Ottawa To Pay 50 Per Cent Winter Employment Costs

Municipalities to Have Financial Aid in Work Alleviating Unemployment

REGINA (CP)—Prime Minister Diefenbaker chose the opening of a Progressive Conservative convention here Monday to announce a federal offer to help solve the winter unemployment problem.

The Dominion government is ready to share costs of special winter work in the municipalities of any province where the provincial government approves, Mr. Diefenbaker said.

Subject to talks with the provinces, Ottawa proposes to pay 50 per cent of payroll costs incurred by municipalities from December to April for work that would not normally be done this winter.

Covered in the offer are street and sidewalk construction, roads other than arterial roads, water and storm sewers, and municipal parks. Major construction jobs may also qualify. But to be eligible projects must be approved by provincial governments so that provincial jurisdiction over municipal matters will be maintained.

TO CHOOSE LEADER

The prime minister's announcement came at the end of an hour-long speech to more than 1000 Conservatives attending the two-day meeting to choose a provincial leader. Saskatchewan has not had a Conservative government since 1934 and no Conservative has sat in the Legislature here since 1956.

On the eve of his departure on a world tour, Mr. Diefenbaker said his visits to different parts of Canada and the rest of the world are designed to keep him in touch with the problems of the people.

With the work of men and women across the country, the Conservatives would achieve one policy for the nation, despite opposition criticism, he said.

"They criticize, we act; they ridicule, we carry out our promises." Farmers had complained of the cost-price spread and a royal commission had been set up.

"And don't bet me they won't bring in a report in accordance with the evidence," Mr. Diefenbaker said.

Mr. Diefenbaker left immediately for Ottawa where he was to attend a cabinet meeting Monday night.

Provincial premiers generally welcomed Prime Minister Diefenbaker's announcement of a renewed unemployment program this winter, but some suggested broadening of the program's provisions and lengthening of the time involved.

Conservative Premier Duff Roblin of Manitoba said his government is delighted with the plan. "It's just what the doctor ordered."

CCF Premier Douglas of Saskatchewan said it was somewhat late for municipalities to make use of the offer but he was certain many would adjust their programs. He added:

"I am hopeful that it will be possible to persuade the government of Canada to broaden this period (December to April) to cover all works undertaken as long as unemployment is present in any community."

Social Credit Premier Bennett of British Columbia sent a telegram to Mr. Diefenbaker saying his government "will co-operate fully in this regard."

"It is strongly recommended that like provisions be extended to include labor employed in the accelerated construction of hospitals and public schools."

The premier also announced resumption of a provincial program, started last year, which includes parks and access roads.

Russia Ousts Nobel Prize Winner

LONDON (Reuters) — Boris Pasternak, Soviet winner of the Nobel Prize for literature, has been expelled from the Soviet Writers Union and deprived of the title of Soviet writer, the Soviet news agency Tass reported early Monday.

BCE Decides Not to Sell

VANCOUVER (CP)—The British Columbia Electric Company has withdrawn its offer to sell its transit system to the recently organized B.C. Transit Limited.

The prospective buyers could not complete financial arrangements and negotiations collapsed, Dr. Harry L. Purdy, executive vice-president, B.C. Electric, announced Monday. The asking price was $20,000,000.

Principals in B.C. Transit are T. J. Manning, retired U.S. army air force brigadier-general, who came to Vancouver some months ago, and Ivor W. Neil, retired manager of the BCE transit system.

The sale would have involved the transit system in Greater Vancouver, New Westminster and Victoria and a BCE subsidiary, Pacific Stage Lines.

Dr. Purdy left the door open to future offers, saying:

"If the same parties or others come forward with a new offer in the future, we would review our situation and decide whether or not we wished to enter negotiations."

Ayub Takes Over In Pakistan

By ZAMAR SIDDIQI

KARACHI (AP) — President Iskander Mirza stepped aside Monday night and, as expected, Gen. Mohammed Ayub Khan emerged as Pakistan's strong man.

Mirza said he was handing over all powers to Ayub.

He quit only a few hours after a new martial law cabinet was sworn in with Ayub as premier.

Mirza and Ayub had been ruling as a two-man revolutionary government since Mirza junked the constitution and dissolved the National Assembly Oct. 7.

Ayub, the British-trained army chief, actually motivated the seizure of power. After Mirza ousted the previous government of Premier Firoz Khan Noon, reporters—in Mirza's presence—gave this account of his role in the takeover:

"We both came to the conclusion that the country was going to the fogs. I said to the president, 'Are you going to act or are you not going to act? It is your responsibility to bring about a change, and if you do not, which Heaven forbid, we shall force a change'."

Mirza had said two days after he cancelled the constitution that he had no intention of remaining as president.

Soviet 'Nyets' Tests Ban

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (CP) —The Soviet Union rejected Monday the proposal of the United States and Britain to suspend nuclear tests for one year beginning Friday.

This is the day talks are to open in Geneva on an agreement to suspend tests under a control system already worked out by East-West experts.

Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Valerian Zorin announced the rejection of the U. S. - British proposal in the 81-nation UN political committee.

Zorin declared a cessation of tests should not be made depending on whether agreement is reached in Geneva. He added that the Soviet Union was prepared "to contribute in every possible way" to the success of the negotiations.

But some Western diplomats took the view that Zorin's statement presaged failure of the conference.

ISLANDS GET LIGHT SHELLING

TAIPEI (AP) — The Chinese Reds scattered light shell fire around the Quemoy Islands Monday, then moved into another no-shooting phase of their halfway cease-fire in the Formosa Strait.

The Nationalists announced, meanwhile, that in the six-day period ending Saturday, Communist shells killed 19 off-shore island civilians, wounded 11 others and destroyed 233 homes.

Under the rules of their new cease-fire, the Reds shoot anywhere on odd-numbered days. But on even-numbered days they do not fire at Quemoy areas where supplies are landed.

Socreds to Take Stand on Racial Discrimination

VICTORIA (CP) — The B.C. Social Credit convention at Vancouver this week will be asked to amend its constitution, firmly stating opposition ot racial and religious prejudice.

Another major resolution will deal with membership. More than 110 resolutions have been filed by 42 local associations throughout the province.

Three hundred and fifty delegates and 100 women's auxiliary members are expected to the convention which opens Thursday night with a public address by Premier Bennett. The convention ends Saturday.

New Use for Hula Hoops?

TORONTO (CP) — What next for hula hoops?

The Ontario lands and forests department reported Monday an Indian has come up with a practical suggestion.

When a department plane carrying a hula hoop landed at the Marne Lake tree planting camp in the Gogama area of Northern Ontario, the Indian was asked if he could work one "of these things."

He replied the plastic hoops would make good beaver skin stretchers to replace the willow hoops now used.

Smoke Still Black on 8th Ballot

VATICAN CITY (CP) — The 51 cardinals of the Roman Catholic Church failed again Monday to elect a new pope—and announced the fact with smoke that was unmistakably black.

A little modern technology apparently came to the aid of the ancient ceremony in which black smoke from a Sistine Chapel chimney signals an inconclusive vote.

Two crates of smoke torches were carried into the conclave in the morning from a fireworks factory. The cardinals had been asked to use them by a senior Vatican official following confusion Sunday when puffs of white smoke twice touched off false reports of a successful vote.

With Monday's inconclusive results on morning and afternoon ballots, attention focussed on today's deliberations.

Many thought this might be the day of choice. They recalled pre-conclave speculation that in this wide-open election as many as a dozen ballots—three full days of voting—would be needed to produce the required 35-vote majority of two-thirds plus one for a successor to Pope Pius XII.

Monday night's deadlock was heralded by black smoke puffing from the little grey chimney attached to the Sistine Chapel. This meant the cardinals had taken eight ballots, two each forenoon and two each afternoon of the two days the conclave has been in session.

Parliament Opening To Be Televised

By KEN METHERAL
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON (CP) — The Queen opens a new session of Parliament today under the glare of television cameras and in an atmosphere crackling with over-tones of the coming general election.

Following Canada's lead, the Mother of Parliaments at Westminster is allowing the colorful ceremony to be televised for the first time. More than 20,000,000 Britons are expected to watch the spectacle, just as Canadians did when the Queen opened Parliament in Ottawa a year ago.

Some British observers believe Westminster would have been well advised to pay even closer attention ot the Canadian example. In Canada, the tradition-shattering television experiment opened the first session of a newly - elected Parliament.

In the United Kingdom, it marks the start of a session which many Britons predict will be the last before Prime Minister Macmillan leads his Conservative party into a general election.

"GOLDEN OPPORTUNITY"

The Observer suggests the television experiment gives the government "a golden opportunity" to pipe into millions of homes a speech packed with attractive policies brought forward especially as bait for voters.

But the only stipulation Labor Opposition Leader Hugh Gaitskell made was that the broadcast commentary should make the constitutional position "abundantly clear"—that the views contained in the speech are those of the government and not of the monarch.

The government may or may not have its eye on the television show window. But it does have a heavy legislative program lined up.

The speech from the throne is expected to outline plans for a new pension scheme and for increased facilities.

Chiang Should Leave Quemoy, Matsu—Pearson

By GAVIN SCOTT

MEDFORD, Mass. (CP) — Chinese Nationalists now entrenched on Quemoy and Matsu should withdraw to Formosa because defence of the offshore islands does not involve defence of principle, Canadian Opposition Leader Lester L. B. Pearson said Monday night.

The shelling on the Formosa Strait, Pearson said, constitutes a Chinese civil war which does not, in his view, beg interference from Canada.

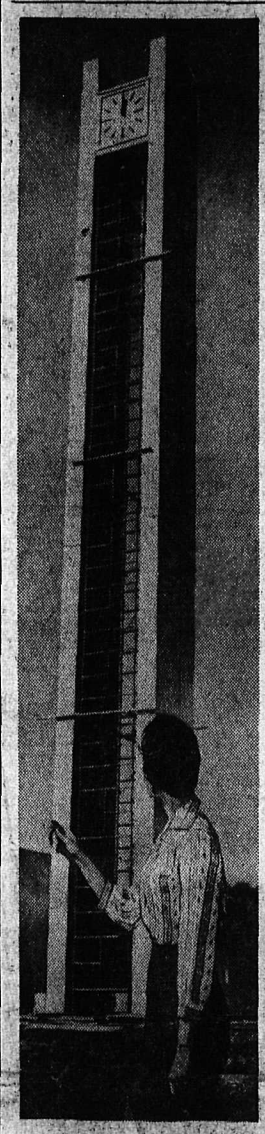
Only a "calculated transfer" of one-third of Chiang Kai-shek's forces has made defence of the islands important and it was "bad diplomacy which allowed that to happen," the Liberal party leader said.

Pearson, who last year won the Nobel Peace Prize, spoke in a lecture at the Fletcher School of Law and Diplomacy, part of Tufts University. He will take part in private seminar sessions today.

Tension in the Formosa Strait, Pearson said, may simmer down with a display of U.S. military power in the area.

"If it does, I hope that advantage was not taken, as we had the right to anticipate it would have been in 1955 — so that these islands can be made again tactically unimportant for the defence of Formosa by removing Chinese troops back to where they would be serving an important and genuine purpose."

Flick of Light Switch in Gas Filled Cellar Blamed in Blast



ETOBICOKE, Ont., has a $20,000 clock that soars 85 feet at their new municipal centre. It faces in one direction only and after two weeks of fine timing it suddenly lost accuracy and residents complained of getting to work or home too late and too early. An argument started between the builders and the clock makers as to who was going to pay for the scaffold that was to be built to repair the clock, so now they both agreed to split the costs. Councillor is jokingly comparing their clock to the Eiffel tower.

Paper Says Investigator Got Story From Injured Caretaker

OTTAWA (CP) — Fire Chief Maynard Dolman said late Monday investigation of Saturday's mid-town explosion has been concentrated on an unused gas inlet pipe in the basement of a building at the centre of the blast.

The Journal said "a flick of a light switch in a fume-filled cellar" of the building set off the explosion. It based its story on statements from an unidentified investigator said to have interviewed the critically-injured caretaker of the building.

The newspaper said 45-year-old William Anderson went into the cellar of the Addressograph-Multigraph of Canada Limited building to investigate a persistent smell of gas. The story added:

"He noticed first what he thought was water seeping into the basement. Then he noticed a small hole in the wall. The opening was plugged with rags. He ripped out the rags but in the darkness he could see little.

"He said he walked over and flicked on the light switch.

"The building blew up."

SAYS GAS PRESENT

Fire Chief Dolman told a Canadian Press reporter gas was present in the blast area—in the vicinity of Slater and Bank Streets and four blocks from Parliament Hill—after the explosion.

