Rossland-Trail Byelection Dec. 15

Sommers' Resignation Turned In; No Decision Yet on Re-Trial

VICTORIA (CP)—A byelection will be held in the Rossland-Trail constituency Dec. 15 to fill a vacancy created by the resignation of Robert Sommers, former lands and forests minister.

The date was announced by Attorney-General Robert Bonner less than an hour after Speaker Hugh Shantz issued the warrant enabling the cabinet to set the byelection date.

The early election will give the Rossland-Trail riding representation in the next session of the legislature, due to open Jan. 22.

Mr. Sommers, convicted of conspiracy and five counts of bribery by an assize court jury, at Vancouver, resigned his seat five days after the first guilty verdict was brought down by the jury.

The resignation, dated in Vancouver Nov. 6, was officially received by the Speaker's office Friday afternoon.

BRIEF LETTER

The resignation read: "I, the undersigned, do hereby resign as the the elected member of the provincial constituency of Rossland-Trail as of this day."

It was signed by Mr. Sommers and witnessed by his counsel, Angelo Branca and Nick Mussallem.

Standing in the B. C. legislature now is: Social Credit 37, CCF 10, Liberals 2, Independent 2, vacant 1. Total 52.

The byelection will be the fourth since the general election Sept. 19, 1956. Two were caused by the deaths of members and the third by the resignation of former speaker Tom Irwin. Each time the seats were retained by the same party.

In the Sept. 19, 1956, provincial general election Sommers defeated his closest opponent by more than 2000 votes in a three-cornered fight.

Rossland-Trail, one of the most compact ridings in the interior of the province, is 30 miles long by 20 miles wide. It has 15,000 voters, most residing in the principal centres of Trail and Rossland.

Candidates representing all major political parties are expected to contest the byelection. No deadline for nominations has yet been announced.

VICTORIA (CP) — A decision won't be known for several days whether a re-trial will be held on charges against Robert Sommers and others which an assize court jury at Vancouver could not reach a decision.

Victor Dryer, crown counsel in the case, and Attorney-General Bonner, Friday met here for several hours discussing the non-decision charges but did not reach a final decision.

Mr. Bonner said it probably wouldn't be forthcoming for several days, "at least."

BONNER QUIET

He added his personal statement about the case and the allegations of charges of mishandling on his part probably won't be made until after sentencing.

Mr. Bonner had said Thursday he planned to break his long silence Friday, but apparently had held discussions with his counsel and decided against it.

Transferred To Oakalla

VANCOUVER (CP) — Robert Sommers and H. W. Gray, awaiting sentence in the Sommers bribery-conspiracy case, were transferred from city jail to Oakalla Friday. It is expected the two men will be sentenced Friday by Mr. Justice J. O. Wilson.

The only change in government ranks was during the last session when Mel Bryan, MLA, for North Vancouver, crossed the floor to sit as an independent after voicing disagreement with the government handling of the Sommers case.

A native of Leduc, Alta., Mr. Sommers was educated at normal school in Victoria and the University of B. C.

He was first elected to the B. C. Legislature for Rossland-Trail in the 1952 provincial general election and was reelected in 1953 and 1956. He was appointed to Premier Bennett's cabinet in 1952, as minister of lands and forests and minister of mines. He resigned his portfolio Feb. 27, 1956.

Winter Program For District Roads

Continuation of day labor highways work through the winter in Nelson-Creston riding, as a brightener in the employment picture, was announced Friday night by Hon. W. D. Black, MLA.

Mr. Black told The Daily News: "I have been able to raise a fairly substantial sum so that normal highways layoffs (for winter) will very likely not be taking place. We will be able to do a considerable amount of extra work."

Completion of the widening of the road from Queen's Bay north to Coffee Creek will be enabled. This will take place over the next 30 days. The widening will be completed to the Coffee Creek bridge, approximate location of the boundary of the Nelson-Creston and the Kaslo-Slocan ridings.

Other work will be done at O'Kel Creek in the Arrow Creek area, and at other places in the constituency.

"The work won't be of any great magnitude, but it will be work all the same," Mr. Black said.

"We are naturally concerned about unemployment as it affects this district. Our aim is to maintain crews through the winter."

FOR '59 ESTIMATES

The six-mile Riondel road will be in the estimates for 1959, he indicated.

"I will be asking for top priority for the Riondel road—that it have some degree of relocation, and that it be completed (paved) in two years."

Turning to the district requests for opening up Kokanee Glacier Park, Mr. Black said: "We are trying to get some sharing arrangements on costs with the federal government."

Today Mr. Black, who is on a regular tour of the riding, will meet representatives of City Council, the Chamber of Commerce executive, the junior college committee, and individuals. In the afternoon he will go to Salmo, and Sunday, to the North Shore.

Urge Probe Into Death

VANCOUVER (CP) — A coroner's jury Friday night suggested further investigation by police into the death by gunshot wounds Sunday of a man who was found to have Communist literature and pictures of Dew Line radar sites among his effects.

The jury said it could not determine whether Merrell James O'Donnell, 27, was a homicide victim or died accidentally. It found death was not a case of suicide.

Police said that in addition to the pictures and the Communist literature, they found among the dead man's effects a letter from his mother, now in Russia. The jury also was told that $250 the man was carrying shortly before his death was missing from the body.

SIX-HOUR HEARING

The court took evidence for six hours in the case and the jury deliberated for two hours before reporting it had insufficient evidence on which to make a definite ruling.

The letter from O'Donnell's mother was written on board ship bound for London. It said she was to fly from London to Prague and then to Moscow from where she would travel to the Black Sea for a month's rest before returning again to Moscow for a two-week stay.

"The return trip is paid for by the U.S.S.R.," the letter said.

Norm Cunningham, Vancouver port agent for the Seafarers International Union, said O'Donnell had worked for the union but was fired because he was a security risk.

A friend testified O'Donnell had been fired after working for six weeks on the Dew Line for a transportation company. He was organizing for the Seafarers' International, but was dropped by the union later and was suing the company over his dismissal, the witness said.

The court also was told O'Donnell was upset because his girl friend had broken off with him in Victoria. Befre he left Victoria last week he told a cousin: "I don't even expect to be alive in a few weeks."

Bargain Basement Tactics at Liquor Store Sale

VANCOUVER (CP) — A bargain sale on real firewater brought police out to control hundreds of people crowding around a liquor store here on Friday.

The provincial government, only liquor distributor in British Columbia, announced discreetly Thursday, that it would sell almost $250,000 worth of liquor at reduced prices. The booze had been in a store damaged by fire last July, but the worst that happened to it was a curled label or two.

With prices marked down as much as 25 per cent, there were an estimated 1000 people in line outside the store befor it opened.

From then on it was bargain basement tactics. Employees manning the store's four cash registers said, as they jingled up sales of as much as $200, that women customers were filling shopping bags and husband-and-wife teams were carrying out cases of the stuff.

The entire stock "will probably be cleaned out by Saturday night," said one employee.

It was the first such liquor sale ever held by the government. Prices ranged from $1.70 for a $2.35 bottle of sherry to $4.55 for a $6.10 bottle of scotch.

"Late" Applications Under Consideration

VICTORIA (CP) — Attorney-General Robert Bonner said 2200 Sons of Freedom Doukhobors filed applications Friday to make the sect's proposed move to Russia with assistance from the federal and British Columbia governments.

The applications were filed Friday afternoon at the Vancouver office of Dr. W. G. Black, regional officer of the federal department of citizenship and immigration, Mr. Bonner said.

The offer of assistance made by the two governments expired officially Oct. 21, by which time fewer than 50 forms had been filed.

Mr. Bonner said the department of citizenship had advised him of the filing of the late applications. No decision had yet been made on whether they would be accepted in view of the official expiry of the offer. The implications would be considered in the next few days.

NO SOVIET WORD

He said there has still been no confirmation from the Soviet Union that members of the sect would be acceptable to Russia as immigrants.

As the midnight deadline approached Oct. 21, Freedomite leaders announced they had more than 2,000 signed applications in their hands but would not file them until they received certain guarantees from the two governments.

They asked that the amount of money to be given by the governments to each emigrant be announced; that Freedomite children be released from provincial dormatory school and that the offer be extended to Nov. 15.

Mr. Bonner at that time said the new demands turned the proposed move into "a farce."

BONNER SILENT

The attorney - general refused Friday night to comment on the prospects for the move in the light of the new applications.

The two governments had indicated they were prepared to spend about $2,000,000 for transportation relocation and property settlement if the sect made its proposed move from the Kootenay area of southeastern B.C. back to its ancestral homeland.

The Sons of Freedom, a breakaway Doukhobor sect, have long been linked with dynamite and arson in the Kootenays. Railway tracks, power lines and homes have been destroyed in terrorist outbreaks.

Leaders of the sect complain the group has not been given the treatment it was promised when it moved to Canada early in the century. Nude marches have been a frequent expression of the Freedomite protest against authority.

The move back to Russia was announced a year ago in the midst of a new wave of Freedomite unrest over compulsory schooling of children.

Pilots Seek Limit on Flying Time

By GEORGE FRAJKOR
Canadian Press Staff Writer

MONTREAL (CP) — Canada's airline pilots intend to take the lead in drafting legislation restricting the number of hours a pilot can fly safely, the Canadian Air Line Pilots Association said Friday.

The association's 10th convention voted to set up two study groups of Montreal and Vancouver pilots—with long-haul domestic experience—to determine what would be reasonable restrictions on flying time to avoid fatigue.

The recommendations would be passed on to Canada's transport department and, through the International Federation of Air Line Pilot's Associations, to the International Civil Aviation Organization.

Uniform regulations on the subject do not exist. Canada's laws state only that airline operator's must set flight times, and the transport department must approve them. A maximum of 120 flying hours a month has been generally accepted by the department.

Diefenbaker, Adenauer Discuss NATO Future

By ALAN DONNELLY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

BONN, West Germany (CP)—The leaders of Canada and Germany agreed Friday that the role of smaller nations in NATO should not be overshadowed by NATO's "Big Three."

Prime Minister Diefenbaker and Chancellor Adenauer, getting together at the outset of the prime minister's four-day visit in West Germany, discussed the controversial proposals by French Premier de Gaulle for stronger political consultations among France, Britain and the United States.

Following the meeting in Adenauer's office it was reported they found themselves in agreement in opposing any plan that would allow a few major countries to dominate NATO decisions.

That was the key point as the two men met in a notably cordial atmosphere in this old university city.

But trade issues, chiefly the growing European movement to trade and tariff unity, bulked largest in their talks, extending the meeting 40 minutes beyond the scheduled 90 minutes.

Diefenbaker, speaking briefly to reporters afterwards, said he expressed Canada's "expectations" that new trade groupings in Europe "would not in any way be detrimental to exports into these existing markets, or agricultural products particularly."

The prime minister and Mrs. Diefenbaker then went to a formal dinner given by the chancellor, ending a day in which friendship and formality mingled.

The emphasis on trade during the discussions has resulted in plans for a special meeting today between the prime minister and Agriculture Minister Heinrich Luebke. The meeting was arranged at the request of the Germans, and arises from the problem of German import restrictions through use of "escape clauses" under the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade.

The talks also touched on immigration — almost 140,000 Germans have moved to Canada since the war. The Canadian leader was reported to be interested in any German comments on immigration procedure, and anxious to explain Canada's difficulties in arranging the flow of immigration so as not to increase seasonal winter unemployment.

Adenauer, in a speech of welcome as the Canadian leader arrived by plane, said the visit confirmed "the relations of mutual trust and confidence" between Canada and Germany.

The prime minister replied: "There are no serious differences existing between our countries."

He mentioned the "tragic division" of Germany with 17,000,000 Germans living in Communist-controlled East Germany.

Peace Theme at Soviet Celebrations

By VINCENT BUIST

MOSCOW (Reuters) — Premier Khrushchev Friday night predicted the time is not distant when Russians will enjoy the highest standard of living in the world.

His address at a reception keynoted the peace theme accented throughout celebrations of the 1917 Bolshevik revolution.

Earlier, more than 1,000,000 Russians witnessed a military parade through Red Square. It was significantly smaller and less impressive than in the past.

There were no atomic missiles or heavy tanks on show. Science and industry were stressed in the long civilian parade that followed.

"PEACE IN THE WORLD"

At the climax of the parade, two balloon "rockets" rose over the Lenin-Stalin mausoleum. They bore the slogans "glory to Soviet scientists" and "peace in the world."

Khrushchev told the reception for foreign diplomats that "we do not need war to build a Communist society—we need peace."

He called for peaceful co-existence between east and west and added:

"It is high time for all to recognize that the Soviet Union, the People's Republic of China and all countries of socialism are a reality. This reality must be recognized . . ."

QUIET IN OTTAWA

OTTAWA (CP)—The Soviet Embassy held its annual black tie celebration of the 1917 Russian revolution Friday night but the event lacked some of the glitter of previous years.

Several hundred diplomats and local dignitaries, in formal attire, turned out, but there was only a scattering of federal government representatives—and only one cabinet minister, Fisheries Minister MacLean.

"You're all alone?" a reporter asked Mr. MacLean.

"Looks like it," he replied.

With the Soviet ambassadorship currently in a process of change, charge d'affaires Peotr R. Strounnikov was host in the big limestone embassy.

Several tables were laid out with the usual assortment of Canadian and Russian foods and refreshments — but there was no champagne as in previous years.

