Answers Needed Laos Cease-Fire For Geneva Talks

Green To Announce Canada's Stand

VIENTIANE (AP)—Three key members of the once-rebuffed international control commission are seeking an answer at the Communist-neutralist headquarters in Xieng Khouang to the question: Is the Laotian cease-fire really effective?

"We are going up to make contact and find out how the situation is," said Samar Sen of India, the commission chairman, before departing aboard a French plane Wednesday.

Time was running out. Upon the commission's findings — to be derived from surveys on both sides of the truce line — may depend both the opening and composition of a projected 14-nation conference on Laos due to start in Geneva Friday.

The United States and Britain, though already sending delegations to Geneva, said they will not take part with Communists and neutrals in the conference until the commission confirms that the May 5 truce is on a firm footing.

In Ottawa, Prime Minister Diefenbaker avoided a direct answer from a Commons questioner whether Canada would attend in the absence of a verified cease-fire. The prime minister said Canada will announce its stand at the opening of the meeting.

External Affairs Minister Green planned to leave Oslo, where he has been attending a NATO conference, for Geneva this morning.

Sen and his fellow commissioners, Leon Mayrand of Canada and Albert Morski of Poland, flew to Xieng Khouang, on the rebel-held Plain of Jars 100 miles northeast of Vientiane, for a meeting with leaders of the pro-Communist Pathet Lao and ex - premier Prince Souvanna Phouma's neutralist movement.

They expected to return today to Vientiane, the administrative seat of Premier Prince Boun Oum's royal government.

This is the second contact of the recently-revived commission with the rebels. Rebel negotiators said they had no instructions and declined to recognize the commission in the initial contact Tuesday.

Mount Etna Erupts Lava

CATANIA, Sicily (AP) — Volcanic Mount Etna burst into its most violent eruption of the year Wednesday, firing flaming masses of lava into the air from two craters.

The 10,740-foot volcano, which wiped out the city of Catania in 1169, has been in intermittent eruption since January.

SAHARA AIR CRASH KILLS 79

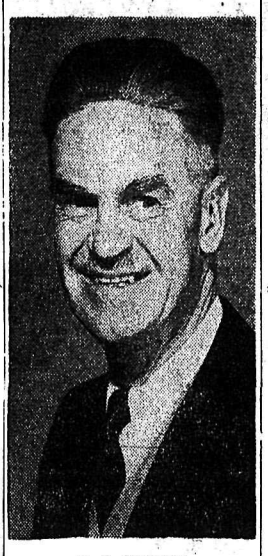
ALGIERS (Reuters) — Seventy-nine persons died Wednesday when a French airliner crashed in the Sahara desert.

The Super-Starliner, a long range version of the Super-Constellation, carried 69 passengers and 10 crew members on a flight from Brazzaville, Congo Republic, to Marseille, France, an Air France provisional passenger list showed.

After the huge plane failed to arrive at its destination on schedule, a fleet of search aircraft scoured the desert. The wreckage was spotted 60 miles north of the oil town Edjele, near the Libyan border.

Rescue workers at the scene radioed "no survivors."

Pioneer A. Gilker Passes



A. B. GILKER

A native son of Nelson, believed to be the oldest living native here, Arthur Barry Gilker, 66, died in Kootenay Lake General Hospital late Wednesday afternoon. He had been in hospital for a little more than a week.

Mr. Gilker was the pioneer son of a pioneer family. His father, the late J. A. Gilker, built Baker Street's second store in 1890. He and his sister, Mrs. Stanley Linton, have operated the store since the death of their father.

He was active in many community affairs — Nelson's fair and exhibitions, music, the stage, service club work, and sports.

Mr. Gilker was born December 23, 1894. He went to school in a building which was on the site of the present Central School.

During World War 1, he served with the Royal Air Force.

Charter member of the Rotary Club, he was president in 1933-34 and was elected president of the Pioneers Club of Rotary District No. 103 at Spokane in 1949.

Active for many years in the West Kootenay Agricultural and Industrial Exhibition, he was president in 1953, served on many committees and is one of the Exhibition's honorary presidents.

A clarinettist, he was delighted in working with a small group of friends in ensembles, and when the Nelson Operatic Society was active, served as vice-president and was a long-standing executive member. He was keenly interested in the Little Theatre movement and was active for many years in the Kootenay Music Festival.

In his younger years he played hockey and baseball. Later he became a curler and figure skater. As a curler, he served for some years as an executive member of the B.C. Curling Association, reelected secretary-treasurer in February, 1958, and again a year later. In 1959 he was named British Columbia delegate to the Dominion Curling Association meeting in Quebec City.

He also served several years with the Civic Centre Commission and with the Midsummer Bonspiel.

He was predeceased by his father in 1940 and his mother in 1954. His sister, Mrs. Linton, is his only survivor. Mr. Gilker resided at 217 Victoria Street.

Taghum Crash Claims Life of Silverton Man

Loses Control Downhill

By VERN SIMALUK
Daily News Staff Writer

A rain-splattered Taghum hill highway claimed the life of a Silverton confectionery store proprietor and sent a Silverton pioneer to Kootenay Lake General Hospital late Wednesday afternoon.

The sturdy body of Eugene Gonet, believed to be about 35 years old, was removed from the twisted doorway of his battered early model vehicle during a steady downpour at a spot just below the Taghum Nursery, nearly a mile from Taghum bridge.

His riding companion, John Matheson, 73, is reported to be suffering from bruises and shock. It is not known if he will be released from hospital today.

Facts surrounding the accident are as hazy as the intermittent downpours which hammered Taghum Hill Wednesday. Even the survivor of the accident is unable to recount too clearly what happened.

Mr. Matheson's first words upon recovering consciousness were, "what happened?"

It is believed that the blue vehicle was proceeding down the hill on pavement which was fairly dry considering the weather of the day when it went out of control negotiating a curve.

It is believed that it rolled or bounced about 125 feet down the hard-topped highway, coming to rest on its wheels broadside in the opposite lane. Scattered over the area was a hubcap, about 100 feet away, groceries, the motor hood which had been torn from its hinges rested alongside the vehicle, and a seat cushion was jarred from its hinges.

It is believed that Mr. Gonet died almost instantly. He was dead when the Nelson Ambulance arrived on the scene. A few minutes earlier the Thompson Ambulance had picked up Matheson, who was resting beside the road, covered with blankets.

When the Nelson Ambulance arrived a cloudburst drenched the scene and the blanket-covered victim, lying in the doorway, quickly became soaked as did the officials and spectators at the scene.

Mr. Gonet, described as a popular, civic-minded man by one Silverton resident, also was said to be a careful, good driver. RCMP have yet to establish who was driving the vehicle at the time of the accident.

Mr. Gonet bought the confectionery business only last year and had come from Holland to Canada just after the Second World War had ended. He had been an employee of Western Exploration Mine for several years.

He is survived in Canada by his wife, Hendrina.

RCMP are investigating.

RCMP Check Lead Missing Girl Car Passenger

INVERMERE (Correspondent) — While exhausted searchers continued their search Wednesday for 12-year-old Brenda Byman of nearby Wilmer, Royal Canadian Mounted Police began probing the possibility that the missing girl had left the district in a car.

The intensive search pressed on as the police broadcast a request to the driver of a light blue sedan or station wagon, with a white top, to report to the nearest detachment.

The vehicle was reported seen on a side road between Wycliffe and Marysville, near Kimberley, at 2 p.m. Monday. A man driver and a young girl passenger were observed.

The girl's description has also been broadcast. She is five feet, four inches, weighs 100 pounds, has reddish blonde hair, gray-blue eyes and a slim, well developed figure. She has freckles across her nose. She was wearing a white blouse, gray slacks, a purple-blue parka coat with pink collar and blue and white saddle oxfords.

Searchers, red-eyed from sleep, chilled to the bone from teeming rain and raw winds, and covered with mud trekked to their homes for a few hours sleep. Then they returned to the the search.

For three days and nights they have pushed through bush in the area. Bonfires have been kept burning, and trails patrolled. The girl left the home of her grandmother at Wilmer about 2 p.m. Sunday with a promise to be home by four. She has not been seen since.

The area abounds with grizzlies, but while searchers have seen many bears, they feel that if the girl had been attacked by one they would have found a clue by now.

Staff Sgt. Philip Boulton of Cranbrook gave high praise to the men of the Windermere district who have turned out in harrowing weather conditions to search for the girl. "They are magnificent," he said, "and the valley can be proud of their efforts."

Bonner Scores Trail Doukhobor Restrictions

Attorney-General Robert Bonner said in a statement Wednesday, decision by Trail City Council to impose restrictions on persons of Doukhobor origin is "alien to the concepts of teaching citizens civil liberties in Canada."

He also said council might want to reflect on the proposals, which he described as far-reaching.

A special session with RCMP was held Tuesday in an effort to find a solution to recent bombing outbreaks blamed on the Sons of Freedom.

It was suggested to the attorney-general that consideration be given to issuing certificates to persons of Doukhobor origin identifying them as property taxpayers.

Those not possessing the certificates would have curfews imposed on them and be ineligible for social assistance or motor vehicle licences.

Meanwhile an RCMP inspector says he expects more bombings in the Kootenays. Inspector F. W. Joinson, commander of the Nelson detachment, said stolen dynamite was used in the weekend bombings.

"There still is a considerable quantity of stolen dynamite unaccounted for and we're on the alert for more explosions."

Municipalities will have a chance to thresh out the problem at a Kootenay municipalities convention at the weekend in Marysville.

Civic leaders have already called for fast action to end the 50-year-old reign of terror.

The decision of Trail council was made in the wake of renewed bombing incidents on the weekend.

It has also directed the city solicitor to draft a bylaw allowing farm produce to be sold in the city market only by property taxpayers.

U.S. Forms Cold-War Watch

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. state department has disclosed the formation of a new cold-war operation centre to keep a constant 24-hour watch on world crisis spots.

Heading the agency is Theodore Achilles, 55, who played a major role in drafting the North Atlantic treaty 13 years ago and now works directly under State Secretary Dean Rusk.

The agency's task is to see that necessary actions are taken promptly to deal with cold-war problems, the state department said.

STEWARDESSES ASK CREDIT FOR JET FLIGHTS

MONTREAL (CP) — A conciliation board report is expected by the end of the week on a contract dispute between Trans-Canada Air Lines and its stewardesses.

Main point of contention is a demand by the stewardesses for additional flying time credit for TCA's DC-8 jetliners.

The stewardesses said they have to make more flights on jets to get in their monthly flying time of about 85 hours.

A DC-8 can make six return Montreal-London flightly in slightly less than the time it used to take a Super-Constellation to make three.

The stewardesses also want shorter working hours and ground transportation to and from the airports.

LABOR WRITER TUMPANE DIES

TORONTO (CP) — Michael F. Tumpane, 84, a labor journalist and one of the founders of the labor movement in Canada, died Wednesday after a brief illness, six weeks after the death of his wife.

He was the father of Frank Tumpane, columnist for the Toronto Telegram, and Clare Tumpane.

When he was a printing pressman in 1904, Mr. Tumpane led a group of Canadian unionists that broke away from United States affiliations and started a distinctly-Canadian organization.

He was president of the Canadian Federation of Labor from 1920 to 1922. In 1927 he began a career as a labor journalist and founded the newspaper The Trade Unionist which he edited until his retirement five years ago.

