Refugees Leave Elisabethville

ELISABETHVILLE (Reuters) — White refugees streamed out of Elisabethville Sunday amid widespread reports that the Congolese central government is planning to end the secession of Katanga province by force.

The reports have said plans are well under way for central government action following the failure of the United Nations to end the secession after eight days of fighting that ended last week.

It was learned in Leopoldville the central government seat, that Congolese army commander Maj.-Gen. Joseph Mobutu had sent 150 troops by air to Luluabourg, Congolese garrison closest to the Katanga border, during the weekend.

Other troops, with armor, were reported heading toward Luluabourg from Leopoldville and Coquilhatville by river steamer.

Premier Cyrille Adoula, who announced last Monday the central government had decided on "certain measures" to deal with the Katanga situation, secretly met twice with his cabinet during the weekend. But it was not officially announced whether the cabinet had made decisions.

Kennedy Expected To Offer First Plan in 15 Months

UNITED NATIONS (CP) — President Kennedy goes before the United Nations General Assembly today to deliver a major free world policy address that is expected to include a new United States disarmament plan — the first in 15 months.

In his speech to be broadcast over radio and television beginning at 7:30 a.m. PST, Kennedy is also expected to lay before the 99-nation assembly the U.S. position on such world problems as Berlin and the crisis in the UN arising from the death of Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold.

Kennedy has made it clear the United States will not accept the Soviet proposal to replace the secretary - general with a three-man board on which the Communist bloc would have a veto.

In regard to Berlin, U.S. officials recently have stressed the American position on Germany has not changed and that the West intends to maintain its rights in Berlin.

Kennedy also will discuss a ban on nuclear testing, which the United States is pushing as an issue apart from disarmament, over the objections of the Soviet Union.

PART OF DEBATE

Kennedy's speech technically will be part of the assembly's opening general debate for its 16th annual session.

The U.S. presented its last disarmament plan to a 10-nation East - West committee in Geneva, June 27, 1960, the day the five Communist members walked out and disrupted negotiations that had been on since March 15 of that year. Canada was a member of the five-country Western side.

Last Wednesday Kennedy's disarmament adviser, John McCloy, and Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Valerian Zorin announced in New York failure to agree on the makeup of a committee to resume disarmament negotiations.

However, they did agree on a statement of principles for such negotiations.

Over Soviet opposition, the General Assembly's steering committee has recommended that disarmament be debated in the political committee rather than the assembly itself, and that it be debated separately from the nuclear test issue.

The assembly will take up the recommendations today and Tuesday afternoons.

Plot Reported Against Castro

HAVANA (AP) — The Cuban government announced Sunday the arrest of a dozen counter-revolutionaries accused of plotting to kill Premier Castro with bazookas and hand grenades supplied by the United States Central Intelligence Agency.

An interior ministry communique charged the group had been supplied money and arms by the "Yanqui intelligence agency to assassinate Castro and promote terrorism and armed uprising inside Cuba in preparation for another invasion of Cuba.

The communique said the accused had prepared several plans to kill Castro with arms and ammunition received especially for that purpose from the U.S. That was to ambush Castro as he was driving around Ciudad Deportiva Stadium in the outskirts of Havana.

Former Nelson Bishop Recalls Growth and Spirit of Diocese

The past, the growth and the spirit were recalled by the Diocese of Nelson's first bishop Most Rev. Martin M. Johnson, D.D., Coadjutor Archbishop of Vancouver, Sunday night.

Over 400 persons attending the diocese Silver Jubilee banquet at the Civic Centre heard Archbishop Johnson acclaim the laity as the spring which instigated many of the institutions developed during his 18-year stay in Nelson.

"I have tremendous admiration for the men of the mines, of the forests. Men of great hope, unquenchable enthusiasm, men of unlimited hospitality," said Archbishop Johnson.

"It was impossible to sit down and talk to these people without being ignited by their great faith and enthusiasm. No obstacle could not be overcome, this was the secret of the diocese. These were people who would not acknowledge defeat."

In recalling the past, he told how several institutions were launched. Mount St. Francis grew out of the violent death of aged Mike Egan, who died in the flames of his home. His death prompted two fellow parish members to donate their holdings, the properties where Mount St. Francis stands today, for an institution to care for such as he.

He said the idea of Notre Dame College grew out a fishing boat talk on Kootenay Lake.

THREE REASONS

"There were three reasons for Notre Dame, the Coadjutor Archbishop of Vancouver said.

"There was a need on the part of our youth who were financially embarrassed and who could not afford to attend University at the Coast.

"We sorely needed vocations for the priesthood, and it is a condition of the church to give intellectual leadership."

Other speakers at the banquet were: Ald. B. C. Affleck, acting mayor of Nelson, Hon. W. D. Black, provincial secretary, Mrs. J. V. Carberry of Penticton, provincial President of Catholic Women's League, Dr. J. R. Harrigan of Trail, past state deputy, Knights of Columbus, Very Rev. J. F. Monaghan of Nelson and Most Rev. W. E. Doyle. Bishop of Nelson, acted as chairman.

POPE'S HONORS

Bishop Doyle also announced that His Holiness Pope John XXIII had conferred honors on three persons attending the banquet.

Very Rev. J. Frederick Monaghan, rector of the Cathedral of Mary Immaculate has been named a Domestic Prelate to His Holiness. Dr. J. R. Harrigan has been named a Knight Commander of the Order of St. Gregory the Great and Mrs. J. V. (Mary) Carberry had been awarded the "Pro Ecclesia et Pontifice" Cross.

Prime Minister Diefenbaker said he, his wife and staff will remain in the fallout shelter in the basement of his Ottawa home in the event of nuclear attack.

The prime minister also: Estimated up to one-third of Canadians could be casualties in a nuclear war; indicated the government may be considering construction of public blast shelters; announced a big civil defence exercise for Nov. 13.

The Liberals sought unsuccessfully a special defence debate on a report said to have been presented by the finance department that there was a waste of manpower in the armed forces.

Defence Minister Harkness said he denies any such allegation; he and Mr. Diefenbaker declined to confirm or deny there was such a report.

External Affairs Minister Green said the United Nations will emerge "stronger than ever before" from the crisis caused by Dag Hammarskjold's death.

The Commons made such fast progress that Veterans Minister Churchill, government House leader, forecast the session could end Tuesday night.

Sumner Welles Passes at 68

Welles suffered a heart attack a number of years ago, but the exact cause of death was not immdiately annouced. He was visiting the home.

Death Spurs Sweden's Plans

By BRACK CURRY

STOCKHOLM (AP) — The death of Dag Hammarskjold has spurred traditionally neutral Sweden to new efforts to carry on his task in the troubled Congo.

The government, the press and public opinion seem united in the view that the loss of Hammarskjold should not change UN policy in the former Belgian colony.

Sweden has not fought a war since 1815. Nevertheless a considerable number of Swedes hope the UN will smash what they consider foreign rule and influence in secessionist Katanga—by force if necessary.

The mood in this country of 7,500,000 people is one of sorrow, and bitterness that its most distinguished son of modern times lost his life in a remote African woods under what are widely regarded here as suspicious circumstances.

Man Killed in Plane Mishap

VANCOUVER (CP) — One man was killed and another battled his way to safety during the weekend when a light seaplane crashed into Dorothy Lake, 140 miles north of here.

Killed was owner-pilot Melvin Curran of Vancouver. His plane loaded with meat after a hunting trip, overturned when he attempted to land on the Cariboo district lake Saturday.

Everett Abbey, also of Vancouver, fought clear of the wreckage, and swam to shore. He suffered minor injuries and was flown here aboard a B.C. Airlines plane.

Both men were Canadian Pacific Airlines pilots.

Skindivers recovered Curran's body Sunday and it was taken to Williams Lake, B.C.

Confusion over the whereabouts of Abbey developed Saturday night following the crash when the crew aboard an RCAF air-sea rescue plane could not locate him when they were ready to return home.

It was thought he had wandered into heavy bush in the area and was in a state of shock. But Abbey sent a message to air-sea rescue Sunday by radio saying he spent the night in a cabin near the lake and was flying out with the B.C. Airlines craft.

Johnson Heads Union Nationale

By BERNARD DUFRESNE

QUEBEC (CP) — Daniel Johnson climaxed a year-long campaign for the leadership of the Union Nationale party, winning the post Saturday night by a narrow majority of 68 convention votes over three other candidates.

The 46-year-old Montreal lawyer and former hydraulic resources minister just squeaked past a strong grass-roots surge by Jean-Jacques Bertrand, a small town lawyer who entered the fight six weeks ago.

Mr. Johnson picked up 1,006 votes to become the party's fourth leader in its 25-year history. Mr. Bertrand of Sweetsburg, 45-year-old former youth and welfare minister, got 912; Mayor Armand Nadeau, 51, of Sherbrooke, 24; and Raymond Maher, 40, Quebec City lawyer, 2.

Two other candidates, Yves Gabias, member of the legislature for Trois-Rivieres, home riding of the party founder, the late Maurice Duplessis, and Maurice S. Hebert, 36, Montreal lawyer, withdrew two hours before the vote.

A total of 1,987 party members were eligible to vote, but only 1,944 voted. The others were reported absent from the convention, the first since the party was founded in 1936 out of an alliance of Conservatives, rebel Liberals and nationalists.

Three Die as Car Hits Power Pole

100-MILE-HOUSE (CP)— Two women and a man were killed and three others injured Sunday when a car left the Cariboo Highway and slammed into a power pole 1½ miles north of this central B.C. centre.

Killed were Ardith Lindsay, 21, Jaunita Capberhaust, 16, both of 100-Mile House and a male employee of the Dutton-Williams Pipeline Construction Company. Police withheld his name, but said he was from the Maritimes.

Injured were Mildred Halcro, 17, of 100-Mile House; Roy Ludsco and another man, whose name was withheld. Both men were employed here by Dutton-Williams and were in serious condition in Williams Lake, B.C. hospital. Miss Halcro was in fair condition.

Police said the driver of the car apparently lost control of the vehicle, it swerved across the highway, jumped a ditch and slammed into the pole.

Salmo Boys Injured By Exploding Caps

A dynamite cap explosion may claim the eyesight of two Salmo teenagers.

Gregory Fisher, 13 and his companion Wayne Boychuk were rushed to Kootenay Lake General Hospital Saturday afternoon following an explosion in a vacant barn at Salmo.