He said it was traced to an unused inlet pipe in the rubble-filled basement of the Addressograph premises. The pipe was uncapped he said, and the Ottawa Gas Company was asked to cap it and this was done.

However, he said it was still not determined which came first—the gas or blast.

In another development Monday, Mayor George Nelms appointed Maj.-Gen. F. F. Worthington, former federal civil defence co-ordinator, to head a five man investigating committee.

It is to look into all aspects of the explosion and report on the cause and possible safeguards against such an occurrence in future.

GAS NOT INVOLVED

Mayor Nelms made public the following telegram from O. L. Jones of Toronto, vice-president and general manager of Ottawa Gas, parent Consumers' Gas Company, to city hall here:

"In view of confusing and incomplete reports which you may have received about the recent Ottawa explosion, you are hereby officially informed that complete tests in the area of the explosion show no involvement of gas main breaks or leaks."

Residents of the capital still were marvelling over the miracle that no one was killed in the explosion. On a week-day morning the casualty toll might have been in the hundreds.

A total of 39 persons were taken to hospitals for treatment but only five were admitted, including the caretaker, Anderson. Badly burned he was the only person critically injured.

Property damage was unofficially estimated at between $2,000,000 and $5,000,000.

Moonlighting Legislation "Impractical"

VICTORIA (CP) — Any government legislation ruling against moonlighting would be an administrative "monstrosity", Labor Minister Lyle Wicks of B. C. said Monday.

He said the B. C. government would oppose the practice of one man holding two jobs when one is an eight-hour job, but he doubted any legislation would be practical.

The B. C. federation of labor convention at Vancouver last week suggested the legislation.

"Union and management should get together on this . . . labor also should look at the problem of wives who work when their husbands have full-time jobs," the minister added.

AWARD FOR FUCHS

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sir Vivian Fuchs, British explorer who led the first overland crossing of Antarctica, has been awarded the Hubbard medal of the National Geographic Society. It will be presented here Feb. 6.

TCA to Put Case Before Board

OTTAWA (CP) — Canadian Pacific Airlines got backing from the Alberta government and Pacific Western Airlines Monday in its bid for a $13,000,000-a-year transcontinental franchise.

CPA president Grant McConachie, terming the publicly-owned Trans-Canada Air Lines' domestic operation "very inefficient" closed out his company's evidence—aimed at cracking TCA's long monopoly — before the air transport board.

The public company, which has been fighting the CPA application stiffly, will begin putting in its own evidence Wednesday. The board recessed until then.

Two Bodies Brought Up From 13,000-Foot Level

By IAN DONALDSON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

SPRINGHILL, N.S. (CP)—Rescue crews Monday night recovered the first bodies of miners trapped at the mystery-shrouded 13,000-foot level of the Cumberland No. 2 colliery here.

Fifty to 55 of 73 missing miners were believed trapped there by the underground surge Thursday night which hurled tons of debris into the coal mine passageways.

Twenty bodies have been recovered and identified. Eighty-one miners have been rescued, including 15 injured.

Meanwhile, sweating crews of kneeling miners continued their inch-by-inch tunnelling through the boulders and smashed timbers hiding the fate of the 50 to 55 men 13,000 feet from the pithead. Dosco officials held only a remote hope that any of these men would be alive. They are listed as presumed dead.

LUCK RAN OUT

One of the two bodies brought up from the level was identified as that of Charlie Burton, 44-year-old overman and the first of 88 to emerge alive from adjoining No. 4 mine after a 1956 explosion that killed 39. The other body was that of Carl Mooring.

Dosco coal chief Harold Gordon told a press conference pockets of killing gas had been cleared and tunnelling crews were making good headway.

Mr. Gordon told a press conference rescuers were advancing rapidly now that deadly gas pockets had been cleared. He immediately re-entered the mine to take over direction of operations deep underground.

ENTOMBED 4 DAYS

Mr. Gordon said he has all but given up hope that anybody will be found alive, but there was always a slight chance someone might have survived. The men have been entombed four days.

He also disclosed that a minor "bump" occurred last Thursday three-quarters of an hour before the biggest underground cave-in in Nova Scotia mining history trapped 174 men.

22 DIE IN U.S.

BISHOP, Va. (AP)—Twenty-two coal miners died Monday in an explosion in the Pocahontas Fuel Company's Bishop mine where 37 men met a similar fate early in 1957.

First word that all 22 men trapped by the Monday morning blast were dead came by telephone from Crawford Wilson, chief of the West Virginia bureau of mines, who descended into the mine with rescue workers.

The accident came five days after 93 men were trapped underground in a coal mine at Springhill, N.S.

Wilson said the bodies had been found. Death, he added, was caused by a gas explosion, but he did not say whether the men had survived the explosion and died later of fumes.

Macklin Raps Defence Policy

OTTAWA (CP) — Maj.-Gen. W. H. S. Macklin, former adjutant-general of the Canadian Army, delivered his sharpest attack yet on Canada's defence policy Monday night.

He chose as his forum the Ottawa district Young Progressive Conservative Association.

Gen. Macklin said that in the realm of defence Canada is heading "deeper and deeper every day into the status of a satellite, or colony" of the United States.

He said the RCAF as now organized and equipped has "absolutely no military value or significance whatever when considered by itself as a purely Canadian force".

"The RCAF now is a defensive tactical handmaiden of the U.S. strategic air force, and it is nothing more . . . it is, in effect, a colonial military instrument serving the nuclear strategy of the U.S."

TV Program To Assist Springhill Considered

By The Canadian Press

Money is pouring in from across Canada to aid the grief-stricken community of Springhill, N.S.

Thousands of dollars have already been collected from individuals, firms and organizations but plans for a spectacular television program that would raise a hoped-for $1,000,000 in a single night remain indefinite.

To co-ordinate the varied fund-raising projects, K. M. Sedgewick of Montreal, general manager of the Royal Bank of Canada, has been appointed national chairman of the Springhill Disaster Relief Fund, established by Premier Stanfield of Nova Scotia as a continuation of the fund for families of 39 miners killed in a 1956 Springhill mine explosion.

A Toronto group headed by A. G. Sampson, a native of L'Ardoise, N.S., announced it planned to organize a TV program — perhaps Sunday night — with the aim of raising $1,000,000.

But a CBC official said Monday there is "nothing yet definite". He added, however, the CBC "is more than happy to promote any such program".

AID POURS IN

Donations to the fund are coming in from scores of cities. Toronto intends to give $25,000; London, Ont., has sent $3000. The United Mine Workers of America has contributed $10,000 and the United Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers $1000. The United Church of Canada will send $7500.

The Canadian Quo Vadis Foundation reported Monday that more than $18,000 has been collected and "the phones just keep ringing". Most donations have been of the $5 and $10 variety but some firms have pledged up to $500 and one has pledged up to $7000.

In Winnipeg Premier Duff Roblin announced in the legislature that Manitoba plans to contribute $10,000. He planned to bring forward a measure providing for the grant.

In Britain, the London Daily Express has suggested the British government give assistance in return for Canadian support in two world wars.

DONCASTER, Eng. (Reuters)—A campaign for girl jockeys on English racetracks has been launched in this horse-racing centre.

Albert Cammidge, chairman of the Doncaster race committee, is behind the move.

"I don't see this as a part of racing yet but as a novelty," he said. "I think it would add interest, possibly as an extra race on a day's program."

BAYREUTH, Germany (AP)—A jazz club is operating in the basement of Haus Wahnfried, opera composer Richard Wagner's famed villa. The jivesters are the guests of Winifred Wagner, the composer's daughter-in-law.

The teen-age jazz club had been meeting once a week on a large balcony across from the Wagner villa.

Mrs. Wagner welcomed the club to her sound-proofed cellar. "That's better than jazz on a balcony near her bedroom window, she explained.

BERLIN (Reuters)—East German whisky is no rival to Scotch, according to an article in Democratic German Report, a pro-Communist newsletter edited by Britons in East Berlin.

The article said a Communist liquor factory was promising to market its own whisky.

"I should like to be able to tell you that socialist whisky beats the old capitalist sort all along the line, but I regret to have to tell you that the distillers of Scotland have nothing to worry about. It was undoubtedly the worst whisky I have ever drunk in my life," the writer said.

Annual Clinic Proposed By Red Cross

Nelson branch of the Canadian Red Cross has decided to ask that only one blood donor clinic a year be held here.

At a meeting at the Chamber of Commerce rooms Monday night, it was decided to see if a once-a-year visit from the mobile blood clinic could be arranged.

More blood donors would be required, however, it was stated, with from 700 to 800 the aim. Next drive is expected to be in June.

Scrolls were given to two Nelson donors in recognition of their 20 donations of blood to the Red Cross. Leigh M. McBride, president of the Nelson branch, presented the scrolls and gold pins to Allyn A. Taylor, 207 High Street, and Mrs. J. C. Eckmier, 1112 Front Street. Mr. Taylor is manager of the Hudson's Bay Company store.

Four Killed In Idaho Crash

POCATELLO, Idaho (AP) — A small foreign car sheared beneath an oncoming truck Monday night and burst into flames. Its occupants — a woman and three small children — were burned beyond recognition.

The victims were identified later as the family of James Pendlebury, a local radio announcer and part-time foreign car salesman.

Sobbing, the father identified them as his wife Martha, 23; sons Davis James 2, and Stephen Glen, 6 months; and daughter Cynthia Lynn, 4. He said they were returning from Blackfoot, Idaho, where his wife had attended the funeral of an aunt.

BCE Seeks Road Tax Exemption

VANCOUVER (CP) — The B.C. Electric Monday asked exemption from provincial road taxes on its urban bus services in the lower mainland and Vancouver Island.

The request was put to a royal commission on road-user charges headed by Henry Forbes Angus, public utilities commission chairman. The commission has opened its second series of Vancouver hearings.

In a seven-page brief read by Sigurdur Sigmundson, general transportation manager, the company said more than 93 per cent of its mileage is in municipalities upon roads for which the responsibility for construction and maintenance rests with the municipality and not the provincial government.

Gasoline and diesel fuel taxes paid by the company with "the largest (348) fleet of motor busses in B.C. in urban service" totalled $240,000 in 1957, Mr. Sigmundson said.

He said compared to operators of similar vehicles, operators of urban buses bear heavier fuel taxes because of the abnormally high fuel consumption in urban traffic. The best interests of the community, "economically and socially," are served by encouraging use of the public transport system, and for this purpose removal of "inequitable taxes" is essential.

Firemen Plan Classes For Baby Sitters

Nelson fire department proposes to hold baby sitter classes, if local Parent-Teacher Associations give their support.

Fire Chief Elwin Owens has suggested four or five classes this fall dealing with general problems, infant and child care, fire safety, and entertaining children, with lectures by the police and fire departments, public health and medical speakers, and kindergarten teachers.

Certificates would be awarded to those successfully completing the course.

Canon Silverwood Marks 35 Years in Church Service

His 35th year as a priest in the Anglican Church will be marked by Rev. Canon W. J. Silverwood today, St. Simon's and St. Jude's Day.

Actually, the rector of Church of the Redeemer, Fairview, has been 36 years in the ministry, 35 of them as a priest and one year as a deacon. He has spent 26 years in charge of the parish of the Redeemer where he succeeded Rev. Wilfred Crick.

He has been appointed rural dean of West Kootenay three times by the bishop and clergy of the Diocese of Kootenay.

Intensely interested in social problems, and often outspoken advocate of reform measures, he is chairman of the local juvenile court committee, a member of the board of directors of the B. C. Youth Council, and diocesan representative on the board of social service for the general Synod of the Anglican Church of Canada.

Canon Silverwood is also editor of The High-Way, official quarterly publication of the Diocese of Kootenay.

Bower Airs Views on Watson

NEW YORK (AP) — Goalie Johnny Bower of Toronto Maple Leafs threw a verbal bodycheck at Phil Watson Monday. He claimed the coach of the New York Rangers "lost his temper and did not give me a real chance to remain in the National Hockey League".

"You know the way Watson flares up," said Bower. "Well, in training camp three years ago he gets after me.

"And do you know what his chief complaint is? He asks why I look behind me when a goal is scored. Where else am I going to look when one goes in the nets? I thought I was as good as Gump Worsley but they keep Gump and I'm sent down to the minors."

Bower is getting his second chance in the NHL. He was the outstanding netminder in the American League with Cleveland last season and was drafted by Toronto last summer.

