. Both functions must be fulfilled if Canadian justice is to continue in high repute.—Toronto Globe and Mail.

The World's Diplomat

Dag Hammarskjold well deserves the unanimous vote of 80 nations by which he was re-elceted to another five-year term as Secretary General of the United Nations. The position which he holds and has filled with such credit since 1952 is one of the most difficult in the world.

It has called especially for that "scrupulous objectivity" which Sir Leslie Munro, president of the General Assembly, attributed to him, for the "indefatigable" work which President Eisenhower recognized in the Suez crisis last year, and for diplomatic ability and discretion which gained approbation from Delegate Kuznetsov of the Soviet Union.

In his negotiation of such delicate and important matters as the release of American prisoners in Communist China, withdrawal of troops from Egypt, reopening of the Suez Canal, and formation of the United Nations Emeregency Force, he has made some concessions but these are small beside the accomplishments.

The world is fortunate that it is developing at UN headquarters in New York a staff of international civil servants with a capacity to see the global picture and to serve the needs of a forum of nations. In this process there is a useful place for such neutral nations as Mr. Hammarskjold's Sweden. May the work of mediators and international administrators continue to be appreciated.

Press Comment

Responsible Canadians are not questioning the value of foreign investment, points out the Windsor Star, but, "the basic principle must always be the best interests of Canada. No country can be criticized for guarding the interests of its own citizens."

Blaming the stock market is like blaming a mirror, points out the Sherbrooke Record. "Yet the market quotations are only the result of the information, the views, the hunches of those who buy and sell; the result of their financial necessities or goals and of their estimates of general and particular prospects."

Most heartening of all trends evident in Canada today, thinks the Sentinel-Press (Woodstock, N.B.) "is surely the accelerating rate at which we are adding to our population. . . . The monthly excess of births over deaths is roughly 30,000. So long as we maintain a differential of this order we can justify the greatest possible optimism about Canada's future." . . .

Parity with the U.S. dollar might be a fine thing, says the Ottawa Journal, but how it could be brought about is another matter. "Interference with the free market in money might create more problems than it would solve. Currency control was accepted by the Canadian people and even then with some reluctance, as a necessity of war; its reception in peace would be something quite different."

Our national development is threatened if the metals industry cannot attract its share of competent engineering personnel, warns the Vancouver Province. "Metals are the foundation of the whole structure of modern enterprise and industry. The industry's attractions as a satisfying career should be made evident in the schools and universities."

Resemblances

There is a member of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police who is said to be the very image of the Duke of Edinburgh. His photograph has been sent to the Duke of Edinburgh for his own examination. And His Royal Highness is said to have found it "very interesting."

Resemblances can sometimes be very confusing. The late Hector Charlesworth of Toronto was sometimes mistaken for King Edward VII. What is even more remarkable, Sir John A. Macdonald was often mistaken, in London, for Benjamin Disraeli.

Samuel Butler, the author of "The Way of All Flesh" and "O God! O Montreal!" thought that living persons are often "the physical reincarnations" of the great dead. In walking through art galleries and examining portraits painted centuries ago, he often recognized his own friends and acquaintances.

Sometimes confused likenesses are resented as an intrusive stupidity. Once the great Duke of Wellington was approached by someone who had mistaken him for a foreign nobleman. "Good God!" exclaimed the Iron Duke, "if you can believe that, you can believe anything!"—Montreal Gazette.

Information, Please

A young housewife from East Chicago, Indiana, plans to remain hypnotized for five days at the Hypnosis Institute of Chicago in the hope that when she comes out from under, she will be a better designer of women's hats. "I'm much more creative under the spell of hypnotism," she told the United Press.

Well, creative hypnotism is as sound an explanation as we've heard for some of the hats we've seen. But creative hypnotism only explains the creations of women's hats. Will someone please say what kind of hypnotism explains the customers?

A. V. Roe Profits Over $7 Million

TORONTO (CP) — A. V. Roe Canada Limited announces net profit of $7,177,001 for the year ended July 31, the first year of operation as a public company. The previous year net profit was reported at $8,954,458.

A report carried Wednesday night stated erroneously that Roe net profit was $1,177,001.

The annual report issued shows combined sales of all consolidated subsidiary companies at 234,811,024 with an operating profit of $23,937,035 before depreciation and other charges. Main reasons for the decrease in net profit this year, the report said, were an increase of $4,814,294 in depreciation and $914,537 expenses for special aeronautical development.

Roe was formed in Canada in 1945 as a wholly - owned subsidiary of the Hawker Siddeley group of Britain. It issued its first public stock in July, 1956, and reports now it has about 2,700 shareholders.

The report says net profit is equal to $1.50 a common share and records that the company issued four quarterly dividends of 20 cents a share.

Montreal Financial Firm Barred for Life From Ontario

TORONTO (CP)—The Ontario Securities Commission Thursday issued a judgment barring for life a Montreal financial house, its proprietor and two of its salesmen from operating in or into Ontario.

The OSC order names: Gregory and Co., Inc., of Montreal; Kenneth H. Gregory, John Charles Stone, William P. McGirr, Senith Mines Limited, Dupont Mining Corporation Limited and Cameron Copper Mines Limited.

Chairman O. E. Lennox said in the judgment: "This is admittedly the most drastic order of its type ever issued by the commission."

"In my opinion it is fully warranted when dealing with individuals who have enjoyed the privilege of registration in Canada and a third party, who not only participated in the illegal selling campaign, but also provided facilities.