Gregory, son of Mr. and Mrs. Darroll Fisher, had his left forearm amputated and there is the possibility his eyesight will be impaired.

Wayne, stepson of Walter Toneck suffered facial injuries and it is feared he may lose his eyesight.

Details surrounding the explosion are sketchy, RCMP reported. They said they found three unexploded mining caps at the scene and were told there were possibly two explosions before Eugene Crowe, Canadian Customs official spied the boys. He had left his residence nearby on hearing the explosions and saw the boys running toward him.

They were rushed to hospital by W. A. Taylor ambulance of Salmo, where they are reported in reasonably fair condition, but still on the serious list. It was not known where the two junior high school students got the caps, but RCMP are continuing investigation. No charges are being contemplated.

W. Germans Told Trust Allies

BERLIN (AP) — West German President Heinrich Luebke inaugurated a new West Berlin opera house Sunday with a call for Germans to have faith in their Western partners.

"We can really have confidence in the firmness of our Allies," Luebke said. "Their promises have to be taken seriously in every respect . . . General Clay has not come here to surrender Berlin, but to defend it as he did in 1948."

Gen. Lucius D. Clay, United States architect of the airlift that broke the 1948-49 Soviet blockade of Berlin and now President Kennedy's special envoy to this harassed cty, said Saturday there had been no change in U.S. policy on Germany. He said the West is determined to maintain its rights in Berlin

With Profit Sharing Plan

Unions Expect to Ratify Three-Year Contract Soon

By RICHARD PYLE

DETROIT (AP)—Within a few days, United Auto Workers union locals at American Motors Corporation are expected to ratify the new three-year contract with its history-making profit-sharing plan.

Although there may be some resistance to changes in local, plant-level working agreements, AMC officials are confident—and hopeful — that ratification will be accomplished without too much trouble.

Even at that, they will be just beginning a battle to convince the critics that the much-publicized "progress - sharing" scheme included in the AMC-UAW national economic agreement is everything they believe it to be.

The program has been praised in some quarters as a milestone in labor-management relations.

AMC President George Romney, generally given credit for originating the plan, has been lauded for bringing what he himself termed "a fresh new approach" to employee-union-management relations.

But others have condemned the plan as being naively based on future success that American Motors cannot guarantee itself. They have challenged the contention of Romney and UAW President Walter Reuther that it is "non-inflationary."

Some say it isn't really "profit - sharing" in the true sense because the benefits to AMC's 23,000 hourly workers are extracted before instead of after taxes.

Under the agreement signed by AMC and the UAW in Sept. 15, the "progress-sharing" plan works this way:

An amount equal to 15 per cent of profits before taxes and after removal of 10 per cent for stockholders' investments shall be set aside in each fiscal year (Oct. 1-Sept. 30), to form a "progress-sharing fund."

Of this amount, 10 per cent will be applied to the costs of increased pension and insurance benefits granted to the UAW workers in the new contract.

ISSUE COMMON STOCK

The other five per cent will be paid to workers in the form of common stock, to be held in trust by the company for an as-yet-undetermined time (there is a minimum of two years under law), dividends going into the fund.

Thereafter, the stock will be turned over to the workers with full voting rights and dividends. (Ultimately, in theory, the workers could gain control of the company but—according to the only scratch-pad estimate available—this would take about 60 years.)

Rotary Presents $2000 Cheque to Silver Ski Club

A cheque for $2000 was presented to Silver King Ski Club president Helmuth Mayrhofer by Dr. C. M. Robinson, president of the Nelson Rotary Club, at the club's regular luncheon meeting at the Hume Friday.

The cheque was the initial payment of a $4500 commttment the Rotary Club has made to the Ski Club this year. The money is being used for the construction of a $15,000 ski lodge.

It was announced from the chair that the district governor of the Rotarians will attend the regular dinner meeting next Friday. A reception for the governor and his wife will be held Thursday evening.

E. T. Bodard and R. A. Munroe reported to members on the progress made on the Rotary Radio Day, to be held October 14. The club is taking over Radio Station CKLN on that day, operating through advertising they sell to local merchants. All proceeds of the day will go toward the Silver King Ski Club project.

On the entertainment program for the meeting Rotarian Tom Whitehead showed a film entitled, "The Queen's Plate." The film depicted the life of a racehorse from the time it was born until it finally ran in The Queen's Plate. The 100th running of the race, the film showed the pomp and pageantry connected with Queen Elizabeth II making presentations to the jockey and owner.

SPARKLING SMILES of this trio only proves that dentists and dentists' wives practice what they preach. At the Kootenay Dental Association convention here Saturday were left Dr. J. C. Dentists' Recruit Drive Has Scholarship Feature British Columbia dentists are making progress in their campaign for new recruits to the profession.

This was reported here Saturday to the semi-annual meeting of the B.C. Dentists Association by Dr. J. C. Lewis of Vancouver, president.

A newspaper advertising campaign across the province had drawn 250 replies to date, Dr. Lewis said. All had been answered, and dentists in the various areas had been assigned to meet those responding to give them additional information and advice.

Purpose of the campaign had been to acquaint more young people with the requirements of dentistry and to help them decide on their careers.

More dentists were urgently needed in interior British Columbia. To further the campaign a scholarship program has been established. Four scholarships have been awarded this year, he said.

Another urgent need was a dental faculty at university, also the subject of a strong campaign.

"This is the only way we can increase our service to the people," Dr. Lewis said.

The dentists held their business sessions in the Nelson Hotel, and climaxed the day's activities with a banquet and dance in the Hume Hotel.

Dr. A. E. Swanson of Vancouver, oral surgeon, was clinician for the afternoon lecture session. He lectured on oral pathology, covering a variety of mouth and face diseases; including cancer.

Dr. Swanson showed colored slides designed to help dentists recognize early symptoms of various diseases. He showed a film dealing with safeguards for X-ray machines.

The doctor is a member of the instruction staff of the University of Washington at Seattle, where he teaches oral surgery.

Dr. Lewis announced that the Canadian Dental Association will stage its annual convention in Vancouver in June, 1962, He said up to 900 dentists and their wives are expected to participate. The B.C. Association will be host.

CONTRACT PLAN SCRAPPED

City Garbage Service Moves Into New Areas

By RON DARLING

Garbage collection service in the amalgamated areas of Nelson is scheduled to commence October 3, city council decided at a special meeting Saturday morning.

Earlier, council had called for tenders for the service, which the city has been operating, but decided Saturday not to act on the tenders but to continue operating the service themselves.

Reason for the change of mind was due to tenders being higher than what it costs the city to operate the service.

Finance chairman Ald. J. W. McClelland moved that the city retain the service for at least another year, that a new schedule be drawn up in accordance with the city garbage bylaw, and that the service to new areas commence Oct. 3.

Mayor T. S. Shorthouse expressed his regrets that council did not act on the tenders, saying: "I think it is unfortunate we jumped the gun. We've put the persons submitting tenders to a lot of work and expense."

Ald. Edith Van Maarion suggested that council didn't jump the gun, as city works superintendent D. Likar had "made it clear to council that he thought we should put the garbage collection service up for tender."

Ald. Van Maarion sided with Ald. J. S. M. Harts, who felt that council was justified in calling for tenders "if for no more reason than just to see if we could have saved money."

Another speaker in the matter was Ald. Boyd Affleck who stated: "I think we are to blame for calling tenders without trying the new operation (servicing the three amalgamated areas) for at least a year. However, since it has been done, I think the only thing we can do is to state our regrets to those submitting tenders."

City clerk Reeve Harper was authorized by council to engage the services of a temporary appraiser to assist in the city's assessment.

E. Willmott, assistant city clerk, was appointed deputy collector for the City of Nelson.

Mayor Shorthouse and members of council expressed gratitude to Ald. Edith Van Maarion and Ald. Harts for a "tremendous job done on boundary extension."

Report of the polling clerk, Reeve Harper, was heard on the three bylaws which were all passed by city voters last Friday.

Ald. Edith Goes to Work On Health Centre

Her boundary extension chores completed, Ald. Edith Van Maarion has rolled up her sleeves once again and is preparing to start work on another project.

At a special sitting of city council Saturday morning, she asked council's permission to work on the Health Centre project.

"Now that all my assignments for the year have been completed I would like to work with Ald. Beresford on the health centre," she stated.

Mayor T. S. Shorthouse said he would be happy to name Ald. Van Maarion on the committee.

The Mayor informed council that an extension on taking up of the Health Centre grant has been applied for, but no word on the outcome has yet been received.

CIVIC CHOIR'S 12th SINGING SEASON SET

"Let there be music from the azure skies" was the theme Wednesday when the Nelson Civic Choir began another year's full program with its first rehearsal in the Nelson Junior High School Auditorium. Conductor Angus Fraser, with Kathleen Hollington, accompanist, helped dust off the voices.

After an initial singing period, Mr. Fraser welcomed all and thanked everyone for last year's hard work and very gratifying results at the spring concert. He then made suggestions for the coming season, which will be the Choir's 12th. With selections, "It's a Grand Night for Singing" and those from "My Fair Lady" enthusiasm set in.

Election of officers took place, with president Mrs. D. Askew in the chair. Jack T. Martin was elected president for the coming season; George Harvey, vice-president; Mrs. Emily Niven, secretary-treasurer; Mrs. Eunice Hawes, librarian; Mrs. Pat Trickett, social convener and Mrs. Vera Morton, business manageress.

If the conductor's suggestions are approved by the choir members next week, the Nelson Civic Choir will be heard more often than just at their annual Spring concert and the Music Festival.

This excellent group of 40 singers is most anxious to bring musical enjoyment to more groups than concert-goers, and hopes to have its talents used by service clubs and any interested organizations. Although the choir balance is just about complete, there are one or two vacancies yet to be filled, and any interested singers are asked to contact conductor Angus Fraser.

Kiwanis See Plans For $75,000 Villa

First sketches of a proposed senior citizens villa were displayed at a Kiwanis Club Ladies' Night program Saturday night.

M. L. Craig, committee chairman, showed sketches drawn by a member, Ernest Marza, to club members and guests attending a banquet and dance at the Hume Hotel. The visitors included James Culverwell of Chewelah, Wash., and Mrs. Culverwell and their family. Mr. Culverwell is lieutenant-governor for Kiwanis division six.

Plans were for an 11-unit villa, Mr. Craig said. They will be submitted to the provincial and federal governments, from whom assistance for the $75,000 project will be sought.

