Russia Reports U.S. Plane Shot Down

Includes Britain in Blame; 2 Survivors To Be Prosecuted

MOSCOW (Reuters)—Russia on Monday belatedly announced it shot down a U.S. Air Force reconnaissance plane over Soviet territorial waters July 1 and captured two of its six-man crew.

Protest notes handed to the U.S., British and Norwegian embassies said the two survivors — Lieut. John R. McCone and Lieut. Freeman B. Wanstead — would be prosecuted "with full severity of Soviet law" for violating Russian territory.

Britain, from where the plane took off, was warned of the "dangerous consequences" of such "aggressive actions."

The notes said the six-engined turbo-prop RB-47 was heading over the Barents Sea for the Soviet port of Archangel when it was shot down. They claimed the aircraft was armed with two 20-millimetre guns and carried special reconnaissance radio and electronic equipment.

MAJOR CONFERENCE

Just before the protests were handed over, the Kremlin announced it would hold a major press conference this morning. It is expected Premier Khrushchev will make a statement then.

The incident occurred exactly two months after the Russians shot down the American U-2 spy plane.

Last Sunday U.S. authorities announced the abandonment of all hope for the missing plane. It had taken off from Brize Norton near Oxford, England, on what the U.S. said was a map-making survey in the Arctic.

The Soviet note to the United States said the U-2 spy flight in May had been "unanimously branded by world public opinion."

It added: "The new violation of the Soviet frontiers by an American plane is new proof that the American government is continuing on this path dangerous to the cause of peace."

BRITAIN ACCUSED

"Thereby it takes upon itself serious responsibility for the dangerous consequences of these actions."

"It does not appear to be accidental that despite repeated and persistent questions in the British Parliament, the British government has stubbornly declined to give assurances that spy flights by American aircraft and the violation of the air space of the Soviet Union will not be undertaken from British bases."

Winnipeg Eases Sprinkling Ban

WINNIPEG (CP) — The greater Winnipeg water district Monday decided at an emergency meeting to once again lift the total ban on water sprinkling.

The district board announced water sprinkling and private car washing will be allowed on a partial basis between 7 p.m. and 10 p.m. and on an even-and-odd house number system.

Restrictions originally were imposed on residents Thursday because of a low water supply. Deputy water board chairman Thomas Findlay said the same day rations were enforced consumption jumped to 70,000,000 gallons. The reservoirs normally pump 55,000,000 gallons a day.

Popoff Execution Delayed

VANCOUVER (CP) — Larry Popoff, twice convicted of murder, was granted a stay of execution by Mr. Justice Norman Whittaker of the B.C. Supreme Court Monday.

Popoff, 24, had been sentenced to be hanged Aug. 23. The date was set back to Dec. 13.

Popoff was first convicted more than a year ago of the Oct. 5, 1958 bludgeon slaying of Clarence Douglas, Garrett, 35, near Kinnaird, B.C.

The B.C. Appeal Court granted Popoff a new trial, held in Cranbrook two months ago.

Matter of Choice

LONDON (CP) — Latest of the Nikita Khrushchev stories:

The Russian leader, visiting Austria, asked a student how he felt about the Hungarians.

The boy said they are "our friends."

What about the Czechs? They are our friends, too.

And the Poles? Also our friends, too.

And what about the Russians, young man?

The Russians are our brothers!

Why, asked Khrushchev, do you call the Russians brothers and the others friends?

Well, replied the boy, you can choose your friends.

The story comes from The Guardian, a Manchester newspaper.

Want to Choose Own Union

PENTICTON (CP) — Okanagan employees of Canadian Pacific Merchandise Services have joined a province-wide fight for the right to choose their own union.

Twenty-eight drivers from Kamloops to the United States border formed a committee at a meeting here to spearhead the fight for the B.C. interior.

Hearings are to be held Wednesday in Ottawa to determine whether CPMS employees should become members of the Non-Operating Railwaymen's Union or the International Brotherhood of Teamsters.

Postal Workers Get Bargaining Committee

OTTAWA (CP) — Dan Cross of Kingston, Ont., president of the Canadian Postal Employees Association, said Monday a bargaining committee had been set up for postal employees by Pastmaster-General William Hamilton.

This is believed the first such committee in the civil service.

"Mr. Hamilton, amid all the criticism over postal pay increases announced Saturday, deserves an orchid for the new move," said Mr. Cross.

Supermarket Workers Get Wage Boost

VANCOUVER (CP) —Agreement has been reached on a new wage scale for supermarket employees on the Lower Mainland and Victoria.

The Retail Food and Drug Clerks' Union CLC and the companies said Monday they have accepted a settlement recommended by conciliation officer E. P. Fisher.

The agreement covering 2,000 employees at Dominion Stores Ltd.; Shop-Easy Stores; Super-Valu Stores Ltd.; Canada Safeway Ltd.; and various independents granted a 15 to 20 per cent wage increase.

The new basic rates, retroactive to April 18, are $1.37 to $2.25 an hour for men, and $1.25 to $1.85 for women. On April 17, 1961 the rate will be increased a further 10 cents.

Reporter's Body Recovered

NEW WESTMINSTER (CP) — A body recovered Sunday from Pitt Lake was identified as that of Vancouver Sun reporter Vance Hull. Hull was drowned last February while covering the story of three loggers who had drowned in the lake.

DRIVER IMPALED

SONORA, Calif. (AP) — Howard A. Davidson, 37, was in fair condition Monday after spending three hours impaled on a tree Sunday after his truck went off a road. Tree limbs pierced his chest and abdomen after he was thrown out half way down a 300-foot embankment. His feet touched the ground but he could not move. A two-year-old boy died in the accident.

Commons Votes To Retain Bomarc

OTTAWA (CP) — The Commons defence committee voted 5 to 4 Monday against scrapping of the Bomarc anti-aircraft missile program.

Harold Winch (CCF—Vancouver East) moved that the $8,000,000 estimated expenditure on the Bomarc this year be reduced to $1. Paul Hellyer (L-Toronto Trinity) was the seconder. Two other Liberals also voted in favor. Five Progressive against. Four Conservatives and one Liberal were absent.

Mr. Winch maintained that the Bomarc is "useless." No amount of air defence would prevent sufficient hydrogen bombs from getting through to destroy Canada.

Egan Chambers, parliamentary secretary to Defence Minister Pearkes said the purpose of the Bomarc is to protect the bases of the U.S. Strategic Air Command — the West's main force of retaliation —against bomber attack.

To bandon the Bomarc would be like doing away with the infantryman's helmet on the grounds that it didn't protect him against a direct hit by a high-explosive shell.

Mr. Hellyer said Russia would be unlikely to attack North America until it had sufficient long-range missiles to knock out all fixed bases, including those of the Bomarc.

Parliament Monday

By The Canadian Press

The Commons gave final approval to a bill setting up a new department of forestry — the 21st department of the federal government.

Opposition Leader Pearson suggested there wouldn't be enough work for a full-time forestry minister but H. W. Herridge (CCF—Kootenay West) said the industry deserves a minister.

Resources Minister Alvin Hamilton proposed a co-operative federal-provincial scheme for a Canada-wide network of forest fire fighting men and equipment.

A bill increasing pensions for federal civil servants was passed by the Commons after unsuccessful opposition attempts to make its provisions retroactive.

External Affairs Minister Green said Canada is "very much concerned" about the Cuban situation.

Mr. Green reported that most Canadian citizens in Leopoldville, capital of the strife-torn Congo Republic, have escaped the country.

Finance Minister Fleming said the federal government does not plan to submit firm proposals for a new tax-sharing agreement to this month's federal-provincial fiscal conference.

Cuba Levels Aggression Charge

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) —Cuba accused the United States Monday of economic aggression and called for an immediate meeting of the United Nations Security Council to consider the charge.

Cuban Foreign Minister Raul Roa said the United States pursues a policy of intervention in Cuba's domestic affairs.

U.S. acts and threats, he said, "have brought about a situation which seriously affects international peace and heightens the tensions brought about by the collapse of the summit conference" at Paris in mid-May.

BRIDES PANIC, LEAP TO DEATH

CINCINNATI (AP)—Two young brides, huddled on a third-floor window ledge as fire raged behind them in their apartment, clasped hands and jumped to their deaths early Monday.

The women, one an expectant mother, failed to heed the pleas of a patrolman to wait until firefighters could arrive from just two blocks away.

Dead are Mrs. Geraldine Lawson, 22, who expected her baby in two or three weeks, and Mrs. Floella Brooks, 16, married only five weeks.

They had shared the apartment with their husbands, Cecil Lawson, 23, and James Brooks, 21.

The men had awakened and run out to call for help, police said, leaving their sleeping wives behind.

Power Bond Issue Announced

VANCOUVER (CP) — A $25,000,000 British Columbia power commission parity bond issue was announced here Monday by Premier Bennett.

The bonds are unconditionally guaranteed by the B.C. government and will pay five per cent annually.

In making the announcement at a breakfast for investment and bank officials, Mr. Bennett said the first allotment will limit purchases by individuals to $5,000 in denominations of $100 to "allow as many B.C. residents as possible to invest."

The issue is similar to that of the Pacific Great Eastern railway last year. But, unlike the PGE which started with a goal of $10,000,000 and was oversubscribed to $35,000,000, the power commission issue will cut off at $25,000,000.

Mr. Bennett said he had received several offers from groups to finance the B.C. power issue, but had refused in order to give B.C. residents the opportunity to invest.

BONNER DENIES LIQUOR SALES DECREASED

VANCOUVER (CP) — Attorney General Bonner said Monday a price boost in 1959 has not caused any decline in British Columbia liquor sales.

Mr. Bonner was commenting on a brief presented to the federal government last week by the Association of Canadian Distillers.

The brief stated that six provincial governments showed declines of one to 15 per cent in the first four months of this year.

Mr. Bonner said if there was a sales decline, he would have been notified.

The distillers association blames an average seven per cent drop of sales on increases in federal excise and sales tax.

NEW YORK (CP) — Canadian dollar 9-64 higher at $1.02 3-64 in terms of U.S. funds. Week ago $1.02. Pound sterling 1-32 higher at $2.80 51-64.

Lumumba Asks Aid Of UN Military Experts

LEOPOLDVILLE, Congo (Reuters) — Katanga, the Congo's wealthiest province, Monday night announced its intention to secede and become a sovereign, independent republic.

Premier Moise Tshombe made the bombshell announcement in Elisabethville, the provincial capital, after declaring a state of emergency. He had earlier asked in vain for troops or police from British-protected Northern Rhodesia to help restore order.

Premier Patrice Lumumba of the 12-day-old Congo Republic took off for Elisabethville before the declaration. Lumumba earlier expressed "astonishment" at the call for troops from neighboring Rhodesia.

As Congolese army mutineers battled white Belgian troops during the day in two centres, Lumumba appealed for United Nations military specialists to help reorganize the rebellious armed forces. He made the request through UN Undersecretary Ralph Bunche, who has been here since Independence Day celebrations June 30.

Hundreds of terrified white men, women and children continued to stream out of the republic by air, sea and road to escape the aroused Congolese.

There were widespread cases of shooting, looting, arson and molestation of Europeans, but no casualty totals were available.

Sixty American missionaries and their families at Kapanga in northern Katanga province found themselves surrounded by Congolese rebels. They radioed a message from their mission station that so far they have not been molested.

CAN ONLY WAIT

"We are entirely cut off," the urgent message to Leopoldville said. "There is nothing to do but wait."

