"WILL THERE BE WAR?"

KHRUSHCHEV SETS DEADLINE

PARIS (AP) — The newspaper Figaro reported Tuesday that Premier Khrushchev has sent President de Gaulle a message fixing a period of 24 months for withdrawal of allied troops from West Berlin.

Figaro, which usually is well informed, said the message was in "rather blunt" terms and was sent several days ago.

No official comment was forthcoming on the report.

One Blames Other For Summit Flop

PARIS (CP)—The summit conference ended Tuesday with East and West bitterly blaming each other for its failure.

To the last minute Soviet Premier Khrushchev insisted that he could not meet with the West unless President Eisenhower apologized for the U-2 spy plane incident and promised to punish those responsible.

Eisenhower refused to go beyond a statement that such flights over the Soviet Union are ended.

The Western leaders met after President de Gaulle, host for the sessions, called for a full-fledged get-together. They waited for Khrushchev to appear. He refused to do so until, as he put it, the United States gave him satisfaction.

Last - ditch efforts by the British, through a meeting between Foreign Ministers Andrei Gromyko and Selwyn Lloyd, failed to break the impasse.

Then the Western leaders met for a second time Tuesday night in a meeting that lasted only 20 minutes. Finally, at 10:30 p.m., the Western powers issued this communique:

"The president of the United States, the president of the French republic and the prime minister of the United Kingdom take note of the fact that because of the attitude adopted by the chairman of the council of ministers of the Soviet Union it has not been possible to begin, at the summit conference, the examination of the problems which it had been agreed would be discussed between the four chiefs of state or government.

"They regret that these discussions, so important for world peace, could not take place. For their part, they remain unshaken in their conviction that all outstanding international questions should be settled not by the use or threat of force but by peaceful means through negotiation. They themselves remain ready to take part in such negotiations at any suitable time in the future."

TORPEDOED BY U.S.

Khrushchev, in a final blast, claimed that the U.S. bears responsibility for "torpedoing" the conference.

The Soviet embassy issued a statement saying: "Whatever diplomatic manoeuvres the United States government might take in an attempt to mislead public opinion, it cannot escape the responsibility for the breakdown of the summit conference."

A spokesman for the British said the Russians still expressed interest in a summit six or eight months hence. There will be a new administration in Washington next Jan. 20.

Notes, statements and telephone calls followed one another as tension mounted during the day. The Western leaders met for two hours. Later Eisenhower, de Gaulle and Prime Minister Macmillan conferred 20 minutes to sum up the situation.

White House press secretary James Hagerty told a press conference immediately afterward the mood not only of Eisenhower but of the allied leaders "is complete disgust at the attitude of the Soviet delegation here at Paris."

REPORT TO NATO

The three Western powers will report today to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization council on the failure of the summit.

Khrushchev expects to pay a courtesy call on de Gaulle today before leaving Paris. He is stopping in Berlin on his way home to see Walter Ulbricht, the East German Communist party leader, but leading Communists there denied Khrushchev will sign a peace treaty immediately with the East German regime.

President Eisenhower is expected to leave Paris Thursday for Lisbon—on a state visit.

Prime Minister Macmillan is going home Thursday to report to Parliament.

SHORT AND SOUR.. World leaders went their separate ways today after summit talks in the Elysee Palace in Paris (top) foundered after a 3-hour altercation between President Eisenhower and Nikita Khrushchev.

World Wonders "What Next?"

LONDON (Reuters) — The breakdown of the Paris summit talks Tuesday night stirred a world-wide wave of pessimism and talk of war.

"Will there be war?" People in Paris were asking, echoing the anxious words of others elsewhere.

Soviet Premier Khrushchev was the target of bitter criticism in non-Communist countries.

Some West German newspapers said Khrushchev's conduct brought back grim memories of Hitler and "the period of surprises" with which the Nazi dictator opened what one paper called "the most terrible period of history."

Another compared Khrushchev to "Stalin in his best days," while a West Berlin daily said the Kremlin leader "plays poker with peace."

In the Soviet Union, Russian propagandists continued to hammer away at the theme that American "reactionary circles" aimed at torpedoing the Paris talks.

Moscow Radio and the Soviet news agency Tass reported Khrushchev's stand at Paris was being backed up by "many meetings" throughout his country.

One participant was quoted as saying the actions of the U.S. and President Eisenhower were reminiscent of the events which preceded the Second World War.

HARD TO FORGIVE

Dismay and indignation highlighted British press comment on Khrushchev's attitude. The Russian leader may fly home a Russian and Chinese hero, said the London Star, but the rest of the world will find his behavior hard to forgive.

The London Standard declared the "appalling consequences" of a breakdown in relations with Russia would mean a resumption of the arms race on a bigger scale than ever before.

But, it went on, surrendering to the Khrushchev ultimatum would be even more disastrous.

Summit developments caused general dismay in Communist Poland. Many feared a cold war flareup would undermine many of Poland's weak links with the West and weaken already-precarious internal liberties.

One Pole declared: "Only (Communist China's) Mao Tse-tung and (West German Chancellor Konrad) Adenauer will gain from the summit failure."

Popoff Trial In Third Day

CRANBROOK—Second trial of Larry Popoff of Brilliant, charged with murder in the death Oct. 5, 1958, of Clarence Douglas Garrett near Kinnaird, goes into its third day at the Spring Assize session here before Mr. Justice T. G. Norris today.

Evidence was given by N. R. Reid, who discovered the body off the main road when he was in the woods to line up the sight of his rifle. He summoned RCMP, who testified to examining the body.

Evidence showed torn clothing and debris as though there had been a fight in the immediate vicinity. Medical evidence presented by Dr. Lawrence Duggan, pathologist, Trail, stated that death had occurred from loss of blood from wounds, particularly one under the chin. He said death had not occurred immediately and could have been up to 12 hours after the injury.

RCMP testified to arresting the accused at his employment the following morning when he was working on construction of a medical centre.

Wednesday's session is expected to start with prosecution testimony concerning a statement allegedly made by the accused to the RCMP following his arrest and the charge, and to be followed with arguments concerning its admissibility.

Popoff had already been convicted of the charge in an assize hearing at Nelson in May, 1959. His brother, John Popoff, similarly charged, was acquitted previously in a separate trial.

On appeal of Larry Popoff's counsel, Angelo Branca of Vancouver, to B.C. Court of Appeal a new trial was ordered. Venue was changed from Nelson to Cranbrook for this second hearing on Mr. Branca's appeal on the grounds publicity given the first trial, and hostility in West Kootenay toward Doukhobors could prejudice the rehearing. The accused is not a member of nor associated with the Sons of Freedom sect.

Prosecuting the charge is Leo Gansner of Nelson.

Four Receive B.E. Medal

VICTORIA (CP) — Two RCMP constables and two civilians were awarded the British Empire Medal for gallantry Tuesday.

At the same time, Lieut.-Gov. Frank Ross of B. C. was given scouting's Silver Wolf award for "exceptionally fine service to scouting."

Governor-General Georges P. Vanier, now visiting B. C. during an official western Canada tour, presented the awards at a special investiture in the ballroom of Government House.

The BEM went to Const. Hugh D. Bowyer of North Bay and Toronto; Const. Alvin T. Millhouse of Victoria; Cecil Bingham of New Westminster and Arthur E. Lewis of Enderby, B. C.

Mr. Bingham, 54, also received a special testimonial to his Royal Humane Association.

Constable Bowyer, 27, now stationed in Vancouver Island at Shawnigan Lake, won his award for action in rescuing a quarry superintendent buried beneath a fall of gypsum rock at Windermere, B. C., Nov. 29, 1955. With help from three other men he held back a sliding rock face for 1½ hours until rescue operations were completed.

RAILS ABLE TO FILL POSITIONS, SAYS CNR HEAD

MONTREAL (CP) — A CNR spokesman said Tuesday the railway had no difficulty filling job vacancies last year and no trouble holding employees, despite the non - operating unions' contention railway wages are well below standard.

D. V. Gonder, vice-president of the company's Atlantic region, said that in 1959 an average of 15 persons applied for each position which was open.

He testified before a three-man conciliation board inquiring into a wage dispute between Canada's railways and their 120,000 non-operating employees.

Though the unions say their members need a 25-cent hourly increase over a two-year period to stay on a level with employees in comparable industries, "there is no evidence that our existing employees find jobs in other industries more attractive," Mr. Gonder said.

Present average wage among the non-ops —all railway employees not actually running trains — is $1.77 hourly. The union wage demands are based on a comparison with those paid in the durable-goods industries, which have been used as a standard since 1950.

Non-Committal On Columbia

OTTAWA (CP) — Justice Minister Fulton, asked Tuesday whether he has high expectations of a Columbia River development treaty with the U. S. this year, said it depends on current negotiations.

Canada was trying to proceed as fast as possible, he told H. W. Herridge (CCF-Kootenay West) in the Commons.

Mr. Fulton was questioned by Opposition Leader Pearson about weekend talks with the B. C. government. Since these concerned negotiations with the U. S. on hydro and flood-control development, it would be proper to reveal details only after matters had been settled, Mr. Fulton said.

Mr. Pearson asked whether he shared the opinion of Finance Minister Fleming, as expressed at Vancouver Monday that power development on the Columbia can't be far off now.

"Oh, yes, indeed," replied Mr. Fulton, who heads the Canadian team negotiating with the U. S.

Canada Centennial Committee Named

WASHINGTON (AP) — A three-month postponement was granted Tuesday in a federal power commission hearing on conflicting applications to build power projects on the Snake River bordering Oregon and Idaho.

Examiner Emery J. Woodall set the hearing for Oct. 17, at the close of a pre-hearing conference. The hearing first had been set for July 18.

DOLLAR LOWER

NEW YORK (CP) — Canadian dollar 5-32 lower at $1.02 1-64 in terms of U.S. funds. Pound sterling 5-32 higher at $2.80 9-16.

MONTREAL (CP) — The U.S. dollar closed Tuesday at a discount of 1 31-32 per cent in terms of Canadian funds, up 5-32. Pound Sterling $2.74 15-16, up ½.

U.S. dollar bid 98, asked 98 1-16.

Snake River Hearings Delayed

OTTAWA (CP) — A non-governmental organization to prepare for Canada's 100th birthday party was born Tuesday amid indications of keen interest and public support.

Representatives of some 50 national organizations discussed the niceties of a proposed constitution and debated the problem of a name for the child.

The title finally settled on was the Canadian Centenary Council. It was chosen in the afternoon after a morning vote had rejected the name National Centenary Council, proposed by an ad hoc committee, in favor of the later-rejected title of National Council for Canada's Centenary.

Resolution on Murphy Creek Founders At Chambers Meet

VANCOUVER (CP)—The British Columbia Chamber of Commerce Tuesday refused to take a stand on the High Arrow dam controversy after hearing arguments that not enough facts were known about the power projects.

Delegates at the ninth annual meeting here rejected a resolution urging the government to approve construction of a dam at Murphy Creek rather than High Arrow.

The High Arrow project is one of several proposed for the development of the Columbia river basin. It involves construction of a storage dam in the Arrow lakes area.

The resolution was submitted and then withdrawn by the Nelson Chamber of Commerce. It was re-submitted by other delegates and heavily defeated.

ELIMINATE CIVILIZATION

Nakusp delegate Don Waterfield, who supported the resolution, said that while High Arrow might be more profitable from an engineering point of view, the project would eliminate civilization in the Arrow Lakes.

"A matter like this can't be assessed financially," he said. "After all, subdividing Stanley Park (Vancouver) would be profitable too."

He said the project was a proper matter to be considered by the Chamber because the final decision would be made by Arthur Paget, B.C. comptroller of water rights.

"The government of Canada has no power to alter the province's decision," Mr. Waterfield said. "Once Paget has made his decision, he is not likely to change his point of view."

OPPOSES MOVE

Opposition to the resolution was voiced by Kenny N. Stewart, president of the Associated Boards of Trade of Southeastern B.C.

"We feel that we've not had sufficient information to recommend either for or against High Arrow," Mr. Stewart said.

He said the government would have to justify any decision to go ahead with High Arrow with the people in the region and until then the project "should be left in the lap of the provincial government."

Delegates recommended a thorough re-appraisal of the financial relationship between the provincial government and the municipalities.

Other recommendations made were:

Resumption of daily, through rail service between Vancouver and Medicine Hat.

Establishment of a faculty of dentistry at the University of B.C.

A federal inquiry into the feasibility of establishing central all-weather airports in southeastern B.C.

Establishment of a multiple-use toll ticket for passenger vehicles throughout B.C.

The chamber also urged the provincial government to revise B.C. mining legislation, and to encourage lending institutions to provide a greater supply of mortgage money for smaller centers.

The delegates defeated resolutions urging the provincial government to adopt a licence plate slogan and the federal government to make funds available for financing construction and improvement of tourist facilities.

SCHOLARS GET HOLIDAY FRIDAY

VICTORIA (CP) — School children throughout British Columbia will have a holiday Friday as a result of Governor-General Vanier's declaration shere Tuesday.

The Governor - General declared, in the name of the Queen, that Friday was to be a holiday for Greater Victoria school children.

Later, Education Minister Peterson announced that to mark the first visit to the province of Gen. Vanier, the day will be a province-wide school holiday.

