Kinnaird - Christina Highway Officially Opened Today

After seven years of building, and promises, official opening ceremonies of the Kinnaird-Christina Lake highway will take place today. With completion of Paulson Bridge the last link in the cutoff highway has been completed.

Highways Minister P. A. Gaglardi, in the absence of Premier W. A. C. Bennett, will cut the ribbon. Premier Bennett is in New York. Also on hand will be Earle C. Westwood, minister of recreation and conservation, and W. D. Black, provincial secretary and MLA for Nelson-Creston, and representatives of various Chambers of Commerce. Opening ceremonies will take place one mile east of Sheep Lake at 2:30 p.m.

Following a luncheon in Castlegar for dignitaries, a motorcade will drive to the opening site near Sheep Lake for ceremonies.

Construction of the cutoff began in 1955 at the western end. The first contract at the east end from Kinnaird was let in 1956 for a distance of 6.76 miles. In Sept. 1957, an $800,000 tender was let for an additional 8.76 miles.

The last link of a 5.55 mile stretch of the highway was let for tender in Nov., 1959. Contracts for the Paulson Bridge to span McRae Creek were called in 1961.

ONE OF FINEST

The new 45.23-mile highway has been termed one of the finest in North America, equal in construction standards to any highway in the United States.

Paved, painted and equipped with guardrails, the highway is a magnificent stretch of roadwork.

It's a fast highway, too, with no sharp curves and no grades steeper than seven per cent. The summit is an elevation of 5040 feet.

There are three lanes, 40 feet of travelling portion on every grade steeper than six per cent and two lanes everywhere else. But so good is the engineering that one doesn't realize he is in fact climbing all the way from the Columbia Valley. The average grade for 25 miles will be 3.5 per cent.

Travelling time from Kinnaird to Christina Lake should average about an hour.

Construction is continuing on Christina Creek Bridge at the south end. There are no inconvenient detours in this section, however.

Paulson Bridge, spanning McRae Creek, has an overall length of 845 feet and is 367 feet above the creek. It was constructed by D. J. Manning and Dominion Bridge. Engineering consultants were A. B. Sanderson Co. Ltd., Victoria.

Canada Falsely Blamed For U.S. Mills Closing

Lumber Official Says Some Mills Reported Closed Still Operating

By HAROLD MORRISON

WASHINGTON (CP)—The U.S. lumber industry was accused by one of its own members Thursday of falsely attempting to pin on Canadian softwood the major blame for a reported shutdown of some 200 U.S. mills.

Corydon Wagner, vice-president of R. D. Merrill Company of Seattle, said he personally investigated some of the firms alleged to have closed and found many of them — including one of his own firms reported to be closed — still doing a thriving business.

Appealing to the tariff commission to reject the industry's bid for heavy import restrictions on Canadian softwood, Merrill, whose holding company also has a large number of operations in British Columbia, said he received replies from 35 large mills reported to have been forced out and found 11 of them still operating.

Of the others which replied only two gave Canadian imports as being the primary cause of their shutdown. Five said they simply ran out of logs.

Wagner's evidence immediately raised a skirmish, with counsel for the bulk of the U.S. industry suggesting he was disclosing confidential information and having vested interest in the maintenance of low tariffs with Canada.

Alfred Sachs, counsel and treasurer for the Columbia-Hudson Timber Company of Bradwood, Wash., peppered Wagner with a series of questions on prices and sales, most of which Wagner declined to answer.

Sachs said Wagner was preaching to the U.S. industry to seek overseas markets but wasn't telling the Canadians to do the same.

Wagner said it would be "undesirable, unwarranted and unwise" to impose quotas, tariffs or other trade barriers against Canadian lumber.

There were a great many reasons why U.S. mills were experiencing difficulty and imports was just one of them. A major reason was that U.S. mills had not vigorously pursued domestic and foreign markets.

Instead of seeking tariff restrictions which could result in Canada imposing similar restrictions, the U.S. industry should attempt to unite the forest industries of British Columbia and the Pacific northwest into an effective joint program to develop all potential markets.

Sues Police For Injury

VANCOUVER (CP) — Hans Peterson, a 57-year-old welfare recipient, is suing two Vancouver police constables, accusing them of seizing him in an incident on a downtown street last year.

Peterson is suing for unstated damages.

He told Mr. Justice D. R. Verchere in Supreme Court Thursday that he was seized by Constables Ralph Peter Hansen and Russell David Reid and that his left arm was broken as he was dragged to a parked police car.

Army's Folding Machine Saves 50,000 Man Hours

By DAVE McINTOSH

OTTAWA (CP)—The army used to buy paper towels and toilet paper in single sheets for hand-folding for the 600,000 combat ration packs used each year. The job occupied 25 men for 2000 hours.

Now the army has a machine to do the folding. It was invented last year by Capt. A. F. B. Danyluk of Edmonton. One man now can do the job in six weeks. The saving: $9500 in the first year.

A combat ration pack used to cost $4. Last year the army got the cost down to $2.03 and this year to $1.73, without any reduction in the amount of food or the vitamin content. The saving in one year: $80,000.

These are minor examples of new army developments, most of which are handled by the engineering and equipment establishment located just east of the capital. The 550-man unit now has approximately 275 projects and 750 production contracts in hand.

The two major projects are the amphibious Bobcat armored personnel carrier — the first pilot models will be ready for field trials next month — and counter-mortar radar.

This radar, which can back-track enemy shells to their source and order counter-fire, may be a big seller to NATO countries.

Thomson Buys U.S. Paper

LAFAYETTE, La. (AP) — Purchase of the Lafayette Daily Advertiser and Sunday Advertiser by Thomson Newspapers Incorporated, was announced on Thursday.

The newspaper, which has a daily circulation of about 23,000, was sold by Murphy Enterprises of Wisconsin, Michigan and Minnesota. The amount was not disclosed.

The Rayne Acadian Tribune, the Church Point News and Progress Commercial Printing, also were included in the sale.

Freedomites Accept Offer of Schooling

HOPE (CP) — School authorities offered Thursday to provide tuition for about 100 elementary school students in the Sons of Freedom Doukhobor tent - town here. The Freedomites accepted the offer.

Roy Thorstenson, district superintendent of schools, said the children will be taught after regular school hours at the Coquihalla elementary school, starting Wednesday.

He said arrangements for the instruction of the Freedomite youngsters were being made "as temporary as possible" because of the possibility that the 1400 Sons camped in Coquihalla Park might pack up and move at any moment.

Mr. Thorstenson said he understands the extra cost of teaching the Freedomites at late afternoon sessions will be borne by the provincial government.

Twenty-four of 26 secondary school students in the Freedomite camp enrolled and attended regular classes Thursday at the Hope Junior-Senior High School.

Mr. Thorstenson said he did not know why the other two had not enrolled.

SCHOOLS LOADED

The extra classes will be held from about 4 p.m. to 6 p.m. daily, he said. It was impossible to offer schooling to the Freedomite children during regular hours because "every school within walking distance is absolutely loaded."

School Board chairman George Brown said the 24 secondary - school Freedomites attending classes in Grades 7 to 9 are being treated in the same way as other students and are not being made to feel conspicuous.

Education Minister Peterson said earlier offers of education to Freedomite children were made to test the sincerity of the Sons' requests for schooling.

Thursday was the first day in school this fall for many of the secondary students. The Freedomite trek from the Kootenays to the Fraser Valley began Sept. 2, two days before the start of the school year.

The Doukhobors' arrival here Sunday brought them to within 40 miles of the goal of their trek —the federal prison at Agassiz in Kent municipality where 63 Freedomite terrorists are being held.

WELL RECEIVED

In contrast to the sometimes hostile attitude of residents at other stops along the route of their 350-mile trek, Hope's reception of the Freedomites has been sympathetic.

"I haven't heard of a single person being being unfriendly to them in any way," John Reid, editor of the Weekly Hope Standard, said Thursday.

But a harsh reception awaits them in Kent, which has a bylaw forbidding their entry and a number of residents who have threatened to enforce it with pitchforks.

Attorney-General Robert Bonner has told Kent officials he wants to se the bylow successfully tested in court before he will instruct RCMP to enforce it.

Frank Wilson, Kent's lawyer, has told municipal officials that Mr. Bonner is out of order and that the bylaw is valid until it's proved otherwise in court.

Cominco To String First Of 3 Cables

TRAIL (CP) — Consolidated Mining and Smelting Company has started construction on a new high voltage line across Kootenay Lake to replace a similar line destroyed by terrorists' bombs last March 6.

A company spokesman said Thursday the first of three two-mile cables will be strung early next week. The new line is expected to cost around $500,000.

Several thousand men in the Kootenay Cominco complex were laid off in the spring when the line was cut. Bombers toppled a 366-foot metal pylon which dragged the line down.

Within a month of the blast a standby line was built and now is being used to capacity.

The new line will take its first power in November.

Gov't Survives Third Motion of No Confidence

OTTAWA (CP)—Social Credit MPs voted with the minority Conservative government Thursday night to defeat two non-confidence motions presented by the Liberals and the New Democratic Party.

The vote on each was 140 to 118.

If either motion had passed, the minority Progressive Conservative government would have been overthrown.

Only five MPs — All Social Crediters — were absent from the tense Commons floor as the crucial votes came. Public and private galleries overflowed with spectators

The 25 remaining Social Credit members joined with the 115 Conservatives each time against 100 Liberals and 18 NDP members

It was the third time in this week-old Parliament that the government has survived a non-confidence test. Tuesday night a Social Credit motion was defeated 233 to 30 with only Social Credit backing the motion, which was worded to make other opposition support unlikely.

Schirra Reunited With Five Astronauts, Tells of Space Trip

By RALPH DIGHTON

ABOARD USS KEARSARGE (AP)—Walter M. Schirra Jr. had a happy reunion aboard this Honolulu-bound carrier with five fellow astronauts Thursday and began a technical review of his six-orbit space flight.

Cheerful and in fine health, Schirra was up at 7 a.m., and had a breakfast of scrambled eggs, sausages and four cups of coffee after an eight-hour sleep.

One of his first comments on arising was: "Hose down Sigma 7, I'm ready to go again."

Schirra, 39, was surrounded by engineers, technicians and tape recorders as he sat at a mahogany table in the admiral's quarters and recounted his voyage through space. He went over every detail from the launching at Cape Canaveral, Fla., Wednesday morning to his bullseye landing near the Kearsarge nine hours and 13 minutes later.

From Schirra's debriefing and scientific studies at Cape Canaveral will come the final decision on whether to go ahead with an 18-orbit flight early next year. There were indications the overwhelming success of Schirra's trip has placed the long flight next on the U.S. space agenda.

CONFERENCE PLANNED

Navy Commander Schirra will not tell his story to the public until a press conference tentatively scheduled Sunday at Houston, Tex.

Reaching the Kearsarge with a group of space agency doctors and technicians Thursday morning were astronauts John H. Glenn Jr., Malcolm Scott Carpenter, Virgil I. Grissom, Leroy Gordon Cooper Jr. and Donald K. Slayton.

They boarded the Kearsarge off Midway. There the space capsule was transferred at dawn to a tug, then to a C-130 transport plane for delivery to Hickam Air Force Base in Hawaii and eventually back to Cape Canaveral.

Schirra's flight was an epic of precision. His capsule parachuted less than three miles from the Kearsarge in the recovery 285 miles northwest of Midway island.