Bower, 33 ("that's my hockey age"), joined the Rangers in 1953 after eight seasons in the AHL. He turned in a fine campaign in his rookie big league year, allowing only 182 goals in 70 games for a 2.60 average. But he was sent to Vancouver of the Western League the next season.

In 1955 he was ordered to report to the Rangers' training camp in Saskatoon. That's where he had differences with Watson.

In seven games with the Leafs this year, Bower has allowed 20 goals for a 2.86 average.

TWO MAROONS TO JOIN PACKERS

WINNIPEG (CP) — Fred Dunsmore and Ray Manson, forwards with Winnipeg Maroons senior hockey team, Monday said they have been named to play with Kelowna Packers in the British Columbia team's exhibition series in Moscow next month.

A third member of the Maroons, forward Murray Balagus, was originally approached to accompany the Packers but the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association advised him he will not be needed.

Coast Man Beaten

VANCOUVER (CP) — Two men savagely beat a Vancouver businessman in the basement of his home Monday, then escaped in the victim's car.

Harold G. Randall, middle-aged proprietor of Western Hydraulic Service, is in serious condition at Vancouver General Hospital with multiple head injuries.

The attack took place late Monday afternoon in the basement of the south end house where Mr. Randall lived alone.

Police said it had not been established that robbery was the motive, but pennies were scattered on the floor, with several bank deposit books.

Bassey Fighting For Nigeria

NEW YORK (AP)—World featherweight boxing champion Hogan (Kid) Bassey's greatest ambition is to take the crown to Nigeria when his native land gets its independence on Oct. 1, 1960.

If that gives you the impression he intends to "ice" the title until then, you've got another guess coming.

"I will fight as often as my manager (George Biddles) wants and he knows I want to fight often," the squat little fellow with the gleaming grin said Monday.

"The more and better challengers the better for us," said Biddles, who runs a pub in Leicester, England. "Hogan is a great fighter in my book and he is going to prove it to the world.

"I've made a number of verbal agreements for fights after this Friday (when Hogan fights Carmelo Costa at Madison Square Garden). But we are not making any definite commitments until after each fight. We will take them one at a time."

The champion, 26, guns for his ninth straight victory in his non-title 10-rounder with Costa.

PCL to Retain Prexy O'Connor

SPOKANE, Wash. (AP) — Directors of the Pacific Coast Baseball League voted unanimously Monday to retain Leslie O'Connor as president for 1959.

Two Weapons Used in Slaying

VICTORIA (CP) — Two different firearms were used in the slaying of Charles E. Mudge, 38, at his Metchosin home a preliminary hearing was told at its opening sitting Monday.

A 16-year-old foster son of the dead man, John Matthew Till, is charged with murder in the death.

Killed the same afternoon was John Brand, 71, Mudge's father-in-law who lived with Mr. and Mrs. Mudge.

Mrs. Phyllis Mudge, 28, was in hospital several days recovering from injuries received in a beating the day of the shootings.

It was expected the preliminary hearing would continue five or six days with some 40 witnesses and about 100 exhibits for the crown.

The hearing had been delayed to this time at the request of the crown.

Sons Turn To Ottawa

Sons of Freedom members who were recently refused any further concessions by Attorney-General Robert Bonner on their proposed migration to Russia, have decided to turn their efforts towards Ottawa.

Peter Elasoff jr. and William Podovinikoff, who visited Victoria last week, reported to the Sons' Fraternal Council on their return that the provincial government has "absolutely no power" to make responsible decisions.

As a result the council will send a delegation to Ottawa. Presumably the same pair will go.

In reporting to the council, Elasoff said that "although some disappointment was registered at the attitude of the authorities, no one was surprised as the insincerity of the government was an established fact insofar as our society was concerned."

Mr. Bonner told the delegation at Victoria that there would be no extension of their back-to-Russia "sign up" deadline unless they are officially accepted as migrants by the Soviet Union.

Jurors Told to Put Evidence Through "Wringer of Truth"

By H. L. JONES
Canadian Press Staff Writer

VANCOUVER (CP)—The assize court jury in the Sommers bribery-conspiracy case was instructed by the presiding judge Monday to take the four months of evidence in the marathon case and put it through the wringer of truth.

Mr. Justice J. O. Wilson, beginning his charge in the 71-day-old case—already the longest in B.C. criminal court history—and which revolves around former lands minister Robert Sommers, told the jury it must ascertain what are the facts.

He suggested the panel of nine men and three women put the four months evidence "through the wringer which should extract that which is not the truth.

"It is only what you think are the facts," he said, "that will govern your decision."

The 60-year-old justice began wrapping up the case by instructing the jury on the law with respect to the burden of proof, reasonable doubt and circumstantial evidence, which, he said, in most cases is the governing factor in conspiracy.

The jury will be asked first for a verdict on the main conspiracy charge against Sommers, three timber executives and four companies. Later they will be asked for verdicts on a group of charges involving the alleged donors of bribes and finally on the group of charges involving Somers as the alleged recipient of the bribes.

The crown charges that thousands of dollars changed hands for Sommers' favor in getting government timber licences issued for certain firms. The lucrative licences permit the holders to cut timber on crown land.

The judge warned the jury again not to talk over the case with anyone. He said "we are now right at the heart of the matter and I'm sure you don't want anything to happen that could result in a mistrial."

He told the jurors too that in the course of his address—which he indicated he would complete Wednesday — he might express opinions on the evidence. But it was not what he thought about the evidence but what the jurors thought about the evidence that should govern their opinion.

The judge began his charge on the conspiracy count after special prosecutor Victor Dryer wound up a five-day address to the jury. He covered all the major points in the case which began May 1 and hit back at defence questioning of the credibility of chief crown witness Charles Eversfield.

The prosecutor said there was too much documentary evidence to back Eversfield's story of a bribery conspiracy for the testimony of that witness not to be true. The crown mainly bases its case on documents Eversfield took from the files of Pacific Coast Services Limited when he left his bookkeeper's job there in March, 1955.

Sommers resigned his portfolio in 1956 after the case had been laid before Attorney-General Bonner and the first charges followed in 1957. But Sommers is still Social Credit MLA for Rossland-Trail.

Charged with him are Pacific president H. W. Gray, his brother John Gray, Charles D. Schultz, the C. D. Schultz Company Limited, Evergreen Lumber Sales, B.C. Forest Products Limited and the Pacific firm.

The crown charges that B.C. Forest alone paid $30,000 for a timber licence which it was granted in 1955.

Prosecutor Dryer recalled that the defence had accused Eversfield of attempting to blackmail the Pacific firm and the Gray's for $10,000 or a life partnership to keep quiet about the documents.

But he asked the jury to consider "If the blackmail story was true then why didn't they go to the police?

"Perhaps it was their own guilty consciences that led to the remark about blackmail," the prosecutor suggested. "By that I mean there was room for blackmail."

He told the jury it was not there to try Eversfield for blackmail. Even if Eversfield did try to blackmail Gray "it would not make the accused any less guilty. A guilty man does not become innocent because he is blackmailed."

Kaslo Groups Unite to Mark Anniversary

KASLO—The second anniversary of the formation of the Senior Citizens' Club and the gaining of full title of its clubroom property by the Women's Institute, was celebrated recently by the two organizations.

Mrs. H. Carlson, WI president, paid tribute to the foresighted women who, more than 40 years ago, started a building fund and those who worked toward the goal accomplished in the clubroom.

The appreciation of the Senior Citizens' Club for its comfortable quarters was expressed by W. Jones, president.

Mayor R. E. Green admitted he had been sceptical when the WI proposed the scheme, but was delighted it had become a reality, and that old-timers have a place to sit and rest, chat, play cards or read.

The city is proud to have been of assistance in the project, and would endeavor to help at any time, he said. Several aldermen endorsed his statements.

A program of instrumental selections, songs and recitations entertained the crowd, and a cake made by Mrs. Carlson and decorated by Mrs. E. Allen highlighted a luncheon.

CELGAR LAYS OFF 60 MILL WORKERS

CASTLEGAR—Celgar Ltd. Friday laid off about 40 men employed at its Castlegar sawmill, and another 20 at its Nakusp mill.

Seasonal conditions and the depressed lumber market were stated as reasons for the layoffs.

Most of the men engaged in the third shift were dropped at Castlegar, and the second shift at Nakusp.

"We had hoped that our third shift at Castlegar would last until the end of the year, but market conditions were against it," a company official said.

In two shifts and one part of the third shift, there are still about 150 men employed at Castlegar.

The mill curtailments will also bring "cut backs" in woods operations, it was stated. Employment reductions here will be made fairly soon.

Garner Painting Bought By Lieutenant-Governor

PROCTER—News of the sale of one of his landscapes to Lieutenant-Governor Frank MacKenzie Ross has been received by Alec J. Garner, Procter artist.

The picture, a large 22 by 30 inch oil, was painted from a site just below the ruins of the old CPR hotel at Balfour. The scene looks out across fruit trees in blossom and over the water, with hills in the background. It is called "Balfour in Springtime" and was included in the recent art show at Trail where the lieutenant-governor saw and admired it. It was chosen to be hung at Victoria in Government House.

Still More Work Done On North Shore Hall

Work on the North Shore United Church community hall went ahead by leaps and bounds Saturday.

A 14-man all-day volunteer work party laid projection and storeroom floors, partitioned half of the lower floor and finished the laying of water pipe to the building and did several lesser jobs.

D. J. Payette was in charge. A hot meal was served to the men at noon by the Ladies' Auxiliary.

More work parties will be required for installation of the recently purchased furnace.

F. H. Lowe, building committee chairman, says he is "quite satisfied" with progress.

DUKE BANS HUNTING

LONDON (Reuters)—The Duke of Edinburgh has banned hunting on the royal estate of Sandringham for the remainder of the year, newspapers reported today. The reason, according to press reports, is that wet weather has killed off thousands of young partridge and pheasants and the duke fears birds would be killed that are needed for next year's breeding.

Bluebell Maintains Steady Pace While Deep Work Being Planned

Production from the Bluebell mine of the Consolidated Mining and Smelting Company at Riondel is maintaining a steady pace, The Northern Miner reports.

Lead content of Bluebell's ore is slightly less than its zinc content.

The efficient mining and milling operation is handling about 675 tons of ore daily. The ore is a replacement type deposit lying within a gently undulating bed of limestone, with an average thickness of about 120 feet. The bed, striking north-south, has a remarkably consistent dip of 35 degrees to the west, or under Kootenay Lake. There are three separate deposits along a strike length of 5000 feet in this one bed of limestone. They appear to occur on "noses" where the bed has been gently folded. The hanging wall is a quartz-mica schist and the footwall is an argillaceous quartzite.

The three zones, from north to south along the bed, are the Comfort, Bluebell and Kootenay Chief zones. The zones have productive lengths of 200 feet, 400 feet and 800 feet, respectively. Production to date has totalled about 500,000 tons from the Bluebell and 1,300,000 tons from the Comfort and Kootenay Chief zones.

The mine is opened through six levels, at 150-foot intervals. They are at vertical depths of 75, 225, 375, 525, 675 and 825 feet. The first level, at 75 feet, is entered through an adit. The main shaft is midway between the Bluebell and Kootenay Chief deposits and is located in the footwall.

DEVELOP NEW LEVELS

There has been no volume of ore mined below the 525 level in any section of the mine. In the Comfort zone, there has been no mining below the 225 level. The bottom two levels, at 625 and 825 feet, are being opened to the south. This work has been completed on the 625-foot horizon and only for 200 feet on the 825-foot level. No development work has been completed to the north on these levels.

Development to the north on the 525-foot level is proceeding on a priority basis to carry through to open the Comfort zone. The heading is advancing at a rate of about 100 feet per month with work continuing round-the-clock, three shifts per day, and has about 400 feet remaining to reach the Comfort zone. This heading has been delayed and has only recently been recommenced. The ground encountered has been heavy, requiring close support with timber carried right to the face. In portions of it, the company has had an opportunity to experiment with other techniques, including the use of rock bolts with and without steel wire mesh. Fairly heavy flows of water have also been encountered and some of the delay in driving to the north was the result of waiting for delivery of additional pumping capacity to provide for further flows of water that might be encountered. The seams that have been penetrated have been successfully sealed off. Heavy ground has also been successfully controlled.

USE TAILINGS FILL

The Bluebell has converted to the use of hydraulic fill in the last year or so and there is an increasing tendency to use of cut and fill methods of stoping with a gradual reduction of the open stoping methods that have provided about two-thirds of recent mill feed.

