Rhee Puts Five Cities Under Martial Law

De Gaulle Wins Hearts of Crowd

OTTAWA (CP) — President Charles de Gaulle of France honored Canada's dead of two world wars Tuesday while reaching out to the living with the "spirit and the heart" of his own land.

He walked among the people who came to see him, plunged into their midst in measured strides that shook him free of his escort, and was as aloof and remote as a doting grandfather.

The magnificent lesson in magnetism took place during the noon hour in Confederation Square, where the 69-year-old French leader had placed a wreath at Canada's national war memorial.

Gen. de Gaulle had seemed about ready to get back into the car that had brought him to the ceremonial area but instead marched across the square to the barriers holding back the crowds.

In seconds, the general was surrounded by children who had slipped under the barricade — a smiling, crane-like pied piper who stooped low to pat the children and stretched long to touch hands reaching out from far back in the crowd.

There were shouts of "Vive de Gaulle" and tears sparkled in some eyes in the happy hysteria of the impromptu act. Gen. de Gaulle for his part seemed set on clasping hands with every person in the noontime crowd of between 4,000 and 5,000.

While police were still sorting out the traffic jam already caused, the visiting leader cut across the square for an equally emotional getting - acquainted party along the western barrier before returning to his car.

Gen. de Gaulle drove to the war memorial escorted by an RCMP guard mounted on black horses after signing the visitors' books of the Commons and the Senate and stopping briefly in the memorial chamber where the names of Canada's war dead are recorded.

Nothing for B.C. Says Gaglardi

VICTORIA (CP) — Highways Minister Gaglardi said Monday British Columbia will get "absolutely nothing" from the federal government in the way of aid to major highways projects in the province.

"They treated me royally but they gave me nothing — just nothing," he said on his return from Ottawa.

He went to Ottawa to ask the government to participate in the cost of main B.C. highways other than the Trans-Canada route.

"Now that negotiations on the Trans-Canada are complete, I thought it was time to start negotiating for further aid.

"I had hoped to negotiate a positive policy with Ottawa for continuance of aid on our arterial highways.

Mr. Gaglardi said he was tempted to think the Ottawa government was withholding co-operation for "political reasons" but would wait for a reply to a letter he sent to the minister of public works.

NO DECISION ON SITE FOR COOK RETRIAL

RED DEER, Alta. (CP) — Decision was reserved Tuesday on an application for a change in the site of a new trial for Robert Raymond Cook on a charge of murder.

Mr. Justice M. E. Manning of the Alberta Supreme Court said he would notify defence counsel Giffard Main and Crown Prosecutor H. F. Macdonald of his decision by mail "within a few days."

Cook, 23-year-old auto mechanic, was convicted last December of the June, 1959, slaying of his father, Raymond, 53, at their stettler, Alta., home. The appellate division of the Alberta Supreme Court reversed the murder conviction March 28 and ordered a new trial.

The second trial was to have been heard at the spring assizes of the Supreme Court which opened Tuesday.

Mr. Main, in his request for change of venue, said aspects of the case might cause a "reasonable propability of partiality against the accused" in the Red Deer judicial district.

Airliner Catches Fire, Falls Apart

BOGOTA, Colombia (AP — A Colombian airliner on a flight from Miami, Fla., was reported to have caught fire in the air and broke apart Tuesday night. In a partly successful emergency landing, early unofficial reports said, four persons were killed and 15 injured. The other 19 aboard were unhurt.

The report said fire broke out, the crew tried to make an emergency landing and that part of the plane fell into the Bogota River and another part into a nearby lake.

There were other reports that the number of dead was 15 and that 13 were injured. These unconfirmed reports came after a three-hour rescue operation late Tuesday night.

Shortly before 9 p.m., cable and telephone service to Bogota was halted as usual for the night.

MILK PRICE RISE EXPECTED

VICTORIA (CP)—Charles Walls, secretary-manager of British Columbia Federation of Agriculture, said Tuesday there is a possibility retail milk prices may be increased this year.

"It could happen but it won't be due to the producers or dairy farmers," he said.

Mr. Walls was commenting on a statement made by a Vancouver distributor who said producer costs of milk would necessitate a price increase.

He said increased distribution, not production costs, would affect prices.

RCMP Constable Dies of Infection

NEW WESTMINSTER, B.C. (CP) — RCMP Constable Sid Scott Monday night lost a battle with a rare fungus infection.

The 34-year-old father of two children died in hospital of cryptococcus neoformans which doctors had unsuccessfully fought with a recently-developed drug flown in from Montreal.

Constable Scott was admitted to hospital after doctors, who had previously diagnosed his illness as flu, found it was the rare infection that attacks the lining of the brain and spinal column.

13 Negroes Get Two-Year Terms

DURBAN (AP) — Thirteen Negroes were sentenced to two years in jail with one year suspended today for taking part in the march from Cato Manor into Durban April 1 during which three Negroes were shot dead.

All the defendants pleaded guilty and testified they were forced to join the procession, part of which reached the city jail where demands were made for the release of Negro leaders.

DUNCAN (CP) — The body of a Victoria scientist was pulled from the Cowichan river Tuesday morning, a day after he died attempting to navigate rapids on the flood-swollen stream.

The body of Joseph Danial (CCT) Francis, 24, was found about four miles from where he and his brother entered the river in a canoe.

81 Killed, 300 Hurt In Near-Revolution

SEOUL (AP) — President Syngman Rhee's government clamped wartime martial law on five South Korean cities Tuesday night after a bloody day of near-revolution.

Scores were dead and hundreds were wounded.

The United States delivered a virtual rebuke to Rhee for his strong-arm election tactics and urged him to face up to popular grievances.

Midnight found this capital transformed from a battlefield into a no man's land, cowed into a jittery quiet by the guns of truckloads of army troops rushed in from the north.

Newspapers checking hospitals in Seoul reported 81 persons killed and more than 300 wounded including some police. Sporadic violence still was erupting.

WORST CRISIS YET

The 85-year-old president found himself face to face with the gravest internal crisis of the republic's 12-year history.

"Emergency martial law"—meaning military rule under wartime conditions — was invoked to meet a swelling tidal wave of public protests growing out of March 15 polling which re-elected Rhee.

Seoul, Pusan, Taegu, Taejon and Kwangju were under martial law, and the capital for a time seemed almost in a state of anarchy. The army imposed censorship on Korean newspapers.

Almost like a capital at war, Seoul was in a state of riotous turmoil throughout Tuesday. Several buildings were set afire. A cheering, jeering, chanting horde of students, about 5,000 strong, smashed through a curtain of tear gas, streams of fire - hose water and a barbed wire barricade to within 60 yards of Rhee's official residence before guards opened fire. Demonstrators among the crowd fell.

CLAIM ELECTION FIXED

The students, some children, were joined by thousands of townspeople angrily denouncing the results of the March election, which the opposition says was rigged by the ruling Liberal party and police coercion.

U. S. Ambassador Walter P. McConaughy personally urged Rhee to "take into account the basic causes and grievances" of the demonstrators.

The statement did not elaborate on the "causes and grievances," but obviously referred to election complaints which have caused a series of bitter protest demonstrations ever since mid-March. The statement was an unusually strong one, and marked *the first time the U. S. govern*ment publicly acknowledged justification behind the demonstrators' complaints.

At nightfall, an infantry division, spearheaded by a tank company, moved into Seoul and more troops continued to pour in through the night. Some of the crowds of demonstrators cheered them—their argument was with the Liberal party and the president, not with the army.

UNEASY QUIET RESTORED

The troops restored uneasy quiet to the heart of the city, but violence continued to break out in the northeastern section which is the site of the University of Korea and the Seoul National University.

Reward in Slaying Mounts to $8000

VANCOUVER (CP) — Rewards offered for the capture of Tom Fat's slayer rose to $8000 Tuesday but police said they have little hope of a quick solution to the brutal Easter Sunday murder.

The Chau Luen Kon Sol Society Tuesday added a $4000 reward to two amounts of $2000 previously offered by the Vancouver police commission and radio station CKNW.

The 65-year-old Chinese grocer was beaten and stabbed to death early Sunday when he apparently surprised burglars breaking into his store in Vancouver's Mount Pleasant district.

Detective Sgt. Bill Porteous, in charge of the investigation, said his five-man homicide squad had unearthed no definite leads.

"So far every known hoodlum in the city is a suspect," he said.

Police indicated earlier their only clues were fingerprints and footprints found at the scene. These are still being processed by the police science bureau.

Rebrin Case Adjourned

VANCOUVER (CP) — Lecturer Irene Rebrin's court battle to escape deportation was adjourned Tuesday until Friday by Mr. Justice T. G. Norris of the B.C. Supreme Court.

The immigration department — which ordered Miss Rebrin's deportation on security grounds — and defence counsel agreed to the adjournment. No reason was given in court.

However, Gordon Dowding representing the 33-year-old University of B.C. Slavonics lecturer, said later it was requested to allow newly-appointed crown counsel to become familiar with the case.

Adjournment was not a surprise, but the new date was. It had been expected that Mr. Dowding would request adjournment until today to allow new counsel to arrive here to lead the defence.

C. C. Locke withdrew as crown counsel because a member of his firm made a submission to the immigration department on behalf of Miss Rebrin last February. Harvey Grey will take his place.

Arriving here today from Regina to lead the defence will be Dr. Morris C. Shumiatcher, prominent Regina lawyer and an acknowledged authority on Canadian civil rights.

Castro Promises Policy Speech May 1

By HAROLD K. MILKS

HAVANA (AP) — Prime Minister Fidel Castro said Tuesday he wants better relations with the United States, but professed to find some similarity between U.S. policies and those of Hitler and Mussolini.

The Cuban revolutionary leader promised a major policy statement May 1, when he speaks to a huge mass rally here celebrating May Day as International Worker's Day. He predicted the demonstration would show that Cuban people are united "in defence of the revolution."