Each unit would have 360 square feet of space and costs had been estimated on the basis of the present price of $14 a square foot, Mr. Marza said in presenting further details. The $75,000 estimate included plumbing, heating, furnishings and other necessary items.

The units were laid out in an L-shape, enclosing a driveway, on the sketches.

Herbert Bobroske chairman of the Kiwanis playhouse Chahko Mika parade float, said $330 in tickets had been sold to raise additional funds for the villa. The lieutenant-governor was called on to draw the winner, who was 12-year-old Daryle Frederickson, North Shore.

A new member, Rev. Peter Farris, was inducted by Mr. Culverwell, who also spoke briefly. The speaker stressed the need for people in a democracy to realize they must become participants, rather than onlookers, in developing their communities. The communist world's strength lay in the fact that its people had no choice — they must be participants. In the western world, too many paid lip service to this concept of conduct, and the people should not allow themselves to stand by in a world where no communist was permitted to be an onlooker.

He complimented the Nelson Kiwanis Club on the manner in which its members plunged into projects and said he would make a report on the villa plan to all throughout the division.

A musical program under chairman A. J. Hamson was also enjoyed. Miss Shadford Culverwell, who at 15 already teaches music, played a piano selection; and a harmonica band of Clifford Underwood, Royal Fetterley an Ivan Laughton also played several numbers.

A further PTA purpose is to give parents an understanding of the school and its work and to assist in interpreting the school and all its aspects to the public.

President George Talbot gave his report from the meeting of the board of governors. He outlined the purchase of the property for the proposed Dr. Endicott Home in Creston and the plans for the home which are now in progress.

Mrs. Deerward, teacher, reported that two pupils of last year's class had now been promoted to public schools. The directors felt this was a wonderful step forward and most gratifying to both board members and Mrs. Deerward. Directors expressed the opinion the teacher has worked very hard with the children.

President George Talbot was chosen as a delegate to the Canadian Association for Retarded Children Conference being held in Vancouver on September 26, 27, and 28.

Mr. Talbot said he hopes to obtain information on what is being done in Canada for the the handicapped children as well as progress for the adult retarded and sheltered workshops.

Boys' Town Choir Sings Here Oct. 5

Thirty-five members of the Boys Town Choir from Boys Town, Nebraska, will make their first appearance in Nelson on Oct. 5. The boys are presently on a western North American tour.

Sponsored by the Nelson council of the Knights of Columbus, the choir will appear in the Civic Theatre. They sing in Trail, Oct. 6.

The committee handling the arrangements consists of G. F. Hartridge, A. Schneider, M. Poulin, J. Ryan, and R. H. Buckley, publicity and tickets.

The town of Boys Town, Nebraska, was established as a home for parentless or homeless boys. All boys in the choir are members of that organization.

While in Nelson they will be billetted in private homes. Proceeds of the show will go to the charity fund of the Knights of Columbus.

Castlegar Teachers To Host W. Kootenay Boundary Convention

Annual West Kootenay and Boundary Teachers' Convention is being organized this year by the Castlegar District Teachers' Association.

Some six hundred teachers are expected to come to Castlegar on October 19, 20 and 21 to participate in the convention.

On the evening of Friday, October 20, Dean Scarfe, of the University of British Columbia, will give a public address. His remarks will be mainly concerned with the Chant Royal Commission report. Those affected by or familiar with this report will be able to hear the Dean's views.

Displays on a grand scale will be an interesting innovation for teachers and plenty of time is being allowed for browsing among the big selection of books and educational materials. As in the past year, a variety of speakers, both local and imported, will speak on school subjects and affairs. The active participation of teachers is expected in a teachers' choir and in Mr. Kujundzic's art classes.

The convention will be concluded by a banquet and dance.

MRS. EDWARD JACKMAN DIES SUNDAY; AGED 71

Mrs. Edward Thomas (Mary Louise) Jackman, of 619 Victoria Street, died in Kootenay Lake General Hospital Sunday, age 71 years.

She was born in Hastings County, Ont., and came to Vancouver as a young girl. Her father was employed as an engineer with the Canadian Pacific Railway handling construction jobs and the family moved to different points in British Columbia.

She came to Nelson in 1906 and April 16, 1908, she married Mr. Jackman.

Her husband was employed as a streetcar conductor on the city-operated street railway service for many years. They moved to Vancouver in 1910, then came back to Nelson four years later. In 1918, they moved again to the coast where they resided until 1927. At that time they again returned to the Queen City where she resided until her death.

Mr. Jackman was also employed by a bakery firm.

They celebrated their golden wedding anniversary April 16, 1958.

Predeceased by her son Lorne Elwood at Nelson in 1930, she is survived by her husband, two daughters, Mrs. Robert (Doreen) Irving, Nelson, Mrs. James G. (Margaret) Wiseman, Vernon; six sons, Cy John Edward, Nelson, Edwin Charles, Salmo, Robert Alvin and Leonard William, both of Creston, James Phillip, Vancouver, and Wilfred Kendall, New Westminster; her stepmother, Mrs. Minnie Phillips, New Westminster, two stepsisters, and 17 grandchildren.

TO CHAIR public relations dinner of Kootenay Life Underwriters Association in Nelson Nov. 29 will be Albert Maida of Nelson, above. Mr. Maida was chosen at an association meeting in Trail.

LDS ELDERS TO EXPLAIN 'MORMON' TENETS HERE

Two young men, missionaries for the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints, arrived this week to begin working in Nelson. They are Elder Milo J. Petersen from Boise, Idaho, and Elder John G. Roach, from Park City, Utah.

During the time that they are in the area they will be calling from door to door to acquaint the people with themselves and with the teachings of the "Mormon" faith. Their purpose is not to solicit funds or to sell, but to bear witness to the Gospel and teachings of Jesus Christ.

These Elders are representatives of the extensive missionary program that is sponsored by the Church throughout the world. There are 8500 young men and women similarly labouring in the various Missions of the Church. British Columbia is part of the Alaskan-Canadian Mission, and is one of the newest Missions in the Church. The 115 missionaries in the Alaskan-Canadian Mission, like those in the rest of the world, serve for two years before returning to their schooling or vocations. They receive no monetary return from the Church, but are supported by their parents or friends at home.

The Church was organized on April 6, 1830, through the instrumentality of the prophet Joseph Smith. Teachings of the Church are that it was organized by direct revelation from God the Father and His Son Jesus Christ. Membership now exceeds 1.7 million.

Weekly Metals Review

NEW YORK (AP) — Copper markets were quiet last week, paying little attention to the latest political flare-up in Katanga and its possible effect on world supply of the metal.

The more volatile segments of the markets weakened, rather than strengthening as might be expected. Copper futures in the U.S. eased and the London metal exchange price fell ⅝ of a cent a pound on the week, closing at 28⅜ cents a pound.

Scrap prices, another traditional barometer, also weakened as custom smelters twice were able to chop ¼ cent from the price they are willing to pay for the key grade, No. 2 wire scrap. These cuts lowered the buying price to 25¾ cents a pound, the lowest since early July.

Congressional passage of a bill to provide an estimated $16,500,000 in subsidy payments to small producers of lead and zinc during the next four years drew little immediate response from the industry. No one knows for sure how many present mines would be affected, or how many mines might be opened because of the bill, it was said.

The bill, which awaits President Kennedy's signature, limits subsidy payments to companies which produce not more than 3,000 tons of lead and zinc combined in any one year.

Major metals prices:

Copper—31 cents a pound, delivered. Foreign 28⅜ cents, nominal, New York.

Lead—11 cents a pound, New York; 10.8 cents, St. Louis.

Zinc—11½ cents a pound, East St. Louis; 12 cents, New York.

Nickel—81¼ cents a pound, electrolytic cathodes, Port Colborne, Ont., U.S. duty included.

Silver—91¾ cents an ounce, New York; 79¾ pence, London.

Bible Society Says Russians Ahead in Race To Reach Minds

In a world in which great life and death issues are at stake Christians are often complacent and indifferent, while the Communists have a planned strategy in which they are spending one and a half billion dollars annually to distribute their literature in 900 langauges, so declared Rev. J. A. Raymond Tingley of Vancouver, provincial secretary of the Canadian Bible Society, in Nelson Thursday night.

Mr. Tingley was appealing for increased support of the Bible Society's work of producing and distributing the Christian Scriptures, which work, he said, is essential to all of the Churchs in their missionary outreach. In a world in which one million learn to read each week, it is imperative, said the speaker, that they be provided the Book in which lies their only hope of freedom, but millions are denied even a Gospel because of lack of the necessary funds to enable the Bible Society to produce adequate supplies.

Through the Society's policy of making the Scriptures available far below cost in order that the poorest may afford copies, the secretary stated that the annual deficit of the British and Foreign Bible Society is more than $1,500,000.

Speaking of the Red Bobo New Testament for the French Sudan in West Africa, Mr. Tingley stated that while it costs $1.20 to produce, it is sold for 20 cents, as the average daily wage is about 20 cents. This was only one of the hundreds of languages and dialects in which the Society publishes the Scriptures.

The secretary showed a motion picture, "So Great the Light," portraying the production and distribution of the braille scriptures for the blind in 40 langauges. It was shown that while the braille Bible in English costs $100, it sold to the blind for $10 and often given without charge.

The rally held in the Memorial hall of St. Saviour's was conducted by the president of the Nelson Branch of the Society, Rev. Canon George W. Lang, assisted by the Rev. Robert Vaughan. Mrs. Alan Smith is secretary - treasurer. Plans were made for a canvass of all families in the city connected with the churches, in an effort to give larger support to the Bible Society. Mention was made of the vital service given by the Bible House in Vancouver and the colporteurs of the Society in the circulation of the Scriptures, Christian literature and Sunday School and Church supples; and the Society's work of presenting Bibles free to all new citizens and to those in the Forces. The provincial objective, said Mr. Tingley, is $115,000.

The child was named for Catherine the Great of Russia, since she is a direct descendant through her mother. Elizabeth met Oxenberg, a New York dress manufacturer on an Austrian ski slope and eloped with him in May of 1960.

Retired Artillery Officer Looks After Creatures of Land and Sea

By ALVIN J. STEINKOPF

LONDON (AP)—At least 32 species of mammals, birds and reptiles are dangerously near the point of extinction, but they have an influential friend in London.

He is Lt.-Col. C. L. Boyle, a retired Royal Artillery officer.