Senator Roebuck Won't Be 'Bullied'

Liberals Continue Attack Against Tariff Ruling

OTTAWA (CP)—Liberal Senator Arthur Roebuck said Wednesday he will not be "bullied" or "wheedled" by anybody into abrogating his right to propose amendments to the government's controversial tariff legislation.

The Ontario senator also told the Senate during debate of a government measure granting the national revenue minister arbitrary powers in certain tariff decisions that he will not be frightened from doing his duty by threats to abolish or liquidate the senate.

Senator Roebuck joined other Liberals who have launched an all-out attack against a provision in the bill giving the minister arbitrary powers in some tariff rulings without the right of appeal. The Senate's Liberal majority served notice last week that it will attempt to kill the provision.

Most of Senator Roebuck's speech was an attack on a Senate statement Tuesday night by Senator William Brunt, deputy government leader, challenging the right of the Se ate to amend the bill.

Senator Brunt said the Senate has no right to interfere with or change a bill dealing with budget and fiscal matters against the wishes of the elected representatives of the Commons.

"The right of this chamber to amend government bills has never been challenged," Senator Roebuck said.

If Senator Brunt really believed the Senate could not amend the tariff bill "he might as well pack his bags and return to his constituency of Hanover. . . . He has no further purpose to serve by remaining here. If he believes that, then he is all through and so are we, if we are hog-tied, hand and foot, in that manner."

Senator Leon Methot (PC—Quebec) urged Liberal members to reconsider their stand on the legislation. He said they would find the measure is one of the best proposed by any government since confederation.

"The only thing that we in this House cannot do—and that same thing the members of the House of Commons cannot do—is to propose or pass a bill appropriating money from the public treasury. That requires the consent of, and a message from the crown."

With the exception of that, the responsibilities, rights and privileges of the Senate were as great as those of the Commons.

Senator Roebuck, one - time attorney - general of Ontario, said that if Senator Brunt is right the Senate could no longer be a chamber of sober second thought. It would be denied the means of making that thought effective.

Green Advises U.S. On Cuba and Laos

By DAVE McINTOSH
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OSLO (CP)—Canadian External Affairs Minister Green for a long time has been hammering at the theme that NATO should not huddle in on itself like an old man in a storm.

Instead, it should go out to meet the world and all its problems, not merely those affecting the alliance directly.

What possible influence, Green demanded, could the 15-nation alliance have in the 99-member United Nations if it acted as a bloc? This could only serve to make the Africans and Asians suspicious.

Murville was one of those who described this as a false doctrine.

At the NATO meeting last December, Green was about the only minister putting forward such views.

At the Oslo NATO meeting which concluded today, Green got powerful support from U.S. State Secretary Rusk, British Foreign Secretary Lord Home, Foreign Minister Lange of Norway, Foreign Minister Krag of Denmark, and even Foreign Minister Couve de Murville of France.

LOOK SQUARELY AT WORLD

For the first time, it can be fairly said, the alliance crawled out of its defensive shell and began to look at all world problems and to discuss what it might do about them.

The final communique said the Communist menace which brought about NATO "is now not only military but also has worldwide political, economic, scientific and psychological aspects."

NATO for a long time was prone to see all the world's ills as Communist plots.

At this meeting, Couve de Portugal got short shrift from the other members, including Belgium and the Netherlands, when it maintained in effect that there are Communists under every rock not only in its colony of Angola but in Ghana, Nigeria, Mali, Guinea, Morocco, Tunisia, Ethiopia, Mauretania and the United Arab Republic.

Canadian officials said this attempt to read communism into every independence movement didn't cut any ice at all with the other NATO ministers.

Firm Ruled Negligent

VANCOUVER (CP) — A Supreme Court jury has ruled that a supply firm was negligent in replacing a rear wheel which later slipped off a moving car, causing the death of a mother of five.

The jury assessed compensation of $30,847 against Cascade Industrial Supply Company Limited of Chilliwack in the death last August of Mrs. Mary Rita Lewis of Sardis, B.C.

KELOWNA (CP)—Reveen, a touring Australian hypnotist, protested a $60 trade licence charge for a three-day stand here. Fee was double that paid by city merchants. "Disgraceful," said Reveen. "We never have this trouble in larger cities."

VANCOUVER (CP)—At the United Kingdom Trade Commission exhibit at the British Columbia International Trade Fair are three huge aerial photographs.

On the left is Oxford University. On the right is Cambridge.

In the middle, well, not even the man from the trade commission can figure out just where in the U.K. this photo was taken.

They've cabled London seeking the answer.

Meanwhile, the photo has become centre of such interest at the fair that United Kingdom trade commissioner W. K. Ward has put up a $10 award to the first person able to give the correct identity.

VANCOUVER (CP)—The secretary of the British Columbia Federation of Labor (CLC) said Wednesday MacMillan, Bloedel and Powell River Limited would move to Siberia if they could make a fast profit there.

Pat O'Neal was commenting on the announcement Tuesday by the company that it is considering a multi-million dollar pulp and paperboard mill in Australia.

He said he was amazed the company, which has made millions from the natural resources and labor of British Columbia, should be thinking of investing in another country, particularly when every effort was being made to have Canadians buy Canadian goods.

City May Convert Parking Meters

Do away with penny parking meters and replace them with nickle-eating machines was suggested to city council.

It was one of the few points brought up in a discussion of the city parking problem, triggered by a report from city magistrate R. S. Nelson explaining his reason for boosting the parking fine from $1 to $2.

Ald. F. A. Beresford suggested the nickle meters for one-hour parking only, which was strongly supported by Ald. J. W. McClelland. The latter insisted that such meters would do away with much of the repair of the present penny-nickle meters. Greatest damage results from persons force-feeding a penny into the meter. They then slam it with their hand, making it register an hour's parking time, he said.

It was also suggested that cars be allowed to park for one hour only, at one spot. After the hour had been ticked off, the vehicle would have to be moved to another spot. Such a manoeuver would require extra policing.

COURTESY TICKETS

For outside residents it was suggested that courtesy tickets be made available, like the village of Creston is now doing.

Also discussed was the possibility of keeping the meters in effect on Friday nights (shopping night) until 9 p.m. when the stores close.

Who to consult? This also brings varied answers. Ald. Edith Van Maarion wished to consult with the Retail Merchants Association. Mayor T. S. Shorthouse preferred the Chamber of Commerce and Ald. J. S. M. Hart suggested the police commission and at the same time suggested that better policing could help ease the problem.

The matter was referred to the Transportation Committee for investigation.

Magistrate Nelson said in his report that the increase in the fine was due to the increasing abuses o fthe parking law, due to the disregard of the meagre $1 fine. About 90 per cent of the offenders were local residents.

Since boosting the amount of the fine, he noted, there has been a decrease in violations of that nature, the result sought in levying the heavier fine.

The parking meter bylaw was instigated in October, 1951, and its purpose was to keep traffic moving.

McCrae Creek Tender Call In Two Weeks

Tenders for the bridge which will span McCrae Creek at the westerly end of the Kinnaird-Christina Lake Highway now under construction will be called within two weeks, Highways Minister P. A. Gaglardi Wednesday informed J. D. McMynn of Trail, newly-elected president of the Chambers of Commerce of Southeastern B.C.

The highways minister wired the information in reply to a telegram sent by delegates to the 60th annual meeting April 30 at Nakusp of the ACCSBC.

"Sorry unable to reply sooner but I was awaiting information," Mr. Gaglardi said.

Handicapped Society Heads Elected

Hope of a custodial home for handicapped children in Creston appears brighter, J. A. Maglio, president, told the annual meeting of the Nelson Branch of the Kootenay Society for Handicapped Children Wednesday.

Recently, stated Mr. Maglio, a 35-acre lot was obtained for the proposed home. The 12-acre lot originally purchased by the Society proved unsuitable.

The proposed home is a place where handicapped persons will be able to spend the rest of their lives without the necessity of moving too far away from their families.

Elected directors at the meeting were C. B. Garland, QC, Mr. Maglio, Mrs. G. W. Buckley, Mrs. C. W. Tyler, A. G. Olson and Miss Emily Hamson.

Following the meeting a movie showing how to deal with shyness in children was shown.

Veterans Cheer Land Act Acreage Change

Nelson Branch of the Canadian Legion has seen the fulfillment of a nine-year old dream to lower land requirements under the Veterans Land Act regulations.

The announcement Tuesday by Hon. Gordon Churchill, minister of veteran affairs, that ex-servicemen can now qualify for small land holdings with only one-half an acre brings to an end a hard-fought battle that began in the Queen City under Legion sponsorship in 1952.

President Benjamin McCreight said Tuesday that the Legion was the first in the province to take action to bring about the newly instituted regulations.

"The Branch petitioned the West Kootenay Zone Council to bring the unreasonable 1.6 acres requirements to the attention of Provincial Command with a view to placing it before Dominion Command and the House of Commons," Mr. McCreight explained.

He said that for many years H. W. Herridge, MP Kootenay West, has agitated to bring about the present legislation.

He also gave much credit for the new ruling to past Zone Commander Bert Lamb from Castlegar-Robson Legion, who "has worked incessantly in the interests of keeping this important issue before the authorities."

Mr. McCreight said that the new regulations will open the way for a large number of local veterans to establish their own homes in the immediate district.

He pointed out that due to property limitations there were few available sites of 1.6 acres that could be offered to veteran buyers.

4548 'Phones In Nelson

Nelson residents have 4548 telephones or about the same number of telephones added to the British Columbia Telephone Company system during the first three months of 1961. The figure for the Queen City represents a decrease of nine telephones.

The company installed 4485 telephones during the first quarter of 1961 to bring the total to 551,277 at the end of March.

Service crews connected 34,796 telephones and disconnected 30,311 during January, February, and March.

Here is the telephone situation in Kootenay centres: Grand Forks, 1037, (increase 31); Rossland, 1252, (increase 9); Trail, 7266, (increase 69); Castlegar 1309, (increase 57); Christina Lake, 87 (increase 3); New Denver, 268, (decrease 1); Slocan City, 30, (increase 1); South Slocan, 250, (increase 31); Nelson 4548, (decrease 9); Salmo 350, (decrease 2); Cranbrook, 2746, (increase 58); Creston, 1828, (increase 35); Fernie, 911, (increase 17); and Invermere, 551, (increase 5).

During the three months the average number of business day calls in the company system was 3,531,000 compared with 3,339,000 for the same period in 1960. Long distance calls totalled 3,975,000 sompared to 3,830,000 for the first three months of last year.

Sons Will Cooperate If Clears Us – Elasoff

Secretary Peter Elasoff of the Fraternal Council of Reformed Doukhobors (Sons of Freedom) said in an interview Wednesday the council would accept curfews and other action if it would help clear the council in the eyes of the public and police.

He was commenting on action of Trail council Tuesday night in suggesting curfews on non-property owning members of the 3000-strong radical Sons of Freedom sect.

Council also suggested implementation of an identity card system identifying property taxpayers as such and denying non-holders such benefits as driving licences and welfare payments.

The move was made after a renewed outbreak of bombings blamed on the radical sect.

"If they think this will make control possible I'm all for it," said Mr. Elasoff. "But I don't think it will stop the bombings."

Asked if he knew if any members of the fraternal council had a hand in the bombings, he said, "I have begged the members of the council on my bended knees to come forward with any information that may help us solve the problem.

