St. Joseph's Orderlies Now Join Surgical Teams

By JOHN MATTERS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

VICTORIA (CP) — Hospital orderlies, traditionally looked upon as the bedpan and back-rub experts, have assumed a new status here as members of surgical teams.

A class of seven orderlies graduated at St. Joseph's Hospital Tuesday as operating room technicians. They will perform the duties of scrub nurses, counting sponges and needles and handing the surgeon necessary equipment.

Dr. E. N. Boettcher, medical superintendent of the 497-bed hospital, said the orderlies, most of them in their 40s, were given the special training program to lend continuity to surgical teams. It is the first time this has been done in a hospital in western Canada.

"Unlike nurses where there is a greater turn-over of staff, most of the men are married and settled with families," said Dr. Boettcher. "We will now have operating room staffs which not only will have worked together for months, but we hope years."

The status of the registered nurse in the new set-up is not threatened, nor will her role substantially change.

She still will have to answer to the surgeon and be responsible to him for the instruments and minor procedures. She will, in effect, remain the surgeon's or assistant surgeon's "right-hand man."

Dr. Boettcher hopes that soon the specially-trained orderly will have a place in the hospital's central sterile supply, where dressings and instruments are dispatched. He will probably be responsible for intravenous preparations and oxygen equipment.

In recent years the number of persons requiring hospital treatment has sharply increased, and so has the number and variety of treatments.

"The demands for treatment have grown faster than the number of trained staff and as a result we have had to distribute nursing responsibilities among more staff," said Dr. Boettcher.

The operating room technician will only work on male patients. There are about 150 operations performed at St. Joseph's each week, half of them on males.

RUSSIANS GUILTY IF BERLIN PEACE DISTURBED – JFK

By JOHN HEFFERNAN

WASHINGTON (Reuters) — President Kennedy warned the Soviet Union Wednesday it would make a "grave mistake" if it under-estimated Allied resolve with regard to Berlin.

"There is peace in Germany and Berlin," he told his press conference. "If it is disturbed, it will be a direct Soviet responsibility."

He declined to go into plans for a possible mobilization of forces which he might have in mind to meet the situation, saying that recommendations on the subject had not yet reached him.

Premier Khrushchev's latest comment on the Berlin situation was made shortly before the president held his press conference.

This was Kennedy's first meeting with the press since returning from his Vienna meeting with Khrushchev at the beginning of June.

After demonstrating the seriousness with which he viewed the threat posed to Berlin and the firmness of the United States government about meeting its commitments, the president made it plain that the Unied States stood ready to negotiate with the Soviet Union on the question of Germany and Berlin.

"We shall always be ready to discuss any proposals which would give increased protection to the right people of Berlin to exercise their independent choice as free men."

$10,000 Research Results In VANCOUVER (CP) — Two professors, in a monumental two-year study of health and welfare problems, have bared a cancerous growth of crime, delinquency, prostitution and immorality here.

The findings of the $10,000 research project, financed by a grant from the Leon and Thea Koerner Foundation, were released this week by the Greater Vancouver Community Chest.

The study revealed a crime rate above the Canadian average; a delinquency rate twice the national level; a national clearing house for illegitimate births; misconceptions about the services and necessity of welfare agencies; overlapping of services by 350 public and private organizations; and the need for a detailed study in organized prostitution.

Prof. Michael Wheeler of the University of British Columbia school of social work, wrote a 260-page report on welfare and Prof. Bernard R. Blishen of the UBC department of anthropology and sociology, wrote a similar volume on health.

It is the first complete cataloguing of health and welfare services in B.C., said Dr. Lawrence E. Ranta, chairman of the chest's advisory committee on research.

The report unveiled a crime conviction rate of 55 per 1,000 population compared with the national average of 16 per 1,000 population.

Prof. Wheeler, reporting more than 16,000 illigitmate births registered in B.C. between 1951 and 1958, said less than 6,000 illegitimate children were placed for adoption.

"What accounts for this discrepancy and what happens to the children who were not adopted?" he asked in recommending research into the problem.

He said the rate of illegitimacy in B.C. has increased more than one third in 20 years, but this cannot be interpreted as a reflection of increased immorality "because large numbers of women come to Vancouver from other provinces to have their babies."

There are serious gaps in the care of unmarried mothers, the report said. Referrals often are delayed until the last stages of pregnancy; maternity homes are overcrowded and psychiatric consultation available falls far short of the need.

"Probably one of the most important questions concerns those women and girls who become illegitimately pregnant, but do not have babies. The problem of induced abortions is a major one, but a largely unexplored area of social concern."

Prof. Blishen recommended a study of organized prostitution to determine the channels of recruitment, environment of recruits, organization of fees, methods of reaching customers and where they go after that.

PNR MUST POST BOND

Railway Not Built in Day But Beavers Still Work

By JIM PEACOCK
Canadian Press Staff Writer

SUMMIT LAKE, B.C. (CP)—A year ago today, Premier Bennett of British Columbia took a power saw in hand and cut down a symbolic fir.

"Work will never stop until this railway reaches the Yukon," the premier was quoted as saying before a gathering of notables who assembled at a clearing here to mark the official start of construction of the Pacific Northern Railway.

That occasion came just one day ahead of the date specified in 1956 agreements between Axel Wenner-Gren, Swedish financier, and the B.C. government as the deadline for start of a construction on the proposed 600-mile-long $300,000,000 rail line to the Yukon boundary.

It took place in a clearing, roughly 200 yards wide and three miles long, that was designated as the PNR marshalling yards.

Today, on the first anniversary of the formal opening, only the beavers are still working.

The symbolic tree lies where it came down, weeds and underbrush growing up around it. The gaily - decorated platform from which Premier Bennett and PNR prsident Bernard Gore spoke confidently of the future lies broken and weather worn. Bare lodge poles are all that remain of the surveyors' tents where the day's refreshments were served.

Some 1,200 persons did seek employment at the NES office in Prince George, 30 miles south where the PNR now is the frequent butt of the community's jokesters. None of them was hired by the line, which has employed a maximum of 14 men for less than three months.

WEST'S POLICY 'BARREN'

K at Kremlin Looses Tirade Against West

Speech for Pham Van Dong

By JOHN MILLER

MOSCOW (Reuters) — Russia is preparing for a possible military showdown with the West after the signing of a separate Soviet-East German peace treaty this year, Premier Khrushchev said Wednesday.

The premier told a cheering crowd of 2000 packing the great Kremlin Hall that an "artificial" rise in East-West tension would follow conclusion of the treaty.

But the pact will not result in a Berlin blockade and access to the city will not be hindered, he said.

(Communist East Germany announced that starting Aug. 1 all foreign air traffic entering or leaving East German air space must notify East German authorities by radio. At present the American - Soviet - French-British air traffic centre in Berlin controls flights to Berlin.)

POSED ON BRINK

The premier said the West was poised on the brink of war where it was led by former President Eisenhower and the late secretary of state John Foster Dulles.

"They are now trying to pursue this barren policy contrary to common sense and their own interests."

Khrushchev said Russia will sign a separate pact with East Germany by Dec. 31 unless the United States, France and Britain join with Russia in negotiating a treaty with both East and West Germany.

He said Russia will neither be threatened nor drawn into lengthy negotiations.

The occasion for the speech was a Soviet - Vietnamese "friendship" meeting with visiting Communist North Vietnamese Premier Pham Van Dong as honored guest.

"If opponents of peace and peaceful coexistence proclaim mobilization, we shall not allow them to catch us unawares," Khrushchev said. "We are taking the necessary measures and if need be we shall take additional measures to strengthen our military capacity, our security."

Bill 42's Checkoff Ban Assures Free Choice–Gov't Case

VANCOUVER (CP)—Counsel for the British Columbia government Wednesday described the province's new ban on use of union checkoff funds for political purposes as a measure designed to assure "free and unfettered political choice" to the individual.

The new rule, contained in Bill 42 of the last legislature session, prevents the individual union member being "shackled" to a particular political party against his will, said Douglas McK. Brown.

Mr. Brown is appearing for the attorney-general in a case testing the new amendment to the B.C. Labor Relations Act which permits deductions of dues from wages by an employer only for unions which undertake not to use such money for political purposes.

"It does not deprive the union member of any of his rights as a voter and if he happens to favor the New Party he is not prevented from making voluntary contributions to it," said Mr. Brown.

"The trade union he belongs to is free to encourage this if it so wishes," he said.

Counsel for the Oil, Chemical and Atomic Workers Union (CLC), which is challenging the constitutional validity of the measure in the B.C. Supreme Court test case, has said the purpose of the amendment is to "destroy the New Party almost at birth."

The union maintains that such legislation strikes at the principles of British parliamentary rule by interfering with a political party, and therefore cannot be enacted by any province.

Mr. Brown said Wednesday use of checkoff funds for political party purposes would amount to moral persuasion of union members to vote for that party. He said the province is well within its rights in seekng to prevent such violation of fundamental freedoms.

The case is being brought by way of a suit by the union against Imperial Oil Limited for failure to checkoff dues in accordance with the company's collective agreement with the union.

COMMONS URGE CBC INQUIRY

OTTAWA (CP) — An inquiry into the CBC's $100,000,000-a-year operations by a team of efficiency experts was urged Wednesday in the final report of the Commons broadcasting committee.

Ignored by the report was the CBC's plea for a five-year guaranteed income of public funds in an amount fixed by law — a proposal that would end annual government control of CBC spending.

Both committee steps had been urged by auditor-general Maxwell Henderson "in the light of apprehension over the manner in which the corporation spends its money."

Coupled with this move by the Conservative - dominated committee was a recommendation for a shake-up of the CBC board of directors under which corporation executives would be takn off the policy-making body—namely, president J. Alphonse Ouimet and vice-president Capt. W. E. S. Briggs.

The board should be expanded to 15 members from 11 and the chairman should be named by the government, the committee said.

At present the directors are appointed by the government but have elected their own chairman—Robert L. Dunsmore of Halifax — despite opposition protests that Parliament intended the president to be chairman.

J. W. Pickersgill (L—Bonavista-Twillingate), a committee member, said outside the Commons he was absent from sittings Monday and Tuesday when the report apparently was written, and the recommendations are "totally unacceptable" to the Liberal party.

