Hansard Urged For Legislature

Need Seen for Verbatim Report To Avoid Misquote Complaints

VICTORIA (CP)—A government backbencher went on record Monday afternoon as favoring a Hansard in the House.

A. V. Lundell (SC—Revelstoke) said he "can't see anything much wrong with having a Hansard;" a verbatim report of the daily proceedings in the Legislature.

"In the four weeks I've been sitting here this year I've counted 27 times when government and opposition members said they were misquoted."

Mr. Lundell, publisher of the Revelstoke Review, suggested the government "make the press more comfortable in a press gallery commensurate with the importance of the work performed there."

He said that while "we often wish that something drastic would happen to them, we can't go on forever denying them new quarters in the hope that one by one they will fall down the ladder to their nest and break their necks."

He was referring to the ancient press gallery, situated half-way between the floor of the Legislature and the public galleries, reached by narrow stairs that rise at a very steep angle. Several reporters have tumbled down these steps in recent years.

PRELIMINARY SESSION

He also made a "very revolutionary suggestion" that a short session of the legislature be held prior to the regular opening of the House.

He said the government could then "present, within reasonable limitations, some of the legislation contemplated at the regular session."

He said after the short session the MLAs could leave with an opportunity for "serious and considered study."

"Such a course could eliminate the passing of ill-conceived and hurried legislation."

He urged closer liaison between the cabinet ministers and the members, including copies of all correspondence affecting MLAs' districts.

Mr. Lundell said the people in his constituency want a "concise, understandable answer to this question.

"Will Mica Creek be built reasonably soon and by whom?"

He said they were "not happy about the delay in Columbia River development and think this government could be more specific in regard to this matter."

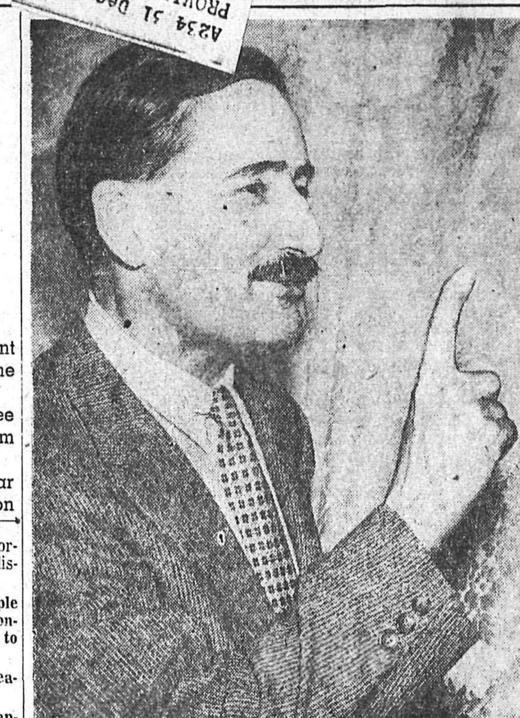
"LAW OF SEA" MEET IN GENEVA

GENEVA (Reuters) — The 80-country "law of the sea" conference opened Monday in landlocked Switzerland and elected Prince Wan Waithayakon of Thailand as chairman.

Called by the United Nations, the nine-week conference is the first ever assembled to attempt international agreement on maritime law. The Canadian delegation is led by George Drew, high commissioner in London.

Prince Wan, former president of the United Nations General Assembly, said in his acceptance speech the welfare of international society depends on the conference's success.

"This makes it impossible for us to regard our work here as a mere exercise of diplomacy."



EUGENE FORSEY, director of research for the Canadian Labor Congress, told the Canadian Conference of Education in Ottawa that we are in danger of "making our high schools adolescent playpens and our high school teachers glorified baby-sitters." He derided, some of the tests and examinations in high schools and said the universities had to teach what should have been taught in high schools. Secondary schools, he said, were wasting their resources on pupils who were stupid and lazy.

Cuban Gov't Blames Rebels As 5 Killed in Race Mishap

Oil Spread on Curves Caused Skids; 40 Injured; Champ Driver Kidnapped

By LARRY ALLEN

HAVANA (AP) — Cuba's biggest auto race was brought to a fatal, shattering halt Monday by what the government called rebel sabotage. One racer plunged into crowded stands, killing or injuring an estimated 50 persons.

Police Monday night said five were killed at the crash scene and at least 40 others were injured. They believed some injured died en route to hospitals and were checking available reports.

Authorities immediately said the fatal accident and dangerous skids by five other cars were unquestionably due to the work of rebels.

Officials said a preliminary investigation indicated rebels had spread oil on the curves of the tricky road course, sending the high-powered racers out of control.

Halting of the race came only hours after rebel forces pulled off another spectacular coup, kidnapping world champion driver Juan Manual Fangio, an Argentine who had been favored to win Monday's $10,000 Gren Premio.

STILL MISSING

He was still missing when the 27 cars roared off, despite an announcement at the track that he had been freed and was on his way to Malecon race course.

There were reports also of a rebel attempt to kidnap British driver Stirling Moss. Hotel authorities were reported to have thwarted the attempt, with Moss and his wife locking themselves in their hotel room and refusing to answer telephone calls.

The rebel blow at the race was the boldest venture in Havana since gunmen invaded the presidential palace last March 13 in an attempt to seize or slay President Fulgencio Batista. Forty persons were killed at the palace and elsewhere in Havana that day.

Trouble in Monday's race began almost as soon as the racers started around the 3.5 - mile course.

SMASHED INTO STANDS

A Ferrari driven by Garcia Cifuentes, a Cuban relief driver, plunged off the course and smashed into the packed stands near the U. S. Embassy, causing the casualties. None of those killed or injured was identified immediately.

Moments later, other cars began skidding on an oil coating on the twisting curves, narrowly avoiding other serious crashes.

Red flags went up on the course, halting the competition and bringing an urgent meeting of the national sports commission.

Ambulances went to the crash scene near the embassy to move the dead and injured.

A short time later authorities announced that the race was off.

Mystery heightened meantime as to the whereabouts of Fangio, Argentina's great driver who five times has won the world auto racing crown.

He was seized Sunday night by gunmen in a downtown Havana hotel. Rebel groups claimed responsibility for the kidnapping.

As the crowd awaited the start of this afternoon's race, an announcement at the track said he had been freed and was on his way to the course. But he did not appear and belief mounted that his kidnappers had decided to hold him a while longer.

CPR Heads Talk With Starr

OTTAWA (CP) — Two CPR vice-presidents conferred Monday with Labor Minister Starr on the diesel firemen dispute that produced a nine-day tie-up of the company's transcontinental system last winter.

After a meeting of an hour and 20 minutes in Mr. Starr's office, there was no information beyond statements that the company officials had brought the minister up to date on the controversy between the CPR and the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen (CLC).

No union officials were present at the meeting, which was sought by the CPR after a breakdown of negotiations Feb. 14, on the question of the CPR's proposal to eliminate firemen gradually from yard and freight diesel locomotives.

Students Fail To Faze Bennett

VANCOUVER (CP) — An overflow crowd of students alternately jeered and applauded Premier Bennett Monday during a speech he made at the University of B.C.

The premier remained undaunted.

More than 1200 students jammed into the university auditorium which seats only 950. They stood in the aisles, lined up at the doors. More tried climbing through windows to hear the Premier.

There was no physical demonstration.

Two weeks ago, Attorney-General Robert Bonner was shouted down as he tried to speak to the students about Canada's role in world affairs.

Most of the premier's half-hour talk was devoted to provincial government grants to the university. He said the government will match private grants of $10,000,000 if the university development fund realized that amount in its current campaign.

Previously, the government had undertaken to match $7,500,000.

Despite incessant shouting and stamping, tempered with mild applause, the Premier's aplomb was unshaken.

Would Crack Down On Hoodlums

TORONTO (CP) — W. J. Stewart (PC-Parkdale) Monday called for corporal punishment for hoodlums who carry weapons or attack citizens.

Speaking in the throne speech debate in the Ontario legislature, he said:

"I am opposed to pampering and adherence to modern psychology that supports self-expression by undisciplined children and youth."

Makes Polar Flight

LONDON (Reuters) — A Bristol Britannia airliner on acceptance trials for Canadian Pacific Airlines today completed the first non-stop polar flight from Vancouver to London.

Its time for the 4800-mile flight was 13 hours, 54 minutes.

Nasser Visits Syria

DAMASCUS, Arab Republic (AP) —President Nasser made his first trip to Syria Monday as head of the new United Arab Republic and was greeted by crowds shouting "Long live Nasser."

Nasser flew in unexpectedly for talks to get Syria operating as a province in the UAR. It was reported Syrian officials were not even aware of his arrival until his plane landed at the deserted airport.

Nasser was accompanied by Abdul Latif Boghdadi, speaker of Egypt's National Assembly; Field Marshal Abdul Hakim Amer, commander-in-chief of the UAR armed forces, and Anwar Elsadat, head of Egypt's single political party, the National Union.

They drove directly to the home of Shukri Kuwatly, Syria's president until the union was proclaimed Saturday.

After a brief conference the two leaders stepped to a balcony in answer to the chant of Syrian crowds below: "We want to see Nasser."

423,000 Jobless In Britain

LONDON (Reuters) — Unemployment in Britain has risen to its highest level in nearly six years, Labor Minister Iain Macleod said Monday night.

About 28,000 persons became jobless this month, he said, bringing the unemployment figure to 423,000.

Mob Opposes Rent Decontrol

LONDON (CP) — A mob of angry opponents of a new rent decontrol act Monday night turned a public meeting into a wild melee and chased Housing Minister Henry Brooke from the platform.

Brooke fled to a room at the back of the hall after the mob surged forward, throwing chairs and fighting with other officials on the platform.

The rent decontrol act permits higher rents for millions of British homes and empowers landlords of about 800,000 houses and apartments to evict tenants.

Stumping With The Leaders

LEMBERG, Sask. (CP) — The only opportunity Canadians have in the March 31 federal general election to express their protest against current condtions is to vote for the CCF, M. J. Coldwell said Monday night.

In an election speech, the CCF leader said the Liberals and the Progressive Conservatives "have dropped the little difference that there had been between them and the CCF takes up the fight for a new approach, a real alternative to the present policies being carried on."

Mr. Coldwell said the Liberals in Laurier's day were the defenders of Parliament's rights, and in Macdonald's day the Conservatives had protected Canadian development.

But both parties had abandoned their earlier positions. Now the CCF "is carrying on the fight for parliamentary rights that was once one of the proudest traditions of the Liberal party."

The CCF also was carrying on "the fight for protection of Canadian control of our public utilities which once found expression in Conservative support of a development like the publicly-owned Ontario Hydro Commission."

NEW FARM ACT

CORNWALL, Ont. (CP) — The federal government's new Farm Price Support Act will come into effect March 3, Prime Minister Diefenbaker announced Monday night.

His statement, before an election campaign audience of more than 2200, indicated that the price floors under the Progressive Conservative government's new measure will be proclaimed before the March 31 election.

The Conservative leader coupled that announcement with a promise in this important textile manufacturing city that his government will take whatever action is necessary to assure that textile and other industries essential to Canada will not be subject to cut-price dumping of foreign goods.

He said that with the March 3 proclamation of the farm price support legislation, a farm-representative advisory committee will be established immediately.

MISSION TO RED CHINA

VANCOUVER (CP) — Liberal Leader Lester B. Pearson said Monday night he will send a cabinet trade mission to Red China if he is elected prime minister March 31.

He said also that the Liberals would transform the government's present Export Credits Insurance Corporation into an export bank to provide medium and long-term credit for the purpose of expanding Canada's exports to all parts of the world.

Addressing a political rally at the local exhibition Forum, he said:

"These credit facilities would be used especially to promote more vigorously the sale of wheat and flour and lumber and fish all over the world as well as to assist the sale of manufactured goods, especially to the Caribbean, Latin America, and the Far East where inadequate credit facilities now are particularly a handicap to our exporters."

He criticized the Progressive Conservatives' moves to increase trade with Red China as inadequate. The Liberals, he said, believe "we should trade wherever we can in Asia — irrespective of the form of government — except in strategic goods with Communist countries."

DOLLAR UNCHANGED

NEW YORK (CP) — The Canadian dollar was unchanged at a premium of 2 1-16 in terms of U.S. funds Monday; a week ago 2 13-32 per cent premium. The pound sterling was 5-32 lower at $2.81 9-16.