Satellite Visible In Early Morning

PENTICTON (CP)—The Dominion Radio Astrophysical Observatory at nearby White Rock reported Tuesday it picked up signals "loud and clear" from Russia's satellite rocket at 10:43 a.m. Tuesday.

Dr. Jack Locke, observatory director, said the good quality of the signals indicated the 10-ton satellite passed close overhead. The station expected to pick up two or three more signals at about 90-minute intervals.

Dr. Locke said if skies are clear the satellite will be visible in British Columbia at 4:39 a.m. Wednesday. It will be seen as a bright star moving south to north in the eastern sky.

RUSS SATELLITE VIOLATING AIR?

LONDON (AP)—A Conservative Member of Parliament contended Tuesday that the Soviet space ship now circling the earth is violating British air space and should be shot down.

Sir Richard Glyn gave notice he would raise the matter with Defence Minister Harold Watkinson in Parliament May 25.

The latest Soviet satellite passed over London at various times at an altitude of about 200 miles.

WANT HOURS EXTENDED

PENTICTON (CP) — Thirteen Penticton Plaza business firms have launched a campaign to have store hours extended to 9 p.m. each evening. Merchants association secretary Syd Hodge told council that local people apparently prefer to shop in the late afternoon and early evening.

Parliament Tuesday

By The Canadian Press

Prime Minister Diefenbaker blamed the impasse at the summit on the "intransigence" of Soviet Premier Khrushchev and called for moderation and good sense in these times.

External Affairs Minister Green reiterated that the Canadian government remains determined to do everything possible to make progress in disarmament.

The Commons continued to make progress on a miscellaneous assortment of minor government legislation.

The CCF blockade against divorce bills held airtight amid a crossfire of accusations of character assassination by Leon Crestohl (L—Montreal Cartier) and Frank Howard (CCF—Skeena), a leader of the CCF filibuster.

Notice was given in the Senate of an impending battle there on the question of widening the grounds for obtaining a divorce from Parliament.

Gets Four Years For Manslaughter

EDMONTON (CP) — Wilfred Uhrich, 47, Tuesday was found guilty on a reduced charge of manslaughter and was sentenced to four years in penitentiary when he appeared before a six-man supreme court jury.

Uhrich was charged with the fatal beating last February of Evelyn Evoy, 25, with whom he had lived for four years. Her body was found on a bed in their home in northeast Edmonton.

Prince George Firm Lowest Cutoff Bidder

View Construction Company of Prince George was lowest bidder at $1,508,183 on the last section of the Salmo-Creston highway cutoff project, it was announced Tuesday.

The project calls for construction of a 12.87-mile stretch between Summit Creek and Blaze Creek. Hon. W. D. Black, provincial secretary and MLA for Nelson-Creston, informed the Daily News of the award. He said nine bids were opened.

In January, Emil Anderson Construction Company Ltd., of Hope, won a $2,289,022 contract for construction of a 10.68-mile stretch on which work is already under way.

Entire 40-mile route was to have been under construction by March 31, but bids for the last contract were delayed when heavy snow conditions hampered companies bidding for the contract.

Beer Taxes Total $165,000,000

HARRISON HOT SPRINGS, B.C. (CP)—Taxes on beer in Canada last year amounted to about $165,000,000 — more than eight times the profits of the industry, W. J. Doran, president of the Dominion Breweries Association, said Tuesday.

Mr. Doran told the DBA annual meeting also that taxes amount to "more than four times the total paid out in wages and salaries to people working in our plants."

"In fact," he added, "it is about the same amount that all provincial governments pay out in social welfare."

Referring to complicated laws and regulations concerning the industry in some provinces, Mr. Doran noted during the last 10 years four western provinces have introduced legislation "to provide a system of selling beer more in accord with the public wishes."

Vanier Stresses Crown's Place

VICTORIA (CP)—Governor-General Vanier, displaying the finesse of a polished diplomat and the wit of a comedian, became an immediate hit in Victoria Tuesday, his first full day in the British Columbia capital.

Right off, he captured the hearts of the children, subtly grasping their attention as he approached them in serious tone; catching them off balance as he asked them if they'd like a day off from school; and following through the punch line—as the youngsters knew he would — by declaring Friday a school holiday.

To the adults and children alike he stressed the importance of the Crown in Canada's system of government and urged family unity to bring this country to national greatness.

More than 4000 children, taking part in the Imperial Order Daughters of the Empire and Greater Victoria school board Empire and Commonwealth Day program, were on the legislative building lawns 1000 of them forming a massed choir. Another 2000 persons stood as spectators.

Logger Found Shot

KAMLOOPS (CP) — RCMP said Tuesday they believe a 30-year-old logger found shot to death Monday at Red Lake, 35 miles northwest of here, may have taken his own life.

Police said George Robert Watson of Scotch Bay, Man., was found lying on the floor of his cabin with a bullet wound in his head. Investigations were continuing.

And in This Corner . . .

PARIS (Reuters)—A beautiful, 20-year-old blonde with a bouquet of red roses Tuesday succeeded in luring Nikita Khrushchev outside the Soviet Embassy gates.

Waiting cameramen made the most of the premier's two-minute unscheduled appearance.

A delegation of printers who are helping to print a book called "Khrushchev in France" about his visit two months ago were leaving the embassy when the premier spotted the blonde standing outside the gates and quickly halted embassy officials from closing the doors.

He stepped out jauntily with a big smile and beckoned to the girl standing on the opposite sidewalk. She handed over the rose.

Whatever he said could not be reported. Security guards kept reporters a good five yards away.

NEW YORK (AP)—Up until that point everything went just fine for 20-year-old William Fletcher.

He had stopped patrolman Dugald Wade on the street, told him he was locked out of his car and asked for help.

Wade, the model of police courtesy, betook himself to a store for a piece of wire and finally, with much polite huffing and puffing managed to open the door, while Fletcher stood by.

Fletcher, no slouch himself where politeness is concerned, expressed his thanks and prepared to drive off.

At that point the patrolman asked to see his registration and licence.

Fletcher was held on $1000 bail on a vehicle theft charge.

Committee Set Up To Work For Expansion of City Area

Spearheaded by City Council, but with the active assistance of district residents, a determined effort will be made in the next few months to expand the City of Nelson's area and bring within its boundaries contiguous areas.

Named by Council to the Boundary Expansion Committee are Aldermen Edith Van Maarion, chairman, J. S. M. Harts and J. H. MacMillan, and Mayor T. S. Shorthouse.

Representing Upper Fairview on the committee are Albert Shrieves and Raymond Couch; South Nelson Mrs. Betty Drew and M. B. Ryalls and Rosemont, Dr. Gordon Callbeck and Ivan Lewis. Secretary is Mrs. A. R. Ramsden.

The combined committee will work in conjunction with the Nelson Advisory Planning Commission and the planning consultants employed by the city.

SEPARATE PROJECTS

Each of the three outlying sections will be treated as a separate project. There will be no attempt made to include all three in one concerted move as it is felt residents of each district should be permitted to decide for themselves.

The committee will have three formal steps to make before presenting their plans to the public. First will be to decide upon the boundaries of the areas to be included within the city. Then legal descriptions of these areas must be obtained. A delegation will then present the preliminary plans to the Department of Municipal Affairs in Victoria for its approval.

The success or failure of the attempt to expand Nelson's boundaries will depend more upon the extent to which the committee can convince property owners in the outside areas that they will benefit from annexation.

To that end committee members will undertake to obtain from Council assurances of what work will be done in the case of annexation, and proceed to publicize the advantages union will bring. Lower light and power rates will probably be stressed, and provision for services not possible in unorganized territory will be pointed out.

Action on any plan to join the city can only come from a petition signed by a majority of ratepayers in the area affected, and circulation of this petition will be one of the major tasks facing the committee.

No Glamor in Riding the Rods

Glamor of riding the rails was disillusioned for one transient by Canadian Pacific Railway police over the weekend.

Leslie J. McParlon, about 50, and no fixed address, was sentenced to five days in Oakalla Prison Farm by Police Magistrate R. S. Nelson Monday when he pleaded guilty to unlawfully entering a CPR freight car.

Playboy Herman Just Can't Find a Girl

Many Nelsonites were amused last Sunday by "Herman" when a cavalcade of cars went to the headwaters ofthe Lardeau River at Gerrard to watch the Kootenay Lake Rainbow Trout spawn.

"Herman" is a two-pound rainbow trout caught on the hook in Kootenay Lake by Gil Palmer of Nelson and John Cartwright, a biologist from Vancouver, who have spent the past three weeks at Gerrard counting the spawning fish.

He was caught when it was past the mating season for the trout which were already on their way up to spawn. Poor "Herman" didn't get a mate.

The two men rescued "Herman" from his plight and transplanted him in the spawning bed two weeks ago. The story goes that "Herman" didn't waste any time. He was the playboy of the crowd.

"'Herman's' been right in there pitching for the past two weeks," Mr. Palmer said on Sunday.

People were amused at "Herman's" antics in vying for the affections of his many lady loves and contending with 20 and 25 pound bucks in several attempts to prove his masculinity — without too much success.

$10,000 Limit Put on Cost of Temporary City Hall Setup

A special committee set up to find temporary city hall quarters was given the power to act on an estimate from T. H. Waters and Co. Ltd. and any incidentals. The amount is not to exceed the total of $10,000 made available in the budget for renovation of the old post office at a special meeting of city council Monday night.

Three different schemes have been considered by the special committee and work on the building is expected to begin shortly.

CAR FIRE WARMS UP CITY CENTRE

Height of noon traffic, busiest corner in Nelson, Ward and Baker, was the scene Tuesday of efficient fire-fighting as performed by the Nelson Fire Department.

Within two minutes firemen had doused flames engulfing the engine of a parked '56 model car, due to a flooded carburetor.

Fire Chief E. Owens estimated damage to the car belonging to C. R. Varney of Passmore to be nill.

RELEASED FROM HOSPITAL

Peter Offerman, taken to Kootenay Lake General Hospital Monday night when he was found unconscious near the Six-mile road on the North Shore, was released Tuesday.

Hospital Learns It Doesn't Pay To Be a "Soft Touch"

T. C. Lambert, chairman of the Kootenay Lake General Hospital finance committee, informed the meeting of the board of directors Tuesday night that "it doesn't pay to be pleasant to your debtors."

Mr. Lambert said that the hospital thought it was getting too much unfavorable reaction to stickers on its bills to the practice was eased. He said that complaints decreased immediately—and so did the payments, by $500 in a month.

In view of this, collection methods have been tightened and it is hoped to return the collections to previous levels, Mr. Lambert said.

POSITION IMPROVED

Receipts so far this year exceed disbursements by $2,031.71 and the hospital is in stronger financial position than a year ago.

Wages and salaries are just within the hospital's own estimates, although the approved budget is not yet known.

The board approved of a resolution made by the personnel committee regarding pensions for hospital staff. It was resolved that Hon. W. D. Black, provincial secretary, be requested to declare the provisions of the Municipal Superannuation Act apply to KLGH and its eligible employees.

The pension plan is made available to any member of staff who can attain 15 years' service in B. C. hospitals, including back services, less one year.

Any female employee who has not reached the age of 45 years or any male who has not reached the age of 50 years, is eligible for the plan. The retirement age for women is 60 years and 65 for men. Therefore, if they join hospital staff 15 years before retirement age they can join the pension plan.

If they cannot reach 15 years of employment they are not eligible for the plan.

WILL REALIZE $20,000

The board exercized the authority invested in it by the society in a March, 1959 general meeting and agreed to the sale of the old hospital buildings and property.

From the $60,000 sale the Kootenay Valley Hospital Improvement District will retain approximately $20,000. The balance of the money goes to the B. C. Government and City of Nelson.

The money is to be paid in equal installments over a five-year period, commencing June 1 of this year.

R. H. Procter, administrator of the hospital, touched on several subjects in giving his report to the board. Reports were read from the Women's Auxiliary, landscaping and property committees.

The board received word that the B. C. Hospital Insurance Service approved of a $12,220 grant to KLGH, additional for capital funds.

Lake Ferries Adopt Summer Schedule May 20

Kootenay Lake ferries go on summer schedule Friday, the department of highways announced Tuesday.

MV Balfour will join MV Anscomb to provide an hourly service from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m. and two-hour service will be scheduled from 9 p.m. to 2 a.m.

Ferries will leave Balfour at every hour from 7 a.m. until 7 p.m. Last ferry will operate at 9 p.m., 11 p.m. and 1 a.m.

From the Kootenay Bay side, ferries will leave every hour from 8 a.m. until 8 p.m., then at 10 p.m., 12 midnight, and 2 a.m.

All times are Pacific Daylight Time.

Strip Motors From Old Ferry

No word has been received by the department of highways local branch from Victoria on the bid accepted to dismantle the old Nelson ferry and for its re-erection at Castlegar. Tenders were opened Friday in Victoria.

Workmen from the highways garage here have completed the stripping of engines from the ferry which is resting just east of the toll bridge. All further work will be done by the bidder whose tender was accepted.

The ferry is to be placed in service at Castlegar alongside the existing ferry to relieve a serious traffic problem which had developed with the Celgar construction activity.

Red Shield Appeal Not Faring Well

A total of $1400 has been realized so far in the current Red Shield Appeal, Lieut. Peter A. Roed reported Tuesday.

