Columbia River Seen As Coming Election Issue

U.S. Official Predicts Settlement Soon After Next Federal Election

By HAROLD MORRISON

WASHINGTON (CP)—Brig.-Gen. William Lapsley, chief of the United States Army Engineers' North Pacific division, predicted Thursday the Columbia River controversy will be an issue in the next Canadian federal election and that "after that time we may have the issue settled."

He told a Senate subcommittee it is his understanding that the British Columbia Power Commission has undertaken some initial planning on the Columbia project and that to him indicated there is a good chance the Canada-U.S. treaty will go into operation once the political fight is over.

Lapsley told a reporter later he based his statements on informal information he received "and not as a principle in negotiations between the U.S. and Canadian governments."

Anticipating that a Canadian general election will be held before next March 30, Lapsley figured the treaty would be ratified in Canada with a "reasonable" period thereafter.

He appeared as a witness to support the government's request for approval of the $325,000,000 Libby Dam, to be located on the Kootenai River in Montana. Forming part of the Columbia River deal, Libby Dam would back water about 42 miles over the Canada-U.S. border into British Columbia.

Though Lapsley suggested he was conveying only his personal view, it appeared to coincide with opinion in other federal quarters that the U.S. may have to wait until the Canadian election is over before the treaty issue can be settled.

PUSH PROTEST

The U.S. recently suggested in a note to the Canadian government that th treaty—already ratified by the U.S. Senate—be submitted to the Canadian Parliament immediately and the federal - B.C. dispute over the export of power be left for arbitration later.

A high United States authority added Thursday that though no deadline or ultimatum was contained in the message, "we made our position clear"—meaning the U.S. government would have to consider alternative power sources if the Canadians do not ratify the treaty soon.

In line with that suggestion, the U.S. interior department and army engineers reached agreement over a firm division of responsibility on various power proposals, in Alaska and the U.S. Pacific Northwest including the Columbia River basin.

An authority said this could hasten action on laternative power proposals in the Columbia region if the Canadian treaty issue is not resolved. He said that if these alternative projects are initiated, the immediate value of the Columbia River project would be reduced, perhaps by as much as 25 or 30 per cent.

The U.S. government likely will seek financial authority from this session of Congress to begin preparations for some of these alternative projects, but the government may not give them priority over the Columbia if there is any indication that the Canadian delay can be ended this year.

R. China Purge Appears Near

TOKYO (AP) — In terms that suggested a new purge may be imminent, Red China's leadership sharply denounced Thursday the thousands who make up the mainland's Communist bureaucracy.

Breaking the silence which has surrounded meetings of the party central committee and the current National People's Congress or parliament, the Peking People's Daily said:

"There are persons who have become steeped in bureaucracy, exhibit feelings of insolence and self-satisfaction, forget realities, estrange themselves from the masses and do not care to discuss things with the masses."

The paper, which speaks for the Chinese leadership, went on to demand the "re-eduction of many of the more than 12,000,000 members of the Chinese party, the largest in the Communist camp.

The phrase suggested a severe shakeup.

The unusually strong attack on the men and women who carry out the policies of the Peking rulers raised the possibility they may soon be blamed in part for the present Chinese crisis.

Deep Differences Noted Between Russ, Red China

WASHINGTON (AP) — State Secretary Rusk told Congress Thursday that there is "considerable evidence of deep differences" between the Soviet Union and Communist China.

He offered that view under questioning as he called on Congress to pass President Kennedy's $4,900,000,000 foreign aid bill in the name of "the security of the free world today and the shape of the world tomorrow."

Rusk said the Soviet Union and Red China have differences both in direct relations between themselves and in rivalry for leadership of the Communist bloc.

He said there is some evidence that Moscow and Peking are rivals in providing foreign assistance to other nations.

"There is reason to believe, also, that mainland China is disappointed in the amount of aid it has received from the Soviet Union," he said.

Rusk testified that the Soviet Union and Communist China have granted about $4,400,000,000 in economic assistance and an additional $2,000,000,000 in military aid from 1954 through Dec. 31, 1961.

He said the Communist bloc aid is running at the rate of about $1,000,000,000 a year in commitments.

U.S. foreign aid, he said, has risen from $2,100,000,000 to about $3,000,000,000 a year.

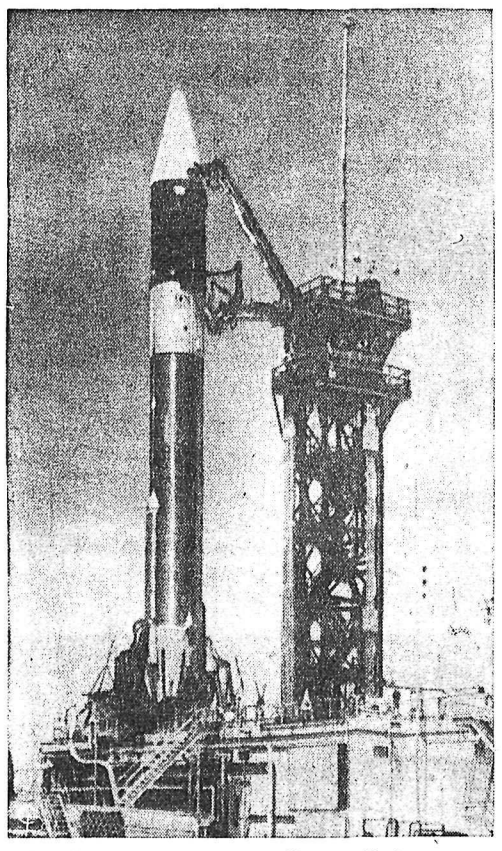
Parliament Thursday

By The Canadian Press

Arnold Peters (CCF — Timiskaming) warned that no more divorce bills will be passed in the present session unless the law is changed.

Justice Minister Fulton said opposition obstruction of the financial disclosures bill is "Malevolent nonsense."

A bill giving the government an interim money supply of $674,658,525 got quick passage through the Commons and Senate.



THE CENTAUR BEFORE FIRING—Here is NASA's Atlas-Centaur rocket, ready for firing on the launch pad at Cape Canaveral, Fla. This is the two-stage vehicle which will be used to get scientific Earth satellites and probes to the Moon and other "near" planets. The first stage Atlas-D booster develops 367,000 pounds thrust. Two 15,000-pound thrust engines power the second stage. First launching calls for a 1,175-mile firing to reach 300 miles in altitude.

Doctor's Appeal Turned Down

VANCOUVER (CP) — Mr. Justice Munroe in B.C. Supreme Court has turned down the appeal of a Kamloops doctor against his six-month's suspension from practise.

Dr. Orland Grenfell Burns was suspended earlier this year by B.C. College of Physicians and Surgeons for violating Medical Services Association and B.C. Medical Services Incorporated regulations.

The college ruled that Dr. Burns was guilty of unprofessional conduct in receiving money from MSA and remitting it to a chiropractor who had performed services for certain of the doctor's patients. Chiropractic treatment is not covered by MSA or MSI.

The court was told that Dr. Burns retained none of the money and that it was refunded when a complaint was laid.

To Hear Civil Servant Appeals

VICTORIA (CP) — Provincial Government Thursday appointed a board of reference to hear appeals by the B.C. Government Employees' Association against recent pay increases awarded by the Civil Service Commission.

The BCGEA protested against the pay increase when they were announced Feb. 12. Union officials said they had sought increases of between 5 and 20 per cent but were granted increases averaging only five per cent.

A date will be set for the board hearing.

Two 'Sons' To Go to Correctional School

VERNON (CP) — William Popoff, 18, and Steve Lapshinoff, 19, were each sentenced to one year definite and one year indefinite Thursday following their conviction on a charge of arson.

The two told Mr. Justice J. D. Ruttan and an Assize Court jury prior to their conviction Tuesday that they burned down a cabin because two Sons of Freedom Doukhobors told them to do it.

"I feel a penitentiary sentence is not meritted in this case," said Mr. Justice Ruttan in passing sentence.

He said he would recommend that the two youths be sent to the Haney Correctional Institute for instructional training on "how to live with your fellow man."

Popoff told the court Tuesday that "we did it because John Lebedoff and Mike Bayoff told us to do it."

Bayoff is a convicted terrorist and Lebedoff is the leader of a splinter group of Freedomites in the Kootenays.

The cabin on B.C. Land Settlement Board property at Gilpin near Grand Forks was burned down last December. It had been built by Popoff and Lapshinoff when they were about 13 years old.

Student Surprised

PENTICTON (CP) — Penticton high school student Russ Cutler didn't think much about it when a well-dressed gentleman gave him a lift as he hitch-hiked home from school.

It wasn't until he had chatted a while that he realized he was talking to Premier Bennett.

Thus Russ became the first British Columbian to meet the premier on his incognito tour of the province.

Russ said they just chatted in generalities — "nothing really important."

Woman Had Suffered Enough, Court Rules

VERNON (CP) — Mrs. Doreen E. Austin of Grand Forks Thursday was given a one-year suspended sentence after pleading guilty to criminal negligence in the fire deaths of her two sons when their home burned down during her absence last Dec. 12.

Mr. Justice J. G. Ruttan said in handing down sentence:

"No one, including this court, could give you more grief than you have already suffered. It is not the intention of this court to give you a prison term as it would serve no purpose."

Mrs. Austin was ordered to post a $1000 bond.

During the case Crown prosecutor P. D. Seaton told the court Mrs. Austin had left her sons, Glen, 4, and Dale, 8, alone in their small four-room home near Grand Forks while she went shopping. She had spent the day in Grand Forks.

When she returned the house was ablaze and the children trapped inside.

Mr. Seaton said the crown was pursuing such cases in view of the fact 19 children had burned to death in B.C. homes last year when their parents were absent.

Defence counsel M. E. Moran said the woman had been punished more than any court could punish her. Mrs. Austin had had five children. Now none were left. Three had died previously of natural causes.

He said Mrs. Austin had regarded her eight-year-old son Dale as a "little man" who was capable of baby-sitting by himself.

$17,000 DEFICIT

KAMLOOPS (CP) — Kamloops had a deficit of $17,600 in 1961 which city officials said resulted from over-estimation of city water works revenue and under-estimation of the costs of policing the city.

CPR Freight Traffic Up

MONTREAL (CP) — Canadian Pacific Railway Company said Thursday in its annual report railway freight traffic increased with the general business upturn in 1961, although passenger traffic continued to decline.

The report, signed by president N. R. Crump, said freight revenues in 1961 rose to $407,296,470 from $390,508,091 the year before, while passenger revenues dropped 14 per cent to $26,258,340 from $30,516,344 in 1960.

As previously reported, the company had net earnings in 1961 of $32,461,242, or $2.04 a share, compared with $28,971,276, or $1.81 a share, in 1960.

Mr. Crump said in the report freight traffic benefitted from the upward trend of the Canadian economy after the first quarter of the year, as well as from increased use of modern marketing techniques, such as piggyback carriers.