In the war between men and animals for possession of the earth "I'm on the side of the endangered animals," Boyle says.

"This doesn't mean, by the way, that I am against man's right to existence. But man is doing pretty well on this planet, and ought to remember that there is room for the beasts too."

Boyle is secretary of the Fauna Preservation Society, which has placed 32 creatures on its list of "endangered species." There are probably more, and a few on the list have made some encouraging recoveries the last few years. For some the position is desperate unless they get understanding help from man.

On the endangered list are all variations of Galapagos tortoises. Their insistence on living in many parts of the world, but then travelling many thousands of miles to some tiny beach to breed, makes survival difficult. Creatures of the sea eat them and men eat their eggs.

BIRDS DWINDLE

Among birds in trouble are the ibis and the kakapo of New Zealand, a parrot which has wings but doesn't fly and prefers to live in holes.

It is feared that the ivory-billed woodpecker is just about gone, the last colony having been reported in Louisiana in 1944.

Other birds making a desperate fight to remain on earth include the Hawaiian goose, the Indian pink-headed duck, the California condor, the North American whooping crane, Steller's albatross, the Japanese crested ibis and the Bermuda petrel.

Mammals which the society fears are reaching the point of extinction include one of the most graceful of the antelopes, the Arabian oryx, believed by some to have originated the concept of the mythical unicorn, said to have only one horn.

The society is much concerned over the prospects of the Rhinoceroses outside zoos, particularly species inhabiting India and Nepal. Naturalists co-operating with the society have estimated that there are about 400 rhinos in India, perhaps 300 in Nepal and smaller groups in other Asian countries.

The rhinoceros faces special difficulties, Boyle said, because of a belief that its horn, ground into powder, is a powerful aphrodisiac.

HAS NO BASIS

"It's an utterly crazy belief, of course," said Boyle. "But it persists, in Africa and Asia, so the rhinoceros is hunted ruthlessly by poachers."

Other mammals on the danger list include the aye-aye, a nocturnal lemur of Madagascar which gets its curious name from the cry it utters, the mountain gorilla, the Persian wild ass, the aribbean fur seal, the sea cow, the Spanish lynx and

The Fauna preservation society has few resources or workers of its own. The Queen is its patron and the Marquess of Willingdon its president. There are vice-presidents in a number of countries and a council of 17 distinguished persons gives advice.

The society's aim is to set up refugees in many parts of the world to preserve beasts which find life too tough.

Nelson's Spirit Never Stronger

If there be any who doubt that Nelson is not a growing, progressive city, let them look about themselves.

Let them read of the events of the past few weeks and especially of the record-breaking unanimity of mind of the new and old citizens of Nelson who flocked to the polls on Friday to assent to three money bylaws by more than 80 per cent for each. Let them be aware that these voters have given the city government permission to put the citizens into debt to the tune of $1,670,000 to provide services to the enlarged new city. May we point out to those doubters, if any be left, that this shows a spirit of progress, a willingness to do things for ourselves, and proves that when the chips are down the citizens of this Queen City are not divided but united for progress.

It is because this spirit has always existed among a hard core of citizens that Nelson is the city of quality that it is. It is because of this spirit that, without large gifts, we built the first Civic Centre in the Kootenays. It is the reason such continuing events as the Midsummer Bonspiel and the West Kootenay Exhibition are still with us. It is because of this spirit that we have a fine new hospital on Gyro Park Hill, and splendid new school facilities, with more to come. It is the same will to progress that has helped establish the splendid Summer School of Fine Arts held each year in July. It is the sort of fertile ground in which leadership could establish institutions such as Mount St. Francis and growing Notre Dame College. It is most probable that the fact finding committee from the Department of Education exploring the site for a new Vocational School sensed this drive and cooperation too, and so another jewel in the crown of the Queen City was added. And at a time when "the keepers" were busy putting the finishing touches to amalgamation. Now with this overwhelming approval of the works, water and sanitation bylaws the pact is sealed and yet another jewel is in place in the Queen City's crown.

Well done Nelson!

Another Step Ahead for Notre Dame

Today is the occasion of the official opening of the splendid new dormitory building that has risen in such a short time on the campus of the Notre Dame University College at the corner of Tenth and Elwyn Streets in Upper Fairview. It is another event in a month of joyful happenings in the Queen City of the Kootenays. It is an event on which we can all extend congratulations and best wishes, and it is an event that marks another stride forth for the fast-developing College.

It must give many residents of Nelson pleasure to know that the new men's residence will be named St. Martin's Hall for the first Bishop of Nelson, Archbishop Martin M. Johnson now of Vancouver. It was during his reign that Notre Dame College and Mount St. Francis were brought into being as a direct result of his vision and organizational drive. So it is fitting and proper that the new imposing residence be called "St. Martin's Hall."

Dormitories are an essential part of the philosophy of those who believe that education is not to be found in the classroom alone but also in the talk sessions in which men indulge. The aim of Notre Dame is to accommodate all its students within its boundaries and this marks a significant step forward in that direction.

A Bilingual High School

No educational phenomenon is more remarkable than the world-wide interest in the learning of a second language. Not only on this continent where the dominant tongue is English, but in many other countries in Europe, Asia and even in Africa, there is a growing conviction that the educated person ought to know at least one other language beside his mother tongue.

In this country it is natural that the second language for English-speaking people should ordinarily be French, and for French-speaking people, English. These are the two each also has a value in the world at large, as well as in opening vast riches of literature to those who become proficient in either language.

It is in part a reflection of this keenness of interest in bilingual skill, and in part a natural desire of French-speaking Canadians in the Toronto area to keep alive their cultural heritage in a defferent environment, that a new bilingual high school is to be established here. Working out from a focus in the French-speaking Roman Catholic Church of the Sacred Heart on Sherbourne Street, it will appeal for suport from the 60,000 French-speaking Canadians now residing here.

The new high school, which will probably be named after the Most Reverend A. F. M. de Charbonnel, Roman Catholic Bishop of Toronto between 1850 and 1860, will be for boys. Toronto's first bilingual high school, Villa Marguerite Bourgeoys, which has been educating girls for nine years, will eventually become a part of the new academy.

Both French and English will be used as languages of instruction, but in all cultural activities and in normal conversation French is expected to predominate. The policy should result in a high degree of bilingual skill.

To the majority of English-speaking Canadians there is a pleasant novelty in this venture, not only in the added educational facility which the community will again, but as a symbol of the extraordinary changes in the ethnic character of Toronto. Our fellow-citizens are to be commented for their vitality and idealism.

Smiles Across the Sea

A nice bit by Howard Lindsay in The Saturday Review (American) bears the provocative heading: "The British Have No Humor." Then it goes on to report as follows:

At the time of the recent trial for obscenity of Lady Chatterley's Lover in England, a member of Parliament gave the book some qualified support.

"I have read this book," he announced. "I would not object to my wife reading it. I would not object to my daughter reading it. But I'm not so sure I'd want my gamekeeper to read it."

And in debate in the House of Lords a tiresome member had been speaking at excessive length. During his peroration he said, "And now I have to ask myself —"

An impatient voice interrupted him.

"Well, you're going to get a damned silly answer."

Interpreting the News

By DOUGLAS MARSHALL

South Africa's 1,600,000 white voters go to the polls next month in the first general election since the country withdrew from the Commonwealth May 31 — and it could be a day to decide their whole future in the race-torn republic.

Dr. Hendrik Verwoerd's nationalists have increased their majority in each of the six elections since they came to power in 1948. If they do so again, the tough premier will likely take it as a mandate to press ahead in the next five years for the implementation of apartheid, or "separate development," as the Afrikaners prefer to call it.

The nationalists are making no bones about their aims in calling a general election 18 months ahead of time. Asked the reason Minister of Bantu (Negro) Education Maree replied: "So that the European can show the clenched fist to the black man."

ANYBODY'S GUESS

What will happen then to the policy of non-violence pursued by the 13,000,000 non - whites for 13 years is anybody's guess.

A recent report in the London Observer says "textbook conditions for an explosion" are being created by Dr. Verwoerd.

But the whites are reported preparing for trouble. Colin Reid of the London Daily Telegraph says in a dispatch from Johannesburg that army strength is being doubled and the government plans to buy guns, jet fighters and armored cars from France and Belgium.

Can disaster be averted? The Observer says yes—if Dr. Verwoerd is defeated soon at the polls. But the prospects are dim.

Economic pressure from outside, as urged by certain Afro-Asian countries, is unlikely to impress the solid Afrikaner vote, assured of prosperity from "platteland" agriculture and government undertakings.

The comfortable, gold-based South African economy could hold out, says The Observer, unless such countries as Britain, the United States, France and Western Germany were prepared to launch boycotts.

HAS LARGE HOLDINGS

And apart from the political aspect, Britain has nearly [illegible] in Africa, her fourth best export customer. The U.S. has more money there than in all the rest of Africa.

Five opposition parties are contesting this election, but none, says the Financial Times of London has been able to sink its differences enough to form a "popular front" against the "Nats."

The United party, official opposition in Parliament, is notoriously lukewarm about apartheid and supports white leadership for the country though it favors parliamentary representation for the blacks.

In the current election campaign it has apparently thrown its weight in with the government in trying to suppress its own anti-apartheid offshoot, the fledgling Progressive party.

The Financial Times says this shows the Progressive party is the only real opposition in South Africa—and its present meagre 11 seats will likely be reduced Oct. 18 to a solitary one.

F. B. Pearce ...Writes

I took my visitors down to Vancouver and Victoria during the summer. They liked Vancouver but were not so greatly impressed by Victoria. I tthink it is too like England for them.

It is for me too. The old English colonels with their tricycles and their fierce mustaches may be gone but their children remain. They still dress sloppily, behave casually and are as English as their cousins across the water. They drive like them too. They take the middle of the road, come out on main highways without stopping, drive as they please and saunter along at 35 miles per hour.

No wonder Mr. Gaglardi tangled with the traffic laws. I would have, under the circumstances. I have been twentieth in a line of cars going thirty on a Victoria road and I know how exasperating it can be to have to dawdle along behind some egotistical driver who thinks he is a safe driver by going slowly.

I've had drivers pop out of hidden driveways and scare the life almost out of me and I hug the side of the road on the Island ready to leap for the ditch, which is where so many cars land there.