Castro's statements were made in an interview with correspondent Richard Bate of the Columbia Broadcasting System and published in the semi - official newspaper Revolucion. The interview was given, the paper said, to clarify what Castro claimed had been a misquotation of an earlier interview with Bate.

CLAIMS MISQUOTED

The Cuban leader seemed anxious to say it was not he who had suggested a meeting with U. S. leaders, but that he had simply answered a question on that subject and that the North American news agencies, reporting this, "changed my words with every intent to discredit the Cuban government."

Asked to comment on the doctrine that "anti - communism is counter - revolutionary," Castro continued:

"I think that Hitler and Mussolini started to talk about Communism in order to persecute all free men, to persecute every type of justice. Remember Hitler and Mussolini. Remember Senor Franco (the Spanish dictator), that friend of Eisenhower.

"The only thing Franco, Hitler and Mussolini were accustomed to say was that they were enemies of communism, and while talking of communism they attempted to justify every sort of aggressions, and I think there exists today some similarity in the policy of the government of the United States of North America which appears to have adopted a policy that in other times served to advance Fascism."

B.C.'s Exports Hit Record High

Japan Follows U.S. as Top Foreign Importers

VICTORIA (CP) — A record $878,000,000 worth of goods were exported through British Columbia ports last year, Trade Minister Robert Bonner said Tuesday.

He said highlights of preliminary returns on export volume through B.C. ports are:

Value of exports last year was $67,000,000 above 1958 and $18,000,000 above the previous record year of 1957.

Although the United States was as usual the biggest foreign buyer — with imports worth $360,000,000, up eight per cent over 1958 — Japan jumped into second place at $119,000,000 for a 27-per-cent increase over the previous year and a 700-per-cent increase since 1950.

South Africa more than doubled its 1958 imports through B.C., with $24,000,000 worth of goods.

Leading exports and their dollar values during 1959 were wheat, $173,000,000; newsprint, $89,000,000; fir lumber, $51,000,000; aluminum, $50,000,000; barley, $41,000,000; hemlock lumber, $37,000,000; crude petroleum, $34,000,000; pulp products, $21,000,000; *flax, $21,000,000; wheat flour, $18,000,-*000.

Chant Report To Be Delayed

VANCOUVER (CP)—The Chant commission on British Columbia education is finding the job tougher than it thought.

As a result, the report that will revamp the province's school system will be six months late.

It was to have been ready at the end of this month. But Dean S. N. F. Chant, head of the royal commission, said Tuesday he had been too optimistic.

The massive research program being conducted is the reason for the delay, he said.

The commission was formed 22 months ago. In its investigation it has read more than 1,000,000 words, listened to 367 briefs and visited 116 schools.

The three commissioners — Dean Chant, R. P. Walrod and John E. Liersch—are using 11 researchers on projects.

Dean Chant said the report may be the most comprehensive ever issued on education in Canada.

It probably will consist of several books dealing with specific fields as well as the main report containing recommendations.

Despite the six-month delay there will be enough time for the drafting of new legislation for presentation to the legislature in Spring of next year, Dean Chant said.

Changes in the school system then could be effected by the following fall.

Cannery Workers Get Pay Hikes

PENTICTON (CP) — A new two-year wage agreement for between 700 to 800 employees of Ca*nadian Canners Ltd. at Penticton,* Kelowna and Vancouver, was announced Tuesday.

Bill Lynch of Local 333, United Packinghouse Workers of America (CLC), said the employees will get wage increases ranging from 10 to 20 cents an hours over the next two years.

Other items in the new agreement include a one-month reduction in the 48-hour week and a number of improvements in working conditions Mr. Lynch said.

DOLLAR DOWN

NEW YORK (CP) — Canadian dollar 17-64 lower at $1.03 39-64 in terms of U.S. funds. Pound sterling 1-16 higher at $2.81 1-32.

MONTREAL (CP) — The U. S. dollar closed Tuesday at a discount of 3½ per cent in terms of Canadian funds, up 3-16.

Pound sterling $2.71⅛, up ⅛.

U. S. dollar bid 96 15-32, asked 96½.

"It's easy enough to teach the method to doctors, nurses, interns," said C. R. Blackstock, national director of the Canadian Red Cross Water Safety Services.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — This story could well bear the title "beware of the mechanically gifted female."

Columbus Dispatch reporter John McConaughy reported it just as it was heard in a tavern. The speaker was a bar patron:

"My wife—she can fix anything. You know what she did?

"Well, my wife goes to bed at 10 o'clock every night. It seems the story-teller works until 11. She'd ask me the next morning what time I got in and I'd say 'about 11:30' and that was that. Until one morning, that is.

"She said, 'that's a lie. You rolled in at 12:32.' which was right.

"Then started weeks of torture. No matter what time I got home, she knew to the minute.

"Then you know what I finally found out she had done? She had hooked up the kitchen electric clock with the back porch light and when I'd turn it off, off went the clock. All she had to do was look at it in the morning.

"But I'm gonna trick her yet. She doesn't know I found out, so all I'm gonna do is turn back the clock to when she thinks I ought to get in."

This and That.....

MODERN RAILWAY communication is illustrated in the top picture by engineer J. C. Walker as his diesel freight composed of nearly 90 cars leaves the yards in Nelson on the way to Tadanac. Walkie-talkie radios recently installed allow engineers to talk to a man in the caboose or with the yard office without use of the old-fashioned signals. In the lower left, car inspector Jack McGregor is seen talking with the engineer from halfway down the length of the train. Bottom right, C. L. Boettger, fireman, demonstrates the method of communication which was outdated when the new walkie-talkies arrived. All three men are from Nelson.

Hi, Ho, Silver, Away!

Horsepower met head on its mechanized namesake in Nelson recently.

A female motorist driving in the 500 Josephine block was startled to see emerging from an alley directly towards her as in the "Charge of the Light Brigade" two equestriennes whose mounts apparently were out of control.

Neither force changed its direction and a collision resulted.

One female rider bounced on to the car, causing several dents to the roof, before landing on the ground. The indignant horse struck the car door, smashing it and the car window. Total damage: to the car $250, to the horse and rider, only numerous bruises.

As if in applauding the heroics of its partner, the other horse, restrained from joining the fracas by its rider, lashed out with a hoof to kick a piece of chrome off a car parked innocently nearby.

Affleck To Represent Nelson in Dam Talks

Boyd C. Affleck, former city alderman and well-known for his outspoken view on preservations of British Columbia's rights and lands, will represent Nelson Chamber of Commerce at a meeting called by the City of Revelstoke for that town April 26.

The Revelstoke community is attempting to rally all support possible against possible development of the so-called "High Arrow" dam on the Columbia at Castlegar. Their contention is that the destruction of valuable lands and the net gain in power is to less advantage than "Low Arraw" dam and Mica Creek dam combined.

Mr. Affleck, representing the Nelson Chamber on the Columbia River Basin Committee, was named to attend the Revelstoke meeting on Tuesday when directors of the local chamber met.

At the same time J. H. Coventry was appointed delegate to the annual B.C. Chambers of Commerce meeting in May, with George Hoover named as alternate.

The girls will go over to Victoria Wednesday for presentation on Thursday.

On hand to see Cheryl presented will be her mother of Kimberley and her grandmother, Mrs. William Barghard of Vancouver, formerly of Trail.

G. E. Wakeham was elected president of the Nelson Kinsmen Club Tuesday night at its annual election meeting. He succeeds B. H. Johnston, who is immediate past president.

Alex Jensen retained the office of secretary, a position he assumed several weeks ago when regular secretary R. A. Hanson resigned because of transfer by his company to another centre.

Elected treasurer was G. C. Bruce and registrar H. G. Bentham. Directors are Ronald Corbett, Denis Horobin, D. C. Leagard, J. B. Hughes and K. M. White.

KLGH EXPERT GIVEN LEAVE OF ABSENCE

Mrs. Helen Butling, charge physiotherapist of the Kootenay Lake General Hospital, was granted a leave of absence by the Board of Directors at the regular meeting Tuesday night to attend a post-graduate course in anti- and post-natal training.

She will attend this course in Edmonton from June 19 to 21 and then will go to Vancouver for meetings of the Canadian Psysiotherapy Annual Congress June 23 to 26.

This is the first time in several years that the congress has been held in Vancouver.

Hospital Studies Every Angle on Visiting Hours

Object To Assist Staff and Patients

A public information campaign to find a happy medium of visiting hours to suit patients and staff of the Kootenay Lake General Hospital Society is now being conducted, the board of directors were informed by report from R. H. Procter, administrator, at the regular meeting Tuesday night.

In all, three reports were submitted to the Board: two from Mr. Procter and one from K. R. Yale, chairman of the landscaping committee.

Through his report, Mr. Procter informed the board that City of Nelson has been contacted and legal arrangements for conveyance of the High Street property are underway.

He also informed the board that D. P. Fairbank, architect, who designed the new hospital has been retained to do the Rossland hospital wing rebuilding and the design and supervision of the proposed new Grand Forks Hospital

EXPERT TO VISIT

He informed the board that the first visits by the regional supervising laboratory technologist have been made by B. R. Busby. Mr. Busby consults with technologists at the hospital, provides instruction and gives advice as needed and requested. He also conducts surveys for the pathologist.

Efforts for the opening of the east entry to View Street, initiated by the board three years ago, have been renewed with the city, highways department and the school board, Mr. Procter said.

Mr. Procter is currently in Victoria interviewing the Hospital Insurance Service officials on the complication involving the 1927 agreement related to the isolation building on the old hospital grounds.

In his report to the property committee, Mr. Procter gave itemized costs of utilities for the month of March which totalled $2413. This was slightly less than the same period in 1959. He also presented an account of $196 which was spent on minor repairs and installations. He also showed the board several maintenance jobs which were completed during March.