A 2½-hour medical examination almost immediately after the flight showed the astronaut in "excellent condition" with no ill effects. He had lost four pounds but one doctor said he'd have lost as much or more weight "playing a game of football."

Medical tests continued Thursday with further checks of his eyes, ears and heart.

Schirra said he did not experience vertigo or nausea from his nine hours of weightlessness. Doctors quoted him as saying it was further proof the nausea suffered by Soviet cosmonaut Gherman S. Titov was an individual rather than a general reaction to weightlessness.

Kent Asks Order To Keep Sons Out

AGASSIZ, B.C. (CP) — Kent municipality will make application in British Columbia Supreme Court today for an order that would keep Sons of Freedom Doukhobors outside its boundaries.

The move follows a council meeting in this Fraser Valley community, where the trekking Doukhobors say they are determined to go.

Council asks the court to "make operative" an emergency bylaw that would stop the Sons from coming. Passed two weeks ago as an emergency step, the bylaw says the fanatic Doukhobors' uncertain nature makes their arrival a hazard.

Police said they would not enforce the bylaw and Attorney-General Robert Bonner has called it "Mississippi-type legislation," that discriminates against a minority because of reputation.

Young Creston Man Killed

CRESTON — A young lumberjack was apparently accidentally killed on the job, 14 miles northeast of here at Kidd Creek Thursday.

Details surrounding the death of Colin Gideon of Creston are sketchy.

It is reported that the body of the Creston Sawmills employee was discovered by fellow employees shortly before 5 p.m. Apparently he had been struck by a falling tree.

The search for Gideon started after fellow employees noticed his absence when they congregated for the homeward journey.

The deceased is survived by his wife, Joan, whom he married last December and his mother and brother, residing in Edson, Alta.

No Violence Expected

WINNIPEG (CP)—The march of the Sons of Freedom Doukhobors will not erupt into violence once Mountain Prison is reached, a British Columbia government official predicted here.

David B. Turner, deputy minister for B.C.'s department of recreation and conservation, was host to 1300 Freedomites while they camped on Crown-owned land near Princeton last week.

"There will be no violence in the sense of storming the prison," he said in an interview. "The Doukhobors are not a violent type."

Familiar with the Doukhobor problem in the west coast province — he served on a provincial consultative committee appointed to consider the Doukhobor question — Mr. Turner suggested the Agassiz area will probably become the Doukhobors' new home.

"We will have to provide for them as you would have had to do in Manitoba. The Doukhobors are our legacy from Winnipeg."

The "legacy" was a reference to the fact that the Doukhobors arriving from Russia prior to the First World War first came to Winnipeg — then the west's centralization point.

"Some chose to move on to Saskatchewan, others to the Kootenay," he said.

Parliament Thursday

By The Canadian Press

Non-confidence motions presented by the Liberals and New Democrats were defeated by identical votes of 140 to 118. Social Credit supported the Conservatives.

J. W. Pickersgill (L—Bonavista-Twillingate) flatly rejected Prime Minister Diefenbaker's statement that the economic crisis did not arrive until after the election.

Justice Minister Fleming accused Mr. Pickersgill of "character assassination" against Mr. Diefenbaker and denied the Liberal's charge.

David Lewis (NDP—York South) described speeches earlier this week by Mr. Diefenbaker and Liberal Lader Pearson as "petty political prattle."

Walter Gordon (L—Toronto Davenport) said the government "tight money" policy is an "abomination" sure to cause more unemployment.

And in This Corner . . .

CALGARY (CP)—James H. Meredith, centre of a violent integration dispute at the University of Mississippi Wednesday night declined an invitation to come to the University of Alberta at Calgary.

The UAC Students' Union earlier this week invited him to come here, expenses paid.

"We, all of my people, have hoped and prayed and fought for a long time for the right to have a decent education," Meredith said in a telephone interview from Oxford, Miss.

"Do you think they all can go to the University of Alberta in Calgary?"

Meredith said he was grateful of the UAC offer.

Eugene O'Neill's last full-length play, "A Touch of the Poet," opens in London's West End late in 1962.

VANCOUVER (CP) — The minimum 48-hour laboratory tests on the blood of a UBC student have produced no positive link with smallpox, it was learned Thursday.

But health officials in Ottawa, speaking in a telephone interview, stressed it is too early to say conclusively that student Kaneung Watanachai, 25, does not have the disease.

Sale of Power Line Voters Register 702 to 366 Against

Owner-electors decreed by ballot Thursday that the North Shore power line will remain an integral part of the municipally-owned power system.

A light turnout at the polls, about 40 per cent of the 2600 voters eligible, convincingly defeated Sale of the North Shore Distribution System Bylaw 1339.

A vote of 60 per cent was required to carry the bylaw but only 366 ballots out of 1077 cast or roughly 33 per cent of the vote favored the sale of the 26-mile-long line to West Kootenay Power and Light Co. Ltd.

About two-thirds of the votes cast, 702, registered "no" while there were nine spoiled ballots.

The bylaw stated that WKPLC would purchase the system that stretches from Pulpit Rock to Ainsworth for $223,000 plus remuneration for all additional expenditures to the line since the mid-February appraisal date. Included in the bylaw, was a more favorable operating agreement with WKPLC for extra power when needed by the city system.

The defeat was a disheartening one for Mayor T. S. Shorthouse, and the majority of council who endorsed the "sale" as a good business move.

Mayor Shorthouse was in attendance as the avalanche of rejections piled up at the counting in Memorial Hall, interrupted only by intermittent spatterings of approvals.

$280,000 BYLAW

The defeat means that the city will have to float a $280,000 money bylaw to bring the North Shore line service up to standard. Mayor Shorthouse indicated that this will probably be placed before the people at the December municipal election.

If the money bylaw is defeated in December, it means that the renovation of the line will have to be financed out of current revenue.

The Public Utilities Commission has indicated that the improvements to the line will have to take place within the next few years. Cost of improvements either out of current revenue or money bylaw, will be charged against the North Shore gross.

COMMISSION

The owner-electors' reaction urged Mayor Shorthouse to state that time has come to form a utility commission to supervise all city utilities.

"It is needless to say that I am very disappointed at the outcome of the ballot," said the mayor.

"And I am more convinced than ever that the utilities of the city should be placed in th ehands of a utility commission where their future and well-being would not hinge on political manoeuvring.

"I hope the citizens will now find the necessary funds to bring the system into a good standard of repair," the mayor concluded.

An outspoken member of the opposition, Ald. E. T. Bodard felt that the ratepayers will now support any "proper expenditure" required to raise the standard of service.

"I feel that the vote indicates the citizens do have an appreciation of the value of their electrical system and what it will mean for the future of the city", Ald. Bodard said.

"I do know that this vote means the citizens do realize that we have an obligation to the people of the North Shore and irrespective of the suggested cost to bring the system up to standard. They will undoubtedly support any proper expenditure that is necessary immediately to give the service required."

Tot Kicked by Horse, Rushed To Trail

CRESTON — Young Brian Brooks, age three years, was kicked in the abdomen by a horse near his home in Kingsgate, B.C., early Tuesday morning. He was rushed to Creston Valley Hospital by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. Brooks.

Upon arriving at the Creston hospital, it was decided that it would be better to have the boy operated on in Trail because of the larger facilities there for the type of surgery needed.

Brian was flown to Trail-Tadanac Hospital by Jack Wigen and Ken Huscroft where he was operated on for abdominal injuries.

The youngster is reported to be recovering successfully in Trail.

Bruin in Fairview Falls to Bullet

A young bear ambled out of the bush behind Fairview Wednesday evening, prowled around the district, made the acquaintance of a number of Fairviewites Thursday morning and ended up Thursday evening as bear steak and roast.

The Nelson branch of the game department received several calls from worried citizens concerning the prowler.

In the absence of the game warden, Jack Phelps of the fisheries branch tracked the two-year-old quadruped to a spot near the Nelson Bridge.

After unsuccessful attempts to chase the furry youngster off, it was decided to dispatch him.

One well-placed shot put an end to the bear's quest and to mothers' worries about their children becoming involved with big game in their backyards.

NEW YORK (AP) — Governor Nelson A. Rockefeller Thursday ordered a state investigatioin of the boiler explosion that took 21 lives and injured at least 100 in a telephone company building.

He called the disaster "inconceivable" in this day and age.

Canada To Continue Cuba Trade

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada intends to continue trading with Cuba in non-strategic goods and to maintain normal-as-possible diplomatic ties with the Caribbean island, informants said Thursday.

A new InterAmerican declaration calling for "special measures" to deal with Communist penetration to Cuba will not likely have any effect on Canadian policy, they indicated.

Two Glade Men Acquitted

Two Glade men, Peter Podmoroff and Nick Gretchin, each charged with being in possession of explosives were acquitted in County Court Thursday.

In making his decision, Judge James T. Harvey of Prince Rupert said there was no evidence apart from the men's statements and that they conflicted and were inconsistent with each other.

Both men earlier denied their statements given to RCMP.

This brings to four, the number of men charged with terrorism that have been acquitted since County Court began last month. One other man, whose statement was thrown out in a trial within a trial had a stay of proceedings entered against him by the crown.

Trial began Thursday afternoon of a Glade youth, Tom Kabatoff 18, charged with arson.

CHANGING TIMES

Fewer than 10 per cent of the U.S. population now lives on farms, compared with 25 per cent in 1920.

Ponder Possible Milk Co-Op

The possibility of organizing a central milk producers co-operative for the Kootenay area was discussed at a milk producers meeting in Shirley Hall on Granite Road Wednesday.

Purpose of the contemplated co-operative would be for processing and distributing dairy products in the Kootenay area, all of the Nelson milk producers and seven Creston producers in attendance were informed.

Border Traffic Down in '62

Due to fewer Canadian re-entries and also because of a decline in movements of commercial vehicles, foreign vehicles entering Canada through ports of entry within the Kootenay boundaries registered fewer in July, 1962 as compared to July, 1961.

Kingsgate had the largest number of foreign vehicles entering Canada under 24 hours, 581 and over 24 hours, 7014.

Paterson admitted more Canadian vehicles back into Canada for a period less than 24 hours 5002, while Kingsgate had the largest total for over 24 hours, 5395.

Here are a list of foreign repeats and taxis along with commercial vehicles (in brackets) entering Canada through:

Wardner School Construction Contract Given

CRANBROOK — Cranbrook District School Board has awarded the contract for a new two-room rural school on a new location at Wardner to Einar Damstrom Construction of Cranbrook. Amount of the contract is $34,634, and it was the lowest of the five tenders submitted.

No City Fire Protection For Fringe Areas

CRANBROOK—After the New Year, the city will no longer extend fire protection to extra-municipal areas, city council has resolved.

Fire department services have been available previous to heavily built fringe areas. Victoria Avenue area is the only section now in the new limits cover.

The city's resolution will be forwarded to the Department of Municipal Affairs for notification of the now unprotected areas in a position to establish their own local fire protection.

The Department has granted permission to the city to use a $4200 surplus from the Artificial Ice bylaw of several years ago to effect the Memorial Arena structural building repairs necessary.

Architects drawings were authorized for proposed city hall improvement in more efficient operating layout.

Gas Firm Directors In Cranbrook This Week

CRANBROOK — Board of directors of Columbia Natural Gas, gathered in Cranbrook this week to inspect the system and consider company operations at a meeting at Cranbrook Thursday.