No Pikers, These Robbers

SOUTHOLD, N. Y. (AP) — Two New England men were held Friday on charges of highjacking 14 tons of metal cable from the ocean floor beneath the eyes of the U. S. Coast Guard.

Henry Panossin, 35, of Providence, R. I., and Donald McKeon, 25, of New London, Conn., were arrested Thursday on grand larceny warrants.

The 6000 feet of cable the men are accused of stealing is valued at about $1120.

The cable is part of a 500-mile communications connection established during the war by the U. S. Army to link Fort Wright on Fishers Island to other bases.

James A. Warren, an Albany, N. Y., contractor, recently made a successful bid to salvage the cable, after the army had abandoned it.

Last Monday a diver located the cable on the ocean floor and salvage operations began aboard a vessel.

The coast guard looked on without interfering, thinking Warren had begun his salvage operations. But after the vessel put down some buoys that proved a hazard to navigation, the coast guard called Warren to explain. It was then they learned he hadn't begun his salvage operation.

150 Men Lose Jobs in Kitimat

VANCOUVER (CP) — The Aluminum Company of Canada has announced that about 150 employees will be laid off at its smelter at Kitimat between now and the end of the year.

The company said it would pay supplementary benefits, provided for under its union contract, to those who have worked 365 consecutive days prior to being laid off. These benefits, $13 a week for 26 weeks, will be in addition to government unemployment insurance benefits.

DOLLAR HIGHER

NEW YORK (CP) — The Canadian dollar was up 1-32 at $1.03 5-32 in terms of U. S. funds at closure. A week ago it was $1.03 7-32. Pound sterling was unchanged at $2.80 11-16.

Dulles on New Nuclear Tests . . .

"World Will Condemn Russia"

WASHINGTON (AP) — State Secretary Dulles said Friday the world will condemn Russia for continuing nuclear tests in the face of a United Nations resolution urging a halt.

Dulles made his comment at a press conference a few hours after the United States and Britain disclosed that Russia had detonated two tests shots since Oct. 31.

The White House said, and London quickly concurred, that the Soviet blasts free them to follow suit—although they won't for the time being at least.

President Eisenhower first announced the two latest Russian tests. He said they were fired at a site other than Russia's regular proving grounds north of the Arctic Circle. Britain reported their detection of the tests shortly after.

Britain and the U.S. said they would halt their tests after Oct. 31 provided Russia did the same.

WESTERN RENEWAL

Dulles said he did not know how long the U.S. and Britain would wait before reconsidering their ban. He said a lot of factors must be considered, including progress at the Geneva nuclear talks.

The Atomic Energy Commission described the latest Russian shot, fired Nov. 1 and 3, as small.

Dulles said the Russians might have wanted to try to keep the tests undetected or perhaps needed a new site for a different type of blast.

He said there was no legal responsibility on the part of Russia to refrain from testing. But if Russia continued testing it would be held responsible for any consequences, including any U.S. - British decision to follow suit.

£

The British government announced that it also picked up evidence of the two Soviet tests. Likewise, London said it was relieved of its pledge to forgo testing voluntarily although it would continue its suspension.

Ground Party Hunts Plane

VANCOUVER (CP) — A ground party moved into the Salmon Arm area of B. C. Friday in search of a light plane which disappeared Thursday with two aboard while on a three-hour flight from Calgary to Kamloops.

Aboard the aircraft were Clarence T. Janik, 42, of Cadillac, Mich., vice-president in charge of sales for the Kysor Heating Company of Cadillac, and Fred E. Royce, 36, company pilot.

The Piper Apache, a twin-engined aircraft had five hours of fuel when it left Calgary, but it failed to land at Kamloops for refuelling before proceeding to Vancouver.

Residents of the Salmon Arm district reported they had seen flares and later a fire from the Fly Hill district, 11 miles west of Salmon Arm.

A Dakota aircraft from RCAF Sea Island base here later reported smoke could be seen on Fly Hill, but nothing else.

J. A. Belaire of San Mateo, said Mr. Janik, married and the father of four young children, had been with the company for 14 years.

Mr. Royce holds the rank of commander in the U. S. Naval Reserve. He has logged 5,000 hours in the air and is an instructor in ejt aircraft, said Mr. Belaire.

Another RCAF aircraft from Edmonton has joined the Dakota from Vancouver and a third aircraft from Calgary in the search for the missing plane.

Deny Motion Of Mistrial

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP) — Lawyers for 15-year-old murder defendant Caril Ann Fugate asked the court Friday to declare a mistrial. The motion was denied.

Defence lawyer John McArthur asked the mistrial on grounds 19-year-old Charles Starkweather, the state's principal witness, co-operated fully with prosecutors but refused to answer certain questions under cross-examination. This constituted prejudicial error, he maintained.

Judge Harry Spencer denied the motion on grounds McArthur had not asked the judge to force Starkweather to answer the questions.

McArthur said a witness already condemned to death obviously could not be forced to do anything and it would have been futile to make the request. Judge Spencer said Starkweather refused to answer questions related to the slaying of Merle Collison and Robert Colvert, two of Starkweather's 11 admitted victims.

U. S. Moon Rocket Fails

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) The U.S. Air Force said today (Saturday) the third stage of its moon rocket apparently failed to ignite.

The announcement 20 minutes after the launching came as a surprise because the air force said earlier that all three stages had fired.

A recheck of radio telemetry showed there was a separation of the third stage and the payload.

"However, Doppler velocity indications are that the third stage did not ignite," the air force said.

The Doppler radio device aboard the rocket is a system by which signals from the ground to the rocket, and the return signal from the rocket, indicate speeds at any given moment.

This was the third of the air force lunar probe attempts to fail its goal.

The first rocket last August broke apart a few seconds after launching.

The second, launched Oct. 11, attained an altitude of more than 90,000 miles—but still did not come within the hoped-for 50,000-mile range of the moon.

Today's announcement of failure came after the air force announced the third stage had been fired and that the launching "now has been accomplished."

Assault Victim Dies

VANCOUVER (CP) — Assault and robbery became murder Friday when a Vancouver businessman, beaten savagely in his home Oct. 27, died in hospital.

Harold G. Randall, 47, owner of Western Hydraulic Services Limited, was slugged over the head with an iron bar and left bound and gagged in the basement of his home.

A neighbor told police he had seen a youth run from the house, take Mr. Randall's late model car from the tumble-down garage and drive off. Later, other neighbors said they had seen three youths in the car. The auto was found abandoned some distance from the house.

Police found some coins, bills and cheques scattered near the door of the house. Mr. Randall's wallet was found empty near the car.

Rockfall Kills Uranium Miners

ELLIOT LAKE, Ont. (CP)—Two uranium miners were killed Friday in a rockfall at the 1600-foot level at Consolidated Dennison, world's biggest single uranium mine. They were the second and third fatalities in the Blind River uranium field in two days.

The dead: Laurent Gagnon, 36, formerly of Bourlamaque, Que., whose wife lives at Elliot Lake; and Claude B. Bourdages, 26, whose wife and two children live in Montreal.

A third man, geologist Grant Milton Banbridge, was nearby but escaped injury.

James V. Sloan, 47, of Maniwaki, Que., was crushed to death Thursday under a piece of heavy equipment at Buckles Mine.

The deaths brought to 25 the 1958 fatality total this year in mines in the Blind River field, midway between Sudbury and Sault Ste. Marie. Six have been killed since Ontario Mines Minister Spooner appointed a committee last May to study mining safety in the area.

Find Two Bodies On Lake Erie

PORT BURWELL, Ont. (CP) — Two bodies, one lashed to a rubber life raft, were found in Lake Erie Friday by the U. S. coast guard.

The search continued for three other men missing since an offshore gas-drilling rig was destroyed by gales.

The three still missing are presumed to have drowned as well when 50-mile an hour gales before dawn Thursday demolished the platform and tower anchored 14 miles off the southern Ontario shore.

And in This Corner . . .

NEW BRUNSWICK, N.J. (AP)—A would-be bandit learned how it feels to be a hood ornament for a panel truck.

Police said Charles Brew, 31, walked into George Lichtman's liquor store, flashed a 12-inch butcher knife and forced Lichtman to give him $435.

Brew hopped into a waiting car and sped off.

Enraged, Lichtman followed the getaway car in his panel truck.

Several blocks later, Brew's car stopped and he got out. His companion drove away.

Lichtman then barrelled his truck onto the sidewalk and pinned Brew against a garage.

Police arrived to find Brew squirming between the bumper and the garage door, carrying $435 and the knife.

He was charged with armed robbery.

SEATTLE (AP)—Darwin Barker was awakened by a man at the foot of his bed who told him to "Go answer the phone."

Groggy with sleep, Barker staggered into another room to the telephone. The ringing awoke Barker completely.

He rushed back into his bedroom but by that time the man was gone. So were Barker's trousers, wallet and $1.25.

MALTON, Ont. (CP)—A motorist who reported his car stolen this week got it back the next day—and ended up entirely happy about the incident.

Police who found the car explained it this way:

The man had left his car at Malton airport. A Toronto man who owned a car of the same model called a garage to ask that his car be completely overhauled while he was away.

He told the mechanic to pick up the car at the airport parking lot.

The mechanic arrived, towed the wrong car away and the victim of the apparent theft got a free engine overhaul.

ST. CHARLES, Mo. (AP)—The Koelsch twins will have different birthdays.

John Wesley Koelsch was born at St. Joseph's Hospital in St. Charles at 4:30 p.m. Thursday. His sister, Lelia Mae, was born at 1:30 a.m. Wednesday. Another nine hours and they would have been two days apart.

INVESTIGATE SUB REPORT

VICTORIA (CP) — The frigate HMCS New Waterford put to sea Friday night after a report had been received of an unidentified submarine off the British Columbia coast.

Victoria radio stations broadcast an appeal for members of the crew of the New Waterford to return to their vessel and the warship cast off from Esquimalt harbor at 7:20 p.m. PST. It headed for the mouth of the Strait of Juan de Fuca.

A navy spokesman said that a report of "the possible presence of a submarine" had been received and described the operation as "a routine investigation."

He declined to reveal the source of the report or the area in which the search was to be conducted.

RESULTS OF VOTE STILL INCOMPLETE

In Friday's strike vote of more than 4000 southern interior lumber workers, results were still incomplete at the end of the day.

A. D. Macdonald of Penticton, secretary manager of the Interior Lumber Manufacturers' Association, told The Daily News early this morning that 15 operations had voted for strike action, and 15 against. In one operation ballots will not be counted until today. The decisions are on an individual mill basis. On percentages, however, it was estimated that 64 per cent voted for strike action.

Mr. Macdonald could not predict the outcome. "I've got no crystal ball," he said.

Plans Made for City To Remember Fallen

Citizens will pause Tuesday to honor the dead of two world wars.

Today is Poppy Day, and members of the Canadian Legion will be on the streets with poppies, symbols of Flanders Fields in France where many men of the armed forces gave their lives in the First World War. Donations go to Legion charities.

On Sunday, members of the Legion will parade to the Bethal Tabernacle for a memorial service. They will be led by the Kootenay Kiltie Pipe Band.

On Monday, speakers from the Toastmasters' Club will be at all of the schools to speak on the meaning of Remembrance Day. Peter Melwood will speak at L. V. Rogers high school, Laurie Lefeaux at the Junior High, Frank Varseveld at Hume and South Nelson, F. N. S. Thompson at Central, and D. V. Askew at St. Joseph's Adcaemy.

CENOTAPH PARADE

Scholarships Of Great Value Principal Says

There is too much emphasis on physical accomplishments in youth and too little on intellectual achievements, G. H. Lee, principal of L. V. Rogers high school said at the Canadian Legion dinner meeting Thursday night. Our greatest asset is the brains of young people," Mr. Lee contended, adding that scholarships were of great value in enlarging this capacity. He mentioned that many of the foreign countries have a high opinion of intellectual achievements.

A. A. (Bert) Lamb, commander of West Kootenay zone, presented a Canadian Legion scholarship to Miss Susan Bunt of Nelson. He remarked that of the 16 scholarships assigned to zones in B. C., three came to the West Kootenay zone, though there are about 20 zones in B. C. This, he said, indicated the high standards that this zone had achieved, as the scholarships are awarded strictly on merit. The Legion's reward, said Mr. Lamb, was the knowledge of helping young people of Canada.

M. R. Bunt, father of Susan Bunt, read a humorous letter of recommendation from one of his daughter's teachers, but added that a more eserious letter had that a more serious letter had "NIGGARDLY"

Lack of properly qualified probation officers was discussed by the members and the provincial government was criticized for its "niggardly salaries" in connection with these offices.

It was announced that an addressograph machine would be purchased shortly at a cost of $200.

It was also announced that officers for the next term will be nominated at the next meeting.

A. S. Horswill, a long-term member of the Legion, expressed the need for a trades school in the interior of B. C., and called upon the Legion to start th edrive towards this type of institution.

S. J. Newell, president of the Nelson branch, told the members that the radio play, "The Dead Talk in Silence", from CBC Vancouver, would be broadcast over radio station CKLN Monday night.

Accepted as new members were A. Cameron, A. C. Emory, G. P. Frocklage, W. O. Muirhead, S. StThomas and W. M. Sanderman. Transferred in was W. F. Dalling.

Procter Church Marks Founding 45 Years Ago

PROCTER — The 45th anniversary of All Souls' Church in Procter was celebrated Wednesday night when parishioners of Parish of Kokanee gathered "to remember before God those who worked so hard to keep the church alive in the district."