The number of passengers carried fell to 6,274,625 from 7,058,767 in 1960, and passenger train miles were reduced by about 1,500,000 or 12 per cent.

In its policy of eliminating unremunerative passenger lines wherever possible, the report said, passenger train miles have been cut by about 10,000,000 or almost 50 per cent.

Test Ban Treaty Hopes Hit by Russia's Stand

Take-It-or-Leave-It Policy Deadlocks Negotiations

GENEVA (AP)—The Soviet Union's tough "take it or leave it" policy makes it impossible to conclude a nuclear test-ban treaty, United States Ambassador Arthur Dean said Thursday.

Dean told a three-power sub-committee meeting working on the test ban that negotiations are frozen but that the U.S. "is willing to wait hopefully" for a last-minute change in the Soviet attitude.

Soviet delegate Semyon Tsarapkin. countered with a charge that U.S. plans to resume atmospheric testing in mid-Pacific late this month "had made the position darker." He said the Kremlin is willing to accept a moratorium on all tests while negotiations here continue.

The Soviet Union has said it would set off a new series of shots of its own if the U.S. series takes place.

MEET MONDAY

Despite the complete disagreement blocking the three nuclear powers, their representatives agreed to meet again Monday afternoon for yet another effort to resolve the deadlock. The U.S., Britain and the Soviet Union are sitting together as a subcommittee of the 17-nation general disarmament conference.

Basically the disagreement resolves around this issue:

The U.S. and Britain insist that a treaty banning atomic and hydrogen weapon explosions must be enforced by an adequate international inspection and verification system. The Soviet Union maintains such a system would flood Russian territory with spies. The Soviet delegation insists that existing naitonal instrument systems are adequate to see that there is no cheating on a test ban.

Fulton Praises RCMP Handling Of Freedomites

OTTAWA (CP)—Justice Minister Fulton said Thursday the Sons of Freedom Doukhobor situation in British Columbia's Kootenay district has "greatly improved" because of "very successful police operations."

He was replying in the Commons to H. W. Herridge (CCF—Kootenay West) who asked whether there have been any recent communications from B.C. Attorney-General Robert Bonner concerning some form of federal-provincial co-operation in regard to the Sons of Freedom.

Mr. Fulton said no specific proposal had been made recently by Mr. Bonner.

Tobacco Ads on TV To Appear After 9 p.m.

LONDON (Reuters) — Five major British tobacco firms announced Thursday they will no longer advertise on television before 9 p.m. in order to discourage children from smoking.

The five firms, the Imperial Tobacco Company, Ardath, Gallagher, J. Wix and Sons and Godfrey Phillips also agreed to discuss with the government the question of removing public vending machines which make cigarettes available to children.

A sixth firm, Carreras Rothmans (U.K.), a subsidiary of Rembrandt Tobacco Company of South Africa, said it will withdraw its vending machines from streets and public places to prevent children from buying cigarettes.

British law forbids the sale of cigarettes to children under 16, but outdoor dispensing machines make the law virtually impossible to enforce.

Carreras Rothmans also said it will ensure its TV advertising is limited to times when children are least likely to be viewing.

The moves by the tobacco firms followed a report by the Royal College of Physicians and Surgeons last month that said cigarette smoking was a major cause of lung cancer. The report sparked a government campaign to discourage smoking by children.

ROME (Reuters)—The Italian parliament gave final approval Thursday night to a bill outlawing tobacco advertising.

The bill forbids advertising of "any form of tobacco for smoking" whether Italian or foreign.

Offenders can be fined 20,000 lire (about $30) to 200,000 lire (about $300) and repeated offenders can be fined up to 2,000,000 lire (about $3,000).

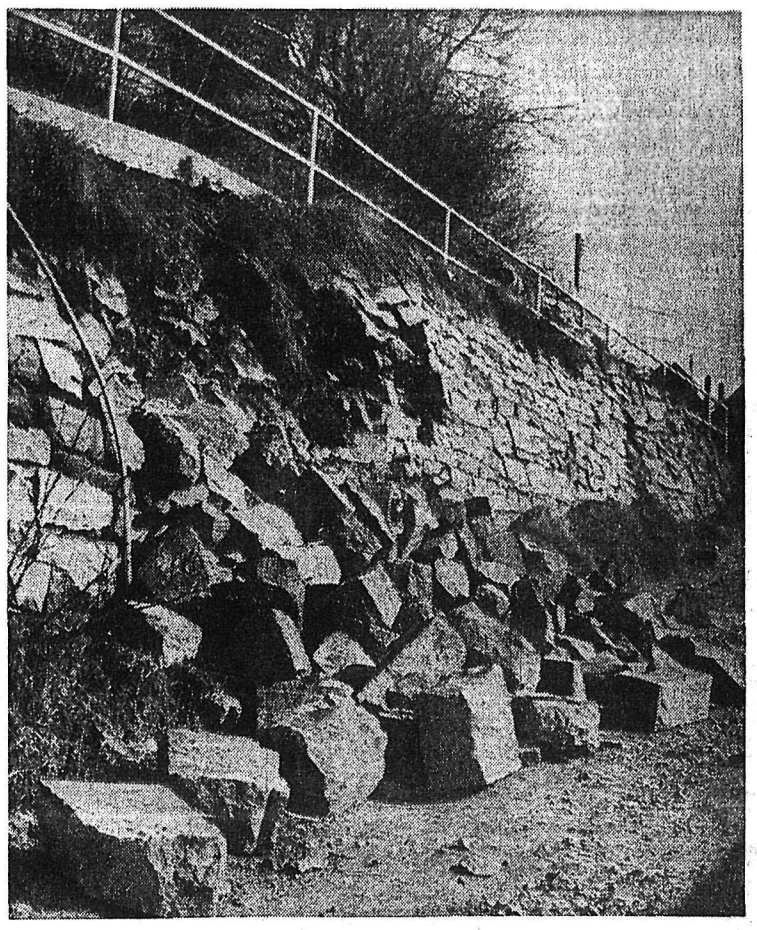
Passengers Removed as Ferry Grounds

NANAIMO (CP) — Close to 100 passengers were removed by rescue vessels Thursday from the B.C. government ferry Chinook after she ran on the rocky shore of Snake Island outside Nanaimo harbor in a dense fog.

The Nanaimo Harbor Patrol boat and the larger Gabriola Island ferry Eena answered the call after the Chinook struck. Passengers were removed without difficulty and taken back to Nanaimo in a shuttle service.

The Chinook, part of the Black Ball ferry fleet recently purchased by the provincial government's Toll Highways and Bridges Authority, struck the island on a falling tide.

Tugs pulled the ferry free from the rocks after three unsuccessful attempts late in the afternoon and she was escorted to drydock in Vancouver. The captain said the ship's outer plates were damaged but the inner hull was sound.



AND THE WALLS CAME TUMBLING DOWN, so the city works department is learning in 500 block Cedar Street. No trumpets were needed to spring the brickwork loose there, just mother nature's fickle ways. The road has been blocked off and the matter of restoration of the retaining wall left in the hands of city works superintendent Dragutin Likar.—Daily News photo by Bob Blackmore.

Saanich Dressing Up Douglas Street

SAANICH (CP) — The Saanich portion of the Douglas Street beautification project should begin to shape up within the next week or two.

It is part of a capital improvement district commission project aimed at beautifying the Douglas Street approach to B.C.'s capital city.

Saanich public works department has been widening sidewalks and installing precast concrete tubs for trees during the past month.

Next week, the parks department will start planting red oak and flowering plum trees about eight feet tall in the tubs, municipal planner Tony Parr said Thursday night.

The ornamental trees will be backed by a row of poplar trees to screen industrial warehouse and storage areas from view, he said.

Later, there will be colored, modern-design benches placed at intervals along both sides of Douglas for the benefit of pedestrians, and low lighting will be installed to illuminate the landscaping.

STEELWORKERS SEEK PAY HIKE

VANCOUVER (CP)—Canada's largest trade union—the powerful United Steelworkers of America (CLC) Thursday re-affirmed collective bargaining goals of righer wages, shorter working hours and longer vacations.

Some 200 delegates at the national policy convention of the 83,000-member union endorsed the existing policy on wages and working conditions in rapid order.

Reds Infiltrating Civil Service Britons Told

LONDON (Reuters) — British newspapers greeted with banner headlines Thursday the disclosure that Communists and Communist sympathizers have infiltrated civil service organizations.

Some of the newspapers forecast a large-scale shake-up in Britain's security system.

The disclosure was made by the Radcliffe committee, set up after Britain's 1961 spy trials to investigate public security procedures. It said there was a deliberate massing of Communist effort in civil service trade unions.

The Evening News headlines the report "the menace of Russian spies in Britain" and claims: "Russian spies are at work in Britain and are a constant menace to our security."

The newspaper adds:

"The committee's recommendations must lead to one of the biggest-ever shake-ups of the security system."

"BIGGEST PURGE"

The Evening Standard calls it a "Whitehall spying report sensation — biggest ever purge — watch on Reds in the unions."

The newspaper reports: "The biggest - ever peace-time anti-spying operation is now on. There will be more purges among civil servants, more careful screening and extraordinary new precautions in Whitehall."

Under the headline "Whitehall purge," an early edition of Thursday's Daily Mail claims that "Twenty leading civil service unions were under suspicion last night for links with communism."

The mass - circulation Daily Mirror, under the headline "Watch on the Union Reds," says the Radcliffe committee's report had been censored by the government for security reasons.

The Daily Herald agrees. Its front-page headline reads "Whitehall warned: beware union reds." It says "much more of the report is still secret and has been seen only by the prime minister, his senior cabinet ministers and leaders of the opposition."

The Daily Telegraph and The Times also feature the report as their main story.

And in This Corner . . .

LONDON (Reuters)—Two men were fined £5 ($14.50) each here because they stepped in to help a little man who was getting the worst of it in a fight with a big one.

The little man ran away.

The big one turned out to be a plainclothes cop trying to arrest him.

NOTTINGHAM, England (Reuters) — A man arrested on housebreaking and theft charges became violent at a police station and bit off a policeman's ear, a court was told Wednesday.

Constable Richard Banbury said: "I stood up and saw that my left ear was lying on the floor."

The man was ordered sent for trial later.

He said he wanted to prefer charges against the police because his jaw was broken in the struggle.

WATFORD, England (Reuters)—A 91-year-old motorist was fined £10 Thursday when he pleaded guilty to two charges of careless driving.

"I shall not drive again," Samuel Joyce told the court. "I am very relieved."

"We shall be relieved, too," said the magistrate.

LONDON (Reuters)—Mrs. Mary Edusei, wife of Ghana's industries minister, refused to part Thursday with the $8400 gold bed she had arranged earlier to return to the makers because of criticism in Ghana.

A spokesman for the makers of the gold-embossed bed said they sent a van to her London apartment to collect it as arranged —"but nothing doing — she refused to let our men take it, although they waited for hours."

A store official said: "It is up to Mrs. Edusei to contact us again if she wishes to return the bed. We already have agreed to refund the full price."