So Mr. Gaglardi gets fined $25 for passing on the wrong side because he gets held up by slow pokes while two mortorcyclists side by side going 35 miles per hour near Nanaimo in a 60 mile zone and holding up traffic get fined $15 each. This is most inequitable and I suppose if Mr. Gaglardi had been someone else he would have been fined $10.

This is something I think our Canadian Automobile Associaton might well take up. Not only are there inequalities in the punishments meted out but some of the convictions hould never have been made. We need some body which will intervene to make traffic enforcement laws less one-sided.

Of course there will be non-motorists and motoring slow pokes who will rise and declare that it is speed which makes for accidents. I am quite willing to agree that some accidents are caused by speed but have you ever considered the number of accidents we have had of late where cars which have been heavily loaded have been wrecked?

It is my opinion that many accidens are caused solely because the driver has been distracted. There are often too many riding in the front seat and too many behind and undoubtedly there is a babble of talk.

If the driver is a teenager and his friends are with him he will forget all the good driving practices he uses when alone or with his parents and drive like Jehu because his friends dare him to. Oh no, speed is not the only cause.

I reckon school openin' day is the one day in the year most looked forward to by mothers and most dreaded by kids.

About Books

By DORIS BRADSHAW

A year's course in flower arranging is offered in an interesting looseleaf book by Helen Van Pelt Wilson entitled "The Flower Arrangement Calendar for 1962". For those who have been handed an assortment of flowers fresh from a garden or for those who have searched a bare autumn or early spring garden for something to brighten a dull day, this is a remarkable book.

In its 52 illustrations, one for each week, can be found intriguing arrangements, some made with only a few leaves, a bit of driftwood, a graceful bit of evergreen or even one flower set off by a ceramic ornament or curiously shaped branch or twig.

The whys and wherefores of each arrangement, their symbolism and description are all given to help the would-be flower arranger who longs to emulate some of those delightful creations by the Japanese who have made flower arrangement an art in itself. Textures, line and form are given royal treatment the end result being a polished gem to catch the most paded eye.

As an example the arrangement for the first week of the new year is an egg cup shaped vase with white matte surface, arranged with moss-covered pine branches symbolizing lasting life and strength, fresh blossoms of bird of paradise, giving promise of new life and white ferns for purity suggesting the fresh snow and the new leaf of a new year.

One for February "when a little counts for a lot" has a white elongated bird form, smooth and white standing beside an inverted cone-shaped vase containing three foliages, variegated peperomia, a white and green variegated cluster of leaves which serve as the flower, backed by hosta and a tall aspidistra leaf. It is a charming conversation piece for winter-weary eyes.

In some arrangements house plants have been robbed of a few blooms to complement tall sprigs of ivy or leafy sprays.

There are also conventional and formal arrangements in suitable vases as well as some weird and wonderful ones. The simplicity of many of the designs and the use of just a few flowers would make it an easy matter to copoy many of these arrangements and after mastering the fundamentals it would be interesting for the reader to create his own fanciful table centres. Certainly the book is well worth the study whether one has a garden plot or relies on the florist, for it shows how to make the most of a little. It is published by George J. McLeod Ltd., Toronto.

Minister Green Has Faith In United Nations' Future

OTTAWA (CP)—External Affairs Minister Green told the Commons today he thinks the United Nations will emerge "stronger than ever before" from the crisis brought about by Dag Hammarskjold's death.

The statement brought desk-thumping applause from all parts of the House.

Mr. Green, just back from New York where he attended opening meetings of the UN General Assembly session, said the death of Secretary-General Hammarskjold could be disastrous for the world organization.

"I believe, however, there will be a great rallying of support for the UN Most delegations are determined that it will not be allowed to fail, but will go on to achieve greater strength under the inspiration given by Mr. Hammarskjold."

Mr. Green said he remains conveinced that the world organization is "the one hope of mankind."

Harold Winch (CCF—Vancouver East) asked whether Mr. Green would continue at the current UN General Assembly the policy and leadership he gave at the last one against "expansion of the nuclear club, and is that the policy of the government?"

Mr. Green replied: "I presume there will be debates on this. At that time, Canada's stand will be made known."

Mr. Winch said he hoped there would be no change.

Mr. Green, delivering a progress report on the assembly at the request of Arthur Smith (PC—Calgary South), said the unanimity of the vote for Mongi Slim of Tunisia as new president of the assembly augured well for the future.

It would take "some little time" to elect a secretary-general to replace Mr. Hammarskjold. What was needed at the moment was someone to act as temporary director of the UN secretariat.

"Strenuous efforts are being made to arrive at a choice," Mr. Green said.

Outside of the Soviet bloc and perhaps Cuba, there was no support for the so-called troika plan for a three-headed directorate.

TENSION EASES

Mr. Green said there has recently been "quite a reduction of tension" in the world. He described it as significant that the U.S. and Russia had been able to agree on a statement of disarmament principles.

He predicted that the new U.S. disarmament plan, scheduled to be laid before the assembly next week by President Kennedy, will be "the most appealing proposal yet made."

Canada had helped frame the plan.

Mr. Winch asked whether Canada will recommend internationalization of Berlin under the United Nations. Prime Minister Diefenbaker proposed a UN presence in Berlin on Sept. 11.

Mr. Green said the government is giving "careful thought" to any possible UN connection with Berlin.

Clergyman Chides Ban-the-Bomb Demonstrators

TORONTO (CP)—An Anglican clergyman who served in the RCAF in the Second World War deplored the effect of "Pathetic" ban-the-bomb demonstrators in weakening the free world against possible nuclear aggression Friday night.

Rev. Denton Massey warned at a Battle of Britain commemorative dinner that the same "it-can't happen-here" policy that weakened Britain before Munich is weakening the free world.

There will be no repetition of the miracle of the Battle of Britain to save the free world in another war, he told members of the Toronto inter-wing committee of the Royal Canadian Air Force Association.

Mr. Massey, a wartime group captain, said it is incredible that even "in this hour of crisis there are those . . . well-meaning but oh, such tragic people, pathetic people, unrealistic people, who stage mass demonstrations against the development of the only means we know of to defend ourselves against nuclear annihilation."

Little-Known Quebec Mine Steals Limelight

By GREG MacDONALD
Canadian Press Staff Writer

A little known Quebec mining company stole the limelight from the industrial and senior mining issues on the Toronto Stock Exchange this week and brought back memories of the speculation heydays in 1958.

Lake Dufault Mines, a small mining concern in the Quebec area of Rouyn-Noranda, leaped $2.02 in price on Wednesday, from 48 cents to $2.50 a share, in one of the wildest trading sessions since July 1958.

The stock began to move early Wednesday morning when a rumor circulated that a rich copper strike had been found by the company on its property in the Norbec field. Rumors of the strike were conflicting—some said it was a strike of six - per - cent copper over 100 feet and others said it was three - per - cent copper over 125 feet — but it was enough to set the scene that drove investors to find out where and what Lake Dufault was.

On the trading floor traders were having a field day. While leaping ahead $2.02 in price the stock traded more than 802,960 shares in one day. Many traders and investors were recalling a similar action in July, 1959, when another little unknown mine, New Hosco, jumped from 19 cents to $7.25 in a five - day period.

FINISHES AT $2.08

But it was not to be with Lake Dufault. On Thursday it was hit hard with profit taking and at the open dropped almost immediately to $1.95 a share. An hour later it was back to $2.20 a share but at the close was again down to $1.95. On Friday it hovered around the $2 mark before finally closing the week at $2.08 a share.

However, in three days it had traded a total of 1,615,244 shares.

And the speculative fever had caught on. Other juniors became active. Such mines as Caldfields, Joliet and Wiltsey Coghlan traded in the hundreds of thousands of shares.

On the industrial market an up and down action was the characteristic in the daily sessions with no great progress made in either direction.

High - priced stocks were on the down side and investors say the market still lacks confirmation that the dominant uptrend is to be resumed.

Steels, oil refining, utility and paper issues were all down.

Senior base metals moved in an almost identical manner. Ventures, Labrador and Sherritt Gordon were the only issues to gain ground.

OILS UNCHANGED

Western oils, as in the last few weeks, were weak in light trading and there were no significant changes.

The total volume at Toronto this week was 12,462,000 shares compared with 10,054,000 last week. Dollar value was $38,364,119 compared with $42,998,409.

On index at Toronto industrials were down 7.37 at 598.44, golds 2.15 at 86.67, base metals 1.92 at 200.97 and western oils 1.61 at 95.54.

At Montreal industrial volume totalled 385,227 shares compared with 571,091 last week and mining volume was 1,638,937 compared with 1,237,048.

Index changes at Montreal: Banks off 0.07 at 67.43; utilities off 0.3 at 144.1; industrials 0.3 at 322.9; combined 0.3 at 263.3; papers 0.2 at 497.9 and golds 0.43 at 89.09.

Of 399 issues traded at Montreal, 96 advanced, 142 declined and 161 were unchanged

Probation Officer Chided By Court of Appeal

VANCOUVER (CP) — The B.C. Court of Appeal chided a Burnaby probation officer Friday for recommending the sentence for a 16-year-old found guilty of possessing a stolen car.

"I notice in the probation report before Magistrate C. C. Bell," said Mr. Justice T. G. Norris, "there are certain recommendations for sentence.

"I think this is very improper. It is not for probation officers to recommend to this or any other court what sentence should be imposed. Their job is to give all the facts which will help the court but not to recommend what the sentence should be.

"Perhaps Crown counsel could draw this to their attention."

Mr. Justice F. A. Sheppard agree with Mr. Justice C. W. Tysoe when he said such suggestions were "quite improper."

The three judges wer unanimous of David Alan Braybrook, 16, from Magistrat Bell's term of nine months definite and six months indefinite.

This was the penalty which Burnaby probation officer O. J. Walling recommended a presentence report.

GET FLU SHOTS

Health authorities warn that there is likely to be an upswing in influenza outbreaks this fall and winter—and they urge vaccination now.

Because various flu outbreaks come in definite cycles, the U.S. public health service predicts the United States is due for some Asian flu and overdue for type B flu this year. Both types have been prevalent elsewhere in the world this past season.

Persons over 65, pregnant women and persons suffering from heart disease, diabetes or other chronic illnesses are urged to get flu shots now.

The National Tuberculosis Association warns that persons with such respiratory ailments as TB and emphysema are in especial danger.

Insurance statisticians explain that death rates climb under the influence of influenza and resulting pneumonia. These diseases strike most severely those persons least capable of resisting them.