Churchill Making Swift Recovery

ROQUEBRUNE CAP MARTIN, France (Reuters) — Sir Winston Churchill sat up in bed Monday, smoked a cigar and had a chat with an old friend, Pierre-Jean Moatti, the prefect of the French Maritime Alps department.

Moatti said he found the 83-year-old former prime minister "chipper and looking fine," making a remarkable recovery from the attack of pneumonia and pleurisy that struck him last Tuesday.

A sixth medical bulletin, signed by Lord Moran, Churchill's personal physician, and Dr. David Roberts, his local doctor, said on Monday the "pneumonia continues to resolve and the pleurisy is causing him less discomfort."

Eversfield Says Facts Given Bonner in 1955

By H. L. JONES
Canadian Press Staff Writer

VANCOUVER (CP)—A 46-year-old accountant whose disclosures sparked the Sommers bribery-conspiracy hearing denied from the witness box Monday that he had ever been promised sums of money or immunity from prosecution in return for making his evidence known.

Charles W. Eversfield, on the stand for the fifth day in the hearing involving former lands and forests minister Sommers and others, said he had received a total of $1700 for expenses from Vancouver lawyer David Sturdy. It was through Sturdy he first made the disclosure and he said they laid the basic facts of the case before Attorney-General Robert Bonner in December, 1955.

Mr. Sommers resigned his portfolio early in 1956 as Mr. Bonner ordered an RCMP investigation of the Eversfield file. The charges against the former minister, three other individuals and four companies were laid last November.

FILES MISHANDLED

At one point Monday, Walter Owen, B.C. Forest Products counsel, said his defence was being seriously endangered because of improper police handling of files seized by police from his client last December and now being returned. He said two of them had simply been torn out of the files without any notation as to where they had come from. The police seemed to have no proper record of what they had seized.

Magistrate Oscar Orr said if when it came his turn at cross-examination of Eversfield Mr. Owen still felt the same, the case could be adjourned while the matter was rectified.

Eversfield testified that he and Sturdy went to see the attorney-general in December, 1955, after the accountant had carted the documents back from Los Angeles where he had taken them in a trunk. He said Mr. Sturdy told the attorney-general at that time that the documents should be investigated further, either through the Sloan Royal Commission on forestry then sitting, through a new commission or by the police.

He had later given all his information to RCMP Inspector W. J. Butler who visited him in Los Angeles and later conducted the government-ordered investigation.

Eversfield told J. R. Nicholson, counsel for Pacific Coast, the Gray Brothers and Evergreen Lumber, that he was involved in some of the alleged transactions in passing money and bonds to Sommers. But he insisted he was only "following instructions."

Counsel Nicholson suggested Eversfield did not resign but was fired by Pacific and that there was "another reason" behind his "purloining" of the documents. Evers-

CO-OPERATION, so they say, is necessary for a successful marriage, and it looks as if the blizzard that covered Ontario gave an opportunity to prove the future of newlyweds Mr. and Mrs. Robert Goode in Oakville. They had to dig their way out of their garage to start on their honeymoon. The snowfall accompanied by sub-zero cold and strong winds, closed many rural schools and stranded thousands of motorists.

In Sub-Arctic ...

Ruins, Bones of Vanished Race Found

By GEORGE KITCHEN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON (CP)—A field of skulls and stone ruins found on bleak, treeless Southampton Island in the Canadian sub-Arctic may have been the home of a vanished race of early Canadian Eskimos, a Smithsonian Institution archaeologist reported Monday.

Reporting on an expedition undertaken by Canadian and U.S. scientists in 1954 and 1955, Dr. Henry B. Collin said the party uncovered ruins of 75 semi-subterranean dwellings and more than 100 burial sites on the 17,000-mile-square island, which lies in the mouth of Hudson Bay about 1400 miles north of Toronto.

The ruins are believed to have been left by the Sadlermuits, a strange, primitive tribe of Eskimos whose ancestors moved eastward from Alaska over Canada's Arctic coast and islands more than 2000 years ago and who became extinct in an epidemic in 1903, before scientists became interested in them. They are known to have inhabited the island.

STONE AND SOD HUTS

Walls of the dwellings were made of stone and blocks of sod, with the floors, roof supports and sometimes the roofs themselves of stone. The ground outside the houses was littered with skulls and bones of seal, walrus, caribou and polar bear. Stone cairns and meat caches were found by the hundreds along the beach.

More than 100 human burials were found in the village itself and along adjacent beach ridges. Away from the habitation site, the bodies had been placed in well-constructed vaults of limestone slabs.

Ripple Rock to Blow April 5

By JOHN E. BIRD
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP) — Ripple Rock will be blasted Saturday, April 5, with 1,400 tons of high explosive in an effort to pulverize the twin-peak navigational hazard in Seymour Narrows 100 miles north of Vancouver.

A Works department official said Monday that zero hour will be 8:30 a.m. local time provided weather conditions are right. If the weather is unsuitable, the explosion will be delayed. He said, however, the department is confident that suitable conditions will prevail for an explosion between April 5 and 9.

Except for atomic explosions the blast will be the most powerful known to have been set off anywhere in the world to date. The largest explosion on record involved 2,118,000 pounds — or 1059 tons of explosives used Jan. 5 to break away a 300-foot cliff of rock for a causevay across Great Salt Lake in Utah.

GREATER POWER

The 2,800,000 pounds of explosive which will be detoned within the two peaks of Ripple Rock also will have a greater blasting power than the agent used in Utah. It is known as nitramex 2H, and amonium nitrate base blasting agent.

Work has been in progress on the blasting project since late 1955. One rock in only nine feet below the surface at low tide and the other is about 20 feet under water.

For the blast to be most effective, the weather must be clear and crisp with a low humidity and a fairly strong wind blowing from the south.

The tide also must be low so that a minimum quantity of water will be covering the rocks at the time of the blast.

A heavy atmosphere would cause a severe downdraw pressure which would reduce the force of that part of the blast designed to pulverize the two peaks.

The official explained that the blast must break up the two rock peaks, push aside the water surrounding them and throw the pulverized rock into the narrows. He said a heavy atmosphere would make the blasting agent do more work.

SOUTH WIND

The wind must be from the south to prevent fumes being spread over nearby inhabited areas around Campbell River and Duncan Bay.

The official said cost of preparation for the blast now is estimated at $3,100,000, including $2,639,000 for the mine-tunnelling operation to get under the rock peaks and some $461,000 for the explosive.

The blasting agent will be placed directly under the two underwater peaks which are about 450 feet apart. An ordinary mine shaft was dug on nearby Maud Island and a tunnel drilled under the channel to points beneath the two peaks. Shafts then were drilled up into the peaks.

It will take about three weeks to pack the explosive under them.

The explosive will be packed in cans weighing 38½ pounds. This means that about 70,000 cans must be placed within the peaks and arranged to explode simultaneously.

The explosive, supplied by the Dupont Company of Canada Limited, will be shipped into the area on 100 freight cars. Each car will carry 20,000 pounds of explosive.

The blast will be set off by one of two employees of the company. The two men — both of whom will be explosive experts—will be located in a special shelter on Maud Island some 1500 to 2000 feet from the centre of the blast.

6000 FEET AWAY

All other eyewitnesses, including press and radio observers, will be in a shelter 6000 feet from the rocks. This shelter, on the mainland, will give them a clear view of the explosion.

Federal officials are confident that sufficient explosive is being used to blow some 40 feet or more from the peaks of the underwater mountain. The result will be a clear and relatively rip-free channel through Seymour Narrows, which is 2,500 feet wide at that point and is on the main north-south B.C. coastal shipping route.

It is estimated that since 1875 some 14 large ships have been lost or damaged on Ripple Rock and another 100 smaller ships sunk with a loss of more than 100 lives.

And in This Corner ....

ENID, Okla. (AP) — Six-year-old Joe Dobson Jr. showed his parents something about golf Sunday.

He scored a hole-in-one on the 115-yard fourth hole at Meadowlake course, using a No. 5 iron.

DARTMOUTH, N. S. (CP) — Graham Moir parked his car in front of the barber shop, went in, sat in the chair and got clipped — two ways.

As the barber snipped away he swung the chair around. Moir was unable to see the street.

When the chair moved back, Moir saw only a vacant space where his car had been.

The car is still missing.

NEW WESTMINSTER (CP) — All high school girls should date a few "creeps" to prepare for marriage because their husbands will be "half-creeps anyway," psychiatrist Dr. William Powles told more than 200 teen-age girls Sunday.

He described steady dating as "too confining" and said the "unhealthy romanticism" of television and movies is leading to disillusionment in the normal marriage routine of "budgets, babies, and battles — all of which are healthy signs of a working marriage."

Dr. Powles, psychiatric consultant at the nearby Burnaby Medical Centre, was addressing the 22nd mid-winter conference Hi-Y clubs from 37 British Columbia centres.

PRISONERS GO TO OAKALLA

RCMP and city police must now take all prisoners to Oakalla Prison Farm at Vancouver. Each police force must provide escorts for its own prisoners, said officials Monday.

On Friday a man was sentenced to 30 days on a drunk charge in city court. Police took him to the provincial jail and were informed he could not be handled there. Monday Chief Robert Harshaw said the man was still in the city lockup awaiting transfer to Oakalla.

When he found a man guilty of an offence last week, a city magistrate fined him $25 and costs or 30 days in Oakalla, observing prisoners could no longer be detained at Nelson jail. The fine was paid.

Impending closure of Nelson jail has been protested by many groups. G. D. Kennedy, deputy attorney-general, told city council by letter the government had to consider closing one or two custodial-type institutions, such as Nelson jail, in favor of modern correctional methods such as those used at the Haney Correctional Institute.

Myor T. S. Shorthouse wondered why a work camp, similar to those established in other parts of B.C., could not be established here. A road to Kokanee Glacier Park and the centennial ski lift were projects on which he thought inmates could be used. Council voted to invite a B.C. government representative here to discuss all phases of the question.

Meanwhile, warden A. D. Tufloch said Monday some of the prison staff and their families are being moved to Haney. Others are leaving for other employment.

Capt. Pearson Dies, Aged 76

Captain Harvie Allen Pearson, formerly of Nelson and a resident of Sunshine Bay since 1935, died in the Kootenay Lake General Hospital Monday night at the age of 76.

While spending the winter in Santa Cruz, California, with his wife Kathleen, Captain Pearson suffered a chronic condition which became acute. He and his wife returned to Nelson and he entered the hospital on his arrival January 20.

Born in Lindsay, Ontario, in 1882, Captain Pearson served in the First World War with the First Canadian Division, holding the rank of captain. He was a member of the Canadian Legion. He was predeceased by his youngest son, F/Lt. Robert Allen Pearson, who died on active service overseas in July, 1944.

Captain Pearson is survived by his wife, two sons, Jack M. Pearson and William H. Pearson, of Vancouver; four sisters, Mrs. G. M. Garnold of Haliburton, Ontario, Mrs. O. L. Pearson of Toronto, Mrs. K. F. Lane of Portland, Oregon, and Mrs. M. Moran of Los Angeles; and two brothers, L. A. Pearson of Neotsu, Oregon, and William M. Pearson of Los Angeles.

City Leads With 2000 Fatality Free Days

Nelson has enjoyed 2000 successive fatality free days today. Motorists and pedestrians in this city are to be congratulated on this achievement.

While it is not our intention to boast, we feel proud for leading the way and setting an example to other cities in the province.

Trail, with 1165 fatality free days, is also to be congratulated, we are sure the Silver City will endeavor to keep pace with Nelson's fine example.

Niedermanns Please North Shore Audience

A husband and wife team, Otto and Florence Niedermann of Trail, presented an enjoyable program of violin and piano music at St. Andrew's - by - the - Lake Church hall Friday night.

The Niedermanns, introduced by Rev. W. Edington, opened the program with a piano and violin duet, Sonata No. 1 by Beethoven, Opus 12 No. 1, followed by "Romance" and "Allegro." Mrs. Niedermann played two sets of piano numbers, which included "Ecosaise" and "Prelude" in D flat by Chopin, "Night in May" by Palmgren and "Le Petit Negre" by DeBussy.

Violin and piano gave a fine rendition of A. Corelli's "La Folia" (Variations Serieuses), and a set which included "Legend" and "Mazurka" by Wieniawoki, "Molly on the Shore" by Grainger and "En Bateau" by DeBussy. Vocal solos by Mrs. J. Arichuk of Willow Point and H. R. Anderson of Harrop and two vocal duets featuring Mrs. E. Marsden and Mr. Anderson rounded out the enjoyable program.