With basic supply from the Alberta Natural Gas export pipeline through the south-eastern corner of this district, the three laterals supplying Fernie, Cranbrook - Kimberley-Marysville-Chapman Camp, and Creston and the local distribution systems are finished. In Cranbrook, domestic supply is already going into 125 homes, in Kimberley 100, and in Fernie about 15. Applications tally 1475. Company plans made last year estimated 2000 customers by August 31, 1963. Only applications filed to September 15 are guaranteed for 1962 installation, but later applications will go in as long as weather permits.

The company is awaiting arrival of its billing equipment, and no bills will be issued to consumers for their gas until November 1. Budget plan to space costs over the year is already in operation.

Gathering here this week for the general inspection and board of directors meeting are: Frank Sherrin, president, Vancouver; R. G. Graham, vice-president, Winnipeg, and directors N. W. Duboi of Edmonton, who is also consulting engineer, D. R. Brandt of Edmonton, and John Chaston of Vancouver, secretary-treasurer. R. T. Anderson is resident general manager for the company.

BOUNDARY AREAS JOIN JUNIOR COLLEGE GROUP

GRAND FORKS — A Junior College Society for the Southern Interior has been formed, Grover Clough, chairman of the School Board of District 15, Penticton has announced. Reprsentend on the society are Grand Forks, School District 12; Kettle Valley, District 13; and Okanagan areas.

Mr. Clough is also acting chairman of the interior Junior College Committee.

The organization is to be known as the Southern Interior Junior College Society and is to have its founding meeting in Penticton on Oct. 26.

A number of School boards, cities, towns and municipalities in the area have already contributed financial support.

The Society is a culmination of many weeks of effort by a large number of citizens of the Southern Interior who have contributed much time and energy to the project. On their behalf a special sub-committee composed of Grover Clough, chairman, C. E. Clay, J. P. Van de Hoop, Frank Laird, all of Penticton; Ken Boothe, Summerland; Frank Venables, Oliver; D. Francis, Keremeos and the secretary, Bruce Howard, have carried on the work of organization.

At the October 26 meeting a full slate of officers for the New Junior College Society will be chosen. The meeting will be public.

In the meantime members of the society are preparing material relevant to establishing a junior college in the Southern Interior in anticipation of the visit of Dr. John McDonald, new president of UBC.

Cranbrook to Seek Municipal Engineer

CRANBROOK — Immediate start on efforts toward staffing the city with its own engineer has been approved this week by city council on proposal of Mayor George Haddad. Advertising will set November 15 as deadline for applicants, aimed toward start of this office January 1.

City development has become more complex over recent years. For the past few years the essential engineering services have been obtained from a firm of professional engineers at New Westminster on a consulting basis, and this firm drew up the general engineering plan for the expanded city development prior to the vote on city extension.

Now that the extension is completed and the recommended initial sewer system extension and improvement at $302,000 about to start, need for a permanent resident engineer has increased. Advertisement will ask a professional engineer, preferably with municipal engineering experience.

Believe Man's Killer Panicked

VERNON (CP) — RCMP here are working on the theory that Alan Brook Andrews' killer panicked and ran when he discovered his horrible mistake.

Brook was found Tuesday night near Deep Lake in Coldstream municipality by search and rescue workers, a small calibre bullet hole in his head.

Police believe it was a hunting accident.

The dead man was wearing a black hat as he fished from the side of the lake. RCMP say the man, partly hidden in the bullrushes around the lake with only his head visible, may have been mistaken for a crow or raven by an unknown hunter.

An inquiry will be held Oct. 22.

FUNERAL RITES FOR TEAMSTER OF EARLY DAYS

CRANBROOK — Funeral service was held Monday afternoon for early day settler at Kimberley, George Walter Amos, who died at St. Eugene Hospital Friday after being transferred there that morning from the Dr. F. W. Green Memorial Home. He was 80 years old.

Born at North Keppel, Ont., he was a teamster by trade, and 39 years ago settled at the site of Kimberley when it was just a mining camp along Mark Creek. He began service with the Sullivan mine that year and continued in teamster work for Cominco until retirement in 1947.

He was married in Portland in 1924 and he and his wife continued their Kimberley home until her death. He remained at Kimberley until a year ago when he moved to Cranbrook. He served overseas from 1914 to 1919 with the 54th (Kootenay) Battalion, Canadian Army.

He is survived by his daughter, Mrs. Ilan (Isabel) Maxwell of Vancouver and one sister, Mrs. Flora Tyler of Los Angeles.

Rev. Ronald Smith officiated at the funeral Monday at McPherson Funeral Chapel, Kimberley, and burial was in Kimberley Cemetery.

"Congratulations, and More Please."

Today's official opening of the Kinnaird-Christina Lake Highway by the Hon. P. A. Gaglardi, Provincial Minister of Highways, is a momentous occasion in the history of the Southern Interior. It marks a real step forward, in bringing the Southern Trans-Provincial Highway up to standard. With its completion the Boundary country and the rest of B. C. become more definitely linked with the Kootenays and the future should see great strides forward.

We appreciate greatly the work done by B. C.'s master road builder, Mr. Gaglardi, in bringing this project to a successful conclusion, albeit several years later than it might have been. We encourage him and the Premier, Mr. Bennett, who has been wholeheartedly behind the vast road building projects of the province, to recognize that much has been done but that there still remains a great deal more to do.

The Salmo-Creston Highway, so long awaited, should be rushed to completion. It is long overdue, and there are times when our patience wears thin. When in use its effects will benefit greatly every town and village in the area.

One can admire the achievement of the province in building the splendid network of roads in the Lower Mainland, the Deas Tunnel Highway and the Upper Level Road on Vancouver's North Shore, nor can anyone fail to see that the Okanagan, with Highway 97 and its local roads, has reached a long way towards its requirements, but the Kootenays have not been so well served.

The Kootenays, a vast industrial area with magnificent scenery, depends almost entirely on the Trans-Provincial Highway. This is a condition which deserves to be remedied quickly. A study of the map and economic development will prove convincingly that there are other roads which should be built, and built quickly. There have been too many delays.

The next and most important road needed in the West Kootenay is one to connect Highway No. 3 with the Trans-Canada No. 1 Highway near Revelstoke. It would open a vast area for mining and lumbering and would make an alternate route for tourists through magnificent scenery. There are other proposed roads, too, like the one through Rose Pass to Kimberley, which should be studied.

Though, of course, the credit of building the road must go to the Highways Minister, the many Chambers of Commerce of the district performed a valuable service in urging its construction. They found the route, they urged it upon the government, and now they have the satisfaction of seeing its completion. Congratulations, and let's have more road openings soon.

Ten Commandments of Hunting Safety

With big game and bird hunting under way in British Columbia, the Hon. Earle C. Westwood listed the ten commandments of hunting safety. The minister told sportsmen the difference between happy hunting and tragedy may lie in the ideas behind the following points:

1. Treat every gun with the respect due a loaded gun.

2. Watch that muzzle! Carry your gun safely; keep safety on until ready to shoot.

3. Unload guns when not in use, take down or have actions open; guns should be carried in cases to shooting area.

4. Be sure barrel is clear of obstructions, and that you have ammunition only of the proper size for the gun you carry.

5. Be sure of target before you pull trigger; know identifying features of game you hunt.

6. Never point a gun at anything you do not want to shoot; avoid all horseplay.

7. Never climb a tree or fence or jump a ditch with a loaded gun; never pull a gun toward you by the muzzle.

8. Never shoot a bullet at a flat, hard surface or water; at target practice be sure your backstop is adequate.

9. Store guns and ammunition separately, beyond reach of children.

10. Avoid alcoholic beverages before or during shooting.

Keep shooting a safe sport.

Two Ways of Doing It

The right of a provincial government to expropriate private power companies is not in question. Nor is the morality of it. Its political expediency can readily be granted, power companies being convenient whipping boys. The economic wisdom of the move is quite another matter, but how often is that a consideration among governments?

However the manner of expropriation is open to question, and that brings up the basic differences between what British Columbia did and what Quebec proposes to do. Here are some of the differences:

1. The B.C. government, before, during and after the expropriation of its large privately-owned power industry, protested that it was really firmly devoted to free enterprise and opposed to socialism. The Quebec government has not indulged in such hypocrisy.

2. The B.C. government (admittedly with all-party support in the legislature) made its move without reference to the people. They had no idea they were electing a government that would do such a thing. But the Quebec government is giving the voters a chance to repudiate the idea of expropriation and the government that proposes it.

3. The B.C. government paid in compensation only what it wished to pay, not what the previous owners thought was a fair price; it resisted all attempts to get the price arbitrated. This was tantamount to stealing someone else's property. In Quebec, on the other hand, the price will be determined by negotiation or arbitration, giving the present owners a fair break.—Lethbridge Herald.

A Great Time

A somewhat agitated father has passed along to us this postcard, just received from his fifteen-year-old son, who is travelling with a small group through Europe and the Near East:

Dear Daddy:

This is an urgent letter. I need permission to go to a night club in Paris. Please wire permission to our hotel in France. It is quite necessary, as this (the night club) is the whole reason for my going on the trip. If you wire quickly enough, I will write the full details of our adventures right afterward. Having a great time.

Love,
Jeff

Socreds Accuse Canadians Drifting Toward Redism

By ARCH MacKENZIE

OTTAWA (CP)—A Canadian drift toward socialism, abetted by some Crown corporations and particularly the CBC, must be halted, Social Credit whip Guy Marcoux told the Commons Wednesday.

Canada has reached a limit in welfare payments "beyond which it is not safe or wise for us to proceed," said J. Chester MacRae (PC — York-Sunbury), congratulating the government on omitting "handouts" from the throne speech.

Trade Minister Hees said the economy is "moving ahead very strongly indeed" and Walter Gordon (L—Toronto Davenport) said he isn't impressed by the "rosy optimism and questionable statistics in the speech from the throne."

'BUSINESS AS USUAL'

In other words, it was parliamentary business as usual Wednesday in the third round of the eight-day debate on the speech from the throne—an all-party affair due to end next Wednesday.

Today, the Commons was voting on the Liberal motion of non-confidence in the minority Progressive Conservative government.

Mr. Marcoux, member for Quebec Montmorency, said in his mainly-French address, first in his young parliamentary career, that Canada has to halt "this drift toward socialism, toward an ideology that we oppose on the international scene and that we allow to spread on the national scene."

There were certain Crown corporations—and he singled out the CBC which previous Social Credit speakers have attacked as socialist-inclined — contributing to the infiltration of socialism in this country, he sad.

Governments should avoid involvement in medical care plans because this infringed on individual freedom.

Mr. MacRae, calling the throne speech the finest "program that has been offered . . . in my time," said he welcomed the proposal for a national welfare council.

"I have never agreed with the principle that voters should be bribed through welfare payments," said the New Brunswick back-bencher, first elected in 1957. "I think that we in this country now have reached the limit beyond which it is not safe or wise for us to proceed.

"I was pleased to see that in the speech from the throne there were no handouts."

'ECONOMY HEALTHY'

Mr. Hees said a clear indication of the economy's health is an increase of 8.6 per cent for the first six months in the gross national product—total of all goods and services produced.

He reviewed recent trade conferences bringing foreign buyers in touch with Canadian manufacturers, plus plans for the second conference of trade commissioners. "Many, many thousands of additional jobs" would result.

Canadian businessmen had a new sense of confidence.