Another 500 Belgian troops were ordered to the Congo Monday as fighting raged between those already here and the army mutineers.

Belgian forces went into action in the Atlantic port of Matadi when the rebels tried to prevznt a shipload of white refugees from sailing for Belgium.

Radio reports received here described a continuing battle between Belgians and Congolese in the uranium centre of Shinkolobwe, 100 miles northwest of Elisabethville.

The battle began when the Europeans rejected a demand to hand over their weapons. Rebel gunfire drove off a planeload of troops trying to land reinforcements in Shinkolobwe.

Lumumba has been hurrying from one trouble centre to another in an effort to restore order. He hurried to Matadi during the weekend and flew Monday afternoon to Luluabourg en route to Elisabethville.

WANTS LAW AND ORDER

Before taking off, he declared his government's determination to "have law and order respected and to defend the territorial integrity of the country."

(Belgian Premier Gaston Eyskens told his Parliament Monday Belgium will respect the Congo's independence but all necessary measures will be taken to protect lives and property in the country.)

Belgian paratroopers tried to keep an escape route open from Elisabethville to the Northern Rhodesian border. Long automobile convoys moved along the 60-mile stretch past rock-throwing Africans.

Reports from Rhodesia said the the Rhodesian copper belt has become a huge refugee camp among the refining-mining concern. They said they decided to flee after 10 officials were slain by rebel troops.

Three Drown As Boat Flips Over

QUESNEL (CP)—The annual McLeese Lake Regatta ended in a tragedy Sunday night when an outboard motor boat flipped over, drowning three of its eight occupants.

Victims of the mishap were John Keith Brunt, 16, and two brothers, Russell Frederick Zubeck, six, and Andrew George Zubeck, 2½, all of Quesnel.

The father and sister of the Zubeck boys were also aboard.

One report said the boat had gone only 100 yards from shore when it suddenly flipped over while making a turn.

No explanation was given for the mishap, although one survivor said he thought they might have crossed the wake of another boat.

Kennedy Choice Appears Assured

LOS ANGELES (CP) — The stampede to Jack Kennedy's band wagon began even before the Democrats' convention officially opened Monday.

Barring some last-minute crisis Kennedy, 43-year-old Massachusetts senator, will emerge as the party's choice for president, perhaps on the first ballot Wednesday.

The day's developments brought crushing news for Senate Majority Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas, Kennedy's toughest competitor.

The key to whether Kennedy's bandwagon could be stopped was in the hands of Pennsylvania Governor David Lawrence and his 81-vote state delegation.

On Monday Lawrence spoke — enthusiastically endorsing Kennedy. Johnson had stated publicly that if Pennsylvania went for Kennedy, Johnson's own prospects would diminish.

Of the state's 81 votes, Lawrence indicated 64 would go to Kennedy.

Lawrence, who like Kennedy is a Roman Catholic, had originally favored Adlai Stevenson. But he, like many other supporters, has come to realize that Stevenson has no chance, that the man in front is the hard-hitting Kennedy, a dynamic man who speaks of "new revolution: new change" in the United States.

The winning candidate must obtain at least 761 votes of the 1321 to be cast. Kennedy is reported to have almost that many now.

Chinese Resist RCMP Investigation

By JOHN E. BIRD
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP) — A tightly-organized resistance movement has built up across Canada to discredit and stop the RCMP's investigation of a Chinese immigration racket uncovered in May after 10 years of operation, a top RCMP official said Monday.

It seems obvious, he said, that the campaign—including charges of brutality against Hong Kong police assisting in the investigation—is inspired by racket ringleaders.

The official emphasized that the Hong Kong police are being employed only as translators and interpreters.

The resistance, he said, has gone so far that Chinese suspected of being illegal entrants are refusing to identify themselves to investigating officers.

He said this was the first time in his experience as a member of the force that he had bumped into organized resistance and open defiance of a police investigation.

Police officers—instead of racketeers responsible for an illegal operation involving thousands of Chinese—are being subjected to public criticism, he said.

The only way police could get evidence to prosecute the ringleaders was to talk to illegal entrants. The government already had given them assurance that they and their families would not be prosecuted or deported.

TACOMA (AP)—A female chimpanzee, trained to change a baby's diapers, seized a six-months-old girl from her stroller Sunday and refused for 20 minutes to surrender the infant.

Little Marcia Lynn Ebert was returned unharmed to her mother, Mrs. Frederick Ebert, after the chimp had completed a diaper change under surveillance of a state patrolman and store officials.

The incident occurred in a Tacoma department store which keeps the chimp for publicity purposes and lets it circulate among the customers on a leash.

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—A retired Miami obstetrician drummed up some business Sunday—on the end of his fishing line.

Dr. Louis Haas was fishing from a yacht when he got a bite. After a 35-minute fight he landed a 100-pound sting ray. While inspecting his catch he noted "an abdominal bulge."

The doctor gave some professional assistance and shortly dropped "mama" sting ray and four little rays back in the ocean.

125 Men, 10 Cats Fight 2000 Acre Fire at Sulphur Creek

Hope To Hold First Big Fire of Season

A fire covering well over 2000 acres in the Sulphur Creek area near Fernie was still raging out of control on Monday, but it is expected that good progress will be made toward fighting it down today.

Late information received at the Nelson B.C. Forest Service office stated that the fire, in a valley, is not too wide east and west but quite some length running north and south.

Men were able to fight their way through the flames to set guards further on and part of these were burned off late yesterday, forestry officials said.

WINDS CAUSE TROUBLE

The fire began Saturday and a total of 125 men and ten cats are engaged in combat with what is the largest fire in the Nelson Forest District this season.

Afternoon winds were raising havoc with the fire fighters earlier but had calmed down somewhat Monday.

Twenty-nine fires were reported burning over the weekend in the Nelson Forest District with 13 still burning Monday, engaging 153 men and ten cats.

The fire at three-mile on the North Shore which was started by the Wragge home burning to the ground is still burning in spots and 20 men are at the scene. Patrols will be needed for the next few days due to smoldering debris deep in crevices of the rocky terrain, forestry officials reported.

WORSE ALL OVER

On the provincial scene the B.C. Forest Service reported that 227 new fires were burning last week — by far the greatest number in any week so far this year.

Vancouver registered 136 of the new fires; Kamloops 50; and Nelson 45. Kamloops fire-fighting costs jumped over $5,000 during the week and Nelson was up over $2,300.

Total provincial costs for last week were $9,806 and for the season $48,159 for 816 fires reported.

The fire hazard in the Prince Rupert and Prince George forest districts remained at the moderate level while Nelson, Vancouver and Kamloops districts moved into the "high" category.

STILL BELOW 1959

Fires to the week ending July 8 are still far below the 1959 figure for the corresponding period. The total to last Friday of 816 compares with 1,017 fires for the same period last year.

Total cost fell from $152,860 in 1959 to $48,159 this year, a drop of over two-thirds.

The lookout, due to high pressure off the coast indicates continued clear and sunny weather and higher temperatures. The southern interior is described as hot, dry and dangerous. If thunder and lightning storms develop real trouble could result, the B.C. Forest Service reports.

A closure over the Little Slocan River watershed to recreational uses was ordered last week by Hon. Ray Williston, minister of lands and forests, due to the extremely dangerous fire hazard existing.

CHAMBERS MEET AT KASLO

Airports, Highways, Tourists Among Many Topics Studied

KASLO — Quarterly meeting of the Associated Chambers of Commerce of Southeastern B.C. Saturday discussed a wide range of topics running from Kootenay airports through highways, winter olympic sites, tourist promotion and surveys, cleaning of Whatshan Lake, provisions of more game wardens, to railway and educational matters.

Creston indicated that while it had been urging an all-weather airport for the Kootenays it was not doing so with the idea of depriving other centres of fields already in operation. Their aim, a spokesman said, was to 'improve the service — not cancel out all other airports."

Castlegar delegates took the stand a nominal expenditure of $100,000 on their field would make it suitable, whereas it would take $3 to $5 million to develop any alternative site.)

MUCH OPPOSITION

The suggested construction of an "all-weather" airport in the Creston area has met much opposition in certain West Kootenay sections. J. Bainbridge of Castlegar pointed out that instrument landing would give four of five planes now passing up Castlegar field at least 1000 feet lower approaches, and this might overcome much of the trouble caused by clouding up.

"It would cost approximately $100,000 to fix the Castlegar airport with the instrument landing gear and increased runways, whereas it would cost an estimated three to five million dollars to build a new strip in the Kootenays," he declared.

TO INVITE MINISTER

Al Hunter of Cranbrook maintained that, "If the airport is taken out of the Kimberley-Cranbrook area they've had it as far as air travel is concerned."

It was decided to invite the Hon. Gordon Hees, Minister of Transport, to the next quarterly meeting to speak on the airport situation.

The Pacific Northwest Trade Association resolutions arising from the May 8 meeting in Vancouver were read to the executive. The fall meeting will be held in Sun Valley, Sept. 25 to 27, inclusive. The main subject will be the international aspect of water resources. Guy Constable of Creston, along with another member who will be selected by the executive are to attend.

The Roads and Bridges committee reported on results of several resolutions passed at the annual meeting of the Associated Chambers of Commerce of Southeastern B.C. held in Fernie in May.

GAGLARDI OPPOSED

A letter was sent to P. A. Gaglardi, Minister of Highways, regarding Trail's resolution asking that Highway No. 3 be called the "Southern Trans-Canada" highway. Mr. Gaglardi answered that the old name should remain unchanged because of printed matter already in use and the tourists who pass through knowing it only as "No. 3."

The Hon. Earl C. Westwood informed the executive by letter that it was the policy of his department to promote B.C. on an overall basis and the subsidizing of regional and community folders has been discontinued. He was answering a Trail resolution passed at the annual meeting asking that the provincial government pay 50 per cent of cost of area brochures.

Mr. Westwood informed the executive that a tourist survey in southeastern B.C., a Trail resolution passed at Fernie, was most desirable. It is currently under discussion and he hoped that budgetary provisions would be made for the survey in the future.

Another Trail resolution passed at the annual meeting, seeking the cleaning of Whatshan Lake, met with opposition in the government. Mr. Westwood said that his department could not do the work as the area was not within a provincial park. He suggested that the B.C. Power Commission be contacted in this regard as it was it which caused the deadwood and snags resulting from raising the lake shoreline. The executive passed a motion to carry out the minister's suggestion.

On a Kimberley resolution passed at the Fernie meet, Hon. Westwood stated that every effort is being made to place additional game wardens in the East Kootenay to help develop hunting in the district. The West Kootenay area was also included in the Kimberley resolution but the minister made no mention of it.

REJECTS TRAIL PROPOSAL

Another Trail resolution tasted defeat. The Hon. Leslie Peterson, minister of education, answered by letter that the request to establish a dental faculty at UBC is a matter which comes wholly under the university. His department could no nothing about it.

The Hon. Gordon Hees informed the executive that resolutions from the annual meeting regarding the Kettle Valley railway line would be placed in front of department heads and assured them that full consideration would be given their requests.

It was reported that it was evident the 1960 area brochure would not be completed this year and it would have to be considered as a 1951 effort.