Mr. Niedermann with his violin and Mrs. Niedermann at the piano displayed sensitive musicianship in their well varied program, receiving generous applause from some 50 gathered in the hall.

Mr. Edington presented the two artists with a plant, thanking them for their generosity with their time and talent. Proceeds went to the vicarage fund.

A reception followed at the home of Mr. and Mrs. T. G. Ludgate, Willow Point.

CENTENNIAL PLANS were consolidated recently by North Shore residents who decided to light a beacon during a flag raising ceremony next April. Pictured above holding the North Shore Centennial flag are committee chairman Ray Wallace and vice-chairman Douglas Askew, who display the banner which will welcome all to the community. During a recent meeting at Mr. Wallace's home, members voted to purchase 100 chairs for the North Shore United Church Hall as part of the centennial project.

Bonspiel Meet Successful Affair

One of the largest and most successful Mid-Summer Bonspiel Committee meetings was held Monday night in the Women's Institute Room, Civic Centre.

Mayor T. S. Shorthouse, who called the meeting, gave a brief outline of proposed bonspiel week activities and E. T. Bodard, past chairman, outlined 1957 bonspiel administration and financing. Mayor Shorthouse was elected chairman and administrator by acclamation with directors Arthur Waters, Mr. Bodard, Mrs. R. H. Bush. E. S. Owens is secretary and R. A. Munro treasurer.

Chairmen are: J. E. Keegan, Kinsmen's Club, entertainment; Mrs. J. C. Eckmier, ladies' entertainment; Roger Gagne, motel association, accommodation; Albert Maida, queen contest; F. W. Leno, Kinsmen, publicity with co-ordinators J. A. Jackson and J. Boates; George Benwell, parade; W. Motion and Kerby Grenfell, regatta. Nelson Junior Chamber of Commerce will be official greeters at all city entrances and the main lake ferries and will also hold their annual hoedown.

D. M. Sample recommended the public assist in welcoming by greeting visitors on streets and inviting them to their homes for teas, thus helping to create a general "welcome" atmosphere.

Merchants should try to decorate windows suitably that week, he said.

A large open-air breakfast will be held by the Lions' Club on the 500 block Baker Street. Ernest Bouillet was asked by Mayor Shorthouse to investigate a proposed loggers' sports day and report at the next meeting. The program would include pole climbing, splicing and a log rolling contest.

The Booster Club and Maple Leaf Hockey Team propose to run the hockey game with name professional players.

Entries from the United States and prairie provinces are expected for the square dancing, of which J. G. James is chairman.

At the end, the mayor thanked about 40 persons representing service clubs, past directors and curlers. He praised the fine relationship between past and present executives and parties interested in the event. With such fine support, he thought, 1958 should see one of the finest bonspiels since inauguration of the events 14 years ago.

Committee chairmen and directors were to meet later this week.

School Bond Issue Passed Under Protest From Trustees

A $32,000 bylaw, to raise $31,302 which the B. C. government was unable to pay last year, was passed under protest Monday night by trustees of Nelson School District No. 7.

Mrs. Richard Palmer did not wish to be associated with the protest. Louis Hanic was against the bylaw, thinking it "morally wrong."

Although the government pays interest and principal, the bond issue is shown on school board books. Last year the government's share for capital expenditures was $41,737, of which only about $10,000 was paid.

The board did not approve of the government's financing methods but had no choice other than to pass the bylaw. Sent by the department of education, the lengthy document was read by chairman Gordon Sargent. It will now have to be designed by the superintendent of education and the lieutenant-governor of B. C.

Dated March 15, the bonds will bear 4 per cent interest. Total interest paid by the government will be $11,520.

A Vancouver company was awarded contract to print the bonds. Their tender of $109.20 was lowest of several received.

Also approved was a $175,000 bank overdraft to cover February and March accounts. This is normal procedure according to secretary-treasurer J. S. Livingstone.

Of Cabbages and Kings

Peter Marken's basement has yielded an extremely odd "flower". A cabbage got ambitious and sprouted a two-foot-long stalk complete with yellow leaves and cluster of blossom buds at the top, to say nothing of sprouts around the stem. Mind you, it lacked the perfume one likes to inhale, but what can one expect from a humble cabbage doing its best in a basement.

SERIOUS EPIDEMIC FROM DANGEROUS WATER — IF

ROSSLAND (CP)—This city was warned Monday that it may be facing a serious epidemic unless steps are taken immediately to remedy its "dangerous" water supply system.

The warning was sounded by Dr. C. J. G. MacKenzie, medical health officer, at the annual meeting of the West Kootenay Union Board of Health.

For three straight years, he said Rossland had averaged 92 cases of hepatisis (infectious jaundice) in each 12-month period.

"It is frequently a water-born disease," the doctor stated, "protection can be provided only by treating the present water supply."

Died in England

Word was received from England by Mrs. F. W. M. Drew informing her of the death of her mother, Mrs. E. M. Dyball, aged 83.

Mrs. Dyball visited Gray Creek in 1937 and spent the summer of 1951 in Nelson.

Transportation Will Be Discussed Here

Two meetings have been scheduled for this week to discuss existing transportation to and from this district.

In Creston Wednesday, the Creston Board of Trade and representatives of other district chambers and boards will meet at the call of president W. A. Kemp to discuss freight service with the Canadian Pacific Express Company manager for the Pacific region. Business people and fruit shippers are concerned about possible damage to fruit during shipping. Two or three members of the Nelson chamber's freight and transportation committee plan to attend.

Representatives have also been invited to meet Hon. George Hees, federal transport minister, in Nelson Saturday morning to discuss the overall transportation situation as it exists now. The meeting had been scheduled for Friday.

Castlegar and District Chamber of Commerce and Trail Chamber of Commerce have indicated they will send delegates and it was hoped other invited bodies would do the same. Members of the Nelson freight and transportation committee hope to present a letter to the minister.

Mr. Hees will speak here Friday night in support of Peter Dewdney of Trail, Progressive Conservative candidate in the March 31 federal election.

Organizations have complained about transportation services after the CPR took mail, freight, dining and sleeping cars off its Kettle Valley line. Freight and mail now come by truck. Recently service from Nelson to Penticton was slashed to twice weekly with runs during the daytime. This was attributed to terrorist attacks.

Double School Taxes Being Paid?

To The Editor:

The rise or fall in taxation is a subject of great importance to all taxpayers. Education costs are the largest single item in our tax bill. It seems to me that we in British Columbia are asked to pay not just our tax assessment, but also, a subtle form of double taxation for education.

Local school business is taken care of by your elected School Board. Every year they spend long hours to prepare a budget for the ensuing year. This has to be approved by the board members, by the City Council, and by the Department of Education. In February, 1957, a budget was prepared and approved for 1957.

In November, 1957, the Nelson School Board received word from the Department of Education that they were unable at that time to pay the final $32,000 of the amount, to which they had agreed in February. Therefore, the Board had insufficient money to pay the teachers, bus drivers, and maintenance staff. But, the Department of Education gave the Board permission to overdraw at the bank for the above sum. They gave permission to overdraw for money they owed the Nelson District taxpayers.

I wonder how far an individual would get if he sent a token payment for his taxes, with a letter telling the Provincial Assessor that he had permission to overdraw for the amount the taxpayer still owed? Perhaps we taxpayers should be grateful for the privilege of borrowing money on the government's behalf, but what about the interest charges? We are also given permission to pay half the interest charges, which amounts to $500.

The government collected the taxes last year. In fact, they collected so much they have announced a surplus. The amount of money agreed to in February should have been available to all School Boards.

The School Board now has been informed that they should proceed immediately to float debentures for the sum of $32,000. These debentures are to be signed by the School Board chairman. Therefore, the debentures will be registered to School District No. 7. In the end, the government will have to pay $43,520.00 for the sum of $32,000, which failed to materialize from the Provincial coffers last November.

There are eighty-two school districts in the province, to which the Department of Education owes three and one half million dollars. Would it not be more practical, more economical, for the Department to borrow the whole amount and pay the Boards in cash. Apparently, from the government's point of view, it looks better if the debentures are registered in the names of the school districts.

I wonder why the B.C. Trustees' Association does not take strong action to condemn such unorthodox financing.

I have written this letter as a worried taxpayer, and would ask all those that are interested to acquaint themselves with the facts. Then let your School Board and your government know your opinion.

To Urge Nakusp Berth For Arrow Lakes Ferry

NAKUSP—That Nakusp become the home port of the Arrow Lakes Ferry, thus improving services and lessening operating costs, was urged in a resolution formed by the Nakusp Chamber of Commerce.

The resolution will be forwarded to provincial government authorities.

The chamber, which had information from the Government that the ferry was not paying its way, said passengers could make Revelstoke to connect with trains both East and West, and passengers from the Coast could connect the same way with the ferry Arrowhead.

The resolution will also point out that most the officers and crew members lived in Nakusp.

Letters were received from H. W. Herridge, M.P. for Kootenay West, stating that a portion of the old government floating wharf would be available to the town. Mr. Herridge also wrote, in answer to requests for a booster radio station, that 97 were to be built in Canada as soon as money was available. The board decided to write the department of transport asking if Nakusp was on the list of 97.

A request from the Travel Bureau asking for information on boat launching sites in the area was received and the secretary instructed to inform them that the government wharf was suitable and available to the public.

Street lights were discussed and the chamber's committee was instructed to take the problem to the annual meeting of the Nakusp Development District.

Report on publicity folders was given by E. O. Johnson, who said that the Lower Arrow Lakes was anxious to join the Nakusp Chamber on the project.

Mr. Johnson was appointed head of the nominating committee to bring in a report to the annual meeting in March.

FATHER, SON BANQUET HELD

INVERMERE — The annual father-son banquet sponsored for the Lake Windermere Wolf Cub pack by the group committee and an assisting group of mothers was a successful event.

Some 16 cubs and their proud fathers enjoyed an ample repast. Grace was said by Cubmaster Frank Greenwood. Percy Dean was master of ceremonies and the guest speaker was game warden J. M. Mackill. Windermere Cubmaster, Roy Clement was a guest of honor.

Cub Jimmy Coy made the toast to the fathers and C. E. Osterloh replied, pointing out the pride of a father in his son and the ways in which a cub can be worthy of his pack.

Game warden Mackill talked to the boys about the safe use of fire arms. Following the dinner, films and slides were shown by Mr. Mackill and by E. J. Zinkan of the Rocky Mountain Boys Camp and other aspects of outdoor life.

Assistant Cubmasters are Sonny Nomland and F. Coy.

Nakusp Man Suffers Injuries

NAKUSP— John Chernoff of Nakusp suffered a painful accident while changing a tire on his logging truck.

While Mr. Chernoff was in the process of changing the tire, the rim blew out and he was cut about the face, eyes and lips, and lost several teeth.

The accident occurred in the garage and Mr. Chernoff was able to reach the house about 50 yards away before collapsing on the doorstep. His brother Bill, rushed him to the hospital where he was treated for cuts and concussion. He will be in hospital for a few days.

The Week At Victoria

By LEO T. NIMSICK

The fifth week of the session commenced with the invasion of a couple of hundred trade unionists. The purpose of this delegation was to present to the standing committee on Labor, their brief setting out the serious nature of our unemployment situation and their suggestions for alleviating the problem.

They accomplished their purpose in a very orderly fashion with each delegate carrying out his assigned task of either meeting with the select standing committee or interviewing individual MLAs on unemployment matters.

The brief was well documented with statistics of the situation in different parts of the province and it included quotes from the Financial Post to show that the outlook for 1958 is not very bright which proves that unemployment is not just of a seasonal nature.

A summary of their recommendations are:

1. An expanded public works program.
2. A conference to be called be*tween the government, municipal*ities, labor and management.
3. Recommendations to the Federal Government for increased unemployment insurance.
4. Study of seasonal unemployment.
5. The government should arrange a debt moratorium to prevent unemployed persons from losing their furniture, etc.

On Monday, I made my contribution to the budget debate and to me it was an interesting afternoon. My talk dealt with a number of matters concerning the Kootenays.

Rural electrification took up some of my time and I suggested that as the B. C. Power Commission was now buying power from the East Kootenay Power Company, it was time for the Power Commission to buy the East Kootenay system and thereby handle the distribution of power in the whole area. If this were done, places such as Fort Steele and Wasa could receive power on a lower initial cost basis than can be offered by the East Kootenay Power.