BEWARE CASTOR BEAN

If you have mall children roaming your yard, beware of the castor oil plant and its fruit, the castor bean.

Many gardeners grow these plants because of their decorative appearance and large leaves. They often substitute as a quick growing shrub about new homes.

But if an unwary child should chew the castor bean, fatal poisoning can result, says a University of Michigan pediatrician, Dr. George H. Lowrey.

Symptoms appear in one to two days. They include vomiting, drowiness, stupor and stomach ache, with death occurring within 12 days.

STORMY WEATHER

Electrical storms seem to affect the number of patients admitted to mental hospitals, a scientist says. The more storms, and the more intense they are, the more patients.

Dr. Robert O. Becker said early work indicates that an electrical charge in human beings may effect their mental and general well-being.

Magnetic fields around us—and our electrical interaction with those fields—may influence our behavior, said Dr. Becker, of the State University of New York Upstate Medical Centre.

Outside electrical influences may interfere with electrical transmission in human nerve fibers, he suggested.

Reality Subject Of Lesson-Sermon

A substantial foundation for assured thought and action was pointed out at Christian Science services Sunday.

Keynoting the Lesson-Sermon on "Reality" was the Golden Text from the Bible (Phil. 4):

"Whatsoever things are true, whatsoever things are honest, whatsoever things are just, whatsoever thing are pure, whatsoever things are of good report; if there be any virtue, and if there be any prase, think on these things."

A correlative citation from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy stated: "All substance, intelligence, wisdom, being, immortality, cause and effect belong to God. These are his attributes, the eternal manifestations of the infinite divine Principle, Love. No wisdom is wise bu His wisdom: no truth is ture, no love is lovely, no life is Life but the divine; no good is, but the Good God bestows."

Reds 2 Games From Flag

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Cincinnati needed only two more victories or Los Angeles defeats to clinch the National League pennant Sunday after Reds and Dodgers lost single games.

Warren Spahn, Milwaukee's 40 - year - old ace, became a 20 - game winner for the 12th time with a two-hit shutout over Chicago 8 - 0 in the first game of a doublehead. It was Spahn's third try for No. 20. Spahn broke his own major league record for most 20-game winning seasons by a left-hander and boosted his career total to 308 victories.

Roger Maris failed to hit a home run for the third straight game as New York Yankees finished their road campaign by losing to Boston 3-1. Yanks have five home games left, two with Baltimore and three with Boston. Maris had one single and thrilled the crowd with a foul liner in the eighth. Bill Monbouquette was the winner over Ralph Terry.

Dick Donovan, one of the American League "rejects" who was tossed into the talent pool when the league expanded to 10 clubs, threw a one-hitter against Minnesota. The only hit off Donovan in Washington's 4-1 triumph was a homer by Joe Altobelli in the seventh.

ROUT JOEY JAY

San Francisco Giants clobbered Cincinnati 12-5, routing Joey Jay in a nine-run fourth inning that included a grand slam homer by Orlando Cepeda. It was Reds' last home game. They have four to play, one at Chicago and three at Pittsburgh. One more victory for Los Angeles would clinch a tie.

Dodgers lost a chance to close some of the gap when they bowed to St. Louis 8 - 7. Cards led 6 - 0 but Los Angeles came up with five in the seventh only to have St. Louis bounce back with two in their half of the inning, the final run scoring on Stan Musial's pinch double. A two - run Dodger rally in the ninth fell one run short. Bob Gibson was the winner over Sandy Koufax.

Pittsburgh put together four straight singles for two runs in the seventh and a 4-3 victory over Philadelphia, won by Vinegar Bend Mizell over Caris Short. Short.

SPAHN ALSO HITS

Spahn helped himself with two doubles and a single in the Braves' first game victory. Cubs came back in the second to get a split with a 4-2 victory.

Baltimore clinched third place in the American League by beating Chicago 5-3 in the second game after White Sox won the opener 8 - 7. Jim Gentile hit his 45th homer for Orioles in the first game, and Al Smith hit his 28th for Sox. Minnie Minoso homered for sox in the second game.

Detroit topped Los Angeles 7-5 in 10 innings when outfielder Ken Hunt of Angels dropped a fly ball that let in two runs in the 10th. Hunt's pinch homer in the eighth had pulled Angels into a 5 - 5 tie. Howie Koplitz was the winner over Art Fowler.

Cleveland - Kansas City game was washed out in the second inning with Indians leading 1-0. It was cancelled.

Hastings Captures Junior Boxla Title

PORT CREDIT, Ont. (CP) — Hastings Legionnaires, sparked by the flawless performance of goalie Russell Dunn, Saturday night trimmed Burnaby Norburns 7-4 to win the Minto Cup — top prize in Canadian junior lacrosse.

The victory, an easy one for the smoothly - clicking Legionnaires, gave them the series 4-2 in games although it was actually the seventh game of the best of seven series.

The third game was protested by Burnaby after a goal was disallowed and the Canadian Lacrosse Association upheld the protest.

Defenceman Gary Landoni led Hastings' scorers with two goals. Ken Ruttan, Joe Todd, Grant Heffernan, Dave Drummond and Gary Curtis added singles.

Burnaby's effort was headed by Jim Watson with two goals. Gary Stevens and George Longman each got one.

Norburns were out-classed, out run and out-manoeuvred from the starting whistle despite a desperate third-period drive which got them three goals.

They out-shot Hastings 39-35, but most were well off the mark.

Hastings led 4-0 at the half, after a scoreless second period and built their lead to 6-1 at the end of the third.

Savoys Edge Nakusp Squad

Nelson Savoys soccer club, after losing two straight hit the win column Sunday edging Nakusp 2-1 in a tightly fought game in Nakusp.

A goal by Gerhard Renk, with two minutes remaining, gave the Savoys the victory. Ted Schmidt assisted in Renk's goal, dribbling the ball neatly down the side lines before making a soft pass for Renk to bang in.

Nelson first opened the scoring at the 10 minute mark of the first half on a goal by Ivan Lillico. The goal stood until late in the game when Mike Kenese scored the equalizer.

The game was closely played as both clubs played tight defense ball.

Summer Ball Title Falls to Buckhorns

A record-breaking string of 17 strikeouts in the seven innings by their pitcher, Bruce Ferguson, plus eight costly errors by their opponents, were the big factors as Buckhorns romped to an 11-2 victory over Lord Nelsons Saturday to cop the championship of the Midsummer Baseball tournament.

Despite the wide margin of victory, the final moments of the game had all the tension and drama of a world series event, as the last "out" was the strikeout that set the new record. Ferguson had also established the previous mark of 16, also against Lord Nelsons in August.

Buckhorns literally mobbed their "hero", hoisting him in the air and parading him around the grounds. They then autographed the ball with which he fanned the last batter, presented to him by Cy Jackman, tournament manager.

Ferguson's big day was completed a short time later when he received the Valentine's News trophy as best batter in the tournament playdowns, a situation that ran contrary to the usual fact that good pitchers are seldom good batters.

His team-mate, Bob Jeffs, received the McLachlan Jewellers trophy as best tournament pitcher and Paul Joyce, playing coach of the defeated Lord Nelsons got back from a wedding in time to receive the Leno - Whimster trophy, as best all-round player.

These trophies, along with the John Jackman Memorial trophy for the team championship, were presented to the winners by Mrs. R. Bain Oliver, on behalf of the donors.

Cam Molloy and Bruce Ferguson, coaches, accepted the title trophy on behalf of the Buckhorns.

Public Meeting To Decide Leafs' Future

Nelson Maple Leafs make a last-ditch stand to preserve their future in the Western International Hockey League tonight when they hold possibly their last public meeting.

Tonight's meeting, the second, arose from the failure of the September 20 meeting, which was attended by only 64 fans. Maple Leafs were ready to fold after the first meeting, but hockey fans at the public meeting suggested those attending the meeting should "talk hockey to the people" in hopes that more interest and support can be raised.

The Leafs' problem is one of a player shortage. Currently the team has nine players, six short of a full roster. To complete this roster the club must look for outside talent and to acquire this outside talent the team must supply some form of wages or employment. Since the team is a co-operative they are unable to pay wages, leaving them no alternative except to find jobs for the players. Finding jobs in any town, especially Nelson is no easy task, Leafs say, so they have carried their problem to the public in hopes that Nelson business firms will come forward and offer assistance.

Thus far, no jobs or any form of assistance have been offered, so the heavy burden must be resolved by hockey supporters at tonight's meeting.

Outcome of the meeting in the Capitol Theatre tonight is of the utmost importance, as the hockey future of Nelson is at stake. Leafs, whether they win or lose the battle, want the decisive vote to be made by all the hockey fans in Nelson.

BCAHA To Assist Senior Hockey Clubs

KAMLOOPS (CP) —The British Columbia Amateur Hockey Association stepped solidly behind re-organization plans for junior hockey and threw out a helping hand to fast - folding senior clubs at its annual meeting here during the weekend.

Delegates approved a resolution that junior leagues be established wherever possible and that each district be represented by an all-star team in the provincial playoffs.

One new league, the Okanagan - Mainline comprising teams from Kamloops, Vernon, Kelowna and Penticton, has already been established and a 30-game schedule for each team drawn up.

Plans now are under way for the establishment of a junior league on the coast and another in the Kootenay district of southeastern B.C.

It was suggested that if a junior league cannot be formed on the coast that New Westminster's junior team consider entering an intermediate league with Powell River and Chilliwack, following a plan now used by Edmonton Oil Kings.

MONEY FOR SENIORS

Senior clubs operating the entire senior in a league with three or more teams will be given a $500 grant from the association.

The grant gave a much-needed boost to the western International League, which advised the association it will operate this season despite reports that two of its clubs were in trouble organizing.

However, it came too late for Okanagan Hockey League teams. Only Vernon Canadians of registering as a senior A senior A club. Kamloops and Kelowna have dropped out.

The outlook for intermediate hockey improved with the announcement that a Kamloops-Merritt team, comprised of former Kamloops senior players, will operate in a proposed league with Vernon and Penticton. Interlocking games with Powell River and Chilliwack have been arranged.

Intermediate semi-finals will be played in the Okanagan with the finals at the coast. The association also was trying to bring the Alberta-B. C. intermediate final to B. C.

Assessments for senior, intermediate and junior clubs were set at two per cent of the gross gate and the association approved a motion to compell clubs to pay overdue BCAHA assessments before being allowed to play this season.