"I certainly hope it is not the case that any of our people are involved in the atrocities. If they were and we found out they would be expelled from the council."

"We sincerely believe if the brief was acted on, peace would reign in the Kootenays," Peter Elasoff, secretary, stated here Wednesday.

He was speaking about a 30-odd page manuscript that has been circulating for the last few weeks. In it the complicity of "certain well-known persons" within the Doukhobor sect in connection with recent terrorism, is alleged.

Mr. Elasoff stated he is forced to agree with J. H. Coventry of Nelson, who recently stated he believes the hands of the RCMP have been tied in solving the terrorist problem.

"The only reason I can see for saying the brief is of no value is that if it were acted on there might be certain repercussions."

"The council has no fear the brief may prove incorrect, because we have facts to back it up," he stated.

Census Commissioners Named in Nelson District

June 1 is Census Day in Canada — the day 26,000 enumerators will begin knocking on 4½ million doors of about 18 million Canadians to determine, among other things, provincial representation in the federal House of Commons.

The census has an almost infinite number of other uses in business, industry, and education.

Nelson barristers R. Blake Allan and Leigh M. McBride have been appointed census commissioners to manage the census in the city, in the district toward Crescent Valley and Shoreacres, and along the north shore, the west arm and main body of Kootenay Lakt.

Mr. Allan is commissioner for the nothwest area to Lardeau. The electoral district includes centdes on the east side of Kootenay Lake from Johnson's Landing south to Boswell. Mr. McBride is commissioner for the area including City of Nelson and toward Crescent Valley and Shoreacres.

This year there will be four censuses. Besides the main population forms, enumerators will fill out sheets on housing, agriculture and merchandising. They will also take a detailed sampling of migration and personal income. Mr. Allan cited as an example the fact that persons in every third house will be asked questions regarding housing.

The commissioners are now receiving applications for the enumerating jobs. Mr. Allan said Tuesday he expected to have a staff of 12 persons and was trying to find people who reside in the actual areas to be enumerated.

Census takers receive four days training and must pass two tests. They will earn 17 cents for each man, woman or child enumerated, more for rural areas and for certain additional census forms.

'The training is most necessary as it is quite a complicated business," Mr. Allan said. He and Mr. McBride will instruct proper census taking methods during a three-day course. It will be held in the Eagles' Hall. Date of commencement has not been set but it is expected to begin in the near future.

Most of the census-taking will be completed in about three weeks. After regional checking the individual documents will be sent to the Dominion Bureau of Statistics at Ottawa. At headquarters a new electronic document "reader" will scan the sheets and transfer the answers to magnetic tape. The electronic "reader" is the only one of its kind in existence.

Results of this census will be published in an extensive series of bulletins, the first in about six months, and final tabulations about one year later.

Complete picture of Canada for the day June 1, 1961, if bound, would fill about 12 volumes.

DEATH ACCIDENT

The death of Richard Peter Maggi of Bonners Ferry, Idaho, killed in an auto accident near Creston, April 23, was ruled accidental in an inquest Monday.

Mr. Maggi's two travelling companions were hospitalized following the accident but were released shortly after.

Injunction Against Amalgamation?

The Queen City of the Kootenay may yet be known as the "injunction city of the Kootenay."

A reliable source stated that organized opposition in Upper Fairview had approached solicitor M. E. Moran of Castlegar on the possibilities of getting an injunction to stop the proposed amalgamation with three fringe areas, Upper Fairview, Rosemont and South Nelson.

It was also reported that Mr. Moran, who handled the Citizens' Committee injunction in the city hall controversy, declined this new action.

Mr. Moran was unavailable for comment, having departed for Spokane Wednesday.

A member reported to be involved in the organized opposition said Tuesday night that he had not personally heard of any such action, but could not say that such action is not being planned in Upper Fairview.

Highway Plans Hold Up Federal Reply on Trail Urban Renewal

OTTAWA (CP) — A proposed urban renewal project in Trail, B.C., is being delayed because of a plan to use part of the land for a provincial highway, Works Minister Walker said Tuesday in the Commons.

Replying to H. W. Herridge (CCF — Kootenay West), he said the city asked for a federal contribution towards acquiring and clearing 14.4 acres. But it also was proposed to use 40 per cent of the land as right-of-way for relocation of a highway. This point would have to be discussed first.

Mayor Leslie Read of Trail, speaking to the retail section of the Trail Chamber of Commerce last week said "To us, urban renewal means a lot; and $1,100,000 is a lot of money to a city this size. It works out to about $100 per capita. That's why we are anxious to get on with the job."

Mayor Read said the B.C. government has approved the first phase and agreed to pay 25 per cent of the cost. Trail also pays 25 per cent and the federal government, if it approves the plan, pays 50 per cent.

"We hope the federal government will understand our problem," continued the mayor. "If they reject the plan it means, then, that the onus would be on the provincial government to increase its share of the cost."

The mayor said the day would come when a $260,000 or $270,000 money bylaw would be presented to citizens of Trail in connection with urban renewal.

"This will be the big test," he said. "I ask you to support it as it will benefit all."

Mayor Read said 100 buildings and land would have to be purchased in West Trail, once the first phase of the study becomes a reality.

"This emphasizes even more so," he stated, "the importance of the new Glenmerry extension subdivision."

In reviewing the history of urban renewal in Trail, Mayor Read told merchants that when he first came into office (1956) track remoavl problem was one of the major problems confronting the council.

"In 1957, we decided to engage consultants (Prof. Peter Oberlander and Reg Cave) to make a study under the NHA. In 1959 a detailed report was completed at a cost of $11,000.

MINSTRELS PLAY AT EDGEWATER

INVERMERE — Edgewater brought Jack Price's Minstrels to Invermere Friday and played to a responsive audience.

The performance in Lake Windermere Memorial Community Centre was both merry and melodious. Based largely on Stephen Foster songs, the presentation was well-staged and well-directed and the special quality of the music was a tribute to the ability of the musical director, Mrs. Eugen Seel. Mrs. Seel's violin solos were among the most popular selections.

In the cast was Jim Pattison, a former member of the World War I "Dumbells." Interlocutor was Henry Giesbrecht and soloists were Mrs. Chris Madson and Miss Sharon Greer.

The minstrels played two nights at Edgewater last week and plan performancies at other points.

Kootenays Should Get On Bandwagon

It seems clear that Vancouver Island has a bright future as a tourist mecca. It has an excellent ferry system and the traffic on the government-owned ferries from Tswassen to the Island in the first nine months of operation has been sufficiently heavy to return a profit of $880,000 over and above all expenses and interest.

It is clear that more people are going to the Island all the time, not for the ferry ride but because the people of Vancouver Island are tourist conscious and are seeking means to attract more visitors.

Just recently the Association of Vancouver Municipalities in its annual meeting approved a joint effort to attract visitors and agreed to set up a promotional fund on a per capita basis. It asked the inclusion of AVIM directors on the board of the Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau to administer the all-Island fund.

The Associated Chambers of Commerce of Vancouver Island will also be invited to participate in the Vancouver Island publicity drive providing they assist financially.

This is the first area to take the government up on its offer to match grants for area promotion. Mr. Westwood, Minister of Recreation, said there was $10,000 available for this purpose for each area.

This is something which the Kootenays should consider immediately. Tourists today do not want to come just to one city. They want to know that each day's journey has something of interest to them. They want to be told of those points of interest and to visit them as they travel along.

Mr. Westwood, speaking at a luncheon to the Association, urged Island communities to arrange "package" scenic tours for summer tourists. It is advice which Kootenay communities might well follow. A large surge of tourists from the fair in Seattle in 1962 is expected to reach British Columbia and we have plenty to offer them.

The Associated Boards of Trade might take the matter in hand and join with Kootenay municipalities in raising the necessary funds. They could then put publicity in the hands of a strong committee which would be representative of all sections of the Kootenays, and make a worthwhile bid for more tourist trade.

The present Summer Bonspiel is undoubtedly a big attraction to Nelson but other cities, from the tourists' point of view, are well worth a visit. The secret of successful tourist direction is passing the tourist from one community to the other with no lack of interest.

Where Public Policy Is Made

To the disappointment of some members of the Senate Manpower Committee, Governor James E. Coyne of the Bank of Canada has again declined to tell the government precisely how it should run this country.

It is a wise decision on Coyne's part. Policy-making is none of his business. It is a measure of his good judgment that he cannot be tempted to go beyond his specific duties as the government's head money manager and banker.

What Coyne has done repeatedly and did again before the recent Senate committee sessions is to report the disquieting facts of life in the Canadian economy and in very broad outline point out some of the things that might be done about it.

He says, for instance, that over the next year or two there should be some improvement in the pace and accomplishments of business. This is good news.

But he points out that there is little ground for confidence that the forthcoming improvement will do much more than absorb the flow of young men and women who, every year, reach working age.

Canada's high-level unemployment situation will remain with us unless some drastic and imaginative moves are made in public policy.

What better tip-off to action could any mature government want?

Anxious as the present Canadian government may be to divest itself of responsibility for this recession, it still has a clear duty to create a suitable framework for new growth.

This, plainly, cannot be done by great pour-outs of cash and credit. Our ills are very basic ills that come from living in a newly and fiercely competitive trading world. Doses of inflation won't cure them.

What is needed at this critical point in Canadian development is, as Coyne suggests, forceful, imaginative and planned action on the government front. He told the Senate committee:

"Governments at all levels can remove difficulties in the way of Canadian business enterprises, assist them to carry on research and product development, enlarge market opportunities for them, provide subsidies in some cases, at least on a temporary basis, and give tax concessions, depreciation allowances and so on, on a selective basis calculated to improve the profit-making possibilities of Canadian-owned businesses."

Not everyone will agree that incentives to expansion should be limited to Canadian-owned businesses, but Coyne clearly pins responsibility for action where it belongs—on government shoulders.

To do this is a public service and an act of courage which has, no doubt, created some embarrassment for the government that employs him. To go further by publicly prescribing specific remedies would be unwise and unwarranted for a government servant.

The time has come, it would seem, for Coyne's critics to get off his back and to turn their attention to other fields more ripe for reconstruction.

Happy Man

For the first time since astrology lost its hold on thought, there is good reason to scan the sky for portents. The mind hesitates, dismayed by the prospect of human quarrels finding their way, rocket-borne, into the distant reaches of the cosmos. The imagination shies from truly pondering the consequences — political, military, scientific, and just horrible — of man's first wobbly step away from his old global home. And yet we were unreasonably heartened by the Russian astronaut's account of his strange voyage. Floating weightlessly in his capsule, Major Gagarin found it possible to eat and drink and sing. By his own account, he experienced joy. And—thanks, doubtless, to the triviality of our mind—we draw a measure of encouragement from the news that the first human being to whirl in a precarious equilibrium between the warm curve of the earth and the cold imbecility of space should have the courage, or the perversity, to be a very happy man.—New Yorker.

Interpreting The News

By JOSEPH MacSWEEN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

NATO foreign ministers are trying to knock down the self-created image of Soviet Premier Khrushchev as the champion of dependent peoples

Khrushchev has developed to a high degree the art of taking credit for historic changes that actually had their birth in Western political experience.

The NATO ministers meeting in Oslo have remarked with concern on the progress made in this campaign by Khrushchev since last September when, at the United Nations General Assembly, he issued his call for total independence everywhere, at once.