This, he said, is far below the objective of $5000 and is not very encouraging but it is hoped that a better response will be realized during the last two weeks of the campaign.

The Fairview district and certain South Nelson areas have not yet been canvassed he said.

Any donations will be accepted at campaign headquarters, 513 Victoria or the Bank of Commerce.

Lieut. Roed and the 12 canvassers joined the Red Shield Campaign Committee in expressing gratitude on behalf of the Salvation Army to all who have responded to the appeal.

The lieutenant said that extra canvassers would be of great assistance in the campaigning.

Kaslo Man Hit By Bulldozer

An employee of L. T. and H. Sawmills of Kaslo, John Battey, was rushed to Kootenay Lake General Hospital Tuesday morning after being struck by a bulldozer blade.

Details surrounding the accident are scanty but it is believed that the young man was caught sideways by the blade in a crushing manoeuver.

Hospital authorities reported Tuesday night that his condition is satisfactory and he is resting well.

Work Started on Street Lights

Many Nelson and district residents have been wondering why holes are being dug in sidewalks on the sidestreets of downtown Nelson.

A. C. Van Sacker, electrical superintendent for the city informs us that 58 street light standards are being erected to tie in with the Baker Street renovation.

Work began earlier to simplify the eventual tie-in.

Where poles may seem to be sitting almost in the middle of the sidewalk, the sidewalk is to be widened to approximately 10 feet.

Cadet M. Heric Tops Creston Army Unit

CRESTON — The Canadian Legion Trophy for general proficiency was awarded by M. Powers to Army Cadet M. Heric at the annual inspection May 12.

Inspecting officers were Reeve C. W. Allan and Capt. McDonald from the Calgary office of the Cadet Training Unit. As this cadet group is affiliated with the 17th Field Squadron, RCE, at Kimberley, Cadet Heric also received a silver beer stein as an award from this unit.

The Creston Review trophy award of a .22 rifle was won by Cadet T. Scott of Yahk, for the best first year Cadet.

The march-past was under Cpl. G. Larson who was Corp. Commander. Lance Cpl. C. Wilson did the sizing. The commentary was by Staff Sgt. Hutchings of the Army Recruiting team. Two RCMP constables, D. C. Hunt and R. Williams were also in attendance along with the PCHS band under direction of A. Whittred. They played the musical accompaniment for the inspection.

Field and first aid work, wireless and rifle practice were displayed for the inspection.

Summer camp is available for these boys who are paid $100 for the summer course; $20 which they may use for spending money, the remainder being sent to their parents as an army cheque. The seven weeks course gives specialized training in all fields of cadet training. Last year seven boys from Creston attended. There were 19 boys on inspection with their chief instructor, Lt. Ted Perry and second in command Lt. Bob Corner.

Less Watching, More Activity In School Sports

CASTLEGAR — "There will be a tendency to shift the emphasis from spectator sports to 100% participation and the time for P.E. will be increased," Mrs. P. Vaesseu reported to the Stanley Humphries High School PTA meeting on her return from the PTA convention at Penticton.

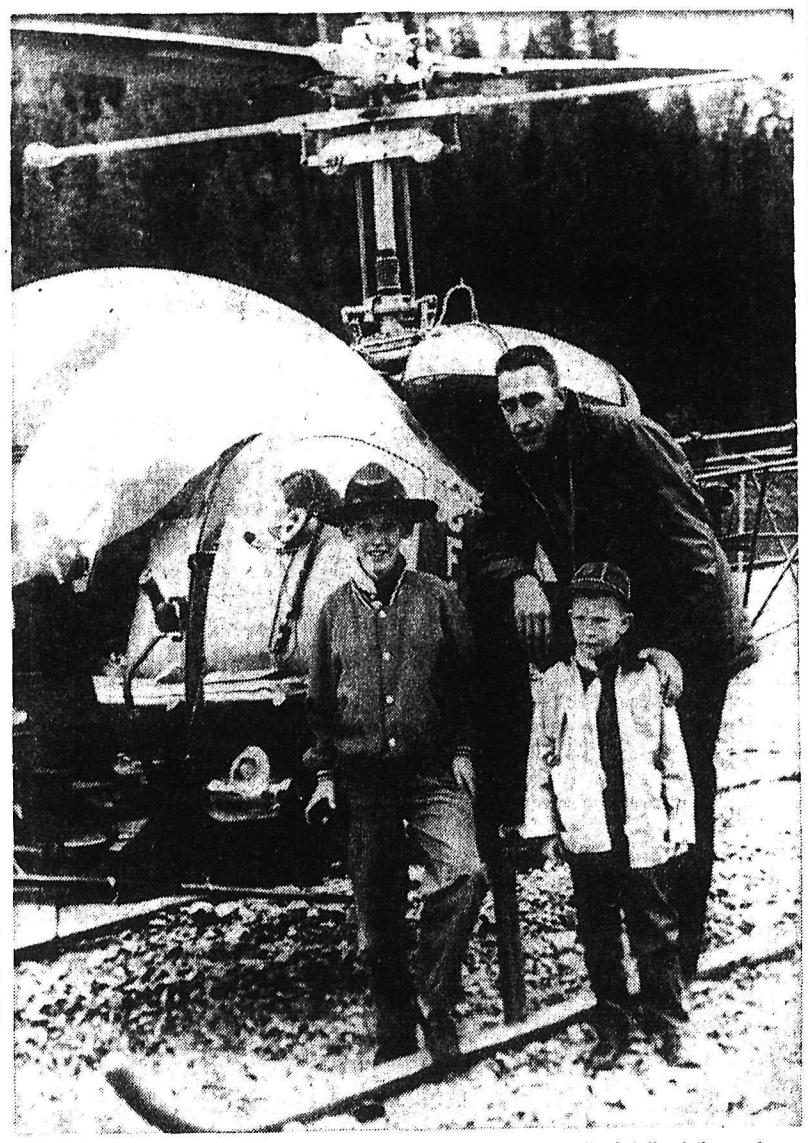
Mrs. Vaesseu felt that more of the local parents should take an interest in their own group and participate actively in PTA work. She said that speakers at the conference were Allen Thomas for the extension department of UBC and the Hon. L. Peterson, Minister of Education.

Miss Ada O'Brien showed a film on teenagers and parents adjusting themselves to changing times and changing problems.

The PTA will present a post festival concert at the high school auditorium on Wednesday, May 18.

200TH ANNIVERSARY

LONDON (Reuters) — Lloyd's Register of Shipping, oldest and largest ship classification society in the world, celebrated its 200th anniversary Monday.



REAL REWARD. Scout Danny Nixon and Cub Ronnie Wilson of the First Bonnington-South Slocan Scout and Cub troops are shown here, at No. 3 Plant, with Jim Grady, pilot for Okanagan Helicopters, following a flying trip of 25 minutes in the helicopter. The two boys won the trip, which was offered to the Cub and Scout of the Bonnington-South Slocan group, who won a competition set by the Scout and Cub masters, and chosen by the Group Committee. Mr. Grady made the offer when he attended the father and son banquet in March. The trip started when the boys boarded the machine at Nelson airstrip, from where they flew down the Kootenay River, and then up the Slocan Valley, to Slocan Park, where they landed for refreshments before making a final landing at No. 3 Plant where they were awaited by a large crowd of mothers, fathers, brothers and sisters, and Cubs and Scouts, all secretly wishing they had been the chosen ones.

Castlegar Co-Op Picture Begins To Look Brighter

CASTLEGAR — The situation of the Castlegar Co-op Retail Society is a lot brighter than it was three months ago and members are all set to launch an all-out share capital drive with the help of B. Lewis of Vancouver, a Co-operator of many years standing who has come to the district to help with the canvassing.

A special progress meeting held here last week revealed that under the temporary managership of J. Rootman of Vancouver and with a right austerity program in progress the society has been able to "pull itself by its bootstraps" and is now operating with a balance, having paid off several months' arrears to creditors.

NO STATEMENT READY

Although no financial statement or informal trial balance sheet was forthcoming owing to the unfortunate delay of the wholesalers at the coast President Roy Crave assured the 30 members present that the future looked a lot brighter and that with a determined co-operative effort in increasing the membership and economizing, the society would forge ahead once more. "The Co-op will perform as successfully as the people in the District wish it to perform," said Mr. Lewis.

Blaming slanted newspaper reporting as a partial cause for a recent "panic" among customers, a member, Mrs. N. Bystrom, reported that a lot of rumors of bankruptcy had been circulating and she wished it to be made clear that the society is quite definitely not considering liquidation. There is as much need for Co-operatives as ever before was the general feeling.

Another member, Mrs. B. Hill, on the other hand remarked that she considered there was no longer a place for the Co-op in this community, there being so much competition, and people being human "will shop around for specials".

Mr. Crave replied that he had been to several stores to price items and had not found much difference. "Some are higher and some lower," he said. Mr. Crave, however, continued by saying that to compete "we must keep up with the trend of the times, there must be a long term policy of expansion set down."

REPURCHASE OF SHARES

The question of paying back shares to members who request them was brought up when Mrs. E. McLean asked why she had not received an answer to two letters to the Board of Directors asking for the return of her share capital.

Mr. Crave explained that under an existing by-law shares cannot be relieved to any member unless they leave the District and then only at the ruling of six of the Directors if they consider the financial state of the society is favorable.

"I've a good mind to leave the district and then come back!" Mrs. McLean retorted. Mrs. Hill made a recommendation to the Board that they reconsider Mrs. McLean's application on compassionate grounds. This was accepted.

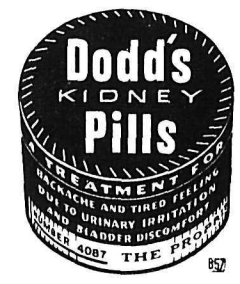
Also a recommendation by Mr. Cumming that a strong letter of protest be sent to the wholesalers deploring the delay in sending out an informal trial balance sheet in time for this meeting "which," he said, "was the purpose of calling a special meeting."

The meeting ended with a call for volunteers to assist Mr. Lewis in his canvass of the district.

$175,000 School Bylaw Vote Coming May 19

CRESTON — Owner electors of School District No. 5 Creston will have the opportunity to signify their answer to the School Loan Bylaw Referendum No. 2, which is a request to borrow money within a three-year period up to an aggregate of $175,000. It is for acquiring and developing school sites and purchasing, constructing, reconstructing, furnishing and equipping buildings for school purposes and for other capital expenditures for school purposes.

Voting will take place on May 19, 1960 from 10 a.m. until 8 p.m. at the Creston Village hall, O. Arrowsmith residence at Arrow Creek, Kitchener School, Erickson School, Canyon School, Lister School, West Creston School, Wynndel School, Sirdar Community Hall, Boswell Community Hall, Gray Creek Hall and Crawford Bay School.



Gymkhana One of Blossom Festival High Points

CRESTON — The Blossom Festival Gymkhana was a success with the field crowded to capacity with spectators for their first opportunity to watch a fine display of horsemanship.

Rodeo Queens Gail Paterson and Marion Berg led the grand procession. Mary Collinson of Cranbrook won the first prize of a bridle, Jackie Bellor of Cranbrook won the second prize of spurs, and Gail Paterson of Creston won the third prize of reins in the Western Equitation entry.

In the junior stake races, Jean Grainger was first with Gail Paterson second. In the senior stake races, Les Bellor was first, Cliff Grainger, second and Lorne Grainger third.

In the junior steer riding, Howard Chadwick, won first with Rickey Patterson a second.

The water relay race provided lots of merriment for participants and spectators alike. Gail Patterson was first in the pole bending with Les Bellor second and Mary Johnson third.

The Creston Valley Riding Club put on a fine riding display under the direction of Constable E. Boechler.

Junior barrel race: First Jackie Bellor, second Rickey Patterson and third Gail Patterson. Senior barrel race: Les Bellor, second Ben Collinson and third Cliff Grainger.

Steer riding first went to Eldwood McCurrach, and second to Stan Sorenson. Jack Woodall carried off the first in calf roping with Ed Bailey and C. Grainger as runners-up.

Relay racing honors went to the Cliff Grainger team with a second going to Gail Patterson's team and third to M. Collinson's team.

The running commentary of the afternoon show was given by H. Sommerfelt and George Holmes. Judges were Const. E. Boechler, Stan Watts and Tony Trunsperger: timekeepers, Jack McDonald and Stan Watts.

Mr. and Mrs. R. Comfort were complimented on their efforts in providing the place for the show and their hours of work along with the committee in preparing for the event.

Prize winners for the Blossom Queen draw were as follows: camera, Eldon Palmer; transistor radio, Mrs. Mary Michalsky; and record player, Reginald Goldsbury, all of Creston Valley.

Contract Let On Celgar Housing Site

CASTLEGAR — The A. G. Bayes Ltd., construction company of Penticton and Cranbrook has been awarded a contract in the amount of $172,020 for work on the Celgar Housing Site Development at Kinnaird.

The contract covers supplying and installation of pipelines, construction of a sewage treatment plant and of roads in the area.

The company expects to have the project completed within three months. Road paving on the site will be carried out under a separate contract.

Time for Look At Education Administration

Dr. Frank MacKinnon, head of the Prince of Wales College at Charlottetown, P.E.I., has written a book called "The Politics of Education."

Dr. MacKinnon shows that school systems are little political entities of their own, and that they are not engaged in promoting education but in perpetuating a system.