Failing this, my suggestion was that the government set up a revolving fund from which the people in these areas, including West Newgate, could band themselves together and borrow the money for the initial cost of installation. This money could be paid back over a period of time at a low-interest rate.

I also spoke on the gaol situation both in Nelson and Cranbrook To close the Nelson gaol will prevent people visiting short-term cases which are usually held in Nelson, and place an extra burden on the municipalities for transportation charges for these cases.

Closing the Nelson gaol will aggravate the situation in Cranbrook which is overcrowded at the present time; in fact, the Cranbrook gaol is a disgrace and although it may have been all right 50 years ago, it certainly does not fill the requirements today.

I argued that the Cranbrook gaol should be a provincial responsibility as many of the prisoners are from outside the city and consideration should certainly be given to a provincial gaol at Cranbrook.

My talk criticised the government for not giving the increase to the civil servants without having them wait till now and still they do not know what they are getting.

It was interesting to note that, although the government denied any cuts in the institution, they passed an order-in-council only the other day, to inicrease the staff by over 70 persons.

No answer was forthcoming from the minister of Recreation in regard to the cuts in the Game Department and Parks vote. He speaks today so I hope he will give his reasons. Since my radio talk, I have received many letters from interested people on this matter.

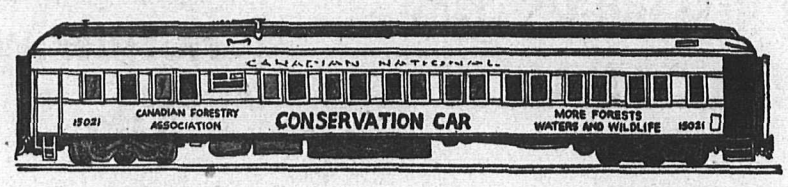
The balance of the week was very quiet with two night sittings.

With the following quote I will say, "thirty" for another week, friends.

"Woman juror to 11 exasperated jurors:

'If you weren't so stubborn, we could all go home.' "

Conservation Car to Visit Southern Interior



BACK IN BRITISH COLUMBIA for its first appearance of the 1958 season, the Canadian Forestry Association's Conservation Car will spend a month in the southern interior touring the lines of the Canadian Pacific Railway. The combined picture theatre and lecture hall on wheels opens its spring engagement with a 3-day stop-over at Penticton, March 3, 4 and 5. Other points to be visited between then and April 5 are: Midway, Castlegar, Trail, Nelson, Creston, Cranbrook, Kimberley, Lake Windermere, Golden, Revelstoke and Salmon Arm. The car, with a seating capacity of 70, carries the conservation message to cities, towns, villages and way stations along Canadian rail lines from Prince Edward Island to the Pacific Coast. In addition to regular showings for the general public, staff lecturer Paul Pageau will visit local schools with special programs for younger audiences. On its fourth visit to B.C. last fall, the car smashed all Canadian attendance records when it reached a total audience of more than 14,500 persons. Itinerary of a southern Canadian National Railway lines tour to follow immediately on the conclusion of the CPR circuit is now being mapped.

Last Rites for Denver Man

NEW DENVER — The altar of St. Stephen's Anglican Church in New Denver was banked with flowers at the funeral of Herbert Cranston Crellin, who died in the Slocan Community Hospital at the age of 68. Officiating clergyman was Rev. E. R. Hope.

Born in Cumberland, England, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Philip Crellin, he came to Canada in 1923 and settled in New Denver.

Surviving are his two sisters in New Denver, Mrs. Dulcie Pearson and Mrs. Isabel Pendry; one sister in England, Mrs. J. C. Harris, three nephews and one niece.

Hymns offered at the service were "Safe in the Arms of Jesus", and "Rock of Ages," with Miss Gladys L. Reynolds at the organ. "Nunc Dimittus" was intoned as the funeral procession left the church.

Pallbearers were Neil Tattrie, William Henderson, J. L. Irwin, Fred H. Angrignon, Robert Robinson and Anthony E. Thomas.

Interment was in the New Denver Cemetery.

OVER 90 AT KASLO FATHER, SON BANQUET

KASLO — A Father and Son banquet was held in the Vimy Park Hall, with nearly 100 parents and guests present. The Rev. E. Hope of New Denver opened the program, followed by toasts to the Queen and Lord Baden-Powell. Leaders were introduced by J. Humphries, MC. Speakers were Gerry Gordon and John Langley. A special presentation of a trophy for the best Scout of the year was made to Leonard Bacon. Movies Jamboree was led by Campfire leader Les Stilwell. The program was under the direction of president Mrs. Mossman. Banquet was convened by the Mothers' Auxiliary to Cubs and Scouts.

Higher Rate Group For Natal Phones

NATAL — Natal telephone exchange will move into a higher rate group in accordance with a directive from the board of transport commissioners for Canada. This action by the board is the result of information filed with them by the Telephone Company in October, 1957. Natal subscribers will pay slightly more for telephone service.

The system of rate grouping is based upon two principles. The first is that the volume of service inicreases with the increase in the number of telephones that can be called free of toll charges. In the case of Natal, the limits of Group 1 are from 1 to 250 telephones. Natal now has 304 telephones in service. The second principle upon which the rate system is based is that the cost of providing service generally increases as exchanges grow in size. Other areas affected by rate increases at this time are Golden, Gulf Islands, Hope, Salmo, Tofino, Ucluelet, Lake Cowichan, Ladner and Kitimat.

Beacon Fire to Open Salmo Celebrations

SALMO — The Centennial Year will kick off with the lighting of a beacon fire by the volunteer fire department to coincide with lighting of beacons throughout the province on April 27.

This decision was made at the recent meeting of the Salmo Centennial Committee. The committee will contact the Maple Leaf Band of Trail to arrange an afternoon concert during Salmo's weekend Centennial celebration. Plans are for a non-denominational church service to be held the same day. Arrangements for these two events are in the hands of Frank Burger and E. John.

Reports from the Legion and Rotary Club of a prospective giant bingo game May 10 were presented to the committee. Proceeds will be given to the Centennial Fund. Donations will be solicited from business men and organizations, a delegation being chosen from the committee for this purpose.

An old timers banquet is planned to which native sons over 40 years of age will be invited and senior citizens who have lived in British Columbia since 1886. This event and the Folk Festival will be held the same day. The old timers' banquet is in charge of the Ladies' Aid.

A beard-growing contest will draw competition from all over the district.

6500 X-Rayed in District Program

CRANBROOK — More reliance will be placed in future on tuberculin tests with regular check on those reacting positively, Dr. C. C. McLean has reported to East Kootenay Board of Health. Positive reactors are those most likely to get tuberculosis in the course of their lives, he said.

Highlight of the tuberculosis control section of the Department of Health in East Kootenay in 1957 was the community X-ray survey which covered 6457 persons exclusively of Cranbrook and Kimberley. Of these, 164 X-rays were referred for investigation, locating so far one new active case of tuberculosis and early lung cancer in a few others. All referrals will be notified regularly to have a chest X-ray, since most of them showed previous infection and may develop the disease again.

However, future program in tuberculosis control will emphasize suberculin tests, particularly in children up to 15 years old so that prevention and early treatment can be emphasized along with prevention of exposure to tuberculosis.

This community X-ray survey was in addition to the routine work of the 24 X-ray diagnostic and 26 consultation sessions of the Kootenay Travelling Tuberculosis Clinic. This clinic read 3161 X-rays taken in hospitals and referred 422 persons for further examination, some of whom were found to have non-tuberculous pneumonia from the Asian flu epidemic. East Kootenay program sent 14 patients to sanitorium, half newly discovered cases. Thirty-two tuberculosis patients in East Kootenay received 724 streptomycin injections through the Health Unit in home treatments.

Capacity Crowd Sees Fernie Ice Carnival

FERNIE — Seating was at a premium when a capacity crowd of 1200 saw the Fernie Rotary Club's annual carnival and ice show.

The main production, "The Legend of Fernie", was well enacted by a large cast of 60 skaters. Of these, nine were pre-school age children, eight were from the Junior High School and the balance were elementary school children.

According to legend, William Fernie reneged on a promise to marry a Kootenay Indian princess if shown the location of the coalfields. The princess' grandmother put a curse on the city of Fernie, decreeing that it be destroyed by fire and other means. The Fernie fire of 1908 and the recent closing of Elk River Colliery were enacted as resulting disasters.

Leading roles in the production were taken by Donald McRitchie as William Fernie. Kenny Yip as Leading Buck, Lois Smith as Indian Princess, Jacklyne Skilling as Medicine Man, Brenda Baker as the Chief, Joan Morris as the Indian Grandmother, and Judy Morris as The Flame.

Doreen Danielson was crowned carnival queen by Mrs. Violet Knight, last year's queen. Miss Danielson was escorted to her throne by an honor guard of Boy Scouts. She was accompanied by princesses Helen Bachlet and Nina Bezak. During the intermission Victor Bossio entertained as a clown dressed as a squaw carrying a papoose.

Following the intermission, Cranbrook and Fernie figure skaters presented the following acts: Solo, Pat MacDonald; pair, Eileen and Pauline Serek; solo, five-year-old Jacqueline Brown; pair, Penny Westgate and Annette Livingstone; pair, Joan and Judy Morris; solo, Donald McRitchie; group of three, Myrna Kasmar, Mary Craig and Arlene Whalley; solo, Eileen Serek; pair, Pat MacDonald and Joan Pouchard; pair, Mary Craig and Myrna Kasmar; dance number, Gladys Littler and Mike Struve.

Face-Lifting For Arrow Lakes Hospital

NAKUSP — Wards in the Arrow Lakes Hospital in Nakusp have undergone a face-lifting. At the request of matron Miss McKenzie, all clubs sponsoring the wards supplied the paint and in many cases the labor for a complete renewal of interior decoration.

New curtains supplement the paint job.

Nasser Poking Out Chin Too Far

Colonel Nasser seems to be doing quite well these days. He has joined Syria to his empire and now he is taking over part of the Sudan. How well he will fare with this latest adventure can hardly be forecast, for although the Egyptians have always claimed that the Sudan is part of their country, they have never been able to enforce their rule.

Egypt would like to annex the Sudan, because that country controls the headwaters of the Nile and the life of Egypt depends on that river. It also wants to control the country because Col. Nasser intends to make himself as great as any other dictator and probably with the same final result—oblivion.

The Sudan, which, unfortunately for her, did not decide to remain in the Commonwealth, can only appeal to the United Nations, and that is small comfort. The debates will go on for a long time, there will be no impassioned speeches about aggression and the rights of small nations, the United States and Russia will not intervene and the dictator will be puffed up a little more. Eventually like Mussolini and Hitler he will go too far. Then the job of cutting him down to size will be greater. We may wish that the British and French did finish the job at Suez.

Welcome Aid From Britain

When ballistic missiles are mentioned we are apt to think of the United States and Russia and their long range inter-continental rockets, and overlook the fact that other countries may be doing research along the same line.

Britain now announces that she has a missile with a range of two thousand miles which the United States will produce for her. These will be fired from underground chambers, which, it is hoped, will make them reasonably safe from retaliatory action.

This is a much more important achievement than most people believe, for it places many important targets in Russian territory within reach of these rockets from Britain. It substantially reinforces the efforts of the United States to bring every part of the Soviet Union under direct attack by the rocket bases to be established in Britain.

It should be particularly heartening to the United States for there must be many times when that country must feel that all the burden of defence and its cost falls heavily on her. This establishment of her own rocket bases by Britain is an assurance that at least one country in the world is prepared to do the best it can to defend itself and lighten the burden on the U.S.

Canada's Grievances With U.S. Are Tragic

Today there are "more grievances, more irritations and more misunderstandings between the United States and Canada than at any time since the Alaska boundary dispute in 1903". At a time when Canada's self-applauded skill in interpreting America to the world is more vital than it has ever been, this rift is "more than unlucky, it is tragic", Blair Fraser, Maclean's Ottawa editor, reports from Washington.

Writing under the title "Where we really stand with the U.S.," Fraser pins responsibility for most of Canada's present anti-U.S. bias on three "political shuttlecocks."

1. The 15% cut the U.S. has lopped off Canadian oil imports. While they admit the cuts are arguable on principle, Fraser writes, the Americans are seriously annoyed over the charge that they've simply ignored Canadian interests.

"Look what we did," one Washington official told the Ottawa analyst. "We considered you at every step. We did all we dared to stack the cards in your favor, took a chance on losing every friend we've got in Venezuela and the Middle East. Then you Canadians tear our arm off and beat us over the head with the bloody stump".

