Crop Payments To Farmers May Hit $60 Million

By The Canadian Press

The threat of a major crop failure continues to grow on the Prairies with little sign of needed general rainfall.

Although rain fell Thursday across northern Alberta, only light showers reached as far south as Calgary and little or no rain was reported from the hard-hit southeastern region of the province.

Weather officials in Saskatchewan said Thursday southeastern and southern areas of the province might get as much as a one-quarter inch rainfall if developing thunderstorms materialize.

In Regina, a Prairie Farm Assistance Act official said payments to hard-hit farmers this year may reach an all - time high of $50,000,000 to $60,000,000 in 1961 western grain crops.

The record payment would be five times higher than the paid on rust-damaged crops in provinces last year and almost double the record of $33,018,886 paid on rust-bamaged crops in 1954.

About two-thirds of these payments would go to farmers in Saskatchewan's main grain - growing belt.

No rain was predicted for Manitoba, where a high temperature of 96 degrees has been recorded.

"If we don't get rain, I don't know what will happen," a Manitoba agriculture official said. The wheat-crop can be saved if rain comes within 10 days, he said, but at best there will be a greatly reduced yield.

MEETING SET

Saskatchewan Agriculture Minister I. C. Nollet was scheduled to meet Thursday with agriculture representatives called to Regina for special consultation on drought and fodder shortage problems.

Mr. Nollet said he was seeking advice rather than information from the men. Top discussion topic of the meeting was to be the fodder shortage.

Heavier cattle sales than usual were reported in Saskatchewan Thursday, but livestock producers were not yet dumping their animals in panic.

Although a federal scheme to pay half the costs of transporting feed to livestock in drought-stricken areas or of moving cattle out to pasture has been announced, Prairie livestock owners may be facing a greater threat.

"The big problem will be lack of water," said Dr. M. A. MacDonald of McGill University, a delegate to the Agriculture Institute of Canada Convention at Regina.

"Animals can live for a long time on small food supplies," he said, "but not without water."

Grain prices on the Winnipeg exchange closed on the up side in most cases, as reports of further deterioration stimulated aggressive buying.

Return[illegible] After 53 Years

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The newly-wedded Mr. and Mrs. Junius Carnes checked out of Room 849 at the St. Francis Hotel, forgetting to leave the room key. The year was 1908.

You couldn't just drop a hotel key into a mail box in those days.

Carnes, a widower and spry at 85, returned the key Wednesday. It didn't fit the lock, but the retired real estate man revisited the honeymoon room.

"I always told myself that I would return that key some day," he said.

Three Canadians Killed in Car-Bus Crash

BONNERS FERRY, Idaho (AP) — Three Canadians were killed north of here Thursday when their car slammed into a Greyhound bus on a rain - slicked curve.

The dead were Herbert Martens, 48, and Peter P. Neufeldt, about 55. Walter Sawatsky, who lost a leg in the accident on U. S. highway 95, died later in hospital here. All were from Yarrow, B. C., about 75 miles east of Vancouver.

None of the passengers on the bus, bound for Spokane, was hurt seriously.

Boundary County sheriff's deputies said the two men in the front seat had to be cut from the twisted wreckage, knocked backwards 70 feet.

There were 13 passengers on the bus, driven by David Brockway, Spokane. Several passengers were shaken up and taken to hospital for a checkup.

Another motorist, Rev. Alfred R. Reimer, Seattle, said: "The bus and my car were travelling south toward Bonners Ferry. The other car, travelling between 65 and 80 miles an hour, came around a curve headed north. The driver lost control. The car just missed me and hit the bus head-on."

JOBS FOR JONES, BUT NO PAY

LONDON (Reuters) — Antony Armstrong-Jones, ex - photographer husband of Princess Margaret, has become editorial adviser of a magazine called Design, the Council of Industrial Design said Thursday.

A spokesman for the council with which Armstrong-Jones took an unsalaried advisory post in January — said he will have no executive duites.

"The advisers are, as it were, a board of governors concerned only with taking decisions on general policy," the spokesman said.

Armstrong-Jones' work for the magazine will be unpaid.

Last Rogers Pass Contract Awarded

VICTORIA (CP) — The last contract has been awarded for construction of the Rogers Pass section of the Trans - Canada Highway, the department of highways said Thursday.

John Laing and Sons Limited of New Westminster Wednesday was given a $999,023 contract to build two concrete avalanche snowsheds near Revelstoke.

The section through the rocky mountains, one of the most difficult of the entire project, has cost about $180,000,000. The highway is expected to be officially opened next year.

MORE WORK

A department spokesman said some contracts still have to be let for improvements to sections of the highway in the Fraser Valley and Fraser Canyon. Work on these projects will start before autumn.

The avalanche sheds are huge concrete roofs built over the road which prevent it from being blocked by snow and rock slides. They carry the debris over the road and allow it to fall into adjoining canyons.

One shed is 616 feet long and the other is 460 feet. The longest will be known as the Jack MacDonald shed, in memory of a Canadian Pacific Railway engineer who was killed when his train was hit by an avalanche and wrecked in that area several years ago.

The other is at a place called Twins, at the confluence of two ravines. The sheds, two of three needed in the Rogers Pass, are a half mile apart.

JAYNE MEETS MAMA AND PAPA

BUDAPEST (AP) — Jayne Mansfield is paying her first visit behind the Iron Curtain — to her in-laws — and the bosomy Hollywood blonde is "just thrilled."

Jayne and her Hungarian-born husband, muscleman Mickey Hargitay, arrived Wednesday to introduce her to his mother, father and two brothers.

In hesitant Hungarian she had learned from her husband, Miss Mansfield said:

"I love you both, mama and papa."

Replied papa, with a tear in his eye:

"I could keep this golden little woman here forever."

Parliament Thursday

By The Canadian Press

Government fiscal and economic proposals were approved 116 to 35 in the fifth day of budget debate.

Opposition Leader Pearson wound up a scathing Liberal attack on government tax and economic policy with a demand for an immediate general election.

The theme of an early general election was taken up by succeeding Liberal speakers in the dying hours of budget debate.

Liberal MP Judy Lamarsh of Niagara Falls launched an attack on Prime Minister Diefenbaker — "the 1961 model of hallucination."

H. W. Herridge (CCF—Kootenay West) said income tax deductions should be allowed farmers who increase productivity in the same way oil and gas companies are permitted exploration expenses.

Committee Fills 400 Bags With Spielers' Essentials

Final shakedown of the 17th annual Midsummer Bonspiel program took place Thursday and president D. M. Sample declared the festive week ready, willing and able.

President Sample and nine of his Midsummer committee tied up the stray ends to this year's package of curling and festive hi-jinks at their final committee meeting in the Nelson curling rink, home for the curlers next week.

Prior to the business meeting the men warmed up for the task by filling 400 envelopes with bonspiel crests, programs, car stickers, pamphlets, to be issued to the 90 rinks expected, 62 from outside centres.

The committee agreed to purchase radio air time for a certain period each day throughout the week as well as covering special events, if possible, such as the Lions' street breakfast Monday and the gigantic square dancing show on Saturday evening.

Added to the program was an all-star softball game composed of players from the Play-for-Fun Softball League. The game will take place in the Civic Centre ball grounds Tuesday evening.

The proposed caravan of Americans from Spokane and Coeur d'Alene has dwindled in size. Now expected are about 50 persons to try curling for the first time Friday, July 7.

10 ICE SHEETS

Civic Centre manager Fred Boates reported the 10 ice sheets are ready for action and the bunting decorations of past years will be replaced by the new paint job completed in the curling rink.

Final registration of rinks is also unsettled as withdrawals and new entries were mentioned Thursday night, but it is expected that the total entry will be close to 90 rinks, six fewer than last year's record entry.

The bonspiel itself will be four hours old Monday morning before the official opening ceremony at 10:15 a.m. Cutting the ribbon and throwing the official rock will be P. F. McIntyre of Trail, well-known Kootenay sportsman.

WELCOMING GROUP

The flood of curlers from outside points is expected to engulf the Kootenay Lake ferries Sunday. Welcoming the prairie visitors to Nelson will be the Gyro Club, whose members will also distribute copies of today's paper made available by the Nelson Daily News. The paper lists the bonspiel week's program.

Registration at the Nelson curling rink will take place from 9 a.m. to midnight. A sunset service, non-denominational, outdoor service, will be held in the Civic Centre recreation grounds beginning at 6:30 p.m.

Following the Baker Street pancake breakfast Monday morning, visitors will be able to tour the West Kootenay Power and Light Company power plant at South Slocan. The evening will be devoted to the bonspiel mixer, followed by a dance in the Civic Centre.

CITY TOURS

On Tuesday and Wednesday afternoons city bus tours have been arranged while a family beach party sponsored by the Kinsmen will be held at the provincial campsite at Kokanee.

Thursday is Jaycee night at Lakeside Park.

Friday and Saturday will feature square dancing. Saturday will also have the curling championships and the Midsummer hockey game.

The hockey game between the Nelson Maple Leafs, strengthened by the appearance of Andy Bathgate of New York Rangers, Glenn Hall of Chicago Black Hawks, and possibly Johnny Bucyk of the Boston Bruins, will tangle with the world champions, Trail Smoke Eaters.

GUARDS OUTSHINE MOUNTIES

OTTAWA—The bearskin headdress of the Second Battalion, Canadian Guards, is about to replace the scarlet tunic of the RCMP as Ottawa's number one tourist attraction.

"Mind you, the American tourists still seek out the Mounties but thousands more are drawn here by changing of the guard ceremony," says Gerald Geldert, director of the Ottawa Tourist Bureau.

The well-kept lawns of Parliament Hill will again become the scene of the colorful ceremony beginning Sunday, July 2. It will continue daily — including Sundays — until Sept. 9.

VANCOUVER (CP) — The appeal of Charles Murray Heathman, found guilty of murder in the Dec. 16 sex-slaying of 11-year-old Donald John Ottley of Vernon, has been set for Sept. 12.

It is one of three murder convictions that are being appealed at the fall sitting of the B.C. Court of Appeal.

Heathman was convicted after a trial in th Okanagan but won a retrial. He was convicted of murder at the second trial at New Westminster and sentenced to hang Aug. 15.

Weather Wasn't All That Was Balmy

LONDON (AP)—A hot sun beamed on Britain for the second time in two days and this rare occurrence seemed to have made the natives restless.

Strange things happened.

A male rock 'n' roll singer with hair a foot long eloped to Scotland with a 16-year-old girl, causing the girl's father to tell reporters:

"I'm against their marrying. How would you like to have a son-in-law with hair longer than your daughter's?"

In Nottingham, two Bank of England pound notes showed up with the signature Mickey Mouse written where the name of the cashier of the Bank of England should have been.

Near Exeter, Thomas Kahill escaped from jail, but was captured when a policeman spotted his unusual clothing. Kahill admitted he took the clothing from a scarecrow near the jail.

At Romford, a spectator at a greyhound race jumped over the rail and tried to catch the mechanical rabbit.

In Hampstead, actor Sir Ralph Richardson's pet ferret escaped and startled drinkers by running up and down the bar at the Spaniard's Inn.

In Birmingham, someone put this advertisement in a paper:

"For rent — modern flat, two minutes from railway, shops and lavatory."

Court Told

Influential Jews Were Ordered Kept Alive for Hostage Purposes

By LIONEL WALSH

JERUSALEM (Reuters)—Gestapo Chief Heinrich Himmler ordered French Jews with "influential relatives in America" to be kept "alive and healthy" as possible hostages, Adolf Eichmann's trial was told Thursday.