These were the words of the vicar, Rev. William Edington who conducted the service, when the preacher was Rev. Canon W. J. Silverwood, rural dean of West Kootenay, and rector of the Church of the Redeemer in Nelson.

Canon Silverwood paid tribute to vicars of past years with special mention of Rev. Clyde Harvey.

He threw out a challenge to progress to bigger things, asking "Is the Church big enough to do it?"

When All Souls' Church was built in 1913 by voluntary labor, incumbent was Rev. C. Reed. He was followed by Rev. Francis P. Hughes, Rev. Gerald McComas, and Rev. J. S. Mahood.

On June 29, 1920, the monument in memory of the men of the parish was dedicated, the money having been collected by a committee led by the late R. S. Francis. The same year a beautiful oak reredos subscribed for by the Altar Guild was dedicated. In 1925 a triangular stained glass window installed in the east end was dedicated as a memorial to G. A. S. Daniell and his sister.

On Nov. 11, 1926, Mr. Harvey arrived from England, and served the Kokanee for 12 years. In 1939 Rev. M. C. T. Percivall came, serving the parish for 10½ years. Rev. J. P. Snowden was vicar in 1951-52, and Rev. W. S. Beames until 1956 when the present vicar was appointed.

Trail Seeks Airport Study

TRAIL — A lot of interest in the Trail airport hinges in north and south as well as east and west. Alderman A. Brokenshire pointed out at a public meeting Thursday night that much interest was shown by American firms.

The meeting was held in City Council chambers to discuss the various aspects of making full use of the airport adjacent to Trail. Enthusiasm was expressed by the many attending and a show of hands after the discussion revealed unanimous agreement that Canadian Pacific Airline officials should be approached with the purpose of sending a party to Trail to investigate and answer questions. Letters are to be sent from the City of Trail and from the Chamber of Commerce.

It was understood that grants from the federal government up to $25,000 are available for development of the airport providing a long term lease has been entered into on the land concerned. A 99-year lease is in preparation for the Trail airport.

An alternate suggestion to having CPA utilize the Trail airport for afternoon flights was that consideration be given to using it as a second field in the event that Castlegar became fogged in.

Asked about the difference in traffic from Trail and Nelson, Joe Melantini of Airline Bus Service said that it was about 50-50.

The meeting was sponsored by the Trail Flying Club. Bill Symes, president, said that a city the size of Trail was not up to date if it did not keep up its airport facilities.

Cheques To Be Paid Sooner

Earlier payment of social welfare cheques at New Denver has been promised.

R. M. Strachan, CCF, leader of the Opposition in the B.C. Legislature, has written to The Nelson Daily News:

"Recently my attention was drawn to a complaint in the press from E. C. Manson of Nakusp, to the effect that social welfare recipients receiving their cheques from the New Denver office were not receiving them until the latter part of each month.

"Because of the obvious hardship involved, I took the matter up with the Department of Health and Welfare and have been assured by the deputy minister that the delay was not the fault of the New Denver office, but was due to a misunderstanding in the government agent's office in Kaslo.

"I think the recipients in that area would also like to know that I have been assured that in future cheques will be issued as heretofore, during the first week in each month."

B.C. Herring Harvest Good

NANAIMO (CP)—One of British Columbia's richest harvests has been taken from the Gulf of Georgia during the last few weeks in the 1,600-foot nets of a record herring fleet.

An estimated 700,000,000 oil-rich silver fish were hauled into bulging holds; packed off to reduction plants and canneries at Shingle Bay and Steveston, and added to the province's maritime revenue.

The herring business is valued at more than $10,000,000 yearly, second only to salmon in its importance to the marine economy.

Most fish will be turned into meal and oil with a small percentage frozen, smoked or sold on the fresh market.

HGH RETURNS

A lot of the fishing was done in the herring-prolific waters of Nanoose Bay and near Dodd's Narrows, with 500-700-ton sets reported last week. The record is 1,200 tons.

As the 40,000-ton quota set by the International Pacific Fisheries Commission neared, so catches improved with 11,612 tons being caught in the period Oct. 26-28.

This quota, for the lower east coast region, was extended by 10,000 tons—the full 50,000-ton mark being reached early Tuesday.

The middle east coast region, with a northerly boundary at Lasqueti Island, had its 10,000-ton quota filled Wednesday morning.

The east coast haul netted fishermen, at $13 per ton, about $1,000,000 with $4,000 crew shares not uncommon.

Cranbrook Teachers Stay Because of Merit System

EDMONTON (CP)—E. C. MacKinnon of Cranbrook, representing the British Columbia Teachers' Association, Thursday discussed merit rating of teachers in an address to 250 members of the Alberta School Trustees' Association.

He told the organization's 52nd annual convention the merit rating plan introduced by the Cranbrook high school last year has "proved very successful."

The system is based on a points system, with a possible 200 points attainable. The highest possible number of points, 120, are given the teacher for ability to teach the subject matter to the pupil.

Twenty points are given for school activities such as supervision of student council, clubs and dances. Thirty points are given for keeping classrooms in order, punctuality and consideration for students and principals, and another 30 points for good teacher-student relations, use of proper English, and for avoiding sarcasm in the classroom.

The teacher is evaluated by the district superintendent, principal and the school board. A liaison committee, composed of 10-per-cent of the teaching staff, has been set up to advise the merit committee and to hear appeals by teachers who think they have received an unfair rating.

Those obtaining 80-per-cent or more of the possible 200 points are eligible for a bonus paid by the school board above the basic teacher salary scales.

Mr. MacKinnon noted that one teacher of 10 years experience, who obtained a 94-per-cent rating, received a bonus of $200.

BOOSTS INITIATIVE

He said the plan was inaugurated to improve teacher service to the student, and to create a greater initiative in the teacher for teaching.

"Not one teacher has left the Cranbrook school because of the merit system," Mr. MacKinnon said, "but in fact three remained these because of the plan.

"We have succeeded with the plan where others told us we would fail miserably," he said.

Terrorists Shoot 10th Civilian

NICOSIA, Cyprus (Reuters)—An English civilian was shot dead in Nicosia Friday, the fourth British civilian victim of the Greek Cypriot terrorist campaign in the last week.

The shooting occurred despite following the killing of British bank manager Joseph Brander in Limassol Thursday.

The victim was identified as Wilfred Benson, a member of the Ottoman Bank in Nicosia. He was shot as he left the bank to go home for lunch.

Benson was the 10th British civilian killed since Britain introduced her partnership plan for the administration of Cyprus Oct. 1. The plan calls for Britain to share the administration of the island with Greece and Turkey but the Greek government has rejected it and refused to name a representative to the administrative body.

Arrest TV Quiz Show Director

NEW YORK (AP) — Albert Freedman, 36, producer of the defunct television show Twenty One, was arrested Friday on a two - count indictment charging that he lied in denying that he supplied questions and answers to contestants on the show.

Freedman thus became the first to be indicted in the probe of television shows after rigging charges were brought against them.

He is employed by Production Services, Inc., the corporate name of the firm owned by Jack Barry, a master of ceremonies and producer Dan Enright, owner of Twenty One.

USED TWO YEARS

Freedman had been employed as producer of the show from November 1956 until it closed last month.

Hogan said Freedman's job was to interview prospective contestants and to assist in the selection of program questions.

The indictment charges that Freedman "knowingly lied" when he denied having revealed questions or answers to contestants on the show. The indictment further said "he had, in fact, revealed questions and answers" to contestants "prior to their appearance on Twenty One."

Each count in the indictment is punishable by a maximum five-year prison term or a $5,000 fine, or both.

The voting members were asked: "Are you in favor of the proposed $5 per month assessment in support of the Inco strikers and their families?"

The support will continue as long as the strike.

Employment Less During September

OTTAWA (CP)—For the first time since the Second World War, industrial employment, pay rolls and average weekly wages were down slightly at Sept. 1 from the previous month.

Seasonal auto industry declines and strikes and layoffs helped the reductions, the bureau of statistics said Friday.

The industrial employment index, based on 1949 equalling 100, stood at 121.5 at Sept. 1 in comparison with 122 at Aug. 1.

Average weekly wages and salaries eased to $70.72 from $70.76 and the payroll index to 200.8 from 201.6. Industrial employment was 4.8 per cent lower than at Sept. 1, 1957.

Strikes in iron and steel, strikes and layoffs in shipbuilding and layoffs in railways and rolling - stock equipment were factors.

. . . They Have Grown Old

Time passes, the years roll on and memory grows dim, but still among us are those who say the poppies bloom among the graves of Flanders. They have grown old, the years and their war experiences have taken their toll, but still the ancient fire of youth is re-kindled at the sight of the poppies, for this is Poppy Day.

Many were maimed in that first great war and were unable to live a normal life; many too were injured in the last war and have never fully recovered. Many are still unable to help themselves, others can do no useful work, but all need our sympathy.

It is for the sake of these that the poppies are on the street today. They are not for sale, but they are given to those who donate to the Poppy Fund. The money thus raised is used to provide these of our heroes with comforts beyond their ordinary subsistence, to bring them something of the luxury of normal life and the feeling that we still remember them.

While perhaps it is well to forget old wars and ancient enmities, the sacrifices made should never be forgotten. Kindness and gratitude should go hand in hand and liberality should be shown by everyone. Subscribe to the Poppy Fund.

The Story of the Poppy

Today you will once again be asked to remember the dead of two world wars by wearing a poppy, and where possible, by displaying a poppy wreath.

In the mind of some people the annual poppy campaign is placed in the same category as other charitable appeals, and the question is often asked, "Why should not the Poppy Campaign Fund be a part of the Community Chest?"

Let us go back first of all to the years between 1914-1918 when Canada was engaged in its First World War. There are names that I would like to bring to your memory out of that conflict. Do you remember Ypres, Passchendale, Vimy Ridge, Saint Julien and the Somme? In World War Two, Sicily, Ortona, Cassino, Falaise, Dieppe, or have those names already faded from the conscience of all but a few to whom they have a very personal ring? If these names mean anything to you, the Poppy Fund will be for you, much more than just another charity drive.

The poppy campaign is two-fold in its purpose, and the most important of these is the Legion's self-imposed duty of ensuring that every Canadian wears a poppy on Remembrance Day, thereby participating in the act of Remembrance, and helping to call to the mind of every citizen the thought that the price of our freedom is sacrifice.

You are possibly not familiar with how the poppy originated. The poppy has a history dating back to antiquity. In the mythology of ancient China it was well known by the potency of the drug distilled from it as the flower of forgetfulness. Through the ages it kept this meaning until the time of the Napoleonic Wars when a thoughtful and observant writer of the period first remarked the intimate association the scarlet poppy had with the graves of those who had fallen in battle.

In the First World War millions had the opportunity of observing this phenomena in France and Flanders. They saw spring from the earth where their fallen comrades lay a vast profusion of poppies waving defiantly amid the terror of warfare and hiding from view the starkness and grimness of the beaten earth. Newcomers to the field of battle remarked on this to their comrades and seasoned veterans replied, "Yes, it's like this every year but they seem to increase in number each time they blossom."

Perhaps it was from these words that the association between the bloodshed on the field of battle and the blood red poppy first grew up in men's minds.

The idea for poppy day originally started in the United States and is attributed to a lady who died a short time ago at the age of 86. She got her inspiration from John McCrae's immortal poem, "In Flanders Fields." In Britain the first poppies sold were made by women and children from devastated areas of France.

In 1921 at a meeting of the Great War Veterans Association, a forerunner of our present Legion, Madame E. Gueren, "The Poppy Lady of France," was invited to outline her suggestions for the adoption of the poppy as a national emblem to be worn on Armistice Day in memory of fallen comrades. That year the poppies sold in Canada were made by the women of France, but the next year the poppies that were sold on the streets were made by disabled veterans who understood only too well their significance.

The emblem of the poppies has come to stand for more than mere remembrance of the dead. In the hands of our organization it has come to mean a source of solace in time of trouble and hope for the future. It has become a source of useful employment for disabled veterans, unable to stand the strain of regular employment.

The Canadian Legion poppy campaign is conducted across Canada by 2000 Legion branches who each conduct an individual campaign. The organization of the campaign is such that well over half of the total funds raised remains in the local veterans welfare work and since all the work is done voluntarily all the profits are reserved for this work.

Your donation is used by your Canadian Legion branch in Nelson for local assistance which takes many forms. It may aid a disabled veteran to provide his family with the necessities of life, or payment of medical bills for a veteran in financial straits, and so on. Any veteran in need whether or not he is a member of the Legion is equally eligible to benefit. The proceeds enable your local branch to bring urgently needed relief to many veterans and their dependents and to the orphans and widows of those who died in the service of their couuntry.

Emergency assistance to veterans and their dependents is provided through the poppy fund in our city. Wear your poppy and be with us at the Cenotaph November 11 to pause with us for a moment and think of one person you knew who left his home and loved ones to take part in either of two world wars and who did not return. Remember him and pray that man may yet learn to live in peace.

Interpreting the News

By DAVID ROWNTREE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

The ability of the Arab countries to preserve peace in the Middle East by their own efforts—as they promised the United Nations in August—is being put to the test.

British and American troops have gone from Jordan and Lebanon. They were sent in after the May 14 revolt in Iraq when the West feared the uprising there might be the start of a new try by President Nasser to pull more countries into his United Arab Republic.

The British and American intervention was debated in the UN at a special General Assembly session. The upshot was an agreement by the two countries to remove their troops when the danger of further strife ended and a pledge by the Arabs not to threaten peace.