An unusual feature of the Bluebell cut-and-fill stopes is the absence of floor between lifts. Since introduction of tailings fill, the company found that there is little or no dilution or ore loss, when consecutive lifts are taken without laying flooring over the fill. This not only provides an easier stoping operation to perform but also accelerates the stoping cycle as well as reducing the cost of delivering ore.

Broken ore is delivered through chutes to cars of 60 cubic feet capacity hauled by 3-ton locomotives. These cars discharge through 12-inch grizzlies located at the shaft. There is a skip loading posket at each level. Hoisting is accomplished through one compartment using a bottom-dump, 5-ton skip. The second compartment is used for service and is equipped with an 18-man cage.

PLAN DEEPER WORK

The next deepening program in the planning stage consists of putting down a small vertical winze below the 825-foot level to below the next level horizon, from which a drive is to be extended to near the water seam. Large diameter holes are to be drilled into the expected troublesome area and pumps installed on the lower level. In this manner, it is expected that water pressures may be lowered sufficiently to permit raising through to add another level through the main shaft.

Making the Best of Good Qualities

It is to be doubted if anyone will believe that the four per cent of the population who are included in the description of the current Royal Bank letter, On Being a Follower, as management can be classed as leaders, or the ninety-five per cent as followers. Certainly labor when it talks of leadership is speaking of its trade union leaders. Who are the leaders of industry is another matter.

It is perfectly true to say, as does the letter, that some of the factors which make a good follower are dependability, loyalty, enthusiasm, enterprise, tolerance and common-sense, but these are also the desirable qualities of leadership so that fundamentally there is little difference between a good leader and a good follower.

Because the leaders are so few and the followers so many it may be that among the followers there are many who would make good leaders. They may, as Gray says in his Elegy, be village Hampdens or mute inglorious Miltons, unable for force of circumstances to show their worth.

In this age of conformity and the organization man we are all followers. However, much we may desire to demonstrate our leadership we cannot help ourselves. We have to swim with the current. In course of time, if we are not aggressive, we may ourselves become the president of our organization. But we have to beware of introducing anything new or foreign to the organization and our leadership often takes the form of following a well-worn and well-known path.

When the qualities which make a good follower and a good leader are examined, it will be found that these are such as to make the individual, to use the modern jargon, a well-adjusted individual.

If his word can be relied on, if he is loyal to his friends, if he still retains his enthusiasms and liking for new things, if he views controversial topics with detachment and reduces problems to a matter of common-sense, then he is in every sense of the word well-adjusted. As such he will attain what is most difficult to achieve, the respect of everyone.

As a leader, the individual with these qualities will know where he is leading and if the end is a worthy one; as a follower he will also be able to tell if the end is a worthy one and if he should follow. It is, of course, of little value to have these good qualities if no use is made of them. Sooner or later it should be expected that both the leader and the follower should take a stand on basic principles.

Nature Provides Cure

Nature, which created Canada's wheat surplus problem, now is in the process of curing it. In a couple of years it may be but a memory—and not an unpleasant one.

It was really a series of abundant, over-average yields which caused the huge surplus, despite all the talk about markets. The surplus would have been relatively modest if there had been only average crops.

The market, of course, has fluctuated. But during the past few years wheat sales have been close to average. Indeed sales were very good in the crop-year 1957-58, when 325,000,000 bushels were sold compared to 260,000,000 the year before.

The 1957 crop of 370,500,000 bushels was below average, compared to the fine 573,000,000 bushels in 1956. This year the estimated yield is about 320,000,000. The wheat carryover on July 31 was 614,764,000 to the 729,546,000 record of the year previous.

This carryover is bound to be very appreciably reduced in the next 12 months, if the market remains firm, due to the current short crop. It could fade away quickly with a few poor crops in succession.

Already many Western growers, instead of complainnig about too much wheat stored on their farms, are worried about having too little. Indeed the fortunate ones are those who still have reserves from earlier years.

The market situation still is somewhat uncertain. The United States expects a record 1,300,000,000 bushels this year, which will add greatly to that country's surplus.

The United States has had methods of getting rid of surpluses, including a give-away program, sales for non-dollar currencies and barter deals. A measure now before Congress would continue those procedures.

If this passes Canadian wheat will meet unfair competition in some of the world's markets. If it doesn't, then our surplus should be further reduced by substantial sales abroad.

Short crops may not be the ideal way of solving the problem of surpluses but they are Nature's way.—Windsor Star.

Interpreting the News

By ED SIMON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

There is a strong temptation among Western strategists to brush off Nikita Khrushchev's offer of funds for President Nasser's Nile power project as a propaganda stunt.

The Russians have never been backward in exploiting the possibilities of improving their public relations in the Middle East. And the proposal to give Nasser a hand with his long-delayed scheme to build a high-level dam at Aswan will win widespread approval in the Arab world and elsewhere.

But the question immediately arises why it has taken Khrushchev more than two years to cash in on an obvious opportunity if he was not prepared to follow it up with action.

The dam project has mouldered on the engineers' drawing boards ever since July, 1956, when the United States, Britain and the World Bank, in rapid succession, withdrew the offer of a total of $270,000,000 toward the financing of the Aswan development scheme.

The immediate Russian reaction was a statement by Foreign Minister Dmitri Shepilov that the Soviet Union did not regard financing of the dam as an "urgent problem". Communist arms shipments to Egypt, the immediate cause of Nasser's worsening relations with the West, continued to take priority over economic assistance.

Considerable water has flown over the Aswan dam site since Shepilov's original pronouncement, and the foreign minister himself has been quietly shelved in one of Khrushchev's purges. But the Russians, while remaining friendly to Nasser, showed no haste to bail out his pet project.

Nasser, inviting the Western powers to "choke with rage", first seized the Suez Canal and announced that its revenues would pay for the dam.

The military intervention of Britain, France and Israel followed, and Nasser himself contributed to the delay by plugging the canal with sunken blockships. Months passed before the United Nations organized necessary repairs to the waterway.

Then Nasser ran into additional economic difficulties when he absorbed Syria into his new United Arab Republic. Eventually he admitted that the Aswan project would require substantial assistance from foreign capital.

Now Khrushchev has stepped in with his offer of $100,000,000 toward the first stage of its construction and a government spokesman in Washington has promptly labelled it as more of a propaganda gesture than an engineering problem.

Undoubtedly, the move rates a high mark for its propaganda value. But it is doubtful that the first American statement represents Washington's true assessment of its significance.

The West's experience with Russian development of the hydrogen bomb and the Sputnik has established one of the most unreliable aspects of Soviet pronouncements. Occasionally they mean exactly what they say.

Says Fear Rules Quebec Province

AMOS, Que. (CP)—Jean Drapeau, Montreal's fiery former mayor, says Quebec Province lives under a "regime of fear."

". . . Nearly all classes of society are touched by this collective fear that clutches Quebec under a regime which politically suppresses those who resist it, and uses parliamentary pomp to camouflage its arbitrary and dictatorial edicts," he said.

Mr. Drapeau spoke Sunday in this northwestern Quebec community in the second of four speeches to be given in scattered sections of the province this autumn.

TOUCHES MANY

Among those touched by fear: "University and college professors who—with a few exceptions—are afraid to contradict the Big Chief, to answer his false statements on education and who are afraid to destroy his improvised theories;

"Sociologists, who are afraid and hesitate to answer back when the Big Chief multiplies his solemn and backward warnings on social matters;

"Nationalistic leaders who keep quiet before the repeated treasons of the Big Chief;

"Thousands of civil servants who are constantly kept in an inferior economic state and who must, to attain a more fitting existence, take a second job."

Sask. PCs Hope To Gain Office

REGINA (CP)—Saskatchewan Progressive Conservatives met Monday to try to steer the party out of 25 years in the doldrums in provincial politics.

An overflow crowd of 1,000 persons jammed the Trianon ballroom as the party's annual two-day convention opened. Prime Minister Diefenbaker was to address the convention later.

Tuesday delegates will choose a new Saskatchewan leader. Known to be in the running are Gilbert Eamer, of Saskatoon, secretary of the Saskatchewan Teachers Federation, M. A. MacPherson Jr., Regina lawyer, and Martin Pederson, Saskatoon real estate man.

Saskatchewan has elected only two Tories to the provincial legislature since 1935 when a co-operative government, mainly Conservative, was swept out of office.

The 23 Conservatives, headed by Hon. J. T. M. Anderson, were wiped out at that time.

Last Conservative to sit in the legislature was Robert Kohaly, elected in a by election in 1953 in Souris - Estevan. His election followed the death of a Liberal member and the Liberals did not run a candidate. Mr. Kohaly was defeated in 1956.

Business Spotlight . . .

Businessman Must Grapple With Changing Conditions

By DON PEACOCK
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP) — In a free enterprise economy, the businessman must face the facts of life, however tough on him they may be. He must adapt to changing conditions.

Does that sound hard on the businessman? On him, maybe, but perfectly legitimate as long as the public benefits.

Or, in other words: What's in the public interest is not necessarily always in the interest of all businessmen.

This in effect was the message of the restrictive trade practices commission in its recent report on the wholesale cigaret and confectionery trade in the Edmonton district.

The commission made this point in some general observations about current trends in the grocery trade.

With the development of chain stores and supermarkets, constant efforts were being made to reduce distribution costs to a minimum.

PUBLIC BENEFITS

The commission added:

"When reduction in costs is made in a competitive situation of this kind, not only is the retail merchant assisted but the consuming public benefits from the lower (profit) margins which reflect the reduction in distributive costs . . .

"One of the great values of a competitive system of business enterprise is its dynamic character, which produces changes in operating methods and organization to meet new market situations."

This characteristic of the Canadian economic system was exhibited by wholesale grocers serving independent retailers in developing merchandizing systems to meet competition from chain stores and supermarkets.

The commission added;

"The impact of such competition upon the tobacco specialist trade is naturally more severe than upon the general grocery wholesaler.

"Nevertheless, if the new systems of distribution are soundly based on savings derived from more economical operations, the problem must be regarded as one of adjustment to new conditions of competition which are not against the public interest."

Laing Approves Borden Reports

VANCOUVER (CP) — Arthur Laing, B.C. Liberal party leader, said Sunday the Borden commission on energy ". . . should awaken Canadians that their natural resources are literally being stolen from them."

He said the commission did well to point out some pipeline financing was legal but not ethical. Some 70 million feet of gas used daily in B.C. pays all the profit while 200 million feet going to the United States breaks even or is sold at a loss.

Mr. Laing said the important findings were "we have enormous gas reserves and they are going to be marketed."

The proposal for a national energy commission could be a great thing, he said, if it is comprised of far-sighted men. Mr. Laing said he was hoping the Borden commission "would turn the oil pipeline to Montreal down flat."

Harold Thaver, provincial secretary of the CCF party, said the report "confirms CCF contentions that oilman Frank McMahon and his fellow exploiters reaped fabulous profits with the assistance of the Social Credit government's oil and gas policies."

600 Negro Women Continue Campaign

JOHANNESBURG (Reuters) — About 60 Negro women were arrested Monday for demonstrating against the issue of identity cards as part of the South African government's racial segregation policy.

The women travelled in six buses from an African settlement outside the city. They were met at the bus terminus by nearly 100 policemen.

Monday's arrests brought to about 1500 the total of Negro women arrested since the beginning of their campaign earlier this month against the issue of identity documents.

Alberta Gov't Backs CPA Extension Appeal

OTTAWA (CP) — The Alberta government Monday came to the aid of Canadian Pacific Airlines in its application to the air transport board for a transcontinental franchise.

In a one-sentence statement to the board, provincial counsel J.J. Frawley said:

"The Alberta government supports the application of CPA to operate various air services between Montreal and Vancouver and trusts the board will give the application favorable consideration."

One of the routes sought by CPA would link Edmonton and Toronto in a one-stop service via Regina.

As the board's hearings went into their second week, CPA President Grant McConachie of Vancouver said he is convinced that the publicly - owned Trans-Canada Air Lines can meet the competition proposed by his company.

TCA is opposing the application.

COUNSEL COMMENTS

Before Mr. McConachie took the stand, TCA counsel John G. Edison, who received a digest of the president's evidence Sunday night, described it as "full of sound and fury."

He said it consisted of 90-percent hearsay, opinion and irrelevant matter. However, he did not object to it being introduced.

President McConachie said he is "thoroughly convinced that TCA can meet competition."

"The very threat of competition with the filing of this application has caused a marked improvement in TCA's services within Canada," he said.

He cited the commencement of Edmonton-Toronto non-stop service and the newly - provided direct service between Calgary and Saskatoon.

"I am confident that TCA can adjust to competition," Mr. McConachie said. "I am confident that competition will result not only in benefit to the Canadian travelling public but to TCA management and personnel as well. . . .