An order from Himmler to Heinrich Mueller, Eichmann's immediate superior, for a special selection of such Jews in occupied France was introduced at the trial of Eichmann for complicity in the wartime killing of 6,000,000 Jews.

The order stated that such French Jews "are valuable hostages for us" and added: "I estimate such cases should total 10,000."

Asked about the order, Eichmann commented: "Mention of the word 'hostages' amply reflects Himmler's attitudes."

The burden of Eichmann's testimony was to lay responsibility for the deportation of Jews from occupied France on Himmler and the French police.

As he again and again shifted the blame for his bosses for Nazi anti - Jewish acts, an elderly, bearded, orthodox Jew rose among the spectators, turned toward him and said wearily:

"Your superiors again . . ."

Eichmann claimed that Himmler's orders for the deportation of all Jews from occupied France resulted from "sterner policies" enacted after the Czech partisan killing of Nazi security chief Reinhard Heydrich.

In complying with the order, Eichmann said, the French police rounded up children as well.

Documents in evidence, he admitted, "at first glance" appeared to indicate that he gave orders sealing the children's fate.

But he pointed out that a decision concerning the children was delayed for 11 days which, he said, "proves I had to pass on the question to my superiors."

Trail Man Honored For Scouting Work

OTTAWA (CP) — Awards for gallantry and meritorious conduct to nine young boy scouts and wolf cubs were announced Thursday by Governor-General Vanier, chief scout for Canada.

The Dominion Day awards list also honors 13 adults for long and distinguished service to the scout movement.

The Silver Cross, scouting's second highest medal for gallantry, goes to two 10-year-olds who risked their lives to save drowning persons, wolf cub Radolph Cox of Scarborough, Ont. and wolf cub Terry Nystrom of Vancouver. Among those receiving the medal of merit was Stephen Saprunoff, an electrician with the Consolidated Mining and Smelting Company, 2083 Valley View Drive, Trail, Assistant Scoutmaster of th 5th Trail Troop.

Mr. Saprunoff is cited for having "devoted his life to the Movement far beyond the normal duties of leadership.

He was a King's Scout in Trail rising to leadership in the 3rd Trail Troop. Following service in the RCAF, he formed and was Scoutmaster of the 5th Trail Troop. He served two years as district scoutmaster.

He has been Camp Chief of the District Scout camp for six years and has helped in numerous adult and boy leadership courses.

He was Scoutmaster of a troop from Trail-Rossland which went to the 1949 Canadian Jamboree. Assistant Scotumaster for a troop which attended the 1955 world jamboree and Canadian contingent leader at the first post-war Washington State camporee.

And in This Corner . . .

WINNIPEG (CP)—An automobile firm here hopes to end the dry spell here and increase business with an Indian rain dance.

The firm said it plans to bring in 12 Salteaux Indians from the Shoal Lake reserve 100 miles east of here to dance on the company's lot Tuesday.

The idea is that watchers will flock into the showroom to escape the rain when it starts.

Missing no bets, the firm said that if rain starts before the dance, then "we will hold a sun dance."

OTTAWA (CP)—The federal budget is a "gross discrimination" against pipe smokers, H. W. Herridge (CCF—Kootenay West) said Thursday in the Commons.

He was referring to the budget proposal which would permit manufacturers to put more tobacco in each cigaret without paying higher taxes.

Mr. Herridge said he would venture that this "gross discrimination" against pipe smokers contravenes the Bill of Rights.

PS: Mr. Herridge smokes a pipe.

"WELL, WHAT ARE WE WAITING FOR?" says diminutive curler Wayne Wynne, "let's get those rocks rolling." When you are built close to the ice it's just as well to take these things sitting down, especially when the curling stone weighs a mite more than a mite. He probably won't be the only one sitting down before the 17th Annual Midsummer Bonspiel is over. Some of the Bonspiel committee members were racing through last-minute preparations last night. Among them were, from left, Fred Leno, Dr. C. E. Bradshaw, Ray Commons, Fred Boates, Howard Moore, Henry LeMoigne and D. M. Sample shown packing pamphlets, programs and other material into bags for bonspielers.—Daily News photos.

Fight to Quash Amalgamation Starts

Papers To Be Served on City

A long-expected court action against the recent amalgamation of the city and three fringe areas will be placed in the hands of city clerk C. W. R. Harper today.

Richard D'Andrea of Trail, solicitor for unnamed parties in Rosemont and Upper Fairview districts opposed to amalgamation as it now stands, said in a telephone conversation Thursday that Sheriff T. G. C. Fox of Nelson will serve notification papers on the city clerk today.

He also said that a hearing on his application to decide if his clients have grounds to quash the amalgamation by-law, passed on June 2, must take place within 60 days of the by-law vote. This means it must be held in July, or before Aust 2.

He said his application for a hearing was filed with the Supreme Court of British Columbia in New Westminster, about a week ago and he hoped that the hearing on the application will take place in New Westminster.

His application is to quash the by-law or resolution passed by the city to petition the Lieutenant-Governor-in-Council for a grant of supplementary letters of patent to extend the municipal boundaries of the City of Nelson and to include areas set out in the amalgamation by-law of June 2.

The voting on June 2 by the city residents was strongly in favor of amalgamating with the three fringe areas of Upper Fairview, Rosemont and South Nelson.

City council was hopeful it would receive the letters patent from the Lieutenant-Governor prior to July 1, to be eligible for a refund on all the taxes collected in the fringe areas by the provincial government.

Mr. D'Andrea was of the opinion that this hope was baseless as he believed that as soon as the government learned of his applicaton it would hold back letters of patent.

Thefts Occur In Fairview

Break-ins have occurred in the Fairview residential area, it was learned Thursday.

A garage at the home of Mr. and Mrs. K. R. Yale, 702 Davies Street, was broken into Saturday and 100 feet of hose stolen. Meat and a quantity of home baking was taken from a deep freeze unit. Entry was made through a window of the garage and marks indicated the thieves had crawled all over Mr. Yale's car.

A new house of Davies Street was also broken into and tools stolen, it was also learned. Owner is B. L. Allard.

HUNT INNOCENT IN MAN'S DEATH

QUESNEL (CP) — Robert Hunt of Williams Lake, charged with manslaughter in the March 7 death of Gordon Ellis Chipman Thursday was found innocent in Assize Court.

Medical evidence given during the trial said Chipman's heart condition could have resulted in death at any time.

Chipman died following a fight near Williams Lake.

In other cases, Keith McKinnon, 23, was found guilty of manslaughter in the death of his father near Williams Lake and Clifford Yamelst guilty of rape at Lytton last September.

They will be sentenced by Mr. Justice J. O. Wilson on his return here at the end of July.

Long Holiday Weekend Ahead

"Fun in the sun" (if it doesn't rain) is the thought uppermost in people's minds this weekend, the first long holiday of the summer.

Campers, fishermen and picnickers will be crowding the highways en route to their favorite stamping ground whether it be the beach or mountain meadow.

The weather forecast for the Kootenays is cloudy with showers, but few hardy holidayers are scared off by a few drops of rain.

Gala events have been planned by many communities. Nelson Kinsmen Club plans a two-day fishing derby with an outboard motor and boat as the main prize. Trail and Salmo are also celebrating along with other centres.

Stores will be closed Saturday so weekend shopping will have to be done today.

For school children it's the beginning of the longest holiday of the year. They threw their books away this week until September.

A note of gloomy optimism has issued from the Canadian Safety Council.

It is keeping its fingers crossed in the hope the shorter weekend may help in keeping down the death toll that plagues every holiday.

Kiwanians Plan Inter-Club Meet

Nelson Kiwanis Club made plans for an outdoors inter-club meeting with the West Valley Spokane Club at its weekly meeting Thursday night.

The two clubs, joined by their families, will meet at the summer home of Carl K. Moore of Spokane, near Balfour, July 22.

Guests at the dinner meeting at the Hume Hotel were Rev. Peter Faris, new minister of St. Paul's-Trinity United Church; H. Wheatley deRoche of Ottawa, and Andrew Turner of Creston, both Kiwanians.

358 Crates Cherries Shipped

PENTICTON (CP) — The Okanagan cherry harvest in volume is finally under way, a British Columbia Tree Fruits limited report said Thursday.

Up to close of business Saturday night, 358 crates of cherries had been shipped to Vancouver and other B. C. points.

E. L. JAMES OF BALFOUR LAID TO REST

At St. Michael and All Angels Anglican Church, Balfour, funeral services were held Thursday for Edward Lionel James, who died at Balfour, June 26, aged 71 years.

Ven. Archdeacon B. A. Resker conducted the service and Mrs. M. W. Wellwood was organist. Hymns were "Breathe on Me Breath of God" and "Lead Kindly Light." Pallbearers were J. Melvin, J. Hopwood, J. Johnson, D. McPherson, D. MacKenzie and T. Craigdallie.

Interment was in Balfour Cemetery.

Trail Council Hits Pre-Paid Funeral Plan

TRAIL (CP) —A door-to-door campaign to sell a pre-paid funeral program has been halted by city council, pending a legal study of the plan.

The action followed numerous complaints by residents, who branded the scheme as objectionable and in poor taste.

Council asked Douglas Wetmore, city solicitor, to review the facts and submit a report Monday.

Meanwhile, Ken Timlick, a former Trail undertaker who is directing the campaign under the aegis of Mel Monkhouse, operator of Clarks Funeral Chapel, has hired counsel to defend his action.

Mr. Monkhouse denied the scheme had anything to do with his plans to build a new funeral home. He said council recently turned down his application to build a chapel in East Trail.

He said it was just a coincident that Mr. Timlick had started the campaign under his banner following the denial of his application by council.

Nine Firms Form Consortium

OTTAWA (CP) — Nine firms of Canadian consulting engineers hoping to find added strength in co-operation, have formed a consortium to go after new export markets for their services.

Formation of the consortium —Canault Limited—was announced Thursday by its new president and general manager, Ray Frigon, who is stepping out of a senior trade department job to put into practice the ideas he has preached for several years.

The new company's engineering skills range from bridges and town planning to metallurgical works. It will concentrate its attention on the developing of countries of Asia, Africa, Latin America and the Middle East.

The consortium approach to export business hasn't been employed much in the past by Canadian firms, though it's a common practice for companies in other countries.

Doris, Not Vera

An error in transcription resulted in Vera Holliday being incorrectly listed as a member of the advisory committee of the Midsummer Baseball tournament in a recent report. The name should have been Doris Holliday. This will be the second year she has assisted with the tournament.

Nelson Plant Installs New Pasteurizer

Pasteurization at Palm Dairies Ltd. has been increased to 240 times its former efficiency.

A new flash pasteurizer completing the operation in 15 seconds has been installed. The time under the old method was half an hour for pasteurization, preceded by a half-hour warmup.

The new pasteurizer will handle 8000 pounds of milk per hour.

"It is the most sanitary method there is," says L. E. Kelsch, manager of Palm Dairies. "After the milk is taken from the cans it is untouched until it's sealed in the cartons."

The new unit, called a High Temperature Short Time Flash Pasteurizer, raises the milk to a temperature of 161 degrees Fahrenheit, then cools it to 36 degrees. The operation is complete in 15 seconds.

The old vat system, which it replaces, had to be heated to 145 degrees, then maintained for a half hour before it was cooled.

One of the advantages of the new process is that the shelf life of the milk is increased.

The new automatic cartoning machine handles 1200 quarts an hour. They are formed, glued, waxed, filled, sealed and stapled.

All processing of the cartons is done at the plant, whereas they were formerly bought pre-fabricated.

Twenty of the new cartons can be stored in the shelf space of 12 of the old ones.

Mr. Kelsch says the new machinery, which cost close to $40,000, is part of an over-all plan to take the milk in refrigerated trucks from the farm with as little handling as possible.