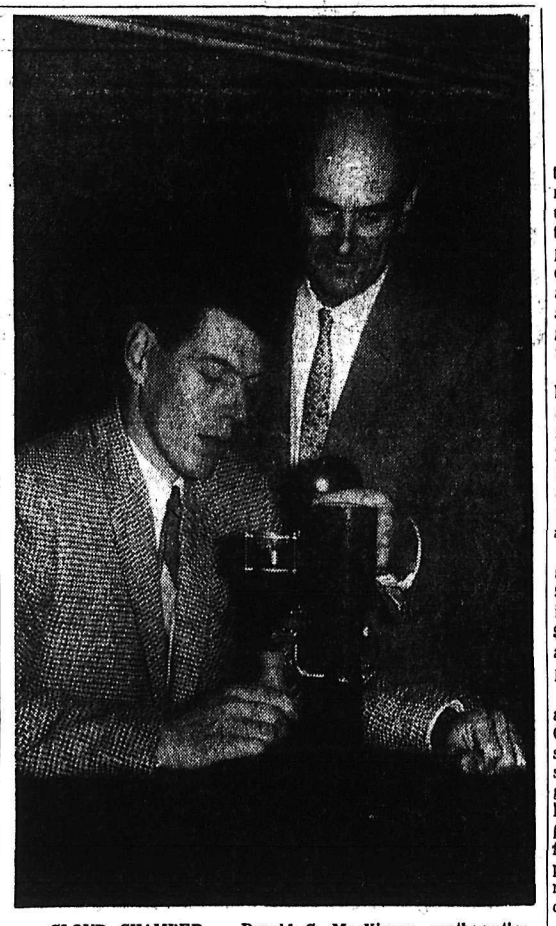
All but one Chamber in the area has assured the committee of its support and it is expected that this Chamber will give its support to the brochure shortly.

A request was received from Creston to permit a representative to attend the next quarterly meeting to explain the purpose of the Creston Wildlife Management area and to try and enlist the executive's support. The representative will be invited to attend.

After the resignation of Guy Constable and J. D. McMynn of Trail, president K. N. Stewart appointed V. Mosher of Creston and Dr. F. E. Coy of Windermere to the Hydro Committee.

Secretary, J. M. MacBeth of Castlegar, is to dispose of all map stocks at a discount, if necessary, to all member chambers.

A resolution regarding the Waterton Lakes-Flathead road brought forward by the Fernie Chamber of Commerce was referred back to them, to submit maps of the area and a brief to the next quarterly meeting.



CLOUD CHAMBER — Donald C. MacKinnon, mathematics teacher at L. V. Rogers Senior High School, Nelson, observes the tracks of alpha rays in a cloud chamber during a lecture at Stanford University. MacKinnon is presently in California attending an eight-week seminar sponsored by Shell Oil Company of Canada, Limited. He is one of ten Canadian high school chemistry, physics and math teachers selected for their outstanding abilities to attend Stanford and Cornell Universities this summer on Shell Merit Fellowships. The seminars give them latest teaching techniques, a chance to see current applications of their subjects in industry and research laboratories, and opportunities to discuss science and math with leading authorities. With MacKinnon is Dr. Sheldon Brown, professor of physics at Stanford.

Bus Tourists Stay Overnight

Twenty-seven tourists arrived in Nelson Monday on a tour from Vancouver which will take them to the Calgary Stampede, Banff, Revelstoke and back to Vancouver.

The Canadian Rockies Escorted Tour arrived from Penticton and registered in the Nelson Hotel. They expect to leave here this morning and spend the night in Waterton Lakes before continuing on to Calgary.

It is a ten-day tour with tourists from B.C. and points as far south as San Antonio, Texas.

Children Plus Matches — Fire

A fire department spokesman said Monday night that two young children were responsible for setting a fire which destroyed a small shed at 722 Observatory St. about 4:30 p.m. yesterday.

The two young children, aged six and seven, were apparently playing with matches near a shack at the back of the lot at the above address.

Nothing was in the shed, which was valued at "no more than $100."

Lucky Ride Winners

Lucky winners of free rides on Miss Spokane Hydro were H. Sanders, C. C. Padley, George Gelinas, Ray Hickey and R. F. Agar. Others rewarded with a ride for their part in bringing the boat here were M. K. Ozell, H. (Fritz) Farenholtz, H. E. Stevenson, Ed Stromstead and Albert Maida. Mayor T. S. Shorthouse was unable to accept the offer.

Nelson Can Become Western Fine Arts Home Say Teachers

Two teachers at the Summer School of Fine Arts, Beth Gillanders and Harold Baldridge, spoke at the regular meeting of the Rotary Club Monday on the Summer School of Fine Arts and its contribution to Nelson.

Introduced by G. H. Lee, a Rotarian and principal of L. V. Rogers High School, Miss Gillanders expressed her gratitude to Nelson for the "friendly city which it is."

She said that she and her colleagues have come to make a contribution to Nelson which they hoped would pass on to make the city a much better place to live — "on which it certainly has a good start."

SCHOOL BOOMING

The high school, where the summer session is being held, is booming all day long and the school is a definite credit to this community, Miss Gillanders stated.

Commending E. D. Baravalle, director of the school, Miss Gillanders said, "If by chance the school falls into limbo you'll have a difficult time to find people, such as those who has started it, to rebuild the school."

Drama, dance and painting can develop this community, she said, and the school attracts as many people to Nelson as does the midsummer bonspiel.

She then commended the Rotary Club for their gift of two scholarships to the school.

In his address to the club Mr. Baldridge gave two reasons for coming to Nelson for the summer. One was to escape the New York heat and the other was to meet and work with people who have a fresh approach to drama.

ACTORS KNOW TOO MUCH

In New York actors know too much and continually fight over what they know, he said, and he did not like to work with those types. He came to Nelson, he stated, to work with people who don't know too much about drama but who are anxious to learn.

He considers this a challenge.

Mr. Baldridge maintained that professional drama in the west is coming into its own as there are groups in many western cities and towns. Saskatchewan, he said, is a beehive of activity in little theatre work.

"Drama, and all art, is moving in Western Canada," he said, "things are happening right now and right here in Nelson."

His hope is to see a play coming out of the Nelson Summer School of Fine Arts go on tour.

Interest in fine arts is growing along with cities and industries in Western Canada, he said, and hoped that some day he could return to Nelson to stay and teach.

Dinner guests were Tom Ferguson of Lethbridge, Con Rutherglen of Trail, Vic Thorson of Vancouver, Les Fielding and Rev. A. E. Thain of Camrose, Alta., and Reg Wade of Lloydminster.

Emergent communication of Kaslo Lodge No. 25, A.F. & A.M., to be held in Masonic Temple, Kaslo, B. C., on Wednesday, July 13, at 1:30 p.m. sharp for purpose of attending the funeral of our late Rt. W. Bro., Thomas H. Horner.

Kootenay Towns Back Fernie Bid for Winter Olympics

KASLO—There is a good possibility that tne 1968 Winter Olympics may be held in the city of Fernie, the executive of the Associated Chambers of Commerce of Southeastern British Columbia were told here at their quarterly meeting Saturday. The executive endorsed the Fernie bid.

E. T. Dick of Fernie told the meeting that the citizens and members of the Chamber of Commerce in his city have banded together in a concerted effort to have the 1968 Olympics staged on the slopes in Cedar Valley — between Fernie and Cranbrook — "as the crow flies."

TWO EXPERTS COMING

Two experts, one Canadian and one American, are expected in Fernie shortly to survey the slopes and give their opinion as to whether or not the Olympics could be staged there.

The result of their investigations are expected to be made known within a month, Mr. Dick reported.

Enthusiasm is not lacking in the coal city as $2000 has already been raised by the committee working on the plan, to help meet expenses in getting the ground laid out for the event.

Pictures of the different slopes in the area have been taken and distributed.

Mr. Dick stated that the committee has contacted Squaw Valley and was informed that the cost of staging the Olympics there last year was $20 million dollars but that the project employed 1800 persons for a total of four years.

TOO EXPENSIVE?

A government official in Ottawa told the committee that Canada could not afford to stage the Olympics but Mr. Dick argued that if countries like Austria and Sweden could do it, certainly Canada could.

The direct take, Mr. Dick said, after expenses have been met is not too much from the Olympic Games but the real money comes from the tourists and the money they spend on accommodation, living and entertainment.

Mr. Dick asked the executive meeting to adopt his committee's resolutions asking the federal government to sponsor the Olympics; and asking the provincial government to assist the government in Ottawa if the 1968 Olympics were to be held in a B.C. city.

The committee's third resolution asked the Associated Chambers of Commerce of Southeastern B.C. executive to support Fernie in her bid.

As they were dealing in supporting resolutions the executive could only pass these resolutions on to the annual meeting.

The executive did, however, vote unanimously as going on record as supporting Fernie in its bid to stage the Olympics there.

The International Committee, who decide the location of the Olympics, will not decide before 1963 in just what country they will be held.

MacBeth, secretary, Castlegar; M. G. Klinkhamer, president, Cranbrook; H. D. Harrison, past-president, Nelson; standing, E. R. McFarland, honorary president, Lethbridge; L. KOOTENAY - BOUNDARY Scout News

By DR. B. A. RESKER,
Regional Commissioner

The new Kootenay-Boundary Boy Scout Regional organization has now been functioning for about 10 months. As Regional Commissioner I was able to visit nearly every District informally before October. But with the advent of Mr. Peverley's arrival from Nova Scotia at the end of October to be the full time Executive Commissioner, the work in connection with the region really got under way.

Progress has been made in the region and Mr. Peverley has been to every District in both East and West Kootenays, sometimes returning for special events such as training courses or camporees.

Since his arrival, the Executive Commissioner has travelled 6803 miles to stimulate Scouting in the area under his direction.

The Regional Office, located on Baker Street, was set up from scratch and now carries all the administration functions for the Region. This includes annual registration for more than 2600 members, Cubs and Scouts besides the complete records of all groups in the Kootenays and Boundary.

Scout text books, badges and insignia are now available at the "Scout Office" on Baker Street. A feature of the office is that mail requests for badges are shipped out the same days as received, a service that has been long awaited in this new region. A full time secretary is employed so that the office service goes on while Mr. Peverley is travelling on Scout and Cub work.

The work of the region was made difficult early in its conception when the chief organizer, Dr. C. A. H. Wright of Trail, passed away in January. This was a sad loss to the new Region and it was through Mr. Wright's foresight that First Vice-President J. Giegerich of Kimberley was ready to take over and carry on as the new president.

Mr. Giegerich was once the District Commissioner of Kimberley. The present Vice-President, Magistrate R. S. Nelson, who lives in Nelson, is a tower of strength to the new organization and is sincerely interested in developing local Scouting.

C. E. (Tom) Charlton of Trail, Regional Council secretary is one of the pioneers of the Regional idea in the Kootenays and his devotion to the scheme has been a great help in the organizational stage. Advice on finances is in the capable hands of Ray Commons, Royal Bank manager in Nelson, who had taken on the treasurer's position.

At present the plans call for appointment of trainers in nearly all districts. Some of these, already appointed and "on the job," include George Williams of Kimberley, "Scottie" Taylor of Cranbrook, Dr. Fanderlik of Trail and Cpl. Jack Flamank of Nelson.

The last named is to be congratulated for being invited to the Canadian Headquarters training camp at Blue Springs, Ontario. Congraulations are also extended to Jack for receiving the Medal of Merit from the Chief Scout.

Dies at Age 94

CASTLEGAR — Funeral services were held Saturday for Mrs. Ann Bloodover, who died at the age of 94. She had been a resident of Canada for 62 years and of B.C. for 24.

Heavy Ferry Traffic Jump

A heavy increase in the use of the Castlegar ferry compared to last year is evident from the monthly report of the Department of Highways at Rossland.