Richard Cashin (L—St. John's West) said in his maiden speech that Newfoundland had not entered confederation in 1949 to have its people become second-class Canadians.

By the federal government consistently ignoring two main problems—lack of a Newfoundland Trans - Canada Highway and fisheries — Newfoundlanders were reduced to second-class status.

Hazen Argue, Assiniboia, the former CCF - New Democratic Party House leader who defected earlier this year to the Liberals, flayed agricultural policy in his first speech as an elected Liberal.

From his front-bench seat, the Saskatchewan farmer said wheat exports are trailing by 30 per cent although the Prairie farmer had heeded a call to grow all the grain he could. The result was a wheat supply of 947,000,000 bushels with export sales declining.

Wednesday's Satellite Hero Too Busy to Talk in Flight

By VERN HAUGLAND

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—Walter M. Schirra Jr., 39, hero of Wednesday's dazzling nine-hour satellite flight six times around the earth, tells today the scientific story he was much too busy to relate in space.

After U.S. Navy commander, comfortably lodged in the admiral's cabin of the aircraft carrier Kearsarge, completes his uninterrupted dictaphone accounting, doctors will examine him for possible after-effects. Two doctors on the Kearsarge already have reported he apparently suffered no ill-effects.

No other American has spent so much time—more than nine hours—weightless and in orbit. But from first apperances, the strain had been no greater than for a jet-place flight of comparable length.

A motor launch from the Kearsarge towed Schirra—dry and comfortable in his Sigma 7 spacecraft—from mid-Pacific waters less than three miles off the carrier's bow.

Schirra blasted off at 8:15 a.m. and his spacecraft parachuted into the water 250 miles northeast of Midway Island at 5:28 p.m. He was the first astronaut to land in the Pacific.

REACHES 176-MILE PEAK

The astronaut attained a peak altitude of 176 miles — higher than that of any other space traveller except Russia's 187-mile-high Yuri Gagarin.

Schirra drifted, with hands off all controls, for almost two orbits, the lengthiest experiment of its kind.

Said D. Brainerd Oolmes, director of the lunar exploration program for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration: "This was a hugely successful flight, magnificently performed."

Walter C. Williams, director of Project Mercury, said that "so far as I am concerned, the mission was perfect."

Williams added that the next Mercury mission would be for 24 hours, and would be attempted early next year.

Astronaut Donald K. Slayton, Cape control communicator for the mission, said: "We learned a lot of things—especially that you can fly this long with a small amount of fuel. Wally did an impressive job of handling the spacecraft and conserving fuel."

NEWCOMERS WATCH

Eight of the nine newly-named Project Gemini-Project Apollo astronauts witnessed the launching. Slayton said they were "quite impressed."

As soon as he boarded the carrier, Schirra answered two Washington telephone calls — from President Kennedy and Vice-President Johnson — and one from his wife, Josephine, in Houston.

President Kennedy told him the country was delighted with his "wonderful job."

The flight made a special impact on Europe, where millions on both sides of the Iron Curtain tuned in films on television, shortly after the launch, in a program relayed by the Telstar communications satellite.

Moscow radio called Schirra "a courageous son of the American people."

The astronaut apparently felt no ill effects whatever from his working day of weightlessness, or from the acceleration to and deceleration from orbital speeds.

ARRIVES DRY

During the half hour in which he floated in the spacecraft while the carrier moved into position to pick him up, Schirra several times assured recovery personnel that he was all right.

He could have been picked up by helicopter almost instantly had he elected to leave the capsule. Instead, he preferred to remain dry, and thus to become the first astronaut to be retrieved, in his spacecraft, by a primary recovery vessel.

During orbit, Schirra reported he had "a delightful report for one John Glenn. I too see fireflies."

The astronaut chuckled when he was told that he would hence forth be known as Venus because a tracking vessel in the Indian Ocean reported observing Sigma 7 for five minutes in the night sky and that the capsule resembled the bright planet. Sigma 7 was the first U.S. space vehicle to be spotted visually from the earth.

He also reported seeing the lights of Perth, Australia, and asked that the citizens there be given his thanks. He also saw flares sent up from Woomera, Australia, only as a luminous glow beneath the clouds.

Schirra will tell Project Mercury officials the details during the carrier trip to Honolulu. Then he will fly to the space flight centre at Houston to answer questions at a press conference Sunday.

Space Scientists Go Home to Dream Of Bigger Plans

OTTAWA (CP)—With one satellite in the sky, another standing by for insurance and their heads full of thoughts about the possibility of bigger space attempts, Canada's top space scientists returned home Wednesday night after their debut in the outer space business.

After being at Vandenburg Air Force Base, Calif., since mid-August preparing for the launching of the Alouette last Saturday, 19 of the scientists and technicians were welcomed back by a crowd of about 100 relatives and fellow workers from defence research telecommunications establishment.

Keith Brown, mission director and the man responsible for controlling the shot attempt, said he was "overjoyed" with the launching of the 320-pound satellite by a United States rocket.

Success of the shot "staggers the imagination," he said.

The Alouette was performing its duties "better than we could have hoped for" and was optimistic about the life expectancy of its transmitters which originally were designed to send down information about the ionosphere for one year.

SPACE DOG HAS PUPS

MOSCOW (AP)—Chernushka, one of Russia's space-dogs, has given birth to two black-spotted white pups, Tass news agency reported Thursday. Soviet dogs sent into space just before Maj. Yuri Gagarin made the pioneer journey by man, are raising families in the Moscow zoo. With Chernushka and her pups are Strelka and two of her pups —the third one having been sent as a gift to Mrs. Jacqueline Kennedy.

Interpreting the News

By CARMAN CUMMING
Canadian Press Staff Writer

After months of feverish debate, the United States appears to be working out a consistent, two-part policy with regard to Cuba.

Simply, the aim is to contain Communist influence within Cuba, further isolating it from the hemisphere, and at the same time quietly to work for the overthrow of the Fidel Castro regime.

This would be done with cooperation of the other hemisphere nations wherever possible. Failing that, it would be done by the United States alone.

These points were reported to have been spelled out by President Kennedy before the 20-nation inter-American Conference on Cuba in Washington this week.

They also form two of the three points of the recently passed congressional declaration on Cuba.

WOULD ACT ALONE

The third point declared U.S. determination to block a military buildup of Cuba which might threaten U.S. security. President Kennedy also has declared that the U.S. would act alone against a clear threat to its security, although he has ruled out military action in present circumstances.

Congress did not spell out exactly how the U.S. should go about blocking a Cuban military buildup. Some senators on the far right have called for a blockade—a policy that clearly would be an act of war and which has received little practical support.

Neither Congress nor administration has spelled out precisely what would be considered a threat to U.S. security sufficient to warrant unilateral intervention. Nor have they made clear exactly how they would legally justify such action.

The congressional resolution invoked the Monroe Doctrine and the Rio Treaty of 1948—both rather tenuous bases for a lone attack.

WORK TWO WAYS

The Monroe Doctrine, as put forward by President James Monroe in 1823, warned European nations that any attempt to extend their power in the Western Hemisphere would be regarded as "dangerous to our peace and safety."

It also contained a less-often quoted corollary renouncing any U.S. interest in European conflicts.

Even the U.S. administration, recognizing that the doctrine has no status as an international instrument, has been careful not to base its case too heavily on it.

The Rio Treaty, charter of one Organization of the American States, specified that an attack on one member would be considered an attack on all. But it also pledges the United States—as does the United Nations charter—to abstain from unilateral military action.

In any event, the apparent U.S. aim now is to avoid an outright clash, while at the same time squeezing Castro into further isolation and encouraging and unifying the movements of anti-Castro Cubans.

HUBERT

"Look at that! When they throw out your baby shoes, the honeymoon is over!"

F. B. Pearce ...Writes

Victoria is still English in one respect — its streets are not laid out on the American plan, or indeed on any plan. Even now, after 100 years the city has trouble with the names of its streets and one which starts under one name has to the annoyance of many been given another name before it ends. Streets run all ways and dead end streets are common, almost as if someone built a house and then made a road to it.

The city is now fussing about one-way streets and getting the trucks off the downtown streets. I am inclined to believe that much of this is unnecessary here. The streets are wide and if traffic is heavy it still flows along easily.

It is pleasant to wander gently in a car along Victoria streets. We took the Dallas Road outside the Parliament Buildings and then found that it curved around by the harbor and merged into the scenic drive to Oak Bay.

On the way we passed the shipyards and saw Mr. Bennett's new ferries a-building. At their present stage they look like a rusty bunch of junk but they are needed because those bought from the Black Ball line are too slow and out of date.

Oak Bay is a pleasant place indeed with a little shopping centre. We found a little English style bakery and tea shop where they served us toasted tea-cakes — something I have not had for many years.

The municipality is celebrating its 100th anniversary with a huge tea party. They were putting up the strings of banners across the road and there were plenty of them, more than I have ever seen in Nelson. I think we should go to see this party.

When I went into the motel office the little daughter smiled at me and I said, "How old are you?" "Twelve," she said. "Then you are in Grade VI," I said. "No, eight," she replied with an month's time," her mother interimpish grin. She'll be 13 in a month's time," her mother interposed. "But she must still have skipped a grade," I said. Her mother's only reply was to bring out a trophy.

The trophy was a heavy brass lamp of learning on a polished oak plinth with a plate in which were inscribed the initials of the Esquimalt Junior High School and the name of the child. It was given to her for being the best pupil in a grade of seven divisions.

I'm glad the schools are doing this sort of thing. It helps to put a premium on excellence and although I did not know that the child was a star pupil I was glad to find that my old instinct had not deserted me and that I could still recognize on sight those of intelligence and ability.

We had seen her before laden with life belts and oars in company with another 13-year-old who could make two of her. They had been out on the inlet catching crabs and came home with a huge one which they proposed to sell for 50 cents.

The other girl comes from an artistic family which paints and sculpts. The parents designed and built their own house and adorned it with their own handiwork and the girl makes brooches and ornaments from smal pieces of driftwood.

Hees Hopes Jodoin Will Return to Productivity Work

OTTAWA (CP)—Trade Minister Hees said Wednesday in the Commons he hopes Cluade Jodoin, president of the Canadian Labor Congress, will return to the Productivity Council.

Mr. Jodoin resigned from the council last month, saying its work was too limited.

Mr. Hees also said in reply to Paul Martin (L—Essex East) and Douglas Fisher (NDP—Port Arthur) that he hopes council membership will be increased "some time in the near future."

This would make it possible to adhere to Mr. Jodoin's wish that labor council members be appointed as representatives of labor organiaztions and not as individuals.

Later, James Byrne (L—Kootenay East) asked whether the government considers Mr. Jodoin's resignation an indication of lack of confidence in the government on the part of labor.

When he received no reply, he asked whether the government is considering appointment of an alternative representative and Mr. Hees said not at present.

KELOWNA (CP)—Bylaws for the development of an $800,000 sewerage system and for a 10-year extension of the city franchise in Okanagan Mission Stage Lines passed with big majorities Wednesday. Nearly 80 per cent of those who voted favored the sewerage plan and even more voted to retain the bus franchise.

Principals Grundy-Fisher Nuptials Making Their Home in Kamloops

SALMO — Of interest in Nelson and Salmo is the wedding ceremony which took place at Salmo Community Church when Sally Sharon Fisher, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Darroll Fisher of Salmo, became the bride of Mr. David Alan Grundy, son of Mrs. Victor W. Grundy and the late Mr. Grundy of Nelson.