"To appraise properly the situation in Canada one must realize that TCA's monopoly within Canada is the largest non-competitive pool of aviation business in the free world.

"If the Canadian transcontinental market cannot live with competition, there are few places in the world that can. In no other place in the free world does there exist a traffic pool of 1,000,000,000 air passenger miles reserved exclusively for a single carrier."

Mr. McConachie said TCA should have more confidence in its own ability to meet competition.

"In most businesses and in many aspects of personal life, people are constantly adjusting to competition and adjusting successfully," he said. "There is no reason why Trans - Canada Air Lines, merely because it is a state airline, cannot also adjust to competition.

The CPA president said his company is confident that competition in transcontinental air services in the past would have developed air transport more quickly in Canada.

"Competition would have provided a better service to the public," he said. "It would have produced innovations in route patterns and other service features that are long overdue."

Draegermen Don't Talk About Jobs

By IAN DONALDSON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

SPRINGHILL, N. S. (CP)—Draegerman Colin MacDonald walked steadily toward the entrance of the Cumberland No. 2 colliery.

From the crowd beyond a rope barrier, a woman shouted "Good luck, friend. We're counting on you."

MacDonald, captain of a five-man draegerman team from New Waterford, N.S., strode on toward the mine and his back-breaking job of clawing through fallen rock coal and timbers to reach 77 miners trapped nearly two miles from daylight.

THEY'RE KNOWN HERE

This coal - mining town knows draegermen. It knows their ability to burrow through gas and rock-filled trenches to reach the trapped. With hope now reduced to its slimmest since Thursday's thunderous bump Springhill is banking on the draeger crews.

Before he left for the mine Sunday night, MacDonald said conditions were "very rough." In places there was room for only one man. He must use a short-handled shovel or break long-handles in two. Debris is passed back man - to - man in a long bucket brigade.

MacDonald's team—Cecil Wilson, Rod Fraser, Allan Morrison and Harold Coady—boarded the rake that took them down for four hours in the deeps where the only light is from the miners' head lamps.

THEY DON'T TALK

Draegermen must be over 21 and receive annual medical checks. They won't talk much about their jobs. And most of them never mention the dangerous conditions under which they work.

Working with the draegermen, but restricted from gassy areas, are the bare-faced miners—rescuers who don't wear masks. There are more of these volunteers than are needed.

Draegermen wear 35 - pound oxygen tanks on their backs. Hoses lead from their face masks to the back tanks which hold a two-hour supply of oxygen.

Their name comes from German - type breathing equipment they once used.

Party Finds Frey's Canoe

HALIFAX (CP) — Search and Rescue headquarters said Monday a ground search party has located wreckage of a canoe believed used by United States Air Force pilot Capt. George Frey in a bid to reach civilization after escaping the crash of a single-engine plane on a Quebec lake.

There were no signs of Capt. Frey near the wreckage, found about 20 miles north of St. Augustin, Que.

Capt. Frey left a note at Lake Coxipi which read: "80 miles off course. No fuel. Taking canoe around lake to look for shelter."

Trappers who owned the canoe found the following note: "Dear Sir. I was forced down and would have frozen and starved except for what I used from your food cache. I am going down stream until I find some village or people."

Meanwhile, search continues for a small plane missing 10 days on a flight between Frobisher Bay and Baffin Island. Aboard the craft were Pilot J. W. Rutherford of Penticton, B.C., and Dr. Randolph Hoyles of Toronto.

European Car Invasion Hurts

TORONTO (CP) — Rhys M. Sale, president of Ford Motor Company of Canada, said Monday the increasing invasion of the domestic market by European cars "is a matter of deep concern to Canadian car manufacturers."

"Every sale of a foreign-built car in substitution for a Canadian-built car means the loss of at least 200 hours of work by Canadians," Mr. Sale told the Toronto branch of the Canadian Club.

"Ten such sales would be equivalent to a year's idleness by one Canadian auto-worker, or the loss of a day's pay by 250 men, which ever way you wish to put it."

He quoted figured showing that of the 302,000 new passenger cars registered in Canada in the first nine months of 1958, 57,000 were British or of European make, compared with 37,000 in the same period last year.

He said:

"People have a right to buy what they like. But the hard facts of the situation, in terms of our national economic health, need to be brought to the attention of government, of business and labor leaders and of Canadians at large."

ZULU WOMEN ENHANCE BEAUTY WITH AUTO TIRE

VICTORIA (CP) — The loose waistline of the chemise has been in style with Zulu women for years, Mrs. G. P. M. Payne told the University Women's Club here.

Mrs. Payne, who lived in Durban, South Africa, for 11 years, said the Zulus are the most advanced of the native African peoples.

"To be considered beautiful, the Zulu lady of fashion must be really fat and she likes to enhance this quality by acquiring an automobile tire, which she wears around her waist and from which she suspends her long, draped skirt.

"Zulus love color, embroidery and noise. Dock workers have refused to push hand trucks when their noisy metal wheels were given rubber tires, and no longer made a noise."

Mrs. Payne said there is a strange mixture of modernity and ancient superstitution among the native tribes in Africa, and the primitive is seen alongside the sophisticated everywhere.

Canadian Women's PC President Meets Nelson Women Monday

The "charming hospitality" of Canada's First Lady, Mrs. John Diefenbaker, was extolled at a meeting of the Nelson Women's Progressive Conservative Association when 30 women gathered to hear Miss Elizabeth Janzen, president of the Canadian Association, in the Legion Hall Monday.

Miss Janzen, who spoke following a luncheon at the Lord Nelson Dining Room, said the personalities of Prime Minister and Mrs. John Diefenbaker, a great asset to the Conservative party, were evidenced in the hospitality extended to visitors and Canadians at their home in Ottawa.

The vivacious and pleasant head of women's Conservative groups, on her first visit to British Columbia, who has organized young Conservatives in Ontario, said the associations must have wider horizons — "We must look beyond today." She said she was thrilled to find such a growth in the Conservative party ranks on her tours in Canadian provinces.

Describing the Conservative party as a party for anyone interested in politics and for women, Miss Janzen said, "No other party has women sitting in the House as we have at present." She mentioned the three women members of parliament—Hon. Ellen Louks Fairclough, Minister of Citizenship and Immigration, who has seen an amendment she recommended passed in the House; Margaret Aitken, member for York Humber and Arza Clair Casselman, member for Grenville-Dundas.

She urged the association to find suitable women in British Columbia as parliamentary representatives and said she feels sure B.C. will have a Conservative government since women have 52 per cent of the vote in the province, and women's groups are so active. She said, 'This is a time in the party's history when young people are taking part in politcs and they need the balance of older members. We have young leaders."

Miss Janzen showed great enthusiasm for her work and also extended her enthusiasm to the beauty of the Kootenay mountains and lakes, saying she had looked forward for years to seeing B.C.'s famous mountains.

Miss Janzen, speaking of Mrs. Diefenbaker, was illustrating the important part women have in politics. Her address followed a short talk by Mrs. S. Harrison-Smith of Kelowna, president of the B.C. Women's Progressive Conservative Association, and Mrs. Peter Dewdney of Trail, past president of the association.

The speakers were introduced by Mrs. W. H. Anderson, president of the Nelson Women's PC Association.

Mrs. Harrison-Smith, in her first address to the Nelson association, said, "You have one of the most active associations in the province." She continued, "The problem facing women's groups is how to keep together between elections." She urged members to use the time to build the provincial party, increase membership and form new associations.

"It is the women who must bear the brunt of organizing a campaign. Each community should have a women's organization to do the detailed work."

As a result of the September convention called by Dean Finlayson, B.C. Conservative leader, for the first time in over 17 years, every provincial constituency in B.C. has a new slate of officers, has adopted a new constitution and has all the basic organization work done, she said. "Set your goal high."

Also accompanying Miss Janzen and Mrs. Harrison-Smith to Nelson were Mrs. H. W. George, past secretary of the B.C. women's association, and Mrs. C. E. Toll, president of the Trail Women's PC Association.

LA Purchases Furnace for Hall

Purchase of a used furnace to heat the lower floor of the North Shore United Church hall was the focal point of the Ladies' Auxiliary meeting conducted by Mrs. F. H. Lowe, president, with 16 members in attendance.

It was agreed that with the Sunday school and other activities expanding the need for heat in other rooms in the building was imperative. The furnace will not heat the entire building but will adequately heat the lower floor.

Plans for the monthly management board dinner were concluded.

Mrs. Lowe welcomed four new members, Mrs. M. Davies, Mrs. P. Almack, Mrs. R. Eswaloff and Mrs. John Carruthers.

Superintendent WIs To Wed in November

A woman well known in British Columbia through her work with Women's Institutes, Mrs. Stella Gummow of Victoria is to be married in November to Herbert J. Welch of Qualicum Beach, V.I.

His Worship Mayor Percy B. Scurrah of Victoria and Mrs. Scurrah have announced the engagement of Mrs. Scurrah's sister, Mrs. Gummow, to Mr. Welch. Mrs. Gummow is superintendent of women's institutes in the provincial government and Mr. Welch is past governor of Northwest District, Rotary International and a former member of the legislative assembly in the coalition government of a few years ago.

Mrs. Gummow attended public school in Nelson when her father, V. Dynes, was government bee inspector here from approximately 1905 to 1910. They lived at the corner of Stanley and Houston Streets at that time. Her family lived in Greenwood prior to moving to Nelson and took up residence in the Okanagan when they left here.

Mrs. Gummow visited Nelson this spring when she addressed Women's Institutes in the East and West Kootenay.

Keep Studying Girls Urged

HAMILTON (CP) — Girls reach a higher standard of work than boys in high school, but fewer girls go on to university, says Mrs. Russell H. Irvine, president of the Federation of Women Teachers Associations of Ontario.

"It is important to encourage girls to continue studies so that they may take responsible positions as leaders in professions," she said. "More girls matriculate with first-class honors than do boys, but far fewer of them enter university."

She urges better guidance and a better student aid program, "to make higher education as freely available to our youth as secondary school education now is."

Eighty per cent of Canada's chemical manufacturing output is produced by 16 chemical companies.

Explorer Group Plans for Bazaar

The North Shore Explorers are prepared for their initiation which will take place as part of Sunday school service. The girls are busy making bun baskets and hot pot stands of popsicle sticks, and these will be displayed at the forthcoming bazaar sponsored by the North Shore Ladies' Auxiliary. Proceeds will purchase material for other projects. They have collected and prepared bundles of old Christmas cards to be sent to Dr. Jean Whittier in India, where the young people will use them for making place mats and decorating writing paper.

Election of officers was held and Susan Short is chief Explorer and Coralee Fredriksen keeper of the log.

Donations Rolling In For Springhill Fund

By The Canadian Press

Canada is opening her heart and purse to the stricken coal-mining town of Springhill, N.S.

The most ambitious plan of assistance is proposed by a Toronto group. A. G. Sampson, a native of L'Ardoise, N.S., who has already made a personal contribution of $5000 to Springhill relief, heads a group which plans to organize the most spectacular television program ever sen in Canada. The aim: To raise $1,000,000 in a single night.

From Calgary Sunday came an offer by Mayor Donald Mackay to adopt a Springhill family. Britain's Sunday Express suggested assistance from the British government.

FUND CONTINUED

Nucleus of the campaign is the newly-constituted Springhill Disaster Relief Fund, 1958. It is a continuation of the fund set up in 1956 to aid families of 39 miners killed by an explosion. Contributions can be sent to the Canadian Bank of Commerce in Springhill.

Already the first donations have rolled in — $3000 each from the city of London, Ont., and the Halifax Chronicle-Herald and $10,000 from the United Mine Workers of America.

The Toronto fund was created after Premier Stanfield of Nova Scotia wired that all possible help was needed to keep Springhill on its feet. Said James Karfilis of Toronto, organizer of the radio-television appeal: "Our responsibility is to keep Springhill alive."

DETERMINE NEEDS

Rosemary Dudley, director of public service for the Canadian Quo Vadis Foundation, is to make an on-the-spot survey for the committee to determine Springhill's needs. If there is more money collected than needed for immediate relief, it will be used to establish school and college scholarships.

The CBC said serious thought is being given to arranging the program next Sunday night. The Canadian Association of Radio and Television Broadcasters pledged support. The Catholic Women's League announced nation-wide financial drives.

Canadian Kinsmen Clubs will appeal to members for help. Lions Clubs in Nova Scotia have begun canvassing members. Unions, Canadian Legion branches, church groups have all started sending donations.