Last month, some 105,790 persons travelled on the ferry, 15,000 more than for June of 1959.

Some 51,828 automobiles travelled on the ferry last month, a boost of $10,000 over June of 1959.

Other statistics for last month, with June, 1959, in brackets are: Round trips 3394 (3246); trucks 17,135 (13989); trailers and semi-trailers 915 (831); buses 730 (972); motorcycles 57 (23); livestock 57 (13).

Champion Creek Resident Dies

CASTLEGAR — Funeral services were held Monday for Mrs. Pearl Zebroff of Champion Creek, aged 73. The wife of William Zebroff, she had been a resident of B.C. for the past 48 years. Death came after a lengthy illness.

Interment was in Champion Creek Cemetery.

Historical Display Planned for Regatta

INVERMERE—The Windermere District Historical Society will sponsor an historical exhibit concerning early days in the Windermere district at the Invermere Regatta July 15-17.

A number of interesting articles pertaining to the early days of the valley will be on display at the Lake Windermere Lodge above Lake Windermere near the David Thompson Memorial Fort.

A. W. Hunter of the Cranbrook Historical Society has kindly consented to bring his valuable display to add to the exhibition. Tom Cameron of Windermere, who has a collection of Indian articles, will lend them for the viewing and Mrs. Tracy Williams of Radium has been invited to display her collection which is of rare value.

Other residents have been invited to add articles of interest. The display will be insured by the Invermere Village Council which is sponsoring the regatta and will be under guard. Indian artifacts, early day mining equipment, old lamps, old valley photographs and any other articles of local historical interest will be accepted with appreciation.

Koolaree Echoes

Sorry, folks, we are a little late with epistle four of the Koolaree Echoes, but we are sure glad that so many find an interest in it, we would like to do it more often, but time doesn't permit.

The senior boys are gradually winding things up after a very successful camp. The entire camp, except for a few of the adults, took Deda for a cruise to Lourdes for a swim and a return visit. On their return they quickly entered into the spirit of pow-wow night, making ready many devices and items required for such a night.

Make way, make way the Great Chief Umga Agawa Ack Cha has arrived. Be sure you address him first and properly hereafter. The first 1960 victim was none other than Malcolm Metcalfe, come lately for campfire, just can't figure how he did it alone. Always Kennedy was by his side, but in his hour of greatest need he was left alone facing the great mountain.

Barry Scott was victim of the perfect weight guessing event and in his great style took it calmly and coolly. One often wonders whether old stunts can be pulled when they are old hands at the game, but always someone gets caught off base, as did Ron Lawton being bopped by Bill Irvine.

Here we are at the last day of camp, the treasure hunt was won easily by Cabin Five with Don Smith finding three of the clues including the final one.

So it is now the crucial hour of K night and we discover that Cabin Four has won the camp championship handily, leaving just two items for Cabin Five, namely the cabins which they won by just half a point and the volleyball championship, thus earning themselves a red K.

The leaders were awarded their K's along with Mrs. Grove, the camp nurse. The Ian Pott award for the most outstanding camper went to Barry Scott of Kinnaird. It was Barry's first year at camp but all the way his keen interest made him stand out among the rest and his quiet, steady work along tactics truly earned him this award. Even when he suffered a slight sprain on the mountain hike he still fulfilled his duties as a good camper.

This wraps it up for the senior boys as they departed Friday morning for home, crossing the lake on the Pop and through the kind assistance of Mr. Vincent Fink and his boat.

Drowning Victim Funeral Wednesday

CRANBROOK — Funeral rites take place at the Presbyterian Church here Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 for eight-year-old David Roy Kary who fell off the end of a private dock and drowned at the Green Bay summer resort on Moyie Lake Sunday.

He was born at Cranbrook, only son of Mr. and Mrs. Archie Kary, and had completed grade 2 at Tenth Avenue School. He was also an active Cub. Also surviving him are three sisters, Marnie, Janice and Susan at home, and grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Michael Kary of Cranbrook, and Mrs. Elmer Carver of Vancouver.

Nakusp TV Station Back in Operation

NAKUSP — Nakusp once again has TV reception, after having the antennae setup for its satellite station knocked out about a month ago by lightning. The batteries and antenna on Saddle Mountain both were damaged so badly service was cut off completely.

Last week O. Harper led a group of men up the mountain to effect repairs. At the same time lightning arrestors and other additional equipment to bring the operation up to the standards required by the federal government were installed.

Mr. Harper, as president of the Nakusp TV Society, believes that it will now only be a short time until the present permit to operate replaced with an official license. Reception is expected to be improved by the recent changes, he added.

Mr. Harper also expressed hope that the present low yearly fee of $30 can be reduced, particularly as the number of subscribers to the service increases. He points out the cost is much lower than in other centres, were fees run to as much as $150 a year, and where connection charges are necessary, which is not the case here.

Trailer Caravans To Tour Kootenay Areas

CRANBROOK — Executive meeting for July of Cranbrook Chamber of Commerce completed arrangement plans for the visit here July 27 of the Wally Byam trailer caravan. This party of 150 mobile homes and 350 people originates at Bakersfield, Calif., and is on a six-week summer excursion which started in June at Denver where the party members assembled.

Their trip this year takes them north through Montana to the Calgary Stampede, then through the national parks of the Rocky Mountains. They arrive here July 23 for an overnight stop. They will set up their trailer camp in the parking lot at the Memorial Arena. The caravan has tentative plans for about three days in this part of East Kootenay, continuing to West Kootenay via Kootenay Bay ferry, then to the Okanagan and Vancouver areas.

Boles' Aero-Zenith Trailer Club has also notified the Chamber from its Pasadena headquarters that its summer tour of 25 mobile homes will include Cranbrook in its itinerary following Calgary Stampede attendance and a Rocky Mountain tour. Director H. A. Strang reported the overnight stop here would probably be July 23.

Young Kimberley Boy Dies Saturday

KIMBERLEY — Alan White, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul White, died Saturday at Kimberley Hospital after several months illness. He was born at Kimberley Oct. 10, 1956. His parents and a brother Paul survive him at home, and grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Stanton of Kimberley.

Mrs. W. Hopkins Dies Suddenly

CASTLEGAR — Mrs. William Hopkins died suddenly in Castlegar Hospital July 9. Born in Aberdeenshire, she came to Manitoba in 1911 and moved to Ernfold, Sask., in 1917. In 1942 she moved to Castlegar.

She is survived by three sons, Wallace of Moose Jaw, R. W. of Ernfold and George of Courval, Sask., three daughters, Mrs. G. Fischer of Tugaske, Sask., Mrs. E. Lewis of Castlegar, and Mrs. M. Taverna of Trail; 11 grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

Hymns sung at the service Monday, conducted by Rev. M. S. Reside, were "Rock of Ages" and "Abide With Me." Organist was Mrs. J. E. Wallace.

Pallbearers were T. Brownlee, P. Harder, A. W. Irish, S. P. Dower, Dr. G. E. McDonald and R. E. Goulet. Interment was in Robson Community Memorial Cemetery.

A Big Job Well Done

There are times when it seems that all that the citizens of Nelson desire is to maintain the status quo ante bellum and bask in a mid-Victorian Nirvana of complete inaction — and then summer comes, and with it, the Midsummer Bonspiel.

The Bonspiel is an established feature of our summer life and each year it demands men of initiative and ability, with the willingness to work hard for an end from which they do not profit, for the good of a city which is not always as grateful as it might be — and surprisingly enough the demand is always met.

There can be no greater satisfaction than that which results from successful achievement and the organizers of the 16th Annual Midsummer Bonspiel have every right to be happy with the results of their efforts. Each succeeding Bonspiel has been good and some better than others, but this one with the weather so gloriously in its favor was one of the best Nelson has had.

And what is said of the Bonspiel Committee may also be said of those who organized Chahko Mika. Since this was a new venture they had no groundwork on which to build. They started only with a burning belief that mining and the forest industry are the lifeblood of the Kootenays and that those industries depend largely on the skill of the men who work in the mines and forests. To such a high degree are those skills developed that they felt that exhibitions of them and competitions would entertain and enlighten the public.

How right they were in this belief is shown by the crowds who attended and enjoyed the program. Chahko Mika was a huge success and its organizers who worked so hard and so zealously are to be congratulated. It is to be hoped that succeeding Chahko Mikas will continue to be of such high calibre.

The Unanswered Knock

It now appears certain that the long-awaited revision of Canada's archaic Immigration Act will not reach Parliament this session. The new Act, proposed almost two years ago, has not yet even been drafted. Such delay, in a country as underpopulated as this one, a country which has as much or more to gain from immigration as any other, is difficult to understand.

One immigration department official, quoted by Mr. Robert Duffy in this newspaper, attempted to explain it thus:

> It's easy enough to see that some parts of the Act are inadequate for the problems they're intended to deal with, but it's not so easy to figure out what to put in their place.

The explanation is almost classic in the breadth of its applicability — it fits any delay, in the revision of any Act. What, after all, is such a revision but the replacement of inadequate measures with newly devised, more adequate ones? We would like to know exactly what parts of the Immigration Act are so hard to improve. We would like to know, for instance, if the controversial Section 20 is one of them, as Mr. Duffy suggests. This is the section which classifies qualifications required for entry, the section under which would-be immigrants are considered according to their nationality, and their ability to obtain either sponsorship or a job here before they arrive.

That this might be the stumbling block was suggested by Immigration Minister Ellen Fairclough on June 9, during the upset over Chinese who had entered Canada illegally, when she told Commons, "We can no longer trust to chance to bring immigrants to our shores without counsel or guidance." Henceforth, she said, would-be immigrants, other than refugees and close relatives of people already in Canada > will be examined to determine that they will be able to make their living successfully in Canada, that they will be likely to become good Canadian citizens, and that their admission will not result in disruptions in Canadian social and economic life.

If the Immigration Act revision is being held up by a search for stern, meticulous systems for grading each and every individual who enters Canada, it is being held up needlessly. Canada's social and economic life has suffered not one whit so far from immigrants who entered under the existing legislation. On the contrary, it has benefitted a great deal by their presence. Granted Section 20 could stand some improvement — particularly with respect to those non-European peoples who now find it difficult or impossible to enter legally. But it certainly should not be "improved" to the point where immigrants are discouraged from even applying for entry.

We suspect that this section is not the only stumbling point. We suspect that those responsible for revising the Act are slow in replacing its archaic provisions because they have been given no consistent policy to follow—because they have no real idea what the government intends the new Act to accomplish. The old Liberal administration was noted for its vacillating, half-hearted attitude toward immigration; for not seeming to know from one month to the next if it wanted any immigration at all. So far, the Conservatives have been little better, turning on and off the flow of immigrants with every change in the economic breeze.

They have said they definitely want immigration; Prime Minister Diefenbaker spoke in terms of "tens of thousands" coming from Britain alone this year. Yet to the end of March only 16,599 had come from all countries, almost four hundred fewer than in the same period last year—and last year, the figures hit a nine-year low. This cannot all, or even mostly, be blamed on improved economic conditions in other countries. A large part must be laid at the door of a government which puts out the welcome mat but cannot be counted upon to answer a knock at the door. Such hesitation is hard to understand and harder to excuse.

Changing Times

An invention which The Los Angeles Times thinks should move well in the market places of this world of error, doubt and confusion is an electric eraser. At the press of a button, it whisks away "typing, ink and pencil errors lightning fast."