The plan, to be completed within three months, will see establishment of a bulk tank truck service. These trucks will pick up milk from refrigerated bulk tanks on district farms, setting up a cycle in which the milk will travel from cow to bulk tank, to tank truck and to the new pasteurizer. It will place the service on equal footing with systems in use in larger cities.

Fall Assizes Dates Set

The fall criminal and civil assize of the Supreme Court of British Columbia will open in Nelson, November 7.

It is scheduled to open in Cranbrook on October 10 for the East Kootenay sitting.

As yet no criminal cases have been marked for the fall assize here, but it was learned that George Belik, sentenced to hang in September has launched an appeal of his murder conviction.

Belik, of Creston, was convicted of the murder of his neighbor Mrs. Elsie Strebchuk, in her fire bombed home last October.

FIRST TIME IN MONTH FIRES UNDER CONTROL

VICTORIA (CP) — For the first time in a month the B. C. Forest Service reported Thursday the fire situation in the province is under control.

A spokesman said there has been moisture in all areas except southern parts of the Kamloops forest district, where there are no serious fires burning.

Heavy rainstorms have reduced hazards in the Prince Rupert and parts of the Prince George districts. There has been light moisture in the Nelson district.

There have been more than 1,200 fires in B. C. so far this year, which have cost $206,000 to control.

Vernon Considers New Airport

Vernon (CP) —Mayor Frank Becker says council is studying a plan to place a $100,000 by-law before ratepayers for the purchase of a new airport site.

The mayor's announcement followed closely a report by the chamber of commerce that a second survey of the proposed location will be made within a month by the department of transport.

The 210-acre site north of the city limits, is large enough to accommodate a runway 1,600 feet by 4,600. The city later would deed the airport to the department of transport for further development.

BURNHAM TO TAKE NEW ISLAND POST

Social Welfare department administrator for Southeastern British Columbia since 1957, R. L. Burnham is to take a similar position on Vancouver Island.

Announcement was made Thursday by Hon. W. D. Black, provincial secretary and minister of welfare.

Mr. Burnham's headquarters have been at Nelson. His new headquarters will be at Victoria.

Miss Margaret Jamieson, a senior supervisor in Victoria, will replace Mr. Burnham. Miss Jamieson is no stranger to the Kootenay-Boundary area. In 1947 she was a social worker in the Nelson office and from 1949 to 1952 she was district supervisor for the Trail and Grand Forks area.

Mr. Ebdon will now enter the School of Dentistry this September. He is visiting his parents for the summer.

Figured I Was A Goner-Slinger

GRAND FORKS (CP) — "I figured I had cashed in, that I was a goner," said Ted Slinger, 20, Thursday in describing how he came within seconds of death when a car landed upside down in Christina Lake, 16 miles eats of here.

"I must have been born under a lucky star. If it hadn't been for Ian (Burgess) and Cedric (Hanson) I would have died."

Slinger was pulled out of the submerged car by his two friends, who were travelling in another car. Daryl Kelly, 20, who was travelling in the car with Slinger, escaped without aid. The car had crashed through a bridge railing and plunged into the lake.

The accident occurred Saturday while the four were en route to a dance. Slinger, Burgess and Kelly, from Greater Vancouver, are working in Trail during the summer. Hanson is from Trail.

Robert McFerrin, who sings opera repertoire for the Metropolitan, St. Louis and Philadelphia companies, has agreed to give a concert in Nelson July 19.

Nelson Summer School of Fine Arts won his agreement in a telephone call to Mr. McFerrin in Los Angeles during this week's directors' meeting.

Mr. McFerrin is to be one of this year's teachers at the school, directing music studies. The school will be in session from July 3 to 28.

The directors also elected Howard Meredith president, and J. Paul Riley treasurer. Former director E. D. Baravalle resigned recently because of illness.

Mr. McFerrin, who sang in Nelson last winter, won acclaim in Los Angeles when he performed for the Community Concert Association of that city. The Times described him as a true artist, and said, "Since a reviewer is not in the habit of using this term lightly, this is high praise indeed."

The baritone "is at home in all styles . . . he produces his voice (which sounds like a cello) beautifully, effortlessly, knows exactly what he wants, commands a wide range of lyricism, drama and expressiveness and sings with a beguiling simplicity that altogether belies the technique behind it."

Natal to Persist in Its Request for Crosswalks

NATAL — The Natal Village Council decided to take charge of garbage removal within the village limits following consideration of three bids for garbage removal contracts opened at the regular council meeting after deciding that all three bids were higher than the village could afford.

It was decided to use the village truck and hire a full-time employee to remove garbage. A committee of village commissioners was named to investigate the feasibility of trading in the present truck on a later model.

A letter was received from the Department of Public Works informing council that the matter of installing crosswalks at certain points in the village had been discussed with department engineers and the RCMP with result that the request was refused. Council disagreed with the decision and directed the village clerk to send a letter to the minister of highways pointing out that crosswalks were in existence in Fernie and Blairmore and that Natal was concerned with the same traffic as the other centres. It was lso pointed out that Natal has only one policeman to control traffic. Commissioner J. Chismar, public works chairman, said he felt crosswalks were vitally necessary for the prevention of possible serious accidents.

TAX ASSESSMENTS

Chairman Ungaro told council he felt there was considerable misunderstanding among Natal residents as to the council's role regarding tax assessments. He stressed that the increased assessment resulted from a three-mill advance in the school rate which is not controlled by council and pointed out that the municipal rate of ten mills remained unchanged from last year.

Saturday, July 8, has been set up for cleanup day at the Natal Cemetery. Council decided to approach the Crow's Nest Pass Coal Company with a view to making some arrangements whereby village bylaws covering wilful damage and destruction of property could apply to the cemetery grounds.

A license was granted to two local residents to carry on the business of septic tank cleaning and drainage.

A request from the Little League Baseball Association for permission to hold tag days to raise funds was granted, with a provision that proper tags be used and satisfactory supervision be arranged.

The Natal Fire Department was granted permission to enter the chimney cleaning business for the purpose of raising funds for the department. Council agreed that no license be charged in this case and also acceded to a request for a two-month advance in grants to be used for the purchase of a roof ladder. A representative of the Saskatoon Fire Engine Company will be invited to attend a meeting on July 3 to further discuss purchase of a fire truck. Village clerk Jack Turner was instructed to inform the company that estimates received were not satisfactory and equipment mentioned would not constitute an adequate fire truck.

July 27 Date Set for Cranbrook Plebiscite

CRANBROOK—Thursday, July 27, has been tentatively suggested by city council as date for an owner-elector plebiscite concerning city franchise to Kootenay Gas Utilities Ltd. for distribution of natural gas in Cranbrook.

KGU representatives W. R McRae and J. A. Crossie interviewed the city council meeting this week and asked if it would be possible for the six municipal votes on the franchise to be set for the same day Votes will be required in Kimberley, Marysville, Chapman Camp, Creston and Fernie.

They presented clause by clause the terms of the proposed agreement on which the vote will be taken following its approval by the Department of Municipal Affairs which is necessary after three local readings.

According to their information, surveying is proceeding on the three proposed laterals from the Alberta Natural Gas trunk line. However supply for Cranbrook only by this fall would be the maximum possible progress providing current negotiations receive the proper ratification. They reported company president and general manager R. M. Rutherford would be here within two weeks to establish Cranbrook management headquarters for East Kootenay.

160 District Entries At Legion Track Meet

CRANBROOK — First annual Royal Canadian Legion junior Olympics East Kootenay zone finals here drew 160 entries of youngsters who had been winners of their own branch track and field competitions at Golden, Invermere, Creston, Kimberley and Cranbrook.

The meet was held at the Mount Baker School track.

Britain's Royal Air Force was formed in April, 1918, with the former Royal Flying Corps as its nucleus.

July 5 Date Set For Orchard Tour

CRESTON — The 1961 Creston Valley orchard tour will be held Wednesday, July 5.

Creston Local BCFGA, sponsors of the tour, expect that many Kootenay fruit growers will take time out to attend this event, which proved so popular last year, says J. E. Swales, district horticulturist. Local orchardists will have an opportunity to compare results of apple scab control programs, inspect dwarf apple tree plantings, see other interesting features of horticulture, and discuss problems of mutual interest.

At least four members of the staff af the CDA Research Station in Summerland will participate in the tour. They are: Dr. C. Strachan, director of the Summerland Station; Dr. J. L. Mason, soil specialist; Dr. J. Wilks, plant pathologist, and M. Weiss, pomologist and dwarfing rootstock specialist.

The tour will begin at Prince Charles High School at 9:30 a.m. on Wednesday. Comparison of orchard spray programs and inspection of mineral deficiency symptoms will be included in the morning program. The tour will arrive at the R. D. Currie orchard at Erickson for the lunch period. A cold plate with beverage will be provided by women of the community and Creston Local, BCFGA. Brief discussions on topics of general interest will be held during the noon break.

The afternoon program will again feature a comparison of spray schedules, as well as inspection of planting of apple trees on dwarfing rootstocks.

Government Asks Lots For Library Quarters

CRANBROOK — City council considered a query this week from the provincial deputy minister of public works concerning an offer the city made two years ago of a two-lot location, the former Baptist Church site at South First Street on Eleventh Avenue, for use of a city library and headquarters for the East Kootenay Branch of the Library Commission and its extensive book depot.

Council will notify him the city is still prepared to provide the location, but that increase in city library membership and use require a second look with regard to advisibility of sharing of the two library services at this location, and also the city proposal to provide heat for the building proposed. This latter situation has changed since the next-door fire hall steam plant for heating is now operating for the police administration building and might not heat satisfactorily the proposed new library building also. Invitation was extended for provincial library and departmental officials to meet at any time with Council to discuss the proposal further.

Application of M. R. Carry for the post of janitor for the new police administration building was chosen from the 35 submitted.

Teen-age rowdiness reported by the City Tourist Camp in the swimming pool vicinity, particularly in the tenting area, was severely censured and parents will be notified by advertising that severe penalties will be applied to anyone caught in these activities.

Welcome Bonspielers

Golf and curling are two sports which the Scots have successfully exported to every part of the world. The two complement each other—golf reigns supreme in summer and curling in winter — but it remained for Nelson to introduce a Midsummer Bonspiel as an attraction for those who love the roaring game.

This year's Bonspiel promises to be as happily successful as ever — nearly 90 rinks have been signed up representing 62 towns and cities — and even if the weather fails to cooperate nothing can dampen the enjoyment of those taking part. There will be all the tension and excitement of a game which requires a high degree of skill and thousands in Nelson and nearby communities will follow the Bonspiel with interest.

Nelson is only too pleased to be host to all who have come to the Bonspiel and trusts that, whatever the results of the play, the curlers and their families will enjoy every moment of their stay and will always have a warm spot in their hearts for this city, as we shall have for them.

Old in Years, Young in Capacity

"It will be possible to prevent or cure all sickness without excepting even that of old age and our life will be prolonged at will even beyond what it was before the deluge." (Benjamin Franklin)

The above quotation is a translation from a biography of Benjamin Franklin by the great French writer, Sainte-Beuve, in his book entitled, "Profils Anglais". The reprinting here is a tribute to the perspicacity and wisdom of a man whose vision and greatness transcended race and time.

Our purpose here, however, is not to praise Benjamin Franklin but to point out that what he foresaw in 1780 now in 1961 has already commenced to happen. Who knows but what Methuselah may have lived for 900 years.

But let us be practical. Since the beginning of this century in a brief 60 years science has added 20 years to the expectation of life on this continent and according to many observers the average duration of life will continue to be greater. In other words each year there will be more and more people on this earth who will retain their youth — and their capacity for work for more years. And what are we going to do about it?