Dr. MacKinnon may be right. Certainly no other government department is so distinctively — as he puts it — socialized and totalitarian. In all the evidence given at the royal commissions on education, nothing has been said to suggest that the administrative departments of education should be under scrutiny. It has always been taken for granted that only the curriculum and the teachers were at fault.

That is convenient for those who run education. It is nice to have a whipping boy always on hand, but when one comes to consider administrative staffs of an educational system, it becomes apparent that only a few possess outstanding qualifications for their jobs. Yet they control education in our schools.

Teaching is not a difficult art to learn. Quite untrained people have been successful teachers, but our school systems make it hard, indeed. They have padded their educational course with a mass of dreary, pompous courses such as "educational phychology" and "school administration," and in the end teachers themselves become hypnotized or brainwashed by this propaganda.

British Columbia is still awaiting the report of the Chant Royal Commission on Education. It is ten chances to one that when it is issued it will be found that it has accomplished little and is not worth the money spent on it.

To find out what is wrong with our education it should not be necessary to go to the bottom of the heap but to investigate those in charge at the top. Maybe the B.C. school administration is not as efficient as it thinks it is. Maybe it is not on the right track. We shall never find out until someone has the courage to order an investigation into the administrative system itself. Dr. MacKinnon believes the roots of our educational troubles lie there.

Interpreting the News

By STEWART MacLEOD
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Whatever the political implications of Russia's spaceship launching —and everyone seems willing to concede that Khrushchev has gained notable yardage in psychological warfare —the scientific significance is not so easily weighed.

Undoubtedly, it's no mean achievement to hurl a 4½-ton spaceship into perfect political orbit, and the rocket that fired it clearly rates attention as a devastating military weapon, but in scientific exploration of space there isn't the same degree of agreement.

British scientists, watching the space race with detached objectivity, used cush terms as "staggered" and "amazed" to describe their reaction to the launching of the huge satellite, but they weren't to quick to suggest Russia is necessarily winning the race to put a man into orbit. And that at the moment, seems to be the ultimate goal.

It has been recognized for some time that Russia, and indeed the U. S., is capable of sending a man spinning around the earth, but the problem has been and remains, getting him back alive. The new spaceship apparently doesn't solve it. The Russians themselves say it will burn up when it re-enters the earth's atmosphere.

Until this problem is solved, say experts, it's anyone's race — regardless of the size of satellites. But there is a general feeling that Russia is well in the lead. The spaceship, quite apart from the re-entry problem, lends a great deal of weight to the belief.

What seems most impressive is the remarkability of Russia's high-power-rockets. Even allowing for failures —they are never disclosed—the Russians have made the crucial ones count.

On Jan. 2 last year, Soviet scientists shot a rocket past the moon, two days before Anastas Mikoyan arrived in Washington.

Last Sept. 13, the Lunik rocket hit the moon, two days before Khrushchev left Washington. Now comes the pre-summit spaceship—or is it spaceman-ship?

Russia's long lead in heavy rockets is believed to have resulted from a 1952 program when Soviet scientists doubted whether the H-bomb could be made smaller than about four tons while they concentrated on rockets capable of firing that weight, the Americans worked toward decreasing the size of the bomb. The original Russian rocket program was never curtailed.

The British scientists who draw these conclusions think that American dependence on smaller rockets has resulted in them developing more compact instruments so that their relatively small satellites are often more effective, scientifically, than the heavier Russian models.

Stevenson Pugh, defence correspondent of The Daily Mail, writes about how the U. S. is gaining on Russian space research.

In a post-spaceship story, presumably based on scientific advice, he says "I give 5 to 1 against the Americans getting their man into orbit first over the next 12 months. A year ago I would have made it 100 to 1."

What To Do?

A past president of the Canadian Red Cross Society is amazed at what some old men in Russia are doing. Reporting his observations at a meeting in Hamilton the other day, George Atkin said he had seen a ninety-two-year-old Russian do handstands on a desk. He had examined a 112-year-old Russian equipped with muscles like a middle aged man.

These were men who had taken drug treatments to offset the usual effects of old age. The treatment involved taking certain vitamins and receiving injections of a drug called H-3 made from novocaine.

This is all very interesting. Most men and women like to hang on to life as long as they can, and if they can become centenarians in excellent health, so much the better. Nevertheless a few reservations come to mind. What is a man of 112 years going to do with his muscles in a day when society eases folks into retirement fifty years prior to his 112th birthday? Can a man of ninety-two years get the same fun out of doing handstands as he did when he was a youngster in his teens?

One thing seems certain. If Russian scientists have discovered a way to rejuvenate the oldsters, society will be forced to map out a brand-new way of life for a host of folk whose counterparts in past generations simply signed out from this world's activities.

"Missing the Boat?" Asks Writer

To the Editor:

Sir—During the month numerous articles have appeared in the papers reporting meetings of representatives from the different municipalities and villages in the East Kootenay, discussing the distribution of natural gas in the area.

These discussions have been built around the question as to which company should have the right to distribute the gas.

I am surprised that no mention has been made as to whether any consideration has been given to the idea of the villages and municipalities setting up their own distribution system.

This is hard to believe in view of the fact that these organized areas are gradually being pressed further and further into a financial straitjacket. It is becoming more and more an impossible task to carry out all the necessary functions on the revenue from taxes alone.

How much higher would the taxes be in the respective cities of Cranbrook, Kimberley or Nelson if these places did not distribute their own electricity, and water? This distribution has been a much needed source of revenue, and has enhanced the plight of the poor taxpayer considerably.

If we are going to continue to give the services demanded by our modern day living, then we must find more sources of revenue, and to me a golden opportunity has presented itself in the distribution of natural gas.

Some may say we are unable to raise the necessary capital, but this does not hold much water when you consider that no matter who puts in the distribution system the necessary money will be raised on the potential consumers right in this area.

How about getting into the boat before it leaves the shore rather than swimming out to it later on?

—LEO T. NIMSICK, MLA.

F. B. Pearce. . . . . Writes

As an editorial in this newspaper pointed out, if Baker Street is to be reconstructed, the work should be done as speedily as possible. There is no point whatever in dragging out the inevitable discomfort.

The editorial also suggests that at the end of the time when all the work is completed, merchants may find that they have lost little in trade.

That depends very much on our attitude. We have the choice of three things: we can shut our eyes and pretend that it is not going on, we can be grumpy and disagreeable over the discomfort, or we can make the best of the situation.

Being grumpy and disagreeable over the discomfort will not make us any happier and it has no advertising value, so that we shall have to make the best of the situation. This does not mean treating it as a trial and meeting it with Christian resignation. It means devising means and ways in which it can be turned to our advantage.

Let's treat it as a high and delightful adventure. Let's have a grand opening day, with bands and speeches and pretty girls. Let's have the mayor break the first piece of concrete with a jack hammer, the chairman of the light and power committee pull over one of our rickety old lamp posts and the works manager pull up a manhole. Let's by all means publicize our renovation.

The city engineer believes that the work can be completed in 110 days. It probably could be done in less if the workmen were on their mettle. We might even have a derby on the exact time the work will finish.

Why not let the workmen have competitions between themselves and award prizes for outstanding achievement? And at the end of the work throw a party for them as part of our gala day celebrations. More speeches, more bands and square dancing of course.

But while all this is easy, it does not help the merchant so much so why not build a temporary canvas shopping centre on the ball park for their use? Canvas towns like this spring up overnight in those places in England which have annual fairs and they seem to be lucrative. It is something which merchants must consider. They may have better ideas.

Diefenbaker Accuses Khrushchev Of Taking Threatening Attitude

OTTAWA (CP) — Soviet Premier Khrushchev's actions at the summit conference met with swift criticism in Canada's Parliament Monday.

Prime Minister Diefenbaker charged that he had taken "a very bellicose and threatening attitude." Opposition Leader Pearson referred to Mr. Khrushchev's "apparently brutal ultimatum" to the American, British and French leaders.

Both Canadian leaders stressed that the Paris conference must not be allowed to collapse.

Mr. Pearson suggested mediation by Dag Hammarskjold, United Nations secretary-general, to keep the Big Four talking.

REJECT INTIMIDATION

Mr. Diefenbaker said he thought Parliament would want to express the hope that the conference will continue and "at the same time make it most clear to those who are our allies and friends that intimidation will not be effective in any way."

"This conference must surely be kept going," said Mr. Pearson.

CCF House Leader Hazen Argue said the leaders of the world "should quit spying, quit threatening and quit stalling." The world, in these abnormal circumstances, was looking to the summit for abnormal action.

As the party leaders spoke, Soviet Ambassador Amasasp Arountan listened intently from the diplomatic gallery.

Meanwhile, 72-placard-bearing members of the Toronto Association for Peace paraded outside the Parliament Buildings demanding greater efforts by Canada towards disarmament.

DIEFENBAKER REPORT

The House comments on the trouble at the summit came on the heels of Mr. Diefenbaker's report on the London conference of Commonwealth prime ministers.

Mr. Diefenbaker said he hopes South Africa will quickly heed the appeal of all other Commonwealth countries to alter her racial separation policies, which were in conflict with the principles of racial equality essential to a multi-racial Commonwealth.

However, he said, the conference and informal discussions associated with it showed no sign on the part of South Africa of modifying apartheid.

Mr. Argue urged that Canada oppose Commonwealth membership for South Africa if she votes to beome a republic in a forthcoming plebiscite and if her government fails to change its racial policies.

TRADE GROUPINGS

Mr. Diefenbaker's report also dealt with trade. He gave notice that Canada expects to be a full member of the proposed trading area composed of the two European trading blocs and the United States. But Canada also expected that such an association would not be harmful to the trading interests of other Commonwealth countries.

At the night sitting the Commons put on a burst of speed that added mileage to the Trans-Canada Highway Act and opened the way for an inquiry into atomic energy policies.

The highways agreement under which the federal government shares construction costs with the provinces was extended to Dec 31, 1963, from Dec. 31, 1960. The amendment also increased by $50,000,000 to $400,000,000 the ceiling on federal contributions.

Approval was given for a select Commons committee to consider the policy, operations and expenditures of the agencies guiding atomic development—Atomic Energy of Canada Limited and Eldorado Mining and Refining Limited. The National Research Council will be included in the study.

Baby Weighing One Pound Dies

QUESNEL, B.C. (CP)—A tiny baby girl who weighed only one pound at her birth three days ago died in hospital here Tuesday.

The girl, born to Mr. and Mrs. Donald Hobbs, was one of the smallest ever born in British Columbia.

RCMP highway patrol cars earlier sped a special - type incubator from Kamloops, 175 air miles southeast of here, to aid attempts to keep the child alive.

LOGGER INJURED

CHILLIWACK (CP) — Kenneth Johnson, 34, is in good condition in Chilliwack Hospital after he was injured Monday by a falling tree at a Harrison Lake Logging camp. He suffered a broken nose and bruises.

British Papers of All Colors Condemn Khrushchev's Conduct

LONDON (CP)—Dismay, despondency and anger at Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev gripped millions in the West Tuesday as hope for resuming the Paris summit conference all but faded away.

Most newspapers put the blame squarely on the shoulder of the Russian premier if the Big Four heads of government pack up and go home without trying to solve the problems facing the divided world.

The consensus was that Khrushchev's bitter words to President Eisenhower Monday were dictated by internal Russian politics. Just how and why was anybody's guess.

British newspapers from left to right condemned Khrushchev's actions.

The Liberal Guardian of Manchester said Khrushchev "has done his best to torpedo the summit conference and only a reversal of his own position can save it now."

TROUBLE AT HOME

The Guardian offered two possible explanations of his actions: "The first is that he has lost some internal struggle in the Kremlin and has been captured by the neo-Stalinists. The second is that he has calculated that the West can screw more out of it by bullying than he could get by genuine negotiation."

The independent London Times said Khrushchev may have decided "lame - duck" Eisenhower was not worth negotiating with or "reactionary circles" were temporarily in control of American policy.

"Another possibility is that Mr. Khrushchev is under strong pressure from critics inside Russia and—still more—in other Communist countries. They would argue that all the junketing and journeys of coexistence had led nowhere."

Western ideas about what Russia wants may have to be revamped, argued the Conservative London Daily Telegraph.

"The possibility must now be faced that those Western leaders who argued for a change of Western attitudes to the Soviet Union, and a jettisoning of the Dulles policy of toughness, have been badly miscalculated."

HOPES OF MILLIONS

The Laborite London Daily Herald said that "if the chance of peace the four men of Paris have now is thrown aside then with it die, cruelly and maybe forever, the hopes of millions upon millions of ordinary folk."

The breezy pro-Labor tabloid London Daily Mirrow said over its entire front page, "Mr. K. (if you will pardon an olde English phrase) don't be so bloody rude." In small letters in a black box at the bottom it added, "PS—who do you think you are? Stalin?"

A wave of gloom gripped Paris Monday night as crowds gathered outside newspaper stands to read headlines. Similar scenes had not been seen since the Korean War began.

Nobody in France could rejoice at a wrecked summit, declared Conservative Le Figaro, "but if it helps to tighten Western solidarity it will have at least one bright side."

WORST IN YEARS

"This might be the beginning of the most serious political crisis in years," said Stockholm's-Tidningen in Sweden.