Trail Pipe Breaks; Water Gush Hits

TRAIL—One million gallons of water escaped from the Sunningdale steel storage reservoir early Wednesday and a serious shortage of water developed throughout East Side residential and commercial areas.

The department of works and services placed a ban upon sprinkling in Sunningdale, East Trail, Shavers Bench and Glenmerry, or the use of water for any purpose other than drinking.

Supplies were restored to the Trail-Tadanac Hospital by putting Violin Lake water over the bridge line to the east side of the Columbia River.

Speaking for city engineer Bill DiPasquale, assessor Frank Banton said the million gallon runaway took place when a line leading from the Sunningdale tank into the main distribution system fractured.

It is believed the break took place about three a.m., but the full extent of the damage did not become apparent until seven a.m.

The escaping waters plowed two deep gullies in the side of the bench on which the reservoir stands.

Apparently a piece of pipe broke away and smashed a large hole into the side of the Sunningdale No. 1 pump station.

Into this hole, the water pushed hundreds of yards of debris, mostly gravel, which completely surrounded switching and control gear insied the station.

City crews began the laborious task of shovelling out the debris which reached almost to the ceiling of the station.

The grounds of the Sunningdale pumping stations are covered with pools of water and mud but the pumps presumably are not damaged.

A bulldozer is at work removing great masses of debris which surround the damaged No. 1 station.

All of the windows in the station have been shattered.

The million-dollar tank at Sunningdale and ancillary equipment were installed a couple of years ago in the course of a quarter-million dollar bylaw improvement program.

At the same time, a $300,000-gallon steel reservoir was built at Glenmerry.

The night's unfortunate events also saw this tank drained ry.

Suntan Costs $3

NEW YORK (AP)—The local lads who like to shuck their shirts to sunbathe or show off their handsome torsos found out Wednesday it costs $3.

Two who did it to sunbathe in a park were fined $3 each by magistrate Walter Bayer on a charge of indecent exposure. He said:

"At the beach it's wonderful, but on city streets, keep your shirts on."

Premier Douglas Willing Federal Chief If Elected

By SCOTT SCHILL
Canadian Press Staff Writer

REGINA (CP)—Premier T. C. (Tommy) Douglas, who was called from federal politics in 1941 to lead the provincial CCF party, announced at a press conference Wednesday that he will return to the federal scene if the New Party should elect him leader.

The New Party founding convention will be held July 31-Aug. 4 in Ottawa.

The only other person known to be seeking the New Party leadership is national CCF leader Hazen Argue.

Mr. Douglas made it clear, however, that he is not going to campaign for the leadership.

"I have always said the job should seek the man, not the man the job," he said.

Mr. Douglas, 56, first was elected to the House of Commons as the representative of the southeastern centre of Weyburn in 1935.

PREMIER SINCE 1944

He was re-elected in 1940, but the following year was named leader of the provincial party. He led the CCF to victory in 1944 and has been premier since then.

Mr. Douglas will resign as premier at the Saskatchewan CCF convention Nov. 1 - 3 in Saskatoon if he is chosen as New Party leader.

However, before he leaves Saskatchewan, he will preside over the birth of a medical care program this fall.

Prepaid medical insurance has been a lifelong goal of the premier's ever since he escaped amputation of one leg when a specialist took him on as a charity case when he was a boy in Winnipeg.

Mr. Douglas said legislation on the medical care program likely will come at a special October session. The program will start early in 1961.

At the provincial CCF meeting in Saskatoon, a new political leader will be chosen if Mr. Douglas is named New Party leader, and the new provincial leader will be sworn in immediately as premier.

The betting on the next premier favors Provincial Treasurer Woodrow S. Lloyd, 47.

NOT THE ONLY CHOICE

Mr. Lloyd said Wednesday that suggestion from his colleagues in the government or in the provincial CCF party should not be taken to infer that he is the only choice to succeed Mr. Douglas.

Asked if he will seek the premiership, Mr. Lloyd said he was grateful that some people in the CCF have been generous enough to suggest him as a possible new premier.

He would not comment further.

NOT A PROMOTION

Mr. Douglas said he has no illusions that the New Party leadership would be a promotion.

By moving from his present post, he not only would lose the authority of a provincial premier, but would, as a member of Parliament, take a one-third cut in pay. The premier's salary is $9,500 a year, plus sessional indemnity of $4,800 and expenses.

ALAMEDA, Calif. (AP)—Kenneth Owen Cole, 40, a welder, will spend the next 22 weekends in jail and undergo psychiatric treatment — to rid himself of a compulsion for go-carts.

Judge Marvin Sherwin passed the sentence Tuesday when Cole pleaded guilty to stealing $4000 worth of go-cart equipment in four burglaries.

Sherwin compared Cole's compulsion for racing the little motorized carts to alcoholism or narcotics addiction.

LONDON (AP)—The Guards were snapping angrily at their chinstraps Wednesday — someone had sent them a truckload of shampoo to put that glossy, glamorous sheen into their dry bearskins.

Guardsmen never shampoo their bearskins.

The shampoo — 576 of them in handy plastic sachets — were delivered to Wellington Barracks Tuesday. There was one for every man in the Scots Guard garrison.

The puzzled sergeant-of-the-guard took delivery.

Dutifully, he reported to Capt. James Dunsmuir, the arrival of the goods. A hoax by some guards officer, the captain guessed, and phoned around. He made no progress.

"I'm still investigating," he snapped Wednesday.

TAMPA, Fla. (AP)—Bird watchers have the rare opportunity of observing a crazy, mixed-up woodpecker who dislikes wood but just loves metal roofs.

Seems this disoriented bird prefers to pit his bill against the metal roof of the Joseph Canto home instead of the nice soft trees which abound in the area.

Playground Staff Survey Today Sparks New Program

Today marks the start of the Community survey conducted by the Playgorund staff of the Recreation Department. The playground directors and leaders who will be working in each neighborhood will be making house calls, explaining the playground program, inviting everyone to participate in the activities and accepting volunteer help in running off the "Opening Day" events.

This year the Playground summer program will be conducted at Lakeside Park, Uphill Park. Junior High School, Hume School and new areas in Rosemont, Upper Fairview and Central Nelson.

Opening Day for the summer playground schedule is set for Wednesday, July 5, at 2:00 p.m. on the four large areas. This year's theme is "Family Fun in '61" and a large portion of each parks program will be geared to the evening sessions to encourage the older teens and adults to the park. The first day of regular Playground program will follow on Thursday.

"Opening Day" programs lined up by the Playground staff will include a "Variety" type program of parades with decorated bicycles, trikes, wagons and doll carriages. Each area will have a ribbon cutting ceremony by a local dignitary. Games, peanut scrambles, races of all descriptions, ribbon prizes for costumes and decorated vehicles and softball games for Moms and Dads in the evening are planned.

Lakeside Park will be under the direction of Nan Hendrickson, director, and Diane Taylor, playleader. Last year Nan worked at Hume School playground as a leader, making this her second year on the playground staff. Nan's top interest is art, music and storytelling. This will be Diane's first summer as a playleader and list music and athletics as her favorite phases of the recreation summer program. Diane will be entering Grade 12 next year at L. V. Rogers High and plans a career in home economics when she graduates.

Supervision of Hume School playground will be handled by Pat Gordon, director, and Vicki Sparkes, playleader. This is Pat's second year in Playground work as last year she spent the summer at Lakeside at a leader. Pat is another graduate of L.V. Rogers High and plans to continue her career in teaching. Another newcomer to the playground staff, Vicki rates her major interest as art and music in the summer program. A graduate of L. V. Rogers this year she plans to continue on a nursing career.

Staff supervisor and special events director this year will be Bev Ward, who worked last year on the Junior High playground. The organization of city-wide special events will be one of the important phases of Bev's work this summer along with daily program assistance on various parks and playgrounds during the summer. Bev graduated from L. V. Rogers and will enter the same school this fall for her senior matriculation to continue her career to become a teacher.

IN FIRST YEAR

The junior high playground will have Patti Hooker director with Mike Laughton leader as the combination for this summer's program. Both Patti and Mike are first year supervisors with crafts and athletics to be their specialty in their all-around summer playground program. Pat is entering her senior matric year at L.V. Rogers towards her future career in nursing with Mike a grade 12 student at the same school planning to enter the education field as a PE teacher.

Third year director Doreen Spiers has been appointed to head the "Travelling Team" of the playground staff which will pioneer the new areas undertaken by the recreation department this year. Assisting her will be Shirley Bird, first year playground leader who will attend Grade 11 at L. V. Rogers this year.

The areas covered by this new "team" will be Upper Fairview, Rosemont and Central Nelson. Doreen has had previous experience at Uphill and Lakeside Park and along with Shirley will present a program that will encompass at least three of the five phases of the playground program.

Two newcomers to the playground staff are slated to operate the Uphill playground this summer. Peggy Joinson as director with Sheila Munch, leader, headline their special interests as athletics, music and games for their daily highlights in summer program. Peggy and Sheila are graduates of L.V. Rogers this year and will pursue their respective careers as lab technician and elementary teacher.

Roger Florio will be the office and equipment assistant for this year. He will also be the coordinator for special events and inter-park visits assisting all the playground directors in equipment maintenance and supplies. Roger is entering Grade 12 this fall at L.V. Rogers High.

The playground staff have just completed a 60-hour in-service training course over the past two months with emphasis on the five phases of the total playground program. 1. Art and handicraft; 2, athletics and low organized games; 3, music and dancing; 4, drama; 5, special events. The course also included instruction in first aid, program planning, day camping, publicity and public relations.

The leadership combinations placed on each area have been selected with an eye to the development of a well balanced program with activities planned and leadership avaliable for all interests and age groups.

Plans are again underway to stage some of the successful annual city wide events such as the penny carnival, water gala, Indian Days with a view to adding some new and exciting events and days for the coming summer holidays. Enthusiasm is high at the Recreation Department as the playground staff and recreation director Ernie Gare look forward to opening day and a successful playground season.

Rocket Carries Three Satellites

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — A triple-header rocket late Wednesday night hurled into orbit an unprecedented three satellites, including the first space package ever to carry an atomic battery.

The United States success sent the space triplet whirling into separate but almost identical orbits nearly 600 miles above the earth.

Officials indicated the nuclear device was working and that signals were being received from all three payloads.