Are we to join the army of short-sighted do-gooders? Will we only build old people's homes where people over 65 can retire to knit or play checkers? Will we attempt only to organize clubs where older citizens may enjoy useless idleness as a final solution, or on the other hand is it possible that there are other solutions to the problem of an ever-aging population?

Few people realize that the increasing number of people in the upper-age brackets will, if we do not change our approach to the question, create new and serious problems which society must solve if it is to survive.

The time may well come when the proportion of older citizens is so great that society as now organized cannot afford to keep them in idleness. Industry basing its action on the mortality statistics of 1900 is still blindly as a rule retiring its employees at 65 years of age. But industry has forgotten that we are now living in the year 1961 and that mortality tables have changed even if we have forgotten to look at them.

A large proportion of people now compelled to retire are still willing and able to work, some to continue at the work they have always done, others to start a second career at something else. The worst thing for these people is to encourage or compel them to stop work altogether. In this direction lies deterioration.

The sensible approach to the problem of gerontology as it is now known is not to accept as final the idea that the processes of aging are physiological. A man is not necessarily as old as his years. If in the process of time he becomes feeble and decrepit it may well be that there are reasons and that if these reasons are understood man may retain his capacity for thinking and working for an indefinite time.

The job of medical science is to keep mankind hale and hearty for as many years as possible. The job of society is to utilize the services of all men capable of service whatever may be their years. It is high time that science and industry alike take a new look at the process of aging and the problems which will certainly arise in a growing community of people who are old in terms of years but young in terms of capacity for both mental and physical work.—Health Magazine.

The Squeeze

Perhaps city people cannot be blamed if, from time to time, they become a little sceptical about the "cost-price squeeze" on agriculture.

For one thing, just about everybody now claims to be caught in a "cost-price squeeze." The other day the Canadian Manufacturers' Association said industry is being squeezed. It seems that the profits of a sample of 1000 companies were only $458,000,000 last year, down from $463,000,000 in 1955.

Figures compiled by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics show that the squeeze on farmers is real and measurable. Over the past year it hasn't got much worse but it is still there.

The latest price index for commodities and services used by Prairie farmers is 248. It is based on the 1939 cost of production set at one hundred.

This means that it cost $2.48 for a farmer to buy what $1 would buy in 1939. And the fact is that farm prices have not increased enough to keep up with the rise in costs.

—Winnipeg Tribune.

Up and Away

We knew that the Pentagon was putting more emphasis on unconventional warfare but we didn't realize how unconventional things could get until we learned about the army's new portable rocket.

With this device, which is strapped onto a soldier's back, the modern infantryman merely turns a control and before he can say A-O.K., is on his way. Two rocket nozzles unloose a blast and up he goes, over treetops and buildings, just the way Superman's been doing it for years.

The possibilities of such an invention seem limitless. It sounds like a commuter's dream ("Look, children, there's Daddy at 12 o'clock") and, indeed, the time may come when breadwinners will start the trip home by leaping out of windows. It would certainly go far to alleviate the rush-hour crush on trains and buses — although regulating air traffic might become more complicated.

And that pretty picture is certainly in tune with the times — all of us flying higher and higher on Washington's inflationary rockets.

—Wall St. Journal.

Letters to The Editor

Will Not Buy Land While "War" Is On

To the Editor:

Sir — After reading the article, Land Settlement Underway, I cannot stay silent. I, from experience of losing a home, would advise people to think twice before buying land, as you only can know from experience what it is to lose everything you have, then spend sleepless nights from fear.

We have to have more security rather than a go-ahead sign. Can the Reformed Doukhobor Council of Stefan Sorokin promise the people that they can buy and live without fear? As long as this war is going on, we will not live in peace.

F. B. Pearce ...Writes

Travelling is never more pleasant than when one has the object of showing all the beautiful features of the country to those who are viewing them for the first time. Then every turn in the road, every new vista of mountain and valley and every object and building on the way is the subject of interest and explanation.

So we decided to take our visitors to Vancouver and Victoria, for those are places which no visitor to B.C. can afford to miss, and on the way we would take in "Indian Days" at Kamloops.

The shortest way to the North Okanagan is over the Monashee Pass to Vernon but that road is abominable. There is far too much of it which is unpaved and dusty and what may be alright for the hardy sons of B.C. is not to be recommended for those who come from a land where all roads, even the least important, are paved. It may save a hundred miles or more but the better way is the long way round.

So we went via Salmo and Waneta. At this border point the Canadian Customs officer gives a slip to present to the U.S. officer. The road from Waneta to Northport has been much improved. The road has been considerably widened, the rock bluff has been cut back and if the surface of the road is not paved one can still make good time on it.

This cutoff is much preferable, to my mind, than the grinding road through Trail and Rossland, but if we have missed those two towns it only means we shall pay them a special visit, which they deserve, at a later date.

I am in agreement with the old saying that it is better to travel than to arrive, but those who favor of getting to Vancouver in a hurry should look for short cuts. One of my friends suggests that the shortest way now is via Nelway, Tiger, Republic and Oroville. The scenery does not compare with that on the Canadian side but the route is worth taking.

One can overdo this matter of taking short cuts. The one through Danville and Curlew saves only nine miles and that is a matter of only 10 or 15 minutes at the most. I may be prejudiced against this detour but I once got caught there when the customs officer was at dinner and lost more than 15 minutes.

The detour might have been justified a few years ago when the road to Greenwood was so poor but the Highways Department is making a good job of straightening and widening it. It is well worth travelling today if only to see what is being done. For visitors it is especially interesting as they have an opportunity of seeing what roads under construction mean and to be suitably impressed with the difficulties which have to be overcome. It would never do for them to think our roads were good from the very beginning.

Interpreting The News

By HAROLD MORRISON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

A major result of Premier Khrushchev's latest campaign of threats against Berlin and Germany is the removal of some of the seeds of discontent in the western alliance and growing evidence of a stronger, more unified Western front compared with the carping and quarrelling that took place over the Laotian crisis.

Britain wants to step in quickly, to do what it can as peace-maker to prevent a East-West military showdown over Berlin. But there is no indication Prime Minister Macmillan differs essentially from the policy enunciated by President Kennedy—that there will be no Western appeasement, compromise or withdrawal from its role and pledges in Berlin and Germany.

Undoubtedly without intention, Khrushchev appears to have refurnished the glue that long has cemented the alliance—the critical need of closing ranks and maintaining a unified front in the face of a possible new European war. As President de Gaulle has persistently maintained, Western Europe may not be so eager to fight to maintain freedom in Southeast Asia as it would be to beat back an enemy in its own back yard.

American policy advisers are still not convinced Khrushchev would really risk a war over Berlin. And indeed the Soviet leader gives evidence of willingness to hold further negotiations on the issue. Kennedy has pledged the United States to a hard, unflinching line. But he also wants to avoid war.

SUMMIT INEVITABLE?

Thus it would seem inevitable that Kennedy and Khrushchev will be forced to meet once more, perhaps more as a face-saving gesture for Khrushchev than in any hope of finding a solution that would be satisfactory to East and West.

Kennedy suggests the best way out is to let the Germans, in the East and West sectors, decide their own future through free elections. Khrushchev won't agree to this. He wants Germany split permanently, a move which would mean Western recognition of what Kennedy calls Russia's "East German regime."

Kennedy won't yield and is not likely to do so. He did retreat in his threat of military intervention in Laos, but as he now states, Germany is no Laos.

As events are shaping up, restoration of a united Germany becomes a matter of remote reflection for further generations.

KELOWNA (CP) — Acting-mayor Arthur Jackson Wednesday accepted a Canadian Highway Traffic Safety Award given the city for a fatallity-free year in 1960.

About Books

By HAL LEIREN

If all you can manage these days is a slow walk between the lemonade pitcher and the lawn chair, here are two books just out, tailor-made to help you beat the heat with a laugh.

The first one is Love and Peanut Butter, by Lesley Conger. Publisher is George J. McLeod Ltd., $4.50.

Mrs. Conger is the lady in the big house down the street — the one with all the kids and animals. She is your next door neighbor with a difference. Love and Peanut Butter, is a year in the Conger family. It consists of six individual and loveable kids, a teenage fosterchild, and an absentminded anthropologist husband with a craving for buying islands. The numerous animals you'll find listed in the book, as they pass through it and the Conger household.

The oddest of these "pets" is doubtless the stuffed deer head rescued from a neighbor's trash can.

Brought out by Mrs. Conger, who presently lives in Vancouver, are the crazy and delightful everyday happenings of an ordinary (?) family. (It happens all the time).

Through all the whacky antics of her family she tries as best she can to continue her successful career as a writer.

Some calamity or other usually manages to interrupt the rapport between herself and the typewriter, as witness:

Mrs. C: "Did you bite Sandy, Jill?"

Jill: "No ! (howls) She puts her thumb in my mouth (more howling) and I wanted my mouth shut."

Exunt.

However, with all the interruptions that came along her writing was not stopped, though she may have been outflanked on occasions. And so we have this refreshingly tasty mixture of "Love and Peanut Butter." Whether you're a nibbler or have a more robust appetite you'll find it light-sitting summer fare.

The second book, Phogey by Malcolm Bradbury, published by Clarke, Irwin and Co. Ltd., $2.75 is razor wit such as only the English are capable of.

Punch contributor Bradbury pokes a fun-filled finger at the eccentricities of Olde England as seen by an Englishman returning to the scene from abroad.

A Phogey is described by author Bradbury as "half phoney, half fogey, with a touch of the word foggy."

This rare genus exists only in England and is now almost extinct.

Mr. Bradbury says the Phogey is a relic of the 19th century which exists in the 20th from sheer pluck and muddling through. Some are born phogey, some achieve phogey and some have phogey thrust upon them.

This hilarious book, which has an underlying current of serious criticism, points out such typically English eccentricities as the multiplicity of electric plug sizes; the thirties decor, described in brochures as "modern"; queueing at the drop of a hat in a queue that moves at the speed of its oldest and slowest member. All this in addition to notices on toilet paper that say "Please wash your hands."

Here is an Englishman who proves they can laugh at themselves.

Class and quality are recognized by lack of ostentation, he says. A man of quality is attired in well-worn and well-cut tweeds, smells of dog and sweat, has a fish fly in his hat, holes in his socks and a scattering of lead shot in the interstices of the fabric.

Author Bradbury illustrates his Phogey's in a probing portfolio. Described in detail are such characters as "The Henna-haired Harridan, the Ghoul, the Make-do-and-mend, or Rainy Day man, the Predominently Equestrian Phogey, female, described as broad-shouldered, husky and broad-bottomed.

This laugh-filled book probes into the problems of a society, which much against its will is fast becoming classless, and pokes fun at the Englishman's attempts to hold fas to class and tradition with a firm grip and a stiff upper lip.

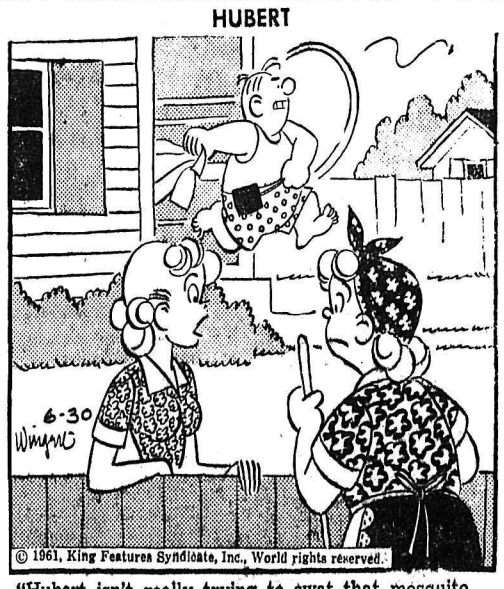
It is a rib-tickling journey through phogey land. When you have finished the course you'll recognize them and beware where ever you find them.