Two independent papers in Frankfurt, West Germany, carried identical headlines: "Khrushchev torpedoes summit conference."

Headlines in Amsterdam and Rome blared "Khrushchev sabotages summit."

Moscow Radio kept up a steady chorus of support for Khrushchev's summit stand. But as of this morning, there was no mention of Eisenhower's declaration that spy flights over Russia had been stopped and would not be resumed.

Diplomats at United Nations headquarters in New York expressed belief the summit breakdown presages more bitter East-West debate in the next General Assembly, opening in September.

BRIDGE CONTRACT

KAMLOOPS (CP) — Highways Minister P. A. Gaglardi said Monday the contract for steel work on the Overlander Bridge has been awarded to Western Bridge Company. The contract amount is $1,018,000. Work is expected to begin in June.

For Thursday, May 19, 1960

MARCH 21 to APRIL 20 (Aries) — This is going to be a progressive, fruitful day because you are going to make it so. Add your scintillating charm and we know you will come through with flying colors. Hard tasks, easy ones honored.

APRIL 21 to MAY 21 (Taurus)—The sort of day in which you can fulfill many desires and grant favors to cheer loved ones' and friends' hearts. Essential study and work can advance and fresh advantages abound, too.

MAY 22 to JUNE 21 (Gemini)—Be purposeful, objective and you will attain at least some of your wishes, aims. You can write, create new ideas for many lines of endeavor, advertising, promoting, etc. and you can gain.

JUNE 22 to JULY 23 (Cancer) —Many things to your liking are favored now. Don't be too hasty or too determined to get full appreciation of your efforts but recognition will come, perhaps sooner than you think.

JULY 24 to AUGUST 23 (Leo)—Day has a basket full of surprises and good wishes in store for you—If you give the day and your duties your best endeavors. What you do today, do with calmness, faith; both are vital.

AUGUST 24 to SEPTEMBER 23 (Virgo) — Have inner contentment, it will add to achievement and to your outlook, for later problems and projects. Attend to conferences if necessary, consult those in authority. Good rays.

SEPTEMBER 24 to OCTOBER 23 (Libra) — Many factors evident today to aid the truly ambitious and earnest one who tries, and who smiles as well as works. Your specific occupation and allied interests can advance.

OCTOBER 24 to NOVEMBER 22 (Scorpio) — Affairs concerned with finances and with important business matters are favored but must be adroitly managed and with wisdom. Let no unscrupulous persons direct or dictate to you. THINK!

NOVEMBER 23 to DECEMBER 21 (Sagittarius) — Forge ahead in your thoughtful, serious way but do keep some humor on hand for the difficult spots. You are helped by being pleasant and cooperative. Today needs your cleverness.

DECEMBER 22 to JANUARY 20 (Capricorn) — Advice to Sagittarius could compliment your day's doings. Your desirable characteristics suit both difficult and easier problems. Choose quickly, wisely the urgent tasks to tackle first.

JANUARY 21 to FEBRUARY 19 (Aquarius) — Be considerate and faithful to duties. You are the one to make the day profitable or just so-so. Fine influences prevail for delicate and artistic matters also for vigorous activities.

FEBRUARY 20 to MARCH 20 (Pisces) — Yesterday's excellent Neptune aspect leaves pleasant, fruitful prospects with which to work today. Important that you strike a successful tempo and keep consistently at your work.

YOU BORN TODAY belong to the Taurus-Gemini Cusp, having characteristics from both Signs. You have the versatility and changeableness of Gemini but you also have the stability and stick-to-itiveness of Taurus. Wonderful ideas abundant. You may start two projects at one time and even though they become difficult and tiring, you will usually stay with both until you reach successful conclusions. Delightful, interesting and constructive people you are. Seek always to develop your fine qualifications. Never discourage; have faith, hope always. Birthdate: Mme. Nellie Melba, famed Australian operatic soprano; Johns Hopkins, American philanthropist, founder of Hospital and University in Baltimore, Md.

Macmillan "Unflappable" Says One Who Knows Him

By ARTHUR GAVSHON

PARIS (AP) — "Don't underestimate Mr. Macmillan."

This advice came early Tuesday from a skilled British diplomat after his prime minister talked for an hour and 35 minutes with Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev in an effort to get the Big Four summit talks started.

In the face of a seemingly hopeless Moscow-Washington impasse, the diplomat's words sounded more like an expression of loyalty and faith to Macmillan than sound political judgment.

But British officials are not normally blinded by their wishes. This one conceded that chances of success for Macmillan's rescue operation are not so good. Yet he still refused to admit defeat for his chief.

Macmillan is known as "a politician's politician," one who rarely champions lost causes. His followers say he's "unflappable," meaning he does not panic.

CLEAR WARNING

It can be assumed that the British leader minced no words Monday about what might happen if Khrushchev insisted on closing the parley.

He undoubtedly warned:

1. That if the mood of conciliation disappears from East-West relations, the world may face a runaway rearmament race, just at a time when the two great power blocs have a common interest in cutting back on their arms and armies.

2. The explosive Berlin dispute may erupt to threaten the peace of Europe.

3. The chance may be lost to settle the loose ends of the projected American - British - Russian treaty to quit nuclear weapon tests. This pact is within sight. Its conclusion holds out a promise of the modern world's first sytem of international control and inspection.

Informants said that if Khrushchev did not retreat, at least he did not douse hopes of further progress.

The tone of the conversation was low-key throughout. The official Soviet news agency Tass called it "friendly."

Girl Guides Cut Jubilee Cake on 50th Anniversary

Highlight of the Golden Jubilee mother and daughter banquet of the Nelson Girl Guide Association was cutting of the aniversary cake by Miss Margaret Thompson, one of Nelson's first Girl Guide leaders.

The banquet was held in the Eagles Hall Monday night and spekers were Mrs. H. F. Hyson, area commissioner, Miss Dorothy Peirson, divisional commissioner, and Mrs. S. Warren Carey of Tasmania, who compared guiding in Canada with that in Australia.

Mrs. Crey and her two daughters, Robyn and Alice, were presented with Friendship pins. A thank-you badge was presented to Mrs. G. H. Preston by Mrs. J. A. McMaster, Ladies Auxiliary president, and a ten-yer service was presented to Miss Peirson by Mrs. Hyson.

Guests numbered 242, which included Guides, Brownies and the mothers and leaders.

Grace was sung by the Second Nelson Brownie Pack led by Miss Greta Curwen.

A toast to the Queen was proposed by Miss Florence Moss, district commissioner and a toast to the mothers by Miss Clara Beresford was replied to by her mother, Mrs. Frank Berseford.

Candles on the cake were lit by Miss Penny Chase and Lynn Green.

The dinner was convened by the Ladies' Auxiliary to the Fraternal Order of Eagles.

Women Must Accept Responsibilities

REGINA (CP) — Women must accept the responsibilities that go with the rights they have fought for, says Mrs. Harry S. Quart of Sillery, Que., national president of the Women's Progressive Conservative Association.

"A great many women concentrate on rights too much and have fallen down on assuming and accepting the responsibilities that go with these rights.

"Our task ahead is not only to convince the men as much as to educate the unconverted masses of women who are too apathetic and complacent."

Mrs. Quart was interviewed during a visit here following her reourn from Argentina where she was vice; chairman of a meeting of the UN commission on the status of women.

Most Canadian women were more interested in marriage than a career and didn't want to "storm parliament."

But they could combine their role as wife and mother with that of custodian of democracy.

"A woman interested in the affairs of her country thinks of the future of her children and her family. She develops a tremendous sense of justice. . . . The many organizations through which she serves are valuable links between governments on all levels. Through them she can make women's views kfown to the legislatures and councils."

Women should not be the rivals of men. "They should not be regarded as militant suffragettes nor a group of frustrated females." They should join men as partners in public life, working together "to hold fast to basic spiritual principles and values and to exert influence to preserve a democratic way of life."

EXPENSIVE MEETING

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Last week's riot between police and demonstrators against a hearing of the House of Representatives un-American activities subcommittee cost the city "about $250,000," Mayor George Christopher estimates. If the subcommittee ever returns to San Francisco, Christopher said Monday, it should meet in a federal building, not city hall. Then "they can use the army if necessary." Twelve persons were injured in the clash and 64 were arrested.

Use the Naran Plan to Lose Ugly Fat

It's simple how quickly one may lose pounds of unsightly fat right in your own home. Make this home recipe yourself. It's easy, no trouble at all and costs little. Just go to your drug store and ask for four ounces of Naran Concentrate. Pour this into a pint bottle and add enough grapefruit juice to fill the bottle. Take two tablespoons full a day as needed and follow the Naran Plan.

If your first purchase does not show you a simple easy way to lose bulky fat and help regain slender more graceful curves; if reducible pounds and inches of excess fat don't disappear from neck, chin, arms, abdomen, hips, calves and ankles just return the empty bottle for your money back. Follow this easy way endorsed by many who have tried this plan and help bring back alluring curves and graceful slenderness. Note how quickly bloat disappears—how much better you feel. More alive, youthful appearing and active.

Cadet's Visiting Officers Entertained at Banquet

Tulips and narcissus in a vase contained in the hub of a propellor provided an attractive and appropriate centre piece at the head table of the father and son air cadet banquet honoring Sqdn.-Ldr. D. G. Sheridan, review officer; B. O. Mayne, chairman of the B. C. Committee of the Air Cadet League of Canada, and Flt. Lt. G. S. Harrow, liaison officer of the air cadet league of B. C.

Trailing greenery was arranged over blades of the propellor in the centrepiece, which was the work of Mrs. Ray Westmacott of the Mothers Auxiliary to Air Cadets which convened the banquet in the Canadian Legion Hall.

One of the highlights of the banquet was the announcement by Mr. Mayne of the awarding of the flying training scholarship to Sgt. Graham McDonald of Nelson, which will entitle the cadet to two weeks' flying training course at the coast this summer.

Besides the guests of honor, those seated at the head table were chairman Fred E. Morris, chairman of the Nelson committee; representatives of organizations contributing to the air cadets—G. R. Barnhill, of Bank of Montreal; A. R. Irving of Lions Club and W. H. Johnson of Kinsmen Club; Flt.-Lt. Norman G. MacLeod, Commanding Officer of Nelson Air Cadets; Pipe Major Clifford Underwood of Nelson Kilties, Ernest Newman of Castlegar committee; Capt. H. E. Dahlquist of 111th Battery, and C. R. Higgens, secretary-manager of Nelson branch Canadian Legion.

The banquet for approximately 90 persons was held following inspection of Nelson Air Cadets by visiting dignitaries.

Members of the Mothers Auxiliary were assisted by Mrs. L. E. Kuntz and Misses Jean Robertson, Glenys and Jean Oulton.

Mrs. Dale Van Ruyskensvelde is president of this year's auxiliary.

ABOUT the TOWN

Mr. and Mrs. V. C. Owen, Scott Owen and Vicky Owen of the North Shore leave today for Vancouver, whence they will leave by plane Friday for England, via the Polar route. During their month's stay in the British Isles, they will tour England, Scotland and possibly Wales and will visit Mr. Owen's mother, Mrs. E. L. Johnson and family in the midlands of England.

Engagement Announcements

Mr. and Mrs. Douglas J. Davis, South Slocan, B.C., announce the engagement of their daughter, Elizabeth Dianne to Constable Walter Thomas McAuley, R.C.M.P., of Trail, B. C., son of Mr. and Mrs. Eric J. McAuley, McAuley, Man. The wedding will take place June 18, 1960 in St. Matthew's Church, South Slocan, B.C.

Larder - Mucha Vows Heard At Nakusp

The United Church in Nakusp was the scene of the recent wedding of Ellen Jean Mucha, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Mucha, and Mr. Eric Larder, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. Larder.

Rev. R. Booth read the marriage service at which Miss Hamer was organist. The event also marked Miss Hamer's 85th birthday.

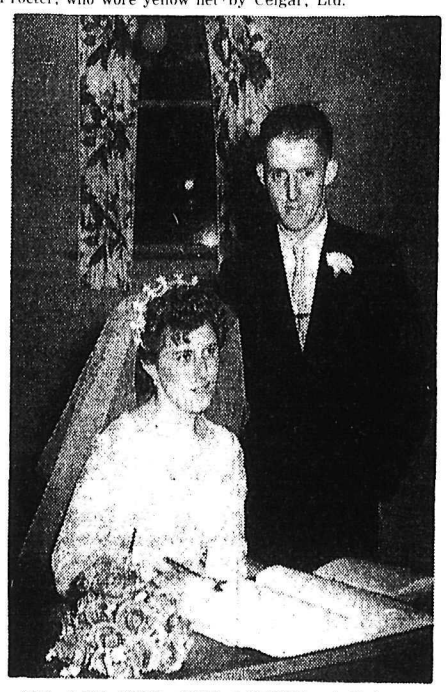
Given in marriage by her father, the bride was gowned in floor-length Chantilly lace and net with bodice trimmed with pearls and sequins. Her nylon and tulle veil was scalloped and trimmed with sequins and was caught by a tiara of rhinestones, pearls and sequins.

Her matron of honor was Mrs. Cecile Landry, cousin of the bride from Procter, who wore yellow net over satin. Bridesmaid Miss Linda Mucha attended her sister in a lime green gown of lace over satin and flower girl Carol Anne Mucha was in light blue nylon.