Mr. Yale informed the board the landscaping program for 1960 began on April 4. The usual time for commencing this project is April 15. He reported that one man will be employed for two weeks, a student during the Easter holidays, and 24 Canadian Legion volunteers will clear brush, seed and fertilize areas.

Bulldozing, he said, of certain areas of the grounds has been put out to tender.

He continued, telling of projects expected to be completed this year.

OCCUPANCY UP

Patient occupancy of 858 days over the estimate for the first three months of the year have resulted in a debit adjustment of $11,711 to hospital operating costs for the first quarter of 1960, treasurer T. C. Lambert reported to the board.

Salaries and wages show an amount of $7436 over the budget figure but the hospital is still running on its 1959 per diem rate which does not take into account the approximate five per cent raise in salaries awarded under various contracts from the first of the year.

When the new per diem rates are set this June the expenditure will be recognized by the B. C. Hospital Insurance Service and a retroactive adjustment should reduce this figure substantially.

Operating expenditure for March totalled $49,439 with $47,840 received as revenue. Receipts for the year to date exceed disbursements by $26,940, re reported.

27 Car Accidents

Two fatal car accidents resulted in three deaths on B.C. highways during the weekend ending April 17, the Nelson RCMP sub-division reported Tuesday.

There were 238 accidents during this time and 114 prosecutions.

For the Nelson sub-division there were 27 accidents with seven prosecutions.

CLEAN-UP TIME. No idle students are these young lads, Bruce Macfarlane, right and Dave Grant, who are taking advantage of the Easter holidays to pitch in and do their share of cleaning up the garden during Arbor Week. The occasion marked the beginning of a week-long campaign sponsored by the Nelson Fire Department and supported by the city administration to get rid of health and fire hazards accumulated in yards, alleys, attics and other places during the winter months.

FUN IN THE KOOTENAYS. Sure, that's snow on the mountain in the background, but the three youngsters sporting around in this typically beautiful scene at Kokanee Glacier Park are having a wonderful time. The picture was snapped in late August but George, Arthur and Voyla Clum reported swimming under the shadow of the glacier was "almost as warm as on the West Arm of Kootenay Lake" where they live.

DROWNS IN WHIRLPOOL

VICTORIA (CP)—A search will resume today for Joseph Francis, 23-year-old technician with the Dominion Astrophysical Observatory here, who was presumed drowned in a whirlpool Monday night on swollen Cowichan River, 40 miles north of here. He and his brother Edwin, 35, were attempting to navigate the rapids in a canoe when it overturned. Edwin clung to the canoe and was rescued.

Creston Ranchers Told Expert's Absence Short

Exchange Men Will Carry on Meanwhile

CRESTON — Mr. J. Hall, speaking on behalf of the B.C. Fruit Growers Association, told the Creston Board of Trade Tuesday night that "the picture is not as bad as it looks" with regard to agriculturalists from Creston being moved.

Mr. Hall was asked to comment on the rumor as they were most concerned that research done by the agriculturalists on Small Cherry in the area would be lost.

He said that Dr. J. Wilks would be away from Creston for at least a year on an exchange basis so at least there would be somebody to carry on the research.

Dr. Wilks is to spend some time in Japan.

He also said that both Dr. W. Wilde and Dr. Wilks were good men in their field and if they were, at some time, to be given better positions nearer to better facilities for research residents of Creston and district should be the first to wish them "God Speed."

Four letters of correspondence were read and turned over to committees who would investigate the business contained in them.

Reeve, C. W. Allan, reported on behalf of the council of the village of Creston. He touched on subjects such as natural gas, convention of Municipalities of Southeastern British Columbia coming to Creston on May 7, provincial cabinet meeting to be held here on June 20, storm sewers, curb and gutter work, and the budget date for the village.

Alex Carruthurs, publicity chairman, reported the Chamber of Commerce Week was showing good results.

He suggested that the Board of Trade should investigate its past record with a view in mind of ascertaining how much it is responsible for past industrial and other developments in the valley.

He reported that the Valley Booster Club will be operating the tourist information booth again this year.

Frank Merriam, chairman of Parks, Roads and Bridges Committee, reported on the prospects of park development in the area. He said that he had been fortunate in being able to put Creston's problems and requests before Ron Gadsby of the Department of Recreation and Conservation when he was here with the visitors on the Victoria good-will tour recently.

CHANGE CLASSIFICATION

Mr. Merriam brought up the possibility of supporting a Trail Chamber of Commerce resolution asking that the southern trans-provincial highway be reclassified as a second trans-Canada highway.

He said that C. Wilson, assistant parks chairman, had been in contact with Member of Parliament for Kootenay East, M. L. McFarlane, and that he had assured Mr. Wilson that he was continuing to keep Creston's problems in front of the departments concerned in Ottawa and had hopes of early settlement.

John Salvador gave a report to the Trade and Industry Committee of which he and Percy Robinson are convenors.

Appointed as delegates to the Associated Chambers of Commerce of Southeastern British Columbia meeting to be held at Fernie were B. A. Fowley, E. Gardner and F. Merriam.

Kelowna Meets Train, No Refugees Aboard

PENTICTON (CP) — Lost: One Yugoslavian refugee family.

Mr. and Mrs. Vetroslav Baric and their two children were to arrive in Kelowna from Montreal by train Tuesday.

But successive delegations met buses and trains without finding the Barics.

The family, the children are aged one and three, lived in a displaced persons camp at Capua, Italy, since fleeing Yugoslavia.

It is being brought here under the sponsorship of St. Ann's Roman Catholic parish.

Rev. F. J. Quinlan, pastor of the parish, said he received a telegram Saturday advising that the family had landed in Montreal and would be at Kelowna at 1:45 a.m.

All trains arriving here were met by either Penticton or Kelowna delegations but no Barics.

Father Quinlan said he understands the Barics travelled with another refugee family that was going to Nakusp under the sponsorship of the Catholic parish there.

He said the Barics may have gone to Nakusp and planned to proceed to Penticton via the Nelson-Penticton service on the Kettle Valley line which operates Mondays and Thursdays.

First Celgar Log Rafts Make Arrow Lake History

NAKUSP — History was made on the Arrow Lakes April 7 when the first rafts of logs went rolling downstream toward Celgar's growing pulp mill at Castlegar.

The tugboat Keetow, with Capt. B. Crowell in charge, shepherded the first shipment of what is expected over the years to grow into a main industry of this area.

Many of the logs were taken out of the woods at Fasthall Bay, 12 miles north of here, and Shelter Bay.

People who had almost lost faith since the first announcement of the big operation was made in 1952 were once again able to believe in the future of the development.

But in the intervening years many changes have come to Nakusp including an invasion of new families and the erection of new post office and RCMP buildings as well as many privately-owned buildings.

The tremendous uplift the sight of those initial rafts gave Nakusp will be echoed in Revelstoke, Arrowhead, Beaton, Arrow Park, Burton, Fauquier, Edgewood, Renata and Deer Park. All of these lakeside communities will benefit from this major logging development.

APPLE STORAGE TOTAL DOWN

Only 1606 boxes of apples remain in storage in the Kootenays according to the April 1 fruit and vegetable storage report as compared with over 222 thousand in the Okanagan. Total for the province was 226,566 boxes.

Potatoes number 4416 hundred pound sacks. Onions and carrots in 50 pound bushels number 320 and 543, respectively, while cabbage, at 35 pounds per bushel, is 513. There are 176 crates of celery left in storage.

Better Boating For Windermere

INVERMERE— Work has begun on the $8,500 launching ramp and log breakwater in front of Windermere Village on Lake Windermere. The project consists of a boat launching ramp 100 feet long, a float 8x40 feet, and a floating log breakwater 120 feet long, moored off shore to protect the mooring from wave action.

Need of the launching ramp was fully evident during the Easter weekend when many summer residents launched their boats for their first outing of the season.

Mr. Gaskell, foreman for the Federal government works crew, has arrived at Windermere and is proceeding with the construction.

Creston Couple Now in England

Residents of Creston, Mr. and Mrs. Carlton Hester, are now in London, England, after what they described as a "most enjoyable" trip across Canada to the Eastern coast and down into the Northeastern United States.

Mr. and Mrs. Hester toured many of the beautiful and scenic spots along their course and visited the new industrial city of Elliot Lake, Ontario.

Mr. Hester said in a letter to the Daily News that the Empire State building in New York is a must for tourists but the climb up the inside of the Statue of Liberty wasn't worth the effort.

Kootenay Grows With Cominco

The fortunes of the Consolidated Mining and Smelting Company of Canada Ltd. are so inextricably mixed up with those of the Kootenays that its annual report is always awaited with interest. It is to a great extent a barometer of the economic welfare of this area, so that it is welcome news that the sale of all products increased during the year and that higher earnings resulted from substantial increase in the price of zinc.

Net profits increased, which is a happy state of affairs for the shareholders. This, in the rather unsettled market at that time, is a tribute to the good management of the company.

Base metal mining is an important industry in the Kootenays, with many small towns dependent on nearby mines. The Sullivan mine at Kimberley produced slightly less ore than it did in 1958 and so did the Bluebell mine at Riondel, while the HB mine near Salmo produced slightly more.

In the smelter operations both lead and zinc were produced in slightly greater quantities, but the production of silver dropped heavily. The consumption of both lead and zinc has increased in Western Europe and North America following the 1957-58 recession and should increase still further in the coming year.

While lead and zinc production is the foundation of the Cominco fortunes it is still proceeding to diversify its operation. It is developing more properties, it is building a steel plant, developing a copper property and continuing to expand its fertilizer plants. From all this diversification of interests it is obvious that the company does not intend to let any opportunity go by to improve its position. Nothing succeeds like success we are told, and evidently Cominco has taken this to heart. It keeps succeeding.