Are you one?

RAPE SENTENCES

QUESNEL (CP) — James Kane of Lytton and Reginal Gauthier of Williams Lake were sentenced to 2 ½ and five years respectively on rape convictions at the Spring Assizes. Isador Prentice, Williams Lake was sentenced to three months for car theft. Ronald Mattilla of Quesnel was found not guilty of attempted murder on the ground of insanity.

HUBERT



"Hubert isn't really trying to swat that mosquito ... he just wants to tire it out so they'll BOTH get some sleep tonight!"

Coyne Declines To Read Letter From Bryden

OTTAWA (CP) — James E. Coyne, governor of the Bank of Canada, declined Wednesday night to see a copy of the letter released earlier in the evening by J. T. Bryden, a former director of the bank.

"No, I'm not interested in it tonight, thank you. I'm in bed," he told a reporter.

Mr. Bryden was drawn into the controversy Monday when the bank governor said in an open letter to Finance Minister Fleming that the former bank director had informed the minister of board plans to increase Mr. Coyne's pension six months before the board approved it.

Wednesday night, Mr. Bryden countered with an open letter to Mr. Fleming in which he said no mention was made to the minister of special provisions for Mr. Coyne's pension six months before it happened.

The former director said, however, that he was surprised when the finance minister told him March 21, that he knew nothing about Mr. Coyne's pension being raised to $25,000 from $12,000. He based this surprise on the fact that a representative of the deputy finance minister had been on hand when the bank's board of directors made the decision early in 1960.

Mr. Fleming could not be reached for comment Wednesday night.

The question of the pension is one of five upon which Mr. Fleming says he based a May 30 demand for the bank governor's resignation.

U.S. Sends Atomic Battery Into Orbit

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—The United States has hurled its first atomic battery into space as part of a spectacular aerial triple play in which one rocket placed three satellites in orbit around the earth.

The Russians never have announced using a nuclear device in their satellites. Without Russian word, Thursday's success would appear to give American scientists a significant lead over Russia in the race to harness atomic power for space exploration.

A Thor - Able - Star rocket blasted off from Cape Canaveral late Wednesday night with the satellites stacked in its nose as a three - scoop ice cream cone.

WORKED SMOOTHLY

Both stages of the 50 - ton rocket clicked with drill - like precision and flung the entire package into orbit. Almost immediately, spring devices kicked the paylods apart and they continued to circle the globe on separate paths nearly 600 miles above the earth.

Officials reported early Thursday that the atomic battery was functioning and that clear signals were being transmitted by all three packages.

This was the first time the triple payload technique was attempted. It raised to 43 the number of U.S. satellites placed in orbit since the first went aloft 41 months ago. Another Thor-Able-Star pushed two satellites up a year ago.

ATTACHED TO SATELLITE

The 4½ - pound nuclear unit was attached to the base of the largest satellite. This is transit 4-A 175-pound forerunner of the navy's satellite system designed to provide ships, planes and submarines with accurate, all-weather navigation.

The other satellites were:

A 55-pound sphere nicknamed Greb which carried two detectors to measure x-ray radiation from the sun. The naval research laboratory said it is studying the effect of solar radiation in the ionosphere, a series of electrically-charged layers in space which bounce radio signals back to earth and thus are important to communications.

Injun, a 40 - pound drum-shaped parcel to measure intense radiation in the Van Allen radiation belts and to report on auroral phenomena such as the Northern Lights. The instruments were devised by Dr. James Van Allen of the University of Iowa whose guages on early U.S. satellites discovered the great bands of radiation.

USED PLUTONIUM-238

But the starring role went to the grapefruit-sized atomic unit whose hot core contained a small amount of plutonium-238, a radio-isotope which generated heat up to 1,000 degrees. Thermo-electric rods converted the heat to electrical energy

5 watts of power to and some instruments in Transit 4-A.

Once perfected, these atomic batteries will provide satellites with unlimited power supply and permit communication with vehicles fired deep into the universe.

Within five years, it is planned to use much larger nuclear units as rocket propulsion systems.

U.S. experts report the Russians are working with strontium-90, a relative "dirty" nuclear element which requires heavier shielding than plutonium-238 and other materials with which the U.S. is experimenting.

Schools Out for B.C.

VICTORIA (CP) — The school term ended Thursday for 316,000 British Columbia children and to many the past 10 months was their last experience of "good, old - fashioned school days."

A three - member royal commission late last year brought down 158 recommendations for improving the province's public school system. Since then education department officials have been studying the feasibility of dozens of proposed changes in the curriculum.

So far there has only been a handful of such changes — the assimilation of grade 7 into the elementary school setting, lengthening of the school year and proposals to re - organize senior levels — but observers say the biggest are still in the wind.

The education department has appointed 20 committees, with a total membership of 125 persons, to study and report on revisions to courses.

Most of the extension is being given to the grade 7 curriculum, which until now was the first year of high school. In 1962 the spotlight will be swung to the grade 8 program so that as those students progress through school, year-by-year they will come under the new system.

Senior high school science, mathematics, English and language courses are also being studied intensively in an effort to boil them down to a hard core of useful, meaningful data.

Changes are being planned which would bring those courses more closely in line with allied subjects at the university level.

New text books also are being studied, an onerous task which involves many hours of consultation with their authors, publishers and groups of administrators and teachers. Committees from the education departments of B.C. and Alberta are making a joint study of arithmetic tests for elementary grades

A Russian language course at the grade 10, 11 and 12 level has been extended and new courses in conversational French are available for teaching Grades 6 and 7 if local school boards have the staff and facilities.

The school year has been lengthened by two days, by reducing Christmas holidays to a period which would extend from two days before Christmas, to two days after New Year's, and the teaching day will be extended by about 15 minutes.

Changes Urged In Jobless Insurance Laws

OTTAWA (CP) — Erhart Regier (CCF — Burnaby Coquitlam) Thursday urged a change in the law which bars unemployment insurance payments to persons laid off in anticipation of a strike.

He made the request in the Commons after Labor Minister Starr said the insurance commission had no alternative but to disqualify from benefits persons laid off by Westeel Products at Saskatoon.

The minister said the company informed the commission that the men were laid off because it was anticipating a strike. The men were disqualified from benefits as of June 2.

Mr. Regier said this provision in the law would lead to serious consequences.

Prairie Drought Seriously Affects Dairy Supplies

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Effects of the severe drought conditions on the Prairies are beginning to reach beyond the farmer's plowed - under fields and fodder-short cattle.

First hint of new areas affected came from Winnipeg where milk producers have expressed concern they may be forced out of business.

The producers operate on contracts which they must fill or lose. Milk - producing herds at strength, and with supplies of feed at a premium, the outlook is bleak.

Henry Kahn, who has a 240-acre dairy farm near Isle des Chenes, 17 miles southeast of Winnipeg, said Wednesday if it doesn't rain soon, he will have to find outside sources for fodder.

Importing fodder could force Kahn out of business as increases in milk - production costs cannot be passed on to the consumer. The Manitoba agriculture department holds consumer milk prices constant.

NO RELIEF SEEN

Kahn and other prairie farmers could take little heart from weather forecasts indicating more of the hot, dry weather which over the last few months has turned southern prairie crops to the brink of disaster.

Widely - scattered thunderstorms were tentatively forecast for tonight, but the parched land needed a good steady downpour to recover.

As the drought continued to hold, cattle sales Wednesday were running double those for the same period last year at the Winnipeg stockyards. Winnipeg officials said the condition of cattle received indicate farmers were culling their herds of less desirable stock.

The prospect of a crop failure also has brought increased market activity. An estimated 3,000,000 bushels of flax were traded at the Winnipeg Grain Exchange Wednesday, about 1,000,000 more than usually changes hands.

SEES CROP FAILURE

The Saskatchewan Farmer's Union predicted the province's wheat yield likely would fall between the figures for the province's two driest years, when 12.2 and 12.6 bushels an acre were gleaned.

Alberta is in a somewhat better position than the other prairie provinces, with only the southern part of the province severely affected. Albert Agriculture Minister L. C. Halmrast said Wednesday it will probably be necessary for farmers in southern Alberta to buy hay from districts having surplus stocks.

A 150,000 - acre government experimental station west of Medicine Hat has been opened up for grazing, but it was expected to provide pasture for only 5,000 head of cattle.

The Alberta agriculture department said southern area wheat yields probably will be little more than five bushels an acre.

HOLD CONFERENCES

Throughout the Prairies, conferences among agriculture officials are the order of the day as July 15, quoted as the final day when rain will be of much use, draws closer.

Manitoba Agriculture Minister George Hutton was scheduled to confer with federal officials in Ottawa Thursday on possible aid for western provinces. Saskatchewan Agriculture Minister Nollet and Alberta Agriculture Minister Halmrast both have called conferences of provincial agriculture officials to discuss the situation.

Meanwhile, from Regina came a plan to forestall recurrence of the disastrous fodder shortages. Alexander Johnson, an official of the federal agriculture department at Lethbridge, said in Regina Wednesday that range production could increase by about 100 per cent in Canada despite declining precipitation rates and grass growth.

Mr. Johnson told an Agriculture Institute of Canada convention this will be achieved by improved management practices, such as better stock watering methods, better salting practices, seasonal rotation of livestock on grazing lands, and use of water - spreading systems.

Our Father's Business

The papers this week call attention to the fact that with the holiday weekend there will be many casualties on our highways, and they exhort us to drive carefully. It is important for all of us who use the highways to drive so as to stay alive.

For many, the first of July is nothing more than a day off from work and an opportunity for picnics and trips. Many perhaps give little thought to why they have this day off.

Why is July first a holiday? Do we realize that it is Canada's 94th birthday, and that on this day we should think of our country and what we owe to God and it?

God promised the children of Israel "to bring them into a good land, a land of brooks, of water, of fountains and depths that spring out of valleys and hills; a land of wheat, and barley, and vines, and fig trees, and pomegranates; a land of olive oil and honey; a land in which thou shalt eat bread without scarceness, thou shalt not lack anything in it; a land whose stones are iron, and out of whose hills thou mayest dig brass." Deut. 8,7-9. But He also reminded them that they could enjoy these blessings only as long as they were grateful and served the Lord by living according to His commandments.

God has given us a good land in which to live. Most of those products and resources found in Canada are found here in superabundance, and many more besides. What applied to Israel regarding gratitude and serving Him in righteous living applies to us as well.

Over the weekend, as you go on that fishing trip, take the road, or quietly stay at home and relax, will you meditate on the goodness of God in giving you a good country? Will you send a prayer heavenward to our heavenly Father to continue to bless our land and all its governments? Will you live your life to please Him, not only by obeying His laws, but also by accepting His Son, Jesus Christ, for your salvation?

REV. CARL J. HENNIG.

Halliwell-Jensen Nuptials

Former Nelson Man, Attendants In RCMP Full Dress Uniform

A wedding of interest in Nelson and southern Alberta took place in Cardston, Alta., Wednesday, June 21, when Carolynne Jensen, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Jensen of Cardston, became the bride of Constable William Erle Halliwell, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Erle Halliwell of Nelson.

Bishop H. A. Toole of Claresholm read the marriage service. In RCMP tradition, the bridegroom and his attendants were in the scarlet tunics and dress uniform of the force.

The blonde bride was lovely in a white silk and organza wedding gown with short sleeves and lily-point organza cuffs. Her veil was chapel length and her shoes were white pearl. She carried white lilies and red rosebuds posed on a white Bible.