WENT ON RAMPAGE

It was typical that no country opposed a debate on colonialism in the UN but Khrushchev promptly went on the rampage on a procedural issue—the famous shoe-waving incident—and succeeded in seizing the initative and becoming an anti-colonial star from the outset.

Khrushchev didn't have to figure all the moves for himself. He had help from some of the colonial powers and the United States lent a hand through the Cuban fiasco.

Of the NATO countries, Britain, France, the Netherlands and Portugal are colonial powers and Belgium is not altogether free of ties and interests in The Congo.

All these countries except Portugal had evolved plans for liquidating their empires long before Khrushchev's intervention.

U.S. REPROACHED

The U.S. has incurred bitter reproach among many of the smaller countries for its tendency in the past to support regimes which, on the mere basis of anti - communism resisted all social change.

The statements in Oslo of External Affairs Minister Green of Canada reflect, in the case of Cuba, a lesson that was evident in the closing days of the UN General Assembly in New York.

It was clear the great majority of UN members, regardless of their opinion of Fidel Castro and his associates, were dismayed and shocked by the U.S. role in the Cuban landings.

The NATO foreign ministers have indicated that no matter how far afield the Western setback, it will have benefits for the main Communist strategy in Europe. In that rich, populous area, Moscow is said already to be planning a new diplomatic assault on West Berlin.

MAIL PAYMENT

KELOWNA (CP) — Traffic offenders will have the opportunity of paying fines by mail if a new plan approved by the city goes into effect. Council approved an application by the Lieutenant - Governor for an Order-In-Council allowing the city to use a form of traffic ticket containing summons, information sheet, police report and conviction record.

People ain't really mean in spirit. Everybody in our little town knows things that would put some folks in jail; but nothin' is ever reported.

F. B. Pearce ...Writes

Parents must realize that they are bringing up their children for them to leave them and make their own way in the world. For this reason they should enjoy them while they have them.

There are three periods in a child's life before he becomes an adult. The first is from babyhood to the time when he goes to school. Here the parents are learning how to deal with him. How successful they may be depends largely on the amount of tolerance they display for the child, young as it is, is trying to assert itself as a person. Even at this age, if there are clashes of will this should not be taken too much to heart by the parent but rather as something which must be taken as a matter of course.

When the child starts school, until he leaves the elementary school he is rather a pleasant person to have around. Elementary teachers have by far the easiest time where child emotional troubles are concerned but the picture changes completely in the junior high school when the adolescent period of childhood commences. Nothing in their previous experience with their children prepares the parents for adolescence and to some observers it would seem that this is intended to make the parents glad to get rid of their children.

At this time they all seem to their bewildered parents to have gone slightly mad. There is no end to the odd varieties of behavior they exhibit. They are moody, often exceedingly rude to the parents they once treated with affection, they wear weird clothes, do their hair in an extreme fashion and shut themselves up in their rooms from the rest of the family. Their chief cry at this time is "Mother, you don't understand." And how right they are. There is no miracle drug which can cure adolescence. The disease has to take its course.

Home environment may influence the adolescent though I am not sure that it does. Treatment may make adolescents less irritating but here again I am not sure that it does. It is not surprising that many hopeful people think it can, however.

In England, the president of the Education Welfare Officers' National Association believes that the segregation of the sexes in schools is one cause of delinquency. He says, "There is nothing wrong with the boy-meets-girl theme when the emphasis is on the right things, and I believe that education in the same school and class can go a long way towards restoring a sensible balance."

I doubt it. We have co-education and we have our troubles too. The only real solution is to get rid of adolescence. Perhaps science will come up with some sort of a tranquillizer for the unhappy victims.

Minister Starr Explains Jobless Benefits

OTTAWA (CP)—Labor Minister Starr indicated Wednesday that workers who took part in a delegation of unemployed to Ottawa will not get unemployment insurance benefits for the time they were away from home.

In a Commons reply to Judy LaMarsh (L — Niagara Falls) Mr. Starr said the Unemployment Insurance Act states that an insured person is disqualified from receiving benefits for every day he fails to prove he was capable of and available for work.

"This is a statutory requirement that permits no discretionary powers," said Mr. Starr.

PORT ALBERNI (CP) — A campaign to raise $325,000 for an arena has been launched here. About $10,000 was pledged before the drive began. a 10.5 acre site has been reserved for the arena.

Cow Gives Birth To Quadruplets

BELLEVILLE, Ont. (CP)—Daisy, a Holstein cow, may have established a world record by giving birth here to quadruplets.

Dr. C. A. V. Barker, a specialist at the Ontario Veterinary College, said the birth was a "one-in-a-million" occurrence, particularly since all four are alive and healthy. He said it was the first birth of its kind he had heard of in Canada and may be the first in the world.

Multiple births are nothing new for Daisy. Last year she had triplets, two years ago twins and three years ago bore the first set of triplets.

Bangkok Finds Plot To Seize Thailand

BANGKOK (Reuters) — Interior Minister Prapas Charusathien announced Wednesday the government has uncovered a Communist plot to seize power in northeastern Thailand.

He told reporters documents and evidence seized during the recent arrest of 20 Communist suspects in the area showed an "outside power" was supporting the plot.

Charusathien did not name the "outside power."

According to the interior minister, the plot was headed by a former member of parliament named Krong Chathayong, who was also a member of the leftist Socialist Front.

Charusathien said Communist agents in northeastern Thailand were maintaining contact with Communists in neighboring Laos.

These elements, he added, were engaged in spreading Communist propaganda and recruiting and training villagers in guerrilla warfare.

Thailand outlawed communism 10 years ago.

NATO Pledged To Continue Controlled Disarmament

CP from AP-Reuters

OSLOW, Norway — The 15-nation North Atlantic Treaty Organization pledged Wednesday to continue its effort for world disarmament under effective international control.

A communique issued at the end of a three-day conference by the alliance's foreign ministers here said world disarmament by stages remained one of the principal objectives of NATO's member governments.

The communique also declared the foreign ministers' belief that a settlement to the problem of a divided Germany, including Berlin, can be found "only on the basis of self - determination."

The foreign ministers reaffirmed their determination to maintain the freedom of West Berlin against any Communist threat.

The communique said that if Russia decided to renounce its agreements with the Western Allies on Berlin by signing a peace treaty with Communist Est Germany, this would "in no way deprive the other parties of their rights or relieve the Soviet Union of its obligations."

HOPE TALKS RESUME

The communique expressed the hope that proposed talks between the United Stats and Russia would enable the resumption of East-West disarmament negotiations.

The foreign ministers rapped the Soviet government for its "negative attitude" at Geneva toward a new Anglo - American plan for banning nuclear tests.

The communique said the foreign ministers hoped Russia would "move promptly to join in an effective treaty as a first and significant step toward disarmament."

The communique said the ministers were "aware of the intensified efforts of the Communist bloc to foment and to exploit conflicts and to extend its domination over an ever-increasing area" and "reaffirmed their resolve to meet this challenge."

They instructed the NATO permanent council in Paris to continue its studies of all aspects of the military strength of the alliance aimed at improving its deterrent and defensive power.

At the same time the ministers declared that they are ready "to make their contribution toward achieving an equitable and just settlement of outstanding political questions."

MAJOR TASK

The communique described work to raise the social and material standards of the world's less-developed areas as one of the "major challenges of our time" and added that it was "a challenge which the members of the Atlantic alliance gladly accept."

During their talks, the communique said, the ministers had considered means of assisting efforts being made by two NATO members — Greece and Turkey—to speed up development programs and improve living standards of their people.

The communique said the menace facing the alliance was not only military but also was political, economic, scientific and psychological.

"But it is resolved to defend the right of its peoples to live in freedom," the communique pledged.

A brief morning session today wound up the three - day talks and ministers prepared to head home or to Geneva for the international conference on Laos scheduled to open there Friday.

CP from AP-Reuters

OSLO, Norway—The NATO ministerial council Wednesday prepared to wind up its three-day meeting armed with a United States offer of five Polaris submarines.

Foreign ministers from the 15 alliance members held a final morning session to approve a press statement before returning home or proceeding to the international conference on Laos scheduled to open Friday in Geneva, Switzerland.

U.S. State Secretary Dean Rusk was scheduled to fly to Geneva tonight and External Affairs Minister Green of Canada was due there Thursday night. The U.S., Britain, France and Canada will be represented at the 14-country conference.

Rusk offered Tuesday to commit to the "NATO area" five submarines equipped with Polaris medium - range nuclear missiles.

RETAIN CONTROL

He said the subs would remain under American control and would not provide the 15-nation alliance with an independent nuclear striking force.

It was noted that Rusk's offer fell short of that made last December by former state secretary Christian Herter to supply NATO with 180 Polaris or similar missiles by the end of 1964.

The new offer reflected President Kennedy's emphasis on Western ability to repel an attack with conventional weapons so nuclear forces would not be used in the early stages of any hostilities.

Green proposed at Tuesday's meeting that the alliance's permanent council and military experts begin studies now for use in East - West disarmament talks scheduled to open in August.

RENEWED PROPOSAL

He also renewed the Canadian proposal for a NATO heads-of - government meeting as a means to strengthen and publicize the alliance. Further consideration will be given to this in the permanent council.

The NATO foreign ministers decided Tuesday the 12-year-old alliance needs new machinery to increase its political effectiveness but they left it to the NATO permanent council in Paris to decide between two proposals.

One proposal, recommended by the Earl of Home, British foreign secretary, is for a "North Atlantic political advisory group" meeting three or four times a year to deal with long-term problems.

It would consist of all NATO members, but individual countries could drop out when they were not interested in the subject under discussion.

STUDY PROBLEMS

The other plan, recommended by Paul-Henri Spaak, Belgian foreign minister and former NATO secretary-general, is to set up special committees to study individual problems as and when the need arises.

NATO's original task was the military defence of western Europe but now the Communist challenge is seen as ranging over the whole world and is not so much military as political, ideological and economic.

Another concrete result of the session here is a decision to send a three - man mission to study economic aid for Greece and Turkey.

It was understood that the question arose because Greece and Turkey, when facing their share of part of the NATO program, felt unable to meet their commitments unless NATO provided aid for their economies.

REGRET BLOODSHED

Conference sources played down the references by som ministers to Portugal's overseas territories.

They said the general line of thinking behind remarks made by foreign ministers such as Halvard Lange of Norway and Lord Home was to regret the bloodshed in Angola and to urge the merits of independence for all Africa.

Canada supported Britain, Norway and the U.S. in their remarks about colonialism.

A Canadian official said Portugal now can be under no illusions about NATO's non-support for colonialism.

He said Portugal at the meeting went too far in complaining about Communist subversion in Africa and labelling Ghana, a Commonwealth member, to be Communist. Canada knew better than that.

Your Individual Horoscope

By Frances Drake

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

For Friday, May 12, 1961

MORCH 21 to APRIL 20 (Aries) —No sooner do we begin something we are greatly interested in accomplishing in than there arises snags, "ifs," slowdowns, etc. This day needs strong faith, for which will pay well.

APRIL 21 to MAY 21 (Taurus) — To be intemperate is to be unsure, not to gain in the solid fashion that steadiness, thorough diligence plus forbearence and restraint do. Improving aspects for headway.

MAY 22 to JUNE 21 (Gemini)— —A stretch of excellent influences and advantages are yours to make the best use of which you are able. This day may surprise hearteningly for that extra try. Laugh, be your happy self.