Mauve and white color theme was predominant in gowns of the bridal party and decor at the wedding reception.

Rev. D. Logan read the marriage service on September 1 at 4 o'clock in the afternoon.

Gowned in full-length peau de soie, the bride was a picture as she approached the altar, where four baskets of gladioli were arranged for the wedding ceremony.

Lace appliques accented the scoop neckline of her gown, and her long sleeves were lily point. The lowered waistline style was highlighted by a large bow at the back.

A tiara held her bouffant short veil and she carried a charming bouquet of gardenias and pink roses, entwined with a string of pearls. She wore a pearl pendant and pearl earrings, gift of the bridegroom.

Miss Helen Neighbor of Nelson, maid of honor, was gowned in a mauve sheath dress with flocked organza overskirt and matching hat.

Sister of the bride, Miss Donna Fisher, was bridesmaid and Miss Shannon Anderson of Salmo was flower girl. Both wore mauve, full-skirted dresses with flocked organza overskirts. Their headpieces were bandeaux of flocked organza with mauve flowers spread throughout the organza. They carried nosegays with pink centres.

The bride had made her wedding gown and her sister's dress.

The bridegroom was supported by Mr. Mike Kanigan of Victoria and Mr. Warren Jarvis of Nelson was usher.

At a dinner reception held in the Royal Canadian Legion Hall in Salmo, the newlyweds cut a three-tiered wedding cake trimmed in mauve. The cake was served by the wedding party.

The hall was decorated with mauve and white streamers, and the tables were centered with flowers and tapers.

Caterers were Pythian Sisters of Salmo.

Master of ceremonies was Mr. Eugene Crowe, and toasts were proposed by Mr. Clayton Crowe and Mr. Mike Kanigan.

A dance followed the wedding supper.

For a wedding trip along the Oregon coast, the bride changed into a mauve knit suit with black accessories, white hat and gardenia corsage.

The newlyweds will reside in Kamloops, where the bridegroom is an employee of the B.C. Telephone Company.

Out of town guests at the wedding concluded the brother and sister-in-law of the bridegroom, Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Grundy of Moisie, Quebec; Miss Marie-Belle Treat of Salmn Arm, B.C.; Mr. Mike Kanigan of Victoria; Mr. and Mrs. Warren Crowe of Trail, Mr. and Mrs. R. Bermel of Castlegar; Mrs. Althea Grimm of Greenwood and Mrs. M. St. Denis of White Rock, B.C.

Political Influence Entering Civil Service Post Unpopular

By JIM PEACOCK

VANCOUVER (CP) — The Civil Service Association of Canada has advised Prime Minister Diefenbaker that it objects strongly to any political consideration entering into appointment to fill a senior civil service post.

The objection was registered here Wednesday night at the biennial convention of the 32,500-member CSAC, which was told that newspaper speculation has arisen that a candidate defeated in the June federal election might be appointed to the Civil Service Commission.

An extraordinary resolution passed unanimously and without debate said such an appointment would be a "direct negation" of the system of appointing federal government employees on the basis of individual merit.

A wire was sent to the prime minister advising him of the convention action.

VOTE AGAINST CLC

Delegates voted against affiliation of the CSAC with the 1,000,000-member Canadian Labor Congress, a decision which must stand at least until the next CSAC convention two years hence.

The question is to be kept under study, however, by the CSAC national council.

J. A. Norton of Ottawa-Hull, rman of the ilaaf oaicfoiihocnm-t mittee, said later the major considerations of the committee were a fear that the CSAC would lose some of its own members if it affiliated and that affiliation would interfere with attempts by the association to negotiate union with other civil servant organizations.

Harold Baker of Vancouver introduced the extraordinary motion, which said speculation had appeared in the press that the government was considering appointment of a defeated candidate to fill the vacancy on the Civil Service Commission created by the return to the Ontario Supreme Court bench by commission chairman Sam Hughes.

Mr. Baker refused to identify the individual.

Females in Canada have always had a higher life expectancy than males, the difference increasing to 5.3 years in 1956 from 2.1 years in 1931.

CONFIDENTIALLY YOURS
—by Byrne Hope Sanders

TORONTO, October 5th—Will your children go beyond high school? For parents with children facing college entrance in two to four years there's good news in the new BANK OF MONTREAL University Education Programme. If financing is a problem with you, here is the ideal way to get your child through college. This programme allows you to spread the future costs of college over periods of up to nine years. Monthly payments are reasonable, and there's no heavy debt left after graduation. So, if you have a child in high school, be sure to ask soon about the life-insured B of M University Education Programme at your nearest B of M branch.

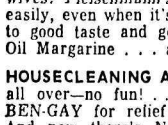
A DESSERT THAT'S EXCITING AND EASY . . . that's what I like to hear about . . . and that's why I'm passing this delicious TEA-BISK recipe on to you — 6 Cherry Pinwheel Shortcakes —

2 cups Monarch Tea-Bisk
2 tbsp. shortening
½ cup milk
1/3 cup brown sugar
3 tbsp. soft butter or margarine
1 tin (20 oz.) Cherry Pie Filling
Whipped Cream Topping

Add shortening to Monarch Tea-Bisk and cut in finely. Stir milk in briskly with a fork until dough is soft, yet not sticky. Knead gently 8 to 10 times on a lightly-floured surface. Roll out to a rectangle 8" x 10" and spread with a mixture of brown sugar and butter or margarine. Roll as you would a jelly roll, starting with shorter side to make a roll 8" long. Cut in 6 slices and place in greased large (3") muffin tins. Bake 10 to 12 minutes in pre-heated 425 deg. oven. Top with cherry pie filling and whipped cream and serve immediately.

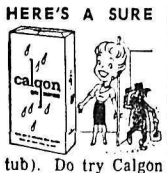
Yes, I like to have Tea-Bisk always handy . . . it's an all-purpose mix that can be used for any number of delightful dishes. Look for the special opportunity now awaiting you at your nearest grocer's.

IT'S NICE TO KNOW there's one margarine that's recommended for modern diets . . . FLEISCHMANN'S 100% Corn Oil MARGARINE. Because it's made from pure, 100% Corn Oil, it's low, low in saturated fats. Ask your doctor about its benefits in your daily diet. And what's more, you'll love the taste of Fleischmann's Margarine. It has a luxurious flavor all its own . . . so good, you'll be surprised it's margarine! Here's a happy plus for all busy housewives: Fleischmann's Margarine always spreads smoothly and easily, even when it's just out of the refrigerator. Help yourself to good taste and good health with Fleischmann's 100% Corn Oil Margarine . . . a 'buy' I sincerely recommend.



HOUSECLEANING ALL OVER AND DONE? . . . but you ache all over—no fun! . . . then I recommend BEN-GAY for relief of aches and pains! And now there's NEW BEN-GAY that's both greaseless and stainless, with deep penetrating action that warms and soothes tired muscles. Yes, Ben-Gay, so long famous for relief of muscular pains and chest congestion, is now yours in a brand new form. After a hard day of housework, simply massage New Ben-Gay into the painful spots . . . it acts fast to relieve the hurt! Ask for New greaseless Ben-Gay with the vanishing cream base.

HERE'S A SURE CURE for that all-too-familiar 'Laundry Demon' . . . 'Hangover Dirt'! Add CALGON, the wonder water conditioner, to your laundry water. It conditions water so you need less soap . . . gets clothes naturally soft and absorbent . . . really clean. And, best of all, it prevents the soil of minerals, soap or detergent that I think of as 'Hangover Dirt'. (Like the ring you get in the bathtub). Do try Calgon . . . it never, never leaves clothes stiff or scratchy. Use Calgon—the Water Doctor—you'll see . . . you'll always have a brighter, cleaner laundry!



ANY WAY YOU SERVE IT . . . here's a vegetable that's always a favourite . . . LIBBY'S SAUERKRAUT. Crisp, delicious Libby's is definitely one of the most versatile vegetables I know and low, low in cost. Serve it cold in salads or hot as a main-course dish, like this:

Baked Sauerkraut Casserole

4 strips bacon, cut up
¼ cup finely-chopped onion
1 cup tomato juice
1 28-oz. can (3½ cups) Libby's Sauerkraut, drained
1 cup buttered crumbs

Fry bacon until crisp; remove from pan. Add onion to bacon dripping and cook slowly, stirring occasionally until lightly browned. Add drained sauerkraut, bacon and tomato juice; mix lightly. Turn into a 4-cup casserole; top with buttered crumbs. Bake, uncovered, in hot oven (400 deg. F.) until heated through—about 20 minutes. Yield: 5 or 6 servings.

IT'S REALLY VERY EASY to always enjoy the satisfaction of fast-running, clean and sanitary drains providing you just put 2 tablespoons of GILLETT'S DRAIN CLEANER in every drain, every week. It's dangerous to neglect the germs that lurk in every drain. And I know from experience that liquid disinfectants can't budge the greasy muck these germs breed in. It takes the special churning, boiling action of Gillett's Drain Cleaner to completely scour out every trace of this germ-breeding mess. It's fast, effective, easy to use and right now your grocer is featuring a special low price on Gillett's Drain Cleaner, so do buy now!

This is a picture of the terrain crossed by members of the Chambers of Commerce in 1951 when the Kinnaird-Christina highway route was being promoted. Annual treks have since kept the promotion going. The picture at right shows the splendid highway which spans this countryside today. Members of the Castlegar-Kinnaird District Chamber of Commerce, Cec Watson, Gus Leitner and William Waldie made the trip to Paulson by train and hiked back in a three-day trek. They were met at Paulson by Grand Forks Chamber of Commerce members Randy Sandner, Ted MacArthur and Milton Orris. Today, eleven years later, the most modern piece of highway in Southeastern B.C. is bringing prosperity and development to the Castlegar-Kinnaird and district area.

Ford, Yankees Take Tired Giants in Opener

WHITEY FORD
. . . 10th Series win.

Ford Top Series Winner

By JACK HAND

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Steady Whitey Ford rose to the occasion once again Thursday, settling down after a shaky start, and won his 10th World Series game for New York Yankees with a 6-2 decision over the weary San Francisco Giants in the series opener at Candlestick Park.

The stocky 33-year-old lefthander who has won more series games than any other pitcher saw his scoreless streak broken after 33 2-3 innings but calmly set down the Giants while scattering 10 hits along the way.

Only Willie Mays, his tormentor in all-star games, and Jose Pagan gave Ford trouble consistently. Each collected three singles. Against Ford in all-star and series play, Mays now has nine hits in 11 at bats.

The American League champions, who have won 19 of 26 previous series, went about this game in methodical fashion against the Giants.

Clete Boyer contributed the big hit, a 365-foot home run off loser Billy O'Dell that snapped a 2-2 tie in the seventh.

ADD INSURANCE

Not content with that slender margin, the Yanks snapped and snarled away at O'Dell, Don Larsen and Stu Miller until they had stretched their lead to four runs.

The crowd of 43,852 seemed unusually quiet for a city seeing its first World Series game.

It was Ford's seventh complete series gam and his 17th series appearance. He has lost four series games.

Roger Maris, the 61-homer hero of 1961 but a .256 batter this season, gave the Giants a quick taste of Yankees power with a long blast to the right field fence in the first. Bobby Richardson and Tom Tresh had singled before Maris laced the ball to the fence. Felipe Alou jumped high into the air and managed to keep the ball from going over the barrier for a homer but couldn't hold it. It bounced away for a two-run double.