Mrs. Edusei, who paid for the bed when she bought it at a London store, asked the store to take it back after telephone calls from her husband, Krobo Edusei, and a reported statement by him that such a bed was not in keeping with Ghana's policy of socialism.

Maida Heads New Exhibition Board

Spurred on by a new president, Ald. Albert "Mr. Promotion" Maida, a new West Kootenay Exhibition board sets its sights on a more colorful, varied production for this September.

Heading an all male executive, abetted by a women's convening committee, Ald. Maida was not disheartened by the small turnout at the public meeting Thursday night.

"I have got the workers and as long as I've got workers I'm very happy. I have no worry about this at all and as we go along we will find people who are interested," said the new president.

He, then, promptly launched discussion into establishing the basis for the three-day festival of produce, crafts and displays. He ended the meeting on a tentative budget note of $6000 for the dates of September 15, 16, 17.

It was felt to be imperative that the price of industrial display booths be reduced to attract interested parties and that a midway be erected on the ball grounds.

Possibility of hiring a manager to co-ordinate the operation of the festival also was discussed. The Civic Centre Commission will be approached with the hope that the board may obtain the services of F. M. Boates, superintendent of recreation, for the position.

Last year the fair finished $2400 in the red. It did not have a manager or midway as in past years.

The old Fall Fair Board resigned en masse in January because of public apathy toward the festival. Since then, a number of the women have indicated they would be willing to serve under a new group but did not desire executive chores.

The new executive consists of: honorary president, H. W. Herridge, MP Kootenay West; W. D. Black, provincial secretary and MLA Nelson-Creston, and Mayor T. S. Shortthouse, immediate past president Mrs. R. H. Dill, first vice-president Doug Graham, second vice-president Ald. F. A. Beresford, third vice-president R. E. Young and fourth vice-president A. K. McAdams, secretary Mrs. Elsie Bereau.

Committee directors named are: Mr. McAdams, finance; Doug Champion, industrial booth space; Chief E. S. Owens, entertainment.

Possible money raising committees are the Jaycees who have been approached to handle a raffle, and the Kiwanis club, a bingo.

Regular monthly meetings of the new group will be the last Thursday in every month.

100 Hear Speaker V. R. Duncombe

Over 100 people crowded into the Kingdom Hall of Jehovah's Witnesses Sunday afternoon to hear V. R. Duncombe of Toronto speak on the subject, Is This The World's Last Generation.

"All evidence points to 1914 as the turing point in world history," Mr. Duncombe said, "and that we are living in the days of this world's last generation."

"However, this does not mean the destruction of the planet earth for God guarantees that he created it not in vain. Neither does the author of the Bible agree with the gloom prophets of today who forecast the annihilation of all life on earth in a hydrogen, chemical, bacteriological warfare."

"As Jehovah did not permit world conditions to get out of hand but acted to destroy the old world order in Noah's day, so he will also act to destroy the present wicked world order in order to preserve human life."

Presence of mind averted a dangerous situation at the city asphalt plant at Davies and Eighth Streets Thursday morning.

A flash fire occurred in the heat exchanger of the asphalt machine, igniting bulk fuel vapors which resulted in singed eyebrows and hair to one workman.

The city fire department, using 30 pounds of dry chemical and 15 pounds of carbon dioxide, had the fire out within minutes after their arrival.

Trio Knelt in Chicken House, Prayed Before Blasting Pole

Jury, Out Ten Minutes, Finds Three "Sons" Guilty

Three Sons of Freedom Doukhobors knelt in a chicken coop and prayed that they wouldn't get caught, hurt, or anyone else hurt, before they proceeded to make a bomb to blast a power pole, Supreme Court was told Thursday.

Larry W. Zaitsoff, Peter P. Zaytsoff and Fred J. Legebokoff told, in statements they made to police, of the small prayer meeting in the chicken coop before making a bomb and then attaching it to a power pole near Pass Creek last Dec. 30.

The three were convicted of the offence Thursday in a record ten minutes' jury deliberation, the second record to be set for the current Freedomite trials in two days.

The three pleaded not guilty to the charge of placing the bomb but did not cross - examine any witnesses presented by crown prosecutor George Murray, QC, and did not present any evidence themselves.

None of the three addressed the jury and Mr. Murray also waived his address.

The statements of the three Freedomites told of a meeting at Nick Kabatoff's home in Thrums last November when it was decided to "help the men in jail" and do some bombing.

The men were remanded in custody for sentence by Mr. Justice H. W. McInnes later in the assize.

The statements also told of Kabatoff giving the men three sticks of dynamite, 15 feet of fuse, and a dynamite cap.

Crown witnesses were Pete Repin of Pass Creek who heard the explosion at 10:40 p.m. Dec. 30; Const. R. M. Stephens of Castlegar RCMP detachment who investigated the scene; Const. J. C. Hunt who arrested Larry Zaitsoff and Peter Zaytsoff; Const. Peter Huska, Const. Nester Deputan, and Const. Edward Malinowski who took the statements; and Sgt. J. F. Betts of the Castlegar RCMP detachment who guarded the men there after they were arrested.

THREE MORE

Meanwhile, three more Sons of Freedom were committed to stand trial on two separate charges on Thursday.

Paul Rezansoff was committed by Magistrate William Evans to stand trial for conspiracy to commit arson and attempted arson at Pass Creek and Ootischenia last summer.

In the second preliminary hearing, both hearings being prosecuted by Nelson lawyer G. B. Arnesen, William Faminoff and John J. Evdokimoff were committed to stand trial on a charge of arson. The charge arose out of the burning of a shack in Goose Creek Feb. 2.

PROVINCIAL VISIT . . . Provincial Grand Master of the IOOF, H. R. Perkins of Nanaimo, flanked by Noble Grand of Nelson, Floyd Searle, left, and Deputy Grand Master of Kootenay, F. H. G. Lippingwell, made his annual visit to Nelson Wednesday. Accompanied from Trail by past grand master Bill Watson, Mr. Perkins visited shut-ins and ill members of the Order during the day before attending the Order's meeting Wednesday night.

Windermere Board Presses For Action on Highway 95

INVERMERE — Irate Windermere district resort owners and businessmen minced no words in demanding action on Highway 95 at a Windermere district board of trade meeting Thursday.

The road has been described as a "terrible", "deplorable" and "lamentable."

E. E. Tretheway, chairman of the roads committee, told a meeting of correspondence exchanged with the Hon. P. A. Gaglardi and R. O. Newton, MLA, and reported that money allotted for reconstruction of Mile Hill on the Radium-Windermere stretch has been allocated for further construction and repair of the broken up highway between Springbrook and Radium.

Chris Madson, Radium resort owner, asked Mr. Newton, "How good an argument do you put up in the House for completion of Highway 95?" Mr. Newton said, "I argue for the local people and the tourists to our valley."

Percy Dean, Windermere Beach resort owner, asked Mr. Newton, "Don't you think this area has been neglected? I think we should have a member who will do something for us."

Beverley Harris, CCF candidate in last provincial election, said: "We need a government which will do something for us. Apparently our member is powerless, let's get together and fight for this road."

Mr. Trethewey: "We've got to have this road to get anyone to this valley."

Herbert Blakley of Radium Hot Springs, Liberal candidate in the last provincial election, said: "If Easter weekend vistors see the road in this condition, we'll have no May 24 weekend travellers."

Roy Lake, Invermere, past president of Windermere district board of trade, said: "Let's face it; the road is grim, worn out, useless; it has to be reconstructed."

GOV'T SHARE

Mr. Harris asked, "Have we explored the possibility that the federal government might share the expense of completing Highway 95." Dr. F. E. Coy of Invermere past chairman of the roads committee working with Mr. Trethweey said "We have approached the federal government for four years to my knowledge, without success."

The meeting unanimously passed a resolution that they request the federal government pay a share of Highway 95 reconstruction from the border to Golden and in the National Park.

This letter will go to the Hon. Walter Dinsdale, Minister of Northern Affairs and Natural Resources and to the Federal Department of Public Works, with a copy to Murray McFarlane, MP for Kootenay East.

Mr. McFarlane is to be invited to attend the May meeting of the board, to be held May 3 in Invermere.

It was the best attended board of trade meeting for some time, representative of the entire Windermere district.

Ninth Ave. Developments Discussed . . .

Development Plan Turned Down by Kinnaird Commission

KINNAIRD — A report presented to this week's Kinnaird village council meeting showed that Kinnaird village commissioners agree the village should assume development of Ninth Avenue but that the problems involved would be too difficult to overcome.

Commissioners Ron Giles and Gerald Rust of the finance and water committee showed in their report that the area is one of the older sections in the community and well within the present established boundaries. However, if the commission ignores the present bylaw on property developments (shown to be the subdivider's responsibility) then the commission feels a precedent will have been set and other similar situations will be presented in the future. As an example, they gave the Sixth Avenue extension; Jankola extension and the portion from Home Building Supply to the new highway overpass.

Their report on development of Ninth Avenue goes on to say, "We feel that it is unwise to allow any further temporary water connections either from Tenth or Seventh avenues as this method is only prolonging the final solution and we do not consider it to be in the interest of sound municipal planning."

Their decision, however, was reversed when E. Storvold suggested running a temporary line the 800 feet along Ninth from the present main at the south end to help him in procuring water for his lot. This will be decided upon within two weeks.

The report also said that extending the line from the present main on Ninth to the Neilsen property (Storvold inclusive) would involve an expenditure of $3400 plus $500 road survey and cost of building the road, which would be close to $5000 for permanent facilities.

The commissioners estimated that the maximum frontage tax to be derived would be $240 annually, which in effect could not be amortized over a 20-year period. "It would seem that the amount involved is more than the water operating account or the general fund account should be expected to stand at the present time, particularly in view of other commitments which have more or less already been made. (Lightle subdivision, black topping and sidewalks).

The report advised that a permanent water system could not be procured because the expense involved could not be justified at this time.

TO TAKE OVER COMMITMENTS

A. E. Fitzpatrick, representing the KRC Society, expressed his approval of the commission meeting for the assembling of all village commitments to do with welfare and sports organizations, with the KRC taking full responsibility for payment of these donations. In turn, Kinnaird commissioners have budgeted a grant to the KRC of $150.

Opposition from future neighbors in the Kinberry Heights area prompted the commissions decision to notify Jack White to abandon plans for establishing dog kennels in connection with his proposed new residence there. Steve Ponak, John S. Ponak, and George Dawson have written the commission in protest against the kennels idea, Mr. Dawson suggesting that no business of this type should be carried on closer than one mile from the nearest residence.

During the month of March 650 yards of gravel were placed on roads. Village works department reports this was preceded by 37 hours spent on plowing and sanding; 56 hours were spent on grading and 24 hours were used for cleaning the gravel pit.

Clean-up has been done on culverts and drains; six gouges were taken out of blacktopping; 12 yards of gravel were used to repair 13 driveways dug up by the gas company.