Already there are signs that may point to new trouble.

King Hussein considers the situation safe enough for him to leave Jordan for a holiday in Europe. He is said to be in need of treatment for stomach ulcers. His government is confident it can maintain stability while he is away but some Western observers are not satisfied that Hussein commands sufficient popularity to deal successfully with intrigues by Nasser's supporters.

In Iraq, one of the leaders of the May revolt has been arrested. Col. Abdul Salam Aref was the chief advocate of linking the new republic with the U.A.R. But Premier Karim Kassem showed he preferred to follow an independent policy and shipped Aref off to West Germany as ambassador. Aref returned "without permission" and was arrested.

There is speculation in Washington—as an outside possibility—that Hussein may be leaving Jordan so that his government can come to a closer understanding with Kassem to present a solid front to Nasser.

The young king's cousin, Faisal, was killed in the Iraq revolt but the feeling is that Hussein prefers to deal with Iraq rather than Egypt. Jordan and Iraq were joined in federation until the revolution.

The most dangerous sign that Middle East trouble may break out again is Nasser's renewed propaganda attacks on Israel.

Israel, the U.A.R. warned, would attack Jordan as soon as the British left last Sunday. When that didn't eventuate, the timing was altered to Hussein's leaving on his vacation.

Thursday there was a clash between Israeli troops and U.A.R. forces at the Syrian border. Nasser's press and radio had said his army was ready to go to Jordan's aid at a moment's notice if Israel moved. As usual in these affrays, it was hard to say immediately who shot first.

But it does seem likely that President Nasser is badly in need of some new success to point to. What better target is there than Israel, to Arab minds the core of the Middle East problem?

Dominion Wide Ceremonies Will Honor Canada's Dead

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Canada will remember her dead of two world wars Tuesday with ceremonies across the nation.

Almost every community—city, town or village—will hold wreath-placing ceremonies, religious services or memorial parades. In many places Remembrance Day will be observed as a holiday.

In Newfoundland, Nova Scotia and Prince Edward Island stores and offices will be closed and services held in many communities.

VETERANS TO PARADE

Lieutenant - Governor E. C. Plow will review a parade of 500 veterans at Halifax. It will be attended by Premier Stanfield and the mayor of the city, Charles Vaughan.

The city's Festival of Remembrance, conducted the last two years alternately by Protestant and Roman Catholic clergy at the Halifax Forum, will be dropped in favor of a drumhead service on North Common, attended by an estimated 2,500 servicemen. Army, Navy and Air Force Veterans' Association members will attend.

Most workers in New Brunswick will have the day off. After traditional observances at Fredericton, a copy of Canada's Book of Remembrance, given by the federal government, will be formally presented to the province at a ceremony in the legislative assembly chamber.

In Montreal, Mrs. Mary Walker, whose husband died of wounds after the First World War and whose son, an RCAF pilot officer, was killed in the Second, will represent bereaved wives and mothers at the traditional Dominion Square cenotaph ceremony.

Other wreaths will be placed by Lt.-Col. Sarto Marchand representing the lieutenant-governor, Mayor Sarto Fournier, and Defence Minister Pearkes, who will take the salute at an hour-long parade of Canadian Legion members and servicemen.

NAVAL BAND TO PLAY

A naval band from HMCS Shearwater, near Halifax, will take part. A cannon fired from Mount Royal will mark the two minutes' silence.

Montreal stores and offices remain open.

In Ottawa Governor - General Massey will place a wreath at the National War Memorial and take the salute at a march past of veterans, servicemen, cadets and auxiliary services on Parliament Hill.

Mrs. Helen Forrestall of Coniston, Ont., who lost three sons with the RCAF in the Second World War, will place a wreath for Canadian motherhood. Others will be placed by acting prime minister Green and Canadian Legion third vice - president Fred O'Brecht.

Massed bands of the Canadian Guards, the RCAF Central Band and the RCMP will play for the ceremony. City stores and government offices will stay open, but employees will be allowed time off to attend.

SUNRIS SERVICE

In Toronto Mayor Nathan Phillips and other civic leaders will attend 7:45 a.m. sunrise service planned by No. 65 Earlscourt Canadian Legion branch at the Cross of Sacrifice in Prospect cemetery.

At 11 a.m. the civic leaders will attend an interdenominational service in front of city hall. The Salvation Army choir and band of No. 411 fighter squadron, RCAF, will take part.

City hall will be closed, but most shops will remain open.

Throughout Ontario Canadian Legion branches are holding ceremonies. In Owen Sound all shops will close from 10:30 a.m. to 1 p.m.

Manitoba's biggest ceremonies will be at Winnipeg, where bands of RCAF station Winnipeg and the Royal Canadian Horse Artillery will lead veterans' groups, regulars, militia units and cadets of three services in a marchpast.

TO TAKE SALUTE

Air Vice-Marshal R. R. Collard will take the salute on Memorial Boulevard. Earlier, wreaths will be placed at the city cenotaph and services held in the auditorium for Protestant servicemen and in St. Mary's Cathedral for Roman Catholics.

Saskatchewan's Lieutenant-Governor W. J. Patterson will place a wreath at the Armories service in Regina, which will precede a marchpast of armed forces and RCMP. A similar ceremony will also be held at the city cenotaph.

Stores and city offices will close for the day.

Some 1,000 marchers are expected in Edmonton's Remembrance Day parade to the cenotaph. City stores will be closed.

In Vancouver a parade led by the fire department band will march to the annual cenotaph service in Victory Square. All veterans' organizations and unattached exservicemen have been invited.

After the service and two minutes' silence, signalled by a gun fired from Brockton Point, the parade will be reviewed from a downtown stand.

Second Italian Challenges Monty

ROME (Reuters) — A second Italian Friday challenged Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery to a duel because of "insults" to the wartime Italian army in his memoirs.

Newspaper man Aldo Asseta Binda said he had sent a cable to the 70-year-old Briton saying if he did not reply, "people will know you are more brave with the pen than the sword."

This, he added, would suit "a two-penny tattler more than her majesty's field marshal."

WHO WAS FIRST?

Binda claimed he had actually challenged Montgomery three days ago before right-wing politician Vincenzo Caputo did Thursday. The journalist said he repeated the challenge when Montgomery failed to reply.

Unexplained Knock Halted Moon Shot

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) A strange knocking inside the missile early Friday caused postponement of the latest U.S. Air Force attempt to shoot a satellite around the moon.

The Pioneer moon rocket glowed under floodlights for more than two hours in a driving rain storm before the launching was called off at 12:34 a.m.

The air force has two more chances to shoot for the moon this month—in the early morning hours of Saturday and Sunday and then only within a critical time period of 18 to 20 minutes.

The time on a moon launching is critical because the planes of the earth and moon are in the opportune position for just brief periods each day.

MUST WAIT

If the missile men fail to fire within the specified time, they will have to wait until early December.

The launching was less than an hour away from zero when the noise was heard. The trouble apparently could not be pinpointed soon enough to get the rocket off.

The air force announced only that "operations pointing toward an early flight of an experimental U.S. space exploration vehicle . . . were postponed due to technical difficulties."

FRUSTRATING NIGHT

It was a frustrating night for the men who had worked 12 hours during the final phase of the count down to prepare the mighty rocket for launching.

Among the disappointed observers were Queen Frederika of Greece and her daughter, Princess Sophia.

The Pioneer rocket uses three stages—a Thor missile and two modified Vanguard sections—to attain the velocity of 23,880 miles an hour needed to reach the vicinity of the moon.

2¼-DAY TRIP

The mission is to plop an instrumented satellite equipped with an infra - red scanning camera into a brief orbit about 50,000 miles from the moon after a 2½-day journey through space.

The last attempt Aug. 11 failed to go all the way—the moon is about 222,000 miles from the earth—but it did reach a height of more than 90,000 statute miles, the farthest man has penetrated into outer space.

The first air force moon rocket blew up 77 seconds after launching Aug. 17.

Laing Comments On Coast Trial

CHILLIWACK, B.C. (CP) — Provincial Liberal leader Arthur Laing told Chilliwack riding members Thursday night Attorney-General Robert Bonner "would have been disbarred if he had been a practising lawyer for the manner in which he neglected his duty" in the Sommers case.

"There was evidence at the Sommers trial in the attorney-General's handwriting showing Sommers how he could evade the consequences of the law by showing him how to pay off those notes," said Mr. Laing.

Mr. Laing touched on development of the Peace River district. He said B.C. is going to find itself set against the interests of Alberta and will come off second best if it is not careful.

He told of a recent trip to the Mackenzie River basin and said an immense amount of traffic, totalling 135,000 tons of freight this year alone, should be shared by B.C. "But we are not using the correct combination of truck and rail transport."

Mr. Laing said we built the PGE from Prince George and Fort St. John "at a fantastic cost of $110,000: and Diefenbaker says he will build a railway in Alberta to Pine Point to tap easily mined mineral deposits. That is a fabulously wealthy country."

He said northern Alberta highways are the "best in the world."

B.C.'s attitude is wrong, he said. In Pouce Coupe, nine miles inside the B.C. boundary, and at Dawson Creek, boards of trade say they don't want highway linkage with Alberta as the residents will drive into Grande Prairie to beat the B.C. sales tax.

Shell Oil Company will build a road from Fort Nelson to Fort Simpson in the Liard basin if 25 expected oil wells produce, he said. If B.C. built this road," we could intercept part of this tremendous business."

Lord Alexander To Be Wenner-Gren Director

VANCOUVER (CP) — The Province says Earl Alexander of Tunis will be named a director of Peace River Development Company, the Wenner-Gren firm which plans a multi-million dollar development in B.C.'s Rocky Mountain Trench.

The newspaper says the former governor-general, who suffered a heart attack more than a week ago in Ottawa, will return to business life after three months' convalescence. It says he will be "a principal" in the big project planned by Swedish financier Axel Wenner-Gren.

Other directors, it says, are understood to be predominantly British, "including men from the top echelon of industry and finance in the United Kingdom, since British capital will play a major role" in the scheme.

The newspaper, while not mentioning further names, says the other directors "are as well known as, and of equivalent stature in business and industry to, Earl Alexander."

Formation of Peace River Development was announced last week. The first directors' meeting was to be held here today when directors were to be introduced to Vancouver business leaders.

The Wenner-Gren scheme in northern B.C. initially proposes construction of hydro electric plants capable of generating 4,000,000 horsepower. Proponents say the scheme will later include a railway or monorail, pulp and paper industry, mining and possibly smelting, as well as other industries.

B.C. Polio Victim Wins Praise as Bird Painter

NEW YORK (CP)—J. Fenwick (Fen) Lansdowne, a youthful Victoria artist with a mature talent, brought a breath of the outdoor life to Manhattan Thursday.

An exhibition of bird paintings by Lansdowne, 21, opened at the headquarters of the National Audubon Society—a feathered medley of some 40 paintings.

John H. Baker, president of the society, in introducing the artist who was afflicted by polio at an early age and is handicapped, described him as an inspiration to all lovers of nature. Lansdowne was accompanied by John Livingstone, executive director of the Audubon Society of Canada.

The show is the first exhibition outside Canada for Lansdowne, who has been painting birds for seven years. It will be exhibited at the Royal Ontario museum in January.

Lansdowne, who had an exhibition in Toronto two years ago, said in an interview he paints a bird in an average of two or three days, and has done around 300 in all.

At 19 his work had become internationally known. His birds have appeared in a number of publications in Canada and the U.S.

Export-Import Bank Needed

EDMONTON (CP)—Establishment of a Canadian export-import bank was urged Friday by Ian McRae of Toronto, president of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association.

Mr. McRae said such a bank, which could be similar to that now operating in the United States, would give Canadian industry a badly-needed shot in the arm.

"Canada has to export to maintain her normal economy," he said in an interview. "We could do a great deal more if a method of financing was made available to Canadian manufacturers to put them in the same competitive position as British and U.S. manufacturers."

In dealing, say, with India, Canadian businessmen face the problem of long-term financing which their comapnies cannot afford and which banks and insurance companies are unwilling to underwrite, Mr. McRae said.

An American company, dealing with the same country, can afford to make its sale on an arrangement whereby the purchaser might pay 30 per cent down and the balance over a period of seven to 10 years, by financing the sale through the U.S. export-import bank.

MELBOURNE (Reuters)—The next challenge for the America's Cup, retained recently by the American yacht Columbia, may come from Australia.

Frank and John Livingston, wealthy South Australian sheep and cattle owners, have started work on a plan to design and build a challenger in Australia.

John Livingston said Friday that they already have a scientist and a team of engineers working on the project. The Livingston brothers visited the United States for Columbia's sailing contest with Britain's Sceptre.

No Casualties Reported From Major Quake, Japan

By JAMES CARY

TOKYO (AP)—A major earthquake spawned deep in the Pacific rolled over Northern Japan in a thunderous wave Friday. It smashed windows, broke power lines, tumbled crockery and wrecked chimneys.

No casualties or serious damage were reported, however.

A tidal wave alert was flashed across the main northern island of Hokkaido and Northern Honshu but was cancelled later.

Unusual wave action was reported from Wake Island, east of Japan. An apparently weak tidal wave hit Hawaii. The Hawaiian islands of Oahu and Kauai reported rises of about one foot along their shores. There were no reports of injuries or damage.

The shock rumbled across Hokkaido for two terrifying minutes, beginning at 7:58 a. m. lesser shocks surged as far south as Yokohama, a distance of some 600 miles.

