Cyprus Plan Completed

Agreement Revives Balkan Pact; Constitution Gets 3-Way Guarantee

By GILBERT SEDBON

ZURICH, Switzerland (Reuters)—Greece and Turkey have agreed on a plan for an independent republic of Cyprus, authoritative sources reported Tuesday night.

The last obstacles to an agreement were overcome at a meeting here between Greek Premier Constantine Karamanlis and Turkish Premier Adnan Menderes. The plan for a new constitution for the island will be initialled today, the sources said.

They said the constitution would be guaranteed by Greece, Turkey and Britain and could not be amended except by a vote of 90 per cent of the assembly members, thus safeguarding the rights of the Turkish minority in the British island colony.

The agreement will revive the Balkan Pact among Greece, Turkey and Yugoslavia and draw Greece and Turkey closer together in political and economic action, the sources reported.

A Turkish delegate said the military question — Turkey has been insisting on stationing troops on the dissension-torn island — was settled at Tuesday's meeting. It was understood the settlement provided for the stationing of both Greek and Turkish forces on the British colony.

George Christopoulos, director of European and Cyprus affairs in the Greek foreign ministry, said the constitution envisaged for the island proposed an independent republican state. The national assembly would have a Greek president and a Turkish vice-president.

FAIR REPRESENTATION

The composition of the assembly would have a "fair representation" of the island's population, he said. Greek Cypriots outnumber Turks 400,000 to 100,000.

Turkey had insisted on stationing troops on the island to guard against any move by the Greek Cypriots for union with Greece. The Greek Cypriots have been fighting British troops on Cyprus for almost four years. At first they demanded union with Greece but last year they changed their plea to independence.

Turkey also sought guarantees in the talks that any possible future Communist government of the island would not jeopardize Western defences in the vital Western Mediterranean area.

Karamanlis and Menderes Tuesday night emerged from their 90-minute meeting confident that they were on the brink of final agreement.

REALLY HOPEFUL

"I now am really hopeful," Turkish Foreign Minister Fatin Zorlu told reporters.

"This time I agree," said Greek Foreign Minister Evangelos Averoff.

Zorlu and Averoff had done the groundwork for Tuesday night's session, preparing a bulky document on the future of Cyprus but leaving the last difficult problems for the premiers to settle.

Averoff said details of the agreement would be transmitted to the British government before being disclosed to the public. A round-table conference of Turkish, Greek and British government officials then was expected to be called to give final approval to the plan.

Tornado Rakes St. Louis

WAYNE POWERS, a U.S. army deserter for 14 years, is back at home at Mont D'Origny, France, with his children: Dorothy, 12; Jimmy, 10; Freddy, two; Harry, five, and Douglas, eight; and their mother, Yvette Bleuse, whom he has not yet married. Yvette sheltered him in her home and her arms for the dozen years he was in hiding. Court-martialed by the army last year, Powers was given a reduced sentence so he could return to his home. He hasn't gotten a job yet and she still supports the family.

Early Hour Tragedy Worst In 32 Years; 19 Dead, Seven Missing, 300 Injured

ST. LOUIS (AP)—A killer tornado caught St. Louis asleep Tuesday and left a patchwork of death and destruction in the pre-dawn.

Nineteen were known dead in the city's worst tornado in 32 years. Almost 300 others were injured. The tornado took the same path as a 1927 twister which killed 78.

Searchers picked through the rubble of smashed homes and apartments throughout the day for more bodies and others who might still have been trapped.

In Washington, President Eisenhower designated St. Louis as a major disaster area eligible for federal relief aid.

SEVEN MISSING

Seven persons were reported missing.

B. G. Gregory, executive secretary of the Insurance Board of St. Louis, estimated the property damage at $12,000,000.

The tornado came without warning and with tremendous speed. Just as suddenly it was gone, leaving behind silence.

It crumpled a radio tower, then a television tower built to stand winds of more than 100 miles an hour, cutting a diagonal path northeast from the suburbs of Brentwood and Crestwood southwest of St. Louis across the heart of the city.

Most victims had been in bed for hours when the tornado hit at 1:12 a. m. MST. It was preceded by hours of torrential rains which flooded scores of basements.

Hardest hit were a section of tenement houses occupied mostly by Negroes. But a block of brick apartments in the fashionable west end also was ripped open.

POLICE STUNNED

Police and firemen coming to the scene were stunned by the destruction. Tragedy was on all sides. A father was pulled from the ruins, his dead son still hanging to his back.

Crowds gathered in the darkness behind floodlights and watched silently amid debris and deadly broken electrical lines. Immediately after the tornado hit, persons rushed into collapsing buildings to rescue trapped persons. Then they quickly realized the danger from sagging tenements and their excitement gave way to caution.

The Red Cross estimated 1,725 structures were damaged, including 41 destroyed.

Rescue workers and welfare organizations swung into action at once. More than 250 persons, many of them children, were left homeless.

Doctors and nurses worked feverishly, often treating victims at the scene.

HOSPITALS SWAMPED

Both city hospitals were swamped with the injured. Many victims were covered with dirt, mud and mortar dust. Some were naked, others only partially dressed.

Numerous walls were ripped away, leaving occupants still in their bedrooms which were bared to the street.

The twister smashed the 385-foot tower of Radio Station KXLW in Brentwood, then flattened the 575-foot tower of television station KTVI in southwest St. Louis. KXLW was back on the air with a temporary antenna, just 15 hours after its tower was smashed to the ground.

It knocked a big hole in the roof of the St. Louis Arena where a world welterweight boxing match between Virgil Akins and Don Jordan was scheduled for March 6. Doubt arose that the fight could be held then.

SKIPPED OVER

The tornado skipped over suburban Forest Park and smashed into the heart of the city. At least seven persons died in a 2½-storey tenement and two others in a four-family brick flat. Both were blasted into a pile of rubble.

The tornado hit the second floor of the blasted four-family building and it crumbled, crushing to death two persons on the first floor.

House's Red Rug Sparks Repartee

VICTORIA (CP) — The deep crimson color of the Legislature's rug got into the debate Tuesday.

Attorney-General Bonner said scientific investigators had found red quickened muscular reaction, excited the emotions, produced a feeling of restlessness and made time pass more slowly.

Perhaps, he suggested, this might account for some of the antics of the CCF Opposition.

Mr. Speaker Shantz interjected jocularly that he hadn't chosen the color.

And when one member asked the government: "Will you accept a motion to sell?" CCF leader Strachan shot out:

"You wouldn't dare lift this rug; too much dirt has been swept under it."

Replied Attorney-General Bonner: "The Honorable, the leader of the Opposition knows his side of the rug better than I do."

Heavy Ice Storm Hits in East

By The Canadian Press

Central Canada, which was hit by the worst ice storm of the winter Monday night, expected more of the same Tuesday night and today.

The west was to remain mostly cold and clear.

The ice storm, which made driving treacherous in parts of Ontario and Quebec Tuesday, was to be replaced by another weather system that would bring more snow and freezing rain.

The Maritimes today expect falling temperatures and up to six inches of snow as well as rain and sleet.

The weather played havoc with airline schedules with Trans-Canada Air Lines at Toronto's Malton Airport reporting most flights cancelled there early Tuesday.

A lashing blizzard packing winds up to 32 miles an hour, hit Montreal Tuesday night with at least five inches of snow.

Drifting snow and poor visibility tied up buses on city streets while airline officials reported flights to Toronto and New York City cancelled.

TRAWLERS MISSING

Fear All 47 Aboard May Have Perished

HALIFAX (CP) — Two fishing trawlers with 47 men were missing off the east coast Tuesday and it was feared all aboard may have perished.

The 657-ton Juli, an Icelandic ship, had not been heard from since her captain reported her in danger from high seas and severe icing Saturday. She carried a crew of 31.

The Blue Wave, a 289-ton Newfoundland vessel disappeared Monday with 16 men after sending a distress message saying she was in danger of capsizing. A search plane spotted an upturned dory Tuesday near her last position.

The Juli was last reported 180 miles northeast of Gander, Nfld. The Blue Wave vanished aobut 65 miles from Cape St. Marys on the Newfoundland southeast coast.

The Iceland trawler was the fourth fishing boat in trouble off Newfoundland this week.

The 179-ton Nova Scotia trawler Cape Dauphin sprang a leak and sank Sunday near the Grand Banks but her crew of 12 were saved. Another Iceland trawler, the 722-ton Thorkell Mani, reported she had to cut loose her lifeboats Sunday to prevent capsizing from a heavy load of ice formed by high seas and blowing spray.

Sub-zero cold coupled with northwest gales to create the winter's worst weather in the Western Atlantic during the weekend.

Added Welfare Spending Urged With Non-Confidence Motion

OTTAWA (CP)—Two opposition motions of want-of-confidence, both based on demands for a new federal-provincial fiscal conference, were defeated in the Commons Tuesday night by the big Progressive Conservative majority.

A Liberal motion calling for an immediate conference to deal with unemployment and tax-sharing was defeated by a vote of 171 to 50.

Minutes earlier a vote of 171 to 49 rejected a CCF amendment presented by Erhart Regier, Burnaby-Coquitlam, in proposing a multi-point program including higher federal spending on a wide range of welfare measures.

The votes came just before the close of the session's first two-day supply motion.

The CCF amendment, ruled in order by speaker Roland Michener despite objections by Finance Minister Fleming, said the government should consider the advisability of presenting to such a conference federal proposals to:

1. Assume complete responsibility for the welfare of employable unemployed.
2. Ensure employment opportunities for all Canadians willing and able to work.
3. Reduce the burden of interest rates on provincial and municipal borrowings.

Mr. Regier said the CCF program to deal with unemployment includes higher weekly unemployment insurance payments, to be paid until a jobless person finds work. All unemployed able to work should be covered and the unemployment insurance commission should be empowered to deal with such situations as Springhill, N. S., where the main source of revenue — a coal mine—is shut off.

He said the winter works program, by which the federal government pays half the labor costs of special municipal winter projects, should be extended one month to May 1, with the central government bearing a larger share of the program. The government should make low interest funds available for municipal works. It should also set up a major adult education and retraining program, similar to the post-war education program for veterans.

Some long-range steps suggested by the CCF included: Federal construction of a national network of main highways; a federal offer to the provinces to share the capital costs of education; an increase to $5,000 from $2,000 a bed in hospital construction grants for acute and chronic cases; a program for modern penal institutions; more aid for low-cost housing; federal aid for new provincial and municipal recreational facilities.

Mr. Regier said methods to increase Canadians' purchasing power should include: A national minimum wage rate of $1.25 an hour; a maximum 40-hour week to create more employment; higher civil service salaries; a national pension plan, higher family allowances and removal of the 10-per-cent federal sales tax on essential commodities.

Asks Commission To Study Tree Fruits Industry

VICTORIA (CP) — An Okanagan Social Credit member who urged appointment of a royal commission investigation of the B.C. tree fruits industry told the Legislature Tuesday he is opposed to any further marketing restrictions on growers.

Frank Richter, who represents Similkameen and runs a ranch at Penticton, said benefits from the report turned in by tree fruits royal commissioner E. D. MacPhee remain to be seen. But it should be up to the growers whether or not they accept any of the recommendations.

"I have always stood for decentralization of government and more local autonomy," Mr. Richter said during the budget debate.

Speaking in the budget debate, he said he had every respect for the RCMP. But disbandment of the old provincial force by a previous government was "a most serious mistake." Price of RCMP policing had this year risen an additional $190,000.

He urged the matter be closely studied by the government. Numerous duties once performed by the provincial force, such as licencing and brand inspection of livestock, now had to be taken over by government departments.

Mr. Richter also urged vocational schools for the interior and upward revision in the silicosis pension. He also was disappointed on the progress being made on sections of highway No. 3 across the southern part of the province, which could be made into a good competitive route with those south of the border.

Mr. Richter was one of four speakers in the budget debate which continues today. William Speare (SC—Cariboo) will lead off and the House may also hear recreation and conservation minister Westwood.

MLA Says RCMP Policing Proved Bad Deal for B.C.

VICTORIA (CP)—A Social Credit MLA suggested in the Legislature Tuesday that B.C. got a bad deal when it dissolved the British Columbia provincial police force and turned policing over to the RCMP.

Frank Richter, Penticton rancher who represents Similkameen district, said: "My point is that we are paying more and receiving less in service."

Narrow Escape for Man at Penticton

PENTICTON (CP) — Edward Mills, 20, escaped with only facial and leg cuts Tuesday after his car was crushed by a railway snow plow and flung 100 feet. Dr. H. B. McGregor of Penticton was uninjured when his car collided with another car while he was going to the scene of the earlier accident.

DOLLAR LOWER

NEW YORK (CP) — The Canadian dollar was off ¼ at $1.02 11-32 in terms of U.S. funds. A week ago it was $1.02 13-16. Pound sterling was off 3-32 at $2.80 27-32.

Bonner Taking Ferry Resolution to Ottawa

VICTORIA (CP) — Attorney-General Bonner will fly to Ottawa this weekend bearing a unanimous resolution of the British Columbia legislature demanding federal action to ensure the continuance of the Canadian Pacific Railway's winter ferry service between Vancouver, Victoria and Seattle.

Premier Bennett announced the government's intention to send the attorney general on the Ottawa mission just before the legislature gave unanimous consent to the motion.