Interpreting the News

By ALAN DONNELLY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Russia appears to have won its point that Canada must give something before it gets markets in the Soviet Union.

Under the new three-year trade agreement between the two countries, the "something" must be Canadian purchases of Russian goods. And only private Canadian businessmen are in a position to do that.

That's the difficulty raised by the "two for one" trade pact signed by Moscow Monday by Trade Minister Churchill. Russia has agreed to buy $2 worth of Canadian goods for every $1 in Russian goods sold to Canada.

This mathematical formula falls well short of the five-or-six-to-one ratio which has prevailed in recent years in Canada's favor.

The new treaty sets a target for Canadian exports to Russia of $25,000,000 annually—about double last year's $12,740,000. But before the Soviet Union can be required to buy that much, Canada's imports from Russia must expand almost six-fold from last year's $2,290,000.

Thus the new trade pact, after many months of tough negotiating, seems to meet what Ivan Kabanov, former Soviet trade minister, called "the principle of mutuality."

During a visit to Ottawa last year, Mr. Kabanov said this principle must be observed. He argued that the previous trade agreement, which expired February, 1959, was too one-sided.

That treaty required Russia to buy 14,800,000 bushels of Canadian wheat annually. But Mr. Kabanov complained that Canada was under no obligation at all.

The new agreement provides for Soviet purchases of about 7,000,000 bushels of wheat annually, worth between $10,000,000 and $12,000,000 depending on the grade.

But whether that target ever is reached will depend, of course, on a major expension of purchases from Russia by Canadian businessmen. On a two-for-one ratio, last year's imports of Soviet goods would be equivalent to less than half of that amount of wheat.

Russia is able to commit herself to a fixed-ratio trade pact because Soviet importing—and exporting too—is handled by state trading companies Except for controls over strategic materials, the Canadian government can't dictate how much private enterprise businessmen buy and sell.

Mr. Churchill, in Moscow, called the new pact "a good agreement," but he recognized that the extent of trade between the two countries "will depend on our businessmen."

The agreement continues an important provision of the former treaty, allowing Canada to set valuations on imports from Russia for tariff duty purposes.

This is considered essential in dealing with goods from a Communist state where there is no normal "market" price on goods made in state-owned factories and sold through block in the way of expanding Canadian imports from Russia. Before Canadian importers close any deal to buy Soviet goods, they'll want to be sure that the tariff duty won't push up their costs too high.

However, it could be a stumbling state trading firms.

Planning For Perdition

To read the proceedings of the Commons estimates committee on defence is to voyage alone through a mad, surrealist world of horror where no one acknowledges that there is the slightest departure from normal.

There are, it appears, 22 rescue columns of the active army and 44 from the militia which would aid the civilian population. If you concentrate on whether this is enough to do a good job, you won't have to face the reality of the nightmare job they will be doing among the dead, the dismembered and the dying.

There is an elaborate warning system to tell the public, over selected radio stations, of an impending attack — and, after the attack, it will inform the public about radio-active fallout. The broadcast, which might well come at such peak listening time as 3:30 a.m., will be of special interest to those who survive. It will be reassuring to know that the radioactive fallout is going to be fatal.

Defence Minister Pearkes told the committee that in the days when the manned bomber was the obvious method of attack, wholesale evacuation of cities was a sound policy. But, he said, in the missile age, the period of warning is so short it maeks it impossible to avoid bomb destruction in time.

Now we know.

Who cares about civil defence, its central offices, regional offices and complex lines of communication and command?

We need no further confirmation that war in the nuclear age is madness, folly and suicide.

The Geneva talks on disarmament must make progress.—Financial Post.

Practical Anger Justified

To the Editor:

Sir—I hope your editorial April 11, is not intended to excuse the apartheid tyranny and slavery in South Africa. Whatever the material implications, it is nothing short of cowardice to stand aside and support a policy of inaction. Even if South Africa was not a member of the British Commonwealth we people organizing and supporting such bodies as the United Nations are inextricably bound up with representative morality and proposed freedom and welfare of all peoples, that demands not only moral pressure but material pressure too. I am not one of those who believe that it's possible to get the devil to destroy evil, but I do think that practical anger is justified in the face of wrong doing. What kind of morality do we people stand for anyway? I doubt if there ever was a time in human history when the name of Christ was yelled from the house tops more than now, and yet in a case like this we close our eyes to the whip he used on the money changers. The nations of the world need not use violence, but they certainly could get results for justice in South Africa by following England's lead and apply the boycott pressure. According to the British Press backed by impartial investigation, there exists in South Africa abject slavery of the natives, right in his own home land. It is a matter of shame, thrice shame to the white man who throughut the ages have exploited, murdered and pillaged defenseless people and to a great extent under the protection of the white man's religion. No intelligent man can close his eyes to the suggestion that the white man is on his way out and yet in a case like South Africa and their apartheid policy, we are satisfied to pass resolutions—stand aside and see the work of demons enacted, literally crucifying human beings in the name of the white man's supremacy. Supreme in what?

In morality such action is not moral but amoral, and proves that we white folk are about as degenerate as they come.

How long will it take to convince the White World that since we have ridden the top for centuries, the laws of change demand that we follow the only direction left open to us, (downwards to the bottom, the direction we have already travelled in considerably.)

Suggests Alternate Use For New Denver

To the Editor:

Various suggestions and ideas of how to make the best use of the former New Denver dormitory have been brought to our attention in the local papers. Two proposals mentioned:

1. To be used as a school for handicapped children of the Kootenays.

2. To be used as a boys' or girls' industrial school.

I would like to suggest a third alternative, namely a chronic hospital, this is something that we definitely need in the Kootenays. In my opinion the dormitory at New Denver is in an ideal location and could be converted into a hospital at a cost that would not be too great a drain on the government finances.

At the present time there are a large number of chronic bedridden patients who are being looked after by relatives and friends in homes that are not adequately equipped to take care of such cases without hardships and sacrifices.

Beds in hospitals are needed for acute cases and emergencies. I know of patients that have been admitted to hospitals when medical and professional nursing care were necessary who were re-admitted shortly after discharge simply because of lack of ordinary nursing care and attention.

It would be interesting to hear from others as to their reaction to this proposal.

LAURA BRIDGMAN, R.N.

Enjoys Frank Pearce's Column

To the Editor:

Sir—We like to read the letters of F. B. Pearce, a former Creston teacher, and "Goat River Bottom Stump Rancher," particularly the one in Thursday Daily News, about the young friend who says he cannot understand why the English make so much of their Queen. Could it be this young person is not aware that practically, millions of Canadians crowded in to have a few moments glance at Her Majesty and Phince Phillip, during their tour of the entire width and length of this great Dominion, last Summer?

Surely, if this young man is, or was a student of our schools, he must know Her Majesty is as much Queen, not only of England, but the entire British Commonwealth of Nations, which includes Canada, and that millions of people, inside and outside the Commonwealth, love and adore this gracious young lady, Queen Elizabeth II.

And Mr. Pearce says the English have always had a sovereign since the days of King Arthur, some students of ancient history will point out the Anglo-Saxon-Celtic race had kings as far back as near 4000 years ago, although they were known at that time as either English or British.

And if we wish to learn more about the British Monarchy, Mr. Pearce suggests we read, "This Miracle England" by a French author, Andre Maurois. It is doubtful if many readers of Mr. Pearce's letters, have such a book handy, however, we know of a book that can be found in most of our homes, but not studied too much, that records factual history of the Anglo-Saxon-Celtic race.

De Gaulle Warns West Against Debating Stalemate With Russ

OTTAWA (CP) — President Charles de Gaulle of France said Tuesday the West must avoid a debating stalemate with Russia and work towards nuclear disarmament by controlling missiles and aircraft first.

A basis of co - operation to overcome East-West rivalries in helping less-developed countries must also be found.

Gen. de Gaulle spoke at a luncheon in his honor given by Prime Minister Diefenbaker and the Canadian government.

The West's objective is peace, even though the road is long and difficult, he said. The approach to it is through the Big Four summit conference next month in Paris.

"France believes that there should first be introduced among these four states — and thereby between the two camps of which they are the protagonists — an easing of tensions.

"That implies the avoidance at present of any debating stalemate, a fortiori (more conclusively) any threat in connection, for instance, with the problems of the German people.

"What is also involved is at least a beginning to nuclear disarmament, starting with missiles and aircraft, which are the atomic carriers, and over which mutual control is still practicable.

"Finally, there must be organized a basis of co - operation to transcened political rivalries in the development of needy peoples."

FOUNTAIN SPRINGS

The achievement of lasting peace depends upon the whole of Europe and upon America, the French president said. These cradled modern civilization and are its fountain springs.

"France believes that the existence of opposing systems—presuming that the course of events does not narrow the gap—should not prevent peaceful co - existence, failing which nothing could in the long run save mankind.

"France hopes that in going to the summit, she will have the direct support of vigorous Canada, so worthy and able, and which she holds so close to her heart."

Before Gen. de Gaulle spoke, Mr. Diefenbaker said in his introduction that Canada, though not a participant in the summit conference, is vitally concerned with its outcome. Canada would make its views on conference issues known with candor to France, the U.S. and the U.K.

A NEW COUNTRY

The president said his country, with 1,000 years behind her, is —like Canada — a new country, "a country finding herself again, reshaping herself."

"Not only no dispute over claims or ambitions, no difference of fundamentals separates us, but on the contrary the French feel common accord with the Canadians."

Both Gen. de Gaulle and Mr. Diefenbaker spoke of the links of history between Frence and Canada. Mr. Diefenbaker noted that within a few hundred yards of the Chateau Laurier Hotel banquet room, early French explorers and missionaries had travelled up the Ottawa River from Quebec City and Montreal to the Canadian northwest.