Mr. Ken Larder supported the bridegroom and ushers were Mr. Gordon Mucha and Mr. Joe Larder.

A reception was held in the Canadian Legion hall with Mr. Henry Aalten as master of ceremonies. Entertainment and dancing were enjoyed.

For a trip to Kalispel, Montana, the bride changed into a blue dress and coat with white accessories. The newlyweds will reside at Nakusp, where the bride is a nurse's aid at the Arrow Lakes Hospital and the bridegroom is employed by Celgar, Ltd.



MR. AND MRS. ERIC LARDER of Nakusp.

Canadian Threat Looking For Jockey for Saturday's Race

"Stab in the Back" Yells Furillo at L.A.

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Veteran Carl Furillo, a victim of aging legs, says he has been betrayed by Los Angeles Dodgers.

The once-great infielder is to be released by the Dodgers this week, too late, he says, to catch on with another National League club. Furillo, 38 and a Dodger for 14 years, becomes a free agent if he is not picked up on waivers in a couple of days.

"I think this is one of the lousiest things they could have done," he said in an interview Monday. "They just didn't have to do it that way.

DEAD DUCK

"Why not a week or two weeks earlier? Then I would have had a chance to do something. Everybody is set now and I'm a dead duck. Maybe they didn't want me to hook up with some other ball club and come back for revenge."

Buzzie Bavasi, Dodger general manager, said there has been no intent to damage Furillo.

"He can have his release now and go with any ball club he wants to."

Tha Dodgers talked to Furillo some time ago about going on the voluntary retired list. This would have permitted the club to keep him and still be free to call up another player without going over the 25-player limit.

Furillo didn't want to retire because his salary and pension credits would stop. The Dodgers then called up rookie Frank Howard.

Washington's Lafayette Square in 1800 was an open field stretching north of the then unfinished White House.

Fast Workout Adds Lustre To Victoria Park's Chances

By GORDON BEARD

BALTIMORE (AP)—Victoria Park zipped through a strong seven-furlong workout Tuesday in preparation for Saturday's Preakness and a rematch with the colts who whipped him in the Kentucky Derby.

Last year's two-year-old champion of Canada, owned by Toronto industrialist E. P. Taylor, was timed in one minute, 25 3-5 seconds over Pimlico's sandy track. One track observer called the workout "one of the best here in a long time."

Trainer Horatio Luro beamed after the performance and said Victoria Park, the third - place finisher in the Derby, will "only gallop" in the workouts the rest of the week.

Meanwhile, the search continued for a jockey to ride Victoria Park. Manuel Ycaza, who rode him in the Derby, has a date to ride Make Sail in Saturday's Acord Stakes at Aqueduct for his contract employer, Cain Hoy Stable.

SEEK ROGERS AS JOCKEY

Trainer Luro and owner Taylor have been in consultation and the report is they are trying to line up Chris Rogers, the Canadian-born jockey who finished second in the 1958 Preakness with Lincoln Road.

One other colt in the expected field of six starters, the smallest filed since 1950, also is without a rider for the 84th running of the $150,000-added spectacle.

The jockey for Divine Comedy, which finished second in last Saturday's Preakness Prep, is expected to be named by trainer Charlie Whittingham today.

While the search for two riders continued, speculation about Eddie Arcaro came to an end. The all - time Preakness champ, with six victories in 15 attempts, agreed to ride Airman's Guide in Aqueduct's Acorn Stakes.

Venetian Way, the Derby winner who is expected to be favored here, again will be handled by Bill Hartack. Bob Ussery again will be aboard Bally Ache, the Derby runnerup and Preakness Prep winner.

With six starters, Saturday's race will gross $175,100, with the winning owner taking home $121,000.

Wall's entry in the $27,000 jackpot and the Seagram Gold Cup was announced Monday by the Royal Canadian Golf Association.

Fighting Fullmers Latest Brother Act

(Central Press) — The fighting Fullmers, a brother triple out of West Jordan, Utah, may someday rate in the class with the Zivics and other boxing brother families.

The Fullmers, Gene, 28; Jay, 23, and Don, 21, are farm boys who inherited their toughness and fighting ability from their father, Lawrence (Tuff) Fullmer, who was a heavyweight fighter in his younger days and still is a fine physical specimen.

The family boxing heritage is so accented that Gene, the middleweight champion, was named for Gene Tunney even before he was born. And all of the brothers began boxing at early ages, with Gene in A.A.U. competition at the age of 12, although he was supposed to be 16.

The Youngest brother, Don, now forges into the national boxing picture as a middleweight and a possible light heavy, maybe the 175-pound champ some day.

Don gained stature when he decisioned Virgil Akins, former welter champ, a few weeks back and only the other night he took the decision over Stefan Redl, an outstanding competitor.

Of the three, Jay, who is a lightweight, still hasn't made the big-time news with his fists. But he, too, is a fine prospect.

All three are managed by Marv Jensen, a mink rancher who has done wonders with the Fullmers.

The Fullmers are aggressive performers. All can hit hard, fight all the time, and can take a punch. Development of the two younger brothers has been aided by them working out with Gene, who has had 56 fights and won 52 of them, including the title.

The Zivic Brothers of Pittsburgh, headed by Fritzie, top man of the cast, probably rate as the most famous of all fighting brothers.

There were many others, of course, including the Gibbons' boys, Max and Buddy Baer, the O'Dowds, the Sullivans and the Brocks.

The Zivic family of boxers included Fritzie, Joe, Eddie, Pete and Jack. Pete was the oldest, Fritzie won the welterweight championship.

Brothers in sports can be found in many fields. In baseball there have been many brother sets, headed by the Delahantys, five of whom made the major leagues, and a sixth was in the minors. There were four O'Neill brothers, topped by Steve, long-time catcher and manager. The three DiMaggios all made the majors.

Cranbrook's New Playing Field Almost Ready

CRANBROOK — Mount Baker School's eight acre playing field, authorized in a school district by-law a year ago at a cost of $22,700, is almost ready to go into service. It provides a quarter-mile oval dirt track, with turf now grown over the rest of the site and inside the oval and is designed for use of baseball, softball and soccer.

The district board of trustees decided this week terms of its use by the public in general. Initial notification of the school board of intention to use it will be required and a regulation enforced that organizations playing there are required to tidy up debris both inside and outside the fence for practice sessions or actual game use. Under these conditions no charge for use will be levied.

East Kootenay High Schools annual spring track meet will be the initial event on the field, set for May 20, and initial date of use by other organizations has been set as June 1.

Plan for the field was designed by Morley Obee, maintenance supervisor for the school district. The grass soccer pitch is inside the oval track, and separate grass fields are available for simultaneous use for baseball and softball.

Giants Regain Batting Eye; Sox Back in First Place

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The San Francisco Giants, matching their run production of the last five games, whipped Cincinnati 9-3 Tuesday night and retained a one - game National League lead over Pittsburgh. The Pirates stayed hot with an 11-6 victory over Chicago Cubs.

Los Angeles rapped third-place Milwaukee 6-4, coming from behind in a five-run eighth inning triggered by Frank Howard's first major league grand slam home run. The other National League game, St. Louis at Philadelphia, was rained out.

In the American League, Chicago's White Sox regained first place with an 11-6 victory over Boston. Cleveland took second, a half-game behind, by defeating New York 7-6 while Baltimore skidded from first to third with a 4-2 loss at Kansas City. The Orioles, also a half-game behind, had won five in a row. Detroit plunked Washington into the cellar 3-1.

GIANT BATS BOOMING

The Giants beat Cincinnati for the first time in four tries, banging in five runs on homers by Willie Kirkland, Willie Mays and Orlando Cepeda in a 14-hit barrage. Jim O'Toole (3-3) lost it, giving up four runs in the first that ended his shutout string at 18 innings. Jack Sanford (4-1) won it. He gave up six hits, one a two-run homer by Ed Bailey.

The Pirates also got off with four runs in the first, after Ernie Banks eighth home run had given the Cubs three runs. Six of Pittsburgh's runs were unearned. Don Hoak had three of the Bucs' 11 hits and drove in three runs. Bob Friend (5-1) won it over Glen Hobbie (3-4).

Howard's homer, his third in the majors but first since his recall last Friday, overhauled a 4-1 Milwaukee lead and beat Dodger nemesis Bob Buhl (2-2). Larry Sherry (5-3), who won his fourth in a row in relief, also homered in the eighth. Milwaukee also had two home runs, Hank Aaron's ninth, tops in the majors, and Ed Mathews' seventh.

The White Sox, now 7-0 at home, clinched it with four runs in the fifth. Three scored on a double by Sammy Esposito, who had four RBI. Bob Shaw (3-2) was the winner. He gave up a dozen hits, including home runs by Frank Malzone, Gene Stephens and Haywood Sullivan.

Whitey Herzog's two-run homer broke a 2-2 tie for the Athletics in the seventh inning and beat Milt Pappas (2-3). Leo Kiely (1-0) was the winner. Jackie Brandt homered for the Birds.

Righthander Gary Bell became the first American League pitcher to win five this season, putting away his fourth in a row with Dick Stigman's final-out relief. The Yankees scored four unearned runs in the ninth, three on Mickey Mantle's homer.

Norm Cash doubled and scored Detroit's winning run on a second-inning triple by Chico Fernandez. Pete Ramos (0-5) dropped his seventh in a row since last September while Frank Lary (3-2), picked up the victory.

Friend, Piersall Showing Way on Comeback Trail

NEW YORK (AP) — Bob Friend of Pittsburgh Pirates and Jimmy Piersall of Cleveland Indians will be players to watch when the baseball comeback of the year laurels are handed out next fall.

Friend and Piersall head an impressive comeback list which includes Red Schoendienst of Milwaukee, Richie Ashburn and Frank Thomas of Chicago Cubs, Dick Farrell of Philadelphia, Ed Bailey of Cincinnati, Al Smith and Billy Pierce of Chicago White Sox and Arnie Portocarrero of Baltimore.

Friend, who led the National League in victories with 22 in 1958, slumped to an 8-19 mark last season. This year he's rebounded brilliantly, posting a 4-1 record and an earned run average of 1.58.

Piersall was figured to be no more than a defensive replacement when the season began. But the veteran outfielder is having his best year since 1956 when he played in all of Boston's 155 games and batted .293.

In the next three seasons, Piersall batted .261, .237 and .246. His 1960 output to date shows a .328 batting average after 58 times at bat.

McELROY EDGES HIPPERSONS 5-4

McElroy Motors edged Hipperson's 5-4 in a Babe Ruth League game Tuesday night. Tied 3-3 going into the final inning, Hipperson's scored once in the top half of the seventh, but Ernie Moisey and Gerry Kushner each drove across a run for McElroy to end the game.

Jackie Catenacci went the route for the losers, allowing six hits, walking 12 and striking out 11. For McElroy Moisey pitched a solid performance, walking two, allowing eight hits and fanning 10.

Next game will be Thursday night when Hipperson's meet the league-leading Whiteley's.

GRAND SLAMMERS . . . Vic Wertz, left, and Rip Repulski of the Boston Red Sox rejoice in the dressing room after hitting grand slam homers in their game with Chicago White Sox. Wertz became the fourth active American League player to drive in over 1000 runs bringing his major league RBI to 1001 while Repulski made his American League debut as a pinchhitter, smacking a grand slammer. Orangemen Top Favorite in West Kootenay Fastball

With the mercury continually inching upwards with every passing day, West Kootenay Senior Fastball League players are throwing that much harder in practice.

This season the league sees two changes in team registration, Grand Forks Co-Ops have dropped out while last year's Merchants now operate out of Warfield, leaving last year's champions, Mission Orange, the sole club playing under the lights at Butler Ball Park in Trail.

Other teams returning are runners-up Montrose Beavers, Nelson Queens, Riondel Giants and Thrums Indians.

Jim Mailey, Gerry Wanless and John Fulthorpe formed the league executive with Chief Georgetti of Trail umpire-in-chief and Bill Thompson league statistician.

Mission Orange under manager Johnny Paolone again figures to be the team to beat as he has three veteran twirlers to head his mound staff, Elsio Vanelli, Bruno DeRosa and Bobby Kromm.

Heading the Montrose Beavers pitching crew will be sophomore fastballer Glen Langset, rookie Lucien Campeau and veteran Bill Thompson.

Beavers boast an Apracio to Fox unit this year in Billy and Donnie Lee and have added strength to their batting order with a aquisition of Dennis Waterstreet who finished third in batting last season. Veteran Beaver catcher Alex Reid top all sluggers.

According to R. Phillips, Queens of Nelson will build their club around the hurling efforts of junk artist George McFarlane, lefty Don Ball and Morris Renwick.

Warfield Merchants under manager Jack Hand will rely mainly on the slants of righthander Gerry Godfrey, who boasted the lowest earn run average in the league last season and young righthander Don Freer.

Veterans Gerry Bishop, and Pete Stewart coupled with new acquisition Tony Smandych head the hurling staff of the Riondel Giants while Thrums Indians again will rely mainly on the speedball of Bill Perehudoff. Giant manager Sam Konkin has picked up from the defunct Grand Forks entry Frank Perehudoff and Fred Hoodicoff to round out the pitching staff.

In the league's opening doubleheader last weekend Riondel won the first 6-4 with Thrums capping the night cap 2-1 behind the two hitter spiced by 16 strikeouts, twirled by Bill Perehudoff.