MOSCOW (AP) — More than 150 athletes from 22 nations, including the United States, will compete in an international track and field meet in Moscow, July 1-2.

Grand Forks Man Hurt In Runaway

WARFIELD — A Grand Forks man is in satisfactory condition in Trail-Tadanac Hospital following a truck accident here at noon Wednesday.

Mike Antifev, a Public Freightways driver, suffered lacerations to the ear and shoulder and a crushed chest following a pileup coming down the Rossland hill.

He was trapped inside the cab of the semi-trailer and had to be rescued by members of the Warfield Volunteer Fire Department.

It is believed the brakes on the huge truck failed as it rounded the last curve prior to the village.

Police speculate he decided to turn up Tennyson Avenue to avoid an accident and to slow the speed of the transport. The speed was such that he overturned, however.

Ferry Service Speeded Up

Stepped up service becomes effective on the Kootenay Lake ferries, July 1.

The ferry will leave Balfour at 50 minute intervals from 6:00 a.m. until 11:30 p.m. There will be one ferry from Balfour after that time, leaving at 1:10 a.m.

Service from Kootenay Bay will be every 50 minutes from 6:50 a.m. until 12:20 a.m. The last ferry from Kootenay Bay will be at 2:00 a.m.

No Word on Coin Laundry Operation

Effects of the Supreme Court of Canada ruling Monday that it is illegal to operate automatic coin laundries on Sundys have yet to be felt in Nelson.

City police chief R. E. Harshaw said Wednesday his department will take no action until advised to do so by the attorney-general's department.

The ruling, based on an Ontario test case under the Lord's Day Act, is adverse to ruling of the B.C. Attorney-general's department last November. It claimed that the coin machines did not come under the Lord's Day Act.

Attorney-General Robert Bonner, though, was reported as saying this week that the court decision would overrule the department's opinion. His department will study the question, he is reported to have said.

At the same time he said laundromat operators should consult their solicitors before remaining open this Sunday.

New Contract Signed at Canadian Ex

SALMO — A two-year contract embodying wage increases from four and a half to six and a half cents an hour was signed here Wednesday between Canadian Exploration Limited and Local 901, International Union of Mine Mill and Smelter Workers.

The increase is retroactive to May 9.

Certain issues regarding holidays were also settled. Local 901 represents 160 men.

Increases of six and a half cents an hour were given the two top categories, which includes journeymen and tradesmen. A five and a half cent increase was obtained by the next category and all others, four and a half cents.

Negotiations have been in progress since March.

Harvey Murphy, western vice-president of the I.U.M.M.S.W., represented the union. Canadian Exploration was represented by G. A. Gordon.

Initials Reversed

P. J. Markin of 29 Ymir Road was fined $15 on a speeding charge when he appeared before Magistrate R. S. Nelson in city police court this week.

A story in Wednesday's paper described the accused as J. P. Markin, giving no address. It did not refer to J. P. Markin of 812 Mill Street.

20 Accidents

No fatalities were recorded in the Nelson RCMP subdivision for the week ending Sunday, June 25.

There were 20 accidents and 12 prosecutions.

In the province there were 249 accidents, seven fatal accidents and 13 fatalities and 123 prosecutions.

Action on Release Request Still Awaited

No word has yet been received on the request for the release of Laura Bayoff from the provincial mental hospital at Essondale, Stipendiary Magistrate William Evans said Wednesday.

A week ago a delegation of Sons of Freedom women called upon Magistrate Evans to ask for the release of Peter and Mary Astaforoff of Grand Forks and Nastia Hadikin of Crescent Valley. At that time he said he would aid only the sister of Mrs. Bayoff of Creston in gaining her sister's release.

He has contacted the attorney-general's department on the issue but has yet to receive a reply.

At the same time the whereabouts of the proposed telegram-petition to be sent to Minister of Justice Davie Fulton in Ottawa is also unknown.

The telegram was to be circulated in the Doukhobor areas as a petition demanding the government to release Peter and Mary Astaforoff and Nastia Hadikin from government custody. All three were sentenced on arson convictions at the Spring assize in Vernon this year.

Jail Term Given

A second conviction of impaired driving resulted in a 30-day jail term and a licence suspension of 12 months for Kurt H. Brauner of Nelson Wednesday. He appeared before Stipendiary Magistrate William Evans.

L. E. Mathews of Calgary was fined $25 on a speeding charge. The offence occurred at Balfour.

Trail's 60th Jubilee Celebration Gets Off to an Enthusiastic Start

TRAIL—This week's Trail Diamond Jubilee celebrations have started off in high gear with an enthusiastic reception of Tuesday night's mass band concert by a crowd of 2000 citizens.

This bodes well for good reception of the rest of the jubilee festivities after a slow start Sunday with poor attendance at the open air church service.

Leo Levey was chairman for Tuesday night's mass band concert, which featured the music of five well-known aggregations: Trail Maple Leaf Band, Sea Cadet Band, Trail Pipe Band, 24th Regimental Band, 44th RCE Pipe Band.

Second feature of this colorful Jubilee Week — the weatherman has co-operated 100 per cent so far — was staged at the Junior High Wednesday night.

TOP ENTERTAINMENT

Featured was the Trail Little Theatre performing "Box and Cox" — which won the West Kootenay Drama Festival earlier this year — and the Rossland Light Opera, which produced "Trial by Jury." The Golden City Four barbershop quartet sang during intermissions. This entertainment has been the project of Trail Rotarians.

Ticket sales have picked up for tonight's International Night. A project of the ambitious Trail Junior Chamber of Commerce, it will be held at the Cominco Arena starting at 6:30.

A smorgasbord supper will feature Jewish, German, Scottish, Chinese, Italian, Ukrainian and Doukhobor dishes. Tickets have been so arranged that each person is assured of a good helping of each dish.

Jaycee president Bob Darrah said children under 15 would be admitted free. Hotdogs are available for those children desiring them.

An international style concert will follow the supper and then a dance.

Geno LeRose said the famed Four Knights quartet had telephoned him to assure him they would arrive Friday morning in time for an appearance at the Trail Creek Night festivities Friday night, also at the Cominco Arena.

Bingo and games of skill will also be featured at the Trail Creek Night, plus dancing where the Four Knights will put on their show. Again, admittance is free for those under 15.

The Grand Ball Saturday night will also be held in the Cominco Arena. The Four Knights will put on two shows for the big crowd anticipated.

Guests of honor will be B.C. Lt.-Gov. George Pearkes and Mrs. Pearkes — making their first visit to the Kootenays since Mr. Pearkes took over as lieutenant-governor.

A top attraction Friday night at Jubilee Park starting at six o'clock will be the hose and reel competition. Competing will be fire departments from Trail, Tadanac, Rossland, Warfield, Castlegar, Kinnaird, Fruitvale and Montrose.

The Grand Parade and crowning of the Jubilee Queen will take place Saturday, while the Lions Club conducts its barrel derby that same day. The kiddies sports day will also be held on Shavers Bench Saturday.

An executive meeting of the Diamond Jubilee Committee was held Wednesday to wind up all loose ends.

Others on the executive of the jubilee committee, besides Mel Monkhouse, include Geno LeRose, Isadore McLaughlin, Fred Jackson and Mrs. Hilda Read.

Water Clear of Nitrate Says Health Unit M.O.

CASTLEGAR — In the Village of Castlegar, the water is now perfectly safe to give to infants, states Medical Health Officer, Dr. James Lindsay of the West Kootenay Health Unit.

At the height of the flood, a high concentration of nitrate, which can be harmful to babies under six months of age, was present in the water from the deep wells of the village. This condition has now cleared up and the water is reported to be pure and wholesome.

Balfour Water System Meet Well Attended

BALFOUR—T. Craigdallie was re-elected trustee at a well-attended meeting at Balfour Hall of the Balfour Community Water System. Mr. Craigdallie gave a report of the progress to date, and a canvass of the district will be carried out soon.

Need for better drinking water continues to be the major concern.

C. L. Race stated that he was the last surviving member of the original Balfour Irrigation Project, which had to be abandoned due to lack of funds, and he urged the people to co-operate so the good work accomplished to date would not be lost.

FOUR BOYS JOIN CUB PACK

The Cubs and their leaders, Mr. and Mrs. D. James, wound up activities till the fall with an Indian and priate night.

Indians and pirates in colorful costumes sang and danced around a bonfire at Taghum beach. Games were played, stories told and a weiner roast enjoyed.

W. Kootenay Board Endorses Okanagan Fluoridation Issue

TRAIL — Fluoridation of water supplies was among subjects covered by four resolutions endorsed at yesterday's meeting of the West Kootenay board of health.

The North Okanagan health unit sought the support of the West Kootenay unit for the resolution on fluoridation.

This resolution would make possible the fluoridation of municipal water supplies under two circumstances: the council itself could decide to fluoridate the water without conducting a plebiscite, or it could be required to do so at the request of ten per cent of the population of the municipality.

Dr. Lindsay commented that this resolution was modeled on legislation recently passed in Ontario after a royal commission had indicated its favor of such legislation.

Noting the support of board members for the North Okanagan resolution, chairman Alf Webb commented: "I don't see it could do any harm for us to endorse this resolution, and it could do a lot of good."

PSYCHIATRIC FACILITIES

A copy of a resolution from the Selkirk board of health in Nelson sought the West Kootenay board's support for a resolution seeking better psychiatric facilities in the interior.

The Selkirk unit expressed dissatisfaction with existing facilities that brings a psychiatric clinic to the Nelson area only twice a year.

Commenting on the resolution, Dr. Lindsay pointed out that no established psychiatric clinic existed in the province east or north of Vancouver.

The Trail area was in a better position than the Nelson district, however, said the doctor, for the clinic visited Trail every two months. He thought this better service was a result of representations made by the West Kootenay health unit two years ago.

The board agreed, however, to endorse the Selkirk health unit's resolution, for members felt there was a definite need for an established psychiatric clinic in the area.

A further resolution from the Selkirk Unit deplored the lack continuity in dental consul services in the area. Membe the local board endorsed resolution too.

Delegation, Council To Meet On July 10

KINNAIRD — Twenty five Kinnaird residents have requested a meeting with the village council on the domestic water situation through Pat Romaine, who spoke to village chairman before Tuesday night's meeting.