JUNE 22 to JULY 23 (Cancer)— Hold the line on exaggeration, imagining things or conditions not as extreme as you believe. There are mental excesses as well as physical to avoid.

JULY 24 to AUGUST 23 (Leo) — You may be going along happily yet feel you are not doing or gaining all you should. Some days are meant for retracing steps to note mistakes to be shunned, new routes to travel.

AUGUST 24 to SEPTEMBER 23 (Virgo) — If adept and also willing to accept others' best, you will get and give much today. But building up tensions and reviewing old errors can undo good done. Avoid distortions.

SEPTEMBER 24 to OCTOBER 23 (Libra) — Certain conditions produce more profits and contentment than others: Up to you now to bring about the atmosphere (you can !) that will please and open the way for fresh cooperation.

OCTOBER 24 to NOVEMBER 22 (Scorpio) — Mars' aspect stresses learning, benevolent activity, research, getting your affairs in order and making whatever changes are needed to eliminate pressures, uneven situations.

NOVEMBER 23 to DECEMBER 21 (Sagittarius) — Where you can assist another to be happier, more at ease, do not hesitate but lend your able, sturdy hand and heart. The feeling we attain from good deeds cannot be matched. Friendship honored.

DECEMBER 22 to JANUARY 20 (Capricorn) — Do your share, and where you can aid others, do it without thought of being repaid. Materialism is all about us, can creep in without warning if we permit. Glorify right aims.

JANUARY 21 to FEBRUARY 19 (Aquarius) — May have to put up with some disagreeable dispositions and situations hereabouts, but your natural philosophy should think and react the sure way to counteract. Shun worry.

FEBRUARY 20 to MARCH 20 (Pisces)—Added responsibliiites? These come to us all. Solve without fretting, and where solutions are not easy, You take it easy while still working at it.

YOU BORN TODAY: Roundly gifted, with a flare for the artistic, also practical sports. Could be adept at a number of things, competitive games, music, probably singing, poetry, instructing children, whom you understand, to whom you give sympathy without embarrassing them. Little ones often have more pride than adults realize, are many times ashamed at actions of grown-ups. Taurus children and grown-ups can soothe hurt feelings, bring about happier circumstances. Also can be perturbed, speak abruptly. Partly this is their intense inner pride. Be relaxed, yet Not be luxury dawdling; keep talents sharpened. Excesses harm health. Birthdate of: Numerous surgeons and discoverer-doctors; reform leaders; educators; inventors.

My Notice to All Sons of Freedom Doukhobors

That I, William Lovrenchenkov and Lowrenoff do not belong to any political Doukhobor groups and am not a Doukhobor. I will only be responsible for those individuals who are willing to abandon the Doukhobor traditional religion and will enter into my family. The rest of the individual Doukhobors who have strayed away from their true Doukhobor religion have to take their own responsibilities each one upon himself.

What they have done for the past sixty years of their life in Canada, nothing but terrors and endangering the lives and property of peaceful people. I do not wish to lead them into the Soviet Union, as I have stated in my letter to the Editor of Nelson Daily News not even to any other country in the life of a thousand years. Let them fill the mental hospitals, pound against the iron doors and the walls of the prison.

CARS Plans Summer Party For Patients

Plans for the annual summer party for CARS patients were made at the monthly meeting of the Women's Auxiliary to the Canadian Arthritis and Rheumatism Society Tuesday afternoon at the hospital.

Hostess for the party, to take place late in June, will be Mrs. N. E. Morrison. Assisting her with arrangements will be Mrs. C. W. Bailey, Mrs. R. W. Huestis and Mrs. A. T. Godfrey.

Mrs. H. O. Borch reported on the latest meeting of the board of directors of the Nelson branch. She told of the new division of territory for the physiotherapist, who travelled 1515 miles during the past month. Mrs. Borch volunteered to represent the group at the next board meeting.

In her report for the driving committee, Mrs. C. H. Hamilton said the number of treatments has been greatly reduced. Seven patients are transported every Thursday. Previously, the clinic was held on alternate Fridays.

Reporting for the visiting committee, Mrs. Vincent Fink said 16 patients are visited at Mount St. Francis and four in private homes. Eight members of the auxiliary acted on this committee during the past month.

As no meetings will be held until September, members arranged their visiting and their assistance to the arts and crafts group until the end of June. In the summer months, visits will be made whenever possible and patients will be taken for drives.

When baking a cake, care should be taken to see that the ingredients are at room temperature.

Many people never seem to get a good night's rest. They toss and turn in bed, then are dull and listless during the day. When kidneys slow down wastes and excess acids stay in the system. Disturbed rest, tired feeling and backache often follow. If you don't rest well at night—if you feel dull in the daytime—use Dodd's Kidney Pills. Then you feel better—rest better—work better. You can depend on Dodd's Kidney Pills. 71

Election of Officers, Convention Report Order of Business at PTA

With a varied program which included election of officers, a question box and a convention report, members of the Junior-Senior High Schools Parent-Teacher Association brought their current season to a close Monday night at the Junior High School.

Mrs. C. Alexander was re-elected president during the election conducted by S. T. Rogers, vice-principal of the Junior High. Mrs. F. W. Rapley is past-president.

Other officers chosen were: Mrs. D. R. Grahame, first vice-president; Mrs. W. A. Laine, second vice-president; Mrs. H. Jonsson, recording secretary; Mrs. D. Johnson, corresponding secretary; and Mrs. J. Harvie, treasurer.

Mrs. W. Ramsay and Mrs. C. Cuthbert, membership; Malcolm Brandon, community standards; Mrs. W. Sanderman and Mrs. A. W. Betton, Junior High social committee; Mrs. S. Moisey, Mrs. J. H. Ringrose, Mrs. R. McCandlish, L. V. Rogers social committee; B. B. Crawford and H. Meredith, program; Mrs. E. S. Hall hospitality; Mrs. E. Boyes, historian.

Highlight of the recent B.C. Federation convention in North Surrey was the keynote address given by the president, Mrs. H. L. Horan, according to convention delegate, Mrs. W. A. Laine. Reporting on the convention attended by 580 delegates from 277 PTA groups and 91 visitors, Mrs. Laine read a copy of the address entitled, "Our Future as an Organization."

SET FIRM GOALS

PTA members must decide clearly what they stand for and where they are going. They must set their goals firmly, said Mrs. Horan. Goals were outlined in the following fields: education, where a strong interest must be promoted beyond the classroom; welfare service for children, parent-teacher relationships to which more attention should be paid; leadership; and resolutions where members should become more selective.

Speaking of resolutions, Mrs. Horan said there are no limitations at present, and with pressure groups always at work, there is danger of losing focus. While PTA groups should not suggest where government money is to come from, it is their duty to point out the most important areas for distribution of this money.

One of the aims of the National Federation, she said, is to promote contact with parent-teacher groups in other countries. Japan is interested in an international conference at which the goal would be better communication and understanding among all peoples.

PUSHED TOO FAST

In reporting on convention activities, Mrs. Laine stated that the Chant Commission's report played a large part in the program. In a speech on this subject Hon. L. R. Peterson told of the changes which will take place as a result of the report. "The Chant Report and Your Child" was discussed by a panel which was not in favor of the changes. Feeling of the convention was that the report had been pushed through the legislature too rapidly.

Following the convention report, cheques were presented to representatives of the two schools on behalf of the PTA by D. R. Grahame. A travel clock was presented by Mrs. Rapley to Mr. Elmes who will be leaving L. V. Rogers after this term. Mrs. Elmes received a corsage of white carnations.

Questions from the well-filled question box were answered by Mr. Rogers and G. H. Lee, principal of L. V. Rogers high school.

After reading a question which dealt with high school graduation plans, Mr. Lee asked, "What happened to the letter which was mailed to this parent?" Repeating information which had been sent to all parents of graduating students, he said the graduation banquet and dance will be held June 12 — an early date because more control can be exercised at that time.

Events which follow the dance which ends at 1:00 a.m. are entirely the responsibility of the parents. Parents must realize this fact, he said. It is hoped that only graduates attend after-dance parties. The leaving ceremony at which the graduating class is introduced to the people of Nelson, will take place June 1. In addition to the class valedictorian, Professor Emory of Victoria College will speak.

Mr. Lee said the public will be welcome at the leaving ceremony and the awards presentation on June 12. About the latter he said, "We have been disappointed in the past with the poor attendance."

SAME TESTS

Answering a question about spelling examinations in special English courses, Mr. Rogers said all students in a grade have the same examination. A question on individual photographs for high school graduates, brought the answer from Mr. Lee that only a mass picture will be taken.

Concerning the distribution of school funds at L. V. Rogers, Mr. Lee said a budget is drawn up each year, with a portion going to various clubs. Clubs with eager executives might get more. Teachers are always watching the situation, but the final decision is up to the students.

If home economics is dropped in favor of typing in grade 9, can it be picked up again? was one question asked. Mr. Lee said this is possible although limited home economics and industrial arts in the high school will soon limit classes. He said he was in favor of students taking typing, and spoke in favor of commercial subjects as a major in the university program.

Members unanimously voted to send a letter of thanks to E. D. Barravalle for his production of the high school musical comedy, "Leave It To Jane."

NURSING GRADUATE. Miss Darlene Harding of Castlegar has received her diploma at graduation ceremony of the Royal Columbian School of Nursing in New Westminster which took place recently. Attending the ceremony were her parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. R. Harding, and her grandfather, T. B. Couch, all of Castlegar. Miss Harding received all her schooling in Castlegar, graduating from Stanley Humphries Jr.-Sr. High School in 1957.

KAMLOOPS (CP) — Education is for nippers of all sizes, says A. M. Harvey, president of the British Columbia School Trustees Association. "It's for little nippers, middle sized nippers, and old nippers with or without hair," he said.

ENTHRALLED WATCHING clarinettist Rafael Masella and pianist Charles Reiner, Claire Kujundzic, eight years old, and Kathleen Kujundzic, 11 years, were invited up onto the stage with other members of L. V. Rogers and Nelson Junior High School bands for a music theory clinic following the artists' performance at a Jeunesses Musicales presentation in Nelson Monday afternoon. Mr. Masella and Mr. Reiner are from Montreal's McGill Conseravtory and they played to students from the two schools at the Capitol Theatre.—Daily News photo.

Vatican's Decision May Change Church Names

By BERTRAND THIBAULT
Canadian Press Staff Writer

MONTREAL (CP)—At least nine churches in Canada, including a cathedral, may have to choose new names as a result of the Vatican's decision to strike the name of Philomena from the roll of saints.

The Vatican's decision was announced April 18 when the Sacred Congregation of Rites declared that Philomena, popularly venerated as a martyred virgin, was neither a martyr nor a saint. The college said she had been venerated in error due to popular fervor rather than liturgical fact.

The decision, not the first of its type taken by the church, caused some surprise, but was looked on as evidence of the care the church takes to ensure the veracity of testimonies of faith in the light of the most modern historical and scientific methods of research.

Devotion to Philomena, known as "the little saint of the Cure d'Ars," started in Italy in 1805 although her authenticity was never truly established despite miracles attributed to her intercession. The devotion spread to France and then to Canada in the 19th century.

In 1840, the church in suburban Chateauguay was placed under her patronage. In the early 1880s, the pastor of Ste. Petronille parish on the Island of Orleans, near Quebec City, became the self-appointed propagator of devotion to St. Philomena in Canada.