Carlings One Game From Mann Cup Title

VANCOUVER (CP) — Goaltender Don Hamilton of Vancouver Carlings recorded the first shutout in Mann Cup history Saturday night when his mates trounced Brampton Ramblers 13-0 to take a 3-0 lead in the Canadian best of seven senior lacrosse final.

It was the first shutout since the Mann Cup series began in 1910. It was also the first known shutout in box lacrosse in western Canada.

Hamilton, 24, stopped 22 shots, including some hard ones and had to be alert in the final quarter.

Vancouver can win its first Mann Cup title since 1949 when the fourth game is played here Monday night. A fifth game, if necessary, would be held Wednesday night.

Blue Bombers Move Nearer Esks, Lions Remain Winless

By WALTER KREVENCHUK

EDMONTON (CP)—Winnipeg Blue Bombers smashed league-leading Edmonton Eskimos 33-10 without much difficulty Saturday night in a Western Football Conference game before a crowd of 19,198.

The loss cut Edmonton's first-place margin to one point over Winnipeg. Eskimos have played one more game.

The Blue Bombers were superior by far in chalking up their sixth consecutive win in Clarke Stadium. They throttled Edmonton's running game and the Eskimo pass attack never got off the ground when it counted, mostly through alert defensive work by the Bombers. Edmonton pass receivers also had a tough time holding the ball.

Edmonton's only touchdown came after a Winnipeg fumble was recovered on the Blue Bombers 39-yard line.

GRAB EARLY LEAD

Ploen threw to Funston for a 67-yard pass - and - run touchdown as Winnipeg ran up a 13-0 first-quarter margin. A minute earlier Shepard capped a 53-yard march with a 17 - yard touchdown run.

It was Ploen again in the second quarter as Winnipeg held a 20-10 lead. He went for 20 yards on the ground and another 19 on a pass to end Ernie Pitts. Halfback Leo Lewis tossed to Pitts for the touchdown.

Winnipeg's third - quarter touchdown came on a 70-yard attack featured by a 27-yard Ploen pass to Funston. Halfback Ray Jauch ran eight yards for the six points.

The last Blue Bomber touchdown came after Ledyard and Funston teamed on 31 and nine-yard passes, the latter good for a touchdown. Lewis and Jauch helped with 22 and 16 - yard ground gains.

Fullback Gerry James was good on three of five convert tries.

Edmonton's points were scored in the second quarter.

Dazzling backfield manoeuvres started off the Eskimos. Quarterback Jackie Parker handed off to fullback Johnny Bright who in turn handed to halfback Bobby Walden. Walden flipped the ball backed to Parker and the Edmonton quarterback was off for 48 yards to the Winnipeg 14. Parker's field goal three plays later put Edmonton on the scoreboard.

RECOVER FUMBLE

The Eskimos scored their touchdown after they recovered a Winnipeg fumble on the Bomber 39. Parker got off passes to end Jim Letcavits and halfback Joe Bob Smith for 14 and 11 yards. Fullback Howie Schumm finished the touchdown move with a one-yard plunge. Parker converted.

Bombers rushed for 231 yards with Shepard's 89 the best. They got 226 yards passing, Ploen getting 112 on three completions in five tries. Ten of 13 bomber attempts were complete.

Eskimos had 240 yards total offence, split eventually between passing and rushing. Parker and Don Getty, who took over a quarter as Parker went to a halfback in the third quarter, completed eight of 20 passes.

CALGARY (CP) — Calgary Stampeders gained 489 yards Saturday night, defeated winless British Columbia Lions 28-9 and took, at least briefly, a share of third place in the Western Football Conference.

Lions were never closer to the Stampeder goal line than 18 yards, and in the second half gained possession of the ball in Calgary territory only once.

Fullback Earl Lunsford, veteran power runner from Oklahoma A and M, ran for 194 yards and scored one of Calgary's four converted touchdowns. End Ernie Warlick, rookie halfback Ed Buchanan, and quarterback Eagle Day picked up the others, George Hansen turning in four converts.

Vic Kristopaitis kicked three first-half field goals after B.C. rushes had been stalled.

Lions were ahead 3-0 after the first quarter, 9-7 at the half, and trailed 21-9 after three quarters.

It was Calgary's third victory in eight games and left the club tied with Saskatchewan, which plays at home tonight against Edmonton Eskimos. Roughriders, however, have played one more game than Calgary.

KAPP HAS TROUBLE

B.C. quarterback Joe Kapp, returning to McMahon Stadium for his first game since being traded by Stamps, had a dismal night. He completed only five of 23 passes, and missed the running and receiving of halfback Willie Fleming, who did not dress due to a shoulder injuries.

Day had a better night in the air, completing seven of 13, but it was the ground attack that proved the weapon as Stampeders scored 21 unanswered points in the second half.

Stampeders ran up 26 first downs on 364 yards rushing and 125 passing. Lions gained 79 yards in the air and 147 on the ground for 12 first downs.

Dave Skrien, in his third game as B.C. head coach since the dismissal of Wayne Robinson, saw his club take a pair of serious blows.

Punter and reserve quarterback Bob Schloredt was put out of action for two or three weeks when he suffered a cartilage tear in his right leg, and halfback Bob Jeter was helped off the field in the third quarter with a concussion.

STARTED WELL

Lions had the game much their own way in the early stages. A 64-yard march in five plays took them to the 23-yard-line, where Kristopaitis kicked his first field goal, and a partially-blocked Calgary punt set up the second.

Two plays later came Lunsford's big run and it was 7-6 at 5:15 of the second quarter. Lions came right back when centre Ed Sullivan made one of the night's three interceptions against Calgary, and it paid off in Lions' third field goal at 12:50.

In the second half Calgary began playing ball-control football.

Buchanan picked up 40 yards to the Lions 17-yard-line midway in the third quarter, and Day carried twice for the touchdown.

Warlick made a diving end-zone grab of a pass late in the quarter and Lunsford rammed over from the five-yard-line with eight minutes left in the game.

Tee Time

Clara Allen and Al Threatful teamed up Sunday to win the mixed two-ball foursome and the Dr. E. G. Smythe Trophy at the Nelson Golf and Country Club.

The tournament played under cloudy skies attracted 38 golfers. Other winners were: Marg Kinhorn and Frank Tesluk, Forence Hans and Charlie Bunt and Babs Hendrickson and Lena Bradley.

Troika Campaign Appears to Totter

By TOM HOGE

UNITED NATIONS (AP)—Just one year ago Sunday Soviet Premier Khrushchev began a shoe - pounding campaign to bludgeon the United Nations into replacing Dag Hammarskjold with a board of three men.

Then fate handed the Communists a tragic opportunity: Hammarskjold's death. Now their campaign is beginning to boomerang. They seem to be pounding too hard with that shoe.

With the Asians and Africans fearful of the vacuum created by Hammarskjold's death, Moscow apparently had honed to stampede them into backing its three-headed "troika" plan for a board representing the Communist, Western and neutral nations. Under this the United Nations would be run by a three-man committee instead of a single, forceful secretary-general such as Hammarskjold.

But instead of a stampede, the Russians' latest campaign loosed a tide of resentment among the smaller countries. For many of them, the United Nation is their major foreign policy forum and they hesitate to see it destroyed.

FAVOR SINGLE CHIEF

A number of smaller countries had toyed with the idea of setting up a troika-type board of UN undersecretaries to run the far - reaching organization until a new secretary - general could be chosen. Most now are coming around to the U.S. position that a single chief must be named either on a stop-gap or permanent basis.

The shift is reflected in a move by a group of neutrals for the General Assembly to name an interim secretariat chief. The plan has not yet been presented formally, but more than 30 countries are reported to have lined up behind it. Many are fresh from this month's Belgrade conference of nonaligned nations, where they shied away from opposing Moscow and declined to condemn the Soviet resumption of nuclear tests.

U.S. State Secretary Dean Rusk attempted to give the neutrals a push Friday by appealing for the assembly to defy Soviet opposition and choose "an outstanding world leader" as temporary secretary-general.

CANDIDATE UNPICKED

The sponsors still have to settle on a candidate. The United States is known to favor Mongi Slim, this year's assembly president. Another possibility is U Thant of Burma, who has strong Asian and African support.

Slim, apparently fearful that a head-on clash with the Soviet bloc might destroy his effectiveness as well as his diplomatic career, is said to have demanded assurances that the Communists vote for him or at least abstain. But there was a growing belief that if overwhelming assembly support can be rounded up, Slim might accept the job even in the face of Soviet opposition.

Under the charter a secretary-general is appointed by the assembly, but it must be on recommendation from the 11-country security Council where Russia and the other big powers can wield the veto. There is no provision for an interim chief.

SINCERE APPRECIATION for a "most wonderful experience," his recent trip to the United Nations, was extended by Bob Shorthouse of Nelson to Nelson Lodge No. 16 Independent Order of Oddfellows and Queen City Rebekah Lodge No. 16, who sponsored his trip earlier this summer. The youthful speaker is seen chatting with Mrs. Evelyn Shaw, president of the Rebekah Assembly of B.C., who made her official visit to the Nelson lodges Tuesday night. Mayor and Mrs. T. S. Shorthouse and Bob were special guests at the dinner arranged for Mrs. Shaw's visit. Floral Lodge of Slocan City was also present.

Higher Price of Steel Moves Closer to Climax

NEW YORK (AP)—The controversy over whether there should be a steel price increase moved closer to a climax this week.

More steel executives commented on President Kennedy's request for price stabilization despite a wage increase due next week but it still wasn't clear what the industry would do.

Major interest shifted to the steel situation when General Motors Corp. and the United Auto Workers union agreed on a three-year contract for the company's 350,000 hourly workers.

Avery C. Adams, chairman of Jones and Laughlin Steel Corp., contended a freeze on steel prices would result in a further profit squeeze, fewer and poorer tools of production, less productivity, more unemployment and less job security.

He said the presidential stand against a price increase—aimed at curtailing inflation — concerned him more than anything that has happened in his 42 years in the steel business.

Alwin F. Franz, president of Colorado Fuel and Iron Co., request, urged government meaplying to the president's resures to help the smaller steel companies, which he said have been hard hit by foreign competition.

The steelworkers get a wage boost Oct. 1. It will be the third since the last increase in the price of steel.