Mr. Romaine was spokesman for the group last March when the delegation visited council with a lengthy list of petitioners names, protesting pollution of the Columbia, asking for action in rectifying the drinking water supply, launching a campaign in favor of the village's present communications with both the Provincial Pollution Control Board and the West Kootenay board. The delegation has been invited to attend the regular council meeting, July 10.

R. Bowering of the Division of Public Health Engineering will be on hand to view the river pollution problem at first hand, July 20. This announcement came at the Kinnaird village meeting Tuesday as Comm. G. Rust reported his recent talk with public health official, Dr. J. H. Lindsay at the West Kootenay meeting in Trail.

Chairman Carl Loeblich predicted a great deal of activity for the first weeks in July, saying that the gushing expulsion of Celgar waste is readily detected from the air overlooking the waters of the Columbia close to the Celgar mill.

PROTEST DUMP SITE

Further in connection with the campaign against river pollution wil be an effort to halt Castlegar from dumping garbage at their present site. Mr. Rust brought the matter to the full attention of the local pollution board. An appointment will be made for him to attend the next regular meeting of the Castlegar council.

He expressed concern over the lack of dumping facilities for the unorganized territories and felt that some arrangement should be made in cooperation with these areas to take care of garbage dumping in a proper manner.

Considerable usage of water in the village had been noted by way of the dramatic drop in the water level of the storage tank immediately before sprinkling regulations were effected Saturday. The abrupt realization of the need for the regulation came after a small bush fire was successfully put out that day. Restrictions met with full cooperation of residents and no shortage is anticipated for the rest of the season.

Other business at the meeting concerned the possible hiring of Associated Engineers to work out a proper water system for the new subdivision bordering village boundaries in the Merry Creek area. Contact will be made with the company immediately.

Building permits were approved for two new residences, one addition, and for a private swimming pool, totalling $26,360.

Requests for further oiling of side streets has met with council's approval, providing the oil may be purchased at a budget rice. "People are going to have to bear with us," said Mr. Rust, "until all can be blacktopped."

Technical Schools Need Boost in Prestige

It is never wise to place all of one's eggs in one basket, but that is what Canada seems to have done with her universities. Today it seems to be an indispensable condition in many occupations that those entering them must have a university degree.

Essentially the demand comes because it is believed university graduates have more brains and can learn easier. It does not follow that this is right, but what might be called the upgrading of occupations goes on. Much of this is unnecessary as for example in nursing where the practice is more important than mere theoretical learning and a degree.

In the meantime the universities have lost their original purpose which was to broadly educate the individual and undertake to train him in this way for any profession, however minor. This has resulted in top-heavy universities, proud of their large enrollments but catering somewhat to the snobbishness of people.

This over emphasis on university education has ignored the fact that people are divided broadly into two classes, the thinkers and the doers, and that there are different degrees of intelligence and ability — especially ability — among these.

What this means is shown by Dean Arthur Porter of the faculty of engineering, University of Saskatchewan, who suggests the following breakdown of existing engineering graduates.

Between 25 and 35 per cent should not be admitted to universities but should enter technical colleges. A second group of between 45 and 60 per cent should take courses directed essentially towards technology. A third group of between 12 and 24 per cent, who show a particular flair for mathematics and physics, should be orientated towards science.

From this medley of figures it would appear that technology is as important as the engineering course —as indeed it is so that the important thing of today is to break the stranglehold which universities have on education and give the technological students an opportunity to develop to the full.

This is largely a matter of prestige, with the universities being in the lead. It follows that the prestige of technical schools and colleges of technology must be raised.

The government has announced its intention of building new schools and technological colleges but students will not be attracted to these in great numbers unless their courses and their certificates rank like a university training and degree.

The fact that the university and technological course are different is of minor importance. Indeed, it would seem that within a short time technology will be more important than a liberal arts university degree.

Slow Down

Just when everybody was beginning to think that more attention would be given to producing a cheaper automobile, their faith is shaken.

Sale of compact cars has been so good that even the industry has been fooled. Now there are plans to build a bigger and flashier compact car — at an increase in price.

Even the tire makers are getting fancier. One company has announced it will offer tires with a red or blue color in addition to the band of white on sidewall tires.

Let us hope this doesn't mean all hopes for a cheap, economical car are now dashed. Let the manufacturers keep all their chrome and three-colored tires.—Windsor Star.

Remedial English

The word "remedial" is seen with increasing frequency in magazine and newspaper reports on education in North America. In this instance it is associated with the teaching of English.

One of the definitions of remedial is "tending to relieve a defect or infirmity." The appalling degree of this infirmity is revealed in a recent survey conducted by a United States publication. Millions of American boys and girls are graduating from high school — and thousands from college — unable to write 500 sensible words on a single subject, the magazine finds.

The following composition, submitted by a student in remedial English at a state university, fully substantiates the charge that writing is the disgrace of American education:

My College Major

I find, that any major course in "Agriculture," is one of the bigest feilds of to days living. The farmers is one in which takes the most beating, & I hope that the government will help all they can so that the farmers will be able to kept the work in wich every one person dependens on. The farmer feedes around 25 humans in the U.S.A. to every one farmer. Their is alot of feild to . . .

All Power Corrupts

In his famous speech denouncing Stalin, before the 20th Congress of the Communist Party, Premier Nikita Khrushchev told a harrowing story of how he had been publicly humiliated by the tyrant. He described how Stalin had ordered him to do a Ukrainian dance unsuited to his age and figure at a party at which foreigners were present.

In Moscow recently, President Achmed Sukarno of Indonesia gave a party to celebrate his 60th birthday, and invited a number of distinguished guests, including most of the Russian leaders. A report of the party says:

Mr. Khrushchev pushed President Leonid Brezhnev and First Deputy Premier Anastas Mikoyan from the card table at which they were drinking orange juice and the two began a Caucasian folk dance called Lez Ginka. . . . When Mr. Mikoyan was dancing Mr. Khrushchev commented: "You know, we had a meeting of the Central Committee about this and the only reason Mikoyan is allowed to hold his job is because he can dance this dance."

German Millionaire

Prosperous West Germany is turning out scores of new millionaires — and is proud of them. The West German people are intelligent enough to know that it is because their country's wise economic policies offer an incentive to invest and develop profitable new industries that employment and living standards are at an all-time high.

In the great city of Hamburg alone, according to the Mercantile Bank of Canada's news letter, new West German millionaires are being turned out at the rate of one every five days or so.

Here in Canada, excessive taxation makes it well nigh impossible for a Canadian to become a millionaire nowadays.

Toronto Construction Shutdown Spreading

TORONTO (CP) — Brightening hopes for an end to the mammoth construction strike strangling Metropolitan Toronto faded Tuesday night.

The hopes dimmed in the face of plans for settlement by union leaders, a back-to-work appeal by Premier Frost and the appointment of a commission of inquiry.

Even as those developments brought optimism to builders and workers the shutdown spread even further and strike leaders shelved one of the most since the walkouts began.

The leaders declined to discuss settlement terms for bricklayers and laborers becaus advance information on the peace plan was leaked to the press.

Union leader Bruno Zanini told more than 1,000 workers stunned by the last - minute manoeuvre: "We regard the disclosures as an act of bad faith. We are not going to discuss the agreement because the papers are full of what we are going to do."

NEED ASSURANCE

Zanini told the meeting if Premier Frost officially assured unions the workers would be protected against exploitation, the unions would instruct a return to work.

The breadth of the strike expanded Tuesday. Originally starting among immigrants on housing construction projects and spreading to major commercial construction jobs in the Metro area, it reached Ontario hydro and Bell Telephone projected Tuesday night.

In urging a resumption of work as a prerequisite of settlement, Premier Frost said he felt a "lot of these poor workers have genuine grievances."

The premier named Carl Goldenberg, a Montreal lawyer with long experience in mediating labor-management disputes, as head of his inquiry commission.

Our Face is Red

To the Editor:

Sir — Since when has Mr. Kennedy been promoted to president of Canada?

We have become accustomed to hear that Canada will probably be the next state of the Union; that our government will do anything, even to ruining large areas of our country for the sake of U.S. dollars (as seen in the case of the High Arrow dam scheme); that American capital is buying up Canada, etc. But it is something quite new to see on the front page of a Canadian paper, President Kennedy referred to as "our president."

Where does the Queen come in under this new regime? Or has the Daily News taken on American citizenship?

Eichmann Rouses Grim Mirth

JERUSALEM (Reuters) — A hushed courtroom burst into laughter Wednesday as Adolf Eichmann characterized himself as as mere clerk unable to do anything about the transfer of an Italian Jewish woman to a concentration camp despite protests by Italy's Fascist regime.

The court was still and silent as the former SS lieutenant-colonel told in his own words the tragic story of the Italian woman identified only at Kotsi.

But laughter erupted among the spectators — including former concentration camp prisoners—when he said:

"I myself did not order the transfer of the Jewess Kotzi to a concentration camp . . . I only transmitted orders."

This was in keeping with Eichmann's steadfast theme in his testimony here that he was a mere cog in the machinery of Nazi bureaucracy.

JUDGE DISAGREES

As Eichmann made his denial of responsibility for the order, presiding Judge Moshe Landau said it was "not apparent" from the documents that Eichmann was merely transmitting orders.

The ex-head of the Gestapo's Jewish department who is charged with complicy in the killing of 6,000,000 Jews replied:

"One document mentions the words 'by assignment'. I was instructed to do it."

Eichmann had described how the woman was transferred to a concentration camp from the ghetto in Riga, Latvia, and refused release despite persistnt appeals by the Italian government, the Italian Fascist party and even the Nazi foreign ministry.

"It was all in vain," Eichman said, "and my department had to inform the foreign ministry that the Jewess Kotzi had been sent to a concentration camp."

He added that Nazi SS chief Heinrich Himmler had ordered that "once a Jew has been sent to a ghetto there should be no question of his release."

Interpreting The News

By BORIS MISKEW
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Iraqs threat to swallow the tiny shiekdom of Kuwait can only rub sand into the wounds of the Arab world, plagued with uncertainty and disunity.

It is doubtful whether Iraq will do more than work up an appetite. For to take even a nibble of the oil - saturated neighbor would likely bring the United Arab Republic or Britain to the rescue of the 5,800-square-mile sheikdom.

Nevertheless, the announced determination by Premier Kassem of Iraq to "free the inhabitants of Kuwait from the yoke of feudalism" has added yet another discord to the disharmonies of the Arab states — which somehow have kept their quarrels under control for the last year.