"The Commission received enquiries which indicated that certain mining issues were being sold, from Ontario into the United States, following solicitations by non-registrants offering securities which were not qualified for sale by the commission."

The group never was registered to operate in Ontario, he said, and is outside the jurisdiction of the Ontario commission.

Mr. Lennox said the organization was based in Montreal and used Toronto as a satellite. The commission's judgment follows a raid at Toronto premises last summer.

"From the outset," the judgment says, "everything pointed to Gregory and Co. Inc. of Montreal (controlled by Kenneth H. Gregory) as the engineers behind this illegal distribution.

"The registration of Gregory and Co. Inc., was cancelled by the Quebec Securities Commission on Dec. 6, 1956, resulting in litigation which has not, as yet, been concluded."

Lady Lions Making Garments for Hospital

Nelson Lady Lions are continuing to make babies' nightgowns for Kootenay Lake General Hospital.

A large number have already been finished and a work party is planned for next week when several members will meet at the home of Mrs. R. L. Duncan to cut and sew others.

At their monthly meeting held Wednesday night at Mrs. D. T. Litlewood's, Rosemont, a letter from the provincial welfare department was read thanking the group for their excellent response to an appeal for clothing for a needy family. Four new members to the club were welcomed, Mrs. John Towler, Mrs. J. James, Mrs. T. Duckett and Mrs. G. F. Hartridge.

Co-hostesses for the meeting were Mrs. Earle Cutler and Mrs. H. C. Armstrong. The evening prize was won by Mrs. George Kirby. There were 21 members present.

Good Reasons For Secrecy On Royal Wardrobe

LONDON (AP)—The best kept secrets in London today are details of the dresses, suits and hats that the Queen will wear in Canada and the United States.

Sound reasons are behind the secrecy-style spies.

All over the world, particularly in the United States, are dress manufacturers who could, perhaps, turn a quick fortune if they could immediately reproduce the royal tour clothes.

Imagine what it would mean if spies could ferret out information that would lead to such an advertisement as:

"Wear the royal cocktail dress. Wear it now. Wear it even before the Queen does. Yours for only $19.95."

SAME-DAY STEAL

The designers recall with horror the day of the duchess of Windsor's marriage. A copy of the duchess' going-away suit went on sale in the U. S. the day she married the duke.

When the Queen made her visit to Paris earlier this year, a French newspaper artfully anticipated her arrival dress by four days.

Makers of the royal clothes for this trip are Norman Hartnell and Hardy Amies. They won't even hint about a hem.

The Queen's clothes have been given code numbers in the designers' books. Employees have been sworn to secrecy. Only the most trusted stylists are allowed to work on the models.

By night the plans are locked in safes. As each garment is completed, it is lodged in a doubly locked wardrobe.

Only a few things are certain: The Queen's hats will be small because people must be able to see her face.

Her clothes will be bright, for she must stand out in crowds.

W.A. To Begin Cradle Roll

WYNNDEL — The Women's Association of St. Paul's United Church, meeting at the home of Mrs. Monrad Wigen, decided to begin a cradle roll. All new mothers of the church would receive this as a gift from the WA. A convener will be appointed to be in charge of the roll.

Arrangements were made for the purchase of a white Communion cloth, and for decoration of the church for the Thanksgiving service Sunday, conveners for which will be Mrs. J. Thompson, Mrs. Wigen and Mrs. Frank Merriam.

It was announced that a film on the life of Martin Luther will be shown the afternoon of October 20, and that there will be no evening service in Wynndel on this date.

The matter of used clothing to be sent to Korea was discussed and Mrs. Lowery offered to look after any articles donated for this purpose.

The annual bazaar will be held on November 21. All work will be turned in at the next WA meeting to be priced ready for the sale. The next church tea will be held at the home of Mrs. A. Red and White Theme as South Slocan Girl Married

SOUTH SLOCAN — Traditional white of the bride's gown contrasting vividly with the rich red of her attendants' gowns, and the splashes of color made by the RCMP dress uniform of the groom, the best man and the ushers, made a colorful setting for the ceremony uniting in marriage in Victoria of Lily Golik and Norman Alexander Negrey.

Rev. Father M. J. McNamara conducted the double-ring ceremony in Our Lady of Lourdes Church at which Mrs. W. M. Stewart sang "Ave Maria" during the signing of the register.

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Golik of South Slocan, was give nin marriage by her father, wearing a classic full-length gown of brocaded taffeta, the fitted bodice featuring scoop neckline and lily point sleeves. The lowered waistline tapered front and back into a full skirt with wide, graceful train. A dainty cloche headpiece held a chapel-length veil of illusion net, and she carried a cascade bouquet of white elf roses and ivy.

Bridal attendants were Mrs. G. L. Miller, sister of the bride, matron of honor; Mrs. J. C. Turner, bridesmatron, and Miss Betty Mae Negrey, sister of the groom, bridesmaid.

All three attendants were dressed alike in waltz-length red velvet, featuring bateau necklines, three-quarter-length sleeves and very full skirts. They had crescent-shaped velvet headbands, shoes entone, and carried bouquets of white chrysanthemums.

The groom, son of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Negrey of Lethbridge was attended by Const. R. M. Van Norman, RCMP, Nanaimo, and ushers were Const. W. MacKenzie, Colwood and Const. A. Terry, Courtenay.