The village dump has been cleared and levelled. A small hole has been patched up ni the 100-thousand gallon water tank, also the overflow buzzer on this tank has been patched up in the 100-pipe at the bench tank has been relocated and repair has been made to the shut-off valve at the swimming pool.

Reports Heard on Retaining Wall, Catch Basin Program

CASTLEGAR — Castlegar village commissioners discussed the works program at Tuesday's meeting, consulting the priority list submitted by works supervisor Norman McNabb. Available for current expenditure on sidewalks and retaining walls is $15,-639.

Mr. McNabb's monthly report included work done in clearing the Bloomer Creek catch basins of sediment and debris in preparation for the spring run-off.

During the month, 800 feet of retaining wall were completed on Columbia Avenue.

One catch basin has been constructed on Green Street, improvements made to another on Front Street, and one is under construction on Columbia Avenue.

There were eight two-hour parking signs placed at points on Wood Street. Added lighting has been placed at Nos. 1 and 2 pumphouses.

Maintenance continues to be carried out in the village.

Five building permits were issued totalling $53,500. Two were for store buildings, one for a garage, one for an apartment and a new home.

Dog license total is 121 from the beginning of the year, 53 issued during the past month. Sixteen traffic tickets were given out for overparking and other infractions.

Erimenko's Ltd. will make parking space available to the public where an old garage now stands. The company is tearing this building down and when the space is cleared they want the village to haul gravel to the new parking area. Commissioners have agreed and will look into the matter of a loading sign for the area.

Lloyd Groutage has made arrangements for the village to obtain a number of fully grown trees from the Trail area for the spring program.

A meeting with A. E. Staite, department of highways superintendent, was planned for this week; with the new road for the Castlegar Ranch Subdivision and connecting to the Shewchuk Subdivision to be discussed. Castlegar commissioners wish to establish the road on a permanent basis. They also wish to establish elevation and grade estimates from land authorities in recognition of the proposed subway off Columbia. It was decided to open the road reserving lots 15 and 16 for option for when the subway is established.

Water pipes and fittings are to go on order for the partial development of Castlebar Ranch. This was assured N. T. Oglow, who visited Tuesday's meeting concerning the new road and resultant building program which is beginning to take place in the area. He said he is confident there will be a minimum of ten homes started soon.

Two weeks are set aside for clean-up, April 9 to 19, with the first five days designated for burning. Notification will be placed in the local paper and official notice will be sent to the school board.

The unincorporated village of Casino has purchased Castlegar's small fire truck at a price of $400. Tuesday's village meeting approved the sale and authorized the money to be placed in the fire budget account. It is the intention of the fire chief to bring the fire department up to top efficiency with the ordering of new equipment including Scott air packs, which are breathing apparatus. Commissioner George Carr reported as fire commissioner.

The proposal of garbage collection for Kinnaird was unanimously opposed at the meeting. They felt that upkeep of the truck would be too costly and Kinnaird would find the collection fee too heavy if Castlegar would charge the amount the facility was worth in consideration of truck depreciation.

GIVES $50 TO KINSMEN HEALTH CENTRE PROJECT

CASTLEGAR — President Ernie Kruetzkui of the Castlegar-Kinnaird Kinsmen Club presented a $50 cheque to the proposed Kinsmen Health Centre at the recent Kinsmen meeting in Nelson.

The cheque is in recognition of the assistance given the Castlegar-Kinnaird club with their newspaper bingo games. The club is hoping to begin its second series of bingo shortly, president Kruetzkui reports.

Pest Control In Field Crops, Potatoes Shown

By J. E. SWALES, District Horticulturist

CRESTON — Two new publications which were recently received at the local B.C. Department of Agriculture office may prove of value to Kootenay vegetable growers. These publications are, "Control of Vegetable and Field-Crop Pests and Diseases, 1962-63," published by the B.C. Department of Agriculture, and Publication 938, "The Tuber Flea Beetle in British Columbia," published by the Canada Department of Agriculture.

The B.C.D.A. publication, "Control of Vegetable and Field-Crop Pests and Diseases," outlines the most recent recommendations for control of insect pests and diseases of vegetables and field crops.

Publication 938, "The Tuber Flea Beetle in British Columbia," should be of interest to all West Kootenay potato growers since the tuber flea beetle is fairly well distributed throughout the West Kootenay. It is known to be present in the area from Edgewood to Nakusp, throughout the Slocan Valley and along the Kootenay River from Castlegar to Procter. In 1961 the pest caused some injury to potato crops in the Crawford Bay area. Anyone growing potatoes in areas where tuber flea beetles are known to exist would be well-advised to carry out control measures as outlined in Publication 938.

Copies of these two new publications may be obtained from the local B.C.D.A. office.

New Castlegar Garage To Be Space Age Type

CASTLEGAR — Space age sculptural features will highlight the new garage to be built by N. Oswald, a garageman in Castlegar for the past 21 years, who is moving to a new location near the Castlegar arena.

Mr. Oswald plans to remodel the building at this location and a new office and workshop constructed. Architectural trends will combine the warm features of contemporary homes with the space age sculptural features.

Post and beam structure with exposed hemlock decking will give the office portion a similarity to contemporary home designs.

It is felt that this trend, which has already appeared in supermarkets, will be carried into service station design, thus changing their present cold, commercial appearance.

A contrasting "space age" feature will be the gasoline pump canopy. This will consist of a 24-foot high parabolic arch, penetrating and holding a translucent plastic canopy of a flying saucer design. The canopy will contain lights which will give it a fluorescent glow.

Remodelling of the existing garage will involve a division of the walls into colored panels of of white, turquoise, and ochre. Several of the panels will have mosaic sculptured in various metals and Italian glass tiles. The designs of these mosaics will probably concern themes dealing with the collision repair work and the scenery of Castlegar and surroundings.

Cranbrook Council Deals With Variety New Business Ventures

CRANBROOK — Approval in principle was given by city council this week for a new eight-lane bowladrome proposed by Kenneth Elkerton of Kimberley, representing a three - member partnership, to be located at 14th Avenue and Fourth Street North.

Location is in the area where city expansion is pending, and the partnership proposes a fire resistant concrete block structure and have made allowance for adjoining parking area.

Cranbrook has a commercially operated six-lane bowling alley in the city centre now, which operates to capacity. Building permit application must await issue of the letters patent. The letter proposes starting construction as soon as possible for operation of the bowladrome later this year.

Skyway Air Services Limited of Langley, B.C., was authorized to locate a trailer at the city airport at $20 a month, with stipulation it is to arrange for its own light and water. Application for this stated the company expected to have three fire-fighting aircraft on duty for the three months of summer here, and the trailer is for living accommodation of the crew for the aircraft.

AUTHORIZE SEWER CONNECTIONS

Nomad Holdings Limited, a Cranbrook syndicate which has a long extra - municipal area flanking the highway shortly north of what will be new city limits at John Street, was authorized to install 1,800 feet of sewer line, including six manholes, to serve the housing subdivision the company proposes. Single connection of this system to the trunk sewer which follows the highway north to the disposal lagoons was approved, the whole plan subject to deposit of $5,930 with the city, and syndicate assuming responsibility for all the required easements.

Car allowance of $30 a month for transportation in the course of their city work was approved for the works department painter, carpenter, assessor and building inspector.

Accounts totalling $19,705 were approved for payment by the city.

Another Coup d'Etat

Syria's latest flirtation with democracy has been brief, the Toronto Globe and Mail observes. Less than four months after its first and only general election, the regime of President Nazem Kudsi was ousted by a military coup. The demise of the fledgling government is another reminder, like the almost simultaneous coup in Argentina and the recent seizure of power by the army in Burma, that a democratic system installed by the military is easy prey to removal by the same force.

The immediate cause for the army's action appears to be the right-wing character of the new regime, the paper continues. The military command charged that the government intended to water down land reform and nationalization programs carried out under the leadership of President Gamal Abdel Nasser while Syria was part of the United Arab Republic. In ousting the elected government, the military claimed it was continuing the revolution begun in September, when it broke up the UAR and called for a democratic constitution.

The apparent contradiction in the army's creation and destruction of the democratic government is a symptom of the split in the revolutionary movement in Syria, and for that matter, in many underdeveloped states. On the one hand there are those primarily interested in establishing democratic forms of government; on the other, those whose principal concern is the social content of the program of the new regime. When the Socialists find that a democratic vote offers little promise of fulfilling their aims, they have few qualms about dispensing with the elected government. The latest coup seems to indicate that the more radical group now dominates the military command.

New expressions of friendship for Egypt are evidence that support for President Nasser has by no means vanished in Syria. For many Syrians, especially among the students and younger army officers, he remains both a symbol of social reform and the guardian of Arab pride.

Reunion with Egypt seems a highly unlikely policy, simply because too many Syrians have had their fill of it. But a more sympathetic attitude toward the Egyptian government is probable, and the sentiments inspiring President Nasser's foreign policies may be echoed in Damascus.

There is no reason to believe that the shift to the left in Syria is permanent. There have been seven coups d'etat since 1949. A diplomat at the United Nations observed during the crisis last fall that no coup d'etat has ever failed in Syria. Although they occur with less regularity and more frequency than elections in Canada, coups d'etat are almost as well established in Syria as the normal manner of effecting a change of government.

Popular Pooches

Some interesting statistics on Canada's dog population are outlined in records of the Canadian Kennel Club.

In 1959, for example, 8210 litters were born with a total of 38,362 dogs. In 1960 the total was 8804 litters with 39,699 dogs born.

According to the figures, top breed in sporting dogs in 1959 through 1961 was the cocker spaniel.

Beagle hounds took the hound top breed popularity poll for the three years in question.

In the working groups, the German shepherd was top breed.

In 1959 and 1960 in the terrier class, the Schnauzer was tops, with West Highland terriers taking the poll in 1961.

Pekinese were the most popular in the toy class in 1959 and 1960 and the toy poodle in 1961.

Miniature poodles were the most popular in the three year period in their class.

There are many other breeds popular in various areas, and among these are Doberman Pinschers, springer spaniels, labradors, weimaraners, dachshunds, fox terriers, basset hounds and many others.

Actually, the most popular dog is the family pet, no matter what breed.

Registered animals, as those mentioned in the statistics, are only a part of the total dog population.

Too Rigid

Britain has been pictured in the United States as a faint-hearted and wavering ally because at the Geneva talks Lord Home, the British foreign secretary, expressed willingness to accept "a minimum system of international verification" as a basis for an agreement prohibiting nuclear tests.

Rather, the case is surely that Britain — and most of the world — would sooner have tests banned on terms falling short of ideal, as seen by the United States, than no prohibition at all and a resumption of the vicious spiral of nuclear experimentation in the atmosphere, with its attendant fallout dangers. Such resumption is certain if no agreement is reached.

The United States is adamant in demanding inspection by visiting international teams as a condition of a test-ban. The Soviet Union as firmly resists the idea of having foreign inspectors on its soil, holding that remote detection of nuclear explosions is sufficiently effective to provide the needed safeguard.