"Just as one sees the water plants rise to the surface, so I feel, rising from the depths of the past, all sorts of ties, lures and likenesses which draw the spirit and the heart of my country very close to those of yours," Gen. de Gaulle said.

CANNOT FORGET

"This, he said, was made abundantly clear during the two world wars.

"How could we, Frenchmen, ever forget the talents displayed and the prodigious sacrifices of so very many of your soldiers during the First World War on the battlefields of Artois and Flanders, and the heroic ranks of those buried in the soil of France?

"How could we fail to bear in mind your exemplary participation, in the Second World War, in the great battles of Normandy, of Picardy, of Belgium and Germany, thanks to which Europe was liberated?

"Far from concentrating only on its internal problems, (Canada) makes its voice heard and plays an active part in the great affairs of the world.

"Finally, we have here, on the moral plane, a people very sensitive on the one hand to an orderly society, and on the other hand to the liberty and dignity of men."

Widow Denies MacKendrick Home Now Gina's

OAKVILLE, Ont. (CP) — The widow of Col. W.G. MacKendrick Tuesday denied reports that Italian film star Gina Lollobrigida had bought the $100,000 home of her late husband in this town 20 miles west of Toronto.

Mrs. MacKendrick admitted that the 10-acre estate near Lake Ontario had been sold.

"I can't reveal who has bought it," she said, "but it is not Miss Lollobrigida."

Negroes Slow Starting Week's Work Boycott

JOHANNESBURG (AP) — Negro workers in major South African cities appeared Tuesday to be ignoring a call for a week-long work boycott to protest the white government's strict racial laws.

In Johannesburg, South Africa's largest city, buses and trains from Negro settlements were crowded with workers.

Reports from Capetown, Durban and elsewhere said the situation was quiet there also and Negroes were streaming to work.

TROOPS STAND BY

Troops were standing by at such trouble spots as the Nyanga and Langa Townships near Capetown and Cato Manor near Durban. Police riot cars cruised slowly among the houses but found no response to the strike call.

Powerful police and white civilian defence forces, supported by soldiers in armored cars, patrolled Negro settlements surrounding Johannesburg on the lookout for agitators who might try to prevent Negroes from going to work and keep them from retaliating when the workers returned home.

The work stoppage called by the outlawed African National Congress started Sunday. But the day was a national Easter holiday, and this postponed the real test of the strike call until Tuesday. Most of those scheduled to work Sunday apparently were on the job.

BANISHMENT THREAT

The government has warned Negroes that they face loss of their jobs or banishment to native reserves in the interior if they heed the stay-at-home call. The government broke a previous work boycott by widespread raids in the Negro settlements and wholesale arrests.

Police maintained an uneasy quiet during the holidays. They rounded up 407 Negroes Sunday in a settlement near East London and charged them with intimidating others who wanted to work.

Courts have scheduled trials of hundreds of other non-whites arrested in the last month on charges of burning passbooks, incitement and intimidation.

Princess Margaret May Receive Penny Payment On Wedding Day

LONDON (Reuters)—A penny earned by Princess Margaret as a toddler from the creator of Peter Pan may be given to her as a wedding gift next month.

A legal document entitling her to this — signed by the late Sir James Barrie and by Margaret in a faltering, six-year-old hand —was reproduced with its story Tuesday in the London News Chronicle.

Barrie died in 1937, shortly after the very official agreement was signed, and Margaret never got her just reward.

Sir James was invited to Glamis Castle in Scotland by the Duke and Duchess of York, later King George VI and Queen Elizabeth, for Margaret's third birthday party. The princess and Barrie sat next to each other and "hit it off immediately."

"GREATEST FRIENDS"

Barrie's name popped up some days later at Glamis Castle and Margaret said: "He is my greatest friend and I am his greatest friend."

Barrie later used both phrases in The Boy David, his last play. He told her about this when they next met, a few years later, and promised her a penny royalty from the play — which unfortunately was a near flop.

Barrie forgot about the incident but Margaret did not. Barrie got a letter from King George, writing on Margaret's behalf, jokingly threatening to call in the King's lawyers if Barrie didn't pay up.

The playwright went along with the joke. He drew up the agreement.

DIRE THREAT

The document told how Margaret had threatened him with "people called policemen who were friends of hers and she would ask the biggest of them to smash and wholly destroy the so-called Barrie" if he welshed.

The incident came to light after the death two weeks ago of Lady Cynthia Asquith, Barrie's secretary for 20 years.

Her son, Michael Asquith, said he had not yet decided what to do with the document or the penny but would discuss the matter shortly with his brother.

It was speculated both prizes would be offered to Margaret as a gift for her wedding to Antony Armstrong-Jones May 6.

Heir To Visit Rich Estate

BARNSTAPLE, England (CP) Robert Ernest Williams, 36-year-old Canadian National Railways brakeman, hopes to come to England this summer with his wife for a look over the estate in Devon of which he is the heir, the wife of the present baronet said Monday night.

Lady Williams, wife of Sir William Williams, said there was no dispute over the fact the Canadian is the legitimate heir of her husband, eighth holder of a baronetcy created in 1866. Sir William will be 53 May 1 and is a former captain of the Royal Welch Fusiliers.

"We have never met Mr. Williams," Lady Williams said. "But he rang us up at four o'clock one morning, English time, to say he had discovered he was the heir."

The Canadian is of Kamsack, Sask.

The estate includes seats at Heanton-Punchardo in Braunton and at Upcott in Barnstaple, both located in north Devon. Sir William's residence is Westercombe Cottage in Braunton.

The family arms are formally described in Debrett's Peerage as "vair, three crescents or," surmounted by a crest consisting of "a demi-eagle azure, wings elevated sable, each charged with four bezants." The family motto is "nil desperandum" — "never despair."

History of Women's Struggle for Vote Detailed for Nelson Soroptimist Club

Highlight of the 24th anniversary dinner meeting of the Soroptimist Club held at the Hume Hotel was an address by Mrs. W. F. M. Drew on the comprehensive topic of the Status of Women.

Specifically, Mrs. Drew entitled her talk "Women's Struggle for Citizenship", depicting the struggle and sacrifice made by women in winning the franchise, and emphasized the responsibility of thoughtful exercise of our franchise.

Mrs. Drew decried the fact that right of citizenship is taken so much for granted today.

Revolt against the unequal position of women began in the 19th century, backed by the few women who were able to obtain an education, other intellectuals and the leaders of both political parties, not by the "working class" as is so often thought.

Married women at this time were without independence of any sort. "They could not own property, vote nor, whatever the provocation, could they leave their husbands. Women of the poorest classes were beginning to work in factories but others were doomed to lives of economic dependency and household drudgery in the houses of relatives."

Voting for women and emancipation of women were being sought simultaneously throughout the 19th century, ground gained on one behalf being used as a supporting argument for the other. Contributing achievements were the exploits of Florence Nightingale on the battlefield for the wounded, in municipal sanitation and in raising standards of nursing; establishment of a women's college at Girton, Cambridge; opening of a women's dispensary by Elizabeth Garrett Anderson.

Strictly speaking, women were not forbidden by law to vote, with their right upheld by a lord chief justice in the 17th century and they were already voting at local elections half a century before parliamentary elections.

Arguments against women voting included the statement that "voting required an improved understanding which women were not supposed to have, also, since they could not defend the country, their exclusion from franchise was just."

The first real statement on the case for women's suffrage was offered by a philosopher, William Thompson, in 1825. He set out basic arguments for women's suffrage, based on the essential characteristics of human beings.

"It is not the activity which will lift much, run much, and with never ceasing patience, endure much."

UNINTENTIONAL DISCRIMINATION

For the first time, it was stated definitely in the Reform Bill of 1832 that the vote was limited to male persons—thought to be an unintentional discrimination of those drafting the bill, but included in the wording for the sake of clarity.

A wealthy landowner, Miss Mary Smith of Yorkshire, introduced the first petition for some form of suffrage for women following passing of the Reform Bill. She urged that if a woman by property ownership is qualified to vote, she should be allowed to use her vote.

At this time, a number of wealthy spinsters and widows, who had inherited thriving mills or manufacturing concerns in an England becoming increasingly industrialized, found themselves espousing an unpopular cause— woman suffrage, but gave large donations to the new movement despite its lack of support.

A long stretch of agitation by women, including Lydia Becker in 1867; Emmeline Pankhurst, whose husband, Richard, a Manchester lawyer, supported the cause; her daughter, Christabel and Lady Constance Lytton.

NO PETTICOAT GOVERNMENT

Some men and non-participating women were favorable to the women's struggle to win the vote and to better woman's lot — many other women and most men did not take the continuing effort seriously.

Some of the remarks passed at that time included — from Queen Victoria "The Queen is most anxious to enlist everyone who can speak, or write, or join in checking this mad, wicked folly of women's rights with all its attendant horrors on which her poor, feeble sex is bent, forgetting every sense of womanly feeling and propriety": a suffragette — "I am a lawbreaker because I want to be a law-maker"; a dissenter: "Petticoat is a good thing, and government is a good thing, but it doesn't follow that petticoat government is a good thing"; Bernard Shaw: "As a man, I have been able to bear the delay of the form so long as I saw before me the inspiring spectacle of a number of women heroically sacrificing themselves: but now that the women have taken to sacrificing the men, things are rather altered."

MILITANT WOMEN

The first act of militancy occurred in 1905 and from then on, women picketed meetings, assaulted policemen, marched on parliament, refused ot pay taxes, poured acid into ballot boxes, distributed leaflets, bombing and arson, hunger strikes in prison, many acts of destruction and for all of which they were severely dealt with in the courts.

Imprisonment brought publicity, and through their riotous acts they continually drew attention, both favorable and otherwise to themselves.