The Iraq move came a week after the announcement of an Anglo-Kuwait agreement which abrogated the treaty of 1899 under which Britain assumed the protection of Kuwait, a land at the head of the Persian Gulf between Iraq and Saudi Arabia.

PACT'S TERMS

The new agreement, which recognizes Kuwait as an independent state, makes clear that the British government has an obligation to assist the government of Kuwait should such a request be made.

Britain has a lot at stake in Kuwait.

From its wells come nearly 38 per cent of British oil imports. With another 12 per cent coming from Iraq, a crisis could quickly cripple Britain's economy.

Kuwait, whose population of only 200,000 is ruled by Sheik Sir Abdullah as-Salim As-Sabah, is anxious to remain independent.

Its oil production, the world's second largest expert, has enabled the land to become the welfare state of the Persian Gulf.

But the sheik must decide which way to turn for aid. Kuwait has applied to join the Arab League and the league replied that it would accept her as the 14th member.

SOLIDLY BACKED

Kuwait would hardly be a full member of the league as part of Iraq nor would her promised contribution of £5,000,000 to an Arab development fund materialize.

For this reason a state that is smaller than Wales but which sits on 20 per cent of the world's oil reserves is backed solidly by its Arab neighbors. Yet if the sheik requests Britain's aid, this could find disfavor among Arab nationalist opinion.

Kassem's claim to Kuwait on the grounds that both it and Iraq were part of the Turkish empire before 1914 could be no more than a bluff to distract attention from his failure to establish his regime securely in Iraq.

If this is so, Kassem, having put his claim on record, may feel happy to leave things coast along much as they had a week or so ago—with Kuwaitis and other Arabs crrying on as before.

Prairie Farmers Selling Cattle Due to Drought

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

"It looks pretty grim."

In these words, Agriculture Minister I. C. (Toby) Nollet of Saskatchewan Tuesday described the plight of Prairie farmers, hit by a severe drought. Farmers already are sending cattle to market because they cannot feed them.

A burly, shirt-sleeved farmer from Stonewall, Man., provincial Agriculture Minister George Hutton, said "we don't want farmers to get panicky about this thing. We are hoping they will market in an orderly manner and not all rush into the market at the same time."

In southern Alberta, the Suffield Experimental Station, a 150,000 - acre area west of Medicine Hat, has been opened up for grazing. Reserved for 20 years as a government testing and experimental area, it is rich in old grass, though short of water.

About 6,000 head of cattle may be pastured there but Bryce Stringham, chairman of the Western Reclamation Association, said the station would be a life - saver for "only 250 small operators."

Lack of pasture for cattle was only one result of a drought condition extending into the southwest United States which began as early as last summer.

EXPECT WHEAT FAILURE

Gordon Brown, Regina district farmer and veteran crop reporter, estimated the Canadian Prairie wheat yield in 1961 may be down as much as 200,000,000 bushels. Prairie wheat production in 1960 was about 472,500,000 bushels.

The prospect of other grain shortages sent prices to seasonal highs on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange Tuesday.

Weather forecasts repeated the phrases: "Scattered showers — isolated thundershowers — little relief in sight for drought areas."

The U.S. government long-range forecast for June 15 to July 15 said "below - normal precipitation and above - normal temperatures can be expected for Western Canada."

The Saskatchewan crop insurance board is considering its first requests for pre - harvest adjustments from farmers who either want to plow their crops under or turn cattle loose on the fields. Board director Charles Schwartz said many such requests are expected from among the 197 farmers covered by the pilot project.

Farmers in many areas already have plowed crops under with the hope of getting aid under the Prairie Farm Assistance Act.

TO HELP CATTLEMEN

Saskatchewan and Manitoba have announced programs of financial assistance to cattle producers for the transport of fodder by rail and truck.

Shortly before leaving Ottawa Tuesday for a two - day visit to Saskatchewan, Prime Minister Diefenbaker announced that the federal government will help cattlemen in drought areas by paying half the cost of moving feed to their cattle or of herding cattle to where feed is available.

Mr. Hutton and his deputy, Dr. R. W. Bell, were to fly to Ottawa today. They expect to meet Agriculture Minister Hamilton Thursday.

Mr. Hutton said "we expect the federal government to be fairly sympathetic. The situation is getting grimmer every day. I just looked at the thermometer outside and it was 101. If we don't get rain before July 15, it won't matter any longer."

For most of the West July 15 could mean the same thing.

Political Controversy Keeps Defence Department on Edge

OTTAWA (CP) — There is some uneasiness in the defence department that it may be drawn into political controversy if the government keeps making references to recommendations of the military chiefs of staff.

Departmental officials were taken aback earlier this month when Defence Production Minister O'Hurley replied in this manner to a Commons question asking who made the decision that 11 CF-100 jet interceptors be sold for scrap wer obsolete:

"Minister of national defence (recommendation of chiefs of staff)."

Five days later, in announcing an American replacement for the CF-100, Prime Minister Diefenbaker said the "widely-accepted views of military staffs in the Western world" that Russia was completely replacing bombers with missiles had not been borne out.

It is reported that this comment didn't go down well with the Canadian chiefs of staff because on Feb. 23, 1959, Mr. Diefenbaker said the Canadian Arrow interceptor was scrapped on the recommendation of the chiefs.

Under the Canadian system of govrnment, the administration taks responsibility for its decisions no matter how good or bad the advice it gets from civil servants.

It is an unwritten rule that the advice and recommendations it receives are confidential.

What bothers the defence department is the possibility that, once the government sets a precedent by divulging recommendations of the chiefs of staff, the opposition at any time on any defence matter may ask the government what advice it received from the military.

This would put the chiefs of staff in an impossible 'position, officials sad.

After the debate on the Arrow cancellaton two years ago, former defence minister Pearkes is said to have been appalled by the fact that advice of the chiefs had been introduced into the Commons discussion.

In the next big defence decision—to re-equip the RCAF air division in Europe with the CF-104 low-level jet bomber—the recommendations of the chiefs of staff were not divulged.

There was some question at the time whether the chiefs had wanted the CF-104. No member of the government made any statement on this aspect of the matter and it was believed in the defence department that the whole issue of publiciy on military advice had been settled.

This continued to be the belief until June 17 when Mr. O'Hurley said the chiefs of staff had recommended that 11 CF-100s be declared obsolete.

Boker-Ferguson Wedding Principals Walk Under Scout, Guide Archway

EDGEWATER — A guard of honor composed of Boy Scouts of the Edgewater Troop and Girl Guides of the Edgewater Company lined the path to All Saints Church at Edgewater Saturday, June 24, when Beverley Meriam Ferguson, elder daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon James Ferguson of Edgewater became the bride of Douglas Ernest Boker, second son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Boker of Edgewater.

Rev. J. P. Stanilands of Invermere officiated at the late afternoon ceremony at which wedding rings were exchanged. Best man was Mr. Donald Boker, elder brother of the groom, and ushers were Mr. Garry Mitchell of Radium Hot Springs and Mr. Terence Ferguson, Radium Junction, brother of the bride.

As she approached the church through the guard of honor on the arm of her father, the bride smiled at Guides and leaders who have seen her receive her Gold Cord and worked with her through various phases of the Guide movement.

Her bridal gown of nylon chiffon over satin had a full skirt daintily trimmed to match the lace insert fronting the bodice, which featured a portrait collar. Finger-tip sleeves added dignity to the graceful lines of the gown and a nylon chiffon cap matching the gown held the floor-length veil. The bride carried a white Bible bound in mother-of-pearl and a white lily and yellow rosebud shower bouquet.

Maid of honor to her sister was Miss Jacqueline Ferguson in yellow nylon chiffon over yellow taffeta, styled with a short, full skirt and a neckline high in front and sloping in a "V" at the back. Her yellow picture hat matched the dress which was accented with a bouquet of mauve and white carnations.

Matching the frock of the maid of honor were those of bridesmaids Miss Carol Johnson of Edgewater, a cousin of the bride, and Miss Phyllis Dendy of Edgewater. Their bouquets were similar also.

Organist was Mrs. George Tegart. Miss Fay Molyneux of Calgary sang "A Wedding Benediction" while the bride's mother took her place, and "The Lord's Prayer" during the signing of the register. Mauve and white carnations in baskets decorated the church.

For the reception in the Edgewater Community Hall, an effective decoration scheme of pale yellow and white was a lovely background for the yellow and white gowns of the bridal party. Also in the receiving line were the mother of the bride in a jacket dress in flowered design in shades of blue and the groom's mother in a green sheath dress with pink accessories. Both wore corsages of pink roses.

Master of ceremonies was Mr. Donald Boker and the toast to the bride was proposed by Mr. V. Lautrop of Edgewater and to the bridesmaids by the groomsman. During the reception Miss Molyneux sang "I'll Walk With God" and "O Perfect Love" with Mrs. Tegart as accompanist. Hawaiian music was played during the reception. A dance followed.

The three-tiered wedding cake centering the bride's table had been made by the bride's mother and decorated by the groom's father, who had also decorated the cake for the bride's parents' wedding.

For her honeymoon to Alberta points, the bride changed to a pink dress worn under a blue coat, with pink and white accessories. The young couple will reside at Edgewater.

Out-of-town guests included Miss Fay Molyneux, Calgary; Mr. and Mrs. N. Phillips and family, Calgary; Mr. E. Cowin, Creelman, Sask.; Mr. and Mrs. N. Wright, Red Deer; Mr. and Mrs. F. Jamieson and family, Lloydminster; Mr. and Mrs. H. Perkins and family, Calgary; Mr. and Mrs. O. Buser, Golden, and Mr. Donald Boker of Banff.

BRIDE-ELECT HONORED AT SHOWER EVENTS

Miss Shirley Garrett, July 1 bride-elect, has been honored recently at several pre-wedding events. Mrs. D. T. Stewart entertained a number of friends at a shower for Miss Garrett when gifts from the guests were presented to the honoree in a decorated box.

Neighbors and friends surprised the bride-to-be at her home, 76 West Victoria Street, when they presented her with miscellaneous gifts at a shower party there. Mrs. J. Mondini was hostess and gifts overflowed a decorated basket in which they were presented to Miss Garrett.