In the eyes of the world, Russia probably has the advantage in this argument, even though it renders itself open to suspicion by rejecting international inspection as opening the door to espionage.

It must be hard for most nations to accept that the United States, which so prides itself on being in the forefront of technical achievement, and which has based its decision to resume tests in April (barring progress on an agreement) on remote analysis of the Soviet series of explosions last year, puts so little faith in monitoring that it cannot agree to a test-ban unless international teams can fully carry out inspections — the efficacy of which, moreover, must be regarded with some doubt.

There is no denying that Russia is obstructing the cessation of the nuclear race by its attitude. But the United States by the same token does itself and the Western cause no good; in the gaze of the rest of humanity, by rigid refusal to compromise when so much is at stake.

—Victoria Colonist.

Scanty Reserves

We hear a lot about world food surpluses, but all our stockpiles would last a very short time if a catastrophe ever stopped the growing of food — for even a short time. We have no reserves of fresh milk, about one week's supply of eggs and meat and vegetables and fruit.

—Farmers' Advocate.

Canberra Approves U.S. Tests

CANBERRA (AP) — Australians were told Thursday the impending U.S. nuclear tests in the Pacific are "critically important" and they have nothing to fear from radioactive fallout.

External Affairs Minister Sir Garfield Barwick reported to Parliament that a radiation advisory committee had satisfied the government the Christmas Island tests would not constitute a danger to Australia, New Zealand or other areas in the South Pacific Ocean.

He said President Kennedy had given assurance the amount of fallout over Australia would be much less than previous tests.

Barwick said it was a "critical necessity" for the United States resume atmospheric tests to avert the possibility that the Soviet Union might gain a decisive lead in nuclear weapons.

Moslems Nursed In Private Residences

ALGIERS (Reuters) — Moslems wounded by European terrorists are being nursed in private homes for fear the Secret Army Organization will repeat Tuesday's bloody raid on a clinic here, it was learned Thursday.

Informed Moslem sources said a substantial number of the wounded were being cared for by relatives or friends because "they kill you in the hospital." A French military spokesman here confirmed Moslems were refusing ambulance trips to hospitals.

Ten Moslems were gunned to death Tuesday when terrorists sprayed a clinic with tommy-gun fire and then blew up part of the building.

Moslems have been the chief victims in communal battles since last month's ceasefire. Of 15 persons killed in Algeria Wednesday, 13 were Moslems. Thirty - six of 37 persons wounded Wednesday were Moslems.

STEAL MAIL

In the western Algerian port city of Oran, mailbags with contents worth $200,000 were stolen Wednesday night. In Algiers, Secret Army mortars pounded the Moslem quarters of old Algiers and Belcourt, killing three.

The Secret Army has been attempting to provoke Moslems into reprisals which would force French troops to side with the extremists, but Moslem leaders have maintained iron discipline.

The Belcourt bombing brought angry Moslem crowds into the streets, but French troops and Moslem leaders moved quickly to restore order and prevent the feared reprisals.

The eastern Algerian town of Bone was rocked by 27 grenade explosions within a 2½-hour period Wednesday night, but caused no casualties or damage. They were believed to be riot grenades.

Civil Defence

British Columbia is setting up inter-departmental planning committees. Effective planning requires consultation and agreement between departments of government. Two such committees, known as Working Groups, are already functioning in Civil Defence Planning.

F. B. Pearce Writes

Having reached the mature age of seventy I now have to take a driver's examination as well as a medical examination annually. This seems to be part of the general fear of age. The medical examination is probably a very good thing but it should be started at an earlier age if only to obtain statistics which will indicate at what age the ability to drive becomes impaired. There should be no real need for the driving examination fo the skills learned at an earlier age never leave us.

However it si a very useful thing to go along with an expert and have him check on your driving. He will see the things in which you have become sloppy. Crossing the yellow sign and then stopping may be a good thing to do since the driver can see both ways up the intersection, but it counts as a rolling stop.

It is not until one get a blue paper for a traffic offence that one is able to realize how many infractions one can make and be fined for. It would be a good idea if onec a year the police department published the list for the benefit of drivers.

I always like to go to a city during the summer if only to keep my hand in for city driving. Every year there are new methods of traffic control — I came across the four-way stop in Montana and in this examination I was told that a flashing green light indicates a controllable pedestrian crossing.

Driving is not entirely a static affair which once learned is always the same. The good driver is always learning and even the best of them can make mistakes. Stirling Moss, the great British racing star, was fined for improperly passing. Mr. Gaglardi is probably a very good driver but he still breaks the regulations. He needs to profit by his experiences.

Statistics show that very few people over seventy have accidents. It is a general assumption that older people's reactions are slower.

Essentially this isn't true though their motor response may be slower. There are today very few occasions where fast reactions are important. Experience is far more valuable and the older driver score because of this while teenagers, for all their fast reactions, have the highest number of accidents. Traffic rules and lights save us from having to make fast decisions and so prevent accidents.

The driver has to pay for the medical exam even if he is covered in any other way and this does not seem quite fair to the older persons. The insurance companies also demand a medical exam so that the annual exam costs the driver twice what it should. The government's examination should be sufficient. It is much more comprehensive and thorough — in my opinion — than the one the insurance companies demand.

In fact if the driver holds a valid licence from the Motor Vehicle Branch that should be taken to mean that after seventy he is still able to drive.

Crippled by inflation and threatened by internal political unrest, Brazil is seeking urgent United States financial help to overcome an economic muddle that may take years to resolve.

Brazil has substantial quantities of coffee, tropical fruits, iron ore, hydro power and cattle but is short of those other inggredients that help industrialize a country—oil and natural gas, machine tools and non-ferrous metals.

While poverty stalks the hinterland, the population, now at some 70,000,000, is estimated by President Joao Goulart to reach about 200,000,000 in less than 40 years.

Clearly, great economic trials confront this, the largest of the Latin-American countries. Beset by a strong upsurge in nationalism, challenged in some areas by conflicting regional demands, Brazil is a bubbling cauldron that could be tipped at any moment by Communist forces, strongly rooted in the impoverished areas, particularly in the country's northeast.

Brazil is in critical need of help and may need help for years to come. But her nationalism has made the United States uneasy, particularly when Goulart bluntly refused to support anti-Castroism and has gone so far, while visiting Washington, as criticizing the Organization of American States for booting Castro's Cuban regime out of the central organ of the inter-American system.

CALLED IT POLITICAL

He has accused the OAS of putting political expediency ahead of legal righteousness—perhaps another indication that Brazil still won't go along with the majority view of the Latin countries.

Plainly, Goulart will not worship at the alter of U.S. foreign policy, though he has indicated that neither will he join the Communist bloc. He will attempt to pursue an independent course, to do what is best for Brazil in the light of trends that develop.

Under such circumstances, the United States might be less than eager to pour new foreign aid into the Brazilian treasury. But the alternative appears so clear that the United States can pursue no course other than to help the present elements of democracy in Brazil—to prevent the possibility of a Communist takeover.

So U.S. funds previously held up now are being freed. The U.S. treasury is turning over to Brazil some $129,000,000 in aid money. Other U.S. aid may provide Brazil with an additional $150,000,000 in goods.

PEI Official Says Financial Aid Only For Last Resort

OTTAWA (CP)—An official of the Prince Edward Island government said Thursday that federal financial assistance should be sought only as a last resort for rural development programs.

The statement by Hartwell Daley, research director for P.E.I., resources development program, was received with considerable surprise by the Senate land use committee which has become accustomed to requests for federal money for agricultural rehabilitation and development.

Senator Ralph Horner (PC—Saskatchewan), a persistent objector to federal handouts, said Mr. Daley's statement is "so good it's startling."

Mr. Daley presented a number of recommendations for implementation under the new federal Agricultural Rehabilitation and Development Act.

ARDA envisages putting rural land to more productive use, as well as soil and water conservation programs and general rural economic development. All costs would be shared between the federal and provincial governments.

Britain Lays Down Stricter Rules In Corridor Flights

LONDON (Reuters)—The aviation ministry Thursday announced stricter rules for British civil aircraft flying through the Berlin air corridors.

The ministry said that after May 1 airline operators intending to use the corridors must file flight plans with the ministry beforehand.

When corridor flight plans are submitted the ministry might order them to be altered if they are "in unsuitable form," it said.

Canadian Company Advised To Move Investments From Brazil

By HAROLD MORRISON

WASHINGTON (CP) — President Joao Goulart of Brazil says a Canadian company with big utility holdings in Brazil will be encouraged to transfer its investment into less controversial elements of the Brazilian economy.

The same policy would apply to other foreign-owned utility holdings. Each of them would get "fair compensation," the Brazilian leader added Wednesday in winding up two days of talks with President Kennedy on measures to meet the Brazilian economic crisis.

Kennedy expressed "great interest" in Goulart's approach to the utilities controversy and assured his guest of U.S. support in attempts to provide impoverished Brazilians with a chance for a better life.

Kennedy will make a return visit to Brazil later this year.

Brazil, rocked by internal inflation and high unemployment particularly in the northeastern area, is a big investment region for Canadian capital. Brazilian Traction, Light and Power Company Limited of Toronto and a subsidiary, Brazilian Telephone Company, own major power, telephone and other utilities there. One of the Brazilian states attempted to expropriate the telephone company but the Goulart government moved in to block it.

EXPLAINS FUTURE

Asked at a press conference what the future of Brazilian Traction will be, Goulart said misunderstandings sometimes arise between the foreign-owned utility companies and the licensing authorities because of inadequate service.

These utility companies would be encouraged to rechannel their investments into other sectors of the Brazilian economy and this would rebound to the benefit of the companies and remove frictions between Brazil and the countries in which the parent companies reside.

Later in a joint communique, the Brazilian president said that in transferring public utility enterprises to Brazilian ownership, "the principle of fair compensation with reinvestment in other sectors important to Brazilian economic development would be maintained."

While Goulart did not spell out what he means by "fair compensation," another Brazilian official suggested th eforeign-owned utility might get paid off partly in cash and partly in interest-bearing bonds. Proceeds might be used for investment in manufacturing or other Brazilian enterprises.

Goulart said in the communique his government intends "to maintain conditions of security which will permit private capital to perform its vital role in Brazilian economic development."

Delegates From India Tea Board Tour Canada, U.S.

By FORBES RHUDE
Canadian Press Business Editor

Tea is more than a drink in India—it is the country's largest earner of foreign exchange.

This is one reason a delegation from the India Tea Board now is touring Canada and the United States in an effort to increase sales on this continent.

A. S. Bam, board chairman and delegation leader, says production and world exports are increasing, but for some reason India tea has not been retaining its traditional share of the North American market. Its share of the Canadian market, for instance, has dropped from 48 per cent to 35 per cent in the last 10 years.

The answer doesn't lie with the Canadian housewife, except perhaps indirectly over a long period, because teas are not marketed by country of origin. It lies, rather, with the tea importer, who blends teas from various countries to get his finished product.