The fact that the earthquake was born an estimated 60 miles below the ocean floor east of Hokkaido was believed to have saved Japan from extensive loss.

It was Japan's worst earth shock in five years, ranging as high as intensity 5 on a Japanese scale of 7 maximum. The meteorological board estimated that at the point of origin, the shock hit 8 on the richter scale of 10 maximum. That was almost as severe as the 8.25 toll that wrecked San Francisco in 1906.

Soviet Union Going Ahead In Basic Commodity Exports

By THOMAS P. WHITNEY
AP Foreign News Analyst

Foreign trade figures released in Moscow show that the Soviet Union is on the way to becoming one of the most important exporters of basic commodities and raw materials.

Some of these are new. Others are traditional Soviet exports now being sent abroad in larger quantities.

Among them are oil, oil products, coal, including anthracite, iron and chrome ores, pig iron, steel, ferrous metal products, lumber, cotton, flax and grain. Earlier this year the Soviet Union disturbed both aluminum and tin markets by heavy exports — amounting to dumping by some standards.

OIL EXPORTS UP

Russia is not a new exporter of oil. In the early days of the petroleum industry it was the world's largest petroleum exporter. Since the revolution, however, the Soviet Union has not ranked among important oil exporters.

But this is changing. In 1957 for instance, 13,700,000 tons of oil and oil products were sold abroad by the U.S.S.R.—36 per cent over 1956. This amounted to not quite 15 per cent of Soviet production (Weights given here are in metric tons of 2,205 pounds.)

The Soviet Union is also entering the world coal market. It exported 8,800,000 tons in 1957, an increase of 56 per cent. It was the first year coal exports exceeded imports, which come largely from Poland for supply of coal-short northern and western regions of the U.S.S.R.

Pig iron exports totalled nearly 1,300,000 tons in 1957. Exports of steel and rolled steel were nearly 2,000,000 tons.

REGAIN LUMBER MARKETS

Lumber exports have topped the 1938 pre-war level. Lumber and timber are traditionally among the most important Russian exports, but during and after the war they were down. Total lumber exported in 1957 was 3,500,000 cubic metres. The Soviet Union supplied about 15per cent of the needs of Western European countries, it is estimated.

The Soviet Union claims to rank second in the world as exporter of cotton — 310,000 tons in 1957. Some of this likely was re-export of Egyptian and Syrian cotton received in payment for arms.

Soviet grain exports doubled to 7,400,000 tons—more than was exported by Australia or Argentina. Russia before the 1917 revolution was a top-ranking grain exporter but afterward, except in a very few years, lost this position.

In all cases except that of tin, where heavy exports reflect resale of Chinese Communist exports to Russia, the increased Soviet exports reflect heavily increased output. Thus it can be expected that the exports will continue to increase together wit production in coming years.

Large Crowd Attends CWL Annual Bazaar, Dinner

A well-attended bazaar, tea, spaghetti dinner and bingo games were activities offered recently by women of the Cathedral of Mary Immaculate parish in the Silver Room of the Hume Hotel.

The day's social events were opened with the annual bazaar and tea in the afternoon when booths displayed a variety of sewing, candy, knitting and baking in the colorfully decorated hall. Encircled by the bazaar booths, tea tables were ornamented with blue and white cloths centred with yellow chrysanthemums. Two sittings for the spaghetti dinner were held in the evening and bingo was played later.

In the afternoon, guests were greeted by Mrs. S. A. Bragagnola, Catholic Women's League president and were invited to tea by Mrs. W. C. Murphy. Convener of the bazaar was Mrs. Frank Smith, assisted by Mrs. J. C. Fukala. The fish pond was in charge of Miss Albertine Choquette and Circles of St. Anne, St. Cecilia, St. Theresa, Lady of Lourdes and Ave Maria convened bazaar booths.

Mrs. R. Stack was in charge of the draw, assisted by the Knights of Columbus, who conducted bingo games also. Members of the Ave Maria Circle convened the tea and St. Theresa Circle the spaghetti dinner.

Governor's Wife Enjoys Press Conference

NEW YORK (AP) — Mrs. Nelson Rockefeller isn't too sure about what awaits her as the wife of the governor of New York state, but she is positive about one thing.

It doesn't give her any feeling that, in time, she may also be the wife of the president of the United States.

Mrs. Rockefeller opened her 32-room Fifth Avenue apartment to the press Thursday and, with candor, humor and apparant enjoyment of it all, answered a variety of questions.

She made these comments:

"Nelson and I haven't given any thought at all to being governor and Mrs. Governor, or whatever you call me."

UNCERTAIN OF ROLE

"I didn't know how we're going to conduct ourselves until we find out what it's all about. Just what my role as the governor's wife is, I'm not sure."

"I prefer ready-made clothes."

"I'm fortunate not having to cook myself. I'm not a very good cook."

"I love to entertain. I would say our guest list would grow, in all directions."

As for the duties of the first lady of the state, Mrs. Rockefeller said she expected to get some helpful pointers from Mrs. Averell Harriman. Mrs Rockefeller and the wife of the outgoing governor are good friends —as are their husbands.

Tribute Paid to Procter Woman at Church Tea

PROCTER — Rev. H. R. Whitmore of Nelson opened the gift sale and tea sponsored by the Ladies' Aid to Procter United Church held in the community hall which was ornamented with late pansies and chrysanthemums.

Mr. Whitmore commended the group on the display. He paid tribute to the untiring efforts of Mrs. G. A. Phillips as president of the group for the past several years, and wished Mr. and Mrs. Phillips "Godspeed to their new home in Penticton and an abundance of happiness in their retirement."

Mrs. C. F. Grant was in charge of door prizes. The bake table was tended by Mrs. Barlow, Mrs. M. McMullin and Mrs. N. C. MacLeod, sale of needlework featuring gift aprons, fancy linens and Christmas toys was in charge of Mrs. F. Bonacci and Mrs. Albert Ogden. Mrs. C. Fitchett sold Christmas cards and parcel post surprise packages, Mrs. L. P. Laing, Mrs. M. D. MacKinnon and Mrs. Ross Gleam made sales at the candy counter, proceeds for the Sunday School. The tea and sale was said to be one of the most successful financially and socially.

Ten tea tables centred with purple asters were served by Mrs. John MacLeod, Mrs. P. T. Carroll, Mrs. Alec J. Garner and Mrs. H. A. Pearson. The kitchen was staffed by Mrs. J. Mucha, Mrs. R. G. Kelly and Mrs. R. L. Stevenson.

A group of church members from Nelson were noted, among them former resident Mrs. A. Batchelor and her father, Mr. Hepburne. Mr. Whitmore announced memorial services to be held in Procter marking Remembrance Day.

Big Increase For B.C.'s Milk Farmers

VANCOUVER (CP) — B. C. milk producers will get a whopping increase during November, mainly because of a new formula established by the Milk Board for producers prices, it was announced Thursday.

Producers were to get an increase anyway but because of the new formula the increase will be 22.2 cents a hundred-weight for Lower Mainland and Vancouver Island producers and 29.2 cents for Kamloops - Okanagan producers.

Under the old formula the increase would have been 8.4 and 7.6 cents respectively.

Figured in the new formula are increases in the indices for consumer prices, average weekly wages and salaries, price of hay and alfalfa, price of 16 per cent dairy feed, and farm wages.

November prices:

Lower Mainland and Vancouver Island: Class 1, $5.953 per hundred weight, differential, 7.6 cents.

Kamloops-Okanagan: Class 1, $5.610, differential 7.6 cents.

All Areas: Class 2, $4.910, differential 8.2; class 3 $3.402, differential 6.3.

Kamloops - Okanagan: Class 3a $2.80, differential 6.3; class 3b, $2,536, differential 6.3.

Springhill Asks No Special Favor

TORONTO (CP)—Mayor Ralph Gilroy of stricken Springhill said Thursday night his 7,000 townsfolk don't want "special favors." He invited the rest of Canada to join in rebuilding the town with secondary industry there.

He told a $100-a-plate Springhill Disaster Fund dinner his town has three attractions to offer: power, water and courage.

With the fate of shattered No. 2 colliery, where 74 miners perished in an underground upheaval two weeks ago, still undecided, the Nova Scotia community desperately needs other enterprises to give its people a living, the mayor said.

The dinner was sponsored by the Canadian Furniture Manufacturers' Association. It raised an estimated $2,200 for Christmas gifts for Springhill children.

Our Father's Business

Many young people give up the thought of becoming educated because they cannot attend university. They relinquish happiness and usefulness, which education of the right type can bring.

Nothing has ever been able to keep men in this life from self-education. Dr. Katz, brilliant nuclear physicist at the University of Saskatchewan, says that junk and nonsense are smothering our schools. He deplores the fact 50 per cent of our pupils are recommended when they ought to be writing examinations. The Dean of Regina College tells us that college freshmen cannot write, read or reason.

Does this explain why the flabbiness of the whole general tone of education and society? Has life become so soft and gadgety that we can no longer tackle the problems that beset us? Let us look at a few people who were not handed degrees and diplomas and were not recommended.

You want to write . . . Murray, the linguist, made a pen for himself out of a stem of heather. You want to learn English grammar . . . Cobbett learned it while making sixpence a day, often with no light but winter firelight, and was reduced almost to starvation if he spent a penny for pens and paper. Have you no money to buy books? . . . More borrowed Newton's principia and copied it for himself, word for word.

Is it music?. . . . Watt, inventor of the steam engine, with no ear for music, mastered harmonics because he was determined to build an organ. You want to learn Greek or Hebrew . . . The dull carpenter apprentice, Lee, later master of many languages and professor at Cambridge, began by buying a Latin grammar, sold it to buy Greek books and sold those to buy Hebrew books.

Maybe you are fed up with the sort of job you have to do. A barber? . . . so was Arkwright, founder of the cotton industry in England, who began by shaving people in a cellar at a penny a shave. Are you the son of a poor farmer? So was Sir Isaac Newton, the sun itself in the heaven of science. A bricklayer? So was Ben Johnson, one of the most illustrious names in English literature. A tailor? So was Hobson, an admiral of the navy. A butcher? So was Cardinal Wolsey, the most illustrious cardinal of England. A fireman on an engine or diesel locomotive? So was Stephenson, inventor of the locomotive . . . and so goes the list of illustrious men whose thirst for knowledge and usefulness was not contained in a university.

You say "these were all extraordinary men . . . I am very ordinary and cannot do what they did —the times are different." Not at all. What made these men? Genius? Ask them and they would answer—patience, hard work, perseverence, energy, memory, common sense, self-reliance, the habit of attention, not fooling around and wasting time. It is reported that the U. S. department of education in Washington says this explains the success of the Russian method of education.

Self-education is more practicable today. Books are cheaper and knowledge can be had both within and without our universities. The truth is simple. Teach yourself. A few leisure hours out of each 24, a little money, and in a few years there is little that cannot be mastered.

Our liturgy, speaking of the Bible, says—we are to read, mark, learn and inwardly digest, that by patience and comfort we may have hope.

The world is largely self - taught. St. Paul, writing to the Romans of his day, says, "Provide things honest in the sight of all men." Here, surely, is the royal road to character . . . here is our world's most desperate need—people of character.

Canon W. J. Silverwood.

"Castles in Air" Possible With Steel

"Castles in the air" can become a reality for even the small home owner today.

Rooms and terraces literally suspended in the air are being constructed by some of this continent's leading architects. To them, a house that must overhang a hill, because there is no level ground, offers exiting possibilities.

Light structural steel framing is the key to this new building concept for contemporary houses, says architect R. Wiliam Wilding. By loading all the weight of the dwelling onto a steel skeleton, floor plans undreamed of with conventional wooden studs and joists are possible.

With this type of framing, it's possible to "float" a house from rigid framework of steel in the roof; elevate the house to "tree-top" level on a steel platform to take advantage of the view; cantilever entire living areas as much as 32 feet.

Mr. Wilding thinks that this type of construction will be used more and more in the future. "The possibilities in home design have barely been tapped."

READILY AVAILABLE

Contrary to general opinion, light structural steel framing is readily available in Vancouver at comparative prices with stuctural wood, he points out.

Since it can compete with conventional building methods on a cost basis, it's not limited to luxury class homes. It offers unlimited possibilities of good construction for small homes, built on difficult terrain that would otherwise lie idle, Mr. Wilding says.

Architects have found that steel framing not only solved the expensive problem of underpinning to elevate the house, but greatly shorten the erection time.

One of the most important features in this type of construction is, it completely opens up the home's interior. Since inside walls carry no loads, they are strictly partitions, installed for specific purposes, it's explained.

Built-in cabinets for example, can be constructed in a shop, shipped to the building site and moved into the house to serve as a wall. Steel, glass plastic or wood can be used for these "flexible" walls. Since they are not rigid, they can be moved with a minimum of effort to allow the owner to re-design the interior.

Current trends call for leaving the structural steel frame exposed to dramatize the functional beauty. Architects feel that its clean lines, plus uniformity of shape and size have an aesthetic appeal all its own.

As for maintenance, exposed steel is easy to paint, resists rot and is impervious to insects.

Penny Press Rate Unchanged

GENEVA (Reuters) — The International Teleccommunications Conference Friday voted by an overwhelming majority to leave unchanged the telegraph regulations for press messages in areas outside Europe.

The vote was 53 to 2, with one absentation.