One of the most horrifying experiences was forcible feeding of the hunger-striking women in prison.

A few suffragettes died through their efforts directly and indirectly — one from throwing herself in front of the king's horse at the races — one, forcibly fed in prison and later found to be of delicate constitution, had a stroke and died.

VOTE AT LAST

With the advent of the First World War, militancy ceased and suffragettes were released from prison, and in 1917 women were given the right to vote at the age of thirty.

In 1928 women were finally given the vote equally with men at the age of 21.

"The long struggle carried on by the suffragettes should not be forgotten" remarked Mrs. Drew at the conclusion of her address. "However, extravagant and foolish the actions of individuals may appear today, the hopes and ideals which lay behind the struggle were noble."

President Mrs. J. Nicol and Mrs. E. Welsh introduced Mrs. Drew, who was thanked at the conclusion of her address by Miss Eileen Mackenzie, on behalf of the club. Mrs. Drew is executive secretary purchasing agent at Kootenay Lake General Hospital.

A birthday cake with candles lit by charter members was a feature of the anniversary affair, celebrating the club's charter April 3, 1936.

Oil Kings Win 4th Abbott Cup

EDMONTON (CP) — Edmonton Oil Kings Tuesday night satisfied a capacity crowd of 6510 when they downed Brandon Wheat Kings 6-1 to win the Western Canadian junior hockey finals.

The Oil Kings won the best-of-seven series 4-3. The win moves Edmonton into the Dominion Memorial Cup final in Eastern Canada against either St. Catharines Teepees or Brockville Canadiens.

Bobby Cox, picked up by Edmonton for the series from Lethbridge Native Sons, paced the Oil Kings win with two goals. Ed Joyal, Wayne Muloin, Don Pasutto and Ted Demchuk scored the others. Brandon's goal, late in the first period, was scored by Wayne Fawcett.

Only three Edmonton teams have previously won the Abbott Cup, emblematic of Western Canadian junior hockey supremacy, and advanced to the Canadian Memorial Cup playoffs. These were Edmonton Athletic Club in 1934 and 1939, and the Edmonton Oil Kings in 1954.

ONE ALBERTA CHAMPION

The 1926 Calgary Canadians are the only Alberta team on the list of Memorial Cup winners.

Edmonton took a 3-1 first period lead and raised the count to 5-1 in the second period.

Cox opened at 11:50 when he skated through the Brandon defence and scored on a sharp angle along the ice. The second Edmonton goal, by Joyal at 13:09, came on a backhand slap from a crease-edge pass by Tom Burgess.

Muloin wound up from the point to blast the puck into the far corner behind Brandon goalie Don Holmes for the last Edmonton goal of the first period.

Finnish Farmer Scampers In First, Boston Marathon

By JOSEPH MacSWEEN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

BOSTON (CP)—A farmer from Finland, running like a scared spring calf, won the 64th Boston marathon in near - record time Tuesday against American and Canadian competition.

Paava Kotila, 32, passed the finish line strong and smiling in two hours, 20 minutes and 54 seconds. Two United States runners, Gord McKenzie of New York and Jimmy Green of Boston, came second and third.

Canada's best, in 11th place, was Billy Smith of Hamilton, 25-year-old cook who hails from Coylton, Ayreshire, Scotland, and plans to compete for a spot on the British team in the Rome Olympics in late summer.

His time was 2:34:43. He said he expects next to compete in the Edinburgh marathon and if he does well will enter the British Olympic trials.

CLOSE TO RECORD

Kotila's mark was only 49 seconds short of the two hours, 20 minutes and five seconds established in 1957 by Johnny Kelley of the United States who was forced to drop out Tuesday.

Despite the speed, Tuesday's tussle was dull in comparison with some other years because Kotila, who finished fourth here in 1955, was all alone at the end. The only factor of doubt in the last few miles was whether the Finn might collapse — and he showed no signs of that.

There was a between-tears-and-laughter episode in the race when Chris, the wife of the second-place man, McKenzie, pulled off her spiked heels and dashed along after her husband at one point.

Chris, an English girl and a runner in her own right, yelled encouragement almost in tears while her engineer - husband smiled to himself as he put one down after the other in a methodical way.

VANCOUVERITE 17TH

Of the 12 Canadians entered, overseas-born athletes were prominent. Estonian immigrant Adrian Vali, a former resident of Toronto now living in Vancouver, placed 17th.

Regis Forel, 24-year-old office worker of Montreal, placed 27th in his first try at the Boston marathon. Forel ran among the leaders for a time in the first nine miles.

Swiss-born Hans Harlacher, 26, placed 28th in his first attempt at the marathon. He's a Toronto draughtsman.

Veteran marathoner Sid Smith of Hamilton also won a medal—all finishing within 35th place get that honor—by coming in 31st.

Kotila broke from the pack 11 miles from the start and steadily increased his margin from that point.

Soccer League In the Works

A four or possible five team soccer league may be in operation in the West Kootenay this summer it was learned Tuesday.

Nelson interests have been contacted by the Sookane Soccer Club recently on the possibilities of forming a league. During the winter, Trail and Nelson discussed the chances of forming a league.

Trail this season is expected to field three teams. Nelson will probably field two and if enough players turn up for practice this Saturday, 2 p.m. at the Civic Centre field, a third team may come into existence.

It is the hope of the Nelson group to field three teams and thereby have the nucleus of a city league.

FORT FRANCES ROCKS LABATTS TO WIN TITLE

FORT FRANCES, Ont. (CP) — Fort Frances Canadians captured the Western Canada Intermediate Hockey championship Tuesday in a 5-2 victory over Nanaimo Labatts before 1800 fans.

Canadians, finalists last year, won the best of seven series four games to one. They took three straight 4-1, 7-5 and 4-0 before dropping the fourth contest 4-1 here Monday.

It was the first intermediate championship for the Canadians, who were beaten in the 1959 final by Red Deer Rustlers. Some of this year's Canadians were members of the club which won the Allan Cup in 1952.

Five players shared the scoring for Fort Frances, with singles going to Ed Kliner, Sambo Fedoruk, playing coach Frank Eisenzoph, Gerry (Pee Wee) Melynchuk and Bill Kawulia. Bud Dumont scored both goals for Nanaimo.

New Yankee Maris Powers New York With 2 Homers

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Detroit Tigers, with no help at all from Rocky Colavito's bat, and defending champion Chicago White Sox, still winning by one run, pushed off with victories Tuesday as the American League completed its belated 1960 start before 162,326 fans.

The Tigers defeated Cleveland Indians, who shipped Colavito to Detroit Sunday for Harvey Kuenn, 4-2 in 15 innings, and the White Sox beat Kansas City 10-9 on Minnie Minoso's second home run, a solo shot in the ninth.

New York Yankees, grimly intent on a comeback, beat Boston Red Sox 8-4 on a pair of homers by newcomer Roger Maris. Baltimore took a 3-2 decision from Washington Senators, who had beaten Boston 10-1 in Monday's "early" presidential opener.

In the only National League day game, the Los Angeles Dodgers broke a tie for first with San Francisco by beating the Giants 4-0.

The St. Louis Cardinals, beaten in their first five games, finally won one — 5-2 over the Chicago Cubs, and the Philadelphia Phillies edged Pittsburgh 4-3 behind Jim Owens' three-hit pitching in National League night games.

Milwaukee and Cincinnati were idle.

READY FOR WORST

The day's largest crowd—52,756—turned out at Cleveland, many ready for the worst after general manager Frank Lane's unpopular swap. But Colavito, the golden boy of Injun fans, was 0-for-6 and struck out four times. Kuenn, the Al's bat champ (.353) last year, was 2-for 7 for Cleveland.

In the end, it was Al Kaline, a veteran Tiger standby, who rapped a two-run single that won it in the 15th.

Frank Lary of the Tigers and Gary Bell of the Injuns battled through 10 shutout innings, but both were chased in the 11th. The Tigers cracked through on a two-run single by pinch - hitter Neil Chrisley. But Jimmy Piersall evened it with a two-out, two-run pinch single in Cleveland's 11th.

Pete Burnside, last of three Tiger pitchers, won it with Jim Grant, third of five Cleveland hurlers, the loser.

Minoso drove in six runs and put it away for the White Sox leading off the ninth against losing reliefer John Tsitouris. Minnie also hit a grand - slam homer in the fourth, for a 9-2 lead and then nailed Dick Williams at the plate after the A's had tied it nine-- with two runs in the ninth. Ray Moore won it in relief, getting Bill Tuttle on a doubleplay ball on the only pitch he threw.

HELP MANAGER'S DEBUT

Pinch - hitter Whitey Herzog and Norm Siebern, late of the Yankees, homered for the A's, who were making their debut under Bob Elliott, the only new manager in the league. A record opening - day crowd at Comiskey Park, 41,661, saw the Sox score five unearned runs off starter Bud Daley before the A's chased Chicago ace Early Wynn in a three-run fifth.

The Yankees ripped starter-loser Tom Brewer and four relievers for 17 hits while right hander Jim Coates went all the way with a nine-hitter. Ted Williams hit his 494th home run for the Red Sox—his second of the season and breaking a tie with Lou Gehrig for fourth place on the all-time list. Maris, 4-for-5 with four RBI's belted both homers some 400 feet into the right field bleacher crowd among the 35,162 at Fenway Park.

A walk and Gene Woodling's seventh - inning double broke a 2-2 tie for the Orioles before 32,747 at Baltimore, giving the victory to reliever Jack Fisher. Pete Ramos, who also gave up a two-run homer by Brooks Robinson, lost it.

Left hander Johnny Podres (1-0) and reliever Ed Roebuck combined for a five-hit shutout against the Giants. A triple by Carl Furillo and rookie Tom Davis' sacrifice fly gave the Dodgers the run they needed in the second against loser Billy O'Dell (0-2). They got their other three in the ninth, two on John Roseboro's triple, when the Giants contributed two of their five errors.