BLAMES THE PRICE

Price, apparently, has been operating against Indian tea because it commands a higher price at auctions in Calcutta, London and elsewhere than teas of similar quality from other sources, such as Indonesia and Africa.

Mr. Bam sees two possible solutions. One is increased production in India which presumably would bring prices down; and the other is to persuade Canadian importers to take larger quantities of higher-priced Indian teas, such as those from Assam and Darjeeling which Mr. Bam describes as unequalled anywhere in the world.

He emphasized, however, that the main interest of all tea growers is to get people to drink more tea. In Canada, the United States and Germany, India is a member of tea councils which carry on such over-all promotion.

India last year produced 771,000,000 pounds of tea—an increase of 65,000,000 pounds from the preceding year—of which 452,000,000 pounds was exported and the remainder consumed by the great tea-thirst of the Indian people themselves.

TARGET SET

Production target of the current Indian five-year plan is 900,000,000 pounds by 1965, with 610,000,000 pounds for export.

Canada now buys about 16,000,000 pounds of India tea yearly valued at around $9,000,000.

The United Kingdom is much the biggest buyer at 280,000,000 pounds, followed by Russia, the United States, Canada and Ireland in that order.

Because of the importance of the industry to the Indian economy the Indian government is offering various incentives. These include loans for new equipment; selective planting by scientific methods, including replacement of bushes, some of them 100 years old; and irrigation.

TO TOUR CANADA

In Canada the delegation is visiting Halifax, Saint John, N.B., Montreal, Toronto, possibly Vancouver; and, in the United States, New York, Chicago, Indianapolis, Los Angeles and San Francisco.

Mr. Bam, a graduate of the universities of Bombay and London in science and engineering, was India's iron and steel controller from 1957 to 1961 and, at a press interview, he said he wished to express appreciation for assistance Canada has given to India.

Other members of the delegation are C. V. Subbu, vice-chairman, India Tea Bord; N. S. Coldwell, deputy - manager, James Finlay and Co. Ltd., one of India's largest tea producers; and V. Parekh, managing director of Messrs. J. Thomas and Co. Ltd., Calcutta tea brokers.

VICTORIA (CP)—The annual harvest of southern Vancouver Island daffodils has begun. About 5,000,000 blooms will be shipped from here by air in the major rush about a week before Easter.

Gov.-General Urges More Art Interest

TORONTO (CP) — Governor-General Vanier said Wednesday night Canadians have been so busy building their country that they had had "too little time for art and music, literature and drama."

"The sum of our material achievements is indeed impressive," he said, "but it is time we thought of our national heritage in wider terms."

The governor - general made the comment in opening an exhibition of graphics by the West Baffin Eskimo Co-operative at the Toronto Art Gallery.

PM Gives Notice Of Legislation

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister Diefenbaker Thursday gave notice of legislation which is expected to include his long-awaited Senate reform measures.

The throne speech at the opening of Parliament in January said "a measure relating to the Senate will be placed before you."

Since then Mr. Diefenbaker has indicated that it likely will cover an age limit for senators who now serve a life term, depriving the Senate of legislative jurisdiction over money bills and a specific length of term for senators.

During the throne speech debate, Mr. Diefenbaker said all three will receive consideration.

The announcement about a Senate reform measure has given rise to speculation that an age limit of 75—the same as that for federally - appointed judges—will be imposed.

ENGINEER EXPELLED

VANCOUVER (CP) — The Association of Professional Engineers of B.C. Wednesday announced the expulsion of geological engineer Dr. W. H. Patmore for unprofessional conduct in the handling of trust funds.

Anti-Semitism in Soviet Union Shocks Diefenbaker

MONTREAL (CP) — Prime Minister Diefenbaker expressed "alarm and outrage" Wednesday night at recent manifestations of anti-semitism in the Soviet Union.

Addressing about 1,300 persons at the 38th annual Histadrut dinner, the prime minister said religious institutions in Russia are under continued harassment and oppression.

Mr. Diefenbaker spoke after receiving the 1961 Histadrut Humanitarian Award from Bernard Bloomfield, president of the Canadian Association for Labor Israel.

Histadrut is the popular name for General Federation of Labor Israel, a 728,000-member organization engaged in economic development, educational and rehabilitation programs, and manufacturing enterprises in Israel.

Mr. Diefenbaker's speech capped a whirlwind, afternoon-and-evening visit to Montreal during which he also looked in at a Progressive Conservative ladies tea and visited Loyola College, where he was given a lively reception by 500 students who remained after classes.

'SOVIET CRIME RIFE'

In his dinner speech the prime minister indicated he has received information that Soviet authorities are prohibiting Russian bakeries from making unleavened bread for the coming Jewish Feast of the Passover.

Mr. Diefenbaker said speculation, theft, corruption and bribery are apparently so rife in parts of the Soviet that authorities can find no solution but the death penalty.

"The Soviet leaders must not be allowed to conclude that the world outside is indifferent. Silence in the face of injustice will be taken as acquiescence."

Mr. Diefenbaker said Russia pretends to abhor discrimination. "The record, however, speaks to the contrary."

Dealing with the Geneva disarmament negotiations, Mr. Diefenbaker said practical problems in the way of agreement are formidable, "but they are capable of solution. On the basic issue, that the world would be better and safer with fewer arms, the U.S.S.R. and the West agree."

The award Mr. Diefenbaker received was an engraved plaque commending his "outstanding services in the cause of world peace," and his efforts to foster goodwill between Canadians and Israelis.

Mahoney Says Strikes Show Signs of Being Ineffective

VANCOUVER (CP) — The strike weapon may be obsolete, William Mahoney, national director of the United Steelworkers of America, suggested Thursday.

In his report to the union's policy convention here, Mr. Mahoney said strikes are becoming increasingly difficult to wage effectively and successfully under present economic conditions and under existing legislation.

"Until the political rules of the game are changed, the cards appear to be stacked against successful striking. We must renew our efforts and give a great deal more thought to our search for alternative measures."

He did not spell out what the alternatives might be to labor's traditional and ultimate weapon —withdrawal of services.

However, he did cite some reasons why he felt strikes may be ineffeciive.

"The improved standard of living and the costly medical, hospital and insurance benefits which most of our members now enjoy, as well as the increased cost of living, making strikes extremely expensive," he said.

"The unavailability of any public assistance or unemployment insurance for strikers means that the cost of strikes must all be met from union funds.

"When we add to this the pressure of massive unemployment and other incentives to legal strike-breaking, strikes have become extremely difficult."

O. R. Endicott officiating.

First Electramatic Drive in Outboards:

Johnson's new electric clutch eliminates double-lever controls and makes single-lever operation foolproof

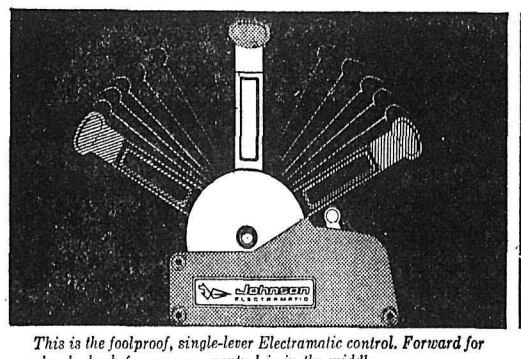
The invention of Electramatic Drive makes the Johnson V-75 and 40 Sea-Horse the most convenient-to-drive-outboards you can buy.

A single, foolproof lever controls the throttle and electrically engages the clutch. The pictures below show how the lever and clutch work. Push the lever forward to go ahead, back for reverse. The single-lever makes it impossible to move the wrong lever or race the motor in neutral. The clutch has two electromagnets. One for forward, the other for reverse. As you move the single lever forward an electric contact is made. Instantly the clutch is activated. Move it back to neutral, and instantly the clutch cuts out. When you move the lever backwards, the other electro-magnet cuts in and back you go.

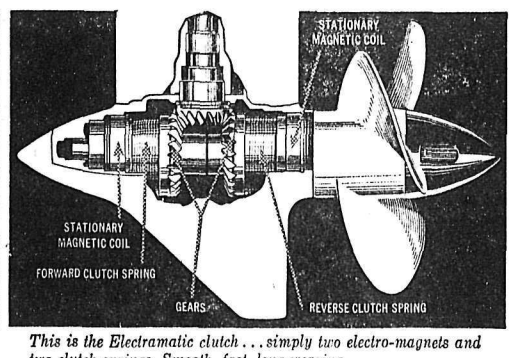
Will the electric clutch wear out? Hardly. Since electromagnets have no moving parts, wear is virtually eliminated. And the electric clutch action is smooth, instant and totally silent.

Electramatic Drive is available on both the mighty V-75 (illustrated) and the Sea-Horse 40. Your Johnson Dealer can show you which of these powerful Sea-Horses offers the measure of power, dependability and economy you want. See him now.

Your Johnson dealer also carries a complete line of Sea-Horse accessories, including generator kits, power-tilt kits, radio-noise-suppression kits and propellers. With almost a thousand dealers across Canada, service is never a problem when you own a Johnson.



This is the foolproof, single-lever Electramatic control. Forward for ahead—back for reverse—neutral is in the middle.



This is the Electramatic clutch . . . simply two electro-magnets and two clutch springs. Smooth, fast, long-wearing.

CARRY OVER FROM LAST SEASON MAY GIVE CARDS SHOT AT PENNANT

By WALTER JOHNS
Central Press Sports Editor

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla.—The St. Louis Cardinals, under Johnny Keane after July 8 last year, played the best ball in the National League, winning 47 and losing 33. And it is this momentum which may carry over this year and give the Red Birds a real shot at the pennant.

Keane, as nice a guy as you will find on the baseball circuit, is is using a new approach this year. He's playing his regulars in camp games, feeling that it is this group which must open the season.

"Our approach may be a little different," said Johnny as we sat with him in his office at Al Lang Field here, "but it is our feeling that we're going to get them in condition and these are the boys who are going to open the season. We're not running them into the ground but they're all going to play and that includes even Stan Musial.

"Our club got away badly several seasons and then came on in the stretch. Maybe this approach will correct that. We had the best mark in the league in the last half last year and yet we gained only 2½ games in the standings. The way we saw the league last year in that last half there wasn't an outstanding club. I think we have as good a chance as anybody."

* * *

A MEMBER of the Cardinal organization for many years, Keane has been a hit with the visiting newsmen in his straightforward sizeup of his club and his extreme courteousness.

"Shortstop is our No. 1 problem," he said. "We are hoping either Julio Gotay (Charleston) or Gerry Buchek (Portland) can do the job. Buchek is only 19 but a comer. He held up well in the field last year but didn't hit much. Gotay can hit but he seems to have trouble throwing the ball and I believe it's the crowds that get him. If they don't fit the bill we will use Alex Grammas there.

"Our next problem," continued Johnny, "is a left-handed reliefer to go with McDaniel.

"Our pitching staff should be better and we're looking for young Ray Washburn to help us. Washburn joined us at the end of last season and looked like he belonged in the major leagues." Ray, a $40,000 bonus kid, was 16-9 for Charleston last year and had a 1-1 record with the Cards.