Later the name was given to churches in Fortierville, Montcerf, Rosemount and Manneville in Quebec, Ormsby, Ont., the northern missions of Buffalo Narrows and Howe Island and the cathedral of Gravelbourg, Sask.

The name Philomena, which means beloved, was taken from an inscription on three bricks enclosing a tomb in the Priscilla catacombs in Rome. The inscription on each of the three bricks was "Paxte Cumfi Lumena" — Peace with you Philomena.

In 1805, Dom Francois di Lucia, from the Naples parish of Mugnano del Cardinale, went to Rome to obtain from the catacombs a saintly body for his private chapel. He obtained the one buried behind the three bricks.

From that time onward, there was devotion to St. Philomena. Pope Gregory XVI fixed her feast day for Aug. 11.

In 1883, the Sacred Congregation of Rites approved the wearing of the "cord of St. Philomena." A society bearing her name was founded and May 21, 1922, Pope Pius X raised the society to the rank of a universal confraternity.

Early in the 20th century, an Italian archaeologist expressed doubt that the three bricks found in the tomb of the catacombs actually belonged there. A controversy developed among historians and experts. Some claimed the bricks had been removed from some other spot and wre simply used to block a hole in the tomb.

In 1930, Pope Pius XI established a historical section in the Congregation of Rites and ordered it to make a thorough study of facts and documents pertaining to the beatification and canonization of saints in earlier centuries.

As a result of its work several names were struck from the roll of saints.

What of the miracles and favors certain people claimed they obtained through intercession to St. Philomena?

This question was put to a theologian at le Grand Seminaire of Montreal and he said it has to be remembered that a miracle is the result of direct intervention by God. An all-powerful God could use a fictitious saint to perform a miracle, accomplished solely because of the faith of the person asking for it.

Coast Firm Considers Australian Pulp Plant

VANCOUVER (CP) — MacMillan, Bloedel and Powell River Limited announced it is exploring the possibility of building a pulp and paper board plant in Australia.

Chairman J. V. Clyne said the proposed plant would serve the Australian market and would produce liner board and coarse paper, products which cannot be exported from British Columbia to gaustralia because of tariff restrictions.

The project woul be the giant forestroy company's first expansion outside Canada.

Amount of investment capital involved was not disclosed by the company.

Attorney-General Robert Bonner suggested Tuesday tariff negotiations may prove an alternative to the company's possible Australian venture.

He added:

"I would hate to see a B. C. plant forced by tariff restrictions to move abroad.

OPENS NEW AVENUE

"If trade with Australia is complicated in this way, it would provide a wide area of fruitful discussion.

"It should be far more desirable to produce in B. C. and sell in Australia."

The minister added he hopes before any decision is made all reasonable alternatives will be explored by the company.

The company announcement said the Australian project does not represent any change in the police to utilize its B. C. resources to the fullest.

Mr. Clyne said the Australian project would be financed partly by MacMillan, Bloedel in conjunction with the company's Australian associates and holders of timber lands.

"There is ample investment capital throughout the country for projects such as this and the most important contribution which MacMillan, Bloedel will be required to make is technical and management ability."

Mr. Clyn said his company hopes the investment will result in increased shipments of B. C.-produced pulp to Australia.

HINTED EARLIER

First indication the company was considering a move outside the province was given at the April 25 annual meeting here.

Mr. Clyne told shareholders then the company was watching most carefully developments occurring in other parts of the world and "certainly we will take advantage of a suitable opportunity for making better use of our resources elsewhere should the occasion arise."

Mr. Clyne said several months ago the company was invited to carry out a study of manufacturing opportunity in Australia and these studies are under way.

"The possibility of manufacturing there is a welcome opportunity to expand our sales and earning potential in partnership with Australian associates."

If the studies proved satisfactory possibly within thre eor four months, construction could be completed within three years.

Justifiably proud of their son Alan, the first U.S. spaceman, Mr. and Mrs. Alan B. Shepard are cheered by crowd. Shepard was honored by the President.

Joe Kennedy in '40 Peace Move

LONDON (Reuters)—An article published here claims that Joseph P. Kennedy, father of President Kennedy, and British government ministers engaged in talks aimed at making peace with Nazi Germany in mid-1940. The elder Kennedy then was U.S. ambassador to Britain.

The article is published by Intelligence Digest and is said to be by a "British political personality who is not identified."

The article says the aim of peace feelers, sent to neutral Sweden, was to force Hitler to evacuate France or face an American declaration of war.

The Germans then would become "bogged down" in fighting Russia while Britain and the U.S. would become "masters of the world situation" by building up vast sea and air power.

The writer of the Intelligence Digest article says Kennedy was in "close touch" during the period with R. A. Butler, then undersecretary of state for foreign affairs and now home secretary.

KENNEDY 'ASTUTE'

Kennedy, the article continues, was not defeatist about the prospects of a German invasion of Britain — as many have claimed—but on the contrary gave the writer "the impression of being extremely astute and seeing a way of both entirely defeating Hitler and averting World War II and the whole Communist affair."

The article asserts that most of the facts are contained in dispatches from the then Swedish minister in London to his government.

These messages were "sent upon the precise authority of the late Lord Halifax (then foreign secretary) and which the British government had consistently refused 'leave' for the Swedish government to publish. . . ."

Halifax "told the minister, or caused the minister to be told, that he could assure the Swedish government that there was no chance of Churchill's views prevailing." Sir Winston [illegible] prime minister shortly before the fall of France.

Intelligence Digest says in a footnote it expects "everyone" to deny the story.

LIKEN CASTRO TO ALBATROSS

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senator J. William Fulbright, Arkansas Democrat, suggests that Cuba's Fidel Castro may become an albatross around the neck of Soviet Premier Khrushchev.

Fulbright, a member of the Senate foreign relations committee, told the Senate Tuesday that Russia will soon discover the Cuban regime is "a running abscess in the Caribbean."

Moscow has loaned Cuba more that $245,000,000, said Fulbright, and with Cuba's loss of the U.S. sugar and tourist market, Castro "may soon become an albatross around Khrushchev's neck."

Royal York Muscians Cross Picket Lines

TORONTO (CP)—Union musicians will continue to cross picket lines at the Royal York Hotel until their contracts run out but their leader said Tuesday they are behind the striking hotel workers all the way.

Walter Murdoch, Canadian chief of the American Federation of Musicians (CLC), said federation members have been instructed not to renew contracts expiring June 30 unless the strike is settled by then.

The musicians have been criticized for crossing picket lines set up by the Hotel and Club Employees' Union (CLC), on strike against the hotel in a wage dispute for the last 17 days.

Mr. Murdoch said his union members haven'o been happy about crossing the lines but "we would otherwise leave ourselves open to legal action for breach of contract."

Meanwhile, a CCF member of the legislature called on the enand the strikrs received a promise of financial support from the Ontario Federation of Labor.

ASKS MEDIATION

Kenneth Bryden, CCF member for Toronto Woodbine, said the department should step in on its own instead of waiting to be asked.

OFL President David Archer said every affiliated union, totalling more than 500,000 workers, will be asked for moral and financial support in a campaign similar to that which raised $750,000 for striking Newfoundland loggers two years ago.

The Hotel Union now is paying benefits totalling $25,000 weekly from a strike fund of $250,000.

Angus MacKinnon, manag[illegible] of the CPR-owned hotel wh[illegible] with 1,600 rooms is the large[illegible] in the Commonwealth, said r[illegible] istrations were about 10 p[illegible] cent below normal, totalling 8[illegible] Tuesday.

The hotel is operating smoothly, he said, with 764 new employees plus supervisory staff and 80 of the 1,200 strikers who have returned. Some are working up to 80 hours a week but he hopd the majority soon would be back to a normal 40 hours.

Joseph Ileo Differs From Many Congo Politicians

Joseph Ileo is a breed apart from most Congolese politicians. A quiet, studious man, the new premier would rather read philosophy than shout fiery phrases at mass meetings. His political career has been spent trying to unite the young republic's warring states into a loose federation.

"Congolese unity does not exist," he once said. "The Congo is not a people, it is a collection of large ethnic groups and each of them is a people."

Ileo is a pacifist in a land that has seen violent times, and his placid nature has led some observers to wonder if he will be able to command a population that so far has had its politics served up emotionally and dramatically.

For many years, Ileo, now 39, was an associate of Patrice Lumumba in the fight for freedom from Belgian colonial rule. They broke in 1959 when Lumumba objected to Ileo's philosophy of non-violence.

The fiery Lumumba hit the top first, as first premier of The Congo. But President Joseph Kasavubu's group, disturbed about Lumumba's leftist tendencies, deposed him last September and named Ileo his successor.

Before Ileo could consolidate his position, army strongman Joseph Mobutu took power, on Sept. 14. Military rule ended Feb. 9 with Ileo's appointment, once again, as premier.

Ileo brings to the premiership one of the best educations possessed by any Congolese. The Belgians sent him to Europe for schooling and later gave him administrative experience in a job with the African territories division of the governor-general's office.

When independence came, last June 30, Ileo's unimpressive appearance worked to his disadvantage. He was largely overlooked in the wild scramble of Congolese politicians for positions of influence.

He and Lumumba founded the Congolese National Movement, the driving force behind independence agitation.

Ileo had little money for political purposes and seemed to lack the necessary drive and ambition. He was elected president of the Senate in Equator Province, home of his Mongo tribe.

When Lumumba began slipping from power, some observers expected Ileo to make a determined bid for power. Said Ileo: "I prefer the legal way."

Ileo is a small man who has a liking for Western-made charcoal grey suits and bow ties. The Belgian weekly newspaper Temps Nouveaux recently said he also has a liking for Western political methods:

"He is the first Congolese who has really analyzed the problems of his country according to its needs and who has always refused to be a demagogue."

Hillary Suffers Slight Stroke

KATMANDU, Nepal (Reuters)—Sir Edmund Hillary, conqueror of Mount Everest, today was reported to be walking down from his 21,000-foot-high Himalayan expedition's camp after suffering a mild stroke Sunday.

A report received here from his expedition site on Nepal's Mount Makalu said that Hillary, 41, suffered a "cerebral vascular accident" but his condition was described as not serious.

(A cable sent by Hillary to his wife in Auckland, New Zealand, said he had a blackout, probably due to attempting to acclimatize himself to high altitudes too quickly. This prevented him from joining the assault on Mount Makalu, he said.)

A radio message received by the Nepal government did not say whether Hillary was returning to Katmandu or staying somewhere in the Himalayan area to guide his expedition members still on Makalu.

Hillary was reported walking towards Mingbo in the area of 29,000-foot Mount Everest, the world's highest peak which he and Sherpa guide Tensing Norkay were the first to scale in 1953.

It was not clear whether his mixed British - American-New Zealand expedition now would abandon its attempt to climb 27,970-foot Makalu without oxygen.

Grand Forks, Nelson Battle To 3-3 Deadlock in WISL

Grand Forks and Nelson soccer teams battled to a 3-3 deadlock recently at Civic Centre grounds.

Grand Forks lead 3-1 at the end of the first half but were unable to hold the Nelson club back in the hard-fought second session.

Joe Gacoe, Richard Eggers and Eric Tolles scored for Nelson.

Grand Forks now plays league-leading Italicos in one of the final games of the league next Sunday. Spokane meets Trail Hornets on the same weekend.