The reception was held at the Olde England Inn in Victoria.

Diefenbaker Royal Dinner Menu Secret

OTTAWA (CP) — Prime Minister Diefenbaker won't have time to bag a few prairie ducks for the royal dinner he's giving next Tuesday.

And whether Queen Elizabeth and Prince Philip will find duck on the menu is not known. Locked away at 24 Sussex Street, the menu is a closely-guarded secret.

Stephen Vojtech, executive chef for Toronto's King Edward Hotel, and his two assistants will prepare the menu for what the prime minister's office terms a "family affair."

About 14 or 16 guests are expected at the prime minister's Sussex Street residence. The guest list has not been made known. But it is expected that there will be some official guests and possibly members of the Diefenbaker family.

SIGNS SHOWING

It had been reported that the prime minister planned to fly West, shoot a few ducks and bring them home for the royal dinner.

But the lawyer from Prince Albert, Sask., has been setting a whirlwind pace since his party won power in the June 10 federal election. There hasn't been time for duck hunting.

However, there already are signs of the impending royal visit at the sedate greystone mansion which became the Diefenbaker home last summer.

The royal couple — as Princess Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh — were guests at the residence in October, 1951, when the then prime minister St. Laurent was host at a private luncheon.

One main change has been made in the large dining room. Walls, formerly a deep crimson shade which could clash with evening gowns and floral arrangements, have been painted a wedgewood blue.

For the royal dinner, the Queen and women guests will wear evening dresses. The prince and men guests will wear dinner jackets and black ties.

In her first role as hostess to royalty, Mrs. Diefenbaker will seat her guests along a long mahogany table which will be extended almost to the full length of the dining room.

Two huge, bell-shaped crystal chandeliers will twinkle over the dinner table.

Fingerprints Not Needed From Most U.S. Visitors

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Eisenhower administration today ordered an end to fingerprinting for virtually all visitors to the United States. A few exceptions were made.

State department officials said about 500,000 visa visitors came to the United States last year. If the new regulations had been in effect then, none would have been fingerprinted.

The new law requires reciprocal arrangements with other countries and three other countries have fingerprinting rules. They are Ecuador, Liberia and Peru. The state department said their citizens will be fingerprinted for visits to the United States on the same basis as Americans are when going to those countries.

Fingerprints will also be required of persons described as "border crossers" without visas, temporary workers, such as those from Mexico, who enter without visas, and possibly seamen who seek shore leave without visas.

Apology Not Accepted In This Case

COPIAGUE, N.Y. (AP) — A white family — apparently mistaken for Negroes—has moved out of this all-white community following reported threats of violence.

The head of the family of four is William Delgado, 34, partly-disabled war veteran of Spanish descent.

The Long Island community knows now that the family is white. But Delgado said Wednesday that, even though he might be left alone, he won't come back here.

"I don't want to live near people like that," he said. "I want my kids to grow up in a decent place."

Delgado, his wife, Evelyn, and two daughters, Lorraine, 10, and Sheila, 14, moved into a small $85-a-month home a week ago.

Their landlord, Joseph Platania, said that three days after they moved in he started getting telephone calls warning that if the "Negroes" did not move out quickly they would be beaten up or their house burned.

Platania said he received about 15 calls.

"They're fine people and I'd be glad to have them," the landlord said later.

Movie Gossip...

Leslie Caron, Whose Dancing Pleased Whole World, Refuses To Do One Step

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—No matter what you say, Leslie Caron won't dance.

It seems a shame, because the little French doll brightened the screen with her dancing in An American in Paris, Daddy Long Legs and other musicals. Now she's back in Hollywood after a two-year absence, doing a non-dancing role in Gigi.

She's a changed girl. During her absence she acquired a new husband, British director Peter Hall, a new son and a more confident attitude toward life. She firmly predicts that she will never dance again.

"Oh, if a studio came up with a really interesting story of a ballet dancer, I might do it," she said. "But I can't see that ever happening.

DULL, STUPID, DIRTY

"Why? Because the life of a ballet dancer is dull, uninteresting, stupid and dirty. It is a terrible life, and I don't know why I did it so long. I haven't danced now for two years, and I must say I don't miss it a bit.

"Ballet dancing is not only stupid, it is against nature. Human beings were made to walk with their feet straight forward. But in ballet you are forced to make your feet go like this." She indicated the position.

Leslie, now 26, started dancing when she was 10. Her usual daily routine was three full hours of strenuous exercise and dancing.

"Of course, when I was in a picture, it was impossible to practice every day," she said. "Toward the end of the picture I would lack the stamina to dance because I hadn't practiced. It was a vicious circle."

LEFT DANCING BEHIND

When she left here after Daddy Long Legs with Fred Astaire, Leslie was determined to leave dancing behind. She did a straight play with director Jean Renoir in Paris, then played Gigi on the London stage. That's when she met her husband, who directed the show.

"I'd rather be known as an actress than a dancer," she said.

"That's why I got so much satisfaction out of doing the plays. At first Jean said I didn't project enough. I had the same trouble in London, and it was difficult projecting in a language that is not your own. But I worked on it, and now I think I project very well."

ATIKOKAN, Ont. (CP) — Iris Salamandyk, 11 months old, is the youngest generation in a five-generation family. Her great-grandmother, Mrs. Harry Procuik of Sandilands, Man., is 86.