HELP REPAY DEBT

The Sunday Express said it is fitting that Britain should aid the Canadian mining town although no gift that was given could pay for the Canadian blood spent in two world wars. "But it will help to show that we have not forgotten."

One of the first contributions made to the Springhill fund was by an inquest jury which investigated the death of Dartmouth, N.S. newspaperman John Thompson. He died Thursday on his way to cover the disaster. The jury contributed $72.

Winch Criticizes Conversion Bonds

VANCOUVER (CP) — Veteran CCF parliamentarian Harold Winch has criticized the federal government's bond - conversion and CF-105 decisions.

Mr. Winch, addressing the annual convention of the British Columbia Federation of Labor, said "they have thrown millions away on the 105 and more millions into the hands of big bond houses. Surely they can provide security for Canadian workers from coast to coast."

U.S. Leaders Ready For Fray

WASHINGTON (AP) — The final full wee of the United States congressional election campaign began Monday with President Eisenhower primed for more hammer-and-tongs assaults on the Democrats.

Democratic leaders were prepared to punch home more criticisms of the Eisenhower administration in their efforts to repel the Republican drive to regain control of Congress.

Eisenhower was headed for an airport talk at Charleston, W.Va., before flying to Pittsburgh for a speech Monday night.

HEARTENING WORK

The president's vigorous campaign technique, used in California last week, has heartened Republican leaders. A number said during the weekend it had rejuvenated Republicans everywhere and brightened the party's prospects.

It was questionable, however, whether these oratorical fireworks—or those by other leading Republican and Democratic campaigners—were having much effect on the voters.

A check by the Associated Press uncovered no signs of any sizable switches in sentiment as a result of this late-stage political cannonading.

MAY HAVE SLOWED

"In satte after state," an AP analysis said, "the momentum still appears to be largely toward the Democrats although it may have slowed down a bit in the last month."

One of the most optimistic Republican campaigners is Vice-President Richard Nixon, who was set to carry his stumping into Michigan.

During a Sunday respite in Minneapolis, Nixon said that in the last 10 days "there has been a dramatic upsurge in Republican strength and a sharp recession in Democratic strength."

STRIKING SHIFT

Nixon attributed what he called a striking shift of voter opinion to a recognition that "in terms of peace, prosperity, honest government and progress this administration has done an infinitely better job" than its Democratic predecessors.

Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell criticized the political activities of Walter Reuther, president of the United Auto Workers. Mitchell said in a TV interview from Washington that "unfortunately, Walter is too tied up with the Democratic Party to render the best service to his people."

The New York Times said Republican Nelson Rockefeller apparently leads Democratic incumbent Averell Harriman in their battle for the New York governorship.

Tension Big Item In Heart Disease

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Men who fight deadlines constantly and hard-driving executives in the competitive business world are the most likely candidates for heart disease, a medical research team reported Sunday.

This finding came from a study of a group of individuals in high-tension jobs, compared with a similar group whose daily routine lacked the pressure of competition.

The study indicated that alcohol consumption, cigarette smoking, overweight, exercise status and diet had little or nothing to do with the inclination toward cardiac disease. Tension was the big item.

EDITORS LEAD LIST

In the group which showed the tendency toward heart trouble were city and managing editors of San Francisco Bay area newspapers, television officials, advertising firm executives, representatives of engineering firms and high officers of business corporations. There were 83 subjects.

To match these the researchers picked 83 men of similar age from non-competitive fields. They included city employees, embalmers, bookkeepers and others engaged mainly in routine jobs. They were supposed to represent the easy-going, relatively carefree element for comparison.

All were tested for signs of heart disease, blood fat levels, and blood clotting time. All were asked to keep track of their intake of alochol fats, food in general and cigaret smoking one week.

TENSION MAIN FACTOR

Dr. Meyer Friedman and Dr. Ray H. Rosenman, of San Francisco's Mt. Zion Hospital, reported the results of the experiment to the American Hart Association.

There were no important differences in these groups as to food, exercise, fat, alochol consumption and smoking, the investigators said. But the tests of the high-tension group showed six to eight times as much clinical heart disease as in the easy-going element.

Twenty-three in the tension group had heart disease, as against only four in the non-tension division, the researchers said.

Firemen Killed, Two Injured . . .

Diesels, Six Freight Cars Derailed by B.C. Slide

VANCOUVER (CP)—A 30-ton rockslide on CNR tracks in remote east-central British Columbia early Sunday derailed two diesel engines and six freight cars with the death of a fireman.

The slide, on a mainline in the rugged, mountainous North Thompson River region, caused delays of up to 12 hours on the CNR's crack trans - continental services.

CNR officials Sunday night said the slide occurred one mile east of Messiter, or about 220 rail miles northeast of Kamloops.

The 54-car freight train, loaded with livestock, cement, coal and new cars, was eastbound from Vancouver.

STRUCK SLIDE

Officials said the train struck the slide, which had apparently fallen shortly before its arrival.

Fireman W. A. Preece of Kamloops, was killed when he jumped from the tottering diesel engine and it crushed him. Another engine and six cars plunged down an embankment towards the North Thompson River.

An engineman, identified only as Mr. Martin, suffered a broken nose and facial cuts. A third man D. Veach, described as a head - end brakeman, suffered minor injury.

Both men were from Kamloops.

AID RUSHED IN

Medical aid was rushed from Blue River Community, 12 miles east of the wreck, and the two injured men were taken to Blue River hospital. Preece died of severe head injuries.

Two wrecker trains from Jasper and Kamloops were able to clear the line by 12 hours after the wreck.

Officials said several head of cattle were killed when their car plunged down the embankment and some injured had to be killed but the majority survived the crash.

The derailment caused delays of up to 12 hours to the Super Continental passenger service, both eastbound. Westbound passenger traffic was not affected.

Freight trains were held up to allow priority to the delayed passenger services.

General Motors Near Full Operation

DETROIT (AP) — General Motors Monday counted only five plants with local disputes with the United Auto Workers union still unsettled.

Moving near full-speed operation for the first time since the UAW walked out in a company-wide strike Oct. 2, GM announced seven agreements Sunday.

The agreements brought to 260,300 the number of UAW employees ready for work at 119 GM plants. At full operation, GM has about 275,000 UAW employees at 124 plants.

Ask Labor Congress To Deal With Charges Against SIU

MONTREAL (CP) — The National Association of Marine Engineers in a letter made public Monday asked that the executive of the Canadian Labor Congress intervene to deal with allegations by the N.A.M.E. against the Seafarers' International Union.

The letter was from R. G. Greaves of Vancouver, national president of the N.A.M.E. and addressed to CLC President Claude Jodoin, Ottawa.

It said west coast members of the N.A.M.E. felt the SIU plans to "smash our association and take over its jurisdiction."

Mr. Greaves said the SIU actions are a "crime against organized labor" in freezing funds of the west coast local of N.A.M.E. when it was on strike last July against Canadian Pacific Steamship Company and Black Ball Ferries Limited.

He said this action was taken without any prior demand for repayment for certain debts the association was "alleged to have incurred in Eastern Canada and without submission of any bill of account."

The N.A.M.E. claims this freezing forced it to abandon its intention of challenging the British Columbia government's use of the civil defence act to force the engineers back to work.

TELLS OF APPEAL

Mr. Greaves also said that after N.A.M.E. has been successful in setting aside the order which froze its funds and had offered to settle amicably any differences with the Seafarers, the SIU had filed an appeal "freezing our money again and involving us in more legal costs."

The letter said further:

"In this period, when the courts are being used more frequently as a means of denying labor its legitimate rights, it is a tragedy when one CLC affiliate goes to the court as a means of attacking another affiliate, thus leaving the idea in the minds of many people that the trade unions of this country are disunited and without the means of settling their differences within the family of labor."

The N.A.M.E. president recently stated that disunity which had existed for two years between the eastern and western sections of the association had been ended. They arose out of the eastern section's financial difficulties with the SIU and gave rise to several law suits between the eastern and western sections which have since been dropped, he said.

The N.A.M.E. claims to represent some 1,700 marine engineers on the Atlantic and Pacific coasts and on the Great Lakes.

Two Stockbrokers Found Guilty

VANCOUVER (CP) — Two partners in a stock brokerage firm were found guilty here Sunday of stealing $10,000 from a client. The verdict came at the end of a marathon court sitting that started Saturday morning and finished early Sunday.

Eldon Johnston and Miller Graham will be sentenced at the end of the current assizes.

They were charged with stealing $10,108 from transport company manager William McKerlie, who said he paid the money for stocks and never received them. The charge was laid after a chartered accountant investigated the books of the company for the attorney-general a year ago.

Wants Names of Those Convicted

VANCOUVER (CP) — British Columbia Federation of Labor Sunday approved a resolution at its annual convention here, asking the provincial government to resume annual publication of names of employees convicted under the labor acts.

The convention was told the annual report was published until 1956. It listed all convictions under the Hours of Work Act, Minimum Wages Act, Annual Holidays Act and other laws administered by the department.

The resolution was presented by the federation's executive council.

Railway Unions Set Date For Strike Talk

MONTREAL (CP)—A meeting of the 15-union joint negotiating committee bargaining for 130,000 Canadian railway workers has been called for Nov. 11 to consider the results of a nation-wide strike vote against the major railways.

Frank H. Hall, chairman of the union committee, said today that results of the strike ballot are to be made known at the meeting.

Deadline for voting on whether a strike should be called against the two major nation-wide railways is Nov. 1.

The unions ordered the strike ballot after the CNR and CPR sought a 19-per-cent freight rate boost from the Board of Transport Commissioners.

The railways said that if they got the rate increase — worth about $60,000,000 a year — they would meet a conciliation board award of 14-cents hourly for their 130,000 non-operating workers and extend the compensation on the same basis to the "running trade" workers, firemen, engineers and conductors.

The freight rate decision has not been given yet, but a ruling is expected soon — perhaps before the Nov. 11 meeting.

The unions have already accepted the conciliation recommendation.

Nuclear Arms Need Manpower

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Times said Monday an army study has concluded that nuclear weapons require more, not less, manpower.

A Washington dispatch to The Times said the study was based on a variety of reports, including those of combat exercises in the United States and overseas.

Much of the army study is still classified, The Times said, but an unclassified summary of its findings described it as refuting the belief that with modern weapons less manpower is needed.

To Discuss B.C. Labor Newspaper

VANCOUVER (CP)—The executive of the British Columbia Federation of Labor will meet next month to discuss publication of a B.C. Labor weekly newspaper.

George Home, federation secretary-treasurer, said Saturday he supported a resolution calling for "intensified effort" to get a labor paper published in the coming year.

The resolution, submitted by IWA Local 357, New Westminster, said the trade union movement in B.C. has not been able to use existing press, radio and TV facilities to put forward their side in the battle with management.

On executive suggestion, however, the convention turned down a second resolution calling for establishment of a national labor newspaper for sale to the public.

Totems Boast Five Of WHL's Top Scorers

SEATTLE (AP) — It is easy to see, glancing at the scoring statistics, why Seattle Totems are in first place in the coast division of the Western Hockey League.

Three of the league's five top scorers, including Guyle Fielder, who leads the pack, wear Totem uniforms. The other two perform for Saskatoon Quakers, leaders of the prairie division, and Victoria Cougars, tied for second place in the coast section with Spokane Flyers.

Statistics released Monday by WHL headquarters here showed Fielder with 18 points made up of four goals and 14 assists. The playmaking centre is tied with Calgary's Ed Dorohoy for the all-time league assist record, each having 431.

Second highest scorer is Seattle's Bill McFarland with 12 points — five goals and seven assists—while Seattle's Don Chiupka, Al Nicholson of Victoria and Jackie McLeod of Saskatoon are deadlocked for third with 11.

Fielder's 14 assists give him a five-point lead over McLeod in the playmaking department while Chiupka leads the goal getters with six.

Top goalkeeper, with a goals-against average of 1.77, is Edmonton's Dennis Riggin.

Don McLeod of Victoria leads the league in penalties with 28 minutes.

Suggests Kwong May Join Lions

VANCOUVER (CP) — The Vancouver Province suggests that Normie Kwong may perform for B.C. Lions in the 1959 Western Interprovincial Football Union season.

The newspaper says the star Edmonton fullback has been offered a business proposition in Vancouver that "he can hardly afford to turn down."

Kwong would find it to his advantage to accept the proposition, even if it meant giving up football, said the Province.

Kwong, a bachelor, is represented as being serious about getting married to a girl here, where he has spent many off-season months in recent years.

The paper adds that British Columbia Lions, the Eskimos and Kwong are all keeping quiet about any possible change in his status, and the silence may well be maintained until the present WIFU season is over.