The Pakistan proposal would have limited the maximum reduction for extra-European press messages to 66- 2-3 per cent of ordinary telegraphs. It had been adopted by a separate committee by a vote of 28 to 27 and three absentations.

REVERSE COMMITTEE

The committee's action — reversed today by the conference sitting in plenary session—would have carried a threat to facilities granted to the press in areas outside Europe such as the "empire penny press rate," which allows press message to be sent anywhere inside the Commonwealth at a penny a word. A penny is equivalent to 1.17 cents.

Col. D. McMillan, leader of the British delegation, told the plenary session that there was no good reason to change the existing regulations for press telegrams.

Delegates from Australia, India, Ceylon, France, Israel, Morocco, Jordan, Columbia, Saudi Arabia, Lebanon and Libya supported the British view.

The Soviet delegate said that, although he had voted for the Pakistan proposal in committee, he was ready to vote against it now in view of the general feeling of the conference.

Snatch Marooned Men From Floe

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP)—Drifting Station A's 20 marooned men were snatched to safety Thursday night in an Arctic rescue carried out in the light of flickering flares.

All 20 rescued scientists and airmen were reported in excellent condition despite five dreary days of isolation.

They were stranded Sunday on the Arctic Ocean 300 miles from the North Pole when an unseasonal polar storm split their mile-square ice floe.

IGY PROJECT

The scientific station they were maintaining on the floe was an International Geophysical Year project.

They were whisked to safety Thursday night as a C-123 from Thule, Greenland, guided only by the light of a row of flares set out by the stranded men, landed and took them aboard.

The 11 U.S. Air Force men and nine civilians were to be flown to Thule and then to Ladd Air Force Base, Fairbanks, Alaska, the base of operations for most of the civilians and the home base for the air force personnel.

The 10-foot-thick ice floe, first manned as an IGY scientific station in the spring of 1957, was cracked into two 1,000-foot-square pieces.

The men were marooned on the camp-site half. The runway used to supply the station was on the other half of the severed island.

As the rescue plane drew close to the marooned men Thursday night, they were informed of its approach by radio. They made a dash by small boat across 1½ miles of open water and lit flares to guide the rescue plane into a landing.

CAPTURED FLAG

BAYEUX, France (AP)—Gen. Georges Tabouis, who captured the first German flag in the early days of the First World War, died here today. He was 92. Tabouis was commanding the 1st Battalion of French riflemen at the battle of Saint-Blaise in 1914.

Modern Home

Narrow city lots present problems to the home builders who are looking for lots of living space, and the long low appearances that are so popular today. This house is designed for a rear view, so that it could look well on any site, but it is especially adaptable to an ordinary city lot. Create your own outdoor garden view at the back — why face the hot, dusty street? Here is a house that is pleasant to live in, modern in appearance and easy on the pocketbook. Our designer has put a balcony adjacent to the living area, and an outside entrance to the kitchen for control of traffic through the front door. The kitchen is only moderate size, but is well planned with loads of work areas and cupboard space. The basement steps are close to the back door, which is handy for the children, and keeps mother's floors clean. The basement has a recreation room for teen-age and adult enteratining plus storage and furnace areas. Working drawings for this house, designed for NHA approval, are available from the Building Centre, (B.C.) Ltd., 116 E. Broadway, Vancouver 10. Send 25 cents to cover cost of handling and mailing our new issue of "Select Home Designs" plan book, which contains many more custom and stock designs for NHA approval.

U.S. Senate Recommends Court Action Against General Motors

WASHINGTON (AP) — Possible government anti-trust action to break up General Motors Corporation, the world's largest auto maker, is recommended by Senate investigators.

However, Republican Senator Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois takes strong issue with this proposal by the Democratic majority of the anti-trust and monopoly subcommittee.

He described the majority report issued Thursday as "handicapped by errors."

RECOMMEND ACTION

Recommending that the justice department consider court action against General Motors, the majority said:

"The hard core of the monopoly problem in the automobile industry is in the concentration of production and power held by GM."

The report said GM accounts for about 55 per cent of U.S. auto production and "plays the key role in setting price levels for the whole industry."

In Boston, Frederick G. Donner, chairman of General Motors, issued a statement which said in part:

"It is unfortunate that the subcommittee's original objective of coming to grips with the problem of inflation appears to have been sidetracked.

"News accounts of the report convey the definite impression that its principal emphasis is not on the problem of inflation but rather that it reflects speculative, conjectural and partisan opinions on a variety of subjects concerning the automobile industry."

CITES FAULTS

The report, based on hearings earlier this year, contended that price competition has disappeared in the industry. And it criticized what it calls overemphasis on high-priced styling changes, advertising expenditures and misleading auto financing practices.

Substantial price reductions could be made without any sacrifice in profits, the report said, if auto makers curbed expenditures for styling, advertising and tooling in connection with frequent model changes.

A DISSENTER

Dissenting from the report, Dirksen said:

"Without specifically charging wrong-doing against anyone, the majority's report suggests improper and illegal practices by an important and successful industry which are unsupported in the record."

Joining in approving the majority report were subcommittee chairman Estes Kefauver (Dem. Tenn.) and Senators Thomas C. Hennings (Dem. Mo.), Joseph C. O'Mahoney (Dem. Wyo.) and John A. Carroll (Dem. Colo.). They urged a thorough justice department investigation of the auto industry.

Libraries Ready For Book Week

TORONTO (CP)—Organized by the Canadian Libraries Association, Young Canada Book Week this year is being held Nov. 15-22.

The aim of Book Week, being observed for the 10th year, is to bring to the attention of adults the importance of good reading for boys and girls.

"Reading is one of the greatest joys of life," says Senator Muriel McQueen Ferguson, patroness of Book Week this year. "When we help children to become interested in books we give them the opportunity to secure for themselves that priceless heritage."

The Canadian Library Association seeks to promote literary quality in children's books and medals are offered annually for the best books in English and French.

Books for juveniles by Canadian authors have increased in recent years and reports from librarians across the country indicate increased borrowings by junior readers.

Jean Thomson, head of Boys and Girls Division of Toronto Public Libraries — the largest junior library in Canada—says television has stimulated children's reading interest.

But, she says, more care is needed in selection of programs for youngsters.

"If a television program arouses a child's interest in a subject, he will pursue it by reading about it," she said. "But children's TV programs do not make the use they should of book material — they should dramatize more books of the Jane Eyre or Lorna Doone calibre."

Miss Thomson is organizing displays and talks at children's libraries in Toronto, in connection with Young Canada Book Week.

Prisoners Riot

QUEBEC (CP) — About 150 inmates of the Quebec jail rioted during the supper hour Friday night and caused property damage estimated at $2,000 before being subdued by jail guards and a detatchment of provincial police officers.

The riot lasted about 4 minutes. No one was injured.

A spokesman for the provincial government, which operates the jail on the Plains of Abraham, said the convicts were protesting against the type of food served them.

The jail holds about 235 prisoners.

Red Square Parade Stresses Peace Aim

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union placed the accent on peace Friday in a Red Square parade celebrating the 41st anniversary of the Bolshevik Revolution.

The display of military equipment contained nothing new. The equipment rumbled past the reviewing stand atop the Lenin-Stalin Tomb in a swift seven minutes.

Marshal Rodion Malinovsky called the tune in a speech hailing the "fight for peace," which he said is "meeting stubborn resistance from the ruling circles of the United States and Britain."

SNAPPY PACE

Rocket - launchers equipped with rockets, scores of motorized artillery pieces, mortars and personnel carriers swept through the square in jig time before Premier Nikita Khrushchev, other Soviet leaders and the visiting Polish Communist Party chief, Wladyslaw Gomulka.

Thousands upon thousands of Soviet citizens bearing flags, bouquets, banners and streamers jammed every street in the vicinity.

When the military procession ended, swarms of sportsmen in vivid blues, reds and greens strutted in front of the reviewing stand.

Then came citizens carrying pictures of Lenin, Khrushchev, President Klementi Voroshilov and praesidium members.

BALLOONS TOO

Huge gas-filled balloons in the shapes of blimps and rockets were floated during the parade, which launched a three-day holiday.

Malinovsky's order of the day, published in Soviet papers, called for "revolutionary watchfulness" —indicating a need for alertness against espionage as well as maintenace of military security.

His published order also called for a 20-gun salute in Moscow, Leningrad, Stalingrad, Stavropol and Odessa. Thirty - six booms were heard in Moscow.

Trade With Red China Not Planned—Fleming

TOKYO (Reuters) — Canadian Finance Minister Fleming said Friday the Canadian government recognizes that economic relations can affect to a strong degree Canada's relations with other nations but Canada has no intention of extending political recognition to Communist China.

The minister, who arrived here Thursday on a five-day goodwill visit to Japan, spoke at a press conference.

Fleming said his country's trade with Communist China is "very slight" and has not yet become a "big enough factor to influence my government's policy toward Communist China."

In a review of Japanese-Canadian trade relations, Fleming said "political and trade relations between Canada and the new Japan have never been better."

AMONG THE FIRST

Canada was among the first nations to sign a trade agreement with this country about four years ago, and Canada sponsored Japan's entry into the United Nations and the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade.

He said the two nations' trade amounted to more than $200,000,000 a year.

Japan was Canada's third largest wheat market and Canada supplied Japan with important raw materials.

Heat Loss High At Windows

Windows lose heat fast.

Heat loss through glass is nine times greater as through an equal area of insulated wall, experts say.

They say storm sash on windows will reduce the amount of escaping heat through windows by at least 50 per cent, while factory-sealed double glass will do even better.

These protections also allow less air infiltration about the window and reduce moisture condensation on the window glass.

Diefenbakers Given Great Welcome by West Germans

BONN (Reuters)—Prime Minister Diefenbaker arrived Friday by air for an official visit to West Germany.

Fog at Gros Tenquin, France, where the prime minister stayed the night at the headquarters of the RCAF No. 2 Fighter Wing, delayed the take-off of his C-5 transport and caused him to arrive an hour later than expected.

The world-touring Diefenbaker, accompanied by his wife, said in an airport speech he looked forward to renewing the "candid exchange of views" he and Chancellor Konrad Adenauer had begun at the NATO conference in Bonn last December.

AN ORANGE BOUQUET

Adenauer shook hands warmly with the Diefenbakers as they left the plane, and West Germany's protocol chief, Dr. Sigismund von Braun, brother of rocket expert Wernher von Braun, handed Mrs. Diefenbaker a bouquet of orange carnations.

A 100-man West German Army guard of honor in steel helmets and grey uniforms stood at attention as Diefenbaker, bareheaded and in a dark grey coat, walked along the ranks with Adenauer and Gen. Adold Heusinger, inspector of the West German forces.

An army band played an inspection march.

COLORFUL WELCOME

Diefenbaker was given one of the most colorful receptions yet accorded to a visiting prime minister. Flags decorated the airport and a large orange and white marquee had been erected to shelter waiting ministers and officials.

Diefenbaker was also welcomed by Foreign Minister Heinrich von Brentano.

About 150 people watched from the airport terrace as Adenauer, in a welcoming speech, said that both West Germany and Canada are members of NATO "without which we are both convinced it would be impossible to preserve peace and freedom."

The chancellor went on:

"Canadian NATO units are stationed on German soil to safeguard the Free World, German soldiers are being trained in Canada, large numbers of German immigrants have found a new home in Canada since the war. Economically, too, our countries are closely connected."

"MUTUAL TRUST"

Adenauer said the isit was "further confirmation of the relations of mutual trust and confidence which have developed in recent years between our two countries and their peoples."

In his reply, Diefenbaker said that he hoped to examine with West German leaders general questions affecting the interests of both countries.

"Allied as we are in common determination to maintain peace and freedom there are no serious differences between our two countries."

BROUGHT TOGETHER

Diefenbaker said Canada and West Germany are being brought closer together by the expansion of their trade, by the movements of German immigrants to Canada and above all by their co-operation in NATO.

"I hope that our relations will continue to extend and develop for the benefit of each of us."

Diefenbaker left in a black Mercedes car for Bonn, preceeded by eight motorcycle outriders. He was due to lunch with President Theodor Heuss at the president's residence here.

Don't Throw it Away, Junk Can be Beautiful

Don't throw it away! Yesterday's dusty discard may become today's treasured decoration. That's the theory of Bryce Hawkins, who spruces up salvaged pieces with such a professional flair it'd take a super sleuth to uncover their original identity.

You're in for a series of surprises when you visit the den of the craft-hobbyist's home. Well-camouflaged furbishings pop out from every corner.

* * *

A pair of flatirons serve as bookends, a base drum becomes a table and a globe turns into a lamp base. But, what really attracts attention is a shield which conceals the indirect lighting. It boasts a tooled crest, which one might surmise was inherited from his famed ancestor, Sir Francis Drake. Yet, ask Hawkins about it and he grins, "I'd say it was more handed over than handed down.

"It's the lid from our old washing machine. My wife told me to throw it away, but once I studied its possibilities, I had to reclaim the relic."

* * *

Ingeniously he partially covered the lid with disks of tooled copper and aluminum, which were cemented into position. For the centre "dome," an aluminum pot lid was polished and pressed into service. The back of the shield was covered with safety foil to increase the light reflection.

Once the fixture was secured to the wall, he flanked it with antique fire arms and a wooden sword with hilt looking suspiciously like an electric iron handle.

* * *

Converting the seemingly useless item into a usable one takes concentration. "It's not a matter of collecting a lot of junk, but of adapting articles with interesting shapes and surfaces in unexpected ways."