Population Soars In Eight Months

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada's population increased at a record rate in the first eight months of 1957 and is expected to reach the 17,000,000 mark by April of next year.

The burea uof statistics said Thursday the increase in the eight months totalled an estimated 401,000, boosting the population at Sept. 1 to 16,745,000. The increase compares with a January-August rise of 274,000 in 1956, 268,000 in 1955 and 304,000 in 1954.

The Sept. 1 figure total of 16,081,000 and a rise of 2,736,000 from the 1951 census count of 14,009,000.

More than half the population gain in the eight months was the result of increased immigration. During this period an estimated 225,000 immigrants arrived in this country.

The population growth in the 12 months from Sept. 1, 1956, to Sept. 1, 1957, reached a record 552,000—an annual rate of 3.41 per cent. This compared with 390,000 in 1955-56, 394,000 in 1954-55, 443,000 in 1953-54 and 398,000 in 1952-53.

Not Missing Any Chances

KITCHENER, Ont. (CP)—Five men from the Kitchener - Waterloo district have decided to buy an acre of land on Mars.

The deal was made Thursday through a district bank with Japan Space Travel Association for the going price of $2.70 an acre, says Richard Kinat, the group's spokesman.

The shareholders decided to buy the land "over a cup of coffee" and decided to call their new real estate firm "Horizons Unlimited."

Mr. Kinat said Horizons Unlimited has made a good investment and hopes eventually to rent the acre to the United Nations for a space ship parking lot "or something."

The Japanese association has reported Martian real estate prices have increased five - fold since the Soviet satellite was launched. The association was started last year to encourage interest in outer space.

MAY 22 to JUNE 21 (Gemini)— Excellent indications in your sector, but you must be careful not to exceed your capacity by assuming too many extracurricular activities. You will do best with sensible moderation.

JUNE 22 to JULY 23 (Cancer)— Mild influences to start the day but going to strong, good ones toward evening and for tomorrow. It will help if you do some planning, thus get started more quickly tomorrow.

JULY 24 to AUGUST 23 (Leo)— Your situation similar to Cancer now. How you plan and conduct things will help or hinder your attainment. Often we can accomplish more by operating conservatively. This is that sort of period.

AUGUST 24 to SEPTEMBER 23 (Virgo) — Stimulating influences! The day can be productive for your special work or interests; for making gains generally.

SEPTEMBER 24 to OCTOBER 23 (Libra) — Venus' position stresses care in affairs of a personal nature and urges forethought and moderation all day in order to avoid needless errors, having to retrace steps. Good work will prove rewarding.

OCTOBER 24 to NOVEMBER 22 (Scorpio) — Be alert and ready to act when true advantages come your way. Ably handled tasks, some big and difficult situations will finally reward. Really rest and recreate in free time.

NOVEMBER 23 to DECEMBER 21 (Sagittarius) — Rather mild influences now, but your Jupiter is going into a very auspicious aspect tomorrow. You should make headway in all endeavors. Take some time for recreation.

DECEMBER 22 to JANUARY 20 (Capricorn) — Your influences are encouraging. Allocate tasks so that you have time for relaxing, for hobbies or any other activity helpful to good health, and a better outlook.

JANUARY 21 to FEBRUARY 19 (Aquarius) — You are honored with a fine Uranus aspect. Unusual ideas are favored but you may have to urge yourself forward at times. Do so — and be the gainer.

FEBRUARY 20 to MARCH 20 (Pisces) — Consider your "musts" and handle them first. System and a steady tempo will help greatly. Enjoy some wholesome, pleasant diversion.

YOU BORN TODAY have the unusual ability to discern sincerity and truth, but, at times, may fall victim to flattery — so be on guard. You are humanitarian in instinct, affectionate, kindly and fearless in defending those you love and those who may be unjustly treated. You are democratic in choosing your friends and associates, and do not consider their affluence or position in life. This is an admirable trait, yet you must be mindful not to associate with persons of weak character or careless habits.

How to KEEP FIT after 50

In the old days fifty seemed the signal to slow down—take things easy—watch your diet—get more rest. It's still good advice. But these days you can face fifty with many interesting and active years ahead,—active, that is, if you can avoid backache and the "tired-out" feeling, due to kidney and bladder disorders, that often develop around that age. For more than 60 years Dodd's Kidney Pills have been helping men and women of all ages to keep kidneys and bladder in good order,—helping them to feel better, to work better, and get more fun out of life. If you are approaching fifty, or past it, Dodd's Kidney Pills may help you, too. You can depend on Dodd's. 84

CROWD SO DENSE CARAVAN HELD UP

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Between 15,000 and 20,000 citizens of this self-styled baseball capital of the world, screamed themselves hoarse Thursday night as Milwaukee Braves brought home the world championship.

So dense was the mass of humanity surrounding Billy Mitchell field where the Braves' chartered airliner landed that the players' 30-car caravan had difficulty making headway.

DETROIT (AP) — Joe Spieser, brother and manager of light-heavyweight contender Chuck Spieser, says champion Archie Moore has agreed to defend his title against Spieser here in December.

MAHA Declares Draft Situation Null and Void

PORTAGE LA PRAIRIE (CP)—The Manitoba Amateur Hockey Association Wednesday night dropped a bombshell on the Winnipeg hockey scene, declaring all existing draft agreements between the Greater Winnipeg Minor Hockey Association and the Manitoba Junior Hockey League are null and void.