The Card pitching is headed by Ernie Broglio, Bob Gibson, Larry Jackson, Lindy McDaniel, Ray Sadecki and Curt Simmons. Keane feels that the comeback of Jackson last year was the big key in the Cards' fine second half. Jackson was 3-8 at mid-season and put in the bullpen.

"We planned a program for him," explained Johnny, "and told him we were going to put him back as a starter and keep him in there even if he got his brains knocked out. In the first game against San Francisco, he was hit hard and was down 0-5 but we kept him in and he won it, 9 to 7. He retired the last 10 men in order and before the season ended he had won 11 out of his last 14."

Two pickups from Rochester, John Anderson, who was 14-9, and Johnny Kucks, former major leaguer who was 10-14, are now with the Cardinals and could figure in the pitching plans. Two other youngsters, not on the regular roster, may pitch their way in. They are Grover Gregory, a lefthander who was 13-10 for Charleston, and Dick Hughes 8-14 with Portland.

One of the key players in the Red Bird lineup this year is Gene Oliver, a hefty catcher with a lot of power who was with Portland last year prior to joining the Cards.

"He has loads of power, is an adequate catcher but we might suffer a bit defensively," says Keane about this rookie. "Oliver hit 40 homers last year, for Portland and us, and with Carl Sawatski we have good receiving. Jim Schaffer will be our No. 3 man."

The Cardinals' infield has power with Ken Boyer at third, and Bill White at first. Also on hand is the one-time Yankee bonus boy, Frank Leja, who is a first-sacker and hit 30 homers in the minors last year.

More socko has been added to the outfield, too, in the acquisition of Minnie Minoso, a fugitive from the American League. Minnie will play alongside Curt Flood, who had a fine season last year, and the great one, Stan Musial. Keane described Flood as "one of the best centrefielders in the majors and he's just as good as Willie Mays except of course he can't hit as well."

Minoso, according to Keane, has pepped up the club. "He is really putting life into this group" said Johnny, "and this is the first year he didn't play winter ball."

Leonard Would Like To See Golf College Chain Started

VANCOUVER (CP) — Golf has been good to Stan Leonard, the ageless Vancouver professional, and he wants to return the favor.

At 47, Leonard has been a touring professional only seven years but has an international reputation second to none in Canadian sport. Now he wants Canadian youngsters to have the opportunity to reach the same stature.

Leonard wants to see the establishment of a country-wide chain of "golf colleges" to raise the standard of play and eventually make Canada a first-class power in international golf.

GIVEN MEMBERSHIP

"I recall that when I was 14, and considered a fairly promising player, I was given a year's membership in the old Shaughnessy Golf Club.

"I consider that a vital turning point in my career because I was then able to play far more golf than I could have otherwise afforded, and also far better facilities for practice. I would like to see many more young Canadian golfers get such an opportunity. We should see to it that they get it."

Leonard's plan is for summer schools in selected areas across Canada. Each would hold a week's term on a golf course taken over exclusively under a rental arrangement. The schools, staffed by the best available pros in the area, would give intensive instruction to promising young golfers.

The students would pay a nominal sum, "perhaps $60 or $70," for the week's seminar, including keep, and attend full-time daily classes. The rest of the cost would be made up by golf association subsiies, local clubs, interested sportsmen and private industry.

"One of the greatest weaknesses and inequities of our golf system," says Leonard, "is that so many young golfers—because perhaps of the financial niability of their parents to join a private club—are denied the chance of playing on private courses, under the surveillance of the club pro.

COURSES CROWDED

"It is pretty difficult—as well as costly for many young players—to play enough golf, and learn it properly, on our crowded public courses."

The Leonard plan would see summer golf schools in British Columbia, possibly two of the Prairie provinces, Ontario, Quebec and in the Maritimes.

"It's an excellent idea," says Jock McKinnon, pro at West Vancouver's private Capilano Club. "And it would only be a matter of time before it pays off."

McKinnon says a similar plan has been working well for some time in Britain, where local golf associations sponsor schools for young golfers from 12 to 20.

Leroy Goldsworthy, Point Grey professional, says the idea is "wonderful" but he's doubtful whether golf courses could find room for the youngsters.

Len Collett, professional at Marine Drive, is sure most private clubs would make room.

"It wouldn't be necessary for the schools to have exclusive use of a course. They could be alloted so many hours a day, use of the practice fairways, and so on."

Canadian Rowing in Cambridge-Oxford Race

LONDON (CP) — Canada's lone participant in Britain's Oxford-Cambridge boat race approaches Saturday's zero hour with a tremor of apprehension and sincere appreciation of what he regards as a great sporting occasion.

"It's a unique event and an absolutely terrific experience," said lanky John Lecky of Vancouver, the bulky blonde law student who will row at No. 5 spot for Cambridge."

Nervous? "Naturally you tend to be a little nervous, but it wears off once you get your head down and get going."

Rowing apart, the thing that really impresses Lecky is the ritual that surrounds this 130-year-old sporting institution, which annually draws 100,000 spectators to the banks of the Thames between Putney and Mortlake.

"There's a terrific amount of precedent and tradition bound up in it," said the 21-year-old oarsman.

"For the last five weeks, it virtually amounts to confinement for the crew. Everything is all laid down — how one eats, how one dresses, how one rows."

Bucs Edge Comets Close Semi-Final Gap

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — The Portland Buckaroos charged back from a two-goal deficit at the end of the first period Thursday night and handed the Spokane Comets a 6-4 loss in the Western Hockey League southern division final.

The win put Portland back in contention. Spokane now leads the series 2-1.

Tommy McVie scored what proved to be the winning goal early in the last period when he rifled in a shot off the stick of Spokane defenceman Jim Holdaway, with the Comets a man short.

Arlo Goodwin added an insurance counter in the middle of the period when he took a cross-ice pass from Doug Anderson in front of the Comet goal after a two-on-one break.

The Buckaroos, checking aggressively, had come back in the second period with two goals to tie the Comets after Spokane took an early lead.

Portland scored first on a close-in shot by veteran Gordon Fashoway. But the aggressive Comets charged back with two goals, the first by Gerry Brisson and the second by Max Mekilok, the league's individual scoring champion.

Portland defenceman Bill Davidson tied the game again at 2-2 with only 6:56 gone in the period. But the Portland defence let down enough for Gordon Stratton and Mekilok to give the Comets a 4-2 lead.

The partisan crowd began to lose hope for Portland as most of the second period went by without any scoring.

But Ed Lawson tipped in a long shot by Portland's Bill Saunders with 16:22 gone in the period, and Jack Bionda — less than two minutes later — put one through the legs of Spokane goaltender Ed Johnston.

Golf Clinic Started

A large turnout of nearly 40 beginners attended the first session of the annual spring Golf Clinic held at the Junior High School Thursday night.

For many it was their initiation to the "Royal and Ancient" game, with beginners and seasoned golfers attending. The clinic is intended as a means of basic instruction for beginners.

Two more sessions are planned at the school, April 12 and 19, with a fourth session to be held at the course when the club facilities are functioning.

Chairman of the clinic is Floyd Searle, assisted by Leigh McBride.

Patton Cup Starts Monday

EDMONTON (CP)—The western Allan Cup finals will open in Trail April 9, an official of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association announced here Thursday.

Trail Smoke Eaters, which Wednesday night defeated Calgary Adderson in the western semi-final, will meet Saskatoon Quakers in the best-of-seven series.

Art Potter, vice-president of the CAHA, said the second game of the final will be in the B.C. city April 11 and if the series is split evenly the third game will be in Trail April 12. And if the series is not split, the third game will be in Saskatoon.

The remaining games would be played in Saskatoon April 14, 16, 18 and 20.

The winner of that series will meet the eastern team April 22 for the first game of the best-of-seven Canadian finals to be played in Trail or Saskatoon — whichever wins the western finals.

Leafs, Hawks Take Semis Lead

Kelly's Overtime Goal Gives Toronto 3-2 Win

TORONTO (CP) — Centre Red Kelly scored at 4:23 of the second overtime period Thursday night to give Toronto Maple Leafs a fiercely-fought 3-2 victory over New York Rangers and a 3-2 lead in games in their best-of-seven Stanley Cup semi-final.

The 34-year-old centre poked in the rebound on a hard drive by left winger Frank Mahovlich with Gump Worsley lying flat on his back at the corner of the net.

The goal, Kelly's third of the series, climaxed a tremendous night for Leafs' big line, which had been ominously silent in this playoff against the surprisingly strong Rangers, who won two games in New York after losing the opening pair in Maple Leaf Gardens.

Kelly, with left winger Frank Mahovlich and right winger Ron Stewart playing in place of the benched Eddie Shack, broke out with devastating firepower to score all Toronto goals. And Kelly, a seasoned cup veteran, was the key man on all three.

OPENS SCORING

He flipped out a pass from behind the New York nets to Stewart who whipped an eight-footer past Worsley to open the scoring at 7:46 of the first period. Then, at 12:21 of the second session, Mahovlich tipped in the redhead's 40-foot blast to give Leafs a 2-0 lead.

Rangers, backed up by the seasational netminding of Worsley, fought back to tie it at 2-2 before regulation time with goals in the second and third periods.

Just 80 seconds after Mahovlich's goal — at 12:21 — left winger Guy Gendron beat Toronto netminder Johnny Bower with a 25-foot knee-high blast. Bower didn't make a move as a Leaf defenceman skated between him and Gendron as the shot was fired.

Leafs completely dominated play for the first half of the third period but Rangers suddenly burst out with an offensive that paid off at 12:31 on centre Earl Ingarfield's third goal of the series. Defenceman Al Langlois blasted a knee-high drive from just inside the Toronto blue line and the 27-year-old Ingarfield was on the spot to sterr the puck past Bower.

Hawks Capitalize on Canadiens' Mistakes

MONTREAL (CP) — Chicago Black Hawks capitalized on defensive lapses for a 4-3 victory over Montreal Canadiens Thursday night and a 3-2 lead in games in their best-of-seven Stanley Cup semi-final series.

The Black Hawks, defending cup champions, now can wrap up the series if they win the sixth game on home ice Sunday night.

If Canadiens come back and win the sixth, a seventh and deciding game will be played here next Tuesday night.

Bobby Hull, Bronco Horvath, Ken Wharram and Bill (Red) Hay scored the Chicago goals while Phil Goyette, Claude Provost and rookie Gordon (Red) Berenson tallied for Canadiens.

Wharram got the decisive goal at 19:14 of the second period, snapping a 2-2 tie after Montreal goalie Jacques Plante had been caught out of position.

Hay made it 4-2 early in the third and Canadiens tried to fight back, but after Berenson put them to within one goal the Hawks took over with relentless forechecking and backchecking.

Plante was pulled out in favor of an extra attacker with about one minute left, but with the exception of a close-in shot by Dickie Moore, Canadiens had no real good chances for the equalizer.