All parties in the House—CCF, Liberals and independents — joined with the Social Credit government in adopting the motion. It reads:

"That this House deplores the announced discontinuance by the Canadian Pacific Railway company of ferry service between Victoria and Vancouver and asks the federal government, which has jurisdiction in this matter, to ensure the continuance of year-round ferry service between Victoria and the mainland, responsibility for which is provided in paragraph numbered 4 in the schedule of the terms of union between British Columbia and Canada."

HELPED EASTERNERS

Works Minister William Chant, who sponsored the motion Monday, declared that the federal government had assisted transportation on the east coast to the tune of many millions of dollars.

"We seem to be left out on the end of a line here and the federal government should not do less than recognize their responsibility in this matter," he said.

Johnson's Son Says Dad May Not Accept Pension

VICTORIA (CP) — A minor storm appeared brewing Tuesday over a $5,000-a-year pension for the only living former premier of British Columbia.

A bill introduced Monday in the legislature by the Social Credit government would provide a pension for Byron Johnson, a Liberal who headed coalition governments from late 1947 until early 1952. (See story page 3)

However, Byron Johnson Jr., son of the former premier, said Tuesday the pension was "neither requested, required nor discussed."

He said his mother and father are on holiday in California. The implication that his father is in stringent circumstances, Mr. Johnson said, is not true.

He said he doesn't know whether his father will accept the pension, due to start April 1.

Ex-premier Johnson suffered partial speech paralysis after a stroke in April, 1955. He walks with the aid of a cane.

Mr. Johnson Jr. said the pension idea originated with Premier Bennett.

It was nice to be recognized in a sincere manner but "one would think that the premier would have been in contact with my mother or father before making the announcement.

255,993 Boy Scouts in Canada

OTTAWA (CP) — Boy Scout membership in Canada has passed the 250,000-mark, Canadian Boy Scout headquarters announced here Tuesday.

The total membership as of Dec. 31, 1958, was 255 93, an increase of 20,775 over the 1957 total of 237,218.

AFTER NINE MONTHS in prison for a crime of which he was acquitted in a second hearing, John Yorgovitch is looking for a job to get enough money to institute suit for damages for wrongful arrest and imprisonment. He was sentenced to two years in prison in Ottawa on a worthless cheque charge and now, he says, he finds it impossible to get a job.

"Principles Considered, Adhered To" in Sommers Case—Bonner

VICTORIA (CP) — Attorney-General Bonner stoutly defended his handling of the Sommers case in an hour-long speech in the legislature Tuesday and declared that "important principles were considered and adhered to."

And he suggested that his chief accuser in the case, Liberal George Gregory of Victoria, who himself is also a lawyer, of making statements calculated to prejudice former lands and forests minister Robert Sommers at his long trial.

Gregory, who along with others has charged that Bonner delayed for two years in laying the charges which resulted in Sommers' conviction, yesterday challenged the attorney-general to answer a number of involved questions surrounding the "Sommers affair."

The attorney-general defended his decision to have the RCMP investigate rather than a judicial inquiry. A judicial inquiry might "become politically desirable from one view or another," but the very nature of such an inquiry can result only in precharges and particularly charges judgment of those answering of this nature."

He said in fact the government might be criticized for eventually setting up a royal commission under the late Gordon Sloan to investigate allegations against Sommers following dismissal of a civil libel-slander action Sommers launched against Sturdy. The commission lasted only a day or two when counsel questioned the right of the commission to go into a criminal matter.

Mr. Bonner also defended his action in giving Sommers the contents of the statutory declaration. In civil action he said he could have been compelled to produce them under subpoena. And he defended too, his action in refusing to make the police report public, reitering that even the federal justice department considers such reports "not in the public interest."

"Looking back on the entire matter," the attorney-general said, "I would say that important principles were considered and adhered to, notwithstanding allegations of delay and everything else which the opposition has stated."

VILLAGERS FLEE SLIDE THREAT

HERBRIGGEN, Switzerland (AP) —All but a dozen of the 250 people of this imperilled Alpine village fled their homes Tuesday night as a slipping mountainside of ice, rocks and earth cracked and groaned over their heads. The impending mass was estimated as weighing 1,000,000 tons.

It was the second night that these mountain families left their neat wooden houses in the face of the threatened avalanche.

They came back during the day to collect pets and possessions and hauled them away on sleds.

Some villagers stood guard to sound the alarm in case the mass broke free of Nadelhorn Mountain and plunged into the valley.

The slowly moving mass was only a few yards from a cliff overlooking Herbriggen. Geologists say the threat might continue until spring, when thaws and rain were regarded as certain to bring the slide down.

And in This Corner . . .

BATH, England (AP)—Bath is short of water.

After 16 days without rain, the city fathers announced an official drought and asked citizens to go easy with the faucet.

It is the longest dry spell since April, 1957.

ENDICOTT, Neb. (AP)—It was only a play stamp, but it carried a five-year-old's letter 4700 miles.

Anthony Maxwell Bennett, who lives on Chantry Estate, Ipswich, Suffolk, England, wrote a letter to his aunt, Mrs. Kermit Troxel. He stuffed it in a 3-by-4-inch envelope and addressed it to "Aunt Betty, R1, Endicott, Nebraska, U.S.A."

Then he pasted on a play stamp, clearly labelled "Toy Post."

Once it reached Endicott it went right to Mrs. Troxel. She is about the only person here who regularly receives mail from England.

GRANVILLE, Ohio (AP)—Granville's jail is locked up tight—to keep people out.

Mayor Edson Rupp booted eight transients out of the seldom-used jail Monday after they became rowdy.

Legally, the jail cannot be used for prisoners. State fire laws require a jailer when a jail is in use and Granville has no such person.

Vagrants and transients had been using the two-cell jail as their home away from home. The cells are heated and have hot and cold running water.

Police here use the county jail in nearby Newark.

LIVERPOOL, England (Reuters)—Actress Hilary Crane will join the Royal Philharmonic Orchestra—just to scream.

Hilary, 24-year-old wife of a London doctor, will have to scream like a woman dying at the hands of Jack the Ripper, the mass murder who terrorized London in 1888.

It will be part of the orchestra's performance of Alban Berg's symphonic suite Lulu. Hilary will give out with her scream from off stage as the curtain falls.

Kinsmen Celebrate 38th Anniversary

"Fellowship on a national scale" was the theme of various addresses at the Nelson Kinsmen Club inaugural anniversary meeting, the 38th anniversary of the founding of the club, at the Hume Tuesday night.

Ald. A. K. McAdams spoke to the group as acting mayor, congratulating the club on the work that it has done for the city over the past years. He cited the club for the enthusiasm in the projects presently at hand; the district convention to be held here in May and the proposed health centre.

M. A. Martyn, deputy-governor for the district, told the club some of the background, facts and future plans of the National Association of Kinsmen Clubs. At present, there are 340 clubs, with a total membership of 11,000.

"The Association is pushing the membership; a field that Nelson is doing well in. The old Kinsmen will appreciate the growth of this club. Nelson is presently leading in net gain of members."

Mr. Martyn announced that a Kaslo, Kinsman Club will be inaugurated on Feb. 25.

During his trip to Vancouver several weeks ago to attend the district meeting, Mr. Martyn said that he was impressed by the enthusiasm that clubs throughout the province are showing for the convention to be held in Nelson, May 16, 17 and 18.

Seven of the past presidents of the club reported to the gathering, commenting on the projects that were being undertaken at the time.

E. T. Stromstead, president in 1941 and 1942, and first president of the Nelson Club, told the group of the beginning of the Kinauctions.

Other past presidents giving reports were W. A. Duckworth, Ben Sutherland, W. C. Hancock, A. K. McAdams, F. E. Morris and M. A. Martyn.

Lutheran Church Reviews Year

Secretarial and financial reports were heard from the Lutheran League, the Women's Auxiliary and the Church Council. The budget for 1959 was presented and accepted.

New council members elected were Henry Gardian, Mauri Kataila, John Petow and Mrs. William Costain.

Fined for Speeding

H. E. Dahlquist, a Nelson school teacher, was fined $10 and $3 costs by Magistrate R. S. Nelson in police court Tuesday on a charge of speeding in a school zone. He pleaded guilty to the charge and told the court his mind was "on other matters" at the time.

Herridge Cites Poor Kootenay Rail Service

OTTAWA (CP) — H. W. Herridge Tuesday night embraced all political faiths in the interests of better railway passenger service for British Columbia's southern interior.

The CCF MP for Kootenay West told the Commons he speaks for all political groups in his and adjoining ridings in protesting the "disgraceful" service offered by Canadian Pacific Railway on the Kettle Valley rail line that runs between Lethbridge, Alta., and Hope, B.C.

In this area of 100,000 population, he said, the CPR runs a dayliner "once every other day or so." Since 1957, no sleeping cars or diners had been provided.

WAS "TEMPORARY"

The railway had said it was a "temporary" reduction due to abnormal local circumstances. These "circumstances" hadn't occurred for some months but inadequate service continued.

He referred to rail line bombings, which have been attributed to the Sons of Freedom sect of the Doukhobors.

Mr. Herridge said all the municipalities, chambers of commerce, unions and innumerable other organizations had protested repeatedly about the railway service without success.

All they asked was the addition of a sleeper and a diner car with a step - up in service frequency to at least once a day.

TRAFFIC DOWN

The CPR argued the passenger traffic was greatly reduced in recent years. This was true but it was because of the daylvner — "who wants to sit up 36 or 40 hours and exist on dry sandwiches and lukewarm coffee."

In the interest of providing decent service for the aged, the sick and those travelling with children he urged that the CPR get together with representatives from the area to hear their "modest" suggestions. Perhaps the federal government could pay some of the additional cost that might arise from added patrols on the line to guard bridges.

Earlier, Mr. Herridge got a promise from Transport Minister Hees to speak to the CPR about the service. (See page 3.)

The CCF member said the line is probably the most profitable for the CPR in Canada because of the thousands of tons of ore hauled daily to the Consolidated Mining and Smelting Company at Trail from Kimberley and smelted metal shipped out of Trail.

Power Plant Expansion Sought

PRINCE RUPERT (CP) — Northern British Columbia Power Company is seeking a go-ahead from the Public Utilities Commission to expand its Falls River hydro-electric power unit, it was announced Tuesday.

T. B. Black, general manager said arrangements have been made by the company to secure $1,000,000 to cover projected development at Falls River.

"It will be necessary to make an application to the public utilities commission for approval of the project, its financing and the required certificate of convenience and necessity," he said.

If the commission grants the necessary permission, it will require about 21 months to complete the proposed plant expansion, Mr. Black said.

R. L. Duncan Transferred To Penticton

Richard L. Duncan, who became manager of the Nelson branch of the Royal Bank of Canada just three years ago this month, has been promoted and will become manager of a larger branch at Penticton.

Mr. Duncan's career in banking began at Nanaimo in 1935 and he has served in other branches at Victoria and Vancouver. He was born near Edmonton.

Succeeding Mr. Duncan here will be R. Commons of Quesnel.

Store Thefts Increase Brings Police Warning

An adjournment for a decision on two juveniles charged with theft from a local store has pointed up the increasing number of small article thefts from various stores around Nelson.

The adjournment was ruled by Magistrate R. S. Nelson after hearing a plea of guilty from one of the youths and a plea of not guilty from a second on charges of stealing two boxes of ammunition from the Hudson's Bay store in Nelson. Two witnesses were called in the case.

Police Chief Robert Harshaw said that complaints from merchants are becoming prevalent. "Several juveniles go into a store together; one holds a clerk's attention and the others take small objects from the counters such as lighters, key rings, ammunition, etc., and put them in their pockets."

"Merchants must be wary of juveniles in groups, or alone; especially during noon, 3:30 to 5 p.m. and on Saturdays.

"Parents should co-operate with police and merchants when they find their children bringing home things that they shouldn't have."

Conservation Fund Handling Criticized at Cranbrook Meet

CRANBROOK — Transfer by the provincial government of the $198,000 sportsmen's conservation fund raised through voluntary increase in hunting and fishing licences to general revenue, was sharply criticized at the membership meeting of the Cranbrook Rod and Gun Club Sunday by William Moffatt of Kimberley who was a guest speaker.

He said sportsmen interests were further damaged by a reduction in 1958 of the provincially budgeted amount for Game Commission requirements, and that there would be a further reduction in the 1959 budget. He urged club members to support organized protests against this action.

Second speaker was district game biologist Glen Smith who reported that game population and varieties were maintaining a "wholesome" level through East Kootenay under hunting pressure which grows heavier each year.

He said this indicated that the present season and bag limits were apparently the proper limits for good conservation to keep game herds within the capacity of the available winter range for healthy survival.

Membership chairman Ed Orth Sr. reported paid-up membership has now passed 100, about a quarter of the year's objective.

A club executive meeting February 22 will discuss resolutions for presentation at the March meeting of East Kootenay Zone, to settle district recommendations to the B.C. Sportsmen's Federation April 30 and May 1 and 2 at Penticton where 1959 seasons and bag limits fo rthe whole province are drawn up for presentation to the Game Commission for the year's regulations.

She was born Mary Ellen Shand at Auchterless, Aberdeenshire, Scotland. She and her husband came to Canada and Cranbrook in 1909 when he began service as railway carman here which he continued until his accidental death in the Cranbrook railway yard in 1942.