As far as was known, the Lions had made no approaches either to Normie or the Eskimos to acquire the 28-year-old player.

Parade Of Champs A Sellout

LONDON (CP) — Henry Armstrong, Max Baer and Gus Lesnevich, all former world champions, have arrived here for boxing's last round at London's Harringay Arena tonight.

The world-famous stadium, the scene of about 600 fights since it was built 22 years ago, will become a grocer's warehouse after today. The arena's owners found it economically impossible to carry on.

The sentimental parade of champions will take place before a special fight program featuring three 10-rounders. The show was a sell-out six weeks ago.

The fight card is topped by a 10-rounder between British lightweight champion Dave Charnley and Carlos Ortiz of New York.

In other bouts, heavyweight Garvin Sawyer of Cincinnati meets Dick Richardson of Britain in 10 rounds, and Dai Dower, British bantamweight tackles Canada's Pat Supple of Montreal in another 10-rounder.

HIGH AND MIGHTY were the jumps at the opening game of the 1958-59 Nelson basketball season. The Fred Whiteley's Sports Shop team edged out the City Auto Service by a score of 50-38. Nelson Hoop Teams Get Off to Fast Start

Fast and furious action was seen in the Civic Centre Monday night as the Nelson Basketball League got off to a roaring start.

In the opening game of the season, Fred Whiteley Sports Shop team downed City Auto Service 50-38 in a well fought game for both teams.

All told the game was played too fast and probably would have turned out quite differently if the City Auto team had slowed down their play.

When the buzzer sounded half-time, the score was 25-14 in Whiteley's favor and City Auto Service didn't start to close this gap until late in the second half.

The Whiteley team was sparked by the remarkable offensive and defensive play of Jeff Craig.

Craig is the team's six foot seven centre and has no trouble when it comes to popping the ball into the basket.

Counting both halves his total night's achievements amounted to 21 points, practically half of his team's counters.

The opposing team, however, seemed to be hampered by the Whiteleys' height, and their highest number of points were scored by Al Beach and Lorne Shockey, with nine each.

As yet the new uniforms have not arrived but may be ready by Wednesday's game. If not, they will be ready next Monday.

Next Monday, Algar-Dunlops will be pitted against last night's winning team.

CHARLES DROPPED IN SIXTH BY FLEEMAN

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Donnie Fleeman, Texas light heavyweight, knocked out former world heavyweight king Ezzard Charles Monday night after hammering him for five rounds. He floored the ex-champion twice.

The knockout came in the sixth round. Fleeman shot a terrific right to the chin and Charles took the count on one knee.

Charles weighed 202, Flemean 1812.

The aging and slow former champion got in only two blows that might have hurt Fleeman. The crowd booed the slow, inactive Charles at times.

Charles, on the comeback trail, has lost two of his last three fights.

JAPAN TO USE ORANGE BASEBALL

ST. LOUIS (AP) — A glittering orange baseball, designed for greater visibility than the standard white baseball, will be introduced this week in Japan.

Bing Devine, general manager of St. Louis Cardinals who are touring in Japan, agreed to introduce the ball in a game with the Japanese All-Stars.

Ray Dumont, president of the National Baseball Congress, invented the orange ball.

Bombers Oust Stamps From WIFU Playoffs

By AL VICKERY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

WINNIPEG (CP) — Winnipeg Blue Bombers, paced by halfback Leo Lewis' three touchdowns, Monday night knocked Calgary Stampeders out of the Western Inetrprovincial Football Union playoffs with a 37-10 victory before 15,612 fans.

The loss left Stampeders, playing their final game of the regular schedule, one point back of the third-place Saskatchewan Roughriders. Bombers had already clinched first spot and Edmonton Eskimos second place.

The schedule winds up Saturday, with Bombers at British Columbia Lions, and Eskimos at Riders.

Lewis topped the Winnipeg scorers with his three TDs, all in the first half. End Ernie Pitts took a pass from quarterback Jimmy Van Pelt for 107 yards and a touchdown to set a WIFU record for the longest completed pass. Tony Kehrer scorde the other Bombers' touchdown. Van Pelt booted five converts and a single while fullback Charlie Shepard added another single.

Barry Cyr went over for Calgary's lone touchdown on a nine-yard pass from quarterback Nobby Wirkowski. Doug Brown kicked the convert and a 23-yard field goal.

May Win With Unwanted Horse

By JOHN FARROW

LONDON (AP) — Sir Harold Wernher stands a great chance of winning Wednesday's 116th running of the Cambridgeshire Handicap. And he could do it with Aggressor, the colt he didn't want to own.

Wernher tried to sell Aggressor two years ago at the Dublin yearling sales. He thought the colt looked plain and stocky. But he found no buyers. So he kept Aggressor.

"And it was one of the best things I ever did," he said Monday.

Aggressor has proved himself worthy of the name. He won three races out of six as a two-year-old. This season he won the 2000-guineas trial stakes at Kempton.

Aggressor's jockey will be Jim Lindley, 23, who has fought rising weight to reclaim position as one of the country's top riders.

Aggressor, a three-year-old colt by Combat out of Phaetonia, appears favorably weighted in the nine-furlong handicap over Newmarket's turf course. He is to carry 120 pounds. Top-weighted London Cry, a four-year-old, has 131 pounds.

At a callover by Britain's top bookies Monday night Aggressor remained an 11-to-2 betting pick.

Williams, Musial Still Highest

NEW YORK (AP) — Veterans Ted Williams of Boston and Stan Musial of St. Louis still boast the highest lifetime batting averages among active major league baseball players. But Willie Mays of San Francisco made the largest gain as a result of his 1958 performance.

Williams' .328 mark, which topped the American League last season, reduced his lifetime percentage from .350 to .349. That placed him in a fourth place tie with Frank (Lefty) O'Doul among the all-time leaders.

The only players with at least 10 seasons in the majors to compile higher lifetime averages than Williams and O'Doul were Ty Cobb (.367), Rogers Hornsby (.358) and Joe Jackson (.356).

Musial is tops among active players in the National League. He batted .337 in 1958 but his lifetime mark remained at .340. The Cardinals' star increased his total of hits to 3116.

Mays' lifetime mark jumped seven points to .318—good for second place in the senior circuit. The Giants' outfielder hit .347 in '58.

Shatto Moves Into Big 4 Scoring Lead

TORONTO (CP) — Dick Shatto, possibly the hottest professional football player in the country, has taken over the scoring lead in the Big Four union with 54 points on nine touchdowns.

Shatto, 23-year-old import from the University of Kentucky, rocketed to the top with a three-touchdown performance Saturday when Toronto Argonauts walloped the Ottawa Rough Riders 42-24. Shatto, who scored only one touchdown in Toronto's first nine games, crossed the enemy line eight times in Argonauts' last three outings to give him the most remarkable record of any player in the league.

Statistics compiled by The Canadian Press show Shatto two points up on team-mate Vic Kristopaitis, field goal and convert-kicking specialist who has scored his 52 points with his magical kicking toe. He has made 30 converts, kicked seven field goals and one single.

In third place with 48 points on eight touchdowns is Canadian-born Ron Howell of Hamilton Tiger-Cats. He is one up on Gerry McDougall, also of Ticats.

Jim Smith of Sarnia Golden Bears is the Ontario Rugby Football Union scoring champion with 84 points, four more than team-mate Gino Cappelletti.

Tim Reid of the unbeaten University of Toronto Blues broke a first-place tie in the college scoring race with Lionel Conacher, Jr.

Born in 1934, Kenny Schmautz spends most of his off-season time driving a truck for his father in Saskatoon, Sask.

The wiry forward for the Leafs, was born in Saskatoon and has lived there all his life except for the time which he spends in the hockey camps, which is practically every winter.

He has played with the Saskatoon Wesley team (1950-'51-'52), and the Eston, Sask., team two years later.

With the Wesleys, he broke his ankle and that accounts for the one year lapse in his career.

Recovering from this injury, he resumed play with the Kelowna Packers in 1955. Just after the season started in his second year with the club, a head-on collision at centre ice resulted in a broken right wrist and hand, and a separated right shoulder.

These injuries kept him out of play for the rest of the 1956-57 season.

At medium height, five feet, 6½ inches, he is 155 pounds.

Kenny is married to a Saskatoon girl, Mona, and has two children, both boys, one two years and the other two months.

NEW WINTER TIRE

WITH DYNAMIC TRACTION

for today's high-powered cars

Last winter Goodyear engineers went far into Canada's northern mining country. They went to find snow deep enough and conditions rugged enough to prove conclusively that the new Suburbanite with dynamic traction is the greatest winter tire ever developed.

These tests proved beyond doubt that the new Suburbanite provides dynamic traction—the engineers' term for extra grip under power. This means you get up to 51% more traction in snow, and up to 17% better traction in mud. The All-new Suburbanite's exclusive dynamic traction delivers the power thrust demanded by the high-powered engines in modern cars.

Just step on the gas in hub-deep snow . . . hit the brakes on a hard packed surface . . . climb hills and corner with confidence. Snowed-in parking lots and steep driveways cease to be a problem. Besides all this extra performance in snow, the new Suburbanite runs quieter than ever on dry roads—promises long wear in any driving conditions.

LOWEST PRICES EVER!
It costs less than you think to own a pair of dynamic traction Suburbanites. See your Goodyear dealer soon. There's one near you.

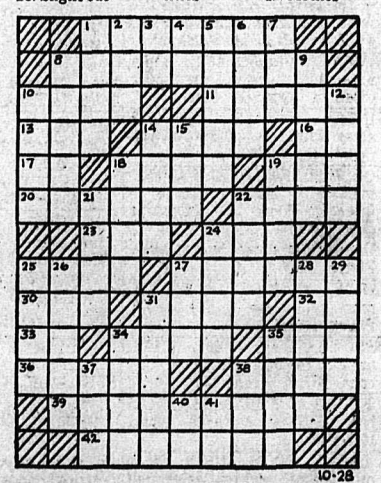
Yesterday's Answer



DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

A Cryptogram Quotation

N M H J C B H Z W O R K F Z X B Z H Z F C.
J B G W D W N F T M H C B W M R X F K V
M F O H — M F C R T H.

Yesterday's Cryptoquote: LET THY SPEECH BE BETTER THAN SILENCE, OR BE SILENT—DIONYSIUS.

MARKET TRENDS

NEW YORK (AP)—Heavy selling Monday drove the stock market down to its worst loss in nearly two weeks.

The setback was ascribed by market analysts to technical reasons. They saw nothing in the overall news to generate lack of confidence. A desire to take profits was given as the main reason.

The Associated Press 60-stock average fell $1.50 to $196.10.

The big three motors, steels, rails, aircrafts, chemicals, drugs and utilities lost ground. The declines went to about 2 points among pivotal stocks. Selected issues were off 3 or 4.

Turnover of 209,500 shares put American Motors at the top of the most-active list. It closed at 33¾, up 1¾. Second was Studebaker-Packard, off 1 at 13 on 154,800 shares.

Among actively traded losers were Chrysler, down 2, General Motors, off ½ and New York Central off ¾. Other losers were Pfizer, off 4, Youngstown Sheet 3¼, Lorillard 2½, Amerada 2 and Kennecott 2 .

Aluminium Ltd. dropped ⅜ among Canadian issues. Canadian Pacific, Granby Mining and Walker Gooderham lost ⅜. Dome Mines was off ⅛. Hudson Bay Mining declined ¼. International Nickel dropped 1½ and McIntyre Porcupine lost 2.

American exchange prices were mixed with Shawinigan gaining ¼ among Canadian issues. Fargo Oil was off ¼. Molybdenite, Preston East ome and Jupiter Oils each lost 1-16.

MONTREAL (CP) — Prices were generally lower in fairly active trading on the Montreal and Canadian Stock Exchanges Monday.

The pipelines were down as much as 4¼ points. Trans-Canada was off 3¾ at 32¾, Interprovincial lost 4¼ at 49½ and Trans-Mountain declined ½ at 11⅞.

In the base metals International Nickel was off 1 at 86¾ and Aluminium declined 1⅜ at

The utilities were mixed. Power Corporation gained 1 at 66, and Consumrrs gas lost 2½ at 35¼.

In the papers Rolland "A" was off 1¼ at 21½, while Price Bros gained ½ at 45½.

The steels were lower with Dominion Foundries off 1 at 35½, and Stelco down ⅜ at 64½.

TORONTO (CP)—A sell - off of gas and oil issues handed industrials and western oils their worst single session loss this year in moderate trading on the stock market Monday.