There have been many advances in typing machines and pens, some of which are guaranteed to write under water, and there are pencils with interchangeable leads. But the electric eraser symbolizes a growing recognition that everything that is typed or written in these swihtly changing times should be subject to alteration, or, if necessary, to elimination.

Still a vital necessity is a device that will erase from hearing and memory some of the words that are now being spoken and are destined, without such an invention, to remain, unfortunately, in the permanent record.

Children On High Street In Danger

To the Editor:

Sir—The conditions on High Street in Nelson are most regrettable. Having a specific affinity to the lovely city of Nelson, we spend considerable time on weekends over there, but coming down High Street we see little tots running hither and yon in a dense traffic area, car drivers stopping on a button to avoid them.

This is nothing short of criminal negligence of the parents. The police cars are seventeen places at once. If the parents do no care about their children, let somebody responsible do the job. Irresponsible parents are a nuisance to any community.

Cleaning Beaches Not Enough

To the Editor:

Sir—A recent edition of this paper contained a short item concerning "Mom" Whyte's efforts at cleaning a beach at Taghum and making it available to the public.

I would like to commend her public spirit. It is a most desirable effort, but it should be made known to her and to many others that to clean the beach is not enough. The water also needs to be cleaned up before it is safe to bathe in the waters below Nelson.

The Nelson beaches are posted as unfit. This condition continues down-river for many miles. A series of tests made by the health authorities show a high Coli-aerogens count for many miles below Nelson.

At Lakeside Park is a steady 5/5 (very bad).

At Taghum 2/5 to 5/5 (bad).

At South Slocan 2/5 to 5/5 (bad).

At Shoreacres, Aug., 1958, 5/5 (very bad).

These tests were taken at various times in various years. The river flow and water temperature have a bearing on the degree of contamination, but it gets worse as the swimming should get better.

Tourists are often seen camping near Taghum bridge. They must often unwittingly drink this diluted sewage. I believe that the health authorities would do well to post more contaminated areas and make the facts better known to the public.

Thank you for the space allotted.

Not the Ferry Crews' Fault

To the Editor:

Sir—With reference to last Monday's write-up in the Nelson Daily News of the traffic jam at Kootenay Bay, your paper reported that the ferry was six hours behind schedule. Granted, there was over a mile of traffic up the hill, but the ferries were not running six hours late, as you reported. To be precise, the ferries were running ahead of time. They had stopped running on schedule in the early afternoon, and by evening both boats had managed to get an extra trip in.

It might also be said that your paper reported the same thing of the M.V. Anscomb when it plied the lake alone a few years ago, and it actually, too, had managed to squeeze in an extra trip.

Seems that the poor pursers, deck-hands, mates and skippers not only get it in the neck from the weary travellers, but from your unreliable reporting as well. Why not give them a break for a change?

A KOOTENAY BAY RESIDENT.

Editor's Note: "Kootenay Bay Resident" apparently misunderstood our reporter's intention when he stated ferries were running behind schedule. He did not, of course, mean each boat was six hours late, but that travellers were being held up as much as six hours waiting for sufficient ferry space to be available. This can hardly be considered "unreliable reporting", since it served to accentuate a distressing situation. In no way did the article, or was it intended to, reflect criticism of the men who actually operate the ferries.

Report From Victoria

By HON. W. D. BLACK,
Provincial Secretary,
Minister of Municipal Affairs,
Minister of Social Welfare

B.C.'s Forest Industry is the province's biggest purchaser of manpower and materials. In fact, the value of forest product exports is nearly double the total exports of all other products combined.

This giant provincial industry is conducting an extensive program to retain and increase its markets in the face of world-wide competition. New markets are being tapped and production techniques improved. Greater utilization of waste is receiving careful scrutiny. New products are being introduced and others are being explored.

Estimated net value of production reached $672,000,000 in 1958. This was an increase of approximately 8 per cent over the 1958 value. Pulp production was 1,640,000 tons which was an increase of 13 per cent over the preceding year.

Among a number of projects under way within the industry is the 50 million dollar kraft mill at Castlegar. The large pulp mill at Woodfibre, on Howe Sound, is undergoing extensive renovation and should be in production in the not too distant future. Plywood capacity is being increased by mills in Vancouver, Port Alberni and New Westminster. Construction is expected to commence this fall on a $2 million plywood plant at Squamish.

Paper plants are either planned or under construction at Annacis Island and Port Alberni.

Other projects are in the talking stage with several groups interested in establishing further pulp manufacturing.

The following three key developments, in recent months, point to the shape of things to come in the forest industry.

A trial shipment of a shipload of "packaged" lumber, or lumber sorted to size and packaged before shipment rather than being stored loose in the ship's hold. Packaged lumber reduces the time spent in loading a ship and is, apparently, well received by customers.

Adoption of new grade-stamping procedures by the Interior's lumber industry, which is a step towards standardization of lumber products.

A program is underway to transport sawmill waste from some interior mills for utilization in coastal pulp mills. Utilization of this waste should prove a boon to the interior industry — a wood waste which is presently burned by the sawmill operators at considerable cost.

This is, then, a brief picture of what is taking place in our forest industry today. As the group of timber delegates from Britain, touring the province at the present time, view and hear of the changes taking place within the industry, results, beneficial to both sides, may be expected.

As the individuals of this timber group travel the province on a month-long tour, they will see a great deal of what is going on apart from specific study of the forest industries.

It is this first-hand experience which is so immensely helpful and tells so much more than cold statistics. It is to be hoped that this delegation will be the forerunner of many more.

Herridge Objects To Ex-CCF Label

OTTAWA (CP) — H. W. Herridge (CCF — Kootenay West) complained in the Commons Monday an army signals message referred to him as "the ex-CCF member" of Parliament.

He asked Defence Minister Pearkes to make sure that a correction goes out. He said the message was sent from Toronto last week to armed forces in Canada. It reported on a question Mr. Herridge asked in the Commons last week.

"I had better do it immediately because it might be justifiable anticipation," Mr. Pearkes said.

Diefenbaker In Forefront Of Famous Stampede Parade

CALGARY (CP) — Calgary's streamlined stampede parade rolled through streets lined 10-deep Monday with Prime Minister Diefenbaker an unexpected but welcome participant.

Mr. Diefenbaker smiled and waved from a light blue convertible that followed closely a motorcycle escort of RCMP and parade marshal Phil Harris, mounted in cowboy costume on a spirited white horse.

Police estimated more than 140,000 Calgarians and stampede visitors lined the three-mile route as yipping cowpokes and hat-waving celebrities lent glitter and glamor to the spectacle.

Indians from the Sarcee, Stoney and Blackfoot tribes were decked out in war paint and flaming headdress. Buggies and antique automobiles carried Stampede officials.

BING AND CATHY

Biggest cheers from the spectators, some of whom had lined the route more than two hours before the parade began, were for Bing Crosby and his wife Cathy Grant, and Duncan Renaldo, TV's Cisco Kid.

The prime minister arrived here Sunday evening, almost 24 hours ahead of schedule. Stampede officials hurriedly re-arranged the parade lineup to include the prime minister, and set out a pattern of activities for the day that were to see him attend a luncheon, watch the afternoon rodeo events at the stampede grounds and then pick up his pre-arranged schedule this evening. He will become an honorary chieftain of the Blackfoot tribe and officiate at the Stampede after the chuckwagon races.

Two dozen bands were scattered along the length of the parade. Dozens of floats—all with a western theme of some kind—rolled by.

PARADE STREAMLINED

Still the longest community parade in Canada, the stampede's opening day spectacle was this year tightened and streamlined to exclude such groups as the navy, army and air force cadets, scouts and guides, bicycles and school exhibits.

More horses than ever before were entered.

Probably the most colorful aggregation were three marching groups of Shriners and their standard and Oriental bands.

Competition started in earnest Monday afternoon and night as the top riders in the bronc-busting circuit tackle nearly 250 horses in bucking competitions for $60,000 prize money, and 33 chuckwagon rigs go after cash purses totalling $25,000.

No Dam Yet But Crews Working On Manitoba's New Dike Site

GRAND RAPIDS, Man. (CP)—Diamond-drilling crews are working at the site of Manitoba's next big power development trying to find leaks in a dike before it is even built.

Since last August drilling crews have been probing the limestone bedrock where Manitoba Hydro Electric Board engineers will erect a 20-mile-long retaining dike to hold water from the Saskatchewan River.

The power site, expected to cost $150,000,000, is 250 miles north of Winnipeg near the western shore of Lake Winnipeg.

The dike would be little use, however, if water escaped through underground fissures and cracks in the rock. To prevent this, cement will be forced into the bedrock cracks and gaps, making the retaining wall as waterproof as possible.

10-FOOT SECTIONS

Crews now are locating possible weak spots in the underground section. When drilling is completed in mid-August they will have sunk more than 100 test holes 150 to 500 feet deep and 2½ inches in diameter.

Rock core from this drilling is being examined to determine the porousness of the limestone.

A special device is used to test separately each 10-foot section of the drill holes with 300 pounds of water pressure. This shows the rate of absorption and the loss of pressure through fissures or cavities.

When work is finished, the engineers will have a nearly complete sub-surface picture of the rock structure and formations.

FUR TRADE ROUTE

One drilling crew under Murray Clark of Winnipeg carried out work in the middle of the Grand Rapids on the river that once was a main highway to the West during fur-trading days.

With water rushing by the drilling rig at 10 to 12 miles an hour, it was necessary to provide a stable platform. The company designed a 16-by-20-foot steel barge weighing 10 tons when loaded with equipment. Four steel legs are lowered when the barge is set in position and winched above water level.

The first load of materials for the actual construction arrived in June by barge from Selkirk, near Winnipeg. The initial stage will consist of a test section of grouting—forcing cement into cracks and gaps underwater. Thousands of tons of cement are required and the first barge north carried 500 tons of supplies.

Power is scheduled to be produced at Grand Rapids in 1964.

Belgrade Said Seeking U.S. Financial Aid

BELGRADE Reuters)—Communist Yugoslavia Monday was reported planning to seek loans from private American and West European banks to help carry out currency reforms.

The request for loans from private banks would be an unprecedented step for a Communist country.

Loans from the United States government to help in the currency reform were expected to be one of the main topics in talks between Undersecretary of State Douglas Dillon, who arrives here Sunday, and Yugoslavia President Tito.

At present, Yugoslavia has several foreign currency rates ranging from 300 dinars to the dollar to 1,200 dinars to the U.S. dollar. Tourists receive 400 dinars on the dollar and Yugoslavs who receive money gifts from relatives abroad get 600.

Under the reform plan, it was believed a single rate of about 750 dinars to the dollar would be established.

Such a reform would enable Yugoslavia to compete more effectively in trade with economically-integrated areas of Europe.

Most Canadians Escape From Leopoldville

OTTAWA (CP)—Most Canadian citizens in Leopoldville, capital of the strife-torn Congo Republic, have been able to escape across the Congo River to Brazzaville, in the former French Congo colony, External Affairs Minister Green said Monday.

But he indicated, in a report to the Commons, that poor communications have prevented Canadian officials at Leopoldville from learning the situation of Canadians elsewhere in the country.

Mr. Green, replying to Erhart Regier (CCF—Burnaby - Coquitlam), amplified previous reports that some 247 Canadians were registered at the Canadian trade office in Leopoldville. Virtually all are missionaries and their families—many of them in up-country posts distant from Leopoldville.