Mrs. Cox was an active member of Christ Church parish of the Anglican Church and of its women's organizations. She was also a member of the Maple Leaf Rebekah Lodge and the Orange Lodge Ladies' Auxiliary.

Surviving her are three sons, William and Leonard in Kimberley and Walter in Nelson, one daughter, Mrs. Frank Irvine of Cranbrook, ten grandchildren, three great-grandchildren, one brother and two sisters.

Claims Mills' Evidence Shows Lack of Knowledge

VICTORIA (CP) — Dr. J. V. Fisher, B.C. government economic adviser, says a witness didn't know what he was talking about when he told a royal commission here last week that the B.C. Power Commission couldn't pay its creditors for a time in 1957.

Dr. Fisher made the comment in a letter to Dr. Gordon Shrum, chairman of a royal commission investigating the Power Commission. He referred to testimony given by Ian R. Mills, a financial expert with the Power Commission.

Mr. Mills told the commission BCPC couldn't pay its creditors for three weeks because pooled bank credit established by the government had been exhausted.

"Mr. Mills' postulations on market transactions, the marketing of securities or interest trends, reflect a regrettable lack of knowledge on any or all of these subjects," said Dr. Fisher.

"His inference as to the scope of possible or advisable market operations are contrary to a logical interpretation of actual events and compelling conditions which . . . were the result of the volume and timing of the commission's own construction costs."

Mr. Mills testified that the government's decision to pool the credit of BCPC, Pacific Great Eastern Railway and the B.C. Highways and Toll Bridges Authority had at one point worked to the disadvantage of BCPC.

Dr. Fisher said he explained all ramifications of the credit pooling to T. H. Crosby, BCPC. He never had instructions to discuss "financial policy and major financial transactions" with L. H. Briggs, former BCPC general-manager, Mr. Mills or BCPC's technical staff.

The pooling of bank credit was inescapable and in effect the only realistic and flexible way for the minister of finance to secure the maximum worth of a greatly diminished credit line with respect to bank notes—subject to government guarantee.

Herridge Speaks Up for Kettle Valley Service

OTTAWA (CP) — H. W. Herridge (CCF Kootenay West) Tuesline faces "creeping paral- "abnormal" local circumstances try to arrange satisfactory passenger service on the Kettle Valley rail line in the southern interior of British Columbia.

Mr. Herridge said in the Commons that passenger service on line faces "creeping paraysis." The CPR had blamed it on "abnormal" local circumstances and patrolling costs.

He was apparently referring to costs of protecting the line against bombings, which in the past have been attributed to the Sons of Freedom Doukhobor sect.

Mr. Hees promised to speak to CPR management on the question.

Macmillan Lists Dates For Visits

LONDON (Reuters) — Prime Minister Macmillan and Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd will visit Paris March 9 and 10 after their trip to Moscow, it was announced Tuesday.

Lloyd will visit Bonn March 12 and 13.

No Surprises in Throne Speech, Charlottetown

CHARLOTTETOWN (CP)—Prince Edward Island's provincial government unveiled a legislative program with no surprises in the speech from the throne read Tuesday by Lieutenant Governor F. Walter Hyndman at the opening of the 1959 legislature session.

The speech referred to proposed inauguration of the national hospital plan in the province this year but gave no details of coverage or how the plan will be financed.

Premier Alex W. Matheson's Liberal government disclosed plans for changes in agriculture and education policies, resumption of last year's record-program and further development of tourist facilities.

Legislation will be presented at this session to set up a program to help qualified young people get established on farms.

Honduras Claims Gov't in Control

TEGUCIGALPA, Honduras (AP)—The government claimed Tuesday that the army was in control of all Honduras after routing a rebel force which seized the key city of Santa Barbar, near the Guatemalan border.

Congress was expected to declare a state of siege—a modified form of martial law — to strengthen the hand of President Ramon Villeda Morales in quelling the revolt.

The Mexico City newspaper Diario de la Tarde says that a clandestine Honduran radio station, Radio Liberacion, had called on Hondurans to rise up in a general strike and predicted that regular army troops would defect to the rebels.

Government officials, however claimed that the army was remaining loyal to President Villeda Morales.

The Tegucigalpa newspaper El Dia says that Army Maj. Agresio Rodriguez, had been executed by a firing squad after trying to persuade his troops to join the rebellion.

Postal Business Up at Cranbrook

CRANBROOK — Revenue at Cranbrook post office in January from sale of unemployment insurance stamps was $5509.08, Post Master R. E. Fennessy reported in the summary of post office business. This was almost identical with the total of $5510.54 for the month last year but substantially down from the December total of $6286.22.

Volume of business at the post office during the month was $74,776.43, compared with $71,317.60 for the month last year. Postage stamps and meter revenue dropped to a total of $4888.04 compared with 5011.34 last January. The post office issued 3502 money orders and paid 884 money orders, compared with 3525 issued and 881 paid during the month last year.

Grant $5000 Pension to Byron Johnson

A Bill introduced in the Legislature Monday entitled the "Byron Ingemar Johnson Act" will provide $5,000 annually during his lifetime. The first payment will be made next April 1.

Mr. Johnson was Premier in 1952 when an election defeated the Liberal remnant of the coalition government and elected the Social Credit government of Premier Bennett.

Mr. Johnson has been ill.

SIMONDS SEES TEST IN 1960

TORONTO (CP) — Lieut.-Gen. Guy Simonds said Monday night if the West can get through 1960 "without any serious economic or military incidents it may be possible then to have 25 to 30 years of peace."

The former chief of the Canadian general staff said his prediction was based on the expected military situation in Russia and the domestic situation in the United States at that time.

He said he looked to 1960 with "misgivings" since Russia will have reached the peak of its military power and a presidential election will be held in the U.S., meaning the Western world "will be without leadership in that period."

The combination of the two would make it an advantageous time for Russia to seriously challenge the West, he said.

Gen. Simonds told a home and school association meeting he believes the Russians do not want war if they can attain their objectives without it.

Canadian Breweries Trial Date to Be Set

TORONTO (CP) — An Ontario Supreme Court grand jury returned a true bill against Canadian Breweries Limited on a charge under the Combines Investigation Act of operating a combine consisting of a merger, trust or monopoly.

R. F. Wilson, representing the Crown, requested Mr. Justice J. L. Wilson to set the case over until the next assizes of the Supreme Court when a date for trial will be set.

The charge set out in the indictment alleges that the company by purchasing or acquiring control of some 28 companies created a monopoly and operated, or was likely to operate, against the interests of the public.

PM Sees No Advantage In Committee Viewing Bill

OTTAWA (CP) — Prime Minister Diefenbaker Tuesday rejected the idea of having his proposed Bill of Rights brought before a parliamentary committee for study.

"No advantage would be attained by a further adjournment of this matter," he said in the Commons after Leon Crestohl (L — Montreal Cartier) asked whether a committee would be set up to hear representations of interested groups and individuals.

"While in no way closing the door to the possibility, I cannot see any good reason for a further committee to be set up," Mr. Diefenbaker said.

After a number of additional opposition questions on the Bill of Rights, the prime minister replied that the "solicitude" of the Liberals "does not altogether sound consonant with the objections they used to take" to a Bill of Rights.

Opposition Leader Pearson said one reason for the solicitude is that the Bill of Rights, introduced by the prime minister last session, differs so widely from the draft bill Mr. Diefenbaker used to present while in opposition.

Aged Creston Pioneer, Mrs. M. Young Passes

CRESTON — Funeral services were held in Christ Church here for Mrs. Mildred Elizabeth Copeland Young, Creston's second oldest citizen, who died Jan. 31 at the age of 98.

Mrs. Young, who was predeceased by her husband, James Henry Young, in 1900, was born at Bovey Tracey, Devonshire, England. In 1907 she came to Canada and to Creston, where she has since made her home.

In her active years, she was a member of the Anglican Church, the Legion Ladies' Auxiliary, Women's Institute and Imperial Order, Daughters of the Empire. In 1951 she was among many oldtimers honored at a banquet during Creston's Diamond Jubilee celebrations.

Survivors are one sister, Mrs. H. Barber, Dorset, England; two daughters, Mrs. M. E. Hadler, New Brighton, Liverpool, England, and Mrs. H. Rumsey, Creston; one son, Major Henry J. Young, Waveringatte, Bower, Essex, England; 17 grandchildren, 25 great grandchildren, and one great great grandchild (Janice Faye, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alan McAlpine).

She was predeceased by a son, Roland Francis Young, in England in 1947; and a daughter, Mrs. Andy Miller, in Creston in 1919.

Pallbearers at the funeral service were David Evans, Trail; Roland Miller, Rossland; Robert Marshall and William Miller, Creston. Interment was in the family plot in the old village cemetery.

No Plan to Cut Down Sales Tax

VICTORIA (CP) — Premier Bennett does not plan to reduce the five-per-cent sales tax when the direct debt of the province is liquidated in 1960.

He gave a flat "no" to the question in an interview here Monday night. He was asked if he would consider reducing the tax to three per cent because he expects an annual saving of $25,000,000 in interest and debt retirement on the direct debt.

"The government wants to use the extra money available for development of the province," he said.

Mr. Bennett made the statement during a television program press conference over CHEK-TV Victoria. It was his first television appearance as premier.

The premier refused to discuss the Sommers case. He said the matter is before the courts.

(The reference was to former Forests Minister Robert Sommers whose appeal against a five-year jail term for accepting bribes, comes up in B.C. Appeal Court here next week.)

Cattle, Hog Sales Show Increases

MONTREAL (CP) — John S. Whyte of Stratford, Ont., president of the Canadian Meat Packers Council, said Tuesday a preliminary estimate has shown sharp increases in Canadian cattle and hog sales last year.

But he told the council's annual meeting it was unfortunate that the increase was not accompanied by a rising percentage of top quality hogs.

He said better - quality hogs must be produced if Canadian pork is to maintain a strong, competitive position on the domestic and United States markets.

The estimates showed that 1958 sales of Canadian cattle jumped to $607,000,000 from $482,000,000 in 1957 while hog sales rose to $312,000,000 from $292,000,000.

Mr. Whyte said he felt the shortage of top-quality hogs was caused by concentration of effort to market more grain through hogs.

"Too fattening a ration, and finishing for market in a minimum number of days is a tendency which has reflected on quality," he told the opening session of the organization's two - day meeting.

A juvenile was placed on 24 months probation by juvenile court Judge William Evans when the youth pleaded guilty to a charge of breaking and entering and theft from a summer home on the North Shore.

TICKER TAPE FOR BRANDT PARADE

NEW YORK (AP) — Mayor Willy Brandt of West Berlin was treated to a ticker tape parade up lower Broadway Tuesday. The weather was cool and rainy.

Applause and shouts of "bravo" resounded in the mayor's ears as he stood, clad in a raincoat but bareheaded, in an open car leading the parade. Brandt waved his hat in response to the greeting.

Ticker tape cascaded down from the skyscrapers of the Wall Street financial district and crowds thronged the sidewalks despite the weather.

The West Berlin mayor goes to Washington Wednesday for a meeting with President Eisenhower.

Mothers, unco - operative creatures that they are, foisted four small fry on these older brothers and sisters to tag along. Result: three young couples took four little kids to the matinee.

While I was visiting at the hospital a while back I stopped to chat with a lady obviously from the land o' the heather. She told me how she had enjoyed a poem I had quoted from a Scottish paper a while back, for she knew it well. I happened to have the clipping in my pocket which had several other poems thereon and she pointed delightedly to one she said was an old Scotch song her mother used to sing, so for all good Scots in whom it might stir a spark of remembering I'll quote the words of the song by James Ballantyne, for it does have a fine sentiment.

Mr. Pearce reminds me that Valentine's day is coming up and recalls it was one of the happiest times in the school year. I do remember Valentine Boxes and how the girls were covered with blushes when they received one from "The Boy" and how boys, not given quite so much to sentiment, evinced a veiled pleasure in some of the missives they received. I think I'll have to go across to the school and see what the little people are doing, Valentine-wise.

Hungarian Wins McGill Fellowship

MONTREAL (CP) — Thomas Muller, a Hungarian who fled his homeland after the 1956 uprising, has won a fellowship for post-graduate research at McGill University, the university and the Canadian Pulp and Paper Research Institute announced jointly Tuesday.

The award, financed by a division of the Union Carbide Corporation, is for participation in the institute's investigation into the fundamental chemistry of wood. Its value was not disclosed.

Mr. Muller entered the university's faculty of graduate studies and research in 1957. A graduate in chemical engineering from the University of Budapest, he worked with a Montreal firm for a while after coming to Canada.

GRAHAM TO TOUR AUSTRALASIA

HONOLULU (AP)—Sun-tanned and rested, Billy Graham left Monday night for a five-month religious crusade in Australia and New Zealand.

The 40 - year - old evangelist spent the last three weeks in Hawaii recuperating from a nervous disorder in his left eye which doctors ascribed to overwork and strain.

Graham said on his depature by plane for Sydney that his eye was much improved.

"It's about 75 per cent of normal," he said, "and far better than I'd hoped for. It gives me no pain."

He will begin his crusade in Melbourne next Sunday and will conduct meetings there for five or six weeks.