A combination farewell and presentation party was held when members of the kitchen and dietary staff of Kootenay Lake General Hospital paid a surprise visit to the Mondini home on the Granite Road and presented Miss Garrett with a dinnerware set. The bride-elect has been a member of the hospital's dietary staff for the past three years.

Parishioners Enjoy Picnic On North Shore

Races for all ages and other contests, as well as refreshments of all types were enjoyed by members of the Blessed Sacrament Church at a picnic held at the North Shore home of Mr. and Mrs. John Burns, with an estimated 100 children and adults attending. The Christian Family Movement was in charge of the picnic.

Bill Klein, Stewart McKinnon and Bob Moisey were in charge of a booth for ice cream and pop. William Freno was recreation convener, with races held for children, women and men, tug of war for the women and one for the men. A peanut throw was also enjoyed. Free ice cream and a toy were received by all the children.

Steady Rain Cheers Nfld.

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP)—Newfoundland firefighters, their spirits lifted by a steady rain, prepared Wednesday for any surprises the province's forest fires might throw at them.

Deputy Resources Minister Stuart Peters said the fire-threatened community of Gambo, 110 miles northwest of here, had tons of equipment on hand and firefighters were prepared to put up a stiff fight.

However, Mr. Peters said, seven evacuated communities alohg Bonavista Bay, 120 miles from here, would remain evacuated for at least two more days until officials were sure the flames would remain under control.

The fire, although contained by a light drizzle, was still burning a "lot of forests," Mr. Peters said, and the threat was still quite real.

Western Leaders Face Berlin Problem

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

What to do about Berlin under the shadow of a new Soviet-imposed deadline has brought on a flurry of activity and speech-making in the capitals of the Western world.

Amid rising cold war tension, the question is: will a compromise be found, or is an explosive crisis in the making?

Soviet Premier Khrushchev has set the end of the year as the limit for East - West negotiations on Berlin. West Berlin, actually a loophole in the Iron Curtain, is "a bone in our throat," Khrushchev says, and the Russians must get rid of it.

WILL SIGN TREATY

Otherwise, the Soviet leader insists he will sign a separate peace treaty with East Germany, a move that might imperil Western rights in West Berlin and also recognize the permanent division of Germany.

West Berlin, completely surrounded by East German territory, is the escape hatch for some 20,000 refugees from communism who enter the former German capital each month. They are flown out through the allied ir corridors to Westa Germny.

President Charles de Gaulle of France disclosed Tuesday he had ordered one division of French troops brought back from Algeria because of the possibility of a European crisis later this year.

Berlin was viewed as the trouble spot de Gaulle had in mind.

Also, informed Paris sources indicated de Gaulle was willing to put French air bases at the disposal of U.S. nuclear bombers. The planes were withdrawn last year following a disagreement over control of American nuclear weapons on French soil.

SHOULD NEGOTIATE

The influential independent London Times reported Tuesday there is a growing belief in British quarters that the West should try to negotiate the Berlin issue once more.

The Times said a middle view in Britain, which has gained ground recently, figures "it would be better to propose negotiations because, even if they cannot lead to agreement, this course would at least rob Mr. Khrushchev of his argument, addressed with some success to the uncommitted countries, that the West is doing nothing to resolve the abnormal situation on Berlin."

Prime Minister Macmillan told the House of Commons Tuesday that Britain is willing to negotiate with Russia on Germany and central European security, but will not tolerate any infringement of the freedom of o th city of 2,500,000.

Ay such talks "must b negotiations and not asking us to submit to blackmail," Macmillan said.

WEST STANDS FIRM

In Paris, a French foreign ministry spokesman said the Western powers including West Germany will tell the Russians next week that they will not budge from their present rights in Berlin. For the West "there is no Berlin problem," the spokesman said, "but there is a situation of serious crisis provoked by Soviet initiatives."

President Walter Ulbricht of the East German Republic in a speech Tuesday served notice that East Germany wants to sit in on any East-West talks about Berlin and future allies rights in the city.

The New York Herald Tribune reported that President Kennedy, using Khrushchev's son-in-law as a messenger, has sent word to the Soviet premier that what he said in Vienna remains the U.S. position on all major cold-war issues, including Berlin.

NOT SENT TO NIKITA

The newspaper said the president's message was conveyed via Aleksei Adzhubei, editor of the government newspaper Izvestia and son-in-law of Khrushchev, who called on the president at the White House Tuesday before leaving for Moscow. Their talks lasted a half hour, the paper quoted, and a White House official called it "a little Vienna."

At Vienna, Kennedy told Khrushchev the West would not be pushed out of Berlin.

U.S. Vice - President Lyndon Johnson said it again Tuesday and U.S. State Secretary Dean Rusk insisted the status of West Berlin cannot be changed by unilateral Soviet action.

Johnson, addressing the U.S. governors conference in Honolulu, called Berlin "the most serious menace of the darkened world scene," but said the U.S. "is not ready to run away from Berlin under Russian threats."

Neither will the U.S. close any avenue of peace, he said.

SPARES "VICIOUS" DOG

ST. LOUIS (AP)—A city judge ruled Tuesday that a trained watch dog is a victim of his environment and shouldn't be destroyed for biting a postman. The owner was fined $100. Postman Robert Kroter was bitten at a used car lot operated by Sheldon Solomon, who was charted with harboring a vicious dog. Under a city ordinance the dog could be destroyed. Kroter took rabies shots.

NEW BEDFORD, Mass. (AP) Nantucket Police Chief Wendell Howes says he will not enforce Massachusetts' controversial Sunday blue laws. Howes is the first law officer in the state to refuse outright to support the ancient statutes, barring most Sunday business except sales of necessities like bread and milk.

Ray Herbert, first of a trio of Chicago pitchers who gave up 16 hits, was the loser as the Sox suffered their second defeat in 21 games.

HITS 24TH HOMER

Ryne Duren, one - time New York relief ace, came within three outs of pitching his first complete game in the majors, striking out 12 and holding the Yankees to two hits until Mickey Mantle hit his 24th hom erun the ninth.

Righthander Jim Donohue saved it for Duren (3-8), who had brought the Angels from behind with a two-run single—his first hit in three years—as they scored five in the sixth. Albie Pearson's three - run homer put it away against Bob Turley (3-5).

The Cubs unloaded 25 hits, 12 for extra bases and five of those homers, against the Reds while beating Bob Purkey (9-4) and Jim O'Toole (6-7). Champ Survives Davis Thriller

WIMBLEDON, England (CP) Defending champion Neale Fraser, troubled by a knee injury, survived a five-set thriller to defeat Whitney Reed of California on the sun-scorched centre court at the Wimbledon tennis championships Wednesday.

The left - handed Australian champ was twice led by the six-foot American but finally triumphed 5-7, 6-4, 4-6, 6-1, 7-5.

Rod (The Rocket) Laver, the red - haired second seed from Australia, scraped home by a hair against Pierr Darmon, France's No. 1. Laver won 8-6, 2-6, 6-3, 4-6, 6-4.

It was left to burly Abe Segal, 30-year-old South African, to score the first upset. He eliminated Spain's fifth-seeded Manuel Santana, winner of the French championships, 6-4, 6-4, 12-10.

EFFORTLESS WIN

Europe's other seeded player, Nicola Pietrangeli, who last year became the first Italian to reach the singles semi-finals at Wimbledon, conceded a set to senewy Australian left - hander Barry Phillips-Moore. But generally the strong Italian, seeded third, hit his shots with effortless ease to win 6-3, 6-4, 1-6, 6-3.

Seventh - seeded Ramanathan Krishnan of India, like Pietrangeli a semi-finalist in 1960, got caught in a 20-game third set with U.S. player Marti Riessen but ran out a good winner at 6-3, 6-2, 11-9.

Hitting with tremendous power, 20 - year - old Chuck McKinley, the only seeded American among the men, reached the third round with a decisive 6-2, 6-1, 6-3 win over South African international Bertie Gaertner.

In the women's singles, a Canadian, Eleanor Dodge of Montreal, was a first-round winner, defeating Michele Bourbonnais of France 4-6, 7-5, 7-5.

Derby Entry Expected To Be All-Time High

A record entry of about 800 fishermen is expected in the annual Kinsmen Fishing Derby scheduled for July 1-2.

Tickets will not be in for a couple of days yet but derby officials expect fishermen and fishing to be at an all-time high.

As an example of the fish: an 18, a 14 and an eight-pounder were caught around Queen's Bay over the weekend.

A mystery draw will be held on July 15 in conjunction with the derby.

Yours Truly... Don Sawatsky

THE PROVERBIAL WRITING is on the wall it seems as far as professional hockey is concerned in Western Canada.

Winnipeg Warriors have folded for at least a year (and probably for good) and the colorful Calgary Stampeders are beginning to feel the more advanced pains of a death palpitation that, in all reasonable views, may end a long and successful career.

Calgary and Winnipeg will be joining the senior hockey Allan Cup Wars, maybe?

* * *

STILL WITH CALGARY, it seems that their baseball teams are in even worse shape than is their hockey setup.

The cowboys were set down 20-0 in the recent East Kootenay Baseball League tournament in Kimberley over the weekend by St. John. Oh well, 20 is a nice even number . . . so is 0.

Spokane Orfuns won the tourney with an 11-1 victory over the Kimberley Dynamos in the final Sunday.

Promotors of the extravaganza are pleased though. Apparently they shoveled in a fair bit of the old green stuff to make it worth while.

* * *

I WAS VERY PLEASED to hear that Charlie Sifford, the first Negro to break the color line on the PGA tour in the Southern United States this year, has been personally invited to compete in the Canadian Open July 12-14.

And furthermore, he's accepted.

"We are pleased to announce that he has accepted," general chairman Ken King said.

The five-times Negro champion of the United States said in a long distance telephone call from Grand Rapids, Mich., "I got my first break at this event six years ago in Toronto and it provided me with much confidence."

Sifford went on to say, "I have appeared at several Canadian Opens since and on each occasion I was well-treated . . . and I hope to give them my very best effort."

* * *

THE MIDSUMMER BONSPIEL still has a faint flicker of hope that Rudy Pilous, coach of the Chicago Black Hawks, will be here . . . but it's very faint.

Pilous, who was a sports figurehead in Nelson not too many years ago, wrote Mayor T. S. Shorthouse in answer to an invitation sent to the popular Pilous.