UNDER CONTROL

The minister said that a report Saturday from Roger Bull, Canadian trade commissioner there, said the situation in Leopoldville was under control with "business as usual." But Mr. Bull had been unable to report on the situation elsewhere in the country, which recently got its independence from Belgium.

Mr. Green said that some time ago Canadians in the country had been told that, in the event of trouble, they should try to make their way to the nearest British territory. The West African Congo is bordered on the east by British central African territories.

Mr. Regier asked Defence Minister Pearkes for assurance that he would not hesitate to use his department's facilities to ensure the safety of Canadians in the Congo.

Mr. Pearkes said the government would do everything possible to help them. Mr. Green said Canada is acting in co-operation with the United Kingdom, and that no British planes have yet been sent to the area.

Earlier Monday, an official of the external affairs department said he is not aware of any Canadian business people there. The department was awaiting further reports from Mr. Bull.

Searchers Find Kidnapped Boy's Cap, Clothing

SYDNEY, Australia (AP)—Searchers Monday found a cap, some clothing and schoolbooks belonging to Graeme Thorne, 8, kidnapped Thursday on his way to school.

Police rushed to the brushy area near Seaforth, one of Sydney's northern suburbs. The boy's school case had been found there Friday night and the area was searched. Finding of the other articles set off another search.

Late Thursday a man with a foreign accent phoned the boy's family and demanded £25,000 for the return of the child, saying otherwise he would "feed him to the sharks."

"The kidnappers will get the money if they keep their word and return our boy unharmed," said the father, Basil Thorne, who won £100,000 in a lottery last month.

Long Island Strike Cuts Sleep Short

NEW YORK (AP)—Thousands of commuters affected by a strike of the Long Island Rail Road got out of bed before dawn Monday to make their way into the city by bus, subway, taxi and car pool.

The city braced itself for a monumental traffic jam as many thousands of commuters headed for work in the city by auto.

City-bound traffic was unusually heavy in some of the roads leading in from the struck railroad's area—the city's borough of Queens and Nassau and Suffolk counties on Long Island.

The railway, busiest commuter line in the United States, was struck early Sunday by the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen after efforts by Governor Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York and mediators had failed to settle the pay-hours dispute.

The pivotal issue in the dispute is a demand by the strikers for a five-day week to replace the present six-day week with no cut in pay.

Wife Does Her Share To Help Husband Get College Degree

VANCOUVER (CP)—In a comfortable old eight - room house Lois Smith looked after her children, cooked, scrubbed and made beds for as many as seven student boarders to earn money to keep her husband at his law books.

"It's been fun and I'd do it again," she said after 30-year-old Joseph C. Smith graduated in law at the University of British Columbia, standing third in a class of 65.

The couple had one child when he enrolled in 1957. Last October two more—twin girls—were born, one in a taxi and the other later in hospital.

Joe won scholarships and bursaries each year to cover his fees. Last summer he was a railway sleeping-car conductor. The summer before that he took contracts for lawn-mowing and drain-tile installation.

Mrs. Smith, a graduate nurse, could have made more money in shorter hours nursing than in keeping a boarding house but decided she would rather be with her children at home.

Before studying law, Joe taught three years in Vancouver schools. Previous to that he interrupted his college career for a one-year mission in England for the Church of Latter Day Saints. His wife served a similar mission in Minnesota.

Throughout three years at law school he taught Sunday school.

Referring to his scholastic success, he says "she made it possible." But it's not over yet. The family now goes to New Haven, Conn., where Joe will study for his Master's degree in international law on a fellowship at Yale University.

Highly Favored B.C. Crew Beaten by St. Catharines

PORT DALHOUSIE, Ont. (CP)—A highly favored University of British Columbia crew was beaten by a young St. Catharine's Rowing Club foursome Saturday in the Olympic four-oared rowing trials after refusing the starter's request for a postponement because of rough water.

Starter Russell Wood of St. Catharine's wanted to postpone the race until waters calmed. UBC bow John Roaf objected because "this is the kind of water we're used to."

The St. Catharines team, three of whose members are high school students, took a length lead in the first 200 yards, stretched it to three lngths at halfway, and finished two lengths ahead of UBC. Their time on the one mile, 550 yard course was 7 minutes 44 seconds though on calmer practice waters they have covered the course in 6:42.

WILL COACH TEAM

UBC Coach Frank Read said his team "couldn't get the boat to work" and kept lowering the stroke. They were rowing a 30 in the body of the course but had it up to 38 at the finish.

Read will coach the St. Catharines' four in Olympics competition at Rome. UBC fills all 11 other positions on Canada's Olympic rowing team.

The St. Catharines crew was coached by Alex Wilson, 29, a policeman who has rowed eight years and coached for four.

In February, he called for candidates for a four-oared team. Only the four boys who won the Olympic trials turned out. Kept off the water until April by ice, they practised twice daily through the spring.

For two weeks before the trials, the crew lived with Wilson, his wife and two children in their three-bedroom bungalow.

Bowman is 19-year-old apprentice machinist Frank Zielski, only member of the group not still in high school. Six feet, one inch in height, Zielski weighs 177 pounds and is in his fourth year of rowing.

Clay Brown, 19, six-foot-three, rows number two. The 186-pound Grade 13 student began rowing last year.

Bob Adams, 17, 190-pound six-foot-two-inch Grade 12 student is the crew's number three. He has been rowing three years.

Stroke is Chris Leach, 18, 187-pound, six-foot-four-inch Grade 13 student, in his third year of rowing.

All four rowed in a Wilson-coached collegiate heavyweight eight team, which last year won the Canadian junior eight and the United States intermediate eight championships.

Rowing for UBC Saturday were bow John Roaf; number two Vic Gorcak; number three Keith Donald; and stroke Dave Anderson.

St. Catharines' supporters have started a fund to finance the team in Italy.

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Willie Mays, Ernie Banks and Del Crandall led the power-packed National League team to a 5-3 all-star victory over the American League here Monday in blistering 100-degree heat.

Mays, San Francisco Giants' spectacular centre fielder, contributed a triple, double and single and just missed a home run. Chicago's Banks and Milwaukee's Crandall each hit home runs before the sellout crowd of 30,619. Banks also contributed a double and Crandall a single to the National loop's 12-hit attack.

Only Cleveland's Gary Bell and Kansas City's Bud Daley escaped without allowing a hit as the National narrowed the American League's series lead to 16-12. The 29th game will be played Wednesday afternoon in Yankee Stadium, New York.

FACE SAVES NATS

Shut out for five innings by Pittsburgh's Bob Friend and San Francisco's Mike McCormick, the Americans finally broke through for a run in the sixth before Elroy Face, Pittsburgh's bullpen ace, came on with the bases full to make Luis Aparicio rap into a double play. Vern Law, another Pirate, bailed out Milwaukee's Bob Buhl in the ninth.

Al Kaline's long blast over the left field wall after Los Angeles' Charlie Neal had thrown wide to first base on Harvey Kuenn's grounder gave the Americans their final two runs off Buhl in the eighth.

Bill Monbouquette, the American League starter and loser ran into rough going from the start.

Mays greeted the Boston right-home run and RBI leader, slugged hander with a triple to the right field corner on his second pitch. When Bob Skinner of Pittsburgh singled on the next pitch, the Nationals were ahead to stay.

Banks, the National League home run and RBI leader, sugged a Monbouquette pitch over the left field fence scoring Skinner and it was 3-0 before the crowd had downed its first lemonade.

CONTINUE RAMPAGE

Manager Al Lopez of Chicago White Sox switched to Chuck Estrada, Baltimore rookie, but the Nationals continued their rampage in the third. With two out, Banks doubled off the screen atop the left field wall, Milwaukee's Joe Adcock singled off the glove of Boston's Frank Malzone and Pittsburgh's Bill Mazeroski singled through Malzone into left, scoring Banks.

At the end of three innings it was 5-0 and the Nationals had nine hits. It had all the earmarks of a rout. But the American Defence stiffened and they finally got back in the ball game by chasing McCormick in the sixth and teeing off on Buhl in the eighth.

The Americans got their first run in the sixth when Kaline scored after an error by Eddie Matthews of Milwaukee, a single by Bill Skowron of New York and a single by Nellie Fox of Chicago.

TWO-RUN HOMER

The Americans got their other two runs in the eighth when Kaline slammed a Buhl pitch for a homer with Kuenn on board.

Stan Musial, the 39-year-old St. Louis Cardinal, got in his 18th all-star game as a pinchhitter in the eighth and came through with an infield single.

Ted Williams, Boston's 41-year-old star, came in as a pinchhitter in the second. It was his 17th all-star game but the best he could do was ground out to second.

"Only Man I Ever Feared" Says Former Champion

A Corner of Heaven Reserved for Ol' Sam

By JOSEPH MacSWEEN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK (CP)—What Jack Dempsey says about Sam Langford must be causing the magnificent Negro to emit his happy "Ho Ho" in the corner of heaven reserved for dauntless old gladiators with cauliflower ears, flat noses and flatter purses.

Ol' Sam, says Dempsey, was the only man he ever feared — and that's indeed a unique compliment from the former world heavyweight champ whose own ring ferocity is famed.

JACK DEMPSEY
. . . Ho Ho

Remember that Langford only stood five feet 6½ inches and it took years for him to reach a fighting weight of 165 pounds, when he was eager ot tackle men of any size.

William Harrison (Jack) Dempsey's words about Sam are chronicled in his new book, entitled simply Dempsey, the story of his life as told to New York reporters Bob Considine and Bill Slocum. Dempsey does some debunking:

". . . I was small as heavyweights go and usually fought giants, so they called me 'Jack the giant killer.' They said I feared no man.

"The hell I feared no man! There was one man — he was even smaller than I—I wouldn't fight because I knew he would flatten me. I was afraid of Sam Langford."

NO BITTERNESS

While his could be grounds for bitterness for Langford, the chances are that if he were alive he would chuckle from his enormous chest because his humor—and his characteristic Ho Ho—were as robust as his stunning punch. Blind and aged, he once told a reporter in his squalid dwelling place:

"Don't nobody need to feel sorry for ol' Sam. I had me plenty of good times. I been all over the world. I fought maybe three, four hundred fights and every one was a pleasure. If I just had me a little change in my pocket, I'd get along fine."

Possibly Sam Langford wasn't the greatest fighter who ever lived but many experts have placed the Boston Tar Baby, born in Weymouth, N.S., in a class by himself. He died Jan. 12, 1956, in a Cambridge, Mass., nursing home at the age of 72 after being elected to boxing's Hall of Fame.

Dempsey wasn't the only champion to dodge Langford and in those days, and with the color line still sharply drawn, they could get away with it. There was no public demand that he be given a shot at the title. It could have been any title from welterweight up because while 165 was Sam's top fighting weight he often went in at much less.

LIGHTNING FAST

Frequently giving away 40 or 50 pounds to towering opponents, Langford had massive shoulders and exceedingly long arms, carrying his weight all on top. His footwork was superb—as one writer put it, "his reflexes were just a little faster than instantaneous."

Versions differ on why Sam left Nova Scotia but there's no doubt he was welcomed there with great gusto on visits after achieving fame. At 17, then a lightweight, he beat Joe Gans, one of the most famous boxers of the day.

At 20, weighing 148, he fought Jack Johnson, who weighed 194 and was then at the peak of his form, soon to become heavyweight champ. In the sixth, Johnson toppled Sam but in the ninth round positions were reversed and at the end of 15 rounds Johnson was happy to leave the ring with a close decision.