After a two week rest, he will go to New Zealand for religious meetings in Auckland, Christchurch and Wellington, and then return to Australia for services starting in Sydney about April 15.

Graham plans to return to the United States about July 15.

Early Resumption for Barite Output Seen

The plant of McPhail Engineering Company, which was erected last year at Spillimacheen to treat barite from the Giant Mascot mill, and which was destroyed by fire in December, will be rebuilt just as soon as the insurance claim is adjusted and weather permits the work.

As soon as that is done, Giant Mascot Mines will resume its barite recovery operation, the annual meeting was informed by Henry L. Hill, the company's consulting engineer. He said there is a fairly good market for the product in the oil drilling operations of Alberta and Alaska and he held hopes for an important market developing through the activities of the Atomic Energy Board.

Mr. Hill said some difficulty had been encountered in the first treatment of the tailing from the earlier lead-zinc recovery, but that a fully-acceptable concentrate had been achieved and the process perfected. If the market for barite expands sufficiently, it is possible that the mine will be re-opened to extract a large reserve of barite ore, containing also about 0.5 per cent lead and 3.0 per cent zinc. In the event of this development taking place, he said, the present mill equipment was capable of floating a barite concentrate and a lead concentrate but it would be advisable, at the outset at least, to stockpile the zinc.

The provincial government has appropriated 50 per cent of the cost of construction of a six-mile road to the Good Hope mine at Hedley, and at the same time has given the company an extension of time in which to perform the work. Mr. Hill says it is proposed to open the Good Hope and arrangements have been made for milling the ore in the concentrator of French Mines, which has a considerable spare capacity.

In Yukon, Mr. Hill said Nighthawk Gold Mines, a controlled subsidiary, was considering further potential placer ground within reach of the two bucket-line dredges now situated on the Sixty-Mile River south of Dawson. As to Giant Mascot's position in relation to Nighthawk, B. H. Gunning, secretary, informed a shareholder that in round figures 2,605,000 shares of Nighthawk's authorized 4,000,000 shares of capital have been issued and Giant Mascot holds 1,699,000 of the issued shares. Furthermore, Giant Mascot has recovered close to $35,000 of the $55,000 advanced to Nighthawk last year.

The board of directors was reduced from nine to six and the following were elected: A. James Chilcott, W. Clarke Gibson, John L. Gibson, B. H. Gunning, E. C. Thompson and P. A. Wootten. New officers are: W. Clarke Gibson, president; P. A. Wootten, vice-president; and B. H. Gunning, secretary-treasurer.

Extra Members Appointed BCPC

VICTORIA (CP) — Legislation to increase the B.C. Power Commission from three members to five was introduced Monday in the Legislature.

It also provides for an increase in the commission's borrowing power from $250,000,000 to $300,000,000 as forecast in the throne speech.

The commission at present has but two members, Chairman T.H. Crosby and Dr. H. J. MacLeod. The third member, H. H. Griffin, resigned shortly after former commission general manager H. Lee Briggs publicized charges of financial juggling of commission figures by the government.

Mr. Briggs was dismissed for his charges and a royal commission investigation of BCPC operations now is under way.

Also introduced in the Legislature was a bill to increase the borrowing power of the Pacific Great Eastern Railway from $110,000,000 to $120,000,000 and the Toll Bridges and Highways Authority borrowing ceiling from $80,000,000 to $100,000,000.

Says Conciliation Boards Tools Of Employers

VANCOUVER (CP) — Fred Fieber, a vice-president of district 1 of the International Woodworkers of America, Monday told delegates to the district's annual convention here that conciliation boards have almost destroyed labor-management bargaining.

"Conciliation boards are the tool of the employers, put in their hands by a government unfavorable to labor," he said.

He said 1958 saw many strikes and lock-outs and each had its roots in the conciliation board.

A resolution from the Prince George, B.C. local called for removal of the conciliation board from bargaining procedure. It urged that a conciliation officer's report should be the one submitted to both parties in place of a board report.

The resolutions committee counselled that in view of moves being made by employers for restrictive legislation, this was not the proper time to have boards abolished.

A resolution approved called for a forest utilization and regeneration program including management of cutting methods, intensified research and fire and insect control.

A Reflection on Reading

The Nelson Municipal Library, an institution in which the city of Nelson can justly take pride, is performing increasingly valuable service in providing reading for its patrons. That this service is appreciated is shown by the fact that the number of book borrowers has risen from 1828 in 1957 to 1917 last year and that the total number of books circulated was up from 32,042 to 37,088. Compared with other cities in B.C., this is a high rate of use.

With such figures in mind, it is sometimes difficult to believe that this country as a whole reads very little, yet the Peterborough Examiner says that Canadians read fewer books than do the people of any other civilized land in the world, with the exception of the United States.

At any rate, it is heartening to know that Nelson and district people constitute a large readership. Insofar as the Library is concerned, it can be stated that it has done much to foster use of its facilities by adults and children. For one thing subscription is free to residents of the municipality in which it has long been a tradition and a continuously municipally-supported one.

The registration fee charged to those living outside the city limits is one which most of those patrons feel to be extremely reasonable. It is interesting to note in this connection that people as far away as Salmo borrow books regularly. Moreover, the Library is constantly abreast of reading demands, and at the same time builds its reference section for present and future requirements.

Hence the much-used avenues for learning and for reading for pleasure apparent in the Library have in no small way been opened by the Library Board and the Library staff.

The Fight Against Heart Disease

This month the Canadian Heart Fund is making its second annual appeal for funds. The national objective is just over one million dollars.

In the various provinces, most of the money subscribed will be spent on research. Small amounts will be spent on clinics and public education.

Heart disease is the most serious menace to life and health in Canada. Every year this disease kills 65,000 Canadians, about half the total deaths from all causes.

In the years from 1930 to 1956 Canada's population increased 57.7 per cent. In the same period aggregate annual deaths rose by only 20.7 per cent. Part of this can be attributed to greater average longevity and the conquest of some old enemies by medical science. But deaths from cardio-vascular disease in 1956 were up 55.2 per cent from 1930, an increase roughly equal to that of the population. Furthermore, 40 per cent of the victims of heart disease are in the 35 to 54 age group. It disables thousands more than it kills.

The response to this appeal should be both ready and generous.

The west now can be expected to shape swiftly a unified policy on the future of Germany.

State Secretary Dulles' return to Washington from a five-day policy-coordinating trip to London, Paris and Bonn signified the Allies are ready to put down in black and white their counter-proposals to Soviet demands on Berlin and the German question generally.

Their first step likely will be taken in the framing of a joint reply to a Soviet note of Jan. 10 proposing a 28-nation peace conference to work out a German peace treaty. The note, addressed to 27 other nations which fought Hitler's forces in the Second World War, suggested an early meeting in Warsaw or Prague.

Experts from Britain, the U.S., France and West Germany have been working on the reply in Washington for the last week. It now is expected to take final shape on the basis of Dulles' talks abroad.

The reply likely will include one concrete counter-proposal—a foreign ministers conference probably early in May to deal with a broad range of German problems including Berlin and the general question of the reunification of Germany.

It likely would be at this conference, if the Soviets agree to attend one, that the West would make known the concessions, if any, that it is prepared to make in an effort to reach agreement with the Soviet Union on the future of Germany.

Before leaving Bonn during the weekend, Dulles said the West was prepared to make "concessions" on West Berlin and German reunification if the Soviet Union, for its part, would offer "counterpart" concessions.

He was a bit more cautious once he reached U.S. soil. He made no further mention of concessions, though he did tell reporters on his Washington arrival the West was willing to "talk with the Soviets in a sincere effort to reach agreements."

Linked inseparably with the German question is the Soviet threat to withdraw its occupation troops from West Berlin and turn its functions and responsibilities over to East German authorities.

The Soviet Union, suggesting that the West also pull its troops out, has offered to negotiate with the West on the Berlin crisis, but the Allied position is that Berlin negotiations should be wrapped up in the general problems of German reunification and European security.

The Western strategy now will be to nudge the Soviets into talks on the broad problems involved rather than the Berlin question alone.

LARGE
CATHEDRAL ENT.
3-BEDROOM
FULL BASEMENT

Copper planter and wrought iron entrance, floor to ceiling fireplace cabinet kitchen; coppertone hood and fan, 2 roughed-in rec. rooms. Located in lovely Glenayre. Your down payment may handle.

That is an advertisement from one of the Coast papers and I think it is about a house. The large cathedral ent. interests me. If an ent. is an entrance then I would not want a house with a cathedral ent. The cathedral ents. in England have a lot of stony-faced statues looking down over a large door that does not open and you go in a small one at the side and trip over the mat. That is not a comfortable home to go to after a hard day at the office.

Still, it is nice to know that there are three bedrooms and a basement. It is always so nice to think that when you have got tired of running around the full basement you have three bedrooms to choose from. There doesn't seem to be anywhere else to go.

I'm afraid I can't tell you what a copper planter is. I thought at first it might be someone who plants policemen but that doesn't seem to make sense nor does that matter of a wrought iron entrance, not when you think of the cathedral ent.

I should imagine that floor to ceiling fireplace would be quite handy if you can pull it down to the floor when you want to use it and shove it up to the ceiling when you can't.

TOO MECHANIZED

I am all against these cabinet kitchens. My idea of a kitchen is one where a tired husband can lie on the couch amid all the pleasant smells of cooking and watch his fair wife trip lightly around. But those days are gone forever. He, poor man, is out with the power mower while the cabinet kitchen resounds to the noise of the can opener.

We had a copper planter just near the cathedral ent. and now we have a copper hood (hoodlum?) and fan (baseball?) Well, we hope not, unless they are the two who are roughed in the rec. room.

This marvel of the age is located, you will observe, in lovely Glenayre. This reminds me of a cerse my old aunt taught me 60 years ago. "Oh, Mrs. Lumby, Mrs. Lumby. If her face is so fair that's exposed to air . . ." You know the rest, of course, so I won't go on.

No. I don't think we'll stay there in lovely Glenayre. We'll go to Canyon Heights.

POST AND BEAM
1300 FT. — 1½ FLOOR.

Just completed this excellent 6 on 1 post and beam is ready for immediate occupancy. Large finished playroom on the ground floor with fireplace.

Despite what my friends say, I have always believed I have an ordinary amount of intelligence, but that piece about the 6 on 1 post and beam gets me. But in any case I would definitely not go to see a place where the only room seems to be a playroom with a fireplace.

Personally, I don't think these advertisers are very bright. People who want houses can be divided into classes. There are the party hounds. All they want is a large living room and a sink for the bottles. Those with a growing family want plenty of bedrooms and a large kitchen, and older people like a cosy kitchen, a small sitting room, and a comfortable bedroom. Let's have a little more sike (psychology) please, from the realtors.

So Near and Yet So Far

One of these days a car will turn up that can park itself—not only that, but find a vacant spot to do so.

A driverless British tractor opened a new and tantalizing vista for farmers when it moved along a designated route, stopped, started, obeyed traffic lights, and finally switched off the motor. It can, we are told, start itself off from the garage of a morning, do a day's work in the fields, and come home for the night. Its antenna simply picks up signals from a buried control wire.

The only trouble is that an enthusiastic tractor would plow up the wire. How to bury this deeply enough to escape cultivation, yet still assert its authority, is now keeping scientists up nights so that farmers can sleep days.—Toronto Globe and Mail.

Britain To Develop 2500-Mile Guided Bluestreak H-Missile

LONDON (Reuters) — Britain announced plans Tuesday to go ahead with development of a 2,500 - mile rocket as the weapon best suited to her defence needs.

It is the Bluestreak, a guided missile capable of delivering a hydrogen warhead. It can be fired from underground emplacements. There have been reports that it may be test-fired before the end of this year.

The go-ahead announcement—in the government's annual defence report — said the government has concluded "that, on present knowledge, Bluestreak is the type of missile best suited to British needs."

"The development of this weapon is therefore proceeding," the report said.

ROLLS ROYCE ENGINE

Few details have been released about Bluestreak, except that it will have a Rolls Royce liquid propellant rocket engine.

The report, reviewing the first two years of Britain's current five - year nuclear age defence plan, estimated the 1959-1960 defence bill at £1,514,000,000 ($4,250,000,000). This is about one-third of Britain's total annual budget and £20,000,000 more than the actual spending in the current financial year ending next month.

The government said Britain's production of megaton hydrogen bombs is proceeding steadily, in addition to the growing stock of smaller kiloton nuclear weapons.

The report noted satisfactory progress in the development of flying bombs to be released from high-flying aircraft outside the range of enemy anti-aircraft defence systems.

The defence of Britain's own "deterrent bases" would be performed increasingly by ground-to air missiles, of which the British-built Bloodhound Ramjet was the most outstanding.

This missile now was beginning to be deployed in an operational role, and a better one was being developed.

Britain's four - jet Vulcan and Victor bombers remained unsurpassed in speed and altitude by any bomber in service in any other country.

A supersonic, low - flying, nuclear-bomb-carrying plane, the TSR-2, was being developed for army support and other tactical operations. This plane would be able to carry air-to-air missiles.

OTHER DEVELOPMENTS

Other points made by the report were:

Work has begun on four guided missile County class ships with combined steam and gas turbine machinery. Two more will be started soon.

New naval planes included the Scimitar fighter bomber, coming into service, and the Sea Vixen all - weather fighter, to be equipped with Firestreak guided missiles.