GIANTS COME BACK

The Giants scrambled back with a run in the second on May's first single, another single by Jim Davenport and a beautifully placed drag bunt by Pagan that got Mays home from third.

The Giants lit into Ford again in the third. With one out, Chuck Hiller looped a double to left centre and Felipe Alou singled to right, moving Hiller to third. Mays delivered another single into centre that scored Hiller and tied the score 2-2.

Ford and O'Dell, the latter overworked in the Giants' bitter pennant fight, struggled along until the seventh with Ford blunting Giants threats in the fourth, fifth and sixth.

Boyer led off the seventh by riding a 2-2 pitch over the left-field fence for his first series homer in 10 games.

Maris started the Yanks off again in the eighth when he singled with one out. O'Dell pinked Elston Howard with a pitch and Dale Long, who had replaced the aching Bill Skowron, singled into right field, scoring Maris.

LARSEN REPLACES O'DELL

Don Larsen, the Yanks' perfect-game pitcher of the 1956 series, came in to face his old mates under series conditions for the first time. Boyer lifted a fly ball to short left on which shortstop Pagan collided with Harvey Kuenn.

Pagan held the ball but was knocked off balance. His throw to the plate came in on a bounce and catcher Ed Bailey couldn't handle it. Howard scored on the sacrifice fly.

After Tresh singled with one out in the ninth, manager Alvin Dark called in Stu Miller to replace Larsen. Mickey Mantle, who went hitless, flied out but Maris walked after Tresh stole second, and Howard singled to right, scoring Tresh.

Manager Ralph Houk of the Yanks named Ralph Terry, 26-year-old righthander with a 23-12 record, to pitch today. Jack Sanford (24-7), a 33-year-old righthander, will pitch for the Giants.

Dark said he would send Willie McCovey to first base and play Matty Alou in left field, benching Orlando Cepeda and Harvey Kuenn. Tom Haller, spiked in Tuesday's playoff game, will catch Sanford, as always.

Minor Hockey Rolling After Successful Meet

A revised constitution was approved by the Nelson Minor Hockey Association at its meeting held last night.

The meeting, described by president Roy Hammond as "the most successful in years," is the beginning of a new look in minor hockey circles in this city.

Only one addition was made to the revised constitution.

Twelve committees were set up and chairmen were appointed to each. They will start work immediately on problems concerning their particular committee.

A pre-registration program is being considered by the executive which is planned for the purpose of avoiding the yearly confusion encountered on the regular registration day each season.

Two city service clubs, Rotary and ACT, were represented at the meeting.

The ACT representative said his organization was definitely willing to assist minor hockey here this season.

There is a possibility that minor hockey will receive assistance from other local organizations as well.

It was learned that a meeting of the West Kootenay Minor Hockey Association will be held in Castlegar Nov. 6. Purpose of the meeting will be to co-ordinate all Kootenay minor hockey associations.

Nelson's delegates to this meeting were not chosen last night.

Next meeting for the Nelson association will be Oct. 16. This will be an executive meeting only, to be held in room "A" of the Civic Centre at 7:30 p.m.

Senior Hockey's Future Still Not Decided

Nelson Maple Leafs, senior hockey and the WIHL are dying fast as far as the citizens of Nelson and district are concerned.

E. W. "Lefty" White, chairman of the senior hockey steering committee, said Thursday night response to his committee's appeal for competent men to form a senior hockey executive has met with cool response.

"We have until tonight to come up with something, after that we (the committee) are washing our hands of the whole issue," he said.

A definite statement concerning the future of senior hockey will be made in Saturday's edition of the Nelson Daily News.

Only Boyer Excited After Yankees Win

By TED SMITS
Associated Press Sports Editor

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—New York Yankees, like professional executioners, reacted with complete calm to their 6-2 victory over San Francisco Giants Thursday in the first game of the World Series.

"It was a well-played ball game on both sides," said manger Ralph Houk judiciously.

"I got stronger as I went along," said pitcher Whitey Ford. "It must be the weather (crisp nd asunny)."

"It was the biggest thrill of my life," said Clete Boyer of his seventh - inning home run that put the Yankees ahead to stay 3-2. That was the clos anyone got to excitement.

"The two big hits of the game were by Maris and Boyer," said Houk.

Roger Maris's double in the first had scored two runs.

LANDS ALOU

"I thought that Maris had a homer. That guy—Felipe Alou—made a helluva play on it. I thought it was a goner and I didn't think he could get to it," Houk said.

Alou had the ball in his glove for an out but hit the top of the fence on his way down and lost it. It was scored as a clean hit because of the almost impossible play.

Houk explained that first baseman Bill Skowron was not feeling well before the game. That's why he took him out in the seventh and put in Dale Long, a long - time bench warmer with the Giants. Long lashed a run-scoring single to right in the eighth.

FOUND WILLIE TOUGH

Ford said: "When I pitched against Mays in those all-star games I was throwing him slow curves. After he got about five straight hits off me I started to figure that he was a pretty good slow curve hitter.

"So today I went to the fast ball—and he hit those, too. I finally got him on a slider."

Mays has a record of six hits in seven at bats in all-star games against Ford, including two homers and a triple, and Thursday he had three hits in four times up, all singles.

Ford said he threw more sliders and fast balls Thursday with only four change-ups and two curves.

Ford "Pretty Good Pitcher", Al Dark

By JACK STEVENSON

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — "That guy's a pretty good pitcher . . ." San Francisco manager Alvin Dark said Thursday in complimenting New York Yankees' Whitey Ford for the 6-2 triumph in the World Seres opener.

Then with characteristic determination, Dark added: "We'll get 'em tomorrow. You can't throw two guys at us as good as he is."

Dark appeared gloomy when asked about his erstwhile power hitting first baseman, Orlando Cepeda, who is in a terrible slump.

"He's swinging the way he always has," Dark said. "Orlando has played 260 games this year and is worn out as far as I'm concerned. I'm not in favor of winter ball for fellows who play regularly in the majors."

Cepeda plays winter ball in his native Puerto Rico. In the third inning Thursday, with the Giants threatening to pull ahead Cepeda bounced into an easy double play ending the inning. The big fellow who led the National League in homers and runs batted in in 1961, didn't get the ball out of the infield Thursday.

NOT DISCOURAGED

There was no air of discouragement in the Giants' dressing room as the losers calmly discussed the game.

Billy O'Dell, the losing pitcher said he thought he had good stuff and wasn't tired despite four mound appearances during the last week.

Dark was asked whether the Giants were overly tired after the three-game National League playoff against Los Angeles.

He replied emphatically: "No, no. Ford just pitched a real good game."

O'Dell said the ball Boyer hit for the go-ahead run in the seventh was a good pitch, low and to the outside.

"He leaned out and lined it," O'Dell said. Left fielder Harvey Kuenn added: "It cleared the fence by maybe a couple of feet. A man playing back against the fence could have caught it."

Toronto Leafs Not Showing Much NHL Form

WINNIPEG (CP) — In a lacklustre National Hockey League exhibition game that had most of the 5000 fans booing through the final two periods, New York Rangers blanked defending Stanley Cup champion Toronto Maple Leafs 4-0 Thursday night.

Andy Bathgate scored two goals and Rod Gilbert and Pat Hannigan got singles.

The Rangers took a 3-0 lead in the first period and coasted through a scoreless second session before Bathgate beat Leafs goalie Johnny Bower for the second time at 1:22 of the third period.

Rangers goalie Lorne Worsley was the busiest man on the ice, stopping 33 shots. Bower blocked only 19, three in the second period.

Toronto picked up six of 11 penalties handed out in the quarrelsome, but easy-hitting game.

NL All-Stars Named, "Leafs May Use Rochester Players," Imlach

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Chicago Black Hawks, romping through an exhibition schedule in which they have not lost a game, received a jolt Wednesday night that may have spoiled what has been a perfect training camp.

Stan Mikita, all-star centre in the National Hockey League last season, was taken to hospital during an exhibition game at Ottawa where it was determined he has a badly sprained ankle.

There was no estimate on the length of time Mikita will be missing from the Chicago lineup —but the injury was serious enough to require x-rays.

Mikita's injury will likely prevent him from playing in the NHL all-star game at Toronto Saturday night.

Hawks, who were tied 2-2 by Hull-Ottawa Canadiens Tuesday night, had trouble whipping the Eastern Professional League team 2-1 Wednesday night.

BEAT AHL CLUBS

In other exhibition action, Boston Bruins whipped Providence Reds of the American League 7-2 at Boston, Montreal Canadiens dumped the AHL's Rochester Americans 4-2 at Peterborough and New York Rangers barely edged Baltimore Clippers, their AHL farm club 6-5 at Brandon.

Mikita was believed injured when his skate became entangled in a crack in the ice at Ottawa on a breakaway.

If he misses the all-star game he may not be the only absentee. The defending Stanley Cup champion Toronto Maple Leafs, the All-Stars' opposition, may have as few as six players in their lineup.

No player not signed to a contract is eligible to participate in the game because of a league ruling, and Leafs are reported to have no more than six men in the fold.

Manager-coach Punch Imlach isn't talking to reporters about signings and said he will use players from Leafs' Rochester farm if needed.

Clarence Campbell, NHL president, told reporters in Vancouver earlier this week he is standing by to arbitrate if necessary.

ANNOUNCES NAMES

Leafs are doing their contract squabbling and playing in Western Canada. Meanwhile, their Toronto office Wednesday announced names of players who will bolster the all-star squad. They are Bernie Geoffrion, Ralph Backstrom and Claude Provost from Montreal Canadiens; Alex Delvecchio and Norm Ullman from Detroit Red Wings; Doug Mohns, Don McKenney and Leo Boivin from Boston Bruins, and Dean Prentice and goaltender Gump Worsley from New York Rangers.

The first All-Star team consists of goaltender Jacques Plante of Montreal, defenceman Jean Guy Talbot of Montreal and Doug Harvey of New York, centre Mikita, right winger Andy Bathgate of New York and left winger Bobby Hull of Chicago.

The second team includes goaltender Glenn Hall of Chicago, defencemen Carl Brewer of Toronto and Pierre Pilote of Chicago, centre Dave Keon of Toronto, right winger Gordie Howe of Detroit and left winger Frank Mahovlich of Toronto.

Brewer, Keon and Mahovlich if signed will play with Toronto Saturday night.

WHALES MAY DISAPPEAR

NANAIMO (CP)—Whales will be extinct in the Antarctic and the North Pacific in 15 years if the present harvesting rate continues, Gordon Pike, head of the marine mammal section of the fisheries department biological station here, said in an address to the Kiwani sClub.