If Grand Forks wins, it will drop Nelson into fourth place in the standings.

The sandings are as follows:

	P	W	T	L	Pts
Italicos	11	8	2	1	18
Spokane	11	7	1	3	15

Head Traded To Bruins

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — Goalie Don Head of Portland Buckaroos of the Western Hockey League Wednesday was traded to Boston Bruins of the National Hockey League for two players, plus the loan of a goalkeeper.

Head, 27, rookie of the year in the Western Hockey League last season, held opponents to an average 2.74 goals in a game and scored seven shutouts in the regular season and two more in the playoffs.

In return for Head, Portland gets defenceman Jack Blonda outright, plus another player to be named at the NHL meeting in June. The Bruins will loan Portland a goalie who will be named later.

Racer Rushes To Make Races

INDIANAPOLIS (AP)—Jack Brabham, the world's road racing champion from Australia, is tuning up with trans-Atlantic jet hops for his first crack at the 500-mile Memorial Day race.

The Aussie's speed, both on and off the track, has caused veteran observers to rate him a threat in the golden anniversary classic May 30.

Brabham turned in a practice qualifying run Wednesday at about 146 miles an hour, considered good enough to place him in the 33-car starting line-up.

Then the 35-year-old driver jumped into a car and zipped to the airport and under police escort to catch a commercial jet flight to New York and make connections for qualifying today in the Monaco Grand Prix.

Shutout Pitching Order of the Day

By The Associated Press

San Francisco Giants and Los Angeles Dodgers stayed one-two, just a game apart, in the National League pennant race behind the shutout pitching of southpaws Mike McCormick and Johnny Podres Wednesday night.

Detroit retained a three-game bulge in the American League by beating Washington 7-1. Second place New York beat Kansas City 9-4.

McCormick pitched his second three-hit shutout of the season for the Giants, who also managed just three hits, in a 3-0 victory at Pittsburgh.

Podres sent Philadelphia Phillies to their ninth straight loss with a five-hitter that brought the Dodgers a 6-0 success.

Cincinnati took third place, making it nine in a row with a 3-2 decision over St. Louis. Milwaukee defeated Chicago Cubs 3-2 on Lew Burdette's four-hit pitching.

SIX-RUN INNING

In the other American League games, Cleveland broke loose for six runs in the 11th inning and rapped Chicago's White Sox 8-2, and Minnesota bombed Baltimore 10-6.

Boston, held hitless for five innings by Ron Moeller, broke loose with four singles and Carl Yastrzemski's two - run homer for three runs in the fifth inning and a 3-2 victory over Los Angeles Angels. Tom Brewer was the winner. Ken Hunt homered for the Angels.

Los Angeles used three pitchers and they ran up 17 strikeouts among them.

It was Boston's first victory in six night games this season and it moved the Red Sox back into seventh place, ahead of Los Angeles. The Angels had won four straight.

BUNCHED HITS

The Giants bunched all their hits, including a two-run single by McCormick, for all their runs with two out in the fifth inning—the only frame in which they put a man on base.

Bob Friend lost his second in a row for a 4-2 mark. It was McCormick's third victory against one defeat. He struck out 10 and didn't allow a base runner until Don Hoak singled with one out in the fifth.

Podres became the first five-game winner in the majors while extending his shutout streak to 15 innings. Ron Fairly drove in four runs for the Dodgers, tagging the loss on Frank Sullivan, with a three - run homer in the second inning.

A two-run homer by Vada Pinson in the first inning and a RBI single by Chico Cardenas in the third wrapped it up for the Reds against Curt Simmons. Joey Jay was the winner.

An unearned run on a wild peg to the plate by Cub second baseman Con Zimmer gave the Braves the tie-breaking run with one out in the ninth, handing relief ace Don Elston his first defeat in five decisions.

SINGLE BROKE TIE

Righthander Jim Bunning singled in the tie-breaking marker as the Tigers scored four runs in the second for a 4-1 lead over Ed Hobaugh. Bunning, now 2-2 with both victories over Washington, blanked the Senators on three hits after they scored an unearned run in the second.

Th Yankees made it on a double by Elston Howard that broke a 4-4 tie in the eighth. Tex Clevenger, making his first appearance as a Yankee a winning one, nailed it with four innings of one-hit, shutout relief.

Tito Francona's third double and a single by Jim Piersall got the Indians out front in the 11th at Chicago against reliever Frank Baumann. Chuck Essegian and Bubba Phillips each crashed two-run homers in the rally, and Woody Held drove in a run with a triple.

Girls' Entries To Be Decided At Next Meet

Executive members of the Nelson midsummer baseball tournament will decide definitely whether the proposed girls' baseball entries will have two or three clubs this year at a meeting to be held following the next practice.

The tournament will be held during July and August.

Date of the practice has not been decided upon as yet. Officers will be elected and plans will be laid out for the season's competition.

Tentative lineups for the two definite teams have been decided upon however they are subject to change. As many teams as are necessary will be formed to accommodate those who wish to play. Registration will be accepted up to June 3.

If only two girls' teams enter the tournament, they will participate in the full schedule with the boys' teams. However, if three or more girls' teams enter, tentative plans have it that they will play a round-robin series against each other and then enter a knockout playoff series against the boys.

The knockout schedule will be laid out on the basis of each team's standing in its respective division.

Face Masks, Helmets May Be Compulsory If CAHA Convention Adopts Rule Changes

MELVILLE, Sask. (CP)—Face masks and helmets will be compulsory if the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association annual convention adopts suggested rule changes.

Gordon Juckes of Melville, CAHA secretary - treasurer, said Wednesday the mandatory face masks for goalies and helmets for other players are among the 144 resolutions to come before the four-day annual meeting opening May 22 in Port Arthur.

Elimination of the "red line" and a quick call on "icing the puck" also are sought at amateur hockey's most important meeting of the year.

The quick call on "icing the puck" was approved at the last CAHA annual meeting but voted down at the meeting of the joint rules committee, composed of members from the professionals and the amateurs with the pros having the majority vote.

Other resolutions ask for stronger penalties against players for repeated serious infractions, such as spearing.

During the conference a special committee will sit to consider a complete revision of the CAHA regulation book. The revised draft is designed to eliminate some of the present misinterpretations and also make the regulations easier to find and understand.

Resolutions submitted favor both the two-referee system and the three-man system in CAHA playoffs. Other resolutions call for a "2-3-2" division of games in some series.

It is quite likely also that the meeting will discuss whether the time now is ripe to have the Memorial Cup classic played in both the East and the West next season. In the past the seven game series has been played either entirely in the West or entirely in the East.

A major point for discussion with regard to professional-amateur relations will be that of televising National Hockey League playoffs. This spring the telecasting of six games in the Stanley Cup semi-finals in eight nights played havoc with amateur playoff schedules, resulting in delayed series and poor gates.

In the NHL final, a switch from the traditional playoff dates of the week also complicated CAHA scheduling with similar results. This experience has led to a number of resolutions on television for the delegates to discuss.

Also to be squeezed into the agenda are reports from the CAHA's minor hockey committee, the Hall of Fame committee and a number of special committees.

To date some 46 accredited delegates, alternate delegates and visitors have registered for the meeting, and it is expected many of the general sessions will be attended by upwards of 60 hockey men from across Canada and some from the United States.

Sandlot Ball Starts Saturday

The Sandlot Baseball Leagues, sponsored by the Nelson Recreation Department, gets under way for another season Saturday, at the Civic Park.

Saturday is organization day for the Sandlot league as all players, regardless of age, will register under the following times:

Pee Wee Sandlot—Ages 6, 7 and 8 at 9:30 a.m.

Mighty Mite Sandlot—Ages 9, 10 and 11 at 10:30 a.m.

Babe Ruth Sandlot — 12, 13 and 14 years at 11:30 a.m.

All prospective players are asked to come and register and bring their glove for the initial practice. May 1st, 1961 is the age deadline for all divisions.

The main idea of the sandlot leagues is to allow each boy who wishes to play ball a chance to play on a team regardless of calibre. Teams are selected from the various districts around the city as boys are placed on teams from within their own neighborhood.

Due to last years' increase in the Pee Wee division, this year's edition will be split into two sections if registrations warrant the change. Player registration forms will be given out on Saturday to be completed and turned in on Monday at the next Sandlot practice at 3:30 p.m.

Last season over 200 boys from six to 14 years played in tht Sandlot leagues both at the Civic, Uphill and Queen Elizabeth park on Wednesdays and Saturday morning.

A prime step in readying your motor for another season's run is a thorough inspection of your electric system. Remove the cover and take out spark plugs. Check all wiring for worn insulation, loose connections and corrosion on terminals. Pay particular attention to high tension wires leading to spark plugs. If the covering of these leads has become cracked or soaked with oil, much of the high tension charge may be leaking to nearby metal parts. Remember, oil and water are conductors of electricity. Trace wiring into the harness to the junction box. Make sure all connections are tight. Scrub corrosion on terminals with a wire brush. Petroleum jelly is useful.

MOSCOW (AP)—The 20th game in the world chess tournament was declared a draw Wednesday at the 122nd move.

The first 41 moves of the marathon were made Monday. Play was halted Tuesday after the 38th move.

Kefauver Gives Blessing To Liston's New Manager

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Boxing's No. 1 contender for the heavyweight title, Charles (Sonny) Liston, Wednesday named George Katz his new manager with the indirect blessings of Senator Estes Kefauver and his Senate investigating committee.

Katz, a slightly built former politician who managed former welterweight champion Gil Turner, pledged as his first order of business to get Liston a title fight with champion Floyd Patterson.

"I do not believe," said Katz, a fight manager in these parts since 1928, "that there should be any obstacle in my procuring for Sonny Liston his rightful opportunity to obtain the match with Floyd Patterson for the heavyweight championship."

Liston told a press conference that with Katz as his manager he had in effect "cleaned his house" of what the Senate committee and Patterson described as an undesirable element in the challenger's management.

The Kefauver committee said earlier this year that Liston's former manager, Pep Barone of Allentown, Pa., was a front for racketeers. Patterson said repeatedly he wouldn't fight Liston until Sonny "cleaned house."

Sonny Liston

Liston recently bought his contract from Barone for $75,000 — payable in two equal installments—and went after Katz as his new manager.

Al Klein, of the Pennsylvania State Athletic Commission, said his office conducted a thorough investigation of Katz and found "no valid reason for . . . refusal to approve him as Liston's manager.

Klein, as an attorney and a former member of Kefauver's committee, said he had been asked by the senator to help Liston get a good manager.

In New York, Patterson called his lawyer, Julius November, from his training camp to release the following statement:

"As far as I am concerned, I want to extend my congratulations to Sonny Liston on acquiring a new manager.

"I want to stand on my statement of last week that if Sonny Liston can show the Kefauver committee that he has severed his connections directly and indirectly with the pople the committee has talked about, he will get his chance next year."

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

A Cryptogram Quotation

C R J B X K C C F G G J L J C P K C F F Z P
I J R C G J P Z B Q M R J — T Z Q F U P Z F.

Yesterday's Cryptoquote: GOD LOVES AN IDLE RAINBOW NO LESS THAN LABOURING SEAS—HODGSON.

Brazil To Oppose 'Meddling'

RIO DE JANEIRO (AP) — The Brazilian government, pressed by the United States to take a stand against the Cuban regime of Fidel Castro, said Wednesday it will oppose any meddling by foreign nations in Cuba.