Three new Tiger class cruisers and conversion of HMS Bulwark to a commando carrier, will be a valuable addition to naval forces for the protection of overseas territories.

Preparations for the building of the nuclear submarine Dreadnought are proceeding.

Two artillery regiments now have the Corporal guided missile and the RAF now is deploying Thor missiles for training purposes.

END TO CONSCRIPTION

Satisfactory progress is being made to end military conscription by 1962 and reorganize a completely voluntary military force. The plan involves reducing manpower by 300,000 from the 1957 total of 700,000.

Half the reduction will be achieved by April of this year, the report said. It added that the government considers the strength of the regular army should not fall below a planned figure of 165,000.

Montreal Steamship Co. To Withdraw Lake Boats

MONTREAL (CP)—Scott Misener Steamships will withdraw 23 lake boats from service this spring, throwing about 600 seamen out of jobs, it was reported here Tuesday.

About 900 officers, 70 engineers and more than 400 men have been told their services will not be required in 1959 due to a planned reduction of the company's fleet after the opening of the St. Lawrence Seaway.

"There was nothing else we could do," said John E. F. Misener, the company's acting marine superintendent, in a long distance telephone interview from Port Colborne, Ont.

"Once the seaway is open, smaller boats will just not be able to compete economically with the ocean liners. We'll keep nine of the bigger lakers going but the other 23 will either have to be scrapped or sold.

MUCH HARDSHIP SEEN

A spokesman for the Canadian Merchant Service Guild said the company's decision will "cause a great deal of hardship." He said the guild "cannot blame the company because we realize that there is no choice."

"To us, the people directly involved, the St. Lawrence Seaway means one thing only — foreign companies will prosper at our expense.

"We know of no other country that allows foreign ships the right to carry domestic cargo within her boundaries and legally drive the remnants of her own merchant fleet to the wall."

Expectations were other inland steamship companies would also be affected by the opening of the seaway.

T. R. McLagart, president of Canada Steamship Lines Limited, said a few of his company's smaller grain boats would have to disappear.

"These boats used to carry grain from the lake ports to Montreal. As soon as ocean liners can enter the lakes through the seaway there won't be any more use for most of the smaller ships," he said.

A spokesman for Upper Lakes and St. Lawrence Transportation Company said his company has made no plans for a reduction of the number of their lakers.

Forgotten Clause May Aid Fight To Retain Ferries

VICTORIA (CP) — A forgotten clause in an 88- year -old agreement loomed Tuesday as a possible weapon for British Columbia's Social Credit government in its fight to prevent the Canadian Pacific Railway from abandoning its winter ferry service between Victoria, Vancouver and Seattle.

The clause, part of the terms of B.C.'s agreement with Canada when it joined the Dominion in 1871, was brought to light Monday in a legislature speech by Attorney-General Robert Bonner.

Mr. Bonner said he had searched the terms in vain for a reference to a Vancouver - Victoria service, but said they called for regular steamship service between Victoria and San Francisco and between Vancouver and Olympia, Wash.

It had not been determined whether the Dominion had ever undertaken or discharged this responsibility, he said, "but it seems that it might be roughly equated to a daily service between Victoria and Vancouver."

UNCERTAIN OF USEFULNESS

Mr. Bonner said he was not sure what use could be made of these terms of Confederation. But if the legislature supported a motion to have the Victoria-Vancouver service continued, it would be one line of discussion between federal and provincial authorities.

The clause reads:

"The Dominion will provide an efficient mail service fortnightly by steam communication, between Victoria and San Francisco; a twice weekly service between Victoria and Olympia; the vessels to be adapted for the conveyance of freight and passengers."

The CPR announced Friday it would cancel winter services between Vancouver, Victoria and Seattle starting Feb. 26. It also planned to abandon altogether a service between Victoria and Port Angeles, Wash., across Juan de Fuca Strait.

The CPR said its present service between Vancouver and Nanaimo, with a bus connection for the 60 miles between Nanaimo and Victoria, is faster away.

LOSING MONEY

In a telegram ready by Mr. Bonner Monday night, the company explained that the operating licences of the two ships used on the Vancouver-Victoria-Seattle run expire within the next two months. It said heavy expenditure to rehabilitate them for a losing operation could not be justified.

Mr. Bonner said he had determined that the CPR enjoys no franchise from the provincial government, that its licence is a federal one and that it has no responsibility to the board of transport commissioners for the operation of the vessels.

Several members of the legislature said that if the CPR wanted to give up its unprofitable services, it should also give up the profitable ones.

"If we are going to make a move, then take over the whole shebang and let the lucrative Nanaimo run subsidize the others that don't make money," said John Squire (CCF—Alberni).

Unemployment Up In United States

WASHINGTON (AP) — Unemployment in the United States rose by 616,000 in January to 4,724,000. It was the highest number idle in any January since before the Second World War.

Government statisticians said that from a statistical standpoint, however, it was comparable to January, 1950, when the unemployment figure was 4,699,000. They say there may be an error margin of perhaps 50,000 in such estimates.

The number of Americans at work dropped by 1,267,000 to 62,706,000 in January from 63,973,000 in December.

The monthly joint report of the commerce and labor departments attributed the decline to seasonal factors such as release of extra Christmas season workers in stores and post offices, and further curtailment of outdoor work.

Some of these temporary workers were not looking for further employment. Hence they were not counted as among the unemployed.

To Honor First Powered Flight In Commonwealth

By ROBERT HART
Canadian Press Staff Writer

MONTREAL (CP) — The 50th anniversary of the first powered flight in the British Commonwealth will be marked this summer at the third Montreal international trade fair by a series of special events and exhibits depicting the development of Canadian aviation.

Fair officials have announced that among the events is a special celebration to honor Hon. J. A. D. McCurdy, pilot of the air craft that made the first flight in the commonwealth at Baddeck, N.S., in 1909.

A replica of the Silver Dart, which Mr. McCurdy piloted, will be displayed along with exhibits from 30 countries, including Canada.

MARK SEAWAY OPENING

Besides the aviation exhibitions, a marine display has been added to the fair to celebrate the opening this spring of the St. Lawrence Seaway.

Officials say present indications are the number of exhibits at the fair, running from June 5 to June 13, will be roughly double last year's totals.

During the second internationaal fair a year ago there were 243 booths. About 9,500 buyers attended and public attendance was given as 33,534. Officials added that last year exhibitors reported $2,000,000 worth of business was transacted on the floor.

Exhibitors from both sides of the Iron Curtain, plan to show their goods this year. Russia has asked for 100 booths. If the Soviet Union follows through with exhibits, it will be the first time she has done so in North America.

PURPOSE THE SAME

The purpose of a trade fair hasn't changed much since merchants in Europe first gathered to compare their products more than 800 years ago. But a look at some of last year's exhibitis gives an idea of how their goods have changed.

Everything from national foods to heavy machinery and space rockets were shown.

At last year's fair France showed steel products available for seaports, sheet pilig for building construction and tin plate.

Morocco displayed wines and exotic foods along with fertilizers. In the Netherlands exhibit were foods and drinks, modern pewter, clothespins and crystal.

The CBC demonstrated the operation of its international service and broadcast news of the fair in 15 languages for short wave transmission or later broadcast in other countries.

VARIED PRODUCTS

The exhibits included such things as blouses from Germany, hors d'oeuvres from Italy, ovens from France, drop presses from Czechoslovakia, cameras from Japan, giftware from Israel and communications systems made in Canada.

Czechoslovakia, making a big push for increased trade with Canada, had one of the biggest exhibits, including displays in every category. Czech displays took up 3,200 square feet of covered floor space and 400 square feet of open air space.

The force behind the Montreal fair is Karel Stopka, a Czech born immigrant, who fought with the British forces during the Second World War.

He came to Canada in 1951, set up an import-export business and organized private backing for a trade fair after the federal government withdrew its backing of the Toronto fair in 1955.

Suspect False Signals Lure U.S. Planes

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower voiced belief Tuesday that some American planes have been lured across Iron Curtain country borders by false radio signals.

The president was asked at a press conference whether there had been occasions in which U.S. planes such as the unarmed transport reported shot down by Russia last September had been trying to draw Soviet fighters into the air.

The president replied he had issued very strict orders some time ago against any such tactics.

He went on to say that American planes sometimes crossed the border due to navigational errors.

FALSE RADIO SIGNALS

And, he added, he believes false radio signals once in a while have drawn U.S. planes over Soviet or satellite territory.

But for American planes to do anything to cause Soviet fighters to scramble in defence is strictly against orders, he said.

Eisenhower continued to cold shoulder the informal invitation by Soviet Premier Khrushchev that he visit Russia. The president said the invitation, set forth in a speech by the Kremlin leader, was linked with criticism of U.S. leaders. Certainly Eisenhower said, he would want a more official invitation than that —and a more persuasive one.

Former Queen Says Royal Life Like Cage

THE HAGUE (Reuters)—Princess Wilhelmina, queen of the Netherlands for 50 years, describes her official life and duties as "the cage" in her memoirs published Tuesday.

The 78-year-old former queen, who abdicated in 1948 in favor of her daughter, Juliana, describes the subterfuges to which she resorted to break through the wall of "hollow and soul-less" officaldom and establish direct contact with her people.

Breaking out of the cage meant a liberation from spheres of influence that would only have had a harmful and paralyzing effect "on my initiative and courage . . .," she says in the memoirs, entitled Lonely But Not Alone.

She writes of her parents, her youth, the early years of the 20th century, the two world wars and the period between them and the liberation of Holland in 1945.

She concludes with a declaration of faith, saying she has learned to follow the guidance of Christ and to sound the depths to which mankind, in her opinion, has sunk through failing to accept that guidance.

The book—one of the most personal documents ever written by royalty — expresses appreciation for all the Canadian government did for the house of Orange during the war when she was in exile.

Proceeds from the book's sale will go to charity.

New Device to Revolutionize Bridge as Spectator Sport

By HENRIETTA LEITH

NEW YORK (AP) — A new electronic exhibition board that shows spectators at a bridge tournament exactly what's going on in the glass-enclosed privacy of the playing room is being tried for the first time in tournament play.

The occasion is the 1959 world championship bridge tournament, with United States, Italian and Argentine teams competing here.

The American Contract Bridge League hopes the new exhibition board will at last, in the words of a spokesman, "make bridge a spectator sport."

Bridge tournaments have been drawing spectators ever since there have been bridge tournaments, and they have been growing in number. Many efforts have been made to solve the problem of letting the spectators know what is happening without disturbing the concentration of the players.

INGENIOUS METHOD

But one device after another has been found lacking. A projection device used in recent years drew many spectators, but left much to be desired.

Nearly 25 years ago the most imaginative effort of all was tried out for just one tournament.

That system involved 52 men, disguised as cards in the deck, who acted out in an ante-room the movements of the cards in the tournament room, dealing themselves out, stepping forward when played, and retiring from the scene four at a time.

"Never," says an old - timer, "have so many been watched by so few."

Recently, copying somewhat from a device designed by the Italian team and used in a tournament at Oslo, the American League had the special electronic board made up by a display advertising firm.

ONE UP ON PLAYERS

Billboard-size, it takes a 14-man crew to operate it and can be seen by hundreds of spectators. They see bidding and play on the board while they watch the players in the "fishbowl" or glass room used to shield the tournament games from kibitzing.

The "play" on the exhibition board is done by turning lights off behind individual plastic cards as they are played.

The man who turns the lights off by remote control hears the action on earphones from a microphone in the tournament room, and a commentator sits by, explaining what the players did, why they did it, why it was the wrong thing to do or a beautiful play.

Watching the display is a good bit like being on a chandelier right above the centre of a bridge table.

Since all four hands are displayed, you know much more about what's going to happen than the players do — if you happen to be a bridge expert.

Queen's Hemline Rises to One Inch Below Knee

LONDON (CP) — The Queen appeared Tuesday in one of the shortest skirts she's worn since the long dresses of the new look.

It was an emerald green silk, belted tightly at the waist and then flaring out to the hem. The skirt had a wide pleat in front and came only to about an ich below the Queen's knees.

She wore it at an investiture at Buckingham Palace.

Complaint Day At City Hall Draws Few Beefs

NEW WESTMINSTER, B.C. (CP) — Mayor Beth Woods wasn't really disappointed when her "complaint day" turned out to be a flop.

The first woman mayor of New Westminster initiated complaint day to allow voters with grievances to discuss their troubles in a chatty atmosphere, rather than the formality of a council meeting.

"I expect we'll be swamped," she said as she prepared to face complainers from among this city's 31,500 inhabitants on the first complaint day recently.

Then she marched into a committee room — to meet three reporters, two photographers and not a single complaining citizen.

"I guess this means that our city hall staff handles every complaint satisfactorily, or we're the happiest city in Canada," Mayor Woods said.

Two hour later, however, two residents came. In all, six eventually showed up.

"It's a good thing that they can come and talk," said the mayor, "and it's a good sign that they haven't any major problems. Most of the problems are ones that can be remedied easily."

Queen Presents Badge Drawing To Edmonton RCAF

EDMONTON (CP) — The parka-clad figure of an Eskimo and the Eskimo word Piyautailili — Defend Even Unto Death — form the official badge of the RCAF's City of Edmonton reserves squadron.