Hawkins illustrates his point with a damaged globe of the world which he turned into a lamp base. Following a South Sea motif, he used bamboo to cover the wire tube, sea serpents and star fish to ornament the matchstick shade, and coral and shells to cover the disk on which the globe rests. And, for an added touch, he decorated his "world" with miniature ships glued in the ocean areas.

It's little wonder that when friends visit Hawkins they inquire in complimentary fashion. "What was it?"

Airports Need Fire-Fighting Equipment Says Calpa Chief

By GEORGE FRAJKOR
Canadian Press Staff Writer

MONTREAL (CP) — Canada's major airports are woefully short of fire-fighting equipment to deal with a major emergency, says Capt. John D. Gallagher of the Canadian Air Line Pilots Association.

Capt. Gallagher, chairman of of the CALPA safety division, said in an interview that Dorval Airport is about the best equipped of Canada's big civil fields, but it's unlikely that more than a fire in a Viscount — one of the smaller commercial planes — could be adequately handled there.

He is here for the association's convention.

The transport department spends an average of $250,000 a year for fire - fighting equipment at each major airport in Canada, Capt. Gallagher said. But it should spend four times that much.

He said few airport fire-fighting divisions had accurate grid maps so the control tower could direct them precisely to the scene of a crash should it occur away from the airport.

Even fewer had charts of airplane types, so that rescuers could find out where to look for escape hatches, and where it was safe to chop through the plane's frame.

Capt. Gallagher cited New York's Idlewild Airport as one of the best-equipped for emergencies.

A Trans-Canada Airlanes plane attempting a landing there with suspected landing gear trouble was attended by enough fire-fighting equipment to extinguish three burning airplanes. Also on hand were skindivers, a crash boat and a floating crane in case the plane missed the airport and plunged into water.

CALPA, he said, intends to produce shortly a booklet on fire prevention, and fighting equipment of all Canada's big civil airports. This would inform pilots and fire interested organizations of the adequacy or inadequacy of equipment.

TEL AVIV, Israel (AP)—Premier David Ben-Gurion made a surprise appearance Thursday night at a Soviet Embassy reception marking the 41st anniversary of the Soviet Revolution. It was his first visit to the annual affair. Speculation was he attended to help deflate Soviet and United Arab Republic press campaigns alleging Israel is planning aggression against Jordan.

Canada Allays Tariff Fears

LONDON (Reuters) — Canada has told Britain it intends to restore a margin of preference to British wool textiles, Sir David Eccles, president of the British Board of Trade, said Thursday.

Conservative MP Geoffrey Hirst had told the House of Commons that the wool textile industry was gravely concerned at the Canadian and United States import tariff quotas.

Eccles replied he was in close touch with both countries and was pressing for the removal of disabilities against British goods.

"The Canadian finance minister has just told me it is the firm intention of his government to restore the margin of preference formerly enjoyed by the United Kingdom."

The Canadian tariff of imports of British woollen cloth was increased in the Canadian budget last June.

At Ottawa, it was emphasized that Canada intends to restore Britain's tariff margin on wool cloth by boosting duties on non-Commonwealth supplies, principally Italy.

Negotiations towards that end are reported to be going on at the present time at Geneva under the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade.

Without consulting Britain, the Canadian government last June boosted duties on British wool cloth to a maximum of 55 cents and 60 cents a pound from the former long-standing ceiling of 50 cents.

The hill-billy politico imbibed a plate of consomme and several stalks of celery in pained silence, but heally busted loose when they put a broiled lobster in front of him.

"Gents," he roared, "I drunk your dishwater and et your bouquet. But I'm durned if you get met to eat this burnt-up bug. Get it out of here!"

Karl Baedeker, the man who made guide books famous, was born in Germany in 1801, and started his career with a Traveler's Handbook of the Rhine, based on his own detours and minute studies of food, service, cleanliness and prices charged at small as well as luxurious restaurants and hotels. When he turned the business over to his sons 40 years later, his guide books literally covered the globe.

Success did not affect Baedeker's methods. He seemed suspicious of reports turned in by his own agents, preferred travelling incognito to check on their work. As the witty A. P. Herbert put it, Kings and governments may err, but never Mr. Baedeker."

All Baedekers carried a note that should take a prize in any and all contests for classic understatement: "When travelling, ladies add considerably to the expense."

One day, however, Dodge's ire was aroused to the point where he hollered, "You are fired!" and drove off in high dudgeon to Detroit. When he drove home that evening, however, there was the old gatekeeper big as life. "Confound it!" roared Dodge. "Didn't I discharge you this morning?" "You did," agreed the gatekeeper cheerfully, "but I forgive you."

Mill Rolls Metal Powder Into Strips for Rockets, Missiles

By JAMES FLOWERS

NEW YORK — A unique machine was recently placed into the industrial jigsaw that fits together North America's defense and space projects.

It's newly developed horizontal rolling mill which compacts metal powders directly into sheet and strip for the fabrication of such critical items as nuclear fuel elements, aircraft filtration systems, jet engine material and new alloys for rockets and ballistic missiles.

In performance tests the mill compacted such metal powders as aluminum, copper, stainless steel, molybdenum and tungsten and various cobbinations of these into strips of metal. The strips ranged in width up to seven inches and from one thirty-second to one eighth of an inch in thickness.

Unusual flexibility of design, however, permits the substitution of both wider and larger rollers to produce sheet widths up to 11 inches, and thicknesses in excess of one eighth of an inch with certain metal powders. The mill can be used for both hot and cold rolling.

The rolling technique is not complex. Engineers simply pour the powder between slowly turning rollers and the metallic strip emerges from a chute below. The compacted strip is then sintered, or heat-treated, in a protective atmosphere such as hydrogen or argon to cause the metal particals to bond together in a homogeneous mass. Then it is re-rolled.

Both of these steps are required to increase the metal's strength and ductility. The finished product is made resistant to extreme heat, and corrosion — all important in rocket and missile operations.

Weighing approximately 25,000 lbs., and costing $35,000 the new mill is the largest commercial unit built in the U.S. for powder metallurgy purposes.

The mills are already being used by such organizations as E. I. du Pont Engineering Laboratories, P. R. Mallory Metallurgical Laboratory, Sylvania, Bayside Inghouse Commercial Atomic Powinghouse Commercial Atofic Power Activity. The Martin Company Nuclear Division, The U.S. Naval Ordinance Laboratory and the University of British Columbia.

The unit was engineered to reduce strip to ultra-thin gauges. For instance, by using three-quarter inch diameter solid tungsten carbide work rolls and proper tension equipment the mill can produce strip as thin as 0.0005 of an inch equivalent to one-sixth the thickness of a human hair!

Several variables such as roller diameter, roller gap and roller speed determine strip qualities. Only a small amount of trial-and-error experimentation is required to achieve strip formation of a given metal powder sample.

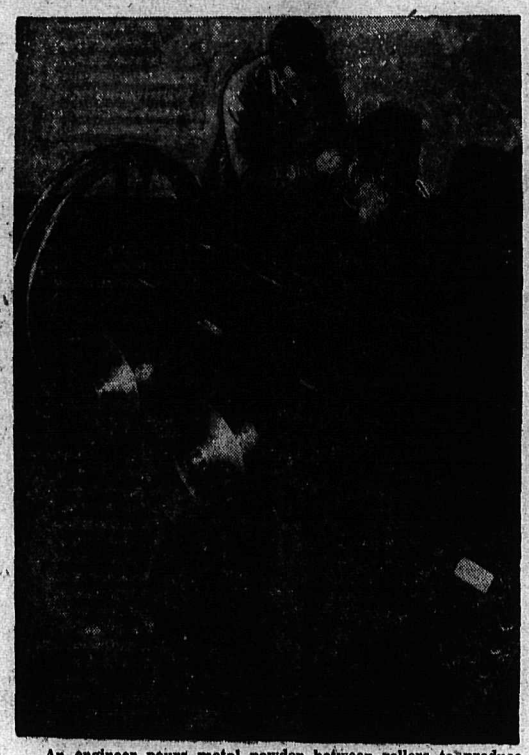
Different methods of introducing material to the rollers may be employed by various hoppering techniques aided by vibrators for uniform feed rate. Initial experimental feeding, however, may be done manually, with hoppering for high production.

Laminations may be produced by directing streams of dissimilar powder into the roller gap. Also, powder may be compacted between strips of wrought metal to form a "sandwich" as is sometimes done in the manufacture of certain types of nuclear fuel elements.

Roller adjustment is controlled by a dual handwheel worm gear screwdown with two micrometer dials graduated in 0.001 of an inch, each hand hand-wheeled revolution being equivalent to a screw movement of 0.01 of an inch. A heavy welded steel base supports the mill, pinion stand, motor and motor drive with switches conveniently located to give the operator complete control.

The machine is powered by a 25 horsepower continuously variable speed drive which is equipped with an electro-magnetic brake for instantaneous stopping. Numerous other safety features include guarding all moving parts. The drive is geared to operate from near zero to 25 feet per minute.

Filling a specific need in the stepped-up engineering program, the new machine joins the work pattern of hundreds of separate operations, large and small all aimed at one objective — conquering outer space.



An engineer pours metal powder between rollers to produce a continuous, solid strip of metal. Technique is used for fabrication of new alloys for rockets and ballistic missiles.

STAMP CORNER

By JAMES MONTAGNES

The death of Pope Pius XII and the election of a new pope will bring new postal issues from Vatican City, a popular country with many collectors. Stamps of Vatican City are in demand, and the special significance of these new issues will create even more interest in the stamps.

Stamps have been issued by Vatican City since August, 1929. Prior to that stamps were issued by the Roman Papal states from 1852 to 1870, and then stamps of Italy were used until 1929. The early stamps featured the papal coat of arms and are printed on various colored papers. Some of these stamps are quite valuable today.

In 1929, the Vatican and Italy signed a treaty establishing temporal powers for the Pope, and Vatican City was recognized as an acres in the city of Rome. Stamps for the new state were printed in Rome.

Vatican City's stamps have been colorful and have featured religious topics. First pope to be portrayed was Pius XI, who was pope at the time. In 1933 first commemorative stamps appeared for Holy Year. Another issue appeared that year depicting scenes in Vatican City.

A conference of the International Catholic Press in 1936 was the reason for a special set. Two years later first air mail stamps appeared and a commemorative set for an International Christian Archaeological Congress. The death of Pope Pius XI that year was marked with an overprint on the first issue.

Coronation of Pope Pius XII was featured on a set of stamps issued in 1939, and first philatelic portrait of the new pope.

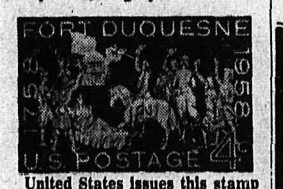
Stamps for a prisoner of war fund appeared each year from 1942 to '45. The 25th anniversary of the consecration of Pius XII as an archbishop was marked with a stamp set in 1943. Postage due stamps appeared in 1945 similar in design to stamps of the early Roman Papal states.

There have been numerous commemorative stamps since 1945, quite a few with portraits of Pius XII. These sets have included numerous views of Vatican City, portraits of various popes and saints and of religious historical events. Among the most recent sets to appear was one earlier this year for the centenary of Lourdes, France, a religious shrine.

New issues . . . Ghana issued stamps for United Nations Day, a set of three values showing black and white hands clasped under the seal of the UN. The centenary of the stamps of the kingdom of Naples this year has brought a special issue from Italy to mark this anniversary. Netherlands Antilles has issued a new pictorial set. Chile has issued a stamp for the 200th anniversary of Fort Duquesne, now Pittsburgh, on Nov. 25, with first day of issue of the stamp being at Pittsburgh. . . . Christmas Island is a new philatelic area, with its first stamps issued on October 15. Australian stamps featuring Queen Elizabeth II have been overprinted with the name of the Indian Ocean atomic testing island, and will be in use for about 18 months when pictorial stamps of Christmas Island will appear. Holland will have its annual child welfare set on Nov. 17, showing children at play.

Recent new stamps include (top, left to right) from Japan showing a doctor's stethoscope for an international medical congress; from Romania a stamp to naturalist-explorer E. Racovita, who was born 100 years ago, and (lower, left to right) from Spanish Sahara featuring literary figure Don Quixote; from Afghanistan a commemorative stamp for a national holiday, and from Philippines a portrait stamp to President Carlos Garcia.

First stamps for Christmas Island in the Indian Ocean appeared on Oct. 15.



United States issues this stamp at Pittsburgh on Nov. 25 to mark the 200th anniversary of the founding of this city as Fort Duquesne.

PLAIN TALK FROM PEEBLES

SAFETY IS SIMPLY GOOD SENSE!

Last week, I drove into Cranbrook to do a bit of business. One thing led to another until it was well on to five o'clock before I started for home. You know what traffic is like that time of day. In less than two miles, the same car cut in ahead of me four times. Once I had to hit the brakes it was so close. Finally, I thought I was clear of the dipsy doodler . . . but when I was out on the highway, there he was at the side of the road. No one hurt, but he had messed up the front of his own car and the back of a brand new Plymouth.

You know, cutting-in without giving yourself enough room can be mighty dangerous. Few people who weave in and out really save more than a second or two and they run a whale of a risk of an accident. Accidents are expensive and one accident can waste more time than you can save in years of weaving.

Attempting to beat the flow of traffic is not only dangerous, but can be unprofitable . . . and some doctors claim it can be the cause of such troubles as ulcers.