The MAHA executive voted 5 to 4 in favor of the decision which stipulates that no player under the age of 17 is eligible for junior hockey competition and any player 17-year-old may only play if and when an MAHA degistration committee approves.

The effect of the decision on the five-team MJHL was to place in suspension the junior hockey future of about 70 Winnipeg players on the draft lists of the five teams. To what extent they will be affected will be determined by the action of the registration committee.

World Series Notes

By HUGH FULLERTON Jr.

NEW YORK (AP) — By taking the world championship to Milwaukee, the Braves became the first club to win the world series on their first attempt since the gashouse gang Cardinals of 1926. Only a half dozen others have accomplished that feat.

The other clubs did it before the owners began providing opportunities for such a distinction by moving franchises around. And, of course, several of these guys were around when the Braves won their second, and last, pennant for Boston in 1948.

The Yanks were dis-mantled when Mickey was hurt, but it was his return that led to their coming apart completely. It was a last-minute decision by manager Casey Stengel to send Mantle to centre field and return young Tony Kubek to third base. And it was Kabek's bad throw on Johnny Logan's grounder which had a double play label, that led to Milwaukee's four runs in the third.

The Yanks B-B combination that slugged out their sixth game victory—Bauer and Berra—had no more power than BB guns on Thursday. Hank opened the game with a double, then flied out twice and grounded out once. Yogi drew an intentional pass and got on base another time on Ed Mathews' error, but he didn't get a hit and hoisted a high pop fly to Frank Torre at the start of the ninth.

It was Bob Hazle's first hit of the series that started the Braves on the winning way in the third. Up to that time the kid they call Hurricane was only a faint zephyr with an 0 for 10 record.

The official scorer called it an error when Berra grabbed for Aaron's perfect bunt and missed it in the fifth. It was a tough play. The next time Hank came up, he and Berra had quite a conversation. Yogi probably was asking for a warning if Aaron intended to bunt again.

But how about Casey Stengel's substitution strategy? He used up so many players earlier in the game that he had to let pitcher Tommy Byrne bat with a rally going in the ninth because there was hardly anyone around except Harry Simpson and Suitcase has been strapped for hits all through the series.

Byrne, incidentally, came through and only a great diving stop by Mantilla held him to a single and prevented a Yank score.

Association Brings Suit of $3,000,000 Against NHL Moguls

NEW YORK (AP) — The National Hockey League players' association Thursday filed a $3,000,000 anti-trust suit in federal court against the National Hockey League, Madison Square Garden, five other organizations and seven individuals.

The complaint named six clubs which the association said operate and control New York Rangers, Chicago Black Hawks, Boston Bruins, Detroit Red Wings, Montreal Canadiens and Toronto Maple Leafs.

In addition to Madison Square Garden and the league the other defendants include the Boston Professional Hockey Association, Inc.; Chicago National Hockey League Team, Inc.; Detroit Hockey Club Inc.; Club de Hockey Canadiens Inc.; Maple Leaf Gardens, Ltd.; Walter A. Brown (Boston); James D. Norris (Chicago); Bruce Norris (Detroit); Frank J. Selke (Montreal); John Reed Kilpatrick (New York); Conn Smythe (Toronto) and Clarence S. Campbell, president of the NHL.

"DICTATORSHIP" CHARGED

The complaint charged that since 1926 the defendants have "monopolized and obtained complete domination and control and dictatorship" of the professional hockey industry in New York, New England, Michigan, Illinois, and the provinces of Quebec and Ontario.

The alleged "dictatorship" extended into the hiring, firing, trading and buying and selling of all players and coaches and former players and coaches as well as the terms of their employment in the United States and Canada the complaint said.

The Players Association headed by Ted Lindsay of Chicago Black Hawks, had threatened several weeks ago to take legal steps against the NHL when the league declined to negotiate on the players demand for pension and television benefits.

Kamloops Youngster Earns Scholarship To U. S. University

Bill McLoughlin, a member of Trail Minor Hockey League's board of executives, recommended Allen Raymond of Kamloops for a hockey scholarship to the Michigan College of Mining and Technology at Houghton, Mich.

The 5'8" 18-year-old graduate of Kamloops High School played last year with Kamloops juveniles and Kamloops Juniors. He is the grandson of V. Pisacreta of Nelson.

Lew Doesn't Cook -- Proposal Withheld

By ED CORRIGAN

NEW YORK (AP)—"Oh, that Burdette, if he could cook I'd marry him.'

Manager Fred Haney of the world champion Milwaukee Braves said it just as calmly as if he were having an afternoon cup of tea at home.

He was speaking of Lew Burdette, the pitcher who beat the big, bad New York Yankees three times in the series, culminating his effort with a 5-0 victory in the finale with just two days' rest.

Haney said he never really was worried about Burdette but he was considering taking him out in the ninth when the Yanks loaded the bases.

"I was going to let him face one more hitter," Haney said. "Then I would have had to take him out. But I wanted him to finish real bad. I knew he was getting tired, but I wanted him in there at the end."

CELEBRATE QUIETLY

The celebration in the winning clubhouse was mild. There was little whooping and hollering by the players. They just sat around being interviewed, sipping beer and soda pop.

"Why should we get excited here," laughed Hank Aaron, who hit in every game. "We'll wait until we get back to Milwaukee."

"I threw a lot of sliders and slow curves," said Burdette. "That was a real hard blast that Mathews grabbed on Bill Skowron for the final out. It was a hard hit ball and a tough one to play."