A full-color drawing of the recently-approved badge, signed by the Queen, has been presented to the squadron.

The badge is one of the most distinctive and unusual examples of air force insignia in the Commonwealth.

It is the first to be presented to an operational RCAF reserve flying squadron and the first in the Commonwealth air forces to introduce a human figure in the design.

It shows an Eskimo with spear in hand against a background of Northern Lights.

The badge is being carved into the floor mosaic of the Church of St. Clement Danes in London, recently rebuilt as the church of the Royal Air Force, along with insignia of other Commonwealth units that fought with the RAF during the Second World War.

Edmonton Couple Unique as Husband-Wife Auctioning Team

By BILL RATHBUN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

EDMONTON (CP) — Jean O'Hara, attractive mother of four, throughly enjoys her job as an auctioneer. She has sold everything from 10-ton hoists to brassieres.

Dark-haired Jean, 33, and her husband Pat, 35, operate an auction centre here billing themselves as "Canada's only man and wife auction team."

She ran her first sale in December while they were living at Hinton, 180 miles west of here. Her husband had operated a hardware store there since 1954 and he had the task of selling the stock of a bankrupt ladies' wear store.

NERVOUS AT FIRST

Jean took pity on him and sold the dainties herself.

"I was very nervous, getting up in front of everybody I knew," she recalls. "Ninety per cent of the people at the sale had come to see what I'd be like, but they were very nice about it.

"I'm used to the crowds now and have no trouble."

Jean's first big sale in Edmonton was a real problem when four men in the front row insisted on signalling their bids by winking.

"I got so flustered I just had to quit," she said. "I just couldn't take all of the bids at the same time."

DIVIDED TASK

At the large four-hour sales held three times a week Jean handles housewares, jewelry, silverware and clothing, while Pat takes the bigger pieces of furniture and equipment.

"But we have a sale coming up of a garage and its equipment," she said. "I'll have to take a mechanic's course to find out what I'll be trying to sell."

Natives of Neepawa, Man., they owned an electrical contracting firm at Roblin, Man., for some years after the Second World War. Jean once helped Pat to wire a farm home. They began their auctioneering career when an auction seemed the best way to clear a large stock of trade-in goods from their hardware store. The hired auctioneer from Edmonton failed to appear, so Pat did the job himself.

When they moved to Edmonton to devote full time to the auctioneering centre, Jean started selling seriously.

NEW ATMOSPHERE

Her husband is enthusiastic about having a woman partner.

"With a woman up front, the whole sale is given a different atmosphere. Now we're getting home owners, young married people and many women to our sales, while most of the dealers, traders and farmers who normally flock to city auctions are dropping away."

"Many of these women are attending their first auction and often call me down from the stage to ask questions about bidding or the articles that are for sale," says Jean.

"But the men don't seem to care whether it's a man or a woman selling. They'll buy if it's their price."

Request Better Shipping For Churchill Grain Port

OTTAWA (CP) — Better shipping facilities for the Hudson Bay grain port of Churchill, Man., are one objective of a two-man delegation in Ottawa Tuesday for the Hudson Bay Route Association.

J. W. Woodward, an association vice-president, and secretary J. F. Gray, both of Saskatoon, have arrived with a 12-point program to discuss with the government before leaving Thursday.

They met Prime Minister Diefenbaker for a half-hour Monday and then talked to Trade Minister Churchill, Northern Affairs Minister Alvin Hamilton and Transport Minister Hees for an hour. Later they called on the National Harbors Board and expected to meet western members of Parliament and various department officials later.

Mr. Woodward said that Churchill last year shipped between 19,500,000 and 20,000,000 bushels of grain—just about its physical limit.

He said the National Harbors Board this spring will make a survey at Churchill to see whether the wharf can be extended. The association also has asked for more elevator space, Mr. Woodward said, "although in a pinch we could get along without it."

He said grain moved from Churchill last year 17 cents a bushel cheaper than from the Lakehead.

This was a saving passed on to the farmer via the Canadian Wheat Board. Even under the Fort William, a saving of about 11 cents would be possible, spread between the British importer and the Canadian farmer.

The last association delegation to Ottawa was about two years ago.

Loggers' Wives On Picket Line

GRAND FALLS, Nfld. (CP)—While 79 striking loggers were being charged in court Monday their wives went on picket line duty and stopped about 60 men from entering the nearby Sandy Lake division of the Anglo-Newfoundland Development Company.

The wives volunteered for picket line duty following the arrest of their husbands Saturday.

The loggers, members of the International Woodworkers of Amerioa (CLC), were charged in connection with the alleged break in of two company woods camps and forcing 51 non-strikers out in a sub-zero blizzard.

TURNED BACK CARAVAN

About 40 women were on duty Monday when an 18-car caravan carrying non-striking loggers attempted to enter the division. They brandished sticks of wood, refusing to let the men through. The caravan returned to Grand Falls.

The strikers were charged with committing "mischief by damaging a woods camp and its contents." Seventy - one were released on $500 bail each. The other eight, who were out on bond awaiting trial on a variety of other charges, were refused bail. The strikers will appear before Magistrate A. E. Cramm here Feb. 24.

IWA President H. Landon Ladd said Monday the Anglo-Newfoundland was to blame for the raids on the woods camps.

He said the company incited the men by the act of "recruiting outsiders to steal" the men's jobs.

"The solution to the problem is for the company to sit down in good faith and make an agreement with the loggers and their union."

About 1,200 loggers went on strike against the company Dec. 31 to back up demands for increased wages and a shorter work week with no loss of take-home pay. The company said if the demands were met it would cripple the Newfoundland newsprint industry.

TIM BUCK ON TRADE

LONDON (Reuters) — Tim Buck, leader of the Labor-Progressive (Communist) party, said in Moscow Tuesday that many Canadians wanted more trade with Russia to get rid of American domination. The Soviet news agency Tass reported that Buck, on tour following his attendance at the 21st congress of the Soviet Communist party, addressed Moscow's Krasnaya Roza silk-weaving factory.

Exploring Planets Not Worth Cost

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Large-scale exploration of the planets—some of which are but "the chemical dungheap of the solar system"—wouldn't be worth the cost, says astrophysicist Heinz Haber.

Haber, here for the 10th anniversary of the Air Force School of Aviation Medicine at Randolph air force base, is a former member of the school's faculty.

"Astronomers and astrophysicists have amassed numerous data about the physical and chemical make-up of the alien worlds in our solar system so that we can say with a fair degree of probability that none of them is equipped to be of absolutely vital interest in terms of human affairs," Haber said.

"The other planets are the chemical dungheap of the solar system, and it is not likely that we shall find truly earth-shaking scientific novelties in the masses of noxious chemicals that constitute the outer shells of the planets."

CITES USES

But, he said, space exploration could result — "outside the defence and propaganda domain"—in communications relay satellites, the development of world-wide television networks, and above all, the study and eventual control of weather and climate.

Dr. T. Keith Glennan of Washington, head of the national aeronautical an dspace agency, said the U. S. will launch more than 40 big rockets this year. He said the space probes or satellites will be for various purposes.

Glennan said the school here will be used for training some of the 12 men to be selected as the first U.S. space men.

STATE SECRETARY ORDERED TO REST

OTTAWA (CP) — State Secretary Courtemanche, 42, has been ordered by his doctors to take a complete rest, his office said Tuesday.

A spokesman said Mr. Courtemanche is "tired" and requires a rest of up to a month. He also said Mr. Courtemanche has a fatty condition often linked with heart ailments.

However, the spokesman said, Mr. Courtemanche has not suffered a heart attack. He will rest in Bermuda.

Grant Le Toquer Leave of Absence

PARIS (Reuters) — Andre Le Troquer, former speaker of the French National Assembly, today was granted leave of absence from the Socialist party during investigations into the "rose ballet" sex scandal.

Le Troquer, 74, has been charged with moral offences in connection with the affair, in which teen-age girls—some from ballet schools — are alleged to have been enticed to take part in striptease and "surprise parties" in villas near Paris. Seven others are charged in the case.

The Socialist party announced it had accepted Le Troquer's request for the temporary leave of absence, which he said he hoped would be short.

More Jobless In Britain

LONDON (Reuters)—The total of unemployed in Britain has increased to 620,000 — the highest figure in almost 12 years—Labor Minister Ian MacLeod announced Tuesday.

MacLeod told the House of Commons that the total number of Britons out of work was 2.8 per cent of the employed population. On Dec. 8, the last time official figures were released, total unemployment was 532,000, equal to 2.4 per cent of the number employed.

The figures released are the highest since a fuel crisis hit the country early in 1947 and forced several factories to close. Unemployment totaled 1,874,000 in February, 1947, but dropped quickly below the 500,000 mark when fuel became available.

BURIED UNDER PIPE

TORONTO (CP) — William Stewart, 29, was killed Tuesday when buried by two tons of steel pipes at the extension being built at the Richard L. Hearne steam generating plant of the Ontario Hydro-Electric Power Commission. A second employee grabbed a cable and swung to safety when he saw the pipes tipping dangerously seconds before they fell.

Tony Curtis Tells How To Choose Film

By BOB THOMAS

KEY WEST, Fla. (AP)—Tony Curtis, clad in immaculate navy lieutenant's whites, saluted and came aboard the submarine Baleo.

This was a scene in a movie, Operation Petticoat, which is being filmed here. It should give a smile to Tony's former shipmates, who knew him as signalman Bernie Schwartz on a sub during the war.

He has come a long way, and I don't mean just in the navy. He is among the brightest, most ambitious and most successful of the new young stars.

YEN FOR PUBLICITY

"Look — it's just like merchandising," he explains, "I want to get the public so hepped up that they can't wait to see the next Tony Curtis picture."

As a result, he is the press agent's dreamboat. While here, he and wife Janet Leigh even crowned the winner of the Operation Petticoat handicap at the dog race track.

But Tony is shrewd enough to know that you don't become a star by publicity alone. You've got to have the product, too.

He told his method of picking pictures: 1. The script; 2. The director; 3. His co stars.

Money?

"That doesn't worry me," he said. "If you're a success, the money will come. I expect to make $900.000 fron my share in The Vikings, and $600,000 for The Defiant Ones."

YOUNG FOR THE TOP

Tony's energy has made him the youngest member of the golden dozen male stars who virtually run the movie business today. None of the other young players has exhibited his drive. After Rock Hudson's career was thriving with his Giant success, he returned to his home lot to do a couple of bombs. "Rock is too complacent," observers Tony.

He rapped another promising young pair — Paul Newman and Joanne Woodward — for escaping to New York between pictures.

"What's with that theatre bit?" he said. "The movie public does not give a hang if an actor has been in a big Broadway smash. Being a movie star is a steady job. You've got to work at it all the time, and it takes at least 10 years before you mean a thing at the box office."

Ken McDougall Denies Suspension by IBT

OSHAWA, Ont. (CP)—Ken McDougall of Oshawa, president of local 938, International Brotherhood of Teamsters (CLC), denied Tuesday that he had been suspended by a membership meeting in Toronto Sunday, as stated in a Canadian Press story on the meeting.

He said members at the meeting had decided to send a telegram to James Hoffa, union president, asking that he (Mr. McDougall) be suspended pending investigation of three charges they made against him.

"Up to now I haven't heard of any reply from Hoffa," Mr. McDougall said. "If I had been suspended as CP stated I would not be going to work this morning."

FUND CHARGE EXPLAINED

He said the charges alleged he used abusive language to one member, mishandled two grievances and misused union funds.

Mr. McDougall said the complaint of misuse of funds arose after he had installed new lighting in two offices and a washroom at a cost of $371. He said complainants insisted he should have sought a membership vote before spending the money.

Mr. Hoffa has set up a panel to investigate the charges, he said.

Mr. McDougall said the CP story was inaccurate in other respects.

ATTENDANCE QUESTIONED

There were 286 teamster members at the Sunday meeting, not 450, he said.

The story said Gordon Newman, whom it identified as a member of the contract bargaining committee, had introduced a motion to put the local into trusteeship. Mr. McDougall said Mr. Newman is not a member of the bargaining committee but is a member of the committee set up to investigate alleged irregularities in a vote for ratification of a new working contract.

He said the trusteeship motion was not a motion from the contract bargaining committee but was a recommendation from the investigating committee.

McGILL NEEDS FUNDS

MONTREAL (CP)—McGill University reported its operating costs of $13,300,100 during the 1957-58 academic year exceeded its available income by $339.900. Dr. F. Cyril James, principal and vice-chancellor, said Tuesday in his report the university's difficulties were made more severe by "limitation of revenues."

Leafs Take Warriors 4-2; Stretch Lead to Four Points

ROSSLAND — Nelson Maple Leafs broke the tight Western International Hockey League race wide open Tuesday night, whipping Rossland Warriors 4-2 before 500 fans and stepping into a four-point league lead.

The victory put Leafs in a strongly favored position to wrap up the league title. Both Nelson and Trail have only five games remaining while Warriors have six.

Mickey Maglio notched two of the Nelson goals while Marsh Severyn and Howie Hornby tallied the others. Carl Cirullo and Gil Desrosiers scored for Rossland.

The first period ended scoreless and Leafs jumped into a 3-0 lead in the second.

Nelson, showing speed and precision, outskated the Warriors throughout and nearly earned goalie George Wood his fourth shutout of the season.