Bridesmaids were Kathryn Brooks of Lethbridge and Carol Smith of Cardston. Their gowns were silk and they carried gold and rush chrysanthemums and carnations in baskets.

The bridegroom was attended by Constables Peter McDermid and David Edey, both of Claresholm. The parents of the bridegroom were in Cardston for their son's wedding.

A reception for 300 guests was held at the L.D.S. Hall in Cardston. In the receiving line, the mother of the bride was gowned in a pale blue sheath with matching organza duster and the mother of the bridegroom in blue lace with a full skirt. Both wore red and white carnation corsages.

For their wedding trip, the bride changed into a pleated blue silk sheath with white accessories.

After a trip through the northern states and Nelson they will make their home at Claresholm, where the bridegroom is stationed with the RCMP.

LEGION LA, BRANCH PLAN ANNUAL PICNIC

NEW DENVER — Among other business discussed were plans for the annual joint picnic of the Royal Canadian Legion Ladies' Auxiliary and New Denver-Silverton Branch No. 101 when the LA held its meeting in the upper Legion rooms at New Denver.

President Mrs. W. G. Thring presided, with 15 members in attendance.

The Salvation Army canvass netted $203. Canvassers were Mrs. M. Wright, Mrs. D. Senning, Mrs. T. Wilkowski and Mrs. O. Lindsteen of Silverton; Mrs. S. A postcard was received from one of the members, Mrs. P. J. McCrory, mailed from Singapore.

Mrs. Thring, who was official delegate to the West Kootenay district council convention in Nakusp, gave her report on activities of the Legion Auxiliaries and Branches in the zone.

Mrs. P. Cutler volunteered to continue hospital visits for June; Mrs. Heintz for the month of July and Mrs. Wright for the month of August.

Vacation Guide

. . . Where to Go . . . What to Do . . . For Summer Fun

Visitors Like Glass House

A unique castlelike structure, a glass house, is to be seen near Creston. It is a glass house, built entirely of empty embalming fluid bottles, stone and cement, and is believed to be the only structure of its kind on the North American continent.

Set on a hill above Kootenay Lake, this "Glass House," as it has become known, is now one of the major attractions of the area and may be reached by traveling along Highway No. 3 east from Nelson.

D. H. Brown, the builder, was for 30 years an undertaker and during this time he often wondered what could be done with the many empty embalming fluid bottles he found at his disposal. Finally he decided to build a house with them — the result is there for all to see.

Brown started building mainly as a hobby, but it soon became a full-time project and during the five years it took to build, some 132,000 bottles have been used, both in the house and in the grounds.

Vacation Land's Close By

Shopping for a different vacation? Almost anything you may choose you will find close by—in this Northwest corner of our country. Washington and Oregon beaches, the grandeur of the Canadian Rockies, lakes large enough to challenge the Great Lakes or small enough to encourage companionship and outdoor family living — they all beckon for your holiday.

Want wilds? They come in all degrees from most rugged to mild. Camping, tramping, clamming or just calming, sailing, boating, sunbathing, fishing for the huge king salmon or just dabbling a hook — not caring much — the pleasure seeker need not travel far.

Waters will vary from mirrored green to deep blue. The traveler can seek out forests of scented pine and evergreen or the ragged rocky outcroppings that stand as a chanllenge to a hardened mountaineer.

Name your preference. More often than not that heart's desire lies relatively close to your doorstep.

AWARDS MADE

KELOWNA (CP)—Dr. W. J. Knox was guest of honor here Wednesday at the annual award day ceremony of the Dr. Knox junior-senior high school. He presentd more than 50 awards to students.

SLOCAN LAKE TROUT is this 17-pound seven-ounce Kamloops trout held by Fred Vanin of Hill caught in Slocan Lake near the mouth of Wilson Creek. At the same time, Alex Strebchuk caught a seven-pound eight-ounce trout in the same area.

Fishing Also Big Pastime In Eastern Washington

Lakes of eastern Washington have long been heralded as one of the finest attractions of the region. They present for the tourist as well as the regional resident perfect lazing spots for spring, summer and early fall, sandy beaches for swimmers and gently rippling waters for the boating clan. Formerly known for good fishing, the lakes have a growing reputation for hot angling spots.

Opening day crowds in the fishing season are now only the vanguard of an angling traffic that continues through the season. An outstanding program that looked into the future adopted by the Washington State Game Department has made poisoning of scrap fish in the lakes, rehabilitation and stocking a commonplace. There are scores of good fishing holes to be sought out in the lakes clustered about Spokane.

Anglers can take their choice of still fishing, trolling or fly and lure casting. Some lakes of the area are restriced and boats with motors are banned. Here the fly fisherman will find the sport he seeks with no interruption from speedboat enthusiasts.

LAKES STOCKED

Stocking of the lakes has been aimed at bringing the trout population up. There are rainbows, silver, cutthroat, eastern brook, mackinaw. Many of the eastern Washington lakes are almost perfect pastures for the small trout and growth is rapid. That makes for good fishing. In some lakes of the region, however, there are lungers of bass lurking, and those who prefer to go after them also will find good luck.

For youngsters seeking their first fishing experience there are still some lakes where perch, crappy or bluegill and other spiny rays may be found.

Regional lakes are inviting, and this year will be no exception. There are opportunities to hike, climb or fish. There are trails by water and by woods. Woods and national forests often lie alongside the lakes.

Comfortable summer homes, cabins and camps nestle on the lakeshores, and resorts can provide living needs as well as any demands of the sportsman — whether he is water skier, boater, fisherman, rifleman. Vacationland at Spokane's doorstep beckons.

Leave Berlin Alone Says President Kennedy

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

The pot in Berlin is boiling again.

President Kennedy called a meeting of his National Security Council for Thursday (3:30 p.m. EDT) to discuss steps to meet any emergency in the Berlin crisis.

The NSC is the chief United States security planning group and comprises the president's senior diplomatic, military, intelligence and civilian defence advisers, including the secretaries of state and defence.

The White House session was expected to review contingency planning which the U.S., together with Britain and France, would put into motion if Russia tired to implement its Berlin demands with military force or the blockading of Western access routes to West Berlin.

TAKES DIM VIEW

The U.S. views the developing Berlin crisis as an extremely dangerous situation, and President Kennedy has made it clear that a great deal of thought is being given to steps that might have to be taken to convince Soviet Premier Khrushchev of the West's determination to stay in West Berlin.

President Kennedy declined at his press conference Wednesday to outline the steps under study in Washington.

However, there was general agreement in diplomatic quarters that Khrushchv meight push th Berlin crisis to the point where the United States would have to consider partial mobilization and the dispatch of more troops to Europe.

The president said Wednesday that no plan for partial mobilization of forces over Berlin had been placed before him at the present time.

ACTION BEING STUDIED

He said the steps which could be taken to implement allied commitments to West Berlin were being studied by Dean Acheson, former secretary of state, and others, and that they would be reviewed at the NSC meeting.

Speaking a few hours after Khrushchev made a Kremlin address on Berlin, Kennedy warned the Soviet leader that Germany is no Laos and that the West has vital interests on the continent.

He urged Khrushchev not to make the "grave mistake" of underestimating Western determination to protect the freedom of West Berlin and withstand pressure to recognize the East German Communist regime.

"There is peace in Germany and in Berlin," Kennedy said. "It would be better to leave well enough alone. If it (status quo) is distrubed, it will be a direct Soviet responsibility."

WARNS WEST

Khrushchev, addressing a rally in honor of a visiting North Viet Nam official, warned the West against mobilization and said threats of mobilization over West Berlin would not stop the Soviet Union from signing a separate peace treaty with East Germany.

"If the opponents of peace and peaceful coexistence proclaim mobilization we shall not permit them to catch us unawares," Khrushchev said. "We are taking necessary masures —and, if need be, we shall take additional measures — to consolidate our security."

Reuters news agency reported informed Washington officials said the West might decide to call a conference with the Soviet Union on the German question as a whole, "although such a move still was only a possibility." The Associated Press said such a meeting was under serious consideration.

Khrushchev again said Russia is willing to negotiate a peace treaty for all Germany with the Western allied powers. He also said further meetings with Kennedy would be "useful."

"There would be no blockade of West Berlin of any kind," he said.

MAY HALT TRAFFIC

Despite this assurance, there were ominous signs of things to come in the announcement by the East Germans Wednesday that they would impose restrictions on foreign air traffic across their territory, beginning Aug. 1.

The Western powers now use three allied air corridors between Berlin, which is 100 miles inside East Germany, and West Germany. This is the only way they can travel and they have the right to do so under a four-power agreement. Obviously, this agreement would go by the boards if Russia signs a peace treaty with East Germany, giving the East Germans power to tighten the screws on allied air traffic under the new law.

No Way To Treat Elephants

BURLINGTON, N.J. (AP) — William S. Fanning, who went on a binge while a truckload of elephants went hungry, Wednesday night was sentenced to 60 days in jail after pleading guilty to charges of being drunk and disorderly.

Fanning was driving a tractor-trailer loaded with the circus elephants when he stopped to drink at a tavern near here Monday.

When police arrived on the scene early Tuesday Fanning could not be found immediately and the elephants appeared hungry and thirsty.

The Hunt Brothers Circus which was playing a few miles from here, sent over six bales of hay and the Burlington fire department dispatched a pumper truck to fill barrels of water for the elephants.

Conditions Ideal on Waterways

More boaters and swimmers annually are finding a paradise in eastern Washington lakes. There is something about these smaller bodies of water that liberally dot Inland Empire lakeland that provies ideal to vacationers from all parts of the Northwest.

The growth of pleasure boating as a sport has found disciples in the Washington lake region. Now the finest boats will be found on a weekend of fun in the region. Marinas, launching ramps, equopments stores and resorts all cater to the needs of the boating fan. Joining ranks with the motor boats and outboarders is a growing contingent of saiboatmen.

Swimmers and water skiers also find eastern Washington lakes created to their taste. Since the smaller lakes warm up more quickly in the summer, they make outings there more pleasant for the addict of water sports. Skiers often find waters smoother and the going easier in this charmed region.

Has Curse Struck Again?

LONDON (AP)—Another member of the British family said to be marked by the legendary curse of the pharoahs has died an unexpected death, the fourth in the family since 1929.

The death of Lord Westbury was announced Thursday. He died four days ago in Geneva at the age of 46. The cause of death was not given.

His father, Capt. Richard Bethell, also died suddenly and at the same age.

Bethell had a hand in excavating the tomb of the pharoah Tutankhamen in 1923. A curse on a tomb relic said "Death shall come on swift wings to him that toucheth the tomb of the pharoahs."

Bethell died six years later. The next year his father, who kept relics from the tomb in his home, committed suicide. Bethell's widow killed herself five years ago.

Lord Westbury is survived by a brother and a sister.

Crisis Nothing New To East Berliners

By RICHARD O'REGAN

BERLIN (AP)—"Ach," said the red - cheeked janitor with flowing moustache, "we Berliners—we have callouses on our nerves."

"We've lived with crisis for years. It doesn't matter any longer.

"We lived through the blockade: We lived through Khrushchev's threats in 1958. And today, we're stronger, and besides, nobody would ever leave West Berlin—West Berlin is too, too schoen."

The New Berlin crisis whirls around the city. Headlines scream the latest statements of President Kennedy and Premier Khrushchev. And West Berlin is unchanged and unmoved.

The janitor is right. Nobody is concerned. Nobody is leaving —only the refugees pouring into the West from Communist East Germany, and West Berliners off on vacation to the sunny south.

CITY OF CONTRASTS

Whatever the future, whatever the solution, whether it brings war or peace, the contrasts in Berlin are always there. And as the months and years go by, they seem to become sharper.