Golfing with ALEX MORRISON
Teacher of Champions

Your left side can't lead automatically. It must be favored from the start as by gripping first with the left hand.

JACK BURKE recently found that he was slighting his left side. The corrective measures he tried didn't get the job done. They were based mainly on Intention and not Attention. I reminded him that intending to use the left side properly wasn't enough. No matter how well-trained the left side may be it never will function automatically.

In other words, it must constantly be favored in proportion to your tendency to slight it. To convert resolutions into action a number of things must be done.

One of these is gripping first with the left hand while the clubhead rests naturally on the ground and the shaft leans against your left leg. Many players favor the right hand by gripping first with the right hand when the club is off the ground or near the right leg.

Nelson Refusal Loses Match

A refusal to leave the playing field when ordered to by the referee Sunday resulted in a default victory by Trail Italicos over Nelson Hotspurs.

Joe Molnar of Nelson refused to leave the field after objecting too strenuously to refereeing regarding a score made by Trail with five minutes remaining in the first half. Molnar claimed the ball was pushed into the net.

Trail was leading 2-1 when the argument began. Pete Rose opened the scoring early in the first half for Trail. It was tied up by Nelson's Richard Eggars seconds later.

"Rinko" Held In Kimberley

KIMBERLEY — With two-thirds of the Kimberley Lions Club hockey arena completed, a public showing was organized recently.

The showing had two purposes in mind, one to show the general public the roofing of the partially completed building and the second as a fund-raising campaign.

A new game, "rinko" (similar to that of bingo) was held to aid in completing the work and call attention to the debenture bylaw which will be balloted July 19.

Located on Mark Creek, the new ice rink will replace the Kimberley arena which was condemned three years ago as unsafe.

It was undertaken by Kimberley District Projects Society. Approximately $212,000 has been spent so far to enclose and roof the building.

Title will be transferred to the city which has given initial readings to the $120,000 debenture bylaw to finance completion to the point of coming into use for the 1960-61 season. The bylaw will require a three-fifths majority by city ratepayers.

Wins One Day Before Olympic Trials Begin

WINNIPEG (CP)—Twenty-year-old Bill Slater of Vancouver's Dolphin Swim Club Monday night captured the men's 1500-metre freestyle title—one day before the 44th annual Canadian swimming and diving championships and Olympic trials were scheduled to get under way.

Officials decided to run the long race before the official opening today so as not to hold up the program which winds up Thursday night. The race was run in two heats, with the best time taking the title.

Slater won the second heat of the 60-length race at the new pool in suburban Fort Garry in the time of 18:59.6—21.5 seconds off his own Canadian record of 18:38.1 set in November, 1956, at the Olympics at Melbourne, Australia.

Fourteen-year-old Sandy Gilchrist of Ocean Falls, B.C., winner of the first heat in 19:26.2, placed second in the over - all times. Kurt Pluntke of Toronto, runner-up in the first heat, finished third in the standings.

EASY WIN

Slater, a student and captain of the swimming team at the University of Pennsylvania, had little difficulty winning his heat as he had a four-length margin over second-place Brian Gill of London at the finish of the gruelling test. Gilchrist, whose brother Allen represented Canada in the 1944, 1948 and 1952 Olympics, had an even easier victory, finishing eight lengths in front of Pluntke.

About 200 swimmers and divers will be competing for the 10 spots on Canada's team in the 1960 Olympics at Rome this summer, to be coached by John Faulkner of the University of Western Ontario.

Several Canadian record-holders are battling for positions on the squad, including Ed Cazalet of Vancouver, Steve Rabinovitch of Montreal, Bob Wheaton of Victoria, Cameron Grout of Montreal, Janice Shepp of Winnipeg, Marg Iwasaki of Vancouver and Sara Barber of Brantford, Ont.

Events today include the men's 200 metre free style, 100 metre breast stroke, 400 metre individual medley, 100 metre back stroke and the three metre spring board diving; women's 400 metre individual medley, 100 metre breast stroke and three metre spring board diving; and several boys' and girls' competitions.

French Don't Want Palmer

PARIS (AP)—Arnold Palmer flew back to the United States Monday apparently after being told that he would not be permitted to play in the French Open golf tournament.

His hotel where he had stayed only a few hours reported that the Latrobe, Pa., professional had checked out saying he was going to the airport to board a plane for New York.

Palmer decided on the spur of the moment last Friday to play in the French Open which starts at St. Cloud today. But the French Federation said that a telegram requesting entries for Palmer and Gary Player of South Africa, arrived only Monday and the entry list had been closed officially for about 10 days.

U.S. Favored To Beat Canada

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP — The United States is favored to even the series against Canada in the fourth annual International Cup best-ball golf matches here Tuesday.

The U.S. edge in its 18-hole play with Canada's eight - man pro-amateur contingent could be the host club champion, Ward Wettlauffer of Buffalo.

Wettlaufer, a member of last year's Walker Cup champions, is playing his finest golf and two weeks ago shattered the record for the 6,581-yard, par-72 country club course with a 64. He will team with U.S. captain Dow Finsterwald against the Canadian pro-amateur twosome of Stan Leonard of Vancouver and Gary Cowan of Toronto.

Julius Boros, Doug Ford and Paul Harney complete the U.S. professional gathering. Chuck Kocsis, Ed Meister and Bill Campbell are the other U.S. amatuers.

Jack Kay of Montreal, Al Balding of Toronto and Bob Cunningham Jr. of Toronto make up the remainder of the Canadian pros, who will team with amateurs Bob Panasiuk of Windsor, Bruce Castator of Toronto and Nick Weslock of Toronto.

The U.S. ended Canada's grip on the cup last season when it scored a sudden-death playoff victory. The Canadians won in 1957 and 1958.

The pairings: Boros and Kocsis against Kay and Panasiuk; Tarney and Campbell against Balding and Castator; Ford and Meister against Cunningham and Weslock; Finsterwald and Wettlaufer against Leonard and Cowan.

Seattle Team Wins Overall in Car Race

TRAIL — Entrants from the Sports Car Club of Spokane won two of the top three prizes in the Kokanee Sports Car Club's petite alpine rally with the top place overall going to an entry from the Puget Sound Sports Car Club of Seattle.

A Spokane car driven by Shiela Barrett, and navigated by her mother, Mrs. H. Barrett, won the ladies prize, or "Coupe Des Dames," in a Borgward coupe with a total of 498 penalty points.

Second in the classification was the team of Ruby Hutcheson and Joan Ryerson in a MGA from the Cascade Sports Car Club with 1141 points. Third in the ladies class was the Austin Healey Sprite of Linda Torgeson and Collete Wink of the Evergreen SCC.

The "Sump Smashers" team from Spokane won the team cars. The three cars placed fifth, sixth and 10th overall. On the team were Hubert Wendt and Dwight Goffinet in an Alfa Romeo Sprint with 285 points; Don Ernst and Ian Metz in an Austin Healey 100-Y with 260; and Dib Bendix and Jack Deno in a similar car with 321 points for a total team penalty of 847 points.

The second team, the "Team Alpine" from the Evergreen SCC, was well down in second place with 1767 points, placing cars seventh, 20th and 34th overall. Only five points behind was the third place winners, "Team Ajax" from the Yakima Valley SCC. They placed cars second, 19th, and 36th overall for 1772 points.

The rally was won by Barrie Arnett and his wife Florence, in an MG TD. The crew placed second overall after the first day's run with 58 points, then accumulated only 133 the second day to finish with 191. They are members of the Puget Sound Sports Car Club, and live in Seattle.

Second overall were the leaders after the first day, Bill Wear and Ian Hannig of the Yakima Valley SCC driving a Volvo PV544. This pair were penalized a total of 204 points.

Third overall was the crew of Henry Pettock III and his father, Henry Pettock, Sr. From the Cascade Sports Car Club of Portland, Ore., this crew, driving an Alfa Romeo Sprint, accumulated 243 points.

Four cars failed to finish the rally, two, both from the Calgary Sports Car Club, were forced to drop out midway through the second day in order to return to Calgary for work. The two other cars, one from Richland, Wash., and the other from Calgary, are believed to have dropped out after becoming discouraged by a 600 points penalty for missing a checkpoint.

They were only a couple of 17 cars that fell for a trap set by rallymaster Dr. R. H. Brisco of Trail. He arranged a checkpoint on the route at a point where the cars were to make a left turn according to instructions. The cars that drove directly into the checkpoint instead of making the turn missed a checkpoint down the other road, and were penalized accordingly.

There were ten crews entered, consisting of three cars, usually from the same club. The team points are arrived at by adding together the errors of each of the individual team cars.

The Petite Alpine is the second championship rally of the year in the international conference of northwest sports car clubs.

The conference takes in clubs throughout the Pacific Northwest, including B.C., Washington and Oregon.

Kings May Be Called Jerseys

JERSEY CITY, N.J. (AP)—Havana Sugar Kings of the International League were transferred here Monday—except for the formality of the city commission's approval — and the next problem was to find a name for the club before it plays its first game here Friday.

General manager Gabe Paul of the parent Cincinnati Reds said he was toying with the idea of calling the team the Jersey Reds or possibly the Jerseys.

Total Rises in Swim Classes

When registration for Daily News and Red Cross swimming classes was completed at Lakeside Park Monday morning, the total had risen from 252 to 283, a gain of 31.

Pool manager M. B. Slater said that 20 adults had also come forward, enough to form another class. Adult classes will be held from 7 to 8 p.m. on Mondays and Wednesdays, he said.

The Red campaign first of a series of two swimming instruction sessions, will continue through Saturday. Next week, however, classes will be held only on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday to permit staging of a water safety instruction school from July 21 to 26.

The Green campaign starts August 8 and a large number has already signed for this. Those in the Red campaign may continue in the second series by re-registering. They may also advance, with beginners passing the first test going into the junior classification, and successful juniors going up to intermediate.

KELOWNA (CP) — Bob Gillhooly, president of the Okanagan Senior Hockey League, announced here Monday that the league has accepted an invitation from Merritt to enter a team in the 1960-61 season.

The entry brings the league strength to five with Kelowna Packers, Kamloops Chiefs, Vernon Canadians and Penticton Vs the others.

Supporters Needling Stevenson

By HAROLD MORRISON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LOS ANGELES (CP) — Visit "Butler's Pantry" in this tumultuous convention city and you may sense the cruel fate of those who fail in political wars.

Tucked away in a little cubbyhole of the Democrats' downtown headquarters hotel, "Butler's Pantry" is all the reception room the hierarchy would provide Adlai Stevenson, once hailed as the party's great leader but twice defeated in presidential elections.

A small band of boisterous supporters is urging him to try again and Stevenson, 60, with the balding dome and the rolling oratory, says half-heartedly he would accept a draft, knowing none is forthcoming.

Stevenson undoubtedly would be offered the job of secretary of state if the Democrats form the next administration. And what kind of foreign policy would this man enunciate — the man labelled by his enemies as "soft on communism?"

WOULD FACE FACTS

"We will face the hard fact that international communism is today stronger than it ever was and the free world weaker," says Stevenson.

"To awaken the people, to face the realities, to stop the drift to disaster, to do the stern, brave things that must be done to meet history's greatest assault on our civilization—this now is the task of the Democratic party."

He adds: "Let no man despair lest the United States cannot take the leadership again. Let no man doubt that, shaken from our sleep, there is anything America cannot dare and do."