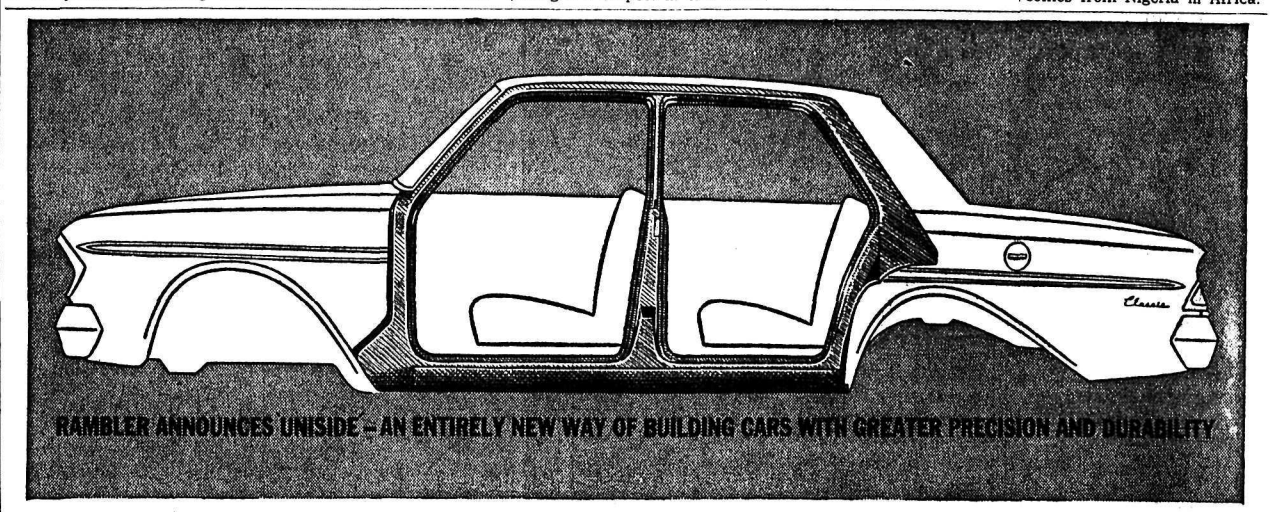
KAMLOOPS (CP) — Police investigated two overnight break-ins Thursday and charged a suspect in one. John Falardeau was remanded on a charge of breaking and entering the bus depot.

Almost all of the world's supply of columbite, a rare metal used in airplane jet engines, comes from Nigeria in Africa.



For 1963, Rambler leaps years ahead with 'Uniside' construction to bring striking new beauty to the Rambler Classic

For 1963, Rambler brings you the most revolutionary automotive engineering advance in years—new "Uniside" construction. Twenty-three years ago, Rambler pioneered Single-Unit construction (we welded the entire car into a solid structure). This method gave Ramblers added strength and put an end to body-bolt squeaks and rattles. It made all other assembly methods old fashioned. Remember this was twenty-three years ago, yet the rest of the industry is just beginning to catch up.

Now, Rambler again leaps years ahead! Exclusive new "Uniside" construction is an entirely new way of building cars. This year, we're stamping the complete side out of single sheets of steel! It gives you even greater body strength, longer car life, perfect and uniform door openings with vastly superior weather-sealing. In addition, "Uniside's" outer layer is completely galvanized for increased rust protection. This feature, together with our exclusive Deep Dip process, makes Rambler the world's most completely rustproofed car.

"Uniside" brings yet another bonus to the Rambler Classic Six—striking new beauty! This year, the car is lower, with the same generous interior dimensions. Side windows are now curved to give added spaciousness (a touch of beautiful luxury found on few other cars in the world). Chair-high seats, in a new variety of colours and quality fabrics, are still a major comfort feature. Moulded, one-piece floor coverings have been added while the Cushioned-Acoustical ceiling remains a Rambler exclusive.

Other new Rambler features include an alternator which charges even while the engine is idling to keep your battery at full-strength for better performance. A new three-point engine mounting eliminates vibration and noise. A longer wheelbase gives an exceptionally smooth and quiet ride.

Standard Rambler features that are still exclusive are the improved Ceramic-Armoured muffler (guaranteed for as long as you own the car), a two-year guarantee on both the battery and coolant, and the Double-Safety brake system.

For those who are looking for breath-taking luxury and performance, the new 1963 Rambler Ambassador V8 is an unusual value. With all the features of the Classic Six it has one of the best weight to horsepower ratios in the industry for outstanding performance. And you'll be surprised at its new low price.

Once again we've produced a car designed primarily for maximum usefulness to the user—with Rambler's proven performance, dependability and economy. Take a test drive in a new Rambler Classic Six or Ambassador V8 at your Dealer's soon. Prove to yourself that they are the most beautiful, most practical cars ever designed for the Canadian motoring public. And if you're in the market for a compact car, see the new 1963 Rambler American Six—the lowest priced Canadian car you can own.

Scoring Potential Seems To Be Portland's Problem

By LARRY ROSE

VICTORIA (CP)—What Hal Laycoe describes as his "major" problem in preparing Portland Buckaroos for the 1962-63 Western Hockey League season would probably make most other coaches green with envy.

The problem confronting Laycoe stems from his determined efforts to assemble an even stronger club than the one which easily won the WHL's Southern Division title last season before being upset by Spokane Comets in the playoffs.

"I've got no worries about our scoring potential," said Laycoe, "because we've got so many forwards with outstanding records last season.

"But who is going to check?"

Laycoe has three proven centres in holdovers Art Jones and Doug Anderson and Gerry Goyer. Another centre is Ken Laufman who joins Portland after winning two straight scoring titles in the U.S. Eastern League. Goyer, high up in the WHL scoring with Los Angeles Blades last season, was purchased from Toronto Maple Leafs.

FASHOWAY RETURNS

Returning left wingers are Gordon Fashoway, the WHL's all-time goal-scoring leader, Arlo Goodwin and Bill Saunders.

Tom McCarthy, who scored 53 goals with Kingston of the Eastern Professional League last season and was selected to the all-star team, joins Portland as a right winger. McCarthy's Kingston teammate, Orval Tessier, who set a professional record with 54 goals last year, will move from centre to right wing for the Buckaroos.

Other Portland right wingers are returnees Arnie Schmautz and Tom McVie who collected 45 goals last season.

Rookie centre George Knipelberg and right winger Ed Dudych, both of whom started with Portland last year but saw only limited action due to injuries, will try again.

Don Head, who played 38 games with Boston Bruins of the National League last season, will be Portland's regular goalie. Head appears fully recovered from a hip injury that forced him to miss all but four games after he was returned to Portland mid-way through last season.

Mike Donaldson, who played with Rochester of the American League last season, Dallas Smith, Martin Howe and holdovers Bill Davidson and Jack Bionda will be the Buckaroo defencemen. Howe was with San Francisco Seals of the WHL last season, and Smith comes from Pittsburgh of the American League.

BOSTON (AP)—Neal O'Hara, who wrote a column, Take it From Me for the Boston Traveler for 39 years, died Thursday. He was 69. His final column was published in The Traveler Thursday.

Canucks' New Look Not a Winner, But It Will Help

By DENNIS ORCHARD

VANCOUVER (CP) — Vancouver Canucks staggered into 1962 under inadequate leadership, inexperienced owners and a porous defence.

It won't necessarily extract them from the northern basement of the Western Hockey League, but this year they stand to correct all three faults.

Fred Hume, former Vancouver mayor and former owner of the defunct New Westminster Royals, is the new owner of the club. Max McNab, Hume's choice for manager and coach, has been hired away from San Francisco Seals. And the hunt for defencemen is on.

If Canucks have a major disappointment in the quality of their new look, it is the failure of their National League partners — New York Rangers — to come up with first-rate player help.

Hunter Gets Elk, Bear Gets Elk, Hunter Gets Bear

How close and how often can you walk near a grizzly kill without arousing the killer instincts of king of the woods?

Very close is the answer, four visitors to the Kootenay discovered through experience in the Yahk area recently.

Jim Wood and Art Waller of Vancouver Island, Tom Waller of Summit Lake, northern B.C. and Conrad Smith of Victoria, walked within 70 yards of a king grizzly 12 times through dense brush before stumbling into his presence.

Hunting elk south of Yahk, the group made an early kill. Later they pinpointed it about 200 yards up the mountainside from the camping area of the bear.

It took six round trips by the group to pack out the quartered kill, each time passing by Mr Bruin's hiding place.

The following day the hunters set out again. Jim Wood worked his way through the dense bush, onto a knoll overlooking a gully. Then, the grizzly announced his presence, rearing up and bellering 20 yards away across the gully, then lumbered straight for Wood heading into dense bush.

Before the grizzly had made five yards, four 308 slugs ripped into his hide, one in the throat, four in the head. Surrounded by bush, Wood had fired quickly. His small area was the only place around allowing any maneuverability for sighting and firing.

The grizzly had been living off an elk kill during the hunters' wandering through the area. How the silvertip giant dealt with intruders was reflected in the corpse of a black bear near the elk kill.

It is reasoned that the black bear had been trying to munch a free meal off the elk kill when the grizzly efficiently and promptly ended his hunger troubles with a crushing blow. The grizzly had dragged the victim 20 yards away from the kill and buried him under a mound of scooped-up leaves.

The grizzly was estimated to weigh over 800 pounds.

Comments on the Series By Giant's Harvey Kuenn

This is the first of a series of daily stories on the World Series written exclusively for for The Associated Press by the Giants' veteran outfielder-infielder, Harvey Kuenn. Kuenn's comments will be carried each day during the series.

By HARVEY KUENN

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — I look for a very tough World Series with New York Yankees but I think we will win.

It may take the full seven games, of course, because the Yankees are always of championship calibre. Then, too, our pitching staff is tired.

I have been asked if I thought the momentum and the enthusiasm we generated in winning the playoff series with the Los Angeles Dodgers will be maintained.

Yes, I definitely think it will, and that final win in Los Angeles was a great boost for our spirits and morale.

There is a contrast between our team, having to go all out and into the playoff games, and the Yankees, who have been able to relax all week after they clinched their pennant. They have problems, too.

When you sit around for days, with nothing much to do, you are liable to lose your edge. I think it's better to have played every day, even if it has been a long tough season and the strain and tension of these past few days has been immense.

The Yankees' strong points are power and their defence. Everyone knows about their power, and their defence must have been good all year.

But I think our defence is equal to any ball club in baseball. Jose Pagan is one of the best, if not the best, shortstop in the league, and Willie Mays—well, everyone knows about Mays. He's just out of this world.

Import Surcharges Passes by Cabinet

OTTAWA (CP)—Import surcharges imposed last June as part of the government's austerity program were passed by the cabinet through authority provided by Parliament, Justice Minister Fleming said Wednesday.

He was replying to Stanley Knowles (NDP — Winnipeg North Centre) who asked in the Commons whether the surcharge order had been scrutinized by the justice department in accordance with the Bill of Rights.

He suggested the surcharges involved "taxation without due process of law."

Mr. Fleming said the cabinet course was based on the opinion of the law officers of the Crown, or in other words the justice department.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Replying in the Commons to Social Credit Leader Thompson, Mr. Nowlan did not say when the loan falls due.

The IMF loan was part of the $650,000,000 in credits obtained by Canada to bolster the exchange reserves following the government's June 24 announcement of an emergency.

Zoellner Chairman 'Forks Recreation

GRAND FORKS — William Zoellner was elected chairman of the Grand Forks Recreation Commission at the annual meeting. He suceeds Harry Kanigan, who has been retained as one of the several directors together with Jack Goddard, the city's representative.

One of the two student representatives, Harold Hancheroff, was elected vice-president. Continuing her work as secretary-treasurer is Miss Ann Baker.

Miss Cherry Miller is the other representative from the student body. Both students are new to the commission, which is comprised of 11 members.

During the past year, the recreation commission received $1,500 — $800 from the City of Grand Forks and $700 in regular provincial government grants.