2. U.S. arm surplus disposal methods. Our protests over barter and "tied-in" wheat sales have had some effect on U.S. policies, the Maclean's analysis states, but again Americans are worried because "the average Canadian wouldn't know there'd been any change", to listen to political speeches here.

3. The joint-command mixup over North American air defence. A formal agreement setting out lines of authority has now been signed. "But the fog surrounding NORAD's origins," Fraser writes, "and particularly the discovery that the new minister of external affairs knew nothing about it in December, raised some perfectly genuine fears in Ottawa. These in turn raised doubts and fears in Washington."

Trade With Red China Our Best Defence

The British, at least, are not asleep when it comes to potential trade with Red China.

While Canadians are worrying about the export market the Peninsular and Oriental Line is reported readying trans-Pacific passenger service with two ships of 40,000 to 45,000 tons now building.

According to Sir Donald Anderson, managing director of the P & O Line currently visiting Vancouver, his firm's ships now call regularly at Shanghai and Tientsin in the U.K.-Orient service.

We don't see why Canadian trade thinking is not consistent with Britain's when it comes to trade and services with the Chinese mainland.

When are we going to realize that the Chinese millions are ready, willing and able to buy our goods—just like the Poles, Czechs and Yugoslavs?

And what better way to fight the economic war started by Soviet Russia than to trade with Red China? A trade offense is our best economic defence.

—Kamloops Sentinel.

Time to Think Of City Tax Cuts

To the Editor:

Sir—The time is close when our City Council will be figuring their budgets for 1958, and thereby setting the mill-rate for the city. It would seem a good time to think of lower taxes for our citizens. Over a period of years the tax rate has jumped to such an extent that many of us have a hard time to pay them, and persons with a limited income or small pension have to deprive themselves of the necessities of life.

It should be realized by the council that less than 3000 taxpayers are responsible for the monies required, plus some from the profits of the power plant.

How long can we keep going on this spending spree? At the rate we are going, it will soon take most of the money to pay our debts. What will we do then?

The council should be satisfied to complete the outstanding work necessitated by the last by-law, and do only necessary repairs until the debt structure is greatly reduced.

It is noted that a couple of aldermen are for putting $150,000 to $200,000 into a new city hall. The time is not now. A vast number of people are of the opinion that with a small outlay of money the old post office could be made into an ideal city hall and serve us well for at least ten years. The taxpayers authorized the city to get this property for that purpose, but it is apparent that some of our council would like a monument at our expense. The people of this town should not be saddled with added expense at this time. A few days ago a Social Credit member viewed with alarm the terrific rise of taxes on homes in the province and suggested legislation to stop the rise on citizens' homes; when things like this are brought to the notice of the government it is getting serious, and councils should take note. Nelson is not Vancouver, and it is time we stopped trying to keep up with it. It has a much larger population, or have we not realized it yet?

The time is coming, and sooner than we realize, when the whole country will have to change its ideas. Wages and costs of materials and other things that make for living, are getting to such a state that if a halt is not called soon we shall all be bankrupt. This would be a good time for Nelson to start showing some concern for its inhabitants.

There are not a large number of wealthy people here and a good many, while putting on a good front, and trying to keep up with the Joneses, are finding the going pretty tough. Let the council show a little of the milk of human kindness, before it is too late. They have a chance now.

SPENCER J. NEWELL.

Children To Be Denied Sleighing?

To the Editor:

Sir—Your editorial on sleighing is a fine example of selfishness.

We make our country what it is. We train the people. The devil finds work for idle hands" is as true now as it ever was. Our children have little work at home, because mother and father no longer need much help. Are children to be denied this most healthful exercise because adults, who are too lazy and too unmindful of their own health to walk, must go a few blocks out of their way to help these children grow into good citizens?

Why should the Parent-Teacher Association give a guarantee the youngsters will use only these streets? We provide police because grownups will not guarantee they will behave. Do you expect children to exercise more restraint than adults?

"We love to indulge our children" should be written "indulge ourselves". It gives us a lovely feeling of importance to shower them with gifts. But do we say when they ask for help, "not now, I must go to a meeting . . . I must wash the car or the walls . . . Do go and play!" In the next breath we say "Don't throw the ball against the house . . . don't climb on the fence . . . don't ride your bike on the lawn" . . . don't, don't, all day long. If town children cannot play on the streets, provide places for them to play, beside a 50-foot lot with a house taking the lion's share of the room.

Hospital Life in Music

. . . F. B. PEARCE

When I awoke in the hospital and saw all the crowd of orderlies and nurses it reminded me very much of a musical comedy scene Hence the following:

Time: Early morning before sunrise.

Place: A hospital ward.

Enter an orderly carrying a hand basin, bangs on the basin, puts it down, does a horn-pipe and sings Wakey-wakey, rise and shine.

All the bed patients wake, throw back their covers, sit up and sing in chorus, "Oh what a lovely morning, oh what a beautiful day."

Enter dancing demurely three young nurses dressed in white, Pyllidia carrying pill, Thermometrix with a themometer and Castoria with a glass.

Pyllidia sings. With great regret my gentle sir I wake you from your slumber. I hope you will not mind but you must take this number.

Chorus of patients: nine.

They sing —

Oh the number nine is the best of pills
And the pride of the British Army
Whenever you go to meet the foe take along a number nine-o
This paragon of pills will cure all ills and leave your troubles behind-o.

Thermometrix waves a thermometer and sings—

Gentle sir. Oh gentle sir,
I much regret to say,
You cannot leave today,
Your temperature is up.

Chorus —

Does she care, oh does she care if you are sick or sorry
Does she care? We all declare she doesn't care if you are sick with worry.
You cannot leave today.

Castoria —

Toss this dram down laddie, toss the dram down
The sooner it's gone the sooner to rest,
And never forget that nursie knows best.

Chorus —

Oh, Yeah.
Oily, oily, oily. Oily in the morning we oil our poor sore throats.
Without the oil we sure would spoil.
The loveliest of notes.
Oil of the morning, beautiful oil.
Give the man plenty so he won't spoil.
Give the man plenty so he won't spoil.

Exeunt maidens dancing dignifiedly.

Enter matrons eagerly —

Where is he? Oh where is he who in our youth
Was then so young and charming.

First matron disappointedly —

Oh, his hair is grey.

Second matron —

He's old.

Third matron proffering a goblet of nectar —

Drink this, and then perchance your youthful vigor will return again.

Patient drinks —

Hail to the fairest of the fair.

Matrons simper and all sing —

Do you remember the days of our youth,
When we roamed the fields together,
And our hearts were high and our spirits gay,
However bad the weather.
Those day are gone it's no longer May
But do not haste to leave us stay, stay.

Jack in the oCrner, waving a crutch —

Nay, nay. He shall not stay,
Away with him, Away with him
He shall not stay. He snores.

Chorus —

He snores. Away with him.
Aaway with him. He shall not stay he snores.

Enter the Fair Ermintrude carrying a white banner with the letters SC on it.

She sings —

Never in my life since I became a wife
Did I meet a man I admire so greatly
Will you please accept this invitation hearty
To join the Social Credit party.
Will you, won't you joint the party.

Patient sings —

I pray you dear lady not to take it amiss
If I say that life was never like this.
I never expected in this dull place,
To find a young lady with such a fair face,
The pleasure is mine, but alas I can't sign
With the Social Credit party,
But if you'll be sociable, I'll give you the credit.

Enter ward maid et al bringing breakfast trays.

Chorus all —

Breakfast is here hurrah, hurray.
It sets us all up for the rest of the day.
The mush may be mushy and and the toast all burnt
The teas may be tasteless but as we're all learnt.
There's nothing like breakfast in bed.
There's nothing like breakfast in bed.

Curtain.

Your Individual HOROSCOPE

By Frances Drake

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

For Wednesday, February 26, 1958

MARCH 21 to APRIL 20 (Aries) —Mars, planet of great energy, is strong in your sector. Today its apathetic aspect indicates turning some time to deliberation, contemplation. But don't let up in required activty.

APRIL 21 to MAY 21 (Taurus)—Clarity; peace, cheer, hope, appreciation of the beautiful and family interests are to be stressed if you would have the happy, successful day that is possible. YOU must put forth the effort.

MAY 22 to JUNE 21 (Gemini)—Here is a day for curtailing investigation and inquiry to the necessities, not indulging useless chatter or busying self with others' affairs. Simplify arrangements, protect nervous system.

JUNE 22 to JULY 23 (Cancer) —Your Moon's position suggests that you hasten to finish the truly small details and get after the more important items that build this day and week to the satisfying climax it can attain.

JULY 24 to AUGUST 23 (Leo) — A very dreary time is had by all when lack of controversy and venture are forsaken, and many mistakes occur through unenlightenment. Fight sturdily all obstacles to real achievement.

AUGUST 24 to SEPTEMBER 23 (Virgo) — A mildly inauspicious configuration of planet Mercury (though fine yesterday and tomorrow) suggests a note of caution and thoroughness, always needed in a well-run life. Eliminate tension.

SEPTEMBER 24 to OCTOBER 23 (Libra) — Intensify interest in right and happy things, curb whatever you know you should — and YOU know what you should, most of the time. If in doubt, review, say a prayer, ask questions; then DECIDE.

OCTOBER 24 to NOVEMBER 22 (Scorpio) — Under Mars today strive to increase interest in intellectual matters, children's affairs, community and far-reaching benefits. Stimulate leadership, correct decisions.

NOVEMBER 23 to DECEMBER 21 (Sagittarius) — Jupiter's several excellent configurations at this period indicate advances in operations connected with government, judicial, spiritual and sociable activities. Strengthen benevolence.

DECEMBER 22 to JANUARY 20 (Capricorn) — Looking forward to anything is often happier than the actual doing. So enjoy making plans, talking matters over, enhancing the outlook, and do not just hasten through these periods.

JANUARY 21 to FEBRUARY 19 (Aquarius) — "Your" planet Uranus, in fine aspect, urges you to step forth with all your resources and wits and corral (or at least set up the pattern for attaining) (Pisces) — Neptune also favors

FEBRUARY 20 to MARCH 20 new top rewards. You can! decisive action and, as soon as practicable, after investigating all possible outcomes. If you have facts, and carry principles with you, you will do well.

YOU BORN TODAY of Pisces, under Neptune, can reach great heights in any undertaking (it must be worthwhile or you will lose interest), if you develop and use daily your many God-given talents. You have neutral tendencies; don't let them turn to chaotic channels, but to the wonderful, spiritual standing you can attain. Change your environment where you should; shun anxiety. Choose companions of pure and worthy status. Your intuition, logical conclusions and intelligent nature should overcome hazards quickly when you encourage your self-confidence. Birthdate of: Victor Hugo, French author, dramatist; William F. Supreme Court Denies Perepolkins' Appeal

OTTAWA (CP)—The Supreme Court of Canada Monday denied a Doukhobor couple's attempt to appeal a judgment of the British Columbia Court of Appeal in connection with their son's committal to the New Denver, B.C., school.

Anne and Bill Perepolkin of the Sons of Freedom Doukhobor sect applied for leave to appeal a decision of the B.C. Appeal Court that lower courts examine committal of their son Bill, Jr., 9, under section 13 of the B.C. Pro*tection of Children's Act.*

Their son's committal was quashed by the B.C. Appeal Court which referred the case back to the B.C. Supreme Court to see if the committal could be enforced under the section covering unfitness of parents to keep their child.

The Perepolkins sought to prevent this re-examination of the case on the ground that the section is outside the legislative powers of the province and interferes with their religious freedom.

"COULD BE CHAOS"

The Supreme Court here denied leave to appeal because the committal order was quashed and because the B.C. courts have not examined the case in the light of section 13.

To a suggestion the committal interferes with religious freedom, Mr. Justice Charles Locke, one of three judges who heard the appeal, said compulsory school could be refused by parents simply because they do not like the curriculum.

"If so, there would be chaos all over Western Canada," said Mr. Justice Locke, former British Columbia lawyer.

Negro Girl Enters Mixed School

NEW YORK (AP) — Minnejean Brown went to school Monday, more than 1,000 miles from home.

The 16-year-old Negro girl, expelled recently from Central High School in Little Rock, Ark., began classes at the New Lincoln School, a private interracial institution.

The Manhattan school offered her a scholarship of $1,050 a year after her expulsion from Central High.

"My education is the important thing," the girl said on her arrival here Saturday.