"Yet I didn't have to be as careful in the ninth as I did all through that 1-0 ball game two days ago. Any slip would have been curtains. In this one, I had a chance to relax a little."

JOKES NOW

Burdette, a fellow with a sense of humor, said he was distressed when Bauer hit a double in the first inning.

"I said to myself: "Holy smoke, they're not going to get me out of here this fast, are they?' "

They didn't. The Yanks didn't get another hit until Jerry Coleman's single in the fifth.

Haney said he would have sent either Don McMahon or Warren Spahn, his ailing ace, in to stop the Yanks had Burdette gotten in serious trouble in the ninth.

"They both were ready, but I didn't get far enough along that line to decide who it would have been."

Veteran Flyers Too Solid For Young Nelson Squad

Veteran wingers Dave Gordichuk and Rock Crawford scored two goals each at Civic Arena Wednesday night to pace Spokane Flyers to a 7-3 victory over Nelson Maple Leafs in an exhibition contest before a gathering estimated at 300.

Although Spokane's victory in the game which was billed as a Blues-vs.-Whites exhibition was clear-cut, it was far from being one-sided. Shaky Nelson goaltending, especially late in the game accounted for four Spokane markers.

Jon Panagrot, who has shown well in scrimmages during workouts, was victimized on three successive tallies, by Gordichuk, Crawford and former Prince Albert Minto star Lloyd Maxfield, who was recently cut by New Westminster Royals.

Spokane's final goal — by Tic Beattie—was a dandy, as was the first, scored by Bryan Whittal, another ex-Junior. Gus Adams, who played despite the pain of an injured hand, was solid but not brilliant during his 30-minute tenure in the Nelson net, as he robbed Beattie and Lorne Nadeau once apiece.

Leaf marksmen were Mickey Maglio, with two, and Don Appleton whose amateur reinstatement is still pending, picked up the other. Leafs were without Wendy Keller, who has the 'flu (variety unknown, but it is not believed to be Flu Manchu) and Shorty Malacko, whose injured knee wouldn't allow him to skate.

There were several pleasant surprises, including Lionel Martini, Cliff Schockey and Norm Ryder, all newcomers. Martini, a hustler whose groins are sore, and Schockey, a farm boy who can skate all week, both looked fine up front.

Another newcomer, Jack MacAuley, was effective on the forward line, with Mickey Boston showing he was only small on the outside. The colorful little guy from the Peace River district traded friendly elbows with almost every blue uniform he could find. He scuffled briefly with Danny McDougald and Larry Plante, both only slightly larger than three-ton diesels, and had occasion to tangle with Tom Hodges and John Zahara.

His tiff with Zahara was interesting, if only because Zahara, a ball-playing buddy during the off-season, wangled an invitation to training camp for little Mickey.

Outstanding for Spokane, as usual, were Gordichuk and Beattie, with newcomer Whittal fitting in perfectly. He handles the puck well, but without flash, and indicates he doesn't mind checking.

Flyers were without fine prospect Norm Usselman, who bedded down Wednesday with a heavy cold. He was walking around after the game, but obviously far from fit.

SUMMARY

First period—1. Spokane, Whittal (Gordichuk, Beattie) 8:44; 2. Nelson, Appleton (Gare, Schockey) 11:10; 3. Spokane, Gordichuk, 13:15; 4. Spokane, Crawford (Cirullo) 16:20.

Penalties: Zahara (boarding), 16:23; Lancien (charging) 19:30.

Second period—5. Nelson, Maglio (Lipsack, Hyssop) 11:20; 6. Spokane, Gordichuk (Whittal, Beattie) 19:30.

Penalties: Hodges (high-sticking) 5:38; Crawford (high-sticking) 8:32.

Third period—7. Spokane, Crawford (Zahara, Maxfield) :20; 8. Spokane, Maxfield (Zahara, Crawford) 9:28; 9. Nelson, Maglio (Lipsack, Hyssop) 12:03; 10. Spokane, Beattie (Gordichuk, Crawford) 19:50.

Penalty: Lipsack (hooking) 6:03.

Lew Ties Mark With Blanking Of Ex-Champs

NEW YORK (CP) — Lew Burdette of Milwaukee Braves Thursday became the sixth major league pitcher to win three games in the world series.

He is the first since Harry (The Cat) Brecheen did it for St. Louis Cardinals in 1946. Brecheen however, relieved in the seventh game and went on to become the winner.

Burdette started in all three of his victories.

The first pitcher to do it was Christy Mathewson in 1905 while with New York of the National League.

Kimberley Little League Season Hits Conclusion

KIMBERLEY — Kimberley Kid Baseball organization which sponsors team play in Peewee, Little and Babe Ruth class leagues with an enrolment of around 300 players has wound up its season and awards, all for teams, have been presented.

Pee Wee Rangers won the Fred Holmes Cup, Little League Oriels the Globe Hotel Cup, and Babe Ruth Dodgers the Woogman Cup, representing the three class playoff championships. Top sportsmanship trophies went to the Pee Wee Blackhawks, Little League Red Socks and Babe Ruth Braves, presented respectively by V. M. Bourne, Rod and Gun Club and Eagles Lodge.

Statistical summary for the season showed 296 games scheduled during the summer in the three leagues, of which 217 were played. Inter-city games played numbered ten as travelling team.