The responsibility of making donations to assist various groups who applied was one of the main tasks of the commission. Chief recipients of financial assistance were the Grand Works District Projects Society, $100; Grand Forks Athletic Club for the Babe Ruth Baseball league, $300; Boy Scout Group Committee for the Scout Hall, $75; the Swimming project, $435. Other sundry expenses came to $104. The year ended with a credit balance of $491.

A leadership conference in Kelowna was attended by Harry Kanigan, Bill Chernoff and Bill Faminoff. A drama workshop conducted last fall by W. J. Zoellner proved beneficial to the many attending it, it was felt.

MARKET TRENDS

MONTREAL (CP) — Central Del Rio led a strong spurt by western oils on the Montreal and Canadian exchanges Thursday. Other prices were slightly lower.

Central Del Rio jumped $1 to $9.10 on a turnover of 136,800 shares. The stock rose $1 Wednesday amid take-over rumors.

Bailey-Selburn A gained 80 cents to $8.15 among western oils and Canada Southern Petroleum added $1.35 to $4.40. Canadian Husky rose ¾ to 7⅝ in active trading.

Bell Telephone fell ⅜ to 48⅝ among utilities and Dominion Tar fell ¼ to 16⅝ among papers. Stelco at 16 and Atlas Steels at 34 both fell ½ among steels. Seagrams added 1⅛ to 41½.

In mines, Marchant rose 11 cents to 77 cents, Malartic Hygrade 19 cents to $1.67 and Fox Lake four cents to 29 cents.

NEW YORK (AP) — Motors paced a late stock market rally Thursday, leading prices up from sluggish irregularity.

Buyers were attracted to motor stocks by news of a favorable reception for the 1963 auto models and news of both a big gain in auto output for the week and in auto sales for September.

Another encouraging item was that department store sales in September equalled the record set in March. On the negative side, rail cardloadings were were sharply below a year ago.

Volume sank to 2,530,000 shares from 2,610,000 Wednesday and, once again, was the lightest since Sept. 10 when 2,520,000 shares changed hands.

The Dow Jones industrial average made a fair-to-middling advance of 3.89 at 582.41. The Associated Press average of 60 stocks rose 1.4 to 216.1.

Korvette reported a slight gain in earnings, but the amount of the rise was disappointing to analysts and the stock was sold heavily. Korvette was the most active stock, off 2 at 30 on 101,300 shares. Second was Polaroid, up 3¾ at 117⅛¾ on 39,300 shares, as short sellers covered their contracts.

Xerox, also helped by short-covering, rose 5 points, IBM 9¼ and Litton Industries 2.

Among the auto stocks, GM rose 1⅜, Ford 1¼, Chrysler 1⅝ American Motors ½ and Studebaker ½.

Among Canadian issues Distillers Seagrams and Granby Mining were ahead ½ each while Aluminium Ltd. gained ¼. Walker Gooderham was off ½, McIntyre Porcupine ⅜ and International Nickel ¼.

American Exchange prices moved generally higher in slow trading. Fargo Oil was ahead 5-16, Scurry Rainbow Oil ¼ and Shawinigan ⅛.

Borderline Ski Club Moves Site

GRAND FORKS — A meting of members of the Borderline Ski Club was held at the summit of Anarchist mountain recently.

Purpose of the meeting was to view the mountain to see if the present site could be improved upon, and find a location for the additional cable tow, which has been donated to the club by the old Skyline Club of Richter Pass.

Over 60 members of the Borderline Ski Club turned out for the meeting.

After looking at various sites it was unanimously decided to transfer the tow equipment from the present location to a new site approximately three quarters of a mile east of the summit of Anarchist and one hundred yards off the main highway. An almost perfect ski bowl is situated at this place, with hills suitable for everyone from the experts to beginners.

CHALLENGING GROUND

One of the deciding factors for the move was that some of the older boys and girls were ready for more challenging ground on which advanced instruction could be given. At the same time the ski club was determined to keep in mind that the club was originally founded as a family ski centre and therfore must have gentle slopes for beginners.

At the new site there is steep ground for experts, rolling hills for the intermediates, and gentle beginners' slopes.

A new and larger ski lodge will be constructed for this winter's use. Work parties began clearing and erecting the tows on Sunday.

CONSTRUCTION FIRM GIVES HOSPITAL $1000

GRAND FORKS — A cheque for $1000 towards the purchase of equipment for the new Boundary Hospital, a gift of P. F. Law Construction Ltd., was presented this week by Murray Ewing, vice-president of the company, to Dr. J. P. Bekker and D. C. Trumpour of the building committee of the Boundary Hospital.

Mr. Ewing, in presenting the gift, said that the P. F. Law Construction Ltd., had been in this district for the past eight years and had come to consider itself a part of the community. The company and its employees enjoyed wonderful co-operation and pleasant relationships with the boundary area during these years and look forward to a continuation of the friendship for many years to come.

Hunting Safety Brought to Gun Club Attention

CRESTON — President Homer Eddy brought the October meeting of the Creston Valley Rod and Gun Club to order Monday evening and brought "Hunting Safety Week" to the attention of members present.

In an effort to curb careless hunting accidents, the Fish and Game Branch of the B.C. Government has made October 1 to 7 "Hunting Safety Week." Mr. Eddy urged the co-operation of the entire club in this project and asked each member to wear a red cap in recognition of the week, as has been done in other areas in the past.

Mr. Eddy also brought to the attention of the members, the summary of the 1962 Fish and Game Report. Of special interest to the club was the section dealing with Kootenay trout hatcheries and the number of spawning rainbow trout passing through the Lardo and Duncan rivers into Kootenay Lake.

The site of the Rod and Gun project for junior members has been chosen and major steps shall be taken towards its completion following finalization of legal matters between Mrs. P. Snyder and the Rod and Gun Club. A brief question and answer period was held concerning the matter.

Following the short business meeting, President Homer Eddy and guest Miss Jean Henderson showed a series of films and slides to the club members dealing with the Roger's Pass and other areas of interest to the Creston membership.

Vancouver Firm To Contract Sewer Work

CRANBROOK — On recommendation of Associated Engineering Services Ltd., city council has approved contracting with Jamieson Construction Ltd. of Vancouver for construction of the new sewage lagoons and trunk sewer approved by ratepayers in a $302,000 bylaw in July for sewer improvements.

Construction company bid on the project was $172,455. Other tenders submitted were by Poole Construction Ltd. of Calgary at $354,335, and Tollestrip Construction Ltd. of Lethbridge at $225,483. Tender by A. G. Bayes Construction Ltd. of Cranbrook for trunk sewer only was $85,689.

The New Westminster engineering firm is agent for the city and drew up the engineering plans on which tenders were called. The bylaw is to cover long-term sewer system improvements, most pressing of which were expansion of the lagoons two miles north of the city and replacement and improvement of the present partly-open ditch trunk.

In addition to this, it covers new laterals, concentrated largely in the annexed area between Victoria Avenue and Cranbrook Street northward from North Fourth to new city limits.

Gaglardi Replies To Property Owners

SALMO (NDN Bureau) — Pointing out the property-owners have been using highway right-of-way as their own for years without paying taxes, Hon. P. A. Gaglardi, provincial minister of highway, has advised the Salmo local, Nelson and District Mine & Mill Workers' Union, that he feels the owners should be obliged to remove their fences when the land in question is required for right-of-way purposes.

Mr. Gaglardi's letter, dated Sept. 27, was his second in reply to a protest lodged with him by William Rudychuk, business agent of the miners' union, on behalf of a number of Salmo area property-owners whose fences, fronting on Highway 3A, were recently removed by department of highway crews.

He reiterated the department's claim, not disputed by the property-owners, that various requests had gone out to the owners, over a two-year period, to move the fences back to their property line, without results.

About 20 feet of land is involved.

Mr. Gaglardi explained that it had become necessary to move utility line poles back from the highway, and this mad enecessary the reclaiming of land wrongly fenced in by the property-owners. The whole action was being taken so snowplowing operations could be carried out with more ease.

He added: "Apparently the correct property boundary line has been staked by the department on various occasions so that the property owners must certainly have been aware of the location."

Pope John Makes Pilgrimage

By ALLAN JACKS

ROME (AP)—Pope John today made a pilgrimage across Italy to pray for the success of the Roman Catholic ecumenical council.

The 80-year-old pontiff could hardly wait for the two locomotives to pull his nine-car train out of the Vatican's own railway station on the closest thing to a whistle-stop tour the modern papacy has seen.

"It seems you always have to wait," said the 80-year-old ruler of the Roman Catholic Church as he looked eagerly out from an open window wondering when the train would start.

Just then a trainman at the rear yelled "Pronto." The engineer at the other end signalled he had heard, and the train was off on the first papal railroad ride in 99 years.

The Pope was due back at the Vatican before midnight after a trip 418 miles across Italy to Loretto, a shrine to the Virgin Mary, and back to Rome via Assissi, birthplace of St. Francis.

Thousands gathered at 53 stations en route to cheer the pontiff as he passed.

HOPES TO GO AGAIN

After the 12-minute ride to Rome's Trastevere station to pickup Italian Premier Amintore Fanfani, Pope John told reporters:

"I hope it won't be another 100 years before a pope makes this journey. I don't think it will, because I hope to travel some more myself.

Pope Pius IX took the last papal train trip in 1863, seven years before Italian nationalist troops seized Rome. This ushered in a 59-year period when popes considered themselves prisoners and remained in the Vatican.

It was only the second time in history that a passenger train had left the Vatican, whose station usually serves only for freight. The first time was in May of 1959 when a train took the body of St. Pius X to Venice, where he once had been patriarch.

Big Drop E. Kootenay Male Unemployed Figure

CRANBROOK—National Employment Service statistics for the Cranbrook office, which covers area from Kootenay Lake to Elko and north to Parsons, list 408 unplaced applicants for jobs the end of September, 254 males and 154 females. During the month there was a drop from the total of 336 males and 162 females listed, total of 498 persons.

Appreciable drop in unplaced males seking jobs is partly attributed to listed transients moving off to a new area, and also to active construction work in the district, housing in Cranbrook and the Kimberley industrial construction project.

The total is lower than the 283 men applicants listed for the end of September last year, although the total of listed women applicants at last September was lower than the 154 tally the end of this September.

Seasonal railway layoffs which accompany discontinuation of rock trains between Montana and Kimberley is at present under way which may increase the listings this month. Construction employment is also operating steadily along with steady woods production.

Cranbrook SPCA Being Organized

CRANBROOK — Decision to apply to the British Columbia Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals for a charter for a new branch to cover Cranbrook-Kimberley electoral district was reached Friday by a group of enthusiasts. Kootenay Branch was chosen as the name of the organization.

Purpose of the SPCA is to look after the interest of animals, particularly domestic pets, where there is evidence of abuse or neglect.

Temporary officers, pending issue of the charter, are: Douglas Armstrong, president; Mrs. Alec Williams, vice-president; Mrs. R. N. MacKay, treasurer, and Mrs. Robert D'etcheverry, secretary.

The six directors nominated are Elmer Bjorkman, Mrs. G H. Paterson, Mrs. Steve Hebert, Mrs. Bart Schmidt, Robert D-Etcheverrey and Peter Graham.

L. C Bonnier, Cranbrook's poundkeeper and organizer in preparation for start of the Branch, was named its agent. Persons observing an animal in difficulty will be asked to report it to the SPCA Branch directors, who will investigate and decide on the action to be taken by the agent both in giving practical assistance to the distressed animal and in deciding the course of legal action where indicated necessary.