West Berlin, free and prosperous, linked with the West only by the thinnest threads, throbs with all the energy of New York, London, Paris and Rome.

East Berlin, the "showplace" of East German communism, is like a tomb. It improves as time goes by. War ruins are slowly cleared and replaced by grass squares. There is more in the stores, but—

In the West, hundreds of workers swarm over new apartment houses. Housewives clean their doorsteps. Delivery trucks wheel from busy markets to busy stores. Streets are torn up and pretty girls in summer dresses stroll down the kurfuerstendamm with poodles in tow.

BUSINESS THRIVES

Taxi drivers bawl invectives. Elderly ladies sit in the flitting sun, sipping coffee. Restaurants are crowded. Factories are booming.

There are more jobs than unemployed.

In the Eastern sectors, the sugar-candy apartment houses on Stalinallee— once the pride of the Communist regime — are slipping into disrepair. On scores of buildings, the tile facing has fallen away and nobody is doing anything about it.

The same dozen or so workers appear to be working on the same new structures they wer struggling with months ago.

And everywhere in the east officials sitting behind glass windows, guards on every door, police checking papers.

FOR THE MOST DISCRIMINATING of home builders . . . and designed to get the most house for the least money, designed too, to fit an average city lot, this house features a split entry and carport (or garage) under. The combination living-dining room opens onto a sundeck for outdoor dining, and features a rather unusual fireplace — backing on the kitchen area, which could make this a feature wall in the kitchen. The kitchen itself has a most efficient cupboard arrangement, but still leaves lots of room to move around in. Three bedrooms and a bathroom complete the living arrangements, and of course, the sun deck, accessible from the dining room, adds a feeling of luxury — dine, sun bathe, or just relax in the fine weather. To take advantage of the "carport under", your lot should slope a little, terrace it with a rockery, and you have a home with an appearance that you can be proud of. Working drawings of this plan, which is designed for NHA approval, are available from the Building Centre (B.C.) Ltd., 116 E. Broadway, Vancouver 10. Self-Imposed Traffic Laws Make Safety-Minded Pupils

FALCONBRIDGE, Ont. (CP) The children in this bicycle-busy community claim the steadiest record on two g55-s after a year of self-imposed traffic discipline, demerit marks and all.

The youngsters at Falconbridge public school operate their own safety program, with traffic cops, tickes, courts and convictions.

The result is a townful of safety-minded children, relaxed parents, pleased policemen and motorists who no longer grip the steering wheel convulsively when a bicycle approaches

The township of some 1,400 on the edge of the Sudbury nickel basin has a heavy bike population. Of the 300 pupils at the public school, some 200 ride bicycles.

"The ordinary safety talks seemed to go in one ear and out the other," said principal James A. Clatworthy, who put the program into operation with the help of Constable Bud Allinson.

There were no serious bicycle accidents before the program and there haven't been any since. Prevention was the idea and it has worked.

Each week during the school year a class is named to act as traffic police. They write out tickets when they spot a pupil violating safety rules.

The offender is summoned before a school court that meets each Friday. Pupils form a jury, listen to both sides of an argument, pronounce a verdict and hand down sentences that may forbid a cyclist riding for between two days and three weeks.

The children also use a demerit system—three demerits for not riding in single file, six for taking a passenger on the crossbar and 12 for riding at night without a light. An accumulation of 12 demerit marks means the child may not ride for three weeks. Several have suffered such fate.

Parents are notified of sentences and are asked to cooperate in enforcing the sentence.

"Ninety-five per cent of the parents have co-operated to the fullest," Mr. Clatworthy says.

"It's sure brought a big change," says Constable Allinson. "You can see the kids signalling a turn when there are no cars for blocks. They're doing it subconsciously now."

Bennett's Financial Advisor Suggests Taxation Cuts

VANCOUVER (CP) — Einar M. Gunderson, financial advisor to Premier Bennett and former British Columbia finance minister, Wednesday advocated reduction of corporation and personal income tax in order to preserve Canadian Industry from foreign ownership.

Mr. Gunderson, a chartered accountant, told the Society of Cost Accountants of Canada there should be a permanent royal commission to investigate national taxation and expenditure.

He called for reduction of corporation income tax to 40 per cent and the maximum personal income tax rate to 50 per cent.

The immediate loss in tax revenue would be more than compensated by taxes collected from nw enterprises, expansion of present corporations and increased employment, Mr. Gunderson said.

"I do not think it merely coincidence that the countries which have had the greatest increase in their exports have lower tax rats applicable to corporations than those in effect on this continent," he told the conference.

He called for an increase in taxes charged to commercial road users to make up for the loss of revenue from land taken off the tax rolls as a result of highway construction.

Diefenbaker, Prairie Lawyer Pleads on Behalf of the Metis

By JACK VAN DUSEN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

BATOCHE, Sask. (CP)—John Diefenbaker, the prairie lawyer, fought a case here Wednesday for a small band of halfbreeds who 78 years ago launched war against the rest of Canada.

The prime minister stood by the church rectory of this tiny settlment where time has stood still and pleaded for understanding of the metis, whose hopes of nationhood died in the final battle of the Riel rebellion on this site 35 miles southwest of Prince Albert.

On a bluff a few hundred yards from the church and rectory lay the dead of the battle, fought against Canadian militiamen recruited in Eastern Canada.

Their general Gabriel Dumont was a modest man with a reputation for generosity and integrity, said the prime minister who tells of meeting the metis strategist when as a boy his father homesteaded on the Prairies.

HELD IN RESPECT

"We were awfully frightened of him," said the prime minister. But now he holds a great respect for the metis, buried in the little cemetery overlooking the winding south Saskatchewan River.

"He deserves to rank with Tecumseh as one of the greatest strategists of Indian origin in both the United States and Canada," said Mr. Diefenbaker.

Dumont escaped following the battle of 1885 and went to the United States. He returned late in life and died here peacefully in 1906.

His leader Louis Riel was taken in the battle, tried for treason and hanged the same year at Regina.

The metis had great courage and were superbly equipped physically for life on the western frontier.

"These basic virtues denote a worthy race," the prime minister said as he delcared the old rectory and Roman Catholic church as historic sites.

2,000 PRESENT

Below the platform where the prime minister stood, some 2,000 persons—some descendants of the metis—munched hot dogs and drank soft drinks, or wandered through the grounds.

The metis had made a "great effort to preserve the identity of their old way of life, the free life of the buffalo hunter of the plains, the boatman of the northern rivers."

Canada now had a Bill of Rights "set down for all to see a clear assurance of security in our way of life which will prevent the growth of a minority's fears until they spill over as in 1885."

The prime minister, who earlier in the day opened a federal - provincial conservation dam on the southern edge of Prince Albert National Park, 50 miles northwest of Prince Albert, shook hands with Indians and old friends, toured the rectory which now is a museum and walked through the little graveyard before flying back to Ottawa.

Canadians Fourth Largest Western Group in Japan

By FORBES RHUDE
Canadian Press Business Editor

Items from here and there:

Canadians form the fourth largest group of Westerners living in Japan, says the publication Japan Reports, issued by the Japanese embassy in Ottawa.

Canadian residents total 1,196, compared with 11,526 from the United States; 1,726 from the United Kingdom; and 1,323 from Germany.

Japanese statistics show 649,421 foreign residents, but the publication comments that of these 580,207 are Koreans and 45,505 Chinese whose status has never been legally defined.

Quotations from speech by John Caulfield Smith, executive vice - president, National House Builders Association:

"Automobile manufacturers publicize the fact that pound for pound a new car costs less than sirloin, but how many people realize that pound for pound a new house costs less than hamburger?"

Quotations from recent company studies:

Canada Steamship Lines Ltd., by Greenshields and Co., Inc.: "The company presents a broadly integrated transportation system through its interests in shipping and trucking and, in addition, it owns and operates major shipyards. . . . Earnings from non - shipping operations have become an increasingly large factor in over-all profits. We recommend the stock at this time to accounts not primarily interested in income."

Hudson's Bay Company, also by Greenshields: "Performance of the stock in recent months has been impressive. We continue to recommend its additon to equity portfolios which have as their objective long-range growth."

Simpsons Ltd., by Merrill Lynch, Pierce, Fenner and Smith: "Following a lethargic performance through most of 1960, department store sales have shown some modest improvement in recent months and Simpsons' 1961 earnings are expected to reverse the decline of the last three years. The stock can be purchased for good quality, moderate appreciation."

Abitibi Power and Paper Co. Ltd., also by Merrill Lynch:

"The company is one of the most diversified pulp and paper operators and the shares have attraction for a combination of moderate long - term growth and income. Assuming a worthwhile recovery in the latter half of the year, 1961 earnings are expected to show a moderate improvement over 1960."

The department of trade and commerce has published its July-December issue of Canadian Trade Fairs, giving information on some 70 fairs to be held in Canada in the last six months of the year.

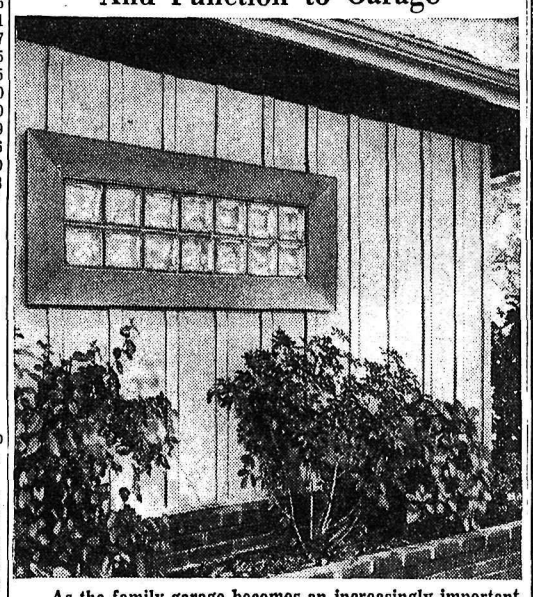
Attractive Window Brings Beauty And Function to Garage



As the family garage becomes an increasingly important part of the design of the house, more effort is being made to improve its appearance. A horizontal panel of clear glass blocks, handsomely framed in a shadow box, highlights the garage shown above and lifts it above the level of a purely functional shelter for the family car. Translucent colored glass blocks in new Shade Green or Shade Aqua patterns also admit plenty of soft, natural daylight to the interior of a garage, while maintaining complete privacy. With insulating properties equal to an 8-inch masonry wall, glass blocks offer the additional advantage of protection against temperature extremes. Easily cleaned with a wipe of a damp cloth, gleaming glass block is impervious to moisture damage and never needs painting.

Tigers Extend Lead; Win 5-2

GEORGE CHUVALO, Canadian heavyweight champion and fifth-ranked in the world standings, uncorks one of the booming rights which sent Willi Besmanoff of Germany and New York through the ropes three times in the second round of their fight Tuesday night in Toronto. PORT ALBERNI — Bill Wakeham, Gorge Vale club, Victoria and formerly from Nelson, won the West Coast Open Golf championship here Sunday to take the Russell Turner Memorial Trophy for the second, consecutive year.

His score of 99 for the 27 holes was three higher than his 1960 winning score.

Bribing Is Federal Offence

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senator Kenneth B. Keating introduced legislation to make it a federal crime, punishable by up to 10 years in prison, to bribe an athlete to do less than his best in any sports contest.

He said the bill was drawn in collaboration with the National Collegiate Athletic Association as a sequel to the current college basketball scandals.

It would punish the fixing of any sports event, amateur or professional.

American League-leading Detroit Tigers extended their margin to two full games Thursday be downing Chicago White Sox 5-2.