Plante had a bad night and faced only 29 shots compared to 38 by Chicago's Glenn Hall. He was trapped at the side of the net when Ab McDonald whipped a short pass in front of the crease and Wharram just had to dump the puck in the open net for the go-ahead goal late in the second.

In the second minute of the third, Pierre Pilote carried from his own blueline and when the Montreal defence blocked Plante's view, Hay scored from close-in.

The crowd of 14,959 — largest here for the series — let loose with a big ovation when Berenson closed the gap to 4-3 at 10:26 of the third with a high shot to the upper right hand corner of Hall's net.

HAWKS HOLD ON

But the Hawks held on. It was their third straight win in the series after losing the first two by 2-1 and 4-3 scores here last week.

Benfica Qualifies For European Soccer Cup

LONDON (AP) — Benfica, the defending champions from Portugal, Thursday qualified for the final of the European Cup soccer championship with an aggregate goals score of 4-3 after home-and-away matches against Tottenham Hotspur of England.

Tottenham defeated Benfica 2-1 in the second leg before an excited crowd of 65,000 at London's White Hart Lane Stadium. The Spurs threw everything into the attack but the compact Benfica defence held them out.

Trail Smoke Eaters may be carrying the last Kootenay hopes into the prized amateur hockey ring — the Allan Cup.

For more than 10 years the Kootenays have waved a bright flaming torch along the hockey trail, but that flame, lowered by the recent upsurge of hockey on the prairies, may soon go out.

Before the fifties prairie clubs dominated the Western Allan Cup. Then a decade ago the Western Hockey League was initiated and the big powers, Winnipeg, Calgary, Edmonton, Saskatoon, Regina, Brandon stepped into the pro ranks. Suddenly Kootenay and Okanagan teams plunged into the limelight, with the result a Savage Cup champion usually battled to the Allan Cup.

Thoughts of the forties bring tears to many Kootenay hockey fans. Every time a Kootenay club marched to the prairies they were snowed under by a blizzard of rubber, completely under the domination of the prairie powers.

In the past few years prairie teams have regained lost prestige and once more have moved into domination of the Patton Cup.

Up to now, Smokies have had a relatively easy time, disposing of their lesser, incapable rivals in rapid succession. First Nelson Maple Leafs and then Calgary Adderson, seven victories in seven tries.

Against Saskatoon the road will not be as smooth. Throughout the season Trail coach Bobby Kromm has shouted from the highest steeple Smokies are the acme of hockey teams. And he had a right to do so. At the time Kromm had everything in the orange and blacks' favor. Home ice, home fans and a club second to none in depth and talent.

Then the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association stepped in, ruling the best-of-seven championships will be played on both clubs stamping grounds. Immediately the odds slipped. A month later Trail was defeated by Canada's hockey representatives Galt Terriers 4-1. A week before the game Winnipeg Maroons, Saskatoon's ex-challengers, slapped Galt 7-4. The odds slipped lower to where they presently stand on an even 1-1 par.

Quakers are no pushovers. They showed that against Winnipeg after dropping the first two games and roaring back to take four straight. They have a strong defence and a strong offence. They play a wide-open passing game of position hockey.

Picking the winner? The series will go seven games, with Trail holding a 2-1 edge before the large 5,000 to 7,000 Saskatoon arena, which will be the deciding factor. If Smokies can master the larger ice surface and shut their ears to the wave of noise of thousands of people, they will win. If not, they lose.

The best-of-seven series starts Monday in Trail, with a second game Wednesday. If at that time the series is deadlocked at one game each a third game will be played in Trail Thursday. When one of the clubs has two victories tucked under their belt, the series turns East with games in Saskatoon April 14, 16, 18 and 20.

Benny Paret's death in the ring made healines of every paper in the country.

For the past 11 days Paret has rolled the presses, 14 years ago a ring death rated a one column head reaching the newsstands twice. The death was that of Jimmy Doyle in 1947 who suffered at the punishing hands of Sugar Ray Robinson in a welterweight championship bout at Cleveland.

Why should one death push to the top of a page and another buried elsewhere in the page? Reason — the medium of television. Countless millions of boxing fans watched Paret fall under the brutal attack, taking punch upon punch to the head. Immediately following the bout these fans launched an all-out protest against "boxing brutality." At the time of Doyle's death the bout was not carried and news of the fight was carried through the local paper.

Adding to the lack of coverage was people's acceptance of violence as the war issue had been settled two years earlier. These people were accustomed to death and they had reached the point where it failed to upset them.

The senior Smokies aren't the only Trail club challenging for hockey honors.

Two Smelter City minor puck teams, B.C. champion Juveniles and Bantams will compete against two Alberta clubs for the B.C.-Alberta championships. The Alberta representatives are Calgary Bantams and Edmonton Juveniles.

To acquire the two-game, total-point playoffs, the Trail minor hockey association had to post a $1,500 guarantee. The two Alberta clubs will arrive in Trail Saturday, with the games being played Saturday night and Sunday afternoon.

Astronomers Find Proof Of Expanding Universe

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP)—Astronomers Wednesday heard a report supporting apparent evidence that most of the rest of the universe is hurrying away from us.

It supports a picture of an expanding universe.

Harvard astronomers told the American Astronomical Society about studies they have made with the Harvard radio telescope, most powerful of all radio telescopes.

The Harvard instrument has been aimed at 20 galaxies—clouds of stars and hydrogen gas just like our own galaxy—whirling in space at an average distance of 10,000,000 light years from the earth. A light year is the distance light, speeding at 186,000 miles a second, will travel in one year. The 20 are a sampling of 1,000,000 or more "island universes" strung out through observable space.

All but one of the 20 are hurtling away from earth at speeds up to 410 miles a second. One is heading our way at 220 miles a second.

These flattened clouds of stars and gas are about 1,000 light years thick, and up to 100,000 light years in diameter. Our own milky way galaxy—a cloud of several hundred million suns plus hydrogen gas — is about 100,000 light years in diameter.

The astronomers found that the total hydrogen gas in each galaxy weighs about as much as 1,000,000,000 suns — even though there are only a few hydrogen atoms in a cubic inch of space.

The radio telescope 21-centimetre radio wave studies—tuned to the energy emitted by the hydrogen—agree well with the Doppler-effect studies made with visible light.

When an automobile with its horn blowing approaches you, its pitch sounds higher. When it goes away, the pitch sounds lower. This is an example of the Doppler effect.

The same thing happens with light or radio waves from objects in space. When they recede from us, there is a relative lengthening of wave length, or red-shift. When they approach, there is a shortening of the wave length, or blue shift.

The new Harvard radio evidence is important because it agreed precisely with the relative change shown in optical studies with conventional telescopes. The finding is consistent with the theory that the universe is expanding.

Gina Has No Desire to Live In Canada

LONDON (CP)—It looks as though Canada has seen the last of her most publicized immigrant, Gina Lollobrigida.

In an interview in Rome, where she is making a film called Hippolita's Beauty, Gina told Rockerick Mann of The Daily Express that she has "cancelled her plans" for Canada.

She said she went to Canada only to obtain a nationality for her Yugoslav - born husband, who had been a stateless person for 16 years, and their baby.

"So we emigrated to Canada. Then, as soon as we'd gone, the Italian government changed its mind and granted my baby Italian citizenship . . .

"I am 100-per-cent Italian . . . I love Italy. I did not really want to change."

Gina told The Daily Express writer that her husband will go ahead with his plans for obtaining Canadian citizenship, "but I and the baby will stay Italian."

Postal Business Drops Slightly

Post office business was down slightly last month compared to March, 1961.

Following are figures released by the Nelson office with last year's figures in brackets:

Sale of stamps, $10,365 ($11,327); other revenue, $1127 ($881); total receipts and disbursements, $179,408 ($185,060); number of money orders issued, 4120 (4030); money orders paid, 4159 (4541).

Toronto Museum Exhibits Major Reptiles

TORONTO (CP) — Some 150 specimens, representing every major kind of reptile, leered from their glass display cases Wednesday night when the Carling Gallery of Reptiles was officially opened at the Royal Ontario Museum.

Bank of Commerce Gains Customer, Royal Bank Loses

VANCOUVER (CP)—The Canadian Bank of Commerce gained a new customer Wednesday in the newly-formed Crown-owned B.C. Hydro and Power Authority.

At the same time, The Royal Bank of Canada lost a customer—the B.C. Electric Company, which disappeared in the merger of the BCE and B.C. Power Commission.

The new authority, a result of provincial legislation, opened its bank account with the bankers who already held the B.C. Power account.

The BCE was taken over by the Social Credit government recently and the Power Commission is a Crown agency.

The new account is among the largest in the province. A year's BCE deposits were worth about $100,000,000 and the B.C. Power Commission about $20,000,000.

CNR To Test Lower Summer Fare Rates

MONTREAL (CP)—The CNR, faced with a steady decline in passenger traffic in recent years, today announced an experimental program of drastically reduced fares to try to win travellers back.

The program is to go into effect for one year starting May 1 at all points east of Montreal on the main CNR line through Drummondville, Que., and in the Maritimes.

The Crown - owned railway said the new fares—offering savings of up to 50 per cent and free meals in some cases—will be based on the resort hotel idea of charging less during off-peak periods.

The fares will be represented by three new tickets—red ones for bargain days, white for economy days and blue for regular days.

EXCLUDE HOLIDAYS

The bargain fares will apply in May and from Oct. 1 to April 30, 1963, every day except Fridays, Sundays and holidays.

The economy fares will be used for trips beginning on Mondays, Tuesdays, Wednesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays from June 1 to Sept. 30, and on trips beginning Fridays and Sundays between Oct. 1 and April 30.

The standard fares will be used for trips beginning on Fridays and Sundays from June 1 to Sept. 30 and such holidays as Christmas, New Year's and Easter.

CNR President Donald Gordon called the new rates a bold departure from traditional railway prices.

'STRONGEST BIDS'

"This is our strongest bid yet to capture a larger share of the travel market," he said in a statement. "We are doing what resort hotels and some other successful industries have done, making our services cheaper during the off-peak periods."

The present one-way fare between Montreal and Halifax by coach is $29.95. Under the bargain rates, it will be $13, rising to $17 on economy days with the standard fare set at $21. With a roomette, the one-way fares on the new system will be $28, $32 and $36, compared with the regular fare of $45.50 now.

Passengers with reservations in sleeping cars will get free meals.

The CNR said the Montreal-Maritimes market was selected for the test because there is a substantial volume of other traffic, particularly by car.

MARKET TRENDS

NEW YORK (AP)—A rally by rails provided the spark for a late stock market upsurge Thursday which gave the list its best advance in nearly a month.

It was the second rise in 15 stock market sessions.

Brokers said the market was ripe for some kind of a rebound and they were inclined to call it a technical rally. The fact is, however, rails were the first group to move higher and they responded to President Kennedy's transportation message. His recommendations that Congress reduce government regulations of rail freight rates so as to put the railroads on an equal competitive footing with trucks and the probe of missile contracts in Washington were disturbing items.