Outlaws Bolster Goalie's Morale

Nelson Outlaws may have helped the hand of faith in deciding the Western Canada Memorial Cup series between Edmonton Oil Kings and Brandon Wheat Kings.

Monday Brandon deadlocked the series 3-3 after its goaltender Don Holmes of Nelson had received a morale-boosting telegram from the Outlaws. The young netminder played first base and caught for the Outlaws before ending the season in the Okanagan-Mainline Baseball League last summer.

Tuesday night no telegram was sent and Edmonton won the championship by scoring a convincing victory.

Ron Nash reports that the Outlaws will be holding another practice this Sunday, 1:30 p.m., at the Civic Ball field and again all newcomers are welcomed to try out for the team.

The club held its first practice last Sunday but cold weather cut the attendance and the length of the practice sharply.

Mauler Fullmer Meets Straight Shooting Giardello

By JACK HAND

BOZEMAN, Mont. (AP)—Sturdy Gene Fullmer rules a solid favorite over Joey Giardello for the second defence tonight of his world middleweight title, National Boxing Association version. The fight will be held in the unusual surroundings of the Montana State College fieldhouse.

The snowcapped rockies and the unique campus setting added color to Montana's first championship fight in 37 years.

Co-promoters Fran Haun and Norman Rothschild reported an advance sale of 10,000 tickets and receipts of $90,000. They expect the box-office take for the 15-round match to top $100,000 with about 12,000 spectators.

The beautiful 13,200-capacity Fieldhouse is scaled for $125 000 at $20 tops.

ASSURED GOOD PAY

Fullmer and Giardello already are assured of a fine payday. The champ gets all of the $100,000 paid for the television rights. Giardello received a flat $25,000 guarantee plus $5,000 for expenses.

The bout will start at 8 p. m. MST.

Fullmer, a 13-to-5 favorite in this area, expects a tough fight but is confident of victory. Asked if he hopes for a knockout, Fullmer said, "I get paid for 15 rounds. I figure any round I can cut off is a bonus to me personally."

The champ expected no problems making the 160-pound weight limit. He also expressed no concern with the two-state title held by Paul Pender, who defeated Sugar Ray Robinson in Boston Jan. 22. The NBA has vacated Robinson's title for failing to defend it but Massachusetts and New York still recognize him.

NEW STYLE LAST FALL

The night he won the title by knocking out Carmen Basilio last September, Fullmer surprised by boxing in the early rounds. Normally, he bulls in and pounds away until he can wear down an opponent. His record for 55 fights is 51-4 with 22 knockouts. Robinson in 1957 was the only man to knock him out.

Giardello, 29, a top contender for many years, slipped a bit in 1959 when he was beaten by Tiger Jones and Dick Tiger. His record, dating back to 1948, is 83-19-5 with one no-decision fight. He has 30 knockouts and was stopped three times. The NBA ranks him No. 7, Ring Magazine No. 5.

If Giardello wins, there is a rematch contract for another bout with Fullmer at Salt Lake City June 22.

Pistol-packin' Joey Giardello, a Brooklyn-born Philidelphian, hitched up his stockmen's pants, cocked his cowboy hat and reckoned today he'll knock the living daylights out of the champion.

Giardello, 29 garbed in western clothes and toying with a six-shooter, claimed "this is Joey's turn. The fight may go the distance but no matter how long it lasts, I'm going to win."

The ring veteran admits it could be the end of the road for him if he loses.

"But let's not think about that," he adds.

Giardello's indifferent 4-2 record last year has spurred talk that he's over the hill and that his first title shot may have come too late. "It hasn't come too late for me," Joey said.

Chatham Fans Confident

CHATHAM (CP) — Hockey fans Monday night contributed $1,100 to the Chatham Hockey Association to help finance the trip to British Columbia of Chatham Maroons should they meet Trail Smoke Eaters in the Allan Cup final starting April 25.

Bob Boyes, the association's liaison officer who originated the idea for the one-night campaign, said "we were amazed at the reception."

The Maroons require $3,700 for the trip to Trail. They hope to raise the remainder from local industries and possibly city council.

Chatham was defeated 6-4 Monday night by Hull Legion in the third game of the best-of-five Eastern Canada final. Chatham leads the series 2-1.

MELVILLE, Sask. (CP) — Frank Bathgate of Chatham Maroons has been given a one-game suspension from the Eastern Canada Allan Cup final against Hull Legion.

Gordon Juckes of Melville, Sask., Canadian Amateur Hockey Association president, anounced the suspension Tuesday after receiving reports on Monday night's game at Chatham.

Officials reported Bathgate received a match penalty Monday night after striking Gilles Lacelle of Hull over the head with his stick.

Popular Lane Hung in Effigy

CLEVELAND (AP)—Out on St. Clair Avenue they hanged Frank Lane in effigy and laid out a likeness of Joe Gordon on a slab.

This was the way habituees of the Pointview Grill showed how they felt about the trade in which Lane, Cleveland Indians' general manager, dealt slugger Rocky Colavito to Detroit for Harvey Kuenn. Gordon backed Lane up on his decision to trade the popular Colavito.

While fans protested bitterly against Sunday's Colavito-Kuenn deal, Lane drew little criticism for Monday's trade of southpaw Herb Score to the Chicago White Sox for right-hand hurler Barry Latman.

The sports department of the Cleveland Plain Dealer, swamped Sunday with telephone calls, said the early callers opposed the Colavito-Kuenn trade by 9 to 1. This ratio changed Monday to 4-1.

On the Herb Score trade, callers favored the swap by a ratio of 3 to 1.

Robert S. Anson also hung Lane in effigy, stringing the dummy to a telephone pole in front of his home in Cleveland Heights. Anson said he would take the dummy with him to the stadium for Cleveland's opening game against Detroit Tigers.

A man in Pat Joyce's tavern on East 9th Street found something else to complain about in the fact that there will be no beer for patrons at Cleveland Stadium. City officials said the stadium beer licence won't be abailable until April 28.

Mourned the customer:

"No Rocky, no Score, no beer, no nothin'. This guy Lane probably traded the beer licence."

Fed Up With Score And Colavito; Harmony Now

CHIP OFF OLD SOCK—Son of the late former middleweight champ, Marcel Cerdan, Jr., 16, is seen (top) as he made his boxing debut in Paris in an amateur bout. He won the bout. Below is his dad, who was the world's middleweight champ and was killed in a plane crash in the Azores in 1949 at the age of 33.

By JOE REICHLER

NEW YORK (AP)—The real reason Frank Lane, dynamic general manager of Cleveland Indians, traded away slugger Rocky Colavito and pitcher Herb Score was simply that he was fed up with them.

In an exclusive telephone interview with The Associated Press Tuesday, Lane frankly told why, on successive days, he swapped outfielder Colavito to Detroit for Harvey Kuenn, and lefthander Score to Chicago White Sox for Barry Latman, 23, an unproved righthander.

Lane did not say directly he was fed up with them but candidly explained the shortcomings of each and told why he believes, contrary to general opinion, the trades greatly improve the Indians.

Among other things, he intimated that the departure of Colavito and Score, long-time buddies and roommates, would result in greater harmony on the club. He believes Colavito is overrated and that Score had slipped to the point where he was useless to the club.

NO SYMPATHY

"Joe Gordon doesn't like me," Lane said Score told him. "He doesn't have any smypathy for me. I'd like to be traded to a manager who is more sympathetic."

That just about made up Lane's mind.

"When Herb began to look for sympathy," Lane said, "I knew we couldn't keep him any longer."

Lane attributed Score's failure to win in recent years to a mental condition. Score's record last year was 9-11.

"It's more psychological than physical," he said. "I believe he still hasn't got over that terrible eye injury he suffered in 1957 when he was struck by a line drive hit by Gil McDougald. He keeps thinking it could happen again. . . .

"I don't think Score is through. I just think he can't win for Cleveland."

NOT THE TOUGHEST

As for the Colavito-Kuenn trade, Lane said:

"I made a survey this spring of eight or nine of the league's best pitchers. . . . I asked them to name the most dangerous hitters and the toughest to pitch to. Rocky was high on the list of most dangerous but the pitchers agreed they can get him out with certain pitches.

"Every pitcher rated Kuenn as either the toughest or the second toughest to pitch to with men on base. Rocky was far down the list. . . .

"He is slow, his arm is erratic, he is not the best outfielder, and he can't move up a runner. When he doesn't hit a home run, he either strikes out, flies out, or grounds the ball to the left side of the infield. He doesn't know the first thing about the hit-and-run. He is always swinging for homers. . . . I can see Rocky hitting 50 to 55 home runs in Detroit and still he will not be as valuable as Kuenn."

SHIFTED. Rocky Colavito, slugging idol of Cleveland Indian fans who was traded to the Detroit Tigers for Harvey Kuenn, stops in a Cleveland hotel lobby to look over an American League baseball book. Colavito, who tied for the league's home run crown (42) last season, was swapped for the league's batting champion (.353).

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

A Cryptogram Quotation

Family Puzzled By Kidnapping

SYDNEY MINES, N.S. (CP)—The mystery shrouding the kidnapping of 18-month-old Russell MacKenzie deepened Tuesday as the child's 20-year-old mother insisted the burly abductor fed and cared for her baby.

Mrs. Frank MacKenzie, wife of a Canadian Overseas Telecommunication workman who claims he has "neither money nor enemies," said she is positive her baby had been fed before it was returned to her early Monday.

She said he was wrapped in the same red blanket she had placed about him the evening before. The child was found seven hours after he had been snatched from his crib in a field less than 100 feet from his home.

WASN'T COLD

"He wasn't cold or blue . . . he couldn't have been in the field very long," said Mrs. MacKenzie.