Plan Cricket Tour During Centennial

VICTORIA (CP) — The best in cricket that eastern Canada has to offer will come up against western Canadian talent in a series of exhibition matches throughout B. C. next year.

This was announced Thursday by the B. C. Centennial Committee which also released a schedule of important yachting activities in British Columbia for the centennial year and reported approval of other sports events.

Representative cricket teams of eastern and western Canada will tour Vancouver Island, Vancouver, the Okanagan and Kootenays for a series of exhibition games.

Burdette's Shutout Equals Mathewson's Record of Two

NEW YORK (AP) — Lew Burdette became the first world series pitcher in 52 years to pitch two shutouts as his 5-0 seven-hitter over New York Yankees Thursday gave Milwaukee Braves a world championship on the first try.

The fidgety righthander touched off a roar that echoed from Yankee Stadium to delirious Wisconsin Avenue in Milwaukee as he retired Bill Skowron, the last Yankee batter, to end the seventh game.

Not since Christy Mathewson threw three shutouts for New York Giants against Philadelphia Athletics in 1905 had a man blanked the enemy twice in series play.

Burdette, an ex-Yankee, hadn't allowed a run in 24 2/3 innings while twisting the proud New Yorkers around his little finger.

As soon as Eddie Mathews gloved Skowron's hard smash down the third base line and stepped on third for the force play that ended the game, a swarm of cheering boys and men surged onto the field. Mathews leaped high in the air to touch off the wildest victory celebration in many a year.

Working with only two days rest because his roommate, Warren Spahn, still was recovering from a bout with the flu, Burdette was simply tremendous.

The raw-boned gent from the hill country of West Virginia survived a first-inning scare and wobbled again in the ninth when the desperate Yankees loaded the bases.

Singles by Gil McDougald, Jerry Coleman and Tommy Byrne put three men on with two out in the ninth as tension mounted. The roof blew off when Skowron rapped sharply to Mathews for the force that opened every beer tap in Milwaukee.

COSTLY ERROR

It was the first time since 1948 that the world series had gone to a team from outside New York as the westward movement chipped away another hunk of the big city's baseball prestige.

Four big runs in a third-inning spurt in which the gates were opened, ironically, by an error by Tony Kubek, a Milwaukee boy, sealed the Yanks' doom. It hardly mattered, when Del Crandall slammed a home run into the left field stands in the eighth.

This will go down in baseball as the "Burdette series." The man the Yankees traded away to Boston in 1951 really came back to haunt them. Using a puzzling mixture of slider, screwball, curve nd fast ball, the 30-year-old righthander beat the Yanks almost all by himself.

The only other Milwaukee victory was earned by Spahn in last Sunday's 10-inning thriller.

GREATEST MOMENT

Burdette whipped Bobby Shantz 4-2 in the second game to square the series and his 1-0 victory over Whitey Ford in the game Monday at Milwaukee put his team one game up. And Thursday he bounced back, only 48 hours later, to lead the Braves to their greatest moment.

The last Yankee run off Burdette was a homer by Hank Bauer in the third inning of the second game. His streak of 24 2-3 scoreless frames is only five short of Babe Ruth's famous string of 29 2-3 innings stretched over two world series.

And so Fred Haney, the manager who was hanged in effigy when the Braves faltered in July, has hung a second world series defeat on Casey Stengel, who had won six of seven previous October tests. The Yanks now own a 17-6 series record and the National League now has won 20 to 34 by the American League.

Each winning Brave will get about $9,090 from the player pool, split 33 ways. The Yanks will take home about $5,710 each, their smallest payday in years. Exact shares won't be known until next week.

FIELDING LAPSES

Jittery Yankee fielding must be blamed for much of Don Larsen's trouble in the big third inning for the perfect-game pitcher would have been out of the inning if Kubek hadn't made an error.

There was one out and nobody on when Bob Hazle punched a single to left for his first series hit. Johnny Logan bounced a grounder to Kubek that had double play written all over it. Kubek hurriedly threw high, pulling Jerry Coleman off second base.

Coleman's relay to first was too late to get Logan although the Yanks, led by Stengel, beefed to umpire Augie Donatelli.

Instead of being out of the inning, Larsen now was in deep trouble with men on first and second and the feared slugger, Eddie Mathews, at bat.

Mathews ripped a double into the right field corner, a line drive over the head of first baseman Joe Collins, and both Hazle and Logan scored.

LARSEN TAKEN OUT

Stengel brought in Bobby Shantz, the veteran lefty, to replace Larsen.

Milwaukee, smelling blood, wasn't ready to stop. Hank Aaron singled to centre, knocking in Mathews, and Wes Covington, hitless since the first two games, dropped a Texas league single into centre. Aaron had scooted to third on the hit and he scored as Coleman forced Covington at second on Frank Torre's grounder.

Shantz was followed by Art Ditmar, Tom Sturdivant and finally Byrne but the damage had been done. Whitey Ford who had asked for this start although he had only two days rest, like Burdette, was in the bullpen. He never got in the game.

Mickey Mantle played in a surprising last-hour switch by Stengel. When Mantle reported ready, he benched Andy Carey and put Kubek on third.

THREATEN IN FIRST

The Yanks had their best chance at Burdette in the first inning. Bauer, setting a series record by hitting safely in his 14th consecutive game, opened with a double down the left field line.

When Enos Slaughter grounded back to the box, Bauer was trapped betwene second and third. The Braves messed up the rundown, however, only to find Bauer sliding into second base on one side and Slaughter sliding in from the other. Logan touched Slaughter for the out.