It pays to pay attention to safety rules when you drive . . . and when it comes to buying a good used car, the first safety rule is to deal with a good reputable dealer; drop in and see us. For a good deal and honest motoring value, you can't beat PEEBLES MOTORS. Here are a few real buys:

'54 PLYMOUTH

KELOWNA PACKERS OFF TO SERIES IN EUROPE

MONTREAL (CP) — Kelowna Packers, still without reinforcements, left by air Friday night for a series of exhibition hockey games in Stockholm and Moscow.

The reinforcement issue began to blow up before the team left Vancouver Thursday, coach Jack O'Reilly sounding off against the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association for what he termed lack of assistance.

In Montreal Friday CAHA President Bob LeBel disclaimed any responsibility for the amateur hockey-governing body in digging up additional talent.

PRIVATE HUDDLE

O'Reilly and LeBel had a long private huddle, in the wake of O'Reilly's blast from Vancouver. O'Reilly didn't like the CAHA's action in preventing the Packers from getting offered players now in the pro Western Hockey League. He was also somewhat burned up that clearance wasn't obtained for centre Bob Hassard, now under suspension by Buffalo of the pro American Hockey League.

LeBel said the CAHA has no power to force anybody to play hockey, that it can't make a deal, that it never said it would give the team additional players and that it "promised nothing except to try to help as far as we could."

"Furthermore, I don't think it's good policy for O'Reillv or other Packers' officials to talk as they did. They're certainly not helping the spirit of the team. They're as much as telling their players that some of them wouldn't be making the trip if other players could be obtained to replace them.

AN ALIBI ?

"O'Reilly has a good team. Is he trying to alibi now in case his team is defeated?

"Anyway, the last thing he told me was: 'I'm glad to see fellows like you fighting in behalf of hockey. In the West it's about dead. I think at the next meeting with the pros the CAHA should put up a fight to get more help when we have a team representing Canada and impress on the pros that the amateur teams want co-operation.'"

"We didn't ask Kelowna to represent Canada," said LeBel. "Kelowna applied to the CAHA to be named representative. We granted the request. The Packers said they had made financial arrangements and had facilities for improving the team. "We, of course, pay the travelling expenses."

LeBel said the Packers last August submitted to the CAHA the names of 17 prospective reinforcements.

"They said they could get in contact with these players themselves. We let them go ahead. Now we're being blamed for not supplying players. We have no authority to make anybody play.

CAN'T APPROVE PROS

"As an amateur body we certainly couldn't approve the Packers taking players from the Western Hockey League. Pros who have been reinstated as amateurs are, of course, eligible to play.

"The Hassard situation wasn't our making but we tried to get it straightened out. He was suspended by Buffalo and we tried to get the suspension lifted, with reinstatement as an amateur to follow.

WANTS TO HELP

LeBel stressed that the CAHA wants to help so far as it can when a team represents the CAHA or Canada.

"Everybody is always telling us to send the strongest team. But when the time comes to try to get some help there's no co-operation. No other team wants to let any players go for the period of time they would be away."

The Packers play four games in Stockholm Nov. 9, 11, 12 and go to Moscow for games Nov. 16, 18, 19, 21 and 23. They return to Canada by Nov. 25 to resume their Okanagan Senior Hockey League schedule.

He's a Snob . . .

LAUREL, Md. (AP) — Ballymoss, the Irish sensation in next Tuesday's International race, is a horse snob.

Vincient O'Brien, his trainer was asked whether he used work horses to lead Ballymoss on or off the track.

"No, he shies away from them," O'Brien said. "He won't have anything to do with less than a thoroughbred."

Nelson Teams Lose One, Tie One in Creston

Creston girls and boys teams played host to both Nelson high school teams and managed to come up with one win, and a tie, Friday night.

The first game saw the girls battle away to a 25-25 tie in a much improved game than the last one seen in Nelson.

Half time score was Creston 12, Bomberettes 10.

Top scorers of the night, Sharon Purcello, Glenda Yates, Nancy Borch, all of the Bomberettes and Pat O'Neil, Della Bourden and Paulie Miller, with six, four, four, six, four and four points respectively.

In the boys' game the Bombers bowed to the Creston team 65-52.

Although his team lost, Bernie Monteleone stole the show by potting 20 points through the basket. His nearest rival was Ed Meffenchuck, who scored 15.

At half time, the score was Creston 38, Bombers 29, and no matter how they tried, the losers couldn't close this gap.

Business Girls Curling Starts

Draws are as follows:

Lane, Godih Bout a Dull One

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP)—Kenny Lane, the No. 1 lightweight contender, won a split decision from Lahouari Godih of France and Algeria in a 10-round match Friday night. Lane weighed 141½, Godih 139½.

It was a dull bout, marred by frequent clinches in which referee Joe Palmer had more work than a wrestling official. Only in the final seconds of the 10th round when Lane drove Godih into a neutral corner was there any semblance of a sustained attack.

Lane, a 26-year-old southpaw who lost a title match with Joe Brown in Houston last July, scored the cleaner punches. Time after time he locked up Godih when the former French champion tried to fight inside.

COULDN'T BREAK THROUGH

"Punch inside," came the repeated calls from Godih's corner. The rangy boxer did his best but couldn't break through Lane's defence.

Referee Palmer had Lane a lopsided 7-3 winner and judge Harold McGrath also scored it for the lefty from Muskegon, Mich., 5-4-2.

Judge Dick Albino had Godih out front 6-4. The AP card had Lane ahead 5-4-1.

Only a handful of fans; unofficially estimated at 1000, paid $1750 to watch the televised contest. They booed the decision and complained about the lack of solid punching.

In a four-round preliminary bout, Mickey Driscoll of Toronto, weighing 135½, stopped Fran Labarre, 134, of Syracuse in 2:38 of the second round.

Campanella Goes Home

NEW YORK (AP) — Roy Campanella passed a new milestone Friday.

The paralyzed Dodger catcher went home to live with his family in Glen Cove where he will begin a new phase in his medical and physical treatments.

Campy, 36, had been undergoing treatments at New York University's Institute of Physical Medicine and Rehabilitation since May 5. He suffered a broken neck in an auto accident last January.

He will visit the institute three days a week for necessary therapy.

Dr. Edward Lowman, clinical director who has served as Campanella's personal physician since he entered the institute, said further improvements in Campanella's condition "is still to be expected, particularly with regard to the strengthening of his arms and use of his fingers."

"I feel very good mentally and physically," said Campy as he left the institute. "I'm not going to lose what I've gained and I plan to work as hard as ever on my rehabilitation program."

Cricket Match Ends in Draw

POONA, India (Reuters)—The West Indies failed by 28 runs to beat the Services XI here Friday and the opening cricket match of the tour of India ended in a draw.

Final scores were: Services XI —170 and 207 for four declared (Sen Gupta 100 not out).

West Indies—309 for nine declared (B. Butcher 95 not out) and 42 for no wicket.

LONDON (AP) —Kitione Lave, the Tonga Island heavyweight, Fridaynight lost his appeal against a six-month suspension for proposing to appear in a barefist fight to the finish. Such fights are banned in Britain.

Lave explained at the earlier hearing he agreed to meet showfan Joss Burton in the Bare-knuckle brawl because he was short of legitimate ring work at the time. The fight was cancelled when the police intervened.

Gimmicks May Figure In Big-Four Windup

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

A couple of coaching gimmicks may play a part in today's windup of the Big Four Football Union's regular season.

Hamilton's Jim Trimble has taken to writing letters to his players and Frank Clair of Ottawa intends to glue one ear to the broadcast of the Toronto-Montreal clash as he sends his team against the Ticats.

While the coaches keep watch on their players, the statisticians will be tieing up the loose ends in their record books.

The Ticats wrapped up first place some weeks ago and the semi-final combatants have already been settled. But the outcome of today's contests will decide home field for the semi-final, see who becomes the league's leading scorer and allow the coaches to prepare for the playoffs.

FIGHT FOR SECOND

Montreal is host to Toronto Argonauts and a win will give them undisputed possession of second place and the home ground for their sudden - death semi - final Wednesday against Ottawa.

The Rough Riders, a point behind Montreal, visit Hamilton where a win, combined with an Alouette loss, will give them second spot and the home semi-final game.

That's something Clair will be hoping for — if statistics mean anything. The Rough Riders have lost 11 straight to Alouettes in Montreal. Their last victory there was Oct. 30, 1953.

Clair will try a bit of telegraphy in the Hamilton game. He plans to keep posted on the other contest and if Alouettes are winning he'll go easy with his first stringers, especially linebacker Bill Sowalski who has a shaky left knee.

But if the Argos have the upper hand thus giving the Rough Riders a chance to clinch second place, Clair will throw the works against the Tabbies.

FORMAL NOTICE

Trimble's gimmick is the pen. He has written a letter to each of his players saying the club's fortunes have reached "an alarming state" and telling them to get cracking.

The Ticats have suffered two defeats in a row, their second and third in 13 games. Trimble attributes the losses to a complacency which followed Hamilton's bye into the league finals.

Montreal's Doug Walker is also not satisfied with his team's attitude. He said he hasn't been happy with this week's practices and that there has been a lack of enthusiasm and pep in the workouts.

On the Point

"That spells change!" Coach Dorohoy of the Nelson Maple Leafs was speaking, and he was referring to the three-game losing streak into which his team had plunged. "I'm on my way to Vancouver to pick up my family and the change in line-up we need to go after first place in the league," he added.

"With my own re-instatement due to arrive any moment, and the defensive strength I intend to secure, I think we can look forward to getting back on the winning trail when we resume play next week against Trail."

It was a determined gentleman who took off for Vancouver with those remarks, and we would venture the guess that he'll return with the hockey medicine the Leafs sorely require.

* * *

Dorohoy had hoped that the defensive weakness in his squad could be corrected. However, the last trio of games have forced him to abandon that hope and go scouting for the material he must have to round out the team's potential power.

"Five goals," he observed, "should just about win any good hockey game. On Saturday we managed five, only to pick up eight against us. Offensively we have the makings, but defensively we're going to require more strength. Our attack will improve, too, when it's backed up with a dependable defensive corps. We've got to stop the other guy's plays at the blueline, and get that puck on its way in the other direction pronto! I can't figure where the lads learned to play it inside their own blueline when a quick forward pass would set up a dangerous attack. That's what we've got to have, and that's what I intend to get!"

* * *

Maybe Dorohoy didn't realize it, but he was voicing exactly what many a fan has expressed for some time. The difference is that the fans can only grumble, the coach can and is doing something about it. The Leafs have tremendous potentials in their speed, drive and powerful shooting, but these are more than nullified at the moment by their inability to disrupt rival plays before they reach the crease, and their perplexing tardiness in exploiting possession of the puck.

Stopping and starting plays is primarily the responsibility of thinking defensive players. At this point the coach is most emphatic. When he achieves this desired end, we can all look forward to watching the explosive power of the new Leafs really hitting with an impact.

* * *

Next week the team does battle against Trail in their own backyard on Thursday evening, returning for the next home game in Nelson a week this evening. By that time the situation should be considerably altered if Dorohoy's plans materialize. Fortunately the team's weakness has shown up early, providing ample time to correct it without jeopardizing future hopes.

Everyone is expecting to hear within a few days of the changes the coach has managed to engineer. Meanwhile, there is cause for optimism. The new coach has shown himself quite able to detect what is needed and to go after it. He has the full support of the executive in his efforts. That is a combination of endeavors that is bound to spell hockey success in any league.

Boros Takes Lead At Golf Open

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Julius Boros, playing a steady 70, moved to the head of the field with a six-under-par 210 at the three-quarter mark of the $25,000 Atlanta Open golf tournament Friday.

The 1952 U.S. Open champion eased into the lead on a card that showed a consistent 35-35 over the par 72 Cherokee Country Club course.

Two strokes back, in a tie for second place with 212 after 54 holes were Ernie Vossler, Bill Casper and Bob Watson.

The swarthy Boros took top spot as the mid-point leader, Billy Maxwell tumbled to a 77 and a 213 for a third-place tie with National Open champion Bolt and Bill Collins.

Al Balding of Toronto, now the only Canadian in the tournament, carded a 73-78-74—225. Jerry Magee of Toronto was eliminated after Thursday's play when he ran up a 154, two over the elimination mark.

Retirement for Gallant Man

NEW YORK (AP) — Gallant Man, the horse that didn't win the Kentucky Derby last year because his confused jockey misjudged the finish line, was retired to stud Friday.

Willie Shoemaker was in the saddle that day and stood up in the stirrups some 200 yards from the finish and the Calumet Farm's Iron Liege swept to victory.

Since then Gallant Man established the American record for 1½ miles by taking the 1957 Belmont Stakes in two minutes 26 3-5 seconds and developed into an outstanding handicap horse. He won the Hollywood Gold Cup and the Sunset Handicap on successive Saturdays. During his career, Gallant Man won $510,255.

Canada Wins Second Event at Horse Show

NEW YORK (AP) — Canada won its second international event in the National Horse Show Friday when Tom Gayford of Toronto rode his two mounts to faultless performances in the low score competition.

Gayford, 28, a handsome floor trader on the Toronto Stock Exchange, took Beau Blue and Blue Beau over the 11 barriers without dumping one. He was remarkably consistent, clocking 57.7 with his first entry and 57.4 with his second.

It was Gayford who recorded Canada's other victory Thursday.

The Americans have three victories and the West Germans one. Gayford took over as leading rider of the show on a point basis with 30.