"The baby is always hungry at that time of the morning, but today he wouldn't take his bottle. I just know he must have been fed."

A doctor said the boy was unharmed.

Police and RCMP opened an intensive manhunt as they said they could find no motive.

The abductor forced entry into the MacKenzie residence while Mr. MacKenzie was attending a midnight movie with his wife.

The boy's 20 - year - old aunt, Christina MacKenzie, baby - sitting with the child, suffered a minor eye cut trying to force off the intruder. She said the kidnapper had been drinking and appeared "possessed."

Chou Aware of Nehru's View On Border Dispute

NEW DELHI (CP)—Red Chinese Premier Chou En - lai arrived in New Delhi Tuesday, with a declaration that Communist China and India should settle their border dispute "in accordance with the principles of coexistence."

He was met by Prime Minister Nehru who warned that Red China's aggression on the border has been a "shock to all our people . . . and our relations have been imperilled for the present and for the future."

Anti - Communist demonstrators clashed with police soon after Chou arrived.

About 100 members of the right-wing Hindu Mahasabha party were arrested when they tried to break through cordons to the presidential palace, where Chou is staying.

As Chou stepped off his plane, he twice offered his hand to Nehru but his Indian host appeared not to notice.

Nehru finally shook hands with Chou after photographers shouted and asked him to.

Chou, while grim-faced, spoke of peace and friendship. Nehru, while smiling, talked tough and sharp.

They offered a study in contrasts on several levels as Chou began one of the most controversial visits in Indian history.

Chou, whose visit is opposed by all the opposition parties except the Communists, appeared apprehensive as he stepped from the Indian air force plane which brought him from Rangoon.

Nehru, who is under sharp fire for inviting him in the first place, seemed to be trying to reassure Chou he would be treated properly.

But Nehru also seemed determined to convince Chou India will stand firm in the next six days of negotiations over the 51,000 square miles of disputed territory between India and Red-ruled Tibet.

While Nehru warned that border clashes in which a dozen Indians were killed last year had imperilled India - China relations for the present and the future, Chou replied:

"Our two peoples shall continue to remain friendly for thousands and tens of thousands of years to come . . . our great solidarity cannot be shaken by any force on earth."

Montreal Building More Skyscrapers

By ROBERT RICE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

MONTREAL (CP) — Montreal is going up so that more people can come in.

New skyscraping buildings are piercing the downtown air—rising higher and higher as premium-value metropolitan land forces builders to go up instead of out.

The most spectacular building of them all is the new, still abuilding Place Ville Marie project, a multi-million-dollar shopping plaza, cruciform-shaped skyscraper, parking lot and sightseeing wonder.

FACTS AND FIGURES

The promoters of the shopping plaza have marshalled some facts and figures about downtown Montreal.

First of all, they say that by 1981 greater Montreal—a 30-mile area around the city—is expected to have 3,500,000 people. Right now, it has about 2,155,000.

Then they point how showmanship and good merchandise draw shoppers from the province, eastern Ontario and northern United States to Montreal. Half the $3,500,000,000 retail spending in Quebec is attracted to metropolitan Montreal.

Montreal's European - flavored atmosphere pulls people into the centre of the city—to the historic squares and open spaces of the downtown area.

4,000,000 TOURISTS

Last year, Montreal played host to 350 conventions, 3,000 small meetings and entertained 4,000,000 tourists who spent about $150,000,000.

Say the Place Villie Marie promoters:

"A conservatively - estimated 60,000 Montrealers and tourists will visit Place Ville Marie daily."

Then there are the office workers. Within a two-block radius of the new project about 80,000 people work in offices. Three new skyscrapers going up at the moment will house another 25,000 office workers along Dorchester Boulevard.

On top of this, say the promoters, 300,000 Montrealers live within an easy two-mile reach of downtown parts of the city. Montreal is a city of apartment dwellers—almost half of all people in Quebec live in apartments, compared with about a quarter for the rest of Canada.

President Gives Go-Ahead To Disarmament Project

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Eisenhower administration has decided to create a special disarmament organization to mastermind United States negotiations with Russia on arms reduction.

President Eisenhower has given a go-ahead to the project with the aim of upgrading the importance of disarmament policy in the day-to-day conduct of foreign relations.

Experts from many government agencies and departments are to be grouped into a single staff led by a high-ranking chief whose sole responsibility will be development of disarmament strategy.

Their boss is to be a distinguished civilian whose background and reputation will give him easy access to all cabinet officers as well as stature with foreign leaders.

The administration has decided that the new organization is to be put within the state department and not made part of the president's executive offices.

Some administration officials are understood to have objected to this, believing it should be attached to the White House for prestige purposes.

But officials said State Secretary Christian Herter felt the new group should report directly to him less it blur his responsibilities as daily operating chief of foreign policy.

U.S. Air Secretary Considers Plane-Production With Canada

By HAROLD MORRISON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON (CP)—Air Secretary Dudley Sharp is studying a suggestion that the United States seek a production-sharing trade with Canada to obtain Canadian CL-44 cargo planes in exchange for American supersonic fighters.

Such a deal, if carried to its full potential, would involve expenditures of hundreds of millions of dollars by both governments. It would provide Canadair Limited of Montreal, makers of the CL-44, with a big portion of the U.S. cargo plane market. It also would revitalize Canada's nine domestic interceptor squadrons, equipped with the obsolescent CF-100 subsonic plane.

Last November Gen. Lawrence S. Kuter, head of the Canada-U.S. North American Air Defence Command, told North Atlantic parliamentarians that he anticipated the disappearance of subsonic and trans-sonic interceptors from his command as quickly as the economies of Canada and the U.S. could support a changeover.

SEEK REPLACEMENT

Since then, Canadian authorities have been reviewing several American supersonic fighters in the hope of finding a low-priced replacement for the CF-100. Among the most favored is the long - nosed McDonnell F101B twin-engined jet fighter with a speed of some 1,200 miles an hour.

Meanwhile, the U.S. Air Force also has had to grapple with obsolescence. It needs replacements for its 450 - plane military air transport service. The only suitable cargo plane immediately available is Canadair's CL-44, some of which have already been purchased by U.S. commercial airlines.

Gordon Reed of New York, heading a committee set up by Sharp to look into the cargo plane problem, suggested in a letter dated March 18 that Sharp study the possibility of a Canada-U.S. exchange.

FOUR YEARS AHEAD

Reed, board chairman of Texas Gulf Producing Company, said in a report that Canada is about four years ahead of the U.S. in modern cargo plane development. If the U.S. Air Force purchased 323 of the CL-44 planes, it could get them at a total price of $881,600,000. Equivalent American planes, which would not be ready before 1965, would cost about $1,360,000,000.

Sharpe's advisers decline to speculate on the decision the air secretary may make. In this presidential election year he is under heavy pressure to encourage U.S. plane production. But American military authorities are concerned over the lack of high-speed fighters on the northern frontier with Canada, and they also are concerned that the U.S. military air transport is not tuned to modern airlift needs.

Sharp must make his decision soon. Under a presidential order he must recommend a course of action to Defence Secretary Thomas Gates by May 1.

Father Misses Annual Easter Pilgrimage

LONDON (CP)—For the first Easter in eight years, John L. Sutherland of Vancouver wasn't at London's King's Cross station last weekend.

Sutherland, 76, had made an annual pilgrimage to King's Cross ever since he thought he saw his missing son there on an Easter morning.

The son, an air force flight sergeant, was posted missing and believed killed following a raid over Holland in 1943. Sutherland believes his son still is alive.

The News - Chronicle quotes Sutherland, in a telephone interview from Vancouver, as explaining: "I just couldn't come this Easter. But maybe I'll be over another year. There's always a chance."

One of the station employees who missed Sutherland this year, Alfred Bird, has been watching the platforms there for 20 years.

"We've missed seeing him this year. He just used to stroll around smoking a cigar and chatting to people now and then. We got quite fond of him. It's sad to think he might have given up after all these years."

Montgomery Scolds West On Red China Situation

MONTREAL (CP)—Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery launched a Canadian tour Tuesday with a verbal swipe at the West for refusing to recognize Red China.

"I don't think we can ignore the largest nation in the world—it's not common sense," he said in an interview shortly after his arrival by air from London.

"A good deal that goes for statesmanship in the modern world appears very strange to me," said the former NATO commander and Allied leader in the Second World War.

Viscount Montgomery said he plans to go to Peking next month for talks with Mao Tse-tung, Chinese Communist party chief.

"It's a great thing to see these people and see what they think of what's going on. I don't believe you can solve the security problems of the world unless you talk to both sides."

A reporter drew Viscount Montgomery's attention to the statement by United States Gen. Mark Clark describing Field Marshal Earl Alexander as the greatest wartime commander.

HE WON'T PLAY

"Good, that's good," said Viscount Montgomery.

Like Gen. Clark, Viscount Montgomery served under both Field Marshal Alexander and President Eisenhower.

He was asked how he rated them.

"I'm not going to play on that one," he replied.

Viscount Montgomery's visit is primarily to receive an honorary degree from the University of British Columbia and to attend centennial celebrations of the Queen's Own Rifles in Toronto April 30.

But he will also confer with Canadian political leaders, including Prime Minister Diefenbaker, and travel across much of the country.

CAR AND TRAIN

He plans to travel by car and train as much as possible.

"I want to see the country and the people — the people particularly. I am more interested in people than in scenery."

A meeting has been arranged for Monday with Mr. Diefenbaker, Defence Minister Pearkes and the Canadian chiefs of staff.

He said he holds great admiration for Mr. Diefenbaker whom he described as "a great chap" and "a person of decision." The two met in Paris in 1957.

In Montreal Viscount Montgomery is staying at the home of Dr. F. Cyril James, principal and vice-chancellor of McGill University.