Musial Benched In Card Shuffle

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Stan Musial was frisky and optimistic about his baseball future Monday night. But he wasn't in the starting lineup.

And he wasn't in the starting lineup for either game of St. Louis Cardinals' doubleheader against Chicago Cubs Sunday, although he did pinch-hit in the second game, as he did Monday night against Philadelphia Phillies.

Is this an indication that Musial's long and outstanding career is nearly over?

"Absolutely not," said St. Louis manager Solly Hemus. Musial agreed.

Hemus declined to say how long the 39-year-old first baseman would be on the bench.

"We've been losing games and it makes sense to make changes. So far as Musial being benched, there isn't anything to it. These changes are on a day-to-day basis."

Hemus tried 37-year-old George Crowe at first Monday night. It was his first start of the season and he had one hit in four trips to the plate. Musial was a pinch-hitter in the ninth inning, walked and scored one of the inning's three runs. The Cards won 5-3.

Smith-Blunt Win Mixed Golf

Winners of the first mixed tournament to be held at the Nelson Golf and Country Club were Gordon Smith and Zilla Blunt. Their combined scores minus handicap was a net 21.

The tourney, a mixed two-ball foursome held Tuesday evening was highly popular drawing 52 entries.

Three couples tied for second place with a net score of 22. They were Marg Hamilton and Lloyd Frame, Charlie Blunt and H. Robinson, and G. Zuk and Frank Beresford.

WKSL Has to Comply With U.S. Condition

Diplomatic wheels have been set in motion by West Kootenay Member of Parliament, Herbert W. Herridge, in an effort to keep the newly - launched West Kootenay Western International Soccer League from sinking under immigration policies of the United States and Canada.

League president Alf Baker of Nelson was informed by the MP Tuesday night that the league will have to conform with the financial back-breaking condition laid down by the U.S. consul if they want to have their unnaturalized players cross the international border.

The condition being that each unnaturalized player present himself in person to the U.S. consul in Vancouver along with references, passports, etc.

Nelson, Trail and Spokane being amateur clubs find this financially impossible. Yet, if they do not meet the request Spokane will have to be dropped out of the circuit, as the majority of their key personnel are recent newcomers to their adopted countries. Nelson alone has 11 newcomers on its roster of 16 players.

Because of this restriction a game between Nelson and Spokane in Spokane scheduled for last Saturday had to be scuttled and Nelson quickly replaced by a pick-up team of naturalized and Canadian-born players from both Trail and Nelson.

In his telegram, Mr. Herridge indicated that he will try to arrange crossing for one game but requested that the league comply with U.S. consul conditions.

At the same time he requested that the league supply the following information to the U.S. consul in Vancouver: player's full name, date and place of birth, nationality, port of expected arrival in United States (Nelway), details about their passports, date of expiry, where and when issued, from what country, what citizenship, if refugees must have Canadian certificates of identity.

President Baker reported that the team executives are now trying to round up this information to comply with the wishes of the consul.

Junior Workout

First turnout for junior baseball prospects (ages 16-20 years) is scheduled for 6:30 this evening at Civic Park.

Last year's juniors and graduates from the Sandlot league are urged to turnout as plans are being laid for the formation of two junior clubs this season.

Carlings Tied for First in Lacrosse

VANCOUVER (CP)—Vancouver Carlings moved into a tie with Nanaimo Labatts for first place in Inter-City Lacrosse League standings by defeating Nanaimo 13-7 before 1108 fans at Kerrisdale Arena Tuesday night.

Sandlotters Hold Final Practice

Final registration and practice for sandlot baseball hopefuls will be held at Civic ball park this afternoon at 4:30.

Because of the number of boys wanting to play, and the lack of adult supervisors in the form of coaches and managers for the increase in teams, the league schedule will not be finalized until Saturday.

Registration forms have indicated that enrolment will be well over 200 players both in Pee Wee and Shrimp Leagues.

Teams are to represent geographical areas throughout the city so as to give players who play together during their recreation hours a chance to play as a team in a league.

PARENTS Magazine Discusses

"blue denim"

Blue Denim—Explored with dignity and insight, the problem of decent young people whose early sex drives get them into trouble is forcefully brought home in this worthwhile film to both parents and older boys and girls. The impact of terror when the girl finds she is pregnant, and both she and the boy are afraid to tell their parents, is shared by the audience. Even mothers and fathers whose children are small will be able to see how mutual confidence and communication must be built up over the years. Carol Lynley as the girl and Brandon de Wilde as the boy are appealing and convincing, both in their startled awakening to love and the stunned realization of its aftermath. Moreover, they are held strictly responsible, even to their own part in the failure to bridge the gap of understanding with their parents. Everyone, in fact, is given fair but uncompromising treatment. A—Excellent. Y—Excellent for mature young people. (20th C-Fox)

Irene Rebrin's Counsel Abandon Bail Attempt

VANCOUVER (CP) — Counsel for Irene Rebrin Tuesday abandoned his attempt to free the 33-year-old university lecturer on bail when he could find no legal authority for an application.

Miss Rebrin is held in custody by immigration authorities pending an appeal from a deportation order.

Lawyer Gordon Dowding planned to apply for bail before the appeal court. He said, however, he could find no legal authority to seek bail from an appeal court in a case of this nature.

Mr. Dowding now plans to apply to the immigration department for a renewal of a $200 bond on which the Slavonics lecturer at the University of British Columbia was freed shortly after her arrest April 13.

She was returned to custody last Friday when Mr. Justice T. G. Norris dismissed an application to have the deportation order quashed.

Miss Rebrin's deportation was ordered on the grounds that she is a stateless person. She appealed the original deportation order made in January, 1959, and her appeal was rejected in January this year. Immigration Minister Fairclough told the House of Commons that Miss Rebrin was being deported as a security risk.

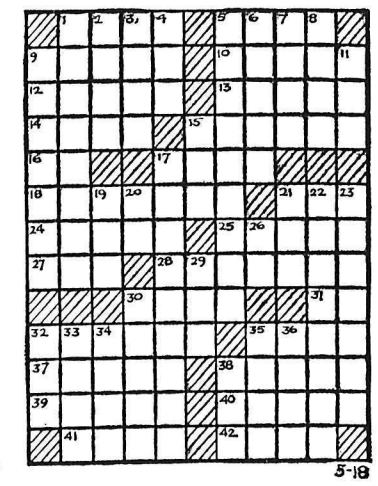
Yesterday's Answer



DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X B
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Opening Festival Performance Impresses Coast Adjudicator

Canadian Press Staff Writer

VANCOUVER (CP) — The Dominion Drama Festival, a week of heavy theatre, opened on a relentlessly tragic but successful note Monday night with a Vancouver production of Arthur Miller's A View From the Bridge.

The first of eight plays at the 22nd annual theatre competition, it was performed before a capacity audience in the 2,800 - seat Queen Elizabeth Theatre.

With the expected qualifications and criticisms, it earned high praise from adjudicator Philip Hope-Wallace, music and drama critic with The Guardian of Manchester.

ROSE TO TEST

"When I heard that the Vancouver Little Theatre was presenting this play, I feared you were biling off more than you could chew," Mr. Hope-Wallace said.

"It soon became plain that you had very good teeth . . ."

He described the play as a "really tough test" and commented: "I was greatly moved at the end of that performance, and that's what we come to the theatre for."

Mr. Hope-Wallace said he has respect for Miller, 44 - year - old Pulitzer Prize winner, but not love. "In the same way I respect my dentist, but . . ."

He found elements of a Greek tragedy in the story of Brooklyn longshoreman Eddie Carbone, whose feelings for his niece, Catherine, became more than fatherly. Eddie finally "squeals" to immigration authorities about two illegally landed talians he has been sheltering after one of the immigrants woos and wins the nice.

STAGE WELL USED

Mr. Hope-Wallace found Vancouver Little Theatre had turned the "tremendous stage" to its advantage with its street-like setting.

Of Al Kozlik's performance of Eddie, the adjudicator said: "I was held by your performance the whole time. I was continually searching for your reaction to the situation as it developed. You have my congratulations."

The two leading women had less meaty parts, he found.

Pegi Lynds, as the niece, provided a "very good creative effort in a part I'll dare to call rather thinly written," while Pat Barlow as Eddie's wife was "entirely adequate, although slightly stiff."

CMHC Lays Down Rules On Sceptic Tanks

OTTAWA (CP) — The government plans next year to place conditions of granting housing loans in urban areas where builders plan to use septic tanks, Works Minister Walker informed the Commons Monday.

Replying to James A. McBain (PC—Elgin) and David Pugh (PC—Okanagan - Boundary), Mr. Walker said Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation will continue to accept applications for loans for building in rural areas where septic tanks will be used.

However, starting Jan. 1, 1961, loans will be approved for building in urban areas on the following conditions, if the builder plans to use septic tanks:

1. The municipality must provide evidence that piped sewer service will be available within a reasonable period of time.

2. Where building lots remain in subdivisions previously accepted for septic tanks.

3. Where septic tanks are the only means of providing sewage disposal on the building lots.

CCF Council Urges Ending Norad Pact

OTTAWA (CP)—The CCF national council said Monday steps should be taken to terminate the North American air defence agreement with the United States

In a statement issued after a meeting here, the council said the government's "persistent refusal to abandon the Bomarc (anti-aircraft missile) project is plain madness."

"The fundamental fact that is becoming more obvious each day is that there is no defence against the latest forms of thermonuclear weapons, particularly the ICBM (intercontinental ballistic missile).

"Canada's role in NORAD is therefore useless and steps should be taken to terminate the NORAD agreement.

"NATO too no longer serves the purpose for which it was originally intended. The whole NATO strategy should be re-assessed and Canada should reconsider its own role in that organization."

China Views Crisis With Displeasure

PEKING (Reuters) — News of the summit crisis in Paris shocked foreign diplomats here and seemed to be an unexpected and unwelcome surprise to Communists — Westerns and Asians alike.

They discussed it together gravely in an atmosphere of subdued gloom at Peking Airport this morning while waiting to welcome Chinese Premier Chou En-lai home from a five-week trip abroad.

A Soviet diplomat said informally that Soviet Premier Khrushchev's call for a summit conference postponement and his attitude to American reaction over the spy plane incident was "quite natural and nor surprising under the circumstances."

Some Communists described the Paris developments as "serious" and "unexpected."

Chou, who returned after a five-week visit to India, Burma, Nepal, Cambodia and Communist North Vietnam, made no public statement.

The Peking newspapers contained no hint of the Paris developments, merely reporting that the four government heads met for a preliminary session Monday.

FUND PASSES $2,000

KAMLOOPS (CP) — The Reg Hook Memorial Fund, which will be used to help agriculture students, has passed the $2,000 mark and one trustee said Monday he is confident the $4,000 objective will be reached before the Christmas Fat Show in the fall.

MARKET TRENDS

NEW YORK (AP) — Strength in defence - related industries spread to other groups and the stock market mounted a strong afternoon rally Tuesday.

Based on the rise in the Associated Press average, an estimated $1,750,000,000 was added to the quoted value of all stocks listed on the New York Stock Exchange.

The afternoon advance came after hours of indecision caused by the uncertain prospects for an eventual get - together at the summit conference.

Heavy trading which brought volume to 4,080,000 shares compared with 3,530,000 Monday.

The AP average of 60 stocks rose 1.30 to 214.30.

Thiokol paced the defence - related group and finished at the top of the most active list on volume of 145,200 shares. The rocket fuel stock climbed 3½ to 46¼. American Motors gained ⅛ to 25⅜ on 93,600 shares.

Steels, motors, chemicals and rails joined the afternoon surge. U.S. Steel rose 2⅛, Jones and Laughlin 1⅛ and Youngstown Sheet and Tube 1¾. Du Pont rose 5.

Oils were a weak spot.

Among Canadian stocks on the New York exchange, Dome Mines rose ⅝, Aluminium Ltd. ½ and Canadian Pacific ⅛. McIntyre Porcupine and Walker Gooderham lost ⅜, Distillers Seagrams and Hudson Bay Mining ¼ and Granby Mining ⅛.

On the American Stock Exchange Scurry Rainbow Oil rose ⅛ and Sapphire Petroleums 1-16 while Molybdenite, Fargo Oil and Jupiter Oils lost 1-16.

TORONTO (CP) — Industrials attempted a rally in the stock market Tuesday but ended lower.

On index, industrials were off more than a half point after an earlier drop of more than 2½ points, while western oils went down more than 1¼ points.

Volume was 1,310,000 compared to the 1,487,000 shares traded Monday.

Steels led the decline among industrials. Westeel dropped 1¼ at 15¾ and Canada Iron Foundries and National Steel Car were off ¼. Biggest loser was Canadian Wallpaper A, off 7½ at 28½.

Among papers, Abitibi gained ⅜ and Great Lakes was ahead ½ while Anglo-Canadian dropped ½ at 37¼.

Hollinger and Falconbridge led a firm mining section, each up 1¼.

Noranda moved ahead ¾ and nternational Nickel improved ⅝.

Giant Yellowknife stayed low all day, closing with a loss of 57 cents at $9.55, while Hudson Bay dropped ⅜.

Among senior uraniums, Denison lost 15 cents at $9.60 and Algom went up ⅛.