Until a few months ago she spelled her name "Minnie Jean." She changed it to "Minnijean," she said, "when I became a celebrity."

RACIAL TROUBLES

One of nine Negro students attending Central High under the protection of federal troops, she was expelled following a series of racial incidents.

She acknowledged Saturday calling a white girl "white trash." She said the girl had stepped on her heels and called her names.

"It was the first time I ever really got mad enough to say anything like that. I just let go," said Minnijean.

She added: "This is all in the past. I'd like to forget it."

"I'm praying constantly for the other eight kids," the girl said. "They need it."

The New Lincoln School was established 10 years ago to continue pioneer work begun by predecessor institutions dating back to 70 years ago.

No records are kept of students' racial background, a spokesman said, but the majority are white.

Police Work on Cup Mystery

BIRMINGHAM, England (AP) A 63 year-old mystery, the theft of the original British Football Association Tournament Cup, apparently was solved Sunday when Harry Burge, 80, confessed he helped steal it.

Burge said he and two other men now dead stole the cup from a sporting goods store where it was on display, melted it down and made counterfeit coins out of the silver. At the time, the cup was held by Aston Villa, which had won the 1895 tournament.

The cup was made in 1872 at a cost of £20.

Police said they might charge Burge with the theft if they can find any record of the case in official annals. Burge told a reporter: "I just wanted to get it off my mind" and said he would plead guilty if charged.

Reform School Boys Earn Prince's Badge

WARWICK, England (Reuters) Seven teen-age boys at a reform school are to receive Prince Philip's silver badges, awarded for character, initiative and physique.

The Kineton Reform School boys competed with more than 7,000 other youths in elite private schools, state schools and boys clubs throughout Britain in a rugged series of physical tests and demonstrations of strength of character.

The seven were among only 300 who won silver badges. Seven hundred others qualified to receive the prince's bronze award.

Prince Philip established the contest last year.

The boys had to pass tests in expedition and rescue work, physical fitness and public service.

Two Projectiles Fired at Fort Churchill

FORT CHURCHILL, Man. (CP) Two rockets were fired within 35 minutes of each other to altitudes of 128 and 91 miles in International Geophysical Year tests made here early Monday.

An Aerobee rocket reached the greater altitude after being fired from the sub-Arctic base near the shore of Hudson Bay at 1 a.m. CST. A Nike-Cajun solid-fuel rocket was launched 35 minutes later. Information from both was radioed back to ground stations manned by American scientists and personnel of the Canadian defence research board and the transport department.

The first rocket was designed to test atmospheric pressure, temperatures, air density and winds at high altitudes. Special measures such as sealing the rocket and polishing its surface were taken to ensure that it did not carry with it air from the earth's surface to upset the tests.

MANY MEASUREMENTS

The projectile also measured auroral effects.

Air pressure, temperatures and air density were measured by different techniques by instruments in the Nike-Cajun rocket.

Both experiments were pronounced successful by United States scientists directing them. Scientific data from the Aerobee rocket was described as "excellent."

The Aerobee was sponsored by the United States naval research laboratory at Washington, and the Nike-Cajun rocket by the U.S. Air Force Cambridge research centre and the University of Michigan.

American Envoy Arrives Paris

PARIS (AP) — American envoy Robert Murphy arrived here Monday to continue talks on settlement of the French-Tunisian dispute.

After talks in London with the British member of the two-man "good offices" mission, Murphy, deputy undersecretary of state, flew to Paris to see Premier Felix Gaillard and Foreign Minister Christian Pineau.

He is expected to go on to Tunis Tuesday to see President Habib Bourguiba and members of his government.

Murphy will be followed to Paris shortly by his British colleague, Foreign Office Undersecretary Harold Beeley.

Side of Bacon Saved the Ship

EINDHOVER, THE NETHERLANDS (Reuters) — A four-pound cide of bacon saved the 100-ton Dutch ship Zuiderzee from sinking in the harbor here, the vessel's owners disclosed Monday.

The ship sprang a leak after a collision Saturday. A crew member rushed to the nearest butcher store.

"Sell me a side of bacon," he demanded. "My ship's sinking."

The bacon was rushed back to the ship and the captain plugged the hole with it. The ship stayed afloat and next morning was taken to a repair yard.

Canadian Singer Gisele Weds Robert Shuttleworth

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—Manitoba-born singer Gisele MacKenzie, 31, and her personal manager Robert Shuttleworth, 44, were married here early Monday.

They flew from Hollywood with a small party of friends after midnight.

The ceremony was performed by district court judge Frank McNamee in a penthouse suite of the Flamingo Hotel.

Miss MacKenzie, born in Winnipeg, wore a gown of pale blue satin with gold flecks, a matching hat and gold slippers. Shuttleworth wore a dark blue business suit.

Maurice Kessler, a Toronto business man, was best man. Mrs. Axel Slordahl was the bride's attendant.

FIRST FOR GISELE

This was the first marriage for Miss MacKenzie. Shuttleworth's previous marriage ended in divorce in 1950.

The couple said they had been considering marriage a long time but definitely decided only last Saturday night.

They plan to honeymoon here *two days. They will live in Bev*erly Hills, Calif.

Shuttleworth first met her during the Second World War when he was serving with the Royal Canadian Navy. He persuaded her to sing at a naval function. After the war he organized a dance band and signed Miss MacKenzie as his singer.

Miss MacKenzie starred on several CBC programs before coming to the United States. She starred on the television show, Your Hit Parade, before starting her own show last September.

It has been reported that the show's sponsors are dropping it in April because of production clashes between Shuttleworth, the show's producer and the sponsors themselves.

Ed Wynn Tells How To Be Young When 70 Years Old

EDITOR'S NOTE: If you want to stay young, actor Ed Wynn thinks, you must think and act young. Wynn has certainly done that—but he had to overcome moments of despondency when, nearing 70, he felt that life had shouldered him aside.

By ED WYNN

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — It isn't given to many people to start a whole new, exciting career after the age of 70, but I have been so blessed.

For 54 years, I thought that God put me on this earth to make people laugh. I never worked at any other profession.

As I neared my 70th year, I was told I could not get work as a comedian. The men who run the television shows said the trend was against comedy, that the people wanted drama for their entertainment.

This was hard for me to take. I had never been anything but a star. I had produced and owned my own shows on Broadway. I had starred in the golden days of radio as the fire chief.

I was depressed; I felt that I had been passed by. But my son Keenan and others urged me to keep active. I was offered a serious role in the movie, The Great Man. I was hesitant because I had never played a dramatic role in my life. But I did it.

DRAWS RAVES

The results were beyond my wildest dreams. I found myself being hailed by the critics as a dramatic find, and I was sought by many film and TV producers for serious roles.

Naturally, this has been highly gratifying to me as an artist. But I have enjoyed even more the inspiration that my example has apparently given to other mature citizens.

I have been asked by several organizations and governmental groups for my ideas on such matters as growing old and retiring, and I have been happy to oblige.

Some of my ideas are strictly personal. I may be unique in that I feel I have always had a Peter Pan mind. I have thought of myself as young all my life, and I still feel that way at 71. This latest boost to my career has been so exhilarating that it takes me back 25 or 30 years in outlook.

THINK, ACT YOUNG

This is corroborated by my doctor, who says that I am in the physical condition of a man much younger than my years. I feel that if you want to stay young, you must think and act young.

I don't mean that you must kick up your heels at a night club, though I do enjoy late parties if the company is stimulating. The important thing is not to let yourself be caught in the aging process. I have no desire to sit around and talk about the old days with my contemporaries. I'd much rather discuss the present and the future with younger people.

I remember with great fondness the party Keenan gave for me on my 70th birthday. Out of a sizable crowd, not one guest was over 40.

I believe there are great dangers in retirement. No one should retire or be forced to retire on the basis of age alone. Disability should be the basis for retirement, especially in hazardous occupations where age might impair co-ordination.

If you must retire, I feel the most important thing is to keep your mind active. Find new interests, new activities, new friends to keep your mind alive.

MEET NEW FRIENDS

I believe it's a good idea for retired people to move to a new neighborhood instead of living where they have for many years. The reason is that your younger, unretired friends may be too busy to spend time with you and you are liable to become a very lonely person.

One of the dreadful things about old age is loneliness. It can be avoided if you remain an interesting person yourself.

Another danger of old age is exaggeration. If your mind isn't active, your fears can be blown up beyond all proportions. You begin to worry that each ache and pain is a portent of death, that your children don't want you any more. You worry about your financial status, even about crossing a street.

I've found a formula for avoiding these exaggerated fears of age: YOU take care of every day; let the calendar take care of the years.

"Bread of Life" Theme of Prayer Day Observance

PROCTER—Women of this district congregated in the Procter United Church to observe the 39th annual World Day of Prayer, this year prepared by the women of Australia and marked universally. The theme was The Bread of Life.

Offering prayers were Mrs. G. A. Phillips, Mrs. Albert Ogden, Mrs. M. D. MacKinnon and Mrs. F. Bonacci of Procter, Mrs. J. Heuston and Mrs. J. McClintock of Balfour, Mrs. E. M. McNown and Mrs. R. E. Laidlaw of Longbeach and Mrs. J. Paulhus and Mrs. H. R. Anderson of Harrop. Mrs. Alec J. Garner, soloist, sang Evening Prayer. Mrs. Eric Smith of Longbeach, accompanist and organist, played the hymns "Jesus Shall Reign", "Praise the Lord", "Dear Lord and Father" and "The Day Thou Gavest, Lord, Is Ended." Mrs. Anderson was guest speaker.

Mrs. Anderson built her talk on the chosen theme but applied it directly to the women in the home, using the story of Martha and Mary to illustrate her point that man does not live by bread alone. She quoted Mary Hallam's poem:

"Lord of the pots and pans and things since I have not time to be
A saint by doing lovely things and vigiling with Thee,
By watching in the twilight dawn, and storming Heaven's gates,
Make me a saint by getting meals and washing up the plates,
Although I must have Martha hands, I have a Mary mind."

She gave the women the message that it is their problem to "fill Martha's role with Mary's spirit."

Following the service Mrs. Garner entertained half the group at tea and Mrs. J. MacLeod was hostess to the other half.

Arrow Lakes Hospital Auxiliary Installs Officers

NAKUSP — President Mrs. J. Raven and other new officers of the Arrow Lakes Hospital Auxiliary were installed at the meeting at the home of Rev. and Mrs. R. Booth.

Other officers were Mrs. D. McInnis, vice-president, Mrs. D. Duncan, secretary, Mrs. B. Crowell, treasurer and Mrs. R. Blyth, publicity. Mrs. R. Joy, past president, officiated at the installation ceremonies.

A report on the redecorating program being carried out in the hospital indicated showed the work is almost completed; paint for the sponsored wards was provided by the sponsors and the auxiliary supplied expenses and work for the unsponsored ward.

A committee was formed for the purpose of meeting with the Centennial. Committee to obtain facts concerning expenses and profit or loss problems connected with the sponsoring of a big name band during the Centennial celebrations. The comimttee is composed of Mrs. F. Maxwell, Mrs. A. Dunn and Mrs. F. B. Maxfield. Report of the group will be heard at the next meeting.

A bake sale will be held in March, the sum of $30 being reported from the February sale.

Mrs. C. Ball was the winner of the Round the World booster prize, the award being crystal candle holders from Sweden.

The sewing committee reported 40 baby gowns made and delivered to the hospital. Material for diapers is ordered and will be made up by the auxiliary.

Members were requested to attend the annual hospital meeting.

Experiences in West Africa Illustrate Talk

FRUITVALE — Her experiences in West Africa were used to illustrate the talk given by Mrs. L. C. Hooper, who spoke on the theme of the World Day of Prayer, "Bread of Life", at the service in St. Paul's Church, attended by some 30 women.

Mrs. Hooper outlined the use of offerings and prayers in furthering the Gospel of Christ, "The Bread of Life." "We are not alone in our service, many thousands of women of various races, color and creed are praying with us" said Mrs. Hooper.

The service this year was held in more than 110 countries. The theme was prepared by women in Australia, many of whom had flown hundreds of miles to attend the discussions of arrangements.

Mrs. James Davenport conducted the service and was assisted in prayers by Mrs. R. Nay, Mrs. S. Lapka, Mrs. A. Womacks, Mrs. R. Webb, Mrs. F. Phares and Mrs. W. Mauchlin. Soloist was Mrs. Verne Wilson and Mrs. F. M. Peitzsche played the organ.