Still the Yanks had Burdette in trouble with a man on second, only one out, and Mantle at bat. Mickey helped Lew off the hook by lashing the ball back to the mound. Haney's strategy called for an intentional walk to Berra, the first of the series. Burdette then made Gil McDougald pop to Mathews for the third out.

From that time on, until Coleman's single in the fifth, Burdette retired 11 successive batters.

TWO ON IN SIXTH

The next threat came in the sixth. With two out, Mantle singled to centre and Berra was safe when Mathews fumbled his roller. Again it was McDougald who ended the building rally with a hopper to Mathews, who stepped on third.

In all their previous 22 world series the Yankees never had been shut out twice before.

Although the crowd of 61,207 was below capacity, the series total attendance set a record. The figures showed 394,712 paid to watch the third straight seven-game series, topping the mark of 389,763 hung up by the Yanks and Dodgers in 1947.

Hank Aaron, home run and runs batted in champ of the National League, led the series hitters with .393 on 11 hits in 28 at bats. He stroked two singles in Thursday's finals and hit safely in all seven games.

Beliveau Scores Twice As Habs Stop Chihawks

Jean Beliveau's two goals started Montreal Canadiens rolling on Thursday night and the Stanley Cup champions wound up with a 5-1 victory over Chicago Black Hawks in Montreal's opener of the NHL season.

In Detroit, New York Rangers battled from behind twice to defeat Detroit Red Wings 3-2. It was only the second time in 19 years that the defending NHL champion Red Wings have been beaten in their home opener.

The Richard brothers—Maurice and Henri—and Andre Pronovost scored the other Montreal goals. Glen Skov counted for the Hawks, the first goal of the game.

Maurice (Rocket) Richard's goal was No. 494 in his NHL career and brought an ovation from the Montreal crowd of 13,604.

It was a comparatively dull, scoreless first period before the Montrealers began to pick up momentum and left the Hawks behind. Goalie Glen Hall of Chicago had 40 shots to handle compared with 27 trained on young Charlie Hodge of Montreal, filling in for the ill Jacques Plante.

It was the Hawks' second game of the new season, the first a win at home last Tuesday over Toronto Leafs.

New York's winning margin was scored by Andy Hebenton in the third period. He fought his way around the Detroit defence, faked goalie Terry Sawchuk to his knees, and flipped a high shot into the corner of the Detroit net.

The Red Wings grabbed a 1-0 lead in the first period on a power-play goal scored by Lorne Ferguson.

The Rangers got it back on a power play of their own while Cummy Burton was in the penalty box for slashing. Andy Bathgate's pass slipped off Guy Gendron's stick to Camille Henry, who scored easily.

Rookie Tom McCarthy sent the Wings into a 2-1 lead in the second period with a high 20-foot shot. The Rangers bounced back again with Larry Popein scoring from short range after the New Yorkers pressured Sawchuk for two minutes.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Market Trends

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market took its steepest dive in two years on the heaviest volume of the year. Prices sank to their lowest on average since April 1955.

Key stocks were hammered down from 1 to 9 points in vigorous selling.

No single piece of bad news accompanied the slump but rather an accumulation of discouraging notes from various fields, brokers said. There was disappointment about failure to increase defence spending in view of heightened fear of Russia.

A sharp break in earnings by Illinois Central was a factor in a decline by leading rails to their lowest point on average since September 1954.

Walker - Gooderham, up 1½ on 800 shares, was one of the few Canadian stocks to show a gain on the New York exchange. Losers included McIntyre Porcupine, down 2¼, International Nickel, 1⅝; Aluminium Ltd., 1⅜ and Canadian Pacific, 1.

Kinsmen To Donate To Ski Hill Patrol

Nelson Kinsmen Club Tuesday night adopted a new project which meant the group would donate $225 for a "ski club patrol" to serve at the Silver King ski hill.

The patrol is to consist of three units which will each include an emergency toboggan, blankets and medical equipment. Members of the patrol will be required to have first aid certificates and will police the ski hill to be on the spot if and when accidents occur. They will also be responsible for keeping the hill in good condition.

The patrol will build a first aid house on the hill and the sleds will be stationed at three strategic points on the slope. It was pointed out that this will be the minimum first aid requirement for a ski hill the size that the Silver King hill will be after it is extended this Winter.

Other items of business included the financial report for the year on the Kinsmen's Little League team and reports from other committees. A leter was read on behalf of the Kinettes.

Secretary - treasurer Ian F. Brown, a native of Scotland, told his life story and his experiences in the armed forces in Greece and Egypt. He said "I think you Canadians should be more proud of your organizations, not only the Kin Club but I mean other service clubs as well. We have nothing like this over in Scotland, you know."

NEW MEMBERS

The meeting was chaired by president M. A. Martyn. Dr. A. W. L. Voglesang, Selkirk Health Unit director, who is now a resident of the North Shore, was welcomed to the local group. Other Kinsmen transferred to Nelson and joining the local group were R. A. Hansen formerly of Mission City and W. H. Johnson from the New Denver - Silverton Club. Visiting Kinsman was H. H. Whiteman of Vancouver.

Plans were laid for the Kinsmen radio auction to be held at the Capitol Theatre on the nights of November 26 and 29 and December 5 and 6. R. A. Jack was appointed chairman of the auction committee.