Righthander Frank Lary outlasted veteran Cal McLish in a pitchers duel for seven innings.

In the seventh, rookie shortstop Dick McAuliffe socked a two - run triple, scoring Jake Wood and Mike Roarke, who had opened the inning with successive singles.

Billy Bruton brought McAuliffe in with the final run on a long sacrifice fly. Bruton started the Tigers' scoring in the third with a two-run homer. Floyd Robinson of Chicago hit one with nobody on in the fourth.

Frank Malzone slammed a three-run homer to pace Boston to six unearned runs in the fifth inning as the Red Sox downed Minnesota Twins 9-5.

Malzone's blast, his second homer of the game, came after a single, an error, Carl Yastrzemski's two-run double and a walk. Two more walks off starter and loser Bert Cueto and reliever Gerry Arrigo plus Don Buddin's RBI single completed the scoring in that inning.

WIN TO RELIEVER

The victory went to Arnold Earley, who relieved Don Schwall in the sixth with the bases loaded and one out and retired the next two batters.

The National League Chicago Cubs wrapped up their series with Cincinnati Reds slamming four homers in a 15-8 rout.

George Altman launched the Cubs 17-hit attack with a two-run homer in the first inning. Other Cub homers included a two - run smash by Billy Williams in the third, and back-to-back homers by pitcher Don Cardwell and Al Heist in a six-run fourth which chased Red starter Jim Maloney who was tagged with the loss.

The Redleg homers, all off Cardwell who yielded to Don Elston in the seventh, included Frank Robinson's lead-off blow in the third, a solo clout by Leo Cardenua in the sixth and Gordy Coleman's two-run poke in the seventh.

Rickey in Good Spirits

SUDBURY (CP) — Branch Rickey's physician said Thursday that the baseball executive spent a "slightly restless night" but otherwise had improved considerably from a heart attack suffered Tuesday.

Kenneth Blackburn, Rickey's personal secretary, added the 79-year-old Rickey was "in good spirits." Rickey, formerly general manager at St. Louis, Pittsburgh and Brooklyn, was flown to hospital here from Manitoulin Island where he was vacationing.

The heart attack was the second he has had in the last three years. He was being kept in an oxygen tent as a routine procedure to ease the work of his heart.

Dr. John Sturtdridge has estimated Rickey will be in hospital two to three weeks.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

A Cryptogram Quotation

P O "J H Y A K R J T K M H" P O C E Y
A K D E C M P A C S Y R J T T P C E J G Y
C P P H V R E — Q P U D Y.

Yesterday's Cryptoquote: TO SIT ALONE WITH MY CONSCIENCE WILL BE JUDGMENT ENOUGH FOR ME—STUBBS.

A MESSAGE . . . FROM PEEBLES MOTORS

Yesterday, a friend of mine questioned me as to what we were now doing — he had seen one of our ads about selling tools and equipment — wanted to know if we were repairing cars, or closing up, or what?

Well, I thought I'd better acquaint EVERYONE, as well as my friend, of just what's going on at this pioneer automobile sales and service depot.

Several months ago, because of major changes in Chrysler Corporation's dealer policies, we found it advisable to relinquish our Chrysler contract. After over 30 years of continuous Chrysler representation, this was a hard decision to make.

We have now joined the Rootes Motors Products Group, handling Hillman, Sunbeam, Humber and their commercial line, "COMMER". We are very happy with the Rootes Group people, and those who have bought new Hillman cars and Commers are very happy, too.

Yes, we have sold a lot of shop equipment, which became obsolete and unusuable without our Chrysler franchise. However, we still have much more equipment than the average large garage. . . . Bean wheel alignment outfit . . . Sun Motor Lab and Sun Distributor Tester . . . Choldrun Cooling System Cleaner . . . complete upholstery service (truck and passenger car) . . . and so many other things it would take a page to list it.

And — we have factory-trained personnel to do your job, quickly, economically and efficiently ON ANY MAKE CAR.

I'd like to take this opportunity of having you drop in for our Esso front end service, gasolines, oils, lubrication, etc. Here, you'll get GOOD service, with no high pressure sales gags which are becoming so prevalent in so many places.

USED CARS? You bet, we have a wonderful selection of units from old jalopies, like a 1951 Pontiac 4-Door in excellent condition, at only $178, to a '55 Dodge Regent at $899 (wonderful buy); '56 Dodge V8 Regent automatic, beautifully clean, raring to go, at only $1156; '59 Plymouths as low as $1789 (clean as a pin). All these will add up to great holiday enjoyment.

Drop in today to get your car serviced for the holiday weekend . . . or come in next week for a pre-summer tuneup. . . . Or buy yourself a good used car for thousands of miles of comfort and satisfaction.

We're still very much in business . . . and I'll promise you that, if and when we decide to do otherwise, you will be fully cognizant of it through this publication.

To Publish Simplified Bible Soon

LONDON (AP) — The Queen's printers said Thursday they are going to publish, with or without permission, a paperback version of the new simplified Anglican Bible.

But the printers, Eyre and Spottiswoode Limited, who received a patent from Queen Elizabeth I in 1577 to print "all and singular Bibles and New Testaments whatsoever in the British language," were warned they will have a fight on their hands.

The university presses of Oxford and Cambridge, sponsors of the research which produced the new version, said they will take "all necessary steps to protect the copyright in the new Bible."

A spokesman for Eyre and Spottiswoode said their patent is just as valid as it was 384 years ago and "overrides the Copyright Act."

The new Bible was published by the university presses in March as a joint enterprise.

Japan Still Hit by Rains, Landslides

TOKYO (AP)—Torrential rains, floods and landslides ravaged Japan for the fifth consecutive day Thursday and the official toll jumped to 213 dead and 182 missing.

The weather bureau said the heavy rains lashing central Honshu — Japan's main island — would continue through Monday.

The national police said 71,000 houses were flooded, with 1100 wrecked or washed away.

A total of 348,000 people were reported driven from their homes. Many moved into tents, schools, town halls and firehouses.

The construction ministry estimated damage would hit at least $55,000,000.

Cloudbursts sent rivers swirling over their banks and touched off 4720 landslides, knocked out 750 bridges, flooded nearly 1,000,000 acres of farmland and destroyed 72,000 acres of crops.

About 75 small boats were destroyed, sunk or missing.

YIELD BEING CUT

VANCOUVER (CP)—A combination of hot weather and a shortage of pickers is cutting the yield of Fraser Valley strawberry crops. Growers reported Wednesday the yield might drop as much as 40 per cent. Warm spring weather brought on maturity faster than in normal years, they said.

Your Individual Horoscope

By Frances Drake

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

For Saturday, July 1, 1961

MARCH 21 to APRIL 20 (Aries) — Better influences than may show on the surface. On such days, you must search, dig, ferret out advantages — and use well. Be not inveigled into uncertain situations, projects.

APRIL 21 to MAY 21 (Taurus) — The mental and physical must co-ordinate to have solid, lasting results. Industriousness, hard-working effort will gain more than just good planning and daily maneuvering. On with it.

MAY 22 to JUNE 21 (Gemini) — Be cautious but no overly so; nothing ventured, nothing gained. It is that activity should be channeled mostly into developing worthy interests. Shun slanderers, gossips.

JUNE 22 to JULY 23 (Cancer) — Where you can, find and eliminate careless habits, thoughtless errors. They say in the Navy, "run a tight ship." Your ideas, efforts are certainly worth nalytical review for better achievement.

JULY 24 to AUGUST 23 (Leo) — It is possible to worry self into predicaments we don't like, into ill health (if uncontrolled). Maintain good humor, faith backed by intelligent planning, which can be your forte.

AUGUST 24 to SEPTEMBER 23 (Virgo) — Be a strong symbol of generative power for good, firmly against evil. Day will show gain to diligent endeavor. Do all you can for honest improvement, results will satisfy.

SEPTEMBER 24 to OCTOBER 23 (Libra) — Convert energies to true business at hand to take possession of available prizes. Your versatility usually valuable now. Leave no stone unturned in quest for top-level accomplishment.

OCTOBER 24 to NOVEMBER 22 (Scorpio) — Look out for troublemakers, dissenters, in disguise probably. The honest, straightforward person does not have to talk or act "on the quiet." Stay in condition for your work and pastimes.

NOVEMBER 23 to DECEMBER 21 (Sagittarius) — If you don't find answers immediately, keep searching. Delve into productive hobby which then is relaxing as well as healthy. Maintain your normal cheery attitude.

DECEMBER 22 to JANUARY 20 (Capricorn) — Wrap up week's work with an eye to some recreation when essentials are done. Mixe with those who indulge meaningful discussions, promote thought-provoking ideas. Relax too.

JANUARY 21 to FEBRUARY 19 (Aquarius) — Mixed influences with the best ones ready for you. Good period for renewing old acquaintanceships; visit the sick, entertain the family, loved ones. Romance rates as well.

FEBRUARY 20 to MARCH 20 (Pisces) — Detour from squabbles, disagreements unless they involve your principles. These defend to the hilt. You can achieve tremendously under cheery circumstances, with happy people.

YOU BORN TODAY have more than a few talents and a spirited personality which attracts others to you. Can reach the top quickly in whatever chosen profession provided you don't let your brain stagnate through fear of failure. One big admonition — shun inconsistency, of purpose that spreads efforts too thin or even in non-productive areas. Normally sober, sociable, sytematic.

Retain these throughout life, and your magnetic personality. Just be careful who you magnetize. Express self, but not boastfully, nor be a skeptic. Birthdate of Olivia de Havilland, Leslie Caron, actresses; many dancers, humorists.

Light Arrows Indicate Indians Killed Bison at Close Range

REGINA (CP)—The strategy employed by Indians in their exciting bison hunts more than a century ago has been sketched by archaeologists from the Saskatchewan Museum of Natural History.

T. E. Kehoe and his fellow workers have discovered delicate lightweight arrows indicating the bison were killed at close range by strategically-placed archers.

From this they deduced that the animals were probably first driven into an enclosure and then dispatched.

Indians killed large numbers of bison during a period from about 1,500 years ago to the middle of the 19th century.

The archaeologists gave this description of a typical bison hunt:

The Indians first prepared a path banked with piles of rock or tree branches and converging at the brink of a steep slope. At the foot of the slope was built a fence of tree trunks covered with hides. Sometimes the hill was treated to make it slippery.

Concealed outside the border of rock piles were "dead men," hunters with blankets, ready to stampede the bison over the crest of the hill once the animals entered the approaches.

YOUTH AS BAIT

With all in readiness, a fleet-footed youth covered with the skin of a bison calf would approach a grazing herd and attract its attention by imitating the cries of a young bison in distress.

The youth would lead the bison into the pathway and then hop behind a rock. The "dead men" then would emerge and wave their blankets to drive the herd down the hill.

Once in the enclosure, the animals were slaughtered by waiting bowmen perched on the fence. Bison attempting to flee back up the hill could not gain a foothold on the slippery slope.

Mr. Kehoe says a site he examined in southwestern Saskatchewan probably was used for drives for several centuries. From an examination of bones it's possible to determine various butchering techniques. There is an indication that several ethnic groups killed bison in the vicinity.

The archaeologists suggest the majority of drives took place in the fall. Examination of the bones of calves show many were about six months old. Since bison calve in April or May the presence of calves of that age sets the killing season in September or October.

To Investigate Chandler Death

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP) — Gordon Cumming, chief of the bureau of hospitals in California, said Wednesday night the state department of public health will investigate the death of actor Jeff Chandler.

Cumming said the department has the authority to investigate hospital standards, not the medical care given to a patient.

Cumming said there was no reason to believe Chandler's death reasulted from malpractice. He said the investgation would be routine and in compliance with requests.