Following the prayer service, Mrs. Mauchlin was elected at a brief business meeting to fill the position of secretary-treasurer for a two-year term.

An invitation to hold the service next year in the Pentecostal church at Beaver Falls was accepted.

Denis Rolph Baptized Sunday

Denis Nathaniel Rolph, son of Mrs. Everett Rolph and the late Mr. Rolph, was baptized Sunday morning by Rev. Canon G. W. Lang at St. Saviour's Pro-Cathedral.

Queen Mother Leaves Free-for-All Early

SYDNEY, Australia (Reuters) — The Queen Mother was the centre of a virtual free-for-all Monday as Australians struggled to get a glimpse of her at a civic reception.

Observers described the wild shoving and pushing as the worst display of bad manners so far in the Queen Mother's tour of New Zealand and Australia.

The Queen Mother left the reception 20 minutes before schedule, leaving her glass of champagne untouched.

As soon as she left, a man climbed on the dais, tipped the champagne into another tumbler and pocketed the Queen Mother's glass.

Five Die in Blazing Ontario Log Cabin

By The Canadian Press

The death of five persons in a fire near Kenora, Ont., early Sunday has raised Canada's accidental weekend death toll to 27.

Two adults and three children died in the fire, bringing the toll in Ontario to 10—highest in Canada—a Canadian Press survey from 6 p.m. local time Friday to midnight Sunday showed. The other five Ontario deaths occurred on highways.

Quebec, with seven fatalities, had the second highest toll. Alberta reported five deaths, while British Columbia and Saskatchewan each had two and Manitoba one.

There were 18 traffic deaths during the weekend, while fire claimed seven lives. One man was asphyxiated in a car and a boy died when a skating arena collapsed.

LYING IN SNOW

District temperatures were near freezing Saturday night.

Ena is a whistlestop on the Canadian National Railways mainline, 129 miles east of Winnipeg.

Mr. Clark and another man placed the injured woman in their home and returned to the Linklater home. It had been destroyed and Mr. Linklater was lying injured in the snow. They took him to the Clark home.

The men then flagged a CNR freight train and placed the injured persons on board for a six-mile journey to Redditt.

Harry Prystie of Ena went ahead to inform police of the fire and arrange for an ambulance to take the young couple 25 miles to Kenora hospital.

Mrs. Linklater died three hours after reaching hospital. Mr. Linklater was reported Monday in good condition.

An inquest will be held.

Ena is a hamlet of about 25 persons. It has no telephone or telegraph communication system. Mr. Linklater is a CNR section man.

British House Gravely Attentive . . .

When Sandys Outlines Joint Rocket Pact

LONDON (AP) — Defence Minister Duncan Sandys announced Monday that the Anglo-American pact setting up rocket bases in Britain provides "that the missiles shall not be launched except by a joint, positive decision of both governments."

Sandys told a gravely attentive House of Commons:

"The nuclear warheads will remain in American custody and will be kept in an unarmed condition so that there can be no risk of a nuclear explosion; and the weapon is designed in such a way that it would be impossible for it to be launched accidentally."

Cries of "shame" came from the Labor benches when the minister announced the rocket bases will be mainly in East Anglia, Lincolnshire and Yorkshire on the English east coast.

Sandys added:

"It would obviously not be in the public interest to disclose the number of missiles, or the number of sites or their precise location."

MANNED BY RAF

Sandys estimated Britain's share of the bill will be about £10,000,000.

The defence minister emphasized that the missiles will be manned and operated by RAF units.

The basic agreement for setting up the rocket bases was taken last March in Bermuda by Prime Minister Macmillan and President Eisenhower.

George Brown, the Labor party's chief defence spokesman, asked whether Britain proposed to make her own warheads.

Sandys replied: "We are not planning development of a British warhead for the Thor rocket (the American 1,500-mile intermediate range missile) but are concentrating our efforts on developing an all-British rocket of a more advanced type."

This project was announced recently.

On the joint Anglo - American decision for using the missiles Sandys said: "There will be special arrangements to ensure that there is rapid consultation."

U.S. Satellite Comes To Life

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — The high-powered radio transmitter on the U.S. satellite Explorer has inexplicably come to life after apparently dying Feb. 12.

The California Institute of Technology's jet propulsion laboratory, which developed the satellite and created its radio system, said "reasonably strong" signals were picked up at various places Sunday and Monday.

Dr. Henry L. Richter Jr., electronics supervisor for the lab, said signals have been picked up at the nearby tracking station in Temple City, in Illinois, Cuba and other places.

Richter said that while scientists lack factual knowledge, they have developed theories for the radio signal's rebirth.

One is that as the satellite orbited the high-powered transmitter was in such a position that it received no heat from the sun and froze. As the Explorer continued its flight the position of the satellite changed and the sun's heat thawed out the transmitter.

Another theory is that the transmitter became overheated and was temporarily out of commission.

Victoria Turns Down Plan To Aid Fernie Unemployment

VICTORIA (CP) — Several lands and forests jobs suggested to help the unemployment situation in Fernie have been ruled impractical by the government.

The legislative committee on labor was advised in a letter from Lands and Forests Minister Ray Williston that the jobs suggested by the Fernie Chamber of Commerce are not feasible.

The jobs mostly concerned forest access roads in the Fernie area.

Mr. Williston said that because of the snow conditions—three to seven feet—and the distance of some of the jobs from Fernie he did not think they were to be recommended.

The majority of Fernie's workers have been out of work since the Crowsnest Pass Coal Co. plant there closed down.

Indonesia Warns Interventionists

JAKARTA, Indonesia (Reuters) A government spokesman Monday warned against foreign intervention in Indonesia's "internal problem" which might lead to "all-out war."

The warning came as government planes continued the anti-rebel offensive by bombing targets in Northern Celebes.

In his statement, a spokesman for the foreign ministry said there are indications some members of Indonesia" tried to invite international powers to intervene by seeking help and recognition.

"It should be realized any attempt to intervene in this internal problem will only and ultimately result in a bigger international conflict which might lead to all-out war," said Ganis Harsono.

Fisherman Saves Marooned Boys

NORTH VANCOUVER, B. C. Two boys marooned on a rock in turbulent Seymour Creek Sunday were saved by a slender lifeline cast 75 feet by a skilled fisherman.

Bill Miles, 16, and Ron Watson, 14, both of nearby Burnaby, were hauled ashore by a line of nylon fishing line, garden twine, and rope after several fruitless attempts.

High school teacher Robert Campbell, 41, was the expert fisherman. He teamed with firemen and RCMP to rescue the youths, who later were treated in hospital and sent home.

The rushing water was six feet deep where the boys were trapped. They had been swept to the rock when they tried to ford the river.

Mr. Campbell's casts with six and 20-pound-test lines failed when the lines broke.

Fireman Jack Hasting tried to wade and swim to the boys but couldn't manage to heave the heavy rope. It wouldn't float downstream because of the eddies.

Finally the fishing line was tied to the twine, and the twine to the rope. With two quarter-inch "buckshot" weights on the end of the line, Mr. Campbell cast right between the boys.

First one then the second was hauled ashore by the rope.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Threatens Strike

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP)—The Lebanese press syndicate decided Monday to strike next week in protest against a new law governing journalists.

The new law provides for the arrest of journalists before trial in libel cases and cancels their right to appeal.

Until now journalists went to court directly in libel suits without arrest and could appeal the verdict.

Market Trends

MONTREAL (CP) — Prices were mixed to lower in moderate turnover Monday on the Montreal and Canadian Stock Exchanges.

The banking and steel groups were strong spots.

Miscellaneous stocks, utilities, pipelines, base metals, and beverages were lower. B.C. Power lost a point at 40½ and Trans-Canada Pipeline ¾ at 26⅞.

Newsprints and constructions were mixed. Powell River slipped ¼ to 33.

Western oils were weak in the mines and oils section. Pacific Petroleums declined ¼ to a new low of 17¾ and Central Del Rio 20 cents to 5.50.

Mines were mixed in a ½ point range.

Closing averages: banks up .71 at a new high of 48.42, utilities unchanged at 137.5, industrials unchanged at 237.7, combined unchanged 204.3, papers up .68 at 1,098.48 and golds off .10 at 67.52.

TORONTO (CP) — Western oils recorded a moderately steep decline Monday but the rest of the stock market was irregular in trading which turned sluggish near the close.

Observers said the decline was not a result of any new reports but rather the same factors which have kept oils from running forward with the rest of the market for months — no markets for western oil and the current ban of export of natural gas. The American government announced late last week that it didn't intend to make an exception of its restrictions on imported oil to Canadian producers.

The volume of 2,354,000 shares was lighter than Friday's 2,539,000 but above the average of several sessions in the last month.

Individual losses among oils ranged to 30 cents — by Bailey Selburn at $7.35 — among the lower-priced stocks and to nearly ½ point among the senior stocks. Industrials were generally mixed with most changes occurring in a fractional range. A few low-priced mines moved in a 20-cent range but most changes in this section were small.

NEW YORK (AP) — Stock market trading slipped Monday to another low for 1958 and prices underwent a moderate decline.

It was the fourth straight daily retreat but slack turnover deemphasized the loss.

Leading stocks fell fractions to a point or more for some. A few mining stocks and other selected issues bucked the trend.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks declined 70 cents to $158.60 with the industrials down $1.20, the rails down 90 cents and the utilities up 20 cents.

Canadian stocks also suffered in the general decline. Hudson Bay Mining was hit for a 1¼ loss. Canadian Pacific and Distillers - Seagrams closed lower. Dome Mines made a ¼ gain while other shares were mainly unchanged.

American Stock Exchange prices were off. Losers included Northspan Uranium.

HOUSING REPORT

OTTAWA (CP)—The Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation Saturday reported construction of 120,700 houses was started in January, up 169 per cent from the January 1957 total of 44,800, but lower than the 132,800 recorded in December 1957.

Railways Have Until March 10 To Appeal

OTTAWA (CP)—The Canadian railways Monday were given until March 10 to apply for leave to appeal to the Supreme Court of Canada against the size of a 3.6-per-cent general freight rate increase awarded them in December.

Mr. Justice C.H. Locke granted the extension of time from the previous Feb. 28 deadline, with the consent of the provinces—all except Ontario and Quebec — which opposed the rate increase.

The railways Feb. 17 filed notice of the appeal to the court from the award of the board of transport commissioners. They contend the board, in calculating the size of the increase, erred in not taking into account increases in the rail investment of the CPR since 1947.

The CPR is used by the transport board as the "yardstick" line in setting freight rates.

In a separate action, the eight provinces have appealed to the *federal cabinet to disallow the in*crease altogether, and the cabinet has suspended its application until at least March 1 pending a hearing. This date likely will be extended further in view of the general election campaign.

Plan Larger U.S. Satellites

WINTER PARK, Fla. (AP) — The United States Army plans to work progressively up to satellites of 500 pounds or more, says Maj.-Gen. John B. Medaris, head of the army ballistic missiles agency.

He said Sunday night that another satellite launching attempt will be made by the army "not earlier than tomorrow or later than the 1st of April."

The army placed the first U.S. satellite, Explorer, in orbit from Cape Canaveral, Fla., Jan. 31, using a Jupiter-C rocket as the launching vehicle.

Medaris said the next satellite will be similar to the Explorer *but with advanced instrumenta*tion.

Hope Teenagers Survive Ordeal

HOPE (CP)—Two Hope teenagers, who spent Sunday night in rain on the side of 4,000-foot Mount Ogilvie, walked out safely Monday.

They had been the object of an intensive search by civilians and the RCAF.

Richard Webster, 16, and Arlene Keim, 14, had both climbed the mountain before. They left Hope Sunday afternoon to climb it again, driving to the mountain base at Othello, a railway siding 15 miles from Hope.

A party of loggers searched the mountain—but on the wrong side —until late Sunday night. This morning 35 men were out again, and an RCAF helicopter was called from Vancouver.

NELSON - CRESTON DISTRICT

Advance Warning of Load and Speed Restrictions of Highways

During the Spring thaw it will be necessary to impose load and speed restrictions on vehicles using highways and secondary roads in this District. These restrictions may be imposed on short notice and trucking and transportation companies should govern themselves accordingly.

The restrictions will limit the axle loadings of trucks and buses and will restrict the speed of some vehicles.

Vehicles with solid tires will be prohibited from using the highways.

M. C. K. STRUVE,
District Superintendent.

Fernie, B.C.