Western oils were led down by Bailey Selburn and Pacific Petroleum, both off 30 cents at $5.70 and $9.50, with Canadian Superior off 20 cents and Central Del Rio and Home B off 15 cents.

Index changes: Industrials off .62 at 493.94; golds up .17 at 79.09; base metals up .47 at 157.81 and western oils off 1.42 at 87.49.

MONTREAL (CP) — The Montreal and Canadian Stock Exchanges advanced Tuesday in the morning, retreated in the afternoon, rallied near the close and ended fractionally lower.

Closing averages showed banks up 0.08 at 53.38, utilities down 0.9 at 137.4, industrials down 0.1 at 282.6, combined down 0.3 at 234.2, papers up 1.7 at 438.3 and golds up 1.11 at 74.33.

Dominion Foundries and Steel, down 1 at 45, led industrials lower. Canadian Vickers paced the gainers, up 1½ at 15.

In a quiet western oils group, Cent Del Rio fell 30 cents to $4.90 and Home Oil "B" eased 10 cents at $9.00.

Among mines, Hollinger improved ¾ at 24¼ and Frobisher climbed 21 cents to $1.73.

Alberta, Manitoba, Ontario Vote Pay Boost For Legislators

By JAMES NELSON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Legislators in Ontario, Manitoba and Alberta voted themselves salary increases this year but there is no prospect of higher pay for federal members of Parliament.

Though the MPs vote the appropriations to cover their own indemnities and expense accounts, they cannot raise the present $10,000-a-year rate in Ottawa until the government agrees to introduce the necessary legislation. None is in sight until after the next federal general election.

A cross-Canada survey of legislators' salaries by The Canadian Press shows that, for the time consumed in parliamentary sessions, MPs are paid less than members of the legislatures of most provinces.

The federal session lasts six weeks to three months. ndemnities range from $1,950 in Prince Edward Island to $7,000 in Ontario and $8,000 in Quebec.

MORE FOR MAYORS

By way of comparison, Halifax pays its mayor $10,000 a year, Vancouver pays $12,000, Montreal $13,500, Winnipeg $11,800, Toronto $13,000.

But MPs really envy their U.S. counterparts. Members of the U.S. Senate and House of Representatives receive $22,500 a year and are given $40,000 allowances for secretarial help.

Included in the $10,000 paid to MPs and Senators in Ottawa is a $2,000 expense allowance which is tax-free for Commons members but not senators. Their stenographic help is drawn on a first-come-first-served basis from a pool. If they employ private secretaries, they pay.

All legislatures also give expense allowances which are tax-free. In addition, Manitoba, Alberta and British Columbia have daily living allowances. MPs get free railway passes and one free trip home by air each session if they live beyond Ontario and Quebec.

DOCKED FOR ABSENCE

Most provinces and the federal Parliament make reductions for absence but it is usually left to the individual to admit when he has missed a sitting.

Parliament and all legislatures make special allowances for cabinet members and opposition leaders as well as presiding officers.

Prime Minister Diefenbaker receives a total of $37,000, composed of an $8,000 indemnity and $2,000 tax-free allowance as MPs, $25,000 salary as prime minister and $2,000 taxable automobile allowance. He has the use of the prime minister's residence, 24 Sussex Street, Ottawa, and a summer home at Harrington Lake, Que., but pays $5,000 towards their upkeep.

Federal cabinet ministers get a total of $27,000 and the same is paid to the leader of the main opposition party. The Speakers of the Commons and Senate receive $23,000 each.

PRIVATE COMPLAINTS

Parliament last raised indemnities in the 1953-54 session. Politicians are generally diffident about speaking out in public about raising their own salaries but have no hesitation in pressing their claims in the privacy of party meetings.

Douglas Fisher (CCF—Port Arthur), father of three, spoke in Parliament a year ago, saying $10,000 is insufficient to draw good men to Parliament. This spring, however, he said most people think MPs are well enough paid now—some of them, perhaps, too well paid.

Art Smith (PC—Calgary South) said it is ridiculous to expect MPs to maintain two homes in widely-separated parts of the country on $10,000. He is reported to have been ticked off privately by the government for embarrassing it.

James Greene, Conservative opposition leader in Newfoundland and a father of four, says he could not give them a proper education on his $5,000 income as an MLA. He receives an additional $3,000 as opposition leader.

JOB ON SIDE

Dan Campbell (SC — Comox), father of three, said he has to teach part-time if he isn't to starve on his $5,000 income as a member of the British Columbia house. Don Robinson (SC—Lillooet), in addition to asking more money, said B.C. should provide offices for legislators in their home communities to carry on government work while away from the capital.

"The indemnity certainly isn't enough," said John E. Ahern (L—Halifax North), who receives $4,800 as member of the Nova Scotia house. "The Halifax county warden gets $5,400 . . ."

This is the province-by-province salary situation:

Newfoundland: $5,000 ($1,666 tax-free) for session of six weeks to four months ministers get extra $10,000 and the opposition leader $3,000.

Prince Edward Island: $1,950 ($450 tax-free) for seven-week session; $6,000 extra for premier and $3,000 and up for ministers.

Nova Scotia: $4,600 ($1,600 tax-free), raised in 1958 from $3,600, for seven-week session, plus $12,000 for premier, $10,000 for ministers and $6,000 for opposition chief.

New Brunswick: $3,600 ($1,200 tax-free), raised in 1957 from $3,000, for seven-week session $7,500 more for premier and ministers and $3,000 for opposition leader.

Quebec: $8,000 ($2,000 tax-free), raised from $7,000 in 1958, for session lasting more than 30 days. In shorter session, allowance is $20 a day but most sessions run three months. Ministers and opposition leader get additional $10,000.

Ontario: $7,000 ($2,000 tax-free), raised this year from $5,400, for two- to three-month session $18,000 more for premier and ministers and $14,000 for opposition leader.

Manitoba: $4,000 (one-third tax-free), raised this year from $3,000, plus $10 a day up to 60 days away from home, for average two-month session; premier gets $12,000 extra, ministers $10,000 and opposition leader $3,500.

Saskatchewan: $4,800 ($1,600 tax-free), raised in 1958 from $3,600, for seven- to eight-week session; $9,500 extra for premier, $8,000 for ministers and $5,000 for opposition leader.

Alberta: $4,500 ($1,500 tax-free), raised this year from $3,600, plus $15 a day for members living outside Edmonton and automobile allowance, for session about eight weeks; $6,500 additional for ministers and $2,500 for opposition leader, being divided among the four opposition MLAs this year who represent different parties.

British Columbia: $4,400 ($1,000 tax-free), plus $15 a day for 40 days also tax-free, making a total of $5,000, raised in 1957 from $3,000; premier gets $15,000 extra, ministers $12,500 and opposition leader $3,500.

Lack of Penalty For Careless Driving Criticized by Judge

OTTAWA (CP) — Mr. Justice Douglas Abbott said Tuesday he has difficulty understanding how a province can regulate safety on its highways if it cannot impose a penalty for careless driving.

He made the comment as a Supreme Court of Canada hearing on the validity of provincial careless driving laws went into its second day.

The court is hearing an appeal by Winnipeg motorist James Patrick O'Grady in which the constitutionality of the careless driving section of the Manitoba Highway Traffic Act is being contested.

Mr. O'Grady contends that the careless driving section invades federal jurisdiction over criminal law by providing a penalty for criminal negligence.

PROTECTION OF PUBLIC

Sidney Paikin of Hamilton, his counsel, argued today that highway traffic regulations are for control of the movement of motor vehicles. It was not possible for a province to import what is federal criminal law and say this is highway traffic law.

Mr. Justice Abbott suggested that highway traffic regulations also are designed for the protection of the public. If the test was safety, he had difficulty understanding why a province could not provide a penalty for violations endangering the public.

Mr. Justice Gerald Fauteux said all negligence is not criminal, and wondered whether there was not a field in which a province could legislate.

Winnipeg Motorist James Patrick O'Grady appealed to the court against Manitoba court decisions upholding the careless driving section of the Manitoba Highway Traffic Act.

His counsel, Sidney Paikin of Hamilton, Ont., argued that the traffic act is unconstitutional on grounds that it invades federal jurisdiction ver criminal law by providing a penalty for criminal negligence.

AFFECTS ALL PROVINCES

The supreme court's decision on the case will affect all provinces as all provincial careless driving laws are the same as or similar to Manitoba's.

For this reason Mr. O'Grady's bid to have the Manitoba law declared invalid was opposed by the provinces of British Columbia, Alberta, Manitoba, Saskatchewan, Ontario and Nova Scotia. The federal government also opposed the action.

Mr. Justice Douglas Abbott told the court that he has difficulty understanding how a province can regulate safety on its highways if it cannot impose a penalty for careless driving.

Mr. Paikin argued that highway traffic regulations are for control of the movement of motor vehicles. It was not possible for a province to import what is federal criminal law and say it is highway traffic law.

PROTECTION OF PUBLIC

Mr. Justice Abbott suggested that highway traffic regulations also are designed for the protection of the public. If the test was safety, he had difficulty understanding why a province could not provide a penalty for violations endangering the public.

Mr. Justice Gerald Fauteux said all negligence is not criminal, and wondered whether there was not a field in which a province could legislate.

G.E. Pikley of Winnipeg, a member of the Manitoba attorney - general's department, said the careless driving section of the province's traffic act does not conflict with federal criminal legislation. The section was essential for proper control of traffic on provincial highways.

There was no question that the province had the right under the constitution to impose penalties for infractions of its careless driving laws.

The federal Criminal Code, he said, does not bring into the purview of the criminal law all conduct of drivers of motor vehicles in general and the field of negligent driving.

Odds . . . and Ends . . . by M. D. B.

Hello! Yes, I'm back again and thank you for all your kind thoughts and good wishes while I have been under the weather. Out of a heart full of gratitude for the fine nursing staff at our hospital I would like to offer the following:

* * *

"I watched you as you came and went,
And saw how well your time
was spent
In bringing peace and some content
To all the sick and ailing.
I heard the hurry of your feet
As each emergency you'd meet,
And how you spoke in accents
sweet
To still the babies' wailing.

My thanks to nursing staff and
and aides,
And all the neat and busy maids
Who helped me as I stayed and and stayed
Receiving medication.
To those who watched throughout the night,
And those who cheered with banter light,
My thanks, and pray, let nothing
blight
Your noble dedication."

* * *

I arrived home to find my little pear tree laden with blossoms, the rockery awash with mauve and white and the water lilies poking their red leaves just above the water's surface.

I was wishing I knew someone with a goat, for he would have had a field day on the lawn which looked like a shaggy dog. Trees that had been surrounded by green mist or hung with green lace were out in full leaf following the few sunny days that warmed everything to life. It is fortunate for me the weather remains rainy and cold, otherwise I do not think I could resist going after the garden hammer and tongs, or should I say shovel and hoe. As it is I am forced to restrain myself, which, under the circumstances, is all for the best.

* * *

Most of the little barberry shrubs on the Vernon Street boulevards came through the winter all right, though there are a few that succumbed and which I hope will be replaced when the beds are cultivated. This little hedge of red and green should provide a welcome relief from all the concrete and tarmac.

1500 Rhesus Monkeys Expected At Dorval

By KENNEDY WELLS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

MONTREAL (CP)—Later this week a four - engined DC-4 will land at Montreal's Dorval airport with more than 1,500 passengers.

The aircraft won't be overloaded for the passengers will be monkeys—rhesus monkeys from India for use in laboratories in Montreal and Toronto in the making of Salk vaccine.

dair with a major part of its business usual for Canadian airlines have been flying monkeys to this country ever since Canadian companies began producing vaccine, but it represents the first step into overseas flying by Nordair Limited of Montreal, a onetime bush airline which has grown up.

Formed five years ago through the joining of two small and financially shaky Quebec lines—Boreal Airways and Mont-Laurier Aviation both of Roberval, Que. —Nordair now has 23 multi-engined aircraft and employs more than 300 persons.

BIG ACQUISITION

In 1959 it flew 9,461,000 passenger-miles and 2,494,000 cargo ton-miles, a healthy total, but one which will be vastly increased this year through Nordair's acquisition last month of the heavy transport division of Wheeler Airlines.

It was almost a case of a minnow swallowing a whale since Wheeler, a veteran of northern Quebec and Arctic flying, racked up 18,825,000 cargo miles and 16,615,000 passenger - miles in 1959, but in the chancy business of commercial flying it was Nordair's greater financial resources —through an affiliation with Maritime Central Airways—which carried the most weight.

Buying Wheeler gave the smaller company a big stake in one of the most profitable areas of Arctic flying, supplying DEW line stations.

Under its contract with Federal Electric Limited, Nordair will this year use three DC-4s, three twin-engined DC-3s and a twin-engined C-46 to ferry supplies into more than 15 radar-warning posts scattered along the east and west coast of Baffin Island.

SERVICE TO FORT CHIMO

In addition to this the company runs a three-times weekly service into Fort Chimo, on Ungava Bay, and Frobisher, taking in the civil servants, contractors and their families.

But though the fast-developing north will continue to supply Nordair with a majo rpart of its business, Roland G. Lefrancois, its executive vice-president, sees a big future in the international cargo field.

Already, says Mr. Lefrancois, many manufacturers are finding it cheaper to fly products over the Atlantic than to send them by sea.