Rossland goalie Gus Adams kept the score closer with some spectacular playing.

Severyn counted from Howie Hornby early in the middle stanza to shoot Leafs into the lead. Maglio notched his first goal on a power play at 5:46 and banged in his second of the period four minutes later.

17TH OF SEASON

Hornby scored Nelson's fourth goal, his 17th of the season, at 8:50 of the third. Four minutes later Cirullo slapped in a long screen shot to break Wood's shutout. Desrosiers added Rossland's second in the last two minutes of play, scoring unassisted shortly after a faceoff.

Six of the eight penalties handed out in the game went to Nelson. Included among Leaf penalties were two 10-minute misconducts. In the second period playing-coach Ollie Dorohoy came out with some rough language on the bench as referee Sarge Sammartino skated by, resulting in the first misconduct.

The standings:

Nelson	19	15	2	152	131	38
Trail	16	17	2	132	150	34
Rosland	15	17	2	153	156	32

Goalie George Wood received the other in the third stanza for vigorously protesting a two-minute "handling-the-puck" call to teammate Carl Forster.

Nelson outshot Rossland 34-29.

Lineups:

Nelson: goal, George Wood; defence, Shorty Malacko, Con Madigan, Marsh Severyn; forwards, Howie Hornby, Charlie Goodwin, Carl Forster, Lee Hyssop, Mickey Maglio, Wendy Keller, Bill Thieman, Ollie Dorohoy.

On the Point

Hockey fever, like all maladies, manifests its own catalogue of symptoms. As the delirium of the playoffs approaches, Nelson hockey fans are displaying the normal indications which accompany the advanced and hopeless stages of the sporting bug. With this season's popular and crowd-pleasing edition of the Maple Leafs perched atop the WIHL standings, every victim of the ice excitement is suddenly emitting sounds like a hockey coach.

Advice on who to play where, what to play when, and when to play whom, fill half-empty coffee cups, packed stands and corner-convened hockey councils with enough exuberant wisdom to confuse all but the most determined, decisive and self-reliant individual. In the midst of this normal, healthy and happy hockey hubbub, it is reassuring to see Leaf coach Ollie Dorohoy, wearing the same steady smile which accompanied his guidance of Nelson's hockey fortunes when the local lads were deeply entrenched in the WIHL cellar.

* * *

Thanks to the tremendous effort Leaf players have put forth under Ollie's leadership, along with the coach's own careful manipulation of talent in times of disrupting injuries and decisive crises, Nelosn is now rehearsing its first real WIHL victory chant in a long time. With half a smile from Lady Fortune, we expect to see the Leaf colors colliding with those of the Okanagan before the pussy-willows bloom. Meanwhile, hockey fever rises, especially inflamed by the prospects of a terrific Trail-Nelson struggle in the local arena this Saturday. And as it rises, everyone will formulate enthusiastic theories for fastening the Leaf pennant on the victory masthead. Such is the happy, harmless humbug of hockey fever. It's something indicative of genuine sporting interest and terdific team support. We wouldn't be without it, for it represents our Canadian counterpart to the baseball wisdom that floods every town and hamlet in the U.S.A. when the World Series rolls around. But like our cousins to the south, we sure hope no one pays any attention to us.

* * *

We don't know how the Rossland-Nelson game turned out last night as we write this, but we do know this week's WIHL crisis is scheduled to explode on Saturday when Smokies visit Nelson. If Leafs can up-end Trail in that one, all of us can share Dorohoy's confident smile about the ultimate outcome of the league's dramatic dash for the finals. We didn't see any clear prediction in the crystal ball about last night's clash in Rossland; but there it is, clear as Kokanee Peak on a Spring morning, Nelson is going to smother Smokie hopes come Saturday evening!

Trail to Bid for Legion Curling Championship Play

TRAIL (CP) — The Trail branch of the Canadian Legion announced Tuesday it will make a bid to stage either the 1960 or 1961 Dominion Legion curling championships here. Trail will officially reply at this year's Dominion bonspiel at Lloydminster, Sask., when venue of the 1960 event is announced.

Castlegar Cubs Defeat Pups, Kettle Falls

Nelson's Notre Dame Pups journeyed to Castlegar Saturday for a preliminary game against Castlegar Cubs. The Pups were defeated 53-32 but put up as game a battle as could be expected from a team of their calibre.

The game preceded a match between Nelson All Stars and Trail All Stars, won 60-59 by Trail.

At half time in the preliminary game the score was 19-16 for Cubs.

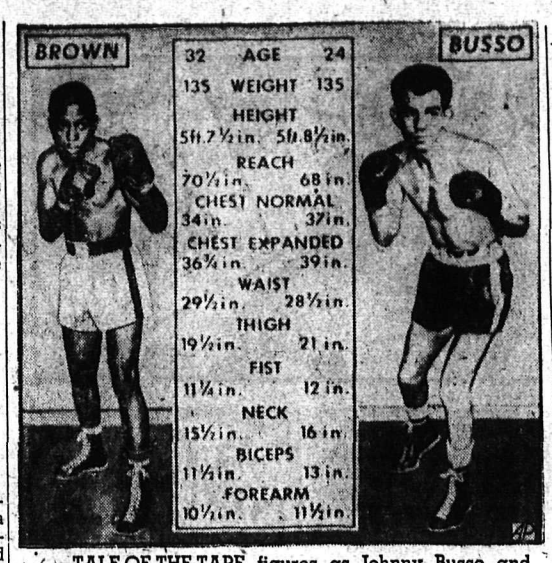
Top scorer for Cubs was Fred Horcoff, who picked up 24 points. Notre Dame leader was Bill Gaines with nine.

Castlegar will be the scene of this year's Kootenay Tournament and Castlegar expects main opposition to come from Nel All Stars, with the Trail team placing a close second.

Sunday, in accordance with a tough basketball weekend, the Cubs travelled to Kettle Falls, Wash., where they whipped their rivals 82-76.

Top scorer for the Cubs was Horcoff with 33 points and Rennie Mitchell, playing coach, was second with 17. Big men for the Kettle Falls club was Odon with 30 and Wilson with 20.

Winner of the tournament at the end of this month will travel to the Okanagan. Coast champion will then meet the winners of the Okanagan-Kootenay series.



TALE-OF-THE-TAPE figures as Johnny Busso and Joe Brown meet in the ring tonight.

8000 Fans To See Brown-Busso Bout

HOUSTON, Texas (AP) — Lealthery Joe Brown of Baton Rouge, La., the busiest of boxing champions, puts his world lightweight title on the line for the sixth time in two years tonight against the bristling challenge of his erstwhile conqueror, Johnny Busso.

Brown will have a couple of things in mind as he faces the New York strong boy—keep his title and gain revenge for an unexpected licking last November when Busso whipped him in an overweight match.

The 15-round fight at 7 p.m. (PST), will be televised nationally. More than 8000 fans paying close to $60,000 will be in Sam Houston Coliseum to watch Brown defend his crown here for the third time in nine months. Television will bring in $40,000.

THE MONEY SPLIT

Brown will receive about $40,000, Busso $20,000. It will bring the champ's ring earnings in Houston alone to around $120,000.

Lou Viscusi, Brown's manager, admits that Busso will be the strongest challenger Brown has met.

Brown will enter the ring as a 7-5 favorite which is much shorter odds than in his previous Houston fights—his knockout of Ralph Dupas in May and his decision over Kenny Lane in July.

WON TITLE FROM SMITH

Brown has been champion 2½ years. He took the title in 1956 from Wallace (Bud) Smith, and has defended it against Smith, Orlando Zulueta, Joey Lopes, Ralph Rupas and Kenny Lane.

Busso has been fighting better than six years and has a 35-7-1 record, including 15 knockouts. In Brown's 13 years as a pro, he has kayoed 32 foes.

Brown, who is 33, will give away nine years. Busso's youth is the main thing his manager Nuncio Delucia is counting on.

PENTICTON (CP) — Fleet Billy Hryciuk, Kamloops Chiefs playing coach, continues to show his heels to the remainder of the league and zoomed to a 23-point lead in the Okanagan Senior Hockey League's individual scoring race.

Statistics released Tuesday credit the fleet winger with 49 goals, 66 assists and 115 points — all league highs.

Jones Boosts Lead in League Scoring Race

During the past week, Harold Jones of the Rossland Warriors, strengthened his lead on the rest of the pack for the individual Western International Hockey League scoring race. Nelson, however, has more players in the top 10 goal getters than any other team in the league.

Mickey Maglio, Lee Hyssop, Shorty Malacko and Ollie Dorohoy are still holding their own against the league's best. Inside the next two weeks, if Carl Forster continues playing as he has recently, a fifth Nelson player may be added to the list.

Con Madigan remains the "bad man" of the league statistics showing he has been in the "sin bin" for a total of 117 minutes. Gerry Penner and Bob Kromm of Trail Smokies, are not far behind with 81 minutes.

Another Nelsonite in the limelight is George Wood, who is still top goalie in the league.

Wings Give Abel New Contract

DETROIT (CP) — "A vote of confidence is a lousy deal unless you put some money in it," said general manager Jack Adams on Tuesday, as he gave coach Sid Abel, Detroit Red Wings, a new contract.

While the NHL club is stumbling around in the worst slump in its history, Abel received a contract for the 1959-60 season.

It was the first time the Red Wings have made such an announcement during a season.

"We figure it might give the club a boost," said Adams. "And it'll show Sid we have all the faith in the world in him. A vote of confidence is no good unless it's in writing."

Leafs to Host Flyers Again

Nelson hockey fans will have a second opportunity to see the Spokane Flyers in action here, it was announced Tuesday.

The Nelson Maple Leaf executive and Civic Centre manager Jack Morgan have arranged another game between Leafs and the powerful Western Hockey League team, Feb. 18.

The Flyers were last here Jan. 21, when they trimmed the Leafs 5-3 in a fast exhibition game.

Travelling with the team again will be Blinkey Boyce, who travelled to Nelson for the last game but picked up the 'flu and was unable to play. Back in the nets will be Emil (the Cat) Francis, who thrilled Nelsonites with his antics between the posts.

Canada's CAREER SOLDIER in Europe

To Europeans, the soldier in the Canadian Brigade of the NATO forces is visible assurance of Canada's determination to support the causes of peace and the free world.

Respected for his ability as a fighting soldier, he is also proving himself to be an ambassador of goodwill.

While he enjoys the material things a man appreciates most: travel and adventure . . . good pay . . . opportunity for advancement . . . job security, his greatest satisfaction is the knowledge that he is doing a worthwhile man's job.

ROCKETS IN ANTARCTIC

LONDON (Reuters)—The British Interplanetary Society announced Tuesday it is studying a plan for a Commonwealth rocket base in the Antarctic to carry out space research.

Commonwealth Members Blast S. African Policy

JOHANNESBURG (Reuters)—Delegates from older Commonwealth countries such as Canada, Australia and Britain were the strongest critics of South Africa's racial segregation policy at the recent Commonwealth relations conference in New Zealand, C. M. Woodhouse, director general of the British Royal Institute of International Affairs, said in an interview Tuesday.

Woodehouse, visiting South Africa after attending the conference, told the Johannesburg Star:

"Although there are obviously strong feelings among Asians and Africans about South Africa's racial policies these criticisms were temperately expressed."

The debates had never been acrimonious and critics had said South Africa's policies were misguided rather than "evil," he said.

Parents Charged In Baby's Death

PEMBROKE, Ont. (CP) — Crown Attorney Graham Walsh said Tuesday Mr. and Mrs. Donald Barnhart will be charged under the Criminal Code in connection with the Jan. 27 death of their six-months-old daughter Shirley Anne.

A coroner's jury Monday night said the child died of malnutrition and pneumonia and attributed the death to negligence by the parents.

The Barnharts lived in a rented cabin in an auto-court on the outskirts of Pembroke.

Mr. Barnhart, a garbage collector at nearby Camp Petawawa, was said to have been out of work since injuring a shoulder three months ago. He was said to have been in hospital at the time of the baby's death.

Mrs. Barnhart told the jury she had not even 10 cents to telephone a doctor. She said there was no food and only two blankets. She had not realized how sick the baby was until too late.

Mrs. F. W. Goldberg, owner of the cabin, said it was clean when the Barnharts moved in "but they dumped garbage at the front door and the inside was filthy."

The jury recommended that the five remaining children should be placed in the care of a Children's Aid Society and that a limitation should be placed on the number of persons occupying cabins in the court order.

Tourists Puzzled And No Wonder

By EUGENE LEVIN

FLORENCE, Italy (AP) — The tourists were downright puzzled. They had just come from Rome where a vigorous Pope John XXIII rules the Vatican. Now they were in Florence looking at the tomb of Pope John XXIII.

The guide saw the bewilderment on their faces.

"I'm sorry," he said. "I must explain. This is the tomb of a Pope John XXIII who died in the 15th century. He really wasn't a legitimate pope. He was an anti-pope, a false claimant to the papacy.

"For years I have told tourists that this is the tomb of Pope John XXIII. I never had to distinguish between him and the present Pope. Now I must, and I keep forgetting."

MAGNIFICENT TOMB

The tomb of the 15th - century John long has been one of the sights in this city of arts. If anything, the election of a new Pope John XXIII last October should make it more of a tourist attraction.