Foreign Minister Alfonso Arinos said Brazil is against "any kind of foreign interference, directly or indirectly, taken in order to impose on Cuba any form of government."

Odds... and Ends
... by M. D. B.

You might say the weather goes without saying. One could almost say it is not worth mentioning, being 99.9 per cent water. If you did mention it, there would be no need to say too much — a "quack" would do and if you were a Frenchman a flap of your arms would suffice.

* * *

One of our printers was chuckling as he came into the office. A small boy of about four with a fishing rod said, "Sir, will you please take me across the street?" Now there's politeness for you and from one so small. He had been fishing and had "caught one too!"

* * *

On the radio the other day I heard a male voice advising the sedentary Sams and sisters to do deskercizes. These are handy for people whose sole exercise is bending in the middle, lifting up the right knee and sliding in under the steering wheel. It is pointed out that these cunning little exercises that you can do surreptitiously at your desk may mean all the difference in the world to your joie de vivre, digestion, aching feet, dandruff and any other ills that beset that poor soul with his posterior flattened to a chair and bursitis setting in from his writer's cramp.

* * *

The speaker went a little too fast for me and I only remembered one. You push your chair back when the boss isn't looking, lay your hands flat on the desk and raise your knees up to your abdomen ten times. Now unless you want the rest of the office to think you have a severe case of stomach cramps or worse, you had better take them into your confidence. Perhaps just before the coffee break a record could be put on and this little routine followed through by all present, hup two three four, hup two three four. Who knows it might even give you an appetite for a doughnut with your coffee.

* * *

I was a little sorry they fined the poor boss in one office in London for spanking his secretary whose typing was slow and slovenly. She had been given the choice of being fired on the spot or being spanked to teach her a lesson and as incentive to do better. It seemed all fair and square to me — she chose the spanking and then the poor man was fined for common assault—I really didn't think that was cricket.

DISCUSS FOOD SURPLUS

DUBROVNI-K, Yugoslavia (Reuters) — Farming experts from five continents gathered Wednesday in this picturesque medieval city on the Adriatic coast to discuss how to share the world's surplus food among the hungry nations.

The setting up of a "world food bank" of surplus products, from which underdeveloped countries could draw supplies, was expected to be one of the most important topics at the 12th conference of the International Federation of Agricultural Producers (FIPA), opening Wednesday.

TOP BRASS of Canadian armed forces and cadet groups were present on the mock ship in the basement of the Post Office this week to witness Captain G. V. Bowditch, CD and RCN, also of HMCS Discovery (not shown), accompanied Capt. Laws on the annual inspection. The affair was held in conjunction with Navy League Week and was attended by a large crowd of Nelson residents.—Daily News photo.

Russia Short Of Telephones

MOSCOW (Reuters) — Soviet planners have admitted what every citizen here knows—that a new telephone like a new car is one of the hardest things to acquire in the land of spectacular space shots.

The shortage of telephones and the existence of an overburdened telephone system have arisen through th planners' neglect in the past as they concentrated on giving the population gas, electricity and water.

Now, as millions of Russians move into new apartments under the greatest housing boom the country has known, this shortage is becoming more obvious and acute.

Nikolai Psurtsev, the 60-year-old former post office clerk who now heads the Soviet ministry of communications, acknowledged the shortage in an article in the newspaper Izvestia.

He said Soviet factories would have to produce 400,000 telephones a year in order to provide eventually one telephone to every five families. But he admitted that this figure could hardly be reached as in 1960 only 20,000 telephones were produced and the 1961 plan called for 25,000.

OMA Repeats Objections To Closed Panel Clinic

TORONTO (CP) — The Ontario Medical Association set the record straight Tuesday by announcing, for the second of closed panel clinics.

This step was taken, officials explained, because following a January meeting of the OMA council some newspaper headlines left the impression that approval was given to the closed panel clinic now being planned for Sault Ste. Marie by the United Steelworkers of America there.

The clinic, as advocated by the union, would provide a panel of salaried doctors for exclusive service to union members and dependents. About 25,000 Sault residents would be covered.

Dr. Patrick Bruce - Lockhart of Sudbury, chairman of the OMA council, said Tuesday, "We believe that experience will show this is not the best system." He said a lot of implications of the closed panel "need a closer look."

SPECIALIST EXPENSIVE

"We wonder," he said, "whether the people of the Sault realize they will have to pay twice for the services of a specialist outside the clinic." This is because the clinic would be closed to all doctors not on its permanent panel.

He said the clinic would create an imbalance in the Sault.

"When you take 25,000 people out of the population—the ones belonging to the clinic — what type of service would the others get?" Other doctors, especially specialists, might not be willing to stay there with that loss of numbers.

One official of the OMA said an "open comprehensive" plan was offered by the association to the Sault union—a plan that would give patients a free choice of doctors — but it was turned down.

However, said Dr. Bruce-Lockhart, "this is a free country and the union is entitled to do what it wants—we just want to set our views straight."

NATO Releases Communique on Atlantic Pact Council Talks

OSLO (Reuters)—Text of a communique issued at the end of the Atlantic Pact's three-day ministerial council session:

The North Atlantic Council held its spring ministerial meeting in Oslo from May 8 to May 10, 1961, under the chairmanship of its secretary general, Mr. D. U. Stikker.

Since the Atlantic countries united 12 years ago, in accordance with the United Nations charter, to ensure their common defence, their alliance has safeguarded peace and freedom. But the menace which drew them together is now not only military but also has world-wide political, economic, scientific and psychological aspects.

The North Atlantic Alliance threatens no one. It will never be used for aggression. It seeks to eliminate war and the causes of war. But it is resolved to defend the right of its peoples to live in freedom.

In the world as it is today the unity and strength of the Atlantic Alliance is essential to peace and the survival of liberty. Its collective resources—moral and material alike—are fully adequate to this task.

Confident in their strength, in the will of their peoples, and in the truth of the ideals they uphold, the 15 Atlantic nations dedicate themselves anew to building a world free from the false doctrine of continuing and inevitable conflict.

During the meeting th ministers reviewed developments in the international situation. Aware of the intensified efforts of the Communist bloc to foment and to exploit conflicts and to extend its domination over an ever-increasing area, the ministers reaffirmed their resolve to meet this challenge.

For their part the Atlantic nations are ready to make their contribution toward achieving an equitable and just settlement of outstanding political questions. They deplore Soviet unwillingness to reciprocate.

Ministers noted with regret the lack of progress on the reunification of Germany. They reaffirmed their conviction that a peaceful and just solution for the problem of Germany including Berlin is to be found only on the basis of self-determination.

With particular regard to Berlin, they reiterated their determination, as expressed in the declaration of 16th December, 1958, to maintain the freedom of West Berlin and its people.

As to the often repeated threat by the Soviet Union to sign a separate peace treaty, they reaffirmed the statement in the 1958 declaration that "the denunciation by the Soviet Union of the inter - allied agreements on Berlin can in no way deprive the other parties of their rights or relieve the Soviet Union of its obligations."

Disarmament by stages under effective international control remains one of the principal objectives of the governments of the alliance. The council expressed the hope that the initiation by the U.S.A. of consultations with the U.S.S.R. for the purpose of arriving at a mutually acceptable procedure will permit the resumption of negotiations about the end of July.

They agreed that the position of those members of the alliance participating in the disarmament discussions will be developed in close consultation in the North Atlantic Council.

With regard to the Geneva negotiations on the suspension of nuclear tests, the council noted with approval that the U.S.A. and the United Kingdom had tabled a comprehensive draft treaty offering a basis for agreement.

They regretted that the negative attitude of the Soviet government has raised new difficulties. They expressed the hope that that government will move promptly to join in an effective treaty as a first and significant step toward disarmament.

The task of helping the less-developed areas of the world to raise their social and material standards is one of the major challenges of our time. It is a challenge which the members of the Atlantic Alliance gladly accept, and in their examination of the world situation ministers gave priority to this question.

They took note with satisfaction of the large volume of free world aid — dwarfing that granted by the Sino-Soviet bloc —and reaffirmed their determination to increase these efforts.

The ministers discussed the problems of long-term planning within the alliance in the non-military sphere on the basis of a report presented by the council in permanent session, dealing with the future development and role of the alliance in the political, economic, civil emergency planning and other fields. Proceeding from this report they gave guidance to the permanent council for strengthening the cohesion of the alliance.

The council recognized that much progress had been made in developing an increased unity of purpose and harmonization of action by its members. It emphasized the importance for this purpose of close, constant and frank consultation in order to make effective the growing unity of the Atlantic Alliance.

The ministers invited the council in permanent session, in close co-operation with the military authorities, to continue its studies of all aspects of the military posture of the alliance, with a view to improving its deterrent and defensive strength. They requested the council to submit these studied when ready and to report to the ministerial meeting in December.

Ministers gave special attention to the economic problems affecting Greece and Turkey. Bearing in mind the important contribution made by these two countries to the common defence, they considered ways and means of assisting efforts being made by Greece and Turkey to speed up development programs.

Spring Floods Bring Misery To Thousands

CHICAGO (AP) — Damaging spring floods spread across the lowlands of the United States' midsection Wednesday, bringing more misery and discomfort to thousands.

The worst flooding appeared in southern Illinois, Missouri, Indiana, Kansas and Kentucky. Thousands were homeless. Some communities were isolated. There was fear in some areas of typhoid fever from contaminated water. Some major and many secondary roads were closed. Business slowed in many of the flood - stricken towns and halted in some.

But there were a few bright spots in the murky water picture. No rain splashed across the drenched flood belt and fair weather was the immediate outlook for most areas.

The worst appeared over in some sections. In Ohio and Oklahoma the threat of major flooding appeared easing.

Soldiers, sailors, civil defence workers, school boys and women worked to hold back the muddy waters from lapping into the lowland homes or spreading into business districts. The Red Cross and the Salvation Army were at the flood scenes to give aid and comfort and shelter.

Already thousands of acres of farm land are inundated. In Illinois, the Kaskaskia River, which is fed by many streams in the central part of the state, burst through weakened levees near Vandalia.

The water spilled over more than 40,000 acres of land.

In Indiana, some 360 volunteers, national guardsmen and navy personnel sandbagged the earthen levee in Florida, threatened by floodwaters of the west fork of the White River. The river was four feet above the town level and civil defence officials said the entire population of about 900 would be endangered if the levee broke.

In Centralia, Ill., residents were without drinking water Tuesday after the city's water pumps were submerged under 20 feet of water.

In Kentucky, floodwaters from the Salt River covered two-thirds of Shepherdsville but no casualties were reported.

Suggest Heart Tests For Aging Pilots

MONTREAL (CP) — Regular heart tests for aging pilots and a mandatory grounding age are among procedures that probably will be adopted as an international standard by the International Civil Aviation Organization.

The organization's personnel licensing and medical division has been meeting here for 2½ weeks to draft rules in the ICAO's recommended rules for pilot licencing.

Most of the 30 countries represented favor mandatory electrocardiograph tests every two years for airline pilots over 40, and once every five years for younger pilots, informed sources said.

The ICAO division also favors a compulsory grounding age, but there were disagreements about what age. Yugoslavia refuses to renew airline transport licences for pilots over 50. In the U.S., the limit is 60. In Canada there is no limit and only physical education counts.

It is beleived 60 is the favored age among ICAO members.