DORS GETS $200,000

LOS ANGELES (AP)—British actress Diana Dors has settled her $1,275,000 suit against RKO pictures incorporated for $200,000, court aides reported Miss Dors claimed the studio had agreed to pay her $200,000 upon cancelling two movies in which she was to star. She said the studio not only refused to pay but also defamed her.

DEMOLITION OF SHACKS

BURNABY (CP)—The cleanup of squatter shacks along Burnaby's six-mile Burrard Inlet waterfront will take about two months, the CPR said. The shacks are being bulldozed to the water's edge by the CPR's building and bridges department.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

A Cryptogram Quotation

R J L K Q T K T L I W G K L R U Q W Y
X S J Y W Y V W K W Q Z J A I S V Y W K J L B J

London Power Plant Workers Out On Strike

LONDON (Reuters)—A strike by power plant workers stopped most London subway trains and trolley buses early Monday, causing chaos in the rush hour.

Thousands besieged the few subway stations still operating or joined long lines for motor buses.

Many more gave up the battle and joined a long procession of workers walking to central London in drizzling rain.

The stoppage was caused by an unofficial strike over pay claims by some 300 electricians at the three main power stations supplying the transport services.

Churchill Repeats GATT Policies

OTTAWA (CP) — Trade Minister Churchill reaffirmed Monday that Canada's policy is to trade on a world-wide basis under the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade.

He was asked in the Commons by CCF House leader Hazen Argue whether the government has decided it is not axious to join any regional customs union or trade pool.

"We are carrying on under GATT and trading on a world-wide basis," Mr. Churchill said.

Mr. Argue based his question on a Canadian Press report of a speech in the Senate by Senator G. S. Thorvaldson (PC — Manitoba), president of the Conservative Party Association, which informed sources said was a statement of government trade policy.

Senator Thorvaldson said Canada should avoid becoming involved in any regional trading scheme.

How To Prevent Cabin Fever In Basement Fall-Out Shelter

By DAVE McINTOSH
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP) — How do you avoid "cabin fever" in your basement fallout shelter?

This is about the only question lacking an adequate answer in the government's recently-issued pamphlet on how to build and stock a shelter.

"Cabin fever" is an expression used by trappers to describe what happens to your nerves after being cooped up with the same person or persons for some time.

The government- recommended shelter for five persons measures nine feet four inches in length and six feet eight inches in width. It is smaller than most small bedrooms.

BREAK UP DAY

The pamphlet says a family may have to spend as long as two weeks in their shelter.

"In planning a daily routine," it says, "you should break up the day into various periods for rest, individual and group activity, cooking and feeding, shelter chores, and so on."

And that's about all the advice there is on how to keep your nerves from fraying.

Here are some tips as outlined in the pamphlet, sub-titled "Blueprint for Survival No. 1," on what to do in event of a fallout warning:

Turn on your home radio. Wait for instructions. You will be told when to go into your shelter.

KEEP CALM

"If there is time—you will be told how much—do as many of the following tasks as you can, in this order: Shield basement windows move clothes and bedding into shelter; move furniture, books, magazines, papers into room above your shelter; fill up any additional water containers; take in extra reading material; open an upstairs tap and turn off the water at the main shut-off valve.

"You must remain in the shelter until instructed to leave. The instructions likely will come from your shelter radio.

"Keep calm. Your family will look to you for leadership."

For shelter heating, cooking and lighting, use kerosene appliances. One gallon of liquid fuel a day should be adequate.

Your "major concern" in the shelter will be disposal of human waste. Use polyethylene bags, depositing them in a garbage can. Families with infants will need a two-weeks supply of disposable diapers. Provide changes of underclothing.

BATTERY RADIO

Don't use water from the tap until told it is safe to do so. Each person requires at least half a gallon of water a day.

A battery - powered radio is vital.

Beds, folding table, folding stools, cooking utensils, disposable cups and plates, knives, forks and spoons, can openers, paper towels, kerosene cooker, kerosene lamp, electric lamp and batteries and spare bulbs, flashlight, 10 gallons of kerosene; matches, garbage can, garbage bags, toilet, polyethylene bags, shovel, crowbar, axe, pocket knife, whistle, saw, screwdriver, hammer, screws, nails, pliers, fire extinguisher, half-inch rope, string, battery radio, clock, spare radio batteries and a hand basin.

Recreational supplies — calendar, books, paper, pencils, playing cards, chess, checkers and other games, crosswords and other puzzles, knitting, sewing, hobby materials.

KEEPING CLEAN

Toiletries soap, toothpaste, detergent, nail brush, razor, blades and shaving soap, women's basic cosmetics, toilet and facial tissues, face cloth, towels, brush and comb.

Personal — bedding, sweaters and socks, change of underclothing and socks, personal hygiene items for women, baby clothes, baby feeding equipment, disposable diapers, plastic sheeting.

Medical — first aid dressings and drugs, aspirins, bicarbonate of soda, cough drops, nose drops, specific medicines such as insulin, disinfectant, scissors.

Protective clothing— coverall, rubber boots, rubber gloves.

FOOD SUPPLY

Here's the list of food (per person for 14 days):

Milk—four one-pound cans.

Vegetables—six 15- or 20-ounce cans.

Fruits—six 15- or 20 - ounce cans.

Juices—six 20-ounce cans.

Cereals—14 packages.

Biscuits—two one-pound packages of crackers; two packages of cookies.

Main dish—two 12-ounce cans of meat; two cans of beef and gravy; two 15- or 20-ounce cans of beans; two jars of cheese; two eight-ounce cans of fish.

Canned and dehydrated soups —two 10-ounce cans.

Infant foods—meat and vegetable soup, precooked baby cereal, assorted strained fruits.

Other—one can of honey; two pounds of hard candy; one jar of peanut butter; one package of tea bags; one jar of sugar; one jar of instant coffee; salt and pepper; jam, syrup, molasses, jelly; chocolate powder, chewing gum.

Copies of the pamphlet may be obtained from: Emergency Measures Organization, Privy Council office, East Block, Ottawa.

268 Rescued From Violent Eruption

NOUMEA, New Caledonia (Reuters)—A rescue ship Monday evacuated all 268 inhabitants of a tiny Pacific island following the violent eruption of a previously-extinct volcano there.

Messages reaching here said almost the entire five-mile-wide island of Le Lopevi in the New Hebrides was "on fire." The island lies 1,500 miles northeast of Sydney, Australia.

A giant cloud of smoke and red-hot cinders was visible 100 miles from the island after the volcano erupted Sunday afternoon. A pilot flying over the area said the northwestern section of the island appeared to have been completely burned out.

The island of Pau Uma, nine miles from Le Lopvei, was covered by cinders.

According to the messages, a trading vessel with a doctor and nurse aboard set out from the Paton Memorial Hospital in the New Hebrides to evacuate the terrified inhabitants of Le Lopevi.

West Germany In Favor of Reunification

OTTAWA (CP)—West German Ambassador H. E. Herbert Siegfried said Monday that the "leading political idea" of West Germany is "based on the aspect and the firm hope of national reunification."

Mr. Siegfried told an Ottawa Rotary Club that the nation split by the eastern and western camps is "only artificially divided."

"As every nation has a right of self determination, the majority of the people on both sides of the Iron Curtain are conscious that this basic right can never be abandoned."

He said the 13,000,000 refugees in Western Germany and "almost the whole population of the Communist - ruled Soviet zone, who suffer most by this division, are the stronghold for the idea of reunification which is ahred by all political parties.

Mr. Siegfried said the problem can only be settled "within the framework of a freely negotiated all - German peace treaty with due regard for self - determination for the whole German nation."

Tokyo Cabinet May Resign Before Weekend

TOKYO (Reuters) — Cabinet secretary Eitsudaburo Shiina said Monday that the cabinet would resign Wednesday if the opposition parties would agreed to the nomination of a new premier in the Diet (parliament) Thursday.

The ruling Liberal Democratic party is expected to vote Wednesday to select a successor to Nobusuke Kishi, who announced his intention to resign June 23.

The opposition Socialist party and the Democratic Socialist party—a small splinter group of the Socialists — have boycotted Diet proceedings since May 19 when the Liberal Democrats pushed through the revised Japan - United States security treaty and extended the current Diet session. The session ends Friday.

A spokesman for the Socialist party said Monday the party would attend a lower house plenary session for the nomination of a new premier if the Liberal Democrats agreed to dissolve the Diet at the earliest possible date.

A Democratic Socialist spokesman said his party would attend if the Socialists did.

Publisher Dies On Fishing Trip In Quebec

CHICAGO (AP) — Chesser M. Campbell, who rose from a subscription salesman to become president of the Tribune Company and publisher of The Chicago Tribune, died Sunday in Baie Comeau, Que. He was 62.

Death tentatively was attributed to a heart attack.

He was on a fishing vacation in Baie Comeau, site of a Tribune newsprint plant. With him were Roy C. Ingersoll, chairman of Borg - Warner Corp.; Franklin Lunding, chairman of jewel Tea Co.; and Kenneth Zweinert, president of Harris Trust and Savings Bank.

The Tribune Company also owns Chicago's American and the News Syndicate Company, which publishes The New York News, highest-circulating newspaper in the United States.

Campbell was native of Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., where he began his newspaper career as a $10 a-week correspondent for the Sault Ste. Marie (Ont.) Star in 1915. He graduated from the University of Michigan in 1921.

Campbell turned down an offer to join the Detroit News as a financial writer and travelled to Europe. There he joined the now-defunct Paris edition of The Tribune as a subscription salesman. He worked his way up through Tribune positions until, in 1935, he became advertising manager, a post he held until 1949.

He became treasurer of the Tribune Company in 1946, vice-president in 1951 and president in 1955, when he also became publisher of the Chicago Tribune.

Police, Guards, Patrol Streets In New Delhi

NEW DELHI (Reuters)—Some 7,000 police and national guards Monday patrolled strategic points in New Delhi as the nation braced for a threatening nation-wide strike by 2,000,000 government workers.

Police rounded up strike leaders who announced they would defy a government order declaring the strike illegal.

The strike, which threatened to be the biggest labor dispute in independent India's 13-year history, was due to start at midnight Monday.

The Indian cabinet met to discuss the latest developments. The government has decided to dismiss low - ranking employees who join the strike.

Many groups of workers plan to ignore the strike call.

Long lines of unemployed formed outside government offices and offered their services to man essential departments.

The workers Sunday repeated compromise proposals and said they expected virtually all civil servants to join the walkout in a demand for a series of pay increases.

Rome Urged To Protect Public From Bad Films

VATICAN CITY (AP)—Domenico Cardinal Tardini, Vatican secretary of state, said Monday government authorities "should intervene more decisively" in protecting the public from "harmful" movie films.

In a letter written at the direction of Pope John, he said intervention by public authorities in the motion picture field was "not only possible and desirable but becoming more and more necessary." The letter was sent to a meeting in Vienna of the international Catholic office of cinema called to debate the theme, "cinema, youth and public powers."

Egg-Throwing Charges Dismissed

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont. (CP) Charges against a youth of Lithuanian descent who splattered the mayor of Moscow with a raw egg June 24 were dismissed in magistrate's court Monday.

Janusonis, son of a Lithuanian immigrant, pleaded not guilty on both charges. He said he threw two eggs at Mayor Nikoli Bobrovniko but "didn't intend to cause anyone any physical harm."

"I wanted to create an incident that would be heard from coast to coast and would shake Canadians from their state of sleep so they would realize the folly of having such Soviet agents visit here," he said.