Donatello and Michelozzo, two of the greatest Italian Renaissance sculptors, have given the anti - pope a magnificent tomb worthy of a legitimate claimant to the papacy. It is located in the Baptistry, just outside the historic Cathedral of Florence.

How did a man considered a false pope get such a fine tomb?

The anti-pope, born about 1370, was Baldassarre Cossa, son of a noble family of Naples. He was eight years old when the "great schism" split the roman Catholic Church. One Pope, Clement VII, set up shop in Avignon, France; another, Urban VI, in Rome.

The schism continued through the reigns of popes Boniface IX, Innocent VII and Gregory XII in Rome, while the anti-pope, Benedict XIII, succeeded Clement in Avignon.

Cossa, a youth of talent and energy, entered the service of the popes of Rome and became a cardinal at the age of 32. Seven years later he played an important part in the council of Pisa, which sought to resolve the schism. Instead, it merely created another schismatic faction.

POLITICAL OVERTONES

The council ruled that both Gregory XII at Rome and Benedict XIII in Avignon should be deposed. Then Cossa brought about the election of Alexander V, now considered an anti-pope. A year later, in 1410, Alexander died and Cossa was elected Pope John XXIII by the cardinals supporting him.

The schism had political overtones and Cossa had the solid support of the rich city of Florence, which was then building itself into a rival of Rome and of France.

But Gregory in Rome and Benedict in Avignon both refused to give way to Alexander or his successor, John, and until 1415 there were three rival claimants to the papacy.

In that year, the council of Constance brought about John's abdication. Benedict was declared deposed. Gregory resigned to help resolve the schism.

Two years later, Martin V was elected pope and the schism ended. Cossa paid homage to Martin, who returned the erstwhile Pope John XXIII to the cardinalate.

Cossa had long been a favorite of the flourishing Florentine republic and he went to Florence to spend his last years. On his death, his magnificent tomb was ordered built by Cosimo de Medici, a founder of the powerful ruling family of Renaissance Florence.

Big Question Hangs Over CBC Talks

OTTAWA (CP) — A $1,500,000 question mark Tuesday hung over negotiations between the CBC and 74 striking Montreal producers.

An early settlement of the dispute, in its sixth week, was dubious.

The question: What happens to non-strikers who have respected producers' picket lines in Montreal during the 43 days of the walkout?

After six consecutive days of tangled negotiations, cross-negotiations and proposals and counter proposals, the situation yesterday was that a group of unions wanted non - strikers respecting picket lines to be included in a strike-ending agreement.

WANT PAY

The non - strikers who did not cross the picket lines of the producers in Montreal have suggested that they should be paid for the time they did not work.

Ron Fraser, CBC public relations director, said Monday night the CBC cannot accept this.

"If you consider the back pay of the employees there is $1,500,000 involved," he said.

Fernand Quirion, president of the Association des Realisateurs de Montreal (CCCL) which called the strike, said his group has assured the other unions it will not sign an agreement until it has completed negotiations with the CBC on the non - strikers' terms for returning to work.

RESUME TALKS

The CBC said it is negotiating with the producers and for the moment with no one else.

The producers went on strike Dec. 29 for recognition of their group as bargaining agent. The CBC had maintained the producers were part of management.

Another development Monday night: T. J. O'Sullivan, Canadian network director for the National Association of Broadcast Employees and Technicians (CLC)—one of the unions respecting the producers' picket lines—said he has ordered the printing of a strike ballot for NABET's 1,400 members in the CBC, though the actual taking of a ballot has not been ordered.

Mr. O'Sullivan said the CBC has violated its contract with NABET "outrageously and in a wholesale manner" by having people operating technical equipment which by contract only NABET members are permitted to operate.

Canada Leads West In Uranium Output

By JOHN E. BIRD
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada in 1958 was the Western world's leading producer of uranium concentrates, the raw material used to make uranium metal for nuclear reactors and atomic bombs.

For the first time in the new atomic era Canadian output topped that of the United States, previous leading producer in the West, latest official figures show. No figures have ever been made available by Russia on its production.

Canada was able to displace the U.S. because of an unprecedented rise in output in 1958.

Canadian production last year rose to 13,537 tons, more than double the 6,557 tons produced in 1957. U.S. output rose at a lesser rate to 12,560 tons from 8,495, giving Canada a lead of 977 tons over American producers.

WON'T HOLD LEAD

However, Canada is not expected to retain her leadership in 1959. The U.S. Atomic Energy Commission estimates that American production this year will be about 18,000 tons, compared with about 15,000 for Canada.

South Africa continued as third largest producer last year with 6,200 tons, up from 5,700 in 1957.

Canadian production last year had a value of $274,416,000 while U.S. output was worth about $238,000,000.

Most of Canada's 1958 uranium production was exported to the U.S. Substantial quantities also were shipped to Britain under a contract between the U.K. and Eldorado Mining and Refining Limited, the federal governments uranium purchasing agency.

EXPORTS DOUBLED

Uranium exports in the first 11 months of 1958 totalled $241,812,000, up from $109,836,000 in the corresponding period the previous year.

Canadian reserves of uranium ore at the end of 1958 were estimated at 377,000,000 tons containing about 392,000 tons of uranium oxide. This compares with a July, 1958, estimate of 334,100,000 tons of ore containing about 345,000 tons of oxide.

U.S. ore reserves at Dec. 31, 1958, totalled about 82,500,000 tons while South African reserves are estimated at more than 1,000,000,000 tons.

English Girl Still Torn Between Loves

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — An English lass who insists she will return to England next week and marry a boy friend there has been granted a visa extension to spend more time with her American suitor.

Dark-haired, 24-year-old Pauline Giles was given the extension Monday by the American consul at Windsor, Ont. It was not learned how long it would last. She arrived in Montreal Sunday and then came here with her American beau, 23-year-old Chicago Tribune advertising salesman Loran Shaffer. They visited his parents in Lansing Monday and plan to go on to Chicago to see the sights and meet some of his friends.

But she says she still loves Loui (that's Louis Gaches back in England) and is going to marry him "as soon as I can."

If she loves Louis, then what's she doing on this side of the Atlantic with a salesman?

Did it on a dare, she told reporters. But then quickly added:

"I guess you might say I was kidnapped, too."

"No you weren't," replied Loran. "Nobody dragged you on to that plane."

Loran said he spent more than $1,000 on the trip to England to persuade Pauline to marry him.

PARENTS BACK SHAFFER

Her parents, Maj. and Mrs. Edward H. Giles of Eastcote, Middlesex are all for him.

Loran and Pauline met last year at South Bend, Ind., where they were both working in a dress shop. He was a student at Notre Dame, and she a visitor who was trying to forget Louie — also a salesman.

"I fell in love with her and I thought she loved me," said Loran.

When she went home she wrote Loran. One of her letters complained that Louie was mistreating her.

Loran took his savings and went after her. But he found her affections had cooled.

He begged her to come home with him. Her parents backed him up. Reporters dared her. She came.

But she has since talked to Louie by transatlantic telephone and he has persuaded her to return to England

Surgeon Loses Tax Appeal

OTTAWA (CP) — An Ontario surgeon who set up an "ingenious device" to avoid paying full personal income tax has lost his case before the Income Tax Appeal Board.

In a unique judgment made public Tuesday, the board dismissed the appeal of the unidentified surgeon—the case was heard in camera — against the action of the revenue department in assessing higher taxable income against the doctor in 1954 and 1955. Amount of income concerned was not disclosed.

The surgeon, his wife and a chartered accountant in 1954 set up a private corporation into which the surgeon's fees received from patients were paid. The doctor was paid a salary by the corporation.

The surgeon thus found himself taxed as an individual on a considerably reduced income, the balance retained by the company being taxable at a rate of only 20 per cent on the first $25,000.

"Appellant followed this course in the best of good faith, I am sure," writes board member R. S. W. Fordham, "but it did not commend itself to the minister (of national revenue)."

"The idea of a professional man organizing a company for the purpose of improving his income tax position is pat to be looked at askance by those concerned with the collection of revenue unless some other important and unrelated benefit is also derivable. That any such other benefit is available appears unlikely indeed where a medical practitioner is concerned. . . ."

Queen Knights Alec Guinness

LONDON (AP) — The Queen Tuesday knighted actor Alec Guinness.

Touching him with her sword, first on his right shoulder and then on his left, the Queen made him a Knight Bachelor.

The ancient and colorful ceremony took place in the great gilded ballroom of Buckingham Palace.

A total of 193 other men and women received their honors at this first of six investitures the Queen is holding.

Unemployment Easing Off

PRINCE RUPERT (CP) — The peak has been passed and a gradual easing of unemployment is expected in this district, Gordon Simpson, manager of the National Employment Service here said Tuesday.

There were 2864 unemployed at Jan. 30, including 2242 men, compared with 3278 at the same time a year ago, he said.

Benefits here totalled $240,000 during January.

CNR Rumors Have Halifax Worried

HALIFAX (CP)—Halifax port officials are worried about reports that the CNR plans to extend a railway line up to Baie Comeau, Que., on the north shore of the St. Lawrence River.

They said it could result in a reduction of overseas grain shipments through Halifax. Cargill Grain Company is said to be considering construction of a large elevator at Baie Comeau, about 230 miles northeast of Quebec City. The port is normally open after upriver ports are ice-bound.

Halifax port manager J. R. Mitchell said Tuesday "it would definitely affect us and would extend the St. Lawrence winter season into December and part of January."

Stanley Lee, chairman of the Halifax port commission, said: "If grain could be moved cheaper through Baie Comeau, then it would definitely affect the port of Halifax."

Halifax shipped about 13,500,000 bushels of grain in 1958. So far this year about 6,000,000 bushels have been handled. The port has storage for 4,150,000 bushels.

Church Group Turns Sinners to Saints

By BRUCE LEVETT
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO (CP) — In southwestern Toronto, just down the street from a police station and across from a fire hall, is a small Anglican church with a basement full of Saints.

St. Mark's was built 80 years ago to serve a fashionable parish. Today, it stands amid small factories and rooming houses. The police station on the corner is busy—so is St. Mark's.

The Saints are a group of boys familiar with the inside of both.

STARTED YEAR AGO

"It began just over a year ago," says Rev. O. R. Orr, the rector. "Two boys, one of them Jewish, came to my door. They had been meeting with their friends on the streets and at a restaurant around the corner."

The boys, ranging from 16 years old to 20, were looking for somewhere to hold dances and meet free from the depredations of rival gangs.

Mr. Orr talked it over with his church leaders and they agreed.

The Saints — "I don't know whether they adopted the name just before they started coming here or just after"—were in.

A youth expert has since told the rector the boys likely "cased" the church before they made their move. The fact they did make the move, Mr. Orr says, is a good sign.

STRICT RULE

The boys, all living in the Parkdale area around the church, elected officers and began work on a constitution. A prime rule—"one conviction and you're out of the club."

They meet Wednesdays in a room in the parish hall and on Saturdays they hold dances in the auditorium at 75 cents a head and with their own bouncer on the door.

"Liquor is banned but at each dance one or two are found to have been drinking. Sometimes many of them have," the rector says. "But I've had to shut down the dance only twice."

It was a new world for Mr. Orr, London, Ont. - born product of boarding schools, Trinity College, Harvard and a New York seminary.

The first winter he spent "a great deal of time" in court on behalf of the Saints. This year "I've had very little to do in that regard."

MOST HOLD JOBS

In the beginning, many of the boys were out of work—now, in a period of much unemployment in the neighborhood—most have jobs. "I don't know how to explain it unless the boys are, through organization, becoming more fitted to cope with society."

The boys' ignorance of religious matters is especially heart-breaking for Mr. Orr. He lectures on medieval church history—but not to the Saints.

"The boys are absolutely clueless on the Christian religion."

Some have become interested in weight - lifting. They tried hockey and basketball "but they wanted to be stars the first night." They lose interest in anything they can't master immediately.

"We could certainly use the services of a qualified psychiatrist," Mr. Orr says. "There is a great danger in amateur work in this field."

WRITER HELPS

Jean Beattie, a young writer who became interested in boys' work after her mid-town apartment was robbed and the young thief caught, is helping Mr. Orr. So is an executive of a large advertising firm.

The three—along with Shirley Harmer, Canadian television star now acting and singing in Hollywood—are honorary, card-carrying Saints. Miss Harmer won her card when she sang at one of the Saints' dances.

"The movement of the boys from rectory to parish hall to church is going extremely slowly," Mr. Orr says. "It will continue so until more time can be spent on it." He is expecting to be given two assistants shortly.

Some of the Saints' parents have begun showing an interest in the church, but not many. "The problem is to turn this interest into settled practice."

At their peak last fall, there were nearly 70 members. Many dropped out and others came in. One, who shows writing talent, is being coached by Miss Beattie.

But for the most part the word "Saints", lettered on the backs of their red jackets, can't be taken literally.

Nine Negroes Enter Alexandria Schools

ALEXANDRIA, Va. (AP)—Nine Negro children entered three previously all-white public schools here Tuesday without incident.

They were admitted under court order and backed by a display of police force but there was nothing to indicate any need for the guard.

Alexandria thus became the third Virginia community to accept racial integration since the collapse of the state's "massive resistance" program and the failure of last-ditch court efforts to obtain at least delay.