General Motors and the UAW finally wrapped up their national contract after agreeing on economic issues two weeks ago. However, controversy over working conditions at local levels kept some key plants from resuming operations immediately.

The GM - UAW agreement prodded the stock market into a rally after it had gone into a two-day drop in reaction to the death of United Nations Secretary - General Dag Hammarskjold.

Settlements Between UAW and Ford and Chrysler are yet to come.

The first 1962 model cars went on sale this week and within two weeks 29 separate lines will be in dealers' hands. GM's Pontiac division listed prices basically unchanged from 1961 models and this was taken as an indication that other GM divisions would hold the line. In the past other car makers have followed the GM price pattern.

The U.S. economy, as measured by the total value of goods and services, jumped to an all-time high in the last three months, when the gross national product increased two per cent to an annual rate of $526,900,000 from $516,100,000,000 in the second quarter.

Retired Naval Officer on Top of Bottom of World

By GORDON TAIT

BRISBANE, Australia (AP)—Howard Gardiner (Bill) Ludwig retired from the U.S. Navy as a warrant officer in Hawaii in July, 1957 and surveyed his future.

He had a pension of $256.31 a month. He was 46. He had a wife, five children, and a desire to begin a new life.

The navy would fly him and his family anywhere in the world outside the Iron Curtain where he wished to live.

Should he go back to Brisbane, the sub - tropical Australian city where he and his wife Pat met and married in 1945 during the war?

The Ludwigs reasoned, for one thing, that Bill's pension would go farther down under than it would in the United States.

The family became seven of the 1,341 American immigrants, diplomats and resident businessmen who came to Australia from the U.S. in 1957.

(They got here well before Stanley Yankus, the best known American migrant who came from Dowagiac, Mich., in 1959. He migrated to Australia to protest restrictions on what he could grow on his Michigan farm.

(Yankus now is working for an Adelaide department store at $44.80 a week.

(Yankus told a reporter the other day: "I am happy here. My family is happy. Why should we go home?")

Bill Ludwig quickly got a job as storeman-clerk in a department store of Brisbane, a city of 600,000. He stockpiled his pension.

BOUGHT STORE

By September, 1959, they had enough for the down payment on the Yeronga Service Store, a corner grocery in the suburb of Yeronga, four miles out of the city. He borrowed $6,720 from the bank to complete the purchase.

Today, with the pension still coming in, business booming in the shop, and the bank loan being paid off, they are on top of the bottom of the world.

Not all Americans who have migrated to Australia are as satisfied as the Ludwigs. Some have stayed, though wishing they were home. Registered unemployment in Australia at the latest count was 2.7 per cent of the worn force.

But the success of the Ludwigs is by no means an isolated example of Americans coming to Australia and doing well.

"I've been all over the world, and Australia will do me," says Ludwig.

The family lives in a six-room frame dwelling attached to the shop. It has electricity, a hot water system—and a privy down the garden path.

LIKE CALIFORNIA

"The climate," says Bill with a grin, "is like southern California — except that it's better. It doesn't get as cold in winter or as hot in summer; and you never get fogs like those in San Francisco.

"And I was right about the pension. It does go further."

His $256.31 monthly pension is enough to keep the family going without the business.

He cites these commonplace items as examples of lower living costs: Man's hair cut 50 cents; T-bone steak 50 cents a pound. But Brisbane prices are lower than most other Australian cities.

"Over-all it's cheaper living," he says. "And the opportunities in Australia are limitless for anyone with initiative and ideas."

Icebreaker Home Again In Triumph

VICTORIA (CP) — Twelve husky pups wagged their tails nervously here Friday as their new masters lured them away from their last link with the frozen Arctic — the icebreaker Camsell.

The huskies were part of the homecoming scene at the transport department wharf after the Camsell pulled in from a 10,110-mile, three-month cruise in the northern seas.

For her skipper, Capt. A. F. Davidson, it was a "wonderful cruise with a wonderful crew."

The voyage was the most eventful the Camsell has made. She broke the record for early entry into the western Arctic, answered two distress signals, rode out gales that reached 85 miles an hour and gave medical treatment to two sailors.

The trip began June 22 when the Camsell was ordered out for her second Arctic trip. She had to visit and supply six Distant Early Warning radar line establishments, check aids to navigation in the region and act as an icebreaker.

She entered the western Arctic July 9, breaking the record for any ship entering that ice-locked region.

ANSWERS CALLS

It was after six days of icebreaking from Point Barrow to Herschel Island that she picked up a distress call from the Fort Hearn, a Hudson's Bay Company supply ship.

The Fort Hearn was caught in ice and badly holed. Survivors were found on an ice flow and taken aboard.

A month later the RCMP patrol vessel Spalding radioed for help, reporting a jammed rudder. The Camsell found her shetering in Cambridge Bay on Victoria Island. Four crew members were taken aboard and the stranded vessel was towed to a safer harbor.

The Camsell's own trial came Sept. 17 when she ran into a full gale off the Aleutian Islands.

"We remained hove-to with our bow to the wind for 24 hours before we rode it out," said Capt. A. F. Davison.

Nuclear Tests Revival Hurt Russ Propaganda

WASHINGTON (AP) — Russia's resumption of nuclear tests after a three - year halt has given the Russians their worst propaganda setback since Soviet tanks crushed the 1956 Hungarian revolt, the U.S. Information Agency says.

The Russians continued testing in the atmosphere Friday, firing their 15th explosion since Sept. 1.

While the new tests have directed world - wide criticism at the Kremlin, there has been no balancing rise in pro - United States sentiment abroad. Asians and Middle Easterners said, in effect, "a plague on both you houses."

This assessment of international feeling was issued Friday by the information agency following a study of overseas press and radio commentaries.

KEPT UNDERGROUND

The U.S. reopened its tests soon after the Russians. But unlike Russia, the U.S. conducted its explosions underground so as not to contaminate the air with fallout.

The Soviet blast Friday was fired in the vicinity of the Arctic testing site, Novaya Zemlya, and had a yield on the order of one megaton, equivalent to 1,000,000 tons of TNT.

There has been published speculation that the Soviet's current series of blasts — including six in the megaton range — may have deposited more radioactive debris in the atmosphere and stratosphere than Russia's 1958 series did. The 1958 Soviet tests are generally rated as the "dirtiest" in terms of fallout on record.

Scientists who declined to be identified said the only persons who could possibly make such an appraisal are the weapon experts of the Atomic Energy Commission and the defence department. Both agencies declined comment.

Odds... and Ends

Now after spending the day in Vancouver at the PNE I guess we'd better get back to Victoria. I thought you'd be interested in a small boy's comments in the museum in the Legislative buildings. He was perhaps five years of age and his mother was showing him and his sister all the bird species. In one case were about a dozen small birds lying on their sides with their history beside them.

"I wonder why they killed all the little birds?" he asked, his small face puckered with puzzlement and sympathy for the wee feathered bodies.

* * *

His mother was equal to the occasion, but it took some doing. "Oh, I don't think they killed them, I think they just found them dead and put them here so you would see what the different kinds look like."

His face cleared somewhat and you could see the little load lift from his heart. Nevertheless, when they passed on to another case he exclaimed, "Look at the Baby Ducks — (and with a shake of his head) too bad they're dead."

* * *

I shall not go into detail about the museum, save to say that it has a wonderful collection of British Columbiana and a crying need for much more space for exhibits. The Indian relics — beautiful carved spoons and pipes and colorful costumes — interested me most. There were totems of every size, some small ones intricately carved from a lustrous black stone, and frightening war masks among the numerous exhibits.

Are your feet getting tired? Mine are, so let's just follow the guide around the parliament buildings and then go for a spot of tea and crumpets — we'll make it fast (though I didn't). The guide, for the benefit of U.S. tourists and the odd ignorant Canadian, explained our parliamentary system, which took quite a little while. After you climb the long flight of broad steps you enter the rotunda, beautiful and impressive with Tennessee marble. There are paintings around the walls depicting Courage, Justice, Labor and Enterprise as well as scenes in which Captain Vancouver and Sir James Douglas are prominent. The building was started in 1897 and completed in 1898 at a cost of $957,000. (This to me seemed a terribly low figure.) Incidentally, it takes 3050 light bulbs to illuminate the building's exterior at night.

* * *

Even more impressive than the legislative assembly room which featured Italian marble and graceful marble columns was the library rotunda. It was of white and grey marble installed by Italian workmen. Around the rotunda were eight marble columns and at the entrance two Scagiola columns, so large that it would take two people to encircle them. They were of Carrera marble, but were hollow, the guide told us. That is all I can tell you, from my sketchy notes, of our seat of government, save that there seemed to be miles and miles of corridors where it was easy to get lost. Now for the tea and crumpets!

Sole Survivor Of UN Plane Crash Dies

NDOLA (Reuters) — American Sgt. Harold Julian, sole survivor of the plane crash that killed United Nations Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold, died in a hospital in this Northern Rhodesia border town Saturday, six days after he was pulled from the smouldering wreckage.

Julian was a UN security guard accompanying Hammarskjold and 14 others on the flight here from the Congo capital of Leopoldville for cease-fire talks in the Katanga fighting.

Julian's 30 - year - old wife, Marie, was flown from their Miami, Fla., home Friday to be at her husband's bedside.

Julian received burns covering one-third of his body in the crash in the bush about eight miles from here.

Investigators had hoped Julian would recover sufficiently to give them information that would help determine the cause of the crash.

His death brought the toll in the crash to 16 including a Canadian secretary, Alice Lalande of Joliette, Que.

Julian was found Monday afternoon lying face down beside the wreck of Hammarskjold's burned - out DC-6B. He had been there nearly 15 rours.

Ever since, he had been kept under heavy sedation to ease the pain of burns and multiple injuries.

A tape recorder was at his bedside to catch anything he could say that might solve the riddle of the wreck. But doctors said that as soon as he stirred he was immediately put under sedation again. He had been quoted as saying he heard explosions on the plane just before the crash.

Pirates of Penzance, a hit at the Stratford Shakespearean Festival this season, will be shown on CBC-TV Oct. 2.

MUENSTER, Germany (AP) The huge bonnets of the Clemens nursing nuns and the motor age don't go together, the local bishop's office announced today. The bonnets must go. The Roman Catholic order, whose headquarters is here, is active in caring for out-patients and the nuns sometimes drive a car to reach them. The Vatican approved the change in the nuns' habit so their view will not be obstructed in driving.