Pilous said that his summer job of public relations man with sports writer Jim Coleman along with his public speaking engagements all over the country leaves little time for a long trip like that of to Nelson.

He works for the Ontario Jockey Club.

But, maybe next year? Maybe with a little more fore-warning, the busy Pilous can manage a quick trip in-between-trips to Nelson.

* * *

HERE'S A SUGGESTION that someone like Fred Boates may look into. We have Doug Kilburn right here in our midst and I'm sure the sandy-haired forward would be only too glad to accept an invitation to play in the Midsummer hockey game.

* * *

ANOTHER BIG NAME for the fast-growing 'Spiel match is the possibility of Johnny Bucyk of the Boston Bruins. Bucyk was a member of the famed "Uke Line" of Vic Stasiuk and Bronco Horvath.

Bucyk also played as a junior with the Edmonton Oil Kings.

Beats Down Cars In Play-for-Fun

Taghum Beatniks defeated CPR Car Shops 15-10 in a play-for-fun softball game Wednesday night.

The Beats hit three home runs and the Shops connected with two. Cyril Saviskoff was the winning pitcher and Bill Cartwright hurled for CPR.

Walt Chernenko pounded out one of the homers, a triple and a double to lead the winning cause.

'Hounds Extend Play-for-Fun Winning Streak

Billy Taylor, playing-coach of the Ex-pros in the Play-for-Fun softball league, saw why the Greyhounds are in top spot in the league when the 'Hounds trounced the Ex-pros 10-4 Wednesday night.

The 'Hounds stretched their winning streak to seven games and while it was anyone's game during the first few innings, Ex-pro hurler Rob Carmen later found 'Hound batsmen slaughtering his pitches.

Winning pitcher Don Ball held the Ex-pros to four hits.

Frank Bach's big double in the latter part of the game proved to be the big factor for the Greyhounds. The 'Hounds have earned the right to play the all-star team during the Midsummer Bonspiel.

"A helicopter will put the men where they're needed..."

A thin column of smoke twists into the sky and another battle against a forest fire begins. Every minute counts; while the fire is still small, aircraft can play an important part by waterbombing or by delivering men and equipment to confine the flames until more help arrives.

Few fires can be fought entirely by aircraft. The battle usually calls for teamwork employing trained crews, supplies, tank trucks, bulldozers, radios, pumps, hoses and hand tools. Keeping such a team ready is costly but necessary; it involves advance planning, crew training programmes, and the maintenance of miles of access roads.

You too can be part of British Columbia's forest protection team by reporting any unattended fires to the nearest local authorities.

Signs Show Brazil's Public and Private Enterprise Continues

By FORBES RHUDE
Canadian Press Business Editor

Public and private enterprise apparently will continue to work together in the electrical energy field in Brazil for some time to come.

At least this seems to be the intention of the present regime as indicated by President Janio Quadros, particularly in his "state of the union" message to the Brazilian Congress March 31.

The situation would seem to be about as follows:

Government and semi-government development of electric energy will continue to increase. However, th country's needs are growing so fast that available government funds will be needed for new facilites and there is no apparent plan to make any major purchase of existng ones.

Further, the government has indicated its intention to ease somewhat the difficult conditons under which private foreign-controlled firms have been operating, though this seems likely to be a slow process.

The chief foreign interest affected is Brazilian Traction, Light and Power Co. Ltd., the Toronto-based company whose operating subsidiaries make up Brazil's largest utility enterprise, serving populous southeastern Brazil, including the cities of Rio de Janeiro, Sao Paulo and Santos.

OUTLINES PROBLEMS

At Brazilian's annual meeting in Toronto Monday Henry Borden, president, outlined the problems faced by the company as a result of inflation and low rates and the effects of these on financing. He also quoted from President Quadros' "state of the union" message which said, in part:

"It is essential to formulate a clear and objective policy capable of providing incentive to private enterprises and to assure them access to the normal sources of financing in the country and abroad, in order to permit them to maintain adequate services in their areas of operation.

"However, as private enterprises under foreign control are pre-dominant in this sector, such a policy should include measures to stimulate the participation of genuinely national capital in these enterprises so that, without prejudice to the expansion of services and without the necessity of utilizing public resources indispensable to the needs of other areas, the progressive nationalization of their capital may be achieved. This policy will not alter the gradual increase of state participation in this sector."

SIMILAR FEELINGS

Nationalization of capital, as used here, apparently refers to the diserability of Brazilian investors becoming larger owners of the shares of foreign enterprises, including those of Brazilian Traction. It is the same as the Canadian feeling that Canadians should invest more in Canadian firms.

It is also in line with Brazilian Traction's general policy of encouraging investment by Brazilians in its subsidiaries. One major difficulty to date is that the return on the investment in most instances hasn't been attractive to Brazilians.

The operating companies have, however, been going through a process of what Mr. Borden calls "naturalization," and have been made into Brazilian companies with Brazilian "administrative councils." Mr. Borden describes the latter as roughly the Brazilian equivalent of Canadian boards of directors.

Budget Debate Likened to Pin-Tail-On-Donkey Game

OTTAWA (CP) — The Commons is playing a game of pin-the-tail-on-the-donkey in budget debate.

Oppositon speakers charged Tuesday that the Conservative government has been groping blindly through four years in power with no idea of where it wants to go or why.

Government supporters replied that if the opposition groups have any concrete alternative ideas on governing the country, they are keeping them covered in a fog of wild and hysterical charges.

Said the CCF's Harold Winch, member for Vancouver East, in the third day of a possible six-day debate on the budget presented June 20 by Finance Minister Fleming:

" . . . It is conclusively apparent that the Tory government, since it took office some four years ago, has been slipping and drifting along with no more knowledge of its destination than a blind man on a raft floating somewhere between the coast of British Columbia and the coast of Honolulu."

Said Liberal H. J. Robichaud, Gloucester, in the debate which continues today:

"I suggest we have here a government of confusion which has refused for two or three years to admit that there was a recession; a government which refused to admit that there was in this country unusual and abnormal unemployment; this government which refused to recognize the recession but which told us two years later that the recession was over and that we were emerging from it."

An exchange between Mr. Fleming and Romuald Bourque (L — Montreal Outremont - St. Jean) gave the minister an opportunity to put forward the government's contention of grave weakness in opposition attacks.

The Liberal MP called for Canadian action to curb imports from Japan, and said there is an urgent need for the establishment of "some positive form" of Canadian control—which he did not specify.

Mr. Fleming, after unsuccessfully seeking details said: "I thank the honorable member for his answer. It is quite clear he has no solution."

Mr. Winch said that Mr. Fleming's estimated budgetary deficit of $650,000,000 for fiscal 1961-62 was only an immediate solution "to get the government off the hook."

COURSE DANGEROUS

"If they carry on as they have for the last four years there is only one answer—war—and God forbid that should happen because it would be suicide for the world."

Murdo Martin (CCF — Timmins) said the Canadian economy is on "the Diefenbaker hop—one step forward and two back." The government had an impressive score in measures to prop up business but not in ones to help the individual taxpayer.

Marcel Lambert, parliamentary secretary to Revenue Minister Nowlan, said the spending program proposed by the national Liberal rally in January makes nonsense of opposition lamentations over the budget deficit.

U.S. Studying Red China's U.N. Position

CHICAGO (AP) — State Secretary Dean Rusk says the U.S. government is weighing several alternatives in the possible seating of Red China in the United Nations to prevent Nationalist China from losing its seat.

Rusk told reporters Tuesday that there has been increasing pressure during the last few years, especially with a number of new nations joining the international body, to discuss on its merits in the United Nations the question of seating Red China.

Rusk said a report that the United tates has agreed already upon a plan for entry of Red China into the internaional organization was inaccurate.

The report, published last week, said the United States would agree to the seating of Red China if the Nationalist Chinese were permitted to retain their seat in the General Assembly as well as on the UN Security Council.

Rusk said this was but one of a number of alternatives being discussed.

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

TORONTO (CP) — The stock market showed signs of making a late-day recovery but slipped back and finished on the downside during extremely light trading Wednesday.

Aided by a decline in foods and steels, the industrial index nose-dived early in the day and stayed down.

Steel Company, United Steel, Dominion Foundries and Steel Atlas and Burlington were all down in the steel group, while in foods, Weston A, Loblaw B, M. Loeb and Canada Packers B were also off.

Papers also contributed to the fall, with Price Brothers taking a ½ - point drop, while Great Lakes and MacMillan - Bloedel had lesser slips. Another losing group was liquors. Molsons B, Canadian Breweries and Corby's A all had fractional losses.

On index, industrials fell .69 to 585.81, golds .10 to 82.32 and base metals .79 to 195.60. Western oils rose .92 to 94.69. Special-sized transactions included: 1,100 shares of Canadian Tire A at $45, a total of $49,500.

Manufacturing Prospects Look Brighter

VANCOUVER (CP) — Manufacturing prospects are quite a bit brighter than they were a year ago, F. D. Mathers, president of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, said today in an address to the Society of Industrial and Cost Accountants.

"Unfortunately," Mr. Mathers added, "I cannot see that the increase in manufacturing employment will be as substantial as it might have been had we as Canadians shown less inclination to buy competitive imports."

Mr. Mathers, who is president of Royal City Foods Ltd., New Westminster, B.C., said heavy unemployment cannot and will not be mastered until the manufacturing industry is in a position to resume full - scale expansion.

FAVORS LEGISLATION

To this end, national policies aimed at increasing the range of manufactured products made in Canada should be pursued.

"Inasmuch as recent 'class or kind' legislation is designed to promote this end, it is most welcome. It gives one more reason for believing the outlook for manufacturing is brighter."

Mr. Mathers' comments were contained in a text made available to the press in advance of delivery.

A major clue to the general business outlook is provided by estimates of investment intentions, Mr. Mathers stated.

"The expectation that total capial expenditures this year will exceed $8,300,000,000 is in itself healthy, representing a better than $100,000,000 increase over last year.

"Manufacturing industry alone plans new capital expenditures in excess of $1,100,000,000, which, although slightly below those for last year, still represent a high level of activity. Over and above this, repair expenditures of the order of $650,000,000 are forecast."

Further evidence of a business pickup could be found in the fact that bank loans had been increasing for several months and it was to he hoped te iwereonl lb rhruf tightening of existing credit restrictions that would cause a reversal of this trend."