NOTICE

Regulations — Section 35 "Highway Act"

Extraordinary Traffic

KASLO-SLOCAN DISTRICT

The undersigned, being a person authorized by the Minister of Highways, in writing, to exercise the powers vested in the said Minister in Part II of the "Highway Act" and being of the opinion that the Monashee section of No. 6 Highway between Needles, B.C., and the North Okanagan Electoral District Boundary is liable to damage through traffic thereon, hereby makes the following Regulation, pursuant to Section 35 of the "Highway Act," effective from 12:01 a.m. on the morning of Feburary 26th, 1958 until further notice;

No person shall operate any vehicle over the Monashee Section of No. 6 Highway between Needles, B.C. and the North Okanagan Electoral District Boundary, having a single axle weight in excess of 75% of 18,000 pounds or a tandem axle weight in excess of 75% of 32,000 pounds as allowed under the Regulations made pursuant to Section 36 of the "Highway Act." The LX factor will be disregarded in calculating the allowable load.

The speed limit of trucks and buses is restricted to 30 miles per hour.

Vehicles with solid tires are prohibited.

The SHORT CIRCUIT

By JOHN SHORT
Sports Editor

Whitby Dunlops will return to Canada with the World Hockey Championship firmly grasped in the sweating hands of manager Wren Blair.

After due consideration, that is the firm opinion of this observer. But not under any circumstances could it be said the tournament at Oslo will be easy. There are too many good teams.

In years past, it was almost invariably billed as a battle among Canada, United States and Britain. Then Britain faded as a threat and U.S. indicated it would do likewise. In the meantime, the Scandinavian countries rallied until, eventually, every tournament was scheduled to see Canada meet Russia in the final.

Few observers admit the possibility of any team other than Canada or Russia carting off the silverware, but the fact remains the general level of competition is much higher than it had been previously. It now is apparent that any one team can topple any other team on any given night.

Two years ago, the U.S. amateur squad whipped Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen, and their victory came before Russia's. From all reports, the loss to Russia was less decisive than the loss to the Yanks. It was the American victory that rankled, and it still does.

Most fans are willing to forgive Kitchener for losing to Moscow, but the defeat at the hands of the American team, mostly comprised of college youngsters, struck deeply at what must pass as national pride, although how one can have pride of any sort and not know how to lose gracefully is a puzzle too deep for me.

Sweden has been considered no better than third, with the U.S. and Norway tabbed to battle for fourth. It is highly possible, even probable, that one of those three teams will toss an upset at the anticipated first and second teams.

A report Monday from Dunlops' touring headquarters echoed the familiar cry of "no competition." I've heard that before. I heard that two years ago when Kitchener whipped Germany 23-0, and every fan in Canada and most throughout the world conceded the title to the high-scoring Canucks.

I'm still convinced that if Kitchener's five reinstated pros had been able to play, the Canucks would have brought the title home. Penticton V's had that right; Whitby will have it.

Whitby should win the crown, but the triumph won't be done without generous helpings of blood, sweat, toil and tears. It will be as rugged as anything that team has ever encountered.

"Congratulations, Kimberley"

Despite the lack of cooperation from the weather, Kimberley's third annual Snow Fiesta was the huge success it deserved to be. It resulted from foresight, energy and imagination on behalf of all inhabitants of the city and will serve through the rest of this year as an example to other parts of the province. If the rest of British Columbia is able to show as well in regional celebrations, the success of the Centennial is assured.

The snow palace, decorated streets, merchants' windows and many arrays of colored lights served to prove that when a city settles wholeheartedly behind a project, no matter what size, success follows. Everywhere one looked were obvious signs of civic pride, and the proud city made a proud spectacle throughout 10 days of festivities.

The parade was a huge success, and youthful Patricia Brown is an attractive monarch for next year's affair. Mammoth floats, seven bands and other parade attractions further indicated the hard work from various committees in making the Centennial Fiesta one that will be remembered with pleasure in years to come.

Of course, the winter sports, which were perhaps the main feature of the Fiesta, added some attractions that extended beyond the simple realm of visual satisfaction. Anyone can enjoy seeing experts, whether in skiing, curling or basketball, but the enjoyment must be at least trebled when one realizes that Kimberley, with a population of less than 8000, can support Canadian championships in any field of athletic endeavor.

Congratulations are in order, of course, to all those people who through recent months have given of their time and energy on committees, to the local governing body and to the hundreds of volunteers.

MINOR HOCKEY ROUNDUP

Canadian bantams rode roughshod over Rangers to a 9-3 triumph Monday. It was the Habs' 17th win in League play as against six losses.

The winners were paced by Bill Burdenie and Gary Higgs with a hat trick each, while singletons went to Doug Seaby, Gordy Schmidt, and Randy Conne. In assists, Burdenie picked up three, Seaby two, Higgs, Schmidt, Spiers, Peterson and Wallach one each.

All three Rangers goals were scored by their goal getter Kenny Dewar and all were unassisted.

Black Hawk bantams nudged Rangers in a 7-6 match Wednesday. The win left Hawks two points behind the second-place Rangers.

Jimmy Turner picked up a hat trick for the Hawks while Mike Laughton picked up two goals and Glen Wilson and Paul Peters one each. Wilson picked up three assists, Laughton two, Turner and Sjoberg one each.

For Rangers Ken Dewar picked up his second consecutive hat trick. Chick Chapman scored twice and Shelly Atwell once. In assists Atwell earned two, Dewar, Bishop and McElroy one each.

Bruin Pee Wees and the Black Hawks battled to a 2-2 tie in their first of five semi-final playoff Saturday afternoon. Hawks tallied both their goals in the opening period with Bruins coming back in the second with a pair to tie it up.

Ray Leeming and Johnnny Cherenko scored the Hawk goals, both being unassisted.

Derek Bennett was the Bruin goal getter with a brace and on each occasion he was assisted by Larry Black.

Canadian Pee Wees had to come from behind to defeat Rangers 5-3 in the first game of their best-of-five semi-final Saturday afternoon. Stu Paterson was tops for the Habs with two goals. Timmy Alan, Donny Wah and Bobby Steed scored one apiece. Assists went to Preston, Wah, Steed and Joyce.

Chuck Owens was the big gun for the Rangers as he scored all three of their goals. Reggie Cherenko and Bobby Jeffs picked up an assist each.

PASTRANO RATED 5-to-1

LONDON (AP)—Willie Pastrano of the United States, given rave notices by British boxing writers for his last fight here in October, Monday was rated 5-to-1 favorite over Britain's Brian London for their 10-round heavyweight bout at Harringay Arena tonight.

A capacity crowd of 11,000 is expected.

Pastrano, 22, a fine boxer and a light hitter, made a big hit here —where they idolize clever boxers —when he outclassed Dick Richardson of Wales, Oct. 22.

Hockey's Big Seven

By The Canadian Press

Gordie Howe, starry right-winger of the Detroit Red Wings, put on the scoring pressure during the weekend, gathering seven points and climbing to fourth place in the list of top NHL poinit-getters.

His points inicluded two goals and five assists and boosted his total to 58, one more than Bronco Horvath of Boston Bruins, who picked up two goals and one assist in weekend games.

Also moving upwards at a rapid clip was New York Rangers' Andy Bathgate, who amassed two goals and three assists to bring his third place points-total to 62.

Oliver Wins Top Money

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Ed (Porky) Oliver, the 43-year-old jolly golfer from Canton, Mass., ignored the 54-hole leaders and slipped in with a final round five-under-par 67 Monday to win $4300 top money in the $30,000 Houston classic invitational.

Half an hour after Oliver posted his 72-hole 281—seven under par—he saw Jay Hebert, Sanford, Fla., miss an 18th green seven-foot putt that would have forced a playoff today.

Oliver began the final round five strokes behind Jimmy Demaret, the 54-hole leader and gallery favorite who ran into trouble on the back nine and took a two-over 74 that dropped him to a fourth place tie at 283.

In winning his first tournament since White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., in 1956, Oliver placed his final round 67 beside earlier rounds of 68, 73 and 73 for the 7200-yard, par-72 Memorial Park course.

Hebert shared the runner-up spot at 282 with Roberto de Vicenzo, Mexico City, and each won $2500.

Demaret's tie at 283 with Marty Furgol, Lemont, Ill., and Dave Ragan, Orlando, Fla., was good for $1533.33.

Stan Leonard of Vancouver picked up $756 for his 68-77-69-74—288 which left him tied with four others. Al Balding of Toronto scored 72-75-72-73—292 and won $66.66.

"All I can say is I played good," said the 224-pound Oliver. "I feel I was very lucky. This is the biggest cheque I've received in quite some while."

Defer Action on Trimming Team

MONTREAL (CP)—The British Empire and Commonwealth Games Association of Canada, hoping for more financial contributions, has decided to defer any action toward trimming the size of Canada's team for the 1958 games.

The association executive met Saturday, heard reports that about 36 per cent of the $100,000 objective has been received or pledged, and decided to wait a month to see how the campaign progresses.

The association has previously figured on about 100 athletes and 20 officials.

Bob Adams, a Saskatoon school teacher who has held several Canadian records in field events, was named coach of the track and field division and Neil Farrell of Hamilton was named team manager. James Parsons of Hamilton and Dennis White of Montreal were named coach and manager, respectively, of Canada's boxers.

The 1958 games will be held in July at Cardiff, Wales.

ROCK 'N ROLL SKATING STEALS BUDAPEST SHOW

BUDAPEST (Reuters) — A rock 'n' roll exhibition on ice by Canadian skating champions Robert Paul and Barbara Wagner stole the show before 8000 Hungarians here Monday night.

The Toronto couple was appearing at an exhibition given by Hungarian performers, seven American and six Canadian star skaters who competed at the recent world championships in Paris.

The crowd called the Canadian pair back and made them give one encore after another by chanting "rock, rock, rock."

Their perfect timing and style captivated the audience.

David Jenkins of Colorado Springs, United States world figure skating champion, also received a great welcome with his tremendous leaps and pirouettes.

Other skaters included the Toronto dance pair, Geraldine Fenton and William McLachlan.

Jockey's Guild Post for Johnson

TORONTO (CP) — Ted Johnson, one of Canada's leading jockeys until an accident ended his career in 1956, has been appointed business manager and secretary of the Canadian division of the Jockeys' Guild, it was announced Monday.

He succeeds Leonard Stroud who has become manager of the guild's central region.

Johnson, 32-year-old native of Whitewood, Sask., suffered a badly fractured leg in a spill during a race at Fort Erie, Ont., in 1956. He led all Canadian jockeys in 1952 when he rode 153 winners.

Fielder Increases WHL Scoring Lead

SEATTLE (CP) — Seattle centre Guyle Fielder increased his lead in the Western Hockey League scoring race by four points to 11 points last week.

Statistics released by league headquarters Monday showed Fielder picked up eight points — two goals and six assists — for a total of 84. He got one goal and five of the assists in Sunday's game against Victoria Cougars.

Captain Phil Maloney of the Vancouver Canucks, who got a goal and three assists during the week, retains second place but is being hard-pressed by Calgary's Sid Finney, who got two goals and four assists to bring him one point behind Maloney.

Finney, leading goal-getter with 37, has played only 44 games this season, 13 less than Maloney and five less than Fielder.

Victoria's Eddie Dorohoy, who led the field early in the season, got only two assists to make his total 70, 14 points behind Fielder and four ahead of fifth-placed Len Lunde of Edmonton.

Highest scorer last week was Colin Kilburn of Edmonton, former Cougar manager and coach, who scored four goals and six assists to jump from 16th to ninth place. Chuck Holmes, also of Edmonton, got four goals and four assists to move from 18th to 10th place.

Orland Kurtenbach of Vancouver, out with a shoulder injury, and Earl Ingarfield of Winnipeg, who got only one assist last week, dropped out of the top 10 scorers.

Jim Van Pelt Joins Bombers

WINNIPEG (CP) — Winnipeg Blue Bombers of the Canadian Football League's Western Division Monday announced the signing of Jim Van Pelt from the University of Michigan, ensuring the club at least two quarterbacks when training opens for the 1958 season.

Already signed is Eagle Day, who quarterbacked the club in 1956 after playing college ball at Mississippi. It still is not certain whether Kenny Ploen of Iowa, who directed the club last season while Day was sidelined with an injury, will return. He may be drafted into the United States forces.

Van Pelt is five feet, 11 inches tall and weighs 185 pounds. The 21-year-old resident of Evanston, Ill., last year completed 52.5 per cent of his passes and scored 26 points in nine games. He plays defensive halfback and handles all types of kicking chores.