Industrials tumbled off more than 4½ points for their worst day since last Dec. 17. Western oils dipped 3 1-3 points.

Pipelines were the hardest hit following Saturday's release of an interim report of the Borden commission that recommended tighter controls of Canada's oil and gas industry.

The sell - off began with the opening of trading. Interprovincial Pipe Line was the hardest hit, down 4½ at 49½. Trans-Canada Pipe Line lost 3⅜ at 33⅛, and Alberta Gas Trunk Line was down 1½ at 20. Trans - Canada was the most active industrial trading 42,975 shares, about equal to its normal two-week volume.

Among other industrials, Ford A and Traders Finance each lost 2 and Aluminium dipped 1½ at 31⅛. International Nickel pulled both industrials and base metals down as the interlisted issue lost 1 at 86¾.

Western oils lost with Bailey Selburn down $1.15 at $9.60 and Home Oil B off 1⅜ at 18. Among lower priced oils Provo was a 30-cent loser at $3.10.

Index losses: industrials 4.68 to 494.10; golds .02 to 82.10; base metals 1.08 to 177.35; western oils 3.31 to 136.82.

McMahon Denies Westcoast Sold Cheaply To Americans

NEW YORK (CP) — Frank McMahon, president of Westcoast Company Limited, said Monday gas transmitted by the firm's pipeline system is "definitely not being sold to American distributors at a lower price than to Canadian distributors."

McMahon was commenting in a statement on a report by the Borden energy commission, released Saturday. The statement said:

"We in Westcoast welcome the finding of the Borden commission that Canadian natural gas is available for export on a fair and reasonsonable basis. This is one step in the formulation of a clear and workable gas policy which is needed for the orderly continued development of Canada's natural gas industry.

" . . . The commission refers to the old charge that Canadians are paying higher prices than Americans for gas delivered through the Westcoast pipeline. Unfortunately the commission failed either to confirm or deny this allegation.

"I therefore repeat the statement made by Westcoast officers and independent cost analysists in their testimony before the commission that gas transmitted through the Westcoast system is definitely not being sold to American distributors at a lower price than to Canadian distributors.

"HAVE BENEFITED"

"In fact Canadian consumers have benefited enormously from sale of Westcoast gas in the U.S.; the pipeline could not have been built and this low-cost fuel would not have been available to communities in southern British Columbia except through the development of a supplementary market in the U.S."

McMahon added that the line sparked "unprecedented development" in B.C. and Alberta, and that it was built without any government subsidy or loan. New communities had sprung up as a result of the initiative and new gas fields had been discovered.

"These positive accomplishments . . . should be considered in evaluating the Borden commission's first report," McMahon said.

Working Full Blast On Arrow Interceptor and Jet Engines

TORONTO (CP) — President Crawford Gordon said Monday A. V. Roe Canada Ltd. "is proceeding with the utmost dispatch" on the Arrow interceptor and Iroquois jet - engine programs because it feels confident the government will still order them.

Mr. Gordon told an A. V. Roe shareholders meeting he was sure the delta-winged, supersonic Arrow and the Iroquois will be put into production when Ottawa has completed a promised review of defence purchasing next March.

Prime Minister Diefenbaker announced some weeks ago the government was postponing a decision on the Arrow until that time.

THREE MAIN REASONS

Mr. Gordon said there were three main reasons for his confidence. The first was that, "for the foreseeable future, the manned interceptor will continue to be an essential part of the North American defence system. Pilotless interceptors, such as the Bomarc, complement it, but cannot effectively replace it."

He said this view was supported by Air Marshal C. R. Slemon, deputy commander-in-chief of NORAD and former chief of staff of the RCAF, and James H. Douglas, secretary of the United States Air Force.

The second reason was that "the Arrow was specifically designed to fit the RCAF requirement for a manned interceptor in the time period involvd; and we believe that it still best fits that requirement."

The third reason was that a decision to produce the Arrow with its Iroquois engine for squadron service with the RCAF would cost about $3,500.000 per aircraft against $9,000,000 on the basis of 100 being ordered.

Pope's Realm Grows Larger

VATICAN CITY (AP) — The spiritual realm of the new Pope will probably be larger than at any time in the history of the Roman Catholic Church.

The number of Roman Catholics over which the church gives him jurisdiction is expected to increase well beyond the 500,000,000 mark during his reign.

His titles in their official order are:

Bishop of Rome, Vicar of Jesus Christ, Successor of the Prince of the Apostles, Supreme Pontiff of the Universal Church, Patriarch of the West, Primate of Italy, Archbishop and Metropolitan of the Provinces of Rome, and Svoereign of the State of Vatican City.

As the chief pastor of the Roman Catholic Church, he wields a spiritual influence unparalleled in Christendom. He is the teacher, judge and administrator.

QUESTIONS OF FAITH

He has supreme authority to define in all questions of faith and morals in the Catholic Church. Under the infallibility dogma decreed at the Vatican Council in 1870, he cannot err when speaking ex cathedra, meaning from the throne in his official position as supreme pontiff.

The councils, the legislative assemblies of all bishops of the Catholic Church, are subordinate to him. The Pope alone has the right to summon the assembly and direct its discussions. Decisions of the council are binding only if confirmed and proclaimed by the pontiff (from Latin "pontifex," meaning bridgemaker).

Up to the 16th century, the business of the church was handled by the apostolic chancery, the Pope's own administrative office. Since then, special commissions of cardinals — the Sacred Congregations—have taken over much of the rapidly increasing and complex administrative work. The prefects, or directors, of these congregations report to the pope.

RESERVED TO POPE

The title of prefect of the most important commissions—the Congregations of the Holy Office of the Consistory and of the Oriental Church — is reserved to the Pope himself. The congregation of the Holy Office handles all questions dealing with faith and morals. Its proceedings are the most secret among all congregations.

The consistorial congregation is in charge of preparing the sessions of the consistories, the sessions of the papal senate, and also is responsible for the government of the dioceses and the erection of new ones. In addition to that, Pope Pius XII virtually also ran his own foreign office, the Vatican state secretariat.

B. C. Trade Unions To Double Efforts

VANCOUVER (CP) — Trade unions in British Columbia will redouble their efforts in the next year to make their members more "union labor conscious." Delegates instructed the federation to recommend a "Union Label Pledge" be included in the obligation of members and officers of all unions affiliated with the Canadian Labor Congress and also ask the B.C. government to give preference to union manufacturers when contracting for supplies.

Odds . . . and Ends . . . by M. D. B.

It seems odd at nights to see the old telegraph office all in darkness on the Ward and Baker corner where its midnight oil shone out for so many years. The clatter of its keys were familiar sounds there, where people stopped to pass the time of day and old men leaned against the building to chat in the sunshine, or on a summer evening to watch the world go by.

* * *

Saw the firetruck go past the other day with flags flying and wondered what was doing, but decided they had just been taking down tattered and faded centennial flags.

* * *

Sidewalks have come in for a bit of repairing lately and the improvement is most noticeable at the old post office corner and in front of the Civic Centre where cement sections had either sagged or were particularly rough to walk on — especially for women with thin soles and high heels.

* * *

With all the poisoning of dogs going on I thought I would pass on a first aid note for dogs that show signs of having eaten poisoned food. The remedy is to throw lots and lots of salt into their throats and give them plenty of water to drink. It seems the salt has a neutralizing effect on the poison.

* * *

A man who was stationed at Whitehorse several years said the Indians and Eskimos swear by this salt remedy and I imagine the Eskimos, whose very lives often depend on their dog teams, ought to know what they are doing.

* * *

Another trick this chap has learned from these people to ward off distemper in dogs is putting about a half teaspoonful of salt in his dog's food starting at about September through until April or May. I pass this on for what it is worth in the hope that it might save the lives of some of man's best friends.

Wenner-Gren Development Said Political Football

VANCOUVER (CP)—The B.C. Federation of Labor said Saturday the Wenner-Gren power development is being used as a "political football" and should not be allowed to interfere with early development of Columbia River power.

The criticism was contained in an emergency resolution placed before the closing session of the federation's annual convention in Vancouver by Local 213 of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers.

The resolution said a dam at Mica Creek on the Columbia promises much - needed cheap power for B.C. and everything should be done to speed up that development.

Another resolution said the Air Transport Board should refuse the application of Canadian Pacific Airlines for a franchise to operate trans-Canada service in competition with Trans-Canada Air Lines.

The resolution said because the CPR in 1937 refused an offer from the federal government to join the publicly owned CNR in operating a national airline, the business should be left in the hands of TCA.

Delegates unanimously adopted resolutions calling for trade with recognition of the People's Government of China, and her admission to the United Nations.

The federation will support an International Woodworkers Association request that the B.C. government institute local control over forest closures during dry weather. At present, delegates said, closures of entire forest districts are ordered from Victoria when a forester on the spot would permit continued operation in areas of the district.

London Papers Rap Montgomery

LONDON (Reuters)—Two leading British newspapers Monday rapped retired Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery for his recent attacks on the United States and NATO.

In an address three days ago, the 70-year-old Montgomery accused the United States of inconsistent world policies and called for a drastic overhaul of the cumbersome NATO organization.

The Manchester Guardian said anyone who wants to reform NATO had better first tnink "of our principal ally."

"A political 'standing group' to co-ordinate policy with the Americans and every partner would be an excellent innovation," it said. "But to suppose that it will remedy some of the ills of which Lord Montgomery speaks, such as lack of American support for the Suez operations, is wholly misleading.

"The result might well prove directly the reverse and a good thing, too."

The Guardian said that American influence, "in spite of Lord Montgomery's views," will always be against any reassertion of European domination in Asia and Africa.

"A rebuilding of empires or a reviving of forceful policies is the last thing at which to aim. It can only helo Russia and end in fiasco," The Guardian said.

The Daily Telegraph said much of what Montgomery said about NATO "is sound; much that has been deduced from it is unsound and shows a misunderstanding of the nature and limits of that body."

Ban On Turkey Imports Eased

OTTAWA (CP) — The federal government's ban on imports of turkeys was eased Monday to permit the entry of a limited quantity of lightweight broiler turkeys now in short supply in Canada.

The agriculture department announced that permits will be issued for the importation of a maximum of 300,000 pounds during the balance of 1958.

Fleming to Advise More Aid to Ceylon

COLOMBO, Ceylon (Reuters) — Canadian Finance Minister Donald Fleming told a press conference Monday that he has decided to recommend further financial assistance to Ceylon to continue an aerial photographic survey of the country's natural resources.

His recommendation would be for the allocation of $600,000 in the current fiscal year and an equal amount next year if the survey project — originally launched with Canadian assistance — maintains its "admirable progress."

Fleming, touring Southeast Asia, said that Canada regarded the Colombo plan as essentially "a Commonwealth project" although it was enlarged with the entry of the United States and countries of Southeast Asia.

Says B. C.'s Mental Homes Short-Staffed

VANCOUVER (CP) — George Kenwood, executive-secretary of the B.C. Division, Canadian Mental Health Association, says mental institutions in the province are operating on about 50 per cent of necessary staff and throughout Canada have a similar problem," he said, "but I believe the situation here is worse than anywhere else."

CAMPAIGN FAILS

TOKYO (AP)—A girl carrying a big banner reading "Traffic safety campaign" was hit and injured by a taxi Saturday night. A truck trying to get through the ensuing tangle veered into a group discussing the accident. The taxi driver and a policeman were killed.

B. C. Motor Vehicle Branch Criticized

VANCOUVER (CP)—The British Columbia Federation of Labor has criticized the B.C. Motor Vehicle Branch for issuing damaging reports on drivers involved in accidents even if drivers are cleared of any responsibility for the accidents.

Delegates to the federation's annual convention here Sunday said the practice is costing motorists increased insurance.

Charles Stewart, business agent for the Street Railwaymen's Union, Local 101, said the Motor Vehicle Branch supplies a record of all accidents, whether or not the driver was to blame.

"If someone collides with vour parked car that's an accident which the MVB lists against you," he said.

The federation will ask the government to issue information only when a driver has been held responsible for an accident.

OLDTIME MOVIE DIRECTOR DIES

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Marshall (Mickey) Neilan, 65, madcap director who could make and spend $15,000 a week in the silent film era, died Sunday night.

When Neilan was in the chips, he lavished gifts on the most beautiful women in Hollywood, drove the fanciest cars and threw enormous parties.

Neilan entered films in 1909 and quickly became a leading writer, director and producer.

He directed such stars as Charlie Chaplin, Jean Harlow, Wallace Beery, Marguerite Clarke and Blanche Sweet, who became his wife.