Pays $25 Fine On UIS Charge

A Creston lawyer who failed to make written returns of information required by the Unemployment Insurance Commission, after "repeated requests" was fined $25 and costs in magistrate's court.

The Unemployment Insurance Act states the commission may require an employer to make written returns if deemed necessary for the purposes of the Act.

Magistrate Harold Langston said that the accused, W. Kapak, must realize that the information required is important to the commission and such matters must be attended to promptly.

NATO Air Base Makes It Easy For Nationalities to Mingle

By BORIS MISKEW
Canadian Press Staff Writer

CAGLIARI, Sardinia (CP) — A NATO air base is making it possible for Canadian, German and Italian familes to mingle in the sunny streets of this ancient Mediterranean city.

Although the base actually is at Decimomannu, 15 miles to the northwest, all the Canadian service personnel stationed on this Italian island, as well as their families, live in Cagliari.

Canadian and German families occupy rented apartments in a section of this historic city known as the Poetto—or beach area. The apartments are expensive by Canadian standards and not quite as modern.

It is not uncommon to see Canadian mothers shopping along the Via Roma, Cagliari's swankiest street, and stopping to chat with their German neighbors in stores once used solely by Italians or tourists.

The Canadian families accompanied members of the RCAF's 1st Air Division and normally remain two years in Sardinia, where the air force has the only air - to - air live firing range in Europe.

LEARNING ITALIAN

The RCAF personnel and their families posted for two - year periods total about 230 and are responsible for Canadian facilites at the base. But the actual Canadian service population at any particular time is more than 400 because of the temporary visits of Sabre and CF-100 squadrons to the base.

"The language barrier is the most serious problem facing families posted in Sardinia," said Mrs. Warren Middleton, wife of the RCAF Commanding Officer at the base.

The wives are pretty well left on their own and most of them attend weekly classes in Italian to enable them to cope more easily in the stores and with their Italian neighbors, added Mrs. Middleton, a native of Ottawa and mother of four.

Mrs. Melba Warren, wife of Sqdn. Ldr. Doug Warren of Edmonton, said the feeling of isolation on the island and the high cost of travelling off the island tends to draw the Canadian families more closely together than at other Europan bases.

NO SIESTA

"There is not much to do and the beach is a terrific attraction," added the mother of two youngsters. She said Canadian and Italian mothers operate practically on two different schedules and this makes it difficult for the children to mix.

The Italian children have a siesta while the Canadian children are in school or playing in the back yards or at the beach.

Mrs. Frances Madore, wife of Cpl. William Madore of Edmundston, N.B., said she is enjoying life in Sardinia much more since she learned to speak Italian.

Mrs. Madore, a native of Quebec City, said she knew French before coming to Sardinia and this helped her in learning Italian.

"You can choose your own clothes in the stores and tell the clerk if the price is too high," she said. "But you either pay what you are asked or go someplace else if you can't speak Italian."

The Canadian community — which includes 56 married personnel with 111 children—rented a small hotel and converted it into a private club — known as the Maple Leaf Community Centre.

The recreation on the island is limited to swimming and camping—there isn't a golf course on the entire island—and the community centre has become the centre of social life among the Canadians.

Tomorrow: Canadians can return to Middle Ages in Sardinia.

Living Memorial Will Honor Maritime Leaders

By CARL MOLLINS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Eight politcians from the united colonies of Canada West and Canada East—better known as Upper and Lower Canada—turned up in the capital of Prince Edward Island 97 years ago and virtually gate-crashed a conference of Maritme colonial leaders.

The Canadians arrived almost unnoticed in Charlottetown Sept. 1, 1864, aboard the steamer Queen Victoria from Quebec. Only one official turned out to meet them. Most of the vistors had to stay aboard the steamer because there was no accommodation ready for them in the town.

The leaders of Nova Scotia, New Brunswick and Prince Edward Island, however, broke off the opening session of their conference on Maritme union to hear what the self-invited Canadians had to say.

Eight days, four meetings and countless convivial toasts later, the eight Canadians and 17 Maritmers had woven the first ties that were to unite Upper an d Lower Canada—as the provinces of Ontario and Quebec—with New Brunswick and Nova Scotia n the Dominion of Canada, July 1, 1867.

PLAN MEMORIAL

The history books now show these men as the Fathers of Confederation, among them John A. Macdonald, George Brown, Georges Cartier, Alexander Galt, D'Arcy McGee, Hector Louis Langevin, Samuel Tilley and Charles Tupper.

Ironically, the island colony that played host to the historic conference was to delay six years before joinng what McGee then foresaw as "one great nationality, bound, like the shield of Achilles, by the blue rim of ocean."

But Prince Edward Island now is setting the pace in a Canada-wide project to erect the first permanent memorial building commemorating the Charlottetown conference and honoring the Fathers of Confederation.

Like the conference itself, the memorial project developed into a national enterprise from simple beginnings.

Dr. Frank MacKinnon, principal of Charlottetown's Prince of Wales College, was entrusted by local citzens with the job of finding a way to replace the city's art gallery and its only theatres, destroyed in two disastrous fires in 1958.

CAMPAIGN FOR FUNDS

The idea of making the project more than a local enterprise developed from a conversation in Vancouver between Dr. MacKinnon and Calgary lawyer Eric L Harvie.

The Calgarian, Dr. MacKinnon recalls, declared that building a cultural centre as a memorial to Confederation was too important for P.E.I. alone. "all Canadians should have a hand in it," Mr. Harvie said.

The result was the creation of the Fathers of Confederation Memorial Foundation of professional and business men across Canada, a campaign to raise between $4,000,000 and $6,000,000 for the memorial and a Canada-launched early in June for the design of the memorial building.

The three-storey building, set on a landscaped site next to the legislature where the 1864 conference was held, will house a theatre, museum, library and art gallery.

'LIVING MEMORIAL'

The aim is to build a "living memorial" that will serve both as a tribute to the men who made Canada and a showcase for the performing and visual arts of the nation.

The architectural competiton, financed by a $30,000 Canada Council grant, is expected to produce the winning design by the fall. It is hoped to open the memorial in 1964 amid Charlottetown celebrations previewing the 100th anniversary of Confederation three years later.

Canadian artists will be commissioned to carry out the interior decoration of the building. Federal and provincal governments, industries and private citizens re being asked for funds, ideas and typical regional materials for the memorial.

As Dr. MacKinnon says, "It is almost incredible that Canada has no permanent memorial of distinction to its founding fathers."

Charlottetown, with a boost from the rest of Canada, now hopes to fill the gap with "a beautiful building, worthy of its purpose, and embodying in its art and architecture themes and illustrations representative of all Canada."

Who Hi-Jacked Simon Fraser's Canoes? That is the Question

By JIM PEACOCK
Canadian Press Staff Writer

PRINCE GEORGE, B.C. (CP) The tale of the hi-jacking of the Simon Fraser Brigade canoes has come out here on the eve of Simon Fraser Day celebrations, held each July 1 to commemorate the explorer for whom the Fraser River is named.

But nobody is admitting just what part he played in the episode—or that he played any part at all.

City councillors, businessmen and boatmen discussed the incident in separate interviews here while outlining Simon Fraser day plans for this year. Each time, their story was the same.

The Simon Fraser Brigade was a 40-day pageant staged under direction of Gordon Hilker of Vancouver as part of British Columbia's centennial celebrations in 1958.

It was organized by Dick Corless, who ran a river-boat freight service into northeastern B.C. for 20 years, and the Prince George centennial committee, headed by businessman Alex Bowie and including trucker-alderman Harry Loder.

PADDLED DOWN RIVER

Three 22-foot metal freight canoes, painted to look like birchbark craft similar to those used by Fraser and his company when they came through the area in the early 1800s, were paddled down the Fraser River from Prince George to Vancouver, following Fraser's diary as closely as possible.

Bowie, Corless and Loder recalled that someone thought the canoes should be returned to Prince George for use in future Simon Fraser Day events, perhaps as forerunning craft for the 140-mile canoe race which this year has drawn more than 20 entries from Canada and the United States.

Two women, whose names were kept secret, were said to be the prime draftsmen of the plan to hi-jack the boats, which Hilker intended to send—and eventually did send—to Victoria, Vancouver and Prince George as museum pieces.

At the end of the trip, the canoes and the costumed river men and Indians who manned them, paddled up on the beach at Kitsilano in Vancouver as part of an outdoor stage pagent. Hilker's staff had arranged for a truck to pick them up late that night.

SPIRITED AWAY

Somebody from Prince George, however, hired another truck. A woman stood knee deep in the water at Kitsilano and signalled the canoe paddlers with a flashlight that the coast was clear. The craft were spirited off to a truck terminal where they remained for more than a week hidden in a van.

Hilker learned of the disappearance a few days after the incident and sent police and army investigators to every transportation company that travels to Prince George. Police also searched Indian reserves for miles around Vancouver area.

Somehow, word of the investigations never leaked out to the newspapers.

Eventually, police discovered a waybill for the canoe paddles, which inadvertently had been shipped to Prince George by regular means.

"Hilker phoned me," Corless recalled, "and said if we didn't produce those canoes within 24 hours, there'd be a red coat around with a summons."

"I had nothing to do with this whole thing," Bowie said. "But I located the canoes and wired Hilker that they'd be delivered to him in Vancouver the next day."

They were delivered, by an unidentified van, and so far as those in Prince George know, the personnel involved in the episode remain unkown to the Vancouver investigators.

U.K. Willing To Discuss Berlin Future

LONDON (CP) — Britain is willing to negotiate with the Soviet Union over the future of Berlin, Prime Minister Macmillan said Tuesday.

This was the first official indication by Britain that she would enter negotiations over the Berlin issue since the conference of foreign ministrs on Berlin ended in deadlock in 1959.

Macmillan told Parliament he would like to "see us back" to the position of two years ago when there seemed a chance of friendly negotiations with the Soviet Union over this problem.

"But they must be negotiations, not asking us to submit to blackmail," the prime minister added. He accused the Russians of manufacturing an artificial crisis for the purpose of gaining their ends.

Macmillan, regarded in some quarters as taking a weak stand on the Berlin problem, reiterated the government's view that Britain and her allies have no intention of abandoning their obligations in preservation of the freedom of the people of West Berlin.
